

Major Fire Safety Changes Asked for High School

A report from the State Fire Marshal's office listing 26 recommendations to correct fire hazard conditions in Plymouth High School was handed the board of education Monday night — and it appears that following the suggestions will result in a major financial undertaking.

Administrative Assistant Melvin Blunk told the board that an architect has roughly estimated that carrying out the recommendations will cost between $100,000 to $150,000.

But, according to President Austin Stecker, despite the cost, "this appears to be the best advice we can obtain about the conditions that exist and we need to do something about it." He declared that the responsibility for the safety of the students rests with the board, so the board must face the responsibility.

The more rigid inspection of schools began following last November's disastrous parochial school fire in Chicago taking 90 lives.

A state inspector went through the high school here in January and recommended, among other things, the placing of fire doors on certain stairways to cut the spread of fire between floors. (Plymouth High has three floors.)

Local fire department officials took issue with the recommendation, asserting that doors would do more harm than good by cutting down the width of the stairways and slow down the emptying of the building. The building can be vacated just under two minutes during drills.

The investigating inspector then suggested that his superior, Glenroy M. Walker, chief of the Fire Marshal Division, be called in to give his opinions.

On February 10, Walker, two investigators, city fire officials, Architect Byron Becker, Blunk and High School Principal Carvel Bentley met at the high school. A second inspection of the building took place. From this inspection came the list of 26 recommendations presented to the board Monday night.

As a result of Monday night's discussion, a motion was made to have Becker draft preliminary plans for carrying out the recommendations, some of which would mean architectural changes. He is to give cost estimates.

Superintendent Russell Isbister said that work should start as soon as possible on the planning so that the job can be accomplished during the summer. Otherwise, the work could seriously disrupt the school.

Among the recommendations were these: In the east stairway, provide a stairway enclosure at the second and third floor levels with egress doors leading to the outside onto the gymnasium roof, then provide a fire escape off the gym roof.

Provide floor separations (fireproof doors) at the second and third floor levels of the central stairway. Eliminate the stairways in the northwest stairway of the main building and southeast stairway of the annex. Corridors should be constructed at all floor levels from both the annex and main building to enclosed stair tower between the buildings. If this cannot be done, install fire doors in the northwest stairway of the main building and build an enclosed stair tower just for the annex.

They also recommend an enclosed stair tower for the northwest stairway of the annex. It is recommended that the east corridors of the third and second floors of the annex be extended through present classrooms to an approved stair tower and that the attic area either have a sprinkler system or disconnected the heating system running through the attic.

The report also asks that all fiber acoustical tile in the building (found in almost every room) be treated with "fire proof paint"; that all hardware be removed from classroom doors and replaced with hardware that is non-locking against egress; that all draperies be flameproof; and numerous other general recommendations. Four of the lesser suggestions, such as installation of fire extinguishers, have already been followed.

Blunk said that it is strange to note that the fire insurance firm covering the high school has given the building a preferred risk rating due to its fire safety aspects.

Death of Fire Chief McAllister Shocks Plymouth

Leading firefighters across the nation joined with Plymouth citizens yesterday in paying a final tribute to Plymouth Fire Chief Robert J. McAllister who died suddenly of a heart attack Sunday afternoon.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at First Presbyterian Church for the 36-year-old father of three who was the city's first full-time fire chief.

As a division director of the International Association of Fire Chiefs and past president of fire chief groups on national, state and regional levels, Chief McAllister was widely known throughout the firefighting profession.

His death came as a shock to his acquaintances. He had attended church in the morning, followed by dinner with his family at home. He complained of being sick at 2 p.m. and his wife, Shirley, took him to a physician. The doctor called an ambulance and he was taken to St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor where he died at 3:45 p.m.

The Rev. Henry W. Welch, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, officiated at services at 1 p.m. Wednesday. Entombment was in Riverside Mausoleum.

Active pallbearers were Chief Calvin Roberts of Livonia, Chief Henry Goudy of Wayne, Chief Adrian Meyers of Grand Rapids, Chief Calvin Johnson of Flint, Chief Howard Holmes of Plymouth Township and Inspector Paul Sanders of the city department.

Honorary pallbearers included Ray Malmquist, president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs; W. W. Woody, Stewart Spaulding, Martin Payne, C. T. McGraw, Joseph Platte, City Manager Albert Glassford.

Chief Robert McAllister

all city officials and department heads.

The Elks Lodge of Sorrow was held at the Schrader Funeral Home Tuesday night. Born July 10, 1922 in Kalamazoo, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred McAllister. His grandfather was a fire chief and his father is present.

City Commission Sticker Candidates Named by Committee

A campaign to elect two candidates for the city commission via the write-in route officially opened last Thursday night when 40 citizens — some of them voicing their displeasure with the present city commission — appeared at a public meeting of the "Committee for Representative Government."

The newly-organized group was formed to propose a back candidates for the commission who would need to be elected by the write-in or "sticker" method.

Announced as candidates were John Truer, 1096 Harding, and Richard Merriam, 505 Byron. The first portion of the meeting was turned over to James Stone of the Wayne County board of elections who was invited to the meeting by Supervisor George Witkowski to explain the method of writing in a candidate's name.

Those attending found out that the process of writing in is not too simple. Another meeting has been called to night at the high school annex (old Junior high) at which it is hoped to have another demonstration. Starting time is 8:15.

The second portion of the meeting was devoted to the candidates. A sub-committee headed by Woodrow Tichy, 1497 Penniman, reported that it had approached many potential candidates and decided upon Truer and Merriam. The candidates were introduced and each gave a biographical sketch of themselves.

Truer, 38, is sales manager for the Saginaw Barring Co., while Merriam, 40, is an electrical engineer with the Ford Motor Co.

The Committee for Representative Government was formed, they declared in their list of "purposes" last week, because there were only four candidates who had filed for the four city commission vacancies. They noted that six of the seven present commissioners are businessmen and that "this lack of balance does not enable the commission to represent

City Planning Commissioners did not give final approval to the Symar Building project in the Junior High School area last Thursday night.

The 104-home plat had previously received the board's tentative approval, however, Thursday, after hearing several spokesmen for the homeowners, the Board ended in a stalemate, three in favor of approval, and three opposed.

The board listened for over two hours to the objections to the plat from residents in the Maplecroft and Birch Subdivisions, also pleas in favor of the plat from the builder's attorney, J. Rusling Cutler, from the engineer drawing up the original plans, Herald Hamill, and from the land developers themselves.

John Truer of the Maplecroft Subdivision objected to the lack of access to the Junior High school with the exception of Hartsough, but his strongest objection was based on what he thought to be sub-standard homes that would be built in the area judging from the model erected.

He originally thought when he saw it that it was "a pump house for the Junior High." "At least one room in the house," he stated, "is smaller than it is supposed to be according to plan. Our assessments have just gone up, some as high as $30,000, and for $15,000 homes to be right on top of it is not in the best interest of the city as a whole and particularly the people living close to it. Believe me, we would like to see the property developed but not in a sub-standard way."

Chairman Strong said a stop order had been placed on the one home erected as the bedroom was two feet by one foot smaller than plans and the builder would make future changes. He told the assembled residents the city had no intention of allowing the development to "grow like Topsy," and it would be watched.

Further objection was raised about the 104 homes all looking the same so that "a fellow would have to learn arithmetic to find his own home," and the whole project was meant to "benefit the builders with no thought to the community."

Attorney Cutler replied that there would be several different fronts given the homes and there was no association financially whatsoever between the developer and the builder. "They were merely cooperating." He said, however, there were certain obligations on the part of the developer to the builder in the event there was interest shown in the model, to sell him more land.

The developer of the land told the group of residents that any private citizen desiring to purchase land to build on could do so. "All they would have to do is show their money to the agent handling their transactions, the J. L. Hudson Real Estate on Main St. in town."

Many more citizens voiced objections, not so much to the type of homes, but to the traffic problems "created" by the subdivision.

Community Readies For Burroughs Corp. Welcome

A "pilgrim" handed an invitation to Ray R. Eppert Wednesday, inviting him to come out to Plymouth on March 21 and be the guest of honor for a "Burroughs Week" feast.

Don Millikin, Chamber of Commerce manager, was the "pilgrim." Eppert is the president of the farflung Burroughs Corporation. He was in Plymouth Wednesday for the press announcement of a revolutionary new product to be made at the Plymouth plant.

"Plymouth's Proud of Burroughs" will be the theme of the unique civic celebration being directed by Mayor Harold Guenther, Supervisor Roy Lindsay and the Chamber of Commerce.

"Our aim," they said in the joint statement, "is to show our largest employer and taxpayer that we appreciate their presence in the community. We didn't want them to have to wonder if we understood what Burroughs means to Plymouth."

Eppert and a score of other Burroughs officials will be the guests of honor at a special "colonial feast" on Saturday, March 21.

They will be met at the Burroughs plant and brought into the City by motorcade. At the City Hall, Eppert, Lindsay and Guenther will transfer into a horse-drawn carriage.

Assembled at the same point will be a group of "pilgrims" and Indians. They will be prominent Township and City officials and businessmen all fancied up in costume. They will march behind the carriage, while mounted Indian out-riders will flank it. In Kellogg Park the crack Junior High band will serenade.

At the Hotel Mayflower, the party will step down, to be greeted by other "pilgrim" men and ladies. Luncheon will follow the "colonial" theme with corn pudding and similar dishes. A Town Crier will burst into the room at the end of the feasting and shout a flowery "proclamation" heralding the "Week" and paying tribute to Burroughs. Frank Henderson will be toastmaster. Guenther and Lindsay will speak welcomes. A high school student with the winning contest essay will read it on the subject. "What an Industry Means to a Community," Eppert will speak briefly.

And then the "Town Crier" will present to Eppert a list of gifts, still being compiled. They won't be worth much in terms of money, but they will indicate the state of the community heart — such things as a hand-letter scroll containing the big Resolution; an Honorary Chief's badge in the City police department; an Honorary Fire Chief's designation for the Township.

Estimate Brae-Burn Damage at $16,000

An escapee from the Detroit House of Correction, angered by a telephone conversation with his mother, set fire to the clubhouse of the Brae-Burn Golf Club early Wednesday morning, causing damage estimated between $16,000 to $20,000.

Back in the House of Correction and facing a charge of arson is Ronald A. Zanella, of Lincoln Park, who turned 18 years old today.

Zanella, serving 90 days at DeHoCo for larceny, walked away from the Five Mile Rd. institution at 10 P.M. Tuesday. Making his way to Brae-Burn clubhouse, he broke in through a rear door.

The youth made a telephone call to his mother, State Police said, and told her he was coming home to get some clothes. He also threatened his mother, saying that he was going to get even with her for reporting him to police before.

He added that he had two guns and would shoot the first policeman that tried to stop him. He also mentioned that he was at a country club.

The conversation ended with Zanella being so angered that he decided to set fire to the building. He told police that he started the fire in a wastebasket and heaped on paper towels and cups. Zanella said that he waited around until the fire had a good start.

Meanwhile, his mother phoned police telling them that her son was out of DeHoCo and was at a country club someplace. State Police and deputies sent cars scurrying to country clubs and shortly after midnight drove up to Brae-Burn and found it in flames.

Zanella was walking along Napier Rd. when prison guards picked him up. The escapee told State Police, "Sure, I set the place on fire. I did it just for the heck of it."

The fire worked itself up the east wall of the frame building and into the attic where most of the damage was centered. Half of the main floor was also hit.

Salem Township firemen received the alarm at 12:15 a.m. and extinguished the last flames an hour later. They were assisted by the Plymouth Township department. Brae-Burn is at Five Mile and Napier Rds., just over the county line and next to DeHoCo property.

Brae-Burn owners Fred and Walter Block estimated the damage between $16,000 and $20,000. They said the building will be repaired, but that they will probably need to use the basement for the clubhouse during the early part of the season. The golf course is to open April 1.

The clubhouse is an old farm building but had been modernized extensively. Brae-Burn, an 18-hole course, is one of three golf courses in the Plymouth vicinity and is used heavily by golfers from Plymouth as well as other areas.

Polish Embassy Hedges On Student Questioning

By Gloria Bowles. "Upon being confronted with the truth a Communist cannot defend himself — therefore he will either withdraw from the discussion or ignore and evade the question."

That was the conclusion of Plymouth high school senior Rolf Dietrich, who with two others, Tom Schomberger and Pete Signorelli, members of the United Nations study group at the high school, spent last weekend in Washington, D.C. and an hour and a quarter in an interview with Polish embassy officials in the capitol.

The appointment with the Poles was set for 4 p.m. on Friday, March 9. Upon arrival at the embassy, a big, old house, the three were greeted at the door by a Polish speaking servant, who motioned them to come in and sit down. The boys waited for a short time until a woman appeared — a foreigner who spoke English perfectly and without a trace of an accent.

She seemed surprised that the boys had shown up. (Pete sensed a state of urgency and confusion; he reasoned that everyone at the embassy was shocked that the boys really had arrived, and therefore, they were not prepared for it.)

The woman showed the Plymouthites into another room, where they later met a Mr. Ross, a corpulent, happy looking man with a thick accent and the official with whom the boys were to speak. The trio, aware that time was of the essence, immediately explained the purpose of the visit and told Mr. Ross about the Model United Nations Assembly, sponsored by Rotary to be held at Hillsdale College March 20 and 21. Ross had praise for the organization, said something to the effect that "the only way to attain peace in the world is through peaceful co-existence."

Ground Broken for Township Sewer

START OF THE first major sewer construction in Plymouth Township's history called for a groundbreaking ceremony Wednesday morning. Supervisor Roy Lindsay is shown turning over the first shovelful of ground where the sewer empties into the Middle Rouge Interceptor at the western edge of Newburg Lake. The project will cost $578,900 and will take about seven months. From left are Trustee Louis Norman, Clerk Rosalind Broome, Trustee C. V. Sparks, Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes, Engineer Herald Hamill, contractor Tony D'Angela, Supervisor Lindsay, Warren Worth, engineer of highways for the Road Commission; J. DOING THEIR PART toward the conquest of polio, arthritis and birth defects are members of the Rainbow Girls who are in charge of a fashion show tomorrow night for the benefit of the Dimes Drive.

'Round the World' Fashion Show Benefits Dimes Drive

"Round the World on an 80-Wardrobe" will be the theme of a fashion show being held tomorrow night (Friday) for the benefit of the Plymouth March of Dimes Drive.

Taking place in the Plymouth High School Annex auditorium (former Junior High), the show starts at 8 p.m. The donation of $1 goes for the March of Dimes. This is the final Dimes Drive function of the season.

The Rainbow Girls, Assembly 33, are in charge of the fashion show with it being their service project for the year. They will model modestly-priced clothing by Korset of California.

Included will be traveling ensembles, sightseeing and date dresses, swimsuits and sportswear. The clothes will be for both adults and teens and are washable and most are wrinkle-free.

Entertainment during the evening will be furnished by the Stemmitz School of Dancing. Commentary during the show will be by Jayne Brown. "Men will enjoy the show as well as women and their daughters," the fashion show planners state, "because the clothes are economical as well as pleasing to view." Men are very often as interested in fashion shows as women, it was noted.

Tickets for the show are available in advance at the Linda Lee Shop and can be secured at the door.

If there are enough in the audience for bidding competition, the clothes being modeled will be auctioned off following the show.

Buer-Smith Rites Said on Saturday

The Methodist Church in South Lyon was the setting Saturday evening for the marriage of Phillis Marie Smith of South Lyon, and Charles Buers of Salem. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ferris Woodworth, assisted by the Rev. Richard Burgess.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of net and nylon fashioned with long sleeves, tiers of nylon and net in the back and a sabrina neckline accented with sequin and pearls.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Newman A. Griswold of South Lyon and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Knowles Buers of Salem.

Miss Laura Eno of Milford served as maid of honor, and James Clemens of Wixom performed the duties of best man. Bridesmaids were Elizabeth Buers, sister of the bridegroom and Nancy O. Goun.

Guests were seated by Charles Hawes, James R. Walker, Norman F. Smith, brother of the bride, and John Heard were groomsmen.

Following a reception in the church dining room, the couple left on a wedding trip to Chicago. Upon their return, they will reside at 232 E. Lake in South Lyon.

Both are graduates of South Lyon High School.

Gerri Fogh

THE PARENTS of Geri Fogh, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Fogh, of 33019 Cherry Hill, Wayne, announce her engagement to Robert M. Goebel, 8899 Northern, Plymouth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Goebel. The young couple are both employed by Burroughs. Geri graduated from Scottsdale High School, Scottsdale, Arizona, and Robert from Plymouth High School. They are planning a July wedding.

Week of Preparation at Good Counsel

During the present week of March 8-14, Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church is conducting a week of preparation in honor of the Sacred Heart of Jesus. This special event is being given by the Jesuit Father Matthew Creighton, from Chicago.

The Week of Preparation, part of a program being conducted the world over, consists of a series of evenings spent by the parishioners in union with the Sacred Heart. Certain basic Christian truths are discussed and meditated upon with a view to a more perfect personal dedication to Christ in accord with historic norms revealed to St. Margaret Mary and consonant with ancient Christian Tradition and Holy Scripture.

One of the purposes of spending these evenings in Church for approximately one hour is to present to God a gift of one's time and prayer in union with other members of the congregation to atone for sin. Perhaps one of the most valuable of possessions is time, and so one hour an evening is set aside for the explicit purpose of dedicating and strengthening the day for God.

This series of sermons on the Sacred Heart follows very closely the series presented each Sunday morning at 10:15 on television, channel 9. Both have in mind the giving of self in preparation to the Sacred Heart for sin.

Each evening at 7:30 Father

Creighton delivers two short sermons on devotion to Our Lord. The evening concludes with Benediction and confessions. Likewise every morning an extra Mass is offered at 9 a.m.

Stolen Car Recovered

Mrs. Fred Korte, Jr., 40954 W. Warren, Canton Township, reported a stolen car found March 8, in the field in back of her home. Upon investigation a 1956 Buick, green and yellow club coupe was found to be registered to Robert Garratt, 2018 Deering Garden City. Both front wheels were missing, but the hub caps were left behind. The owner was notified of recovery.

Business and Professional Women's Fashion Show HiLite of Season

ONE OF THE "DOLLS" in the Business and Professional Women's Club Display of Fashion Hi Lites of 1959 by Minerva's was 18-month old Janice Hettel modeling a three piece early Spring Tidykin of drip-dry cotton, and incidentally stealing the show. Little Janice enjoyed her part so very much she clapped for herself as she coyly modeled her outfit. Model Lavena Hoffmann, holding Janice, appeared in several outfits. Here she is wearing a fashion-wise knit suit in this picture.

Recreation Commission Appointed

A newly-organized Adult Education and Recreation Commission took office this week.

The commission was invited to Monday night's meeting of the school board during which the duties of the group were outlined.

While there has been a commission at work in the past, there was no set method for succession in office and terms of office. The new commission has two representatives from the city of Plymouth, two from Plymouth Township and one each from Northville and Canton Townships and the board of education. They are:

Elber Readman, 1301 Maple, Plymouth city; Jack Gilles, 399 Adams, Plymouth city; Warren Worth, 510 N. Territorial, Plymouth Township; Robert Brown, 9090 S. Main, Plymouth Township; Mrs. Esther Franklin, 47970 Clyde Rd., Canton Township; Lester Herter, 15559 Bradner Rd., Northville Township; and R. Robert Soth, 41430 Warren Rd., board of education.

The commission will meet this week and draw for their terms of office. There will be three, two and one year terms.

Lake Pointe Assn. Meeting Scheduled for March 16

By MARCY BARTSON
GL. 3-6729

There has been much planning and many meetings of the committees involved in the preparation of the semi-annual meeting of the Lake Pointe Homeowners Association. This meeting will take place at the Farrand School on the evening of March 16. There will be much to discuss since the last successful meeting which took place in October.

The Board of Directors and the committee chairmen will give their reports of progress made up to this date. Any questions you might have in mind can be brought up. The following are the committees and their chairmen: Membership and Social Committee, Dudley Maher; Publications Committee, Joanne Cooksey; Restrictions Committee, Bob Armstrong; Civic Affairs Committee, Harold McElroy; Maintenance Committee, Edward Bales; School Committee, Al Bowman; Public Utilities Committee, Al Perttola, and Youth Committee, Ralph Heid.

Coffee and refreshments will be served after the meeting and this will give everyone an excellent opportunity for renewing old acquaintances and for making many new friends. A very interesting and good time is in store for all the members of this organization on March 16, so see you there!

Have received many calls these past few weeks concerning the loose dogs in the neighborhood. Upon the request of several irritated citizens I have been asked to appeal to those who own dogs to keep them in their own yards. The Plymouth Township restrictions concerning loose dogs are thus: if any dog is picked up he will be taken to the veterinarian where he will be kept until the owner claims him. There will be a fine before the dog can be released. A warning—the Township has now hired a permanent dogcatcher who is on constant duty.

Joe and Peggy Mogle returned recently from a 10 day combined business and vacation trip. They traveled to Philadelphia where Joe attended many business meetings at a convention. Peggy spent some of her time at the home of Major and Mrs. L.F. Weaver. Mrs. Weaver is Peggy's sister. Joe and Peggy saw "First Impressions" with Farley Granger and Polly Bergen and say it was terrific. Peggy went on a tour of the city offered to all the wives of the "convention men" by the Jantzen Company. While in Philadelphia the Moggles encountered "no snow". Look what they've come home to—more snow!

Friday night the cast of "Arsenic and Old Lace" and the Plymouth High Theatricals held a birthday surprise party. It was for April Corey, and was at the home of Judy Bullington on Shadywood Court. There was food aplenty since each member brought a special dish (potluck). The cake was approximately 2 1/2 x 2 feet and baked by Terry's Bakery. Also at the party was Mr. Robert Southgate, director of the play, along with Miss Shirley Plant, costume director. Besides the delightful surprise of the party the cast gave a recording of "The King and I".

On February 4, the Corneas family moved into their shiny new home on Brentwood Drive. They are originally from Dearborn, but lived in Plymouth for five years previous to the move to Lake Pointe. Charles works for the Consumer's Power Company as Assistant Gas Sales Supervisor.

Catherine says she has been quite busy sewing on you know what—drapes. Many of the Corneas' friends have been out to see their new home, and this past Friday they received guests from Toronto, Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Phillips. The Corneas have a little son, Tommy, who is two years old.

Cooperation Group Plans Town Hall for April 2

Another in a series of Town Hall Tonight programs has been scheduled for Thursday, April 2 with the leading candidates for offices in the City of Plymouth and Plymouth and Canton Townships being invited.

Held in the Junior High Auditorium starting at 8 p.m., the Town Hall will give voters an opportunity to hear the candidates speak about the office he is seeking and to answer questions from the floor.

Carl Cederberg, WWJ newscaster, will again serve as moderator of the session. Invitations have been sent

Cancer Society Plans For April Crusade

Mrs. Clifford Caldwell has been appointed chairman of the April Cancer Crusade for Plymouth area according to Mrs. H.J. Brisbois, local Unit president. The Crusade is held annually to alert the public to the need for early detection of cancer and to the many services that the American Cancer Society provides for research and education.

Mrs. Caldwell, Mrs. Brisbois, and Mrs. Harry Bartel attended the Crusade meeting at the Western Wayne Unit office in Dearborn on Wednesday, Feb. 25, to discuss plans for the activities to be carried on during April. The chairman has appointed Norman Marquis to contact all industries in the area and has enlisted the aid of the Ladies Auxiliary of the V.F.W. under the direction of Mrs. Rodney Nash to sponsor the film showing.

Plans for the film showing include an April 16 meeting at 1 p.m. in the Penn Theatre where two films, "Breast

School Board At Work To Promote Millage Vote

With only 11 days remaining before the special school election at which electors will decide upon the continuation of a three-mill operating levy, board of education members are at work appearing before laymen who will spread the word throughout the community concerning the need for the millage.

Each Parent-Teacher Association has enlisted 26 people who will work in each neighborhood. Board members are appearing before these representatives to tell them about the proposal. Six such meetings were held Tuesday, another is being held tomorrow, two Monday and two more on Tuesday.

The board is also meeting with the Plymouth Township board tomorrow night and with the Canton Township board Monday night to explain the school's millage situation.

There was a meeting between the school board and Plymouth city commission last Friday night with the commission expressing its cooperation in backing the millage.

Because there is a growing wave of resistance to bond and millage issues across the state, the school board fears that the three mill issue could also be defeated, even though it is a continuation of a millage issue that has expired.

And because the millage expired with the collection of the last taxes, the ballot will not say that this is a continuation. By law, it must ask if the limitation of taxes can be increased by three mills.

The school board fears that this wording may lead many voters to believe that their school tax rate will go up three mills higher than in the past.

There are 14.45 mills levied for operating the schools. The remaining 7.50 mills is for retiring bond issues and the

SALEM FEDERATED CHURCH NEWS

The Fourth Annual "Round the World" Missionary Conference was launched on Sunday, Feb. 22 with an International Students Day.

Rev. Al Finley spoke at both Sunday services and also on Monday and Tuesday evenings, February 23 and 24. He related interesting experiences with the many foreign students with which he works.

Rev. and Mrs. Barnett presented their work in Africa among the Kenya Colony on Wednesday evening, February 24th. Rev. Barnett was born in Africa of missionary parents who were pioneers in missionary work. He has spent 20 years in China and has four brothers and one sister, all on the mission field. Rev. Barnett had one of the best colored slide presentations we have seen. He had excellent shots of many wild animals, contrast pictures of heathen Africans with those who have become Christians, and slides showing the progress in the building of the indigenous church.

Miss Lillian Elliot of the Belgium Gospel Mission spoke Thursday evening, February 25. The ministry of this mission has been carried on since 1919. There is soon to be a radio station established in Luxembourg. The program will also be broadcast to South Africa and will be the first full time Christian radio station in Europe. Slides were shown of a very elaborate and eye catching "Bible Pavilion" which was displayed at the World's Fair.

Rev. Lloyd Ogburn of the West Indies spoke Fri. eve., Cuba, Haiti, and Jamaica. The method used is that of establishing Bible training schools so that the Christian Nationals can be trained and in turn be sent out to minister to their own people.

Mr. Robert Russell of the Wycliffe Bible Translators spoke Sunday morning, February 28 and told of his work in Peru, South America. He demonstrated how difficult it was to learn a new language and then translate the Bible into the native language.

The Conference concluded Sunday evening with the presentation of the work in Latin America by Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Hood. A color motion picture entitled "Unfinished Business" was shown.

A Potluck Supper and Worker's Conference was held Tuesday evening, March 9th.

A Pal-Gal Pioneer Supper is being planned for Monday, March 16 at 6:30 p.m.

The word "Hoosier" which is applied to Indiana is believed to come from the old Saxon word "hooser," meaning a hill dweller.

LONDON E. (Laddy) Taylor, who was born near Willow Run Airport and was the first employee of Great Lakes Air motive, Inc., has returned to the company after an absence of four years as Assistant General Manager.

In making the announcement today, Robert L. Nulty, President of Great Lakes, said that Taylor will concentrate on Cessna aircraft sales in the next few months.

Taylor, who is a graduate of Roosevelt in Ypsilanti, joined Great Lakes Air motive in 1946, leaving in 1955 to join the sales force of General Harwood of Detroit. He is a pilot and served in the Army in World War II.

He is married and lives in Plymouth with his wife, Mildred, and five sons.

Adventists Asked To Contribute To Civil Defense

Members of the Plymouth Seventh-day Adventist Church have been called on to make some contributions to civil defense and especially to take first aid training.

The advice was given in Detroit on Tuesday at the quadrennial convention of the Lake Union Conference of Adventists by its director of welfare services, Vernon Flory. Attending the four-day convention from this city is Clarence Long, pastor of the local church.

The local minister, one of more than 500 delegates to the parley, heard the church official urge that local churches "take immediate steps toward accelerating civil defense preparations and welfare activities."

"If a national or local emergency should arise, we then, as a church, will be prepared to save our own lives and the lives of others," Flory told the convention. "It is our duty to help save lives — the physical as well as the spiritual man."

Resolutions passed Tuesday by the quadrennial business meeting reaffirmed the church's traditional stand in opposition to the use of public tax funds to support operation of any parochial school and against Sunday closing legislation.

H.A. Shepard, secretary-treasurer of the conference, reported to delegates that Adventists in the four-state area represented by this conference contributed $21,979,190.61 tithes and mission offerings in the past quadrennial period, a per capita of $148.00. Traditionally Adventists lead Protestants in per capita giving to the church.

A two-day ministerial institute starts Wednesday. Pastor Long will return to Plymouth on Thursday night and is expected to give a report of the convention to the local congregation on Saturday morning.

Magicians Noted For Finesse On Cage Floor

The Harlem Magicians, led by Player — Coach Marques Haynes, basketball's greatest dribbler, will be in town Saturday night, March 28, to play the Boston Slamrocks at Plymouth High School Gym. Game time will be 8:00 p.m.

This game is one of the many exhibition tilts scheduled by the Magicians throughout the United States and Canada. Now in their fifth year of operation, the Magicians are noted for their finesse on the cage floor, for their shooting accuracy, and for their showmanship. Playing all comers in 44 states, Mexico and Canada last season, they won 287 games and lost none.

The Magicians were formed following a contract dispute between Haynes and the Harlem Globetrotters. Haynes decided to form a team of his own. Since that time several of the Globetrotters have followed him.

Injured In Crash

An accident occurred Saturday, March 7, at 8:30 p.m. on Newburgh Rd., when cars driven by Lucille Vanest, of Willow Run, and Matthew McIntosh, 41830 Five Mile Rd. Plymouth collided. Both parties received injuries about the face and body.

In 1955, private United States investments abroad totaled more than $26 billion.

Burroughs Unveils Revolutionary New Machine Here

A "major breakthrough" in solving the biggest bottleneck in banking was announced yesterday by the Burroughs Corporation at a special press preview at the Plymouth Division of a precision electronic device that sorts a tidal wave of billions of checks, deposit slips and other documents.

Burroughs unveiled the world's fastest document sorter Wednesday morning at the local plant before editors and financial writers from over a dozen newspapers and magazines across the nation.

The machine, called the Burroughs Magnetic Character Sorter, will be manufactured at the Plymouth plant and will be distributed through the division's sales branches located in major cities in the United States and Canada.

Burroughs President Ray R. Eppert personally headed the unveiling yesterday.

showing how the precision device reads characters printed with magnetic ink on bank checks and other documents and sorts them at the rate of more than 1,500 per minute.

In most banks, thousands of checks pour in daily from a variety of sources, including other banks, Federal Reserve banks, clearing houses and from each bank's own over-the-counter operations.

Before posting of the items to individual accounts, the checks must be placed in proper order or sequence. The new machine, sorting 10 times as fast as a single person in the manual operation, will free employees from tedious, time-consuming tasks for more important banking operations.

Two charter planes carrying writers and editors flew into Detroit Metropolitan Airport yesterday morning. At the Burroughs plant they were introduced to the new device and toured production lines. A luncheon was held at Hillside Inn.

The newsmen came from the leading newspapers of New York City, Chicago, Boston and St. Louis as well as those from Detroit and The Plymouth Mail. Several magazines were also represented.

Also displayed publicly for the first time was the Magnetic Imprinter and the Account Number Printer. Both are employed to print numbers and symbols in magnetic ink on checks and other items, providing the "trigger" for automatic devices in the bank's system.

These products were developed to conform with the common language adopted in principle by the American Bankers Association in 1956, and form a part of Burroughs Magnetic Ink Character Recognition (MICR) program. A type font designated

E-13-B was approved late in 1957 and final specifications are expected to be released soon.

In pointing out the compatibility of the devices with the E-13-B type font, Eppert said that Burroughs had cooperated with the ABA Technical Committee on Mechanization of Check Handling throughout its search for a satisfactory common language.

"Burroughs began investigating automatic sorting of documents several years ago," Eppert said, "so we were fortunate in having considerable experience in this field prior to adoption of the MICR principle. This has been advantageous as the development of the ABA common language progressed."

Since 1955, Burroughs sort-ers employing fluorescent techniques have been in actual use in banks on an experimental basis.

The new sorter is a development of the Burroughs Research Center at Paoli, Pa., where scientists and engineers have also designated such data processing equipment as the guidance computer for the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile.

The Magnetic Imprinter and Account Number Printer will be manufactured in the Burroughs Division plant on Second Avenue in Detroit. The Magnetic Imprinter, first device manufactured which holds the precise tolerances required for magnetic sorting, was developed and will be manufactured by the Corporation's Todd Company Division in Rochester, N. Y.

By addition of conversion equipment, the sorter will fit into the most sophisticated automation systems, including those which utilize full-scale electronic computers for check handling, proving, bookkeeping and preparation of customer's statements. Its flexibility will permit banks to use it for savings accounts, installment loans and other operations requiring high volume sorting.

One of the technological features is the sorter's ability to process intermixed paper and card checks of various sizes. And because the average check is handled by many people before it finally is deposited with a bank, the device has a high tolerance for processing documents that become worn.

Township Introduces Yard Drainage, Fence Ordinances

Two new ordinances for Plymouth Township were brought before the Township Board at their Monday night meeting. Both had been approved by the Planning Commission.

Ordinance 13A—an amendment to Ordinance 13 (Subdivision Ordinance) has to do with Yard Grading and Drainage. "All yards, in a subdivision shall be graded in such a manner as will avoid, as far as possible the ponding of storm water in the rear yards of a subdivision."

"Each lot shall drain to the street individually wherever possible, and a grade of not less than one percent shall be maintained to cause the flow of surface water to run away from the walls of the building."

Ordinance 14B—an amendment to Ordinance 14 (Fences, Walls, and Planting), determined as follows: "No planting or obstruction, on a corner lot shall be established or maintained which creates a public hazard and which will obstruct the view of a driver of a vehicle approaching the intersection. In no case shall their height be more than three feet, six inches, except that shade trees, with side branches at least eight feet in height above the ground shall be allowed."

The ordinance further states no waste material may be discharged from any business that would be harmful to the community.

The 13A ordinance was adopted unanimously. However 14B was tabled until it was first approved by the Wayne County Coordinating Zoning Committee.

It was the opinion of Treasurer Elizabeth Homes that ordinance 14B would be difficult to police and therefore not effective.

Township attorney Earl J. Demel reported to the Township Board the $500,000 lawsuit Robert Trombley brought against the Township as well as Difco Truck had been discontinued as far as the Township was concerned. Trombley sustained an injury resulting in the loss of a leg July 3, 1957. He was a Maple Lawn milkman and claimed the accident was the result of the bad road conditions plus the Difco truck, which he was driving. The responsibility of the road condition was transferred from Plymouth Township to Wayne County.

Supervisor Lindsay informed the board of the change in the drain and sewer $50 tap-in fee brought about by the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors, of which he is a member. Fifty dollars will be charged for new connections made after the effective date. The $50 tapping charge shall not be effective until April 1, 1961, for those buildings in existence on April 1, 1959.

The board agreed with Supervisor Lindsay's suggestion to contact B.E. Kolak to serve on the Township Hearing Board to replace Richard Vealey who resigned when he moved from the area. The board also voted to re-appoint Russell Ash, secretary of the Hearing Board, whose term had expired.

The board also approved Supervisor Lindsay's request to have the Township auditor appear at the next regular meeting to explain the installation of an internal control system to aid in handling of the over-load of clerical work now passing through the Township Hall.

He stated that Treasurer Holmes had taken over the water and sewer clerical work from Clerk Broome because of the terrific amount of work at the present time. "The work is growing and will continue to do so," said Lindsay. It was thought the expense in setting up the new system would be about $1,200.

Several representatives from Lake Pointe Village were present at the meeting to "listen in."

Polish Embassy Hedges

(Pete is now convinced that Ross could have answered the questions but "he just did not want to commit himself.") The three did not let this ultimatum stop them, but decided to make inquiries on other issues.

At that moment a friend of Ross's happened to appear. He was introduced as John Stuart. The boys are sure that Stuart "is a Moscow-trained Communist sent to advise Ross," for "as soon as you asked a leading question or one that put Ross on the spot, Stuart broke in with an evasive answer or changed the subject," said Tom.

(Pete has forwarded a letter to Congresswoman Martha Griffiths of the 17th District, who arranged the interview, asking her to seek the help of the State Department in running a tracer on Stuart, so that the interviewers may know exactly who the man is and what connections he has with the Communist party.)

After formalities, the two Communists and three Capitalists launched a discussion on the Berlin crisis, nuclear disarmament, Poland's relationship with the USSR, the Warsaw Pact, the resentment of Poles and Germans stemming from World War II.

When the questioning got to be a little more than Ross could handle, the "power" behind the throne, (Pete said that), Stewart, reminded Ross that he had an appointment to keep with a "Professor Smith." The three Plymouth high school seniors left the embassy at about 5:15.

Although disappointed that the questions which they had so thoughtfully prepared could not be answered, the trio labeled the experience "wonderful, worthwhile, and lots of fun." Tom and Pete came away with several pages of notes, primarily on the Berlin crisis.

German born Rolf now more firmly disagrees with a faction in the U.S. holding the view that "our policy toward Communism and the general world situation should be strict isolationism. Our weapon is the truth and there is no defense against it. Then why, with the ultimate weapon, the truth, should we hide... instead of convincing the neutral and undecided nations how contradicting and false communism is? If we would not meet them in open argument, they will go on telling lies... without meeting opposition."

Also reflecting on the interview was Pete Signorelli, who mentioned he had been missing his pen ever since the stint at the embassy.

"I don't know where that pen could have gone to," he said.

"Why, I saw that Stuart pick up your pen and put it in his pocket," broke in Rolf.

Pete, who looked dubious at first, was convinced by Rolf of the truth of his words, then garbled something about "Reds who steal pens."

"Haven't you ever unintentionally taken someone's pen or pencil," asserted Tom.

"Yes," admitted Pete. It was ironic, wasn't it?

proportionately the interests of all the residents."

When one member of the audience declared that the committee should have some other goals or purposes other than the "lack of balance," it touched off a series of testimonials from a half dozen people who have at one time or another had experiences with city bodies.

The city planning commission probably received the most verbal complaints with charges that there is "favoritism" for certain groups and persons and a lack of long-range planning.

Candidate Truer stated that while he is not against business, he feels that there should be more representation by homeowners, especially those who work elsewhere.

Albert Fey, 1495 Penniman, is temporary chairman of the committee while Paul Steencken, 1496 Penniman, is secretary.

The group was especially concerned with the procedure of voting for a write-in candidate. They were shown that there is a small lever near the left side of the voting machine panel which must be tripped while with another hand the "personal choice release latch" is pulled back.

This latch is a metal slide affair. The slides go the entire length of the left side of the panel. After being pulled back, names can be written on the roll of paper behind the panel. Or the committee may decide to distribute stickers with candidates' names which can be affixed to the paper.

The biennial election is Monday, April 6.

Members and their friends will want to again note the approaching St. Patrick's Day Dance this Saturday, March 14. This is jointly sponsored by the post and the auxiliary with the latter's share of the profits to be used by their drill team. Tickets are $1.25 per person at the door. This promises to be a real Irish party with "live" orchestra, favors and fun.

Also in progress are plans for our gala Anniversary celebration on Saturday, April 11. The post will provide the music and some food costs, in addition to the mortgage to be burned, for the big Mortgage party. All past commanders and their officers have played a part in this achievement and should be present to receive their due credit. Chairman Kopinski will be happy to give further information to all concerned. There are many paid up members and some delinquent members who might find the celebration the right occasion to renew interest in their Post.

The March 4 meeting marked the nomination of officers for the coming year. Nominations were lively for

Rocks Eliminated From Tournament

Plymouth High was eliminated from the Regional Basketball Tournament at Ypsilanti Wednesday night by Romulus in the final three minutes of the game. The final score was 61-57.

The Rocks led throughout the game until 2:57 of the last quarter. The lead exchanged several times until the final three minutes when Romulus held onto the ball and squeezed out a four point lead.

The coal seams of Cape Breton Island were the first to be worked in North America.

Fellow Workers Pay Respects To Fire Chief Bob McAllister
 As the flag flew at half mast this week in front of city hall, the associates of Fire Chief Robert McAllister expressed their thoughts in the following eulogy:
 Our good friend Bob for whom we pray Left us suddenly just yesterday.
 We'll miss his warm and friendly way;
 The bright and cheery smile he had each day.
 When his red wagon came through town,
 He never failed to wave you down.
 Bob always seemed to understand
 When someone needed a helping hand.
 He taught the children fire protection;
 And helped the old gents get their pension.
 Ailing people whom he knew,
 Always loved his visits too.
 In his thoughts and highly scored
 Were his family whom he adored.
 Bob's mother was his queen, his dad a king,
 His sisters and brother were all in his ring.
 A man young in years and full of vitality,
 The Chief was known for his great personality.
 His passing to numerous friends is a blow;
 And the thought of believing it is very slow.
 The loss of our Chief is a gain in accord;
 For the spirit of man is the lamp of the Lord.

Favorite Recipes from Plymouth's Kitchens

MRS. ROY ROGERS displaying some of the Irish linen dinner cloths made by her mother who is in her 93 year. Her cloths have intricate cut-work designs and are beautifully done.

Charming Mrs. Roy Rogers Obliges Us For St. Patrick's Day

Loretta Donnelly Rogers, daughter of Margaret Finlin, has Irish descendants on both her mother's and father's side of the family. County Cork and County Clare is where the early members of her family came from, settling first in Canada.

So, in keeping with the holiday Mrs. Rogers, of Plymouth, seemed ideal to give us a good Irish recipe. However, the personality of Ireland is not in their food, but rather in the warmth that comes from within the true Irish spirit. An hour chat with Mrs. Rogers proved the leprechaun lives within her—no matter how many generations removed—she has the ready wit and the quick tongue of the Irish.

There is warmth in their home too, on North Territorial overlooking 13 acres of land. It took them four years to finish their home, as they did the bulk of the work themselves. Mrs. Rogers worked on the inside and her husband, whom she says "can do anything" worked on the outside.

A delightful sun room, and a built-in room with hutch cabinet (shown in picture) are two favorites in their home.

In the hutch-cabinet Mrs. Rogers keeps some of the beautiful cloths made by her mother, on linen sent for right from Ireland.

Typical of the Irish, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers love people and entertain frequently. Mrs. Rogers no longer serves the favorite of her early forebearers, poached or boiled fish and boiled potatoes. However, she does recommend a boiled pudding that is her mother's recipe, handed down through the generations. She says if you are nostalgic for your grandmother's pudding that used to be boiled in a bag, here is a short-cut she worked out and tastes just the same as the steamed version.

Boiled Pudding

Make your favorite pie dough and roll out, cutting in six large sections.

Peel six or eight generous apples that are in core and slice and mix with sugar, dash of salt, and a generous amount of cinnamon or nutmeg. Mix well. Mound mixture on each square of dough and seal edges of dough. Place "dumplings" in buttered large baking dish and place left-over apples on top; sprinkle with flour, a good 1/2 cup of brown sugar, salt, and dot with butter.

Pour boiled water over top to cover dumplings. Bake 45 to 50 minutes in a 375 degree oven. It should be all brown and bubbly when it comes from the oven. As Mrs. Rogers says, "It is tasty and simple as all ketch out, and all you do is scoop it out and serve it as you would a steamed pudding."

And since there's a bit of Irish in all of us, particularly on St. Pat's Day, we suggest on March 17, you spread a Kelly green cloth, get out the green candles, and serve a good hearty corned beef and cabbage dish and if you wish the favorite Celtic beverage—beer.

Anyway, here is a traditional corned beef and cabbage dinner that a son of St. Pat would never turn down.

Corned Beef and Cabbage

- 1 4-pound corned beef brisket
 - 1 12-ounce bottle or can beer
 - 1 small onion, sliced
 - 1 bay leaf
 - 1/2 teaspoon whole cloves
 - 4 peppercorns
 - 2 stalks celery, with leaves
 - 2 quarts shredded cabbage (1 large head)
 - 1/2 cup broth (reserved from corned beef)
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Put brisket in deep kettle; add cold water just to cover. Add beer. Add onion slices, bay leaf, cloves, peppercorns and celery. Cover; bring to a boil. Reduce heat, and simmer 4 to 5 hours, or until tender. Remove from heat. Put shredded cabbage in large skillet. Add 1/2 cup of the broth; sprinkle with salt. If desired, slice corned beef and place over top of cabbage. Cover with a tight-fitting lid. Cook over medium heat 15 minutes.
- yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Girl Scouts Emphasize Arts on 47th Birthday

Well-known with the public for adventuresome outdoor and camping projects, the Girl Scouts are currently featuring the arts and creative programs during their 47th birthday observance.

The 1959 Girl Scout theme is "You Can Count on Her to be Creative."

Nationally and internationally, the Girl Scouts have recently sponsored two major art events. The first was an international arts festival in Brevard, N. C. Almost 100 teenage American Girl Scouts and 35 teen-age Girl Guides from a half-dozen different countries attended the festival.

Although national Girl Scout authorities had selected the girls on the basis of talent and achievement, they were surprised to find so many participants of professional or semi-professional calibre. A large percentage of these girls had received their training in music, dramatics and the arts in Girl Scouting.

At the present time, the Girl Scouts are producing along with National Broadcasting Company and the Educational Television and Radio Center at Ann Arbor, Mich., a nation-wide television series called "Adventuring in the Hand Arts." The first of its kind to be initiated by a youth organization, the ten-week series is designed to stimulate more creative arts programs among Girl Scout troops.

In addition to special arts projects, the Girl Scout organization uses many techniques to bring its arts program to thousands of Girl Scout troops. Basically, girls begin to learn about the arts through the personal example of troop leaders and troop consultants.

To carry out its growing arts program, the Girl Scouts also produce and distribute a training film called "Adventuring in the Arts," a special paper-back handbook called "Exploring the Hand Arts," song books, records, and audio-visual aids.

Although the Girl Scouts are alert to new ways of strengthening its arts program, arts and creativity have been traditionally an important part of Girl Scouting.

Juliette Low who began Girl Scouting in the United States 47 years ago was herself an accomplished artist and sculptress. When Mrs. Low started the first Girl Scout troops, she felt that the arts should be a basic part of their training so that youngsters, too, would be able to discover enjoyment, wholesome recreation and achievement by creating beautiful things.

Girl Scouts who were to be America's future homemakers, she felt, should be able to approach cooking, decoration, fashion and entertainment with a creative flair. Mrs. Low maintained, even early in the century, that good healthiness and good citizenship need not exclude the fine arts.

While the "You Can Count on Her to be Creative" theme is not new in Girl Scouting, it is another indication of a growing interest among young people in both fine and practical arts.

These are some basic facts about Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.:

—It is a nation-wide organization for girls from 7 through 17 years of age.

—Total membership: 3,295,000; girls, 2,530,000; men and women 765,000.

—There is a special branch, called TOFS (troops on foreign soil) for daughters of American families living overseas. At the present time, there are 32,673 Girl Scouts in TOFS throughout the free world.

—Girl Scout activities are geared for three age groups. Girls from 7 through 9 are Brownie Scouts; from 10 through 13, Intermediate Scouts; from 14 through 17, Senior Scouts. Each group has its own uniform, its own activities and its own projects.

—More than half of all Girl Scouts are Brownie Scouts from 7 through 9.

—One out of every seven girls in the United States is a Girl Scout.

FOUR GENERATIONS and all ladies were represented at the birthday party for Great Grandmother Mrs. Clarence Balven. She has seven children, 19 grandchildren and three great grandchildren. In the ladies are Mrs.

Dewey Burrell, Mrs. Clarence Balven, the guest of honor; Mrs. Loven Johnson. Seated below Mrs. Eugene Bongiovanni and Tammy and Mrs. Robert Jones holding Kimberly.

Newburg Area Congratulates Girl Scouts

By Mrs. Emil LaPointe
GA. 1-2029

Should start this week's column off with congratulations to the Girl Scouts on their anniversary this week.

This is a fine organization of dedicated women and girls all working to better their community and their lives. This past Sunday, Miss Connie Ritzler, representing one of the Newburg area troops took part in the worship service of the Newburg Methodist church as did Mrs. Warren Fittory of Hix road, one of the Brownie leaders of this area. Congratulations again and don't forget to get your Cookies. They sure are good!

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tompkins of Plymouth are pleased to announce the birth of their son, Daniel Wayne on Thursday, March 5 at Mt. Sinai hospital in Detroit. The young man weighed in at a little over four pounds and will have to stay at the hospital a little while until he reaches the five pound mark. Mrs. Tompkins is the former Carole Nixon. Best wishes to the Tompkins from their friends in the Newburg area.

The Livonia City Woman's Club will meet for the monthly meeting for luncheon at Emil Huck's Inn on Grand River and Seven Mile road, Thursday, March 19 at 12 noon. Following the luncheon the group plans to visit at Cranbrook. Members of the club are urged to invite their friends for this special meeting.

Miss Donna Bennett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett of Stark road has been home for the past two weekends from Central Michigan College in Mt. Saphomore year. As her guests for each of the weekends she brought her present roommate, JoAnn Herman and her roommate for next year, Natalie Mason.

The Fidelis Class of the Newburg Methodist church will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mackinder on Hamlon avenue for their monthly potluck dinner and business meeting. All those planning on attending the potluck dinner are advised to be at the Mackinders at 6:30 p.m. sharp, on Saturday, March 14.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ayers of Ann Arbor Trail and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett of Stark road, spent Friday evening, March 6 in downtown Detroit at the Music Hall where they saw Cinerama.

The Community Club, formerly associated with the Patchen school will meet for the monthly meeting and evening of Bunco, at the home of Mrs. Robert Pregitzer on Richland avenue, Thursday, March 19 at 8 P.M.

On Thursday, March 5, this writer, along with her mother, Mrs. Edward C. Weiss, Sr., of Graham road, Redford, spent the afternoon visiting with Mrs. Edward C. Weiss, Jr., at her home on Judd road in Belleville, Michigan. After a very delightful afternoon, we returned to our home where my dad joined the LaPointe household and we all had supper together.

The Joy road Canasta Clan took their annual trip on Friday, March 6 with 11 of their 12 members really having a night out on the town. First stop for the group was for dinner at the Hillside Inn in Plymouth and then on to the Riviera theater in Detroit to see the fabulous, "My Fair Lady". On the way home a stop-over for coffee. Those attending were Mrs. Edward Howden, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. William Kenner, Mrs. Clifford Hocking, Mrs. Stuart Flaherty, Mrs. Claude Desmond, Mrs. Arthur Gennis, Mrs. Raymond Peterson, Mrs. Bert Overmyer, Mr. S. Harold Mackinder and Mrs. Robert Pregitzer.

Sorry to have to report that Mrs. Robert Shier of Angeline circle, at this writing, is still confined to the Henry Ford hospital in Detroit. We get a report from time to time with the information that she is doing fine and will soon be home. All best wishes for a speedy recovery is wished by her Newburg friends and neighbors.

Be sure to mark Saturday, April 4 on your calendar, as the date for a wonderful repeat performance of Smorgasbord a la Newburg at the Newburg Methodist church, Newburg road and Ann Arbor trail. The times for dinner will be at 5 p.m., 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. Tickets will soon be available and will also be sold at the door. Call for your reservations early so the committee may make some guess as to how many they will serve. You may call this writer to make reservations, as she is the general chairman. Remember, Saturday, April 4.

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor:

On Friday, February 27, I wrote Governor Williams pointing out the fact that time is growing short for placing on the April 6th ballot any proposal to meet the state's current fiscal crisis.

In that letter I also noted that Democrats have rejected the many proposals Republicans have made to solve the state's cash crisis as well as the additional revenues needed for next year.

I suggested that the Governor ask House Democrats to consider placing on the April 6 ballot a constitutional amendment authorizing the State to borrow $100 million—this amendment to also include the tax necessary to pay this money back. This tax could either be a 1c sales tax increase or a graduated income and business tax.

15 minutes after my letter was delivered to the Executive Office, I received a letter from one of the Governor's aides (the Governor was out-of-state) which in effect rejected the proposal.

You will recall that a few days ago the House killed the Governor's proposal to liquidate the Veterans' Trust Fund. Even the Democrat sponsors of these bills voted against them. I haven't seen such a demonstration of fiscal and legislative irresponsibility by Democrats in the years I have served in the Legislature.

The only other apparent solution offered by the Governor to pay off our $110 million debt was to raise the debt limit in our state constitution. On Friday, the House voted this proposal down.

Obviously, this proposal was no real solution at all — all it proposed was to borrow more money to pay off that which the state already owes.

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), Chairman of the House Taxation Committee, and one of the most noted authorities in the field, commented that to raise the debt limit was "the most irresponsible type of government ever seen." He further stated that in the next 20 years this amendment could cost the state millions and millions of dollars "just to pay back the interest."

Republicans opposed raising the debt limit because they felt it just wasn't fair to ask the voters to raise the debt limit and not give them an equal chance to vote on the kind of taxes we must have to pay this debt off.

I think Rep. Allison Green (Rep.-Kingston), the Republican floor leader, hit it right on the nose when he told the Democrats, "You tell the people to give the Legislature the right to borrow and then you say we'll hang the taxes on you later."

Republican House members have tried every alternative we can think of — Democrats have rejected every single one.

Now we believe it must be their next move.

All of the proposals we have made can still be revived during the first week of March. If the Democrats are willing to cooperate — working with us to find some way to pay off this debt — then I'm sure some practical and adequate solution can be found.

Plymouth Township Minutes

March 4, 1959

A regular meeting of the Township Board was held at the Township Hall Wednesday, March 4, 1959 at 8:00 p.m.

Present: Supervisor Lindsay; Board Members Holmes, Broome, Norman, Sparks.

The minutes of the regular meeting held February 4, 1959 were approved and accepted as read by the Clerk.

Moved by Mr. Sparks that the Treasurer be authorized to pay the bills as presented by the Supervisor, excepting the amount of $12,391.04 for Plymouth Township's share of maintaining the Dunning House Library, which is not due until November. Supported by Mrs. Broome and carried unanimously.

Attorney Earl J. Demel orally reported on the status of the $500,000 lawsuit against the Township and Detroit Dico Truck Co. by Robert Trombley. Mr. Demel stated he had received notice from the plaintiff that the suit against the Township had been discontinued without prejudice. The attorney noted that the case could be re-opened in the future and asked the Board's wishes in the matter. Moved by Mr. Norman that the Township not attend the hearing. Supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried unanimously.

Moved by Mr. Sparks that the following resolution be adopted:

RESOLVED: That the Township Board of the Township of Plymouth, Michigan, do hereby order that the Treasurer, Elizabeth Holmes, to transfer to the Detroit Retirement Fund from the 1958 Tax Collection Account the amount of $10,158.50, the gross amount of the levy spread for that purpose, above.

FURTHER: That the treasurer be directed to transfer to the Water and Sewage Millage Fund from the 1958 Tax Collection Account the amount of $23,306.27, the gross amount of the levy spread for that purpose.

IN ORDER TO PROVIDE: That in the future any delinquent tax payments received by the Treasurer may be deposited entirely to the Township of Plymouth General Fund.

Supported by Mrs. Broome and carried unanimously.

Mr. Lindsay submitted an amended schedule of rates adopted by the Board of Wayne County Road Commissioners on February 12, 1959. Paragraph 12 was amended to read:

12. Each new user shall pay a tapping charge of $50 for each new connection made after the above effective date. This charge shall be collected by the municipality and paid over to the County together with the other sewage disposal charges. The $50 tapping charge shall not be effective until April 1, 1961, for those buildings in existence on April 1, 1959.

The Supervisor also read a permit to tap the Middle Rouge Parkway Interceptor. The Board questioned paragraph 4 concerning accident liability and referred the permit to Mr. Demel for his opinion. Moved by Mrs. Broome and carried unanimously.

Moved by Mr. Norman and supported by Mrs. Holmes that Mr. Russell Ash, 11816 Brownell, be re-appointed to the Hearing Board, term to expire February, 1962. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Mr. Norman and supported by Mrs. Holmes that Mr. Martin be invited to a meeting of a Board meeting to explain a system of internal controls. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Mr. Sparks and supported by Mrs. Holmes that a letter of appreciation be sent to Mr. Russell Powell for housing the fire trucks on Election Day. Carried unanimously.

Ordinance 13-A which had been approved by the Planning Commission February 18, 1959 was read by the Supervisor. Moved by Mr. Norman and supported by Mrs. Holmes and carried unanimously.

Ordinance 14-B, which was approved by the Planning Commission on February 18, 1959 and referred to the Wayne County Coordinating Zoning Committee, was presented by Mr. Lindsay. Moved by Mr. Sparks that the Ordinance be tabled until the next meeting. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Mrs. Holmes and supported by Mr. Norman that the following resolution be published in the Plymouth Mail to correct a resolution published in the minutes February 12, 1959:

WHEREAS, the Township of Plymouth is in the process of tremendous growth as a residential, commercial and industrial area in the Wayne County metropolitan area;

AND WHEREAS, such rapid growth and expansion has resulted in an urgent and immediate need for the expansion of the Plymouth Township Fire Department and increased facilities to house fire department equipment and in order to provide adequate fire protection within the Township of Plymouth, especially in the Northeast portion of said Township;

AND WHEREAS, the Township Board has studied and considered methods of financing the cost of operation of such expanded fire department in order to adequately service the area of the Township in immediate need thereof, and has determined that the most logical method of such major financing is under the provisions of Act 342, Public Acts of Michigan, 1939, as amended;

AND WHEREAS, under provisions of Act 342, Public Acts of Michigan, 1939, as amended, the

ORDINANCE NO. 13-A

TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH MICHIGAN

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND SECTION 2.03 OF ARTICLE II AND SECTION 3.10 OF ARTICLE III OR ORDINANCE NO. 13 KNOWN AS THE SUBDIVISION ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN.

THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

PART I. That Ordinance No. 13 known as the Subdivision Ordinance of the Township of Plymouth is hereby amended by amending paragraph (a) of Section 2.03 to read as follows:

(a) The plat shall make reference to any private restrictions which shall accompany plat, and shall contain proper acknowledgment of owner and mortgagee accepting said platting restrictions and which shall be in the proper form for recording.

These restrictions shall include provisions for requiring a development plan approved by the Township Engineer, and which shall be filed with the Township Clerk. Rear and side yard drainage and grading shall be maintained in accordance with the grades indicated on the approved development plan.

PART II. That Ordinance No. 13, known as the Subdivision Ordinance of the Township of Plymouth, is hereby amended by the addition of a new paragraph to appear and become paragraph (f) YARD GRADING AND DRAINAGE of Section 3.10 to read as follows:

(f) YARD GRADING AND DRAINAGE. All yards, in a subdivision, shall be graded in such a manner as will avoid, as far as possible, the ponding of storm water in the rear yards of a subdivision.

Each lot shall drain to the street individually wherever possible, and a grade of not less than one (1 per cent) per cent shall be maintained to cause the flow of surface water to run away from the walls of the building.

In general, the front yard of a building shall slope to the street, the rear yard shall slope from the rear property line towards the house; and also from the house towards the rear property line. The valley formed in the rear yard shall slope towards the side yard or to the driveway on the one side of the lot and to the neighboring adjacent driveway or side yard. The driveway or side yards shall be so graded as to carry water from the rear and side yards of the lot to the street.

In the event that prevailing grade conditions do not permit draining of rear yards to the street, a minimum longitudinal slope of the rear easement may be permitted, which shall not be less than 0.4 of a foot per 100 feet, with a maximum run from high point to low point not to exceed 600 feet. Low points shall be drained with beehive type inlets and enclosed drain to proper storm drain. Each detail plan shall be prepared by the builder and approved by the Township prior to issuance of a permit.

No rear yard shall be graded, to the adjacent side or rear property line or lines, as to require a slope of more than one (1) foot in two (2) feet, and such slope shall lie wholly within six (6) feet of the lot line. The Planning Commission may require a retaining wall to be placed on the rear or side lot line where excessive cut or fill may interfere with the normal use of the whole lot or adjoining property.

On large lots buildings must be located on the lot so as to prevent interference with the natural flow of surface water or special means must be provided to care for such drainage. Any grading on the lot shall not divert surface water to adjoining lots. This shall not prevent the use of natural drainage features of the land for surface runoff.

PART III. That Ordinance No. 13, known as the Subdivision Ordinance of the Township of Plymouth, is hereby amended by the addition of a new paragraph to appear and become paragraph (g) TOWNSHIP REQUIREMENTS of Section 3.10 to read as follows:

(g) TOWNSHIP REQUIREMENTS. The Township of Plymouth shall require the owner or subdivider to install and construct, in a new subdivision, such utilities and improvements as required by the Ordinances of the Township of Plymouth and the resolutions of the Township Board. The township may require a bond, of an amount estimated by the Township Engineer, to guarantee completion of water, sanitary sewer and sidewalk improvements.

The Township shall require a surveyor's certificate guaranteeing the rechecking and replacing of survey monuments and bringing them to grade after the sidewalks are in place before final release of bond.

PART IV. VALIDITY. Should any section, clause or provision of this Ordinance be declared by the courts to be invalid, the same shall not affect the validity of the Ordinance as a whole, or any part thereof, other than the part so declared to be invalid.

PART V. WHEN EFFECTIVE. The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety and are hereby ordered to take immediate effect and be in force from and after the earliest date allowed by law and this Ordinance is hereby ordered to be published in a manner provided by law.

Made, passed and adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Plymouth, Michigan, this 4th day of March, A.D., 1959.

Rosalind Broome,
Township Clerk

We certify that the foregoing resolution was duly adopted at a meeting of the Planning Commission held Feb. 18, A.D., 1959, by the unanimous affirmative vote of all members present at such meeting.

(March 12, 1959)

Rosalind Broome,
Secretary
W. Clayton Koch
Chairman

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that at the Biennial Spring Election to be held in the Township of Plymouth, County of Wayne, Michigan, on Monday, the 21st day of April, 1959, the following proposition is submitted to the qualified electors:

Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in the Township of Plymouth, Wayne County, Michigan, for all purposes except taxes levied for the payment of principal and interest on obligations incurred prior to December 8, 1932, be increased, as provided by Section 21, Article X, of the Constitution of Michigan, by one-half (1/2) of one (1) mill per dollar (50 cents per $1,000.00) of the assessed valuation, as equalized for all property in the Township for the period of twenty (20) years, the years 1959 to 1978, inclusive, for the purpose of providing funds to pay the operational expenses and obligations of the Township incurred for the purpose of expanding the Plymouth Township Fire Department?

Each person voting on the foregoing proposition must be a registered and qualified elector of the Township of Plymouth, County of Wayne, Michigan.

The place of election will be the regular place of voting in each election precinct in the Township of Plymouth, County of Wayne, Michigan.

The polls will be open from 7:00 o'clock a.m. until 8:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time.

In the Matter of the Estate of ADOLPH GUTZEIT, Deceased.

Notice is hereby given that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims, in writing and under oath, to said Court at the Probate Office in the City of Detroit, in said County, to serve a copy thereof upon FERN MARTIN, ADMINISTRATRIX of said estate, at 25307 Ross, Detroit 39, Michigan on or before the 21st day of May, A.D. 1959, and that such claims will be heard by said Court, before Judge William J. Cody in Court Room No. 1211, City County Building in the City of Detroit, in said County, on the 21st day of May, A.D. 1959, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Dated March 9, 1959

WILLIAM J. CODY,
Judge of Probate.

I do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing copy with the original record thereof and have found the same to be a correct transcript of such original record.

Dated March 9, 1959

ALLEN R. EDISON,

Q.—Dear Elinor: Could you please answer these questions for me? (a) How old should a girl be when she begins to use lipstick? (b) How old do you think a girl should be when she starts going to dances? (c) What age should she be when she begins to take baby-sitting jobs?

A.—You don't like keeping everybody who doesn't like coming to my house and every time he comes, he wants to take me on a walk. (I went once.) I don't like him at all and I don't know how to let him know it. Could you help me?

Ans.—You wouldn't want to hurt his feelings by "letting him know you don't like him." (You wouldn't want to tell you make a point of telling you so!) Just be busy when he wants to come to see you or go for a walk . . . and don't linger on the telephone when he calls. He'll soon get the message.

(For free printed tips on "Date Manners for Girls," send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Elinor Williams at this paper.)

Work is underway for the next Plymouth Theater Guild production. Jim Gerunke, our newest Guild member, and his wife picked up membership cards number 261 and 262 a couple of weeks ago and are busy designing the set for "Wake Up Darling." Jim lives in Northville at present. A few years back he was the director of the St. Paul, Minnesota Community players. He was with them for five years and during his stay they produced 60 plays. We're all quite happy that Jim has joined up and will be able to give us some help.

This coming Monday, March 16th is the regular monthly meeting for the Plymouth Theater Guild. Still not too late to come and join up with the gang. We are going to have tryouts for the last show of the year, "Wake Up, Darling." Bob Wall, the director, whispered in my ear that he's looking for nine people that would like to have the time of their lives acting up a storm in this lively farce-comedy.

was the Elvis Presley of his day. I'm sure you'll find the production entertaining. It will be on Channel 4 from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. Tune in and turn along with the rest of us.

Later in the week still another big NBC show — the Frances Langford show from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. featuring Charlie McCarthy, Jerry Colona, George Sanders, and Bob Hope. Bob is certainly going to get some exposure this coming week. For all you Bob Hope fans, this seems to be your week.

Of course, there will be oodles of backstage work for all that want to volunteer. Marie Bowers, who appeared earlier in the year in "Bell, Book, and Candle," will be producer for this show. See her or give her a call if you're interested in getting on a backstage committee.

Looking ahead into the TV future you might check your local listings for some of these top NBC shows that will be seen on Channel 4. On March 13th Bob Hope has an 8 o'clock show that is sure to be filled with mirth and merriment. Incidentally, the other evening on the Jack Parr show (that midnight TV smorgasbord that tempts too many of us to burn our eyeballs out to the wee hours of the morning) film clips were shown of Bob Hope's latest picture, "Alias Jesse James."

I've talked most — in fact, exclusively — about NBC this week. Guess I'll have to give CBS and ABC equal time in the following weeks. But here is an item from the TV industry that bodes well for all the networks and local TV stations. Ampex Corporation has just demonstrated a Videotape Cruiser. A Videotape Cruiser is really a videotape machine on wheels. Instead of waiting to do a show on videotape back in the studio the machine can go on location. In short, a self-contained TV studio on wheels.

Cost of this latest of video marvels — $185,000. Believe they are less if bought in half-dozen lots.

Watch for the spring production of the High School Thespians — "Arsenic and Old Lace." It will be at the High School auditorium for a two day run on March 19th and March 20th. My spies inform me that Hale Huber plays a big, snort-topped Irish cop, has a thick brogue to match. Jim McCabe had the role of a drama critic. No doubt, Old George had better go and see Jim in action in order to pick up some pointers.

Say, the Guild is looking for slides and pictures of their former productions. At a Board meeting the other evening they would like to get started on a sound-slide film production telling the story of the Plymouth Theater Guild. Rummage through your dresser drawers and see if you can find any pictures or slides. Let Jim Blackman know if you have a spare slide or picture.

These film clips were a little different in that they were reject scenes. In each of these, Bob has fluffed his lines. It was un to watch an accomplished comedian like Hope blow his lines. Wish we could see more of these scenes that never make the final picture.

On Omnibus this coming Sunday Alistair Cooke will present the first TV showing of George M. Cohan's musical comedy, "45 Minutes From Broadway." As you will recall, George M. Cohan was one of Broadway's favorite song and dance men. Back during the twenties he

Not much happening these days on Broadway. "God and Mrs. Murphy" opened this week. The reviews were very poor. Looks like even the acting of Fay Compton will not save this production. "Raisin in the Sun" a new play by a negro writer is coming in next week. The advance notices on this one indicate it will be a hit. Chicago critics were unanimous in their praise. When this happens in Chicago — a show is usually insured of New York success. More about this play in later weeks.

Well, time to close the box office for another week. See you at the tryouts on Monday night in the High School annex auditorium. Everyone is welcome to come and lend a hand with "Wake Up, Darling."

Valuable Coat Reported Stolen

W.A. Schraegle, of St. Joseph, Mich., while dining with his wife at Hillside Inn, Monday, March 9, told sheriff's officers that someone had stolen his wife's a very blue cashmere coat, which was a Dior original, valued at approximately $350.

The coat, which hung on the rack inside the building, had a silk crepe lining and four large shell thin buttons. The label bore the name of Reinherz Apparel, Petoskey, Michigan. Mr. Schraegle is a patient at University Hospital, Ann Arbor, Michigan, and his wife is staying at the University Motel in Ann Arbor.

More than five million engineering man-hours went into the design of a supersonic jet F-105 Thunderchief.

GEORGE SPELVIN (Plymouth Mail drama columnist) enjoys a sukiyaki sundae, an ice cream special served during the run of "Teahouse of the August Moon," as he listens to Marge Watts read some snappy lines from the Plymouth Theater Guild's next production, "Wake Up, Darling." Tryouts for this production will be held on March 16 in the high school annex auditorium at 8 p.m. Everyone is welcome to attend the tryouts and vie for the nine happy parts. Bob Wall, director, urges all local thespians in the area to come out Monday night for this audition at 8.

Frank Sinatra and Shirley MacLaine listen to an expostulating Dean Martin, their gambling friend in "Some Came Running," MGM film version of the best-selling novel by James Jones, author of "From Here to Eternity." The drama of a group of people in a typical American small town, searching for love, also stars Martha Hyer, Arthur Kennedy, Nancy Gates and Leora Dana.

Shirley MacLaine has received an Academy Award nomination for her performance in "Some Came Running" opening at The Penn Theatre, Sunday, March 15.

CITY MANAGERS CORNER

During the past six weeks, we have been in the process of hiring a foreman for the Department of Public Works. This was necessary in order to find the man who meets the standards required for this position.

The first step was to draw up a notice, which spelled out the requirements of the job, explained the nature of the work to be done, listed the conditions of employment, and defined who would be eligible for the position. Through the placing of ads in the local and Detroit newspapers we received more than 80 applications.

Because of the unusually large number of applicants, all applications were carefully screened to drop those men who clearly did not meet the minimum standards developed at the outset. The screening process left 25 candidates who were invited to take a written examination given at the City Hall. The written examination was developed under the guidance of Richard Behler, a life long resident of Plymouth, a personnel administration graduate, who has worked for the Wayne County Civil Service Commission for the past ten years. Those applicants not invited to take the written examination were notified by letter of the reason they were considered not eligible.

Of the 25 candidates invited, 22 appeared. The examinations were graded, scores and weighted, and a "passing score" was developed. The men who were invited to make up the interview Board are all well qualified in personnel selection procedures. One of the men, Ray Arnold, is a citizen of the Plymouth area, who is general superintendent of the Chevrolet Spring and Bump-er Plant and who has had experience in choosing supervisory personnel. Another member of our interview Board was Ray Wardell, the Director of Public Works in Wayne. Mr. Wardell operates under an employee selection system like the one we have followed.

The third member of the interview Board was John Robertson, the city manager of Northville. Mr. Robertson was formerly employed in the personnel section of the Michigan Municipal League. We are indebted to these men for giving their time and talents to help us select candidates for the job.

The Interview Board rated each of the 13 candidates invited on the basis of general fitness for the job. The rating of the Interview Board, the scores on the written examination and a rating for training and experience were combined and the top men were named as possible candidates for the job. D.P.W. Superintendent, Joe Bida selected one of these men and the city manager authorized him to be hired as one of our D.P.W. foremen. The testing process does not end when the man is hired, for he must successfully complete a six month probation period before he is considered a permanent city employee.

Our selection process follows the recommended procedures endorsed by experts in the personnel field. Actually, this is nothing new for Plymouth, because our policemen are selected after written and oral examinations. We believe that by following this procedure, we have hired a man well qualified for the job, a man who will be an asset to the city and who will direct his men in the best interests of the taxpayers of Plymouth.

Burroughs Veteran Retiring

Frank Ayres, 65, a Burroughs employee for 38 years, retired from the Corporation February 27.

Ayres, who lives at 11827 Jarvis, began his career with Burroughs Detroit plant in 1919 after moving to this area from Gary, Ind. Frank transferred to Burroughs Plymouth Division on a permanent basis in 1949 and since then has worked as a section assembler; section supervisor; section and machine assembly, repair and utility man; and assembly checker.

He spent a short time at Burroughs Plymouth plant in 1943 helping in the production of the Norden bomb sight for the air force.

Frank and his wife, Bertha plan on spending this summer here but may visit California next fall. In the meantime he will devote more time to his hobbies: wood-working, coin collecting and fishing.

Last Thursday evening Frank was hosted by 60 Burroughs employees from Plymouth, Livonia and Detroit at a dinner held at Ernie's Beef Buffet, 9339 Scholcraft. He was given a transistor radio and a 35 mm camera as farewell presents.

Who's New in Plymouth

THE DEVERAUX AT HOME in their cozy apartment at 230 Parkview Drive are very new to Plymouth from Birmingham, Michigan. Thomas was transferred to the Plymouth office of Consumers Power and since the community appealed to the young couple they appreciated buying property and building their home here. Although they have been married a little over a year, Homemaking comes with ease to Kay Deveraux, a Home Economics graduate from St. Marys College, Notre Dame, Indiana. She does substitute teaching both in the Plymouth and Livonia School systems.

U-M Freshman To Be Honored

A Plymouth freshman at the University of Michigan is one of 136 receiving the Oron E. Scott Freshman Prize for students who rank in the upper five percent of their class.

He is Raymond W. Green, an engineering student living at 6121 Lotz Rd. He is a graduate of Plymouth High School.

The Freshman Prizes will be given Friday, May 8 at a special convocation in the Michigan Union Ballroom. Parents are invited.

The award consists of books representing the many areas of student interest. Winner may choose one book from a list of 19 to be inscribed with his name and stamped with the gold seal of the University.

League of Women Voters Hear of U.S. Foreign Policy

The Plymouth-Livonia Unit of the League of Women Voters of Detroit will plan, at its next meeting, to attend the annual convention of the Detroit chapter. The convention this year will be held at the McGregor Memorial Building of Wayne State University. The business meeting will start at 10 a.m. and the luncheon and guest-speaker portion of the day will start at 12:30. Anyone interested in hearing Dr. Inis L. Claude, Jr. speak on United States Foreign Policy is welcome to attend the luncheon, whether or not she is a member of the League.

In March the Unit meetings will be held March 16 and 17. On March 16, the first Federal Savings office at Sheldon Center at 8:00 p.m. The March 17 meeting will start at 12:30 at the home of Mrs. King Adamson, 27476 Sunnydale, Livonia.

The problems the League of Women Voters study are questions that concern everyone: school finance, water conservation and use, United States relations with other countries, Metropolitan services and government, and of great importance currently, State government and taxes. To say anyone in the League knows the answers is to stretch the truth; but to say the members are trying to learn the problems is to state the situation exactly. One need not be an "expert" to join the discussion. Rather she should be anxious to learn, to question, to hear every side.

Anyone interested in more information about either of these meetings should call Mrs. King Adamson, GA. 1-8864 or Mrs. Arthur Cooksey, GL. 3-2871.

Albion Alumni Plan May Dance

The Detroit Albion Alumni Club recently elected officers for the coming year. They are George Kuhn of Berkley, Pres.; John Ferry of Farmington, 1st Vice President and Treas.; Jack Beauchamp of Detroit, 2nd Vice President; Mrs. John Barry of Berkley, Secretary; and Mrs. Malcolm Young of Ferndale, Publicity Chairman.

Other Board members include John Seelye of Birmingham; Mrs. Wm. E. Hammond of Dearborn; Mrs. Robert Mulligan of Highland Park; Ralph Carey of Birmingham; Alvin Ballard of Detroit; and William Riley of Madison Heights.

Plans for the annual dance are being made to be held in May. All Detroit area alumni will be notified soon of the exact date and urged to attend this affair.

To The Editor

Editor:
I would like to express my appreciation to you, your paper, and Mr. Lee Sechler for the fine full-page feature regarding this organization published on February 19th. It is my opinion that Mr. Sechler has done a fine job of tying in a local personality with a nationally important subject.
Through articles such as this you are helping us to tell the American public and focusing their attention on a subject with which they should be familiar.
Again my personal thanks.

Before Season Begins (don't give up) Garden on Paper

Weary of the winter, many a weekend gardener stands at his window on a Saturday morning and wishes he could be doing something out there.

Actually he can be doing something indoors for the garden, something very useful that will pay good dividends later. He can be making this plan. Now is the time to do it, even though the cold will be under snow and the warm days of spring will weeks away.

There are two sorts of garden plans: one for the permanent layout of the area, the other for the annual plants of the season. If the house has been built for some time, the general layout or permanent style of the garden may be already settled and accepted. But was it ever planned with thought, or did it just happen? Too many modern gardens have a stiff, light-angled, inartistic appearance merely because the contractor, as soon as the house was roofed, seeded the lot with grass and left room or a path around it. Then some young shrubs were put in, and there was the garden.

You can live with it, as so many do. Probably they are used to it and don't think much about its lack of design, but with some care and a little more work it can be easily improved. You begin by roughing out, more or less on a sheet of paper, a ground plan of the garden as it is now. Then you look at pictures of gardens in magazines and books, you stroll about the neighborhood looking at other people's lawns with new interest.

Next you take up your pencil and mark the changes you are going to make—curving a border here, rounding a corner there, or changing the shrubbery so as to get a pleasing view from the house. You then decide that half of the changes will be enough for this spring, so that you aren't running the risk of making this layout, done.

GARDEN GAB—

BY BILL SAXTON

We are frequently asked what the dormant sprays are for and how they kill. The basic material in oil type sprays is a petroleum oil. There are emulsifiers added to the basic oil to cause it to disperse and form a milky white emulsion when combined with water. The water acts as a carrier or spreader. The water evaporates after spraying and leaves a thin oily film on the surface. It is this film which cuts off the air to the scale insects or eggs deposited or adhering to the tree or bush and thus killing them.

The scale insects exude a sticky material during their summer activity which builds up and gives them the appearance their name indicates. Scale insects live on the tree or bush by inserting their beaks into it and sucking the juices out. Dormant sprays may be applied in the fall or spring.

Manufacturers generally recommend Spring application as safest and most effective. The temperature should be above 40 degrees for at least eight hours so the spray can dry on the tree without danger of freezing. Dormant sprays can be applied up until the time the buds begin to swell, and delayed dormant sprays until shoots are 1/4 inches or less.

Types of growing things affected by scales include fruit and shade trees, shrubs, cane fruit, evergreens, and roses. The use of a dormant spray on these types to cover all of them in a yard is the safest bet for the average gardener.

The highest quality material for such general purpose coverage. Scalecide is one of the best known.

Lime sulfur is recommended for a dormant spray on some types of material like peach trees or raspberries where fungus diseases are apparent.

Dormant oil is available in cans or in bulk in your own containers for maximum economy. Lime sulfur will be available as soon as danger of freezing is past.

We have had many people stopping in to pick up a garden annual despite the cold weather. Plan on getting yours early as the supply is very limited. Get started now on planning your garden.

Suburban Living

Home Furnishings Turn to Whole World For Design, Color and Decorating Ideas

An advance peek at the newest spring furniture proves conclusively that the "shape of things to come" is already here!

Yes, the biggest news in upholstered sofas and chairs is shape, shape, shape! While the straight-line classic continues to attract attention, its style-appearance has been almost completely superseded by the dramatic introduction of shapes hitherto unknown in the furniture world.

Done on modern? For you there are sofas and chairs that faithfully copy the shape of a mathematical angle—and are most comfortable too! Feel that you want to be different? Try a sofa or chair in the latest crescent and scoop shapes!

Many of the new chairs are variations on the tub shape. There are high-backed, over-scaled tubs, square tubs, tubs with cut-back arms, exposed frame tubs. With the great variety available, it's easy to give your home that up-to-the-minute touch with the addition of a new "tubby" chair.

In addition to the introduction of the new, variations on the older themes are also favored. Greater emphasis is being placed on high-backed chairs, which may be contoured, molded or shown with little pillows to fit snugly behind the neck or small of the back.

Foam rubber continues strong as the favored upholstery material, with a new plastic foams being used in quantity for the first time. These include vinyl foam and polyester plastic foam used in combination with springs and down. It can be seen that with all the concentration on style, comfort has not been forgotten!

Strongest in the style trends are the Oriental and the Early American! The cause so many of the fabrics used are man-made or an easily cleaned combination of synthetic and natural fibers.

Only a little time and care is required to remove spots from the new nylon or blended matelasses, brocades and smart textured fabrics. In this connection, more and more families are turning to leather-look fabrics which continue stronger than ever for Spring '59! Its smooth texture, bold use of color, and wipe-clean qualities endear it to every home-maker.

Dining tables are receiving new emphasis, with the very smartest being of cocktail table height with scaled to fit chairs. This lower height ties in with the Oriental influence as do the new table tops that feature reed, rattan and bamboo effects.

Individuality rather than the look-alike or match is the theme of the spring-styled home furnishings. Living and dining rooms will be coordinated in theme and feeling, rather than through the monotonous sameness of matching pieces.

Thus, it will be easier than ever to achieve a smart home and still reflect your own personality and preferences. Just look about you in the shops, and make your choice!

Let's Have A New Kind Of Pie

Fact & Fallacy

FALLACY: Ice cream may freeze for an indefinite period of time.

FACT: Ice cream gives maximum satisfaction if consumed within 3 days. Date packages and use the earliest purchases first.

FALLACY: Soil that is depleted produces vegetables and cereals of low food value.

FACT: Experiments conducted to date seem to show that a good plot of soil lessens the quantity of the crop, but not its quality.

FALLACY: Cottage cheese is not only high in protein, but it also contains a large quantity of fat.

FACT: All cottage cheese is low in calories. There are 2 kinds—the dry and the creamed. The dry cottage cheese is fat free and one-half cup contains only 108 calories. The creamed cottage cheese has sweet cream added to yield 120 calories to a half-cup.

CHIFFON CHEESE PIE

2 cups (1 pound) cottage cheese 1/2 cup cold water
1-3 cup sugar
1 package lemon chiffon pie filling mix 1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup boiling water 1 baked 9-inch graham cracker crust, cooled

Beat cottage cheese until smooth. Place pie filling mix in a large deep mixing bowl. Add boiling water and mix thoroughly. Add cold water. Then beat vigorously with a rotary beater, or at highest speed of electric mixer, until mixture is very foamy—about 1 minute. Add sugar and beat until filling stands in peaks—takes 1 to 3 minutes. Fold in cottage cheese and vanilla. Pour into pie crust. Chill until set, about 2 hours. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Odds and Ends for the Homemaker

As a "happy homemaker," if you have suggestions to submit for this column we will pay you $1.00 for every one printed. Send your ideas to this paper marked Att: Odds and Ends for the Homemaker.

Stockings won't get tangled on an outside clothesline on a windy day if you drop one of two marbles in each stocking before hanging them out to dry. The marbles will provide enough weight to stop the wind from tangling the hose, but not enough to pull the stockings out of shape.

Whiten discolored handkerchiefs by immersing them in cold water to which you've added a pinch of cream of tartar. (Sent in by Mrs. Goebel Harris, 35469 Hathaway, Livonia.)

Match ironing boards to kitchen decor by covering the board with printed or pastel cotton. The covers are colorfast, won't shrink, and will fit standard size-boards.

A scarf will save wear on coat necklines and will keep them free of make-up and collar smudges.

If food burns an enamelware utensil, shake soda into it, add cold water and let it stand awhile.

After removing the last load from a clothes dryer, leave the door ajar or run the dryer about five minutes.

Hot wine mayonnaise will make cauliflower, asparagus, green beans or broccoli a party dish. For 4 servings, add 1 tablespoon instant minced onion to 1/4 cup sauterne. Let stand 10 minutes, add 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 3/4 cup mayonnaise. Heat over hot, but not boiling, water.

Give extra zip to pizza pie by adding 1/2 package (about 3 tablespoons) onion soup mix into water in which yeast is dissolved for the dough. Mix remaining soup mix with tomato filling for pie and bake according to package directions.

Creamed cheese and crackers make an ideal accompaniment for winter fruit salad, made by mixing diced apples and pears, halved seeded grapes, diced pascal celery and crisp greens. Add French dressing and toss lightly.

Add 2-3 cup peanut butter to 2 cups of your favorite thin white sauce and blend. Serve as topping for cooked cauliflower, cabbage or onions.

Vary classic baked beans by adding 1 tablespoon Angostura bitters and 1/2 cup unsulphured molasses to 2 (1-pound) cans beans. Heat in 350-degree oven 20 minutes and top with lemon slices.

HI-FI

By PRESTON MCGRAW United Press International

High fidelity is the reproduction of sound as much like the original as possible.

Forgetting the technical terms and the jokes about woofers and tweeters, that's about all there is to it.

Hi-fi does not sound precisely like the original sound, so that the two are indistinguishable, but it comes pretty close.

And so high fidelity gains new friends by the thousands every year. Many of them are merely attracted by a chance to hear a faithful reproduction of their favorite music. They don't want to get emmeshed in the technicalities of what can become a highly technical subject.

For such hi-fi fans, we will discuss here at intervals during the coming months the way high fidelity equipment works in simple language.

Some of high fidelity's biographers say its history goes back about 20 years to the days just preceding World War II.

The first sound biologists, according to these biographers, felt there must be something better than the bee-in-a-bottle sound they were getting out of their phonographs.

They started experimenting with public address amplifiers, speaker enclosures and turntables and cartridges made for radio stations. This all helped, but they kept after manufacturers to do better.

After World War II, some manufacturers began to produce amplifiers, speakers, enclosures, turntables and cartridges especially for sound experimenters.

For practical purposes, however, the history of high fidelity goes back a little less than 11 years to the successful introduction of the microgroove record by Columbia.

No less a milestone was the invention by General Electric of a magnetic cartridge, capable of picking up a wide range of sound from records and within the means of almost any music lover.

The mass popularity of high fidelity depends upon the record. Tape, in some respects, is better, but its popularity has been hampered by its cost.

Live music broadcast by high fidelity, frequency modulated (FM) radio and picked up on top grade high fidelity equipment may have the most lifelike sound of all.

FM broadcasting has not been generally profitable, however, and almost no broadcasters can afford live music, so that avenue of fidelity is almost completely closed.

About the time that Columbia introduced the microgroove record, which plays at a speed of 33 1/3 revolutions a minute, RCA brought out the 45 rpm record as a competitor.

The speed has nothing to do with the way the record sounds, but the 33 1/3 rpm or long-play (LP) record has taken over the market in music that requires long, extended performance.

The 45's, on the other hand, have taken the place of the old 78's, with a single selection on each side, usually of popular music. Sometimes as many as three pieces of music are put on each side.

The long play record is the mainstay of the average high fidelity listener.

Streamline Stereo

A Chicago designer has introduced a new sound system made to order for hi-fi and stereophonic fans who can't find room for bulky speakers. He hangs them on the wall.

The "Decrosonic" sound system combines a high fidelity speaker in a panel screened by a hand painting on silk or grasscloth. The result is pleasing to eye and ear.

The panels can be attached to a record player or television set, or bought in pairs with the necessary stereo parts. The system has rated responses of 40 to 15,000 cycles per second, and a rated output of 12 watts with 8 Ohm resistance.

Designer Robert Stone Jordan said the sound is almost equal regardless of the picture's size. There are four sizes from which to choose, ranging from 24 by 36 inches to 36 by 48 inches.

The purchaser also has his choice of nine subjects. The average price is about $150. The purchaser may specify any of four color combinations. For about $30 more, he may send in a photograph to be copied.

The technique may be ordered. The manufacturer, Audio Artists Ltd. of Chicago, displayed pictures in delicate, Japanese-like lines at the mid-winter home furnishings show. The oil paint also is applied by pallet knife or in heavy strokes showing brush marks.

The material is washable, and is porous for good listening.

EASTER LILIES

Dear "Miss Louisa:" Do Easter lilies come from the Holy Land? Are they the lilies of the field mentioned in the Sermon on the Mount? — Mrs. M. J. S., Worcester, Mass.

Dear Mrs. M.J.S.: Easter lilies are not native to the Holy Land, although many have been planted there. The "lilies of the field" were red and purple anemones, for "Even King Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed as one of these." No King in the East would have worn white, for that was the color associated with the burial of the dead.

Our Easter lilies were first brought to Philadelphia from Japan in 1875. Bulbs were taken to Bermuda where they now grow so luxuriantly that they often are called Bermuda lilies.

CASHMERE

Dear "Miss Louisa:" What is "cashmere"? And why do sweaters and coats labeled "cashmere" cost more? — Miss J.A.S., Evanston, Ill.

Dear Miss J.A.S.: Cashmere fabrics are made from a very soft wool that grows on a certain kind of goat found in Kashmir, India. The down next to the animal's skin makes the finest cashmere, and the annual crop is very small—that accounts for the high price of cashmere garments. But in some cashmere fabrics, the guard hairs over the down or sheep's wool is combined. Goats, similar to the Indian variety, now are being raised in this country.

Sweaters and coats made of cashmere are very light in weight and soft, but nevertheless they are warm and durable. Kashmir shawls made of this wool always have been treasured possessions.

SIMPLE DINNER MENU

Dear "Miss Louisa:" I am a working girl with a small apartment. I like to entertain but have little time to spend on preparing for a party. Can you give me a simple menu for a dinner served on a card table? —J.F., New York City.

Dear J.F.: The menu I suggest can be prepared ahead so that only the heating will be necessary at the last minute. A shrimp casserole can be made the night before. Use 1 pound of cooked shrimp (sliced in half), 1 stick of butter, 1/2 cup blanched almonds. Cook 1 cup of rice which will make about 4 cups. Melt butter, add shrimp, almonds, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt. Cook slowly 5 minutes over low heat. Add cooked rice, mix well and put into a buttered casserole. Cool and refrigerate. Reheat at 350 degrees.

Cucumber molds for salad are made by dissolving lime jello in 3/4 cup boiling water. Add 1/4 cup lemon juice or vinegar, 1 teaspoon onion juice or grated onion. Cool and add 1 cup commercial sour cream. Beat well with rotary blender or electric mixer. Chill until set. Meanwhile grate 1 medium sized cucumber, skin and all, to make 1 cup. Drain and add a teaspoon of salt and fold into sour cream mixture. Place in a ring mold or in individual containers.

Buy bread from the bakery. Either a Vienna loaf, sliced, buttered and wrapped in foil to be heated, or small rolls also buttered and wrapped in foil the night before are good. For dessert, individual pies (the frozen kind) baked during the meal or while heating casserole and bread. Serve pies hot with ice cream and coffee. Simple!

Golden Apricot Pudding (Serves 4-6)

1/2 cups milk
1/2 cup apricot nectar
1 package vanilla pudding
1 cup drained canned apricot halves
1/4 cups toasted coconut
1/2 cups Combine milk and apricot nectar. Gradually add pudding and heat in medium saucepan, stirring constantly until it thickens. Cool slightly; fold in apricots and 2 tablespoons coconut. Pour into serving dish, garnish with remaining coconut and chill before serving.

Why Los Angeles Has Become The 'Cult Capital of America'

By JOSEPH ST. AMANT
 United Press International
 LOS ANGELES (UPI) —
 This city is sometimes called the 'cult capital of America.' The title is misleading if it gives you the impression that bearded and berobed fanatics are swarming all over the streets. But the Southern California climate does appear to be hospitable to the growth of unusual religious sects.

Authorities estimate at least 100 of them are operating in this area. Some are tiny secret societies with half a dozen members; others are large organizations with thousands of members and millions of dollars' worth of real estate.

One of the more conspicuous groups is known as the "Wisdom, Knowledge, Faith and Love Foundation of the World." Its members go barefoot, wear robes and let their hair and beards grow. Its main colony of about 100 members occupies a group of sprawling buildings in the barren Chatsworth hills about 30 miles northwest of here.

The "Fountain of the World" was established by the late Francis H. Pencovic of Pittsburgh, Pa., who took the name of "Krishna Vanta" and proclaimed himself the reincarnation of Jesus Christ. He was killed last Dec. 10 along with nine other members of the cult, in the explosion of a bomb planted by two disgruntled members.

Many of the sects, including the "Fountain of the World," are communal organizations which require new members to turn over all of their earthly possessions to the common treasury. Some of them have evidently amassed sizeable fortunes. Arthur L. (The Southerner) Bell, founder of "Man-kind United, Inc.," had assets valued at $3,000,000 when a bankruptcy action involving one of his subsidiaries compelled a financial accounting.

One of the most affluent figures is the 74-year-old Negro "prophet" C. M. (Daddy) Grace, who wears his fingernails six inches long, moved onto the Los Angeles scene last year, driving a red and white striped Cadillac. His first move was to buy, for a reported $450,000 in cash, an 85-room mansion formerly owned by the late financier Lee A. Phillips.

Among the larger groups is the "Holy Spirit Light Church" founded by "Mother" Josephine de Croix Trust, Los Angeles newspaper estimate its membership at about 75,000. This group believes in reincarnation. It also attributes human evils to "black atoms" that have found their way into a person's "aura." In addition to the cults which practice "new" religions, there are a number of groups which are based on special interpretation of the Bible, or traditional Oriental religions. In this category is the "Foursquare Gospel Church," founded by the late Aimee Semple McPherson. Her "Angelus Temple" is still in operation and now has 15 branches in Los Angeles and several in the San-

Francisco area. Its assets have been estimated at $17,000,000. The "Vendanta Society," which enjoys the prestige of a listing in the Yearbook of American Churches, has branches in 11 U.S. cities but its main strength is in Southern California where it has about 300 members. Its leader is Swami Pavitrana, and its stated purpose is to promote harmony between Eastern and Western thought. Such literary figures as poet Christopher Isherwood and author Aldous Huxley have been attracted to its philosophical explorations of Hindu mysticism. Another group which draws heavily on Oriental philosophy is the "Self Realization Fellowship." Founded at Los Angeles in 1925 by Swami Paramhansa Yogananda, it has a sizable following in Southern California and owns a good deal of property, including the Church of "All Religions" at Pacific Palisades and a big retreat house at Encinitas, Calif. Its symbol is a complex device which represents all major religions—a cross for Christianity, a Star of David for Judaism, a star and crescent for Islam, a "wheel of the Law" for Buddhism and a Sanskrit character for Hinduism. The Fellowship's substantial treasury was handsomely increased about three years ago when the late James J. Lynn, Kansas City industrialist, left it $2,000,000 in his will. The Rev. Forrest C. Weir, executive director of the Church Federation of Los Angeles, said in an interview that the bizarre practices of some of the cults have attracted attention all out of proportion to their actual importance in the religious life of Southern California. The membership of all the cults together, he said, is "infinitesimal" compared to the membership of the churches of traditional Protestant, Catholic and Jewish faiths. He listed two reasons so many small sects have sprung up in this area: 1. Anyone can found a "church" in Los Angeles by paying a filing fee of $15. 2. The population includes a large percentage of retired people who moved to California in search of security and happiness in their old age. Some of them, frustrated in this quest by the hard realities of life, enter cults in hope of finding a cure-all answer to their troubles. The Los Angeles Examiner in a report on the cults offered an additional explanation: "The mild climate favors year round activity. It provides an abundance of fruits and vegetables for health faddists, as well as an open air meeting place for fledgling cultists who are just getting started and can't afford a hall of their own."

Only at Kroger Tenderay Beef

NO OTHER BEEF So Fresh can be so TENDER!

1. U.S. CHOICE GRADE. Produced from young, well-fed cattle. Consistently tender with rich, full beef flavor.
2. Corn-fed. Controlled feeding produces enough fat within the lean to assure tenderness and juiciness.
3. More tender. With controlled temperature and humidity, we're able to equal the tenderness of 3 weeks' natural ageing—but in just 36 to 48 hours. No tricks to hurt the natural, fresh beef flavor.
4. Guaranteed tender. Because Tenderay Beef is quick-aged under Kroger supervision, each cut is guaranteed tender by your Kroger store manager, or your money back.

KROGER "HONEST-WEIGHT" MEATS ARE "TRIPLE-TRIMMED"

"Triple-trimmed" means excess fat, bone and waste are removed before meat is weighed and priced.

A & P Food Stores Observes It's 100th Anniversary

The nation's oldest chain retailer, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., known to most Americans as A & P, is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

And joining those in giving their greetings to the firm are many Plymouthers who have shopped at A & P stores for several generations.

Plymouth has had an A & P for some 35 years. The store is now located in a large, modern building opened last year on Ann Arbor Rd. at Harvey St.

The mechanics of the purchasing and retailing operation, and it was not long before this attention resulted in what, in retrospect, was an historic decision for the company.

It was in the 1880's the younger chemist friend that happened to mention to a chemist friend that baking powder must consist of extremely expensive ingredients since its price was so high. "Not at all," answered the friend, "it's just alum and bicarbonate of soda." Shortly thereafter the back section of the company's main New York store was curtailed off, and a chemist was put to work making baking powder, which the company put out under its own name and sold at a fraction of the going price.

This venture heralded the beginning of A & P's manufacturing operation and subsequently the food-tasting laboratories designed to see that each item sold in A & P stores meets the company's high quality standards.

In 1888 a second son, John, joined his brother and father in the business and rounded out the triumvirate that was to lead the company in its formative years. Mr. John, seven years younger than Mr. George, was 16 when he came to work as a five-dollar-a-week clerk in the main store in downtown New York. But it was not long before he was working closely with his father and brother in broadening the company's line and in peppering the map with more and more red-and-gold-fronted stores.

As the country kept improving its machinery and the population kept changing its tastes, these three kept adapting their operations to meet the new needs. As their operations in the cities grew, they did not fail to remember that vast segments of the population were still cut off from the urban centers by bad roads, and they organized a vast fleet of traveling "stores" to service this market. The red-and-gold A & P wagon, whose driver acted as store manager, clerk, cashier and blacksmith-and-veterinarian to his team of horses, became a familiar sight on literally hundreds of mud-to-hubs wagon routes throughout the country.

In 1901, when Marconi first demonstrated his telegraph and the first oil well gushed in Texas, there were 200 A & P stores and hundreds of wagons. In 1912, the year the Titanic hit an iceberg and sank in the North Atlantic, the number of both stores and wagons had been more than doubled.

But all this progress was to pale into relative insignificance in the years immediately following. For in 1912, Mr. John hit upon an idea that was responsible for the most important decision in the company's history.

At that time the individual A & P stores offered all the services that the other food retailers gave: A & P clerks took telephone orders, provided home delivery, gave away premiums and even chalked up charge accounts. To Mr. John there was a more efficient way of doing a volume business. This was to strip away all the unnecessary services, to sell food over the counter and for cash. This way he reasoned, huge savings could be achieved on overhead and prices would be reduced to the point where the customers would willingly forego the "extras."

Mr. John opened up such a store—right around the corner from the company's main outlet in Jersey City, biggest money-maker in the chain.

So closely did he cut his cost corners on that original "economy store" that when it opened it did not have even a sign on the front. But, as it turned out, no sign was necessary. Within six months his nameless outlet was a most profitable shop, and the A & P around the corner had been run out of business.

The surge of expansion that was launched by the "economy store" in 1912 continued unabated through the First World War, through the Twenties and into the begin-

Theme of the company's year-long celebration of the historical milestone is "Thanks, America," according to M.W. Alldredge of Detroit, A & P vice president in this area.

In launching the anniversary year, the A & P president and board chairman, Ralph W. Burger, challenged the company's 145,000 employees to seek new and better ways to serve the consumer.

A & P has grown to seven divisions with more than 4,000 stores in a century of service to generations of housewives.

Stores in this area are under the overall direction of President Frank H. Bucher of the Central Western Division with headquarters in Detroit.

A & P began in 1859 with a man, an idea and a shipload of tea. The man was George H. Hartford, 26, who had left his home in Augusta, Me. and had worked briefly in St. Louis before heading East again to New York City. His idea was to sell good tea, then the favorite national beverage, to New Yorkers at about a third of the retail price by buying an entire clipper shipload and selling it directly to the public, thus eliminating many in-between steps and costs.

So successful was his venture in selling the first shipload at dockside that he immediately opened his first store at 31 Vesey St. in New York City.

The Vesey Street store was a wonder to behold. Outside, a huge gaslit T illuminated a store front of "real Chinese vermilion and flaked gold." Inside, the hed and gold scheme was carried over to the huge tea bins that lined the walls; Japanese lanterns and brilliant glass chandeliers that threw a bright hue over the cashier's cage, built in the shape of a Chinese pagoda.

To bring the highest possible volume of customers marching through his store, he employed promotional techniques, including a brass band that played on Saturday nights, that were spectacular even in an era when P.T. Barnum was at the height of his glory.

The cost-cutting philosophy of the Vesey Street store was so successful that Mr. Hartford soon spread his activities beyond its confines.

Advertisements began appearing in national magazines such as Harper's Weekly announcing the fantastic tea values available by mail order from New York; "tea clubs" were being organized in cities up and down the coast.

Ten years after it opened its doors, the original Vesey Street store had been outgrown and supplanted by a larger location next door, coffee had been added to the line (a few years later it would be christened Eight O'Clock), and Wells Fargo wagons were delivering the company's brands throughout the land.

Within a short time after 1869 there were "retail branch houses" in Boston and Philadelphia, and by the beginning of the 1870's, A & P stores were springing up in major cities along the eastern seaboard.

It was a national tragedy, the Chicago fire of 1871, that first took the company into the heart of the Midwest. The nation mobilized its resources to come to the aid of the ruined city, and as relief supplies began to rumble in by trainload after trainload, A & P foods were among the first to arrive. Soon an A & P store had been hastily set up, and within a few months there were two more. And as the thriving community rebuilt itself the A & P stayed to open more retail outlets.

By 1880, when the bustle was a standard accessory of feminine attire and horses pulled street cars, there were 95 A & P stores scattered from Boston to Milwaukee. Not only was the company recognized as the most efficient coffee and tea business in the world, but it had already been established as a symbol of the new chain-store concept. By this time, the company had added coffee and spices to its line of teas.

That was the year when George L. Hartford, 15, oldest son of the founder came to work for the company. Young "Mr. George" began as chief cashier of the New York store, and for some years his most time-consuming task was the counting, bill by bill, of the chain's daily cash income.

But Mr. George had more on his mind than just keeping track of what came in. From the beginning he gave minute attention to the ning of the Great Depression. In that late Thirties, the super market entered the scene. Beginning with 20 super markets in 1936, it pushed steadily upward, replacing service stores by the score. This transition to super markets continued at a steady pace (excepting war years) to a point where today most of the retail outlets are of the super market variety.

When refrigerated railroad cars began to roll in American railroads, A & P was the first food chain to distribute California oranges, Texas grapefruit and Georgia peaches on a national basis. A & P also first put fresh seafood on the tables of average-income families in inland cities.

When customers complained about the bottle-neck at service meat counters, A & P pioneered self-service meats and, as the result of extensive research, came up with the first satisfactory system of prepackaged meat cuts at a time when such an innovation was thought impossible.

Today, A & P is the world's leading organization in the purchase and distribution of food. Behind each of its 4,000-plus stores lies a far-flung procurement and distribution setup.

There are scores of warehouses, large modern bakeries, coffee roasting plants, milk plants, a salmon fishing fleet and canneries, a nationwide buying network, the world's largest cheese warehouse, food processing plants in the East and Midwest, coffee buying offices in Central and South America and hundreds of commodity specialists who cover America from the olive groves of California to the lobster beds of Maine.

Presently at the helm of A & P is Mr. Burger who was elected to the presidency in 1950, only a year before the death of Mr. John Hartford. He was given the added responsibility of board chairman after the death of Mr. George Hartford in 1957.

Power Steering
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The aircraft industry has developed an electronic power steering system for supersonic fighter-bombers that makes takeoffs and landings at speeds of 200 miles an hour as easy as steering the family automobile.

Planes, official publication of the Aircraft Industries Association, says conventional mechanical steering systems were too slow to cope with the high speed of the latest aircraft. A half-second delay in responding to the pilot's signal could send the jet plunging off the runway.

The new system, which was tailor-made to match the average pilot's physical reactions, guarantees complete control of the jet on the ground at all times.

Men In Service

Donald D. Brown, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brown of 699 Adams St., Plymouth, is scheduled to arrive in Alameda, Calif., March 12, aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Midway after a tour of duty in the Western Pacific.

Since the beginning of the cruise in August, the Midway took part in the Formosan Patrol and was engaged in operations with the U.S. Seventh Fleet.

Between exercises her crew visited Yokosuka, Yokohama, Tokyo and Horoshima, Japan; Hong Kong; Okinawa and the Philippine Islands.

Departing Japan in late February, the carrier made a brief stop in Hawaii before returning to the U.S.

Fred K. Clement, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Clement of 301 W. Liberty St., is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Franklin D. Roosevelt with the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean.

The Roosevelt departed Mayport, Fla., Feb. 13, in company with 21 other ships of the Second Fleet to conduct fleet exercises in the Atlantic enroute to the Mediterranean.

On the area the carrier will operate with units of the Sixth Fleet and is expected to visit Gibraltar, France, Spain and Italy.

Harold Hopper
Harold Hopper, aviation electronics technician third class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Hopper of 44150 Shearer Dr., is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Intrepid in the Mediterranean.

During her seven month tour of overseas duty the Intrepid's crew will take part in exercises with the U.S. Sixth Fleet and visit well known Mediterranean ports.

Joseph Barraco
Joseph S. Barraco, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Barraco of 115 S. Mill St., is serving aboard the seaplane tender USS Valcour operating in the Persian Gulf — Middle East Area.

On her way to the Gulf, the Valcour sailed through the Mediterranean Sea, the Suez Canal, the Red Sea, the Gulf of Aden and the Arabian Sea.

She is serving as flagship for the Commander of the Middle East Force, and will operate from Bahrain Island the largest of an archipelago of small, low-lying islands in the Gulf.

V. F. W. News
"No light guides us to the future like that illumining our path from the past." — Benjamin Franklin

Legislative chairman Dorothy O'Reilly has asked that all members write their representatives on the important bills and get your answers to her as soon as possible. She has arranged for Ruth Gallagher, Department chairman of the Legislative committee, to be present at our meeting on April 7 to explain some of these bills and answer any questions we might have.

Saturday, March 14 is the next dance. Get your babysitters now so that you can plan on attending.

The Anniversary dinner and Mortgage burning ceremony will be held on Saturday, April 11 at 6:30. Ed and Bernice Kopenski are general chairmen.

April is cancer month. Barbara Nash, Cancer Chairman, has planned two film showings for Thursday, April 16. In the afternoon two films, Time and Two Women and Breast Self-Examination, will be shown at the Penn theatre and in the evening, Time and Two Women will be shown at the Veterans of Foreign Wars building on Lilley road. This will be in conjunction with a card party. Both of these affairs are open to the public. A good slogan to advertise these film showings would be: "Each one—Reach one."

Election of officers was held at our last meeting. New officers are: President, Milly Dely; Senior Vice-President, Betty Marquis; Junior Vice-President, Eileen Williams; Treasurer, Gertrude Danol; Chaplain, Geraldine Olson; Conductress, Loreta Young; Guard, Helen Luttermoser; Trustee, two years, Grace Burley, three years, Lou Archer; Wayne County Council delegates, Betty Marquis and Virginia Baril; District delegates, Lou Archer, Eleanor Gust, Eileen Williams, LeMay Smith, Bernice Kopenski and Gertrude Danol.

Good luck to all the officers.

Lawyer-Priest
MELROSE, Mass. (UPI) — The Rev. George B. Gray, 44-year-old lawyer-priest, has been admitted to practice before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Father Gray, a curate at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church here, says he uses his legal knowledge "for the glory of God." He serves as counsel for the needy and never charges a fee.

Hops to the Defense
HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — Casimir A. Rosinski, 41, admitted he smelled like a brewery following a traffic accident in West Hartford, but he insisted he wasn't drunk.

A Common Pleas Court jury acquitted Rosinski when he explained he works in a brewery and always smells that way.

Guaranteed Wage Again Being Pushed by Labor

LABOR MIGHT BE FORCING industry to provide a guaranteed annual wage in an economic war of attrition.

The principle of GAW was established some years ago by UAW President Walter P. Reuther. It won a compromise in labor-management negotiations, but fell short of victory.

But now, by extending other phases of labor's fight for more security, it is possible to see signs of success.

Labor unions always have considered the state's unemployment compensation program inadequate. Last week, it got support from an unusual quarter.

Three University of Michigan professors reported results of their research showing that jobless benefits in all states are generally inadequate.

They said that all workers should be covered. Michigan's law covers those in plants with four or more workers. They said benefits should last 30 weeks, some seven and one-half months. Michigan's runs 26 weeks, or six months.

They said that a worker should get 40 per cent of his take home pay while jobless. Michigan's ranges from 40 to 50 per cent.

The AFL-CIO in Michigan is now campaigning for perpetual unemployment compensation, benefits for the entire period of unemployment, no matter how long.

Republicans in the legislature are proposing a plan under which workers would contribute to the fund which is tapped for the benefit checks.

The idea was first brought up for consideration by the unions, but Republicans stole a march on them by publicly announcing the idea early.

Oddly, unemployment compensation started first as a fringe benefit for workers, negotiated by unions with a strike threat as its major weapon. At present employers make 100 per cent of the contributions to the fund based on a payroll assessment. The more jobs they keep constant, the less they contribute.

VOTERS WILL DECIDE April 6 whether to give the state legislature extraordinary powers in case of a disastrous enemy attack.

The proposal, which came from the Federal Office of Civil Defense, would allow the legislature to fill offices temporarily to keep government alive until normal operations could be resumed.

It would require an enemy attack on the United States and, specifically, damage which would vacate important governmental offices.

However, it does not say what would happen if the legislature were bombed out.

HANDWRITING Tells About Yourself

This column is made up of letters from one family (Plymouth). It consists of children, grandchildren and in-laws. The last names have been withheld. All letters were submitted by permission by the mother (also grandmother) and as directed have been returned.

This boy is conservative, does not like to waste, and is also inclined to be efficient. He is broadminded and also spiritually minded. Though not a consistent trait he knows when to apply diplomacy and use it. He likes to be active and is enthusiastic. There is no doubt in his mind when he says yes or no. His decision is final and emphatic. He is proud of his hands and his hands are very capable.

This boy likes his close friends best and does not care for a wide selection of well chosen ones. Sometimes there is a trend towards self consciousness, also sensitiveness. He has a good memory.

This girl likes to write, likes to express herself on paper. She's a good listener and very practical minded. However, she is also the analytical type who makes mental discoveries and sifts them in accordance to what their value might be.

There's very little sensitivity — not easily hurt. She's conservative and careful even though a generous person. She likes to go forward, to move ahead and has initiative to back it up.

There is some resentment, but not consistent. She is too can be diplomatic when necessary.

This girl is an active minded person, who loves variety. She's very determined and has a will and purpose in mind. She's a good thinker, alert, acts and thinks without hesitating. Has a liking for re-

If Your Name Is 'Ursula', Here's Lore

By Anne Reynolds, Ph.D.

"I see her in the festive warm rest all grace, her motion all delight" wrote the American poet Robert Underwood Johnson in his poem "Ursula." This shows again that the literal meaning of a given name scarcely reflects on our appreciation of the person who bears it. The Ursula the poet wrote about seems to have been an attractive and graceful woman, and most likely no one who knew her connected her with a little she-bear. Because this is what "Ursula" means, translated from the Latin. Bear-cubs are cute but not "all grace." Incidentally, Robert U. Johnson must have known exactly what bear cubs are like. He helped to establish Yosemite Park, California, as a National Park area, and there are plenty of brown bears at Yosemite. My husband took quite a few photographs of droll "ursulas" or bear cubs, there.

If it seems odd to you that a girl should have the name of a bear, even a small one, this name looks even less suited for a butterfly. But a large butterfly of purple hue with blue and red spots has been named so.

The name "Ursula" spread from Cologne, Germany, because St. Ursula is said to have been martyred in that city. She was, according to the legend, a British princess who lived in the fifth century. Betrothed by her parents to a young man, she undertook a sea-voyage to join the youth, in order to ask him to put off the wedding for three years. But, she was shipwrecked on the German Coast.

She was slain, having reached Cologne by Attila, "The Scourge of God," King of the Huns, together with her maiden companions that numbered allegedly 11,000. This figure was most likely arrived at through an error in reading by the purveyors of the legend. In the choir of the church of St. Ursula at Cologne there is an inscription relating to her, and the skulls of Ursula and some of her companions are still being shown there.

The legend was highly popular in the Middle Ages, and later centuries and inspired the Venetian painter Vittorio Carpaccio to his great series depicting the life of St. Ursula in the Academy of Venice. Contributing to the popularity of "Ursula" was the Order of the Ursulines, a religious order devoted to the education of young girls. It was the first teaching order of women established by the Roman Catholic Church.

Community Newspapers Are Hailed by Piggins

Wayne County's 31 community newspapers have a circulation constituting approximately one-third of the total newspaper circulation within the county's limits, according to Edward S. Piggins, former Detroit police commissioner.

"For some years as police commissioner," said Piggins, addressing about 300 men at a "Piggins for Circuit Judge" luncheon in the K of C Monaghan Council building at 13530 Lesure Ave. "I had occasion to follow all the Wayne County community newspapers in their coverage of news relating to public safety — and particularly to traffic safety.

"The thing that impressed me most about the community newspapers was the magnificent cooperation they gave to every movement in the public interest — whether in the interest of the metropolitan area as a whole, or of the community of which the newspaper was the communications organ.

"I noticed, too, that the community papers were as well edited and as well written as Detroit's three dailies. And that's a notable achievement, for the Detroit dailies rank with the best in the world.

"There's no substitute for the community newspaper, if one wants to get close to the community in which it circulates. I suppose that's only natural — just as natural as it is for men to organize into communities of practical size for neighborly cooperation, effective political administration or action, and social enjoyment.

The former police commissioner, who is one of Detroit's most prominent lawyers, pointed out that the community newspaper is at the "very heart and hub of the community it serves."

"It is," he said, "the prime and generally the only consistent means of communication on a wholesale basis within the community. Whether a community activity is the 'town hall' type of gathering called to better the community's services or to protect its interests, or merely a fraternal and social get-together, you'll find the announcement of it, and the after-the-event report on it, in the community newspaper. You'll also find the community newspaper backing every kind of idea or drive for the good of the community.

"And, as a matter of course, it covers the news of the community better than any other medium — particularly news of the worth-while projects upon which the growth and well-being of the community so largely depend."

"Life Begins at Forty"

By ROBERT PETERSON

By Robert Peterson JUST ABOUT EVERYONE is envious of retirees who can afford a winter home in the south and a summer home in the north. Yet this state of double domiciliary bliss is within the means of many homeowners who may not realize it.

"We formerly lived in a four-bedroom house in the midwest," writes Earl D. Harris, 72. "When I retired four years ago we went to Florida for the winter, and spent the following summer visiting our daughter in Vermont. We liked the warmth of the south and the coolness of the north and found ourselves wishing we could divide our time between the two.

"One day we woke up to the fact that by selling out home we'd have enough money to buy two smaller homes. So we sold out for $28,000 and bought a stone farmhouse near Rutland, Vermont, for $12,000, and a small ranch house near West Palm Beach, Florida, for $15,000.

home each May and settle down to a cool and relaxing summer. We have a big garden which keeps us busy. Our daughter lives just ten miles away so we see a lot of our grandchildren. We stay through the autumn so we can see how our pumpkins turned out, and then turn the place over to an agent who keeps an eye on it and helps up pick up a couple of hundred dollars in rentals during the winter. Then we hop in the car and follow the ducks south, stopping along the way to sight-see and visit friends. We give ourselves two weeks for the trip and love every minute of it.

"Arriving in Florida we soon get into the swing of things, along with a flock of other retirees who follow the sun like we do. Every year there seems to be more and more things for older people to do — golden age clubs, fishing contests, craft classes, and hobby shows. We wouldn't want to live in Florida the year round, but it suits us fine from November till April. And same as in Vermont we turn the place over to an agent when we leave who handles summer rentals which give us some income off the property while we're gone.

"Having two homes has a lot to recommend it," he concluded. "It permits you to develop two sets of friends, it gives you an annual change of scene and climate, and it gives you an income from rentals the year around."

The Plymouth School Board will take official action on a $1,350,000 enlargement program Thursday. Eight mill increase to be asked of local taxpayers.

Unemployment in Plymouth started moving upward following the holiday season, and last week it stood at an all time high. Approximately 1,000 residents of Plymouth are unemployed at the present time. This number is the highest ever recorded by the office since its establishment in 1945.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McGeehan and daughter, Karen spent Saturday visiting relatives in Royal Oak and Ferndale.

The poultry farm at the nearby Detroit House of Correction has been rated one of the finest in the state, a report from the institution disclosed.

Last Friday Mrs. Robert Diekman, Mrs. Robert Kenyon, Mrs. James Herter, Mrs. Howard Holmes, Mrs. Marvin Wilson, Mrs. Jack Sible and Mrs. Earl Lewis were guests of Mrs. Tom McPhail.

Carol Ann Kilgore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kilgore, celebrated her third birthday on Sunday with a party in the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred White.

Plymouth Theatre Guild will present their first play, a one act comedy, "Love in a Cupboard." Members of the cast are Mrs. Hugh Law, Mrs. John Gaffield, Max Trucks and Marvin Terry.

Mr. and Mrs. George Adams had as their guests on Saturday Mrs. Ruth Pallman and children of South Lyon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lisle Alexander returned to Plymouth this week after a five day trip to Washington, D. C.

home of Dr. and Mrs. J.H. Todd in Northville.

Hundreds of Ford employees in and around Plymouth were thrilled when they read in the Detroit newspapers this week of the statement made by Henry Ford of a general wage increase whereby no Ford employee would receive less than $5.00 per day.

Junior Court of the Macabees will be organized in Plymouth on March 21.

Attending physicians of Mac Donnelly, one of the boys critically injured in an automobile accident on March 5, stated yesterday that unless there were unforeseen complications, the lad would entirely recover from the frightful injuries he received. He had been unconscious for over a week.

Few Plymouth residents know that local teachers are conducting night classes at the Women's division of the Prison Farm. Included in the classes are beginning reading, Miss Dorothy Sly; business arithmetic, Miss Vivian Smith; creative writing, Miss Elizabeth DeWaele; shorthand, Miss Alma Graff; foods, Miss Christine Gray; sociology and dramatics, Miss Neva Lovewell. Miss Lovewell is director of the school.

Workmen start clearing away of ruins for erection of new modern plant of Lee Foundry destroyed by fire. Plymouth suffers disastrous blaze on Wednesday afternoon, many Plymouth men thrown out of work. Smoke was still coming from the ruins Thursday morning when Paul J. Nutting, vice-president, ordered the men thrown out of work by fire to start clearing away for a new plant.

What? With the city government of Plymouth now functioning from the north side of Plymouth and no branch bank operating up there? Yes, that's the question the northsiders are asking. They are enthusiastically endeavoring to have the north side branch of the Plymouth United Savings Bank opened again.

During the next few weeks Plymouth's capitol will be located in the north side branch of the Plymouth United Savings Bank on Starkweather and Liberty streets. The city hall is already being defaced and old partitions torn down as part of CWA program.

evening from 5:30 to 8. Price 15 cents.

The Universalists ladies will serve dinner at the church, Thursday, price 20 cents. Menu: meat pie, mashed potatoes, lima beans, pickles, pickled cabbage, jelly, bread and butter, lemon pie, berry pie, cookies, coffee and tea.

Nearly 7000 women for school inspectors in the city of Detroit and their success has caused some surprise among the old political wirepullers and ward heelers. While six of their candidates were nominated, they failed to get two and all claimed the so-called Martin-dale ring will be in the saddle for another two years. But it does show what women can do when aroused to the occasion.

Homer Jewell will occupy the L.C. Hall's house on Main street.

For one week only, W.W. Murray will give away free one pound of 25 cent coffee with every $1.50 purchase. adv.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. O.F. Beyer on March 2, a daughter, Marion, and to Mr. and Mrs. George Wilski on March 3, a son, Kenneth.

Louis Reber, having refused to make the run for trustee on the Citizen's ticket, Louis Hillmer was substituted in his place by the caucus committee.

The primary held on Monday of last week was a very quiet affair — no hustle and bustle to get the voters out. Only 150 ballots were cast of which two were democratic and it didn't take the board long to count the results. E.W. Yost and George Waldo received the most votes, there being no opposition to them on the same ticket. Following is the vote: for circuit judge — Murfin 80, Owen 60 and Nagel 2; treasurer, George Waldo 124. Auditor, Oakman 92, Lodge 52, School commissioner, Yost 128.

The Mail received a letter from D.D. Allen who is among those fortunate enough to spend some time in Florida. He writes: We took a flatboat from Rock Ledge, Fla. to Port Pier where we stayed all night and sailed from there down the Indian River to Palm Beach. The weather is pretty cool and we have two coal stoves and a grate fire in the hotel. Business is very heavy here.

We are certainly having regular March weather — cold, warm, rain, snow, sleet, clouds and sunshine — anything to suit or unsuit.

The Foresters of America are enjoying a large increase in membership in the past few weeks. At the meeting Wednesday night 15 were initiated. Last week there were 29 who rode the goat and two weeks ago 10.

The First Division of the W.C.T.U. (with Mrs. E.O. Huston and Miss Nettie Pelham as leaders) are preparing to present a three-act play in April called "The Emancipation Club", a comedy. The cast will include some of our best local talent and was written especially for this community by Miss Pelham.

Redford, five acres in section 16, $250. Ira J. Bradner to John Bradner eighty acres in section 32, Livonia, $2300.

George F. Hillmer, who for the past two years has been with G.A. Starkweather and Company left a week ago for Port Huron to try the virtues of the mineral water there. He expects to be gone a month or six weeks. George is six feet tall, with broad shoulders and a gentleman the whole length and breadth. He is one of the few salesmen who can, under all circumstances maintain a mild, sweet temper. None know him but to love him, and all sincerely hope he will be much improved in health and in business in his old stand before long.

The election passed off quietly Monday notwithstanding there was more than the usual strife. There were two tickets in the field, "Citizens" and "Union". The first was the production of the caucus held on Friday, the last came into existence quietly and unknown but to two. William Bassett, one of the successful candidates, was on neither ticket, but succeeded in getting elected by the use of slips. The ticket as elected is as follows for president: Michael Connor, C, 164; George Starkweather, U, 77; for treasurer, Elmer Chaffee, C, 165; Oscar Fraser, U, 76; Clerk, C.F. Bennett, C, 169; Fred Hall, U, 73. For assessor, Louis C. Hillmer, C, 164; Louis Hillmer, U, 77. Total vote cast, 244.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published once in each week for three weeks consecutively previous to said time of hearing, in the PLYMOUTH MAIL, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Wayne.

JOSEPH A. MURPHY, Judge of Probate.

I do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing copy with the original record thereof and have found the same to be a correct transcript of such original record.

Very few of our young folks know what an "infare" is although we are sure most of their parents know well enough. It is a housewarming or reception tendered to a son or daughter returning home or a young husband bringing home his new bride. Such an "infare" was held at the Thomas Patterson home in Livonia last Friday when young son, John, brought home his blushing bride. Nearly seventy-five couples were there and the party arranged by his parents was a delight to all present.

Senior Biographies: S.A.N.FORD KNAPP was born on March 16, 1918 in dear old Plymouth. He is a brown haired, brown eyed lad and lad. This "Romeo" plans to be a salesman and a traveling one at that. Sam's hobby is sports, either witnessing or participating. His Harem (which reminds us of old Morocco) include two Catholics, Mary, Marion, Cecil, Ruth, and many others kept secret. "Cra-Cra" has played football three years, tennis two years, is a member of the Senior play cast, senior drama club, the hi-y club and the band. Sam has also taken part in "Stunt Night" for three years.

What? With the city government of Plymouth now functioning from the north side of Plymouth and no branch bank operating up there? Yes, that's the question the northsiders are asking. They are enthusiastically endeavoring to have the north side branch of the Plymouth United Savings Bank opened again.

During the next few weeks Plymouth's capitol will be located in the north side branch of the Plymouth United Savings Bank on Starkweather and Liberty streets. The city hall is already being defaced and old partitions torn down as part of CWA program.

Very few of our young folks know what an "infare" is although we are sure most of their parents know well enough. It is a housewarming or reception tendered to a son or daughter returning home or a young husband bringing home his new bride. Such an "infare" was held at the Thomas Patterson home in Livonia last Friday when young son, John, brought home his blushing bride. Nearly seventy-five couples were there and the party arranged by his parents was a delight to all present.

After July 4 next, the national flag will have 42 stars with probably more to come. This idea of adding a new flag for every state taken in has become a nuisance. It is becoming more and more difficult to distinguish state and national flags — Ypsilanti Sentinel.

Marvin Berdan has sold his dwelling on Ann Arbor street to Mrs. John Smith for $1,000.

W.H. Hoyt of this place now owns some property and an orange grove in Florida. His last crop of oranges was not as large as he had hoped for, but he states that what was lacking in oranges was fully made up in the amount of taxes — there was nothing lacking there, states Hoyt.

Our neighbors in Northville voted last week on the issue of bonding the town for $25,000 for building water works, and was defeated by a large majority 226-58.

Charles Brems has hired a force of eight men to assist him in getting out his spring supply of harrows, staves and log rollers.

Several one story buildings at the corner of Fort and Griswold streets, Detroit, are being torn down and we understand that a beautiful new 10 story structure will soon arise there.

Canton Township First School History Told

By ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL 3-0194

There are many important dates to remember coming up this month. Of course, a little more of our Township's history and a few calls to residents, will round up the column.

As we all know we are in the Lenten Season. The Cherry Hill Methodist Church has a very fine program for everyone wishing to attend their services. On March 3 the group started their regular Tuesday Lenten Potluck suppers. The suppers begin at 6:30. Tuesday, March 10, the speaker will be Rev. Sanford Cook. A duet, entitled "When the Light Shines Thru", will be sung by Mrs. Sue Ashman and Mrs. Madeline Bastian. Tuesday, March 17, following the Potluck supper, the Youth Fellowship of the Church will present "Portraits of the Life of Christ" in Shadows. Mrs. Fotovich, who gave me the events schedule said the program is a very impressive and beautiful sight. March 24, Tuesday, the Candlelight sacrificial supper will be held, with music for Easter supplied by the Junior Choir. On Holy Thursday, March 26, Communion service will be held at 7:30 p.m. All wishing to partake of this service are welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. John Albertson of 45649 Mable Rd., spent a sociable evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Julien of Wayne, Michigan.

Mr. Ernest Plant of Ford Rd., is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Ann Arbor, recuperating from a recent heart attack. I called Mrs. Plant and she feels confident that with proper rest Mr. Plant will be home again in a few weeks. To help shorten the stay for Mr. Plant, why not send him a card. The address is 6006, St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Mr. and Mrs. DeWayne Becker of Gyde Rd., and their three children attended a birthday celebration for Mr. Becker's mother at the home of his sister, Mrs. Robert Effe of Friesland, Mich. The family and guests, numbering about 20, also got their first glimpse of Mr. Becker's new nephew, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Clark.

It seems if you are in Ann Arbor, you could visit some of our residents in either of the hospitals.

I received a call from Mrs. Fred Aldrich of Ford Rd. She was calling from St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. She called to tell me news, but not about herself. When I mentioned she sounded weak, she explained she had fallen on the ice last Monday, and ended up in St. Joseph's with a broken hand, concussion and a lot of bruises. She will be returning home March 6 and thought she would stay safely beside her television for the next few weeks.

Mr. Bud Corwin of Ridge Rd., is in St. Joseph Hospital, Room 3013, recuperating from a recent operation.
Last week I reported that Mrs. Mary Clink was in Wayne County General Hospital. Mrs. Clink has been moved to the University Hospital in Ann Arbor to the fourth floor, East. Mrs. Clink is in traction and will be in the hospital for some time yet.

Mr. R. Leffler, Scoutmaster, Troop 298, reports that the Canton Community Club is now sponsoring three phases of scouting — Cubs, Boy Scouts and now for the first time, Explorers post, for older boys, 14 to 17 years of age. Mr. John Thorpe, formerly assistant Scoutmaster of Troop 298 will be the explorer advisor for Post 298, with Mr. Clair Avery as the associate advisor. Both these men have worked faithfully with the Boy Scout Troop these past years and the troop wishes them success.

Anyone interested in the new Explorer post, please contact Mr. John Thorpe — GL 3-5059.

A couple of weeks ago it was announced by Mr. Leffler, that the Canton Community Club would make an announcement that would be of interest to everyone in the township. After some waiting, we are finally let in on the big secret.

The Canton Community Club will hold a talent show at the Geddes Road Township Hall on April 4. All local talent, regardless of age, is welcome to participate in the show. Anyone interested in the show part in the show should call Mrs. Ruth Wiles, GL 3-3087. One thing for sure, you don't have to have talent to come out and enjoy the show. The winners of the talent show (of which there will be three) will receive cash awards. Admission to see the show will be 25 cents for children under 12, and 50 cents for everyone above 12 years of age. Mr. Leffler stated that a full evening of entertainment will be provided for everyone attending.

Log cabin for sale (maybe). This wasn't the way the advertisement was to read, but it seemed such a shame that this cabin should be sold and not kept to be enjoyed and a tribute to the workmanship put into it by the boy scouts of troop 298. The log cabin mentioned, was built entirely by scouts of troop 298. It is made of logs, grooved to fit together and there were no nails used. It is a sturdy construction. Not only did the scouts build it, but this cabin won first prize at the scout exposition last June, at the State Fair. The boys felt they needed to raise $50.00 for their camping and etc. this summer, and though they hated to sell their project, this seemed the best way to raise money. It was expressed to Mrs. Wiles that perhaps in some way the cabin could be preserved for the boys and also earn them the money they need. However, the cabin just might have to be sold. Anyone wanting further particulars about it, can contact Mrs. Thorpe at her home at GL 3-5059. Any suggestions? Keep reading the column. At least the boy scouts of troop 298 hope you will, for they have tentative plans for a pancake supper. Just as soon as all is settled, we will let you know.

This past week, I received a paper on the history of Truesdell School. Mrs. Edna Harrison of Lotz Rd. was kind enough to send the information to me. I am typing it just as it was sent to me. As a farewell to Truesdell as a rural school, we would like to give some of the changes in our district through the years. Looking back over the years we discovered many interesting things. The earliest record of the district is 1865. The first school was a small wooden building located on Palmer Rd., west of Lotz Rd. William Hannan, Samuel Barber, and John Packard were members of the first school board, about which we know the first teacher was Arlene Harmon. Then, teachers boarded from house to house. Try and picture, if you can, a teacher walking or perhaps riding horseback to school on a winter morning, only to be greeted by a cold, dreary classroom. She had to light her own fire, and after teaching all grades for the full day, she then acted as her own janitor.

Around 1867 there was a need for a new school. The problem arose as to the site and kind of building needed. It was decided on a brick building with a stone foundation. They debated from 1867 to 1868 on the site and finally voted to build on Arly Road which in 1932 was changed to Haggerty Highway. It became the duty of the School Board to loan the money to the district for the land and new school. Erastus Truesdell sold the land for the sum of $107.00. The new building was finished in 1869 and cost $1400.

The school was heated with wood. Each year the school board decided the amount of wood needed and it would be let to the lowest bidder. The price varied from $1.20 to $2.00 a cord. Many other problems arose, such as, the building of fences, outbuilding, and hitching posts. Every year the people voted on how many months of school should be held. Through the years it has ranged from eight to ten months of school. At first the year was split into terms, for instance, four months winter school and four months summer school.

Teachers were hired for terms at first, and later it was decided to hire teachers for the whole year. The attendance varied quite often as the larger children were required to help on the farms.
The new school played an important role in the community social life. It was open for all religious services and any non-profit shows.
In 1916 a member of our community, Miss Rose Fullerton, was the teacher. She taught for five years. Her pupils are parents of some of today's students. Gradually the community increased and the one room school was not large enough. In 1941 half day sessions began.
Every year the population of the district increased until the school was too crowded even with half days. In 1949 the present school was built. It cost $24,000. The expenses for the building are about $300 a year, and teachers' salaries are $3000 to $3500.
The early school board members would find this hard to believe, as in those early days teachers received $24.00 a month and their principal expense after buying the wood, was replacing broken window glass. The new school is a far cry from the old one room school with its wood stove, outside pump, and out-houses. As time progressed this building also has been outgrown. So we leave the rural district to become a part of a city school system. Mr. Carl Truesdell held the record in Wayne County for the longest service on a school board. He served for 27 years.
Thus, went the history of Truesdell. It is my thought to get some history on all our township schools. Although we are writing about the past, I am very much interested in the present, so give me a call.
We wish to express our sympathies to a former resident of the township, the family of Mrs. Lou Christianson. Mrs. Elsie Christianson passed away March 4, 1959. The family, at present, resides in Coldwater, Michigan.
I am told we have faithful readers of the column in the two Bowman boys, Bob and Dick of Ford Rd. You would think I would be more careful of my readers, but I completely forgot to mention that Bob fell, while ice skating, and broke his leg. His mother informs me he is on the mend, for which we are pleased.
Since the column came out last week, I have had some very interesting questions raised about our historical information. I will try to get the answers and give them to you real soon. If you have any information to add to the township history, or pleasant memories to relate, don't hesitate to call me.

Good News for Chowhounds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Army cooks in the Military District of Washington are getting expert training. Every eight weeks, four of them join the kitchen staffs at two big Washington hotels for intensive study of food preparation and service.
The GI's are graded each week by the hotel chefs under whom they work. And there's a final examination at the end of the course.

Thank GI's for Gripping
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — It's nothing new when GI's complain about sore feet after a 20-mile hike but it is new when their gripes draw a sincere vote of thanks.
The thanks came from the Franklin Institute Laboratories, which said the complaints played a vital part in development of the FILPIP — the Franklin Institute Laboratories Pressure Indicating Patch, which seeks out and measures body pressures.
The FILPIP is an electronic recording device developed by the laboratories after they were asked by the Army to determine if GI boots were adequately designed to take care of the pressures between the toes and between the boot and the ground.
BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI) — Wally Hergesheimer, a National Hockey League cast-off, is the only player in the American Hockey League to score two "hat tricks" this season. He recorded the three-goal spree with the Buffalo Bisons.

THIS IS National Girl Scout Week and probably the most fortunate of the hundreds of local Girl Scouts are those selected for the National Encampment at Colorado Springs. They must spend much time preparing themselves in such things as first aid.

Girl Scouts Prepare for Round-Up During Girl Scout Week

by Kathy White
One of the most important functions of the Girl Scout Program will be their International Roundup July 12-13 as any of the six girls going from Plymouth will tell you. The main purpose of the roundup is to further the understanding of the public as to what the scouts do.

The Senior Roundup, which is to be held in Colorado Springs this time, is held every three years. About 7,500 girls and 1,500 leaders from all over the world will attend. The Roundup will be a primitive camp and will be open to the public from 9:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. This will enable the public to learn what the Girl Scout Movement accomplishes.

In preparation for the Roundup about six months of training is required. This includes a meeting of the selectees and alternates once a month and about four patrol meetings every month. Each patrol consists of eight girls who work together to complete the required work.

ARE YOU A LUCKY WINNER?
each week, in a different ad in this newspaper, there appears the name and address of a person taken from the subscription list of the Plymouth Mail. This lucky person will receive "dinner for two" for himself and one other as guest of Marquis Toll House Restaurant, 335 N. Main. Free parking across the street. Auxiliary votes on "Golden Mike" awards: Votes to decide the 1959 winners of the American Legion Auxiliary's "Golden Mike" radio and television awards are being cast this month by the Auxiliary's nearly one million members throughout the country. For the first time an award will be given for "the commercial of greatest appeal on radio or TV." Other categories on which the Auxiliary members are voting are: "Best dramatic series; best information program; best music program; best situation comedy, and best special program." "Golden Mike's" will be presented to the winning programs in the six categories during the Auxiliary's 1959 national convention.

Not until July 4th! American's new 49-star flag should not be flown until July 4th, according to Mrs. Dorothy Knapp, Americanism Chairman. On that day the new flag will become officially the flag of the United States, she stated. Even after July 4th it will be entirely proper to fly the old 48-star flag, she explained. The old flags can be used until they are worn out.

Christian Science Reading Room At New Location

Relocation of the Christian Science Reading Room to the west wing of the new church at 1100 Ann Arbor Trail was announced this week by the Board of Directors of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth.

Open every day, except Sundays and holidays since 1903 in its previous location, the Christian Science Reading Room continues to serve the community through the sale and loan of the Bible, Science and Health with Key to the Scripture, by Mary Baker Eddy, and all other authorized Christian Science literature.

These rooms for quiet reading and study are open from 11:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday, Friday evening 7 to 9, except holidays, Wednesday evening 7 to 8 and shortly after the Wednesday evening services.

To Women It May Concern

Myra Cox, Women's Editor

A chance meeting with an old friend from Ann Arbor Saturday at Northland proved a tonic for both of us. She was in the depths because of receiving a "dear jane" letter from a faithless love away at premed. school, and I was feeling out of tune with the world too. It wasn't 10 minutes later, however, we were practically rolling in the aisles with gales of laughter. We had wandered by the hat department and became intrigued with the colored wigs displayed. For $5.95 m'lady may be coiffured more beautifully than the women from the court of Henry VIII. Blue, green, red, blonde, all bright - in a twinkling my friend went from Clara Bow the "it" girl (remember?) to Harpo Marx. 'Course they may not be practical to wear for an evening at the Elks Club, Fox Hills or Meadowbrook, because looking like Harpo Marx isn't exactly voguish, but just for plain fun, stop a minute and try one on - I'll guarantee you'll laugh - laughter releases engrams you know -

... And in case you are not acquainted with your engrams, wait until I draw up my black couch for you - better still you had better make an appointment.

Another way to release those engrams is by following the footsteps of Mrs. Thelma Schultz. We have mentioned Mrs. Schultz before when she graduated from Practical Nurses School. She is a lively, interesting woman and came in to sing the praises of the wonderful services afforded by Kurt Thrun at the Travel Center in the Mayflower Hotel.

She recently returned from a trip to Acapulco that Mr. Thrun arranged for her. She said it was one of the most pleasant experiences she had, thanks to the splendid itinerary he had arranged. Further, she said Mr. Thrun was well known in the area and just mentioning his name brought her special service. She stayed at the beautiful Hotel Caleta overlooking the Pacific on the summit of Costa Verde ridge complete with a purified water swimming pool.

Mrs. Schultz, now a widow, said that special consideration was given by Mr. Thrun for women traveling alone and not for one minute did she feel uncomfortable. - There was pleasant recreation, interesting people and plenty of sunshine, beach, and water - all three guaranteed to be just right by Mr. Thrun. For all the fun, good food, and luxury she enjoyed Mrs. Schultz said her expenses were about $11.20 a day including three meals. She plans to use the Travel Center again very shortly and accompany a group that Mr. Thrun will personally conduct to Europe. - has anybody a key that would fit the lock that has me chained to this typewriter?

Trusting herein we have only women readers - SALUTE to Mrs. Walter Hammond, lady commissioner, for maintaining dignity while displaying the courage of her convictions in the face of pressure from "big builder" at Monday night's planning commission meeting. Association of University Women Invite Women to Attend Join Them

An invitation to all qualified women in the Plymouth, Livonia and Redford Township area to join the American Association of University Women was issued this week by Mrs. Donald Sutherland, Branch President and Miss Elizabeth H. Demorest, Membership Chairman.

The next meeting of the club will be Thursday, March 19, at 7:45 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Robert Nulty, 1385 Park Place, Plymouth. A social hour will precede the meeting which is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Highlight of the evening will be the dramatic production of "Xingu." The Drama group of the club will put on the one act play.

Prospective members are urged to call Miss Demorest at GL 3-0384 for transportation. The A.A.U.W. accepts as members all women holders of approved degrees from a list of over 400 colleges and universities. To be on this list, a college must have a high academic rating, provide a basic foundation of general or liberal arts education, make adequate provision for women students, give significant recognition to women on its faculty and administration, and maintain academic freedom in its administrative and teaching bodies.

Throughout its years as an organization, the A.A.U.W. has worked for higher standards in education and particularly for better education for women and greater recognition of women as teachers and administrators. All colleges seeking to be added to the A.A.U.W. list of approved institutions must have good housing for women students, treat women students on an equal basis with men, have on its faculty a reasonable number of well-trained women and accord the same salary and promotion arrangements granted men, and give some recognition to women in the administrative organization, Miss Demorest stated.

An important factor in A.A.U.W.'s membership requirement is that of "liberal arts" as a significant part of a degree program.

This means that college degrees which are accepted for membership must include a reasonable amount of study in such fields as literature, language, history, and science.

Eleven colleges and universities in Michigan are approved by the A.A.U.W. They

AN EASTER Lily sale is planned for downtown Plymouth on Saturday, March 21 with Mrs. Robert Beyer, left, as chairman and Mrs. Richard Papes as co-chairman. Sponsored annually by the Rotary Anns, the sale traditionally falls before Palm Sunday with donations going to the Easter Seal fund and crippled children.

Easter Lilies on Sale March 21 For Crippled Children's Benefit

The spotlight will focus on crippled children when Plymouth joins the rest of the nation in setting aside Saturday, March 21, as National Crippled Children's Day.

Traditionally designated each year as the day before Palm Sunday, Crippled Children's Day centers attention on the needs of crippled children, and the ways in which they can be met. Hundreds of youngsters in the Western Wayne County area will benefit from this day which is being sponsored locally by Rotary Anns in conjunction with the 1959 Easter Seal campaign which ends Easter Sunday, March 21st.

Proceeds from the street sale of paper lilies, made by the homebound handicapped people throughout Michigan will help to carry on the program of service to physically handicapped children and adults given by the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County. Last year's Lily Parade brought in $576.35.

The Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County joins 1,700 Easter Seal affiliates of the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults throughout the nation marking this, the sixth annual observance of Crippled Children's Day. Under the leadership of Mrs. Robert Beyer, the Rotary Anns are preparing for a Lily Parade on the streets of Plymouth from 9 to 5 on March 21.

Questions submitted by readers are appreciated and answers to those of general interest will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Q. "I am an elderly person and have had several attacks of shingles. What is the cause and what can be done?"—Mrs. B.E. A. Shingles is the common name for herpes zoster, a virus-caused disease, which attacks the roots of certain nerves. Blisters form on the skin above the virus-injured nerve. The spaces between the ribs are very often affected. The blisters break after a time, leaving raw surfaces which scab over and heal slowly. The pain of herpes zoster is especially bothersome in older persons—less so in youngsters. A variety of treatment methods have been used, with good results in some cases—not so good in others. Persons who suffer repeated herpes are sometimes vaccinated with small-pox vaccine. This may stop the attacks when other things have failed. The severe pain and discomfort of herpes zoster can be lessened by use of sedatives and pain relieving drugs prescribed by the physician.

Q. Just how do viruses cause disease?
A. By affecting tissue cells. One variety of virus can injure nerve cells, as happens in shingles and in polio, another may injure the liver, as in hepatitis. The body probably harbors one or more viruses all the time. Nothing may develop until some "shock" comes along to upset things. Then the virus takes over. This happens with the flu virus in hogs. The virus seems to be present in the animals all the time but they develop flu only under certain stress conditions. Give the hogs a "shock" and the whole herd comes down with influenza.

Q. "Several friends have given up smoking but I can't. What's the reason?"—A chain smoker.
A. The ability to stop smoking is apparently related to the amount of tobacco previously consumed. One study showed that men (and presumably women) who average 10 cigarettes a day can stop, those who smoke 18 cigarettes a day don't try, and those who smoke 20 or more cigarettes daily are seldom able to stop. Probably some 18-a-day men can stop if they try. There may be other reasons why some people can't stop smoking but how does this amount-per-day idea fit your case?

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

Rev. Laird Is Final Lenten Series Speaker

The fourth and final speaker in the First Methodist Church Lenten series will be Rev. James H. Laird, Ph.D., pastor of Central Methodist Church in Detroit.

He will speak next Thursday night, March 19 at 7:30 p.m., following the usual fellowship potluck supper beginning an hour earlier.

Before his appointment as minister of Central Methodist in October 1953 succeeding Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, Rev. Laird was minister of the Mariemont Community Church in Cincinnati for four years.

Prior to that time he was minister of the Wesley Methodist church in Amherst, Mass. for seven years and was director of Wesley Foundation at the University of Massachusetts.

A native of Nebraska, Dr. Laird spent most of his earlier life in Southern California where he studied at California Institute of Technology, Pasadena City College and the University of Redlands which school granted him his bachelor's degree.

A graduate of Boston University School of Theology, Dr. Laird was awarded the Ph.D. degree from Boston University in Theological studies with a major emphasis on church history.

He is married and has two children.

Tonight's speaker (March 12) is Bishop Richard Emrich, bishop of the diocese of Michigan, Episcopal Church. Mrs. Bernice Thomas will be in charge of the nursery

NO: Comm. Wernette.

The following resolution was offered by Comm. Wernette and supported by Comm. Shear:

WHEREAS, constitutional provisions require that for purposes of taxation, property shall be assessed uniformly and at its cash value, and

WHEREAS, the city of Plymouth, Michigan has reassessed the real property within the city and the values as reassessed now appear upon the assessment roll of said city for the year 1959, and

WHEREAS, said reassessment appraisal was made in accordance with appraisal manuals published by the State Tax Commission, and

WHEREAS, the formula and instructions of the Bureau of Taxation of Wayne County were followed for the purpose of determining the assessment value of real property for tax purposes, resulting in a tax assessment valuation of about 40 percent of current values, and

WHEREAS, the same legal considerations control the assessment of personal property for tax purposes, and

WHEREAS, said City has adopted and followed the formula recommended by the State Tax Commission for the appraisal of personal property at its current value, and

WHEREAS, the City Commission believes personal property, as a matter of fairness, should be assessed, for tax purposes, at about 46 percent of its current value,

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan does hereby determine that personal property for the year 1959 shall be assessed at 46 percent of its current value.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that any equalization action taken by the County of Wayne increasing either or both of the aforesaid assessment values or percentages of current values, for tax purposes shall be objected to, opposed and appealed from, except as such equalization may be required by action of the State Board of Equalization. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Comm. Hartmann and supported by Comm. Wernette that the meeting be adjourned. Carried unanimously.

Time of adjournment was 9:48 p.m.

NOTICE OF SALE $95,000.00

City of Plymouth, County of Wayne Michigan

1958 MOTOR VEHICLE HIGHWAY FUND BONDS

Sealed bids for the purchase of 1958 Motor Vehicle Highway Fund Bonds, to be issued by the City of Plymouth, County of Wayne, Michigan, of the par value of $95,000.00, will be received by the undersigned at his office in the City Hall in said City, until 7:30 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on Monday, the 23rd day of March, 1959, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated December 1, 1958, will be ninety-five (95) coupon bonds of the denomination of $1,000.00 each, will be numbered consecutively in direct order of their maturity from 1 to 95, inclusive, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding four and one-half (4 1/2) per cent per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/8 of 1 per cent. Said interest shall be payable on October 1, 1959, and semi-annually thereafter on April 1st and October 1st of each year. The interest rate for each coupon period on any one bond shall be at one rate only. Accrued interest to the date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially as follows: $5,000.00 October 1st of each year from 1959 to 1969, both inclusive; $10,000.00 October 1st of each year from 1970 to 1973, both inclusive.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company to be designated by the purchaser of the bonds.

Bonds numbered 1 to 50, inclusive, maturing in the years 1959 to 1968, inclusive, shall not be subject to redemption prior to maturity.

Bonds numbered 51 to 95, inclusive, maturing in the years 1969 to 1973, inclusive, shall be subject to redemption prior to maturity, at the option of the City, in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after October 1, 1968, at par and accrued interest, plus a premium as follows:

October 1, 1968, but prior to October 1, 1970; $15.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after October 1, 1970, but prior to October 1, 1972; $10.00 on each bond called for redemption on or after October 1, 1972.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the City has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from April 1, 1959 to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the City. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds, or at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

The bonds are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Act 175, Public Acts of Michigan, 1952, and are issued in anticipation of Motor Vehicle Highway Fund payments to be received by the City of Plymouth, and said bonds will pledge the full faith and credit of the City of Plymouth for their payment.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $1,900.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of Plymouth, must accompany each bid as a guaranty of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid is accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest will be allowed on the good faith checks, and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone, attorneys of Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of such opinion shall be paid by the City. The cost of printing the bonds shall be paid by the purchaser. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids. Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

From The TEACHER'S DESK

(Prepared by a committee of teachers representing a joint committee on teacher welfare from the Board of Education and the Plymouth Education Association.)

The Importance Of Business Education

By the time a student enters the ninth grade in the Plymouth Public Schools he has made a tentative decision as to the course of study he would like to take to further his educational future. This course of study serves as a guide in helping the student choose subjects that will prove beneficial to him later on in his life work.

The ninth grader has been aided in making his choice by the guidance department, his parents and teachers, and by various aptitude and intelligence tests.

The article today deals with the Business Education Department, one of the popular courses selected by students in school today. About 20 per cent of the ninth graders — nearly all girls — select a business course. Most of these students take all the business subjects offered if time permits, and depending on whether they work part-time or not.

The department offers typewriting, shorthand, bookkeeping, general business, retail selling, business law and business machines. Other subjects are planned for when space becomes available.

A few years ago the primary purpose of a business department, or commercial department, as it was known then, was to train workers for the office. Today this is still the main purpose, but the business department is now also recognized as a practical training center for all high school students who want some knowledge of everyday business conditions that they will encounter later on in life.

The business department tries to train a girl to become an efficient office worker; one who has not only skill, but personality and some of the other important traits so necessary in today's office. The main objective is to graduate a well-rounded individual with a reasonable amount of good skill plus the above listed traits. We feel that this is being accomplished because by talking to a number of employers we hear a lot of good things and very little criticism of the office workers we train.

The business department is being used more and more by students from other departments, particularly the college, who take advantage of the practical business subjects offered. Some even combine a college and commercial course, which is a very wise choice if one can manage because it gives the student a two-way security, especially since only a about one-half of those on a college course actually go on to college, and half of those who do begin college stay to graduate.

If a girl goes to college, business subjects will not only certainly help her in all her college work and, too, she may find employment in an office in the summer, as many girls do, to help defray college expenses. If she finds she cannot go on to college, or if she marries, then she can still secure work in an office because of her commercial preparation in high school.

Nearly everyone who graduates from high school has had a year of typewriting — a subject that many educators feel should be required of all college-bound students. Edgar Brown, one of the business teachers at the high school, definitely feels this is one of the most practical and useful subjects in our high school, and that no one will ever regret having had a year of typewriting. Numerous students have come back to him from college and the armed forces and related how much it has helped them.

Typewriting also serves as a wedge for gaining entrance to desired positions not easily attained in the normal way. For instance, one may want to get into television or in the diplomatic service of our country. It is hard to do this, no matter how much ability one has, but an individual might get a job as a typist, or a secretary, and get to know some one who may eventually help him get the position he first had in mind.

Many boys are taking typing now and Mr. Brown says that all the boys who have had typing can get an office job in the armed forces if they want one — even though they may be just a mediocre typist. Many former students worked in an office all the time they were in the service — even during the war.

It is the feeling of the business teachers that typing should be offered in the junior high school, as it is in many school systems, so that a student can use his skill in high school, and not have to wait until his junior or senior year to get it as he has many academic subjects to take at that time.

Mr. Brown feels that the Important date ... "Stanley Party" Monday, March 16 at 8 p.m., at Veterans Community Center. Get your friends lined up to attend. If they can't come, get their orders ... Let's make this project a big one!!! For more information call Fern Burleson, GL. 3-3571.

The Post will have a BUSINESS MEETING ... Wednesday, March 18th, 8 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center; Commander Kinghorn urges all members to attend.

The American Legion's 40th birthday will be celebrated by Passage-Gayde 391 on Sunday, March 22 at the Veterans Community Center. This will be a potluck supper meeting around 4:30 p.m. eating at 5 p.m. All will be called regarding their dish to bring. Coffee will be furnished. Call Marion Kot, GL. 3-5107 for more information. Let's all try and be there to celebrate this 40th anniversary.

Attending the Oratorical Contest held at the Redford Township Post Home on Friday, March 6 were: Maxine Kunz, Adah Langmaid, Emily Mosher, Melva Gardner, Donald Kinghorn and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burleson. The winning contestants were: first place, Charles Hix a Junior at Northville High School and sponsored by Lloyd H. Green Post; second place, Frasier MacLain, a Junior at Redford Union School and sponsored by Redford Township Post; third place, Sharie Kish, a Junior at Ladywood High and sponsored by Price Brothers. The Oratorical Contest is based on the Constitution of the United States. It was quite wonderful to hear these students talk on government. We wish more of the public would turn out to hear these students speak on this subject and see how well informed they are regarding government. Their teachers or coaches are with them and it is just wonderful to see and hear them.

Dolls Depict Life in El Salvador: Dolls clothed in the native costume of the Republic of El Salvador are being dressed by junior members of the American Legion Auxiliary throughout the United States this month as part of the Auxiliary's study of this central American country. Mrs. Gwen Holcombe, the Auxiliary's Junior Activities Chairman, has announced. The dolls will be displayed during the observances of Pan American Week in April, with awards going to the best dressed dolls. Local contest winners will compete in state contests, and the state prize-winning dolls will be sent to the national contest to be held during the Auxiliary's 1959 national convention. The contests will be in two classes, for girls 6 to 12, and girls 12 to 18. "With each doll there must be a brief historical sketch of El Salvador and its people," said Mrs. Holcombe. "The purpose of the whole activity is the knowledge and understanding of other American nations, with a different country of Central or South America being studied each year."

Good news — Mrs. Hugh (Evanlynn) Gardner is now at home, 144 E. Pearl Street and doing wonderfully. Keep up the good health, Evalynn. We want to see you at our meetings again.

PHS boasts four finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Test. Eligible to obtain one of the 700 scholarships as a result of their fine showing are seniors Claudia Kessler, Joann Nagy, James Cutler and Robert Westover.

Also in the competitive examination line ... juniors will have a chance to take the National Merit Scholarship test May 2 ... also on May 2, sophs will take a test similar to the Merit test, designed to prepare them to do well on the big test in the junior year ... Mary Jane West and Bob Westover, semi-finalists in competition for the National Honor Society Scholarships, will take a final test today.

Meeting every Wednesday night and at noon hours are the Water Waves. The girls' swim club is making preparations for the annual water show to be presented May 14, 15 and 16. Notice it's three nights this year ... the extravaganza has been so popular in previous years that two nights weren't enough to accommodate everyone.

As usual, the Student Council has lots of irons in the fire. Results of the Lunch Study Committee's survey were released by frosh Mary Hulsing, chairman of the group. Students indicated a preference of spaghetti and definite dislike for pizza buns. Mary said the cooks have been notified and there will be some changes made.

The Council is now making plans for a Plymouth-Bentley exchange assembly ... try-outs for Plymouth's variety show will be held this afternoon, March 12, at 3:45 in the auditorium. Bentley's Council is making arrangements for a talent assembly featuring Bentleyites to be presented at Plymouth on April 9 ... the following week PHS'ers will travel to Bentley on April 16.

On March 3, M. J. West and Dick Hubert, president and secretary of the Council, respectively, attended a league planning conference ... the aim of Council representatives from Plymouth, Redford Union, Bentley, Belleville, Allen Park and Trenton was to prepare for the Suburban Six Councils Conference schedule for April 19 at RU. SC'ers will turn to problem-solving at the confab; Lieutenant Governor John B. Swainson will be the guest speaker.

Because band members would be attending a State Festival on the date set for the Prom, the spring formal will be held May 2 instead of April 18. Betsy Edgar is chairman for the Prom. Responsible for her appointment are members of the Senior Executive Board: Dick Small, president; Glyn Norton, Vice-president; Carole North, secretary; Ken Jacobus, treasurer and Student Council representatives Hale Huber, Jonie Izett, Lois Austin and Linda Heric.

The first marking period of the Second Semester ends tomorrow ... we get report cards Wednesday, March 18. Community college surveys were circulated the week before last ... about CHICAGO (UPI) — The Illinois Central Railroad has installed the first high-speed teleprinter in the railroad industry.

The machine which is capable of transmitting 600 words a minute compared with the usual 60 and 100 word-per-minute teleprinters, will expedite classification of more than 50,000 on-line freight car records daily, the railroad said.

O fear the Lord, ye his saints: for there is no want to them that fear him. The young lions do lack, and suffer hunger: but they that seek the Lord shall not want any good thing."

55th Anniversary

As you know, we are now celebrating our 55th anniversary

Behind us are fifty-five years of service to the people of Plymouth and vicinity, and ahead of us, we hope, are many more years of service to the community.

It is our belief that we have laid a good foundation for the future, for we have tried to give each family the finest of interested, personal attention always. We have kept our equipment modern. We have made available those facilities which would be most useful and comforting to the family and friends. And — which is very important! — we have kept our prices within the reach of all.

MOST ELIGIBLE

for ECON-O-CHECKS (20 for $2.00)

Like most homemakers, you are probably too busy to spend time running around paying bills by cash. What you need is the convenience of a checking account for household bills. Right? Right! Then ECON-O-CHECKS® are tailor-made for you. In fact, for anyone who writes ten to twelve checks a month and wants to maintain a moderate bank balance. Here's why: For only $2.00 you get 20 personalized checks bound in a wallet-type, purse-size carrying case—plus a check register. AND, there is no basic service charge, no charge for deposits and no minimum balance is required. Isn't this the checking convenience and economy that you want? Many married couples find that an ECON-O-CHECK account plus a regular checking account is the ideal way to keep bookkeeping straight and budgeting simple. Ask about an ECON-O-CHECK account at any of the 63 Detroit and suburban offices of National Bank of Detroit.

WARM WEATHER last weekend that finally disposed of snow and ice that has been around since late November was heartily welcomed by residents, although it meant lots of water standing around. This photo, taken in Wayne County Park, shows a sign asking motorists to keep on the gravel, which is good advice since the entire side road is under water. Many main roads, such as East Ann Arbor Trail, also had lots of water.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Fire Chief Robert J. McAllister had as many friends as any public official in the Plymouth community. He won them by his energy, his zest for his chosen work, and by his friendly tolerance of his fellow man. He died Sunday, victim of his first heart attack.

His service to his community was to fight fire and prevent fire. Few Chiefs anywhere ever put more of themselves into that mission.

Those who knew Bob will testify that we are doing no more than speak his will and hope when we say:

Bob McAllister died awaiting the day when there would be one Fire Department, with one telephone number rendering routine errands of mercy to all humans on both sides of the line which defines the City of Plymouth and "the City of Plymouth Heights," the latter known until recently as Plymouth Township.

He was a pro in the field, and wasn't concerned with politics.

There are distinct signs that the American public is rallying from the first crushing blows inflicted by TV.

It has been a one-sided contest since the first tube was illuminated after World War II and the scourge spread across the nation. First there was the novelty of the device, then the arrival of the creative talent, then the "spectaculars", then the camera's entrance into the big sporting arenas, then the extreme cost of buying a show for an advertiser, then the filmed shows, then the westerns, and now today.

Over the past years many wives and husbands have been murdered on video; many a respectable-looking citizen has gone crazy; many a criminal has cut a bloody swath until the final 90 seconds; many a tumbler has tumbled.

But very, very recently there have popped up statistics which reveal the reading of books is climbing again, movies are doing better than ever, the kids are outside again playing ball, and ...

Adults are buying games.

Which is a long way around to say that our household has found some downright good pleasure during the past three months spending time with commercially-produced games which can be spread upon the living room table and sweated-over all night.

We pulled "Monopoly" out of the attic and re-discovered its fascination. A salesman convinced us on one called "Careers" during Christmastime. We devoted a few evenings to it, and were surprised with how fast the hours passed.

Now, another good one. It's new, called "Blue Chip" and is based on the skills of the bulls and the bears, the Stock Market.

It's not simple, and therefore it's not insipid. All the players buy stocks, sell stocks, gamble on the big board, and try to wind up richest. My personal fortune was made by hanging on to "General Motors", seeing it soar to the top of the list, and then pocketing an unexpected 10 for 1 "stock dividend."

It takes the better part of a long evening to conclude, but then, so does television.

We were furnished our "Blue Chip" game by Richard Papes, the bull of Papes' china shop. That's the outlet in the Plymouth area, but it must be available in "leading game stores everywhere."

Local Nursery Wins Award At Flower Show

Plymouth Nursery on Ann Arbor Rd. last week took a first prize at the Michigan Flower and Home Show for their contemporary garden display.

The display, 20 by 40 feet in size, took the work of two men for two weeks. Growth for the display was started in December. Actually setting up the display at the Eight Mile Rd. Armory took three men four days.

Lee Christensen, son of Plymouth Nursery's owner, Peter Christensen, designed the display. Use of common field tile for a background was the outstanding feature of the display and caused much comment. There was also a sundial, a pool and fountain. Plants included rhododendron, azalea, a flowering crab and spruce trees, white hibiscus, flowering viburnum and evergreens.

dates received their first and second degrees at the meeting and there were five new ones last month. We are happy to report the Grange is holding the interest of the people.

We are going to have another of those delicious public suppers on Saturday, March 21 beginning at 5 p.m. There will be three servings at 5, 6, and 7 p.m. Reservations must be in by Thursday, March 19. The price is reasonable, the food is top quality. The menu this time will be a surprise and one you will appreciate. Since the date of the supper is the same as the first day of Spring, it will be called "A Spring Supper". Come and bring your neighbors and friends. All are welcome.

The Sewing Contest closes March 31 and judging will take place the first part of April.

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor:

As a long time resident of this community, I find it increasingly difficult to sit idly by while you continue to cause friction between the city and the township you pretend to press for cooperation, in an attitude of "It's your money or your life." I have heard that after coming to Plymouth, you remarked you were lighting a flame between the city and township, and you intended to fan it. Maybe newcomers, who have not bothered to fully inform themselves, are influenced by your propaganda and so-called editorials, so slanted they fall of their own weightlessness.

Prejudice is a great time saver. It enables you to form opinions without having to get the facts.

If you or anyone really wanted to get any answers to your questions about township affairs, and were physically unable to attend meetings, surely you should be mentally alert enough to telephone.

You evidently have no idea of the hours, days and nights that Roy Lindsay attends Township meetings in Detroit, Lansing, etc. in the interests of our Township. His fellow Supervisors respect his knowledge of laws and problems by asking him to serve on various important committees, such as Sewer and Water, Ways and Means etc.

It is the law and has been standard practice of Townships for many years to pay the Treasurer one per cent of the taxes collected. If paid by the Township it would have to come out of the General Fund, raised by the taxpayers, and there would be no collection fee. Mrs. Holmes has brought this to the attention of the board, but to change the process, there must be a petition and a vote of the people. She has spent much more time on her job than required by law; she makes a full time job of it. In addition she spends countless evenings in the interest of Public Service. She displays sincere interest toward people having business or questions, who either will or go to the Township Hall. Her record is one of efficiency and courtesy.

The new residents of the Township should have known when they bought or built here the location of the Township Hall and the Fire Department, also the water and sewer conditions. What would happen to our Township roads, now maintained by the County, if the City of Plymouth took us over? Why do some now demand everything at once? It was their choice to move into this area. It takes time for healthy growth, and this is the aim of the Township.

The matter of annexation by the city, that brought on the vote to incorporate the township, to protect the Township from having its choice industrial taxpayers grabbed by the City, was our only legal means of protection against being grabbed. Now we have two years to get our sewers and water we have saved and planned for, and are now to become a reality. Our population will increase with the new building and new residents, and we will have a fair chance to represent ourselves when the time comes to consider a proper merger.

It stands to reason the city can't grow unless it grows into the Township, it will come in time, but it must come by the exercise of common courtesy and fair reasoning, rather than the bickering and grabbing, that you are promoting.

As for Mr. Tungate, the information I have, is that neither of you have ever attended our Township meetings. Why should I vote for someone, who alone, wants to hire someone else to do the job? It is illegal for him to delegate the duties as Supervisor to another.

As far as annexation or incorporation is concerned, even you should know it does not affect the distribution of the school tax money in any way. The City never had any schools as such; they were Plymouth Township schools until recently named Community Schools.

Things will not get worse and cause complete chaos, as you predict, in industrial and cultural affairs in the community, in spite of your self-defined "poor loser" attitude of the results of the last election.

Don't take yourself too seriously, you can easily get answers to both sides of your questions if you desire. A lot of people still think for themselves.

Many Township friends are waiting to see this in print before April 6. Yours for truth and honest reporting of the local news.

Incidentally, I challenge you to name the 2 million dollar company, you say, Mr. Lindsay kept out of the Township. We would like to know too.

A TOWNSHIP MOTHER (Please Withhold My Name From Publication)
(Editor's Note: Salaries of Board members are set at the Annual Meeting. In practice, this means that the Board sets up a budget and submits it to the Annual meeting. If approved, the salaries therein are approved. The Board thus could have changed the Treasurer's $15,000 salary long ago by that method.)

(The writer of this letter attempts to plead her case with a sort of personal attack upon the Editor of The Mail. He is not the issue in the election. His opinion, expressed only after two years of quiet waiting and hoping, is that the lack of cooperative spirit between two local governments is serving to destroy the progress of the whole. It is an opinion that can, and should, be blended with all the other weight of evidence which bears upon the issue.)

(The editor, least of anyone, does not urge the "City grabbing" the Township. That's a neat propaganda phrase which has been used, successfully thus far, to set up a SEPARATE city and political empire around the older city. The Editor urges a separate City and a separate Township, COOPERATING to bring new industry under the common school tax base and in providing other services which are most economical when the costs are shared.)

(Every single development which has occurred since the present Editor arrived here about three years ago has served to make the Township less like a traditional Township way of life, and more like a mushrooming home subdivision and commercial area in the pattern of most other metropolitan suburbs which are allowed to go that way. The "battle" with the City of Plymouth has served only as a smoke-screen for what really is occurring in the "City of Plymouth Heights.")

(The name of the factory which was shut out has to be confidential, at the factory's request.)

LINDEN, N. J. (UPI) — Benjamin W. Kappel, an employee of the Esso Research and Engineering Co. here, recently celebrated 40 years' service with the company. During that time, he didn't miss a single day of work. He once did leave the job because of illness, but was back next day.
