Writer Joins German Family For Summer

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The Plymouth Mail's high school editor, Gloria Bowles, has arrived in Europe to spend the summer with a German family. The program is sponsored by the Michigan and Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches. This is the first in a series of stories in which she will describe her experiences. Gloria is the daughter of Judge and Mrs. George Bowles, 11749 Turkey Run.)

By GLORIA BOWLES

Rain, rain go away
Come again some other day.
The silver rain slanted down upon the narrow cobblestone streets... people hurried to and fro, running in and out of the tiny shops lining the streets of Amsterdam. On their first day in Europe, a group of Michigan exchange students window-shopped—the strange language they spoke attracted interested Dutch glances; only one resentful hoot of "hello, Amerikaner."

The Flying Tiger airliner with 89 Michigan high school juniors and seniors aboard left Wayne Major airport on Monday, June 29, 17 minutes past the scheduled 11 a.m. flying time. The majority of the group was going to live with families in Germany; several were traveling to Plymouth Township's sanitary sewer is being pushed along on schedule by two crews of workmen on Ann Arbor Rd. and Joy Rd.

The project engineer, Herald Hamill, said this week that work on the $578,900 project is progressing satisfactorily.

Ground was broken early in March at the point in Middle Rouge Park where the sanitary sewer will enter the Middle Rouge Interceptor sewer. This is near the west bank of Newburg Lake.

The sewer line then was laid south and slightly westward past the eastern edge of Robinson Subdivision and is now at Ann Arbor Rd. and Haggerty. This line will then go westward along Ann Arbor Rd. to near the Township Hall where it will cut southward. Midway between Ann Arbor Rd. and Joy Rd., it will be laid to the west.

Another crew is working along Joy Rd. near Rocker where a pumping station is located. Hamill said that the D'Angela Construction firm has a 365-day completion clause in the contract but it is believed that most of the sewer will be completed by fall and all of it by Jan. 1.

No homes or buildings are hooked onto the sewer as yet. The hardest part of the work is past, Hamill declared. Cuts through loose sand up to 26 feet deep were made near the source of the sewer.

Township Alarms Keep Firemen On the Run

Seven fire alarms within the past seven days have kept Plymouth Township firemen on the run. Two of the blazes were at the Barnes-Gibson-Raymond plant on Plymouth Rd.

The fire reports read like this:

July 8, a grass fire behind Evans Products plant.

July 11, a metal exhaust stack over an oil dip tank at B-G-R became overheated and started burning around the roof. The stack will be replaced.

July 12, a grass fire on N. Territorial Rd.

July 12, a grass fire on Rocker St.

July 12, a grass fire at Northville Rd. and Hines Drive which was answered by both city and township firemen. Caused by careless smoking.

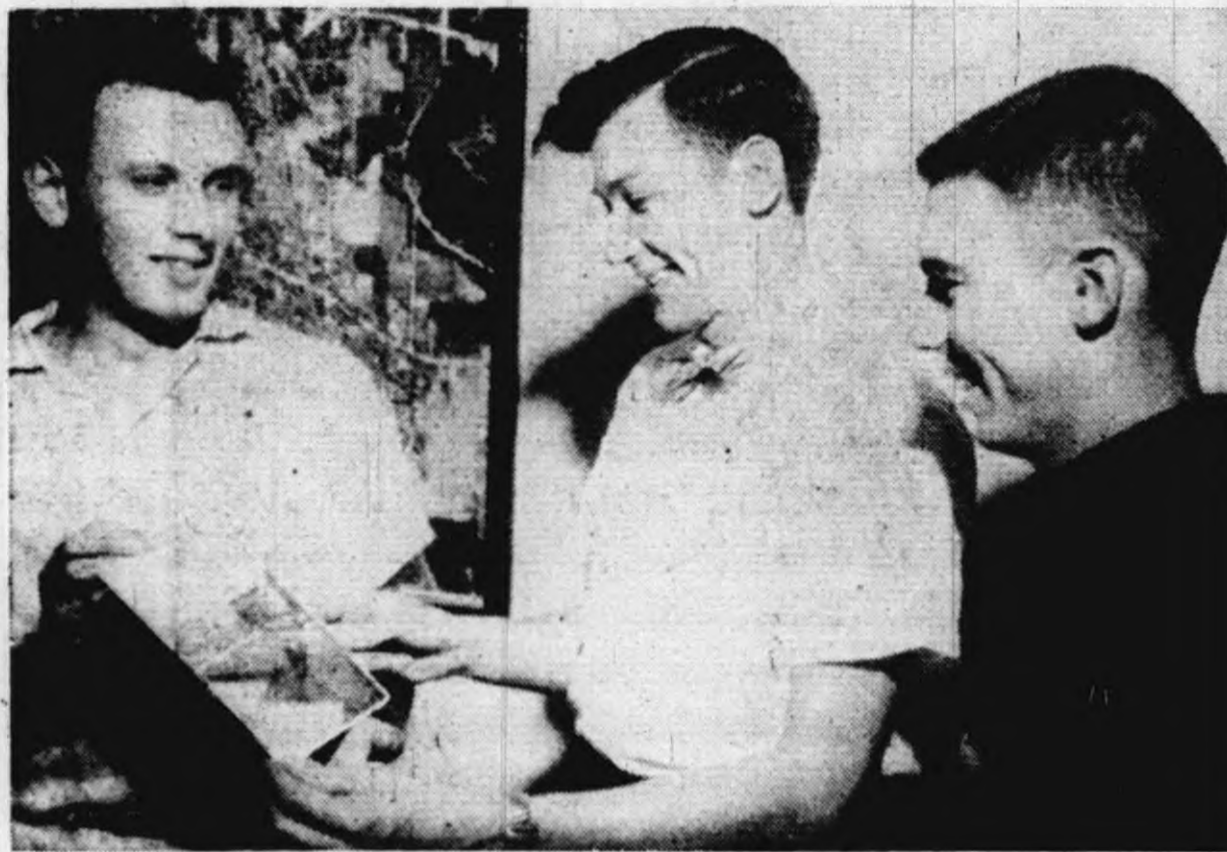

July 13, another exhaust stack at B-G-R became overheated and caused damage around the roof. This one was in the paint room.

Zoning Change For Industry Introduced

City commissioners have given first reading to a change in the zoning ordinance that would put some 36 acres of newly annexed land along Plymouth road into the light manufacturing classification.

The property is that between Riverside Cemetery and Plymouth Rd., opposite Burroughs Corp. It was annexed from Plymouth Township to the city by resolution of the city commission last May.

Of the 36 acres, 12 acres have already been purchased by the Wheel Tracing Tool Co. of Detroit for location of a 40,000 square foot building. Commissioners approved this purchase in June. The remainder of the acreage is still for sale.

A CITIZEN OF Plymouth, England was in Plymouth, Mich. last week to take a look at what another Plymouth looks like. He was John Williams, left, who was an exchange student at Cooley

High School in Detroit this past year. He is showing City Administrative Assistant John Deppen, center, and Brent Polk, a Cooley graduate, some pictures of his Plymouth.

Board Asks Price On City Property

An attempt by the Plymouth city commission to find out just how seriously the board of education is interested in city-owned property for the expansion of the high school was made Monday night in a meeting between the two groups. And it appears that the board is interested enough for the commission to put a price tag on the property.

Former Phone Building Sold For Offices

Remodeling of the former Michigan Bell Telephone equipment building on Ann Arbor Trail for use as a professional office building has been started.

Attorney Earl J. Demel has purchased the structure from Michigan Bell and will become its first tenant.

The building, constructed by Michigan Bell in 1926, is across from Kellogg Park. It was vacated a year ago when a new equipment building was constructed by Michigan Bell on Ann Arbor Rd. It has remained empty since.

Demel announced this week that use of the building will be limited to professional offices such as doctors, attorneys, accountants and brokers. Remodeling will be completed to fit the space needs of new tenants as they sign up.

The two-story structure contains over 8,000 square feet. Narrower in the rear than in the front, Demel expects to widen the back portion, add air conditioning and an elevator.

Colonial touches will be added to the front of the building and it will be called "Colonial Professional Bldg." Demel expects to move into his own office in a month.

Hate to Mention It, But City Tax Bills Are Now Being Readied

City property owners, given a short reprieve from their annual tax bills, can expect them sometime this month, City Treasurer-Assessor Kenneth Way said this week.

The city commission has ordered the County Bureau of Taxation to start processing the bills.

Tax bills are normally in the mail to city real estate and personal property owners by July 1, but there were four appeals on assessments that were carried to the State Tax Commission which held up the issuing of the bills. The appeals are still pending.

City commissioners first had to give assurance to those appealing their assessments that they would be given a refund if they should win their appeals. This assurance has now officially been given and the tax bills can now be issued.

The Wayne County Bureau of Taxation performs the job of printing the city's tax bills. Way said that he has not been given a definite date when the bills will be delivered to him, but he expects them yet this month.

Way added that the Bureau of Taxation is now short handed because it is re-assessing all property in neighboring Livonia. Plymouth was re-assessed two years ago. The city commission has approved the state equalized rate this year of $12.21 per $1,000 of valuation. To figure out one's own tax bill, however, he must use the "multiplier" figure of $14.70 per $1,000. The equalized assessment is $30,537,237.

$945 Worth Of Cameras and Equipment Taken

Cameras and equipment worth $945 have been stolen during the past few weeks from the Photographic Center on Ann Arbor Trail with most of it disappearing sometime last weekend, police reports indicated this week.

Taken from a showcase sometime between last Saturday afternoon and Monday afternoon were two Leica cameras valued at $270 and $216, and other accessories and light meters worth another $294.

A week and a half earlier, the camera store reported that an 8mm Bolex movie camera worth $165 had been stolen from a window display. It is believed that the thefts took place while the store was open.

Demel announced this week that use of the building will be limited to professional offices such as doctors, attorneys, accountants and brokers. Remodeling will be completed to fit the space needs of new tenants as they sign up.

The two-story structure contains over 8,000 square feet. Narrower in the rear than in the front, Demel expects to widen the back portion, add air conditioning and an elevator.

Colonial touches will be added to the front of the building and it will be called "Colonial Professional Bldg." Demel expects to move into his own office in a month.

Check This Issue For July Sale Bargains

Dollar-wise shoppers seeking the best values for their money will be out in droves starting today as Plymouth merchants open their annual July Clearance Sales.

The big sale opens at 9 a.m. today (Thursday) and will end Saturday, Aug. 1. Most Plymouth merchants will be participating.

To kick off the Clearance Sales, many of the merchants will be open tonight as well as the usual Friday night hours.

The July Clearance Sale is one of the popular sales events of the year staged cooperatively by local merchants. Many of the specially priced items can be found in advertisements throughout this issue and in a Clearance Sale section.

NEWS BEAT

Never underestimate the ingenuity of today's young folks, one snack shop operator warns this week... A Plymouth Mail reporter was on hand last week when a boy around six years and a girl about four entered Jack's Burgers and ordered a glass of ice water. The waitress obliged... The two pulled out a package of lime Fizzies, dropped a pellet in each glass, added some borrowed sugar and stirred their self-concocted drinks with borrowed straws.

COMING & GOING: A new type of business in a new building, Breneman Toys, opened its doors on Ann Arbor Trail this week... Demolition of one of two houses to make way for a new Beyer Rexall Drug store has begun at Main and Mill St. The Spring St. store will be moved to the Travel Centre, located on the Hotel Mayflower corner since its start, will move to a home converted for commercial use on S. Main St. Not all good news, however: Forest

CRIME REPORT: Detective Harvey Auer of the Road Patrol reports no new leads in the $8,000 hold-up on July 6 at the Thunderbird Inn. Employees involved in the early morning robbery have been cleared of any suspicion following lie detector tests. Auer said.

BUSMAN'S HOLIDAY: Township Fire Captain "Barney" Maas and volunteer Ron Pagenkopf were camping with their wives in Yankee Springs State Park near Hastings when a fire broke out at midnight at a nearby tavern... The firemen unsuccessfully tried to get patrons out of the place, then got a garden hose. Maas stuck the hose through a burned hole in the roof and kept the fire under control until firemen arrived 15 minutes later from 10 miles away.

Gloria Bowles 'Adopted' in Germany

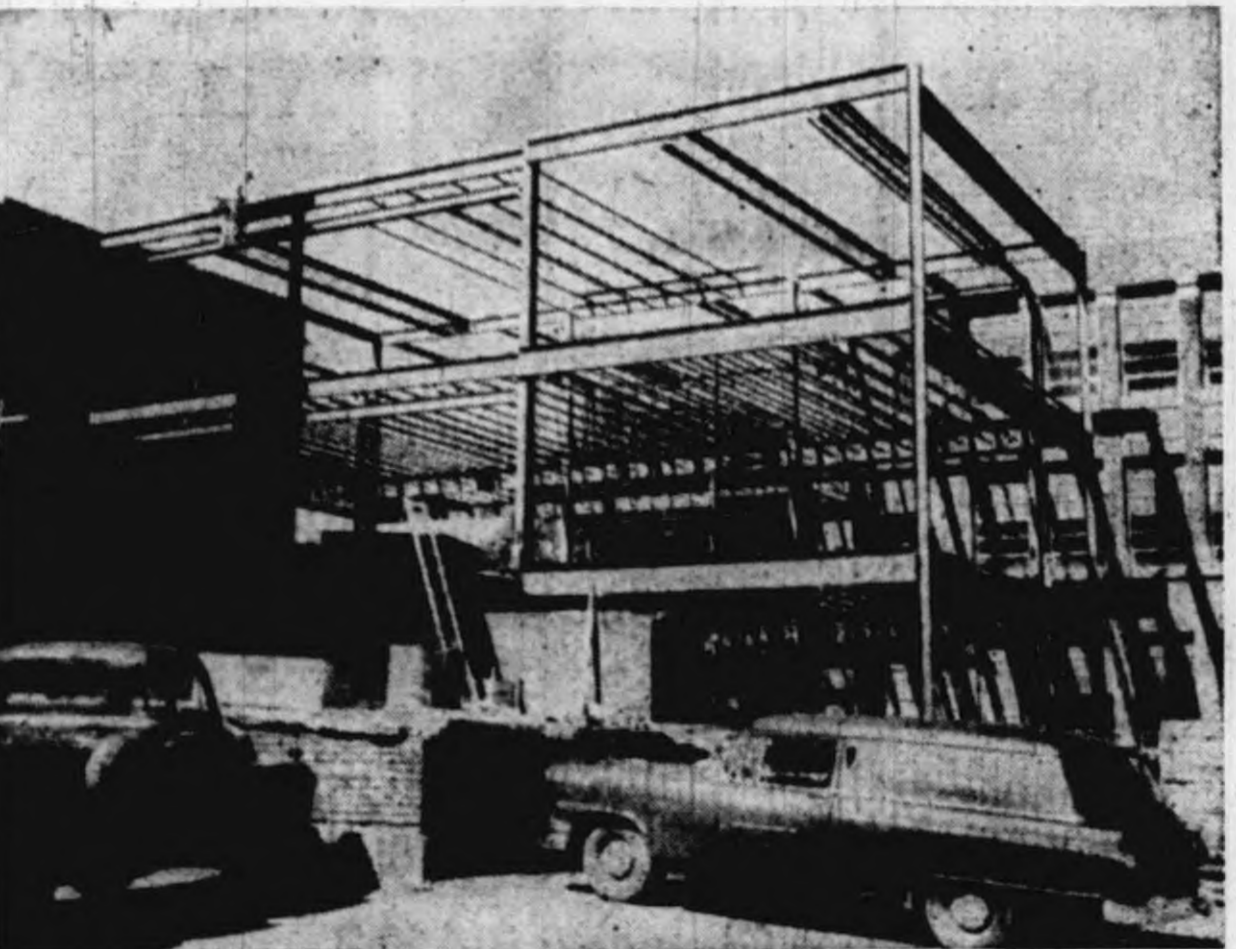

Holland; there were five students aboard who were returning to their homes in Europe after spending a year in Michigan.

The 24-hour flight was tiring... the well-rested slept an hour. It was fun... a rousing song-fest at night... a little strange... breakfast at 1:30 a.m.

The liner landed in drenched Amsterdam about 9 on Tuesday morning, when exchange students boarded buses to take them from the outskirts of Amsterdam to the Hotel Fleissig in the city for a one-night stay.

Michigan teens were fascinated by the sights, Dam Square among them... Dutch currency, the gulden, which found students completely unaware of their value, provoked some curiosity as to whether they had been cheated in making purchases... the blond sweetness of the darling Dutch children... and traffic! Cars, bikes, motorcycles, horses, trucks all scurry down the narrow streets. It takes coordination and a little luck for a pedestrian to cross safely!

At 5:45 on Wednesday morning, July 1, this writer was awakened: at 7:21 a train carrying about 15 of the 90 exchange students left Amsterdam for villages in southern Germany. Students

SKELETON of a $178,000 project at Plymouth High School is now erected between the main building and annex. The project contains a stair enclosure and five classrooms. The enclosure is one of many requests made by the fire marshal for improvement of fire hazards. While digging the foundation for the project, remains of the old high school that burned in 1916 were found.

Additions Cost More Than Original Building

High School of Past Uncovered

As a bulldozer started excavating recently for a $177,000 addition being built onto Plymouth High School, the ground suddenly gave way and it plunged into a hole so big that it was unable to get out by itself.

The hole, it was later discovered, was the remnant of the original high school that had been leveled by flames on March 30, 1916.

In the fall of 1917, the present high school opened its doors. During a public formal opening of the new building, the school board president admitted that the school "had cost a lot of money," but he pointed out that building material "is costing more than ever."

How much did the original high school cost 42 years ago? Exactly $111,839—or 60 percent less than the five classrooms and stair enclosure now being constructed.

The bit of history is especially interesting in light of present discussions of whether to spend several million dollars for a new high school two floors for two classrooms on each level. When the bulldozer plunged into the hole, workers found many indications of the old school. They pulled out truckloads of concrete, old wood flooring and even a large bone that probably belonged to a horse.

It is believed that when work on the new school was started in August 1916, debris from the fire was shoveled into the hole and loads of concrete poured over it.

Not since the fire of 1893 when downtown Plymouth burned had the community seen such a blaze as was discovered in the high school at 4 a.m. on Thursday, March 30, 1916. The building was destroyed along with the Methodist Episcopal Church next door.

Roofs of several homes in the area caught fire but the sparks that jumped into the steeple of the neat, white Methodist Church were not easily checked. Lack of water pressure finally made the fire-fighting job hopeless. The fire, disastrous as it was, actually cost little when figured in modern-day dollars. Losses of the two buildings was estimated at $65,000. Both were partially covered by insurance. Origin of the fire remained a mystery, although many believed it was the work of an arsonist. Others thought it started in the chemistry laboratory caused by some type of chemical combination. For the remainder of that school year and during the entire 1916-1917 school year, classes were held in a junior high.

Fire Levelled Old High School

Monday night's discussion was frank, but not hostile. Many of those on the commission and school board are good friends and even neighbors. The commission didn't come prepared to actually quote a price on its land. Instead, commissioners wanted to find out how genuinely interested the board is in keeping the high school where it is before making an offer.

Mayor Harold Guenther did most of the talking for the commission while much of the board's speaking was done by Harold Fischer. Board President Esther Hulsing and several other members pointed out repeatedly that the board cannot promise that it will keep the high school where it is until it finds out how wise it is financially and educationally. The plan is to increase facilities to accommodate 1,800 pupils. The present building is at capacity with 1,240. If the new high school is built, the old will be converted to a junior high.

Vacation Doings Of Green Meadows Residents

By Kathleen B. Dodds
GL. 3-3085

Mrs. William Fox of North-son returned home a week ago Saturday from the hospital following an emergency appendectomy, much recovered. She asked us to pass along to all her wonderful friends and neighbors her thanks for their many kind acts while she was in the hospital. It's so hard to rush off unexpectedly and leave a family—and Mrs. Fox's neighbors helped everything go smoothly during her absence. Mrs. Fox said she had no sooner arrived home than
Mr. Fox's mother, Mrs.
Eula Fox, called from Marion, Mich., to say that his sister had been taken that (Saturday) evening to Cadillac Mercy Hospital with a "life or death" emergency appendectomy. So the Fox's left Sunday for Marion where they stayed for a week with his mother. While there, Mr. and Mrs. Fox celebrated their 16th wedding anniversary with a Fourth of July picnic at Stone Ledge Lake.

The children went swimming and while fishing, Mr. Fox and daughter Pat caught two big pike along with some smaller panfish. On Thursday, the family was joined at Marion by Mrs. Fox's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Melvir Clement and two boys from Ann Arbor. They stayed over the Fourth at the Fox's cabin on Highway 115 near Cadillac.
Roberta Fox, daughter of the William Fox's, is enjoying a week's stay this week at the Fa-Ho-La Bible Camp near Chelsea.
The home of Mr. and Mrs.
Lewis Foster on Northern was the scene on the Fourth of a family get-together. Enjoying a picnic outdoors under the trees were Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hockenberry and son Johnny from Rogers, Ark.; Mrs. Mabel Kelly and son Jimmy from Lawrenceville, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs.

Thomas Daugherty and Christine; Alice and Tommy,
Jr., from Rogers; Mrs.
Helmer, and Mr. Albert
Ackman, of Plymouth; Mr.
Paul Hockenberry of Rogers; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foster and Chris, Pat, Cindy and Colleen of Northern; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster, Sr., of Northern; Pauline Sims and son Wesley of Northern; Mrs. Madeline Brodie and daughter Gayle of Adams St.
St.; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ackman and Tommy, Donald, Phyllis, Paul and Steven of Oakview; and Mr. and Mrs.
Fred Daniels and Linda, Nancy, Arthur and Diana of Plymouth. Occasion for the picnic was to celebrate the arrival here of the relatives from Rogers, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ackman from Hammond, Ind., were visiting last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ackman of Oakview, his brother, and with Mrs. Madeline Brodie of Adams St.
Mr. and Mrs. Homer Cruce and children Terry, Damon and Phillip, of Elmhurst, returned home last week from a two-week trip to Union City, Tenn., where they visited friends and relatives. Accompanying the family was Mrs. Elsie Griffin.
Miss Rose Vormelker of Cleveland was a guest for dinner Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Depew on S. Main. Miss Vormelker, who is currently engaged in organizing libraries for the newspapers in Cleveland, is teaching a summer school course in Library Science at the University of Michigan. The Depew's get to see her only once a year, so this was the occasion for a good chat.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Green of Ball spent the weekend of the Fourth at their cottage at Rifle Lake near Rose City, Mich. Mrs.
Ball said that because it's a new cottage, they spent much of their time working on it.
Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor of Dearborn with son Mike spent the Fourth of July weekend with their son,
Mr. and Mrs. John O'Connor and son Cliff of Ball, at the junior O'Connor's cottage on Maxfield Lake near Milford.
Joining the O'Connors for the Fourth were Mr. and Mrs.
Alex Tarbet and Laurie of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs.

Little Room Left in High School, Principals Tell School Board

A look at Plymouth High school curriculum and some costly news about the high school's electrical system were two of the time-consuming items on Monday night's board of education agenda.
Following a request from the board last week, High School Principal Carvel Bentley and the assistant principal in charge of counseling, Robert Smith, appeared to give details of how classrooms will be used in the school and how badly crowded the building really is.
The request was suggested last week by two of the new board members, Harold Niemi and Peter Zylstra. The study is part of the board's consideration of the question of building a new high school versus enlarging the present one.
Bentley and Smith presented a chart showing the square footage of each classroom and how many pupils are in the room at each hour.
The chart showed that there will be few hours in which classrooms will be without students. The principal reported that during the past year there were three teachers without rooms of their own. They "floated" throughout the building using empty classrooms.
"This is not good," Bentley commented, "because pupils do not know where to find the teacher for consultation, the teacher has to carry all her or his materials from one room to another, and it is difficult to hire teachers who learn that they will not have a classroom."
"This year," the principal added, "there will not be this situation because four new classrooms are being added to the school. This year's overcrowding situation is also being helped because 150 members of the freshman class will be put in the Junior High."
Attempting to determine what the curriculum of the high school will be in the future is difficult to determine, the board decided. Bentley said that Dearborn sent 30 teachers to the University of Chicago to study curriculum before Edsel Ford High school was built. Since then changes have been made.
Board Treasurer Charles Zoet pointed out that curriculum is an ever-changing thing and holding up expan-

tion of high school facilities would be a needless delay.
Courses once offered at Plymouth High but now deleted were agriculture, orchestra, auto mechanics, dramatics, advanced speech and general music. The principal said that a course in gasoline engine (power mechanics) should be again offered and that orchestra is expected to someday return.
The report of the principal and assistant also ask that a classroom be provided for special education (mentally retarded), special teachers for the 10 percent who have a low mental capacity, additional space for guidance work, develop a science course for the average or below average student, and perhaps offer German.
The report also offered suggestion to delete several courses.
The board will continue its study at the next meeting.

Actually, one whole section of the electrical equipment is in poor shape, the architect reported, and would cost some $4,000 to replace. The board, faced with the decision of replacing the entire thing or just one box, postponed the decision for another week until investigation takes place.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scruggs and son Steven of Sheldon returned last Saturday from a week's trip to Florida. The family drove down and back, spending their time in Florida visiting relatives in and around Sarasota. They visited his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Hill, his aunt, Miss Mary Hill,
both formerly of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Delton Hill. High points of their stay were visits to Cypress Gardens, the Bok Tower, the phosphate mines, and going swimming in the Gulf, which Mrs. Scruggs said was really wonderful, with the breakers coming in right over their heads.
The World War I Veterans, Barracks 267 and Auxiliary, held their annual potluck picnic last Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Carlson in Northville. Joining in the festivities were Mrs.
Pauline Sims and son Wesley of Northern, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Brown, formerly of Plymouth and now of St.
Petersburg, Fla., stopped in at the picnic to say hello to their friends.
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster, Sr., of Ann Arbor Rd., and grandson Wesley Sims, son of Mrs. Pauline Sims of Northern, were vacationing last week in Indiana and Illinois. Mr. Foster was visiting his brother in Vincennes, Indiana, and also visited friends in the area.
Dr. Leo Speer of S. Main attended the National Chiropractic Convention in Chi-ago last week. And while her husband was gone, Mrs.

Speer and her sons Louis Allen and Bert visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Pruess in Detroit. The week's visit was virtually a vacation for Mrs. Speer and while there, she visited some former friends in the Eastside area.
Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Lee and four children of Brookline spent the Fourth of July weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ora Glass and three children of Holbrook.
Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wallace and son of Plymouth, a sister, Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Mc-Turner and family of Canton Township visiting another sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Larick at their cottage in the Irish Hills. The Lees have a new boat and the children enjoyed water-skiing. Mrs.
Lee said her boys are quite good at the sport. Mrs. Lee also said that, as she is recuperating from minor surgery, it was a quiet week-end for her.
Mr. and Mrs. Chester
Macer of Marlowe, her parents Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith of Wayne, and a brother, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith and family of Rogers, Ark., spent the Fourth with a sister, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Witt at their home in Fowlerville. The whole family enjoyed a picnic dinner outdoors, which was partly in celebration of the Witt's daughter Charlotte's 15th birthday.
Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dodds and daughters of Elm-hurst, with her brother, Tom Blossom of Adams St., and sister-in-law, Mrs. Bill Bloxsom of Livonia, spent Saturday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs.
John M. Blossom of N. Territorial Rd., to celebrate Mr.
Blossom's birthday.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Prom of Sheldon Road entertained 23 relatives on the Fourth of July with a family picnic on the lawn. Guests were Mr. Peter Prom of Lakeland, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Merksom and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cooper and son of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs.
Robert Dunham, Mr. Delos Dunham of Pontiac; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Trinkans of Northville, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Robinson, daughter and son of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs.
Robert Todd, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Robinson and Mrs. Margaret Gates and Mr. Warren Stevens all of Plymouth.

GARDEN NOTES

Fungus still seems to be very prevalent on blue grass lawns. Some lawns are damaged beyond immediate repair and will need re-seeding this fall. Others can be treated with a fungicide and fed heavily and probably will make a good recovery. IMPORTANT — avoid sprinkling in the evening.

Prune old blooms off roses to induce more profuse blooming. Cut back to new buds (if visible) or to first complete "5" leaf.

Lawns that were seeded this spring cannot be treated with 2-4D weed killers without damage to the new grass. Crabgrass killers are not recommended for first year lawns.

Stop in for additional aid and information.

Colony Concert Performances Show Off Artistry

Nothing but perfection would describe the concert of the Plymouth String Orchestra under Wayne Dunlap Sunday evening, July 12, as the Orchestra presented its final concert commemorating the 200th anniversary of the death of George Handel.

Handel's music, as decorative, springy and active as it is, presents formidable problems to musicians. It takes a great deal of musical knowledge to present so much as one phrase, much less an entire concert. Because the melodic line and harmonies are so easy to understand, it doesn't follow that it is easy music to play. And while Handel's music is generally "happy," any nuances in meaning and tone must come through tempo, phrasing and instrumental voicing.

Wayne Dunlap led the orchestra first in a Suite for Strings from the opera "Serse." It's a little-performed opera, but the music is familiar to anyone with a radio. It was played lovingly.

Mrs. Joyce Beglarian was the soloist in the second number, "Concerto Grosso in F major, Op. 4, No. 6 for Harpsichord and Strings." This particular work has many solo passages in it demanding great artistry of the soloist. Mrs. Beglarian was brilliant. In a work of this nature, when the soloist does so much of the work, the orchestra has to exhibit a high degree of discipline to keep from spoiling the solo. This our orchestra displayed marvelously.

Before the intermission, the Orchestra played another Concerto, this time featuring the regular first chair string members: Emily Mutter Adams, Nathalie Dale and Douglas Marsh. This work was rather more complicated than the others, and longer, which showed Handel at his Baroque best: liltily gay, sonorously mellow, waltzingly moving. Not only were the soloists marvelous, the orchestra again displayed its devotion to the baton and to the music admirably.

The audience this year has been particularly fortunate in hearing two outstanding vocalists at the first concert. Mr. Robert Kerns, and at the second, Miss Virginia Persons. (It was the opinion of this reviewer that we'd have to go some to equal or better Mr. Kerns, and by golly we did it.) Miss Persons is a rare thing in a soprano: smooth, full, musically very competent and physically a joy to look at. She was all an angel should be here on earth. Her technique is flawless, her styling complimentary and her emotions well-controlled. In short, this number was perfection too.

Sad to say, the final number of the concert was marred for this year by the steady departure of many of the audience members. It seemed that everything was perfect: the weather cool and not windy, the orchestra brilliant and the parking lot relatively uncrowded. Why do the people have to display their lack of understanding for others?

Even with a soft breeze abating the sound distortion, there is still a vast difference in volume between the front of the hill and the back. It's to the credit of people with youngsters that they do sit near the back so as not to disturb the bulk of the audience. But do they have to pay such a high price? Is there someone in Plymouth that has a sufficient audio training to help the orchestra out of this problem? Then we'd truly have "Good Music For Everyone."

Family Reunion
The 42nd annual Bassett reunion was held Sunday, July 12, in Riverside Park. There were 75 present coming from LaPorte, Indiana, Howell, Novi, Livonia, Wayne, Lincoln Park and Plymouth. A potluck dinner was served at 10 o'clock and the afternoon was spent visiting, a softball game, and races for the little ones. Supper adjourned the activities for the day.

Need Car Wash? Teen Will Do It

A car wash on Saturday, July 25 will be the next project of the Our Lady of Good Counsel Teen Club members. It will be held in the church parking lot from one until 5:30. If a clean car, both inside and out is desired, here is the place to go. A trip to Bob-Lo on July 28 is also in store for members. They will "set sail" on the 10 o'clock boat from Detroit. Activities in recent weeks have included the preparation of a float for the July 4 parade; a trip through Jackson Prison; an outing at Portage Lake; a dance; and a scavenger hunt.

The CITY MANAGER'S CORNER
By Al Glassford

Our City Hall has that new look! The past several weeks were filled with the activity of plasterers, plumbers, painters and decorators as they worked at beautifying and remodeling our city hall. The new look is apparent even before one enters the building at 167 S. Main Street.

For example, have you noticed that the flagpole at the entrance to the City Hall has been painted and that a new flag cord has been installed? Or, have you noticed how the geraniums and the white petunias planted around the city hall and in the flower box along the sidewalk leading up to the front door lend a pleasant atmosphere to the surroundings of our municipal building? And, did you notice that on the Fourth of July, the new 49 star American flag was flying from our flag pole for the first time?

Other changes have been made, too. Once we have gone through the front doors of the City Hall, the new look is even more apparent. The entire building is brighter and more cheerful. A few weeks ago, the painters completed painting most of the offices, hallways and stairwells. Included in this painting project was the main hallway on the first floor, the manager's office, the manager's secretary's office and the treasurer's office.

The switchboard room, the police rooms and the hallway leading to the rear of the building were also painted. The first floor was not the only place that was done over, for the stairway leading to the second floor, the hallway leading to the Assessor's office, the court clerk's office, the accounting room and the commission room were painted, as well.

The colors that were selected are pastels, in light shades of yellow, green, blue and tan. To add to the brightness and cheerfulness of the offices and hallways, the ceilings have been painted white. This helps to reflect more light and to make the entire building more pleasant.

Our building beautification program was not limited to painting, for new drapes were placed in the commis-

Michigan Chorale In Ireland

Names in and around Belfast — Bangor, Nutt's Corner, Ulster, County Down, Coleraine, and Ballymena — formed the background for a new atmosphere and experience for Sally Sawyer from Plymouth along with 100 teen-agers from southern Michigan, as they spent a recent "Portnit" in northern Ireland. Staying in private homes (usually built attached to one another in long rows), they sipped tea, spent their shillings, rode in tiny cars on the "wrong" side of traffic, and learned new expressions and folk stories of the fabled land of the wee people.

In Ireland on the initial part of the teen-age program sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches, these young singers, conducted by Lester McCoy, provided concerts for the benefit of the British Leprosy Relief Association, and the National Fund for Polio Research. The first of these events, held in Ulster Hall, drew a large and appreciative crowd, which included the Governor of Northern Ireland and the Honorable Lord Wakehurst. Other local notables — the Lord Mayor of Belfast, and Bangor's Deputy Mayor, welcomed the chorale to their respective cities. The American Consul General in Belfast, Mr. N. Lancaster, was on hand. The Mayor of Coleraine presented a plaque bearing the borough's coat-of-arms to the chorale before their concert in that city. Souvenir gifts of embroidered Irish linen handkerchiefs were presented to each member of the chorale by members of the Ulster Girls' Choir who toured America recently. Gracious hosts took them on sightseeing excursions, acquainting them with the picturesque hedge lined shamrock countryside, the mountains of Mourne, and Tyrella Beach. A special tour was made of Bangor Castle and Gardens, learning about its fascinating history, and exploring among the exhibits. Next stop in their twelve city goodwill concert tour will be Keswick in Cumberland, England, then on to Royal Tunbridge Wells, in Kent, near London, before moving on to the continent of Europe.

To The Editor

Editor:
Do I hear you protesting against the digging of oil or gas wells in our Public Park System in Plymouth? Who is doing it? Who gave them permission? The State or County?
It was certainly kept very quiet. Of course we all know some one at Lansing gave them the right to do it, but who is going to benefit by it?
No one has the right to use our public parks and lakes for private gain and if the answer is the state will benefit by it from the revenue, we must be poor indeed when we allow our beautiful parks to be destroyed for the benefit of a few.
It is wrong and should be stopped.

PLYMOUTH

From BILL DUNN, Manager

This month I would like to introduce you to Mrs. June Murphy as our Service Representative of the month. Mrs. Murphy transferred to our Plymouth Office from Atlanta, Georgia six months ago and has nearly 13 years of Bell System service. She enjoys golf, bridge, and swimming during her off-time hours and does a wonderful job assisting our callers during the day.

OUTDOOR TELEPHONE BOOTHS are really handy to have around—so much so, in fact, that a vacationer was found living in one in the resort town of Carolina Beach, N. C. He had set up housekeeping with an old broom, a small oil stove, a frying pan, cooking oil, eggs and cheese. There seems to be no limit to the convenience of these outdoor booths. But at the request of those who were waiting to make a call, our friend was encouraged to do his homesteading elsewhere. Folks in Michigan, incidentally, are never far from a public telephone. Michigan Bell has over 4,000 outdoor booths conveniently located along the state's highways and byways.

SONG WRITERS have been inspired by the telephone ever since 1877, just a year after its invention by Bell. That's when two marches, a polka and a solemn piece called "The Wondrous Telephone" were published. More than 70 song titles have appeared since then, many of them using the rhyme of "alone" and "phone" or "telephone." Now a new Columbia record album with songs by Polly Bergen is available. It carries the over-all title of Irving Berlin's 1924 hit, "All Alone by the Telephone"—something you needn't be any more with friends and family just a quick call away.

That's a Chevy with Positraction!

That 3134 Fleetside has the sure-footed ways of a big western bobcat. Roams through high brush country that would buck the life out of most trucks. Crosses streams without benefit of a bridge. Climbs talus grades where pinnon won't even grow. But that's all routine for this Chevy, equipped with Positraction® rear axle. It's hard at it every day for the Utah Fish and Game commission. Figure about 60,000 miles of mountaineering before this Chevy is traded. And yet the district officer who drives it would bet his badge the tie rods won't even need replacing! Out in that wild, climbing Utah country, Chevy's suspension and frame and brakes, its Positraction rear axle and Thriftmaster 6 power are proving themselves under rougher conditions than most test engineers could dream up. They're proving that Chevrolet's advanced engineering and design ideas pay off—in spades—when the going gets especially mean and dirty.

Positraction, of course, is a big plus on this job, providing the sure grip needed to dig through mud, snow, loose sand, whatever comes along. Could be that a Positraction-equipped 1/2-ton pickup is the answer for your area of operation. Or maybe a 4-wheel drive Chevy. We've got trucks that specialize in setting in and out of any kind of country. Talk to your dealer about your needs. He'll show you what tough trucks are made of.

Make Plymouth Beautiful

Entries in the annual Garden Contest sponsored by the Plymouth Branch of Women's National Farm and Garden Contest are now being taken. The judging will be held during the first week in August and the first prize will be a $25 savings bond. Gardens will be viewed from the street only on the day the judging takes place. The contest is open to any city resident and will be based on flower arrangement, colors and care taken of the flowers. Awards, this year, will also be given to business establishments for the best garden or flower box display. Enter your friends' and neighbors' garden along with your own and let's help make the Plymouth area a place of beauty. Be the first to fill out and return the coupon below for this civic endeavor.

Obituaries

Ada Miriam Youngs

Ada Miriam Youngs, a former resident of Newburg for 23 years passed away in Caro Community Hospital on Wednesday, June 15. She had been ill for several months at her farm home near Kingston, Michigan. She is survived by her sister Anna L. Youngs and brother Edward S. Youngs and family.

Elizabeth Wilhelm

After a two-month illness, Elizabeth Wilhelm, of Pacific St. in Plymouth, died on July 8. Born in Austria in 1897, she was the widow of John L. Wilhelm. She is survived by her three children, Arthur Wilhelm of North Dakota, Lucille Wilkie of Detroit and Marie Johnson of Plymouth. Also surviving her are her 11 grandchildren.

Mrs. Wilhelm, who came to Plymouth in 1945, had worked in the Allen School cafeteria for 6 years and was a member of the Rosary Society of Our Lady of Good Counsel.

Funeral services were held on July 11 at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church with

Funeral services were held July 15 at 2 p.m. from the Ebert Funeral Home, 404 W. Main Street, Northville for Vera Irene Yarbrough.

Mrs. Yarbrough passed away July 12 at her residence in Fry Road, Northville Township, after an extended illness. She came to this community in 1953 from Garden City and was married to Arthur Yarbrough who survives her.

She is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mattox of Attala, Ala.; three sons, Ray, Garden City; Billy, Wayne; Jimmy, Northville Township; two daughters, Mrs. Virginia Wild from Waterford and Mrs. June Toth, Flatrock. There are also 10 surviving grandchildren; one brother, Glen Mattox of Attala, Ala.; three sisters, Mrs. Gladys Peck and Mrs. Ydeen Harrison of Collinsville, Ala., and Mrs. Jewel Terry of Spring City, Tenn.

Interment will be the Rural Hill cemetery in Northville. Rev. Lynn B. Stout of Plymouth will officiate.

Cited for Scholarship

Jane B. Kellogg and Don E. Alsboro, of Plymouth, have been cited for their high academic attainment by being placed on the spring semester high scholarship list of Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo. To win a place a student must maintain at least 14 credit hours, with no more than five hours of B work and only one grade of B. Miss Kellogg, daughter of the Glenn C. Kelloggs, and Alsboro, son of Mrs. Alice Alsboro, are both Plymouth High School graduates.

BIRTHS

Twins were born June 20 to Marine Sgt. and Mrs. Dale B. Cowan on the island of Oahu, one of the Hawaiian group. The girl, Kimberly Anne, weighed 5 lb., 4 1/4 oz.; the boy, Richard Charles, weighed 4 lb., 14 oz. The Cowans have two other children, Kerri, 3, and Mark, 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hesse (the former Janice Henry) of 6060 E. Joy Rd., Ann Arbor, announce the birth of their first child, a son, Kevin Leslie, 7 lb., born July 9th at St. Joseph's Hospital in Ann Arbor. The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. James Henry of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hesse of Ann Arbor are the proud new paternal grandparents.

Non-Resident Borrower's Fee Now Charged by Library

The establishment of a fee for non-residents taking books from the Wayne County Library was approved by the Library Committee, the Ways and Means Committee and the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

To begin immediately, this fee will be $10.00 for a non-resident library card for the year. This represents the actual cost of serving the average borrower, and approximately what the resident pays in his taxes to maintain Libraries in Wayne County.

Plymouth is perhaps a little more affected by this ruling than other Wayne county areas because it is a borderline community, with Washenaw and Oakland County being so close.

THE BALL-BOY machine, recently acquired, is being used by Jim Stevens to instruct the young tennis players in the various methods of returning the ball.

The machine was purchased with funds donated by the Opts. club. The ball-boy may be regulated in both the speed of and point of delivery.

PLANNERS FROM 35 communities met with chairman Herbert Woolweaver to complete plans for the Fitness Day the 30th of this month. Plymouth's athletic grounds will be covered with about 1,200 youngsters on that day. Each city represented is to take part of some operation, to keep the program flowing instead of falling apart with that many kids together at one time.

Local Merchants Fall To River Rouge

For two innings Plymouth's baseball team held the league's leading River Rouge squad, but then were forced to take the short end of a 10-2 score.

Greenwood drew the pitching assignment for the local squad as regular pitcher Ken Kisabeth was nursing a stiff arm. Ken threw two good games in tournament ball Friday and Saturday and was kept in reserve to back up Greenwood.

In the third inning, River Rouge collected three runs from two hits as they found Greenwood's range. The first two men got to base, the next two were tagged out, then the River Rouge hitting took its toll. The fourth man up doubled, followed by a single to score the three runs.

While the River Rouge squad was hitting, Plymouth was not. Some of the almost hits they got were long and hard but there was always a Rouge fielder to stop the ball's flight.

The fourth, sixth and seventh innings took their toll as Rouge collected two, three and two runs in that order. Ken took over as relief in the last of the ninth, but by this time Rouge had compiled an overpowering lead.

Harvey Wells scored both of the local Merchants runs.

Harvey scored the first as the Rouge team was trying for a double play but overthrew the ball. The second run was collected on a long left field homer.

Plymouth was unable to hit when it would have done them the most good. Of the five errors that were charged to Plymouth, only one or two were a direct cause for Rouge runs.

Scoring was very one sided throughout the league last Sunday. Redford was dropped by the Teamsters by the margin of 15-1 and Seamless Tube rolled over South Lyons 16-5.

This Sunday Plymouth will play host to Redford in a firm effort to regain some of the winning stature they had many games ago.

Tennis Courts Are Refinished

Once again the tennis courts behind the high school look like tennis courts, complete with white lines.

After about three months of talking and much money, the tennis courts are a fit place to practice one's skill with the racket.

The courts were first scraped and a sealing coat applied to the existing base. Then the entire area was leveled to make the surface playable.

Altogether the court area received about five different coats, including the top coating. White lines have been painted on the surface to define the individual court areas.

What the surface needs now, reports Herbert Woolweaver, Director of Recreation, is playing on to knock any small rough places off.

Cost of the refinishing operation was between 13 and 14 hundred dollars, reports the recreation office.

Since these courts are a public property they are open to all age groups for use at their convenience and pleasure.

Plymouth Tops First Inter-School Swim

This week marked the opening meets in the inter-school recreation swimming program, designed to stimulate interest in swimming.

Five schools are taking part in the swimming, Plymouth, Thurston, Bentley, Belleville and Redford Union, as it enters the second year of existence. Added this season were Belleville and Redford Union.

There are four age groupings with boys and girls taking part. Each meet is held at a different school with Belleville being the host pool for the first swim.

Friday the five schools will converge at Bentley, to swim the 18 events. There are a total of 35 events to choose from making it necessary to repeat them every third meeting. All of these events are relay.

At Belleville, Plymouth placed first with 77 points followed by Thurston with 61, Bentley 38, Belleville 26 and Redford Union 21.

All five schools had large turn-outs. Plymouth transported 74 youngsters, ranging in age from eight to over 15, in school buses for the meet.

The relays are designed with the age of the children in mind. The boys in the 15 and over group swim 50 yds.

D and E Baseball

Both Plymouth teams moved up the ladder in class E ball while only the Plymouth Elks' squad changed in class D play.

Milt's Coffee Shop team moved from fifth place into a third place with Livonia Center, as Davis and Lent took over second place. In class D ball, only the Elks' team advanced, from fourth to third, to leave Fisher Shoes in fifth as they were last week.

Milt's Coffee Shop made short work of both teams they met this week. The first, Novied, ended in a 23-0 rout for the local squad. Again with Schyer on the mound, Milt's limited their opposition to one hit, while collecting only 10 hits but 23 runs.

The story was repeated again two days later as they played Clarenceville No. 2. This time the score was 36-2, Plymouth. The 36 runs came from 14 hits with almost every one scoring but the managers.

Clarenceville had one hit but did push two runs over the plate. These two runs started as walks, then made the trip to home after singles by teammates.

Grange Gleanings

The "glorious Fourth" is over and we may now resume our usual way of living. So we will hold our usual Grange meeting on Thursday on July 16 — as a picnic — at our usual gathering place near the railroad viaduct at 3:30 a.m. A potluck picnic, of course.

We are very sorry to report that Harvey Springer is in St. Joseph's Hospital for an operation. Our best wishes for his speedy recovery. John Carlson is at home, recuperating. Also at home are Flora Rathburn and Libbie Showers, who has her sister and brother-in-law staying with her. Jennie Cramer who has been ill with arthritis is how much better and able to move around the house. Completing our list of shut-ins is Roma Krumm Mr. and Mrs. John Oldenburg visited relatives in Ionia Sunday.

We have just learned that Harvey Brown was in the hospital for a few days last week for minor surgery. He came home Sunday.

In observance of their 25th wedding anniversary, Louise and Jesse Tritten will hold an open house at their home at 41840 Ann Arbor Trail on Sunday July 26, from 2 to 5 and from 8 to 9. They would like to invite all of their friends, both Grangers and non-Grangers to be with them at this time.

Life insurance was introduced to Canada by British and American companies around 1850.

FRED KORTE, JR. (left) new Canton Township Fire Chief going over part of the paper work necessary in carrying out his new responsibilities with Dean McClue, retiring Chief.

Dean McClue Resigns As Canton Twp. Fire Chief

A letter of resignation was submitted by Dean McClue from the post of fire chief of Canton Township, and accepted with regret by the department.

McClue served Canton Township as fire chief since 1951. He was well liked by his men and considered excellent in his job. McClue resigned his post, known to be his "pride and joy," under the recommendation of his doctor due to ill health. He is married, has four sons and has been a resident of the Canton Township for approximately 15 years.

The men of the township's voluntary fire department unanimously elected as their new chief, Fred Korte, Jr. The Township Board accepted the department's selection.

The new chief has resided in the township for 30 years and ranks among the prominent farmers of the area. He is married and resides with his wife Betty at 40945 Warren Road. Previous to his appointment as chief, Korte served with McClue as assistant chief for approximately 10 years.

BY BILL SAXTON

Dutch Elm disease is still hitting many trees in Plymouth despite efforts to control it. Spring and Summer D.D.T. sprays should be applied to control the bark beetle to prevent the spread of it. Dead limbs should be pruned out. Heavy root feeding using a soil auger will maintain vigor.

Check for scale on Elms if they look unhealthy now. Hard bright brown bumps are one type and mildewed looking deposits are another. Several applications of Malathion will control the scale insect very well.

Don't mistake ravages of scale for Dutch Elm disease and cut down a good tree.

Driveway type weed killers save a great deal of work and prevent re-growth for a year or more. Be careful where tree or shrub roots might be located. You could kill a valuable tree by carelessness. Switch to 2-4D without any 2, 4-5T in it and repeat applications in these areas.

Raise the cutting height of your lawn mower to 1 1/2 inches for bluegrass or fescue lawns in hot dry weather to give grass a chance of surviving and help prevent crab-grass from germinating.

Feed grass with a non-burning type lawn food such as Agrico UF or Scotts. Water it only when it starts to wilt and then make sure you soak moisture in four to six inches.

My face was red recently when the plastic quart we advertised failed to arrive. They're here now and the only decent thing to do is give anyone who was disappointed an extra free one with their purchase of 10 for $1.69. I'll guarantee this won't happen again because of the ribbing I'm taking from the gang here and the customers too!

Weekend Visits In Salem Social News

By Mrs. Herbert Famuliner

Mrs. Raymond Kelly of Seven Mile Road, who was admitted to the University Hospital in Ann Arbor last week, is now home recuperating.

Eddie Rohruff spent last week visiting in Webberville with the Esch family. Also on the visitors list are Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hardesty of Seven Mile, and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Hardesty of Curry Road, and their families who spent a week's vacation at Sage's Lake in Hale, Michigan. Sherry Kelley, of Plymouth, is visiting Kay Roberts this week.

The Salem Fire Department spent a busy week fighting grass fires. One of the fires was at the Reddman home on Seven Mile on Thursday. Friday the alarm came from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, as the fire was along the tracks between Napier and Chubb Roads.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Alter attended the funeral of Mr. Alter's brother, Charles. The services were held in Columbus Grove.

Another Hardesty family, the Carleton Hardestys, spent a vacation with the children. They toured Niagara Falls, the flower gardens of Hamilton in Ontario and the Story Book garden in London, Ontario.

Jack Engel, who has been vacationing in Gladwin for the past two weeks, has returned home. Also a returnee, is Garry McKinley of Plymouth, who spent three days visiting cousins Doug, Artie and Dick McKinley of Seven Mile Road.

Celebrations were in the pews for Marie Ann Atoianoff, for her eleventh birthday, and for Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKinley, for their seventh wedding anniversary. They, together with Mr. and Mrs. Ferman Rohruff spent Friday night at dinner and a show.

Mr. Roy Kenner of Six Mile was admitted Thursday to Atchinson Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Famuliner and the Kenneth Thompsons of Plymouth attended the wedding of a cousin in Thamesville, Ontario on Friday. Janet Famuliner served at the reception.

Betty Jo Mullins of Chubb Road celebrated her 4th birthday on Saturday July 11th with a party at her home. Guests included in the celebration were her brother Jimmie, Mrs. Bill Combs, Mrs. Paul Griffith and Denise, Mrs. Arvin Thorpe and Larry, Mrs. Norman Rains and Tommy, Mrs. Lois Nickliss, Judy and Delbert, Mrs. Charles Rains and Terry Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Esch and sons of Webberville, Mr. and Mrs. Richard McKinley and sons and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raymor enjoyed a steak fry at the Ferman Rohruff home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Culbert and son Kent of Detroit were Sunday guests at the Raymond Kelly home.

City, School Officials Debate Building

 "Even if the high school is converted to a junior high," Fischer told the commission, "I believe that the adult education will still be there, the symphony will be there and swimming will be there."
 Commissioner Richard Wernette expressed his opinion that he felt that the type of building was not nearly as important as the type of teachers and the curriculum. He also asked if the board had considered the problem of transportation to a distant high school.
 Mrs. Hulsing admitted that some boards are derelict in their duty in considering the staff and curriculum — that they leave this up to the superintendent too much. But she said that the Plymouth board is getting into this field now. She also admitted that there would need to be a survey or transportation problems in consideration of a new high school.
 Mayor Guenther emphasized several times the importance to the city of keeping a high school there. Maintaining a cultural center of the community is all part of a plan which the school board must consider, he said. The commission is attempting to keep the tax base at a high level by encouraging business and industry to the city, he added, and that removing the high school will be another blow to this effort.
 "We are locked in with two square miles," the mayor continued. "Our taxable property is limited."
 Fischer replied that the board would be derelict in its duty if it approves a plan that is not good dollar-wise or education-wise.
 Wernette expressed his doubt that the city's property is even needed for the expansion of the high school.
 Board Trustee Wesley Kaiser said that he didn't think the board had made up its mind whether to build additions or a new high school. He blamed the public's reaction against a new high school on "premature publicity," and said that he for one hadn't made up his mind.
 Fischer pointed out, however, that the board had unanimously committed itself toward a new building in a motion approved in October.
 After 45 minutes and thousands of words of discussion, the board gave the commission an indication that a price on the city parcel is needed to consider the two plans.
 Mayor Guenther said that the commission would give more study to the sale of land and will give "the best price possible." The commission's offer will probably be made within two weeks.

High School of Past Uncovered by Bulldozer Working on Addition

 places as the Christian Scientist, Universalist and Baptist Churches, the Town Hall, Masonic Temple and in the Grange Hall where high school was set up. The superintendent's office was in the Christian Science church reading room.
 New books were sold at cost. Students were told that there would be no bells at their new "schools" and were requested "to guard against tardiness on that account." They also were warned not to injure lawns or other property at their temporary "schools."
 It was a month later that the school board picked out the plan for the present high school building and set a special bond election for May 9. The bond issue was for $100,000.

There were 267 people voting in the bond election with 207 favoring the issue, 59 opposed.
 On June 28 contracts were let for the new building with Beyers Construction Co. of Kalamazoo submitting the lowest bid — $92,404. Along with heating and plumbing bids, the total cost was $111,339.
 The night of Monday, Oct. 15, 1917 was set for the formal opening of the new building. America was now involved in World War I and the school dedication was held to coincide with "Patriotic Day" proclaimed for the same date. Over 1,500 people came to inspect the building which was lighted "from top to bottom with nearly 350 electric lights."
 According to Plymouth Mail accounts of the event, a Detroiter brought in to deliver the patriotic talk told his audience that "he had visited and spoken in many school houses all over the United States, and the Plymouth school appealed to him as one among the very best, both in point of architecture and equipment."

 The school board president was Dr. Luther Peck, still a practicing physician here. He congratulated the public upon their new building. "It has cost a lot of money," he admitted, "but the board has taken more than ordinary time and pains in acquiring the best for the least money, considering the high cost of all building material."
 The ground and second floors of the new building were used for elementary classes while the top floor was for the junior and senior high.
 Since then, an elementary school was built at the rear of the high school, later converted to the junior high and now is part of the senior high. In 1949 a bond issue was floated for a band room, gymnasium and swimming pool. The project cost $762,923. The building has undergone many other changes over the years with walls being knocked out, others being put in and coat after coat of paint applied.
 What will happen to the building within the next few years will be up to voters. Some want to enlarge it further, others are in favor of turning it into a Junior High and starting a Senior High anew.
 Whatever the outcome, the little bit of history uncovered by the bulldozer a few weeks ago provides a good background for those taxpayers who will be considering the future of Plymouth High School.

Writer Joins German Family

 were dead tired, but they kept their eyes open. The train passed through Dusseldorf, Cologne, Bonn, Heidelberg ... some of these and other cities still showed traces of the war. The foreigners were fascinated by the quaint, colored-shuttered houses set upon the hills along the Rhine.
 Students sat in six-seater compartments ... in my compartment we were lucky enough to be joined by a seventeen-year-old Dutch girl. She was blond, tall and slender, wore no lipstick but was garbed in a dress she had seen featured in "Seventeen." (The American influence) She was very friendly, seemed anxious to make friends with these young Americans.
 The five Americans and the one Dutch talked about the difference in the school systems of their respective countries. "Els" attended school from 8 a.m. to 4 on weekdays, with some time for lunch, also goes to school until 2 on Saturday. She studies SIX foreign languages: Dutch, French, German, Greek, Latin and English, which she spoke very well. (WHY don't American schools take the hint and offer more in the all-important field of foreign languages?) Els studies from three to five hours each evening.
 Indicative of the difference in economic status of the two countries was Els' remark that "you would not find many Dutch students in America."
 Later, our American dollars, worth four times as much as German currency, were exchanged for marks and pfenigs on the train.
 When the train made a short station stop, we grabbed the opportunity to get some Coca-Cola. The girl in front of me asked the price ... forty pfenig was the vendor's reply. It was apparent that he suddenly realized we were Americans ignorant of the value of German money, and he quickly upped the price to 45 pfenig. I was the last to get a drink ... the train was about to leave, so the transaction had to be made quickly. I thrust a marc (.25) into the vendor's hand, he gave me some change and I hurried to board the train. Back in my seat, I counted the money he had given me. I had paid 55 pfenig!
 After a scenic day long trip, we reached Stuttgart. Several students had left the train along the way; others boarded trains at Stuttgart which would take them to Tubingen. Four of us contemplated an hour and a half journey to towns where we would, for the first time, meet our "families."
 All very tired, we were also excited and a little scared. It was like a dream ... we still could not grasp the fact that we were in Europe and that the moment for which we had been waiting for several months was soon to become a reality.

 We carried on a lively discussion with a young English pastor. Most interesting to me was his comment that our standard of living was fantastic, but "one never knows how long it is going to last." We talked of politics ... he asked about the chances for a Catholic Kennedy victory in '60, or a ticket headed by Adlai Stevenson, who, he said, is very popular in England and could easily claim an electoral victory there.
 The time, for me, was drawing near the butterflies in my stomach hopped about furiously. Two students had already left the train for their homes. I nervously gathered up my luggage and ten pound purse and waited for the train to make its scheduled stop at Oberndorf. It finally came to a halt, and I descended un-easily. I walked toward the building at the station, only nodded when someone spoke to me in this strange foreign tongue. I felt very alone.
 I looked anxiously around the semi-dark room in the station for a friendly, also searching face. I became alarmed. This family of five children, the country pastor and his wife ... where were they?

Mr. and Mrs. James Doyle

Bride To Reside In Livonia

Following the wedding of Barbara Ann Nelson and James Raymond Doyle Saturday, June 20, 85 guests honored the newlyweds at a breakfast at Thunderbird Inn. An evening reception for 250 guests was held at the V.F.W. Hall.

Given in marriage by her father at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, the bride chose a pure silk organza gown with an Alencon lace bodice trimmed with applied pearls and a wateau pleated skirt that spread into a chapel train. A shallow pillbox of lace and pearls held her full length veil of illusion net. Her cascade bouquet was made of cymbidium orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Mrs. Richard Nelson, sister-in-law of the bride, was her matron of honor, in a full length white cotton lace gown sashed with an orchid cummerbund. She wore a white picture hat with orchid velvet trim and carried a basket of pink roses, lavender daisies, carnations and ivy.

Identically gowned were the attendants, Carole Gresh, cousin of the bride from Chicago; Mrs. Ross Diaz, from Wayne; Mrs. King MacBride, from Fraser; and Miss Gordon Fuestenau from Richmond, Michigan.

The bride's mother chose a sheath of pink silk organza with matching accessories for her daughter's wedding and the groom's mother a pale blue chiffon with white accessories. Both mothers were given a cymbidium orchid corsage by the groom.

The five tiered wedding cake was baked and decorated by the bride's mother. Cutting the cake were Mrs. M. Krump, Mrs. Tom Doyle and Miss Barbara Schneider.

Guests signing the guest book, taken care of by Miss Janet Hotchkin, were from Wisconsin, Minnesota, Massachusetts, Illinois, and Michigan.

The new Mrs. Doyle left for her Canadian honeymoon in a white linen sheath trimmed in green with white accessories. They will be at home on Norman Avenue in Greenwich Pointe, Livonia.

Koch-Gorton Rites In Redford Church

Escorted down the aisle on tiny buttons, bows and streamers. Her hand-rolled and toiled fingertip veil was gathered from a pearl and sequin encrusted crown. Her semi-cascade bouquet was made of white roses and ivy vines.

Miss Kathleen Ann Yakley, as maid of honor, wore a baby blue taffeta underskirt with white embossed overskirt and matching cummerbund, with a scooped neckline and small cap sleeves. She carried dark pink carnations with ivy vines. Identically gowned were the bridal attendants Nancy Helen Levitt, Roberta Gaye Lidgard and Suzanne Marie Gorton. Their bouquets were of light pink carnations and ivy vines.

Attending the groom were Raymond H. Wolfram, Eugene Henneman, Joseph Lubig and Robert Koch.

The bride's mother chose a street length blue lace dress for her daughter's wedding with pink accessories. The groom's mother, an ice blue lace dress with blue accessories.

Two hundred and fifty guests attended a reception honoring the young couple from Detroit, Walled Lake, Romulus, Ann Arbor, Plymouth, Wayne, Kentucky, West Virginia, Rhode Island, Ohio, Northville and Redford Township.

The bride chose a black sheath with a white checkered jacket and white accessories for her honeymoon trip to Florida and the southern states.

The newlyweds are both employed at the Plymouth Branch of Burroughs Corporation and will make their future home in Plymouth.

Call, write, or stop in soon to discuss the details with us... so it won't be forgotten in the bustle of the getting-ready days.

Mrs. C. Douglas Locke

Methodist Church Scene of Wedding

A double-ring ceremony united Gladys Eileen Bennett and M. C. Douglas Locke on July 11 at 7 p.m. Rev. Melbourne I. Johnson of the First Methodist Church officiated.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a flowing gown of imported chantilly lace with a Queen Anne collar and full-length sleeves. A bouffant skirt with scalloped lace and French tulle tiers formed the chapel train. Her finger-tip veil of silk illusion with insets of Chantilly lace was held in place by a Juliet cap adorned with rows of seed pearls. She wore a cultured pearl, a gift from the groom, and carried a bouquet of white orchids surrounded by white rose buds and white stephanotis.

Mrs. Judy Huber, matron of honor, wore a powder-blue dress of nylon chiffon with tucked bodice, a satin sash and accordion-pleated skirt. She carried blue and white carnations. The bridesmaids, Mrs. Beanna Bennett and Mrs. Eileen Bennett, wore identical dresses, in pink and orchid.

The groom was assisted by best man, Dan Bennett, and ushers Ronald Bennett and Robert Forrester. Nat Sibbold sang "I Love Thee" and "O Perfect Love".

Mother of the bride, Mrs. John A. Bennett, wore champagne beige lace with pink and white accessories. Mrs. Thomas Lock, mother of the groom, wore beige silk organza with green accessories.

Three hundred guests attended the wedding and reception, which was held in the Union Hall, Ypsilanti.

Guests were from Plymouth, Belleville, Wayne, Ypsilanti, Brooklyn, Saline, Pontiac, Hazel Park, Waukegan, Baltimore, Md., Syracuse, N.Y., Ann Arbor, Whitmore Lake, Garden City and Livonia.

For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a coral suit of silk shantung with blue and white accessories. Both bride and groom graduated from Plymouth and after the wedding trip to the western states their future home will be at 320 Blanche in Plymouth.

No definite wedding date has been set.

To Women It May Concern

By Myra Cox, Women's Editor

Having to go to the mat with some streptococci over the weekend I had to miss the Stop and Shop Patio Party Monday night. They had Martha Logan, home economist from Swifts giving some clever advice on out-door cookery. I had occasion to talk with her before she left town and she shared some of her pastry brush secrets. The melted butter, dill weed, salt and paprika that she uses to make the Dilly-Chick barbecue and the crushed garlic in melted butter brushed on steaks gives a special taste treat to your out-door cooking. We'll print her recipe for shish-kebobs another time. We both agreed men make wonderful outdoor cooks—I don't know if it's the atmosphere or the audience that is conducive to urging the man-of-the-house to become domestic when the grill is wheeled out, but it is an accepted and welcome fact. Plymouth chefs, on Monday, under Miss Logan's watchful eye were Bruce Mackie on the chicken and Stanley Besse on shish-kebob—and they both took their efforts home too. Mrs. Harold Curtis of S. Harvey won a wonderful partially cooked roast beef and the Russell Micol family on Dunn Court won a grill.

Eleanor Hertrich of 50150 Hanford was a winner in the current Mohawk Lumber contest. They had a new car as one of their first prizes. Mrs. Hertrich won one—a 102nd prize and that was a new grill, so you know they had some fabulous ones. She had planned to buy a grill for a Father's Day gift but bought a lounge chair instead (a sweet wife) and was indeed thrilled with her prize and says it is the first thing she has ever won.

Being a first time winner is always a thrill. For years I've watched others squeal with delight when their name was called and followed suit when my lucky day came. My prize was an oil change. Not that I'm ungrateful, however, the second time in my life I won a prize it, too, was an oil change. Odd, isn't it?

Fox Hills ladies have a chance to win some prizes July 22, 23, and 24 at their Medal Play Event and Continental Breakfast (all that comes to my mind is brioche—not bagels and coffee). They tell me there will be snacks on the 10th tee too, and all may register at the pro shop. It is also not too late to sign up at the pro shop for the husband and wife tournament Saturday and Sunday, July 18 and 19.

The day before the strep germ took over I attended the pool party at the Hines Park Motel, 37001 Ann Arbor Road, given by the management to celebrate the official opening. The party was for press and business people of the area to inspect the 61 spacious and modern rooms, the heated pool and the well furnished conference room—motelers are becoming more luxurious every day. It is ridiculous to expect any of you starting up north to stop at this lovely oasis on Ann Arbor Road, however, it is a place to remember when you have an overflow of house guests or even might remember as an idea for a week-end to check in to avail yourselves of the pool and all facilities should you develop a case of telephinitis at home.

Being flat on my back all weekend I turned off the telephone and turned on some of my old records, one a favorite, Kenny Baker singing the Mikado and particularly the part "may the punishment fit the crime, etc." reminded me of a dual set of pictures in the Toledo Art Gallery. The Toledo Art Gallery used to be rated one of the outstanding in the country, donated by Libbey Owens people. Every summer, as a child, I would spend hours there because my aunt carried on a life-long romance with the art museum, and I would see it through her eyes. In my feverish musings two pictures kept coming back to mind—one of Heaven and one of Hell. In Heaven all were dressed in spotless white long-flowing robes with their arms stiffly outstretched bound to boards, however, they had bright faces with peaceful expressions. In Hell, too, they were dressed in spotless white long flowing robes with their arms also stiffly outstretched bound to boards, but their faces were gaunt and full of misery. In the background of each picture could be seen the reason why. In Hell the people were vainly trying to feed themselves, but in Heaven the people were feeding each other.

VFW Auxiliary News

The Senior Men's Color Guard Team, under the command of Hal Young marched as the Fourth District Color Guard in the Fourth of July Parade in Wyandotte. Our thanks to them for the honor given our Post!

At the next regular Auxiliary meeting on Tuesday, July 21, social meeting, the Post members are invited to join us at 9:30 p.m. at which time the members who have movies or slides of the Encampment at Traverse City will have an opportunity to show them to everyone! We understand we have some very good films and slides to present. Everyone who is a member is invited to attend!

Barbara Holdsworth and Jill Dunlap are preparing to attend Camp Norcom, our V.F.W. camp near Dexter.

They were the lucky winners to a two week attendance at the camp!

These lines were written by an Auxiliary member in a department contest. Herein a charming crown and veil were scattered with pearls. She carried a bouquet in the form of a cross made of aqua and white carnations with cascading ivy.

Barbara Carter, Seneth Thompson as bridal attendants wore pink dresses fashioned the same as the maid of honor's. They carried pink flowers.

Danny Clifford was best man with Gene Kramer, Dick Hedman assisting as ushers.

Flower girl was Jeri Lynn Busch, niece of the bride. She wore an orchid dress of embroidered nylon eyelet and a crown of flowers and carried a basket of carnations, snapdragons and fern.

Ring bearer was Leo Hastings, nephew of the bride.

Three hundred guests gathered in the church basement to be received by the newlyweds and the bride's mother in a dusty rose lace over taffeta with matching accessories and the groom's mother in a pale blue dress with embroidered bodice, matching hat and white accessories.

Returning from a wedding trip to Minnesota, northern Michigan and North Dakota, the new Mr. and Mrs. Kramer took up residence on Amrhein Rd. in Livonia.

The groom graduated from Bentley High in the class of 1955 and attended Michigan State. The bride graduated from Plymouth High in 1957 and spent one year at Henry Ford Community College.

ENJOYING THE buffet table at the pool party given by the owners of Hines Park Motel at 37001 Ann Arbor Road to celebrate their grand opening last Monday were Mr. Robert and Margaret Stremick "mine hosts" from Hillside Inn, Mrs. Burl Woodward, hostess (Mr. and Mrs.

Burl Woodward are managers of the beautiful new motel; and W.E. Arthur, Manager of the National Bank of Detroit, Plymouth-Cranston Branch. Business people of the entire surrounding area were guests for the afternoon Open House.

Newlyweds to Live in Livonia

Mrs. L.W. Kramer

The soft glow of candlelight graced the Calvary Baptist Church Saturday, June 20 at 8 p.m. when Sally Veronica Kowalcik, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo M. Kowalcik, Plymouth, was united in marriage to L. Wayne Kramer, son of Mrs. Charlotte Kramer, Livonia.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a floor length gown fashioned of white net with lace panels. The lace bodice had a Sabrina neckline and long sleeves. Lace and net tiers formed a chapel train in the back of her gown. She wore a crown of seed pearls and rhinestone, holding a fingertip veil. A string of pearls was her only accessory. Her bouquet was in the form of a cross with white carnations and stephanotis and cascading ivy and stephanotis.

Shirley Austin was maid of honor gowned in an aqua princess style dress of lace over taffeta with a V neckline and three quarter length sleeves. The stand-up taffeta edging on the neckline tapered to a V in back with a bow and streamers. Her train a charming crown and veil were scattered with pearls.

She carried a bouquet in the form of a cross made of aqua and white carnations with cascading ivy.

Engaged Presbyterians Call Special Meeting July 26

MR. AND MRS. Kenneth McPherson of North Main Street announce the engagement of their daughter Eleanor Jean to James Shaeffer of Akron, Ohio. Plans are being made for a September 19 wedding. Eleanor Jean is a graduate of Plymouth High and attended Western Michigan.

A special congregational meeting is being called for Sunday, July 26 following the morning service. This meeting is called to act on the request of the Reverend Norman J. Stanhope, associate minister of this church, that the congregation may join him in asking the Presbytery of Detroit to dissolve the pastoral relationship between Mr. Stanhope and this congregation.

Supt. Isbister Attends Harvard Univ. Institute

Supt. of Schools Russell L. Isbister is one of 62 superintendents from communities throughout the nation attending a 10-day meeting of the Advanced Administrative Institute of the Harvard Graduate School of Education at Cambridge, Mass.

The school official will consider case studies of problems in curriculum and new developments in several areas of instruction. The theme of the Institute is "The Administrator Looks at The Education Program - Review and Preview."

Among the speakers will be James B. Conant, president emeritus of Harvard.

Proposals for public education on a national scale will also be included in the fields of physical science, mathematics, advanced placement students, and several other aspects of secondary education. Presentations are to be featured in the evenings dealing with the contemporary American scene.

The Institute will conclude jointly with the Annual Harvard Summer School Conference on Educational Administration. Mr. Conant will be the keynote speaker of this closing program. It will be devoted to further consideration of the American high school. Several other prominent national leaders in education will join with Mr. Conant for this phase of the Institute which is slated to end on July 17.

Rebekah News

Attendance at the last meeting was fine. Now that we are on vacation until September 11, let's make note of several important future dates.

Sept. 2: Visitation, Samaritan No. 18.

Sept. 10: "Luncheon is Served" party. Sister Hazel Norgrove, chairman, has asked members to donate door prizes.

Oct. 25: Initiation of new members. You must have their application in at our September 11 meeting.

Have a pleasant vacation and hope to see you Friday, September 11 at 8.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS ... FROM THE PAGES OF THE MAIL

Front Row Center

by George Spelvin

What better place to write a few words on the near-by Canadian Shakespearean Festival than under the "joyful" willows that line the banks of the Avon river in Stratford, Ontario. Why "joyful" rather than the traditional "weeping"? After seven fat financial years of successful Shakespeare, this once-sleepy town is fast becoming the literary Mecca for all lovers of the Bard in the Midwest.

Tom Patterson, a local merchant with a flair for playing Shakespeare in his 80-plus years, sparked the initial venture some eight years ago by asking the local businessmen to toss some hard-earned Canadian coins into a summer theater exclusively Shakespearean in character. Many thought he was daft. Others shook their head and felt he had been blinded by the theatrical spotlights to the point of no return. Tom persisted in his dream regardless of the hoots and calls of his "friends." He pressed his case with the town council so long and ardently that they reluctantly gave him an initial grant of money. With the help of many outsiders he gathered enough money to launch his first season of Shakespeare.

From 1952 when Alec Guinness did "All's Well That Ends Well" until 1959 with Douglas Campbell in "Othello" the Stratford Shakespearean Festival has been a financial and artistic success. The weekly take at the Box office has always been in the sixty to seventy thousand neighborhood. You'll have to agree that's a mighty healthy neighborhood and it's bound to keep those willows shaking all summer quite gleefully.

Playbill at Stratford this year includes "Othello" and "As You Like It." Dramatic critics and audiences agree that "Othello" is one of Bill Shakespeare's better plays. It has none of the gloomy atmosphere of "Macbeth" or the thoughtful philosophy of "Hamlet." "Othello" tears emotions to shreds and bares a tormented man's soul to a spellbound audience. The Moor's tragic end comes after "he has loved too well and not wisely." Tense situations dot the play and by the final curtain you have run the gamut of emotions.

"As You Like It" with its light, frothy, bubbly atmosphere, creates a feeling of sunshine and all's right with the world. In fact, this is the play that has the famous "all the world's a stage" speech. Jacques delivers this poetical speech with its "seven ages of man" description. Throughout "As You Like It" famous bits of poetry are recognized. Since this play has been required reading in many a high school class, it's quite understandable.

Stratford, Ontario can be reached by car in a matter of four hours from Plymouth or Livonia. You can't get George and I drove over the other day via Highways 3, 401, 2 and 7. Roads are in excellent condition. In fact, forty of the miles are on limited access super-highways. Best way to go over the border is via the Ambassador Bridge—the view is breath-taking and the route more direct.

Take along a picnic lunch. You can have your supper on the banks of the Avon at the rustic tables provided. Majestic white swans sail up and down the river as you nibble at your sandwiches and sip your lemonade. And if you have a few extra moments, take a boat ride on the river. Or if you are extra-ambitious, rent a canoe or a paddleboat for an hour. You'll have fun and be in a relaxed frame of mind for the exciting performance.

After traveling over 3,500 miles of rough roads, paths, trails and by sheer guess a month of opinion is that the Belgian Congo the last of June.

The Optimists, Plymouth's newest service club, received its charter and installed officers at the Dearborn Inn. The officers who will direct the club's destiny during its first year are Howard Carson, William McAllister, Edward Holdsworth, Loren Gould, Lowell Collins, Jack Selle, John Wimsatt, Dr. E. B. Cavell, Austin Stecker and Dow Swope.

Ground was broken last Friday morning for one of the largest housing developments ever to be undertaken in the city of Plymouth. The houses are being built by the Garland Construction Co., on Evergreen and Auburn Avenues.

Announcement was made Monday by postmaster Thomas Brock of the fact that he was resigning from his position at the Post Office to devote his entire time to writing.

The "Goofy 500" club met at the home of Mrs. Belle Kehler last Tuesday. Present were Grace Newton, Luella Wilson, Nora Dudley, Elsie Ehrensberger, Stella Heidt, Ruth Everett and Louise Granger.

Ann Hulsing was hostess to eleven of her friends at a birthday and picnic supper in the park, the occasion being her ninth birthday. Guests present were Sonia and Karl Petersen, Ann Taylor, Nancy Gibson, Linda Law, Betty Worth, Marianna Jensen, Marcia Woodworth and her two sisters.

John Guetter, Roger and Tom Corey, and Jerry Micol are leaving on Saturday for a month's motor trip to California.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hesse of Robinson Subdivision were weekend guests of the former's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nunemaker of Royal Oak.

fork has now been closed off and the widening and repaving begun. Many citizens have tried in vain to convince the county that a direct entrance to Riverside park should be had from Plymouth road but the concern of opinion is that the overhead drive would be far less hazardous.

The many friends of Miss Ruth Meyers will be pleased to learn of her recent marriage to Henry Hamburger of Lovellville. The ceremony took place in LaGrange, Indiana on Tuesday evening.

It was in April when the prize winning Shepherd dog of George Merryweather was stolen. That is the dog was a prize winner as far as the Merryweather family was concerned. It was just last week that it became known that the beloved dog was stolen by a River Rouge woman and was sentenced to 90 days in the Detroit House of Correction because she could or would not raise the $10 fine. However, the dog has not been recovered and the woman steadfastly denies that she knows where it is.

Well, the fish didn't exactly jump into the boat when Alfred Conery and his family were vacationing in the Upper Peninsula, but Al says they came mighty close, a big pike grabbing his line only four feet from the boat. The party enjoyed some of the best fishing they have ever experienced on this trip.

A light wagon standing in front of Mrs. Polley's residence adjoining the village hall, was struck from the rear by an automobile driven by George Hall at about eight o'clock Friday evening. In the wagon were the two little sons of Henry Sage, aged 9 and 11. The impact frightened the horse who ran away kicking all the way down Main street. Carl was thrown out in front of the home of Mrs. L.C. Hough, where he was picked up badly scared and bruised. Harold was found unconscious some time later in the brick pile being used for the Jolliffe store. He had a compound fracture and a broken leg. The wagon belonged to their uncle, Carl was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O.M. Brooks at Warren, Michigan, on Wednesday, June 30, at high noon, when their daughter, Frances Mae became the bride of Charles Elmer Huston of Plymouth.

The following Plymouth people leave here Sunday for a several weeks trip to Seattle, Washington: Mr. and Mrs. E.C. Leach and Madeleine Bennett; Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Wilcox, Mrs. E.L. Riggs, Mr. and Mrs. L.H. Bennett and Miss Vera Root. They will go by boat from Port Huron to Duluth and then by rail. Accompanying the above party but going as far as Duluth only will be Mrs. W.O. Allen, Miss Mary Connor, Miss Minnie Heide, Mrs. Phila Harrison, Miss Kate P. Asche and Miss Meda Wheeler. They will be gone about 10 days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Wolf and daughters Elsa and Lillian joined the former's son, Will and other friends in the city last Sunday and enjoyed a day's excursion to Put-in-Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith of West Town line very ably entertained the members of the school board and their wives on Thursday evening. The usual business was transacted after which a social hour was enjoyed.

The new penny about to be coined at the Philadelphia mint marks a radical departure in American coinage. The penny will not only bear the head of Abraham Lincoln, but the inscription "In God We Trust". Heretofore the coins had borne only the head of Liberty and the eagle.

Reverend and Mrs. George Elms and family left Monday for Monroe, Michigan where he has accepted a call with the Lutheran church there.

Elden H. Tiffin and Bertha Farrand were married in the M.E. parsonage last Saturday evening.

The annual school meeting was held last Monday evening with 16 persons present, four of whom were school board members. Minutes of past year were read by secretary, P.W. Voorhies. The board recommended that amounts be raised as follows: contingent fund $3650, teachers' fund $2000 and $15.00 for the library. President Hough explained that the contingent fund included $1000 due on the bond next year plus $400 interest on the bond. The election of two new trustees was next in order and Mrs. E.W. Charles and E.C. Hough were re-elected unanimously. A discussion followed by President Hough who stated that the board was contemplating in the near future, a manual training and domestic science department as well as a chemistry department as pertaining to agriculture.

Bids will open for post-office building on Monday. Some hope city officials will offer government use of small park in front of school house. It is known that there are no restrictions as to how this small triangle of city owned land may be used except that any buildings erected on this property must be used within the year built or revert back to the property owner in which case the city could use the structure for a library.

Kiwanis musical to be held in park on July 18 and 19 to be hilarious affair. William McClain will have the lead role and Ray Levandowski, Dr. Freeman Hoover, Gertrude Sisung, James Sessions and Pierre Kenyon also having leading parts. Music is under direction of Mrs. Edna O'Conner. The Hill Billy chorus will be composed of Plymouth businessmen, with Frankie and Johnnie done in pantomime by four of the specialists.

If plans now being formulated by George Bricher of Mill road come true Plymouth will soon have on the market one of the nation's best mineral waters. The famous local artesian well destroyed a short time ago by dynamite has now been revived.

Former Livonian Weds In Washington

Olympia, Washington and the First Methodist Church there was the scene June 20 of the evening wedding of Miss Ruth Anna Nelson and Mr. Larry Gene Neubrech. The bride is the daughter of the Fritz Nelsons of 15739 Southampton in Livonia and was on the faculty of Gallimore school for two years. An ankle length white satin gown with a lace bodice and sleeves was chosen by the bride. She wore a fingertip net veil, caught into a pearl accented headpiece and carried a bouquet of roses and stephanotis. The bride was given away by her father, Jean Nelson, sister of the bride, who served as maid of honor, wore a blue print sheath with a lace net overskirt. The bridesmaid, Janet Neubrech, sister of the groom, wore a similar dress. Both carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations and blue delphinium. As flower girl, Diane Eickbush, wore a white eyelet dress with a blue sash. Donald Hoover of Seattle

Plymouth Grads Wed

Miss Ruby Grady and Mr. Carl Albert Nelson were married on July 11 at 2 p.m. in St. John's Lutheran Church of Wayne. The Rev. G.L. Press officiated at the ceremony.

Given away by her father, Mr. Luther Grady of Plymouth, the bride wore a gown of iridescent sequins, with lace and tulle overskirt. A fingertip veil and a white rose and orchids bouquet completed her wedding adornment.

A gown of pastel blue with matching carnation bouquet was chosen by the matron of honor, Mrs. Bonnie Thompson, aunt of the bride. Miss June Alexander, bridesmaid, wore a pastel pink gown with matching carnations.

Assisting the groom were Marlin Thompson and Russell Reece. Ushers were Bob and Bert Nelson. A selection of hymns was sung.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Luther Grady, chose a navy blue silk with a pink corsage and pink accessories. Mrs. Nels Nelson wore a blue lace cotton dress with white accessories and a pink corsage.

Guests from Dearborn, Wayne, Garden City, Northville, Plymouth, Redford, Lansing, and Grand Rapids attended the wedding, and reception. For the wedding trip to Niagara Falls, the bride wore an orange two-piece suit with white accessories. Both the bride and groom are graduates of Plymouth High. They will make their home at 35700 Hazelwood in Wayne.

Local Artists' Work Available to Residents

Original paintings by members of the Three Cities Art Club are now available for purchase at two locations in Plymouth. Oil paintings and water-colors may be seen at both the Early American Shop, 621 S. Main Street and at Cadillac Draperies, 217 N. Main Street. Prices range from $5.00 for small water-colors to $200.00 for large oils on linen canvases. Most of the paintings are within the $25.00 to $50.00 bracket. All pictures are framed ready for hanging. At a later date a browsing section of unframed, matted water-colors and sketches will be installed at both stores.

The artists featured at this time are: Mrs. Mabel Bacon, Canadian born Plymouth resident, whose painting won first honors in the oil-painting division at the recent Kessler-Buick Regional Art Show in Detroit.

Mrs. Margaret Cramer, native of Regensburg, Germany now living in Wayne, Mich. is well known for her local demonstrations in silk-screen printing as an art form. Mrs. Cramer has taught adult education classes in art in Livonia and Plymouth. Her portrait of a neighbor's child was chosen for exhibit at a Michigan Artists show in Ann Arbor on July 27th.

Mrs. Cathrine Hartley of Northville, mosaicist, water-colorist, presently studying at the Arts School of the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit.

Stan Hench, resident of Walled Lake and teacher of art in Plymouth elementary schools.

Roy Hocking of Wayne.

Mich., teacher of art in Wayne Jr. High School. His "Knights in Armor" was also selected for viewing at the Michigan Artists Show in Ann Arbor.

Mrs. Jessie Hudson, Scottish born Plymouth resident, majoring in Fine Arts at Eastern Michigan University. A mosaic of Mrs. Hudson's is on exhibit in the Student Show at Eastern Michigan University Galleries in Ypsilanti.

The Three-Cities Art Club exhibits regularly in Plymouth and Northville libraries with shows changing every three months. For information regarding paintings at any of these locations call Mrs. Mabel Bacon, GL 3-3725 or Mrs. Jessie Hudson, GL 3-3551.

To The Editor

To: The Plymouth High School Class of 1941
In-care of Plymouth Mail Dear Classmate,

We are striving for a 20th year class reunion in 1961 and need your suggestions and ideas.

How about getting together at an "indoor picnic supper" on Wednesday, July 22, 1959, time: 6:00 p.m., place: 42300 Ann Arbor Road, just east of Lilley? Be sure to bring your husband or wife, your own food, beverage, plates, silverware, etc.

It certainly will be just like "old times" seeing all of you. Unfortunately, we have lost contact with several classmates, but hope that someone will know where they may be located.

Don't disappoint us, we are hoping you will be able to attend.

Sincerely,

Young Lake Pointers Start Play School

By MARCY BARTSON GL 3-6729
Here is some wonderful news for you busy mothers with little ones between the ages of two and five. One, two, buckle my shoe. Let's all go to play school! Place: 14440 Shadywood Drive Time: 9:30 to 11:00 a.m., Days: Tuesday, Wednesday, and Friday. Instructors—Sandy Fielden and Barb Heid; Begin July 21, ends September 4.

Sandy, who is a Girl Scout, decided she could earn some of her achievement badges by incorporating play school with some of her achievements. The school will be on a non-profit basis, with a 25-cent charge per day to cover recreational material and refreshments for the children. The school will be held in Sandy's recreation room, and sounds like a very nice idea and a help to busy mothers. Warren and Lois Dusibier of 14401 Shadywood Drive spent an enjoyable four days at East Tawas recently. They rented a cottage at the end of Lake Huron where the swimming is always fine. The weather was perfect so that the little Dusibiers, Brian, Darry and Wendy were able to enjoy every minute of their stay at the lake.

Dennis Jaskierney celebrated his second birthday last week. He had a wonderful time when his mother Nora took him to a party in honor of his birthday as well as those of his cousins Lynn and Scott who were observing their second and fifth birthdays respectively. The children had great fun when lunch, including ice cream and cake was served to them picnic style in the back yard.

John and Chip Ennis are enjoying the company of John's sister Ann Ennis of Terrytown, New York. She came to visit all the Ennises, but mostly to have her first look at the newest member of the family, Terrance Michael Ennis.

Pat and Hene Herriman had fun when they attended Hene's class reunion recently. About 100 of the original class were present at the happy affair. Presently the Herrimans are away on a long awaited vacation.

Bill Richards wishes to express his thanks for the kind thoughts and flowers that were sent to his father's funeral by the Lake Pointe neighbors.

See you next week! Please do share all the wonderful experiences of vacation time with us. Call GL 3-6729. Flash! A darling little brown and white collie puppy was found lost in the Village Sunday. It has been taken to the Plymouth Township Dogcatcher, Mr. Ellison—GL 3-4928. It may be claimed by calling him. After five days this cute little dog will be exterminated, so if he's yours or you know who his owner might be, or if you would like a fine pet, do look into the matter.

News Of July Fourth Holiday In Canton Township Socials

By ESTHER SPRENGEL GL 3-0194

Although the folks seem to enjoy hearing what their friends and neighbors are up to, they also like to have informative articles included in our township column. I have tried to get several things started but due to lack of a available information didn't carry them out as yet. It came to mind the other day that perhaps many do not know what our township government consists of, so with a little luck I shall try to find out, but first to what is happening to the residents of our township.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pechat of Hanford Rd., are proudly boasting of a new daughter (their first child), Suzanne Lynn, born June 27, weighing in, at the Beyer Hospital, at 6 lb., 4 oz. It was Suzanne's proud aunt, Mrs. Rocco, that gave us the information. Mom and Dad are still up in the clouds.

We and the folks on Beck Rd. have some new neighbors and the youngsters in the neighborhood have some new playmates. Coming to the township from Ypsilanti are Mr. and Mrs. John Matfert and their four children, Albert, Jimmy, Gary and Jeannette. The children are acquainted already, and we shall meet Mr. and Mrs. Matfert soon.

The Sprengels had a very pleasant surprise last week, when my aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Orley Smith of Baldwin Park, California, dropped in on us unexpectedly. Although our visit was short, due to the necessity for Mr. and Mrs. Smith to return to California because of the illness of Mrs. Smith's father, it was wonderful to see them again after such a long time.

It was a family affair Fourth of July vacation for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas St. Louis and sons, Bob and Jerry, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Combs and sons Johnny and Chucky and Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson and children Mary, Alice and Jimmy. The St. Louis' were at a cottage for a week at Brighton Lake and the Johnsons and Combs joined them for the Fourth of July.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leonard of Beck Rd., have a young house guest, Paul "Butch" Nevada of Detroit. Butch is the Leonard's son Steve's best friend when they lived in Detroit and Butch comes out every now and then, to spend a while with Steve.

Although a detailed account of the retirement of our fire chief, Mr. Dean McClue and the selection of the new chief Mr. Fred Korte will be run in the paper at a later date, we would like to add our praise to Mr. McClue for his fine work these past years, and add our congratulations to Mr. Korte on his appointment. Mr. McClue is retiring due to doctor's orders.

We would like to introduce

Who's New in Plymouth

WHEN BILL NELSON's new job brought him and his wife Pat and their two-year-old daughter, Kirsten, to Plymouth six weeks ago they decided to rent to see if they liked the area. They not only like Plymouth, but are making plans to move from the upper apartment they have been renting to the lower floor in the lovely old home on Penniman and purchase it. With the magic of an artistic homemaker, Pat has made their upstairs quarters bright, modern, and comfortable and their plans for the old mellow home are long-range and extensive. Bill was released from active duty six weeks ago as Public Information Officer, Joint Staff, U.N. Command of the Military Armistice Commission. He was stationed in Seoul, Korea, spent some time in Japan where he was joined for a time by Pat, and is still a Reserve officer. Both of the Nelsons are native Michigan anders, brought up and educated here. Bill has done considerable public relations work and at present has joined the staff of the Chandler publications.

'Gingerbread' Fading Away

California Builders Turning To Cleaner Lines in Homes

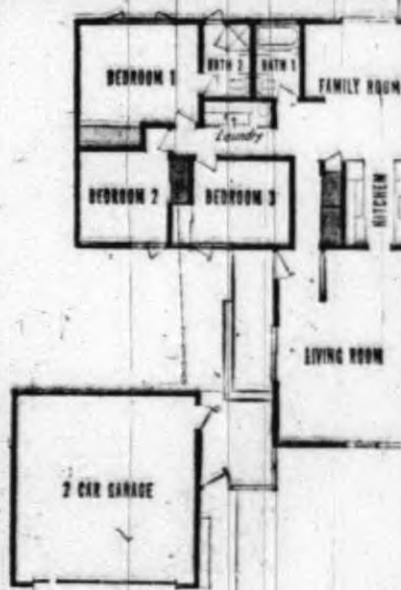

Although California houses have become known in recent years for their fancy "gingerbread" exterior decoration, there are signs that a change is slowly taking place. An occasional development is built of clean-lined, low functional houses, in which modern materials are used in a straightforward manner.

An example of such a house is the one pictured here. Designed by Campbell & Wong, nationally known architectural firm, and built in San Jose by PermaBilt Homes, the house won an Award of Merit from House & Home magazine. It sold at $16,250 including land.

There are two indoor living areas—a 16 by 21-foot living room and a 10 by 14-foot family room. The dining end of the living room is separated from the entry hall by a translucent plastic screen.

The kitchen conveniently lies between the living and family rooms. It is situated so that the housewife in it can look through a wide glass door in the far end of the family room to watch children in the back yard.

Wide roof overhangs shade the house on sunny days. The roofing material is asphalt shingles, used by Campbell & Wong for the color variety available. Throughout the whole development, which included seven basically different exteriors, the architects specified white, brown, and black asphalt-shingle roofs. Muted, earth-tone colors were used for sidewalls, trim, and accents. All of these colors were combined to give 12 different exterior color schemes for the 150 house subdivision.

The house illustrated has a brown roof, white stucco sidewalls, a beige concrete grille, olive-gray trim, and a cinnamon-colored entry gate and front door.

Cut the large, woolly gray leaves from the tall mule-ear plant along the road, fasten them in a rosette to a pin-holder in a shallow bowl and accent with one thistle removed with a knife from its prickly plant. It's a simple yet stunning arrangement of wild flowers suitable for the most formal room. And most people will ask what the flowers are.

Not every wild flower is worth cutting for a bouquet. It certainly isn't worth picking flowers protected by State Conservation laws and thus making yourself liable to a fine, if caught. In summer, conservation laws protect such wild flowers as fringed gentian and cardinal flower, checkerberry and bunchberry and the flowering orchis.

Not is it worth gathering the most plentiful wild flowers if there's still a long auto ride before they can be put in water. By that time, they won't be worth making a bouquet of. Other wild flowers such as the blue chrysanthemum along the roadsides and white roses will too quickly wither under the best of conditions to be worth picking.

Brown-eyed Susans, however, dot roadsides, meadows and the edges of properties all summer from Colorado eastward. Cut them and place in a crock or jug or stoneware pitcher and the flowers stay fresh looking for more than a week. Queen Anne's Lace is a weed to the farmer but it not only lasts well when cut but combines attractively with pink floribunda roses such as Betty Prior.

The first goldenrods start to open in July. They've been falsely accused of causing hay fever but for most people this flower isn't the culprit. Whether it's a spiky variety or a plume one, goldenrod makes an excellent flower for bouquets. As a matter of fact, the English have taken this native American flower and grow it in their gardens. Milkweed, as common as goldenrods, may not last as well. That's because of its milky juice and, like poppies from the garden, the end of the severed stem must be seared in a flame to seal the juice if the flower is to last in water.

Actually, there's no end to the wild flowers that can be cut for satisfactory bouquets in combination with other wild flowers or some garden flowers. They aren't confined to lakes or mountains but will be found along roadsides and even empty lots near home.

As with garden flowers, it's always best to cut rather than just break off the stems of wild flowers. A knife or small pruning shears is a good tool to use. This means you can cut stems of different lengths. It also means that the plant won't be pulled up and destroyed, thereby reducing the wild flower population.

Place wild flowers in water as soon as possible after they've been cut. Letting them stand in a pail of water for several hours contributes to their longevity but this isn't as necessary for goldenrod, daisies and most of the wild flowers that are worth cutting as it is for garden flowers. Do, however, remove leaves from the part of the stem that will be under water when they are being placed in containers.

PRETTY AS A PICTURE is a bouquet of goldenrod, asters and black-eyed Susans, all picked along the roadside. Choose and cut wild flowers carefully.

Wrong Messages Make Some Get Fat And Some Stay Lean

PART 2
(Following is the second of four dispatches on overweight.)

By Patricia McCormack United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—Why is it that some lucky persons can go through life "eating like a horse"—and never get fat?

The answer to that question, when it comes, can do much to crack the mystery surrounding the fat of the land.

Science reasons that the persons who stay thin, though enormous of appetite, must have some kind of marvelous internal regulator in their brains. It automatically balances food intake and energy output.

In "fats" and "thins," the eating urge is in response to some kind of message flashing through the brain's switchboard.

Everybody gets the same message. But, it is interpreted differently. And some get it more frequently than others.

Research with laboratory mice has demonstrated that a tiny cluster of cells in the so-called "old brain"—hypothalamus—controls the urge to eat, maintaining a balance between intake of energy producing units, calories, and output, activity that burns calories.

When a certain part of the hypothalamus of one mouse was injured, the animal ate incessantly and grew enormously fat.

A different part of the "old brain" was injured in another mouse. The animal refused to eat—even when food was placed in its mouth.

During the experiments, it is believed the appetite-control center of the brain was manipulated. The center is called the "appetite" to emphasize its resemblance to the thermostat used to turn a furnace on and off.

But how does the appetite turn appetite on and off?

One theory holds that we eat for calories and then stop when enough energy has been taken in.

A thermostatic theory proposes that we eat to keep warm and feel satiated when food assimilation brings a rise in total body heat production.

The most widely accepted theory is the glucostatic theory of Dr. Jean Mayer and associates at Harvard University. It holds that appetite signals in the brain are turned on and off by fluctuating levels of sugar (glucose) in the blood.

Low blood sugar, according to this theory, brings hunger; high blood sugar raised by food intake, brings satiation.

The nature of messages fed into the appetite may cause it to produce a wrong answer. Wrong messages are believed to be at the root of compulsive eating.

Odds and Ends

As a "Happy Homemaker" if you have suggestions to submit for this column we will pay you $1.00 for every one printed. Send your ideas to this paper, marked Att: Odds and Ends for The Homemaker.

Leave closed doors and dresser drawers open occasionally to keep moisture from gathering and to stir up air already inside.

Flapping small rugs to rid them of dust is likely to break the yarns in the backing.

To refresh plastic upholstery in cars, wipe with a mild solution of sal soda, a tablespoon per half bucket of water.

Use rubber-tipped bobby pins to hold plastic material in place as you sew on it.

To soften plastic wood, use denatured alcohol solvent. Scrub fire screens with hot water and detergent to remove gummy soil.

Rub aluminum ware with a peeled apple to restore the gleam.

Perk up young appetites by making a face atop a meat patty, mashed potato, or peach salad. Slices of pimento-stuffed green olives make eyes and ears; a half slice up for a snile and down for a scowl.

Apply wax in thin coats on linoleum and let each coat dry thoroughly before you apply another. This helps to avoid accidents caused by slippery floors.

Use a steam iron to raise the nap of a carpet that has been matted down by furniture legs. Hold the iron down near the nap but do not touch rug with iron.

Take a jar of soapsuds and another of clean water along to a picnic. Then you can wash your hands and the children's before and after eating.

Summer's Two Favorites Are in This Dessert

Strawberry-lemonade pie is a creamy dessert for summertime. Strawberries, frozen lemonade concentrate and instant nonfat dry milk crystals are among the ingredients.

This recipe combines vanilla pudding mix, frozen lemonade concentrate and fresh strawberries into a creamy dessert.

Strawberry Lemon Pie (One 9-inch pie)

One package (3½ ounces) vanilla pudding mix; 1 can (6 ounces) frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed; ¾ cup water, one 9-inch baked pastry shell, 1 cup sliced, fresh strawberries; 2 tablespoons sugar, 2½ cups whipped, instant nonfat dry milk crystals. Combine pudding mix, lemonade concentrate and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until pudding thickens and starts to boil. Cool slightly. Turn into pastry shell. Chill until firm. Combine strawberries and sugar; mix well.

Arrange strawberry mixture over pudding and top with whipped, instant crystals.

TO WHIP instant nonfat dry milk crystals (Makes about 2½ cups):

- Mix ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with ½ cup ice water.
- Whip until soft peaks form, about 3-to-4 minutes.
- Add 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Continue beating, while gradually adding ¼ cup sugar, until stiff peaks form, 3-to-4 minutes longer.

Spiced Strawberry-Pineapple Cups (4-6 servings)

One-half cup sugar, ¼ cup water, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg, 2 cinnamon sticks, 2 cups diced, fresh pineapple; 1 pint fresh strawberries.

Combine sugar and water; heat to boiling point. Add nutmeg and cinnamon sticks; cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, 10 minutes. Add pineapple and strawberries; mix lightly and chill.

Motels For Modern Travel

If you haven't stayed overnight at a motel since the "tourist camp" days of yesterday, you're in for a pleasant surprise.

Many new motels are luxurious. The better ones offer television, wall-to-wall carpeting, bathtubs and showers, radiant heating, and air foam mattresses. Many have swimming pools.

Some offer such service extras as baby-sitting. Many have excellent restaurants, while some are limited to serving breakfast for early starters.

Their convenience to motorists and their reasonable rates are further reasons for their popularity and growth.

And, grow they have. The latest figures show 57,000 motels through the country. This means 1,197,000 units, able to accommodate 1,519,339 people daily.

The top states? California, Texas and Florida—each with more than 3,000 motels.

Oregon, Colorado, Minnesota, Michigan and New York are in the 1,500 to 3,000 bracket. Then (1,000-1,500) come Arizona, Missouri, Illinois.

On your next trip try a motel. You may even want to stay several nights—visiting local points of interest during the day.

Political 'Courage'

In Lansing lately there has been an unusual opportunity for courage. In this case, as always, the courage needed is that to do the unusual. It means simply a major move at compromise of fiscal problems.

The Governor and the legislature have grabbed each other by the political tail for so long that each appears afraid to let go.

To retreat from your position now, the "smart" political thinking has it, would be to suffer a terrible public blow.

This kind of thinking overlooks the intelligence of Michigan citizens who desperately want to see an end to the bickering which, warranted or not, has made our state an alternate front page item with Louisiana.

In addition, a "negative benefit" will accrue to the party which compromises in that the public will not be enthusiastic about the party which puts its tax program across.

There comes a time in all fields when compromise is the grand strategy. This is especially true of politics. It will be some measure of the stature of those who work in Lansing government to see who is big enough to understand that concept.

The party big enough to bend a little to help the state regain its prestige will also have done a great deal to help itself.

The courage to compromise in this case is like courage in most cases — it's difficult, but usually wisest in the long run. The opportunity should not be passed by in Lansing.

Read Your Newspaper

The value of reading a newspaper is well established. In a changing world, following the news is a continuing education for any thoughtful person. And in the field of thrift and specific benefits, a single advertisement of a needed bargain often saves more than the cost of the newspaper for a year.

Even after being read and discarded, newspapers have many uses. In this respect, they clearly are much superior to rival media. You cannot wrap a fish or start a fire with last night's television program.

More rewards of newspaper reading continue to turn up. An expensive New York charm school, for example, tells feminine students eager to make a hit with men to read a good newspaper regularly. It will give them something to talk about, will show that they are bright and alert.

A new Harper's book on the drug industry, "The Merchants of Life," by Tom Mahoney adds another testimonial as to the power of the press. A scientist of the Upjohn Co. at Kalamazoo, Michigan, in 1954 read one day in the Detroit Free Press of a new German drug that when taken by mouth promised to control diabetes, previously controlled only by daily injections of insulin.

Samples of the drug were ordered by cable. Tests proved its usefulness for many patients. As a result of the scientist reading the news item, Upjohn today has annual sales of $20,000,000 in the drug and 400,000 American diabetes patients have been freed from bothersome and painful injections.

THE INVISIBLE PICKPOCKET

"When You Retire"

By JOHN BAY

Wrigley means chewing gum to most people. But in the geriatric field it refers to a unique system of gradual retirement practiced by the gum makers at the Wm. Wrigley Jr. Company in Chicago.

That's when the Wrigley management conceived the idea of gradual retirement. Here's how their plan works: When an employee reaches 64 he's informed of the pension and social security to which he'll be entitled at 65. He's then asked if he would like to retire at 65 or if he'd prefer to continue.

If he prefers to continue working he fills out an application form which is reviewed by a retirement committee of three executives. They base their consideration on the man's record and recommendations of his supervisors. If his record looks good and if supervisors state that he's still performing competently, his application is approved and he's permitted to continue.

At 66, however, he's required to take a one-month vacation without pay. At 67 he's required to take a two-month vacation without pay. At 68 he takes a three-month vacation without pay, and so on. By the time he reaches 69 or 69 his annual earnings generally equal the amount to which he'd be entitled if he retired.

The company finds that about a third of all employees elect to continue working, and are acceptable to management, after the age of 65.

This system of gradual retirement has many plus values. The company benefits because instead of paying an employee a pension and getting nothing in return, they're able to utilize the employee's services after 65. The plan also permits new employees to be trained and gradually elevated to the jobs vacated by men who retire.

The plan is particularly advantageous to employees because it gives them a chance to adjust to the idea of retirement instead of plunging into the briny depths of leisure time it permits them to become gradually acclimated to the uncertain and sometimes treacherous waters of retirement.

How's Business?

Stocks, Bonds Boom

By Roger W. Babson's Staff

Many investors have been increasingly concerned over the disparity between yields available on high-grade bonds and returns on quality, common stocks. They are wondering whether this condition is an omen of impending adversity for the stock market.

It is difficult to designate any "normal" spread between the rate of return on bond investments and the yield on stocks. Historically, however, yields on stocks have generally exceeded bond yields. This is only natural since equity investors should be compensated for the risks they assume.

They do not have the same security as to income and principal which bondholders enjoy. For example, bondholders have a prior claim on a company's profits at a fixed rate of interest on their investment, and they are entitled to receive the principal value of the bonds bought by them at some specified date in the future. Our studies show that, in certain periods of our history, monetary and economic conditions have upset the relationship between bond and stock yields. However, these periods of imbalance have invariably been followed by substantial declines in stock prices and a consequent boost in stock yields back above the yields on bonds.

Since 1948, the bond yield curve had been converging until bond yields rose above stock yields in 1958. Since then, the yield for bonds has consistently been above the yield for stocks, and the gap has been widening.

This disparity has been due to the prolonged period of borrowing by the federal, state and local governments, and by businessmen and consumers — combined with sharply rising stock prices as a result of good business and inflation fears.

At the moment, there is little indication of a halt in borrowing and/or a cessation of inflation psychology. However, the lessons of the past warn that investors will do well to sell stocks while they are higher to provide a reserve for later purchase of stocks at lower prices.

'If Your Name Is Marion'

This is one of the names which is suited for a boy or a girl in this country. In Europe it would be taken for granted that anyone named Marion is a girl.

This name is a petform from "Mary," and is now looked upon as an independent name. "Mary" is an ancient Hebrew name, and among the many explanations about its meaning, the one that says it means "rebellion" is the accepted one. From the name "Marion" another diminutive was formed; "marionette" was the word that resulted. A marionette is a puppet worked by strings. The art of manipulating marionettes is a very old one.

The ancient Greeks had puppet shows, the Chinese and the Japanese had them, too, and in our own times the art of operating marionettes has become very refined.

"Marion" was a very popular name in the Middle Ages, and that accounts for the fact that it is found as a frequent family name in France. It was an American soldier of French Huguenot ancestry for whom Marion came to be used as a first name for boys. His name was Francis Marion, and he was a hero of the American Revolution, excelling mainly in guerilla warfare.

He proved a master in harassing the enemy communication lines, in capturing scouting parties, and in preventing enemy forces from organizing.

When he found himself up against a superior enemy strength he went hiding in the swamps, and would appear again in the most unexpected places. That's why he was given the nickname "Swamp Fox."

One "Marion," a French girl, is remembered as one of the most beautiful women of the world. She was Marion Delorme in the 17th century. Poets and writers, noblemen, King Louis XIII, and even the famous statesman Cardinal Richelieu admired her. Her palace became one of the most brilliant centers of Paris society.

But finally it came to be the meeting place of a politically discontented group, the "Fronde," and Marion was about to be arrested.

It did not come to that because all of a sudden Marion died. But gossip did not let go of her, it was said that she had merely spread the false rumor of her death to cover her flight from Paris to England.

And for years afterwards she was supposed to have been seen here and there, and the adventurous story of her life was embellished with more and more details, including her alleged marriage to an English lord.

Victor Hugo found himself attracted to the character of Marion, and wrote a drama about her, and Alfred de Vigny made her a character in a novel.

Reapportionment Sure To Become Huge Battle

LANSING — Democrats are starting another statewide fight for reapportionment of the Legislature.

The Democratic State Central Committee June 28 decided to form a committee to plan for reapportionment, a drive that has new significance for Democrats because of the 1959 deadlock in the Legislature over state finances.

The State Central Committee acted after party members in the 14th Congressional district adopted a statement blaming the legislative stalemate on "the undemocratic reapportionment system which permits Republicans to subvert the needs of the state to satisfy their own and their party's selfish ends."

Democrats claim areas for the Senate, a Republican stronghold by a 22-12 margin, are gerrymandered to Republican advantage. The State Senate seats were put into the constitution in 1952 by voters.

Democrats are expected to circulate petitions to put the reapportionment issue on the ballot. It would take signatures totaling 10 per cent of the votes cast for governor in the last election. This would be 231,218 based on the Nov. 4, 1959 turnout.

There is little change for Democrats to get the issue on the ballot through legislative action. It would require a two-thirds vote of both houses to submit the issue to the people.

Senate Democratic Leader Harold Ryan, Detroit, said the proposal "wouldn't get to first base" in the Senate.

Democratic unhappiness with the present district lineup in the Senate was behind their refusal to endorse the proposal for constitutional revision that was on the ballot in November.

Delegates for the constitutional convention would be elected from present State districts.

Some Democrats would like to see outright abolishment of the Senate and creation of a unicameral Legislature.

A more likely proposal would be for the addition of seats that would be nominated by parties and elected at large.

Democrats say the addition of at-large lawmakers would give the population centers a bigger voice in the Senate without stirring up opposition by taking seats away from Republicans.

But any attempt at reapportionment will be more than a struggle for power between Republicans and Democrats. It boils down to a fight between urban and rural areas.

EAST AND WEST MICHIGAN SETTLED differences and reached agreement on a proposal to give special names to North-South highway routes in Michigan.

The Legislature passed a bill to designate US-131 from the Indiana border to Kalkaska as the Mackinac Trail; M-78 and M-49 from the border to Kalkaska as the Green Arrow Route; and US-131 from Kalkaska to the Mackinac Bridge as the Green Arrow Route-Mackinac Trail.

The highway designation proposals were among the first to be made in the 1959 Legislature. It took about six months to work out a compromise.

A bill to designate a West Michigan Mackinac Trail was defeated after East Michigan interests said it would not be historically accurate. The original Mackinac Trail used by Indians west north from Saganaw.

shower after shower after shower

the new electric water heater way

GET IT HOT . . . GET A LOT every time. A new electric water heater provides plenty of hot, hot water for showers and all the family's needs. Detroit Edison has a new Super Supply Plan which makes heaters even more efficient and economical.

Here's the convenient, modern way to GET IT HOT . . . GET A LOT for an operating cost as low as $3.88 per month.

Only electric water heaters give you all these important advantages:

- Efficient—the heat goes into the water
- Fast—new, more efficient heating units
- Install anywhere—need not be near a chimney
- Outer shell—cool to the touch all over
- Long life—meet Edison's rigid standards
- Edison maintains electrical parts without charge
- Automatic—all the time
- Safe—clean—quiet—modern

City Receives Safety Award

An award for "excellence of record" in the field of pedestrian safety was presented last week to Plymouth city officials by the American Automobile Association.

Mayor Albert Glassford was presented with an award Wednesday citing the city's record of no pedestrian deaths for two consecutive years by L. B. Rice, manager of Automobile Club of Michigan's Plymouth division.

The award was a result of the city's entry in the annual AAA Pedestrian Protection contest. Plymouth competed for honors together with 721 other U.S. cities in the under-10,000 population class.

John Trella, Auto Club safety and traffic consultant, said that Chief Kenneth Fisher and the police department were to be commended for their efforts toward making Plymouth "a safer community for persons afoot."

THAT'S AN ORDER
WATERVILLE, N.Y. (UPI) — The town fathers of this community unanimously adopted an ordinance ordering dogs in the area "to stop barking at night."

Reader Speaks: Recalls Days Of Early Plymouth Telephones

To the Editor:
It is not the desire of this writer to detract honor from places where honor belongs, but in the Plymouth Mail's recent obituary of Mrs. Grace E. Voorhies, of Detroit, there would seem to have occurred an error. In the account it was stated that Mrs. Voorhies was Plymouth's first telephone operator. If this be true, the assertion is not in accord with what had been the long time understanding of Karl Starkweather.

The story, however, did stir up a train of memories. Actually, Plymouth's first telephone "Central" if the recollection has not gone amiss—was located at the rear of the stationery, book and novelty store of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bell. Frank Bell, his wife Seme (pronounced Sea m) and their daughter Laura were the operators. Their store was located in the same frame building now occupied in part by the Plymouth Cab Company, or at what is now known as 786 Penniman avenue. In those days, however, there were no street numbers and the present Penniman avenue was then known as Sutton street.

The beginning of Plymouth's local telephone service, it is believed, dates from the year 1900. At that time Mrs. Voorhies could have been only a school girl of 15 summers. It could be possible, of course, that Mrs. Voorhies—the then known as Grace Nowland—could have filled in on occasion, but as to that this writer has no recollection. Grace Nowland, incidentally, was the daughter of Eli Nowland, long time driver of Harry Robinson's horse drawn omnibus line which met all the trains. And believe it or not, but at one time 21 passenger trains arrived and departed from Plymouth each day. Mr. Bell's regular job, by the way, was that of stone cutter for the William H. Hoyt Monument Works of that period.

The size of Plymouth's first telephone switchboard, as it is remembered, seemed not much larger than an oversized checkerboard. Your correspondent can see it now—right there in the back end of the store—with Mrs. Bell or Laura scurrying to answer a call. And that first complete list of local telephone subscribers was less than half the number now found under the "A" listing alone. In 1900, of course, the village had only 1,474 inhabitants. Even after another ten years the town had gained only a couple of hundred more people.

That first list of subscribers was printed on a long 2-column card. This card hung on the wall alongside the then hand-cranked telephone. Or sometimes it might be wrapped around the box-like housing which held the dry cells. The late E.C. Hough had phone No. 1. Dad's number was 48 and grandfather's, it is believed, was 78. Soon more subscribers came in, however, and the list had to be revised. This revision brought out card No. 2. And then in due course card No. 3 became distributed. And No. 3, as is recalled, was the last of the cards. After that all names and numbers were published in folder or booklet form.

The Bell family had their living quarters in connection with the store itself. And the Bells composed the entire operating force for the whole of the 24-hour day. Should a late night call come in someone would have to roll out of bed to answer it. Also, should subscribers sometimes wish to make several successive calls they were admonished to begin informing the operator at the beginning of the first call. You see, it would be quite disquieting for either Mr. or Mrs. Bell to have to repeatedly jump up from the dinner table, or be continuously interrupted from other activities, to answer several successive calls from the same person. And imagine the night time! Besides, a patron would rather have the operator asleep at the switch than asleep in the feathers.

Plymouth's first local telephone system, it seems, was a strictly local enterprise. If memory is correct its name was the Home Telephone Company. But before long there was competition. The field looking good, the Bell people came along to set up a rival system. Let it be quickly said, however, that the name "Bell" in this instance had nothing to do with the Plymouth Bell family. A few of the local merchants, wishing to be strictly up-to-date, subscribed to both systems. They could therefore be seen in their advertisements, and if they could, they would procure the same telephone number for each of the two phones.

But the dual system didn't make for too happy a situation. It resulted in too much confusion and inconvenience. Besides, and even though the rate was only a dollar per month per householder (a business place had to pay a half dollar more), not many would acknowledge that they could afford to install both phones. As might be expected, a merger was in the offing and in due process this became a reality. After that, everyone was satisfied.

As has already been said, dad was among the first subscribers. It was 48 2-Rings for the store—48 3-rings for the house. The store could call the house or the house could call the store without calling "Central". Dad's general store, by the way, was located in the east half of the two-story brick building now known as 200-204 S. Main street. This east half, then owned by mother, is presently occupied by a beauty salon and barber shop.

At the turn of the century the west half was occupied by groceryman L. E. (Toole) Cable. Mr. Cable had long been an active member of the Plymouth Cornet Band. What had once been the Cable store is currently known as the Plymouth Junior Achievement Center. I remember the time when Bill Hoops, the butcher, came to dad and offered $1,500 for the east half of the building.

Dad had signed up for a telephone—yes—but not too eagerly. The telephones in those days, as everyone knows, were fixed to the walls. The mouthpiece projected from it and was stiffly movable to suit the convenience of the user. To dad it somewhat reminded him of a clothes hook. I was in the store when the telephone was installed and made ready to go. The first thing dad did after that was to hang his hat and coat on it—covering the mouthpiece—at the same time saying that that would likely be all the use he would ever get out of it. But time passed and he soon placed it in the category of necessity.

And yet, before inauguration of Plymouth's first regular local phone service, the town was not entirely devoid of outside telephone communication. A special telephone service for outside contacts had already been hooked up at Gene Lombard's combination express and insurance office. This was located in the same 2-story frame building now known as 284 S. Main street. This is the building which for several recent years was occupied by a shoe repair shop but which at the moment is tenanted by a small coin shop.

Any local merchant or resident, wishing to make a quick 2-way contact with some outside firm already enjoying the service, could go to the express office, pay the required fee, and use the phone. It is remembered when dad once did so. The occasion was when he wanted to bawl out some wholesaler who had done the store some sloppy service.

After the vitiolitics were over and dad had paid the fee Mr. Lombard remarked to dad—"Well, Lou, by now I suppose you feel ten cents better". There were no private booths during that early period. Lombard had heard everything that dad had dishd out. There was also a telephone in the railroad ticket office, it is believed, and perhaps also one in the then young Daisy plant and maybe one at Markham's.

But what is believed to have been the very first telephone system ever to be installed in Plymouth, however, was a strictly private affair. Early in the Gay Nineties a pioneer Plymouth woman Mrs. Mary Davis (born in 1809—same year as Abraham Lincoln) had caused to be set up a two-party line between the Davis and the Starkweather homes. Poles had been set and wires strung. Because the two homes at that time were only four blocks separated, however, it would seem that the entire project had been carried out principally for purposes of novelty. But the contrivance worked.

As a wee toddler yours truly remembers having been held high to a quaint hole-in-a-box mouth piece at grandfather Starkweather's and calling out—"Hello Dai-de". "Dai-de", during great-grandmother's lifetime, had been the only cognomen by which I knew her. In fact, that was near as I could then get to pronouncing the word "Davis". Mrs. Davis, by the way, had never wanted any of her people to address her as "Grandma"—much less "Great-grandmother". She only wanted to be called "Mother Davis". "Dai-de", however, was always all right for wee tots brother Max and I.

It has now been 64 years since great-grandmother Davis passed away. Her portrait, however, has peacefully reposed against the upstairs hall wall for more years than that. And, because the memory of her continues so tenderly green, each day or night—as we chronicler passes by the benign features of her noble countenance, he still seems to say—though perhaps not out loud—"Hello, Dai-de", or "Good night, Dai-de". In the performance of these daily greetings, however, no telephone is necessary.

Karl Starkweather

BOSTON (UPI) — Ruptured discs, the uncomfortable complaint of many a human, affects dogs too—particularly the longer ones such as dachshunds, cocker spaniels and pekingese.

About 75 per cent of the dogs that have ruptured discs in the neck region may get relief from a simple 15-minute operation developed by Dr. Eric Olson, a Swedish veterinarian. The operation has been performed successfully at the Memorial Animal Hospital in Boston and in several other clinics in the United States.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates the daily demand for water in the United States at 200 billion gallons—and it may double in the next 25 years.

renewal project in the urban renewal area described above is hereby approved, and that the Mayor Pro-tem is hereby authorized and directed to execute and file said application with the Housing and Home Finance Administration, and to provide such additional information and to furnish such documents as may be required by said Administrator, and to act as the authorized representative of the City of Plymouth. Carried unanimously.

The Clerk presented a communication from the Junior Chamber of Commerce requesting the city to participate in sponsoring the July 4th celebration.

Moved by Comm. Hartmann and supported by Comm. Terry that the city give $100 to the Junior Chamber of Commerce for the July 4th celebration, said sum to be transferred from the Unappropriated Reserve account to the Parks and Recreation account. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Comm. Hartmann and supported by Comm. Wernette that the meeting be adjourned. Carried unanimously.

Time of adjournment was 8:25 p.m.

Plymouth Band Represented At Interlochen

Russ Stahl, Don Argo, Leroy Lane, Elaine L. Moran and Mary Travis, of Plymouth were among the 200 attending the 1959 All-State High School Band session at the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan June 29 through July 12.

The high school students represented approximately 100 cities and communities in the state. Records from last year's session show that about 80 per cent of the young people who attend the All-State conference are sent on scholarships supplied by local schools or clubs. The Plymouth merchants, local civic organizations, and Plymouth High School Band Parents Association are part of the sponsoring groups for these young people.

In the selection of students, one representative from each school in Michigan, regardless of the size of the school, is accepted on the basis of recommendation. Other vacancies are filled from the remaining scholarship applicants.

Hugh McMillen, director of bands at the University of Colorado in Boulder, Colo., served as conductor of the Michigan All-State High School Band.

This band clinic is one of eight two-week sessions of specialized training in orchestra, choir, band, piano and drama offered by the University of Michigan division of the National Music Camp at Interlochen, during the camp's 32nd season.

Since 1868 Harvard and Yale have played 228 baseball games. Only one of them ended in a tie—1-1 in 11 innings in 1905.

Lots of Free Parking In A Friendly Shopping Center

DOWNTOWN Plymouth provides a modern shopping center with a friendly touch that cannot be achieved elsewhere. Stores of nearly all type are within a few blocks of each other.

FREE PARKING in the heart of Plymouth's shopping center makes it easy to reach the majority of stores. Most other stores not surrounding the Central Lot also have their own free parking.

Getting Along With Those Nipping Dogs

Scientists have sent mail by missile, but they can't get off the ground in their efforts to solve an age-old postal problem — how to get Fido to relax his grip on the seat of the postman's pants.

Postmen, along with salesmen, delivery boys, casual callers and other miscellaneous human victims are suffering at least 300 nips a day across the nation.

That is the number of dog bites that are reported. Authorities fear there are many more that aren't.

More than 100,000 dog bites were reported in the United States last year. Opportunities for even more assaults are greater this year for the simple reason that there are more dogs — 25 million of them all told.

Most dogs are regarded as well-mannered and well-trained by Tex Fawcett, veteran dog trainer, leading expert on man's best friend and an official of the Purina Dog Care Center at St. Louis, Mo.

But the few trouble makers often spoil things for all the docile dogs. Fawcett offered United Press International a list of helpful tips for keeping peace with the pet world. Here is what he advised:

—Never force your attentions on a strange dog. You may not be afraid of him, but HE is likely to be afraid of you. Let him make the first effort to break the ice.

—Don't run, even if a barking dog is charging straight at you with teeth bared. Your flight will make him think you have had bad intentions and should be bitten. Just stand still and talk to him in a reassuring voice, holding your hands well out of his reach, until he has calmed down. Then slowly walk away.

—Avoid sudden, jerky movements. If a dog seems friendly, slowly extend the back of a doubled-up fist — your left one, if you are right handed — and let the dog sniff it.

—Never lean over a strange dog. Stoop to his level. A standing person looks like a giant to a little dog.

—Don't back a dog into a corner. If he feels trapped, he may try to fight his way out.

Here's Something to Keep Small Fry Busy

The Event Plymouth Has Waited For . . .

PAPES' ANNUAL SUMMER CLEARANCE SALE

SAVE 20% to 40% on

- ★ GIFTS TO GIVE LADIES!
- ★ BEAUTIFUL THINGS FOR THE HOME!

850 W. Ann Arbor Trl. Plymouth
Glenview 3-0656

With school out youngsters are turning plaintively to busy mothers with "What can I do today?" Toys, TV and games have lost their favor.

Well, here's an idea that will occupy both boys and girls all summer and at the same time give them some pin money as well as teach them business principles they can use the rest of their lives. And, all under the guise of play!

Suggest the youngsters set up iced tea stands in your neighborhood. Why iced tea? With the new Instant tea there is no muss for you or them, because it's easier to make. Just cold tap water and ice is necessary besides, of course, the jar of Instant.

Guiding the youngsters into this enterprise is a "fun" way to introduce them to business practices.

Business Lesson No. 1: Choose the best possible product. Iced tea, one of the best thirst-quenchers there is.

Lesson No. 2: How to finance a business. You, as banker, loan them the money for their raw materials—about 50 cents for a jar of Instant tea, 25 cents for paper cups, 5 cents for sugar and 10 cents for lemons.

Lesson No. 3: Buying raw materials. Explain that the trip to the grocery is like that of a restaurant owner buying his supplies from a wholesaler.

Lesson No. 4: Site location. Choose a nearby, well-traveled place to set up the stand.

Lesson No. 5: Merchandising. Show them how to decorate their stands to attract customers. Encourage their ideas too.

Lesson No. 6: Advertising. Put up signs. They can probably make them, but you may want to suggest some ideas such as: "Hot? Have a glass of iced tea."

Lesson No. 7: Keep records. Have the youngsters list the number of servings and amount of sales. A 50 cent jar of Instant tea makes approximately 35 to 40 large paper cup servings, depending on customers' preference in tea strength.

Lesson No. 8: Profit. At 5 cents a cup, therefore, one jar of instant tea will gross around $2. Less, of course, your 90 cent loan. A very tidy $1.10 net profit.

Lesson No. 9: Satisfaction of enterprise. Let them spend the profit. Some will spend it all on candy or a toy; but if you have an enterprising little businessman in the family he'll skim off a dime or two for that and put the rest back into more tea and paper cups for tomorrow's business day.

Chicken Salad Sandwich

Treat

3 cups of diced cooked chicken.
2 cups diced celery
8 slices white bread
16 colored gumdrops
1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad
1/4 cup chopped pickle relish
3 tablespoons bottled lemon juice

Lightly toss chicken and celery, add bottled lemon juice, and blend in sweet pickle relish and salad dressing. Makes enough for 4 hearty sandwiches. Cut each sandwich into quarters and wrap each quarter individually in foil. Secure the wrapping with a toothpick pierced through a gumdrop for an extra treat.

Lemony-Tuna Finger Sandwiches

1 7 oz. can chunk style tuna
2 minced hard-cooked eggs
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/4 cup ketchup
1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
1/2 cup crushed green olives
4 or 6 slices white bread

In bowl, with fork, break undrained tuna into small pieces; stir in eggs, mayonnaise, bottled lemon juice and olives. Filling makes 2 or 3 sandwiches. Cut each sandwich into three strips, and wrap with foil.

Banana Peanut Butter Delights

3 large bananas, crushed
1 1/2 cups peanut butter
1/2 cup bottled lemon juice
4 slices white bread

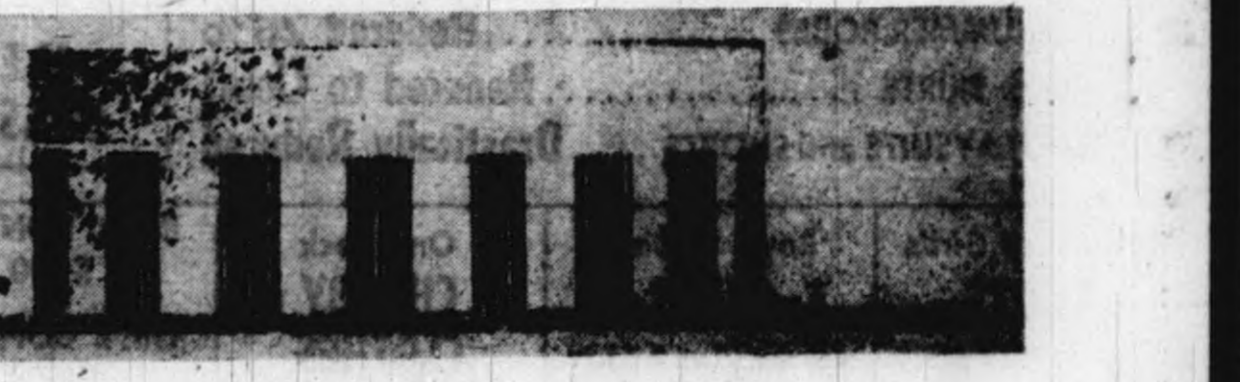

Blend bananas with bottled lemon juice, spread 2 slices of bread with peanut butter, then spread with crushed bananas. Cover with second slice of bread. Cut in halves; wrap in foil.

Campfire Cocoa

4 tablespoons cocoa
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups water
1 tall can (1 2/3 cups evaporated milk)
1/4 cup maple-blended syrup

Combine cocoa and salt in campfire pot. Add water and bring to a boil, stirring constantly with long spoon. Simmer 2 minutes on back of grill (away from the hottest coals.) Stir in evaporated milk and maple-blended syrup. Bring to serving temperature but do not boil. Yield: 4 servings.
