entry blanks be returned by Monday, June 10.
Instead of the queen being selected during a program on July 4th evening, she will be named during a special judging session on Wednesday, July 1. In this way, Stanbury said, the new Miss Plymouth will be able to reign over the entire July 4th festivities.
First prize this year will be a three-day round trip for two to Buffalo and Niagara Falls on a Great Lakes passenger ship. There will be other prizes for runners-up.
Girls entering the contest must have been 16 years of age by last December 31. There is no maximum limit.
Entry blanks can be secured either from Jack's Burgers or the information desk at city hall. It is urgent that entry be made early so that photographs can be taken at Gaffield Studio, at no cost to the girl, Stanbury added.
Plans are incomplete for an evening program but Jaycees have announced that fireworks will be shown at 9:30 instead of a later hour so that young children may attend.

Many visitors commented upon the colorful and pleasant surroundings of the plant — a quite a contrast with plants of years past.
Johanson commented that while the color and surroundings are of great value, it is the efficiency of the operation that counts most.
And visitors who noted the conveyors, high-lifts and other equipment in operation, could easily see why there was efficiency.
The cafeteria concluded the tour and the visitors were treated to coffee, cake and ice cream.
Western Electric opened its Michigan Distribution Center here last December, moving here from an overcrowded building on Oakman Blvd. in Detroit. It was in 1955 that Western Electric announced its intentions to move here.
There are 420,000 square feet in the building with 670 employees working for Western Electric and 70 employed by Michigan Bell.

Wendell Lent, chairman of the Retail Merchants group of the Chamber of Commerce, called the sale the "best coordinated effort the merchants ever made." Only at Christmas would one see such crowds, Lent declared.
In his own store which sells men's and boy's clothing and sports goods, he still had eight customers in the store when it closed at midnight.
It was around 9 o'clock when the big downpour came. Around an inch and a half of rain fell within a few hours. Customers darted from one doorway to another but most got soaked anyway.
"I don't know what would have happened if we would have had good weather," one merchant noted. Some store owners conceded that they could have done a lot better if they had hired more help. But they hadn't anticipated the big rush and probably many customers left because

Plymouth's Food Fair Officially Open

A New Supermarket, Another Good Citizen

The PLYMOUTH MAIL
Thursday, May 28, 1959, Plymouth, Michigan Section 2

Food Fair Special Section

LARGE CROWDS gathered on the parking lot of Food Fair last Sunday to take part in the welcome festivities. The super market is located on property formerly occupied by Beglinger Oldsmobile-Cadillac on South Main St.

ed on property formerly occupied by Beglinger Oldsmobile-Cadillac on South Main St.

The addition of a new business to a community increases the economical value not only of the immediate blocks in which it is situated, but the city and surrounding area.

With the completion of the new Food Fair Market in Plymouth, many aspects of the community's business are advantageously affected.

First, the store gives employment to 63 persons, most of whom live right here in Plymouth.

The tearing down of old buildings on the site at 705 S. Main Street in Plymouth and the construction of new, modern store facilities has also been done with the help of many local contractors, among whom were Allied Concrete, Inc., Clinansmith Brothers, Hubbs & Gilles, Louis Norman and Herman Perlongo.

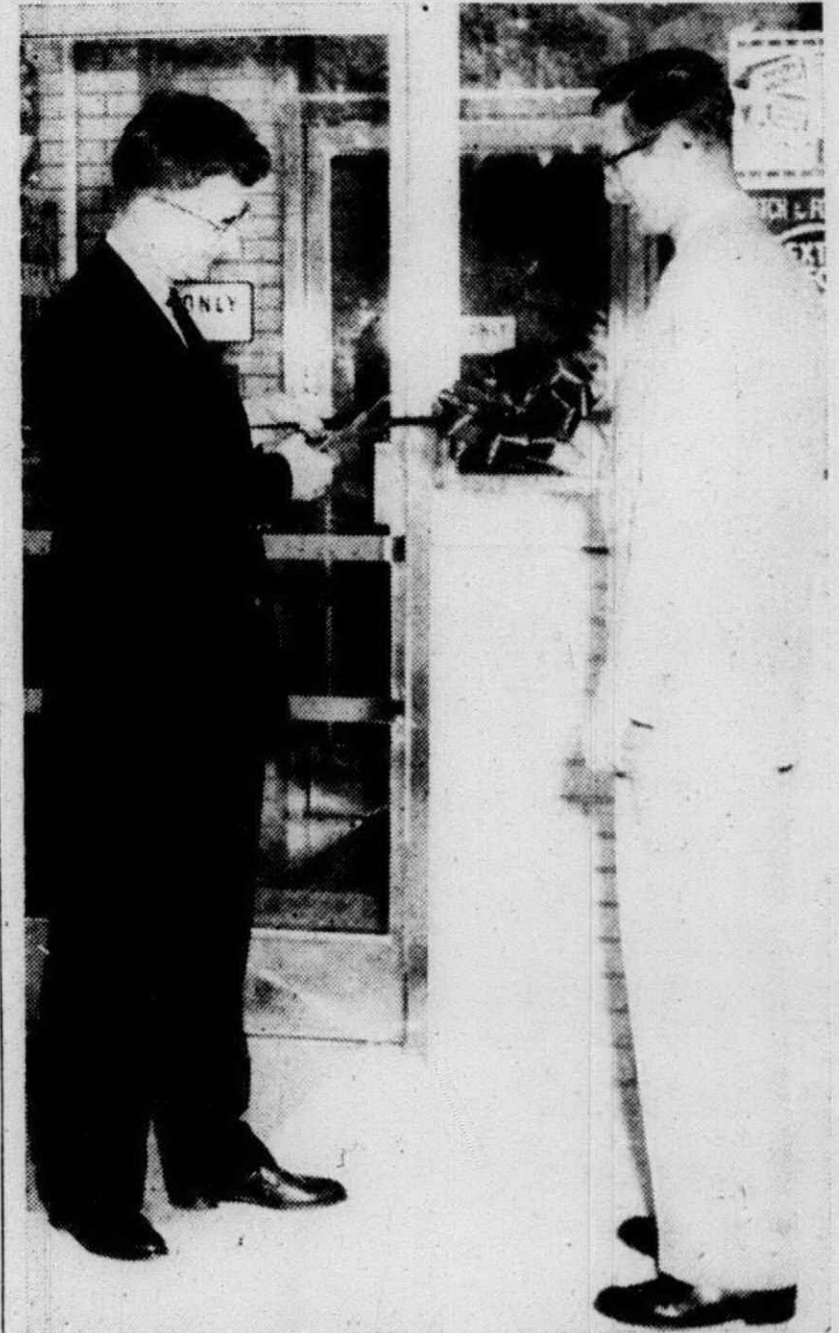

The 18,000 square foot building plus the 175-car hard-surfaced parking lot will go on the city's tax rolls for more than the old structures.

Further investment by Food Fair

Markets, Inc. was brought into the city with approximately a quarter of a million dollars spent to equip and stock the shelves of the store.

Significant in this picture also is the fact that this is just one of five stores to be located in the area. Already operating are Food Fair Markets opened this spring and winter at Six Mile Road and Inkster and Plymouth and Yale, both in Livonia, and at Cherry Hill and Venoy in Garden City. Scheduled for opening by early summer is another market in the Wonderland Shopping Center at Plymouth and Middlebelt.

Financial investment and employment are outstanding values to the community; close to the lives of nearby residents, too, are the advantages in food procurement and shopping provided by the facilities of an organization such as this which has the know-how to give high quality at the lowest possible price, coupled with a pride-in friendly, accommodating service.

Grocery Shopping By the Ton, Carload and Herd

Purchasing the merchandise for a large grocery chain might seem to be as simple as ordering a carload of this, a thousand gross of that, so many carcasses of meat, etc.

To the buyers for Food Fair, however, it is a highly technical process with quality the final deciding factor.

Each expert in his own field, all the food buyers meet weekly to study and taste new products and review the quality of the old ones. Much more critical than the average housewife, these buyers set rigid standards of quality and are quick to reject anything that does not measure up. Food Fair stands behind their selections, too, with a money-back guarantee on everything the firm sells.

Robert Garbarino, director of grocery operations, a head grocery buyer, Ben Elkin, know from long experience what products shoppers want and are ever on the look-out for new items to please the busy homemaker.

George Martin, delicatessen buyer, has built probably the most extensive stocks of cheeses and specialty foods in any local markets. Many of them are imported from all over the world.

Perhaps the men who buy directly from the greatest distances work for Joseph Genovasi, the director of produce operations, which also include the frozen foods. David Berman, the produce buyer, rises before dawn during the summer months to make his daily rounds of the produce markets so that all the Food Fair stores have their fresh produce by the time the stores open that morning.

But in the winter he must deal by long distance telephone to arrange shipments of food from all over the country, directly from the areas in which the vegeta-are two employees placing the final cans on an aisleway lined solidly with canned goods.

What Did They Think of Now?

With 18,000 square feet of space in a brand new building built to the specifications of experienced specialists, the new Plymouth Food Fair Market offers all the latest conveniences to shoppers.

Completely air conditioned and with everything sparkling new, one of the many conveniences to greet the customer after parking in the spacious lot is the bakery department, featuring Awrey baked goods, is of the handy self-serve type which eliminates any waiting for service.

Food Fair Markets are the only Michigan stores holding a "Brand-Name-Retailer-of-the-Year" award (1959), so there is certain to be a wide variety of well-known products.

The newest developments in shelving, cool storage and display for dairy, frozen foods, produce and meats have been incorporated to put all products within easy finger-tip reach. There's no "squat, squat or stoop" here.

Besides the low prices, Food Fair also gives S&H green stamps for an added bonus.

At the check-out counter automatic change dispensing cash registers provide quick, accurate service, along with an itemized price list showing money tendered and amount returned. The check out counters themselves are the conveyor type with automatic bag feeders for the check-out clerks, expediting the hand packing of groceries.

A building this size could easily have a rather barren appearance but the Food Fair planners thought of that, too. They commissioned a local Michigan artist to paint background murals for the walls behind each department. Colorful and appealing, they add a sprightly decorative touch to the decor.

Besides all the usual grocery departments, there are departments for drugs and cosmetics and household convenience items to allow one-stop shopping for the every-day needs.

While automatic with all employees, but certainly not automated, the service so willingly given is one of the most important aspects here. Thoroughly trained and skilled in their jobs, employees know how to anticipate the shopper's needs. A special size, a certain cut of meat — all are cheerfully available for the asking. The feeling of hospitality extends from the coffee served waiting salesmen at Food Fair headquarters to the check-out clerks in the stores.

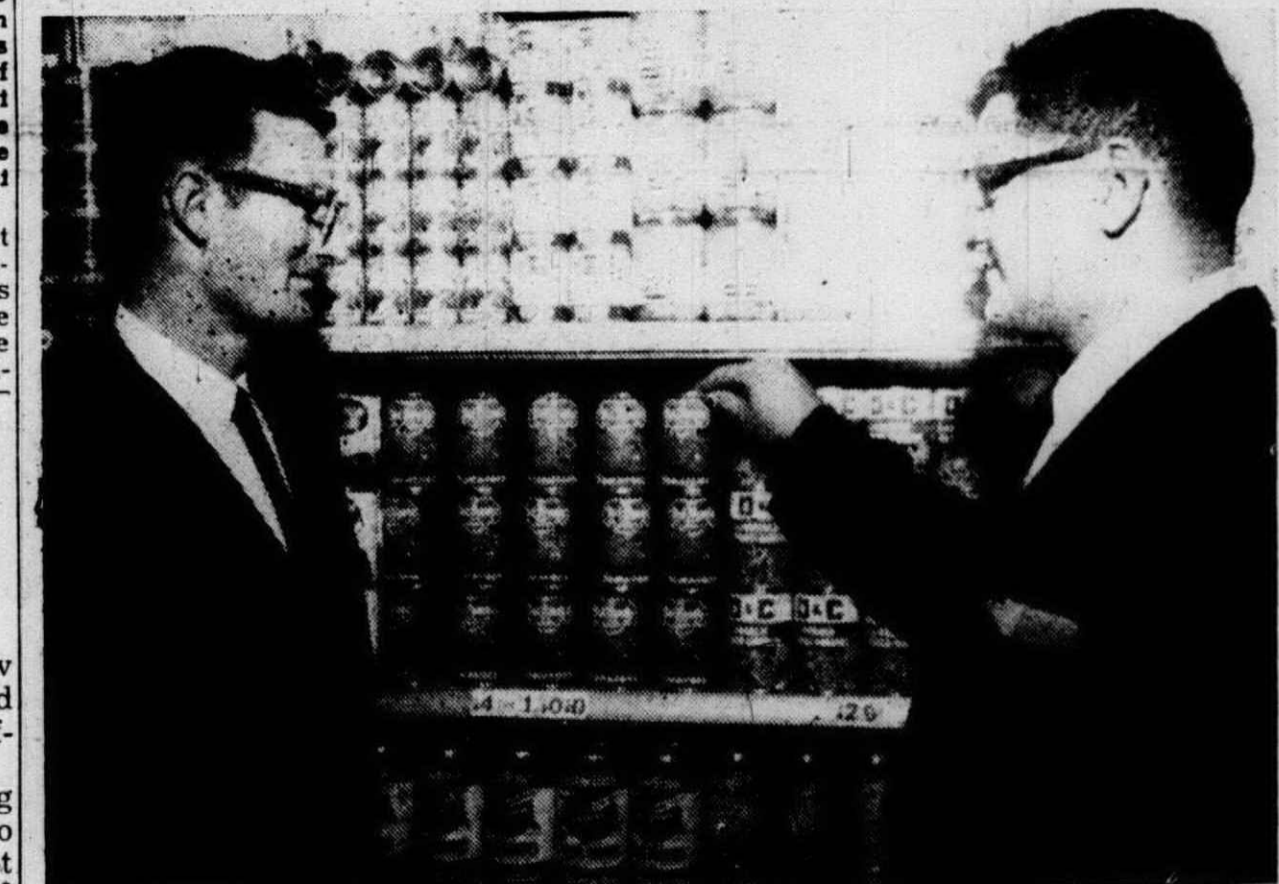

Knowing that a wide choice in "when to shop" is important to all customers. The Food Fair Market will be open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., Monday through Friday, and open at 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Saturday.

A safe place, too, Food Fair Markets have an extensive employee safety program in all departments of the business.

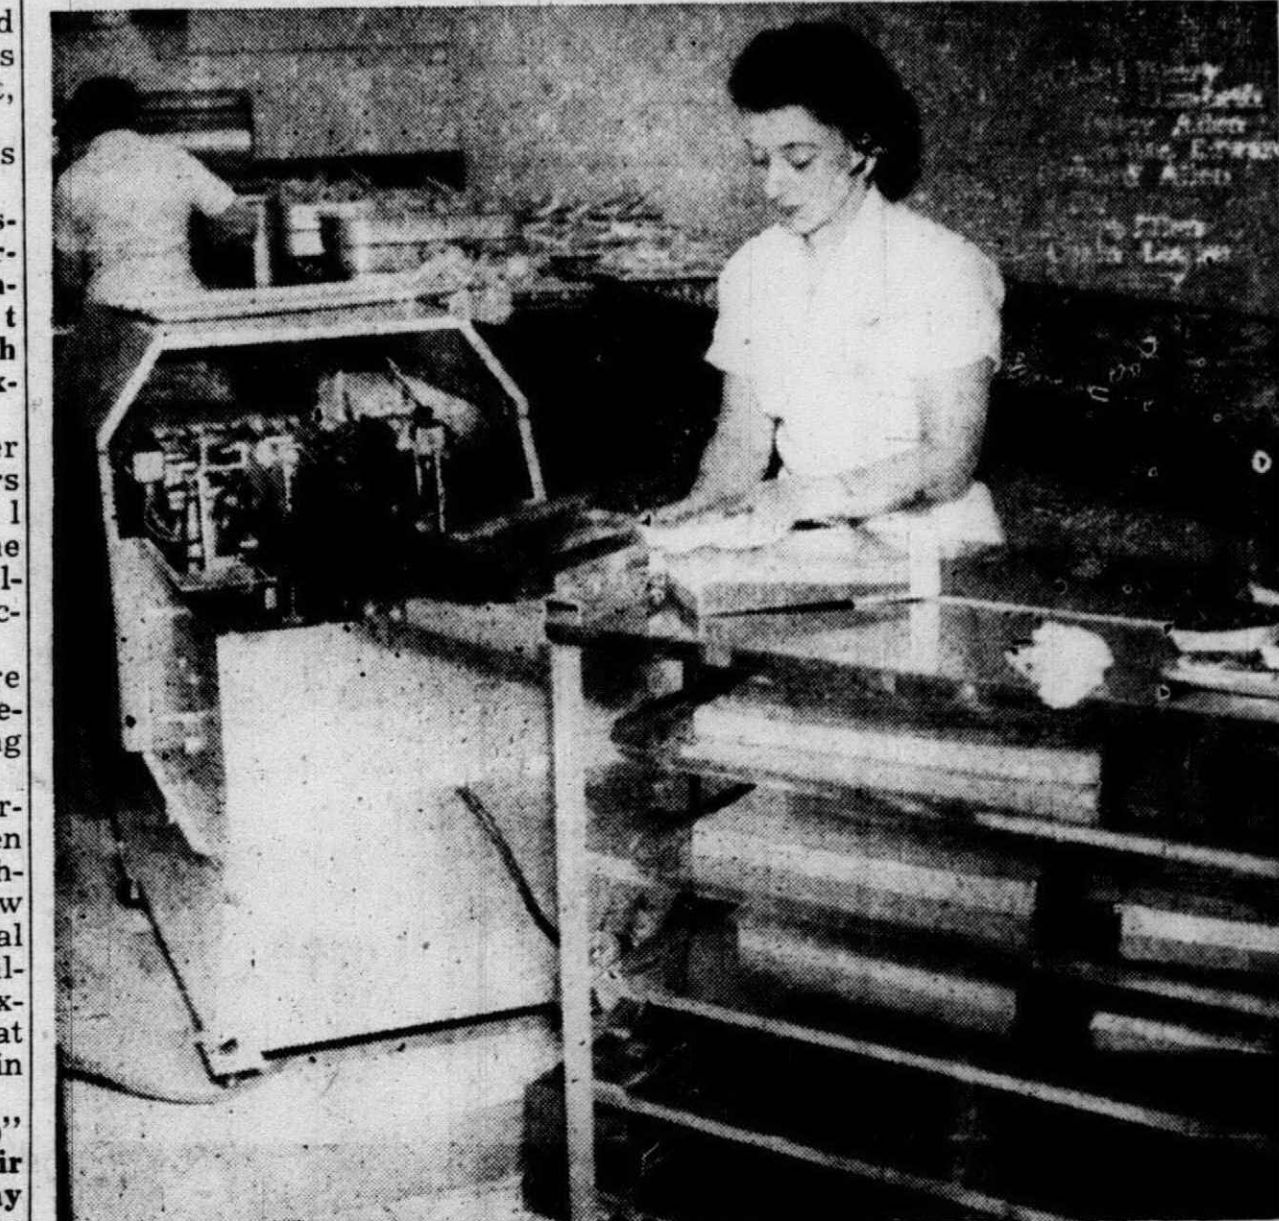

WHETHER LOOKING for baby foods or drug items (on the left) or frozen foods (on the right), the new Food Fair Super Market offers a very large selection. The food chain has been given award for its promotion of brand names.

RESPONSIBLE FOR THE Food Fair Super Market operation here are Earl Beattie, left, manager, and C. J. Berna, co-manager. Beattie formerly managed the Food Fair Market at Seven Mile and Gratiot in Detroit and has been with the firm over three years. He has been in the food industry 17 years. The father of two, Beattie lives in Wayne.

PACKAGING MEAT in attractive see-through containers is not the chore it used to be, thanks to this packaging machine. By just laying the cellophane over the package, the machine automatically wraps it up.

A Big Grocery Chain Once a Corner Store

The new Food Fair Market opened this week in Plymouth is number 36 in a rapidly growing chain, a chain begun in 1924 by Tom Borman.

He opened his first store at Twelfth and Forest in Detroit with $179.30 for his capital. His brother, Al, joined him a little later. Together they worked, putting quality and friendly service foremost in their efforts. It was a good formula then, and is still paramount in all their present efforts.

The brothers built a steadily growing business. The name Food Fair is not to be confused with other firms using the same name in other parts of the country. Recently they changed the corporate name to Borman Food Stores, Inc., with Tom as president and Al as chairman of the board.

In these last ten years the chain has grown to its present count of 36 stores — with a giant expansion program under way to add up to 46 stores by the end of 1959. This is more than triple the number of stores in existence five years ago.

To such a rapid growth over the whole metropolitan area, and in the face of competition from four big nationwide supermarket chains, Tom Borman says, "We have more faith than just our investment. Life here has been wonderful to us, and we have great faith in Michigan."

A Corporation
Is Still Mainly
Its Employees

Tom and Al Borman began to sell groceries in their small store in Detroit in the early 1920's. Today, as president and chairman of the board, respectively, of Food Fair Markets, Inc., they are still in the grocery business—on a much larger scale.

But they still shop at the supermarkets just as their customers and 2,200 other employees do. From a customer's standpoint, too, the Food Fair executives know from long experience that everyone is in some way concerned about food and that shoppers know what they need and how they want to go about getting it.

Outstanding in Food Fair's policy of promotions from within the ranks of employees is Joseph Kron. He first went to work with the Bormans as a stock boy after school hours before the depression. In 1938 he began to work full time as a meat cutter, six months later he was meat supervisor. Now, after aiding the markets through many phases of growth, he is executive vice president.

Paul Borman, the son of Al Borman, started as a bottle boy while still in school. Working at many other chores such as bag boy and clerk, he worked and learned in the stores until entering college. Graduating from Michigan State University with a degree in food distribution, he began to work and study in the executive offices until today he is general manager of the chain.

It is these four men, with their trained staffs, who guide Food Fair Markets.

Have mercy upon me, O Lord, for I am weak; O Lord, heal me . . . —(Psalm 6:2.)

The great Abraham Lincoln spoke often of the many times he had fallen to his knees because he had no place else to go. The realization of our human weakness and insufficiency is the first step toward God's mercy and help—so freely granted to heal us and save us, through devout prayer and faith.

Memorial Day Custom Traced To Civil War

While the South was fighting to free itself from the Union, its women were planting the beginnings of one of the most reverent national holidays of the U.S.—Memorial Day.

The action by the North when Southern women began to honor the dead from both sides of the Mason-Dixon line by scattering flowers on their graves.

According to research experts with The World Book Encyclopedia, the women of Columbus, Miss., decorated the graves of Union and Confederate soldiers in 1863. Two years later, Mrs. Sue Landon Vaughn, a descendant of John Adams, son of the president of the U.S., led some women in strewing flowers at a military cemetery in Vicksburg, Miss.

As the custom spread, General John A. Logan, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, was persuaded to set a uniform date on which to honor the Union dead. In 1868, Logan issued a general order to all Grand Army posts, setting aside May 30th "for the purpose of strewing with flowers or otherwise decorating the graves of comrades who died in defense of their country."

The first celebrations in the North exalted the Union armies for their victory over the South. But the theme of victor and vanquished gradually disappeared.

As the U.S. passed through the Spanish-American War, the World Wars and the Korean War, Memorial Day became a tribute to the nation and to all those who have died for it.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — James Stewart has been chosen winner of the public relations award given out by the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

The actor was praised for consistently avoiding unfavorable publicity and associations.

CITY MANAGERS CORNER

One of the most important municipal activities is that of supplying fire protection for the community. For this reason, any city must have the best and most efficient fire department it can afford. In recent years, some communities have instituted a plan of integrating the police and fire departments, that is, combining them into one department, in order to get a more effective fire protection organization. Some communities are ideally structured for an integrated system, like Oak Park. Other communities have characteristics which make an integrated system nearly impossible, like Jackson or Detroit.

Integration, like that in Oak Park, eliminates the police and fire departments and creates in their place a single Department of Public Safety. The members of this organization plan to be called Public Safety Officers, Fire Department which has and they perform both police and fire duties as may be required by the situation. Patrol cars are usually equipped with large fire extinguishers and regular fire fighting clothing, like boots, helmets, jackets, and so on. In the event of a fire, the patrol car can radio the alarm and the men can immediately size up the situation. Stand-by Public Safety Officers man the fire apparatus, drive the fire apparatus, and help fight the fire. At other times, the Public Safety Officers perform police duties and take specialized training in both police and fire activities.

Under our new set-up Kenneth Fisher has been made the acting fire chief, in addition to his duties as the Police Chief. However, his fire chief duties are merely administrative in nature and do not involve actual operation of the fire department or direction of fire fighting. These responsibilities and corresponding authority are devolved upon our two assistant fire chiefs, Charles Groth and George Schenckman. These two men have many years experience as active firefighters, and they have just recently been briefed on the principles of municipal fire administration. To fill our staff of full-time firemen, we have hired a new man, Donald Moore. He was selected from the ranks of our volunteer firemen, after taking written and oral competitive examinations. We now have four full-time firemen.

May Our Memorial Day Really Mean Something

In '46 a letter from a young hospitalized war veteran was published in the New York Times. Later when John Crown, the writer, died, Dr. Howard A. Rusk said, "In this era of precocious technology, hydrogen bombs, guided missiles and all the additions to the horrors of war that have caused an epidemic of anxiety and tension throughout the world, this pain-racked boy's prescription for peace among men merits thoughtful re-reading." It is presented here for Memorial Day consideration:

My name is John Crown. I am a paraplegic at Halloran General Hospital. My physical wounds are very small in comparison with my spiritual wounds. I have come back from death to a world that I no longer care for. I, who have been engaged in the great struggle to save the world from tyranny and having seen my comrades die for this cause, can now find no peace in the world or in my country.

Having lived close to death for two years the reasons why there is no peace seem infinitesimally flimsy. Russia wants the Dardanelles, Yugoslavia wants Trieste, the Moslems want India, labor wants more wages, capital wants more profit, Smith wants to pass the car in front of him, Junior wants more spending money. To these, I say, is it necessary to kill and cripple human beings for the sake of these petty gains?

Anyone who thinks a human body is so cheap that it can be traded for a tract of land, a piece of silver, or a few minutes of time should be forced to listen to the moans of the dying night and day for the rest of his life.

All the troubles of the world originate in the common man. The selfish and greedy ways of nations are just the ways of each individual man multiplied a hundredfold. When the morals of the common man drop, so do the morals of the nation and of the world.

As long as our individual morals remain at a low ebb, so will be the world. Until each of us stops "hogging the road" with his car, stops fighting over the seat on the bus, stops arguing over who is going to cut the grass, there will be no peace in the world. If man wishes peace again, he must return to the great Commandment, "Love thy neighbor as thyself for the love of God."

Green Meadows Family "On Safari" To Holland

By Kathleen B. Dodds GL. 3-3085

taken by the Frank Palmers of S. Main. Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and their four children left last Friday afternoon, returning Sunday, for a weekend in Holland. Although it was a bit chilly, they enjoyed camping on the shores of Lake Michigan at the State Park there. Highlighting their stay was the Festival Parade down Holland's Main Street. The Palmers make their family excursions in a "Safari," which is a custom-built single unit, more or less resembling a motorized house-trailer. A completely furnished unit, it eliminates roadside stops for the children and the need to unpack and repack at the destination. Mrs. Palmer was bubbling with enthusiasm about their travels and with such an ideal arrangement, we can easily see why.

Mrs. Fred Hubbard of S. Main has as her houseguest this week her granddaughter, Miss Shirley Hubbard, 8 years old, from Clarkston, Mich. During her stay they paid a visit to Shirley's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hubbard, in Farmington.

On Mother's Day, Mr. John Johnson of Oakview fell and broke his hip. He is now in St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor and, according to Mrs. Johnson, is coming along as well as can be expected.

Young John McGonagle, aged 7, made his first communion last Sunday at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roger McGonagle of Marlowe entertained relatives for dinner following the ceremony with relatives from Clinton, Manchester, Garden City and Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nowlin of Marlowe became grandparents for the first time on May 21st with the arrival of Deborah Lynn Owens, daughter of Mrs. Barbara Owens. The baby was born in Belleville Hospital and weighed nine pounds, five ounces, and was 22 inches long.

Mrs. Richard Garchow of Elmhurst entertained her card club last Wednesday evening. Eight girls enjoyed an evening of cards, after which refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stobbe of Marlowe had as guests in their home for the Mother's Day weekend her mother, Mrs. Albert Trueman of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs.

Michigan owes part of its reputation as a sportsman's paradise to the fact that it has 11,037 inland lakes, 36,350 miles of streams and 3,121 miles of Great Lakes shoreline.

The rainy weather this week—which has the seeds fairly popping out of the garden—has somewhat curtailed the activities in the neighborhood. High point of this week's news is a trip to Holland, Mich., for the annual Holland Tulip Festival

Grange Gleanings

Our last public supper of the season was well attended and enjoyed by all, and that takes in over 160. After the supper, dancing and cards kept everyone busy until nearly midnight.

The next meeting on June 4 will be the Memorial Service for our members who have passed on during the past year. It is our usual potluck supper night too, so bring your table service and a dish to share and come out.

Mrs. Mary Root is at home again from the hospital and is much better, which is good news to pass on to you.

On Thursday, May 28, a group of parents and children are invited to the Grange Hall for the purpose of organizing a 4-H Club for Plymouth, to be sponsored by the Grange. Children from 10 to 21 are eligible and we hope to have good response.

There will be an ice cream social at the Grange Hall on Friday night of June 19. Cake and ice cream will be served all evening. We anticipate a good crowd and good weather.

Charlie Rienas is still hospitalized and is improving some. Our best wishes go to him for a speedy recovery.

Conservation

LANSING, May 21 — Forest fires burned 280 acres in Michigan during the week ending May 10. Highest damage toll was recorded in the southern lower peninsula where seven fires burned 159 acres. Rain held the fire figure down in the northern lower and upper peninsulas.

To date, 2,368 acres have been burned compared with the 6,996-acre total for this period in 1958.

Approximately 1,277 acres have been damaged above the Straits this year. In the southern lower peninsula, 58 fires have burned some 563 acres. About 526 acres have been damaged in the northern lower peninsula.

Lake Pointers Enjoy Happy Partying

By MARCY BARTSON
GL. 3-6729

"For he's a jolly good fellow . . ." seemed to be the theme song for several gay parties in Lake Pointe the past two weeks. The surprise birthday party celebration at the Jaskierne residence was a happy event for Jess. Many neighbors unexpectedly dropped in to help Jess celebrate his natal day on Saturday, May 16. The list of well-wishing guests included the Cosgroves, Hudsons, Belmores, Ripards, Evanses, Eberlees, Ellisons, Bowmans, Szymskowskis, and the Franz. Jess and his son Dave recently spent the week-end up north at Higgins Lake fishing, and enjoyed the outdoor life. Another impromptu and happy party was held at the Taylors recently. Verne was preparing to leave on a short out of town trip. He decided that this should call for a Bon Voyage or going away celebration — much to the delight of his invited guests. Everyone entered into the mood of a going away party.

and the fun was great, with laughs coming by the barrelful. The fun continued into the wee hours of the morning at which time Evelyn prepared a mouth watering buffet of filling foods and hot coffee. The Taylors were gracious hosts to the Hefields, Mahers, and the Bartsons. Little Susie Bellmore is home recuperating after a short stay in the hospital. We are glad to report that she is doing well after a minor operation. The other day Junior Les Bartson received another award. He wrote a story for the "Pilgrim Prints" (the Plymouth High School paper) on the products of Michigan. All Michigan High School newspapers were eligible to enter a journalistic contest concerning Michigan Week, which was judged by Michigan State University. Les was given an honorable mention for his feature. Last week the sixth graders at the Farrand School went on the camping trip that they had been planning for months. Many mothers from the Village took time out to spend a day at camp and help out with the many chores and duties—one of these to cook the food for all the hungry youngsters. Reports are that everyone had a glorious time. Mildred Lambe and Nora Jaskierne went by doing a day's cooking. Harvey and Ferne Reilich moved into their new home on Oxford just a month ago, having arrived here from Detroit. Harvey met Ferne in Florida while attending college at Tampa. They were married in St. Petersburg and lived there for three years. Both their families still reside in that city. Harvey is with the Chrysler Corporation, and is located at the Highland Park plant. There are two little Reilichs, Kathy, 5, and Dick, 3. Recently Ferne and Kathy took the commuter train into Detroit for a day of shopping. Kathy enjoyed her ride and luncheon at Hudson's Tearoom immensely. Also new to Lake Pointe on Oxford Drive are the Robert McMullins. Beverly McMullin presented her husband Bob and their son David (who is two years old) with a brand new baby just two weeks ago. Bob took a week off from Burroughs to be home with Bev and his new son Bob, Jr. Beverly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Ingley of Detroit have been recent visitors as were Bob's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David McMullin of Caseville, Michigan. Also, Bob's grandmother, Mrs. W. Lowenberger came from Windsor, Canada to see her new great grandson. Chip Ennis is home again after a prolonged stay in the hospital. She is feeling much better and hopes to remain home now.

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor:

As a candidate for the Board of Education in the coming election I would like to congratulate the city commission on their firm and progressive stand regarding the location of our high school.

The commission's action reflects the leadership we need and which we have not been getting from the present school board.

I also feel that the high school should remain where it traditionally has been. The school has always been the center of the community. To move it outside of Plymouth would be both unfair and costly.

A high school located away from the center of population and business and cultural activity would create a number of problems, including these:

1. Sewer and water facilities are not available now and will not be forthcoming in any reasonable time.
2. Police protection does not exist. Schools built in similar isolated areas have required special police forces.
3. Transportation of students to and from school would be both inconvenient, expensive and less safe.
4. Lighting for parking lots is needed at all hours to discourage delinquency and vandalism.
5. High school students driving to school present problems now; these problems would grow in another location.
6. Certain existing facilities such as the swimming pool, athletic fields, etc. would have to be duplicated. Even with this duplication students in the present junior high on Mill St. would remain without these facilities.

The Detroit Citizens Advisory Committee on School Needs, after studying the problems for two years said:

"The school should be more than a place where in daylight hours small fry are taught the Three R's. It should be a pivot around which the community moves as a center of public interest. Children should understand what is going on outside the school and parents should know what is being taught inside."

It is my belief that citizens who want their school for a public meeting after class hours should find a welcome sign on the door.

These things cannot be done if the school is moved. We must keep the high school where it is.

Peter Zylstra, Jr.

Editor:

In a past issue of the Plymouth Mail there appeared an article discussing the proposals of Dr. James B. Conant concerning education in our schools. As a scientist I have been ever interested in the field of science now being taught in our school systems and have endeavored to interest young people and their elders in this vital subject.

This past week it was my pleasure to present the program "Space Days in Plymouth" at our local public library, a display of scientific developments in outer space. I strongly feel that more of our students in high school should be enlightened on the need of science in our changing world.

Perhaps if more students were convinced that their participation in this field is necessary, especially during their high school pursuits, then we would have more of this security for which we all are searching.

Sincerely,
Peter Zylstra, Jr.

(The postmaster has received an unsigned letter which discusses recent awards by the Theater Guild. We can't print it because our policy is to reject letters when the writer does not identify himself. It isn't necessary that the name appear in the paper, but we must have it in our files. This is true of all letters to the editor.)

THE WORLD OUTDOORS

SOME five million outboard boats will be on the nation's waterways this season and about half a million "skippers" will be launching their first boat. And we will begin to see more and more new items about the funerals of those who were foolhardy with their boating fun.

Educational programs and legislation can go just so far in enforcing safety rules and regulations. A few boat owners, out for fun and relaxation, seldom give more than a passing thought to safety until an accident occurs. If they know the rules and regulations governing safe boating, they choose to ignore them on the premise that "it can't happen to me."

Michigan Conservation Department Notes

LANSING, May 21 — In a cooperative effort with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Conservation Department will launch plantings early next month as part of a projected 10-year restoration program for lake trout in the Great Lakes.

Department patrol boats will be used for the actual plantings. Elsewhere, Department workers have planted 15,000 lake trout in Crystal lake of Benzie county and 10,000 in Elk lake of Antrim county. Additional releases will be made in Glenn, Higgins and Torch lakes this fall.

Governing the program is the Great Lakes Fishery Commission which has set an annual planting goal of 7,500,000 yearling lake trout in lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior. These plantings are designed to replenish a trout population which has been greatly reduced by lamprey predation.

Game and Fish Protection money is revenue from hunting and fishing license sales and also represents certain federal allotments. Department administration, law enforcement work of the field administration division and programs of the game and fish divisions are financed through this fund.

Department and Service workers will release some 35,000 lake trout in Lake Michigan June 1-5. The bulk of these plantings will consist of one-year-olds ranging from 3-5 inches.

LANSING, May 21 — Conservation Department workers are in the midst of their annual pheasant crowing count survey. This census provides a reliable basis for predicting the spring breeding population of ringnecks from year to year.

Department biologists run the 20-mile routes in pheasant range during the early morning hours, stopping for two minutes every mile to count pheasant "crows."

LANSING, May 21 — More than 85 Conservation Department employees have received financial help from the Department's emergency loan service during Michigan's current cash crisis.

FUNK'S HYBRID

Approximately $7,600 has been loaned at no interest to employees whose biweekly checks were deferred last week. Some $10,385 was made available through voluntary contributions by those paid from the restricted Game and Fish Protection Fund.

Tips for Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams I went steady with a girl for about a year. Then I got tired of this going-steady business and wanted to date other girls so we broke up. Then a few months later we went back together again. A few weeks later, I dropped her again. I know she must hate me now, because I've hurt her a lot. She won't even speak to me. I would like to go back to her, but I'm really ashamed and don't know how to go about it. What can I do?"

Ans.—Your experience is an example of why so many adults are against the whole going-steady deal for early teens. Boys and girls in the early 'teens — and sometimes in the late 'teens — are not yet ready, mentally, emotionally, and in date-experience to be tied to one date-partner. This just isn't the right time for it. It's the time to know lots of people, date various types and gain a background of social experience for making a marriage partner choice later. Could be, too, that you are the type who always wants what he hasn't got — until he's got it. This girl probably feels that you have changed your mind too many times to try again, but perhaps you can ask her later when she's less angry and hurt.

Q.—"Dear Elinor What should I do about a boy who likes me, but I don't like him? He keeps asking me for dates and calls me up and I don't know what to do. I don't know how to tell him to stop calling me."

Ans.—Refuse all his date invitations... and add that you're going to be busy for a long time. When he calls you just to talk, cut the chatter short because you are "busy." Don't be rude, but be firm and brief and hang up.

Said It Couldn't Be Done
BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Police caught Jack Reynolds, 26, inside a service station where he had taken $59 from a secret hiding place. Reynolds told the officers he decided to rob the station after overhearing a barroom conversation during which one man described a hiding place "burglars would never find."

"Stop calling me 'Honey' — you're confusing these bees I rot in the Want Ads!"

TRAIL A WINDING

BIDDEFORD, Maine (UPI) — Driver Willie Collard left a trail 2,000 feet long when he roared his engine out of the firehouse to fight an automobile fire.

A bump caused 40 sections of hose to unravel along the road as Collard sped on.

Despite a mounting flow of assistance funds from the public purse, agriculture has suffered a marked decrease in economic importance over the past decade by running far behind the growth trend of the general economy in the period.

A dramatic manifestation of farming's decline as an income producer, and hence as a force in economic expansion, appears at the State level in a drastic thinning out of the ranks of the traditional Farm Belt. Figures compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce on personal income and its principal sources show that in 1957 (the latest complete figures available) only 10 states, together representing little more than 7 per cent of the population, had as much as 10 per cent of their income from farming during the year. By contrast, at the turn of the decade in 1950, the personal income figures showed 24 states representing 34 per cent of the U. S. population, with such a ranking in that year.

On a national basis, agriculture contributed only 4 per cent to the country's total personal income in 1957 as compared with 7 per cent in 1950. During the late forties farming was the source of nearly 7 per cent of national personal income. The 1957 ratio is the lowest for which past records are available, even as compared with the proportion in the depressed Thirties.

In this connection, it is significant to note that Federal Government budget expenditures for agriculture and agricultural resources came to just above $2½ billions in the 1950 fiscal year. By the 1957 fiscal period these outlays had risen to more than $4½ billions, and for the current fiscal year, are budgeted at $6½ billions, by far the highest on record and a jump of over $2 billions over the previous year. U. S. Bureau of the Budget figures show that agricultural outlays have been a leading expansive factor over recent years in the big rise in the government's non-defense spending. To this is due much of the Federal establishment's fiscal headaches and budget difficulties in the current fiscal year's prospective deficit of about $13 billions.

WHERE IT GOES
NEW YORK (UPI) — It has been estimated that nearly 40 cents out of every consumer food dollar goes for meat, poultry, fish and eggs. Dairy products, excluding butter, account for about 15 cents, and fresh fruits and vegetables 10 cents. The remainder goes for spices, seasonings, leavening agents and beverages.

2 HEADS SAVE MONEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — The average American couple would spend 69 per cent more if the man of the house shopped alone, according to a consumer study by Pacific Outdoor Advertising Co. On the other hand, the report said, the couple would spend 29 per cent more if the woman did all the shopping alone.

Young Reporters Invited to Enter Competition

Plymouth High and Junior High School newspaper, journalism and English classes have been invited by the Tuberculosis and Health Society to join the annual TB Press Project, a unique program which combines top-quality journalism with health education. Student editors and reporters will write about the problems of health workers in their community and the fight against tuberculosis. The "team effort" of each school — as revealed in its student newspaper — will be judged on a state and national basis for accuracy and general excellence. The Columbia Scholastic Press Association, world's largest high school press group, and the National Tuberculosis Association, as well as the local TB Society, sponsor the project.

To be launched by a special press conference next November, the project will provide a first-hand, do-it-yourself experience for pupils coming face-to-face with the problems of accurate reporting and of public health. They will directly interview health authorities, former TB patients (including some teenagers), and public health workers. The project will include not only straight news stories and interviews, but features, editorials, cartoons and other art work on events and people important to their readers.

London's Trafalgar Square, which corresponds to New York's Times Square, was begun in 1829. But it was not completed until 1867.

ESTHER SPRENGEL GL. 3-0194

Business has really been bad this last week. If it hadn't been for an error in last week's news and an important announcement I'm afraid Canton Township would have to had remained quiet this week. We would like all the news we can gather, but sometimes it's hard to discover where the news is.

Home from the hospital and happy to be there, is Robert Bowman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bowman of Ford Rd. We are glad to see him home again.

Last week while explaining the function of the newly organized Women's Reserve of Boy Scout Troop No. 298, we goofed. We gave Mrs. DeLores Voss a job she wasn't aware she had, and didn't give credit to Mrs. Thelma Ronk, who has the highest of praise from her co-workers in her work as Project Chairman of the Women's Reserve. We're sorry, I guess it was one of our off weeks.

Let's see if we can get this important announcement correct. The Women's Reserve is giving a square dance, Friday June 5, at the Gallimore School on Sheldon Rd. Dancing will begin at 8 p.m. until 11 p.m., with a well known caller putting the dancers through their paces. Refreshments will be on sale for all interested parties. Ticket donations will be 75c per adult and 50c for children. All children must be accompanied by an adult. Members in charge of tickets are: Mrs. Marge White, Mrs. Thelma Ronk, Mrs. Marion Williams and Mrs. Ruth Wiles. The proceeds will aid the scouts of troop No. 298. The ladies also want everyone to keep in mind the strawberry festival on June 25, sponsored by the Canton Community Club, sponsors of Boy Scout troop No. 298.

Because we are in need of some news, the Sprengels might as well get into the act. Kim Sprengel will celebrate his 8th birthday, May 24. Mom and dad hope to surprise Kim with a birthday party, with boys and girls from the neighborhood to help him celebrate. There will be games, prizes and of course food with a birthday cake at the top of the list. The guest list will include Steven and David Lang, Billy, Linda and Jean Plymale, Nancy Spigarelli, Beverly, Robert and Matt Carter and Robert and Gerry St. Louis and of course Kim's brothers Mark and Keith and sister Kathy. On Sunday, May 24, Kim will celebrate with his aunts, uncles, cousins and grandparents. So by the time this article is printed all will be over, but happy birthday, son.

The moms and daughters of the Gallimore School, enjoyed a very successful tea, Tuesday, May 19. The ladies were entertained by a style show, of clothes made by the young ladies or their mothers. The style show was emceed by Mrs. Harold Niemelä of Joy Rd. Following the style show, prizes were awarded the ladies whose names were drawn from a box. The names were deposited by the ladies as they entered the multi-purpose room and each mother and daughter was presented with a pink flower.

The young ladies had the chance of guessing the number of pins in a jar also placed at the door. Following the entertainment the ladies were served cookies and punch and given an opportunity to shop at the jewelry display. The proceeds of 10 per cent from all purchases were to be put into the P.T.A. treasury.

Have all the parents of Gallimore students had the opportunity to meet Mrs. Earl Gibson, principal of Gallimore. Mrs. Hubert is a charming person and an active member of the Plymouth Community School Planning Group. She is replacing Mrs. Jan Mitchell who has retired to await their blessed event. Welcome, Mrs. Hubert and keep us posted "Jan" upon the arrival of the latest Mitchell.

Last year one of your neighbors told me about a very wonderful trading post idea. She said that she liked to trade flowers, bushes, bulbs, etc. that she had an abundance of, for things someone else had to spare from their garden. She said to start a garden was quite an expensive item and through this method of trading, it made gardening fun and less expensive. Although our neighbor is a little col- umn shy, I couldn't help thinking about her trading idea as I painfully try to gather specimens for my garden. Does it give anyone else some ideas, let me know, Who knows, maybe we will turn into a trading post, you remember ideas. If you don't, decide to help me out, don't get discouraged if I don't answer the phone right away, let it ring a bit, or try jumping about in it, but will take time to incubate. So until something hatches, how few flowers that managed to get through. If there's news you'll hear about it next time, did you know, or do well, you can put yourself behind the wheel of a '59 Rocket Engine Oldsmobile—at less cost than you'd probably guess! (Surveys show that many people think an Olds costs more than it actually does.) Your local Oldsmobile quality dealer can tell you exactly how easy it will be for you to make your move. And he's looking for a great many trade-ins to take care of used car buyers headed his way this Spring. That makes right now the right time to trade your present car in for a '59 Oldsmobile! Take a demonstration drive in a '59 Rocket... then ask yourself, wouldn't you rather drive a new Oldsmobile... especially now that Spring is here!

Don't Expect Social Security Checks Until Steps Are Taken

No social security payments can be made unless a claim is filed, and no claim can be approved without certain evidence required by the law.

Your timely action in getting your proofs ready ahead of time and bringing them with you when you come in to file can greatly speed up that important first payment," suggested Harry Baltuck, manager of the Detroit-Northwest social security district office. Baltuck reports that the promptest payments go to those persons who know when to apply and what proofs will be needed.

Every claimant for monthly benefits must usually prove age or date of birth. A birth certificate is best (not a delayed birth certificate, however) but many other items will do. As any formal document or record at least ten years old can be considered, many have a church, school, employment, or hospital record, an old insurance policy, or the entry by some older relative in a family Bible.

Those claiming as a dependent or surviving spouse must prove marriage, for which a certificate from the public record is usually best because it also gives the age and parentage of the bride and groom. For children of a retired or deceased insured worker, a birth certificate is necessary to show relationship as well as age, although for an adopted child the court decree is used instead.

Evidence of recent earnings is needed to establish the correct benefit rate, and sometimes to prove that there were enough earnings credits to qualify. The latest withholding statement (Form W-2 for 1958) is best for employees. The self-employed should always bring full and exact copies of their income tax returns for the last two years, including the Schedule C or F which shows their self-employment income, and the cancelled check, money order stub, or bank receipt which shows they paid the tax.

For quickest payment, get in touch with your Detroit-Northwest social security office about a month ahead of time, and bring your proofs of age, earnings and relationship. The Detroit-Northwest office is located at 18260 Grand River, Detroit 23, Michigan. Regular service is scheduled at the Michigan Employment Security Commission Office, 987 Lilley Road, Plymouth, on the second and fourth Tuesday of every month between 1 and 4
