

Blame Three Canton Fires On Arsonists

An appeal to the public to be on the alert for arsonists who have started three fires in Canton Township within a week was made yesterday by Fire Chief Fred Korte as he and the Fire Division of the Michigan State Police continued their investigation.

One old house was destroyed, another was partially burned and a grainery barn was saved in three separate fires since Monday of last week.

Prior to the discovery of two of the fires, nearby residents reported hearing a car with a noise-making muffler pulling away fast.

The first fire on Monday night of last week completely destroyed a two-story frame house that had been abandoned. Chief Korte said that the house, located on Haggerty near Koppnick, was like a torch when he arrived a few minutes after the alarm.

The building had no electricity or other services which may start a fire. But neighbors said that it appeared that the fire started in the upstairs. The alarm was sounded at 11:55 p.m.

Another empty small frame house at Lotzford and Lotz roads was believed set afire Thursday night. This alarm was at 11:33 p.m. Firemen extinguished this blaze before it got out of hand and damage was estimated at $300.

The final fire was at 8:44 p.m. Sunday. A grainery holding 1,000 bushels of grain at Warren and Sheldon Rd. was believed set ablaze with (Continued on Page 6)

Voters Turn Thumbs Down

Revised School Proposal May Go On Ballot Again in June

A new look at the Plymouth Community School District's future needs will be taken by the Board of Education in the wake of last Monday's sound beating-down of two bond issues totaling $4,500,000.

Voters going to the polls turned down all four propositions, one of them asking $4,000,000 for a half dozen school projects and the other of $500,000 to build an auditorium. The auditorium suffered the worst defeat, going down over 2-1, while the larger proposition was rejected by a 4-3 margin.

The Board of Education, in session Monday night to learn the fate of the propositions, has decided that it must re-submit new proposals, probably not until the regular school election next June.

It had been hoped to have the proposed "combination" school started this spring for opening by September 1961. What the delay will mean in terms of overcrowding has not been determined.

There were 1,583 electors at the polls Monday.

This was a mere 19 percent of the approximately 8,200 who are eligible to vote in the Plymouth Community School District.

Propositions 1 and 2 concerned the $4,000,000 bond issue while Propositions 3 and 4 were for the $500,000 auditorium. Only property owners within the district were allowed to vote on Propositions 2 and 4, the ones giving permission to issue bonds. It was found that all but 42 people voting were property owners.

The bond issue rejections were not the first for Plymouth. In June 1947 the school board asked for five mills for five years. The millage issue had a 314-172 vote but it did not have the two-thirds plurality required at that time. Another proposal allowing the board to construct the buildings carried, but of course this could not be done without the millage increase.

It was midnight before the final tallies were made. Long lines began to form at the High School precinct around 5 p.m. and when the poll closed at 8, there was still a long line. Those in line at 8, of course, were allowed to vote. Precinct 2 is at Gallimore School.

Most everyone spent yesterday trying to analyze the defeat. There appeared to be a combination of factors. The auditorium, it appears, is just not wanted at this time. A proposition by itself, the auditorium had to stand on its own merits and apparently not enough electors felt there was a need. Citizens backing the auditorium issue, along with the school board, felt that Plymouth with its cultural background has long needed an auditorium. Plymouth High is one of the few high schools without an auditorium in this area.

The $4,500,000 proposition could be analyzed in various ways. From the tone of much conversation heard in the line of voters, many were unhappy with the proposed swimming pool for the Junior High. It was to cost $250,000. But there was perhaps a deeper reason for rejection that some felt. It was the question of higher taxes. Without even raising the tax rate, the tax bills have been climbing steadily during recent years due to state and county equalization. Monday's school propositions would have raised the actual rate .57 of a mill over the old rate of 21.95, but many property owners feel that any raise is not good.

Many people of retirement age were noted in the voting lines. These people, who have fixed incomes, cannot stand any increase in expenses and probably many felt the election was one way of keeping this from happening. And it is assumed that the entire economic picture of Michigan at this time may have convinced some electors to vote down such a large expenditure of money, the largest ever proposed here.

Exactly what the school board will come up with in their next proposal may not be known for some time to come. The board expects to call in interested citizens to find out what the public would like.

Board members had spent hundreds of hours working on the proposals and making studies of enrollment and finances. They spent many hours in public appearances to "sell" the bond issues. Around 150 turned out for the Town Hall meeting last Thursday night. From the questions asked there, it appeared that most were dissatisfied with the swimming pool and auditorium requests.

Scoutmaster Wins Top Award for Leaders

At a dinner meeting of the Seventh District of the Detroit Area Council, Edward T. Miller, Jr., 772 Burroughs, received the Silver Beaver, highest award given to Scout leaders. The meeting was attended by over 500 leaders in the Detroit Area and their wives in the Inkster High School Auditorium.

The Silver Beaver was presented by Paul Wilson, vice president of the Detroit Area Council. He explained the qualifications for receiving the award before reading the citation.

Qualifications, according to Wilson's remarks, include long service to the Scout movement, of course, but they include distinguished service given out of unselfish love of youth and willingness to work untriflingly for their best interests. Other scout awards are sought through training courses and definite achievement of skills. The Silver Beaver Award is not sought, but the qualifications seek the man.

The citation for Mr. Miller reads:

"Churchman, civic leader, and automotive company employee, this dedicated Scouter has influenced the lives of countless hundreds of boys. He has held continuous registration in the Scouting Program for over 40 years, during which time he served as Assistant Scoutmaster, Scoutmaster, and Merit Badge Counselor. With the goal now within grasp, the Community Fund

Lights Go Up as Plymouth Prepares for the Holidays

The sight of city workmen erecting Christmas decorations is a reminder enough that the Yuletide season is here. Once more local merchants will launch their part in the observance on Thursday, Dec. 3.

Most local stores will begin their "open-nights-uptil-Christmas" hours Dec. 3 and the lights on Kellogg Park decorations and scenes will be officially turned on that night.

A new nativity scene will soon be erected in Kellogg Park. These and other new decorations will come about through the efforts of the city and merchants who donate to the special Christmas fund.

DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida said that the decorations along the streets will be turned on starting this week but that those in Kellogg Park will not be lighted until Dec. 3. He requested that merchants who supply light source for the decorations to leave them on until at least 10 p.m. each night.

Wendell Lent, chairman of the Retail Merchants Committee of the Chamber of Commerce, said that Santa Claus will make his first appearance in Plymouth on Thursday, Dec. 10. He will appear to be housed in a house trailer in Kellogg Park. Hours and days of his appearance will be announced later.

Churches To Observe Thanksgiving

Many churches in Plymouth will offer special Thanksgiving services Thursday to give Plymouthites an opportunity to renew the meaning of the true spirit of the day.

Individual expression of thanksgiving by members of the congregation will highlight the special services held at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, at 10:30 a.m. No collection will be taken at this service and local members have invited the public to attend. To R. Hermsman will read the Thanksgiving Day Proclamation of the President of the United States. The infants room will be open during this service.

St. John's Episcopal Church will hold a 10 a.m. service for Thanksgiving with Rev. David T. Davies officiating.

Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church is planning a 9 a.m. High Mass in addition to the regular 8 a.m. Mass for Thanksgiving. The choir will sing the 9 a.m. Mass only.

The Annual Union Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Plymouth Ministerial Association will be held Thanksgiving Day at 9 a.m. in the First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth with Dr. Henry J. Walsh presiding. Captain John Cunnard of the Salvation Army Post of Plymouth will address the assembly. A dozen local churches will participate in this joint service.

Rev. Edgar Hoenecke will give a special Thanksgiving message to the parishioners of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church at a 10 a.m. service.

Pastor to Leave After 30 Years

After serving St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Plymouth for over 30 years, the Rev. Edgar Hoenecke will leave here early next month to fill a new full time position as chairman of the Board of World Missions for the Wisconsin Synod Lutheran Church.

Rev. and Mrs. Hoenecke, who moved to Plymouth in 1929, will live in Phoenix, Ariz. which the pastor will use as his headquarters while traveling around the globe.

A successor has been named who will take over after Rev. Hoenecke preaches his farewell sermon Sunday, Jan. 3. He is the Rev. Norman Berg, who now serves a parish at Benton Harbor. Like the Hoeneckes, the Bergs have five children.

Always enthusiastic, Rev. Hoenecke led his congregation through several major building programs. The first was after World War II when the Christian Day School was built on Pennington Ave.

In 1956, after having been in the same church on Sping St. for 99 years, the congregation moved into a new colonial structure on Pennington.

Only 20 pastors have served St. Peter's during its 103 year history.

WHAT A WONDERFUL PLACE the Dunning-Hough Library really is was reflected in the drawings sent to Children's Librarian, Mrs. Marie DeAgostino from the Gallimore School second grade class. Their teachers, Mrs. Sheldon and Mrs. Howe, brought the 61 young folks (above) to hear about Plymouth and their library from Mrs. DeAgostino.

They heard also about the beautiful new grandfather's clock directly facing the entrance of the library, one of the late Mr. Edward C.

Hough's most prized possessions. The huge Herschede Clock, that chimes on the quarter hour, was given the library as a gift by Mr. Cass Hough. In depicting their impression of the library, many of the children drew the clock in great detail. They were each allowed to select a book of their choice before returning to their classroom. Children are invited to the story hours conducted by Mrs. DeAgostino at 11 p.m. each Saturday. On December 19 arrangements have been made for a special puppet show dur-

Citizens To Support TB Fight

The battle on tuberculosis has reached another critical point in Plymouth — that of responding to the plea to support the TB program for another year.

Mayor Harold Guenther has signed a proclamation this week calling for public support of the annual plea. Christmas Seals were received in most homes last week.

Bringing the seriousness of the appeal to home, there were 18 TB cases found in the city of Plymouth in 1958 and 20 cases in Plymouth Township.

Mayor Guenther issued this proclamation: "The underlying reason that a voluntary agency such as the TB and Health Society is a desirable medium for mobilizing public attention to the tuberculosis problem, lies in the inherent character of the disease.

"It is caused primarily by ignorance and indifference.

"While treatment of the tuberculosis is now quite adequately provided in tax-supported sanatoriums by public health departments of the state and municipalities, co-operation of the public generally and by the tuberculosis patients and convalescents particularly, is an essential

Seniors May Apply For GM Scholarships

More than 400 General Motors college scholarships, worth from $200 to $2,000 a year, are available to this year's class of high school seniors.

The scholarships are part of General Motors' $5,500,000 a year program of aid to higher education. Some 1,600 students now are attending college with GM assistance.

Awards are made under two scholarship plans — the National Plan and the College Plan. More than 100 of the scholarships are awarded under the National Plan on the basis of competitive examinations taken by some 20,000 seniors. There is at least one winner from each state and the lucky scholars may attend the college of their choice.

More than 300 additional four-year scholarships are awarded under the College Plan. Winners of these scholarships are selected by the 181 colleges participating in the program.

Seniors wishing to apply for either scholarship program should contact their high school principals.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Surface reaction never is reliable when one wants to know what a taxpayer is thinking. Sometimes—usually, in fact—he speaks his true mind only when behind the curtains of the voting booth.

Plymouth held a school election Monday. This is a big, varied district, containing many different voting elements, but Plymouth never had rejected a school request before.

This one was relatively small in the amount of new tax it sought to impose on home owners. There had been virtually no expressed public opposition.

But the taxpayers were keeping their opinions to themselves. All parts of the proposals were soundly smacked down in an "upset" election.

A portion of this is traceable to Plymouth's own problems, of course, but most of it isn't.

The negative decision was a striking sign of the times. The fiscal mess in Lansing, the certainty of new State taxes, the skittishness of the economy because of strikes, local unemployment—these were vital influences.

The same response could have been expected in Livonia, Redford Township, or most anyplace else at this particular hour.

As far as local conditions are concerned, the City of Plymouth last Spring announced some new assessments on homes and real property. The aim was to avoid "equalization" by the County, but the assessment figures on each home owner's individual property still read from 40 to 70 percent higher on his bills than they had before. This election constituted just about the first chance to register a complaint at the polls to the new assessments.

But that's a technical point. The practical fact is that the individual taxpayer was found with his guard up, in a resisting mood, in the sensible, stable community of Plymouth this week.

Political leaders in Lansing would do well to harken to these results. This was the grass roots speaking Monday.

Until Michigan's financial affairs are brought to order, the message will be the same from all over this big State, and probably for some time thereafter, too.

Some of us are thankful—to use the word befitting the current holiday—that our citizens at last are being exposed to the cheating that has been taking place in TV quiz shows, on-TV commercials, and in connection with radio disc jockeys accepting "payola" dollars for touting certain records.

We are thankful that the subject is in the open, out on the front pages, because cheating has been a vicious acid corroding our national character for years. Right and wrong are such temporary, shifting values in the American mind that it is almost routine philosophy now to worry not about what you do, only how to avoid being caught.

On a Thanksgiving holiday, when one pauses to reflect on the sturdiness of purpose and character of those who first settled the country, the development of the "payola concept" through the American generations is a prime historical curiosity.

It is saying nothing worthwhile (as many are doing) to point out that all levels of our life are shot with cheating. That is true, but an epidemic always must be fought at some starting point.

TV and radio happen to lie close to our social and cultural standards currently. They occupy a lot of our time, influence a lot of children, shape many adult mentalities.

It's as good a starting point as any.

We well appreciate the indignation, however, of many in radio who are crying "hypocrite" at the newspapers and magazines who are reporting the unfolding state of affairs with a great deal of "holier than thou" attitude.

We will be both surprised and disappointed if the current quizzes don't spill over into journalism, politics, and other public affairs.

For instance, if some committee gets going on the general subject of "payola" in U.S. sports writing, many heroes and legends will topple into the muck.

What is it, you might consider, when a baseball club pays the way of a reporter to Spring training in Florida, picks up the tab for every room, meal and drink, provides expensive Christmas presents, covers all traveling and living expenses during an entire summer season—all while this reporter poses year-round as one doing "objective" reporting of the team's performance?

That's no isolated case. It's routine today. "Payola?"

VFW Auxiliary News

The last Auxiliary meeting held at the post home was November 3, and was not too well attended. Possibly because of the weather, however, we hope to see more present at the November 17 meeting. We were glad to have present the Wayne Auxiliary President, Senior Vice, Patriotic Instructor, and Americanism Chairman. They enjoyed their visit and urged our members to visit them.

The chairman are still working on final Smorgasbord reports but they are to be congratulated on another successful dinner. We also wish to express appreciation to all who worked, donated, sold tickets or assisted in any way. Finally thanks to all who patronized the dinner. Come again for the next one!

All children of Post and Auxiliary members are invited to the Annual Christmas party, December 13. There will be games, refreshments, entertainment, and a visit from Santa Claus who will have a gift for each child present. Scout and Church News from Newburg Area

By Mrs. Emil LaPointe
GL 3-3797

Say, I heard, the other day about a lady that is keeping her hands busy by making doll clothes to delight the heart of little girls on Christmas. Such delightful outfits and for big and little dolls alike. The lady is Mrs. Carrie Beall and she lives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reid, 36610 Richland and would be happy to show you her wares. She even makes fur trimmed coats. Wish I was a little girl again.

A few big events at the Newburg Methodist church are in the offing for the month of December when the Christmas season begins. On Saturday, December 5, the Rhoda Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of that church is sponsoring a square dance. This dance will not be held at the church, but at the Jefferson School, Henry Ruff and Newburg road, when the excellent call will be on hand. The price is two dollars per couple with tickets if you desire to attend. Next affair on the December calendar will be on Sunday evening, December 6 at 7:45 p.m. at the church hall, Ann Arbor Trail and Newburg road, when the Lincoln Park Chorale will present a concert in full costume. The presentation will be concerned with the Christmas theme and the highlight of the evening will be selections from Hans Christian Anderson. The Fellowship class of the church is sponsoring this Yule treat. Then the tradition of Christmas, the adult choir, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Nixon, will present their cantata, "Star of the Silent Night", Sunday, Dec. 13 at the 11 a.m. worship service. On Sunday, Dec. 20, in the evening, the combined classes of the Sunday School as well as the Adult and Junior choirs will present a Christmas pageant, "The Light of the World," directed by Ed Reid, superintendent of the Sunday School. On Dec. 21, at 8 p.m., sponsored by the Woman's Society of Christian Service, the church's adult choir will present an evening of secular and non-secular music in keeping with the wonderful season of Christmas. So, if you complain that you never get enough of Christmas music and Christmas plays, remember these dates at the Newburg Methodist church.

On Sunday, Nov. 15, Mr. and Mrs. Paul English and daughter Karen of Angeline Circle, attended the christening of the two grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. George Lesham, Daniel and William Gaetches, at the Lesham home in St. Clair Shores. The Canasta Clan met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Dennis on Joy road, Tuesday, Nov. 17 with the following members present for an evening of cards and fun: Mrs. Carol Hartwick, Mrs. Margaret Desmond, Mrs. Stella Hocking, Mrs. Brownie Flaherty, Mrs. Florence Peterson, Mrs. Dorothy Dickie, Mrs. Irene Overmyer, Mrs. Eloise Mackinder, and Mrs. Jane Kenner. The girls will meet at my home on Ann Arbor street, in Plymouth for their December get-together, Tuesday, Dec. 22. This will be their annual Christmas party and they will have the traditional Christmas exchange of gifts.

On the Thanksgiving weekend, the Boy Scouts of Troop 758, sponsored by the Newburg Methodist church, along with their leaders are planning a campout at one of the district camp sites. We will all be waiting to hear of the fun and good fellowship they had, when they return.

You folks in the Newburg area, especially on Joy road, would be interested to know that Mr. and Mrs. George Simon and their daughters Pat and Peg, former residents of Joy road, now residing in Utica, Michigan, were our guests last Sunday, Dec. 15.

On Monday, Nov. 16, at St. Michael's School Hall, Boy Scout Troop 271, of the church, held their fall court of honor before a fine assembly of parents, brothers and sisters. Following the presentation of colors and pledge to the flag, led by Scout Jack Krygier, and the reciting of the scout law, led by Scout Dick Powell, the court of honor was opened by acting chairman of the committee, John Krygier. Scoutmaster Ford C. Rea invited six boys with the rank of tenderfoot and welcomed them into the troop. They were Brian Swain, Timothy Rupp, James Hicks, Leonard Kozol, Stephen Ott and Danny West. Second class pins were given by Committee Chairman Mitchell C. Trombley, Mitchell A. Donohue, Robert Bennett, Wayne Shanks and Brian Swain with the mothers of the boys being presented with miniature pins, significant of the second class rank. Next step up the ladder of advancement, first class ranks, were presented by Committee Chairman James Nowacki, Charles Gamber and Wayne Shanks, with the mothers receiving a similar award. Since this is the last step before the earning of the merit badges, James McHugh then presented 12 boys with a varied amount of badges. Boy receiving the most badges for the evening was Jack Krygier and he was awarded 16, which was a noble achievement. Other Scouts receiving badges were Richard Powell, Marvin Swain, David and Bruce LaPointe, Robert McHugh, Michael Reed, Clifford Symmans, Daniel Darrah, William Davis, Edward Nowacki, and Robert Curry. The next advancement rank is that of Star and five merit badges are required in addition to having reached the rank of first class. The star merit badges were given out by Committee Chairman Mitchell C. Trombley, Scoutmaster Robert McHugh and Dennis Swain.

The next rank on the trail of Eagle is that of Life rank, and an additional 6 merit badges is required, of a specific type, to reach this rank. Niel Bely awarded Life rank to Jack Krygier and Richard Powell. Service awards for total years of service to the troop were given to Scouts Dahill, Kuczunski, McNece, Nowacki, St. Amour and Symmans, for one year service. For two years of service, Scouts Gamber, Parnin, Potter, Sarna and Swain were recipients. Three years of service were awarded to Michael Rea and Richard Powell. Rea and Powell received his Junior Assistant Scoutmaster warrant.

Mr. Rea spoke briefly concerning the activities of the troop and the fine classes in photography, model airplanes, radio and mineralogy, that are now available for scouts in the troop right in their very own scout room. Robert and Stephen Curry were given a singular honor, in that the scoutmaster spoke of their fine efforts on behalf of the troop and what fine examples they had set for new boys entering scouting.

Leadership warrants were given out by Scoutmaster Rea to Bill Davis, Jack Krygier, David LaPointe, and Richard Powell for Patrol Leaders and Bruce LaPointe received his Junior Assistant Scoutmaster warrant.

and then bid them a fond "Adieu" as they would be leaving the troop, as well as Livonia, to take residence in Chicago with the rest of their family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curry, Evie and Caren. This 35th court of honor for the troop was closed with the Scoutmaster's benediction led by Bruce LaPointe and taps by Timothy Rupp. Colored slides were shown of the summer camping and hiking expedition in the Kewawanaw Peninsula in northern Michigan, which the scouts and leaders of the troop took last June.

Whoever says that delinquency is on the march, has but to look at this troop of stalwart scouts and dedicated leaders and know that these are the fine citizens of tomorrow, thanks to a lot of concentrated effort on the part of parents and leaders, alike.

With that bit of philosophy thrown in for good measure, I will mark fini, for this week. Hope to hear all about you and yours, so give that dial a twist, sometime this week. Happy Thanksgiving, see you next week?

Yule TV Opera
 by reviewers and audiences ever since its first appearance nine years ago. Menotti was commissioned by NBC to write a Christmas opera for television. In his youth, the story of the three Kings had always fascinated him.

The group of soloists who will appear in the opera is the same cast that is seen and heard over the NBC television network. David Aiken, the King Melchior of the cast, acts as general manager.

The one exception of the original cast is the role of Amahl. It will be taken by 12-year-old Kirk Jordan who is the third boy to perform this coveted role on television. Kirk first sang the role in the 1956 TV performance. It is necessary to change this role, of course, because young boy soprano voices succumb to the ravages of time.

Other roles are played by Rosemary Kuhlmann, the mother; Andrew McKinley as King Kaspar; and Leon Lishner as King Balthazar.

This year's tour takes the troupe as far west as Amarillo, Tex. and as far north as Detroit where they will end the tour with the Detroit Symphony on Dec. 23, three days after appearing here.

The cast travels in a private car and carries its equipment in a utility trailer. They schedule themselves to arrive a day ahead of each performance to rehearse with local orchestras and choruses.

They use 16 local singers picked earlier by the sponsoring organization for the chorus of shepherds. The action of the shepherds is simple enough to be well rounded in a few hours.

Adventist Speaker

PASTOR William Black of East Lansing will begin a series of four sermons to inaugurate the Advent season for the Lutheran Church of the Epiphany in Plymouth Sunday. The mission congregation meets at 11 a.m. in the Seventh Day Adventist church on Ann Arbor Trail. Rev. Black's topic will be "The Compassionate Christ," "The Forging Christ," "The Outgoing Christ," and "The Enduring Christ."

Otwell Heating Re-opens At New Location

Otwell Heating and Supply Co. has moved to Plymouth Township again, locating this time at 14475 Northville Road, where they share the former Dewey Smith mill shop with Bonded Beauty Products.

Bill Otwell, owner, states these larger quarters will give them ample room to house under one roof for the first time, all the company's activities in oil, coal, bottled gas, natural gas, air conditioning and custom duct work. Generous parking space and a four-way turn off of busy Northville Road is provided. This central location between Plymouth and Northville, Bill Otwell states, will help provide faster service both day and night to their customers in both cities.

Bill Otwell

Otwell Heating was started at Eckles Coal Yard in 1948, and since that time, Otwell states, has sold and installed and serviced over one million dollars worth of heating and air conditioning equipment in the Plymouth trading area. Since most of this work went into private homes or new custom built homes by the owners, Otwell believes any success they may have had was due to customer recommendation on the fuel saving and comfort features of Otwell's top quality line of home heating equipment.

Otwell also has Bert Halloran who has been with him 10 years, and Roy Rutledge, who has managed his shop for the last six years, and Jim Wilenius, the "around-the-clock" service man who will soon be seen in his special designed service wagon.

SPORTSEEN

By BILL NELSON

Except for a banquet the 1959 Plymouth football season is history. The track team has finished its successful run to the tape. All is not quiet, however.

Down in the pool at Plymouth, Coach John McFall wears a pleased look over "improved time trials" by his 1959-60 team.

Improved is a relative term and it is worth noting that the coach uses it in relation to a team last season that won 10 while losing three.

The ten wins came in league competition and earned the Rocks the championship. These are Rocks that should buoy sports spirits during the frozen months.

Over in the Plymouth gym, Coach Jim Doyle's charges sweat through practice behind locked doors. Captain Randy Egloff leads a squad that Doyle has labeled "improved" shooters.

His team is weighted against a team that had a so-so record last season. Significant, though, is the thought that if the shooting is better, some of the weight will be taken from Egloff's shoulders and the whole offense might open wide to split defenses that last season were rigged to halt Egloff.

Thanksgiving highlights the seasonal pause between fall and winter sports on the high school scene. The pros over all in what seems open defiance of nature, but they are after the pursuit of the American buck, an elusive animal that needs no particular weather to pursue.

But for the high school lads it's a time of catching wind, a time for getting up steam for the winter sports. It doesn't make for big news, particularly.

We did find sports news, however, although we had to search of all places, in a political gathering. Probate Judge Frank J. Szymanski visited Lt. Governor John Swainson's house last Friday and supplied a delightful talk on his football years at Notre Dame. The judge, as many people around these parts will remember, also put in a few years with the Detroit Lions.

The meeting of Democrats seemed to set the tone for the purpose of talk. This one was planned to concern itself with sports and politics, but sports was featured.

Hot stoves are a little outdated as a "conversation center" (as the interior decorators describe places where people talk in the home), but the Hot Stove League goes on.

Football Banquet Is December 1st

The Plymouth High School football banquet, originally planned for Nov. 30, has been set for Tuesday, Dec. 1. Coach John Hoban pointed out this week.

Being held at the Hotel Mayflower, the banquet is for the football team and parents. Coach Hoban said that earlier publicity mentioned the Nov. 30 date but a conflict at the hotel made it necessary to change it to a day later.

Pakistan in 1957 presented Iraq with 400,000 doses of smallpox vaccine, made in Pakistan.

ICE THAT covered area streets and roads Saturday morning proved to be a harrowing experience for Mrs. Mary Presby, 40, of Garden City, while enroute to the Burroughs plant in Plymouth. Her car skidded off Hines Drive near Stark and into the Middle Rouge River. While the car sank in four feet of water, Mrs. Presby could not open the doors, so climbed into the back seat. A passing motorist called police. Firemen came, pushed a ladder out to the car and brought Mrs. Presby ashore with only wet feet.

Scoutmaster
sponsored by the Plymouth Lions' Club.
Mr. Miller has been a resident of Plymouth for eight and a half years. He organized Troop 6, eight years ago with five boys. The troop now has 39 members, but Miller does not emphasize numbers. According to Area ratings, his troop stands very high in percentage of first class scouts, longevity of membership per scout, number of nights of open camping, and other achievements which make Troop 6 outstanding.
Coming to Plymouth from East Lansing where he was assistant professor of business administration at Michigan State University, Mr. Miller previous to that served in World War II as a lieutenant colonel in Field Artillery.
The presentation of the Silver Beaver is always kept secret from the recipient until the moment of presentation. Mr. Miller's Scout committee and their wives were present to congratulate him however, and it had been arranged to have his father, Edward T. Miller and his son, Peter, arrive at the appropriate time.
"Distinguished Service to Scouting" is the citation appropriate time.
"I'm not doing anything special," insists Mr. Miller, "I work in Scouting because to me it is so much fun."

TRANSFORMING St. John's Episcopal Church basement into a charming, colorful Paris marketplace was done skillfully by the women of the committee, headed by Mrs. James Hardimon and Mrs. Chester Teasel. The flower cart outside of the cafe

"Terrasse Le Pellerin" greeted Parisians as they came to purchase wares. Mrs. Robert Ham-eister, Chairman of the Christ-mas booths and Bazaar Co-Chair-man, Mrs. Chester Tietzel, ap-proved the setting with the real flowers supplied by Bartel's.

GOODIES are a drawing card in any country and the St. John's Marche aux Puces was no exception. Looking good enough to eat, was little Sally Spillard, who found the cookies and particularly the chocolate cake "the most." Held high from temptation by her mother, Mrs. Richard R. Spillard, the little miss was also intrigued with the clever puppets that greeted visitors at the entrance to the bazaar. Over $100 was made on this year's bazaar, and it is reported to be one of their best sales.

Historical Society Hears Of New Zealand

by Mrs. Jennie Mills
Forty-five members of the Plymouth Historical Society enjoyed a potluck dinner at the meeting held on Nov. 12. Mrs. Howard Bowring and her committee were in charge of the tables and decorations.

Under the direction of Miss Lovernie Sly, a program pertaining to the Thanksgiving season was presented. Mr. George Agar of New Zealand, who, with his wife, Mollie, have been guests of the Roy Pursells, described Harvest Day "down under," which is the equivalent of our American Thanksgiving. Mr. Agar explained that Harvest Day is observed in the spring, near Easter. It is a religious festival. Churches are decorated with the fruits of the harvest and families and friends celebrate together much the same as in this country.

The Agars expect to leave soon for a tour of Mexico after which they will return to Australia.

Mrs. Norma Cassady, curator, reported on the cataloging of items which have been presented to the society. The work is being done according to a system used by the Michigan Historical Society.

A special Christmas program will be given at the Dec. 10th meeting.

To Women It May Concern

By MYRA COX
I think there is something particularly attractive about a man in the kitchen, don't you? It gives me great pleasure to think of the lady of the house languishing on the davenport in front of the fire while her devoted husband is in the kitchen fixing a Sunday evening "Maverick" lunch for the whole family. Afraid it's more fiction than fact but it is such a nice idea.

Now the way to accomplish this, Ladies, I'm told, (my personal success is shaky) is to expect The Man to prepare only a specialty — something he is known for up and down the block — in other words, let it be an adventure — you have to discover how to sell the idea yourself.

According to Bob, Mrs. Wall has it made — he just loves to cook — and one recipe he has tried successfully at home and says is really easy is Angel Pie.

The ingredients are three egg whites, 1 cup sugar, 22 crackers (soda) and ½ cup walnuts.

Egg whites are beaten until stiff, add ½ cup of sugar and continue beating. Add rest of sugar and 1 teaspoon of vanilla. Beat very stiff and fold in crackers that have been rolled to almost pulverized state (so says Bob). Sift in the nuts and pour ingredients into a greased pan and bake at 325 degrees for about 30 minutes.

I heard him repeat the recipe to our Managing Editor, Jim Sponseller. Jim said he bought the crackers, but haven't heard anything about the results. The one thing that draws Jim to the kitchen is to make a batch of cranberries — in fact after his last experience he may even be a little discouraged on this feat.

He made a huge batch on the eve of the "cranberry blast." He was looking forward all day to a dish when he got home from work the next day, but his good wife Doris, knowing his passion for them and not wanting to take any chances, did what any sensible, good wife would do, she poured them all down the sink.

Our publisher, Paul Chandler, was talking enthusiastically about how easy and delicious it was to prepare a discovery he made, small "new" frozen potatoes — "the best he had ever eaten, etc." — this could be a good start.

Men have an ingenuity for making things simpler — and there is still more room for improvement in the kitchen — I don't advocate pills instead of pies and cakes but if there are more short cuts, men will find them.

You know it was a foxy Briton, William Lyman, who came to the U.S. to make a fortune, and did, by inventing the idea of canning — He put food in "canisters" for seamen to avoid the heavy toll of lives taken aboard sailing vessels as a result of scurvy and beri-beri.

A sailor-chef, incidentally, won this year's "Operation Bean Soup" contest co-sponsored by the Memphis Naval Air Station and the Commercial Bean Growers. Galley artists, from raw recruits to salty admirals, entered their favorite bean soup formulas. Hundreds came in from ship and shore stations around the globe. The winning cook received a $100 savings bond.

Here is the magic formula that maybe your skipper would try:

BEAN SOUP A LA NORFOLK
(Naval Air Station, Norfolk, Va.)
2 cups Michigan Navy Beans 2 t salt
1½ lbs. ham (butt end) ¼ t pepper
3 qts. water 1 t Accent
1 minced onion (med.) Fresh or dried parsley
½ t celery salt Parmesan Cheese Croutons

Soak beans overnight in water to cover. Prepare soup stock by simmering ham in 3 qts. of water for about 2 hours. Remove ham. Add drained beans, onion, celery salt, salt, pepper and Accent to the stock and simmer until soup begins to thicken. Meanwhile grind or finely chop the ham and return to soup a few minutes before serving. Sprinkle each portion with diced fresh parsley or parsley flakes. Top with Parmesan cheese croutons (buttered bread cut in small cubes, sprinkled with grated cheese and toasted). Serves 8.

Talking about strictly masculine cooks, there is a very exclusive club in Plymouth with about a dozen members and believe me they are rugged — Their cuisine abilities delight only themselves and are known as the "raw beef" eaters — imagine — I don't know all the members but Les Wilson, Rev. Hoenecke, Bud Schrader and Ralph Lorenz are members. Another of their members, Kurt Thrun, more or less dared me to try one of his favorites, TarTar Steak.

To each pound of the best beef you can buy (have it ground), you add two raw eggs and salt, pepper and onions. This you mix and let stand, room temperature, for about three or four hours and put it on rye bread and eat it — "delicious," he says, "just delicious."

And this, he tells me with a straight face, comes from an early Asiatic tribe that would ride all day with their meat directly under their saddle. After the day's ride, the theory being their meat would be tenderized and cooked, due to the heat of the saddle, etc.

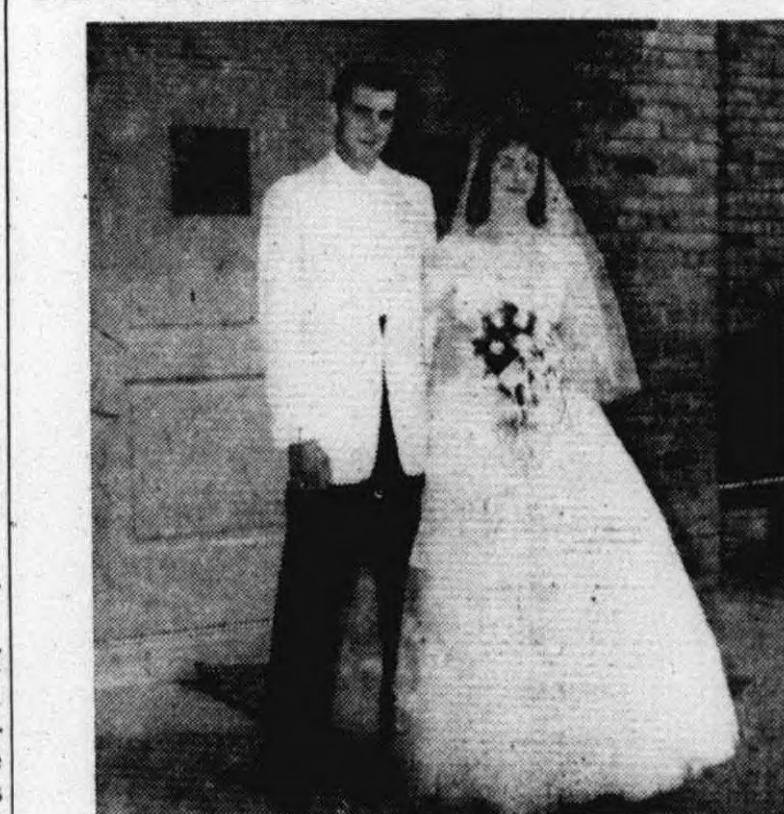

I'm sure you get the picture and would rather prefer thinking about the tender, well-cooked turkey (prepared by us), so I wish you a bountiful and peaceful Thanksgiving Day.

AMONG THE dozens of handicapped who will have articles for sale in Plymouth starting next Tuesday will be Edith Sorensen, 248 Linden, Northville. Suffering a stroke at 23 years of age, she has a paralyzed left side. She has been in the Easter Seal Society's homebound occupational therapy program for eight years. She is shown at her loom weaving some rugs.

Handmade Goods of Disabled Offered to Plymouth Shoppers

Plymouth shoppers are being invited to help disabled persons throughout the community by purchasing useful handmade articles from the Rotary Ann when they begin their sale Tuesday, Dec. 1. The sale will run from Tuesday through Saturday of next week at the Kroger store. Mrs. Robert Maurer and Mrs. Elmore Carney are co-chairmen of this year's sale. Each year for the past nine years, the Plymouth Rotary has sponsored a sale of articles made by homebound handicapped children and adults as part of their Community Service Program. Proceeds from this sale are returned to the individual handicapped person whose handiwork is sold during the sale. Items for sale will include hand woven rugs, aprons, rugs, ceramics, copper enameling, jewelry, baby items, leather goods, and many other novelties. The Michigan Society for Crippled Children & Adults, Inc. (The Easter Seal Society) provided occupational therapists to work with the severely disabled as a part of their Direct Service Program. This service is made possible through the purchase each year of Easter Seals. The program serves all ages and all types of disabilities, from the six-year-old boy or girl who is bed-bound by rheumatic fever or polio to the 75-year-old who has suffered a stroke and has been sitting in a wheelchair for years. Occupational therapists are trained in the knowledge of what activities are appropriate in such cases as these. Under a doctor's direction, work, skillfully supervised, can be surprisingly therapeutic. The type of activity engaged in depends on many things. Age, physical limitations, and mental ability all enter in, but so do the particular interests of the individual, whether child or adult. Previous experience is also important. The variety of abilities and interests is reflected in the articles seen at the sales of their products. The saleability of these items attests to the determination of the therapists to teach skills that are useful and practical. Most of the producers to be represented at the sale have been handicapped for many years, and for many of them it is their first business venture. No wonder, then, that a few

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held Monday evening, October 19, 1959, in the Board Room of the Administration Building at eight o'clock.

Present: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Niemi, Mr. Soth and Mr. Zoet. Absent: Mr. Zylstra.

Also present: Dr. Faust. President Hulsing called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m.

Dr. Faust asked for a few minutes to review with the Board his concerns about the program to be offered in the proposed new combination junior-senior high school. He urged that careful consideration be given to the needs of the students during the transition period while the program is being adjusted from the junior high student to the senior high student. In this period he felt there was a strong possibility that the depth and breadth of the school program might be somewhat limited.

It was moved by Mr. Fischer and seconded by Mr. Soth that the superintendent of schools be authorized to appoint the election inspectors for the special school election to be held on Monday, November 23, 1959.

Ayes: Mr. Fischer, Mrs. Hulsing, Mr. Kaiser, Mr. Niemi, Mr. Soth and Mr. Zoet. Nays: None.

After considerable discussion on the scope of the millage and bond proposals to be presented to the electors on Monday, November 23, 1959, it was mutually agreed that the question of bonding the district for the central auditorium should be presented as a separate proposal.

It was further agreed to make a tentative allocation for projects to be financed from the $4,000,000 bond issue as follows:

- I. Initial Phase of New Secondary School (800 students) $2,000,000
- II. Elementary School Facilities (850 students) 1,000,000
- III. Future Sites 75,000
- IV. Rehabilitation and Additions to H.S. 615,000

A detailed analysis and the exact wording of the proposals were scheduled for review and acceptance at a meeting to be held on Monday, October 26, 1959, at 8:00 p.m.

MAIL NANCY SCHOOL BOARD MINUTES A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held Monday evening, November 2, 1959, by the Board room of the Administration Building at 9:30 o'clock.

Present: Members Fischer, Hulsing, Kaiser, Niemi, Soth, Zoet and Zylstra, Jr.; Superintendent Isbister and Administrative Assistant Blunk. Absent: None.

Also present: Dr. Ensign Clyde. President Hulsing called the meeting to order at 9:30 p.m.

Board members arranged a schedule of meetings with P.T.A. groups to discuss proposals for the coming special school election.

Mr. Fischer and Mrs. Hulsing reported progress on the Community College program. Distributed for consideration were copies of proposed by-laws and outlines to be used as guides by the Executive Committee and the various study committees in the development and promotion of the Northwest Wayne County Community College.

It was moved by Member Zoet and seconded by Member Soth to approve the Executive Committee By-Laws as presented.

Ayes: Members Fischer, Hulsing, Kaiser, Niemi, Soth, Zoet and Zylstra. Nays: None. Motion declared adopted.

It was moved by Member Zoet and seconded by Member Fischer to approve the following resolution: WHEREAS: 1. The Northwest Wayne County Community College Executive Committee has been successful in establishing the enabling legislation necessary to form an area community college, and

WHEREAS: 2. Further cooperative effort is necessary with other school districts in the application to the Department of Public Instruction for approval to bring the proposal to a vote of the electorate, and

WHEREAS: 3. All additional appropriations to the Executive Committee are subject to prior approval by the Board of Education; THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED THAT: The Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District pledges its willingness to continue in cooperation with other school districts in a joint effort in carrying on the studies, making application to the Department of Public Instruction and bringing to the attention of the electorate at a subsequent date the proposal for establishing a community college.

Ayes: Members Fischer, Hulsing, Kaiser, Niemi, Soth, Zoet and Zylstra. Nays: None. Motion declared adopted.

Mr. Niemi reported briefly on his work with the Executive Committee growing out of the joint work of the City, Township and School Boards. Mr. Zylstra inquired about the Board's responsibility for the transportation of school children to the Hawthorne Center clinic for treatment. Superintendent Isbister agreed to investigate and report back to the Board.

Dr. Clyde analyzed a point of view—namely, construction of physical plant facilities on a pay-as-you-go basis through a building and site sinking fund to which he strongly subscribes. He presented for consideration some statistical data to support his position that the Community has an adequate tax base to increase the millage sufficiently to provide money during the next five years to cover the cost of the new school buildings.

It was noted by Board members that the pay-as-you-go plan had been under consideration but had to be abandoned in favor of a median term bond issue in order to provide funds fast enough to meet the needs.

Meeting adjourned at 11:20 p.m. Respectfully submitted, Harold E. Fischer, Secretary Board of Education

German Customs Vary From U.S. in Food and Drink

Golden Wedding Anniversary

By URSULA KELL
(Editor's Note) Plymouth's Exchange student from Northern Germany attends Plymouth High School, and is 18 years old. She will informally tell us in a series of articles of the customs of her country, and view some of the customs of our country through her eyes.

Everybody likes food. There are many things that separate the nations. But we have all one thing in common, food. We like to eat in Germany and in America, but still there are many little differences in preparing food, what kind of food we eat and how to serve it.

I would like to tell you about our way of eating. German food does not only consist of "good old German beer," "sauerkraut" and hot dogs, (Wiener Wurstchen), as many Americans think, and even the famous "hamburgers" are not half so popular in Germany as here.

Of course we like to drink beer (I miss it a little bit) and eat sauerkraut, but we have so many different kinds of food, so I would say there is no typical German food.

When I came to America I did not know anything about American food. If there is a national food in America I would say that corn is your typical food. The first night, when I came here, my family had corn on the cob for dinner. I knew from the boat how terrible it tasted, but nevertheless I tried to eat it. I did not want to give a bad impression to my family the first night. But after three bites I decided better to leave a bad impression than to get sick. I still cannot do anything about it, it is the only food I really cannot eat.

I was surprised how much meat you eat here. In my family in Germany, and in most of the others, meat is only for Sunday, an exception are the farmers; they eat meat every day.

There are three types of "eating people" in Germany; first, the people who prefer heavy, solid German food. That means every night fried potatoes with much ham in it, black bread and butter and housemade sausage and a glass (or more) of beer.

Another kind are the people who we call the "Reformists." They eat only greens gained out of plants, avoid meat and live mainly on vegetables. The others are a compromise, the average eater in Germany.

The average family has three meals a day. In the morning we had milk, always hot, black bread with honey and jam. Our dinner is at noon, usually including potatoes (we speak of a potato stomach, when you are fat). At night we have our light evening meal which includes black bread (usually only the sick people eat white bread or it is served for Sunday or other different occasions), we drink peppermint-tea which is very popular in Germany, and something to put on the bread like cheese, bananas, fish or sausage.

In the country the people eat four times a day. They eat at 4:00 p.m., the so-called "Kaffee", (coffee), but they eat cake and bread. When a housewife in Germany gives a party, she says: meet me at "coffee". That means they have a party at 4 o'clock with much cake and whipped cream, coffee and conversation.

When you have a party in the night, let us say in the time of 8 o'clock until midnight, it is unpolite when you don't serve wine. We have different rules how to hold a glass. It depends what you serve in them. For example you hold a wine glass different than a glass of champagne or a beer glass. Even for the pouring of wine out of a bottle there is a special rule how to do it. This tradition shows that wine is still something special and it is not a daily drink.

Since I am here in America and I like to cook, I cooked some German meals for my family. There is one which they really like very much, and it is called (don't try to say it) "Bechamelauflauf". I would like to give the recipe, if somebody is interested in it and would like to try it.

This dinner is for 4 persons, if you are more you have to double the ingredients.

You need: one cup of milk, a little bit of salt, 1/4 cup butter, 1/4 cup (a good one) of flour, 10 apples, medium size, 3 tablespoons of currants, 2 tablespoons of sugar.

The next part: 1/4 cup butter, 1/4 cup sugar, 3 egg yolks, 1/4 of the peel of a lemon, 3 whites of an egg.

Milk, salt, butter and flour of the first part stir and cook, switch off, and stir so long on the plate, until you have a round clod that separates from the pot. Then you put the dumping in a cool place.

In the meantime you peel the apples and cut them into slices, mix them with the currants and sugar and put a cover over it.

After that you stir the butter, sugar and yolk of the second part good, put the lemon peel and the dumping, one spoonful at a time, in it. Then beat the egg whites until they form peaks and add the mixture.

At last you put first the apples, then the dough into a dish and bake it about an hour, medium heat.

I hope you have fun in doing this and enjoy a German dinner.

The committee for "Lunch-eon is Served" thanks everyone who contributed in any way to make the party a huge success last Thursday. Everyone seemed to enjoy it and a date has been set for another year—so keep this in mind.

The meeting of Nov. 19 was well attended. After the business session our very capable lecturer, Mrs. Bessie Salow, presented a story on the life of a couple who have lived in this area many years and were celebrating their 57th wedding anniversary.

They are our own members, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Melow.

A mock wedding with Mrs. Virginia Fehlig as Mary Gates and Norman Triten as Charles Melow was performed by John Aldenburg as clergyman.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Melow, their daughter and husband were escorted to the front of the hall by the Master and wife and seated. After an introduction and a few remarks they were congratulated by everyone.

A beautiful yellow mum plant and card with over 100 signatures was presented to them and the anniversary song played.

At the close of the meeting everyone was invited to the dining room where ice cream, cake and coffee was served. They were also presented with a lovely decorated cake made by one of the members.

It was a joyous occasion, one very few people live to celebrate, and particularly nice when they are still active and able to take trips, and best of all having them as members of our order. Congratulations!

The 4-H Club is well along on their various projects. The second lesson on sewing was last Saturday. There will be no lesson this Saturday, Nov. 28 due to Thanksgiving.

The next meeting will be Tuesday evening, Dec. 1 when pins will be awarded for the summer projects. It will also be the Christmas party with gift exchange and refreshments. The parents are invited to attend.

A recreation club is being organized for the members and their friends to meet once a month. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nash, assisted by another couple, are in charge of the first party which will be New Year's Eve, so keep the date open. More information later.

The list of the various committee chairmen will appear in next week's paper.

The next regular meeting will be Dec. 3, with the usual potluck supper at 6:30, with the program promptly at 7:30. Business meeting will follow.

Mr. Stein from Wayne will show pictures of Africa and also the Holy Land. It will be an interesting program, so everyone take a trip to the Hall, have dinner, and go abroad for an hour or so in the evening.

Let us put forth an effort to come to the meeting. Remember there might be a time when you are physically unable to attend and wish you could be with the friendly group.

Sister Elizabeth McCoy, who underwent surgery in St. Joseph Hospital last week is improving each day after being very ill. Cards are always appreciated.

American Legion News

Remember the Muscular Dystrophy Drive Tuesday, December 1st, 7-9 p.m. We need volunteers. Anyone able to help can contact Lillian Kinghorn, GL 3-3995.

The Post will have a business meeting, Wednesday, Dec. 2, 8 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center. "Membership will be the theme at this meeting," Commander Kinghorn states, and the slogan this year is "Bricks for Bricker".

"Who is eligible to belong to The American Legion?" That was the question being asked for two weeks at the display booth at the Penn Theatre as the Passage-Gayde Post 391 launched its 1959 membership campaign. Commander Kinghorn points out that veterans of World War I, World War II and the Korean War who were in service on active duty during certain dates of hostility, as set by the United States Congress, are eligible for membership in The American Legion.

The eligibility dates are as follows: World War I veterans, from April 6, 1917 to November 11, 1918. World War II veterans, from December 7, 1941 to September 2, 1945. Korean veterans, from June 25, 1950 to July 27, 1953. Eligible veterans are men and women who served honorably in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard or Air Force of the United States during the above dates. Or citizens of the United States at the time of war who served on active duty with any of the armed forces of governments associated with the U.S. If you are an eligible veteran, call for further information. Commander Kinghorn at GL 3-3995 or Adjutant, Harry Burleson, GL 3-3571. Commander Kinghorn wishes to thank all who helped out at the membership booth in the Penn Theatre.

Keep December 6th open — The 17th District Christmas Dinner will be held at the Lloyd H. Green Post Home in Northville. Time will be announced next week.

Attending the 17th District Dinner Dance held at the Northville Lloyd H. Green Post Home Saturday, Nov. 7th were: Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kinghorn, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Burleson, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Koi, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson, Mrs. Heppner, Vern Miller, Hans Loran and Tony Gonzales.

Vern Miller was awarded a Citation from the Department of Michigan for his outstanding work as Service and Welfare Officer in the Passage-Gayde Post. Vern has done a wonderful job in this category.

The 17th District Ritual Team initiated the following members of the Passage-Gayde Post on Wednesday, November 4th: Kenneth Voss, Arthur Nowry, James Irwin, Dorothy Koi, Robert Hewer and Wilbert Clark. Sandwiches and coffee were served by Melva Gardner and Fern Burleson and thanks to all the members who so graciously made the sandwiches.

The 17th District Ritual Team initiated the Lloyd H. Green Post members Wednesday, November 11th at their Post Home in Northville. Participating in the team from our Post are: Harry Burleson, Ernest Koi, William Langmaid and Vern Miller. Commander Donald Kinghorn also attended the ceremonies.

Ray Gardner and Lillian Kinghorn delivered home made cookies and ice-cream to the veterans at Maybury on Tuesday, November 10th, in honor of Veterans Day. This was in conjunction with the Lloyd H. Green Post and Unit.

Cocker spaniels, now among the most popular of household pets, are believed to have originated in Spain.

Canton Reports Some Interesting Happenings

ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL. 3-0194

News was just about as scarce as the sun has been this past week, but we do have some important happenings to report. We want to take this opportunity to wish a very nice couple of our township a special wish for happiness and many more happy years together. It is not often we have the occasion to congratulate a couple on their 50th wedding anniversary, but such is the case of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Lamb of Ford Rd. The couple spoke their wedding vows in Stratford Ontario, November 24, 1909. Plans to celebrate with their immediate family at the home of their daughter Mrs. Calvin Currier of Huntington Woods are for this week-end.

From a very happy happening to a sad bit of news. The Al Turri family of 39540 Cherry Hill Rd. are very anxious to receive news of their pet named Duke. Duke has been leaving the Turri's for ten years and his disappearance has very much upset the family. Duke is a farm shepherd dog, black in color with a buff chest and face and lopped ears. Mrs. Turri "Marie" stated that Duke has been missing since Halloween and at first thought he might have gone with hunters being he loved to hunt. The family have advertised for his return and are offering a reward. They thought we could help and we certainly hope so. If you have a clue as to where Duke might be please call Mrs. Turri on PA 1-5350.

The Turri family will be minus their usual Thanksgiving guest. Mrs. Turri's father, Mr. Michael Humenuk is leaving Thanksgiving day for Buenos Aires, Argentina where he will visit his brother who he has not seen for 51 years, or since he left his homeland.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles White of Sheldon Rd. have spent the last week in busy preparation for their two children's birthday. Greig celebrated his 8th birthday on Friday at the Gallimore School. On Saturday Grandmother Mrs. Lillian White of Northville had dinner with the Whites to celebrate Greig's birthday along with his sister Gail's fifth birthday. On Sunday the children's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Tillotson, were on hand to wish their grandchildren many happy returns. The following Sunday, Greig and Gail again were the guests of honor at a dinner attended by their grandfather, Mr. Wm. White of Milford and their uncle, Mr. Harry White of New York.

The executive board of the Gallimore P.T.A. held their executive board meeting at the home of Mrs. Homer Benoit of Canton Center Rd. The group discussed plans for their annual Parent-Teacher-Student Christmas party.

The Gallimore P.T.A. held its meeting November 17 with guest speaker, Wesley Korte, board member, and Russell Isbister school superintendent. The gentlemen were on hand to explain the new bond issue and to clarify some of the questions in the voters' minds. The award given to the room with the most parents present at the P.T.A. meeting went to Mrs. Betty Sheldon's second grade group who had 32 percent of their parents present.

It was a very special week for the James Spigarelli's of Beck Rd. Mrs. Spigarelli's mother, Mrs. E. Repachi and her sister, Mrs. C. LaMonica from Kansas City, Mo. spent a week with the family. It was a week of visits with friends and relatives and to wind up the visit, the family got together for Sunday dinner. Mrs. Repachi and Mrs. LaMonica returned to Missouri Thursday.

We want to extend a get-well wish to Mrs. John Swartz of Gordon Rd. Mrs. Swartz is in Wayne County Hospital for observation. We have heard of many township residents' plans to look for deer in the Northern woods, but have had only one report of a deer being brought back to Canton Township. The lucky hunter in this instance was our township Clerk, Mr. John Flodin who shot his trophy at Lewiston, Mich. Wonder what happened to the rest of the hunters, and their deer?

A report from our fire chief, Mr. Fred Korte Jr., reveals one fire in the township this past week. A vacant house, owned by Mr. Charles Mertens. The house was located at 7607 Haggerty Rd. and the fire call was received at 11:55 p.m. Sunday. Plymouth Township was asked to assist with their tankers. Mr. Korte stated there were no explosions and the house had no plumbing or electrical wiring. The house was a total loss and vandalism is suspected.

We would like to hear of your hunting trips, Thanksgiving plans etc.

New Design for Modern Living Wears Look of Colonial Beauty

Well-designed space for the demands of modern living plus the beauty of traditional styling have been combined in this new home plan by Architect Herman H. York.

Along with traditional materials, such as wood windows and panel doors, the architect has included in this house some advantages of the traditional style that have been sacrificed in many so-called modern houses. Among them are the inviting covered porch, 3-level pitched roof, and the practicality of a 2-story house.

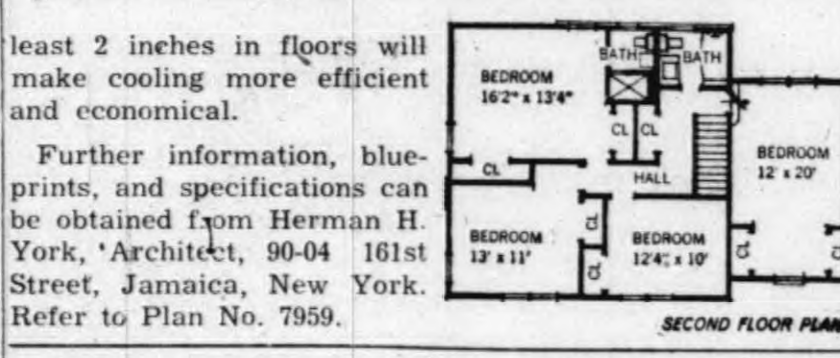

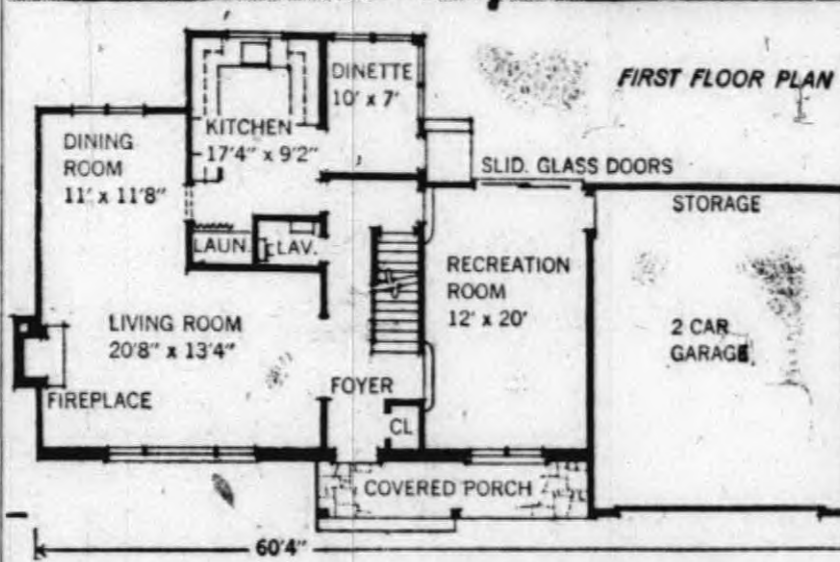

Shutters Widen Windows
The beauty of the front entrance is emphasized by a stock Dutch-door of ponderosa pine with columns on both sides of the opening.

Louvered shutters make the double-hung wood windows seem wider and are designed to harmonize with the deep color of the asphalt shingle roof. Besides providing color and traditional beauty, the asphalt shingles in a deep shade on the roof help to lower the exterior appearance of the house.

A 20-by-12 foot recreation room and wide foyer add to the spacious interior.

Architect York says a major attraction of the traditional design is good zoning. Living, dining, and meal preparation areas are separated and all bedrooms are on the second floor.

Insulation Insures Comfort
For year-round comfort, the architect specifies thick mineral wool insulation — at least 4 inches in ceilings and a minimum of 3 inches in walls. If the house is to be air conditioned, 6 inches of mineral wool in ceilings, at least 3 inches in walls and least 2 inches in floors will make cooling more efficient and economical.

Further information, blueprints, and specifications can be obtained from Herman H. York, Architect, 90-04 161st Street, Jamaica, New York. Refer to Plan No. 7959.

ICED LOCK THAWED
A frozen car-lock can be thawed quickly by squirting lighter-fluid into the lock. Don't light the fluid. Its chemical action melts the ice inside the lock. If no fluid is available, heat the key with a match or lighter.

Chill candles in the refrigerator for 24 hours before using. They will burn easily and won't drip.

Fashionettes

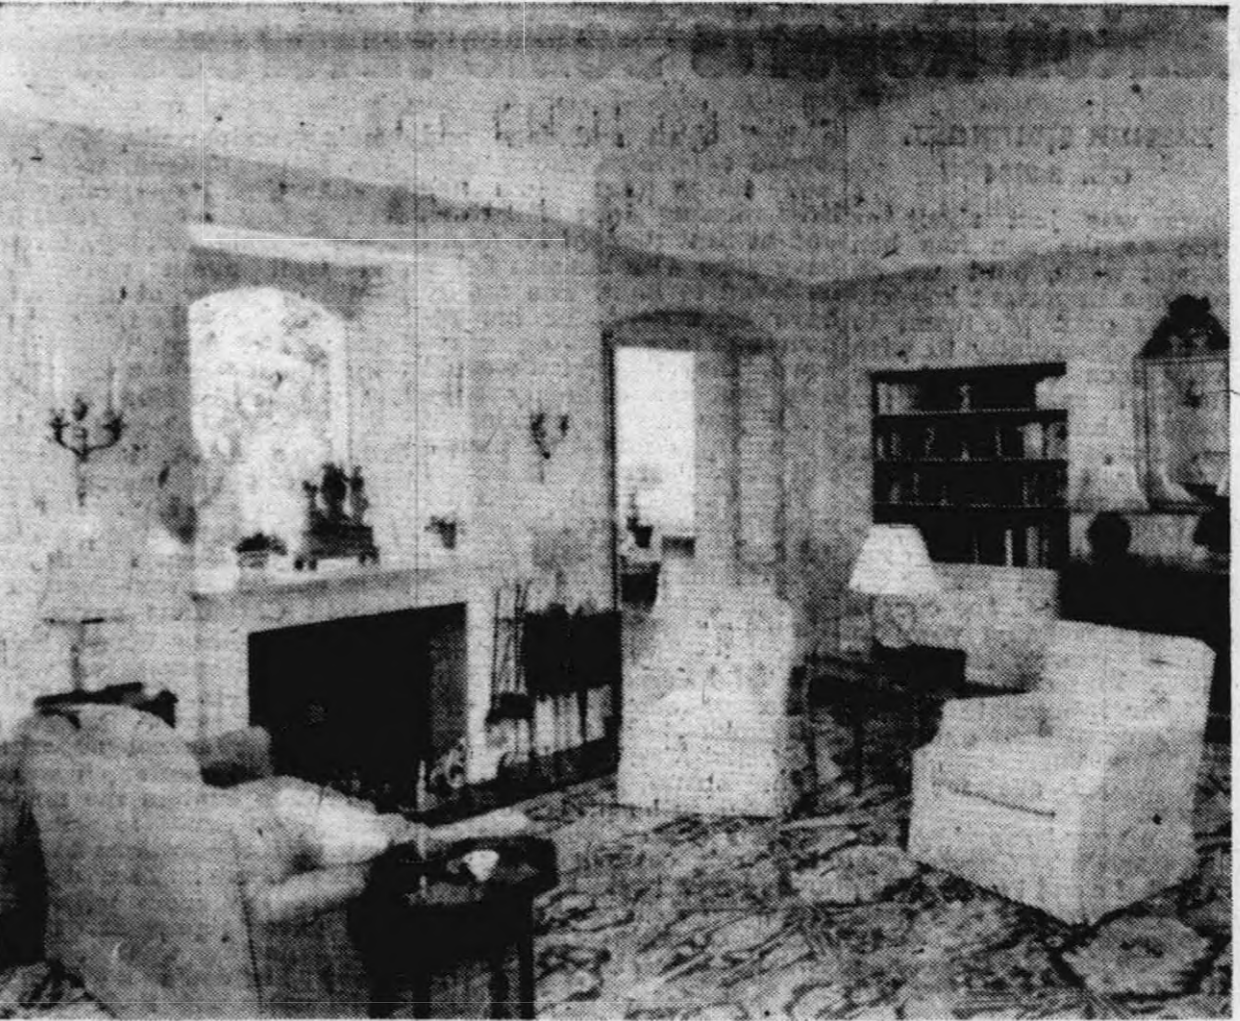

The Spirit of Christmas past has a future in the holiday wardrobe of little girls. The old-fashioned look is inspired by turn-of-the-century styles, reports the National Cotton Council. There are bell sleeves of two or more tiers; a bias-cut cape sleeve gathered at the shoulder and rippling over the arm; and full sleeves with tucks, sleeve is a reversed leg o' mutton — a sheath sleeve ending midway between the shoulder and elbow and flaring into a large pout at the elbow.

Navy and gray, traditional colors for early spring, will get some hefty competition from all shades of beige in 1960. Several New York collections now being shown to buyers featured pale beige, honey, mocha, and even "expresso" brown for spring.

The pinafore is back. It comes in cotton organdy, broadcloth, lawn, pique and velveteen, trimmed with lace or appliqued with lollipops, cardy canes, animals and Christmas trees. Juniper aprons that button up the back cover dresses in two-in-one ensembles.

Wonder what ever became of the suit or coat sleeve which came all the way to the wrist? Sleeves in the new spring fashions end just above the elbow, at the elbow, or slightly below.

It will be a lace or chiffon spring in the late day and evening clothes department. Both fabrics show more frequently than that old standby, peau de soie, in the new collections.

A ROOM TO LIVE IN has furniture that stands daily use and accessories for comfort. when buying furniture, look not only for preferred style but also workmanship and quality wood.

Furniture - Accessory Buying - Make House Into a Home

Some families replace the furniture in dining room, kitchen or living room on an average of every two to five years; others live happily with inherited pieces all their lives. Whatever the style or period, there's almost always some additional piece that will contribute to gracious living may be a family investment or a Christmas gift.

In either case, shopping takes time. Successful shopping results from consideration of colors, woods and quality workmanship.

Early American, French Provincial and Scandinavian Modern continue to be popular furniture styles and Oriental pieces are excellent this year both in furniture and accessories for a room. Mixing two periods of furniture, particularly for living rooms, is more general as, for example, Early American with Oriental or Scandinavian.

New and extremely useful pieces are to be found this year. Pieces to hang on the wall are space saving and convenient. Such pieces to hang include record cabinets, magazine racks, and storage cabinet with narrow drawers, the top on one side serving as a dressing counter with a mirror to be raised above it. Expensive but cherished by the family pressed for closet space is a modern version of the old armoire in styles and woods appropriate for the formal living room and more casual bedroom.

Most shoppers believe that they can judge workmanship of furniture, but many are less certain when it comes to wood of which it is made. Six hardwoods and their veneers are popular. All are strong to withstand daily wear and, if marred, can be restored to their original beauty by refinishing.

The color of the wood as well as its other natural qualities help to narrow the choice. Birch and maple both are fine grained. Maple is used for furniture for every room of the house but is particularly recommended in children's furniture. Birch is strong and satiny but is frequently used in light tones for modern furniture. Birch furniture likely will be less expensive than cherry or mahogany, but doesn't always blend with other woods and styles.

Cherry, largely because of its stunning color, is now used for pieces for an entire room. The wood with its inconspicuous grain lends itself as well to sleek modern lines as to turned legs and other details of period furniture.

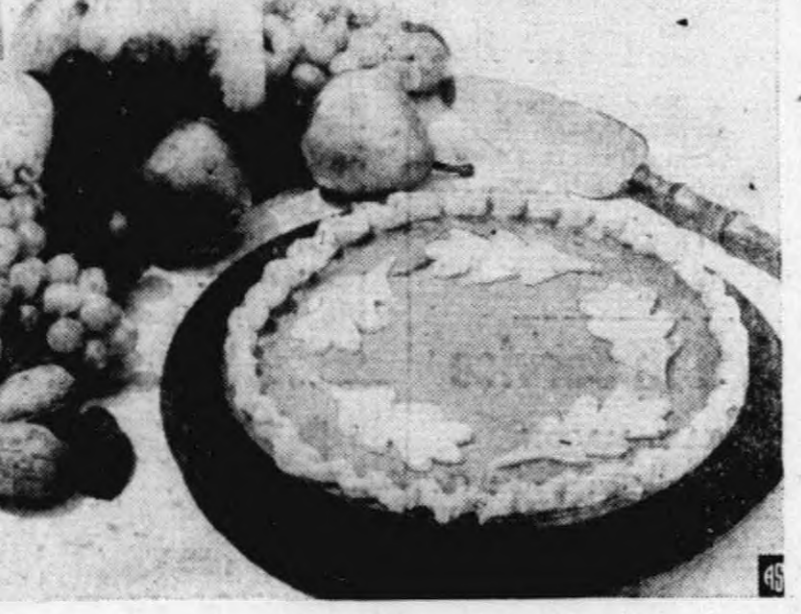

Mahogany and cherry are luxury woods. Mahogany is distinguished by its deep rich grain and row is as often brown or beige as it is dark red. Mahogany is often imitated so time should be taken to determine its authenticity.

Oak also has a distinctive, if coarse, grain and furniture made from it is always sturdy. There's a country look about oak furniture that makes it the choice for recreation rooms, bedrooms and sometimes kitchens.

Walnut is considered the most versatile wood by cabinetmakers, and homeowners will find walnut pieces adaptable to any room and compatible with most other types of furniture. The natural color span extends from light gray brown to a shade almost as dark as mahogany. Walnut is bound to stand out in any room whether in a breakfast or a small accessory table.

The grain of a hardwood is its identifying pattern and this cannot be changed by any finish. Finish adds to the life of furniture and may be simply lacquer or a tough synthetic.

- Combine sweet potatoes, butter and Sucaryl. Gradually blend in eggs, evaporated milk, salt, vanilla, and spices. Pour into the unbaked pie crust. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 10 minutes; reduce heat to 325 degrees F. and bake 40 minutes longer. Cool. Garnish top with cheese, if desired.

ODDS and ENDS

To avoid damage from moisture, tightly seal the spaces between windows and walls. Periodically check these areas and replace the putty when necessary. It will save the expense of extensive repair work.

Most drip-dry fabrics can be machine-dried. Exceptions are permanently-pleated skirts which need dripping action to "pull" the pleats into shape.

If you dry freshly laundered wash-and-wear fabrics automatically, guard against over-drying. Remove the clothes the moment they are dry. Never let them sit in a hot, stopped machine.

Prevent stretched necklines in sweaters by sewing two rows of round elastic inside the necks.

Blend deviled ham into such soups as pea, asparagus or cream of celery. Or spread deviled ham on croissants and sprinkle them over the soup.

Give baked custard a different flavor by adding sherry. Substitute a few tablespoons of sherry for the same amount of milk.

To remove indelible pencil marks, soak in alcohol and launder. If the stain remains, soak in chlorine bleach beads, and rinse thoroughly.

Feed Trees Now

Shade trees, fruit trees and flowering trees require fertilizing to keep them vigorous, healthy and growing at a steady rate. Most homeowners will feed small, young trees for a year or two after they've been planted to encourage them to grow fast and reach the state of shade or flowers desired.

The 60-foot-tall elm or oak tree also needs periodic feeding. If big trees aren't fertilized every two years or so, growth will slow down and foliage may be sparse and sickly looking. Worst of all, malnutrition makes a tree prey for insects and disease—and it seems there are more of these around every year. And always feed a tree after a drought season has been broken by rain.

Trees can be fed in spring or fall. But since there's so much planting to do in spring, why not fertilize all trees on the property before frost locks the ground?

One of the reasons why it's hard to establish grass under a shade tree is that the extensive root system of the tree absorbs the fertilizer sprinkled on the lawn. But lawn fertilizer isn't tree fertilizer and, while most trees aren't fussy, they'll be healthier if their own special formula is given.

A dry balanced commercial fertilizer is best and almost all brands include one especially blended for broad-leaved trees and another for evergreens. A good tree food contains some organic matter in addition to balanced amounts of nitrogen, phosphorus and potash (the last three also are in lawn and all balanced plant foods).

Tree feeding isn't the easiest chore but you'll feel good even if you do have a backache for twenty-four hours. For dry fertilizer the tool is a crowbar. Punch holes 18 inches deep if possible and never less than 10 inches deep. Start about one-quarter of the branch radius from the trunk. Make holes two or three feet apart and in concentric circles to 3 to 5 feet beyond the spread of the branches.

Common table salt may corrode and tarnish silver, so take special care of spoons used to serve salty nuts and candies, say home economists at Michigan State University.

If holiday candles stain table linen, gently scrape the hardened wax from the surface with a dull knife. Then sponge the stain with cleaning fluid away from any open flame. If the stain remains, sponge the spot with a cloth dipped in a mixture of one-part rubbing alcohol and two parts water.

Enjoy Pictures Eye Level When Seated

Almost everybody hangs pictures too high, says Paul Brewer Flick, an interior designer.

"Even those who know that pictures should be displayed at eye level generally hang them at eye level of a standing person," Flick complained. He insisted that in a living room or dining room where people usually are seated, pictures should be at eye level of seated persons.

"Museums are a poor guide in this respect," Flick said. Museums pictures are intended for standing viewers. Flick, who teaches home planning and furnishing in Northwestern University's home economics department, had several suggestions for displaying pictures in the home. He called for different treatment of the picture which serves as a wall decoration to complement a room's decor and the important picture intended as the focal point in a room. He suggested that a wall-decoration-type picture carry out the neutral colors in a room and be framed in a color close to that of the walls.

The important picture, on the other hand, should be dramatized. Flick suggested flooding it with light and using a wide or contrasting-color frame.

New Cars Ride In Style

The shiny new '60 cars you've seen appearing in show rooms all over Michigan—know how they got there? 85% of the new automobiles the country over travel by motor carrier from factory to dealer—and this applies pretty well to Michigan . . . That's only part of the story of how much the automobile industry depends on trucks. The basic materials, the parts and accessories—everything that goes into the manufacture of automobiles—travels most if not all the way from source to destination by truck . . . So, you see, cars just couldn't be turned out in today's volume—or get to their destination as quickly—if it weren't for the direct, dock-to-door service truck transport provides.

Plymouth High School

By Gloria Bowles
A real corker of an announcement was heard here recently: "We will have a one-minute pause while the boys decide who they will escort to the J-Hop on December 12." Whether they've decided on the "who" fellows do not know these facts:
"The 'Moonlight Interlude' is the theme. Decorations will center around a winter night in blue, white, and silver. Thirty potted Christmas trees, two murals, and a rabbit skating on a pond will be included in the setting.
Sue Utter and Ann West are co-chairmen for the winter formal.
The "Jerry Fenby Five" is the band arranged to play for the dance.
Four days of Thanksgiving vacation is ahead for the students, beginning with the holiday tomorrow. Next Monday, Nov. 30, is the date set for return.
Reverend Robert Richards of Saline, Michigan, was the headliner at the Thanksgiving assembly on Monday. The program, beginning with an introduction by assembly committee chairman Peg Davidson, a senior, also featured three selections of the Triple Trios, the girls singing group.
Triples are Barb Browne, Barb Booth, Leslee Huxley, Sally Sawyer, Ann West, Hollis Haynes, Grace Wiley, Karen McGeehan, Donna Sutton. Accompanist is Jean Jacobs.
A Thanksgiving food basket was filled to overflowing for the Future Homemakers, who delivered it to a needy Plymouth family. Junioriors Kellar, Suzy Phillips, Linda Cracker, and Marjorie Ybarra were those responsible for the project.

Seven scholastic-minded seniors have been cited for outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. Those who received Letters of Commendation were Susan Hulsing, Lee Feldkamp, Tim Graves, David Green, Alice Olandor, Dennis Parker, and Barbara Stencken.
The cast and crew of "On Borrowed Time" deserve a hearty hand. Director Robert Southgate should receive special recognition. Fine performance, people!
Mavis Williams and Karen West were elected by fellow cheerleaders to co-captain of the Varsity squad for the basketball season. The Junior Varsity cheer squad co-captains will be Peggy Jenkins and Janet Morrison.
Also on the subject of pep: seniors Ron Small and Judy Bradley are working to organize a Pep Club here.
This note is directed to parents of Plymouth of the class of '59: the annual staff announces that supplements are available—they include photographic coverage of the program, the senior banquet, Baccalaureate and Graduation—all spring sports.
Parents may pick up copies for their sons and daughters in Room 44 for $1.
An investigation of the smoking problem at Plymouth High school is being undertaken by the Student Council, with very capable Vice-Mayor Mike Porter chairing the project.
Now's the time for amateur writers to ready their manuscripts for the "Detroit News" Writing Awards contest—deadline for you to hand in short stories, formal essays, autobiographies, and work in the field of journalism is January 16.

The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

It is necessary to purchase hundreds of items which are for the smooth operation of our city. Our purchases range from soap to street sweepers and from tar to tarpaulins. These purchases cost the city several thousands of dollars each month. With such a large volume of buying, some procedure must be established to insure that the city is getting the most for its money. A well controlled purchasing system is in effect in Plymouth.
When the city undertakes to make any purchase, regardless of how large or how small it may be, a definite procedure is followed to insure that we obtain the best product for the least amount of money. There is an important distinction here which should be noted. On the one hand, the city is not penny-wise and dollar-foolish; that is, it does not buy the cheapest or least expensive item on the market.
Such a policy would almost certainly result in the purchase of inferior quality goods which would not last for any period of time. On the other hand, the city does not buy the most expensive items either. This, too, would result in an unwise expenditure of public money. What the policy of "lowest and best" does mean is that the city attempts to buy the highest quality items at a price it can afford, and then tries to get the most reasonable price for that quality item.
For example, suppose the city wants to buy an automobile battery. Batteries come at almost any price. However, the cheapest battery might be a re-conditioned one which carried no guarantee. The best battery might have an unconditional lifetime guarantee, but it would be very expensive. Consequently, some intermediate quality battery should be purchased. Thus, if a car is traded every year or every year and a half, an 18 or 24 months' guarantee on a battery might be all that is necessary for our purposes.
Another consideration is that if more than one battery is purchased, perhaps the city might get a better price quotation by reason of a quantity purchase. Thus, if six to twelve batteries are purchased, each one will be a little cheaper than if they were bought separately at different times throughout the year. Consequently, we try to purchase in quantity whenever it is possible.
Because here in America we live in a competitive economic system, we can contact many suppliers of batteries, or any other item for that matter, to find out which dealer can fill our special needs at the best possible price. Therefore, for all purchases over $500, we advertise for competitive bids.
Each bid is studied and the lowest and best bidder is awarded the contract to sell to the city. Thus, using batteries as an example again, if one dealer bids $20 per battery, another bids $19.45, and a third bids $19.75, the second bidder would supply us with our battery needs.
The same general idea is followed for purchases of less than $500. In such a case, however, the price quotations are usually taken on an informal basis, either by phone or by letter. Again, the lowest and best price is the one which is accepted. In some cases, even though the cost might be less than $500, a formal bidding procedure will be followed. In this way, we can be assured that our tax money is being used wisely.

Salem Federated Church News
The monthly Workers' Conference was held Tuesday, Nov. 10 and was attended by 20 teachers and workers. Following a potluck supper, a business meeting was held. The meeting concluded with a message from Rev. David Chambers, missionary to the Havasupai Indians of Arizona.
A special Missionary Service was held Wednesday evening, Nov. 11. Rev. and Mrs. Chambers both spoke and showed slides of their work among the Indians. Their small son, Dwight, age two, gave a demonstration of how he teaches the Supai children songs and scripture verses. The Chambers will be touring the Eastern states until February, when they will return to the bottom of the Grand Canyon to live in this remote place among the Supai Indians.
Ladies' Aid will be held at the church Thursday, Nov. 19 at 12:00. Following lunch, the ladies will be packing a gift box for the Becks in Formosa, and will also be working on their cloth painting project.

Turkey time is just a gobble away. All the hullabaloo about the cranberry situation this year has prompted one thoughtful grocer to provide a special filter-tipped fork to accompany all the banned cranberries that he is secretly smuggling into several Plymouth kitchens. Now that our Federal C-men (Cranberry Checkers) have turned their investigative noses and microscopes toward the delectable turkey-berry, several of our neighborhood children have asked me why they can't get serious about investigating the possibility of SPINACH having weed-killer problems.

Would like to take a couple of minutes to advise Mr. Paul Gregory, current producer of "The Pink Jungle" trying out his gossamer wings at the Shubert Theater for a few more days. Even though this comedy with music has a terrific second act, Mr. Gregory had better find a play doctor to pump some life into Act One. Old George recommends a friend of ours by the name of Phil Asher. Phil saw the show last week and his comments cut deep, but if followed they might save the show further embarrassment.

Phil claims that Ginger ers does a right smart of stomping those shapely legs of hers. If a dance sequence could be provided for her in Act I, it would add some needed spice. Cut out a few of her songs. Give them to Maggie Hayes, if possible. Soften the secondary plot of David and Ginger by making their affair lighter and not so heavy. Slash 15 minutes out of the first act. If the first act could end with Ginger losing her job with the big cosmetic firm, it might give the act needed pace.

Unless Vernon Duke, who wrote the music for "Pink Jungle" can come up with a couple of catchy tunes, Mr. Gregory had better play down the music. Phil suggests dropping the overture which contains a few tunes that give it some value. The costumes, sets, and the acting of Maggie Hayes and Agnes Moorehead make the "Pink Jungle" worth a visit. And let's not forget the dancing of Ginger Rogers plus some fine acting by Lief Erickson give the show plenty of plus viewing. Visit the Shubert Theater this week and see if you agree with Phil or old George.

"The Pink Jungle" may not be completely in the pink yet, but give it a couple more months of fixing and I'm sure it will delight those New York audiences with its definite ruddy glow.

"Pink Jungle" doesn't arrive in New York until January to take advantage of that huge million dollar advance sale of tickets. Incidentally, the Rodgers and Hammerstein latest effort "A Sound of Music" has topped advance sale money records with a whopping two and one-half million claims. On the basis of such guaranteed coin the musical can already ring up a profit of $400,000. Fortunately, all the critics agreed last week when the show opened on the Main Stem that it was a hit and contained all that had been expected.

Recent passage of the school bond issue (4 million 500 thousand dollar sale at the Plymouth box office) means more creative opportunities for our children. More schools and, of course, a new community auditorium will add to the cultural level of our community. Two years from today, 1961 to be specific, let's hope old George can announce that the high school play has completed a three day run in their new auditorium.

"Pillow Talk" at the Penn Theater continues to romp unrestricted until next Tuesday. It's a gay, mad comedy that will make you forget about those coming fuel bills now that winter seems to be upon us.

International item: first drive-in ever built in Germany will open this week. In all of Europe there are only two others—in Italy. A novel European touch will be an electric call-box given to each auto as they enter the Auto Kino that can summon a waiter to the car when food and drink is desired. Drive-in movies have been delayed because many builders felt that a German law forbidding children under six attending movies would hamper their financial success.

As long as TV can produce programs like "The Crime of Jebal Deeks" and the CBS news report on World Population problem, there is hope for the watching machine. Alec Guinness was superb in his American debut.

Since the show was taped, there is talk of re-running the show. Many people have requested the network to see it a second time. And the population report show could bear watching a second time. Let's hope all the networks keep up the good work. Wish I could wax eloquent about "Doll's House" with Julie Harris and Christopher Plummer that played at the Auto Kino that can summon a waiter to the car when food and drink is desired. Drive-in movies have been delayed because many builders felt that a German law forbidding children under six attending movies would hamper their financial success.

As long as TV can produce programs like "The Crime of Jebal Deeks" and the CBS news report on World Population problem, there is hope for the watching machine. Alec Guinness was superb in his American debut.

It's a modern treatment of the Biblical Job and his many problems. Production will be at the Shubert for two weeks. Here's your chance to see a Pulitzer prize fresh off Broadway.

Another drama playing in downtown Detroit at the Cass Theater is the absorbing historical drama, "Mary Stuart" by Eva Le Gallienne and Signe Hasso are featured in a Tyrone Guthrie directed production that crackles with excitement. Take your frau and family to the Cass this week for an exciting evening in the theater.

Time to fold up my seat and head for the exit. Let's hope the government keeps checking the cranberries. They'll be so busy they won't be able to investigate the tensile strength of tinsel. Think of it, Christmas without tinsel—could be a tense situation.

The Reader Speaks Up:

To the Editor:

As members of The Plymouth High School Band, we would like to know our feelings regarding a letter published in the November 11 issue, of the Plymouth Mail. Are not the members of the band, itself, best able to judge the capabilities of their own director?

Certain accusations were made by Mr. Leonard Cole at the Board of Education meeting. He stated that Mr. Griffith used poor judgement concerning the welfare of his students (such as playing in the rain). We know that when football season comes, we can count on unreliable weather. Mr. Griffith is the first to insist on warm clothing and raincoats. He also is on the field with us and not at home or has the protection of a warm blanket. Should he have to make a personal inspection to check our gear? After all, we are in high school now.

Concerning grading: Incompletes were given only to those who failed to turn in important contracts over a period of six weeks. Low marks were given to uncooperative members, who avoided responsibilities, and took valuable time away from the rest of the band. It was noticed that students who did poorly in band also did poorly in their other subjects as well. Should these teachers be subject to dismissal also, because little Johnny's parents complained?

Destroying enthusiasm of the band through remarks: If we are to keep our fine reputation as an A-1 band, we must be able to accept helpful criticism without resentment. If criticism is in order we except it. When we do our job well, Mr. Griffith is the first to tell us so.

Deriding individuals: We see no justification for this complaint. Mr. Griffith is constantly building individual morale as well as the morale of the whole band.

Mr. Cole declared that his feelings of 84 parents. We wonder who these parents are. We have reason to believe that many of these parents have no connection with the band at all. Who are they to judge the qualifications of our band director?

We hope that this letter lets the reader know how we feel about Mr. Griffith. He has added much to the band and with him as our director we will go even further in the future.

Disgusted,

Even the Ritual of Stuffing The Bird Can Be an Easy Task

Fancy stuffing for the Thanksgiving turkey can be made quickly and easily by combining packaged bread stuffing with other convenience foods.

The American Institute of Baking in Chicago has worked out a dozen variations on this theme, using everything from canned condensed soup to frozen cranberry relish.

But first, a couple of shopping tips: —Buy one eight-ounce package of ready-to-use bread stuffing for a five to six pound bird; two packages for a 10 to 12 pound bird; three if the turkey weighs 15 to 18 pounds; and four for a 20 to 24-pound gobbler.

—Read the manufacturer's label, to determine if the mix is seasoned or plain. If it's unseasoned, add salt and pepper, plus marjoram, sage, thyme, poultry seasoning, onion or celery, or a combination of several, to taste.

Here are the recipes, each using one 8-ounce package of seasoned bread stuffing. In multiplying the recipes for larger birds, increase added ingredients proportionately.

—Basic stuffing: follow manufacturer's directions for adding melted butter or margarine and liquid. In the fancier recipes, skip package directions and blend the dry mix with additional ingredients as listed.

—Applesauce stuffing: add 1-3 cup of melted butter or margarine, 1 cup of thick applesauce, 1 teaspoon of ground cinnamon and 3 tablespoons of brown sugar. Bacon-parsley stuffing: add 1/4 cup of melted butter or margarine, 3 strips of crisp cooked bacon, crumbled, 3 tablespoons each of bacon drippings and chopped parsley and 1 cup of water.

—Cheese stuffing: add 1/4 cup each of melted butter or margarine, water and chopped parsley, and 1 cup of grated sharp cheese.

—Cranberry-orange stuffing: add 1-3 cup of melted butter or margarine, 1 cup of thawed frozen or fresh cranberry-orange relish, 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1/4 teaspoon of nutmeg and 1 tablespoon of sugar.

—Giblet-celery stuffing: add 1/4 cup each of water and melted butter or margarine, 3/4 cup of cooked, chopped giblets and 2-3 cup of chopped celery.

—Mushroom stuffing: Add 1 cup of sliced mushrooms sauteed in 1/4 cup of melted butter or margarine, 1/2 cup of chopped celery and 1/4 cup of water.

—Orange stuffing: add 1/4 cup each of orange juice and melted butter or margarine, 1 teaspoon of grated orange rind, 1 cup of orange sections, peeled and seeded, and 1/2 cup of chopped celery.

—Oyster stuffing: add 1-3 cup of melted butter or margarine, 1 cup each of drained oysters, milk and chopped celery and 2 eggs, slightly beaten.

—Sausage stuffing: add 1 cup of cooked sausage meat (1 pound, raw), 2 tablespoons of chopped onion, 1/2 cup of chopped celery and 2 tablespoons of water.

—Spicy apple stuffing: add

1/2 cup of melted butter or margarine, 2 cups of coarsely chopped unpeeled apples, 1/2 teaspoon each of ground allspice, salt, and ground cinnamon, 1 tablespoon of minced onion, 1/2 cup of chopped celery, 1 egg, slightly beaten, 1/4 cup of water and 1 teaspoon of lemon juice.

—Celery-nut stuffing: add 1 (10 1/2-ounce) can of condensed cream of celery soup, and 1-3 cup of unsalted nuts, either pecans, walnuts, almonds or peanuts.

If you make the stuffing a day early, refrigerate it in a covered bowl, not in the bird. Stuff and truss the fowl the day it is to be cooked.

If Your Name Is 'Felix'

By ANN REYNOLDS

It has been said that the word "felix," meaning "happy" in Latin, was first used as a surname by Romans who were extremely fortunate.

In any case, the name was already in use in ancient Rome. One Antonius Felix was Roman governor of Judea and neighboring provinces around the middle of the first century. In the Acts of the Apostles he is mentioned; it was to him that the apostle Paul was sent after having been arrested in Jerusalem for allegedly provoking a riot.

Felix kept him imprisoned in Caesarea for two years, repeatedly postponing his trial. Under the influence of his Jewish wife, Drusilla, who leaned toward the teachings of Jesus, Felix listened several times to Paul's talks about moral truth and judgment after death; still he was unable to make up his mind about the new teachings, and remained undecided about Paul's guilt or innocence. So he left him in prison when he was recalled to Rome.

Antonius Felix, a freed slave, was described by the Roman historian Tacitus as "reveling in cruelty and lust, and wielding the power of a king with the mind of a slave." Felix himself came close to being executed by Nero, and was spared only through the intercession of his brother Pallas.

There are quite a few saints named Felix. One seventh century St. Felix is known as "The Apostle of East-England"; he helped establish Christianity in East-England. Felixtown, Suffolk, England, and Feliskirk, Yorkshire, England, are named for him. Another St. Felix, of Cantalice, was a musician. A simple man of little learning, but of a sweet and sincere disposition, he endeared himself with children, teaching them religious songs he composed himself.

One St. Felix, of Nola, was saved by a spider from persecution, according to legend. While pursued, he crept into a cave. A spider weaved his web across the opening and so those who were after him believed the cave had not been entered for a long time.

On Tax Assessments

The Reader Speaks Up

Editor:

I was much amazed to read of the opinion of the Wayne Circuit jurist who described my action in vetoing the ruling of the Michigan State Tax Commission on the Detroit Edison case as among other things, "fraudulent."

In view of the circumstances surrounding the appeal of Detroit Edison to the Tax Commission in the first instance, the ruling of the Commission in effect reducing Edison's proportionate share of the Community wide tax burden and the subsequent appeal to the Michigan Supreme Court by Redford Township, the acceptance of the tax in controversy might well have jeopardized the position of the several thousand other small taxpayers who were in effect being represented by virtue of the Supreme Court appeal.

In my view of the situation, the reductions given to Detroit Edison and other equally large corporate taxpayers were not based on any real principle but as a result of the reams of dreary publicity that has been directed at the plight of the poor unfortunate big business interests in the State of Michigan.

These reductions were a compromise with principle at the expense of a large group of individual homeowners and small business men who have not had the benefit of the propaganda favoring the huge vested interests who have shrewdly calculated that the best way to win concessions is on the basis of fear.

The ultimate effect of the reductions clearly is to heap the burden on those least able to pay because the very item being taxed, the home, is not income producing. Edison and Michigan Consolidated Gas have never had that problem, for as the costs of doing business have increased, the State Public Service Commission has always allowed the necessary rate increases on their monopolistic products in order to effectively guarantee a more than fair return on their investments. The public has also paid the increased price as demanded by the other large industries whose economic growth has been unparalleled.

We see the results of the continued efforts of the larger corporations to cash in on the cleverly laid groundwork of fear propaganda begun by the Daisy Corporation in this area with the current reductions granted in Hamtramck. These reductions will in the opinion of Hamtramck officials have a disastrous effect on their municipal and school functions. Their Mayor is studying the possibilities of an appeal to protect the very ability of his government to operate.

Across the County in Redford Township, because of a difference in tax levying and collecting procedures, adverse rulings on industrial and public utility assessments mean an increase in the rates by $7.00 per thousand valuation. What would be considered a calamity if it had occurred to the industrial segment of our society is lauded as justice by the present Supervisor because it has appened to the homeowners who currently have no effective spokesman.

Somewhere along the line it would seem we have lost our sense of balance in this matter of taxation. We are operating not on the basis of what is right and just for all groups but on the basis of a fear that says if we don't take care of this special segment of our society they will carry out their open threat to leave us for other states. In giving in to this fear we are harshly penalizing those in our society least able to pay, and sadly enough, those least organized to resist.

Fraud and inequity whenever practiced is despicable. In my mind it is to be despised even more when practiced in the name of justice.

If my striking of what I believe to be an unfair and unjust tax giveaway points out even in a small way the danger of judgement by fear and its consequence on those least able to lose, it will be well worth any criticism received.

Sincerely,
Richard E. Manning,
Former Supervisor,
Redford Township

Your Handwriting Is Clue About You

By LUCILLE WILLIAMS

Dear Miss Williams:

Here is a sample of my handwriting. Just what kind of a person am I? Sometimes I don't know myself.

Thanks,
M.J.
Charleston, W. Va.

Dear M.J.:

You rather like responsibility and with the pride you have in what you do there is satisfaction in your work. You are capable of diplomacy and show good organization in your work.

You are only mildly sensitive and have control over your emotions most of the time but there are occasions for expressiveness and a little resentment.

There is an effort at self-control. You are of a secretive nature, keeping many things to yourself. You like music and are creative minded. There is a great determination about you.

Dear Miss Williams:

Will you please analyze my handwriting? Can you see any talents, especially in music? It would help to know if you could see work I would enjoy or something in the arts I should study for at least personal developments.

Thank you very much,
Mary M.F.

Dear Mary:

You are full of enthusiasm, a good trait for anyone to have. Also there is a love of music and you possess a certain amount of rhythm in your writing. You have creativeness but little imagination, your ability is more in your hands than mental.

You have pride and dignity, the ability to learn and a future-minded attitude. Some of your desires are suppressed but you keep your activities well organized and in balance.

You are capable of being diplomatic and cautious in handling others. You have a good memory and are pleased in handling small responsibilities.

Dear Miss Williams:

Please tell me what my "hen scratching" means. I usually write even personal letters on the typewriter, rather than subject my friends to the task of trying to read my scrawl.

Thanks,
K.W.F.

Dear K.W.F.:

You are expressive emotionally and a little on the psychic side. You are quite philosophical and have a tremendous imagination. There is good thinking and creative thinking, you'd make a good writer with that imagination. Your persistence is outstanding.

There is a great desire for physical activity, also variety. Your memory is not so good and you have no desire for detail. You will go forward in ability and thinking. There is also a love for music.

(Send your letter to Lucille Williams in care of this newspaper for free handwriting analysis.)

How's Business?
1932 Living Cost Doubles

By Roger W. Babson's Staff

The U.S. consumer Price Index reached a new high of 125.2 in September. This means that living costs are 25 percent higher than in the 1935-39 base period, and more than double the 1935-39 base level.

The persistent climb in living costs reflects the rising standard of living. Shorter work weeks have sharply increased the demand for recreation goods and services—hence have boosted prices for them. Improvements in health standards have brought added strain to family budgets: more frequent visits to doctors and dentists, greater reliance on specialists, and the advent of the expensive, though effective, miracle drugs. With more families covered by medical insurance plans, rising premiums also raise living costs.

The trek of the population to the suburbs, another sign of upgraded living standards, has been a forceful propellant to the cost of living. Suburban residents are well aware of the high costs of power required to operate the abundance of appliances, the increase in water consumption necessary to keep lawns and shrubs looking well, and the many maintenance services required to keep households operating smoothly.

Property owners are also painfully aware of the growing burden of taxes to provide schools, highways, and the myriad of public services. Suburban living has also increased the cost of transportation, especially in terms of costs of owning, operating, and maintaining family cars. The purchase of a late-model automobile is a substantial capital investment—not to mention the inevitable added consequence of taxes, insurance, etc. Fortunately, prices of food and apparel have not increased as much as other items in the past two years, thus easing the burden of supporting growing families. For the hard-pressed guardian of the household budget, however, the battle against rising living costs will demand close watch over all expenses, careful shopping, and avoidance of the folly of "keeping up with the Joneses."
