

Many Churches to Observe Thanksgiving with Special Services

Thanksgiving Day will be heralded throughout Plymouth on Thursday with appropriate worship services in most of the churches.

Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church is planning a 9 a.m. High Mass, in addition to the regular 8 a.m. Mass.

A Union Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Plymouth Ministerial Association, will begin at 9 a.m. at First Methodist church.

Churches in this Union are First Methodist, First Baptist, Calvary Baptist, Plymouth Assembly of God, Church of the Nazarene, Salvation Army, First Presbyterian church, Seventh Day Adventist, and St. John's Episcopal church.

Rev. Charles F. Holland, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany will speak at the Union service. Rev. M. I. Johnson will open the service with responsive reading, followed by the reading of the Thanksgiving Proclamation and Scripture by the Rev. John Walaskay, pastor of Plymouth Assembly of God.

Mrs. Florence Griggs will sing "Give Thanks and Sing." This will be followed by the sermon by Rev. Holland who has been in Plymouth the past two years, establishing a mission of the United Lutheran Church. Mrs. Joyce Beglarian will be at the organ.

Nursery care is being offered during the 45-minute service. Riverside Park Church of God will have their Thanksgiving service Wednesday at 7:30 p.m., according to Rev. E.B. Jones, pastor. This will be concluded by a huge outdoor bonfire.

Sunday school classes contributed food articles for needy families in the community on Sunday. These were arranged on the altar for a Sunday evening "Harvest Home" service. The food baskets were distributed this week in time for the holiday. A Thanksgiving service will be held Thursday at 10 a.m. at St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church. Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, pastor, will speak on "Our Nation's Peace and Prosperity Are In God's Hands." The text will be Jeremiah, Chapter 29, Verse 7.

Plymouth Church of Christ members have been invited to attend a Thanksgiving service in the Northwest church at 5151 Oakman Blvd., Detroit, at 10:30 a.m. Elders of that church issued the invitation, according to Rev. Milton E. Truex, local pastor.

Spring Street Baptist Church is planning a Thanksgiving breakfast at 9 a.m. for all members. It will be served by women at the church. Worship will follow at 10 a.m., according to Rev. W.A. Palmer, Jr., pastor.

Spontaneous expressions of gratitude for God's goodness will be featured at the Thanksgiving service announced by First Church of Christ Scientist, 1100 W. Ann Arbor Trail, at 10:30 a.m. on Thursday.

The special service is open to the public and local church members have invited everyone to attend. A lesson-lesson for the day entitled "Thanksgiving" will emphasize the importance of living one's gratitude to God.

Testimonies from the floor will include gratitude for spiritual growth, physical healings and other blessings. The infants' room will be open during this service.

Thanksgiving Day's Meaning

A special message prepared by Rev. David T. Davies, Rector, St. John's Episcopal Church

What is the most significant thing about Thanksgiving Day for you?

Many Americans would answer that it is primarily an opportunity for family gatherings. For many others the most significant thing about Thanksgiving is that it provides an opportunity to watch a good football game. For some people Thanksgiving has no more significance than the fact that it is a holiday and that they will not have to go to work.

All these things are good. Family gatherings are to be cherished. Football games are exciting and enjoyable. None of those things, however, approach the significance of Thanksgiving; in fact, they are not Thanksgiving at all.

The first Thanksgiving was set aside for one purpose only, namely, to give thanks to Almighty God for His sustaining protection and for the gift of the very means of life. As this Thanksgiving Day approaches, let us return to its original intent and begin to take stock of the many blessings that God has bestowed upon us.

May we begin to consider seriously the blessing of family love and friendship. Let us realize that a blessing we have in the abundance of economic resources. Let us also think of the blessings of being free. But most of all we should recognize God's greatest gift to us, the gift of Himself in and through His Son Jesus Christ, our Lord and Saviour. If we would stop taking all these wonderful blessings for granted and recognize what God's gifts to us really are, we shall then truly celebrate this Thanksgiving Day by giving God hearty thanks and a loving praise.

In this connection one might read the 17th Chapter of St. Luke's Gospel which relates the remarkable incident of the healing of the ten lepers. I am sure that the story is well known to you. Ten lepers approach our Lord at a Galilean village and in their misery cry out, "Jesus, Master, have mercy on us!" With divine compassion, Jesus looks upon them and heals their blighted flesh. Immediately, with uncontrolled joy, they rush off to their clean new life.

But of the ten, only one is thoughtful enough to turn back and glorify God for the wonderful gift of healing. One out of ten; I wonder if that could still be the percentage in our time? Surely, this is a question each of us might ask ourselves as we approach Thanksgiving Day.

Any threatened person turns to God almost automatically when faced with some great crisis. Some do so out of desperation and some in sincerity and truth. But what a poor few of us remember to give God the credit and praise when the sun is shining and personal victory walks with us day by day. I am afraid that the accusing question of Christ regarding the thoughtless lepers has its application today. "Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine?"

We in this land have so much for which we should be grateful. Look at the facts. We live in a country where man's personality is held sacred and each individual is important for his own sake. We have, for some reason of God, been chosen to be the leaders and not the followers in the great international struggle for peace and security in the free world. Of all the people living on this earth today, we are the least suffered and the most free.

Individually, we have privileges and opportunities to enjoy the comforts of life and opportunities to apply our talents in our chosen field which are the envy of the rest of the world. But above all else, we as Christians are heirs to a magnificent Christian heritage and partakers of God's Grace and Power.

"Were there not ten cleansed? But where are the nine?" Surely, we shall not be guilty of such gross ingratitude. Rather, we shall count our many blessings and lift our hearts in deep gratitude to God and say with the Psalmist, "Bless the Lord, O my soul; and all that is within me bless His holy Name. Amen."

Next Concert Joins Ballet and Symphony

The breathless and shimmering beauty that is the Christmas season will be heralded Sunday, December 7 when the Ann Arbor Civic Ballet joins the Plymouth Symphony for the third concert of the current season. The concert will be held at 4 p.m. in the Plymouth High School Gymnasium.

Tschaikowsky's romantic score of "Swan Lake" will be the featured number on the program, and the audience will see a outstanding company of young dancers perform the time-honored ballet. The corps de ballet (chorus) will be the traditional length ballet skirt, half way down the legs. The prima ballerina and danseuse will wear the costumes traditionally worn for their roles. They will perform the highlights of the first act of the story.

The Ann Arbor Civic Ballet is only three years old and is established for the purpose of giving promising young dancers from schools all over the western Wayne County area a chance to perform important works for a critical audience.

It not only gives something largely missing from the cultural scene to an ever-wider public, it gives young dancers the polish they must have before attempting professional careers.

As the artistic director of the ballet put it, "We hope the youngsters achieve more professional performances than they would ordinarily achieve in dancing schools, and we think the public benefits by seeing famous ballets performed in their own communities, with the dancers youngsters they've known for many years." Sylvia Hamer, the Director, has been assisted in this production by Jane Caryl Miller, Co-director, and Marjorie Randazzo.

Turkeys Now Less Colorful

Pilgrim Fathers who made the wild turkey part of their festival of thanks back in 1621 would hardly recognize the turkey that millions of Americans will be putting on the Thanksgiving tables this Thursday.

Today's domesticated varieties have lost the agility, grace and brilliancy of color of its forebearers of three centuries ago. But in its place has come a hybrid bird that has large and tender bites of meat where it never was before.

A few states, including Michigan, still have some flocks of wild turkeys roaming the protected forests. Michigan's wild turkeys were only recently turned loose on an experimental basis.

But fortunately for turkey lovers, one doesn't have to wait for the wild birds to reproduce. There are several thousand turkey farms across the United States, typical of which is the Gottschalk Turkey Farm, 48121 North Territorial Rd.

During the past week, kindergarten and nursery children, Brownie Scouts and other children by the dozen have visited the turkey farm to see where their Thanksgiving meal comes from. Each year the farm grows around 3,000 turkeys, with nearly all of them being sold either at Thanksgiving or Christmas.

Mrs. Gottschalk, whose husband, Clinton, died just this year, is carrying on the farm along with her son-in-law, Lloyd Sharland. The Gottschalks have been in the business 20 years.

It is perhaps surprising to some to learn that the Gottschalks (Continued on Page 8)

FIFTEEN HUNDRED turkeys (count 'em) are in this flock at the Gottschalk Turkey Farm on North Territorial Rd., one of the few turkey farms in this area. Mrs. Clinton Gottschalk and her granddaughter, Nancy Luefling are in the midst of the flock. The farm grows 3,000 turkeys annually with Christmas having the edge in sales over Thanksgiving. Today's turkeys may not be recognized by the Pilgrim fathers.

Merchants Open Yule Season December 4th

With the season's first snowfall on the ground and an authentic nip in the air, Plymouth's merchants this week disclosed plans for the annual blast-off of the Christmas shopping season.

Along with bright illuminated decorations and garlands on all the streets of "Western Wayne County's Finest Shopping Center" the merchants are holding aloft another unusual bauble this year —

Commercial Contributions To Fund Lag

With the Plymouth Community Fund still short of its $33,537 mark, a final effort will be put forth this week to contact some 80 business places who usually make contributions but have failed to donate this year.

Fund Board President Thomas Rossette said that the commercial solicitations have been lagging seriously this year. If contacts are made with the 80 which in the past have contributed, Rossette said that he is sure that the fund will go over the top.

At present, the campaign lacks about $1,000.

This year there was no personal contact with commercial and professional people. All were sent letters and literature on the campaign, but many apparently forgot about making their contribution.

IT'S BEGINNING to look a lot like Christmas, according to the words of one popular song — and that's the thing that the city is trying to do in preparation for the start of the Christmas season Thursday, Dec. 4. big bill, it being of a denomination most of us never have seen, let alone fingered.

Merchants participating in the Christmas Promotion (and the $1,000 bill registration) have described most of their attractive wares in a special Christmas Section in today's Mail.

Santa himself will make his first appearance on Thursday, Dec. 4 at 4 p.m. He's coming into the city by helicopter, which will land in West Bros. Edsel-Mercury parking lot. From there, the jolly gentleman will be paraded to Kellogg Park and a cozy, Christmas-festooned trailer, where he will greet children for three days — and give them gifts.

The bewhiskered gentleman will hold forth in Kellogg Park for the first three days and will appear at individual stores thereafter, on a schedule to be announced.

"Plymouth has the most pleasant shopping center in Wayne County," said Ralph Rostow of the Retail Merchants Committee today. "Shopping here is a relaxing experience, not one that snaps the nerves and causes fights over the dinner table at night. There is no traffic to fight, no surging crowds to wrestle with, no snappish, over-worked store clerks.

"Our stores are packed with fresh merchandise. We're anticipating our greatest season."

No Barriers to Ballot Forecast

There are expected to be no barriers in the way when the Wayne County Board of Supervisors considers a resolution on Tuesday, Dec. 9 to allow an election in Plymouth Township deciding if part of the township should be incorporated as the City of Plymouth Heights.

The Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors last September 24 gave their blessing to the election and passed their recommendation on to the entire board.

The board will convene at noon on December 9 to consider the election proposal among many other items of business.

According to S. B. Chadman, Board of Supervisors committee clerk, the board has no alternative except to approve the election. "The Board of Supervisors has no legal right to reject the petition," Chadman said.

It has been approved from legal standpoint by the county prosecutor's office.

Law provides that the Board of Supervisors cannot approve the election date less than 40 days before the election nor more than 90 days.

The Board of Supervisors got into trouble several years ago, Chadman explained, when it tried to block an annexation petition for the village of Wayne. It took several years of litigation, much money, and the county lost.

The resolution, as considered by the board, asks for the election to be held Monday, Feb. 16 — the same date as the biennial spring primary.

There were 281 signatures on the petition asking for incorporation of a city that would surround the city of Plymouth. The proposed city would include Plymouth Township east of McClumpha Road. This is 8.3 square miles.

If approved, it would leave six square miles west of McClumpha as Plymouth Township. This remaining portion could later petition for annexation to the City of Plymouth Heights.

Only those electors living in the proposed new city can vote on the question.

Western Plymouth Township could not be included in the petition because law requires a minimum population density of 500 people per square mile for incorporation. Most of the area west of McClumpha Rd. is still farmland.

Approval of the incorporation in February would not mean formation of a city. Election of a charter commission and approval of a charter would need to follow.

The incorporation petition was filed last June 12, the same day that it was announced that a petition was to be filed to annex 20 acres of Garling Realty Co. property in the township to the city's eastern edge.

Veterans March for Muscular Dystrophy

A house-to-house solicitation of funds to carry on the fight against muscular dystrophy will take place next Tuesday, Dec. 2 starting at 7 p.m. with members of veterans organizations leading the drive.

December is Muscular Dystrophy Month throughout the United States and the night of December 2 has been selected for the drive in Michigan.

Chairman Donald Kinghorn of the American Legion and Co-chairman Mrs. Betty Neale of the VFW Auxiliary will conduct the campaign in Plymouth with the help of all volunteer marchers.

Residents of Plymouth who wish to support the drive next Tuesday night are urged to leave their porchlights on. Anyone wishing to help in the march can call Kinghorn at GL 3-3995 or Mrs. Neale at GL 3-1067.

The base of operation will be at the Veterans Community Center next to Plymouth High School.

Volunteer marchers are asked to pick up their collection kits from 6:30 until 6:45 p.m. so that the march can start in selected areas at 7 p.m. and be completed by 9 p.m.

Muscular Dystrophy is a progressive muscle disease which renders a victim first to his wheel-chair and then to his bed where he awaits his final slumber. The Muscular Dystrophy Association, organized just eight years ago, had pledged itself to the County campaign chairman.

American people to direct the fight against the dread disease.

The association was started by a group of parents only because nothing prior to this was being done in the way of research and patient service.

There are more than 200,000 victims in the United States and 250 in the Detroit area, including several in and near Plymouth. Most of these are children between 3 and 13.

There has been no effective treatment found to fight the mysterious disease which wastes the muscles and turns them into fat.

Money donated to the cause maintains clinics such as the one operated in Detroit by the local chapter at Detroit Memorial Hospital.

Jerry Lewis is national chairman of the M-D Association; James A. Farley, honorary chairman; and Mrs. Lou Gehrig, national campaign chairman. Mrs. Nancy Williams, wife of the governor, is state chairman and Max Osnos is Wayne County campaign chairman.

The Vic Bakers Doing Internship Work At Calvary Baptist Church

Missionary work in South Africa is in the future of a Canadian couple and their young daughter now doing an internship temporarily in Plymouth.

They are Mr. and Mrs. Vic Baker and Colleen, 2½ years old, formerly of Toronto. The family arrived here in September to work with Rev. Patrick Clifford of Calvary Baptist church on a seven-month internship program sponsored by the Missionary Internship, Inc. of Detroit.

Graduates of the Toronto Bible College, they are missionary candidates of the South Africa General Mission. Both were members of the Forward Baptist church prayer group here in Plymouth.

While here, the Bakers are busy with all activities of Calvary Baptist church and take part in the youth program. They are living at 36615 Amrhein Rd., Livonia, until the end of April. Why did they pick Africa for their mission field? We feel it's the place the Lord would want us to go — it's His decision," said Mr. Baker. Mr. Baker also conducts services each Sunday at West Salem country church. Helen Baker leads a women's club.

Our Lady of Victory Mother's club of Northville is staging their annual "Holiday Fair" on Thursday, Dec. 4, from 1 to 5 p.m. in the church social hall, located on Thayer Blvd., Northville. The club's "Holiday Tea" will be held at Meadowbrook Country Club on the same day from 1 to 5 p.m. Salt is used in steelmaking to produce a hard surface.

Rev. Edgar Hoenecke Presents Africa Talk

Rev. Edgar Hoenecke addressed the Business and Professional Women's club members at Hillside Inn Nov. 17. Fifty-three members and guests were present. With coordinated tape recordings of local sounds and color film taken by himself, the Rev. Hoenecke presented "Africa" as a nation needing a great deal of understanding in order to strengthen the relations between that continent and our own nation.

It is necessary to proceed slowly in bringing out the native. Since the change in governmental administration of South West Africa and The Union of South Africa degeneration is being reversed, hence, one feels so guilty when he comes so little to help alleviate the situation. An understanding attitude that they are human beings plus prayers and faith in the Almighty seem to be the ways we can help most at the present time, the speaker judged.

The International Relations committee, under chairmanship of Mrs. Doris Brown, planned the program.

Woman's Club Christmas Program Set

The much-awaited Christmas program of Plymouth Woman's club will come off Friday, Dec. 5, at 1 p.m. For this meeting members may bring only out-of-town guests or houseguests, it was announced.

Art Club Yule Sale Next Week

Three Cities Art Club Christmas Art Sale to be held in Plymouth the week of December 8-13 is part of a trend all over the country to satisfy the urge and desire to own creative works.

Current Christmas art sales are being held in Detroit, Ann Arbor, and Cranbrook, with big success. For the Plymouth - Northville - Livonia area the week-long event will be an innovation, and one worthy of the interest of the entire community.

For the discriminating person on a Christmas list, an original work of art offers an interesting and unusual suggestion. In this machine-dominated age when reproductions of precious things have nearly obliterated the feel for creativity, there is a slow but sure trend toward the need for the hand-made. Those who own them will affirm the claim that to live with and learn to love something creative is one of the more rewarding and enriching of experiences. Only through the efforts of a group of artists such as this in offering a wide variety of creative work is the public afforded the opportunity to compare and select good art—and to purchase at a sale price.

About 20 artist members of the group are readying their wares to be displayed, offered in person or by a dozen media. There will be framed and unframed prints and paintings, done in oil, watercolor, pastel, charcoal, silk-screen, serigraph, scratchboard, and monoprint techniques. Also, sculpture, ceramics, enamel jewelry, weaving, and hand puppets will be among the assortment—all priced to strike a bargain from $2 to $25. Artists will be on hand at the sale between the hours of 12 noon to 9 p.m. in the store at 920 West Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Connie Dunagan Is Grateful For Life This Thanksgiving

There's plenty of Thanksgiving joy in the Dolie Dunagan household this year.

The trim, dark grey house at 356 West Ann Arbor Trail will be the scene of a family dinner party like always on Thursday. But the joy part of it is that Mrs. Dunagan is again to be the gracious hostess.

Mrs. Dunagan (Connie) was literally brought back from the dead on August 23. Her heart suddenly stopped beating for four minutes after a hysterectomy in New Grace Hospital, Detroit.

Dr. Howard T. Howlett was sewing up his patient when this almost-tragic incident occurred. He made an incision near her heart and frantically massaged it. Four minutes later Connie's heart responded... she returned to life!

When she came home from the hospital, Dr. Howlett advised three months' bed rest. But more good fortune! "I've been feeling so fine, I was only in bed one month."

Mrs. Dunagan takes a nap each afternoon and guards against catching cold. Other than that, her life is as before.

She and Mr. Dunagan will be entertaining their son and daughter and their respective families on Thanksgiving Day. They are Mr. and Mrs. Kelvin Dunagan and son, Scotty, almost two years; and Mr. and Mrs. Wallace (Shelvie Dunagan) Bizwell and daughter, Crystal, 13 months.

You can't find a more thankful-for-her-blessings resident in Plymouth than Mrs. Dunagan!

The MAIL Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

William Shekell, 45797 W. Ann Arbor Trail, told us Tuesday that he intended to file "immediately" to run for Supervisor of Plymouth Township on the Democratic ticket.

Another almost certain Democratic candidate is Orville Tungate, 9443 Brookline, though he hasn't filed.

Shekell has no previous political experience. He is a partner in a car dealership in the City of Plymouth. Tungate is a former party chairman and candidate for State Representative.

Every now and then somebody remembers that once I wrote sports for a living, and asks (honest) that we wander into those subjects in this space now and then.

OK. It is our impression that most of the analysts have missed the real point about the Detroit Lions this season. In their hypnotic stare at the quarterback position (where Bobby Layne was traded) the experts have failed to see two big things which have dropped the Lions out of pro football's championship race:

1. They have no dangerous runners, and no other contending NFL club must make that apology. The Chicago Bears have their Willie Gallimore, Rick Casares, Johnny Morris, and others. The Colts have Alan Ameche, Lenny Moore, and others. The Browns have Jimmy Brown, and others. The 49'ers have Hugh McElheny, and others. The Rams have two or three gallopers. Detroit has slow, weary soldiers who never were really fast at the height of their careers. The point is — when an opponent doesn't have to concentrate its defenses to contain a dangerous fullback or halfback, they can adjust their men to murder an otherwise good passing attack. They enjoy the luxury of rushing passers with many linemen, specifically.

2. The Lions offensive line is not strong. Both the Colts and Bears shredded it, with almost identical tactics.

The offensive line's main difficulty is that it has put on too much age. The trade of blocker Dick Stanfel many months ago has hurt more than any of the metropolitan writers have let their readers know.

Defensively, the Lions still are about as tough as any team in the league.

Then there is the plight of the Detroit Red Wings. A casual glance at the standings might not indicate any particular peril, but a check of the "Loss" column is more pertinent. Only one NHL team has lost more games than Detroit, as of this writing.

Jack Adams' club has few "legs" this year. The skaters are slow. This is the result, mainly, of disappointing produce from the farm system in recent years.

Detroit could fall out of the hockey playoffs altogether this year, winding up fifth. If anything should happen to Terry Sawchuk, the Wings might reach the cellar.

Insiders were not surprised by athletic director Clarence (Biggie) Munn's bitter reaction to the rocky season of football at Michigan State. Munn is a man of uncomplicated values. He thinks winning games is about as important as anything else in the world, and when he's losing, he reacts neither with grace nor sophistication.

Furthermore, he's never really been able to comprehend that his old pupil, Duffy Daugherty, was adequate to fill his shoes. Some men never are quite able to accept a protege as an equal.

This much should be remembered about the Spartans—

(1) They lost several games by close, tough margins. Only after a few of those, did panic set in, and when desperation corrodes team confidence, extraordinary beatings then are possible.

(2) Ever since the Spartans rose to Big 10 grandeur, the opposition has mustered its "big game" to throw at them. MSU never catches a rival "down" these days. Over the stretch of the season, this makes for strenuous afternoons. Notre Dame has suffered from the same trouble for years, irrespective of its own particular strength from season to season.

The fact is that Munn will move out of East Lansing during the next year.

Bennie Oosterbaan's retirement at Michigan has been certain for three or four years, and it is a compliment to good manners at Ann Arbor that they waited until the coach himself was ready to make the move.

Oosterbaan never had the drive nor the desire to "recruit" in an organized way for his team. And the way big time football is today, a squad is at a disadvantage when its head coach does not mix much in public, nor go beating the bushes to charm young athletes.

For all of that, or maybe because of it, Bennie enjoys about as much personal respect from others in sports as any man in so-called "big time."

Michigan now will seek to enter upon a more vigorous "recruiting" period and we're going to watch with keen interest. Not all faculty people look upon athletics in the same amused way they did three or four years ago, and life may become perplexing for a hard-driving coach in the future.

Hurt Youth Runs Away, Hits Officer

By Mrs. Herbert Famuliner
FI. 9-0924

Andrew H. Hann, 21, of South Lyon was traveling east on Seven Mile Rd. on Nov. 21, going into a ditch on the right side of the road hitting the bank and rolling the vehicle on its top in the center of the road.

Passenger Joanne DeWolf, age 18, was found laying in the top of the vehicle. Hann ran when the officer came up to the car. The officer took chase and apprehended Hann in a field where he struck the officer in the face. The subject was apprehended with extra help and kept under close surveillance until an ambulance arrived. Both young people were taken to St. Joseph hospital. Hann refused aid for the laceration of his right ear, lip and body bruises and cuts. His parents were called and he was taken to Mercywood Sanatorium. Joanne DeWolf was admitted to the St. Joseph Hospital for laceration of face and hands and possible fractures of ribs and skull.

Dozen Sub-committees Formed to Study Education Needs of Proposed High School

A dozen sub-committees will be open for membership to the public when the Secondary School Facilities Committee meets Wednesday night, Dec. 3, to begin planning for a new high school.

The meeting will be held in the Plymouth Junior High School Library starting at 8 p.m. Every citizen with or without children in school is being invited to attend the organizational meeting that will be centered around planning for the proposed high school.

While it will take an approval of a bond issue at the polls next spring to build a high school, the planning committee must first determine what should go into the school in order to determine how large a bond issue is needed.

Those attending the meeting will be given a choice of joining any of the dozen sub-committees. Each sub-committee will examine closely the present high school course of study, decide what facilities are needed to make the course more effective, and how the physical makeup of each room can better enhance the teaching performance and the student's learning situation.

Each committee has been provided with a teacher who will be the resource person in that field. They are as follows:

Administration, Carvel Bentley, principal; Robert Smith, assistant principal. Shop-home economics (vocational education), William Campbell.

Instructional Materials (library), Patrick Butler. Physical Education, John Sandman.

Commercial, James Cook. Fine Arts, Adult Education, James Griffith.

Student Activities, Gustav Jorguze. Science, Mathematics, Loren Grieves.

Food Services, Ethel Skaggs. Finance, Melvin Blunk, administrative assistant.

English, Social Studies, Virginia Olmsted. Foreign Languages, Virginia Calligaris.

Each of the staff resource persons may be contacted prior to the meeting if more information is desired about the committee work.

A meeting of the basic Secondary School Facilities committee was held last Wednesday night to establish the sub-committees. It was expressed then that all thinking citizens interested in expressing their opinions should attend these meetings.

Carl Caplin, one of the 85 attending the meeting, summed up the sentiment. "Let's involve more people in the planning of this new high school. It's the only way to find out what the people want for the children of our community. The businessmen have always been proud of our schools in Plymouth."

Periodic reports from each of the 12 sub-committees working on the educational specifications of the new high school (hoped to be open in 1961) will be requested. As the high school study progresses, the public participation committee will pass on the information to the public through a series of articles in the Plymouth Mail.

THIS GROUP attended last Wednesday's Secondary Schools Planning Committee meeting and the number is expected to multiply several times on December 3 when the public is invited to join in the planning for a new high school. Posts on a dozen sub-committees are available.

School Board Treasurer Harold Fischer is at left making a report. Many in this group are high school teachers who will serve as resource persons on the various committees. The meeting next week is at the Junior High Library starting at 8 p.m.

Who's New in Plymouth

NEW TO PLYMOUTH ARE Mr. and Mrs. Raphael D. Snowden and young sons, Anthony (Tony), 11, and Harry, who'll celebrate his second birthday January 1. They reside at 465 Parkview, moving from Redford Township in September. Mr. Snowden is co-ordinator of equipment operations for Detroit Edison. Tony, a sixth grader at Starkweather, is holding a model plane that he built himself. His father owned his own plane up to four years ago and now occasionally flies a corporation plane. He's been associated with the Michigan National Guard for 15 years and directs the guided missile group, meteorological section for the 210th anti-aircraft unit. He was a former Naval Air Force pilot. Attractive Mrs. Snowden, the former Shirley Wilson of Lansing, has many interests, including swimming, sketching, doing water colors and charcoals. She studied art at Michigan State University and before her marriage was with the Johnny Weissmuller swimming show. The Snowdens always thought Plymouth would be a fine place to live and three years ago put a deposit down on a house... only to have the house burn down! Before a new Snowden addition arrives the last of April, they plan to add a family room with fireplace to their home. Mr. Snowden is chairman of the commercial vehicle division of the Greater Detroit Safety Council and a past chairman of powers, tools, and truck section of the Michigan Safety Conference. The family is affiliated with St. John's Episcopal church.

Lake Pointe Adopts New By-Laws, Elects Board of Directors

BY MARCY BARTSON
GL. 3-8729

The association meeting of November 18 at Farrand School was a grand success. It was pleasing to see most of the people of the Village in attendance. The interest shown was apparent by the many questions put to the members of the Charter Committee.

A considerable discussion concerning the by-laws, a vote was taken and the articles and by-laws were approved and adopted. It was also voted to incorporate the association.

Next was the election of officers to the Board of Directors. Elected were — Arthur Haeske, president; James Kratzer, vice-president; Robert Hudson, secretary; and John Cinko as treasurer.

Then the area directors were elected — Area One, which includes lots 12 through 51 chose Mrs. William Coons, Jack Bellmore was elected for Area Two which includes lots 52 through 67, 96 through 101, and 1 through 11.

Area Three, including lots 68 through 92 and 164 to 173 is under the direction of William Bolduc. Mr. Cook was elected for Area Four comprising lots 174 to 180, 152 to 163, 134 to 136, and 102 to 113. Area Five which includes lots 114 through 133, 137 to 151 is still principally under construction. A motion was carried that the president, Mr. Haeske, would investigate to see if a lot had been occupied. If so the resident thereon will become the director of this area.

The auditing committee was also elected, consisting of Robert Thom, chairman; and John Emis and Thomas Hayden, members.

Refreshments were served after the meeting and everyone had a pleasant time talking with old and new acquaintances. We wish to thank the many kind ladies of the community who donated the delicious cookies.

Newcomers' club recently held an evening meeting attended also by gentlemen.

The High School Annex Auditorium was the gathering point. There the Plymouth Theatre Guild presented the group with a "one-act" comedy. Everyone enjoyed themselves and had second helpings of the delicious coffee and dessert. Let's not forget the Christmas Dance which is to be held at the Fox-Hills Country Club. Members may bring guests and we hope to see a nice crowd at this well planned holiday affair. Reservations are now being taken by Mrs. Robert Fisher, GL. 3-5557.

We hear that Judy Bullington recently became a godmother. She says that she enjoyed the honor and is very proud of her god-daughter.

Bob and Marion Cosgrove of Shadywood Court are really looking forward to the month of January. Why? Well, Bob brought home exciting news a few weeks ago. He and Marion have won an all expense paid trip to Curacao and back (Curacao is in the Netherlands West Indies just off the coast of South America.) Marion is quite excited, as any woman would be, and the main topic, of course, is what clothes to take along. She tells me that Curacao is a free port which means that they can bring back $200 of merchandise duty free.

Bob and Marion will go to New York and there meet 15 other couples who also were winners. The contest was sponsored for the employees of General Mills, Inc. Bob says he would never have been so lucky were it not for the help of the men who work with him. We have asked Marion to tell us about their experiences when they return.

Attended the performance of "Our Town" at the Plymouth High School on Friday night. The production was done so professionally it was amazing! The young people in the cast were just marvelous and each one interpreted his part with the feeling of an old-time Broadway professional. The lighting was very impressive. We wish to extend our congratulations to the entire company on a job well done.

After the last performance the entire company gathered at the home of one of the cast, Bill Black. There the students presented the director, Robert Southgate, with a gift — a small stepladder which was significant to the play's manner of presentation. The party was a gay and happy success. Les tells me that over 32 pounds of meat were used to make the "slop pies" which the hungry group devoured. We are all looking forward to the next All-School play which will be sometime in March.

A meeting of the newly formed Northville State Hospital Group was held at the home of yours truly. The women in attendance have planned a Christmas party for their adopted ward. Anyone interested in this type of activity can still join the group. Just call Cecilia Phelan, GL. 3-3051, of Shadywood Drive.

Ladywood Hears Panel on Teens

held an evening meeting attended also by gentlemen.

The High School Annex Auditorium was the gathering point. There the Plymouth Theatre Guild presented the group with a "one-act" comedy. Everyone enjoyed themselves and had second helpings of the delicious coffee and dessert. Let's not forget the Christmas Dance which is to be held at the Fox-Hills Country Club. Members may bring guests and we hope to see a nice crowd at this well planned holiday affair. Reservations are now being taken by Mrs. Robert Fisher, GL. 3-5557.

We hear that Judy Bullington recently became a godmother. She says that she enjoyed the honor and is very proud of her god-daughter.

Bob and Marion Cosgrove of Shadywood Court are really looking forward to the month of January. Why? Well, Bob brought home exciting news a few weeks ago. He and Marion have won an all expense paid trip to Curacao and back (Curacao is in the Netherlands West Indies just off the coast of South America.) Marion is quite excited, as any woman would be, and the main topic, of course, is what clothes to take along. She tells me that Curacao is a free port which means that they can bring back $200 of merchandise duty free.

Bob and Marion will go to New York and there meet 15 other couples who also were winners. The contest was sponsored for the employees of General Mills, Inc. Bob says he would never have been so lucky were it not for the help of the men who work with him. We have asked Marion to tell us about their experiences when they return.

Attended the performance of "Our Town" at the Plymouth High School on Friday night. The production was done so professionally it was amazing! The young people in the cast were just marvelous and each one interpreted his part with the feeling of an old-time Broadway professional. The lighting was very impressive. We wish to extend our congratulations to the entire company on a job well done.

After the last performance the entire company gathered at the home of one of the cast, Bill Black. There the students presented the director, Robert Southgate, with a gift — a small stepladder which was significant to the play's manner of presentation. The party was a gay and happy success. Les tells me that over 32 pounds of meat were used to make the "slop pies" which the hungry group devoured. We are all looking forward to the next All-School play which will be sometime in March.

A meeting of the newly formed Northville State Hospital Group was held at the home of yours truly. The women in attendance have planned a Christmas party for their adopted ward. Anyone interested in this type of activity can still join the group. Just call Cecilia Phelan, GL. 3-3051, of Shadywood Drive.

A panel discussion about Teenagers and their problems was held at the meeting of Ladywood's Fathers' and Mothers' Clubs on November 17. Members of the panel were: Father Higgins, a member of the Basilian order and former instructor at Catholic Central; Dr. Anthony Abruzzo, assistant superintendent of the Wayne County Training School and Father of two girls who attend Ladywood; Mrs. Marquis, a schoolteacher and parent of two Ladywoodians and Sue Abuzzo, president of the Student Council, and Sue Cousino, editor of the LADYWOOD STAR.

25 Years Ago

November 24, 1933

Green and white were the predominating colors used in the decorations for the wedding of Miss Winifred Draper to Elmore Carney on Wednesday evening, November 15, at the bride's home. Reverend Walter Nichol of the local Presbyterian church officiated. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Basil Carney, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom. The bride wore a lovely gown of blue chiffon and her attendant was in beige.

When a recent copy of the Vogue Pattern magazine came into the Dodge drug store, Miss Zella Boyd, clerk and a resident of Wing street, began to look it over. Noticing a contest to be sponsored by that firm she decided to enter. Immediately she designed an evening gown and began sewing. Upon completion she had several photos taken of herself in the gown as required by the contest managers. Imagine her surprise to learn she had received second prize for her first attempt. A picture of Miss Boyd in her prize-winning dress will appear in the next issue of Vogue.

When next year's football season rolls around, the University of Michigan football team will again be housed at Hotel Mayflower each night preceding a home game. Both players and coaches were so impressed with the service they received when here a few weeks ago that it has been decided to make this a practice.

VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Hey, Fellows! Are you eligible to join the V.F.W.? Following is the eligibility for membership as set forth by the By-Laws: Any male oficer or enlisted man, or any honorably discharged male oficer or enlisted man, who is a citizen of the United States of America and who has served in the Military or Naval Service of the United States of America in any foreign war, insurrection or expedition, which service shall be recognized by the authorization of the issuance of a campaign medal by the Military or Naval Service of the United States of America.

Quoting from the V.F.W. magazine in an article by John W. Mahan, Commander in Chief: "Posts do well to remember that the veteran who is worth signing up is worth keeping when the next year rolls around." He states further that many members of all their salesmanship energy on the part of signing up a recruit, but he gets none of their attention once he is obligated, and pretty soon he decides watching television at home is more satisfying than going to a Post meeting.

To let a new member come alone to your meetings, enter uninvited and un-noticed sit alone and leave without anyone so much as telling him "good-night" is not only rude, it is wasteful.

Floor work is an integral part of any patriotic organization. There is something thrilling about seeing the flags come into the room.

The only way to make a healthy Post is by ACTIVE participation in any function and by offering your services as often as possible. Meetings are more enjoyable if you have plans to discuss and people in attendance to make the plans.

Turkey Now

chicks sell more turkeys at Christmas than Thanksgiving. This is due to the many companies who give employees turkeys for Christmas.

Some of the Gottschalk turkeys are sold at the Detroit markets while others are sold directly off the farm.

Some people assume that the bigger turkeys, those weighing 20 pounds or more, may be a year or two old. But instead, they are probably not over six months old.

The Gottschalks hatch their own turkey eggs from April through June. Then the big job of feeding 3,000 hungry appetites begins. Turkeys eat a special mash composed of high protein ingredients until a month before they are killed. They are then switched to corn.

The 3,000 turkeys on the Gottschalk farm have been gobbling up corn at the fantastic rate of two tons every three days, according to Mrs. Gottschalk. "And they've got to have last year's corn. New corn will make them sick," she added.

The Gottschalk farm grows Broad-Breasted Bronze turkeys, largest of the domesticated birds.

Some people wonder about the difference in taste between a hen and a tom turkey. "There is no difference," Mrs. Gottschalk asserts. The only difference is in size — and price.

Tom turkeys are selling between five and 10 cents cheaper a pound than hens, not only because they grow larger in the same period of time, but also because it takes just as much work to dress a tom as a hen. Dressing a turkey takes off around four pounds.

There are some 77,000,000 turkeys sold annually in the United States. This amounts to 1,250,000,000 pounds.

Breaking it down still further, each person in the nation consumes an average of 5.1 pounds of turkey a year. Had your share yet?

Asphalt paint is a good dressing for the pruning wounds of trees, but creosote paints will harm the living tissues of trees.

Junior High Stages Science Fair

EIGHTH GRADE science students of Mrs. Laura Lickfeldt sponsored a Science Fair last Friday with all Junior High students and parents invited. Much work was done in making displays, such as this model of a home on the moon made by Jerry Wallace. Ruthann Lidgard and Buzz Smith are examining the display.

Wins Numeral

Donald Alsbro of Plymouth, who broke his wrist in the early part of the season and since then has been the manager, has been awarded freshman numerals in football for his job at that capacity. He was a candidate for the team at an end position. The team went undefeated in three games with wins over the freshmen of Central Michigan, Toledo and Bowling Green. Don played his high school ball at Plymouth High.

About 70 per cent of the Soviet Union's primary and secondary teachers are women.

Score Guess Spells Difference In Football Contest

Two people made all the right selections in last week's football contest in The Mail with the Bears-Lions score needed to separate the first and second places.

Peggy Corwin, 2145 Ridge Road, won the $15 first prize while second prize of $7 went to Steve Hayskar, 1434 Penniman, a frequent winner. Both selected all 12 winners but Peggy's score of the professional game was closer than Steve's.

The third place $3 prize was won by Marvin Soleau 543 Adams St., with a single miss. His score guess was also closest among those missing but one.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin of Glen St., Wayne, announce the birth of a son, Richard Harold, born November 12, at Annapolis Hospital, Wayne. The baby weighed 9 pounds, 4 1/2 ounces. Mrs. Martin is the former Pat Calkins of Elmhurst St., Plymouth township.

The Weimar Constitution was basis for the German republic forming after World War I.

Next Concert

Evelyn Falatine dancing the role of the Swan Princess, and Don Randall as the Prince. Supporting the major dancers are Stephanie Smith, Margaret Smith, Susan Woods, Janice Towsley, Jean Hammer, Mary Lou Gall, Gay Shirey, Linda Gibson, Serene Shaneyfelt, Carol Baltramo, Ella Bafs, and Karen Hayes. The fairy-tale-like costumes are all being made by Mrs. Clarence Bissell of Ann Arbor.

After one rehearsal by themselves in the High School, the ballet group will rehearse at least three times with the orchestra to insure a smooth and fitting performance.

This is one of those rare occasions that perfectly matches the season of the year. The costumes of the dancers are beautiful and romantic. The music is familiar and well-loved. The story is sad without being tragic, and the dancers and orchestra are more than equal to the task. For this concert the orchestra will be placed to the left of center, leaving the center stage area for the dancing. It will probably be one of those concerts for which the audience should arrive early.

Steam engines were used on the world's first underground railway, a four-mile stretch opened in London, in 1863.

NEWS BEAT

Board to Face Bus Question

Plymouth's school board is expected to be faced soon with a controversial question that has faced many school boards across the nation. Petitions have been circulating several weeks asking the board to change its policy regarding parochial school children riding public school buses. The board has previously turned down proposals to offer bus and other public school services to parochial systems. The petitions have been carried from door-to-door and appear in some business establish-

PLAYING POSSUM: When Ducky Olds started backing his car out of his driveway last week enroute to his Colonial Snack Shop, there was a terrific motor noise. He was trading the car in for a new one that day, but drove it to work anyway. There he and bakeryman Marv Terry lifted the hood and found fur flying everywhere. Inside was a battered "big devil" of a possum. It had been hit by the fan blade which was bent and was grinding in to the radiator — hence the big noise. Ducky disposed of the still-lingering animal, but has received much customer comment about allegedly serving "possum-burgers."

REMINDER: Rev. Edgar Hoenecke of Plymouth will show his color movies on Europe at a Travel Series program next Thursday, Dec. 4 at 8 p.m. in Plymouth High School. There is an admission charge.

NO JOKE SON: Those alleged pranksters who take real estate "for sale" signs from one property and stick them up elsewhere will not get humorous treatment if caught. Police Chief Kenneth Fischer says that taking the signs is on the increase and those caught will be charged with petty larceny. Each sign costs around $8.

FRIENDS INDEED: While the five West brothers who operate West Bros. Edsel were at the funeral home Friday night because of the death of their mother, Mrs. Louisa B. West, two friends were operating their agency. Carl Shear, retired Buick dealer, and Charles Finlan, insurance agency owner, voluntarily took over the agency for the evening.

Woman's Eye View

By KATHIE MULL LUSK

"I tell him he's the boss . . . and he tells me I am!" That's just a little of the marital philosophy that has gone into the happy wedded years of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Krumm, well known couple in Plymouth and vicinity. They'll celebrate their golden anniversary Sunday afternoon, November 30, at the V.F.W. Hall.

The anniversary couple reside in a cheerful comfortable home at 593 Ann St. Mr. Krumm was a "Christmas package" 73 years ago this upcoming December 25. Mrs. Krumm is a peppy, young 70.

They were married in Bell Branch, now known as Redford, on November 28, 1908, at the home of the bride's parents. Following their nuptials, they made their home on Wayne Rd., Livonia.

Asked their blissful recipe, Mrs. Krumm twinkled,

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Krumm

ed, "Hard work . . . and it never killed anyone! We were farm people and used to hard work."

Mr. Krumm was born in a log cabin on Wayne Rd. near Plymouth to Mr. and Mrs. John Krumm. The latter were pioneer residents of Livonia.

Mrs. Krumm's maiden name was Anna Marie Dumka. Her parents had lived in Detroit for many years.

The golden wedding pair have been residents of Plymouth and vicinity for 50 years.

Mr. Krumm retired at 70 from a position with the Wayne County General Hospital. His wife is still very actively engaged as a housewife.

The couple has three living daughters, Mrs. Charles (Ione) Gow and Miss Marion Krumm, both of Plymouth, and Mrs. Ernie (Gladys) McBride of Dearborn, and one son, Gerald Krumm of Plymouth.

In addition they have eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Plymouth's holiday calendar took on added sparkle this week with distribution of pale pink ducats for the Symphony Ball to be December 27.

This all-community "traditional" dancing party will be staged in the High School gymnasium this year. The new locale is expected to provide more of a fun atmosphere . . . with small tables decked with red-checked cloths.

Ball chairman is Robert Jenkins. Dancing, beginning at 9:30 p.m., will be to Phil Cole's orchestra. Dress is again optional.

And, as always, those numerous small parties at home preceding the ball will give cheerful impetus to the event.

Ball tickets are available at Beyer's, Cassady's, and the Mayflower Hotel.

Plymouth High School

By GLORIA BOWLES

Debates, Student Council news, seniors and their Christmas card sales, cheerleading, the J-Hop and the play . . . these are the activities which have kept Plymouth High School popping. Here's the latest:

"When you read this PHS'ers will be getting ready to settle down to four school-less days . . . and envision reports cards which are slated to appear for the second time, December 3. The marking period ended today (Wednesday, Nov. 26.) Students have another chance for redemption: The First Semester ends January 30.

Lots of odds 'n ends from Council has given the CARE . . . they've purchased a punch bowl for special school activities (J-Hop, Senior Prom, etc.) Cost: $42.90. You probably wonder where they get all the money to cover these expenses; the answer lies in the treasury, with a present balance of $761.85.

Council members are also encouraging students to attend meetings so that the group might satisfy the needs and wants of PHS'ers. The next Council meeting is December 11. Student Council officers are Mayor Mary Jane West, Vice-Mayor Mer Palmer, Secretary Dick Hubert and Treasurer Mavis Williams.

Seniors are winding up Christmas Card sales, with December 1 the date set for all sellers to either turn in money or cards. Seniors expect to make more than $1500 on the project.

Cheerleaders have selected captains for basketball season . . . Heading the Varsity squad will be junior Karen West, Junior Varsity cheer captain is sophomore Peggy Jenkins while the freshmen yellers have chosen Helen Otwell and Carolyn Scott Co - Captains. Secretary - Treasurer of the whole shi - bang is junior Jill Clarke. Miss Shirley Kaczowski is cheerleading coach.

Varsity cheerleaders have spanning new uniforms: navy blue wool skirts and blue sweaters with a big white "P" JV's will take over the darling blue vest and skirt outfit worn by Varsity last year and team them with white Ban - Lon sweaters. Tentative plans are that the freshmen will wear white skirts and navy blue sweaters. But, as it is a woman's prerogative to change her mind, you may see freshmen in something else come the first game.

Raised havoc with members of the swimming team when, a couple of weeks ago, I said that "sports fans are looking to December 5 . . . the first basketball game of the season." Not a mention of the first swimming meet of the season with Lincoln Park on December 4 (beat the cagers by one day!) My apologies, fellows - don't know how I forgot a swimming meet . . . and after Plymouth captured league honors last year."

The 1958 J-Hop "Paradise in Pastel," is only 15 days and 21 hours away . . . girls are furiously looking for formal and all the trimmings trying to dig up a few dollars . . . others are planning before and after parties for December 13.

Juniors are presenting their first formal dance of the season; Jay Selle, class president, Sally Sawyer, Chairman of the big dance, and April Corey and Nancy Alford, Decorations Committee Co - Chairmen, plus all their committees, are working (fervently!) to make the Hop a rousing success.

The play was the thing last week . . . it was really fabulous. Every last one, from those on stage (26 of them) and some 34 - odd workers behind stage deserve a pat on the back. Before "Our Town" went on, the kids were at school almost every night for two and one-half hours; this lasted six weeks. Whew! Director Robert Southgate, well-liked by all his proteges, should get an extra hearty pat.

The debates won again! Plymouth's eloquents triumphed over Bentley at Alen Park (confusing, isn't it) on Tuesday, November 18. Speaking for the affirmative side were freshmen Chuck Ellis and Jim Kropf; on the Plymouth negative were freshmen Janet Graham and senior Bob Westover.

Saturday, November 15, found debaters and coach, Miss Betty Stevens, in Ann Arbor for a debate clinic at the University of Michigan.

The busy debaters were in Ypsi last Wednesday for a practice debate - both Varsity and JV took part. Only Varsity was judged, however; the negative side won, the affirmative lost. Teams were the same as for the Bentley debate.

Latest attraction was the Plymouth - Trenton debate held yesterday at the Junior High School. On the affirmative side were freshman Steve Bullington and senior Frank Smith. The negative team remained the same.

Correction: (for November 19 column) Frank Smith is a senior; it's KEN Evans, not Keith.

James Madison was born March 16, 1751, at Port Conway, Virginia, the eldest of 12 children.

Kentucky was the 15th state admitted to the Union.

Rotary Anns Christmas Sale Next Week

COCKTAIL NAPKINS are a few of the handicraft items made by vivacious Mrs. Samuel Geraci, of 19691 Clement, Northville. She was a tragic automobile accident victim less than two years ago with little hope given for her living. Through the therapeutic program of the Michigan Society for Crippled Children and Adults, strength has returned to a shattered arm and fingers and with it her old zest for doing. She now walks with a cane . . . and might even be tossing away the cane soon!

BABY BONNET and mittens for Rotary Ann's Christmas sale have been keeping Miss Doris Watson, of 31546 Birchwood, Nankin Township, busy of late. Pretty Miss Watson had TB of the spine when she was four years old and is now a paraplegic. Her cheerful outlook is a tonic to those who realize a wheel chair are her "legs" in life. Looking over her shoulder is Mrs. Millah Nikkel, Michigan district head and occupational therapist for Wayne County Society for Crippled Children, who is furnishing the Rotary Anns with the articles made by the handicapped.

Fine Products of Handicapped Offered at Krogers Dec. 2-6

Christmas spirit will get a king-sized boost when the eighth annual Christmas Sale of Plymouth Rotary Anns begins next week at the Kroger supermarket on Forest Ave.

All Greater Plymouth area shoppers are invited to patronize this unique benefit sale which features only useful handmade and handicraft items made by homebound, handicapped children and adults throughout the community.

There'll be toys, handwoven rugs, aprons, ceramics, copper enameling, jewelry, baby items, leather goods, and many other novelties. All these have been painstakingly made by persons with no other way to market their wares.

Rotary Anns, an organization composed of wives of present or former members, sponsor the sale and "man" the sale booths. They take none of the sale money - it is all turned over to the individual handicapped "manufacturer."

The sale will begin Tuesday, Dec. 2, and continue all week through Saturday, Dec. 6, at Kroger's during normal store hours. Mrs. Paul Chandler is chairman of this year's sales arrangements. Her co-chairman is Mrs. Robert Maurer.

Each year for the past eight years, Plymouth Rotary Anns have sponsored such a sale as part of their Community Service Program.

The Michigan Society for Crippled Children & Adults, Inc., (The Easter Seal Society), provide occupational therapists to work with the severely disabled as a part of their Direct Service Program. This service is made possible through the purchase each year of Easter Seals.

The program serves all ages and all types of disabilities, from the six-year old boy or girl who is bedbound by rheumatic fever or polio to the 75-year-old who has suffered a stroke and has been sitting in a wheelchair for years. Occupational therapists are trained in the knowledge of what activities are appropriate in such cases as these. Under a doctor's direction, work, skillfully supervised can be surprisingly therapeutic.

The type of activity engaged in depends on many things. Age, physical limitations, and mental ability all enter in, but so do the particular interests of the individual, whether child or adult. Previous experience is also important. The variety of abilities and interests is reflected in the articles seen at the sales of their products. The salability of these items attests to the determination of the therapists to teach skills that are useful and practical.

Most of the producers to be represented at the sale have been handicapped for many years, and for many of them this is their first business venture.

No wonder, then, that a few dollars earned by the hard work of awkward muscles means far more than it has any right to in these days of sky-high cost of living.

The boost to morale and the increase in self-confidence is all out of proportion to the amount of money involved.

Yet, increased self-confidence leads to increased production and many of the Homecrafters have found that they can make a real contribution to the family income or their own independence through their sewing, weaving, leather work, ceramics, or other popular crafts.

Not all of the homebound are represented at the sales. For some, the activity given is only physically remedial in nature; others are so handicapped that they will never be able to produce salable articles.

The merchandising program represents only that portion of the service which is concerned with sales outlets for those patients who want and are able to produce salable merchandise. Often the homebound are extremely skilled in some craft long before the society's therapists become acquainted with them. However, help is frequently needed in determining what that skill should produce that people want to buy and in getting the finished articles before the buying public. Helping these handicapped sell their merchandise then becomes as important as teaching them skills.

Each year special sales are held throughout the state through the cooperation of the local chapters of the Easter Seal Society, and through the courtesy of local merchants who donate space. These sales serve the dual purpose of acquainting the general public with one of the services available in the community and at the same time providing a sales outlet for the articles made by the handicapped Homecrafters.

Even Rank Amateurs Can Tile Walls, Floors Easily

More Light, More Air, Less Money Windows in Groups Can Cut Costs

One way to build a better house is to use lots of windows, grouping them together in large areas unbroken by wall spaces between them.

Large windows grouped together in a wall look better from inside and out, let more light in, permit more efficient ventilation, and can save on overall construction costs.

House & Home, magazine of the home-building industry, advises builders in a recent issue to group windows as an efficient means of saving on costs.

"Each added opening in your wall runs up your costs," says House & Home, pointing out that "big windows cost much less per square foot than small, and a narrow wall section between windows costs much more per square foot than a large, unbroken area."

The magazine adds that this is "one of the first lessons" leading architect Frank Lloyd Wright began teaching 60 years ago. "Some of his big houses," says House & Home, "have 50 windows, but only a half-dozen window openings."

A good example of Wright's window technique is found in a prefabricated house he designed. The house has 40 windows of ponderosa pine grouped in long, horizontal bands and large, geometric patterns.

This permitted the prefabricator to follow one of Wright's "musters"—that his houses be located on scenic sites and that the view be unobstructed from inside. The price of the house ranges from $30,000 to $35,000.

Check Car Against 'Blind' Driving During Holidays

Christmas shopping, parties and other activities that call for use of the car are in full swing now. At this busy time abrupt weather changes such as downpours, fog and snow can raise havoc with driving.

"Blind" driving during inclement weather is one sure way to find trouble. Poor vision while driving often stems from improper operation of a car's windshield wipers or the drying out of the rubber on wiper blades. Either one is easily corrected at minimum expense.

A simple test of efficiency of the rubber blades is to wet the windshield lightly and turn the wipers on. Should the glass streak when the wipers pass over it, then the rubber on the blades has dried out and they must be replaced. New blades are inexpensive and can be obtained at a service station or at an auto supply store.

Replacing the worn wiper blade is not difficult. To do this, press the metal tab between the wiper arm near the shaft hub, and pull off the worn blade. The small metal tab acts as a lock. Insert the new blade in the same manner as the old one was removed.

A worn blade may not be the only trouble. Efficient operation of the wiper unit is mandatory for clear-vision driving. There are two types of units: vacuum pressure type, or the one that is operated electrically.

To check the vacuum pressure type, start the motor and race the engine after turning on the wipers. If the wipers hesitate or stop when the engine is raced, then there is a loss of pressure somewhere in the unit. This necessitates a check of all hose connections. If any of the hose lines are soft and spongy, they must be replaced.

Another check on this type of unit is the action of the vacuum booster of the fuel pump. This is done by removing the hose at the vacuum motor and holding a finger over the hose while the engine is raced sharply. If there is no vacuum from the booster, then the diaphragm in the pump has gone and it needs to be replaced.

Electrically-operated windshield wipers will not develop pressure problems. However, these units can become inefficient because of broken or loosely connected wires. All wires must be inspected regularly for good connection.

Suburban Living

WALLS OF rooms that are subject to heavy moisture must receive a primer before tiling.

You'll Enjoy Fireproof Clay Floors Modern Adhesives Save Heavy Work

Tiling walls and also ceiling or floor of bathrooms and laundry rooms is no longer a job that can be done only by professionals. Even clay tile, which was strictly a professional undertaking, can be installed by the average homeowner.

Thanks to modern adhesives, working with clay tile doesn't take the many preparatory steps which were necessary previously. To begin, all wall, ceiling or floor surfaces must be cleaned thoroughly and leveled even. Low spots, holes in the wall and the like can be leveled even with quick-drying plaster.

The next step is seeking the lowest point of the room being tiled. This is done by measuring up forty-eight inches from any point of the floor, and drawing a line with a spirit level around the walls. Random measurements from this line will indicate the low point of the room. At the lowest point, tiling should start.

To determine the height of the tiling, use a piece of tile to step off the number of rows needed from the floor to the desired height. If the entire wall from floor to ceiling is to be tiled, this procedure must be done also to determine how many tiles will be necessary in a row.

If tiling is to come up to a definite height, a line should be drawn at this point around the walls; use the spirit level for accuracy.

Next, measure and mark the exact center of the height line

Have You Yet Tried Forecasting?

If anyone bothered to count the number of foggy days and nights in August, then that's the number of snows to expect this winter. This belief is part of the folklore of New England that has built up and been passed from generation to generation or been printed in almanacs since the days of the first settlers.

Winter, which starts at 3:40 a.m. on Monday, Dec. 22, is considered the season of storms — wind, rain, snow, sleet, blizzards and, above all, cold. If, during one of these storms, you hear thunder, New Englanders would comment that this foretells an early spring.

People can always turn to the daily forecast from the local weather bureau or forecaster. But amateur forecasters enjoy pitting their conclusions against official bulletins. Amateurs often stake their claims on the sky, as do trained forecasters. But amateurs go farther and note the movements of animals and birds and other signs of nature.

It's not surprising how often amateurs by such observations interpret weather correctly. This sort of forecasting started years and years ago when country folk had no other means of judging weather except by putting two and two together — advance signs of nature and changes that followed in weather.

It isn't necessary to be a countryman to be certain that there'll soon be a storm when gulls fly inland from the ocean. This is a common, age-old truism. If you live farther inland and see swallows flying low in the evening then you may, like the farmer, hazard a guess that it will rain tomorrow.

Commuters and all suburbanites who have outdoor projects form the habit of noting Friday's weather. If they've heard that someone proclaimed long ago "if the sun sets clear on Friday, it will storm before Monday night." Any day in the week when you watch a cloud and see that it's growing large, get set for rain. If the cloud grows smaller until it melts away, count on fair weather.

Here are other country sayings that you might enjoy noting. It's a sure sign of a storm when smoke doesn't rise but falls to the ground. A storm is equally certain if water boils out of the kettle on the stove, or an owl hoots. Don't draw a breath of relief when a storm ceases during the night; this only means that it will start up again or another storm will break soon.

Tradition has it that when snow falls in the new of the month, it's likely to melt quickly. Snow that comes when the moon is old is apt to last. The day of the month on which the first snowstorm of winter falls is possibly indicative of the number of snowstorms for the season — at least that's what New Englanders used to believe. It might be more cheerful to try and recall how tall asters grew along the roadside; however tall they were, so deep will be the snows this winter.

Always look at the sky at sunset time. If there's a brassy color in the west, prepare for high winds. On the other hand, whistle if you want the wind to blow.

Three foggy mornings and then a rain is still a New Englander's word. But if the fog descends, instead of rising, it's going to clear off.

Clearing is likely to bring cold weather. So also, it is believed, do Northern lights in the night sky. Rub a cat's back the wrong way and if you see sparks, cold weather is surely ahead.

Nonsense? Maybe yes, maybe no. If noting such signs and linking them to changes in the weather doesn't make a fair to middling weather-forecaster of you, at least it will help to make the dreary days of winter pass more quickly.

HI-FI

Joe Grado, whose monophonic cartridge is among the top performers, now has a stereo cartridge with a specific range of 1-35,000 cycles per second per channel.

The new cartridge is of the moving coil type with a tracking force of two grams. The output is five millivolts, lower than the regular magnetic cartridge, but still high enough for use without a transformer between it and the preamplifier.

Grado claims for it channel separation "in excess of" 25 decibels. It will work satisfactorily with any pickup arm, although Grado used his own wood pickup arm in developing the new cartridge.

which does more to counteract hum than a three-wire system.

A feature of the original GS-77, which was carried over into the new model, is the automatic stopping of the turntable during the changing cycle.

The new model also incorporates a power receptacle as an integral part of the changer.

It enables an owner to tie his whole system to the changer. Then, when the changer shuts off at the end of the last record, it shuts the power off to the entire system.

Mending Fences Is Worthwhile Maintenance

Property fences take a beating from weather, and older ones require inspection and repair after rough weather. Only minimum tools are required for fence mending, but the chore requires also the use of muscles.

The most common trouble with fences is the rotting or broken post. Other troubles may be a fence sway or sag which comes from loose posts, weak pickets, and blistering or chipping paint. All of these conditions must be attended to if a homeowner expects to keep his fence standing.

Repairing a broken or rotten post is not too great a problem. The first step is to brace the fence and saw the post in half just above the ground. The post end in the ground should be removed. Then, bolt two 3 or 4-inch wide iron straps—at least 3 inches long—to the top part of the post. The iron strap width is determined by the post dimensions; most are 4 x 4 inches. Holes in the iron can be drilled with a metal drilling bit.

Make sure the iron straps extend 12 inches above the ground, and 18 inches are in the post hole. Brace the post in the hole and pour cement. At least 3 days cement-drying time should be allowed.

A wavy or sagging fence can be straightened by making the posts sturdy. This is done by digging away the soil bracing each post and "pulling" each post up until the fence is plumb. Once the fence is perpendicular, soil is poured back in place and firmed for a solid foundation. This chore will require the assistance of another person.

Replacing weakened pickets presents a problem since either the picket or the stretcher to which the picket is nailed is probably rotted. This condition comes about because of not using galvanized or aluminum nails when the fence was put together. What must be done is to splice a new piece of wood in the stretch by cutting out rotten wood.

BREAK OUT your Haviland china for the holidays.

Prized China Firm Owned By Americans

Will Haviland china be in your festive dinner plans during the holidays? The "best" china in many an American household for more than a century has been Haviland. It is made in Limoges, France, and also in several places in the United States from the same specifications.

Designs differ in the two countries. Prized china are those pieces which are stamped on the center of the underside "Haviland & Co." the phrase curving over the word Limoges and underneath this "Imported by" and the name of the American retail firm. Stamped above this in another color is "Haviland, France."

Haviland china made in this country has its own mark and place identification. The china is noted for its extreme hardness due to the temperature at which it is fired. This temperature also seals the delicate colored pattern so that it never wears off. The translucency of this china also is notable.

So little known that it cannot have added to the well-earned prestige of Haviland

Left-Over Turkey Can Be Food for Gourmets

Left-over turkey becomes a festive post-holiday dish when combined with fresh mushrooms in tomato sauce.

For 6 servings, saute 1 cup sliced onion in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Add 2 cups diced fresh tomatoes, 1 cup each diced celery and green pepper. Cook uncovered, until most of liquid evaporates. Add 3 cups sliced fresh mushrooms and 2 cups slivered left-over turkey.

Cook until heated through and mushrooms are done, stirring carefully. Season to taste with salt and black pepper.

When the turkey carcass begins to look bare, simmer the bones to make stock for this unusual chow mein style recipe.

Blend ¼ cup each flour and butter or margarine. Gradually stir in 1 cup each milk and turkey stock.

Cook over heat until medium thick. Stir in 1½ cups diced cooked turkey, ¼ teaspoon each onion powder and poultry seasoning, and salt and pepper to taste. Heat thoroughly.

Just before serving over chow mein noodles, add ¼ cup diced avocado to the turkey mixture. Garnish with pimento strips and avocado slices. Serves 6.

Styrofoam Balls Can Easily Be Transformed Into Glitter Items

Sometime or other during the Thanksgiving holiday from school, keeping the children busy and happy will pose a problem. A half hour's shopping before the holiday begins can provide a supply of materials for making gay and glittery Christmas tree ornaments—a project that can make minutes fly for young and old.

First on the shopping list is a supply of styrofoam, that stiff, porous white material that has so many uses for decorations. Buy some balls, unadorned, the size of the glittery colored Christmas tree balls, and also some sheets of styrofoam, one inch or less thick. From the store can be cut bells, Christmas trees and wreaths or any motif traced from a pattern.

To decorate styrofoam balls, a variety of glittering materials is needed. Purchase sequins and beads in all colors by the box or tube, some bottles of glitter, cellophane or plastic sippers in all colors, packages of colored and white pipe cleaners, red and black thumbtacks. A stop at a fabric shop or department store will yield gold and silver braid by the yard, narrow ribbon in red and other Christmas colors, tulle and gauze by the yard, each length a different color (Cut strips before work begins).

Easy-to-apply glue, some large spools of coarse thread in white, red, green and black, and a package of coarse, large-eyed needles complete the shopping.

Decorating Christmas tree ornaments can be fun for all the family some evening, or it can be a half-day morning or afternoon occupation for the youngsters. If the latter, then an adult or teenager must work with the youngsters to guide their first efforts.

Muffin tins or custard cups are good holders of supplies. Empty one kind or color of bead or sequin in each section of the muffin tin. Cover the table with paper and spread out the materials, being sure to add cutting scissors and perhaps pliers.

A styrofoam ball is turned quickly into a Christmas tree ornament by sticking into it colored cellophane sippers cut into various lengths. For more glitter, tip each sipper with a gold or contrasting colored bead. For even more glamour, swathe the decorated ball with one or two lengths of the 3-inch wide strips of tulle or gauze.

Some of the styrofoam balls might be turned into angel faces or even Santa Claus heads. For an angel, glue a length of gold braid as a crown close to one end of the ball. At proportionate distances on one side of the ball under the crown, attach two large round blue sequins for eyes, sew three or four beads for eyebrows and one bead for a nose. Then stick in a red thumbtack for the mouth.

Every ornament needs a hook. For this sew a length of ribbon, not less than 3 inches long when doubled over, to the top. Or insert a length of pipe cleaner bent at the top like the handle of a cane.

MAKING CHRISTMAS tree decorations by sewing, gluing or sticking all sorts of bright and glittering decorations on styrofoam is great fun for youth and adults.

Go Monotone For Chic Room Decor

CHICAGO — (UP) — A monotone room is as wise an effect as pleasing and dress," says decorator Rose Marie Pruse.

She practices the theory in her own work room, and the effect is pleasing and practical.

Miss Pruse, (of Peter Schneider's Sons & Co.) chose champagne as her basic color. Pale beige tones are repeated in the painted walls, silk-covered sofas and chairs and in slightly deeper shades in the travertine and pearl-ate marble-topped coffee tables.

The floor is covered with champagne-colored rubber tile, and the color is repeated in parchment lamps. Lampshades and ceiling are white.

The work room has no windows, but Miss Pruse recommends champagne fortisan, an improved rayon fiber resistant to weather, for draperies.

The delicate color is not impractical, she said. Silk and fortisan can be treated with a stain repeller (Scottgard) which has proved successful in keeping textured and satiny fabrics fresh.

Accessories provide the color, which Miss Pruse changes every six months. These days she is using purple.

Violets in white vases and clear glass jars brighten tables on one side of the room, and a three-foot high purple bottle provides a massive spot of color on the other side. Pillows, vases, pictures and containers range in tone from violet to reddish-purple.

Miss Pruse, a light brunette with blue eyes, prefers the champagne shade, but said the same theory can be applied to any light color—blue, maize, pink, apple or mint green.

Two Birds Are Better Than One

Two golden brown birds on the table double the fun of holiday dinner. For the price of one large bird, two succulent young roast chickens provide double the number of drumsticks in half the cooking time. As an added attraction, each chicken can be stuffed with a different kind of dressing.

No longer does the cook have to rise with the dawn to get a holiday dinner started or leave the merrymaking every half-hour to baste the bird in the oven. Thrifty broiler-fryers or chickens for roasting are so juicy that no basting is required. Simply brush with butter at the start.

- Roast Stuffed Chicken
- 2 young roasting chickens
- 1 teaspoon salt, divided
- 2 tablespoons softened butter, shortening or salad oil

Wash chickens in cold, running water; pat dry inside and out with paper toweling. Sprinkle each cavity with ½ teaspoon of the salt. Fill neck cavity lightly with favorite stuffing. Hook wing tip into back to hold neck skin; if skin is short, fasten with skewer. Fill body cavity with stuffing; tie legs together with string, then tie legs and tail together. Rub entire body of each chicken with 1 tablespoon softened butter or shortening, or brush with salad oil. Place chickens on rack in shallow roasting pan. Roast in a moderate oven (375°F.). Allow 30 minutes per pound (2 hours for a four-pound roasting chicken).

Canton Township: Thanksgiving Plans Occupy Attention of All Residents

BY ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL. 3-0194

What price we pay for beauty. I am, this week, typing my column with six fingers, the other ones, are at present sore from giving myself a permanent, so now I have something to blame my errors on. This week I have been seeking information on your Thanksgiving plans. If I didn't talk with you, call and tell me what you did on Thanksgiving.

One of our young Canton Township residents, Miss Marlene Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parnell Johnson, of Maben Rd., is in University Hospital. I talked with Mrs. Johnson and she said M a r l e n e is coming along quite well. We hope you will be well real soon, Marlene, and able to return to your classes at the new Junior High.

I wish to express my sympathies to the Theron Palmer family of Beck Rd. Mrs. Palmer's father, Frank Fabricque of Clinton passed away this past week.

I haven't heard a thing about our Canton Township Boy Scout troop for at least a month, but knowing this group of young men, I know they are a very busy lot. I tried to contact Mr. Leffler, their Scout Master, but Mrs. Leffler said he has left for deer hunting.

Good-luck, Mr. Leffler, and how about hearing from your sons.

It is farewell to the Robert Mitchells of Ford Road. We sure hate to see them go, but according to Mrs. Mitchell they have planned a very happy future for themselves.

They are moving to Placida, Fla.

Temporarily they will be living in a furnished apartment while their new home is being built. Mrs. Mitchell said they sold all their present furniture and plan on new furniture to meet the climate requirements. I asked if they plan to grow tomatoes in Florida and to this Mrs. Mitchell laughed and said "no sir! We are just going to plant pretty flowers to look at, play golf, fish, swim and hike. We are too young at heart to just sit about."

Mrs. Mitchell said their new home will be about 2,000 feet from the Gulf of Mexico and will be located on a 3/4 acre plot of ground. Of course, both Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell are active members of the Masonic lodge and plan to keep their work in it in Florida. The Mitchell's have renewed their Plymouth Mail subscription and are having it sent to Florida so they can keep track of their friends back here. We are sorry to see them leave, but wish them all the happiness in the world in their new home. Before hanging up the telephone, however, Mrs. Mitchell promised a post card after they are settled. The Mitchells were residents of Canton Township for 13 years.

Last Saturday Gary Mucker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nick Mucker of Saltz Rd. received a nice surprise for his birthday. His grandmother, Mrs. Arthur Wells baked Gary a birthday cake and she and his grandfather and Judy brought it to him. Gary's Mom said she was up to her ears in re-decorating and was glad grandmother helped celebrate Gary's birthday. Another young man to celebrate a birthday this past week was Gerry St. Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. Louis of Beck Rd. Gerry had celebrated the weekend before with all his aunts and uncles, and grandparents because his Dad was leaving for deer hunting. On his birthday however, his Mom told him to invite two friends to the movies. Gerry asked his brother Bob and Mark and Kim Sprengel to accompany him. A late Happy birthday, Gerry.

I called Mrs. Claude Eaton (Doris) to see what they had planned for Thanksgiving. She said they planned a family dinner with her sister, Mrs. Irene Smith and family, and her parents Mr. and Mrs. Perry Campbell. Their daughter Nancy was coming home from Cleary College at Ypsilanti to spend the holiday with her family. The dinner was to be held at the Eaton's home on Canton Center Rd.

I called Mrs. Stan West of Ridge Rd. to see if they had set their plans for Thanksgiving. Mrs. West said nothing definite had been decided, but asked if I had heard about the Thanksgiving dinner being held at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church Sunday prior to Thanksgiving for the foreign students attending the University and Eastern colleges.

Mrs. West said an invitation was to be extended to these students, as was last year and a typical dinner would be served. Families of the congregation were also taking part in the festivities. Each family was to bring their table service and a dish to pass. Last year students from Japan, China and Liberia attended the feast and each gave a short talk about their home. Mrs. West said they found our food quite different from theirs and that they seemed to like most of it. This seems like a wonderful way of sharing our Thanksgiving holiday with young people far from their homes.

The W. Gerald Cather family of Canton Center Rd. have a house guest, Homer Hodge of Owosso. Mr. Hodge will be the guest of the Cathers until he can locate a house for his family in this vicinity.

Mrs. Pearl Doyle returned recently from a trip to Port Hope, where she visited with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Smith.

A call to Mrs. John Contarino of Ridge Rd., found Mrs. Contarino entertaining her grandchildren, Cameron, Kelly, and Jill for the day. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rutley. Mrs. Contarino said they plan a Thanksgiving dinner with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Combs.

ario said they plan a Thanksgiving dinner with her daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rutley, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Olowich of Birmingham and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Benedict of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Norris White of Sheldon Rd. and family, will entertain Mr. White's brother, Maynard White and his father, Henry White of Port Huron, and the Ervin Knudson family, at their home with a traditional Thanksgiving dinner.

From all corners of the township you hear of deer hunting men, but until today I hadn't heard of any deer being shot. But today it came to my attention that Don Schmidt of Lilley Rd. got his deer for the season, so I called his home and talked with his wife Diana. Diana said her husband had gotten a spiked horn deer and added that their 16-year-old son Richard got a three point deer while on a hunting expedition with his grandfather, George Schmidt at Lewiston. Diana said her husband was still up North and was hoping to get himself a bear. I commented that a bear skin would look great in the future planned recreation room.

For Thanksgiving, the Don Schmidt family are planning to attend dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Schmidt of Livonia.

An invitation went out to the mothers of the fifth grade students of the Cherry Hill Methodist Sunday School class. The invitations were in the shape of the Holy Land and the request was for the mothers to attend a Galilean Lunch at 1 p.m. on November 22. Teacher Mrs. Conklin sponsored the luncheon.

A call to Mrs. G. Wright (Alice) of Gyde Rd., found the family with a house guest, Mrs. Wright's mother Mrs. Walter Wilson. Mrs. Wilson will be spending Thanksgiving with the Wrights. Also coming home from College in Kalamazoo for Thanksgiving is the Wright's son Gary.

The home of the Roger Bordines will be the scene of a family celebration for Thanksgiving. Attending will be Mrs. Bordines' mother, Mrs. Sarah Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. William Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart and family and Mr. and Mrs. B.F. Sweatt.

Well, that just about winds up what I have been able to find out about folks' Thanksgiving plans, but I would like to hear what the rest of you did on that day, so give me a call.

Not to be left out of the scene, the William Sprengel's home will be the place for our family dinner on Thanksgiving, with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hilving and son Kenny and daughter Karen; Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Zabel, Jr., and son Kurt; Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Zabel, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Karschnick and my mother, Mrs. Ella Cross, being invited to help us celebrate.

See you next week and don't forget, we want to know what you did for Thanksgiving.

Just before delivering this article for the week, I had a surprise visitor this morning to have a cup of coffee with me, Mrs. Robert Orr, a former resident, now residing in Hudson. Mrs. Orr is spending the weekend with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Combs.

Santa Claus Is Odds - On Favorite In Christmas Card Derby for 1958

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(UPI)—Santa Claus is a one-to-eight favorite in the 1958 Christmas card derby.

At first glance, such odds wouldn't accord the old gentleman preferred status. But considering the thousands of other designs against which he will compete, Santa's position is strong.

St. Nick occupies the pinnacle this year because that's where the American public has placed him, said a spokesman for Hallmark Cards, world's largest greeting card publisher. And public preferences are always honored in the Christmas card business.

The 300 artists who create the company's 11,000 new greeting card designs each year are guided by experience, research and an alertness to changing consumer tastes. This knowledge is carried brightly colored ornaments, candles and floral designs, in that order, behind Santa Claus as customer favorites this year.

Although familiar symbols of the holiday lead, the cards are distinguished by many new styling touches. Santa Clause, for example, wears a beard fashioned of stand-up plastic granules on some of the cards. On others, his traditional red suit is reproduced in luminescent ink, for a glowing appearance.

NEW BOOKS LANDING AT The Wayne County LIBRARY

One of the most important books to arrive at Dunning-Hough this past week is a reference tome, "Investment Companies, 1958 edition," prepared by Arthur Wiesenberg.

This edition is available upon request to be read in the library. It will not be circulated.

It is the 18th annual compendium about mutual funds and investment companies — a complete explanation of their function and various uses to the investor.

Data on the background, management policy and salient features of all leading companies, management results, income and dividend records, price ranges and comparative operating details are all included. This book would certainly be a boon to the new person planning to invest.

Other newly arrived titles that will be circulated include: "Getting Acquainted with Minerals" by George Latchworth English and David E. Jensen.

"Doctor Squibb," by Lawrence G. Blochman — the life and times of this rugged idealist.

"The Great Arms Race" by Hanson W. Baldwin.

"Better Handwriting" by Paul V. West.

"Three Priests" by Joseph Dever.

"The Road to Emotional Maturity" by Dr. David Abrahamson.

"Hypnotism" by Dr. J. Milne Bramwell.

"Turvey" by Earl Birney.

"What About Mutual Sub on TV

HOLLYWOOD — (UPI) — The USS Sawfish, first of the "killer" submarines of World War II, will be seen on television early in 1959 in a modernized version of the "Adventures of Tom Swift."

The first program of the series, "Solar Sub," tells how the redoubtable Tom installs solar energy aboard a submarine.

Even Newer from Behind the Wheel!

Odds are you've seen the new 1959 Cadillac by now—perhaps sweeping regally past you on the boulevard... perhaps making its majestic arrival at a fine club or hotel.

And odds are, too, that you've wondered if this 1959 "car of cars" could be as superlative in performance as it is in appearance.

Well, once you've found out for yourself, we think the truth will very likely amaze you. For this Cadillac is even newer from behind the wheel!

You will sense it, in fact, the moment you hear the whisper-quiet response of its great new engine.

And your sentiment will grow to conviction as you discover the other wonders of Cadillac's new performance... responsiveness so immediate and so silken in every driving range that it is difficult to believe...

... handling ease so remarkable that you follow the curves and corners with the lightest imaginable movement of hand and wheel

... a quality of ride so smooth and level and quiet that even the byways travel like boulevards.

Indeed, the evidence will be overwhelming—a journey at its wheel is the world's most glorious interval between start and stop.

And the proof of all this is no farther away than your nearest authorized Cadillac dealer.

He'll be delighted to make you his guest—to explain the virtues of each of Cadillac's thirteen new Fleetwood-crafted models, including the fabulous new Eldorado Brougham—and to let you take the wheel for yourself.

Apple Growers Hurt By Undergrading

Four-fifths of Michigan's 3,800 growers of red tart cherries approve of compulsory cherry grading, it was indicated by a grower survey recently conducted by the Michigan Department of Agriculture to test popularity of its Regulation 527 that requires compulsory grading of cherries going to processors.

A random sampling of 3 percent of the red tart cherry growers in the 16 chief cherry producing counties disclosed 81.7 percent of the growers in favor of Regulation 527 as compared to 18.3 percent against the measure. The regulation was adopted in 1953 at the request of the cherry industry as a means of increasing quality. It was felt that a superior product would build public acceptance of Michigan cherries and stimulate demand for the product.

For the past decade the state has not failed to produce more than half of the total national red tart cherry crop. Most of the cherries reach the consumer in the processed form. The 1958 Michigan crop totaled about 50,000 tons.

Among growers interviewed in the survey were those with as few as 15 trees and others with more than 5,000 trees. Several suggestions were also picked up in the survey including the use of the 303 tin cans (small size) for cherries, discourage the use of water pack for cherries, and permitting the processor to regrade those lots of cherries below 88 percent. The present regulation does not permit acceptance of cherries with more than 12 percent grade defects.

Persons connected with the red tart cherry industry have also expressed need for uniform sampling methods at the receiving platform, improvement in color measurement methods, better quality control in processing plants, more effective advertising and better national distribution of Michigan red tart cherries.

Hamill Joins New State Engineering Association

Herald F. Hamill, 292 S. Main Street, is one of the 23 civil engineering and land surveying firms from the Wayne - Oakland - Macomb County area accepted to membership in the Michigan Association of Civil Engineers and Land Surveyors.

MACELS was recently organized on the management level to solve mutual problems, to raise the standards of the professions and to create better relationship between civil engineer, land surveyor and client. It is the first organization of its kind in the State.

The non-profit group is unique in that membership is limited to presidents or owners of companies, all of whom must be either a registered civil engineer or land surveyor.

MACELS also seeks modernization of the present State Code as one of its objectives and hopes to create a pool of talent from which members can draw when there is a need for skilled, experienced workers in a hurry for rush orders.

Copry. The Lincoln National Life Ins. Co.

Although Thanksgiving Day had been celebrated occasionally in America since early Colonial days, it remained for Abraham Lincoln, in 1863, to sign the first national annual Thanksgiving Proclamation, according to Dr. R. Gerald McMurtry, director of the Lincoln National Life Foundation. His signing of the document is depicted in the above painting, created by the nationally-known artist, Dean Cornwell. The scene is historically correct and shows Lincoln in his White House office just after he had completed his signature on the document. Lincoln's Thanksgiving Proclamation of 1863 marked the beginning of an unbroken series of proclamations, although there was some deviation as to date, by United States Presidents. Lincoln selected the last Thursday in November, which was the last feast day of the church calendar year. For a few years starting in 1939, the third Thursday was named. Since 1941, Thanksgiving has been observed on the fourth Thursday in November.

Thanksgiving--First Things, First

HANDWRITING Tells About Yourself

By LUCILLE WILLIAMS

Dear Lucille:

For curiosity could you see anything in my handwriting that would cause me to have so much difficulty at home? I seem to be always in an argument or getting bawled out for something.

M.J.B.

Dear M.J.B.:

Perhaps these next few lines will answer your question.

To begin with, you are overly sensitive and probably are taking helpful criticism as a bawling out. Try to think of helpful suggestions as being just that and not someone trying to pick on you.

There are many signs of having a chip on your shoulder - with an attitude like that and being sensitive no wonder you get into arguments.

However you aren't really emotional and with a little perseverance you could turn your capable thinking ability into good logic. You have a very good imagination, so put it to good use and try to feel people really do want to be helpful even if it doesn't seem that way.

Dear Lucille:

I am an interested reader of your column and would appreciate having my handwriting analyzed. Thank you.

Mrs. J. R. C.

Dear Mrs. J. R. C.:

You aren't a physical minded person. You would rather do mental work and have a good thinking mind to do it with.

However, you have a tendency to suppress many of your thoughts and keep many things to yourself. Occasionally you show temper but it isn't all through your writing.

You have a good memory and your purpose in life is definite. Little details don't escape you and you're always proud of whatever you accomplish.

There's some self consciousness here but no sensitivity so you should be able to overcome that. You're often generous and a very loyal person.

Dear Lucille:

I hang my head in shame and offer apologies to Marsha Ellen for not having written sooner. As usual she's the leader in the "Royal Order of the Coffee Cup." Please analyze my handwriting, and be truthful but kind. Colleen Kelley

Dear Colleen: Your coffee club letters are coming in and although they can't all get in at once I'll get to them by next week.

You desire attention and strive for it. There is a tendency to want to stand out and be noticed.

Humor is in your make up and you can spice up conversation when it is needed. You're the type of person who likes things in their right place and time organized constructively.

You're an independent thinker and despite what is termed customary you will act and do as you personally feel is necessary and right. Persistence and aggressiveness with a desire to be active in every way go hand in hand in your desire to stand out.

You have ability to write and could create interesting articles or letters.

A very little resentment and a tendency to procrastinate are your only minor traits.

Dear Miss Williams:

Do I have a personality flaw, or am I just stupid? I seem to be good at nothing—nothing outstanding.

People often seek me out as a friend, but I don't seem to work at keeping their friendships.

M.G.

Dear M.G.:

I had to cut some of your letter - sorry. It was a little too long to print.

You are so visionary in your thinking that actually you're a day dreamer. There's an attempt at spiritual thinking but it's very limited.

Being self conscious is probably part of your difficulty and you have imagination - which no doubt is working the wrong way.

However, you're a very capable thinker and far from stupid, perhaps if you read more - joined an active group, you would broaden your thinking and your outlook.

You have a desire to acquire so whatever it might be - knowledge - friends - activity, put your mind to work constructively and start enjoying all the wonderful opportunities around you.

(More Marsha Ellen Koffes Klatch letters next week.)

Approximately 2,000 high school and college students from almost every state and many foreign countries assemble each summer for artistic training at the National Music Camp near Interlochen in West Michigan.

2 of 3 U-M Applicants Are Refused Admission

(From the "Michigan Journalist")

Some 3,000 new University of Michigan students attending orientation for the fall semester were pleasantly surprised when President Harlan Hatcher called them a "fairly select group." He had good reason for so describing them, explained the President, for they were not among the 6,000 or so who had applied but were not admitted.

Because these figures were made public at what was a predominantly freshman orientation, it was assumed by many that the 2-to-1 rejection ratio referred solely to freshmen. All categories of new students are included in these figures, emphasized Gayle C. Wilson, Associate Director of Admissions.

Statistics relating specifically to freshmen show that about 7,500 prospective students applied for fall admission. About 4,000 met the admission requirements and were accepted for enrollment. Of this number, however, slightly above 3,000 actually enrolled.

Only 53 per cent of those who originally applied ultimately became freshmen. Wilson revealed, adding that this ratio was not substantially different from that of recent years. There is no special cause for alarm, he maintained, over and above those causes that are already known to exist at the University and throughout the nation.

Asked about admission requirements, Wilson explained that the University's first obligation is to residents of Michigan. A resident generally qualifies when he has a "B" average in high school work, is in the top quarter of his high school class, and has demonstrated a learning applicant's eligibility.

Next in priority, he continued, come the children of alumni, who must meet the same general academic requirements.

Other out-of-state students must have higher qualifications, Wilson added, pointing out that their numbers are limited to one-third of the freshmen enrollment and they are selected to obtain as wide a geographical distribution as possible.

Foreign students, Wilson said, are never admitted as freshmen, unless under special circumstances. They are required to have undertaken at least one year of college-level studies either at home or in some other institution in this country before becoming eligible for enrollment.

Questioned about any effects recent restrictions in admission policies, Wilson pointed out that officially there has always been a theoretical limit - equal to the number of faculty and facilities - on the total number of students admitted.

In practice, he explained, this limit has been elastic during past years. The denial of a request for increased funds has forced the University to adhere rigidly to this limit. As an example, he disclosed that by July of this year, the College of Literature, Science and the Arts had reached the figure established as the maximum for the fall semester, and that no freshman applications received after that date were considered, regardless of the potential that may be enhanced by higher education.

Commenting on the "closing college door" in Michigan, Wilson indicated that the phrase holds true for the more popular schools whose facilities are severely taxed at present. On the other hand, he pointed out, there are many smaller schools throughout Michigan which can accommodate higher enrollments but which lack the drawing power.

This pressure, he suggested, is due, in part, to the steadily increasing number of girls now entering college. While the male-female ratio for the freshman class of 1950 was about 3-to-1, he explained, the ratio in the freshman class of 1958 is 4-to-3. Indications are that it could become a 1-to-1 figure within a few years, he maintained.

If Your Name Is 'Sibyl'

By Ann Reynolds, Ph.D. Or do you spell your name "Sybil"? This is a name the spelling of which is not always the same; sometimes it is "Sibylla," even "Sibylla."

In ancient Greece, from where we got this name, it was "Sibylla," a name designating a number of women - prophets looked upon as the mouthpiece of ancient pagan deities. They officiated in several places and at different times. Heraclitus, the Greek philosopher of the fifth century B.C. mentions a sibylla of Marpessus, which was a village near Troy. He recorded that she reached into the future a thousand years ahead, and that it was the god Apollo who gave her the power of prophecy.

And because the Greek god was fond of her he granted her a life of as many years as she had grains of dust in the palm of her hand. As she had forgotten to ask also for eternal youth, she became old and withered. The most famous sibylla was the Cumaean; Cumae was an ancient Greek colony near Naples. There in a cave high above the sea was the sibylla's seat.

Pliny the Elder, the Roman writer, preserved a story about this sibylla in his "Natural History" that proves her a smart saleswoman. The sibylla offered nine books of prophecies for sale to Tarquinius Superbus, the last of the Roman kings. The ruler, however, found the price too high. So the sibylla threw three of the books in the fire, and quoted the same price for the remaining six. The king again refused to pay out the money, but the sibylla remained adamant, and three more books went into the fire. With only three of the precious books left, the king broke down, and paid for the last three books what he had been asked to pay for all nine.

Michelangelo's frescoes in the Sistine Chapel in the Vatican show sibyls among the prophets. Why should these heathen sibyls find a place in a Christian religious painting? There existed, under the name "Sibylline Oracles" a collection of revelations, written in imitation of the pagan Sibylline books. These were used beginning from the 2nd century B.C., first by the Jews, then by the early Christians, in order to convert the heathens. This way the sibyls became venerated personages in Christianity. For this reason the name was used as a given name, and that it was a popular name is shown by the fact that there are a number of family names derived from it, for instance Sibley, Sibbs, and Sibbet.

During the Reformation the name "Sibyl" was less often used, but in the 19th century it was dusted off and became stylish. Distiaeli, the illustrious primeminister to Queen Victoria of England who wrote novels in his leisure hours entitled one of these "Sibyl" and this rekindled interest in this pretty given name.

Americans Are Goggled-Eyed Over Sport of Skin Diving

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Skin diving, an almost unknown sport 30 years ago, has become a spare-time avocation for more than one million Americans in the past few years.

During the 1930's, a handful of hardy pioneers took the first plunges into the clear waters of the Mediterranean Sea equipped with eye goggles and fish spears. But the sport was publicized little and spread slowly.

The exploits of wartime frogmen and development of a safe and relatively inexpensive self-contained underwater breathing apparatus (SCUBA) during World War II dramatically introduced sportsmen to the underwater world.

By 1947, compressed air tanks for breathing underwater, face plates for underwater vision and rubber foot fins for propulsion were readily available to U.S. enthusiasts. They took to the water in droves, particularly along the California and Florida coasts.

Many things lure these men (and a surprising number of women) to spend weekends and holidays 30 feet or more beneath wind-whipped waves.

Appealing to many divers is the thrill of pushing into unexplored submarine caves or canyons, where strange fish flash by and relics from a sunken Spanish gold ship may suddenly appear out of the white sand.

Some relish a tingling chase after a large sea bass, spear poised for the kill, while others find a challenge in hunting with special adapted underwater cameras.

But all skin divers find balm for telephone-jangled nerves in this world of incredible beauty and grace where all activity seems to be in slow motion and the diver escapes gravely for a while, to wheel and circle like a bird.

Clear water to dive in and $15 in cash will equip you for the sport. Here's all you need.

A quality face plate with safety glass window, rubber swim fins, a snorkel (bent rubber tube) to breathe through while your face is underwater, and a pal.

Diving with a buddy is the first rule of underwater safety and will also provide someone to share the thrills with.

Be sure you're in good physical condition, don't take chances, and you may soon be spending your weekends 30 feet down where there are no telephones or traffic signals.

Rotunda Yules Fantasy Opens November 29

The sixth annual Ford Rotunda Christmas Fantasy, with new displays and an entirely different "cast of characters" from the wonderland of fable and folklore, will open at the Rotunda in Dearborn, Mich., Saturday, November 29.

Outstanding new attraction this year, for children and adults alike, will be a 15,000-piece miniature animated circus, complete with animals, wagons, circus train and performers.

Central religious theme of the Fantasy — one of the nation's best known holiday presentations — will be the life-size Nativity scene in the Rotunda center court. Represented in the tableau will be figures of Mary and Joseph, the Christ child, Wise Men and their camels, shepherds and their sheep.

The background motif for the Nativity scene will be a full-size reproduction of a church organ with organ music to add a touch of realism. Detroit area choral groups will provide concerts periodically in the center court.

As always, the outer court will be filled with animated characters from the world of fantasy.

In one section will be scores of animated dolls representing children of all nations. In another will be the "shopping center," with a doll beauty shop, in another, a large candy shop where animated workmen endlessly manufacture chocolate-covered delicacies.

There also will be a rustic barn dance and a scene showing woodland characters frolicking in the snow.

The largest single display will be the miniature circus in which moving workers unload the train, set up the big top and sell tickets; the animals perform, the sideshow dancers dance and the barkers' entice the crowds. There are performing elephants, bareback riders, a nimble trainer — every traditional facet of the real, old-fashioned three-ring circus.

Santa Claus will be in his castle at the top of the outer court ramp, to hear the whispered wishes of thousands of youngsters. A 40-foot high Christmas tree, with 18,000 individual lights, will dominate the east Rotunda entrance.

Cartoon movies for children — and adults — will run continuously in the Rotunda theater.

The Rotunda will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday, and from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Sunday. The Fantasy will close at 3 p.m. Christmas Eve.

The 1957 Rotunda Christmas show was seen by 735,296 visitors, between November 30 and December 24.

Iron Bars Do Not A Divorce Make

CHICAGO (UPI) — About half the male and more than half the female prisoners in federal and state penal institutions are married when they enter prison, rehabilitation authorities said.

Many married prisoners are in the early stages of separation, sociologists for the John Howard Association said.

Eugene Zemus, executive of the Illinois Academy of Criminology, said many of the marriages remain "legally intact" during the period of imprisonment.

The median length of time served by prisoners in federal institutions is 11 months. Some 96.1 per cent of all federal prisoners are released at the end of five years' imprisonment.

The median time served by state prisoners is 21 months, Zemus said, and 89.9 per cent are released at the end of five years.

"The median period of separation, therefore," Zemus said, "is comparable to that often imposed by military service."

Zemus, vice president of the Illinois Academy of Criminology, said that only Maine, Florida, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, and South Carolina list conviction of a felony imprisonment as a cause for divorce on the part of the convict's spouse.

Tips for Teens

Your party will be a fun-thing if you start it with a lively "mixer"—an easy game that help guests forget their shyness and feel at ease.

Boys won't go into a huddle in a corner by themselves if your party is planned in advance with enough games, activities and food to keep it buzzing. But if there is a lull when you need something to draw everybody into the fun and hold their interest, another "mixer" is a sure cure.

Here are several of them for your party or when you just "call up the crowd" and invite them to your house.

They're from a wonderful new book, "Handbook of Co-Ed Teen Activities" by Edythe and David DeMarche, sold at book counters and book stores.

Names on the back. Give each guest two pieces of paper and a pencil and a pin. Each writes his name on one piece and it's pinned on his back. On the other piece he must get and list the names of other guests pinned to their backs and they try to keep him from seeing their names. The one who has the most names at the stop-signal wins a small, fun-making prize.

Lost and found — Hide a dozen objects in unexpected places — beans in the peanut bowl, lipstick in the potato chip dish, a pencil on the woodwork, a match on a picture frame, etc. Give each guest a list of the articles and a certain amount of time to locate them and write down their location a secret. The person or couple finding the largest number of them wins.

Famous partners — All guests have pencil and paper. At a signal, each makes a list of the partners he can think of — ham and eggs, salt and pepper, Amos and Andy, etc. At a stop-signal, one guest reads his list and the others check theirs with his, crossing off duplicates on their lists. Each guest reads his list for the crossing-off. The one with the most unduplicated partners at the end, wins.

"Games for Party Fun," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Plastic gloves to cover artificial hands are complete in appearance, including nails, and even finger prints.

JACK WILCOX, left, has bitten off more than he can chew even after Jack Robertson warned him about his wife's "sinker-quality" cakes. This bit of delightful nonsense was the highlight in last week's Plymouth Theatre Guild Workshop presentation of an original one act comedy.

Laughs A' Plenty In Guild Workshop Play

Champ or Chump?

A Plymouth Theater Guild Workshop production of a one act comedy by Bob Wall. Produced by Rosemary Koiman and Betty Houghton. Directed by Sam Davis. Lighting by Jack Wilcox. Performances at Guild meeting (Nov. 17) and Newcomers Club (Nov. 19th) in Plymouth, Michigan.

Harry Jack Wilcox

Several years back the song "If I knew you were coming I'd have baked a cake..." had the country whistling and humming its melodious notes. Last week the Plymouth Theater Guild Workshop had an audience roaring with laughter over a cake that was far from "whistle-bait" or something to sing about.

The cake in question formed the main part of the difficulty in the lives of John and Jane Brewster. John claimed he could make a "jiffy" cake that equal Jane's valiant attempts.

Jack Robertson, making his debut on the board in the Plymouth area, proved his point in the fine art of cake baking by giving his partner some masterful comic touches. Phyllis Robertson as Jane Brewster cried, showed anger, and stormed most realistically in her first Workshop role.

Sam Davis put his actors through rigid paces so that they gave competent performances. Even though this was Sam's maiden effort at directing, the excellent audience response at both performances was living evidence that the job had been well done. Sam had two willing helpers on props, makeup, costumes, and scenery — Rosemary Koiman and Betty Houghton. Mr. Davis has every reason to walk with added stature and dignity as he meditates about "Champ or Chump?"

Betty Demorest and Jack Wilcox provided the necessary vitality and professional touch to this show. Both Betty and Jack have appeared in many Guild plays. The list would be too long to print. Let's just say that they performed most ably and in their most professional manner. Mr. Wilcox squeezed laughs out of lines that would have been "duds" in the hands of anyone else. His sense of timing carried the scene at the chess table.

TAB HUNTER joins Gwen Verdon and Ray Walston of the original Broadway cast in Warner's Technicolor filming of the Broadway hit, "Damn Yankees." The gay and tuneful "Damn Yankees" is now playing at the Penn Theatre.

Front Row Center

by George Spelvin

Turkey time on the Great White way in New York town has a second meaning — the show has flopped, lost money or to put it quite succinctly "a failure." We have already mentioned several shows that have failed to make the financial grade at the start of the year. To list a few more would be most appropriate at this season of the size 12 chicken or more commonly known as "Turkey."

"The Man in the Dog Suit" had the benefit of some excellent acting by Hume Cronyn, but unfortunately the story was too thin. Result: "one less show on Broadway."

"Epitaph for George Dillon" by John Osborne, who recently represented in Detroit with his "Look Back in Anger" received rejection slips from the Broadway poison pen pals. Seems the only Dillon getting the nod these days is Matt Dillon of the TV Westerns.

"Drink To Me Only" with Tom Poston is having tough sledding and it isn't because of the lack of snow. We could go on and name other "turkeys" of a theatrical nature, but let's dwell on the positive side of the ledger. The plays that flop are forgotten quickly and perhaps rightly so.

The Plymouth Theater Guild meeting on the third Monday of this past November turned out to be a rousing success. President Hal Young had only one line to utter when he called the meeting to order, "Wow." The occasion for his expression of great surprise was the excellent attendance. Over 80 members were present to discuss old and new business plus to enjoy a one act comedy put on by the Theater Guild Workshop group. Sam Davis directed the comedy, written by one of the Guild's more ubiquitous pen and ink pushers, Bob Wall. A review of the play with more details can be found elsewhere in this issue of the Plymouth Mail.

Hal Young announced try-outs for "Teahouse of the August Moon" would be held on December 15th at the High School. He mentioned that there would be some 25 or 30 parts available. Loretta Young, his versatile wife, informed the group that as the producer she was looking for volunteers for stage work, construction and backstage help. Contact Loretta at GL 3-7548 if you're interested in helping with this show. You're bound to have fun and make a host of new friends while pitching in with fellow Guild members.

I promised last week to mention a bit more about the New York hiatus. The wife and I saw the David Wayne, Vivian Blaine, Johnny Desmond show "Say, Darling" while out that way. As you recall, "Say Darling" is an account of the trials, heartaches, and headaches that go into the writing, casting, directing, and eventual production of a musical comedy. It's based on the actual experiences of "the Pajama Game." "Pajama Game" was a smash hit and ran for several seasons, been made into a movie, and will, no doubt, be a TV spectacular in a year or two.

Johnny Desmond, late of the "Breakfast Club" and several ill-fated musical comedies, has a chance to do a fine job of comedy acting plus some excellent singing. As Mildred remarked to me after the show, no man has a right to be that handsome. Well, he is fairly good-looking. It's just that dark hair and dazzling make-up that gives that impression. Reminded me to go on a diet next week if you see me on the streets waddling merrily along lost in a fog.

"Say, Darling" is a fast moving show. The pace is quick and the laughs come tumbling on top of one another.

Better turn off the spotlights for this week. Mark down on the calendar these dates — December 11, 12, and 13th. The "Matchmaker" stage version, is coming to the Lydia Mendelsohn Theater... in Ann Arbor. If you haven't season tickets, you'd better check immediately about seats. It's sure to be a sell-out.

The second meeting of neighborhood one of Plymouth was held November 18 in the Veterans Memorial Building at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Banner, Mrs. Fluckey and Mrs. Edgar reported on the sessions they had attended at the Regional conference in Detroit last month. Topics reviewed were creative troop ceremonies and programs, conservation, troop financing, senior scout program (planning board, program aide, C.I.T. and L.I.T.).

Troop consultants, Mrs. Lyons for Brownies and Mrs. Bauer for the Junior High met with their respective troop personnel to discuss future plans for training and inter-troop and neighborhood activities. Mrs. Lodge, chairwoman, and Mrs. Hardimon, organizer met with fifth and sixth grade troop leaders. Senior troop leaders met to discuss tentative plans for a local senior planning board and arranging an award dinner for next spring.

Attention all Girl Scouts! If you are in need of catching up in order to be with your troop level, have your leader or your parent contact Mrs. Miriam Sutherland at 650 Byron. She will conduct classes between Thanksgiving and Christmas. It will be best to send her a written request. She will let you know when the classes are to be.

Cats can leap as high as six feet into the air.

Newburg Area: Stephen Dickie Wins Puppy Naming Contest, Appears with Soupy Sales

BY MRS. EMILY LAPOINTE
GA. 1-2029

Woman's Society of Christian Service of Newburg Methodist church, met on Monday evening, Nov. 17, in the sanctuary of the historical, old church on Ann Arbor Trail and Newburg Rd. The program for the evening was presented by several people.

After an opening worship service conducted by Mrs. Emily LaPointe, president, Mrs. Harold Mackinder, introduced Mrs. Raymond Grimm, membership chairman for the society. She conducted a membership service which involved the signing of a membership book by all members present, said book to be kept in the society's historical collection of other events. There were five charter members present who signed the book first. These ladies were Mrs. Henry Grimm, Jr., Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mrs. Donald Ryder, Mrs. M.C. Guthrie, Sr., first president of the group, and Mrs. Raymond Grimm. Edward Reid was present to take photographs of this special event.

Another part of the program was the viewing of a film strip entitled, "What is Christian Social Relations'?" Mrs. Lester Larrabee, then spoke concerning human rights and the United Nations. Following the business meeting, all adjourned for refreshments provided by the Sarah church. On Monday, Dec. 15, at 7:45 p.m. the society will present a Christmas musicale and tea. The musicale will be under the direction of Mrs. Paul Nixon, director of music at the church. Featured will be both choirs, junior and adult, trios, duets, piano duets and special readings in keeping with the Yuletide season. This is to be an open meeting and all men and women are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Mary Watt of Mason is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gennis on Joy Rd. Mrs. Watt is the mother of Mrs. Gennis.

Stephen Dickie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dickie of Ravine drive, has recently become a celebrity. He appeared on Soupy Sale's television show, Wednesday, Nov. 19. He had won a pedigree beagle puppy and it was presented to him on the show. Naming the puppy "Treagle the Beagle" entitled Stephen to the honor. Congratulations, Stevie.

Mr. LaPointe and I, along with our four children, Bruce, David, Mark and Nan, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Poppenger in Delhi Sunday, Nov. 16. My grandmother, Mrs. Mary Weiss, has been staying in the Poppenger home and our visit was primarily aimed at visiting with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Flaherty of Narise drive, recently attended a Lion's charter night dinner in downtown Detroit.

Lydia circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist church will have their traditional Christmas meeting at the home of Mrs. M.C. Guthrie, Sr., on Newburg Rd. Tuesday, Dec. 2, at 12:30 p.m. The meeting will begin with a pot luck luncheon followed by a special Christmas program.

Mrs. Effie Crandall of Grand Rapids, has been visiting with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mackinder on Hanlon Ave. for the past week.

Visiting in our home, Wednesday evening, Nov. 19, were Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Weiss, Sr., of Graham Rd., Detroit.

The Joy Rd. Canasta Club met at the home of Mrs. Stuart Flaherty on Narise drive, Tuesday evening, Nov. 18. Present for an evening of cards and refreshments were Mrs. Claude Desmond, Mrs. Clifford Hecking, Mrs. Arthur Gennis, Mrs. Mary Watt, Mrs. Emily LaPointe, Mrs. William Kenner, Mrs. Bert Overmyer, Mrs. Raymond Peterson, Mrs. Robert Pregitzer and Mrs. Edward Howden. These ladies will meet for the Christmas party at the Hecking home on Narise drive, Tuesday evening Dec. 16. There will be a $1.00 gift exchange.

The adult choir of the Newburg Methodist church is busy these days preparing their Christmas music. Extra sessions on Sunday afternoons at 5 p.m. have been a help in their work on the Christmas Cantata entitled, "The Christ Child". The group is also planning a fine program of religious and non-religious music for the coming musical sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service on Monday, Dec. 15, at 7:45 p.m.

Willie Womers of Livonia met at the home of Mrs. Harold Mackinder on Hanlon avenue, Wednesday, Nov. 19, for noon luncheon. Members present for the meeting were Mrs. Fay Grimm, Mrs. Hazel Grimm, Mrs. Madeline Baze, Mrs. Susan Tice, Mrs. Mildred Ridgro, Mrs. Clara Smith, Mrs. B. Bird, Mrs. Nancy Sutton, Mrs. Edith Maesing, Mrs. Gladys Shore, Miss Doris Shore, Mrs. Grace Dyer, Mrs. Bell Hunter, Mrs. Beth Hamel and Mrs. Hattie Taylor. A card party is planned by the group to be held on Saturday, Dec. 6 at 8 p.m. and to be held at the Livonia Funeral home, Farmington and Five Mile roads. All proceeds from this annual event are to go to a worthy charity.

It hardly seems possible that Thanksgiving is here again. Hope you all have a truly happy day and remember to be truly thankful for your many blessings. Call me to tell me of your holiday activities so they can appear in the column next week. Be nice being with you again. See you next week?

Say, I have a postscript for you today. Heard a cute definition of civilization "Civilization is a system by which we pay 25 cents to park our car so we won't be fined $1.00 while getting a 5 cent cup of coffee".
