Four Enter Race for Two Board of Education Posts

WHILE POPPIES will not go on sale to the public until this Thursday, the honor of buying the first ones from the local American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars Posts went to Col. Edward T. Miller, believed to be Plymouth's only Spanish-American War veteran. Representatives of the two posts went to his home on Dewey St. last Saturday to accept the donations from the 89-year-old veteran. Col. Miller was once chief quartermaster of the Ohio National Guard and directed construction of Camp Perry along Lake Erie. Pictured, from left, are Vernon Miller and Mrs. Marilyn Wilson, Legion poppy chairman; Col. Miller, and Mrs. Jennie Tallmadge and Oscar Luttermoser, VFW poppy chairman. The sale will be this Thursday only. Nearly all money donated is used to help veterans in need in Plymouth.

Annual Election Coming June 13

Four people will be competing for the two vacancies on the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District when the annual election takes place Monday, June 13.

They include one incumbent candidate, a candidate who ran last year and two "newcomers." Approved for the ballot were nominating petitions from:

Gerald J. Fischer, 505 McKinley, assistant controller of the Ford Division, Ford Motor Co. He has three sons in school and a daughter of pre-school age.

Mrs. Esther Hulsing, 1010 Church St., the incumbent candidate. She is completing her second three-year term on the school board. She has three daughters, one in college and two in school here. Abraham Kooiman, 765 Parkview Drive, a safety engineer at Burroughs Corp. Has two daughters in school and a son of pre-school age.

Clarence Wilson, 13887 Ridgewood Drive, a district manager for the circulation department of the Detroit Times. Has two boys and two girls, all in school. He was one of five unsuccessful candidates last year.

The deadline for filing nominating petitions was 4 p.m. last Saturday.

While Mrs. Hulsing has decided to try regaining a seat on the board, Charles Zoet, elected three years ago, has decided not to seek re-election. He declared last week that his duties as a mathematics teacher at Bentley High School in Livonia require too much time to keep up with the time-consuming school board job.

Voting is expected to be heavy at this year's Board election because there will be a millage issue on the ballot along with the candidates. Ordinarily the bond or millage issues are not voted upon at the annual board election. But the June 13 ballot will contain a proposal for a four-mill building and site sinking fund. This fund, among other things, is slated to build a new junior high school.

Many voters will also be voting at new polling places. Two new precincts have been formed in the school district. Details of the precincts and detailed backgrounds of the candidates will be published preceding the election in The Mail.

Ordinance Conflict of Township, City Holds Back Water Extension

Because City ordinance requires charging double rates for water users outside the City limit and because Plymouth Township ordinance does not provide for charging its customers double rates, it appears that a 17-home subdivision proposed by the Garling Construction Co. will be delayed indefinitely.

The Plymouth Township Board considered the matter last week. But since the Township meeting May 10, Garling intends to build 17 homes along Riverside Drive, a street running from Ann Arbor Trail into Riverside Park. But since the Township does not yet have water available in that area, Garling has asked the City to supply the water by selling it to the Township, who would in turn bill the customers. Last month City Manager Albert Glassford visited the Township Hall and turned over its water rates which are similar to those in the Township system at Lake Pointe Village, except they are doubled when the water is sold outside the City limits.

The Board considered the matter last week and then decided to table it further because Township ordinance does not provide for charging its water customers a double rate. It therefore appears that if Garling is going to get water for the homes, either the City or the Township will have to alter its ordinance.

Garling expects to eventually build more than the 17 homes. It owns 20 acres located in both the City and Township, and so far can get County permission to build only the 17 homes because of sanitary sewer restrictions.

While the 17 homes is a relatively small subdivision, the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce last month passed a resolution urging the City and Township to find a way to permit Garling to build the homes in order "to stimulate the economic growth of the area."

In other business before the Township Board last week, three zoning hearings will be held at the next meeting. They will involve a proposed change of agriculture land to R-3 zoning at the Oak Haven Trailer Court on Ridge Rd. Two lots in Rocker Subdivision near Ann Arbor Rd. and Main St. have been proposed for a change from R-1 to professional office (P-O). A similar change has been asked for three lots along Schoolcraft Rd. near the water tower.

A request has been made from the Board of Liquor Control to transfer the liquor license of the Thunderbird Inn to Herman Helprin, president owner of the Box Bar. The Board followed procedure by referring the matter to the Road Patrol.

It was decided to investigate the purchase of a station wagon for use as a fire department emergency vehicle.

Get Those Dog Tags, Owners Told

It's dog licensing time in the Plymouth area with owners warned that the deadline for getting 1960 tags on their canine friends is June 1.

"Plymouth Township held its dog clinics during the past two Saturdays and the City of Plymouth has scheduled just one clinic for this coming Saturday.

The City clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m. at the City Hall. The cost of licenses will be the same—$2 for all dogs—but the cost of vaccine is now $4. Dogs are now being vaccinated against rabies with a new "avianized" vaccine which is good for a two-year period instead of one. Any dogs which received this avianized vaccine last year will not need a shot this year.

In the City, dog owners must bring their vaccination slip from last year which is marked "avianized" to prove that their dog did get the two-year variety of vaccine.

Plymouth Township's dog clinics were not very successful. Clerk Fred L. Miller reported this week. Of the 600 to 900 dogs in the Township,

New Paving Projects Included in Budget

Improvement of five streets has been provided in the 1960-61 City budget—a budget that is only $2,380 higher than last year's. City Commissioners put their final stamp of approval on the document Monday night.

The new budget total is $580,625. The City tax rate will be 14.75 mills, the same as last year.

In order to keep the tax rate the same, the Commission chopped out many of the improvements suggested by City Manager Albert Glassford. Remaining are five street improvement projects.

One is the pavement of Mill St., from Main to Starkweather. Wayne County now controls all of Mill St. south of Main St., but not the portion north of Main. They do, however, control all of Starkweather, which is a block away. To give the County a continuous street through the City, the City will swap its control of Mill (from Main to Starkweather) for the County's Starkweather.

The County will then pave Mill St. with the cost being split by the City and County. This will amount to $9,500 for the City.

Also proposed is a recapping of Harvey St. from Wing to Ann Arbor Trail; recapping Ann Arbor Trail from Harvey to Sheldon; (with county participation); recapping of Adams St., from Church to Farmer; and recapping Ann St. from William to Junction.

The new budget also allots $2,200 for warning flashers in the school crossing area on South Main.

There are no general pay increases this year for City employees. Police and firemen, however, will receive a two and one half percent hike and Department of Public Works employees will be allowed a five percent merit increase.

Specialty Shop Devoted to Pets Opens on Harvey

Another new business has joined the select specialty shops of the downtown Plymouth shopping area. It is the Plymouth Aquarium and Pet Shop, located at 367 S. Harvey St., next to the entrance of the Central Parking Lot.

The shop is owned and operated by Frank and Patricia Lennox, newcomers to Plymouth. Mr. Lennox has been divisional sales manager for Vanity Fair Paper Mills of New York. Having been transferred 19 times in 12 years of married life, they liked Plymouth so much that

Wurlitzer Now In Plymouth

Wurlitzer, an old and famous name in music, this week announced the launching of a major retail operation in Plymouth.

Alfred J. Cawson has assumed duties as manager of the store which is located at 289 S. Main St., opposite Fisher Shoes. It formerly was operated by Maddy Music Co.

One new policy is the renting of new organs or pianos. They can be rented for as little as $8 per month, with rental fees applicable to purchase price if it is desired later.

The Plymouth outlet is Wurlitzer's third in the metropolitan area, others being located in downtown Detroit and Wyandotte.

All musical instruments are available at Wurlitzer's, and professional instruction on any instrument is available.

AN AIR VIEW as well as a ground-level view of Plymouth was given Exchange of Mayors Day visitors in Plymouth Monday. In the rear seat of the plane piloted by Al Finney are Mrs.

Helen Casey (left), clerk of the village of Port Sanilac, and Mrs. Alys Hunt, village president. They took a half-hour air trip over the area.

Visiting Mayor Fears Her Village Won't Reach 500

The jovial lady president of the Village of Port Sanilac was in town Monday in observance of the statewide Exchange of Mayors Day and she expressed fears that her town's population won't reach 500 in the census as she had hoped.

Mrs. Alys Hunt, president of the small village on Lake Huron was given the royal treatment throughout the day while Plymouth's Mayor pro tem Robert Sincock and Commissioner William Hartmann were being given the same welcome at Port Sanilac.

During the day Mrs. Hunt and her companion, Mrs. Helen Casey, clerk of the village, visited such places as the city well field, the schools, Dunning-Hough Library and buzzed the area from the air. They also managed to get some shopping in, too.

Without hesitation, the two climbed aboard a four-passenger plane at Mettetal Airport for a half-hour tour. The plane, piloted by Al Finney, circled around Livonia and Northville as well as Plymouth.

Mrs. Hunt gave her real opinions, however, during a luncheon at the Hotel Mayflower. It was attended by City department heads and representatives of business, industry and the schools.

She praised the progressiveness of the community but apologized for the apparent mistake made by the state Michigan Week committee which was supposed to pair up cities and villages of near size. Port Sanilac isn't near the size of Plymouth, she noted.

In 1950 the village had 250 people. "We had hoped it

Old Village On Review At Library

A display of early Plymouth items has been set up at the Dunning-Hough Library in connection with Hospitality and Heritage Days during Michigan Week.

Mrs. Agnes Pauline, librarian, announced today that the commemoration of the special days will end with a tea from 2 to 5 p.m. this Friday at which the public, particularly the senior citizens, are invited.

The Plymouth Historical Society has arranged exhibits of items from early local history. Children are being invited to visit the special display and school classes are also welcome to come, Mrs. Pauline said.

Taking part in the library events are the Daughters of the American Revolution, American Association of University Women, Plymouth Historical Society, Garden Club, Woman's Club, Business and Professional Women and Girl Scouts.

Friday's tea will be held in the upstairs meeting room. Anyone who is unable to attend because of the lack of transportation can make arrangements through the library.

NEWS BEAT

Putting parking meters in front of one's own house might be a good way of picking up some change, but police may become suspicious. Someone made off with two meters last weekend from Ann Arbor Trail, near Forest Ave. Two meters were on one post and apparently the thief used a pipe wrench to remove them. The meters themselves are worth $134 and, of course, there was some money inside.

COMING UP: A convention of the Community Theatre Association of Michigan will be held in Plymouth in November, it was announced this week. Some 200 people are expected to attend the one-day affair at which the Plymouth Theatre Guild will be host. Chairman will be Hal Young.

SCHOOL GIFT: An illuminated bulletin board is under construction outside the High School gym, the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Alex J. Yeoman in memory of their son, Jeffrey, who was killed last December while hitchhiking back to his Air Force post. Jeffrey was a 1956 Plymouth High graduate. Dedication of the bulletin board and planter will be on Memorial Day.

SPEAKER'S BUREAU: The new Plymouth State Home and Training School has staff members ready to speak to any organization in the area. Staff members from the medical, business, nursing, social service and personal departments will participate. Groups interested can call George Ebling, community relations director, at the school (GL 3-1500).

MADE IN MICHIGAN: Store windows all over town are this week featuring products made in Michigan—particularly in Plymouth. Most of the local manufacturers are cooperating. In addition, 10 new cars "Made in Michigan" have been parked along downtown streets. For those not familiar with locally-made products, a stroll downtown is suggested.

HOME COMING: Col. Edward T. Miller, the Spanish-American War veteran pictured elsewhere on this page, expressed regret that he won't be in town for this year's Memorial Day ceremony. He will be going to Ohio Wesleyan at Delaware, O. for his graduating class's 65th anniversary. Needless to say, not many classmates are expected.

MOVES ALONG: A representative from the Housing and Home Finance Agency that handles Urban Renewal will be in Plymouth today to discuss the City's application for a grant. An advance of $34,912 will be made to finance surveys and plans for the project along Mill St., from Bathey Manufacturing to Ann Arbor Trail. It looks like the project will become a reality.

NO GO: The City of Berkley is asking cities in the area to pass resolutions protesting Detroit's establishment of an income tax. But Commissioners, feeling that such a resolution would have no impact whatsoever with Detroit, decided not to go along with the proposed resolution.

The Girls' Glee Club will sing: "Green Pastures," "Spring," and "Lullaby of Broadway."

Vocalists Offer 'May Festival Of Song' Tuesday

The "May Festival of Song" musical finale to this school year. All choral groups in Plymouth High School will be on hand to give a rousing finish to the year's efforts.

The girls chorus will sing: "Stars of the Summer Night," "All in the Golden Afternoon," and "Baubles, Bangles and Beads" with Joyce Stimpson as featured soloist.

The Triple Trios will sing: "A Bird Flew," "Come Rain or Come Shine," and "Malaguena" (sung in Spanish).

Lestee Huxley, a senior soprano, will sing "By the Bend of the River."

The Mixed Chorus will sing: "God So Loved the World," a spiritual, "Climbin' Up The Mountain" and "The Taranella."

League Of Women Voters To Hear Report

Speaker for the May meeting of the Livonia League of Women Voters will be Mrs. Alexander Sanders of Detroit. Mrs. Sanders was appointed by Governor G. Mennen Williams to be a delegate to the recent White House Conference on Youth and Children.

Mrs. Sanders will report on that Conference to the League May 24 at 12:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jack Lewis, 31590 Myrna in Livonia. The meeting is open to all women of voting age.

Although units of the League of Women Voters have been meeting in Livonia for several years, the women have been a separate organization only since March. Mrs. John M. LaRue, 9810 Blackburn, who is president of the new group, represented it at the State Council meeting of the League in Kalamazoo May 18 and 19.

Also, in conjunction with the stated League policy of "promoting political responsibility through informed and active participation of citizens in government," the Livonia group sent Mrs. Joseph Perna, 11001 Arden, and Mrs. Raymond Warner, 9840 Arden, to the Michigan Conference on International Development May 15-17 at the University of Michigan. Keynote speaker at the Conference was Governor Williams. His topic was "Regional Development in the Near East."

Mrs. Warren Radtke

Judith Lockhart Becomes Bride of Warren Radtke

Miss Judith Ann Lockhart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burns Lockhart of 65230 Cowan Rd., became the bride of Warren Robert Radtke on May 14 at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church, Ann Arbor.

The two-thirty double rite and nuptial communion were performed by the Rev. Scott N. Jones of Evanston, Ill., assisted by the Rev. Edward A. Roth and the Rev. Robert H. Hauert of Ann Arbor.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence C. Radtke of Homewood, Ill.

For her wedding, Miss Lockhart chose a white satin gown with imported Belgian lace trimming a V-neckline and bodice. The bell skirt was accented by a large bow over the hip line in the back which held a chapel train.

Her headpiece was a small satin pillbox trimmed with lace and flat Dior bow which held the short bouffant shoulder-length veil. She carried a cascade arrangement of white gardenias centered with a pale pink orchid, surrounded by hyacinths.

The Mrs. Michael Alan Lynch of Muncie, Ind. and William H. Schaaf, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., matrons of honor, and Mrs. Robert Odgen Hall of Evanston, Ill. and Mrs. John A. Swallow of Livonia, bridesmaids, wore hyacinth silk organza sheaths with tiered overskirts and matching picture hats. They carried pink and hyacinth cascades of snapdragons.

The junior bridesmaids were Miss Paula Cooper of Toledo, a cousin of the bride, and Miss Mary Ellen Radtke, sister of the bridegroom. They wore pink silk organza dresses with bouffant skirts and matching folk bonnets. They carried white lace parasols covered with hyacinth and pink snapdragons.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lockhart chose a beige silk organza over silk print sheath covered with a long jacket accented by a large bouffant collar. She wore beige accessories and had a salmon base corsage.

Mrs. Radtke wore a street-length white sheath accented by a beige lace bodice and large satin bow in the back. She had a pink base corsage.

Edward Alan Radtke of Evanston, Ill., brother of the bridegroom and Kenneth Burns Lockhart, Jr., brother of the bride, served as best men. Groomsmen were Robert Odgen Hall of Evanston, Ill., Edward B. Germain of Jackson, Mich., William Simpson of Rockford, Ill., and David Corbett of Montclair, N.J., all fraternity brothers of the groom.

Following a reception at the Dearborn Inn, the couple left on a short wedding trip. They will make their home in Rockford, Ill. where Mr. Radtke is manager of the General Electric Credit Corp.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Radtke are graduates of Northwestern University.

AAUW Installs Officers Tomorrow

Its Annual Meeting time for the Plymouth Branch of AAUW Thursday evening, May 19 at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. W. J. Worth, 51000 N. Territorial Rd., Plymouth.

President, Mrs. D. H. Sutherland will give her President's Report of the Branch's activities, achievements and highlights over the past year. Mrs. Richard Fritz and Mrs. B. William Secord will resume their experiences at the Regional Conference held in Milwaukee last month.

To "doll-up" the meeting a bit, will be four small-sized little girls (members' daughters) modeling the beautifully smocked and laced hand-made dress creations of member Mrs. F. D. Seber's Michigan Needlework Guild.

Chairman of the co-hostesses for the tea preceding the meeting is Mrs. F. A. Stobbe, just returned from a six months stay in McAllen, Tex. Assisting her will be Mrs. John J. DeMott and Mrs. Arthur Haar.

Installation of new officers for the 1960-62 years will culminate the meeting. To be installed are Mrs. B. Secord, president (of Northville); Mrs. Henry Walch, recording secretary; and Mrs. D. K. Huting, corresponding secretary. Remaining as officers in 1960-61 to complete their two-year terms will be first vice-president, Mrs. Richard N. Fritz, second vice-president, Mrs. W. H. Medlyn, of Novi, and treasurer, Mrs. S. Lawrence Money.

Representing the International Relations Study Group of the Branch at the International Development Conference to be held in Ann Arbor May 15-17 will be study group member, Mrs. Secord. Scheduled to speak at the opening session Sunday evening are Dr. Willard L. Thorp, director of the Merrill Center for Economics at Amherst College, and Leonard J. Saccio, deputy director, International Co-operation Administration.

Their topics will be "The Meaning of Point Four" and "American Foreign Economic Aid Today." Monday evening speakers will include Paul G. Hoffman, director of the United Nations Special Fund, Governor G. Mennen Williams, and Dr. Hannu, president of Michigan State University.

They will further the general purpose of the conference — to foster greater public understanding of U. S. foreign policy and programs to aid underdeveloped countries. The Michigan Division of International Relations Committee of AAUW is a co-sponsor of this conference, which is also an official event of Michigan Week.

Winding up other study group activities of the Plymouth Branch for the year will be a picnic meeting of the Drama Study Group at the home of Mrs. Gordon Vetal, June 2. Th picnic will be followed by the reading of Chekov's, "The Cherry Orchard."

Mrs. G. H. Froebel of Northville will hostess the International Relations Study Group at her Nine Mile Road home on May 24. They will discuss the Conlin Report dealing with gradual admission of Red China into world affairs. The group will then attempt to tie together their year's study of China and come up with some basic opinion that may be of interest to our various congressmen.

Beta Sigma Phi Installs Officers in Ceremony

New officers of Beta Sigma Phi, Eta Psi Chapter, were installed during a candlelight ceremony on May 3. The installation was conducted by Mrs. Robert Brown, retiring president, before a table decorated with gold mums and gold tapers on a white and gold satin cloth.

As officers were installed, each was given the properties of the office. Accepting the gavel for the coming year was the new president, Mrs. Craig Stover. Other officers are:

Vice-president, Mrs. Bruce Milroy; extension officer, Mrs. A. D. Walker; recording secretary, Mrs. William Grimmer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Forest Byrd. The installation meeting was held at the residence of Mrs. Lee Rehbein, McClumpha Rd.

A report on the Spring Frolic of April 23 was given. The dance, held at Fox Hills Country Club, was successful. About 70 couples attended.

The sorority is now preparing for its annual rummage sale, to be held May 20 and 21 at Smith Music Co., 504 S. Main St. The Ways and Means Committee, headed by Mrs. Gerald Fuelling, is working hard to make this sale a successful venture.

At the evening's close, Mrs. Rehbein served refreshments to the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler Caplin

Tyler Caplin, Illinois Girl United in Evening Ceremony

Miss Nancy Lou Rickman of Park Ridge, Ill., became the bride of Thomas Tyler Caplin of Plymouth in an evening ceremony March 26 at St. Luke's Lutheran Church, Park Ridge.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendford Rickman of Park Ridge while the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Caplin, 46000 Joy Rd.

The Rev. Walter Spangler performed the double-ring ceremony. The bride was given away by her father. A solo, "The Greatest of These," was sung preceding the ceremony by William Carlsson. White roses and white gladioli decorated the candlelit altar.

The bride wore a white tissue taffeta gown designed with a fitted waist and three quarter-length sleeves. The bodice was appliqued with imported Alencon lace, seed pearls and sequins. Her skirt was bouffant with bustle back and chapel train. A full fingertip veil was gathered to an orange blossom motif coronet and the bride carried a cascade bouquet of white roses. Karin Rickman, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, wearing cornflower blue organza over taffeta and carrying a cascade bouquet of pink and white carnations with an accent of blue hyacinths.

Junior bridesmaid was Lynn Burchfield, a cousin of the bride. Other bridesmaids were Judy Weber, Barbara Weber, Linda Weiffenbach and Betty Ashenbrenner, friends of the bride. Their gowns were the same as the bride, except the junior bridesmaid's was lighter blue.

The bride's mother, Mr. S. Rickman, wore champagne pink imported taffeta with matching shoes and white accessories. Mrs. Caplin, mother of the bridegroom, wore beige silk embroidered organza over imported taffeta with accessories to match. Both wore orchid corsages.

Eric Caplin, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Serving as ushers were two brothers of the bride, Tom and Robert Rickman, and three college friends, Robert Nodus, Gary Barrett and Robert Walsh.

Over 300 attended the wedding, coming from Michigan, Florida, Indiana, Missouri, California and Illinois. A reception for 200 was held after the ceremony at the West Park Recreation Hall.

For her going-away outfit the bride wore white and beige check with brown accessories and a white orchid corsage. The couple returned to Michigan State University where Mr. Caplin is finishing his education.

The bride is a graduate of Main Township High School and attended Michigan State two years. Mr. Caplin graduated from Plymouth High School and is a senior at Michigan State and a member of the golf team.

Local Couple Gets Big Dose of Famous Southern Hospitality

When Mr. and Mrs. C. Blaine Lytle of 1084 Dewey St. decided to stay overnight in a motel in Lake Charles, La. earlier this month, little did they know that they would be celebrities for a day.

South Lake Charles merchants each year select a "year" and this year the Lytles were picked on May 5. They were enroute from New Orleans when they attended a convention to San Antonio where their son lives. Mr. Lytle is in the wholesale air conditioning and heating business.

In their role as tourists of the year, Mr. and Mrs. Lytle were greeted at City Hall by Mayor Sidney L. Gray and presented a drip coffee pot and coffee, in addition to a key to the city.

They also were entertained for coffee at Chateau Charles. At noon they were guests of the South Lake Charles Rotary Club, followed by a tour of the new Charity Hospital and a boat trip to see the industrial and resort areas.

There was also a supper and a free room that night at the Lakeview Motel. Flowers and gifts were presented. Southern Bell Telephone arranged for a talk with Mrs. Lytle's mother in Fredericksburg, W. Va. and Western Union offered facilities for messages.

"We traveled around in an air conditioned Cadillac," Mrs. Lytel related this week, still overwhelmed by the day. "We went through town with a police escort, through red lights and all."

Their day was recorded by TV news cameramen with films being shown on TV newscasts throughout the day.

TICKETS TO the smash musical "Flower Drum Song" are being sold by the American Association of University Women for the performance of Monday, May 23. The center balcony seats are priced at $4.85. Mrs. Wendell Smith, right, is shown receiving her tickets from Mrs. R. R. Wisniewski, ticket chairman. Those interested in tickets can call Mrs. Wisniewski at GL 3-0292. Receipts from the ticket sale will be used to help finance a new headquarters building for the AAUW in Washington.

Toy Display Highlights Mother-Daughter Banquet

Toys of yesterday and today were displayed at the Mother and Daughter Banquet held Wednesday night (May 11) in St. John's Episcopal Church Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Breneman of Breneman Toys and Clothing, Ann Arbor Trail, presented the interesting program. Among the antique toys shown were some dating back to 1860 which were taken from individual collections and which were compared to the toys of today.

Included in the show were an old marble railroad, table tennis set, dolls and doll furniture, a 1913 model car, stuffed animals and other playthings of interest to mothers and daughters. Several of the antique toys shown were from Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Strong's collection.

Nearly 100 mothers and daughters attended the party which was sponsored by the Episcopal Church Women's Organization.

Mrs. William Scott presented the toast to daughters and her daughter, Carolyn, gave the toast to mothers.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Frederick Steiner.

The program also included a song fest, with piano accompaniment provided by Mrs. Roland Bonamic, Mrs. L. H. Goddard won a prize in the mother and daughter spelldown.

Prizes were also awarded to the mother of the youngest daughter present, the grandmother with the youngest granddaughter, the family with the most generations represented and the largest family present.

Tables were decorated with apple blossoms and individual favors. Serving the dinner were the following young men: Charles Bowers, Gordon Bowers, Barry Corwin, Keith Evans, Ken Evans, Bill Henry, David Hubbs, Jonathan Hubbs, Leonard Sackett, Peter Steiner and Tim Steiner.

Mrs. Ralph Taylor was mistress of ceremonies. In charge of reservations were Mrs. Richard La Mirand and Mrs. John A. McIlhargie; decorations, Mrs. Robert C. Utter; and serving, Mrs. David D. Hubbs and Mrs. David T. Davies.

A short business meeting, conducted by Mrs. James M. Scott, ECW president, preceded the program.

Methodists List Many Activities

Last Wednesday the Women's Society of Christian Service presented an impressive candlelight service honoring the new members who have joined the organization during the past year. Preceding the recognition service a salad luncheon was served to 150 at tables decorated with lilacs, tulips and daffodils.

On Friday the dining room was again filled with colorful flower arrangements when the United Council of Church Women held their annual May Fellowship Breakfast. The speaker of the morning was Mrs. Donald Tracy of Birmingham, who is the district chairman of Christian Social Relations.

At both Sunday worship services the choirs presented a special musical service in memory of Mrs. Edna O'Conner, who for many years was the church organist and choir director. Dr. John Flower, professor of music at the University of Michigan and Minister of Music of the Methodist Church, directed the chancel choir in excerpts from Mozart's "Requiem Mass". A tenor solo by William Fowlkes and selections by the junior choir was also part of the musical service. Guest organist was Alexander Boggs-Ryan of the University of Michigan. Chimes will be installed in the church organ in memory of Mrs. O'Conner who had expressed this wish during her ministry of music at the Methodist Church.

A tea and reception honoring those who have joined the church during the past year was given on Sunday afternoon in Fellowship by the Commission on Membership and Evangelism. The tea table appointments included a floral centerpiece of pink and white carnations, sparkling punch, bowls, cookies, mints and nuts.

Members of the Commission on Membership and Evangelism will note that the regular meeting has been postponed one week to May 24 at 8 p.m.

New York City played host to 776 conventions in 1957, attended by nearly four million delegates.

Dance Club Ends Another Season

"Paris in the Spring" was the theme of a dinner-dance of the Evergreen Dance Club held last Saturday night.

The club, which includes many members from Plymouth, held the dance at the Western Golf and Country Club. Les Shaw and his orchestra played. This was the last dance of the season.

Celebrates 84th Birthday May 12

Mrs. Lucilla Roetzel of Russell, Ark., celebrated her 84th birthday May 12 with her daughter, Mrs. Doy Fritchett, 1091 Cherry St., and family, three grandchildren, two great grandchildren and several friends.

Friends attending were Mrs. Ila Montgomery of Detroit, Mrs. Dorothy Pierce of New Boston, Mrs. Irma Gotthard and Mrs. Elton McAlister of Plymouth.

SPORTSEEN

By BILL NELSON

A couple of hundred parents, friends and swimmers gathered over in the junior high school recently to honor the unbeaten Plymouth High swimming team, listen to speeches and eat a good dinner.

Awards were passed out (listed elsewhere on the sports page) and Dick Greizinger and Ron Daley were elected co-captains for next season. In addition Greizinger was named the most valuable swimmer.

If parental pride was atomic energy, you could have lit the city of Pittsburgh at the banquet. Parents enjoyed the festivities and Coach John McFall was well equipped with quips and anecdotes about his team.

American Swimming Coach Emeritus Matt Mann (a long time U of M coach now at Oklahoma) mesmerized the guests with a talk about swimming in depth.

"Don't be a good loser, boys," he warned, "the world isn't run by good losers. It's not a good habit."

He spoke of the coaching profession and explained to the parents that "what we're trying to do is help you to have another man around the house."

Mrs. Robert Sparkman, 8910 Marlowe, provided some good news about ex-Plymouth High star Ed LaRoche. LaRoche, now at the University of Idaho, has been called by his football coach as "potentially the finest flanker I've ever had at Idaho."

In addition, LaRoche ran the quarter mile in 50 seconds flat and the 220 in 22.5 to win those events in a track meet against Washington State. It was the first time in 20 years that Idaho had beaten WSU.

LaRoche runs the 100 in 09.9 and football coach Skip Mahley says, "He has marked ability as a pass receiver."

Mrs. Sparkman is the mother of Wayne Sparkman (current Plymouth athletic star). She trades stories about sons with LaRoche's mother who is a neighbor. The conversations ought to be fun.

33 Swim Letters Issued By McFall

Swimming Coach John McFall issued 27 Junior Varsity and 26 varsity swimming letters to his powerful swimmers. The varsity had a perfect 14-0 record for the dual meet season and won the Suburban championship.

Williams Sets Mark, Places 2nd In 440

"A good try and a lot of fun for the boys", said Coach Keith Baughmann summed up the team's eighth place performance in the State Regionals at Ann Arbor last Saturday.

"Nearly everyone turned in his best time of the season," Baughmann pointed out, as the Rocks totaled 10 and 3/4 points in the meet won by Flint Northern.

Don Williams set a new Plymouth High School record in the 440, running the distance in 52.2, but it was only good enough for second place in this meet. The old Plymouth record was held by Lou Vargha who set a 52.6 in 1950.

Williams also added a fourth in the broadjump with a leap of 20 feet one and a quarter inches. Bill Hall was third in the 220 in 23.1 and fourth in the 100 yard dash with a 10.6.

Bill Brown tied for fourth in the pole vault by soaring ten feet six inches.

The Rocks meet Bentley tomorrow night at 7 p.m. at Bentley. On Saturday Hall and Williams will participate in the State Meet.

Baseball Team Rained Out Still Unbeaten

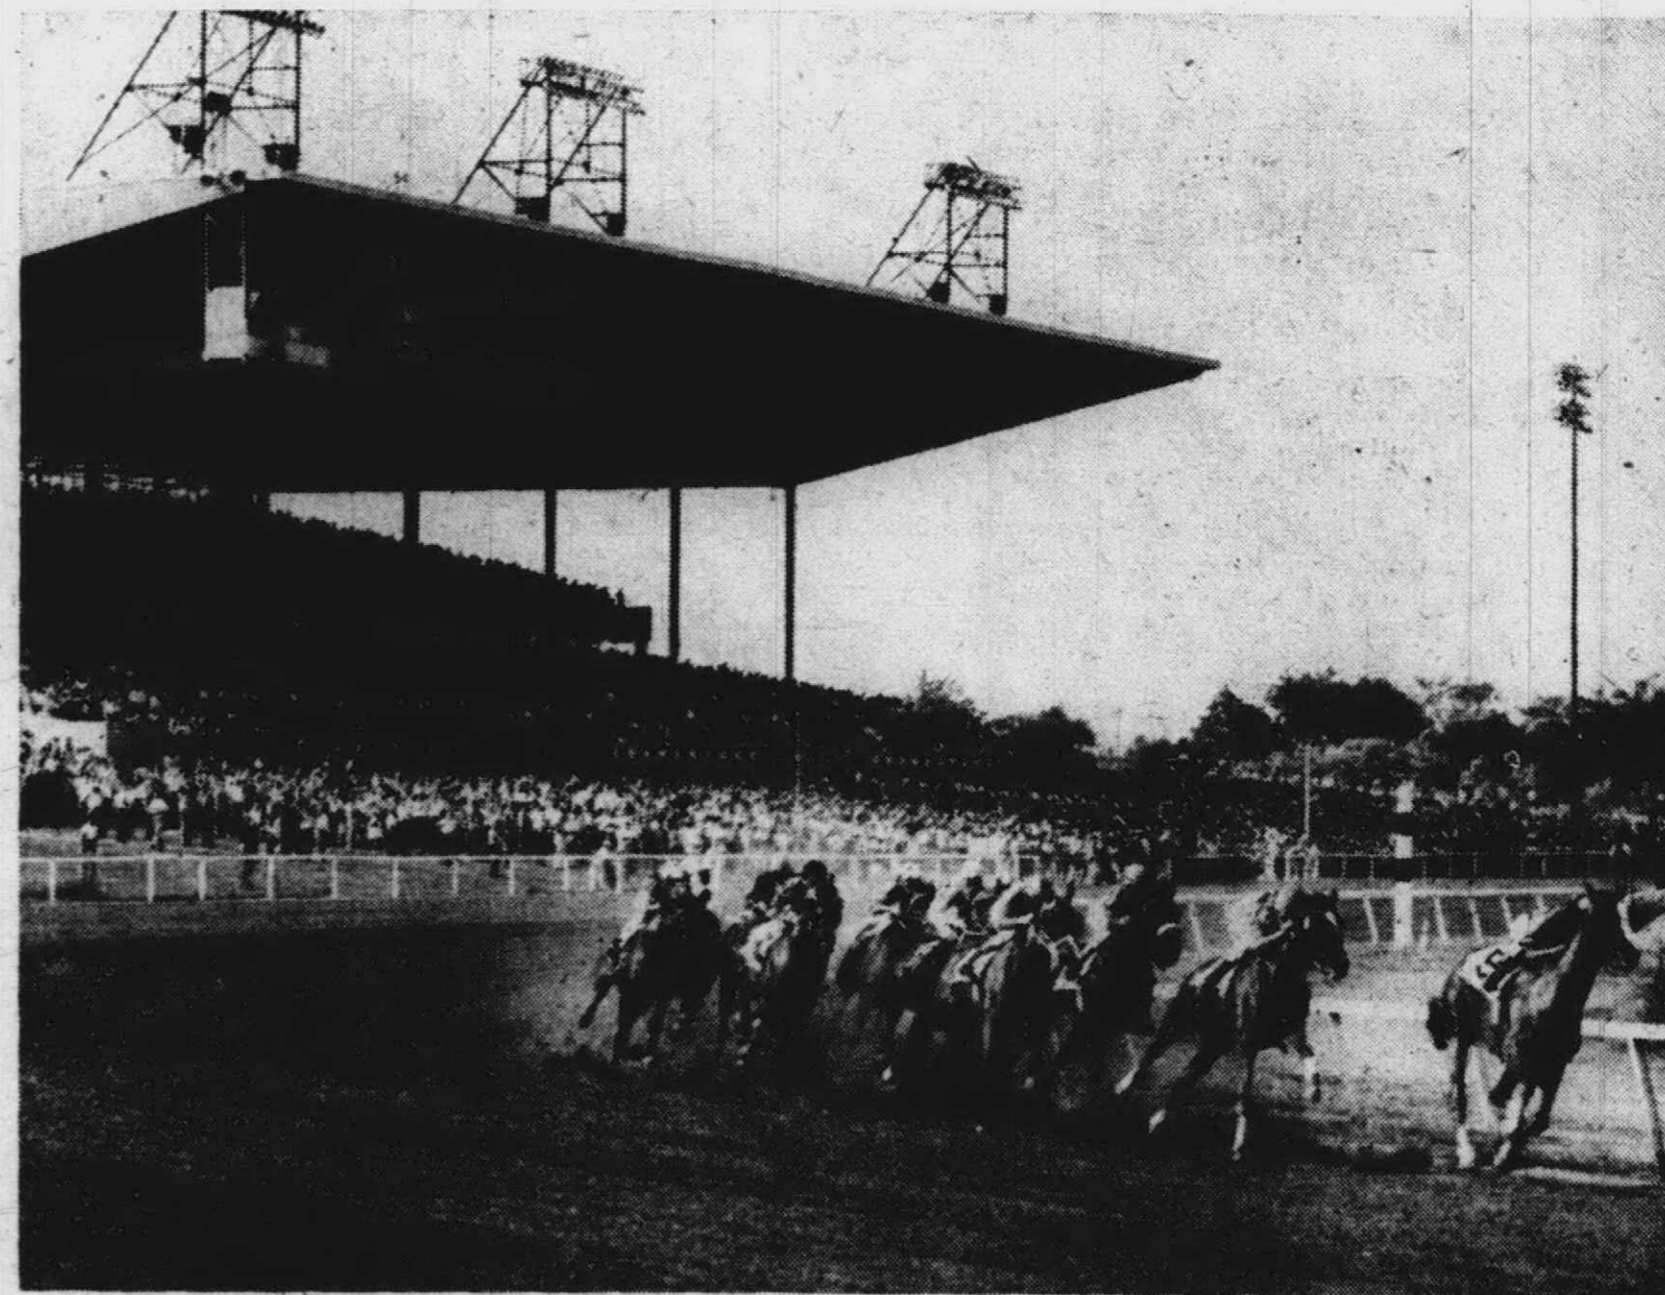

Rained out of three scheduled games last week, Plymouth hopefully looked forward to this week and another three baseball games. The unbeaten Rocks, who are leading the Suburban Six League, were scheduled to play at Allen Park Monday and to meet Thurston at home today. They will entertain Redford Union at Plymouth tomorrow.

Young People Invited to CAP Meet Tuesday

Young people who feel they may be interested in the activities of the Civil Air Patrol are being invited to "sit in" on a meeting of the Plymouth Squadron this Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. in the Plymouth High School.

The CAP, open to both boys and girls, is being reorganized in Plymouth. Meetings are held each Tuesday evening. The organization is designed to develop, train and prepare young people for the opportunities and responsibilities of living in the air age.

Those interested in finding out more can telephone the squadron commander, Captain Emerson Robinson, GL 3-6541, or Tim Granes, GL 36541.

THOROUGHBRED HORSE RACING, most popular sport in the nation in terms of fan attendance, returns to the Detroit Race Course at Schoolcraft and Middlebelt on Friday. More than half a million fans will visit Livonia during the 62 day meeting.

Sports Spotlight On Livonia Friday With Debut of Racing

Michigan's sports spotlight falls on Livonia Friday when thoroughbred racing returns to the Detroit Race Course for a 62-day stand. The Inaugural Handicap, a $5,000 event, will highlight the Friday program.

Saturday's card will be capped by the $7,500 Kings Hope Handicap. Starting Monday, May 23, the Detroit Race Course will celebrate Livonia Week. All residents of Livonia have been invited to be guests of the DRC during the week.

6 1/2 Hour Player Action Sorts 343 Boys for Little League

It took six and a half hours to complete the player action for the newly-formed Plymouth Community Little League last Friday night. Games will be played on official diamonds now being developed along Farmer St., behind the high school. Backstops have arrived and the four dugouts are to be erected as soon as the backstops are in place.

B-G-R Appoints Two To Executive Posts

C. J. Stofko, General Manager of the Associated Spring Corporation, G-G-R Division, has announced the appointment of Douglas M. Park to the position of manufacturing engineering manager, and Howard J. Toll to the position of personnel manager.

In making these appointments, Stofko said: "These changes are another step forward in the improvement of the operations by concentrating our efforts and accelerating the various programs by this concentration. We feel that the appointments of the top executive group of B-G-R will fulfill this objective."

Park, who was previously purchasing agent of the B-G-R Division, assumes his new responsibilities with a diversified background of experience in the manufacturing and engineering fields of the spring industry. He was previously factory manager of the Wallace Barnes Ltd. Subsidiary of Associated Spring Corporation in Hamilton, Ontario, before coming to the B-G-R Division in 1957. Park will have full responsibility for estimating and planning, industrial engineering, statistical quality control, and inspection. He and his wife Alice live in Northville.

The position of purchasing agent of the B-G-R Division will be taken over by William B. Silvis, a recent resident of Plymouth, previously buyer for the B-G-R Division.

Howard J. Toll, who is named as personnel manager of the Division, comes to B-G-R with 25 years of varied and diversified experience in the field of personnel management, industrial relations and employment. Prior to coming to B-G-R, Toll worked for Peninsular Metal Products, American Motors Corporation, Federal-Mogul Corporation, and Chrysler Corporation.

Toll is a graduate of Wayne State University, and holds a law degree which was also secured through the Wayne State University Law School. Since that time he has studied extensively in the area of personnel and industrial relations, as well as the fields of time study and methods engineering.

Toll is 52 years old, married, and has one daughter. He is a member of the Michigan State Bar Association and Labor Relations Law Section, and has been very active in community and church affairs. He has indicated that he will be moving to the Plymouth community in the near future.

Stofko also made an announcement that R. J. Mitchell, who was previously personnel manager of the division, is appointed to the staff of the general manager. Associated Spring Corporation is the world's largest manufacturer of precision mechanical springs. The B-G-R Division, consisting of the Plymouth Plant and the Ann Arbor Plant, make up one of the largest divisions of the corporation, and supply precision mechanical springs to the automotive industry, as well as other diversified industries. The B-G-R Division has had a plant at the Plymouth Road location since 1951 when they moved from Detroit. They employ 500 employees. The Ann Arbor Plant employs 150 people.

Michigan's sports spotlight falls on Livonia Friday when thoroughbred racing returns to the Detroit Race Course for a 62-day stand. The Inaugural Handicap, a $5,000 event, will highlight the Friday program.

Saturday's card will be capped by the $7,500 Kings Hope Handicap. Starting Monday, May 23, the Detroit Race Course will celebrate Livonia Week. All residents of Livonia have been invited to be guests of the DRC during the week.

Highlight of the week will be the running of the Livonia Purse on Friday. Among the city officials taking part in the winner's circle presentations will be Mayor William Brashear.

Leading the list of new stables at the DRC is that of Rex Ellsworth, breeder and owner of the great Swaps, winner of the 1955 Kentucky Derby.

Ellsworth has shipped a division of his stable east of the Rocky Mountains for the first time in his long racing career. His Michigan division consists of 30 thoroughbreds which campaigned at the Santa Anita meeting.

Another newcomer to the Michigan racing scene is Steve Ippolito. Trainer of the stakes-winning Resolved, Ippolito is moving to the DRC after campaigning for years at Chicago tracks.

John Daniel, the DRC's new racing secretary, has built a 26-event program of stakes races, features a handicaps around the $50,000-added Michigan Mile. The Mile, Michigan's richest race, will be run on Saturday, July 9.

A newcomer to the DRC's list of features is the $10,000 Michigan Mile Trial, a testing ground for mile hopefuls. This race will be contested on Saturday, July 2.

The 240-acre racing plant at Middlebelt and Schoolcraft Roads has undergone a complete spring cleaning. The multi-colored grandstand and clubhouse have been painted, the thousands of trees and bushes have been pruned and thinned and thousands of flowers planted. One of the biggest tasks undertaken during the offseason was an elaborate refurbishment of the ladies' lounges.

After months of planning and work, these areas now rank with the finest in the country. The following post times have been set for the meeting which runs through July 30: Opening day, 3 p.m.; Saturdays and holidays 2 p.m. and weekdays 3:30 p.m.

Three months in the Detroit House of Correction was the sentence given Monday to James Schmidt, 20, of 8660 Haggerty Rd. by Municipal Judge Nandino Perlongo.

Charged with reckless driving, Schmidt was apprehended Friday, May 13 after a complaint by residents along Northville Rd. Schmidt, accompanied by several companions, was driving a car which complainants said forced oncoming vehicles off the road. At McAllister's Grocery, it sped away leaving 60 feet of skid marks, they said.

Larry Livingston Wins 24 Straight

Coach Jim Doyle's tennis team is back on the winning trail after taking two victories last week. The Rocks stoned Bentley Monday 4-1 and then swept by Taylor Center last Thursday 7-0.

Don Argo and Larry Livingston won a doubles as did Mike Porter and Bernard Curtis. Bob Wall won in singles, while Tommy Locke suffered the only Plymouth loss. Don Conover had split a set with his opponent when rain forced cancellation of the rest of the match.

Against Taylor Center, Plymouth won every singles, and doubles. Larry Livingston and John Tichy-joined Porter and Curtis in doubles victories, while Bob Wall, Don Argo, Don Conover, Dale Livingston, and Bob Smith each won a singles. Smith and Dale Livingston are freshmen. In an extra singles event Jimmy Jensen, also a freshman, posted another Plymouth win.

Larry Livingston has now gone 24 straight without being defeated. The two team victories boosted Plymouth's seasonal mark to 3-4.

The Rocks will meet Ypsilanti at Ypsi today and participate in the Regionals this week-end at Dearborn High School. The team was scheduled to meet Trenton at Plymouth yesterday.

Plymouth Is Fifth In Golf Match

The Plymouth high school golf team is still perched atop the Suburban Six League with a 3-0 league record, but the Rocks were eliminated from the State Regionals last Friday at Brighton.

Plymouth shot a team total of 342 and placed fifth in the meet. But only the top four teams go on to the state finals. Steve Hayskar shot a 78, Del McAllister was second for Plymouth with an 81, while Tom Fletcher had a 81 and Dave Rank 92.

Birmingham's Gary Moww was medalist for the 14 school meet with a 73, although his team totaled 324 for third place. Ann Arbor — defending state champion — was first with 316. Only seven strokes separated Ann Arbor's individual low 76 from the school's individual high of 83.

Plymouth will meet Northville at Brasburn today. They were scheduled to meet at Trenton yesterday. The league meet will take place Monday.

The regional results were: Arn Arbor 316, Walled Lake 322, Birmingham 324, Dearborn 329, Plymouth 342, Berkley 346, Pontiac Northern 354, Ypsilanti 358, Pontiac Central 370, Trenton 373, Taylor Center 377, Pontiac Waterford 384, Wayne 390, Garden City 400.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Our readers sit a long way from Paris and it isn't the prime function of this newspaper to mull over foreign affairs. But nonetheless, it's difficult this week to write anything without having the mind troubled by the summit meeting and America's airplane spy.

United States spokesmen are in very warm water and the main reason is that we were caught in a lie. We were out-manuevered, out-smarted, and speared by our own pose of self-righteousness.

The spy incident by itself wasn't destined to have much lasting meaning. Espionage is thick all over the world and is carried on by every nation. And they all know it.

But a crisis resulted when our highest State Department officials called the whole thing a "weather observation" wherein a pilot "strayed off course." That was a lie.

What's one little lie in a world where big ones are common?

It's enough to put every nation in the world now on their guard about the United States. In all our pleadings, persuasions, and posings in the international family, this country takes the position that we are one nation which puts honor above selfish gain, which stands for ideals as contrasted to victory at any cost. We are one commonwealth which can be trusted. Our word is our bond; our aspirations are steeped in religion and philosophy.

It's a pretty fair argument, too, because there are millions of human beings who want to believe it is true. It is undoubtedly the biggest single disadvantage the Soviets must overcome while trying to peddle their own virtues to the same neighbors.

The Russian premier gave us a chance to explain the spy plane. He sucked us in. We lunged with a falsehood for an explanation, and he was ready to pull the rug out the moment the State Department uttered it.

Since then he has wrung every last drop of propaganda out of the incident and we have had to cringe and suffer global humiliation.

It's no longer a little lie. It's a big one.

It was uttered, of course, because this whole darn country has become washed in the belief that the end justifies the means; that it's no lie if you get away with it.

And that brings us right back to home, to our own suburban communities, our personal lives, to our local politics, to the classroom and the church auditorium. That's where it starts.

And then comes the day when the consequences are to be faced; at the summit in this particular week of history. Not to mention Cuba.

Two editorial orchids should be delivered today:

First to the Plymouth Township board for voluntarily taking action which takes the Treasurer off the "fee" basis of pay and on a straight, fair salary. The earnings under the old "fee" system were far out of line when compared with other Township employees. The subject was a campaign issue at the last election but the Democratic opponents who did all the talking and promised "action" after the election instead disappeared from sight. The voluntary Board action is a sparkling show of good faith with the taxpayers.

And a second orchid to Al Glassford of Plymouth who this week quarterbacked a "Michigan Week" program here which was one of the spritliest in the whole state. The participation of high school students in local businesses, so that they would see the opportunities right here at home, was an inspired move.

See You There

Eta Psi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, is holding its annual Rummage Sale at Smith Music Co., 504 S. Main, this Friday and Saturday, 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Proceeds are donated to cystic fibrosis and Wayne County Training School programs.

Officers will be elected at the Annual Meeting of the AAUW Thursday at 7:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. W. J. Worth, 51000 N. Territorial Rd.

Students Play In Recital Next Monday

Pupils of Mrs. James Honey will present their Spring Piano Recital this Monday, May 23. Starting at 7:30 p.m. in the Smith Music Store on S. Main St., the recital is open to parents and the public. The recital will consist of solos and ensemble numbers.

Memorial Services Planned in Salem

Memorial Day services will be held at the Old West Salem M.E. Church on Angle Rd. at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, May 29.

Rev. Ben Hollis will be the speaker and there will be special music.

Elected to Fraternity Sweetheart Court

Miss Linda Law, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh E. Law of Ann Arbor Rd., was elected to the court for Sweetheart of Phi Sigma Epsilon at Eastern Illinois University this past weekend. Linda is to marry Kenneth Calhoun on June 11.

Highway US-45, which starts at Ontonagon on Lake Superior, passes through six states — Wisconsin, Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama — before it reaches the Gulf of Mexico.

Terry, Ernest Henry and Dr. Fred Foust. Dr. Foust is selling Ernie a piece of home-made pie and Frank is making sure he pays plenty for it. Some of the crowd is shown in front of the church in the large photo.

A KEY TO the City is always a "must" when important visitors come to town and Mrs. Alys Hunt, president of the Port Sanilac council, received one Monday from DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida. Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. Helen Casey, village clerk, were here for Exchange of Mayors Day. The presentation took place at a luncheon at the Hotel Mayflower.

HOTEL Ezra Cornell opened its doors Friday and Saturday at Cornell University for visiting hotel and restaurant people. And helping to decorate the "World's Only Hotel for a Day" was Staton D. Lorenz, left, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Lorenz, Mayflower Hotel owner. Hotel management students at Cornell have been staging the hotel-for-a-day since 1926. The atmosphere of this year's event was a small French country inn of the 17th century.

BACK FROM Europe is the Kurt Thrun family, including their three boys (from left) Tim, Tom and Tod. They live at 9920 Bassett Drive, Livonia. The family went on the Queen Elizabeth and returned on the Queen Mary. Mr. Thrun is owner of the Travel Centre in Plymouth.

Obituaries

Carl W. Mapes

Carl William Mapes, formerly employed by Daisy Manufacturing Co., died at his home, 19291 Merriman Ct., Livonia, on May 12 after a long illness. He was 61.

Moving to Livonia 18 years ago from Minneapolis, Mr. Mapes was born in Elgin, Ill. on Nov. 8, 1898 to Lusius and Eva Jane (Samis) Mapes. His wife, Elzoe, died in 1940.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Zelka Smith of Livonia, and a brother, Cleve Mapes of Hazel Crest, Ill. He was a member of the Moose Lodge in Georgia.

The Rev. Melbourne I. Johnson, D.D., officiated at services at 4 p.m. Saturday from the Schrader Funeral Home. Interment was May 16 at Buff City Cemetery, Elgin.

Fred J. Bredin

Fred J. Bredin, a retired farmer who moved to Plymouth 35 years ago from Livonia, died at the age of 84 Wednesday, May 11 at Harper Hospital in Detroit. His home was at 265 N. Harvey St.

The son of Robert and Susan (Bentley) Bredin, Mr. Bredin was born Sept. 15, 1875 in Livonia. He was married Nov. 26, 1900 and his wife, Laura, preceded him in death in 1953. He is survived by a son, Robert Bredin of Plymouth.

The Rev. Henry J. Walsh, D.D., officiated at funeral services at 2 p.m. Saturday, May 14 from the Schrader Funeral Home. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Merritt Rorabacher, Leland Rorabacher, Gilbert Rhode, Merle Barker, Wendell Dickinson and John McGee.

Mrs. Phyllis Shewbridge

Death came at the age of 27 for Mrs. Phyllis Jean Shewbridge, a Livonia housewife and mother of two.

She died at University Hospital in Ann Arbor May 10 after an illness of several months. Her home was at 11410 Auburndale.

Born Dec. 11, 1932 in Detroit, she was the daughter of Donald and Phyllis (Henderson) Wilson. On June 13, 1953 she was married to Clarence B. Shewbridge who survives with two children, Mark and Nancy Ann; a sister, Miss Susan Wilson of Livonia, and her parents.

She was a member of St. Michael's Church, Livonia. Rosary was recited at the Schrader Funeral Home May 13 and services were from St. Michael's Saturday morning. Interment was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Mrs. Lena Currier

Funeral services were held Tuesday, May 17 from the Schrader Funeral Home for Mrs. Lena B. Currier, 77, who died May 15 at her home, 9618 Melrose, Livonia. She had been ill six months.

A housewife, Mrs. Currier had moved to Livonia in 1947 from Detroit. She was a member of Calvary Baptist Church, Plymouth.

She was born Nov. 14, 1882 in Middle Sackville, N.B., Canada to Josiah and Lois Ann (Kinnear) Anderson. She was married June 1, 1910 to William J. Currier, Sr., who survives with the following:

A sister, Mrs. Alice MacLean, of Franklin, Va., a brother, James F. Anderson of New Brunswick; two sons, and two daughters, William J. Currier, Jr., of Detroit, Mrs. Dorothy Boutwell of Livonia, Mrs. Margaret Eagan of Detroit and Donald Currier of Farmington; and 13 grandchildren.

Services were 1 p.m. Tuesday with the Rev. Patrick J. Clifford officiating. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

Gilbert Thorne

Funeral services were held last Friday afternoon from the Schrader Funeral Home for Gilbert J. Thorne, 45, of 33569 Hathaway, Livonia, and his son, Gregory Jack Thorne, 9.

Mr. Thorne had taken the life of his son and then his own life with a rifle on Sunday, May 8 at their home. The father at one time had lived in Plymouth.

Mr. Thorne was born May 21, 1914 in Willis, Mich. to Melvin and Florence (Sherwood) Thorne. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Florence Vanally; a son, Gary of Dixboro, Mich.; a step-son, Clifford Dickey in the Army; and a step-daughter, Miss Doris Dickey of Niles.

A butcher by trade, he had lived in this area all his life.

His son, Gregory, was born March 29, 1951 in Ypsilanti. Gregory's mother was the former Ethleen Cunningham, who was killed in an auto accident shortly after his birth.

The Rev. William Frayer officiated at services. Interment was in Cherry Hill Cemetery.

NOTICE THE BRIGHT, smooth finish, says G. T. Bauer, former city commissioner to his protege for the day, Tom Wojewski, Plymouth High School student, who visited American Motors Corp. as part of the Michigan Week observance, "Plymouth—Your Opportunity" celebration. The two spent the day (May 13) together touring American Motors, where Bauer is assistant chief engineer for Kelvinator Division's commercial products. The plastic bumper has just been vacuum plated in the machine behind them. It will be used for building mock-ups of new model Ramblers. Bauer is a member of the City Planning Commission.

Mayor Proclaims Salvation Army Week in Plymouth

To honor the Salvation Army in its eightieth year of service in The United States, Mayor Harold Guenther today proclaimed the week of May 22-29 as Salvation Army Week in Plymouth. Citing the organization's 30 years of service to those in need in our own community, the Mayor called upon the people of Plymouth to express their gratitude to the Salvation Army during this time. Present at the proclamation ceremonies were Captain John R. Cunard and Sylvester Cooper, chairman of the Advisory Board. They announced that a series of special events were being planned to observe the week in Plymouth. Included in the program were a number of special Open Air services and Open House at the Citadel on Friday and Saturday, May 27-28.

Mayor's Proclamation
WHEREAS: The high spiritual and humanitarian principles of The Salvation Army have been an important part of American life for eighty years; and
WHEREAS: Through its welfare and religious institutions in our city and throughout the country, it befriends, aids, and gives new hope to men, women and children, regardless of race or creed,
THEREFORE, I, Harold E. Guenther, Mayor of Plymouth, Michigan do hereby proclaim the period of May 22-29 as Salvation Army Week in Plymouth, Michigan and do urge all citizens to give their full cooperation to this effort to focus attention on the work of The Salvation Army and its 80th Anniversary in The United States. The principles for which it stands are mighty bulwarks against spiritual and physical need, and our tribute to this great organization during Salvation Army Week is well earned and greatly merited.

Wax Best Bet for Car's Finish

By DAVID ALLEN

Summer sun, dampness and salt air are said to be much more damaging to a car's finish than any winter storm. Unfortunately, it seems as if the family car is parked outside the garage a lot more during summer than it is any other time of the year.

Trips to the beach or the lake, driving long hours on sun-baked highways or inching along in city traffic take their toll. Sun and damp air penetrate the chrome as well as the painted areas and bring about pitted chrome and dull finish.

The best protection is a thorough waxing. This should be done at the beginning of summer and can be a family project or one for the teen-age drivers.

Before waxing, of course, the car is washed with cool water and good auto soap (household soaps and detergents leave a film on the metal.) Wash in the shade since sun would dry the car too quickly and cause spots.

Sometimes it's harder to get the car clean than at others because of the presence of tar, squashed bugs or the sticky substance that is dropped when cars are parked under trees in summer. It is said that ordinary baking soda and water applied with a soft cloth will remove stubborn stains on the finish.

Washing well again with cool water removes any trace of the baking soda.

Chrome is easier to keep clean if chrome cleaner is used from the time the car is new. If chrome trim is neglected, it will become uneven and bumpy and be much harder to get clean. The family who takes their car to the shore or beach frequently will want to give an extra-thick coat of wax to the body finish and perhaps a light coating of oil to the chrome parts. Even a thin coating of clear shellac could be brushed on the chrome for temporary protection.

Wind and sand can have disastrous effects on a car's finish. I have seen the paint entirely removed from a car that had been driven through a sandstorm. If possible, the car should be put under cover as soon as a sandstorm hits. There really is little that can be done to protect the finish from a sandblasting treatment like this.

Rabies On Increase In Michigan

By DAVID ALLEN

In Michigan more than twice as many rabid animals have been found during the first three months of this year as in the same period last year, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, City-County Health Commissioner, states.

Eight dogs, seven skunks and three cats were found to have rabies compared with a total of seven animals at this time last year. This is a particularly high number of rabid skunks. So far no rabid animals have been found in Detroit.

Dr. Molner warns against permitting your dog to chase skunks, squirrels or other animals when in the country. There is danger of transmitting rabies from wild-life to domestic pets.

No animal has been infected with rabies while in Detroit since December 1955. Twice during that time, dogs owned by Detroit residents got rabies while they were out of the city.

The number of persons bitten by animals in Detroit since January 1 is 2,079 compared with 2,190 for the same period last year. Most of these animals were dogs. Children should be taught not to approach strange dogs.

A total of 7,820 persons were bitten by animals in Detroit during 1959. Many of these could have been prevented if dogs were confined to their owners' premises or were under the owners' control, as required by city ordinance.

A Detroit ordinance requires that all dogs be vaccinated and licensed. When a dog is not on the property of his owner, it is required that he be on a leash which is held in the hands of a competent person. Dr. Molner points out that it is against the law to allow a dog to be off a leash in an alley, street or public highway.

Dr. Molner suggests that everyone help to continue this good record by following these precautions to protect both people and pets.

1. Have your dog or cat vaccinated against rabies as advised by a veterinarian.
2. Do not touch a stray or sick dog.
3. Have any dog bite treated immediately by a physician and notify the police department.
4. Report any stray dog to the dog pound.
5. Help enforce dog control laws and regulations in your community.
6. Never kill a dog suspected of rabies if it can be avoided, because the disease can be diagnosed more quickly by observing the animal than it can by laboratory tests.

Appendectomies Cut
NEW YORK (UPI) — Appendectomies declined 50 per cent between 1941 and 1956, according to the Archives of Surgery. Though there is no scientific explanation for the decline, some medical authorities attribute the drop partly to improved eating habits and the increased use of antibiotics.

Tax Bite
NEW YORK (UPI) — The nation's "average man" can expect to cough up $47,221 in taxes between now and the day he retires, according to Commerce Clearing House, private tax specialists. CCH figures its average man to be 29 years old and working for a salary of nearly $100 a week. He has a wife and two kids, a low priced auto and a mortgaged home. His daily tax bill is $5.05.

NO PHONEY BALONEY!

Frankly speaking, we sell new Buicks for the same legitimate prices that other dealers do — no more, no less!

So why should you buy from us? Consider the following points, if you will:

1. We do charge the same as everyone else. We expect you to check our prices against those of other dealers. That is why we are right to begin with.
2. Service after the sale — It doesn't make much sense for anyone to drive to the other side of town for the service we can give you, quickly and courteously right here at home.
3. We are not "One-Shot Operators" — we want to do business with you again and again — you are our neighbor and we have to live with you — it just figures that we will do our best to please.

We believe that these qualities — "good price" — "good service" and "continued friendship" are what you want from the dealer you buy your car from — not a lot of fast-talking, razzle-dazzle, we-can-beat-any-deal baloney.

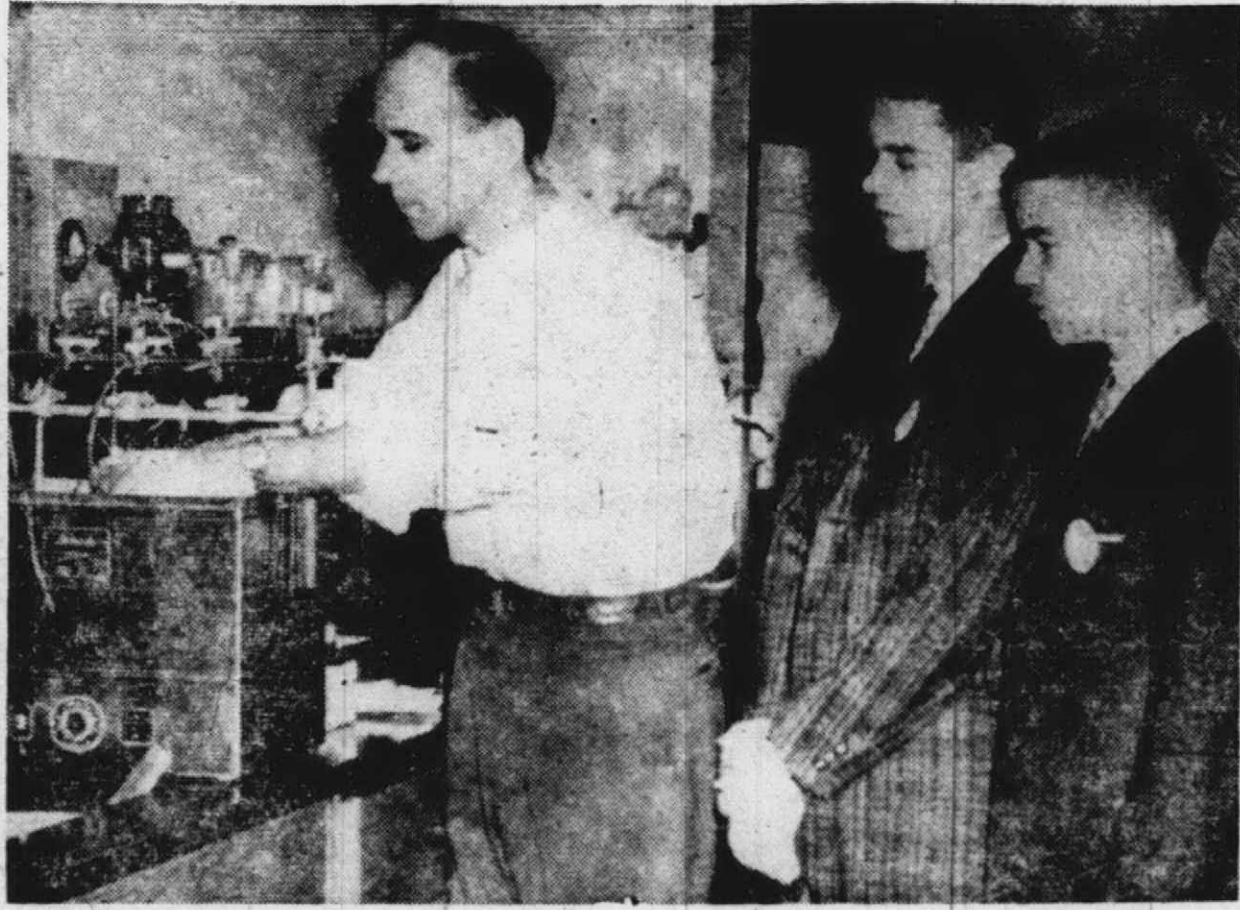

Stop in soon, neighbor — you will be glad you did.

To Pay Township Treasurer On Salary Instead of Fee Basis

When the next term of the Plymouth Township treasurer starts in the spring of next year, he (or she) will be paid a salary instead of on a fee basis.

That was the decision made by the Township Board at its regular meeting last week.

In the past, the Township treasurer received one percent of the tax collection. The Board has not yet decided what the salary will be under the new system.

The change will take place when new terms for Township officials begin. The next election will be held in April 1961.

In the Township election last year, Democrats made an issue out of the fee system, which has been common throughout the state. But with the annual tax collection growing each year, the fee has grown too. The Democrats claimed it was $15,000 yearly.

Until now, state law required that any change in the method of payment (from fees to salary) would need approval of electors. This could be brought about by a petition of not less than five percent of electors. The question would then be placed on the ballot.

A new amendment, passed by the current session of the Legislature, has eliminated the necessity of an election. The change can be effected by a resolution of the Township Board.

While the state law won't become effective until 90 days after the Legislature adjourns (probably this summer), the change itself doesn't affect the method of payment until a new treasurer's term begins.

Specialty Shop

they decided to make this their permanent home.

The Plymouth Aquarium and Pet Shoppe will carry a complete stock of aquarium supplies and 30 varieties of tropical fish. There will also be monkeys, parakeets, puppies, kittens, guinea pigs, hamsters, lizards, turtles, canaries and other assorted odd animals from both Africa and South America.

In addition to a complete array of bird, dog and cat supplies and animal foods, there is a glittering assortment of pastel colored, jeweled poodle collars and leashes made by Hayes of California. Mr. and Mrs. Lennox have invited the public to come and look around the air conditioned shop where the motto is "Your Pet Is Our Concern."

The axis of the earth tilts at 23 1/2 degrees from the perpendicular.

Visiting Mayor Fears Her Village

would reach 500 this census, but I'm afraid it will fall short," she added regretfully. In the summer, however, tourists swell the population to 2,500. "A lot of the tourists tell me they are going to move to Port Sanilac when they retire," the village president observed. "But if they reach 65 and do retire and should happen to move there, they die within a few years and the property returns to someone who is a summer tourist again."

Port Sanilac does boast one of the most beautiful small craft harbors in the country. Its present big problem is the water system which was designed for only 50 families. The village is now "stockpiling" receipts from a three-mill levy each year to build a new system. Its operating millage is 14.

For that reason Mrs. Hunt was interested in seeing Plymouth's water system.

Mrs. Hunt, who has been on the village council nine years and has been president four, noted in jest that the clerk, Mrs. Casey, gets $400 a year salary. "But I only get $82 a year and I feel that I work as hard as she does."

She admitted that because of the small size of the village, many things are not done the way they should be "but they're legal."

Several gifts and a key to the city were presented the visitors during the day. DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida was chairman of the committee. Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Charles Garlett, Mrs. Albert Glassford and Mrs. Edwin Schrader.

Expressions of welcome were delivered by City Manager Albert Glassford; Melvin Blunk, administrative assistant of the school system; Hugh Griffin, community relations director of Burroughs; and A. D. Johnson, manager of Western Electric.

Commissioners Sincok and Hartmann and their wives found a cordial welcome awaiting them in Port Sanilac. They visited the school, a golf course and were given a boat trip around the harbor, along with a luncheon.

Youth Buying Worthwhile Literature

Plymouth's teen-agers make generally worthwhile purchases of reading material, according to a survey conducted by several druggists on behalf of the local Committee on Indecent Literature.

All but one of the selected druggists participated in the study, which listed all magazines and books purchased by people of high school age or below during a sample week last month.

While boys were most attracted to the various motor magazines such as "Hot Rod," "Motor Life" and "Car Craft," many showed active interest in sports, with purchases of "Baseball," "Golf Digest" and "Field and Stream." Girls selected magazines designed for their age group, such as "Teen," "Seventeen," "Ingenu," "Photoplay" and various movie magazines.

Popular pocket type books for both boys and girls turned out to be such generally known novels as "Islands in the Sky," "Diary of Anne Frank," "Ben Hur," "Visit to a Small Planet," and "Space Merchants." The grade-school set stays with its long-established preference for "Donald Duck," "Little Lulu" and other comic books.

The Committee feels that the indicated good reading habits of Plymouth's youth give support to the almost completely successful effort to keep indecent literature off of the open shelves. All of the seven drug stores are cooperating in this effort.

Standard Oil Station Changes Ownership

A change in ownership of the Standard Oil Service Station at 1229 Ann Arbor Rd. was announced this week.

Merwyn Williams, 8821 Elmhurst, has purchased the station from Buford Conn. It will be called "Mert's Standard Service." Williams has had experience in service stations in Plymouth and has also been engaged in carpentry work. He is married, has three children and is a graduate of Iron River High School. The grand opening will be Saturday, May 28.

Get Those

only 230 licenses have been issued so far.

Miller warned that the Township is planning a house-to-house census this year and that the price of licenses after June 1 will jump $2.

A license in the Township now costs $2 for male and spayed females and $4 for females. The Township has a record of nine years of license administration last year. Most of the shots given at the clinics last year were with the avianized variety.

The clinics make it possible for dog owners to get their license and have their dogs vaccinated all at one time. Dogs needing shots this year which did not get them at the clinics must be taken to a veterinarian and a proof of vaccination shown when obtaining the license at the Township or City halls.

Vocalists Offer

The Choir will sing: "Praise Be To Thee," "My Shepherd Will Supply My Need," a spiritual "I Know," "Lincoln's Gettysburg Address," "Selections from 'Gigi'" and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic" in the same arrangement recently made popular by The Mormon Tabernacle Choir and the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra. The Program will close with the traditional "The Lord Bless You and Keep You."

Accompanists will be Marcy Woolweaver, Dennis Parker, Jean Jacobs, Betty Taylor, and Sharon Roberts. An attractive feature will be the organ music of Gordon Jewell.

The "May Festival of Song" will be given Tuesday, May 24, at 8 p.m. in the High School Gymnasium. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

money, 34.5 percent of the total will be used for public works; 29.9 percent goes to public safety (police and fire); 20.8 percent for general government; and 14.8 percent for parks and recreation, debt retirement, retirement funds, buildings and structures, health and welfare and the library.

Some Folks Will Drink Anything

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—When a transient enters the Union Gospel Mission here, he leaves at the door any alcoholic beverages he's carrying. And the mission now has an extensive catalogue of unusual concoctions. Nearly all the "drinks" are poisonous. Officials list these among the more popular skid row potions: —Green river, so named because it turns the lips green: after-shave lotion fortified with paint thinner. —Block and tackle: paint thinner mixed with denatured alcohol and canned heat. —Pink lady: canned heat "cut" with water. Add benzene if alcohol and it becomes a "sneaky pete."

—Rubby dub: the skid row name for rubbing alcohol. —Kerosene and buttermilk which only a few dare tackle. It almost completely wipes out the mind of its victim.

A Look Into the Diary Of An Exchange Student

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles written by Ursula Kell, a German exchange student attending Plymouth High School.)

By URSULA KELL
April 26, 1960

Today I wrote a letter home 12 pages long. It took me quite a time, but Mom and all the others will be pleased by it. I hadn't written back home for two weeks, so I had to make up for it. I really did not plan writing 12 pages, but once you get into writing you can't stop. Mom says she is counting the days already until I shall be back home. I don't like that. I hate to think that I have to leave so soon. I hate it also because it is so long. On the other hand I can't wait to go home. Anyway, I wrote Mom about my mixed feelings and came to the conclusion that the best thing to do is: not to think about anything.

I nearly forgot something to write down. I had really big news today: (that was the main reason why I wrote that letter home.) Got an invitation for a trip down to Missouri and go to a military dance. Isn't that something? I have never been to one. I am so excited. Just imagine I'll cross the old Mississippi (I never knew how to spell it). Perhaps there is still some of the atmosphere of the old, romantic days of Mark Twain? When I think of it, I see types like Huck Finn and Tom Sawyer. I see Indian Joe in the cave and also I think of hot sun, swamps and also slaves sweating under their work. It is so unbelievable to be here in America and actually see things you heard of before only in books or in school. Everybody of my friends in Germany would go wild, if you would tell them tomorrow I am going to see the Mississippi, Chicago, New York or whatever it may be. America is so modern, but it is also very romantic. It's getting late. Only ten more days until we leave.

May 6, 1960

After having packed all my things last night and done the preparations for the trip, we got up this morning at about 5 and left at 8 o'clock. I was pretty tired and could hardly open my eyes in spite of the beautiful blue sky and the sun. We wanted to make the whole trip in one day, therefore we had to leave so early.

At 8 o'clock our stomachs made some noise and we stopped to have breakfast in the car. P an answer or not, we crossed the Michigan State line and were in Indiana. It did not look very friendly, because it rained and rained without stopping. But we kept our good humor, told jokes and played some silly games.

It was then when I learned that Indiana is called the "Hoosier State". Why? Back in the old days when people came to settle in America there was only one man in Indiana. Then another came (he wanted to build a farm) and asked, because he wanted to make sure that nobody else was there. "Who's here?" It is not known whether he got an answer or not. Neither we know what particular dialect of the American language he spoke, when he said: "Hoosier". I also learned the nicknames of Illinois and Missouri which are "sucker-state" and "show-me-state". (I don't write down the history of these names, would take me too long.)

The next state was Illinois. Still raining. This state did not appeal too much to me. It is real flat and about all you see are fields, endless fields and lonely farmhouses, surrounded by some trees. The soil is very fertile though and you see a lot of grain storage.

When we drove more westward, Illinois looked much nicer and got a little hilly. I got tired of watching the landscape and fell asleep.

don't know how long I had slept. When I awoke, we were close to the Mississippi. The hills came down softly and then there was nothing but swamps, trees in the water and overflooded fields. Close to the road you could see beautiful cranes looking for fish or frogs.

Then we crossed the bridge and had a real wonderful view over the whole river. The hills with dark forests made a beautiful background. That was the Mississippi. Although I did not see anybody like Tom Sawyer or Huck Finn, I really was not disappointed. Louisiana (the town at the other side of the Mississippi) had many old houses, some dated back from the Civil War. The atmosphere there is quite different and you have a feeling that time never changes and everything remains the same throughout the centuries.

May 6, 8:30

We arrived at the hotel in Boonville which is just at the bank of the Missouri River. The air smells old, but the people are real friendly with their soft, a little Southern accent. I feel at home. I went to bed early, because tomorrow is a big day.

May 7, 1960

After breakfast we went out to see the Kemper Military School. It was quite old and I was really surprised how much the boys are controlled (in a good sense): their time, their work, their behavior. The school had a very friendly atmosphere. We watched all the parades which was quite impressive (although it was a little cold up in the bleachers).

The cadets showed exercises they do with certain machines, etc. Generally speaking they showed us their life in school. Since it was Parent's day there were quite a few people from all over the country. I saw many people from Texas with their Western cowboy hats. I thought they would wear it only riding on a horse or so. I took two pictures of them, because it really seemed odd to me.

In the afternoon we took the car for a ride. Boonville has a lot of history, in fact the first land battle of the Civil War was fought in this town. Geo. I really can be proud to have been there. It also was the beginning of the Santa Fe Trail in the older times. There were many Negroes and I never saw so many at a time before.

The military dance was really something, never thought there could be so much formality and tradition among the "sloppy" U. S. people. One thing though was typical American to me, there was of course a selection of a beauty-queen. Tomorrow she will have a ride in a very expensive car before the whole school. She must feel like an animal in a zoo that everybody looks at. It seems a little silly to me, but I guess it's all right.

May 9, 1960

Back home again. This morning we left the motel in Springfield, Ill., and visited Lincoln's memorial. There is not much to say about it: it is just great. This was an unforgettable experience for me. Too bad there is school tomorrow. This trip was such a wonderful interruption of the daily routine.

Hospital Guild Saving Stamps For Equipment

The St. Mary Hospital Guild is saving Gold Bell stamps in order to secure hospital equipment. Will you help them by filling a book and mailing it to Mrs. B. J. Ratican, 15110 Seneca, Detroit 39, Michigan, before Nov. 1, 1960? The hospital wishes to purchase four croupettes, which are used in severe cases of pneumonia, and supply patients with oxygen cold steam. Canisters will be distributed in Wrigley stores. Loose stamps may be placed in the canisters.

Donations of all loose stamps, other than Gold Bell, will be most acceptable as they will be exchanged for Gold Bell, and utilized. At a meeting of the Membership Committee on May 9th, Patricia Graney and Lucile Kaley were introduced to the group as Committee Chairman and Co-Chairman respectively. Membership applications were prepared and records brought up to date. Volunteers, headed by Marion Pettes, will meet this week in the Guild room of St. Mary Hospital, to type records for the new 1960 membership file. Results of their work will be presented by this committee at the June 2 Card Party. Membership Director Shirley Barnes served refreshments.

An estimated 16 million pounds of steel was used in construction of the new $1 million vertical lift bridge which links Houghton and Hancock in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

Post Office No Longer Offers Directory Help

Although directory service for ordinary mail was discontinued by the Post Office Department ten years ago, letters continue to be received with the notation "Please Give Directory Service" or with illegible or incomplete addresses, according to Postmaster George Timpona.

First-class letter mail which cannot be delivered because of insufficient address or which fails for other reasons to reach its intended destination, is carefully scrutinized at the address office by experienced distributors before it is returned. This does not mean, however, that city and telephone directories are searched in an effort to effect delivery.

Prior to the abolition of directory service, mailers were often not aware that they were addressing their mail improperly, as the post office was, in most cases, able to locate the addressee through the use of directories. As a result, patrons continued to address mail improperly and the post office continued to give expensive supplemental assistance.

Now, however, mail addressed to carrier delivery offices which does not bear a complete street address or post office box number is usually marked "Insufficient Address" and returned. "The only exceptions," says Postmaster George Timpona, "are those instances when the addressee is so well known that directory service is unnecessary."

Present regulations restrict directory service to perishable matter, parcels of obvious value, special services mail, mail from Armed Forces overseas, and international mail.

"If guesswork is used in addressing mail intended for carrier delivery, it stands very little chance of accomplishing its mission," cautions Postmaster Timpona. "On the other hand, mail showing the full name of the addressee, the correct street address or box number, and, of course, the city and state, has most of the basic equipment for reaching its goal."

ON A FOUR-DAY trip to Washington as guests of Automobile Club of Michigan, area safety patrol leaders visited the Pentagon where they were shown models of Michigan-built Ford and Chrysler military vehicles and weapons by Secretary of the Army Wilber M. Brucker. With Brucker are (left to right): Gerald Williams, Tait-Mann Elementary, Wayne; George Stripp, St. John the Baptist School, Ypsilanti; Ralph Heid, Farrand School, Plymouth; and Mary Dean Harris, Wayne County Training School, Northville. The 108-member Michigan delegation joined 35,000 patrollers from across the U. S. at the 24th National Safety Patrol Rally, climaxed by the largest parade held annually in the capital. Defense products pictured are the MUTT (Military Utility Tactical Truck), to be assembled this summer at Ford Motor Company's Livonia plant, and the M-60 Chrysler Tank, produced at Detroit Arsenal.

The Family Mailbox

WING CHAIRS

Dear Miss Louisa: What is the history of the wing chair? We have just bought one. — Mrs. J. Y. M.

Dear Mrs. J. Y. M.: Wing chairs have been in vogue for many generations. In fact, they were made back in the days of Queen Anne of England starting in about 1710. They were invented by someone who needed a high-back chair with wings that would keep the cold drafts off one's back. In the days of high ceilinged Colonial houses heated only by fireplaces, a wing chair was a great asset. They are graceful and fit well into the traditional Colonial type home of today even though not needed to keep a person warm now that homes have furnace heat.

CLEANING MARBLE

Dear Miss Louisa: How do you clean old marble? I think you had it in the Mailbox before. — Mrs. I. G. Y.

Dear Mrs. I. G. Y.: After writing about cleaning marble tops on antique furniture, I was sent the following old recipe. I feel sure that these ingredients are in the powdered cleansers we buy — and some letters suggested fine steel wool or rubbing the marble with sand — but this homemade cleanser includes, "Sal soda - 4 ounces, powdered pumice stone - 2 ounces; prepared chalk - 2 ounces. Mix well, add sufficient water, rub thoroughly on marble and then wash with soap and water." As I said before, some stains penetrate the marble and nothing will remove these.

NO TRACES

Dear Miss Louisa: Can you send me some information on removing milk spots on furniture. My little boy is always dropping his bottle and the milk splatters on everything. When cleaning the furniture the white milk spots always come back. — Mrs. C. H.

Dear Mrs. C. H.: I don't suppose there is anything that tries the patience of a mother more than an overturned glass of milk or a baby's bottle that has had the nipple taken off. I know that in my raising of a family I must have wiped up enough milk to float a boat. Milk does stick and it does sour, so the thing to do is to count ten and pray for self-control, then get a damp cloth that has fairly hot water and soap on it and wipe up the milk thoroughly. It also seems to spatter on chairs, baseboards and walls so take time to get up all the spots of milk. Then if it shows up later on, wash it with a damp cloth as before, dry thoroughly and then use furniture polish. I am sure this will solve your problem.

"WIT'S END CORNER"

Dear Miss Louisa: What did you do with children around the house in summer? I couldn't wait for school to let out in June and now I can't wait for it to open in September. I am at "Wit's End Corner." — Mrs. J. P. T.

Dear Mrs. J. P. T.: As I look back on summer vacations I know just how you feel. By August the novelty of vacation has worn off and the children are bored. Try reading aloud to your children and their friends, making it a special treat. Give them jobs to do to help you around the house, then stop for a cool drink and a cookie and read aloud for an hour each day. Get books that never grow old: "Wild Animals I Have Known," "The Jungle Books," "Swiss Family Robinson," "Heidi" or ask your librarian to suggest good books. You will relive your own childhood and your children will never forget the time you give them.

Musicless Radio Station Has One Job—Accuracy

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI)—Rock 'n' roll is "out" at radio station WWVL in Sunset Canyon in the mountains west of Boulder, Colo. In fact the station's programming consists of a monotonous "beep-beep-beep..." 24 hours a day.

Station WWVL, operated by the Boulder Laboratories of the National Bureau of Standards (NBS), is a forerunner of a future Colorado station which will send time and frequency signals all over the world.

The station now broadcasts radio waves carrying the world's most accurate "yardstick" of radio frequency for thousands of miles in all directions from Boulder. And the radio waves do it 100 times better than this vital standard of measurement has ever been broadcast before.

An ordinary home radio just can't tune in to WWVL. The station transmits on the very low frequency of 20 kilocycles. The lowest frequency picked up by most home radios is about 560 kilocycles.

Within their range, the new WWVL signals will increase substantially the accuracy of the bureau's standard frequency broadcasts because low frequencies travel quite differently from ordinary radio waves.

The station is the pilot plant for eventual establishment of worldwide transmissions. The signal will give research scientists the full accuracy of the new U.S. frequency standard, also known as the NBS cesium atomic clock.

Both time signals and the national standard of frequency already are transmitted on a worldwide basis by two shortwave stations owned by NBS—WWV at Beltsville, Md., and WWVH on Maui, Hawaii. But these shortwave signals bounce back and forth somewhat erratically between the earth and the upper atmosphere (ionosphere) and the exact length of the path they travel is uncertain.

The time it takes the signals to reach a given destination thus varies. This variation, formerly insignificant, is now important in tracking missiles and satellites.

WWVL is almost completely unaffected by variations in the height of the ionosphere, and thus more accurate.

Fissure Indicates Niagara Falls Is Due for a Fall

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (UPI)—Nature appears to be planning a spectacular sight for some future honeymooners, and just plain tourists, at Niagara Falls.

A fissure at the crest of the American Falls indicates that a future rock slide might take with it a piece of the falls slightly smaller than a football field.

The fissure was examined when about 200 feet of the 1,500-foot crest was de-watered to permit crews to clean up debris of a former rock slide from the base of the falls.

The crack in the rock starts about 40 feet west of Prospect Point where a rock fall in 1954 involved an estimated 185,000 tons of rock. The crack cuts diagonally back and disappears under the dam to divert the water.

At least 50 yards of the fissure is visible. In many places it is wide enough for a man to crawl into and deep enough for about three men to stand upright on each other's shoulders.

However, the Niagara Frontier State Park Commission has been aware of this crack and others for years. "We don't believe there's any danger of a rockfall at this time," said Keith R. Hopkins, superintendent of maintenance. "It's highly possible those cracks go back thousands of years."

Wednesday, May 18 at 6 p.m. (first serving) is our S.O.S. supper at the Veterans' Community Home being served by the Post. All members, auxiliary and families are invited to attend. Following supper, poppies and canisters will be distributed. All try and attend. If you are not able to attend and can help call Commander Kinghorn at GL 3-3995. Poppy Day is Thursday, May 19 and all members are urged to participate in this most worthy project. Let's have a wonderful turnout at the supper, and a good turnout on Poppy Day. The Post will have a short meeting after the supper.

Flags will be placed on graves, Saturday, May 21 at 9:30 a.m. Anyone knowing of a veteran's grave in need of a flag, please contact Commander Kinghorn at GL 3-3995. Memorial Day Services will be at the First Methodist Church. Please meet at the church at 10:30 a.m. Let's have a good attendance this year; wear your caps to identify yourself.

The 17th District Memorial Services will be Friday, June 3, 8 p.m. at Myron Beals Post Home, Newburg Rd., Livonia. This is the time we have a memorial service for our departed members in our Post and Unit. This is a very impressive ceremony and do hope many members attend.

Our four Gold Star mothers were again remembered on Mother's Day with four lovely red roses and vase and were delivered by Lillian Kinghorn, secretary, and assisted by Harry Burleson.

The Auxiliary will have a business meeting on Thursday, May 26 at 8 p.m. at the Veterans' Community Center.

MSU Cherry Tree Shaker Replaces Tedious Hand Picking

Harvesting Michigan's 71-thousand ton tart cherry crop has a lot of elbow grease. It now that's changing.

Michigan State University and the United States Department of Agriculture have developed a way to shake cherries off the tree. They've also refined methods of collecting the cherries and transporting them to market.

The new harvest system sets one man to do as much work per hour as four or five hand pickers.

H. P. Gaston, M. S. U. and J. S. D. A. scientist, directed the horticultural phase of the research. Three U. S. D. A. scientists — agricultural engineers J. H. Levin and S. L. Hedden and biochemist R. T. Wittenberger — also participated.

"Right now, half of the total cost of raising cherries goes into harvest," the researchers point out. "What's more, hand-picking costs will probably go even higher."

Hand picking is slow because cherries are small. Pickers can harvest a ton of apples, peaches or pears in one-tenth the time needed to pick a ton of cherries.

Last year, about 45,000 workers picked Michigan's crop. More than three-fourths of these came from outside the orchard owner's community. To make matters worse, the supply of experienced migrant pickers is drying up.

The four researchers started work in 1956. Getting the cherries off the tree was their first problem. They tried several hand- and pole-shaking methods. Then they developed a hand-held, mechanically-powered shaker.

Finally, they came up with a hydraulically operated power boom that goes on the rear of a tractor. Pincer-like claws at the end of the boom fit around main limbs. The boom shakes the tree for three to five seconds at a time, with brief intervals between "shakes" to let cherries roll off the collecting surface.

The boom- and-claw shaker handled about one tree every five minutes. That's about 12 per hour or 100 in an eight-hour day.

"It'd take about 33 pickers to keep up with one seven-man crew and mechanical harvester," the researchers point out. "So the machine lets one man do the work of four or five."

Fortunately, the shaker does its job without hurting the tree. About 95 per cent of all fruit came off, and the cherries that stay on usually lacked size, color or maturity.

Picking the cherries off the ground would be quite a job. So the scientists experimented with several kinds of stretched-canvas collecting devices.

One type had a hole in the center from which the cherries escape into a box. Another included a conveyor to move the fruit into a container. Still another caught the cherries on a slanted surface and let them flow into troughs. Each has its advantages.

After collection, the farmer must move his cherries to the processor. The researchers tried several approaches to this problem, always with an eye toward ease, economy, and treating the fruit gently.

Texans Beware: Eskimos Now Take to Rodeos

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI)—Texans watch out! Alaska is not only the largest state in the union, but part of its Eskimo population is turning cowpoke and branching out into the bronc-busting game.

In the remote village of Nikoloski, 1,000 miles southwest of here in the Aleutian Islands, the Eskimos are "tickled pink" with their new found sport—rodeo.

The Eskimos recently watched and then participated in one of the wildest wild west shows since Buffalo Bill Cody barnstormed across the country to Madison Square Garden.

There are only 60 people in the village, the majority of them Eskimos, but there are Air Force men stationed at a Dew Line radar site nearby. Between the U. S. Air Force men and the Eskimos anything went when the hastily constructed chutes flew open and the horses and bulls charged out trying to shake loose their riders.

The first rodeo met with such enthusiastic response it probably will become a regular event. One thing's for sure. It's the only rodeo in all of Alaska.

The first contest was sponsored by the Harris Aleutian village as entertainment for the airmen and Eskimos. But before it was over everyone was in the act.

After Nick Pans, foreman of the Harris Ranch, demonstrated that it was possible to stay on the back of a bucking and twisting bull, the Eskimos and airmen gave it a try.

Nikoloski Island, which has sub-Arctic climate and an annual temperature range in the upper 30's, is an interesting place even without the Eskimos practicing their new found game.

The vegetation consists of grass which grows a foot high, but there are no trees or shrubs. In the summer months the hills are a mass of miniature flowers. There is very little snow in the winter but Nikoloski gets more than its share of fog and rain.

The Eskimos on the island are highly skilled seal hunters and for several months each summer they migrate to the Fribolof Islands to kill the famous hair seal.

The only other employment there is found at the Harris Ranch which produces wool.

So, Texas, watch out, before Alaska steals all your thunder.

Regular meeting of Grange members who have passed on in the last year and are missed by everyone.

This was the last meeting until the second Tuesday evening in September when the meeting will be at Stony Creek.

Last Thursday evening our Grange served a roast beef dinner to members of the Plymouth Historical Society. Winners in the sewing contest for their dresses were Sisters Millie Rienas, first prize; Isabelle Taylor, second; and Esther Jacobs, third.

Wayne - Washtenaw County Pomona met at Pittsfield Union Grange in Ann Arbor on Tuesday evening, May 10 with 25 from here attending, of which five were obligated in the 5th degree.

A very impressive memorial service was held with Pomona, Chaplain, Sister Isabelle Taylor was in charge. Chaplains from all subordinate Granges are participating.

Sorry to say we had nine

Brusing and injury has often thrown a monkey wrench into mechanical fruit- and-vegetable harvesting. But Gaston, Levin and their associates got acceptable quality in tests on about 3,000 trees.

They emphasize that the cherry harvesting system isn't perfect yet. But they call it a big step in on-farm mechanization.

A publication called 'Mechanizing the Harvest of Red Tart Cherries' gives details of the studies. County extension offices can get copies on request.

Mahogany Wood Suddenly Found Changing Color

The furniture designers who know mahogany best have done it up brown. Makers of period furniture joined in the return to the natural tones of mahogany once favored by Hepplewhite, Sheraton and Duncan Phyfe at his prime. Phyfe did use woods other than mahogany, but only in his latter years when he was turning out what he called "butcher furniture."

Not all the new browns available in mahogany are the natural color of the wood, but even the dyed ones are a far cry from the old, opaque red finish that hid the wood's beauty and distorted its natural tones.

The distinctive personality of mahogany, its grain figure patterns and its pores show through the new finishes, natural or dyed.

The same transparent finishes that changed the look of mahogany this year were used on numerous other hardwoods to show off their natural grain and beauty.

Most were lacquered for ease of maintenance, but still had the oiled look so popular in recent years. Even the dull mat finish used so frequently on Danish-type designs was raised in lustre to provide more eye appeal and easy care.

Newburg Methodist WSCS Installs New Officers

MRS. EMIL LAPOINTE
GL 3-3797

Mr. and Mrs. Newell Knapp, on returning from Florida, are visiting Mrs. Knapp's brother, Ernest Dubin of 8700 Dakota, Plymouth en route to their home in Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Grimm of Wayne Rd. visited recently at the home of the Grimm's daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fugenschuh in Pelkie, Mich. Purpose of trip was to see their new grandson, Edward Alan. Mrs. Fugenschuh is the former Phyllis Grimm.

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist Church met at the church on Wednesday evening, May 11 for their general society meeting and special program which included a pledge service, installation of new officers and shuffle of circles for the next two year period. After a very inspiring service of pledging, led by the treasurer of the society and the ladies in turn placing their individual gifts on the offering plate, Mrs. James Greenwood, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Paul Nixon, sang, "My Task."

Mrs. Harold Mackinder, past president of the group, then installed the new officers who are: president, Mrs. Robert Beasley; vice-president, Mrs. Leonard Ritzler; recording secretary, Mrs. Thomas Leyerton; promotion secretary, Mrs. Thomas Waltz; treasurer, Mrs. Glenn McGhee; secretary of missionary education, Mrs. Edward Ayers; secretary of Christian social relations, Mrs. Lester Larrabee; youth secretary, Mrs. Harold Mackinder; children's secretary, Mrs. Warren Fittery; spiritual life, Mrs. Paul English; literature secretary, Mrs. Schuyler Adams; secretary of supply, Mrs. Sam Epley; student secretary, Mrs. Melvin Guthrie; local church activities secretary, Mrs. Norman Kert; music chairman, Mrs. Paul Nixon; publicity, Mrs. David Smith and four new circle chairmen, Mrs. Wendell Ellis, Mrs. James Tomlinson, Mrs. Jerry Baldwin and Mrs. Aurel Urso.

At the close of the installation, Mrs. Mackinder presented the retiring president, Mrs. Emil LaPointe, with the traditional past president's pin. A brief memorial service was given in honor and memory of two members of the society who had passed away in the past year. They were Mrs. Bertha Grimm and Mrs. Susan Tice. After the drawing of names for the two night circles and two day circles, the ladies adjourned to the downstairs fellowship room for refreshments prepared and served by Mrs. Michael Lorraine. Each of the ladies sat with their own new circle chairman at designated places in the dining room. This society will again meet on Wednesday, June 8 and the program will be centered around "Christian Vocations."

Sorry to hear that two of our folks in the Newburg area are walking around with the aid of crutches. These unfortunate ones are Mrs. Dale Hartwick of Joy Rd., who fell and very badly sprained her foot, and another is Carol Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. O. Jackson of Hix Rd., who has an infection in her knee and needs two more feet to navigate.

Frank Henderson Elected Historical Society Head

Frank Henderson was elected president of the Plymouth Historical Society at the 12th annual meeting held on May 12, to succeed Ernest Henry. Other new officers are: Mrs. Howard Bowring, second vice-president and program chairman; Mrs. Rometeo Wood, recording secretary; Mrs. Effic MacDougall, corresponding secretary. Officers re-elected were: Mrs. Arthur Mills, first vice-president and publicity chairman; Mrs. Edmond Watson, third vice-president and membership chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Wilske, treasurer; and Mrs. Roderick Cassady, curator.

Dinner was served to 75 members and guests by members of the Plymouth Grange. Miss Lovern Sly, retiring program chairman, read a paper which she had written entitled "Horse and Buggy Days", describing many interesting experiences in which she and her family had participated.

S. W. Spicer, long-time member, presented the organization with a check for $1,000 to be placed in a building fund toward the construction of a local museum.

Mrs. Roderick Cassady, curator, described briefly the work which she and her committee were doing in cataloging the articles which have been presented to the society.

The annual picnic will be held in June at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pursell on Bradner Rd. The date will be announced later.

Regular meetings will be resumed on Sept. 8.

Termites Eat Into Two Million Homes Annually

Termite hordes seem to be gorging themselves on floor joists and door stoops in a constantly widening area of North America, a University of Missouri entomologist reported.

But whether there has actually been a population explosion among the wood-eaters remains a matter of debate. Some scientists believe reported damage has increased only because there are more houses to eat and because householders have become termite conscious.

Whatever the reason, the voracious insects with a taste for lumber now are eating their way through the homes of millions of Americans, according to Dr. Philip Stone, University of Missouri entomologist.

Stone said one large commercial organization estimated after a detailed survey that termites each year invade about two million houses in which their dining produces enough damage to send the owner in quest of professional aid.

How many marauders escape detection, or haven't yet reached the stage where their depredations produce a call for help, is anybody's guess, Stone said.

In any event, the winged insects now are found in all continental states except Alaska. Alaska is believed to be free of them, but Stone said that might be only because there has been no intensive study there.

Termites, which love warm, moist places, now are found even in such semi-arid regions as Arizona and New Mexico, Stone said.

Modern building practices tend to help support the invaders. Stone said homes built on concrete slabs not only provide a cozy winter residence for termites but permit them to eat the year around, instead of just during the summer months. Protected and insulated crawl spaces provide just the right environment, he said.

The trend to suburbia also is suspect, since man is moving to the natural domain of the termite, who got to this earth ahead of him by several million years. Unlike man, the termite has come down through the eons little changed from his ancestors.

While there are many species of termites, Stone has one rule of thumb to distinguish them from the flying ant, which looks pretty similar.

The villain has a boat-shaped body and four wings of equal length. The ant has four wings of unequal length, attached to an hour glass figure.

And, householder, spare that ant! It eats termites.

A survey of dentists indicates that the larger the city, the higher is the fee for dental service.

FOR THE third time, Cassady's has won first prize in the nation for its window display of Mary Grey Hosiery. The display, shown here, is but one of the many outstanding window displays of the women's apparel store. Every Monday morning for 16 years, Egon Weiser of Detroit has trimmed the windows. Most of the display material is purchased, some is rented. There is enough of it to jam a storage room above Fisher's Shoe Store, Mrs. Roderick Cassady reports. The store was formerly a hardware.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Rubbish collections shape up as the latest barometer of business conditions.

In one Eastern city, the municipal incinerator superintendent reports that collections fell more than 15,000 tons during the recent recession. Today, they're running 200 tons a week over a year ago, reflecting larger food purchases and greater replacement of old household goods.

Penny Saved

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (UPI) — The bellwether on City Hall is in for a facelift because, it has been determined, it would cost too much to tear it down.

A spokesman said it would cost $90,000 to remove the upper 40 feet of the granite tower, but would cost only $17,000 to remodel and repair it. The tower has no bell any way.

Record-Breaking Season Expected in State Parks

Michigan's 60 state parks and recreation areas are only a few weeks away from the beginning of what could be another record-breaking season. Judging from an upward trend of recent years, Conservation Department parks officials expect general attendance to reach or even surpass the 1959 record of more than 19,000,000 users.

The all-time high for issued camping permits might tumble for the ninth consecutive year. Whether there will be an increase over last year's new mark of 140,216 permits depends upon how the camping public distributes its use among parks and recreation areas throughout the entire year.

Last year's demand for campsites virtually reached the saturation point during the peak season running from Memorial Day through Labor Day. More than 40,000 camping groups were turned away in 1959.

The "turn away" figure is expected to climb again this year because a continuing shortage of funds forced postponement of practically all major additions and improvements. Only modest increases were made in camping facilities.

New sewage disposal systems will accommodate more campers at Gezebic Lake Park and Waterloo recreation area. Muskegon park in Leuce county has 75 new campsites while Fayette park on Big Bay de Noc in Delta county adds 25 temporary sites for camping use.

The daily deadline for obtaining camping extensions has been advanced five hours this year to help campers adjust their plans early in the day when there aren't enough vacancies to handle those waiting in line.

Campers desiring to extend their stay must notify park officers by 10 a.m. of the day their permits expire. The p.m. check-out time still applies. Permits are issued on a "first come, first served" basis. No reservations are accepted.

Department officials hope to install a new set of park rules and regulations before Memorial Day to increase public enjoyment, safeguard against accidents and protect state property.

Among the major rules is a measure requiring dogs to be under immediate control on leashes not exceeding six feet from May through September. It will authorize parks personnel to evict persons whose dogs create a nuisance or disturbance. As in the past, bathing areas will be off limits for dogs.

Valve Opening Ceremony Today Means More Gas for this Area

Greatly increased supplies of natural gas for Michigan will begin to enter the systems of two state distributing companies today.

Officials of the state of Michigan, Trunkline Gas Company, Consumers Power Company and the Michigan Gas Utilities Company will assemble at the state line near White Pigeon to watch Governor G. Mennen Williams turn the valve at the Trunkline metering station introducing supplies into a Consumers 26-inch pipeline to Northville.

This will eventually almost double the quantity of gas the company now receives from the South and Southwest.

The valve turning ceremony climaxed two years of construction effort and an investment of more than $110,000,000 by the three companies, which they term "part of our stake in Michigan's future."

Consumers supplies natural gas to some 300 Michigan communities in the Lower Peninsula, including most major Outstate cities. Part of the supply will also reach the Michigan Gas Utilities Company's southern division, which served the Coldwater, Monroe, Sturgis and Hillsdale areas.

The event will take place in the midst of Michigan Week, on "Our Livelihood Day."

A. H. Aymond, Jr., chairman of the board of Consumers, said the gas supply from Trunkline will eventually total 200 million cubic feet a day, with deliveries this year at a daily rate of 100 million cubic feet. He said Consumers only other out-of-state supply is purchased by Consumers subsidiary, Michigan Gas Storage Company, from Panhandle-Eastern Pipe Line Company.

"The significance of the new gas supply to the economy of the state is considerable," Aymond said. "The Trunkline deliveries mean that increasing demands of our customers for domestic, commercial, space heating and industrial uses will be met for some time to come and that if we have correctly judged the size of those demands, waiting lists for space heating and industrial service can be eliminated."

The new Trunkline line extends 200 miles from its main system at Tuscola, Ill.

linois, to White Pigeon. The new Consumers line, 120 miles long, takes the gas from there to a new compressor station at Northville, where it enters the company's state wide distribution system.

Delivery to the Michigan Gas Utilities Company is made via a line from White Pigeon to Sturgis. The Trunkline main line extends 1,200 miles from McAllen, Texas, to Tuscola, and facilities along it were expanded to make possible the pumping of increased supplies for Michigan.

At the time contracts for the new supply were negotiated in 1958, Consumers had more than 160,000 customers on its waiting list for a space heating. With the assurance that the new supply was on its way, Consumers has been able to authorize the attachment of more than 100,000 space heating customers in the last ten months.

An expression of thanks was given the out-going president by the association for his leadership.

O.E.S. Highlights

The Sixty-sixth Anniversary Birthday Dinner honoring Past Matrons and Past Patrons, Life members and Honorary members of Plymouth Chapter Order of the Eastern Star was held in the Masonic Temple May 17.

The portraying of "Springtime" throughout the dining room was accomplished by the placing of spring flowering branches on the walls and a blossoming tree on the stage in which rested birds signifying the appearance of spring. We would like to believe that the cheery bluebirds fluttering merrily from the light fixtures timed their arrival to bring their message of Happiness to this special annual occasion.

The dining-room was arranged with five tables signifying the five points of the Emblematic Star. The centerpiece for each table was a Birthday Cake appropriately decorated the color of the star point it represented. Flanked on each side of the centerpiece were candles matching the color of the cake and flower wagons filled with spring blossoms. Further carrying out the "Springtime" theme were individual boutonnières for each person.

Candles, representing each star point, were lighted for the 6:30 dinner by Past Matrons Mildred Lizenberger, Catherine Henderson, Gertrude Thorpe, Mildred Smith and Evelyn Bocklehurst. The invocation was given by Chaplain, Fred Hadley.

A dinner prepared by the White Shrine and served by the Rainbow Girls preceded the following program: introductions, Worthy Matron, June Hadley; toastmistress, Past Matron, Kathleen Mic; address of welcome, Worthy Patron, George Bailey; responses to the address of welcome, Past Matron, Lucille Smith; Past Patron, Benjamin Holcomb; Life member, Winifred Smith; and Honorary member, Cora Bradshaw. The five cakes delectable the table were cut by Past Matrons Lillian Hartman, Mildred Camphausen, Ada Murray, Alice Rathbun and Violet Willard.

Elsa Gerst, Past Matron and President of the Past Matrons Club and Howard Hunt, Junior Past Patron were presiding Matron and Patron for the evening. The degrees were beautifully exemplified by Past Matrons and Past Patrons of Plymouth Chapter.

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)— Jackson Jenks and his underwater Viking tower are the talk of this seaport town.

Even the Navy is going fishing for his mysterious prize, which he has described as looking like "a Rhine castle wreathed in mists."

Jenks, director of the Society for the Protection of Historic Sites, a non-profit marine archaeological group, said he discovered the tower near Brenton Reef Lightship last year and has been secretly investigating it.

It's a 60-foot-high pile of un-mortared stones in 90 feet of water, he said. Each stone is the size of an office desk.

It even has a door on top, which Jenks has been unable to open.

What is it? Here are some theories:

- A Viking tower.
- A concrete ship.
- A septic tank.
- A lighthouse.

The Viking tower idea is nothing new to Newport, which is considered by some historians a part of Leif Ericson's "Vinland the Good," mentioned in Norse sagas of nearly a thousand years ago.

Some place "Vinland the Good" as far north as Labrador, others as far south as North Carolina. Those who prefer Rhode Island submit in evidence the old stone tower in the center of Newport. Sceptics say it was part of a mill built by Benedict Arnold, first governor of Rhode Island.

Stone towers have been found in Labrador, and, as one historian put it: "If we can get a stone sample out of this submerged tower, then we might be in business."

One Navy officer apparently is convinced it is the remains of a concrete ship the Navy was experimenting with during World War I. Still other people believe it is a huge septic tank of some other storage piece.

Some local residents suggested the tower might be Whale Rock Lighthouse which was blown down in the 1938 hurricane. But it was nowhere near this find.

Nevertheless, two U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey ships are scheduled to drag for Jenk's tower in July.

One ship probably will make a "wire drag" with a grapnel. If it catches a anything, a skin diver will investigate.

"For over a year," Jenks said, "I talked with professors, archaeologists and others about it." He said one New York University geologist theorized that if the tower was built on land it must be over 800 years old.

That's close to the time Leif Ericson's hearty band supposedly roamed "Vinland the Good."

Better Late Than Never COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (UPI) — An out-of-state couple who obtained a marriage license here May 23, 1924, returned here this year to be married.

The 36-year time lapse was due to an honest mistake. Both were foreign-born and knew little of American ways when they obtained the license. They believed that receiving the license concluded the wedding. They didn't learn of their mistake until the map applied for a pension recently.

Ships Will Fish For Submerged 'Viking Tower'

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)— Jackson Jenks and his underwater Viking tower are the talk of this seaport town.

Even the Navy is going fishing for his mysterious prize, which he has described as looking like "a Rhine castle wreathed in mists."

Jenks, director of the Society for the Protection of Historic Sites, a non-profit marine archaeological group, said he discovered the tower near Brenton Reef Lightship last year and has been secretly investigating it.

It's a 60-foot-high pile of un-mortared stones in 90 feet of water, he said. Each stone is the size of an office desk.

It even has a door on top, which Jenks has been unable to open.

What is it? Here are some theories:

- A Viking tower.
- A concrete ship.
- A septic tank.
- A lighthouse.

The Viking tower idea is nothing new to Newport, which is considered by some historians a part of Leif Ericson's "Vinland the Good," mentioned in Norse sagas of nearly a thousand years ago.

Some place "Vinland the Good" as far north as Labrador, others as far south as North Carolina. Those who prefer Rhode Island submit in evidence the old stone tower in the center of Newport. Sceptics say it was part of a mill built by Benedict Arnold, first governor of Rhode Island.

Stone towers have been found in Labrador, and, as one historian put it: "If we can get a stone sample out of this submerged tower, then we might be in business."

One Navy officer apparently is convinced it is the remains of a concrete ship the Navy was experimenting with during World War I. Still other people believe it is a huge septic tank of some other storage piece.

Some local residents suggested the tower might be Whale Rock Lighthouse which was blown down in the 1938 hurricane. But it was nowhere near this find.

Nevertheless, two U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey ships are scheduled to drag for Jenk's tower in July.

One ship probably will make a "wire drag" with a grapnel. If it catches a anything, a skin diver will investigate.

"For over a year," Jenks said, "I talked with professors, archaeologists and others about it." He said one New York University geologist theorized that if the tower was built on land it must be over 800 years old.

That's close to the time Leif Ericson's hearty band supposedly roamed "Vinland the Good."

Most first-time buyers of high fidelity music systems start with a turntable or record changer as a music source but eventually buy a tuner.

A tuner, attached to a high fidelity rig, allows the owner to get frequency modulated (FM) or amplitude modulated (AM) radio programs or both.

Because of the quality of the speakers and amplifiers in a real high fidelity system, broadcast music—even AM—sounds better than on the best standard radio.

There are tuners that will receive only FM broadcasts and only AM broadcasts. Tuners that will receive both kinds of broadcasts nowadays have independent circuits, so that AM and FM broadcasts can be received simultaneously.

The reason for this is that some broadcasters owning both an AM and an FM station use their AM transmitter to broadcast one channel of a stereo program and their FM transmitter to broadcast the other channel.

A person buying an AM-FM tuner should be sure that the FM and AM operate independently.

If there are no AM-FM stereo broadcasts in your city, but there is an FM station, you may save money by buying an FM only tuner. The quality of AM broadcasting is not of full high fidelity range.

AM's shortcomings as a high-quality music source are not obvious when it is being used as one channel of a stereo broadcast. But it does not come out well in contrast with music from records, or FM.

FM can only be expected to grow and some authorities are wondering whether it may not threaten AM broadcasting. The interest in high fidelity sound and the better quality of music on FM are the main reason it has been growing in recent years.

Tuners range from reasonably priced jobs to de luxe ones. One of the most important specifications to watch for in buying an FM tuner is its sensitivity.

The sensitivity is expressed in microvolts and the lower the number of microvolts, the more sensitive the tuner is.

But a good outside antenna can greatly increase the sensitivity of a tuner, so that a moderately priced job can be made to do the work of a more expensive tuner without an outside antenna.

FM tuners tend to drift as their tubes heat up and in the case of moderately priced tuners it is essential that they have an automatic frequency control (AFC) to hold them on stations.

The three or four most expensive tuners are engineered so finely that they do not require AFC.

Another helpful gimmick—though not an essential one—on FM tuners is some sort of muting device to knock out the "white" noise between stations. This device automatically goes off when you tune into a station.

And there should be something—a meter or what used to be called a "magic eye" tube—to tell when you are in the center of an FM signal. FM is not as easy to tune by ear as AM and you may discover that the station is distorted where it comes in the loudest.

As FM broadcasting grows, so will multiplexing, which is a means of transmitting another signal on top of an FM signal.

Eventually this probably will be the way most stereo broadcasting is done, since the multiplexed signal will have much higher quality than an AM signal.

Most FM tuners have a special socket to which a multiplex adapter can be hooked when multiplexing starts in your city.

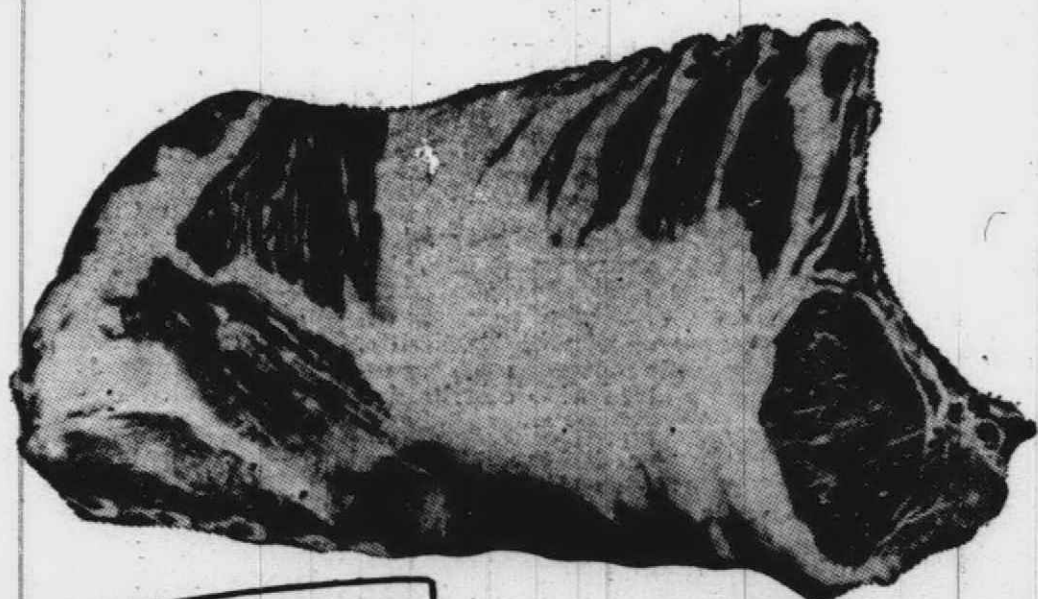

So there is no point in putting off the buying of a tuner because it has not built-in circuit so you can receive regular FM and multiplexed FM. No tuners on the market now have a built-in multiplex circuit anyway.

Allen Fifth Grade Goes to Dearborn

Miss Verle Crawford's fifth grade of the Allen School went on a field trip to the Ford Rouge plant, the Ford Rotunda and the Henry Ford Museum.

The class saw cars being built from the first point of assembly to the last part. At the Rotunda was an exhibit on Hawaii and also a "City of Today" and "A City of Yesterday."

The class then went to the Henry Ford Museum where they had their lunch and toured the building. Room mothers that accompanied the class were Mrs. Louis Norman, Mrs. Marvin Arthur, Mrs. John Walskay, Mrs. Joseph Bida, Mrs. Harry Zalesny and Mrs. Dick Jones. The bus driver was Mrs. Lucille Mathias.

Detroit Bank and Trust Leads Area in Mortgages

For the first four months of 1960 The Detroit Bank and Trust Co. led all mortgage lenders in the number and dollar amount of mortgages under $30,000 recorded in the Tri-County area of Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties, it was announced today by Joseph M. Dodge, chairman.

Dodge said, "I am sure our leadership in mortgage lending is due in large measure to our policy of closing mortgage loans in any of our convenient 57 banking offices."

The Detroit Bank and Trust Co. was first among commercial banks to provide loan closing service at a banking office of the customer's choice. If a customer lives in Birmingham, for example, he is not obligated to travel downtown to close his mortgage. The bank will send a mortgage official to the neighborhood office to process the transaction. Such customer oriented service recognizes the trend in the suburbs and the modern suburban family's particular requirement to have all its banking needs conveniently handled in its own community. It is part of the bank's continuing policy to stay abreast with the demands of growing, modern suburban communities.

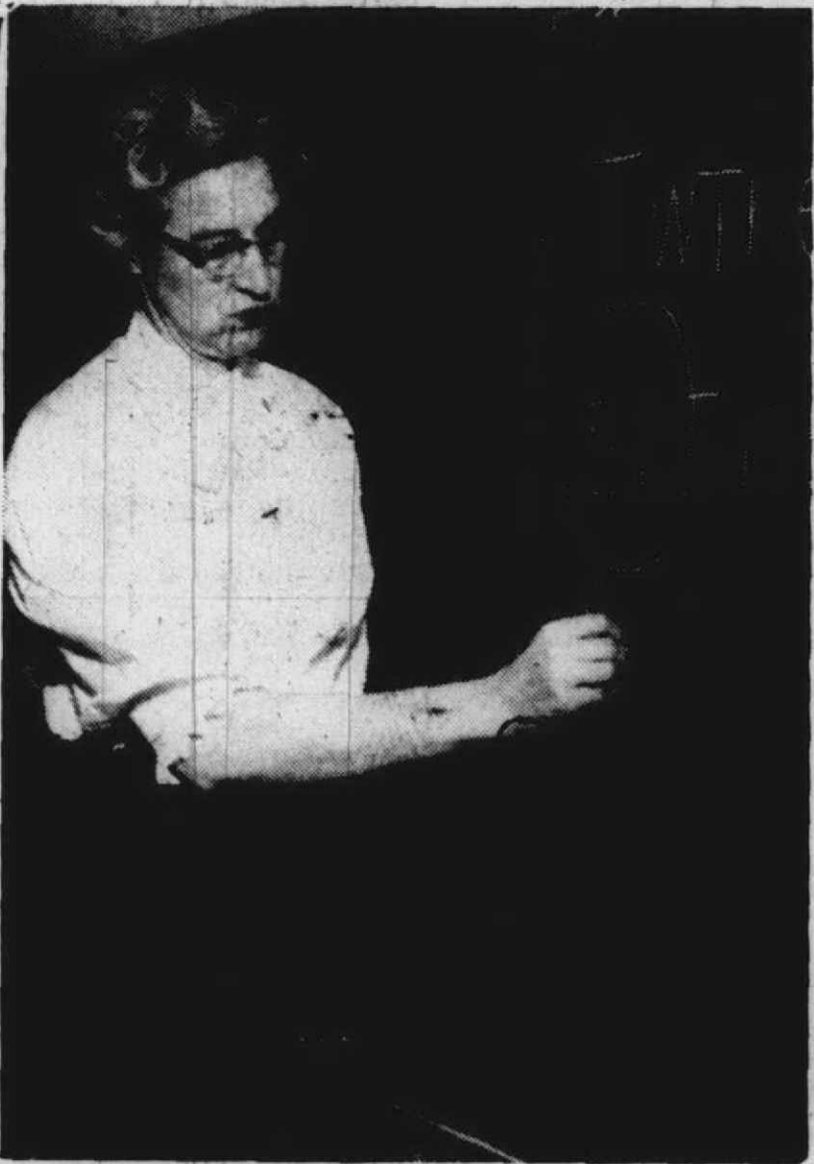

The oldest bank in Michigan made its first residential mortgage for $2,000 on March 14, 1853 to Zina Eliza, on property located at Congress St., between Wayne and Cass. Then the bank was known as The Detroit Savings Fund Institute. The Pitchers were the first of more than 100,000 families who have used the mortgage services of this pioneer banking concern.

Since World War II, the bank has made mortgage loans in excess of $400 million to approximately 48,000 customers. Disbursements of mortgage proceeds have averaged $31 million annually for the past ten years, more than $2½ million a month.

The Detroit Bank and Trust Co. has suburban offices in Birmingham, Clawsonville, Dearborn Township, Ferndale, Franklin, Nankin Township, Plymouth Township and Southfield.

The earth makes one complete rotation on its axis in 23 hours and 56 minutes.

Who's Who in the Plymouth Community Schools

Elizabeth M. Sheldon

Mrs. Elizabeth Sheldon, who teaches second grade at Gallimore Elementary School, is a native of Baraga, Mich. and graduated from Baraga High School. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree from Northern Michigan College of Education. She has also attended the University of Michigan and Eastern Michigan University from which institution she expects to receive her Master of Arts degree in June.

She is a member of Delta Sigma Nu, social sorority, and Phi Epsilon and Kappa Delta Pi, scholastic honorary societies. She is also a member of the Plymouth Education Association, Michigan Education Association and the National Education Association.

Mrs. Sheldon taught for several years in the elementary grades in St. Johns and at the Henry Ford School in Pequaming. For five years she taught Latin, biology and geography at Baraga High School.

She has taught in Plymouth for nine years in the fourth and second grades. A fluent linguist, she teaches French in the Plymouth Summer School Program.

Mrs. Sheldon inherited much of her love of teaching from her mother who was also a teacher for many years. To her father she owes her talents as a farmer's daughter and will take a back seat to no one it comes to milking cows, pitching hay, threshing grain and picking that summer crop of strawberries.

Mrs. Sheldon's brother, Dr. Carl A. Moyer, is a surgeon and Dean of the Medical School of Washington University in St. Louis, Mo. Her sister, Dr. Ruth M. Waring, is also a surgeon and is in medical partnership with her husband in Savannah, Ga.

Mrs. Sheldon, her husband Duane and daughter Ruth, reside on Sheridan Ave. in Plymouth. Mr. Sheldon is a New York Life Insurance Company salesman and Ruth attends Bird Elementary School where she is in the 6th grade.

Besides traveling with her family, Mrs. Sheldon is particularly fond of oil painting, ceramics, reading and refinishing furniture. She also collects coins, antiques and shells. Her family and friends will testify to her abilities as a maker of pastries and Swedish meatballs and as a wielder of paint roller, spade and hoe!

A thank-you note from Queen Elizabeth of England has been received by Mrs. Doris Wick of Adams St., who several months ago made a quilt for Bonnie Prince Andrew.

Queen Sends Thank-you To Local Woman

The note, signed by Rose Baring, a lady-in-waiting, stated: "I am commanded by The Queen to write and thank you for the lovely quilt which you have sent for Prince Andrew."

"Her Majesty much appreciates your having taken so much trouble for her in making a present for her son, and I have to send you The Queen's most sincere thanks."

The quilt contained hand-sewn likenesses of the five members of the Royal family.

Selfridge Opens Base For Armed Forces Celebration

One of the largest Armed Forces Day observances in the nation will be held at Selfridge Air Force Base, on May 21 and 22.

Filling its traditional role, Selfridge will present a major air show plus military demonstrations never before paralleled in the 43 years the historical base has been operating.

The two-day celebration will see, among many other events, 120 paratroopers dropping out of the sky from C-119 cargo planes of the 403rd Troop Carrier Wing based at Selfridge. For visitors interested in precision flying, a Canadian flying acrobatic team, the "Golden Hawks" will put on flying maneuvers that will awe the most experienced pilot.

The open house celebrations are scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. on both days with a complete array of events lasting until 5 p.m. Highlighting the several hundred items of military equipment displayed, will be eleven different types of aircraft ranging from the supersonic F-106 and F-102 fighter interceptors to the slow but reliable SA-16 "flying duck." In addition, the T-33 jet trainer,

Plymouth W-E Employee To Head Pioneers

Emerson Parr, cabinet-maker for Western Electric Co. in Plymouth, has been named Woodward Council vice-president of the Wolverine (Michigan) Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers of America for 1960-61.

Vergil Myers, supervising installation foreman at Pontiac, has been named president of the Woodward Council.

State officers include: Stanley M. Townsend, switchboardman, Port Huron, president; Mrs. Dorothy Oldham, dial service supervisor, Grand Rapids, first vice president; Homer D. Swander, assistant vice president-Personnel, Detroit, second vice president, and Carl H. Orup, Western Electric Company installation manager, Detroit, member-at-large of the Chapter's Executive Committee.

The Pioneers is an organization of men and women with 21 or more years in the telephone industry.

The Michigan Chapter has 5,600 members in seven councils.

Army and Air Force helicopters, life rafts, parachutes and high altitude partial pressure suits will be on hand so visitors can get a first hand, close-up look at today's modern Air Force equipment.

While festivities such as an aerial demonstration of the world's speed record holder the F-106 "Delta Dart" passes by, Selfridge's WAF will conduct "Operation Tike Tracer." The WAF's will keep tabs on the younger spectators through radio-controlled kiddy service in Headquarters Building.

Not to be left out of the picture, Strategic Air Command (SAC) will also show off their gigantic KC-97 Tankers.

Eleven different participating units including the Royal Canadian Air Force, the University of Detroit and Michigan State University Air Force ROTC, as well as the Michigan Air National Guard have an integral part of Selfridge's Armed Force "open house."

Hangar and ramp displays will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days. Flying demonstrations are scheduled from approximately 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. The 120 paratroop drop is slated to begin at 2 o'clock on both Saturday and Sunday.

A full and dynamic schedule of activities cement the ingredients which base personnel anticipate as being reason for the biggest open house in Selfridge's history.

Commuter May Spend Three Years in Forty Just Commuting

Object of fascination to sociologists, ulcer specialists, railroad executives and traffic cops—that's the American legion known as the Commuter.

He travels to work via automobile, railroad, bus, subway, ferry, bicycle, plane or helicopter—or combinations thereof. In most cases, he does this to give his children the benefit of a grass-roots, fresh-air childhood away from the grimy bustle of midtown.

The facts of his complicated life are one of the most amazing aspects of the American scene today. For instance: a commuter who lives 25 miles from his job journeys 50 miles a day, 250 miles a week, 13,000 miles a year and perhaps half a million miles in a lifetime of commuting! A fellow who commutes three hours a day for 40 years devotes more than three of those years to the mere process of getting to and from work.

For some commuters, the journey is not the smoothest. Though the rigors of New York subway travel are famous, the statistics are not: between eight and nine a.m. more than 30,000 people pass through the Grand Central Station of New York's IRT Lexington line—more than pass through any other spot in the 50 states!

If the commuter travels by rail—and 50 percent of all rail passengers are commuters—he's not only wedded to a timetable but perpetually tuned in to the plaints of railroads who in a recent year were $700,000,000 in the red.

Despite these well-regulated workings of the railroad, the overwhelming majority of commuters prefer auto travel. In 17 of America's 25 biggest cities, the car is the most common means of getting to work, and oddly enough, rush-hour traffic travels at roughly the same rate in nearly all big cities—about 20 m.p.h.

The nation's slowest rides are on a San Antonio bus and a streetcar in Pittsburgh—each at a nerve-fraying eight m.p.h. Fastest is the much-maligned Long Island Railroad, at a 36-m.p.h. clip.

The commuter preference for cars may help swell the car population to 100 million vehicles for 220 million Americans by 1975, say statisticians.

No matter how efficiently manufacturers build new cars, the commuter still finds himself running out of places to park them. Hence the multi-story parking buildings rising all over the country (Chicago recently built over $18,000,000 worth). Hence, too, that noble institution known as the car pool.

What commuter has not ridden with the yakker, the speedster, the aspirant for the Good Housekeeping Seal who is atwitter lest you dirty or burn his upholstery?

Then there's the social climber who switches pools constantly in his chase for status... the errand-runner who must stop off at the bakery... the fellow who starts rounding up riders for the evening trip at 4 p.m.

A car pool can be a matchless forum for socializing and salesmanship. To preserve the camaraderie, some car-pool members have even been chipping in to buy a "club" car to be used exclusively by members for the commute.

It works—if one fellow is conscientious enough to keep all the records, attend to all necessary repairs and collect the expense money.

Last October, Nikita Khrushchev told a Siberian audience that "We will use automobiles more rationally than the Americans do. We are going to establish taxi pools where people can use cars when they need them. Why should a man worry about parking space? Why should he take the trouble to bother with it?"

Saying "Amen" to the Premier's last comment, some Americans are hopping aboard "air taxis." Chicago recently inaugurated helicopter hops for commuters from Gary, Ind., and a similar service puts Baltimore and Washington within commuting distance of each other.

Is this the way for the commuter to rise above his problems? Not completely. In most cases, he still must pay taxes to two communities. While he's away, his wife vegetates in a largely manless town. His daughters, reared in the good clean air of Suburbia, are healthy, all right, but when these red-blooded specimens reach courting age, they may confront a shortage of men.

In some suburban communities, women between 25 and 45 outnumber the menfolk of equivalent ages almost three to two!

But is the commuter discouraged or do you find him hotfooting it back to town? In the majority of cases, no. Like Old Man River, he just keeps rolling... uh, commuting... along.

When You Buy A Mattress

BY ROSELLA M. BANNISTER

Wayne County Extension Agent, Home Economics

The mattress edging is important. All good-quality mattresses have prebuilt borders, reinforced to keep the sides from sagging. Roll-edge mattresses are less durable.

Handles for turning the mattress should be made of steel, cord or plastic. Inexpensive mattresses may have cloth handles. Inner-spring mattresses should have metal ventilators along their sides to permit the mattress to "breathe."

There are three main price classes: (1) nationally-advertised mattresses, (2) locally advertised, sometimes called "promotional" mattresses, and (3) the nationally advertised sale-priced mattresses.

The typical price for a nationally advertised mattress of top quality is $79.50, and the matching box spring will cost another $79.50. The promotional mattress is usually a step down in quality from the nationally advertised unit. It is priced considerably below national brands, ranging from $40 to $69 for a mattress and springs. Don't be afraid to buy a promotional mattress if you are budget conscious. Even a moderately priced set may be a good buy if you need it for only a short time.

Nationally advertised, sale-priced mattresses, may be found during January, February, and during July-August. If you can wait for this twice yearly event, this may be the best mattress buy for you.

House Needs An Inspection In Springtime

Houses, like humans, need a thorough physical examination at least once a year and spring is an ideal time for it.

Harsh winter weather can bring on many "ailments" around the house. Frost in the ground can dam a ge foundations, extremes in temperatures can open up cracks around windows and doors, and winds may have loosened shutters and television aerials, and caused damage to wires.

The area that deserves the closest inspection is the roof. It takes more punishment from winter ice, snow, rain, wind and temperature change than any other part of the house.

The most important flaws to look for in a roof inspection are leaks, especially in a roof that is old and weather-worn. Water can cause serious damage if it seeps into rafters, ceilings, and other structural components. This moisture also can cause dangerous short circuits if it gets into electrical wiring.

One way to find roof leaks is to take a flashlight into the attic after a rainstorm. Look along rafters and deckboards for telltale dark areas in the wood. If these are damp to the touch, it usually means a leak.

If there's one leak in a worn roof, there undoubtedly are others, or soon will be, since a roof wears out uniformly. This is the time to call a roofing contractor, not to try patching leaks. Walking on an old roof to repair it may open new leaks and lead to an endless patching process.

If there are no signs of leaks, go outside and look carefully at the roof. If it looks shabby, it's time to replace it before leaks do occur.

A new roof of asphalt shingles provides not only trouble-free protection for years, but adds cash value to any home by improving its appearance with color and rich, glare-free texture.

Jerry Seibert Says...

A MR. MORT version of the "sundown dress," an entirely new look for summer 1960. It's flatteringly feminine for after-five wear.

SUMMER SCENE

Who, in Michigan, doesn't believe summer officially begins on Decoration Day? And what a woman doesn't think of any new season in terms of what-to-wear?

The "lovely lady look" of spring has become the smoothly shining, "elegant look" of summer, 1960. It's no longer smart to look like "the girl next door," unless the girl next door just happens to be as feminine and serenely lovely as starshine on a quiet pool.

The base of this new look is the typical well-scrubbed American look, but the attitude is gracefully patrician instead of the "casual" which is apt to slide into "careless."

One reason for the new, careful sleekness: there's more of you on view.

Necklines are cool: open and flattering. Collars, if any, are biggish, but not so big or close that summer heat will make them uncomfortable. Sleeves are most important when they aren't there at all.

Skirts are easy: even sheaths aren't tight-tight. Full skirts are dome shaped, or pleated. No fancy, bouncy petticoats. 1960 hips are s-m-o-o-t-h.

Two things are NEW under the summer moon. One, the "sundown dress": a graceful, ankle-length cotton for wear after five. Feminine as the flutter of an eyelash, they are divine for informal dances at the club, or patio parties at home.

These cotton charmers are so easy-to-wear and so easy-of-care, that no more excuse is needed to slip into one every summer evening, than the fact that they make any woman feel fragile, fem-

Chevy hums through Chicago traffic to the tune of 21 miles to the gallon!

Working for Bumper and Auto of Illinois, Inc., ten 1960 Chevrolet pickups battle Chicago traffic day after day. Each truck averages about 2,000 miles a month in this wearing stop-and-start delivery service. Mr. Harry Haller, General Manager of S & H Truck Leasing, who leases the trucks to the bumper firm, reports: "We provide full maintenance on the trucks—gas, oil and everything else—so it pays us to know just where we stand on costs. And our records show that the '60 Chevies are giving us as much as 21 miles per gallon... with an average of better than 17 miles per gallon. Mister, these are our kind of trucks!"

"Truck owners have good things to say about all Chevy engines. And when they're not talking about Chevrolet performance and economy, they're telling you how great that new Torsion-Spring Ride is. How it soaks up road shock and vibration. Protects fragile loads. Lets you run at faster, safe speeds to get more work done in a day. Drive a torsion-spring Chevy soon. We'll rest our case on that one ride."

Urges Moms to Pack Better Lunches for Tots

Mothers who send their children to school with an armload of books and some coins for lunch are making a big mistake.

So says Mrs. Reba Humphrey, foods instructor at a junior high school in West Virginia. She believes it is particularly important that the junior high set have a nutritious lunch.

In the lower grades, she said, children usually will dutifully eat what's packed in their lunch, or there may be a hot lunch available. In senior high, most students have matured enough to realize they need a solid lunch, whether they bring it from home or eat near their school.

But at the junior high level, children are inclined to go with the crowd. They're reluctant to do anything that will keep them out of step with their friends. They take their change to the nearest soda fountain, buy a soft drink, some potato chips and a bar of candy. Mrs. Humphrey said. "That's hardly a healthy diet."

She said it's up to the mothers to change this and to keep the menu varied.

Her yardstick for a home-packed lunch:

Build around a protein-rich food—cooked or canned meat, fish, chicken, turkey, cheese, eggs or peanut butter—and put plenty of filling on a sandwich. Pack the lettuce trimming separately so the sandwich doesn't get soggy.

Include a raw vegetable, and a bit of sweet—cookies or cupcakes.

Milk is a must, too, either in a vacuum bottle or bought at school.

Backdoor Approach

EL PASO, Tex. (UPI) — A Juarez, Mexico, man who told police he wanted a beer went to the right place to get one. But he went at the wrong time and in the wrong way, police said. Officers arrested Canuto M. Reyes, 36, as he was unscrewing bolts from the back door of the "Who's Club" with a monkey wrench.

NEW BOOKS At The Wayne County

"Compulsion to Confess" by Theodor Reik. It looks at the unconscious of murderers and detectives and analyzes famous American and European crimes. The compulsion to confess is shown in its importance as a determining agency, not only in criminology but also in religion, myth, art, language as well as pedagogy. Part three is titled "The Shock of Thought." This section contains several new contributions to the psychology of fright and anxiety, sexual urge and guilt feelings, the unconscious, connections between hate and fear, success and forgiveness, success and unconscious moral anxiety and faith in a higher justice.

"Victory, the Life of Lord Nelson," by Oliver Warner. Oliver Warner has written about Nelson not in exclusively maritime terms but as a man, a man who was exalted, kindly and a genius at sea, and who was vain and vulnerable ashore. His affair with Emma, Lady Hamilton, is the dangerous and irresistible second act in a great play. He demeans himself in his love for her and in the way in which he shows off with her on leave. And yet the all-or-nothing of their affair drove him to sea again, where psychologically he could always be happier than on land, and so drove him to the highest hazard of his career. Trafalgar.

"Ring the Night Bell" by Paul B. Magnuson. Any one of the dozens of dramatic medical anecdotes and case histories in this book demonstrates that Paul Magnuson is no ordinary doctor. His skill, daring and inventiveness as a surgeon have always been matched by a concern for the whole patient. To read of a stockyard worker succored by lantern after a midnight accident or to follow the step-by-step treatment of a patient others would have left to lifelong helplessness is to know the emotional as well as the technical fascination of great medicine at work.

"Leopard" by Giuseppe di Lampedusa. Set in the vivid and austere grandeur of Sicily, the Leopard pictures a traditional way of life at the point of decline. Based on the author's great grandfather, the hero is Don Fabrizio, Prince of Salina. He is the "leopard"—so named from the proud bestia emblazoned on the Lampedusa family coat of arms—a magnificent, striking man, with penchants for hunting and astronomy. A tolerant despot, he rules over thousands of acres of land and hundreds of human beings, among them his own family. But at the moment of Don Fabrizio's prime, Garibaldi lands in Sicily on the way to overthrow the Bourbon monarchy in Naples, and power passes from the feudal landowners to the new bourgeoisie.

"The Ardent Years" by Janet Stevenson. To her new life with her American husband, the wealthy Philadelphia Pierce Butler, Fanny Kemble brought all the ardor and vitality of her high-spirited, idealistic nature. In a country still young and, by her English standards, provincial, Fanny found her wife position increasingly incomprehensible. While rejoicing in Pierce's love, and never regretting retirement from the theater, she was shaken to find that she must suppress her true self to be the proper Mrs. Butler.

"The Horses of the Sun" by Oriol Malet. She was also warmhearted, hot-tempered and mercurially unpredictable. And in her lovely villa on the island of Elba almost everyone was happy—most of the time.

"A Little Widow is a Dangerous Thing," by Helen King Hastings and Jean Muir. Helen King Hastings, as uninhibited a woman as was ever widowed in her forties, here tells her colorful story of life among 500 head of scrub cattle and her Florida flatwoods neighbors, a story as energetic and irrefragable as the lady herself.

"Storm the Last Rampart" by David Taylor. The year is 1780. The British under General Clinton have occupied New York and Benedict Arnold, the traitor general, is plotting his disastrous act of treachery.

"Tecumseh" by Glenn Tucker. In the years just preceding the War of 1812 one man, an Indian, dominated the American frontier—Tecumseh. He emerges here as a vivid, splendid character, a man of unusual talents and noble aims, whereas in much previous history and biography he has been depicted as a baffling, sinister, often bloody figure—a man of inscrutable motives whose scheming for a time actually threatened to delay the settlement of the Northwest.

"Hidden Power for Human Problems" by Frederick Bailes. There is, Dr. Bailes writes, a law as certain, orderly, and unchanging as the laws of science. It exists to serve you. To reveal this law and to show you how you may bring its wondrous power into your life, Dr. Bailes wrote this book.

"Here Lies the Heart" by Mercedes de Acosta. As poet and playwright Mercedes de Acosta knew intimately such great figures as Duse, Isadora Duncan, the Barrymores, Nazimova, Pavlova, and Eva le Gallienne. Later she went as screen-writer to Hollywood—the fabulous Hollywood of Irving Thalberg and Louis B. Mayer—where a young Swedish actress, Greta Garbo, was just emerging. A spark was somehow struck at their meeting, and their friendship has endured for years. Many of the other greats of stage and screen—Marlene Dietrich among them—also played roles in Mercedes de Acosta's adventures. All are vividly brought to life in her book.

"Our Samoan Adventure," by Fanny and Robert Louis Stevenson. After more than sixty years of obscurity, this diary brings to light the mind and heart of the remarkable woman who shared Robert Louis Stevenson's last years on a South Sea Island.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

The month of May is probably the busiest of our entire V.F.W. year. Important days to remember for the remainder of the month are:

May 18—Color guard practice, 7 p.m.; regular meeting, 8 p.m.
May 19—Buddy Poppy Day.
May 21—Flags will be placed on veterans' graves at Riverside Cemetery at 10 a.m.

May 22—Memorial Services at First Methodist Church. Be at the church at 10:30 a.m.
May 30—Memorial Day Parade. Marshall Gerald Olson reports that plans for the parade and other activities are nearly completed. More details will be given next week.

May 30 also marks the end of our membership drive. With a great flurry of members—we hope. Did you know? All Buddy Poppies sold in Michigan are made by disabled veterans who are residents of the Michigan Veterans Facility at Grand Rapids.

Auxiliary News
This year we are participating in the 39th annual Memorial Day Buddy Poppy Sale. The inspiration of the symbolic flower of Flanders Field continues to live in the hearts of thousands of dedicated members across the nation as they again face the task of raising funds that provide VFW welfare and service to disabled and needy veterans and their dependents. Countless thousands of these men and their families are being assisted by the VFW in their hour of need. Chairman Jennie Tallmadge states that she still needs workers to help in this project. Please call her at GL 3-4843 and offer your services for May 19.

Vacation time is here. Dolly Bouterse is spending hers in sunny Florida. Chuck Olson, son of Geroldine and Eddie Olson, is home. He asked me to give his thanks to all of you for the wonderful cards and messages he received while in the hospital. Your thoughtfulness was greatly appreciated.

Our deepest sympathies go to Edith and Bob Bredin on the loss of their father, Fred Bredin.

Geraldine Olson states that the rummage sale was a huge success. Many thanks to all those who donated as well as to those who worked. Be sure to display your American flag on Memorial Day. I am wondering how many homes in Plymouth have a flag. Now is the time to purchase a flag. The new 50-star flags are available.

ELINOR WILLIAMS

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: Whenever I receive a letter from my friends (I am 13), I put it away after I finish reading it. My mother comes along and reads it. I try to hide it, but it doesn't help. What else can I do?"

Ans.—Everybody has a right to personal privacy, including mail. But it's partly up to you. If you don't want others to see and read your letters, destroy them after you read them, then you know that nobody else reads them except you, the one they're intended for. It's bad manners to read other people's mail, but you ask for it when you leave letters where they're available.

Q.—"Dear Miss Williams: The group of girls I go with have been wondering if it is all right to accept a blinddate to 'go out.'"

Ans.—Yes, it's all right to accept a blind date if your parents meet him and if you're introduced to him by friends whose judgment you trust... that is, a friend who will choose the kind of boy you want to meet and know, not one who will want to take you places you're not supposed to go, urge you to do things you don't believe you should do, etc. On blind dates, it's a good idea to have definite plans before hand about where you'll go, what time you'll come home, so you won't get involved in date - dings that you don't enjoy or aren't allowed to do. That is, it's better to accept a blind date for a dance, movie, church, or school activity than just a

Education Is Lonely

The price of an education is loneliness and hard work, says James H. Robertson, associate dean of The University of Michigan's College of Literature, Science, and the Arts.

The joy and excitement of education has faded needlessly, Dean Robertson declared at the Michigan Interscholastic Press Assn. meeting at the U-M.

"Education is a two-way street. You must bring something to it," he told the students, pointing out that the best teaching staff in the world can't turn an inert lump into a good student.

He stated six points for becoming a "successful, happy student":

- 1) "The pleasure you derive from education depends on the responsibility you take for that education."
- 2) "Learning is an active process. You need to set up a study schedule and stick to it."
- 3) "Getting the education you want depends on hard decisions. You must avoid the tempting side shows of life. This takes courage."

4) "Education is a lonely business. Bull sessions, for example, are nice, but they are no substitute for the isolated one-to-one relationship between you and your book."

5) "We're all basically lazy; we do only enough to get by. But in order to be a good student you have to be dissatisfied even if you get all A's with little effort. You must demand more of yourself."

6) "The intelligent, educated person needs to develop the ability to listen."

"This prescription may seem grim," Robertson said, "but there's no royal road to education."

"Those who are willing to pay the price—and this means loneliness—find they become better members of society."

"You can get by with less, but you'll be half used, half happy and half educated," he concluded.

"And This Was Supposed to Be Such a Friendly Neighborhood"

How's Business?

Considerable reliance is being placed on consumer spending to hold business at a high level, or possibly to give a moderate uplift to it, while the economy traverses the rocky foothills which lie before the anticipated peaks of the so-called Golden Sixties era.

"A frequent and annoying trouble with a budget is that you can't seem to."

—Harry I. Shumway.

"One of our biggest problems is that the problems faced by the human race are accumulating much faster than solutions."

—Wall Street Journal.

"The new 10 per cent federal tax on air conditioners is the closest Uncle Sam has yet come to putting a tax on the air we breathe."

—Don Robinson.

"The reason so many Congressmen are anxious to be reelected is that they'd hate to try to make a living under the laws they passed."

—Adam Wade.

"Wouldn't it be wonderful to find some way of keeping politics out of politics?"

—Pat Buttram.

"If you can't say something nice, don't say anything; if you can't think of anything to say, say something nice."

sumer debt burden has risen sharply.

Mortgage debt has increased from about $65 billion in 1950 to nearly $170 billion; consumer installment debt has risen from $15 billion to $39 billion. Though both income and liquid savings have also risen, discretionary buying power has been squeezed by tax payments, higher prices, and the mounting debt repayment schedules.

In recent years, the trend has been to lengthen the repayment periods on home mortgages and installment purchases of durable goods. Easy payment plans are now speaking to the vast services field where cash payments were formerly required, such as for travel or entertainment expenses.

In spite of the seemingly insatiable demands of consumers, there is grave doubt as to how much further the credit rubber band can be made to stretch. Eliminating the five years following World War II to allow for wartime shortages, the consumer debt burden has risen sharply. Current high interest rates and the stretchout of debt repayments mean that a larger percentage of periodic repayments must be devoted to borrowing costs, thus slowing the reduction of the debt principal. As consumers have drifted further into debt, they have found it increasingly difficult to keep up their payments.

It therefore behooves businessmen and consumers alike to be cautious about new commitments. Advantage should be taken of current high incomes to lighten debt

If Your Name Is 'Kim'

By ANN REYNOLDS

Today when everyone is in a hurry there is much to recommend a first name as short as "Kim". It consists of only three letters. Only "Vy", streamlined from "Vivian", is shorter.

"Kim" is gaining in popularity. Besides having been named to the home it has other earmarks that promise success. It sounds pleasant, is easy to spell, and it has glamour. These are the things that endear it to some parents.

This name has made good already on both the television and the motion picture screen, thanks to several successful young actresses. With at least one of them "Kim" was chosen by her studio; it replaced her three-syllable given name, encumbered with which she had grown up. Just imagine the time she is saving signing her autograph with her new short first name.

For all its new fame, "Kim" is not of recent origin. It's quite old, hailing from Anglo-Saxon times.

If then was "Cyneburh", made up from "cyne", meaning "royal", and "burh" which is "a fortress."

"Cyneburh" or "Cyneburga" was contracted first to "Kynburga", and then "Kimbrough." This can be found today as a last name, too. The first name reached, in due course, its present shortness. Incidentally, the "cyne" in the original "Cyneburga" evolved from the same root as did our word "king". This used to mean just any chief, and his office was either hereditary or elective. Now, a king is the head of a state and on his death his position goes on to his heir.

In names, as in everything, fashion changes. Many given names are spreading for well known men and women in the world of entertainment. In bygone times appellations became popular for the sake of some revered personage in religious life. "Cyneburh" was picked by parents because of the esteem a 7th century saint, daughter of a heathen king of Mercia, was held in.

Handwriting Is Clue About You

Dear Miss Williams:

I read your column with interest. I am anxious to know what you have to say about my handwriting.

Corra W.

Dear Cora:

You are the type of person who searches for a higher understanding philosophically. You are open minded and concerned with your future.

There is an aggressiveness tendency to push forward and expand mentally. You learn to sift facts extracting knowledge where you can. Your thinking is quick, alert and you welcome criticism, using it constructively.

You act with emphatic decision and do not like your work interrupted. You can handle responsibility, are cautious and possess pride in what you do. You desire to acquire, possess and own.

Dear Miss Williams:

I enjoy your column every week. Would appreciate your analysis of my handwriting at this time.

What type of work would I enjoy and be able to do?
Sincerely,
Mrs. W. A. S.

Dear Mrs. W. A. S.:

You have some creative ability plus a good imagination which is helpful towards many kinds of work. You like variation, action and something other than straight, everyday routine. Also you are capable of enthusiasm, which goes a long way towards an occupation.

You're practical minded, have pride in what you do but are very sensitive to criticism. There's no desire for responsibility and your emotions are varied. You are more expressive at times than others. You can be calm and not upset when you so desire. Your memory is good, you are irritated when interrupted and have quite a desire for acquiring.

Dear Miss Williams:

Would it be possible to have this in the paper anytime within the next three issues of the paper, as I have to return to school about the 25th.

Thank you.

NO NAME:

You have two letters entirely different enclosed. I'm not sure which you want analyzed. I've taken the strip written in ink (much easier to read than the pencil).

This person is a constructive minded person. He can shape, form and build mentally as well as physically. There is engineering ability here. He is efficient, future minded and welcomes constructive criticism. He wants to do well, to stand out and be recognized. There is thriftiness, good thinking, ability to make his own decisions. He is open minded, has a definite purpose in mind and the determination to carry it through.

Send your letters to Lucille Williams in care of this newspaper for free analysis of your handwriting.

If Cars Get Any Lower, Eyeballs Will Drag Road

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—If America's automobiles continue along the trend of low, underslung design, it wouldn't be long before the driver's eyeballs would be dragging the ground, a civil engineer says.

Clyde E. Lee of the University of Texas surveyed the design of some 2,000 automobiles and found that the driver's scope of view has dropped more than six inches in the past decade.

But Lee believes engineering changes will be made to ensure good driving visibility and that highway designs will change to meet the changing body styles of automobiles.

The trend toward lower cars has accelerated in recent years, Lee pointed out. "You can't make the eye height any lower than 3.5 feet without having the driver practically lying on his back—3.5 feet is the practical limit," he said.

"If we should continue at the present rate, we'd have the driver's eyeballs dragging the ground by the year 2,000," he added.

The reduced scope of vision should be taken into consideration when constructing new highways, Lee said. He added that it is no longer realistic to build roads for the 3.5-foot eye level of a decade ago.

"I don't propose that existing hill crests be lowered, but in future designs, hills, no-passing zones and guard rails should be adjusted to the current eye levels of automobiles," Lee said.

Lee does not believe that the lower auto designs are all bad, because lower cars make for better stability on the road.

Eye level isn't the only thing to consider when attempts are made to improve highways, he said.

"When we set a minimum for road design standards, we need representative values for eye height, reaction time, performance characteristics covering a large percentage of autos."

Commuters Equal 47 Global Circuits

Two "world" travelers here figure they may hold some sort of commuting record on the C&O. G. C. "Pat" Passage and Ed C. Drews estimate that by the time they retire within the next year they will have traveled the equivalent of more than 47 times around the world — 25 times for Pat and 22 for Ed — in making the daily 50-mile round-trip between their homes in Plymouth and their jobs in Detroit. And all 1,170,000-or-more miles by C&O!

Passage has been general car distributor for the Northern Region since 1947 and Drews, assistant to superintendent transportation since 1954. And their careers have been as parallel as the rails they ride so consistently.

The careers began in Plymouth where they were schoolmates. They graduated from Plymouth High School.

Passage started railroading at Flint as a demurrage clerk in 1916, then did a stint as yard clerk at Plymouth before becoming a commuter in 1918. He will retire next February.

Drews' first rail job was yard clerk in his home town in 1917 before he transferred to a clerical post at Detroit in 1923. He will retire in November of this year.

Both are in the office of the superintendent transportation and, until that office moved to the General Motors Bldg. last summer, they were right at work when they got off the train at Fort Street Union Depot. Now a co-worker picks them up at the station on his way to the job.

Very, very seldom have train schedules ever made them late for work. "You could count the times on your fingers," says Ed Drews, "and that's for well over 35 years of commuting."

During a majority of those years, the work week was a six-day week and during many periods it was a seven-day week for them.

They come into Detroit on the last lap of "The Sportsman's" run and return in the evening as the train heads back for Virginia.

Why Pat and Ed have never been dubbed Pat and Mike is hard to understand. They recall that one former associate used to call them Hans and Fritz because, like the Katzenjammer kids, they were always together.

It's unlikely that retirement will bring the parting of their ways, either, for they'll both continue to live in Plymouth.

Passage, who lives at 11667 Hagerly Rd., is a part-time farmer and has a small orchard where he raises pears, apples and cherries. He plans to give full attention to the road when he leaves the railroad.

Drews, who lives at 472 N. Harvey, likes to spend a lot of his leisure fishing. During the past few years, he and his wife have put travel at the head of his hobby list. After his retirement, they expect to clock a lot more miles by rail, of course.

Michigan Bell Pays $38,207 Local Schools

Michigan Bell Telephone Company announced its payment to the state primary school fund for 1959 was the largest in the company's history.

Amounting to a record $13,919,359, an increase of nearly $1,500,000 over 1958; the payment again placed Michigan Bell as the top contributor to the fund.

William Dunn, manager here for the company, reported that $38,207 of the total tax payment was allocated to the public school system of Plymouth.

Schools throughout Wayne County received from Michigan Bell's payment a total of $4,670,166. Payments were based on the county school census of 690,853, and the local school census of 5,652.

The tax payment amounted to $6.76 for each of the 2,058,028 youngsters in the state between the ages of 5 and 19 who were on the census rolls for the 1959 school year.

The state primary school fund receives payments not only from Michigan Bell but also from the railroads, Railway Express, Pullman, telegraph, and other telephone companies.

COMMUTER CHAMPS — C&Oers G. C. Passage (on steps) and E. C. Drews detain at Detroit from "The Sportsman" as they have daily for more than 35 years. Naturally, they're well known to Conductor W. G. Rinker (right), 41-year vet who's worked this run intermittently for 20 years and regularly for the past 12 months or more.

Try the Extra Measure of a Wide-Track Drive!

Any tape measure will tell you this: Pontiac's stance (not the body) is wider than any other car. But driving a new Pontiac will tell you more. That's when you feel the extra measure of balance, control and sure-footed roadability of Wide-Track Wheels. The difference is so dramatic it's hard to imagine; yet it's easy to discover. Just ask for a Wide-Track Drive!

RESOLUTION

By The Township Board, Township of Canton

WHEREAS, Act 188 of the Public Acts of 1959 enables the Township of Canton to create a Township Planning Commission and to transfer the powers and duties of the Township Zoning Board under Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1945 and the Township Zoning Ordinance to the said Planning Commission; and

WHEREAS, the Township Board believes that the said transfer of powers and duties would be beneficial to the Township and would promote public health, safety and general welfare, encourage the use of resources in accordance with their character and adaptability, avoid overcrowding of lands by buildings and people and lessen congestion of public roads and streets, facilitate provision for a system of transportation, sewage disposal, safe and adequate water supply, recreation and other public improvements;

NOW, THEREFORE, on motion of Dingeldey supported by Schultz, it is

RESOLVED by the Township Board of the Township of Canton:

I. That a Township Planning Commission for the Township of Canton is hereby created with power to make, adopt, extend, add to or otherwise amend and to carry out plans for the unincorporated portions of the Township and to assume all of the powers, duties and responsibilities of the Township Zoning Board provided by Act 184 of the Public Acts of 1945 and the functions of the Township Zoning Board under the Zoning Ordinance of Canton Township as that Ordinance now is in force or as it may be amended from time to time.

II. That this Resolution shall be submitted to the electors of the Township at a special election to be called and held concurrently with the General Primary Election to be held August 2, 1960, under the General Election Law, and that the proposition to be submitted to the electors shall be:

SHALL A TOWNSHIP PLANNING COMMISSION WITH BROADER POWERS AND WIDER REPRESENTATION BE CREATED TO TAKE OVER THE POWERS, FUNCTIONS AND DUTIES OF THE TOWNSHIP ZONING BOARD?

() Yes
() No

III. That a true copy of this Resolution shall be published in The Plymouth Mail and copies thereof shall be transmitted to the Secretary of State of the State of Michigan and the Wayne County Coordinating Zoning Committee, within ten (10) days of the adoption of this Resolution by this Board.

IV. That the Township Planning Commission shall consist of seven (7) members appointed by the Supervisor with the approval of the Township Board. The members shall be qualified electors and property owners of the Township and shall consist of one member of the Township Board and the others shall be representative of the major interests as they exist in the Township, such as agriculture, recreation, education, public health, government, commerce, transportation and industry. The terms of the members shall be for three (3) years except that of the members first appointed two shall serve for one year, two shall serve for two years and three shall serve for three years. Successors shall be appointed not later than one month after the term of the preceding Commission member has expired. All vacancies for unexpired terms shall be filled for the remainder of the term. Members may be removed by the Township Supervisor with the approval of the Township Board after a hearing.

V. The Planning Commission shall have such powers, duties obligations and functions as are provided in Act 188 of the Public Acts of 1959.

VI. Hereafter all plans submitted to the Township Board shall be submitted to the Township Planning Commission for approval and report.

VII. The creation of the Planning Commission and the transfer of functions shall become effective upon the approval of the electors of the Township at the referendum provided herein.

YEAS Stein, Dingeldey, Schultz, Flodin.
NAYS None.

I, JOHN FLODIN, CLERK OF THE TOWNSHIP OF CANTON, do hereby certify that the foregoing is a true copy of a Resolution adopted by the Canton Township Board at its regular meeting held on May 10, 1960, and is the whole of the said resolution.

If happy music, clever choreography, and catchy dialogue is what you're hungering for in a musical comedy, Rodgers' and Hammerstein's "Flower Drum Song" rates number one on the Detroit menu for the coming three weeks. The Riviera Theater's Grand River and Joy will house this attraction until Thursday, June 2. Take momma and the family out for chop suey and round off the evening with a musical show that's bound to please.

It's true that Pat Suzuki became practically synonymous with the role of Linda Low, but Elaine Dunn, her replacement, (Pat has a date with the stork), digs into the part with professional zeal and makes you forget Pat. The evening has slipped too far away. Elaine can belt a song out with the best of them. And her dancing is high perfect.

Jack Soo handles the comedy part with an enviable ease. His repartee sparkles and keeps the customers guffawing every time he appears on stage. His patter is on a "Don't Marry Me" stop. And the production number of "Sunday" with some clever dance steps made me want to see the entire show a second time. Juanita Hall and the "Chop Suey" number created similar toe-tapping situations.

"Flower Drum Song" has an excellent musical score. The orchestra, however, could make the songs sound even better if they would lower the volume. In fact, a gigantic muffler to quiet the noisy group would be a welcome relief. Too often the orchestra at most musical comedies play too loudly. Seems to be a battle between the performers and the men blowing their brains out in the pit... let's hear the violins—I know they're there, I saw them!

Recently, I had an occasion to visit Wyandotte's production of "Finian's Rainbow." Their 24-piece orchestra played pianissimo (softly) and the audience was eternally grateful. Redford Women's League production of "New Spaces of 1960" had the same pleasant relationship between the performers and the musical players. One final group that I recall, the pit men at the Broadway Theater for the big production of "Gypsy" ... had the balance worked out properly.

When a show such as "Flower Drum" comes to the Riviera, they have to hire local musicians ... with the exception of a few "first chair" men that sometimes travel with the show. Our local men must want to prove that they can play long and loud. Let's hope they settle their differences so that Elaine Dunn and company can stop straining their tonsils. After all, fellas, we pay to see the people on stage do some high-class cavoring. It's your turn—next season!

"Flower Drum Song" moves so quickly via waltzes that break in two or vanish right in front of your eyes that before you know it ... the closing hour of eleven has arrived. Old George believes that this R and H hit of two seasons on Broadway has more laugh lines than many of their former smasheroos. Check the family budget and make plans for that chow mein special at Chin's, 9413 Grand River.

It's only a short two block walk from Chin's to the Riviera Theater. If you arrive early enough for dinner, you can usually find a parking place right on Grand River Ave.

Jimmy Stewart of Hollywood fame flies into our fair city of Detroit on this coming Friday. Michigan is becoming a second home for Jimmy. He was here a couple of years ago to film "Anatomy of a Murder." This time he's here to plug a new picture opening on May 25 at the Palms Theater. "The Mountain Road" is the title of the new picture. You might remember the best-selling book version of Theodore White.

"The Mountain Road" is a thundering story of action during World War II. Jimmy plays an Army major who tries to stem the Japanese advance in Eastern China. Jim's demolition squad provides many a thrilling moment in this exciting movie coming to the Palms Theater next week.

The P and A Theater had a British picture—"Sapphire," in for three days last week. Wish I would have known about this picture coming to Plymouth. "Sapphire" has been a big hit in New York City for months. Some of the local drive-in movies are playing the film. Go to see this film ... It's a hard-hitting, suspenseful murder mystery. You'll never guess who did dear Sapphire in. The acting alone is worth seeing even if you don't enjoy mystery movies with a British accent.

What's been happening on TV? Well, they've been featuring many, many programs based on the life and sayings of Mark Twain. American Heritage, CBS Presents, Playhouse 90, and a host of other network shows have been giving our man of letters, Mr. Twain, a great deal of exposure on the tube. Let's hope that the "Twain" isn't too much for all the viewers.

Better gather all the stage props together and put them into the prop closet for another week. By the looks of the sunny weather ... it's time for old George to get out the lawnmower, roller, and grass seed. This weekend looks like a good time to shake on some new seed, rattle that lawnmower, and do some fancy rake and roll jumping on my front 40 ... feet, that is ... friends ...

Plymouth High School

By Gloria Bowles

"Dear Diary," this year's synchronized swimming show, presented jointly by the girls' Water Waves and boys' Dolphin Club will debut tomorrow evening, Thursday, May 18, in the high school pool.

The show is up for a three-night run. Featured in the production will be the "star of the show" blond Mavis Williams, a senior who came out on top in competition for the coveted solo.

Other features: freshman Linda Wall will narrate, announced Waves after tryouts for that position last week ... among numbers are shopping, malt shop ... a mixed number ... PJ party, a South American number, ho-bo ... a cute comedy number ... graduation ... emotions ...

Water Waves officers who are supervising the production are president Marilyn Holst, vice-president Susan Hulsing, secretary-treasurer Fran Smith. Miss Anne Hossie is Waves sponsor. Mr. John McFall, faculty advisor in charge of the Dolphin Club.

A letter from Berlin! That's what Plymouth High new mayor, Jerry Fischer, got last week from his new "family" in Germany. He is going to Europe this summer as an exchange student, and the correspondence was from his "brother."

Next Tuesday's "Pilgrim Prints" is the "swan song" for senior editors of that publication. They include four year journalism veteran Sharon Neal, who is currently news chief, as first page editor; Sandra Bailey, who's worked on "Prints" for three years and is in charge of page three is also bowing out, as is girl sports editor Judy Herrick, a "Prints" staffer for four years.

Speaking of journalism ... new members of Quill and Scroll, who were initiated into that honorary society yesterday (Tuesday) were annual staffers Roxanne Smith, Mavis Williams and Sharon Roberts and newspaper men and women Sharon Bennett, Lester Bartson, Kathy White, Marty Bernash, Alice Olenford, Susan Hulsing and Peggy Davidson.

There was no school last Friday, and instead of the usual TGIF everybody was yelling TGIT ... Au Revoir! Auf Wiedersehen! That's what Plymouth's three exchange students—French Herve Moritz, German Ursula Kell, and Dutch Anneke Thasing will be saying to the high school soon, as they graduate with seniors on June 16. They are leaving for Europe ... by ship ... in early July. And I think one can safely assume that all three will miss America ... and its people ...

Seniors, with mixed emotions—fed-up with high school mickey mouse but at the same time a bit nostalgic at leaving—are looking to a host of activities this spring. On June 7 is the senior banquet ... Baccalaureate is scheduled for June 12, and, as mentioned, Commencement Exercises will be June 16 ...

... And then out into the hard, cruel world!!

PLANT OF THE WEEK

ANDROMEDA (PIERIS JAPONICA)

Andromeda is one of the few broad-leaf evergreens that is really hardy in Michigan. Does very well on acid to neutral soils with practically no protection. Lustrous bronze leaves in early Spring turning to a deep green. The white flowers hang in clusters reminding one of a lily of valley flower. A very valuable plant in a partial to fully shaded location.

Rebekahs held their annual Mother and Daughter Banquet on May 4 at their hall. About 90 mothers and daughters sat down to a dinner of turkey, dressing and the trimmings. Kitchen chairman was Louise Graner and the dinner was served by men of the order. Decorations were in pink and green with arrangements by Dorothy Fulton.

The program was arranged by Thelma Zanders. Irene Broegman delivered the invocation and the toast to the mothers was made by Susan Lacy. A response to the daughters came from Hazel Norgrove.

A solo was offered by Dorothy Meadows, accompanied by Thelma Zanders. The community singing was accompanied by Mildred Collins. The program was a TV quiz with Dorothy Meadows serving as mistress of ceremonies.

Prizes were given for the eldest mother, Dora Wagenschutz. The youngest mother was Dorothy Fulton; the youngest daughter, Susan Robertson; the mother with the most daughters, Ruth Lacy; and the mother and daughter from the longest distance, Marguerite McKenna.

ALMOST everything has CHANGED

... but a free press is still the indispensable safeguard of all our freedoms!

Shown here: front page of one of the leading revolutionary newspapers, reporting the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Despite its austere appearance, it had aggressive politics.

No headlines — no pictures, yet this newspaper packed a wallop as it relentlessly urged our forefathers to fight for liberty.

We've come a long way since then. Now the miracle of electronic communication brings us the news as it happens; photography, modern typography and art reproduction graphically illustrate and punctuate ideas.

But no matter how the world changes, our American heritage can only be upheld through a free press.

Through the printed page the citizens can examine the issues in their community, go over them point by point among themselves and make their wishes known at the polls.
