

Entrance To School 'Blended'

A change in the outward appearance of the stair tower that will be constructed this summer on the front of Plymouth High School was approved by the Board of Education at its meeting Monday night.

Architect Byron Becker presented a new sketch to the Board that will make the three-story addition harmonize more closely with the present building.

The Board also approved several other changes in the High School reconstruction program that will increase the estimated cost from $94,750 to $111,600.

The present central stairway will be removed and the space on the first floor will be devoted to book store and storage area. On the second floor, the vacated stairwell will become additional classroom space, while the third floor area will be turned into a teachers' lounge for women.

Abandonment of the central stairway and building an outside stair tower has come at the request of the State Fire Marshal's Office. Included in the plan of the new stair tower is enlargement of the principal's and assistant principal's offices on both sides of the main entrance. The offices will be extended six feet.

Theatre Owner Harry R. Lush Dies in West

Harry R. Lush, owner of the Penn Theatre and associated with the theatre business in Plymouth since 1921, died at LaJolla, Calif. Monday morning at the age of 69.

Coming to Plymouth in 1919, Mr. Lush leased the three-year-old Penniman-Allen Theatre in July 1921 from Kate Allen. In 1941 he built and opened the Penn Theatre and five years ago sold the Penniman-Allen.

When the Penn was opened, Mr. Lush decided to offer only first-run movies and as single features. The policy has persisted, and the Penn is among the few theaters that consistently runs single features.

A native of Iowa, Mr. Lush was a member of the Variety Club, the Allied Theaters of Michigan, Detroit Power Squad, the Northville Commandry of Knights Templar and Plymouth Rock Lodge, F & AM.

Mr. Lush moved from Plymouth to Aguana, Calif. in San Diego County 10 years ago. He is survived by his wife, Charlotte.

Private funeral services will be held today (Wednesday) at the LaJolla Mortuary. Entombment is in Cypress View Mausoleum. Donations to the Cancer Fund are being accepted in lieu of flowers.

Poll Transients Thursday Night

Census Takers on March Friday

The 1960 Census of Population and Housing, the nation's 18th decennial rose count, gets underway on Friday morning, April 1, with 160,000 census takers starting their rounds which will take them to every dwelling unit in the United States.

In covering the 3 1/2 million square miles of land area of the 50 states, the census takers will travel an estimated combined distance of more than 1,000 times around the world, or approximately 28 million miles.

District Supervisor, Jack H. McDonald pointed out that residents of this area can speed up the big count by having their Advance Report Forms filled out and ready for the census takers. This action will save time for both the householder and the census taker, the census official said.

Plymouth area census takers are in the midst of their schooling this week. Meeting Monday, Tuesday and today at the Plymouth Township Hall, the enumerators are receiving classroom training on how to properly ask questions, use of the census questionnaire definitions and map reading.

The group led by Mrs. Jessie Latter that will cover Plymouth and Northville Townships and Northville city meets each morning.

The eight city enumerators led by Mrs. Irene Berridge meet in the afternoons.

The Advance Report Form was distributed to local households prior to the start of the house-to-house canvass. It contains the seven population and six housing questions which are asked of all persons. The Advance Report form gives the family a chance to assemble information about each member in advance of the census taker's visit. Its use is expected to speed up the field canvass and provide more accurate statistics.

At every fourth household, the census taker will leave a Census Household questionnaire which contains additional questions covering population and housing characteristics which are being asked of a 25 percent sample of the population. Householders are requested to fill out the household questionnaire and mail it within three days to the local census district office. A pre-addressed postage free envelope is being provided for this purpose.

McDonald emphasized that all information about individuals and their homes furnished to the Census Bureau is held in absolute confidence under Federal law. It is used only to provide summary figures such as totals, averages, and percentages. The information about individuals cannot be examined by any one other than Census employees who are sworn to secrecy, and thus cannot be used for investigation, taxation or regulation.

Householders will not have any difficulty identifying the takers of the 1960 Census of Population and Housing when they start on their rounds April 1, McDonald pointed out.

Each Census taker will be provided with a red, white, and blue identification card to be worn on the lapel. This card bears the seal of the Department of Commerce and the words "Census of the United States, 1960." (Continued on page 8)

THERE ARE many historical items waiting for a home in Plymouth, such as this 1639 Bible being held by Karl Starkweather and shown to Mrs. Ada Murray. The Plymouth Historical Society is launching a drive to establish a historical museum.

Wanted: Place For Historical Museum Display

With untold numbers of historical items leaving Plymouth each year, the Plymouth Historical Society is making an all-out effort during 1960 to gain interest in a museum for the community.

Establishment of a museum has been the primary aim of the Historical Society since its founding.

The Society has several hundred items which are catalogued and ready to be moved into a museum—but more significant, there are hundreds of other items that people own who would gladly turn them over to the Historical Society if there was a museum.

Ernest Henry, president of the society, points out that every year of delay means that more and more items of historical value slip away. "The old folks who own these things die and they pass onto their children or grandchildren who live out of town. Most of these items have no significance to the children, and finally they are lost."

There are many documents dealing with early Plymouth, letters and papers, for instance. There are also early photographs. (Continued on page 8)

Sunday's Concert Most Difficult Ever Attempted

The most difficult and ambitious concerts ever attempted by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will be heard this Sunday afternoon when 100 musicians and 150 vocalists combine their talents to present Beethoven's Symphony No. 9 in D Minor.

Three choral groups have been enlisted for the concert that begins at 4 p.m. in the High School Gymnasium. Singing with the Symphony will be the Westminster Presbyterian Church Choir of Detroit, the Saginaw Choral Society and the Plymouth Civic Chorus.

In addition, there will be four widely-known soloists: Deanne Taylor, soprano; Rosemary Murch, mezzo soprano; Richard Miller, tenor; and Nat Sibbold, baritone.

Sung in English, Beethoven's Symphony No. 9 is considered the "ultimate" in symphonic works and is seldom attempted by small musical groups because it is so difficult.

The 150 vocalists will be placed on risers behind the 100-piece Symphony for Sunday's performance. The entire group will be directed by Conductor Wayne Dunlap.

This will be the last concert of the regular concert season. As usual, the concert is open to the public without charge.

Soloists Deanne Taylor and Rosemary Murch are both professional singers in the Detroit area. Richard Miller is an assistant professor of voice at the University of Michigan, while Nat Sibbold, a Plymouth resident, has had broad professional experience and is a favorite among local music lovers.

There will be but two selections on the program. The first will be Tragic Overture Op. 81, by Brahms. This will be followed by Symphony No. 9. There will be no intermission.

No other symphony took so long to create as Beethoven's Symphony No. 9. It is Schiller's "Ode to Joy" set to music which reflects the theme of "brotherhood of mankind." It has been acclaimed by many to be the highest development of symphonic work.

Reason for Fatal Accident Baffling

Car Rams Hotel Killing Driver

Plymouth city's first traffic fatality in three years—one in which a car ramed the Hotel Mayflower—has turned into a mystery that may never be solved.

Dead is Herbert W. Olson, 25-year-old Plymouthite and an employee of Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

Driving south on Main St., Olson's car first struck a street lamp pole located on the east side of the hotel, police said. The car was then backed up across the Ann Arbor Trail intersection and into Kellogg Park, a distance of 210 feet.

Giving the car the gas, Olson drove it forward into the front of the hotel, hitting the brick wall just below the main window of Carl Caplin Clothes.

The driver, suffering multiple injuries of the head and internally, was rushed to Wayne County General Hospital where he died.

The Medical Examiner's office said Tuesday that an autopsy showed that the victim died of "shock and hemorrhage following a fracture of the skull."

One of the witnesses, Jack Hadley, said that he was inside the Plymouth Cab Co. office when he heard a crash. He looked out and saw the car backing up across the intersection. It went up over a curb and knocked down a parking meter.

"He stopped, hesitated a second or two and then took off out of the park at a high rate of speed," Hadley related.

The front of the car was smashed flat. The show window of the store was broken and several bricks cracked. Olson, who was not married but was engaged to a Plymouth girl, was driving a 1957 Oldsmobile.

Police Chief Kenneth Fisher said that there is no evidence leading to a reason why the crash occurred.

This was the first traffic fatality in Plymouth since Jan. 19, 1957 when a driver was killed when hit by a train at the Holbrook Ave. crossing.

Just last Monday night the police department was presented with the Walker Safety award for promoting highway safety.

New Type Telephone Book Arrives Soon

Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced today Plymouth telephone users will receive their new "area" White Pages directories beginning April 4.

These enlarged directories consist of a single alphabetical list of more than 182,000 telephone users living here and in some 20 surrounding communities.

The 13 exchanges to be found in the new White Pages serving those 21 communities are: Belleville, Farmington, Flat Rock, Livonia, New Boston, Northville, Plymouth, Rockwood, Romulus, Trenton, Wayne, Wyandotte, and Ypsilanti.

"Michigan Bell's objective is to make it easier for people to talk with anybody they want, wherever they want, and with a minimum of delay," said William Dunn, manager here for the company. "Area directories, which arrange all their listings in alphabetical order in a single list, make it easier and quicker for customers to find the number they want," he said. "In the old book, customers sometimes had to look through several lists."

Boy Hit By Car, Shows Improvement

Showing improvement at St. Mary Hospital with a fractured skull is 9-year-old Tommy Owens of 765 Wing St. who was struck by a car last Friday night on Main St.

Tommy, a second grade pupil at Allen School, was going with a companion to a grocery store on the west side of Main St. at 7:35 p.m. when the accident occurred.

Police said that the driver of the car, Charles Whiteside, 36742 Angeline Ct., Livonia, was driving south on Main St. Whiteside said that the two boys dashed into the path of his car.

Tommy's mother, Mrs. Bessie Owens, said that her son fell. She said that x-rays will be taken to determine if there are further head injuries. Tommy told his mother that the car "came from nowhere."

Another accident took place at 7:45 a.m. Sunday when Thomas Coffey of Ann Arbor apparently fell asleep and drove his car into the path of an oncoming car driven by Anthony Signorilli, 175 Amelia. Coffey, who admitted that he must have fallen asleep, was ticketed for reckless driving. Coffey received injuries.

Spring Buying Suggestions Found Inside

Alas, it was a tough fight, but it looks like Spring has finally won out.

And helping Plymouthites celebrate the arrival of Spring and the Easter season are the local merchants. Found inside this issue are advertisements loaded with buying suggestions.

ONE OF FOUR dispensing units that will drop Calgon into the city's water supply is being examined by DPW Supt. Joseph Bida. The additive is tasteless and harmless to the body but is expected to clear the city water system from iron rust. The process will start Friday and water users are being warned in advance to expect large quantities of rusty water.

Brace Yourself for Rusty Water

With hopes of eventually wiping out all deposits of iron in the City's water supply, an additive will be introduced into the system starting this Friday—and users are being warned to expect the worst.

"Maybe nothing will happen, and then again, maybe there will be all kinds of trouble," Department of Public Works Superintendent Joseph Bida said this week as machinery was being installed at the City's wells.

Four chemical dispensing machines that will introduce the commercial product known as Calgon to the water are being installed next to the pumps at the wells.

The Calgon suspends the rust particles in solution so that no more will accumulate on the sides of pipes. At the same time, rust that has already built up on the sides of the mains and pipes will be broken off and eventually carried through.

It is the breaking off of accumulated particles that is expected to cause the trouble.

The City is sending out letters to all its users telling them to expect rusty water.

The Calgon, which is introduced by two parts per million parts of water, is tasteless and has no effect upon the body. Many communities in Michigan, such as Ann Arbor, Kalamazoo, Saginaw, Flint, Pontiac, Jackson, and Hillsdale have been using Calgon in their water systems.

Bida said that water hydrants will be flushed throughout the city in order to eliminate the rust and to break away the scale faster.

If the mains prove to be badly full of deposits, the noticeable rusty water may continue three weeks to a month.

The pipes won't be completely cleaned out, however, for several years. After that, the Calgon suspends new rust particles within the water and prohibits them from attaching themselves to the interior of the pipes.

Also affected by the Calgon, besides the city water mains, will be the water piping systems in homes and buildings.

Those having water softeners will have to keep a close watch on their units. Large quantities of (Continued on page 8)

Chamber Manager Millikin Resigns

The resignation of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce manager, Donald D. Millikin, was accepted by the Board of Directors who met in special session Monday morning.

Donald D. Millikin, manager of the Chamber since Feb. 15, 1959, in a letter to the president asked that his resignation take effect April 15. Basis for the resignation was grouped around some personal considerations relative to several possibilities in the field of Chamber management.

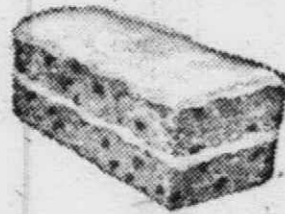

Millikin came to Plymouth after serving with the Dearborn Chamber of Commerce. Since that date the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce has seen changes in its name, dues structure, by-laws and accomplishments. The Board of Directors is planning to continue its programs and has taken steps to obtain a new manager as soon as a qualified executive can be selected.

Extension Group Hears Discussion On Decorating

"Your Home Should Look Like You" was one of several ideas discussed by Parkside Extension club leaders at the group's March 21 meeting at the home of Mrs. John Cumming, 9068 Rucker.

Mrs. John Adams and Mrs. Howard Hill discussed that particular subject.

New wall colors of the 1960's were also discussed. Newest color in furniture and accessories, according to club officials, is red, followed by green and violet. Literature on the subject was available to the group. It illustrated the current trends in colors, floor coverings and associated fixtures.

Refreshments were served. Buddhist priests have their last meal of the day at noon and do not touch food again until the following morning.

Exchange Student Compares Schools

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles written by Ursula Kell, a German exchange student attending Plymouth High School.

By URSULA KELL

"Oh, you don't have to worry about school when you are in America. They have clubs, dances and parties. At the end of each semester they have a final. Then everybody starts studying like mad. After that everything is over and they are ready for the old life again."

This is what I was told from different people before I came to America. This statement is not entirely true as I found out. Besides, our school system in Germany has some weaknesses also. But before I compare both of them let me tell you first how our schools in Germany are run.

As I understand, it is a duty for every child here to go to kindergarten before he starts going to grade school. This is not true in Germany. It is up to the parents if they want their child to go. When he is six years old, he starts going to gradeschool until fourth grade, that means until he is 10 years old. At this age a big decision has to be done. Does he continue with grade school, does he go to medium-school or to high school?

First, the teacher recommends the students who have the ability and want to go. If the student is above average he may try for high school. If he is not quite so good, he is recommended for medium-school. The examination for high-school and medium-school also takes, in general, one or two weeks. The classes consist of about 15 students and are supervised by several teachers. One, for example, observes the general behaviour and psychological things, another participation in the lesson, another one thinking ability, etc. Once in a while it happens, of course, that a teacher knows the parents of a child real well and sometimes such a child is accepted without having the ability. This is perhaps discouraging for some parents, but sooner or later he will be kicked out of school anyway, because if he flunks any course twice he has to leave school.

The same is happening in medium-school. Only in "Volksschule" you can stay, even if you flunk all the time. If you are an entirely hopeless case, the teacher may send you though to the so-called "helping school" with the approval of your parents.

Sometimes it might happen that a child doesn't learn very well when he is young, but may turn out to be bright later. Then he still has the possibility to try out from grade school for medium school, or from medium school for high school, if it is not too late. Therefore, not all chances are lost, if you don't pass the first examination in fourth grade.

Grade school education is finished with ninth grade. Years ago they did not offer any foreign language for grade school students. But now it happens quite often that there is one year of English or more. The main subjects are German and mathematics, history, physics, biology and geography. After the student gets out of grade school with 14 years he might go to trade-school for another two years, or he is going to work in a factory, or starts as an apprentice somewhere. They get money real soon. This is a reason why sometimes students who have a higher standard than grade school level don't have a higher school education. Either the parents cannot afford a longer education, because it means a loss of money, or the student himself wants to earn money as soon as possible.

The so-called "Mittelschule" medium school finishes with the 10th grade. You cannot choose your subjects, the same as in high school, and everybody has to take English. The "Mittelschule" emphasizes business preparation. Therefore you learn besides English and mathematics, etc., shorthand, typing and bookkeeping. After leaving "Mittelschule" the students start their vocation or go to a special school, preparing him also for his vocation.

"Gymnasium" or high school education requires 13 years of school, so you leave high school generally with 19 years. Of all the teenagers in Germany only about 18 percent go to high school. With 10 years, when the students are starting with high school they also start learning English.

After a final examination at the end of 12th grade he drops mathematics entirely and is able to spend all his time for languages, German, history, and minor subjects. A student choosing the science course drops one language and finishes after an examination on the other one. At the end of 12th grade there is also a decision between dropping music or arts. In order to graduate there is a final examination at the end of the 13th year which is written and oral. You have to answer before a committee consisting out of the teachers and the principal of the school and a representative of the government. This student is one of the worst in the life of a high school student.

This screening system in our school has some advantages: it is easier for the teacher when all students are about the same level, and not as it is sometimes in the American school that the teacher has to slow down, because of slower students. Therefore it is possible that more is covered in a shorter period of time and that the general level of the students is higher. One advantage in the American school is that the mixture of all kinds of students is possible.

Each year support of Plymouth's own worthwhile community efforts is limited by numerous campaigns for causes of every description.

Hardest hit is the business establishment which is viewed as an unlimited source of "good will funds" by every single solicitor.

Many Plymouth residents are inconvenienced, and often pay contributions to people who have no qualifications for support. Some programs never benefit Plymouth and other campaigns are often rackets.

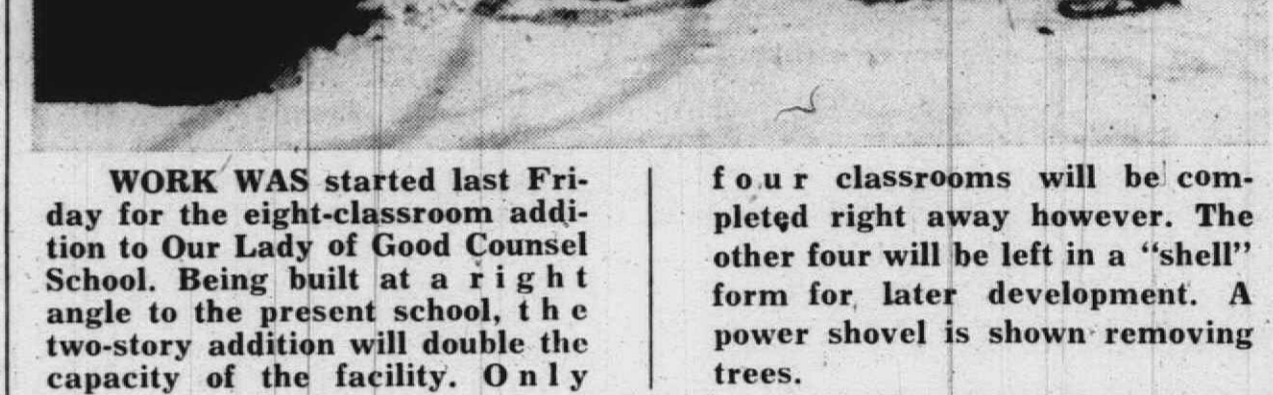

There is one sure way to tell.

All readers of this paper are urged to clip the following policy and post it at a spot near the front door of their homes as a guide to help all protect ourselves and the local efforts they really want to support.

This is the policy:

- Advertising in programs, newsletters etc. should be purchased on the advertising merit alone.
- Door prizes should be donated on their merits, if at all, and the retail value deducted for tax purposes.
- All organizations and peddlers must register at the Chamber in order to obtain approval to solicit from businessmen or homes. (local businessmen excepted).
- To qualify an organization must:
 - Headquarter in Plymouth community;
 - Benefit the community at large or engage in public or social welfare;
 - Not solicit for private profit;
 - Obtain permit from the local government clerk;
 - Not obtain benefits from community fund or other multi-purpose endeavors;
 - Register its agent as well as itself.
- Schools, churches, uniformed government employees, children under 14, welfare cases, handicapped or aged solicitors may not be granted approval.
- Telephone solicitors (except professional salesmen seeking appointments and who truthfully identify themselves) are discouraged.
- No organization soliciting for the blind will be approved except for Lion's International (Plymouth Club) and the State Division of Services for the Blind.
- Magazine solicitors regardless of origin or endorsement will not be approved.
- Itinerant photographers and those who solicit are denied.
- It is not the province of the Chamber of Commerce to approve lotteries or those activities deemed illegal.
- All solicitors must be volunteer and receive no remuneration.
- The committee members' identity is confidential. Its recommendations and policy must be approved by the Board of Directors.

WORK WAS started last Friday for the eight-classroom addition to Our Lady of Good Counsel School. Being built at a right angle to the present school, the two-story addition will double the capacity of the facility. Only four classrooms will be completed right away however. The other four will be left in a "shell" form for later development. A power shovel is shown removing trees.

graduated from high school, he is far ahead of an American high school graduate. On the other hand, the students are not so interested in affairs of the community, they are probably not so informed in things concerning democratic life.

There are some tendencies in Germany to take over parts of the American education, and on the other side in the U.S., European schools are often an example. But it is not possible to change the whole tradition and way of United States should mutually add useful ideas of each other, mix them with their own way of thinking, but still keep the individualism of their countries.

WATCH YOUR HEAD BAGHDAD (UPI)—Balloons which hang over Baghdad's narrow, winding Rashid Street may soon have to go.

Following a test on the city's main thoroughfare with newly purchased double-decker buses, transport officials pronounced everything all right except that some of the balconies are too low for the buses to pass under.

FALL ROSE-PLANTING NEWARK, N.Y. (UPI)—Roses planted in the fall will appear from 10 days to two weeks sooner than spring-planted bushes, according to experts of the Jackson & Perkins Co.

A dormant plant put in the ground in the fall will have the early winter to establish its root system and thus gets an earlier and stronger start in the spring, they explained.

ARCHITECT'S drawing shows the vaulted plywood cover for Saxton's new Garden Center. At right is the parking lot.

Saxton's Building New Covered Garden Center

A covered outdoor display area measuring 46 by 72 feet is being built by Saxton Farm and Garden Supply store on Ann Arbor Trail.

The vaulted plywood cover will be on the former parking lot site. A large area is being cleared west of this, including the removal of a home, to provide for a new 20-car parking lot.

With most homeowners now going into outdoor and patio living, the Garden Center will feature many supplies along this line. There will be barbecue supplies, power equipment, plant and lawn foods, peat moss, annual and perennial flowers, pottery and nursery stock.

The area will be fenced in and will be several steps down from the parking lot. A bath house will also be erected for plants requiring partial shading.

The building is expected to be up by April 15 and the parking lot ready by May 1. The firm of Gould, Moss and Joseph drafted the plans while Smith & Roux of Northville are contractors.

Dean Saxton started in the farm and garden supply business in Northville in 1928 and opened in Plymouth in 1934. He has been at the present location since 1937.

'Stolen' Plane Just a Mix-up By Co-owners

A private plane, said to have been stolen last Saturday from Mettetal Airport, Joy and Lilley Rds. here, was not stolen after all, explained airport owner Robert Mettetal Monday.

Instead, a mix-up between the plane's two owners led one partner to believe that the aircraft was missing.

In reality, the other partner had flown it away to a repair hangar near Monroe for a mechanical check-up.

Leo Skupin, of Redford Township, told Sheriff's detectives his four-passenger 1948 Cessna had been stolen sometime between March 10, when he had last seen it, and Saturday afternoon.

The plane, said Skupin, is valued at $3,200.

Skupin and his partner, William Finley, 9837 Woodring, Livonia, had been trying to sell the Cessna. Finley last week had taken a prospective buyer out to the airport to see the plane.

Then, in order to have the craft checked over, he flew it to a repair hangar near Monroe.

Shortly thereafter, Skupin learned the plane was not at Mettetal Airport, and believing it stolen, notified detectives.

The average time from one new moon to the next is 29 days, 12 hours, 44 minutes.

NO CURDLING

Dear Miss Louisa: I saw that you had a recipe for homemade mayonnaise in your column. This may prove a help to the people who make it and have it curdle. Take 2 tablespoons of mayonnaise, the kind that you buy in a jar, put it in a bowl and gradually add the mayonnaise that you are making and it will lose its curdled look. Then add more oil gradually. — Mrs. T. L.

Dear Mrs. T. L.: Thank you for this suggestion, so much easier than starting over with another egg, which will not always keep the mayonnaise from curdling.

A SPECIAL HOE

Dear Miss Louisa: When I was in England I bought a scuffle hoe which is very good for shallow surface cultivation. Why don't they sell them in this country? — B. T.

Dear Mr. B. T.: I know the type of hoe you mean. It is also called a Dutch hoe. This type of hoe is manufactured in the United States too. Ask your hardware man, if he has it. Sometimes, blade and handle are purchased separately and must be put together.

MAGNOLIA LEAVES

Dear Miss Louisa: How do you turn magnolia leaves brown so that they will last a long time? — Mrs. K. T. D.

Dear Mrs. K. T. D.: Branches from our beautiful southern magnolia tree can be kept indoors with their leaves either naturally green with brown on the undersides or all brown for months. To turn the magnolia leaves all brown, buy some glycerine from the drugstore, pour it into the bottom of a tall fruit-juice can. You won't need but enough to cover ends of branches. Make a fresh cut on the end of the magnolia stem and place the end in the glycerine. Keep in a cool place for several weeks and the leaves will become evenly brown and are most attractive in the house during the winter months. If you prefer to have the leaves stay green, place the branches in containers of water and drop in a few pieces of charcoal to keep the water sweet. Then all you have to do is to add water as it is needed.

WILD DUCKS

Dear Miss Louisa: How do you pick wild ducks? I live in an apartment and what a mess they make. — Mrs. J. L. F.

Dear Mrs. J. L. F.: I know what you mean about picking wild ducks. In most towns there are wholesale poultry houses that will pick them for a reasonable fee. A good way to do it at home is to melt paraffin in a bucket of hot water, dip the duck in the water and since the wax floats on top, a skim of wax will cling to the duck's feathers. Wrap the duck in a plastic bag, allow the wax to harden and the feathers and wax will come off together.

Theatre Guild Prepares For 'The Rainmaker'

On the nights of May 12, 13, and 14, hundreds of hours of hard work, conniving, frustration, and laughter will find its climax in "The Rainmaker." During the next seven weeks the set must be built, costumes assembled, props collected, publicity ground out, make-up designed, tickets sold, the cast rehearsed, and a thousand details completed.

Helen Fortney will portray "Lizzie" the warm and wonderful Kansas girl whose father is played by veteran actor Jerry Coslow.

"Lizzie's" brothers, "Jim" and "Noah" are in reality Bob Lucchetti and Nick Carpenter. A long time Plymouth favorite, C. V. Sparks, appears as the "Sheriff" who shares his duties and office with a newcomer, John Benzmler, the "Deputy."

The fantastic personality of "Bill Starbuck" will be filled by Ken Cook whose rich talent will be stretched to the extreme by the character believed by many to be the most unforgettable on the American stage.

Director Ray Wisniewski and producer Dick Knoph have the job of welding this group into what should be the most memorable play of the year, full of drama, comedy, love, violence, and tenderness. "Rainmaker" is a script that will tax the wide and deep talents of all the members of the Guild and leave ample room for anyone in the community who share with them the love of grease paint and bright lights.

Lee Huber Wins Science Fellowship

Lee M. Huber, a chemistry major at the University of Michigan, is one of 1,200 students from all parts of the U.S. and territories who have won National Science Foundation graduate fellowships.

Lee is the son of Mrs. M.J. Huber, 9429 S. Main St.

There were three of the fellowships awarded at the University of Michigan for the academic year 1960-61. Across the United States there were 4,696 applicants.

Applicants were required to take examinations for scientific aptitude and achievement. Test scores, academic record, and recommendations concerning each applicant's abilities were considered by panels of outstanding scientists. Selections were made by NSF.

The fellows, who may attend any appropriate non-profit American or foreign institution, will receive stipends for 12 months, allowances for dependents and tuition, and limited travel allowance. Stipends are $1,800 for first year graduate study, $2,000 for intermediate years, and $2,200 for the terminal year.

The NSF said the awards are made to encourage outstanding college students to obtain advanced training in the sciences on a full-time basis.

PHS Grad Named Co-Captain Of College Team

Byron Williams, a stand-out butterfly man on this year's freshman swimming team at Western Michigan University has been elected co-captain. Williams did a good job on the team and looks to be a good prospect for next year's varsity team.

Williams graduated from Plymouth High in 1959 where he competed on the swimming team four years, and was coached by John McFall, a graduate of Western Michigan University. Byron is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Williams of 650 Pacific.

Timothy Lutheran Church Opening Fund Campaign

The congregation of Timothy Lutheran Church, 8820 Wayne Road, Livonia - with Rev. Glenn Wegmeyer as pastor, is conducting a Stewardship Fund Raising Program for the purpose of securing additional funds for benevolent and debt liquidation and building purposes.

Due to the rapidly growing membership now numbering 277 confirmed and 525 baptized and the need for additional space for educational classes, a Building Committee has engaged the services of an architect and tentative plans have been presented and are now under study. The present Sunday School building, built in 1927, is in need of repair and the new building will be completed first and will also determine the starting date.

Timothy Lutheran, organized in 1957, is a member of the American Lutheran Church with headquarters in Columbus, O., is now in the process of merging its 2,000 churches with the 2700 churches of the Evangelical Lutheran Churches and 2,200,000 members will be known as The American Lutheran Church and will have its headquarters in Minneapolis, Minnesota and regional offices in Chicago, Dallas, San Francisco, Washington D. C. and Saskatoon, Canada.

The members and friends of Timothy Lutheran will gather together on Friday evening, April 1 at a dinner to be held at Newburg Methodist Church, Newburgh Road and Ann Arbor Trail, for the purpose of learning more about the future plans of the church.

Mrs. John Martinowitz will serve as hostess chairman, Mrs. Burdette Clark is serving as co-chairman and 15 ladies of the church will serve as hostesses.

Clifford Merriott is the General Chairman; William Haber, Public Relations Chairman; and Arthur Wurfel, Chairman of Timothy Congregation will serve as Visits Chairman. Sunday afternoon between the hours of 2:30 and 6:30 some 35 men of Timothy will visit in the homes of all the members for the purpose of receiving covenants for this all important program.

Salem, N.J., has been a center for Quakers since 1785. It has a Friends Meeting House, built in 1772, still in use.

Delegates Attend CAR Conference

The 26th Annual Conference of the Michigan State Society, Children of the American Revolution was held at the Detroit-Leland Hotel on March 25 and 26.

The hosts were John Paul Society CAR, members of the Quisa St. Clair Chapter DAR, state president, Miss Nancy Artnier and senior state president, Mrs. Hector M. Chabut.

The out-of-town visitors registered on Friday and had an evening of games and entertainment. The business meetings started Saturday morning and carried through the day and evening. The state officers and society president gave their reports in the morning followed by the election of state officers by the delegates from the Societies.

One of the highlights of the luncheon was a talk given by Miss Linda Lange, national president of CAR, concerning her travels during the past year in behalf of CAR.

Name 4 Women To Head Hospital

The auxiliary committee of the newly organized Community General Hospital, in Northville, recently named four women to head up forthcoming programs.

The Community General Hospital, formerly Sessions Hospital, serves a six-city area comprised of Plymouth, Livonia, Northville, Novi, South Lyon and Farmington.

Appointed by the committee were: Mrs. Dempsey Ebert in charge of committee membership; Mrs. Warren Dyer, ways and means; Mrs. Harold Price, publicity; and Mrs. Charles Freydl, Jr., in charge of the admittance desk project.

Mrs. Freydl has reported that her group will begin its volunteer work in the hospital on Monday, April 18. Two training sessions for the group are scheduled for the first week in April.

The Plymouth membership representative for the committee is Mrs. Willard Der Hunt, 498 Ann Street.

Women are still needed for other committee work, a spokesman said. Information regarding membership and allied activities in the auxiliary may be obtained by calling Fieldbrook 9-1010. For local information, Mrs. Der Hunt's Plymouth phone number is GLenview 3-1311.

The next general meeting of the auxiliary committee is slated for Monday, April 18, at Our Lady of Victory Church auditorium in Northville. The meeting will begin at 8:15 p.m.

"Galaxy" Show Here Termed Huge Success

With a sell-out crowd both nights, "Galaxy in Rhythm," a musical entertainment show presented here last weekend by the Plymouth Junior High band and chorus, was met with tremendous success.

More than 1,300 Plymouthites attended the affair during its two-night stand March 25 and 26 in the Junior High Auditorium.

"There were people standing both nights," said Laurence Livingston, director of the 88-piece Junior High band and the planner of the affair.

"It was more successful in every way than we had ever hoped," he added. Originally, a total attendance of 1,000 was expected.

Already plans are being made to conduct the show on an annual basis. The ticket sales accounted for a $900 gross income, the net of which will go toward Junior High band uniforms.

The two special guests received tremendous ovations, Livingston explained happily.

Vic Hyde, a one-man band who appeared Saturday night, performed for a solid hour 30 minutes more than planned. Sandra McCortie, eight-year-old jazz musician from Southfield, performed Friday evening and was so well-received by the audience that she didn't want to halt her series of encores.

"It was a tremendous success," Livingston repeated.

Another Car Rams Building

A Brighton driver rammed his car into a store front last Friday afternoon, the day before a young Plymouth driver, Herbert Olson, was killed by driving his car into the Hotel Mayflower.

Friday's collision took place at 3 o'clock in the afternoon at Fashion Shoes, a half block away from Caplin's Clothes where Olsen was killed.

A car driven by Harold G. Raszberger, Brighton, jumped up on the sidewalk and rammed the store's front, at 3 p.m., breaking out a window.

"I just don't know what happened," Raszberger told police. He theorized that he must have been distracted by something.

iron will mean that the tanks will need to be cleaned out more often.

Calgon comes in a powdered form and is poured into the dispensing units at the wells. It is mixed with water by a mixer inside the dispensing unit and the solution is dropped into the wells whenever the pumps are on.

Elimination of rust from the water has come about after the City had received many complaints from householders. It was especially noticeable during washdays when the particles would stain white goods.

The particles are found most prevalent when there is a big demand on the water system. A big demand creates a gush of water through the pipes, thus breaking off deposits of rust.

Rust is a problem to communities where their source of water is from wells.

goods made in Plymouth's early factories, household utensils and furniture used by the pioneer families, and even some clothing.

"We have many citizens who tell us they would gladly turn historical items over to us if they knew we had a good place to keep them," Henry added.

"We feel that the Historical Society has a cultural value to the community the same as other organizations, such as the Symphony, Theatre Guild, etc.," the president asserted.

Often the society receives requests from colleges, students and other sources asking for information about Plymouth's history.

Plymouth, whose founding dates back to 1825, is one of the older communities in the state.

The Historical Society has already received pledges of some money toward a museum, but Henry adds that it will take a major gift, such as an entire home, to make the dream come true.

Donation of a home would provide ample space for display of historical items, Henry pointed out. Funds would then be needed for upkeep, each year, but getting the building is the big obstacle right now.

Henry noted that the Historical Society is incorporated and that donations are tax-exempt.

Anyone wanting to learn more about the project can telephone or write Henry, care of the Post Office.

Precious Buttons
NEW YORK (UPI) — The pearl button looks pretty plain alongside new jeweled fasteners featured by one New York firm.

Van Cleef and Arpels showed a collection of buttons fashioned from a combination of precious jewels and ranging in price from $2,300 to $9,000. A gold, emerald, sapphire and pearl combination adds up to that $2,300. A sapphire shaped like a carnation is priced at $9,000, although a smaller version costs $3,000. All buttons come with pinback, so there is no danger of losing them and so they can double as ornaments on a hat or suit lapel.

Julia Ward Howe's famous song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," was first published in The Atlantic Monthly in 1862. And she had it published anonymously.

Census Takers on March

sus Enumerator, Official Credential" are printed across its face. Persons purporting to be Census takers who do not have this identification card should be reported immediately to your local district Census office.

Census takers will be further identified by the portfolio containing their supplies. The portfolio is brown, and bears the legend "1960 Census of the United States," printed in green ink. In the portfolio the census taker carries his supplies of report forms, maps, pencils and other tools of his trade.

Places such as hotels, motels, and other accommodations for transient guests will be canvassed under a different procedure than the one used for regular household dwelling units. Prior to March 31, census takers will visit each of them and make a complete record of the rental units in these special dwelling places. At the same time, they will determine which of these units are occupied by permanent residents and which are for transients.

Transients will be counted on the night of March 31. This census operation is known as "T-night." A supply of Individual Census Report forms will be left at hotels, motels, and other large transient places to be distributed to transient guests staying at these places during the night of March 31.

Information on permanent residents of these special dwelling units also will be obtained by means of individual census report forms, and the information about their housing accommodations will be furnished by the resident managers of these places.

Census Bureau employees will be on hand during that evening to assist transients in filling out the forms. The purpose of the special canvass is to account for every person staying in such places on the Census date.

After the individual report forms have been collected, they will be screened to determine what names should be included in the local census counts. Persons enumerated on "T-night" will be counted as part of the local population only if they have no usual place of residence elsewhere. Names of transients will be allocated back to their usual place of residence.

Information on permanent residents of these special dwelling units also will be obtained by means of individual census report forms, and the information about their housing accommodations will be furnished by the resident managers of these places.

Plymouth High School

By Gloria Bowles

A large group of senior thespians will both bow out and debut tomorrow evening as they make the last theatrical effort of their high school careers when "January Thaw" premieres Thursday, March 31, at 8 o'clock.

Seniors in the cast, all veteran thespians are: Brenda Richardson, who will play Barbara Gage... Jeff Huntington as Herbert Gage... Judy Bullington, portraying Marge Gage... Judy Bradley in the role of Mathilda Rockwood... Ron Small as Matt Rockwood... Jim McCabe doing Uncle Walter.

Bob Wall, who has had many a starring role in his day is assistant director with Barbara Steencken and Marilyn Carr, the senior contingent, among the student directors... working behind scenes are Gordon Jewell, backstage... Carol Kubick, art... Alice Olendorf, makeup... Sharon Roberts, props.

Others concerned with the play are, in the cast, Paul Rawley as Jonathon Rockwood... Jerry Fischer, Catherine Walker, Frieda... Linda Wall playing Sarah Gage... Sylvia Godwin doing Paula Gage... Norman Hughes, Mr. Loomis and John Stace, Carson.

Behind scenes: student directors Margo Van Antwerp, Dave Jaskierney, and Lynn Van Dyke... backstage, Donn Kelly... publicity, Susan Neal.

"Pilgrim Prints" drama critic Lester Barton reports that "it is probable that Director Robert Southgate is about to add another success to his long record of dramatic triumphs."

The PHS Choir came back from a song festival at Eastern Michigan University last Thursday with a "B" rating. They also came out with a "1" in the single field of sight reading. The Girls' Glee Club also copied a "2".

Formation of a chess league will be the object of a meeting of area schools scheduled for April 12, reports Jim McCabe and Bob Wall, who will represent Plymouth at the conference.

"Why I Want to Go to College" was the subject of a theme written recently by juniors Celeste Arjay and Lester Barton... a theme which won them the opportunity to represent Plymouth High in the National Council of Teachers of English Annual Achievement awards competition.

Senior Sally Sawyer won last year, went on to national awards, and has since had a scholarship award from several schools in the country.

Several PHS students are quite concerned about the addition to the high school building, which will change the appearance of the facade of the building. Among comments: "Soph Sam Dibble... I despise it (the addition). They spent all that money on a beautiful Colonial library and beautifying the area, and then what do they do? Tack a monstrosity like that onto the nearby high school!"

Grace Wigley, a junior, was brief and to the point: "It's rotten." And the aforementioned Miss Arjay... "I don't think that this new stairtower will do a bit for this school. I think that its style is not at all in accordance with that of the school. It's not a pleasant looking architecture. Seeing that this school will be here for a long time, I feel that the addition should look more like a part of the building."

Of course, the sentiments of these three are not necessarily representative... the group that has no complaint, or "doesn't care" is the quiet one.

New Pep Club officers are: president, Judy Bradley; vice-president, Ron Small; secretary, Margo Van Antwerp; and treasurer, Sharon Roberts.

The East is the goal of several seniors, college-wise... Pete Alford visited Princeton for a weekend recently... one senior girl faced a Vassar interviewer... another went to the home of Wellesley alumna last week for an interview.

"Pilgrim Prints"—with the top 10 scholars of the class of '60 in a picture on the front page—was out yesterday.

Due dues do damage, don't you know, Dave? Van Ornum and a slew of other freshmen, sophomores, juniors and seniors owe their class treasurer money, mon-junior Celeste Arjay and Lester Barton... a theme which won them the opportunity to represent Plymouth High in the National Council of Teachers of English Annual Achievement awards competition.

Third Annual 'Edge of Knowledge' Features Discussion of Genetics

Zoology, particularly the study of "Man, the Animal" will be the subject of the third annual "Edge of Knowledge" program on Tuesday, May 3, at 7:30 p.m. in the Plymouth High School Auditorium.

The "Edge of Knowledge" lectures are designed especially for adults and junior high and senior high school students.

Each year a particular branch of mankind's knowledge is chosen to be the subject of the lecture. An authority is brought to Plymouth who gives an hour's presentation on the most recent achievements which have been made in this field; some of the current problems with which men and women are grappling in this area; some interpretations of the results of their work; and finally, suggestions of problems which may challenge workers in this field in the next 5 to 10 years.

The programs serve as a memorial to 10-year-old Kirk Worland of Plymouth, who died in 1957, of cancer. The series is sponsored by Kim's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worland, 230 Sunset, Plymouth.

Dr. Dwight Elmer Minnich, professor emeritus of the University of Minnesota, will give this year's lecture, entitled his talk "Some Problems of Reproduction."

Genetics, early embryology and reproduction at the molecular and cellular levels will be dealt with specifically by Dr. Minnich.

Social problems arising from the knowledge mankind has recently acquired on these topics will be discussed by the speaker.

Both brief films and slides will supplement the one-hour presentation. A half hour question and answer period will follow the lecture.

Dr. Minnich, a Phi Beta Kappa, and chairman of the Department of Zoology at the University of Minnesota until his retirement at year and a half ago, is continuing his zoological research at the Mt. Desert Island Biological Laboratory in Maine. He has served as president of the American Society of Zoologists and has done extensive writing in his particular area of research, namely, sensory physiology and behavior of lower animals.

In addition to his specialization, however, the speaker has continued teaching basic classes in zoology because of his intense belief in the unique contribution such information makes to man's understanding of himself.

The program is particularly interesting for all adults and junior and senior high school students in Plymouth and the surrounding communities. It is without charge.

FIFTEEN MEN from the R.C. Mahon Co. of Detroit donated their time and the company the materials for covering a walk between buildings at Our Lady of Providence School on Beck Rd. The materials were pre-cut and then welded on the site. The school cares for 120 retarded girls.

Volunteers Labor a Day for Retarded Girls' School

Supervisors for the R. C. Mahon Co. of Detroit took a "busman's holiday" recently by spending a Saturday erecting a steel covering for a paved walk at Our Lady of Providence School.

The school, located at 16115 Beck Rd., two miles northwest of Plymouth, houses handicapped girls. The 15-man crew was made up of Mahon foreman, superintendants, salesmen, engineers, and the like. They performed the job in the fast time of eight hours in the bitter cold. Completion time was considered pretty fair, considering that some of the "crew" was largely working from memory for both techniques and muscles.

The arcade covering was Mahon M-Deck, cut to size at the company's Eight Mile Rd. plant, and field-welded at the site. As a community relations gesture, both the labor and materials were donated. Only seven Sisters of the Order of Daughters of St. Mary of Providence care for and teach some 120 mentally retarded girls ranging in age from two years up.

Six from Here To Attend Church Conference in Missouri

Six members of the local congregation of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Schoolcraft at Bradner, will leave this week for Independence, Mo., to participate in the Amboy Centennial General Conference of the Church, April 3-10. The conference will be held in the multi-million dollar auditorium, which serves as world headquarters for the church in Independence.

Four attending from Plymouth are delegates elected to represent the Detroit International Stake. They include Elder and Mrs. Russell Knight, of 9743 Brookville Rd.; Elder and Mrs. Trevor Norton, 45041 Mayo Dr., Northville. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Parker, 561 Virginia, will also attend. Mr. Parker is an alternate delegate.

Twenty-six hundred delegates and ex-officials will assemble in Independence to form the biennial legislative body of the church. Conference business will include decisions on policies and finances for the growing work of the church within the United States and Canada and in its missions abroad, which now extend to Great Britain, Europe, South America, French Polynesia, Australia, and the Orient. Provisions must also be made for the educational, welfare, and publishing institutions of the church.

The Conference will open Sunday, April 3, with five communion services. Twenty thousand communicants will be served the emblems of the last supper in successive services in the 5,000-seat, Con-ference Chamber and 1,200-seat Assembly Room of the Auditorium.

President W. Wallace Smith will deliver the opening address of the conference Sunday afternoon, and Bishop G. Leslie DeLapp will speak in the evening. Other major addresses will be given by President Maurice L. Draper, of the First Presidency, Apostle Charles R. Field, president of the Council of Twelve, and Presiding Patriarch Roy A. Cheville.

On April 6, the church will observe the centennial of the historical conference at Amboy, Ill. There Joseph Smith III, son of Joseph Smith, Jr., founder of the Latter Day Saint movement, was accepted as president of the reorganization of the church which his martyred father had founded exactly thirty years before. The April 6 date will be celebrated with a historical pageant presented by the White Masque Players of Independence.

Among other unusual features of the conference will be a display of the complete manuscript of the Book of Mormon. Dictated by Joseph Smith, Jr., from ancient plates, the manuscript includes the religious and civil histories of pre-Columbian American civilizations. So valuable is this historic document that it may be taken from the vaults only in the presence of a member of the First Presidency and a Presiding Bishopric. It requires a police guard while on display.

Painting Your House is Hard Work, But Well Worthwhile

Suburban Living

AZALEAS, either the large or the small flowering varieties, will bloom every winter indoors. This one here grew from a three-inch cutting into a one-foot plant in five years.

Azaleas Satisfactory Indoors As Plant, Outdoors as Shrub

By DOROTHY H. JENKINS

Azaleas are as satisfactory an indoor house plant as they are shrubs in the outdoor garden. The garden shrubs, at least those grown north of Washington, D. C., cannot be potted up in fall and brought indoors to force during winter. Two distinctly different types are grown as house plants.

One of these is a small bushy plant with many stems which will be covered with small flowers, usually pink. This is the Kurume azalea. It is equally pretty with white blossoms or other shades of pink. If you wish to plant it in the garden after the first winter, a Kurume azalea is hardy even in the north.

The other azalea commonly grown indoors is more tree-like in appearance. It has a rather strong main stem from which many thinner branches grow. Its flowers are large, often ruffled, and come in beautiful shades of pink and white, solid or a combination of two colors. This handsome azalea indica can be grown only as a house plant where winters are freezing.

An azalea that is a gift plant for any occasion between Christmas and Mother's Day can become a permanent house plant. Its demands are easily satisfied and a simple routine will bring it into flower sometime every winter. It's also a handsome foliage plant when its two to three months of bloom are over.

Since your azalea probably is blooming now in the house, keep it colorful as long as possible by not letting it stand in sun. Sun at an east or west window will stimulate bud production but once the buds show color, move the plant out of the sun so bloom will last longer. Azaleas prefer a cool place indoors—50 to 65 degrees is adequate and a drop at night will not hurt it.

Water in abundance is the greatest need. Because an azalea has a ball of fine roots, it will soak up water like a sponge. It must be watered once a day and, if temperatures are high, it may need watering twice a day.

It's a good idea to place the azalea in an old shallow dish with about a half inch of pebbles over the bottom. After you have watered soil from the top, fill the dish with water up to the level of the pebbles. Look in the evening and you will find that most of this water has been absorbed.

Painting your house, pleasant to view when the job is done, is no easy task when you're in the midst of it.

In fact, painting a house is work. Painting the trim, indoors or out, is fussy, but it's piecemeal that can be done as time and weather permit.

And, if it's less than five years since the exterior was painted, or less than ten years since the interior was wallpapered, touching up trim can give a sparkling new look to the house.

Every room in the house may not need to have doors, window frames and other trim painted. The kitchen and bathroom are certain to need it more frequently than any other rooms. For these two rooms, an alkyd semi-gloss enamel or alkyd gloss enamel are suitable paints.

For trim in other rooms of the house, alkyd flat enamels are recommended. They are durable, so much so that they are said to collect less dirt and grime than other paints. Furthermore, they can be tinted with colors-in-oil up to one-half pint per gallon.

If you prefer to have the trim white, there's no reason why it shouldn't stay white for three years or more. It is possible now to obtain a semi-gloss white paint that does not yellow and sheenless, flat white enamels that have a dull rubbed effect but hold their white without gradually turning an off-color.

Outdoors, window frames, doors, screen or storm doors, railings and fences are worth spending the time to paint. They're bound to need it more often than the walls of the house.

Some people prefer outdoor trim to have a glossy finish, others insist on a mat finish. Enamel is not generally used outdoors. Seek the advice of your paint dealer, tell him of your preferences, and then follow his recommendations for a durable outdoor paint.

Special paints now are available for easy application to brick, masonry and stucco exteriors, which always have presented special problems.

It is just as important to have clean surfaces of the trim, indoors and outdoors, as it is walls. Indoor trim probably will need only washing to prepare it for painting. A little commercial paint cleaner or a household cleanser should be added to the water. Spots and stains also should be removed with scouring powder.

Any loose paint must be removed and, if this leaves bare wood showing, these areas must be primed before the new paint is applied. Any repairs should be made before starting to paint.

Spring with its unpredictable weather isn't always the most satisfactory season for painting, particularly outdoors. A coat of paint will not adhere to damp wood. Therefore, be certain that wood is thoroughly dry before you start to paint and, if more than one coat is needed, let the first one dry thoroughly before the second one is started. Ten days to two weeks is not too long to wait before applying the second coat.

PHOTOGRAPHY FOR THE AMATEUR

By William H. Schleisner

The ability to see a picture is one of the primary requirements for any photographer, whether an amateur or a professional. All the technical points and all the photographic education are of much less value than the power to see or create a picture.

There should always be a valid reason for the exposure of film. It is a waste of time to click the shutter without a specific need for the picture. This need not be monetary or competitive. It is enough to receive that certain satisfaction from the resulting print.

The valid reason for exposing film may be for a family portrait, a picture of a member of the family or a friend. Travel spurs picture taking. It's also a great satisfaction to record progress in building a new home or the changing seasons in a garden.

A little inspiration before the shutter is clocked goes a long way toward holding the attention of those who will look at the picture. This same inspiration, afterwards, will make a photographer proud of his pictures.

Whatever type of picture you're taking, consider first what will make it interesting. Photographing a child against a brick wall means a commonplace picture as well as one that fails to catch the spirit of a child.

Place the same child in a field of flowers or on a park bench feeding the squirrels and you will have a real picture. Fast films that are available today make it much easier to capture the fleeting expressions of youngsters.

Scenic photography of either city or country, in the United States or abroad can be made fascinating. There is beauty in mansions and slums, formal gardens and public parks as well as untouched meadows.

Builders Offer Complete Kitchen In New Homes

More and more home builders across the country today are equipping homes in all price ranges with complete kitchens, a recent survey shows.

The Reason? A fully-equipped kitchen, builders seem to agree, will aid in selling more homes faster.

One of the nation's leading building firms reports that a builder who includes a complete kitchen in his product is offering more than just a house. He's offering a "home."

One point of view is that such work-saving electrical appliances as a dishwasher and refrigerator-freezer adds to a family's enjoyment immensely.

The dishwasher alone does this by freeing the housewife, reportedly, from a lot of kitchen drudgery and gives her more time for herself, her family and her friends.

Much the same holds true for built-in ranges, attractive and efficient counter tops, recessed refrigerators, and the numerous other added attractions that enhance the kitchen, from not only the eye-appeal standpoint from the usefulness approach.

A sleek little desk stapler has a folding staple-remover stowed beneath it. The dual personality device also can be used as a tacker and a hand plier. (Bates Manufacturing Co., Orange, N. J.)

A combination wall and table ice crusher provides crushed ice whenever or wherever you wish. The portable unit converts from wall to counter-top use instantly. The ice cup holds a full tray of crushed ice. (Rival Manufacturing Co., Kansas City, Mo.)

Fake Ideas About Food As Common Today as Ever

Food has always been a symbol of friendliness, sociability and pleasure. But fake ideas and superstitions about food are as common today as they were in ages past.

Today, no one can make us believe that snake oil and powdered gypsy bones can cure rheumatism and baldness; yet most of us have in our homes vitamin pills, weight-reducing "aids" or special "health" foods.

If you have any of these preparations without the advice of your family doctor, you may be dealing with the modernized version of the old-time medicine man. You may be among the ten million Americans who are spending about a half billion dollars each year in search of a shortcut to health.

Here are some examples of common food fallacies and the facts about each false idea.

(1) Fallacy: Everybody needs vitamin concentrates. Vitamins are "cure-alls."

Fact: Regular foods are the best sources of vitamins, and the vitamin preparations are not necessary for the average person if the diet is adequate. Vitamin concentrates should be taken only on the advice of a physician.

(2) Fallacy: Butter has more calories per pound than margarine.

Fact: Margarine and butter have the same caloric value.

(3) Fallacy: It is dangerous to leave food in a can that has been opened.

Fact: It is just as safe to keep food in opened cans in the refrigerator as it is to empty food into another container. Often other containers carry more bacteria from the air than the cans themselves.

(4) Fallacy: Water is fattening.

Fact: Water is calorie free and cannot be converted to body fat. Water is essential to health at all times.

(5) Fallacy: Frozen orange juice contains more vitamin C than fresh or canned orange juice.

Fact: The vitamin C content of fresh, frozen and

Here's an easy way to add eye appeal in a teen-ager's room. Build a dado in the form of a miniature "photo gallery" on one or two walls as a colorful backdrop for pictures, school exhibits, penants and other paraphernalia.

Attach matching moldings about a foot apart on the wall, with the lower one about four feet from the floor. A series of 1' x 1 1/2" pieces of plywood inserted between the wood moldings make a good-looking backdrop for the items that are on display. The pieces of paneling can be removed easily, like sliding doors on a cabinet.

Pictures and other items can be attached to the panels of plastic-surfaced hardboard with rubber cement or transparent tape.

Drink That Milk, Grandma

NEW YORK (UPI) — Some "senior-citizens" don't eat enough, reports the Nutrition Institute, which fosters research on the science of nutrition.

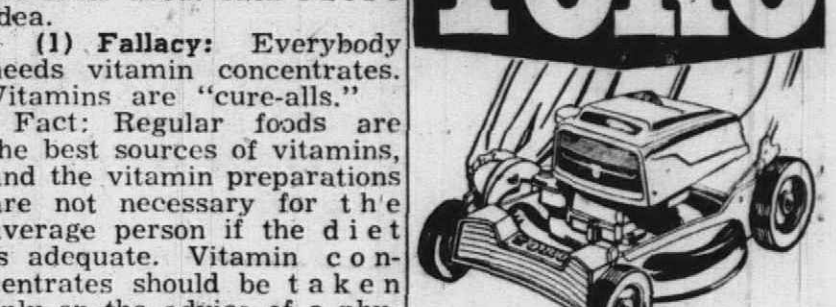

A government survey shows that persons over 60 tend to eat too few foods containing protein, iron and the B vitamins, niacin and thiamine, found in dairy products, meat, poultry, and fish. Inadequate consumption of fruit and vegetables also causes deficiencies of vitamins A and C prevalent among older persons.

WHAT'S NEW

A chair with a split personality changes stance through legs that flex. Chair legs crossed, the chair sits low and slightly slanted for lounging. Legs flipped upright, the chair is raised to a straight position and dining height. (Duplichair, Pantech Corp., 145 E. 49th St., New York.)

A food slicer can be disassembled and reassembled in less than 60 seconds for easy cleaning or compact storage. With a few turns of the wrist it comes apart. It's especially adapted to the small home or apartment kitchen, or wherever space is at a premium. (Rival Manufacturing Co., Kansas City, Mo.)

Through a new process, bathroom porcelain and tile can be resurfaced in new colors for about $150. The process involves the use of a resin which has the durability and appearance of porcelain. It is as permanent as the original porcelain and also is skid resistant. The material also fills nicks and chips on porcelain surfaces. (Porcel-Cote, Uniondale, N. Y.)

Invest One Week - End In Home Improvement

The investment of a week-end of work during a pause between March winds and April showers will pay dividends to the homeowner. The day or two it generally requires to perform spring's simple touch-up needs is well worth the effort.

By making minor repairs now, the homeowner may avoid the costly major repairs that 10 million U. S. homeowners will face this year because they permitted their homes to become run down.

Four simple spruce-up jobs that any family handyman can do in a week-end are:

1. Replace worn roof flashing or coat it with a bituminous paint such as aluminum coating that reflects more than 70 per cent of the radiant heat hitting a roof. This protective coating can be brushed or sprayed over old roofing to close cracks. It will not sag or flow with changes in the temperature.
2. Replace loose putty around windows. Remove old putty and later paint the new to match the trim.
3. Check for loose, warped or decayed siding. If the walls are finished in stucco, fill any cracks with putty and apply stucco touch-up paint or damp-proof coating.
4. Coat discolored or rusted shutter clips with a quality coal tar based metal paint.

Generally speaking, all of these jobs could be done in just a little more time than it takes to play a couple of rounds of golf. And once they are done the homeowner shouldn't have to worry about them for the rest of the year.

TIPS for TEENS

ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: The big battle in my family is about college. My parents want me to go to college. I like working with engines, machines... anything mechanical is for me. So I would rather learn this kind of work and skip college. I think I know what kind of job will make me happiest. What do you advise in this family hassle?"

A.—"You ought to choose the kind of work that you do and like best, that's sure. But a chance for a college education isn't something to toss away lightly, because you might change your mind later and want to go to college. Also, you might find that the best preparation for your kind of job is a technical school or college after high school. The more education you have for every kind of work, the better job you'll do and more money you'll make. So why not play it smart and take high school subjects you'll need for college, then decide later what kind of school to go to for "higher" education... a technical school, industrial training, etc.

Q.—"Dear Elinor: Here's a problem I've never read in your column. Most kids don't have to do any work at home. But my mother believes in the old-fashioned idea that a girl should learn to cook, sew, clean, etc. I hate doing these things on Saturday mornings, but I can't make her listen."

A.—"Even if you'll never be a dreamy cook or needle-artist, these are necessary basic things to know, whether you plan on a career or marriage. Why not ask your mother to make the doses a little smaller, yet still give you enough so you'll learn the things you'll need to know how to do all your life?"

Weatherman Gets Tools For Better Forecasts

By PAUL BRINK
United Press International
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—The argument that a lot of people talk about the weather but nobody does anything about it can't hold water or even one little thundercloud today.

Take it from the U. S. Weather Bureau, a new era of electronics is adding strength to forecasting, gauging the amounts and intensity of rainfall and checking dangerous floods and tornadoes.

"Weather reporting and forecasting are fast changing from an art to a science," H. L. Jacobson, chief forecaster at Kansas City said. "We're busy with research."

"Electronics is coming into our work so fast that our people have classes and refresher courses along with their daily work. It used to be the human brain that studied and reported weather, now it's that coupled with such things as robot reporting, huge computers and electronic measuring devices."

"I feel we're entering a new era in weather research and reporting."

A reason for special jubilation by Jacobson and others of the Weather Bureau is a new $125,000 Weather Search Radar unit being put into use here—the first such outfit especially for weathermen.

The Kansas City Weather Bureau, because it's in an area where there's plenty of weather turbulence, combines its efforts with the Severe Weather Forecast Center, which has headquarters here, and with Air Force weathermen who cover most of the nation from Kansas City.

"This new radar unit is especially designed for weather detection," Robert Babb, public service meteorologist, said. "It will greatly help in giving forecasts. We'll be able to control the outgoing and receiving signals so we can get more definite information on the weather."

Among other things, the new unit, which was built by the Raytheon Co. of Waltham, Mass., will record intensity and structure of storms and will map out storms up to 250 miles from Kansas City. Earlier radar reached out 175 miles but didn't bring back nearly as much detail.

The new setup, which will be operated by five men at Weather Bureau headquarters here, also will show how high a storm is from the ground.

Thunderstorm activity will be followed on a base plotting map.

"Up to this time the only radar sets we've had available," Babb said, "were surplus units from the Navy which had been used in tracking airplanes. This set is specifically designed for weather detection. It's made according to specifications of our own meteorologists."

The Weather Search Radar unit's 12-foot saucer-shaped antenna is housed in a huge plastic ball atop the 36-story Federal Office Building in downtown Kansas City. The antenna is 1,320 feet above sea level compared with 740 feet at Kansas City Municipal Airport where Weather Bureau radar was located on two other floors in the building.

Electronics also is being tested for recording river stages by radar beam. It's an expensive process right now. Some day it might read a lot of rain gauges in one big sweep.

Weathermen are planning an experiment at 35 to 40 rain gauges on two water sheds in the Kansas City area. The new Weather Search Radar sends a beam to the gauges and gets a river stage reading in return.

The new machine also will measure intensity of rainfall in given areas. With this fact along with already known information on soil conditions, weathermen will be able to more accurately predict if dangerous floods are imminent.

"This new instrument is one of the finest in the history of the Weather Bureau," said Jacobson. "It will fill in the vacant spaces between reporting stations."

'Bad Weather Friends' Not Wanted on Biggest Railroad

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—"Bad weather friends," That's what the Pennsylvania Railroad calls people who use commuter trains only in bad weather.

As for passengers who ride the rails only during heavy snow storms, they're called "snow birds," of course.

And as far as the country's largest railroad is concerned, they could live without them very well.

The reason is that during a snow storm the Pennsylvania Railroad area—says it pays out $8 for every $1 taken in from commuter fares. This is an even higher proportion of loss than the "normal" loss of about $4,000,000 a year in commuter service here.

To the regular commuter, a snow storm which brings increased schedules and trains jammed to capacity, must seem like a revenue bonanza to the railroad.

"Tain't so, the Pennsylvania Railroad told United Press International.

A railroad spokesman said the PRR normally carries some 30,000 commuters into Philadelphia daily. But during a heavy snow storm this figure increases by about 15 per cent. This adds about $3,000 in revenue a day.

On the other hand, the railroad said, all 400 cars in the commuter pool must be put into service and extra train crews must be brought in on overtime.

In addition, a shift in the hours of the peak load adds to the problem.

The heaviest out-bound commuting, for example, normally occurs between 4 and 5 p.m. But during a heavy storm many offices close early, which means the bulk of home-bound riders hit the commuter trains around 3 o'clock.

This involves not only a tremendous shifting around of cars but also means that all trains must make all stops so that the "snow birds" who are unfamiliar with schedules can get off at their proper stations.

The railroad said the PRR spent about $100,000 during a recent two-day storm here keeping the tracks open.

The railroad added that the saddest part of the whole story is that the daily commuter—the passenger who uses the line every day throughout the year—is inconvenienced and often forced to stand because of the bad weather friends.

Country Has Over Million Motor Vehicles

Annual motor registration figures issued this week by James M. Hare, Secretary of State, showed that 1,107,698 motor vehicles of all types were registered in Wayne County on which $22,292,163.43 in taxes were collected.

These included 927,126 passenger cars and 93,477 trucks and commercial vehicles.

Total receipts for all motor vehicle activities, but not including gas and diesel fuel collections, totaled $71,593,067.02 in 1959, a $3,608,057.82 increase over 1958's $67,935,029.20.

According to Mr. Hare, income from drivers' licenses jumped from $2,194,518.12 in 1958 to $3,093,730.88. Chauffeurs' license receipts rose from $494,376.25 in 1958 to $549,085.03 in 1959.

The eleven percent increase in the number of title transactions reflected improved automobile sales during 1959, when 545,393 were issued compared to 1958's 490,739," Hare said.

The number of title transfers exceeded one million, the highest number ever handled since the Department started issuing those transfers in 1922.

The purpose of this student council project, noted chairman Beatrice Spring, is to acquaint Madonna students with the purposes and functions of campus student government and the qualifications of good student leaders.

Group discussions, displays and a skit are part of the planned observance. The skit, presented by members of the Fine Arts Society, is a parody on student elections, "Saga of an Election Night," written by Virginia Owczarszak, Geraldine Przeslowski and Doris Kulik.

Primary elections for student offices were held March 30. Final elections are scheduled for April 6.

CHEVROLET

"Worst roads in the world, but this new Chevy takes all the roughness out!"

Out near Wathena, Kansas, farmer Milt Roundy tends 800 acres with only one helper—his 1960 Chevrolet pickup. The truck almost never runs on Kansas's fine state highways—instead it averages about 2,500 miles a month on unimproved back-country trails or on hauls into the fields, off the road. "In my book, these are the worst roads in the world," Mr. Roundy says, "but this new Chevy takes all the roughness out. It doesn't fishtail or whip around like other trucks — I can steer it with one finger!"

They're speaking right up, these owners of '60 Chevrolets. Everywhere you go, they're giving out glowing reports on a revolutionary new truck ride that leads to a bigger day's work at less expense; praising truck power that knows the most about saving money. It's Chevy's total newness they're talking about. And you'll be talking, too, once you turn a new Chevrolet loose on your money runs. Your dealer can get you started, right away!

Buckle on your sou'wester and get ready to put out to sea in a Windjammer. You'll have the time of your life. Your sailing companions will be 50 Norwegian teenagers (14 to 17 years) and a few adult crew members. Your ticket for this cruise can be purchased at the Music Hall in Detroit.

"Windjammer," the latest Cinerama triumph, sails nightly twice a day on Wednesdays and Saturdays, and three times on Sundays (2 p.m., 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.).

Old George felt this wide-screen epic topped many of the early Cinerama presentations. The right ratio of humor was injected from time to time. You live and love with this peppy crew of 50 adolescents. Who can remember all the scenes that filled this evening of wholesome entertainment? The basket carts that skitter down the cobblestone streets in Madeira, Portugal, Jamaica and the infectious calypso rhythms, hanging on breathlessly as you ride on a fire engine through the busy streets of Philadelphia, breathtaking scenes of a fireworks display, rockets and missiles being fired from our naval vessels, and those pleasant pastoral scenes of farming in the fjords of Norway all contributed to the pictorial success of "Windjammer."

Arthur Fiedler appears in the film directing the Boston Pops Orchestra in a rendition of Grieg's Piano Concerto that would be worth the price of admission alone. Music in this sequence forms the background for the evocative trip down the Norwegian fjords. The combination of the beautiful music and majestic scenery gives Part II of "Windjammer" a dramatic intensity not often accomplished by a host of actors. No one can really top God's handiwork. And when it is photographed so effectively with music interwoven you are treated to a rare experience.

Take the whole family down to the Music Hall for "Windjammer." There's something of interest in this "wrap-around" cinematic experience for all ages. The management of the Music Hall can be proud of this exciting film during these TV days when our home screens are saturated with Westerns, private eyes, and monotonous murder mysteries. For a welcome relief ship out on the Christian Radick for a two hour adventure. You'll come back to Plymouth with the taste of salt water clinging to your palate and a jauntiness to your step that will better prepare you to cope with life's sometimes too often routine ways.

"The Mouse That Roared" with the British comic Peter Sellers played last week at the Penn Theatre. Hope many of you heeded my admonition in an earlier column and went to view Mr. Seller's antics. The film was a hilarious spoof of the futility of wars. Wish we could have more foreign films playing occasionally in Plymouth.

At least once a month wouldn't be too frequent. Checking the listing of films worth seeing as seen through the critical orbs of the Time Magazine, old George noted that six out of the eight films listed were foreign imports. Of course, if the film actors' strike continues out in Hollywood, our local theaters may be forced into screening more foreign films. This may be the ill wind that we've been waiting for.

Last Monday evening, "A Second String" had its world premiere at the Cass Theater. This saucy dramatization of a Collette novel will continue for one more week at the Cass before heading for Broadway. I'll comment more in detail next week about Miss Shirley Booth's marvelous performance.

On the theatrical horizon, April 11, "The Pleasure of His Company" is honoring into view Cyril Ritchard, Cornelia Otis Skinner, Conrad Nagel, and Leo G. Carroll will work as a talented team for a two-week Detroit engagement. Broadway had this hit comedy for an entire season last year.

Watch for a French film ("The 400 Blows") coming to the Surf and Coronet "fine-art" theaters in Detroit.

"The 400 Blows" tells the story of a boy who is unwanted by his parents and gets himself into one scrape after another. His complete naturalness won the New York Critic's Award for Francois Truffaut, the producer and director of the film. Locale of the film is Paris and this factual, recounting of a delinquent youth's mishaps is a foreign film to put on your "must-see" list.

On the film and stage front it would seem that the sources of entertainment have taken a definite international flavor. Once in a while this is a decided relief. Of course, if you'd like to see the all-American "boy," Mickey Rooney, plan to see his 90 minute spectacular, "The Many Sides of Mickey," on March 31 over Channel 2.

Advance publicity indicates that Mickey will sing, dance, and do a bit of acting. Wonder if the latter category contains a scene from his rip-roaring, well-oiled appearance on the Jack Paar program earlier this year?

of grille cloths are infinite. The Wendell Plastics Fabrics Corp., one grille cloth manufacturer, makes 65 different patterns of acoustical cloth.

Grille cloth and the other fabrics that the company makes — most of them plastic — are coming into wide use for interior decorating. Being plastic, there is little danger of their catching fire and they can be washed with a hose.

Wendell's grille fabrics are marketed under the Mellotone label.

Another line of grille fabrics is made by Chicopee Mills. Chicopee's fabrics are made of a hard, impregnated paper. Some of the best known systems manufacturers use Chicopee's grille cloth.

One speaker systems manufacturer says he uses one kind of Chicopee's cloth that will match all kinds of furniture. He buys it in mill runs of 4,800 yards.

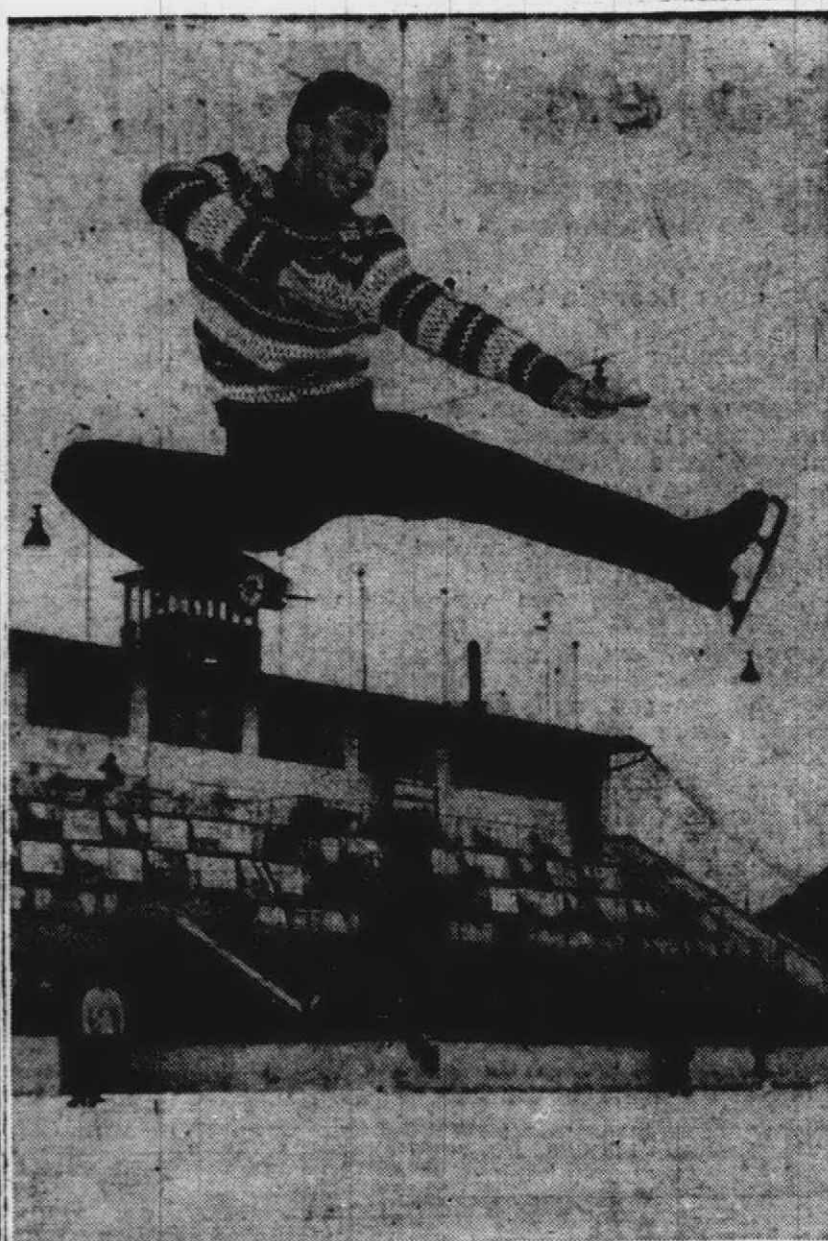

Actually, grille fabrics have become so attractive that most manufacturers of both speaker systems and system kits have long since stopped limiting their use to hiding speakers.

They cover the whole front of a system, or perhaps three sides with grille cloth. Though it is fairly expensive, grille cloth is less expensive as a finishing material than top grade mahogany or walnut.

Gallimore P.T.A. Elects Officers for New Year

By ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL 3-0194

Our article this week is just big enough to let you know we are still around.

A little late, but happy birthday wishes are in order to Robert Benoit (Buzzy). Last Sunday Robert celebrated his seventh birthday with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer T. Benoit and grandfather Mr. William Southall, his parents and sister, Ginny. The occasion was topped off with one of mom's cakes.

At their March meeting, the Gallimore P.T.A. elected their new officers: president, Ralph Foote of Marlowe St.; vice president, John Schroeder of Ridge Rd.; second vice-president, Mrs. Irene Busow of Marlowe St.; secretary, Mrs. Karan Osenton; treasurer, Mrs. Lois Vetal of Warren Rd. Following the business the group enjoyed a movie entitled "Sociable Sixes to Noisy Nines." The mothers of the second grades served as hostesses for the evening.

A getwell wish is in order for Mrs. Lamar Authier (Marion) of Sheldon Rd. Mrs. Authier is recovering from a recent appendectomy at the Brent Hospital.

Mrs. Betty Harrison of Cherry Hill Rd. and Mrs. Ann Longwish were hostesses to 10 women at a Stanley Party. Following the demonstration the group enjoyed games, prizes and refreshments.

Cub Scouts of Pack 298 received their awards at their Pack meeting March 24 at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church. The awards were presented by their Cubmaster, John Wiles. We understand there are several awards available to the Cubs. The first step toward scouting, the Bob Cat Award, is earned when the boy learns his Cub laws, motto, etc. Next he can earn the Wolf, then the Bear, Lion and Webelos Awards. In this phase of scouting (Cubs) the mothers play a big part, although father's help is also needed.

The following boys received awards: Tommy Smith qualified for a Bear Badge; Larry Roberts, Wolf; Dennis Caroen, Lion, Gold Arrow and 3 Silver Arrows; Gary Denski, Silver Arrow; Kevin J. Smith, Webelos. The following new boys were accepted in the Bob Cat Rank: Ralph Meyer, Jeffery Scott, Larry Campbell, Cliff ford Rowland, Steven Devine. Following the award ceremony, the boys and their parents enjoyed refreshments served by their Den mothers.

Wanted: customers for the Pancake Supper to be held Thursday, March 31 at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church. All interested applicants apply to any member of the Women's Reserve of Scout Troop 298 by phoning Mrs. Ruth Wiles at GL 3-3087.

There has been lots of work and planning put into the supper and the proceeds will be used for work in Scout Troop 298. So don't mess up your kitchen that night, mom. Make dad bring you and the kids to the Pancake Supper.

Well, that winds it up. We need news. We'd like to hear about what is happening to all of you out there.

There are 500 active volunteers in the world.

HI-FI
By PRESTON McGRAW
United From International

The best thing to cover a high fidelity speaker with, after it is mounted in an enclosure, is nothing.

Anything put over the front of a speaker absorbs some of the sound that comes out of it.

But it is not practical to leave the front of a mounted speaker uncovered. No matter how fine the speaker, the yawning inside of its cone isn't attractive.

So the speaker system manufacturer and the do-it-yourselfer have to look for something that will conceal the speaker attractively and at the same time absorb a minimum of sound. That is, a grille cloth.

The high frequencies are the ones that suffer when they have to penetrate soft cloth. The wave-form of the really low frequencies is almost spherical, so they don't suffer greatly.

But the waveform of high frequencies is almost a vertical plane and they don't penetrate soft fabric well.

So grille fabrics should have a minimum 60 per cent opening in them and at the same time reflect enough light so they can't be seen through. They have to be fairly thin and they have to be hard, and yet, not too hard, so that they will resonate.

Most of the commonly used grille fabrics are made of a hard, impregnated paper or plastic. If they meet the specifications of about 60 per cent opening, there is little effect on high frequencies projected through them.

In the average living room, high frequencies might drop off perhaps half a decibel at 10,000 cycles per second. At a distance greater than in the average living room, the loss would be greater.

But at a greater distance, which would suggest an auditorium or out-of-doors, the speaker need not be covered, or an all-weather type of speaker might be used.

The varieties and patterns of grille cloths are infinite. The Wendell Plastics Fabrics Corp., one grille cloth manufacturer, makes 65 different patterns of acoustical cloth.

Grille cloth and the other fabrics that the company makes — most of them plastic — are coming into wide use for interior decorating. Being plastic, there is little danger of their catching fire and they can be washed with a hose.

The exercise, termed "Operation Blue Star," called for the Third Marine Division to assemble in the area on March 20 along with units of the Hawaii-based First Marine Brigade and U.S. Republic of China navy, marine and air force elements.

Purpose of the operation, which comprised over 18,000 Marines and 70 Navy ships, was to promote closer working relations between U.S. and Republic of China forces in practicing the conventional and vertical assault type amphibious landings.

Century-Old Church Plans Crusade for New Edifice

The Rev. Glen Trembath, staff member of the Methodist Department of Finance and Field Service, Church Extension, will be the guest preacher at the Sunday services of the Newburg Methodist Church, Ann Arbor Trail at Newburg Rd., on April 3 and April 10.
Rev. Trembath, a resident of Wyandotte, will conduct and direct the proposed Expansion Fund Crusade for the congregation of Newburg on the church Loyalty Days, Sunday, April 10 and Monday, April 11, at which time teams of dedicated members will visit on behalf of their church, seeking subscriptions for their two year goal, which has been set at $48,000.
The guest minister has organized financial campaigns of 86 churches in 21 states since September 1955, when he was made a staff member of the Church Extension Office. These churches have raised more than 5 1/2 million dollars, under his direction. Rev. Trembath has also served in the Detroit Conference for fourteen years.
With the success of the Expansion Fund Crusade, the congregation of the oldest church in the city of Livonia hopes to be able to realize a dream of many years, that of providing adequate facilities for worship and Christian education in a rapidly expanding community.
The present church at Ann Arbor Trail and Newburg Rd. is bulging its seams. The new church school, when constructed, will be located on Ann Arbor Trail at Levan Rd., just a half mile east of their present location.

Spotlight Teen-agers During Library Week

The crucial area of teenage reading habits will be a primary emphasis of National Library Week, April 3-9 in over 5,000 urban and rural communities in all 50 states.
With the theme, "Open Your Mind to the World of Reading," the 1960 observance marks the third annual celebration of the program designed to encourage lifetime reading habits and to increase the use and support of libraries of all kinds.
This year's accent on introducing teenagers to the world of adult reading reflects the successful growth of the continuing, year-round campaign for a "Better-read, better informed America." Throughout Michigan and the nation, educational, youth, fraternal, professional and religious organizations are distributing Library Week materials and planning ways to relate young adult reading to their own youth, family and community programs.

If Your Name Is Carmen or Carmel

By ANN REYNOLDS

"Her smooth skin the color of bronze, her teeth whiter than blanched almonds, hair glossy and bluish black like the raven's wings," that is the way the creator of the most famous Carmen in literature, the French author Prosper Merimee, describes her.

Carmen was the heroine of Merimee's story sixteen years before she came to life on the stage of the Opera Comique, Paris, in 1875; the world famous opera whose center Carmen is was composed by Georges Bizet. As we know, this Carmen is a gypsy girl, and Don Jose, an officer and gentleman, becomes so inflamed with passion for her that he forgets honor and duty. He joins the gypsies, and, at long last, driven to distraction, kills the seductive Carmen in his jealous rage.

Is the Carmen of stage and story, filled with elementary, untamed impulses the image evoked by this name in you? One reader asked me in her letter whether it is true that namesakes have identical personalities. Of course not. The Carmen I know is a gentle, mousy housewife, a far cry from the irresistible seducer her fictional namesake is. And the root from which the name "Carmen" grew is worlds away from the tempestuous gypsy.

"Carmen" was first of all a name used in Italy, and is short for "Madonna di Carmela" or more properly, now it is popular mainly among Spanish speaking girls. It means "Our Lady (that is the Virgin Mary) of Mount Carmel," the protector of the religious order of the Carmelites. They got their name from Mount Carmel in the Holy Land; they claim, as their founders, the prophets Elijah and Elisha. The name of Elijah is commemorated in the mountain's Arab designation which is "Debel Mar-Elias"; incidentally this mountain is a spot that was considered sacred already by the ancient Hebrews, the Babylonians and the Greeks.

The word "Carmel" is Hebrew, and means "garden" or "gardenland," and it is believed that the region acquired its name, thousands and thousands of years ago because a city of the same name, and its surroundings looked like a garden in contrast to the arid wilderness that was south and east of it.

One real life Carmen, but with whom the name was a pen name, was the gifted Elizabeth Queen of Rumania who died in 1916. Born a German princess, she became the wife of Charles, King of Rumania. She took much interest in the poetry and folklore of her homeland, collected its legends and signing herself "Carmen Sylva" wrote in English, French, German and Rumanian.

Alaska Census Supervisor Faces 'One Heck of a Trip'

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Mrs. Betty Nelson, an attractive, personable mother of four children, packed her bags this week for what she describes as "one heck of a trip."

Mrs. Nelson, as one of the three supervisors for Alaska during the 1960 census, starts a head count April 1 in a territory that stretches in length equal to the distance from the tip of Lake Michigan to Los Angeles. Her "trip" will take her, in a 25-day period, from the tip of Attu Island in the Aleutian chain to the Canadian border. Her territory covers roughly 200,000 square miles.

During the period of the census, Mrs. Nelson and her crew of 113 enumerators, in-visit remote trappers' cabins, die-hard gold miners, nomadic Eskimos and small groups of homesteaders, including the remaining Michigan "50'ers" who left their homes in that state and moved to Alaska to carve out a rough but new life.

All arrangements for the census in the largest state have been made. Bush pilots are ready to fly to remote homesteads. Dog sleds, kayaks, ferry boats and snowshoes are ready for the trips the head-counters will make.

The boats and kayaks will be used, according to Mrs. Nelson, when she and her staff start counting the 49th state's native population in the Aleutians. The dog sleds will be pressed into action in the interior of Alaska, and the bush pilots will spread out to areas too remote to be reached by other means of transportation.

An attempt to take the census in 1950 was not too successful because of the extremely rugged terrain, inclement weather and lack of sufficient transportation.

But preparations for this year's census have been going on at full speed for more than three months.

"It's necessary for us to have a good census up here now that Alaska is a state," Mrs. Nelson said. "It's a big job and it's going to take a great deal of ingenuity and hard work. But, it's going to be done and done right."

In all, Alaska consists of roughly 586,000 square miles with a population of some 250,000 people.

"Our concrete street has given everyone new pride in keeping up his home!"

Everyone benefits from a concrete street. It helps keep everything so clean and neat. There's no spring breakup with concrete... no softening in the summer. You get good drainage, especially with built-in concrete curbs and gutters.

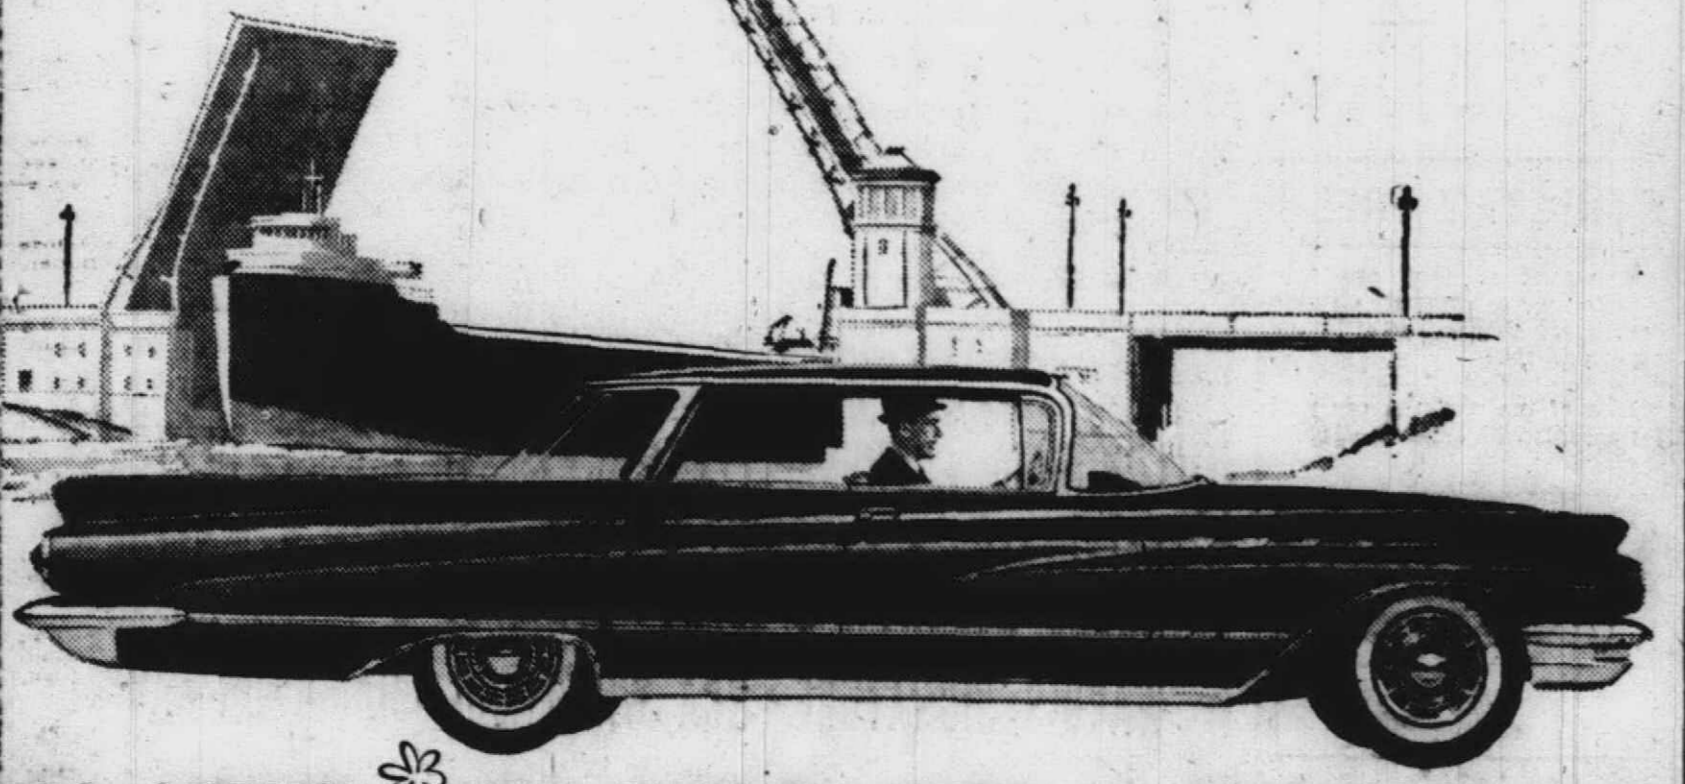

A concrete street adds to the value of every home it serves—makes them more saleable, today or years from now. That's because a street of new-type concrete has a life expectancy of 50 years and more. Yet initial cost is moderate. And upkeep cost stays low to make it a really sound investment.

Add to this—safety. Dependable skid resistance. High visibility for night driving. A smooth ride that lets every driver feel he's in full control of his car. You can see why concrete is the preferred pavement for residential streets in cities, villages and towns everywhere.

Vote Now - If Ever

Livonia has a City Election next week which is the first of a series of calls to the polls which will be addressed to everyone in this area during 1960.

If this country has anything left at its moral core, large numbers of citizens simply must get out and vote. It's almost a matter of vote now — if ever.

Our nation is in danger.

Our State is dazed and confused by partisan deadlock in Lansing and a red ink budget.

Our schools are trying to expand at the same time they want to cut down spending.

Likewise our local governments.

All of the questions are going to climax when the United States picks be the background issue on the ballots sometime during this year. It'll its next President in the autumn.

Whether we survive as a leading international power, whether we can straighten out our tax debts, whether our children receive the correct education, whether we spend our money for guns or butter or textbooks — these are fateful matters.

These are decisions for the general public. They are too big to be left to minorities — that hour of luxury has gone.

The general public only can make formal decisions at election time.

Census Will Give Us New Lineup in Congress, State

LANSING—New voices in Congress and the Michigan Legislature will be among results of the 1960 census. Michigan is expected to send two new Congressmen to Washington in 1963 because of a requirement that Congress reapportion the House of Representatives after each federal census.

Under provisions existing as the nose count started, the census also will authorize additional representation in the Michigan House. But it would be 1965 before the legislative redistricting takes effect.

The timetable for reapportionment according to population shifts recorded by the census may be too leisurely for proponents of redistricting. Adoption of a reapportionment amendment to the state constitution could change the schedule.

Senate districts created under the 1952 reapportionment amendment would remain frozen no matter what is revealed by the census—unless the 1952 provision is wiped out. This is just what state AFL-CIO President Gus Scholle has asked the Supreme Court to do.

It is possible attempts will be made to revise the apportionment of both the Senate and House through a vote of the people before 1965 rolls around.

The amendment adopted in 1952 stipulated that the House must be reapportioned in 1963 according to outcome of the census, with the new districting to take effect two years later. The state Board of Canvassers would draw up the new districts if the legislature failed to act on reapportionment in 1963.

Census-takers are expected to find that Michigan has a population of about 8,000,000 or 1,700,000 more than she had when the 1950 census was taken.

This population gain is expected to give Michigan two more Congressmen, bringing the total to 20. One Congressman was added after the 1950 census.

The big question is the boundaries for the new districts. But it's a cinch the populous Wayne-Oakland-Macomb area can expect a louder voice ultimately in Washington and Lansing.

Michigan Highways — and the men building them—will be in the forefront of the news this Spring.

The dollar value of trunk-line projects let in April is expected to surpass that of any month in State history. More miles are expected to be involved in the April lettings than were in operation throughout the State in 1955.

Already Michigan has completed 20 per cent of its share of the new interstate system, which is 10 per cent complete nationally.

Republicans will concede that Democratic Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie has had success with his ambitious five-year building program.

But Mackie's bulldozers have crushed some toes. Sen. John Stahlin (R-Belding) claims the second year of his investigation of the Highway Department will produce evidence backing up his contention state highway matters have been mismanaged.

While Mackie builds roads, Stahlin will be trying again to build a fire under Mackie.

How's Business?

Packaging Industry Thrives

By ROGER W. BABSON

The growth of this industry since World War II has been both rapid and persistent. Consumption of paper and paperboard for packaging rose from less than ten million tons in 1945 to more than sixteen million tons in 1959. At the present time, about one-half of the paper and paperboard produced in the United States is devoted to packaging material.

Changes in methods of freight transportation have spurred the growth of the packaging industry. Increased reliance upon trucks and airlines for shipment has opened up a vast market for boxes and paperboard containers for shipping in small lots.

Furthermore, since freight costs generally are determined by the weight factors, it is imperative that containers be light in weight as well as resistant to damage. Hence, the use of paper and paperboard containers has grown at the expense of wooden, metal, and glass containers.

Shifts in marketing techniques and in consumer buying habits also have worked to the benefit of the packaging industry. In today's keenly competitive markets, manufacturers and retailers rely heavily upon attractive and practical packaging to help stimulate sales. Self-service marketing, consumer brand consciousness, and promotional tie-ins make packaging a vital business consideration.

Because of the low cost factor of paper and paperboard products, the packaging industry appears destined to enjoy further growth in the consumer and the industry ahead. Moreover, trial levels. The future for the old-line packaging materials should be bright. The market for new materials, such as aluminum foil, plastic pre-films, etc., will provide stiff competition.

Reliability

Two very practical advantages of 1960 Cadillac ownership are minimal maintenance costs and exceptional resale worth. Both have been continuous Cadillac virtues for fifty-eight years, as revealed by the fact that almost half of all the cars ever built by Cadillac are operating today—and thirty thousand of these have been on the road for twenty years or more. This notable record of reliability added to the remarkable operating economy makes the Cadillac for 1960 the wisest of motoring investments.

It's a Dog's World
NEW YORK (UPI)—Dogdom in the United States probably would have the envy of most canines in other countries of the world, notes the weekly retail digest of the American Newspaper Publishers Association.

For instance, dog owners in this country spent $350 million on dog food alone last year, but this does not include mealtime leftovers most pooches are so fond of gobbling up.

FIRE'S FIRST SHOT—Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru, usually more at home with a dove of peace, sights down the barrel of an Army rifle in New Delhi. He fired the first shot opening the national rifle championships.

FILL 'ER UP—After the venerable Rolls-Royce firm announced the development of a motor that would permit better, the Rover Motor Company of England, came up with this family car experimental model. It runs on kerosene. Engineers hope to get 20 miles per gallon.

COUNTRY PLATTERS

LES CARROLL

Have you ever noticed at parties when the group gets to harmonizing, most of the singing is of songs of yesteryear? Somehow time adds enchantment to songs and they bring back many memories.

An LP, "Al Jolson—The World's Greatest Entertainer," is an album of such songs, and Al's singing of them will bring many happy memories. And "Harmonizin' With the Mills Brothers" is another fine collection of old songs that will give you that "sing-along feeling." In another album of old favorites, "Golden Award Songs," Crazy Otto's playing is of such infectious gaiety it can't help but brighten your day (all Decca).

For an exciting treasure chest of Old songs, the three volumes of "American Favorite Ballads" by Pete Seeger, and the three volumes, "Guy Carawan Sings," are hard to beat. Packed into these recordings are most of the best of the Early American songs—sung with such zest and with excellent five-string banjo and guitar picking, as to give one a feeling of stepping back into time (all Folkways).

In the album, "At the Village Gate" and "Sing'a Man," Brock Peters brings both a magnificent singing voice and the ability to portray songs as vividly as an artist painting on canvas (both United Artists). And for more good folk singing you will find the album, "The Cisco Special" by Cisco Houston (Vanguard) and "Hard Travelin'," by the Tarriers (United Artists) exceptionally pleasing listening.

On the country side, "Hank Snow Sings Jimmie Rodgers' Songs," is an excellently sung album of some of Jimmie's most famous songs (RCA). And popular Rose Maddox has re-recorded 12 of her biggest hits, ranging from gay toe-tapping tunes to slow sorrowful ballads, in "The One Rose" (Capitol).

Fine singles releases are "The Old Lampighter" (The Browns, RCA); "The World Keeps Turning" (Tony Douglas, D); "Accidentally on Purpose" (George Jones, Mercury); "Is It Wrong" (Webb Pierce, Decca); "Above and Beyond" (Buck Owens, Capitol); "Come on In" (Country Johnny Mathis, D); "Money, Marbles & Chalk" (Reno & Smiley, King); "Top Gun" (Benny Martin, Decca); "Whirlwind" (Doug Bragg, D); "When Jesus Beckons Me Home" (Stanley Bros., King); "That's All I Got From You" (James O'Gwynn, Mercury); and "Walkin' and Talkin'" (Hank Snow, RCA).
