Swimmers Best in State

They're Champs!

By Bill Nelson
"State Champions"
That's the title that Plymouth High School swimmers and Coach John McFall were getting used to today after Plymouth's greatest swimming team won the State Championship at East Lansing last weekend.

The best team in Rock history turned in a great performance in the State meet and triggered an avalanche of local pride. Dozens of Plymouth people were at East Lansing Saturday to cheer the Rocks to victory.

It was the first State Swimming Championship for Plymouth and Coach McFall promptly called his team "The greatest team Plymouth has ever had anywhere, any place, any time."

Plymouth totaled 44 1/2 points to beat second place Battle Creek, which scored 36 1/2 points. Birmingham was third with 28 points and Grosse Pointe fourth with 22 points.

The Champion Rocks only scored one first place in the meet, but got superb team performances from everyone and overall depth provided the victory margin.

Plymouth's individual winner was Dick Gretzinger, probably Plymouth's greatest individual swimmer. Gretzinger set a new state record in the 200 yard individual medley race, winning it in 2:12.2. McFall confided that it was after this race "that I felt we had it won." Only the relays followed and Plymouth figured to do well in those two events.

Gretzinger earlier in the meet tied for second in the 200 yard free style with Battle Creek's Tom Babcock and McFall credited this race with having an important bearing on the outcome, because Battle Creek was Plymouth's closest competitor.

He had praise for everyone, but he gave his highest accolades to Phil Bender and Jim Izett. From these two lads he got superior performances which could not have been anticipated in advance.

Bender was fifth in the breaststroke in 1:07.2, chopping two full seconds off anything he had done before. Izett tied for third in the 100 yard free style with Grosse Pointe's Mike Marsh and Warren's Darryle Kiefer. All were timed in 51.9 and split the points allotted for third, fourth and fifth positions. In the preliminaries Izett was clocked at 51.7, a full second faster than he had ever swam before.

WITH BLACK SMOKE billowing from the two-story apartment, firemen are shown battling the blaze that kept them occupied from Thursday morning until Friday noon. Later, a power shovel dug into the walls to reach the pockets of fire. The blaze routed 30 residents.

Public Rallies to Aid Victims Of Stubborn Apartment Fire

Aid for families that were routed from their crowded apartments by a devastating fire last Thursday is continuing this week as firemen still probe the cause of the blaze.

The Salvation Army is coordinating the program to find homes and provide a new start for an estimated 15 families that had been living in the building at 900 N. Mill St.

Discovered at 9 a.m. Thursday, the fire hurriedly spread throughout the building. City firemen arriving at the scene immediately saw that the fire was more than they could handle and they radioed for assistance from Plymouth Township firemen.

A home only 18 inches north of the apartment had already caught on fire and firemen spent most of their efforts successfully saving it.

All day Thursday firemen battled the stubborn blaze. Firemen also were on the scene throughout some of the "families" consist of single men. One family has four small children, the oldest only four years old.

So swiftly did the flames spread that some occupants were forced to leave dressed only in housecoats.

The building, once a restaurant located beside the depot, was moved to its present location about 35 years ago. It was partially used as a restaurant and after World War II was partially used by the V.F.W. The present owner is Floyd Woolley, also an occupant.

Over the years, several layers of flooring had been applied and there were innumerable partitions. The City Water Department estimates that it pumped 1.6 to 2 million gallons of water. A 25-mile-an-hour wind that was whipping snow also helped spread the fire and left firemen with icicles hanging from their helmets.

To reach the pockets of fire amid the rubble, a power shovel was brought in that dug through the walls and into the interior of the two-story building.

No one was injured, but several firemen became ill from smoke inhalation.

Occupants of the apartment moved into homes of friends and the Salvation Army headed by Capt. John Cunard went to work that day. On TV news that night, Plymouthite Carl Cederberg (Continued on Page 10)

Trustees Also To Be Named

Electors in Plymouth and five other school districts will be faced with the question on June 12 of whether they want to participate in the proposed Northwest Wayne County Community College.

At the same time, voters will decide upon trustees for the college, should the participation question be approved. One trustee will be elected from each of the six districts and three "at large."

Harold Fischer, secretary of the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education, announced Monday that he will be a candidate for trustee and will not seek re-election to the Plymouth Board in June.

June 12 is the same date as the annual school elections held throughout Michigan.

Fischer, who is chairman of the Executive Committee for the Community College, reported to the Plymouth Board Monday night that the Executive Committee had deliberated many hours over the best date for the election. A special election earlier in the spring was also offered.

The community college proposal has been studied for several years by representatives of school boards and citizen groups. Participating in the program are Redford Union, South Redford, Clawsonville, Livonia, Garden City and Plymouth districts. All must approve the ballot question in order to start machinery rolling for establishing the college.

If voters approve the "participating" proposal in June, they will later be asked to vote for a levy, probably one mill, to start construction, buy land, hire the faculty and get the college going. A target date of September 1964 has been set.

Should the financing proposal get approval, the site would be purchased. Several have been proposed in Livonia and Plymouth Township. Fischer and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, also a Plymouth Board member, have been working on the Community College committee since it started. Hulsing is the committee's secretary.

Dr. Eric Bradner, dean of the Technical Division of the Tri-County Delta Community College, Bay City, has been hired as director coordinator for the Northwest Community College. He succeeds Dr. Albert Ammerman who left to head a community college in New York. Several weeks ago the committee hired James McCann, but this did not materialize because Dearborn Community College, where he is dean, would not grant him a leave of absence.

A community college would provide two years of college training. Its need is considered critical because of the acute shortage of four-year college facilities. Those completing community colleges usually have no trouble entering four-year colleges at the junior level.

Proponents also note that while it costs $1,800 to $2,000 a year to attend a four-year college, a student living at home can attend the nearby community college for $200 tuition for a resident student. Should the community college open in 1964, a report indicates that 2,000 students would enroll immediately. By 1970, the enrollment would reach 15,000, if facilities are provided.

It would take one mill in each school district to build and maintain the community college.

To serve 900 people at their Pancake Festival Saturday, Plymouth Kiwanians fried 300 pounds of sausage, used 200 pounds of flour, 15 gallons of maple syrup, 40 pounds of butter and served 2,000 cups of coffee. It was their most successful Festival yet.

LOST: Each Girl Scout troop wrapped hard-earned money in birthday boxes and presented them to the Juliet Lowe Fund at Sunday's Scout-A-Rama. One box containing $2.01 from Troop 501, was lost, probably in the High School parking lot. Anyone finding the box can contact GL 3-5274.

POLICE BEAT: The Milton Orr family, 722 Coolidge, returned home Saturday night to find their upstairs ransacked. Drawers were pulled out, clothing strewn, but apparently nothing taken, police reported.

NEW STORE: Bob Schultz, owner of Bob's Paint Spot in Plymouth, has opened another store in Brighton called Bob's Paint & Wallpaper. Bob will run the store himself while Mae Beitner continues to manage his Pennington Ave. store. The new store opens Thursday.

FIRE RUNS: Besides their exhausting battle Thursday (see story elsewhere), City firemen were called to the Buford Conn home, 345 Parkview Dr., Saturday noon when a faulty furnace had filled the house with smoke. There was no fire damage, firemen said, but smoke was heavy.

Symphony Features Violinist Sunday

Violinist Emily Mutter Adams will be the featured soloist at this Sunday afternoon's Plymouth Symphony Orchestra concert.

The concert offers an opportunity for the community to become acquainted with the instrumental music department, as all the groups from the very beginning stages at the grade school level to the high school level, will be represented.

A man who joined with Henry Ford to leave Americans a historical monument unequalled anywhere died last week at the age of 78.

He was Edward J. Cutler, for over a quarter of a century the personal architect of Henry Ford, and who with the industrialist established the world-famous Greenfield Village.

Mr. Cutler died Wednesday, March 8 at St. Mary Hospital after being seriously ill for two weeks. Funeral services were held Friday from the Schrader Funeral Home with the Rev. Henry J. Walsh, D.D., pastor of First United Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

With an art school background, Mr. Cutler was once a designer of stained glass windows and in 1915 found himself working in the windshield department of Ford's Highland Park plant. He later was transferred to the drafting department where Henry Ford took him aside and promised to make an architect out of him.

Remodeling the Ford Homestead was one of his first jobs, but it was in the early 1920's he was launched upon his major project—Greenfield Village. Ford had become interested in antiques and conceived the idea of establishing a village of historical buildings.

Setting out one day to find a suitable place for the village, Ford and Mr. Cutler first looked at a Cherry Hill Rd. site and later decided upon a farm near Greenfield, the present site.

Mr. Cutler was placed in charge of bringing the buildings to Dearborn and making sure they were erected in perfect shape. Buildings were carefully dismantled, marked, boxed up and shipped back where Mr. Cutler supervised re-construction. Even plaster was ground up and re-used.

While many of Ford's close associates eventually fell out of favor, Mr. Cutler was able to hit it off with his employer because he realized that Ford disliked long, written explanations. Instead, Mr. Cutler would make a sketch on the ground and that was enough to satisfy Ford. One of the biggest jobs Mr. Cutler encountered was re-constructing Thomas Edison's Menlo Park laboratories. There was very little left of the laboratories but by measuring the remaining foundations and finding buildings that contained former Menlo Park lumber, Mr. Cutler was able to re-create the park in Dearborn.

Two Plymouth buildings were moved to Greenfield Village—one the John Gunsolley carding mill and the other a typical old home on N. Mill St., which still carries the name, "Plymouth House" in Greenfield Village.

Mr. Cutler set up his office in Plymouth House. Ford would drop in nearly every morning, prop his feet on the fireplace and "talk about everything under the sun except what you wanted him to talk about," Mr. Cutler recalled.

Mr. Cutler supervised re-construction of around 100 buildings in the village before he retired in 1948, the year that Henry Ford died. His retirement ended in May 1955 when he was asked to help fill out the archives of the village.

He drove there once a week and was active until Christmas time. He also performed some architectural work for the village, and still used his "office" in the Plymouth House.

Mr. Cutler considered his outstanding achievement the Martha-Mary Chapel in Greenfield Village. Five similar chapels were later built by Ford.

One of his favorite projects was restoration of the famous Wayside Inn at South Sudbury, Mass. The inn, about which Longfellow wrote, was destroyed by fire in 1955.

Another achievement was designing the Ford Plantation near Savannah, Ga. This included some 75,000 acres of old Civil War plantations merged into one.

The Cutler family for many years lived at Nankin Mills in an old home that Mr. Cutler had restored for Ford. The family then moved to the Issues behind—and on both sides—of the proposed State Constitutional Convention will be the subject of a public forum in Plymouth on March 22, next Wednesday, at 8 p.m. It will be held at the Plymouth Junior High School, 1042 Mill St., near Ann Arbor Rd. (M-17). The Plymouth Republican organization is host, but the discussion will be non-partisan and all citizens of Livonia, Plymouth, Northville and Redford Township are invited, irrespective of party preference.

"We believe such a meeting is essential for the voters before they make up their minds on the April 3 ballot," explained Chairman Mrs. Roy Jacobus, of Plymouth. "All the pros and cons of the convention idea will be explored."

Former State Treasurer D. Hale Brake and Robert E. Pickup of the Citizens Research Council of Michigan will be expert speakers.

Paul Chandler, publisher of this newspaper, will be moderator and there will be a question and answer period involving the audience. Brake now is a lawyer in Stanton, Mich., being affiliated in a firm there with Prosecuting Attorney C. Homer Miel. A U. of M. law grad, Brake was prosecuting attorney in Montcalm County from Jan. 1, 1927, through Dec. 31, 1930. Thereafter he served as State Senator from 1935 through 1942 and State Treasurer from 1948 through 1954. He organized the Michigan Institute of Local Government in 1943 and has been its president continuously. This organization merged this year with the State Association of Supervisors.

AAUW Book Sale at Kroger's

Not too long ago Mr. and Mrs. Plymouth were covetous about their books — but not anymore. Now, according to members of the American Association of University Women, they don't have time to turn yellow, or even collect dust.

For many people, as soon as they have been read, they are given to some worthy organization which sponsors a used-book sale for its favorite project.

Just such a sale is coming up March 16, 17, and 18 at the Kroger Store in Plymouth. Sponsored by the Plymouth-Northville Branch of the AAUW, the proceeds will go to provide fellowships for women in higher education.

According to co-chairmen, Mrs. Robert Probeck and Mrs. D. D. Mardsen, members began their drive for leather-back and paper-back volumes last May after the fifth annual sale ended. The members have collected copies which should satisfy the reading habits of everyone.

Books based on religion, science, cooking, the arts and fairy tales are included in the collection which are being sorted and priced. There is a section devoted to fiction and another section will include reference materials.

Committee members who have been busy sorting and tagging books are Mrs. L. W. Becker, Mrs. A. E. Gulick, Mrs. J. B. Barners, and Mrs. C. C. Wiltse.

Rebekah News

The next regular meeting of the Rebekah's will be Friday, March 24 at 8:00 p.m. Sister Zetta Simpson, treasurer of Rebekah Assembly, will be the guest.

Out prayers and best wishes go out to Brother Roach who is in University Hospital. Cards should help to give him a bit of cheer. His room is 3605.

Sister McCoy's daughter, Norma, is home from the hospital and feeling fine. Don't forget "Family Night" and the potluck dinner, March 31.

Mrs. Raymond Rynkiewicz

Wedding Bells Ring At Fegan - Rynkiewicz Rites

Nuptials were solemnized for Virginia Fegan and Raymond Rynkiewicz at an 11 a.m. ceremony, February 11, at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church. Rev. Father William Child officiated.

The bride's floor-length orchid gown and an over-skirt of white silk organza. White fur trimmed the rounded neckline and tiny bows accented the bodice. Her shoulder-length veil was held in place by a demure pillbox and a purple orchid and stephanotis were pinned to the white fur muff she carried.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Janet Hessler, was dressed in a purple crystal sheath with white overskirt, caught in front with a bow. Accessories were a tam and muff of white fur. Her bouquet was made up of violets and white sweet-heart roses. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Judy Detherage, Alberta Hart, sister of the bride, and Joan Rynkiewicz, the groom's sister, wore gowns identical to that of Mrs. Hessler.

Janet Hart, the junior bridesmaid and sister of the bride, was dressed as her senior counterpart, differing only in her pleated skirt.

Donald Bachleda was best man while Keneth Hart, the bride's brother, Emory Robbins, Kenneth Rynkiewicz, the groom's brother, and Richard Hessler served as ushers.

Mrs. Albert Hart, mother of the bride, wore a blue lace dress with navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations. Mrs. Alex Rynkiewicz, the groom's mother, was dressed in a blue floral print, white hat and gloves and her corsage was also of white carnations.

Immediately following the wedding a breakfast was served to 300 guests at the UAW-Local 182 Hall in Livonia, and an evening reception was held for the 800 relatives and friends who came from Detroit, Livonia, Plymouth, Wayne, Garden City, Monroe, Cadillac, Cincinnati, Brighton, Taylor and Birmingham.

Mrs. Rynkiewicz chose an orchid cotton knit dress with matching accessories for her going away outfit and wore a corsage of violets and stephanotis.

Following a two week honeymoon in Florida, the couple will make their home at 36629 Grandon in Livonia.

Jean's Jottings

By Jean Campau, Women's Editor

For a reporter to receive a "thank you" from the subject of an article or an interview is always a pleasure and provides a bright spot in one's day, but we would be willing to lay odds that few have received as sweet a compliment as I did last week.

This thank you came in the form of a most unusual sheet cake that was an exact replica of the upper half of page one of my favorite newspaper, The Plymouth Mail. And it was complete in minute detail right down to the pilgrim symbol in The Mail masthead.

The author of the toothsome goodie was none other than clever little Janet Herter of Arthur St., the same gal that made the intricate train cake for her son's birthday.

We don't care much for eating our own words, but Mrs. Herter's were a delight both to mind and body.

Twelve members from the Plymouth High School class of 1951 have been working up a storm with their plans for an August reunion. All the groundwork has been done and the invitations are ready to post. Their only snag is in not being able to locate some of their former classmates. They include: Bonnie Bohl, Ronald Corey, Ronald Davis, Jack Elliott, Lois Hoenecke, Lawrence Hood, Rose Kneld, Sarah Mackintosh, Ronald Potts, Joan Pagenkoff, John Robinson, Donald Truesdell, Donald Vandemark, James H. Bonham, Jr., Lawrence Tibbitts, Norman Treadwell, and June Stienke.

Either Richard Nelson at GL 3-0798 or Bud Young at GL 3-6687, reunion committee members, would be pleased to hear from our readers if they know the whereabouts of any of these people.

We would like to commend the Theatre Guild for opening its doors to the Senior Citizens of the community for last Thursday evening's performance of "Inherit The Wind." Out of the 54 tickets they issued, 52 were used by these folks. Probably the "senior-est" of the senior citizens enjoying the play was Col. Edward Miller, 90, of 863 Simpson St.

All About Babies . . .

By Dr. Joseph Lelyveld, Chairman, National Foot Health Council. Although it will be several months before your baby starts to walk, you must plan now to give those little feet some thought and care if you want him to go through life comfortably. In the beginning, your baby should be encouraged to creep but never persuaded to walk too soon. When a baby's muscles, balance, and confidence have developed he will stand or walk of his own accord—but when helped to stand or walk too soon the legs and feet may become weakened and their development retarded in other ways.

several foot sizes, can restrict the foot like tight shoes as the foot grows and cause toes to curl under. The proper sock for a child's foot is one that extends a good half-inch beyond the longest toes. Many mothers prefer moisture-absorbing durable mercerized cotton yarn.

SEERSUCKER GAINING
Seersucker will achieve far greater acceptance this spring and summer in sports jackets, casual suits, slacks, walk shorts and sports shirts. Many of these cool, crinkly fabrics are made in a wash-wear construction.

As soon as the child shows an inclination to stand, soft-soled shoes should be fitted, but the child's feet should always be protected with socks. Some pediatricians feel that mercerized cotton socks equalize the temperature of the child's feet and aid the body circulation.

The first-step shoes, as well as the first walking shoes should be at least three-quarters of an inch longer than the toes (which is the width of your thumb), and wide enough so that you can draw the leather slightly together with your fingers over the top of the toes.

YOUTHFUL COMBO
Among the new treatments of young men's rainwear for spring is the black coat with the seersucker lining.

It is extremely important that booties and first socks be properly fitted. They should be large enough to avoid any pressure on the soft, developing foot structure. One-size stretch socks, supposed to fit children of

If you think your child is developing any kind of foot trouble, have his feet examined by a podiatrist, chiropodist or orthopedist who can also advise you about the right kind of socks and shoes for your baby's feet.

Swim Pools Covered In New Ordinance

An ordinance regulating operation and maintenance of outdoor swimming pools was given its second and third readings by the City Commission last day night.

There are now three swimming pools in the City and the future will probably bring many more. Most communities, including Plymouth Township, already have similar ordinances regulating pools. Under the ordinance, a swimming pool is defined as "any non-portable structure or container, either above or below grade, located either in part or wholly outside a permanent enclosed and roofed building, designed to hold water to a depth of greater than 12 inches, when filled to capacity, intended for immersion of the human body, whether of swimming or wading, or both, by the occupants thereof and guests as an accessory use to a residence."

The ordinance requires that the pool be enclosed by a fence of not less than four feet on the property line or a six foot fence can be used if it encloses the pool area only. Also covered in the ordinance are pumping and filtering equipment, plumbing re-

The Reader Speaks Up

EDITOR:

On behalf of the 2,500 graduates of Bentley High School I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for the fine sports coverage you have given to our high school's athletic program. I would also like to express our sincere appreciation to your newspaper for its splendid cooperation in publishing our news bulletins about alumni activities.

I would like, however, to call your attention to a fact which greatly hurts the pride of the Alumni Association. Your sports editor has been referring to our school as "Livonia Bentley." We feel, especially for a local newspaper, that the need for "Livonia" before our high school's name is completely unnecessary. If anyone does not know that Bentley High School is in Livonia, I would appreciate it if you would refer them to us and we will see to it that they have a tour of our high school and become acquainted with our Alma Mater.

As an Honorary Member of the Alumni Association you are aware that we are very proud of our school and that Bentley High stands out as one of the most respected names in secondary education. We feel that referring to us as "Livonia Bentley" is an insult to the prestige of our Alma Mater. Please do not think that we are not also proud to be a part of Livonia, but we think that it is necessary to indicate that Bentley High School is in Livonia, it can be done in a better manner than trying to change the name of our school.

All this I say because "We're from Bentley, couldn't be prouder."

Sincerely yours,
For the Board of Directors,
Ohio S. Kipper '50,
President

(Editor's Note: We're awaiting the day when the big game of the year is Bentley vs. Franklin — Livonia Franklin, that is.)

In the race for education If Junior falls behind. It's no cause for meditation. Just release it from your mind.

If Junior seems encumbered. With the rigors of third grade. Teach him to bat five hundred. And Junior's got it made. If Junior's height goes out of sight. Somewhere near eight feet tall. They'll make a grad, out of the Lad. If he's good at basketball. Who makes one hundred thousand. For the labor of one night. The Professor in the classroom. Or our Junior in one fight? Often Asked Questions On Social Security

For the benefit of our readers, Harry Baltuck, Manager of the Detroit-Northwest Social Security Office, answers some of the questions most frequently asked about Social Security.

Q. I am 42 years old and became disabled about seven months ago. Do I have to wait until I am 50 before I can apply for disability insurance benefits?

A. No. You should contact your nearest social security district office now and file your claim. If it is determined you are eligible, your benefits can be payable to you regardless of your age. Under the 1960 amendments, a disabled worker need not wait until he is 50 to collect disability payments.

Q. I was once told I had not worked long enough to qualify for social security benefits. Has there been any change in the amount of work required?

A. The amount of work required to get benefits has been reduced by one-third. Anyone who has been told in the past that he did not have enough work under social security to qualify for payments should get in touch with his social security office now to see if he is eligible under the change in the law. However, there has been no change in the minimum requirement of 1 1/2 years work under social security.

Q. I am a widow and receive social security benefits for myself and two minor children. I have a part time job but do not earn more than $100 a month. My employer would like me to work more hours in 1961, which would mean that I would earn more money. How would that affect my family's benefits?

A. If you earn $1,200 or less you get all your benefits. However, your benefits for the year may be reduced by $1 for each $2 that you earn between $1,200 and $1,500. Also, for every $1 that your earnings go above $1,500, your benefits may be reduced by $1. Regardless of your total earnings for the year, you will not lose any benefits for months in which you neither earn wages of more than $100 nor work in self-employment.

Q. Can I qualify for any benefits under the Social Security Act based on the earnings of a worker who died before 1940?

A. Under the recent changes to the Social Security Act, widows 62 and over, aged dependent parents and children with severe disabilities (that began before their 18th birthday) of any worker who died after March 31, 1938, and before January 1, 1940 may now qualify for monthly payments. The worker must have worked under social security for at least a year and a half. If you believe you may be eligible, get in touch with your social security office as soon as possible.

Q. I have been a clergyman for many years but have never taken any action to be covered by the social security program. Is there a time limit under which I must act?

A. There is. All clergymen have until April 15, 1962 to secure social security coverage by filing a waiver certificate (Form 2031) with the Internal Revenue Service. Generally speaking, only new clergymen may elect coverage after that date, and they must file Form 2031 within two years of entering the ministry.

Q. How can I get a brief printed explanation of the latest changes to the Social Security Act?

A. Write or telephone your social security office at 18500 Grand River Avenue, Detroit. Telephone BR 3-1717.

Evans Shoots for Bigger Share Of Market at American Toy Fair

A Plymouth manufacturer has become one of the largest producers of wheel toys in the United States.

The firm is the Evans Products Co. of Plymouth. Its seven-year-old wheel goods division will show a greatly expanded line of toys at the American Toy Fair which opened Monday in New York City.

Following a year in which sales of the company's wheel goods broke all previous records, the division will show its new line of Evans bicycles, velocipedes and speciality wheel vehicles. Also shown will be entirely new toy group of metal wagons, wood stake body wagons, two and four wheel scooters, and wheelbarrows. In addition, the display will include a child's table and chair set.

Highlight of Evans' three showroom exhibit at the Sheraton-Atlantic Hotel will be a good example of the thinking which has helped the new division in the sales race. It is a new, super version of the Evans Sky-Kar 880, a chain driven sidewalk racing car for children that has created something of a sensation in the nation's toy business for the past six months.

This streamlined addition to the Evans wheel goods line features a cleverly designed ball bearing racing clutch which permits the child to pedal forward or in reverse, or to coast in neutral. The steering post and seat are adjustable. The colorful miniature cars have tubular steel frames and roll on four heavy duty rubber tires.

Reception of the Sky-Kar and other novel wheel toys by dealers throughout the U.S. contributed greatly to the division's hard won multi-million dollar sales record in 1960, set despite tough competition from national and international firms.

Evans strongly promoted the Sky-Kar in cooperation with dealers, setting up time trials at major shopping centers. Sky-Kars were distributed as prizes to boys or girls covering the race course in the fastest time.

In 1954, Evans, already a world leader in the production of railroad loading equipment and one of the largest U.S. producers in the United States, acquired the bicycle business of an Ohio manufacturer, moving all the production equipment to Evans' Plymouth plant.

In a short time, Evans moved from last place in the bicycle industry into the ranks of the two or three leaders. The company now produces a varied line of unusually colorful precision-made bicycles which have a strong automotive styling flair, a result of styling counsel by noted designer Harley Earl, when Evans first entered the business.

Three years ago, following sales successes with a highly-styled bicycle, manufacturing of most of the wheel toys was transferred to a new Evans plant at West Branch, Mich., and Evans became the town's largest employer. Bicycle production remained at Plymouth.

Georges Faurie, Evans president who travels coast-to-coast for the consumer division, points to the $400,000-er division, points to the field in which Evans most certainly has room to expand.

Faurie says Evans, with its headquarters near the auto capital, has a built-in advantage in the wheel goods field. He credits sales growth to the company's automotive production techniques, automotive styling, and automotive type promotion.

Like the automobile manufacturers, Evans doesn't hesitate to mix in a little aircraft styling and language and this formula has proved successful with airplane-type bicycle headlights called "Twin Flite-Lites," which with a name like Matador, Constellation, and Sky-Cycle, are calculated to appeal to adult toy merchandisers as well as to children.

Trying out the newest sales success recipe at the Toy Fair in New York with Faurie will be Evans executives Ken Rathke, heel goods division sales manager; William Prisk, assistant wheel goods sales manager; Sam Hudson, advertising and public relations director; and sales managers from 20 regions across the United States.

They will be shooting for a bigger piece of the toy market and trying to increase the division's portion of Evans' total sales which went over $84,000,000 for 1959 to put the 46-year-old company up among the nation's top 500 companies.

County Tax Chief Answers Pointed Questions

(Most communities in this area have been wrestling with the subject of tax reassessment of real and personal property. The general attitude among most residents is one of wariness; if assessments go up, then what? Isn't that automatically higher taxes?)

(Livonia recently reassessed. At the same time it asked the Wayne County Director of Taxation, Albert E. Champney, to answer some pointed questions as to possible pitfalls.)

(His answers follow here. They apply in most instances equally to any community reassessing. The Editor.)

QUESTION 1.
After reassessment, according to state and county standards, should there be an appeal to the State Tax Commission (such as the recent Kroger Appeal) and should this appeal result in a substantial reduction, what effect would this have upon the total assessment of all property within Livonia? In other words, would the county equalized value be adjusted to be consistent with such decisions of the State Tax Commission, or would there be an attempt to again equalize our city?

ANSWER:
The question assumes, erroneously, I believe, that grounds for appeals (such as the Kroger appeal) would continue to exist after the reassessment. The very purpose of the reassessment is to eliminate relative inequalities which provided the basis for the Kroger appeal. As a matter of fact the representative of the Kroger Company advised the Board of Review that no appeal would be taken to the State Tax Commission if the reassessment values were accepted. The reassessment provides the city with the best insurance I know of against the problems of this kind of adverse decision by the State Tax Commission. There is no provision in the tax law for adjusting equalized values to accommodate for decisions of the State Tax Commission on individual appeals made subsequent to the finalization of equalized values.

QUESTION 2.
In the event the valuation of certain parcels of property is reduced through hearings before our local Board of Appeals and such reductions are supported by competent evidence and facts and are not the result of any political consideration, would the county equalized value be adjusted and reduced consistent with the determinations of our local Board of Review? In other words, would your office recognize the decisions of our local Board of Review in the event these decisions are not based on politics but are based on sound reasoning and facts?

ANSWER:
Appropriate decisions of the local Board of Review will be given full recognition in the county review of values for the purpose of equalization. If the Board of Review, acting within its statutory powers, adheres to the basic value-standards adopted by the assessor in the preparation of his roll, then the total local assessment roll as approved by the Board of Review should be accepted as the county equalized value.

QUESTION 3.
If the current reassessment program is designed to eliminate equalization, by immediately applying to all of our property the same county and state standards which previously produced the equalization, what will be the result of the reassessment in comparison with the equalized value? In other words, will the total value of our properties as reassessed then be exactly the same as the equalized value? Logically, it would seem that this would be the case in view of the fact that our reassessment program utilizes the same standards that theoretically resulted in the county equalized value. If there is going to be any difference between the total result of the reassessment and such county equalized value, we want to know right now and if so, why.

ANSWER:
The total equalized value of the city will be the same adopted or not. If the reassessment is adopted, the total of the assessment roll, as approved by the local board of review, will become the county equalized value. It is not the purpose of the reassessment program to eliminate the tax base. The sole purpose of the reassessment is to apportion values ratably among the individual taxable properties in the community. Each property should pay taxes in direct proportion to the share of total value represented by such property.

QUESTION 4.
Prior to deciding upon reassessment, we were led to believe that most of the equalization imposed upon Livonia resulted from under assessment of land; that some of the older buildings (assessed under obsolete standards) would be increased through reassessment; that there would be little change on the new buildings because of the fact that they have been supposedly assessed under existing county standards; and that the end result on the total tax to the average home owner, living on the average 80 foot lot, would indicate a slight increase in the same tax with a savings over what had been the amount they were previously paying. Will the reassessment bear out this understanding or is it possible that the average home owner will end up paying more taxes after reassessment than he was paying before the reassessment and when we still had equalization? These are facts that the Council and myself would like to know immediately.

ANSWER:
It is not reasonably practicable to anticipate the results of a reappraisal of many thousands of individual items of property, all of which have been subjected, in varying degrees, to rapidly changing value influences. And, of course, it is always hazardous and frequently misleading to attempt to project results in terms of an "average" which exists only statistically. The total local tax rate in the Livonia School District for the year 1960 was $62.27. A local tax rate of $47.08 would produce the same taxes on the proposed reassessed values. It therefore appears that a home, or any other property, which was not increased to more than 131 per cent of its last year's assessed value would receive no increase in taxes as a result of the reassessment. I believe that a very substantial number of homes, particularly those on modest sized lots, will experience no tax increase and many will be decreased in tax levies as held at the same level. Each property will pay its proportionate share of whatever taxes are levied — no more and no less.

QUESTION 5.
What will be your policy in dealing with hundreds of small acreage parcels (in excess of four or five) including so-called pencil strips or irregular pieces of land, which may be occupied by senior citizens or retirees; on which there may exist very moderate or even substandard homes which have not been improved by sanitary sewers, storm sewers, or paved streets; which may be used mainly as garden plots; and which cannot under our city ordinance and regulations be subdivided and marketed in the same manner as many subdivisions throughout the city. Are you going to realistically and fairly consider the actual available use and market value of these properties, and will you recognize reasonable decisions of our Board of Review in relief to these parcels as long as we adopt an overall policy applicable to all parcels similarly situated and as long as there are no politics involved? In other words, are you going to recognize the existing facts and circumstances in reasonably determining the market value of these small acreage parcels or will we have to contend with some harsh disposition of these items based upon unrealistic standards and not reflected by current market conditions?

ANSWER:
Assessment policy is clearly defined in the Constitution and the tax laws of this state as interpreted by our courts — namely, that all properties subject to the property tax shall be uniformly valued in proportion to the cash value of such properties. The assessments of the class of properties mentioned here should be determined, like those of all other taxable properties, solely on the basis of the facts of current market value. A proper determination of market value must be derived from a careful consideration of such factors as the size and shape of parcels, availability of sewer and other facilities, the size, quality and condition of buildings, a licable restrictions on use of property, and all other factors which directly affect market value.

The tax laws of this state do not authorize assessing officers to provide special consideration for any group or class of taxpayers based upon the age of the property owner, the particular use to which the property is put or to any other factor which does not affect the market value of the property. The law, however, does expressly provide that there may be exemption from taxation "the real and personal property of persons who in the opinion of the supervisor (or assessor) and board of review, by reason of poverty, are unable to contribute towards the public charges." (See Sec. 7 of Act 206 of the Public Acts of 1893, M.S.A. 7.7) Thus the assessor and the board of review of each assessing district, acting jointly are permitted by express statutory provision to exempt from taxation the property of individual property owners whose financial circumstances are such that it is unreasonable to expect them to contribute ratably to the public charges. The procedure in such cases is that the property in question is valued by the assessing officer in the same manner and in accordance with the same standards applied to the valuation of all other properties in the community. If the board of review and assessing officer agree that an exemption is to be allowed, the decision is entered opposite the listing of the property in the assessment roll on the board of review column.

Civic Chorus Seeks Singers For 'Requiem'

The Plymouth Civic Chorus is inviting all interested singers to join in the presentation of the "Requiem" by Giuseppe Verdi.

Rehearsals are held each Monday night from 7:30 to 9 in Room A-4 in Plymouth High School. Performance is scheduled for Sunday, April 16 with the Plymouth Civic Chorus, soloists and the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra conducted by Wayne Dunlap, taking part.

Any person that desires to sing is welcome to join in the preparation of the music, according to director Fred Nelson. "Verdi has a cheived fame as an operatic composer and so it is natural that this music should bring joy to the hearts of anyone that obtains satisfaction in the production of a full-toned choral line of music," Nelson added.

Al Murdock is director of the light-hearted story and Rosemary Koolman is producer. The cast of characters includes:

Tracy Lord, in her twenties, rich and lovely.

George Kittredge, 32 years old, from the "other side of the tracks" and in love with Tracy and her money.

Dexter Haven, 28, Tracy's first husband.

Margaret Lord, 47, Tracy's mother.

Seth: tall, handsome and suave, 57 years old, who returns to be present at the wedding.

Dinah, a 15-year-old, who is a tomboy kid sister trying to be a young lady.

Sandy Lord, Tracy's brother, 25, a free lance writer.

Mike Conner, 37, who has been assigned to write about the wedding.

Robert Daley placed fifth with a 4:25.1. Plymouth failed to place in the next two events, the 50 yard free style and the 100 yard butterfly. The first indication of an upturn in Plymouth fortunes came when Gretzinger tied Babcock for second in the next event, the 200 yard free style. Ron Daley, Robert's twin brother, was fifth.

In the 100 yard backstroke Dick Michaels was second with a superb 59.2 effort. This was followed by Bender's best performance in the 100 yard breaststroke.

Redford Union's Bob Truesdale set a new state record in the preliminaries in this event, winning it in 1:05.6, but had to settle for a second in the finals although he was clocked in at the same time as the winner. This gives you some idea how tough the competition was. Pontiac Northern's Bruce Norville was awarded the victory. Both boys share a new state record of 1:05.3 in the finals.

Let's keep things going in the right direction with his great third place finish in the 100 yard free-style and Nick Herrick followed by scoring 251.2 points in the diving, which was good for a fourth.

Gretzinger set his record in the 200 individual medley and Plymouth fans and Coach McFall began to get the message that Plymouth was to be State Champions.

The medley relay team placed second with a 1:45.5, missing first by three-tenths of a second to Jackson. Dick Michaels, Phil Bender, Nick Herrick and Jim Iselt powered the performance in this event.

In the final event, the free style relay, Ron Daley, Gary Gould, Bill Britcher and Bob Daley each had a share of an effort that was good for fourth. They were timed in 1:34.4 and it is interesting to note that this effort would have won the state event last year.

McFall, nursing a terrific cold, said that "Plymouth fans will probably never know how much they helped us. The place was packed with our fans and they cheered us and brought the boys home... they just pulled us in..."

The Books reciprocated. They brought the trophy home.

Mr. Cutler Clarifies Liquor License History

A report to the City Commission last week concerning the history of liquor licenses in the City was clarified this week.

It had been reported that the City Commission in 1951 had voted not to approve the license of the Anderine Hotel. This action is recorded in the minutes of Nov. 5, 1951.

However, city officials reported this week that the denial was in the form of mutual consent. The original owner of the bar had died and another member of the family was ill, so they didn't want to bother with the bar trade, a member of the Sambre family pointed out this week. The license was turned into the state of their own volition, they added.

This left two licenses in the City for beer and wine sales by the glass. Later the license was picked up by another establishment and the City Commission last week voted to continue the three license limit although the City is entitled to six.

Mr. Cutler and his wife, Winifred, observed their golden wedding anniversary on Aug. 14, 1957 with a reception at Greenfield Village.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cutler were semi-professional artists and devoted a room in their home to a studio. Some of Mr. Cutler's paintings are hung in the Hotel Mayflower.

Mr. Cutler was born Aug. 12, 1882 in London, Ont. to James and Lillie (Long) Cutler. Surviving are his wife, Winifred Hyde Cutler; three sons, E. Malcolm and Alfred W. Cutler of Detroit, and J. Rusing Cutler of Plymouth; two daughters, Mrs. Sarah C. Moreno of Plymouth and Mrs. Winifred Hamilton of Bloomfield Hills; and 11 grandchildren.

He was a member of First United Presbyterian Church and was a former elder. He also was a member of the I.O.F. of London, Ont. and the S.A.R.

Pallbearers were George Bird, William Distin, David Glick, Kenneth Metcalf, Edsel Rintala and Minor W. Thomas, members of the Greenfield Village staff. Interment was in Riverside Cemetery.

Look to Necklines

Designers give an enormous play to the no-collar look. There are cardigan necklines, stand-up ring collars, flat band collars. In the cases where a genuine collar appears, it's apt to be a cowl or a cape effect. More conventional notched collars stand away from the throat, leaving space for scarves or jewelry.

With simplicity the rule in styling, color gets a chance to glow, and glow it does, in bushels of strawberry pinks, purple violets, tany lemons—greens, turquoise, orange too.

Girl Scout News

Girl Scouts and Brownies from Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church attended a holy hour in Detroit Sunday afternoon. Fifty-seven girls and their leaders made the trip by bus to the University of Detroit field house. Along with 4,000 other Girl Scouts of America, they offered an hour of their time in public adoration of God.

The theme of the sermon delivered was that the girl of yesterday, today, and tomorrow is the same in numerous ways, different in certain ways also. Sameness in morality in presentation of faith was stressed in the girl of 1936, 1961, 1966.

Symphony Features

Mr. Adams was a protege of Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra. Later studies were pursued with Jacques Gordon of Chicago and Ilya Schliknik, former concertmaster of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra.

The Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in G Minor, Opus 28" was first conceived by Max Bruch in 1857 when he was only 19 years old, but not until 1866 was this work actually completed. The composer, apparently not satisfied, sent the score to the great violinist, Joseph Joachim, who submitted a lengthy list of recommended changes which Bruch accepted... the revised G Minor Concerto was dedicated to Joachim and remains one of the standard works in almost every violinist's repertoire.

Conductor Wayne Dunlap has planned a diversified program for this fifth concert of the 1960-61 season. In addition to the featured "Concerto in G Minor," "The Overture, Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart, "Street Corner Music" by Rawsthorne, "Bachianas Brazileras" by Villa Lobos, and suite from "Der Rosenkavalier" by Richard Strauss will be played.

"The Marriage of Figaro," a comic opera, was written in 1786 by Wolfgang Mozart, with libretto by the poet Lorenzo da Ponte. The opera was based on Beaumarchais' comedy "Le Marriage de Figaro" and produced for the first time in Vienna in the same year. The Overture of this comedy will be the first selection of the afternoon.

"Street Corner Music" by contemporary composer Alan Rawsthorne (b. 1905 in Hastings, England), creating music marked by an astringent lyricism and freedom of tonality.

Mr. Dunlap has included once again a composition by Brazil's Heitor Villa Lobos. Villa Lobos' ability to portray Brazilian folk music will make "Bachianas Brazileras" a popular addition to the program. It is composed in the "spirit of Bach" because Villa Lobos considers Bach a "universal and rich folkloristic source, deeply rooted in the folk music of every country in the world."

The final presentation will be the Suite from "Der Rosenkavalier" by Richard Strauss. Strauss' most charming opera, introduced in 1911, it is created in his most engaging vein... witty, lyrical, and poignant. Eager to write a comic opera in the nature of "Die Fledermaus," Strauss wanted to write a score that was tender, ironic, burlesque and passionate.

The final concert of the current season will be presented by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra on Sunday, April 16. "The Romeo and Juliet Dramatic Symphony, Opus 17" by Berlioz will be presented.

announced that the Salvation Army was collecting clothing and within hours clothing started pouring in.

One family was placed in the Mayflower Hotel that night and the Anderine Hotel took care of several others. Capt. Cunard reports that assistance has now been given nine families and that others still haven't been located. New clothing has been supplied several people in addition to the used clothing supplied by citizens.

"There is still a need for good, used clothing," Capt. Cunard reports, "along with bedding, canned goods and staple foods."

One woman resident reported buying $36 worth of groceries the day before. She carried $15 worth of meat outside as the fire broke out and put it on the ground. A few minutes later she returned and found it gone.

The Plymouth Ministerial Association has donated $100 toward helping those in need and Plymouth Rotary Club last Friday collected $85 that will be given through the Rotary Foundation.

In addition, money donated through the Community Fund to the Salvation Army will be put to work. The Red Cross and Welfare Dept. have also offered their services.

Occupants paid between $15 to $17 a week for rental of the furnished apartments, Capt. Cunard said.

Director of Public Safety Kenneth Fisher said that the cause of the fire has not yet been determined. The fire started in the north end of the building.

COTTON RECORD
HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The Houston Cotton Exchange reported recently that exports during the 1959-60 season ending July 31 were at a 20-year high of 1,233,934 bales. Of 51 foreign countries, Japan was the biggest customer for Southwest cotton, buying 238,217 bales.

DON'T MISS WONDERLAND'S STORY-BOOK EASTER ATTRACTIONS — MARCH 15 - APRIL 1

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

To "something old, something new," add "something different" for the bride who chooses her wedding gown in an unusual fabric such as linen, and in a style that reflects the latest trends.

VARIETY OF SUITS

Suits are outstanding for their variety, offering jackets in every length from bolero to tunic, and skirts slim, pleated or softly gathered. Fit is usually easy and graceful.

TAKE TEXTURE

Textured fabrics contribute to the important look of spring handbags. Softly rounded or tall and slim bags are shaped from bur-lap, homespun and tapestries with raised stitching.

Flexible Fashions Take Subtle Approach to Spring

The now look in fashion is one-shoulder dresses express not a new look — yet it looks new. To achieve this seeming paradox, designers have refined upon favorite silhouettes, handled trimmings with abandon, made full use of the increasing beauty and variety of fabrics, and developed to the most flattering degree the subtle approach to fashion.

Women will find a satisfying spring selection of the styles they prefer. The guiding theme is relaxed ease — fit is a matter of a tender caress, not a hug. Freeswinging pleats, flowing bias cuts, long and pliant over-blouses, gentle blousing, unconfined and lowered waistlines, casual tie-sashes contribute to the flexible look.

Silhouettes evolve from these and other influences present in fashions of recent seasons, but the fresh interpretations of dresses, coats, suits and separates that result are unmistakably spring '61.

Probably the leading factor in the exciting spring of fashion is the striking use of color. While navy, black, beige and gray will certainly command their share of attention, and white is important, they must compete with the challenge of pink, yellow, lilac, strawberry and practically every color in the paint-box.

Pinks Are Many

Prediction is that the family of pinks may attain the wide acceptance that fall and winter awarded to the purples. Two or more colors combined in one outfit make an attractive impact on fashion.

"Collarless and sleeveless" is the motif for a wide variety of styles. The effect is youthful, artfully simple.

When sleeves are present, they're apt to be shorter — sometimes above-elbow for suits and coats. Collars, if any, tend to be either narrow, as in the case of flat or stand-up band collars, or exceptionally graceful — softly draped cowls or cape shapes, for example.

The asymmetrical aspect of fashion provides further spring refreshment. Side closings, off-center buttons, and other trims, side-wrapped skirts, surplice necklines and isone-shoulder dresses express this trend.

Skirts Take Fullness

Along with the easing-up movement of silhouettes comes increased fullness for many skirts. In addition to pleats and bias cuts, there are gathers and gores, tiers, and flounces, and some all-out bouffants.

Newest way to ease the skirt is to divide it. Fall and winter experiences and experiments determined designers to give the culotte more scope.

It's prevalent in sportswear, lingerie, loungewear. The woman with fashion daring will find cleverly designed suits and dresses with divided skirts for street wear.

Best news here is that the good cut and tailoring essential to giving culottes a really skirt-like appearance, along with the comfort of pants, is now present in modestly-priced styles.

Costume look continues strong, and stronger. Suits with their own coats and dresses with jackets appear.

Colors, Fabrics Contrast

Newness comes with the departure from precise matching. Colors and fabrics often contrast — a bright coat with a sleeveless white dress, for example, or a suit in which jacket, blouse and skirt are all of different hues.

"All season" is a term frequently applied to the new spring clothes. With air conditioning, central heating and travel in mind, designers have planned apparel appropriate to any climate, locality or season.

This is reflected in fabrics — more silks, cottons and blends, lightweight wools. The textures are diverse — fleecy, lacy, nubbed, ribbed, spongy, crisp, polished. Knits gain importance in shaping the supple silhouette.

Variety Is Spice Of Fashions Afoot For Young Spring

Color is the spark that kindles a blaze of excitement in spring fashion. Strawberry pink, lemon yellow, poppy red, brilliant blue, vivid turquoise, spicy green, pungent orange, glowing gold, blooming lilac — if it's in the spectrum, it's a fashionable color this season.

Perhaps a slight edge goes to the many shades of vibrant pink, but colors of all kinds are abundantly available.

Since simplicity keynotes the subtle spring styles, a woman can, by indulging her own tastes in the selection of color, give her wardrobe both individuality and fashion.

Colors are both hot and cool. There are plenty of pastels, but usually they're clear rather than misty.

The neutrals — black, navy, gray, beige, white — look newest when mingled with color. Bright coats go over dark sheaths: flowered silk coats cover navy or black dresses. Three-piece ensembles often feature over-blouses in vivid prints or contrasting solids.

Free-wheeling color combinations are part of the news — pink with turquoise or orange with lilac, for example. Hot colors blaze in bold checks, "crazy" stripes light up prints.

Pleats, gathers, gores shape more free-flowing skirts.

Wide Variety of Styles, Weights, Patterns Sparks Men's Wear for Spring

Men's business clothes for spring fall into three big divisions of constructions and weights, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear, and there are at least six or seven overlapping styles from which to choose.

Never before has it been so easy for the average man to find exactly the right type and style of suit to meet his needs. For example, consider the three basic weights. In most sections of the country the weather from early spring until well into May is still quite chilly, but warmer than wintery. Thus, for the early spring season we find a relatively new fabric category called "midweights." These are not as heavy as winter weights nor are they as light as summer weights. As we move into late spring and early summer, tropical weights are the choice of a businessman seeking comfort plus crisp appearance. These fabrics may be blends of worsted with man-made fibers, all-tropical worsteds, blends of mohair or silk with worsted, or all-silks for the fellow seeking a touch of luxury.

However, few summer garments managed to withstand the clammy discomfort of the hot humid weather of midsummer or the rigors of summer travel until new featherweight suitings came along. Among the favorite featherweights are the increasingly popular washweaves. These three basic weights and types come in a wonderful world of colors and patterns. Soft olive shades continue to be among the most wanted, while medium to dark grays, dressy blacks, medium grayed-tans, browns and the always popular navy blues are runner-up favorites. Plaids, checks and stripes with neat self-weave patterns and plain hopsack-type weaves. The suiting patterns are a bit bolder than they have been in the recent past. As for styling, suit silhouettes are trim, jackets are a mite shorter and the lines are easy and flattering. American Continental models have been modified, and are not quite as short or as rounded as they were a season ago. The more drastically modified Continentals are called "Trans-Americans."

The new familiar classic natural-shoulder Ivy models are still high up on the fashion list and have actually added new friends with their trim, easy fitting lines as easy season goes by. However, some former Ivy gimmicks such as back-strapped trousers and lapseams on business suits, are gone from the scene. Those who prefer the tailored look go for the California-inspired American "Ambassador" model. This has a little more accent of shoulder line which, combined with its easy-fitting body, gives a flattering line to the mature male figure.

Sportswear Styled With British Accent

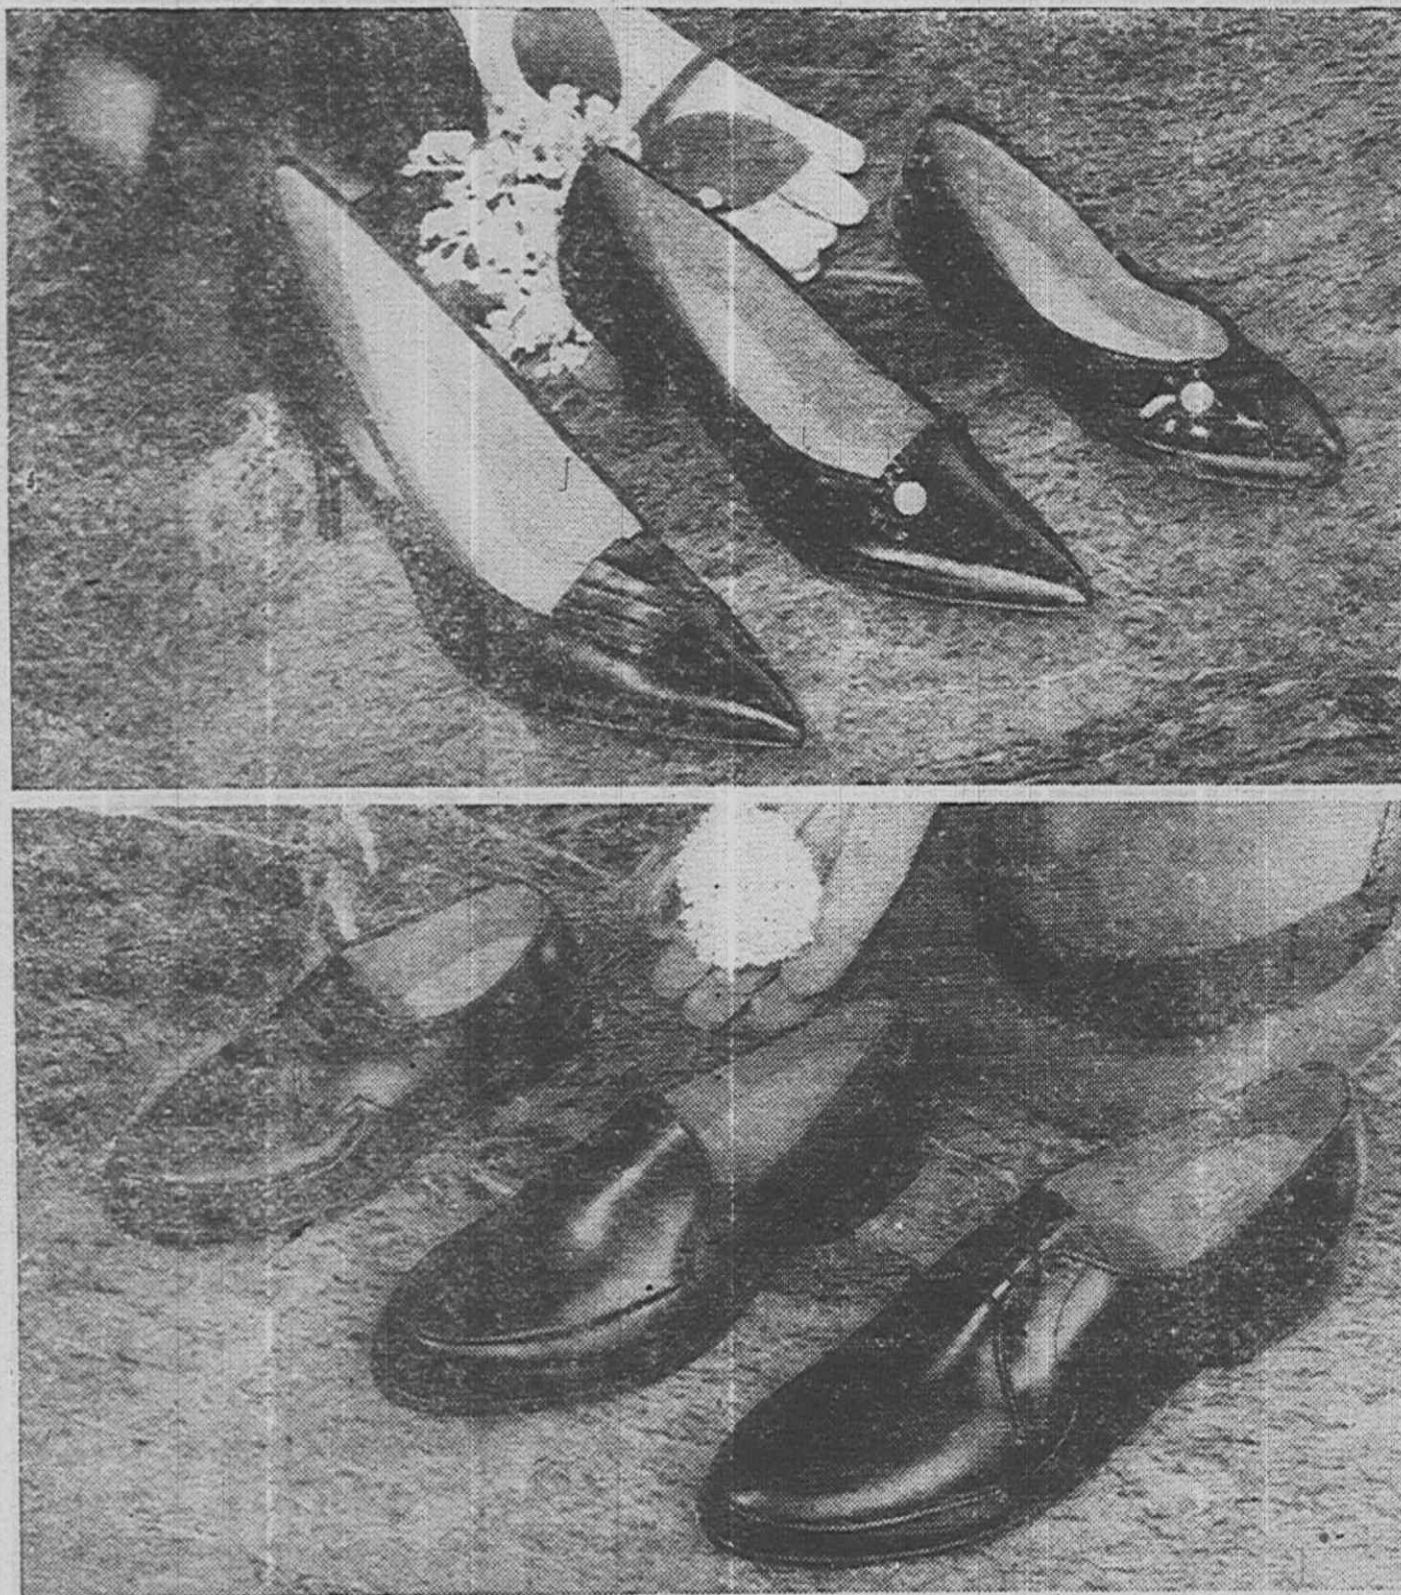

Men's sportswear styling for spring speaks with a definite "British Accent." This new look will give men the handsome traditional outdoor look they prefer yet with a more sophisticated expression than that found in the youthful Ivy models. In patterns the British classics take a leading role with race-track plaids, a plaid checks. Other designs take their cue from "Country of Wealth" fabrics such as batik prints and India madras. Heather tones keyed to the English moors, British blue, desert tones, rusts, camels and, of course, a continuation of the currently popular olive and gold shades—these are among the outstanding colors.

The entire wash-wear concept shows further gains in all sportswear. New technical advances in both fabrics and constructions give the washweaves an increased performance factor. Variety of Styles Spring sport shirts reach new heights in variety of styling. In addition to new British types, there are Ivy versions and a new group of updated Continentals. Pull-over models in cut-and-sewn shirts are again among the top favorites. They boast many types of collar styles, too. New in the pullovers are lowered pockets, a variety of lengths and some with tapering bodies. Jacket-shirts are making a comeback—mostly in heavier fabrics and in solid colors. Many are coordinated with walk shorts, slacks and swim trunks. Look for the new "scarf prints" on silk and silk-look fabrics, glen plaids, checks and a return to new looking stripes. Shirt fabrics include homespun or burlap type weaves, tight meshes, linen-type and tone-on-tone weaves. Watch for more bright solid colors, too. Knit shirts, for active as well as spectator sports, have a firmly established niche in the spring picture. Some of the newest have sweater details, others have varied knits, new collar detailing, new shoulders and new neck closure details.

Spring Sportcoats The British Accent in spring sport coats is adapted from the hacking jacket with its natural, easy fitting shoulders, slightly indented waistline and its slightly flared skirt. Some have side vents; others, center vents. Ivy-type jackets, being classic in design, have few, if any, changes in line. However, bolder, brighter patterns will be worn and these will be supplemented by the solid-color flannel blazers. Continental sports jackets are showing the more modified lines of the Trans-American concept. Slacks continue to be trim, whether in the plain front styles or the single pleat models. Both self-supporting waistbands and belt loop styles are top fashion.

Washing Tip Knit shirts of durable mercerized cotton are home machine washable. Bleach and bluing are not recommended for colored shirts. A good idea is to follow the washing instructions found inside the shirt.

VIBRANT COLORS

Family of pinks takes the lead in the spring fashion excitement over color. Many other lively shades share the news.

Colorful View Of Spring Taken By Junior Fashions

At this point in fashion, the overblouse, the pleated skirt, the coat and dress ensemble and the knit dress all sound like classic wardrobe staples. But, as seen in junior and young junior spring collections, they certainly don't look like it.

These "basics" are styled with dash and colored with verve, for an entirely new, this-season air. Add to them the many novel ideas in junior styling, and a picture emerges, of fashions as lively and forward-looking as the young set members who will wear them.

Ease Takes Lead
Relaxed ease, simplicity and good taste take the lead in true spring '61 style, but there's lots of variety.

Sometimes, for instance, the junior look is, "smart, young career girl." Suits and dresses for day come in men's-wear-like fabrics. There are classic glen plaids, herringbone tweeds, houndstooth checks. Pleats ripple, jackets are short—longer when there's an overblouse in the picture.

From afternoon on this look turns to soft crepe dresses, for feminine, young sophistication.

Look Is Spanish
At other times, the junior look is distinctly Spanish. Fashions boast capes, boleros, ball fringe.

For juniors of every age are shift dresses—fluid, figure-following, often ending in a low burst of pleats. The shift is seen in knit, with contrasting colors for a relaxed long-line look.

Alertness of juniors to new fashion trends, and their eagerness to try new fashions, means that they get an ample share of the news, attractively presented.

Highlights of News
Some of the highlights are: culottes, in "knee-ticker" to street length; "off-center" styling, including diagonal stripes, dresses that bare one shoulder, side closings and surplice necklines; bias cut dresses; color and fabric combinations; two-piece effects in one-piece dresses; sleeveless and collarless styling.

Junior fashions enter the color derby with pink, orange, turquoise, apricot, lilac, sea green—everything!

COLOR IN BLOCKS
Bold blocks of contrasting colors in one garment look new. This is favorite spring treatment for navy and white, black and white.

THEY'RE OFF CENTER
Asymmetrical effects are noted in new-for-spring styles. To create these effects, off-center buttoning or trims, surplice necklines and diagonal stripes are used.

COLLARLESS LOOK
Many fashions abandon collars altogether; others have band or ring collars. For contrast, there are ultra-wide collars.

Composition Played

One of the compositions played at the University of Texas' 10th Southwestern Symposium of Contemporary American Music will be by Grant Beglarian, formerly of Plymouth.

The symposium will feature 33 original compositions by 27 American composers. Beglarian's work is "First Portrait for Band." The Beglarians, who lived on Maple St., moved to the New York area last year where Mr. Beglarian began work for a publishing firm.

The Writing of the Green

At the risk of irritating any Englishmen in the congregation — a risk we seldom mind running around the 17th of March — we will mention that a good share of what is so generously called "English" literature has been written by Irishmen.

We won't dwell on the past — on Swift or Shaw or James Joyce or Oscar Wilde. But among the current crop of lesser known Irish fictioneers there are several you may find interesting.

There is, for instance, Honor Tracy, a lady bent on proving the truth of Samuel Johnson's remark, "The Irish are a fair people; they never speak well of one another."

Miss Tracy is a wit and a satirist. Instead of aiming her artillery at the accursed English, however, she has declared Waugh on her own countrymen. The Prospects are Pleasing, typical of her novels, tells of Tommy O'Driscoll, a young Gaelic goof whose patriotism outruns his intelligence. The Irish Revolutionary Army sends Tommy on a secret mission to London; object: to steal a valuable painting. The events that follow are outlandish and funny; Miss Tracy's satire spares nothing that the professional Irishman holds dear. The fervent Irish nationalists are presented as zealous bunglers with shamrocks in their heads; that this can be done by an Irish writer may be a sign of maturity.

Una Troy is another Irishwoman who sees life through comic lenses. Less acid than Miss Tracy but equally amusing she concerns herself with the foibles of human nature found in Irish villages. Last year's The Graces of Ballykeen deals with a crisis created when the ancient village workhouse gets down to its last patient—and she is 104 years old. Sisters Peter and Paul who have run the workhouse for years have no desire to close it down although their superiors have ordered them to do so. How they work out a happy solution makes a lively tale.

Not all Irish novelists, of course, concentrate on the humorous. The Choice by Michael McLaverty tells of Tom Magee, an elderly widower of charm and integrity whose heart's desire is to return to the village of his youth. The book begins as a quiet story of Irish life but when Tom returns to his native village, violence and tragedy stalk him. The Choice is a sad moving novel with a real feeling for its Irish rural setting and a great compassion for a good man beset by sorrows.

Among the younger novelists perhaps the most forceful is Brian Moore. Moore's first novel, published five years ago and now being readied for the stage, is The Lonely Passion of Judith Hearne. Set in Belfast—a city pictured as almost too grim to sustain human life—the story concerns a colorless, untalented spinster whose first 40 years have been painfully unsuccessful and whose future appears even drearier because she no longer dares even hope. The Lonely Passion of Judith Hearne may be too unpleasant for some readers but it is surely one of the most terrible studies of a human being alone that you are likely to encounter.

Ireland has other first-rate writers today, some famous, some not. The people of this small island, so out of the main stream of events in many ways, have always had a way with words and emotions. Perhaps this is because they hold close to human essentials: tears and tenderness, laughter and a fast left hook.

Plymouth Scouts Take Part in First Aid Meeting

Boy Scouts of four Plymouth Scout troops engaged in a First Aid Meet at the Junior High Gymnasium recently. Participating were Troop 4, sponsored by the First United Presbyterian Church, Troop 6, sponsored by the Plymouth Lions Club, Troop 781, sponsored by Our Lady of Good Counsel Church and Troop 862, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Approximately 100 scouts participated, and several visitors remarked that the scene resembled the aftermath of a serious disaster, as the scouts treated wholly imaginary cases of arterial bleeding, fractures, and third degree burns. The problems were written by the Scoutmasters of the participating troops, Paul Steenken, E. T. Miller, Andrew Hruska, and C. W. Ronk.

Naturalists Speak At Grade Schools

Students in two Plymouth schools will hear lectures presented by Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority naturalists next week.

Rainer Brocke, naturalist, will visit Bird Elementary School in Plymouth on Friday, March 24. He will present lectures concerning pond life and wild animals. The appointment was requested by Mrs. Nancy Tanger, principal.

"Plants and Animals" and "The Coming of Spring" will be the topics presented at Farrand Elementary School in Plymouth on Monday, March 27.

Kindergarten through sixth grade students will hear the lectures to be given by Charles Damm, naturalist. The appointment was requested by Gerald Elston, principal.

PEA To Offer Scholarship

A scholarship for a Plymouth High School graduate preparing for the field of education will be offered this year by the Plymouth Education Association.

The association, composed of Plymouth Community School District teachers, will offer a minimum scholarship of $100 this year and has $200 as a future goal.

Scholarships will be offered to students at the junior or senior college level. Candidates for scholarships will be screened with the help of the counselor's office at the High School.

Candidates must have at least a B average and the scholarships will be outright grants with no replacement strings.

Chevy gentles rough roads with a Jet-smooth ride

Get Air Sport Coupe—one of 30 Jet-smooth beauties awaiting your pleasure at your Chevy dealer's.

See the new Chevrolet cars, Chevy Corsairs and the new Corvette at your local authorized Chevrolet dealer's Presto! Chevrolet changes old roads to new! Does it with a ride so smooth, handling so sure and going so sweet that it's almost magic.

Chevy owes its Jet-smooth ride to some mighty ingenious engineering... things like Full Coil suspension, precision balanced wheels, unique chassis cushioning and a superlatively insulated Body by Fisher. Nor does Chevy's ingenuity stop with ride. Take performance, for instance. County Home Rule Needed In State, U-M Expert Says

The plan for local government in Michigan's 1963 constitution was "never written in terms of the metropolitan-urban-rural conditions confronting Michigan today," So writes Prof. Arthur W. Bromage (Ph.D.) of The University of Michigan Department of Political Science in a revised pamphlet, "The Voter and The Michigan Constitution," published by U-M Institute of Public Administration.

Article VIII on local government "lags behind constitutional thinking of this decade" because of the lack of county home rule and provisions for federated government. But its provisions for municipal home rule are "forward-looking," Bromage notes.

Article VIII, which sets up a "constitutional" form of county government, has led to "a relatively uniform structure throughout Michigan."

Thus county home rule would be one of the most, if not the most, critical issues which a constitutional convention would have to face," Bromage declares.

Amendments to permit either county home rule or legislative authority to provide optional forms of county government were placed on the ballot in 1934, 1936, 1942, and 1944 (the latter two limited to Wayne County), but all were defeated.

Possible constitutional convention actions to allow more flexibility in county organization are: "a constitutional change empowering the state legislature to create optional systems of county government to become effective by local referendum" or "state constitutional home-rule provision" under which the actual devising of new charters rests with the individual counties.

"But to arrive at either system or both, revision of the Michigan Constitution would be required," Bromage explains.

Other key points regarding local government with which a constitutional convention should be concerned, Bromage suggests, are:

Cities and Villages — Michigan turned to municipal home-rule in 1908, thus placing the state in the forefront of the movement, he says.

"Civic energies have been released in charter-drafting and in the referenda on them. Prodigious citizen effort, backed up by technical advice, has streamlined municipal organization, keeping it responsible and responsive to the people," he notes.

However, since many refinements and variations have developed elsewhere since 1908, the delegates to a Michigan constitutional convention "might, in retaining municipal home-rule, seek ways to strengthen it," he suggests.

Metropolitan Areas — The present Michigan constitution contains only two provisions bearing on the metropolitan dilemma. First, a Michigan city having more than 100,000 inhabitants may be organized as a separate county. No such city-county has ever been established in Michigan and "the complication elsewhere in this solution has the continuing scatteration of population beyond the boundaries of any established city-county," Bromage observes.

Second, Michigan Constitution authorizes creation of metropolitan district authorities for the ownership and operation of parks or public utilities. In terms of results, however, this provision "has been far from noteworthy," Bromage says.

These two provisions do not meet present-day thinking pertaining to metropolitan solutions, he continues. It is impossible, for example, to develop "a home-rule, federated county government to assume certain metropolitan functions leaving the cities, villages and townships in the area to maintain the balance of local functions," Bromage points out, adding that "this would be a prime issue for a constitutional convention."

"It has the advantage of relating a multi-purpose metropolitan government to our American traditions of home rule and local self-government, and it will prevent the fragmentation of metropolitan functions into diversified metropolitan districts or authorities," Bromage states.

Township Government — One point that would certainly arise in a convention is "the present limitation of township representation on county boards to one supervisor, regardless of township population," Bromage says.

One possible solution would be "constitutional authorization to permit the legislature to allocate additional representation to the population townships. A better alternative would be home rule which would permit counties to redesign their county boards."

Another question in the development of the urbanized townships would be the governmental organization which home-rule act for cities permits a flexibility in government never achieved under the township law, so long as the legislature must follow the "constitutional" form of township government," Bromage concludes.

The Gowganda mining district of northern Ontario was named from an Indian word meaning "porcupine home."

Survey to Get Underway Soon

A survey of all farms in Wayne County which produce feed grains will get underway in the near future, according to Donald M. Korte, 6434 Beck Rd., chairman, County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The survey is being conducted throughout the "major feed grain producing area" (which includes Wayne County) as an advance step in connection with proposed feed grain programs now under discussion. The proposals would include adjusting the 1961 acreages of corn and other feed grains.

To put such a program into operation for 1961 crops in a manner which would be fair to all growers, accurate data must be obtained immediately for the possible establishment of feed grain base acreages for all farms in the major feed grain producing area. Such information will include the acreage history of corn, grain sorghum, barley and oats, as well as the acreage devoted to other crops and land uses, for all farms in the area where one or more of these feed grains were produced within the past two years.

In other counties — called the "minor" feed grain producing area, such data will be obtained for each feed grain producing farm for which a request is made by the owner or operator of the farm.

Korte explained that it is the intention, as far as possible, for some worker from the County Office to interview each farm operator or owner in Wayne County whose farm has produced feed grains either in 1959 or 1960.

Wall Street was so named because it was adjacent to a wall built at the northern boundary of early New York City. The wall was designed to keep cattle in and Indians out.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

When this reaches our subscribers, less than two weeks will remain before the April 3 election. It is our fervent wish that every voter within earshot acquire a sense of urgency about this particular election during the intervening speeding few days.

Our Spring election is an awkward ducking in many respects, and falling as it does this year right next to Easter, the danger of a light turnout is deepened.

Yet it will be a political tragedy of the first order if the proposal for a Constitutional Convention should fail simply because those in this area (who stand to benefit so much) decline to use their vote.

And—in this reporter's eyes, anyway—it will be a piece of foul fate if a really sparkling lineup of candidates for the State Supreme Court and the governing boards of the State Universities should lose ... only because the citizens were too "busy" to grasp the importance of the moment.

We're talking of the 1961 Republican slate of office-seekers. It is the most radiant and capable group of men which the GOP has ushered before the public for a Spring election in a decade. Every single man is a success in his private profession and a sound, liberal thinker.

More than that, the hour is long past when CIO-Democrats should be permitted to extend their philosophic mastery of the high courts and the determination of university educational policy.

It's a serious matter. To put it in a sentence, the issue is whether we shall affirm our encouragement of individual excellence in Michigan society. Or shall we further embrace the theory that all men should be compressed into a conforming, narrow band on the social gauge?

This observer believes that if we don't return to emphasizing grandeur and to rewarding of individuals in ratio to their ability and achievement, then our State is doomed.

And many will be bitter in heart if the CIO judges and education candidates sneak in because of Republican voter default.

As for the Constitutional Convention, we share the view of Paul Bagwell that the "matter is bigger than party politics" and should be passed in a bipartisan effort to bring common sense to our political machinery.

Bagwell's emergence over the week-end as a spokesman was welcome. Outstate rural Republicans have been "organizing" to block the Convention. Their only reason: they like matters as they exist now.

And the reason they like them that way is that those of us in highly-populated areas are "kept in our place" by a set of old provisions which favor those who reside in lightly-occupied, distant portions of the state.

Every suburban resident knows that he has much higher property assessments than those in the far reaches of the state. All of us should realize that, on a per capita basis, we have much less representation and influence in the legislature than other areas of Michigan. All of us are becoming aware that our costs of local government are shooting upward and that relief from Lansing is impossible today.

These are subjects which properly would be adjusted by a Constitutional Convention. Suburban voters have more to gain than almost anyone else from such a Convention.

They should pour to the polls on April 3 to vote "Yes."

For the University of Michigan governing board, the Republicans this year persuaded James Zeder of Detroit and Paul Goebel of Grand Rapids to run. Both are a lot more than politicians.

Zeder retired as a successful executive. Then he turned to education as a public service, and has worked with several college boards. He heads up the unique and vital Phoenix Project at Michigan which has been a brilliant vanguard unit in the study of atomic energy for peaceful uses.

Goebel has held many high public offices. He is one of the real strong public officials of western Michigan.

The rest of the ticket seems to have been equally carefully picked. John Pingel and Tom Adams both are youthful advertising agency executives who enjoyed meteoric careers in Detroit. Charles Brake is a lifetime educator, head of the County Board of Education. Charles Rogers is a long-time labor mediator who is campaigning on a platform of "shall we continue with our hands-out education philosophy, or return to one of sleeves up?"

Justices Kelly and Dethmers are both well-known incumbents.

One obvious fact is that the Republicans spent a lot of time this year on their selection of candidates, after suffering a long run of defeat at the ballot. We'd like to think the voters will recognize the effort.

Obviously, your editor is in quite a partisan political mood this spring. If an explanation is needed, it is that we're tired of what has been happening to our State in recent years. The hour for change has struck.

But entirely non-partisan is this: If you can't, or won't, go to the polls on April 3, please stop at the Clerk's office and pick up an Absentee Voter's ballot NOW, while there still is time. It only takes a few minutes; and it could affect your future way of life in Michigan.

Things don't have to get better around here before they get worse. There's no guarantee.

FOUR Girl Scout and Brownie troops were presented American flags by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary last week. The presentations were made by Mrs. Betty Neal, left, Americanism chairman, and Mrs. Eileen Williams, president. The troop leaders, from left, are standing

These gloved hands are placing sensitized film on a radioactive piston. This produces a "radio autograph," from which Shell can study the effect of deposits on top performance.

BULLETIN:

Super Shell with 9 ingredients now contains 1 quick-start component; 1 fast warm-up ingredient; 1 mileage booster; 1 anti-knock mix; 2 octane boosters; 1 gum preventive; 1 anti-icer and new improved TCP—to give your car top performance

Read the facts about today's Super Shell. You'll learn why each of its nine ingredients is essential if you want top performance from today's engines.

Engines today are much more finicky than they were even a decade ago. That's why your car needs all of the ingredients in today's Super Shell.

Test drivers, noted for conservative statements, call many recent engines "critical." In fact, some say that you may not know how good your car's engine really is, simply because it is running below peak efficiency. Today's Super Shell is designed to help correct this state of affairs.

Read on to learn exactly how Super Shell helps every car deliver its top performance.

1. The quick-start component in Super Shell is so volatile it's kept underground.

The Butane in Super Shell is like the priming charge in a shotgun shell. Its quick-firing volatility is what gets you started fast on cold days. Butane, in fact, vaporizes so easily that it is kept under pressure—22 million gallons of it—400 feet underground!

Because of Butane, your car can start in a hurry. You save your battery. You don't waste gasoline by pumping raw fuel through your engine before it catches.

2. The fast warm-up ingredient in Super Shell acts like kindling for a fire.

The fast warm-up you get with Super Shell comes from its Pentane mix. Pentanes are "kindling" molecules—split from heavier hydrocarbons.

They release their energy quickly, giving you top cold-weather performance in a hurry.

3. The mileage booster in Super Shell owes its energy to carloads of platinum catalyst.

Shell uses eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst to produce Platformate, the extra-energy, extra-mileage ingredient in today's Super Shell.

The platinum catalyst, which gives the Platformate its name, helps re-form petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene, toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the best 100-octane aviation gasoline.

The super-energy of Platformate is teamed with the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it gives you that welcome extra mileage.

4. The anti-knock mix in Super Shell is so effective that one teaspoonful treats a gallon.

To detect the slightest trace of knock, Shell scientists depend on an astonishing set of instruments. This registers the faintest knocks on a delicate picture tube, and then photographs it with a high-speed camera.

Such data help Shell researchers prescribe an anti-knock mix so effective that one teaspoonful per gallon of gasoline can boost the octane rating 5 full points.

5. & 6. Both octane boosters in Super Shell have a story. One is linked with Jimmy Doolittle.

The other comes from heating petroleum to 900 degrees.

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer the first of these high-octane in-redients for Shell aviation fuel. It is called Alkylate.

Alkylate—which took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the sky—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds far better than anything else yet available.

The second octane-boosting ingredient is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr. This is petroleum that has actually been cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that asserts its authority the moment you put your foot down.

7. The anti-gum ingredient in Super Shell uses a chemical "policeman" to guard against gum-fouled carburetors.

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This gum clogs carburetors and fouls automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A special gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. Hence no gum problem.

8. The anti-icer in Super Shell takes care of the most mysterious stalls of all.

Super Shell's formula is adjusted as often as eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to drop below forty-five degrees, an anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even at that temperature, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can choke your engine dead.

Super Shell's anti-icer tackles the problem by discouraging ice from sticking to metal parts. Result: you can forget about carburetor icing problems.

9. TCP in Super Shell increases power, mileage and plug life.

In 1953, Shell first introduced TCP—a revolutionary additive that neutralized certain harmful effects of combustion deposits.

Today, Shell has developed a new improved TCP, cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

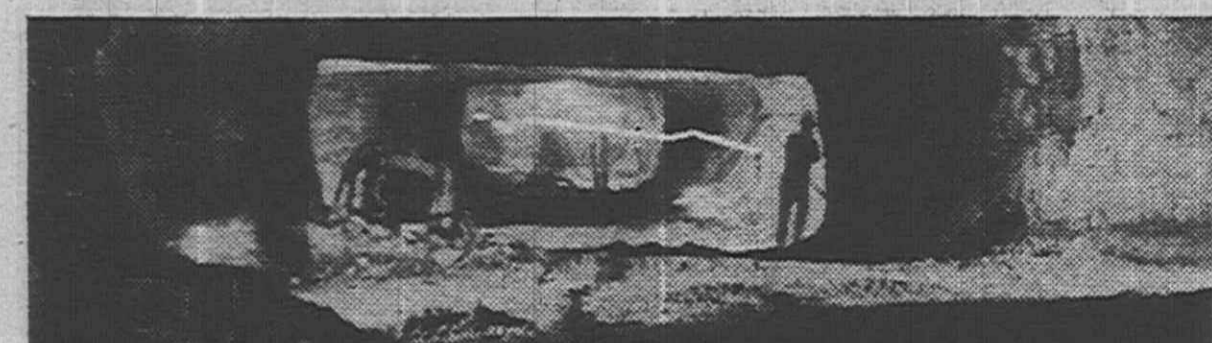

TCP can give your car as much as 15 per cent more power and up to 17 extra miles per tankful. It can also make spark plugs last up to twice as long.

Ponder these statistics. They can have a refreshing effect on your car bills.

Test Super Shell for yourself. Try today's Super Shell. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.

A BULLETIN FROM SHELL RESEARCH — where 1,987 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

Shell's Butane Storage Cavern at Wood River, Illinois. Some 230,000 tons of rock were removed through a pipe only 42 inches wide. This tiny entrance posed quite a problem when getting a bulldozer down. Shell's solution? Cut the 'dozer up and weld it together again down below.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2849218.

Scout-A-Rama Marks Girl Scouts' Birthday

A three tier "birthday" cake, complete with Girl Scout figure, was the feature piece at the Girl Scout Scout-A-Rama held Sunday, March 12, at the Junior High School in Plymouth.

All 35 of Plymouth's Girl Scout troops, and the service team participated in this 49th birthday celebration of the Girl Scout movement in America. Troops prepared table displays, while the service team prepared a special booth. Four of the troops offered entertainment, with movies, skits, and a fashion show.

Through the efforts of Mrs. Haas, Dr. and Mrs. Tadako Sawayama and Judge and Mrs. Yasuo Tokidumi, of Ann Arbor, attended as the Scouts' guests. The visitors also contributed much to the festivities, by writing each girl's name in Japanese, and preparing displays for the Service Team Booth.

The birthday cake's three tiers are covered with white frosting with green trim and the yellow trefoil, the Girl Scout emblem. Additional colors provided by yellow roses, depicting the Girl Scout Rose, while a Girl Scout figure in full uniform topped the cake. The cake was created by Mrs. Dorothy Fulton.

Also on the table were donations to the Juliet Lowe World Friendship Fund from each troop, wrapped as birthday gifts. The money will be used to further the international world friendship.

Delightful dinner music was furnished through a PA system by Jon Adams. The laborious chore of setting up and clearing the tables, chairs and stage was handled in an excellent example of Scout cooperation, by Mr. Ed Miller's Boy Scout Troop P-6, to whom Co-chairmen Mrs. Eileen Krumm and Mrs. Pat Hale send their special thanks.

The Scout-A-Rama, the first held in Plymouth in four years, drew an estimated attendance of 1,200. Guests came from Norville, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Belleville, Warren, East Park, and Pleasant Ridge.

Plymouth's 35 troops have 850 Girl Scouts in them. As usual, a great need for Scout troop leaders exists.

In honor of the American Girl Scout's 49th birthday, Mrs. Dunning is displaying in her store window the birthday cake and Juliette Lowe gifts.

AN INTERNATIONAL exhibit was part of the Girl Scout Scout-A-Rama last Sunday at the Junior High. Mikiko Ichura, exchange student from Japan attending Plymouth High, was one of the Girl Scouts at the exhibit.

Plymouth High School

By Lester Bazison

"A Southern Garden." That's the theme that has been chosen for the most glamorous social event of the spring, the Senior Prom, to be held this year on the evening of April 29.

Sheila Lorenz is the general chairman for the dance, while Marcia Randall is co-chairman. Janet Mackie and Judy Paslaski head the committee which will be responsible for the extensive decoration of the gym. Wiping her brow, thinking of "the hundreds and hundreds of paper magnolias that have to be made," Janet told how the porch of a southern plantation mansion complete with tall white pillars and green shrubbery will be erected in the back end of the gym. From this porch the Jerry Fenby Five, which has played at school proms before, will serenade the dancers.

A charming birdbath surrounded by flowing trees will be set against the pastel hues of the mural of a southern scene that is to cover the opposite front wall. Decorations are also to be placed in the adjacent hall, with Linda Brooks in charge. Margot Kidston will supervise the decorating of tables.

Besides decorating, there will, of course, be refreshments to provide, and the committee in charge of that vital task is headed by Joyce Allen and Hester Keller. Carol Nitz is chairman of the Invitations and Tickets Committee while Nancy Caldwell is supervising the Publicity Committee. Norbert Voss is chairman of the Chaperone Committee, while Bill Graham has charge of lighting.

Another big event with long range planning and preparations already underway is the Annual Water Show, "Sketches in Water Color," which is to be presented jointly by the Water Waves and Dolphin Club on the evenings of May 4, 5 and 6 in the high school pool.

All music in the 14 act performance will refer to a certain color, such as "Blue Moon." General chairmen are Dick Gretzinger and Sue Worthington. Co-chairmen for the various committees follow: scenery, Sue Larkin and Bill Drennan; script, Linda Wall and Jerry Fischer; publicity Jeanne Wright and Jim Izett; tickets, Barry Corwin and Jackie Battle; programs, Lyne Van Dyke and Al Larson.

The plans for the alteration of the high school, which have been undergoing deliberation for some time, presently include the addition of a three story stair tower to the front of the main building. Blending with the design of the present facade, it will have two stairways, one on each side, opening onto a central entrance way. The present stairway inside the building is to be removed. Part of Room 36 will be located on the third floor in the space now occupied by the staircase.

Marguerite G. Ross

Marguerite G. Ross, kindergarten teacher at Starkweather School, might almost be considered a "local" girl. She was born in nearby Ypsilanti, daughter of Iva and Lena Rau, who now reside in Florida since Mr. Rau's retirement from employment at the Detroit Edison Co. Brother Bob is with the Argus Camera Co. in Ann Arbor. A graduate of Roosevelt High School, a laboratory school for Eastern Michigan University, Mrs. Ross went on to school at Cleary Business College and later got her degree in science at Eastern Michigan.

Originally an art teacher in the Plymouth schools, she has found this a great asset in her kindergarten work. She has taught the little ones in Ypsilanti, Wayne, and one year in St. Petersburg, Fla. All told she has taught for about 14 years.

This year has been an especially busy one with the increased enrollment in Starkweather School. Mrs. Ross has had between 75 and 80 little kindergartners each day. These little newcomers to school need much patient orientation not only in the art of getting along in group activities, but also in the simpler things like stuck zippers, lost boots, and hard-to-get-at buttons and bows.

Of this special variety of patience, Mrs. Ross has an abundant share, but in February of this year, she was granted an assistant, Mrs. Sandra Waggonchutz, a young mother of three, who has greatly lightened the load, giving Mrs. Ross more time with each child.

The wife of Frank Ross, also with the Detroit Edison Co., she is the proud mother of Plymouth High School senior Linda, who has her expert's medal in the Rifle Club and is on both junior and adult teams for competitive shooting. Son Mike, age 13, is an eighth grader and an active member of the Junior High School Band and the Junior Symphony. He plays first clarinet.

The Ross family vacations in northern Michigan and whenever possible visit the grandparents in Florida, but one summer, in particular, stands out in Mrs. Ross's memory: the year she spent two months in a "tiny trailer with a tiny baby" out in Oklahoma while her husband was teaching engine mechanics for the Navy Air Force. The baby was Linda.

Mrs. Ross is the building representative for the Plymouth Education Assn., an affiliate of the Michigan Education Assn. She also holds membership in the National Education Assn. and her college sorority, Theta Lambda Sigma.

Her hobbies run to the artistic, as one would expect. She loves oriental art work, American Indian art craft, early American furniture, baking, but most of all—reading.

Whenever a charming hostess is needed for any social activities or immediate friends, Mrs. Ross can be counted on to lend her artistic talent to add that extra gracious touch which assures success. Many a lovely teachers' party has taken place at the Ross residence at 39919 E. Ann Arbor Trail.

Senior High Work
Attracts 15 Bidders

Fifteen bids were opened Monday night for alterations and additions to the Senior High School with the lowest bid coming in at $264,800.

So active was the bidding for the job that the bid opening was moved from the Board of Education office to the Junior High Library in order to accommodate the host of contractors.

The F. W. Markward Co. submitted the lowest bid of $264,800. Second lowest was Paul H. Johnson, Inc., with $266,000, and third lowest was Smith & Young, $268,282. Bids ranged up to $304,026.

The contract will be awarded sometime after the bids are opened for the new Junior High, March 21.

The Senior High job will include a multitude of alterations and additions. On the outside, a new fireproof stair-tower will be added to the front of the building to eliminate the main stairs. It is also proposed to build an addition above the present hallway running along the gymnasium.

A completion date of Sept. 2 has been stipulated.

Zoning Change
Request Again
Before Planners

A public hearing will be held tonight (Wednesday) for the second attempt to re-zone a parcel of Plymouth Township land to provide for a service station.

The property, now zoned one-family residential, is on the southwest corner of Shelton and N. Territorial Rd. Owned by Mrs. Mabel Johnson, the request asks for a change to a commercial designation.

A year ago the Township Planning Commission turned down the request. Many residents of the area and the City Planning Commission opposed the change and the Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution noting its opposition.

A request is before the City Planning Commission to change zoning on the northwest corner to R-2 to provide for apartments.

Tonight's meeting starts at 8 o'clock.

LAKE POINTE VILLAGE FARM AND GARDEN ASSOCIATION
 Taking care of an established lawn and care of trees in spraying is the program planned for the March 18th meeting of the Lake Pointe Village Farm and Garden Association. Mr. Tony Miller from Tony's Tree and Lawn Service will be the speaker for the evening.

The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Al Pertello, 42071 Clemons Drive at 8 p.m.

Thurston Wins Class A Wrestling Championship

A state champion and two runners-up!

That was the showing Thurston High School recorded last week-end in the State Class A wrestling championships at the University of Michigan.

The king from Thurston is Bob Phifer, a senior who battles in the 112-pound category.

The runners-up: Dave Post, 145 pounds, and Douglas Spicer, 185 pounds. Both Post and Spicer also are seniors.

Overall Thurston finished fourth in the team standings with 38 points as Ypsilanti Central took the team title with 65 points, followed by Lansing Eastern with 48 and Lansing Sexton with 47.

"This was the greatest a Thurston team in any sport has done in a state meet," Coach Jim Knotts declared as he returned home with his proteges.

"We've never had a contingent so close to the state title. And when you stop to consider how many boys now wrestle for high schools in Michigan, it really is something for a school to produce three of the finalists."

Knotts had a pain in his heart, it rested only for a moment in the fact Post failed in the defense of his 145-pound state crown.

Post wrestled wonderfully," the coach said. "Dave was shooting the works but in the final match he was up against a terrific boy in Blanchard Thigpen of Battle Creek Central, last year's 138-pound state champ.

"Something had to give in this match. Just when it looked like Dave was about to gain the upper hand, Thigpen recovered quickly and at 5:10 scored a pin which decided the match."

The loss was only the second Post had suffered in the final match of all seasons. He bowed after beating Bernie Reed of Flint Southwestern, Alvin Harris of Royal Oak Kimball and Wyma Miraile of Pontiac Northern in previous competition at Ann Arbor.

Phifer, in winning his state crown, survived from what the coaches called the "classiest field for any single field" in the state tournament.

In the deciding match, the Thurston ace bested Ernest Valade of Ypsilanti, 3-0. Just before beating Valade, Phifer won over Dan Sice of Ann Arbor, who in his previous encounter put out Lee Payne of Lansing Sexton, the defending State Class A champ in the 112-pound bracket.

Phifer's other wins in the state came over Ken Kimmel of Pontiac Central and Gary Burger of Hazel Park.

Spicer started his drive to the finals by winning from Charles Sampley of Kalamazoo Central. Then he dumped John Stinson of Owosso, hailed as the favorite for the crown.

Dave Toomey of Lansing Sexton became Spicer's victim in the semifinals before Joe Aucus of Ypsilanti arose to conquer the Thurston ace.

Mike Mitchell was Thurston's only other winner at the state meet. Mitchell, vying in the 120-pound section, downed Steve Ardelean of Fitzgerald, before he fell to Jim Buono of Lansing Eastern. Buono then went on to win the state crown.

ONLY 75 boys registered last Saturday for the Little League, but another chance will be given this Saturday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the American Legion Hall across from the Western Electric plant. All boys who played in the minor league last year must register while those who were in the major league need not re-register. Boys must live in the Plymouth Community School District. They must be 9 years old before Aug. 1 and not over 13 years before Aug. 1. Registrants, shown having their T-shirts stenciled, must bring their own shirt and birth certificate.

SPORTS OBSERVER

By George Maskin

ISN'T IT A SHAME THAT—

Livonia Bentley and Redford Union couldn't have "lucked out" in the state tournament draw so that they didn't have to clash in the district final? (Hard to understand why Union went to Farmington while Thurston was assigned to Ypsilanti. Ordinarily teams from the same community are assigned to the same district... which would have split Bentley and Union and made possible a later showdown.)

Redford Union can't sponsor a tennis team this spring? (Reason, no courts. But Athletic Director Howard Kraft hopes to have some one of these days.)

More folks can't appreciate the merits of high school wrestling? (It's scientific, true sports action... not what you see when the so-called professionals step into action.)

High school baseball and track seasons run so short? (The thinclads again will have less than a month—provided the weatherman cooperates—to round themselves into shape for the state regionals. In baseball the campaign no sooner starts than it's finished.)

CUFF NOTES PINNED ON A QUICK TRIP TO FORT WAYNE, IND., WITH THE DETROIT PISTONS:

When we talk about Michigan high school basketball fans turning "mad" at state tournament time, the folks down in Hoosier-land literally become "crazy."

For example, Fort Wayne hosted one of the four regional finals last Saturday. If they had the space, they could have played the game before 15,000 fans, despite the fact the contests were carried on television and broadcast by 10 radio stations.

Michiganders rave—and rightfully so—about gym facilities which make it possible for 3,000 to watch prep basketball. Down in Indiana, there's a town of 10,000 which has a gym in which there are 7,800 seats for basketball. Quipped one Indiana gent:

"Nobody's kidding when they say that in some places in this state, they build the gym first, then the rest of the high school."

Area high school baseball players should keep this date—Saturday, April 29—in mind. That's the day the Detroit Tigers will stage their annual clinic at Briggs Stadium.

There'll be a morning session at which Manager Bob Sheffing, his staff and players will preside. Then the preps will be guests of the Tiger management to watch the game with Boston.

National prep officials have taken two steps to reduce the number of facial injuries in football.

1—An addition to the present requirement that each player wear a face protector will be the recommendation that the protector be the multiple bar type.

2—The mouthpiece recommended for maximum protection shall be the fitted, flexible kind. This type protector, incidentally, will be optional with prep teams next fall, but mandatory starting with the 1962 campaign.

Here's a warning to all high school basketball players in the area:

If you represented your school in any game after Feb. 15, don't become involved in any kind of a basketball team performing in a late-season recreation or the like tournament.

The reason? You'll be ruled ineligible for future sports action at your school.

If you're a senior, they can bar you from participating in track or any of the Spring sports... or even football next fall. If you're a junior, they can keep you from playing prep basketball next winter.

So, fellows, beware. When in doubt, ask your coach. The same goes for any award, exclusive of an athletic letter, which somebody might want to bestow upon you.

The orchids went to Plymouth High for winning the state Class A prep swimming championship.

But at the same time, Thurston's tankers also enjoyed their finest hour in the Michigan-wide competition.

The Thurston contingent placed tenth overall with seven points as Ron Bramble took a third in the diving and Mike Zinn placed fourth in the individual medley.

Meantime, Redford Union came up with one finalist who placed well—Bill Truesdell—who captured a second in the breaststroke.

Coach Joe Mraena of Thurston wouldn't have been much happier if Thurston had won the meet than he was after the showing made by his forces over the weekend at Michigan State University's pool in East Lansing.

"We came in better than I figured," said Mraena. "And, this is just the beginning for us, I feel, as a state swimming factor."

"I honestly think we'll finish among the first three in the state next season because we're losing only Zinn, Bramble, Tom Spicknell and Terry Lucas from this year's varsity (which won 12 and lost one in dual competition and also captured the North Suburban League championship)."

HOW IT HAPPENED

A KRON, Ohio (UPI)—Ever wonder how the blimp got its name?

During World War I, the British used a small, non-rigid airship which they called the "limp" to distinguish it from rigid zeppelins. The word "limp" came into the language from a "Type B" limp airship which was widely used as a submarine spotter.

Tom Robison and Rick Barringer, who'll head the '62 returnees, both captured tenth places at East Lansing—Robison in the breaststroke and Barringer in the 400-yard free style.

Also returning next winter will be Don O'Grady, a diver, Dick Bubb, Bruce Vorce and Bill Dickey, free stylists; Bill Lambert, butterfly; and Jerry Adams, backstroke.

The Thurston varsity also will pick up a half dozen promising performers from this year's ninth grade contingent.

Improved Next Year Say Eagles

"We'll be improved next year."

Coach Bill McDonald of Thurston High School basketball team makes the prediction.

"What's more," he adds, "the future of basketball at Thurston definitely appears much brighter."

Thurston had just bowed to Wayne, 58-32, in the Class A district tournament at Ypsilanti to end what hardly could be described as a great season recordwise—five wins and 11 defeats, plus a quick exit (one game) in the state tournament.

"But we weren't as bad as our record," McDonald declared. "We were in most of the games until the late stages."

As for the future?

"Our junior high basketball program in the Township has started to jell. We at the high school will be enjoying the dividends pretty soon now."

"Also the Little League basketball program is booming. In due course, we'll reap a harvest of players for the high school team."

McDonald will lose Ron Hawkins, Frank Santangelo and Terry Salmonson from this year's varsity. He'll build around Keith Spicer and Dennis Ellison for 1961-62.

There's also a possibility that John Cook, who starred two years ago at Thurston as sophomore, only to move to Florida, may be moving back into the southern Township area with his family.

"If Cook comes back, he'll help plenty," said McDonald. "I hear he did right well for a prep team in Florida this season."

Against Wayne, Thurston first quarter. Then with the score 13-11 for Wayne, the latter contingent began to move. Hawkins had 10 to top the losers.

Basketball Team For Big Event

Bentley High School's championship basketball team and Coach Robert Bentley were honored with a dance given by the Sophomore class Friday evening, March 3. Although as a class sponsor, Mr. Bentley had helped organize the dance, he and his players were surprised after the party started when the students presented little gifts and verses to all.

Among the gifts received, with verses read by Paul Courtney, were a toupee for Mr. Bentley, accepted with great good humor; a pillow for Pete Boraday, because he so often seemed to be falling; and vitamin pills for John Hawkins, to help him put on a little weight.

The Bentley Dance Band played for the dancing couples for part of the evening, with records providing the rest of the music. Class President Jim Hajjar, commenting on the success of the informal dance said, "We just wanted to show the team that we were all for them."

Trinity College Area Alumni To Hear President

The Annual Dinner of the Michigan Alumni Association of Trinity College will be held March 20, at 6:30 p.m. at the University Club in Detroit.

The speaker for the evening will be Dr. Albert C. Jacobs, president of Trinity College. Dr. Jacobs is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is one of the 21 Rhodes Scholars from the Michigan area. His two daughters and one son, Mrs. William Edwards, Mrs. Carl Malcolm and Mr. Travis Jacobs, reside in Ann Arbor.

At the present time two Detroit area residents are actively engaged in the affairs of the college. They are Alexander L. Wiener, Grosse Pointe, president of the Trinity College Parents Association and Allen W. Merrell, Grosse Pointe Farms, vice-president of The Parents Association.

Officers of the Michigan Alumni Association are: president, Benjamin Paddock III, Grosse Pointe Farms; vice-president, Frederick Campbell, Beck Rd., Plymouth; secretary, E. Wade Close, Jr., Birmingham; and Gordon Maitland, Jr., Grosse Pointe.

Trinity College, one of New England's oldest colleges, was founded in Hartford Conn. in 1823 as Washington College, and although it has close ties with the Episcopal Church, it generally is considered non-sectarian. There is now an all-male enrollment of 950 undergraduates.

Further information can be secured from Frederick Campbell, GL 3-0129 (home) or GL 3-5170 (business).

Clarenceville Comes Close To Triumph

So close, yet so far... that was the way matters went for Clarenceville High's basketball team in the state Class B district tournament at West Bloomfield.

Until the midway mark in the fourth period it appeared that Clarenceville was on its way to a victory over Redford St. Mary—a triumph which would have gained for Clarenceville the district crown plus a spot in this week's regionals.

But the glory wasn't to be for Clarenceville.

After leading by 11 points in the third session, Clarenceville saw its lead evaporate and finally Redford St. Mary went ahead to win by a 51-47 count.

The closing few moments told the story for St. Mary as Mark Hardwick led the way. He totaled 30 points for the night, clicking on ten baskets and ten out of 11 attempts from the free throw line.

Tony Giacobazzi starred in a losing cause. He finished with 19 points.

TO THE VICTORS GO lots of pleasant fringe benefits, such as a hug from the cheerleaders. Bentley defeated Redford Union, 50-45, in Saturday's district play.

LANSING Observer

BY FRANK G. MORRIS
LANSING — The sensation created by Gov. Williams when he announced in 1959 that the State government had no funds to meet its payroll was a gentle rumble compared to the explosion ahead for the people of Michigan.

The Unemployment Compensation Fund is plunging with some speed toward bankruptcy.

The blow, unprecedented in the history of the national system, may fall before the year ends.

If it does, Michigan will be the only state in the union to be rocked by such a major catastrophe.

When shocked citizens angrily accused Williams of dirty pool in an attempt to force an income tax, Soapy very quickly "found" the necessary millions to meet the payroll.

But when the Unemployment Compensation Fund goes broke, it will be as busted as the average father the day after Christmas. There will be no money sequestered in the dark corners of the till.

Republican legislators have become alarmed, but are being ignored or are being accused of needlessly reaching for a panic button. Gov. Swainson has said casually that he is asking a report from "technicians." He did not say whether they need a Harvard degree to be recognized.

Well, even those first graders who are being taught geometry instead of reading and writing can figure the outcome if given these facts:

The Trust Fund started 1961 with $219 million. (Of this total $193 million is on loan from the Federal government and must be repaid before 1967.)

On present Michigan unemployment tax rates — the highest in the world — employers this year will contribute about $125 million to the state fund.

Unemployment last week reached 320,000, or 11.2 of the work force. Unless we jump out of the recession suddenly, the fund this year will be drained by about $350 million.

The system is costing $12 million a week now and will go higher.

President Kennedy has an answer that would shock every taxpayer in Michigan if they were given the truth.

You read that the President has asked Congress to increase the tax base for every employer, and to extend compensation for 66 or 67 weeks.

Instead of taxing only the first $3,000 paid to each worker annually (a tax paid by the employer and never by the worker), Kennedy wants to raise the tax base to $4,800 per employee.

This change would not mean much in low-wage states which have been attracting industry. But Michigan has the highest industrial wages in the country.

No one yet has told the people of Michigan that Kennedy's plan would add another $90 million a year to the staggering tax load that is helping to drive employers from the state.

More astonishing, press reports have failed to point out that the President is asking that an additional $20 million a year from Michigan employers be kept in Washington to bolster the unemployment compensation systems of other states if they start to totter.

If Your Name Is Howard

By ANN REYNOLDS
 "Howard," now both a first and a last name, came into use as a last name. Its origin has not been entirely clarified. The most recent view has it that "Howard" evolved from the Old German name "Hugheard," meaning "heart-brave" or "mind-brave."

It was also said that "Howard" derives from the Old English "Hereward," which means "army guard." To make matters even more complicated, still another explanation is that it came from "hayward." A hayward was an officer on big estates in England whose duty it was to prevent trespass on pasture land. "Hayward" was formed from "haye" which meant a "dry, movable hedge," and "ward" which is a "warden."

England had several Howard families among its nobility. Burke's "Peage," that great dictionary of English landed gentry, alleges that the Howards descended from Hereward the Wake; he was called "the Wake" because he was connected with the Wake family. Hereward was practically the last man in all of England who withstood William the Conqueror, and it was said that there had been four men like he. The Normans would not have succeeded with their conquest.

Many miraculous tales soon attached themselves to his name, and even in modern times his personality and exploits prove attractive to fiction writers. Most widely read of the novels dealing with him is Charles Kingsley's Hereward the Wake, published in 1866.

In the Howard coat of arms there is a white lion, and hereby hangs one of the stories of the Howard family history is rich in. When a certain widowed French queen called for valiant knights to compete in a great tournament, one Howard hastened to Paris, and vanquished all others, whereupon the queen offered to become his wife. "Thank you," said Howard, "no," he was already betrothed to a girl back home. Scorned, the queen plotted his murder. She enticed him into her garden where, in a hidden cave, a fierce lion dwelt. Into this cave the queen thrust Howard, just in time for the lion's dinner. The knight, shielding himself with his coat folded over his arm, challenged the beast, tore out his tongue, and threw this trophy at the queen's dainty feet. When he returned to his native England, he was granted the privilege to have depicted a white lion on his coat of arms.

Junior High Musicians Present 'Rockets in Rhythm' March 24-25

The music department of the Plymouth Community Junior High School will present their second annual Band Show "Rockets in Rhythm," at the Junior High School gymnasium on Friday and Saturday evenings, March 24 and 25 at 8 o'clock.

Band Wins Top Rating In District

For the fourth consecutive year, the Plymouth High School Band, under the direction of James Griffith, received a first division rating of superior performance at the annual district Michigan School Band and Orchestra Festival in Class AA High School Competition.

The four judges, Al Bohms (past-president, M.S.B.O.A. and band director at Adrian High School), George Wain (nationally known clarinet instructor at the Oberlin Conservatory of Music in Ohio), Charles Minelli (band director at Ohio University), and William Moffitt (assistant director of bands at Michigan State University), were all very complimentary to the band.

"I think you have a very good band, very worthy of any class 'AA' high school. Congratulations for a capable job of playing a difficult program." (George Wain)

"Congratulations to director, bandmen, administration, and townspeople for a fine concert band." (Charles Minelli)

"Excellent interpretation, fine band sound." (William Moffitt)

Bandmen had devoted many hours as individuals, as sections, and as a full band, to prepare not only for the festival, but a concert two weeks ago, and the annual Parade of Bands this coming Thursday.

Numbers performed for the festival were: "Jubilee" by George Kenny, "Symphony in B Flat" by Paul Fauchet, and "Chorale and Fugue in G Minor" by Bach.

The band is now eligible to compete at the State Band and Orchestra festival, which will be held in Ann Arbor on Saturday, April 22.

extravaganza will be centered around the 100-piece Rocket Band and the 90-voice Junior High Choir. Presented in the form of a television production with costumes, staging, lights, the show has a three-fold purpose.

First it gives the students a chance to express themselves in a modern entertaining vein; second, the audience has an opportunity to see and hear a laughable, lighter type of program than is usually presented; and last, the revenue is used to purchase needed musical equipment in the way of instruments and uniforms.

Outside talent will be two outstanding personalities. Dick Fitzgerald, a fine male vocalist from Detroit, will be featured in Vincent Youmans' "Without a Song" and "Some Enchanted Evening" from Rodgers-Hammerstein's "South Pacific." Rhythm Willie, a former member of the Harmonicats, a nationally known harmonica recording group, will play his electronic mouth organ in "Peg of My Heart" and a group of well-known songs.

The 1961 version of the Rockers (a modern dance band) within the Rocket band will be featured on five brand new numbers including a salute to our new state, Hawaii. Colored slides of Alaska will be shown as the Choir under the direction of co-director William Grimmer will salute this new state with the song "Alaska's Flag."

Carl Taylor, Junior High teacher, will narrate the "Peck Horn's Revenge" as well as giving comments on the slides of Alaska. Jim Brown will have charge of the lighting and public address.

Earlene Philips will be featured dancer in a new arrangement of "Lady of Spain." The girls Glee Club are singing "Happy Talk" while The Triple Trio is going to "Wash That Man Right Out of My Hair." Over 1,300 people attended the 1960 performance "Galaxy in Rhythm" with over 100 standing during the two evening performance.

Tickets for "Rockets in Rhythm" are available through members of the Choir and Junior High Band. Co-directors are Larry Livingston, instrumental, and William Grimmer, vocal instructor.

Junior High Band Wins

Plymouth's 100-piece Junior High Rocket Band brought top honors to the Red and White Saturday at Dearborn by being rated a "First Division Superior" at the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's District 12 Festival.

Competing with 14 other bands in Class A Junior High, the Plymouth band received its seventh consecutive Superior rating in district and state festivals. The first division allows the band to enter the state festival in Grand Rapids April 29.

The adjudicators for the event were Byron Autrey, Michigan State University; Louis Stout, Michigan State University; Daniel Keyser, Western Michigan University and John E. Howard, St. Joseph, Mich.

Other Class A junior high schools receiving first division ratings were Belleville, Ann Arbor Tappan and Bryant Jr. High of Dearborn. Second division, excellent, ratings were given to Garden City (Burger), Ann Arbor Slauson, South Redford (Pierre), Livonia Emerson. Third division, good, ratings were awarded to Garden City (Vogel), Monroe (Cantrick), Ypsilanti East, South Redford (Mc...), Willow Run (Edmundson).

Larry Livingston, the director of the Rocket Band, would like to thank Jerry's Shoe Repair for having on hand and selling him a bottle of black liquid polish which was used to convert three pairs of brown shoes to black before the band played. He would like also to give a special vote of thanks to Russell Cunningham who saved the day by returning to Plymouth for a forgotten trumpet and a sousaphone mouthpiece.

EDDIE HOLLAND, rock 'n' roll recording artist with Dot Records, is giving Edith Donahue, 5130 Curtis Rd., his autograph at the Junior High Dance recently. Holland was presented by disc jockey Dave Pringle of WHRV.

100 Attend Seminar On Concrete in Plymouth

More than 100 engineers and inspectors representing 23 cities in southeastern Michigan, Plymouth representatives from the Wayne
Oakland, Macomb and St.
Clair County Road Commissions, attended the 1961 Concrete Paving Seminar in Plymouth.

Held at Lofy's Arbor-Lill, the seminar was sponsored by the American Public Works Assn. (Michigan Chapter) and Portland Cement Assn.

W. L. Strasser, Livonia City Engineer, opened the meeting with a paper on the legal aspects of paving contracts and specifications, pointing out duties and responsibilities of both the contractor and the public agency in public works projects.

T. M. Reynolds, supervisory engineer for the Portland Cement Assn., reviewed new developments in concrete paving with particular emphasis on slip forming paving. This method of placing concrete paving without the use of conventional side forms is gaining increased favor throughout the United States.

B. A. Ross, testing engineer of the Wayne County Road Commission, described and demonstrated the various field tests and equipment employed to insure uniform high quality concrete roads and streets.

G. L. Nampa, of Royal Oak, president of the Michigan Chapter of A.P.W.A., closed the meeting by citing the value of educational programs of this nature to keep city and county engineers abreast of the latest developments in concrete pavement design and construction.

Franciscan Fathers Retreat March 25

On Saturday, March 25, the Franciscan Fathers will conduct a "Day of Recollection" for men and women, sponsored by the St. Elizabeth and Plus X Fraternities, Third
Order of St. Francis, at Duns
Scotus College, W. Nine Mile and Evergreen.

Starting at 2:00 p.m. this one-day retreat consists of spiritual talks, meditation and supper, followed by an opening and a Holy Hour. Activities are concluded at 6:30 p.m.

There is no set fee. Men and women of all denominations are invited. Reservations are obtained by calling Logan 5-1525 or Logan 5-2293. The purpose of Days of Recollection, as outlined by the late Pope Plus XI, is "to bring peace to men and carry them upwards to holiness of life."

The depth of channels between the Great Lakes are measured in inches. This is for profit, not danger. Added water in the channels means ships can carry added cargo.

Why there's no heat like flameless
ELECTRIC HEAT
WHEN YOU'RE ADDING ROOM

EVEN HEAT, HEAD TO FEET. In an electrically heated room, the temperature seldom varies more than two or three degrees from floor to ceiling. There are no strong drafts—just even, cozy warmth.

INSTANT HEAT. Electric home heating is fast because the heat source is right there, in the room. And independent operation makes it ideal in spring and fall when one or two rooms need heating while others are warmed by the sun. Individual thermostats in each room make it possible to keep rooms at different temperatures automatically.

MATCH THE HEATING UNITS TO MEET YOUR NEEDS

CLEAN HEAT. Electric heat is heat by wire instead of fire—it never creates smoke or soot. Walls and furniture, draperies and carpets will require less frequent cleaning.

This sign, displayed by qualified electric heating contractors, assures you of dependable installation.
