

Plymouth's Downtown Can Survive, Retailers Told

Plymouth's downtown CAN survive! These were the reassuring words heard last week by Plymouth retail and professional people from William F. Jewell, area development specialist for the U.S. Department of Commerce.

Speaking at the monthly meeting of the Retail and Professional Division of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce, Jewell declared that there is no reason why Plymouth's downtown can't compete with other shopping centers. And the downtown's old buildings, he revealed, can be used to an advantage.

As the waves of population steadily roll toward Plymouth from Detroit, new shopping centers make their appearance also. During the next 10 years, Jewell predicts, Plymouth, Canton and Northville Townships will feel the impact just as Redford and Livonia have during the past 10 years.

Jewell first cited the problems of an older downtown, such as Plymouth's, and then he told how to turn them to an advantage. While shopping centers such as Wonderland and Northland are operated by one group and shop owners must conform with regulations, stores and buildings in towns such as Plymouth are owned by a host of individuals. Some buildings have been in a family for several generations and are divided among many heirs. Others are held by absentee owners.

"Unless merchants can have a common opinion of objectives, it will be difficult to work out problems," Jewell declared.

Getting store and building owners to decide upon objectives appears to be the greatest problem.

On the other hand, Plymouth has advantages. Jewell noted that Plymouth has identity and character. "When you think of Plymouth you can visualize a place, usually the center of the town. When you try to visualize Livonia, it can't be done," he added.

"Plymouth has been characterized as the Colonial Town and this is an excellent piece of material to work with," the speaker commented. Old buildings can be put to an advantage, and he cited the Georgetown area in Washington D.C. as an example.

This was once a slum area with many families living in each of the big homes.

Then someone got an idea of fixing up the old homes and now it is the prestige neighborhood of the capital.

"Downtown Plymouth can be brought into line without tearing out everything. You don't have to go modern. Think of how much places like Northland spend trying to make store fronts look different, although the buildings were all erected at the same time," Jewell declared.

And fixing up old buildings doesn't mean just putting on a new front on the ground level. Repairs should include the entire front, he advised.

All merchants should turn their window lights on at night. "If one store has lights and the next three are dark, this is a sure indication that the town is not awake," he asserted.

Modern merchandising should also be a consideration. But one of the most potent forms of competition is the service that Plymouth stores can of-er, Jewell pointed out. "There is no reason why Plymouth can't compete with any shopping center when it comes to service."

"Improvement of the downtown means that you are improving the community — for it may mean that industry will be attracted here and more industry means more support for better schools and more payroll."

"Concentrate on the things you can do uniquely," Jewell said in closing. "Above all, you must work together."

The Retail and Professional Division already has a list of projects upon which they are concentrating. These include street light improvement, store window displays, front improvements, uniform store hours, Friday night programs, sales and promotions, management training courses, employee training courses and a retail course for students.

Fred Beitner was toastmaster for the dinner meeting in the absence of the chairman, Ed Reid. School Board President Harold Niemi introduced the speaker. Representatives were present from Plymouth Township, the City and School Board.

EVERY YEAR the Plymouth Kiwanis Club reads for its famous Pancake Festival by turning out a few sample pancakes in order to get the "wrinkles" out of the operation. With so many chefs getting into the act, it wasn't so surprising to find Kiwanian Jim Hauk's face showing up on the griddle as Leo Schultz (left), Austin Whipple, Neil Davidson and Bill Erlich pour out some batter. But everything will be running smoothly this Saturday (March 11) at the Masonic Temple when the public joins the festival from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sausage and coffee will also be served.

'Inherit the Wind' On Stage this Week

The Plymouth High School stage will light up this week with the Theatre Guild's mid-season production, "Inherit the Wind." The Guild's artistic endeavors will offer its audiences something new and interesting — an intimate audience-player relationship, as the dramatic trial scenes are played in front of the stage, almost in the laps of the patrons.

The play itself opens

Insert Coins-Dry Cleaning Goes Through

That "do-it-yourself" craze that hit the U.S. in the 1950's is still far from being through. Now it has reached the dry cleaning business.

Plymouth people have been pouring coins into laundromat washers and dryers for a number of years now — but now they can also turn out their own dry cleaning the same way.

One of the first installations in the United States of coin-operated dry cleaning equipment has reached Plymouth. The very first completely automatic dry cleaning center opened in Lawrence, Kan. less than a month ago.

Plymouth's first units have been installed at the Ann Arbor Rd. branch of Tait's Cleaners & Tailors. Four of the self-service dry cleaning

Mill St. Residents Battle Assessment — But It Passes

Petition Places Blame On Traffic of Trucks

The old question of whether homeowners should help pay for improvements on a street that is heavily traveled by trucks flared up before City commissioners again Monday night when a delegation of Mill St. residents arrived to vigorously protest their impending assessment.

City commissioners had proposed to recap Mill St. from Plymouth Rd.

to Starkweather, with abutting properties being assessed at $1 per front foot.

Forty-five minutes of discussion took place at Monday night's meeting, ending in a resolution declaring the project a necessity and asking that the city manager prepare an assessment roll.

Continue to Hold Line on Liquor Permits to Three

City commissioners decided Monday night to continue a 16-year-old resolution that would limit the number of licenses for consumption of alcoholic beverages on the premises to three.

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission had advised the City Commission that two applications had been received for liquor permits (beer and wine). It is the custom of the Liquor Commission to obtain the recommendation of the local governing bodies before acting on permits.

Back in 1945, the City Commission passed a resolution limiting the number of licenses to three. There were three establishments serving beer by the glass at that time—the Anderine Hotel, Mayflower Hotel and Box Bar.

In 1951 the Anderine Hotel license came up for reapproval and it was turned down by the Commission. This left two tavern licenses. Later, this third license was granted to Marquis Toll House where it continues in effect as the Toll House Inn. Several other requests have been made for more licenses, but all have been rejected by past City commissions.

The two newest requests for licenses have been made by Frank Baraco, 876 N. Mill St., and Robert T. Dobson, 9040 Fielding, Detroit.

Police Issue Warning of Bad Checks

A wave of bad check passing has brought a warning to Plymouth business people from the Police Department.

Assistant Chief Loren Johnson said that two to four bad checks a week have been taken in by local businessmen and that tracking down the passers is almost impossible unless a few simple precautions are taken.

Johnson recommended that the drivers' license numbers of those paying by check be written down on the face of the checks. "This will give us something to work with unless the license is stolen," Johnson declared.

"Some merchants have been asking to look at licenses, but then don't write down the number," he added. "This still leaves the police with nothing to work with."

Most of the bad ones have been personal checks, not payroll checks, Johnson said. Theft of blank payroll checks at Bathey Manufacturing last year, however, is still causing concern among Detroit area police. There were 4,000 blank checks taken, but 3,000 were dumped into a mailbox. This left 1,000 for the thieves and a number of them turned up recently around Detroit. Last week there were checks passed at Southgate and Farmington.

A petition signed by 35 property owners was presented by Reinhold Ruehr, owner of Heide's Greenhouse, at the start of the public hearing. The petition declared that the recapping is not of benefit to the property owners and that because deterioration of the street is caused by the through truck traffic, the improvement should be assessed to the city-at-large.

Actually the property owners are being assessed about one-eighth of the total cost. Wayne County is paying $20,000 of the $30,000 project. Plymouth must pay the remaining $10,000.

Of this $10,000, it was proposed that the city-at-large pay $6,193 while the property owners pay $3,806.

Until recently, this portion of Mill St. was under City jurisdiction. Then the city "traded" the street with Wayne County for Starkweather Ave.

The Wayne County Road Commission wanted the street so that it would have a road in the County highway system that ran straight through Plymouth. Mill St., south of Plymouth Rd., had been under County jurisdiction previously.

One of the provisions of the "trade" was that the street be recapped. It is now concrete, laid in 1929. Commissioners jumped at the chance for the trade, believing that the $20,000 savings for paving would be welcome news to taxpayers.

But petition signers and property owners at Monday's meeting feel that the assessment is unjust. Ruehr reminded commis-

Police BEAT: Elected the "meanest person in town" last week was the burglar who broke into the Albert Tatzka home, 542 Deer St. The funeral for Mr. Tatzka was held Wednesday and while Mrs. Tatzka was at the funeral home Tuesday night, someone broke through the back door window, rifled the home and took $15 and three watches. ... Beglinger Oldsmobile-Cadillac reported money was taken the same night from the cigarette machine.

NOT FORGOTTEN: Edna M. Allen, former High School principal and teacher, was overwhelmed at the bushel of cards, notes, letters and gifts she received from all over the U.S. during her recent hospitalization. She had broken a hip in a fall on the ice and her progress was reported in this column. "We 'oldsters' don't expect much attention from the younger generations, but I feel very humble and grateful that so many students from 1918 on haven't forgotten their old teachers," she declared.

BUILDING DECLINE: As noted in The Mail last January, permits for new homes in Plymouth went down during 1960 (43 in the City, 37 in the Township). The Regional Planning Commission reports that permits in the Detroit region were at their lowest point since 1950 last year. Looking at Plymouth's neighbors, Livonia had 1,999 (a decrease at 108); Salem Township, 9; Canton Township, 23; Northville City, 41; Northville Township, 24; Nankin Township, 913; Redford Township, 180; and Wayne, minus 3.

GOOD SHOW: Girl Scouts working on government merit badges and members of the Plymouth Optimist Club who decided to attend a commission meeting for their program were guests at the City Commission meeting Monday night. They were treated to a lively discussion on pavement assessments (see story elsewhere) and helped fill the chambers beyond capacity. There were over 60 people present.

CRITICAL: Edward J. Cutler of Ridge Rd., who once was Henry Ford's personal architect and was responsible for assembling much of Greenfield Village, is reported in serious condition at St. Mary Hospital, Livonia.

FIRE RUNS: While rain has made things seemingly damp, firemen are already reporting grass fires. Plymouth Township even had a hay stack burn. Wherever there is some burning to do

NEWS BEAT

Details will be announced soon of a new bowling alley on Plymouth Rd., across from the Barnes-Gibson-Raymond plant. It will have at least 32 alleys. A sign is already on the site. Rumors persist that J. C. Penny Co. will move to Plymouth, but Mayor Harold Guenther, who has talked with representatives of the firm several times, says that they tell him that Plymouth "isn't right" yet for one of their stores.

Coming Up: Concerts In The Park

The "band concert in the park" recalled by many — no matter where they once lived — will return to Plymouth this year, thanks to a finance analyst, a several engineers, a retiree, a draftsman, attorney and a host of others making up the new Plymouth City Band.

Formed six weeks ago, the City Band holds practices every Wednesday night in the High School band room and one of these days will be making their debut.

There are now 28 members in the band. By this summer, according to director James Griffith, the number may climb to 50 or 70.

The band was started when a group of citizens who once enjoyed playing in a band decided that there are probably many others who yearn to break out their instruments and give their talent another try.

"Most of these people haven't played for 10 years or more," Griffith pointed out. "One man admitted that he hadn't played since 1929."

The band is composed of men and women from many walks of life. Not all of them are from Plymouth. For example, there's 70-year-old

Zone 2 of Past Presidents of the MOMS will be guests of the Plymouth Past Presidents on March 15 at the Veterans' Community Center starting at noon.

Engaged Class Tours City-County Building
Twenty-eight members of an eighth grade social studies class of the Plymouth Community Junior High toured the City-County Building in Detroit March 2.
The trip was organized by the Institute for Economic Education at the request of Junior High Activities Director Joan Hayskar. The group was also accompanied by three parents, Mrs. Emma Mae Philip, Mrs. Jeanette Schryer and Mrs. Keeney.
Meeting on the 13th floor auditorium of the City-County Building, the group heard Homer Hall, personnel examiner, introduce the group to their guide for the first part of the tour. The guide explained the history of the site, flags, seats, construction building, duties of the officials, government financing, career opportunities in government and responsibility for good government.
After this period of indoctrination, the youngsters are taken into the City Council meeting where the Stephen Kish (Cobo Hall manager) case was being discussed.
During a recess, Councilman Eugene Van Antwerp introduced the Council to the Plymouth students and visited with them for 15 minutes. Cameras were clicking during this portion of the tour and some students recognized themselves on TV newsreels later that day.
The group was given a view of the city from the 13th floor and was shown the model of Detroit. Various locations and future plans were also explained.
A visit to the court of Common Pleas Judge Libby as next. The case being argued concerned a bicycle injury. The judge recessed the case so that he might explain procedures to the pupils and he also gave them some advice on traffic safety.
Members of the class on tour were Larry Lea, Dale Tonkovich, Trenton Taylor, Danny Patero, Larry Montgomerie, Frank Dorset, Nancy Barham, Geraldine Kalvoda, Earleen Philip, Linda Boon, Mary Canning, Lynn Griffen, Kay Wahn, Sandra Dale, Nellie McCants, Jim Allen, Bill Ray.
Also, Linda Walker, Gret Butler, Jay Kendall, Alice Keeney, Leslie Gresham, Fred Boltrick, David Schryer, Larry McDonald, John Adams, Larry Smith and Carolyn Combs.

Marcia Lou Strohl
Mr. and Mrs. Max Strohl of 4541 W. Ann Arbor Rd., announce the engagement of their daughter, Marcia Lou to Glendon R. Lamerson.
Marcia Lou was a graduate of Plymouth High, class of 1960. She is currently attending the school of cosmetology in Livonia.
Glendon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Rathburn of 677 Jener. Mr. Lamerson is presently with the United States Air Force, stationed in San Antonio, Tex.

The Bible is a CATHOLIC Book

People differ radically in what they think about the Bible. Some seem to think it was handed down from Heaven written in English and bound in morocco. Many accept it as the inspired Word of God without knowing why they are justified in doing so. And others say that the Bible is full of contradictions and must be taken "with a grain of salt."
A proper understanding of the Scriptures can exert a tremendous influence for good in your personal life. You should, therefore, know where we get the Bible... what it means... why you can believe its every word.
Nowhere in the Bible text will you find a list of the 73 inspired books of which it is composed. This list was given to the world by the Catholic Church almost three full centuries after the Crucifixion of Jesus Christ. Between the time the Scriptures were gathered into a single Book, millions had received and accepted the teachings of Jesus Christ... and had died without ever seeing the complete Bible.
Established by Jesus Christ Himself and rapidly spread among the nations of the world, the Catholic Church was carrying on Christ's work for the salvation of men some 60 years before the Apostle John wrote his books of the New Testament.
For more than a thousand years afterward, the Scriptures were preserved and circulated by Catholic monks and scholars who laboriously copied the sacred text by hand. And the Bible authorized by the Catholic Church was the first book produced by Gutenberg upon the invention of printing.
Yes, the Bible is truly a Catholic book. They were members of the Catholic Church who, under God's inspiration, wrote the New Testament in its entirety.

It was the Catholic Church which treasured it and gave it to the world in its original and unaltered form. It is the infallible authority of the Catholic Church that always has been the only sure guarantee of its inspiration.
There are obscure and difficult passages in the Bible, some of which may seem confusing. But with the complete revealed truth of God, delivered to her from the beginning, the Catholic Church has faithfully unfolded the meaning of the written Word of God to past generations of mankind... and does so today.
Those who are familiar with the Bible, as well as those reading it for the first time, will find many important questions concerning it answered in an interesting booklet which we shall send you in a plain wrapper free on request. And nobody will call on you. Ask for Pamphlet PMKC-3

See You There

Tonight, March 8, the Maccabees will meet at the Odd-fellow Hall on Elizabeth St., for a 6:30 p.m. potluck supper.

March 12, from 2 to 4 p.m., Plymouth area Girl Scouts will hold a gala Scout-A-Rama in the gymnasium of the Junior High. Many exhibits and displays are planned for the anticipated 1,000 guests.

The Plymouth Garden Club will hold its regular meeting, March 13, at the home of Mrs. Gail Mason, 9780 Ann Arbor Rd.

"Better Medicines for a Better World" is the title of the film Plymouth Registered Nurses (P.R.N.) for Civil Defense will see at their March 13 meeting at 8 p.m. in the High School library.

A surprise program has been planned for the Thursday, March 9, meeting of the Vivians. They will gather at the Elks Lodge at 8 p.m.

Adult Courses Need Students

Several Adult Education courses scheduled to start this month must be dropped unless there are more enrollees. Director Herb Woolweaver announced this week. They are Party Cooking, scheduled to start March 15; and Flower Arrangement, March 16.

More people are also needed for the Green Thumb class, designed to aid home gardeners. This is to start March 30.

There is still room in the Rise of Popular Music course that opens today (Wednesday). Those wishing to join any of these classes should contact the Adult Education Department at the High School.

Woolweaver also announced that managers of A and B League softball teams will meet Monday, March 13 at his office at 7:30 p.m.

Girl Scouts Will Hold Scout-A-Rama

Sunday, March 12, Girl Scouts of Plymouth will present Scout-A-Rama at the Plymouth Junior High gymnasium from 2-4 p.m. Featured at the Scout-A-Rama will be such items as fashion shows, arts and crafts, songs and games, live plays and campcraft.

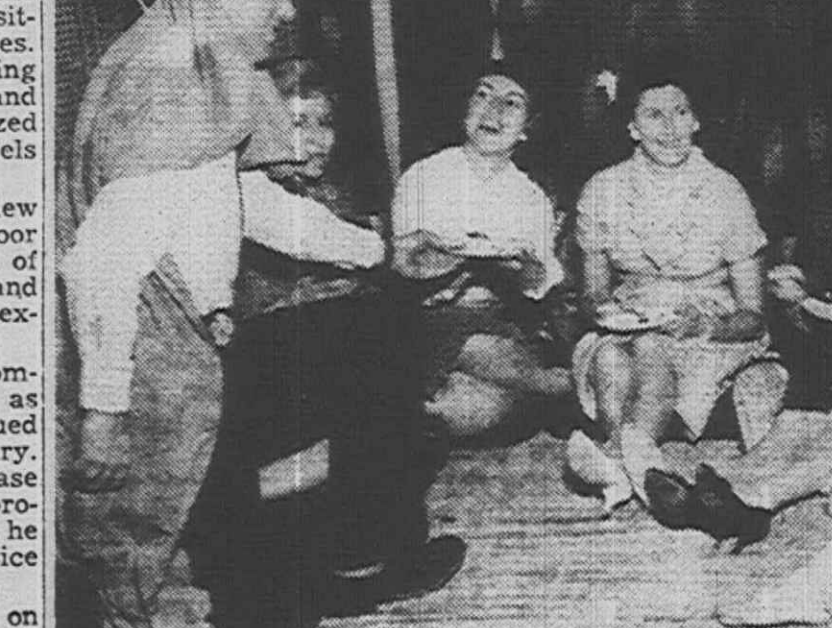

Movies will be shown depicting last summer's Girl Scout Round-up in Colorado, the story of the first Girl Scouts, as well as several other films.

Two Japanese couples will be in attendance to demonstrate floral arrangements and Origami, which is the art of Japanese paper folding into various artistic forms. The couples will also be available to answer any questions that may arise.

March 12 is Girl Scout Sunday and marks the 49th anniversary of the American Girl Scout movement.

In this year's event, 35 Girl Scout troops will participate and 1,000 guests are anticipated. The public is cordially invited to attend and view Girl Scouting in our community.

Pouring at the tea table were: Mrs. Lawrence Money, Mrs. D. H. Sutherland, Mrs. Richard Fritz, and Mrs. Sidney Cady.

ARABIAN KNIGHTS of the Parkview Circle Assn. made sure their harem was adequately fed at last Saturday's International Progressive Dinner. Ice cream feizal was served in the Arabian dessert course. Forshee-Thomson Vows Spoken at Candelight Rites

At a double ring, candlelight ceremony, Feb. 11, 1961, at 8 p.m., Joyce Louise Forshee and Donald Arthur Thomson spoke their vows before Rev. Henry J. Walsh at the First Presbyterian Church in Plymouth.

Coming down the aisle on the arm of her father, Vern Forshee, who gave his daughter in marriage, the bride was gownned in chantly lace with sequins bordering the scalloped neckline of the fitted bodice. The long sleeves of the dress tapered to a point over the wrists and large appliqued of lace adorned the bouffant tulle skirt that ended in a chapel train. Her French illusion veil was attached to a crown of sequins and pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered by two white orchids.

Charles Sorenson, the groom's brother-in-law, was best man, while Thomas Moshimer and Bruce Balliet were the ushers. Dick Miller of Ann Arbor offered musical selections of "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Vern Forshee, the bride's mother, wore a beige lace sheath with matching accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Arthur Thomson, the groom's mother, was dressed in a navy blue jacketed sheath with navy shoes, bag and hat and also had an orchid corsage.

The reception for 200 guests was held at Thunderbird Inn. For her going away outfit the bride chose a navy blue knit dress and wore the orchids from her bouquet. The couple honeymooned in Florida and will make their home in Plymouth.

The new Mrs. Thomson is a graduate of Plymouth High and her husband graduated from Northville High and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thomson of Northville.

Jean's Jottings

By Jean Campau, Women's Editor

Plymouth had its own "Sound of Music," Friday, when the ladies of the Plymouth Woman's Club gathered at their regular meeting to observe the 20th anniversary of their Club and Glee Club as well as to honor Past Presidents' Day.

The 25-member chorale, directed by Mrs. Gerald Hondorp and accompanied by Mrs. J. Rusing Cutler, entertained their sisters with a variety of songs that included "A Pretty Girl Is Like A Melody," "L'il Liza Jane," "Peg O' My Heart," "My Fair Lady," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "My Task," "I May Never Pass This Way Again" and "Let There Be Song."

Since its inception in 1941, 65 women have been members. The Glee Club maintains an average membership of 25, usually.

Eight of the original number are still tunelessly active. They are: Doris Bentley, Lillian Hartmann, Jane Clarke, Ruth O'Neil, Maxine Willoughby, Mary Wiltse, Jean Taylor and Doris Hondorp. Mrs. Bentley is currently filling the duties of music librarian.

This musical aggregation has sung in the All State Chorus for State Conventions for the past several years in nearby areas and several of its members sang in chorus with club singers from other states at the National Federation of Women's Clubs in Detroit.

Mrs. Richard Jones, president of the Plymouth Woman's Club, awarded these eight women certificates to express the group's appreciation for their faithful participation over the two decades.

To commemorate Past Presidents' Day, Mrs. Marshall North introduced the past presidents, who were: Mrs. Ada Murray, Mrs. Leslie Daniel, Mrs. David Wood, Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, Mrs. George Bauer, Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel, Mrs. George Burr, Mrs. Robert Willoughby, Mrs. Charles Humphries, Mrs. B. R. Gilbert, Mrs. Milton Laible and Mrs. Murray O'Neil.

They were each presented with a corsage of carnations, which is the Club's flower.

Miss Judy LeGrande, who has recently been selected for "Who's Who in College" has just added another honor to her already long list. She has been selected for membership in Wakapa, a senior women's honorary. Selection for membership is based on the student's scholarship, leadership and service. She has also served as president of Delta Zeta, was ROTC Ball Queen, and has been active in the Student Senate, to name but a few.

Judy is a student at Bradley University in Peoria and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester R. LeGrande of 721 South Evergreen.

Used Books Go To Market

One of the most anticipated and looked-forward-to events of the early spring is the annual used book sale sponsored by the Plymouth Branch of the American Association of University Women. The sixth annual sale is scheduled for March 16, 17, and 18 at the Kroger Store in Plymouth.

The AAUW is anxious for friends and neighbors to look over their bookshelves and better yet to examine their stacked away books in basements and attics and to donate them — if no longer used — to the sale. The proceeds from the sale will go to provide fellowships for women in higher education, according to Mrs. Robert Probeck and Mrs. D. D. Marsden, co-chairmen of the event.

All kinds of books at modest prices will be on sale. Many a person walks away from the sale with an arm full of books for less than a $1 investment. Children's books, sets or series of books, encyclopedias, adult fiction, non-fiction and biographies are sought-after books. Book hunters are also anxious for volumes on special interests and hobbies, such as gardening, photography, mechanics, and cooking. Pocket books are a big success.

Any books you might be willing to donate to this sale will be picked up if you will call Mrs. Probeck at GL 3-4572 or Mrs. Marsden at GL 3-2030. In the Northville area call Mrs. B. William Secord at FI 9-0823 or Mrs. Bernard Bach at FI 9-2306, who will arrange to pick up your donations — whether they be many or few. If you prefer, the books may be left at any of the above homes.

Branch book sale money is sent to AAUW Fellowships, which will award $119,800, or 43 Fellowships, for graduate study for women. These fellowships are open to women of the United States who either have their Ph.D. degree or who will have fulfilled all requirements for this advanced degree except the dissertation, and to women who have achieved professional recognition. The fellowships are not restricted by age or field and may be used for research or study abroad or in the United States. Women scholars have until Dec. 1, 1961 to file their applications. Information about the fellowships may be obtained by eligible women by contacting Mrs. John W. Moehle, GL 3-5509, AAUW Plymouth Branch Fellowships chairman.

AAUW fellowships are financed by annual voluntary contributions from members throughout the U.S. and Guam. Contributions also support the international grants that brings many women from other countries to the United States for professional study.

Contributions of books for the Book Sale and interest in the sale itself will benefit these two unusual programs.

Sixty officers and men of Denmark and Norway were graduated in 1958 as missile experts at the U.S. Army Guided Missile School at Huntsville, Ala.

THERE IS something for all ages and tastes in the up-coming Sixth Annual Used Book Sale sponsored by the AAUW, which will be held March 16, 17 and 18 at the Plymouth Kroger Store. Shown marking some of the books are committee members Mrs.

J. R. Barnes, Mrs. John Probeck, Mrs. Lawrence Becker and co-chairman Mrs. Robert Probeck. Other members not shown are Mrs. Donald Marsden, co-chairman, Mrs. Pat Wiltse, Mrs. William Clark and Mrs. A. E. Gulick.

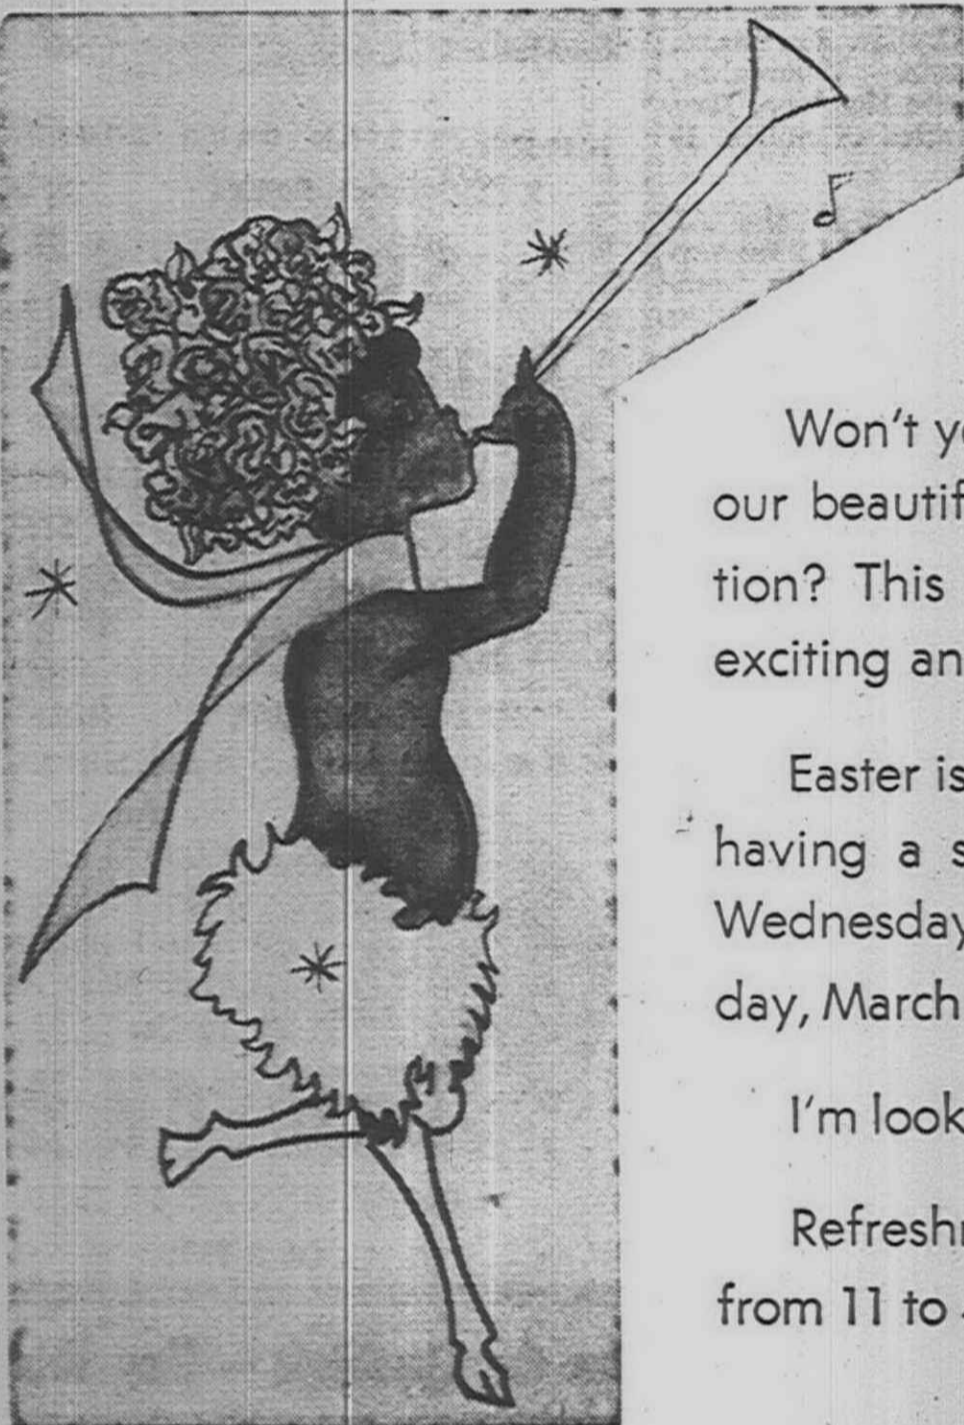

Initiated

James C. Houk, Jr. of Plymouth has been initiated into the Michigan Tech chapter of Phi Kappa Phi, a national honorary scholastic society, recognizing high scholastic attainment in all fields of study. The annual initiation banquet was held at the college on Feb. 23.

Initiates were chosen from the top ten per cent of the graduating class and from faculty and alumni who have distinguished themselves in their fields. Four faculty members of the class of 1961 were initiated this year.

Houk is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Houk, Sr., 346 Irvin St., Plymouth. He is a senior majoring in electrical engineering.

Academy Award nominations have hit the news agencies like the latest rash of chicken-pox cases. And some of the nominations have plagued my artistic senses as acutely as the pesky pox. Case in point is "The Alamo," the John Wayne over-produced Western long-shooting epic. All the critics are muttering into their typewriter ribbons about this weird selection. Somebody must be spreading some easy money around.

The five films nominated for the best picture of the year are "The Alamo," "Sons and Lovers," "The Apartment," "Elmer Gantry," and "The Sandlot." I'll have to go along with "The Sandlot" as my choice for the best. Of course, if I were to play the favorite, I'd put my money on "The Apartment." Both were great pictures. I'm a little more partial to "The Sandlot" since it was a location picture, had an unusually healthy story-line, and the acting was consistently good. Bob Mitchum did one of the finest jobs of acting in his career.

Why doesn't the Penn Theatre schedule these five pictures prior to the April 17 Academy Award night out in Hollywood? If each of the five best pictures played three days, most of us would have a better chance to be in on the judging when the big night rolled around. Or for that matter, why not let the movie-goers mark some ballots at the end of the two week Academy Award Festival and see who could pick some winners. The prize might be a pass for the entire family for a couple of weeks.

Old George realizes that three of these pictures have played the Penn Theatre. I'm sure that the nominations have created enough interest and would generate audience attendance. "The Alamo" isn't available yet and it might be just as well that booking arrangements are held up on this three-hour monstrosity.

While we're on the subject of Westerns, we might as well discuss "The Misfits," the latest horse opera kicking up some Technicolor dust on the Penn Theatre screen. Clark Gable and Marilyn Monroe tangle spurs in this yarn. Arthur Miller's "Crucible" and "Death of a Salesman" fame turned out the story for this movie. Mr. Miller had high hopes for his script, but his territory is more properly the living stage where his dialogue can bite. "The Misfits" contains plenty of action and deserves your critical viewing. See what you think about Clark Gable's last film.

An Arthur Miller example of his work for the stage is on the boards down Wayne State University way, "An Enemy of the People." Mr. Miller revised and modernized this powerful Ibsen play of corruption among public servants. "An Enemy of the People" opens this week on Friday for a two week engagement at the Wayne State University Theater on Woodward Ave. not too far from the downtown area.

"Under the Gaslight" at the Vanguard Theater is the lone downtown stage entry. You have only this week to enjoy one of the rare "live" old-time melodramas. If you have an old derby up in the attic, scoop out the mothballs and don this gay chapeau when going to the Vanguard. The management guarantees a free ducat to any male member showing up at the box office thus attired.

"Never On Sunday" has finally arrived at the Campus Theater in Ann Arbor. Mrs. Granberg, the genial manager of the Campus, assures me that it will be there for at least a couple of weeks. The Studio Theater has had the picture for the past seven weeks and still the crowds come. And why not? It's a delightful picture about a prostitute that enjoys her work. No false sense of unrequited love enters this gay picture. Melina Mercouri, a Greek actress with figure to match, has been nominated for an Academy Award for work in this picture. For once I feel I can recommend a picture about a prostitute. "World of Susie Wong" was all-wong. Even if "Wong" still does big business downtown, old George will hold his ground and be adamant. Have fun and see "Never On Sunday" at either the Campus Theater or the Studio.

What's been happening on the idiot box? I've enjoyed the Chun King commercials immensely. In fact, I found myself loading up on chowmein noodles last week as a result of those clever video ads. And the Jiffy Popcorn bit with Little Red Riding Hood will soon drive me out of my ever-loving mind. Talk about the saturation approach. I'm all popped out! Between that commercial and the "Gorgo" plug, it's a wonder the stations have time for the regular programs.

Fans of Milton Berle and his Jackpot Bowling program (Channel 4 at 10:30 on Mondays) are advised that his last program will be on Monday, March 13. His cigar sponsor is not renewing the series. Strangely enough, I thought this bowling show had possibilities. Evidently, Milton wasn't selling enough cigars to satisfy Mr. Sponsor.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Today we're sorta saying thanks to a friend... it's long overdue.
The fellow is Doc Greene. Everybody who reads The Detroit News knows he writes a column on the sports page and from that rather curious perch has managed hurriedly to make himself the best-read and best-known journalist in a rather large town.
He also has published a book which has found stall room in Doubledays and elsewhere, and maybe it'll help repay a favor to call attention to it. Doc probably makes a few cents whenever a copy is sold, though this is no cinch. The Internal Revenues could be holding the franchise. Doc and I haven't discussed personal affairs for quite a long time.
But it's an absorbing volume. My 12-year-old son, who has pronounced literary tastes, likes it. He read it, chuckling, over the holidays and paused to comment, "...hey, dad, this is a great book... real mad... wild."

"Dies A Crapshooter... and other digressions" is the title. The retail price is $3.95. The publisher is identified as "Marilyn Press" of Detroit, which is something else I must remember to research sometime. Marilyn?
Prior to the recent Republican convention, Edgar C. Greene (that's Doc) wrote a column which sentimentally encouraged Paul Chandler's nomination as a candidate for office. He's probably still trying to explain what such a theme was doing on a sports page, but it went way out to win public sympathy for my vain adventure, and I can only hope his bosses were tolerant.

It had Doc's usual quality of candor and didn't fail to note conspicuously that our newspapers had endorsed a Democrat in an election last fall. This is no particular sin to an average citizen with an independent air, but it is a high crime to carry before a convention of lifelong, unwavering GOP votaries. They'll forgive, but not that soon... we learned later.
"Paul, I'm just reading Doc Greene's column," said a leading GOP strategist over the phone about the time The News hit the street that day. "You've got problems. I know how to take care of your opponents, but what can you do about your friends?"
There didn't seem much point in trying to explain that Doc and I and a few others around here are still trying to operate on the theory that the facts exist and have to speak for themselves and if that doesn't work... well, "you win a few, you lose a few."

This particular attitude, incidentally, explains Doc's popularity as a sports columnist.
American folklore has changed drastically in recent years in terms of sports. There was a time when games on the field below represented just about the most breathless aspect of our culture. Sports heroes were sanctified above even movie stars and far beyond elected public officials, economists, preachers, teachers, or generals.
From this grew a style of sports writing known as the "gee whizz" school. A "good" sports reporter in the late 20's, 30's, and early 40's, oh'd, ah'd, adored, swooned, and the best writer was the one most florid. It was a dreamy, dizzy world of fancy. Our society has matured, however, and games aren't quite the whole of existence today. Other matters have arisen across the water to sober us up.
But the sports writing brethren are slow to change their ways, and in the Detroit journals, Doc Greene is just about the first to place the tinsel and nonsense into some kind of honest perspective. He swoons not easily.
The public appreciates the viewpoint.

"Dies A Crapshooter", the book, is a compendium of Doc's most bizarre columns plus fresh footnotes.
When a writer discards the obvious, he begins looking for the unusual. Greene has been poking into the corners of existence ever since I knew him, which means he's been out on the streets a lot after midnight, and that he hides quite a few airplanes to curious places.
From this emerges a book full of strange and wonderful stories, about two-thirds of them true... such as the one about a crapshooter who cheated on a ship and wound up missing the next morning... or the men who bet on fighting fish out of Hamilton Ave... or the bull-fighters who take their moment of truth as it comes... or the horse-players who have learned to face their sorrow with bemused wonderment.
As with so many things, the book is much better than watching television.
And even if the money goes to the Internal Revenues, it's not the worst cause in the world.

Insurance Firms Raise Salaries

The staffs and employees of the American Hospital-Medical Benefit and the American Community Mutual Insurance Co., will receive a 10 per cent increase in salary, it is announced by John J. Temple, president.

He said a five per cent raise is effective March 1. An additional five per cent is scheduled for Sept. 1.
About 45 men and women staff the building of the company companies located at 409 Plymouth Rd.

Red Cross Names Local Ladies Questions On Social Security Answered

Representatives of the seven branches of the Detroit Red Cross chapter which are served by the Northwest Regional Office met last week to elect officers for a Regional Advisory Committee, which will correlate efforts of volunteers and staff working in the Region.

Mrs. A. C. Carlson, 201 Fairbrook, Northville, chairman of that branch, and Mrs. John Glanville, 14894 Sumner, Detroit, chairman of the Redford branch, were elected chairman and co-chairman respectively; Mrs. Ned Linge-

Members of the Region's Executive Board were also elected: from Belleville, Mrs. John McDonald, 898 Sumpter, and Mrs. M. J. Sirdanik, 7981 Belleville Rd.; from Garden

City, Mrs. Harry Campbell, 1749 Deering and Mr. Arnold Folker, 150 S. Middlebelt.

From Livonia, Mrs. Clary Lyke, 15410 Stamford; from Northville, Mrs. Mable Cooley, 133 E. Dunlop; from Plymouth, Mrs. C. B. Lytle, 1049 Dewey, and Mrs. H. R. Pen-

Regular staffing of the Regional Office will make it possible to render more service to people in the communities in the Northwest area of Wayne County. Information about any Red Cross service, supplies such as textbooks and volunteer insignias, are available at the Regional Office, which is also suitable for holding Red Cross First Aid and Home Nursing classes and committee meetings.

For the benefit of our readers, Harry Baltuck, manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security Office, answers some of the questions most frequently asked about the Disability Provisions of the Social Security Act.

Q. Do I have to be completely helpless to be found "disabled" under the social security law?

A. No, you don't, but you must have a disability or impairment which is so severe it leaves you unable to "engage" in any substantial gainful activity.

Q. How long do I have to be disabled before I can qualify for benefits?

A. Your impairment must have lasted for at least six months.

Q. Suppose I can't do my regular job but could do some lighter work, could I then qualify?

A. No, if you are able to do other substantial gainful work you will not meet the eligibility requirements under the disability provisions of the social security law.

from doing any substantial gainful work?

A. Doctors and vocational specialists in the State agency (usually the Vocational Rehabilitation agency) who have had experience in seeing the effects of disabling conditions upon peoples' ability to work make the disability determination. They consider all of the facts you have submitted, medical reports and information about your training, skills, education, and other abilities.

Plymouth Jr. High Leagues End Competition

The Seventh and Eighth Grade Intramural Basketball Leagues have ended their season at the Plymouth Community Junior High with the Dragons edging into first place in the Seventh Grade League and the Celtics winning the Eighth Grade League title.

Tim Scott was captain of the Dragons and his teammates were Chuck Cattell, Tom Chandler, Sam Farmer, Gil McLachlin and Don Shanfelt.

The Dragons ended their season with 14 wins and five losses. Closely following were the Panthers, 13-6; Hawks, 7-12 and Pistons, 5-14.

To conclude the season, an All-Star game was held with the Whites winning, 18-13. The boxscore:

Charles Ketterer was supervisor of the intramural program. Coaching the Seventh Grade League was Mike Danovich while the Eighth Grade was coached by Dick Herring. Two games a week were played by the leagues since early December.

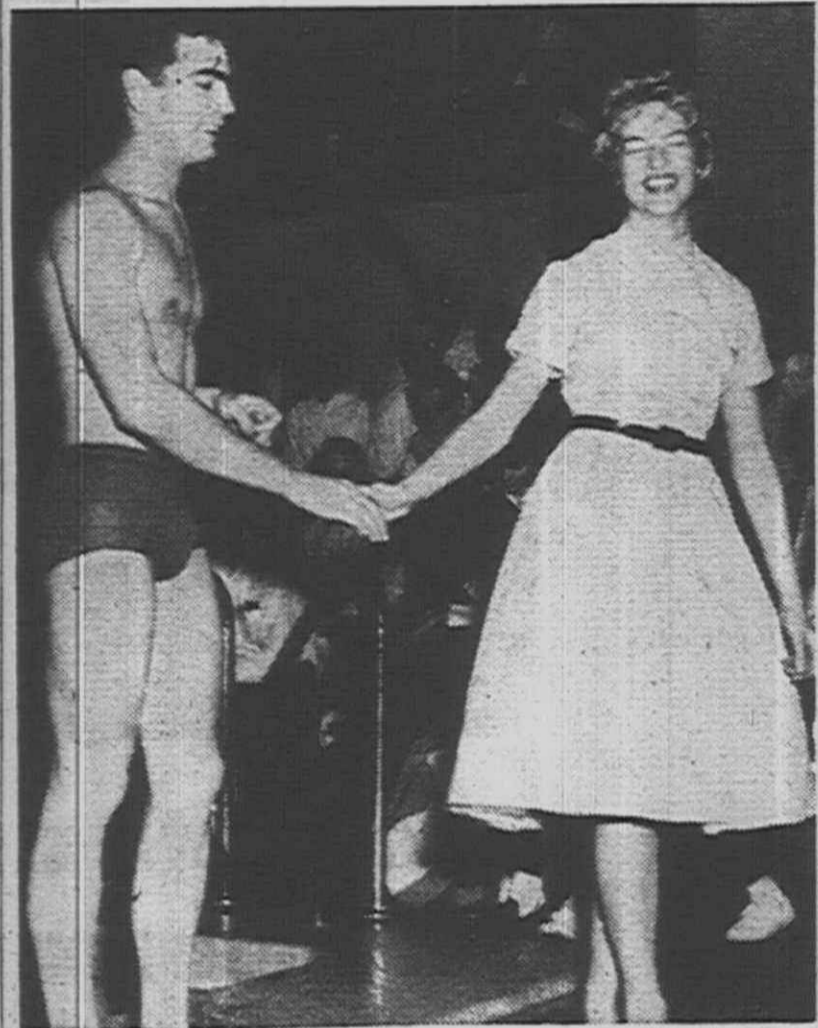

Starting in April, after Easter vacation, intramural baseball will begin.

A good Swiss watch has about 180 parts, requiring precision to one-thousandth of a millimeter, one-fiftieth of the thickness of a hair.

PERFECT START is caught here as the Suburban Six League finalists begin the 200 yard individual medley. The race was won by Dick Gretzinger (Lane 2). He set a new league record of 2:12.6. Dick Michaels of Plymouth (Lane 4) was second and Ken Steiner of RU (Lane 3) was third.

RU HAPPY? RU is in this picture of Bill Truesdale accepting the winner's medal for the 100 yard breaststroke in the Suburban Six League meet. Presenting the award is Madeline Rice, also a Redford Union student. It was a good moment for the host school's fans in the Redford Union pool.

Naturalist To Speak to Pupils

Rainer Brocke, naturalist for the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, will be the guest speaker at Starkweather Elementary School in Plymouth on Tuesday, March 14.

Students will hear a lecture entitled "Adventures in Conservation." "Plant Life" and "Wild Animals." The appointment was requested by Miss Elizabeth Donnelly, second grade teacher at the school. Miss Mildred Field is the school principal.

The Authority is a five-county park and parkway agency serving Livingston, Macomb, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne counties. One of its key attractions is the Nature Center at Kensington Metropolitan Park near Milford. Two other parks of the Authority include Metropolitan Beach on Lake St. Clair near Mt. Clemens and Lower Huron Metropolitan Park near Belleville.

PROPERTY VALUE

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Economist Luigi Laurenti studied real estate values in seven cities and reports in his book "Property Values and Race," published by the University of California Press, that prices in neighborhoods entered by Negroes are four times as likely to rise or remain steady as they are to fall.

SPORTSEEN

By Bill Nelson

The latest in Michigan high school swimming talent will have a fitting showcase for its exhibits at this year's state meet, according to Plymouth's Coach John McFall.

The MSU Intramural Pool is in its third year at the East Lansing campus and contains a number of fascinating devices which provide the latest in swimming facilities.

If you attended the league meet at Redford Union last week, you may have noticed Plymouth's diver, Nick Herrick, spraying a handful of water on the pool. This was done to take the glare off of the surface by making ripples. A diver, it seems, only has a split second to see the water, when coming out of a dive, and if there is a glare on the water he may have difficulty entering the water properly.

At State no such physical labor is required. There are six air jets so located that they can take the glare off the water, when turned on.

In addition, according to McFall, there are hydraulic diving board hoists and seating arrangements for approximately 3,500. All seats offer a good view of the pool.

The State meet will get underway at 5 p.m. Friday, when the finals for the 400 begin. A half hour after this the diving finals will be held. Saturday at 10 a.m., the preliminaries of other events begin and will be continued at 2 p.m. The finals will be concluded at 8 p.m. on Saturday.

Grosse Pointe, Battle Creek, Birmingham and Ann Arbor are cited by McFall as teams to watch. Plymouth has already beaten Ann Arbor this year in dual meet competition. As McFall recalls, Plymouth has never done better than a tie for 10th in state competition.

The parking is good at East Lansing, because the intramural building is located near the stadium and the stadium parking lots are handy.

It costs 50 cents for the preliminaries and $1 for the final events. There is no pre-meet ticket sale.

Because there is no possibility of getting a prediction out of McFall (although he did say the state meet would "be worth a trip to Lansing") let's turn our attention to last week's league meet.

"It was a terrific meet," says McFall, referring to the fact that in every event there was a new record set. Plymouth had nine of the 11 records.

"I feel pretty good," he said, "I guess I ought to." It was only his fifth league title in five years, he explained. (We reported eight in a row last week). Prior to that time there was no league meet.

The confusion arose because McFall has been coaching eight years in Plymouth. Prior to the league meets, Plymouth lost a couple of dual meets. Mostly they won, however.

It's a pleasant kind of error.

Barbers Win Ninth

Penniman Barber Shop continued its domination of the Men's League in Plymouth recreation basketball with a resounding 83-48 win over second place Tait's.

Ken Kisabeth scored 22 points to lead the barbers to their ninth in against no losses. Tait's Pat Robinson scored 12 points to lead the losers.

Cloverdale tightened up the bottom end of the league with a 67-45 victory over Western Electric. The defeat left Western Electric with a 3-6 record and boosted Cloverdale to 2-7. Bud Bell led both teams with 16 points while Tony Monte had 15 for Cloverdale.

In the 15 and Under competition the Shamrocks cemented their hold on second place with a 35-22 victory over the third place Raiders.

Roger McMullen led the winners with nine points and Jim Dennanny had seven for the Raiders.

The victory boosted the Shamrocks' record to 5-2. VFW leads the league with a 1-0 record. The Raiders are now third with a 3-3 record.

In other action the Yellow Birds beat the Midgets, 52-24. It was the second win against five losses for the birds and the sixth defeat for the winless midgets.

The Yellow Jackets continued undefeated in the 15 and Under League with 24-13 victory over the Wolverines. It was the eighth win for the Jackets and the third defeat

Every League Mark Falls; Plymouth Dominates Meet

Plymouth's sensational swimming team piled up 123 points and nine league records to win the 1961 Suburban Six League swimming crown last Friday at Redford Union.

League records fell in all 11 events in the torrid meet. In addition, every Redford Union pool record was broken by the Suburban Six swimmers.

Redford Union was second with 49 points and Trenton third with 39. Bentley was fourth with 32 points and Allen Park fifth with 25. Belleville trailed with 18 points.

Indications of Plymouth's domination came early in the meet which was attended by an enthusiastic capacity crowd.

Robert Daley and twin brother Ron Daley placed one-two for Plymouth in the 400 yard free style, the first event of the meet. Plymouth's Bill Rossow was third. Bob Daley's 4:25.4 set a new record. The old mark had been 4:33.0.

Belleville's Jack Berg won the 50 yard free style with a record-breaking 24.0 flat, bettering the old mark of 24.2. RU's Jack Frischkorn was second and Jim Izett of Plymouth, third. Gary Gould of Plymouth was fifth.

Dick Gretzinger of Plymouth, bettered his own league record of 59.6 in the butterfly, by swimming it in 58.0. RU's Bob Halton was second and Bentley's Russ Walker was third. James Shain of Bentley finished sixth.

Dick Michaels of Plymouth turned in a 58.8 league record in the 100 yard backstroke and teammate Tom Hoffman was third. Dick Vots of Bentley was fourth. RU's Dean Schechter was fifth.

RU's Bill Truesdale won the 100 yard breaststroke with a record of 1:05.8 and Ken Steiner was second. Plymouth's Phil Bender was fourth and Doug Cash sixth.

Ron Daley of Plymouth turned in a 53.0 in the 100 yard free style, which was another league record. Berg of Belleville was second and Bentley's Gary Mundy was third. Plymouth's Warren Smith was fourth.

The Rocks' Nick Herrick and Mark Schultheiss were one-two in the diving competition. Herrick scored 275.4 points. Colin Wren of RU was third with mark of 24.2. RU's Jack Frischkorn was second Ron Omar of Bentley was sixth.

Gretzinger won his second first of the meet in the 200 yard individual medley, swimming it in 2:12.6. He also bettered another of his old records (2:21.4 in this event). The Rocks' Dick Michaels was second. RU's Ken Steiner was third and Plymouth's Barry Corwin was fifth.

Bob Daley added his second record - breaking effort in the 200 yard free-style, winning it in 2:00.7. Gretzinger and he were the meet's only double individual winners.

Plymouth's two relay teams finished the meet by setting records in the 200 yard individual medley relay and 200 yard free style relay. Tom Hoffman, Phil Bender, Nick Herrick and Jim Izett combined to set a 1:49.4 in the medley, and a little later Gary Gould, Warren Smith, Bill Bricher and Win Schrader paddled to the final record of 1:37.9 in the 200 yard free style.

It was the fifth consecutive league title for Plymouth, which has won every league meet since their inception. The Rocks are coached by John Mc-Stephenson was fourth. Fall.

THAT CHAMPIONSHIP LOOK - shows on the faces of (faces to camera) co-captain Dick Gretzinger, Coach John McFall and co-captain Ron Daley of Plymouth. Here they accept the Suburban Six League trophy for the fifth consecutive time. Coach McFall shows the pleasant disarray of a victorious coach. He had just taken a victory dunking inflicted by his jubilant team.

SPORTS OBSERVER

By George Maskin

The question came up at a luncheon meeting in nearby Wayne the other afternoon.

"Wouldn't it make more sense to crown only one state high school basketball champion in Michigan instead of four as we do now?"

Sports Observer had only one answer — a big fat "NO!"

Michigan prep sports have thrived for almost 40 decades with its four-class system. The records prove just how much merit there is in splitting schools by enrollments into four categories.

Take a glance at the state standards in track and swimming where you can draw an accurate picture of the relative abilities of preps who represent a large Class A school or those wearing the colors of smaller Class B, C or D teams.

In almost every instance, the prep with the best time in races like the 100 or 200-yard dash, the pole vault, shot put, etc., in track and the various swimming events has competed for a Class A team.

Expenditures for the year were $3,078,935, compared to $2,581,812 the year before. The expenditures were, however, $67,228 less than the amounts appropriated.

And, in direct ratio, the Class B standardbearers show the second-best list of accomplishments with Class C entries third and Class D boys bringing up the end of the line.

Here and there along the line a Class B or Class C entry has slipped in to outdo the accomplishments of a prep in a higher bracket. But these feats add up to only five in the entire set of state prep swimming and track records.

"It would be the same way in basketball," says state director Charles Forsythe.

"Once in a great while a Class C or D school would arise and knock off a Class A team in the state tournament," adds Forsythe. "But year in, year out, you'd find the Class A schools dominating the picture with the result that the state tournament would be minus much of the thrills and interest that now exists."

Forsythe doesn't say so... but staging the basketball meet in four classes certainly enhances the crowd attendance and the loot Forsythe hauls in at the gate.

He has four championship games going for him — and everyone of them already is sold out for March 25. That means something like 36,000 tickets have been grabbed off for the final day, which is triple the figure that one overall final at Michigan State would attract.

But, more important, who really cares what class your school is in as long as it wins a state title?

The colleges have split up their national tournaments so that the smaller institutions have a chance to top some glory which otherwise would elude them if they had to mix directly with the giants like Ohio State, St. Bonaventure, California, Iowa and all the rest.

About the only gripe one hears about the Michigan schoolboy classification setup stems from the enrollment figures used in determining into which class a school falls.

Major objectors are the so-called "small" Class A schools. These are the schools with just over 900 students. They don't feel they should be battling schools whose athletic teams draw from 1,500 to 3,000 students.

State Director Forsythe and members of the State Association's Representative Council understand this problem.

"We are studying the classification matter almost constantly," Forsythe said the other day. "It's bound to come up for discussion again when the Council holds its annual spring meeting in May."

"We know there are some inequities. If we hike the Class A minimum, then we'll probably get some complaints from Class B and C schools."

There has been talk of a Double A category in Michigan for schools with 1,500 or more students.

But chances of adding a fifth class appear pretty dim. After all, you can go a little too far with a good thing!

Former Little Leaguers Need Not Re-Register

Boys who played in the American or National Little Leagues last year won't have to re-register for the new season, it was announced this week. Registration for the coming baseball season will take place Saturdays, March 11 and 13 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the American Legion Hall on Sheldon Rd., across from Western Electric.

Boys must be at least nine years of age before Aug. 1 and not over 13 years old before Aug. 1 to be eligible to play. An important meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Little League will take place this Thursday, March 9, at 7:30 p.m. in the Plymouth Township Hall. Any mother whose son will be playing is urged to attend.

Reigns as Swim Loop Champ

Sweet Revenge for Thurston

It was sweet revenge for Thurston High School's swimming team. Not only did Thurston grab the crown, but the men of Coach Joe Marawca cracked six conference records in the process.

Now all that remains for Thurston is the state meet at Michigan State Friday and Saturday. Whatever happens at East Lansing, Thurston can look back on its greatest swimming season in the school's history — 12 wins and one loss in dual competition, plus the League championship.

Rick Barringer, an eleventh-grader, and Mike Zinn led the Thurston record-splashing party at Pontiac Northern. Each erased two records.

Barringer started the Thurston assault when he won the 400-yard free style in 4:34.8, a conference standard. Then he came back with his second record effort, a 2:05.9 clocking to win the 200 free style.

Zinn's double came in the butterfly and the individual medley. He swam the former in 1:01.7, then followed with a 2:16.1 clocking in the individual medley.

Bill Lambert took a third to Zinn in the butterfly while Terry Lucas was second to Zinn in the individual. Lucas, however, Thurston finished its title feast with a win in the medley relay and a third in the free style relay.

Coach Marawca announced he will take six men to East Lansing for the state meet. They are Spicknell, Robison, Lambert and Dick Bubb.

Spicknell, Robison, Lambert and Dick Bubb formed the winning medley quartet which was timed in 1:55.3. Vorce, Kordenbroch, Fred Rich-ter and Budd swam in the free style relay.

The diving saw Thurston's Ron Bramble the winner with Don O'Grady can look back on its greatest swimming season in the school's history — 12 wins and one loss in dual competition, plus the League championship.

Rocks Face Ypsi In Cage Tourney

With league activity finished, Plymouth's basketball team will meet Ypsilanti at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow in Eastern Michigan's Bowen Field House at Ypsilanti. It is the first round of district No. 25 state tournament play.

The Rocks will pit a 3-10 season record against Ypsi's 2-13 record. One of Ypsi's victories this season was an opening 48-40 win over Plymouth.

Other schools in the district tournament and their records are: Ann Arbor (9-9), Adrian (5-9), Garden City (0-16), Wayne (8-6), Thurston (5-10), Jackson (13-2), Inkster Robichaud (12-4), Belleville (5-10), Inkster (12-2), and Walled Lake (10-6).

Firm Stages Own Boat Show

Prizes and refreshments will be a part of the K & M Boat Company's All-Family Boat Show March 10-19. The firm is at 14950 Telegraph Rd., between Schoolcraft and Fenell.

First prize will be an outboard motor; second, a boat; three prizes of $50 gift certificates; three $25 gift certificates; two prizes offering water skis and five prizes offering $10 purchase certificates.

There will also be 24 outboard motors and a cabin cruiser given by manufacturers, making a total of 40 prizes worth more than $12,800.

There is no admission charge. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. daily.

Thurston's Post Leads Way

7 Matmen in State Meet

Seven area hopefuls — five from Thurston and one each from Redford Union and Livonia Bentley — have qualified for this weekend's state Class A high school wrestling meet at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Leading the contingent will be Thurston's Dave Post, who'll be heavily favored to repeat as Michigans' No. 1 145-lb. grappler.

Post, who won the top prize at Michigan State last March, was the lone area performer to capture a first in the regional meet held at Thurston last Friday and Saturday.

He bested Ron Mortenson of Ann Arbor, 30, in the final match to gain revenge for the only defeat Post has suffered in more than 80 dual meets in which he has vied in the last two years.

Going to Ann Arbor with Post will be Bob Phifer, 112-pounder; Mike Mitchell, 120; Al Miccalef, 154, and Doug Spicer, 165, from Thurston, along with Ken Bowman, a 138-pounder, from Redford Union, and heavyweight Boris Dimetroff from Bentley.

ORDINANCE NO. 275

AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE PREVENTION OF FIRES AND THE PROTECTION OF PERSONS AND PROPERTY; TO PROVIDE FOR A FIRE MARSHAL; TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF PERMITS; TO PROVIDE PENALTIES FOR VIOLATION OF THE PROVISIONS HEREOF AND TO REPEAL ANY ORDINANCE OR PART THEREOF IN CONFLICT HEREWITH.

THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

Section 1. There is hereby created the office of Fire Marshal, and the Director of Public Safety shall be, ex officio, the Fire Marshal. The Fire Marshal and any of the officers or members of the Department of Public Safety shall have the authority to enforce the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 2. The Fire Marshal and his assistants shall enforce this ordinance and all other laws or ordinances covering fires, the storage and use of flammables and explosives, the installation and maintenance of fire alarm systems, the maintenance and regulation of fire exits and all other matters and conditions affecting the prevention of fires, the preservation of property and the safety of persons within the City of Plymouth.

Section 3. The Fire Marshal or any of his assistants, may at all reasonable hours enter any building or premises within the City of Plymouth for the purpose of making an inspection which may be deemed necessary under the provisions of this ordinance, without incurring any liability for trespass by reason of such entry.

Section 4. The Fire Marshal shall cause periodic inspections to be made of all buildings or properties within the City of Plymouth, other than interiors of private dwellings, and upon a written and signed complaint of any person or whenever the Fire Marshal shall deem it necessary, shall inspect or cause to be inspected all buildings and properties, including the interior of private dwellings, for the purpose of ascertaining the existence of conditions liable to cause fire, or any violation of the provisions or intent of this or any other ordinance of the City of Plymouth affecting fire hazards, and for the purpose of causing such conditions to be corrected.

Section 5. Whenever any assistant of the Fire Marshal shall find in any building or upon any premises combustible or explosive matter, or dangerous accumulations or rubbish or unnecessary accumulations of waste paper, boxes, shavings or other flammable materials, which are so situated as to endanger life or property, or shall find obstructions to or on any fire escapes, stairs, passageways, doors or windows, liable to interfere with the operations of the Fire Department, or egress of occupants in case of fire, or shall find any building or structure which, for want of repair, lack of sufficient fire escapes, approved fire alarm apparatus or fire extinguishing equipment, or which by reason of age or dilapidated condition, or from any other cause is especially liable to create a fire hazard, and which is so situated as to endanger other property or the occupants thereof, or the persons occupying such buildings, such findings shall forthwith be reported to the Fire Marshal. Said Fire Marshal shall make such further inspections as he may deem advisable or necessary, and shall prepare written notice stating the faulty conditions which exist, requiring said faulty conditions to be fully corrected, remedied or removed, and setting a time limit of not less than twenty-four (24) hours for compliance therewith.

Section 6. Where any written notice is prepared in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance, or where there is any violation of any provision of this ordinance with a corresponding notice or order for correction of the same, said notice shall be made in the following manner:

(a) By personally delivering a copy of said order or notice to the person or persons to whom it is directed anywhere within the State of Michigan, or

(b) By delivering a copy of said order or notice by certified or registered mail, addressed to the last known post office address of the addressee, and deliverable to the addressee only, with return receipt demanded, which service by certified or registered mail shall be deemed personal and not substituted service, or

(c) If any person to whom said order or notice is directed cannot be found or has no known post office address or is not a resident of the State of Michigan, then service of said order or notice may be made by publication in a newspaper published or circulating in the county in which the property or premises described in said order or notice are situated, once in each week for three successive weeks, the last publication to be made at least ten days prior to the date of performance specified in said order or notice. A copy of said order or notice shall be posted upon the premises described in such order or notice.

Section 7. It shall be the duty of any occupant or owner of any building or premises to comply with any order or notice given by the Fire Marshal within twenty-four (24) hours after service of such order or notice, as herein provided, unless additional time is applied for and is granted by the Fire Marshal, or unless additional time for compliance is provided for in such order or notice.

Section 8. Any owner or occupant of a building or premises, who shall feel aggrieved by any order or notice given by the Fire Marshal, may, within twenty-four (24) hours after service thereof, as herein provided, appeal to the City Commission, which shall within five (5) days thereafter grant such person a hearing upon his objections, which shall be in writing. Said commission may modify or revoke such order or notice, and if the same shall be upheld in any respect shall have authority to order compliance therewith within such time as the commission shall specify.

Section 9. Whenever in the opinion of the Fire Marshal or his duly authorized representative any dangerous condition involving explosives or flammable vapors exists, or whenever the Fire Marshal or his duly authorized representative shall find such an emergency condition dangerous to persons or property, said Fire Marshal or his duly authorized representative shall have the power to take all necessary steps and to prescribe any necessary restrictions and requirements to protect persons and property until said dangerous condition is abated.

Section 10. Applications for permits required by this ordinance shall be obtained from the Fire Marshal and be in such form and contain such information as he may require.

Section 11. A written permit shall be obtained by all persons, firms or corporations before engaging in the following activities in the City of Plymouth, said permit to expire three (3) months after the date of issuance, except that permits for the use of explosives and pyrotechnic displays shall be for the period of one day only unless otherwise noted in the permit:

- (a) Erecting any tent or other shelter or other enclosure capable of sheltering more than twenty-five (25) persons at one time.
- (b) Installing tanks for the storage of flammable liquids.
- (c) Installing liquified gas systems.
- (d) Installing dry cleaning or dry dyeing equipment.
- (e) Staging of pyrotechnic displays.
- (f) Use of explosives.
- (g) Installing metal awnings on any building other than a private dwelling.

Section 12. For each permit issued hereunder a fee of $5.00 shall be collected.

Section 13. No person shall carelessly, recklessly, negligently, or in any manner set fire to any hotel, rooming house, lodging house or any place of public abode, or to any bedding, furniture, curtains, drapes or other furnishings therein so as to endanger life or property.

In each sleeping room of all hotels, rooming houses, lodging houses and other places of public abode, a plainly written notice shall be posted in a conspicuous place as notice of the provisions of this section of this ordinance.

Section 14. Any person who shall offer for sale, expose for sale, or sell at retail, have in possession, give, furnish, transport, use, explode, or cause to explode, any blank cartridge, toy pistol, toy cannon, toy cane or toy gun in which explosives are used, except toy pistols, toy cannon, toy canes and toy guns of a type approved by the commissioner of the Michigan state police in which paper caps containing ¼ grain, or less, of explosive compound are used and which are so constructed that the hand cannot come in contact with the cap when in place for the explosion or any products of combustion resulting therefrom; the type of balloon which requires fire underneath to propel the same; fire-crackers, torpedoes, skyrocket, Roman Candles, Daygo bombs or other fireworks of like construction, or any fireworks containing any explosive or inflammable compound or any tablets or other device commonly used and sold as fireworks containing nitrates, chlorates, oxalates, sulphides of lead, beryllium, antimony, arsenic, mercury, nitroglycerine, phosphorus or any compound containing any of the same or other modern explosives, except toy pistol paper caps which contain ¼ grain, or less, of explosive mixture, and except sparklers containing not more than .0125 pounds of burning portions per sparkler, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor; Provided that the City Commission may, upon application in writing, authorize the Fire Marshal to grant a permit for the public display of fireworks by fair associations, amusement parks or other organizations or groups of individuals approved by the City Commission, when handled by a competent operator. After such permit shall have been granted, sales, possession or transportation of fireworks for such display may be made for that purpose only; Provided further, That nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit any wholesale resident, dealer or jobber to have in possession, transport or sell at wholesale such fireworks as are not herein prohibited; or the possession, transportation or sale of any kind of fireworks when the same are to be shipped directly out of the state; or the possession, transportation or sale of blank cartridges for a show or theatre or for signal purposes in athletic sports or by railroads for signal purposes or for the use by the militia or any organization of war veterans.

Section 15. Every person dealing at wholesale or retail in gasoline, benzene or naphtha shall deliver the same from tank wagons, tanks, casks, barrels, pumps or other receptacles to the purchaser only in barrels, casks, jugs, packages, pumps or cans painted vermilion bright red, and having the word "gasoline," "benzene" or "naphtha" plainly lettered in English thereon, and all tank wagons and wholesale receptacles shall likewise be labeled with the word "gasoline," "benzene" or "naphtha" as the use of such tank wagon or receptacle would indicate. These provisions shall not be deemed to apply to any stationary pump erected for the sale or distribution of gasoline at retail; nor to any vehicle designed for bulk delivery; nor to any tank permanently affixed to a motor vehicle, tractor or airplane, as a part thereof, and containing gasoline used for the purpose of propelling such motor vehicle, tractor or airplane. No such dealer shall deliver kerosene in a barrel, cask, jug, package or can painted and lettered as hereinbefore provided. Every person purchasing gasoline, benzene or naphtha for use or sale at retail shall procure and keep the same only in barrels, casks, jugs, packages or cans painted and lettered as hereinbefore provided. No person keeping for use or using kerosene shall put or keep the same in any tank wagon, barrel, cask, jug, package or can painted and lettered as hereinbefore provided. Provided, however, That the use of gasoline, benzene and naphtha being sold in bottles of not more than 1 quart for cleaning and similar purposes it shall be deemed sufficient if the contents of such bottles are so designated by a label securely pasted or attached thereto with the words "gasoline," "benzene" or "naphtha" printed in bright red ink in letters not less than ¼ inch in size. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Section 16. Any condition existing on any property, or in any building in the City of Plymouth determined by the Fire Marshal to be a hazardous condition, and a hazard to adjacent properties or to lives, and any building which constitutes a hazard to adjoining properties or to lives, shall be deemed a public nuisance, and shall be abated in accordance with the provisions of the law pertaining to abatement of nuisances. Whenever the Fire Marshal shall find any such hazard existing, and when action is not taken within the time limit in any order or notice for the abatement of such nuisance by the owner or occupant of said premises, the Fire Marshal may, upon approval of the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, bring or cause to be brought in the Circuit Court of the County of Wayne, an action in chancery in the name of the City of Plymouth, for the purpose of abating, removing, correcting or discontinuing such nuisance and related fire hazard.

Section 17. Pursuant to the provisions of Section 3 of Act 275 P.A. 1909 as amended by Act 14 P.A. 1960 (Sec. 5.2073 M.S.A.), the latest fire prevention code of 1960 of the National Board of Fire Underwriters is hereby adopted by reference; provided, however, that in case any provision of said code shall differ from any requirement of this ordinance, or any other ordinance or code of this city, the terms of the ordinance or code imposing the highest standards of safety shall be followed and enforced; and provided, further, that "Chief of the Fire Department" or "Chief of the Bureau of Fire Prevention" or the "Bureau of Fire Prevention" as used in said code shall mean the Director of Public Safety or the Fire Marshal or office of Fire Marshal, as the case may be.

Section 18. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any provision of this ordinance or who shall fail to comply therewith, or with any lawful order or notice of the Fire Marshal in relation to the matters and things therein contained, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof before any court of competent jurisdiction shall be punished by a fine of not to exceed One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) or by imprisonment for a period of not to exceed ninety (90) days, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court. Each and every day on which any violation continues shall constitute a separate offense. Provided, however, that action for enforcement of this ordinance by way of imposition of a penalty as hereinbefore provided shall not in any way impair or affect the powers hereinbefore granted to apply to the Circuit Court for abatement of a nuisance, or the removal of any hazardous conditions.

Section 19. Any ordinance, or part of any ordinance, which may be in conflict herewith, is hereby repealed to the extent of such conflict.

Section 20. In the event any phrase, clause, sentence, or section of this ordinance is declared illegal or invalid in any final adjudication by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remaining parts of this ordinance shall be deemed to have been adopted and shall continue in full force and effect without such illegal or invalid provision.

Section 21. This ordinance, for brevity, may be cited, pleaded and referred to and may be amended by the short title of "Ordinance No. 275, Fire Prevention Ordinance of the City of Plymouth, Michigan."

Section 22. This ordinance shall become operative and effective on the 14th day of March A.D., 1961.

Made, passed and adopted by the City Commission of the City of Plymouth, Michigan, this 20th day of February A.D., 1961.

Insert

A machine takes up to eight pounds of clothing in one load. A scale is furnished to weigh the load. After it is placed into the machine eight quarters are inserted. Fifty minutes later the customer finds the load done.

A typical load might contain a child's snowsuit, two dresses, three men's sweaters, three skirts and two pair of boys' pants.

Dry cleaning, of course, is not actually dry cleaning. When the machine functions, a "dry solvent" called perchlorethylene is pumped into the cylinder at a rate of eight gallons a minute. This "washing" goes on for nine minutes.

Once the clothes are inside the machines, it locks automatically and will not open until the cleaning cycle has been completed 50 minutes later.

Coming Up

There's also William Edgar, a spectroscopist with Ford, who was once a music teacher. He was one of the instigators of the band. Jim Garber, an attorney, once played with the Albion College Band, and there are three men, now engineers, who all played with the U of M band at one time.

"We're still in need of some more members," Griffiths states, "such as another trombone, three French horns, another drummer or so and an oboe." He hopes to round out the band with some college students this summer.

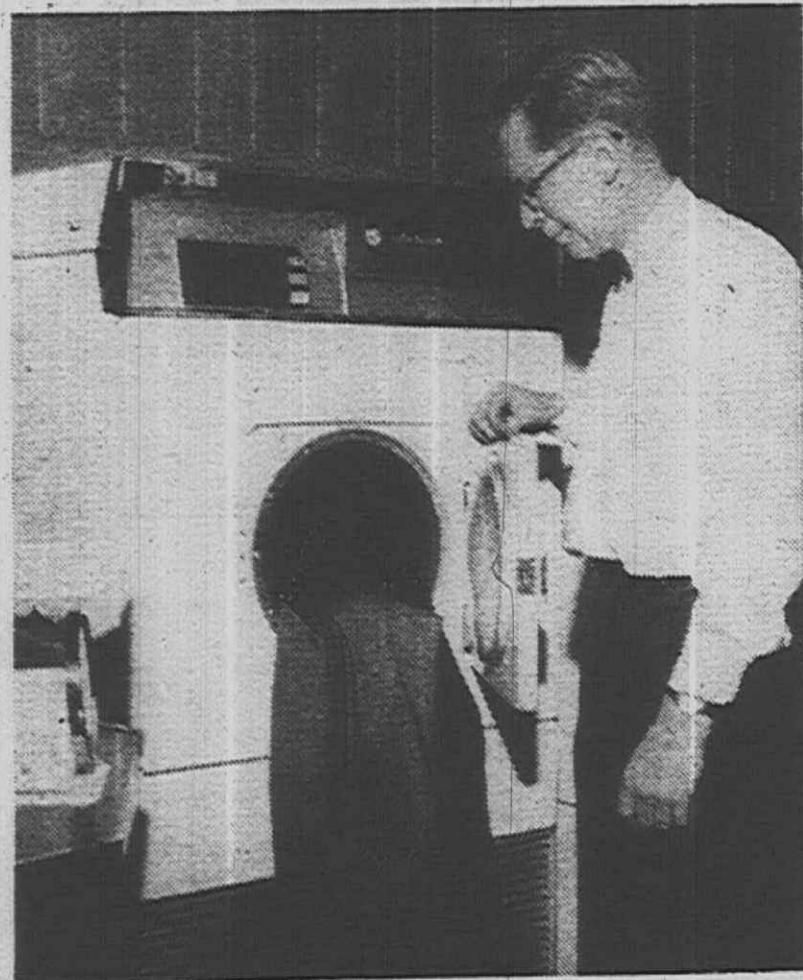

The band hopes to make its debut this spring when Plymouth merchants stage another Midnight Madness sale. Then, starting June 23, the band will play each Friday night in Kelllogg Park. This is expected to add to the shopping enjoyment of customers.

Griffith, who is also the High School band director, feels the band is making much progress, considering the short time they have been rehearsing and the rustiness of most of its members. "The Plymouth Symphony started 15 years ago with just a handful of people," Griffiths commented, "so I think we are well on our way."

Junior Achievement's 1961 Fund Campaign in the Plymouth area reached 114 percent, or $5,727 of its $5,000 goal, according to the chairman of the local division, Robert Barbour, assistant vice-president of the National Bank of Detroit.

The month-long campaign, which ended two weeks ago, was aided in its fund-raising efforts by some 19 team captains and volunteers from business and industry to raise money for the non-profit organization which puts teenagers in the driver's seat of business during the school year.

The local fund-raising efforts were lauded by campaign general chairman, Wilfred D. MacDonnell, who is president of Great Lakes Steel Corp.

MacDonnell told some 500 campaign workers at the final report meeting in Detroit, that the southeastern Michigan Campaign was a "reounding success" and the 109 percent, or $261,040 of Junior Achievement's $240,000 goal had been raised for the organization's 1961-1962 operation.

This year 115 teenagers manage and run 9 miniature corporations in the Plymouth area. The small corporations liquidate and disband in May.

The child's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McLean and Mrs. McKenzie, all of Detroit.

The new mother is the former Lucille McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brown, Jr., of 1236 Junction have added a new heir to the Brown clan. He is Gary David, born March 2 at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital. Gary weighed 8 lbs., 9 ozs.

The Browns have another son, George, two and a half years old.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George H. Brown, Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Sanchez of Pueblo, Colo.

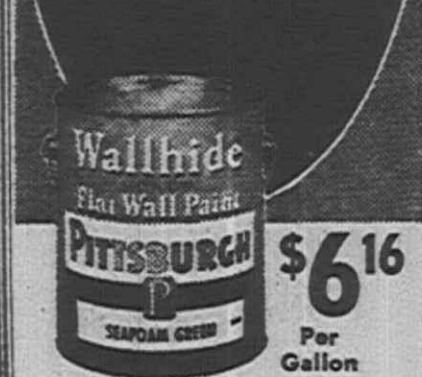

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Markham announce the birth of a daughter, Dawn Marie, who was born Jan. 24, and weighed 6 lbs., 12 ozs.

The Markhams have another daughter, Laura Ann. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Theron Palmer and Mrs. Earl Markham.

Mrs. Markham is the former Mariann Palmer.

Mill St. Residents

(Continued from Page 1) owners that when the original pavement was laid in 1929 the property owners paid for the entire cost at $7.89 a front foot. A suit against the village arose out of the assessment, accusing the village council at that time of illegal assessing. It was carried all the way to the Supreme Court and property owners lost because they had waited too long to protest.

Robert Beyer, another resident on the street, emphasized that the condition of the street is better than 90 percent of the City's streets and that if the trade with the county hadn't come along, the City might not consider the recapping necessary.

A number of other residents also voiced their questions and objections, noting that it has been the trucks that have caused damage to the street.

City Commissioners defended the proposed paving, with Commissioner Richard Wernette leading the counter-attack. He pointed out that residents of Ann Arbor Trail had their street recapped last year and this is also a truck route.

"We on Adams St. have a similar case. It is used by school buses, cement trucks and was used by Consumers Power trucks. We are going to pay $1 a foot. They also did the same on Blunk and Harvey Streets," Wernette declared. "We've got to get it paved in order to save what base is left. Otherwise we will be paying to have the street torn up and a new one put down."

Following the discussion, Mayor Pro Tem Robert Sincovec closed the hearing, after which Commissioners made the motion approving the project.

Repaving old streets has always been a problem to the City. The most famous controversy developed seven years ago when Main St. from Penniman to Mill, was considered for new pavement. Property owners along this expensive project also believed they shouldn't pay anything for rebuilding this highly-traveled thoroughfare. But they ended up paying a share and Commissioner J. Rusing Cutler reminded the group Monday that his personal share was $3,000 worth.

Senior Citizens See Travel Film On Nova Scotia

The host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nash, entertained the Senior Citizens last Thursday afternoon with films on Nova Scotia. This was followed by a community sing.

Playing of cards and sewing of cancer pads were also part of the afternoon's activities. A luncheon was served by the Virgins Club.

On the afternoon of March 9, there will be a speaker from the Social Security Administration. On the same evening, the Theatre Guild will be host to Senior Citizens with the play, "Inherit the Wind" at Plymouth High School.

Canton 4-H Group Cooks Up Delicious Project

By Esther Sprengel
GL 3-0194

The "Spoon and Spool" Group of the 4-H send us report of their dinner held as one of their main projects in their 4-H work. The young lady reporting the event, Marilyn Moyer, said, "Neither rain, snow or sleet..." kept the eager cooks of the Spoon and Spool group from giving their dinner on Saturday, Feb. 25, to which it seems, the same weather report didn't hinder their guests from arriving on time to enjoy the delicious meal prepared for them. The dinner took place at the home of the group's leader, Mrs. Howard Moyer, of Hanford Rd.

The young culinary artists had planned a menu of chicken, mashed potatoes, gravy, peas, carrots and molded vegetable salad, rolls, milk, cake and ice cream. The girls did their own shopping, serving and cleaning up later. Each girl did the work assigned to her and still had time to visit with her guests. The guests enjoyed reports about the puzzled looks of the supermarket clerks, when the young ladies purchased packages after package of chicken legs. Each member of the group invited their special friend, and the leader of the other group of the Spoon and Spool, Knitting and Personal Improvement, Mrs. Edward Bosman of Hanford Rd., and the members of that group, Dianne and Patty Bosman.

Members of the cooking project were Barbara Authier, Carol Bosman, Marilyn Moyer, Carol Hinoe, Judy Taylor, Janice Williams, their guest list included: Becky Lyons, Mary Ann McKenzie, Grace Thompson, Kay Perish, Merrie Wright, Nancy Gibson, Sharon Kipler. As a center-piece for their table the girls shined various fruits, which they served their guests following the meal. Name cards with the 4-H emblem directed the guests to their seats at the table, however, it took a bit of deciphering on the part of the guests to recognize their names spelled backwards.

Wednesday, March 1, brought a sharp reminder to the Township Fire Department, that it is grass fire time again. The department received two fire calls on that date. Fire Chief Korte reminds the residents that precautions should be taken in burning trash. One simple measure is to make sure that your trash burner has a cover so as to keep flying particles inside. To burn grass and any other brush or extensive burning, according to state conservation law, a burning permit should be secured from your Township Hall. The permit is free for the asking, but may save many dollars.

Besides being a protection to your own property, inasmuch as the Fire Department knows the location of the burning activity, it could mean the department may be saved from being called out on a false alarm, if a record has been made. So once again, take a few simple precautions in burning, have someone watch the fire constantly and if large projects of burning are to be undertaken, be sure your Township Hall is notified.

A few more questions and answers about a chartered township.

Question: Who determines Public Necessity for the installation of utilities or other public improvements? Answer: The Charter Township Board. Question: Is the Charter Township required to make an annual audit of its financial records and make a financial statement? Answer: Yes. An independent audit MUST be made of the financial records of the Township and that an annual report of Township Business shall be made available to the public, in the office of the clerk.

Another annual proceeding to take place in many of our PTA groups is the selection of officers for next year. It is always a difficult task for board members to find persons willing to serve and although there are many capable persons for the positions, they are not always contacted, because the persons selected to work on nomination committees are not always familiar with these persons. This problem will be one the Gallimore PTA will have faced on Monday, March 6. Suggestions from PTA members are always welcome when presented to their executive board.

Happy birthday wishes go to a young lady, Bonnie West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake West of Cherry Hill. Bonnie was the guest of honor at a surprise party given for her by her parents, Feb. 29. Five of Bonnie's girl friends attended the celebration and enjoyed the birthday games, prizes and treats.

On Feb. 29, Earl Buchner of Cherry Hill became a member of the Order of the Elk. Mr. Buchner was sponsored by Mr. Jake West.

Plymouth Obituaries

Infant Cheryl Ann Bailey
 Cheryl Ann Bailey, born March 1, 1961, succumbed after two hours, March 2.

The infant is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal T. Bailey and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent St. Louis. Funeral services were held from Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, March 2, Rev. Fr. Francis C. Byrne officiated.

Interment was at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Alice Thielan
 Mrs. Alice Thielan, who lived at 15711 Marilyn St., died March 3, 1961, at the age of 92, in Orchard Haven

Rest Home after an illness of two years.

Mrs. Thielan was born Jan. 9, 1869, in Ohio and has lived in the Plymouth area for several years prior to her illness. She is survived by her grandson, Tom Sauter, of Livonia.

Funeral services were held from the Schrader Funeral Home, March 7. Interment was at Rural Hill Cemetery, Northville.

Hazel Foote
 Mrs. Hazel Pearl Foote, whose father, George Taylor, once operated a bakery on Penniman Ave., died suddenly on March 2 at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia. Her home was at 504 Randolph St., Northville.

Born Sept. 30, 1897 in Plymouth, she was the daughter of George and Lydia (Cork) Taylor. She was preceded in death by her husband, Frank. Surviving are two cousins, Walter J. Taylor of Ottawa, Canada, and Raymond Bulard of South Lyon.

Mrs. Foote moved to Northville 30 years ago from Plymouth. She was an employee of Manufacturers National Bank.

Funeral services were March 6 from Casterline Funeral Home with the Rev. Paul Cargo, pastor of First Methodist Church, officiating. Interment was in Rural Hill Cemetery.

Marvin Wilkinson
 Marvin J. Wilkinson of 7806 Wayne Rd., Plymouth, died suddenly March 2, at the age of 36, following a heart attack. Born in Detroit, he had lived here for the past 12 years. He was operator of the Wayne-Cowan Sunoco service station.

Surviving him are his wife, Margaret; four children, John, Sandra, Jacqueline and Sally; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilkinson of Livonia; a sister, Mrs. Florence Koerger of Milford; and two brothers, James, who is in South America, and Melvin of Livonia.

He was at Caldwell Funeral Home in Garden City, the funeral service being held Sunday afternoon, March 5, at 2 p.m., conducted by Rev. H. T. Starkey, at the Merriman Rd. Baptist Church. Burial was in Riverside Cemetery, Kalamazoo, on Monday morning.

The Plymouth chapter of the International Quill and Scroll Society — an honorary organization of high school journalists — has announced its acceptance of nine new members. They are: Norbert Voss, German exchange student, Susie Neal, Gary Mirto, Ted Roberts, Mary Lou Argo, Janet Graham, Harold Fischer, Marlene Sharland, and John Wimsatt.

Qualifications for membership in the organization are a minimum of 50 inches of writing in print, and outstanding contributions in the field of journalism. All of the new members are on the staff of the school paper, while club President Marty Bernash and Treasurer Sharon Bennet have also worked under its masthead. Quill and Scroll advisor is Miss Elizabeth McDonald.

Speaking of inches in print, have YOU submitted any of your work for publication in the forthcoming literary issue of the PRINTS? A big black mailbox decorated with a symbolic gold quill has been placed just inside the door of room 21-B near the editor's office for the convenience of students in submitting their papers. Surely you have some English theme or perhaps a bit of poetry that would be just the thing!

Tickets to the Detroit production of "The Sound of Music" were the prizes received by seniors Suzanne Smith and Larry Heidt for the best themes evaluating their experiences on the International Relations class trip to New York last month. After the group got back home, Mr. Gerald Fischer, one of the chaperones, thought it would be interesting to have a contest wherein every class member wrote such a theme, and arranged for the prize. Mr. Walter Goodwin, math instructor, and Librarian Pat Butler were chosen by the class as judges, and came up with the results last week.

The busy class activities have by no means slackened. Indeed, they began planning for the Model United Nations Assembly to be held at Hillsdale College next week soon after they returned. The students have been enjoying themselves immensely as they stage their own UN General Assembly in the classroom, each student representing a certain country. There's a Secretary General and President to make the set-up complete. No shoe pounding has been witnessed as yet, but the Cuban and Russian delegations have at least walked out a few times!

It is intended to later carry on such an assembly in the auditorium for the benefit of interested social studies classes.

Seems like PHS'ers are really going to beat a path to Lansing this Friday and Saturday. To see Plymouth's crack swimming team compete in the State Meets, of course! Besides the crowd going up on school buses Saturday, a large group are taking their own cars. If spectator support is the great help our Pep Club says it is, the boys should really come out on top. Best of luck to them.

12th White Breakfast To Be Maundy Thursday

Preparations are in high gear by members of the Church Women's Assn. of the United Presbyterian Church for their 12th annual White Breakfast, Maundy Thursday, March 30.

The Breakfast will be preceded by a 9:30 a.m. meditation period and organ recital in the church sanctuary. At this time Grady Wilson will offer selections on the organ. Mrs. James Warren will be soloist. Mr. Wilson is currently engaged in study at the U of M, working on his doctorate in music.

The guest speaker at the White Breakfast, which begins at 10 a.m., will be Robert Swanson, who is president of Alma College.

James A. McClow, seaman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McClow of 888 Ross, Plymouth, is participating Feb. 13 to 28, aboard the guided missile heavy cruiser USS Boston, in this year's largest Atlantic Fleet amphibious striking exercise in the Caribbean.

Sixty-five ships and more than 20,000 bluejackets and marines, under the command of Vice Admiral John McN. Taylor USN, Commander, Amphibious Forces, Atlantic Fleet, are engaged in the operation which is designed to maintain combat efficiency in the amphibious striking forces.

After a rehearsal assault landing on Feb. 24, the force will rendezvous off Vieques, Puerto Rico, for the exercise's major sea and helicopter assault, scheduled for Feb. 25.

All About Babies

There are generally two groups of heart disease in children. The most common type, congenital heart disease, is the result of faulty development of the heart before birth. The next most common heart affliction in children is rheumatic heart disease.

Although many forms of congenital heart disease and rheumatic heart conditions can be quite serious, there may be children with either type of heart condition of a mild nature which allows the child to lead a normal life.

In congenital or inborn heart disease, if the condition is severe enough to cause ill health, usually surgery can be performed to return the heart to normal. Such operations most commonly are aimed at closing abnormal openings between the various heart chambers. Many

Men In Service

By Madison S. Spach, M.D. Department of Pediatrics Duke University School of Medicine

Heart murmurs are extremely common in perfectly normal children. At least three out of ten normal children have a heart murmur at some time during childhood. These completely innocent heart murmurs occurring in normal children are referred to as "functional murmurs."

By definition a heart murmur means that the doctor can hear noises other than the usual heart sounds when he listens to the child's chest. It is by listening with a stethoscope and by a few simple tests that the physician can usually tell the difference between innocent murmurs and those that result from actual abnormalities.

people have actually viewed such procedures on television.

There are other children who have heart murmurs from mild heart abnormalities, yet the heart function remains completely normal. These children require periodic medical check-ups, but may never require correction of their defect as long as the heart function stays normal.

When a child has rheumatic fever, the main danger is that the heart may be involved with resultant damage to the valves of the heart as well as to the heart muscle itself. Many children will recover from an attack without the heart being damaged.

For reasons yet unknown completely, the onset of rheumatic fever is related to infections caused by a germ called the streptococcus. By treating streptococcal sore throats with penicillin, attacks of rheumatic fever can be prevented. Also, once an attack has occurred, the daily administration of small doses of penicillin can prevent further recurrences.

BENEATH IT ALL

NEW YORK (UPI)—There is plenty mentionable about what a girl spends on unmentionables.

One poll of New York career girls showed the annual spending on lingerie at $150 per year. A lingerie manufacturer (Kayser) talked to hundreds of women along "advertising row" — Madison Avenue — and found also that the average working girl owned four girdles, six bras, 10 pairs of panties and 12 slips. In sleepwear, the average was six nightgowns, three pairs of pajamas, two robes and one bed jacket.

If Your Name Is Hedy

By ANN REYNOLDS
Are you looking for a name that is a bit on the unusual side? What about "Hedy" or "Hedda"? Short and simple, they go well with any last name. If you believe "a name is an omen," don't use it.

Both Old German words that went into the making of these names, mean "war." They are whittled down from "Hedwig," "hadu" and "wic" are the elements they were combined from. And even if "Hedwig's" meaning is "war," it spread for women revered as saints who had nothing war-like in their personalities.

One Hedwig was a queen of Poland in the 14th century. She went by the appellation "Jadwiga," the way the name sounds in Polish. Chosen by the nobles to succeed her father to the throne, there was one condition. She must marry a man they looked upon worthy to become their ruler. Hedwig-Jadwiga found herself in a dilemma. Only 13 years old, and already a gorgeous beauty, there was no lack of suitors who would have considered themselves fortunate to become Jadwiga's husband. But the young princess had been betrothed as a toddler to William of Austria, and she was very fond of him. The Polish patriots, however, did not wish to have him as their king; their choice was Jagellon, Duke of Lithuania. What was Hedy to do? She put her country above love and gave up William.

For Jagellon she had one condition, though. He must accept Christianity; Lithuania was then still largely pagan. This was all right with Jagellon; he was baptized, and his people with him. He ruled Poland as Wladislaw II. Could be that the decision was not too hard for Hedy; Jagellon was a handsome knight.

Queen Jadwiga proved her deep religious conviction further; she translated the Scriptures into her native tongue, Polish. It was the very first Polish version of the Bible.

Another St. Hedwig, daughter of Berthold, Duke of Merania in Central Europe, lived in the 13th century. She, too, was married at a very early age; her husband was Henry I, Duke of Silesia. She showed her religious fervor in a different way. After she had born six children, she persuaded her husband, she took a vow of chastity, and so did she also. From then on she devoted her life to religious exercises and works of charity.

To our own country "Hedwig," "Hedy" and "Hedda" were brought by immigrants, just as were all names besides the very few American Indian appellations.

Food Fair Boosts Dividend By Third

Directors of Borman Food Stores, Inc., at its regular quarterly meeting today, declared a cash dividend of 20 cents per share, payable April 10, to stockholders of record of the company at the close of business on March 17, 1961.

This compares with 15 cents per share declared and paid in the previous quarter.

Handwriting Is Clue About You

Dear Miss Williams: This is a sample of my handwriting. Please analyze it for me.

Thank you, F. M. F.

Dear F. M. F.: Did you know you have literary ability? You also have a penetrating, deep thinking mind, going at things with an analytical viewpoint.

You have a philosophical outlook and an inquiring mind. You like to explore, turn things over and delve into subjects to find out more.

There is irritation and you don't like interruptions. You are constructive, like to shape, build and form from ideas — also a sense of humor. You select your friends carefully — like many but choose the very close ones with care.

Would you please analyze my handwriting. I am so curious what my handwriting reveals.

Thank you, Claire

Dear Claire: You're an opportunist to go forward but are self-conscious. Your aim and purpose is good and you have a feeling of knowing what you want.

Your memory and attention to details is fine and you're loyal to your own ideals. You like responsibility and handle it well. Your determination, however, is quite flexible. You don't want to use it consistently, just when you want to. There's some squeeze up thinking and you're quite secretive. There is an effort at self-control.

You have deep feeling but are not outwardly emotional.

Dear Miss Williams: I am confronted with the necessity of making a major decision concerning my future occupation, and would appreciate very much your assistance in analyzing my handwriting as an aid in determining what type of work I am most suited for.

Sincerely, Indecision

Dear Indecision: You have many good points which will be beneficial in any type work you are considering.

First, you have good organization ability in keeping things in order and untangling messes. You have the ability to concentrate and center your thought on a specified task. You have good thinking and an exploring mind. You can take criticism and have pride and enthusiasm in your work.

You are aggressive, want to go forward and think to the future.

You have a good aim and purpose and a fair amount of determination. You like music, variation and have a sense of humor.

Dear Miss Williams: The above is the handwriting of my grandson. Will you please send an analysis of it, also would like you to read this of mine. Will send an addressed envelope.

Thank you, Mrs. A. K.

Dear Mrs. A. K.: Your grandson takes some responsibility and takes pride in doing things right. He's practical minded and very constructive. There is engineering and building qualities here.

He is a good thinker, doesn't care too much for sports. He is diplomatic, likes things in order and has organization ability. He has an expressive nature and shows emotion.

Your writing shows a very determined person and emphatic in your decisions. When you make up your mind, it's yes or no — but definitely.

You like small responsibilities, nothing too large to weigh you down, but reasonable — these you handle well. You too have good organization and like things in order. You're not sensitive to criticism and have great pride.

You do get irritated easily but have self control.

There is constructive ability in your writing, too. You're philosophical and usually generous.

RED CROSS makes available life saving blood to the sick and injured

Under 21

By DAN HALLIGAN

Dear Dan: I'm student teaching in a local public high school and have a problem with a few girls "mooning" at me in the classroom. My cooperating teacher says this isn't an extraordinary procedure for high school girls but I don't enjoy it. I'm a veteran of four years military service and up until now hadn't realized that in the past eight years girls have become so blunt in soliciting the teacher's good graces for a grade. I'm sure none of the girls in my high school class took part in such an activity.

Being that I'm older, more mature and more settled, I don't wish to offend the girls or create an incident which would make them rebel toward academic work which I'm attempting to present. Will you please offer some suggestion?—G. M. J.

Dear G. M. J.: I think the more you let this situation go unchecked, the worse it will become. Believe it or not, but there may be a couple of girls in your class who have "crushes" on you—something they'll get over in time.

However, in the case of these girls deliberately making eyes at you and embarrassing you, that's something else again. It just may hold true that a group of them are in on this scheme and that the "mooning" is all part of a plan. Then again, each girl may be on her own. In either case, I think it's time you told the girls you are the teacher and will grade according to ability and work completed.

I doubt if this will create an incident but it will shake up the girls enough so that they will realize you mean business. Dear Dan: I'm writing to ask for some pointers to help me in a school debate. The resolution is that people of 18 should be served alcoholic beverages. I'm on the negative side and need your help to win the debate.

I'm sure you have some very good reasons why you think as you do and I would appreciate your help—Mary Ann.

Dear Mary Lou: I don't drink and never have, yet I can say I'm not violently opposed to drinking in moderation by adults. Personally, I believe an individual should wait until he or she is 25 to start drinking and by that time won't want to start.

In several years as a newspaperman and working with law enforcement agencies, I've seen the harm beer and liquor can do to teen-agers but have never yet seen the bright side. I doubt if there is one.

First of all, too many kids take their first drink because they don't want to be considered "chicken." Secondly, a girl who drinks is more apt to park and do things she otherwise wouldn't do.

If an employer knows his potential 18-year-old employee drinks, there's a good chance the individual won't be hired. In my particular business, I allow no drinking or smoking by employees because I am "employed" by you teen-agers and if I preach against tobacco and liquor for young people, I should practice what I preach for myself and those working for me.

Drinking and speed, individually or a combination of both, are a major cause of traffic accidents today among young people and while a boy may be able to stop his speeding car in time if his senses are clear, the odds mount against him when he has alcohol in his system. Many parents won't allow their daughters to date a boy who drinks.

Equally as important as anything, drinking is expensive. You can't sit at a bar all evening without spending at least several dollars. Very few young drinkers can stand that expense and if they continue that nightly social life, they wind up in unnecessary debt.

Cadillac

It gives a man confidence!

Every Cadillac owner reading this advertisement will know what we're talking about.

For difficult as it is to describe, there is a measure of self-assurance that comes with driving a new Cadillac that is very real indeed.

It derives, we believe, from several basic considerations of Cadillac ownership.

First of all—to be sure—a man's Cadillac serves as a constant and personal reminder of what he has been able to make of his years.

And then too, he can't help but be aware of the respect and admiration his Cadillac engenders. Whoever he travels, it is recognized as the logical reward for achievement . . . and an unmistakable reflection of his taste and judgement.

And finally, a journey at its wheel constitutes the perfect respite from the workaday world.

Beautiful, gracious, substantial—spacious, silent, obedient—it delivers a man at his destination relaxed in body and refreshed in spirit.

Have you considered putting your best foot forward—and into a new 1961 Cadillac?

Well, this should surely be the year to make the move. There has never before been a Cadillac to rival this one—for beauty, for performance, for luxury, for craftsmanship, or for sheer and long-lasting soundness of investment.

Your authorized dealer has the facts—and the car—to prove it.

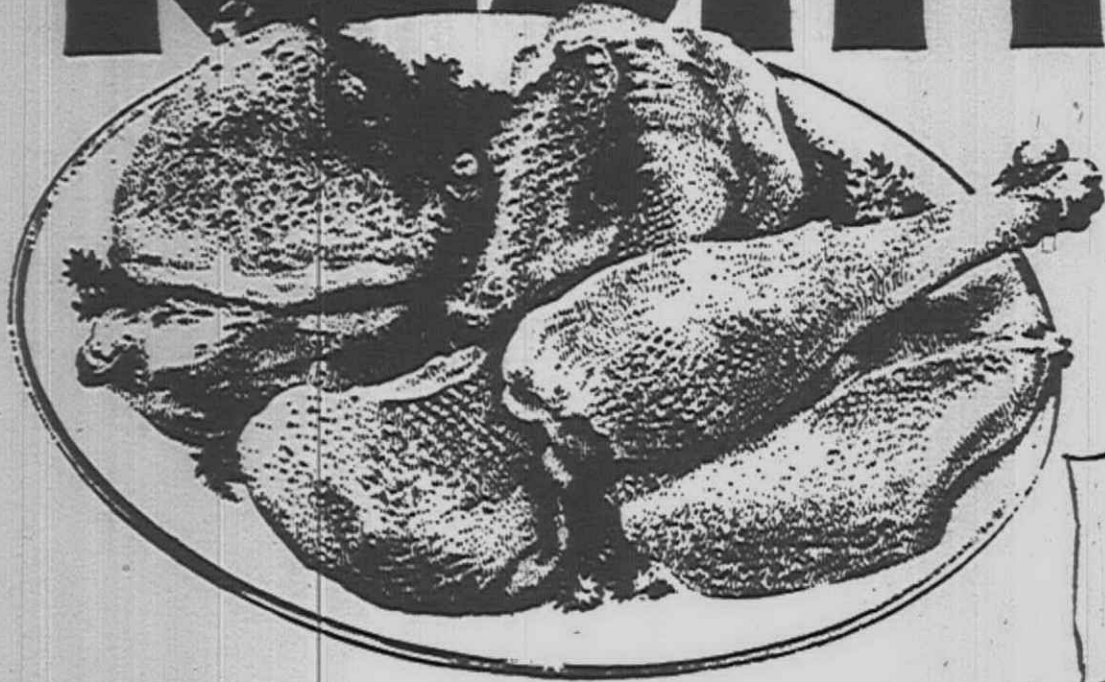

You ought to give him a hearing soon!

INSTALOAN it!

For the homeowner who wants to get things done fast, there's nothing to compare with Instaloan to finance the materials, and the man to do the job. You can borrow up to $3,500 for home improvements, take as long as 5 years to repay at low bank rates. Stop in at any of National Bank of Detroit's 67 neighborhood offices or see your dealer-contractor. Either way, Instaloan is the low-cost way to repair, remodel or redecorate your home.

OVERWEIGHT?

Why not follow the reducing plan given me by an old doctor friend on which I reduced 30 lbs. in a few weeks. No low 1,000 calories a day diet. No harmful drugs. No prescription required to buy what he told me to take which costs about 65 cents a month. A self-addressed, stamped envelope and 35 cents (coin) will bring you printed information explaining this plan that really worked. Mrs. E. L. Kram, Box 70, Mt. Pleasant, Mich.

Newburg Area Girl Scouts Observe Anniversaries

By Mrs. Emil LaPointe GL 3-3757

In keeping with the tradition of the annual celebration of Girl Scout Week, the leaders and girls of the Washington School District neighborhood group are presenting "An Afternoon in the Park" at the Newburg Methodist Church Hall, Ann Arbor Trail and Newburg Roads, Sunday, March 12. This centennial celebration is in honor of the founder of Girl Scouts, Juliette Lowe, and also in honor of the 50th year of Girl Scouts. Of the Gay Nineties era, the decor will be such as to simulate an old-fashioned park, band stand and all leaders and girls dressed in costumes befitting that time. Daisies will be strung everywhere as Miss Lowe's nickname was Daisy. Each troop will present a skit on the bandstand and show times are set at 2:30 and 4 p.m.

However, as this is an open house, everyone is interested in youth, the hours are set from 2 p.m. until 5 p.m. Lemonade will be served during the course of the afternoon and all donations will go toward the Juliette Lowe fund. It is interesting to note that three years ago this same group was composed of just two troops but now boasts ten troops, with over 200 girls registered and 60 leaders and committee mothers. This is an endeavor that truly merits applause for those dedicated persons who gave so much of their time and themselves to make the Washington neighborhood group what it is today. Good luck to all in this fine effort on Sunday, March 12, at the Newburg Church.

On Saturday, March 11, the Fidelis Class of the Newburg Methodist Church will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Ryder on Ann Arbor Trail with Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson acting as host and hostess for the 6:30 p.m. potluck supper. Following the supper there will be the usual business meeting, at which time the group will make further plans for the forthcoming Rummage Sale to be held at the church, Newburg Rd. and Ann Arbor Trail, Saturday, April 15. Any who have discarded to contribute to the sale may bring them to the church any time during the week of April 10, or may call the chairman, Mrs. Carl Waack, at GA 1-6944 if there is a need to pick up large items.

A baby shower honoring Mrs. Ernest Buxton was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Howden on Joy Rd., Sunday, March 5. There were about 35 guests, all aunts and close friends, present for the afternoon from Livonia, Wayne, Dearborn, Detroit, Northville, Inkster and Romulus. Next week the niece in the family will be honoring Mrs. Buxton in a similar manner. Mrs. Buxton is the former Donna Howden. The LaPointe household was honored with house guests for two days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moody of Valley Falls, R. I., were here in Michigan visiting with relatives and spent some time with us. Mrs. Moody is Mr. LaPointe's sister.

The Rebekah Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Valley Falls Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. William Dorr on Denne St., Tuesday, Feb. 28, with the following ladies present for the evening's program and fellowship: Mrs. Florence Black, Mrs. Agnes Baker, Mrs. Jean Greenwood, Mrs. Betty Lampton, Mrs. Marilyn Gray, Mrs. Alberta Pry, Mrs. Roberta Eastlake, Mrs. Edna Smith, Mrs. Martha Smith and Mrs. Marian Roshirt. The ladies participated in a silent auction during the course of the evening. The next scheduled meeting for the group will be on Tuesday, March 28, at the home of Mrs. Henry Fry on Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Arnold of Mochican Ave. are pleased to announce the arrival of a daughter, born on Feb. 21. Congratulations to all.

The Men's Group of the Newburg Methodist Church will have as their special guest on Monday, March 13, a speaker from the proposed Community College project which will be of concern to those living in the communities of Garden City, Livonia, Plymouth, Northville and other surrounding cities. All men of the church and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. David Smith of Newburg Rd. was hostess for a Bee Line clothing demonstration, given by Donna Grater on Thursday, March 2. Her guests for the evening were at 1:30 p.m. and will journey to Detroit's Olympia to see the present Ice Capades program. Be sure to get your ticket reservations in as soon as possible. Don't miss the fun. Glad we could get together again. I sure tied up Michigan Bell this past Monday, tracking down the news. Why don't you call me? I'll wait for the ting-a-ling and see you planning an outing on Sun-next week?

17 million miles of test traffic in 2 years... loads up to 54 tons

Sponsored by the American Association of State Highway Officials (AASHO), the 27 million dollar National Road Test was set up to establish basic facts of design and construction for concrete and asphalt pavements.

Test pavements were built on the same soil, to carry the same vehicle loads to designs currently used in various states. 99 loaded trucks — pickups to semi-trailers — pounded them 19 hours a day for 2 years. Millions of scientific measurements were made.

The test has demonstrated concrete's superiority for streets, roads and Interstate highways!

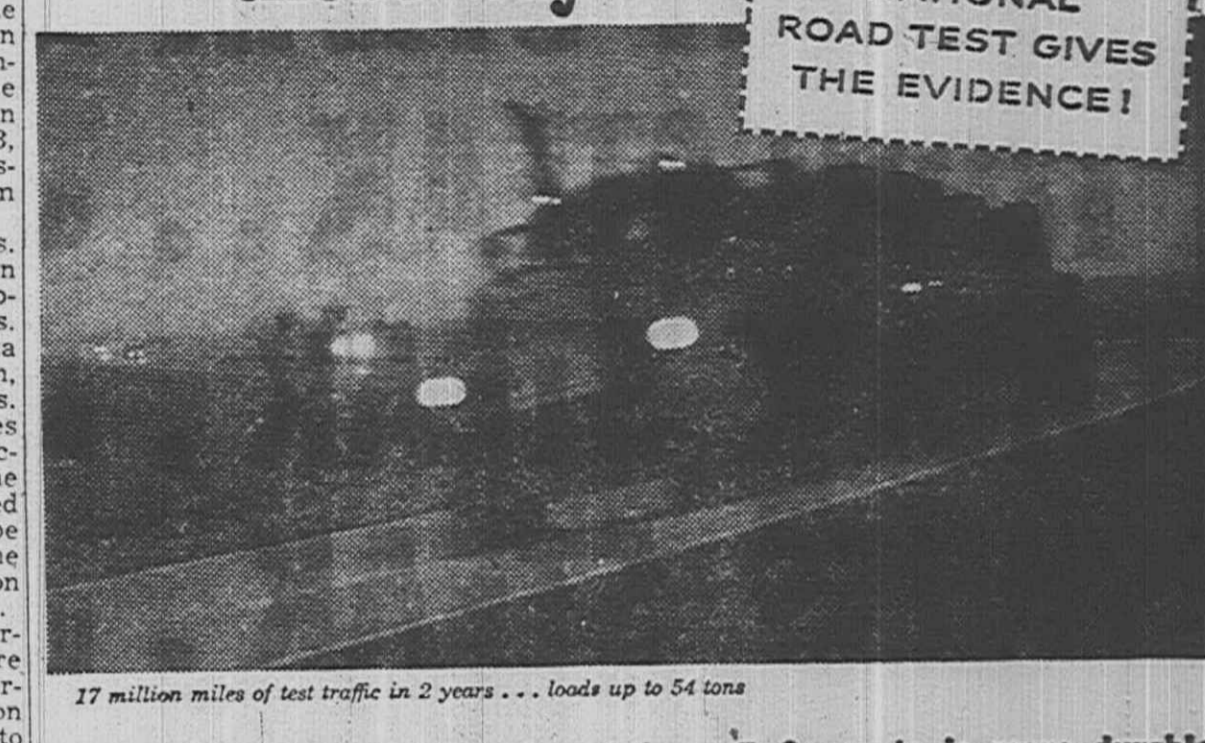

PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION 2108 Michigan National Tower, Lansing 8, Michigan A national organization to improve and extend the uses of concrete 683 times "around the world"... they pounded the pavements and proved that concrete outperforms asphalt these ways...

Concrete is more durable! A count after 2-year test showed concrete outlasted asphalt 3 to 1! Concrete gives you more for your tax money.

Concrete rides easier! In rideability measurements, concrete won decisively over asphalt. Only concrete can give you lasting driving comfort.

Your state helped finance this test to bring you better roads, full value from tax dollars.

Easter Seals Arrive

"Help fight crippling by using the Easter Seals you received from the Plymouth Rotary Club on behalf of the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County," Herald F. Hamill, Chairman, Crippled Children's Committee of the 1961 appeal in the Plymouth, Michigan, Northville area, urges.

"While the most important objective of Easter Seals is raising funds for treating the physically handicapped, the annual messengers also tell a story of aid and hope for the handicapped.

"Use of Easter Seals, regardless of the contribution made in their behalf, is a definite means of expressing interest in the crippled," he said.

Easter Seals are reaching over 5,000 homes in the area in the mail this week.

The appeal finances care and treatment, education and research programs that aid all crippled persons regardless of race, creed or handicapping condition.

St. Louis, great inland port on the Mississippi River, began as a French fur-trading center in 1764.

Dr. George Gallup is an inquisitive person whose desire to find things out has made him the country's leading pollster. He recently undertook a study to find out who are the happiest people in America, and though it has not as yet been completed, early returns, according to Dr. Gallup, indicate that a man's chances for happiness are higher if he lives in Suburbia.

Summer Jobs For Teens . . . page 16
There are jobs for high-school students who want to work—providing they start looking for them now and don't wait till the schoolbooks and doors are shut, says Lydia Ratcliff, in a look at what kinds of jobs are available for our young people, who's most likely to get them, and how.

The House Wreckers . . . page 36
Termites look somewhat like ants; have the durability of cockroaches; may live 25 years; and, annually, chomp up a hundred million dollars worth of a special diet that could include major parts of your house. We recommend you read reporter Ed Sammis' study of the minute marauders—and then act quickly if you have any reason to suspect the presence of unwelcome, hungry guests.

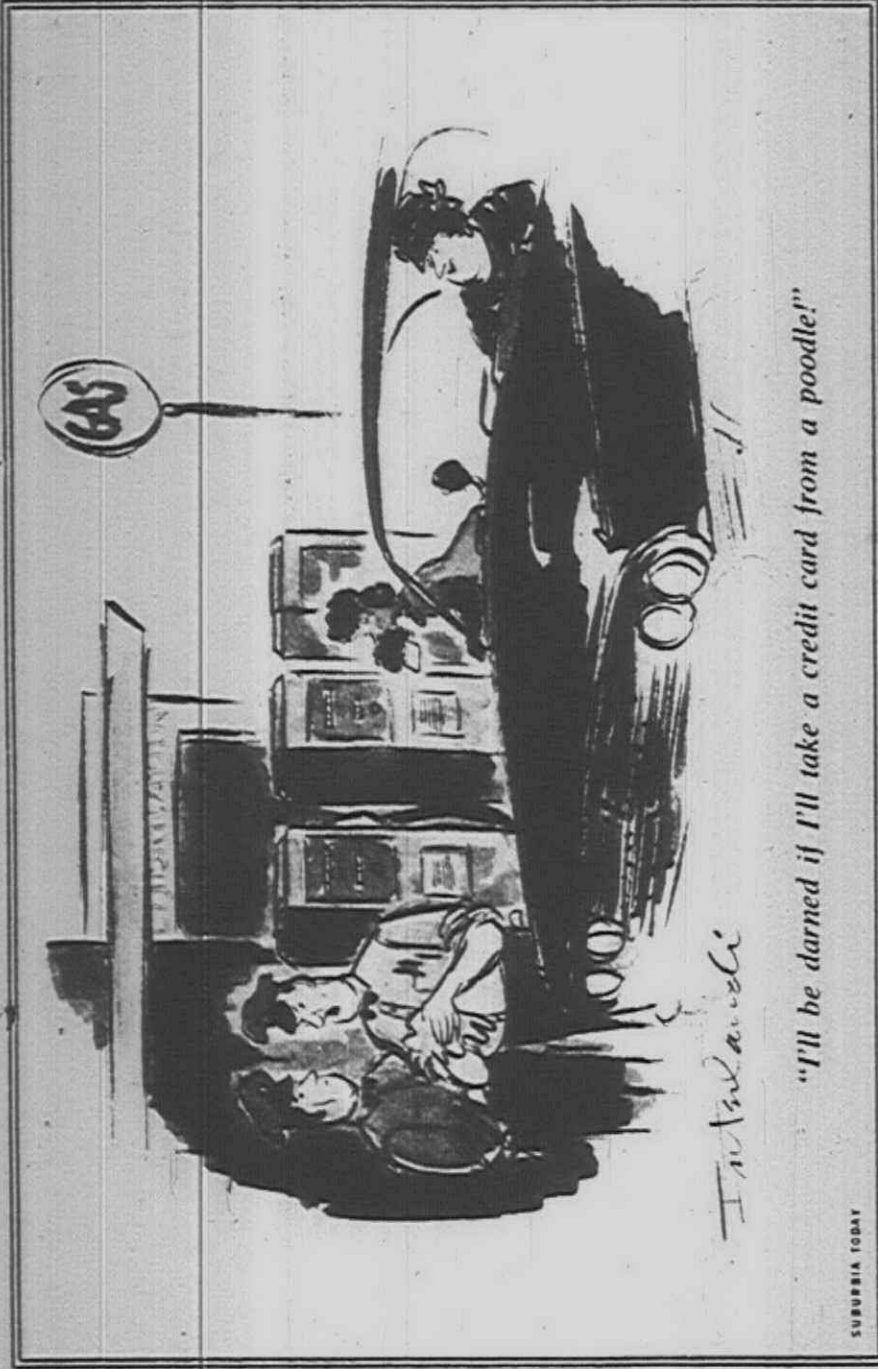

Sir Cedric Speaks . . . page 41
Sir Cedric Hardwicke, veteran star of many plays and, he says, too many movies, has been meeting the press for over 50 years. This month he asks himself some pointed questions and answers them for us, giving his witty, learned insights on love, Hollywood, and, of course, acting.

CEM
Charles E. Martin, known to most people as the famous, humorous cartoonist-illustrator CEM, depicts on our cover the excitement and color of knocking down all ten pins in one shot. Just as exciting are the new fashions for bowling, previewed in our feature "Bowling In Style," page 48.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

ATENTION, EXPLORER SCOUTS in Elkins Park, Pennsylvania, and Nichols Hills, Oklahoma, and Whitehaven, Tennessee, and all other pleasant, active places that house growing youngsters—the National Explorer Bowling Tournament will be held on March 25, 1961. Sponsored by the Boy Scouts of America, the tournament is part of the Mail-O-Graphic Tournament of the American Junior Bowling Congress and is open to five-man teams from any Explorer Unit in the country. Here's a chance to bowl in your own neighborhood with friends—and still maybe bring home a national trophy to your chapter of the Explorers.

When Maurice Podell, of Long Branch, New Jersey, was a young boy in Russia, he liked to swipe bread from the family table and knead the soft, inner dough into shapes of cows, sheep, and other farm animals. Now, 50 years later, he is a successful sculptor who still occasionally uses rye bread as a medium. "Rye bread gets hard as a rock and is almost as permanent," says sculptor Podell, who also works in plaster and bronze. He has had three successful one-man shows, and his four-foot-high bust of Abraham Lincoln (in bronze) stands on a pedestal outside Long Branch's American Legion headquarters.

We'd like to tell you about a bunch of hot-rodgers who are far different from the groups of wild youngsters we are accustomed to hearing about. The boys call themselves the Street Cleaners Hot Rod Club and come from around the Brentwood and Clayton and Strewsbury, Missouri, area. Instead of a gang of ruffians creating public danger through irresponsible use of a hurtling vehicle, here are 11 boys who are anxious to become good citizens, who are ready to help stranded motorists, and who are, at an early age, masters of their machines. They pay dues to their club and then turn over the entire club treasury to the Leukemia Guild, and they collect toys for underprivileged children in their spare time. The club members love their cars, and they take excellent care of them, too. They also love speed, racing, and daring—but not on public streets. They do their racing under controlled conditions in competition with other groups, at a local drag strip.

At last report Rockville, Connecticut, still had no garbage dump (the Manchester Board of Directors decided not to let Rockville dump its trash at the Olcott Street dump). Rockville's Mayor, in an attempt to reverse that decision, said, "You don't know how long six months can be until you've been without a dump." But if Manchester refused to let it dump at Olcott Street, the valiant Mayor said, he would somehow find another solution. "I've got a very large back yard," he jovially volunteered.

Bowling In Style

WHETHER in the Mixed League (husbands welcome) or the Major League on Friday night or simply in the Tuesday Afternoon Homemakers' meeting (average 130), ladies on the lanes are looking wonderful these days. In keeping with the snappy new look in bowling establishments (where are the drab "alleys" of yesteryear?), bowling has become a dress-up affair. Top designers are turning out special tunics and leotards and gored skirts; women are adapting some of their own favorite sports clothes to meet their dress-up-to-bowl needs; and home sewers are busy running up their own, like the fashions you see on these pages.

This print and stripe suit in cotton sateen with a short, sleeveless overblouse, a box-pleated skirt, and a short jacket scores 300 wherever it is worn.

NEW! Sure! Safe!

PREVENTS CRABGRASS

A single application right now prevents crabgrass all summer

It kills the sprouting seed
Contains no arsenic
Harmless to established grass

At last! A new, safe crabgrass control that really works. . . stamps out crabgrass before it gets a start . . . harmless to lawn grasses. . . contains no dangerous arsenic or other metallic poisons that can kill birds, harm pets. . . New Rid—with Dacthal W-50—kills the sprouting seed. . . and lets you clean up your lawn at a sensible price.

Put it on right now to make sure it's there and working when the seeds sprout. You'll prevent crabgrass all summer without expensive repeat applications as with other chemicals.

Do it more effectively, too. Extensive lawn tests at leading state universities prove new Rid is better than 95% effective; goes farther, too!

A single bag treats 25% more lawn at less cost per bag than typical controls available until now.

Get Rid wherever garden supplies are sold. Put it on right now. And say goodbye to crabgrass problems this summer.

Table Scraps Can Short-Change Your Dog

Do right by the dog
you love...balance
each meal with
GRO-PUP Ribbon

When you feed your dog table scraps, you can never be sure he's getting all the nutrients he needs. And yet, to stay fit and strong, he should have a well-balanced diet every day.

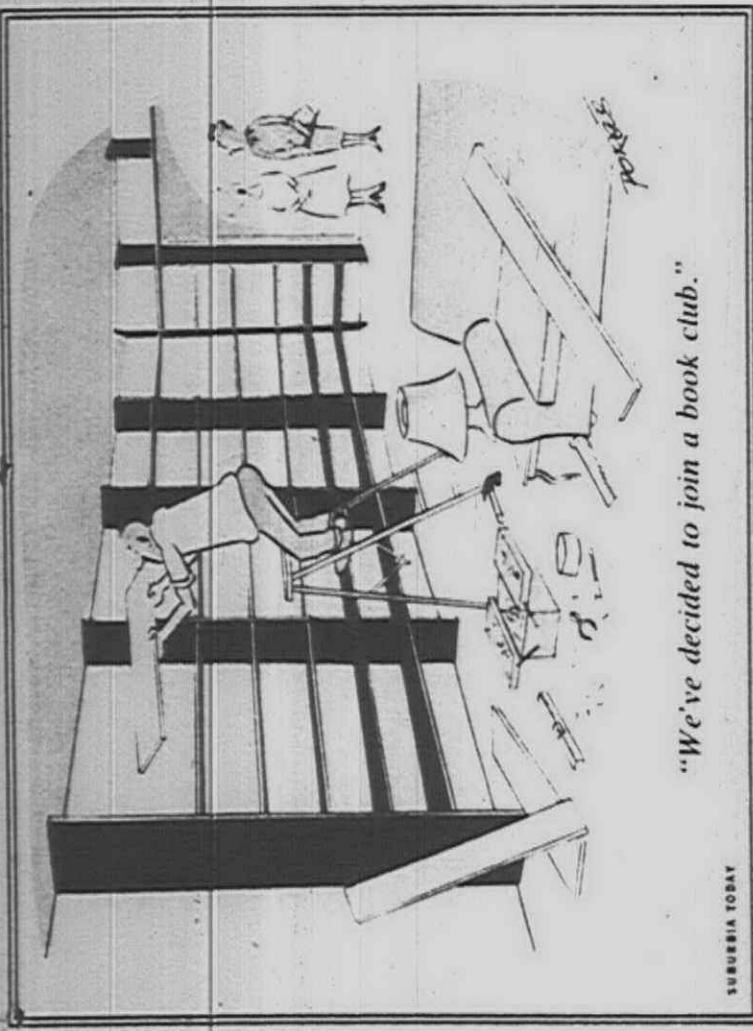

That's why thoughtful families are adding Gro-Pup Ribbon to every scrap meal they feed. Gro-Pup is an unusual kind of dog food. It contains an extra bonus of vital protein, important vitamins and minerals—far in excess of the minimum levels set by the National Research Council. Even when fed with large amounts of "unbalanced" leftovers, the high nutrient level of Gro-Pup can safeguard against improper diet. When you feed Gro-Pup every day, you can enjoy the confidence that your dog is getting an abundance of the essentials he needs for a long and healthy life. Why don't you start tomorrow?

About the only person involved who hasn't lost any sleep over Curtis McKay's tax troubles is Curtis McKay, who lists his address as Linn, Wisconsin. The Wisconsin department of taxation, however, says that Mr. McKay's bedroom is located in the half of his house that lies over the Linn-Lake Geneva border and adds that since the location of a man's bedroom determines his domicile, Linn must turn over to Lake Geneva the $10,000 in tax money collected from Mr. McKay.

A wonderful experiment in brotherhood is being conducted at the Sylvania Heights, Florida, Elementary School, where about a dozen children, all just arrived from Cuba and all unable to speak English, have recently enrolled. Instead of being kept in a special, separate group, the children were immediately absorbed into regular classes with only one hour out of the school day set aside for English lessons. The regular student body has pitched in to help them with lessons, conversation, and extracurricular activities, and, we hear, the young Cubans are picking up the language and customs at an amazingly rapid rate of speed.

Mrs. Lilia J. Howry writes from Merrick, New York, to tell all of us about the day her young son came home from school munching on a chocolate candy cigar. When she asked where he got it, he said, "A boy in my class gave it to me. He had a pile of 'em. He gave one to everybody in the class. His mother just had a new baby."

"Pipp looked at the pictures in the catalog. It said: 'Small, gentle burro for sale.' Before they knew it, Simpson was on his way."

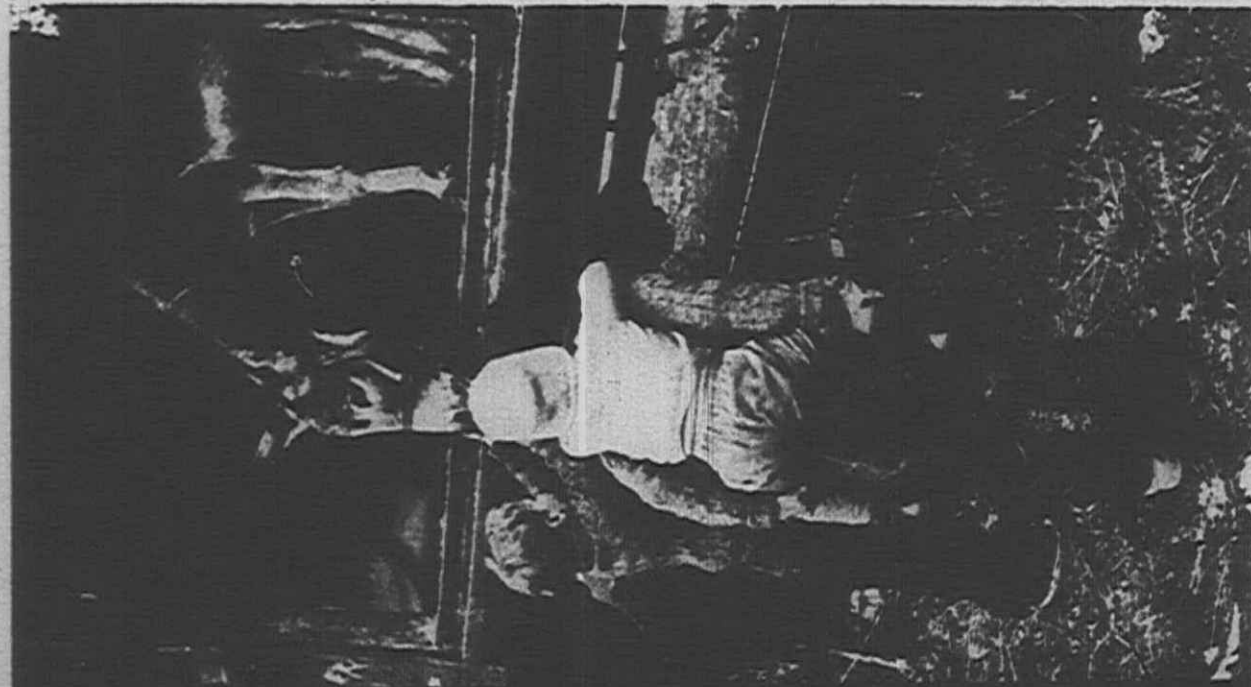

THE MAIL-ORDER

Most children dream of owning a four-legged, furry animal—especially one that can carry several of his two-legged admirers. Few children would believe that you could write a letter and make this dream come true.

Exactly that happened recently to Peter and Victoria Jones, and Pipp Gillette, when their parents sent away for an $87.50 mail-order burro to model for a book. When Simpson arrived, author Lee Jones of Pelham, New York, and photographer Guy Gillette of nearby Yonkers pooled their children and talents and added the charms of the burro to produce the season's most delightful children's book, called "Simpson."

The children were more-than-willing subjects for the free-wheeling and sometimes surprised camera. But Simpson's own hamming—from child-nuzzling to flower-trampling to clothes-chewing—won him a permanent place in the Joneses' hearts.

Originally intended to be returned to the mail-order house, Simpson has happily settled down with them. They call him "the model who stayed for dinner."

"They all went down to the station to meet him. He had large, gentle eyes and a soft gray coat. Simpson put his warm nose in Peter's hand."

In 1909, the Boston Post, in trying to improve public relations, gave away 700 canes made of the best Gaboon ebony... to as many towns in New England, with the proviso that the cane be given to the town's oldest resident and that it be passed on to any succeeding oldest resident.

Although the custom has not been kept in most towns, Bristol, Rhode Island, still passes it along. It has recently been awarded to oldest resident Mr. Charles F. Dimond, who is a hale and hearty 96.

We've only now heard about Winifred H. Goodsell, of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, who, while out driving one day, collided with the car of John H. Diersen, of South Euclid. Her car also piled into the stopped car of Alfred Salzano, of Chesterland. No tow was necessary, however, since Miss Goodsell was turning into the Chesterland Auto Body Shop when the accidents occurred.

Right near Detroit, there's a relic of a by-gone era, the 32-man posse of Oakland County, Michigan, Sheriff Frank W. Irons. The riders, all volunteers, are officially called the Mounted Division of the Sheriff's Department. The posse is composed of salesmen, factory workers, engineers, carpenters, and men from the various professions. Riding to places motor vehicles can't reach, the posse searches in wooded areas for lost children or hunts down criminals, and it is called out for disaster duty, traffic control, and parades. Members are deputized and furnished with service revolvers, but each man supplies his own horse and western saddle.

Roland D. Officer, who lives near Glastonbury, Connecticut, says that although there's a sign in a neighborhood luncheonette warning, "Please Do Not Insult Our Waiters By Tipping Them," there is a small white box on each table, with a slit across the top. The box is labeled "Insults."

From an Oswego, Oregon, friend comes the following good advice: Dogs, it seems, detest the smell of nicotine, and we are informed that a strong dosing of tobacco around your lot line will help discourage next-door and down-the-block pooches from enjoying the facilities of your front lawn. As a matter of fact, our friend, who is a champion cigar smoker, says that after his evening walk he places his cigar stubs at strategic spots around his yard, and it's very effective. This remedy works with skunks, too.

Last March, when the teacher of a very progressive nursery school in Wakefield, Massachusetts, asked her four-year-olds to draw shamrocks for St. Patrick's Day, only six of the 14 little individualists drew green ones.

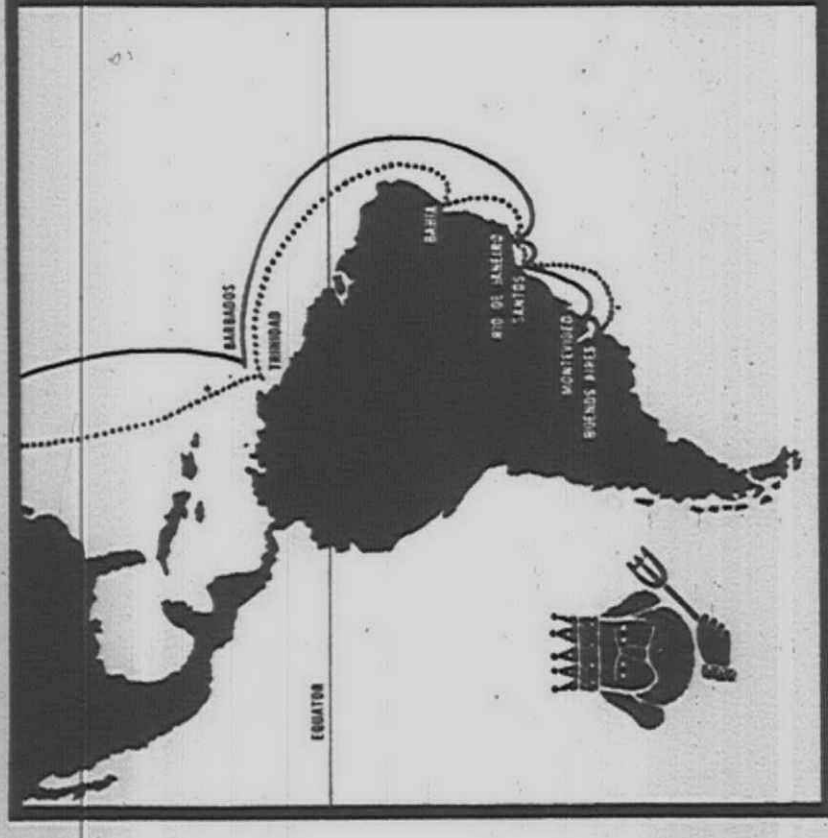

In the realm of unusual statistics, take one that is the pride of Memorial Bend, Texas. This town of 250 families numbers twenty sets of twins among its citizenry—one multiple birth in every 87, a figure that has become a nightmare to statisticians.

Thanks for the tip, Lloyd Lowndes, of Paulsades, New York. Mr. Lowndes keeps cup hooks and screw eyes and washers and all the rest of that tiny mob in order by filing them in the compartments of empty egg boxes. When all else is in chaos, he reports, he can calm right down by contemplating the regimentation in his egg boxes.

"Another advantage to keep in mind—in a location like this there are no Joneses to be kept up with."

Get A Strangle Hold On Crab Grass, Now!

Begin with an underground attack... follow up with a well-seeded, well-fed lawn.

BY JOHN BRIMER

UNLESS A MAN is completely indifferent to the appearance of his lawn (and to black looks from his lawn-loving neighbors), he will know after a single season what crab grass is: LAWN-ENEMY No. 1. In practically all sections of the country we find its tentacles inching out, crab fashion, from the parent plant to root at stem joints and make new plants. It thus steals so much food and moisture from desirable grasses that they are crowded out from large patches of the lawn. Come autumn, we find the crab grass dying and turning brown—it is an annual—leaving a balding, scrofulous lawn for the entire winter.

In our parents' time nothing much availed in the fight to rid lawns of this pestiferous weed except hand-pulling, and that was a back-breaking job, to say the least. But science has come to the aid of the gardener, and now there are several effective treatments which either render the seed harmless or kill the plant itself. Because the chemicals used are selective, only crab grass is affected, while good, permanent grasses survive the treatment and go on to flourish without competition.

The most recent development in this field is called the "pre-emergence" killer, for when it is applied in spring the seeds are killed before germination, and thus no plants get started. Since several companies offer pre-emergence killers, we cannot give instructions but recommend that the manufacturers' directions be followed to the letter as to when and how to apply for best results. They will vary according to formula and climate. However, NOW is the time to acquire your pre-emergence killer so that it can be applied as soon as the recommended time arrives.

The good feature about these killers is that most of them may be safely followed after about three weeks with a sowing of blue-grass lawn mixture (or whatever grass you have chosen for your lawn), and these seeds will not be affected but will get a good start before the heat of the summer comes. These desirable grasses will cover the bare spots and also fill in between sparsely growing permanent grasses, so that the lawn thickens up and leaves little area for future infestations of crab grass. The best weapon in the fight is a thick lawn, well-fed and frequently cut.

Should you miss the boat with a pre-emergence killer, you needn't despair. You can still get a strangle hold and prevent this year's crop of seeds from adding to next year's crab-grass woes. There are a good many post-emergence killers on the market which act on crab grass after it has sprouted. All should be applied in early summer, before seed has formed. You have a choice as to how to apply them: As dry granules, distributed with a mechanical spreader of the type used for sowing grass seed and applying lawn foods, or in soluble form—either powder or liquid—put on with a sprayer. Some of these chemicals may cause temporary browning or slight injury to permanent grasses, and of course the crab grass will yellow and turn brown, but the good grasses will recover in a short time. Sometimes a repeat treatment may be called for where heavy seedings of crab grass are encountered or where plants missed in previous treatment have been sprouting. Possibly, a second year's treatment or at least spot application may be indicated, since crab-grass seed may lie dormant in the soil for several years.

However, once you have got rid of one year's crop of crab grass, the surest way to prevent its return is to sow good lawn grass and get it established on bare spots and between the other grasses so that it will be thick and vigorous and leave no room for any future crab-grass crops. After the summer or post-emergence treatment, the most favorable time to plant the bare spots and to thicken the lawn is in late August to mid-September in northerly areas and a little later in milder climates. Keep the lawn well-watered after sowing so that the tiny plants of good grasses will get a healthy start. Don't be alarmed if you recognize any seedlings of crab grass—they are annuals, and they will die when winter comes, while the perennial lawn grasses will continue to grow roots long after the tops have ceased vigorous growth. Give your lawn a good feeding in September so that it will go through the winter in good shape. Well-fed, late-fed lawns will be greener all winter and will get an early start in spring, too. Follow the instructions from the manufacturer of your crab-grass killer, watching carefully for a year or so and giving spot treatments as needed to eliminate crab grass from your garden. You'll have a fight, but you've got what it takes—fierce killers and good seed.

Where Are

The Happiest People?

A nationwide survey suggests they're in the suburbs

BY GEORGE GALLUP

Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

SOME YEARS AGO, I undertook a study to find out who the happiest people in America are, where they live, and the circumstances of life which seem to contribute most to happiness. This investigation hasn't been completed, but enough has been learned to shed light upon a man's chances for happiness if he elects to live in Oak Grove, Mo., rather than St. Louis, or in Birmingham, Mich., rather than Detroit.

In conducting the survey, our method in each case was to ask people to place themselves in one of three categories—very happy, fairly happy, or not very happy. In addition we asked a battery of questions about schooling, occupation, domicile, and ways of living. All major groups in our population were represented and in the right proportion. In their answers, processed on the electronic machines and slide rules, lay the data we were seeking in our study.

One of the more interesting facts that has now emerged is that people who live in smaller communities are happier than those in the largest cities. In fact, the unhappiest people in America are to be found in the largest cities. Usually these persons work in a factory or at a monotonous job, or to a bar. They get their fun out of life by going to movies and from the world outside. Religion plays a relatively unimportant part in their lives.

By contrast, the happiest people tend to be deeply religious. They find great pleasure in reading, gardening, and the pursuits normally identified with life in a smaller community. Their family, their friends, and their community mean a great deal to them.

Few relied on material possessions for happiness. "To live," as Justice Holmes observed long ago, "is to function..." and a man does not function by keeping up with the Joneses but by finding a way of life where he is effective, according to the happy people we interviewed.

These guides or conditions for happiness became apparent as we processed the data from thousands of interviews with the happy and the unhappy, the functioning and the floundering.

How do they relate to life in the suburbs as we know it today? First of all, let us explore first an area our studies showed to be vital—the bearing of religion on human happiness. People who live in the suburbs are churchgoers. Almost half of all adults in the nation (and this figure includes members of all religious groups) attend church once a week or oftener, on the average. In a recent survey it was found that 46% of all the adults interviewed across the nation had attended church during the previous seven days. But in the suburban towns more than half (54%) had attended church during the same period. (By contrast, consider these figures from "the good old days"—in 1860 only 23% of the entire population were church members.)

IT GOES without saying that the Ferradales and Park Views of this country qualify as the smaller communities where we found the largest percentage of happy people. And in the suburbs, of course, people come naturally by the simple, personal pleasures like reading and gardening which, on the record, count for so much in life.

But there is also the great question of functioning in Justice Holmes' sense—how effective in our new kind of urban-industrial society is the man who sets such store by his own house and lot, by his familiar round, in contrast to the boundless opportunities offered by collective life in the city? To come to a conclusion, we must consider first the response Americans everywhere are making to the new society. Here the facts are clear. Farming, which used to be our chief occupation, is now the pursuit of only a small percentage of our people—8% to be exact. And interestingly, along with the decline in farming as an occupation there has been a sharp decline in the number of unskilled laborers.

Our new society requires more education, more training, and our people have responded accordingly. In the short period of twenty years the percentage of our population that has been graduated from high school has nearly doubled. Within the next two or three years more than half of all persons in America will have had a high-school education or better. To be effective today men need to be trained. And what is the situation in the third of our population which is suburban? One in every four of the adults living in these communities has attended college. The figure for the United States as a whole is one in six.

To me, one of the most interesting aspects of suburban life is the interest in education. In no other type of community can one find so many well-educated people, and certainly in no other type of community do so many parents want their children to have good elementary and secondary education leading to a college education later. In no other type of community, in other words, have people prepared themselves so well to live effectively in our world as it is today.

LIVING IN SUBURBIA is certainly no sure road to happiness. Our investigation established definitely that people can be happy in almost any set of circumstances.

And having lived in a suburb myself for many years I am well aware of the mass of material which has lately appeared "exposing" the suburban dream. No one will argue with the observation made at firsthand—that "all is not sweetness and light around the barbecue pit."

But I would remind the critics that suburban life was a going concern for 40,000,000 of us before the great explosion of the '50s, the biggest migration in the shortest time in our history, when ten million people moved outside our cities. As in any migration, there have been in this one, too, the mistakes and maladjustments and heartaches that have provided the public with so much reading of late, all of it provocative, and some of it valuable.

MY ONLY CLAIM, on the basis of our nationwide investigation, is that the conditions of life as we know them in suburbia today are as favorable as one can find in the whole of America in this universal pursuit of happiness.

I should like to bring up two last points for the sake of their bearing on the suburban environment. In a separate investigation which we made on happiness as it has been experienced by those of 95 years of age and over, we found that exercise, done with regularity and not overdone, is habitual with many who live long, useful lives. There is no need to dwell, surely, on this advantage of the suburban environment, the opportunities for exercise which present themselves, unending and abundant, in all seasons, and over all weekends, whether with lawn mower, broom, or putter.

There is also an interesting correlation between unhappiness and radicalism. When we extended our investigation to France it was discovered that most of the persons who were communists fell into the "unhappy" categories set up by the test. Left-wing organizations have always had their greatest strength where the conditions for attaining happiness are least favorable.

In suburbia there are few radicals, few communists, few left-wing organizations—which is another way of saying that the vast majority finds life good in these communities.

Decorations, Custom-Made... By you Starting anything can happen

TO MAKE ANY OF these decorations, all you need is a supply of blown eggs that can be saved for weeks before Easter (make a small hole in each end of an egg and blow contents into a bowl), plus Easter egg dyes, duplex crepe paper, pipe cleaners, clear household cement, and a batch of sequins and ferns and whatever other trimmings you choose.

To make the flowers use two pipe cleaners twisted together for stems, and glue into hole at large end of egg. All petals start as egg-shaped cutouts of crepe paper (six per flower). Iris petals are curled over scissors and pasted to stems, three up and three down. Lightly flute daffodil petals along outer edge, paste three evenly around egg, and put remaining three in between. Small cutouts may be put at top to cover hole. Stems are wound with green floral tape or crepe paper. Add leaves at bottom and place in your prettiest bowl.

All the birds are made the same way, basically. First, draw the simple outline of head, wings, and tail on double crepe paper that has been pasted together. Glue to egg and add sequins for eyes. Glue the center of a pipe cleaner to the underside of each bird, then twist ends down and around twig, branch, or perch on which bird is to be attached.

Finally, to make the tulip eggs, draw tulip petals on sides of a blown egg and carefully cut away with manicure scissors. The fresher the egg, the easier this will be. Attach pipe-cleaner stem and then dye the egg. Proceed as with other flowers and place in a low container.

I Ask Myself

Your earliest experience?

It happened in Boston, where I was directing Gertrude Lawrence in "Pygmalion" in a theater that stood next door to a movie house. One night, I opened the wrong stage door by mistake and stood petrified listening to myself deliver a long lecture—as Arnold of Rugby in the R.K.O. version of "Tom Brown's Schooldays."

What was the greatest shock you ever endured?

Seeing myself for the first time in the movies.

How many movies have you made?

Too many.

What about Hollywood?

I believe that God felt sorry for actors so He created Hollywood to give them a place in the sun and a swimming pool. The price they had to pay was to surrender their talent.

Has the theater as much scope as the movies?

No. Multimillion-dollar production can show you more than Shakespeare.

Are you bored by a long run?

When I started, there was no other way of earning a living in the theater. An amateur acts for his own enjoyment, a professional for the enjoyment of his audience.

What is the theater's greatest contemporary rival?

The drugstore, where you may get any mood or emotion in a pill.

What makes a good actor?

The ability to tell the audience more about the part he plays than another actor can. Similarly, if six artists paint a horse, the best of them is not the one who most realistically portrays the animal, but the man who on his canvas tells you something about horses that no other artist has told you.

Do you get the characters you play from life?

No; from imagination. A performance should be a portrait painting in depth rather than a photograph.

How do you choose a part?

I read the contract first.

How many plays have you appeared in?

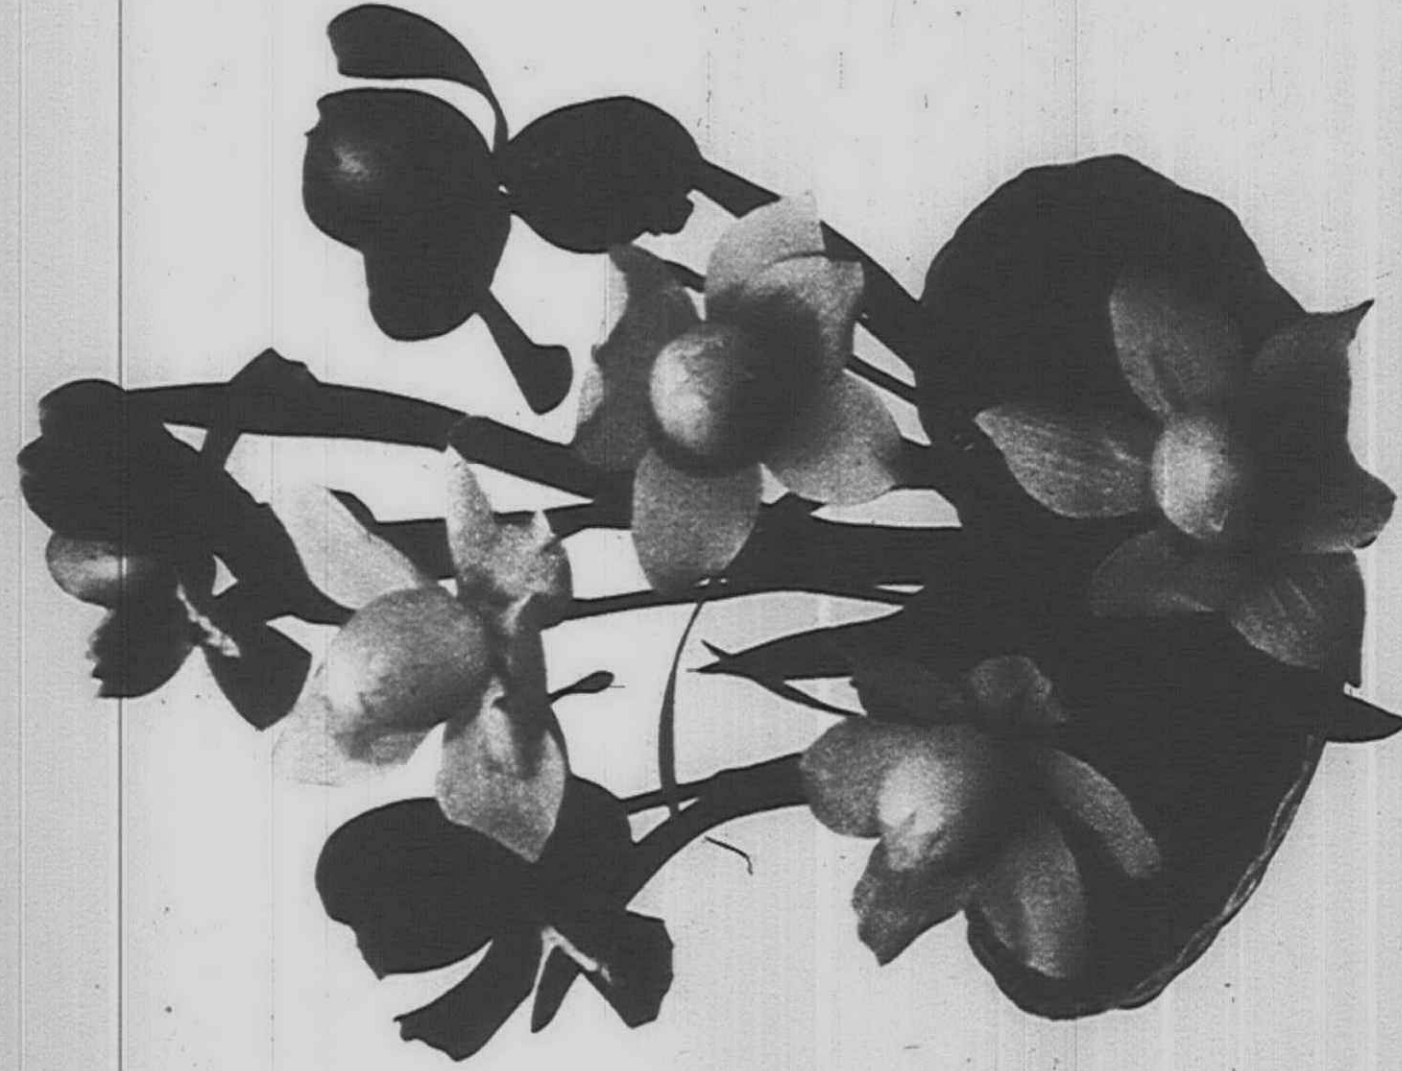

Too few.

Have you enjoyed writing your memoirs?

Shaw must have the last word, since it provides the best answer. He jinked to tell about a man whose ability to hold all listeners spell-bound. The day came when this monumental blasphemer was compelled to move from his house. On the steep hill outside his former home, the tailgate of the moving van gave way, and everything he owned in the world went crashing down the street in rack and ruin. The neighbors gathered in tense expectation of what would be a star performance. But our hero only shook his head.

"I cannot do justice to this occasion," he sighed forlornly.

What Ever Happened to the Dining-Room Table?

BY JOSEPH N. BELL

It used to be a family forum, morning, noon, and night... and it still can be, if

SEVERAL YEARS AGO my wife and I came to the conviction that a dining room might help us recapture some of the grace and solid values that we found ourselves missing in this generation of family living. We were also seeking a means of re-establishing lines of family communication, which had become frayed and uncertain. In the confusion and bustle of split-level living, somehow we seemed unable to find either the time or the opportunity to sit and listen to our three children, so that we were becoming virtual strangers to one another.

I still remember with shame the day one of our neighbors, who had a daughter in our son's class, congratulated us on his nomination as class president. We didn't even know about it. When we questioned him that evening, he shrugged and said, "I dunno. Everybody just seemed to be so busy all the time that I never got a chance to tell you."

Searching our own childhood for clues to better communications, my wife and I found that we both associated family activities with the dining room. We remembered our childhood dining rooms as eternally populated—with relatives, children, friends. There was always an exchange of ideas going on, and not just among adults. Children were listened to in our dining rooms—listened to with kindness and patience and understanding. There seemed little time for leisurely listening in our own home. Meals were usually hurried and disjointed; casual dinner guests posed all sorts of logistical problems; and a large family dinner meant a series of card tables scattered about the house, giving it the appearance of a night club—versatation. When we had something we wanted to discuss with the children, we found it difficult to get them together and hold their attention once we had them. And I am sure they experienced the same difficulties with us. In this situation, my wife and I determined to try to offer our children a reasonable facsimile of the sort of family forum we had known.

Two things were lacking: the dining room and a suitable table to go in it. Neither was easy to find. We quickly discovered that in newly constructed houses the dining room is apparently equated in cost with an indoor-swimming pool. But we found a rich vein of dining rooms in older houses, and we finally bought one with a dining room larger than the living room.

The search for an adequate dining-room table took almost as long. "What we're looking for," I would tell the furniture salesman, "is a maple table that will open to 110 inches. We don't want it to convert into a coffee table, or anything else. We just want a plain, ordinary, sturdy, cumbersome dining-room table."

The salesman, frowning at this persistent nonsense, would reply testily: "People don't buy those anymore. They've been out-of-date for years."

AFTER WEEKS OF SHOPPING, we found just what we were looking for in a secondhand store and bought it on the spot.

At first, like the children, my wife and I regarded the dining room somewhat self-consciously. Perhaps, we thought, we should reserve it for state occasions—dinner parties and family holidays. Then, happily, we undertook some extensive remodeling in our kitchen and had to move to the dining room for our evening meals.

At first, we felt vaguely uncomfortable, as if wearing a too-well-starched shirt. Then gradually a subtle change began to take place.

We discovered that the grace we've always asked the children to say before meals somehow sounded less perfunctory and more appropriate around the

I ASK MYSELF...

BY SIR CEDRIC HARDWICKE

Are actors inevitably egotists?
Inevitably. As George Bernard Shaw said of a celebrated stage star, "The trouble with him is that he's in love with his wife, and an actor can afford only to be in love with himself."

What differences do you see between Broadway and Piccadilly?
I regard England as my wife and America as my mistress.

How do you feel about sex?
Nostalgically.

Does your title affect your social life?
A knighthood inflates the cost of living beyond all belief. I suffer from what might be termed sir-tax. I consider myself a square at the Round Table.

Should a young man today become an actor?
No. There is too much competition. He should go into politics, where there is none.

Do you agree that too many modern actors are inaudible?
No. Boosted sounds on television and stereophonic movies create lazy listening. Why pin all the blame on actors?

Can you provide an example of unwilling audience-involvement?
Shaw found fault at rehearsal with the last-act explosion of "Heartbreak House" and demanded a bigger bang.

The stage manager assured him that on opening night there would be a bang to remember and accordingly warned the rest of the cast to that effect. When the cue came up, Edith Evans spoke the line, then prudently covered her face with her hands. Nothing happened. The audience was halfway out of the theater when a sudden, thunderous crash brought the ceiling down and sent two playgoers to the hospital. Shaw, for once, seemed satisfied.

What do you think of psycho-analysis in the theater today?
It's not new. Hamlet could have been a crazy mixed-up kid, maladjusted, emotionally unstable, and living in a broken home.

What is your advice to young actresses?
Watch cats!

What is your advice to young actors?
Try it on the dog. A dog reacts splendidly. Please him, frighten him, and anger him.

What is your opinion of television?
Like the polite curate in a celebrated Punch cartoon, who was asked by his rector, "How is your egg?" "Good in parts," he replied.

Do you watch yourself on television?
Not if I can avoid it, but an old movie of mine before bedtime works better than Secolal.

How are the best acting effects created?
Mostly by accident. Tree, whose memory was so dependable that he had a team of prompters concealed about the stage, once played a blind man. On opening night, his fingers snapped constantly to signal the nearest prompter that help was needed. Yet Tree was unanimously praised for giving an inspired characterization, with its nervous twitch of the fingers and the attitude of strained listening, which the critics found to be typical of those unfortunate beings who cannot see.

Did you ever have a similar experience?
When I cut a finger just before going on at the Birmingham Rep. A hastily applied plaster kept that finger as stiff as a board throughout my performance. The critics, however, took it as an inspired bit of invention which they agreed quite made me an unusual and inspired actor.

What is the most moving moment you remember in the theater?
Seeing Ellen Terry when she was close to eighty years old play the trial scene of "The Merchant Of Venice."

As she approached Portia's "quality of mercy" speech, her face went suddenly bleak and lost. She struggled vainly for a moment, then moved down to the footlights. "I am a very silly old lady," she said, "I cannot remember what I have to say." Almost to a man, the audience shouted the lines and cheered as she smiled her thanks and returned to her place. She played the rest of the scene to an enthralled audience.

dining-room table than it ever had in the kitchen. Also, the children, who previously had been wolfing their food as quickly as possible and heading for unknown regions, began to linger occasionally at the table and bring up subjects they had seldom before discussed with us, personal problems and sometimes family grievances they had long been nursing. Conversation began to flourish.

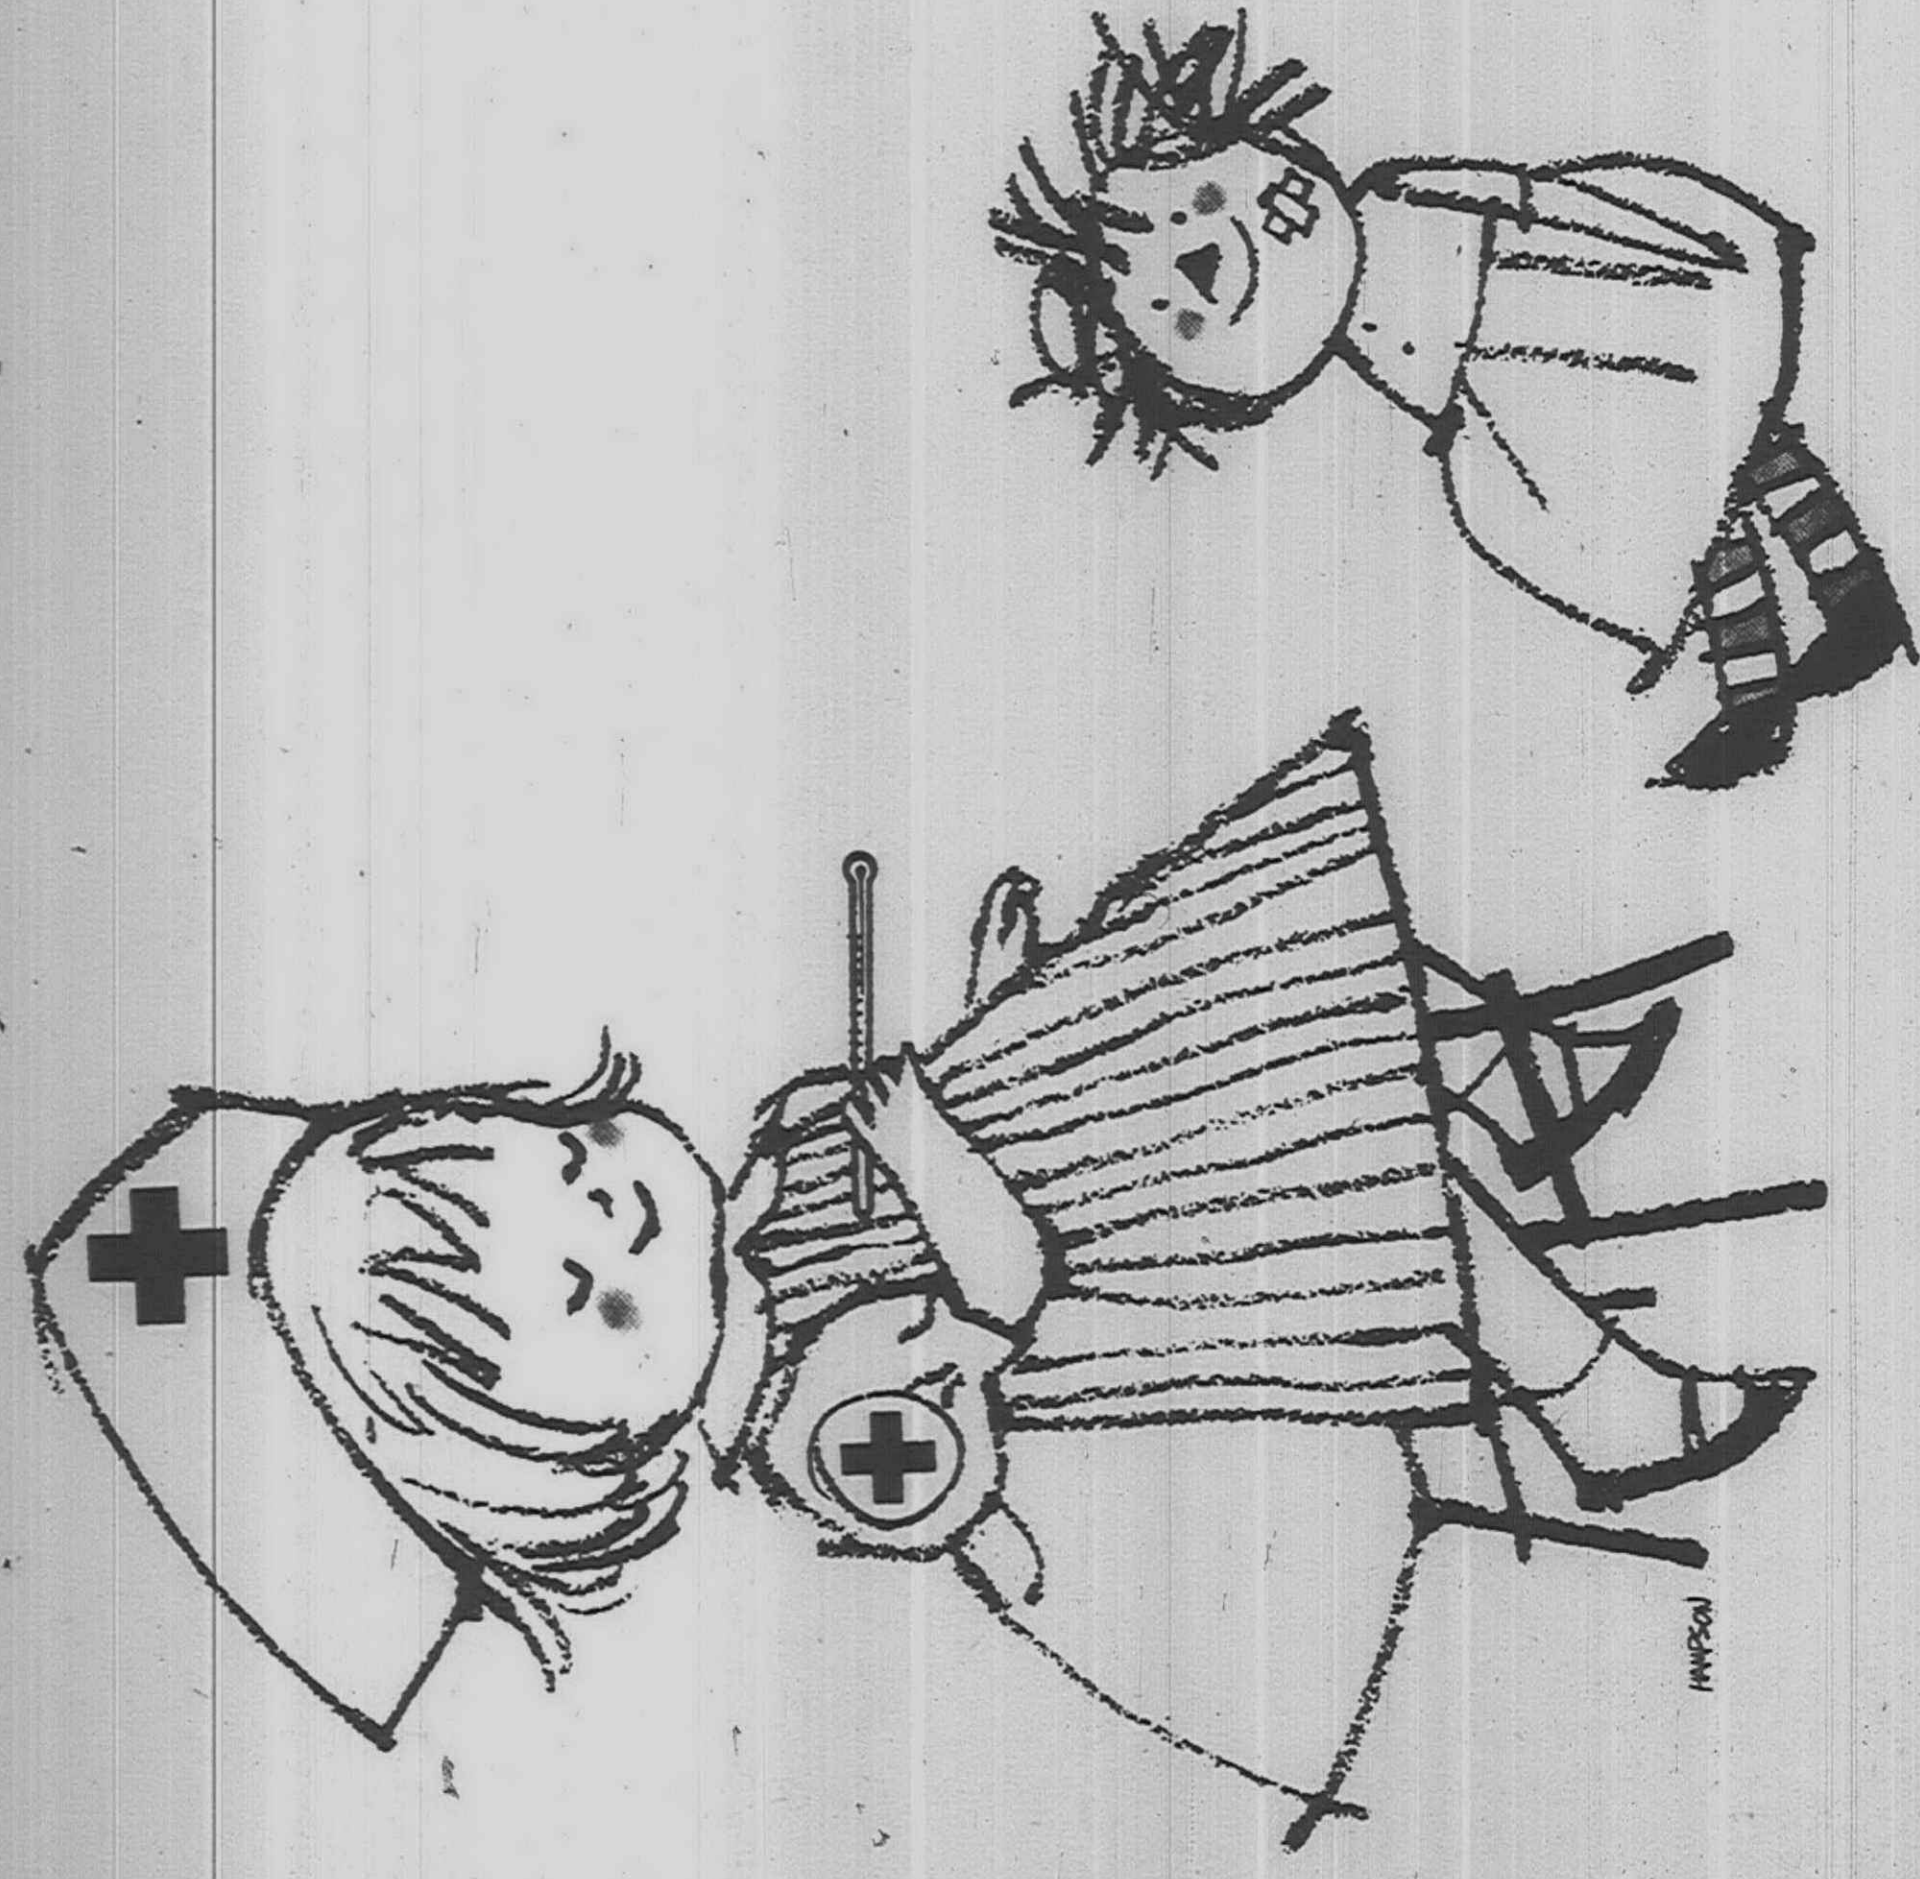

When it was possible to move back to the kitchen, we didn't go. We had rediscovered the dining room, and none of us planned to give it up. Since then, the dining-room table, the largest continuous flat surface in our house, has become the focal point of our family life. Almost every night sees it in use. Frequently, there's a two-handed game of rummy going on at one end, letter writing in the middle, and a scrapbook being pasted up or a complex model put together at the other end. The incidence of television-watching has dropped sharply. Our children frequently study at the table, their legs circled about the chair rungs in a squirming frenzy of enforced concentration. This has produced all sorts of subsidiary benefits. Studying with one eye cocked at the television set, either wistfully at an empty screen or soporifically at the inevitable Western, is a thing of the past.

These three individuals, who once disappeared to their own parts of the house and stayed there, have become acquainted in a pleasantly spontaneous sort of way. They are no longer simply competitors for family possessions or boarders who convene three times a day for meals but rather part of a family group in which a vagrant sense of loyalty and cooperation is stirring.

We have frequent family dinners with upwards of a dozen relatives including the children—gathered about one table. We invite other guests more frequently and spend many stimulating hours with them at the table after dinner. Through these gatherings our children have learned respect for their elders and for dissenting opinions and have been introduced to the wonderful world of ideas.

Manners have become part of everyday living. Our children have learned not to speak when someone else is talking, to seat the womenfolk, to offer in a large and sometimes strange group a prayer of thanksgiving that has meaning and substance, to sit patiently and not stuff themselves. Oh, they still sometimes have to be reminded, but they're learning to discharge these responsibilities with gratifying good humor.

THERE HAS BEEN an evolutionary interest on the part of our children in the nonfamily guests we frequently invite to dine with us. At our invitation, they now stay to listen to after-dinner conversation, even offering an occasional contribution or question. We encourage this, and the children have developed a healthy curiosity and respect for opinions and philosophies new to them.

But most important, we've learned to communicate—and thereby have grown, both as a family and as individuals. We talk about new plays and books and movies. We discuss the shades of meaning of new words, and we thrash over current events endlessly and heatedly since we have a frequent division of political opinion. But now it is friendly disagreement, and it adds up to tolerance in our children—a virtue, indeed—while preserving their individuality.

We recently rented our house for a year to take a sabbatical in another part of the country. Although our tenant had his own furniture, he looked long and lovingly at our dining-room table, then said hesitantly: "I don't have anything I can use in this room. Would it be out of line to ask you to leave your table?"

He has it now, with our blessing. I could tell from the spark in his eyes when he saw the table that he's one of us. May our table contribute to his family as it has to ours.

to fall through the floor, and some houses which have toppled in earthquakes were believed to have been weakened by them first.

The householder's war on them naturally begins with proper building protection. Beyond that, there are effective new chemicals which are now available. Some of them are water-soluble rather than oil-based and therefore less expensive and less injurious to plant life.

An ingenious and dramatic device for locating termites by listening to them at work was invented about three years ago by a Dr. Craig, a California scientist, and approved by the California State Department of Agriculture.

By sticking a needle into the wood, amplifying the sound and picking it up by earphones, the chewing noise of the workers munching away unseen is magnified until it comes through like a masiff crunching a hambone. Dr. Craig's amplifier proves particularly useful for locating termites at work in sills and rafters.

RECOMMENDED methods of attack will vary from one exterminator to another. The most generally approved all-out method, however, is to poison the soil in a ring around the house, either by trenching or "rodding." If the trouble can be isolated, a smaller, localized job may do the trick. The poisoning takes its effect on the colony underground and also ultimately reaches the workers, eating away at the end of the long tubes, because of their constant contact and habit of grooming each other. Prices for an exterminator job may run anywhere from $100 or $200 to more than $500. A survey taken in a Middle-Western state several years ago showed an average cost of $147 for 10,000 jobs.

Exterminators often recommend poisoning the wood, too, for this reason: while termites are eager guests, they are also hospitable hosts to other members of the insect world. So great is their engineering skill that they create a happy home into which others may wish to move—the destructive powder beetle, for instance, and the black ant, the centipede, and the spider.

By and large, professional exterminators, who are to be found today in almost any community, are best equipped to deal with the problem.

For information one can always write to the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, or to your state agricultural department.

If you have any reason to be suspicious, don't close your mind to termites. Close your home instead.

Termites Thrive In Pleasant Places

The kings and queens have it made. They are fed and groomed by the workers, the colony revolves around them, and the queen alone lays the eggs from which the next generation is hatched. A queen in British Guiana has been known to lay more than three million eggs a year, but the output of the North American type is much more modest. Kings and queens may live for 25 years.

Termites are among the oldest of insect species, well-preserved specimens having been found in fossils 55 million years old. They are kind of a first cousin to the cockroach with all of a cockroach's durability.

There is just one time of year when they make themselves known—annually, in the spring or the fall, the kings and queens beat their way out of the colonies and swarm, as a prelude to mating and founding new colonies. At this time they will have sprouted wings on their long black bodies, but before they go back underground the wings fall off, and they leave them in a carpet behind them, a telltale sign.

It is at this time, when they are seen, that they are easily mistaken for ants. But the ant is trim-waisted with a clearly segmented body, whereas the termite is of a piece and thick in the middle.

In the past, the subterranean termite was likely to lie dormant through the winter. But as we have improved our comfort through the spread of central heating, we have also extended our hospitality unknowingly to our unseen guest. This may be one of the factors accounting for his recent northward push.

There are many stories of the damage wrought by termites. One of the most picturesque is about a French family in an old chateau in the provinces who are said to have crashed, while at dinner, from the third floor into the basement when the beams, weakened by termites, suddenly gave way. Termites usually stop short of total destruction, although they have caused heavy pieces of furniture

How more than 850,000 lawn owners have licked their crabgrass problems with Halts®

Introduced by Scotts in the late fall of 1958, Halts has worked wonders—even in hardest hit areas. You apply it before crabgrass sprouts.

WE HAD exceptional results with Halts in our back yard last year," writes a lady in St. Louis. "It even convinced my skeptical husband."

"Halts did a wonderful job for me on a particularly stubborn crabgrass-covered front lawn," reports L. J. of Cranston, Rhode Island.

We get letters like these every day of the year, from grateful people who have finally discovered the way to keep crabgrass from ruining their lawns.

The way is astonishingly simple. It takes less than half an hour for the average lawn. Yet it gives results that no amount of hard work could equal.

Halts is an invisible barrier

Each summer crabgrass comes up, chokes out good grass—then re-seeds itself and dies. Halts stops this vicious cycle. It creates a barrier on the soil's surface that prevents crabgrass seeds from coming up.

With the accurate Scotts Spreader, you quickly blanket the entire lawn with tiny Halts granules. Each particle is more than a match for the wildest crabgrass plant. Halts lies in wait, then strikes as crabgrass sprouts. Halts also destroys grubs, drives moles and skunks away.

When is the right time to apply Halts? The earlier the better. A good time is the first nice afternoon.

"I used Halts..."

"Early in the spring I used Halts which I found very effective except for the rows that I missed with the spreader," writes a lawn owner in Winchester, Virginia. (Scotts summer crabgrass control, Clout®, makes short work of such occasional escapees.)

"Last spring when I used Halts," reports Mr. W. G. of Albany, N. Y. "I got the horse laugh from a lot of people who said there wasn't anything that would prevent crabgrass. But now they see and agree that Halts can do it. My neighbors' lawns are infested with crabgrass and on my side, there is not one single plant!"

Halts doesn't harm grass. Halts is death to crabgrass, yet it has the unique ability to let good grass sprout unharmed.

Think what that means. You can sow Scotts seed (and give it the balanced Turf Builder® feeding it needs) on the very same day you apply Halts. No danger to the seed. And no delay in seeding.

This is a good example of the way Scotts research has created products that work together—in a program—to make a better lawn simple and sure.

The workers, as noted, are small, white, and blind; the soldiers are formidable creatures, equipped with scissorlike mandibles that can take a sizable hunk out of their traditional enemy, the black ant. Some types have a nozzle in their foreheads which can shoot a stream of paralyzing liquid against an enemy for a distance of an inch.

"Hello—I'd like to speak with someone there about termite control."

Wanted: SUMMER JOBS FOR TEEN-AGERS

BY LYDIA RATCLIFF

Six million of them will be looking for work—everything from cat-sitting

THIS JUNE, when school doors and school-books are shut tight, more teen-agers than ever before will be looking for work in a world where the demand for their services seems to be lessening. A million of them, it is true, will be needed to harvest crops—strawberries in California, corn in Kansas, vegetables in New England. Hundreds of thousands of them will wait on tables and watch over children everywhere. Resort areas will hire them in force and so will ice-cream manufacturers and soft-drink bottlers.

Modern times have brought some new jobs onto the scene. "Pool-sitting" is one. Last year, California's Van Nuys Valley saw 471 new swimming pools built in a single month and a part-time life guard is now almost a necessity. The shortage of domestic help has brought on a boom in summer baby sitters.

But modern times have also taken some traditional summer jobs away. Electric golf carts and wheel-your-owns are replacing many caddies. There are fewer corner grocery stores to hire delivery boys. Each youngster who tries to find work this summer will face not only mechanical competition but also competition from the millions of other teen-agers battling for a sharply limited number of jobs.

To look at the dark side of the picture, the 1961 job market will be the tightest in more than a decade. Nearly a third—more than a million—of those who try will not get a job. And the situation is going to get worse: war babies have only begun to flood the labor market, just as they are overcrowding the schools. Says Eli Cohen of the National Committee on Employment of Youth, "The problem is frankly critical."

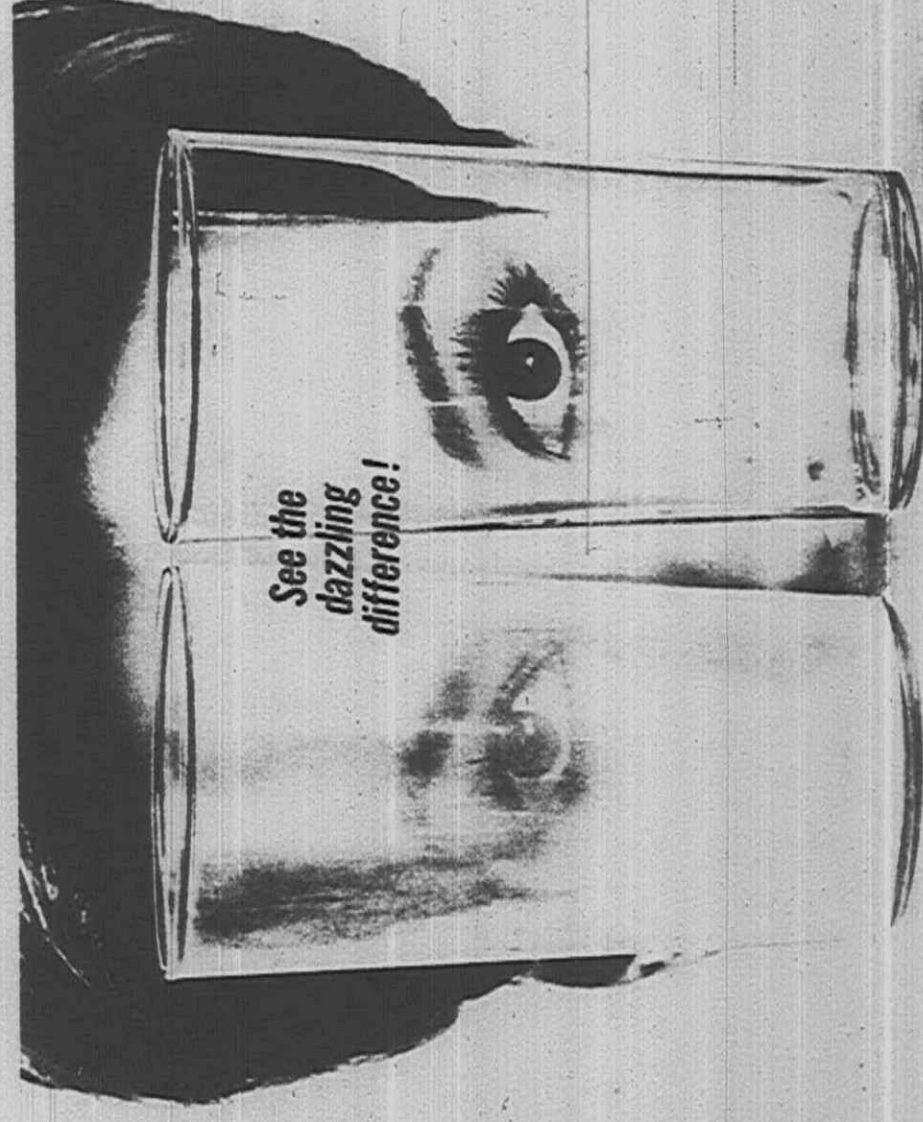

But on the brighter side, in spite of the statistics, great numbers of teen-agers should be able to employ themselves gainfully, or at least usefully, this summer—if they know how to go about it. Many organizations are ready to back them in their efforts and help find jobs.

The National Committee on Employment of Youth studies the problems of youth employment and solicits help from industry, government, and private citizens. The Public Employment Service has more than 1,800 offices, in every state, to help young people get jobs. Youth Employment Services across the U.S. perform a similar function.

Several large industrial firms, banks, and insurance companies have set up summer training programs for future full-time recruits. International Business Machines, for example, has encouraged the electronic bent by hiring a few exceptional

TERMITES THRIVE IN PLEASANT

They do about $100,000,000 worth of damage to our in their own quiet way—and they like

BY EDWARD R. SAMMIS

YOUNG TOM JONES was quite pleased with the house he had just bought. The former owner had added many attractive touches, like the decorative tiles on the window sills.

The thought of termites never entered the buyer's head until long after he had closed the deal and moved in. Then one day it occurred to him that perhaps he ought to have an inspection. The decorative tiles were the first thing to catch his inquiring eye. He pried them off and found in the wood beneath the telltale honeycombs.

Did the tiles indicate the owner knew he had termites? Even if they did, there was nothing Jones could do about it, for the eastern state in which he lived had no laws to protect him against this kind of depreciation. It cost him $4,500 to put the house back in shape.

Termites are a strange, determinedly destructive, highly organized form of insect life, often referred to mistakenly as "flying ants," and every year they cause about $100 million worth of damage to our houses.

They are a serious threat in almost every part of the United States, with the exception of the northern sector of the Middle West. And even there, sad to say, they have recently begun to make their appearance, as for example, around Sheboygan, Wisconsin.

Although exterminators offer an inspection service free of charge, most homeowners close their minds to termites and their sinister potential, hoping, as is only human, that "it won't happen to me."

But the more you know about termites, the dimmer that hope becomes, especially for owners of new houses. Consider these facts:

much of today's construction, especially new wood which has the sap still in it. Termites find new houses not only attractive but easy to invade because too many modern builders fail to take the proper precautions.

Indeed, some practices, such as sweeping the leftover rubbish under the porch and covering it loosely with dirt, allowing wooden joists to come in direct contact with the ground without being treated, building cinder-block foundations or supports without sealing them off at the top, are all open invitations to termite invasion and subsequent destruction.

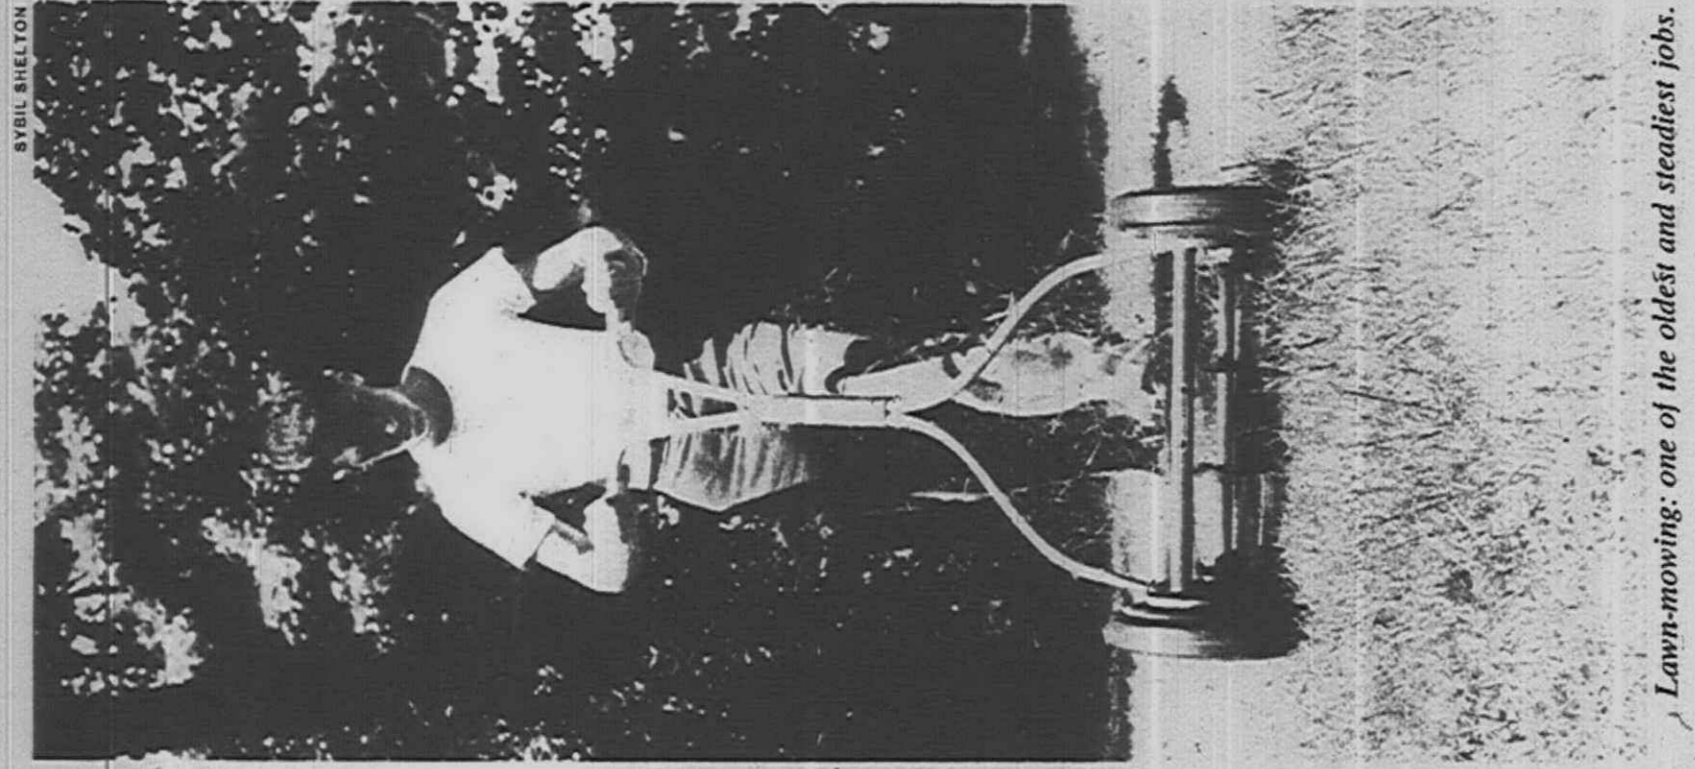

The commonest termites are the subterranean type, and they are the hardest for the uninitiated owner to detect until they have done their damage. Living in colonies underground below the frost line, they gain access to the wood of a house by tunneling up inside the wooden joists. When this situation is not available to them, they construct their own tubes of chewed wood and earth. These, too, are usually invisible because they are often built in the fissures or cracks of foundations. It is only when they are forced to build over an obstruction or guard that the tubes can be seen.

One veteran termite fighter said that in seventeen years of battling the insect, he had never encountered even one colony above ground.

THE DESTRUCTIVE, continuous chewing of the wood is done by the workers—white, stunted, blind creatures who produce the food supply by converting wood cellulose into protein.

They pass food back to the colony through long supply lines, maintained throughout at constant humidity and temperature through fungus supply, an amazing feat of insect engineering.

With all the termites' destructiveness, their social order has a certain fascination. It is rightly divided into three castes: the young scientists. One enthusiastic high-school student from Cedar Falls, Iowa, started work on an experimental basis. By the end of three weeks he had completely programmed a game of tic-tac-toe. Soon after, he put 3,200 vacuum tubes together to play a challenging game of checkers—and won first prize at the National Science Fair.

IBM's 12-week "Operation Cradle" program is now an annual event for a group of Chicago high-school seniors. This summer the company will launch an advanced scientific-training program.

In other parts of the country industries sponsor "JETS" clubs (Junior Engineering Technical Society) which allow high-school students to work with professionals on everything from cyclotrons to solar furnaces and analog computers.

Local governments are taking the initiative in some areas. Washington, D.C., has an Odd Jobs pool where teen-agers can find work opportunities, and the younger ones can participate in a carrier boys' delivery syndicate. Berkeley, California, has a "Workrecreation" program to combine paid park-and-trail maintenance with time out for sport.

The Federal government, too, has launched a broad program for summer job seekers. The Civil Service Commission lists positions in eighteen Federal agencies, and jobs range from meteorological research for the Weather Bureau to petroleum engineering for the Interior Department and archaeology for the Smithsonian Institution.

In other cases, schools, local service groups, and citizens' associations have spearheaded the drive to help teen-agers find work. In Hancock, Michigan, a resort area, high schools offer a 2-day course to teach youngsters the essentials of resort and tourist work. In Minneapolis, a Market Garden Program puts them on to farm-job openings, and in Cedarhurst, Long Island, PTA's from nearby towns have a "Junior Dependables" agency to track down odd jobs.

ONE OF THE BEST solutions to the job problem is typified by the program in Boise, Idaho. Five years ago the YMCA joined forces with the State Employment Service, set up an employment agency in a YMCA office, and hired a telephone-answering service to handle calls. Newspapers donated space for publicity, and Boise's mayor launched the program at a well-attended breakfast party. Today the plan is a large, successful endeavor.

In Waterloo, Iowa, a "summer-job committee" instructs youngsters in self-salesmanship, procedures for job application, and rules for how to hold a job. A "job clinic" reminds youth that application blanks must be neatly filled out and qualifications well described, that shoes are nearly always necessary on the job, that you don't greet your employer with a "Hi!" when you arrive. The clinic has met with great success.

Public support can be a great help, but the business of job-getting is largely up to the person who needs a job. There are a number of pointers the National Committee on Employment of Youth suggests for teen-agers:

1. Begin looking early. Easter vacation is a good time.
2. Start at home with relatives and friends—such special contacts account for 90% of summer jobs landed. If you have never been away for the summer, it is best to take a job near home.
3. Know your talents, and state them specifically. An employer wants to know what you're good at and what you've done successfully before—at home, at school, or in a previous part-time job you have had.
4. Know the child labor laws in your state—your employer may not know them. They present no real barrier to summer employment. Normally, only "hazardous" work such as truck-driving, using power machinery, and operating elevators is forbidden to those under 18 during vacations.
5. Watch the want ads in your local paper and contact local agencies—State Employment Service, school employment offices, etc., and make application with local businesses. Remember to state what you can offer them.

Termites prefer recently built houses. In the old days, houses were more often built of cedar or of cypress in the south or redwood on the west coast, all of them woods not particularly to the termites' taste. They do like woods of the pine family, used in so much of today's construction, especially new wood which has the sap still in it. Termites find new houses not only attractive but easy to invade because too many modern builders fail to take the proper precautions.

In Minneapolis, a Market Garden Program puts them on to farm-job openings, and in Cedarhurst, Long Island, PTA's from nearby towns have a "Junior Dependables" agency to track down odd jobs.

ONE OF THE BEST solutions to the job problem is typified by the program in Boise, Idaho. Five years ago the YMCA joined forces with the State Employment Service, set up an employment agency in a YMCA office, and hired a telephone-answering service to handle calls. Newspapers donated space for publicity, and Boise's mayor launched the program at a well-attended breakfast party. Today the plan is a large, successful endeavor.

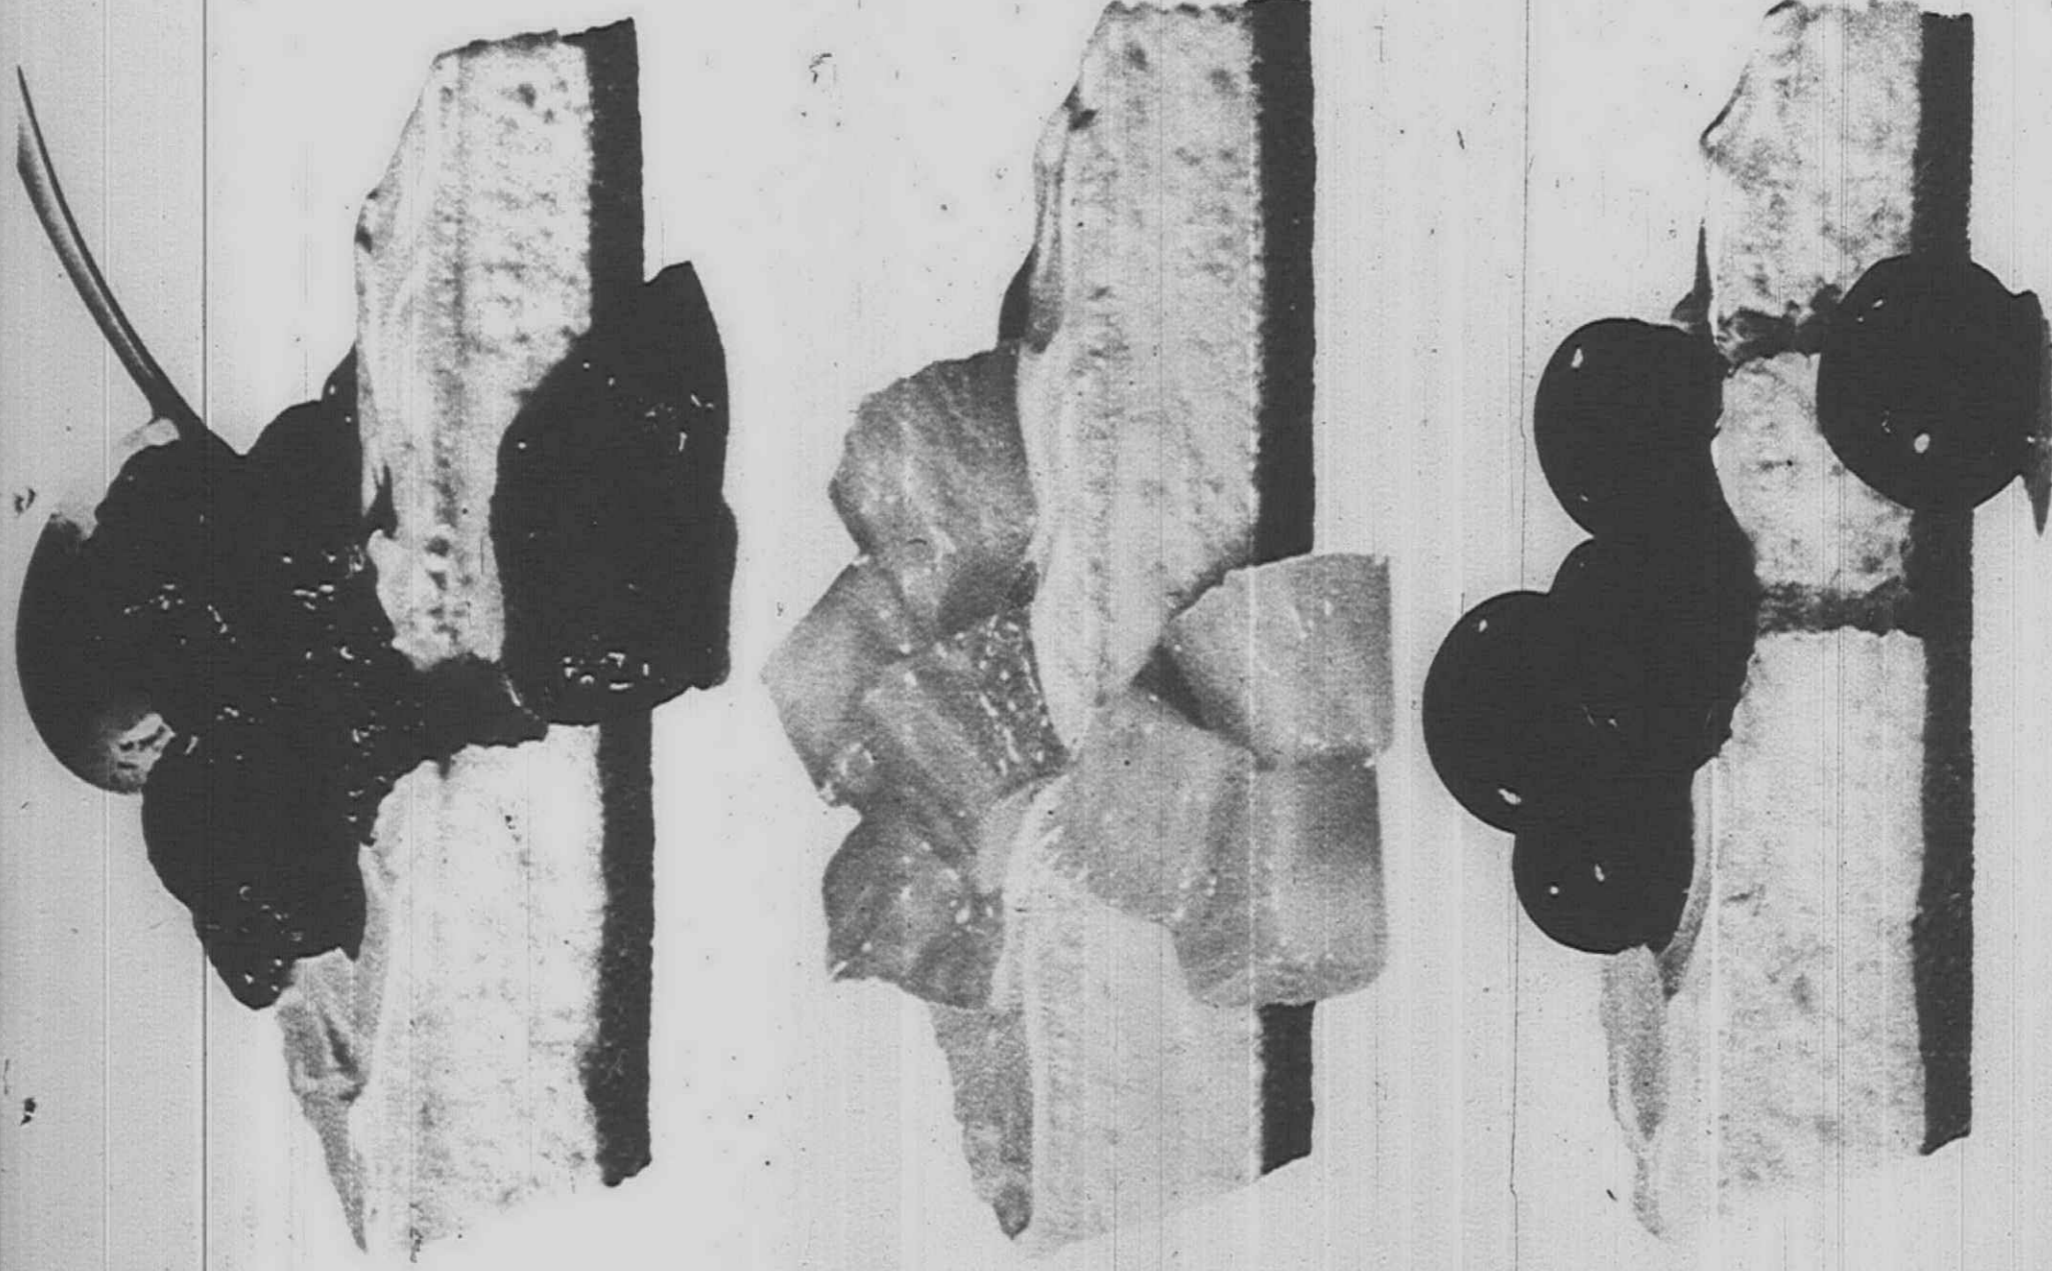

In Waterloo, Iowa, a "summer-job committee" instructs youngsters in self-salesmanship, procedures for job application, and rules for how to hold a job. A "job clinic" reminds youth that application blanks must be neatly filled out and qualifications well described, that shoes are nearly always necessary on the job, that you don't greet your employer with a "Hi!" when you arrive. The clinic has met with great success.

Public support can be a great help, but the business of job-getting is largely up to the person who needs a job. There are a number of pointers the National Committee on Employment of Youth suggests for teen-agers:

1. Begin looking early. Easter vacation is a good time.
2. Start at home with relatives and friends—such special contacts account for 90% of summer jobs landed. If you have never been away for the summer, it is best to take a job near home.
3. Know your talents, and state them specifically. An employer wants to know what you're good at and what you've done successfully before—at home, at school, or in a previous part-time job you have had.
4. Know the child labor laws in your state—your employer may not know them. They present no real barrier to summer employment. Normally, only "hazardous" work such as truck-driving, using power machinery, and operating elevators is forbidden to those under 18 during vacations.
5. Watch the want ads in your local paper and contact local agencies—State Employment Services, school employment offices, etc., and make application with local businesses. Remember to state what you can offer them.

4 Fresh Italian Dressings
no one can buy

... make one tonight with this GOOD SEASONS MIX

Good Seasons Italian Dressing. So unusually savory, robust with garlic—flecked with onion and sweet red peppers! Takes just seconds to mix. Easy directions are on the Good Seasons envelope. You combine your favorite oil, vinegar and a little water with the Mix. The water, or a substitute liquid, makes the blend smoother. (A continental chef's secret!) You can use many substitutes, vary the dressing to your own special taste. See the recipes below for delicious suggestions.

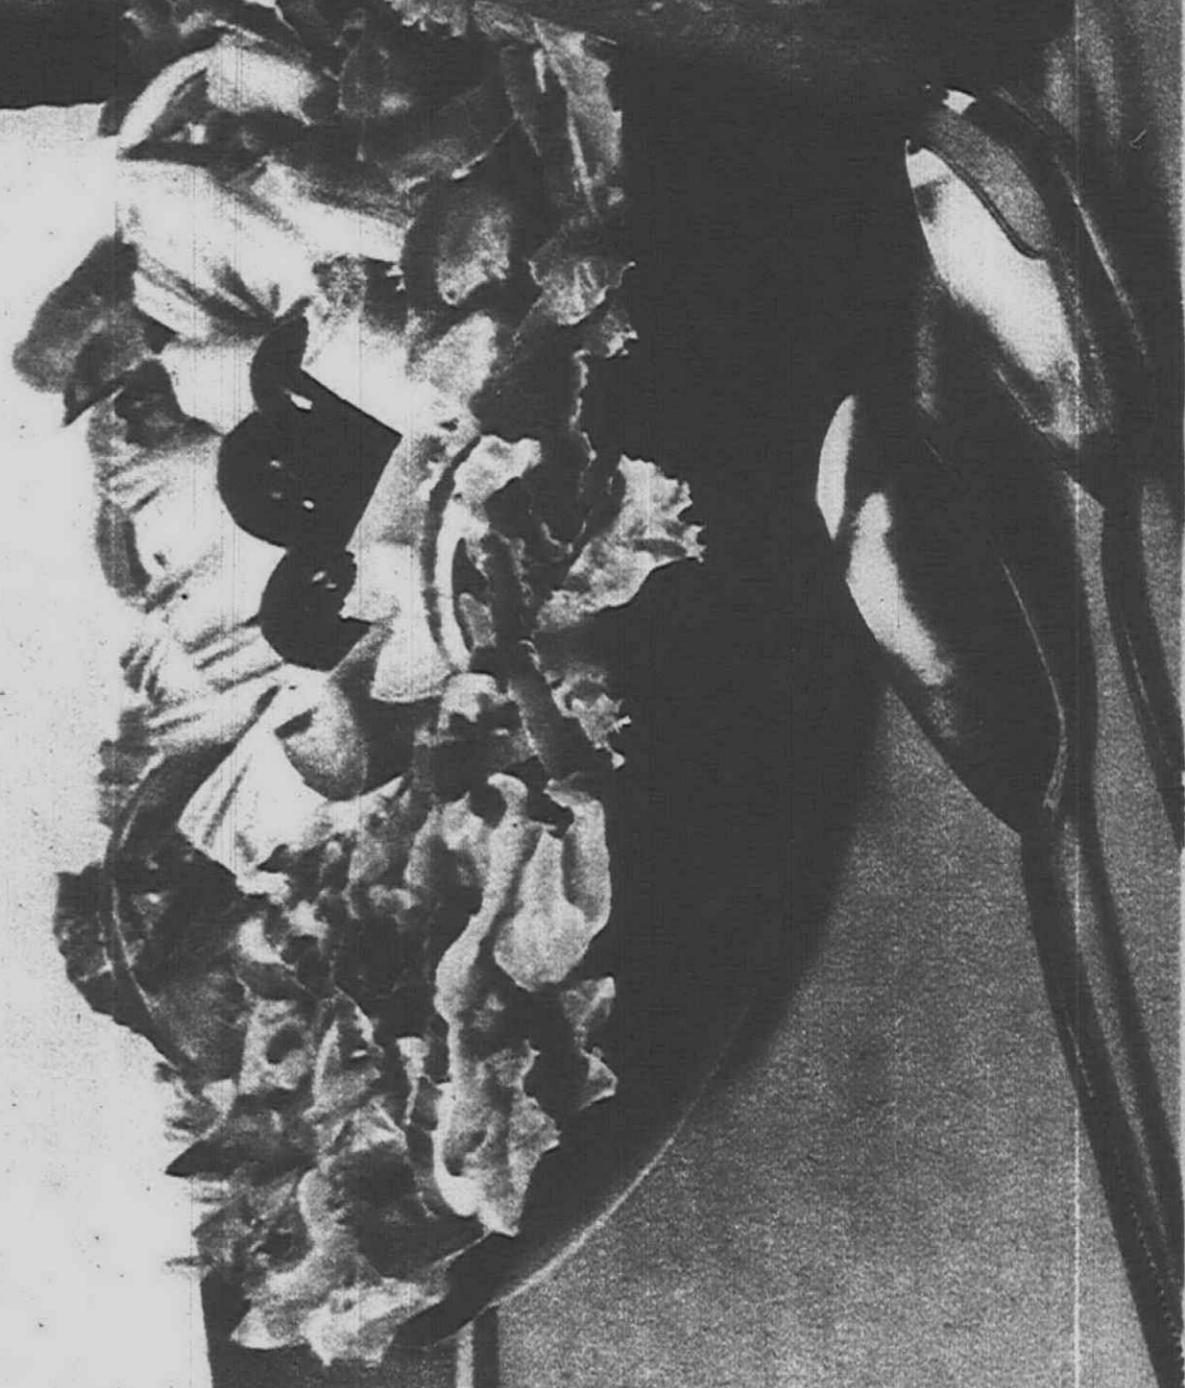

Italian Tomato-Parmesan Dressing. Like a tomato tang in dressing? Just substitute tomato sauce or catsup for the water. Optional last touch: add 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese. Pour on a salad of greens, artichoke hearts (canned or prepared frozen), and rings of red Italian onions. Magnifico!

Italian Wine Dressing. Prepare the Good Seasons Dressing but substitute red wine, white wine, or vermouth for the water. Makes the flavor even more vivid—a nice sparkle with greens. An excellent marinade, too.

Italian Avocado Dressing. Use half vinegar and half lemon juice. Then, substitute mashed avocado for the water. A bright and garlic-y dressing, but with a mellow base. Delicious with salads that include tomatoes or mixed, chilled vegetables—and very special with sea food or fruit.

Get the new Good Seasons crust, with measurements marked, where you buy the 7 Mixes: Italian, Classic, Cheese-Garlic, Exotic Herbs, Bleu Cheese, Garlic, Onion.

OYSTERS ROCKEFELLER

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN.
TO BAKE: 15-20 MIN.

- 2 cups white sauce (see recipe)
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 2 doz. oysters in shells
- Sherry
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 6 drops Tabasco
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
- Few grains black pepper
- Few grains ground nutmeg
- 2 12-oz. pkgs. frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well drained
- Shredded Parmesan cheese

1. Distribute coarse salt evenly 1/4 in. deep in a shallow baking dish.
2. Prepare white sauce, remove from heat, and vigorously stir about 3 tablespoons hot sauce into the egg. Immediately return to mixture in saucepan and cook 3 to 5 min., stirring constantly. Set aside; keep mixture warm.

3. Place flat side of each oyster shell up and carefully open by inserting the tip of a knife between edges of shell opposite hinges. Loosen the oysters from the top shell and place them in the deep half of the shell; discard top shells. Arrange oysters-in-the-shells in the baking dish on the salt bed.
4. Spoon 1/4 teaspoon sherry over each oyster; set baking dish aside.
5. Heat the butter in a heavy skillet over medium heat. Add onion and cook until golden, stirring occasionally. Stir in 2 tablespoons of the white sauce, parsley, Worcestershire sauce, Tabasco, and a mixture of the salt, monosodium glutamate, pepper, and nutmeg. Add spinach and blend thoroughly; heat 2 to 3 min.
6. Spoon the spinach mixture over the oysters; then spoon the remaining white sauce over the spinach. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese over sauce.
7. Bake at 375°F 15 to 20 min., or until lightly browned. Serve immediately.

SUMMER JOBS

6. Don't give up early—many vacation replacement jobs open up in July and August. And some work is better than no work. Be persistent and follow up all possible leads.

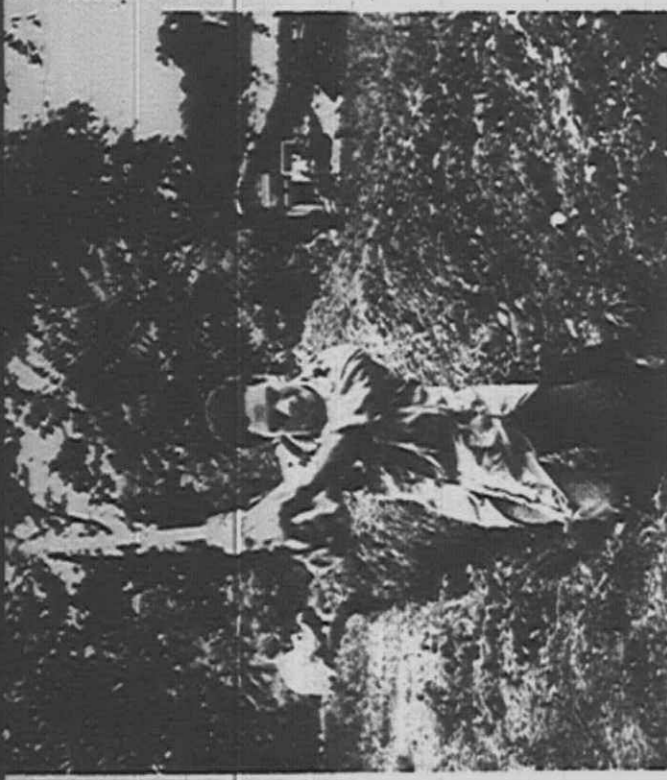

7. Conduct interviews and fill out application blanks in a mature manner. Remember, competition is stiff.

8. Check on the reputation of any prospective employer if you don't know it already. Your public employment service or your school may be able to help you here. You want a job, but you don't want to be exploited.

Many teen-agers will create work for themselves. They can start their own odd-jobs pools, dispatching hedge clippers, lawn mowers, or fence fixers for an afternoon or a day. They can organize groups to stage children's birthday parties and walking trips. They can publish a newspaper for a season in a resort area, or they can set up weekly puppet shows. They can conduct personal shopping, sell home-grown vegetables, or read to shut-ins. The amount of work and the money it brings depend on the resourcefulness of the teen-agers themselves.

AND IF all else fails, there are still two constructive courses open to the young person who cannot get a job this summer. He can learn a skill that will help assure him a job the next year. A summer investment in learning to type, for instance, is as valuable as any job. Or, he can volunteer to do any number of things, without pay. Social agencies everywhere are in need of free help. The Junior Red Cross recruits thousands of volunteer teen-agers every year to prepare bandages, serve meals, and read to patients in hospitals. The American Friends Service Committee has summer "intern" programs for high-school and college students who live in "work camps" and do constructive work in needy areas. In recent years, AFSC groups have built a low-water bridge for a settlement in the Kentucky mountains. In Lame Deer, Montana, they built a recreation hall for an Indian village. And at Fort Defiance, Arizona, they built a playground for Navajo Indians. Other teen-agers go to Mexico every year for similar work, and others go abroad—to work camps in Italy, Pakistan, Tanganyika, and many other countries. For overseas projects, they must pay as much as $600—but this fee can often be covered by scholarship funds.

With the competition for jobs so tough, why will more than half of all U.S. teen-agers set out to face it this summer and some even go so far as to pay for work when they could go right on being America's last leisure class? The fact is that today's teen-ager is itching for a chance to try his wings even if it means flying in the face of grim statistics. He is an immigrant in a hurry to get to the adult world. Chances are that money is not the only factor in his thinking—most of the money earned this summer will go for milk shakes, movies, and clothes. He wants responsibility and he wants experience. He wants a job. Furthermore, according to many experts, he should have a job.

"Young people," Eli Cohen says, "will not get the qualifications demanded by our present-day labor market by magic. Experience with a summer job can be crucial to them when the time comes for them to get a permanent job."

Even if a young person has to pay for working, the return on that small investment is very great. How many teen-agers could tell a potential employer they have set up a technical-assistance program in Peru's high Andes, built houses in India, or worked toward international understanding in Pakistan? These, and many other volunteer experiences, serve as a strong recommendation for any job any time. And the same dignity, independence, and experience go with a volunteer job as with a paying one. Both represent the same giant step toward adulthood.

This summer the expectation is that 43% of all the boys and 22% of the girls will get their jobs. But the hunt will be difficult, and many young people will be squeezed out. Still, by using all the resources at hand, plus a large measure of their own imagination, all young people should be able to find some sort of useful work. The summer job may pay, or may not—or may even cost something. But the teen-ager who wants it and gets it will be the winner in any case.

BROILED TROUT

Purchase one 8- to 10-oz. trout for each serving; if desired, remove head and fins. Rinse trout quickly under cold running water and dry thoroughly. Brush cavity of fish with tart French dressing and sprinkle generously with instant minced onion and salt. Brush trout generously with French dressing and arrange in a greased large, shallow baking pan or on a broiler rack. Broil trout about 3 in. from source of heat 5 to 8 min. on each side, or until fish flakes easily; brush with dressing during broiling. Remove trout to heated serving platter and garnish with lemon slices, tomato wedges, and mint sprigs or water cress. (See photo.)

SPICY PEACHES

TO PREPARE: ABOUT 15 MIN.
(allow about 1 hr. for peaches to marinate)
1 1-lb., 13-oz. can peach halves, drained (reserve ¼ cup sirup)
¼ cup thawed orange juice concentrate
2 tablespoons brown sugar
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon instant minced onion
Few grains salt
8 whole cloves
6 whole allspice

1. Combine the reserved sirup with the remaining ingredients, except peach halves, in a saucepan. Bring mixture to boiling, stirring until sugar is dissolved; cover and simmer about 10 min. to blend flavors.

Broiled Trout is accompanied by Spicy Peaches in Rosemary Pastry Shells and a fresh vegetable salad.

2. Pour hot sirup mixture over peach halves in a bowl, cover, and allow to stand for 1 hr., turning occasionally.

3. Drain peach halves thoroughly and serve in Rosemary Pastry Shells as an accompaniment for fish, meat, or poultry.

ROSEMARY PASTRY SHELLS

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 10-12 MIN.
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
2 tablespoons cold water
1 teaspoon lemon juice

1. Sift flour and salt into a bowl and stir in rosemary. Cut in shortening with a pastry blender or two knives until pieces are size of small peas. Gradually sprinkle a mixture of the water and lemon juice over flour mixture, stirring lightly with a fork after each addition.

2. Gather pastry into a ball and roll out about ¼ in. thick on a lightly floured surface. Cut into rounds about 4½ in. in diameter. Shape pastry over backs of large muffin-pan wells. (Shells should be about ½ in. deep.) Prick pastry with a fork.

3. Bake at 425°F 10 to 12 min., or until golden brown. Cool pastry slightly before removing to cooling racks. Fill with the Spicy Peaches or as desired. 6 servings

FRESH TROUT WITH SAUCE SUPREME

TO PREPARE AND COOK: ABOUT 25 MIN.
6 cleaned fresh trout, 8 to 10 oz. each
6 tablespoons butter
¼ cup finely chopped onion
1 large clove garlic, cut in halves
1 cup whipping cream
3 tablespoons tomato paste
¼ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
¼ to ½ teaspoon salt

1. Remove heads and fins from trout, if desired; rinse trout quickly under cold running water and pat dry with absorbent paper. Coat lightly with seasoned flour.

2. Heat butter in a large skillet over medium heat. Add trout to skillet and cook 5 to 8 min. on each side, or until lightly browned and fish flakes easily. Transfer to a heated serving platter and garnish with water cress or parsley sprigs.

3. To prepare the sauce, add the onion and garlic to the butter in the skillet. Cook until the onion is golden, stirring occasionally. Remove and discard the garlic. Gradually add the cream, tomato paste, olives, and salt, stirring constantly; heat thoroughly. Serve sauce hot with the trout. 6 servings

Trout with Lemon-Caper Butter—Prepare and cook trout according to directions in steps 1 and 2 of recipe for Fresh Trout with Sauce Supreme. To prepare sauce, melt ½ cup butter over low heat. Stir in 1 tablespoon lemon juice and ¼ cup drained capers. Serve hot with the trout.

LOBSTER SOUP ROVALE

This elegant soup is as temptingly rich as a bisque.
TO PREPARE AND COOK: 35 MIN.

2 cups cooked lobster meat
2 tablespoons butter
¾ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup finely chopped celery
¼ cup finely shredded carrot
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
Few grains cayenne pepper
4 cups chicken broth
1 cup clam juice
3 drops Angostura bitters
1 bay leaf
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup whipping cream

1. Heat 2 tablespoons butter in a skillet. Add onion, celery, and carrot; stirring occasionally, cook until onion is golden.

2. Heat 3 tablespoons butter in a large saucepan. Blend in a mixture of the flour, salt, and cayenne pepper; stirring constantly, heat until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat. Stirring constantly, gradually add the chicken broth and clam juice. Blend in the onion mixture, bitters, and bay leaf. Return to heat and bring to boiling, stirring constantly; cover and simmer 20 min.

3. Remove bay leaf. Stir about 3 tablespoons of the hot mixture into egg yolks. Immediately return egg-yolk mixture to saucepan, stirring vigorously. Cook 3 to 5 min., stirring constantly; do not boil. Stir in the cream and lobster; heat thoroughly. About 8 servings

BAKED FISH WITH SHRIMP STUFFING

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 25-30 MIN.
2- to 3-lb.-dressed whitefish, bass, or lake trout

1 cup chopped cooked shrimp
1 cup chopped fresh mushrooms
1 cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
¾ teaspoon salt
Few grains black pepper
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ cup melted butter
2 to 3 tablespoons apple cider
2 tablespoons melted butter

1. Rinse fish under cold running water; drain well and pat dry with absorbent paper. Sprinkle fish cavity generously with salt.

2. Combine in a bowl the shrimp, mushrooms, bread crumbs, celery, onion, parsley, and a mixture of the seasonings. Gradually pour ¼ cup melted butter over bread mixture, tossing lightly until mixed.

3. Lightly pile stuffing into fish. Fasten with skewers and lace with cord. Place fish in a greased large, shallow baking pan and brush with a mixture of the cider and 2 tablespoons melted butter.

4. Bake at 375°F, brushing occasionally with cider mixture, 25 to 30 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when pierced with a fork. If additional browning is desired, place fish under broiler 3 to 5 minutes. Transfer to a heated platter and remove skewers and cord. Garnish platter with sprigs of parsley. 4 to 6 servings

WHITE SAUCE

Heat ¼ cup butter over low heat. Blend in a mixture of ¼ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon monosodium glutamate, and ¼ teaspoon black pepper; heat until mixture bubbles. Remove from heat. Gradually add 2 cups milk, stirring constantly. Continue stirring and bring rapidly to boiling; cook 1 to 2 min. longer. 2 cups sauce

OYSTER-POTATO FRIES

A crisp potato coating adds flavor and texture to oysters served as an appetizer or supper entree.
TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO DEEP FRY: 2-3 MIN.

Hydrogenated vegetable shortening, lard, or cooking oil for deep frying
1 pt. oysters, well drained
1 egg, beaten
¼ cup thick sour cream
¼ cup flour
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
½ cup finely shredded potatoes, drained

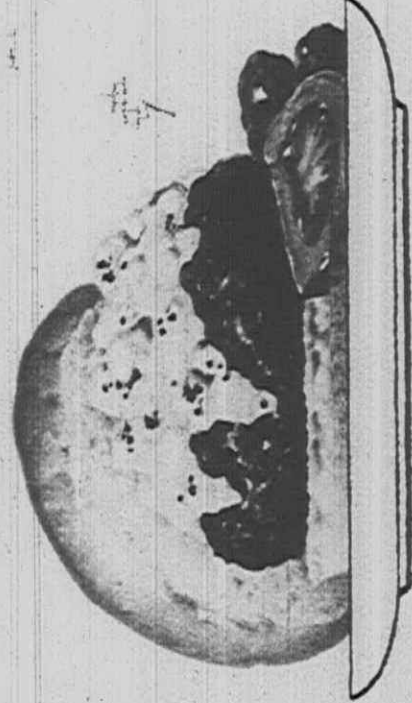

1. Heat the shortening to 365°F.

2. Stir the sour cream and a mixture of dry ingredients into the beaten egg. Combine with the potatoes and blend thoroughly. Add four or five oysters at a time to potato mixture.

3. Drop mixture by tablespoons with an oyster in each spoonful into the hot fat. Deep fry at one time only as many oysters as will float uncrowded one layer deep. Deep fry 2 to 3 min., or until golden brown. Remove with slotted spoon and drain over fat before removing to absorbent paper. About 30

Test your party reflexes: When the guests knock, do your knees follow suit, 'cause of the mixing duties to come? Hold on! Here's hope for the host who'd like a helping hand at the cocktail-fixing hour. Now you can give—and get a kick out of—home parties with this goof-proof recipe guide at your side. Never again need you be shaken by a guest's request. Why, even a reading acquaintance with this drink roster breeds confidence. And well it might, for these pages contain not the oddball or the offbeat nip... but those most commonly called for. After long (and pleasant) research, we've arrived at the easiest-best way to fix each. Plus ways to vary these basic stand-bys for a change of taste.

and you need only a few basic liquors...

Most of these drinks can be made from just a few staple liquors... whiskey, gin, vodka, rum and Southern Comfort. S.C. is so versatile, its unique flavor adds new pleasure to old favorites. Not to mention the many popular drinks that can only be made the Comfort* way!

*Southern Comfort®

WHAT IS SOUTHERN COMFORT?

In the gracious days of the Old South, men had time for the finer things. One such man-of-leisure in New Orleans was disturbed by the taste of even the finest whiskeys. He took time to "smooth his spirits" with some rare and delicious ingredients... and Southern Comfort was born! The formula for this unique 100 proof liquor has remained a family secret to this day. We think you'll like it!

tips from the Experts

THE MAGIC FORMULA TO SUCCESS = MEASURING!

The best drinks are the result of exact measurements of the finest ingredients. Not even a highball should be mixed by the "eyeball" method. Here're the figures you can count on:

pony = 1 oz.
one jigger = 1½ oz.
dash = ¼ teaspoon.

DON'T SKIMP ON THE ICE!

Use cracked ice for shaker drinks, lots of cubes for highballs. Avoid "stale" ice, with that "icebox taste."

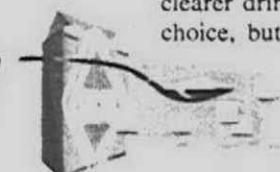

WHEN TO SHAKE— WHEN TO STIR?

If a drink is made only with clear liquors, it requires only stirring with ice for proper mixing (the Stinger is one of few exceptions). Shake drinks with hard-to-blend ingredients like: fruit juice, eggs, cream or sugar... and give it all you've got!

WHAT KIND OF SUGAR IS BEST?

Some prefer the way powdered sugar blends with ingredients in certain drinks, even though it "clouds up" a bit. Finely granulated sugar makes a clearer drink. Take your choice, but put sugar in the shaker... first!

CHILLED GLASSES— BETTER COCKTAILS!

Before mixing cocktails, fill glasses with cracked ice to cool 'em. When mixture's ready, dump ice, dry glasses—and pour.

SECRET OF THE FROSTED GLASS!

For "frosted" drinks, put wet glasses in the icebox, or bury in shaved ice. For the "sugar-frosted" glass, dampen rim of pre-cooled glass with slice of lemon, then dip rim in powdered sugar for a few seconds. Knock off excess.

Comfort* on the rocks

Trader Vic's, San Francisco,
New York, Los Angeles, Havana

It's easy to keep any party off the shoals, when you smooth the rocks with Southern Comfort.

1 jigger (1½ oz.) Southern Comfort
Pour into Old Fashioned glass with cracked ice or ice cubes. Add twist of lemon peel, stir.

Comfort* sour

Hotel Mark Hopkins,
San Francisco

When a drink reaches the "top" in the Golden Gate City, it's sure to be a favorite in your home top.

¼ jigger lemon juice
½ tsp. powdered sugar
1 jigger (1½ oz.)
Southern Comfort

Shake well with cracked ice, strain. Serve with orange slice and cherry.

gin...the long and short of it...

• DRY MARTINI

½ French type (dry) vermouth • ¾ dry gin
Stir with cracked ice, strain, add green olive or pearl onion. For a Vodka-tini, use vodka, omit the gin.

• GIN 'n TONIC

juice & rind of ¼ lime • tonic water
1 jigger (1½ oz.) dry gin
Put lime, gin, ice cubes in 8 oz. glass, stir. Fill with tonic. Go Mexican—omit the gin—viva tequila!
Tain't no sin to skip the gin, when you use Comfort* instead.

• TOM COLLINS

1 tsp. powdered sugar • ½ jigger lemon juice
1 jigger (1½ oz.) gin • plain soda
Dissolve sugar in juice, add ice cubes, gin, soda, stir.

• GIMLET

3 parts dry gin or vodka • 1 part Rose's Lime Juice
Shake well with cracked ice, and strain into glass.

• CELERY BOATS

Mash avocado. Season to taste with lemon juice, salt, grated onion. Put mixture in 2-in. celery stalks; add "sails" of potato chips and toothpicks.

4 with a boost of juice...

• BLOODY MARY

1 jigger (1½ oz.) vodka • 2 jiggers tomato juice
½ jigger lemon juice • dash Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper to taste; shake with ice and strain.

• MARGARITA

1 oz. Cuervo tequila • ½ oz. Triple Sec
1 oz. lime or lemon juice
Shake with cracked ice. Moisten glass rim with fruit rind, spin rim in salt. Sip over the salted edge.

• DAIQUIRI

juice of ½ lime or lemon • 1 tsp. powdered sugar
1 jigger (1½ oz.) light rum
Shake with cracked ice 'til shaker frosts, and strain.
Avoid the humdrum, eliminate the rum, and make your Daiquiris with Southern Comfort... only ½ tsp. sugar, juice same as above.

• SCREWDRIIVER

2 oz. vodka • orange juice
Put two ice cubes into a six-ounce glass. Pour in the vodka, fill with orange juice and stir.
Try your next screwdriver with a new twist. Make it with 1½ oz Southern Comfort instead of the usual vodka.

• SURPRISE CUBES

Cut salami or other prepared or canned luncheon meat into cubes. Spread with cream cheese and roll in chopped parsley. Stick with toothpicks to serve.
