

Chamber Hosts Local Industry With Banquet

A roomful of executives from Plymouth's industrial concerns formally greeted the two newest companies to the area Monday night and pledged themselves to "get together hereafter to make our influence felt in community affairs."

They also heard Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay say, "despite certain things you hear, we in Plymouth Township have made every possible provision for industry... we have good zoning for industry, as anyone who visits the Township Hall can discover for himself."

And a few moments later they were told by George Vilcan, professional community planner, that "with a little respect for what was said earlier (by Lindsay), to simply zone land for industry isn't enough. To zone without providing for sewer and water and other services doesn't mean much. Some communities tend to become smug and self-satisfied simply because they have a black spot on a map which they call 'industrial.'"

Mayor Harold Guenther greeted the industrialists with the hope that "tonight is only the beginning, a kick-off dinner of a series that will find us planning our future together from now on."

Every speaker made note that this was the "first community industrial dinner of its kind in the history of Plymouth." And they said it had been worthwhile.

Framed letters of welcome were presented by Sy Cooper, president of the Chamber of Commerce, to the general managers of the Western Electric and Gaylord Container plants, newest to arrive in the Plymouth area.

Arrival of the two companies last year "is received as a sign of progress and a source of pride by the Plymouth Community," said the welcoming letters.

Charles Stofko, head of the C of C industrial division, was toastmaster and he asked, "Who can be better salesmen to bring new industry to Plymouth, than industry itself which already is here?"

"Of all the things that materialize tonight, my foremost hope is that it is the start of industry 'getting together.' There is a crying need for men such as ourselves shouldering increased responsibility in local, State and National affairs."

Vilcan described the City of Plymouth's current urban renewal and business redevelopment program.

Companies represented were Anchor Coupling, Gaylord Container, Bathey Manufacturing, Barnes-Gibson-Raymond, Twin Products, Burroughs, American Airlines, Plymouth Mail, Evans Products, Galin Manufacturing, Whitman and Barnes, Western Electric, Champion Container, H. R. Black Co., Continental Can, Plymouth Plating.

Re-Assessment — Bad Word to Some

The CITY MANAGER'S CORNER

By Al Glassford

Re-Assessment Explained

Last week, we all received a letter from Kenneth E. Way, the assessor, giving notice of an entire re-evaluation of buildings and land in the city, which had been authorized by the City Commission. The letter suggested that if there were any questions about the revised assessed valuation for 1959, we should call or visit the City Assessor at the City Hall.

From the response to this letter, there is apparently some confusion in the minds of citizens and property owners about the re-evaluation. The new assessment was necessary because there were many inequities which existed between properties resulting from changes in economic developments since the last assessment in 1947. The re-evaluation was based upon a physical check of property within the city; structures were measured, and all the information was recorded on a field sheet.

The work was done by the Wayne County Bureau of Taxation and the City Assessor, with the help of the Land Value Committee, appointed by Mayor Guenther. The re-evaluation resulted in a revised assessed valuation for this year, which is approximately 40 per cent of the average current market value of property and buildings.

In order to show how the revised assessed valuation works, let's take my house as an example. Last year, my home was assessed at $3,890. To arrive at my tax, the assessed value was multiplied by the state equalized tax rate of $60.71 per $1,000 assessed valuation. This resulted in a tax of $236.16 for 1958.

This year, under the revised assessed valuation, my home is assessed at $6,150. We expect that the tax rate for this year will be $46 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. This will mean a tax bill for 1959 of $282.90. About one-third of this money will be the city operating tax and two-thirds will be school and county tax.

This increase of nearly 20 per cent over last year is not really an increase in taxes, but it reflects the increased value of my property over the outdated 1947 valuation. Our friends who have purchased new homes will notice almost no increase, if any at all. The reason for this is that for the past years, the older homes have not been paying their full tax obligation, because of the failure to keep the relationships between the values of properties up to date.

Relief from your assessment, if you can produce evidence that your home is assessed at more than 40 per cent of current value, can be had first by seeing the assessor, and should he not agree that your evidence is sufficient, you may appeal to the Board of Review which meets the first week in March at the City Hall.

Telephones in the city assessor's office are cooling down somewhat now after being kept busy all last week by property owners — many of them not too happy — wanting to find out more about their new assessments.

Letters telling each property owner about their assessments went out early last week with an invitation to call City Clerk-Assessor Kenneth Way in case there were any questions. Untold numbers of citizens wasted no time in accepting the invitation.

With assessments going up sharply for many property owners, the assessor expected his life to be not too pleasant during the next few weeks. During the early part of last week he and his secretary were on the phone almost constantly. Other people came into the office personally to find out more.

"When a citizen believes that an error has been made, we will gladly come back and recheck his property," Way declared. He has been busy for the past two days making re-examinations of properties under question.

Those who still feel that their properties have been over-assessed have a recourse. The Board of Review will be in session from noon until 9 p.m. on Tuesdays, March 3 and from 8 to 9 a.m. on the following day.

Not every property owner is unhappy. For some, assessments went up slightly but their tax bills will be less.

This is possible due to the anticipated dropping of the county equalization. Because the assessor used the State Tax Commission's manual for equalization, the city commission believes that the county will not add any equalization factors this year.

If this is true, the equalized tax rate will drop from 60.71 mills down to around 46 mills. So in figuring out one's own taxes for this year, he should multiply his assessment by 46.

Should the county board of taxation decide to equalize, the city commission has passed a resolution stating that they will appeal the equalization to the state.

By May 6 the city should know if there is any county equalization.

Slashing Denied By Jailed Man

Seventy-two stitches were required to sew up 45-year-old Howard Myers of Northville who was allegedly knifed by a former fellow worker at a bar here early Sunday morning.

Being held is James Thomas White, 38, of Plymouth, who has denied the knifing in Box Bar at 1:30 a.m. Sunday. White demanded a lie detector test and was taken to the Redford Post of the Michigan State Police Tuesday for the test, results of which are still not complete.

Myers has signed a complaint charging felonious assault with a knife.

Police said that the two had been arguing off and on during the evening at the bar with White claiming that Myers had taken his job at a local factory. White had been fired, they said.

Hire Architect for High School Preliminary Plans

The firm of Bennett & Straight of Dearborn was hired Monday night by the board of education to draw up preliminary architectural plans for a new senior high school.

Eleven architectural firms were interviewed by the board during past months. The list was narrowed down to four and the board spent several weekends visiting high school buildings as far away as East Lansing that the architects had built.

Bennett & Straight has built high schools in Trenton, Ecorse and Cherry Hill districts (west of Dearborn). Their fee will be 4.6 per cent of a contract $3 million or more, and 5 per cent if it's under $3 million.

The school board last October voted to build a new high school. Since then, citizen committees have been trying to determine what should go into a new high school.

It was originally planned to put a bond issue before the public this spring, but the school board now has no target date in mind. They first want the architect to come up with tentative drawings and cost figures so that the electorate can more readily see "what they're buying."

It is expected that the

Coffee Hour For Friends of Judge Bowles Arranged

Those interested in the reelection of Circuit Court Judge George Bowles of Plymouth are being invited to attend a coffee klatch this Saturday from 9 to 10 a.m. at the Hotel Mayflower.

Nat Sibbold is chairman of the group of Plymouth friends who are arranging the affair. "All friends of the judge interested in having him continue his fine job on the bench are invited, both men and women," Sibbold said.

Judge Bowles is the only circuit judge from Western Wayne County both on the bench now and also seeking election.

But the School Facilities Committee gave it more study last December. A new high school, it is estimated, will cost $3 million. The present senior high would be used for a junior high.

In other business before the school board at its special meeting Monday, the Junior Chamber of Commerce received permission to bring in rides for the July 4th celebration behind the high school. Carnival-type concessions have been ruled out by the board but they will permit the Jaycees to contract for rides only this year.

School Bands Win Top Honors at Festivals

Plymouth High School and Junior High bands both came home Saturday night from festivals where they captured the highest honors available.

The 58-piece High School Band directed by James Griffin won the First Division honors at the District 4, Southeastern Michigan Band and Orchestra Association Festival at Birmingham.

At the same time, the 100-piece Junior High Band led by Laurence Livingston was declared a First Division winner in the Class B Junior High Festival at Willow Run.

A cheer went up and there was wild excitement as the Senior High band, waiting in the Birmingham High School hallway, saw their band listed as one of the six First Division winners. There were 16 participating in the contest.

The win entitles them to take part in the state festival at Jackson on April 18. The Band Parents Association is raising money to have the band stay in Lansing overnight.

As the required number, the band played "Prelude for Band" by William Johnston. Their own selections were "The Klaxon March" by Fille-more and "First Military Suite in E Flat" by Holst. Plymouth's band is in a category with the largest bands in the state (based on school enrollment).

The Junior High Band appeared in their new uniforms Saturday. This is the second consecutive year that the group has won the Superior First Division rating. Their win will take them to the state festival April 26 in Grand Rapids and it also will be an overnight affair.

Required playing Saturday was "Two Marches for Band" while the selected numbers were "Torch of Liberty" and "Crusaders Overture." Judges were Al Wright of Purdue, Everett Kissinger of University of Illinois, Charles Minelli of Ohio University and Leonard Meretta of Western Michigan.

Next Wednesday the band will play for Farrand School children.

To Start On Area Hospital

Ground will be broken Sunday for the new two-million-dollar Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, a facility that will undoubtedly be used by many Plymouth area residents.

The ceremony takes place at the new hospital grounds, 6245 North Inkster Rd., at 3 p.m.

The 104-bed hospital, that will serve surrounding communities of Redford Township, Livonia, Dearborn, Inkster, Wayne, Garden City, Ypsilanti, Belleville, Nankin Township and Romulus, as well as Plymouth, will be completed in August 1960.

In Audience Four Years

Two Keep Close Watch On City Commissioners

By Jim Sponseller

While most citizens in the United States visit their local governing body just when a complaint is to be made, there are two local men who have been attending Plymouth city commission meetings twice a month for over four years "just because we're interested."

They are Thomas Rossette, 551 Evergreen, and James Warren, 520 Pacific, who usher themselves into the commission chambers to the second-row-left seats twice each month almost without a miss.

They call it the "best free entertainment there is."

The two men, who live a block away from each other with their side yards facing Farmer St., started attending meetings about four and a half years ago when the commission was talking about paving Farmer St.

Delegations of citizens living along the street attended meetings at which the paving was discussed. Both Tom and Jim found the proceedings so interesting that they have continued.

Tom today believes that Farmer St. should be paved while Jim feels that it should be "surfaced" with something, but isn't sold about paying for total first class paving. The street is still unpaved.

But despite the differences of opinion on this one subject, both find they derive much from the meetings. Tom is child care director at the Wayne County Training School while Jim is printing instructor there.

They arrive at the meetings before they start and nearly always stay until the motion is passed for adjournment — an hour that sometimes is late. Often they are the only citizens in the audience besides the city department heads and the press.

Soprano to Star in Sunday's Plymouth Symphony Concert

Opera, Broadway and recording star, Marilyn Cotlow is only one of the three outstanding soloists who will assist Wayne Dunlap and the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, and the Plymouth Civic Chorus in the concert being presented this Sunday, March 1, at 4 p.m. in the Plymouth High School gymnasium.

The major work on the program is Haydn's "Creation," Parts I and II, in which the chorus and soloists will appear. Rounding out the program will be the Festival

Music from Handel's opera "Alcina" and Grant Beglarian's "Divertimento for Orchestra."

The three soloists have had extensive work in recital, opera and concert programs in the United States, and two of them have appeared with European opera companies and orchestras.

Marilyn Cotlow received her musical training in Los Angeles and went from there to New York, first appearing in Mendelssohn's "The Telephone" and later with the Metropolitan Opera.

After two seasons with them, she went to Europe to sing in opera there along with frequent concert and radio appearances for three successful years. After an interruption to raise a family, Miss Cotlow began her Detroit career in December of 1957 by singing with the Detroit Symphony under Paul Paray. Her beautiful lyric coloratura voice can be used magnificently, as it no doubt will be during the concert.

There will be a nursery provided by the Girl Scouts under Mrs. Edgar, Supervisor of games and special toys are provided for pre- and primary-school aged children. The small charge of 15 cents per child insures a happy time for the child and a worry-free time for the parents during the concert.

The proposed city is 8.3 square miles of Plymouth Township lying east of Mid-Cumpha Rd. Voters residing within the proposed city approved the incorporation proposition last week by a vote of 575 to 510.

Marilyn Cotlow will be so employed in singing the soprano role in the reverent "Creation."

Richard Miller, tenor, is currently assistant professor of voice in the Music School at the University of Michigan and has been heard on previous occasions with the Plymouth Symphony. Mr. Miller has had experience in more than 30 different opera roles. Most recently he has sung with the San Francisco Opera Co.

Prior to that he was the leading tenor with the Zurich Stadtheater for four years, during which time he totaled over 250 performances. He rounds out his duties at the University of Michigan by singing in oratorios, with symphonies and in recitals.

Plymouth's Nat Sibbold is well known in the area for his singing in churches, with the Symphony and at the annual "Pops Concert."

His warmth and sincerity in singing have endeared him to the music lovers in the entire area. Besides these singing dates, Mr. Sibbold is employed by WWJ-TV in Detroit.

As usual, those people desiring reserved seats for the concert should call Mrs. Hattie Randall, GL 3-1826 by the Saturday before the concert.

There will be a nursery provided by the Girl Scouts under Mrs. Edgar, Supervisor of games and special toys are provided for pre- and primary-school aged children. The small charge of 15 cents per child insures a happy time for the child and a worry-free time for the parents during the concert.

Charter Commission Headed by Garber

The newly-elected charter commissioners selected to draft a charter for the proposed City of Plymouth Heights held their organizational meeting Tuesday night and selected Ralph Garber, 46225 N. Territorial Rd., as their chairman.

They also elected Claude Rocker, 8851 Morrison, as secretary-treasurer.

Elected Feb. 9 at the primary election, the nine-member charter commission was sworn in two days later during a brief ceremony at the Plymouth Township hall.

They plan to meet "as often as necessary" to draft the charter, Garber stated.

The chairman added that the commission will go by the state manual in preparing the charter, a job that law states should be completed within 90 days. Electors must then approve the char-

Grange Cleanings

The Open House meeting of last Thursday evening was well attended. Several new faces were seen and we hope they will come again. The program and light lunch were particularly good.

There will be Pomona here on March 10. It originally was to have been on February 10, however, due to the conditions of the roads it was postponed. Light lunch follows, so bring your own table service and cake, cookies, jello or sandwiches.

The Rummage sale is Saturday at the Grange Hall which will be open Friday from 1 to 4:30 p.m. You may bring your donations right to the hall.

Our meeting next Thursday night will be of special interest. Degree work will be put on and is always interesting. New candidates and new members should naturally be present.

Quite a sum was realized for the treasury from the Stanley party.

NEWS BEAT

Several men claiming they represent an organization for the blind have been trying to bilk local residents lately, the Chamber of Commerce reports. Selling small items such as ironing board pads, they find a husband, son or daughter at home and tell them that the woman of the house had ordered merchandise that they are now delivering and which must be paid for. Or, they find someone not home, go next door and ask the neighbor to pay for the merchandise as a neighborly favor. This works particularly good in duplex homes and apartments. The salesmen aren't blind but claim they are selling products made by the blind. Usually just a small amount of the merchandise is purchased from the blind.

Jaycees To Build Model C.B.D. Plan

The Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce, at their February membership meeting, voted an appropriation of $250 to build and present to the city, a scale model of the proposed Central Business District.

The C.B.D. plan, the result of a survey by Vilcan-Leman and Associates, special city planning consultants, is to develop the downtown area into a business and cultural center.

Mayor Harold Guenther was present at the meeting to explain the city's views on how the model should follow the proposed layout, and yet maintain Plymouth's identity. He stressed the value of the model as a selling aid of the plan to private investors and to the public as a 3-dimensional view of the 60-acre site.

Ray Layman, Jaycee chairman of the project, reports he has already received the site blueprint from the designers, and work will begin soon on the land layout. The model will feature pilot lights, synchronized with a tape recorder to automatically explain the site development.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 14 of Ordinance No. 157, as amended, entitled, "An Ordinance for safeguarding life and property by regulating and providing for the inspection of the installation and maintenance of electric wiring, electric devices and electric material; to provide for the licensing and registration of electrical contractors and the licensing of journeyman electricians in the City of Plymouth; to provide a reciprocal arrangement for the recognition of examinations and licenses issued by other municipalities in the State of Michigan; to provide a penalty for violations thereof; and to repeal ordinance No. 98 (as amended by Ordinance No. 109) and all other ordinances and sections of ordinances in conflict herewith of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, is hereby amended and paragraphs thereof numbered as sections, said section as amended and numbered to read as follows:

Section 14.1 LICENSE. No person, partnership or corporation shall provide for or engage in the installation, alteration, repair or maintenance of electrical equipment, wiring or apparatus in the City of Plymouth, Michigan, without first having obtained from the Board of Examiners an Electrical Contractor's or Journeyman's license (except helpers and apprentices permitted by the rules of the Board of Examiners), except that no license shall be required in order to execute or perform any of the classes of electrical work specified in the following paragraphs.

1. Minor repair or maintenance, including minor repairs of flush and snap switches, replacement of fuses, changing of lamp sockets and receptacles, taping bare joint or repair of dross cords, or the connection of approved portable devices.
2. Installation, alteration or repair of electrical equipment installed on the premises of consumers by public utilities companies supplying the electrical energy for the use of such utility company.
3. Any installation of electrical equipment in a single family dwelling and accompanying out-buildings owned and occupied by the person performing the installation, alteration or repair of such electrical equipment where provision is made for inspection of the completed installation of electrical equipment by an inspector having jurisdiction.
4. Installation, alteration or repair of electrical equipment in factories or other establishments regularly employing qualified electricians for that purpose.
5. Installing of radio receiving sets and equipment. (The installation of convenience outlets for power supply to a radio set shall be subject to such rules and regulations.)

Section 14.2 RECIPROACITY. The City of Plymouth shall permit Electrical Contractors lawfully licensed by other municipalities of the State of Michigan to install, alter or repair electrical wiring, equipment, apparatus or fixtures for light, heat or power purposes within the corporate limits of the City of Plymouth upon payment of a registration fee as determined by resolution of the City Commission, provided that such municipalities reciprocate in recognizing Electrical Contractors who are duly licensed under the provisions of this ordinance by granting them the same privilege and charging the same uniform license and registration fees, and provided further, that their licensing ordinances are substantially equal to the requirements of this ordinance. Journeyman electricians duly licensed by any municipality cooperating in the reciprocal arrangement shall be permitted to work in the City of Plymouth without payment of a registration fee, provided, however, that any journeyman electrician doing work within the City of Plymouth and holding a license from a cooperating municipality, shall register with the City Board of Examiners. No Electrical Contractors' licenses shall be recognized for the purpose of registration by the City of Plymouth of applicants who maintain their principal place of business in a municipality which fails to approve, by affirmative action of its legislative body the reciprocal and mutually interchangeable licensing arrangements covered by this ordinance.

Section 14.3 APPLICATION FOR LICENSE. Each application for a license pursuant to this ordinance shall be made in writing to the Manager and by him referred to the Board of Examiners, on a form prescribed by the Board of Examiners. Application for a Contractor's license shall include the name of the licensed electrician representing the applicant who will act as supervisor for all work to be done under the license. The license fee shall accompany the applications.

Section 14.4 QUALIFICATION FOR LICENSE. The designated representative of each applicant for a contractor's or journeyman's license shall be examined to determine his knowledge of the required standard for electrical equipment and its installation and to determine the general qualifications and fitness of the applicant for executing work to be done under the class of license applied for. The Board of Examiners shall conduct such examination or authorize the applicant to be examined by the examining board of another municipality cooperating in the reciprocal arrangement set forth in this section, and in this event at least one member of the Board of Examiners shall be present at the examination. To be eligible for an Electrical Contractor's license, the person, firm or corporation applying for the same must have at least one individual duly qualified as a competent electrician in its employ at all times. To be eligible for a journeyman license the applicant shall be twenty-one years of age or over and shall have had practical, trade or technical school experience acceptable to the Board. Examinations for such licenses may be oral, written or such practical tests as the Board of Examiners shall determine. A complete record of every examination shall be kept on file for at least three years.

Section 14.5 LICENSE FEES. Before a license is granted to any applicant, the applicant shall pay to the Treasurer of the City of Plymouth a fee for registration or license as determined by resolution of the City Commission. Each license shall expire on December 31 following the date of its issuance and shall be renewed by the Board of Examiners without examination upon application of the holder of the license and payment of the required fee at any time before the date of expiration or within 60 days thereafter.

Section 14.6 REVOCATION OR SUSPENSION. Any Electrical Contractor's or Journeyman's license may, after a hearing, be suspended or revoked by the Board of Examiners upon evidence presented that false statements have been made in the application for license, or upon evidence presented that the holder of such license willfully or by reason of incompetence has violated the rules and regulations relating to inspection, alteration, maintenance and repair.

Section 2. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 10th day of March A.D., 1959.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, this 16th day of February A.D., 1959.

New Cunningham Store Features 'Pen'

The newest Cunningham's "Self-Service, Pic 'N Pay" store, featuring the check-out system of operating, opens today in Dearborn's newest business district. The Westborn Shopping Center, reports President Ches B. Larsen.

Located at Michigan and Outer Drive, the new store is the fifth unit in Dearborn and one of the 143 in operation at the present time in the State of Michigan. Cunningham Drug Stores, Inc., currently have over 223 stores operating in the United States which comprises one of the largest drug chains in the world.

The new store here is part of the Cunningham firm's expansion and modernization program for many additional new stores contemplated for 1959 and many existing stores slated for remodeling in areas throughout Michigan.

The new store, one of thirty Pic 'N Pay units, equals the area of 22 railroad freight cars, features a front that is 30 percent glass and streamlines drug store shopping. Eye-appealing and functional, the newest Cunningham's features wide aisles, fluorescent lighting, and modern display fixtures. Over 30 complete shopping departments help customers to do "one-stop shopping."

The self-service departments enables shoppers to select items desired, place them in a shopping cart and pay for all purchases at a check-out stand.

One of the newest innovations in drug stores today has been adopted by Cunningham's Westborn store. A combination of check-out stand, cigar, tobacco and candy counter has been constructed, called the "Bull Pen." Combined together, these 5 departments service the customer much faster and efficiently. The "Bull Pen" is a square construction with displays of merchandise and cash register checkout stand. The sales clerks can walk around aisles to service customers from all sides. It has a display canopy overhead with background lights for merchandise to be selected from as well as regular counter space.

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor:
My name is Silvano Salvador, recently nominated as candidate for the office of Treasurer for the Township of Plymouth. I have, in recent months, made a study of the position in question and feel compelled to reveal to the people a situation heretofore and presently condoned by Mr. Roy Lindsay, (present office holder) and Mr. E. A. Demel, his advisor.

The Administration has during the period of Lindsay's tenure in office (6 years) condoned the payment of approximately $15,000 per year to the Township Treasurer as compensation for the position.

This is a greater sum than that received by any State elective officer in our great state, with the exception of the office of Governor. The Auditor General himself has collected approximately half of this sum for handling the finances of the entire state.

I believe the present policy, "the less the voters know about the workings in the Township Hall, the better off everybody will be," has cost the citizens of Plymouth Township a sum which very well could have furnished many badly needed facilities, such as, police protection or even a reduction in the present tax.

I pledge and wish to go on record for the proposition that if elected, immediate steps will be taken to put the office of Township Treasurer on a flat salary basis. This will mean a savings to the people of the Township of approximately 50 percent of the sum presently paid under the Lindsay - Demel administration.

It is further my intention to change the present policy that prevails and make available to the voters, all facts and figures on our Township Government. This would have put an early end to the hidden $15,000 per year Treasurer compensation condoned by Lindsay.

Silvano Salvador

Editor:
The results of last week's incorporation vote in Plymouth Township show rather conclusively that there is an element in this community which would subvert all civic progress to selfish ends. It also shows the deep chasm that exists. The thought of someday blending the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township into one efficient, planned community was dealt another blow, possibly the coup de grace.

Therefore, I say, it is time for the City of Plymouth to look to its own interests and plan its survival accordingly.

If this segment of Plymouth Township wishes to exert the strangulation of an industrial tax base upon Plymouth, while still enjoying the blessings of a planned community, governed by men who have the well-being of the community at heart and not their own selfish interests, I say, let them go their separate way. Their children and our children shall reap the whirlwind that has been sown.

I propose, and with many backers, that the Community School System of Plymouth be abolished. Let those who would take all and give nothing, provide for the education of their own children.

Let the Township Officials who have made the bed explain to their constituents why they still have septic tanks and seepage beds, mud-flats and un-paved roads, inadequate fire and police protection, and no community water supply. Why a duplication of all services are necessary for a well planned community.

Salem Barn Burns; Four Farm Bureaus Dine

By Mrs. Herbert Famuliner, FI. 9-0924
The Salem Fire Dept. answered a call at 6:50 a.m. Friday morning, when the barn at the William Wright farm was destroyed by fire. The Wrights live on Seven Mile Rd. near Dixboro Rd. The Fire Dept. also answered a call Saturday morning at the Griffith home on Six Mile Rd., when the chimney caught on fire.

The Dutch Hill Grocery at Pontiac Trail and North Territorial Rd., will be under new ownership. Mrs. Edith Clouse of Eight Mile Rd., is the new owner and the store will be known as the Edith's Grocery.

Salem Milkmen known as DUCKY'S Colonial Snack Shop 575 S. Lilley Road. Open 9 A.M. To 7:30 P.M. Monday Through Friday

The Salem Local of the Michigan Milk Producers will hold their annual meeting March 3rd, at the Salem Town Hall, beginning with a dinner at 12 noon for all members and their wives. Guest speakers will be Norman Peterson, director of Membership Relations, and Herman Koenn, Price Committeeman. All members are urged to attend this important meeting.

Salem Community group, Suburban, Worden and N.E.W. Farm Bureaus enjoyed a bang-up dinner, which featured meat loaf, scalloped potatoes, vegetables, salads with numerous cakes, and pies for dessert. The program began with Jack Renwick, leading the group in the pledge to the flag and the Farm Bureau Creed. Mr. Steele read a letter from the Washtenaw County Hospital Auxiliary requesting help in the work of caring for the pleasures of the inmates. Anyone interested can contact the group secretary for details. Mrs. Lutchka led the group in a song, assisted at the piano by Mrs. Ralph Wilson. Mr. Herbert Conant introduced the speaker, Robert Trombly, his mother and sisters. He showed the group some beautiful colored slides of different laces in Germany. Bob was one of 144 teenagers who left Ann Arbor by air last summer, through the help of the Ann Arbor Washtenaw Council of Churches. They landed at Amsterdam, and separated to the different parts of Germany where the family they were to live with resided. Bob's "family" lived in Kiel, which is a shipbuilding town near the Baltic Sea. He visited schools for three days, telling the students of life in America. He found that students in the higher grades all are taught English, so he found no language barrier. He remained with the family for eight weeks then traveled through the Black Forest, and just before he was to leave Europe, he visited the Brussels World Fair, where he took pictures of the American, Russian, German and French buildings. The building erected by Thailand looked as though it was an old shrine. Everyone thought it interesting that in the city of Kiel there are very few single dwellings. Only the very rich can afford them. Most everyone lives in an apartment building because of land shortage. Bob answered questions from the group after his talk.

Week - Long Conference begins at Salem Federated Church. Conference speaker Sunday through Tuesday will be Rev. Allen Finley, representing International Students Inc. Next Sunday will be called International Students Day and the Federated Church will be host to several international students from University of Michigan. These students will be entertained for dinner in the homes of church congregation families with the hope expressed that each family will maintain contact with the students in the interest of future fellowship. Students will also receive a lunch in the church basement prior to the evening service. International Students, Inc. is an organization working through foreign students attending colleges and universities throughout the United States to further Christian teaching. Speakers scheduled for the week, in addition to Rev. Finley, include Rev. and Mrs. Paul Barnett from African Inland Mission on Wednesday; Miss Esther Hoyt of the Belgium Gospel Mission on Thursday; and Mr. Herbert Hopper from the West Indies Mission on Friday. A Youth Rally in which all the missionaries and cooperating churches will take part will be held at the Calvary Baptist Church in Plymouth Saturday, Feb. 28, at 7:45 p.m. Sunday morning March 1 Rev. Robert Russell of the Wycliffe Translators will be the speaker at the Morning Worship Service. Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Hood of the Latin American Mission will describe their activities at the Evening Service on Sunday. All missionaries will show slides, films and curios of their work in the mission field. There will be an Open House Wednesday, Feb. 25 at 9:00 Six Mile Road in honor of the 91st birthday of George Roberts.

Belleville has a nice gym. We have a nice gym. Belleville has many seats in their gym. We have many seats in our gym. Belleville has fans in the seats in their gym. WE DON'T. This has been the case all season. Maybe the fans cost extra.

There are a few who stick by the team. And they have all season. It means a great deal to the coaches and players to see friendly faces when you've played your heart out and then lost.

Jim Doyle has taken a group of athletes lacking in height and basketball experience, and turned them into a working team. Players who are able to fight with the best and able to go off the floor proud even if they didn't win the game.

Instead of standing on the street corner complaining because the team isn't winning, why don't you stop in at the Plymouth high gym this Friday evening and cheer the team on?

There are cries of dirty pool for the high school swimming pool. It seems Percy and Herman are having troubles again. (Percy and Herman are the two individuals that are swimming in Lansing in the pool.) It seems that Herman is moving the pins back. Herman, I think, is a confirmed denier.

Jack Carter just informed me that a team from the 18 and Under Basketball League is to play in the near city finals in the near future. The Heide's team is the first team to represent us in four or five years, according to the reports that reach me.

Rocks and Tigers Battle, Bulldogs Here Tomorrow

A nip and tuck battle kept the fans glued to the game as the Rocks lost to Belleville 58-54 in Tigerland Friday night.

Height and experience took their toll as once again Plymouth was forced to take the short end of a score. Only this time four points out of the winner's spotlight instead of many as at the start of the year.

Tomorrow night's game, here in Plymouth, is the last game of the regular season for the Rocks. Ahead in tournament ball.

The last meeting between Plymouth and Bentley proved to be a close game. It was during this game that the Rocks and Bulldogs matched field goals. Bentley then proceeded to dump in five more foul shots than the local five to take the contest.

Belleville was forced to use all their ability to stem the Rock tide. Plymouth was a never more than four points out of the game. The first half ended 25-21, Belleville.

After the usual half time pep talks, both teams took to the floor playing a hard fast 16 minutes of ball.

Plymouth and Belleville traded 20 points in the fourth stanza as the Rocks moved to within two points, 54-56.

Randy Egloff and Wade Schultheiss carried the score-

Reserve Squad Downed By One Point, 53-52

The Rock J.V. squad suffered a bitter one point defeat at Belleville Friday night 53-52.

The local fans who traveled to Belleville were kept on the edge of their seats, as for 31 minutes the fate of the game see-sawed back and forth.

Plymouth took a three point lead at the end of the first quarter and came out on top for the next two. The scoring in the first and fourth stanzas were direct opposite.

Plymouth 17, Belleville 14; Plymouth 14, Belleville 17.

The half ended with the local five out front 28-27. In the last quarter the score changed hands numerous times with the crowd shouting their approval.

Argo collected six field goals and five charity throws for 17 points to pace the Rocks. He was followed by Palmer and Salan with 11 and Mynatt with 10.

Davis was high man for Belleville as he tallied 17 points on five field goals and seven free throws.

Emerson Last Game For Freshmen Team

The freshmen rolled over Belleville 55-31 by holding the visitors to eleven points in the first half.

Sandmann's charges showed both offensive and defensive know how as they outscored and held the Tigers' score down in all four stanzas.

Belleville tried a fourth quarter rally but by this time the Rocks had compiled too large a lead to be beaten. It was during this fourth stanza that Belleville scored 15 points, more than they had scored in the entire first half.

Emerson is the freshmen target for tomorrow night. This is also the last game of the season. Last meeting the little Rocks defeated the boys from Emerson, but it is expected, by the people in the know, that this game could be a closer contest.

Dart was high man for the Rocks with 14 tallies on five field goals and four free throws.

Anderson of Belleville paced the Tigers with 14 points also, collected on six field goals and two charity line marks.

New Race Stakes For Northville Downs

Northville Downs officials have announced a series of seven stakes for the 1959 campaign — the most ever for the half-mile harness track.

Northville's 36-night meeting opens on June 22 and continues through August 1.

The list of seven stakes begins with the $10,000 added HTA pace on Saturday, June 27, to a kickoff opening week with a big bang. The Invitational, which packs a value of $5,000, is scheduled for Friday, July 3.

The Northville trot is slated on Wednesday, July 8 with a value of $3,500. The $3,500 Northville pace follows on Wednesday, July 15.

Then the ante goes up with the $4,000 Wolverine on July 22 and the $4,000 Wayne County on Wednesday, July 29.

The early closing stakes program winds up with the $5,000 Tri-Meet pace, for horses that started and were non-winners of $20,000 in 1958, on Friday, July 31.

Cars vs Bows In Deer Kills

LANSING, Feb. — Automobiles killed approximately 3,058 deer in Michigan during 1958, marking the third consecutive year that highway deer kill totals have reached the 3,000 level.

Although kill figures are not available from last year's archery season, it is quite likely that deer losses from auto accidents will surpass these hunting totals, as has been the case since 1954.

Heaviest deer losses were recorded on northern lower peninsula highways where 1,204 were killed. Elsewhere, autos killed 968 deer in the upper peninsula and 834 in the southern lower peninsula.

In 1920, there were an estimated 8,000 college graduates in the United States.

I'M IN LOVE WITH JACK SELLE

Dear Diary —

Today I met Jack Selle (sigh), It's the most wonderful day of my life.

I always thought I had to buy one of the small size cars.

Then I met "The Man" (Jack Selle) and "The Car" (Buick) and when I saw "The Price" I knew I found the man with the car for me.

Jack sells Buicks for less than some models of the small size three . . . and not a stripped down Buick either. Anybody can get the details, just call Jack Selle (sigh).

Mrs. Brisbois Is New Cancer Society Head

Mrs. H. J. Brisbois, former vice-president, has assumed the office of president of the Plymouth branch of the American Cancer Society left vacant by the resignation of Charles Wyse. Wyse has been transferred recently to Washington D.C., by his employers. The chapter met Monday night.

Mrs. S. E. LeFever and Mrs. Frederick Tanner, with the assistance of Tom Patek, Western Wayne Field Representative, have been appointed to prepare a budget to be presented to the local Community Chest Board.

A number of local people attended a Crusade Kickoff meeting in Dearborn last night, February 25, called by Thomas R. Redi, director of Civic Affairs for Ford Motor Company and chairman of the 1959 April Crusade for Western Wayne Unit.

Mrs. Brisbois announces that almost 2,000 dressings were dispensed to patients last month. She is also appealing for office volunteers. Anyone interested in giving some time for this work may call Mrs. Brisbois at her home or may call the local Cancer Unit office.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

It's a unique meeting in Plymouth these days where someone doesn't bring up the subject of a new high school.

If we need one, where should it go? Should Junior High cover grades 7 through 9 and high school 10 through 12, or does that mean too much duplication of facilities? Maybe 7-8, 9-12 is a better split?

If a new high school is raised on the outskirts of town, what shape will our present high school neighborhood be in 10 years from now?

And so on. The Mail on Dec. 25 presented a review of some Board of Education thinking on the problems. To condense, it appears that the Board majority favors building a new high school on the rim of the city, while turning the present high school into another junior high.

I believe the whole matter could be brought more thoroughly to the public before any final decision is reached.

We believe a thorough, comprehensive plan should be prepared by the Board which would explore the theme of a central "high school campus" on the present site.

This should be complete with what it would cost to acquire the Veteran's Building, the Methodist Church land, and any other that properly would fall into a well-plotted "campus."

In the study, of course, would go the construction costs for additional space to house (a) A total high school enrollment of 1,500 students, or (b) An enrollment of 2,000.

It would include the relatively small cost of relocating the outdoor athletic facilities somewhere on the outskirts.

All of this, it seems to me, should be analyzed down to smallest details and presented to the public before any move is made.

As regular readers will detect, with this high school problem as with others, I am concerned about improving the "heart" of Plymouth.

To merely abandon the present facilities as "too small and too old" and move out to a new neighborhood is not helping in the general goal of restoring and revitalizing the central core of Plymouth.

And, even if it should cost a little more (I don't have even a vague idea that it does) it might well be that the total long-range gains to the community would be worth it.

If we are to clean out old housing and modernize the business section, it doesn't seem particularly reasonable to abandon our biggest school area to undergo the ravages of time and ultimately be abandoned—in the very center of the community.

As for total size of the ideal high school, there is an abundance of recent professional thinking which says that to go to 2,000 pupils is preferable to cutting off at the 1,000 mark because of the heavy expense of erecting the same facilities twice. Laboratories, gymnasiums, kitchens, lockers and large playgrounds are extremely costly when bought in pairs.

The Mail would not be opposed to the Board of Education contacting the same planners who prepared the Urban Renewal and Downtown Redevelopment programs and ask them to propose a "campus" which would coordinate with the other plans. We would like school officials to contact—directly—the owners of adjoining parcels and see exactly what the land acquisition would cost.

There is one important difference between the Schools entering this kind of planning, and the City. The Schools have the money to spend—they must get it. There is a school problem to be solved quickly.

The decision is where and how to spend the money.

The public has an open mind, but it hungers for more facts.

Ex-Communist Louis Budenz To Speak at Madonna College

Louis F. Budenz, noted lecturer and writer, will speak on Communism and Communist tactics in a lecture at Madonna College Sunday, March 8, 7:30 p.m., in DeSales auditorium. Admission for the public is $1.

Since 1946, Mr. Budenz has appeared under government subpoena in 60 trials dealing with Communists. He testified against J. Peters, the man who directed espionage for the Communists, and also appeared before the House Committee on Un-American Activities in the early hearings investigating the Alger Hiss case.

In 1945 Mr. Budenz left the Communist party to return to the Catholic Church. At that time he was managing editor of the Daily Worker, official daily organ of the Communist party. He was also the president of the corporation publishing that paper, and a member of the national committee of the Communist party.

MAYBE THIS PICTURE has hidden meaning, maybe not. At the Chamber of Commerce dinner honoring local industry this week, a sign stood on the speakers' table urging the industrialists, "Let's Get Together." At the end of the dinner, The Mail's photographer suggested the sign be used as a prop between Supervisor or Roy Lindsay (left) of Plymouth Township and Mayor Harold Guenther (right) of the City. Charles Stofko, general manager of Barnes-Gibson-Raymond was the man in the middle. Anyhow, everybody posed pleasantly. As to the facial expressions, we leave to our readers to interpret as they will.

Two Keep Close Watch

the many and varied problems the city commission must solve every year," Jim commented as he looked back on four years. "To attend is just another way to get a well-rounded education."

Tom, who calls his attendance "just a hobby," observed that the reason many people attend are because they are irritated over something. "They haven't attended a commission meeting in five years but suddenly they become irritated and come. They practically accuse the commission of being a bunch of crooks. They really don't mean it. But they should be more consistent in their attendance and find out the problems before speaking."

What do the two observers think of the caliber of the commissioners over the years? Jim believes that on a whole they are earnestly trying to solve problems as fairly as possible. "I agree with them on about 90 percent of their decisions," he added.

Tom agreed, but believes that there should be more non-businessmen running for the commission to provide a "balance." He especially praised Mayor Harold Guenther who makes it a point to see that every citizen attending the various hearings gets a chance to speak.

"What surprises me more than anything else," Tom declared, "is that not once since I've been here have I seen high school government classes attending. It's inconceivable to me that attendance of at least one of these meetings isn't compulsory."

To Start Area

Plans were begun in November 1957 to add facilities to the two existing hospitals. The campaign for funds was started on October 11, 1958 when Gov. G. Mennen Williams announced the grant of $500,000 to the project through the Office of Hospital Survey and Construction.

The balance of funds were obtained through a fund drive in communities served by the hospital, the staff doctors and a loan from the National Bank of Detroit. A number of the contributors were Plymouthites.

Addressing the audience Sunday will be Mayor James Tierney, mayor of Garden City; Dr. John Baker, chairman of the building and finance committee; Dr. Alfred Lennon, chairman of the staff; Dr. Robert Ogden, president of the board of Garden City-Ridgewood Osteopathic Hospitals, and Adolf Roessling, architect from the firm of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls.

People from surrounding communities as well as all contributors are invited to attend the event.

White admits fighting but denies any knife. Police say that a friend of Myers was the only one nearby. Myers walked to Main St. where a police car was waiting for a traffic signal. Police took him to Schrader's Funeral Home where an ambulance rushed him to Wayne County General Hospital. It took 47 stitches to sew up two cuts on the back, 24 stitches for a neck wound and one stitch for a stab in the left shoulder. There was also a cut on the left wrist. He was later released. White, who has lived at several addresses here and has a criminal record, was not located until Monday when he appeared at the Michigan Employment office. Police had alerted the office only a few hours earlier.

Noted Book Reviewer Speaks at Good Counsel

Reverend Francis X. Canfield delivered a lecture this past week on the influence of books in the average man's life. Father Canfield is head librarian at Sacred Heart Seminary, Detroit, weekly book reviewer for the "Michigan Catholic" and contributor to the national periodicals, "America" and "Critic".

An enthused group of parishioners from Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church listened for two hours as the speaker commented on the subjects of television and books, the value of fiction in literature, norms for evaluating various titles, the necessity of books in the formation of character, and his estimation of several authors and their writings.

"Reading maketh a full man" remains as true today as it did in the time of Bacon," remarked Father Canfield. "And so the need becomes ever more obvious that if we are to have, to live a larger dimension in this world, it must come through the medium of books."

To judge a book "Objective charity; recognition of sin for what it is; any objectional portion to be evaluated by the whole; lack of detailed description of sin to pose a problem; these are the standard norms for judging, a particular work in its relation to literature as an art."

In commenting on family reading habits, he stated "Parents are very definitely the avenue of culture and refinement for their children; marks could be summarized by saying that Evelyn Waugh is perhaps the best of present day English writers; Mauriac by far the best in the realistic French; Horgan and Vann in America.

Hundreds of other queries were voiced through the course of the evening with the resultant conclusion that "for the educated, mature person reading of books is essential."

Winners of the Elk Leadership Contest have been announced... local victors in the girl's division are seniors Mary Jane West and Bette Argo, who tied for the award. Both will receive a check for $25.00.

The winner of $25.00 in the boy's division was senior Glyn Norton. Junior Randy Egloff was runner-up — he received $15.00.

Congrats, kids!

Did you see PHS'ers carting around bundles of clothing? They are headed for the P.A. room of the high school, (that's the ex-office of Assistant Principal Gustave Gorzue) the headquarters for the annual Save the Children Federation bundle drive.

Heading the drive in this community are members of the Student Council and the Future Homemakers Association. All kinds of useable clothing is welcomed," said Doty Grabowski, President of PHA, adding that "your good, donated clothing is needed now, in this country and overseas."

In the last column we promised to let you in on the cast for the Second All School play of the year, 'Arsenic and Old Lace', to be presented March 19 and 20.

Casting for the production was held at 3:30 February 11, 12 and 13, under the supervision of Director Robert Southgate and assistants Claudia Kessler and Jeanette Ridley, both seniors.

Selected for the two spinners, Abby and Martha were Lynn Walters and Gwen Scharl. Jim McCabe will play the drama critic, Morine; Sally Sawyer will play Morine's girl friend, Elaine. Jonathan and Doctor Einstein, the two criminals, will be played by Joe Calhoun and Jeff Hunington, respectively.

Others slated for roles in "Arsenic and Old Lace" are Teddy, Bob Wall; Doctor Harper, Lester Barston; Mr. Witherspoon, Norman Lendhart; Lt. Rooney, Bob Westover; Officer O'Hara, Hale Huber; Officer Brophy, Steve Bullington; and Officer Kline, Dave Jaskerney.

Chosen for behind-the-scenes action are these committee heads: April Corey and assistant Alice Olendorf; art, Brenda Richardson and Geralee Rehbein; tickets, Linda Cracker and Georgina Daubresse; costumes; John Van Dyke and Bill Jones; backstage; Janet Willoughby, make-up; Ann May; and Mary Jane Readman, publicity; Susan Campbell and Jim Kaiser, properties; and Jim Cutler and Gordon Jewell on sound.

Mary Jane West and Bob Westover were among the many PHS'ers who took Scholarship Qualifying tests in October. But they were the only two from this school who qualified as candidates for the 1959 National Honor Society Scholarships.

45,548 took the test; MJ and Bob were among 2,513 who obtained a score of 142 or higher. As finalists, the two will take a General Aptitude test to be given here on March 10 (from 8:45 a.m. to 10:30!).

Both MJ and Bob boast "A" averages.

Member when "Time" named Charles DeGaulle the Man of the Year?

Before this selection was announced, Miss Gertrude Fiegel asked her American History students, "Who will be the man of the year?" The question was put to a vote and results were shipped to "Time."

It was recently revealed that "Time" editors and the PHS history students were in accord — for their accuracy the class received a colorful book published by "Life," "America's Arts and Skills." Each of the students who voted for De Gaulle received a perpetual calendar — good until 1985.

Students also took a 'Time' current events test. Junior Bob Wall was top scorer with 97 questions correct out of 105. His reward is a world atlas.

Most high school Student Councils are tearing their hair out for ideas to make money — Plymouth's Council is bothered by problems on how to spend it!

A check for $240, representing the accumulated interest invested from the General Student Activity Fund, was handed over to the Council recently.

The fund, which usually contains anywhere from $10,000 to $25,000 consists of all the treasuries of the 60 school clubs and classes. Approximately $8,000 of this is invested each year at 3 per cent interest and that money is turned over to the Student Council.

The Council treasury now holds $951.18 — anybody got any brilliant ideas on what to do with it?

Won't be long till the class of '59 is no longer with us... seniors have been making preparations for graduation since September... latest on the list of activities is the checking of names for diplomas; seniors have also been giving orders for graduation announcements.

Why does every Plymouth High student have to pay a dollar a year for class dues? $.60 of every student's class dues goes to "Pilgrim Prints." Surprisingly enough, this money accounts for only a small portion of the paper's total intake. The remaining $.40 is put to use for class projects. Seniors, of course, have more expenses than the freshmen. But all classes must have some capital to even begin money-making projects.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: I am a 13-year-old junior high school student. All the kids at school who are popular smoke, lie, defy their parents and are filthy-dirty. Even the school student-president is that way. They are the ones who go to the dances, are chosen for everything and have the most fun. Anyone not like them is called names and laughed at. I have been with them and recently I got into trouble with my parents for disobeying them. I want to stop going with these kids, but I'm afraid I won't have any friends if I do. The decent kids seem immature and are no fun. They never go to dances. How can I be decent, have fun and still be popular?"

Ans.—TRY TO FIND—or make—a happy medium between the two extremes... the ones who smoke, lie, etc., and the decent ones who are left out of the fun.

Try to find some of the decent girls and boys who feel as you do. They probably want to take part in school activities and have fun without getting into trouble and looking like inmates of a ho-bocamp.

Form a group or a club of your own. Give a series of parties at home; go in a group to school events, "y" and community activities... Then when the others call names or leave you out, it won't matter, because you'll have your own crowd and fun. Ask parents to help, explaining what you are trying to do—have normal, wholesome school activities and social life. Perhaps some parents will get together and help with plans, a meeting place, parties, Saturday night get-togethers, etc. Good luck! You deserve it.

(For help with personal problems, write to Elinor Williams at this paper. As many letters as possible will be printed in this column.)

Ice Blanket May Harm Water Level

ANN ARBOR - The layer of ice now covering large portions of the Midwest may prevent proper build up of ground water levels and if we have a warm, dry spring, farmers could be in difficulty.

That's the word from the Meteorological Laboratories at the University of Michigan, where it is pointed out that the large reservoir of water below ground must be recharged during the winter to help provide water for dry spells in spring and summer.

SHELDEN SHOPPING CENTER Plymouth at Farmington
TELECRAFT SHOPPING PLAZA Telegraph at 7-GRAND SHOPPING CENTER

Frozen Earth Slows Things, But Wonderland Rising

If you think this has been a hard, cold, icy winter for driving and walking, you should be trying to build a multi-million-dollar shopping center.

Contractors for the huge Wonderland Shopping Center under construction in Livonia, third in size among such projects in Michigan say this has been the worst construction winter in 82 years. Thousands of dollars have been spent for thawing iron-hard frozen ground so that the tons of special concrete, also more expensive, can be poured.

You pour concrete on frozen ground and it will crack and buckle as the ground thaws and gives. But when you have to thaw out several acres, frozen more than five feet deep, with gas burners, it's not only costly, it's time consuming.

And so far, the contractors say they're four weeks behind schedule. But now that they've got the major portion of the concrete work done they hope to catch up the lost time putting in the structural steel—if only old man winter doesn't come up with some more surprises.

It is planned that the huge center will be completed and ready for its grand opening by Oct. 15, according to Julius Lev, administrative assistant to developers Henry S. Alper and Abe Green. Of course, many of the stores will be open before this.

There's even some possibility that the grocery stores there will open some time in June.

It is expected there will be close to 80 major stores and service shops (repair stores, travel agency, etc.) spread over 56 acres at the corner of Middlebelt and Plymouth Rds. with parking for 5,000 cars. So far, leases have been signed for 41 stores.

Anchoring the big development will be a two-story Montgomery Ward store that is believed to be one-third larger than any other store in the nation-wide chain. It will have 225,000 square feet of floor space and all the stores together will cover 600,000 square feet.

A 15-TON CRANE is raised to the second floor of the Montgomery Ward store under construction at the new Wonderland Shopping center. It will be used to erect 700 tons of structural steel going into the second story.

THIS VIEW LOOKING WEST from Montgomery Ward's shows basement excavations for two stores and the east wall of the big Federal Department store.

But this is not only a "Wonderland" of Commerce but a wonderland of beauty, too. There will be five decorative pools and malls and leading artists and sculptors have been asked to submit designs. An example of their ingenuity was given by Lev.

Deciding that a blank, 80-foot wall on the Federal Store wouldn't be too attractive, a design was worked out where by using different colored bricks in a pre-determined pattern, the wall could be transformed into a beautiful mural.

L.G. Redstone and Allen Agree Associates are the architects for Wonderland and Perron Construction Co. and Walter L. Couse Co. are the general contractors.

Stores already lined up to go into the shopping center are:

- Brothers Delicatessen, Artistic Permanent Wave Shop, Children's Fashion Shop, Cunningham Drug Store, Baker Shoe Store, Dunn's Camera Shop, Elliott Travel Service, Fanny Farmer Candies, Father & Son Shoe Store, Fenley's Draperies, Federal Department Store, Food Fair Super Market, Gay Top Beauty Salon, Good Housekeeping Shop, Hughes & Hatcher, Kinney Stores.

- S.S. Kresge Company, Leib Brothers Mens Wear, Marianne Women's Shop, Mary Jane Shoe Store, Montgomery Ward, Thom McAn Shoes, Raimi's Draperies, Rashti Children's Wear, Richman Brothers Clothes, Rose Jewelry, Morton Roth Optometrist, Fred Sanders, Irving Seldes Powder Box, Singer Sewing Machine Company, United Shirt Distributors, Vanity Fair Shops.

- Winkleman's, Woolworth's, Wrigley Super Market, Zueback's, Peter F. Zurek Barber Shop, Frank Jaworski Sausage Company, Tie Rack and Wonderland Watch Repair.

Youths Nabbed

Three youths were apprehended for armed robbery and destruction of property last Friday morning by Wayne County Sheriff's detectives.

The three allegedly held up the owner of the Belle Center Motel, Michigan Ave. at Belleville Rd. and later destroyed some property at the Wheel Drive-In, Merriam and Van Born Rds.

The three were David Gates, 20, of 7777 Merriam; Charles Hill, 19, of 7244 Merriam; and Dennis Drake, 19, of 8221 Kempa.

Detectives said that three youths knocked on the motel door at 1:55 a.m. Friday asking owner A.C. Schoenfeld if he had rooms for rent. As Schoenfeld opened the door further, the youths pushed him back and told him to get behind the counter. They held him at gunter point.

Ordinance No. 248

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 8 OF ORDINANCE NO. 201, AS AMENDED, OF THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ENTITLED: "AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE ACQUISITION AND CONSTRUCTION OF SANITARY SEWERS FOR THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH, TOGETHER WITH NECESSARY APPURTENANCES AND ATTACHMENTS THERE TO; TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF SELF-LIQUIDATING REVENUE BONDS FOR THE PURPOSE OF PAYING THE COST THEREOF UNDER THE PROVISIONS OF ACT 94, PUBLIC ACTS OF MICHIGAN, 1953, AS AMENDED; PROVIDING FOR THE FIXING, COLLECTION, SEGREGATION AND DISPOSITION OF THE REVENUE OF SAID SEWAGE DISPOSAL SYSTEM OF THE CITY AND PAYMENT OF SAID BONDS OUT OF THE REVENUES THEREOF; AND CREATING A STATUTORY LIEN ON SAID REVENUES."

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. Section 8 of Ordinance No. 201 of the City of Plymouth, as amended, entitled "An ordinance to provide for the acquisition and construction of sanitary sewers for the City of Plymouth, together with necessary appurtenances and attachments thereto; to provide for the issuance of self-liquidating revenue bonds for the purpose of paying the cost thereof under the provisions of Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1953, as amended; providing for the fixing, collection, segregation and disposition of the revenues of said sewage disposal system of the city and payment of said bonds out of the revenues thereof; and creating a statutory lien on said revenues" is hereby amended to read as follows:

Section 8. The rates to be charged for sewer service furnished by the system until July 1, 1959, shall be those in effect in the City on the effective date of this Ordinance; and commencing July 1, 1959, and until otherwise provided, shall be at the rates and shall be collected as follows:

I. SEWER RATES

A. RESIDENTIAL CONNECTION CHARGES

1. For all new houses or residential dwellings constructed or completed subsequent to the date of the adoption of this Ordinance, connecting directly to the sewers to be constructed from the proceeds of sale of the bonds herein authorized, the sum of $400.00 shall be paid as a connection rate or charge. Such charge shall be paid in full at the time permit is requested for a connection to the Sewage Disposal System.

2. For all houses or residential dwellings heretofore constructed or completed and occupied, connecting directly to the sewers to be constructed from the proceeds of sale of the bonds herein authorized, the following shall be paid on a connection rate or charge: (a) The sum of $400.00 in cash prior to permit being issued for any connection, or (b) at the option of the applicant, in lieu of such cash payment, such connection rate or charge may be paid at the rate of $3.00 per bi-monthly period until a total of $468.00 has been paid, said sums to be billed bi-monthly (each two months) at the same time as the consumption rates hereinafter set forth are billed as a separate item in said bill.

3. For all houses or residential dwellings whether heretofore or hereafter constructed and completed, connecting directly to lateral sewers constructed by developers or constructed from the proceeds of special assessment on the property benefited but which use or are served by sewers constructed from the proceeds of sale of the bond authorized herein as an outlet, the sum of $200.00 shall be paid as a connection charge or rate. Such charge shall be paid in full at the time permit is requested for a connection to the System.

All connections to the System shall be made by and at the expense of the property owner or user so connecting, subject to any rules or regulations therefor now or hereafter established by the City, and subject to inspection and approval prior to use. Permit for such connection shall be obtained in advance from the City, and the property owner or user making such connection shall pay all inspection charges now or hereafter established by the City prior to the use thereof.

B. COMMERCIAL, INDUSTRIAL AND SCHOOL CONNECTION CHARGES

All commercial, industrial and school users hereafter connecting, directly or indirectly, to sewers of the System constructed from the proceeds of sale of the bonds herein authorized shall pay a connecting charge or rate as follows:

(a) Commercial connections: $1.00 per front foot per year, payable in bi-monthly (each two months) installments, for a period of fifteen (15) years.

(b) Industrial and school connections: $100.00 per acre per year, payable in bi-monthly (each two months) installments, for a period of ten (10) years.

C. DEBT SERVICE CHARGES

Such charges shall be levied in addition to the connection charge set forth above, on each lot or parcel of land, building or premises now or hereafter having any connection with the System, on the basis of the quantity of water used therein or thereon, as the same is measured by the water meter installed therein, and shall apply to users connecting directly to the sewers of the System constructed from the proceeds of sale of the bonds herein authorized and for users who make use of said sewers as an outlet.

Such debt service charge shall be $0.07 per 1,000 gallons.

D. SEWAGE CONSUMPTION CHARGE

Such charges shall be levied in addition to the connection charge and debt service charge set forth above, on each lot or parcel of land, building or premises now or hereafter having any connection with the System, on the basis of the quantity of water used therein or thereon, as the same is measured by the water meter installed therein.

Such consumption charge shall be $1.15 per 1,000 gallons. The minimum bi-monthly consumption charge shall be $2.00 per bi-monthly period, which includes 10,000 gallons of metered water.

E. COUNTY TAPPING CHARGE

On and after April 1, 1959 each new sewer user shall pay, in addition to the above charges, a tapping charge of $50.00 for each new sewer connection and such additional tapping charge imposed by the County shall be collected by the City, and paid over to the County with other sewage disposal charges, as same may be imposed and required by the County of Wayne from time to time.

III. BILLING

Bills for the connection rates and charges (where payable in installments), debt service charge and consumption charge, shall be made as separate items on the water bills for those premises served by the System who have connections to the water system of the City of Plymouth, and separate bills for such rates and charges, or those applicable, shall be prepared for premises having no connection to the water system. For those premises not having a water meter to measure the quantity of water used, a special debt service rate and consumption charge may be established by the City. Said bills shall be rendered bi-monthly (each two months) during each operating or fiscal year and shall represent charges for the bi-monthly (each two months) period immediately preceding the date of rendering the bill. Said bills, shall become due and payable within fifteen (15) days from the date thereof, and for all bills not paid when due, a penalty of ten (10) per cent of the amount of such bill shall be added thereto.

III. MUNICIPAL CHARGE

For the benefit derived by the City-at-large, the City shall pay a charge of $14,000.00 per year, which charge shall be payable in quarterly installments, in advance from the current funds of the City, or from the proceeds of taxes which the City, within constitutional and statutory limits, is hereby authorized and required to levy in an amount sufficient for that purpose.

IV. SPECIAL RATES

For miscellaneous services for which a special rate shall be established, such rates shall be fixed by the City Commission. Where a user uses a large amount of water which is not discharged into the sanitary sewer system, a special rate for sewer service of such user may be established.

V. ENFORCEMENT

The charges for sewer services which are under the provisions of Section 21, Act 94, Public Acts of Michigan, 1933, as amended, made a lien on all premises served thereby, unless notice is given that a tenant is responsible, are hereby recognized to constitute such lien and whenever any such charge against any piece of property shall be delinquent for six (6) months, the City official or officials in charge of the collection thereof shall certify annually, on April 1st of each year, to the tax-assessing officer of the City, the fact of such delinquency, whereupon such charge shall be by him entered upon the next tax roll as a charge against such premises and shall be collected and the lien thereof enforced in the same manner as general City taxes against such premises are collected, and the lien thereof enforced provided, however, where notice is given that a tenant is responsible for such charges and service as provided by said Section 21, no further service shall be rendered such premises until a cash deposit of not less than ten ($10.00) Dollars shall have been made as security for payment of such charges and service.

In addition to other remedies provided, the City shall have the right to shut off and discontinue the supply of water to any premises for the non-payment of sewer rates when due. If such charges are not paid within thirty (30) days after the due date thereof, then water services to such premises shall be discontinued. Water services so discontinued shall not be restored until all sums then due and owing shall be paid, plus a turn-on charge of One ($1.00) Dollar.

Section 2. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 10 day of March A.D., 1959.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth on this 16th day of February A.D., 1959.

Bubble Barrier
 DOVER, Eng. (UPI) — A barrier of bubbles is breaking up the waves that lash the port of Dover. Through a system installed two years ago, air is piped from the shore to the sea bed at the harbor's entrance, and then sent up to the surface as bubbles. This breaks the waves down by about 50 per cent.

To Attend Leadership School

Pat Clixby, 2524 Canton Center, Plymouth, has been selected to attend Southeastern Michigan 4-H Junior Leadership School the week of February 24-25-26 at Port Huron Methodist Camp according to Del Dyer, Wayne County Extension agent. The theme for the conference is "Making Choices That Count". Pat Clixby is one of five selected from all over Wayne county.

Approximately 50 teen-age youth leaders will gather to learn what a 4-H Junior leader can do in his club, community and county to assist the 4-H movement. Special sessions on "Bright Ideas", an exchange of ideas and activities that worked in their local clubs, "Games for 4-H Meetings", "4-H Ceremonials", and Program Planning will better prepare these young folks for the big job of assisting local leaders in the operation of their 4-H clubs.

Pat Clixby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clixby, is a junior leader in the Sheldon Community 4-H Club led by Mrs. Earl Thredgold, 46454 Michigan Avenue. This club includes about 60 other junior leaders and 10 adult leaders. Pat was solely responsible for an entomology club last summer. She has also done outstanding work in conservation, clothing, foods, vegetable garden, personal improvement and photography. A number of her awards have been trips to the Michigan 4-H District Eliminations, 4-H State Show in foods and vegetable judging, county conservation trip that toured all of lower Michigan and the State Conservation Camp at Camp Shaw near Marquette, Michigan. Pat is a senior at Plymouth High.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS

The Post's next business meeting is Wednesday, March 4, 8 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center.

The 17th District meeting, Friday, March 6th, 8:00 p.m. at the Redford-Township Post Home, Beech Road, will be the Oratorical Contest. Plan to attend this program, very interesting, you will be surprised how much these contestants know about our government. Winners will be announced at a later date.

Commander Kinghorn and President Fern Burleson wish to thank all who helped on our Card Parties and who attended. They were very successful. Nice to see so many out for these occasions, will try to plan a few more.

The Auxiliary's business meeting is Thursday, Feb. 26, 8 p.m. Please try and be prompt - 8 p.m. Veterans Community Center, will then leave for Virginia Fann's home at 9290 Louisiana, Livonia. All members please bring your National News to this meeting, requested by Fern Burleson, Publicity Chairman. Study Principles of American Freedom - Stimulating increased interest in the principles upon which the United States was founded was the major endeavor of the American Legion Auxiliary during February, according to Mrs. Dorothy Knapp, Americanism Chairman. Auxiliary activities will center around the observances of Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays, she said.

At the February 18 meeting a committee headed by Bud Luttermoser was appointed to investigate an insurance plan in conjunction with membership dues. This plan, used successfully by other posts, offers life insurance for the entire paid up membership; all or part of the premium is paid by the Post. The committee will report at the next meeting (March 4) with their recommendation. This is one of the several ideas to stimulate the membership drive now underway.

We feel many former members, and new veterans in the area who are eligible will want to "look in" on the meetings and learn of the numerous activities lined up. A 1959 membership card is the only requirement. Election of officers is fast approaching, and this would be an ideal time for the appearance of those who have paid their dues but fail to attend the meetings. There is no doubt that the success of the Post depends largely on the caliber of its officers; now is the time to begin thinking about these officers will be.

Dick Neale reports that the addition to the hall is completed and at a cost considerably less than originally estimated. Gerry Olson advises that assistance to the Tubert family continues as they are most appreciative of the help given. However, the jobs remaining will require both manual aid and financial assistance. Gerry will be glad to give further information. His phone number is GL 3-1339.

Those who attended the Valentine Dance on February 14 can qualify as square dance experts. The caller had an amazing patience and every one enjoyed this type of dance. More such dances will be considered if interest is shown.

Holds '500' Record INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Sam Banks holds the speed record for the Indianapolis 500-mile Memorial Day Speedway race. He averaged 135,601 miles per hour in winning the 1957 classic.

Elks Entertain at Hospital

Plymouth and Ann Arbor Elks joined hands Monday to furnish an evening's entertainment for the patients at the Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor. She is doing very nicely now.

Those interested in the activities of the Post will want to make note of the approaching events, for members and auxiliary, and emphasizing community service. On Friday, Feb. 27 the Post is sponsoring an entertainment program at the VA Hospital at Ann Arbor. Chairman John Schwartz can use more men to make this trip and help with the program. The group will leave the Post at 6:15 p.m. Future events such as this will depend on the success of this trip.

participate in special recreational activities.

Plymouth Lodge donated $100 from their general fund and $214 in individual donations were made by Plymouth Elks and Vivian's Club members to support the program. P.X. books, cigarettes, cologne and paint sets were purchased for prizes.

A special "thank you" goes to Pat Wiltse, Community Pharmacy; Rucker brothers of Stop and Shop; Russ Powell and Peace Paint Company for donating some of the prizes. Two food baskets were taken to the T.B. ward for distribution.

Hot roast beef sandwiches, pickles and coffee were furnished by the Ann Arbor Lodge and served after the games by Mr. and Mrs. Bill Steeb and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schmidt. Mr. Steeb is a member of the State Veterans Rehabilitation Committee and is keenly interested in the welfare of the hospitalized veteran. He is, also, the chairman of the Ann Arbor Lodge veterans program committee. The Plymouth group helped clean up after the lunch.

The hospital can use help to read to the boys, write, play checkers, change water on flowers and such jobs that the nurses do not have time to do. Anyone interested in donating some of their time, please contact Carl Pohl, Normandy 3-8541.

From The TEACHER'S DESK

(Prepared by a committee of teachers representing a joint committee on teacher welfare from Plymouth Education Association.)

Last week we attempted to describe the philosophy and framework under which the Counseling and Guidance Department of Plymouth High School operates. This week we will take up one of the most frequent problems that is handled by this essential facility.

Inability to adjust to the high school program is the nature of the most frequent problems of students, says Assistant principal in charge of Counseling and Guidance, Robert Smith. There are many reasons why a student might "fail to adjust" so let us now examine some of the areas of difficulty and see how the Guidance Department works with the student toward the solution of these problems.

Most of the cases that are handled by the Guidance Department are the results of referrals made by teachers. Problems may range from an inability of a student to get along with his classmates to trouble in the home environment.

It would be quite handy if the counselors could refer to a book of procedure on what course to follow in any given situation but such a book would be impossible to compose. As the counselors point out, no two problems are the same, and each situation must be treated individually. There is no pat formula for solving human problems. Let us look at some of these problems.

We know that the need for recognition is one of the basic human requirements. To a young person in his formative years this need is especially prominent and he will go to great lengths to satisfy this natural craving. Through normal processes of socialization and group interaction most young people acquire this recognition. So many students spend many long hours studying to achieve recognition while another student, of the same age, lifts weights regularly for the same purpose. Each individual is striving in his own way, and many times we overlook, in our young people, the more obscure attempts to gain recognition.

A parent might explain the clowning antics of his four year old, in the midst of company, as "just showing off." Certainly this little person is trying to get attention, and he can embarrass the parents frightfully in the process, but this is a normal attempt to secure recognition. As he becomes older he outgrows the infantile methods of gaining attention as his range of self expression widens. He begins to be aware of the importance of group relationships and they become the focal point of his young life.

Acceptance by the group is one of his main concerns, and he learns that certain things are expected of him if he is to remain a member of that group. Relationships within the group become satisfying to him and he develops a great feeling of security and inner satisfaction in playing the role he has cut out for himself. The security of his home life is reflected in the contentment he receives from group relationships, and he is well on the road to developing the type of personality he will live with the rest of his life.

Unfortunately, the road is not always this smooth. The outcroppings of unstable group relationships become obvious before or during high school age. The failure of a child to attain a desired amount of recognition is many times the cause of poor adjustment in school. This, then, might very well explain why "Johnnie" is constantly clowning in the classroom.

Getting the attention of the other students at his own expense seems worthwhile. In his thinking, recognition as the class clown is better than no recognition at all. He is constantly thinking up new ways of gaining recognition to maintain his status in the group.

At this point the skills of the teaching and counseling staff come into play. Although teachers responsibilities are to the total group with which they work, it is at all times recognized that the group is composed of individuals. Each individual has definite needs and desires that must be taken into account in the total learning process. In the case of "Johnnie" it is evident that some special attention by the teacher is necessary. If the teacher feels the student's problem will require more time, or perhaps more individual attention than can be afforded, the counseling office is contacted.

In the one-to-one relationship of counselor to student the reasons behind "Johnnie's" behavior may come forth. The counselor may find that "Johnnie" comes from a very large family and since his early childhood he has found it difficult to achieve the recognition and attention that he normally craved.

Perhaps, on the other hand, he feels inferior because he comes from a poor economic home situation, and his classroom antics are calculated to draw attention away from his obvious material needs. We could go on to name many possible reasons for "Johnnie's" behavior, but whatever the cause, the situation must be resolved. If necessary the counselor contacts the parents so that a unified effort can be enlisted to help the student readjust school and home life.

The team work of the parents, teachers, and counselors is the goal of the Guidance Department, and for that matter, the entire teaching staff, in helping students over some of the rough spots in their development. Parents are encouraged to contact the Guidance Department on matters of Vocational and school interests to their sons and daughters. We list here the names of the entire counseling staff and the grades with which they work: Mr. Michael Hoben - 9th grade; Mrs. Barbara Waters - 10th grade; Miss Virginia Olmsted - 11th grade; Mr. Robert Southgate - 12th grade.

Due to space limitations we have not covered all the essential areas that should be mentioned in outlining the services of the Guidance and Counseling Department. Next week then we would like to describe some of the problems encountered by students as they near graduation and the prospects of taking their places in the work-a-day world.

Happy Birthday Abominable Snowman (Wherever You Are)

LONDON (UPI) — Happy birthday to you, Abominable Snowman of the Himalayas. It's just 70 years since the discovery of your giant footprint on the roof of the world.

Three score years and ten since Maj. I.A. Waddell, exploring among the high peaks in the northeast of Sikkim, found his bearers staring at the marks of your passing.

"These were alleged to be the trail of the hairy wild men who are believed to live amongst the eternal snows," Waddell wrote. "The belief in these creatures is universal among Tibetans."

You have been seen in person many times since, but the trouble is that there are almost as many different descriptions of you as there have been sightings. And some of them are most remarkable, to say the least. Consider this (from a Sherpa native):

"The female can be recognized by her long breasts which she throws over her shoulders when she runs."

But among the fantasy and legends which surround you, there are certain disturbing facts that some scientists and observers would like explained away before they write you off as a mountain-climbing Loch Ness Monster.

In the first place, you have been seen not only by natives but by Hugh Knight, a well-educated Englishman, who described you as a "large blonde gorilla," and by A. Tombazi, a fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, in 1925.

Although he could not see you clearly because of snow-glare, Tombazi caught sight of you crossing a valley at 15,000 feet, uprooting rhododendron bushes as you went. You disappeared into dense scrub before he could get to you, but he says your footprints were those of a two-legged animal.

In 1921, during the first attempt to climb the north face of Mt. Everest, C.K. Howard-Bury and his companions saw distant dark spots moving over the snow at 23,000 feet. Where they had seen the moving figures, they later found large footprints.

And in 1951, Eric Shipton, after his sixth attempt to climb Everest, followed for a mile — until he lost it in a moraine of ice a clear trail

Canton Township Columnist Becomes Historian

By ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL 3-0194

Well, I finally plan to keep my promise and try to tell you some of the history of our Township. The information I have this week, was furnished from a history book, owned originally by Allen Bordine, which he in turn gave to his grandson, Roger Bordine and his two children. The book was published by the Silas Farmer Co. in 1890. The article in part went like this:

Canton Township. This township was created by act of March 7, 1834, out of part of what had been Plymouth township after the city by that name in China, the object being to get a name not found elsewhere in the United States.

The first meeting to organize the Township was held at the house of Henry Chafee, on the first Monday of April 1834. (125 years ago) James Safford was chosen Moderator and L. Witter, Clerk.

The following town officers were elected in that and subsequent years, of 1834: Supervisor, James Safford; Clerk, L. Witter; Assessors, Ira M. Hough, Alfred Moore, Ira Towle, Collector, Thomas Huston; Directors of the poor, Aruna Bradford, John Chambers; Commissioner of Highways, Isaac Cummings, S. R. Tripp, A. Y. Murray; Constables, John Cortright, B. J. Clark, Commissioners of Common Schools, A. Y. Murray, Jos. Brearley, A. M. Stephens; Inspectors of Common School, Wm. Morrison, Jacob Ramsdel, Alonzo Henrys. These were the names of the men that composed the Township's first official board. In reading the history, a few names are familiar, and I couldn't help wondering if these men are still represented in the Township by kin.

The locations of the first public buildings were described as being on such and such a quarter of section such, all of which meant very little to me. I did find it interesting—the cost of these buildings. So as not to bore you with too much history in one article, I shall add to the information each week. Besides the formal history, I should like to include personal experiences and memories of some of our older residents or relatives of these pioneers to the Township. It is interesting to find that we have a few families that consist of having as many as six generations born, raised and having lived in Canton. One of these is Mrs. Pearl Doyle. Mrs. Doyle has some land grants to property located in the Township awarded relatives of hers, signed by President Andrew Jackson. There were issued when Michigan was still a territory. Mrs. Doyle promised to locate these documents and give us more detailed information, if any about them. I have been busy locating other families historically connected with the Township and in further articles let you know about them also. Some of our present families are busy making histories for themselves, so, on with present day news.

The Richard Palmer family of Warren Rd. proudly announce a new arrival to the Township, Robert Palmer, born Feb. 9, Robert weighed 7 lb., 14 oz. The Palmers have two other children.

Another young man to increase the Township population, arrived Feb. 13, and was named Charles Jarvis. Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jarvis of Ford Rd. Charles weighed in at 4 lb., 5 oz.

We would like to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vipperman to the Township. Mr. and Mrs. Vipperman have made their home on Saltz Rd. with their six children and one very friendly collie dog named Mike. The Vippermans are originally from Wayne. Mrs. Vipperman stated she hadn't met many people yet, but perhaps when we all thaw out, we may have a chance to meet our new neighbors. Anyway welcome. Things are by no means quiet for the Joseph Thomas family of Ford Rd. Mrs. Thomas (Alberta) called to tell me about a baby shower given for her daughter, Mrs. R.E. Miller (Barbara). The shower was given by Mrs. Stella Wisniewski of 44328 Ford Rd. The decorations were pink and blue streamers, holding balloons. The gifts were put in a baby bed, which was the gift of the hostess to Mrs. Miller. As the guests arrived, they were given pink and blue ribbons. During the course of the shower, if any guest was caught by another guest crossing their legs or arms, this guest took the offender's ribbon, the lady possessing the most ribbons at the end of the evening won the prize. Mrs. Thomas said the winner was Mrs. Funk of Northville, the prize, a baby-doll. Mrs. Thomas further stated that the guests numbered approximately 61 persons (not counting children) and that they occupied the two floors of Mrs. Wisniewski's home. A game of bingo was played, followed by a dinner of baked ham, potato salad, lemon pie, and etc. The decorated shower cake was baked by the Terry Bakery of Plymouth. Mrs. Thomas said her daughter received a lovely assortment of gifts with no duplications.

Another item to make the prospective mother happy, is the 30 day furlough of her husband "Butch" Miller. Butch is a seaman and stationed in Japan. Both Mr. and Mrs. Miller attended Plymouth High. The Thomases will have a house full for a while, for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Thomas' son Joseph H. Thomas, Jr., will also be home on leave from the navy. Joseph is stationed at

New Port, Rhode Island. It appears the family is having a reunion. Mrs. Thomas added that her mother, Anne Bronson, now 85 years old, attended the Bartlett School located on Canton Center. The building now located there is not the original building, but is in the original site. Mrs. Thomas promised to relate more about her mother's memories of the Township.

A date the ladies of the Faith Circle of the Cherry Hill Methodist church hope you will circle on your calendar is March 5. On this date a Wrigley luncheon will be served. The lunch begins at 1:00 p.m. and the tickets are $1.00. If you have the afternoon, why not join a group of very nice ladies for lunch.

Although the history of the Township might not always be in chronological order in the column, I did come across another bit that would be of interest to the men and boys of the Township. In the minutes of the Township meeting of April 7, 1884, the town voted to pay a bounty on woodchucks, just the same as last year, that is, 10 cents for each woodchuck killed in the Township upon the presentation of the scalp to the Township clerk. He was authorized to draw an order for the amount on the town treasurer to be paid out of the Contingent fund, unquote. No fellows; don't run out to shoot woodchucks. I haven't found evidence that this bounty still stands.

Well that just about winds it up, and I shall return to the papers and books I have rounded up about this Township we call Canton. If you have news don't hesitate to call.

It's been awhile since I've seen the University of Michigan television program. The U of M TV educational sight-for-sore-eyes can be seen on Sundays at 1 p.m. A good time to turn the watching box on just prior to Sunday dinner time. Currently, the U of M is showing a series entitled "Quest and Conquest."

Marston Blake is the head lecturer for this series. He discussed various types of ants and termites. His description of the life habits of these insects provided Old George with a bushel of information. Little did I realize how potent the Army ants were. Blake told how they tried to stop a column of Army ants. They ran out of fire extinguisher fluid and still the ants moved into a snake pit.

The biological expedition had been collecting venom from 15 or 20 rattlers and other deadly snakes. The ants went down into the pit and out. All they left were some snake skeletons. After the tasty tidbit of rattlesnake meat, the ants went through the house and eliminated all the wasps, hornets, and cockroaches. Let's start a movement to keep these Army ants down in Honduras.

Another viewer having seen the same program a great while ago, I did come across another bit that would be of interest to the men and boys of the Township. The credit union organized January 23, 1954. It is the 74th Michigan credit union to reach the million dollar figure.

Sales of Western Electric Drop 12.4 Per Cent

Western Electric Company, Manufacturing and Supply Unit of the Bell System, which now has a distributing house in Plymouth, today reported sales in 1958 of $2,173,827,000, down $306,787,000 or 12.4 percent from the previous year. Seventy percent of $1,527,912,000 of 1958 sales were to Bell System Companies. Sales to the Government, consisting principally of products and services associated with National Defense Projects, were $578,961,000, slightly higher than in 1957.

In the Annual Report to Stockholders issued this week, Arthur B. Goetze, president of the company, declared that vigorous expense control and intensification of cost reduction efforts during the year enabled the company to minimize the effects on operating profits on the downturn in business volume. He cited as an example another savings of more than $10,000,000 at current production levels through manufacturing cost reduction projects completed during the year.

Earnings in 1958 were $85,936,000 or $5.17 a share compared with 1957 earnings of $84,608,000 or $5.96 on a smaller average number of shares than outstanding.

Pointing out that 1958 earnings represented a lower return on investment, Mr. Goetze said, "This points up one of the major problems facing most businesses today. When we have occasion to replace a machine or plant facility that has worn out, we generally wind up with more dollars invested in the business, even though our productive capacity remains relatively unchanged. This comes about, of course, because the machine we buy today costs so much more than the one it replaces that we bought years ago." He cited recent figures showing that current replacement costs are running three times the original cost for production machinery.

ery. "Thus the money invested in our business on which we must earn an adequate return keeps going up," Mr. Goetze pointed out. "This is a part of the price we as a Company pay for inflation."

Purchases from other firms of manufactured goods, raw materials and services totaled more than a billion dollars in 1958, equal to about 46 cents of every dollar Western Electric received. Payments went to over 30,000 companies, in all the States and several foreign countries. Nine out of ten suppliers firms were small businesses with fewer than 500 employees.

Plant investment increased by $124,241,000 over 1957 to a total of $860,581,000 at year end after write-off of facilities retired from service.

In 1958 Western Electric continued its work on major projects for National Defense. In June, the Nike Hercules missile became operational in three important defense areas. Additional funds were authorized by the Army for the development of the Nike Zeus, an anti-missile missile system.

The Company continued to coordinate the work of many contractors in the development and construction of the Sage System of Continental Air Defense which is now operational for the North-eastern United States. The "White Alice" Communications Network in Alaska was completed in March and substantial progress was made on a Westward extension of the Dew Line. An undersea cable was laid in Arctic Waters for the Ballistic Missile Early Warning System (BMEWS), for which the Company was engaged to design, install and test communications equipment. In its Government work, as in its Bell System business, the Company is assisted by many other companies, most of them small businesses.

In December, the Government renewed for the third five-year period the non-profit contract under which Western Electric — through its subsidiary company, the Sandia Corporation — manages the Atomic Energy Commission's Sandia Laboratory based at Albuquerque, N.M. Sandia's work is concerned with the Military application of Atomic Energy.

Paneling Now Popular for Many Different Rooms

LIVING ROOM walls paneled with plywood in a dark rich color needs minimum upkeep.

"Never mind arguing about paint or paper," said a new homeowner last week. "Paneling's the answer for every room in the house nowadays. You can find just about any kind you want."

In spite of his enthusiasm, there are rooms for which paint is still the only practical solution. And many women still hold out for wallpaper. But from the game room in the basement to the master and children's bedrooms upstairs, it is possible to find a suitable paneling.

In a 125-year-old house which was modernized in 1941, two rooms have all four walls covered with knotty pine paneling. This actually is pine wood available in random or various widths. After installation, the pine must be given a finishing treatment which brings the wood to the desired color.

Today, most of the paneling is plywood. Thanks to the advanced technology, the plywood panelings are available in numerous finishes, can be installed by the homeowner, and are priced within the range of the average wage-earner's budget.

It's no longer necessary to have knotty pine walls in the living room with mahogany furniture, as is the case, in the modernized 125-year-old house. Knotty pine is better suited to an informal room. Today, plywood panelings in cherry, walnut or mahogany can be purchased.

The final selection for a living room, as for any room, should be influenced by the natural lighting it receives. Thus in a living room which is shaded by many trees, a lighter paneling such as birch or oak would be more effective, especially in daylight. In bright, sunny living rooms with formal furnishings, mahogany or walnut paneling would be preferable.

Light colored panelings are attractive for any bedroom. Birch would be a leading candidate, or perhaps one of the maple panelings. Depending on the furnishings, a Colonial style paneling might be exactly right. This is a plank paneling that has pegs inserted above and below horizontal planking to give the appearance of old pegged plank walls.

Children's rooms call for wall coverings that can take abuse and are not in the high price range. One of the newer "textured" wood panelings is worth considering.

Since no room is used more than a family, game or recreation room, this also is the place for a sturdy paneling. Scratch board or raised grain paneling are two solutions. Rooms in which wood paneling is combined with another type of wall covering can be most effective. And this might be the answer when the woman holds out for wallpaper, while the man of the house insists on modern wood paneling.

In a living room, for example, the fireplace wall or simply the wall space above the mantel might be finished with a handsome sheet of paneling. Or, three walls covered with cherry paneling and the fourth and darkest wall covered with a light colored textured paper, paper with a modern pattern or a wallpaper mural would be both stunning and pleasant to live with.

Such combinations using either light colored wood paneling for the darkest wall and paper or paint for the other three, or paper for the darkest wall and paneling for the other three can be worked out for bedroom or kitchen as well as living room.

Modern plywood panelings have been made to eliminate much of the work and expense of installation. Costs vary almost as much as styles and finishes and range from approximately $25 to as high as $75 to $85 for a 12 by 8-foot wall.

PLYWOOD PANELING is made in so many finishes and styles that it's easy to find an appropriate one for a kitchen-dining area as any other room. There is also on the market an 1/8" veneer called "skin" that changes painted cupboard doors to wood finished doors right before your eyes.

OLD FURNITURE

Dear "Miss Louisa:" Have you any helpful hints for going over old furniture? I have a chest of drawers that has black paint on it, but is old pine underneath. I know how to take off the paint.—D.McL. H., Summit, N.J.

Dear D. McL.H.: One of the greatest aids to refinishing old furniture is a large bucket of clean, fine sand. Work out - of - doors if possible, and, after each application of paint remover has done its loosening job, sprinkle the surface with sand, then wipe off with an old rag. The sand acts as a blotter for the loosened paint and also sands and cleans as you wipe it off. Sand in cracks can be dislodged with a stiff brush.

WINTER PRESERVES

Dear "Miss Louisa:" Do you have any suggestions for making winter preserves and pickles? The weather has kept me in the house for weeks.—E.Q.A., Springfield, Mass.

Dear E.Q.A.: Preserving is an ideal pastime for rainy weather and there are many delicious marmalades, chutneys, jams and pickles that can be made on a cold, dismal winter day. Cranberry preserves, dried apricot jam, orange and blueberry marmalade, mustard pickle are a few of my favorites. Frozen fruits can be used to add special zest to winter preserves as in the case of Orange Blueberry marmalade, as follows:

Take 1 package of frozen blueberries, add 1 1/2 cups sugar, mash berries and cook until a small amount will congeal on a cold saucer. Mix with an equal amount of orange marmalade, freshly made if possible, although any marmalade will do. Pour into small jars and seal with wax.

Citrus Fruits Fit Your Menu

Endless Possibilities for Grapefruit

SERVE GRAPEFRUIT halves with a spoonful of preserves, honey or maple syrup.

FILL CENTERS with a mixture of shrimp, crabmeat or tuna fish. Serve with French dressing as a first course or main dish salad.

FILL THE CENTERS of baked corn squash with grapefruit sections. Sprinkle each half with a tablespoon of brown sugar and dot with butter. Add sections for last 15 minutes of baking.

ALTERNATE GRAPEFRUIT, orange and avocado wedges on salad greens and top with French dressing.

FILL CENTERS with canned Bing cherries or fresh berries in season.

PLACE SMALL WEDGES of ripe or sliced olives around the outer edge of the grapefruit. Serve with French dressing as the first course or salad.

PLACE MAPLE SUGAR candy or crushed peppermint candy in centers of halves.

TOP BROILED FISH the last 10 minutes of broiling with grapefruit sections. Sprinkle with paprika and dot with butter.

Grapefruit Varieties

DUNCAN ... Somewhat flattened in shape at the ends of the fruit, medium to large in size, has a cluster of seeds, often tinged with green or russet. Many persons believe the seeds are compensated by the superior flavor and great juice yield.

MARCH ... Roundish in shape, small to medium in size, relatively seedless, firm sections, lots of juice and a mild flavor.

PINK SEEDLESS ... Similar to Marsh but with a pink or red flesh.

Orange Varieties

VALENCIA ... Medium to large size juice oranges, relatively seedless.

NAVEL ... Large size fruit, usually seedless, easily sectioned for a dessert orange.

TEMPLE ... Small to medium in size, pebbly skin, relatively seedless, peels and sections easily, also good for juicing.

TANGELO ... Medium to large in size, smooth skin which is loose and peels easily. Excellent for sectioning and juicing. It's said to be a cross between the tangerine and the grapefruit.

Picking the Fruit

CITRUS that are heavy for their size have the higher juice content.

The amount of juice and nutritive value per pound of oranges is the same regardless of the size of the orange. You can get about 2 1/2 cup servings from a pound.

At present, smaller sizes are more abundant and so are better values.

A pound of small grapefruit yields more juice than a pound of large fruit.

COLOR is no indication of how ripe an orange may be. Vegetable dye may be added to the skin to give them the orange hue. These must be stamped "color added."

SIZES of citrus may be advertised by the number. These numbers are the number of that size fruit it takes to fill a standard shipping box. The larger the numbers the smaller the fruit. 70's and 80's are medium sized grapefruit.

RUSSETING, or reddish discoloration, on grapefruit does not affect the eating quality or flavor of the fruit.

GREEN tints on citrus peel in the spring may be on fruit which may be just as ripe as fully colored fruit.

Broiled Grapefruit

To prepare Florida grapefruit, cut fruit in half; remove core if desired. Cut around each section, loosening fruit from membrane. Do not cut around entire outer edge of fruit. Sprinkle each half with one tablespoon sugar and a dash of cinnamon, mace, or nutmeg. Dot each half with one teaspoon butter. Place grapefruit on broiler rack three inches from heat. Broil slowly 15 to 20 minutes or until grapefruit is slightly brown and heated through. Grapefruit may also be baked in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

Orange French Toast

1 egg
1/4 cup Florida orange juice
3 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons grated Florida orange rind
4 slices day old bread
3/4 cup butter or margarine
2 Florida oranges, sectioned
Confectioners' sugar

Beat egg with Florida orange juice in shallow dish. Add sugar and grated orange rind; mix thoroughly. Leave bread slices whole or cut in half, if desired. Dip bread in egg mixture. Brown on both sides in butter in skillet over low heat. Place orange sections on each slice of toast. Sprinkle with confectioners' sugar. Serve immediately. Yield 4 servings.

Is It Fact Or Fallacy?

FALLACY: Grading and inspection are the same thing.

FACT: Grading and inspection are two different things. Inspection is a service provided to packing houses at taxpayer's expense to insure wholesomeness. Grading is used to indicate quality. It is optional with the packer and he must pay for the use of this service.

FALLACY: There is no variation in the amount of waste or the tenderness of the different kinds of chuck roasts.

FACT: The blade-cut chuck is the most tender part of the chuck, coming from the part nearest the rib roast section. However, because it contains more bone, it usually costs less per pound than the round-bone or arm chuck and the English-cut.

FALLACY: Regardless of the cut, the grass-fed or range-fed beef is never tasty and tender.

FACT: Young, range-fed animals are often graded as U.S. Standard. Long, slow cooking with moist heat (pot-roasting, braising, stewing) is best for most cuts of grass-fed or range-fed beef. Tenderness is achieved by proper cooking. Flavor is less fully developed than in more mature grain-fed animals, and there is less fat than in higher grade animals.

FALLACY: Picnics are small hams.

FACT: Hams come from the hind legs of the hog. Picnics are shoulder cuts and have different muscle structure, tenderness and flavor. In Michigan it is illegal to label picnics as "picnic hams."

FALLACY: A ham portion is the same as a ham half.

FACT: A ham half, a butt or a shank half, is the full half of the ham. The ham portion, the butt or shank portion, is the ham half with several center slices removed.

Tabasco Peps Up Lenten Croquettes

Fine for the meatless days of Lent are croquettes made with canned tuna or salmon and served with a savory sauce. The breaded and fried seafood croquettes will be so popular you will want to make a variation using ham. Tabasco, the liquid red pepper seasoning so good with seafood, peps up this popular Lenten dish.

Tabasco Croquettes

4 tablespoons butter or margarine
6 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/4 teaspoon Tabasco
1 tablespoon minced parsley
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 cups canned flaked tuna, salmon or ground cooked ham
1 cup soft bread cubes
1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons water

Melt butter; add flour and salt; stir to a smooth paste. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and comes to a boil. Remove from heat; stir in lemon juice, Tabasco, parsley and onion. Measure 1 cup of the sauce; stir in fish or ham and bread cubes. Reserve remaining sauce to serve with cooked croquettes. Chill croquette mixture in refrigerator several hours or overnight. Shape mixture into 6 croquettes. Dip croquettes first in dry bread crumbs, then in egg and wa-

Curtain Change Time

Spring means a change of curtains for most rooms. Many a homeowner buys her materials and sews these curtains for the warm seasons. They're much easier to make than the heavier curtains for winter. Furthermore, there's a wide variety of materials from which to choose and curtains made at home can be given individual touches to set off each room.

The newest materials for curtains do not need ironing any more than most of our summer clothes do. They're time and labor savers when it comes to upkeep, and no more difficult to make into curtains and draperies than older fabrics.

Fiberglass, for example, can be purchased by the yard for draperies with or without linings or for sheer, crisp glass curtains. Fiberglass drapery fabrics need not be lined, but if a lining is needed this also should be fiberglass so it won't shrink when washed. If any other material is preferred for the lining, then it should be fastened so that it can be removed before washing.

To make fiberglass material into curtains, sew with a good quality, fine cotton mercerized thread. The proper tension, the length of stitch and degree of pressure of pressure foot will be determined by the weave of the fabric and the sewing machine. Experiment with a scrap of fabric trying a longer stitch and loosening the tension of both the top and bottom threads.

Dacron which gets a high rating for easy-to-care-for clothes, can star equally well for curtains. Dacron curtain fabrics are excellent for the seashore and other areas where humidity is high, since they hold their pressed appearance in spite of moisture-laden air. These fabrics also resist sun and do not discolor, although they may lose some strength in prolonged exposure.

Dacron curtain fabrics come in marquisettes and ninone as well as heavier weaves, in colors as well as newer off-whites. They are washable and need little ironing.

Whether the new curtains are to be of the most modern man-made fibers or the old familiar cottons, measurement of the windows is essential before purchasing. Curtains will look skimpy, even before they are washed, if they are not full enough or long enough.

The allowance for fabric in width, should be at least twice as wide as the window. Really full curtains generally look smarter, particularly if the material is sheer. For warm weather, curtains with hems that just brush the window sill are probably most pleasing. To determine length, measure not the length of the glass, but from the topmost edge of the window frame to the window sill. Then add 2 inches for the bottom hem and 3 inches for the heading and top hem.

If valances are to be made of the same material or of the material in a blending color, measurements again are needed. Have enough fabric so that each valance can be cut 15 inches long and to three times the width of the window. If the valance must be pieced, cut as many strips 15 inches long as are necessary to obtain the width and sew together along their selvage edges. Valances need only narrow hems top, bottom and outside edges.

GARDEN GAB— BY BILL SAXTON

A number of people have asked for our new Garden Annual. We have received them from the publishers and they may be picked up any time.

We are busy this week with a booth at the Flower Show. Don't miss the show this year. It is the finest display we have ever seen and the most conveniently arranged due to the facilities at the Armory. Stop in at our booth and say hello.

Household planter boxes intrigue us in the many varieties, colors, shapes and sizes now available. We keep adding new ones and devoting more space to them. Let us know what you are looking for and we will stock them. Some packaged seeds are here now. Our selection has been expanded in varieties and quantity.

Feeding wild birds has become increasingly popular in many areas. Remember that the birds you attract become dependent on the food you supply. The quantity does not have to be great but it should be a steady uniform amount.

The reward in feeding can be an interesting and attractive number of birds. One benefit is the job the birds do in eating pesky insects in the garden. Some gardeners like to continue feeding through the summer to keep the same birds coming. Suet cakes help provide the fat needed by birds in the cold weather. A number of types of feeders for seed and suet are on display. Wren, Bluebird, and Martin houses will help build your bird colony up.

Try an electric seed bed heater in a hot bed for cold frame outdoors if you don't have room to start seeds indoors.

If you have any questions or problems concerning gardening write or call Bill Saxton at...

400 Get St. Mary Hospital Preview

Some 400 St. Mary Hospital Guild members from Plymouth, Redford, Livonia, Farmington and Northville were given a graphic preview of the new hospital now under construction in Livonia, by Sister Mary Calasantia, associate administrator. The preview took place at a tea sponsored by the board of directors of the Guild.

Highlighting the affair was an address by Rev. Mother Annuncia, vicar general of the Felician Sisters of Rome, Italy. She praised the zeal, cooperativeness and sacrifice Guild members have exhibited in their willingness to give of themselves for the good of the sick of the communities.

An information center was set up so that inquiries concerning the Guild and its activities were readily answered.

The present Guild membership is 600 with the goal placed at 2,000. The first major public activity of the Guild is scheduled for early spring. Hostesses for the affair were Mrs. Margaret Stremich and Mrs. Betty Marquis of Plymouth; Mrs. Molly Sinelli, Redford Township; and Mrs. Delos Hamlin, Farmington.

The guests were welcomed by a receiving line that included the hospital administrator, Sister Mary Columbine; the associate administrator, Sister Mary Calasantia;

Pat Boone Faces Teen Writers' Third Degree

(Gloria Bowles, 16, is high school writer for The Mail and editor of the Pilgrim Prints. She is the daughter of Circuit Court Judge and Mrs. George Bowles.)

By Gloria Bowles
I was standing next to Pat Boone, singer, author, movie star, graduate of Columbia University and father of four.

I looked up at his tan face and said "How does it feel to be a celebrity?" "You get used to it," he answered simply.

That was the highlight, for this teen editor, at a Teen-Age Press Conference in the pink-walled, chandeliered ballroom of the Park Shelton Hotel on Saturday, Feb. 7. Star of the show was Pat Boone, who was in Detroit to entertain 3,500 Boy Scout leaders at a banquet Saturday night. But from 1:30 to 3 in the afternoon he was slated to answer the questions of 160 high school editors (more girls than boys) from Detroit and the surrounding area. Upon arrival I grabbed a coveted seat in the front row.

The program began with greetings from Scout Executive Joseph H. Brinton followed by the introduction of "Pat" by Explorer Tom Wilke. It was in the middle of the Explorer's introduction that I first saw Pat.

I stifled a gasp. It was luck that I was at an angle where I could see him: Pat was standing in the open doorway of a room off the ballroom. My first impression of this good-looking personality was shared by the girl sitting next to me. We thought Pat looked disgusted, arrogant, a little peeved. His face mirrored an "Oh, not another one" expression. (He attends affairs like this too often to really enjoy them.) With arms folded across his chest and legs spread out he looked like a real "man of the world."

But as suddenly as the emergence of a smile this unfavorable impression was erased. Pat began laughing with his associates.

I gazed fixedly, and with awe at him until he began scowling around his assembly group, when my claps joined those of the others. (Incidentally, it was a very orderly. The female element managed to refrain from screaming.)

Pat's first words were in mock apology for the way he was dressed (he wore a bright pink and white striped blouse, gray flannel slacks, gray socks, white bucks, also had a watch, I.D. bracelet, and medals around his neck.) Upon seeing teens in the audience he concluded that this was a "slightly more dress occasion than I thought... but I'm much happier and more comfortable this way."

His constant smile beamed through words commending the Boy Scout program: "I think the scouting program is the greatest single activity outside of church work that teens can take part in," he said, adding that he "had hoped to raise my own Scout troop, but now we have all Girl Scouts." (Laughs.)

Casually Pat then offered to answer questions put to him by teen reporters. Hands shot up. ("Looks like cactuses," he said.)

"Pat discussed his new book 'Twixt Twelve and Twenty,' said it had taken him 24 years to write and that he didn't plan it as the start of a literary career... such a venture would be 'like Mickey Spillane with a hit record.' One teen asked him about his feelings toward Arthur Godfrey. Pat regards him as one of the three people in the country who helped him most, says that he's been a real friend since he left the Godfrey show.

As for his family, Pat said that he finds more time for them now that he is not in college. When attending Columbia, Mr. Boone had to put two knobs on the door to his study — one false knob placed low on the door and a higher one, which really gave me all the time... without her encouragement and help I'd never have made it through college.

Pat would not like to see his girls end up in a show business career. His oldest daughter, Cherry, "studies piano," is "quite a ham." He'd "discourage my daughters from going into show business," would "like to see them marry some nice guy." Pat's special interests lean to sports. Asked which ones he liked, he named practically every one in the book. For Christmas his wife gave him a six-seater tandem bicycle; he's especially happy with it because "she can pedal but can't steer."

Asked about his faith, Pat told of his affiliation with the Church of Christ, which is "extremely simple." "One should have a strong faith and belief," he said, adding that it should be a "seven-day-a-week faith."

Pat was asked about the difference between this generation and the last. He said he "didn't know the teenagers of the previous generation," but added that he felt the difference in "environment and pressure" in this age has greatly influenced the youth of today. He mentioned the detrimental effect of some TV, books and movies, which he feels has had some effect on a "moral decline."

"I wish we could turn off the TV," said Pat... "it's frighteningly easy for teenagers to grow up and not know their parents, though I hope it's not true in your home."

Still referring to the influence of movies Pat said that these days "kids run around the house killing each other. I used to see Tarzan and then I'd come home and climb trees out in the back yard. 'Course there was no one around to play Jane. But this was a little healthier. These days kids come home and ask their Dad to make (them) a switch blade."

Does Pat want to continue in the entertainment field? He intimated that when he "felt people were tired of me," and he had "served a useful purpose" in the entertainment field, he would get out, perhaps turn to cartooning or teaching... of high schoolers.

He said he'd choose this

Safety Idea: Give Truck Pilots Schooling Plus 'Police' Powers

Here's an idea for traffic safety which we would like to hear analyzed by the experts.

Probably the best drivers on the highways today are the men in the business for a living, the licensed truck and bus pilots.

Thousands of them are on the roads at any given hour of the day or night. They drive in all weather, over all kinds of roads, in all degrees of darkness or daylight. They see the worst and best of civilian drivers.

Why shouldn't they be trained and organized on a national basis as a sort of "deputy road patrol?" This is their business, they have to be on the highway anyway, and their presence in the role of "deputies" could be a powerful deterrent to dangerous driving by others.

And, as a side effect, if they did carry this responsibility, it would make better drivers of the truck and bus chauffeurs themselves.

Our thoughts go deeper than the foregoing, but that's the outline. It occurred to us one evening when an obviously skilled, friendly truck driver gave us the flashing signal which indicated the road was clear ahead and it was safe for us to pass him.

Some truck drivers use this signal, others do not. Some are a pleasure to share the road with (probably the majority) but others are fretful, uncooperative, and make driving competitive rather than cooperative.

So, our thoughts ran, why not submit every licensed truck and bus driver in the land to a thorough schooling? Let every one be given the same examinations, including psychological analysis. Let all pledge themselves to the same code of rules. Make sure they are physically sound and mentally stable.

Then, after they have made the grade in "Driver's College" give them additional duties as traffic enforcement spotters.

Require every bus and truck which carries a graduate driver to bear a bright and distinctive sign which tells other motorists that such a man is in the cab.

All drivers then would know what kind of help to expect from the truck. For instance, the flashing signal indicating it's clear to pass could become a nationally-accepted "rule of the road."

And civilians would also realize that the driver in the cab had power to report our license number if we were rushing at dangerous speeds, passing on hills, crossing yellow lines, and so on.

It isn't our idea these men should make arrests. But they would be responsible for reporting on standard forms to the state police the license numbers of violators. Better yet, they could use short wave radios to notify police cars, if they carried the equipment.

It's a project which could be financed jointly by the truck owners and by the driver unions. Both would have gained heavily in better operations and in public relations.

It would cost money to set up the schools, weed out weaker licensed drivers, buy the emblems, the drivers' room and board at "college." Commercial hauling is big business, however, and destined to grow larger as this country moves steadily away from new railroads and toward more super-highways.

It's hard to believe the owners and the unions can afford to have anything but the finest talent in the land behind the wheel.

We can envision the time when truck drivers as a group will be regarded in the public eye as healthy, honorable, intelligent, high-class semi-public officials — even as most State Police are regarded today.

And we can see our speedometer needle falling back within the legal limit whenever a truck or bus comes into view.

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

IT'S PERFECTLY NORMAL about this time of year to succumb to the Florida day-dream. The fantasy of sunny days spent serenely on the palm-studded beaches of Florida is as stimulating for most of us as Mecca for the Moslems.

When the average individual hits that prime of life known as middle-age his good judgment tells him to take things easier and have more fun. And most of us have been led to believe — and with good reason — that you can take things easier and have more fun in the land of surf, sand, and sun.

Of course the press agents down there exaggerate a little. We soon discover that oranges and bathing beauties do not, unfortunately, grow in every backyard. We also discover that Florida has her critics, including perhaps half the populace of a citrus-growing rival on the West Coast. But when you add up her charms Florida emerges as a lovely lady indeed.

First, there is the climate. It isn't perfect but it's about as good as you're going to find this side of Eden. Nature kicks up occasionally and disappoints the visitors — as she did last winter. But this year the climate is its sun-kissed self again.

Then there are the facilities, including fine hotels, motels, restaurants, parks, and powdery ocean beaches in astonishing abundance. Miami Beach, of course, has a string of hotels of such eye-

HANDWRITING Tells About Yourself

By LUCILLE WILLIAMS

Dear Lucille: I've been reading your column "Handwriting Tells About Yourself." Please analyze mine. It's cold up here, 20 degrees below, not much snow. This is the air conditioned city - God's country, 10,000 lakes, plenty of fish in all of them.

Sincerely M. W. Duluth, Minn.

Dear M.W.: You lend a sympathetic ear quite often, your emotional feelings are for others and you express them. You're very generous and open minded.

A desire for variety rather than routine gets you so involved that sometimes you're in a state of mental confusion - just plain "too many irons in the fire."

You have a good imagination and are very creative. Your hands are capable. As for responsibility you like it, providing it's on a small scale. Your organization ability is very good.

Not only are you future-minded, you lean toward philosophy and have a spiritual outlook.

You're determined, generous and show rhythm. Some resentment shown here, too, although you have a tendency to clam up and not always speak your thoughts.

Dear Lucille: Will you please analyze the above writing. I'd appreciate all you can tell me about him.

Thank you, Dick

Dear Dick: This boy or man would rather talk than write. He doesn't have much imagination, but he's a good thinker and can learn quickly.

He has engineering ability and is future minded, creating, building and planning.

He's careful with finances and has no particular desire for sports.

This person will take criticism and cannot be easily lead or influenced. His feelings run deeper than surface and there's a wee bit of a humor streak in him.

He's expressive emotionally and has a mind that decides for himself. His decisions are emphatic and usually final.

Dear Lucille: Would you please analyze my handwriting?

Sincerely, L.H.S.

Dear L.H.S.:

To an extent you're an independent thinker. You do not care for tradition or custom particularly, you're a bit stubborn, just a little independent.

You like many activities and like being a part of them. In fact, you get pretty involved some times.

If Your Name Is 'Thelma'

This name is looked upon as stemming from the Greek language, and has been translated as "nursling." This little used word means "an infant in relation to its nurse," or, more generally, "a baby."

In spite of this meaning that would render it suited merely for an infant, this name has acquired a fair popularity. For this, as in many other instances, a novelist was responsible, Marie Corelli, a fashionable author of the 19th century, published a novel entitled "Thelma" in 1887, and after the appearance of this book many parents found "Thelma" attractive — just as many do to this very day.

Miss Corelli had a fine ear for the emotional value of names, and in her tale she enlarged upon the impression "Thelma" makes. Right at the beginning of her novel of over 500 narrowly printed pages we are told about the merits of the name. The hero of the novel, young, handsome, wealthy Sir Philip Bruce-Errington, an English baronet, has reached the northern tip of Norway on a pleasure trip aboard his yacht "Eulalie." Reclining on a fox-skin rug he watches the splendid spectacle of the midnight sun, intent on painting it.

All of a sudden his attention is caught by a golden haired beautiful young girl in a small boat. After a short encounter with this unspoiled daughter of a viking tribe he explores a cave: in vain he has tried to coax the beauty into telling him her name. He now feels that the cave is in some mysterious way connected with the girl. And there, in the silence and chill and semi-dark he comes upon a closed door. On it, written in large well-cut letters there is the word "Thelma." Odd fancy seizes him, and he calls out loudly "Thelma." The echo responds, and he goes on, calling "Is that her name?" "Her name," the echo replies. The young Englishman finds the name very appropriate for the Norse beauty who looks like a blond goddess. "Thelma is quaint, and there's no rhyme to it in the English language," he muses. He tries pronouncing it, as a gourmet would try to relish a rare delicacy, and it pleases him immensely. "There's something mysteriously suggestive about the sound of it, like a chord of music played softly in the distance..." In any case, there was something intriguing in the name for Miss Corelli, for it is not only "the treasure of the golden midnight" who is given this name but two other characters in the book as well. And if your name is "Thelma" you might find it worthwhile to plunge into the novel, and make friends with all these Thelmas.

PLYMOUTH

From BILL DUNN, Manager

The last month has shown considerable local interest in reviewing plans for the future of Plymouth. We hope that each citizen will recognize his individual responsibility to take an active interest in these affairs. It was very gratifying to have the faith that the Telephone Company has shown in Plymouth renewed through the efforts of our city government to avoid "Ghost Town" areas which would affect every single resident and business alike. Knowing about and supporting local civic improvements, schools, industries and merchants can not be over-emphasized.

WILL MOM MAKE IT? Will she be able to rush from the shower downstairs to the phone before it stops ringing? Will she slip or trip on the way? And afterwards, when the panic has died down, will you perhaps decide that Mom deserves a special gift—an extension phone in her bedroom, handy to the bathroom, so that she never has to rush again. Call the Business Office, Michigan Bell Telephone Company, for details.

TALKING OF bedroom extensions, we've just heard of a man who sprained his thumb when he stumbled, on his way downstairs to answer a nighttime phone call. Shortly after, he had a bedside extension installed. But guess what happened the very next time he had a late phone call—he was all the way downstairs and groping for switches and muttering to himself before he realized that there was now no need to stir from bed!

WITH ALASKA ONE OF "us," a lot of flag makers are going to be busy with needles, thread and extra stars. Talking of flags, did you know that the world's largest belongs to Michigan—or more exactly, to the J. L. Hudson Company in Detroit. Its vital statistics—height 104 feet, width 235 feet, weight 3 1/2 ton. The oldest existing American flag can be seen at the museum in Old Bennington, Vt. The first flag to use the stars and stripes design was made by Betsy Ross in her cottage in Philadelphia (now a national shrine). The design was approved on June 4, 1777.

Boy Scouts Participate in Memorial Mass in Newburg Area

MRS. EMIL LAPOINTE
GA. 1-2029

In further observance of the 49th anniversary of Boy Scouts of America, on Saturday, Feb. 14, three boys representing scout troops 271 of the Michigan Catholic Archdiocese, one explorer scout, one boy scout and one cub scout, were asked to participate in a memorial mass to the honor of His Eminence, the late Edward Cardinal Mooney. The mass was held in the Cistine chapel at St. John's Seminary on Phoenix road, where His Eminence has been laid to rest. The mass was said by Father Arthur Krawczak, Detroit diocese youth director and scout chaplain. About 15 members of the Detroit Area Catholic Committee on scouting were present and the three scouts, Dan Szuba, David LaPointe, scout and Stephen Curry, Explorer, representing 16,000 Detroit archdiocese scouts, laid a wreath on the Cardinal's tomb in tribute to his promotion of scouting and the inspiration of his dedication to the boys in the Detroit area.

In celebration of our son Bruce's 16th birthday on Saturday, Feb. 7, Mr. LaPointe and I took him out for dinner at a downtown restaurant and then to the Fox theater in Detroit for a show. This was Bruce's first opportunity to be in one of the larger, more ornate theaters, and he thoroughly enjoyed it, as did his mother and father.

On Friday, Feb. 13, a baby shower was given to honor Mrs. Tom Waltz and their new addition to the Waltz family, Miss Jennifer Anette. The party was given by Mrs. Kenneth Waltz and Mrs. Fred Waltz, and was a complete surprise for the honored recipient. Guests present for the evening of games, opening of gifts and refreshments were Mrs. Carl Halsey, Mrs. Robert Waltz, Mrs. William Ince, Mrs. Norman Wright, Mrs. Charles Metzger, Mrs. William Dorr, Mrs. Leonard Ritzler, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. Elmer Heinicke, Mrs. Melvin Stacey, Mrs. Milton Redick, Mrs. Kenneth Hills and Mrs. Earl Hill.

Congratulations are in order for Mrs. Jesse Bennett of Park road, who recently completed the necessary studies and was presented with her Bachelor of Science degree from Eastern Michigan college on Sunday, Jan. 25. Likewise, congratulations to Mrs. Doris Page of Ann Arbor trail who also received her Bachelor of Science degree from Wayne State University on Thursday, Jan. 29.

Some members of the adult choir of the Newburg Methodist church along with members of their family were honored with a request to sing at the 55th annual Lincoln banquet held at the Preston Methodist church, on 23rd street in Detroit, Thursday, Feb. 12. Those who sang were Mrs. Tom Waltz, Mrs. Robert Shier, Mrs. Helen Hopper, Mrs. William Dorr, Mrs. James Greenwood, Leonard Ritzler, Robert Lorraine, Paul Nixon and Tom Waltz. Mrs. Paul Nixon, organist and choir director accompanied the group at the piano. Others attending and not singing were Rev. R.E. Niemann, pastor of Newburg; Mrs. Leonard Ritzler, Mrs. Robert Lorraine and the Shier children, Janice and James. All the rest of the LaPointes went too, Emil, Bruce, David, Mark and Nancy. The group sang, "Go Down Moses," "Desert Lullaby," "Sleep, Baby, Sleep" and "Jerusalem My Happy Home."

To honor my mother on her birthday, we had my parents, Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Weiss, Sr., at Graham road, Redford, for supper on Saturday, Feb. 14, for supper and afterward attended the local theater to see "Tonka."

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reid of Richland avenue in Park Hills Sub spent a recent weekend in Taneystown, Maryland, primarily attending to some business but more enjoyably visiting with friends and relatives. Taneystown was the Reid home before coming to Livonia.

The Riverside Book club spent an enjoyable evening, Tuesday, Feb. 17 when 12 members attended two, one act plays at Wayne State University theater. The plays were written by Arthur Miller and entitled, "View from the Bridge" and "Memory of Two Mondays". Those who attended were Mrs. Mary Kershaw, Mrs. Lillian Hartman, Mrs. Laura Larrabee, Mrs. Olive Niemann, Mrs. Hattie Taylor, Mrs. Margaret Ayers, Mrs. Fay Grimm, Mrs. Eloise Mackinder, Mrs. Jean Bennett, Mrs. Gladys Ryder, Mrs. Dorothy Schroeder and Mrs. Hazel Adams.

Guests at our home on Sunday, Feb. 15, were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Nida and children Robert, Gail and Jane of N. York, Dearborn. The Community Club, formerly associated with the Patchen school on Newburg Road, met at the home of Mrs. Clarice Nesbitt on Ford road, Thursday, Feb. 19 with the following members present: Mrs. Laura Mende, Mrs. Eleanor Rucinski, Mrs. Lulu Westlake, Mrs. Barbara Brown, Mrs. Johnnie Laveck, Mrs. Florence Peterson, Mrs. Edith Gennis and Mrs. Margaret Desmond. The ladies played Bunco and winners of prizes were as follows: first prize, Mrs. Barbara Brown; second prize, Mrs. Lulu Westlake and low prize, Mrs. Margaret Desmond. Mrs. Desmond also won the evening's mystery prize. This group will be together again on Thursday, March 19 at the home of Mrs. Georgiana Pregitzer on Richland in the Country Homes Subdivision.

After their regular choir practice the members of the adult choir of the Newburg Methodist church adjourned to the basement dining room for an hour of fellowship and refreshments at which time Mr. and Mrs. Tom Waltz were presented with a gift from the choir members for their new daughter, Hostess for the evening's festivities were Mrs. William Dorr and Mrs. Earl Waack. Other members present were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nixon and David, William Schmidt, Mrs. Harold Case, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. Wilard Coole, Mrs. Dorothy Pringle, Mrs. Michael Lorraine, Mrs. Helen Hopper, Mrs. Sally Fedus and Rev. R.E. Niemann. The gift was a lovely play pen and pad.

Some of the members of the Joy road Canasta Club attended the Bentley High school P.T.A. card party on Tuesday, Feb. 17 instead of having their regular gathering at the members' home. Those who attended were Mrs. Clifford Hocking, Mrs. Stuart Flaherty, Mrs. Claude Desmond, Mrs. Arthur Genis, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. William Kenner, Mrs. Raymond Peterson and Mrs. Robert Pregitzer. This group of ladies are planning a night out on Friday, March 6 when they plan to have dinner at Topinka's Country House and then to the Riviera to see, "My Fair Lady".

So nice being with you again this week and do call with your news items. See you next week?

Spring "Inside" Created by Plymouth Woman's Club

NEVER HAVE HATS LOOKED LOVELIER than at the Woman's Club Bonnet Buffet held recently at Plymouth's Masonic Temple. A combination of lovely models and a long, long season of winter, hats and accessories made the new Spring hats shown by Schillers doubly attractive. Displaying the chapeaus at their very Dorothy Wood's beautifully tailored avocado wool suit blended well with each hat she modeled. Her own choice for the afternoon was a navy straw with matching accessories. She is past President of the Woman's Club.

Adults Receive Gregg Awards

Shorthand award results have been received from the Gregg Publishing Company, according to Herbert Woolweaver, director of Plymouth Schools Adult Education. Nationally recognized by business, high schools and many colleges, Gregg Speed and Transcription Tests were administered to the advanced class of shorthand in the fall session of adult night school. The following students wrote the official Gregg shorthand speed tests for 3 minutes at 60 and 80 words a minute and transcribed the tests satisfactorily. Judy Elliott, 170 S. Holbrook, and Hazel Mellen, 205 E. Base Line, Northville, both awarded the 60-word-a-minute speed certificate. Justine Nagy, 50360 Warren, awarded the 60 and 80 word-a-minute speed certificate. Shirley Daniels, 523 Roe St. awarded the 80-word-a-minute speed certificate. Awards were also presented to the following two students for passing the transcription speed tests that require (1) recording of shorthand of two practical business letters at 80 and 100 words a minute respectively, and (2) the immediate production of completely mailable typewritten transcripts of those letters within 20 minutes: Judy Elliott, awarded the 80 w.a.m. certificate of transcription competence, and Justine Nagy, awarded the 100 w.a.m. certificate of transcription competence.

A PLEASANT PART of the Bonnet Buffet was the awarding of the 25 door prizes the club received from the various merchants. President, Mrs. George Bauer, drew the numbers assisted by new member Mrs. Lawrence Becker. Mrs. Moody selected a hat for Mrs. Bauer for the afternoon that might have been made for her wheat colored wool suit in a Spring check with a hip length jacket. The two saucy roses on the side caught by a satin ribbon suited her to perfection. Guests were not aware the centerpiece on the serving table were made up of individual violet plants until some were given as door prizes. Grouped together on a two tiered planter they looked as one. Light green ivy cascaded from the centerpiece.
