Police, Fire Departments Being Integrated

Celebration Opens Here Tomorrow

Plymouth's traditional Independence Day observance promises to be a large-scale affair this year with five full days of events planned, starting with the opening of a carnival this Thursday.

The annual observance aimed at keeping people safely at home during the long holiday weekend, will give citizens plenty to do, especially the children.

This Saturday and next Monday are the two big days. There will be the usual Miss Plymouth competition, a carnival, a Minstrel Show, the popular parade and many other events designed for the family.

The Down River Shows will open at 6 p.m. this Thursday and will remain here through July 4th. Opening Friday will be the Merchant & Industry Tent. Both of these are at the celebration's new location, on Mill St., across from the Junior High.

Saturday is "Governor's Day" with Gov. Williams again invited to take part in the observance. A dinner will be given at the Hotel Mayflower starting at 5 p.m. to which the public is invited (for details, see special page).

At 8 p.m. Saturday, 15 contestants in the Miss Plymouth competition will reach the final judging at the Junior High. For an admission price of 50 cents, the public can see the Miss Plymouth crowning and stay for the Minstrel Show sponsored by the Theatre Guild. This will be followed by a dance.

The Merchant & Industry tent and carnival will be open from 1 to 11 p.m. Sunday.

Monday, of course, is Independence Day and the big event that will draw thousands of spectators is the parade. The parade will form on Union St. and will move south on Main from Dodge at 1 p.m. It will go south to Hartsough and east to the Junior High.

At 2:30 there will be kiddie games and awards at the baseball diamond sponsored by the Recreation Dept. Also at 2:30 will be a horsemanship contest. Fireworks will end the day at 10 p.m. at the carnival grounds.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the Independence Day celebration for the second year in a row. John Tripp is general chairman.

Chamber's 'Going Places' Contest Ends Monday Night

July 4th will be D-Day (Decision Day) for thousands of people who are anxiously awaiting the selection of winners of a dozen trips to far-away places being given by the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

The "Going Places With Plymouth" promotion will reach its end Monday night when the winners are named.

Being given away are trips for two to Hawaii and Jamaica, two trips for two to New York City and to Buffalo.

Tickets will be sold until the time of the selection Monday night on the carnival grounds along Mill St. The Chamber of Commerce will have a booth in the Merchant & Industry tent from which tickets can be secured.

The selection will be around 9 p.m. Monday. First prize in the contest is a trip for two to Hawaii where the winners will stay at a luxurious ocean-front hotel.

Second prize is a trip for two to the Caribbean island of Jamaica, fast becoming a leading vacation spot in the world.

A New York City theater trip will go to two couples as third and fourth prizes. They will spend a weekend in the big city and attend some of the popular Broadway productions while staying at a Manhattan hotel.

Headed for Buffalo on a Great Lakes cruise ship will be winners of the fifth and sixth prizes. The weekend cruise on one of the famous remaining cruise ships must be taken this summer. Winners of the other prizes can take the trips at their leisure.

The winners can even sell their prizes if they like. Money, however, will not be given away in lieu of the trips.

THEY'RE OFF! No, this isn't Northville Downs. These horses are the more gentle kind that will be carrying thousands of little folks starting this Thursday. A carnival being erected on Mill St. will be part of the Independence celebration sponsored by the Jaycees. The horses are lined up this way on a truck and are being readied for their job of chasing each other on the merry-go-round every day from Thursday through Monday.

Most High School Alterations Being Delayed Until Next Year

Construction of a multi-purpose room is scheduled to start soon at Starkweather Elementary School but only a limited amount of work will take place at the Senior High School because it will be too late to get the job completed this summer.

Plans have been abandoned by the Board of Education to get the new outside central stair enclosure built this summer, it was decided at a recent meeting of the Board. By the time money is available from the recently-voted Building and Site Sinking Fund, it will be too late to get the stair enclosure completed in time for school re-opening.

Bids will be taken, however, for some of the smaller projects inside the building, all of them in compliance with requests of the State Fire Marshal's office.

Two major building projects are already underway at Bird and Smith Elementary Schools. Additions are being built at both schools that were started in the Spring. Both are "on schedule" and should be completed around the time schools re-open.

Included in this same contract is the multi-purpose room at Starkweather and some renovation inside the building. This project was delayed until results of the June 13 election were known. There would not have been enough funds available to start the project now if the new Building and Site Sinking Fund had not been approved.

Even though the Sinking Fund has now been approved, the Board cannot start to borrow money from the anticipated revenues until 30 days after the election. A request has been made with the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission to borrow $200,000. No trouble is expected in having the request approved, but the 30-day waiting period must be observed.

The Starkweather work will not be completed in time for the re-opening of schools in September, but it is hoped to have the job ended sometime in the Fall.

Bids had been taken this month on the Senior High work. All bids were rejected because it was felt that it was impossible to get the work done this summer. The central stairway was to be torn out and used for classroom space and an entirely new enclosed stairway to be built onto the front of the building. It would have been almost impossible to conduct school while this job was being done.

The Board expects to take bids on this and several other projects in February and have the material on the site for start of construction when school is dismissed next June.

Meanwhile, bids are being asked for several other Senior High projects that will be completed before September. These include:

Enclosure of the central stairway in the Annex; enclosure of the southeast stairway in the main building; build a fire escape from the roof of the corridor that connects the main building to the gym; enclose the central stairway on the second and third floors; install and relocate science classroom tables; relight and acoustically treat the band room.

"Enclosing" of the stairways means that doors will be placed at the stairways on each floor to eliminate the "chimney" effect in case of fire. The stairway enclosures are being demanded by the Fire Marshal.

Stern lectures were given by Judge Perlongo, Safety Director Kenneth Fisher and City Manager Albert Glassford. The five were then turned over to their parents with the promise that the youths would work for the money that will be needed to repaint the portion of the water tower that was marred.

DPW boss Joseph Bida and his crew had just repainted the bottom half of the tank the week before to cover high-altitude smearings done during past months.

While the boys were aloft during the night, a neighbor saw them and called police. City Manager Albert Glassford said that painting not only mars the towers, but it has always been feared that some youths may fall or "freeze" atop the tower. Some of the climbers have even been known to ascend to the very top and take the red light airplane warning lights.

The towers are painted about every five years and it costs about $2,500 to paint one.

There are still many markings on the tower in the center of the city. It even bears the initials of "NHS" artists, placed there last fall previous to a football game with Northville High School.

Groups Push Con-Con In Final Days

A drive to secure signatures on "Con Con" petitions is being pushed in Plymouth as the deadline for getting the petitions filed nears.

The deadline for filing the nearly 300,000 signatures in Lansing is July 8. The "Con Con" amendment, if approved in November, would place the question of calling a constitutional convention on the April 1961 ballot. The issue at that time would be decided by a majority of those voting on the question, rather than a majority of all those voting at the election.

Plymouth Jaycees will have a booth at the Merchant & Industry tent starting Friday. Every political subdivision must have a separate petition. The tent is being erected for Plymouth's Independence Day celebration.

The Secretary of State's office on Liberty St. also has petitions. Mrs. Doris Root, manager, said this week.

There are also petitions being circulated by those supporting Citizens for Michigan.

All registered voters can sign the petitions. Should the amendment pass in November, delegates to the convention would be selected on a basis of one for each set in the legislature. Presently, delegates would represent only state senatorial districts.

Horse Contest Follows Parade

Dozens of riding horses will participate in the July 4th parade and then enter in horsemanship contests next Monday.

Some 75 horses were in the parade last year and an equal number is anticipated again this year.

Following the parade (at approximately 2:30 p.m.) there will be 10 riding events for junior and senior horsemen on the Junior High grounds. The public is invited to attend this. There is no charge. Calvin Thomas is chairman.

Deppen Named City Manager

John Deppen, administrative assistant to the city manager of Plymouth since December 1958, will leave July 15 to become manager of the city of Vassar, Mich.

Mayor Ron Earls of Vassar announced last week that Deppen had been appointed by the city council from 1954 when he received his B.A. degree. He received a masters degree in public administration this month. He and his family live at 696 Adams St.

Vassar is located east of Saginaw.

All Eventually Will Be Public Safety Officers

Integration of the City of Plymouth's fire and police departments is now taking place—meaning that policemen will soon be fighting fires and firemen will be doing some police work.

The program, aimed at obtaining more efficiency from the two departments, was started last week when policemen were given some preliminary instruction in the operation of fire-fighting equipment.

Actually, the leadership of the two departments has been integrated since last year. Kenneth Fisher, who was originally just the chief of police, was also named fire chief a year ago and his double duties provide him with the title of director of public safety.

When the firemen and policemen are adequately trained in each other's jobs, they will assume the title of "public safety officers," rather than just policemen or firemen.

Integration of the two departments is nothing new in some other communities. Oak Park was one of the first to try it and they claim success.

Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher pointed out this week that policemen have been doing some fire-fighting for a number of years. Extinguishers are carried in the patrol cars and a large share of the car fires are put out by patrolmen because they are able to arrive on the scene before firemen.

Fisher said that by providing some better equipment in patrol cars, it may be possible to eliminate many general alarms which bring out costly equipment.

Since Plymouth has a volunteer fire department, the police work performed by firemen will be more restricted than the fire-fighting performed by policemen.

There are four regular firemen (one vacancy at this time) and two on duty at one time. These two must remain at the fire station at all times and could not be used in patrol cars.

Five youths caught as they were atop a City water tower doing some paint work have received a stern warning and will be required to pay the cost of re-painting.

The five, two of them 17 years old and three of them 16, were all from the Plymouth area. They had climbed the tower in the south end of the city on Monday night, June 20 to paint their class year.

Police and City officials, long fearing that someone was going to get killed while climbing the tower, had the boys and their parents appear before Judge Nanding Perlongo this Monday morning.

Stern lectures were given by Judge Perlongo, Safety Director Kenneth Fisher and City Manager Albert Glassford. The five were then turned over to their parents with the promise that the youths would work for the money that will be needed to repaint the portion of the water tower that was marred.

DPW boss Joseph Bida and his crew had just repainted the bottom half of the tank the week before to cover high-altitude smearings done during past months.

Plymouth is one of the largest cities in the state to still have a volunteer fire department, City Manager Albert Glassford declared. He foresees the day when the department will be composed of all regulars.

Volunteer firemen have been called upon to do some police work in the past to handle crowds at football games and other special events.

Beyer Opens New Store On Main St.

Beyer Rexall Drugs, in business in Plymouth for 53 years, opened another gleaming new store Monday morning.

This one is at Main and Mill St., near the eastern entrance of the City.

To be called Beyer Rexall Drug Store No. 1, the new store measures 40 by 80 feet. It includes a soda fountain that will offer lunches, a first-aid station and a 28-car paved parking lot.

The store modern inside has a colonial exterior. The store will have the packaged liquor department that was formerly in the Liberty St. store.

The store on Liberty St. will remain open and will offer almost all the services as in the past, according to owner Robert Beyer, except for prescriptions and liquor. Formal opening of the new store will take place at a later date.

The first Beyer Drug Store on Liberty St. was opened in 1907 by Otto Beyer, father of the present owner. There are other stores on Forest Ave. and Ann Arbor Rd.

The Mail Goes To Press Day Later Next Week

Because next Monday will be a holiday, The Mail will be published on Thursday instead of Wednesday next week.

The deadline for both classified advertising and the submitting of news items will be 5 p.m. Tuesday.

The paper will go to press sometime Wednesday night and will be received in the mail Thursday.

Isbister to Head '60 Fund Campaign

School Supt. Russell Isbister has accepted the appointment as general chairman of Plymouth's 1960 Community Fund Campaign. It was announced this week by the Community Fund Board of Directors.

The Board also announced that there will be a departure from past policy by initiating a residential campaign this year. The campaign will open in October.

Hugh Griffin, chairman of the Community Fund Board, declared that "the Board is very pleased with the acceptance of Supt. Isbister to undertake this job so important to the community."

At the same time, Supt. Isbister expressed his gratitude and added that he had been pledged support from many people who will help him in the campaign. The chairmen of the various sub-committees will be announced at a later date.

Griffin said that if Plymouth excites to continue its independent drive successfully, it must conduct a well-organized campaign. For this reason, much of the planning is starting well in advance of the campaign.

In previous years there has been no household solicitation, except through the mail. The Board has decided to conduct a direct residential solicitation this year, such as that used by the United Foundation in other parts of Wayne County. Plymouth is the only community in the metropolitan area that conducts its own drive.

The Board has been reviewing the requests and budgets of Community Fund agencies for the coming year and some of the requests have been increased. Last year the Community Fund met its goal of over $34,000.

Forms Partnership

Ralph Aldenderfer, 8887 Rucker, has joined in partnership with Stewart Oldford Realty Estate firm.

Aldenderfer was formerly with Vaughan B. Smith Real Estate as an associate broker.

The partners declared that they will be sales outlet for new homes built by Stewart Oldford & Son, Builders, as well as for used homes.

HEADING PLYMOUTH'S Community Fund drive this year will be Supt. of Schools Russell Isbister, left, who is shown receiving some of the names of prospective workers from Hugh Griffin, president of the Community Fund Board of Directors. The campaign will open in the Fall.

Reception Follows Rites Uniting Kay-Petrucelli

A reception at Knights of Columbus Hall on Schoolcraft followed the June 25 wedding ceremonies of Jean A. Kay to Richard M. Petrucelli at St. Michael's Church.

The bride, of 16850 Joy Road, Livonia, chose a white floor length lace gown with chapel train and veil trimmed in lace for the ceremony. She carried a bouquet of white orchids with white roses.

The mother of the bride wore a lavender brocade dress with orchid accessories, while the groom's mother wore a lavender print dress with orchid and white accessories. The second mother of the groom was dressed in a grey silk organza with pink accessories.

Maid of honor Susan Rubini and bridesmaids Pat Page, Joan Tanner, Delores Tanner, Shirley Lowery, Maureen Petrucelli and Marcia Petrucelli wore pale blue lace dresses with matching heels and hats. They carried pink carnations.

Best man was Leonard Petrucelli and ushers were Alan Petrucelli, Howard Hollister, Wayne Dunn, Jack Thibault, Paul Bush and Fred Jackson.

Following a three-week honeymoon in Miami Beach, the couple will make their home in Livonia.

It's News To Me!

By KARLA HERBOLD

It's summer again (although with this changeable weather, I can't be certain) and everybody is back from the regular sessions of school. That means—besides the fact that you now have thousands of children running in and out of your home—that summer sessions in colleges will be starting up again. Most of these offer regular college credit, but the fun is well worth it, even if you're not interested in working for a degree. Eastern Michigan has several workshops scheduled, both on and off campus. Among the courses offered are Modern Housing, Arts and Crafts, Biology and—(this might be interesting)—Parent Education.

Agnes Pauline, Dunning-Hough librarian, reminded me the other day that the Wayne County library will again be granting special vacation privileges to anyone wishing to borrow books for the whole summer. Both adults and children may borrow books (excluding those on reserve) until fall. This is especially handy for vacationers at cottages.

All the interesting incidents that happened during the recent census will be providing anecdotes for another 10 years. Our dormitory at Northwestern didn't provide anything unusual, but 300 fairly irresponsible coeds do provide headaches for the director. The poor woman had to chase down about 25 forgetful people. One girl in particular wanted to keep her report to see if she was given the "maximum federal penalty," but we persuaded her to give up the idea.

Here's an excerpt from a fifth grader's essay on a class trip to Lansing: "We got to Lansing and walked to the capitol and toured it. Then we walked eight blocks to a newspaper office and a lady took us threw it." (the misspelling is not mine). The fifth grade class of Miss Verlie Crawford at Allen School spent June 7 in Lansing and from the reports everyone had an interesting time. As one girl wrote: "(1.) The thing I liked the most was the capitol. 2.) The thing I learned was that we couldn't go into the dome."

What's in a name? From a recent article in the magazine of the DAR, it seems a great deal is. Among the names from the genealogical section are Wealthy Ann Bissell, Thankfull Chapin, Queen Minerva Rude, Truhart Ticker, Golden Fields and Pleasant Dukes (a possible nickname for Ingemar Johanson.)

Have an enjoyable Independence Day.

MRS. CECILE GORDON, of 707 Maple St., Plymouth, is shown as she poses for the cameraman aboard the Greek Line's luxury flagship, "T.S.S. Olympia," just before sailing from New York harbor bound for a holiday vacation tour of the sunny European shores, for the next two months.

The engagement of Shirley Jean Brandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Brandt of Brunswick, Missouri, to Loren Trapp of Sheldon Road in Plymouth has been announced. Loren is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Trapp. Miss Brandt teaches in Red Bud, Illinois and Loren will enter Concordia Seminary in St. Louis this fall. No definite date has been set for the wedding.

HOLDING THE Poppy Poster that won for her both city and district honors is Ruth Sheldon, daughter of the Duane Sheldons of 1409 Sheridan. Ruth was awarded her first prize in District 17 of the American Legion at ceremonies held Thursday, June 23, at the Veterans' Memorial Building. Both prizes were $5. An art student of Mr. Elden Zang at Bird School, Ruth will enter the Junior High in the fall. She plans on being a teacher of the handicapped.

Wedding Rites For Higley, Bruveris

The First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth was the scene of the wedding of Anne Higley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Higley, Jr. of Northville and Ojars Bruveris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kristian Bruveris of Kalamazoo. Dr. Henry J. Walsh officiated at the 3 p.m. service on Saturday, June 25.

Given away by her father, Anne wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta, decorated with seed pearls and Venice lace. The gown had a chapel train, with a princess waist and 3/4-length sleeves. Her hat was of Venice lace with fingertip veil and she carried a bouquet of white and pink roses with white stephanotis.

Barbara Reid, maid of honor and Bonnie Bergman, bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of green chiffon over taffeta. They carried baskets of pink daisies.

Serving as best man was Ivars Staltmanis of Livonia. The second attendant was Udis Riestins of New York. The ushers were Andrejs Gallis and Gerts Austrins, both of Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Higley chose a dress of beige silk over taffeta with matching accessories. Her corsage was of yellow roses. The groom's mother wore a light blue taffeta with white accessories and carried a corsage of white roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for over 100 guests from Michigan, Indiana, Wisconsin and New York state. For her going-away outfit, the new Mrs. Bruveris chose a white cotton sheath with blue silk jacket and cummerbund. The couple toured Chicago.

Both young people graduated from Western Michigan University. The groom is a member of Rusticana fraternity. Mr. and Mrs. Bruveris will live in Anderson, Ind.

Surprise Party

On Sunday afternoon, June 26, from 2 to 6 p.m., 70 friends and relatives attended a surprise open house honoring Margaret Dunning on her birthday. The guests came from Hillsdale, Ann Arbor, Detroit, Birmingham, Trenton, Wayne, Livonia, Northville, Pleasant Ridge and Plymouth. The hostess, Irene Walldorf, was assisted at the reception table by Mrs. Ruth Garlett, Mrs. Ann Nichol, Mrs. Evelyn Smith, Mrs. Vaughn Smith, Mrs. Fred Karte, Jr., Miss Louise Spence, Mrs. James Ruffi and Mrs. Cameron Walldorf. The occasion was held at 994 Penniman Ave.

Honor Roll Student

Miss Sharon Anne Fisher, daughter of Mr. Blake W. Fisher, 675 Burroughs Ave., Plymouth, has won recognition for superior scholarship at Olivet Nazarene College in Kankakee, Ill. by being placed on the second semester honor roll. The announcement was made by Dr. W. E. Siewbarger, dean of the college.

The honor roll consists of the names of those students with a grade average of B or above.

CUTTING HER 90th birthday cake is Mrs. Jenny Smith of 641 Wing in Plymouth. Mrs. Smith, who was born in New York State in 1870, celebrated with a party Sunday, June 26. A birthday cake, decorated to resemble a large book was the featured refreshment. One-hundred and twenty-five guests attended the party, many of them from out of town. Mrs. Smith has 3 daughters, 12 grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. Quilting is her favorite hobby — she has made quilts for the daughters, grandchildren and is now working on quilts for the fourth generation.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Editor: The results of the June 3 school election for the Plymouth Community School District have prompted me to express my views publicly on several aspects of this election.

1. The size of the vote (2,332) was the largest in the history of our district—450 votes and 24 percent higher than the previous record vote in March 1959—despite the inclement weather throughout the day. I believe this is a tribute to the efforts of many interested citizens who worked diligently to get the citizenry out to vote on the issues of importance to our schools.

2. The 61 percent vote in favor of the pay-as-you-go plan of financing our school facilities program represents a marked advance over the last vote for facilities—the 2.5 mill building and site fund—which passed by only two votes in a total of 632 votes cast in October 1957. I believe this resulted from the combined efforts of an extensive campaign by the citizens' committee headed by Robert K. Barbour and Donald Marsten to inform the public, the excellent coverage given to the issues by the Plymouth Mail, and the opportunity for public discussion offered by the Town Meeting Assn. All of these groups have earned a vote of appreciation from the Plymouth Community.

3. It was very gratifying to me personally to know that 1,721 voters, nearly of those voting, put their confidence and trust in this humble person. It was apparent to me by the calls of congratulations from many different groups since the election that the efforts to divide voters into blocs with special interests did not succeed. I greatly appreciated the support given by many who rose above such pressures to vote their own minds.

Finally, I would like to take this opportunity to thank publicly all who worked earnestly and in behalf of my candidacy in this election. I hope the results were as rewarding to all of you as they were to me.

Sincerely,
Gerald J. Fischer

THERE ISN'T quite room for all of the girls—what happens to the luggage? Girls of Scout Troop 248 and their leaders, Mrs. Fred Tanner on the left and Mrs. Thomas Adams on the right, are bound for a ten-day stay in Washington, D.C. From l to r, first row, Judy Adams, Beth Wideman and Mary Lisa Frank. In the back row are Kathy Voss and Lois Harper. Girls who were absent from the packing session (but not the trip) include Barbara Niemi, Ann Tillotson and Karen Rudlaff.

Scout Camping Trip Is 'Capitol' Tour

A camping trip that combines life in the outdoors with a tour of the nation's capital is in store for the girls of Senior Girl Scout Troop 248. Eight Scouts and their leaders are spending 10 days on the eastern trip.

Judy Adams, Mary Lisa Frank, Lois Harper, Barbara Niemi, Kathy Voss, Beth Wideman, Ann Tillotson and Karen Rudlaff are the eight girls who have been busy earning money and packing for the trip. Accompanying the group will be Mrs. Thomas Adams, Mrs. Fred Tanner and Miss Alice White.

The girls will be camping for three nights along the way. Their permanent camp headquarters will be at the National Girl Scout Camp in Rockwood, Md.

State Representative Martha Griffiths, of the 17th District of Michigan, will host the girls at her office, preceding their tour of buildings and monuments in the area. Mrs. Griffiths has made arrangements for the troop and leaders to attend several national organizational meetings.

A visit to Mount Vernon and Annapolis is also included in the girls' schedule. On the trip home, they will camp at Wheeling, W. Va.

All the troop members are sophomores in high school. The girls themselves, with the help of the mothers, earned the entire expenses.

Plymouth Playgrounds Busy With Youngster's Activities

The Plymouth playgrounds opened this week, June 21, under the supervision of John Howe. Activities were held at each of the playgrounds regardless of the weather.

• Gallimore playground opened from 1 to 5 p.m. There were 140 young people registered under the direction of Mr. Robert Anderson. Mr. Anderson will conduct a Special Nature Study session.

• At the Junior High playground, Mr. Brown planned for softball teams and games for both boys and girls. Mr. Birk at Allen playground has 120 young people registered. Fifty-five were in attendance at the watermelon party Friday.

• Winners of the games were Gene Laycock, Foxhust and Benabag; Nancy Bostedor, Zelball; John Ellison, bowling; Ricky Van Landinbown, checkers and Don Stamper, box hockey. A pet show will be held Wednesday and a marshmallow roast on Friday. Hours at Allen Playground are from 9:30 to 3:30. Hough and Truesdell playgrounds have Miss Betty Carless as leader. Truesdell is open from 9 to 12:30 and Hough opens from 1 to 4:30. Arts and crafts have been the major work of the group. Among the articles made were baskets, change purses, napkin holders, and key caddies. Koolade parties are another favorite activity.

• A sprinkler party is planned this week at Hough playground and both playgrounds are getting ready for the 4th of July parade.

• Auburn playground has Miss Francis Smith as leader. The hours of the playground are from 9:30 to 11:30 and from 1 to 5. Registering children from the surrounding areas featured a parade to encourage new members. Koolade parties were held on hot afternoons. Games and playground equipment make possible a wide variety of fun for the children. On Friday, a peanut hunt was held.

• Mrs. Catlett is leader of the Hamilton Playground. Hours are from 9:30 to 11:30 and from 1 to 5 p.m. Since the opening, the youngsters have held a Koolade party and an animal show. The winners in the animal show were Skipper, best trained (owner Norman Freeman); second best trained was Sheba (owner Jim Beachem); Bingo won the first best groomed award (owner Bill Tobey); second best groomed award was won by Timmy (owner Marlene Richter).

• First cutest pet was Tinker (owner Debbie Marshall); second cutest was a pet owned by Debbie Marshall. Fritz, a German Shepherd owned by the Ketchersides was given a prize for being the biggest. The smallest animal was Tippy, a small tadpole. The most colorful pet was Snooks, a parakeet, owned by Barbara Blanton. The last award was given to the Young boy for owning the friendliest pet, a small grey kitten named Peter.

• Lake Pointe and Farland playgrounds are under the supervision of Mr. Grimenko. Hours at Lake Pointe are 9:30 to 11:30 and at Farland 1 to 5 p.m. Friday morning the first Koolade party was held. Several swimming games and running dashes were held.

• The Recreation Department will have games for all age boys and girls at the Junior High after the 4th of July parade. Some of the activities will include shoe scramble, bean race, three-legged race, 25 yard race, 50 yard race and the 75 yard race.

TAKING CARE of his yard and flowers will be one of the ways Roswell "Mike" Tangier expects to keep busy after his retirement after 41 years with the Plymouth Post Office.

Mike Tangier Retires After 41 Years With Plymouth Post Office

Plymouth's first full-time parcel post carrier, who actually did carry the packages, has retired from the Post Office after 41 years of service.

Roswell "Mike" Tangier was honored by his fellow employees last Thursday night at a banquet in the Grange Hall. Among the mementoes of the evening is a letter and a certificate of recognition signed by Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield.

When Mike began with the Plymouth Post Office on May 21, 1919, there were only two full-time letter carriers. Mike was hired as a full-time parcel post carrier. And carry that he did, since there wasn't anything to carry packages in but one's arms.

But Mike helped his own situation by using a little red wagon, and when there was snow he used a sled. Finally came the day when he bought a bicycle and was allowed $5 a month for its use and operation.

But full mechanization took over later when a Model-T Ford was purchased by the Post Office.

Forest Gorton and Ezra Routner were the full-time letter carriers at this time and Howard Brown was postmaster. The Post Office was located in the west end of the present Blunk store. Later it moved to what is now the Penman Ave. entrance of National Bank of Detroit and then the store room now occupied by Sandy's Drugs. In 1935 the present building was erected.

In January 1928 Mike became a letter-carrier when a new city route was established. He delivered mail until 1937 when he became a clerk, a job he has held ever since.

Now 60 years old, Mike is retiring because of arthritis. But he plans to keep busy in his well-kept garden and lawn and to do traveling when possible.

The retiree also expects to keep busy with his lodge work. He is a past master of the Plymouth Rock Lodge of Masons, past high priest of the Union Chapter at Northville, past commander of the Northville Commandery and he is also an Eastern Star, Shriner and a 32nd degree Mason.

Thursday night's dinner saw Ezra Routner as toastmaster and Postmaster George Timpona made the presentation of the certificate from the postmaster general. Given to Mike from his fellow employees was a set of matched luggage and a letter of recognition, signed by each worker. There were 60 employees and their wives present.

What was the most outstanding event of his 41 years of service? Well, every postman can recall the dog bites and the usual battle with weather.

But Mike claimed a bridge during the course of his work. In 1942 when World War II brought about a shortage of workers, much part-time help was employed. One of the summer and weekend employees was Miss Nancy Holiday, a Central grade school teacher. Mike got acquainted—and his fellow employees claim they helped.

The acquaintance ended in marriage. Today, Mrs. Nancy Tangier is now well known as the principal of Bird School.

Obituaries

DUTY BOUND
BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI)—Junior Fire Captain Jeremiah Sullivan learned there are times it is harder to sit at headquarters than to be at the scene of a fire. Don't Help Burglary Business

Burglary is a big business and vacation time is its peak season. If more householders were aware of this and took steps to "burglar-proof" their homes, the burglary rate could be sharply reduced.

The annual crime reports issued by Mr. J. Edgar Hoover's Federal Bureau of Investigation show that the annual property loss due to burglary, which has been on the increase for a number of years, passed the $100,000,000 mark in 1957. The figure climbed to another new record in 1958 and remained at that record breaking level in 1959.

Will there be another new record in 1960? That depends on whether you, the householder, take steps to prevent it. These steps are particularly important if you are planning to be away on an extended vacation or a long weekend.

A research study indicates that the burglar's principal ally, surprisingly enough, is the person he victimizes. If it were not for errors of omission and commission and mistakes in judgment made by property owners, the burglary rate would be much lower.

The suggestions make it possible for property owners to "burglar-proof" their homes and cut down on the fantastic haul made by burglars in recent years.

Mistakes That Help Burglars
 These are the principal errors people make which allow burglars to break records each year:

1. Leaving a home with exterior doors or windows unlocked or inadequately locked.
2. Failure to equip ALL exterior doors with secure pin tumbler cylinder locks.
3. Failure to stop delivery of mail, milk, and newspapers by letter or telephone call when you are going on vacation. Accumulated milk bottles, piled up newspapers, and a stuffed mail box show the burglar that a house is unoccupied. Leaving a note for the milk man or newspaper boy will stop delivery, but it can also inform a burglar that you will be away from home. The circulation department of your newspaper will be happy to arrange to have the paper follow you on vacation.
4. Leaving a note for prospective guests in the mailbox saying, "key is under doormat" — make yourself at home. Burglars will stop delivery, but it can also inform a burglar that you will be away from home. The circulation department of your newspaper will be happy to arrange to have the paper follow you on vacation.
5. Notifying the local newspaper editor about your vacation before you leave rather than after you return. Thieves are quick to take advantage of such accommodating news items.

How To Foil Burglars
 Here are some things you can do to make things difficult for housebreakers:

1. Keep at least two interior lights on when you leave the house for an evening. An unlit house shows the burglar that no one is home. Darkness also helps conceal his activities.
2. Leave shades up when vacating the house and notify neighbors and police that you are taking a trip. Ask neighbors to pick up all mail and circulars that may be placed at your front door so that your house has a "lived in" look.
3. Never notify the society editor of your local newspaper that you are planning to leave on a trip. Inform the editor about your vacation after you have returned; it is still news — and safer for you.

4. Arrange to have a bedroom telephone extension installed so that you can summon help immediately if you hear night-time prowlers or in case of any other emergency. Help is never further away than your nearest telephone extension.

5. Make certain that basement and second story windows are just as securely locked as those on the first floor. A new source of frustration to the burglar is a key-operated window lock which provides additional security against breaking and entering through windows. This device also makes it possible to lock windows in a partially open position thereby permitting ventilation without sacrificing security.

6. Call police to check on all strange solicitors not carrying proper credentials. Many thieves pose as salesmen or repairmen while casing an area for future lucrative jobs. Never allow a salesman or repairman without satisfactory credentials to enter your home.

7. Keep ladders locked up in the garage, or if they must be kept outside, fasten them securely to a wall.

8. When talking to strange callers at your door, stand in front of the locking mechanism. A favorite trick of burglars is to engage a prospect in conversation while flicking the push buttons below the bolt of a mortise lock. The burglar, who intends to return later, hopes that the householder will not notice that the door has been unlocked. If the door is still unlocked at night or when the house is unoccupied, he can walk right in.

9. Most important of all, make certain that cylinder locks are on all exterior doors. The pin-tumbler cylinder lock is still, with later improvement to the side of the house or garage with a length of chain and a pin-tumbler, the most secure key-operated locking device ever developed. Don't depend on cheaply made, inferior locks to protect your home.

10. An economical method of protecting your exterior doors from intruders is to install auxiliary nightlatches with a deadlocking mechanism. For utmost security, a good deadlock is available at very reasonable cost. On glass doors, double cylinder locks should be installed.

An excellent means of increasing the lock security of an exterior door is to install an auxiliary night latch with guard chain. This lock is designed especially for people who want door chain safety without the inconvenience of having to get up in the middle of the night to let other family members in. The chain may be engaged to the lock in a way which permits it to be thrown off from the outside by the operation of the correct key.

With this unique latch, it is possible for one member of a family to come home when the other members are sleeping and disengage the chain with the lock's own key so that another member of the family does not have to be disturbed in order to remove the chain manually. The last one home can then, by merely reversing the position of the chain's pin, attach it so that removal from the lock case is possible only from the inside.

11. Normally residential exterior doors should be hung with the hinges on the inside. If for any reason it is necessary for hinges to be on the outside of the exterior door, make certain that the hinges are of a type specially constructed so that the pins cannot be removed by a burglar.

With the possibility in mind that you might slip up on one or more of the above rules, it is wise to keep a record of the serial numbers and descriptions of all your valuables. In many cases police can track down a burglar if this is done, as pawnshops and second-hand dealers are required by law to file sales reports with the police.

A source of protection for your possessions while traveling is the travelok. This portable, pocket-sized lock, designed to lock closets, bureau drawers and other storage places, insures the traveler of excellent security against sneak thieves.

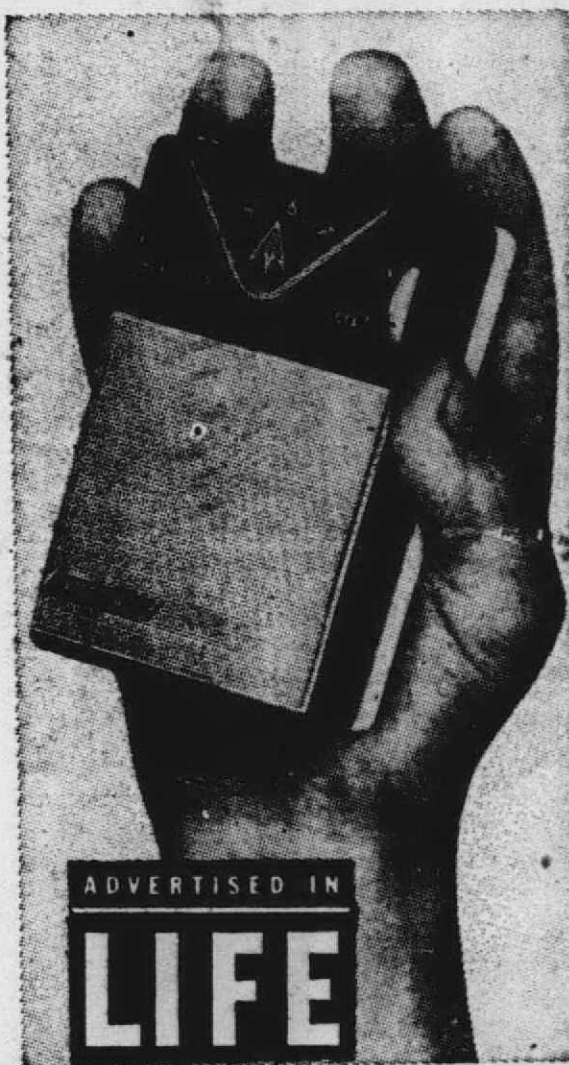

Of course, the best way to prevent loss from burglary is NOT to keep valuables in your home, but instead to store them in a safe deposit box in your bank. The burglars count on homeowners ignoring this sound rule.

Nevertheless, if you remember that most burglaries are made easy by the homeowner's own carelessness or failure to use his common sense, you can do a lot to assist your police department in burglary prevention. The astounding $100,000,000 a year burglary rate will only decrease in direct proportion to the vigilance and "preventive lock security" maintained by the householders themselves.

Score Points Jr. Golfers

The Plymouth Junior Golfers Assn. finished their second round of golf and lessons at Monday's meeting. Thirty-nine members participated. Three-point winners were Buck Zornow, Ron Becker, Bill Risch, Joe Light, Bob Beck, Doug Breed, Don Burleson, Jeff Scott, Sandy Pentecost, Barbara Bender and Jane Vallier.

Winning two points was Gerry Scott. Kathy Zornow and Joan Reas won 1 1/2 points. Winning one point was Phil Bender. The walkers included Mrs. Fisher, Light, Scott, Schnegg, Hulce, Eder, Becker and Barbour.

A round of good scores helped lower the handicaps of many youngsters. New entrants in the Association were Nadine Criger, Sue Larson, James Hallock and Eddie Riess.

OFF TO EUROPE are six Livonia students with their chaperones and fellow-pupils from Plymouth and Garden City. Boarding a jet at New York's Idlewild Airport June 19 were, top to bottom, Mike Samonek, Jim Zembay, Bob Hecht, Shirley Wendt, Bonnie McCullough, Mary Charlton, Gale Bedwell, Connie Ritzler, Miss Elizabeth Petersen and Mr. and Mrs. John Boeve.

Auxiliary For Little League

Little League has come to Plymouth for the boys. Little League has come to Plymouth for the fathers and other interested men. And now Little League has arrived for the "moms." Mother has been nursing bruises, washing uniforms and handling many other motherly duties. Now they've organized!

In a recent meeting of mothers of Little League ball players, the Ladies Auxiliary of the Plymouth Little League was organized. At the first organizational meeting, Mrs. H. C. Burleson of Ross St., was elected president, Mrs. A. Carlson of Hartsough St. vice-president and Mrs. William Condon of Ann Arbor Rd., secretary-treasurer. Since there are two district leagues, The American and National, there are also two League Chairmen, Mrs. Alexis Skoglund of Carol St., for the National League and Mrs. Richard Stribley, Carol St., for the American League. Each team in each league has a team chairman.

For the National League, the Dodgers, Mrs. Glen Gagen, Fairground St.; the Giants, Mrs. Margaret Holmes of Ross St.; the Braves, Mrs. Norm Lyttle of Beech St.; and the Pirates, Mrs. John Ennis of Shadywood Drive.

And for The American League, the Tigers, Mrs. John Giles, of Adams St.; the Indians, Mrs. Gordon Robinson of Irvin; the Yankees, Mrs. A. Carlson and the White Sox, Mrs. D. J. Bader, of Governor Bradford Rd.

Publicity for the Ladies Auxiliary is handled by Mrs. Richard Stribley. The above-named ladies and all the other mothers of Little Leaguers comprise The Ladies Auxiliary, whose responsibility is the refreshment stand at all games, as well as liaison between the home, the team and the managers.

On July 7, Thursday, at 8 p.m. in the Township Fire Hall on Ann Arbor Rd., there will be an important meeting of all mothers of Little Leaguers. Every mother should be there and be ready to express her opinion on her son's hitting ability, base running and throwing.

Jehovah's Witnesses To Attend Detroit Assembly

The Plymouth Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses have been invited to attend a four-day Christian assembly in Detroit, July 28-31, it was announced last night.

C. Carson Counce, president of the Plymouth congregation, in discussing preliminary plans for the local group to attend, stated that approximately 75 delegates from the local congregation will attend the Detroit convention.

The conference, one of 11 "Peace Pursuing" District Assemblies being held throughout the United States this summer, is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, Brooklyn, N.Y. The Detroit meeting is expected to bring more than 10,000 ministers and their families from the north central states to Briggs Stadium where all sessions will be held. The majority will come from Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, New York, Illinois and Wisconsin.

Counce in discussing the announcement with the congregation pointed to the timeliness of this four-day Christian gathering. "The purpose of the conference is to further the pursuit of peace with mankind's Creator at a time when materialism and godlessness are sweeping the earth," he stated. The program will be devoted to Bible talks, discussions and practical demonstrations designed to aid the Witnesses in their ministerial work.

Counce further reported that the highlight of the four-day program will be a public discourse on Sunday afternoon, "Security During War of the Great Day of God the Almighty," by F. W. Franz, vice-president of the Watchtower Society. Grant Suiter, another member of the Board of Directors from the Brooklyn headquarters, will serve as convention chairman. Other speakers will include visiting missionaries and overseers in the organization. All sessions are open to the public free of charge.

Signal Hill, Calif., levies taxes only on oil wells in the community. No taxes on residences, buildings, etc.

County Wheat Allotment Set By Committee

A county wheat acreage allotment of 7,384 acres for 1961 was announced today by Donald Korte, chairman of the Wayne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. The allotment announced today is Wayne County's share of the national wheat allotment of 55 million acres.

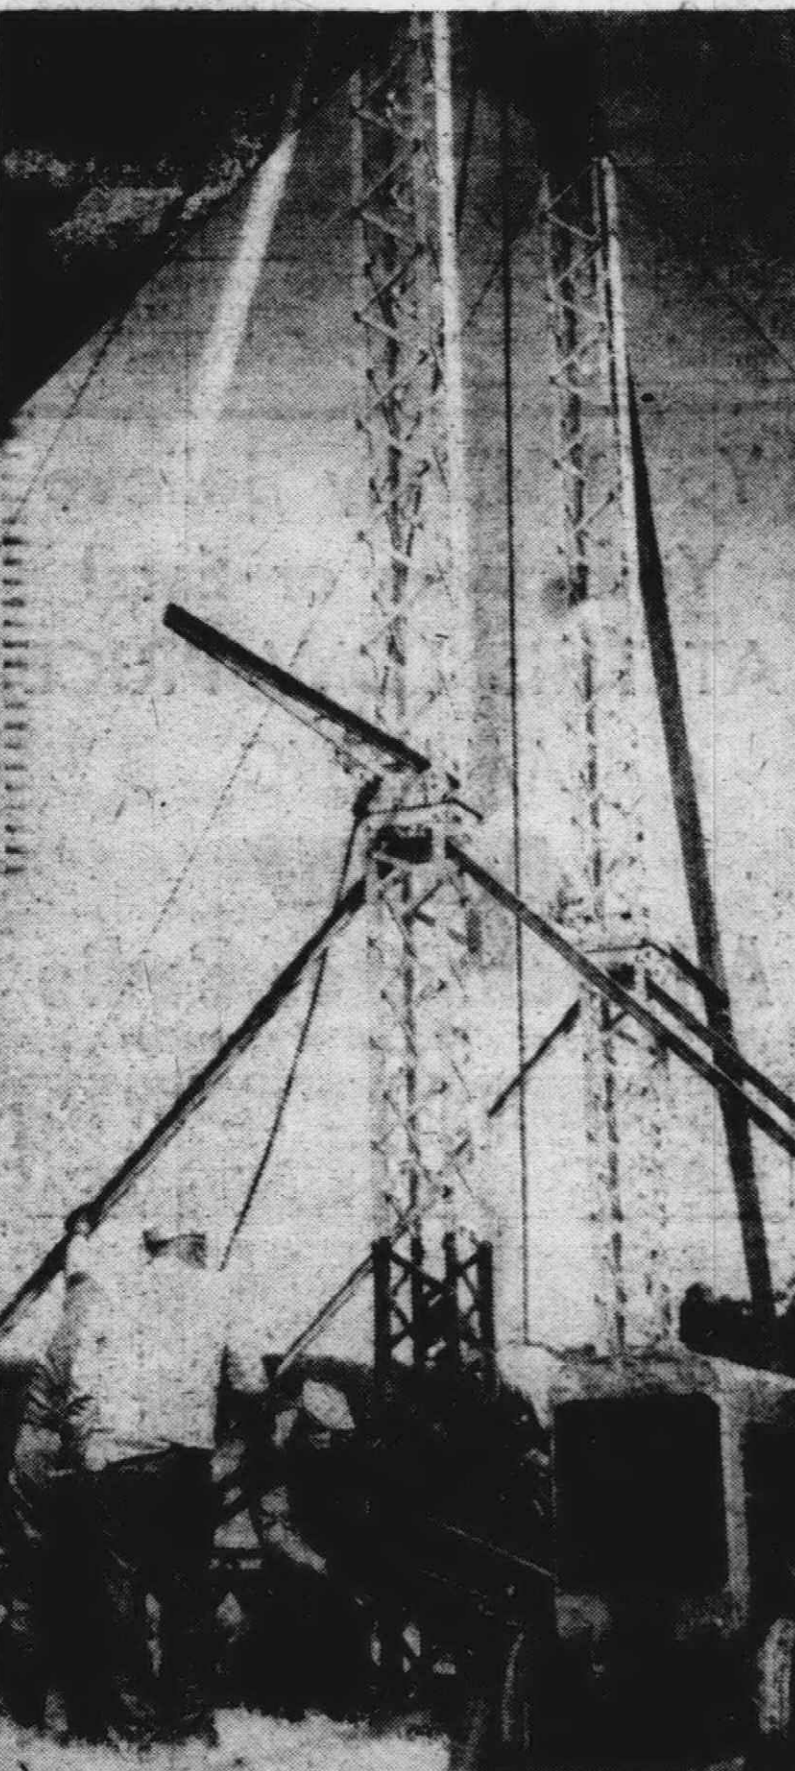

The county allotment will be apportioned to wheat producing farms in the county by the ASC committee. The work of assigning allotments to individual farms will be completed early in July. Each farmer will be mailed an official notice of his wheat allotment before the wheat marketing quota referendum to be held on Thursday, July 21.

In the wheat marketing quota referendum at least two-thirds of the growers voting must approve quotas if they are to be in effect. If quotas are approved, all farmers in the commercial wheat states with more than 15 acres of wheat who exceed their acreage allotments will be subject to marketing quota penalties on their excess wheat. Wheat growers who comply with their allotments will be eligible for price support at the full level available. Growers who comply with the "feed wheat" program are exempted from the quota program.

If marketing quotas are not approved for the 1961 wheat crop, penalties will not be in effect, but acreage allotments will remain in effect as a condition of eligibility for price support. Growers who comply with their wheat allotments will be eligible for price support at 50 percent of parity. Voting places for the referendum will be announced later.

IT TAKES A lot of work to set up a carnival and these four men have been at it since last week in Plymouth. The Down River Shows opens here Thursday at 6 p.m. for a five-day engagement in connection with the Independence celebration.

The City Manager's Corner

By Al Glassford

Ever since news of the U-2 "spy flight" over Russia appeared in the newspapers, there has been growing apprehension about defense and our military strength. While we all hope and pray that war will not break out, the danger is ever present. This should cause us to reflect upon our own preparedness to meet the disaster that may come, if hostilities were to ever break out again.

Most of us can remember the Battle of Britain; the London Blitz and the heroic response of the people of Great Britain to these attacks. They were able, through grim determination, to develop a civil defense organization quickly, thereby reducing the effects of these attacks. However, we can also remember the horror and destruction caused later in World War II when the deadly V-2 rockets were launched against London. This occurred after Britain had an effective and operating civil defense organization for about five years. The V-2 rocket was difficult to defend against, because it was very fast, it traveled at extreme altitudes and it traveled in a very narrow arc, entering the target area almost straight down.

Little imagination is needed to indicate how much more deadly the present rocket missiles are. They travel even faster than the V-2 rockets, even greater altitudes are reached and they are far more accurate. Perhaps more important than these developments, the new rockets have nuclear capabilities. In short, we should think quite seriously about civil defense and how we can protect ourselves in the event of another full scale war.

In order to help meet this possible danger, the City has established a formal civil defense organization among the regular municipal employees. This organization is supplemented by volunteer firemen, the Plymouth Nurses' Ass'n., and auxiliary workers for police, fire and the Department of Public Works. This organization, however, is not enough! Additional workers are needed. In particular, we need people who can be radiological detection monitors. That is, we need persons to use the instruments which record or indicate the amount of radioactivity that may be present in our area.

Another phase of our civil defense preparations which must be developed is the selection and establishment of shelters throughout the city. The best type of shelter is an underground shelter with at least three feet of earth overhead. There are probably no such shelters available in our city, but we have some buildings and structures which can provide adequate protection in the event of a nuclear attack. In order to locate these areas, we propose to make a shelter survey. We will, however, need some expert guidance and full citizen support if our efforts are to be successful.

Civil defense is our own responsibility. Let's get behind it and prepare ourselves for the worst, while we continue to work and pray for lasting peace.

Jaycees Ready Big Celebration in Plymouth

Independence Day Parade Rolls at 1 Monday

Plymouth's annual Independence Day celebration promises to be "bigger and better" than ever this year with a host of events being offered over a five-day period that will include a carnival, a Merchant & Industry display, parade, fireworks, the crowning of Miss Plymouth and a minstrel show. The entire series of holiday events is being planned by the Plymouth Jaycees.

The Down River Shows will open its rides and midway attractions at 6 p.m. this Thursday. Most of the activity this year will be at a new location on Mill St., north of Ann Arbor Rd.

The carnival will be open each day through July 4th. Opening Friday will be a free Merchant & Industry display in which over 30 local businesses will display their products.

Saturday will also be busy with a "Governor's Day" dinner at the Hotel Mayflower and an evening program at the Junior High, also on Mill St., across from the carnival grounds. The evening show will feature the crowning of Miss Plymouth of 1960, a minstrel show presented by the Theatre Guild and a dance.

But probably the biggest attraction of the long holiday weekend will be a parade down Main St. starting at 1 p.m. Monday. Nearly 50 units have been scheduled for the parade. They will form at Union and Dodge Sts. (behind City Hall) at noon.

Entering Main St. at Dodge, the parade will move south on Main to Hartsough. It will turn east on Hartsough and move to the Junior High baseball diamond where it will disband.

Floater will be parked near the carnival grounds and awards will be announced at 2:30 p.m.

Parade chairmen Terry West and Calvin Thomas said that an added parade attraction will be in the air when a flight of private planes from Mettetal Airport fly over the parade route.

There will also be some jets from Selfridge Field flying over the city at 11 a.m.

Around 20 floats have been entered in the parade, representing merchants, industry, churches and organizations.

There will also be a host of horses and antique cars.

Four musical groups will participate. They are the High School Band, a German Band and the Rhythm Kings.

Nine cars furnished by car dealers will carry the Miss Plymouth contestants and public officials of the City and Township down Main St.

There will also be marching groups from the playgrounds, Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, K of C members and the V.F.W. men's and women's drill teams. The women's drill team recently took first place in state competition.

Judges for the parade will be furnished by the Kiwanis club and their viewing stand will be near Kellogg Park. Awards will be given first, second and third place winners for organization floats. Other awards will be given and judged by the Recreation Department for the playground groups, decorated bicycles and costumes.

Display Tent Opens Friday

A tent measuring 60 by 120 feet will go up this week on the carnival grounds along Mill St. as the Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce prepares to open its big Independence Day celebration. The tent will house the Merchant and Industrial display in which some 30 booths will be set up. Many of them will offer prizes.

The Woodman Accident & Life Co. will give away an Evans Interceptor 300 bike made in Plymouth, manager Fabe Mirto announced. Plymouth Lumber will give ceiling tile for an entire room; a basket of food will be offered by the House of Quality Foods, and six trips for two are being given by the Chamber of Commerce.

There is no admission charge to tour the display tent.

Miss Plymouth Crowning, Minstrel Show Slated for Saturday Night

Miss Plymouth of 1960 will be selected this Saturday night (July 2) during an evening program that will also feature a Minstrel Show and a dance, all at the Junior High School.

Fifteen young ladies are competing in the annual Miss Plymouth contest this year with the Miss Plymouth winner receiving a round-trip for two on the Aquarama and a three-piece set of Sampsonite luggage from the Jaycees and a necklace donated by Beitner Jewelry.

Saturday night's program will begin at 8 o'clock in the Junior High gym. There will be an admission price of 25 cents that will entitle spectators to see the Miss Plymouth crowning, the Minstrel Show and remain for the dance for which a band will play.

Three judges will be brought into town for the contest. They will judge on poise, character and beauty.

Last year's Miss Plymouth, Miss Roxanne Smith, will place the crown on the new queen. She will also be presented with a bouquet of roses by Bartel's.

The second place winner will receive a summer handbag from Graham's and a $10 gift certificate for services at Joyce's House of Curl. Third place will receive a handbag; fourth, a gift certificate for records from Melody House; and fifth, a jewelry set from Dunning's.

Corsages for the court will be presented by Heide's Greenhouse and all contestants will receive a string of pearls from Bluford Jewelers and a portrait picture taken by Hal Horten who does special developing for the Photographic Center.

Hair styles on the contestants will be done by the five following beauty shops: Joyce's House of Curl (Joyce Crimmins, chairman of the contest), Midge's Beauty Salon, Ellen's Hair Shoppe, Beaumont Beauty Shop and Esther Anthony's Beauty Salon.

Preliminary judging will be held Saturday afternoon. The judges will meet with the contestants and interview each privately in hotel rooms given for the day by Ralph Lorenz, Mayflower manager. Judges for the contest will be the owner of a school of cosmetology in Ann Arbor, an American Airlines staff member and the top model of the Patricia Stevens Modeling School.

Ten special acts of singing, dancing and instrumentals will snap to the tried and true traditional entertainment medium "The Minstrel Show." at 8:30 p.m. Fast-paced and light will be the tempo of the show, providing amply represented by members of the Plymouth Community Chorus, will also do other numbers and sing a few old favorites with the audience.

The show is being produced by the Plymouth Theatre Guild for the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Co-producers for the Guild, Rosemary Kooiman and Dorothy Smith tentatively outlined their program as follows:

Chorus — "Darktown Strutters Ball"

Tap Line — "Birth of the Blues"

Accordion Solo — Larry Ashmun

Solo — Jody Edgar

Hawaiian Dance — Connie Stannitz

Chorus — "In the Evening by the Moonlight" and "Moonlight Bay"

Chorus — Maude Laury and children

Solo — Bill Edgar

Tap — Mrs. Enid Stannitz and Linda

Chorus — "Toot, Toot Tootsie"

End men for the show are Jim Blackman, Bill Moore, Ralph Lefler, Dave Osmun, Al Murdock and Bob Luchetti with Dick Knopf acting as the interlocutor. Experienced minstrel, Ed Reid, is directing.

OFF THEY GO into the wild blue yonder is a spaceship with two little girls who this week were trying out one of the kiddie rides for the carnival that has arrived in Plymouth for the Independence celebration. Games, Free Bike All Part of Weekend Events for Kiddies Special events for kiddies will take place on the Junior High grounds at 2:30 p.m. Monday. Sponsored by the Recreation Dept., the events will have prizes for the winners.

Also of interest to children under 12 is the bicycle to be given away Saturday afternoon. The stubs of all tickets sold to rides up until 5 p.m. Saturday will be used to select the winner.

At 5 p.m. the winner will be selected and one must be present to win. All rides, except the bumper cars, will cost 10 cents Saturday.

New 50-Star Flags on Sale

The Junior Chamber of Commerce, sponsors of the Independence Day program here, will have a booth selling 50-star American flags and petitions for "Con Con" at the Merchant & Industry display this weekend.

After July 4 the 50-star flag becomes legal. The Jaycees will be selling 3 by 5 flags and kit for $4.40 and just the flag alone for $3.50.

The local Jaycees are also participating in the statewide Jaycee effort to obtain 300,000 signatures on petitions to get the constitutional convention on the ballot.

Boundaries Are First Problem Faced by Reorganized School Board

Next Tuesday night will be the annual re-organization meeting of the Plymouth Community School District's Board of Education and one of the first problems facing the Board as the new year begins will be the relocating of boundaries between several schools.

Law requires that the Board be re-organized the first Monday of July, but since it falls on a holiday this year, the special meeting will be Tuesday night. At this meeting the seven-member Board will elect its officers. It will also be the first meeting for a newly-elected member, Gerald Fischer, who replaces Charles Zoet.

The Board will take under consideration the problem of relocating the boundaries between several schools and shifting pupils of certain grades. On June 20 a public meeting was held at which some 25 parents of the affected pupils appeared.

The city that is being detached from Allen School and added to Starkweather has caused some concern among parents. The area is bounded on the south by Ann Arbor Trail, on the west by Main St. and on the north and east by the railroad. The parents fear for the safety of their children who must now cross Main St. and the railroad to reach Starkweather. When going to Allen they were taken by bus.

There was also some parental concern about the shift of students among three Canton Township schools, Hough, Truesdell and Cherry Hill. It is proposed to have first and second grade classrooms in Hough and Cherry Hill and

WHEN A BARBER gets so interested in his work that he paints his car like a barber pole, that's one thing. But when someone sneaks up and pastes the name of a rival barber shop on the car, that's something else. Carson Counce of Sheridan Ave., operator of Carson's Barber Shop, found his little Isetta parked up on his sidewalk one night last week with a sign of a rival shop, "Duke's Clip Joint" on its side. Counce, who used to work for Duke's, blamed the cut-up on some playful neighborhood youths who picked the back of the car up like a wheelbarrow to put it on the sidewalk.

State Hospital Ambulance Fund Gets Boost from Here

Thanks to the efforts of the Plymouth Birthday Ladies and one of its members, the Northville State Hospital has come closer to realizing its ambitions of having an ambulance to transport its patients. In a recent ceremony at the hospital, Medical Superintendent Philip Brown accepted a check for $1,000 from Mrs. Minnie Powell, a member of the Birthday Ladies. Mrs. Powell, widow of Matt Powell, gave the money toward a fund that will eventually buy a badly-needed ambulance.

ACCEPTING A CHECK for $1,000 from Mrs. Minnie Powell of Plymouth is Dr. Philip Brown, medical superintendent of Northville State Hospital. At left is Mrs.

Chester Teasel, chairman of the Plymouth Birthday Ladies and at right is Mrs. Clarence Schuler, secretary-treasurer.

The gift by one of the Birthday Ladies' members is just one of many benefits that have been reaped by the hospital since the Plymouth Birthday Ladies was formed.

Created eight years ago as the new state hospital opened, the Birthday Ladies devote their entire efforts toward making the lives of 100 patients in the hospital's N-Building more enjoyable.

N-Building, occupied by women, has been under the wing of the Birthday Ladies for the past six years. During this time the group has provided the building with a piano, bookcases, record players and other gifts.

But the big "lift" for the patients, is the monthly visit every fourth Tuesday. Patients having birthdays during the month are recognized in particular.

A planning meeting is held previous to each hospital trip at which details of the approaching visit are worked out. It is decided what decorations are used and who would provide what food and buy the gifts. Sometimes picnics are held outside with the Birthday Ladies providing food over what the hospital allows.

The big event of the year, of course, is the Christmas party, to which relatives of patients are also invited.

There are 22 active members of the Birthday Ladies. Several have been in the organization since it was formed. Most of the money needed for the projects comes out of the pockets of the members. Occasionally they have a fund-raising project.

Active members of the group are Helen Teasel, Mae Schuler, Eva McAllister, June Farrant, Ruth Burton, Mary Wilson, Lynette Griffiths, Audrey Borregard, Vivian Champion, Hildergarde Bruder, Marion McLaren, Isabelle Schroeter, Ivah Pint, Agnes Rollins, Zaida Burrows, Ann Penhale, Bertha Thiele, Mable Luther and Minnie Powell.

There are also some "inactive" members who help furnish food and material.

The $1,000 check from Mrs. Powell was a "shot in the arm" for the ambulance fund. A gift shop has been opened in the hospital by the Auxiliary with proceeds being used for the ambulance.

An ambulance would be used to transport patients between buildings and between state hospitals. An old stationwagon has been used and an old ambulance of questionable endurance is now available. It is estimated that a good used ambulance would cost up to $7,000.

Busy Week For Salemites

By Mrs. Herbert Famuliner
Doug. Peevey of Eight Mile Rd. has been appointed as Prosecuting Attorney for McClelland County, in the mythical 51st state, formed at the 23rd Wolverine Boys' State, a government education program underway at Michigan State. Over 1,000 boys considered the cream of high schoolers are participating in the eight-day "learn by doing" course in city, county and state government. The boys learn under the leadership of skilled political science instructors, electing city, county and state officers; learn to draft bills, enact them, then enforce and administer the laws after they are passed.

Miss Sue Race of the South Lyon High School left last week for Europe with the Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program. Sue has just finished the eleventh grade and will be in Germany for two months, staying with elementary teacher, Franz Beitsch and his family of Fulda. Sue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Blair Race.

The 4-H Go-Getters Club held their June meeting at the Salem Town Hall. Members answered roll call by saying where they would like to spend their vacation. The club has been given permission to use the Town Hall on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Demonstrations were given by Martha Lutchka and Jane Tourtelotte. The group broke up into small groups to work with leaders on the projects.

Refreshments were served, furnished by Karen Moore and Rebecca Stevenson. The Salem Hobby Club met last Monday for a chop-suey dinner at the Famuliner home. Fourteen members and two guests were present. A lesson on making picture plates was given by Mrs. Edward LaVoie of Farmington. The first meeting in the fall will be a progressive dinner. Mr. and Mrs. William Edmunds and sons have been vacationing in Iowa. Charley Raymor celebrated his birthday on Saturday. His family were all on hand for a party on Saturday night. The Herrst family of Ann Arbor, the Rohraffs, Chuck Raymor and family of Dexter, Don Raymor and family of Wayne and Joe and Alice Raymor were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Thorpe of Plymouth, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Harold of Leamington, Ontario, were Saturday night guests at the Famuliner's.

Mrs. Louis Sweetman spent a few days last week in Flint, visiting her brother and father. The Rohraff family and the McKinley family enjoyed swimming Sunday at Whitmore Lake.

The Harlow Ingalls and Lawrence Ingall attended the Ingall family reunion at Medina Center Sunday. The Salem Republican Club is inviting everyone to the Salem Town Hall on July 8 at 8 p.m. to meet their county candidates. Mrs. Alter and children and Laura Famuliner spent Monday at Kensington Park. Mrs. Ned Hardesty was guest of honor at a pink and blue shower on Sunday, held at the home of Mrs. Glenn Hardesty on Seven Mile Rd. Twenty guests were present. Games were played and a delicious lunch was served of chicken a la king, potato chips, relishes, Jello and cake. Mrs. Dean Hardesty assisted with the shower. Mr. and Mrs. John Nagay and children were Sunday dinner guests at the Famuliner home.

Lucky Ticket Wins Radio For McNulty

By ESTHER SPRENGEL
GL 3-0194

Home from the hospital after a bout with pneumonia is Matt Carter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Carter of Beck Rd. We understand Matt is on the road to recovery.

Mrs. James Spigarelli and daughter Nancy of Beck Rd. have gone to Kansas to visit with Mrs. Spigarelli's mother.

Mrs. Ruth A. Thompson of Beck Rd. reports the birth of a new granddaughter, Terlene, weighing 7 lbs., 12 ozs. Terlene is the daughter of Navy airman Thomas R. Thompson and Mrs. Thompson of Jacksonville, Fla. The young lady was born Sunday, June 12. As for Mrs. Ruth Thompson, she reports it is back to college, Eastern Michigan, for a refresher course pertaining to her career as a teacher.

Cheryl Bordine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bordine of Saltz Rd. was the hostess at a hayride given for friends. The event took place at the Bordine home on Saltz Rd. The guest list included Kerry Bordine, Carol Albertson, Duane Bordine, Barbara Haas, Bob Helm, Lucille Latner, Kevin Huntington, Karen Caroen, Michael Caroen, Donna Hoffman, Richard Helm and Ronnie Helm. Following the hayride, the group enjoyed a wiener roast. A good time was reported by all. Chaperoning the group were Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bordine and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Helm.

Saturday evening, June 25, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bordine were hosts to a family get-together. The guest of honor was Mrs. Melissa Lynn, Mrs. Bordine's aunt, from Florida. A cook-out was planned, followed by the showing of slides taken by the Bordine family on their trip to Florida last year.

The Canton Community Club's Strawberry Festival was reported a success by Mrs. Ruth Wiles, secretary to the group. The winner of the RCA radio was Karl McNulty, son of former residents Mr. and Mrs. Philip McNulty. McNulty and his family reside at 47874 Cherry Hill Rd. Thomas Wiles, Boy Scout of Troop 298, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wiles, was the ticket salesman of the lucky ticket. It was estimated that approximately 379 persons were served. The proceeds will be used by the boys of Scout Troop 298 toward their camping fund.

Credits Cows With Originating Eight-Hour Day

ELKHORN, Wis. (UPI) — The eight-hour day is a part of American life today. But who originated it?

Samuel Gompers, the labor pioneer? Or would you give credit to John L. Lewis, George Meany or Walter Reuther?

According to Will A. Foster, it was none of these men. Instead he picks the common dairy cow for the honor.

Foster, a retired dairy company executive and a native of Elkhorn, has studied milking herds for 35 years. He is recognized as an authority on the subject of bovines.

A cow, Foster says, grazes four hours a day and takes 40 to 70 nibbles per minute. (That, incidentally, averages out to 3,300 nibbles per hour; 13,200 nibbles per nibbling day; and 92,400 nibbles per week.)

Bossy spends the next four hours placidly chewing her cud. This she does while stationary — standing or lying down. It's not loafing, though. Her jaws and stomachs are working full time.

Then it's milking time, followed by sleep and then the eight hour cycle begins all over again.

Seek Bandsmen For July 4th

Dust off your horn, clean up your sight-reading glasses and join the band.

That was the invitation this week from Senior High Band Director James Griffith who is attempting to assemble a band for the Independence Day parade. Many of the band regulars are not available for the holiday so anyone who is now or ever has played in a band is invited to join.

Practice will be at 10 a.m. this Saturday (July 2) in the band room. For the parade, boys (or men) will be in khaki pants and white shirts while girls will wear Bermuda shorts and white shirts. Adults, college students and members of the Junior and Senior High Bands are invited to join the band.

There were 24 women lawyers among the total of 916 registered in the Dominican Republic in a 1950 census.

Plymouth JA Enjoys Most Profitable Year

Plymouth's eight small Junior Achievement companies which liquidated last month enjoyed a profitable year operating in the American free enterprise system and the profits gained by the teen age businessmen and women weren't measured in dollars and cents alone.

Some 115 high school juniors and seniors from Plymouth now have a greater understanding of what our competitive economic system is all about and this, according to JA officials, both locally and nationally, is the real net profit gained through Junior Achievement's unique 'learn by doing' process of economic education.

The total impact which eight JA enterprises have made on the community is quite impressive considering the fact that JA had opened the door to the real meaning of free enterprise for most of these youngsters for the very first time.

Since they began operations last October, the Plymouth junior business firms have sold $3,999.72 worth of products to the general public.

Materials alone cost these small companies some $1,049.03.

In all, the local diminutive corporations have produced 2,348 units ranging in size from small key holders to larger items such as children's novelty lamps and stools.

It is interesting to note that 648 local stockholders invested 50 cents for each share of JA company stock bought — with a limit of five shares per person.

Wages, sales commissions and bonuses amounted to $1,014.23 and $153.22 were paid in "taxes" which went to the Achievers Assn. of Southeastern Michigan, JA's teenage chamber of commerce.

Similar JA companies will re-open operations again this fall at the JA business center located at 187 South Main St.

Nationally and internationally, nearly 4,000 Junior Achievement companies in 40 states (including Hawaii) and Canada and Finland sold approximately two million dollars worth of products to the public.

Antioch Graduate

Foster Brown, Jr., Plymouth High School class of 1955, has been recently graduated from Antioch College in Yellow Springs, Ohio. In ceremonies held Saturday, June 18, he received his BA degree in Business Administration. While at Antioch, Foster participated in the co-op program, working in Chicago, Detroit and New York. His studies also included a stay at the Antioch Center in Guanajuata, Mexico. He will attend Southern Illinois University in Carbondale, studying for his MS degree in Education.

'Governor's Day' Set for Saturday

Governor Williams has been invited to spend July 2 with Plymouth instead of his regular July 4 visit.

Since this year will be the last of 12 years of service to the state, Saturday, July 2 will be observed as Governor's Day.

In the event the governor is unable to attend, he will be represented by Lt. Governor John B. Swainson.

The dinner is open to the public on Saturday, July 2, at 5 p.m., Mayflower Hotel. Because only 90 persons may be accommodated, those wishing to attend should reserve space beforehand by calling GL 3-2280.

Trapper Claims Record

CARRIZO SPRINGS, Tex. (UPI) — Government trapper Clarence Turner has come forth with his own claim to a new world record. Turner says he has killed 1,747 coyotes in the last eight months. The old record, he says, was 1,201 coyotes killed by Trapper Luke Stillwell in 1951.

German Exchange Student Says "Auf Wiedersehen" To America

By URSULA KELL

My last big trip in the United States is over now and I begin to make myself ready for the journey back home. This trip, although short, was one of the most exciting ones I ever had. I finally saw New York City which I had always dreamed of to see. New York, the city of everybody, of all races and languages, of dirty, poor houses and of tremendous new skyscrapers. I surely was not disappointed. The plane left Saturday morning, it was the first time I ever flew. I had heard things before about little paper bags (just in case) "coffee, tea or milk," "fasten your seat-belt, please," and also about that plane to Los Angeles that never had made it. With things like that in my mind I entered the plane.

How lucky I was to get a seat at the window! The motor started running and part of the wings got to flip up and down. Somebody got all excited and said: "Heavens, the wings are broken!" But the smiling stewardess calmed him down. The machine started rolling and we moved into the air. Everything went fine and I had a beautiful view of the country below until we moved real high, and then was nothing left but the blue sky and way down the clouds. After 2 1/2 hours we landed in Newark and the lady I stayed with picked me up. She lived in Livingston, N. J. which is about 40 miles from New York City. But we took a right off for New York in order not to waste any time. Since the weather was real nice we planned on doing first the outdoor things.

We took a boat to the Statue of Liberty and climbed many, many narrow steps until we finally landed in the head of her. The view we had was worth all the trouble though and you saw New York in a distance like on a postcard in glittering sunshine and you forgot about the dirty streets and poor houses you had just seen before. When we came down again, we saw a small group of French-speaking people from Haiti, dressed in beautiful bright colors and turbans, having their annual celebration. Their flag said: liberte, egalite, fraternite. They felt real proud, spoke of the French Revolution and everybody took their picture.

We drove back through China-town of which I was a little disappointed. I expected a real oriental atmosphere, but there were just a few Chinese shops and restaurants and it didn't look much different at all. We went to Trinity Church, which is real old and beautiful and just by accident we saw a Chinese wedding. I was quite fascinated by the beautiful dresses they had in an oriental style. The churchyard with the old grave of Robert Fulton seems to belong to a different time. The churches, although big as St. Patrick's Church for example, somehow don't seem to fit into the city. They seem to be lost and the towering skyscrapers, you just can't escape the feeling, seem to say: "Shut up, down there."

We went for dinner at the top of Six's Restaurant 666 and had a marvelous view and marvelous food. At night we went through Radio City, saw the Radio City Plaza and attended the Radio City Show with a fascinating stage

Empire State Building. It sure was a great feeling to be on the top of the world and see everything so tiny and small. It was too bad that the famous Guggenheim museum at 88th and 5th Avenue was closed on Monday. A look at the outside of it, though, certainly showed you what modern architecture can be.

I can't tell everything I did and saw, but it passed by as fast as a dream. When I went to bed, all these pictures went through my mind, pictures of taxis driving like mad, of people, people and nothing but people, of the boy who spoke such a different English that I thought he was a foreigner, but asking what he was I got the answer: Brooklyn.

I wish I would have the chance sometime to come back and live for a time in New York City, because I had just a short glimpse into it, but what a wonderful one!

This trip was a nice closing of my year here in America. I have to say good-bye in exactly two weeks and looking back I truly can say that this year has been the greatest and richest one of all my life. I cannot say if I would feel the same if I would have to leave another foreign country, because America was the first one I ever visited. But I believe that nobody could have been nicer and friendlier than all of you here have been to me.

I thank everybody of you I have met for helping to make this year such a wonderful one for me. Where ever I later will be and what other countries I might see, I know none of them could take the place of America. I know, a great deal of this is because of my American family. They gave me the most understanding and the most of everything possible. Let me say goodbye now and close with the words of an Indian philosopher. It is perhaps the greatest compliment I could give you: "I came to your country as a stranger, I stayed in your country as a guest, but I will leave it as a friend."

After having spent most of my money we went on to the

The Fourth of July Recalls The Original "Star Spangled Banner"

The Original "Star Spangled Banner" Which Survived the Bombardment at Fort M'Henry, Baltimore

The flag flew above Fort M'Henry, Baltimore, during a night-long bombardment by the British fleet in September, 1814. Francis Scott Key, who had witnessed the shelling of the fort, was so moved to see the flag still flying in the morning that he composed "The Star Spangled Banner" on the spot. The song eventually became our national anthem.

History has it that Col. George Armistead of Fort M'Henry wanted the largest flag possible so that the British, who were blockading Chesapeake Bay, would be sure to see it. As a result the flag was heroic in size, measuring 30 by 42 feet. These strange proportions were caused by the fifteen stripes. There were, of course, fifteen stars too.

The flag was made by Mrs. Mary Young Pickersgill who is listed in the Baltimore directory of that period as a maker of "ships banners and flags." Two nieces were pressed into service to help cut and sew the 400 yards of hand woven bunting which went into the making of this historic banner. It was so large, in fact, that only the malt room of a Baltimore brewery could accommodate it during its making. Composer Key's phrase, "the rockets' red glare," may have influenced a century of Independence Day celebrations which accented fireworks and firewater more than patriotic programs. But as the toll of deaths and injuries mounted annually and the public began to demand moderation, many communities in the 20th century passed laws prohibiting the use of fireworks except for cooperative displays set off by experts. Modern observance of the Fourth is more than likely to mean a parade and patriotic speeches.

Trace 'Missing' To Bad Spark Plugs

A spark plug is a simple looking part of a car's mechanism. Since the plugs are relatively simple to install or to clean, most young drivers will take care of them themselves.

A bad spark plug is hard to ignore. Even with seven others in an engine working perfectly, the engine will skip and be jerky when the eighth one isn't functioning properly.

Spark plugs, six or eight on standard cars, are screwed into the cylinders of the car's engine. Electric current passes from the ignition wires fastened to the top of the plugs and through the plugs which, in turn, create sparks. These sparks ignite the gasoline fuel that has been pumped into the cylinders.

The resulting "explosions" of spark and fuel are what produce the power or movement of a car in gear. It is thus easily seen that with one spark plug not working properly, the whole operation of the engine is thrown off balance.

When a spark plug is not functioning, inspect it for carbon corrosion. To do this, disconnect the ignition wire from the top of the plug and unscrew the plug with the aid of a plug wrench.

Carbon will build up on the electrodes at the base of the Several from this Post attended the State Convention in Saginaw June 16-18. We are proud and happy that Post 6695 won state honor by placing second in the Color Guard Contest. A prize of $75 was awarded the team. It is noteworthy that they were only 4 of a point out of first place. This is the second year they have entered state competition so they have much to be proud of and very justly so. Congratulations to each of you and thanks for such splendid representation of our Post.

The Johnson Post of Detroit held their first place title with the Lamplighters, a team sponsored by the Oakman Post of Detroit placing third. Those who were unable to attend the Pageant of Drums missed a magnificent show. The variety of exhibitions offered, the precision with which each one was executed, the brilliant colors in the beautiful uniforms all went to make up a thrilling show.

According to chairman Louis Dely, plans are formulated for the 4th of July Chicken-Que. Advance tickets are now being sold. Bring the family out and enjoy a delicious chicken dinner.

We are very happy about our all time high membership. Don't be content, however, to just have your name on the list. Come on out and be an active member. Attend the next regular meeting on July 6 at 8 p.m. Support your Post—it represents you.

Auxiliary News
First, we girls of the Auxiliary want to thank the Post for the beautiful centerpiece which they gave us in honor of our anniversary. We used the flowers on the table and from all the comments the guests as well as all the members enjoyed them very much.

We are very pleased with our Drill Team. They came home from the convention in Saginaw with a beautiful trophy and a check for $50 for first place in the Ladies' Drill Team competition. This is the second trophy the girls have won in two years. Congratulations to one and all.

Mayflower Auxiliary 6695 won several awards and citations. Helen Luttermoser won a special award for her publicity notebook. Virginia Bartel won a special award for her hospital work. We received a Gold Star for Honor Roll and a steamer for our 100 percent paid-up membership. Many thanks to each girl of our Auxiliary who worked on these various projects to make all of these awards possible. The 1961 state convention will be held in Lansing.

Our deepest sympathies to the family of Laura Lickfeldt. Although she wasn't a member of our Auxiliary, she helped us very much in many worthwhile projects. We are proud to have known her and are sure she will be missed by all.

Congratulations to Jennie Smith, mother of Hazel Bassett and grandmother of Jennie Tallmadge on her 90th birthday on July 2. Let's all send her a card and really make this birthday one to remember.

See you at the next regular meeting on July 5 at 8 p.m.

Area CAP Group Tours Air Guard
The past weekend was a busy one for the local squadron of the Civil Air Patrol which met at the Plymouth High School, Saturday, June 25. Local cadets and their senior officers were conducted on a personal tour of the Michigan Air Guard at Detroit Metropolitan Airport by the post's commanding officer.

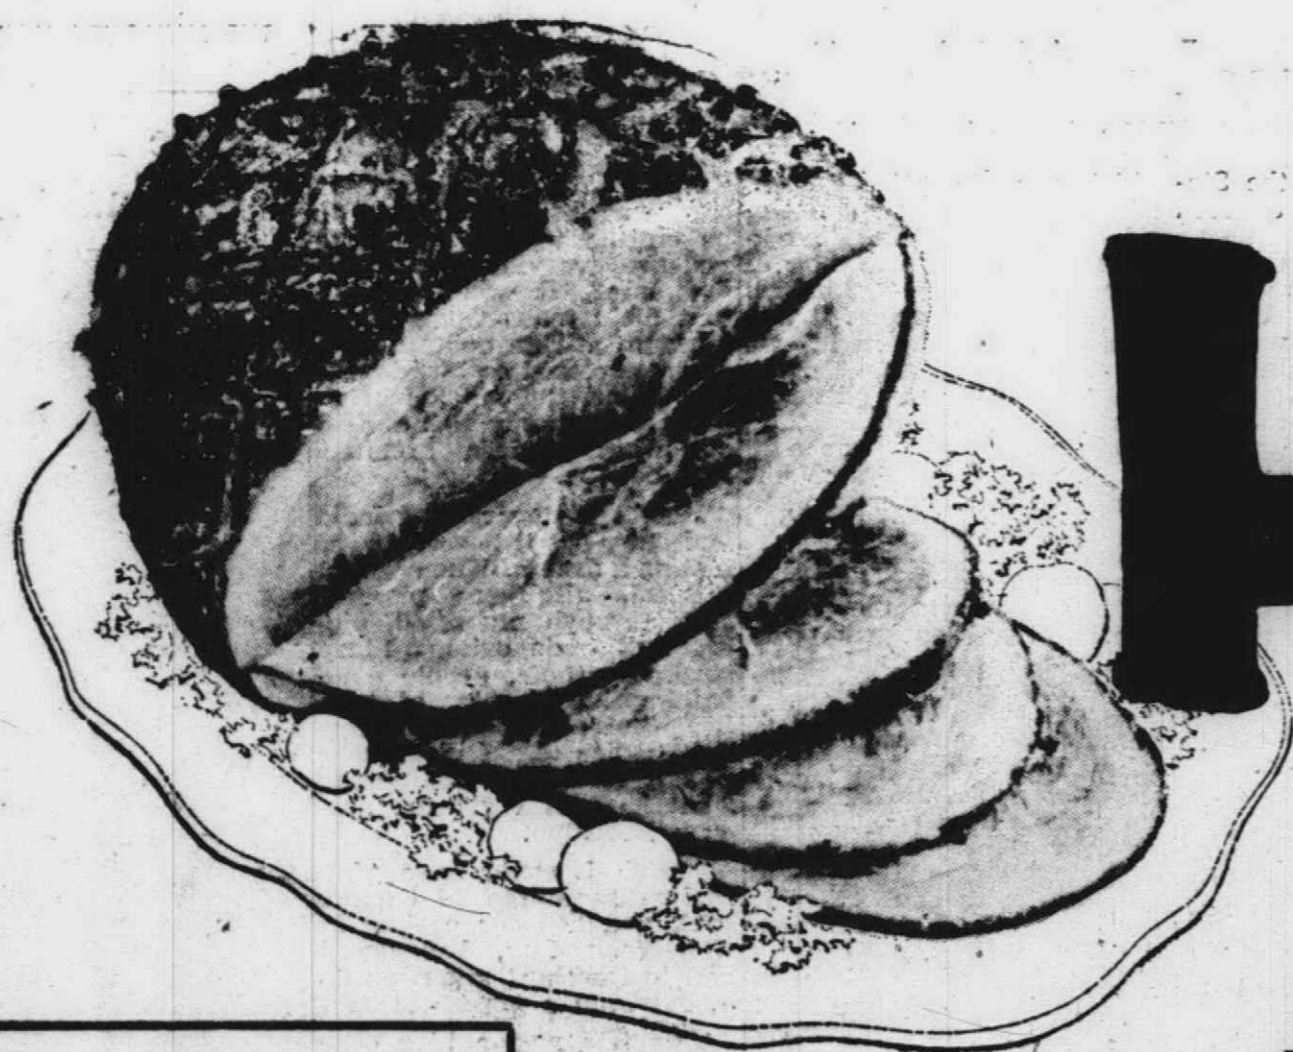

The tour began at the chart room and continued through departments of maintenance, parachute packing, refueling and final inspection of planes before departure on reconnaissance missions over the state of Michigan. Highlight of the tour was an inside view of two modern sabre jets.

Sunday, the local CPA cadets officiated as timekeepers at the Model Airplane Meet for Metropolitan Detroit held at the Ford Proving Grounds, Dearborn. The event was sponsored by the Dearborn Exchange Club. Trophies were awarded in divisions of free flight, aerial dog fighting, radio control, speed and flyable scale models.

If you are over 14 years of age and this sounds interesting to you, and perhaps you would like to be a participant, join the local Civil Air Patrol Squadron which meets each Tuesday evening at 7:15 p.m. at Plymouth High School.

Many more exciting events are being planned for the coming weeks, so don't miss out on the fun. Join now!

Rest areas on Michigan's new freeways will have parking space for 55 cars and 20 trucks and will be equipped with picnic tables, sanitary facilities, telephones, drinking water and an information bulletin board.

Closing Bible School Program Presented

The Vacation Bible School of The Lutheran Church of The Risen Christ will conduct its closing program on Friday, July 1, 7 p.m. at the Veterans' Memorial Center, 173 N. Main St., next to the Plymouth High School.

The boys and girls who attended the Vacation Bible School will present a program of songs and Bible stories and display their arts and crafts.

The Vacation Bible School, conducted in the mornings from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, began June 20. All classes were centered around the theme "God's Children Pray."

Pastor Brauer, who conducted the school, reported that enrollment of the school grew with each day's session. Several women of the church assisted in the teaching.

DIG HE MUST

FORT RILEY, Kansas (UPI) — Digging foxholes holds no terrors for Army Pvt. Clyde P. Harrington of Lead, S.D. He was a gold miner in the Black Hills and worked as deep as a mile in the earth.

IT'S STORY TIME for the youngest children attending the Vacation Bible School of the Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ. Mrs. Clinton Stroebel and Mrs.

Norman Brauer (seated in chair) have worked with the youngsters. Pastor Brauer conducted the school which was held in the Veterans' Memorial Center.

Form New Cub Pack

A new Cub Scout Pack is being formed in the Plymouth area. Sponsored by Farrand School Parent-Teacher Association, the group will meet the third Thursday of each month.

Boys between the ages of eight and eleven are eligible for the Cub Scouting movement. This particular pack will serve the Lake Pointe area and northern Plymouth Township. Twenty-five boys were present at the initial meeting.

Approximately 25 more boys will be accepted for membership. Contact Committee Chairman Donald Allen at GL 3-3385.

The term "forecast" was invented in 1860 when the first estimates on future weather were made.

Who's Who in the Plymouth Community Schools

Now teaching sixth grade at Farrand Elementary School, Mrs. Williamson was born in Hopkinsville, Ky. and graduated from Hopkinsville High School.

She attended Western State University in Bowling Green, Ky., Austin Pea State University in Clarksville, Tenn., and Eastern Michigan University where she graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree. She received her Master of Arts degree from E.M.U. last June.

Miss Williamson taught first through sixth grades as well as Junior High social studies and English in the Hopkinsville Public Schools and, since joining the staff of the Plymouth Community School District, has taught first, second, fifth and sixth grades. She is a member of the Plymouth Education Assn., Michigan Education Assn. and the National Education Assn.

Mrs. Williamson and her family live on Finch Dr. in Plymouth. Mr. Williamson, who is on leave as an accountant for General Motors Corp., received his Bachelor of Science degree from Eastern Michigan University in June.

The Williamsons' daughter, Theola, is a 1960 graduate of Michigan State University. All three of the Williamsons not only received degrees this year but all three will be teaching in the school year ahead.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson are the co-superintendents of the Junior Department of the Calvary Baptist Church in Plymouth where they work with 12 classes of very active boys and girls. They have enjoyed traveling extensively in the United States and make it a practice to take routes off the beaten tourist paths in order to really see their native country and its people.

Besides teaching, Mrs. Williamson enjoys reading and sewing. She is also an enthusiastic camper "when and where it is WARM!"

Interview Indicates Airlines Not as Bad Off as It Appears

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI)—What's wrong with the airlines? Are they as bad off financially as recent stories would indicate? Have they over-extended themselves moving into the jet-age?

The following questions and answers, based on interviews with leading airline economists, tell what's wrong—and what's right with the nation's most dynamic industry:

Q.—How bad off are the airlines?

A.—Not as broke, bankrupt and bothered as some pessimists have been saying. It is true they have been having troubles. They lost $24 million in the first quarter of 1960, they are deeply in hock on purchases of new jet-powered planes and some of them—such as Capital and Northeast—are up to their wings tips in red ink. But this is purely a one-dimensional picture of gloom. The airlines also have a past and future as well as a present, and the three-dimensional picture is not nearly as dark for the following reasons:

—It is a fact that in 1959, only one trunk or major airline operated at a loss: Northeast. Even after considering interest on debts, taxes and other special items, only three carriers lost money: Northeast, Capital and Continental. The poor first quarter performance this year was due partially to the foulest weather in years.

—The airlines traditionally have had tough sledding in a period of major equipment purchases. They had it in the post-war years when they were buying new DC's and Constellations. They are having it again in trying to finance jets and prop-jets that cost as much as $6 million per plane. Actually, they have done a far better job in planning their jet financing than they did in the post-war new-equipment spurge.

—They have something going for them that some pessimists seem to have overlooked: The promise from the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) that they will be granted fare increases soon that will guarantee them a fair rate of return on their mammoth investments, provide stability and assure more flexibility in setting fares.

Q.—How important is that fare boost promise?

A.—All important. For one thing, the 10 per cent rate of investment return the CAB has promised marks the first time the airlines have been considered as an individual utility with its own specific economic problems. In the past, the government has concocted a rate of investment return from factors which were applicable to such utilities as railroads and electric companies, but not necessarily to airlines. To put it briefly and bluntly, the main reason the airlines are having financial headaches is because their fare structure has been too low for many years.

Q.—Do the airlines blame most of their current troubles on the CAB's taking five years to decide on a rate increase?

A.—There is some industry resentment and bitterness. But the majority of carriers concede that it wasn't an overnight problem. The factors involved were enormously complicated, and it's often forgotten that the hearings which began in 1955 were for the purpose of determining whether fare decreases were needed. Another reason for the long delay was the personnel turnover on the board itself. Every time a new member was appointed, he had to go over the whole record again. And there have been three new members appointed in the last few months alone.

Q.—Are the jets causing the airlines' financial troubles?

A.—Only in the sense that they are so expensive to buy. But blaming the industry's headaches on the jets is gross over-simplification. Despite their size and complexity, the jets are cheaper to fly and maintain than any other aircraft in history. Their engine reliability is fantastic, as much as 20 times superior to piston engines. TWA and American figure their Boeing 707's have a seat-mile cost 40 per cent below DC7's and Constellations. Continental claims it can make money on a jet that's only half-full. One survey showed that a jetliner in one day can gross more than $50,000—enough to pay for crew salaries, fuel, amortization, depreciation, expenses of ground facilities, insurance and interest with enough left over for a profit. Jet load factors (percentage of seats occupied) aren't as high as they were in the first year as the airlines added more of the big planes to their routes. Competition has been bitter on duplicated routes. But generally speaking, the jets are money-makers and they are getting people to fly who have never flown before.

Q.—What about these so-called duplicated routes? Are they a major cause of red ink?

A.—To a certain extent. President C. R. Smith of American says bluntly there is too much competition on many routes, and many in the industry agree. But the airlines asked for the routes to begin with. Their chief trouble is not too much competition but simply not enough customers. Nearly 55 million passengers flew on scheduled U.S. airlines last year, but the statistic is misleading. Actually only 12 million individuals flew, with enough of them making sufficient flights to reach the 55 million total. Only a small portion of our population has ever been in an airliner—a significant item because it shows there is a vast untapped market which must be educated and sold on air travel.

Q.—Is it true that one big difficulty has been the airlines' inability to make money on short-haul routes serving cities with low traffic potential?

A.—Very true. The airlines are forced to serve many communities which don't generate enough business to make such service profitable.

There is a decided trend to turn some of these routes over to the subsidized local service airlines. It is a much more pronounced trend, by the way, than merger which many economists believe has been "oversold" as a cure-all to the airlines' troubles.

Q.—What are the airlines doing about getting rid of their old piston-engine planes as they acquire new jet-powered equipment?

A.—This is a king-sized headache, but not of the proportions many airline economists feared. First, much of the older fleet has been fully depreciated and amortized. Second, such hard-to-perdize planes as the DC7 and Super-Constellation are being converted into cargo planes—and the airlines actually are short of equipment in this fast-growing category. Third, there is still a hefty market for the airlines' twin-engine fleet (Convairs and Martins) among the local carriers operating DC3's. While it is true the latter are buying the smaller new prop-jets like the F-27, they can't afford 100 per cent conversion to jet power at present and still need DC3 replacements.

Q.—Are the airlines themselves optimistic?

A.—Cautiously optimistic is the best way to put it. They realize the jet age has brought many problems, but for the reasons cited above they believe they can be overcome. They are encouraged by the fact that traffic volume in 1959 jumped by seven million passengers over 1958. And they point to the experience of one airline—United—as proof that capable management and solid planning can surmount serious obstacles. United didn't start jet service until September, 1959. For most of that year it pitted its DC7's against TWA's and American's new jetliners on the plush transcontinental routes. TWA and American made money, but so did United—an achievement which surprised the entire industry.

MILK GLASS fruit dish with lacy edge, vase and footed salt were made in this country between 1860 and 1890. Although 19th century milk glass is distinctive, it is easy to mistake a modern piece for an antique one.

Distinctive Glass Form Is Antique Milk Glass

By Dorothy H. Jenkins

One of the most distinctive forms of glass is the milk, milk-white or opaque-white glass. It has been made for hundreds of years in Europe and England and in this country since about 1810. Contemporary pieces made in the United States are fully as popular as those made here 60 to 100 years ago.

Milk glass was blown during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries in Europe and England. In the United States it was pressed between 1870 and 1900, and it is these pieces for which antique collectors search.

Typical of nineteenth century milk glass are the three pieces shown in the accompanying photo. These were made in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts between 1860 and 1890. They show the characteristics that most people associate with milk glass.

Milk glass, old and new, is opaque. However, antique milk glass has a translucent quality. It is white, but the white has a blue tinge. The translucency and the blue tinge can be noted when a piece is held up to the light. The color, if it can be called that, has a skim-milk cast.

Modern milk glass is whiter, so much so that it is almost a dead white, denser and often thicker glass. Old colored glass, even though it has the characteristics of milk glass, properly is called opaque glass.

The fruit dish with the lacy edge (left) and the salt vase with a gold line at the edge (center) are particularly good examples of nineteenth century milk glass. Lace-edged bowls and plates were made in many sizes and patterns during the 1870's and 1880's. The footed salt (right) is Dewdrop with Star pattern and was made between 1860 and 1890. Seventy-five to ninety years ago, as today, milk glass was fashioned into table dishes such as glasses, plates, saucers and serving dishes. It also was popular for ornamental items such as vases, lamp bases, bottles, bowls and candlesticks.

Lenses May Need Checking or Repair

Photographers take the lenses of their cameras as much for granted as the average person does his eyes. As a rule, a camera lens does work well day after day and week after week. But, as with the eyes, there may come a time when the camera lens should be checked.

Little can happen to a lens to damage it beyond use in the camera. The lens may become scratched, develop bubbles or even become discolored from age.

However, the discoloration often has much the same effect as the coating that can be applied and so makes the lens sharper and faster.

However, when a fungus growth starts between the cells of a lens, this is disturbing. In order to check and remove the fungus growth, the cells will have to be separated and cleaned by a professional.

Fungus growth in a lens is as much of a mystery as the common cold that infects man. A telephoto lens, which had to be cleaned recently, may possibly have served as an incubator for the fungus during the summer months at the seashore. Or perhaps the growth started when this lens was stored in the darkroom in the cellar because of dampness and reaction to chemicals there.

It isn't desirable to clean a lens every time it is used, if only because of the risk of scratching it (a particle of grit will make the scratches). A linen handkerchief is the safest thing for cleaning.

A scratch on a lens must be really very bad, both deep and broad to cause trouble. It is only in cases of extreme damage that a lens must be ground again.

After the camera has been out-of-doors on an extremely cold day, it is essential to check the lens since it will steam up just as eye-glasses do. If the lens isn't cleared, subsequent pictures will be out of focus.

If, at any time, you see anything odd about the object you are looking at through the ground glass, check the lens. Probably something is wrong with it.

Except for fogging because of cold weather, it takes a great deal of foreign matter on the lens to make an image indistinct or blurred. Bubbles probably are due to imperfections in making the lens and will not interfere with picture taking. For, by the time you have closed down the shutter, anything except a major block or blur over the lens will be taken care of without loss of sharpness in the picture.

HI-FI

If you put together a mono-phonics amplifier kit and it worked, you can tackle a stereophonic amplifier kit with equal qualms.

As a matter of fact, a newspaperman who recently put a stereo amplifier together said you don't even need to know how to solder, if a point-to-point wiring diagram comes with the kit.

"If you had never used a soldering iron, you could get the knack of it in about 30 minutes," he said. "The joints might look rough, but it would work."

This newspaperman, who had put together monophonic amplifier kits, as well as a six-watt stereo kit, assembled a Knight 10-watts-a-channel amplifier, the 83 YX 773.

It took a total of about 12 hours, and he found it easier than assembling the six-watt kit.

The only tools he needed were a soldering gun, a pair of pliers and a screwdriver. The solder came with the kit. None of the kit is pre-wired.

The chassis is wired in two parts—essentially a monophonic amplifier and pre-amplifier in each part. The two parts are connected into a single package stereo amplifier.

Putting the two parts together is where the newspaperman found he had to exercise the most caution.

"When you get through wiring both of them, you have to put them together," he said. "And you've got to be pretty careful. There is a total of around three dozen connections in joining the two parts."

"You start at the bottom, where working room is tight and come up to the top. But it's not a job that will throw anyone. Your main worry is to keep resistor and condenser leads from shorting out."

The most admirable thing about the kit from the view of putting it together is the point-to-point diagram that comes with it.

As the assembler put it: "I have worked from diagrams where you had to know what the parts were."

"In point-to-point diagrams, you get pictures of everything. You don't need to know the function of a part. You put them together and don't have to know anything at all about electronics."

He connected the amplifier to a Garrard changer, using a GE cartridge, and one 12-inch University speaker and one 12-inch Electro-Voice speaker in standard enclosures. He also attached a tape deck and tuner to the amplifier.

Model Fans Look to Past

NEW YORK (UPI)—The modern traveler may like jet planes and yearn for tomorrow's space ships, but today's model plane builder looks to the past.

Jack Besser, president of Monogram Models, Inc., which manufactures plastic and balsa wood hobby models, said sales figures reflect a strong and continued interest in old-style, propeller-driven planes.

Hobby kits of today's rockets and tomorrow's space ships are not as popular with the model-building set, he said.

Besser said one reason for the trend probably was that model builders could find no historical or romantic attachment with today's planes and missiles. On the other hand, they link the planes of yesterday with figures like Charles A. Lindbergh, Wiley Post and Amelia Earhart.

Woman Puts Heat On Heating Contractor

HAVERHILL, Mass. (UPI)—Frances G. Lobue complained in court that a heating firm defrauded her in the fine print of her contract.

She said the firm promised that each of the five-and-one-half rooms in her home would be heated to at least 75 degrees "on the coldest day."

But the jury agreed with Miss Lobue that the guarantee wasn't worth much. The period covered was from April, 1958, to September, 1958.

Plymouth Couple Leads Student Trip to Europe

Dream come true! A trip to Europe! Eleven high school language students — some of them only 15 years old — made that typical teen-age wish a reality, as they left Sunday, June 19 for a 23-day "Teen Tour" to Europe.

Language-wise, everyone will feel at home in one town — London — where the students will, among other side trips, go out to Windsor Castle. The last stop on the tour, this one on Monday, July 11, is at Stratford-on-Avon.

Students will arrive home Wednesday, July 13. Tour director John Boeve explained that an interest in a European tour began six months ago when, in a Latin class at Bentley High School, he showed slides of Rome.

His First and Only Punch

(Editor's Note: The author of this column is employed by the Republican party. We print it when it is interesting.)

By FRANK G. MORRIS

Former Lt. Gov. Eugene C. Keyes has returned to the political scene which makes me feel young again because Dr. Keyes holds a special place in my turbulent life.

In all of my years, he is the only person at whom I have thrown a punch with malice and anger.

Not even in the yard back of the public school was I embroiled in fistcuffs—a shameful fact that made me feel secretly, until the incident with Dr. Keyes, that I was a coward.

Like the Johansson-Patterson fight, our encounter was before television cameras. Unfortunately, it developed that the cameras had been switched off seconds before I dashed to the stage and swung my terrific blow to the side of the good Doctor's kisser.

And what happened later deflated me more than any shattering event in my career, as you shall see.

The "Keyes Imbrolio," as it became known among sports and political writers, was recalled the other day when the newspapers announced that Dr. Keyes is remaining in the race for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor.

He held that office in 1943-44 and again in 1947-48. But in those days, and in the subsequent years when he was running for Governor, the Doctor contended he was a Republican.

Not enough voters believed him in 1948, 1950 and 1954, when he ran for the GOP nomination for Governor. So this year Dr. Keyes is testing his luck as a Democrat.

Since he arrived like lightning on the political scene when he was nominated for Lieutenant-Governor in 1942, there has been amusement because Keyes is a medical doctor, a dentist and an attorney.

The explanation is simple. When Keyes was 15, I was 10, he ran errands each Thursday afternoon for my father, who was a dentist in Windsor, Ont. His ambition was to become a medical doctor. My father persuaded him to enter dental school, instead.

After graduation, Keyes opened a dental office in Springwells, now a part of Dearborn. But he still wanted to be an MD., so he returned to school and finally achieved his goal.

Years later, Dr. Keyes was involved in a lawsuit when Dearborn residents tried to stop him from building a private hospital in their neighborhood. They contended he was violating zoning laws.

Suspecting that his lawyers were betraying him, Dr. Keyes checked up on them by taking a couple of night courses at the Detroit College of Law.

He became interested in the law. Being a bachelor and a scholar, he kept attending classes. To his surprise, it wasn't long before he was admitted to the bar. He has never practiced that profession.

As a Detroit newspaper political writer, my association with Dr. Keyes was one of perplexity and misgiving. I always questioned his unfettered ambition to rule the state, suspecting he really hoped to rule the nation and perhaps the world.

On the night of Aug. 1, 1954, I was covering a series of campaign speeches at WWJ-TV in Detroit. Dr. Keyes was last on the program.

As I was making notes, I heard him say in connection with the need for more mental hospital beds:

"Sitting out there is Frank Morris, who has been cracking up and who could be taken to one of our hospitals for the mentally ill."

Being a drinking newspaperman at the time, my first reaction was that Dr. Keyes was unfair in telling the truth so blatantly.

But I soon decided I had been insulted. I jumped to the stage and swung my Sunday punch for the first time in my life. Unlike Johansson, Dr. Keyes didn't drop.

We later appeared on television together and he apologized, explaining he had been cut off the air before he had a chance to say that he was using me as a hypothetical guinea pig.

However, fearing he might be right, I went on the wagon and have remained there rather steadfastly.

And now the deflating part. "Did you really hit me, Frank?" Keyes asked. "I didn't feel a thing."

Small Inventor Is Still Busy Fellow

ANN ARBOR—Is the day past when an independent inventor can make useful contributions?

"By no means," said Maurice A. Crews, assistant commissioner of patents for the U.S. Department of Commerce, at a symposium on "Patent Facts and Trends" conducted by The University of Michigan's College of Engineering Industry Program.

He cited a recent study which indicated that 60 percent of the most important contributions come from independent persons or from small organizations.

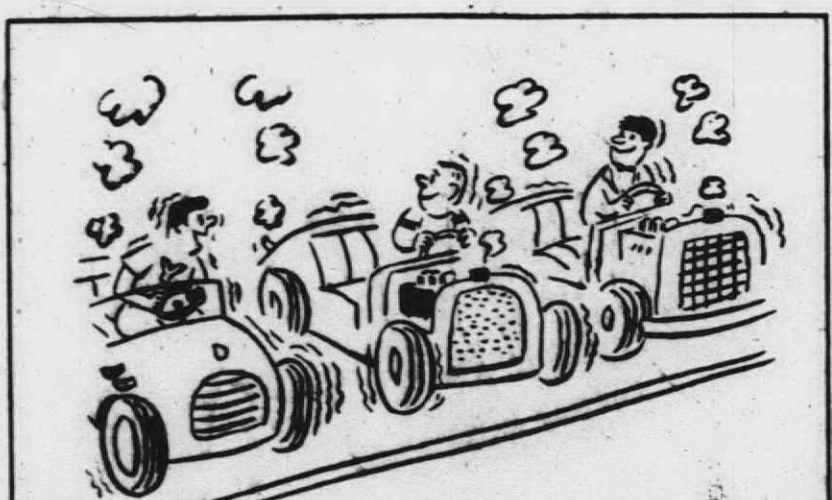

In addition, he said the ratio of patent applications filed by independent or small-organization inventors has remained constant at about 40 percent "over the past couple of decades."

Neither has the large-scale research onslaught greatly increased patent applications. While research efforts were up six to 12 times in this period, patent applications have risen only by one-sixth, Crews pointed out.

One of the functions of the patent system is to increase national inventiveness by getting inventions out into the open so that others may improve and build on them. Crews explained. He said that the use of patents as such a base of information must be improved.

Handwriting Is Clue About You

Have enjoyed your articles very much and would appreciate an analysis of my own handwriting.

Thank you very much for your courteous attention.

Sincerely Miss Arlene B.

Dear Miss B:

I'm sure you don't mind my cutting out part of your letter, — cutting down on space you know.

You certainly have a terrific imagination, determined, fulfilled, and one that you can draw on from past experiences to be used in some other way.

There is a love of variation that is almost carried to extreme — so many, many irons in the fire.

You are practical minded, sometimes analytical, but persistent with good organization ability. Details can irritate you however and your pride is a bit sensitive.

You are constructive with your hands and show a good aim and purpose in what you do. A little humor here too with expression.

You are philosophical as well as material minded, sensitive about criticism too and love to be active.

Dear Miss Williams: Enclosed is a sample of my handwriting. Would you please analyze it?

Thank you, Very truly yours, C.D.S.

Dear C.D.S.: You're an independent thinker, sharp minded, and learn with ease. You set your own standards, and although you like approval from others, you do not seek it. You completely stand behind your own ideals.

There is some emotion here with expression and a dislike for being imposed upon. You're very cautious.

You possess keen comprehension with a little suppressed thinking at times. There is a certain amount of future mindedness — looking ahead and planning likewise.

You have literary talent, self expression and imagination to go with it. You'll try again to do something well rather than be half-way satisfied.

Dear Miss Williams: I never miss reading your column, and enjoy it very much.

Would love to know what my handwriting tells you about me.

Thank you, Faye E.

How's Business?

Caution Sign Is Still Up

By ROGER W. BABSON

The surge of investor buying impatience which carried the Dow-Jones Industrial Average to a new all-time high of 685 on Jan. 5 faded away with dramatic suddenness when down-to-earth reappraisals of prospects for 1960 indicated less buoyancy than had been previously projected.

The withdrawal of buying support caused stock prices to backtrack steadily during the winter, aggravated by the "bear market" signal raised on March 3, according to the Dow Theory.

As conditions have turned out, however, business in the aggregate has recently been resisting downward pressures. This has led to a gradual revival of investment conditions, though many investors have stayed on the sidelines pending the outcome of the elections.

As the stock market rebound has picked up, hopes that the storm is over have mounted. Only time can tell whether the bear market signal was correct or incorrect; our studies show that all major market trends are punctuated by interim moves in the opposite direction.

Furthermore, the lure of a quick profit appears to underlie some of the stock purchases as investors anticipate the summer rally which usually occurs. Of itself, this seasonal influence is only temporary, unless concrete evidence of business improvement turns up.

With business in a sideways trend generally, the added unsettling effects of the forthcoming national elections and turbulent world conditions make it difficult to foretell which way "the cat will jump."

The subsiding of inflation psychology, and the squeeze on business profits margins due to rising wages and intensified competition are, however, strong factors militating against a vigorous and sustained outburst of investor buying impatience. Basic investment yard-sticks such as price-earnings ratios and comparative yields on bonds and stocks remain unfavorable. Patience and conservative judgment will be necessary while the stock market remains a state of flux.

If Your Name Is Rachel

By ANN REYNOLDS

A great number of names was taken from the Old Testament after the Reformation. Rachel is one of these. It is of Hebrew origin, and means "a ewe", a female sheep, certainly a most precious possession in the days of the patriarchs.

The Rachel we meet in the Old Testament was the beautiful younger daughter of Laban, and Jacob met her when she came to the well of the city of Haran to water her father's sheep. For Jacob it was love at first sight, and working for the girl's father for seven years seemed not too high a price to win her for a wife; the seven years felt "just a few days" to him.

When Laban substituted plain Leah for his beloved, Jacob worked seven more years for Laban.

Leah had children, Rachel had none, and the competition for Jacob's love poisoned the lives of the sisters. In her desperate desire for a son she even obtained some mandrake roots. This plant with roots resembling the human form has been surrounded, almost until modern times, with fantastic superstitions. It was believed to cure barrenness and induce love, while what it really does is only bring sleep.

Well, Rachel had to wait years until Joseph was born, and then Benjamin, whose birth cost her life. She died.

Discovers when she sings in the streets together with her sister, her career soon brought to the foremost stage of the Comedie Francaise, and she was acclaimed as the greatest, mainly in classical roles. For those who are interested in her fabulous career that brought her fortune and riches but little happiness, the biography by J. na Richardson entitled "Rachel" should prove highly rewarding.

New Education Director Give Methodist Sermon

The Rev. Mrs. Arthur Pipok
The Rev. Mrs. Arthur Pipok, Director of Religious Education for Plymouth's First Methodist Church, will preach the sermon on July 3 at the 9:30 worship service. Mrs. Pipok's sermon will serve as her introduction to the congregation.
Constance Pipok is the former Constance Koch from Dearborn. Connie, as she is better known, graduated from Alma College in 1955, with a Bachelor of Arts degree. Following graduation she worked as Director of Recreation at the Methodist Children's Village in Detroit. It was while she was working there that she made her decision to go into the ministry and in the fall of 1956 she entered Oberlin Graduate School of Theology where she received her B.D. degree.
During her first year at Oberlin she worked with the youth fellowship program at the Magyar Evangelical and Reformed Church in Elyria, Ohio. For the past three years, while studying at Oberlin, she did her field work at Franklin Community Church in Franklin, Mich., as assistant minister and working with the educational program as well as the youth program.
Connie has also been active in fraternal work and served the Order of Rainbow for Girls as Grand Worthy Advisor of the State of Michigan in 1951-52. She is at present serving as a State Official of that organization as First Grand Poet Laureate. She and her husband are members of Gardena Chapter Order of the Eastern Star in Dearborn, Mich.
Her husband, Arthur Pipok, is the organist and directs the children's choirs at the First Methodist Church in Northville.

Moscow Boasts 'Instant' Apartments

MOSCOW (UPI) — "Instant" prefabricated apartment houses are sprouting up all over Moscow in what's billed as the world's biggest building boom.
To ease a critical housing shortage, the Soviets are pushing a crash housing program. The fastest way to get roofs over heads, they discovered this year, is via almost-ready apartments rolled off factory assembly lines.
Now one of Moscow's more astonishing sights is forests of building cranes, looking like wily animals with their walls dangling from their "mouths."
The cranes gently nudge into place walls complete with doors and windows—even glass in the frames. You see floors giddily sailing through the air with bathtub, sink and toilet already attached.
It's like watching a doll's house being pieced together. Wave after wave of these new apartments march monotonously over the flatlands of Moscow. Gregory Dukelsky, one of Moscow's chief architects, led me to one new suburb that blossomed from a vacant field.
Trucks lurched over the mud to dump stacks of walls, floors and ceilings. The six-inch thick panels were made of porous clay filler and concrete at 12 factories near Moscow.
In Leningrad, some apartments have been built of entire prefabricated rooms.
"Those eight workmen will take only one month to put up this 50-apartment building," said Dukelsky, pointing to the Russians helping the crane drop a third-story wall.
Two more months are needed to paint the entryways and install gas, electricity, water, wallpaper, people and furniture.
Some prefabricated concrete panels, I noticed, were chipped or cracked as they were unloaded from the trucks.
"When Gov. Collins of Florida was here he asked why we didn't build fewer and better buildings," Dukelsky said. "But many people need apartments. We must build quickly."
Because of war damage and concentration on other industries, old apartments are crowded. Izvestia noted recently that two or three families live in many apartments.
To adequately house the citizenry, Dukelsky and other housing authorities face a goal said to be unique in housing history: 100,000 apartments a year for each of the seven-year plan. This year's quota was pared to 91,000 because "they aren't being built as fast as we hoped," another housing official admitted to me.
Even then that means 250 new apartments, or three five-story buildings, opened daily in this capital of approximately 5.5 million.
This shower of figures, repeated to the Russian people in the press practically every day, becomes meaningful when you visit some new tenants. Dukelsky and I barged in on one couple, their son, 19, and the wife's mother. They had moved into a new two-room apartment, although Dukelsky said three persons were scheduled for that size apartment.
It consisted of what Russians call two "dwelling rooms"—each of necessity furnished as a living-dining-bedroom—plus bathroom, toilet room (always separate here), kitchen and hallway.
Although the small apartments were modern in design, the tenants clung to their traditional Russian decor. The rug was hung on the wall. Two beds in each of the rooms were made up as beds, not sofas, with traditional Russian big pillows draped with lace.
I visited two other apartments with similar furnishings. All three had two-burner stoves with ovens, but no broilers. Two had new refrigerators, one did not.
The rent is approximately 35 rubles a month, or $3.50 (at the tourist exchange rate), including gas and elec-

Color Guard Wins Runners-Up Award

Second place winners in color guard competition at the state VFW convention in Saginaw was Plymouth's Mayflower Post 6695 color guard. Competition was held Saturday, June 18, followed by the state parade.
Official title of the Plymouth color guard is "Department of Michigan Color Guard of Foreign Wars Color Guard Champions Runners - Up." The team was four-tenths of a point from first place. They plan on participation in national competition at the National Aug. 22.
Saturday's competition began with inspection of person, equipment and uniforms. A marching and maneuvering session followed. Cadance, which must be maintained between 128 and 132 steps per minute, was next checked. General effect was the final category.
The Plymouth color guard led the parade as official color guard for the 4th District. Participation in the "Pageant of Drums" took place in the evening.
Members of the team include: Commander, Hal Young; Jack Olsever, Bud Krumm, Ray Danol and Ed Olson.

Jerry Seibert Says... LET YOUR EYES HAVE FUN IN SUNGLASSES

Want a quick, easy, do-it-yourself recipe for a permanently furrowed brow, a tense face and disposition, squint lines which deepen into ugly crow's-feet, and nagging headaches? Just go out in the sun and glare with no protection for your eyes.

According to the American Optical Co. one of the largest optical manufacturers, good sunglasses should do four things: reduce glare, absorb ultraviolet and infra-red rays, and provide the same correction as the wearer's ordinary glasses if they are normally worn.

Security For All Teachers

All teachers eligible for social security benefits may apply for compensation for the summer months, according to Thomas J. Northey, special assistant in research for the Michigan Education Assn.

Any woman teacher aged 62 or over and any man teacher aged 65 or over who has met the work requirements for social security is advised to contact his local social security office at once to apply for such benefits during June, July and August.

Modern Convenience BURLINGTON, VI. (UPI) — The hot lunch program at a high school here was delayed for thousands of students because an automatic dishwasher had not been installed when the school year started.

"Yes, sir... This show is going to shoot a Roman Candle right off in the face of tired old show business. This show is going to make the critics sit up and take notice."

Vivian Vance has found an enjoyable evening's work. You can't help but admire the timing, projection and crisp pace of this production.

Jerry Lewis on the Jack Paar show the other evening spoke out for more fun in the theater. We have had too many solemn plays of late.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS... FROM THE PAGES OF THE MAIL

10 Years Ago

Officials of the Board of Education and the city were on hand last Thursday to witness the bird breaking for the new Bird elementary school to be constructed at the northwest corner of Ann Arbor trail and Sheldon road.

50 Years Ago

Harry Bennett and family of Hastings, Barry county, near Battle Creek, autoed out to Livonia Center last Monday. He made the trip in less than ten hours with seven in the car.

25 Years Ago

Mr. and Mrs. Orson Polley, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Jewell, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Drows, and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Link enjoyed a lawn dinner party Tuesday evening at the Garden Court Tea Rooms.

use of two men strumming a guitar as a Greek Chorus provided a novel effect.

The review of the show goes on to state that Mr. Alfred Strasen rendered two clarinet solos while Mr. Pane followed sawing viciously at his Nankin Township-made violin in two beautiful, heart-stirring solos.

One other item of interest in the musty 1924 files is the P and A Theater was presenting a big vaudeville program. Headlining the bill were "The Musical Minstrels" or the Five Shines That Sing. A novelty band, a dancing act (three stylish, sinful steppers), and an amazing acrobat completed the program.

ever on the millions of TV sets all over the land? Let's not answer that question since the Fourth of July weekend is just a sparkler or two away. If you're not going away to the lakes, let old George remind you that the Penn Theater has a crowd of good movie entertainment coming in the form of "The Fugitive Kind," "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," and "Wild River."

And if you don't remember Northland Playhouse, this week Joan Fontaine is starring in "Susan and God." This comedy has a bit more substance than last week's farcical entry. I'm sure you'll enjoy it.

Here it is time to dim the spotlight for another week and I didn't get a chance to talk with you about Jim Fisk or Alex King's book. Well, let's save that for next week.

ALMOST everything has CHANGED

... but a free press is still the indispensable safeguard of all our freedoms!

Shown here: front page of one of the leading revolutionary newspapers, reporting the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Despite its austere appearance, it had aggressive politics.

No headlines — no pictures, yet this newspaper packed a wallop as it relentlessly urged our forefathers to fight for liberty.

We've come a long way since then. Now the miracle of electronic communication brings us the news as it happens; photography, modern typography and art reproduction graphically illustrate and punctuate ideas.

But no matter how the world changes, our American heritage can only be upheld through a free press.

Through the printed page the citizens can examine the issues in their community, go over them point by point among themselves and make their wishes-known at the polls.
