

3 New Posts Filled

Three new posts have been created within the city police and fire departments as a result of a new type organization that has placed Kenneth Fisher as head of both departments.

Loren Johnson, 9265 Oakview, has been elevated from police lieutenant to assistant chief of police.

Promoted from battalion fire chiefs to assistant fire chiefs were Charles Groth, 844 Ross, and George Schoeneman, 357 North Harvey.

It was at the city commission meeting two weeks ago that City Manager Albert Glassford announced that he was appointing Police Chief Fisher as chief of the fire department on a tentative basis. The suggestion came from the firemen themselves who have been without a chief since the death of Chief Robert McAllister on March 8.

Chief Fisher will be the administrative head of the fire department, leaving the fire-fighting leadership up to the two assistant chiefs. The assistant who is on duty during the day of a fire is in charge

THESE FOUR MEN have been given higher posts as a result of the reorganization of the Plymouth fire and police departments. From left are Assistant Fire Chiefs George Schoeneman and Charles Groth, Fire and Police Chief Kenneth Fisher and Assistant Police Chief Loren Johnson.

Building Addition, Salaries, Budget Studied by Board

Construction at the Senior High, the budget and teacher salaries were three of the four items discussed at length by the board of education at a special meeting Monday night. (The other was the administrative offices, reported elsewhere.)

To conform with a long list of fire safety recommendations made by the State Fire Marshal's office, the Board directed an architect to proceed with plans for an enclosed stair tower that will connect the main high school building with the annex (former Junior High).

This stair tower and other work authorized in connection with it, will cost around $159,000.

All three floors of the two buildings will connect with the stair tower and two existing stairways will be eliminated. In addition to the stairs, there will be floor space added on the main floor to extend the crowded shop and for two more classrooms on both the second and third floors.

The total additional floor space will be 11,581 square feet.

Directed to proceed with final plans and specifications was the firm of Wheeler & Becker. An advertisement for bids will be published May 22 and bids opened June 8. Because of anticipated hardship in obtaining steel, a contract for steel may be negotiated separately as early as possible.

Two Clinics For Township Dogs Slated

Plymouth Township has scheduled Saturdays, May 2 and 9 for dog clinics at which licenses and rabies vaccinations can be obtained all at one stop.

Deadline for obtaining licenses is June 1. Until then, the tags will cost $2 for males and $4 for females. After the deadline, the cost will jump to $2 and owners failing to obtain new tags may be handed a violation ticket.

The clinics will be held at the township hall from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both of the days, with the exception of lunch hour from noon to 1 p.m.

There are some 850 dogs in Plymouth Township. Sixty new licenses have been sold so far, according to Township Clerk Fred Miller.

It is possible to buy the tags at times other than clinic days but proof of the rabies vaccination must be shown before the tags are issued.

Addition Goes Up

Plymouth Township Hall Must Grow Too

Walls started to go up this week on a new addition to the Plymouth Township Hall that will provide half again as much space for the 11-year-old building.

The addition, being made at the rear of the building, will include a new 24 by 35 foot assembly room, a bedroom, shower and bath for firemen, and a garage and storage room for the fire department.

Cost of the construction is $18,888. This includes $11,823 for the general contract with Lush Construction Co. of Detroit; a $5,885 plumbing contract; and $1,175 for electrical work.

At present, there are no separate shower or bath facilities for firemen. The fireman on duty must also sleep in the fire department office.

The small garage and storage room will be used for the fire department's pick-up truck.

Instead of entering the new assembly room from the rear outside door as is now the case, a walkway will be built alongside the new addition for an entrance to the present assembly room. Entrance of the new assembly room will be either from the front hallway or the fire department.

To be built on the present assembly room floor will be a new office for the township clerk, who now shares his office with the treasurer. The township building inspector's

GROWING PLYMOUTH Township has affected Township Hall too where an addition is being built. Workmen are shown laying up the brick walls that will provide additional space for the fire department, an assembly room and garage. This is the first addition to the hall since it was constructed in 1948.

Subdivision Wins Okay, Then Loses It Again

Neighboring residents who for three months have been fighting certain features of a 104-home subdivision in the city appear to be meeting with success these days.

The Symar Subdivision plat, approved last Thursday night by the Planning Commission, was turned down on a technicality by the City Commission Monday night. In addition, City Commissioners want to enact legislation that would somehow control the repetitious outward appearance of homes in a subdivision.

As a result of the meeting, the Symar Subdivision developers will be delayed further in their attempt to get their homes underway. The subdivision is located west and north of the Junior High. One model is up.

There have been two points of contention by neighbors living in the Maplecroft and Birch Estates Subdivisions. They wanted Burroughs St. to run into the Subdivision from Main St. and they didn't want rows of homes that looked alike.

A lot was eliminated to run Burroughs St. into the subdivision and a promise by builders to make the bi-level models as different as possible (through five different elevations) failed to satisfy the neighbors.

Planning Commissioners emphasized at each of their sessions that they had no legal means of requiring a builder to make his homes look different. So with the plat apparently looking satisfactory to them, the planners finally approved it last Thursday. They went through both the processes of giving tentative and final approval.

The next and final step of the plat was before the city spokesman. One of the chief spokesmen of the group, John Truer, pointed out that Fairground St., entering the subdivision from the north, dead-ended further than the 400-foot limitation for dead-end streets.

Commissioners turned to City Attorney Harry Devo for an opinion. A half hour later he returned to the room and reported that the 400-foot limit is law and that there is no way to get around it. A check of the plat showed that the street is at least 430 feet.

To Construct School Office Near Jr. High

A new, permanent headquarters building for the Plymouth Community School District's administrative offices will be erected this summer adjacent to the Junior High School, according to a decision made Monday night by the board of education.

The decision brings to an end the problem that has faced the school board for many months concerning a new location for the administrative offices.

A house and barn located on the Junior high property facing Mill St. will be torn down to make way for the new building.

Last December the administrative offices were moved from the high school because of crowded conditions there. They were relocated in the Junior High where there were two unoccupied rooms. But next fall there will be 110 freshmen located at the Junior High, meaning that the two rooms will be needed.

The administrative offices, which include the accounting department, will require about 2,400 square feet of space within the next five years, according to estimates. The building will be constructed so that additions can be made if necessary.

There were several strong points in favor of erecting a new building at this site. The land is already owned by the school district. The house and barn have been rented since the school board made the property purchase several years ago.

Also, it will require only the extension of steam pipes from the Junior High to heat the new building. It also will sit on top of an existing sewer.

Hired to draft plans and specifications was the architectural firm of Bennett and Straight Associates, who are also working on tentative plans for a new high school.

The board has not stated what type of building it desires, but it expected to be 'complimentary' to the present Junior High. A preliminary estimate sets the price of the building at around $45,000.

Attending the meeting Monday was James Coquilard, representative of Bennett and Straight. The architect is being asked to work as rapidly as possible so that the building will be ready by September.

FUTURE SITE of the Plymouth Community School District's administration building is this house and barn located next to the Junior High along Mill St. Already owned by the school district, the buildings will be razed.

Guenther Re-elected Mayor

Fellow city commissioners re-elected Harold E. Guenther as mayor of the city of Plymouth at Monday night's organizational meeting of the commission. They also retained Robert J. Sincok as mayor pro-tem.

The organizational part of the meeting took but a few minutes with city manager Albert Glassford presiding as temporary chairman. Commissioner William Hartmann, himself a former mayor, nominated Guenther and it was seconded by Commissioner Marvin Terry. Nominations were closed and Guenther was unanimously re-elected.

Nomination of Sincok as mayor pro-tem was offered by Carl Shear and seconded by Richard Wernette. The vote was again unanimous.

Thus the city commission

NEWS BEAT

Plymouth's Adult Recreation and Education department got a plug on a nationwide scale in this month's "Changing Times," the Klipinger Magazine. In an article on "Courses for Adults — Eight Ways to Add to Your Education," it notes that "the answer to your adult education need may lie right down the street at the neighborhood high school or community center. In Plymouth, Mich., for $5 to $10 a course, you can spend an hour or two a week learning how to play an accordion, how to upholster, sew, write better business letters. Or you can study German, Shakespeare, the stock market."

SPRAY TIME: The DPW will start spraying elm trees against Dutch Elm disease starting today. Just elms in front yards will be sprayed. Citizens are asked to gather in their pets during the spraying. There are some 1,200 elms to be sprayed.

TICKET BEEM: City police have been using their ticket books at a fast clip lately. During March there were 289 tickets issued to motorists, 213 of them for overtime parking. A year ago there were 153 issued, only 44 of them for forgetting to feed the meters. The electronic speed timing device has also been put to work.

FINGERS CROSSED: Plymouth Township firemen are crossing their fingers. So far, only two grass fires have been reported with one started by careless burning of rubbish on Schoolcraft Rd. near Farrand School. The other was started from sparks from a diesel locomotive. The sparks started seven fires between Sheldon and Ridge Rds. Chief Howard Holmes reminds residents that permits are needed if anything besides ordinary household trash is to be burned. Neighboring communities have been plagued by grass fires this spring.

VACANCY FILLED: Township Trustee Louis Norman will serve on the Township Planning Commission to fill the vacancy of Rosalind Broome, former township clerk. The township board must have one representative on the Planning Commission.

SPRING TONIC: A 70-year-old resident stopped in The Mail, swung his arm around in circles and announced that his suffering with rheumatism and arthritis was over. He wanted to pass his formula of success on to others. His formula: long exposure of the arm to the sun.

Mitchell First To Announce Candidacy

With 17 days remaining to file nominating petitions, School Board Vice-President James Mitchell announced this week that he will be a candidate for his second term.

There will be two terms expiring this June 30, those of Mitchell and President Austin Stecker. Both were elected three years ago. The new terms will run four years.

Nominating petitions, available at the superintendent's office in the Junior High, must be filed before 4 p.m. on Saturday, May 9. They must be signed by at least 50 qualified school electors.

Mitchell is the only person to announce candidacy so far.

Young 59er Goes it Alone

Plymouth's lone delegate to Alaska's 59ers, Eric Eklund, has arrived in Anchorage after six days of travel, three flat tires and a blow-out.

Eric, 22-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sven Eklund, 443 Adams St., has written his first letter home describing his 4,500 mile journey all alone in a 1952 Ford pick-up truck.

Eric had originally planned to travel to Alaska with the second contingent of 59ers leaving in June. After attending several meetings he decided he could make the trip alone.

Arriving in Anchorage last Thursday, he has joined up with the first contingent. But according to his letter, he still is not sure of his plans. If he decides to stay in Alaska, he intends to fulfill his military obligation by joining the Air National Guard.

In his first lengthy account of his trip, Eric told about hitting freezing drizzle at Indian River and lasting 100 miles beyond the Mackinac Straits Bridge. The second night he camped in a roadside park in Wisconsin and "spent a miserable night due to dampness and cold."

The third night was spent in North Dakota in a motel because there wasn't a likely looking place to camp. "Next morning about a quarter mile down the road were camping facilities," he added unhappily.

On his third day he stopped in a Minnesota town to buy some tire chains, which he never used.

"It took quite a while to get across the plains of North Dakota, Montana and Alberta. It took me almost two days to get through Montana with my 45 mile an hour cruising speed. On Monday noon I was getting close to Sweetgrass, Montana where you cross into Canada. I noticed the temperature gauge was reading hot. Then there was a BANG! I thought the radiator had blown. It was worse. The new snow tire had blown out. The rim had torn apart and cut the tube in Shelby, Montana a gas station fellow took me to his house, put on a new rim and charged me only $2. This is an example of the nature of the people out West."

On Monday at 4 p.m. he cleared customs and spent a comfortable night camped out near Lebereth, Alberta. The next morning he had his second flat tire. Driving until midnight, he neared Dawson Creek, start of the Alaskan Highway. Stopping at a cafe, he talked with some natives.

"In talking with the Canadians, they feel Americans in general are spoiled. These people working in the cafe were bitter about how we waste things in this country and how we go through a new car in a couple of years. They told me about hard times they had seen and really believed things were going to be worse. As far as I could see, these people were already seeing them, but apparently things had been worse."

Wednesday Eric reached Dawson Creek and found the only things open were the gas stations. At 1 p.m. he started on the Alaskan Highway and the engine started misfiring badly.

"I pulled over at a grocery store, checked all the spark plug connections, distributor cap, etc. I apparently had fixed it because I haven't had a bit of trouble since."

"Tires were another story though. I had a total of one blow-out and three flats, which really wasn't too bad considering the 1,200 odd miles of gravel and hard pack, which is worse when covered with frost."

Eric and his truck entered the mountains Wednesday evening. On the Alaska Highway, he related, everything is marked in miles from Dawson Creek. For example, Dawson Creek is 0, Fort Nelson is mile 295 and Tok Junction is mile 1200.

At mile 143 he found a Swede and his wife who offered free fire wood, stove and water to all who wanted to stop for a visit. "They maintained it so people would stop and they would have a company." He emphasized that most people coming up the highway wouldn't realize what a vast wilderness they were getting into. For example, this place was only at mile 143 and yet, except for occasional stations, was extremely isolated.

"On Thursday I discovered that what I thought were mountains were just foot hills. In Fort Nelson I picked up a nail in the right rear tire. That night I stayed near the highest point on the highway. Up to this point I had not been sleeping or eating regularly, so the next morning I took two hours and stopped by the prettiest river you ever saw and washed up, shaved and had a breakfast of four eggs, two small boxes of cereal, three glasses of orange juice, one can of soup, milk, five pieces of toast, etc.

"While I was here some people from West Virginia stopped to see how I was. It seems that they were keeping track of me. By the time I got to Anchorage I found

Band Rated 'Excellent' At Festival

The Plymouth High School Band, under the direction of James Griffith, received a rating of "Excellent" in the State Band and Orchestra Festival held in Jackson last Saturday. The group was highly praised for their "enthusiastic and aggressive" playing.

Leonard Falcone, director of bands at Michigan State University and who rated the band a first division, had this to say: "The band has a rich sound, firm, clear and sonorous, well-blended and in tune. It plays with a high degree of accuracy and clarity."

After their performance, the band had a luncheon at the Schulers Restaurant, courtesy of the Band Parents Association.

Plea Made to Attend Polio Clinic Here Next Tuesday

An urgent plea is being made to Plymouthites who have not received their Salk polio vaccine shots to attend the polio clinic being held next Tuesday, April 28 at the Junior High.

The clinic is one of two set this year to make it easy for the public to get the inoculations. While the clinics are being set up primarily to give the third inoculation to those receiving the first two last fall, anyone may get his first or second shots there too.

The clinic will be held from 6 to 8:30 p.m. The second clinic is May 12. There is a charge of $1 for the shot.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

On Saturday, April 25 beginning at 8 p.m. the installation of 1959 Post and Auxiliary officers will take place at the Post Home. This ceremony is awaited with anticipation by the new officers with a tinge of regret by those leaving office. This event might be an appropriate opportunity for those members, lax in their recent interest, to renew their responsibility to their Post and Auxiliary. It is well known that any group of officers must have the cooperation of the members if they are to be successful. The incoming officers deserve your help. There will be an installation rehearsal Thursday, April 23 at 8 p.m. Out-going Commander Ed Olson thanked all those who assisted him with his most successful term. Bud Krumm has our best wishes as he lifts the gavel for the first time at the May 6 meeting.

Announcement has been received of the Fourth District Convention on Sunday, May 3, beginning at 1 p.m. at Dearborn Post 1494, at 7253 Chase Road, Dearborn. Chairman Hal Young reports that present 1959 membership is at 131. Activities will soon commence for the Drill team. The practice will begin on April 29 for what appears to be a busy season. The first major affair will be Memorial Day. The Post's Memorial Day Chairman, Jim Wilse, reports that plans are already approaching completion.

See You There

The Bird P.T.A. will hold their final meeting of the 1958-59 season on Tuesday evening, April 28. The officers for next year will be installed by Mr. William Lyons.

Entertainment will be furnished by our Bird School Chorus directed by Miss Bettie Norman, Bird School Band under the direction of Mr. Wayne Dunlap, Junior Symphony under Miss Bettie Norman and Choral Reading Group under Mrs. Nancy Tanger.

Reserve this night on your calendar to attend the P.T.A. at 7:45 p.m.

A STATEMENT OF POLICY

The following statement of policy is published for the information of the People of Plymouth.

The Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union was chartered by the United States government in 1951.

It is a non profit organization, whose aim is to provide a sound place for the people of Plymouth to save with a good return: and to use these savings to provide loans for provident and productive purposes.

The Credit Union directors serve entirely without pay or remuneration of any kind.

The Credit Union is examined annually by the Federal Government and carries a $1,000,000.00 blanket bond.

Hundreds of Plymouth People have now saved thousands of dollars in the Credit Union not only because of the 3 1/2% Dividend and matching life insurance but because their money is helping other Plymouth People.

The Credit Union opens at 10 A.M. and is open until 6 P.M., Monday through Thursday, 10 A.M. to 9 P.M. on Fridays and 10 A.M. to 1 P.M. on Saturday to serve the Community's needs.

Finally the Credit Union is entirely owned and controlled by the members who must be Plymouth people.

We hope that this statement will help you to better understand the position of the Credit Union in the community.

The Gracious Gourmets, Women's Extension Group, which is affiliated with the University of Michigan, held their semi-monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Finch Roberts on Lakeland Court. The lesson was conducted by Mrs. Roberts. The topic was "Color and Design." Mrs. William Baumgartner served the refreshments. Mrs. Elton McAllister gave us the following interesting information: The lesson taught that everyone has a color, according to the color of their eyes and hair. The basic winter wardrobe should consist of: One daytime dress, one suit, one winter coat, one set of accessories, one hat. The ba-had flown back to the States at that time.

By IRENE CANNING

Hi Neighbors: We had better not put away our winter clothes just yet. Spring is here but so is the cold wind, even though that good old sun feels good for a few hours nearly every day. If you sit down at set of sun and count the acts that you have done, And counting find One self-denying deed, on a word That eased the heart of him who heard; One glance most kind, That fell like sunshine where it went— Then you may count that day well spent.

G. Elliot.
Dr. and Mrs. Fitch of Lakeside Drive, drove to Toronto, Ontario on April 2. They returned on April 5. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Edwards of Toronto, who are missionaries of the Reorganized Church of the Latter Day Saints. During the visit the two couples compared slides which they had taken in Mexico last December. Dr. and Mrs. Fitch and Mr. and Mrs. Edwards had traveled in Mexico and the Yucatan Peninsula together. The Edwards had left the Yucatan to fly to Toronto and the Fitches had flown back to the States at that time.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Magic— Easy Does It

Little Pinky Roberts was so fond of her two baby rabbits Easy didn't have the heart to tell her they had run away.

"Just had to replace those rabbits before Pinky came home from school," Easy said. "Trouble was the only two available were full grown.

"I figured they'd have to do," he went on, "so I just hoped for the best. Then, when Pinky saw the rabbits she ran into the house, yelling, 'Wait! I'll see my rabbits! Those vitamins made them twice as big!'"

From where I sit, children see things as they'd "like them to be," but adults ought to see things as they are. For instance, we can't close our eyes to intolerance and call ourselves "good neighbors." If I don't respect your choice of tea or coffee and you don't respect mine for beer, that's intolerance and no excuses. On the other hand, tolerance makes good friends "multiply."

Thinclads Take Bentley, In Opening Meet 60-49

The Plymouth thinclads opened their season by downing the boys from Bentley 60-49. For a while it looked as if the Rocks would take the short end of the score, but then snapped back to win.

Tomorrow Trenton will invade the local cinder track to try and drop the Rocks by the wayside.

Nine of the 13 first place positions were captured by Plymouth along with a clean sweep in the 300. The high jump ended in a three way tie among Hondrop of Plymouth and Snarey and Bogyvov of Bentley.

Results:
 HIGH JUMP: 5' 3" Hondrop (P), Snarey (B), Bogyvov (B).

Golfers Improve Game, Outstroke Bentley 174-187

The Rock linkmen traveled to Western Country Club Tuesday to tackle the Bentley squad on their home ground, defeating them 174 to 187.

Plymouth, playing an improved game over the last match, turned in an all-around better performance than displayed at the first match. Coach Sandman seemed pleased with the way the squad handled themselves against the Bentley

SPORTSEEN — by Lee Sechler

Ed Wingard holds nothing over his wife when it comes to playing golf. The Wingards were playing a round of golf Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Wingard made a hole-in-one at Hill Top. The lucky lady used a driver, on the sixth hole, to sink the shot. Besides her hubby, she has Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shoemaker for witnesses.

Friday is the deciding day for Mike Hoben. Mike is still in the hospital at Ann Arbor, but at least he is now able to move around the room. If his back is no better Friday, an operation is the next move to help him.

John McFall informs me that there has been a change in the pool schedule. Tuesday night, Ladies night, is being changed to Mother-Daughter evening. The hours are the same, 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Area residents are in for a treat on Saturday, May second at Arbor Lill. John Katis has been hard at work for the past few weeks trying to promote a match between the Plymouth All Star Lady bowlers and the champion lady team from Detroit. Monday night John gave me a call to say that it was all arranged. The Cadillac Coffee team will be here on May second to meet our girls. The Cadillac group rolled a 1124 this past season. More about the Plymouth bowlers next week.

KEN CALHOUN is beginning his second year as Eastern Illinois University's first-string shortstop. A sophomore, Ken batted .283 last season in the Panthers leadoff spot.

Rocks Submit to Strong Ann Arbor

The Plymouth netmen found strong opposition as they met Ann Arbor and were forced to retain the short end of a 6-1 score.

Ann Arbor, ranked 5th in the state, found that the Rocks were a group of scrappers. The local netmen's bright spots of the afternoon came late in the singles competition and midway through the doubles.

In the singles, Rock Tom Lock gave senior A.A. player Don Lage a run for his money. Lage was originally scheduled to start in the number one position for Ann Arbor but was switched with the number four man.

Don Argo and Larry Livingston, both undefeated this season, worked together to drop one of the A.A. doubles teams 6-3, 6-2.

SINGLES
 Bob Wyman (A.A.) vs. Bob Wall (P) 6-4, 6-1 Ann Arbor
 Jim Baird (A.A.) vs. Don Conover (P), 6-1, 6-1 Ann Arbor
 Mike Peter (A.A.) vs. John Tisehy (P), 5-7, 6-0, 6-4 Ann Arbor
 Don Lage (A.A.) vs. Tom Lock (P), 6-4, 8-6 Ann Arbor

DOUBLES
 Dave Ackley-Joe Martin (A.A.) vs. Hal Huber-Jerry Tacia (P), 6-3, 6-2 Ann Arbor
 Tom Sonandres-Bill Lichty (A.A.) vs. Don Argo-Larry Livingston (P), 6-3, 6-2 Plymouth.
 John Duford-Jim Dewey (A.A.) vs. Frank Smith-Ken Jacobus (P), 6-4, 6-2 Ann Arbor.

Pair Travel to Cuba For Basketball Play

Walter and James Dzuris, former athletes and graduates of Plymouth High School, were recently selected by University of Florida coaches as members of the Gainesville All-Star basketball team. The team was made up of former and present University cage stars, and under the auspices of the Florida A.A.U. traveled to Havana, Cuba, to participate in a basketball tournament on the island.

During their stay on the island the team was housed in the new and modern Olympic Sport Palace; the Cuban government did everything possible to show the Florida team a good time.

The Florida team due to its outstanding performance was approached by the Cuban Government for a return trip during the coming summer. This trip would include games in Cuba, Mexico, and South America. The Florida team if it accepts will play teams from these countries that will participate in the Pan American Games to be held in Chicago during the month of August.

Rocks Drop League Opener

The Plymouth diamond nine made the trip to Allen Park only to be shut-out 1-0, as AP held the Rocks to two hits for the afternoon.

Coach Brown and squad were scheduled to play Northville Friday, but due to a mix-up — Northville had another game set for then — the game was canceled.

Co-capt. Wells and Woodard were the only Rocks to score hits. Wells collected his in the 6th and Woodard in the 4th inning.

Egloff remained on the mound for Plymouth allowing three hits and one run while his opponent Lizanich went the distance for Allen Park.

Allen Park scored their lone run in the 5th inning, with the bat of DeMartini being credited with an RBI. Stanczyk is the scorer that broke the tied game to give the Allen Park nine a league victory.

Redford Union will venture into Rock land this afternoon in an attempt to keep the Rocks on the short end of the league ledger.

Town Hall To Feature School Board Candidates

Another Town Hall meeting, this one presenting the candidates for the board of education election on June 8, has been scheduled by the Area Cooperation Group.

The Town Hall will be Thursday, June 4 at 8 p.m. in the Junior High gymnasium. All candidates certified for nomination will be invited to appear and speak at the meeting.

Carl Cederberg, who served as moderator at the recent Town Hall meeting, will again be moderator.

The Area Cooperation Group this week expressed its appreciation to the clubs and organizations which have made contributions to help defray expenses incurred during the Town Hall meetings. Contributions to date have been:

Plymouth Rotary Club, $50; Community Improvement Association of Plymouth Township, $25; Board of Directors of Community Improvement Association of Plymouth Township, $25; Junior Chamber of Commerce, $25; Parkview Circle Association, $10; individuals, $4.

Co-chairmen of the Area Cooperation Group are Robert Houston and Warren L. Smith. Smith will be chairman of the June 4 Town Hall Meeting.

Smith School PTA To View Science Fair

In keeping with a desirable national trend, the students of the Smith Elementary School are promoting and producing for the general public a "SCIENCE FAIR."

In connection with scientific courses in each grade from kindergarten through the sixth, each room is developing an interesting display on a particular phase of their studies.

All parents and friends are invited to Smith School on Tuesday evening, April 28 at 8 p.m. for a short Parent-Teacher Association business meeting followed by a tour through the many rooms where exhibits ranging from the incubation of an egg to an explanation of space travel, and including, pre-historic animals, astronomy, and the basic relationships between man and his earth.

All the students will be given an opportunity to visit the other rooms the next morning, Wednesday, April 29.

It is an excellent opportunity to view with pride the progress and scope of our much discussed scientific curriculum here in Plymouth.

GALLIMORE PTA

Tuesday evening April 28 at 7 p.m. the children of Gallimore School will have open house and a Science Fair with their experiments and projects in the classroom.

Installation of officers will follow in the multi-purpose room. The fifth and sixth grade orchestra will play a selection of numbers under the direction of Mr. Wayne Dunlap. The fifth and sixth Grade Chorus will present their version of "Around the World in a Half Hour" under the direction of Miss Judy Atwood. Refreshments will follow.

WHEN MRS. Mable Eckler, 1071 Holbrook, tried to stop for a red light while she approached Penniman on Main St., she says her car's brakes failed. She maneuvered the car past other vehicles and pedestrians toward the National Bank of Detroit corner where it grazed a utility pole and knocked down the street sign and mailbox. She is shown awaiting arrival of police. The accident happened Wednesday afternoon.

HAROLD ROSSOW of 48975 N. Territorial Rd. is receiving from Dave Mather, owner of Plymouth Lumber, part of the Armstrong ceiling tile he won. Mr. Rossow's name was drawn from a box containing about 300. The drawing entitled him to a free Armstrong ceiling of his choice. The rest of the tile is being delivered in time for Harold to enjoy putting it up.

SOLOISTS at the Plymouth Symphony Pops Concert on Saturday, April 25 are Nat Sibbold and Joanne Hulce, both of Plymouth. They will be featured in familiar operatic and Broadway hit numbers. Both have professional singing backgrounds and were hits of the first Pops Concert two years ago.

depending where one starts his measurements.

With this development, a motion was made to refer the plat back to the Planning Commission and to amend the subdivision ordinance to allow the Planning Commission to use its discretion relative to dead-end streets.

(The 400-foot limit had come up in Planning Commission meetings but their planning advisors had said that limit could be overlooked in favor of the "best use of the land.")

Getting back to the appearance of the homes, Commissioner Marvin Terry declared that he didn't believe "that there is a person on the City Commission or Planning Commission who wants to see the same 100 homes in a row."

This brought applause from the audience. Commissioner Carl Shear later made a motion to amend the Zoning Ordinance to make it necessary to have several models (up to seven were suggested) in every subdivision.

The motion was approved and referred to the city manager who is to check other communities and the Michigan Municipal League to see if it can be done.

The city commissioner's newest member, Rusling Cutler, was put on the spot on his first night back in office. As legal representative of the developers, he asked permission to not participate in the voting. He did answer questions from both commissioners and the audience, however, and voted "yes" on the motion for a diversification of models in subdivisions.

There remains the question of whether the City Commission can legally legislate the diverse appearances of homes in a subdivision. And if they can, will such legislation be approved before the Symar plat is approved?

While Monday night's meeting was relatively calm, last Thursday night's Planning Commission meeting brought about several outbreaks.

Despite many residential protests to the contrary the Planning Commission approved the Symar Subdivision development.

The developers submitted for approval at the meeting a list of 18 restrictions in developing the area. There are to be five different exterior plans; the one story dwellings are to be not less than 960 square feet; the one-and-a-half dwellings not less than 800 square feet; two story, 625 square feet (ground floor); there can be no professional dwellings or rooming houses or beauty parlors; no animals except dogs, cats, and only if they are not used in a commercial way.

A petition with 259 signatures of residents from Madison and Birch Subdivision was presented by resident William Adams against the subdivision regardless of the restrictions involved. The main points of the petitions were the proposed houses would down-grade the whole surrounding area. The petition was accepted by the Planning Commission and voted to be placed on file.

The technicality of the lower level of the one standing dwelling being a basement because of the height of the ceiling, rather than a first floor was discussed at great length. Could a kitchen be located in a basement, was one of the questions involved. The technicality also, of the dead-end street, Fairground, being 30 feet short of the necessary footage, according to code, to be a street, was pointed out by the residents.

After an hour of discussion wherein many of the residents of the standing-room-only meeting brought up points of disapproval of the subdivision, Commissioner Eleanor Hammond made a motion "despite her sentiments" to approve the Symar Development. All voted in favor. Commissioner Harry Larsen refrained from voting as he is a resident of Maplecroft Subdivision.

A final vote of approval was then given the development, regardless of the voice of the tentative approval. All voted Yes. Commissioner Larsen again refrained from voting.

Madonna Plans Festival For Building Fund

To raise funds for their building fund, the students of Madonna College are sponsoring an Annual College Festival, Sunday, May 3. At the head of the project are Theresa Zientek and Janet Chernow, co-chairmen, who are steering the activity to success.

Besides the traditional entertainment and games, an attractive family styled spaghetti dinner will be served.

MRS. MARTIN MOE, 299 Elizabeth, has raised her family here and been a resident of Plymouth for 30 years. Coming to the United States from Norway, the Moes settled first in Minnesota, later coming to Plymouth. Mr. Moe, a fine tailor, learned his trade from his father before him in the old country. At the present time he is ill and bed-ridden, however, before his illness he worked at Tait's in Plymouth. Mrs. Moe too, can sew a fine seam, evidenced by some of the lovely things worn by her 12 grandchildren.

Shy of nature, it was only because of many years of friendship we were able to prevail upon Mrs. Moe to share with us a few of her Norwegian recipes (more in her head than in a book). Many years ago at Christmas time when her five children were still gathered about the table at the holiday season, many traditional dishes of Norway would be brought out for the sampling of the Moe children, and their always-hungry friends. Since, the children have scattered to various parts of the country. Should anyone mention Norwegian Coffee Bread, Scones, or Norwegian Meat Balls, no doubt a feeling of nostalgia for their mother's immaculate Plymouth kitchen must come over them.

Aside from making a casserole for a sick friend or rookies for the grandchildren, or a tasty dish to take to Grange. Mrs. Moe doesn't do much of that type of cooking any more. She has other talents, however, that keep her busy. Hardly a week goes by that she hasn't a sewing project underway. Without a pattern, (this alone would make you and I shake in our boots) she calmly makes a slip-cover, new drapes, or perhaps does something to a fur to sharpen it up and make it stylish. Definitely, Mrs. Moe could be called an artist with a needle or a mixing bowl. Would you like to add her recipe for tasty Norwegian Coffee Bread or Scones to your favorites?

Norwegian Coffee Bread
2 cups butter (1 cup may be Oleo), unsalted preferred
1/4 cup sugar (1/2 if salted butter)
3 cups of flour
1 t. almond extract
Mix evening before you intend to use it and refrigerate this mixture.

Cut and roll to the shape of bread sticks (about 3" in length). Dip in egg whites (beaten, but not stiff); then roll in sugar. Put on tin and bake in 350 degree oven for about 10 minutes (until light brown). They taste a about two dollars a dozen.

Scones
3 cups of flour
1 t. baking powder
1 t. salt
2 T. sugar
2 T. shortening (full measure)
2 eggs
(Add flour if too soft)
Roll out about one half inch thick and cut in three inch squares. Fold into a triangle. Brush top with milk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake 10 to 15 minutes in a 400 degree oven.
Someday we'll go through the rest of Mrs. Moe's handwritten cookbook for those wonderful Christmas cookie recipes too.

Livonia's oldest church, Newburg Methodist, located at the corner of Newburg road and Ann Arbor trail is busy with its fund raising campaign toward the construction of a new church and Sunday School. This year marks the 125 anniversary which the church has served the community of Livonia. The present church building was built in 1848 and originally stood across from the old Newburg cemetery, on an Arbor trail where veterans of the Revolutionary, Civil, Spanish-American, World War II wars are laid to rest along with others of those eras.

In 1915, the building was moved to its present location where one service of worship is held to this day. Because of increased membership, a second service must be held in the community hall adjacent to it. This situation makes it imperative that construction start as soon as required finances are secured. Four acres of land have been purchased at Ann Arbor Trail and Levan road for this construction.

Th is Friday night, April 24, a family night dinner and rally will be held in the church hall and pledges for the next year will be received. Rev. Jesse DeWitt, the Executive Secretary of the Detroit Conference Board of Missions and Church Extension will be the guest speaker. Rev. De-

Witt will also be the guest minister at the Sunday, April 26 services at 9:45 a.m. and 11 a.m. followed in the afternoon, by dinner and workers going out to secure further pledges toward the new church.

More than half of the dairy cows in the United States are in Florida.

Madonna College To Hold Honors Program Sunday

The annual Honors Convocation of Madonna College will be held Sunday, April 26, at 3 p.m. in DeSales auditorium.

The program will consist of an alumnae panel followed by presentation of candidates for honors by the academic dean, Sister M. Raynelda, CSSF, and conferral of honors by the president, Sister

M. Assumpta, CSSF. The program will also include initiation of officers for the 1959-1960 school year for the Student Association and Sodality. The College Chorus, under the direction of Sister M. Paulette, CSSF, will present several numbers. Chairman for the Convocation will be alumna Dorothy Lapczynski, '54.

THIS IS CHICAGO's Salvation Army Band that will perform at a concert in Kellogg Park on Sunday, May 3 at 3 p.m. The appearance is in connection with the local Salvation Army's 30th birthday.

Salvation Army Band Playing Here May 3 Widely Acclaimed

Plymouth will be treated to a concert by one of the nation's finest brass bands on Sunday, May 3 when the Chicago Salvation Army Band plays at an open-air concert in Kellogg Park.

The band will be in Plymouth that weekend to participate in the 30th anniversary of the Salvation Army in Plymouth. The concert, open to the public, will start at 3 p.m.

The Chicago Staff Band was organized in 1907 by Colonel John T. Flynn, at that time a Field Secretary for the Salvation Army. Primarily, the band was made up of officers attached to the staff of the Central Territorial Headquarters.

However, as the years passed, non-officer members were added to the band. The band is made up of the all-brass family, inasmuch as woodwinds are not used.

The Chicago Staff Band, known as "The Band with a Sacred Message," has appeared in all of the large cities of this country and Canada.

It has been the privilege of the Staff Band to play under the baton of such famous conductors as John Phillip Sousa, Dr. Frank Simon, Frank O. Goldman, and William Revelli. The Staff Band recently appeared before the Annual Midwest Band Clinic held in Chicago.

An excerpt from one letter tells the story of how the band was received. "A number of us have known the work of this group for many years, and we knew they would present a fine concert. But they far exceeded our expectations. They were playing for an audience of school band and orchestra directors from all over the United States. The audience was so well pleased that the band was forced to play a number of encores. We have had outstanding bands appear at our clinic right from the beginning some four years ago; but frankly, we have never had a band that pleased the audience of musicians more than the Chicago Staff Band did this year."

On a trip through Texas in the spring of 1950, the band played to the Southwest Music Educators' meeting at Mineral Wells, Texas, before four thousand musicians gathered for their annual meeting. Dr. Frank Simon conducted the band on this occasion.

In 1955, the band flew to New York for the Annual Music Leaders Institute conducted by The Salvation Army in the Eastern Territory. Here it was again acclaimed as one of the finest brass bands of this country. They were honored on this particular visit to have Erik Leiden, well-known conductor and conductor, direct them.

The band this year is celebrating its 52nd anniversary.

Must Find Good Home For "CAMILLE"
This young lady of good family (Chevrolet), born in 1952, is being turned out into the world by my spouse for one of these newer "finned" busses.
She's a quiet lady who doesn't guzzle gas and indulges in only a small amount of oil. Her sleek dark figure has four well-placed doors. Her automatic transmission, radio and heater make her a steal for $350.

Resident Joins Educational Television Staff

Howard Town

Broadcasting engineer Howard W. Town, Plymouth, has joined the staff of the National Educational Television and Radio Center in Ann Arbor as technical director, Vice President Kenneth L. Yourd announced. Town will be stationed in Ann Arbor.

Formerly with the Radio Corporation of America, Town will be responsible for the engineering and technical services of NETRC. This will include work with the Center's affiliated stations on broadcasting problems, and technical work on TV films distributed by the national organization.

At age 23, the Plymouth man carried out an assignment which took him to Caracas, Venezuela, to assist in the installation of a TV station. He also helped establish a station in Uruguay as a field representative with RCA.

Town helped to install the closed-circuit color TV facilities at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, as well as similar facilities at Strategic Air Command Headquarters in Omaha. He conducted a 16-week course in color TV operations at SAC.

Almost as color television became a reality, Town began specializing in that new field. He assisted in the installation of RCA's first color TV apparatus outside of New York City at WKY, Oklahoma City.

Town received his engineering training at the Detroit Electronics Institute, Cass Technical Institute and at the National Broadcasting Co., as well as special training with RCA. He received additional instruction while serving with the Navy.

Town is a graduate of Plymouth High School. He will continue to live in Plymouth.

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor:

The citizenry must be watchful of the civil administrators; parents must be also watchful of their school systems. However, the Plymouth High School has a number-one band, and the teachers and students deserve applause rather than a controversy over band leadership!

Most of these humble lines are addressed to the parents, the last sentence to the teachers and students.

H. S. Niemand
9127 Prevost St.
EXORDIUM

Throw back the blind! (Ba-boom, Ba-boom!)

To douse the musty winter's mind

In puissant, bounding, springtime air,

And leave the chilly night's affair

With dubious deed and stogy means

To find demise in spring-tide's beams.

Stand back, go 'way! (Taa, ta-taa!)

Do not eclipse youth's primrose day

With paltry playing out of scale,

Lest waxing minds shall soon assail

Paternal sophistries un-cloaked,

And ask of why their vine you choke.

Sit back, take heed! (Tating, ta-ting!)

Of laurels won, not who shall lead.

Away young muse, the sand falls fast,

Expression art while time doth last;

Come, play and swell like nascent fields

And burst thy seams, pour forth thy yield.

Who's New in Plymouth

AS EVIDENCED by their home Roy Pedersen is an artist. His favorite art work is in the ceramics and jewelry-making line. The pieces displayed on their long coffee table shown in the picture were all made by him on a potters wheel with clear glaze over California clay. By profession he is an art teacher in the Northville Elementary Schools. He is Norwegian and his pretty wife, Holly, is Swiss. They moved to Plymouth in February from Northville, however, previously lived in Wisconsin where Roy attended the University. Holly is a registered nurse and although is not permanently employed, she has been assisting the Northville School District with their Polio Clinic. Their lovely new home on Hammill Lane in Lake Pointe Village is an ideal place to raise their two healthy, active boys, Scott, (left) a year and a half, and Bruce, four and a half.

Village Park Underway In Lake Pointe Area

BY MARCY BARTSON
GL. 3-6729

Last Saturday the Motzkus garage was filled with a week and magic. For over a week the children had been practicing and rehearsing their magic tricks with a great enthusiasm. The "floating" body, the head decapitation, card tricks, handkerchiefs appearing from nowhere; all these stunts were practiced until perfect, (well, almost perfect anyway.)

The little magic troupe performers consisted of Ronnie and Wally Lambe, Judith and Marsha Motzkus, Dale Moody, and Mike Dealesandry, with ages ranging from 8 to 12 years. Everyone was dressed in his Sunday best and Mike had on a regular magician's tuxedo. The group performed to an audience of 34 children and several adults, and from reports everyone enjoyed the show immensely. The children accomplished this successful venture on their own initiative.

Be on the lookout for a newsletter from the Lake Pointe Homeowners Association. It will be in reference to a box social now being planned by the Social Committee. So far, the date set for the affair is May 16. Read the letter for more detailed information.

The Thunderbird Inn was the site selected for a luncheon date by a group of Lake Pointe ladies last Friday afternoon. The weather was beautiful (too warm even for coats). The girls felt grand in their pretty summer chapeaus and warm weather outfits. Marion Cosgrove, Jo Elison, Evelyn Taylor, Nora Jaskierney, Jane Dikeman, Arlene Motzkus, and Marcy Bartson (that's me) were the happy group. Everyone enjoyed their afternoon out and have already planned another luncheon date.

Have had several requests to mention the fact that traffic on Shadywood Drive has been very fast. Since this street is used by most persons either coming into or leaving Lake Pointe it is quite busy. There are many children outdoors now since the weather has warmed up and many little tow heads venture out into the street without looking. It would be terrible to have someone hit by a speeding car, so let's see if we can't slow up a bit on our residential streets.

Richard and Elaine McGlinn, who are both originally from Leavenworth, Kansas, moved to Lake Pointe from Detroit. Shortly after their arrival here in March, Elaine presented the family with another addition, a little girl named Maureen. There are now five little McGlinns, Stephen, who was born in California, and is 4½ years old, then Paula, born in Kansas and 3½, and Mark, 2½ and Richard, 1½, who were both born in Detroit.

Elaine's mother, Mrs. Joseph Kubicki, came here from Kansas to be with her daughter after Maureen's arrival. Her three weeks visit was enjoyed by the children, but we'll bet Elaine enjoyed having "Mom" here more than anyone else.

Is there an accountant at the Fisher Building is attending night classes at the University of Detroit three times a week. He is working towards his degree. His spare time at home will be put to good use on the project facing so many new arrivals this spring - that of putting in a lawn!

Brentwood Drive and several other streets are being kept in a busy turmoil while cement work goes on, since porches and pavements are being laid and constructed everywhere. The cold weather stopped this type of work last fall and now that it is warm again all hands are out to finish the long delayed project.

Another interesting and Soprano Throat-Cleaners Still Stymie Baritones

NEW YORK (UPI) — While technology leaps ahead in the field of military tactics, grand opera's age-old war between the baritones and the sopranos remains in the era of hand-to-hand combat.

Baritone Leonard Warren, a 20-year campaign veteran, reports that male opera singers cannot expect to get by on voice alone when they find themselves on stage with prima donnas who are determined to be noticed at all times and at all costs.

Warren, a baritone-looking six-foot, 200-pounder blessed with one of the world's finest voices, has learned to use his powerful hands in dealing with sopranos, handkerchiefs, wavers, shirt-grabbers, talkers and walkers.

However, he admits that throat-cleaners still have him stymied. "There's no defense against throat-clearing," he said. "You can only pray they're not too malicious."

"All sopranos are wonderful people," said Warren, "but some of them feel they must 'fara una figura,' strike a pose. I've been the target of the evening many a time."

How does Leonardo da Warren (as he's called at La Scala) cope with The Handkerchief-Waver?

"Very simple. I grab her wrists and make a forceful gesture, pulling her towards me. The audience thinks I'm expressing great passion. But actually, I'm pinning her arms."

The Shirt-Grabber? "They grab you by the shirt-front so you can't see the conductor. Here, I quickly grab their wrists and push away. They must let go or break an arm," said the no-nonsense baritone.

The Walkers? "They stroll back and forth to distract the audience while the baritone sings. Here, I quietly close the gap between their movements and move forward. Then, if they want to walk, they must do it behind me."

Talkers are best handled by moving away. "One soprano invited me to a party after the show. I didn't pay any attention because I was too busy singing at the time. Another whispered to me that she was going to a reception later. She said, 'I hope they don't serve chicken. Chicken is for sick people.' I simply turned away—and broke up."

Despite all the in-fighting, Warren believes the old-timers had more trouble. "I know of a case where a soprano poked a finger in a

Mothers Entertained By "Knit-Wits"

The "Knit-Wits" (a knitting and sewing group of the 4-H organization) entertained their mothers at their annual tea on Saturday afternoon, April 11, at the home of Tina Pedersen.

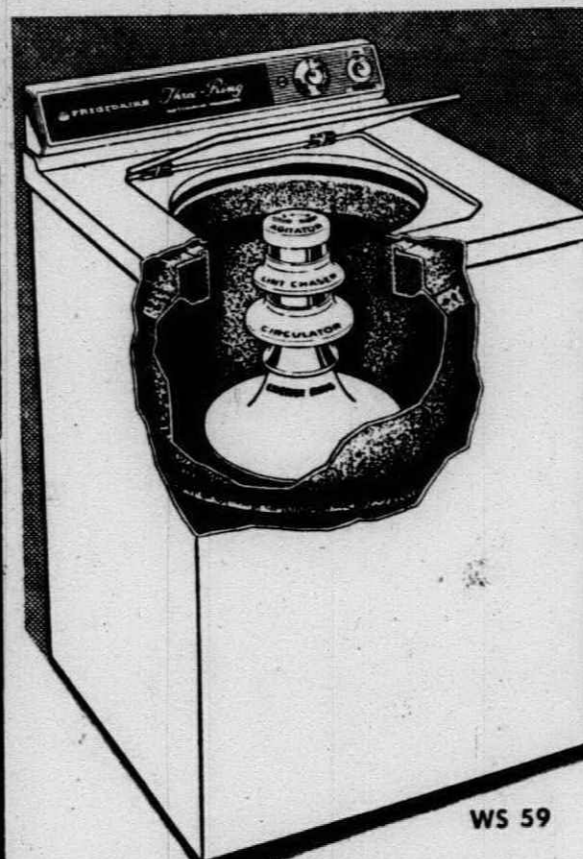

The program consisted of a "Health Stunt," with the main characters played by Youngie Krumm and Susan Young. The group also enjoyed a viola solo by Nancy Young and a reading by LuAnne Sockow.

Green and white decorated cakes, coffee and chocolate were served by the members. Besides the general fellowship and fun among the girls and their mothers, such an event as this encourages, and also gives the girls some practical training in handling the necessary details involved in entertaining.

Walls of Windows Cost Less

Model remodeling: a family room to delight any family. Walls of big windows are the key to year-round enjoyment of this handsome family room added to the rear of a home in Minneapolis.

As the "before" photo (inset, upper left) shows, the new room was built in a corner provided by the rear of the house and the garage. The three-sided sweep of windows of ponderosa pine gives the room good looks, inside and out, and permits full enjoyment of lawn and garden while dining, entertaining, or just relaxing.

Floodlights under the eaves are designed to be left on at night to show off the garden area and do away with the "black mirror" effect of large glass areas after dark.

The home owner saved money by using walls of windows. He followed an architect's axiom that large groups of windows cost less to build than wall areas with many small window openings.

THE LONG AND SHORT OF IT—A touch of sheer magic is this ingenious two-in-one evening gown designed by Vogue Patterns. For those less formal occasions, a billowy, short evening dress of sheer white organza. Presto, the addition of a second skirt tier turns it into a glamorous ball gown. And for the icing, a scalloped bodice and sash of ice-blue cotton satin.

Homemaking Hints

Collars and facings often separate a new seamstress from one that's "in the know". Trimming is the answer, say clothing specialists at Michigan State University. Mix the powder with other dry ingredients, then add the liquid.

Take it easy when you sew, and don't push yourself. Clothing specialists at Michigan State University suggest you plan a definite time for sewing — uninterrupted, if possible. Set a time limit and stop before you get tired.

Boosts Value While Adding To Livability

One of the best investments a home owner can make today is in remodeling a home improvement, according to most economists.

The principal reason for this is that carefully planned remodeling and improvements actually add cash value to the house—frequently more value dollar for dollar than the total cost of the improvement.

Here are some other important reasons why improving a home is a good investment for any family:

1. Any home improvement, whether it is a major structural change or a minor addition, invariably increases family comfort, welfare, and security. As an example, installing a home with mineral wool not only improves comfort but helps family health by eliminating drafts and providing more uniform temperatures inside. Family economics also are improved, since thick insulation sharply reduces winter fuel bills.
2. Family prestige can get a big boost in the community through an exterior improvement to a home. This is because such improvements as reroofing with asphalt shingles in a color that complements the house, painting, or landscaping can give an entire neighborhood a lift.
3. A do-it-yourself project, such as enclosing a porch with combination doors of ponderosa pine adds both value and comfort to a house. These doors, used as walls around all exterior sides of the porch, provide a sun porch in winter and breezy screened porch in summer. The fact that the home handyman can do the work himself saves labor costs and means that the new addition adds far more in value to the house than the total cash expended for materials.

A New Twist

All out of adjectives — and right down to a feeble "yum" — is the way people feel after enjoying Banana Cream Pie with matching banana pie crust. See how easy this sumptuous dessert is to make. The filling is just one of those delicious, quick-cooking packaged puddings, cooled and combined with sliced bananas in the baked pie shell. Ah, the pie shell — that's a dramatic part of the story, too. Make a matching banana-flavored pie shell by using a pie crust mix, or your own recipe, and in a shed fresh banana, instead of the water usually called for. How can banana be used as a "flavor liquid"? Simply by mashing the fruit! Then you have a liquid and a delicious flavor ingredient all in one easy operation.

Banana Pie Crust is delicious in flavor and the banana causes it to brown lightly and evenly. Make this unusual pie crust, bake it, and then fill it with easy banana cream filling using a packaged pudding. You'll have America's favorite Banana Cream Pie with a new twist in double-quick time.

BANANA PASTRY

2 1/2 cups sifted flour
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 cup shortening

5 1/2 tablespoons mashed ripe bananas

Preheat oven to 450 degrees F. (hot oven).
Combine flour and salt in mixing bowl; cut in shortening. Add mashed banana and gather dough together until it cleans bowl. Press dough into a ball and roll out.
Bake for 12 minutes.

QUICK BANANA CREAM PIE FILLING

Make up packaged vanilla pudding and pie filling according to the directions on the package and set it aside to cool. When the filling is cool, slice fully-ripe bananas into a baked pie shell to completely cover the bottom of the pastry. Then cover the sliced bananas with the cooled filling. Easy as that is delicious Banana Cream Pie for dessert. Just before serving, garnish pie with banana slices in any pattern you prefer.

How Do You Rate As A Mate?

A Perfect Scorer!

Are you great as a mate—or are you a louse as a spouse? Though sometimes your best friend won't tell you, these twenty questions, compiled by public relations experts, should help you arrive at an answer—and a better rating.

1. Do you sometimes give in to avoid an argument even if you know that your one and only is dead wrong?
2. No statistician has ever calculated the number of marriages that crackle on the rock of "principle," but it must be considerable. You won't beef up your spouse's stubborn streak just by confronting a point—quite the opposite. People are at their most conciliatory after winning a round.
3. Show loyalty by building him or her up in public and keeping your spouse's secrets?
4. Fidelity is more than a matter of staying monogamous. You're being disloyal every time you recite "cute" anecdotes that make your better half look small, or publicly correct his (her) facts or grammar, or tell your friends and relatives things they have no right to know.
5. Maintained friendly relations with your in-laws? One of the soundest married-life insurance policies, experts say. By showing your mate that you like his family, you're showing approval of a very important part of himself.
6. Ever use your mate as a threat or alibi when dealing with children? (e.g. "Wait till your father hears about this," "You know your mother won't want you to go.")
7. Casting your mate as the heavy father or pistol-packing mama to dodge responsibility for an unpopular decision is psychologically unsound, morally shady—and besides it doesn't work. Sooner or later the kids catch on.
8. Try persistently to change him (her)?
9. Hard on the vocal chords and the marriage ties, and futile besides. The only person who can change your mate is friend spouse himself. You married for what he was—or did you?
10. And attempt to correct your own flaws if they distress your mate?
11. All right, so your mate shouldn't try to change you. But maybe that one cherished vice isn't worth the contention it causes, and "kicking the habit" might make your spouse vow to be more punctual, less overweight, or whatever you've been striving to make him.
12. Watch your appearance as carefully now as you did before? You should—but if you do, you're rather uncommon. A survey made by the Barbasol Company, one of the nation's leading manufacturers of shaving cream, revealed that a surprising percentage of the wives and husbands polled thought their mates had gone to seed in five years or more of marriage. Husbands objected most to being greeted in the evenings by a bedraggled mate. Other complaints: general slackness about grooming, loss of girlish figures. And several men wistfully wondered whatever happened to the sexy perfume mama used to wear during courtship. Wives, more tolerant as a group, were sporting about receding hair-lines ("There's nothing he can do about it, I guess") but less philosophical about advancing waistlines and the tendency of some husbands to sit around in their stubble at night and on Sundays.

8. Try the same flattery you used then? Even if you didn't specialize in blarney, you undoubtedly showed a flattering interest in everything your prospective partner said or did. Try it again. One good home remedy for domestic headaches and other complications: really listening when your mate speaks.

9. Have a hobby or other strong interest which is not shared by your mate.

According to many psychologists, you should! Too much togetherness can be stifling and ultimately stale. A separate interest gives you breadth as well as a breather.

To make your time together more valuable, (1) always have some joint project in the works (2) occasionally turn off the TV and just talk—or walk (3) plan a night out for just the two of you at least once a month—often if you can manage it.

10. Avoid such antagonizers as "After all I've done for you... Any good... wife (husband) would...?"

A sure way to foster the very behavior you dislike is to make your mate feel guilty or inadequate. The essence of real self-sacrifice is that it be unpublicized. A not her phrase to avoid: "Isn't that just like a man (woman)?"

If you must be insulting, at least give your partner the credit of uniqueness "No other man (woman) could be so dumb!"

MEN ONLY

11. Do you bring home flowers or candy every now and then?
12. Light her cigarettes, help her on with her coat, open doors for her? Inexpensive and infallible methods of making a woman feel more like a woman.
13. Ask her advice—and take it if it's good?
14. Compliment her when she's gone to special trouble to prepare a dish you like? Bread cast on the waters may yield French toast.
15. Learn a new joke occasionally?
16. If this one isn't in the marriage manuals, it should be.
17. Is your home neat—but not so neat that your husband feels like a bull in a china shop?
18. Do you have the space, set aside a den or workshop where he can scatter ashes or wood shavings to his heart's content?
19. Do you read the newspaper every day?
20. Many women who complain that their husbands don't talk to them haven't much to say.
21. Do you make him feel he's at least as important to you as the kids? The counterpart of the wife who feels "invisible" is the husband who thinks he's valued only as a provider and "the father of her children." Both types are frequently found in counseling sessions and divorce courts.
22. Avoid comparing his accomplishments with those of other husbands you know?
23. No comparison is ever fair. Concentrate on praising and polishing his good points and you'll have something that Mrs. Jones will try to keep up with.
24. Avoid reciting the trials and tribulations of your day as soon as he steps in the door?
25. At least wait till you've given him his supper.
26. SCORING KEY
27. A perfect 15—you're too good to be true! Better go over the questions again.
28. 14-12—despite some flaws, you're a first rate mate.
29. 11-7—with many good points and some few quirks that bear correcting, you're about average.
30. Below 7—you're an apprentice mate. Careful that your mate doesn't send you to boot camp.

Suburban Living

Don't Store Fire

Lady, your fire hazards are showing. Richard Pfister, agricultural engineering safety specialist at Michigan State University reminds you when "things" begin to accumulate around the house, you can be storing up for a fire.

For instance, you may do a little spring painting and store the supplies in the basement. Take precautions to place the paint, turpentine and brushes in a cool area, or find a place for them outside of the house.

Oily cloths should be stored in a closed metal container. Or better yet don't keep used paint rags around. Burn them. Start the next job with a clean one. Paint or oily rags don't need a flame to start a fire.

Take another look at the magazines and papers you've collected through the winter. Paper piled high is fine kindling for a fire.

If you haven't given those old clothes away, do it now. Any clothes that must be stored in the basement should be hung away from the heating plant or electric wires.

Ases should go into metal barrels. Rubbish should go out of the house.

The basement is only a start. There may be fire hazards in your kitchen, your living room or your attic.

If you're fortunate to live in a community where firemen inspect homes for fire hazards, take advantage of this service. If your school children are checking fire hazards around the house, help them. They can help you.

Summer Sunshine

Whether you are skiing in the Rockies or sunning on the coast of Florida—and taking pictures — don't be fooled by the strength of the sunlight. It's brighter than you think it is. And at home, wherever it may be, it's easy to be fooled by the sun in spring. After all, it's only three months until the sun reaches its highest point and brightest light of the year.

With the fast film available today in both black and white and color, there is no reason why good pictures can't be taken anywhere at any time. And they will be, unless the photographer misjudges the intensity of the sunlight.

This warning is particularly necessary for the Northern who travels to the Southwest or the South west at this time of year. On my first trip to southern California one March, I was amazed at the reading on my meter as compared to the reading the week before when I had been taking garden pictures on the East Coast.

GETTING THE MOST... FROM YOUR GARDEN

By Lyman N. White

ASSOCIATED SEED GROWERS

Flowers in a garden are usually planned with two purposes in view. First, to make a pleasing design which will form an outdoor pictorial composition; second, to have flowers for cutting and so enable some of the beauty and fragrance to be brought indoors. It is possible to satisfy both aims at the same time.

Even the smallest garden can be immensely improved by planning its area with due regard to the house and outdoor surroundings. The architectural lines of the building, being fixed, may then be the basis of the design, to be projected into the layout of plots and borders. If the garden is large enough, the lines should soften into greater freedom further out from the house.

Considerations in the choice of flowers will include plant height, time and duration of blooming, so that there are always flowers of some sort throughout the season. Other guides are fragrance, personal preference, soil conditions and the proportion of sunshine or shade.

In general, flowers should be grown in clumps rather than straight rows, with the stronger colors in the smaller sized plants. Red blossoms show brighter if those next to them are white. The blues are well contrasted with adjoining yellows. Green is, of course, the general background.

The familiar flowers of the garden fall into three classes: annuals, which complete their life cycle from seed to seed in a single season; biennials, which bloom in the second summer; and perennials, which continue for many years though some of them, such as Sweet William, will die after a few seasons unless lifted, divided and replanted.

Seed of the most popular species will be found in packets, printed with directions and full color pictures, in the seed racks of garden centers and stores, at very modest prices, and can be selected to suit the plan made for the garden.

Here are some of the most popular:

Annuals	Biennials	Perennials
Ageratum low	Canterbury Bells medium	Columbine medium
Aster, China low	Evening Primrose medium	Delphinium tall
Bachelors Button low	Forget-me-not low	Primrose low
Candytuft low	Foxglove medium	Shasta Daisy low

HI-FI

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press International

The first thing a high fidelity equipment owner generally shows off is his speaker system.

This is natural, because that's where the music comes out and if it isn't up to par, it doesn't make any difference how good the rest of the system is.

And, generally it is where the high fidelity listener has put most of his equipment money.

A speaker has been compared to a pump and to a motor and both comparisons are reasonably accurate.

A speaker acts like a pump in that the variations it makes in the air pressure on the ear drums is what the brain identifies as sound. And in the sense that a loudspeaker cone converts electrical energy into motion, it is a motor.

The in and out movement of a speaker cone is caused by the interaction between a permanent magnet and a voice coil attached to the amplifier of a hi-fi system.

Electrical impulses from the amplifier set up a magnetic field in the voice coil. This field, depending upon the impulses fed into it, either attracts or repels the permanent magnet's field.

If it attracts it, the speaker cone goes one way. If it repels it, the cone goes the other. Moving out, the speaker cone compresses air. Moving in, it has a tendency to leave a "hole" in the air.

On a 1,000-cycle note, the speaker cone will move out 1,000 times and in 1,000 times a second. This frequent variation in pressure on a person's ear drums is what causes him to hear a 1,000-cycle-per-second note.

The high notes come from near the center of the cone and the low notes from the edges. It doesn't take much cone to make high notes. It takes a little more to make notes up to middle range and it takes a fairly big cone to make notes of 30 or 40 cps.

So far, most high fidelity listeners have not been pleased with speakers that try to cover the audible range — say 30 or 40 to 15,000 or 16,000 cps — with a single cone.

It either does not cover the complete range or distorts sound because of the difference in speed between the motions required to produce a high note and those required to produce a low note.

For that reason, most speaker systems have at least two kinds of speakers — woofers and tweeters — and sometimes mid-range speakers as well.

A crossover network splits up the impulses from the amplifier and passes them to the proper speaker: woofer, tweeter or midrange. The woofer reproduces low notes; the mid-range speaker those along the middle of the range and the tweeter high notes.

Rhythm Notes Play for Teen Club Dance In Newburg Area

MRS. EMIL LaPOINTE
GA. 1-2029

On Saturday, April 11, the Fidelis Class of the Newburg Methodist church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grosjean on Newburg road for pot luck supper and monthly business meeting. Highlight of the evening was the viewing of pictures taken by the Grosjeans and their son Edwin while in Europe. Guests present for this evening were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Case, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Halloran, Mr. and Mrs. James Busenbark, Mr. and Mrs. Don Ryder, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Norris, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mahl, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ayres, Mrs. Dorothy Pringle, Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis and Mrs. Edith Nyman.

Our family were supper guests at the home of my parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Sr., of Graham road, Redford on Saturday, April 11.

Heard that little Mary Ellen Gennis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gennis of Joy road has been a little under the weather this past week, having to be confined to her home with a light case of the measles. Glad to report that the little lady is on the mend again.

The Rhythm Notes were a guest musical group at the meeting, Friday, April 10, of the Teen Club which meets every Friday at the Myron Beals Legion hall on Newburg road. There were 100 young folks in attendance for the evening of fun and dancing.

Tramp, tramp, tramp, the boys of scout troop 271 are marching again. Sunday, April 12 found them at the Island Lake recreation area again on another advancement hike with some of the leaders of the troop. The boys are all working real hard to achieve star rank or higher before the June 22 Court of Honor, in order to be eligible to go with the troop on their great trip into the northern woods of upper Michigan in July. You can bet your boots that all who earnestly try will make the grade.

Wednesday afternoon, April 15, a group of ladies met at the home of Mrs. Melvin C. Gutherie on Newburg road to formulate plans for the forthcoming share a dish dinner which will be the kickoff for a new expansion fund drive for the Newburg Methodist church. The dinner will be on Friday, April 24 and the fund drive will begin on Sunday, April 26 with Rev. DeWitt speaking to the congregation of the church at both services. Ladies who were present at the planning committee meeting were Mrs. Arthur Trost, Mrs. Raymond Grimm, Mrs. Paul Nixon, Mrs. Michael Lorraine, Mrs. Leonard Ritzler, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, Mrs. Henry Grimm, Mrs. Delmer Ruehle, Mrs. Harold Mackinder and Mrs. Floyd Mahl.

Mrs. Dale Hartwick of Joy Road was chaperone and chauffeur for Eddie Davis, friend Betty Jean, Darrell and Bonnie Levandowski and John Alls when they all attended a teen dance at the National Guard Armory in Howell, Mich. on Sunday, April 12. Johnnie Thiel is the disc jockey for this particular group and recording artists, the Impallas and the Blue Echoes were on hand to sign autographs for the young folks.

Heard, via the grape vine, that Henry Mende, Sr., of Newburg road was in the hospital for about four days. Glad to hear that he is feeling much better and is back home again.

A fine attendance of 12 families was on hand at the final meeting of the season of the Newburg Community Farm Bureau when it met at the home of James Love, Jr., on Farmington road, Wednesday, April 15. Because of the busy time for these folks, fast approaching, they will not meet again until September. Clyde Smith, member of the group, spoke about Chemical Poisons in Agriculture which was a timely subject at this time of year. Following the meeting a potluck luncheon was enjoyed by all.

Mr. LaPointe and I, along with Mark and Nan, spent Sunday afternoon, April 12, visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Jr., of Judd road, Belleville, Mich. George LaBelle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred LaBelle of Joy road has been home for an enforced vacation, having had his tonsils removed this past week. Reports have it that he is doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. David Richmond and family residents of Joy road, have moved into a new home on Stark road. Not far from their former residence, but out of the Newburg area and we wish them much good fortune in their new home.

Well, guess that's it for this week. See you next week?

Reverse the letters in each word and you have the reason why so many businessmen, large and small, find it pays hand over fist to advertise in the Yellow Pages. The people who look in the Yellow Pages are all people in need of something. When they see your ad, they're already half sold.

REMEMBER HOW awkward you felt because you needed to make a Long Distance call from a friend's house? They wouldn't take your money and that only made it worse. Then there was that time in the public booth. You emptied all your pockets but you were still one nickel short, and nobody but nobody had the right change. A telephone credit card is what you need. With a Michigan Bell Telephone Company Credit Card, all your calls, anywhere, can be added to your home phone bill. And the card itself costs nothing. Call our Business Office about it.

PARTING SHOTS. A chiropractor: a slipped-disc jockey. . . . An executive: someone who talks golf at the office and business on the golf course.

New Faces in Lake Pointe

Philip and Marjorie Truedell of 42347 Brentwood Drive are not new to Plymouth, having lived here most of their lives. In fact, Phil has the distinction of having been born in the Plymouth Hospital right on Main Street. Yes, there used to be a Plymouth Hospital in the building (large house) which is located right near the high school. Marjorie lived in Wayne, but attended the Plymouth High School and really feels like Plymouth is her home town. Phil works for General Motors at Milford, Michigan. The Truedells are expecting an addition to their little family sometime in August. They already have a little son, Edward, who is two years old. Last January 5, Myrna Miller, daughter of the Wayne Millers of 14414 Robinwood Drive became the bride of Sgt. Robert Payton. Bob is stationed in Frankfurt, Germany. On April 9, last week, Myrna left by Pan American Airlines from the Detroit Metropolitan Airport for London, England. There she will have a few hours stopover and then proceed to Frankfurt where she will meet her husband Bob, whom she hasn't seen since shortly after their marriage in January. The Paytons will live in a German home which Bob has all set and waiting for Myrna. They will travel around and see the different countries when Bob has week-end passes. Enjoyed dinner at the brand new Thunderbird Inn last Saturday evening. Found the cuisine to be quite good and the atmosphere very enjoyable. The lighting is very attractive and pleasant, especially the purplish color used in the area over the dance floor. We were the guests of our friends, Harold and Grace Barnum of Northville.

New faces and voices greet you everywhere on Brentwood Drive. Among these I found Paul and Lou Henry Jr. Having moved into their home in February, the Henrys are still busy getting things organized. They have two children, Cheryl Ann, 2½ years, and Paul, 15 months. Lou is now busy making drapes for her new home. Paul is with the American Engineering Dye Design. Fishing is his favorite pastime, so much so that recently he and his father purchased a boat which they use quite often up north during the summer months.

An Australian newspaper reports that one morning not long ago a man called a taxi company and complained that a cab he ordered to take him to the Kingsford Smith Airport had not arrived. The girl who took the call apologized. "I'm very sorry, the cab isn't there yet sir," she said. "But don't worry. The plane is always late." "Well, it certainly will be this morning," the caller said sharply. "I happen to be the pilot."

Thank you, Plymouth

FOR MAKING THE NEW LOOK IN * JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT POSSIBLE!

Because Plymouth business firms and individuals backed up JA's recent fund campaign 100 PERCENT, your new dollars will be used for an expanded and modern JA business center.

Your dollars will be used for the young adults active in the dynamic Junior Achievement business education program.

Your dollars will assure teenage Plymouth businessmen clean, modern facilities in which they can manage and operate their miniature corporations.

Plymouth can be proud to have contributed to the new look in JA — modern and expanded facilities to better service the growing numbers of young adults soon to be active in JA. These after-school business people are Plymouth's assurance that our future business growth and health will be in safe hands.

*Junior Achievement is a nation-wide non-profit organization which teaches the principles of the free enterprise system to America's teenager. Young people in JA form their own miniature corporations — sell stock to the general public and manufacture and sell products. JA firms have their own teenage board of directors, officers and employees. Companies stay in business eight months and voluntarily liquidate each May.

TEMPERANCE SOCIETY RELEASES 'SUPPRESSED' REPORT ON AMERICA'S DRINKING HABITS SINCE THE REPEAL OF PROHIBITION

Members of the Plymouth Chapter of the American Temperance Society, today received a "suppressed" report on America's 25-year drinking-habit record since the repeal of prohibition. Francis S. Patterson, 11820 Jarvis, Livonia, president of the local temperance group, said the report comes in the current issue of LITEN magazine, official organ of the group, published in Washington, D.C., which is aimed at the prevention of alcoholism and narcotics addiction. "The record published in LITEN is far from the rose-covered verbiage that most persons read recently on the 25th anniversary of repeal," Patterson said. "It reveals the true post-prohibition cost of the nation's free-flowing beer taps and wide-open distilleries."

According to the report, alcohol-related crimes increased 28.6 per cent in the 25-year period since repeal. There were 2,808 alcoholics in 1906 there were 4,718. Insanity attributable to alcohol increased three times more than that of other mental disease cases. In 1934 there were 2,808 alcoholics in our nation. "America has spent $181,900,000 on alcohol since repeal," said Patterson, "and that economically wasteful expenditure is twice as much as has been spent on schools in our nation."

"The public record of the American people without the restraint of prohibition is a truly sorry one," said Patterson, commenting on the report as it was presented to the local chapter members. "Just one small example of the nation's inability to control itself when it comes to alcohol is that police in Washington, D.C., our nation's capitol, arrested about 1,000 persons on each three-day weekend in 1957 for alcohol-related offenses."

Where's Our Independence?

In a Reader's Digest story of 15 years ago, entitled "Young Man, Be Your Own Boss!" author, advertising man, diplomat and statesman William Benton viewed with a laudable urge of youth, emerging from the cocoon of college, to seek the economic bomb shelter of employment in big business.

"This concentration on security," he wrote, "is perhaps the worst enemy our country faces." And the fact that this article is being reprinted by request in the May issue, would indicate that many others fear the take-it-easy, play-it-safe, virus still gnaws at the vitals of our most promising young men.

"What did America's best young men do before they were bug-eyed about big business?" Mr. Benton asks. "They worked for other men until they had saved enough (or not quite enough) to go into business for themselves. And then, they went. They started humbly-but they started for themselves."

The article emphasizes that the wealth of America was not built by big business, but by "individual, hard-hitting, hard-working men" who established independent, competitive businesses. It declares unequivocally: "Such men and the businesses they start will continue to build the country if it is to continue being built."

Benton deploras the hard fact that immigrants frequently exhibit more of the Horatio Alger spirit than natives, and adds: "I have found young men everywhere displaying a degree of timidity that would have lost this country to the Indians not so many decades ago."

Perhaps it is time now to consider whether this lack of spirit may be helping today to soften this country up for the Reds. But, in any case - for the young man about to set forth on his business career, and for the elders whose advice and counsel may be sought in such critical decisions - the Digest article is must reading.

'Life Begins at 40'

TUCSON, Ariz. — This is perhaps the continent's leading health Mecca. The afflicted and the frail of all ages flock to this temperate clime seeking relief from some ailments as asthma, sinus difficulty, heart disease, tuberculosis and — principally — arthritis. And many of them find it.

Arthritis is an insidious and painful disease which afflicts some ten percent of the post-forty population. Its cause is unknown, and its mystery is compounded by the frustrating fact that it comes in several dozen varieties.

Among the big name physicians who live and work here is world-famed Dr. W. Paul Holbrook, former president of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation. I asked Dr. Holbrook — big, rugged, and bushy-browed — if the Arizona climate helps cure arthritis.

The doctor quickly pointed out that there is as yet no known cure for arthritis. But he indicated, with the caution and conservatism for which he is noted, that perhaps fifteen or twenty per cent of the arthritics who come to Arizona find a dramatic relief from pain. Others find varying degrees of relief. But some find no relief at all.

The humidity rarely exceeds thirty per cent, and the barometric pressure is relatively stable. Many arthritics attribute their relief to these factors. Another factor which doubtless contributes to arthritic improvement is the sunny climate. It encourages people to move around and dig in their gardens and go for walks. And this mild exercise is wonderfully therapeutic. The sunshine also offers psychological benefits. Cloudy, unpleasant weather spawns depression, but the sun sparks the spirits and gives patients a will to recover.

The sky out here is big and blue and cloudless more than three hundred days a year. Old Sol shines unhampered and so brightly that his rays seem to penetrate your skin like tiny, tantalizing needles. When you're in the shade you're aware that it's much cooler here than in southern Florida. Before nine in the morn and after four in the afternoon you may need a jacket or sweater. But in the middle of the day the sun enfolds you in a cloak of delicious warmth.

MY CASUAL conversations with arthritics, asthmatics, and sinus victims convinces me that this area really helps a great many sufferers. But for heaven's sake don't sell your home and move out here without knowing more about the state and what its climate can do for you. It's a fine state but it offers no promise of miracle healing.

If you would like a free booklet "Answers to Questions on Arthritis," distributed by the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, write to this column enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

If Your Name Is 'Karen' —

By Ann Reynolds, Ph.D. This name is an old favorite in foreign disguise; it now made a successful bid for a place among favorite names for small fry. "Karen" is the Scandinavian form of the good old standby "Catherine" and its many relatives, such as Kitty, Kathleen, Kate.

Karen has been used by families of Scandinavian ancestry, and then caught the fancy of young parents of the most varied ancestry in these U.S.

Karen, as the Scandinavian variation for Catherine, evokes the memory of one queen of Sweden in the 16th century, Karen Mansdotter. Her life-story has a Cinderella-like quality. She was the child of simple folks; her father was a soldier in the Swedish Army, and her mother eked out a living by selling fruit on the market place.

One day young Karen was in charge of the produce stand when a dashing cavalier rode by. He was none other than King Eric XIV. of Sweden. One look at the fruit vendor, and the King had lost his heart for good. He was thoroughly impressed with Karen's beauty and charm, and insisted on making her his queen. This event gave a tremendous lift to the fortunes of Karen's family; they were all made nobles of the realm.

The young couple's happiness did not last. When the new queen was crowned Nils Gyllenstjerna, the chancellor, in charge of putting the jeweled crown on her head, fainted. The crown slipped from his hands, and a bush fell over the festive gathering witnessing the ceremony. A bad omen, they whispered

And it proved to be one. Three months later Eric's brothers instigated a rebellion against him; he was deprived of his crown and imprisoned. The queen was forbidden to share even the misery of his prison. All she was able to manage was to go, and live in a place near his dungeon. When the hapless king died, Karen was given an estate in Finland (which belonged to Sweden in those days).

She devoted the remainder of her life to charity, and even her bitterest enemies came around to recognizing the sterling qualities of her character and to admiring her spirits.

One famous Karen nearer to our own times was the Danish novelist Karen Michaelis. Her most widely read novel was "The Dangerous Age," dealing with the then controversial topic of women's rights. It was translated in more than twenty languages, and acclaimed as the most sincere and complete feminine confession ever written.

The origin of "Catherine" from which "Karen" evolved, has not been definitely proven; some tried to connect it with two ancient Greek words, one meaning "pure," the other "torture" but these explanations do not stand up under scholarly scrutiny.

HANDWRITING Tells About Yourself

by LUCILLE WILLIAMS

Dear Miss Williams:

I have always been interested in handwriting analysis. Would like to know more about myself.

Mrs. A.N.

You are a level headed person who uses her head and good judgement. There is an even flow of rhythm to your writing. Mentally you are very active. You are constantly seeking knowledge and facts. You explore mentally, and analyze your findings, which you then turn into helps and aids in everyday living. There is a constant desire to go forward.

You don't like to be interrupted and run into temper when disturbed. You have a good memory and can create with your hands, shaping and forming new ideas and making them worthwhile.

There is good organization ability, first things first and a place for everything. You're not the least bit sensitive to criticism. It's helpful to you, if anything.

Dear Miss Williams: Will you please analyze my handwriting. I love to go to church and Sunday School. I love to do things for Christ and people. Please have this answered in next week's paper. Thank you.

Sometimes you think quickly, make quick decisions and then again you wait and think more carefully, slowly turning a problem over in your mind and then your decision is very final.

You will seldom change your mind once you're made a decision. You're quite emphatic about this. In fact, if pushed too far you could be stubborn. You think mainly of how something will benefit you or harm you.

You're very sensitive and are hurt easily, sometimes you imagine more than actually happens.

There is a definite spiritual or philosophical trend and I can understand why you like Sunday School so well. You keep many things to yourself and have a very good memory. You love lots of action, variety and have a great desire for anything physical.

You're quite definite in your purpose in life and will power and quite determined in anything you tackle. You can show a little humor when you want to.

Dear Lucille: I don't know what good it'll do to write to you but several people have asked me to and so I will. I don't see how you can describe people much less their thoughts just by handwriting. I write different all the time.

A.B.H.

Dear A.B.H.: You have many styles of writing in this note, and by your writing it's obvious you're as changeable as the weather. Up today, down tomorrow and wow! what a temper. You're so full of resentment that you dislike everything. You're so sensitive that you feel everybody has it better than you, is taking advantage of you and is openly trying to upset and hurt you.

Basically, nine tenths of your handwriting (in all stages) show you a very emotional person and very expressive. You have a penetrating mind, very capable and a good memory. You appreciate music, and why don't you sit down and listen to some and calm down?

(If you would like your own handwriting analyzed, send a sample to Lucille Williams, in care of this newspaper.)

in home after home after home...

there's always plenty of hot water

the new electric water heater way

In home after home there's a new electric water heater. And the families in these homes enjoy all the hot water they want.

You can be confident that an electric water heater, plus Edison's new Super Supply Plan, will provide round-the-clock hot water for all your family's needs, too. Then you can plan your day more efficiently—do the laundry, wash dishes, schedule showers when you want to.

Here's the convenient, modern way to GET IT HOT... GET A LOT for an operating cost as low as $3.88 per month.

Only electric water heaters give you all these important advantages:

- Efficient—the heat goes into the water
- Install anywhere—need not be near a chimney
- Long life—meet Edison's rigid standards
- Automatic—all the time
- Fast—new, more efficient heating units
- Outer shell—cool to the touch all over
- Edison maintains electrical parts without charge
- Safe—clean—quiet—modern

"Our guests tell us our street is much brighter—more cheerful—since it's been paved with concrete!"

Concrete reflects up to 4 times as much light as a dark surface. You'll notice the difference! Street lighting is much more effective... headlights, too. You feel safer at night—walking or driving.

Concrete is the safety pavement day or night, in any kind of weather. Its grainy surface gives dependable skid resistance, even when it's raining. No roughness, no potholes to watch for—you're always in control of your car. A concrete street is a sound investment... it makes your house worth more. Your concrete street will have a life expectancy of 50 years and more. It saves tax money on upkeep costs. Yet initial cost is moderate.

These are the reasons more and more families are getting together with their neighbors... and requesting concrete streets.

Planning to buy or build?

Choose a house on a concrete street. You'll always be glad you did. Only concrete can be precisely engineered to traffic load requirements. It stays smooth-riding and attractive and has an expected life of 50 years and more.

These Are Special Days To Observe During Michigan Week

Seven special days will be celebrated during Michigan Week, May 17-23.

Organizations planning to observe any of the days can check the following dates:

On Sunday, May 17 will be Spiritual Foundations day. It should be marked by attention to the early history of all faiths and churches.

Towns will exchange mayors and village presidents on Monday and exchange ideas on local government. Most of the programs will feature luncheons or dinners for the visiting dignitary and tours of the host city. Plymouth will exchange its chief executive with Holland.

Hospitality Day on Tuesday will pay special recognition to Michigan's great tourist industry. Many communities are planning special welcomes to guests on this day when friendliness will be the most important community word.

Wednesday will be Our Livelihood Day, with all towns and cities urged to recognize and pay tribute to the business and industrial firms which provide the communities with their main source of livelihood.

Education Day, on Thursday is dedicated to schools, colleges and universities of Michigan and their teachers and students. Open houses at schools, special classes, essays and contests, radio and television programs, PTA events — are only a few of the many ideas that can be developed on this day.

THE ANNUAL observance of Michigan Week (May 17-23) got a formal sendoff when Chairman Franklin P. Williams, president of S. S. Kresge Co., discussed the upcoming program with community chairmen during a luncheon at the J. L. Hudson Co. Receiving promotional material for the event from Williams are from the left, Mrs. Geraldine Soule, Northville; Douglas Campbell, Livonia; City Manager, Albert Glassford, Plymouth; Williams and Charles Hagler, General Motors, coordinator.

Friday will be Our Heritage Day, when all communities will make appraisal of their history and heritage, and that of the state as a whole. This will be the time to review traditions, culture and resources that make up community and state heritage. Tours of historical places, special ceremonies in courts, wide use of state and national flags are suggested and historical displays and programs will be the order of the day.

Quite appropriately, Saturday, the end of Michigan Week, will be devoted to New Frontiers Day, when all Michigan is urged to look ahead to the brilliant future of the state in science, aviation, electronics, nuclear power and other fields.

Four million of the 4,300,000 businesses in the United States last year were small businesses. This means that they employed fewer than 500 persons and were not dominant in their fields.

Underneath all its beauty is an important idea for which you'll be ever grateful as a Pontiac owner: Wide-Track Wheels. Only Pontiac has them. The wheels are five inches farther apart. This widens the stance but not the car. Lean and sway go away. As a driver you feel the road-hugging stability, the steady balance, the security of full control. As a passenger you ride more comfortably, with less fatigue on long trips. Your nearest dealer has the keys to several models all slicked up ready for you to drive.

Junior Achievers End Another Business Year

The Junior Achievement program in Plymouth and other Southeastern Michigan communities is drawing to a close and the finale will take place May 7 when the Future Unlimited Celebration takes place.

Junior Achievers are now closing down their businesses which they have operated since last fall. They must make a financial accounting of their business and pay dividends to stockholders, if there is a profit.

Plymouth's Achievers are located in the Center on South Main St., next to the Detroit Edison office. Many of the companies have visited the plants of their sponsors.

Umpteen Products, sponsored by Michigan Bell, visited the local offices and had dinner at the Mayflower Hotel. The company sponsored by Evans, JA Multicraft, toured that plant and had lunch there.

Future Unlimited and Jem JA companies, sponsored by Ford Motor, also toured the Livonia Ford plant and lunch.

Three firms sponsored by Burroughs Corp., Jamco, JA Pillon, and Extenco, toured the local plant on March 31 and ate lunch. William Barnes also was host to their firm, Ben-moht.

Detroit's top business leaders have been named to a committee to plan the Future Unlimited celebration at the Masonic Temple. The general chairman is Edgar C. Row, first vice-president and chairman of the administrative committee of Chrysler Corp. Oscars, plaques and presentations will be awarded to outstanding Achievers, companies and advisers at the mass celebration.

A successful fund-raising drive to operate the Plymouth J-A Center next year has been completed here among businesses and industries.

Any Canton Townshipites Know History of Old Sheldon Cemetery?

By ESTHER SPRENGL
GL. 3-0194

By now a lot of our residents have cured their itching feet from the square dance given by the Cherry Hill School P.T.A. The affair was a success and everyone had a good time.

Received a pleasant call from Mrs. Addie Rice. Although Mrs. Rice, now 74 years of age, does not live in the township any longer, she does read our column and called to do a little reminiscing. She attended the Palmer School and had as her teacher a Rose Cope. She remembered when she and her sister, many many years ago, used to pick berries on the Gotts farm, located then on Michigan Ave. She recalled a building located where the Sheldon Methodist church now stands, that used to have all sorts of social doings, and she remembered the time when she was just a little girl reciting "Over the River and through the Woods" and winning a doll for her recitation in that building. Mrs. Rice stated she still has her first report cards, and graciously invited me to visit her some time.

I had a very pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. Willard DePew of Main St. in Plymouth. Mrs. DePew (then Zehra Griffin) operated one of the first county libraries. The library was located in her home on Canton Center in the year 1921. It was the first library in this vicinity and she recalled persons from Plymouth coming to borrow books.

It was after this time that Plymouth established its own library. Mrs. DePew gave me a pamphlet that was headed "Equal book privileges for the farm home and the city home". On the cover of the pamphlet was a picture of an old model "T" car with a box sort of contraption that helped deliver the books to all the library stations. Mrs. DePew was chosen to operate the library due to her experience as a librarian. Mr. DePew also felt a connection with our township. His mother was born in what is now the Perry Campbell home on Canton Center.

In a pamphlet, also given me by Mrs. DePew, dated October 1924, it was interesting to note the growth of popularity in the county library program. In 1921 16,000 books were sent out, while in 12 months period 1923-24, 111,680 volumes were taken out by appreciative readers and the growth must have been enormous since this time. Some other interesting pamphlets given me were lists of books recommended for young people from the third grade to the eighth grade, and some of these books still remain on the recommended list for our youngsters today. Mrs. DePew showed a great interest in our township's history and I was grateful for her information. Mr. and Mrs. DePew had been told many things about the township from relatives, and perhaps someday they can be compiled so as to tell our readers. Mr. DePew has a very interesting hobby, shared by his wife with great enthusiasm. Mr. DePew collects rocks. (He then polishes them and makes some of the most interesting jewelry I have ever seen, beside the tremendous beauty of the stones and rocks. The DePew's had collected some of their items west when visiting there. Mr. DePew has designed his own machines for making and polishing his rocks. Although he does not sell his items, Mrs. DePew has some lovely jewelry and they give his jewelry as gifts to friends and relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Larson of Joy Rd., received news that makes them both very proud. Their son Al Larson, attending law school in Arizona, just completed a 14 hour examination on all subjects pertaining to his law studies and received an all A or 100 percent average in all classes. The news of this fine record was reported in many of the Arizona papers. Al Larson, former Plymouth High School graduate, headed the honor list in his college of law.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bordine of Saltz Rd., just completed a very pleasant trip to Florida. The Bordines left here March 26 and went to Tallahassee Alabama, where they visited with a former girlfriend of Mrs. Bordine, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sowell. The ladies hadn't seen each other for 19 years. From there they went to Waycross, Georgia, where they visited with Mrs. Bordine's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Boyett. Easter morning the Bordines and their two children Cheryl and Kerry attended a family reunion in Georgia. The family then traveled to Jacksonville, Florida where they visited with relatives. They visited St. Augustine, and saw the Old Fort, and on the side Mrs. Bordine laughingly said, that visitors are given striped prison suits at the old prison to wear for souvenirs pictures. Mr. Bordine donned one of the suits and placed his feet through the stock. Mrs. Bordine assuming, after the picture that he would follow, heard cries for help for Mr. Bordine "Roger" was stuck, and had to remove his shoes to get out. What a position of compromise for a wife to be in. They visited the oldest school house, grit mill and the house of Ripley. "Believe it or not". Upon their journey home, the Bordines stopped at Mrs. Bordine's home town of Black Shear, Georgia, where they visited the resting place of her father, and the old homestead of her grandfather. Mrs. Bordine stated that a bridge had been named in his honor, the "Thomas Jefferson Boyett Bridge" the past year. After a visit to the Cumberland Falls, the family returned home after a very wonderful trip.

Mrs. Inez Eckles, visiting with the Lloyd Bordines fell and fractured her pelvis bone, and is now in the Ridgewood Hospital, and will be in the hospital for at least three weeks. Because of her mother's accident, Mrs. Lloyd Bordine's sister, Mrs. Erma Kester of E. Lansing, Mich., is staying at the Bordine's home on Saltz Rd.

Mr. Lloyd Bordine of Saltz Rd., is in the Wayne County General hospital for surgery. We wish him a speedy recovery.

Canton Township has made some great changes in its growth over the years and yet remains a lot the same. To help us get some picture of our township of yesterday, I visited the Morton family of Michigan Ave. I was invited to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Morton of 43630 Michigan Ave., and Mrs. Alta Morton. Mr. Morton's mother came over from her home next door, for a very enjoyable evening. Mrs. Alta Morton taught school at the Canton Center School between the years 1910 and 1911. Her class consisted of all eight grades. The roll call consisted of 25 pupils. Two pupils she recalled were Owen Schrader and Howard Palmer, both in her first grade. Mrs. Morton's husband was born in the Township in 1888 (Alfred Morton). The first Mortons came to the township in 1876, and moved on the Morton present land in 1892. Mrs. Morton had some old tax receipts from the Morton Farm (attention all farm owners) taxing 57 acres at $18.24. Mrs. Alta Morton came to the township in 1908 and their son Wesley was born at the Morton Home. The Morton farm had two previous owners since the land grand from the government, signed by Governor Charles Sines, the Tenworthy and Sheldon families. The oldest member of the Morton family still resides in the township, on Sheldon Rd., Charles Morton, age 92 years. His nephew Wesley reports the gentleman still very active, walking to the store each day, at Michigan and Sheldon, and still does his own gardening. There are still three generations of the Mortons living on the original Morton Home. Although the farm has now been divided (57 acres) among the Morton heirs, the homestead still stands on Sheldon Rd. Mrs. Morton recalls her husband telling her the home was one of the township's first Inns, or Road House, Michigan Ave., as it is today, would run still through the basement of the home, before it was moved back. One of the huge maple trees that grew on the front lawn is now a decorative addition to the island that divides the two-lane Michigan.

The location of the present Sheldon Methodist Church was the location of what was known as the Granger Hall, and was the familiar location of many social gatherings. The Store now bearing the name of Swap Shop on Michigan and Sheldon is one of the first grocery stores on Michigan and Sheldon corners. There had been a post office station located in the store, and an inter-urban ran down Michigan Ave., from Detroit to Kalamazoo. As we discussed this, I remarked that it seemed they had better transportation down Michigan then, for the township than now, and that I couldn't think of a post office located in the township today. As I went to the Morton home, I cut across by way of a Rd. named Morton Taylor. The Mortons said it was named after their family and the Taylor family located near the corner of that Rd.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Morton had three children, Mrs. Erich Moers, Charles Morton and Wesley Morton at whose home we had our visit. The Wesley Mortons also have three children, Cheryl, Wesley Richard, and Robert. Mrs. Alta Morton loaned me two pictures, one a view of the inter-urban that ran along Michigan Ave., which showed the General store, a horse and buggy parked outside. Michigan Ave. in the picture was still a dirt road. The other picture was of the first grocery store, called the "Canton Grocery", located at Sheldon and Mich., with two gentlemen on the porch of the store, one with a straw hat, the other with a derby and a handle-bar mustache, also parked at the entrance, the transportation of the day, horse and buggy. The Morton family are among the firsts to the Township.

Well the mystery of the Old Sheldon Cemetery is still causing great interest and perhaps real soon we shall find the solution. If Spring Fever doesn't get me, I'll be writing next week.

To Women It May Concern

By Myra Cox

I had to postpone a date with the flu until Saturday afternoon in order to attend the Western Golf and Country Club "Western Goes Western" show Friday night.

It was well worth turning off the heat-pad and crawling out of the flannel night shirt.

Talent of non-professionals never ceases to amaze me. This was a gay, fast moving musical, delivered with terrific showmanship. The fine hand of the professional was responsible for this, no doubt. Bob Gregory of the John Rogers Production Company from New York was the producer, however, all in the cast were members of Western Golf Club.

The real discovery (I feel like a talent-scout) was the star of the musical, who lives right here in Plymouth. Her name is Gary Beglinger. Completely at ease in the spotlight, with elegant poise, she sang like the proverbial nightingale.

Not only was her voice lovely, but she looked lovely and convincing as the boss-lady of the ranch and danced with ease of a pro.

The world is full, I'm sure of talented lovely people, but to project to an audience, either on Broadway, or a country club, or on a school stage another important ingredient is necessary. I'm not sure what that certain ingredient is—charm, character, personality, but I'd stake my new Lily Dache hat that I won on the election in Redford Township, that Gary Beglinger of Plymouth has it and could step on the stage of the Cass or the 49th Street Theater and have her audience in the palm of her hand.

These Plymouth artists should get together. I would get out of a flu-bed again to hear her sing—say—"Summertime" from Porgy and Bess with Wayne Dunlap and the Plymouth Symphony.

We bring you only celebrities this week—April 26 to May 2 has been proclaimed by Governor Williams as Michigan State Mothers Week.

There will be a luncheon at the Book Casino of the Sheraton Cadillac Hotel on April 30 honoring the Michigan Mother of 1959, and the search is on!

The American Mothers Committee, Inc. will also send the "Mother" on an all expense paid trip to New York.

Unfortunately fellow Mothers, slogans and box-tops won't do for this one. We just have to be home with a frilly apron making cookies, puddings and jellios (incidentally I suppose you haven't escaped the announcement that this is Make-Jello-in-any-shape-or-form-week) and be prepared to accept this honor should the committee knock on our door.

There are, so far 20 nominations for the honor of being the Michigan Mother of 1959, and Mrs. Oscar (Janita) Puckett of 14605 Haggerty, Plymouth, is one of them. She is the mother of eight children, grandmother to 10.

Our very best wishes for your success. In this contest you can't lose cause of course the real prizes you really already have.

Another notable is Mrs. Arlie G. Fairman of 36708 Pinetree, Livonia who submitted a winning recipe for Shrimp Creole to the Better Homes & Gardens Prize Tested Recipe Contest.

Of the hundreds of recipes submitted each month, only 10 are chosen by the magazine's Tasting Test Kitchen, so it is apparent that the recipe must really have something.

Next week we'll have Mrs. Fairman's recipe, cause after all you can't write about something you haven't tasted and she invited me over—so calories, calories.

One more salute before we creep back to obscurity.

Mayor Harold E. Guenther has proclaimed, in accordance with the State, April 20-26 by Moms-Mothers of Men in the Service—week. We congratulate their President, Mrs. Agnes Rollins on the work of her organization during the past years and their present activities working for the benefit of veterans hospitals and particularly the V.A. Hospital at Ann Arbor.

"ONCE-A-YEAR DAY," the finale of the Western Goes Western involved the entire cast. Above Laura Rice and Hazel Knudsen both of Redford Township dance about Gary Beglinger.

"BRING ON THE GUESTS," "Penny Candy" (my favorite), "Let's Have A Party," "Love Is A Simple Thing," "You're My Friend" were a few of the songs sung by Gary Beglinger in her role as S. D. Smithers, The Boss of Circle R. Ranch in Western Golf and Country Club musical last Friday and Saturday night.

Madam President

AGNES ROLLINS
Warm, friendly and dependable like the organization she represents Mrs. Agnes Rollins is President of the Moms, Mothers of Men in Service.

This organization was started before Pearl Harbor in Dearborn, Michigan in 1941. Four mothers gathered at the home of one and made plans to interest other mothers in the work of helping the young men coming into Dearborn from other towns and cities to study at the Naval School at the Ford Motor Company. The boys were often lonely and homesick and the mothers made plans to open a canteen where these boys could dance and have refreshments. They now have 41 active units with a membership of 1800 in the state of Michigan.

Moms Week, proclaimed by the Governor of the State and Mayor Harold Guenther is April 20-26.

Since the war they have worked diligently in Veteran hospitals all over the state and have started many permanent funds to aid the veterans. Their main object is to work with united effort toward permanent world peace; to do all possible for the sons and daughters in service, and to assist veterans and their dependents wherever and whenever possible; to promote friendship among its members and to assist members; to support or oppose all National issues affecting these objectives.

Vacationers
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Burger of Burger Drive and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Thorne of Ann Street returned home from a three weeks vacation trip to Rogers, Ark., where they spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George Gottschalk, formerly of Plymouth. They went on south to New Orleans and Florida spending a few days at St. Petersburg seeing the many places of interest along the west coast of Florida. Mr. and Mrs. Thorne spent a week in Orlando with Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hoag, also formerly of Plymouth, who are now making their home there. Mr. and Mrs. Burger spent the week in Miami with their son Gene who came down during his Easter vacation.

MR. AND MRS. Clifton Sockow of 799 Pacific, Plymouth announce the engagement of their daughter Claudia Jean to Mr. Donald Szerlag, son of Mrs. Frances Szerlag of 4432 Springwell, Detroit. Claudia Jean graduated from Plymouth High, May 30 is the date the young couple has selected for their wedding.

Visitors
Lois Zink of Benton Harbor, Jan Becker of Saginaw, Terry Ervine of Detroit, and Phyllis Bates of Wayne, are the house guests of Mrs. Doris Wick of 745 Karmada this week. The girls are on a 10 day tour with the Michigan Lutheran Seminary Choir from Saginaw, Mich., and will sing at St. Peter's Lutheran Church (tonight) Thursday.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES ROBERT SAGERS were joined in marriage Saturday, March 7 at the Spring Street Baptist Church in Plymouth. The bride is the former Margaret Jan Watts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Watts, Union, Tenn. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sagers, Plymouth. A reception for close friends and relatives followed the ceremony at the new home of the young couple, 1410 Junction Street, Plymouth.

United In Double-Ring Rites

A double ring 7:30 service Louise Smith and Robert Lee at the Salem Federated Church, Salem, united Donna and Engel in marriage. The vows were spoken before Rev. Richard Burgess.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Engel

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith, Novi, wore an all lace gown over net ruffling with lace roses applied on the skirt. A pointed lace apron graced the front of the gown which had a sequined sweetheart neckline.

Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Engel, 55245 W. Eight Mile Road, Northville.

Jean Smith, sister of the bride, was maid of honor gowned in a pale yellow crystallite with a scalloped neckline. Similarly gowned in mint green were the bridesmaids, Ilene Engel, and Mrs. James Taylor, both sisters of the groom.

James Taylor, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man, with Jack Engel, brother of the groom, and Jim Engel, cousin of groom, and Robert Smith, brother of the bride, as ushers.

Two hundred guests honored the young couple at a reception, following the ceremony, in the I.O.O.F. Hall in Novi. Guests were from Novi, Howell, Livonia, Farmington, Detroit, Commerce, Pontiac, Wixom, Danisburg and Mt. Clemens.

The new Mrs. Robert Engel chose a blue cotton sheath with white accessories for her wedding trip to the Smoky Mountains.

The young couple both graduated from Northville High. Mr. Engel is employed at Western Electric Company in Plymouth. They will be at home next week at 46063 Neeson, in Northville.

BY BILL SAXTON

The past winter was quite severe and many plants died out from the weather. Dry weather recently has been holding the development back on many things. After you have checked your losses come in and see our stock of potted plant materials for replacements. We have shade and ornamental trees, shrubs, evergreens, peonies, perennial plants, fruit trees, currants, gooseberries, blueberries, climbing vines and roses.

The recurrence of cold weather has extended the period when dormant sprays can be applied. Just be sure the buds are not out more than 1/4 inch.

We have been asked frequently what is the best type of peat moss to use, bulk peat humus or bale peat moss. A price comparison shows the cost per bushel to be about equal at 40c. The bulk peat humus is mixed with some dirt and is ideal for top dressing on lawns. The baled Premier Peat Moss is pure sphagnum moss so for mulching in beds and for planting peat it gives you the most actual peat for the money.

American Legion News

The Auxiliary business meeting is tonight... Thursday, April 23, 8 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center. Our Essay winner and parents will attend and receive his award... so let's have a good turnout. Post Child Welfare Chairman, Vern Miller and Lillian Kinghorn, Unit Chairman, announces that over 500 Posts and Units will celebrate this month, April 21, annual Child Welfare Month. The purpose of the celebration is constructive and clear focus community attention on the needs of children and youth. "The American Legion feels that the nation's 60 million children are its most valuable asset," stated by Melvin C. Pierce, Department Child Welfare Chairman. In every locality there are many things that can and should be done to help youngsters grow physically, emotionally and spiritually. Since 1932 The American Legion and its three affiliated organizations (American Legion Auxiliary, Forty and Eight, and Eight and Forty) have spent $148,000,000 on child welfare and related work. Most of the expenditures have been by individual posts. This money was used largely for clothing, medical care, dental services, glasses, and temporary emergency needs such as food to tide a family over until public assistance could be secured.

Commander Kinghorn announces:

There will be an executive Board meeting of the Post Wednesday, April 29 at 8 p.m. All officers are urged to attend. Let's have a good attendance in membership.

Remember our Rummage Sale Friday-Saturday, April 24-25 a.m.-6 p.m.; April 25, 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. If you can help please contact Dorothy Knapp, GL, 3-2364. Tables will be up for the sale Thursday night after meeting.

Bring your items then, thank you. Let's make this a big success.

The 17th District Meeting is Friday, May 1st, 8:30 p.m. Veterans Community Center. Passage-Gayde Post and Unit hosting this meeting. Auxiliary will have Unit Poppy Winners in attendance and will receive their awards. Dorothy Koi, Poppy Chairman in Unit announces the winners in our Poppy Poster Contest; Class 1, 4-5-8th grades, Dennis Meyers, 5th grader in the Allen School; Class 2, 7-8-9th grades, Lillian McKay, 7th grader in Junior High School, each will receive $5. The 11 posters were sent into District.

Wednesday, May 6th, 8 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center there will be nomination of Post Officers for the 1959-60 year. It is very important that all members attend and select their choice of officers for this coming year.

Vern Miller, Bowling Chairman, announces the winners of the 23rd Annual American Legion Michigan State Bowling Tournament which was concluded on March 22, at the Capitol Bowl, Owosso, Mich., from Plymouth are as follows: Doubles, 3rd place, W. Hammond and D. Kinghorn; Singles, 7th place, Ray Gardner; 155th place, W. Hammond, 173rd place, A. Holcombe.

Congratulations are in order to Robert and Ethel Wilson on the birth of a daughter, April 8th. They named her Carolyn Beth. We miss them as they are now residing in Indianapolis, Ind. We were sorry to hear that Mrs. Harry (Ethel) Taylor was ill and in Ridgewood Hospital but is now up and around and we wish her a speedy recovery and see her at our meetings.

Legion Post and Auxiliary plans for Poppy Day: Preparations for the annual observance of Poppy Day on Friday, May 22nd this year are being made throughout the nation, announces both chairman, Harry Taylor and Dorothy Koi, Post and Unit respectively. More than 20 million memorial poppies, to be worn in honor of the nation's war dead on that day, have been made by disabled war veterans working in hospitals and convalescent work rooms. The little red crepe paper flowers will be distributed by approximately 150,000 volunteers from the Post and Auxiliary and cooperating organizations. All members who will participate in Poppy Program are urged to call Commander Kinghorn, GL, 3-3995 or Vice Commander Harry Taylor, GL, 1-1726. This is a project that all post members should do their utmost to help with. Begin at 6 a.m. till sundown, if you can only help an hour please come on up and meet in front of the bank on Main and Pennington and help support this Poppy Program. Let's hear from both the Post and Auxiliary members. Auxiliary can call Dorothy Koi, GL, 3-5684 to volunteer.

Gerald E. Krumm, Commander Elect of the Mayflower Post 6695 of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, has cordially extended an invitation to attend their joint installation of Officers on Saturday, April 25, 8 p.m. to be held at their Post home, 1426 S. Mill Street, Plymouth.

Facts on Part-Time Farming

Part-time farming has lost some of its glamour but more than one out of every ten farms is still operated by farmers who make money from off-farm sources. Part-time farmers seem to fall into two categories: 1) former city dwellers who move to the farm, keep their jobs in town and hope to supplement their city income with part-time farming; 2) former full-time farmers who get city jobs because they can't make enough from farming.

Both categories can profit from following the advice of Agricultural Economists who say part-time farmers fail to make money because of:

- 1—Over-investment in machinery and buildings.
- 2—Failing to have equipment available when needed. A lost afternoon because of an equipment failure may result in a week's delay in planting or harvesting.
- 3—Spending too much time maintaining buildings and on other non-productive work.
- 4—Lack of management ability. Modern farming requires all the business acumen that a person can muster. Often the part-time farmer who uses good business judgment in town forgets to apply his business knowledge to his farm problems.
- 5—Failure to keep up on latest production techniques and farming practices and lack of familiarity with farm markets which are constantly changing.

Consider the matter of farm building maintenance as one example. Such materials as insulating siding have proved to be a boon to part-time farmers. The material has been used successfully to rejuvenate many older buildings that are structurally sound, saving the cost of new construction. When used on new buildings, it helps hold down costs because it does several building jobs at once and it eliminates the time-consuming job of painting the walls.

Teen-Age Drivers Problem Group or Group Problem?

EAST LANSING—“The car is only a symbol of the unearned increment that a kid should not be given unless it's absolutely necessary.” This view has been expressed recently by entertainer Sam Levenson, perhaps best known as a comedian, but still a keen observer of our contemporary American scene.

Levenson's comments are typical of the widespread concern over the stress teenagers place on the importance of the automobile to their social well-being and success.

Is concern justified? Parents think it is. Teen-agers feel such concern is over-protective and subversive to their interests.

A different viewpoint has been taken by Dr. William A. Mann in reporting a study made of 100 problem teen-agers. Dr. Mann is associated with the education department at Michigan State University and is assigned to the M.S.U. Highway Traffic Safety Center.

Mann feels it is important to understand the symbolism associated with the automobile as far as teen-agers are concerned.

Levenson presents the automobile as a symbol of undesired rights and privileges afforded the teen-ager. Mann feels Levenson is speaking to the parent and for the parent's benefit.

Mann presents the automobile as a different symbol when the teen-agers themselves are considered.

“The use of the car is a symbol of growing up and of acquiring highly prized independence,” Mann emphasizes.

“Also, I think the teen-agers seem to be exhilarated by the feel of new power at their command when they are driving.”

Mann points out that his studies indicate that most teen-agers control this new power and their impulses reasonably well when they're behind the wheel of an automobile.

He feels that most teen-agers get themselves in no more difficulty than does the average adult when driving. This he attributes to good home training, to an adequately developing sense of responsibility, or to concern over possible loss of their driving privileges.

Some teen-agers, however, do not learn rapidly enough to accept responsibility. Some, having strong urges and more unstable personalities, actually accept little or no responsibility.

It is this group that makes up the special problem group as teen-age drivers. This is the group experiencing difficulties in adjusting effectively to their changing life situation.

This lack of proper adjustment is basically what brings about driving difficulties.

A special problem group of teen-agers that attracts attention by excessive dependence upon the automobile as an emotional outlet. Mann's study indicates ways in which maladjustment expresses itself in driving.

Many teen-agers in the special problem group exhibit an extreme desire for recognition. They feel that through reckless use of the automobile they achieve this desired recognition.

Excessive speed may give feelings of escape. Still other teen-agers may express attitudes of active hostility toward control by completely rejecting responsibilities inherent in driving an automobile.

Teen-agers exhibiting these tendencies produce more than their share of accidents. They give teen-agers as a group a bad reputation on the road.

Basis for Mann's observations was a study of 100 case histories of problem teen-age drivers. These case histories were prepared by driver education teachers throughout Michigan.

Three major causes of bad driving were brought out in the case histories. These are home life problems, detrimental personality traits and disregard for traffic rules, regulations and authority.

Some of the home problems indicated were broken homes, homes having serious inter-personal problems,

Having identified a problem group of teen-age drivers, Mann's report offers suggestions on helping these young people overcome their personal problems as well as their driving problems.

Better parental understanding and supervision with an improved home life in which the teen-ager is not subjected to disturbing home problems can help remove basic causes of bad driving.

Welfare agencies, religious agencies, marriage counselors—any of these agencies concerned with saving broken home life—can all contribute to highway safety. They can remove basic conflicts that reflect in poor driving attitudes and records for teen-agers.

Better counseling services in the schools can contribute. These services help teen-agers overcome their personality deficiencies and problems such as those displayed by the extreme show-off or the youngster who exhibits frequent and violent hostilities.

Understanding teachers can recognize and help the students who are working below their level of ability or who have extremely bad relationships with their teachers. Such teachers can contribute directly to helping the student become a better driver.

The driver education teacher—the one who comes into direct contact with expressions of personality and adjustment in the behavior of the student behind the wheel—is a first line of defense.

To be effective, however, the driver education teacher must not only be familiar with good driving practices but also must be skilled in the dynamics of human behavior.

Driver education in the schools, properly taught and administered with behavioral and attitude problems in mind, does more than simply develop driving skills. Mann emphasizes.

The problems and maladjustments recorded for problem teen-age drivers are the same behavioral and personality difficulties that are important in developing a good adult and a good citizen. They reflect themselves in all daily activities.

By being effective in the areas of attitudes and behavior, the driver education course helps develop the teen-ager for many aspects of the life ahead. As driver education develops good attitudes in the teen-ager and helps him solve his difficulties, so driver education helps develop a better citizen for the future.

The CITY MANAGER'S CORNER

By Al Glassford

Once again the tornado season is upon us. Last year, tornadoes were sighted in southeastern Michigan, and we had numerous tornado warnings put out by nearby weather stations. None of us will forget the ruin caused by a tornado which tore into Flint several years ago.

Tornadoes are unpredictable. No one accurately can tell where they will strike. We can be thankful, however, that weather experts can recognize the conditions which must exist in order for a tornado to develop. The meteorologists can determine a general area in which turbulent weather can be expected. Weather stations use radar to help spot tornado funnels, and airplanes report all tornado funnels they see. It appears that we have an adequate warning system.

Our city is prepared to meet the emergency which might develop if a tornado were to strike here, but it is important for us to learn all we can about these violent storms. First, we should know the difference between a tornado warning and a tornado alert.

A tornado warning is issued by the local weather station when conditions exist in which a tornado might occur. It does not mean that a tornado is in the area, but only that one might occur. On the other hand, a tornado alert is issued by the weather station only when a funnel has actually been sighted nearby and has a definite direction. This difference is important to remember, for last year we had several tornado warnings, but not one tornado alert. Nevertheless, we must be prepared to take the proper action if we ever do receive a tornado alert.

Although tornadoes can strike anywhere at anytime, they appear most often in the midwestern, southern and central United States from March through September. Tornado weather occurs when we have hot, sticky days with southerly winds and a threatening, ominous sky. Of course, we have many days like this when tornadoes do not occur. Very often rain or hail occurs just before the tornado appears.

Tornadoes occur at all hours of the day and night, but most often they are experienced between 3 and 7 p.m. In nearly all cases, tornadoes move from the southwest toward the northeast at a speed of 25 to 40 miles an hour. However, the U.S. Weather Bureau records show that their speed may vary from 5 to 139 miles an hour.

The reason tornadoes are so dangerous is that the violent winds, sometimes as high as 50 miles an hour within the tornado, uproot trees, destroy buildings, and cause serious hazards from objects which are blown through the air. And, too, the differences in air pressure can lift automobiles and cause buildings to collapse.

Next week we shall continue with this topic, giving some tornado safety rules, and discussing what city employees do in the event of a tornado alert.

Mayor Proclaims Good Human Relations Week

A proclamation was issued this week by Mayor Harold Guenther asking for observance of Good Human Relations Week, April 19-25. Local members of the Dale Carnegie Alumni Association are again sponsoring the week. The proclamation reads:

“Problems of human relations are increasing matters of concern to members of business, industry, educational institutions and government. Recognition of need for a better and proper understanding should be the aim of all well thinking people.

“Continuing a practice started in 1955, the Dale Carnegie Alumni Association is again sponsoring a ‘Good Human Relations Week’ throughout the United States, Canada, Cuba, South Africa, Hawaii, Australia, Puerto Rico, Peru, Venezuela, Malaya, Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland and other parts of the world.

“Therefore, in my capacity as mayor of Plymouth, I proclaim the week of April 19 to 25 as Good Human Relations Week and urge all citizens to join in this worthwhile activity whose objective is an unselfish effort to help our fellowman.”

Beadle to Introduce Bill On Community Colleges

Setting up Community college districts on the basis of need would be allowed under a new bill introduced by Rep. Harvey J. Beadle (D-Wayne 21st).

"Present laws require that community college districts include at least all of one county," Rep. Beadle said. "Therefore, in a populous county no more than one community college can be created."

"The present law unduly hampers badly needed expansion of higher educational facilities in Michigan."

"My bill would eliminate this obstruction by allowing a school district to create a community college district either entirely within its boundaries or in combination with one or more other school districts within contiguous counties."

"It would no longer be necessary to include an entire county in a community college district and two school districts in separate counties could combine if the need for a junior college existed."

"In Wayne County for example it is not feasible to establish a single community college district to serve more than 2 1/2 million people."

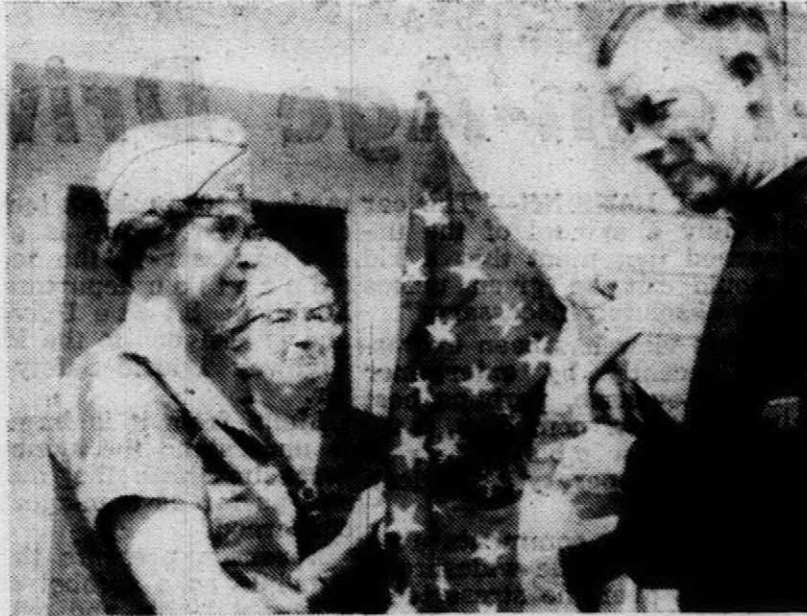

"Community colleges are important to the continued development of higher educational facilities in Michigan, commensurate with the actual and predicted growth in college enrollments.

"Locally established two-year colleges alleviate increasing enrollment loads on the state's universities. They allow students who otherwise would be unable to afford a college education to get at least two years training while living at home. They provide specialized training facilities not available in regular high school programs."

"Recent expansion of community college enrollments across the nation is indicative of public demand for this type of educational institution. In 1957-58 the 548 junior colleges in the nation enrolled over one-fifth of the total first-time college students."

"My bill would remove one of the obstacles from the path of community college development in Michigan."

THE FIRST 49 star American flag to be presented by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary 6695 was delivered to Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church this past week. Believed to be the first such flag in the city of Plymouth, it is flown daily from the Colonial Rectory front porch on Penniman Avenue. Shown receiving the flag is Father Francis Byrne, pastor, as he expresses his thanks to the representatives of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Edward Kopenski and Mrs. Robert Archer.

High School Students Guests Of Olivet Nazarene College

Miss Elaine Canning, 41663 Scholcraft, Plymouth; Barbara Klump, 33427 Plymouth, Livonia; Barbara Lucas, 15635 Reddon, Livonia; Sandra Olson, 1064 Carol Street, Plymouth; Beverly Raycroft, 41550 East Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth; Carroll Rose, 39246 Ann Arbor Trail, Livonia; David Swain, 11511 Ridge Road, Plymouth; Beulah Yeager, 34682 Beacon Road, Livonia, were members of a motorcade that visited the Olivet Nazarene College campus Thursday and Friday, April 9 and 10 from the congregations of the Eastern Michigan District of the Church of the Nazarene. Approximately 100 high school juniors and seniors with their sponsors, under the leadership of the Rev. W. E. Varian, Howell, Michigan, District Nazarene Youth President and Rev. Bernard Gill, Flint, Michigan, tour director, were entertained by the students of the Eastern Michigan District with David Strawn and James Melish, an Olivet freshman and senior from Detroit and Lapeer respectively, acting as campus hosts.

The high school students were the guests of the college at a Thursday evening outing and an evening of devotion and entertainment. Friday morning was spent on a campus tour and in conferences with college officials regarding the academic program. Olivet Nazarene College is one of six liberal arts colleges in the United States owned and operated by the Church of the Nazarene. It student body of approximately 1000 comes from twenty-six states and six foreign countries. Twenty-six nominations are representative in the enrollment. The college has recently launched a ten-year development campaign to add facilities for an additional 500 students. It plans to add two dormitories, a science building, a fine arts building, and a student union building at an approximate cost of $3,000,000.

NO EXCUSE

Official Proceedings of Board of Education

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held Monday evening, March 9, 1959, in the faculty room of the Plymouth Community Junior High School at eight o'clock.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker, Mr. Zoet; Administrative Assistant Blunk and Superintendent Isbister.

Also present: Mr. Woolweaver, Mr. Gilles, Mr. Worth, Mr. Readman of the Adult Education and Recreation Commission; Mr. Spensler of the Plymouth Mail and Mr. Bettinger from Livonia.

President Stecker called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to approve the following bills for payment:

General Fund:
Voucher 5131, Payroll Feb. 13, '59	$72,674.69
Voucher 5132, R. James Mitchell	92.27
Voucher 5133, Payroll Feb. 27, '59	72,842.82
Vouchers 5134 to 5321, inclusive	30,883.93
Building & Site Fund:
Vouchers 284 to 289, inclusive	1,291.82

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.

Nays: None.

It was moved by Mr. Soth and seconded by Mr. Zoet to approve the minutes of the last regular and intervening special meetings.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.

Nays: None.

President Stecker welcomed to the meeting members of the Adult Education and Recreation Commission. He urged their continued interest and participation in the development of the post school and summer recreation programs as well as their counsel in giving directions and purpose to the adult education department of the Plymouth Community Schools. Policy statements were given to Commission members and interpretations were made in regard to relationships between the Commission, the Board of Education and Administrators in the Community schools.

Evaluations of the post school recreation program and summer baseball were made by Mr. Woolweaver.

Attorney Perlongo's opinion relative to an inquiry as to whether the Board of Education would be liable in the event of an injury sustained from an operation of an amusement concession on school premises was read. He noted that "so long as the school itself is not engaged in a joint venture with the Lessee, there would be no liability on the part of the Board of Education." However, he urged that "the Lessee be required to produce a certificate of insurance to protect the school against any damage that may arise."

A letter from the Association of Plymouth Firemen asking permission to use the school grounds back of the high school for a carnival was read. No action was taken pending further study.

Superintendent Isbister and Administrative Assistant Blunk asked for clarification of policy on two matters:

1. Should days lost by an employee who sustained an injury while on the job be charged against his accumulated sick leave?

2. Should an employee who qualifies for workmen's compensation resulting from a job-connected injury or disease be given full salary in addition to the workmen's compensation?

After some discussion on these questions it was mutually agreed that a survey should be made in neighboring school districts in order to ascertain prevailing practices in these districts.

The recommendations made by the State Fire Marshal relative to changes in the existing conditions at the senior high school and the adjacent annex which are necessary to meet the fire code were read and discussed at length.

It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mr. Kaiser to authorize Mr. Becker of Wheeler and Becker, Associates, to proceed with preliminary plans for connecting the annex to the high school at three levels including a stair tower. The contract with Mr. Becker would be arranged on a service charge fee for the preliminary work which would later be applied against the architect's 7 per cent fee when the project is finally approved.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Soth, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.

Nays: None.

It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Soth to transfer with approval of the Municipal Finance Commission the amount of $3,400 from the 1951 Debt Retirement Fund to the 1952 Debt Retirement Fund.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Mitchell, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.

Nays: None.

Meeting adjourned at 10:15 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held Monday evening, March 23, 1959, in the faculty room of the Plymouth Community Junior High School at eight o'clock.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet; Administrative Assistant Blunk and Superintendent Isbister.

Absent: Mr. Mitchell

Also present: Mr. Coquillard and Mr. Wilson. President Stecker called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

Details of a contract between the Board of Education and Bennett and Straight, Inc., of Dearborn for architectural services on the proposed senior high school were discussed at length. Mr. Blunk and Mr. Coquillard explained parts of the contract setting forth the conditions of a resolution approved by the Board of Education on February 23, 1959, and containing Attorney Perlongo's interpretation. Minor changes in phraseology were suggested and a redraft will be submitted at a later date for final approval.

Mr. Coquillard presented for consideration the experiences of Bennett and Straight, Inc., in high school site layout work. The analysis pointed out square feet requirements for the school, courts, parking areas, athletic facilities, driver training and service areas.

The need for purchasing a mechanical check signer to be used in the business office for the purpose of lessening the amount of time required by board members in signing pay roll and voucher checks was discussed. It was suggested that the Bank be contacted in order to find out if it has available check signing service.

It was moved by Mr. Kaiser and seconded by Mrs. Hulsing to approve Superintendent Isbister's recommendations in regard to Mr. James Griffith's services next year.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.

Nays: None.

It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Zoet to accept with regrets Mr. Don Boze's resignation, effective at the close of the school year.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.

Nays: None.

Reservations at the Eleventh Annual Conference of School Board Members and School Officials in Ann Arbor on April 2, 1959, are to be made for Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Fischer, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Zoet and Mr. Isbister.

The request of the City Firemen for the use of the school grounds for a carnival was denied.

Policies affecting sick leave and payments under Workmen's Compensation for employees with job-connected injuries or illnesses will be considered at the next regular meeting.

It was moved by Mrs. Hulsing and seconded by Mr. Zoet to accept the following results of the special election as presented by the election inspectors:

On the question: "Shall the limitation on the total amount of taxes which may be assessed against all property in Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, for all purposes, except taxes levied for the payment of interest and principal on obligations incurred prior to December 8, 1932, be increased, as provided by Section 21, Article X of the Constitution of Michigan, by three-tenths of one per cent (0.3 per cent) (3 mills) of the assessed valuation, as equalized, of all property in the School District for a period of five (5) years, from 1959 to 1963, both inclusive, for the purpose of providing additional funds for operating expenses?"
The whole number of votes cast	1,882
Votes in favor of the proposition	1,076
Votes against the proposition	796
Spoiled ballots	16

The question is declared to have carried.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.

Nays: None.

Motion declared adopted.

A special meeting was called for Saturday, March 28, 1959, at the senior high school at 3:00 p.m. to consider alterations required by the State Fire Marshal.

Meeting adjourned at 10:45 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held Saturday afternoon, March 28, 1959, at Plymouth High School, at three o'clock.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet; Mr. Blunk and Mr. Isbister.

Absent: Mrs. Hulsing and Mr. Mitchell. Also present: Mr. Becker and Mr. Bentley.

President Stecker called the meeting to order at 3:00 p.m.

Mr. Becker presented for consideration his recommendations on an architectural plan designed to connect the three floors of the high school building with those in the annex. The proposed three level fire-resistant walk ways would lead into a stair well located between the two buildings in such a way as to meet the state fire code and yet make a passageway between the floors as well as ingress and egress from both buildings. Included, also, in the plan was a proposal to utilize the space between the present machine shop and the boiler room for storage space and a maintenance shop. Suggested, too, was the possibility of building two classrooms on each of the second and third floors above the machine and maintenance shops and yet be adjacent to the corridors created by the passageways between the buildings.

Mr. Becker's cost estimates were as follows:

1. Connect the buildings and build the stair well.	$55,000
2. Connect the buildings, build the stair well and wall and roof in the area between the boiler room and machine shop.	70,000
3. Connect the buildings, build the stair well, wall and roof in the area between the boiler room and machine shop, and build the 4 classrooms on the second and third floors above the machine and maintenance shops.	125,000

The plan was taken under advisement and scheduled to be acted upon at a special meeting of the Board on Monday evening, March 30, 1959.

Mr. Becker noted, if the proposal were given immediate approval, he would have final plans and specifications prepared for bidding by May 1, 1959.

Meeting adjourned at 5:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Russell L. Isbister, Acting Secretary

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held Monday evening, March 30, 1959, in the teachers' lounge of the Plymouth Community Junior High School at eight o'clock.

Present: Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet; Mr. Blunk and Mr. Isbister.

Absent: Mr. Fischer and Mr. Mitchell.

President Stecker called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

It was moved by Mr. Kaiser and seconded by Mr. Soth to engage the services of Wheeler and Becker, Associates, Architects and Engineers, to do architectural work at the senior high school. This work shall include the three-level, fire-resistant walk ways and stair tower between the high school building and the annex and such other work as the Board from time to time shall deem necessary. The fees for these services shall be 7 per cent of the construction contracts.

Ayes: Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Soth, Mr. Stecker and Mr. Zoet.

Nays: None.

Authorization was given Mr. Becker of Wheeler and Becker, Associates, to proceed with preliminary plans and specifications for the connections between the buildings, expansion of the machine shop and the addition of two classrooms on each of the second and third floors above the machine shop. After obtaining approval from the state fire marshal and securing estimates on the construction cost of this work the plans shall be considered by the Board before final approval is given.

Meeting adjourned at 10:05 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Esther L. Hulsing, Secretary

Residents Give $3,045 Toward TB Campaign

Residents of Plymouth contributed $3,045 to the 1958 Christmas Seal Sale to fight tuberculosis, according to figures released Wednesday by the Tuberculosis and Health Society.

Of this total, $2,967 was raised through the traditional direct mail campaign which sends the Seals into the home. The additional $78 came from school gifts and canisters distributed by the Chamber of Commerce. A total of $307,000 was contributed to the campaign here by other residents of Detroit and Wayne Co.

This is the largest amount ever to be given to the drive from this area. Christmas Seal funds go into the programs of the TB and Health Society and the Detroit Tuberculosis Sanatorium. The monies are used to pay for tuberculin testing teams which go into schools to skin test children for the presence of tuberculosis germs and to promote the use of the chest X-ray buses which tour the county.

Public to View Northville State Hospital During Mental Health Week

"Operation Friendship," has been designated throughout the country as the theme for National Mental Health Week, April 26-May 2, 1959. In conjunction with the Michigan Society for Mental Health and the State Mental Health Commission, the Staff at Northville State Hospital near Plymouth has planned a program which is designed to acquaint local groups and individuals with their psychiatric hospital.

Monday, April 27, has been set up as "Public Officials' Day." State senators and representatives, elected from Wayne County, Probate Judges, City and County officials, press representatives, Board Members, newspaper editors of the Michigan Society for Mental Health have been invited to a special program.

At 11:00 a.m., in the hospital auditorium, a clinical presentation will be given by Dr. Gordon R. Forrer, Clinical Director at Northville State Hospital.

During a luncheon meeting in the hospital cafeteria, Dr. Philip N. Brown, Medical Superintendent at the hospital, will discuss budget problems and their effect in administering a hospital program.

This will be followed by a tour of selected sections of the hospital, emphasizing both positive features, as well as some of the problems that are encountered in the daily operation of the hospital.

Tuesday, April 28, the hospital will feature a Clergyman's Workshop on Mental Health. The program has been planned for the specific needs and problems faced by clergymen, and invitations have been sent out to the clergy from the Michigan Society for Mental Health.

The program will begin at 10:00 a.m. with an address, "The Science of Helping People," by Robert N. Hinks, S.J., M.S.W. of the University of Detroit. Richard C. Hertz, Rabbi, Temple Beth El, Detroit, will act as moderator.

At the luncheon, the clergymen will be guests of the Wayne County Chapter of the Michigan Society for Mental Health. They will be greeted by Dr. Philip N. Brown and Sheldon Rahn, of the Detroit Council of Churches, and a member of the Michigan Society for Mental Health Board of Directors in Wayne County.

At 1:00 p.m., Dr. Jacob J. Miller, Chief of Intensive Services at Northville, will speak on "Mental Health Problems as Encountered in Pastoral Work." Dr. Aloysius S. Church, Assistant Medical Director, St. Joseph's Retreat, Dearborn, will act as moderator.

Tours of the hospital will follow the above program. Assisting the hospital personnel will be Mrs. Byron Champion, 493 N. Harvey, and Mrs. Cecil Packard, 1465 Penniman, who are both active volunteers at the hospital.

Wednesday, April 29, invites from the Detroit Federation of Women's Clubs, the United Church Women, Detroit Archdiocesan Council of Catholic Women, and the United Jewish Sisterhood, will attend a special program at the hospital.

Starting with tours of some of the outlying buildings, at 1:15 p.m., the program will proceed with a panel discussion.

Thursday, April 30 and Friday, May 1, no special events have been planned. However, groups and organizations wishing to tour may do so by making advance appointments.

Saturday, May 2, the public is invited to the hospital's 8th Annual Open House in conjunction with National Mental Health Week. Visitors may visit the hospital between 9:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Tours, bus rides on the grounds, and visits to outlying buildings have been arranged by the staff, in order to acquaint the public with some of the phases of a hospital program designed to treat 2,200 psychiatric patients.

Light luncheons will also be available in the new Occupational - Recreational Therapy Building Canteen. Tours will start every 15 minutes throughout the six hour period.

This will be the 11th Mental Health Week to be observed nationally. The aim of "Operation Friendship" is to bring to the mental hospitals, 750,000 visitors throughout the country.

This would provide one visitor from the "outside" for every patient on the "inside." The purpose of this project is to prove to the mentally ill that their relatives, neighbors and friends really care, and to offer to hundreds of thousands of Americans a "live" educational experience. This will provide personal and emotional involvement.

It is hoped that it will lead to year-round participation and support of mental health programs, according to officials of the National Association for Mental Health.

"To become a member of the Thespian Society one must show a continuing interest in dramatic arts and have a total of ten points for a taking part in producing school plays ..."

Fourteen drama enthusiasts have met these requirements ... they will be initiated into the local chapter of the National Thespian Society this evening at 7 pm.

New members slated to receive Thespian pins and certificates are freshmen Georgina Daubresse and Donna Kelly, sophomores Lester Bartson and Grace Wigley, juniors Gordon Jewell, Carol Kubick, Brenda Richardson, Sally Sawyer and Mari Lynn Walters and seniors Henry Naasko, Jo Ann Nagy, Gail O'Donnell, Dick Small and Sydney Van Aken.

Presenting welcoming speeches were club officers. They are President Jeanette Ridley, Vice-President Dave Graves, Secretary Claudia Kessler, Treasurer Glyn Norton and Scribe Susie Campbell, all seniors.

A skit showing the development of dramatic arts will be staged and Mr. Robert Southgate, director of All-School play productions and adviser of the Thespians, will speak.

"Pilgrim Prints" was 13 years old last Wednesday ... Today final slates for class officers were determined at caucuses. A meeting of the joint nominating board was Tuesday, when candidates for All-School offices were selected. We'll let you in on the slate next week. Elections are May 12.

Seniors have a lot of irons in the fire ... besides the Prom, four committees are working on class of '59 projects. Kathy Joseph is heading a committee slated to come up with a will, prophecy and class song. The will is being written by Karen Lent, Bette Argo, Glyn Norton and JoAnn Gribble with cute Kathy Yakely calling the signals.

Henry Naasko heads the prophecy committee ... lending a hand are Claudia Kessler, Karen Stevens, Carin Slojko and Mary Jane West.

Looking in and to for a place for the senior banquet are Julie Stecker, chairman of the Banquet committee. She will be working with Frank Smith, Janet Willoughby, Carole North, Doug Cline and Mike Meyers.

The far well assembly scheduled for June 3, when seniors will suddenly become completely uninhibited ... and the ham comes through ... is being supervised by Betsy Mueller, Bob Westover, Joyce Hinote, Allison Scott, Joe Calhoun, Jonie Izett and Ed La Roche.

Aspiring majorettes and cheerleaders are holding practices with an eye to try-outs in May.

More new classes for PHS next year!

Besides fourth year French and Latin and third year Spanish (we've already told you about that) the curriculum will include advanced electricity, one semester of advanced speech, and second semester dramatics, international relations, and business English.

An apparatus play day! That's what ten members of the GAA's of the Association here were in for when they traveled to Allen Park on April 14. The girls played on the parallel bars, the trampoline, the horse ("that's a deal you turn somersaults on," chimed Pat Stone.) climbed ropes, tumbled and hoisted dumbbells and bar bells.

Having a real blast with other GAA's of the Suburban Six League were the aforementioned Patricia Stone, Karen West, Mavis Williams, Jill Clarke, Carleen Allen, and Jonie Bohl, all juniors and freshmen Jody Berger, Bob and Gay Anderson, Carol Hudson and Janet Fair.

GAA mid-year awards were presented recently ... winner of a 1000 point trophy was a Joy Kalmbach, a senior and President of the club.

Those who earned a 500 point letter were Carleen Allen, Jill Clarke, Peg Davidson, Edie Dibble, Sue Horvath, Sue Mather, Karen McClure, Jo Ann Nagy, Pat Nickerson, Kay Selle, Roxy Smith, Pat Stone, Karen West and Mavis Williams.

Darlene Anderson, Sherry Kelly and Linda Lett received 150 point awards.

Sophomores Joy Anderson, Betty Littrell and Jean Baumgartner attended the Future Homemakers Association state convention in Grand Rapids last Thursday.

Last week Bill Brown's sociology class traveled to the Detroit House of Correction and Mr. Roger Smithling's physical science students visited the planetarium at Cranbrook Institute of Science.

This Friday, Science Clubs will see a film on satellites when Bob Wain and Tim Graves are building a small jet engine ... Allen Davies and Don Williams are attempting a particle reactor. All four are juniors, who will display their projects this spring or early in the fall.

Member when we reported that 14 juniors were interested in a contest sponsored by the National Council of English Teachers, who were looking for students with exceptional English ability?

Well ... they can stop looking ... Plymouthites who came out on top in local competition were Diane Van Loo and Sally Sawyers. Both will be recommended for scholarships.

Next Monday, April 27, 12 Student Council members will attend the Student Council League Conferences at Redford Union High School.

Representing Plymouth will be Mary Huling, Jill Clarke, Karen Rank, Peg Davidson, Lois Austin, John Murray, Denny, Linda Heric, Hale Huber, Mavis Williams, Dick Hubert, Helen Ottwell and Mayor Mary Jane West.

All of the Suburban-Six League schools will send representatives to discuss common problems. The high schoolers interested in student government will hear a full-fledged government official - Lt. Governor John B. Swainson of Plymouth will speak.

Memorial Book Program Set Up at Library

Mrs. Agnes Pauline, librarian, announced a memorial and honorarium gift book program to be initiated at the Dunning-Hough library last week, National Library Week.

Mrs. Pauline said that this program was being developed because of the great number of requests being made of all libraries by individuals, business firms and clubs who are seeking a way to honor friends or associates. Wedding anniversaries and birthdays may also be celebrated in a unique way by a gift to the library to honor the occasion.

The Memorial and Honorarium Book Fund provides a distinctly appropriate way of expressing sympathy at the death of a relative or friend. To make a remembrance, write or telephone the Dunning-Hough Public Library, 223 Main Street, Plymouth, Michigan or phone GL 3-0750 and give the following information:

1. Name of person to be remembered or honored by the donation;
2. Name and address of person to be notified of the gift;
3. Name of the individual or group making the donation.

The names of the person honored and the donor will appear on a bookplate in the book or books donated to the library.

All such donations are deductible in computing income tax. All checks should be made payable to the library. Special books may be selected if desired and the library will keep a special list from which selections may be made. Printed announcements will be sent to the person to be informed of the gift.

The fly now exists in 40 thousand species.

Tickets on Sale for Hilarious Evening with 'Wake Up Darling'

Ticket chairman Jerry Thaden reports that tickets for "Wake Up, Darling" are now on sale at the Melody House and the Penn Theater for the Plymouth Theater Guild's spicy Spring production "Wake Up, Darling."

"We hope to be able to satisfy the demands of all theatergoers in the Livonia, Northville, and Plymouth area. After seeing the rehearsals the other night, we know we have a terrific show on our hands," asserted Jerry.

"Wake Up, Darling" strips down for action as soon as the bouncy, perky Polly Emerson (Jacquie Gagnon) flounces across the stage in the opening moments of the play. Complications come fast and furious as Deerfield (Bob Lucchetti) wants to woo Polly away from her enraged hubby Don (John Glanz).

To add to the laughable confusion, Martha (Ruth Manzi), Juliet (Rosemary Kooiman), and Gloria (M. J. Cook) plot devious ways in which Polly can obtain a tailor-made family.

in this bedroom farce, one must see the Plymouth Theater Guild's fast-moving production of "Wake Up, Darling." May 7, 8 and 9 are the dates and the Plymouth High School Auditorium is the place where all the fun begins.

Ann Arbor and the University of Michigan drama students can be more than proud of the excellent job done on "Volpone" last week. Director Hugh Norton should be given the true credit for taking a classic comedy written by one Ben Jonson in the year 1605 and revising it with zest.

"Volpone" took on all the aspects of a rowdy, lusty Broadway comedy before Director Norton was through. Lines were inserted that Johnson surely would have put in had he been living in our day and age. Comic action was continuous all evening long. And yet, through the laughter, came the worthwhile philosophy: to put your trust in gold and the acquisition of wealth is false and carries no true reward.

The last production of the season is on the boards for the University players this weekend. Dr. Halstead, who spoke at the Plymouth Theater Guild meeting in January, is presenting an exciting version of the Greek drama, "Electra." It's not often that you get a chance to see Greek plays done. Let this be a warning to you and take a trip over to University town for a look-see at their production of "Electra."

Jack Bender, another of the University drama directors, invited all the Plymouth Theater Guild members over during his talk at the April meeting. Mr. Bender told the local thespians about ways to create characterizations while doing a play. His talk was enthusiastically received by eighty members last Monday night. Final meeting of the Guild for the year is something up the third week in May. All members are urged to be present at this meeting to help select the Board of Directors for the coming year.

A new theater group over at Nankin Mills, the southeast corner of Livonia, are in the process of presenting their first major production. "The Curious Savage" is the show and it will play tonight and tomorrow night. If you get a chance, why not play over and see this newest group of dramatic stars in the area. They do their shows in the Nankin Mills Elementary School auditorium on Hubbard Road just off of Ann Arbor Trail. Bill Ide, director and founder of the group, hopes to attract members from the Plymouth and Livonia areas with his new organization.

Out Broadway way the seven critics on the great White Way agreed that "Raisin in the Sun" was the year's best play. Lorraine Hansberry, a 28-year-old gal, took a year to write the show and has indicated that she has three other plays ready to be produced. How can one person be so talented? Seems as though some of that stuff should be spread around a little bit more. If you get out to New York City, be sure to see "Raisin in the Sun." It's a realistic drama, a slice of Americana that'll make you think.

Jim Haggerty appeared on the TV tube this past Sunday and said some challenging things that should have made the viewers of Channel 2 do some thinking. Mr. Haggerty wondered why all the educational and discussion type programs could only be found on Sundays. What's wrong with Monday through Saturday? Don't people think or talk about politics on those days? His question went unanswered by the Mr. Symonds who represented the radio-TV industry on the panel. A few months back the same question was school by two Madison Avenue advertising men in a column printed on the radio page of the New York Times.

The question is a good one. When will radio and TV realize that the public could stand a little less situation comedy, violence, westerns, etc? People like to hear a bit more of the news than just a 15 minute quick run through. Old George looks for the day in TV when a brave sponsor will give the audience an educational show during the prime night time slot. It's worth a try. After all their ratings to the buckskin crowd; might as well see if the intellectual approach can hold their picture-tube dimmed eye-balls. Of course, a person can always convert their set over to Channel 56, Detroit's Educational Channel. You can view some 70 hours a week educational programs of every size and description. My set is so arranged. Presently, I'm enjoying a series on (of all things!) Japanese Brush Painting. Last year about this time I was struggling with a Russian course that piqued my curiosity for 20 weeks.

Time to close up shop for another week. "Wake Up, Darling" is only two weeks away. Plan now to have those theater parties. This is the big Fun-for-All show of the year. Bill Hunter, chairman of set construction, has just about finished construction of the sophisticated New York apartment.

Betty Tait and Matt Fortney, two of his faithful helpers, have lent their artistic touch to the set and once again it looks like the Plymouth Theater Guild has created an attractive set for the actors. We'll see you at the play on May 7th, 8th, or 9th.

Europeans Are Materialists Too, Says U of M Professor

ANN ARBOR - It's a myth that Europeans are less materialistic than Americans, according to Aarre K. Lahti, professor of design at The University of Michigan.

Lahti, who spent the second semester of 1957 in Europe making a design survey, says, "Regardless of the country I visited, the people and executives I talked to expressed a far greater interest and a desire for consumer goods than any I had heard expressed in the U.S. They were looking forward to the day when they could achieve our 'materialism' and all its associated headaches."

"I saw men, women and married couples drooling over displays of furniture, appliances, heaters, radios, television, hi-fi and above all the illusively desirable car. Obtaining a motorcycle with a sidecar — a sidecar equipped with windshield and canopy (and this was a luxury) — was about as far as they dared plan," he says.

"We in the U.S. tend to blame materialism and the consumer's possession of appliances and cars as being an indication of our cultural lag."

"We place the blame for our economic ills upon high salaries, high wages and large scale production."

"This attitude is usually coupled with an assumption that the Europeans are not as materialistic nor as interested in similar consumer goods. We assume that their not having these products is an expression of their spiritual and non-materialistic philosophy.

"But in my opinion a nation that has a higher regard for the value of human energy as expressed in wages — as we have — is by comparison less materialistic than one in which man-hours are consumed in salvaging scrap or consumed in pampering material possessions."

"All through Europe there is a concern for higher wages and a shorter work week. The Volkswagen factories were operating on a 42 1/2 hour week and eager to institute a 40 hour work week."

"Though we tend to think of the Italian people as being leisurely, I found that their working day, though less concentrated than ours, was spread over a larger portion of the day. The work day continues until eight in the evening and the evening meal is had well after this time. The weekends are frequently taken up with business, though on a more leisurely scale."

"What about the European's much vaunted interest in art museums?"

Professor Lahti says, "I have heard American travelers say that it is always such a pleasure to see so many of the natives visiting their museums, but this again can be less attributed to a seeking of culture, and more to an escape from congestion and a seeking of less costly diversion."
