

Four Elections Ahead for Plymouth Voters

Leap Year Folks Celebrate

Finally Birthday Time

Well, it's finally arrived. Four years between birthdays is a long, long time if you're still young. If you're approaching the middle age, however, four years between birthdays may sound pretty good.

Monday is Feb. 29—that extra day that comes around only every four years. There are nine Plymouth area people that The Mail has found who were born on that date. They range in actual age all the way from four to 84.

Most of the Leap Year birthday folks will be having some type of celebration on or about Feb. 29. Since it falls on Monday, some of the family get-togethers will be the day before.

Oldest of the Leap Year celebrants is Clinton Williams of 6547 Haggerty Rd., who will be 20 Leap Years old. In reality, he will be 84—about 20 years old doesn't sound bad to one born in 1876.

Mr. Williams, now sightless, will have a family get-together over the weekend. If one is trying to multiply his Leap Year age by four, it would come out only as 80. But according to rules and regulations, Leap Year only falls on years that are divisible by 400. This meant that

Diners To Replace Bowlers

The conversion this summer of the Arbor-Lill Recreation bowling alleys here into a 400-seating capacity dining area was confirmed this week by Arbor-Lill owner Norbert Lofy.

He explained that the eight bowling alleys, in operation since 1951, will be lifted from their present site and moved to Clarkston, Mich. Lofy will not retain ownership of them.

In place of the bowling facilities, where numerous Plymouth area bowlers have competed over the past nine-year period, there will be two dining rooms, separated by modern folding doors.

Seating capacity of the two new dining areas will be 250 and 150 persons. Lofy said that a stage and dance floor will also be included in the conversion. The two dining areas may be turned into one larger room for events which have more than 250 people in attendance. It will make the largest dining hall in Plymouth.

Work on removing the alleys will begin May 15 at the close of the current bowling season. Construction work on the dining rooms will get underway as soon as the bowling facilities have been removed. Lofy said that the entire conversion should be completed by Labor Day.

Arbor-Lill, located at 42390 Ann Arbor Road, this season hosted 12 bowling leagues. Bowling alley manager Bill Bouchie explained that the open bowling response had been slow.

in the year 1900, Mr. Williams was cheated out of his usual four-year birthday.

Youngest celebrant known in Plymouth is Karen Brockwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Darrell Brockwell, 1218 Gold Arbor. Karen was born on the last Leap Year.

Karen and most others born on Leap Year usually celebrate their birthdays on Feb. 28 when it isn't Leap Year. Karen has a baby brother who was born this past Feb. 8—almost a repeat of Karen's unique birth date. Another brother, now two years old, was born Jan. 23.

Observing her "third" birthday Monday by inviting her sixth grade girlfriends in for lunch is Lynn Niles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Niles, 399 Pacific. For the first time, Lynn seems to realize the importance of the special birthday date and she is quite excited about it, her mother declared.

Lynn gets a kick out of telling everyone what a big girl she is for a three-year-old.

Gae Ponto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilton Ponto, 693 Maple, was a high school junior when she celebrated four years ago. Today she is a teacher of the third, fourth and fifth grades at a Lutheran parochial school in Jenera, Ohio.

Gae will be home over the weekend to observe her fifth Leap Year birthday.

Elizabeth Ann Donnelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Donnelly, 550 Sunset, has invited the girls in her second grade at Our Lady of Good Counsel for a party Monday. It will be her "second" birthday. If all 28 girlfriends show up, it promises to be a real celebration.

Four years ago, when Emily Cutler, daughter of Atty. and Mrs. J. Rusling Cutler, celebrated, she was a junior in high school. Today she is a junior at the U of M. Usually she has a party with four birthday cakes, but since college officials don't declare holidays for birthday celebrants—even those on Leap Year—her folks plan to send the cakes to Emily's dormitory in Ann Arbor.

Emily is probably the only celebrant actually born in Plymouth on Feb. 29. She was born in the old Plymouth Hospital.

Tab Deadline Grows Nearer And Nearer and...

Longer hours are being planned at the Plymouth License Bureau to accommodate late shop-tabs and tags.

The new tabs for cars and plates for other vehicles must be on by March 1. Mrs. Doris Root, manager of the local branch, said that hours will be extended from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Monday.

A sub-branch of the Plymouth office has also opened at Ward's in Wonderland. It will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 9 p.m. Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Two Traffic Accidents Injure 3

An elderly man suffered serious injuries when he was struck by a car as he walked along Lilley Road between Joy and Ann Arbor Roads Monday evening soon after darkness.

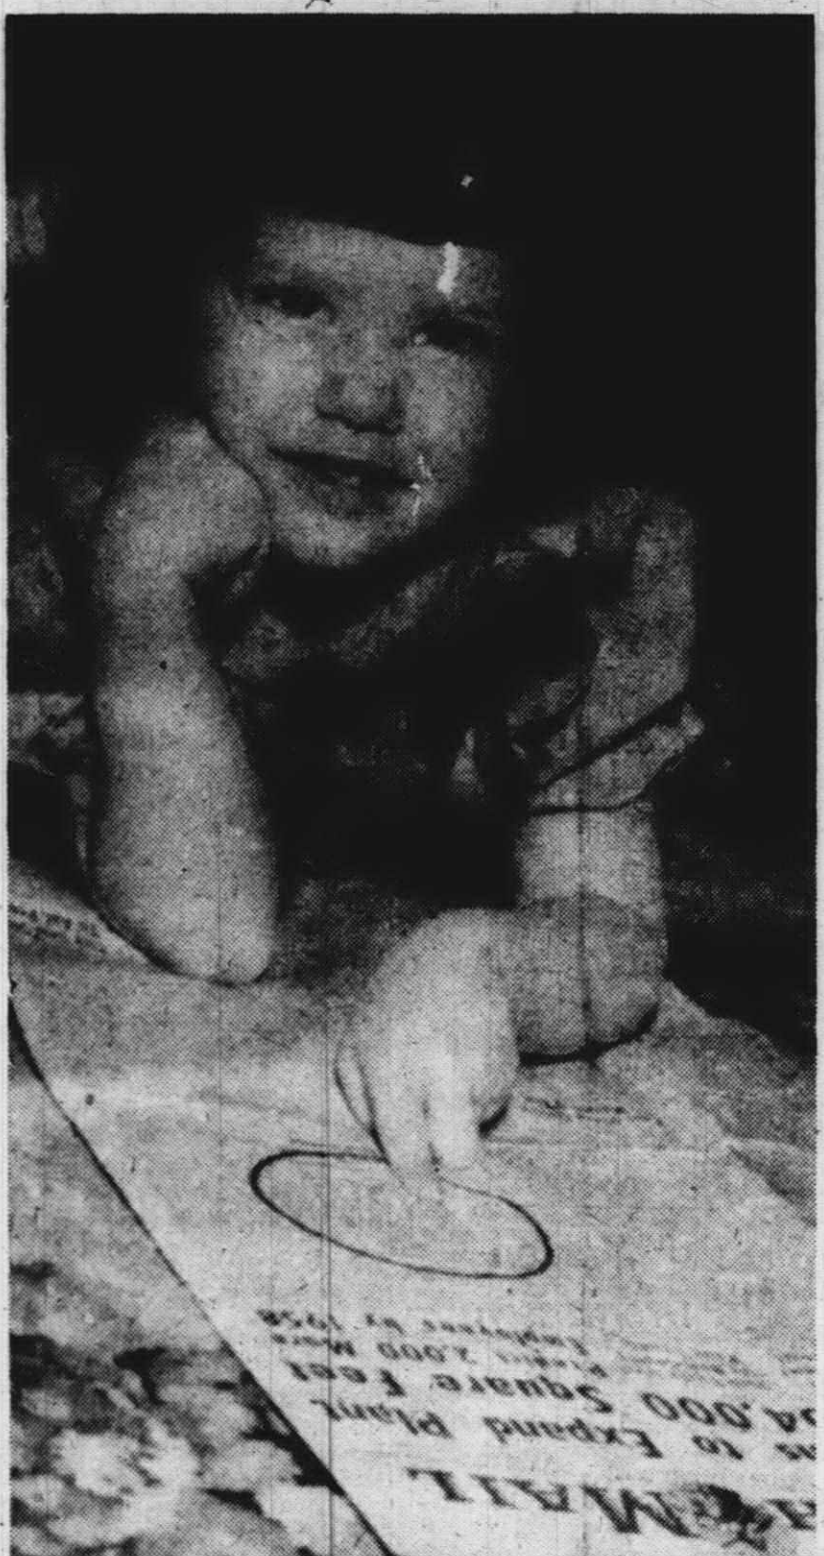

In another traffic mishap earlier that same day, icy road conditions caused a car to skid into a telephone pole, injuring the driver and a passenger.

The pedestrian, William C. Carey, 66, was walking south on Lilley Road in front of 9200 Lilley. Witnesses told Wayne County Sheriff's pressmen that Carey, dressed in a dark overcoat, was walking near the center of the roadway.

He was struck from behind by an auto driven by Robert Cockrum, 26, of 1951 Hix Rd., Wayne. Cockrum had pulled out to pass a parked auto. Taken to Wayne County General Hospital, Detroit.

Capt. Dean is on a homeland furlough from Kenya, East Africa, where she has spent the last three and one-half years teaching.

Mrs. William Milne of St. John's Episcopal Church is chairman of the youth service and Mrs. John Cunard of the Salvation Army is chairman for the adult service.

MY, HOW TIME FLIES. This young lady is looking at a front-page article in The Plymouth Mail announcing her birth four years ago. She is Karen Brockwell, who is youngest of the nine area people celebrating Leap Year birthdays Monday. While she will be observing her first Leap Year birthday, her cake will have four candles.

Sunday Concert Featuring Spanish, Harpsichord Music

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Wayne Dunlap, will present the fifth concert of the 1959-60 season on Sunday, Feb. 28 in the Plymouth High School gymnasium at 4 p.m.

Marilyn Mason, teacher of organ at the University of Michigan, will join the orchestra as harpsichord soloist for the presentation of Handel's "Concerto for Harpsichord and Orchestra, Opus 4 No. 5." Miss Mason is a recording artist. She was a student at the Fountainebleau in France and taught at Columbia University.

The "Overture to The Valley of the Moon" by Franz Joseph Haydn will be played for the first time by an orchestra in this area. This selection, written as an overture to the Haydn opera "Valley of the Moon," was a particular favorite of the composer. Haydn so favored it that he included it in his 63 Symphonies as the 1st Movement.

"Sicilian Vespers," an overture by Verdi, will be the first selection on the program. Also to be included will be "Essay for Orchestra," Opus 12 by Samuel Barber. The composition was completed in 1937 and was first played in 1938 by the NBC Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Toscanini. The charm of this selection is the series of simple themes developed with subtlety and effect.

The program will be (Continued on Page 8)

Area Citizens For Michigan Being Formed

An organizational meeting for the Plymouth - Northville group of Citizens for Michigan will take place this Friday night in Northville.

Looks Like Interesting Year Ahead At Polls, Review Shows

At least four elections are in store for Plymouth area voters during the important election year of 1960—including two involving the school district and two others that will help decide questions and candidates on county, state and national levels.

While some communities in Wayne County are staging local elections this year, Plymouth City and Township and Canton Township are having an off-year for local contests. The "grass roots" candidates are selected here each spring of the odd-numbered years.

Everyone knows about the presidential election on Tuesday, Nov. 8. It will be the focal point of interest around the world. But there will still be a number of local contests to make the election year interesting on the local level too.

One of the local election highlights will be a bond issue that will be presented on a special ballot late in the spring. The Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District has not yet decided when the election will be, but they intend to have a special election, probably in April or May, so that they can start on classroom construction that will be needed in 1962.

The second election facing voters will be the annual school election at which the offices of Board of Education are filled. This election will be Monday, June 13.

Two terms will expire this year. They are the terms of Board President Esther Hulsing and Board Treasurer Charles Zoet.

Election No. 3 will be Tuesday, Aug. 2. This is the statewide primary election.

The primary will narrow down the ranks of candidates so that there will be no more than one candidate from each party competing for a vacancy.

Political jobs on the ballot will include those for governor, lieutenant governor, U.S. senator, U.S. representative, state senator and representative, county offices and precinct delegates.

City of Plymouth electors may also have a decision to make at this election. City Commissioners have asked the city attorney to draft a resolution calling for a ballot proposition. It would ask that the job of Wayne County supervisor from Plymouth be made appointive instead of elective. A similar proposal was defeated last April.

Canton Township may also have a local proposition. (Continued on Page 8)

Vandals Heavily Damage Bird School Building

Workmen are still busy repairing damage to Bird Elementary School where vandals broke into nine rooms and caused damage that will cost hundreds of dollars.

Mrs. Nancy Tanger, principal, said that replacement of a dozen windows in classrooms and office doors will cost $300 alone. The vandalism took place sometime last Tuesday night.

In one room, ink was thrown against a wall and it ran to the floor, ruining the tile.

Desks were ransacked, Mrs. Tanger said, but Mill St. on a 15-acre vacant field ... Merchants and industries are being contacted for displays in an expanded tent exhibit.

To Organize Auxiliary For Northville Hospital

Area women are the target of a membership drive for the newly organized Women's Auxiliary of Community General Hospital, Northville.

Women of Northville, Novi, Plymouth, Livonia, South Lyon, and Farmington—communities served by the hospital—are being invited to join.

Monday night the auxiliary will hold its second general meeting to elect officers and adopt bylaws.

Last week some 50 women heard hospital President the Rev. David T. Davies of Plymouth, Administrator Calvin Monfils, and Michigan Hospital Auxiliary Association heads speak at the group's organizational meeting in Northville. In his talk before last week's audience, Rev. Davies stressed the hospital's need for a volunteer service group. His statement was emphatically backed up by Monfils who added that "the hospital cannot expand without public support."

Monfils explained that as a public relations, corps alone, auxiliary volunteers could (Continued on Page 8)

8 Churches Sponsor Day of Prayer

Eight Plymouth churches are participating in the 14th observance of World Day of Prayer taking place this year on Thursday, March 4 at the Salvation Army Citadel, 290 Fairground.

The U.S. observance is sponsored annually by the United Church Women, a department of the National Council of Churches. Each year a different country is asked to prepare the service for the 24-hour prayer vigil which spans 145 countries on six continents.

The Women's Inter-Church Council of Canada wrote the service this year based on the theme, "Laborers Together with God."

The eight Plymouth churches participating are First Baptist, Salvation Army, Plymouth Assembly of God, First United Presbyterian, St. John's Episcopal, Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints, Lutheran Church of the Epiphany and First Methodist.

Starting time of the program is 1:30 p.m.

A special World Day of Prayer Service for children will take place at First Methodist Church at 4 p.m. Speaking at both services will be Captain Lillian Dean of the Booth

Memorial Hospital, Detroit.

Capt. Dean is on a homeland furlough from Kenya, East Africa, where she has spent the last three and one-half years teaching.

Mrs. William Milne of St. John's Episcopal Church is chairman of the youth service and Mrs. John Cunard of the Salvation Army is chairman for the adult service.

OPEN HOUSE was unexpectedly held last week at Better Home Appliances and Furniture at their two-month-old store on Ann Arbor Rd. As an excavation was being made for a sewer behind the building, the walls of the digging caved in and this large section of wall collapsed

No one was injured. Insurance has covered the damage, owners Babe and Bert Wyse, indicated, and the damage is now repaired. But there was considerable excitement for a while as the modern new store was almost turned into an open-air market.

Engagement Announced

MR. AND Mrs. Richard Russell, of E. Lake St. in South Lyon, last week announced the engagement of their daughter, Carole Lee, to James Tanner, son of Mrs. George Tanner of Salem. Carole graduated last June from South Lyon High and is employed by Kresge's in Ann Arbor. Her fiancé is a 1958 graduate of the same school and is employed by Delta Airlines. No wedding date has been set.

Doris Caksackkar
THE engagement of Doris Caksackkar, a senior at Plymouth High, was announced last week by her mother, Mrs. Dessie Lee Biggs, of 525 W. Ann Arbor Trail. Doris' fiancé is John C. Bailey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Bailey, 41481 Wilcox Rd., Plymouth. The bride-elect will graduate this June from Plymouth High. Mr. Bailey is a graduate of Troy High School, Troy, Tenn., and is attending Cleary College in Ypsilanti. He is employed at General Motors Transmission Division. The couple plan an April 16 wedding.

Newburg Folks Are Busy Making Plans and Visiting Friends

By Mrs. Emil LaPointe GL 3-3797
In keeping with the traditional services for the World Day of Prayer, the United Church Women of Livonia will sponsor a program to be held (in the evening) to encourage the men to attend) at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Five Mile Rd. and Inkster, on Friday evening, March 4. The combined choirs of several Livonia churches, representing their individual churches, will sing for the service. Practice for the choirs for this event will be held Sunday afternoon, Feb. 28, at 4 p.m. at St. Paul's. All choir members planning to attend are urged to be present for the practice. Robes are not necessary for the practice.
On Tuesday, Feb. 16, 40 people from the Newburg Methodist Church were the guests of the R.G. & G.R. Harris Funeral Home in Detroit for a tour of the establishment. The tour was sponsored by the Sarah Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist Church. The evening provided the guests with the opportunity to receive answers to many questions that might at some time confront us all. The ladies of the Sarah Circle wish to express their appreciation for all those who attended.

Weekend guests recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Winford Blanton, of Newburg Rd., were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Willing of Detroit.
The Good Neighbors of the Newburg area met at the home of Mrs. Robert Pregitzer on Richland Ave. on Thursday, Feb. 18 with the following members present: Mrs. Mae Blanton, Mrs. Laura Mende, Miss Dorothy Blanton, Mrs. Johnnie LaVeck, Mrs. Lulu Westlake, Mrs. Irene Overmyer, Mrs. Clarice Nesbitt, Mrs. Florence Peterson, Mrs. Eleanor Rucinski, Mrs. Edith C. Dennis and Mrs. Margaret Desmond. Guests present were Esther Stottlemeyer, Mabel Willing, Julie Vettee and Dorothy Mangan. Prize winners for the evening were Dorothy Mangan, receiving first, Eleanor Rucinski receiving second plus the mystery prize, and Clarice Nesbitt receiving the third prize. This group of ladies will meet again on the third Thursday in March at the home of Mrs. Arthur Gennis on Joy Rd.

Sorry to report that Everett Smith of Newburg Rd. is confined to the University Hospital where he will be for a few more days, recovering from a recent operation. Cards of good cheer and get-well wishes would be most welcome from his friends and neighbors of the Newburg area.

With the jangle of the tambourine and the "corny" end man jokes, the old time Minstrel Show was revived at the Newburg Methodist Church hall on Thursday and Friday of last week with more than 300 folks in the audience to watch the fun, listen to the fine songs and watch the wonderful dancing. Under the direction of E. Reid and sponsored by the Men's Club of the church and with the aid of some of the young ladies of the Plymouth School of Dance, directed by Mrs. Edie Stannitz, the show was enjoyed by young and old alike. Participants were as follows: End Men were Mr. Bones, Ed Grosjean; Mr. T. A. M. B. O., Henry Fry; Mr. Mose, Joe Jenkin; Mr. Snowball, Bill Schmidt; Mr. Paddlefoot, Paul Nixon; and Mr. S. A. M., Leonard Ritzler. Mr. Interlocutor, in shimmering white suit, was Fred Bird. Members of the chorus included Tom Leverton, Joe Achor, who sang "Life Gets Tediouss," Art Remy, Joe Timpkins, Jerry Baldwin, Henry Mende, Henry Mende, Jr., Cheryl Eastlake, Fern Leverton, Evelyn Shier, who sang "Sleep Baby Sleep" and with the aid of her children Janice and Jimmy sang, "Three Swells;" Bruce Middleton, Dorothy Waack, Carol Mae Hartwick, Carol LaPointe, Winnie Nixon, Sally Fedus, Marilyn Bird, who sang "St. Louis Woman;" and Jesse Bennett. Other songs were sung by

Beadle Introduces Bill To Check Plat's Storm Water

A bill requiring local units of government, when considering the approval of a plat, to determine that plat's adequacy for storm water outlet drainage was introduced today by Rep. Harvey J. Beadie (D) Plymouth's representative at Lansing.
"Without local inspection poor platting is a hidden factor to the new home buyer until the time of the first rainfall," Rep. Beadie said. "Only then does he discover whether a heavy rain means a basement full of water."
"Effective supervision and control of land development along the shores of inland lakes and banks of streams can provide the prospective home purchaser the guarantee that his area has adequate storm water drainage."
"Most local units of government, already inspect housing development areas to determine the adequacy of outlet drainage for storm water. Unfortunately, there are still some governing bodies that do not inspect. It is for the protection of prospective home buyers in these areas that this bill is proposed."
"Under this bill, the governing body must certify that the proposed plat does in fact have adequate drainage plans. This certification would serve as a guide for the state health department which reviews all plats for health factors, but which has no authority for rejecting or accepting a plat. The final decision on approval rests with the local government."
"This bill was developed in cooperation with representatives of the Municipal League and is a recommendation of the Governor's 1959 Task Force on Natural Resources."

Vegetable Growing Experts Appear in Canton Thursday

Two authorities in the fields of vegetable growing and agricultural entomology will speak in Canton Township this Thursday, Feb. 25. Appearing will be Dr. John Carew, a leading authority on vegetable growing, and Dr. Ray Janes, Michigan's agricultural entomologist.

They will appear at 2 p.m. in the Canton Township Hall on Geddes Rd. Under discussion will be new varieties of vegetables, new methods, chemicals, equipment, laws and trends in business. All commercial vegetable producers are invited.

Backyard and hobby gardeners are especially being invited along with the professionals to attend an 8 p.m. meeting that same day. It will feature the same two speakers but will be at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds on Quirk Rd.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

From Livonia this week comes a plan to ease the budget of retirees which this writer believes to be about as intelligent a new idea as he's encountered recently.

It would exempt elderly people on social security from paying school taxes.

Mayor William Brashear brought forth the proposal a week ago. He described it as a means of helping "those caught in the squeeze between inflation and small, fixed incomes."

Within a few days after he first revealed that he would push for legislation in Lansing, Brashear received a barrage of approving letters from older persons. One such letter came from an organization of retired school teachers.

School taxes throughout the suburban area constitute 60 to 80 percent of the total bill. For retired persons, it means sharing an obligation even though their own children have grown up and have long since been educated.

Taxes alone, of course, can't beat the inflation rap for those handcuffed to fixed incomes, but they are a painful single item. For retirees struggling to preserve their home, a tax bill of $300 or $400 drops in like a bomb when it arrives all in one chunk.

Livonia's Mayor says he has the support of state legislators from this district. He's looking for public endorsement to put weight behind the effort. A letter directed to him at the Livonia City Hall would be much in order from those who believe he's on the right track. Address it to Mayor William Brashear, Livonia City Hall, Five Mile Road, Livonia, Michigan.

His final argument: "The small increase in school taxes for the rest of the population then would fall on those most able to pay, that is people currently earning a living. It would be fair to all, because everyone who lives on a fixed income would be entitled to the benefit upon reaching age 65, and it would not eat into the meager funds on which most retired people exist."

Some City of Plymouth residents undoubtedly recall rather vividly the painful hour of property re-assessment about a year ago.

It was a time of gnashing of teeth.

So possibly now they feel a kindredness to the metropolitan Detroiters, who at this very hour are undergoing exactly the same kind of agony.

Detroit sent out the assessors to put new values on many parcels of land, as did Plymouth.

And even as The Plymouth Mail reported a year ago, so did the Detroit Times last week:

"...stirrings of a taxpayer revolt were felt today over Detroit's newest tax program ..."

"The largest number of taxpayers since the days of the depression has been lining up at the city assessor's office to file formal protest ..."

"...spurring the taxpayers' wrath is the action of the assessors who have hiked assessments—mostly on land values—of about 70,000 Detroit home owners this year ..."

And so on. Unfortunately, company does practically nothing to soothe misery, all popular sayings notwithstanding.

We endorse completely the proposal disclosed last issue for a planning commission to study and report on problems and ideas for the area covered by the Plymouth Consolidated School District.

If it does nothing more than refresh the idea that the entire district has a common interest and responsibility (about 65 percent of the tax bill in all parts is devoted to schools) then it will have been a useful instrument.

It could accomplish more than that, of course, if the participating parties give it more than lip service.

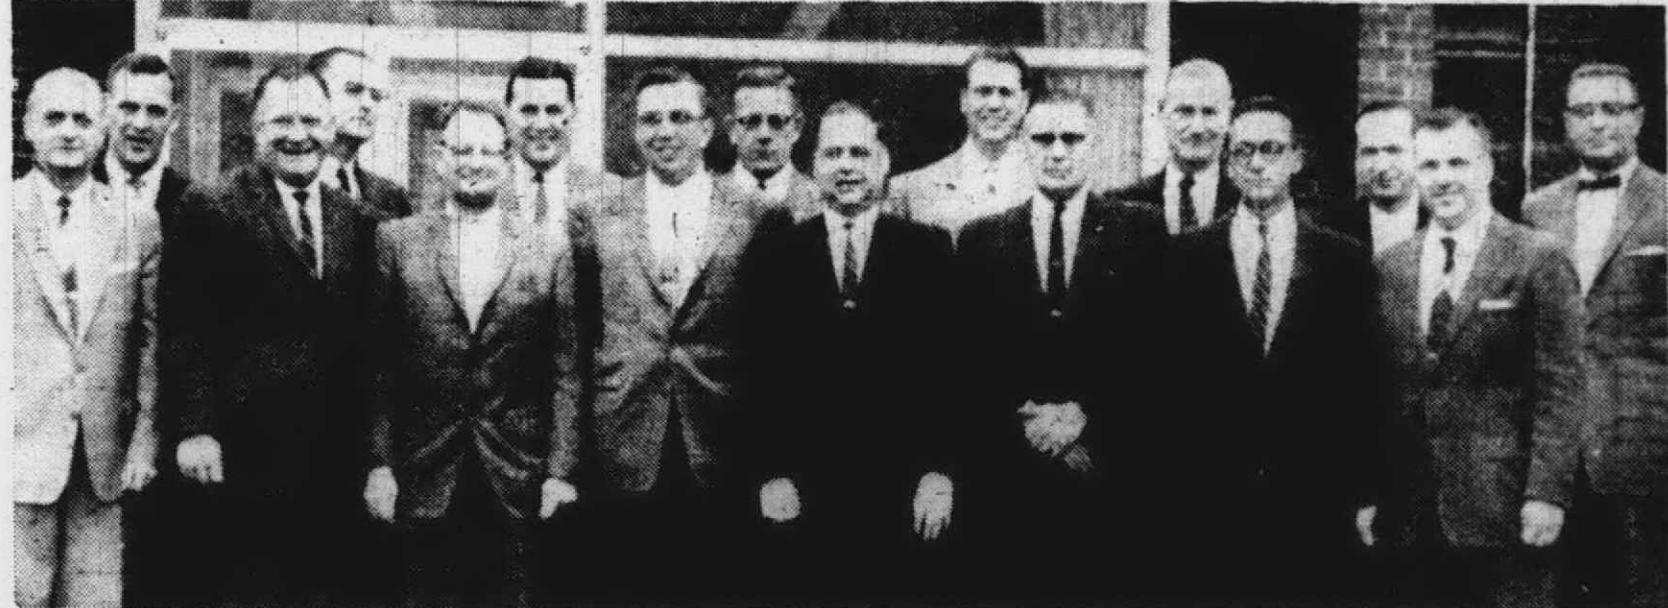

B-G-R Hosts Training Session Of Parent Firm

With the broad objective of improving manufacturing costs, the Methods Committee of Associated Spring Corporation held a semi-annual meeting Feb. 16 and 17 at the B-G-R Division plant on Plymouth Road. The group was welcomed by C. J. Stofko, general manager of the B-G-R Division.

Factory managers and designers from all operating divisions of the corporation, located in metalworking centers throughout the United States and Canada, attended the sessions. Meetings of this group are held at various plants to enable better interchange of information. General offices of Associated Spring, the world's leading manufacturer of precision mechanical springs, small stampings, and spring steel are located at Bristol, Conn.

A part of the meeting was devoted to case-studies of specific items of manufacture at B-G-R. In addition to these studies, time was devoted to ways and means of improving communications between divisions in order to take full advantage of better methods.

While they were here the group of engineers and factory managers stayed at the Mayflower Hotel.

Madonna College Admitted To National Groups

Madonna College has been admitted into membership by two national college associations.

The American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education (AACTE) at its annual meeting in Chicago last week accepted Madonna College and 47 other institutions into its membership. The purpose of the association is to improve teacher education programs through pooled study, research and experimentation.

Two major requirements for AACTE membership are regional accreditation and submission of the institution's teacher education program to the AACTE Executive Committee. At present the association numbers 335 members.

Earlier Madonna College was accepted into the American Association of Colleges (AAC), a national organization for promotion of quality education in liberal arts institutions. Members must all be regionally accredited. Madonna College was granted regional accreditation last April by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

Eastern Star News

Tuesday, March 2 at 7:30 p.m.: Plymouth Chapter No. 15 Order of Eastern Star will hold its next regular meeting. First item will be the draping of the Charter in memory of Sister Florence Parrott who has passed away since our last meeting.

Items are still being collected for the Rehabilitation Program for the members of the Masonic Home at Alma.

It was with much pleasure that so many were welcomed at our last Special Meeting to see the Degrees of our Order conferred upon Mr. and Mrs. Martin Jones and Mr. Roswell Ranger.

All officers are reminded to select a friend for Friend's

Grange Gleanings

A large group of members and friends enjoyed the slides and an interesting talk by our state youth chairman, Ruby Yeutter, who visited eight European countries last summer.

Two exchange students, Ursula Kell from Germany and Anniki Thasing (Kiekie, as many know her) from Holland, were among the guests and recognized many pictures of their native land.

Ursula lives with the Clarke family and Anniki at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph West.

A delicious lunch was served by the refreshment committee.

The 4-H group meeting, scheduled originally for March 1, has been postponed until March 7. More information on this event will follow.

Orders for homemade fried-cakes will be taken anytime by calling GL 3-3030 and will be made the day of the bake sale at Kroger's, March 4.

Get your articles ready for the rummage sale on March 5.

'Sweet Success' Of Businessmen Coming on TV

A new television series based on the careers of successful businessmen will make its premiere in Detroit next Monday under the sponsorship of The Detroit Bank and Trust Co., a firm which now has a branch in Plymouth.

The program, "Sweet Success," will be seen each Monday from 7 to 7:30 p.m. over station WWJ-TV.

Each program is devoted to a single personality selected from a wide variety of fields ranging from publishing, manufacturing and real estate to food processing, architecture and hotel management.

While many of the subjects are not considered as being well-known "names" to the general public, all of them have the stamp of success as a common denominator—plus varied interests and outside activities that add up to exciting lives.

Seattle hotel owner and investor Floyd Clodfelter will be the subject of the premiere show.

FARRANT SCHOOL PTA is planning a fashion show and card party to be held March 18 at the school gymnasium. The event, which will start at 8 p.m., is entitled "Spring in Suburbia." Various women's, men's and children's fashions will be modeled, and the husbands will have an opportunity to play cards. These five women are experimenting in techniques of modeling. Shown wearing a beach outfit is Mrs. Marian Cosgrove (second from right), while Mrs. Marjorie Howell, Mrs. Clarice Back, Mrs. Eleanor Knaggs and Mrs. Margie Smith admire the ensemble. Proceeds from the event will go into the Farrant PTA school fund for later use on a school project.

Newcomers Club Meets March 3

Newcomers will meet Thursday, March 3 at Arbor-Lill for their monthly luncheon meeting. Hospitality Hour will begin at 12 noon, and luncheon will be served.

At 12:45 Arlene Read (GL-3-1217) and Phyliss Van Antwerp (GL 3-4028) will act as hostesses for the afternoon. Reservations must be made with one of the hostesses before Tuesday evening, March 1.

James Taylor of Blunk's Furniture will present "The Story of Furniture Styles." He will start at the beginning of furniture, through the 18th century, and into present day styling.

Extension Club Hears Mrs. Caplin

"Choose a basic ensemble and build your wardrobe around it," said Mrs. Carl Caplin recently as she addressed members of the Parkside Extension Club during a guest appearance. Mrs. Caplin is a member of the Allen Club.

The Feb. 15 meeting of the club was held at the home of Mrs. Edwin Ash, 333 Pacific.

Mrs. Martin Strasen was another guest at the meeting. And Mrs. Harry Bartel was back after having undergone surgery recently. Mrs. John Cumming, 9068 Rucker, will be hostess of the March 21 meeting.

LOCAL Business and Professional Women paid tribute to their employers recently at a "Bosses' Night Banquet" held Feb. 15 at Hillside Inn. Right in the mood were Mrs. Mary Wagenschutz and Miss Margaret Porteous, who are shown serving coffee to their respective employers.

Roy A. Fisher of Fisher Insurance Agency, and Dudley Bowers of Michigan Bell Telephone Company. In addition to the numerous employers and women employees, there were also several husbands and wives attending the banquet as guests.

Girl Scout News

The Girl Scout cookie sale is now underway throughout the Huron Valley Council. Orders for cookies will be taken until Feb. 27.

There are three kinds of cookies for sale, cream sandwich, vanilla thins, and mints. The proceeds from the sale will be used to send senior scouts to the next round-up, for local camping expenses, for savings to purchase a permanent camp site and for the campership fund.

The Ladybird neighborhood will put on a program for Intermediates, Brownies, Seniors and parents on Sunday, March 6, at the Junior High. The troops are invited to bring samples of their handicraft to display during the ceremony.

The program will mark the opening of Girl Scout Week. At the same time, the Juliette Low Fund money will be presented. Each Girl Scout will be asked to donate the same number of pennies as their age to the fund.

All Girl Scouts are asked to wear their uniforms to church on Sunday, March 6, to further illustrate the start of Girl Scout week. In many of the churches, special areas will be left for scouts.

Juliette Gordon Low, called Daisy, was the founder of the Girl Scouts in the United States. When she married William Low, in 1885, she moved to England. There she met Lord Robert and Lady Agnes Baden-Powell and they interested her in the newly-formed Girl Guides there.

Before she sailed back to her home in Georgia, Juliette cabled her family "I am bringing home the biggest thing yet." She was referring, of course, to the Guide movement. On March 12, 1912, the first Girl Guide company in the U.S. was begun.

The name of the Girl Guides was changed to Girl Scouts later. The first troop's uniform was blue and the handbook was entitled "How Girls Can Help Their Country." In 1915, the organization had a national council, a constitution and by-laws, a charter and more than 5,000 members.

Today there are members in almost each foreign country. And there are well over two million scouts in the United States alone.

50 Students Visit Monastery

More than 50 boys from Plymouth High visited St. Paul's Monastery in Detroit last Wednesday for an evening of recollection. The students making the trip are members of Our Lady of Good Counsel Church here.

During their stay at the monastery, the young men heard two sermons delivered by Father Gregory of the Passionist Order. He spoke of the Cross and Love of God.

A mass was offered in the public chapel and afterwards a meal was served.

Episcopalians To Hear Guest Minister Sunday

The Rev. Joseph Pelham, director of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, will be the guest preacher at St. John's Episcopal Church, South Harvey at Maple Ave., at the 9:30 a.m. and 11:15 a.m. services next Sunday.

Mr. Pelham is a native of Flint and was educated in the Flint schools and graduated from the University of Michigan with honors in Philosophy. He took his Seminary Training at the Episcopal Theological School at Cambridge, Massachusetts graduating with a Cum Laude Degree as well as capturing a prize in preaching.

Mr. Pelham served as assistant at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, Saginaw for one year and also as assistant rector of Mariners' Church located in the Civic Center, Detroit. He has served as director of the Department of Christian Social Relations for the past two years and has gained national recognition for the leadership that he has given in this field.

An invitation is extended to the public to hear Mr. Pelham next Sunday.

Boat Trip for Exchange Student Like 'Fairy Tale'

By Ursula Kell
 (EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles by Ursula Kell, a German exchange student attending Plymouth High School. This week she tells experiences about her life on the boat.)

The coming nine days on the boat were the most wonderful I had. When I think about it now it seems to me like a fairy tale, so unreal and wonderful.

The first night we went to bed late and hardly had any sleep. The boat was swinging softly, but it didn't bother me yet. I awoke at 4:30 (which usually never happens to me.) But the splashing water of the sea made such a noise that I awoke. I opened the porthole, and a little bit curious what the sea looked like I held my head out of it.

In the same moment a great big wave came in my direction, and I got all wet, my hair, pajamas and everything. This was my first experience with the sea! After this little refreshment I did not feel like going to bed again, changed and went for a walk on the deck. It was just beautiful. The sun was rising and turned the sea yellow and red. In a distance you could see the islands of "Ostriesland", we were not very far from the border of Holland.

At 6:30 I awoke my roommate to have breakfast, which was at 7 o'clock. We were the first group to start, therefore we had to get up so early. The next group had breakfast at 8, the third at 9 o'clock. Usually we skipped breakfast and had lunch at 11 o'clock, at 3 some cake and coffee, at 6 dinner and at 10 o'clock we could have some sandwiches. It was then when I made my first acquaintance with American food. I liked it real well, specially juices and salads which we don't have so much in Germany.

So altogether we had five meals a day. Since the food was so excellent, we did not stop eating and did not care a bit for our slim line. Besides the wonderful food there were many other things: twice a day there was a movie (we did not have to pay), we played ping-pong, shuffle-board, visited talents and concerts and every night was a dance. Seldom we went to bed before 2 o'clock.

The most wonderful experience was the meeting of people. There were all different nationalities: many Americans, German, English, Dutch, Swiss, Scandinavian, people from Japan, Greece and Yugoslavia, and even one representative from Africa. But before I tell more about the life on the boat I'll continue to tell more about the actual trip.

The first day after we had left Bremerhaven, the sea was real calm until we came into the English Channel. The boat swang quite a bit and the first people got seasick. It was not a nice sight to see all the pale and green faces. I had only a little funny feeling in my stomach, went to bed, slept for a while and then everything was over.

The same night we landed in a harbor near London to pick up the English exchange students. The majority of the 163 students were on board then. Therefore our counselors established a daily schedule for us. We were separated in smaller groups, headed by a German or American counselor. This group-meeting every day lasted about two hours. The purpose of this was to make the adjustment easier for us in the United States. So we learned a lot about American customs and way of living, and we learned folksongs, spirituals and the National Anthem.

Another course was the language course, led by American students who had spent a year in Germany and just came back. In this course we were supposed to improve our knowledge of English, but I did not get too much out of it. But since it was short, we had still plenty of time for our own.

The next day at noon we sighted a beautiful shore: France. Soon we landed in Le Havre to pick up our three French exchange students. The following stop was in the bay of Cobh, Ireland. The weather was warm and the countryside of Ireland beautiful. When Mrs. Anderson, the director of our program left the boat there we did not stop singing songs to her, because we all liked her so well. So we left Ireland with sunshine, songs and a nice little breeze.

But crossing the ocean the little breeze became stronger and the sea got rough. The wind was blowing strongly and the boat moved from one side to the other. Nearly everybody got seasick. We ate rolls and bread which help (supposedly) to prevent getting seasick. In the beginning of the night the storm calmed down, but instead we got a real bad fog. The fog grew thicker and thicker and the foghorn gave us an haunting feeling.

The next morning the fog had lifted up and the bad weather was over.

When the sun was shining, the deck was the meeting place for everybody. I made many new acquaintances and nearly everybody I met went to America for another reason. We met a political refugee from Hungary, a boy from Switzerland, who had enough money, but he just wanted to become real rich in America. (He probably is a little disappointed, it is not quite so easy.) We met a woman whose husband had just died. Now she wanted to start a new life with her little child in America.

Everybody came with high hopes and expectations. The U.S. just seemed too much like a paradise to us, and we may be a little disappointed in some ways. But this is only natural. Our ideas of the United States were too perfect. All the exchange students met usually every night at the dance. This was much fun, especially the changing of time. When it was 11 o'clock, the announcer suddenly said: "Everybody set his watch one hour back." So it was 10 o'clock and we had one hour more to dance. Altogether we gained 6 hours. The sighting of the first whale was not half so exciting as the first ice-berg. One morning when we were still lying in the bed, the approaching of the first one was announced. Everybody jumped in their pajamas out of the bed, put a coat on and ran on deck. The ice-berg was far away, but with a fieldglass you could see it pretty sharply. The same day we saw lots of them and much closer. One of them was so close that we thought we would hit it.

The landscape at the St. Lawrence River which we entered next was beautiful. On the right hand side we saw the lights of Canada, on the left the U.S. After we had stopped in Quebec, we landed the next day in Montreal. It was too bad that these days had gone so fast.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor,
 There is a move on foot to ban certain publications from the news stands in Plymouth on the pretext that they are obscene.

A very few of us understand that "obscenity is in the mind of the beholder". Obscene minded people can not see beauty in the most priceless of God's physical creations: the human form. How much have those, investigating this movement, contributed to developing clean minds in their own children or any other children? In the home they have directly, or indirectly, given the impression of obscenity to their children and are now trying to blame publications for their own shortcomings.

God creates beauty. Man calls it obscene and covers it up, and kids himself into thinking it is virtue.

We had better clean up our own minds (if it isn't too late), and learn to appreciate the beauties of God's creation, than to try to force prudery and ignorance upon society.

This is supposed to be an age of progress, but I am afraid most of us insist on living in the Dark Ages, in some respects.

I truly feel sorry for these people for their inability to see beauty, but I suppose that is the way they were brought up, and they choose to keep their minds tightly closed. In other words, I wonder if they aren't AFRAID TO THINK. Many people are.

I was in a drug store in Plymouth. Two young boys were looking at some of the magazines in question. They took one magazine and opened it and put it in the window. Again, I walked over and put the magazine back in the rack.

Is there anyone so naive as to think that denying these boys access to these magazines is going to automatically purify their minds? Let's not be silly!

We had better start by teaching them a little reverence for the beauty of God's creation.

OBSCENITY IS IN THE MIND OF THE BEHOLDER!
 Sincerely,
 Joe

WHAT'S the DIFFERENCE WHERE YOU HAVE a PRESCRIPTION FILLED

Since any licensed pharmacist can fill a prescription, does it really matter where you take yours? It does! Because while the medicine will be identical, prescription service does differ—in promptness . . . in price . . . in professional interest in you.

If fast service, reasonable price and professional interest make a difference to you—bring your prescriptions to us and get all three.

DUTCH AUCTION SALE

Starts Thursday, February 25th

Choose the item or items on auction you would like to purchase. Fill out an official tag and bid the price you will pay. In 10 days the Official Auction will take place. Items will go to the highest bidder. Shop, save and have fun doing it!

NOTE:

At a "Dutch Auction" Sale The Prices go Down instead of Up! What a Twist!

IT'S FUN!

HERE'S HOW IT WORKS:

- ★ Prices reduced 10% EACH DAY for 10 DAYS!
- ★ First bid at Today's Price takes the sale item.
- ★ Advance bids accepted with a 10% deposit. Full refund if you're "outbid".
- ★ Auction includes over 100 suits left from our season-end sale.
- ★ Our usual allowance of $2.00 will be given on all alterations.
- ★ All "Dutch Auction" sales are final.

We do not know what they (meaning men's stores to the east of us) will be doing about suit prices in the next 90 days, but we know we can not expect you to pay $8 to $10 more to us here than you would pay them for a suit.

Hence, for the Spring season of 1960 we are reducing our regular suit prices $8 to $10 so you will continue to buy your new suits here. In other words, we are going to meet our competitor's so-called Sale Priced Suits, of same quality, within a dollar or so.

We are not talking about a sale of odds and ends. We are talking about our regular stock. If we do not have the exact size or color wanted, we will get it for you quickly at the same low price as the model in stock. WE WILL HAVE A SUIT FOR YOU AT THE EXACT PRICE YOU WANT TO PAY, REGARDLESS OF YOUR SHAPE OR SIZE.

Through our new pricing structure, in our suit and sport coat department we are determined to meet our competitors every inch of the way and still provide our customers with the personal, friendly service which you have come to expect. Our interest is in YOU. Not every store can say that.

To start our new pricing structure, we will conduct a 10-day "Dutch Auction" starting Thursday, Feb. 25 and lasting through March 7. All suits which are left in stock from our recent season-end selling (more than 100 suits of almost all sizes) will be "Dutch Auctioned." The regular new stock of over 200 suits will have a reduced price ticket on them that you will like very much.

Yours sincerely,
Wendell Lent

P.S. We are also closing out the Men's Shoe Department completely. All shoes (Free-man's) will go at 30 percent discount until sold out. We are going to expand our suit department into this space.

Sunday Concert
concluded with the exciting "Rhapsodie Espagnole" by Ravel. Divided into four sections, it reflects the flaming color and vivid life of the Spanish festivals and dances of Ravel's native Basque country. Included will be "Prelude a la nuit," a portrayal of the mystery of Spanish twilight; "Malaguena," the clicking rhythm of the Spanish dance; "Habanera," the dance again, this time languorous and syncope; and finally a colorful picture of the Spanish country fair portrayed in "Feria."

As a special accommodation to concert guests, babysitting facilities will be available at the high school for a modest fee. Babysitters will be Girl Scouts with adult supervision.
The concert will be presented without charge to the public.

To Organize Auxiliary

Four Northville women are credited with setting up the auxiliary: Chairman Mrs. William Milne, Mrs. John Swain, Mrs. Lorne Dyer, and Mrs. Dempsey B. Ebert.
The next meeting of the auxiliary will be held Monday at 8:15 in Our Lady of Victory Church auditorium, Northville. For more information call FI 9-1010. All interested area women are urged to attend.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born Feb. 18 to Mr. and Mrs. Farris Barnes, 351 1/2 Maple Ave., Plymouth. Named Nancy Elaine, the baby was born at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor and weighed five lbs., seven ozs. It is the couple's first child. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. McClain and Mr. and Mrs. H. Barnes of Tennessee.

First child for Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Roberts, 9068 Brookline, was born Feb. 12 at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. The baby, a girl, weighed seven lbs., four ozs. and was named Julie Joan. Mrs. Roberts is the former Joan Pangborn.

Four Elections Ahead for Plymouth

tion at the primary. Canton Supervisor Louis Stein said that he favors a ballot proposition to set up a seven-member township planning commission in place of the five-member zoning board. New state legislation allows townships such as Canton the right to establish a planning commission, but it requires the approval of voters.
Stein said that the Township Board has not approved placement of such a proposal on the ballot, but he for one is in favor of it.
Winding up the year's electioneering will be the Nov. 8 general election. Candidates who survive the August primary, as well as the presidential and vice-presidential nominees selected during the summer conventions, will learn their fate at this election.
As in past presidential elections, this one will probably set new voting records here.
Also expected on this ballot will be the question of whether the eastern half of Plymouth Township should be incorporated as the City of Plymouth Heights.

Placing of this on the November ballot has not been definitely decided, but it is anticipated, according to reports. The final draft of the City of Plymouth Heights charter has not yet been approved by the governor—a necessary procedure before it can go on the ballot.
The proposed new city would encircle the present City of Plymouth and would leave the western part of the township, west of McClumpha Rd., as Plymouth Township.
Needless to say, a Plymouth Heights question on the November ballot would arouse as much, if not greater interest, than in the outcome of the presidential balloting.

The following are some of the important election dates of 1960 as outlined by Secretary of State James Hare:
May 31—Last date to file petitions to place a local question on the primary ballot.
June 14—Last day for partisan and non-partisan candidates to file nominating petitions, 4 p.m.
June 14—Last day to certify ballot wording of local propositions to local or county clerk for the primary ballot.
June 17—Last day for candidates to withdraw.
July 5—Last date to register for primary election.
July 8—Last date to file petitions to amend the state constitution.
July 13—County clerks to deliver absentee ballots to local clerks by this date.
July 30—Deadline for absentee ballot applications for primary.
Aug. 2—PRIMARY ELECTION.
Aug. 10 to Aug. 21—Political parties to hold county conventions between these dates.
Aug. 12—Last day to file expense accounts for primary.
Sept. 3—Last date for holding state conventions.
Sept. 6—Last day to file petitions to place a local question on ballot.
Sept. 20—Last day to certify ballot wording of local propositions to local or county clerks.
Sept. 27—County clerks must deliver absentee ballots to local clerks by this date.
Oct. 10—Last date to register for general election.
Nov. 5—Deadline for application for absentee ballots.
Nov. 8—GENERAL ELECTION.
Nov. 28—Last date to file expense accounts for general election.

In the other auto accident, two persons were injured, one critically.
David C. Travis, 25, of 570 Blunk Street, was driving south on Lilley Road west of Warren Road in Canton Township at 7:40 a.m. Wayne County Sheriff's patrolmen said Travis' car hit a patch of ice, skidded into a ditch and then struck a telephone pole.
A passenger, 30-year-old David Kalka, of 9466 Merriman, sustained a broken arm, cut elbow, broken nose and numerous bruises. Travis suffered multiple bruises.
Both were taken to Wayne County General Hospital for treatment. Travis returned home Monday night.

Finally Birthday Time
when she observes her 14th Leap Year birthday.
Also observing the special occasion will be the family of Claude Rocker, 8851 Morrison. This will be his "12th" birthday.
Jerry Kelly, of 5080 Church Road, near Dixboro, was a sophomore at the U of M when we called him four years ago. Today he is still attending college, expecting to receive his dentistry degree this spring. Celebrating his "sixth" birthday, Jerry has acquired a wife and they are expecting a child since the last Feb. 29.
Those born on Feb. 29 can blame their situation on the earth's rotation and revolution cycles which are not evenly coordinated. The Romans tried to straighten things out by adding a day to the year whose number was divisible by four.
By 1582 they had allowed three too many Leap Years, so Pope Gregory XIII decided that century years should be eliminated unless they are divisible by 400.
There is still some inaccuracy, but it amounts to only 26 seconds a year.
Pelham Street in Newport, R.I., was the first thoroughfare in America ever to be illuminated by gas light. It was installed in 1806.

Livonia GM Plants Report On '59 Activity

The contribution of General Motors to the economic activity of the Livonia area increased substantially during 1959. In a year-end statement released jointly by Harry L. Whitmer, plant manager, Chevrolet Spring & Bumper Plant, 13000 Eckles Rd., and R. Gordon Spear, plant manager, Fisher Body Plant, 28400 Plymouth Rd., it was revealed that average GM employment at the two Livonia plants during 1959 was nearly 600 greater than in 1958. The increase in the total payroll for the year was nearly $4.5 million.

During the past year, $25,439,329 was distributed in payrolls to an average of 4,109 employees. In the same period, another $31,185,671 was paid out to other businesses who supply the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants with the goods and services they require for production. Many of the suppliers are local concerns.

General Motors employees at the Livonia plants invested $38,632 in U.S. Savings Bonds during the year through payroll deduction plan and they contributed $53,896 to the 1959 United Fund Drive.

The Chevrolet Spring & Bumper Plant manufactures leaf and coil chassis springs and bumpers for Chevrolet automobiles and trucks. The GM Fisher Body operation in Livonia is known as the Cut & Sew Plant; and cushions, padding, sun visors and other interior trim are produced there.

An official of a major fidelity components company thinks teenagers may be pushovers for rock-and-roll and similar music because their schools don't have the proper facilities to teach them appreciation of good music.

"The quality of music reproduction has a lot to do with whether we like a certain kind of music or not," according to F.V. Machin, a vice president of Shure Brothers, Inc., which makes components and electronic equipment.

"You can't teach good music with poor sound. A symphony played on battered equipment runs a poor second to 'Hound Dog' played on a high fidelity juke box."

Most juke boxes these days are high fidelity. And many are stereo.

Machin recommends that schools take these steps to improve the playback equipment in their music appreciation rooms:

- Work with an experienced high fidelity enthusiast who knows what's needed. There's one in every school. He may be student, teacher or parent.
- Remember that the best reproduction is obtained from high quality components. These should include an amplifier of at least 20 watts output (a total of 40 if stereo), a good turntable and pickup arm, a magnetic cartridge with diamond stylus, and wide-range loudspeakers (50-15,000 cycles) in proper enclosures.
- At least $250 should be allotted for new equipment. If the school budget won't permit such an outlay, perhaps the Parent-Teacher Association may donate all or part of the equipment. The local high fidelity dealers will recommend components that offer the best value for the money.
- Make sure that records are properly handled and stored. This means keeping them in dustproof jackets, handling them only by their edges and freeing them of dust before they are played.
- Musical appreciation instructors who take these steps will find their students more likely to listen attentively," Machin said.
- Once the student does this, he's less likely to have his appreciation undermined by musical fads.
- While stereo can add greatly to the dramatic impact of good music, Machin advises getting the best possible monophonic system if a school's funds are limited.
- Two speakers with monophonic equipment give a near-stereo effect.
- "Once a school has a high fidelity system, it needn't be limited to music appreciation classes," he said.
- Where the school has a public address system, the music can be played over this between classes, in the cafeteria and in lounges.
- When good music is a part of the regular school routine, the student is more likely to take to it naturally.

INTRAVENOUS FEEDING

BEDFORD, Mass. (UPI)—Still standing here is a 360-year-old tree known as "The Great Oak." Recently tree experts drilled thousands of holes and used about a ton of fertilizer to nourish it. The tree has a limb spread of 127 feet.

ANNUAL DINNER meeting of the local American Association of University Women last week featured as guest speaker Miss Audrey Wilder, state president of the AAUW and also Dean of Women at Albion College. Shown here is Miss Wilder (center) speaking to Mrs. Henry Walch

Twenty thousand extras, four hundred pounds of hair for the wigs, an entire mountain village taken over and used as Nazareth, three hundred sets, and after five years of planning, filming, and editing "Ben-Hur," the year's religious spectacle, is ready for the public's viewing. It's a blockbuster and one of the best in the current cycle of Biblical motion picture epics.

Had a weird notion as I walked out of Detroit's United Artist's Theater the other evening after seeing "Ben-Hur." Since "Ben-Hur" ends with the crucifixion of Christ and an earlier picture, "The Robe," begins with the crucifixion, why not have a double feature showing of the two pictures. The entire time of the two pictures would run approximately six and one-half hours. Of course, as a short subject, we could toss in "The Ten Commandments," another four hour job like "Ben-Hur." Do I hear any takers in the audience?

Prior to viewing "Ben-Hur" this week I went to Wayne State University to see its excellent production of "Green Pastures." Some of you may remember this production as it was done on TV a few months ago. Wayne State presented the play with an all-Negro cast, accompanied by the Diggs Radio Choir. "Green Pastures" was a wide acclaim when it was first presented on Broadway years ago. After witnessing Wayne State's fine production, we're convinced that more showings of this play are needed. Its simple presentation of the Old Testament Bible stories and the human side of "De Lawd" make for an enjoyable and instructive evening.

As you recall toward the end of "Green Pastures," De Lawd realizes that his methods of fear and punishment haven't worked with his wayward earth children. His last statement indicates that he needs to send his son down on earth to show the merciful, forgiving nature of the head man, "Ben-Hur," the mighty movie, starts with the birth of Christ. In a short span of time last week, old George had reviewed the Old and New Testaments via stage and screen.

Charlton Heston as Judea Ben-Hur comes close to doing a top-flight job of acting. Stephen Boyd, Hugh Griffin, and Jack Hawkins set a scene from him with ease. Charlton is still pressing a bit too hard. The gal playing opposite him has beauty aplenty, but her acting is of the dewy-eyed school. Her tender love scenes call for a welling up of tears. This "tear bit" she does well; acting will come later for Haya Harareet.

Outstanding scenes in the show are the sea battle, the chariot race, and the death scene of Messala's. Ben-Hur moves from one set of troubles to the next with the careless ease of a pole vaulter sailing through the air knowing that he's going to hit the bar.

The tragic nature of this picture gives it a "J.B." flavor—of course, Job's problems were even greater. In the case of "Ben-Hur," the author, Lew Wallace, solves the situation with a convenient miracle as the "The End" title hovers into view on the giant, curved screen at the United Artists' Theater.

The arrival of "Ben-Hur" at a downtown Detroit theater might have been the big news in the world of shadowy images on celluloid, but the "really big" news last week was the departure of Jack Paar from TV land. Jack's all-right show that starts at 11:30 locally on Channel 4 and meanders on its merry way until 1 a.m. has a following all its own.

Many people swear by it; others swear because of it and wax vociferously as to its evils. Old George remains neutral as to the value of Jack Paar's program. Occasionally, it does have some entertaining segments. The other evening the big walk-off scene was a brilliant piece of entertainment. No one in their right mind walks off the job simply because they are a bit piqued or irritated at the big bosses.

What a fine world this would be if we could all do just that—not that many of us aren't tempted to. I'm afraid that my respect for Jack Paar dropped several notches after such action. He would have made more friends if he had stayed and fought the battle through in person. Reality demands that we live up to our responsibilities.

Not all of us can pull the "leaky eye" bit and stomp off "a la a child" having hysterics over some minor point. But now the quarrel has been patched up and Jack will be back on March 7.

His opening remarks will, no doubt, be as asinine as his Russian-type exit of a few weeks ago.

This week marked the passing of one of America's great comedians. Bobby Clark died at the age of 71. Mr. Clark cavorted, sang, fell, skidded, loped and ran to the delight of generations of comedy lovers at a pace that left audiences amazed and fellow performers exhausted. Last show that Bobby Clark played in Detroit was a revival of Victor Herbert's "The Red Mill." Bobby's baggy pants and those ridiculous painted-on eyeglasses only made his wild antics more memorable.

Bobby was the perennial ogler. His leering glances, frantic movements, and the ever-present cigar will long be remembered. In his 60 years on the American stage, Mr. Clark provided many a happy moment for millions of Americans.

Time to draw the curtains shut for another week. Before we go, we must remind you that "Look Homeward, Angel" opens at the Grand Theater on Monday, Feb. 29 for a two-week run. Miriam Hopkins plays in this Pulitzer Prize winner that packs a dramatic wallop.

Render Leap Year Unto Caesar, Says U-M Astronomer

Single men who must try to avoid getting "hooked" this Leap Year can blame Julius Caesar and Pope Gregory for their predicament, according to a University of Michigan astronomer. Associate Prof. Hazel M. Losh (Ph.D.) says: "Our year is so nearly a quarter of a day over 365 that Julius Caesar in 46 B.C., on the advice of an official astronomer, overlooked the discrepancy that would result from adding an extra day once in four years, and decreed that each year should have 365 days except those years evenly divisible by four."

The fourth year had 366 days, Professor Losh points out, making an average length of 365.25 days for each year of the four year period.

"This, of course, was fairly close for one year, but actually was 11 minutes and 14 seconds too long since the year's true length is 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes and 46 seconds, instead of an even 365 days and 6 hours," she explains.

"Sixteen hundred years later this error of a few minutes each year had grown into one of days, so a reform of the calendar had to be considered. It was in 1582 that our present system, known as the Gregorian Calendar, was proposed by Pope Gregory."

Pope Gregory decided that any year ending in two ciphers, such as 1600, should not have the extra day added unless it was evenly divisible by 400. This has the effect of dropping three leap years out of every 400 years.

"This reform makes the calendar off only one day in about 3000," the astronomer says. "If one leap year were dropped every 128 years, instead of 133, the error would be much less—only one day in 100,000 years. However, the dropping of one day in 128 years would be more difficult to remember and to use than the present system."

Therefore, 1960, evenly divisible by four, is a leap year. When 2000 rolls around, it also will be a leap year according to the Gregorian reform, for it will be evenly divisible by 400.

Pastor Clifford to Show Slides Sunday of Trip Into Mexico

Pastor P. J. Clifford will present pictures of his recent trip to Mexico, Sunday night, 7 p.m., in Calvary Baptist Church. Color slides will be shown of the Tzeltal, Otomac and Lacandon Indians.

The Lacandon Indians are reported to be the most primitive tribe in North or Central America. At present there are only 200 of these Indians living in an area of 20,000 square miles of southern Mexico and northern Guatemala.

To reach the Lacandons, Pastor Clifford flew to Tuxtla, Mexico, capital of the state of Chiapas. From Tuxtla he was driven 40 miles by car to the Missionary Aviation Base and then by a Cessna plane an hour's flight into the jungle, where he was met by Phil Baer, a member of the Wycliffe Bible Translators.

Mr. Baer worked 16 years among the Lacandon Indians to learn their language and customs so that he might translate the Bible into their own tongue. At the request of missionary Baer, three Lacandon Indians came in their dugout canoes and took Pastor Clifford and the missionary to their village.

This visit was only possible because of the years spent by Mr. Baer in helping and befriending these Indians.

As yet there are no known Christians among the Lacandons. They still worship in their own god house where they keep their various god pots in which they burn incense to their gods.

The public is invited to this service.

Participates In Settlement Project

Miss Betsy Lou Edgar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Edgar, 12350 Ridge Rd., Plymouth, recently participated in a work camp located at the Beacon Neighborhood House, a settlement house on Chicago's south side.

She and 13 other students from Western Michigan University, Kalamazoo, participated in the project as part of the service work of the WMU Presbyterian Student Fellowship.

They made necessary repairs on the building and assisted with children's recreation groups. The students also talked with social workers, police officers, school teachers and other people concerned with problems of a city slum area.

A graduate of Plymouth High School, Betsy is a freshman studying music at Western.

Known as the Fifth Trans-Placement Battalion, the Marines departed San Diego, Calif., Jan. 30, aboard the transport USS Breckenridge, and made one stop enroute at Yokahama, Japan.

Notice of Public Hearing Board of Appeals on Zoning City of Plymouth, Michigan

At a meeting of the Appeal Board on Zoning to be held in the Commission Chambers of the City Hall on Tuesday, March 1, 1960, at 8:00 p.m., a public hearing will be held to consider Appeal Case No. 60-106 of Richard N. Fritz, requesting permission to erect a two-family apartment dwelling unit on part of Lot 401, Assessor's Plymouth Plat No. 14, to be known as 146-148 Amelia Street. Approximately twenty-five feet of Lot 401 is required for the four-family apartment house on adjoining Lot 400. Due to the irregular shape of the remaining Lot 401, there is insufficient lot area to afford a two-family dwelling according to the requirements of the Zoning Ordinance.

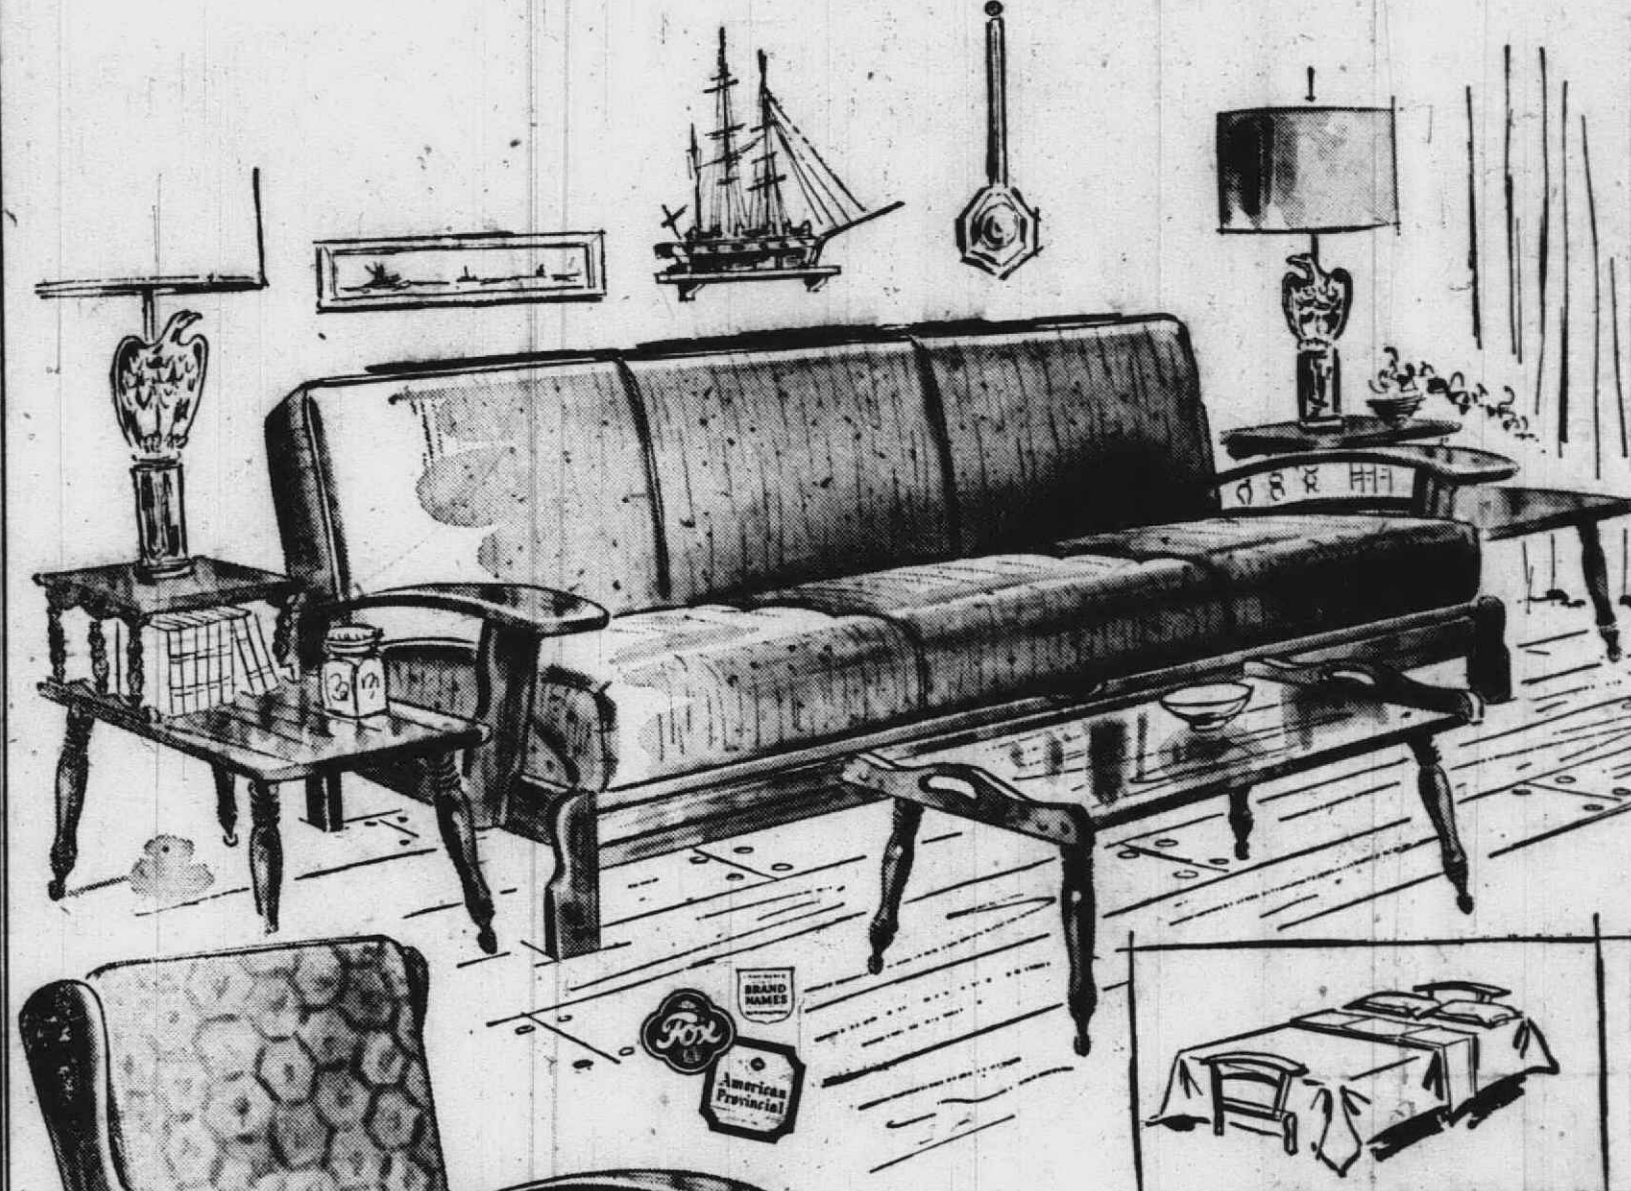

All interested parties will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the hearing, and at the close of the hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Board of Appeals on Zoning before making its decision.

We recently welcomed the Junior Achievement Company from this area through the open house at their Plymouth headquarters and with the many displays throughout town. This worthwhile activity promotes a better community as well as economic understanding for these High School folks. We would like to congratulate Miss Mary Ellen Dart who at present is the President of Benply Co., the Telephone Company sponsored group in Plymouth, as well as all the other participants in this activity. Frankly, we can't say enough for this fine organization that is helping in such a positive way to build a better place in which to work and live.

"ON MY HONOR, I will do my best to do my duty to God and my country." That's the Boy Scout Oath, and over the last fifty years thousands of boys have grown up to become better men because of it. This month, as the Boy Scouts of America celebrate their Golden Jubilee, we at the telephone company salute them. Many of the men and women of Michigan Bell are active scout leaders, and I'm sure that scouting is just as much fun for all of them as it is for the boys themselves! Happy Anniversary, Scouts!

SHHHHHHHHH-H-H-H . . . Approaching the outskirts of a small town, a motorist stopped to use an outdoor telephone-booth. He was startled to read this sign on the door: "Please don't use this phone booth until the eggs are hatched!"

When he peered into the booth, our friend saw two tiny eggs sitting inside a ready-made hummingbird's nest—the coin return slot. With an understanding grin, he returned to his car and drove on to the next telephone booth.

Canton Dance to Benefit Scout Troop

Esther Sprengel
GL 3-0194

A call to the Canton Township Fire Department Chief reveals that in the past week, the department had two calls. One a Mutual Aid run for Superior Township. The fire was a house owned by the Spence family. The house had been vacated just a day or two before the fire. The call was put in at 3:11 a.m. and our fire department tanker pumped 5,400 gallons of water. According to Superior Fire Chief Markham, the cause of the fire has not been determined as yet.

The second call which occurred at 2:15 a.m. was at a home on Canton Center Rd. The family called the State Police who in turn called our fire department, although a fire was not involved. Carbon monoxide fumes from the heat exchanger or furnace were found to be present. The family evacuated their home and spent time with relatives until repairs could be made. Chief Korte stated that our fire department personnel have been touring Township schools in order to familiarize themselves with the buildings, heating elements, entrances, electrical service shut-offs, etc. To date they have visited five schools located in the Township.

The Township has some very proud parents. Mr. and Mrs. Lee Rafferty just returned from a visit at Fort Wayne with their son and his family. Mr. Rafferty informs us that their son Fred, a Plymouth High graduate of the 1959 class, has just passed his C.P.A. examination. The Raffertys also proudly announced the arrival of a new grand-son, Bryon, weighing 8 lbs., 1 oz. Bryon is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rafferty. The Raffertys have a total of three grandchildren, all boys.

The Women's Reserve of Boy Scout Troop 298 are holding a dance, benefits to go to the troop, Feb. 27, at the Sheldon School on Geddes Rd. near Michigan. The fun will begin at 8 p.m., admission 75 cents for adults and 50 cents for children under 13 years of age. All children must be accompanied by an adult. A well known caller will put the dancers through their paces, Bob McConnee, who is well known for his dance calls at the Superior Twsp. Hall dance.

On the same evening on the same premises, a bake sale will be held by the Women's Reserve. So if you plan to come out and dance, plan also to purchase your weekend bake goods. The ladies are hoping for a large crowd to make the affair a success.

The ladies of the Women's auxiliary of Troop 298 are a very busy group and they wish to announce their forthcoming Pan-Loaf Supper, to be held April 6, at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church. They will begin serving the pan-loaf at 5:30 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. Donations will be 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for children under 13 years of age and 25 cents for all children under seven years of age.

To all interested boys: Cub Scouts of Troop 298 meet the fourth Tuesday of each month at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church. For information regarding their weekly meetings, contact Mr. John Wiles of Cherry Hill Rd., GL 3-3087. Every Monday evening 7 to 9 p.m. the Boy Scouts of Troop 298 meet at the Geddes Rd. Hall in the Township. Both groups welcome all interested boys.

The Canton Community Club held a meeting on Feb. 23 at 8 in the Geddes Rd. Hall. A cordial invitation is extended to every meeting by the group to all interested persons and we might add that it is a very important group in retaining our scout troops. So if you were unable to attend this meeting, but would be interested in becoming a member, please call Mr. Wiles, secretary at GL 3-3087. The group is most anxious to build up its membership.

The Township's new dieting club reports a little cheating on the part of its members. Some of the girls slipped off their diets, but a total loss of 6½ pounds is still reported. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Delbert Larrick. To inspire a little more effort on the member's part, they have each chosen a challenger. The object is to have one gal challenge another to losing more weight than her partner, the loser has to buy the winner a gift, or render her some service such as, ironing for her, or washing her windows or such. This might be a way of getting some of these things done.

Raymond Walbridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Walbridge, attended the Shrine Circus with his aunt, Mrs. Don Nickerson, and cousins Connie and Shirley of Plymouth, and another aunt, Mrs. Gerald Olson and cousins Johnny and Caroline of Plymouth. An excited report of seeing pink elephants at the circus was related by Raymond to his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bordin and family of Saltz Rd. had a whirl-wind weekend. Saturday found the family attending a parent-teenager Valentine party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Helm of Nankin Township. Mrs. Bordin reports a family as having a wonderful time with mom and dad entering in on the dancing. The group enjoyed refreshments. Sunday morning found the family attending breakfast (although a little stiff in the joints from their dancing experience) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mangun of Saltz Rd. The description of the breakfast went thus: Mmm! Sunday evening the Bordin's entertained Mr. for dinner.

The Spoon and Spool Group of the 4-H held a special meeting at the home of Mrs. Edward Bosman. The guest of honor was Mr. Paulson, 4-H extension Agent. Mr. Paulson showed the girls films and slides and gave a talk on the proper procedure for giving demonstrations. Mrs. Bosman explained that demonstrations are an important part of 4-H, and as yet the girls of this group are unfamiliar with this phase of 4-H work.

The boys and girls of the Cherry Hill, Truesdell and Gallimore Schools fourth grade enjoyed their trip to the Shrine Circus, but no more than did the mothers that accompanied the group. Some of the mothers who attended, were Mrs. Opal Mucker, Mrs. Ann Longwish, Mrs. Marion Williams, Mrs. Sarah Boehm, Mrs. Pat Mazzini, Mrs. Janet Magraw. A Shriner accompanied each bus and the group returned home tired, happy and very full of the refreshments served them by the Shriners.

A former resident of the township, now residing in Detroit, Mrs. Victoria Kowalski, visited with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bretzlaff of Canton Center Rd. last week.

PHS Students Fair Well At Solo, Ensemble Festival

Eastern Michigan University was the site of the annual Solo and Ensemble Festival held Saturday, Feb. 13. Of the more than 50 P.H.S. band members who participated in this event, 24 brought home a first division rating.

TIPS for TEENS

ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Elinor: I would like to have a date once a week, but my mother says I'm too young. I am 16; my boyfriend is 17. We date on Friday or Sunday nights, once every two or three weeks. We're not serious, just ordinary school friends. If I go out with girlfriends, she accuses me of being with him. We are always fighting. How can I make life more pleasant?"

Ans.—One date per week is reasonable at your age, especially during weekends when it won't interfere with school work or sleep. Perhaps your mother really objects more to your "steady" dating, always with the same boy. Try to find out—without a battle—if it's the boy himself or going steady that she objects to. If it's the latter, she might relent if you date others sometimes. To encourage her trust, always tell her where you're going and with whom... and check with her by telephone while you're out, sometimes so she'll know you're not double dating or group dates, especially for school activities. She might not object to them.

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: What is the difference between a deodorant and an anti-perspirant? Which should I use? I am 13."

Ans.—Deodorants prevent perspiration odor and come mostly in cream form. Anti-perspirants prevent odor and check or stop moisture, keeping the skin dry. There are cream, liquid, lotion, saturated cotton pads, and roll-on (lotion) types. Deodorants are milder, often used by people with sensitive skin who cannot use stronger anti-perspirants; with a deodorant, you might have to use dress-shields to protect your clothes from under-arm stain. For many people, anti-perspirants protect clothing from stains as well as safeguarding "decentness." The one you use depends on your needs and skin-type.

"CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation. —Karl Ludvigsen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and is extremely quick... This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros..." —Tom McCahill, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristic was the feeling of roominess inside... I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater in the Corvair than in some standard size cars..." —L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's snail and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked... it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is into a rear one." —Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road today." —Jim Whipple, Car Life

There is none of the typical whine normally associated with rear-engined vehicles. Inside the car, the effect is quite unlike anything we have ever experienced. It almost seems that there is no engine, and the general effect is so quiet as to be almost uncanny. —John R. Bond, Road & Track

"No written word can suffice for the genuine pleasure that you will receive behind the wheel of America's newest and most advanced contribution to transportation... It is a great car." —Don Stewart, Motor Life

We were very proud of the attendance at our last meeting and it is hoped that we all will be able to keep up the fine work.

The projects which were discussed included a "White Elephant Sale" which will be held at our next regular meeting (Friday, Feb. 26) with Sister Roma Krumm in charge.

Next visitation will be Thursday, Feb. 25, at Bessemer Lodge. The annual spring card party will be held Friday, April 22, it was announced recently. Further details will be revealed later.

The next family dinner is scheduled for April 29 when Brother and Sister Earl Gray will host the event.

Sister Mabel Mott was in St. Joseph Hospital, in Ann Arbor, recently. She returned home last Friday.

Necessary to Answer Census Caller

An individual who falsely represents himself as an enumerator in the 1960 Census of Population and Housing is taking a chance which might result in a $1,000 fine and three years in prison.

A warning that pretenders will be prosecuted under Federal law has been issued by the Bureau of the Census, U. S. Department of Commerce. The Census Bureau advises that householders should request persons representing themselves to be Census enumerators to show their credentials.

If the individual refuses to show his credentials he is not a census taker and householders should notify the police. While the main work of enumerating the population begins on April 1, some field work for the Census of Housing already is under way.

The 1960 census taker will wear a badge, printed in color (red-white-blue) bearing the official seal of the United States Department of Commerce with the word "ENUMERATOR" superimposed on it. The enumerator will also be carrying a portfolio bearing the legend "1960 Census of the United States" and containing official Census report forms. To take the 1960 Census, the Census Bureau will employ about 160,000 enumerators and 10,000 crew leaders to supervise them.

All individuals are required by law to furnish the census takers with the information covered in the 1960 census inquiries and the census takers are sworn to treat all such information confidentially. Census law provides penalties for failure to do so. The Census Bureau uses the information only to compile statistical summaries which are published only in such form that information about individuals is not disclosed.

VFW NEWS

Increased activity has been noted recently in the Mayflower Post's Youth Activity Program. This stepped-up pace includes Post sponsorship of basketball and hockey teams.

The hockey team, under Coach James McKindies, is planning to use the Post Home to show training films inasmuch as weather conditions this winter have made actual practice difficult.

Another program, under investigation by Senior Vice-Commander Hal Young, is the possible post sponsorship of a Boy Scout troop and a Cub Scout pack in the area. These are most worthwhile projects, all deserving of full support of the post membership.

The post charter has been draped in memory of our recently deceased member, Comrade Charles Riggs. An emblem has been approved and will be presented to his family. Our condolences to Merritt Rorabacher and his family in the death of his father, Guy.

The membership contest "pay-off" was made in the form of free food and refreshments at the conclusion of the Feb. 17 meeting. Harry Krumm and his team prepared a nice lunch with clean-up services included.

Members are reminded to strive for more 1960 members, as the state and national contests are still in progress. Comrade Ray Birles, a veteran of World War II, now living on Ridge Rd., was voted into the Mayflower Post, and is most welcome.

A highly important post procedure will take place at the March meeting. On March 2, nomination of officers will occur and the elections will be held Wednesday, March 16. These functions demand your attendance at both meetings, inasmuch as the success of the post during the coming year depends upon careful and active participation.

Auxiliary News
The Feb. 16 meeting was very ably conducted by Junior Vice-President Eileen Williams in the absence of President Mildred Dely, who was ill at the time.

The Auxiliary wishes to express sympathy to Hilda Rorabacher and her family on the death of her husband and also to Irene Treadwell on the death of her sister.

President Dely and her husband attended the testimonial dinner for Department President Alice Roach, on Saturday, Feb. 20.

This is a last reminder of the "Luncheon Is Served" at the Post Hall on Monday, Feb. 29. Tickets are still available from Chairman Dorothy Wilhelm. There are still a few girls needed to help serve, as well as sell tickets.

Kay Coolman, legislative chairman, reported that the bake sale, held recently at the A & P Supermarket, was very successful. She thanked all of the girls who helped and donated the baked goods.

Saturday, March 12, is the date of the St. Patrick's Dance at the Post Hall. This dance will be sponsored by the drill team to help finance the hall's redecoration. Plan now to attend this gala event.

Almost one-third of all U. S. imports come from South America, more than from any other part of the world. Canada is second, followed by Western Europe and Britain.

Section 221, Title 13, U. S. Code, provides that any person 18 years of age or over who refuses or willfully neglects to answer official census inquiries shall be fined not more than $100 or imprisoned not more than 60 days, or both; and any person who willfully furnished false information when answering census questions shall be fined not more than $500 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both.

Section 214, Title 13, U. S. Code, provides that any Census employee who reveals information collected in performance of his duty as enumerator shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than two years, or both.

Instances in which it has been necessary to invoke any of the legal provisions have been rare in the 170-year history of the U. S. census, the Census Bureau said.

HIS MONEY'S WORTH

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI) — Back in 1917, the Rev. S. W. Ellis, now pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd, paid $1,905 for a Stanley Steamer.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Editor: I read the article on high school smoking which you published in the Wednesday, Feb. 3, 1960, issue of the Plymouth Mail. After showing the article to Mr. Schreiber, principal, he suggested that I write to you.

does not have a smoking room for students. Smoking is strictly prohibited in the building and on the grounds. Also, if students choose to smoke across the street from the high school and are noticed by any staff members of the school, these students are contacted individually and asked not to smoke in the area of the school.

On Page 6 of this issue your paper states, "A few of the more 'progressive-thinking' schools have supposedly solved the problem by turning a room into a smoking room just for students. Ann Arbor's new high school has such a room."

The penalty for smoking on the grounds of the school is suspension from school for one week. Before the student can return to school he must come in with his parents, for consultation, at which time an understanding must be reached that the student will adhere to the smoking rule thereafter. The suspension penalty means that the week's absence is unexcused, which in turn automatically reduces the 7-week grade 1-2-3 in each subject that the student is taking.

This is a misstatement. The Ann Arbor High School R. R. FLUCKEY Insurance Counsel Since 1941 Phone Glenview 3-4030

PLYMOUTH HIGH SCHOOL

Beatniks . . . were all over Plymouth High last night, Tuesday, Feb. 23, as seniors got together for the second class mixer this year.

There was dancing, swimming, volleyball and a contest to decide which senior was the "best-dressed" beatnik. Peggy Davidson and Alan Davies, co-chairmen for the mixer, were behind the novel beatnik theme.

Strangers . . . were all over PHS yesterday about 70 of them. Plymouth's Student Council was host for this year's version of the Suburban Six League Student Council Conference. Eleven Student Council representatives from each of the league schools—Bentley, Redford Union, Trenton and Allen Park—came to participate in discussions aimed at solving the mutual problems of league councils.

John Feldkamp, president of the University of Michigan Student Council, was guest speaker. Plymouth's own Council proxy Dick Hubert, was general chairman for the conference.

There's a new Thespian Club president . . . Mary Jane Readman. Busy April Corey stepped down because of a job obligation.

Finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program. Two of them, in fact. That's what Plymouth High claims this year, in the persons of Peter Alford and Jeff Huntington.

Jeff and Pete now have qualified in two stages of the three part program, first as semi-finalists, and now as finalists.

Over 550,000 students were tested in the 1959-60 National Merit Scholarship competition which began last April. The test results have pared the competitors down to the 1,000 Finalists from which the Merit Scholars will be selected in the spring.

The winners will be announced in April: the selection of the Finalists who will be awarded Merit Scholarships in 1960 is performed by the Merit Scholar Selection Committee, a panel of experts in academic selection, and by special judging teams convened by various donors of Merit Scholarships.

High school grades, leadership, citizenship, and extracurricular activities are considered as well as test scores.

Previous experience indicates that the finalists, Jeff and Pete among them, will be offered some $2.5 million worth of freshman-year scholarship assistance from these sources, in addition to awards made to those selected as Merit scholars.

"January Thaw" is the year's second all-school play scheduled for March 31 and April 1. Tryouts for the production were held Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Plymouth will send its exchange talent assembly to Redford Union tomorrow Feb. 25. Participants will be Emcee Bob Wall, the "Rockin' Rebels"—Bob Evans, John Zitel, and Bob Carley—with Dennis Simpson and Carol Graham dancing to their music.

Barbara Hines and Nancy Mettall will each do a pantomime . . . Triple Trios are scheduled for two songs . . . Barb Browne will be featured in a modern jazz dance . . . seniors Larry Livingston, Jeff Huntington and junior Jerry Fischer will form a clarinet trio . . . Dick Hubert will star in a comedy sketch.

The hula is Dotty Grabowski's line . . . Leslee Huxley will sing "Summertime" . . . Doug Le Grande on trumpet and Marcy Woolweaver on piano will accompany her . . . Dennis Simpson (again!) will twirl the baton . . . Judy Bradley will sing "I Didn't Know the Gun Was Loaded."

A senior English lit class was pouring over a John Keat's poem, below which was printed a comment by novelist F. Scott Fitzgerald. It seemed he couldn't get through the piece without tears coming to his eyes. The class, having difficulty appreciating the poem, just groaned. They groaned even louder a minute later when Jeff Huntington commented that the poem which tearful Fitzgerald was reading probably was printed on onion skin paper . . .

Selling House is Experience Few Home-Owners Escape

By GEORGE ADAMS
Selling a house is an experience that few home-owners escape. When the need arises, you may be one of the lucky ones who sell within a month or the other hand, it may drag out for a year or more. It depends on a number of things. When the decision to sell its home has been made by a family, a number of other decisions will have to be made almost immediately. One of the first is whether to place the house in the hands of a licensed real estate agent or try to sell it yourself. There are pitfalls in either method. It may seem as though you could do all of the things that a real estate agent does—put up a "For Sale" sign some place on the property, run a few ads in the local weekly paper and possibly also the nearest metropolitan daily, and pass the word around town.

In spite of delays, disappointments and inconvenience, your house will sell, if only because every house does these days. One deterrent can be the price you set on your house and property, since all of us tend to value a place more highly than the current market value. Here again the real estate agent's advice is worthwhile. If you are selling it on your own, discuss a price range with the bank or agency that holds your mortgage.

Built-In Appliances Revolutionize Kitchens

Two major factors, the introduction of built-in appliances and the trend to factory-engineered wood cabinets, are working hand-in-hand to revolutionize kitchen efficiency and appearance, kitchen specialists report.

Conveniences, such as easy working heights and flexibility of arrangement to fit individual needs have contributed much to the acceptance of built-ins, the experts say. At the same time, they acknowledge that appearance is an important consideration in the trend.

The first built-in electric ovens and range tops were introduced just before World War II. By 1954, yearly sales were 58,000 units. In the month of June alone in the past year, industry sales were 74,400, an increase of 40 per cent over a year earlier. Total built-in electric range sales for 1959 totaled around 600,000, and this figure is expected to double by 1963.

Gas built-in ranges are following a similar pattern, with June, 1959, sales of 36,100 reflecting a 62 per cent increase over June, 1958. Sales of dishwashers rose 44 per cent in the same period; garbage disposers were up five per cent.

Freezers and refrigerators are the newest entries in the field of major built-ins. The production of these units is still relatively small, but the field is a growing one.

Other appliances frequently being built in include washers and dryers and countertop food centers with a single motor for several appliance attachments.

More than 50 producers are currently turning out various built-in appliances. They come in many sizes and designs, and wood kitchen cabinets are factory-produced in stock sizes to fit the majority of them. If an exact fit is not available for a specific appliance, a stock wood cabinet can be altered on the job.

If you're acting as your own agent, people will come and look providing they find out your house is for sale. But a surprising percentage of people whom you may consider prospects will be just looking without any serious intention of buying yours or any other house.

The real estate agent may bring fewer prospects to look over your house. All of them, in his judgment, will be serious, for he has screened out the merely curious and the ones whose price bracket doesn't fit your property.

Acting as your own agent may seem to be a better and perhaps quicker way to sell on the basis of price. The reasoning usually goes like this: by saving the broker's commission, you will be able to offer the property for a lower purchase price.

However, the real estate agent may make a quicker sale, because he is more skilled at the job. There are many reasons why your most enthusiastic prospect may not be the actual purchaser. He may have to dispose of a house before he has the cash to negotiate for another one or he may be unable to obtain mortgage money.

With or without an agent, decide which appliances you are willing to sell with the house. Stove and refrigerator are usually decided upon between buyer and seller. Remember not to promise a favorite rosebush or shrub to a neighbor, for plants are part of the property and should not be removed. The date of moving out and in also is by agreement but usually the seller's prerogative.

Real estate agents may request the exclusive right to offer your home for sale or be willing to have other licensed agents offer it simultaneously. In either case, a standard contract is wise.

The ordeal of selling arises from the necessity of having the house ready to show at all times. Here again an agent can be helpful, for it may be possible to arrange with him that you need not be available to show the house except during certain hours or certain days of the week.

PHOTOGRAPHY FOR THE AMATEUR

By William H. Schleisner

When photography was young, pictures had to be taken with a natural light. Then, as artificial light became practical for the exposure of film, photographers utilized each new invention, as it came along, in order to obtain better lighted pictures.

Eventually, amateur as well as professional photographers found themselves overburdened with lights and equipment for using them. As a result, many pictures were overlighted and overdramatized with far too many shadows, more than were desirable for the finished print.

short exposures can be made because of fast films. Careful placement of the camera also helps, that is, see that light comes into the room from the side or back of the camera, and expose only at the time of day when sunlight does not come into the camera. The high windows in many modern homes are another advantage since they make possible more brief exposures.

Natural light has two great advantages for picture taking. It creates no unnatural shadows and so all of the architectural details stand out in their proper depth. Secondly, it creates no false shadows that may alter or change the aspect of the interior.

There are times and places when some artificial light can be helpful and result in better pictures. But when natural light is available, see how much can be done with it.

To eliminate the familiar wintertime clutter and mess of children's mittens and gloves, Mitt-Rak, Royal Oak, Mich., offers a rustproof rack to hang on halls or closet door.

at left illustrates direct-lighting, where the flash gun is still attached to the camera. Nancy's shadow, a harsh solid black outline, is cast almost directly behind her on the wall. This direct flash often burns out facial details. In the second photo, with the flash detached and held high above the camera on an expansion coil cord, the shadow falls below and behind the subject. With an elevated flash, such as this, more normal face tones generally result. In the third photo from left, the flash was bounced off the ceiling thus lending soft skin tones to the face and eliminating the harsh shadow behind the subject. The fourth photo, shown here only for further illustration, was taken by existing light with a time exposure. The first two photos were taken at 1-100th of a second at f-32. The third was taken at 1-100th at f-8. The natural light photo was exposed for four seconds at f-8. All four negatives were developed together for four minutes in DK-60a Kodak developer and were printed on Medalist F-2 glossy paper. The camera used was The Mail's 4" x 5" Crown Graphic press camera with an f:4.7 Ektar lens.

Electronic 'Chauffeur' May Guide Our Future Autos on Turnpike

An automatic highway of the future — offering virtually fulltime electronic chauffeur service—has been developed by General Motors Research Laboratories.

Adapted to Chicago-to-New York toll roads,

DR. L. E. REHNER, Optometrist
843 Penniman, First Federal Bldg., Plymouth GL 3-2054
Hours: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday — 1 to 9 p.m.
Wednesday, Friday, Saturday — 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

for example, a driver would scarcely have to touch the steering wheel, accelerator or brake until he reached the Lincoln Tunnel cutoff into Manhattan, except for fuel and rest stops.

Called Auto-Control, the device takes over steering, speed control and obstacle detection. "Automatic vehicle control is progressing from the dream stage," said Dr. Lawrence R. Hafstad, of GM Research Laboratories. "The techniques and knowledge are presently available.

Auto-Control is the latest in GM's quest for even safer, more enjoyable and more economical motoring. It follows GM's space age inspired Firebird III, a highly styled gas turbine car, and GM's recently announced Hy-com (highway communicator) which automatically radios vocal information or trouble ahead warnings from roadside to driver, either through the car radio or a separate receiver.

One recently-developed auto already has automatic steering, which could be adapted to an Auto-Control highway, plus Unicontrol, a single "stick" for manually steering, accelerating or braking the car when it travels over present day roads.

Thus, Auto-Control represents further refinements—in miniature—of electronics. In addition to automatic steering, a sensing device speeds up or slows down cars automatically, depending on traffic or obstacles ahead. Also provided are warning lights for manually guided cars whose drivers might use the Four miniature buses, complete with lights, would warn that an Auto-Control car is nearby in the automatic lane.

The system developed is a 1/40th scale model simulating a four-lane divided highway. Four miniature buses, controlled by electrical signals from the road, roll around the 20 by 30 foot oval highway at either of two pre-determined speeds that are equivalent to 30 and 60 mph on a full-size highway. All electronic units in the 11-inch long buses are full scale, as well as the master control units.

"Auto-Control, or some other concept of automatic vehicle control, would have its principal applications on turnpikes or other types of limited access highways outside urban or metropolitan areas," Dr. Hafstad stated.

He pointed out that motor travel in the past 10 years has virtually doubled and greater traffic volume can be expected as population increases. Therefore, he said, efficiency of road systems may have to be increased. This may require new guidance and control concepts, such as Auto-Control, built into tomorrow's highways.

FASCINATING FACTS ABOUT NATURAL GAS

A Product of Mother Nature

The scientific explanation for the origin of Natural Gas is unknown—but everyone knows Mother Nature produced it. One theory is that over a period of millions of years, Plankton (primitive sea life) was distilled into Natural GAS by extreme heat and pressure and Mother Nature covered and protected it with layers of rock.

A Benefit to Man

Man reaps increasing benefits from Natural GAS—it is a superb fuel. It is also a rich mixture of hydrocarbons used as raw materials in the manufacture of plastics, fertilizers, etc. It is ideal for processing glass, metals, food — because of its cleanliness, controlled heat and economy.

It is America's favorite fuel for home heating. Seven out of ten new homes built today use Natural GAS for heating. Consumers Power Company is rendering greater service to more and more GAS customers every year.

GET THE FACTS — BETTER YET — GET GAS!

WHAT'S NEW

The new eight-inch siding, available with a lucite acrylic finish, incorporates both mass and reflective insulation as an integral part of the product. It is said to reduce annual home heating bills by as much as 33 per cent and to eliminate home painting bills for many years as well as reduce other maintenance expenses. Available in five colors; to cover any type of surface.

County Health Dept. Outlines Rules for Hometown Bake Sale

A policy concerning the sale and serving of baked foods to the public has been established by the Wayne County Health Department. The sale of baked foods by charitable organizations may continue if there is no violation of state laws. Only the sale of dry products such as cookies, bread doughnuts and the like made in private homes may be offered for sale.

Baked products that are considered moist products made in a licensed kitchen of a school, church or caterer, may be sold, displayed either wrapped or kept under cover. Custard and cream filled products must be stored under a cover and below 50 degrees F. All persons serving such products must have a food service card that is current.

Some precautions that all persons preparing and serving food must take are:

1. Wash hands thoroughly before preparing or serving food, after leaving the toilet, and whenever hands are soiled.
2. Protect food from coughs and sneezes.
3. Protect hair from falling into foods by wearing a hairnet for women and a cap for men.
4. No person with a cut or open lesion on hands or arms should serve food. No bandage or bandaid is ever permitted to be worn by food service personnel, and such persons are to be excluded from food service areas.
5. There must be proper refrigeration for all perishable foods.
6. Buy only inspected milk, milk products, shell fish and meat. Use only safe drinking water.

Good Driving Starts To Pay Off for State Drivers

In Michigan good driving practices are beginning to pay off. The Department of State is called upon by increasingly large numbers of insurance companies to help them give violation-free drivers a lower automobile insurance rate.

For a small statutory fee, Departmental personnel check thousands of driving records of applicants who are seeking special reduced rate coverage.

Last July, Secretary of State James M. Hare met representatives of 60 insurance companies to discuss with them the possibility of adopting in Michigan a California plan of giving drivers reduced car insurance premiums as a reward for operating their vehicles without accidents or moving traffic violations.

Since then, Hare's plan for widening and accelerating the Department's "look-up" service for forward-looking insurance companies has grown rapidly as more and more companies have announced and widely advertised their lower rates for violation-free drivers.

During the last month particularly, the Department's look-up business has zoomed upwards as still more insurance companies switched over to their "give good drivers a break" policy.

"In December, 1959," Hare said, "we took in $17,554.30 from this source compared to $3,254.55 in December, 1958, an increase of well over 500 percent."

During the last half of 1959, the Department transacted $50,265.50 worth of "look-up" business compared with $19,104.35 in the last six months of 1958.

The total number of look-ups for this half year period rose almost 30 percent, from 63,681 in 1958 to 167,551 in 1959.

In announcing this rapid rise in "look-ups," Hare said, "As Chairman of the State Safety Commission I welcome this growing movement because it gives circumspect, conscientious and courteous drivers a kind of recognition which we have heretofore been unable to give them. The careful driver now knows not only that the 'life he saves' may be his own, but that the dollar he saves his insurance company can come back to him as an insurance dividend."

Hare pointed out that the number of vehicle operators' records in Michigan is nearly the four million mark. In addition to the responsibility for keeping accurate and complete records for the nine point and 12 point driver improvement programs, the State Department now has the further responsibility for providing accurate records for this cash-saving, safety-inducing program as well.

"As you know," Hare added, "we operate this record unit as a vivarium. We give everyone who can pay for the 'look-up' a copy of the record as part of our 'right to know' policy even though we can't let the public wander at will around our data-vivarium with its 3,800,000 individual items."

Legion Calls Meeting To Organize Little League Baseball Here

Little League Baseball is coming to Plymouth and the Passage-Gayde Post of the American Legion, organizers of the proposed league, is calling a meeting Tuesday, March 1 of all interested organizations.

The league will start with eight teams, one from each grade school district, according to Legion Commander Donald Kinghorn.

This is the first time that a Little League group has been formed in Plymouth. Because of the scope of the undertaking, the Legion wants to place the plan on a "community basis."

"All service clubs are being contacted to help put the idea across the first year," Kinghorn asserted.

"By information received from the surrounding towns having the Little League in operation, we find that after the first year the Little League is self-supporting," he added.

The project will involve about 250 boys who will be actively engaged in playing league ball and another 250 in a farm system. The league would be affiliated with national Little League headquarters in Pennsylvania.

The next meeting for all interested organizations and citizens in the Junior High School all-purpose room on March 1, starting at 7:30 p.m. Bud Abbott of Ypsilanti, state representative of the Little League headquarters, will be present to answer any questions that may arise.

"We strongly urge that a representative of your organization be present so that the idea may be placed before the Youth Activity Committee of your club," Commander Kinghorn concluded.

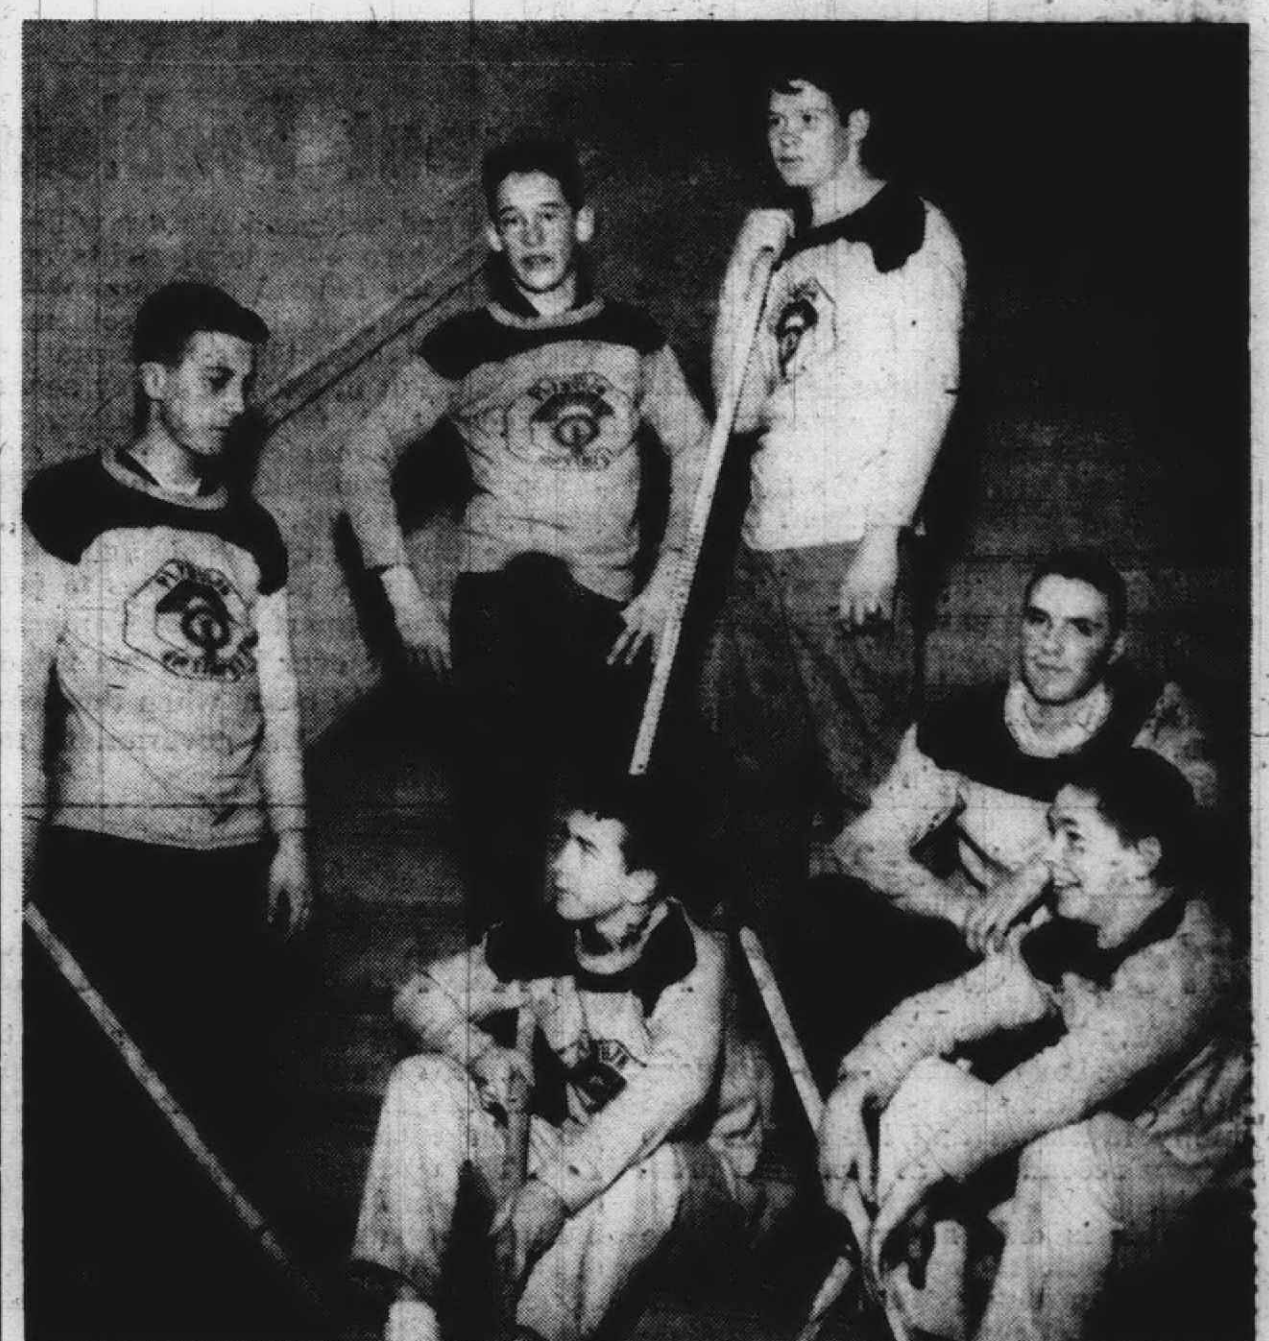

Plymouth swimmers are within sight of an unbeaten dual meet season this week, with only Belleville to beat tomorrow.

The Rocks will go to the neighboring community tomorrow with the secure knowledge that they have already beaten Belleville once this season 69-27. In addition they have a string of 13 wins and no losses to take into the Belleville tank.

Last week Plymouth beat Fordson 69-27 in a non-league encounter and two days later closed the home season with a 67-29 victory over Allen Park. Plymouth has a long shot sewed up the Suburban Six swimming championship.

In the Fordson meet the Rocks took eight firsts. Firsts were won by: Jim Carney, 50 yard freestyle; Dick Gretzinger, 100 yard butterfly; Ron Daley, 200 yard freestyle; Al Davies, 100 yard backstroke; Jim Carney, 100 yard freestyle; Dick Gretzinger, 200 yard individual medley and the 200 yard medley and 200 yard freestyle relay teams. The relay teams are composed of Davies, Williams, Toll and Daley and Curtis, Smith, Izell, and Losse.

Against Allen Park Plymouth also took eight firsts. In this meet the following swimmers took firsts for Plymouth: Dick Gretzinger, 100 yard butterfly; Bob Daley, 200 yard freestyle; Al Davies, 100 yard backstroke; Don Williams, 100 yard breaststroke; Jim Carney, 100 yard freestyle; Nick Herrick, diving; Dick Gretzinger, 200 yard individual medley; and the 200 yard freestyle relay team composed of Smith, Helm, Balfour and Carney.

ANOTHER TEAM of the 18-and-under league is the Plymouth Optimist Hawks. They finished second in the four-team league at Wayne, and are now playing in a league at Inkster.

Egloff Earns Seventeen, Allen Park Falls, 55-45

Plymouth pulled even for the season last Friday at Allen Park, 55-45. Coach Jim Doyle's cagers need another victory in the final contest of the season this Friday against Belleville at home to insure a better than even break for the regular season play.

Plymouth has won six and lost six overall and holds a four-five record in Suburban Six competition. A win over Belleville would also provide the Rocks with an even break in Suburban Six competition.

In Friday's battle with Allen Park Plymouth led all the way but wasn't able to open up until the final period. The Rocks lead 12-10 at the quarter and 27-24 at the half. At the beginning of the fourth quarter the Rocks held a slim 40-35 point lead, but quickly pushed to a 13 point margin and rolled home with a 55-45 win.

Dart Gets 14; JVs Win

Plymouth's junior varsity basketball team matched the varsity performance at Allen Park last Friday with a 51-39 win.

Nine players figured in the scoring for the Rock JVs as Jim Dart (14) and Art Nelson (10) hit double figures. Dan Stremlick contributed nine points.

Plymouth led all the way after piling up a 13-8 first quarter margin. The Rocks moved to a 34-16 half-time score, but faltered a little in the third quarter as Allen Park edged closer 38-24.

Sealed Beam Headlights Insure Maximum Safety

By DAVID ALLEN

"The 'sealed beam' headlights on the modern cars have been designed to insure maximum safety and comfort for night driving. However, to be safe, the driver must be willing to use these headlights in the manner intended.

vertical measurement from the center of the headlight lens to the ground on both sides. Next measure the distance between the two lenses.

Then, put these two measurements on the blank wall. The point where the vertical line crosses the horizontal line is the point of headlight adjustment.

There is nothing worse to a night driver than to be blinded by the headlights of an oncoming car, coming toward him or driving too close behind him. The other driver may have forgotten to lower his headlight beam to the road, or else his lights need adjusting.

A few young drivers have been known to purposely "blind" the other driver just to see what happens. A serious accident can result and anyone caught doing this is liable to arrest. A driver of any age is sometimes guilty of driving too close behind a car—such a driver should have better sense.

The upper beam of the headlight is used out on the open road, especially where there are no street lights. The driver can switch quickly from upper to lower beam by depressing a button on the floorboard near the left door. A red light on the instrument panel indicates that the upper beam is on.

When a headlight is burned out, the whole unit is easily replaced at a service station. Or, the young driver can purchase a new "sealed beam" at an auto supply store and insert it in the headlight case himself. A new bulb is all that must be replaced in the small parking, back-up or license plate lights.

There are times when a headlight will need a little adjusting. This is not a difficult project for a handy young man. All that is needed is an even stretch of driveway and blank wall on which to shine the lights.

An exact horizontal and vertical position of the headlights is the purpose of the adjustment. First, take the

George Had Different Problem

When George Washington was President he had a problem that he wouldn't have today. He headed a group of states and citizens who were so independent they were downright unruly.

those rugged independents are willing enough to turn over local rights and powers to the federal government—if it will take over their local problems.

Washington and several of his successors had to work long and hard to persuade those early Americans to give up a few local rights and powers in order to strengthen the infant nation.

Washington's problem was to get the people to support the government. We doubt if it ever crossed his mind that a day might come when the people would expect the government to support them.

How's Business?

Steel Caused Market Shake-Up

The sharp January-into-February stock market shake-out has caused many investors and businessmen to take a second look at economic prospects.

capacity rates within a few short weeks. This enabled business to score one of the sharpest month-to-month gains in history during December 1959.

This is only natural, since the sudden shift in sentiment was triggered by a toning down of previously lofty projections for two key industries—steel and autos.

It thus appears that the maximum demand for steel may have been seen. Except for the usual summer letdown, however, the industry should be able to sustain activity at a sufficiently high level to bolster general business, aided by at least a mild uplift in demand for inventory accumulations in anticipation of higher prices later on.

Because of the vital importance of steel products in an industrial economy, this industry has long been regarded as a bellwether of economic conditions.

Earningswise, steel companies should profit from the high level of production. The industry should also continue to reap the benefits of its vast modernization and cost-control programs of recent years.

Post-strike resumption of steel output saw production soar to near-

The family of the world famous Marc Antony believed that their gens was descended, and had their name from Anton, a son of Hercules. Marc Antony loved to think himself the distant progeny of the fabulous hero.

In his "Antony and Cleopatra" Shakespeare set them an undying memento. He closely followed their story written by Plutarch, the Greek biographer who lived about three generations after the event.

Roman politician and soldier, a contemporary of Julius Caesar at whose funeral he made an eloquent oration, Marc Antony was a man in whose character the great and the ignoble was about equally mixed.

For all the renown of Marc Antony, the name "Antony" became widely used not for him but for two saints. St. Antony, called the Great, or the Hermit, was a 3rd century Egyptian ascetic; he gave away his worldly possessions, retired to the desert, and led a life of self-denial, often sorely tempted by the Evil one.

Antony ended his life by falling on his

'Economy' Is the Word

LANSING — Economy is the watchword of the 1960 legislative session. Both sides say it is needed. The question is where and how much. Two senators showed where $43,800,000 could be saved by a "drastic pruning program." Governor Williams said the program — advanced, but not advocated, by Republicans Clyde Geerlings of Holland and Lynn O. Francis of Midland — was too drastic. The senators themselves said it might be too drastic. Less dramatic was the economy program outlined by Williams in his budget message. Under Williams' economy program, the state would have to spend money to save money.

The governor asked for $75,000 for a study on a system which he said electronic data processing would ultimately produce savings of at least $250,000 annually; $364,311 to convert a soap factory at the Ionia Reformatory into a central laundry for other institutions at an annual saving of $50,000; and $600,000 for mental health research which would reduce the necessary hospital beds and patient population.

'Lansing Observer'

GOP Columnist Rips Into Taxes, Democrats

(Editor's Note: The author of the following is employed by Republicans to write a weekly column. We print it when it is of general interest.) By FRANK G. MORRIS

Lansing — Two developments last week, one of them ignored by the daily newspapers, emphasized the extent of the revolution under way in Michigan.

Party, has published its legislative program based upon a radical shift of more taxes to industry. That program would be enacted without delay.

The first was a secret meeting of the Democratic members of the boards that control the three state universities and five colleges, with all Republican members of these boards excluded.

If Democrats win control of the House, and Republicans remain in power in the Senate, the state's health will continue to decline because of an impossible deadlock.

The automobile companies hesitated to reveal details because, at the start of the exodus, they were accused of "smeared Michigan" whenever they attempted to tell the truth.

But William C. Newberg, executive vice president of Chrysler, abandoned all defensive double-talk last week when he told the suburban Rotary Clubs of Detroit that his company will not guarantee to stay in Michigan.

The warning was publicized in harrowing headlines by many of the newspapers that ridiculed and sneered at Republican State Senators during most of 1959 for their unyielding stand against new corporation taxes.

Newberg said with emphasis: Chrysler's future here is going to be determined in part by the kind of business climate that metropolitan Detroit and the State of Michigan provide.

The GOP Senators pleaded for support on grounds that they were fighting to prevent an industrial catastrophe in Michigan, they were called nincompoops. Yet they stood firmly against pressure from all sides, even from some of the leaders of their own party.

Tax reform is essential to the growth and well being of this state. There is plenty of evidence that our present tax system is in serious need of legislative correction.

No one seemed to care when they pointed out that the Ford Motor Co. was building new plants in Ohio and would make all of its compact cars — and a big percentage control on the Democratic

Just as Williams says Republicans go too far in economy plans, Republicans say Williams doesn't go far enough.

Streamlining of government through a series of agency mergers is one way Williams would economize.

Insurance Commissioner Frank Blackford, who headed the advisory committee that made the reorganization recommendations, said the Insurance Department, Banking Department, and Corporation and Securities Commission should be consolidated into one department.

Blackford could be in line to head the new department. Banking Commissioner Alonzo L. Wilson plans to resign early this year.
