

Take 4,000 Blank Checks From Factory

Theft of 4,000 blank payroll checks from the Bathey Manufacturing Co. has brought an alert to banks and merchants in the area from the Plymouth Police Department.

The burglary took place sometime between 4 p.m. Saturday and 6:50 a.m. Monday when employees arrived to find the safe broken open.

Taken besides the checks were the check protector machine and a typewriter. The equipment is sufficient to make a payroll check identical to what the company itself issues.

Police said that entrance was gained through a side wall of the shop where a new addition to the building is being tied into the present structure. The burglars then pried open the lock of the door leading into the office and forced open a lock on a wall safe.

The blank checks and check protector were in the safe and the typewriter was taken from an office desk. Petty cash was also found missing.

Assistant Chief of Police Loren Johnson said that the intruders used tools taken from the shop and wore gloves that were apparently from the shop too.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce has alerted all of its members not to cash Bathey Manufacturing Co. checks numbering 59200 through 63200. The checks are light blue in color. National Bank of Detroit has also issued a warning to its tellers.

Commission Offers City Property For Little League Park

A new home for the Plymouth Little League seemed assured Monday night as City Commissioners gave tentative approval to use of six acres of vacant cemetery property for an undetermined period.

Plymouth's Little League, which this past season had two diamonds in use on school property between Blanche and Farmer streets, must have another diamond in order to meet the needs of four more teams next season. There was no room on the school property for another diamond.

And, according to William Lyons, spokesman for the leagues who appeared before City Commissioners Monday, the Board of Education will not allow any permanent type of fence or dugout on the property. The temporary fence erected last year was not in accord with league rules.

Commissioners, who were made aware of the problem two weeks ago, have been searching for other possible sites. The only city-owned property large enough to handle the need is along Plymouth Rd., in front of Riverside Cemetery.

According to Mayor Harold Guenther, the property will not be needed for cemetery for at least five years, and perhaps 15 or even 20 years. The field is now weeds and it must be mowed regularly by the City, it was noted.

Lyons produced a drawing of the site which he said would provide ample space for three diamonds and parking for 50 cars. He added that sidewalk runs all along Plymouth Rd. as far as the cemetery entrance, making it unnecessary for youngsters to walk or ride their bikes in the street.

Commissioners appeared in agreement that the property should be used, rather than stand empty for many years. They also agreed, however, that the baseball diamonds should in no way interfere with the operations of the cemetery; that games should not be in progress during a funeral, for instance. Most games are played in the late afternoon and evenings.

Named by the mayor to a committee to draw up an agreement were Commissioners J. Rusling Cutler, William Hartmann and Richard Wernette.

A wooden fence would probably be erected between the field and the cemetery.

Fund Drive Opens With Tenth of Goal Achieved Army of 125 Women to Visit Homes Today

Nearly 10 percent of the $37,053 goal was already attained as volunteer workers opened their 1960 Plymouth Community Fund campaign Monday morning with a Kick-off Breakfast.

Floyd Kehrl, chairman of the Advanced Gifts committee, told some 60 volunteers at the Breakfast that $3,575 has been donated and pledged from a list of 105 individuals who had been contacted before the campaign's start.

Today (Wednesday), 125 women will begin their house-to-house drive, and throughout this week and next, other volunteers will be calling upon the industrial, business and professional people.

The $37,053 goal is the largest ever set by the Community Fund Board of Directors. There are 10 local agencies participating in the campaign this year and 22 others who will benefit through the Michigan United Health and Welfare agency.

Last Sunday and Monday, Boy Scouts distributed a leaflet to each doorstep telling about this year's challenge. Today, the army of women volunteers is making their door-to-door appeal. Most of the calls will be made between 7 and 8 p.m.

Mrs. Marshal North indicated, however, that in some areas the volunteers may not reach all homes today and may carry on the work through Thursday or even Friday. Volunteers will turn in their money Wednesday night at the City Hall.

Monday morning's Kick-off Breakfast at the Hotel Mayflower was donated by the National Bank of Detroit as a plus contribution. The volunteers heard short talks by three men who represent three agencies that will benefit from the Fund drive. They were Captain John Cunard of the Salvation Army, High School Principal Carvel Bentley, an administrator of the Plymouth Dental Fund, and City Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher, whose police department directs activities of the Junior Police.

Workers also saw the eight-minute film concerning the Plymouth Community Fund that was prepared by Burroughs Corp.

While the actual collection of donations from the general public didn't start until Monday, the campaign's official opening ceremony was held last Friday night in Kellogg Park. The traditional torch, used for the first time in Plymouth, was lighted. (Laying of the gas main to the torch and the gas it uses is a plus contribution of Consumers Power Co.)

In a short ceremony, the Junior High Band and Chorus participated, along with Mayor Pro Tem Robert Sincok who read the Mayor's proclamation, Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay and Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister who told of the purposes of the campaign, and Hugh Griffin, president of the Community Fund, spoke. Supt. Isbister is campaign chairman.

During the half-time of the football game, fans were alerted to the opening of the campaign and a piece of fireworks spelled out "GIVE" as the field lights were dimmed.

A series of report luncheons will be held each Monday noon for the next two weeks at which chairmen will report on the progress of the campaign. These luncheons will also be plus-contributions. There are no paid workers on the Community Fund drive.

One of the points of emphasis being made this year is the method by which people living in Plymouth may donate to the Community Fund here although they work elsewhere. Firms outside LIGHTING THE torch to officially open the 1960 Plymouth Community Fund campaign last Friday night was Miss Sue Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Cooper, 1375 West Ann Arbor Trail. The torch will burn in Kellogg Park throughout the drive.

James Gallimore, Leader In Civic Projects, Dies

James J. S. Gallimore, who donated many years of his life to Plymouth's schools, his church, lodge, and service organizations, died last Thursday, Oct. 13, following an illness of several weeks.

He succumbed at the West Trail Nursing Home at the age of 76. His home was at 45715 West Ann Arbor Trail. Mr. Gallimore had served a total of 12 years on the Plymouth Board of Education, the first time from 1930 to 1936 and two more terms, between 1949 to 1955. He had been Board president during many of these years, and was honored in 1957 by having a new elementary school named after him, James Gallimore Elementary School is on Sheldon Rd.

Born in Shrewsbury, England on May 14, 1884, he was the son of James and Mary (Moore) Gallimore. He attended public schools at King's Norton, Birmingham, and the Birmingham Technical School.

In 1911 he came to the United States as a skilled toolmaker. Living first in Connecticut and later moving to Highland Park, he worked a short time for Burroughs and then with Ford Motor Co. He moved to Plymouth in 1932.

While with Ford, Mr. Gallimore was a general foreman in a cold heating and die casting department and later was superintendent of the Plymouth Wilcox plant. In 1935 he started the Newburgh Plant for Ford. It was in these small factories, scattered west of Detroit, that Henry Ford practiced his theory that allowed workers to "have one foot in the factory and one foot on the soil."

For one year, in 1946, Mr. Gallimore taught machine shop at Wayne High School. He was a member of First United Presbyterian Church and was a former member of the church's Session and Board of Trustees. He also had been a Sunday School superintendent.

He was a member of Plymouth Rock Lodge, F. & A.M. and the Past Masters Club. He was also a member and past president of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club, and a charter member and past president of the Plymouth Goodfellows.

In 1947 Mr. Gallimore was president of the Plymouth Goodfellows. When the St. Mary Hospital organization first attempted to raise funds in 1954, he served as the Plymouth drive chairman. He was also once president of the Plymouth Symphony Society.

Mr. Gallimore is survived by his wife, Florence Maria (Field) Gallimore; a son, James, Jr. of Plymouth; a daughter, Mrs. Dora M. Hordorp of Plymouth; three sisters, Miss Annie Gallimore and Miss Mariam Gallimore, all of Birmingham, England; a brother, Richard Gallimore of Birmingham, England and two grandchildren.

The Rev. Henry J. Walch, D.D., pastor of First United Presbyterian Church, officiated at funeral services held Saturday, Oct. 15 from the Schrader Funeral Home. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery. Members of the Plymouth Rock Lodge conducted Masonic graveside services.

Judge Speaks Here on Smut Literature

Parents, teachers and civic leaders who are concerned with the effect of indecent literature on local children are being invited to attend a meeting next week at which an authority on the subject will be the speaker.

The meeting, sponsored by the Plymouth Citizens Committee for Decent Literature, will be in the Plymouth Junior High Library starting on Thursday, Oct. 27 starting at 7:30 p.m.

The principal speaker will be Judge Joseph G. Rashid. He is an outstanding orator in many fields, and has won numerous awards in both public speaking and debating, which he once coached in the Michigan High School Forensic League.

Born 46 years ago in a sod house in South Dakota, he came to Michigan in 1926, received his AB and law degrees from the University of Detroit, with honors, and practiced law until 1945. From 1948 until 1956, he was chief trial lawyer for the office of prosecuting attorney, a position in which he had extensive opportunity to observe the effects of literature, good and bad, on young men and women.

Appointed circuit court judge in 1956, he has successfully been re-elected twice, leading a field of eight candidates. His present term expires in 1965.

Plymouth School Superintendent Russell Isbister will review the effects of the local committee's work with regard to school children, and Patrick G. Butler, librarian for the Plymouth Community School District

Group Sponsors Belafonte For Symphony Benefit

"An Evening with Harry Belafonte," Friday, Nov. 18 at the Riviera Theater in Detroit, will be sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony League, Group H, for the benefit of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

Belafonte's popularity as a folk singer and entertainer guarantees a sell-out, especially since the program he is bringing to the Riviera is a repeat of his extraordinary Carnegie Hall presentation which received rave notices from both critics and audiences.

Mrs. Dean Manley, chairman of the group making the arrangements for the theater party, has announced that choice seats in the orchestra,

Lodge in Area Monday For United Nations Day

Henry Cabot Lodge, America's Ambassador to the United Nations for seven years and now Republican candidate for Vice President, will speak on the U.N. at 10:45 a.m. Monday at Wonderland Center, Plymouth and Middlebelt Rds., in Livonia.

It will be the only visit to Western Wayne County by Lodge and a general invitation to everyone in the area has been extended by Wonderland Center, by Mayor

William Brashear of Livonia, and by County Republican officials.

Lodge's remarks will discuss the United Nations, recognizing Monday as "United Nations Day" nationwide, and they will not be on partisan political subjects.

Students of civics throughout the area have been given special invitations to hear the man with a long record as respected spokesman for the U.S. at the United Nations.

Lodge and a group of dignitary guests will appear on Wonderland's "Frontier Theater Stage" in the Main Hall Annex, at the western side of the Center.

He will arrive by motorcade which will have its origin earlier Monday in downtown Detroit. Lodge will fly to Detroit Metropolitan Airport Sunday evening, hold a press conference in the Detroit Stater early Monday, then depart for Livonia via Michigan Ave. and Middlebelt Rd.

'The Barrel' Returns To Plymouth

City firemen brought home the coveted barrel last Wednesday night and immediately placed an armed guard around it.

"The barrel" referred to so reverently among firemen in the area is the one used in the annual water battle staged during Fire Prevention Week.

City firemen won the barrel this year at a battle staged at Northville.

But the armed guard part is more or less of a gag—except that someone may actually steal it as happened two years ago.

Tea to Honor Girl Scouting Founder

Girl Scouts across the country will be celebrating their 100th anniversary of the birth of its founder, Juliette Gordon Low, during the week of Oct. 30. Here in Plymouth there will be a tea to honor the founders of Scouting.

The tea will be held Thursday, Nov. 3 from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Dunning-Hough Library.

Since it is impossible to invite each one personally, the local Girl Scouts are using this means of saying "please come" to all Plymouthites.

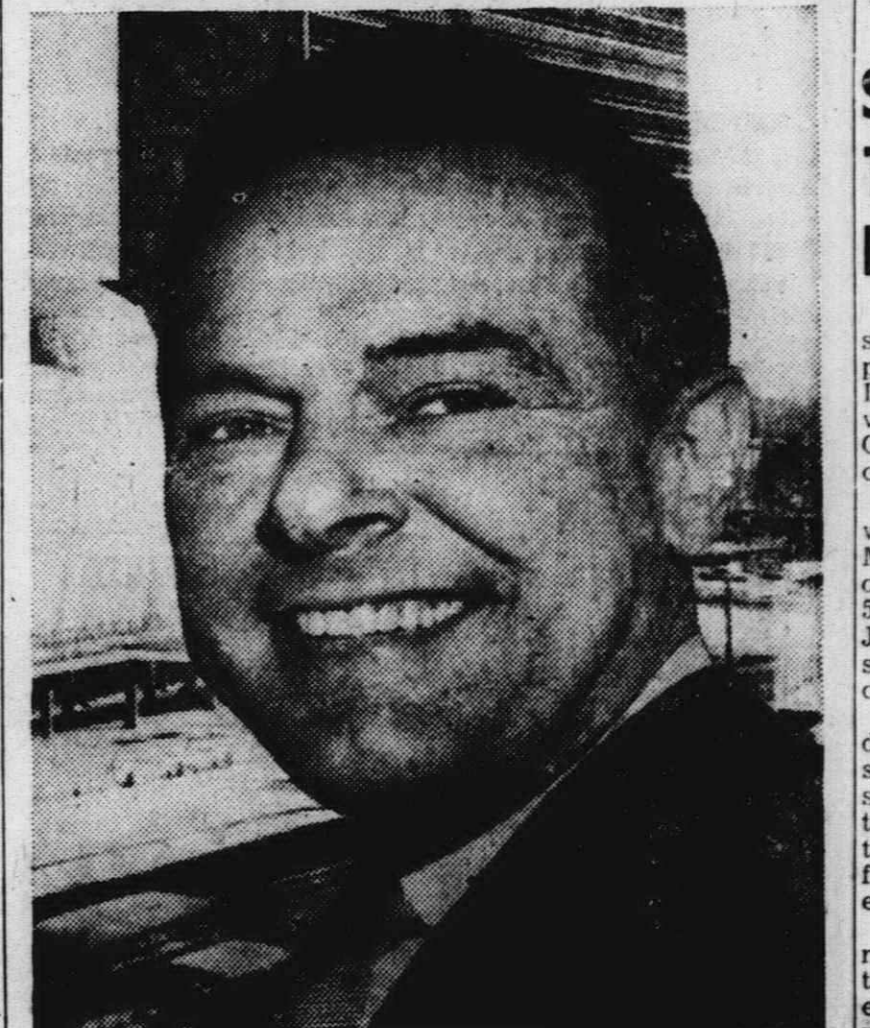

State Democrats To End Campaign In Plymouth

Plymouth will be the last stop on the 1960 election campaign trail for Michigan Democratic candidates. It was learned from the 15th Congressional District Democratic Organization.

Democrats seeking office will appear with Gov. G. Mennen Williams at a Plymouth Democratic rally, Nov. 5, starting at 8 p.m. in the Junior High School cafeteria, said Charles Root, rally chairman.

It is expected that candidates for Wayne county and state legislature offices will show up first at various intervals, with candidates for the higher government offices appearing later in the evening.

Entertainment and refreshments are planned, informed the rally chairman, and voters in the Plymouth area are more than welcome to come and meet well-known Michigan personalities.

NEWS BEAT

Jim Gallimore, whose obituary appears elsewhere on this page, was quite a colorful gentleman. Besides his generous donation of time to the community, he liked to write poetry and many people still own some of his pieces. When he left the School Board in 1955, the witty president left behind an alarm clock which he would set to remind the Board that it was time to go home. He knew full well, however, that future Boards would continue to work late into the night.

DOWN TO WIRE: Political candidates, who normally start off before the big crowds in the big cities, are now getting down to the smaller places like Plymouth and more will be seen during these final weeks. Neither Democrats nor Republicans, however, have campaign headquarters open here during this election.

MOVES AHEAD: The Board of Education has given approval to preliminary plans for the proposed new junior high. Final plans will be ready Feb. 1, bids taken March 15 and construction started April 1. The school will be ready by September 1962. This first phase will cost an estimated $815,000.

TRICK OR TREAT: Young people from local churches will appear for funds between 2 and 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 27 for the annual UNICEF drive. Money is used to help underprivileged children around the world.

LEAF PICKUP: A new machine called a "leaf getter" will be used by the City DPW to collect leaves once a week. They hope to cover each section of the City at least one time a week with the big vacuum. Residents are asked to rake their leaves between the curb and sidewalk, if possible. Questions can be directed to the DPW office, GL 3-1556.

Prof. Waugh Speaks To AAUW Thursday

"The American Presidency" is the topic Professor Edgar W. Waugh has chosen to discuss Thursday Oct. 20 at the dinner meeting of the Plymouth - Northville Branch of the American Association of University Women to be held at the Mayflower Hotel at 6:30 p.m.

Professor Waugh has been a member of the faculty of Eastern Michigan University since 1927. An outstanding political scientist and author, he has been active in many areas.

In 1958, by invitation of Senator Estes Kefauver, Professor Waugh testified before the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments, in support of the Eisenhower-Brownell plan for dealing with the problem of Presidential Inability. The Waugh testimony was highly commended by Chairman Kefauver to the Attorney General, Hon. William P. Rogers.

In 1959 Professor Waugh wrote for the Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments, a professional opinion on the proposal to repeal the 22nd amendment, limiting a President to two elective terms. The Waugh opinion received very high commendation from the Chief Counsel of the Committee, Mr. Bernard Fensterwald.

Professor Waugh was cited as one of the outstanding teachers of Michigan at the Michigan State Fair of 1958. With B.A. and M.A. degrees from the University of Mississippi, he pursued further studies in Columbia University, George Washington University and University of Michigan Law School. He has taught in public schools of Mississippi and Texas. He is a member of the American Political Science Association, and the American Federation of Teachers, and the Authors' League of America.

Mrs. D. K. Hutting, chairman of the dinner meeting, will be assisted by Mrs. H. E. Pine and Mrs. Marvin Terry. Mrs. Richard Fritz, AAUW program chairman, will introduce Professor Waugh.

Miss G. Witt Becomes Bride of Mr. L. Goodale

On Saturday, October 1, Miss Grace A. Witt became the bride of Loren J. Goodale, Jr., at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Farmington. The Reverend Mr. Rutkowski officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Miss Witt is the daughter of Mrs. Frank Witt and the late Mr. Witt and Mr. Goodale is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren J. Goodale of Shadywood.

Given away by her uncle, Albert Witt, Flint, the bride chose a gown of imported lace with bouffant skirt ending in a chapel length train. The basque bodice featured long sleeves and a sabrina neckline. The gown was accented with seed pearls and sequins. She carried stephanotis, small white mums and orchids.

Sister of the bride, Miss Betty Witt, was maid of honor. Her gown was of turquoise with a basque bodice, rounded neckline and full box pleated skirt with flowing panels in back. She carried bronze Fugi mums and small mums.

Miss Carol Witt, Miss Charlotte Witt and Miss Irene Love, were bridesmaids and wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor and carried yellow Fugi mums and small mums.

Flower girls, Miss Lori Shaw, Miss Audrey McMullen and Miss Beverly Newton all wore turquoise nylon gandy dresses trimmed with white lace and carried baskets of bronze mums and Sweetheart roses.

Ring bearer was Arnold McMullen of Pittsburgh, Pa., nephew of the groom.

Mr. Goodale asked Stanley Witt, brother of the bride, to be best man. Ushers were Howard Croft, Robert Goodale and Ronald Goodale, all cousins of the groom.

Mrs. Witt wore a dark green lace gown and brown accessories. Mrs. Goodale chose a turquoise satin brocade gown with black accessories. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid corsages.

A reception for 300 guests from Berkley and Palo Alto, Calif., Pittsburgh, Pa., Flint, Pontiac, Wixom, Walled Lake, Fowlerville, South Lyon, Northville, Livonia, Detroit and Plymouth was held at the church following the ceremony.

For a trip to Denver, Colorado and Las Vegas, Nev., the new Mrs. Goodale wore a violet and plaid suit with brown accessories and orchid corsage.

Mrs. Goodale graduated from Bentley High School in 1957 and her husband graduated from Plymouth High School in 1957 also.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodale will be at home at 402 Harvey, Plymouth.

Did You Know ...

By GEORGE-ANN BAUER

One of Plymouth's better known residents celebrated her birthday Sunday with a dinner and gifts. It was the 99th time Mrs. Anna Allen has had a birthday party. Mrs. Allen who lives with her daughter, Miss Edna Allen, on Arthur St. still enjoys the news over her radio and the Nixon-Kennedy debates and reads her newspaper for short intervals.

Present for her party were Mr. and Mrs. Lester J. Allen of Ithaca; their daughter, Mrs. Dan Garver and her daughter, little Amy Jo of Haslett; Mrs. Allen's sister, Mrs. Etha Perrot of Chesaning; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Allen of Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Alger Wood and his mother, Mrs. Ella Wood, also of Detroit; and Miss Dorothy Allen of Birmingham. The only one of Mrs. Allen's children unable to attend was Mrs. Sluyter.

We all send our best wishes for a very Happy Birthday year.

Plymouth High School has turned out some pretty special students. Word has it from Chatham College in Pittsburgh, Pa. that Miss Sally Williams and Miss Jane Hardimon are recipients of scholarships.

Miss Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Williams, Amherst Ct., and a senior in political science, was awarded the Mitchell Scholarship for further study in music.

Miss Hardimon, daughter of Mrs. James E. Hardimon, N. Evergreen, and a junior in psychology, received the Shalom Award, given to an outstanding student each year.

And another outstanding dish from Germany—a favorite of one of our 'guests' for this coming school year—Miss Petra Schneider of Berlin. She is spending this year with the James Randalls on Burroughs. This is a dessert perfect for the bridge club.

Theatre Guild to Offer 'Living History' Series to Students

Many Junior High students will see the first of the "Living History Series" sponsored by the Plymouth Theatre Guild today (Wednesday) when scenes from the forthcoming play, "The Crucible" are presented.

The play, concerning the witch trials of Salem, Mass. in the year 1692, is being offered to the public by the Theatre Guild later. But seven members of the Guild will appear today at an assembly for 400 pupils to show what the Puritans' dress and speech were like.

The 25-minute presentation will be narrated in order to point out certain things involving the Puritan mannerisms and customs.

According to Jerry Thaden, president of the Guild, this will be an experiment. If it proves to be of educational value to the students, the Guild will offer other moments of "Living History."

The proved reserves of natural gas in the United States reached a figure of about 211.7 trillion cubic feet which was a peak at that finding.

Reverend Edgar Hoenecke Returns to Mission Board

The former pastor of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, the Rev. Mr. Edgar Hoenecke, will return on Thursday in his capacity as head of the World Mission Board of the Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod.

He will meet with former members and any interested friends of the area in the Fellowship Hall of St. Peter's Church, Penniman at Evergreen, at 8:00 p.m. Thursday evening. Rev. Hoenecke will relate his observations and experiences on his recent trips to Africa, Europe, and Japan.

Rev. Hoenecke and his wife made a tour of mission stations in Northern Rhodesia and Nigeria early this spring. During this tour, Rev. Hoenecke conferred with Dr. Albert Schweitzer relative to medical Mission efforts in Africa.

Mrs. Hoenecke assisted as a consultant in the work of setting up medical mission work in Northern Rhodesia. Rev. Hoenecke also consulted with representatives of the church body which is the Wisconsin Synod supports in East and West Germany. The many difficulties of maintaining church work in Communist Germany were the subject of these conferences.

Early this fall, Rev. Hoenecke flew to Japan to help plan the program of establishing an indigenous or native church and possible theological seminary in the Wisconsin Synod's mission there.

After a ministry of almost 31 years at St. Peter's Lutheran Church here, Rev. Hoenecke left Plymouth last January to assume the full-time chairmanship of the Wisconsin Synod's World Mission Board. Since that time the Hoeneckes have made Mesa, Ariz., their home.

Rev. Hoenecke is presently on a lecture tour of the Middle West.

Relatives Seek Former Plymouth Girl, Now 33

Plymouthites are being called upon to help locate a girl who once lived on Starkweather Ave. here but whose whereabouts is now unknown.

A letter to The Plymouth Mail this week has asked readers to volunteer information if they know the whereabouts of Shirley M. Schockow, who as a small girl lived on Starkweather.

A sister, Mrs. Irene M. Bunnell of Colebrook, N. H., has been looking for Shirley for many years. They became separated in 1932 and they have not seen or heard from each other since.

Shirley would now be 33 years old. She was born in Detroit on March 17 or 18, 1927. Undoubtedly she now has a married name.

Mrs. Bunnell's name was Irene Roberts before she was married. Anyone with information can write Mrs. Bunnell at P.O. Box 232, Colebrook, N. H.; or Joseph Roberts, 354 Church St., Hartford 3, Conn.

Bishop Academy Opens in Area

Livonia and Plymouth residents are fortunate to have a branch of the internationally known Bishop Method Sewing Academy in this area which recently opened on Plymouth Rd. near Farmington Rd.

Mrs. Edna Bryte Bishop, who has been accepted as an authority on clothing construction for over 20 years, founded this system to teach a method of sewing five to seven times faster than traditional sewing.

It is a system for custom dressmaking where the fit is in the cutting and giving individuality.

Mrs. Jean Durgan Lindbergh, authorized by Mrs. Bishop to teach her method, will be instructing women in this area. A sewing machine and steam iron are available for each woman in the class and Mrs. Lindbergh says there is also an open lab once a week for extra time and help.

Mrs. Bishop herself will be at the J. L. Hudson Co. the first week in November for demonstrations and lectures.

Registration for classes is anytime next week - GA 1-9643 on Mondays, or GA 1-1225.

Optimists Hear Talk on Mental Health Problem

A talk by mentally retarded children given by Jerry Thaden, business manager of Hawthorne Center, was heard Monday night by the Plymouth Optimist Club at Arbor-Lill.

Hawthorne Center, located on Haggerty Rd., was opened two years ago. Speaking on the topic, "The Economics of Mental Health," Thaden pointed out how few people yet realize the great complexity and ever-mounting multiplicity of the mental health situation in the United States. This multiplicity seems to keep pace, he said, along with the growth and extension of our culture and as more people assemble together in their work and exchange ideas.

One out of 30 persons can be depended upon to become seriously afflicted mentally, he added. Anyone with an I.Q. of less than 70 can be considered as mentally retarded or off balance, he noted. This can be either inherited or brought about by present-day conditions.

There are now 12,000 beds occupied by hopelessly retarded children in Michigan, the speaker continued. This does not account for the thousands of border and in-between cases. Even the recognized experts argue among themselves as to the proper handling and treatment, but progress is being made.

Wiedman Sends Boys to Show

The generosity of one Plymouth merchant made it possible for 22 Plymouth boys to spend an enjoyable Saturday at the National Automobile Show at Cobo Hall Saturday.

Jim Marshall took the boys from his social studies class as well as some outside of the class, to the show sponsored by Paul J. Wiedman, Inc., and arranged by Paul Palmer.

Along with the boys, two fathers, Mr. Lowing and Mr. Daugherty, also enjoyed the trip.

Byzantium, an ancient Greek city, occupied the most easterly of the seven hills of modern Istanbul.

When a new and normal baby is born, Thaden told the audience of Optimists and their wives, its mind is like a blank sheet of paper. And what goes on that sheet from the age of 18 months to the third year will well mark the life pattern from that time forward.

The speaker said that 556,000 members of the labor force are lost each year due to mental illness. One half of all the hospital beds in the U.S. are occupied by mental patients and over one fourth are there for 17 or more years. Money spent each year in the nation toward the care and cure of mental patients equals that of the national defense budget and yet the amount is still short of half what it should be.

Symphony's First Concert of Season Wins Acclaim from Audience of 600

Over 600 persons heard the 95 players in the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra last Sunday afternoon in the auditorium of Plymouth High School, and were drawn by the first piece, Berlioz' Roman Carnival, into the atmosphere of 19th Century Paris.

This was the Paris of Victor Hugo, Chopin, George Sand; the Paris of barricades, and also of the can-can. Berlioz' strong and exciting instrumentation seemed almost defiance, as if he would drown the sound of rifles with heel-kicking and horns.

The second offering, Haydn's Symphony No. 88, took the audience to pre-Napoleonic Austria and the relative stability of the aristocracy. Haydn's music flowed like a river: grave, tender, ironic perhaps, but above all, endless. Today it is greeted along world shores from the Congo to Canada ... 104 symphonies, 76 quartets, 88 trios, 54 sonatas, 31 concertos, 24 operas—and much more!

The second part of the program began with Vivaldi's Concerto for Flute and Strings, Opus 10, No. 3. The middle movement, entitled Siciliano, reached a melodic purity and serenity on the level of Vivaldi's great contemporaries, Bach and Handel.

The orchestra, guided ably by Wayne Dunlap, now crossed over the centuries to modern composers, first playing Charles T. Griffes' Poem for Flute and Orchestra. This piece conveys at times, the atmosphere of Conan Doyle's Lost World, but rather than indicating extinct reptiles, the music suggests man staring into outer space, reflecting on his impending journey there.

The flutist in both the Vivaldi piece, and that of Griffes, was Nelson Hauenstein, faculty member of the University of Michigan, and the first solo flutist engaged by the orchestra in 10 years.

As far as "firsts" are concerned, it may be said that the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra makes it a practice to play programs which do not include any repeats, and Sunday's rendition was of that nature.

Respighi's, The Pines of Rome, concluded the program with its musical symbolization of the barbaric thunder of ancient, lion-watching Rome; and carried a warning for modern times.

After hearing this program, given by volunteer musicians from 20 communities in three counties, was convinced of the rightness of a statement made to me recently by a member of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. He said: "The enthusiasm Plymouth has here, plus capable musicianship, create a program quality equal to many of the best orchestras in the country." ... Harold S. Hartley.

Friday a Night of Decision in Suburban 6 League

JVs Lose To Trenton

A stronger Trenton Junior Varsity team rolled over the Plymouth squad 20-7 last Thursday afternoon on the local field, bringing the season record up to one win and three losses.

Plymouth scored in the third quarter when fullback Hugh Sarah plunged over from the five yard line. The Rocks added the extra point on a pass from Roger Wilhelm to Jeff Frasier.

Trenton struck early in the first quarter with a quarterback sneak. They scored again in the second and third quarters, missing the conversion after the last TD.

This Thursday at 4 p.m. the Plymouth Javees will travel to Redford Union.

Rocks Trample Panthers, 40-7

Friday will be the night of decision in the Suburban Six League with three teams, including Plymouth, battling to retain their share of the lead.

Belleville, Livonia and Plymouth each have 3-1 records going into the last league game of the season Friday, and all three stand a good chance of knocking off their opponents.

The Rocks will face Allen Park with the hopes that some of the breaks of the game they picked up last Friday will carry over into this week.

Plymouth ran over hapless Redford Union 40-7 last Friday night in a game that soon became so one-sided that it almost became monotonous.

Emerging as the game's No. 1 man was Jim Ralston, who galloped across the goal four times on runs 8, 58, 23

Livonia, Bentley shaded Trenton 13-6. This Friday, Belleville faces Trenton and Bentley should have no trouble with Redford Union.

Ralston scored his first TD six minutes after the game started on an eight yard run. The conversion was missed. In the second quarter Ralston fled down the right end for his 58-yard TD and the extra point kick was good.

Two minutes later the Rocks recovered a Redford fumble and a pass by quarterback Dick Schryer was completed to Ray Liimakka and Plymouth led 19-0.

Redford's only score came before half-time when Rock quarterback Dick Schryer attempted a pass on his own 15 yard line. It was blocked and knocked into the air.

Redford caught it and scrambled into the end zone. The Panthers converted with a pass.

Plymouth's fourth TD came with 2:19 left in the third period when Ralston broke away with a 23 yard sprint. The kick was good.

Ralston's fourth touchdown was a 20-yard run in the last quarter. The conversion made it 33-7.

The Rocks had their final touchdown handed to them when the Panthers were punting from their 15. Dan Stremick blocked the punt and then followed the rolling ball into the endzone where he fell on it and scored six more points. The conversion made it 40-7.

Coach Hoben started emptying the bench in the third quarter and by the last quarter had most of the second stringers fielded. Penalties were abundant, with most of them due to illegal procedure.

"Redford is improved over a year ago," Hoben said. "They hit harder this year, but we got all the breaks."

He praised Don Alsbro for his usual good performance in guard position. Plymouth's line yielded only occasionally to the Panthers and there were no goal-line stands to worry about. Three hundred pounder Pete Steiner was also praised by his coach.

The Rocks gained 360 yards rushing, with 150 of it by Ralston. Even the rain which began at half-time failed to slow down the Rocks.

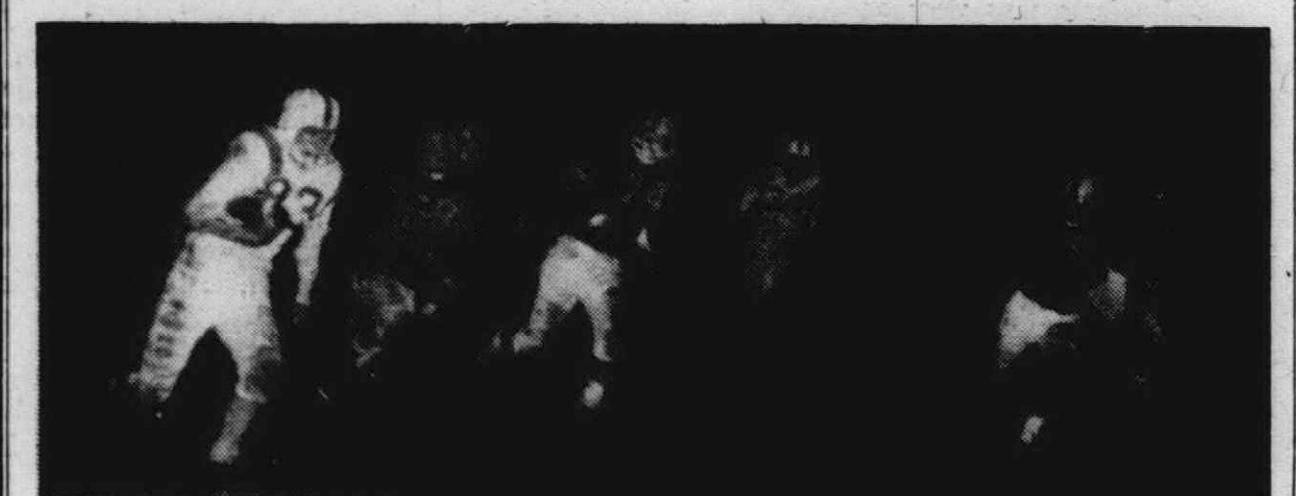

After this week's game at Allen Park, the Rocks will face two tough teams from other leagues. On Oct. 28 Redford Thurston will be here and on Nov. 4, one of the state's better teams, Walled Lake, will test the strength of the Rocks.

Suburban 6 Standings

Belleville	3-1
Trenton	2-2
Allen Park	1-3
Redford U.	0-4

Even last Friday night when he broke loose four times to score, the plucky halfback was not up to full-strength.

The Rocks will journey to Allen Park for this week's game. Allen Park is always rough on Plymouth. Hoben points out, so Plymouth is not expecting anything on a silver platter. Last week Belleville just squeezed past Allen Park, 6-0. And over in

NO. 83 WAS a familiar sight last Friday night to the Redford Union Panthers as Jim Ralston broke away over the goal line four times. Jim played end during the early part of the season and this was his first full game at halfback.

Freshmen Roll Over Livonia Emerson, 31-0

Plymouth's Freshman football squad rolled on to its second win of the season last Thursday when they romped over Livonia Emerson 31-0.

Emerson failed to even threaten Coach Tom Workman and his young squad during the afternoon. Plymouth's first score came on a 35-yard run by halfback Terry Clark in the first quarter. Quarterback Denny Hunt ran over the second TD to make it 12-0 by the end of the first period.

There was no more scoring until the third quarter when Hunt scored again. In the last period, Dick Egloff snared a pass tossed by Hunt and galloped over the goal. Fullback Egloff scored again to make it 30-1. The game's only conversion came after the last touchdown when Hunt ran the ball.

Coach Workman had high praise for his linemen who held Emerson to a shut-out. Jerry Kisabeth played his best game at end, Workman pointed out. Then there was Hal Smith at tackle, Dan Hawk and Ron Hershberger at guard, Dave Sackett at center and John Bader as defensive halfback.

This season the Freshmen have won two and lost one. This Thursday Clarenceville will be here.

Grid Contest Experts Trip On Purdue

Purdue's upset of Ohio State proved to be the big bug-a-boo for the home-bound coaches entering the Plymouth Mail's Football Contest.

First place winner is Bruce Berry, 619 Maple, who will receive a $15 check.

Second and third place winners were actually tied, having the same number wrong and the same point spread in the tie-breaking game. They will divide the combined second and third place prizes, which will amount to $10. They are James Eder, 504 Blunk, and Byron Brown, 251 Byron.

Jim Eder will also win an additional $6 for having his entry signed by one of the sponsors.

There's another new contest in this issue—so start to work. Remember, entries must be in The Mail office no later than 5 p.m. Friday, or postmarked by that same hour.

SPORTSEEN

By JIM SPONSELLER

Sports editing on weekly newspapers, as a rule, is a part-time job, and The Mail's sports editor, Bill Nelson, is on duty full-time in the public relations department of the Automobile Manufacturers Association in Detroit. He also holds a law degree.

But this week, automan, sports editor and lawyer Nelson is lost somewhere in the confines of mammoth Cobo Hall where the National Auto Show is packing 'em in. Bill is a firm believer that high school sports can be just as exciting as the big-time stuff. A lot of adults support this.

Last Friday night's gridiron meeting with Redford Union here saw a lot of points piled up in behalf of the Rocks and the lop-sided affair was not as exciting as some previous games this season. With each succeeding touchdown by Plymouth, the cheers got a little weaker. One had to feel a little sorry for the Panthers as they left the field. Plastered with mud, they climbed immediately into their bus and headed back to Redford, still without a win this season. But there is no doubt about it—they were facing what still looks to many as the best team in the league, despite the Rock loss to Bentley.

Last year the football field underwent a major improvement when a new grandstand was erected. This year it was a new scoreboard. If there's any money left in the kitty this season, a few more lights on each pole would be a worthwhile project. Lighting of the field is not good, especially if you're trying to see the tiny yard-markers, which may be another project in itself.

Good, old-fashioned school spirit was displayed Friday night for the Homecoming game. A spirited parade preceded the game and the Senior High Band directed by Jim Griffith was outstanding. After Barb Schantz was crowned Homecoming queen, she and Drum Major Jerry Lee danced a number accompanied by the band. In years to come, who else but Jerry and Barb will be able to say that they danced under a spotlight in the middle of a football field and in the rain?

Don Williams, a 1960 graduate of Plymouth High, is a member of the cross country team at the University of Chicago this year. Don, the son of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Williams, won varsity letters in football, swimming and track while at PHS.

Elementary Touch Football Games Starting

This week will start the games of the elementary schools' touch football program.

Tuesday the Catholic-Lutheran teams will host the Farland School teams. The games start at 4.

Thursday afternoon finds the Starkweather teams hosting the Bird School teams, games to start at 3:45.

There will be four teams in action on Friday afternoon, Smith 1 and Smith 2 will play each other at 3:30 at Smith School. The winner of the Bird-Starkweather games will play Gallimore at Gallimore School Friday afternoon, game time 3:45.

The next three weeks are being devoted to games so that our youth can put into practice the skills, teamwork and sportsmanship that were utilized in the first four weeks.

DEFENSIVE END Bill Glass was the main attraction of a sports banquet held last week for Plymouth young men and women, especially those who have been involved in sports. The banquet, sponsored by the Calvary Baptist Church Youth Group, was at Guffin's House of Beef in Livonia. From left are Richard Groth, president of the Youth Group; Dick Alsbro and Ralph Spigarelli, Plymouth High athletes; Bill Glass; and Jim Walaskay and Andy Salan, PHS athletes.

'The Barrel'

It was in 1958 that the barrel was first used in the water battle. Plymouth had always been the scene of the Fire Prevention Week program at which all neighboring Departments would participate. For several years, a huge ball was used at which firemen would aim strong streams of water and attempt to push the ball past each other's goal. In 1958 a steel barrel was strung from a long cable and it was the object of the game to push the barrel over another's goal. Northville firemen won the barrel the first year. After the demonstration, all of the firemen adjourned to City Station No. 2 where they were treated to refreshments.
But when Northville firemen were ready to depart, the barrel was gone. The disappearance remained a mystery several months, until at last, the Salem fire department confessed and returned the barrel.
Last year, Northville firemen won the barrel once again.
But last Wednesday, when Northville played host to the affair at the Northville Downs Parking Lot, Plymouth City firemen won the trophy after five battles. The play-off battle was between the normally friendly Plymouth City and Plymouth Township firemen. On the Plymouth team were Hank Berghoff, Calvin Brown, Dan Fowler and Bill Fletcher.
Not chancing another theft, City firemen guarded the barrel closely the remainder of the evening in Northville and that night at Station No. 2 in Plymouth.
Of course there's now a problem. What does one do the next 12 months with a priceless empty barrel that really isn't worth a dime?

Walt Ash Ends First 25 Years In Service Station

CELEBRATING 25 years as a service station owner in Plymouth last Saturday was Walter E. Ash, 1115 Dewey. He started in partnership with Ralph J. Lorenz in 1935 and became sole owner of the Shell station in 1947. Except for the first few months he has always handled Shell Oil products. The station has undergone several enlargements during the 25 years. He has probably been in the service station business longer than any other dealer in Plymouth.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

One of the local contest voters must decide in November is that of selecting the Congressman from our 17th District.

Mrs. Martha Griffiths, Democrat, is the defending incumbent. This reporter regards her as one of the whole State's most able, responsible and conscientious delegates to Washington. Her opponent is Richard E. Morell, Republican, first-term Supervisor of Redford Township, and an extremely awkward freshman in government there.

Somehow similar analysis has reached downtown to the Detroit Free Press, because this week it wrote:

"These incumbent Democrats deserve to be returned for another term... they are Rep. Thaddeus M. Machrowicz, in the 1st; Rep. Louis C. Rabaut, in the 14th; Rep. John B. Dingell, in the 15th; and Mrs. Martha W. Griffiths in the 17th.

"Mrs. Griffiths is a Congresswoman with a record of experience valuable in a Representative, and she has employed it ably on Capitol Hill.

"Two years ago we endorsed her GOP opponent because we felt that in him the Republicans had produced a truly exceptional candidate.

"This year we have no such feeling about Mrs. Griffiths' opposition and she has a clear claim on another term."

We can't remember another candidate for Vice-President of the United States ever taking the time to come out into our area to speak, which makes next Monday a unique occasion.

Henry Cabot Lodge will talk on the United Nations at Wonderland Center in Livonia at 10:45 a.m. Lodge, of course, carries a distinguished record as U.S. Ambassador to the UN and Monday happens to be nation-wide "United Nations Day."

Though he is running as the Republican candidate for Vice President, Lodge will not get into politics in his remarks here.

The Livonia appearance was arranged late Monday and it should attract thousands—most of them housewives and students—despite the short notice.

Another national celebrity, of different sort, also was spotlighted hereabouts last week. This was Hal Smith, a baseball player for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Smith, as the whole nation heard on TV, lives in Livonia just off Seven Mile Rd. in the Spring Valley Subdivision. He busted a homer for the Pirates in the final game. It carried three runs across the plate and helped mightily to upset the Yankees.

Livonia City officials entertained at a small dinner a few hours after Smith returned home, the day after the victory.

"It was a low fast ball. I was around second base before it really got through my head that something big had happened. Then I started to bounce.

"We Pirates never doubted once we were going to win the Series. All season long we had been able to take the really big games. The Yankees were doomed from the start," said Smith.

homes on the block are now served by a three-quarter inch main which recently broke. Two homeowners attended the meeting at first declared that their pressure and service was now good, following repairs of the old pipe.

But Commissioners and DPW Supt. Joseph Bida warned that more trouble could be expected and that the new plan would provide a fire hydrant. The residents later agreed that the main should be laid.

Baton Twirling Course Offered On Saturdays

Baton twirling lessons will start next week under a program sponsored by the Adult Recreation and Education Department.

Starting Saturday, Oct. 29, Karen Dickerson will begin the eight-week course, from 9 to 10 a.m. in the Red Hall of the High School.

There will be a maximum of eight and minimum of five for the class. The cost is $1.50, whether beginners or advanced. Registration in the Recreation office will begin this Friday, Oct. 21.

Miss Dickerson received four years of private instruction from "Champ" Patton, former drum major at the University of Michigan. She attended the Smith-Walbridge Twirling School in Indiana and received instruction from Dennis Simpson, former PHS drum major. At present she is a drum major for the Plymouth High School marching band.

LOOKING BACK

BOSTON (UPI) — Traffic accident, 19th Century vintage, as reported in the Boston Almanac of Aug. 19, 1837: "A waggon came into contact with a chaise containing a lady and gentleman, in Charlestown Square, broke both shafts, and let down the lady under the horse's hind feet. The horse being quiet, she crept out with no other injury than dirtying her dress."

Senior Barb Schantz was crowned Homecoming Queen at an impressive half-time ceremony during the Redford Union game last Friday night. The crown was placed on her head by her predecessor, Roxanne Smith. Then the new queen danced with Plymouth drum major Jerry Lee on a brilliantly illuminated carpet of grass, a regal blue cape flowing gracefully down from her shoulders.

Spirits were high among PHSers, although the rainy skies did their best to dampen the gaiety of the Homecoming festivities.

The cast for the All-School play "Angel Street" has been announced. Thespian Society president Paul Rawley will portray a scheming husband trying to drive his rich wife, played by Grace Kuhns, insane, thus securing her wealth for himself. The exciting plot continues on with many mysterious occurrences until a clever detective, played by John Augustine, suspects the villainous intent of the untrue spouse, and solves the case.

Further intrigue is added to the plot by the actions of the two household maids, played by Cathy Walker and Lee Stone. Then too, the play's Victorian setting provides the ideal atmosphere for such a plot.

The play is presenting a challenge not only to the cast, but to the various committees. The properties committee has the task of securing and coordinating the delightful conglomeration of Victorian furniture, knickknacks and paintings. The complicated nature of the set, complete with winding stairway, should prove an interesting experience for the members of the construction committee.

A unique task for the lighting committee is the achieving of the gentle, golden glow of gaslight.

The Plymouth area is having its share of the excitement of the political campaign this election year. PHS senior John Wimsatt, as well as sophomore Mary Frank journeyed to Ann Arbor early Friday morning to join a crowd of about 2,500 to see presidential candidate John Kennedy at the New York Central Depot. Having arrived by plane the night before, Kennedy pulled out on his campaign train to whistle stop up through Michigan to Saginaw.

John says it was an exciting experience, giving an opportunity to absorb some of the atmosphere of this colorful campaigning method. He commented that approximately 250 reporters were aboard the handsome streamliner, which carries press cars as well as luxurious dining and living quarters.

The NROTC Program (Navy Reserve Officers Training Course) was explained in detail to a group of junior and senior boys last week by a visiting naval officer. Slides showing the progress of the Navy in the development of new ships, planes and missiles and their importance to U.S. defense were shown. Through the NROTC the Navy gives aid to students at college who qualify and agree to participate in the program.

A Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test is to be given Saturday morning to those students planning to go to college who signed up for it.

Junior Achievers Have Woes-- Not Enough People to Fill Jobs

Some young Plymouth executives have got problems. The biggest headache is the employment variety and it's not because of lay-offs, labor disputes or production set backs. There just aren't enough employees to go around.

The business tycoons set about creating two Junior Achievement corporations in Plymouth last week. They were enthusiastic about starting a business venture which is really no pie in the sky effort on their part. It's a business proving ground with real teenage executives, salesmen and ... well, employees.

These enthusiastic forward-lookers are on a hot spot as the saying goes. They need people and plenty of them.

They need salesmen, secretaries, production workers and department heads.

They want to charter their companies and get rolling. They've made plans to strike out boldly into a business enterprise that'll be just like the real thing—a complete outfit by and for high school juniors and seniors.

Admittedly, the two junior size corporations had one strike on them from the start because they're conducting business on Wednesday afternoons from four to six but the would-be business leaders feel there are enough Plymouth and Livonia students with time on their hands to fill both companies to capacity.

They're quick to point out the advantages of working for a small part-time business firm too. First there's the informal yet business-like get-togethers at the Junior Achievement business center each Wednesday afternoon. Then there's the exciting challenge of getting pre-business experience which they feel will pay dividends in the future. And there's always the excitement of devising and producing shiny new items for prospective buyers in the community.

Junior Achievement offers Plymouth and Livonia teenagers the chance to compete in person to person contexts, rallies and conferences with the sixteen thousand other Achievers in the Midwest. There are big time get-togethers like the annual Sno-Ball with internationally famous bands, local and Midwest conventions, radio and television appearances by leading Achievers in the area.

There's the excitement of receiving regular pay checks from the JA concerns, of leading the companies as president, vice-president or a board of director member. There's the challenge of getting out and meeting the public and being a part of an internationally famous organization.

Some of the business tycoons feel a lot of teenagers have to be led by the nose to join any organization. Others feel not enough teenagers know that for the first time two Wednesday afternoon Junior Achievement firms were born for their convenience, cutting out night-time participation from seven to nine for those unavailable in the evening.

Whatever the odds are, there's a lot of youthful enthusiasm that more and more employees will join the still struggling Junior Achievement companies on Wednesday afternoons and that they'll prove their worth during the coming year.

Businessmen have been saying for years that the kind of young person they look for to fill new jobs is the one who knows the score-card of business lingo and know-how. They're the elite, the write-your-own ticket sort of fellow or girl who'll go places in a hurry in business-conscious America.

The small band of youthful business leaders look out the windows of the JA center next to City Hall and wonder when the employment line will start forming. They think there's something to this Junior Achievement business.

They say 70,000 teens from New Zealand to Plymouth can't be wrong, and they'll take bets on it.

A combination cooler and warmer for a baby's bottle keeps it cold until feeding time and then heats it, ringing a bell when the right temperature is reached.

NO, IT'S NOT a funeral. It's a refrigerator that Plymouth Kiwanians are moving into their "store" in preparation for the Rummage Sale this Thursday, Friday and Saturday. The annual Rummage Sale will be held in the former Huston Hardware on Penniman Ave. From left are Neil Davidson, James Jabara, Bob Taylor, Horton Booth and Ralph Taylor. Kiwanians hold the sale annually and have all types of household items, as well as clothing.

LAST WEEKEND the Salvation Army set up a field kitchen in Kellogg Park with intentions of making donuts "just like in World War I" and selling them to the public. Unlike World War I when the doughboys ate the donuts in rain or snow, the public didn't want to turn out in the downpour of Friday night and Saturday, so the sale had to be called off late Friday afternoon. But one of the last to be offered a donut in the rain was Charles B. Lowes, left, past commander of the local Barracks of World War I Veterans. He is shown being sold donuts by Capt. John Cunard. Looking on is Col. Clyde Cox, divisional commander of the Salvation Army. The Army will try another sale at a later date and will fry the donuts on the spot.

Band Parents Present Chop Suey Dinner

A chop suey dinner on October 29 will be the first money raising project of the Band Parents of the Plymouth High School Band.

From 5:30 to 7:30 that Saturday evening, they will serve a chop suey dinner in the high school auditorium.

Tickets at $1 for adults and 75c for children under 12 are available from band members and at the door.

A dance will follow the dinner, beginning at 8 p.m.

Reports On Success With Hamburger

Why are hamburgers so popular with the American public?

Tastiness, plus reasonable cost, are the two biggest reasons according to Mr. Frank Thomas, president of the Burger Chef system of hamburger stores that are a nationwide franchise.

The local Burger Chef operator, Harry Wiley, located at 1365 S. Main, explains why Burger Chef hamburgers are growing in popularity in this area.

Among those dining and dancing were Hal Smith, Pittsburgh Pirate hero of the final World Series, game; Steve Kubic of the Yankees and Barney McCosky of the Tigers. Eddie Rathermel and his Band provided music and a special guest was Merv Schriener with his guitar.

The Skyline Room is located in the portion of the building formerly occupied by the bowling alley. It will be used primarily for private parties and banquets.

(Editor's Note: The author of this column is paid to write it by the Republican Party. We print it when it's interesting.)

By FRANK G. MORRIS
Polls indicate that the four-cent sales tax proposal on the ballot Nov. 8 will be buried under an avalanche of "No" ballots. It is difficult these days for the average citizen to add voluntarily to the terrific burden being carried on his bruised and drooping shoulders.

The trouble is that it has not been made vividly clear to the people that they have no place to hide from the tax-collector. Defeat of the Constitutional Amendment would enable them to take another step out the gangplank. In the end, they must fall into the collector's arms—probably with consequences far more disastrous than anyone foresees.

Most voters have read the warning that if the sales tax is not raised to four cents a personal income tax will be inevitable. It is obvious that a large majority prefer a raise in the sales levy. Yet they are not being persuaded to rush out and grab it. Maybe they will gamble that the politicians, whose promises are not always kept, will find a way out of the state's dilemma without an income tax. Gov. Williams told the people years ago that he would slug them with an income levy if they re-elected him. Our foot-loose Governor didn't succeed because the people elected Republican legislators to block him.

An enigma of Michigan politics is the merry manner in which the voters have been electing Republican lawmakers to block new taxes and wild spending and at the same time have elected a Democratic Governor and other Democratic state officials committed to higher taxes and unlimited expenditures.

If the proposed one-cent increase in the sales tax is killed, however, the safety valve will explode in 1961. For the biggest budget in history is coming up—and the state deficit is $64,000,000. So far, no one has succeeded in getting to the voters the astonishing fact that the state government last fiscal year received a net of only $37,600,000 from sales tax collections totaling $323,000,000.

People do not realize that the state got only 11.6 cents from every $1 collected. The Constitution earmarks two cents of the levy for schools, not including higher education. Another half cent goes to municipalities and townships.

The state's half-cent share last year should have yielded $59,000,000. But the school districts demanded more than their two-cent share. The legislature gave the districts an additional $21,380,000.

So the state wound up with only $37,600,000. This sum wouldn't build 50 miles of four lane highway. It wouldn't come close to paying for Detroit's new Cobo Hall. The orphan, living on the crumbs, is the state government.

Neither has it been made clear to the people that all of the new money will be under control of the legislature if the four-cent sales tax is approved. The school districts, municipalities and townships will not share in it by Constitutional mandate.

So the choice is not necessarily between a sales tax and an income tax. More likely, the choice confronting voters certainly is either a one-cent increase or devastating chaos in Lansing. Democrats promise in their platform that if they win complete control they will devise an income tax affecting everyone who earns more than $2.46 an hour.

Civil Service Has Cut 6,000 Jobs in Michigan

If Michigan state government operated under the political spoils system instead of its present constitutional civil service amendment, state payrolls might include six thousand additional jobs and some $30 million more in payrolls this year, Frank K. DeWald, State Civil Service Commission Director, told the meeting of the Michigan State Employees Association here.

He based the claim on the fact state payrolls dropped 20 percent in less than three years after the Civil Service Commission was established under a constitutional amendment voted by the people and effective Jan. 1, 1941.

DeWald said the idea of civil service in state government was originally proposed to help reduce state spending on straight political patronage jobs after Governor Frank D. Fitzgerald blamed most of the payroll increases during his administration in 1935 on political jobseekers.

After a state civil service system created by the Legislature failed to produce an adequate merit system, the people voted a civil service amendment into the constitution in 1940.

"The record shows the total state payroll reduced from 19,699 persons in 1941 to 16,500 in May of 1943," DeWald said, "much of it coming through the elimination of what Thomas Wilson, director of the commission in its early years, called 'political deadwood.'"

"The reduction was achieved by the Civil Service Commission by pleading and threats, through job audits, lawsuits and administrative orders, and despite loud cries of anguish and dismay from state agencies and employees."

DeWald said that at the same time the state payroll was reduced even though the Commission increased average pay from $122 to $157 per month and established a maximum 48-hour week.

He acknowledged that during that period 1,200 employees of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission were transferred from the state to federal jurisdiction, but pointed out the wartime emergency resulted in creation of a number of new state agencies and required adding new positions in others to offset the MUCC transfer.

"Civil service certification of payrolls at the State Fair, a notorious spot for dead-wood politicians, reduced the number paid from 1,800 in 1939 to 692 in 1941," DeWald said.

"Payroll for the State Liquor Commission was reduced after a civil service job audit from 858 to 700 persons. Twenty-nine out of thirty-six State Tax Commission field representatives who failed civil service examinations were not replaced. Five hundred and thirty-seven State Highway Department employees were laid off. This and many other examples are all a matter of record," DeWald said.

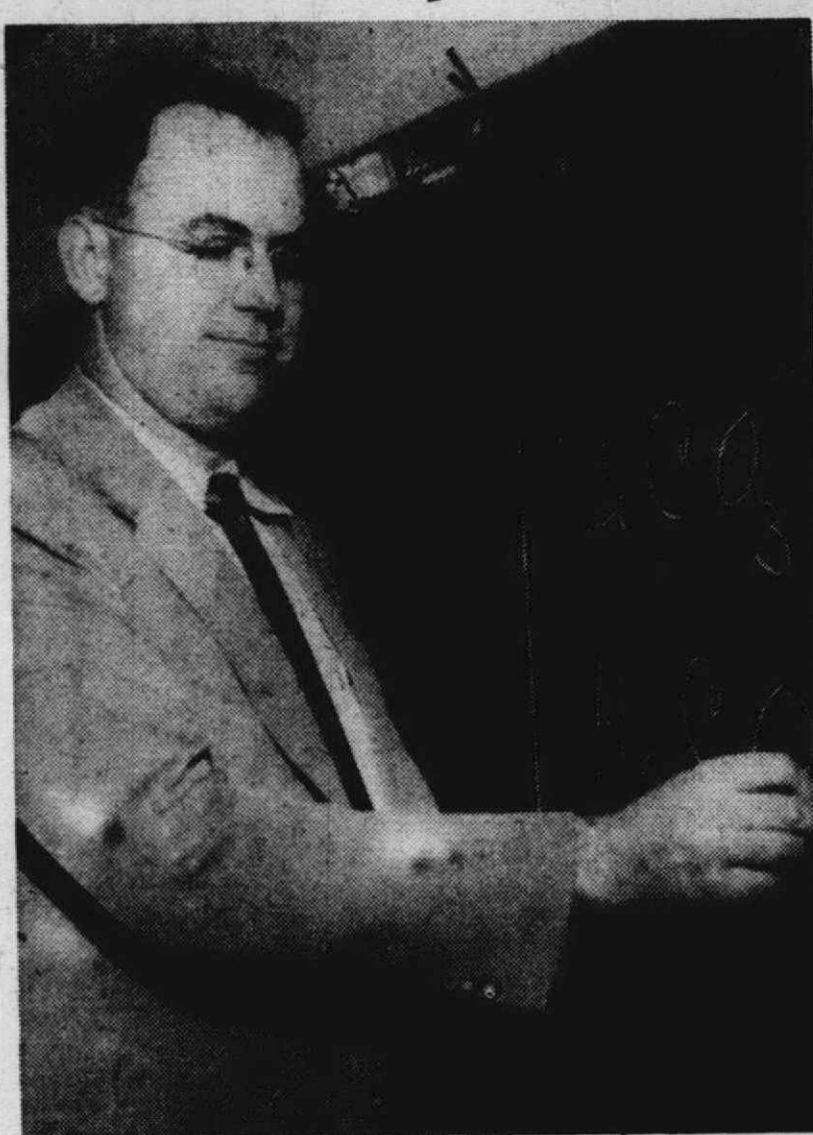

"The public has the right to say to merit system advocates 'I don't care how much you did for me, it's what have you done for me lately, that counts.'"

To them I say that if 20 percent of the state payroll in 1941 was political dead-wood under spoils politics and if we had continued on with that system, it would be able to assume that Michigan's total payroll could be about 20 percent larger than it is today.

"This represents 6,000 additional jobs at some $30 million in payrolls.

"If you think this is gross exaggeration, you need not go much more than a stone's throw from Michigan's borders to find a state where nobody knows how many people are on the state payroll, but the latest best estimate is 60,000, and the number of politically exempt jobs has increased to more than 9,000 in the last few years."

MOSHERVILLE, MICH.—The Ohio Oil Co. has the major interest in this natural gasoline processing plant, which is the first such installation to be built in an oil and gas field in the heart of a major U.S. market area east of the Rocky Mountains. Only 70 miles from either Detroit or Toledo, the plant is 150 miles from Chicago and 210 miles from Cleveland.

Approximately 20 million cubic feet of natural gas a day is currently being handled by the plant, which not only produces specification propane but also butane and natural gasoline in mixed form. In addition, the plant provides Consumers Power Co. of Michigan with about 14 million cubic feet of natural gas daily for consumer use in the state of Michigan.

The Albion-Scipio-Pulaski trend in southern Michigan, already one of the better fields ever found in the state, may develop into an oil and gas production area comparing favorably in importance with others found east of the Mississippi during the life of the 101-year-old industry, oil men say.

Humble Oil and Refining Company, Carter Division, with 35 percent ownership, is associated with Ohio Oil in the plant, which has a daily capacity of 25 million cubic feet of gas, but which will be expanded in the near future.

Ohio Oil officials point out that such a plant has rarely, if ever, been built in an oil and gas producing area so early in the development of the field. The initial trend well was discovered in 1957 but significant development was not carried out on the trend until mid-1959. Oil men report this early building of the natural gasoline plant has been a great stride in oil industry conservation practices. Without such a plant and its gathering system, natural gas as it comes from the ground would not be a marketable product and large percentages of it would be subject to waste.

If Your're Over 40, Plymouth's Recreation Department May Keep You Alive Longer

If you are over 40 years old, your odds are that you are letting your body get rusty. But this need not happen if you are willing to take part in physical activities that are now being provided by the Plymouth Adult Education and Recreation Department.

Surveys by the American Association of Health, Physical Education and Recreation have revealed that people between the ages of 40 and 50 have lowered their chances for living 18 percent in the past 15 years by merely letting their bodies become rusty.

Most people have forgotten what was learned in school days concerning health—that to stay healthy you must exercise your body muscles by doing things requiring action. Too many people are not concerned about their health and extending life, so pass through time by sitting, riding, and watching television.

A recent meeting of "Youth Development-1960" attended in Lansing by Recreation Director Herb Woolweaver, The Michigan Association of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Inc., had numerous speakers who spoke on the health of the 40-year-old as well as that of the youth.

One of the speakers was Louis Means, director of spec-

Rev. Edward Green

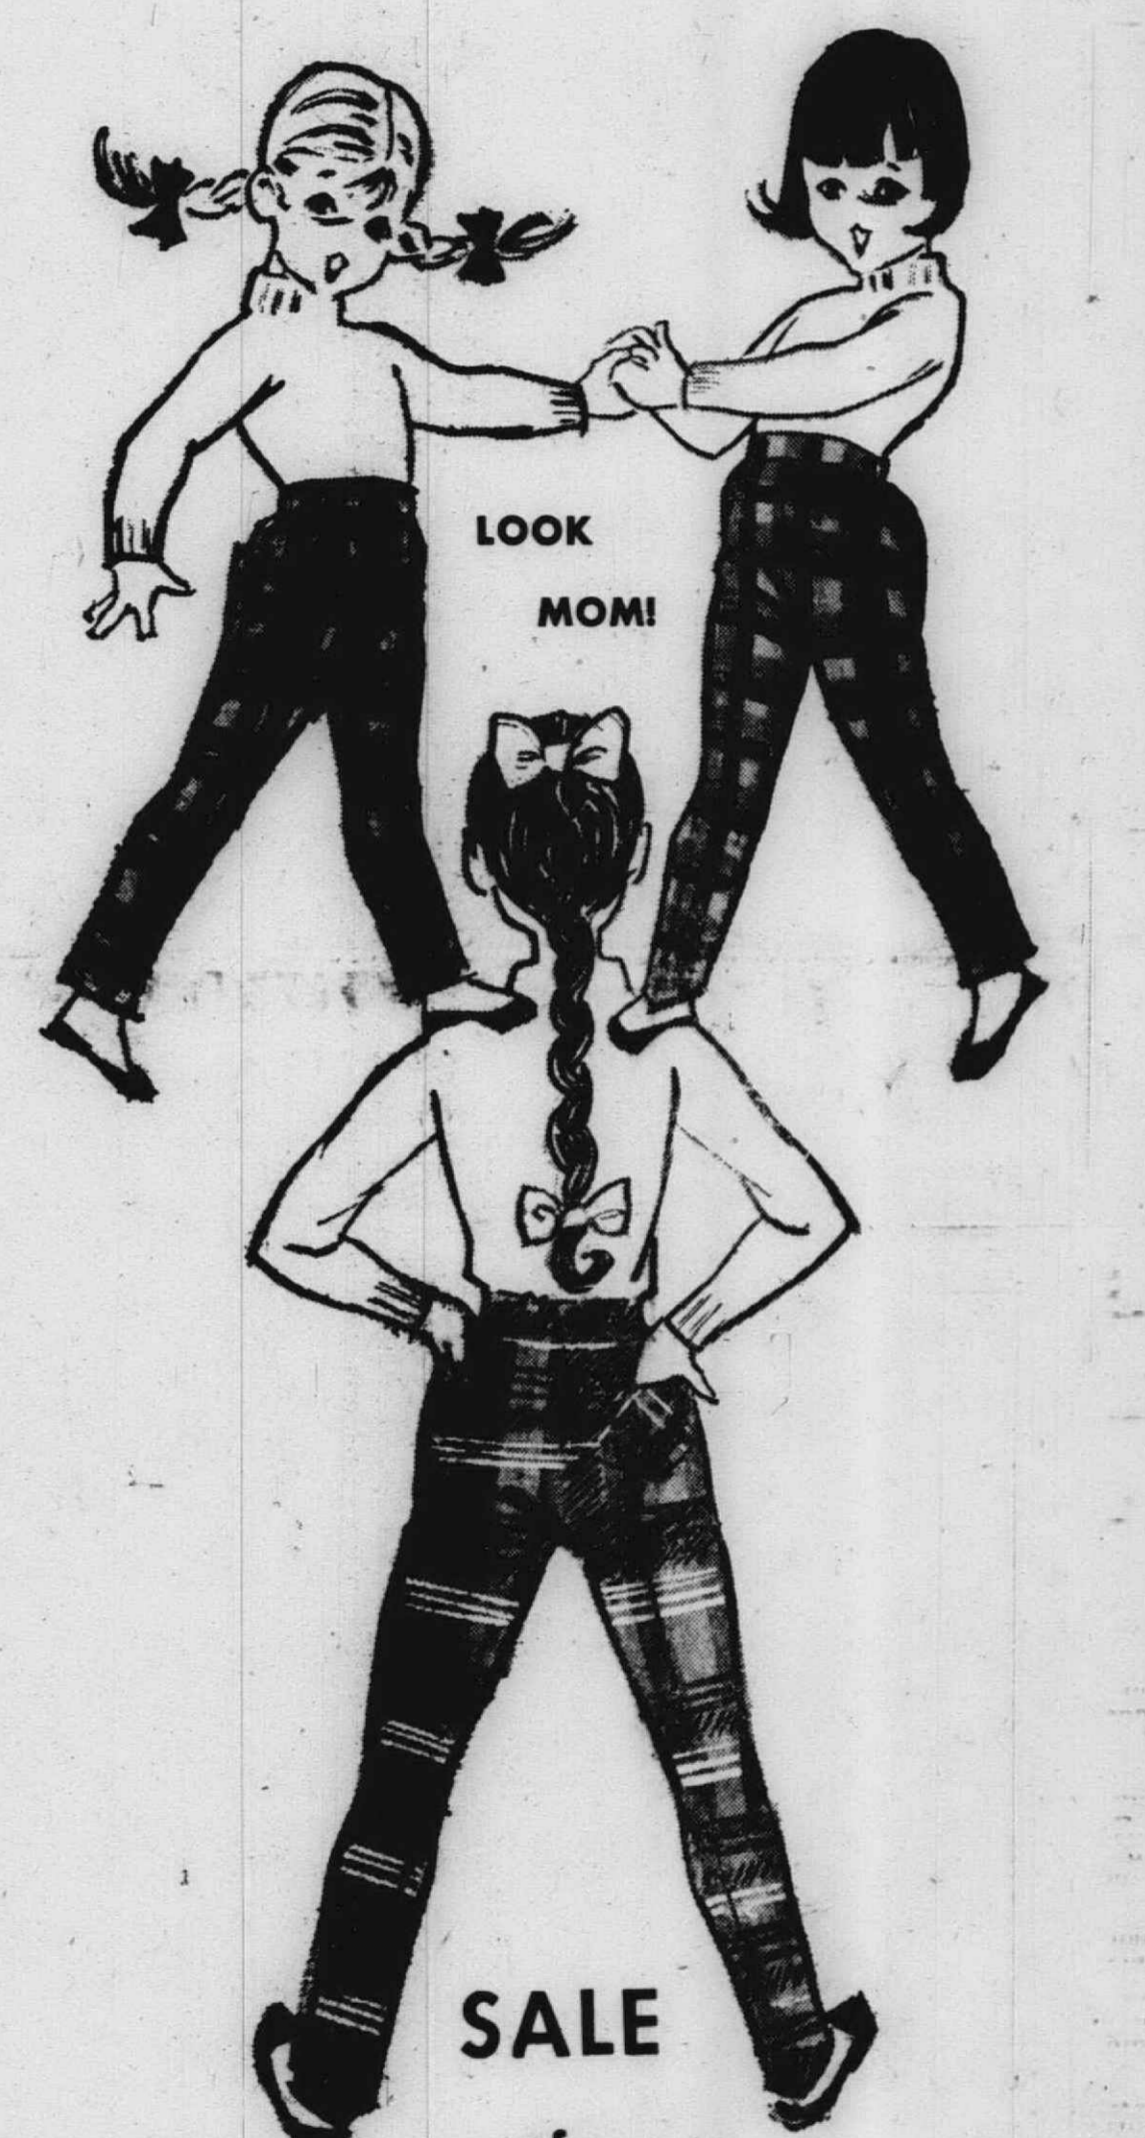

The Rev. R. A. Green, Rector of Christ Church, Dearborn will exchange with the Reverend David T. Davies, Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Plymouth, for all the services on Sunday, Oct. 23, in accordance with a Diocesan plan of clergy exchange throughout the Diocese of Michigan. Such an exchange has been arranged by the Bishop to increase fellowship and understanding among the clergy and their congregations.

The Rev. Mr. Green was born in 1909 in Lansing where he received his early education, graduating from the Old Lansing Central High School in June 1927. Four years later he received his A.B. Degree with high honors from Michigan State College. His post-graduate work in Theology was taken at Seabury-Western Seminary in Evanston, Ill. which is affiliated with Northwestern University.

He received his B.D. Degree from the Seminary in 1934. In June 1934, Mr. Green was ordained Deacon in St. John's Church, Detroit, by the late Rt. Rev. Herman Page, D.D. then Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan, and he was assigned to be rector of St. Peter's Church, Tecumseh, Michigan. A year after he was advanced to the priesthood.

He remained at Tecumseh for seven years when in July 1941 he was called to be rector of St. James Church, Sault Ste. Marie. In Feb. 1949, he was called to serve as Canon Pastor on the staff of St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit. On Sept. 1, 1951, he became Rector of Christ Church, Dearborn, succeeding the Rev. Hedley G. Stacey who retired following a twenty six year incumbency. Mr. Green is a member of the Economic Club of Detroit.

The Rev. and Mrs. Green have three boys; David, who is at present studying for the Episcopal Ministry at the Church Divinity School of the Pacific; Fredrick, who is in high school and Robert, who is in Junior High School.

Meteor Showers in October

ANN ARBOR — A shining "evening star" low in the southwest for a short time after sunset.

"Venus, the brightest object in the whole sky, will be seen low on the horizon just a few degrees toward the south from Mercury," she points out.

"Mars, a reddish object in the constellation of Gemini, will be rising in the northeast at about 9 p.m. by the end of the month.

"Jupiter, bright and low in the southwestern sky, is still with us, but by the end of the month will be setting about three hours after the sun. Saturn follows Jupiter by about an hour, but is not nearly as bright."

Also, two meteor showers are scheduled, Professor Losh says, one occurring in the north around Oct. 9, and the other in the east around Oct. 20.

"The first one, the Draconids or Giacobinids, should be best seen on the early morning of Oct. 9. The second shower, the Orionids, spreads over about eight days with the maximum coming during the sunrise hours on Oct. 20. These Orionids have the highest orbital velocities of any of the showers, which make them tend to appear quite swift and leave trains or streaks in their wakes," Professor Losh says.

Club Learns of Dried Bouquets

SPECIAL FOR COFFEE-BREAK TIME

"As good as they look" is one of the oldest clichés on record—yet it's so true when applied to Honey Twists. These are tempting yeast-raised rolls filled with spicy sugar and baked in a honey mixture that gives them wonderful added flavor as well as that attractive glossy appearance. The recipe makes twelve—but it's no trouble to double! Quick-rising Honey Twists can come hot from the oven in time for the mid-morning coffee-break.

HONEY TWISTS

- 1/4 cup milk
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons margarine or butter
- 1/4 cup warm, not hot, water
- 2 packages or cakes yeast, active dry or compressed
- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour (about)
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons honey
- 2 tablespoons melted margarine or butter
- 1/4 cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon

Scald milk; stir in sugar, salt and margarine or butter; cool to lukewarm. Measure water into large bowl (warm, not hot, water for active dry yeast; lukewarm for compressed yeast). Sprinkle or crumble in yeast; stir until dissolved. Add lukewarm milk mixture, beaten egg and half the flour; beat until well blended. Stir in remaining flour to make soft dough. Turn out onto lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and satiny, about 5 minutes. Shape into ball; place in greased bowl, turning once to grease top of dough. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Meanwhile, melt 1/4 cup margarine or butter; stir in 1/2 cup brown sugar and honey; bring to rolling boil. Spread immediately in jelly roll pan; let stand. Punch dough down; turn out onto lightly floured board. Roll out into 12-inch square. Brush with 2 tablespoons melted margarine or butter. Sprinkle center third with half of the 1/4 cup brown sugar and cinnamon. Fold one third over center third. Sprinkle with remaining sugar and cinnamon. Fold remaining third over the two layers. Cut with sharp knife crosswise into strips about 1 inch wide. Take hold of each end of strip and twist. Seal ends firmly. Place in prepared pan about 1 1/2 inches apart. Cover; let rise in warm place, free from draft, until doubled in bulk, about 1 1/2 hours. Bake at 400° F. about 20 minutes. Invert pan immediately. Makes 12.

Jerry Seibert Says...

Dear Jerry:

Your five-year-old daughter has a purple-red birthmark, about the size of a half-dollar, on one cheek. It didn't bother her until she started kindergarten this fall and some of the children teased her about it. She has always been a happy, outgoing child but now she is self-conscious, miserable, and hates school. Doctors tell us the birthmark can't be removed. I've tried to cover it with various make-ups but the dark color shows through. Can you suggest anything that might help?

Mrs. C. A. O. I certainly can — Covermark, an opaque cream made expressly to cover birthmarks, scars, broken veins and other skin blemishes. It was developed by a woman chemist who was born with a large disfiguring birthmark. Covermark, the only product approved by the American Medical Assn. for this purpose, is not classed as a cosmetic and carries no federal tax. It comes in several skin-tone shades and is simple to apply. With practice, very large and (or) dark blemishes may be covered in a manner almost impossible to detect. Waterproof Covermark, properly applied, will stay on until removed with cream or soap and water.

Dear Jerry:

What other make-up colors can be worn with the new brownish lipsticks? Would an "all brown" make-up be monotonous with a beige and brown outfit?

Blue or green eye shadow and eyeliner — either matched or mixed — are stunning with brown lipstick. But if the brown color range is really yours — and it is not, alas, every woman's cup of coffee — the all brown-toned make-up is the height of sophistication this fall. Wear lipstick, eye shadow and eyeliner in one of the smoky, amber-browns with no hint of rosiness (Revlon's "French Toast" is among the newest and most universally becoming). Keep foundation and powder in the ivory through beige range, with no rouge, or only a hint of light-est coral. For evening glamour add gold eye shadow and frost your lashes with gold or gold-bronze mascara (also Revlon).

Dear Jerry:

How can I keep a sharp point on eyebrow pencils? I grind most of mine up in the pencil sharpener and have nothing left but a messy blunt end.

Never try to sharpen an eyebrow pencil in a pencil sharpener. Unlike pencil leads, their fillers are soft and oily. Use a single-edged razor blade. Keep one with your eyebrow pencil so you can use it often and keep the sharp point necessary for a perfect job.

Miss C. B. Shortman has resigned her position as treasurer of the Markham Air Rifle Co. and will soon leave for California, where she is having a home built. She will be accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sprague and W. F. Markham. Mr. Markham and Mr. Sprague will make an extended trip through old Mexico this coming winter.

The council on Tuesday evening purchased an 80-horse power auxiliary steam engine, to supplement the one now in use, at a cost of $2,400. With the installment of this engine day service for electric current will be inaugurated.

The warm weather of the past two weeks has brought out many strawberries and one lady reports having picked three quarts from her patch.

Wayne, the old antagonist on the football field, will again meet Plymouth High School this afternoon at 3:30 at Athletic Park. The Plymouth boys put up a very fine game with Monroe last Friday afternoon and may be expected to improve upon the same this afternoon and give Wayne a beating. Come out and see them do it.

Cradle Cap Can Be Controlled

By S. Robert Lewis, M.D., Pediatric Section, Princeton Hospital, Princeton, N.J.

Mothers often are dismayed to find that their infants have a form of that common affliction known as dandruff. Scientifically, it is called seborrhea capitis. Most mothers know it as "cradle cap." It is a worrisome occurrence for the mother, and often annoying for the baby. The affliction is caused by overactivity of the sebaceous or oil glands of the skin. This results in an over-secretion of oil which hardens on the surface of the skin, the dried oil forms itchy and somewhat loose scales, or, as we commonly call them, dandruff. Doctors have found that some people may have more thorough cleansing of the baby's scalp with warm water and soap. Enough of the cream is then applied to leave the scalp soft and moist. The cream should be applied two or three times a day. Cleansing once a day, preferably at regular bath time, is advised.

Allantoin, coal tar extract and hexachlorophene together, appear to be the most effective treatment developed thus far for "cradle cap." The combination soon eliminates itching, stops itchy and brings minor secondary infections under control.

One of the major values of this preparation for physicians and mothers is the simplicity and safety with which it can be administered.

Missionary To Speak

The Plymouth Seventh-day Adventist Church will be host to the Brian Jacques family at 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 21, at the church, 4123 E. Ann Arbor Trail.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques and two small sons, have recently returned from four years of mission service in Pakistan. They will display the dress of the people and will show slides depicting the customs and culture of the country.

While serving as principal of a 12 grade school and as educational secretary for the Pakistan Union, Jacques traveled widely through the country as well as in Burma, Siam and Hong Kong.

He was born in England and came to the United States upon graduation from high school. He received his bachelor of arts degree from Washington Missionary College, and his master of arts degree from the Seventh-day Adventist University, also in Washington, D.C. He is now studying for his doctorate in speech and history at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

The public is cordially invited to attend Jacques' illustrated lecture.

The TV tube takes on new brilliance as each week gets deeper into our wonderful fall season. Even the commercials seem to have a more gracious glow to their hard-sell mumbo-jumbo. Or is old George getting soft-hearted in his declining years?

No, I prefer to think that TV executives have begun to take a long, hard look at their product and realize that unless a stop was put to some of the grade "Z" tape issuing forth from that winking-eye in your living room, Mr. and Mrs. Average American might just escape to the movies, or heaven forbid... they might even go back to the lost art of reading. Consequently, we've been getting some good programs.

Perry Como, last Wednesday, brought dear, lovable Sid Caesar back to the small screen for a hilarious hour of comedy. Mr. C. let him have full reign with his satiric wit. Sid was priceless as a tired political candidate.

And the two campaigning candidates for the No. 1 U.S. job went right at it the other evening again. The debates are improving. Someone is evidently doing a better job of writing their material. And you know this might not be so far-fetched. Let me tell you a couple of inside stories that came out of the second debate.

Senator Kennedy wasn't satisfied with the lighting for the second show. He claimed one light was shining directly into his eyes. He proved his point by going over to Nixon's position and showing how the light was favorable when Dick had to stand. Obviously, a Republican electrician had tried to sabotage Senator Jack. The director quickly made the shift in lighting and the glaring "error" was eliminated.

Vice-President Nixon's problem was not lighting, but make-up. In fact, rumor had it that a Democrat must have made up Dick in order to create a bad impression. For the second appearance a card-carrying Republican certified the make-up and the National Republican Committee made one other request of the TV people—control Dick's perspiration. The heat of the studio had caused rivulets of perspiration to appear on Nixon's forehead. Naturally, the temptation was great to utilize an anti-perspirant at about this point.

All Madison Ave. was agog at the possibilities. The NBC studios had an easier and more humane way to solve this problem. They turned on the air-conditioning and cooled down the studio to a chilly 64 degrees.

Noticing the coolness of the studio, Senator Jack quipped, "I might have to put on a sweater, if it doesn't warm up in here." The ear-from-deathless lines evoked little laughter from Dick Nixon and his entourage. Dick's PR man merely whipped out Nixon's old family shawl, frayed and historic with age, and put it over Dick's shoulders. They claim his comforting words were, "Better put this on, Dick, it's mighty cool in here." There's no truth to the rumor that Nixon sat in a rocking chair to relax prior to the telecast.

As the debates continue in the weeks to come, old George will keep you posted as to what goes on before and after in the studios. Senator Jack has called for an extra debate; while Richard would like to extend debate number four. Well, whatever they do, it has been a historic series of verbal encounters and makes you proud to own a TV set.

Even the Jack Paar show—which has been on my blacked-out list for a long while—had an interesting session the other evening. Arlene Francis handled the reins in Jack's absence. That might account for my enjoyment, right there. No... it was more than that. Arlene had the boisterous boy, Brendan Behan, from Ireland on the tube.

Behan, a stormy playwright from the old Sod, has a play entitled "The Hostage" currently running on Broadway. While the play was in session in London, Brendan became a holy terror. His nightly drinking bouts were the talk of London. Since arriving he has given up the fermented juice of the grape. He claims he's strictly on buttermilk.

Behan's interesting comments on life kept the Jack Paar show spinning merrily all evening. The Irish have a magical way of combing words and phrases until they have an almost musical sound. Brendan Behan, sober and most thoughtful, was a delight to listen to as he regaled the audience with an amazing store of anecdotes.

Locally, the Shubert Theater and the Cass Theater are both enjoying the happy phenomenon of doing capacity business. Marlene Dietrich and her revue has been well-received and you have only until this Saturday to see the ageless Marlene. And the Cass Theater has a top prize for one more week, "Raisin In The Sun." Audiences come out of the Cass marveling at the fine acting, the wonderful story, and the universality of the theme.

The problems presented in "A Raisin in the Sun" could happen to anyone. Ken Schwartz, manager of the Cass, recognized this several seasons back. He was the original spark-plug back of "Raisin." His enthusiasm for this fine play paid off recently. Ken, in addition to his time-consuming chore as the Cass Theater major domo... is busy trying to get a play called "Once There Was A Russian" off the ground for a New York presentation. Once more Ken is banking on his theatrical intuitiveness as a Broadway producer.

For those of you that saw "Invitation To A March," recent pre-Broadway Broadway play at the Cass, might like to know that Shelley Winters may check out of the show. She is not happy with her leading role. Celeste Holm has been mentioned as her replacement. It's my prediction that if Celeste takes over, Broadway will have a solid hit on its hands.

The Vanguard continues with that powerful drama of a man's fight against the domineering will of an evil wife—"The Father." See this play at the Vanguard for an evening of excellent acting. Time to close the curtains for another week. Before we go, remember this is the week of the National Auto Show at the gigantic Cobo Hall. Admission price is a mere 50 cents. You won't find a bigger bargain in the downtown area. Take the whole family down to see this biggest show of all. You'll enjoy it even if you've still got 30 months to go on the present family chariot.

Security plus 3%

Yours in a Special Savings Account at National Bank of Detroit. All the big things people save for—homes, cars, vacations, their retirement years (and you could name a dozen more)—are certainly good reasons to save.

But another excellent reason, we think, is so you can get more "right now" fun out of life; so you can quit worrying about every nickel you spend on the day-to-day things you and your family enjoy.

The plan is easy enough: You split each pay check into three parts. Part One, you use to build up a reserve fund for the security of yourself and your family... to help you meet emergencies and take advantage of opportunities. Part Two, you budget for all normal living expenses. And Part Three, you set aside for fun!

The hard part is getting started on the plan and sticking to it. But any of the 66 National Bank of Detroit offices will be glad to help you build your reserve fund; show you how it can earn 3% interest in one of our special savings accounts. When can we get started? This week?

United Church Women Observe Community Day

Is peace possible in today's world? The answer to this question will be sought Friday, Nov. 4, by the United Church Women of Livonia in their annual observance of World Community Day.

In announcing the plans for the observance Mrs. Lester Morrison, World Community Day Chairman, stated that Christian action for peace and freedom from poverty and chronic ill health are the major emphases this year.

"Christian Action for Freedom," the World Community Day theme, is United Church Women's answer to the new forces that threaten survival in this nuclear space age.

The 1960 observance of World Community Day involves country-wide discussion of the theme and action to give meaning to Christian concerns.

On Nov. 4 church women of Plymouth, Livonia and Redford Township areas will meet to dedicate their gifts and rededicate themselves. Dr. Henry J. Walch, D.D., minister of First United Presbyterian Church, Plymouth, will address the church women at this special service, to be held at 1:30 in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Five Mile Rd. at Inkster.

Mrs. Lester Larrabee, president of the Livonia Council of Church Women, will introduce the speaker. Dr. Walch — who was born in Rochester, N.Y., served in Oakfield, N.Y., Rochester, N.Y., and Detroit, Mich., prior to his pastorate at First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, where he has served 17 years.

A graduate of the University of Rochester — with a bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees — and a graduate of McCormick Theological Seminary — where he received his degree of Bachelor of Divinity — he later received the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity from Alma College.

He has served two terms as Moderator of the Presbytery of Detroit, and at present is a member of the Board of National Missions of the Presbytery, and is a member of the Synod Westminster Foundation Board.

His community interests include membership in the Rotary Club and service on one of the committees for the City of Plymouth. Married, he is the father of a son and a daughter, each of whom has two children.

Others taking part in the service will be: Mrs. Douglas Denton, leader; Mrs. Donald Heller, soloist; Mrs. Louis Haessler, Jr., organist; Mrs. Harold Kuhl, Bible reading.

Ushers will be Mrs. Thomas Patterson, Mrs. Kathryn Miller, Mrs. Edna Duncan and Mrs. Jerry Vincent.

The gift committee is comprised of Mrs. Robert Kerr and Mrs. Roy Burgess and the benediction will be pronounced by the Reverend Richard Milford, minister of the host church.

Prior to World Community Day, discussion groups in local societies will be studying some of the problems of today's world. They will seek to understand how United States and United Nations policies on peace and international issues are determined and the part that individuals can play in helping to shape these policies.

The offering received on World Community Day will help train women in nutrition and welfare — especially in Ethiopia, Nigeria, Chile and Burma. "We are also sewing children's gowns," Mrs. Morrison stated, "for use in over-stuffed churches, supported institutions, homes and hospitals. And, we are assembling home medical kits for use in remote areas."

"It is so easy for us to replenish our medicine cabinets by running to the corner drugstore, but it's a different story for mothers in those struggling countries," she said.

World Community Day is sponsored annually by United Church Women, a general department of the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A., representing some 12 million Protestant and Orthodox church women in the United States.

Mrs. Francis B. Sarye, Washington, D.C., is national chairman for the observance and Mrs. Ester W. Hymer, New York City, is director.

"Is peace possible in today's world?" This question was put to Dr. Walch and the answer came back in one cogent sentence: "I do believe that peace is possible in today's world because unless there is peace, there will be no world as far as man is concerned."

Tips For Teens

By ELINOR WILLIAMS

"Dear Elinor: Before I can go on a date, I must ask my parents to see if they approve and if they have any plans. It may make the boys think that I am tied to my mother's apron-strings. What do you think about it?"

Ans. — Just the opposite is true. This isn't "apron-string"; it's being a mature person. Consulting your parents before making date-plans shows that you have respect for your parents and consideration for other people's convenience, also that your parents are doing their job. Most boys have more respect and real regard for a girl who does the right thing and isn't ashamed of it. When boys see you and your parents treat each other, in your family, with respect and courtesy, the boys are likely to treat you the same way. All your life you'll have to take the plans and wishes of others into consideration when making your own, so why not begin learning to do it now?

Q. "Dear Miss Williams: I read your advice about inviting a boy to parties when you like him and want to date him or get to know him better. I do this and the boy I like says he will come, then he doesn't show up. Will I be chasing him if I keep on asking him?"

Ans. — A boy who accepts an invitation and then doesn't go doesn't deserve a second invitation. Help him grow up — and acquire common courtesy by leaving him out of the fun unless he has better manners and keeps his word.

Q. Dear Elinor: I am a girl of 13 and I like a girl in my class. In school, she seems to like me, but out of school, she brushes me off. Should I give up being friends with her?"

Ans. — There's little you can do, except consider her a school-friend, until she shows an interest in being with you at other times, too.

Are Your Children's Feet Fit for Their Future Years?

If they knew, they'd tell you. But they don't, so they won't.

That's the story when it comes to asking children whether a new pair of shoes seems to fit—or if an old pair is still comfortable. The fact is that young feet are so soft that they can be deformed without pain or discomfort—and then it's too late. But selecting your child's shoes needn't be a guessing game, for there's much you can do to assure a proper fit—and help him stride into adulthood with his best foot forward.

First step (for you, not him) is selection of a shoe store. Remember that the more valuable a merchant's reputation, the more likely he is to assure good fit.

Second parental step: seeing that the child gets a perfect fit. Nothing less will do. It will help you if you bear in mind what the shoe must do; the young foot, in a shoe, must be able to flex and grip without harmful pressure on any part of the foot. Next you must make sure that the salesman measures both feet, length and width, for a child's two feet are seldom identical in these respects. He'll take the longest and widest measurement as his guide. Always have your child try on both shoes — unless, of course, the first shoe he puts on is obviously the wrong size.

With the child standing, check these five points:

1. Length—shoe must be long enough at all points of the foot. Shoe length is not merely a matter of toe-room or grow-room; correct length also depends on the relation of the shoe to the arches of the foot.

2. Width—shoe must be wide enough to furnish support without pressure. If the shoe is too tight, it is too narrow by far. It must be wide enough so that it exerts no molding force on the soft bone and tissue of the young foot.

3. Ball—the ball of the foot must meet the ball of the shoe. The test: the ball of the foot should rest at the break of the shoe—that is, at the junction of the arch and the sole.

4. Heel—it must neither slip nor pinch. The heel of each shoe must be wide enough to give the child a firm base with ankles straight and weight evenly distributed. It should not pinch at the back or under the ankle. At the same time, it should be snug enough to cling to the foot as the child walks.

5. Grow-room—the assurance that the shoes will fit a desirable 10 to 16 weeks, depending on the child's age (the younger the child, the faster he outgrows his shoes). The grow-room test? A mental review of the four tested steps you've already followed.

If you're fully satisfied that the shoes fit in these respects, then you can buy them confident that they provide enough grow-room.

Now that you've bought the shoes with the best possible fit, there remains the final step in protecting your child's feet: checking up from time to time on the condition of his footwear. About every two weeks—on the first and fifteenth of each month, say—check the wear on heels and soles.

If they're worn through, your youngster not only has less cushioning for his active feet, but is a likelier candidate for wet feet—and colds. Feel the inner sole periodically; if it ripples or curls, your child's shoes are considerably less comfortable than they might be. And children can't be depended upon to tell you when their feet hurt.

Every now and then, notice how your child ties his shoelaces. If they're too loose, the shoes aren't giving his feet the necessary support. If the laces are too tight, the resulting pressure may be deforming his feet. Such sole-searching pays off in a big way. If you select a reputable shoe store, see that your child gets a perfect fit there, and learn how to check up on what's afoot with him, you'll have taken three giant steps toward giving him a healthy pair of feet with a lifetime guarantee of good service. If he subsequently gets a big kick out of life, a large share of the credit will go to you and your insistence that his or her feet be fit for the future.

Hunters Urged to Get Approval From Farmers Before Firing

Small game hunters in southern Michigan are urged to start their season off on the right foot this Thursday, Oct. 20 by getting permission to hunt on private lands before taking to the field.

It only takes a few minutes to do the right thing and the Conservation Department's hunting permission survey in this part of the state during the last two seasons shows that courtesy pays off.

Approximately 75 percent of more than 350 farmers contacted gave the "o.k." to hunt on their lands sometime during the 1958 and 1959 seasons. The survey covered urban areas as well as rural regions.

Results of the survey bear out the spirit of farmer cooperation over the years. Since the mid-30's, thousands of farmers have worked to cut trespass problems and balance hunter kill with available game by participating in the Williamston Plan.

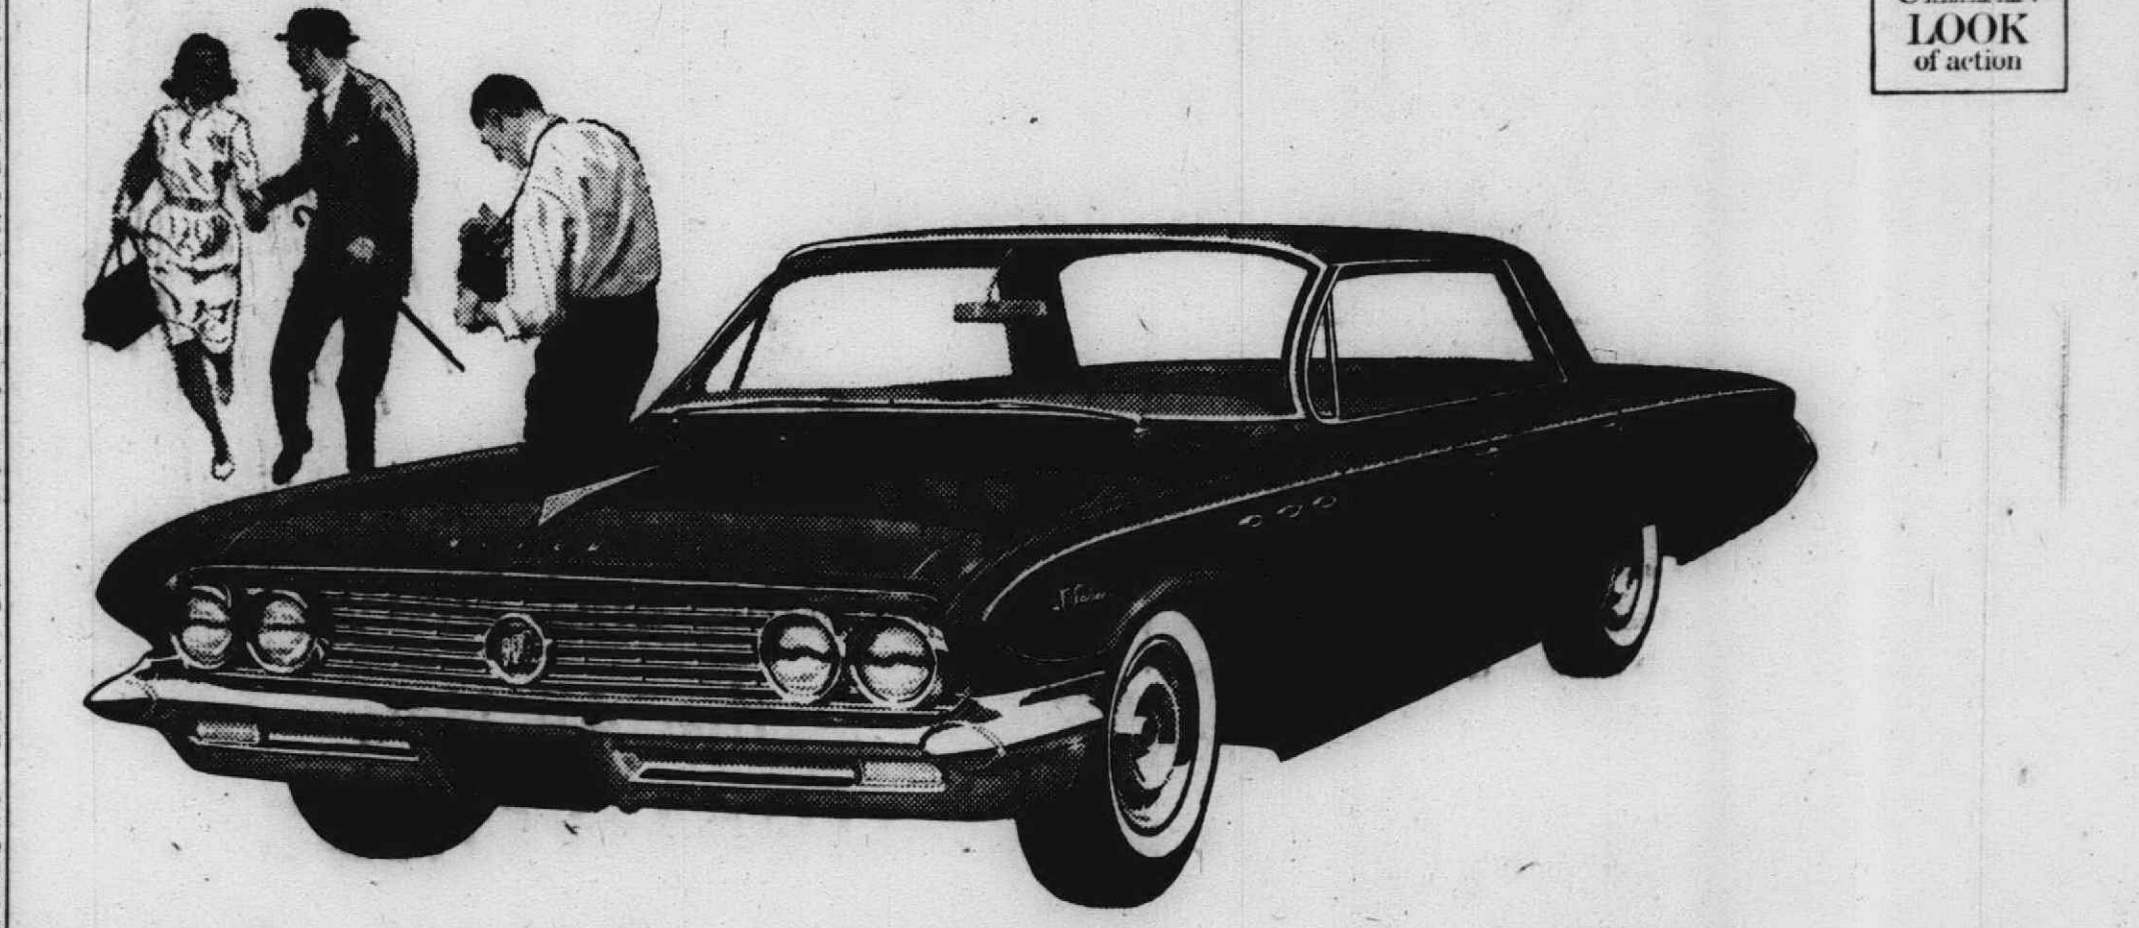

Thirty-seven farmer clubs, representing approximately 1,800 farmers and 113,000 acres in southern Michigan, are enrolled in the Plan this season. These farmers will have their lands posted and will personally issue tickets to hunters. Only ticket holders will be allowed access to the farmer's lands. The landowner, himself, sets hunter quotas.

Success of the Williamston Plan and farmer-hunter relations rests, in the final analysis, with hunters. Those who trespass or toss and respect for the farmer's livestock and property to the winds also often throw away their chances for hunting on private lands in future years.

Many of the farmers who refused permission to hunt on their lands during the 1958-59 survey complained that hunters in previous years had trespassed or caused damage.

In addition to lands made available by cooperating farmers, there are 60 good reasons why hunters have no excuse for trespassing. These reasons are state game areas covering 201,000 acres in southern Michigan which are open to public hunting.

THE CLEAN LOOK of action scores the style coup of '61!

Buick sets off '61's styling excitement with a new trim, clean look, hailed by fashion leaders and new car buyers as the taste-setter of the year!

"Look! Nothing dips, nothing bends, nothing bulges!"... "Those clean, flowing lines are simply elegant!"... "The Clean Look of action? It really has it!"

Those are the kinds of things people are saying about the new Buick. For Buick's talk about styling is stirring up a storm. With just that alone, Buick would be out front for '61; but Buick has never been content to do things by half. So underneath its body beautiful is a new Wildcat V-8 with new gas savings and go; a new Turbine Drive with new bite (standard on all full-size Buicks!); a new Hide-Away drive shaft for flatter floors; a new Safety-X frame that lowers the sills, quiets the ride.

That isn't all. This Buick is built around an all-new Comfort Zone. Though trimmer and sleeker outside, Buick has more head-room, leg-room, shoulder-room inside. The seating's softer. And as you drive, Control Arm Suspension smooths the bumps, flattens the corners. But no words or picture can do this Buick justice; you have to drive it to appreciate it. Come to your Buick dealer—and add to the comments!

'61 IS BUICK'S YEAR

Mr. John J. Ort, President, Livonia Educators' Assn., Livonia Public Schools

Dear Mr. Ort:

On October 5 I received a letter sent to all Livonia parents by the Livonia Educators' Assn. signed by you, wherein you mention you are sponsoring two candidates for forums. After reading the entire letter, I would feel it more appropriate for you to have said you are sponsoring candidates rather than candidates forums.

I believe it most inexcusable — or completely inefficient — or both, for your office to send out a letter to parents in Livonia without first checking over the contents. The gentleman running for Congress on the Republican ticket in our District (17) is Mr. Richard E. Morell, not a Mr. Robert Morrill. Since Mr. Morell had personally answered your invitation and enclosed information on himself, it is difficult to understand how you could have missed this. Perhaps you also, will "become better acquainted with the candidates at your forum. I hope so.

Furthermore, I feel it completely out of order for you to take it upon yourself to so generously give "additional information" on the Parties' stands on Federal Aid to Education. I would naturally suppose that since Federal Aid to Education was to be a subject for discussion at these forums, that the people could determine the parties' position for themselves and would not need any editorializing on your part. The inference, of course, has been made to all those parents who do not attend the forums, that the Democrats want money for both construction and salaries, the Republicans want money only for construction, the Educators want support for both. Therefore: the Educators are endorsing the Democratic candidates.

I feel the entire paragraph was unwarranted, but if you felt it necessary to write it at all you could have at least explained the reason for the Republican stand, rather than to infer that we are against bettering our educational standards. Let me state here, Republicans are just as interested and concerned in all areas of human care and development as are the members of the other Party. We are more aware, however, of the basic mathematical reasoning that to send $4 to Washington in order to get $3 back in aid just does not add up to sound business practice.

Sincerely,
Anne Conklin (Mrs.)

Editor:

Statement from Board of Education regarding letter to parents announcing Livonia Educators' Association Political Forums:

Last week an announcement was sent to parents through students of the Livonia Public Schools concerning the political forums sponsored at Bentley High School by the Livonia Educators' Association, John Ort, president. The final paragraph referred to the stand of the two parties on Federal aid to education.

Of course, the Board of Education has a firm policy against endorsement of either political party. Upon checking with the officers of the Livonia Educators' Association, we were assured it was not their intention to endorse the stand of either political party.

A letter of explanation to parents submitted to this paper by Mr. Ort today emphasizes this same non-partisan position.

If there was an interpretation by any readers that this letter constituted an endorsement of the stand of either party, the Board of Education and the administrative staff of our school system, as well as the teachers of L.E.A., want to again emphasize their position of a non-partisan approach toward political issues in forums or other school activities. We regret that the wording of the Livonia Educators' Association letter did not clearly indicate this policy.

Respectfully yours,
Livonia Board of Education
Benton Yates, Superintendent of Schools

To the citizens of Livonia:

Last week, many children attending Livonia Public Schools brought home a letter carrying my signature. These letters announced two political forums to be held at Bentley High School.

Unfortunately, there were two errors in these letters.

First, Mr. Richard E. Morell, Republican candidate for Congress was listed as Mr. Robert Morrill. I am at a loss to explain how this error was made, however, may I say sincerely that it was not intentional.

Secondly, at the end of these letters, a reference was made to the education planks of each of the parties' platforms and the stand of the educational field in this matter. I can assure you that this was not an effort at editorializing, but an attempt to provide information in regard to federal aid. The statement, taken from the National Education Association Journal, was probably too brief and has apparently offended some people.

As an organization, the Livonia Educators' Association does not endorse either party, and this was not the intent of the paragraph.

The leadership of the L.E.A. has one main concern in this area, that teachers and citizens be fully informed concerning the issues of all elections.

Those two political forums were planned to provide an opportunity for people living and working in the community to meet and hear the candidates for the forthcoming election.

We were trying to be of service to our community. If we erred, it was in our enthusiasm, not in our intent.

Sincerely,
John J. Ort,
L.E.A. President

(Editor's Note: In a fit of whimsy, we're printing the latest letter just as received. Teacher is gaining in spelling, but the man referred to in paragraph three is "Morell," not Morrill. One "R," not two.)

Next regular meeting Tuesday, Nov. 1 at 8 p.m. See you there.

Exalted Ruler Willard Lorenz announced today that Plymouth Elks Lodge will honor members of the Plymouth Mail during National Newspaper Week, October 15-21, "for their patriotic service to the community and the nation in upholding freedom of the press — one of our most precious rights."

Lorenz said that Plymouth Lodge would be among 1,940 Lodges of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks honoring America's free press during the 21st annual National Newspaper Week observance. The theme for the event is "Your Newspaper—Freedom's Guardian."

"In recent months we have seen, right in our own backyard, how vital a free press is to the survival of a free people," Lorenz declared. "When the Communists moved in on Cuba, their very first step was to seize the press, thereby cutting off the people from access to the truth."

The Elk's leader urged every Plymouth resident who values his heritage of freedom to "join with us during the week of October 15-21 in a tribute to one of its staunchest defenders - the American free press."

Exalted Ruler Lorenz named Clete Carlton, Editor of the Lodge Magazine, Chairman of Plymouth Lodge's National Newspaper Week Committee to plan the local observance.

Lorenz said that participation in the annual salute to the nation's press has been one of the Elk's major patriotic activities since 1949.

United Nations Day Dinner:

BY ROSELLA M. BANNISTER
Wayne County Extension Agent, Home Economics

Why not serve an "international" dinner at your house on Oct. 24 — in honor of United Nations Day!

Eating foods from other lands on this day is a growing tradition established in 1958 by President and Mrs. Eisenhower in the White House.

The sharing of food has long been a pledge of man's good will to his neighbor, and "Peace through Food" is the theme of this year's United Nations Day.

By serving foods from other lands in our homes we widen our knowledge of food, geography and cultures of other people.

A cheese soup from Canada, roast duck from France, nut bread from Norway, and pumpkin pie from the USA's Mamie Eisenhower is our suggestion for your United Nations Day dinner menu.

For a start on your fact-finding search about these countries, Norway has a population of 3,500,000. Canada's population is 16,000,000. France has about 44,000,000 people and the USA has more than 175,000,000 people.

Children too, will be more aware of other lands, other people, and other customs when you serve an international meal. Encourage the youngsters to find out something about each country represented by the meal. They might also make decorations for the table.

If you believe, as I do, that Americans should also study the customs of unfriendly nations, you may want to serve Cuban rice with black beans, and lamb-on-a-skewer from the USSR.

Here is Mamie Eisenhower's recipe for pumpkin chiffon pie:

PUMPKIN CHIFFON PIE
3 beaten egg yolks
¾ cup brown sugar

1½ cups cooked pumpkin
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
¾ cup cold water
3 stiffly beaten egg whites
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 large pie shell or 8 individual shells, baked
Whipping cream

Combine egg yolks, brown sugar, pumpkin, milk, salt, and spices. Cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Soak gelatin in cold water and stir into hot mixture. Chill until partly set. Beat egg whites, add granulated sugar, and beat until stiff. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into pie shell and chill until set. Garnish with whipped cream. Yield: 1 large or 8 individual pies.

This recipe was taken from the book "Favorite Recipes from the United Nations."

Tax Enemy Within?

An increasing number of financial experts warn that our federal tax system has become a threat to America's economic health. Among them is Arthur F. Burns, Columbia University professor, former chairman of President Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers, and authority on business fluctuations.

years been very methodical in creating large income inequalities," he said. "In particular they reward handsomely their managers, scientists, teachers, and the more skilled factory workers. But while they have been devising special incentives to spur productivity, thereby adopting the practices of our older capitalism, we have adopted a tax system that weakens the incentive to create and produce.

Under 21

By DAN HALLIGAN

Dear Teen-Agers and Children: Here's your chance to possibly earn some Christmas spending money and all of you will have equal opportunities to win. "Under 21" is sponsoring two separate writing contests with cash prizes of $25 each to winners in each of two divisions.

Division A is for pupils in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades. Division B is for 10th, 11th and 12th grade pupils. Subject matter is this: "What I Believe This Christmas." Your entry must not exceed 150 words and can be typewritten or not. Entries will not be judged as much on how they appear on paper, either typed or written in longhand, as they will be on the basic idea you write about.

Include your name, age, address, grade in school and the name of your school on your entry and mail it to your local newspaper or directly to me. Entries must be postmarked not later than Nov. 30 to be eligible for the $25 prize in each division.

Dear Dan: I'm a girl of 18 and have a brother two years younger who knows more about my personal life than he should. I've done a couple of things that I'm ashamed of and my brother somehow found out about them, from the boy I dated, I guess, and keeps hanging the threat of telling Mom over my head unless I'm nice to him.

Arthritis Quackery Explained

The cruel swindle of America's arthritis sufferers is the subject of a new booklet, "The Arthritis Hoax - $250,000,000 in Frauds and Fallacies,"

Handwriting Is Clue About You

Dear Miss Williams: I have been toying with the idea of writing to you for a long time and finally I just put everything else aside and took a moment to jot this note to you. Can you make anything out of this?

There are times of self-consciousness and a feeling of not being true to yourself and your own thinking. You are actually a very definite thinker, and an emphatic person, knowing your purpose and striving for it.

Dear Mary S.: Yes, your note shows quite a variety of traits, for instance you are so very precise in everything you do. You have things in an organized manner and every detail attended to. You strive for perfection and like things running smoothly.

There is a great desire to possess and own. You keep many things locked up within you even though you are an expressive person. You have a good memory to sift facts, information and ideas, analyzing them for your own satisfaction.

Dear Lucille: I've read your column and I think it is very interesting. It's amazing what you can tell about a person just by their handwriting. Would you please analyze mine?

There is a desire to acquire more learning. She likes to be active and a part of things. There is no sensitivity to criticism, but there is pride and a desire to do things right.

Dear L. R.: You have an aim and purpose in life and are quite determined to see them through. You are practical minded and a good thinker.

If Your Name Is Roy

By Ann Reynolds This name came to us from the Gaelic language, the ancient tongue of Ireland and the Scottish Highlands. It derived from the Gaelic word "rhu" which means "red."

Originally it may have been the nickname of men with red hair. Some folks, for obvious reasons, would think that "Roy" means "King".

A famous man called "Roy" or "Roe", was Owen Roe O'Neill, an Irish patriot. He traced his descent back to the 6th century King Niall of Ireland, and he dreamed of complete independence for his country.
