

Board Looks Toward New Bond Issue

Another study of the need for plant facilities in the Plymouth Community School District will be taken by the Board of Education during the next month in order to resubmit a bond issue to electors sometime this spring.

The Board discussed the matter briefly during Monday night's busy session but then decided to devote several special meetings to examine the needs as thoroughly as necessary.

Plymouth School District voters turned down two bond issues last November totaling $4,500,000. One was a half million issue to provide an auditorium while the other was for $4,000,000 to provide a variety of facilities.

One of the protests heard by voters was the inclusion of a $200,000 swimming pool for the Junior High.

The new proposal that the Board will submit will be pared down considerably and undoubtedly will not include the swimming pool.

The Board is talking about adding three rooms to the Smith Elementary School where the greatest "pinch" in enrollment is now found. The Board also must still plan for additional facilities at the Junior High level and more elementary school facilities.

It is presumed that the Board will also ask for money to make alterations and additions to the present high school and make more alterations to conform with the request of the State Fire Marshal's office.

The Board decided Monday night to meet with citizen groups to talk over the needs before any final decision is made concerning a ballot proposal.

Township Water Bid Rejected

A request made to the Livonia City Council last November by Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay for a township connection to the Livonia water system was denied by the Council Monday night.

The supervisor hoped to obtain the Livonia connection to serve as an "auxiliary" to the Township's water system which is served by wells.

Livonia Councilmen, at a meeting last month, tabled a resolution granting the request until they found out if Livonia would have the right to control the shut-off valve in case Livonia should need the water.

Since Livonia's supply actually comes from the Detroit-Wayne County system, Livonia is bound by Detroit-County rules. Livonia city attorneys expressed belief that the city would be prohibited from turning off the supply to Plymouth Township in case of a water need in Livonia. For this reason, Livonia councilmen decided to deny the request.

Motorcycle In Crash

Werner G. Hoffman, 19, of 8520 Brookline, received a fractured leg Monday morning when his motorcycle skidded into the rear of a Jeep.

The driver of the Jeep, Steven Hermans of Brighton, said that he had stopped while traveling south on Main St. to allow a car ahead to make a left turn onto Union St.

Hoffman told police that he saw the stopped car ahead and hit the brakes, but the motorcycle skidded into the rear of the standing vehicle.

The youth was taken by ambulance to Wayne County General Hospital where a leg fracture was diagnosed.

Public Party To Tell 'Dimes' Story

A Coffee Party to which the public is being invited will be held at the Veterans Memorial Center, 173 N. Main St., this Monday, Jan. 18 starting at 7:30 p.m.

A movie entitled "Do Unto Others" narrated by Eddie Albert will be shown to tell the story about the "New March of Dimes."

Local AA Group Hosts Conference

Members of Alcoholics Anonymous from the Plymouth and Northville area will host this Sunday, Jan. 17 to the Eastern Area Conference of AA with some 350 members and guests expected to attend.

The local organization, which is called the Northville Group, has been in existence for over two years. There are nearly 50 members in the local group.

The Eastern Area Conference will open at 11 a.m. Sunday in the Northville Community Building with a meeting of delegates discussing administrative business affairs.

Also scheduled for 11 a.m. is a meeting of "Alanom," the affiliated group composed of family members of the alcoholic. Alanom meets periodically to discuss adjustment problems. They will have an AA member address them Sunday morning.

At 3 p.m. will be the public meeting for all members and those of the general public interested in the problem. The speaker will be Austin D. of Kalamazoo.

The Northville Group meets every Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in First United Presbyterian Church in Northville. These meetings are open to anyone interested.

Each Friday is a closed meeting for alcoholics, men and women. Alanom also meets on Thursdays at 8:30 p.m.

Sixty AA groups are in the Eastern Conference. There are 5,000 AA members in Michigan and 30,000 in the world.

The 5,000 Michigan members are found in 224 groups, 12 of which are in hospitals and 17 inside prisons.

Local members of AA note that there is an AA meeting going on every night of the week within a 25 mile radius of Plymouth. Those wanting information on the program can write Box 239, Plymouth.

Drapery Fair Shutting Down

After eight years in Plymouth, Drapery Fair, 842 Penniman, will go out of business following a sale of its merchandise and furnishings.

Jay Shane, manager of the store, said that the going out of business sale will start today (Wednesday) and will end sometime next month. A city permit for conducting the sale has been issued.

Drapery Fair has been in the same location during its entire eight years here. Their sale offers drapery material, dry goods, shower supplies and other merchandise "at cost and below." All of the store furnishings are also being offered.

Familiar Face Traps Passer of Bad Checks

A man who passed $118 worth of bad checks in the Plymouth area was arrested last week due to a sharp-eyed supermarket manager who remembered his face for 10 days.

George B. Rolph, 31, of 2150 Novi Rd., Northville, was arrested last Thursday after the manager of Food Fair Supermarket, Gordon Rigoulot, recognized him as the person who cashed a phony check there Dec. 29.

Rolph passed a check for $55 at Food Fair and when he walked into the store again last Thursday, Rigoulot recalled the face and called Plymouth police.

Under questioning, Rolph admitted writing the check, along with a $45 bad check at Kroger's 24 at Main and Mill Service and $14 at the A & P in Northville.

Police found a pad of blank checks in the glove compartment of Rolph's car parked in the Food Fair Parking lot. Apparently a tidy person, Rolph had some torn-up checks in his car's litterbag. He had various names in signing the checks.

Appearing before Municipal Judge Nando Perlongo, Rolph pleaded guilty. He was bound over to circuit court and placed under $500 bond. He was charged with passing checks "with insufficient funds" over $50. Rolph was on probation for a similar charge.

$30,000 Blaze Ruins House Owned by State

A loss of $30,000 has been estimated in a spectacular fire that brought total ruin Sunday night to a vacant house on state-owned property near Five Mile and Edward Hines Drive.

Located just across the Plymouth Township border inside Northville Township, the home was being readied for occupancy for a staff member of the new Plymouth State Home and Training School.

Of old English design, the structure was around 20 years old and was in excellent shape, except for painting which was underway, according to Walter Kenzie, business manager of the State Home.

The state took over the home from the Wayne County Training School when the county turned over other property several years ago for the

Firemen On The Run As Year Opens

Firemen in both Plymouth Township and City were kept on the run during the past week to fight major fires in two houses, check smoke at Western Electric, extinguish a big grass fire behind the Burroughs plant and to investigate an assortment of other alarms.

Township firemen helped Northville firemen fight a $30,000 house blaze Sunday night (see story on this page) and City firemen had their hands full last Wednesday morning with another house.

The frame home at 1012 N. Mill St. was heavily damaged inside as fire crept through the walls and into the attic. The fire burned off part of the roof.

Assistant Chief George Schoeneman said that the cause is not yet determined and an estimate not made of the damage. The house, owned by Robert Willoughby, was occupied by Richard Daniel who was not home.

Schoeneman said Monday that they still have not been able to contact Daniel.

City firemen got a report Saturday that smoke was pouring from the pump house at the City's well-field on Six Mile Rd. They found a workman was burning out a stump beside the pump house.

A Western Electric watchman summoned firemen at 5:05 a.m. Sunday after finding a section of the plant filled with smoke. Firemen checked motors and finally found that a de-greasing vat had overheated, causing the smoke.

City firemen also were called to a Starkweather Ave. (Continued on Page 6)

Canton Citizens To Fight Old Drain Tax

A host of Canton Township propertyowners who are being taxed for drain work performed over the past 10 years by the Wayne County Drain Commission started legal action today against the deficit tax.

Following a series of three meetings, the last of which was held Monday night, the group passed a resolution to hire an attorney who is expected to file his petition today in Circuit Court.

Around 80 propertyowners are expected to join in the suit that will name Wayne County and Canton Township Treasurer Philip Dingledey as defendants.

Dingledey is being named because he must collect the tax. But while he will be a defendant, he will also be a plaintiff because he too owns property which he feels is being illegally taxed. In reality, he will be in the unique position of bringing suit against himself.

4-3 Vote Rejects Church's Use of School Facilities

With a 4-3 vote, the Plymouth Board of Education turned down a motion Monday night to allow a church group the use of school facilities to hold Sunday services.

The seven-member Board took swift action on the motion after having discussed the controversial subject at length at two previous meetings. At a meeting two weeks before, there were only six board members present and the motion to allow use of the schools resulted in a 3-3 deadlock.

Rev. Norman Brauer, who is starting a mission of the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, in Plymouth, made the request at the December regular meeting. He wanted use of an elementary school multi-purpose room and perhaps some classrooms until the congregation built its own church.

Referring to the policy of prohibiting use of school facilities for church or church-connected activities, the Board had to face the problem of revising this policy.

At the meeting two weeks ago, Board members Harold Fischer, Wesley Kaiser and Robert Soth were against any relaxation of the policy. Voting for allowing the specific request were Peter Zylstra, Charles Zoet and Harold Niemi. President Esther Hulsing was not present.

Like two weeks before, Zylstra made the motion Monday night to allow the request. There was a short discussion in which Zylstra and Niemi pointed out that state law allows school districts to grant such requests to organizations providing a adequate payment is made to the district for use of the facilities. Rev. Brauer had offered payment.

In a call for the question, the vote was split the same as two weeks ago, except that Mrs. Hulsing was present and voted to deny the request.

Meanwhile, Rev. Brauer

announced that he will be starting services this Sunday at the Veterans Memorial Center on Main St. He thanked the board for their consideration of the matter and predicted that the Board would be faced with similar request in the future.

In other business before the board, George Schumm, Sr., representative of Arthur C. Croft Publications, spoke at the invitation of the Board about his company's systematic development program for school boards. This program provides an elaborate recording of school board policies and administrative rules. The basic service, which cost $614, has been adopted by Livonia, Wayne, the Redford districts and many others in Michigan and the United States. The board voted to buy the system.

Approval was given to the hiring of Karen Rosselit as a replacement kindergarten teacher at Allen school and the resignation of Richard Griffith, high school driver education teacher, was accepted. He will leave at the end of the semester this month.

Some of the deficit drain tax bills go back as far as 1949. The Wayne County Drain Commission is required to inspect the drains yearly and to maintain them when necessary. As far as is known, there has been a machine brought into the Township for drain work only once during that period, Treasurer Dingledey declared.

The treasurer has a detailed bill on each drain, outlining the charges for each year. A large amount on the bills is credited to "office expense."

Dingledey states that in order for anyone to receive a refund should the taxpayers in the case, they must both sign the "protest" and become a plaintiff in the lawsuit.

New Rabies Vaccine Will Last Two Years

A new type of rabies vaccine that will make it necessary to have dogs vaccinated every other year instead of every year will be used in Plymouth when its dog licensing time again.

Both Plymouth Township and the City of Plymouth are amending their dog ordinances to allow for the new type of vaccine.

The new laws will allow vaccination every two years if the applicant shows proof that the dog has been vaccinated with the new modified live rabies virus of chick embryo origin.

It will still be necessary to obtain a new dog license every year. In the "off-year," when the dog does not need to be vaccinated again, the owner must bring evidence that the new vaccine was used the previous year.

Dog clinics, held in May and June in the city and township, will allow dog owners to obtain a license and to have their dogs vaccinated with the new product at the same time.

The January Clearance Sales bring throngs of savings-conscious shoppers into Plymouth each year.

Didn't Know We Had One?

Perhaps some Plymouth residents failed to notice it, but when the new Dunning-Hough Library opened two years ago, it was also the opening of an exhibit hall for local artists.

Members of the Three Cities Art Club have used the library for displaying their works since the new unit of the library opened.

These displays are changed periodically and last Saturday was another "change-over" for the exhibit.

The Three Cities Art Club is composed of men and women from Plymouth, Livonia and Northville. It has both professional and amateur talent. Besides oil and water color paintings, their work consists of sculpture, jewelry making and related art processes.

Margret Cramer, Shirley Denison, and Linda Kate Edgerton are the featured artist-members of the Three Cities Art Club in the new exhibit hung last Saturday.

A graduate of art schools in Dresden and Berlin, Germany, Margret Cramer uses water color and oils, paints portraits in oil and is especially interested in the use of the silk-screen process as an art medium.

Mrs. Cramer teaches private art classes at her studio in Wayne and adult education art classes at Whitman Junior High School in Livonia. The paintings which she has chosen for this exhibit are: "Lemon Sellers" a remembrance of a gallery in Marseille; "Mexican Market," colorful masks for sale; and a portrait of a neighbor's child.

Three pieces of terra-cotta sculpture are shown by Shirley Denison, accomplished local sculptor. Mrs. Denison was the recipient of a scholarship from Dearborn schools which enabled her to study for two years at the Art Students' League in New York City.

Civic Chorus Issues Call For Singers

The Plymouth Civic Chorus, comprised of local residents and directed by Fred Nelson, has issued a community-wide invitation for singers to join its choral ranks. Rehearsals are being held each Monday evening from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Annex room No. 4 at Plymouth High.

The Chorus is currently readying itself for its role in the finale of Beethoven's Ninth Symphony, which will be presented here on April 3 with the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra and again on April 26 with the Saginaw Symphony Orchestra.

Only recently did the Plymouth Civic Chorus sing the Shepherds' Chorus in the highly successful performance here of "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

The local call for additional singers was issued by Director Nelson since, in Beethoven's Ninth, a large chorus is required to effectively portray the great sound of joy and triumph. The finale of this symphony includes the resources of orchestra, soloists and chorus.

"This is a real opportunity for singers to actively assist in the preparation of one of the great pieces in the literature of music," said Nelson. The Civic Chorus is accompanied by Mrs. Thomas Lock.

Sandy's Drugs Opening Here

Sandy's Drugs, 859 Penniman, this week is holding its grand opening event since the firm changed hands last fall. It was previously Sam and Son Drugs.

New owner of the local drug store is Sandy Linsky, 38 year old Taylor Township resident who was formerly with Henry's Drugs in that community.

Linsky took over Oct. 19 and has been remodeling the store's interior. His wife has done all of the redecorating. A soda fountain has been installed where light, hot lunches will be served. "Ye Olde Apothecary Shoppe," the prescription department, is another innovation of the new owner.

The "Shoppe" is a quaint, colonial bungalow located at the back of the store, where the prescription department is housed.

The entire store interior has been remodeled. Linsky, a graduate pharmacist from Detroit Technical Institute, said that he and his family are planning to move here in the spring. In the meantime, he is anxious to meet Plymouthites and during the three-day grand opening (Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Jan. 14-15-16) he is giving away free coffee and favors to all the guests. Linsky asked that Plymouth citizens drop in and say "hello."

Swimmers Dunk RU 72-24; Seek To Sink Champions

Launch Big Meet With Ann Arbor

Plymouth swimmers polished off Redford Union last week 72-24 and will warm up with Allen Park Thursday before the season's big battle at Ann Arbor at 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

The Redford Union win was the fourth victory of the season for John McFall's team against no losses. It's as certain as taxes that the Rocks will carry a 5-0 record into the Ann Arbor meet, because Allen Park lost to Redford Union.

Ann Arbor, meanwhile, will host highly ranked Birmingham on Friday prior to its meet with Plymouth. "Actually," McFall says, "Ann Arbor has the advantage in preparatory meets by meeting Birmingham. Good competition sharpens a team up," he adds.

"We have as good a chance as we've ever had of beating Ann Arbor," McFall said. As of press time, everyone on the Plymouth squad was healthy and "that means something," according to McFall.

In the Redford Union meet Plymouth took every first place and four seconds in addition to four thirds. Eight men shared first place honors in the eight individual events for Plymouth.

Jim Carney won the 50 yard free style and Bob Daley won the 100 yard butterfly. Twin brother Ron Daley won the 200 yard freestyle and Al Davies emerged first in the 100 yard backstroke. Don Williams was first in the 100 yard breaststroke, while Art Helm was first in the 100 yard freestyle. Nick Herrick placed first in diving and Dick Gretzinger won the 200 yard individual medley.

Diek Michael, Andy Whiting, Earl Wright and Wim Schrader pooled efforts to win the 200 yard medley relay, while Herrick, Hubbs, Koes and Izett got together to win the 200 yard freestyle relay.

Seconds were earned by: Doug Balfour, 100 yard butterfly; Earl Wright, 200 yard freestyle; Val Loose, 100 yard freestyle and Bob Daley, 200 yard individual medley.

Thirds were gained by: Beau Toll, 50 yard freestyle; Scott Soth, 100 yard backstroke; Jack Robison, 100 yard breaststroke; and Mark Schultheis, diving.

Tickets for the Ann Arbor meet, Saturday will be on sale at the door. The Ann Arbor pool holds approximately 1,000 and it is a meet that Plymouth fans may well enjoy seeing.

Plymouth has never beaten Ann Arbor, last season's state champions.

PANTHER ABOUT TO STRIKE — is Gary Ruetenik (10). Gary sunk two free throws with 33 seconds left to give Redford Union a 43-41 lead over Plymouth in the close contest last week.

Recreation League Opens; Heides' Deporter Hits 25

Plymouth's recreation basketball teams opened their 1960 competition last week with four games in the School League.

In the 15-year-old and under division, the Yellow Jackets beat the Blackhawks 40-22. Denny Hunt tossed in 16 points for the Yellow Jackets and teammate Gary Grady added 13. Doug Sutherland totaled 11 for the Blackhawks.

In other action in the 15-year-old league, the Indians scalped the Wolverines 28-18. The Wayne County Training School Redbirds defeated Plymouth VFW 29-26 in the 18-year-old and under league, while the Plymouth Optimists defeated the Speed Demons 56-21. Dave Green had 18 points for the Optimists and Mike Knapp scored 13, while Gary Hondorp totaled 11.

January One of Best Months to Catch Cold

If you are sneezing and have a head cold, you are not alone in this. Dr. Joseph G. Molner, City-County Health Commissioner, remarks, January is one of three times in the year when colds are most prevalent. The other two are October and late March or early April. Most persons have three or more colds each year. Little children have them much more frequently than this—sometimes as many as seven or eight in a year.

There is just one way to catch a cold and this is from another person who has one. The common cold is caused by any one of a dozen tiny germs called viruses. These viruses are not destroyed by any drug or remedy known at present. However, infections which may follow a cold may respond to treatment with antibiotics.

You will be wise to take every possible precaution to avoid a cold and if you do get one, to take care of yourself during the first day or two. Colds are dangerous chiefly because they lower resistance of the breathing passages to germs such as the pneumococci and streptococci, which are often present in the nose and throat, but cause illness only under conditions which permit them to multiply. This is the reason a cold often precedes pneumonia, sinus infection or ear infection. Children younger than five years old are most likely to take cold. Dr. Molner suggests the following precautions for avoiding colds:

- Whenever possible, stay away from anyone who has a cold and be especially careful to protect young children from anyone who coughs or sneezes carelessly.
- Get enough sleep to

Plymouth Loses Thriller to Redford Union In Wild 44-43 Battle To Beat The Clock

With the possible exception of your alarm clock there is no more irksome sound than the stinging buzz of a buzzer that ends a basketball game — especially when your team is one point behind.

For Redford Union last Friday the buzzer signaled a demonstration of mass affection for their team that had escaped with a 44-43 win over Plymouth. For Plymouth, it began a melancholy moment when they would mentally replay the game and when they could start thinking about Allen Park this Friday at 7 p.m.

Allen Park also took it on the chin last week, losing to Belleville 68-49. Both schools are now tied for fourth place in Suburban Six competition with identical 1-2 league records.

Plymouth trailed in the Redford Union game 44-42 with 15 seconds left when Dave Mynatt stole a ball and hustled half the court unimpeded for a lay-up that put the Rocks within two points, 44-42.

Plymouth immediately applied a full court pinch press and with three seconds left Randy Egloff took a foul shot after Redford Union was penalized for taking too many time outs. Egloff made it and the score was 44-43.

Plymouth attempted to take time out and Coach Jim Doyle conferred with his players on the delicate task of how to get a shot at the basket with only three seconds left.

Plymouth took the ball out of bounds just over the half court line. Guard John Salan found an open man in the Plymouth trailing by one point 41-40, a difficult foul was called on Dave Mynatt. It appeared that Gary Ruetenik might have been blocking.

Mynatt was knocked down in the play, and when he jumped over to the official and protested, the official ordered a technical free throw.

Ruetenik made all three of them and Redford Union led 44-41 with 33 seconds left. In addition they were given the ball after the technical foul. Mynatt later partially offset the effect of this dubious foul by his ball theft and field goal with 15 seconds left.

Another play that excited Plymouth fans was guard John Salan's ball hawking

With 59 seconds left. The diminutive Rock took aim on the ball held by a Redford Union guard, dove and somersaulted to a successful jump ball situation with Plymouth trailing 41-40.

The game was a topsy-turvy affair throughout. Plymouth jumped to a 9-4 first quarter lead, but Plymouth's shooting appeared off after the holidays. Redford Union moved ahead at halftime 22-16. In the first half only two Plymouth players scored. Egloff and Jim Thompson each scored eight points.

Plymouth reared back in the third quarter after Jim Doyle's halftime talk to take the lead 36-31. In the fourth quarter it was Redford Union's turn again and they made the most of it.

Egloff led both teams with 22 points on nine field goals and four free throws, while Ron Munger led Redford Union with six goals and one free throw for 13 points. Jim Thompson scored 10 points for Plymouth with four baskets and four free throws.

SPORTSEEN

By BILL NELSON

"We just didn't hit."

It was basketball coach Jim Doyle on the phone only 16 hours after his team had left the floor at Redford Union on the wrong end of a 44-43 score.

Doyle, who did some brilliant halftime coaching and final second manipulating of plays during the game, pointed out that Plymouth hit on only two of 27 shots in the first quarter. "They were good shots," he added, "but the 14-day layoff hurt us during the holidays. We didn't warm up until the second half."

Redford Union played three games in a holiday tournament and as Doyle said of their shooting, "They looked as if they had never left the floor" during the holiday period.

"Mechanically we were very good," Doyle said, "we committed no bad passes or fundamental violations."

"We loosened up in the second half," Doyle said. Plymouth turned a half-time deficit of 22-16 into a 36-31 third quarter advantage. "I talked to them at half-time," he noted.

In the third quarter Plymouth moved into zone press occasionally. "They eventually solved it, but it bothered them when we used it," he said, "and it never hurt us."

"It was the defense that kept us in the game," he pointed out. "When you hold a team to 40 points on their home court, you are playing pretty good defense," he said.

"I thought the referee missed that one," Doyle said of the call which gave Redford Union its 44-41 lead.

"The Redford Union man fell down after blocking a Plymouth player trying to get in position to get a rebound. It was then that the referee saw the action," Doyle feels, "and he faked a foul which the referee called."

After a protest by Plymouth, a technical was called which had the effect of not only giving Redford Union another free throw, but the ball with only 33 seconds left.

In addition Doyle wasn't allowed his full time out, which he called with three seconds left after Egloff dropped in a free-throw to make the score 44-43.

"I had only two or three seconds to set up the play to get the final shot off," he said, "instead of a full two minutes. The referee apparently felt that after the free throw he had to put the ball in play, but I had called time out."

Doyle praised his team and especially Dave Mynatt who "scrapped and hustled." "Randy Egloff played an excellent game," Doyle said, "and Jim Thompson turned in a good job."

Then he mentioned the glass boards and nine layup shots that rolled around the rim. Plymouth has metal boards at home. He recalled again that the whole team played well. "We just didn't hit," he said.

Plymouth's unbeaten swimming team got news recently that they were ranked fourth in the state by the Michigan Swimming News, a weekly publication that specializes in keeping track of state swimming statistics.

"We probably received the rating because of some individual times," Coach John McFall said, noting that Ann Arbor wasn't in the first ten.

"Ann Arbor has some strong individuals plus plenty of team depth," he added. Birmingham was ranked first, Grosse Pointe, second and Lansing Sexton, third.

Plymouth Post Office Wins Safety Award

"Our city post office drivers have earned the 1959 post office Regional Operations Director's Award for Safety," Postmaster Tim Pona announced today. The award is signed by Robert R. Justus, Director of U.S. Mail Service in the Illinois-Michigan Postal Region. This is the fourth consecutive year Plymouth has won the award.

"Plymouth postal drivers performed their driving assignments with care and courtesy and we are proud to have been singled out for this honor," the Postmaster said. "Mr. Justus stated, 'It is my sincere wish that your office will repeat and even improve your safety record next year, so I may again have the chance to say 'Thanks' to you for contributing to the Regional improvement in safety activities.'"

Plymouth drivers are a part of the huge postal fleet which travels nearly a billion miles a year. This gigantic movement of the nation's mail volume requires 100,000 vehicle operators. Since initiating the safety program, Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has accepted many safety awards on behalf of postal employees.

Through an organized safety movement by him, Regional Operations Directors and 37,000 postmasters, a tremendous improvement has resulted. Downward trends in costly accidents are making an impressive contribution for better service to the public.

In addition to the group performance award by the Regional Operations Director, individual safe driver awards are presented to accident free employees based on their experience each year.

Engagements

New Lutheran Mission Holds First Service Here Sunday

A new church affiliated with the English District of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod, will hold its first services this Sunday, Jan. 17 at the Veterans' Community Center on Main St.

Pastor Norman H. Brauer will conduct the first service at 10:45 a.m. at the Center next to the High School. The new mission has been named the "Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ."

Rev. Brauer has been in Plymouth for several months conducting a church census. The Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church has over 5,000 congregations in the U.S. and Canada. For the last 10 years the denomination has opened two to three new churches a week. It's denominational program includes 10 colleges, two seminaries and two teachers' colleges for the training of pastors and teachers.

The Missouri Synod is widely known for its sponsorship of "The Lutheran Hour" on radio and "This Is The Life" on television.

In several weeks, the pastor plans to begin Sunday School classes.

Pastor Brauer is a 1950 graduate of Concordia Theological Seminary at St. Louis where he received his bachelor of divinity. After a year of graduate study he earned the degree of master of Sacred Theology.

He founded The Lutheran Church of Good Shepherd in Hamden, Conn., in 1952. While in Connecticut he also served Lutheran students at Yale University.

From 1955 to 1959 he was pastor of Concordia Lutheran Church, Brentwood, Pa.

Pastor and Mrs. Brauer, who live at 580 Ross St., have three children, Mary 3, Mark, 2, and John, 1.

Louis Ribars Observes 50th Wedding Year

An open house celebrating the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Ribar was held at their home on Sunday, Jan. 3.

The Ribars, who were married on Jan. 3, 1910, live at 8020 Canton Center Road, and before his retirement in 1951, worked at the Huron Gray Iron Foundry, Ypsilanti.

They have three sons, Louis, Stephen, Joseph and one daughter, Mrs. Norman Gobel; 12 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Concert in This Area

The Livonia Youth Symphony Orchestra will perform its first concert of the 1959-60 orchestra season in Bentley High School Auditorium, Livonia at 4:00 p.m. Sunday, January 17. The concert will feature Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 1 for piano and orchestra. Miss Louise Smith, faculty member of the Detroit Conservatory of Music, is soloist in the concerto.

The concerto will be preceded by Beethoven's Egmont Overture. Following in the program is the orchestra's performance of Caesars Franck's Symphony in D Minor.

Mr. William Savola, conductor and musical director of the orchestra, has announced that this concert will feature several innovations. The English horn will be used for the first time before Livonia audiences. The Franck symphony will also involve a more extensive use of the harp than in previous concerts.

Miss Smith has appeared widely before concert audiences in Detroit, Pennsylvania, and Oklahoma. She was a featured soloist with the Chautauqua student Symphony, the Altoona (Pa.) Civic Symphony, and the Chambersburg Symphonette, and has given many recitals.

Hammell's Music Store of Livonia is providing a 9-foot Baldwin piano for the performance of the concerto. This will mark the first occasion when an instrument of this type has been used in a Livonia Youth Symphony Orchestra concert.

No admission fee is charged for Youth Symphony Concerts, to which the public is invited.

Eastern Star News

Plymouth Chapter Order of Eastern Star held their first regular meeting of the year Tuesday, Jan. 5. Meeting was called to order at 7:30 by Worthy Matron, June Hadley.

Brother Harry Gerst gave a very informative resume of life in the Masonic Home at Alma, and how members can help in the occupational therapy rehabilitation program for the members who live there.

The Charter was draped in memory of Sisters Gaige John and Marguerite Olsaver who have passed away since the last regular meeting.

Announcement was made of a new Proficiency Class being formed and any who are interested may contact Clay Weathers, phone GL 3-1675. There will be a practice Sunday, Jan. 17. The Bible degree is asked to please be present for a 12:30 practice and all other officers at 1 p.m.

For our next special meeting, which will be Tuesday, Jan. 19 at 8 p.m., the Worthy Matrons and Patrons, Associate Matrons and Patrons of Wayne County will exemplify the degrees. This will be the annual East-West night. A 6:30 potluck dinner is planned. Members will please bring a passing dish and the meat, beverage and table service will be furnished by the Chapter.

We are happy to report that Mary Murry is home from the hospital and recuperating. The condition of Josephine Roe remains unchanged. Flora Rathburn is still in St. Joseph Hospital and is appreciating the many cards and calls she is receiving during her illness. Pearl Carter's husband is in St. Mary Hospital and shows a slight improvement. Ethel Roulo is in Garden City Osteopathic Hospital, still very ill.

Sympathy is extended to Sisters Josephine and Helen Roe in the loss of their husband and father, and to Brother John Olsaver in the loss of his wife.

To Women It May Concern

By MYRA COX

"Le donna e mobile... a fickle and changeable thing is a woman ever." Fickle and untrustworthy, yet as trusting and domestic as she was weak—that was how man has viewed woman for at least 2,000 years, but the male of 1960 is looking with new respect to women, their opinions in the realm of business, and their aptitude in new horizons.

This must be true—else why would Margaret Hayes, the Livonian's Editor and myself (from the Woman's Desk at the Plymouth Mail) receive two specially marked invitations to attend a press reception for the ninth annual exhibition Sports Car in Review at Henry Ford Museum?

Why not our Sports Editor? Yea, even our Publisher? And how come they are having a fashion show on Friday, Jan. 29 with Ann's Fashions, a verra, verra, exclusive shop in Dearborn, modeling the latest in women's sports wear, at a sports car show?

Well, in my humble opinion, they need us. The men of the big business world realize the little woman does 75 percent of the spending (and influences the other 25 percent). Exaggeration? Could be, but it is my prophecy, women will progress further in the next 50 years in the realm of automotive industry, air power, and politics and make more strides than they have since the days of Lucretia Mott, the gentle lady in a Quaker bonnet who led the first organized effort to obtain equal rights for the gentle sex. In fact, I look for the National Woman's Party to be recognized by Congress, and I am sure Dr. Marie Timpona of Livonia is one who will agree with me. She has been active for years along these lines.

If we are going to make all of these strides we had better keep on our toes with what is going on—The Sports Cars in Review from Jan. 8 to 31 at Henry Ford Museum will premiere seven foreign cars. Maybe in looking over these new ones, the Alfa Romeo Bat-9, V-6 Ferrari Dino and the Maserati Type 61 or "Birde Cage," the beautiful frost white English Cooper Monaco, or even some of the tried and true, the Austin Healy, Fiat Abarth, Jaguar, Porsche (this one I fancy), the Mercedes, Triumph or Peerless, one of us will become inspired enough to dream up a super American sports car to equal them.

Better still, bring along your friend-husband and inspire him. We are Johnny-come-latelys in the sports and petite model car field, as we really have sports and petite model car field, and we really have C and that rhymes with T and stands for trouble—Yes, I said trouble, right here in U.S.A." So maybe it is up to the little woman with muscles in the velvet glove to take a keen interest in sports cars, and economics.

There will be something different each night of the program beginning with Henry Austin Clark, Jr., one of the country's leading automotive historians, talking on "Vintage Sports Cars" at 8 p.m.

On Friday, Jan. 15, also at 8 p.m., John Bond, publisher and technical editor of Road and Track, will discuss "Contemporary Sports Cars."

A third speaker is Warren Olsen, managing director of Reventlow Automobiles, Inc., builder of the Scarab. He will talk on "Building and Racing the Scarab," on Friday, Jan. 22, also at 8 p.m.

The starting time for the Fashion Show will be 8 p.m. on Jan. 29.

A 19-minute color documentary film, "Tribute to Fangio," will be shown several times daily in the museum theater during the exhibition. The film is an account of the career of Juan Manuel Fangio, famous Argentine driver, and offers action sequences from racing circuits throughout the world.

The show continues through Jan. 31 and is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily. See you there!

I think we should get off the ground, too. Not enough women fly. Maybe it's the case of I'm in love and I want everyone to be in love—with flying, that is. Al Finney is my instructor at Mettetal Airport and last Friday if you saw a Piper Cub going this way and that, dipping here and there 5,000 feet up (it wasn't so bumpy at that height) it was not a pilot in trouble—it was not a pilot at all—it was me in the pilot's seat flying to Walled Lake—to be sure it's not like sitting in a rocking chair (but then who wants to). There is more a sensation of excitement than fear. After reading over my manual and listening to Al, I am convinced more than ever many of these accidents you read about with small planes comes under the heading of pure carelessness, and, of course, this you can't be—I trust I will never run out of gas 5,000 feet up like I have countless times on the terra-firma.

Olivia Bell tells me the 99'ers are going to have another conclave this Spring, and just maybe I will have taken off, stalled, spun, and landed, so I can join them. Then, anyone for a quick trip to New York? Be my guest!

Christmas Trees Background For Wedding Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Wesley Bufe

Rev. Edgar Hoenecke united Karen Ellen Stevens and Otto Wesley Bufe in marriage Dec. 23 at a 7 p.m. service. Two huge lighted Christmas trees with white mums in altar vases were background decorations for the wedding nuptials.

The new Mrs. Bufe is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Stevens of 473 Adams, Plymouth, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto M. Bufe of 625 Irvin, Plymouth.

The bride chose for her wedding, a white lace sheath, street length with coffee-beige accessories. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and white roses. White gloves, a single strand of pearls and pearl earrings completed her ensemble.

Her maid of honor, Joan Ralston, wore a light aqua knit dress and carried an identical bouquet to the bride's, in pink. Her accessories were light gray. She also wore her gift from the bride, a pair of sterling and pearl earrings.

Anthony Monte was best man for the groom and Michael Bufe, groom's brother, and Jared Stevens, the bride's brother, were ushers. Parents of the newlyweds greeted guests after the wedding service at a reception held at the bride's home. Guests attended from Pontiac, Ypsilanti, Detroit, Plymouth, and Livonia.

After the reception the young couple motored to northern Michigan for a wedding trip. The bride has been a student at Eastern Michigan University and the groom is in the United States Navy, stationed at Memphis, Tennessee.

A True Story Taken From the Memory of a German Girl

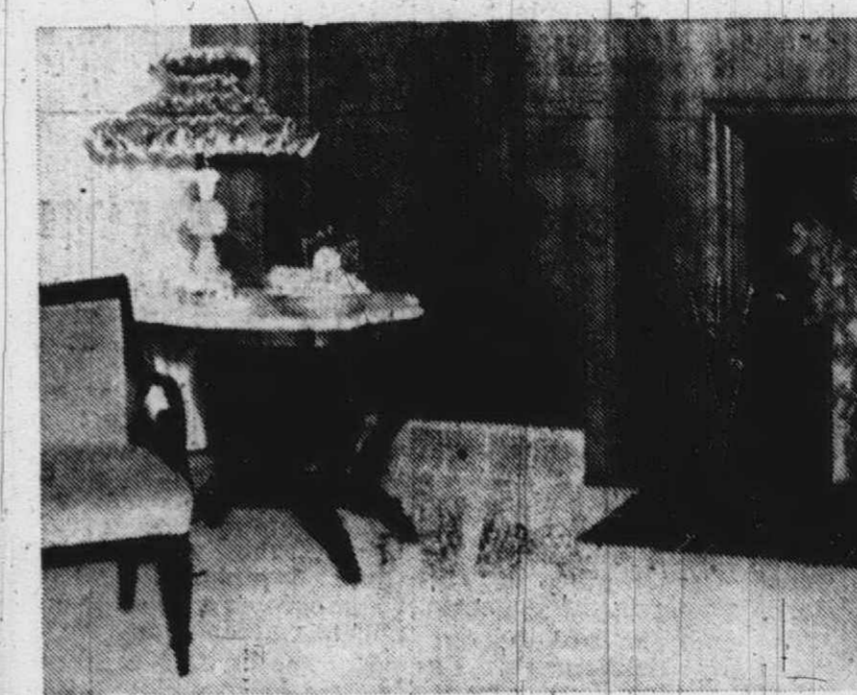

By URSULA KELL
It was a terrible night with thunder, lightning and storm when my American sister, Jill, and I could not sleep. "Do you know what, let's tell some stories." So I told this true story of my family's escape from East Prussia. It may sound like a thrilling story, but in reality it is a sad one.

It is the year 1944. Germany is at war; nobody is allowed to listen to the American broadcasts; he who disobeys is punished by death. In spite of this, many Germans listened late in the night secretly. They wanted to know the truth about the war. They knew they were not told the real state of affairs. When ground was being lost each day, the story from the German broadcaster was that the line was being held.

The Russians came closer and closer. Seeing the danger, my mother packed the most important things and sent them to our relatives in Pomerania, the next province westward. My mother and my grandparents said goodbye to their house in East Prussia and just reached the last train for Pomerania. The train was very crowded, baby buggies with crying children, ill and LOOKING DOWN from the top of the steps of the tri-level home, overlooking the soffit ceiling that forms a lowered ceiling in the Richard Scheffline designed home. Mr. Scheffline of Birmingham is the designer as well as the builder of the Wimsatt's home. The living room has the high beamed ceiling with indirect lighting in the soffit, that may mellow or highlight the entire room.

THE FIREPLACE WALL, a thing of beauty in the new Wimsatt home on Amhurst Court is made of native walnut and is as efficient as it is beautiful, since it needs only to be dusted to keep its handsome look. A marble-chipped roof is another feature of the Wimsatt home that is attractive and will always remain beautiful without further maintenance. Nothing has been overlooked for Entertaining is always fun for a vivacious, imaginative person such as Camille Wimsatt, however, when it is during the holidays and in a brand new home, the enjoyment is two-fold. Meeting Mrs. John Wimsatt for the first time the reaction is always spontaneously the same, "What a refreshingly honest person." This is probably true because she expresses what is on her mind and in her heart.

And this is the way she does with her new home. It is beautiful. She had dreams about it, helped plan it, watched every nail and board go up, and frankly loves it. The enjoyment of going on the "cook's tour" with her was equally as much fun for the beholder. There is plenty of room for her family of three boys and her husband John, with their varied hobbies. There is a room to be elegant, informal, busy and relaxed together; and all kept in the perfect order of a woman who enjoys life with too much natural efficiency.

She has applied the same psychology to her home work as she did when she held down one of the top secretarial positions in the county to one of the busiest executives, that of secretary to Ernie Breech.

With the responsibility of her three children, she is no longer a part of the business world, other than assisting her husband occasionally. He has been owner and operator of the Wimsatt Appliance Store on S. Main for 16 years.

Although the Wimsatts have lived in their new home on Amhurst Court only since Christmas, they are long-time residents of Plymouth, living previously on Arthur Street. For a time they also lived in Northville and in Howell.

Included in her busy life, which involves a great deal of entertaining, ("if there is anything I love it's people," often a quote) Mrs. Wimsatt is active in our Lady of Good Counsel, the St. Mary Hospital Guild, The Woman's Club, and the B & P.W. She was also instrumental in organizing the Cancer Society in Plymouth and has been active with the Community Fund.

Archie Herricks Celebrate 61st Wedding Anniversary

The 61st wedding anniversary of Archie and Celia Herrick was the occasion of a pleasant family gathering recently at the home of their eldest daughter, Gladys, and her husband, U.R. Sutton on Maple Street.

Other daughters and their husbands present for the celebration were Fay and William Francis of Detroit, Grace and Howard Hunt of this city and Hazel and William Markham of New Hudson.

Archie Herrick and Celia Chase were married Dec. 23, 1898 by the Reverend Oliver in Plymouth. Mrs. Herrick was born and raised on a farm which was on the site of the present Detroit House of Correction. Her maternal grandfather, Peter Fralick, owned and operated a genera store and post office in the very early days of Plymouth. Archie Herrick was the youngest son of Leander Herrick and Mary Sackett who were early Redford pioneers. Both Mr. and Mrs. Herrick enjoy good health, driving wherever they wish to go, and living out in their country home on Bradner Road.

Eta Psi Chapter Bids Farewell to Richard Neyes

The Starlight Room at Arbor-Lill was the scene of a farewell dinner party on January 5 for Mrs. Richard Ney of Plymouth. Mrs. Ney was feted at the 6 p.m. dinner by her sister members of Eta Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi and presented with a white carnation corsage and a farewell gift remembrance.

The guest of honor has been a charter member of Plymouth's Eta Psi Chapter and a member of Beta Sigma Phi for eight years. Mrs. Ney joined the international cultural and social sorority while residing in Connecticut. She has served Eta Psi as Executive officer and is past president of Quad-City Council, governing body of local chapters, having served during 1958 and 1959.

The Neyes have a two-year-old son, Dickie, and have been residents of 1014 Dewey Street for the past two years. The family left Plymouth for Connecticut on Jan. 8. Mrs. Ney, who is associated with Federal Products Corp., has been transferred to their eastern office.

No chapter business was transacted as the regular business meeting was cancelled. The next regular meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Melvin Fuelling, 11787 Priscilla Lane, on Jan. 19.

The Forest Byrds hosted the gala Christmas party for Eta Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi on Dec. 15. The guests for the evening were husbands of the members. Those attending were the William Baileys, the Robert Browns, the Gerald Fuellings, the Melvin Fuellings, the Bruce Milroys, the Neys, the Lee Rehbeins, the Craig Savers, the Art Walkers, the Richard Swansons, the Harry Luces, the Tom Marshalls, the Howard Drennens, the Bob Probecs, the Jess Edwards, and the host and hostess, the Byrds.

The Social Committee, under Mrs. Lee Rehbein, Chairman, conducted all the efforts for the wonderful party. Mrs. Rehbein's assistants were Mrs. Richard Ney, Mrs. Bruce Milroy, Mrs. Robert Probeck and Mrs. Howard Drennen.

After several weeks we came to Schwerin in Mecklenburg, the next province in the West. I remember the day when wonderful fireworks were shot into the air to celebrate the victory of the English and Americans. The war was lost. Where to go? My mother knew nothing about my father. She decided to go to Brandenburg, East Germany today, where the mother of my father lived. She did not know then that this country would come under Russian control and that she would have to move again.

VFW NEWS

Two new members were initiated into the Mayflower Post at the January 6 meeting. They are George Riley of Livonia and James McAllister of Plymouth. Both are most welcome, and we trust they will enjoy their comradeship in our Post.

The 1960 membership contest is entering the final two weeks. Our present membership stands at 134 point paid for 1960, which is 12 members short of our 1959 total, or 92 per cent. Surely we can make it 10 per cent in the time left. Team No. 1 is leading Team No. 2, by 32 points to 30. The losing team will provide a party for the winners after the contest ends January 2. Post 6695 continues in first place in the Departmental contest. If we can maintain this position, we will win a "free room" at the National Convention in Detroit in August.

The Post has voted to sponsor a hockey team composed of 13 year old Plymouth boys who are playing in a Nankin Township League. Their capable coach is a veteran and former hockey player, Jim McKindles. Weather cooperating, we know they will make a good showing.

Chairman Hal Young reports the New Year's Eve Dance was a great success from the standpoint of enjoyment even though the crowd was not large.

Chairman Dick Neal has scheduled a Building Committee meeting for Wednesday, January 13 at 8 p.m. at the post home. All members are urged to attend as several important matters are on the agenda. One job is to begin repayment of building loans made when our home was constructed.

Announcement is made by the Fourth District that a Rally will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday, February 7 at Post 9039, located at 6012 W. Vernor, Detroit.

Comrade Sam Wilhelmi has returned to St. Joseph's Hospital, Ann Arbor recently. The post wishes him speedy recovery and best wishes. He would certainly appreciate cards and visitors. Sam is in Room 6007.

Members are again urged to contact any eligible veterans and former members to pay their 1960 dues before the end of the contest. Remember the date of the next meeting, Wednesday, January 20. Our social activities after the meetings seem to be improving and providing real comradeship. Come out and see what's going on, both during and after the business session. Membership statistics are important but of even more value to the Post is regular attendance and participation in your Post activities.

AUXILIARY NEWS

An outdoor American flag was recently presented to the Junior High School by Americanism and Essay Chairman, Geraldine Olson, and President Dely. Geraldine is also working vigorously on the essay contest and her new project Nu-Sew, which is selling rapidly. She urged everyone to display their flags on January 20, which is Inauguration Day.

We are sorry to hear that Sister Marian Groth is in Sinai Hospital. Our sincere best wishes. Cards and greetings would be appreciated.

The membership drawing took place at our January 5 meeting. Anyone having 1960 dues paid by December 31 was eligible for one of three prizes. The first prize of $10 went to Mary Holdsworth; second prize of $5 was won by Eleanor Gust; and Ida Nairn won the shampoo and wave. "A Luncheon is Served" is being planned for sometime in February by Community Service Chairman Dorothy Wilhelmi and her committee.

All of us are reminded of the Mothers March for Polio which will take place Thursday, January 28 from 7 to 8 p.m.

By FRESTON MCGRAW United Press International

Audio Engineer F. G. Lippitt, Jr., has designed a stereo rig that tries to be all things to all people.

His rig is all in one package, so it makes the housewife happy. At the same time, it is made of components, so the listener who insists on components is happy, too.

What's more, it sounds extremely natural and provides a built-in stereo effect. The effect is general throughout a room and does not require the listener to be in the so-called stereo pattern.

What Lippitt did was build a cabinet for the components with speaker systems on either end. The speaker systems are five feet apart. They reflect, at an angle, upon a panel that fills in the area between the two speakers.

Doors are mounted in the center of the panel, giving access to the component controls and to a record changer or turntable. So far, Lippitt has made only models with changers.

He worked on his rig — which he calls the "Omega" — for four months, using movable panels to determine the angle at which to feed the sound from the speakers against the center panel.

Frank Garai, a Hungarian refugee cabinet maker, made up the first finished models. Lippitt put in the components.

He used one JBL LE8 speaker mounted on an infinite baffle in each speaker system. LE8's are one-cone speakers, not co-axials.

In some models, he mounted Harmon Kardon Model 230 amplifiers, which give 15 watts on each of two channels. In other models, he used Harmon Kardon TA 230's, which combine a tuner on the same frame with the two-channel amplifier.

Lippitt used Lesa changers, which, he found, operated with no feedback.

He has applied for a patent on his rig. He says different kinds of speakers could be used, but the cabinets would have to be redesigned to accommodate them.

General Electric, which makes a line of high fidelity stereo components, is now also manufacturing a line of competitive stereo phonographs and radio phonographs.

There are speakers in the cabinet that contain the works and two additional, light speakers can be obtained to provide a three-channel effect.

The new GE line falls somewhat short of the quality demanded by discriminating listeners of high fidelity stereo but it shapes up well with most of the competition in the same price range.

For one thing, GE left out the juke box bass of many competing makes. For another, it has a diamond stylus.

The FM-AM tuner — which has a total of nine tubes and rectifier — was sensitive enough to get most local stations on a built-in antenna.

The record changer provides four speeds and handles up to 10 LPs at a time. Controls are much like those on components.

Plymouth High School

By Gloria Bowles

The best debaters in the league. That's the title to which Plymouth's debate squad lays claim, and for the second consecutive year.

All five of the debaters are sophomores. With no past experience they captured the trophy last year when they were only freshmen winning out over Allen Park, Bentley, Trenton, Redford Union, and Belleville. This year, arguing on an issue concerning increased government control of labor unions, the Plymouthites—Jim Kropf, Dave Raaf-laub, Chuck Ellis, Dave Fey and alternate Steve Bullington, took the trophy again.

The group is looking to districts, slated for the beginning of February, followed by the regional finals.

Congrats, Miss Betty Stevens and proteges!

A new "slide rule class" is in session every noon hour. The three week course is limited to sophomores who will take physics next year.

Postmaster George Timpona visited a senior government class last week in conjunction with the group's study of U.S. government executive departments.

Chess Clubbers had a tournament with Walled Lake Monday, January 11, and will meet Southfield next Tuesday, January 19. Club officers are president Jeff Huntington, vice-president Bob Wall, secretary Barb Steencken, and treasurer Jim McCabe.

Student Council members from the five league schools met at Plymouth yesterday, Tuesday, January 12 to plan the Suburban-Six League SC Conference. That confab will be hosted by Plymouth this spring. Mayor Dick Hubert welcomed the visitors.

Who made the blanket statement that "this generation is going to the dogs?" Junior boys Dee Wernette, Jerry Fischer, and John Tichy are one-proof that teens aren't always those unthink-ing people you read about in the papers; the three were all

The Past Presidents will meet at Gertrude Simonetti's home, 392 Farmer Street on Monday, Jan. 8, 7:30 p.m.

Circle this date—Saturday, Jan. 23 at 8 p.m., at the Veterans Community Center. We will have a Card Party jointly with the Post again. Lots of fun for all, prizes, refreshments and let's have a good crowd out for this program. The proceeds will go into our Flag Fund.

On January 20, 8 p.m. the Post will have a social meeting at the Veterans Community Center. Vern Miller, service and Welfare officer, and Commander Donald Kinghorn visited Maybury Sanatorium during the Christmas season and distributed Christmas gifts to veteran patients.

The Auxiliary Business Meeting is Thursday, Jan. 28, 8 p.m. at the Veterans Community Center. Our Birthday Apron will be displayed at this meeting. Anyone who has not sewed their patch on and still wants to, please call Lillian Kinghorn, GL 3-3995 and she will see that the Apron is brought to you.

Are you saving your old Christmas Cards? We are again sending them to the mentally retarded children at Lapeer State Hospital and also to Caro State Hospital. The public is also cordially invited to participate in this project also. Please leave the cards at Emily Mosher's home at 963 W. Ann Arbor Trail on side porch. We are also asking for stuffed toys, plastic toys, etc. for the mentally retarded children. If you have anything and want more information, please call Lillian Kinghorn, GL 3-3995 or leave at Mrs. Mosher's. We will greatly appreciate anything that you do on this project.

Two From Here Are MSU Grads

Two Plymouth residents were among 654 students who received degrees from Michigan State University at fall class graduation ceremonies early last month.

Receiving a B.S. degree in geology was John B. Davies, son of Mr. and Mrs. D.T. Davies, 574 Sheldon Road. George R. Kerciu, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Kerciu, 12950 Beck Road, was awarded a B.A. degree in art.

Of the 654 graduates in the fall class, 464 earned bachelor degrees and 190 were awarded advanced degrees. It was the largest fall class in the history of Michigan State, located in East Lansing.

Commencement speaker was Irvin J. Lubbers, president of Hope College, Holland, Mich. The degrees were conferred by Michigan State University President John A. Hannah.

Complete Management Development Course

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio — Richard Wisniewski of Plymouth, an employee of the Associated Spring Corporation, Barnes-Gibson-Raymond Division, completed a one-week course Friday afternoon in Wittenberg University's Management Development Program.

The program, now in its ninth year, brings industrial supervisors to the campus for a one-week course in business operations, economics, human relations and communications. Programs are offered on "freshman" through "senior" levels. The program which ended Friday was a "freshman" or first-level course.

Wards Reduces Prices

Montgomery Ward is reducing prices an average of 11 per cent on 22,877 merchandise items in a post-Christmas winter sale catalog being distributed this week. It was announced today by J.B. McCoy, Wonderland Store Manager.

The 11-week sale ends March 15, 1960. More than six million customers will receive copies of the catalog.

Mr. McCoy said prices in the winter sale book are down an average 11.1 per cent as compared with prices in Wards' 1,150-page fall general catalog. Prices of apparel or soft lines are reduced an average of 9.2 per cent; home furnishings are down 9.7 per cent, and heavy lines show an average decrease of 12.4 per cent.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The height of fistic frustration was reached in 1893 when boxers Andy Bowen and Jack Burke fought 110 rounds—to a draw.

WHAT'S IT WORTH TO YOU?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A farmer can figure out how much he can afford to pay for electrical equipment by considering the amount and value of the time the machinery saves him, say economists at Purdue University.

For example, if labor is worth $1 per hour and a machine saves 10 minutes a day, the farmer can afford to pay $300 for the machine. Or he can pay $1,100 for a machine that saves 30 minutes per day and $2,250 for one that saves 60 minutes a day.

THE 1960 IDEA HOME is a study in contrasts as well as a complete departure from the conception of making the front seem more attractive than the rear. The front view (at the top) shows the garage in front of the L-shaped brick veneer structure, with only the three panels of amber glass in the entrance hall and the other three in the side of the garage breaking up the somewhat somber appearance. In the rear, however, the home is almost all clear glass, as the bottom photo indicates. From left to right are the large double windows in the living room, the eight-foot doorwall off the dining area, the large double windows in the children's room and the six-foot doorwall off the master bedroom. There are two patios, one off the dining area and the other off the master bedroom. The home, located at Farmington and Six Mile Roads, Livonia, will be open to the public for only eight weeks, January 9 through March 6. Visitors will have an opportunity to win the home by estimating the number of nails contained in a replica.

1960 Idea Home Opens In Livonia on Saturday

The 1960 Idea Home of the First Combined Annual Builders Home and Flower Show of Greater Detroit is designed to appeal to the great majority of families with moderate incomes.

Unlike other idea homes of the past years, which were somewhat inclined to luxury features and prices beyond the reach of most people, the 1960 home is one of comfortable and spacious living achieved at a cost within the $20,000 "middle-price range."

The three-bedroom home, sitting on an 84 by 125-foot lot on Farmington Road near the intersection of Six Mile Road in Livonia, will be opened to the public for only eight weeks starting Saturday, Jan. 9, through Sunday night, March 6.

The house is the cooperative effort of two builders, Thomas A. Alexsy and Joseph F. Slavik, and various contractors and suppliers.

Visitors will have an opportunity to estimate the number of nails contained in a replica of the 1960 Idea Home and the winner of the contest will receive the home.

The 1960 Idea Home is a semi-contemporary ranch-type of brick veneer over wood frame. It is L-shaped with the built-in two-car garage forming the base of the L. All the interior furnishings were supplied by J. L. Hudson Company.

From the front the home has an imposing simplicity of design broken only by the full-length three-paneled, amber-colored and diamond-patterned windows alongside the doorway. Three similar panels of amber glass are set in the side of the garage facing the street.

In surprising contrast with the front, the rear of the home is almost a solid wall of clear glass in the form of two large windows in addition to an eight-foot glass doorwall leading from the dining area to a patio and another six-foot doorwall opening onto a separate patio from the master bedroom.

There are 1,590 square feet of living space, not including the spaciouly-partitioned and equally-livable full basement.

The basement walls are of Zonlite-filled concrete block and two stairways—inside and outside—afford easy access to the 18 by 31-foot recreation area, the 29 by 33-foot laundry area, and the smaller furnace room. The various areas are separated by walnut plywood paneling.

Light-colored asbestos vinyl tile and recessed deep-well windows afford plenty of daylight and provide a more pleasant atmosphere than is found on the first floor of many other new homes.

Reminiscent of the past is the outside stairwell leading from the recreation area of the basement to the backyard. The stairway to the first floor is off the hallway instead of the kitchen. The three windows in front of the house light the open stairway with its aluminum guardrail.

The plumbing is all copper tubing, including the vent stacks. The combination hot water heater and air conditioner is thermostatically controlled from each room with the cool or hot air being transmitted through built-in wall convectors. There are multibreakers instead of fuses for the home's electrical system.

The laundry room has twin stationary tubs and accommodates a gas dryer, electric washer, electric ironer and a dehumidifier.

The front door of the house opens off the 12 by 23-foot livingroom area with its acoustical-plastered studio ceiling and walnut-paneled fireplace. The fireplace is surrounded by black slate and has a black tile hearth.

The floor of the entrance hall and the entire living-dining kitchen area is covered with black Antico vinyl tile. The kitchen area has no outside wall, but the serving area is open looking past the dining area and through the wide glass doorwall. The dining area intrudes part way into the livingroom, accenting the free use of space throughout the house.

The dining-kitchen area is 12 feet by 15 feet. It is equipped with a gas range and gas refrigerator, a dishwasher and a disposal. The kitchen has three different kinds of work surfaces—stainless steel, wood and marble.

All doors are birch flush with walnut stain. The room doors are hinged and the closet doors are of the bi-fold type.

There are three doors leading into the children's room—a 20 by 28-foot area that can be converted quickly into two 10 by 14-foot bedrooms with the use of a modern fold room divider. Each section has its own large clothes closet. One of the doors to the children's room is off the kitchen-dining area and the other two are off the hall. The floor of the children's room is of vinyl-coated cork tile.

At the end of the hall a door opens into the 12½ by 18-foot master bedroom. This bedroom has a walk-in closet of 5½ by six feet. The closet has built-in shelves and a coat strip. The master bedroom is carpeted, with the carpeting extending into the hallway.

The bathroom area is one of the many "idea" features in the Idea Home. It is built in three side by side compartments, all with inter connecting doors. There is a powder room on each end and a tub and shower room in the center. One of the powder rooms opens into the hall and the other powder room is connected with the master bedroom.

The bathroom areas are finished in off-white Romany tile and multi-colored wallpaper. Each section has its own combination heater, ventilator and light in one ceiling unit. The white tile of the bath allows free use of brightly-colored toilet accessories.

The electrical lighting throughout the house is of the recessed or spotlight type. The density of the livingroom and hallway lights can be controlled at the wall switches. The switches also are arranged so that the lights in one area of the house can be turned off and the lights in the area ahead turned on at the same locations as one moves about the house.

A dog may be properly called Rusty. Buster Blackie, but his middle name is always "Inquisitive." Hence, he is likely to wander home whining, limping and bleeding from cuts due to broken glass, tin cans, metal scraps, a miscalculation about the height of a barbed wire fence or the anger of a neighbor's dog. And when he does, it is unwise for his master to heed the old adage and let the dog "lick his own wounds" to cure himself.

Practically all wounds in dogs can become infected. And in treating such infections, Dr. Francis T. Candlin, a Denver veterinarian, said at a recent conference on animal health, is far better to depend on modern drugs than on the dog's tongue.

Dirt, gravel, hair, wood, glass, wire or other foreign matter, if left in the wound, can cause complications and should be removed.

Most dog's wounds are triangular tears, but clean, knife-like gashes and small, punctured holes are not uncommon. Their seriousness and the possibility of complicated after-effects depend on the nature, location and cause of the injury.

A wound in the paw, for example, is likely to result in profuse bleeding. And whenever there is excessive loss of blood, which occurs if an artery or vein is severed, there may be dizziness, unconsciousness and shock. Any such clinical signs call for quick medical attention by your veterinarian.

The pet owner should treat only the most superficial wounds. If Fido returns from an exploration of neighboring fields or the corners of Main Street with a minor cut, clean it with soap and water. Flush the wound with water or betadine.

ter yet, a salt solution (¼ teaspoon of salt in ½ cup water), using a gauze swab (cotton lint), and apply any medical antiseptic in weak solution.

In general, the owner who believes that a dog is man's best friend will pay his wounded pet a compliment and head immediately for the veterinarian. He can clean and dress the wound, perform surgery if required, and use the new medicines at his disposal to ward off complications and speed healing.

Indoor gardening doesn't require a collection of tools such as accumulate for the outdoor garden. To keep 1 or 1,000 house plants healthy and handsome fall, winter and spring, the essential tools can be kept conveniently on a small shelf or stored in little space in a cupboard.

A watering can is indispensable, unless you're willing to use the teakettle. Whether they are made of copper, pottery or plastic, indoor watering cans are decorative. They are available in various sizes. A copper can with 1½ to 2-gallon capacity supplies a good collection of house plants without having to be refilled.

The cultivator to loosen surface soil can be a small brass tool with a miniature rake at one end, a forked blade at the other. Or, an old table fork or an apple corer will do as good a job.

A small cache of charcoal is needed for plants that grow in water. Three or four pieces in each container will keep the water sweet, so that may be added instead of changing it. Small pieces from a wood fire or prepared pellets are equally effective.

The fertilizer inventory can be small: liquid fertilizer to be diluted with water according to directions or food pellets or both. Both types come in special formulas for house plants. For feeding with either liquid or tablets, the watering can again is a necessity.

A rubber syringe is ideal for spraying foliage both to keep it clean and to add humidity, essential to so many house plants, to the atmosphere. Near the syringe keep a small, soft brush for the fortnightly dusting of hairy or plushy leaved plants. Another accessory in this group might be an aerosol bomb that will add luster to foliage.

Another type of aerosol bomb may be needed sometime for spraying insects, but care should be taken to keep the two different bombs in separate places. Keeping foliage clean is the best preventive of insects. If any do appear, they can be banished either by an application from

Fashion's the Reason 'Fifties' Were Fickle, Frantic, Fantabulous

By MARY PRIME
NEW YORK (UPI) — Curves went in and out of style in the 1950's, but they'll stay a fixture in the '60's when fashion orbits around sex and space.

The past decade opened with slimmed-down versions of the full-blown skirt. The "siren sheath" appeared, and hemlines edged downward, dropping about an inch a season.

In 1954, French designer Gabrielle Chanel came out of retirement and revived the casual cardigan suit. The extreme pointed toe and skinny heel became high fashion, and the pinch was on for the rest of the decade.

The mid-50's saw the start of using mixed man-made and natural fibers for more practical clothes.

The year 1957 went down as the year of the most revolutionary fashion—the chemise. Women first were shocked by the Paris decree of no bust-no-waist, but by the spring of 1958, the sack was a uniform for women in the lower age and income brackets, at least.

With the chemise, hemlines went up . . . and up . . . sometimes to 18½ inches from the floor.

Young Yves St. Laurent, successor to Christian Dior who died in 1957, launched the pyramid-shaped trapeze in Paris.

But by fall, 1958, the chemise and trapeze were dead, and a modified Empire line took over.

Hems, however, stayed high such in 1959, St. Laurent again set the fashion world buzzing with his hobble skirt which reached mid- or above-knee. The Paris house of Nina Ricci showed long, slim suit jackets and touched off a trend to man-tailored fashions and the Garbo look.

The decade ended on normal note—the easy-fit suit, moderately short skirts, shirtwaist dresses, and chemises in the right place.

What of the 1960's? Look for three main trends which turned up in a United Press International poll of American and French designers—the sexy sheath, space-inspired spheres, and the Chanel-type loose lock considered too practical and comfortable to abandon.

Paris designers will be ready when women want "something ethereal" — for controlled heating. Designer Adele Simpson predicted that clothes will be layered, for peeling off or adding on, to suit the climate.

Here's a head-to-toe look at the shape to come:

Hats — Sailors, berets worn on the back of the head, and high-crowned turbans, toques, pill boxes, and bell cloches. More real furs, plus synthetic-like materials. Designs will be extreme, but not monstrosities that everyone laughs at, said Bill Riemer, executive director of the Millinery Institute of America.

Silhouettes — Variations on travel to the moon, they said, but the normal or close-to-normal hipline and bustline will be wide as "as long as women are," they added.

However, New York designer Cecil Chynor predicted that space will be the "operative word" for fashion, and clothes will take the shape of rockets, bubbles and spheres.

Richard Cole, a dress manufacturer, forecast more packaged fashions, such as no-size knit dresses, and New fabrics, linings, and processes are expected. More year-round light-weight fabrics are due. Variations of the sheath, a plastered, fitted look defining all natural curves, amendments to the loose Chanel look, a softer look for at least five years, and cone and bubble shapes.

Sleeves will be wider, necklines lower and more open, skirts both full and slim. Hip lines will be rounded, and waistlines will range from normal to slightly lower. The length of hems will not change drastically.

Dresses — Look for one-piece dresses, costumes with hipbone-length jackets, and coat dresses with soft, full skirts, belted waists, and widened sleeves.

Suits — Easy-fit and fitted types with longer jackets, belts, and slim skirts. The Chanel influence will continue.

Coats — White and dark tweeds will be equally fashionable. There will be a variety of silhouettes: wide, cape-types with short sleeves and deep armholes; fitted coats, especially in silk; and straight, loose styles with three-quarter sleeves and collarless necklines. Reversibles will be more important.

Sportswear — More coordinated and a greater trend to pants and shorts of all lengths. Two-piece bathing suits. Dulled, off-beat tones, lots of denim, seersucker, ginghams, light-weight synthetics, dark batiks. The Chanel look will carry over into 1960, the cropped classic cardigan will continue well into the decade, and tunic-length sweaters will grow in popularity.

Lingerie and sleepwear — Bikini underwear and short pajamas, and bed-to-breakfast aprons, jumpers and pinafores.

Furs — Look for full cuts, with the fullness either distributed evenly so the effect is slim or sweeping out in cape and tent shapes. Aisles watch for peg-tapered coats.

Hosiery — No limit on textures. In 1960, textures will range from opaque for casual wear to sheer, glittering metallics for evening. More pastels for spring; deeper browns, greys, and off-blacks for fall.

Shoes — Pointed toes will remain, especially for after-dark, said the National Shoe Institute. New toe shapes will include the flattened oval for walking and nipped-off and flattened squares. All shoes will remain tapered, however. Heels will be all heights and shapes and as thin as ever. In some cases, thinner — just a spoke for evening. "They'll be comfortable, except on the pocketbook," the Institute said.

Apple Season Extended

Controlled Atmosphere storage, a relatively new method, makes it possible to extend the marketing season for many varieties of apples by holding them for many months in good condition, reports Marjorie Gibbs, the Detroit Consumer Marketing Information Agent. Consumers benefit from Controlled Atmosphere storage when they buy top quality apples late in the season.

Fall apples stored under regular refrigerator conditions generally cannot be held beyond February without marked deterioration occurring. Under Controlled Atmosphere storage it is possible to hold apples as late as June or July with a greater degree of October freshness than is possible with other storage methods. From now through winter and spring, markets will be stocked with several varieties of fresh apples.

In Michigan - McIntosh is the most common variety held in Controlled Atmosphere storage, Red Delicious and the other varieties that hold well under these conditions include Golden Delicious, Northern Spy, Greening and Jonathan.

The Reader Speaks Up:

Have you ever thought of the honor which is yours when you belong to the Veterans of World War I?

From a vast army of 4 1/2 million in 1918, we have dwindled away until there are less than 2 1/2 million of us still living.

True, our potential membership grows lesser day by day but our fellowship grows greater as the years go by.

The Veterans of World War I, from a humble beginning less than 8 years ago, now numbers 179,000 members and we are the fastest growing organization in the United States.

Over 2,000 Barracks from coast to coast in every State, including our latest States, Alaska and Hawaii. We also have a Barracks in Killarney, Ireland.

A membership card entitles you to enter and be welcome in any and all of these Barracks.

We are engaged in a fight for a pension which is better than the one we now have. To get this pension, we must show the lawmakers in Washington that we are united just as we were in 1917 and 1918 when we fought and won a great war.

Buddies, membership is our weapon. We want One Million members. With that many members our pension is assured. So, join up and help us in the fight.

Come to meetings and we will all break bread together, pray together and talk over our war days with old Buddies.

Only a World War I Veteran can belong to our organization which makes us an exclusive organization. One to whom it is an honor to belong.

Our time is short. This is our last battle and let's win this one just as we have won all our battles in the past.

The march of time is taking a dreadful toll of our ranks. It will be too late if we don't act now. Let's fight.

The World War I Veterans meet the first Sunday of each month at 2 p.m. at the Veterans' Memorial Building located at 173 N. Main Street, Plymouth, Michigan.

For further information write to Commander Charles B. Lowes, 29005 W. 13 Mile Road, Farmington, Senior Vice - Commander Herb Treadwell, 709 Harding Street, Plymouth or Quartermaster Al Brocklehurst, 657 Wing Trust, Plymouth.

Men In Service

Alfred Ferguson Army Sgt. Alfred L. Ferguson, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Ferguson, 552 Maple Ave., Plymouth, Mich., recently graduated from the Seventh Army Non-Commissioned Officer Academy in Bad Toiz, Germany.

Sergeant Ferguson received four weeks of refreshment training in map reading, combat tactics and leadership.

He is regularly assigned as a squad leader in Company D of the 48th Infantry in Worms. Ferguson was stationed at Fort Benning, Ga., before arriving overseas in January 1959.

The sergeant attended Plymouth High School and was employed by Cloverdale Army. His wife, Betty, is with him in Germany.

The main purpose of their organization is to provide emergency medical care in the event of a disaster. Our communication network with other communities will bring speedy help from other areas.

Recently, amateur radio operators have shown an interest in organizing a Civil Defense group, which will strengthen our communication system.

All of these groups meet now and again for training sessions, to better prepare themselves to cope with the varied situations that may arise if a major disaster strikes our community. In addition to this, we are working to prepare a group of people to act as radiation monitors to supplement our existing Civil Defense forces. # The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

Each year we hear of some major tragedy striking an area of our country, where parts of cities or entire towns have been routed because widespread damage has occurred or is imminent.

A good example is the forest fires which each year threaten portions of the west coast. Often the regular complement of full-time government employees is not sufficient to meet the demands of such a disaster.

Consequently, help must be called in from other sources. Volunteers are the answer, but it is usually better if trained personnel are available.

This is the major contribution of Civil Defense workers. These people are volunteers, but they are organized and have received at least a minimum of training.

We hope there is no need for such workers in Plymouth, but if a disaster should occur here, we are prepared to do our best to meet the problems which always arise in the wake of a disaster.

In any disaster, panic and confusion are our worst enemies. Usually, the damage has already occurred, but these two states of mind can cause additional, and sometimes, more serious damage.

To combat this, an orderly, well planned approach to the problems at hand is needed, and this is the role of our Civil Defense organization.

Here in Plymouth, we have a group of people who have volunteered for auxiliary police and fireman in the event of disaster. Also, the nurses in our community have banded together into an organization known as the Plymouth Nurses' Association.

The main purpose of their organization is to provide emergency medical care in the event of a disaster. Our communication network with other communities will bring speedy help from other areas.

Recently, amateur radio operators have shown an interest in organizing a Civil Defense group, which will strengthen our communication system.

All of these groups meet now and again for training sessions, to better prepare themselves to cope with the varied situations that may arise if a major disaster strikes our community. In addition to this, we are working to prepare a group of people to act as radiation monitors to supplement our existing Civil Defense forces.

These people will operate radiation detection equipment - similar to Geiger counters - if we are ever subjected to a nuclear attack. Without the information the monitors can develop, the other Civil Defense workers may be exposed to lethal doses of radiation.

These people, together with the municipal employees, make up our Civil Defense force. They have been organized under an ordinance specially for that purpose, and according to a Civil Defense plan that was developed over a year ago. The equipment needed to carry out this work is supplied by the city, supplemented by material purchased from special Civil Defense surplus warehouses supplied by the federal government.

In many cases, the cost of equipment is shared by the city and the federal government, for example, our fire siren and our auxiliary generator. In this way we feel we are prepared, as best we may be, to cope with a disaster situation.

FRONT ROW CENTER

The month of January promises to be a busy one at the Shubert and Riviera Theaters in Detroit. "West Side Story," the modern, jet-paced version of Romeo and Juliet complete with terrific tunes and dancing, opens on Monday, Jan. 11 for a two week run at the Riviera.

With the Riviera being situated at Joy Road and Grand River Avenue it makes it but a hop, skip and a jump from Plymouth. Here's your chance to see an updated version of "Romeo and Juliet" that kept New Yorkers singing its praises for two years. The Broadway cast is coming to Detroit after almost a year's run in Chicago. The whole family would like this fast-moving musical that tells a n almost legendary love story in some mighty danceable music.

On Tuesday, Jan. 12 the Shubert Theater plays host to "A Thurbur Carnival." This unique production will open in New York in February. "A Thurbur Carnival" is a happy gathering of most of Thurbur's wittiest works with some happy music thrown in for good measure. Peggy Cass, Tom Ewell and Paul Ford have leading roles.

You've seen Paul on TV as the frustrated commander on the Bilko show. He left the "Music Man" company a few weeks ago to join with Peggy Tom Ewell has been seen in the movies and rose to fame in the Axelrod farces, "Seven Year Itch" and "Tunnel of Love".

Here's a prediction: this show seems headed definitely for theatrical success in New York. With a cast of such comic competency and loaded with Thurbur's whimsical material—how can it miss? Plan now to get your seats. "A Thurbur Carnival" will be down at the Shubert until January 23 before it shoves off for Cleveland and New York.

"Dear Liar," a clever arrangement of George Bernard Shaw's love letters is coming to the Shubert on January 25. Katherine Cornell and Brian Aherne are featured. Advance reviews indicate this production has hit spots.

Hope some of you caught the Channel 4 presentation of "The Margaret Bourke-White Story." The tele drama it started slowly, but by Act III gathered dramatic power so that the viewer was sealed right to the set. The simple flip of the wrist given by actress Teressa Wright had all the eloquence of a four hundred word dramatic speech. The emotional quality of this script never became maudlin. If you missed the show, I'm sure that they will re-run it either this summer or next fall.

"Playhouse 90" switches to a bi-monthly approach with its Thursday Channel 2 shows to a bi-weekly exposure. Budget has been upped from $140,000 to $200,000 per week.

With the new budget they will be able to pay $15,000 to $20,000 per week for their stars. Let's hope they pay their writers a bit more also. This department is always sadly neglected.

Station WKBK-TV in Chicago now has a unique way of signing off their programs. They have a five to eight minute educational program telling viewers about the process known as SLEEP. Frann Weigle will do the commentary against a background of soft music. It's designed to help people get to sleep—but not to miss the show. After all, we don't want to get the customers so sleepy that they will be bleary-eyed all the next day.

Channel 7's "After Hours" Club continues to keep up its fine quality, especially in the interview department. Last week they had a visiting lecturer that claimed he talked regularly with people from Mars and Venus. He even had a tape recording of one of his conversations.

The daughter of Fred Fischer, the Detroit song writer, was on and sang some of her many hits. She wrote "You Always Hurt The One You Love" plus hundreds of other songs. Ken Swartz, the affable managing director of the Cass Theater, regaled the viewers with anecdotes about the theater. He informed us that the newest Tennessee Williams play, "Sweet Bird of Youth" was set for the Cass in February.

Time to close up shop for another week. Before we go, might mention that "The Andersonville Trial", a Civil War courtroom drama, has fired its opening shot at Broadway's First Sumpter and the critics surrendered immediately.

Canton Township Methodists Turn Clock Back 175 Years

ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL 3-0194

I must be getting a little absent minded, but in a way, I forgot some new items that had been given me last week. I hope I will be forgiven and will tell you about them now.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cather of Canton Center Rd., entertained at a family dinner in their home. On hand to help with the festivities were their son and wife and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Powell and family of Wayne, and the Cather's niece and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller of Detroit. A bit late, but not too late to add our wishes for many more happy birthdays go to Linda Cather, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cather.

Linda celebrated her ninth birthday at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Cather of Canton Center, and Mr. and Mrs. Place, neighbors of the Cather's on Canton Center. Also on hand were her aunts and uncles to help blow out the candles on her birthday cake along with the rest of her family.

The Roger Bordines of Saltz Rd. enjoyed a pleasant Christmas dinner at the home of Mrs. Sara Steward. Mrs. Bordine's mother, who lives in Detroit. Other members of the family were also present. A get well wish goes to Mr. William Keeler of Saltz Rd.

On December 30, Mr. Keeler was rushed to the University Hospital in Ann Arbor for a cornea transplant. Mr. Keeler had been suffering from an eye infection. Mrs. Keeler stated that Mr. Keeler was making progress and marveled at the wonderful things that are being done in this line of surgery. Mrs. Keeler further stated that they should know in the very near future as to the success of the operation. At present Mr. Keeler is in 5 West, Room 21 of the University Hospital. The family promises to let us know about his progress.

Last Sunday, the Cherry Hill Methodist Church and the Sheldon Methodist Church celebrated the beginning of Methodism 175 years ago. The congregation tried to relive the way the service was held at that time. The pastor, Louie Cain, wore the dress of that day, a frock coat. The collection was picked up with little boxes (square in design attached to long poles. The poles were reached down each row as far as they could reach and then at the other end of the poles to collect. The choir was dressed much as they would have been 175 years ago, as were twelve people of the congregation. The hymns sung were the ones used long ago, the "Chas. Wesley Hymns."

Some more Christmas festivities. The Stan West family held a Christmas morning breakfast at their home with all the children in attendance. In the evening the family and other members of the family gathered together at the home of Mrs. West's father, Mr. Victor May of Proctor Rd., for an evening luncheon. Thirty-two members of the family were present.

The Sunday following Christmas, the West family held a family get-together at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church for a potluck dinner. Forty-six of the 58 members of the family were present. Also on hand to join in the festivities was the houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe West, a young lady from Amsterdam, Holland, known to the family as "Kiek." Kiek is an exchange student and will be staying with the Joe Wests for the school term. The day after the family dinner, Kiek went to Saginaw to visit with a family who had had a student that stayed at Kiek's home in Holland last year.

Our congratulations go to Mr. Alexander's fifth-sixth grade group of the Gallimore School. These young people can proudly boast that their parents belong to the P.T.A. 100 per cent. Because of their fine efforts to get their parents to join the P.T.A., the group will be given a party.

We were very happy to receive a Christmas card and a note from the Robert Mitchells, formerly of Canton Township, now residing in Florida. Mrs. Mitchell writes that they have renewed their subscription to the Plymouth Mail for another year to keep in contact with their former neighbors and friends, so how about furnishing them with some news.

It has been a rather hectic holiday season for the Nick Muckers of Saltz Rd. Mr. Mucker returned home the day before Christmas from the hospital where he underwent surgery, but is well on the road to recovery. On New Year's Day, Mrs. Mucker received news that her sister, Judy Wells of Plymouth had entered the University Hospital in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Mucker is now attending classes along with other members of her family at the University to help them understand Judy's illness of Sugar Diabetes, and to help her live a happy normal life.

You should know, but do you? Mr. Ashley Coburn of Canton Center Rd., is Director of Civil Defense for Canton Township. Mr. Coburn gave an interesting talk on Civil Defense and School Relationship at the Plymouth Community School Planning Group Wednesday evening. Although many things have been said about Civil Defense, I feel sure there are many of us who know very little about it.

Quite some time ago, through our column, we met a very interesting lady, who supplied us with township history. The history concerned her husband's family, one of the first families to Canton Township. The lady was Mrs. Leon Huston. It was discovered that Mrs. Huston had moved from her home in Plymouth on Main St., but we found her happily still living in Plymouth on Union St., with Mrs. Frederick Jackson. While thinking of Mrs. Huston, it was brought to my attention that more such nostalgic articles would be welcome, which I would love to write if I could secure the information. Please call if you have some memories to add to our township history.

The Hiram Godwins of Warren Rd., returned last Sunday from a Christmas holiday in Florida at the home of Mr. Godwin's mother, Mrs. Hiram Godwin Sr. The family drove to Naples, Florida, and took in some interesting sights, such as the Cumberland mountains, Kentucky Mammoth Caves, Miami Squarium (of ocean life) and enjoyed the feeding of the porpoises, and the beauty of the surrounding gardens. The family also enjoyed the Singing Tower at Lake Wales, Florida.

Mrs. Godwin stated the family enjoyed swimming, but missed some of the Christmas festivities back home. She said there was a lack of Christmas trees and Christmas decorations on the home, except in Georgia, where the decorations were pretty. She said that many homes in Florida had Christmas trees, but the outdoor decorations were missing.

The Godwin's young son had a big worry. He wasn't sure Santa Claus would find him in Florida, but we understand he did.

The temperature, Mrs. Godwin said, reached 80 degrees.

She felt that the sudden temperature changes were greater than here at home. She said she was told the population doubles in the winter months from the summer, and that food costs are higher than here. From our conversation the family had a wonderful time, liked Florida very much, but was glad to be home.

The Robert Dekarske's enjoyed the holidays with family get-togethers. On Christmas eve, the family spent their evening with Mr. Dekarske's parents and family and Christmas day with Mrs. Dekarske's family.

A farewell luncheon was held for Mrs. Phillip McNulty (Margaret) by Mrs. George Longwish at the Longwish home on Cherry Hill. Mr. and Mrs. McNulty are moving to California. Mr. McNulty retired from his job this past week and they are making their home in California. The McNultys have a son now living in California and two sons here in Michigan. Their home will be occupied by their one son and family. On hand to wish the McNultys happiness in their new home were Mrs. Hattie Burrell, Mrs. Lillian Wilkie, Mrs. Hassie Jackson, Mrs. May Strope, Mrs. Mildred McClellan and Mrs. Doris Freeze. Mr. and Mrs. McNulty plan to visit Missouri and relatives on the way to their new home. The couple have been residents of Canton for some 25 years. They will be missed by their neighbors and friends, but we wish them the best in their new home.

Well, that does it, my crystal ball is a bit foggy lately, so will need your help in securing some news.

Questions and Answers About High College Education Cost

BY ELMER E. WHITE Michigan Press Association Have you a child, a relative or a young person in whom you are very interested? If so, you are doing less than your best for him unless you spend some time right now thinking about his college education.

Training beyond the high school level will become more and more of a problem for Michigan's young people in the immediate future because of two factors.

First, the population is growing at a rapid rate. W. M. Kiplinger in his "Boom and Inflation Ahead," estimates that Michigan will grow 43 percent or some 3,157,000 people by 1970.

College education takes money and public supported institutions require an ever increasing amount of it. Since this is the case, those interested in seeing their young people educated should be interested in knowing the financial problems involved.

There are very few who state they oppose college training, but there are those who think that too much money is spent on education. To evaluate this type of criticism each person needs to know facts of the situation. Listed below are some of the more common questions university administrators are asked with the answers they give.

It can be stated too, that university officials prefer to be asked questions about why things are done as they are done. An opportunity to answer precludes misunderstanding and the spreading of inaccurate information.

Why does the state operate colleges and universities?

Advanced education is made available by the state in the long held belief that such training benefits not only the individual, but all society.

Why do you build athletic facilities but not classrooms?

Athletic facilities can be built with little financial difficulty because they produce income. Profit from football, and basketball, the only other college sport that sometimes pays its way, is used to finance other physical training: baseball, track, swimming, fencing, golf, tennis, and intramural sports. Such building permits an institution to offer better physical training for the entire student body than would otherwise be possible.

Why don't you raise tuition? If the public supports the principle that education should be available to all at little or no cost, care must be taken that tuition costs do not automatically eliminate many students who come from poor families. In addition, the state and individuals in the state benefit in several ways from its colleges without direct cost. Research conducted at state institutions has proved of immense value. Institutions offer direct public service that is constantly used by Michigan's citizens and organizations.

How much does it cost for a student to spend a year in college? A student needs between $1,200 and $2,000 per year, depending on his living level and the courses studied. How much of the institutional expense is borne by the student?

Student fees make up about 20 percent of a university or college income. The state appropriates about 75 percent. The other 5 percent is made up of charges for services, utilities and incidental income.

Why do so many students drive cars?

This is a common question for university administrators. In answer they point out that a car is no longer a luxury, but often an economic necessity. More students live off campus than ever, driving from home to classes. A higher percentage are married. A substantial number of students must drive to work after classes or for the week end. There is less and less public transportation, so, remind college officials, if a student is to get around, he must have his own transportation.

Are buildings built "at no expense to the public" operated at no expense to the public?

That depends on the building. Dormitories, which are self liquidating, pay their own utility and maintenance. Buildings donated for institutional use are maintained at state expense.

Why aren't classrooms built on a self liquidating basis?

The understanding which existed over the years is that the legislature would provide money for operating expenses or capital expense and specify which is to be used for which. In general, student fees augmented by legislative grants have been used for operating. The state financial situation being what it is, there has been very little appropriated for buildings.

The legislature while not able to provide for capital needs, has not been able to come up with plans where the institutions can make long term commitments for loans to be repaid from student fees. Universities are unable to proceed without definite agreement for fear of making commitments which they cannot live up to.

There is much thinking about ways to solve this dilemma so that buildings can be built soon as they must if campuses are to accommodate the growing student bodies.

Are buildings unnecessarily lush?

There is always room for argument on this point. Administrators take a firm stand that buildings are built economically as possible; to last a long time and be maintained for as little as possible. Some of the buildings approaching and over a century old support this claim. Visitors sometimes think a building "too fancy," but to reach a conclusion based on fact requires more than a superficial look.

Higher education is a problem which will become more acute. Educators have long urged that more people become more concerned with it. For the most part the public has been dealing with more immediate or not more pressing problems.

But time is going by, and if Michigan's young people are to receive the kind of education our position in the world demands, there must be some changes in the institutions which are to provide that education.

Your Handwriting Is Clue About You

BY LUCILLE WILLIAMS

Dear Lucy: I will be very grateful if you will give me an analysis of this handwriting. Yours sincerely, G. Norman Hall

Dear Mr. Hall: Such an interesting handwriting! You are very cultured, appreciate music, have literary ability and are very creative.

You are determined in whatever you do, with a psychic outlook. There is efficiency and an ability to work alone. You have deep feeling and absorb experiences. You are practical, have a good memory and watch details closely. You learn easily, are alert and have ability to concentrate.

Your thinking is alert, exploratory and penetrating. Sonja Garmager: Your information should be in the mail soon. I was all out of what you wanted and have written to the school to send you all the information you need.

Dear Miss Williams: Could you please analyze my handwriting and tell me the good and bad points about myself?

Why does a person write many different ways at different times? Thank you, M.J.R.

Dear M.J.R.: Your moods change, so does your thinking and so affects your writing.

You like responsibility and are not sensitive about anything, so you can handle it well, since you are also diplomatic in handling others. Your will power starts good, tapers off and does not carry through. Sometimes you express your emotions, and then there are times when you control them. There is suppressed thinking and some resentment.

You'd like to be future-minded, are emphatic and possess some creative talent.

Dear Lucille: I would like you to make an analysis of my handwriting. It puzzles me to even wonder how you or anyone could do it. Mrs. J. F. Reeder

Dear Mrs. Reeder: You are emotional—expressive and have deep feeling. You're good at responsibility and have a very determined attitude. There is a desire to go forward.

You like to write and express your feelings on paper. There is no sensitiveness, but a suppressed desire. You are practical minded with a very good memory.

Stephanie: You are very persistent, self-conscious and sensitive. You like responsibility and music, have deep feeling, a philosophical outlook and a habit of wanting to hold on to any possessions you have.

You are quick thinking but not deep. There is suppressed thinking also. There is sensitivity and some philosophical, also you do try to exercise self control.

LANSING Observer

BY FRANK G. MORRIS LANSING — Supreme Court Justice Eugene F. Black has demonstrated again that he is suffering from an affliction discovered by a Detroit drama critic after an airplane trip around the world.

"How did you find the world?" a reporter asked Harvey Taylor, the Detroit Times critic, when Taylor had circumnavigated the globe.

"I found the world a great place to visit," quipped the newspaperman.

"But I certainly would hate to live there," Taylor spoke in jest.

But it is no joke to Gene Black that the wide world has no corner in which he can live in peace and make friends. He is Michigan's angriest man, motivated by an obsession to avenge the real and imaginary affronts that have embittered his life.

When Black was elected Attorney-General by Republicans in 1946, he went to Lansing with all of the fanfare of a White Knight arriving in time to save the people from the dragons.

Within months he performed the miracle of turning all of his friends into enemies. Nothing pleased Black more than a press conference giving him an opportunity to spit at Gov. Sigler, Secretary of State Alger and State Treasurer Brake.

When former Gov. Wilbur M. Brucker, now Secretary of the Army, sued Black for slander, Black kept out of Wayne County for years to avoid service in the lawsuit.

So he switched political parties in 1948 and supported Williams. He was rewarded first with appointment by the Governor to the Circuit Court in Port Huron, and finally with the nomination as a Democratic candidate for the Supreme Court.

Except for Gov. Williams and maybe Gus Scholle, Lansing politicians have known that, soon or late, Justice Black would embarrass the administration. Their only surprise is that it took the angry Justice so long to bite with his sharp teeth.

How's Business?

Economy Rises At Year End

By ROGER W. Babson A concerted upsurge of activity in industries previously hamstrung by the effects of the steel strike enabled business activity to close 1959 on a strong note.

The Babson Composite Business Curve rose to 25 in December. This means that the nation's business was 25 percent above the normal growth rate for the economy.

If Your Name Is Charles or Carl

By ANN REYNOLDS This is one of the most popular names; it is of Old Germanic origin, and means "a man." "Charles", as it sounds in English, developed from the original "Karl" by way of "Carolus", the Latin, and "Charles", the French form.

Steel production soared upward, and by the end of December reached a point close to the industry's theoretical capacity. Steel's remarkable comeback has limited the retardant effects of shortages of the metal upon general business.

As the outflow of steel increased, automobile producers were able to boost their output of 1960 cars. Mining of coal and iron ore was stepped up sharply, since the strike had prevented normal stockpiling. Furthermore, cold weather cut off a major portion of iron ore supplies from Canada, thus placing a greater burden upon American mines.

This severe cold weather, incidentally, gave a fillip to oil industry operations. The textile, paper, chemical, lumber, and electronics industries, which had so ably bolstered the economy during the strike period, continued their high levels of production. Freight transportation increased sharply.

Occasionally "Karl" or "Carl" is also used in our own country; this is a modern German import.

SMART BIRD — This clever pigeon in Memphis, Tenn., is busy people-watching in hopes of getting a meal. He's perched on a coin machine that dispenses bird feed.

The upbeat in industrial activity created an expansion in employment and in personal incomes, providing a timely boost to Christmas trade and pushing it to a new record. December retail sales would have been even higher had automobile dealers been able to get their normal complement of 1960 models, but brisk consumer demand brightened 1960 business prospects.

The business upturn should continue this month. Should the steel-labor deadlock be resolved before the "cooling off" period expires, the rising pattern of business would likely be sustained into the spring weeks. Inventory replenishment programs and strong consumer buying are powerful business stimulants which should prevail over coming months. And a period of peak business could motivate a further increase in business capital spending in the months ahead.

To the English speaking lands the Normans brought "Charles" at the time of the Norman conquest. It led a lingering existence, and only in the last century did it become widely used among English speaking men. In France and in Germany as well as in the Scandinavian countries it had been popular for more than one thousand years, due, above all, to the fame of Charlemagne, or Charles the Great, one of the outstanding rulers of all times.

Charles the Great, king of the Franks, was born of a family in which the name Charles was traditional. That's why the royal house of which he was the most important member is referred to as "Carolingian", which is Latin and means "pertaining to Charles". Crowned emperor on Christmas Day in 800 A.D., he ruled over a region extending eastward to the river Elbe and westward to the Pyrenees and the Atlantic Ocean. He advanced education, and brought men of learning to his court, among them the English Alcuin. He realized the importance of trade, and kept up friendly relations with England, and even such distant lands as those of the famous Arab caliph Harun al Rashid.

After Charlemagne's death legend embellished his deeds, and raised his stature to superhuman. He was made the center of a fabulously brilliant court, surrounded by the most valiant heroes.

About seven hundred years later, another Charles stimulated the use of his name, Charles V., grandson of Ferdinand V. and Isabella I. of Castile. He ruled over a larger territory than any other king or emperor in Europe. But the age in which he lived was troubled by fierce religious dissension; toward the end of his days Charles V., weary of the world, disillusioned with power, retired to the monastery of Yuste in Spain.

Mostly referred to by the familiar form "Charlie" is the Stuart Prince who was the hope of those Englishmen and Scots who tried to restore the Stuarts to the English throne. "Bonnie Prince Charlie" whose praise was sung in English and Gaelic songs ever since.

After Charlemagne's death legend embellished his deeds, and raised his stature to superhuman. He was made the center of a fabulously brilliant court, surrounded by the most valiant heroes.

About seven hundred years later, another Charles stimulated the use of his name, Charles V., grandson of Ferdinand V. and Isabella I. of Castile. He ruled over a larger territory than any other king or emperor in Europe. But the age in which he lived was troubled by fierce religious dissension; toward the end of his days Charles V., weary of the world, disillusioned with power, retired to the monastery of Yuste in Spain.

WALTHAM, Mass. (UPI)—A tiny depth sounder has been developed which is designed to help fishermen land the big ones.

Six inches in diameter and weighing less than five pounds, the unit sends out ultrasonic signals. When the boat passes over a large fish the dial flashes red, according to the manufacturer (Raytheon Co.).

Italy Determined to Make Olympics the 'Best Ever'

BY LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor
ROME (UPI) — Italy's sports goal is to make the 1960 Olympic games the biggest and best ever. "She is well on the road to achieving that goal. There is no doubt whatever that she will succeed." That is the opinion of Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, a man who knows about all there is to know about Olympic games. Boy and man, he has either competed in them or served as an official of the United States team since the 1920 games at Antwerp, Belgium. Wilson, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee and Commissioner of the Western (Big Ten) Conference, was a member of a group of U.S. sports writers and U.S. Olympic officials who recently spent a week in Rome as guests of the Alitalia Airlines and the Italian State Tourist Office and Olympic Committee. The 1960 games will be held from Aug. 25 through Sept. 11. "Overall, these will be the best facilities ever for an Olympiad," said Wilson. "They are most impressive. While some of the sites could be a little better, by and large the athletes who will be coming here from all over the world to compete in the games here this summer will have the best facilities ever afforded them. The Italians have left nothing to chance. Their planning has been meticulous to the last detail. As it should be, the first thing they have in mind is the comfort and convenience of the athletes themselves. They will find their housing, their practice fields, the actual fields of competition and everything else of the highest standards ever. "There may be problems of housing and transportation for the thousands of sports fans the games will draw to Rome, but I am confident the Italian Olympic Committee will overcome most of them. "I just can't praise the arrangements and facilities enough. It's a far cry from what we had back in 1920." So far, 82 of the 97 nations belonging to the International Olympic Organization have entered this year's games. At least nine more nations are also expected to enter. More than 7,000 athletes will compete. The number of entrants would have been much larger if the International Olympic Committee had not decided to restrict the number of athletes any nation could enter. Italian officials anticipate that a daily average of 250,000 spectators will watch the various events which make up the games. Half of them will be foreign tourists; a substantial part will be Italians from the provinces. In view of the throngs expected, Italian officials changed the usual agenda for the games considerably. It used to be that most of the major events — such as track and field — were held during the first week of the games. The so-called minor sports dominated the second week. If that schedule had been followed for the 1960 games, many of those who will be in Rome for the games would not be able to witness all the sports they wished to see. Therefore, the Italians arranged the schedule so that track and field events will not start until the sixth day of the games and run through the 13th day. "There is no doubt but what the 1960 schedule gives the games a better balance when it comes to dividing them up between the major and minor sports," Wilson said. "It's something the Olympic committees of the various countries should have thought of before. "It took the Italians to do it. It's just one of many things that demonstrate the efficiency which Italy has shown ever since it was awarded the games. "And it's also another reason why the 1960 games can't fail to be the biggest and best ever."

"If you want the world to beat a path to your door, just lie down to take a nap."

Answer to Television-Dining Problem

By EDNA MILES

The custom of dining in front of the television has been termed a barbaric one. Food must be balanced on a lap tray. Frequently the whole family feeling is disrupted for the evening.

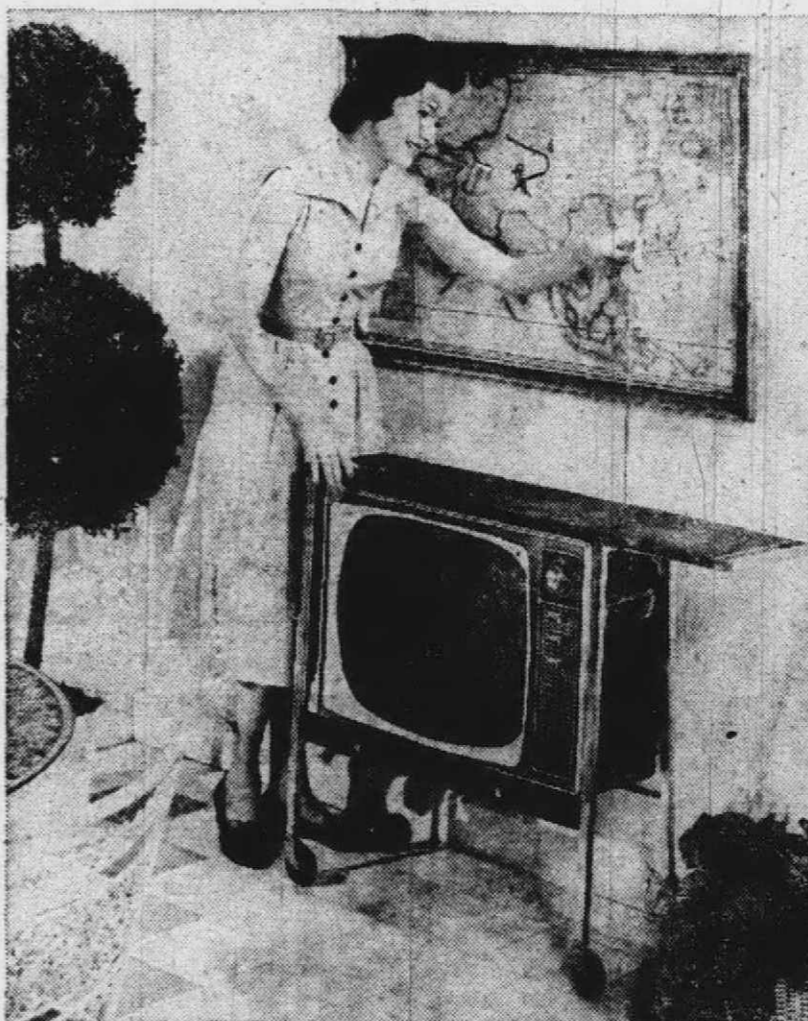

Those who feel they must watch TV while they eat, will be cheered to know they now can do it more gracefully.

One large maker of TV sets has designed a video unit which is placed in a drop-leaf buffet top so that the antennae can be pulled up unobstructed. The set can be removed from the buffet table making it completely portable.

In addition, the company has designed six different custom-made styles to choose from.

As well as the drop-leaf cart, there is a Danish walnut table, a triangular table that fits into a corner, a miniature sideboard and a mobile cart or swivel stand to house your television set.

The furniture can be bought with the set from a television dealer.

Convenient for dining is this television set placed in table.

CLIFF DWELLERS—Residents of five San Francisco, Calif., apartment houses were evacuated after a landslide into the site of a 16-story building.

First Federal Records All-Time High Income

All-time record earnings of more than $8,000,000 will be paid by First Federal Savings of Detroit in 1959 to its 123,500 savings customers, reports Donald R. Klein, branch manager of First Federal's office at 33115 Plymouth Rd. (Shelden Shopping Center), Livonia.

On June 30, 1959, First Federal paid $3,600,000 and the December 31, 1959 payment will amount to more than $4,400,000. The December 31 payment will be the savings association's 52nd consecutive semi-annual earnings payment. Earnings on all savings, starting with the first dollar in the account, are at the current annual rate of 3 1/2 per cent.

Payment of this $8,000,000 in earnings graphically illustrates the value of saving to the individual family which regularly puts a part of each paycheck into savings. And the fact that $8,000,000 has been added to the Detroit economy in a single year as a result of such thrift habits

Violet, New and Adaptable for Painting Walls

Purple cows may be strictly imaginary, but violet walls for the home are considered imaginative.

Purple-tone colors, from blue-violet to delicate pink-lilac, now are used widely on walls, says Miss Margaret Hutchison, color-stylist for a paint company (Martin-Senour).

"Violet walls are on the increase because of their unique adaptability to changes in natural lighting," Miss Hutchison said. She explained that violet walls appear brighter on dark days, and softer and more subdued on sunny days.

Miss Hutchison added that violet walls go well with elegant, traditional interiors, and also coordinate with and give a new look to many pinks, aquas and blues of contemporary furniture.

She listed some popular violet shades and their coordinating colors: Blue violet with blues and greens; red violet with vibrant reds; hyacinth with a wide range of blues, especially soft green-blues and aquas; periwinkle with aquas; and pink lilac with all shades of violet.

Miss Hutchison cautioned, however, against combinations which might be too startling for comfort.

NO EXCEPTIONS
MOBILE, Ala. (UPI) — City Building Inspector Clifford W. Adams ordered the newly-erected radio antenna atop the Mobile County Courthouse torn down unless someone could explain to him why no building permit was obtained for the antenna.
