No Increase in Taxes for City This Time, Commission Pledges

City taxes will not go up this year, according to a pledge made by City Commissioners as they continued their work on the 1960-61 budget. A public hearing was held Monday night on the budget, but there were no objections, suggestions or praises voiced. Actually, Commissioners are still working out the budget. They hope to have it completed in time for passage at the meeting next Monday. As required by charter, City Manager Albert Glassford drew up the budget. It is then up to the Commission to work it over, cutting and adding where they see fit. The manager had included a number of paving projects that would have cost some $107,000 and would have meant an increase in millage of 1.4 mills. The present millage is 12.29 mills, based on the state equalized valuation. But the Commission resolved to "hold the line" on taxes this year, so the ambitious paving program was cut. The budget of each department is getting a close study. It appears that the budget will be close to $580,000. Among the purchases proposed after July 1 is a new base radio for the police department. The government is requiring transmitters to switch to narrower bands. The cost of the new base station is around $1,800.

Zoologist Speaking Tuesday Night On 'Man, the Animal'

How can human beings raise the quality of their species? What can human beings expect of themselves? What should they not expect of themselves? These are some of the problems which will be discussed Tuesday, May 3, from 7:30 to 9 p.m. in the Plymouth High School auditorium at the "Edge of Knowledge" lecture. Dr. Dwight Elmer Minnich, former chairman of the department of Zoology at the University of Minnesota, zoological researcher and writer, will explain some of scientists' most recent information about "Man, the Animal." Reporting to his audience on new advances in zoology, in general, the speaker will specifically give facts about man, himself, entitling his presentation, "Some Problems of Reproduction." The chemistry involved in genetics and early embryology will be explained in terms the layman and junior high and senior high school student can understand. Then reaching from the physical sciences to the social sciences, Dr. Minnich will focus upon the impact which knowledge in zoology has upon man's social, political and economic life. A specialist in several areas, Dr. Minnich holds degrees in Zoology, Anthropology, and Psychology. (Continued on page 8)

State Hospitals Giving Public A Look Inside

Taxpayers who often wonder where state revenue is used will have a chance to see one of the major purposes when the state hospitals at Northville, Ypsilanti and Pontiac open their doors for public inspection during Mental Health Week, May 1 to 7. Each of the three hospitals will use staff members, volunteers and patients as tour guides. Philip N. Brown, M. D., superintendent of Northville State Hospital, outlined programs there throughout Mental Health Week. At Northville State Hospital the theme, "Operation Friendship," which is this year being repeated as a national slogan for the second time due to the public's response, will be translated into a "Progress Report to the Community." Tours for the general public will be conducted on Sunday, May 1 from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. with Open House continuing until 5 p.m. During the same afternoon a program of medical interest is planned for the doctors in this area by Jacob Miller, M. D., co-clinical director. Tours will be conducted by the medical staff for doctors and their wives. If possible, doctors in the area are encouraged to call the hospital to indicate their interest in attending this special program. If it is not possible for them to call in advance, they will be most welcome regardless. Public Officials will be guests at Northville State Hospital on Tuesday afternoon, May 3. That evening at 7:45 p.m., a mental health education film, "Shyness," and discussion in the hospital auditorium, to which the general public is invited, will be given by Wallace Watt, educational consultant of the Mental Health.

School Bands 'On Parade' Thursday

Postponed from April 11, a vast "Parade of Bands" from Plymouth's Junior High and elementary schools will be presented tomorrow evening (Thursday) at 7:30 p.m. at the Plymouth High gymnasium. Included among the band and orchestra groups which will perform are those from each of the elementary schools here plus the Plymouth Junior Symphony, a 11 under the direction of Wayne Dunlap. The Junior High band, the 85-member Junior High Rockets and 14-piece "Rockers," a pop band, will also each play several selections, directed by Larry Livingston. Only the Plymouth High School band will not appear because of previous commitments. The public is invited free of charge.

City Population Up 31%

A preliminary tabulation has been concluded—and it shows that the City of Plymouth has 8,715 inhabitants! That was the word released yesterday by Jack H. McDonald, census district supervisor. McDonald delivered the figure to City officials but warned that there may be some revisions after a more careful examination of the returns are made. He said that the figure for Plymouth Township will be ready next week. The 8,715 indicates an increase of 2,078 since the last federal census in 1950. This represents an increase of 31.3 percent. In 1950 the City population was 6,637. Over the past 10 years, the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission has made yearly estimates of population. On July 1, 1959, the commission had estimated the City population at 8,900 or an increase of 34.1 percent. Their estimate was 185 high. McDonald said that the preliminary figure is essentially correct, but is subject to revision after the returns for non-residents are credited to their proper locality. Neighboring Livonia has 66,080 residents, according to figures released by McDonald there. Ten years ago Livonia had but 17,534 people and has multiplied at an amazing rate of 276 percent. Plymouth Township's population was estimated last July at 7,400.

They Watch As Firemen Fight Garage Blaze

Nine Wayne area young men were rounded up last week in connection with a series of six deliberately-set fires in Canton Township and all have pleaded guilty to setting one of the fires. Appearing in the court of Justice of the Peace John L. Mokorsky Monday afternoon, all nine admitted taking part in starting a fire early on the morning of April 13 that burned an abandoned garage near Warren and Sheldon Roads. They were caught when an alert neighbor spied some of the boys sitting on a Thunderbird convertible watching firemen fight the blaze. It was at 1:08 a.m. on April 18 that Canton Township firemen got a call to the garage fire at 7250 Sheldon. Since the garage and shed were on property that had been abandoned, it was evident that the fire was the work of an arsonist. Norris White, 777 Sheldon, a neighbor, saw the convertible parked down the road and noticed a group of boys sitting on the car enjoying the spectacle. He told Lt. Lawrence Longwish of the car and Longwish instructed him to try to get the license number which White did. As in the case of four other fires last Fall, Fire Chief Fred Korte called for State Police. While firemen were packing up their gear, another call came at 2:17 a.m. This time it was a vacated house at 214 Canton Center Rd. Plymouth Township firemen were called in to assist with the fire. Damage to the old house was estimated at $1,000 while the garage damage in the first fire was $100. Using the license number, State Police, with the aid of Wayne village police, picked up two suspects following the fires. Brought to the Township fire hall, the suspects implicated others. The nine ranged in age from 19 to 24. Some are married. They are: Thomas Ferkovich, 19, of 205 N. Walton, Wayne; Eugene Wolcott, 21, of 2341 Dearfield Ct., Wayne; Ronald Smith, 20, of 30216 Orsego Ct., Wayne; Don Armstrong, 20, of 10136 Palmer, Taylor; Ronald Mitchell, 19, of 35525 Park St., Wayne; James Lutton, Jr., 21, of 34926 Sheridan, Wayne; Elmer Turill, 21, of 31609 Antrim, Wayne; Johnny Norwood, 22, of 3447 Niagara, Wayne; and James Young, 24, of 4483 McKinley, Taylor. Under questioning by Wayne police and Fire Chief Korte, the young men would admit only to the garage fire. But following more questioning Monday, two admitted setting a grainery barn fire last November near Sheldon and Warren Roads. The barn was saved. There were also three other mysterious fires last November and December. They involved two empty houses and an empty barn. (Continued on page 8)

Junior High Band Wins Top Rating

Plymouth's Junior High Rocket Band — comprised of 35 musicians — was awarded a first division superior rating in the recent Junior High Class A section of the Michigan State Band and Orchestra Festival. The festival was held Saturday in Saginaw and featured 11 Junior High Class A bands from various sections of the state. Only Plymouth and Spring Lake Junior High were awarded the coveted first division superior rating. The Rockets were rated excellent in music sight reading. All 11 band entries were required to play "An American Scene" by Grundman. Plymouth's two optional selections were "His Honor," a march by Fillmore and "Fantasy for Band," by Erickson. Second division excellent ratings went to Mt. Pleasant, Troy Baker, Dearborn Bryant, Niles, Grand Haven and Garden City Burger Junior Highs. Third division good ratings were awarded to Traverse City Central, Roseville Guest and Belleville Junior High groups. The Plymouth contingent remained overnight Friday in Saginaw. On their return to Plymouth Saturday evening, the Rockets were escorted through the city by an auto cavalcade in recognition of their achievement in Saginaw. Judges for the festival were Larry Teal of the University of Detroit, William Rivard of Central Michigan University, and Allen P. Britton of the University of Michigan. (Continued on page 8)

IT'S KITE TIME in Plymouth and members of Cub Pack 1533 sponsored by Starkweather School, turned out en masse with their homemade kites last Saturday in Middle Rouge Park. After posing for this picture, they started flying their kites and many soon came to a tragic end in the heavy wind. John Rudlaff is Cubmaster.

New Law Allows Halt of Train Whistling--But They Blow Here

A new state law that permits municipalities to eliminate the blowing of train whistles is now in effect—but the whistles continue to blow in the City of Plymouth. House Bill No. 197, going into effect a month ago, makes it possible to eliminate whistling. It had been approved by the governor on July 8, 1959, but it didn't become effective until this March because the legislature didn't adjourn until the first of the year. The new bill was hailed by many citizens who foresaw the end of the blasts as trains rush through towns — especially on hot nights when all windows are open and it's an effort to sleep anyhow. But a month has gone by since the bill became law, and still the train whistles blow as the locomotives approach each crossing. A few readers who had read an article in The Mail last winter concerning the new bill have wondered why the whistles continue. For one thing, the bill states that the whistle MAY be eliminated within the limits of incorporated cities or villages "unless required by the city or village ordinance." Plymouth Township, of course, would not qualify under the bill, but the City of Plymouth would. The City has no ordinance requiring the whistles to be eliminated. According to Emmett Shea, terminal superintendent of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, the railroad has not directed crews to stop the whistles unless the cities or villages request it. City Manager Albert Glassford said this week that the City has made no request, but that the City Commission may be interested in discussing it with railroad representatives. The act requiring the blowing of whistles was passed in 1873. Whistling was required for safety's sake. But with the advent of flashers and gates, the value of whistles is being questioned. Galín Closing Up After 32 Years

After serving Plymouth for over 32 years in the grocery, appliance and furniture businesses, David Galín, owner of D. Galín & Son, is closing the doors of his store following a sale that opens Thursday. Galín came to Plymouth in the Fall of 1927 and operated the Purity Market, located on the site of the present D & C Store. The building was formerly the Plymouth Hotel. The Purity Market sold only meats, but 10 years later, in 1937, the store was moved to Galín's present location on Penniman Ave. and groceries were added. In 1940 a frozen food locker operation was also started. Galín quit the grocery business in 1945 but kept the locker plant in addition to appliances. In 1956 the store was converted to furniture sales, in addition to small appliances. (Continued on page 8)

NEWS BEAT

When the Plymouth Symphony holds its annual Pop Concert May 7, the audience sitting around tables in the High School gym will be sipping soft drinks, instead of the harder variety served at pop concerts in the big cities. But some intoxicating music is planned by Conductor Wayne Dunlap during the first part of the program. Being heard will be a march written by Meyerbeer, a Strauss selection called "Wine, Women and Song" and, of course, Beethoven's "Fifth."

BUSINESS CHANGE: Miss Margaret Wilson, general manager of the Penn Theatre for 10 years, will become a partner in the business with Mrs. Harry Lush on May 1. Mr. Lush died last month. Miss Wilson started with the Penn behind the candy counter 15 years ago. She will continue her role as manager. POLICE BEAT: For the third time in a month, thieves (or a thief) broke into Bathey Manufacturing Co. on Mill St. last weekend and cracked open four vending machines, taking money, cigarettes and candy. All three burglaries took place on weekends. Mrs. Beatrice Foster, 845 N. Mill, was injured last Friday when her car hit a house belonging to Rose Hawthorne, 224 N. Main. Mrs. Foster, who was trying to turn onto Main St. from Union, said she was unable to straighten the wheel out. The car made a U-turn and crashed into the house on the corner. CALLED OFF: A meeting that had been scheduled for Thursday night for area officials has been postponed. This is the group composed of the Board of Education, the Boards of Plymouth, Canton and Northville Townships and the City Commission. Planned for discussion was whether to form an Area Development Commission. The meeting will probably be rescheduled in a few weeks.

SOME 150 girls and boys turned out for the annual Bicycle Rodeo last Saturday behind the high school. Sponsored by the Optimist Club, the Rodeo puts youngsters through riding skill tests, such as this circle ride. Melinda Purkey, 9, of 1397 Sheridan, won the bicycle. (Continued on page 8)

Still Can Contribute To Crippled Children

While the annual Easter Seal Campaign is officially over, crippled children and adults of Western Wayne county are counting on late returns to bring the drive closer to its goal.

Plymouth is next only to Livonia in donations so far. The Plymouth Easter Seal drive, headed by the Rotary Club, has reached $2,394. Of this, $1,533 has been received through the mail; $672.45 was through the sale of Easter lilies on the downtown sidewalks; and $60.39 was raised through a school campaign.

The grand total of the Western Wayne County drive so far is $21,250. The goal for 1960 was $50,000.

Plymouth's contributions are now second high among 23 communities. They are only $135 less than Livonia which leads the group.

The program in Western Wayne County includes the maintenance of the Easter Seal Center, located just off Michigan Ave. in Inkster.

Those who did not receive Easter Seals in the mail, or who have misplaced their return envelopes, can still mail their contribution directly to the Easter Seal Society, Box 101, Inkster.

Herald Hamill is chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee of Plymouth Rotary. Last year Plymouth donated $2,456.

Plymouth High Band to Compete In State Festival

Departing here Friday evening, the Plymouth High School band, under the direction of James Griffith, will compete Saturday morning in the Michigan State School Band and Orchestra festival in Midland, Mich.

The Plymouth contingent will perform at 9:40 a.m. at the Central Intermediate School in Midland. The band members will return to Plymouth later that day.

In all 15 "AA" high school bands will compete in the festival, Griffith said. The "AA" bracket is the highest in Michigan high school competition.

Three numbers will be performed by the Plymouth High band. They include: "Second Suite in F" by Gustav Holst, "Overture for Band" by Felix Mendelssohn, and "The March Espana Cani" by Marquina.

Results of the competition, which will be judged by several prominent college band directors, will be announced that afternoon.

The public is invited to attend the festival, Griffith said. The Plymouth band will remain overnight Friday in Saginaw.

Early next month, members of the Plymouth High School band will participate in the annual Suburban Six league spring music festival here. That event is scheduled for Friday, May 6, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school gymnasium here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Thompson, 7015 North Beck Rd., are the parents of a son, Brian Del, born Monday, April 18 at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. He weighed 6 lbs. The couple also has a daughter.

Extension Group Discusses Children

Are parents' expectations too great for their children's age level and physical capabilities? The Robinson group of the Michigan Home Economics Cooperative Extension was asked this question and given suggestions for better understanding of their children by Mrs. Roy Birmingham and Mrs. Norman Frid at a meeting last Thursday.

Mr. John Ort, co-hostess, served cheese cake and coffee at the home of Mrs. Alfred Brewer, both of Plymouth.

Plans were discussed for the County-wide craft school April 26 and 27 and the Achievement Night Dinner, May 10, at which Mrs. G. Mennen Williams will be the guest speaker.

First Federal Assets Reach All-Time High

Assets of First Federal Savings of Detroit reached an all-time high of $304,892,414 on March 31, 1960, reports Perry W. Richwine, vice-president and branch manager of First Federal's office at 848 Penniman Ave., Plymouth.

This is an increase of over $30,692,000 for the 12-month period ending March 31. Total savings accounts increased $28,136,425 during the same 12 month period to reach a record high of $272,848,448.

In making $13,256,000 of mortgage loans in the first quarter of 1960, First Federal Savings of Detroit continued its mortgage lending at the same active rate as last year, when mortgage loans for the 12 months totaled $52,552,000. This is in keeping with the First Federal policy of being continuously in the market for sound mortgage loans, and that policy has continued through periods of war and peace, recession and prosperity. As a result, First Federal continues to maintain its position as Michigan's largest mortgage lender, and at present has a total of $237,000,000 of mortgage investments. Over 95 percent of these mortgages are on properties located in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb Counties.

FILM TIME CHANGE

A film on mouth-to-mouth respiration will be shown at the Lapham Elementary School in Salem Township Tuesday evening, May 3, at 8 p.m. instead of 9 p.m. as previously reported.

MEMBERS OF the Janconaco Junior Achievement Co., sponsored by Evans Products, were treated to its annual luncheon by the sponsors last week. D. B. Lawrence, (third from left, standing), sales manager in charge of truck heaters, addressed the group at the Mayflower Hotel. Also shown are advisors James Lowing, Reginald Seal and Gus Yales. Janconaco, which along with other JA firms go out of business this week, made a fuse and bulb holder and a "Kap Katcher."

Will Ask Bidders on School Additions to Forfeit Bond

At the recommendation of their attorney, the Board of Education will ask two low bidders on three elementary school additions to forfeit their bid bonds.

Being hit by the request will be Smith-Roux of Northville, low bidder on the general contract, and Colonial Electric of Detroit, low bidder on electrical work at Smith school.

After bids had been opened last month, both Smith-Roux and Colonial Electric wrote letters asking that their bids be withdrawn because of errors that had been made in figuring.

The Board of Education took a dim view of the requests, since this seems to be happening more frequently. The low bidder on the mechanical work, A-N-J Heating, also had asked to withdraw, but at the school board's threat to keep the bid bonds, the firm decided to stick with the job.

Every bidder must submit a bid bond along with their bids. These are in the amount of five percent of the base bid. In the case of Smith-Roux, the bond is $8,495, a sizeable sum to forfeit.

Smith-Roux had bid $169,900 on a base bid and $14,000 on an alternate bid to build a kindergarten room at Smith.

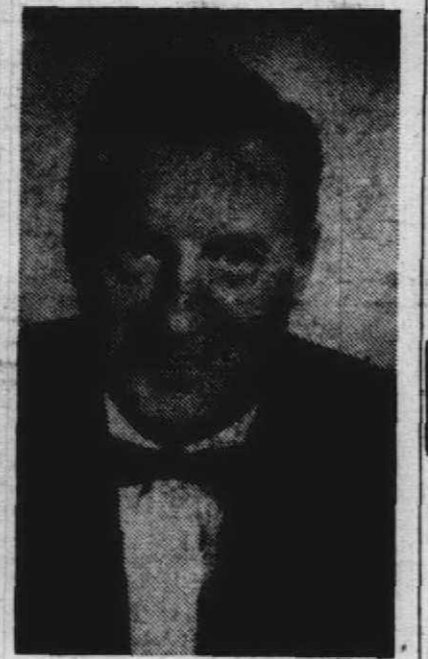

When the firm bowed out, the next lowest bid was accepted. It will go to Burger

Construction Co. of Plymouth. Their base bid was $187,300 and the alternate was $12,000.

The Board voted Monday to have the contracts signed.

A contract for the Smith school electric work will now go to F.J. O'Toole. Their bid was $8,548 while the withdrawn Colonial Electric bid was $7,450.

Work will start soon on additions to Smith, Bird and Starkweather schools.

Frank Bridge

THE orchestra of Detroit's Frank Bridge (above) will provide the music for Fox Hills Country Club's major spring social event, the annual President's Ball, a dinner-dance, Saturday evening, May 7. Chairmen for the activity are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sawyer, who anticipate a capacity crowd for the event which marks the beginning of Fox Hills' third season.

250 Sign for Little League; Second Registration Saturday

More than 250 youngsters, from eight to 12, registered for the newly formed Plymouth Baseball Little League last Saturday at the Junior High athletic field.

Another registration period will be held this Saturday (April 30) at the same location. First games will be Saturday, June 4.

In addition to registration, the boys also tried out for player positions on the eight teams in the league. Try-outs will also be held this Saturday, the last day for both registration and team try-outs.

The eight teams, four assigned to a "National League" and four more within an "American League," have been named after existing major league squads.

There are the Dodgers, Braves, Giants and Pirates in the National division of the local Little League and the Tigers, White Sox, Yankees and Indians in the American.

Last Saturday, more than 100 boys eight and nine years old showed up for registration and try-outs and nearly 150 youths from 10 to 12.

Registration this coming Saturday at the Junior High athletic field will be at 10 a.m. for eight and nine year olds and 2 p.m. for youngsters 10 through 12.

Charles Beegle, president of the National division, explained Monday that all boys must present their birth certificates before they will be permitted to play on any of the Little League teams here.

The birth certificates may be shown at the registration session this Saturday.

Already more than $2,000 has been contributed to the support of the Plymouth Baseball Little League, Beegle said. Additional donations would be welcomed by Little League officials.

Notify Beegle at Davis and Lent in order to make arrangements to help sponsor the local Little League.

At the same time, Beegle listed the team managers. In the National League, Charles Dudley (Dodgers), Joe Gates (Braves), Fred Butler (Giants) and Harold Palmer (Pirates) are the coaches.

Leonard Budnick (Tigers), Barney Maas (White Sox), Mike Sugrue (Yankees) and Don Schroeder (Indians) are the American League team managers, Beegle said.

The current list of the more than 70 sponsors of teams or players in the Plymouth Baseball Little League includes:

PLYMOUTH Little League registration and player try-outs last Saturday drew more than 250 boys from eight to 12. Among the youngsters who turned out were Darryl Binger and Gary Robinson (at the table, above). Little League player agent Lehn Potter is signing up the two boys while other officials watch the proceedings. Another registration and try-out session is set for this Saturday at the Plymouth Junior High School athletic field. There are eight teams in the league and more than 500 boys will participate when games get underway early in June.

THIEF'S OUT OF STEP
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI)—When the Empire State Footwear Assn. held its annual meeting here, the delegates brought only the left shoes of their lines in an effort to discourage thieves. The plan worked.

A salesman reported that a dozen shoes—all for the left foot—were stolen from his car. A short while later police found the abandoned samples and returned them to their owner.

Hoben's Hitters Host Allen Park Tomorrow

Coach Mike Hoben's baseball squad heads into the heavy party of its 1960 schedule this week. The Rocks were slated to play Trenton Monday and Allen Park tomorrow.

Randy Egloff was the probable starting pitcher in both games. The two games begin Suburban Six activity for the Rocks, who shared the championship with Bentley last season.

Both games are home contests. Plymouth split two games with each school last season. Trenton and Allen Park were the only league schools to beat Plymouth last season.

Plymouth in turn was the only team to beat Bentley, feeding the Bulldogs their only two league defeats in 1959. Plymouth plays Redford Union, Monday, May 2, and Bentley, Thursday, May 5. The Redford Union game is away.

With an opening win against Thurston, safely tucked away, the Rocks used the recent Easter vacation period to continue their excellent scrimmage record. They have won nine and lost only one practice game.

SPORTSEEN

By Bill Nelson

Anyone with a name like Rock just has to have an initial appeal to a Plymouth sportswriter.

And so Rocky Colavito has an extra warming effect on many of us with an interest in the world of sports, including a particular concern with the fortunes of Detroit's Tigers.

The Rocky Colavito trade is the best thing that has happened to the Detroit ball club since Hank Greenberg kept the lumber business flourishing by busting seats in left field.

That Rocky has the long ball has been discussed sufficiently in the local press. What makes the trade more meaningful is that it serves notice on the rest of the ball club that no one is sacrosanct. If you can trade an American League batting champion, anyone is subject to such a maneuver.

This is the kind of language that professionals understand.

Tiger fans can expect to see everyone going full tilt in every game, an attitude that has been lacking in recent years as it appeared that the Tigers were just going through the motions—like a tamed circus animal that really isn't to be feared.

There will be an uncontrollable spirit in the Tigers of 1960 that will earn its share of runs simply by its existence. Opposing pitchers cannot face Maxwell, Kaline, Colavito, etc., with the idea that only one can do serious harm.

Luckiest man in Plymouth at the moment is Paul Chandler, who picked the Tigers to finish second over three weeks ago. Chandler claimed new management would have its effect.

The rest of us, meanwhile, are busily revising upward fourth place predictions for the Tigers. Rarely has one trade changed a ball club so much.

Even if they don't win the big prize, the Tigers will give fits to every club in the league. This is no docile animal, anymore—there is a real Tiger loose in the league.

Thinclads Travel To Trenton Looking For Second Victory

With one win in two dual team, meanwhile, was scheduled to meet Trenton at Trenton yesterday.

Two Plymouth residents were among 65 recipients of varsity awards on five Central Michigan University sports teams this past winter.

Bruce Curtis, a sophomore, was awarded a letter in swimming, while Bill Hubert, also a sophomore, earned a letter in basketball.

Over at Western Michigan in Kalamazoo, Gary Wright, a 1957 graduate of Plymouth High, has been named co-captain of Western's swimming team for next season. Gary, an individual and freestyle swimmer in high school, will represent Western in backstroke events next season.

We've already mentioned that Byron Williams, a PHS grad of '59, was elected co-captain of the Western freshman squad at the close of the season. All of which is a tribute to Rock Coach John McFall.

Golfers Meet Four Opponents

Plymouth's unbeaten golfers go to work in earnest this week after the Easter vacation. With two wins (Redford Union and Bentley) behind them, the Rocks will meet four opponents in five days.

Today they meet Thurston after a match last Monday with Allen Park. Tomorrow it's Thurston and Friday, Brighton. The Rocks' performance this week will in large measure determine what kind of a season they will have.

Descendants Get Together EAST GREENWICH, R. I. (UPI)—Two cousins, descendants of Gen. Nathaniel Greene of Revolutionary War fame, met for the first time recently. Thomas Casey Greene of East Greenwich and Samuel Charles Greene of Chile, who was in the U.S. on business, dined together at Gen. Greene's birthplace.

Seven Girls Confess Shoplifting

Seven Plymouth Junior High School girls have admitted to police that they stole items from local stores because their parents "weren't able to afford the things they needed."

The girls, 12 and 13 years old, are to appear for further questioning at the police station today. Their parents have been asked to accompany them.

Two of the girls were stopped Monday noon after an employee of Peterson's Drugs noticed them taking items. Police were notified and the girls were found hurrying back to the Junior High.

Following questioning, they admitted the thefts and others were implicated. Police went to the Junior High and questioned the others. The girls turned over some of the stolen items to police that they had put in their lockers or purses. One girl was wearing a stolen skirt.

Many other items were taken home and will be returned when the girls and their parents appear at the police station. Taken were such things as cosmetics of all kinds, pens, pencils, sun glasses and items of clothing.

Police making the investigation quoted the girls as saying that they had to take the items because their parents couldn't afford to buy them. Mentioned among the "necessities" was mascara, which they said "all the girls are wearing" and that the others made fun of them because they weren't wearing it.

Police had several paper sacks of items. Several bottles of a lotion that makes it appear that one has a sun tan were included. Most girls now use this artificial tan on their legs now, the girls claimed.

The thefts have been going on for at least several weeks. Apparently most of the thefts took place over the noon hour with the girls rushing downtown and back.

Drug stores, dime stores and some women's dress shops were visited.

New Law Allows

Shea said that both Livonia and Farmington have decided that they want the train whistles to continue.

The City of Plymouth has seven railroad crossings, including Sheldon Rd. which is on the City-Township boundary. There are still three crossings not protected by gates or flashers. These are at Farmer St., Holbrook Ave. and York St. Stop signs have been placed at these three crossings.

House Bill No. 197 states that if a whistle is sounded, that it will be sounded "twice sharply ... at least 40 rods (220 yards) before any highway crossing is reached."

Nine Admit Arson

The nine were at first charged with arson of real property, a felony. But there was insufficient evidence to prove the case, according to Chief Korte, so the charge was reduced to burning of personal property, a misdemeanor.

A gasoline can with fingerprints was found by State Police last Fall following one of the fires. After the nine men were fingerprinted, the prints turned out to be those of Norwood. But he told authorities that he couldn't understand how they got on the can.

Norwood and Walton admitted throwing gasoline around in the garage on April 13 while the others sat in their cars and watched.

Most of the nine have been arrested previously on driving violations. They had posted bond after being picked up over the past week. Justice Mokersky will pass sentence on June 1.

Chief Korte said this week that none of the buildings burned were of great value, but that continuation of the arson might lead to burning of property inhabited by someone. He noted that a fireman could also be hurt or killed in fighting such a fire.

He praised the Wayne police and especially Sgt. Walter MacGregor for their diligent work on the case.

Dave Galin

Galin Closing

At one time, Galin operated a branch of his Purity Market on Starkweather Ave., now known as Bill's Market. Two of his employees during those years were John Rogin, now operator of Penniman Market, and Milton Orr, operator of Bill's Market. The original owner of Bill's Market, Bill Choffin, also worked for him.

Galin states that after spending half of his lifetime as a Plymouth businessman, he hopes to remain here in some other capacity.

"I came to the conclusion that it is not possible to properly merchandise furniture with the amount of space we have available," the store owner declared.

Everything in the store, and the building itself, will be up for sale starting tomorrow. Galin emphasized that it is not a bankruptcy sale.

Galin, 62, was born in Russia. He attended a private school there, but under the oppression of the Czarist regime, he left Russia at the age of 17.

During World War I he enlisted in the Navy and in 1920 started in business in River Rouge. He has been active in Plymouth affairs during his years here, heading many committees of the Chamber of Commerce and was recently president of the Rotary Club. He has served as a vice-president and district director of the Michigan Frozen Food Locker Assn. and was a member of the American Legion.

A resident of Detroit, Galin is a board member of Adas Shaalom congregation and board chairman of the Northwest Hebrew Memorial Park, Livonia.

Out-of-Town Bidder Given City Contract

City Commissioners have approved the low bid of an "out-of-town" excavating contractor rather than the bid of a Plymouth firm that was $760 higher.

Last year the Commission approved a resolution stating that local bidders would be favored if their bids were competitive.

Clinansmith Bros., the local excavating firm, had bid $74,750 on a 16-inch water main that will be laid from Mill St. to Haggerty Rd. A Detroit firm, S. Weissman Excavating Co., Inc., bid $73,990, or $760 less.

At a meeting on April 18 at which the bids were presented, the job's consulting engineer, Herald F. Hamill, recommended that Weissman be given the job. But Stanley Clinansmith and several other interested parties were at this meeting to note that the Commission had approved a resolution last year to give local firms the edge when possible.

There was also a statement made at the meeting that some of the checks written by Weissman for work subcontractors performed in the Masserman - Springdale Subdivision were not good.

In a report made by City Manager Albert Glassford, the Commission was told that Weissman admitted that he was lax in getting funds deposited to cover the checks in question, but that it was not because of any shortage of funds.

Weissman was at Monday night's meeting and stated that his firm now has major jobs going in Livonia and Detroit, and he noted that he too pays taxes in Plymouth. (He has an interest in the Symar Subdivision.)

City Attorney Harry Deyo, asked his opinion concerning the legality of not accepting the low bid, said that the city "opens itself" wide open for law suits both from the contractor whose bid was low, and from any taxpayer who felt the city was spending money unnecessarily.

Deyo said that it was his personal opinion that local contractors who want to be favored would soon find that the "knife cuts both ways." He asserted that when local contractors bid on out-of-town jobs they may find themselves let out if other municipal bodies started favoring hometown contractors.

Mayor Harold Guenther added that should the Commission favor hometown bidders although they are not low, the City would soon find only hometown contractors bidding.

Altogether there were 10 bidders for the water main job. The contract calls for completion of the job by July 1. A new contract with Burroughs Corp. calls for supplying the big plant with a 16-inch main by that date.

The main will also serve future industrial customers across the road from Burroughs.

Zoologist Speaking

Dr. Minnich holds degrees in mathematics, French and zoology, having received his Ph.D. in the last field at Harvard University. The pride of his non-academic life, however, is his world-renowned collection of rare art prints. Dr. Minnich and his wife began the collection in 1928 while they were in Europe on a Guggenheim fellowship.

In recognition of his work in zoology Dr. Minnich has served as secretary, vice president and president of the American Society of Zoologists.

This is the third annual Edge of Knowledge program. The series, serving as a memorial to 10-year-old Kim Worland, who died in 1957, is sponsored by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worland, 290 Sunset.

Following the one hour lecture there will be a 30 minute question and answer period, moderated by Dr. Carroll Munshaw, 640 Byron. For persons who wish to pursue the field of zoology further, Dr. Minnich will recommend numerous books.

The program is particularly planned for all adults of Plymouth and the surrounding communities, and for junior high and senior high school students. It is without charge.

Mighty Niagara Fulfills Dream Of German Exchange Student

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles by Ursula Kell, a German exchange student attending Plymouth High School. She is living with the W. V. Clarke family, 533 Burroughs.)

By URSULA KELL

I was about 11 years old and it was the first year I learned English. It was about the 13th or 14th lesson in the new book and I still remember exactly one page, page 69. The title of it was: "Niagara Falls, a World Wonder." And below there was a picture in black and white showing the Falls.

This photograph must have impressed me quite a bit, because I still remember exactly everything: the men, small as a head of a pin, standing over this abyss of water. Our teacher told us that the water is beautifully colored at night and if ever we would have a chance to go to America we should not miss this.

The book described the falls with the most wonderful words. This is another place I have to see, when I am great and rich, that's what I thought. But actually I never dreamed that I really would have the chance to go there.

Well, I was so lucky to come to America and also I was so lucky to see Niagara Falls, because it is not necessarily true that if you see

America you also see Niagara Falls. (First when you come to this country, you think you will see California, Alaska, Florida, New York and everything, because you look at it with the eyes of a European. But pretty soon you get to realize the vast distances of this continent.)

When I learned that my American family wanted to take me for a trip to Niagara Falls I was very excited about it and I wrote it to all my friends in Germany. Our conclusion was that I must look pretty much American. He was not a bit suspicious.

We were not supposed to stop right on the Ambassador Bridge. But since I probably saw it the first and last time in my life, I wanted to take a picture. So we waited until everything was clear. I ran out of the car, my camera made "click" and off we went. Nobody saw us, not even a police car. When we drove through Canada for about eight hours, I was a little disappointed. It seemed so deserted and a little dull and grey. Part of the impression was probably due to the fact that the weather was real bad. We stopped in London, drove through Paris and Hamburg, where I felt quite at home.

Our hotel at Niagara Falls was very nice, especially our room. We had television, a phone and everything. I had never seen such a comfortable hotel room before. From the window we had a view right over the falls to the American and Canadian side. In the very first moment I was a little disappointed, because they seemed so small. I forgot the distance from which I looked. At night, though, with all the different colors it was really something you could not forget. We sat at the window and just watched for a while.

The next morning we went out to explore the falls. We went all over with the car, so we could see it from all different spots and stop. Again I took pictures and pictures. The most exciting thing we did was to go through a tunnel directly behind the falls. Protected by high boots and raincoats you stand at a little opening and don't see splashing water in front of you. It is beautiful to see this tremendous force and it leaves quite an impression behind you.

When we left Niagara Falls we went to Pennsylvania. If ever I would come to live in the United States, I would live in Pennsylvania. You wonder why? It looks just like Germany. I love the hills and the woods of it. Pennsylvania to me doesn't seem quite as busy as here around Detroit. Perhaps I better say, that part of Pennsylvania in the south east of Buffalo.

I also went to some Indian reservations which I had never seen before. I expected them to live in tents and still live in their native customs. Nothing of this was true. I asked a girl for her name, expecting a real Indian name like "Flying Feather" or something like that. She just said "Diane", which didn't sound very romantic.

On the way back we also stopped at the first oil well in the United States. I was mighty proud to see it and my camera made "click" again. I am glad I took so many pictures. Then I cannot forget this wonderful Easter vacation I had in the United States.

In November, 1854, more than 1,000 Missourians invaded Kansas and helped elect a pro-slavery delegate to Congress.

Hunting Fatalities Down, Woundings Up During '59

Michigan's hunting accident toll improved in one direction and slipped in another last year as 16 persons were killed and 270 wounded during the deer and small game seasons.

Last year's fatality figure is one above that of 1956, lowest on state records which have been accurately compiled since 1930. The 1959 hunting injury total, on the other hand, is the highest recorded.

With an estimated 637,000 hunters afield during the small game seasons, eight persons were killed and 219 wounded. Averages were one fatality and one wounding per 79,635 and 2,909 licenses, respectively. The 1958 figure showed one fatality and one wounding per 57,589 and 3,455 licensees.

Based on "known age" causes of fatalities and injuries, Department statisticians estimate hunters 11-17 years old, representing 15 percent of all small game licensees, were responsible for 26 percent of the accidents. Those in the 18-30 age bracket, comprising 31 percent of the small game hunters, caused 43 percent of the accidents. Persons 31 years and older, making up the remaining 54 percent, caused 31 percent of the accidents.

Accidents claimed eight lives and wounded 50 persons during Michigan's firearm deer season; one injury was reported during the archery deer season. Deer license sales totaled 512,017, including 41,103 bow and arrow licenses.

On the basis of license holders; these figures average out to one death per 64,002 and one injury per 10,040. In 1958 averages were one fatality and one injury per 42,162 and 10,082 licensees, respectively.

Breaking down deer season deaths and wounding ac-ording to "known age" causes, it is estimated that those under 18, comprising seven percent of the hunters, were responsible for 11 percent of the accidents. Thirty-nine percent of the accidents were caused by hunters in the 18-30 age group who made up 29 percent of a 11 deer licensees. Hunters 31 years and older, representing the other 64 percent, caused 50 percent of the accidents.

In 96 of all accidents, including six fatalities, the victim was within 10 yards of the fired weapon. Mistaking humans for game, shooting at movement or sound, other hunter firing misjudgments and stray bullets caused nine deaths and 149 injuries. Accidental discharges claimed four lives and wounded 74 while mechanical failures caused seven injuries.

Machine Grades Cotton NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — A new machine developed by Dr. K. L. Hertel of the University of Tennessee and made by Spinnac Corp. grades raw cotton by staple length and color. It is expected to grade and class 100 samples an hour, three times the speed of the expert manual cotton classifier.

Stamp Firms Report NEW YORK (UPI) — More than 138,000 stores will issue stamps of eight leading trading stamp concerns during 1960, a survey indicated.

However, there are from 250 to 500 different trading stamp companies in business and experts say there are no accurate figures on how many stamps are issued or how many stores use them.

Plan Installation Of New Officers For Eta Psi

Local Eta Psi chapter members met April 19 for their last business meeting under present officers. New officers will be installed at the next meeting May 3.

The most recent gathering was held at the home of Mrs. Don Holt, 630 Blunk.

A report on the visit with Eta Tau chapter, of Livonia, was presented by Mrs. Gerald Fuelling. Other chapters in the area were also entertained at the Veterans Building in Plymouth recently.

Mrs. Fuelling said that City Council representatives will be installed in May when the Council meets. Old and new chapter representatives will meet together when the Council convenes for its May meeting.

The Founders Day event is expected to be a huge success. Six Eta Psi pledges will receive the ritual of jewels at that time.

They are: Mrs. Thomas Marshall, Mrs. Howard Drennan, Mrs. Harry Luce, Mrs. Robert Probeck, Mrs. Richard Swanson, all of Plymouth, and Mrs. Jess Edwards of Livonia.

The annual rummage sale is being planned for May 20 and 21 and indications are that it will exceed last year's in measure of success. Eta Psi is also planning a second birthday celebration for June 2.

Mrs. Arthur Walker, in charge of the recent meeting, gave a talk on "Speech Tools for the Art of Life." Refreshments were served. Eta Psi will meet May 3 at the home of Mrs. Lee Rehebin, McClumpha Road.

GARDEN TOOLS

Dear "Miss Louisa:" We have just bought a house and we have a yard. Will you please give me a list of garden tools as we do not own any and don't want to buy the wrong ones. — Mrs. F. T. H.

Dear Mrs. F. T. H.: Garden tools are an investment and should be well cared for. Try never to borrow them from your neighbors, as they are apt to get broken and that is no way to win friends. Mark all of your own tools by painting the handles, preferably with a gay color so that you can see them in the grass and also identify them. Store them carefully and put them away clean as this will increase the life of the tool. Start by buying a good strong iron rake, a hoe, a large shovel, a strong trowel, a pair of pruning shears and a wheelbarrow or garden cart.

DRAPERY ECONOMY

Dear "Miss Louisa:" I recently had an estimate made for draperies and found that the print material that I wanted to use required a great deal more material than I thought it would take. What makes printed materials so much more costly than plain? — Miss R. S.

Dear Miss R. S.: In order to have draperies in a definite design, many extra feet are required to match the pattern and to have the whole motif in the right place in the drapery. A large design of flowers will measure at least 27 inches in the repeat. It is more economical to choose a smaller pattern if you can find what you want. Often there is considerable waste of material in draperies with a large design.

NO YELLOWING

Dear "Miss Louisa:" Will you please tell me how to keep newspaper clippings from turning yellow? — K. Y. G.

Dear Mr. K. Y. G.: I do know that bright sunlight quickly turns newspaper yellow so I would suggest that you store your valuable clippings in a dark place. You might also seal them in a cellophane bag. Silver fish often eat newspaper so it might be well to put some mothflakes in the box. I have found that clippings pasted in scrapbooks that are not exposed to the light for long periods also keep their color very well.

PROBLEM WALLS

Dear "Miss Louisa:" The home we have just bought has pine walls with an orange tint to them in the living room and dining room. I think my mahogany furniture will have to go, don't you? My fireplace is of Tennessee stone in a gray-beige and I've put a fireplace ensemble in it that is black and brass. The fireplace has no mantel. My problem is what to put on the fireplace wall which is six by six feet. — Mrs. N. K.

Dear Mrs. N. K.: From your letter, without seeing the room, I would suggest that you paint the pine walls in a gray-beige to blend with the stone fireplace. Mahogany furniture can be used and is perfectly proper with pine walls and it will look very pretty against the gray. In many old Colonial houses pine paneling is painted and in modern houses, too. Having the fireplace and the walls the same color will make the rooms look larger. As to what to put over the mantel, in a place that size I would hang a large picture. Since this is a focal point in the room I would put something that I really liked—let it more or less influence the decorations of the room; that is, the colors in the picture might be used for the colors in your draperies and slipcovers. Maps are interesting when framed, or large prints of flowers or birds. With the black fireplace accessories, a black and white etching or print might be attractive, with a black frame.

AN OLD PATTERN

Der "Miss Louisa:" What is Delft? I overheard someone talking about a china by this name and I thought that you could give me some information on the subject. — M. J. C.

Dear M. J. C.: There is a town in Holland called Delft that is famous for its pottery works and has been for centuries. Here they manufacture the blue and white tiles seen around fireplaces and also a great deal of pottery with blue and white designs comes from Delft. Other colors are used but a deep blue is most often seen. People often call this type of china and figurines "Delft."

A SMALL ORCHARD

Dear Miss Louisa: We want to order some fruit trees for our small backyard and see dwarf fruit trees advertised in a catalogue. Are these good to buy? — Mr. J. D. M.

Dear Mr. J. D. M.: Dwarf fruit trees are exactly what you want for a small lot. They do not grow as large as the regular kind, (dwarf pears about man high, dwarf apples 12 to 15 feet) and they bear full size fruits when only 4 to 6 years old. You can plant them closer together, and they're easy to prune, being so dwarf.

FRAGRANT VIOLETS

Dear Miss Louisa: Do you remember the corsages of Parma violets that were popular half a century ago? Big round bunches with a red rose in the center. The violets were double and had the most divine fragrance. Can plants of these violets still be found? — Miss C. McI.

Dear Miss C. McI.: Yes, I do remember the double DeParne violets, I think they were only grown by florists. Later a variety that was called Marie Louise took its place. Double violets are advertised in some catalogues, also fragrant violets, but it has been a long time since I have really smelled a violet. I do have the names of some nurseries that might help you.

JUNIOR READER

Dear Miss Louisa: Is a black and white collie a real collie like the tan colored "Lassie" we see on TV? I don't think so, but my friend has one and says it is pure bred. — Timmy, age 11.

Dear Timmy: Indeed a black collie is a real collie. Sometimes this type will have a white shoulder and touches of tan and is officially known as a Tri-Color. White and tan, and all-white collies are pure bred ones, too. Long, long ago on the moors of Scotland, the ancestors of the collie dogs of today were all black or they had a little white on them. They were most intelligent dogs and could herd sheep as well as a man could. To this day in Scotland, there are trials when the Scottish collies compete with one another.

Farrand School Safety Patroller Selected for Washington Trip

Ralph C. Heid, of the Farrand School safety patrol, will head for Washington, D.C. in two weeks to attend the 24th National AAA Safety Patrol Rally.

Ralph, 11, of 14417 Oxford, has been named as Plymouth's official delegate to the rally, May 12-15. He will be among 109 outstanding Michigan patrollers going on the four-day, all-expense paid trip as guests of Automobile Club of Michigan.

"This year's group of patrollers will have a dual distinction," said Ernest P. Davis, Auto Club safety and traffic director. "Besides representing their 58,000 fellow Michigan patrollers, their participation in the rally will be a highlight of the 40th anniversary of the safety patrol movement, which started in Detroit and has become international."

The Michigan youngsters will travel to Washington aboard private cars of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad. They will depart from Michigan Central Depot in Detroit on Thursday, May 12, following registration and a physical check-up.

Following their arrival in Washington on Friday morning, the patrollers will spend a portion of their time touring such historic landmarks as the Capitol Building, Arlington Cemetery, Mt. Vernon and Washington Monument.

Friday evening the youngsters will meet Congressmen from their home districts at a special dinner.

Climax of the rally will occur Saturday morning when the Michigan delegation joins 35,000 other patrollers from across the U.S. for the traditional march down Constitution Ave. The five-mile long parade is the largest held annually in the nation's capital.

The Michigan group will return to Detroit on Sunday morning. Staff members of Auto Club's safety and traffic division will escort patrollers from outside the Detroit area to and from their homes. Two registered nurses will accompany the group on the trip.

Grange Cleanings

The Grange's regular business meeting on April 21 was well attended.

With White Cane Week now in progress, John Ker-ciu, from the local Lions Club, gave an interesting and informative talk on the history of Lions Club work and also on the Leader Dogs for the Blind School in Rochester.

The next meeting, May 5, will be equally as interesting.

There will be a potluck supper at 6:30 and promptly at 8 p.m. a film from the Michigan Cancer Foundation on early diagnosis of cancer will be shown with Mrs. Carless, one of our local school nurses, there to answer questions.

Invite your friends and neighbors; we can never learn too much about this dread disease. A business meeting for all members will follow.

Entry blanks for the sewing contest must be in to Sister Rienas by April 30 if your garment is not finished.

Deadline for finished garments is May 5 or at the next meeting. At that time they will be judged and modeled immediately after the cancer film.

Any member who has not planned a summer vacation, contact our Worthy Master, who has all the information on the trip to Washington, DC in June for the dedication of our National Grange Building. It sounds like a very inexpensive and interesting trip.

Sorry to hear brother Fred Hines is in St. Mary's Hospital, but is improving.

Brother Kenneth Lunn was in St. Joseph Hospital last week for observation, but he returned home with activities limited for some time.

Very happy to hear Sister Nelligan who fell about six weeks ago is able to be out again.

Jerry Seibert Says...

Today Whistler's mother is outdated by whistled-at mothers. Mother, too, travels by jet. Neither mothers of ninety, nor those who merely have moments of feeling so, want to be considered as that venerable institution, "dear old Ma."

The most practical and efficient mother is still a woman who would love to be thought of as "fragile and feminine."

No feminine heart beats madly for a do-it-yourself, tool-kit (even with flower-decked handles) or a fancy dishmop in spring pastels.

Mother may love any gift because it's from you, but why not give her a Mother's Day gift she can love because it makes her feel pampered and lovely and suits her and her life.

A glamorous example could be a necklace of Marvellus pearls. Their luster, newly developed by Marvella, combines the white-whiteness of freshwater pearls with the deep inner glow of real orientals into the most flattering "pearl look" since oysters were discovered.

A two or three strand necklace in the new-as-

TWO pearl necklaces, worn together here, with matching earrings, in Marvella's new design. It's a five-strand bib worn above a three-strand Princess length.

1960 Princess length would be smartly becoming to any size, age, or figure mother.

(For a really lavish gift: two necklaces, one a bib, would give Mother endless combinations — a whole pearl wardrobe.)

A different gift, fun and useful if Mother needs a slight assist in reading the fine print in telephone books and menus: magnifying glasses which look like a lorgnette. Jeweled or plain, it folds compactly into its own case.

Twice as glamorous gift: Max Factor's special combination of a purse-size vial of either Hypnotique or Primitif perfume, attached to a big, elegantly-shaped bottle of Spray Mist Cologne in a matching fragrance. Both for the regular price of the cologne. Mother will like the spray-on bottle, too.

Even if mother hasn't yet tried eye make-up, she'd like to. Give her the three essentials: mascara, eye shadow and liquid eye-liner in a color keyed to her own eye color.

Helena Rubenstein's Mascara-Matic makes mascara application easy, and effective. She suggests that luminous shades of blue, green or violet are most subtle, as well as being exciting for evening. Choose opalescent eye-shadow in a harmonizing shade.

Iridescent eye-liner, which has no color, only a soft glow, will make any woman feel glamorous as Cleopatra's daughter. It can also be worn over a plain color to soften the shade.

Nothing so pleases the heart of a true collector as an item for her collection. If mother loves lingerie, books on the Paleolithic period, buy her another—even if you think she already has plenty. It's her day.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lee Gribble

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gribble To Reside in North Dakota

Janice Marie Vernon and Jerry Lee Gribble exchanged their vows of marriage in an evening ceremony April 15 at the First Baptist Church in Wayne.

Janice is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Norman Vernon of 1090 Lotz Rd., Wayne, and her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Gribble of 38275 West Six Mile, Livonia.

Both young people are graduates of Plymouth High School.

Following a wedding trip through Michigan's Upper Peninsula, the new Mr. and Mrs. Gribble traveled on to their new home in North Dakota, where the groom is stationed at Grand Forks with the U.S. Air Force.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Janice's father before an altar decorated with candles and vases of flowers.

The bride was gown in white "Ido" bridal taffeta, French-imported val lace, appliques with seed pearl around the neck and a bouffant skirt and chapel train.

The bride's mother wore royal blue peau de soie with matching shoes, hat and gloves. She had a pink camellia with a white hyacinth corsage.

Mrs. Gribble, for her son's wedding, was dressed in beige silk-embroidered organza over taffeta with beige accessories. Her flowers were the same as those of the bride's mother.

A reception for 350 guests was held following the ceremony in the church parlor. More than 500 attended the ceremony, itself.

Guests came from as far away as Chicago and Saginaw to attend the ceremony.

WHAT'S NEW

A new electric shaver incorporates a principle never before used in women's shavers—an adjustable shaving head. With the flick of switches on the front and back panels, roller combs are raised for the gentle underarm shaves or lowered for close, safe shaving action on legs. (Lady Remington, Sperry Rand Corp., Bridgeport, Conn.)

A wedge-shaped sponge on a long handle gets into every nook and cranny of carafes, coffee makers, slender pitchers and other difficult to wash items. (Wonder Wedge, Curtis-Wright Corp., New York, N.Y.)

A new all-purpose iron has 17 steam vents, scientifically distributed over the entire sole plate, producing steam quickly to save ironing time. With a flip of a switch, it becomes a conventional dry iron. (Proctor-Silex Corp., Philadelphia, Pa.)

A new ironing board, utilizes three different ironing surfaces. In its first position, it is three inches longer, yet narrower than other boards, enabling the user to iron small dresses, ruffles, pleats and other delicate work. In its second position, it becomes square at the nose end and breadth for flat wear. The third position is one in which the board broadens, providing greater width for slacks, trousers and other wide and long pieces. In all three positions, the table is rigid, rugged and adjusts to proper ironing height. (Proctor-Silex Corp., Philadelphia, Pa.)

When You Buy A Carpet

BY ROSELLA M. BANNISTER
Wayne County Extension Agent, Home Economics

Many of the new carpets for 1960 are so eye-catching in design that they look almost too good to be used. Actually, most carpets are easy to care for as well as easy on the eye.

Rug designers are contributing to easy care in carpets by offering attractive textures and colors which are practical as well as pretty. New wool and wool-blend carpets have been permanently mothproofed by major manufacturers, while carpets made of synthetic fibers are naturally mothproof.

If you are in the market for new carpeting this spring, here are answers to some questions you may ask:

Question: Which carpet fiber is best for durability?
Answer: Carpet durability cannot be determined on the basis of fiber content alone. Three things account for the service you will get from a carpet—its basic quality, the use it receives, and the care you give it.

Question: What is the best way to determine carpet quality?
Answer: The best single clue to carpet quality is the density of the pile—the height of the pile, and the closeness of the tufts. In other words, look for "yarn coverage" in greatest density for good quality.

Question: Is one carpet weave any better than another?
Answer: No. At one time, weaves indicated quality. Today's carpets may be produced on traditional looms, such as Wilton, velvet or Axminster, or they may be knitted or tufted. Any construction method may be used for good quality, so look for the appearance you prefer.

Question: Are man-made fibers used for carpets the same as those used for clothing and other household furnishings?
Answer: No. Fibers must be engineered for carpet use, generally in heavier weight because of the wear they get. They may be of the same basic type but not of the same construction.

Question: My wall-to-wall carpet shows wear at the entrance and around the chairs. How can I avoid this extra wear?
Answer: Either protect such areas with a soft-backed area rug over the carpet, or shift the furniture occasionally. Even a slight shift will change the traffic pattern in a room and help avoid extra wear.

Question: We have small children and would like to buy a practical carpet. What should I look for?
Answer: Color and texture are important factors to consider. A medium color, a close texture, and a patterned or tweed design will do a good job of disguising soil and traffic.

50 Attend 'Bon Voyage' Tea

A "Bon Voyage" tea was given for Miss Neva Lovewell and Mrs. Lila Humphries on Wednesday afternoon, April 20, in the home of Mrs. John Wimsatt of Amherst Court in Plymouth Hills.

The affair was attended by nearly 50 guests from Plymouth, Northville, Livonia and Wayne.

Miss Lovewell, a retired school teacher, and Mrs. Humphries left Plymouth last Friday. They spent a few days in New York City and then sailed Tuesday on the New Amsterdam.

They will visit 10 countries, returning July 15. In Falkirk, Scotland they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Taylor, formerly of Plymouth.

In Germany they will attend the Passion Play. They expect to have a private audience with Pope John in Rome and will take a four-day "Fairytale Tour" of Denmark and a six-day "Viking Tour" of the fjords around Oslo.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Elvin Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Humphries, by Mrs. Howard Beck and Dr. Victoria Lovewell, a cousin of Mrs. Lovewell.

Sewing Group Needs Volunteers

With the new year just beginning for the St. Mary Hospital Guild, the sewing committee is in need of volunteers for the chairman of Redford, Farmington and Northville. Please contact General Chairman Marty Lynch, GA 1-7685.

At present, 10 or 12 members have been meeting once a week at Ladywood High School on a special project for the Guild, while the other members are sewing on the immediate needs of the hospital, such as glove covers, sterilizing covers and restrainers.

Little has been said to date of the multiple activities of this committee but other members of the Guild recognize their efforts and appreciate them.

4-H Club Members Show Off Handiwork During NW District Achievement Day

More than 250 4-H club members from the Northwest 4-H District marked the close of their winter season last Saturday by displaying their many items of handiwork at the Plymouth Junior High Auditorium.

Included on the agenda for the Northwest District 4-H Achievement Day was a Fun Festival that evening.

Among the 250 exhibits—all of which were studied by judges during the afternoon and some of which were awarded ribbons—were displays of food stuffs, clothing, woodcraft, electrical craft, knitting, home improvement, first aid and photography.

All of the items on display were made by the 4-H club members.

Among the boys receiving honor awards was Bill Ray, from Plymouth, who was named in the clothing competition. He was the only boy entered and the shirt he made took top honors. John Senninger, 15, received another honor award for his complex electrical wiring diagram of a garage. The winning youngsters were presented with their ribbons during the evening program, which was capped by a musical-entertainment show.

Gretchen Steiner and Nancy Spigarelli, both from Plymouth, placed second in the "Fun Festival" awards competition for their ballet presentation of "Country Girl."

Girls receiving dress review honor awards included: Elaine Allen, Sarah Stout, Luanne Gendreau, Pam Cripe, Mary Ellen Murdock, Wanena Elkins, Margie Victor, Pat Downing, Catherine Trasge, Eileen Scheppele and Susan Niemi.

Others were Linda Threagould, Diane Gall, Lynn Cole, Sandy Smith, Diane Lally, Bernadette Carrico, Alice Ann Ahó, Judy Hanson, Anieta Engler, Carolne Pagenkopf, Patty Fehlig, Carol Scheppele.

Dog Vaccination Time Lengthened

In January of this year, the City Commission changed the Dog Ordinance to comply with a recommendation of the Michigan Department of Health. The suggested change was prompted by a series of studies on the type of rabies vaccine that is currently in use by most every veterinarian.

The results of these studies showed that the new anti-rabies vaccine is effective for at least two years. Therefore, the state health department recommended that all cities, townships and counties throughout the state change their ordinances so that dogs will have to be vaccinated only every two years, if this new vaccine is used.

The effect this change has upon dog owners is this: If a dog was vaccinated last year and the vaccination certificate indicates either "avianized" or "two year vaccine," he will not have to be vaccinated again this year in order to get a license. All the owner has to do is to show the vaccination certificate for last year.

Then, upon payment of the regular $2 license fee, the dog will be licensed until May 31, 1961. Thus, although each dog must still be licensed each year, the dog must be vaccinated only every other year. It is, therefore, very important that the vaccination certificate issued by the veterinarian be saved so it can be presented at the time the dog license is applied for. No dog license will be issued unless satisfactory proof of anti-rabies vaccination is presented.

In past years, the city has conducted a vaccination clinic and we will continue the practice again this year. However, this year the clinic will be held one day only. The clinic will be held at the City Hall on Saturday, May 21, from 9 a.m. until noon, and from 1 p.m. until 5 p.m. If a dog is vaccinated and licensed at the clinic this year, the total cost will be $6. The annual dog license is still $2 per year, but the charge for the two year anti-rabies vaccination will be $4.

If a dog is vaccinated at the clinic, everything will be taken care of at one time. That is, the dog will be vaccinated and a new dog license will be issued. If the dog is vaccinated at a veterinarian's office, the owner will have to make a trip to the City Hall sometime prior to May 31 to get the $2 dog license.

The important points to remember are: First, each dog in the City of Plymouth must be licensed every year before the first day of June. Old licenses expire on the last day of May each year.

Second, in order for a dog to be licensed, he must be vaccinated against rabies.

Third, a dog vaccinated with the new two-year vaccine is immune for two years, and so has to be vaccinated against rabies every other year.

Fourth, satisfactory proof of vaccination must be presented at the time the dog license is applied for. This may be done by having the dog vaccinated by a licensed veterinarian, or at the clinic to be held on May 21 at the City Hall, or by showing last year's vaccination certificate indicating that the two year vaccine was used.

Finally, since the cost of the two year vaccine is $4, the total cost for vaccination and a dog license this year will be $6.

Telling a Squirrel's Age

BLACKSBURG, Va. (UPI) — Wildlife experts at Virginia Tech tell hunters to judge the age of a squirrel by looking at the flattened underside of its tail.

Bone showing one-third of the way up the tail means the squirrel is less than six months old and much more tender for stewing. The adult squirrel has a bushier tail.

Gallimore Third Graders Are Guests at Wedding

By ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL 3-0194

Kenyon Extension Group will hold its next meeting at the home of President Mrs. Robert Delaney this afternoon, April 27. The lesson will be entitled "Understanding Our Children."

The roll call will be "My Greatest Mystery, or Unexplained Phenomenon." To enlighten our readers, the members of the group answer when their name is called at roll call and instead of giving their name, they answer by telling of the greatest mystery or unexplained phenomenon that has ever happened to them or that they know about.

The roll call topic is different each month. Several of our township residents are recuperating in the hospital from recent illnesses. Roy Schrumm, of Cyde Rd., is in St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. He is given and the guest list included Laura's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kaiser and family, her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S.E. Cassidy of Madison Heights, Mrs. Walter Reske and family of Anchorville.

Gifts were presented to Laura by her friends and relatives following the dinner. On Maundy Thursday, Laura took her first communion. The Canton Township Fire Department is again plagued by grass fires. Chief Fred Korte reminded residents to take special care in burning rubbish and grass. If a large area is to be burned, the safest measure would be to call the fire department and get permission. At the same time your department will be aware of your activities. This call will cost nothing and may save you much.

Well, that does it once again. How about those calls? The boys and girls of Gallimore School third grade attended the recent wedding of their teacher, Miss Ann Dunsmore. Miss Dunsmore reserved a place for her class at the morning wedding ceremony and the children met at the Gallimore School and went as a group to the church. The youngsters joined forces and purchased a wedding gift for Ann and will be looking forward to her return to their classroom after a honeymoon. Ann is now Mrs. Edward Schindler. Laura Lehnhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Lehnhart, of Saltz Rd., made her confirmation on Palm Sunday, April 10. Officiating was Rev. Norman Berg, pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church of Plymouth. Following the church ceremony, a dinner party was held at the home of Mrs. William Harrison, of Lotz Rd., had a pleasant surprise visit from her sister-in-law, Mrs. Fodyce Kauffman, of Port Huron.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Thompson of Beck Rd. proudly announce the birth of a son, Brian Del. Brian arrived April 17, weighing six pounds, at the St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor. Your writer received a happy Easter greeting from Mr. and Mrs. Phil McNulty, former residents of Cherry Hill Rd. in Canton Township. Mrs. McNulty writes that she and her husband are enjoying their stay in California very much. She reports the weather is grand and the flowers beautiful. The McNultys asked to be remembered to all their neighbors and friends.

New Shade Tree Casts Light Shade

A new shade tree now gracing some of the finest lawns in the country promises to be the answer to home owners who want shade in a hurry and excellent grass growth as well. This tree, named the Moraine Locust by its inventors, The Siebenthaler Co., of Dayton, Ohio grows rapidly—attains a height of twenty-five feet within seven years. Its delicate foliage casts a moderately light shade, thus permitting lawn grass to grow luxuriantly underneath. It has a hard cellular structure like its predecessor, the Honey Locust, yet it is thornless and seedless. For the home owner who wants fast growth, clean shade, and a fine lawn underneath without crabgrass, the Moraine Locust is an excellent choice. The tree is for sale at leading nurseries.

FRONT ROW CENTER

By George Spelvin
Cementsville - On - The Hudson. . . or New York City remains but a financial pocket-book ache now that old George has slipped quietly back into the comforting confines of Plymouth. Sentimentally, the stored-up memories will evoke many a titillating moment. . . or two for the weeks to come.

Ethel Merman was perfect in "Gypsy". It's her show from beginning to end as a pushy stage mother that wants her children to succeed. Her final soliloquy at the musical's end points up her true reason for being so pleasantly obnoxious. . . she wanted to be a star all along herself.

At a later date, I'd like to delve into this musical comedy and explore more of its magical moments. Walter Kerr of the New York Herald-Tribune claimed it was "the best damn musical he had ever seen." Such violent praise demands further examination.

Speaking of musical comedies, the Plymouth Theater Guild Workshop group under the leadership of Bill Moore presented a musical at the April meeting. Phil Ashton (my moving assistant) as-ures me that Bill and his zany cohorts performed "My Fair AD-MAN" with professional zeal and acumen. Bill Moore adapted the show from the MAD magazine.

By adding some Percy Faith music to back up his singers and some exciting scenery from the artistic designing boards of John Glanz, Mr. and Mrs. Moore rolled out a Workshop production that kept the Theater Guild audience enthralled for the better part of an hour.

Lighting effects by Bill Moore added greatly to the production. In the cast Phil Ashton playing a couple of parts. His program notes that he gave me to interpret indicate that Bill did well as an actor also.

Mr. and Mrs. Moore had the assistance of Sam Davis (his rendition of "You'll have to see all night" laid them in the aisles), Shirley Thaden, Bob Manion, Jerry Thaden, Larry Tillotson, Rosemary and Abe Kooman, Peggy Dingley, and Elaine Manion. . . to make this show a "hit."

However, it was still William L. Moore production from the directing to the acting end and back again. In fact, I'm tempted to say it by George, I will.

It was a pleasant feeling to walk around the Times Square area and note with pride that several of the shows in New York now had been to our fair town of Detroit first. The advertisement for "The Thurber Carnival" proudly indicated that the box office was taking orders for January, 1961. Mildred tugged at my elbow and smugly mentioned that Detroit had seen it first. Down the street "A Second String" with Shirley Booth was playing at the Eugene O'Neill Theater. The Winter Garden Theater was advertising the return of "West Side Story."

All these and more had played in our town. Let's hope we can keep on supporting theater, good theater, in order to continue the steady stream of Broadway products right to our front door.

"West Side Story" and its cast members were busy with rehearsals for their return to Broadway. It's not often that a musical runs two years in New York City, goes out on the road for over a year, and then comes back to complete their run on Broadway.

Some of the cast members were staying at the Ashley Hotel where we had put our bags down for the week. The Ashley attracted us for two reasons: it's close to Times Square and free parking privileges. In New York this latter situation is worth its weight in atomic bombs. Parking remains New York's number one problem.

Coming into New York via the Holland Tunnel, I pointed out to Mildred the heavy influx of traffic. What would happen if suddenly all means of exiting were closed off? How long would it take for the island of Manhattan to be clogged with burping, back-firing vehicles? What a frustration? A city paralyzed by thousands of autos. Perhaps this new auto-boat combination is the answer.

Or the latest autos without wheels that depend on air-suspension for traction. In brief, the tunnels and bridges might not be needed in ten years.

The Ashley Hotel is on 47th Street, a few feet off Times Square. You should put this hotel on your list. The rooms aren't fancy, but they are clean and comfortable. And the tab isn't too expensive (nine dollars for two per evening).

Bumped into some weird prices out East. In Philadelphia, some parking lots are charging 41 cents for all day parking. Steaks in New York at the "Gallery" restaurant on 60th and 2nd avenue: $1.28. Toll bridge from Philadelphia to Camden, New Jersey — 5 cents. Night club in Pittsburgh — over five dollars in taxes added to the bill. Probably as the weeks roll by we will comment more in detail about these crazy prices.

Time to close the curtain for another week. Remember Carol Channing is at The Shubert for two weeks with her musical revue, "Show Business." Carol opened on Monday and proved that as an entertainer she is most versatile.

Michigan was the first state in the U.S. to have fully-equipped roadside parks along its highways.

Former Plymouth High Golf Star On MSU Team

Tyler Caplin, 25-year-old senior at Michigan State University in East Lansing, is among six returning lettermen on the Spartans' 1960 golf squad.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Caplin, 46000 Joy Rd., Plymouth.

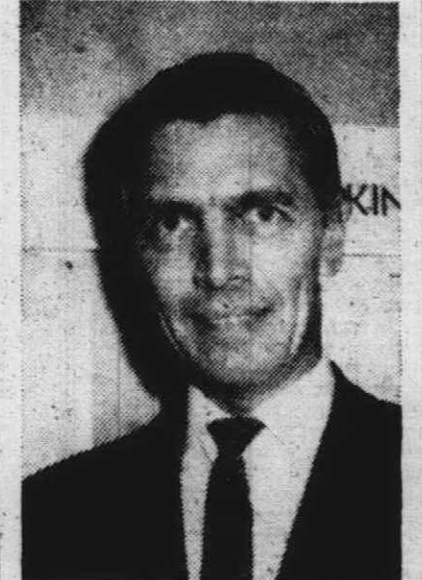

A graduate of Plymouth High where he also starred on the Rocks' golf team, Caplin lettered at Michigan State last year in his first season of varsity competition there.

A long-ball hitter, Caplin won 10 and lost two dual meets in 1959 while averaging 76.2 strokes.

A social science major, he is expected to play in the No. 1 or No. 2 position this year.

CONTROVERSY FLARES UP—Republican Senate Minority Floor Leader Everett Dirksen (Ill.), left, flew into a rage during a committee hearing on medical aid for the aged. Cause of the turmoil was a charge by Electrical Workers Union President James Carey that the Eisenhower administration made "a shameful surrender to the American Medical Assn. and the insurance companies" on this issue.

53,000 HOURS — That's the time logged by William B. Silvis and 1,200 other Junior Achievement advisers throughout southeastern Michigan in teaching the meaning of free enterprise to youngsters in JA. An Associated Spring Corporation, B.G.R. division employee, Silvis who lives at 1329 Carol, meets weekly with his JA firm, JADCO, manufacturers of cigarette dispenser boxes, at the JA business center at 187 South Main St.

Democratic Women Plan For Washington Convo

Michigan Federation of Democratic Women members, headed by Chairman Adelaide Hart, are busy checking bus, train and plane schedules in preparation for the National Democratic Women's Conference in Washington, D.C., on May 8, 9 and 10.

Mrs. A.M. Frank, of Plymouth, reports that points of departure on a chartered bus will be Grand Rapids, Lansing and Detroit on Saturday evening, May 7.

Many Michigan women plan to leave for Washington directly from the State Convention at Grand Rapids on Saturday.

All of the events of this three-day 1960 Campaign Conference will be held at the Sheraton Park Hotel.

Michigan's delegation will be led by Mrs. G. Mennen Williams and will include the wives of Senators Pat McNamara and Phil Hart and wives of State officials and Administrative Board members.

Sunday's schedule (May 8) includes registration, sight-seeing, a huge Congressional Reception and a special Michigan delegation gathering at the home of Senator and Mrs. Philip Hart.

Coffee sessions hosted by Congressional wives, and workshop discussions on issues and campaign techniques will be held on Monday and Tuesday mornings. A luncheon and a national committee program and activities clinic will precede a trip to Capitol Hill and visits to House and Senate Galleries.

The Michigan women have been invited to a reception in the office of Senator McNamara where they will meet their Michigan representatives in Congress.

A highlight of the Conference will be the Candidates' Dinner on Monday evening, May 9, when former President Harry S. Truman, Speaker Sam Rayburn, all the presidential candidates and Senators will be guests of honor.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt will be the featured speaker at the Tuesday Luncheon.

The Women's National Democratic Club of Washington, D.C., has invited all conferees to tea at their clubhouse before their return trips to all parts of the United States.

Details concerning the Conference and the chartered bus may be obtained from Mrs. Frank at GL 3-4769 or from Mrs. Jack Ruland at GL 3-4959.

Mrs. Grace Marckwardt, chairman women's activities committee, will accept bus reservations at 740 Spring Valley Dr., Ann Arbor, until April 15.

TIPS for TEENS

ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Elinor: A group of us have been wondering what to do when a boy gets too 'serious' and you don't feel that way. What do you suggest?"

Ans.—It's better to prevent it before it happens, if possible. Let the boy know by your actions and words that you're not "serious." Don't act more romantic than you feel. Don't give him a big "line" about how he's the only one for you. Avoid parking on dark roads or lingering at the door after dates. Avoid talking seriously about the future and change the subject when he does... or tell him frankly that you're not thinking of the future yet. Casual remarks in the conversation can let him know how you feel about "going steady," being too "serious" etc. If he doesn't get the message this way, tell him in a nice way that you think he's wonderful, but being serious just is not for you—yet.

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams. I went steady with a boy for a while and he called me every night and we had dates every weekend. Then he stopped calling. Several weeks later, he came for his ring and acted nervous when I gave it to him. I still like him and want to talk things over with him."

Ans.—Sorry, but you missed the boat. The time to talk it over with him was when he came to get his ring. Obviously he wanted to call the whole thing off—that you knew. But you can have asked why... whether you offended him or hurt his feelings or if it was "just one of those things that didn't last." If you try to see him now, it will probably only cause more embarrassment. Next time, (if there is a next time) you'll know how to do it differently.

Cleary Library Gift Coming from Hough Foundation

A gift of $47,500 for building and furnishing a library on the new campus of Cleary College in Ypsilanti will come from the Edward C. Hough and Mary Hough Kimble Foundation, and not Cass S. Hough, it was learned last week.

An announcement from the college last February credited the gift as coming from Cass Hough, president of Daisy Manufacturing, now of Rogers, Ark.

But Hough pointed out just last week from Rogers that the gift is not from him, but from the foundation set up by his father, the late Edward Hough, and his father's sister, the late Mary Hough Kimble. This was the same foundation that built and equipped the new colonial addition to the Dunning-Hough Library.

The new Cleary library will be named the "Hough Library" and will be located on the campus of the relocated college, west of Ypsilanti.

Local D.A.R. Members Attend Continental Congress in Capital

Three members of the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, were in Washington, D.C. last week attending the 69th Continental Congress of the National Society, D.A.R.

Delegates were Mrs. Robert D. Willoughby, 44661 W. Ann Arbor Trail, regent; and Mrs. Harry N. Deyo, 808 Church St., state chaplain. Serving as alternate was Mrs. Howard Atwood, 121 High St., Northville.

More than 4,500 officers, delegates and committee members from all parts of the United States, and as far as Alaska and Hawaii, jammed Constitution Hall the first day of the Congress.

The Congress opened with an 8 p.m. concert Monday evening April 18, by the famed United States Marine Corps Band, followed by the colorful opening ceremonies. The entrance march of National Officers and some 300 Pages with National and State flags was headed by Mrs. Ashmnd White, of Lubec, Maine, president general of the National Society. The five day Congress covered reports of National Committee Chairmen and State Regents, as well as the drafting and voting of the National Society's resolutions.

CHEVROLET

OVER BACK-COUNTRY ROADS AT 45 WITH A SKY-HIGH LOAD OF TIMBER

Chevy middleweight shows the big rigs how it's done!

That's a 6303 medium-duty Chevrolet powered by a 283-cu.-in. V8. But there's sure nothing medium-duty about the load. Mr. J. E. Blankinship, Arkansas logging contractor, says both of his torsion-spring 6303's "move along at 40 to 50 miles per hour with 55,000 pounds gross weight and maintain a 5-trip-a-day schedule with no trouble at all." Figure the money you save when you've got a medium-duty truck that can cover 30,000 back-country miles a year with a high-tonnage load!

We've never seen anything like the amount of praise truck owners are heaping on Chevy's new torsion spring suspension. Owners like the fact the truck handles a whole lot easier, can move faster off the road without beating the driver to death and shaking loose all the sheet metal. They like the idea of extra thousands of miles before trade-in!... Drive a '60 Chevy just once. It's a whole new experience.

Chevy middleweight averages 200 miles of back roads a day dogging timber out of the woods and delivering it to the mill at Crossett, Arkansas.

It's Those Optional Features That Boost Price of New Auto

Optional equipment added to the stripped-down car will greatly increase the amount of money a family finally will pay for it. Is the extra equipment going to be worth the higher cost? Is it really advisable to spend several hundred dollars more for comfort and luxuries?

Several factors enter into the decision of how many accessories the family should have. First of all, what kind of driving is to be done and where will it be done.

In the northern and also many of the southern states, every car needs a heater, especially if young children or old people will be riding in the car. For long trips, heaters are thought of as necessities, although they are listed as optional equipment on all low-priced cars.

While not considered as essential as a heater, automatic transmission is a wonderful convenience for the family who does a lot of driving in traffic. There will be much less strain if the driver doesn't have to stop and think about depressing the clutch and shifting the gear lever whenever the car has to slow down.

Back-up lights are a must for the family who lives on a dark country or suburban road. If the car is only to be driven on a well-lighted city street, there is no need for them.

Power steering and power brakes, also optional on the lower priced cars, are a big convenience to have but not as necessary as a heater. For the convenience in parking alone, power steering is well worth the extra cost.

A second factor in deciding what extra equipment is wanted on a car would be the pleasure derived from having that equipment. A car radio, for instance, is good company for the driver who is alone much of the time. The radio helps to keep him alert and happy.

Push buttons for lowering and raising windows or for moving seats backward or forward are other pleasant extras. They are not necessary in any sense of the word but the owner obtains a considerable amount of pleasure in using them. Windshield washers, tinted glass, extra ash receptacles also give pleasure.

Resale value is another big factor in deciding which optional equipment to have in the new car. Up to 100 per cent of the cost of certain extras could be returned when the car is resold. A car without any extra equipment is hard to sell and brings little on the used car lot.

The resale value actually might drop so low that the family would be penalized for not having bought in the first place the equipment they really wanted. So, why not have a few of the "optionals" installed in the new car?

And another item all the members of the family might do well to remember is that caring for the auto is really a family project.

The woman's role, then, would be to care for the car's interior.

It's a lot simpler to keep the inside of the car clean than it used to be. The use of new fabrics—nylon, rayon or vinyl—saves both time and energy. Many of the new cars are upholstered throughout with vinyl alone or combination of vinyl and nylon cloth or vinyl and woven plastic.

Before any cleaning of the upholstery is done, the car should be thoroughly swept out with a whisk broom or cleaned with a vacuum cleaner. Then all glass parts are washed with water to which a little ammonia has been added. Don't forget the rear view mirror and any glass covering dials on the dashboard.

Any chromium parts such as door or window handles can be polished with a good metal polish. All other metal inside the car usually needs only wiping off with a soft cloth. If paint has been scraped, touch-up enamel will cover any small worn places.

When it comes to stains on the upholstery, their removal depends on the upholstery and the nature of the stain. For vinyl, wiping with a damp cloth or washing with warm water and mild soap should be sufficient. Ordinary cleaning fluid is never used on vinyl plastics.

Nylons, rayon carpeting or plastic seat covers are best cleaned with a special interior trim cleaner, if a damp cloth doesn't erase the stain. Rubber floor covering is easily washed with a cleaning concentrate. If this is allowed to dry thoroughly, there is less chance of a white stain being left on the rubber.

Stains on cloth upholstery are usually removed with cleaning fluid or one of the spot removers. Chewing gum, candy, tar, pieces of sticky food should be scraped gently with a dull knife to take off any solid particles before a cleaner is applied.

Milk or similar stains should be treated first with cold water. Warm water and mild soap should take care of any marks remaining after the cold application.

Genuine leather upholstery is treated much like vinyl—a damp cloth will take care of most of the spots. For stubborn stains, a good leather cleaner may be used.

When everything inside the car has had its spring housecleaning, it's time for the men of the family to see whether they can do an equally good job on the exterior.

Housewives: Save Time By Planning

Use ingenuity in organizing your spring cleaning and you'll be surprised at the time and labor you'll save.

For instance, with a bit of diplomacy and psychology you can enlist the aid of the head of the house and the small fry in a number of the jobs. Here's how to go about it:

First of all, write down a list of the chores to be done—drapes down, slipcovers on, furniture and floors cleaned and well waxed for summer protection, windows washed, screens on.

Remember that the majority of men are little boys at heart and like to operate push button equipment.

Youngsters, too, get a kick out of operating electrical gadgets, so make a special list of the chores that Dad and a cohort of young aides might take on.

Dad can probably be wooed into using the vacuum cleaner to dust the mouldings and baseboards. The youngsters might be pressed into service to vacuum the furniture.

Summer wear and tear on floors and furniture can be reduced to a minimum with a good application of wax. Floors should be cleaned of old wax and any accumulation of winter dirt.

Wood floors may be cleaned and polished at the same time with a polishing wax. After the man-made floorings have been cleaned they may be treated with a self-polishing wax, and they can then be kept clean and shining with a damp mop. Here again the youngsters might be intrigued with operating the electric polisher.

For laminated plastic counters, sinkboards and the like that have become worn and dull—brighten them with an

WEEK-END navigators will soon be busy, indeed, as the sailing and boating season fast approaches. Cruising is fun for the whole family—and a current boom in boating has made this sport more popular than ever before.

One way to learn if you are a potential boating enthusiast is to rent a small boat and go for a scenic cruise on any of the numerous lakes around here or even on the Detroit River. You may not want to quit.

Beautiful Lawns Are Result Of Planning, Work and Care

A beautiful lawn that can serve double-duty as a practice putting green is the dream of most gardeners.

You'll grow such lawns by replacing those dreams with hard work, loving care and intelligent planning. Here are some tips that should help:

Before you start digging, be sure your gardening tools are cleaned and sharpened. Spade, fork, rake, mower, hose and sprinkler, roller, spreader and sprayers are required tools. But remember that you can always rent (or borrow, if you're lucky) the expensive items.

Knowledge of your soil is a prerequisite for a good-looking lawn. Check with your state agricultural experiment station, county agent or local nurseryman for a soil analysis and for help on grading, fertilizing and sowing.

It's equally important to rid your soil of grubs, and other insects that destroy your turf by feeding on grass roots.

An early spring spray treatment with a chlordane solution, will wipe out these sub-surface soil insects and prevent brown spots of dead grass from ruining your lawn this summer.

And the experts advise soaking your grass to a depth of at least eight inches when you water.

A light sprinkling of lawn surface will do more to encourage growth of weeds than grasses.

As for mowing procedure, it's a good idea to check with your nurseryman to determine the best method for your particular kind of grass. A cutting height of 1½ inches or more is a general rule of thumb, because clipping too short will help crabgrass and other weeds thrive.

Camera Hints

Every part of the country has beautiful sunsets—the plains, the seashore, the mountains and lakes. They don't occur every evening but most photographers have more time to take pictures of them on vacation.

An outstanding collection of sunset pictures has been taken by a photographer of my acquaintance. He used to take a sunset picture almost every evening and, finally, everyone in the hotel where he was staying knew where he was heading when he left the dining room just before dessert was served.

That man loved his deserts, but he loved his sunset pictures more. His collection includes black and white and color in 35 mm, 2¼ x 2¼ and 4 x 5 transparencies.

Sunset is interpreted as the time just after the sun has dropped below the horizon line and leaves all the clouds purple, turquoise, orange, pink and red. Sometimes what appears to be a beautiful sunset turns out to be a few fragmentary clouds with only vague coloring. But to get the really glorious ones, you have to be prepared.

The photographer with a sunset. And, after all, that is the picture.

A sunset usually fades rather quickly, so a person is taking sunset pictures at hand were read, the picture would vastly over-expose more exposure or even normal exposure. A dark farmhouse or a remote location makes a mood picture of the setting sun or sunset that is well worth taking—and having.

While this reading makes the foreground go into silhouette, it should be interesting enough to complete the composition and so make the photograph worthwhile.

A sunset usually fades rather quickly, so a person must be ready if he is working with color film. All of those unbelievable colors can be captured.

To my way of thinking, the challenge is even greater if a person is taking sunset pictures with black-and-white film. Then you must depend not on the colors to enhance the picture but upon the tones from pure black graded out to the pure white. To attain this tonal quality, it is essential to use panchromatic film.

The speed of the film makes no difference in trying to photograph a sunset in black-and-white. A yellow filter should be used to make the blue sky stand out darker and thus exaggerate the clouds.

Under exposure will be more advantageous than over-exposure or even normal exposure. A dark farmhouse or a remote location makes a mood picture of the setting sun or sunset that is well worth taking—and having.

'60 Refrigerator-Freezers Are Ready for 'Space Age'

The "space age" is here today as far as the 1960 line of refrigerator-freezers is concerned.

More space and a whole host of other features have been built into these new appliances to make them better able to serve the needs of modern families.

Here are some of the things available in today's refrigerator-freezers that make them practically a "supermarket" at home:

More efficient insulation has resulted in slimmer walls. This provides more inside storage space without requiring any more floor area. Another space-saving feature is the no-frost freezing section.

Since frost never forms, there's room for more frozen food. Freezer packages are always identifiable and never have the big job of defrosting.

Other features you can choose include swing-out, roll-out, or lift-out shelves that are adjustable and removable, butter conditioners and vegetable bins, removable egg trays, adjustable, removable door shelves, and air-tight compartments that keep unwrapped sliced meats, tomatoes and other foods up to 18 days.

In some, ultra-violet lamps prevent strong foods from trading odors. Foot pedal door openers, roll-out freezers, and extra swing-out and roll-out freezer baskets facilitate storing and removing frozen foods.

The slim lines and squared-off corners of 1960 refrigerator-freezers harmonize with modern kitchen designs. You may even choose one with changeable panels to match your kitchen colors or wooden cabinet finish. More new units fit flush against wall and cabinets, and some have doors that open within the width of the unit so they can be placed in a corner.

You can check over these and many other new features at your local appliance dealer's or utility showroom.

Garden Tools Deserve Proper Care

Giving your lawn and garden tools proper care will not only extend their useful life, but will make them much easier to work with.

The storage area must be dry and weatherproof. It should have a door that can be securely locked, preferably padlocked. It is best not to store lawn and garden tools in the car area of your garage.

A separate toolroom built into the garage, or a utility room in the basement of your house, with an outside entrance of its own at grade level, is the ideal arrangement. If this cannot be arranged, you can build a rain-proof garden shed quite inexpensively or purchase one of the pre-fabricated models that are ready to be assembled.

Such a shed can either be hidden behind garden shrubbery or attached to the garage as a lean-to.

Small tools—sickles, trowels, weedeaters and the like—can be conveniently kept in a box of oiled sand. For this purpose, build a box one foot deep by 18 inches wide and as long as desired. Fill it half full of dry, coarse sand and add a pint of lubricating oil—the old oil you drain from the crankcase of your power mower will serve.

Mix well, gradually adding more dry sand until the mixture has a dry, oily feeling. Tools plunged to handle depth in the sand are protected from rust and will stay sharp longer. The film of oil left on the metal makes them easier to clean after use.

Tools with moving parts—like grass shears, hedge clippers and pruning shears—should not be stored in the sand box, but hung on hooks on the wall. Spades, forks, rakes, and other long-handled tools should be supported in the same way.

Your power mower deserves a corner of its own, close to the door where it can conveniently be wheeled in and out. Provide a shelf above it for wrenches, extra spark plugs and other small parts.

The gasoline to power your mower should be stored in a standard, two-or five-gallon safety can with a flexible spout.

Soak hand tools in water and detergent, and scrub them well. Clean the metal parts with a wire brush and rub them with sand-paper or emery paper.

Coarse emery powder and oil used on a piece of old carpet will also quickly brighten them. Or use one of the manufactured rust removers or penetrating oils; these cost little and save a lot of labor.

Scrape the wooden handles with a wood scraper or a piece of glass to remove the old paint and rough splinters. Then carefully sand them and paint them.

Funeral Coaches More Colorful

NEW YORK (UPI) — America's funeral directors are turning from traditional black to two and even three-tone funeral coaches.

The old folk superstition about black is changing with a resulting new status symbol in the funeral business in many parts of the nation.

In 1940, more than 95 percent of all hearsees were black. Today, fully half of the coaches produced are colored. Three-tone tan coaches are popular as well as combinations of white and blue. Peacock blue with aqua and grey has been accepted.

Funeral directors, in defending the trend toward multi-colored coaches, remind critics that flowers have been an accepted burial tradition for centuries.

"Why not color in coaches, too?" they ask.

The Miller-Meteor subsidiary of the Divo-Wayne Corp. produced what it believes was the first three-hued hearse, a combination of beige, brown and bronze, in 1955.

It was produced because its advertising director tired of designing black and white sales literature and wanted to introduce appealing four-color art to funeral coach merchandising and selling.

Election of officers for the coming year is another item on the meeting agenda.

AWNING TOLL DROPS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gay-er, neater awnings will brighten the summer scene as a result of a plastic treatment that provides washability plus crack and weather resistance.

A spokesman for Union Carbide Chemicals Co., citing the trend, said the awnings are made of unbleached cotton fabric treated with a mildew preventive and coated with a plasticizer. A second coat of the plasticizer contains the hues.

For those interested in registering for the course, which begins May 2, telephone the Plymouth Adult Education office from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays at the corrected number.

Tornado Season Is Here; Heed Rules

It's the tornado season. Over 100 tornadoes will hit the United States in the next three months if they follow the pattern of the past 40 years.

With their gray or black funnel-like appendages reaching toward the earth, these cyclones spin like a devil's top as they swoop earthward — hitting, skipping and hitting again as if following a madman's plan.

They wreak terrifying damage. They strike principally in the Midwest. But no state is a stranger to the tornado.

Tornadoes tear strong buildings apart and scatter them about like so much kindling. They uproot huge trees and strip off their bark. They whirl people and farm animals through the air and then dash them to earth. They wrench bridges from their foundations.

How can a family protect itself against such force?

By having advance notice, even if only a few minutes before a cyclone strikes, families can take action to safeguard themselves.

As outlined by the U. S. Weather Bureau, the rules are simple:

—Head for the storm cellar if you have one. It should be kept fit for use — free of water, gas and debris. It should have an air outlet to equalize air pressure. And preferably it should be equipped with a pick and shovel for digging out if necessary.

—If you are in the open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path — if there's time to move. Otherwise select a handy ditch or ravine and lie down in it.

—If you are in a city or town, seek inside shelter — preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Stay away from windows. In homes, the southwest corner of the basement usually offers greatest safety. If there's no basement, take cover under heavy furniture against an inside wall.

—School children should be kept away from auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly supported roofs. If the school building itself is strongly reinforced, the best idea is to stay inside, away from windows, near an inside wall on the lower floor. In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, teachers and children should go to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

Tornadoes can occur a ny hour of the day or night. About 82 per cent have struck between noon and midnight.

The new U. S. Army-Lockheed Electronics "Lightning Monitor System" should have great value during darkness.

Identification of a tornado at night is difficult because the clouds can be seen only during brief flashes of lightning. Aside from actually seeing the tornado's ominous funnel, about the only way to identify a cyclone is to recognize its continuous roaring noise.

It sounds like the roar of a monster blowtorch. Or the angry rumble of a train up in the sky. The noise can be heard for miles.

Above all — no matter what the sound — the U. S. Weather Bureau advises, keep calm. People have been killed by running out into the streets and by turning back into the path or a tornado. Keep your head.

Follow the simple rules and you will increase your chances against the mathematically small possibility that these narrow-path, fast-moving monsters will strike the very place you happen to be at the time.

Growth Vitamin Believed Found In Distillery Residue

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI)—A Texas A&M College nutrition scientist believes he has isolated a new vitamin from the pungent, moist brown residue left over after the distillation of liquor. Specks of white crystals that stimulate growth have been removed from the residue by Dr. James R. Couch. In experiments with poultry, the crystals produced 8 to 25 per cent improved growth, it was reported.

Dr. Couch believes the crystals will stimulate the human appetite.

Two of his assistants have experimented with the crystals.

One reported that he had a tremendous appetite even though he had eaten a large meal a few hours before. He said he craved olives, but that everything "tasted delicious" when he began to eat. The other assistant reported similar results, Dr. Couch said.

"Why do we think we have a vitamin?" he said. "When we can produce growth response of 8 to 25 per cent by adding as little as one milligram of the crystals to a pound of feed we think we're in the vitamin class."

Dr. Couch pointed out that it takes two milligrams of riboflavin per pound of feed, or five milligrams of pantothenic acid, or 10 to 25 milligrams of niacin to produce similar growth gains in poultry.

The process for producing the crystals from dried distillers' solubles at present is slow and low in yield. Dr. Couch said he usually gets one-half gram of crystals from 50 pounds of the residue.

Nicaragua has had nine constitutions since 1838. The present constitution, in force since 1950, set up a system similar to the United States with legislative, executive and judicial branches. The legislature, unlike most in Central America, has an upper and lower house.

ous mothers of famous Hollywood stars.

Ashley Coburn

Canton Township Defense Director To Speak Here

Civil Defense and its connection with community nurses will be the subject of a talk by Ashley Coburn, Canton Township CD Director, at a meeting of the Plymouth Registered Nurses May 2 at 8 p.m. in the Plymouth High Library.

Also attending the meeting will be various guests and interested persons including members of the Plymouth licensed practical nurses and members of the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's Club.

Mrs. H.W. Frisbie, corresponding secretary for local Civil Defense, announced the plans.

The guest speaker, Coburn, has had many years of experience in the field of Civil Defense.

During World War II he served as Civil Defense coordinator in Ford Motor Company's Lincoln-Mercury Division and was a sector warden for the Office of Civil Defense for Northwest Detroit.

Shortly after moving to Canton Township in 1952, Coburn was elected to the Canton Township Fire Department as a volunteer fireman. His vast experience and knowledge of first aid and fire prevention was found to be highly valuable. He was named Director of Civil Defense for Canton Township in 1954.

New Consumers' Chief Foresees State Prosperity

Continued growth and prosperity for Michigan are foreseen by A. H. Aymond, Jr., executive vice president of Consumers Power Company, who will become chairman of the board and chief executive officer May 1.

Speaking Monday night at a regional meeting of Consumers' stockholders in the company's Royal Oak service center at 4600 Coolidge Highway, Aymond said:

"It has become popular to think more about Michigan's problems than about its wonderful assets and opportunities. Let's not fall into that error."

"Of all the states in the union, Michigan is one of the finest. It is a leader in industry, a leader in agriculture, a leader in the volume of its tourist and resort business."

"It has a location that any state might envy. The Great Lakes give it not only the greatest fresh water supply in the world but also access to world trade by way of the St. Lawrence Seaway."

He conceded that Michigan has problems, asking, "What state or what person has not?" He listed some:

"We have the problem of providing 100,000 additional jobs a year for the next ten years in order to meet the anticipated growth of our population."

"We have the problem of adjusting our tax structure to keep it fair to everyone. That certainly includes the industrial taxpayer who provides employment and creates prosperity."

"We have the problem of keeping the cost of industrial production in Michigan on a competitive level with other states, which means that if wages are high, industrial productivity must be correspondingly high."

"Taxes must be commensurate with the governmental services that government provides."

Aymond warned against "spending too much time on the psychiatrist's couch." "There's a job to be done," he said, "and Michigan is going to do it. Consumers Power Company has no doubt at all about that. We see a great future for Michigan. For the last several years we've been spending about a hundred million dollars a year to provide new electric and gas facilities to meet the steadily increasing needs of our customers. We think we'll have to go on doing it for years to come."

"In our opinion," he said, "Michigan will continue to grow and prosper."

After 10 Years, Radio Free Europe Still Fights Truth War

MUNICH, Germany (UPI) — One of the major campaigns of the cold war is 10 years old and still is being fought here 24 hours a day at a cost of $10 million a year.

It is privately financed and directed by determined men and women who believe those unwilling millions in the satellite countries behind the Iron Curtain should not be forgotten.

How did this battle begin? Who is behind it? What are its objectives?

Radio Free Europe (RFE), an exile network, voice of liberty-loving refugees from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria, was born in the mind of Gen. Lucius D. Clay and put in these words:

"When I left Germany in 1949, I came home with a very firm conviction that we needed, in addition to the Voice of America, a different, broader voice, a voice of the free people, a radio which would not speak the words of government but would speak to each country behind the Iron Curtain in its own language, and from the throats of its own leaders who had fled for their lives because of their beliefs in freedom."

General Clay and other leading Americans went on to launch "Crusade for Freedom" to organize and support the drive for a free Europe. In 1950 Radio Free Europe went on the air from a tiny, seven-and-one-half kilowatt mobile transmitter.

Today that roving station has grown to a giant complex of 29 powerful transmitters located in West Germany and Portugal. News, commentaries, music and other cultural programs are beamed into Poland, Czechoslovakia and Hungary 18 hours a day and into Romania and Bulgaria five-and-a-half hours a day.

East Germany is not covered because the regular programs from West Germany get through. Nor is any effort made in Yugoslavia, which has split off from the Communist bloc. Albania is omitted because only one family in 48 has a radio receiver.

The money to support this huge task comes entirely from contributions and is solicited by Crusade for Freedom, incorporated under the laws of New York State. Volunteer chairman this year is William B. Murphy, president of Campbell Soup Co. His goal is a fund of $10,000,000 for 1960.

Contributions came from three sources, according to Charles J. McNeill, assistant director of administration of Radio Free Europe:

1. Corporate donations. American business is dedicated to halting and reversing the controlled - market concept of the Communist world and therefore gives freely, McNeill said.

2. Patriotic and other private organizations in the United States, such as the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Amvets, National Council of Catholic Men, service clubs such as Rotary, Lions, etc., and women's clubs.

3. Individuals reached through newspapers, radio and TV stations, magazines, and other advertising media.

According to McNeill, more than $5,000,000 of space has been made available to the Crusade for Freedom during the past four years to carry messages appealing for funds to support the work of Radio Free Europe.

The European Division of Radio Free Europe is directed by Erik Hazelhoff. The whole of the organization revolves around five major news desks — one for each of the target satellite countries — each directed by a managing editor.

To each editor is available the worldwide facilities of United Press International and Reuters; the domestic coverage of DPA, the West German news agency; special service of Agence France Presse, French news agency, and the monitored reports of the Russian news agency, Tass, and the national news agencies of the satellites.

In addition, RFE maintains bureaus or correspondents in some American cities and in Athens, Rome, Graz, Austria, Vienna, Munich, Berlin, Stockholm, Brussels, Paris, London and Hamburg.

Broadcasts from radio stations inside the five satellite countries, as well as from Russia, are recorded and listened to by language experts for news items which may be released locally but not broadcast generally. Newspapers and magazines from the target areas are scanned regularly for further clues as to what is really going on inside the Communist world.

Finally, refugees and visitors to the satellites are interviewed when they come out. Olympic stars and other figures having cause to visit outside the Iron Curtain are interrogated.

All of this material is put together daily and utilized by each desk to inform the people not only of what is going on in the free world but, as often, of what is taking place inside their own country.

Are these news broadcasts and other programs listened to by the captive populace and are they effective? As to the first question, ex-

Legion Names Boys' State Representative.

Arthur William Nelson, 481 N. Sheldon, Plymouth, an outstanding Plymouth high school junior, has been selected to attend the American Legion-sponsored 23rd annual Wolverine Boys' State.

The school is held annually in mid-June (June 16-23) on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing. Enrollment is limited to 1,000 outstanding youngsters in the state of Michigan.

American Legion officials say the teenagers were selected on the basis of their leadership, good sportsmanship, personalities and mental alertness.

More Than Color Blind When It Comes to "Red"

"Red" Dolan has been going to painting class at night at the high school. They had an exhibition and we all went to see what Red had done.

Red's painting was one of the most beautiful there. We stared at it for the longest time, then all agreed it was a painting of a field close to town, and that it showed a woman in the distance who looked a lot like Red's wife. We congratulated our artist on his work. Red smiled, thanked us all, and was quite happy.

When he left, Slim Johnson noticed the title card by the painting. It read: "Storm Scene on The Lake" by Red Dolan.

From where I sit, there are often occasions when we don't see what we're really supposed to see. Why sometimes we can't even recognize intolerance when it comes along. For instance, if you begrudge me the right to an occasional glass of beer, that's as intolerant as I denied you a glass of lead.

Why don't we step back and take another look at intolerance and see if for what it is?

Jesse James Came To Eat . . . and Was Rude

RED WING, Minn. (UPI) — When it comes to bandits, few could be more impolite than Jesse James. So says a pert little lady of 85 who ate breakfast with him many years ago.

When the bearded robber stamped into the home of her parents on a warm autumn day in 1876, Mrs. Edward Wenz was still in a high chair. "But he was so rude, I'll never forget him," she declared.

It was on the morning of Sept. 7 that he walked up the path to the little cabin where the family lived. Covered with dust, he looked tired, though it was, just past dawn.

Mrs. Wenz' father was splitting wood in the yard. He didn't see the visitor until James greeted him with a gruff "Hello — could you set an extra place for breakfast?"

"In those days," said Mrs. Wenz, "nobody ever refused a guest — even an uninvited one."

So Jesse James — his identity unknown — walked in, took off his hat, and dropped wearily into a chair.

He wolfed down a hearty breakfast, still wearing his long linen coat. "My mother told us later she saw the outline of a pistol butt under that coat, but was afraid to say anything," said Mrs. Wenz, who as a little girl ate that breakfast a few feet from the ruthless robber.

"What made me remember him so clearly was the way he ate. He never asked for anything — just grabbed for what he wanted."

The crowning blow came, said Mrs. Wenz, when he used a fork to reach across the table and lift a muffin from the hearth.

When he left, it was without so much as a "thank

Fuel Sales Drop Due to Compacts

TULSA, Okla. (UPI) — Small, compact cars are causing a ripple of concern among major oil companies, the trade magazine Oil & Gas Journal says.

Gasoline consumption for passenger cars in the U. S. this year will be about 2 per cent below what it would have been if all cars were standard size, a Journal survey showed.

For the individual compact car owner, improved mileage should mean a saving of about $60 per year.

A man "riding like he was crazy" passed them on horseback. He called out to say the bank at Northfield, Minn., a few miles away, had been robbed.

In the street, the bank cashier lay dead — shot by Jesse James. Two members of the gang were killed by law officers' bullets and two others wounded.

The remainder of the gang was peppered with buckshot, but escaped. James was one of them.

"In a little while, pictures of the gang were all over, and we knew our breakfast visitor was none other than the gang leader himself," Mrs. Wenz related.

Mrs. Wenz never saw James again. He was killed in 1882 by a member of his own gang, Bob Ford.

A few years later, Mrs. Wenz moved here with her husband. Her home now is only a short distance from the place where she grew up. And she still has the tin from which Jesse James lifted the muffin at breakfast that morning in 1876.

Politics Is For People

With the tempo of election year politics increasing everywhere, some thoughts of George Romney, American Motors president, in the May Reader's Digest are timely and important.

gies of others, but through the instrument of a political party, not through his corporation or his union."

To stop the drift toward "increasingly massive centralized government," Romney has three suggestions:

1. Make certain, by modernized law, that power outside government is dispersed and kept dispersed, so that big government is not needed to hold it in check.

2. Improve the character of state governments and modernize the smaller government units, such as the county and the township.

3. Revive the feeling that people can participate effectively in control of the government.

"We need to bring our political parties and the people together," says Romney, "if our democratic system is to continue to be truly representative."

As a step in this direction, he suggests that we give an hour as well as a dollar to the party of our choice. He also has several other proposals, all worth reading, study and action.

If Your Name Is 'David'

By ANN REYNOLDS

It has been said that David is the most lovable man among the personalities of the Old Testament. So it is appropriate that his name should mean in an ancient Hebrew "The beloved one."

David was the second king of Israel, chosen and anointed by the prophet Samuel. He proved great in war and in peace; personal courage, statesmanship, and poetic gifts appealingly were blended in his makeup.

He vanquished the giant because he fought for a just cause, and the Lord was on David's side. The subject of young David battling Goliath was a favorite topic with artists of bygone days, and of all the great artists who gave us their interpretation of David, Michelangelo, with his white marble statue of the young David poised for the assault on Goliath, achieved the most captivating presentation.

Whether Charles Dickens realized what the name "David" means, is not known. But, the most beloved child of his imagination was named David. It is "David Copperfield." The author himself declared that of all his books he liked "David Copperfield" best.

Once this favorite child of his fancy gave him a shock. When the story first appeared, it was published in installments. When Dickens happened to be in a store buying some papers, he overheard a woman ask for the latest installment—one he had not even begun to write! The woman's request frightened him, as sometimes he found it hard to go on with this story. However, he finished the book, and it became the most famous of all his works.

The name "David" has always been a special favorite with the Scots and the Welsh. St. David, a sixth century little known saint is the reason. He is usually represented in art standing on a hill, a dove on his shoulder.

Legend has it that once, in a battle the Welsh fought against the Saxons, on the advice of St. David the Welsh wore leeks in their hats so they could tell their own warriors apart from the enemy. Ever since, on St. David's Day which is March 1, the Welsh stick leeks in their hats, commemorating the help given them by St. David.

The name "David" is among the names that made a steady gain in popularity, and it is now quite frequent in the younger generation.

'Short Takes'

Editor William E. Branen, Burlington, Wis., Standard Press—It appears that the way to conduct a campaign for success in the presidential primary is to put on a "big show" to attract the people and let the issues, if any, more or less take care of themselves. This type of campaign may win votes, but in our opinion it turns the race for the most influential elected office in the world into something approaching sideshow ballyhoo. It would seem the prestige of the office would call for campaign practices more suited to it.

Editor-columnist Robert J. Sprinkle, The Mornence, Ill., Progress-Reporter—No one can argue with the humanitarianism of social security benefits, but there is a limit to every good thing. When a nation attempts to increase the benefits every election year, and usually ends up doing so, it weakens the moral fiber of its people, as Sweden can well testify.

Columnist Bob Parry, The Danville, Ind., Gazette-Girls today have it a lot rougher than in the days of Eve. She didn't have any competition. Women today spend more than $1.5 billion a year in an effort to make themselves more attractive to men.

Nigeria, which becomes independent in 1960, will be starting from scratch as far as its coins are concerned. So it gave the Royal Mint here a rush order for 1,000,000,000 coins of different denominations—more than the mint produced all last year.

"Does Anyone Feel Itchy?"

Handwriting Is Clue About You

Dear Miss Williams:

I have been following your handwriting analysis for some time, and would appreciate it if you could do one for me.

I have several interests which are a hobby with me now, but I would like to develop one at least into a remunerative field later when our children are older.

Thank you, Mrs. S.A.E.

Dear Mrs. S.A.E.:

You appreciate the arts and the cultural field. There is a great deal of literary talent in your writing along with a good imagination. This is always helpful in writing. You should be able to handle short story writing, children's articles or articles of your choice. You have creativeness in shaping and forming an idea or thought into a reality.

There is a desire to stand out and be noticed. You have an inward desire for admiration and have a domineering quality to accomplish, give orders and be obeyed. You have a minor trait of humor and occasional self-consciousness.

Dear Miss Williams:

I would like and appreciate your analyzing my handwriting.

Your column is one I look forward to in each issue of the paper. It is of great interest and I shall be eagerly awaiting your analysis.

Thank you, Irene L.

Dear Irene:

You are quite emotional, inclined to show feelings up or down. You have pride which is sometimes quite sensitive.

You like many variations and many friends but can suddenly decide to be very selective and choosy in your close friends and less activity. This is not consistent.

You are strong willed with a definite purpose in mind. Your memory is very good and you pay close attention to details.

There is appreciation of color and fine foods.

You have well balanced organizational ability both in work, routine and activities.

After reading and enjoying your column for some time I have decided to ask you if you would please analyze my handwriting.

Sincerely, Clara C.

Dear Clara C.:

You are inclined to be emotional and deep feeling, absorbing experiences good or bad. You have expression and on occasion give in to temper outbursts. There are intervals of resentment to imposition, you're on guard so to speak.

Your thinking is a combination of good practical logic and sharp, quick thinking.

There is a definite will and purpose in mind but the determination is not too strong to carry through.

You are loyal to your own ideals, however, and have a very good memory, being observant of small details. You possess tenacity and are thrifty and cautious.

How's Business?

Outlook for Retail Sales

By ROGER W. BABSON

The average monthly rate of retail sales, on a seasonally adjusted basis, for the year 1959 was $17.9 billion. The first quarter of 1960 saw a modest increase to about $18.1 billion.

Consumer purchases of goods have been at a record rate, taking the past fifteen months as an aggregate, up nearly 8 percent above the average rate for 1958. While this performance would seem to leave little to be desired, yet businessmen and investors are disappointed with the sales pace this year.

The slide in sales during the steel strike, and during the first few weeks after operations were resumed, was a normal development.

However, the absence of an expected subsequent snapback in sales did much to aggravate the sag in general confidence during the winter. The successive snowstorms and cold waves which battered wide sections of the country undoubtedly were instrumental in restraining spending. Nevertheless, the persistent lack of consumer exuberance may well merit careful study, considering the favorable trends in employment and income which have prevailed during the past year despite the steel and copper strikes.

While durable goods such as autos, TV sets, and home appliances have had tough sledding, sales of food, apparel, leisure-time products, and general merchandise have been setting successive new records. This indicates consumers are still in an optimistic frame of mind.

Fundamental conditions influencing consumer buying policies favor a rise in retail trade. With the advent of buoyant spring weather, sales of new autos have shown a distinct upswing, which may be the long-awaited sign of a revival in consumer spending. Certainly, the steady uptrend in personal incomes, to successive new highs following the steel strike, will stimulate consumer buying impetuousness; and the pause demand for durable goods during the year has made possible buildup of discretionary buying power.
