

Plymouth Pays Final Tribute to E. C. Hough

Plymouth said farewell this week to a man who had devoted his entire 86 years to the community as a benefactor, industrialist and neighbor.

Edward C. Hough, president of the Daisy Manufacturing Co., died at his 1411 West Ann Arbor Trail home Saturday afternoon at 5:45 o'clock.

On Tuesday afternoon, following a private service at his late residence, Mr. Hough's body was entombed in the family crypt in Riverside Cemetery. The Rev. Melbourne I. Johnson, D.D., pastor of First Methodist Church, officiated.

Active pallbearers were James Gutzwiller, David Taylor, J. J. McHenry, Horace Thompson, Robert Wesley, Richard Daniel, Floyd Reddeman and Russell Daane. Among the honorary pallbearers were Chauncey Rauch, Ernest Roe, Jack Reamer, Paul Wiedman, Fred LeFever, Harold Guenther, Harcourt L. Caverly, Thomas Kent and Ciro Scalinigi.

Mr. Hough's association with Daisy Manufacturing dates back to 1889, the year he graduated from Plymouth High School. In 1901 he became treasurer of the air rifle firm and a vice-president in 1915. Fol-

House Builders Work in Snow

Veterans Pitch In to Help Family

By Lee Sechler

The wind blew snow through the cracks in the wall. These flakes of snow were melted by an oil stove before they reached the full size American flag hanging on the far wall.

Three people existed under these conditions in weather that reached the zero mark and sometimes dipped below. Visitors sat in heavy coats and over-shoes and were cold. They couldn't believe that people were actually living under such adverse conditions, in the Plymouth community.

The residents didn't complain. They asked for nothing but to live. That is all except one. The father. William Tubert, a World War II veteran with a severe heart condition, wanted one thing. To leave his wife and daughter in this shell of a house at 1335 Lotz Road and the land that it was on, so they wouldn't have to be shoved around.

Now through the help of the V.F.W. and the American Legion he will be able to realize this one want.

Mrs. Laura Lickfeldt was instrumental in getting these two organizations together to make the house liveable. She met the Tubert family last fall when she tutored their teen-age daughter.

It is required by law that if a student is absent from class for a considerable length of time, a visiting teacher must be provided.

Mrs. Gibson, the school nurse, informed Mrs. Lickfeldt that Miss Tubert had a broken knee cap.

The Tuberts were living in a small trailer next to the house they were trying to build before cold weather came. As fall changed to winter the Tubert family changed to the shell of a house.

Mrs. Lickfeldt sat in the house with a heavy coat on and was still cold. Something had to be done for these people. They couldn't live in that house in this weather.

Since Bill was a veteran, she talked with someone from the V.F.W. Time passed and still nothing was done. The weather turned colder. Mrs. Lickfeldt went out to get the family and bring them into her home. Mr. Tubert didn't want to leave. He had jugs full of drinking water. If they left the water would freeze and break the glass containers. If he dumped the water out it meant carrying in a fresh supply when they got back. (They have no running water of any kind.)

"We'll see that you get more," Mrs. Lickfeldt assured him.

Again she called the V.F.W. This time she talked with Jerry Olson. He said he would check into it.

Olson went out to the Tubert home late one evening. "The house looked rough," he commented, "but it was clean and well taken care of inside."

He too was cold in the house. When Olson got back to town he called Harry Taylor of the American Legion and explained the situation. Taylor said he would do all he could.

The two then called in construction man Ernie Burger to ask his thinking on the matter of fixing the house. It was decided that the thin plywood roof must be replaced with a pitch type. The problem now was money.

Here they ran into opposition. Some of the members didn't want to donate. They had been fooled too many times by needy people who weren't needy. After they found out about Bill's bad heart and that his wife did a great deal of the construction work, they changed their minds.

Burger and Taylor secured building supplies, at cost from Plymouth Lumber and Coal Company and Newburg Lumber. Hubbs and Gilles donated all the electrical supplies and furnished electricians to make sure the job was done right.

Saturday and Sunday a labor force of 18 to 20 men worked through the bad weather to put on the roof and insulate the livingroom. More work is yet to be done. The house needs a well and toilet facilities.

So far a total of 27 people or organizations have helped in some way to put the Tubert family back on their feet again. More help is yet needed.

WEATHER WAS against the 18-20 men that struggled to put a roof on the William Tubert home at 1335 Lotz Road last Saturday and Sunday. Despite the bad conditions they managed to accomplish the task.

Mr. Hough's grandfather, Ira M. Hough, came to Canton Township from Vermont via the Erie Canal in 1825. He built the first log cabin in the area in 1826. After it burned in 1835 he built a new home that still stands on Warren Rd. Also on the property is a replica of the original log cabin that Mr. Hough had built in 1907.

When young Edward was 5, the family moved to the Fuller home on the Hotel Mayflower site. In 1879 they moved to a home on the site of the Plymouth

150 Mothers on March Today

One hundred and fifty women will stage their annual March for funds today to fight the three crippling of arthritis, birth defects, and polio. Even though there is no set goal locally, the committee expects the $2,548 donated for polio alone last year to be surpassed.

This Mothers March is the climax of the annual Dimes drive in Plymouth and across the nation. It will be held in the afternoon in Plymouth Township while mothers in the city will go from house to house from 7 to 8 p.m.

The city march will start with the ringing of bells from First Presbyterian and St. Peter's Lutheran churches.

Mrs. Charles Olson, chairman of the Mothers March, announces that her volunteers expect to call at every home, whether city porchlights are burning or not. For the convenience and safety of workers, however, it is urged that porchlights be turned on.

Workers will be wearing white gloves to carry their March of Dimes mason jars. Mrs. Olson also announced the following March captains: Mrs. Howard Bowring, Mrs. Lou Dely, Mrs. Gerald Fuelling, Mrs. Joseph Fulton, Mrs. Leslie Hoeft, Mrs. Edward Kaunisto, Mrs. Elexis Skoglund, and Mrs. Robert Spayeth.

Following the march, volunteers will return to Veterans Memorial Home for refreshments served by Girl Scout Troop 237 whose leader is Mrs. Marshall North. Mrs. Ralph Flucky's Troop 238 will also assist with the refreshments. These Girl Scouts were formerly known as Troops 1 and 2.

Last Saturday, 52 sixth, seventh, and eighth graders braved the cold to collect $226.46 in donations for March of Dimes peanuts. A Junior high girl, Bonnie Gibson of 1022 Penniman collected $23.33.

Also last Saturday 264 teen-agers donated $75 at a dance sponsored by the V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliary.

Due to the fact that the March of Dimes books are not closed until May, several special activities will be held in February and March. One of these will be a Fashion Show to be held at Plymouth High School auditorium on March 13. This show will feature Koret Fashions of California.

'TWAS A COLD and snowy day when 52 boys and girls sold peanuts last Saturday for the benefit of the March of Dimes drive. This young lady braving the snow on the almost deserted sidewalk was Kathy Smith of Bird School. But despite the weather, the youngsters collected $226.46. Today there will be 150 women staging their annual Mothers March.

Winter Woes Pile on DPW

Things just haven't been going well for the Plymouth Department of Public Works. A list of eventful happenings reads like this:

1. Had three water main breaks — including a highly-publicized one that drained off the entire city water supply.

2. Had a grader that broke down while it tried to remove snow from the downtown streets Monday morning.

3. Their budget of $5,500 for snow removal has already been exceeded by $1,000.

4. Heavily-salted streets are breaking up badly.

5. And worst of all, there are citizens complaining about what the DPW is doing with itself.

Their woes with the water mains began last Wednesday when a leak was detected on Amelia St., south of Farmer. It took several days to find the leak and it was repaired by Saturday under pressure. This was an eight inch main. A two inch main leading into Perfection Laundry on Forest Ave. broke loose Friday and crews stayed until 4 a.m. Saturday fixing that one.

In the meantime, a small leak was reported in the 12-inch main that crossed Tonquish Creek under South Main St. pavement, near Ann Arbor Rd. The exhausted crew figured that this small leak could wait until the others were out of the way. But it didn't.

At 3:20 a.m. Sunday, Louis Westfall, the night desk clerk, found that the city water system's automatic alarm indicated a major break.

A patrolman went to the reported leak on Main St. and found water gushing into the creek.

Within a few minutes the two water tanks were emptied. One holds 250,000 gallons and the other 154,000. Pumps at the well field automatically shut off but water backed out of household water systems. In all, City Manager Albert Glassford estimates that 2-gauge shotgun at his wife and their baby. She fled to a

Place of Candidate's Residence Protested

Township supervisor candidate William Shekell this week denied an accusation made to the township clerk that he does not live in Plymouth Township and therefore would not be qualified to seek office.

The letter to Clerk Rosalind Broome claims that Shekell does not live in Plymouth Township but has resided on Hutton Street in Northville "for some time."

Sending the letter of protest was Fred Lester, 42509 Lakeland, who asked the clerk to "make an investigation of this protest and take appropriate action."

Mrs. Broome answered Lester with a letter saying that she checked Shekell's registration and found that he has been registered since October 8, 1956 at which time he listed his address at 45797 West Ann Arbor Trail.

The clerk also answered that she has no way of determining Shekell's intent to live at the said address and quoted Peter Buback, Wayne County Board of Elections, in stating that the clerk had no responsibility to investigate further.

Shekell, one of two Democratic candidates in the February 16 primary, was area of the break were without water until it was repaired. For them the city supplied 10 gallon milk cans of water. The DPW crew, digging to the break found a 15 foot crack in the 18 foot section of pipe. Workers finished the replacement job at 10:30 Monday night.

The broken pipe was one that had been laid last fall when Main St. was rebuilt. It is believed that heaving due to frost action caused the break.

Three inches of snow fell Sunday and as work men started plowing the downtown Monday morning with a grader, the blade hit some ice and the turntable was broken. Replacement parts are still being awaited.

The city commission this year appropriated $5,500 for snow removal. Bida reports that already 702 tons of salt have been poured on city streets at $8 a ton. This $5,616 cost does not include overtime labor. Unfortunately, this is still mid-winter. Only

Gun Toting Gets Two in Trouble

Two men named Harrison, one in Plymouth Township and another in Canton Township, were charged with felonious assault this week after episodes involving threats with guns.

They were Joseph Harrison, 45500 Cherry Hill Rd., who threatened both his family and sheriff's deputies with a shotgun, and Ray D. Harrison, 4244 Hammill St. who threatened a companion and struck him with a pistol. The Joseph Harrison trouble started at 10:15 p.m. Sunday when he pointed a 12 Glassford estimates that 2-gauge shotgun at his wife and their baby. She fled to a nextdoor neighbor's house and called the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. As deputies approached the Harrison home, Harrison poked the shotgun out the door toward them. The deputies started talking with him and finally Harrison let them in the house.

"But apparently he changed his mind about talking," one detective said later. Harrison raised the gun and pointed it at their shoulders. As the deputies left, Harrison shouted "Leave and don't come back or I'll blow your guts out."

The deputies moved down the road 500 feet to the Canton Center Rd. corner and called for reinforcements. As they waited Harrison fired the shotgun four times in their direction, but presumably over their heads.

Tylen to their surprise. Harrison later came walking down the road with his shotgun above his head and surrendered.

He was jailed and appeared before Justice of the Peace Michael Bradley of Nankin Township Monday where he pleaded not guilty to a charge of felonious assault with a shotgun. He was held under $200 bond and will

NEWS BEAT

Water Main Break Aftermath

When Plymouth city's water system was drained off by a main break Monday morning and pressure later restored, City Manager Albert Glassford called Carl Cederberg, WWJ newscaster and Canton Township resident, requesting him to advise Plymouth housewives to delay their Monday washing because of the possibility of rust in the water. Newspapers and news services picked-up the story. A Holland, Mich. contractor called the city and wanted to repair the water tower which he heard had fallen over. The Wayne County Health Department had a man here at 9 a.m. to take samples of water to check for contamination. A report yesterday showed there was none.

SCHOOL STUFF: The committee that will be sent to study the need for high school facilities, once having 14 sub-committees, grew so complicated that it has been cut down to two committees, publicity and finance-fact finding. The school board this Saturday will complete its tour of four high schools in the state in their attempt to find a high school architect. They will go to East Lansing this time. A questionnaire has been approved that will be sent to high school students to determine the need or desire for a community college. SPECIAL: City commissioners held a special meeting Monday to approve a lease between the city and Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union. The city is expected to purchase the Christian Scientist church property next to city hall and lease part of it to the Credit Union.

HOLD-UP: A tandem tank truck headed for the Marathon bulk station off South Mill St. didn't make it up the inclined drive Tuesday morning, worked itself entirely across the road and couldn't move either direction. Police re-routed traffic an hour before the trailer was unhitched and the big truck worked itself out of its predicament.

Cosgroves Return to Lakepointe After Trip to Curacao

Blowing winds, rain, blizzards, and more snow! That's the kind of weather the Cosgroves left behind them on January 13. For five glorious days they spent their time lolling in the sunshine, and their evenings dining and dancing in the warm breezes of Curacao.

low Run by plane in the early morning and arrived at New York where they met several other couples who were to be their companions on this trip. After a pleasant time in New York they proceeded by plane to Miami, Florida, where the beginnings of pleasant warm weather greeted them. From there they flew to Curacao where they settled themselves at the International Hotel.

eral meeting sometime in March. The Board of Directors will meet again this week.

Douglas Jaskierney had a dance party the other evening. He invited six girls and five boys, all from the Farland School with the exception of Bill Bolduc who attends Our Lady of Good Counsel. The boys and girls had a marvelous time dancing and playing games, but more fun roasting their hot dogs and marshmallows in the open hearth. Everyone went home with a prize or two P.S. We hear that Nora enjoyed the party too!

They swam in the salt water pool which Marion found very different from our fresh water pools. The water situation is really a problem there. Imagine paying seven cents a gallon for pure water! That's what it costs to have salt free drinking and bathing water! The rains are few and far between, thus there is no such thing as soft water. All water is pumped from the ocean, for all purposes, and only water for drinking and bathing is purified. Marion told me that the hotel must change all of its plumbing pipes every four months because of the corrosion caused by the salt. But this, they told her, is still much cheaper than using all purified water at seven cents per gallon.

On their return trip the plane did some island hopping, much to the delight of all passengers. They would land at each island, have a half hour stopover, (just long enough to see a little of the ways of the people) and buy a souvenir. They stopped at six islands in this manner.

Their stop at Havana, Cuba was a highlight! Before the plane landed, everyone was warned not to say a word, because anything they said might be misinterpreted and they could easily be lined up in front of a firing squad. When they descended from the plane, guards with machine guns lined the runway and ramp. Marion's comment

While dining and at the Hillside Inn last Friday evening, spotted some Lake Pointe friends: Al and Peggy Pertola, Ray and Colleen Moss, and our new neighbors on Shadywood Drive, Vaughn and Sophie Eberly. A birthday song was sung for Sophie, whose birthday had been the day before. Everyone seemed to be having a grand time.

Treated myself to a new taste treat! Have never been one for liking lobster, but was persuaded to try Irish Lobster tails. They are delicious because they are all shelled and ready to dip into melted butter and pop into your mouth. Can't wait for more!

The Board of Directors and Area Directors have been busy working on and setting up the committees. They have made their selections of different people, and assigned them to the various committees. They are preparing a circular concerning the Plymouth Heights issue which will be distributed soon.

Another thing in issue is the membership drive. Those of you who have not as yet paid your membership dues may do so by contacting John Kenko of 42011 Clemons, GL. 3-5748.

There will be another general meeting sometime in March. The Board of Directors will meet again this week.

Another Extension Club Organized in Plymouth

Mrs. Isabella McClellan Wayne County Extension Agent met with a group of 11 charter members at the home of Mrs. John Bowman of 9343 Morrison to form the Parkside Extension Club. This group was formerly the Parkside Child Study Club.

The extension service is an out-of-school educational program, offering many helpful services to homemakers, and is directed by the Michigan State University in cooperation with the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and Home Economics. The object of the services are directed to the homemaker for a more prosperous productive, satisfying life for the people of Michigan.

MACABEES

Our general meeting is Wednesday, Feb. 4, at 7:30 p.m. Each member is to bring a wrapped "white elephant" for exchange gift. Beginning March 1, all rates will be sent directly to Home Office instead of your local Record Keeper.

Hope to see a good turnout at our meeting February 4th. There are several important matters which must be decided on at this time.

To Women It May Concern

By Myra Cox, Social Editor

We must all prepare for National Beauty Salon Week, February 8-14 that is designated "to awaken American Women to the value of a most precious asset, their loveliness". Of course I wouldn't know about this observance plus 3,206 other "special days", if it weren't for the Chases Calendar of Annual Events for 1959, published by Apple Tree Press, Flint.

Incidentally I will make it my solemn duty to inform you of these National events so you too may share in the annual "return borrowed books week", "honey for breakfast week", etc.

Searching for beauty to write about in preparation for this special week was not hard to do. Beauty is in the eyes of the beholder, we are told, and we came upon more than there was room to tell in "our" town.

First, the picture below does not do Helen Penhale justice. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H.R. Penhale of Roosevelt Ave., and has just returned from three years of service in Tokyo. She is a tall woman with beautifully intelligent gray eyes, a warm smile that comes from understanding of people and things. She has dark short hair, naturally streaked with silver, that is stylishly coiffured. Although I brought pad and pencil to interview Miss Penhale about her interesting work as Director of Medical Services for the American Troops in the far east for the American Red Cross, I found myself listening and not writing. Her responsibility included Korea, Philippines, Okinawa, Formosa, and Guam. She made her frequent tours from her base in Tokyo by "Chopper" (helicopter) or whatever means was conveniently at hand. Her quarters ranged from her comfortable apartment in Tokyo (not like Roosevelt Ave., however) to a sheet metal gunnet hut in Korea—the most barren of her posts. I say this with authority because Miss Penhale showed me many of the slides that she had taken of the people, their homes, and the hospital facilities.

She is a graduate of the University of Michigan and received her Masters Degree in Medical Social work from the University of Chicago, which has made a perfect foundation for the 15 years she had devoted to this type of work. She has been "on leave" since December 22 and left Plymouth last Sunday for San Francisco where she will serve in the same capacity covering the West coast with San Francisco as her home base. She has been in Tokyo since September of 1956 and reports she has found the Japanese people to be the kindest and most courteous she has ever known. I am sure this is true, but also, they were but responding to a generous and glamorous lady from the States.

Helen Penhale Joyce Crimmins

The smile of victory is beauty, and youthful Joyce Crimmins (above) of 42519 Lakeland has done what few men ever accomplish. This little lady 5 ft., 2 in., 110 pounds, on January 8 bowled a 275 game, striking every frame with the exception of one which was a spare, just 25 pins from a perfect game. From a bowler that had an all time low of 26, this commands respect—believe me. She has been bowling three years and has a 130 average. If you mention this to your husband he will shrug it off as a fluke—nevertheless she did it, and ask him what his highest game is. She bowls with the R & B Market team at the Parkview Lanes on the Wednesday night Ladies Senior League and I think she is terrific. In keeping with our theme she has beauty as her business for she is an operator at Ellen's Beauty Shop on Main Street.

Another thing sure to bring out beauty in a woman is when she receives a happy surprise. Dorothy Chandler came into the Mail the other afternoon just beaming—she had been given a birthday surprise luncheon. The collaborators were Mrs. Harold Guenther, where the luncheon was held, Mrs. Dewey Evans, Mrs. Harold Fischer, Mrs. Edwin Rice, Mrs. Thomas Nichols, Mrs. Robert Maurer and Miss Lucille Williams.

This should happen at least once to every woman just to make her feel cherished. If it hasn't happened to you as yet, please don't mope, take my advice, buy several copies of this edition to send to your close friends and husband with this circled in red, and I'm sure they'll think of it.

Anyway in commemoration of the week, always remember how nice it is to be a woman, because as such you are the possessor of beauty, brains and brawn.

Four Plymouthites Receive Degrees

There were four students from Plymouth among the 226 who received degrees at the Mid-Year Commencement from Eastern Michigan College Sunday afternoon, January 25. They were Robert E. Anderson, Richard Chatters, Sally Black Moore, and James Harold Stevens.

"Our Heritage" was the topic discussed by Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, when he gave the principle address at the Fourth January Commencement in the Pease Auditorium at the college.

Canton Democrats Present Candidates

Citizens are being invited to meet the Democratic candidates of Canton Township on February 5 when the Canton Township Democratic Club sponsors a public affair.

Besides the local candidates, there will be two Wayne County Circuit Court judges seeking re-election. They are George Bowles of Plymouth and Thomas Murphy.

Symphony's Family
Concert Evokes
Enjoyment for All

At the conclusion of the first half of last Sunday's concert, amid wild applause and cheering, the director, Wayne Dunlap said of the piece just finished, "All the children seemed to enjoy it."

While Mr. Dunlap was speaking of a particular piece, Orth's "In a Clock Store", he might have been giving an opinion of the entire concert. This concert, the "Family Concert" is designed to include music that will evoke a particular mood; music that is dramatic and picturesque, music that is "light" if you will, but music that is great and respected as well.

As he has done in the previous years, Wayne Dunlap explained each piece at the start. For the Haydn Symphony, the instruments were displayed before the piece was begun. He then detailed the inspiration of the 2nd Movement of Beethoven's Eight Symphony—the "metronome" movement.

"In a Clock Store" provided a wild display of bells, buzzers, cuckoos, chimes and assorted noise makers, sounding very greatly like Halloween gadgets. The entire cacophony of music and alarms going off delighted every soul in the Gym. While the piece does delight children, it apparently caught the fancy of every one of the approximately 700 people that braved the snowstorm to hear and see the concert.

The second half of the concert opened with the Mozart "Serenade" that featured the string section not only of the Plymouth Symphony, but the string sections of the young people's symphonies of Plymouth, Livonia and Milford. The catching thing about this piece, as a dancing ray of sunlight on sparkling snow is "catching" was the expression on the faces of the youngsters. Performing with an adult orchestra was a great treat, something to be looked forward to eagerly and with great respect.

Referring to the performance of Stanley Hench illustrating the last selection of the concert, Berlioz' "The Fantastic Toy Shop", one little boy decided that Mr. Hench was "The Best artist I have ever seen—especially the live ones." And had there been a curtain in front of which to have curtain calls, the best estimate is that Mr. Hench, Jeanne Hulce (the narrator) and Wayne Dunlap would have given eight curtain calls.

There were cartoons drawn with lightning speed during the playing of the piece, 12 scenes from the story Mrs. Hulce told with such drama, such love, such perfect excitement and pitch. Who wouldn't get excited as the dolls danced or the dolls schemed to save one another from dreaded separation? As the artist finished each segment, Tom and Phyllis Kelly removed the cartoons from the easel and tacked them up along the side of the room. Each picture became part of the continuum; and at the conclusion of the piece, the entire story was there to see in its entirety. There was also something of a melee at the conclusion of the applause and the day as feverish youngsters wrestled cartoons from the display for their very own.

All in all a wonderful concert as all the "children" there agreed, snowstorm notwithstanding.

P.T.S.A. Program, "Hey Pop You Ain't With it."

The regular monthly meeting of the P.T.S.A. will be held Monday, February 2nd, at 7:45 p.m. in the Junior High School Library.

The program has been based on the phrase "Hey Pop you ain't with it!" Miss June Kelly, counselor for the Junior High School will give a brief resume of her program. Mr. Eugene Alexander, school psychologist, will review his work in the school program. The meeting will then become a buzz session with parents invited to discuss, in small groups, the basic theme of the meeting and to give those parents participating in the discussions an idea of how the adolescent really thinks and how to communicate with them.

Refreshments will be served during the "group buzz sessions"

WINNING STREAKS RARE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sustained winning streaks were hard to come by in the National League last season. The longest was seven games in a row won by Milwaukee (twice), St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

THIS BREAKFAST was the culmination of a study of good health by the first grade at Bird School. The class was taught by Gertrude

Knights of Pythias

In a ceremony of unusual interest, Plymouth Pythians installed their officers for 1959. The installation was under the direction of Chief Grand Deputy Andrew Jackson of Ann Arbor, assisted by a special staff. In the best traditions of chivalry, Cameron Lodge, Sr. was presented the sword and ermine emblematic of the office of Chancellor Commander and P.G.C. Frank Henderson was selected to serve as secretary. Under the direction of Chancellor Lodge, the new staff is planning a vigorous campaign to revitalize local interest in Pythianism and promote the ideals of this fraternity among the citizens of this area.

The principles and ideals of this Patriotic Order are dedicated to the elevation, the happiness, the betterment of mankind through friendship, charity and benevolence, without regard to religious creed, political belief, or racial origin. The Pythagorean society was established more than 500 years before the birth of Christ by Pythagoras, the father of Greek philosophy, who sought to eliminate ignorance and intolerance through the pursuit of reason and truth. His wisdom was so profound that after 25 centuries his influence is still reflected in our social and economic life.

The modern epoch of Pythianism began in the closing days of the Civil War. Based upon friendship and human understanding, Pres. Lincoln warmly endorsed its teachings. He said, "These great principles should be perpetuated, and I would suggest that you go to the Congress of the United States and request a charter, and organize on a great scale throughout this Union to disseminate the wonderful work you have so nobly started. I will do all in my power to aid you with the application and with your work." (the only Order to enjoy such distinction.)

The Knights of Pythias cordially invite all who believe that character is still the standard of eminence and that our priceless heritage of freedom must be preserved at any cost, to attend a very special meeting in the Odd Fellow Hall Thursday evening, Feb. 5, 8 p.m.

wife has lived in an apartment in Northville and he admitted living there "for a while."

But he continued, he intends to keep living at his Ann Arbor Trail address. "I own the house, pay taxes and utility bills on it and get my mail there," Shekell asserted. His daughter and family also live in the house, he said.

Actually, Shekell declared he had been a registered voter before 1956 but had apparently been taken off the registration list when he spent some time in Florida. He has been in the used and new automobile business here for over 17 years.

To be eligible for holding public office, a candidate must be a resident of the township for at least one year prior to the election.

The Post voted, at the January 21st meeting, to sponsor an entertainment program at the Ann Arbor VA Hospital on Friday, Feb. 27. The Post relief fund will be used and the Auxiliary is planning to furnish lunch and gifts. This is a rather new program, as it includes is scheduled for this Thursday night. Birthdays celebrated in January were: Alba Van Mean orchestra and a dance group. Members are encouraged to assist: John Swartz is chairman.

Bud Krumm suggested the Post and Auxiliary, together, plan a special celebration to mark the payment of our mortgage at the time of our annual Post anniversary this spring. It was felt this event could honor Past Commanders and Presidents, and others who have helped us reach this goal. Ed Kopinski was named Chairman. This idea met with enthusiasm, among the rather-limited attendance at the last meeting. It is among the projects planned that will require help from those members who have been missing at the meetings. We are not being fair to our Post and its officers when we fail to attend the meetings.

The work party for the Tubert family proceeded as scheduled on Saturday, Jan. 24th. Several local contractors generously donated their time and costly materials. As a result several improvements are already visible on this family's home on Lotz Road. Mrs. Laura Lickfeldt brought out coffee and sandwiches: Mrs. Lickfeldt is serving as coordinator of this project, along with Gerry Olson. Another work party is scheduled for next Saturday, Jan. 31st to continue work on this worthy cause.

A 4th District Rally is scheduled for Sunday, February 1st at the Ecorse Post.

Auxiliary News

Marion Skoglund was honored at the last auxiliary meeting (special) with a shower given her by some 52 members of the group. The table was centered with a small wedding cake and party sandwiches made by Catherine Holman and Vi Sparkman were served. Despite the bad weather 43 members attended.

District 4 will hold its next rally at the Benj. Goodell Post at 1125 Fort St., Lincoln Park on Sunday, Feb. 1. A roast beef dinner will be served after the meeting. All officers and chairmen must register at 1 p.m.

National Home Chairman, Helen Bowring, stated that money was needed to furnish some of the youngsters at the National Home with terry cloth robes. The auxiliary sent a check to help buy some of the robes.

Grace Burley has moved to 39944 Schoolcraft and hopes that her friends will drop in. She has the same phone number as before.

Gerry Olson, Chairman of the Mother's March, has stated that the turn-out of workers has been gratifying. Let's all get behind the drive which

ter. Hilda Barnes, Pat Mecklenburg, Dolly Bourterse, Grace Burley, Iona Bassett, and Mary Holdsworth.

SOCIAL NOTES

Mrs. Davis Wick, 745 Karmada gave a birthday party for her daughter Irene, who was home from the Michigan Lutheran Seminary during the change of semester. She is now a junior in the school. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wick and family of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Stiers and son of Willis, Mich. attended the party also.

Gun Toting

Deputies said that Harrison had been drinking and apparently was angered over high bills and taxes he must pay on his new home.

The other Harrison case happened Saturday. Deputies said that Ralph Van Sickle lived with Ray Harrison in the Hammill St. home. The two started arguing over something and Harrison ordered Van Sickle out.

Van Sickle said that Harrison then stuck a pistol in his stomach and when he still refused to go, the men started fighting. Van Sickle was struck on the head at least twice by the butt of the gun. He was admitted to Wayne County General Hospital where he signed a complaint against Harrison for felonious assault. Deputies were to arrest Harrison this week.

Or is it true that you're spending all your time just looking at those wonderful '59 Buicks down at JACK SELLE BUICK, 200 ANN ARBOR ROAD, PLYMOUTH? If that's the case, let's get together. I took delivery of my new LeSabre this morning! Mary R.

Editor:

The logical and unquestioned objective of our Plymouth area is ultimately to have one harmonious unit of Government. Unless our Governmental representatives constantly strive for this objective it will be impossible to have a planned and orderly development of community interests which will benefit all those residents who plan to remain in the Plymouth community. Incorporation of a portion of the Township of Plymouth is diametrically opposed to the ultimate goal of one unit of Government and an orderly development of the Community. The homeowner or resident living on a normal size plot (this includes those persons fortunate enough to have a couple of acres) can gain nothing by incorporation of a portion of the Township. Conversely, they stand to lose a great deal. For instance; (1) higher taxes historically follow incorporation, because of complete duplication of necessary services. (Duplication would be required in the City of Plymouth, Plymouth Heights, and the unincorporated area of the Township.) (2) Complete confusion of an overall plan of area development will result. (3) A barrier against future industrial development would be effected, thereby creating very serious future tax problems. (4) The unincorporated portion of the Township will be left without any industry and thus without any tax basis. (To mention only a few.)

The incorporation move, in my opinion, is obviously fostered by selfish interests. It has been stated that a vote for incorporation would maintain the "status quo" (stagnation) for a two year period. After this period (if somebody does not make a mistake) we would continue as a Township form of Government. It has further been stated that within this two year period the Township will have water and sewers and that this will eliminate the objection to the single unit of Government which is admittedly necessary. This obviously is the crux of the whole incorporation movement. Given water and sewer, certain interests could then subside, at their price, and get out from under without the possibility of paying their proportionate share of the tax burden.

If the persons behind incorporation were primarily interested in planned and orderly area development to insure a happy and prosperous community in the years to come, as distinguished from an apparent selfish interest at the expense of those citizens expecting to remain in the Plymouth area with their families, I am positive the incorporation petition would never have been filed. The voters of Plymouth Township face a most important decision. We must decide whether we will face up to this historical decision with an eye to the future of our Community or create a stagnant situation which might very well adversely effect the whole future of the Plymouth Community area.

We must rise above a narrow view of the choice confronting us. We must rise above petty bickering and personality clashes between our public officials (which Fire Department will put out a given fire or render needed oxygen to one gasping for breath?) We must make every move conform to our overall objective of Governmental harmony, thus insuring the greatest benefits to all the people of our Community, not just a few.

Might it not be revealing if the following questions were answered:

1. Who originated the Petition for incorporation?
 2. Who actually filed the Petition?
 3. Who paid the $500.00 necessary for the filing of the Petition?
 4. Where did this money actually come from?
 5. Why are some persons so interested in maintaining a stagnant condition for a two year period and show no concern for the period thereafter?
 6. Who are the persons actually behind the incorporation move?
 7. What actually is their ultimate goal?
- If these questions are answered truthfully, without deception, many of the facts stated herein will take on greater significance.

Editor:

In the January 15 issue of The Mail you quoted Harold Fischer of the Plymouth Community School Board to the effect that County and State equalization has been responsible for higher taxes. He had the approval of other Board members.

This statement, and the impression it leaves, is ENTIRELY FALSE. Equalization merely sets the value of the assessed property. It then becomes the duty of the School Board to spread whatever millage it chooses over the total assessed valuation.

If the State equalized valuation rises, and the School refuses to lower its mill rate, then obviously taxes will go up.

But if the School Board drops its mill rate in proportion to the rise in assessments, then taxes will remain the same. But, and this is the point, when the School Board hangs on to a mill rate which is as high as permitted by law, irrespective of shifts in valuation, they are going to cause total tax costs to go up and up.

The Board can drop its mill rate anytime it wants to. It is no "fixed" factor. There is only limit on it is the ceiling, and we've been on the ceiling for a long time. Surely Mr. Fischer and the School Board knew that when on August 25th they requested $21.95 per $1,000.00 of assessed valuation (which was the same rate as they requested in 1957) that they would receive $235,138.19 more in taxes than they did in 1957 or approximately a 15 per cent increase.

Each unit of government whether it be Township Board, City Council or School Board should assess its needs and this is their individual responsibility. When any one of these government bodies assess for all it can get instead of all it needs taxes are unnecessarily high.

Your announcement of a new column on schools in future issues of The Mail is to be commended for surely a well informed public on this vitally important matter is greatly desired. You also have a responsibility to scrutinize this column closely as to the true facts presented for even a UNINFORMED public is better than a MISINFORMED one.

Yours very truly,
Louis Stein,
Canton Township Supervisor

The MAIL Attitude

By PAUL CHANDLER

Edward C. Hough was 86 years old when he died last Saturday. He was a member of the just-past generation in Plymouth. That was the generation which gave Plymouth its early foundation, the one which set down the pattern of growth and stability which permitted Plymouth to become whatever it is today.

The contributions of such men are easily forgotten. Younger folks generally fail to understand exactly what it was that their elders were good for.

Specifically, it is forgotten that everything Ed Hough accomplished in business began as a gamble, a risk using humble materials. Success was not assured . . . the odds were, in fact, much the other way. But he and his associates took it, and, clicked, to a great extent, shaped the growth of our small city for years thereafter.

This writer didn't live in Plymouth long enough to know Edward C. Hough with any intimacy. I did become acquainted professionally, and admired him. He had a clear head, a set of moral values based on the humility of man, and a tough self-discipline. He didn't whine about life. He was generous.

On our last visit to his office in the empty Daisy factory, he gave us a picture and clipping from a California paper, sent to him by a friend. It told of a strange "century" plant which is a form of cactus and blooms only every 25 or 30 years, if then. This friend of Mr. Hough's had nursed one that grew freakishly to a height of 27 feet in 400 days, gaining about 6 inches in height and 10 pounds in weight daily.

He offered a picture of the queer cactus, which we reprint today in this column.

It isn't an important incident, showing only the kind of thing Mr. Hough was interested in, along with other matters. He wanted to share the story of the strange cactus with readers of our paper.

He also passed along a letter he had written to his friend who owned the cactus, a paragraph of which I reprint here to indicate other thoughts he had on his mind.

"Since the factory moved from here," Mr. Hough wrote his friend, "we have kept the old office open and are shipping most of our orders from here, as we had accumulated a considerable stock in anticipation of the move. Another 60 days will probably clean up our stock here . . ."

"The move has not been a pleasant one for me and after having made this business my life work, all from the same office, it will be with much regret that I will lock up my desk and move home after the property is sold, the selling of which is now my principal occupation, and we are finding that it is not an easy matter to dispose of secondhand factories, but we will be able to find some use for the property even if for nothing better than for storage purposes."

Edward C. Hough died without ever having had a look at the factory in Rogers, Arkansas.

Winter Woes

200 to 300 tons are used during an ordinary winter. "We receive some suggestions that we use sand instead of salt," Bida said. He claims that sand would not only clog storm sewers, but it is impossible to dig sand in this weather. While use of salt makes streets safer, it also makes them worse. Bida said that streets being salted heavily are breaking up the fastest. Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman are probably the worst. On Penniman where asphalt was laid over concrete, for instance, the salt brine works its way between the two materials and finally breaks the asphalt loose. Complaints about the various situations have been numerous. Bida has already announced that only main thoroughfares will be salted because of the costs involved. Bida declared that because water standing on streets will also cause harm to the streets, the DPW is looking for catch basins that get clogged with snow and ice.

Pays Tribute to E. C. Hough

Mail office and there lived many years. Mr. Hough's father operated the Plymouth Elevator Co. at that time. After young Edward's graduation, his uncle, Henry Baker, got him a job at the Plymouth Iron Windmill Co. which had been manufacturing the new invention known as the air rifle for about a year. It had 25 employees and Edward got $1 a day for 10 hour's work, six days a week, for packing guns and delivering them to the depot in a two-wheeled cart. In 1890 Lewis Cass Hough invited his son into partnership at the elevator. His father was elected treasurer of the Plymouth Iron Windmill Co. and later became manager. In 1894 the name was changed to Daisy Manufacturing. It was also during these years that young Edward was elected secretary of the air rifle making firm and he kept Daisy records at the elevator. But by 1900 the gun business had grown to a point where the father and son had to give up one business or the other. They decided to sell the elevator and it was sold to John McLaren. The two-story office building was added to the Daisy plant and Edward and his records moved in. Edward's father became Daisy president a short time before he died in January 1901. At that time the son was elected treasurer and Henry Baker was president. When Baker died in 1915, Charles Bennett was elected president and Mr. Hough was named vice-president and treasurer. This was the position he held until he succeeded Mr. Bennett. Besides Daisy, Mr. Hough had other business interests. In 1901 he and three friends put a telephone system in their four homes and so many requests came to hook in to the system that they formed the Plymouth Telephone Co. Mr. Hough was the first president. He also served as a director of the Plymouth United Savings Bank, predecessor of the National Bank of Detroit. He was secretary and treasurer of the King Motor Car Co. of Detroit, a director of the Maxwell-Briscoe Mo-

Civil Defense Nurse Group Elects Officers

Dr. Gordon Eadie head of Civil Defense of the Wayne County Health Department, and Dr. Lee Feldkamp of Plymouth, spoke last week to registered nurses who are organizing a medical Civil Defense program in Plymouth. The necessity of organizing such a program was discussed at the meeting, held at the Junior High.

Civil Defense meetings will be held five times during the ensuing year.

Officers elected were: chairman, Mrs. Walter Hill; vice-chairman, Mrs. Virgil Joseph; secretary, Mrs. Ardithe Eidson; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Homer Frisbie; and program chairman, Mrs. Donald Urquhart.

The next business meeting will be March 2 and Civil Defense classes will be held February 9 with Dr. Feldkamp presiding. The places and times will be announced later.

All registered nurses in the Plymouth area, whether they are practicing or not, are invited to attend these meetings.

Report From Dunning-Hough Library

By Agnes Pauline

Many people predicted an increase in book circulation and library activities when the new Dunning Hough Library was completed and 1958 records now prove they were right. The new building was dedicated early in '58 and soon after we noticed a steady increase of patrons from local areas—many pleasantly surprised to find a well balanced collection of reading materials, housed in spacious surroundings, conducive to reading and browsing.

The entire building is available for study at all times; lower floor for general collection, and upper floors contain two rooms. One of these rooms gives space for books and magazines reserved for research, not particularly in popular demand. The larger room meets the needs of adults and students—an area where they can quietly study. We were amazed during the holiday season when frequently all the tables upstairs were surrounded by young people seriously working. Throughout the year the rooms are used for many meetings pertaining to library activities as well as Book Discussion Group story hours, film programs and library instruction to visiting school groups.

Several interesting meetings were held at the library during the year. In May we were host to 130 members of the Michigan Library Association. The business meeting was held at the library with lunch several blocks away at the Mayflower. Everyone complimented us on the building, the local community and the delicious food. In July an all day meeting of Wayne County Children's Librarians was held at Plymouth. The air conditioning kept them comfortable and alert. At noon a picnic lunch was enjoyed on the bank of beautiful Newburg Lake. The library's book loans for 1958 show an increase of 37,000 or total circulation of 194,123. Plymouth reported the highest circulation during the year of any Wayne County Library Branch. Much of this circulation can be attributed to our large collection, and too, the advantage of belonging to the county system with the privilege of borrowing for our patrons any book not in the immediate collection. It was interesting to note that among our requests for special books during 1958 were books written in six different languages: French, Portuguese, Spanish, Finnish, Swedish and German. We also loan records in four languages: French, German, Italian and Spanish, and we receive foreign magazines.

A few of the books most popularly requested the past year were: Traver, Anatomy of a Murder; Linklater Kids Say the Darndest Things; Dennis, Around the world with Auntie Mame; Pasternak, Doctor Zhivago; Newcomb, Abandon ship; Gunther, Inside Russia; Heyerdahl, Aku Aku; Kerr, Please don't eat the daisies.

Your local branch library is the agent for books for the blind and 16mm sound films. However, they are not housed in our building and must be ordered well in advance of the date needed.

Your library subscribes to 117 magazines as well as foreign magazines from England, France, Italy, Germany and Spain. All of these circulate to the public. We also subscribe to four daily newspapers: The New York Times, Christian Science Monitor, Detroit Free Press and Wall Street Journal.

For the investor we subscribe to the Moody's Investment Service.

Books are loaned to the public for a limited period without charge. Why not visit your library today. You cannot miss the colonial building at 223 Main St. with a free parking lot at the back door.

Birmingham Breaks Three Pool Records Saturday

The Plymouth tankers couldn't cope with a powerful Birmingham team Saturday night in the local pool, as the Rocks suffered a 29-67 drubbing. McFall's swimmers routed Bentley Thursday night 78-18 but loafed Saturday evening in defeat from Birmingham, as they broke the pool record for 200 yd. medley relay, 100 yd. backstroke and 100 yd. breaststroke.

Against Bentley, Plymouth took first and second in every event but diving. There the Rocks captured first and third. McFall's crowd could muster only two firsts in 10 starts when the boys from Birmingham invaded the pool two days later.

Plymouth will travel to Trenton this afternoon, at four, to resume Suburban Six competition. Trenton is expected to be tougher than the meeting than the first time. The local tankers downed them then 59-37. Plymouth lost only three events in this meet, 100 yd. breaststroke, 200 yd. medley relay and diving.

If the Rocks swim as they did Saturday night, Trenton will have a victory and Plymouth their first league loss.

Plymouth set off to a fast start against Birmingham but lost interest or drive after two events, Birmingham, on the other hand, had a strong driving force behind them. If they could dump the Rocks it would give the coach 100 victories. They had a golden win at McFall's expense. But after all mentor John is not allowed to swim, only to coach.

Javees Lose To Bentley

The Javees suffered defeat at the hands of Bentley, 37-33 Friday night at Bentley. Tomorrow evening Plymouth will try to avenge the loss they encountered at Trenton. They were beaten by one point, 57-56, in overtime play as both teams opened their Suburban Six competition.

Plymouth played a closely matched game, at Bentley, as the Bulldogs managed to outscore the Rocks in only the first and third quarters.

The Bulldogs set a fast pace as they dumped in four field goals and two foul shots to lead Plymouth 10-5 at the end of the first stanza. The second quarter was an even match as the Rocks scored 12 points and Bentley 11 to end the first 16 minutes of play in the Bulldogs favor 21-17.

Palmer of Plymouth collected 11 points on four buckets and three foul shots.

Hawkins was the big gun for the Bulldogs, scoring 14.

Rocks and Bulldogs Match Field Goals

Plymouth almost dethroned first place Bentley in a close Suburban Six League contest Friday night, when the Bulldogs squeezed by the Rocks 58-53.

The Rocks made a sparkling showing against the stronger Bulldogs and were never more than nine points, sometimes less, away at any time in the game. If Plymouth is able to play the same type ball tomorrow night, they stand a good chance of making up for the 50-30 defeat encountered at Trenton earlier this season.

Bentley started the first quarter at a fast pace running up 10 points while holding Plymouth to three. In the remaining two minutes the Rocks snapped back collecting eight points to the Bulldogs' five. Schulteiss paved the attack backed by Ralston and Egloff.

Scoring in the second stanza was almost even as Bentley tallied nine on four field goals and a foul shot and Plymouth eight on four buckets. About half way through the period Coach Doyle called time out, checked with Mike Hoben, who was keeping statistical charts, and sent his charges back into the game.

Plymouth then battled their way to within one point of the Bulldogs.

Bentley pulled away but didn't lose the Rock five, who drove on to keep sight of the score as the half ended 24-19, Bentley.

Plymouth was out-scored in the third stanza by a mere four points. According to the official score book, the local five and Bentley scored 21 field goals each but the Bulldogs collected five more foul shots.

The fourth quarter found the Rocks making a comeback and out-scoring the Bulldogs 22-18. Wade Schulteiss, who paced the Rocks with 19 points, scored 13 of them in this half of play. Eleven of the 13 came in the fourth stanza. Egloff was a runner up with 16 from seven field goals and two foul shots.

Carmichael and Eveland topped the Bulldog squad with 18 tallies each.

SPORTSEEN

By LEE SECHLER

Found a hidden talent last Saturday night. Took a friend home after the swimming meet and was invited in. My host then asked if I was familiar with the dart game that was played in the English pubs. I expressed a negative answer.

My host took me by the hand and we started for the basement rumpus room. Past the ping-pong table we sped. There in the corner was a round board with numbers and wire nailed to the wall.

"Had I ever seen anything like it before?"

"Yes, it looks like any other dart board."

This was a socially incorrect statement to make. Upon closer examination it was different. A picture of the queen was glued to the bulls-eye. A wide grin circled my friend's face when he learned that this was my first time at this new and thrilling sport. We were to volley for first throw. All three of my darts hit the board. Not so with old wide shot. It took us half an hour to find the two darts that missed the target. Mine? They hit the twenty, five and triple twenty marks.

A neighbor dropped in, think he was a plant. After a while he made some excuse and left. He put two darts in the bulls-eye, so I put one of mine in there too. By this time I was tired so my friend challenged me to the best two out of three games. This stretched out till I had him five games to three. He went up stairs and in a few minutes his wife came down to tell me it was time to leave. Poor loser.

It's surprising the things you can learn at a basketball game. Take Friday night at Bentley, for example. Was told that Robert Bentley is coach of the Bentley team. That sounds like a political job.

From Friday night's game it looks like the Bentley basketball machine is on the way down.

One of the better night spots in Livonia is backing a basketball team composed of some local leaders. At the present time they are leading the men's league in that thriving town.

The badminton team went to Chicago this weekend. They didn't do bad. Made it as far as the quarter finals and were dropped by a team from Detroit.

For any of you people heading for Florida in the near future, March and April, the Tigers will start their exhibition games March 7. They are scheduled to take on the Nats at Orlando.

George Kell is to replace the late Mel Ott, to assist Van Patrick in the broadcasting of the games.

January 20, 1959

The Central Steering Committee of the Northwestern Wayne County Community College Study Committee met in the Board Room of the Livonia Public School District at 8:00 p.m.

Present were L.E. Schmidt and Bert Hartom of Clarenceville, Gerald C. Gould and Raymond B. Kenoff of Garden City, Ward McCain, Cecil H. Alford, C. Snarey, Rolland Upton, L. Brashear, Rod Mies and Dr. Ted Rice of Livonia, Esther Hulsing of Plymouth, Bob Keene of Redford Union and J.J. Rzepha and Jim Lehman of South Redford School Districts. Present also were Virginia Malby and Al Ruschenthal.

Mr. Snarey called the meeting to order. Bob Keene reported on the meeting of the Central Survey Committee which had been held on Thursday, January 15. He submitted the suggested questionnaire and covering letter for criticism which had been worked out by the Central Survey Committee with the help of Dr. Jessie Bogue and Mr. Cecil Alford. It was suggested that in question No. 12 that it be more clearly indicated that the suggested fee of $225 would cover two to three semesters. Question No. 13 should possibly be divided into two portions—one clearly covering the possible one-year covering for the first two years of transfer type courses for further college work and the other listing the terminal technical courses of the non-transfer type. This was suggested in order to avoid possible confusion in the minds of the students and parents to filling out the questionnaire.

The following changes were suggested as far as the covering letter was concerned: That the letter be addressed to both parents and students; that in the fourth line of the paragraph that the word "districts" be inserted between "those" and "participating"; that the last sentence in the third paragraph be revised to read "if citizens should decide that a community college is needed, it would probably be located centrally in the area"; that the fourth paragraph be clarified by means of example as to what various type programs would consist of; and that the last sentence be revised to read "in order to assist the committee in its study and planning, would you please assist your son or daughter in answering the following check list as accurately as possible".

With the above suggested changes the letter and survey was to be submitted to the respective school boards for their comments and returned to Mr. Alford's office immediately where Mr. Keene could pick them up. He will call a meeting of the Central Survey Committee the first part of February. Dr. Erbe will meet with the counselors of the various school districts on the 19th and 20th of February to explain the survey to them. It is planned that the actual survey will be made during the week of February 23 in grades 10, 11 and 12 of the interested districts. Mr. Rzepha volunteered the services of their district in the duplication of the survey. Members of the Central Survey Committee would then be responsible for securing the necessary numbers of the survey for their districts.

Mr. Brashear submitted the proposed amendments to the present Community College Law that would permit the establishment of a community college district such as we are proposing. He called our attention to line 8, Section 5, which now reads "EXCEPT IN THE EVENT THE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT DOES NOT INCLUDE THE ENTIRE AREA OF A COUNTY OR COUNTIES, IN WHICH EVENT ANY ELECTOR OF THOSE SCHOOL DISTRICTS WHICH ARE INCLUDED IN THE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT SHALL BE CHOSEN AS A BOARD MEMBER. IF THE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT CONSISTS OF MORE THAN ALL OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICTS IN THE ONE OR MORE COUNTIES IN WHICH THE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT IS LOCATED THE FOLLOWING BASIS OF REPRESENTATION SHALL BE USED: IF THE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT CONSISTS OF TWO SCHOOL DISTRICTS THEN SIX MEMBERS SHALL BE ELECTED FROM THAT DISTRICT; IF THE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT CONSISTS OF THREE OR FIVE SCHOOL DISTRICTS THEN TWO MEMBERS SHALL BE ELECTED FROM EACH SCHOOL DISTRICT; IF THE COMMUNITY COLLEGE DISTRICT CONSISTS OF SIX OR MORE SCHOOL DISTRICTS THEN ONE MEMBER SHALL BE ELECTED FROM EACH SCHOOL DISTRICT. . . . Provision is made elsewhere in the case of annexation of additional districts representation shall be elected from that district also. Mr. Hartom moved that the proposed legislation be written be approved and presented to the Department of Public Instruction. Seconded and carried unanimously. Mr. Alford was asked to make the necessary contacts to set up the meeting in Lansing, accompanying Mr. Brashear, Mr. Hulsing and Mrs. Hulsing.

Mr. Snarey reported that possibly our study committee should have a constitution and set of by-laws. He asked us to think it over and bring suggestions to the next meeting. When the Board of Trustees are elected for the Community College District then the work of the Central Steering Committee is at an end. Publicity covering the survey will have to go out, but we are waiting generally for the presentation of the legislation to the Department of Public Instruction. Mr. Chandler will release publicity as soon as available to the school districts.

Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary
Northwestern Wayne County Community College Study Committee

counties, will consider policies that are to be presented by the Finance, Training, and Troop Organization committees. These policies, which have already been discussed among the adult volunteer group through their Neighborhood meetings, concern such matters as money raising by troops, size of troops, leadership qualifications and training, sponsorship of troops, etc.

Presiding at the meeting will be Mrs. LaVerne Howard, from Ypsilanti, the Council President. Policies will be presented by Mrs. Wyeth Allen, Training Chairman from Ann Arbor, Mrs. Harold Palmateer, Troop Organization Chairman from Wayne, and Mr. Ralph Adams, Council Finance Chairman from Ypsilanti. A report of the Membership-Nominating Committee will be given by Mrs. David Mather of Plymouth.

Bell Telephone Top Tax Contributor

Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced its payment to the state primary school fund in 1958 was the largest in the company's history.

Amounting to $12,498,000, the payment again placed Michigan Bell as the top contributor to the fund.

William Dunn, manager here for the company, reported that $30,808 of the total tax payment was allocated to the public school system of Plymouth.

Schools throughout Wayne county received from Michigan Bell's payment a total of $4,133,819. Payments were based on the county census of 637,205, and the local school census of 4,898.

The tax payment amounted to $6.29 for each of the 1,988,222 youngsters in the state between the ages of 5 and 19 who were on the census rolls for the 1957-58 school year.

Michigan Bell, in common with railroads, Pullman, railway express, telegraph, and other telephone companies, pays such a tax earmarked for the primary fund in lieu of certain local taxes.

Ear Muff Pattern

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Adjustable ear muffs are an easy job for a home seamstress. Using scraps of bright felt, cut four heart-shaped pieces about 4 inches long. Stitch two pieces with machine embroidery stitches. Sew each to a plain heart, leaving an opening at top and bottom for ribbon to slide through. Pull a grosgrain ribbon (¾ yard and 1-inch wide) through the hearts. Adjust over ears and tie.

PRESQUE ISLE, Maine — (UPI) — Joseph Gagnon's new car cost him $50 more than he expected. He had to build an addition to his garage so the new sedan would fit in it.

Month number one of 1959 has all but checked out. In the few days that remain let me warn you for the last time that you'd better rush down to the Riviera Theater to obtain those ducats for "My Fair Lady." "Lady" moves in on February 9th. Box office manager told me last week when I was laying down those precious dollars for my tickets that they already had $125,000 in the bank from mail order tickets. Must be a fine feeling to have a hit on your hands.

Bill Hunter, Plymouth Theater Guild member, who is handling advance box office ticket sales for "Tea-house of the August Moon" had a similar feeling at the Guild meeting last week. One hundred tickets were taken out by the members before Bill could conclude his sales pitch.

Hope you're all planning to attend this smash hit during the latter part of February. The show is only three weeks off—start contacting your nearest Guild ticket salesman for one of those hard-to-get tickets for "Tea-house."

While you're thinking about such a sound investment in an enjoyable evening, let's chat for a paragraph about the lighted tube your home that entertains, educates, and sometimes exasperates. Yes, you've got TV set!

During the past week or so, a new western hit the TV screens on Saturday night—"Black Saddle." I believe the hunk said the title was as they released this critter from the film corral. The addition of one more "oater" (a more apt title for what we in you call "horse operas") to the bathtub night schedule makes the count add up to five westerns on NBC and CBS.

You can square off your eyeballs from 8:30 to 10:30 come Saturdays watching gun fights, sluggings, wild horses, and strangulations. If you don't mind having the dead Indians pile up in your set, keep the video machine operating on Saturday night as you view "Black Saddle," "Wanted—Dead or Alive," "Have Gun—Will Travel," "Cimarron City," and "Gunsmoke."

The initial episode of "Black Saddle" was far from top Western fare. My viewing friends tell me that Peter Breck, the lead in this new hay-burner, lacked force and virility. Could have been the script since all reports indicated that it was weak. As I understand it, the local sheriff seems to be in with the bad guys and suddenly towards the end we discover he's a real good guy. You can't switch to a time-honored, traditional pattern, fellas. We like to have the sheriff be with the good guys.

"Rawhide" trotted out its chapter one last week with not too much success, according again to old George's staunch helpers. The story hinged loosely on a cattle drive and the troubles that beset the boys as they tried to get the cattle to hamburger haven. Time and again during the TV production, violence seemed to be inserted simply because the cattle were getting restless and the viewers needed a little gunplay to puncture the monotony of their potato chip chewing.

With all its faults, "Rawhide" out-pointed the ever-popular Walt Disney show that it plays opposite. It will have to improve the quality of its scripting if they hope to keep people twisting the dial away from Walt Disney on subsequent Friday nights at 8 p.m. Tune in and see what you think.

Stage and TV had a happy marriage last Sunday night on Ed Sullivan's program when he introduced Sunday night viewers to Alfred Green and Betty Comden. They are the writers of such hits as "Say, Darling," "The Belles Are Ringing," "On the Town," and former actors in many a Broadway show.

If you caught their act on TV, you had a 20 minute sample of what their latest venture called "A Party with Betty and Al" might be for a full two hour show. The drama critics went into a state of shock and wrote glowingly about this duo and their satirical work. All seven of the critics recommend the "Party" as a sophisticated evening of entertainment. For a New York crowd I would agree, but they leave me slightly cold with their frenetic antics. How about you?

Let's leap from entertainment on TV and on stage to the world of culture and education. On Channel 2 from 3:30 to 4 p.m. for the next two or three Sundays a TV program entitled "The World of Ideas" with Dr. Frankel of Columbia University, emceeding the series can be seen if you'd like to turn on your thinking machines. Lord knows that we can all do a little more thinking.

We can mentally stagnate too soon in this world of having so much done for us. First program was on Censorship—good or bad. It's a discussion-type program that you might find quite the conversation creator.

One other Sunday educational entry on Channel Two that bears watching is "GE College Bowl." Of course, I'm a bit partial to this show since my alma mater, Northwestern University, has been walking off with the honors for the past four weeks. You'll find that if you try to match wits with these sharp college students, the brain cells need to be hitting on all twelve cylinders.

Many people don't give this show too much hope since a battle of bright college students competing on sound intellectual basis is not likely to pull too many viewers away from the Sunday comics or a peaceful Sunday snooze. After all, we must rest up to prepare for "Maverick" or some other form of thundering hoofs. Next Sunday at 5 p.m. try Channel 2 and see what you think about this latest of all quiz games.

Something unusual in the way of community theater productions comes January 29-31 when the Ypsilanti Players present "Antigone" at the new Daniel Quirk theater. While "Antigone" is a Greek tragedy, it is being given in modern dress and dialog with a progressive jazz musical background. Tickets can be purchased at the door. Starting time is 8:15.

A final item: locally, a troupe of actors—high school students in the Methodist Youth Fellowship—gave a playlet on the missionary problems in our newest state, Alaska. Mary Plumb, director of the group, tells me that the actors took the play up to Northville for a showing and gave a polished performance. Name of the production was "The Long Sermon" and the cast featured Grace Wigley, Mari Lynn Walters, Bob Wall, Dolores Aldrich, Martha West, and Mark Tilloitson. Several members of the cast are Thespian Club veterans from the Plymouth High School.

A variety show, a white elephant sale, a pie and cake walk, fish pond, country store, a snack bar and dance from 8 to 11 p.m. in the auditorium are the events in store for those who attend the annual Band Carnival, this year slated for Saturday night, January 31.

For the first time a baby-sitting room will be opened, with Girl Scouts taking care of the little ones. A snack bar will open at 5:30; variety shows will begin at 7 and 8 p.m. PHS'ers who will appear in the productions are: Jim Yost, comedy; Betsy Edgar, Betsy Mueller and Claudia Kessler, trio; Larry Livingston, Jeff Hunington and Jerry Fischer, clarinet trio (Three Blind Mice!); Doty Grabowski, hula; Donna Ash, Judy Mitchem, a re-creation of a line; Dave Graves, Dick Smith, chorus line (!); Dave Graves, solo; Judy Cummins, solo; Hollis Jean Haynes, "The Night the Rains Came" with Ann West accompanying at the piano; David Sockow, record pantomime; Bob Evans, singing guitar; Donna Sutton, solo; John Tichy, voice and guitar solo.

The Triple Trios will also perform. They are seniors Betsy Mueller, Lois Austin, Betsy Edgar, Sharon Matts, Julie Stecker and Karen Stevens; juniors Barb Browne and Leslee Huxley and sophomore Ann West. Dorothy Stremich is accompanist.

The Carnival is sponsored by Band Parents to raise money for the group. The Band plans to make a trip in the spring, "course" a little money will come in handy for that jaunt.

PHS'ers took exams yesterday and are sweating through them again today. We're out of school at 11:30 today and don't have to return until Monday, February 2—the first day of the second semester. Also get our report cards on the 2nd.

There won't be a senior trip for the Class of '59. Friday was the last day that these overclassmen could make a $10 deposit for the proposed trip to Washington, D.C. in May.

The smiling Vice-President of the class, Glyn Norton, who was chairman of the Trip Committee, is to be commended for his efforts... he attributes lack of interest to lack of money. "The trip is just too expensive. All the ones who wanted the trip didn't sign up," he said.

The Student Council Lunch Committee will go into action next Monday or Tuesday... as students line up for cafeteria lunches, they'll be handed a questionnaire—all lunches will be listed and spaces provided for PHS'ers to tell which lunches they like "least" "best," and which dishes they think are okay.

This reporter wishes to apologize to the officers and members of the Livonia Newcomers Club. They met on Tues., Jan. 27 at the Federal Savings and Loan Bank in Sheldon Center with their special guest, Boyd, hair stylist, of Plymouth. They ask that this announcement get into the paper and this writer neglected to do so and I am most sorry and shall not let it happen again. They also wished me to advise the new women of the community, that this group will be meeting every fourth Tuesday and their February meeting will be a potluck supper. More details later. Sympathies of friends and neighbors of the Newburg area are extended to Mrs. Paul English of Angeline circle, whose mother passed away this past week. Mrs. Oscar Gieser and Mrs. David Smith of Newburg road attended the television show, "Queen for a Day" when the show was at the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

Previously announced date for an Oriental dinner to be held at the Newburg Methodist church, has been changed from Feb. 19 to Feb. 21. Tickets for this delightfully different dinner will be available soon or they may be purchased at the door. Keep this date free for this event. All proceeds from this dinner will be directed to the church's appointment for the Wesley Foundation crusade. This reporter had the pleasure of attending a "Luncheon Served" program, sponsored by the Kenwood Woman's club, on Tues., Jan. 20. As guest of Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Sr., of Detroit, we spent the afternoon, following the luncheon, playing cards. The Community Club, formerly associated with the Patchen school on Newburg Road, met at the home of Mrs. Barbara Brown in Inkster on Thursday, Jan. 15 with the following guests present for an evening of fun: Mrs. Clarice Nesbitt, Mrs. Eleanor Rucinski, Mrs. Laura Mende, Mrs. Mae Blanton, Miss Dorothy Blanton, Mrs. Florence Peterson, Mrs. Margaret Desmond, Mrs. Edith Gennis, and Mrs. Lulu Westlake. Prize winners for the evening were Clarice Nesbitt, first prize; Mae Blanton, second and Mystery prize; and Lulu Westlake, third prize. Refreshments were served by the hostess. This group meets every third Thursday and at their individual member homes. A surprise wedding anniversary celebration was given to honor Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hocking on their 19th anniversary at the Hocking home on Narise drive, Saturday, Jan. 17. Those responsible for the surprise and also the guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heidenrich and daughters of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Trapp, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Trapp, Jr. all of Livonia. Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Howden of Joy Road are home after spending two weeks visiting with friends and relatives in the sunny climate of Florida. While in the vicinity of Sarasota, the Howdens called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sorenson, former residents of the Newburg area. Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lorraine of Cavour avenue, recently celebrated the 50th anniversary of Mrs. Lorraine's arrival in the United States from England. Accompanying Mrs. Lorraine, at that time, were her brother William Bone and a sister, now Mrs. Henry Whetter of Northville, and their parents Mr. and Mrs. Michael Bone. Dinner guests present for this celebration were Mr. and Mrs. William Bone, Mrs. Ada Walker, Mrs. Henry Whetter and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lorraine. This was a double celebration, also being in honor of William Bone in recognition of his retirement after 38 years in the employ of Holy Carburetor. The Joy Road Canasta Club met at the home of Mrs. Clifford Hocking on Narise drive, Tuesday evening, Jan. 20 with these ladies present for an evening of cards, Florence Peterson, Irene Overmyer, Bronnie Flaherty, Eleanor Rawsky, Jane Kenner, Carol LaPointe, Gertrude Howden, Eloise Mackinder, Edith Gennis and Georgiana Pregitzer. This group will meet again on Tuesday, Feb. 17 at the home of Mrs. Emil LaPointe on Joy Road. Not too much in the way of news items, this week. Won't more of you fine folks in the Newburg area call me with your social activities? It's such fun being with you, See you next week!

Grange Cleanings The Grange meeting last Thursday was well attended considering the change of date and the snow-storm. Our next meeting is to be Thursday, Feb. 5, the regular date. A Pot Luck Supper as usual, and for our program pictures of the West will be shown. We hope the weather will allow more of the members to attend. The Roast Beef Supper last Saturday evening was a huge success, about 175 people were served, and many fine comments were made on the delicious supper. Mrs. John Oldenburg has returned home from St. Joseph's Hospital and is improving every day. We hope to have her back at the Grange meetings very soon. In the American-financed oil fields in Sumatra, workers have to use snow tires and chains to get their trucks over the muddy tropical roads.

Who's New in Plymouth

MR. AND MRS. Robert H. Cavin moved into their beautiful ranch type home at 1282 Beech Street in Park Lane Subdivision about Thanksgiving time. They have been enjoying "doing" their home with danish modern furniture in decorator's colors of pumpkin and brown. They are also hard at work completing their recreation room done mostly by Mr. Cavin with his wife giving moral support. The Cavin's had never owned their own home until this present place. He was transferred here by Western Electric Company and they were pleased because they considered this a perfect locality for their home. Traveling has occupied a great deal of their spare time and since Mr. Cavin is a shutter-bug the time they are not traveling they enjoy looking at some of their 2,000 slides taken during their travels through the South and West. They are looking forward to another trip to Florida in the near future. After they are completely settled, Mr. Cavin anticipates joining the Plymouth Veterans organization and Mrs. Cavin the auxiliary unit. In the meantime they are enjoying adjusting to their new home and neighbors. Mrs. Cavin likes to walk and when the weather permits she is looking forward to getting out with her little pomeranian, Fifi.

B.&P.W. Hear About Community College

Russell Isbister, Superintendent of Plymouth Community Schools, addressed the local Business and Professional Women's Club at Hillside Inn January 19, concerning Legislation with its immediate and far reaching effects. From earliest times man has been legislating—setting up rules of government—from the family, the communities, villages, etc. up to the larger areas until today there are the local, state, national and even world governments. National Education Legislation includes The National Defense Education Act in which (1) grants are made to higher colleges and universities for scholarships in science, mathematics and foreign languages. (2) Loans may be made to needy students and 10 per cent may be forgiven if that student prepares for teaching and does teach for at least five years. Pending is the improved Murray-Metcalf Bill whereby national grants are to be matched by the states, the state and local districts may decide just how they are to be used—operating, building, or sites. The big problem for the state government is to figure a way to bring new revenue into the treasury since it is impossible to keep up its payments to the many school districts, colleges and universities. With a yearly six per cent increase in the number of students in Plymouth's schools, Superintendent Isbister expressed faith in the continued interest of its citizens in seeing that Plymouth's children receive the best education possible. This, in turn, might be accomplished through the building of a new high school and with joint planning and cooperation, the establishing of a community college somewhere in the area of Clarville, Garden City, Livonia, Northville, Plymouth and Redford. Responsible for the meeting were the members of the Legislation committee: Ada Watson, Chairman, Dolly Blair, Marie French, Mary Ellen Hosier, Doris Root and Fledra Wolfe.

Much of the credit for the sleek, modern appearance of the house goes to the long bands of windows shaded by the wide overhang of the roof. These are sliding windows of ponderosa pine which operate easily, yet close tightly to keep cooled air inside in summer, and inclement weather out during other seasons.

Compact, but designed for comfort and convenience, the house can be built on a small lot without costly excavating. Further information, blueprints, and specifications can be obtained from Stock Plan Department, House Beautiful's Building Manual, 572 Madison Ave., New York 22, N.Y. Refer to Plan R-2715.

Wallpaper has become more than covering for the walls of a room and background for its furnishings. Modern wallpapers have assumed a new importance helping to key the room and being an integral part of it, as important as the floor covering or any of the furnishings.

Homeowners who plan to re-paper one or more rooms this year will find new styles in wallpapers as well as new colorings. One wallpaper designer summed up the trend in 1959 as "a return to romanticism" at the annual winter home furnishings showings in Chicago in January. Both patterns and colors tend to be romantic and elegant.

Gone are the strong greens and purples and harsh metallic effects. This year colors, whether as a background or in patterns, are soft and muted. Newest of the colors is a soft blue pink, which many people will call mauve. This is a flattering color.

Other standard shades have been muted by most of the wallpaper designers. As a result, greens are softer than in recent years. There are many delicate shades of yellow as well as soft blue and clear blue.

A greater range toward softer colors and a trend toward elegance doesn't necessarily mean that every room which is to have new wallpaper this spring must be turned into a formal room. Refuting this effectively is a series of hobby papers. This group makes use of various family hobbies as decorative items.

Among them is a "garden" paper that combines gaily colored flower cards with sketches of rakes, watering cans and other garden tools. The teenager in the family might prefer the paper with musical instruments, and a man of age might like the hobby paper with old automobiles or prancing horses and hunting horns or guns.

Designed especially for the room in which one wall can be most important are the new murals. These are available in 12-foot strips with either three or four of these panels needed to make the design. Also available are a background paper to be chased in rolls for the other walls of the room.

These murals include a seascape which has been entitled "Clouds," "Grass Candelabra" which makes use of reeds and flowers for a lovely shadow effect against a wall, "The Common" which displays silhouettes of trees.

These murals are available in either paper or canvas. Both are washable.

Wallpaper borders in new colors and interesting patterns needn't be used only as borders just under the ceiling of a room. An appropriate one for a child's room might be placed around the walls just above the headboard of the bed. Or against one wall of any bedroom, three rows of border paper placed one on top of the other, give a different and interesting effect.

Whether it's the mural which approximates a large painting or a simple but gay paper, the new wallpapers can be put on by professionals or by the do-it-yourself homeowners. The choice of paper may be more difficult than putting it on the walls, once they have been prepared.

Winter Pears For Variety

If you've not already begun to make the most of juicy, fresh pears, fragrant and flavorful, get a bagful the next time you go to the grocer's. We have checked and the plump, green-skinned fine-grained Anjou as well as long-necked russet colored Bosc are plentiful in supply in the markets in town.

The creamy white flesh of the Anjou makes it a favorite for fresh fruit salads and for out-of-hand eating but it's equally delicious baked, broiled or in delightful pastries such as pie, cobbler and upside down cake.

The green skin of the Anjou makes it a colorful addition to tossed fruit and vegetable salads. Halve and core fresh Anjou and serve as a dinner salad with French dressing or mayonnaise. For luncheon, serve with cream cheese balls or with cottage cheese.

Fresh pears are grown chiefly in the west coast states where both the climate and soil are ideal for the production of the fruit. West coast fruit growers pride themselves on the quality of their pears and only the most perfect fruit reaches the markets across the nation. This year, Nature has been bringing forth medium, fine-quality pears.

So perk up those mid-winter appetites and spirits with spicy, juicy fresh pears... spoon-eating ripe!!

Mannerisms That Make You Look (of All Things) Older

LADIES, your face, fashion and figure may be young, but if you're guilty of any of these habits you'll add years to your appearance. The quickest way to cure them is to try them out in front of your mirror or ask your hubby (incidentally the same thing applies to HIM.)

PULLING YOUR LOWER LIP - You may see a good many intent thinkers pinching or pulling their lower lip between thumb and forefinger. Even if it goes with calm deliberation this gesture is apt to distort your mouth and cause all sorts of unnatural grimaces. Don't fall into the habit when you're meditating on making big decisions about moving the furniture around.

YOUR HANDS ON YOUR FACE. Face-fingering habits are so unattractive that the first and most important rule of all the top schools for fashion models is Keep Your Hands Off Your Face. This means stroking and patting your chin, rubbing your nose and cheeks, pushing up the skin at your temples, and trying to smooth out the circles under tired eyes.

PUCKERING UP YOUR MOUTH. Even if you knit when you should have purred on your husband's sock, unearched an error in the butcher's bill, or can't balance your checkbook, don't purse your lips. This puzzled pout is guaranteed to ruin even the best lipstick job and can permanently etch downward lines of discontent at the corners of your mouth.

TUGGING AT YOUR THROAT - If you want to have one chin instead of several when you reach your forties or fifties don't pull at the front of your throat. It makes the skin flabby, not firm. If you do this now, try pulling and patting higher up with your cold cream to repair the damage you have already done, besides it will make you conscious of the fact until you are over the bad habit.

Fact & Fallacy

FALLACY: Large sizes of fruit are usually the most economical.

FACT: Percentage of waste (peeling, cores, seeds etc.) may be slightly less as the size of fruit increases, but any gain in economy is offset by the lower quality and less desirability of the larger sizes for general use.

FALLACY: It is just as economical to buy most fruits in small units as in large.

FACT: If the family can use a large unit of fruit, and if storage space is available, the larger units may cost only half as much per pound as the smaller units. For example, 48 pounds (equivalent to a bushel) of apples bought by the pound would cost considerably more than when bought by the bushel.

FALLACY: All apple varieties are satisfactory for all purposes.

FACT: More satisfaction may be gained from each apple variety if it is used in the ways best suited to the particular varieties. For instance, Delicious apples are excellent for eating and for use in salads. They are too mild for the best cooking results.

FALLACY: Late varieties of peaches are the best to use fresh or processed.

FACT: Choose the peach variety you prefer—the season makes little difference. Full rich flavor depends upon the variety, the weather conditions during the growing season, and the ripeness when picked.

TALKING THROUGH YOUR FINGERS. Watch for this at your kaffeeklatsch or bridge club. The furtive look this gives you will keep your friends guessing what you're trying to conceal. Is it poor teeth? Unattractive mouth makeup? Or have you just circulated a rumor and are worried about having said something you shouldn't have. (Actually Woman's Day magazine bought these things to our attention when ourselves are not guilty of them and know you aren't either, but then it may help our neighbor who we know has one of these habits.)

NIBBLING ON FRAME OF GLASSES - If you chew the side pieces of your glasses, the effect is nearly as aging as if you wore Grandmother's lorgnette. Besides, it will pull down the corners of your mouth and encourage the vague, vacuous look of the absent-minded schoolmarm. The next step, you'll store them atop your head and wonder where you lost them.

Odds and Ends For the Homemaker

As a "Happy Homemaker," if you have suggestions to submit for this column we will pay you $1.00 for every one printed. Send your ideas to this paper marked Att: Odds and Ends for the Homemaker.

When buying sheets, look for the highest possible thread count, firm selvages and well-stitched hem.

Wash mirrors and windows with a chamomile which has been dipped in soapy water. Wring out the cloth and rub briskly until all water has been absorbed.

For greater nutritive value, add powdered milk to cream sauces, gravies, scrambled eggs, and cream soups.

Closets will be easier to clean if you plan a storage space so that nothing sits on the floors. Use pull-out trays or shelves for underwear, sweaters and other clothing that should lie flat.

To remove peach, pear, cherry or plum stains, sponge the stain with cool water, then work in glycerine or a soapless shampoo. Let stand several hours, then apply a few drops of vinegar for a minute or so, and rinse thoroughly in water.

Avoid over-cooking fish. It is done when the protein has coagulated and the small amount of connective tissue has been broken down. Use a low heat and cook slowly to prevent a dry, chewy, texture.

Give extra flavor to cream soups by adding a bouillon cube while heating.

Don't throw away the last few tablespoons of leftover gravy. Put it into cream soup.

A NEW TREE

Those coconuts sent back home from Florida by visiting Northerners can be planted to grow into a palm tree, instead of being cracked and grated for cake. Southerners grow their own palm trees and while it may be a little more trouble indoors in the north, it can be done. Leave the coconut with its hard shell intact. The container, either a large clay pot or shallow wooden box, should be several inches wider than the nut. Partly fill it with soil, then put the coconut in and continue to add soil until the nut is half covered. The soil must be kept moist, but not wet, and the planted nut kept in a warm and humid place.

It probably will take weeks for the coconut to sprout. Given enough warmth and moisture, eventually bright green shoots will appear from one end of the coconut. When the sprout is several inches tall, remove it carefully and plant in an 8-inch pot filled with loamy soil.

HOUSEHOLD PEST

Silverfish, those fast moving, tiny insects that look like their name, thrive in damp, warm basements but may work their way up into any room in the house. Once above stairs, silverfish feed upon starched clothing and curtains, bookbindings, wallpaper and the sizing in any paper. They can be eliminated gradually from upstairs rooms. Apply a 2 percent chlordane solution with a paint brush on the floor along the baseboard, and a particularly thorough application around pipes or risers that come up from the basement. In basements and attics, apply the chlordane solution wherever silverfish seem to be developing. Repeat applications again in three weeks, if necessary.

WINTER READING

Before long, racks stuffed with packets of flower or vegetable seeds will be appearing in stores. Whether you prefer to buy seeds locally or by mail, a seed catalogue is essential reading for anyone who gardens. No book is easier to obtain. Simply address and mail a postcard to any firm anywhere in the country that sells seed packets by mail. On the back request that they send their 1959 catalogue to the name and address below. In two weeks or less the catalogue will appear in your mailbox. All catalogues, except the elaborate ones of one or two nurseries, are free upon request.

Seed and nursery catalogues provide fun for many winter evenings. They're dictionary and encyclopedia for every gardener, a first reader for new homeowners. They can be as absorbing as any mystery thriller and as up-to-date as tomorrow's newspaper.

Add a tablespoon or more of any table wine to apples while they are baking. The alcohol will cook away, leaving a delicate fruit flavor.

PEAR CREAM DESSERT

- 4 Fresh Anjou, Comice or Bosc pears
- 4 Teaspoons honey
- 1 Teaspoon butter
- 4 Teaspoons rum extract
- Red food coloring
- 1/2 pint commercial sour cream dressing

Wash pears, peel part way down and core from blossom end to preserve tips. Place on aluminum foil. Fill core cavities with 1 teaspoon each honey and rum extract. Dot with butter. Wrap tightly in foil. Bake at 375 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes depending upon ripeness of pears. When tender, remove pears from foil to serving dish. Pour remaining syrup from foil over pears. Add blush with red food coloring. Top with Honey Sour Cream Dressing. Serves 4.

HONEY SOUR CREAM DRESSING

- 2 eggs
- 1-3 cup fresh lemon juice
- 1-3 cup-honey
- 10 marshmallows
- 1/2 pint commercial sour cream

Slightly mix the eggs in a saucepan. Combine lemon juice and honey. Stir while adding to mix well. Cook over low heat, stirring until mixture resembles soft custard. Remove from heat, add marshmallows, torn into pieces. Stir until melted. Cool, fold in sour cream. 15 servings.

Unique Professional 'Village' Underway on Farmington Rd.

Taking Air from Tires Won't Help Driving on Slick Roads

ARCHITECT'S RENDERING of the unique Professional Village of Livonia.

Director. Hospital services for the medical profession will be available at St. Mary's hospital, three miles away, to be completed in November, 1959.

The property, comprising 120,000 square feet, with 400 feet frontage on Farmington Road, will house approximately 20 individual professional offices with custom designed buildings, having adequate offstreet parking. Landscaping will be ceremonial, maintained by the corporation.

First building to be constructed is Cyr's architectural office which will also house the office of Professional Village, Inc. Signed leases have been obtained on some of the buildings and construction will begin within 30 days.

The corporation has furnished a partial list of professions which it will grant leases to: The Medical Profession (including specialized categories); Dental offices; Legal; Accounting; Ethical Pharmacy; Realty & Insurance; Optical; Chiropractic; Orthopedic; Secretarial and Telephone Answering Service; Travel Agency; and a Coffee Shop.

An article which appeared in "Medical Economics" stated the attractiveness of the Professional Village idea and those in operation (there are four: El Paso, Texas; Long Beach, Calif.; Lynchburg, Virginia; and Greensboro, N.C.) all have proved immediately successful.

Officers of the corporation are: Joseph Cyr, architect, president, whose background is filled with accomplishments which tend to emphasize the molding of the Professional Village into a beautiful as well as functional creation; Patricia Cyr, art instructor, vice-president and secretary; Gilbert Fisher, accountant, treasurer.

A pictorial rendering of the project is available and inquiries should be addressed to Joseph Cyr, architect, 4201 Williamson, Dearborn. Telephone Tiffany 6-3008.

An American motorist shouldn't try to drive through the winter season without taking advantage of modern scientific knowledge any more than he should think of trying to cross the ocean in a small sailboat.

This is the opinion of Chief of Police Kenneth Fisher, whose views are based upon winter accident investigations conducted by his department over a period of many years. He notes that a large proportion of traffic accidents occurring at this time of year involve vehicles skidding on slippery pavement, and points out that science has developed ways and means of dealing with this problem.

"I realize that it may be possible for a driver to operate his car in the winter time without the aid of extra equipment," Chief Fisher said today, "but that's doing it the hard way. These days, in such fields as medicine, industry, and agriculture, we are taking advantage of scientific studies and discoveries to make a better life—and we should be doing the same thing in our driving. Otherwise, in spite of our best efforts, we're going to continue to have serious trouble whenever winter weather closes in on our streets and highways."

The chief pointed out that safety authorities have conducted a series of winter tests and experiments during the past 13 years, and has come up with scientific information which "every driver should know."

"One of the things the tests have accomplished is to dispel old mistaken notions which many uninformed drivers rely on to this day," the chief said. "For example, some drivers still believe it helps to remove some of the air from their tires when driving on icy pavement. The theory behind this practice was that the tires would flatten out and provide a better grip on the road. But it doesn't work that way."

"Tests have shown that varying tire pressures from those recommended by the tire manufacturers had an insignificant effect on braking distance, traction and cornering ability. At the same time, this unscientific practice sacrifices stability and causes greater wear and tear on tires."

The tests did show that special mud-snow tires have a limited beneficial effect under some winter conditions, but for overall performance during a variety of really bad conditions, nothing can match the dependability and effectiveness of reinforced tire chains, the chief said.

He called attention to the following findings of the 13th annual winter test program: 1. In static traction tests on glare ice, there was no significant difference between highway tires and mud-snow tires, but reinforced tire chains developed 150 percent more pull than highway tires.

2. In spinning traction tests on glare ice, mud-snow tires developed 57 percent more traction than highway type tires. However, under these same conditions, reinforced tire chains developed 700 percent greater traction than highway tires.

3. Tires of the mud-snow type reduced braking distances on glare ice an average of 10 percent compared with highway type tires, while reinforced tire chains used on highway type tires reduced braking distances an average of 56 percent.

4. Mud-snow tires showed reduced braking distances on loosely packed snow of 13 percent compared to highway type tires, but reinforced tire chains on highway type tires reduced braking distances by 31 percent.

"From these experiments, as well as from the experience of many drivers, we know that the use of special winter equipment really pays off in stop-and-go ability and in accident prevention," Chief Fisher commented.

"But," he added, "we should also remember that such old-fashioned qualities as caution, courtesy and common sense are just as important now as they ever were. Science will never outmode them. When we take full advantage of scientific achievements, without forgetting the importance of the human element in safe driv-

Good Books

Henry Knox, George Washington's General, by North Callahan (Rinehart): Not many since Washington have acknowledged the great contribution Knox made when the Colonies rebelled. Callahan goes a long way toward making up for the oversight in this well-documented tribute to a gallant patriot. As an apprentice Boston bookseller, Knox had read so much about artillery that he knew more about guns than anyone else in the striping country. Washington, who also learned generalship from books, was not long in spotting Knox as a fighter and choosing him as perhaps his closest friend with the exception of Lafayette. Knox brought off the epic transport of 55 captured cannon from Ticonderoga over snow, ice, rivers and the Berkshires to Dorchester Heights, where they helped drive the British from Boston. Knox succeeded Washington as commander of the army and served in the first cabinet. Callahan's fine book bolsters Washington Irving's assertion that Knox "was one of those providential characters which spring up in emergencies, as if formed by and for the occasion."

A Yankee Jeffersonian, edited by Mary Lee Mann (Harvard University Press): Selections from the diary and letters of William Lee of Massachusetts written between 1796 and 1840. They are reverently edited and annotated by his great-granddaughter in this collection of Americana that Allan Nevins terms in a foreword "a delightful find." Lee was a shrewd Yankee businessman who held consular rank in France for 15 years before returning to further government duty in Washington.

Michigan State Offering Two Liberal Arts Courses Here

Plymouth residents interested in knowing more about some of the outstanding modern American novels or the science and study of human behavior are invited to enroll in two liberal arts courses offered here this term by Michigan State University.

The noncredit courses are being offered by the M.S.U. Program of Liberal Arts Education for Adults in co-operation with the Plymouth Public Schools. Coming to Plymouth to teach the informal courses will be Dr. Albert W. Silver, of the department of psychology, Wayne State University, and Dr. Robert Cox, M.S.U. special lecturer from the Ford Motor Co., Dearborn.

Dr. Cox will teach "Fiction in Capsules," which meets Wednesday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30, beginning Feb. 4, at Plymouth High School. "Each week, one of the most significant books written in this country during the past few decades will be read," Dr. Cox reports. Such novels as "Martin Eden," "The Great Gatsby," "A Farewell to Arms" and "Grapes of Wrath" will be read and discussed, he adds.

Dr. Silver will be the instructor for "Human Relations," which meets Thursday evenings from 7:30 to 9:30, beginning Feb. 5, at Plymouth High School. Basically, the course is interested in studying some of the findings of the social scientist with reference to human behavior, according to Dr. Silver. "Topics for discussion include culture and human behavior, symbolic interaction, motivation and attitude change," he says.

Interested adults may enroll at the first class sessions. Additional M.S.U. course information can be obtained from Herbert Woolweaver, Plymouth Public Schools, or from Dr. Duane Gibson, Kellogg Center, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

New York, the nation's leading industrial state, has twice as many manufacturing establishments as California, which ranks second.

Kindergarten Helps a Child Adjust

In our last article we related how the overall educational program in the Plymouth Public Schools compares with that as advocated by some of the leading critics in this country. Now we would like to break our program down, and tell you some of the things about our grades and departments.

A good place to begin is in the kindergarten — where your child first becomes acquainted with school life. This is an important phase of a child's schooling — it is where the small tot starts the adjustment from the home to the school, and this adjustment is not an easy one for most children.

There are a few who believe that kindergarten is an unnecessary step up the educational ladder, and that a child could just as well begin in the first grade. Most educators, however, and most parents who understand the program, feel it is an important part of the total program, and very essential to the welfare of the youngster.

It is far from being just a play room as some would have you believe. True, there is a certain amount of supervised play, but even that is used as a learning experience. Take the large doll house that is found in most kindergarten rooms — children love to play in it, but they must learn to take turns at being daddy, mommy, Aunt Susie, grandma or just a visitor.

Many good work habits and many social adjustments are made in this play project. Organized play with a purpose helps the child adjust to other children, in other words, these tots are learning while they are playing and having fun.

All the teachers interviewed mentioned the fact that a teacher has to be ever watchful and observing to see that the best interests of all the children are being considered. Some children want to be first in everything they do, and must learn to take their turn.

Sometimes a problem arises here when a child may have to wait three or four days to do something he really likes and wants to do, but the teacher will not let him until his turn comes — this child may go home and tell his parents that other children are doing something, but the teacher will not let him; the truth being that he is just awaiting his turn.

Many people believe that children are born to get along with one another, but this is not so — ask any of our teachers. A child has to learn to do these things. A kindergarten instructor has to take 30, and too often many more, individuals and mold them into a working group. This is not an easy task for at home these tots have been the center of attraction, while at school they have to realize that each is but one individual in a group, and that each must respect the rights of others.

In many cases there are quite a few emotional adjustments to be made. An example is that of a child who interrupts while others are talking, or wants to be first in everything he does. That a child must learn that others have rights also — that is what a good kindergarten teacher tries to instill in a child.

It is in this early schooling that children develop a like, or a dislike, for school. One of our kindergarten teachers, Miss Edrhe Truesdell, says: "One of our main goals is to get the child to like school, for chances are that a happy kindergarten will be a happy first-grader." The same teacher says children are very honest and truthful at this age, and that is one of the pleasures of working with this age group.

Another teacher, Mrs. Frances Chilson, says that today's kindergartener is much more mature than the child of 20 years ago because of travel and television, and also that little girls are usually more mature than the same age boys.

She also states that every child is an individual, and must be taught that he is one of a group that must work together. Mrs. Chilson goes on to say that kindergarten is of tremendous value to an only child even though the child might find it difficult to ad-

Insurance Agent Honored by Company

Fred Van Dyke, of 9585 Joy Road, Plymouth, local representative for Mutual of New York, has qualified for the Top Club, a company honor group, it was announced today by Neal D. Brubaker, Detroit agency manager.

Membership in this group is based on high standards of production and service of life and accident and sickness insurance. During the year, approximately 10 percent of MONY's field force will qualify for the Top Club.

Van Dyke became a member of the National Field Club earlier this year.

Dictionary Not Always Last Word

You shouldn't always rely on the dictionary, James W. Downer, assistant professor of English at The University of Michigan, advises.

Although English dictionaries are the best attempt so far to index the sounds and definitions of the English language, all of them have gaps, Professor Downer continues. "Words are left out, misstated and wrongly or poorly defined."

He says that dictionary editors could not possibly keep up with current word usage and our complex society in which different meanings are attached to words by people of various social levels.

An example of the lag between dictionaries and common word usage is the word "liberal," which has never been the same since the McCarthy era, Downer reports.

"Words are realities of our experiences and thoughts. Since man has not remained static, meaning and pronunciations have not remained the same," he explains.

Dictionary publishers are aware of the discrepancy between pronunciations and meanings stated in dictionaries and those in common usage, Downer says. "They don't try to present what is supposed to be right, but what is commonly used by educated and cultured persons."

"Dictionaries are chronicles of the times. The work of a lexicographer is the same as that of a social historian who tries to find out what we are and where we are going."

Downer foresees a revolution in dictionary making. Editors are adopting scientific methods of sampling word usage for various groups and geographical regions. "But this is not enough, he explains, because there should be a major revision every generation, with additions and corrections inserted in the dictionaries at every printing."

Therefore, he concluded, publishers' claims that their dictionaries are "the supreme authority, up to date, and entirely new" have to be taken with a grain of salt.

Guest Editorial

Our Alcohol Problem Reaching Huge Size

(Editor's Note—This newspaper regards the use and control of alcoholic drinks as one of the great problems of our community and our nation and we plan to keep editorial attention upon it. A reader who is in the same frame of mind is Ralph H. Pino, M.D. who lives in Plymouth and practices in Detroit, where he is a distinguished expert in his field of medicine. Dr. Pino has volunteered a thoughtful discussion on the subject, which we publish herewith as today's "guest editorial.")

Your guest editorial in the January 8, 1959 number of The Mail is very important. As you say, our country needs education on liquor. Educationally I would like to present briefly only two items of the problem, i.e., economics, and health, for these two are inseparably tied together.

From the money provided by the consumers of alcoholic beverages the promoters of this vast enterprise sow propaganda and reap profits. Economically, the 1956 report supplied by the Office of Business Economics of the U.S. Department of Commerce shows the (over the counter) dollar consumption of alcoholic products by the American people for that year to be ten billion, 500 million dollars. This does not include the tremendous cost to family, state, and to all taxpayers.

The following table shows the annual consumption for the comparative years of 1954 and 1956:

Alcoholic Beverages	$9,830,000,000	$10,500,000,000
Gas and Oil	6,947,000,000	8,022,000,000

Liquor news propaganda extols the great "benefit" to government of liquor revenues. The following two examples are important for they represent similar status of each of the United States, including Michigan. In 1945 a special commission of the Massachusetts legislature reported that it cost that state $3.50 for every dollar of liquor revenue received. In 1955 California reported the cost to that state to be $7.50 for every dollar of liquor revenue received.

These extras are from liquor connected crime, court, mental hospital, traffic, and many other costs to the state.

The propaganda and advertising that accounts for these great expenditures is a type of brain washing that becomes direct through the stomach and blood stream to the brain, and indirect through the power of advertising and public relations. Since the product is a narcotic, the effect of the propaganda is multiplied by the increasing lack of resistance due to the habit forming narcotic effect. To all the people it represents the law of diminishing returns in acceleration. After reporting the direct effects, the American Medical Association states, "Indirectly, every man, woman, and child in the United States is affected sociologically, psychologically, and economically by the problem."

The escape from reality represented in all of this has apparently been the cause of a great church coming out in recent months with publicity to the point that liquor is a "good thing" "in moderation," that those who misuse it are doing "a good cause harm."

An old and great magazine, also to get in on the profits, or to advance "a good cause," started about the same thing to change its policy and advertise liquor. Its stock went up on the exchange.

Recently another national magazine in its Christmas number carried 54 liquor advertisements, one of which pictured beautifully colored bottles and glasses with the greeting "Joyous Noel," and standing out in front in bold relief, the words, "Gifts of Gifts."

A statement from the National Council on Alcoholism expressed the sentiment that "Drinking is a part of our way of life . . . because it creates a problem for one out of fifteen, we wouldn't want to deprive the other fourteen of its pleasures." One wonders what the purpose of this organization is, and who promotes it.

Recently following an all-state health conference, the final statement made by the chairman of one section was that, "Alcoholism is a disease, and alcohol has nothing to do with it." What an attempt to berate the intelligence of the American people! Alcoholism is a disease, but so is tuberculosis, polio, cancer, and many others. Many are more immune naturally than others, but we do all we can to increase immunity and prevent these diseases. We do not extol the methods of acquiring the contagious or other diseases. We try to prevent them. We do this by education, by immunization, and by constantly keeping the facts before the public. Millions are spent in trying to avoid and cure our major diseases.

As to health, everyone in the United States wants to be as well as possible, including every person who in any way profits from the manufacture and sale of alcoholic beverages. None wants his family to become victims of alcohol and its effects. Alcoholism comes on insidiously, and often a victim or his or her family do not realize it is happening until it becomes a terrible tragedy economically, and in mental anguish, for the individual and all the family.

Alcohol is the direct causative factor of one of the four leading disease and death entities in this country, ranking with heart disease, cancer and trauma. It is six times more prevalent than cancer, and eleven times more prevalent than tuberculosis.

At the present rate one child out of every fifteen who ultimately drink will become alcoholics (drunkards), and it is increasing. Large percentages of those who fill our increasing mental institutions have alcohol backgrounds.

Our Secretary of State in Michigan reports that over fifty per cent of deaths on our highways come from drinking, and for every death many are maimed, and many permanently. Traffic problems are now considered to be caused less by those who have come to the chronic alcoholic stage than by the social drinkers. The former know they are handicapped. The latter's inhibitions are relieved, so he presses harder on the accelerator, and less on the brake.

Health wise for many thousands this year who start on life's trip, or trips on the highways, it will be to points of no return from someone tampering with the human brain. Increasing research is being done giving new concepts to the anatomy and physiology of the brain and nervous system. The brain is made up of ten or more billions of cells with intercommunicating fibers connecting with the whole nervous system. Nerve and brain cells are electrical signaling devices like telegraph relays. Today the measurement of brain waves is a common device to help determine brain activity and brain disease.

To study about its activity is as fascinating as radio, television, and the wonders of the stars and outer space, and more so, for it is about one's own self in relation to others and to education.

Courses will come to be given in our high schools and colleges and will be very popular about this brain of ours, on its physiology, and anatomy, gross, and microscopic, with specimens to study. It will include its relationship to the learning processes, to the effects of heredity and environment, and of food and of drugs of all kinds upon it, and of many other things, for all that we are or may ever hope to be in this life depends on our brain and nervous system, how we train it, and care for it.

Alcohol can throw the brain out of kilter for an hour, reduce its efficiency for life, or kill it altogether.

In the community of Plymouth and its environs, the City and Township officers are trying in every way to make the community a wholesome and happy place for every citizen. The parents, the schools, the churches, the health professions, the Service clubs, the Symphony Society, the 4-H clubs, and the many other groups, are trying to make a better world to live in.

Alcohol propaganda does the opposite. Even as the child (or parent) leaves church or school, then by billboard or magazine, the suggestive countenance of Lord Calvert, or the beautiful hand of a popular young woman with glass in hand, or the blinking neon sign of a bar, meets the eye to undo the best possible efforts of teachers, and the hopes, plans, and prayers of all parents for their children. So we find ourselves saddled with a growing type of individual and collective health problem that is taking on the proportions of national catastrophe, as does cancer. We go into everything in a big way, whether in building homes, schools, road systems, hospitals, and churches, and then by the same big business methods we create tragedy in a big way. This is not likely to be tolerated long by parents seeking only the best for their children in education.

Great quantities of literature are available, and as your guest editorial states, the problem demands education. Otherwise, it will ultimately have to be taken over for management by the government through the Pure Food and Drug Acts and the U.S. Public Health Service, and it would not be better then, if not backed by the people of America becoming as conversant with the facts about alcohol as about the virus of polio.

Who needs to do this job then? All the people, including those of the liquor and allied interests. These interests are concerned also about their families and America. They are our friends and fellow citizens, but great privilege entails great responsibility, whether in adhering to safe building codes or railroad crossings. When a pharmacist dispenses a drug from a doctor's prescription that can be dangerous, it carries the word "Poison," and, by law can not be refilled without a doctor's prescription. Therefore:

WITHOUT PROHIBITION, AND WITHOUT PROHIBITION OF ADVERTISING but by requiring every liquor advertisement wherever and whenever used, to give pertinent and equal space in equal-sized lettering on bottle, billboard, or other propagandizing media, as to the dangers and costs to individual, state and to our country. At the same time require ing through the State Department of Public Instruction, courses on the dangers of alcohol consumption to be given in public schools, and by the Department of Public Health elsewhere as indicated. Government puts up warning signs of danger on our highways.

To simply say, "Alcoholism is a disease" is an attitude that will defeat any program of prevention. When polio is rampant the whole public cooperates in programs of prevention. Those who have a slight case of polio are treated as seriously as those who are completely paralyzed. The "social drinker" who can see no relationship between himself and the alcoholic is not aware of the facts, or he would not want to be a party to propagating the cause of our fourth largest disease and death entity in America, and which may ruin him, his wife, or child.

Alcoholism being a narcotic problem, its course has accelerated, but the trend can be reversed. Whether one drinks or not, we will all as citizens be held responsible by our children if we do not act on this. America's largest preventable mental health problem. Methods of approach are available.

one of awakening Americans to the importance of fine music, in Europe local operas and symphonies are a part of the culture. There are dozens and dozens of opera houses and concert halls which are able to operate the year round and with low admission prices because they receive government subsidies.

"Maybe it's because the Nordic countries have such an ancient history and have learned to appreciate the wisdom and capacities of maturity," continued Melchoir who, with his strapping figure, bronzed blood face, and robust mien looks like a reincarnation of the original Viking. "Children are taught from the cradle to respect their elders and as a consequence age seems to bring greater stature and satisfaction than it does in America. 'I'm also proud to say that Scandinavians have done many wonderful things for older people. They were among the first to provide old age pensions, and authorities tell me they offer more low cost housing for their aged than any other countries in the world.'"

I asked this titanic tenor what he's been doing since he retired from a brilliant 24-year career with the Metropolitan Opera Company. "I keep pleasantly busy with concerts, recordings, and television appearances. And I've more time for my hobbies which include big game hunting, hiking, cooking, stamp collecting, and swimming." "I think everyone should have a crusade, and mine is Scandinavians have a great affection for their aged," said Lauritz Melchoir, 68, when I joined him for luncheon last week on his return from a flying weekend to Berlin. A native of Copenhagen, he's now an American citizen and lives with his wife on a hilltop in Beverly Hills, Calif.

Such a plan would raise millions annually to finance operas and symphonies in each state. Not only would this provide fine music at low cost to the public, but it would provide opportunities for hundreds of splendid young singers who are presently forced to choose other careers because there are not enough outlets for their musical talents.

As a man who has lived almost three score and ten," he concluded, "I can assure you that every age has its own rewards. I used to wonder what it would be like to be what you call a senior citizen. Now that I've reached the threshold of old age I'm finding that life is every bit as rich and exciting as it was in earlier years."

WHY DIDN'T THEY PICK OUR TOWN?

When an industry looks at our town then picks another . . . Why?

Perhaps we lost because of reasons beyond our control: the company's problems of markets, transportation, raw materials, etc.

But perhaps it was because we lack advantages which competing towns have and which we need if we are to attract industry. Usually a town can develop most of the advantages it needs if its citizens work hard enough and work together. Do we?

Perhaps the company felt that the community's attitude isn't favorable for new industry. Attitude of the people toward their present industry, toward their town and toward each other. Community attitude is not merely everybody's business. It is everybody's every day contribution—good or bad.

A potluck supper will be served, along with a full evening of scout craft and fellowship. All parties interested in scouting are welcome to attend. A number of badge awards, and one year pins will be presented at this time. There will be a showing of some educational and scout movies. The troop would like to have a large turnout for this affair.

It chills me just to think of it, but our Boy Scout Troop No. 298 are planning "Operation Deep Freeze." The boys are going to Algers Woods, eight miles south of West Branch on a camp-out, January 30, 31 and February 1. All first Class scouts and higher will attend accompanied by four adult leaders. The group will include about 14 boys. The program was solely planned by the scouts two months ago, to be held the latter part of January. The boys will rough it in tents on camp sites located on the 6,400 acre Algers Woods. They will utilize their camping skills, taught throughout the year, and put them in practice at this time. No charcoal will be used, only raw materials from the woods. All equipment will be carried by the scouts on their backs, except for a heavy equipment, which will be transported on toboggans. The hike will be approximately two to three miles. Mr. Leffler, Scout Leader, promised us a full report upon their return. We will be eagerly waiting to hear from you, while we sit next to our warm fires.

Well once again I have come to the end of my chatter. I still have three candidates I cannot contact, but I will keep trying. Until next week.

The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

Last week, we talked about the initiative, that is, the power which our City Charter gives to the people of Plymouth to pass a local law. Coupled with this power is another, which is equally important. It is the power of referendum. All this means is that the people of the city, by their own action, can have a local law, which was passed by the City Commission, taken off the books. It is the power to have a local law repealed.

The City Charter permits a petition asking for the repeal of some local law to be drawn up. The petition must be approved by the City Attorney. Like in the initiative petition, the City Attorney's approval need be as to form only. Therefore, the City Attorney cannot withhold his approval just because he might think the ordinance should not be repealed.

After the petition is approved by the City Attorney, it must be circulated for voters' signatures. A person's signature will not be accepted as valid unless it is written in ink or indelible pencil, and unless the person who signed also writes the date and his address here in Plymouth after his name. This method of signing the petition is to make it possible for the City Clerk to canvass the signatures before he certifies the petition to the City Commission.

As we mentioned last week, in order for the City Clerk to be able to certify to the Commission a petition asking for a referendum, he must find that the petition was signed by at least 15 percent of the number of people in Plymouth who voted for governor in the last fall state election.

When the City Commission receives a certified petition requesting a referendum, it has two choices. The Commission can repeal the ordinance to which the petition refers, or it can decide to submit the proposal to the people and hold an election on the question of whether the local law should be repealed or not.

If an election is held, the results will be determined by a majority of those voting on the question, unless the constitution or laws of Michigan require something different.

The City Charter also provides that when the city clerk certifies a petition asking for a referendum within a month after the unpopular ordinance was passed, the operation of that ordinance will automatically be suspended until the City Commission either repeals the ordinance or the people of Plymouth decide what shall happen to the law at an election.

Even though the initiative and the referendum are available to the people of Plymouth, there is a much easier way to have a law passed or repealed, and that is for the people to come to meetings of the City Commission and make their wishes and desires known. The Commission meets regularly the first and third Monday of every month.
