Appoint 24 from Here To 'College' Committee

A meeting of the 300 citizens appointed to the Citizens Education and Action Committee for the Proposed Northwest County Community College will be held tonight (Wednesday) at Thurston High School in Redford Township.

Twenty-four persons in the Plymouth Community School District have been named to the committee by the Plymouth Board of Education. Attending the meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m., will be appointees from the six participating school districts — Livonia, Clarenceville, Garden City, Plymouth, Redford Union and South Redford.

Appointed from Plymouth were the following: Mrs. A. E. Gulick, Mrs. John Moehle, Mrs. Leon Scharmen, Mrs. William Sprengel, Mrs. Woodrow Tichey, James Marshall, Charles Zoet, Robert Barbour, Mrs. George Conover, Dr. A. E. Van Ornum, Mrs. James Lyons, Mrs. Robert Bachelard.

Graves, Mrs. Marshall North, Warren Smith, Melville Troyer, John Wiltse, William Ehrlich, Sam Hudson, Cameron Lambe, Donald Sutherland and George Lawton. The meeting will be called to order by Harold Fischer of Plymouth, chairman of the Proposed College's executive committee. He will serve as temporary chairman.

Following the invocation a scout troop will present the colors. There will be a short discussion of the project and the committee will organize on a permanent basis to prepare for the election now scheduled for June 12. At this election, electors in the six participating districts will decide if they want to join the Community College District.

At the same time, voters will decide upon a board of trustees member from each district and three at-large trustees. Should all six of the districts decide to form the college, a millage issue will be proposed at a later election.

The Executive Committee, made up of one member of each of the six school districts, with the aid of the Citizens' Study Committee and the University of Michigan, has conducted a study of the area to determine whether or not a college is needed.

The Superintendent of Public Instruction, Dr. Lynn Bartlett, on request of the six boards of education, has given his permission to call the election. The meeting of the Education and Action Committee on April 12 opens the actions phase of the campaign.

It is expected that as a result of this meeting various sub-committees will be established to bring this issue to the attention of all area residents. Speakers will be made available for all interested parties.

TAKING THE oath of office Monday night were the City officials elected at the election one week before. From left is City Clerk Joseph Near administering the oath to Richard Wernette and William Hartmann, incumbent commissioners;

James Houk and Robert Beyer, new commissioners; and A. E. Vallier, the City's representative to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors. After the ceremony, commissioners got down to the business of providing more parking.

Urge Bond Issue Of $118,900

Enlargement and improvement of the Central Parking Lot to provide an estimated 80 additional parking spaces at a cost of around $118,900 will be the subject of a public hearing called by the City Commission on May 1.

The plan is the result of months of effort by a Parking Committee appointed by former Mayor Harold Guenther and composed mainly of people who are downtown property owners.

In essence, the improvement project calls for the area property to be assessed one-half the cost, while the remaining half will be paid by the City. A bond issue would probably be necessary.

Acquisition of land will cost an estimated $34,600, according to the report given to the City Commission Monday night. A balance of $21,600 owed on the Bronson Building would be paid off, along with $5,000 owed on the Richwine Building. (Both are located in the parking lot now and are being purchased on land contract.)

Three residences along Harvey St. would also be purchased. One of them, the Newell home, 328 Harvey St., has already been purchased at a cost of $20,000. Another, the Max Moon home, 343 Harvey St., is being purchased for $16,000. The City intends to negotiate purchase of still another home.

The plan also calls for raising the Bronson Building, which is now used for Junior Police Rifle and Archery (Continued on page 12)

Auto Crash Kills Plant Owner

Joy Stallings, partner in the Stal-Van Wire & Metal Products Co. here, was killed Monday night in a three-car collision at Ann Arbor Rd. and Haggerty. He lived at 9888 Lucerne, Detroit.

The Wayne County Road Patrol said that a Birmingham man had admitted that he was "lost" and failed to heed a stop sign as he traveled north on Haggerty Rd.

Mr. Stallings and his wife, Inez, who is in critical condition at Wayne County General Hospital, had just left their daughter and son-in-law's home a block away in Arbor Village Subdivision. The crash was at 7:12 p.m.

Their son-in-law is James VanGiesen who is a partner in the Stal-Van plant located off S. Mill St. near the Bathey Manufacturing plant. The two men have been in business here five years.

The Road Patrol said that Thomas Davison, 60, Birmingham, was driving north on Haggerty at around 40 miles an hour. He told deputies that he was "lost" and admitted not seeing the stop sign.

Entering the Ann Arbor Rd. (M-14) intersection, Davison's 1957 Plymouth was struck by the Stallings' car going east and a car driven by Lyman Ward, 53, of 2330 E. Michigan Ave., Ypsilanti, heading west. All of the motorists were seriously injured and Mr. Stallings was pronounced dead at Wayne County General Hospital.

Mrs. Stallings was driving her car, a 1957 Thunderbird. Surviving Mr. Stallings, with his wife, are a daughter, Mrs. VanGiesen, 4115 Bruce; a step-daughter, Francis Stallings; and a son, Edgar Stallings, Livonia.

Funeral services are being arranged at Schmalzriedt Funeral Home on Grand River.

Plymouth Symphony Honors Italy In Sunday's Concert

Wayne Dunlap, conductor of the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, has announced that the program for Sunday, April 16 will feature Verdi's "Mozart Requiem" instead of Berlioz's "Romeo and Juliet Dramatic Symphony" as originally planned. The "Mozart Requiem" is being presented in honor of Italy's 100th anniversary as a nation.

Music organizations all over the world have, throughout 1961, featured Italian music. This deeply emotional requiem with an inescapable impact is the Plymouth Symphony's contribution to this centennial celebration.

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will be joined by the Plymouth Civic Chorus and a portion of the Saginaw Choral Society for this presentation. The concert will be held at 4 p.m. in the High School gymnasium. As in the past, the concert will be presented without charge to the public and for the convenience of guests with small children, baby-sitting facilities will be provided for a small fee.

A requiem is a Mass for the dead using the liturgical text of the mass with some changes. The Gloria and Credo sections are omitted while the Dies Irae and others are introduced. The "Mozart Requiem" is one of the composer's rare departures from the operatic theater and the only one of his works not intended for the stage.

Written in memory of his dear friend, Alessandro Manzoni, the novelist, it was introduced in Milan, Italy on May 22, 1874. "Requiem" was immediately recognized as a great work and was, by popular demand, taken on a triumphant tour of the other major cities of Italy with Verdi conducting.

Only One Vacancy On School Board in June

It will be a "wide-open" race for newcomers when the annual Board of Education election takes place June 12.

There will be one Board term expiring this June—that of Harold Fischer—and he has already announced that he will not seek re-election.

Nominating petitions are now available for candidates. It was announced this week. The petitions must be filed by 4 p.m. on May 13.

For three years in a row, there are two vacancies occurring each June on the Board. Then, in the fourth year, there is but one vacancy. There are seven members on the Board and their terms are for four years.

Fischer is not seeking re-election so that he may run for the new job as Plymouth District's representative on the Western Wayne County Community College Board. The Community College proposal will be on the same ballot. If it is approved by voters, the Board will be established immediately.

Fischer, who lives at 40875 Plymouth Rd., has been on the Plymouth Board of Education six years. He was first elected in 1955, and was re-elected in 1958.

Each candidate must have petitions signed by at least 50 registered school electors.

NEWS BEAT

Look for increased activity concerning the Northwest Wayne County Community College. Six school districts will vote June 12 on whether they want to join in the project... Monday the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors voted an endorsement of the college. They also voted to co-sponsor a Town Hall meeting in May concerning the college question... Plenty of information will be available for electors so that they can't claim ignorance about the proposal.

MINORITY VOTE: Some people often wonder if the "minority party" candidates on the ballot ever receive any votes in Plymouth. A check in the City and Township revealed that the most any candidate received in the four other parties were as follows: Socialist Workers, 9; Prohibition, 6; Socialist Labor, 5; and Independent American, 5.

FIRE RUNS: Salem Township firemen called for assistance from Plymouth Township and DeHoCo firemen last Saturday when over 200 acres of land were blackened by a grass fire across from Brae Burn Golf Course on Five Mile Rd. ... When Plymouth Township firemen got back they were called out to a widespread grass fire behind Fairland School. ... City firemen also continued to have scattered grass fires.

POLICE BEAT: Some persons apparently driving along Main St. shooting an air rifle from a car managed to pierce large windows at six places last Tuesday night. Hit were windows at Allison's Chevrolet, Fisher's Shoes, Wiedman's Ford, Pease Paint, Party Pantry and Culligan Soft Water Service... Jerry Hoelscher, 392 S. Harvey St., was uninjured when a switch engine struck his car as he drove it across the Farmer St. crossing early Sunday morning. The car was damaged on one side.

APPOINTMENT: Arthur Shepard, 1357 Sheridan, has been appointed to the City Planning Commission to a term expiring Nov. 7, 1963. He is a subdivision specialist for the F.H.A.

COMING DOWN: An old Plymouth landmark, the former Roe Lumber Co. building along Amelia St., is being leveled. It has been used in recent years by Anchor Coupling and has now been replaced by a new factory addition.

BRIGHT FUTURE: At the request of the Chamber of Commerce and its Street Lighting Committee, the City may replace present downtown street lights with color-corrected mercury vapor lights. A group of commissioners and merchants visited Trenton recently to look at several types of lighting and they liked the mercury vapor kind.

Same Gilted Spade Starts 8th School

With the same spade that broke ground for seven other schools, Board of Education President Harold Niemi turned over several spadefuls of ground Monday night on the site of the new junior high school.

The gold-gilted spade carried the names and dates of seven previous ceremonies, dating back to the breaking of ground for George E. Smith Elementary school on Feb. 22, 1950. At that ceremony, a fire had to be built to thaw out the ground enough so that the president, Kenneth Hulsing, could turn over a respectable amount of dirt.

At Monday night's ceremony, there was no trouble finding loose dirt. Actually, bulldozers and other machinery have been at work there for a week preparing the site

Police said that apparently from all evidence that someone was inside the building when it closed Thursday night.

According to Assistant Chief Loren Johnson, the thief hid in an upstairs washroom. After employees left, the thief may have let an accomplice into the building. A padlocked door was forced open from the inside, an investigation showed.

Plymouth and the Civil War

(With this being the 100th anniversary of the firing on Fort Sumpter, The Mail is presenting a series of articles concerning Plymouth and its role in the Civil War. This is the first article.)

By Jean Campau

In the few years immediately preceding 1861, the talk of secession was common, but few took it as anything more than the prating of politicians and no one seriously contemplated the thought of a civil war in this country of teeming harvests and social tranquility.

And it was not until a small band of Southern troops fired upon Fort Sumpter April 12, 1861 that the idea of war forcibly sunk into the mind of the nation.

When the surrender of the South Carolina fortress was known throughout the land and the call for 75,000 volunteers was issued by President Lincoln, a meeting was held in Detroit on April 15 to answer the request that the State of Michigan immediately raise one infantry regiment, fully armed, clothed and equipped.

Estimates ran to as much as $100,000 to accomplish this end and since the state treasury was defunct, a resolution was passed pledging Detroit to loan $50,000 and called upon people throughout the state to make a similar loan.

Responding to this urgent call for funds from Plymouth were E. J. Penniman, J. Shearer, Henry Fralick, Gabriel Young, Thomas Gorton, Charles A. Frisbie and Charles H. Bennett. Northville contributors were Robert Blackwood, J. C. Nevins, J. P. Donaldson, W. C. Gardner, W. T. Johnson, F. Barrett and Samuel White.

In the early months of the war, the Union troops were quite successful and the people of the North felt secure in the thought that this was really little more than a short-lived skirmish and so, after the initial enthusiasms palled, the people began to fall back into the usual patterns of their lives, knowing the war was far away and destined to be brief.

But war in all its horror of blood-letting and anguish was here to stay and the populace was aware of this grim reality the following June 28, 1862, when President Abraham Lincoln issued an urgent request for 300,000 volunteers to crush the rebellion.

The Southern armies had greatly swelled their numbers by conscripts in the meantime and for many months the South had been preparing for a fight-to-the-death. Ironically, nearly all the accumulated war material in the North had been shipped from their arsenals to the South.

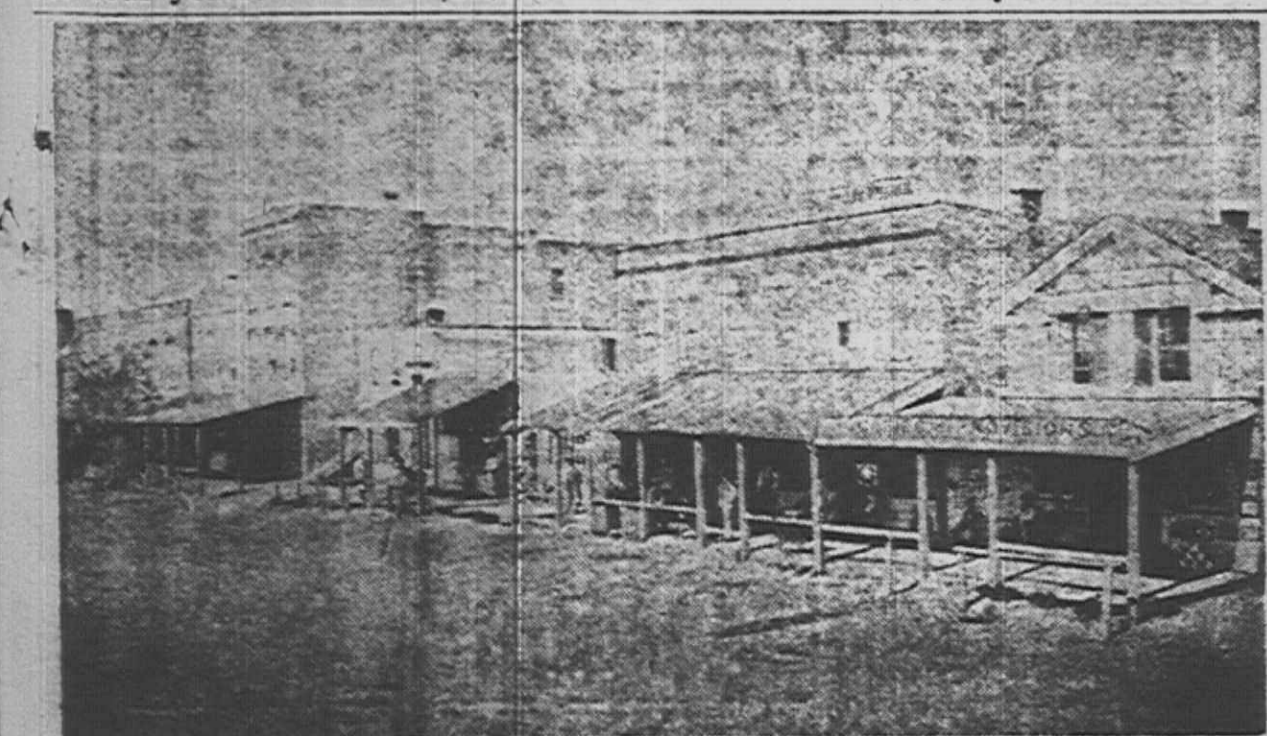

An interesting case in point occurred in the summer of 1860, when at the Dearborn Arsenal, eight miles west of Detroit, a few boxes of guns were auctioned off at $1 apiece and the balance sold for a small sum to some mysterious stranger, an agent of the embryo Southern Confederacy.

The time for Northern wishful thinking was at an irrevocable end. The most tragic and tender epoch in American history was underway from this moment on, in earnest. Real war had come and found the Union unprepared!

Picture, if you will, Plymouth on the summer day of Aug. 5, 1862, when the people of the North were

Mrs. Donald Houghton

Service-Houghton Wed In Double Ring Ceremony

Vows were solemnized by Rev. Paul E. McKenna, for Mary Deanna Service and Donald Richard Houghton at an 8 p.m. double-ring, candlelight ceremony in the First Congregational Church in Clinton, Mich.

Easter Lilies and white gladioli in altar vases and tall white urns adorned the altar and altar entrance as the bride came up the aisle on the arm of her father, Mr. Dwight Service, who gave his daughter in marriage. She was gowned in white, sheer mist, silk organza over taffeta. The scoop neckline was outlined with sequins and pearls and the full skirt had back and front panels of embroidered silk that ended in back in a chapel train. Her finger-tip illusion veil was topped with a crown trimmed in pearls and sequins. The bride carried a white Bible, a gift from the groom, on which was an orchid surrounded by clusters of stephanotis and white butterfly roses.

Miss Joyce Service, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and Mrs. Kenneth Geiger was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Marjorie Vaughn, Miss Shirley Kennedy and Miss Patricia Gilchrist.

All of the attendants were dressed alike in rainbow colored gowns of blue, lavender, pink, yellow and green. They were designed with ballerina length bouffant skirts, fitted bodices and white cummerbunds. They wore open-crowned white hats, white gloves and earrings, that were presents from the bride. Their flowers were cascade arrangements of camelias, heather and statice against imported bone fans.

Karen Grieve of Plymouth was the flower-girl and wore a pink dress with matching head-band, white gloves and carried a nosegay of pink camelias and hyacinth flowers.

Howard Houghton of Garden City was the best man and fraternity brothers of the groom were ushers. They were: George Lyke of South Lyons, Ertman Kessler of Plymouth, Gary Penn of Detroit and Thomas Murphy of Ypsilanti. Ring bearer was Master Barry Houghton.

Mrs. Service, the bride's mother, wore a costume of yellow-beige with matching accessories and the groom's mother, Mrs. Houghton, was dressed in coffee-colored nylon lace with matching accessories. Both mothers had matching corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlors for the 300 guests that attended.

For the honeymoon trip to Ohio, Mrs. Houghton, chose a blue outfit with white accessories and wore the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Clinton High School and Eastern State University and a member of Beta Pi Gamma. The groom graduated from Plymouth High and attended Eastern State also and is a fraternity member of Alpha Gamma Upsilon.

The couple will make their home in Flat Rock, where Mrs. Houghton is an elementary teacher.

Jean's Jottings

By Jean Campau, Woman's Editor

This seems to be the era in the stream of contemporary events when the eye of the populace is focused on youth. Our young President and his attractive spouse and the capricious capers of the cavorting Caroline is favorite press matter. Redford Township has just elected to the office of Supervisor, Jack McDonald, who is, at 28, the youngest in the community's memory.

Currently Sargent Shriver is enlisting top type young people from all over the Nation to represent us in far away parts of the world to demonstrate firsthand the inherent qualities of good-will, friendliness and strength of character that is the epitome of America. This is the essence of the Youth Peace Corps.

Doubtless, Plymouth itself could offer a number of likely candidates for this new venture, judging by the recital of activities and interests expressed by some of the spring vacationers home from college recently.

Lon Dickerson who maintains good grades at Albion and works in the college library, too, plans to major in political science and eventually go into diplomatic service.

Joan Bennett, a busy junior, is at Western Michigan in Kalamazoo. She has been appointed to head the national nominating committee of Alpha Beta Alpha. The convention convenes this April 27, 28 and 29 in Pennsylvania. Her summer plans will take her to Europe for eight weeks with the American Student Information Service. And Joan will be touring with the WMU production of "Romeo and Juliet" when it goes to Eastern Michigan U in Ypsilanti on April 14.

Mike Knapp keeps busy, in addition to his studies, at the University of Michigan as Rush Chairman of the pledge class for Lambda Chi Alpha.

Saundra Bailey, a student at Western, finds time from her schedule of classes to be a Y-Teen advisor.

Kitty Catlett, also at Western, is an active member of the University Singers, and Frances Smith, who is majoring in retailing at Western, is on the House Council.

Larry Sexton is playing the part of "Eugene" in the campus production of "Look Homeward Angel" at Central Michigan University in Mt. Pleasant.

And the spring holiday for Loren Trapp was a memorable first for him and his family for it was at the Easter Sunrise Service that he delivered his first home-town sermon.

Loren is a student at the Lutheran Concordia Seminary, Missouri Synod, in St. Louis. His immediate future holds two more years of study at the Seminary and then a year of vicarizing.

In my book, all of this energy and ambition stacks up a mighty impressive list of credits for the younger generation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barkman

Shorter-Barkman Vows Exchanged

Wedding vows were exchanged by Rhea Shorter and Frank Barkman Saturday, March 11 at 5 p.m., in the Country Room of the Hillside Inn.

The bride's dress was of sheer, yellow taffeta. Attending her as maid of honor was Dionia Sona. The best man was B. W. Conklin.

Dr. Richard C. Dunkelberger from Rosedale Gardens United Presbyterian Church conducted the ceremony.

White Goods for Cancer Dressings in Great Need

The need for "white goods," worn bed linens and the like to make cancer dressings, is a primary concern at the local office of the Michigan Cancer Foundation, according to Mrs. Carrol Porter, service chairman.

Mrs. Porter states that anyone having materials to donate may leave them at the Cancer office on Penniman Ave. on any weekday or may call the office and make arrangements to have them picked up.

At present the Plymouth office is furnishing dressings to approximately 14 patients in the area and is helping five patients with items from the loan closet such as wheel chairs, hospital beds, and other sickroom necessities, the chairman reports.

In the past two months the dressings made have totaled 4,404. Of these, 2,343 have been distributed to patients. Active sewing groups in local organizations number 18.

The Michigan Cancer Foundation, supported in its activities by the Community Chest here in Plymouth, has been carrying on its annual Crusade this week to alert the citizens to the danger of cancer and to the work that the Foundation is doing, and to emphasize the fact that Plymouth residents have contributed to the work by their donations to the Community Chest.

Net operating earnings of National Bank of Detroit for the three months ended March 31, 1961, were $4,501,948 or $1.25 per share on 3,600,000 shares outstanding, it is reported by Donald F. Valley, chairman, and Henry T. Bodman, president. This compares with $4,462,065 in the corresponding period of 1960, equivalent to $1.24 per share, adjusted for the 12 1/2 per cent stock dividend paid earlier this year.

After provision for reserves, net earnings transferred to undivided profits amounted to $3,875,870, as compared with $3,991,344 in 1960.

Plymouth High School

By Lester Barton
Two PHSers have received recognition in the Southeastern Michigan Scholastic Writing Awards sponsored by The Detroit News. A gold achievement key has gone to Ann West for her autobiographical article "An Unforgettable Toy," in which she tells of poignant childhood experiences with a playhouse, and how they affected her life. Mary Walker also submitted an autobiographical article, for which she won Honorable Mention, the second place award.

Both girls, as well as their parents and teachers, have an opportunity to attend the formal presentations in May, which will be held in downtown Detroit. The evening affair will include music by a leading Detroit high school orchestra, addresses by noted persons in the literary field, and presentation of the awards.

Large numbers of students from most schools in southeast Michigan entered the contest. Ann, as a winner of a key award, will receive a gold achievement key pin, a dictionary or similar volume helpful in writing, and a certificate. Mary will receive a beautiful certificate too, also in recognition of noteworthy literary achievement.

The goal is drawing near for those teachers and students working on the ambitious all-school production of "The Mikado." The bustle of preparations didn't even let up for vacations, with the cast practicing Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Things are progressing smoothly, and the big chorus, band, and cast are rehearsing together this week, rather than working in separate groups as has been the case until now.

Special efforts are being made to provide outstanding scenery as a background to the fabulous costumes of the cast and onstage chorus, which have been rented from a professional firm at a cost of $350.

Speaking of entertainment, we must note that in writing about the all-school talent assembly in last week's column we neglected to mention one of the most charming and accomplished performers, Hollis Haynes, whose lighthearted song on spring lent the atmosphere of that delightful season to the show.

The Edna M. Allen Chapter of Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists, plans to initiate a number of new members tomorrow evening in the auditorium. A most impressive ceremony is planned, details of which will appear next week.

Symphony Opens Membership Drive

Monday, April 17, marks the opening of the Plymouth Symphony Society's membership drive for the new 1961-62 season. This departure from the usual September campaign will facilitate planning next season's concerts by indicating, in advance, what funds will be available for music and soloists.

Fifty-seven percent of the Symphony's $10,000 annual budget is derived from membership contributions.

All citizens are urged to support the Symphony so that it can continue to carry out its program of "Good Music for Everyone" by financing scholarships to Interlochen National Music Camp, tickets for Plymouth school children to attend the Detroit Symphony's Young Peoples' Concerts, sustaining the Junior Symphony Orchestra, as well as the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra itself.

Memberships are available for $7.50, $15, $25, and $50 and are tax deductible. Donations may be mailed to The Plymouth Symphony, Box 99, Plymouth, Mich.

A proposal before the Board of Education to stagger the starting and dismissal hours for primary and secondary school children ran into some opposition Monday night when a group of parents appeared before the Board.

But it may not be until next Monday that the final proposal is presented to the Board, Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister reported.

The superintendent said three weeks ago that the Board was studying his proposal to have Junior and Senior High students attend from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m. and set elementary school hours from a starting time of 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. The half dozen parents at a Monday meeting were objecting to the elementary school hours.

But before they moved too deeply into the discussion, Supt. Isbister pointed out that a subsequent study leads him to believe that the starting time for elementary children can be moved to 8:45 a. m. (15 minutes later than now) and the dismissal time at perhaps 3:40 or 3:45 p. m., instead of 4 p. m.

Two of the parents present said they would not object to a change in the hours if it meant that their children wouldn't have to ride the bus as long. One complained that her child rode 45 minutes.

The superintendent explained that one of the reasons for changing the hours is to give all elementary children the same full-day of schooling. Children are now receiving up to 20 minutes less schooling in some schools than in others because of busing problems, it was pointed out.

By staggering the hours, it will be possible to haul elementary and secondary children separately and should result in a more efficient use of the buses, school officials point out.

One of the spokesmen Monday night, Mrs. Elmer Boer, declared that keeping young children later will make them more restless and will be difficult to schedule after-school meetings for them, such as church organizations and Brownies. She also expressed her belief that many elementary teachers are not in favor of the later hours.

Patrick Carmody In 'Impossible' Play

Patrick Carmody of Plymouth is taking part in the presentation of "Faust" at the Ferris Institute Playhouse May 8-12. This will mark only the third time this play has been produced by a college in the United States during the past quarter century.

The character of Valentine will be portrayed by Patrick. The play, called "incredibly difficult" by its director, requires a tremendous variety of scenes, ranging from an opening scene in heaven, a witch orgy, a prison, a cathedral, and a famous German beer cellar.

The great playwright-philosopher, Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, who spent 60 years writing the play, himself regarded the play as being impossible to produce, although at the end of his career he personally supervised its first successful production.

Hot piston test reveals the ash-free secret of Shell X-100 Premium. A simulated piston is heated and a few drops of conventional multi-grade motor oil dropped on it. As the picture on left shows, this oil leaves a deposit of additive ash. When the test is repeated, as at right, with Shell X-100 Premium, all the oil vaporizes. It leaves no additive ash.

BREAKTHROUGH:

Suddenly Shell makes every other motor oil obsolete — with a revolutionary new formula which fights five internal troubles that can shorten engine life

Shell's research reveals five common internal troubles that can shorten the life of your car. All five work silently and unseen.

These troubles are additive ash, crankcase dirt, temperature changes, engine acid and cooling system leaks.

Read how new Shell X-100_o Premium fights all five internal troubles.

New Shell X-100 Premium.

TODAY, every Shell dealer in America has new Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil ready for your Spring oil change.

New Shell X-100 Premium is a genuine breakthrough because it is the only motor oil available that helps protect your car simultaneously against these five internal troubles that can shorten engine life.

Trouble #1—additive ash

Up to now, even the best premium motor oils were powerless to guard against additive ash—because they actually created it. While endeavoring to keep your crankcase shipshape, some of the ingredients in these oils contributed to the hard crust of ash inside your combustion chamber.

All other premium motor oils still have the same snag.

The trouble stems from the metallic additives used to prevent scuffing, dirt deposits, oxidation and so forth. These additives do what's expected of them, but with each stroke of the piston, they can leave a tiny amount of metallic salts in the combustion chamber where they burn and form additive ash.

This crusty ash, when allowed to build up, can affect your car's performance—can make it knock and run roughly.

New Shell X-100 Premium doesn't add to this problem—because it doesn't contain a single metallic additive.

Trouble #2—crankcase dirt

All engines accumulate crankcase dirt no matter how well they are protected by filters. The problem is to stop this dirt from getting together and forming sticky sludge which can clog your engine.

Most premium oils use a detergent additive to do the job. And they perform well. But, like other additives, most detergents are metallic and cause that old devil—ash.

Shell's solution is to replace detergent with a remarkable new ingredient known as a dispersant, called Alkaldine.*

The Alkaldine in new Shell X-100 Premium helps keep your engine clean by holding dirt particles apart. Thus they don't form sticky sludge. Some particles can be trapped by the oil filter; most are drained out when you change your oil.

Trouble #3—temperature changes

Many motor oils tend to become too thick when cold and too thin when hot.

New Shell X-100 Premium is an all-year oil. Here's how it works. Alkaldine has a molecular structure that resembles a basket of eels.

When the oil is cold, Alkaldine's eel-like molecules curl up as if for comfort. In effect, they take up less space in the oil—and the oil flows freely through the tightest bearing, even on cold nights.

Conversely, when the Alkaldine in new Shell X-100 Premium is hot, its molecules uncurl. They take up more room. And the oil resists thinning.

Thus, new Shell X-100 Premium eliminates trouble from sudden temperature changes. It lubricates just as efficiently in June as it does in January.

Trouble #4—engine acid

All automobile engines manufacture acid. This acid can do far more damage than friction. It can eat away at engine parts in much the way stomach acid can cause ulcers. Then you're really in trouble.

One way to combat engine acid is to make the oil alkaline. Many oils use this method. But here's what happens.

The neutralizing effect of alkaline-pil inevitably gets weaker and weaker as engine acid eats up the alkalinity—till it eventually stops working completely. Then your oil no longer gives you anti-acid protection.

Shell tackles this troublesome acid problem in a new way.

Shell X-100 Premium actually plates all engine surfaces with a thin chemical film. The metal literally adsorbs some of Shell X-100 Premium's protective qualities. Chemists call this phenomenon "chemisorption."

"Chemisorption" offers a longer-lasting protection against acid attack than any other method yet invented.

Trouble #5—cooling system leaks

Tiny leaks of permanent anti-freeze can play nasty tricks with many motor oils.

These oils can react chemically with permanent anti-freeze and form a horrible sludge which can actually bring an otherwise healthy engine to a standstill.

Then you're on the way to a major repair bill.

New Shell X-100 Premium sets all such fears at rest. It resists reaction with any sort of anti-freeze. It shrugs it off.

The additives in Shell X-100 Premium resist washing out with water, too. In some oils, additives can be lost to water leaks. In Shell X-100 Premium, they stay.

How much does Shell X-100 Premium cost?

If you drive the national average of 10,000 miles per year, the switch to Shell X-100 Premium (with regular oil changes) will cost you only $3.60 more than ordinary oil—give or take a nickel. And probably nothing extra if you already use a premium grade.

Drive to your Shell service station and ask the dealer to change your oil while the engine is still hot. Be sure to ask for Shell X-100 Premium in the white can. It protects your engine from all five internal troubles listed above.

Michigan Bell to Spend $405,000 for Expansion

The Michigan Bell Telephone Co. announced today that its expenditure for expansion and improvement of facilities this year will reach $405,000.

The construction program, fourth highest in the company's history, calls for the expenditure of more than $405,000 in Plymouth.

"The program represents our best estimate of what will be needed to meet our customers' demands for service when and where they want it, and to continue the steady technological improvements that make the telephone more convenient and useful," Hugh C. Bronaugh, manager here for the company, said.

"Our program for 1961 has been surpassed only three other times in our company's history, and it reflects our continued faith in the economic strength of Michigan."

"Even though telephone development in Michigan already is at a high level, we hope to gain about 65,000 telephones this year. This compares with more than 91,000 in 1960."

In Plymouth, Michigan Bell plans to spend more than $234,000 for cable, wire, poles, and other outside plant; more than $37,000 for central office equipment; $133,000 for equipment in customers' homes and offices, and the balance for miscellaneous facilities.

Bronaugh pointed out that expenditures in 1961 will be made in virtually every section of the state served by Michigan Bell.

Of the year's total cash outlay, $42.5 million has been earmarked by the company to handle additional service demands resulting from growth.

Coin Collectors Gather In Plymouth Sunday

Final plans for Plymouth's first Coin Show are nearing completion as the exhibit date of Sunday afternoon, April 16 draws near. The show will be from 2 to 6 p.m. at the American Legion's new home at 888 Sheldon Rd. across from the Western Electric parking lot.

All collectors are welcome to exhibit their collection or to come and view other collections. The size of the individual's collection does not matter, whether the individual be just a beginner or an advanced enthusiast. The purpose of the show is to acquaint the various enthusiasts of the Plymouth area with each other and to exchange views and to entertain the views of the various collectors regarding the forming of an official Coin Club.

Among the collections of Mel Blunk, William Grimmer, Carvel Bentley and his son, Ken Butterfield, Roy Fisher and Ernest Koi, and others, will be various complete collections of one phase or another of the many groups of coins which comprise a full collection.

Some have coins dating back to the early colonial days while others have specimens of recent date which are also considered of rare mintage. Amongst those are the 1909 SVDB penny, the 1915-D dime, the 1914-D penny and others of interest. Any other enthusiast who is interested in displaying his collection may contact Chairman Ernest Koi at GL 3-5684 or be at the hall by 1:30 p.m. on Sunday so that he may be allocated space for his display.

Who's Who in the Plymouth Community Schools

Mr. Gerald Elston

Membership in a large family, fatherhood, education, love for children and years of experience, more than qualify Gerald Earl Elston for his job as principal of Plymouth's newest school, Farrand School staff for four years. In addition, he is principal of the outlying schools, Cherry Hill, Canton Center, Truesdell and Hough.

The Elstons, which include wife Janice, Sheryl, who is 8 years old, and Mark, who is 3, live at 4204 Clemons Drive in Plymouth. Sheryl has her birthday in common with the Girl Scouts of America. She is a third grader at Farrand School. Brother Mark, not to be outdone on celebrated birthdays, made his debut on July 4.

The Elston youngsters are surrounded by teacher parents, since their mother is also a teacher by profession. She taught for nine years before she retired to housewifery. Mr. Elston taught fifth and sixth grade students for seven years. After that he worked as sixth grade curriculum coordinator at the Junior High School. He was then appointed to his present position as principal.

Prior to entering the educational field, Mr. Elston worked for one year as assistant manager of the J. J. Newberry Co. in Auburn, Ind. He was also a molder at the Gale Foundry in Albion for one year.

Mr. Elston has eight brothers and sisters. Most of them are in the field of education or ministry with the exception of a sister who is an employee of the Drain Commission's office in Marshall, Mich. His mother, Elva, is still on the active list; his father, now deceased, was a farmer and foreman at the Lonagan's Stove Co. in Albion.

Following elementary school graduation, Mr. Elston attended Ashley High School in Ashley, Ind. He went on then to Anderson College and Eastern Michigan, where he received his bachelor's degree. His master's degree was conferred upon him at the University of Michigan.

In addition to having held the office of the vice-president in 1955 and the presidency of the Plymouth Education Assn. in 1956, Mr. Elston has served on numerous committees in that organization and also that of Region 2. He is also on the membership lists of the National Education Assn., the Michigan Education Assn., the Michigan Assn. of Supervisors of Curriculum Development, the National Assn. of Supervision of Curriculum Development, the National Department of Elementary School Principals, the Michigan Department of Elementary School Principals and Region 2 Department of Elementary School Principals.

Not content with membership in these professional groups, Mr. Elston belongs to the men's organization at Anderson College known as the Schem Club. He has served as president of the club. He is also listed on the "Who's Who Among Colleges and Universities" in 1947. The Dean's Honor Roll posted his name, not once but three times and he was also a member of the French Club. Activity and service blend in with Gerald Elston's record whether it be professional or otherwise. As a member of our armed forces, he served as staff sergeant from Sept. 30, 1942 to Sept. 29, 1945. He saw service in the southern part of the United States, North Africa, Italy, France, Sicily, and Germany.

After participating in active combat in North Africa, Sicily, Italy and France, Mr. Elston was awarded the Good Conduct Medal, the Bronze Star and the Silver Star. In between active duty, furloughs gave him the opportunity of traveling in North Africa and Sicily in the summer of 1943. After the European phase of World War II, he traveled in Italy, Austria, Germany, and Switzerland in July and August of 1945. Mr. Elston has also visited all of the states east of the Mississippi and the north and southwestern states.

In charge of 28 teachers, five schools, and 600 students, he also has many hobbies and interests outside of being a father and a husband.

Questions Home Entry Without Search Warrant

Should a fire marshal be allowed to enter a home without a search warrant?

This was the question raised by Kenneth Wheeler, 165 S. Holbrook, before the City Commission recently after a Fire Prevention Ordinance was adopted.

Article IV of the Bill of Rights requires that a warrant be issued before entering homes against the owner's consent, but the Fire Ordinance says this:

"The Fire Marshal or any of his assistants may at all reasonable hours enter a building or premises within the City of Plymouth for the purpose of making any inspection which may be deemed necessary under the provisions of this ordinance, without incurring any liability for trespass by reason of such entry."

The fire marshal, in Plymouth's case, would be the director of public safety—who heads both the Police and Fire Departments.

Two weeks ago, Wheeler appeared before the Commission to question the validity of this portion of the ordinance. The Commission turned the question over to City Attorney Harry Deyo who last week reported on his findings.

The City attorney referred to two cases, one in Baltimore, Md. and another in Dayton, O. where health and housing inspections were permitted. In the Baltimore case, the U.S. Supreme Court held that a private home may be entered by a health inspector without a warrant. The premises were reportedly rat-infested and the inspector sought entrance at mid-day. The defendant was fined $20 for refusing admission. The Supreme Court held the inspection reasonable by a 5-4 decision. In the Dayton case last year, a Dayton plumber refused to admit three housing inspectors. He claimed they had no identification. A warrant was served by the City prosecutor directing the householder to appear to answer criminal charges.

He was jailed and the matter finally reached the Ohio Court of Appeals and Ohio Supreme Court where the proceedings were upheld. It then went to the U.S. Supreme Court where the right of inspection was affirmed by a 4-4 decision.

According to City Attorney Deyo, "it appears inspection for purposes of public health and safety may be made. Inspection, however, should be made at reasonable times."

Four U.S. justices wrote a dissenting opinion in the Dayton case. They noted that most householders would normally admit an inspector without a search warrant, but that if an inspector does require a warrant for each case, "it would scarcely tax the capacities of the magistrate." (Warrants are obtained by appearing before local magistrates and expressing their need.)

The dissenting opinion also pointed out that warrants are required to enter a home where a man is suspected of a crime. "To say that a man suspected of crime has the right to protection against search of his home without a warrant, but that a man not suspected of crime has no such protection, is a fantastic absurdity."

In Plymouth's case, the director of public safety or his assistants would include both police and fire officers. A policeman therefore could enter a home without a warrant to look for fire violations but could not, for instance, look for narcotics unless he carried a warrant or was voluntarily admitted by the householder.

Tag Team Included On Wrestling Card Here

Four outstanding matches, including a mixed Australian tag-team bout, will headline the big professional wrestling card at the Plymouth High School on Saturday night, April 15. Sponsored by Explorer Post 1533, the program will feature both midget and heavyweight matmen.

Leaping Larry Chene, "The People's Choice," will tangle with Ricki "The Crusher" Cortez in the main-event clash.

In an age of "organization man" athletes, both Chene and Cortez stand out as refreshingly flamboyant and colorful personalities. Outspoken in their opinions and frequently violent in their actions, they are two of a vanishing breed.

Another leading heavyweight encounter will pit Dynamite Johnny Gates against Ali Bey.

Ali, still going strong at the incredible age of 52, is perhaps the oldest active competitor around today in any of the major contact sports. The secret of his remarkable athletic longevity? Ali credits his daily training routine, which consists of eating between two and three pounds of garlic and doing 1,000 squats before every meal.

Ali qualifies for an "elder statesman" tag in a way other than his age, also. An accomplished linguist, he speaks nine languages fluently, including such hard-to-master tongues as Hungarian, Greek, Hebrew, and Polish.

Gates, a former British Empire champion, is a canny, seasoned pro who figures to give Ali a rough time.

The Brown Panther, a sort of midget Hercules, will meet Farmer Pete in a Mighty Midget battle between two diminutive bundles of dynamite.

The winners of the first two matches will return against the losers in the mixed tag-bout. Midgets will be in the ring with heavyweights.

This show is for the benefit of Explorer Scouts 1533 Summer Camp Fund.

For ticket reservations call GL 3-2715 or GL 3-4808.

Rocks Open Baseball Monday

Like those who guide professional teams, high school coaches also find themselves under a certain amount of pressure to turn out a winner.

If their forces can't win, the prep mentor usually is asked to divorce himself from athletics in favor of another assignment within the school system.

Bill Brown, who's bossing Plymouth High's baseball team this spring, doesn't have to worry about his future in coaching. Brown knows where he stands.

Leading the Plymouth varsity nine is strictly a one-year deal for Brown. He's subbing for Mike Hoben, who has yielded the reins because of a conflict in his duties at the school.

Come next spring, Hoben returns to the varsity command, while Brown will step back down to the reserves, where he never has had a loser in the five years he's directed operations.

"I know I'll enjoy my year with the varsity," Brown declared today. "But I've always been happy down with the reserves. It's really a lot of fun working with those kids."

As the 1951 season's opener next Monday at Ypsilanti Central approaches, Brown has two major headaches confronting him — third base and right field.

"We have lettermen back for the other slots," said Brown, "and I think we should do as well as we did last year when Plymouth finished second in the Suburban Six League under Hoben's coaching."

Missing from last year's squad, of course, is Randy Egloff, the ace pitcher and perhaps the greatest all-around athlete in Plymouth High's history. Egloff now is at Yale University.

But back are co-captains Bob Monteith, catcher, and James Ralston at shortstop. Also on deck from 1950 are Art Nelson, second base; Gerritt Stevens, who can catch or play the outfield; Jim Lockwood, center field, and pitchers Pete Lomonaco and Dick Schryer.

Lomonaco, a senior, may fill the gap at third base where he and Eloy Menchaca are the top candidates for the post. Schryer works at first base when not on the hill. He's a sophomore who pitched some as a frosh for Plymouth last year and then had a fine summer hurling in sandlot play.

Bryan Gilles may solve the rightfield problem, according to Brown, who added that Darrell Miller, a senior, is shaping up as the squad's No. 3 pitcher.

Brown worked his players in five practice games last week and was impressed with the defensive play. The hitting was off, but the coach figured the cold weather was responsible for the poor showings made by the batters.

Prospects for a fine season in tennis also appear bright at Plymouth.

Coach Jim Doyle's line-up will be stocked with experienced talent from the 1950 team which finished third in the league behind Trenton and Allen Park, which shared the championship.

Seniors John Tichy and Don Conover, Junior Tom Lock and Sophomore Larry Hall head the singles' brigade. Hall won a varsity letter last year as a freshman.

In doubles the combination of Jim Jensen and Bob Smith and Dale Livingston - Dennis Smith stand out. All are sophomores except for Smith, a senior who is trying for a varsity spot for the first time. He did well in summer play last year.

Two duos are battling for the third doubles' position. One combine is composed of Otto Dubas and Al Larson, the other of Tom Hickey and Mark Tillotson.

Reviews Canton Twp. Election

ESTHER SPRENGEL
 GL 3-0194

The results of the township election were published in The Mail last week. However, board of Trustees proposal were not published. The voters of Canton voted for a seven man board.

We have not heard the end of a Charterred Township. Township residents felt that more information should be brought to the people.

Residents should be made, and as a result, the board has been approached by citizens of the Township to see what steps must be taken to bring the issue before the people again.

It is generally felt that the success or defeat of any proposal, by so small a margin, is not conclusive evidence of what residents want, although it is a determining factor of the election.

A date for all fathers and sons of the Gallimore School to circle on the calendar is Tuesday, April 18. Mom have your men ready (don't cook the supper that evening) at 5:30 p.m. to attend the Pan Cake Father & Son Banquet at the Gallimore School. Supper will be served from 5:30 until 7:00 p.m.

After filling up on Pan Cakes, sausages, milk, coffee and pie, (homemade) Roy Rew, the magician, will be on hand to entertain and mystify the gathering. By the way, fathers, this doesn't mean you can't bring all your sons, by all means include them no matter what age. You Dads that don't have a son, borrow a son, or come alone. Mr. John Schroeder, chairman of the festivities, promises plenty of activity.

How's Business

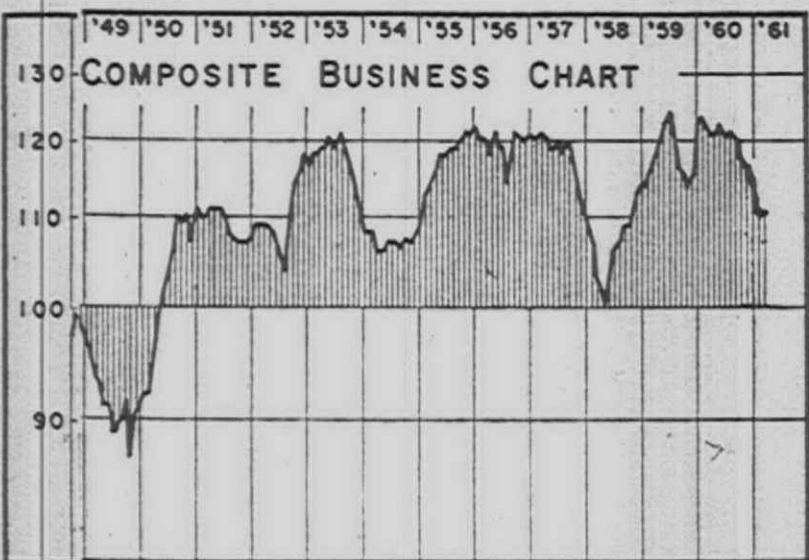

Recession Low Is Past

By ROGER W. BABSON

Latest figures indicate that the business downturn has leveled off. The Babson Composite Business Chart stood at a level of 111 for March. This was the same as the February reading, which was revised upward. Despite the absence of any specific strong point, a waning of recessionary forces has helped to steady business.

The greatest source of optimism lies in the revival of consumer spending. Improved weather conditions in the latter part of February and throughout March favored an increase in retail trade; and the early Easter season accentuated the upturn in consumer spending. Basically, however, consumer sentiment improved on the belated realization that the personal income and employment have held up amazingly well.

Production of automobiles in March was still curtailed, but the outlook was brightened by the pickup in buying interest. Steel output steadied and topped the February rate. Paperboard production showed a favorable increase, with a gain in orders also recorded. Building and construction activity rose more than seasonally, as construction crews pressed to make up for time lost during the inclement weather earlier in the year.

Accelerated government spending should also help lift business out of the doldrums. Thus, it looks as though the recession has passed its low point. The question now remains as to how well commercial activity will respond to government assistance. Business capital expenditure plans have already been raised. However, inventory reduction tends to continue after a business downturn has been checked, exerting a restraining influence upon business demand and production scheduling. Hence, employment and incomes are not likely to show immediate gains.

Prospects are, therefore, that economic conditions will reflect a period of consolidation in the months ahead. During this period, the groundwork will be laid for an advance in business later in the year.

Editorial

No Place to Go But Down?

Ross D. Siragusa, a Chicago industrialist who sees in cheap foreign labor a growing threat to the entire national economy and the financial stability of the US, has called upon the Kennedy Administration for immediate re-evaluation of our foreign trade policies.

As the keynote speaker at the recent annual convention of the National Appliance and Radio-Television Dealers Assn., Mr. Siragusa, who is president of the Admiral Corp., said:

"We invite foreign competition in this country, and we'll meet it from any nation or group of nations on a quality, performance, design and price level. But we want this competition based on something besides medieval, cheap-labor standards."

The speaker noted, too, that while cheap-labor competition comes from across the sea, it has strong support right here at home. As an example, while approximately 4,500,000 transistor radios were imported into the US from Japan in 1960 — ten percent more than the previous year — the apologists have a ready answer. Japan, they say, is our second best customer, importing $1.4 billion worth of goods from us in 1960, while we received only $1.1 billion worth from Japan.

"On the surface," said the Admiral president, "this seems like a satisfactory arrangement. However, the figures do not tell the whole story. In fact, they mask a threat not only to the electronics industry but to the nation's economy."

American exports to Japan, as Mr. Siragusa pointed out, are primarily raw materials — coal, cotton, wheat, soybeans — requiring a minimum of labor. While these exports sustain an estimated 100,000 American jobs, the finished products we receive from Japan are idling six times as many workers in this country.

"The US," he said, "suffered a net loss of half a million jobs in its trade with Japan last year ... the loss of valuable purchasing power, lost sales and lost profits to dealers in virtually every field."

It is clearly time, as Mr. Siragusa has indicated, for action to rescue the American economy from the GATT agreements and foreign raiders. He suggests non-discriminatory duties that would place foreign goods on a competitive level with American products — irrespective of overseas wage scales.

Failure to meet the problem can only mean a gradual decline in American living standards to something close to those of Japan.

If Your Name is Luke

By ANN REYNOLDS

The first man called "Luke" was the Evangelist, author of the Third Gospel, and the "Acts of the Apostles." Previous to the Christian Era the name did not occur. It is believed that its Greek form "Lucas" was shortened from the Greek name "Lucanus." This means "man from Lucania," which is the ancient name of a region in the south of Italy. In some old Latin manuscripts, "Lucanus" stands instead of "Luke."

St. Luke, the Evangelist, was a physician. St. Paul, whose companion he was, on missionary travels, calls him in his Epistle to the Colossians "a most dear physician." A novel about Luke by J. T. Caldwell, published in 1959 refers to these words in its title which is "Dear and Glorious Physician."

From his own writing we get to know St. Luke as a man filled with deep understanding of the suffering and frailty of his fellow men, striving to heal not only their bodily afflictions but also those of their minds. Tradition has it that St. Luke was also a painter, supposed to have left us likenesses of Mary and the child Jesus. This notion arose in the fifth century because Eudocia, Roman Empress of the East, wrote a letter to a friend promising a painting done by St. Luke which she allegedly had found in Jerusalem. Though we don't now whether there is any factual basis to this tradition some Italian churches, among them one in Bari, cherish paintings ascribed to St. Luke.

St. Luke, when represented by his fellow artists, is sometimes shown as doing a painting of the Virgin, and he is considered the patron saint of painters. To be sure, he had a painter's eye; his descriptions are picturesque, and many have become favorite subjects of religious artists.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

BY PAUL CHANDLER

There are those who have been trying to wish that Daisy Manufacturing Co. "wasn't doing well" since it decided to leave Plymouth in 1958, but all such have been fooling themselves.

Daisy has prospered in Rogers, Ark. It has been adding companies which produce goods involved in leisure-time activities. One is Heddon fishing tackle, now a wholly-owned subsidiary of Daisy. More recently, the company acquired Sta Dri Boot, a sportsman's item which will be manufactured in a plant in Killen, Tex.

And along the line, labor unions have lost a couple of elections among Daisy employees.

The problem isn't to hope and try (as local unions have) that companies who leave Michigan will fail elsewhere. It's to make them succeed when they're here.

Lansing politics have been shifting rapidly in recent days, and this reporter believes he sees the makings of the first, sharp, easily defined issue separating Democrats and Republicans there.

If we're right, the battle-line is:

1. Shall the State find new sources of revenue, with which to dole increased sums back to local areas to answer needs, or

2. Shall local problems be regarded as local responsibility, and the financing be done there by the natives themselves?

It's easy to defend either position, according to one's viewpoint. "Local" problems, of course, would have to be regarded as those covering a given area, rather than particular communities or counties.

What obligation does one part of the State really owe another? It'll be the legislative debate of 1961, we believe.

There is every sign that the number of new liquor-by-the-glass licenses to be authorized under the 1960 census count will be slashed in half by the State Legislature.

The old rules were laid down at a time when there was no dream of such great population increases as have occurred in the suburbs.

There's a bill in the Legislature now which would change the basic law to reduce the population formula and to make the new ones rather tough to obtain.

It should be passed without controversy. Among the things this fair area of ours does not need are twice as many liquor licenses.

The item has been too much on the minds of too many local politicians, anyway.

Why haven't the Republicans been doing better in State elections? Quickly, it is because upstate and rural Republicans create the party "image" between elections, but are unable to produce the vote when the balloting takes place.

Liberal Republicans, such as generally live in this area, thus are saddled with an "image" they don't want and can't sell to a metropolitan majority. Nonetheless, our local 17th District showed new-found GOP strength this last time. Redford Township brought home a Republican Supervisor and two Trustees and a few minor candidates, breaking a barrier which the Democrats had protected since 1955.

Livonia broke about even between parties, but the Republicans were ahead by a whisker. Plymouth and neighboring areas continued 2 to 1 Republican.

Speaking of elections, some strange, distressing statistics appeared in Redford Township. In precincts with voting machines, 7 to 9 per cent of the electors appearing failed to have their votes show in the total vote for the various offices. This was true of local, state, non-partisan, and the special question portions of the ballot.

But in precincts with paper ballots, the "missing" votes were less than one per cent of those coming to the polls.

The 7 to 9 per cent "missing" votes in machine precincts were more than enough to change the results of most offices in this particular election.

Are machines so complicated that voters don't get all their choices recorded through confusion, or something else?

And I Quote . . .

"New clothes are great promoters of piety. The young lady with a new bonnet or dress would not miss going to church for all the world." — Benjamin Franklin. "One trouble with growing older is that it gets progressively tougher to find a famous historical figure who didn't amount to much when he was your age." — Bill Vaughan.

Dear Ann: I left a paragraph of your letter because it was a little long and I didn't want to run short on space.

You are not highly emotional but an expressive person by nature. You're not sensitive and have a sense of humor. You're a little bit independent in your thinking and are more material minded than philosophical.

You would like to look to the future and advance but lack aim and purpose in going at it. You need more faith in yourself and your ability.

There is concentration ability and alertness and your memory is better than average but you do not organize your work as well as you could.

You are constructive and going on in your studies, adding further knowledge should help you gain a better foothold as to a future aim.

Symphony

(Continued from page 1) opens with the Requiem aeternam, "a gentle plea for eternal rest," written in the vein of an elegy. This portion reaches a climax with a fugue. From this point the work, as a whole, is more dramatic than lyrical with great power sweeping through parts of the Dies irae (day of wrath) and the Tuba mirum (mighty trumpet).

The most dramatic elements occur in the exchange between the basses and tenors in Rex temendae, while more lyrical and, at times operatic elements, are introduced in the Recordare (recall) for soprano and mezzo-soprano, the Ingemisco for the tenor solo and the moving Lacrymosa (full of tears) for the quartet and chorus.

A monumental eight part fugue, "Sanctus," restores the religious atmosphere and is succeeded by the "Benedictus." The "Agnus Dei" is one of the peaks of the score, beginning with an exalted melody for soprano and later repeated by the chorus and orchestra.

The next section, "Lux aeterna" is a graceful trio for mezzo-soprano, tenor and bass. "Libra Me" (deliver me) in which parts of the opening are recalled, is followed by a powerful fugue chorus which ends the work in the same tragic mood with which it began.

Soloists for this performance will be Norma Heyde, soprano; Shirley Love, mezzo-soprano; Richard Miller, tenor; and Andrew White, bass.

Groundbreaking

for the first unit of the new building. Groundbreaking was delayed because the superintendent and several Board members were attending a convention in Philadelphia.

The Rev. David Davies, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, delivered the invocation and benediction for the brief ceremony. The school will be a next-door neighbor to the Episcopal Church. It is at Ann Arbor Trail and Sheldon Rd.

Board President Niemi, in a short talk, mentioned that one former Board member had once written a poem for just such occasions. Called "The Ace of Spades" (indicating the spade used for breaking ground), it was written by the late James J. S. Gallimore when he broke ground in 1956 for the school that was later named in his honor.

Attending the ceremony at 7 p.m. were members of the Board of Education, school administrators, Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay, City commissioners and the contractors.

The new building, which as yet has no name, will cost $810,693 for the first unit. It will be completed by September 1962. The second phase should be completed in 1964.

Work has also started on the renovation and additions to the Senior High that will cost $264,800. A tunnel has been provided students into the front entrance, a round which a stair tower will be constructed. One entrance to the gymnasium wing has been closed and a new one opened so that an addition can be started there. Fencing has been strung around all construction work.

This is the poem heard at the groundbreaking.

The Ace of Spades

When the clock has stopped the bidding
And the clan has gathered round
High hopes and aspirations
Everywhere are found.

They check the figures closely
And wisely have they planned,
It won't be many days now
Before they break the land.

Once again the Ace of Spades
Is brought right into play,
To build a school for children
And help them on their way.

men on horseback must have stirred up a flurry of dust clouds on the unpaved road that was Main St., as the men and boys and women and girls hustled their way toward the triangular grove in the village for the largest outpouring of people ever to congregate there.

Main St. businesses probably closed on that important day too, to join the throng. Hearts were filled with the thrill of patriotism as the enlistments were announced and within two hours, amid the wildest enthusiasm, nearly the whole of Company C was formed.

At the Pike's Peak (Livonia) meeting the following day, 33 volunteered. One man even donated a cow to the relief fund.

The roster of Company C, of the Michigan 24th Infantry Regiment, included 69 stout hearts from Plymouth, seven from Canton, nine from Livonia, six from Nankin, eight from Salem and one from Detroit for a total of 100.

This wasn't the end of Plymouth's activity in the Civil War, for there were others who enlisted in the cavalry and many other regiments throughout the North. There were, in fact, more than 400 enlistees from Plymouth, which was particularly significant inasmuch as Plymouth was strictly a rural community.

Although business and commerce had become established, there was no incorporated village until 1867, two years after the close of the war. The enlisted men came from the whole of Plymouth Township and included what is now the Township of Northville.

The Civil War is sometimes called a boys war, for scores of its soldiers were in their twenties and many were younger. Some lads in drum and bugle corps were as young as 13. They performed a variety of duties that ranged from raising the men's morale with their vigorous, rat-a-tat-tat's from medic duty and removing the dead and wounded from the battlefields to foraging for food for the soldiers. The one hard and fast rule this group strictly adhered to was that they never carried a rifle.

More than 100 enlistees from Plymouth were less than 21, and there were at least 50 who were 18, 21 recorded as 19 and 31 aged 20. One boy, Melvin Robertson, was only 16. In Company C there were 18 who were brothers.

On the other hand, there were also a few older men from Plymouth. These included Charles O'Dell, Martin Hirschman and Charles Hanske, all aged 40 at the time of enlistment and all members of the 16th Michigan Infantry.

Then there was John Guthrie, 42, of the 1st Michigan Engineers and Mechanics; William W. Barton, 44, from Co. C, 24th Michigan Infantry; Capt. John M. McFarlin, 45, Co. D of the 4th Michigan Cavalry; and William F. Postal, 47, of Co. H of the 3rd Michigan Cavalry.

Then there was William H. Brockway, 48, who was chaplain in the 16th Michigan Infantry and Jacob Lyon, who in 1862 enlisted at the age of 55 as a private in Co. F of the 16th.

There were probably many Plymouth wives, mothers, fathers and sweethearts Clubs, removing other homes, blacktopping, installing sewer and catch basins and other work necessary to improve the present lot and complete the enlargement. This work would cost around $34,300.

Adding 80 parking spaces to the present 144 would bring the total up to 224. Half of the estimated cost, $59,450, would be assessed to property owners surrounding the Central Lot on all four sides and on the west side of Harvey St.

Tractor Salesman Is Prize Winner

Bud Dingledey, 819 Hagerly, Plymouth, employed by Dingledey & Sons; is the first winner in this area of a merchandise prize in a national telephone quiz program being conducted by Ford's Tractor and Implement Division for dealer salesmen.

Mr. Dingledey answered his phone a few days ago to hear a cheerful feminine voice say: "Hello. This is Miss Tel-A-Quiz calling you from Salesmen's Club Headquarters in Detroit. For a wonderful merchandise award of your choice, tell me the correct answers to the two questions I will ask you."

Over 300 salesmen were called nationally during a two-week period for answers about Ford tractors and equipment. Dingledey provided the right answers to the questions he was asked.

FOR DONATING office space to the U.S. Marines for a recruiting office here Perry Richwine, right, vice-president of First Federal Savings & Loan, was presented a service award. Making the presentation were Staff Sgt. Bud Wathen, left, local recruiter, and Capt. Martin A.

Miller, assistant officer in charge of Marine Recruiting, Detroit. The recruiting office is on S. Main St. Mr. Richwine noted that he and Mrs. Richwine once had a close tie with the Marines because their daughter had served in the Women Marines.

Dr. Molner Offers Advice To Travelers

When you travel abroad you must take some health precautions which are not necessary if you stay at home. Joseph G. Molner, City-County Health Commissioner, says. If you follow a few health precautions, your travel can be pleasant and healthful.

Some diseases which are little known to most Americans are common in other parts of the world, particularly in the tropical and subtropical countries. These diseases include yellow fever, cholera, smallpox and typhus. Vaccination helps to keep travelers from catching these diseases and bringing them back to others in this country.

Smallpox vaccination is required by the United States government for everyone who wishes to return to this country and many other countries require smallpox vaccination before you visit them. Requirements for vaccination against other diseases differ according to the country visited. It is extremely important that you follow immunization requirements and recommendations. These measures protect you, people in the countries you visit and the American people after you return. By meeting these requirements early, you may avoid delays and interruptions in your travel.

Make sure that you start your vaccinations well in advance of your travel date so that they can be spaced correctly and allow time for your body to build up resistance. Immunizations required by governments must be recorded in the "International Certificates of Vaccination" form, because this is the only way they will be accepted. You will be given one of these forms with your passport application and many travel agents and transportation companies furnish this certificate form also. See your physician for your immunizations and have a physical examination. Ask him for medicines you may need in an emergency for motion sickness or for dysentery. If you are taking medicine for some physical condition, ask your doctor about an extra supply or a prescription.

Departments of Health do not give immunizations for foreign travel, but your own physician does this. The Department of Health does verify vaccinations with the approved stamp of the Health Department.

If babies must travel abroad, the pediatrician should be consulted to see if he wishes to change the formula for one more adaptable to traveling.

If you are traveling in a hot climate or where the humidity or altitudes are high, be moderate in your activities.

Water and food contamination by insanitary handling can expose you to such infections as dysentery, so be careful about using unboiled drinking water, ice, raw fruit and vegetables, raw milk and dairy products. Do not take their safety for granted. It is wise to check with travel agencies, consular officers and local health officers for particular information. When you are in doubt, follow this rule: "Eat no raw fruit or vegetable if its skin is broken, or if you yourself have not washed and peeled it just before eating."

Where will you find a handsomer hori-top than this Impala Sport Sedan!

MORE PEOPLE ARE BUYING CHEVROLETS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

When one car outsells all the rest the way this new Chevrolet is doing—there's got to be a reason. And we can think of some pretty good ones. The clean-etched looks of the new Body by Fisher, for example. The eager brand of "git" that's under the hood. The easy way it handles. Plus the added advantage of extra-cost options like triple-turbine Turboglide.

But to sample all these reasons together, you have to get a Chevrolet out on the road. And there's where that Jet-smooth ride takes over with its own gentle kind of persuasion. If you weren't absolutely sure, you'd imagine you were riding in a far costlier car.

No wonder people are buying more Chevrolets than any other make! Chevrolets have more of what it takes to please people!

*Official R. L. Polk & Co. registration figures show full-sized Chevrolets outdied the second-choice make by a record-breaking margin in 1960—and Chevrolets continue to set the pace for the industry this year!

Getting New Theatre Guild Play Rolling Is Complicated Task

A year or more of preparation, $600 in budget, six weeks of concentrated effort, and it's over forever in four performances. That is the story of a community theatre play, such as Plymouth Theatre Guild's "Philadelphia Story."

A year ago Mrs. Pamela Wisniewski was a consulting with her script committee — Mrs. Mary Ellen Knopf, Robert Luchetti, Mrs. Phyllis Kelly, and others. A final list of choices was presented to the newly elected PTG Board of Governors in June.

PTG President Jerry Thaden had the advice of such Guild oldtimers as Jim Blackman, Mrs. Alice Wright, and Mrs. Loretta Young, in deciding that "Philadelphia Story" would be presented in May. This started the machinery moving.

Dick Knopf, business manager, had to clear the dates for the use of the auditorium with Adult Education and Recreation Director Herb Woodweaver. Then, with the dates of May 11 to 14 definite, Mrs. Dorothy Smith had to hurry to get season tickets printed with the dates of the three plays, and distribute them by September.

Early in 1961, while most of the Guild was working on the second play, the scripts for "Philadelphia Story" had to be ordered, and a director and producer selected.

As the "Inherit" set was struck, President Thaden announced the selection of Director Al Murdock and Producer Mrs. Rosemary Kooiman for "Philadelphia Story." These two immediately huddled and came up with a tentative budget of $600, approved by the Board.

While Director Murdock was casting roles in tryouts, Mrs. Producer was coaxing Guild members to a c.c.e.p. committee appointments.

The first two chairmen to start work were set designer Dick Knopf and publicity Jerry Thaden. Then light chairman, Pete Leemon, began to discuss colors, cues, and set with Dick Knopf.

Finally, Director Murdock, Producer Mrs. Kooiman, set designer Knopf, set construction boss Bill Kamen, lightman Leemon, and business manager Abe Kooiman thrashed out a preliminary set design.

This was necessary to permit the director to set up blocking as he swung into rehearsals for six weeks, 12 hours per week, to culminate in a full week of rehearsal in May.

Producer Rosemary still had problems. Who would do programs, and how much? Mrs. Marilyn Wright stepped into this chore, while tickets were again taken by Mrs. Dorothy Smith. Costumes fell to Mrs. Jane Dobies, while Mrs. Wanda Sutherland selected make-up.

Mrs. Mary Ellen Knopf, not to be outdone by husband Dick, took on the house and refreshment arrangements. Another husband and wife team, sound expert Lloyd England, and stage props go-getter Betty, signed up. Mrs. Barbara Carpenter elected to provide the hand props needed. Finally, Director Murdock and Producer Kooiman decided on the ideal stage manager — Mrs. Murdock.

There was yet more. Individual committee budgets had to be prepared and approved by Business Manager Abe Kooiman. Chairmen had to be instructed on organizing their committee, their functions and jobs, and how to order and pay for materials.

After that the many individuals could start their myriad activities which would mesh into a sparkling comedy on May 11; the result of a long year, hundreds of hours of work, and hundreds of dollars of material.

HEATING PROBLEMS? CHOOSE FLAMELESS ELECTRIC HEAT

This Nankin Township Family's Glad It Did!

This family knows you can't beat electric heat when you're converting the heating system of an older home. Its flexibility permits quick, inexpensive installation. Because it's flameless, electric heat is the cleanest method there is - walls and furnishings stay clean with less care. And with electric heat, you get uniform warmth and comfort at a turn of a dial. There's no need to start up an entire system to get extra heat in one room. Electric heat may cost more, but it's worth every cent in extra comfort, extra convenience. And Edison's Budget Billing Plan equalizes heating costs over the year.

If you are remodeling, building or buying, you'll find it worth while to check the many exclusive advantages of built-in electric heat. For all the facts, just fill out and mail coupon at right. We'll send you a copy of the free illustrated booklet "ELECTRIC HOME HEATING."

DETROIT EDISON

Flexible electric units meet every heating need Built-in electric heating systems may be baseboards; forced air units or radiant panels set in walls. For summer cooling as well as winter heating, choose the versatile heat pump either for one room or the whole house.

The William Albert family of 36151 Glen St., Nankin Township, Mich., reports "I like so many things about electric heat, it's hard to say which I like best. First, it saved us $300 on installation. It saved us space, too - now we have an extra closet where our chimney used to be. And, the heat's more even and the rooms are more comfortable than they Ever see a corn-ball wrapped in ermine? Or crowds of people waiting to see a movie in a line stretching a whopping six blocks? Or a couple of hungry men ordering pie and coffee that costs the astronomical sum of $1.35 per order?

All such sights are possible if you're in New York City. It's a city of excesses. Logic has been thrown out of the window. The emotional appeal reigns triumphant. No one sleeps. To spend money appears to be the stylish thing to do. The profligate person ascends the pedestal and the pedagogue plays his plaintive tune elsewhere.

New York can be many things to the occasional visitor. You can drop fifty clams a day or five dollars a day. In one case the diet of rich foods, front row seats, and night club elbow-bending could rival the frenzied days of the Grecian orgies. The more austere $5 plan will keep you in healthier state as you walk, gaze longingly at folks supping so supremely in Lindy's or Longchamps, and visit the New York Public Library's hall of exhibits for your entertainment.

During the past week old George along with his son spent a few days doing New York town from both sides of the financial ledger. We snacked in Lindy's with the elite (shuddered when we paid the bulging bill) and the next day we raced a cross town via shank's mare (our combined four feet) to have a five course meal (only 95 cents) at Radowitz's on Third Ave. Our guide to such food fluctuations was a paperback book authored by Art Frommer entitled "New York on Five Dollars a Day" and a second volume written by Kate Simon called "New York: Places and Pleasures." Both of these practical books sell for the modest price of $1.95. Check your local book stores in the Detroit area for these helpful guides if you're contemplating a trip to the big city in the near or immediate future. Of course, that first day could cost you $7 if you include the cost of Mr. Frommer's tome. Be that as it may, both of these books are well worth the cash and will provide you with some protection against the inevitable "tourist traps."

Young George and I saw the off-Broadway production of "The Balcony," a forceful provocative play by the French playwright Jean Genet. "The Music Man" with Bert Farka hitting all the high notes in the lead role, "Rhinoceros" by Eugene Ionesco, the wildly funny play that contains quite a message against conformity; and, of course, we did the Radio City Hall bit to top off our list of attractions.

When in New York, you must always leave time in your busy schedule for the

Seeking Oldest Hospital-Born Person in Area

Who is the Detroit area's oldest living person who was born in one of the 70 hospitals in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Monroe and Washtenaw Counties?

The Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council, in preparation for National Hospital Week, May 7-13, today, appealed to newspapers, radio and TV for help in locating Metropolitan Detroit's oldest hospital-born individual.

Jacques Cousin, executive director of the Hospital Council, said, "We estimate that approximately 30,000 babies are born each year in the 70 hospitals which comprise our Council. We are hoping to locate our oldest 'baby' and as a feature of National Hospital Week we will afford special recognition to the individual and to the hospital where the birth occurred."

It would seem that Detroit's oldest "baby" will be one who was born in one of Detroit's oldest hospitals, St. Mary's (now Detroit Memorial) opened in 1845. Harper Hospital in 1863, Providence and Woman's were founded in 1863 and Grace Hospital opened in 1886. Cousin added, Cousin asked that potential "oldest baby" individuals, who were born in one of the hospitals in Wayne, Oakland, Macomb, Livingston, Monroe or Washtenaw Counties, either phone the Council's office at Woodward 2-2717, or send a post card with their name, address, phone number, birthdate and name of the hospital in which they were born to the Council's office, 1084 Penobscot Bldg., Detroit 26, Mich.

All entries must be in by April 15, 1961.

Rebekah News

Our next regular meeting is Friday, April 14 at 8 p.m. Let's keep up the good attendance.

The "Family Dinner" was enjoyed by all. Our thanks to Hal Granger for sharing his pictures. They were interesting as well as beautiful.

There were six of us who attended and enjoyed the day at the District meeting March 29.

Don't forget the luncheon-party which is open to the public, Wednesday, April 19 at 12:30 p.m. There will be table and door prizes. Tickets may be purchased from any Rebekah member.

Our first visitation will be with Mabel 44, April 19.

Radio City Music Hall. The stage production lasts but 60 minutes, but what you see in that short span of time is many times unbelievable. The 300 folks that work in, on, and with the Music Hall production are really incidental to the mechanical maneuverings. The stage of the Music Hall does everything but land in the lap of its 6,000 audience members.

The Easter program at the Radio City Music Hall brings the New York tourist crowds out in full force. We passed Radio City and the line waiting to see "The Absent Minded Professor" plus the traditional Easter stage program and the line stretched out almost to Brooklyn. I've seen movie lines almost a block long at the Penn Theatre, but in New York they extend six and seven blocks. Guess it's quite an honor to say, "I waited in line for three hours to see the Music Hall show."

Fred MacMurray was quite funny in "The Absent-Minded Professor." I doubt whether I would have stood in line for over 20 minutes to see the picture. There is a hilarious basketball sequence where Fred puts his invention of "flubber" to practical use. Watch for this Walt Disney production when it plays the Penn. It has as many laughs as the "Swiss Family Robinson" had thrills.

Cruising over the turnpikes on my way to New York, I kept having mental visions of an excellent play produced at the University of Michigan a couple of weeks ago by Manuel Grossman and Ronald Sossi. These two brave souls took an ancient play by Maurice Maeterlinck and gave it life for a one performance experiment. Old George had the rare privilege of being able to see this one and only performance of "The Death of Tintagiles."

Joan Martin handled the difficult part of Ygraine with intelligence and clarity. Her final scene with Tintagiles brought out the symbolic nature of this expressionistic drama by Maeterlinck. Lighting, costuming, and stage setting had a professional touch to them. A critique was held after the production and no one was spared their fair share of criticism. Ron Sossi defended his interpretation of the play to all comers. If you'd like to see some of these experimental laboratory play bills, jot these future dates on your desk calendar: April 20, May 4, and May 18. They are held on Thursdays at 4:10 p.m. in the Frieze Bldg. on the University of Michigan campus.

Moliere's "School for Husbands" opens this week at the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater for a three-day run on Thursday. You might still be able to get some tickets if you hurry. University of Detroit will be introducing "Faust" to their repertory theater succeeding weekends with "Faust" will alternate on Shaw's "Man and Superman." Both of these classics are worthy of your play-going attention.

Ethel Merman continues to pack the Riviera for her second and last week. If you've had the good fortune to see this lively production, you'll agree with me that it's Ethel's show from the moment she comes stomping down the aisle in Scene One until she finishes with her final song in Act II. And she gets to close the show all by herself with this song. Ethel Merman will probably never again have the opportunity to have such a fat part. It's an actor's dream. Let's hope that Joe Nederlander brings back Ethel next year as he did with "Music Man." "Gypsy" could have stayed equally as long as "Sound of Music."

"Backet" is the next production opening at the Riviera on Monday, April 17. Sir Laurence Olivier has taken over the Anthony Quinn role and from all reports the production is livelier and more exciting than it was on Broadway. Get your tickets now for this interesting drama.

Time to dim down the spotlights for this week. I'll have to dig deep into my bag of New York memories and tell you about some of the Plymouth folks I met while out pacing those sidewalks of New York. Also, you might want to know my reactions to the plays that I saw. Pop your own popcorn and come back next week.

The musicians will be under the direction of Conductor Ralph G. Long, who holds his master's degree from the Eastman School of Music and who has directed U.S. Army bands in the United States and in Berlin, Germany.

He wasn't born with a pencil in his hand, but he got hold of one soon after that blessed event—and he hasn't let go since. Here, in his own words, is the true-life story of humorist Max Shulman, from scrawling verses at the age of four to Barefoot Boy With Cheek; The Tender Trap; Rally Round The Flag, Boys; and most recently, I Was A Teen-Age Dwarf (starring Dobbie Gillis).

Before you go, say veteran travelers Luis and Jo Villalon, be sure you've done everything possible to enjoy your trip and to find home, on your return, as secure as it was when you left. Here are tips on "closing up shop," baggage, language, reservations, shopping, and other "points of departure."

A beautiful photograph is just as much a work of art as a Rembrandt or Picasso, says Ivan Dmitri, Director of Photography In The Fine Arts, even though, he admits, it may have been made by a tree branch tripping a shutter. This month he tells what makes photography fine art and describes some of the recent controversy surrounding the subject.

Once upon a time the best cooks were either little French men or big Italian men who would have died before passing on their secrets to anyone but their first-born son. Things have certainly changed, says author Herbert Breen, in a look at the cooking school craze now packing them in all over the country.

Homer Hill

A successful commercial artist whose fine-arts style has won him so many prizes the New Jersey Watercolor Society won't let him compete in shows any more, our cover artist brilliantly proves that rain, this time of year, can be a cheerful thing. Further proof is found on page 26, in a bright splash of the latest in pretty rainwear.

GETTING AROUND

. . . to Our Pleasant Places and People

FRED T. GILLEY TELLS us that the Harry E. Thomasons, who live in District Heights, Maryland, heated their house comfortably last winter—for $4.65!—by trapping and storing heat from the sun. The solar-heating system also gives a full-blooming flower garden in early spring and year-round swimming in a 2,000-gallon outdoor pool and air-conditions in summer by trapping and storing "coolness" at night.

Correspondent Helen S. Phillips reports the following curious sight: 200 pheasants belonging to retired politician V. C. Norwood, of Arvada, Colorado, all wearing red spectacles. It seems that pheasants are prone to peck each other to death unless something is done to prevent it, and Dr. Norwood explains that the red blinders spoil a bird's aim. The glasses come with small plastic hooks that slip into the bird's nostrils. "I have less trouble fitting my pheasants than I did my human patients," says Dr. Norwood. "No complaints, either."

The latest slogan of a Hopkins, Minnesota, reality firm is "Sell by Noon or Else!"—Carl H. Noon, that is, new sales manager of the Vincent Else Realty company.

The fathers' group of an organization called Parents Without Partners meets once a month, in Freeport, New York, to discuss in an informal atmosphere the problems that widowed and divorced fathers have with their children.

Imagine the chagrin of Police Officer Fred Kellogg out in Ferndale, Michigan, who stood by an irate motorist ore up a one-dollar ticket for overparking, right in front of the patrolman, and scattered the pieces all over the sidewalk. Mr. Kellogg didn't panic, however. He simply gave the offender a $5 ticket for littering.

Honor students of the Reading, Massachusetts, high school who get at least three A's, one B, and no grade below B don't have to go to class, says Principal Ara A. Karakashian. The plan is a reward for excellence and requires that the lucky dozen who thus far have qualified must report to school, attend homeroom period, keep current on all assignments, and go to regularly scheduled quizzes and exams—but they don't have to go to class if they decide that independent study would be of greater benefit to them.

When the Monroe Stambaughs, weekend guests of the George Allison, of Glen Burnie, Maryland, went home to Middletown Township, New Jersey, they took one of the Allison's carrier pigeons with them, so they could send a thank-you note via this special air mail. The bird delivered the note three hours after it was released, 200 miles from the Allison house.

There's a large illuminated sign on a well-appointed hostelry near Hallandale, Florida, that announces: "We Honor Diners' Club—Hilton—American Express—Also Cash."

obviously, carry the bulk of your funds in travelers' checks instead of coin of any realm.

Do You Have To Know The Language? No—but it certainly helps.

However, unless you're really good at a country's language, better not try to spout it. Your safest interpreter is still that little old phrase book—as much a joke as it has been. It certainly came in handy for us, for instance, to be able to point to the words, "My auto won't start," one Sunday morning in a small town, where our car stopped dead in the middle of the street at a traffic light and we got only bewildered headshakes or irritated horn blasts when we spoke our mother tongue.

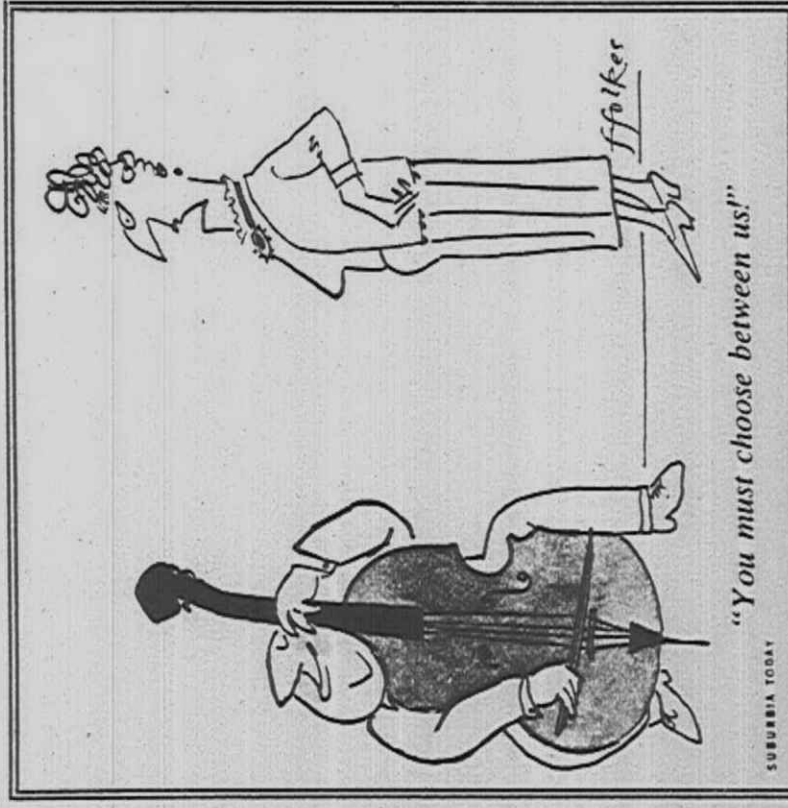

Who Says It's A Bargain? If you're going to Europe just to shop, you'd do better to stay at home. The truth is, with our smart import buyers and discount houses, you can find almost everything just as inexpensively here and not have to lug it all over Europe.

Among the few exceptions are French perfume, the liquor of the country, real objets d'art, and good Swiss timepieces.

If you feel that you must bring home foreign gifts—if for no other reason than being able to say casually, "This came from Edinburgh"—buy them from good specialty stores. Enquire about outlets for handwork, cottage industries, and work done by the blind. They often have unusual and lovely things.

You're Off! Get to the airport or pier well before time. (You will find it is even more important, when in unfamiliar European situations, to be ahead of time for their departures.) The timetables aren't kidding when they try to get you there early. They know more about big-city traffic than you may—and, besides, there's lots to do over and above the bon voyage gaudy. Travelers' insurance, for instance . . . and have you some money changed and ready for porters' tips and the first taxi ride in the country of your arrival? Don't neglect the opportunity you have only once to buy tax-free U.S. liquor and cigarettes to be delivered to your plane or boat.

Of course, if you speak French, Italian, German, and Spanish fluently—have all your reservations made (and paid for) through a reliable agent like Cook's or American Express—have intelligent and hospitable friends scattered conveniently around Europe—are leaving the house and children in Grandmother's capable care—you didn't need to read this article. You're set! (But don't cut the time too close, getting to that boat or plane!)

study—you won't get them free over there anyhow) and a good navigator (families can decide who will do the best job). Don't, don't, don't count on members of the local constabulary to speak English. It seems to be almost a requirement for their employment that they don't! Incidentally, one of the happiest by-products of this mode of travel is the chance it offers to have at least one meal a day on the road, picnic-style—which is cost-, calorie-, and digestion-saving.

Keeping The Homes Fires Banked. Aside from stopping the milk and all those other cartoon subjects, there are quite a few musis if you expect a happy home-coming. If your house is to be occupied, leave a list of all service and professional people and where things are, such as the thermostat, extra blankets, etc. If the house is not rented, arrange for someone to have a key and to look at your mail, notify your friendly local police force to check the premises regularly (even if it means an extra ticket to the ball or the fireworks display), and see that a responsible person has a copy of your itinerary. The American Express offices are numerous and good for mailing addresses, as are top hotels in various cities, whether you stay there or not. Weather permitting, you would do well to turn off the master electric switch. And don't forget to make reservations for Rex and Tabby at the local kennel some time ahead, as you can bet other travelers are pet owners, too.

Have you a will and a record of where your important papers are? The answer should be "yes," whether you're at home or abroad.

How Heavy Is 44 Pounds? Plenty heavy, if you have to carry it—and you will on occasion—which is why the airline minimum is fair enough, no matter how you go. Even if you can find a porter, the less you carry the better; one of the surest sources of travel ulcers is luggage handling—feeling dependent, then feeling overcharged, then feeling hacked at fighting about it. You can get a weight check by balancing the bag with your fingertips on the bathroom scales.

One way to keep from forgetting what you're taking along is to devote a room, or at least a closet, exclusively to packing and your travel wardrobe. And a good rule in packing is: When in doubt, don't!

Cash, Credit, And Conversion: There's no need to change money at home, except for a small quantity of the currency of your first-stop country. Best friend overseas is a wallet full of credit cards. They won't get you everywhere and everything—as at home—but they are wonderful for expensive purchases and for the better hotels and restaurants. Best of all overseas is American Express; you can charge at their listed places, and you can use your card in the American Express offices themselves, for such items as air and rail travel, guided tours and car rentals.

Carry a flock of personal checks; in France you can use them to buy at a discount from prices you would pay if you used cash, and elsewhere they are often easier to use than at home. And,

The Mercer Island, Washington, fire department needed some practice, so members set fire to a house and went through all the motions while the house burned to the ground. Nobody was arrested for arson, though, because the boys were only doing a favor for the power and light company, which had the house scheduled for wrecking and gave the boys the opportunity to exercise the fire-fighting equipment.

Now, Mrs. David Zauder's sixth-grade class at the Fairfax School in Cleveland Heights, Ohio, wanted an aquarium, but they didn't just sit around hoping someone would give them one—they went to work and earned the money for a five-gallon tank, fully stocked with tropical fish. Their novel fund-raising project consisted of setting up a car-washing business after school in Susan Files' driveway. Bringing rags and soap from home, 23 children washed 13 cars and, with tips, raised $12.36. When they added $7.18 previously collected from tax-stamp collections and penny fines for messy desks and talking out of turn, they had more than enough for the tank and fish. They've even started a bank account in the name of "Money-makers of Room 208" and plan to save money from other projects to buy a reflector for their aquarium. What's next, Money-makers?

The secretary to the minister at the Baptist Temple Church in Alexandria, Virginia, is Mrs. Lillian Scripture.

Mrs. Claire Baker Ulmer runs a motel in Shades' Valley, Alabama, for healthy dogs and cats who are on vacation from their owners. It's almost like any other motel you've ever seen—located on the highway, with an office where the animals register and with a unit for each animal. It could even be mistaken for a regular human hostelry—except that it's about half as high, and there's a big illuminated sign that reads, "No People Allowed."

Esther Worrell informs us so much clothing is usually thrown away during spring cleaning in her Skokie, Illinois, neighborhood, that last year the P.T.A. decided to do something about it. They organized a drive, and picked up cast-off clothing that was then distributed to less fortunate people in other neighborhoods. Since this is just about spring-cleaning time again, why not follow suit this year and call your favorite local charitable organization that collects old clothing—and furniture, too—and let them have it instead of throwing it away?

The Brentwood, Missouri, police department is putting on the dog these days—and drawing high praise from everybody in the neighborhood for it, too. The dog is Smokey, graduate of the St. Louis police department's canine school, who forms one half of Brentwood's first specially trained canine patrol. With Patrolman Charles W. Mayer, Smokey will search buildings for burglars and track lost persons, particularly stray children.

"We get as much out of it as our son does," a Santa Monica father once told me. "It gives us a common bond and a sense of belonging."

A GOOD FRIEND of mine, comic Jerry Lewis, is proud as a peacock about his oldest son Gary who is the leading hitter and star shortstop on the Beverly Hills Pony League team.

Jerry gets out to as many games as he can and has even signed a $1 per year scouting pact with Chicago White Sox president, Bill Veeck, to assure the major league of his son's future services.

"The pay isn't much," Jerry admits, "but wait till they get my expense account!" I love a good ball game, but I hope I've there's more than that to the Pony League. And gosh, you get the ball game, too!

I'M A BASEBALL FAN from way back. In between one-night vaudeville stands when I was still a kid, I somehow managed to play the game and was a $2 per game semipro at fifteen—that is, until I was permanently benched in 1910 when I broke a leg while playing second base for St.

Since then, I've been what you might call a "very interested spectator." I even owned part of the Kansas City Blues in 1931. Boy, I remember how I hated to see holiday double-headers then... I knew we'd always lose two games.

AMERICAN DAIRY ASSOCIATION

I'd Rather Write Than Be President

BY MAX SHULMAN

From the age of four it was write or bust, says the author of "Barefoot Boy With 'The Many Loves of Dobie Gillis' (1,500,000 copies), "Rally Round The Flag, Boys"

DRAWINGS BY MIKE RAMUS

AT THE BEGINNING all I knew was that I wanted to write . . . Correction: had to write. Nothing else would serve; nothing else beckoned. It was write or bust.

So I wrote. From the age of four I scrawled verses and stories which have mercifully not been preserved. And I told stories. I wandered the neighborhood, a kind of Homer in knickers, telling tales to whoever would listen for as long as they would listen.

I was born in St. Paul, Minn., on March 14, 1919, the son of poor but honest parents. My father was a house painter when he worked, which was scarcely at all between 1929 and 1939. My mother was a lady with an agile tongue and a conviction that the Depression was entirely my father's fault. Home life was not tranquil. When I was twelve I got a newspaper route. When I was fifteen I took up snooker and found a job driving a grocery truck.

All the time I kept writing. I did stories and a column for the school paper and magazine, but mostly I wrote poems for the edification of my friends. Commemorative poems, you might call them. For example, my friends and I would spend a jolly evening ogling girls or shooting craps, and I would appear next day with a poem of thirty verses celebrating the event. Often these were set to traditional airs, suitable for four-part harmony.

I know now why I wrote these poems. They gave me status in the gang. I had no money, no clothes, no car, no height, looks, athletic ability, fighting ability. All I had to separate me from the hangers-on was the ability to compose purple verses, and with these I bought prestige.

I know now, too, why I turned early to humor as my branch of writing. The reason is simply that life was bitter and I was not. All around me was poverty and sordidness but I refused to see it that way. By turning it into jokes, I made it bearable.

Today I write humor for quite another reason. Life today is sweet, not bitter, and comic distortion is no longer necessary to protect my bleeding ego. However, I have learned that comic distortion is a difficult and highly paid craft. Having gained this firm foothold in the durable joke business, I would be a fool to leave it now and start as an apprentice in some other department of writing.

Let me hasten to add that I do not consider that I have mastered the humor business. I don't think I'll live that long. I am learning constantly—not just ancillary bits and pieces to add to my main body of knowledge, but big important concepts that sometimes sweep out and replace what I had previously regarded as basic principles. For instance, I had always thought that the joke was the building block of humor, but today I know that the joke is the enemy of humor. Jokes piled end on end—and I have done it; oh brother, have I done it!—do not make a work of humor. Humor is not jokes; it is reality, it is familiarity, it is identifiability seen through a comic lens. To construct a humorous work, you do not compound incongruities; you tell a story—a serious story about real people—and you infuse it with the comic spirit.

TO GET BACK to biographical matters, I entered the University of Minnesota when I was 17. I was still shooting pool and chasing ridiculous girls and writing lyrics, and so I flunked out in a freshman year. I spent the next year working in a grocery store. The hours were so long that many nights I was too tired to go out on the town with my buddies. So I started reading books.

That did it. Books rekindled my literary drive. The next year I returned to the University and this time it took. I got my B.A. in 1942.

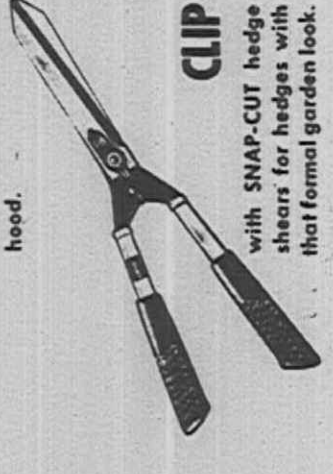

College was for me a time of such happiness that today I'm still writing about it. In college I met the girl who is now my wife, I made friends who are still my friends. And I wrote. I did a humor column on the student daily. I worked four years on the campus humor magazine and ended up as editor.

There is nothing lovelier than the massive climbing rose. Today there is such a dazzling choice among tall and medium growers with such a splendid assortment of colors and blossoms that nearly every kind of arbor can be magnificently outfitted. The everblooming climbers—the Dream Girl, Summer Snow, and American Pillar—are so enthusiastic that they flower not only in June but throughout the season.

If you're putting up an arbor this summer and want quick, showy shade, there is an endless variety of annuals which offer both shade and flowers. Planted each year, their quick-growing leaves and masses of flowers last through the season. Then you pull them up and discard them, to let the winter sun shine in on terrace and house. One of the best growers is the morning-glory with its cheerful sky-blue, red, or white blossoms. It opens with the morning sun and lasts till noon.

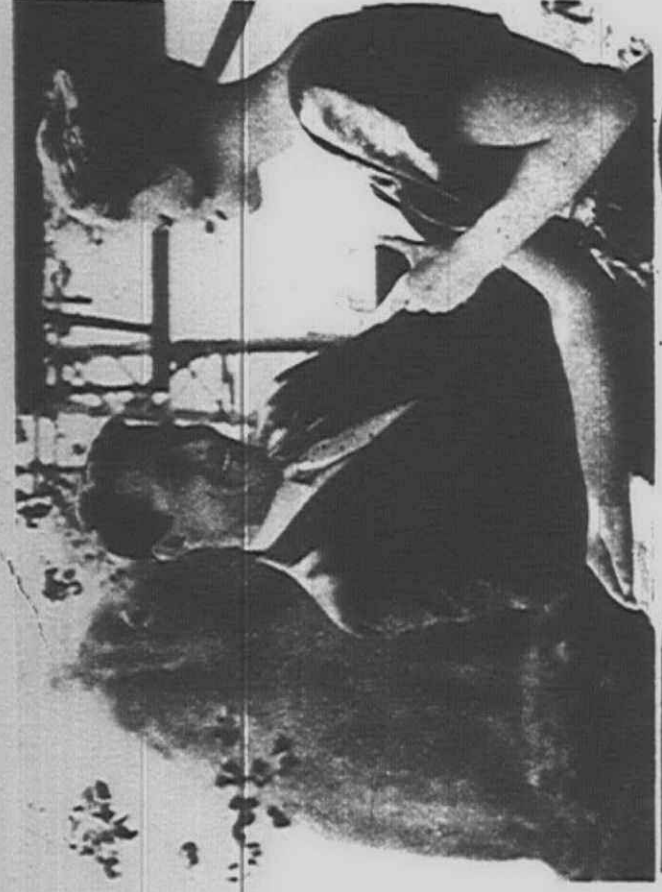

IF YOU WANT round-the-clock blooms, you can plant Heavenly Blue or Blue Star morning-glories alternately with Moonflower Vine. The moonflower blooms at night, and its delicate white flowers give off a fragrance that makes sitting out in the evening unforgettable. Late in the season the moonflower and morning-glory blossoms overlap—the moonflower lasting through the early-morning hours and the morning-glory lasting late into the afternoon. Behind the blooms there is always the thick mat of leaves.

An arbor can provide shelter overhead, or it can screen you so you get privacy in a sitting-out spot. A freestanding latticed trellis, for instance, screens the terrace from neighbors and the street in a friendly, decorative way without interfering with ventilation as a solid fence might. Or an arbor may be used as a gateway to frame the view architecturally or horticulturally.

A FEW CAUTIONS should be observed by the homeowner whether he is a do-it-yourselfer or planning to hire a carpenter to build his arbor. To begin with, an arbor must be tailored to accommodate the choice of vine. A wistaria, for example, needs a large, sturdy framework—its wood will become very heavy after a few years' growth. Some people adapt old telephone poles as posts under the more massive wistarias. Even morning-glories and moonflowers become heavy with a full season's growth. But clematis and other delicate species need only a skeleton trellis.

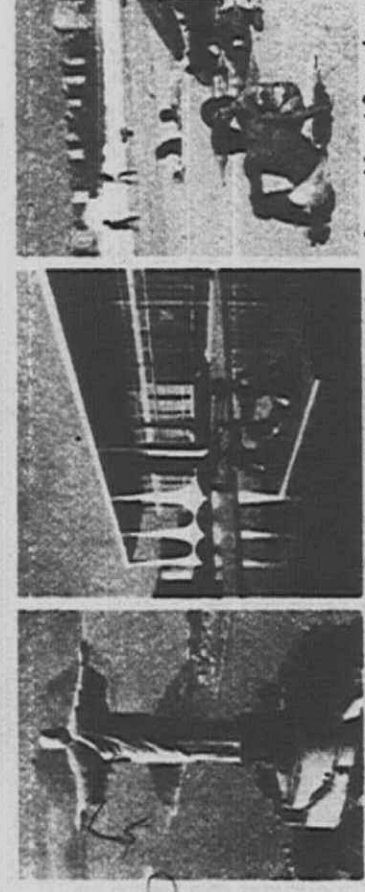

Posts should be deeply set in—18 to 24 inches below the ground—treated with wood preservative, and embedded in heavy concrete footings if the soil is sandy or the wind blows hard. Cross-bars should be sturdy, but not overpowering. Their size varies according to the arbor and to the kind of vine. A quiet, simple crossbar design is preferable to a nervous pattern that only detracts from the beauty of the leaves and flowers it supports. Enough open space must be left so that vines can interlace easily between bars. If you want a roof on your arbor, a snow fence can be adapted as a handsome cover.

You have a wide variety of designs to choose from and a large selection of vines and flowers. Plan your arbor so it will do the most for your house and your way of living, choose the vine you like best, and then sit back and enjoy it.

Arbors For All

Carefree "summer houses" made of vines and lattice, they add a new dimension to outdoor living

BY JOHN BRIMER

AN ARBOR MAY BE a pleasant, shady framework with ripening grapes overhead, a trellis of climbing roses, or simply an attractive display of architectural woodwork. In any of its shapes and sizes, it adds a new dimension to your home and life. It is a secluded bower for hot summer afternoons, a pattern of light and shade in the evening, an open-air dining room for every meal.

There are many types of vines to knit around an arbor. Fragrant vistarina—pink, white, or lavender—will grow to gargantuan proportions. The bittersweet vine produces brilliant orange pods in autumn. White lacy clematis is a daintier climber, as are the perennial sweet pea and the delicate canary-bird flower.

The classic grape arbor offers the sensuous smell of grapes late in the summer, and the taste of them if you want to reach out and pluck dessert off the vine. On lower fence arbors, tomatoes and cucumbers provide beauty and food.

night, on Sundays, on furloughs, I wrote for myself. I turned out two novels—The Feather Merchants and The Zebra Derby—and a couple of dozen short stories.

After the war, at George Abbott's request, I tried my first play—a musical version of Barefoot Boy With Cheek, which opened and closed in the spring of 1947. I licked my wounds and paid my bills with a raft of short stories and a novel called Sleep Till Noon, published in 1950. In 1951 I had a collection of short stories called The Many Loves Of Dobie Gillis.

In 1951-'53 I made a series of daring daylight robberies in Hollywood. I sold them six original stories, some of which reached the screen. The stories were not too bad, but Hollywood in this period was in a state of shock because of the inroads made by television, and the moguls were simply too shaky to make good movies.

In 1954 I wrote a play with Robert Paul Smith, The Tender Trap. It had a good run on Broadway and was made into a fine movie with Frank Sinatra. In 1955 I compiled an anthology called Max Shulman's Guided Tour of Campus Humor. Then, in 1956, after many alarms and false starts, I finally buckled down to write the book that had been gnawing at the base of my skull for years. It was Rally Round The Flag, Boys, and I still like it. Whatever its faults—and it has plenty—it is the only book I ever wrote that came out exactly as I planned it.

In October, 1959, I made my maiden voyage into television with my old friend Dobie Gillis. I am pleased to report that the show is still around every Tuesday on CBS.

MY HOME is in Westport, Connecticut. My wife's name is Carol and we have been married for 18 years. We have four children: Dan, 17; Bud, 16; Peter, 13; and Martha, 11.

I have no hobbies, except croquet, which I play very seriously. I belong to no clubs except the unions of my trade. I am a Democrat, weigh 136 pounds and stand 5'6".

My future plans are to spend one more year in television, write one more play and one more novel and then hang up the gloves. I'm tired...

Just the same, I know of no happier way to earn a living—provided, of course, that a measure of success attends your efforts. When I began writing I made every mistake in the book. I have a vast store to draw from for the teaching I do now through the Famous Writers School and it is my earnest hope that I have come up with a tip or two which will keep anyone else from making the same mistakes. This is my advice:

● The oldest cliché in the writing business is "Write about what you know about." Like all clichés this is true.

Your own life is your largest source of material. This is not to say that you must live everything you write; as you learn your craft, as you acquire technique, you will be able to handle all kinds of plots and situations of which you have no personal knowledge.

But in the beginning write about yourself, your family, your friends, your home, your neighborhood. Shape the material—give it form and direction. Arrange it as your story requires—but basically write about yourself.

● A plot is simply this: a problem and a solution. Be sure your people are in a real problem. Be sure the solution is plausible.

What you're after in popular fiction is not truth but plausibility. Motivate carefully. Make each event in your story an inevitable outgrowth of preceding events.

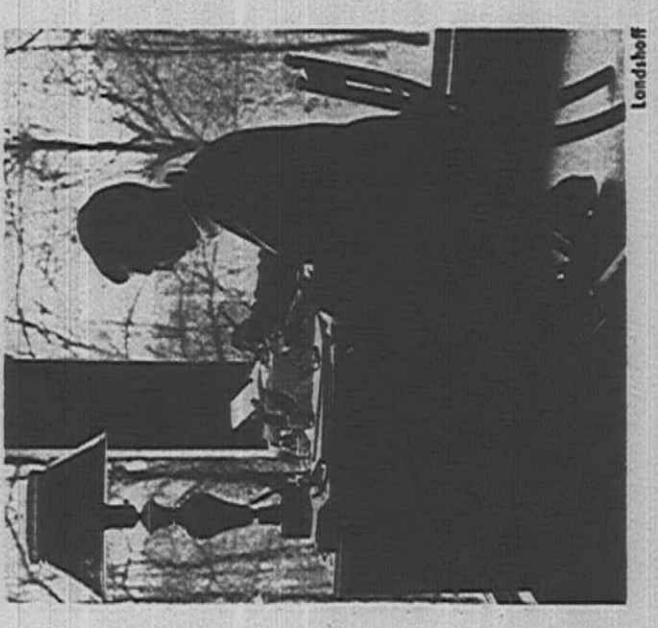

● If finding names to suit your characters is difficult, the telephone book is a big help.

● I am never without a notebook in my pocket—nor should you be. You never know when a bright notion for a story will strike you. The mind, being a capricious organ, often lets you forget some truly valuable ideas. If you have a notebook and make your notes instantly, you don't have to rely on your memory.

● Don't show your manuscript to anyone at frequent intervals during its composition. You cannot expect a baby to be born if you pull it out every few hours and pass it around. There may come a point in the composition of a story when you are stuck and need help—but try your best to lick your problem by yourself. As a general rule it's wise not to show a story until it is completed.

● In my early years I was hell-bent on becoming a humorist and so I read the humorists—read them Continued on page 9

Max Shulman weighs 136 pounds, stands 5'6", and is a very busy man. Currently he is working on a play and a novel and a humor column and a TV show. He also serves, with eleven other famous writers, on the faculty of the Famous Writers School in Westport, Connecticut, where he teaches his "difficult and highly paid craft" by correspondence to students all over the country.

Table Scraps Can Short-Change Your Dog

Do right by the dog
you love...balance
each meal with
GRO-PUP Ribbon

When you feed your dog table scraps, you can never be sure he's getting all the nutrients he needs. And yet, to stay fit and strong, he should have a well-balanced diet every day.

That's why thoughtful families are adding Gro-Pup Ribbon to every scrap meal they feed. Gro-Pup is an unusual kind of dog food. It contains an extra bonus of vital protein, important vitamins and minerals—far in excess of the minimum levels set by the National Research Council.

Even when fed with large amounts of "unbalanced" leftovers, the high nutrient level of Gro-Pup can safeguard against improper diet. When you feed Gro-Pup every day, you can enjoy the confidence that your dog is getting an abundance of the essentials he needs for a long and healthy life. Why don't you start tomorrow?

and studied them. I knew every word of Lardner, Benchley, Perelman, Thurber, Ade, Twain and all the rest.

This is an approach to reading which I could recommend to the student writer. Find the people who write as you would like to and study them. Today my style, such as it is, is formed and I no longer have to read for instruction—I can read for pleasure.

The authors I enjoy most now are Dostoevski and Shakespeare. These are two more writers I would recommend to a beginning writer because they illuminate every corner of the human soul.

● If you are using a character from real life, change him enough so that he can't be identified.

In fact, the very changing of factual characters is an integral part of the writer's art and should give you pride and satisfaction.

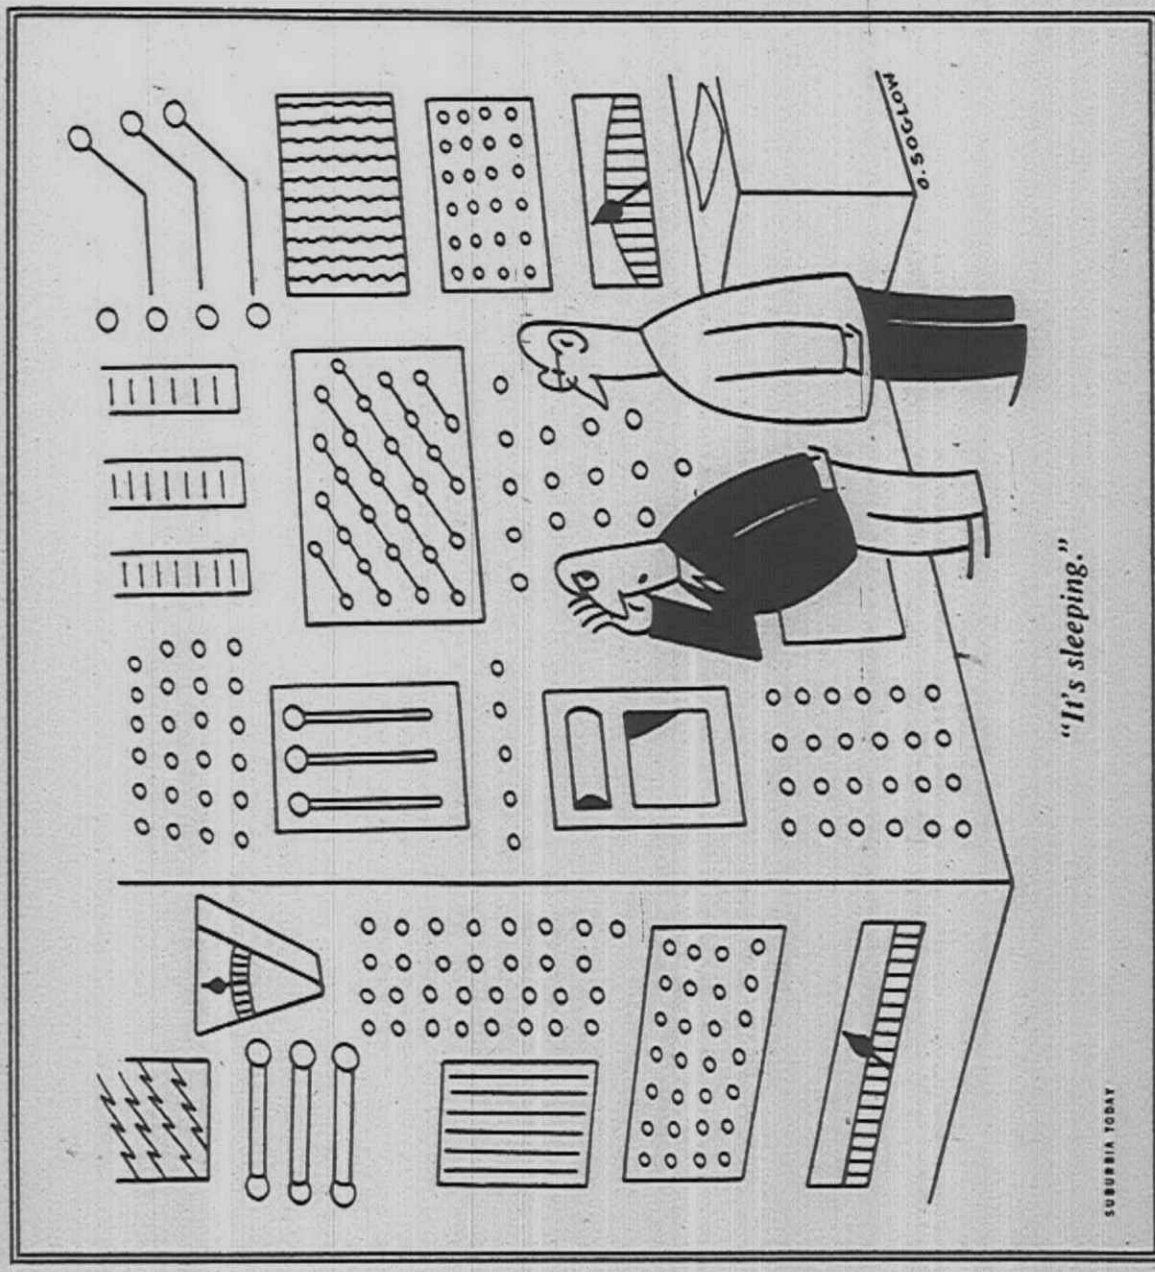

● There is always an unseen attendant looking over my shoulder when I am at the typewriter. He represents the reader I am trying to reach. When I have to make a decision between my taste and his, I always yield to his.

● The background of your story can be of enormous added value. If you can paint an exotic picture, if you can evoke a nostalgic mood, you cannot help but captivate a reader. Beware, however, of piling up detail for the sake of detail. Never let description get in the way of your story.

● The writing of humor in television is not stringing a lot of jokes together; it is telling a story which is plausible, believable, well-motivated, well-plotted and funny. The rules of composition, the rules of fiction, the rules of dramatic writing all continue to apply when you're writing humor. Besides, you have got an additional problem of making your story funny.

"It's sleeping."

Get Ready, Get Set, BEFORE You Go

PHOTOGRAPH BY SCOTT FROM FRO

Going abroad? Here are a dozen tips for leaving the home fires properly banked and making the most of a wonderful trip

BY LUIS AND JO VILLALON

"THERE'S NO TRICK to sailing," as the saying goes. "You just have to know what to do and do it before it's necessary."

It's the same way with going to Europe. There are some things you have to be forehanded about, some questions you'll want answered now, before you pull down a suitcase or take your first shot. For instance:

Your Homework: On the façade of the Union Station in our nation's capital are graven the words of an old Spanish proverb, "He who would bring home the wealth of the Indies must carry the wealth of the Indies with him"—or, to put it in plain English, "You get out of a travel (or other) experience what you bring to it."

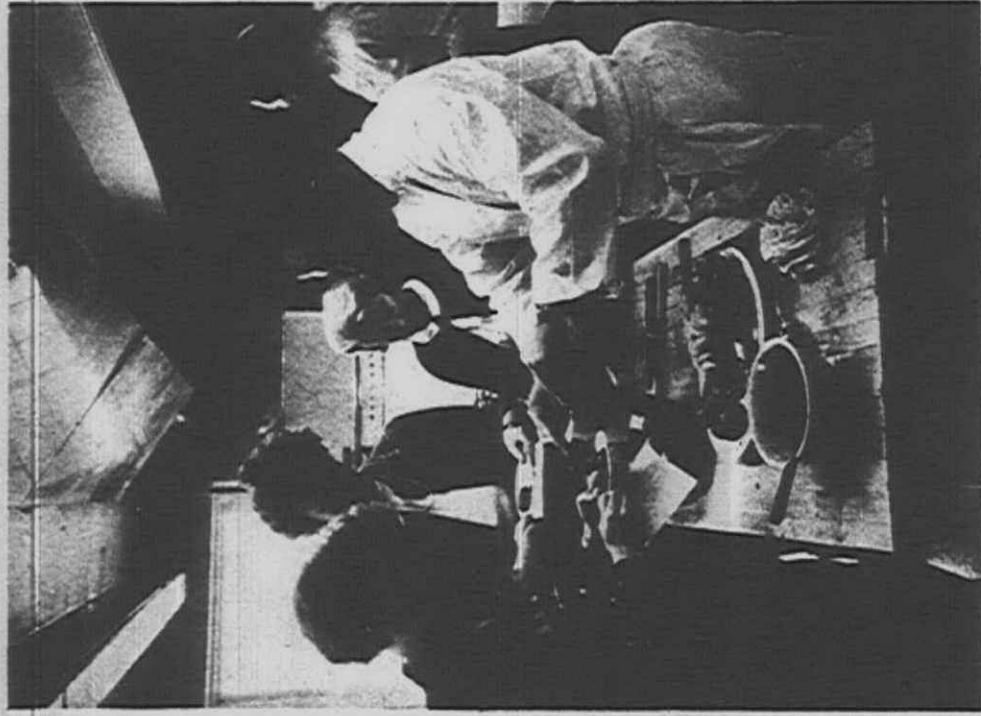

So it behooves you to learn or review as much as you can beforehand of the places you plan to visit—something doubly important if you are taking youngsters along. Encourage them to do reports for history or geography on the countries you'll touch, and guide the family conversations to such subjects. Their imagination and interest captured in advance will do much to offset the strangeness and weariness bound to be encountered on the trip. (If you are taking children, make more exact reservations, slow down your traveling pace, be prepared to be flexible.)

ing. But undercook (by U.S. standards) vegetables as the Orientals do for maximum flavor, nutrition, and appearance.

The new enthusiasm for cookery is a result of several factors. First, only 6% of U.S. families today can afford a cook. Also, there is a shortage of good cooks, both private and restaurant, due to tightened immigration laws that bar foreigners, and the social stigma that discourages natives.

MEANWHILE, travel and expense-account living are exposing millions to good food and its happy effect on the spirits, and many are also finding that cooking is absorbing and relaxing when they know how to do it well. As a result, instruction in classic-cooking techniques and the preparation of classic dishes are beginning to take a real hold in the U.S. As Dione Lucas says: "Food in this country is on its way to becoming as important as it is in France."

Proof of the pudding—the cooking class tries the dish after seeing and studying the way it is done.

ARE YOU STILL IN THE OVEN,

the wall for long minutes—Hyde, with the rest.

In time he moved from Nandron to nearby Vienne, where he became assistant fish cook at La Pyramide, a world-famous restaurant.

WHEN HIS apprenticeship was completed, he returned to the U.S. and began teaching. Using the continental demonstration method in his classes, which are growing steadily, he does all cooking in full view of his students, explaining as he goes and climaxing the performance by giving them all a taste of each dish.

In cooking classes, most teachers try for an atmosphere of informality. But sometimes things get hectic.

"You have to keep five clocks going in your mind all the time," says Juliette Elkon, watching over half a dozen beginners at once. Under such circumstances, a culinary shorthand emerges. "Are you still in the oven, Mr. Talbot?" she may ask. "I'm afraid you're burning, Mrs. James." Or, "You're rising well, Mrs. Cameron."

Interested amateurs are thronging to cooking school to learn not merely elaborate dishes but also basic-cooking techniques. Thousands are picking up such practical pointers as:

—To test the heat of an omelet pan, apply a wet finger to the side of the pan. It is hot enough if you get a vibrant sizzle. But if the butter you drop in turns brown, it is too hot. Discard the butter and wave the pan to cool it.

—Stock is still the base of many delicious soups, stews, and fish dishes, even if modern stoves have eliminated the old-fashioned stock pot which simmers for days. Collect bones, meat leftovers, and vegetable tops. When enough have accumulated, simmer them and freeze the resultant stock. Fish stock can be made in 30 minutes because the bones are gelatinous and disintegrate quickly, but chicken bones take two hours and veal, six to 12.

—The experienced chef measures cooking wine by glugs—one plug to the ounce. Wines should cook long, especially the reds, to bring out their full flavor. But sherry should be added at the last minute.

—To get the most flavor out of a sauce, reduce it by long simmer-fee from the airlines, ships, and hotels he sends you to. There are a number of things he doesn't know. Unless he has been there, he can tell you less about the hotels, trains, restaurants, and so forth in a given country than can an up-to-date travel book. And, most important, he doesn't know what you want unless you tell him. Tell him what kind of hotels you like. Be frank about how much you want to pay. It's your trip—not his. Go to him prepared with a firm list of what you really want to see, and don't be diverted. He's an agent—not your alter ego.

There are only two ways to check on his competence. If information he offers doesn't generally agree with what you find in a good travel guide or in the country's own literature, check up and find out who's right. If he's not careful of the rest of his advice. And if he is mottled, slow getting answers to your questions, beware doubly.

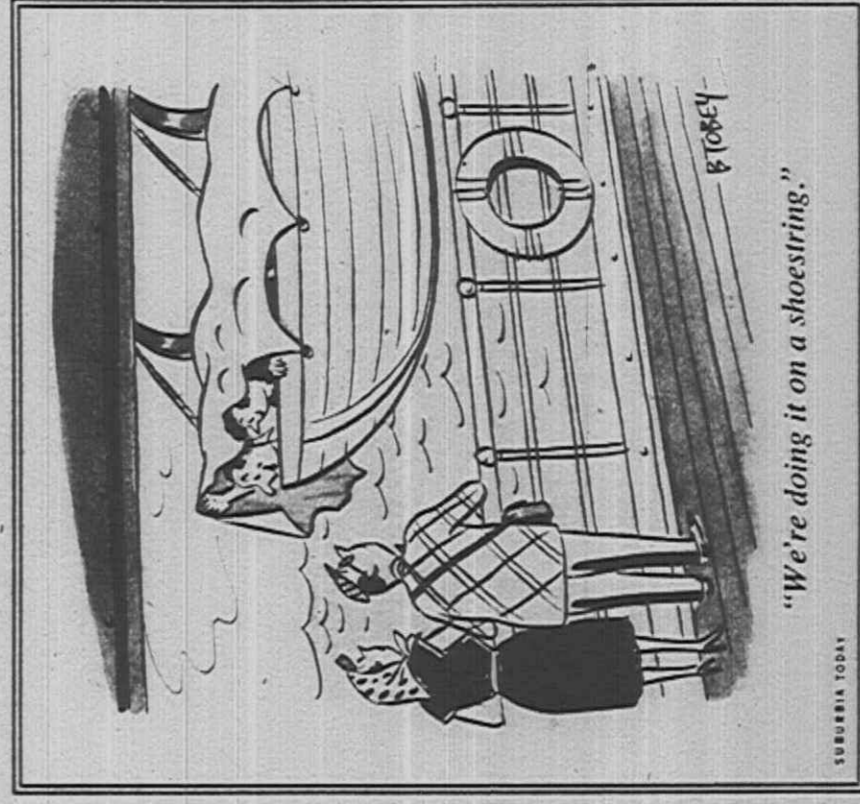

Sunday Driving Every Day. If you've fought your way in or out of a big city on a holiday weekend, and occasionally beaten out a taxi driver, you can drive in Europe. Not that you'll encounter anything like the volume of traffic, but you'll need confidence, steel nerves, and know-how to get you there.

As far as the road signs go, you won't believe it until you see for yourself how easy it is to follow the highways and the rules of the road with the help of the graphic little picture-markers that are used identically in every country.

Except for rare instances, everything you have ever heard or read about European horn-tooting is horribly true. Somehow your nervous system will finally adjust to the noise, as will your reflexes to the habit of flashing your own lights and blowing your own horn when you're going to pass, and using only your lowest lights in cities—a custom they feel very strongly about, no matter how poorly lighted the city is. Italy is in a class all by itself, and a good thing to do at the border is to offer up a prayer to the patron saint of travelers.

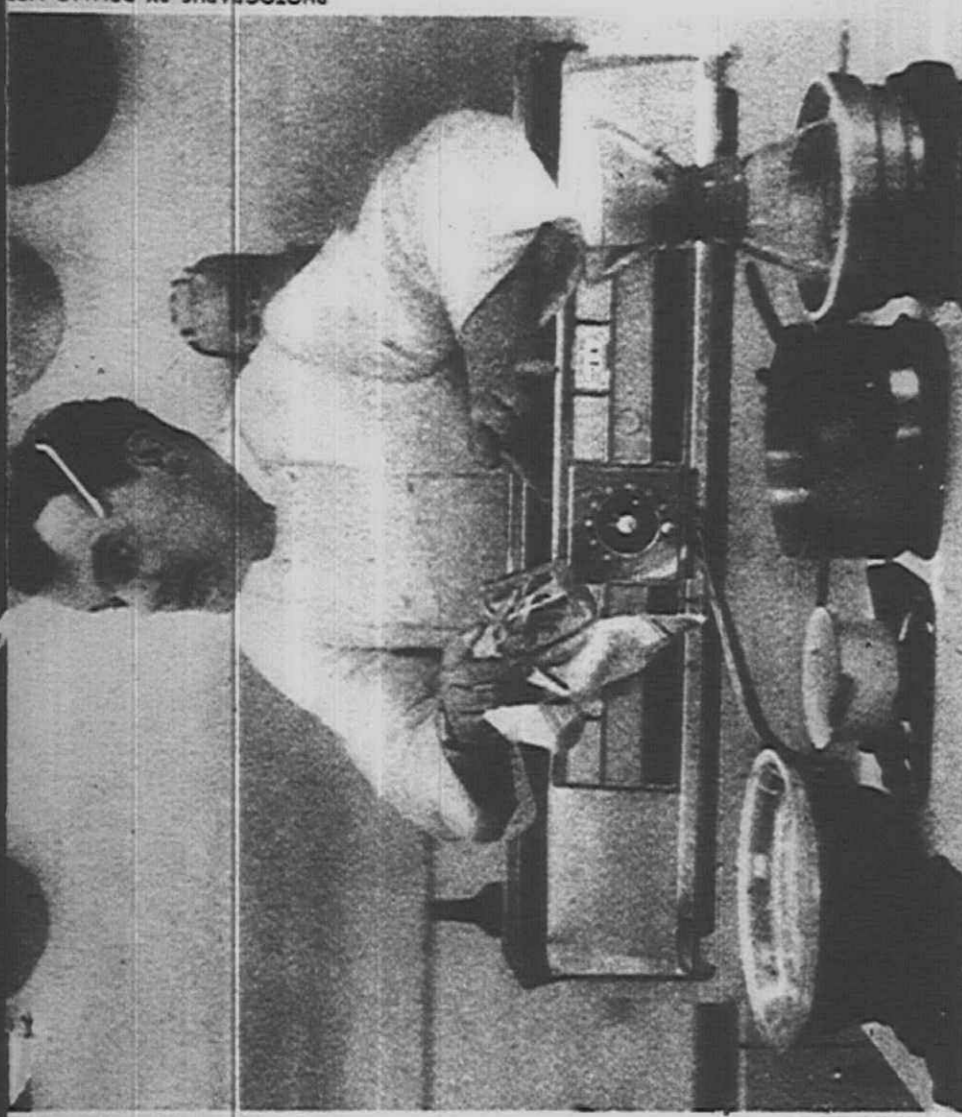

Gas stations are almost as plentiful in most countries as at home, and you'll see many a familiar name (though your U.S. credit card won't be good). Best driver's tools are a good European map (you'd better get one at home and Beard's, where 8 lessons cost $125 plus food costs, and that of Dione Lucas, where six lessons cost $100, including food. Students range from fashion models, middle-aged housewives, and big-name actresses to lawyers, advertising men with food accounts, and private cooks, often sent by their employers. Men usually are in the minority, but not necessarily a conspicuous one. Thanks to the charcoal broiler, thousands of American males already know something of the pleasures of being a chef.

The enormously accelerating interest in food is best illustrated by the career of Joseph Hyde, a 32-year-old scion of a well-to-do family and a master of the demonstration technique in cooking schools. He has devoted himself to cooking with the same ardor that leads other scions into Wall Street, law, or banking. Not long after college, he was drafted for the Korean War and asked if he would serve in an army kitchen. He boldly replied he would—if he could be assured a supply of wine to cook with. A warrant officer, badly in need of a cook, agreed to wangle it for him.

What followed constitutes a new episode in Army cuisine which might be entitled, "Tom Swift and his Electric Hot Plate." Hyde's company was assigned to a front-line group in Korea, where the chow was sent up to combat troops in huge thermos jugs that steamed everything—steak, potatoes, spa-

Joseph Hyde makes a fine point.

RECENTLY a young man named Joseph Hyde got a letter at his home in Palisades, New York, enclosing a small, poorly made French crepe, or pancake. With it was a note asking whether, in his valued opinion—he is a teacher of high-level cooking—this crepe had been correctly made. Hyde replied in the most direct way possible: he made a proper crepe and mailed it back.

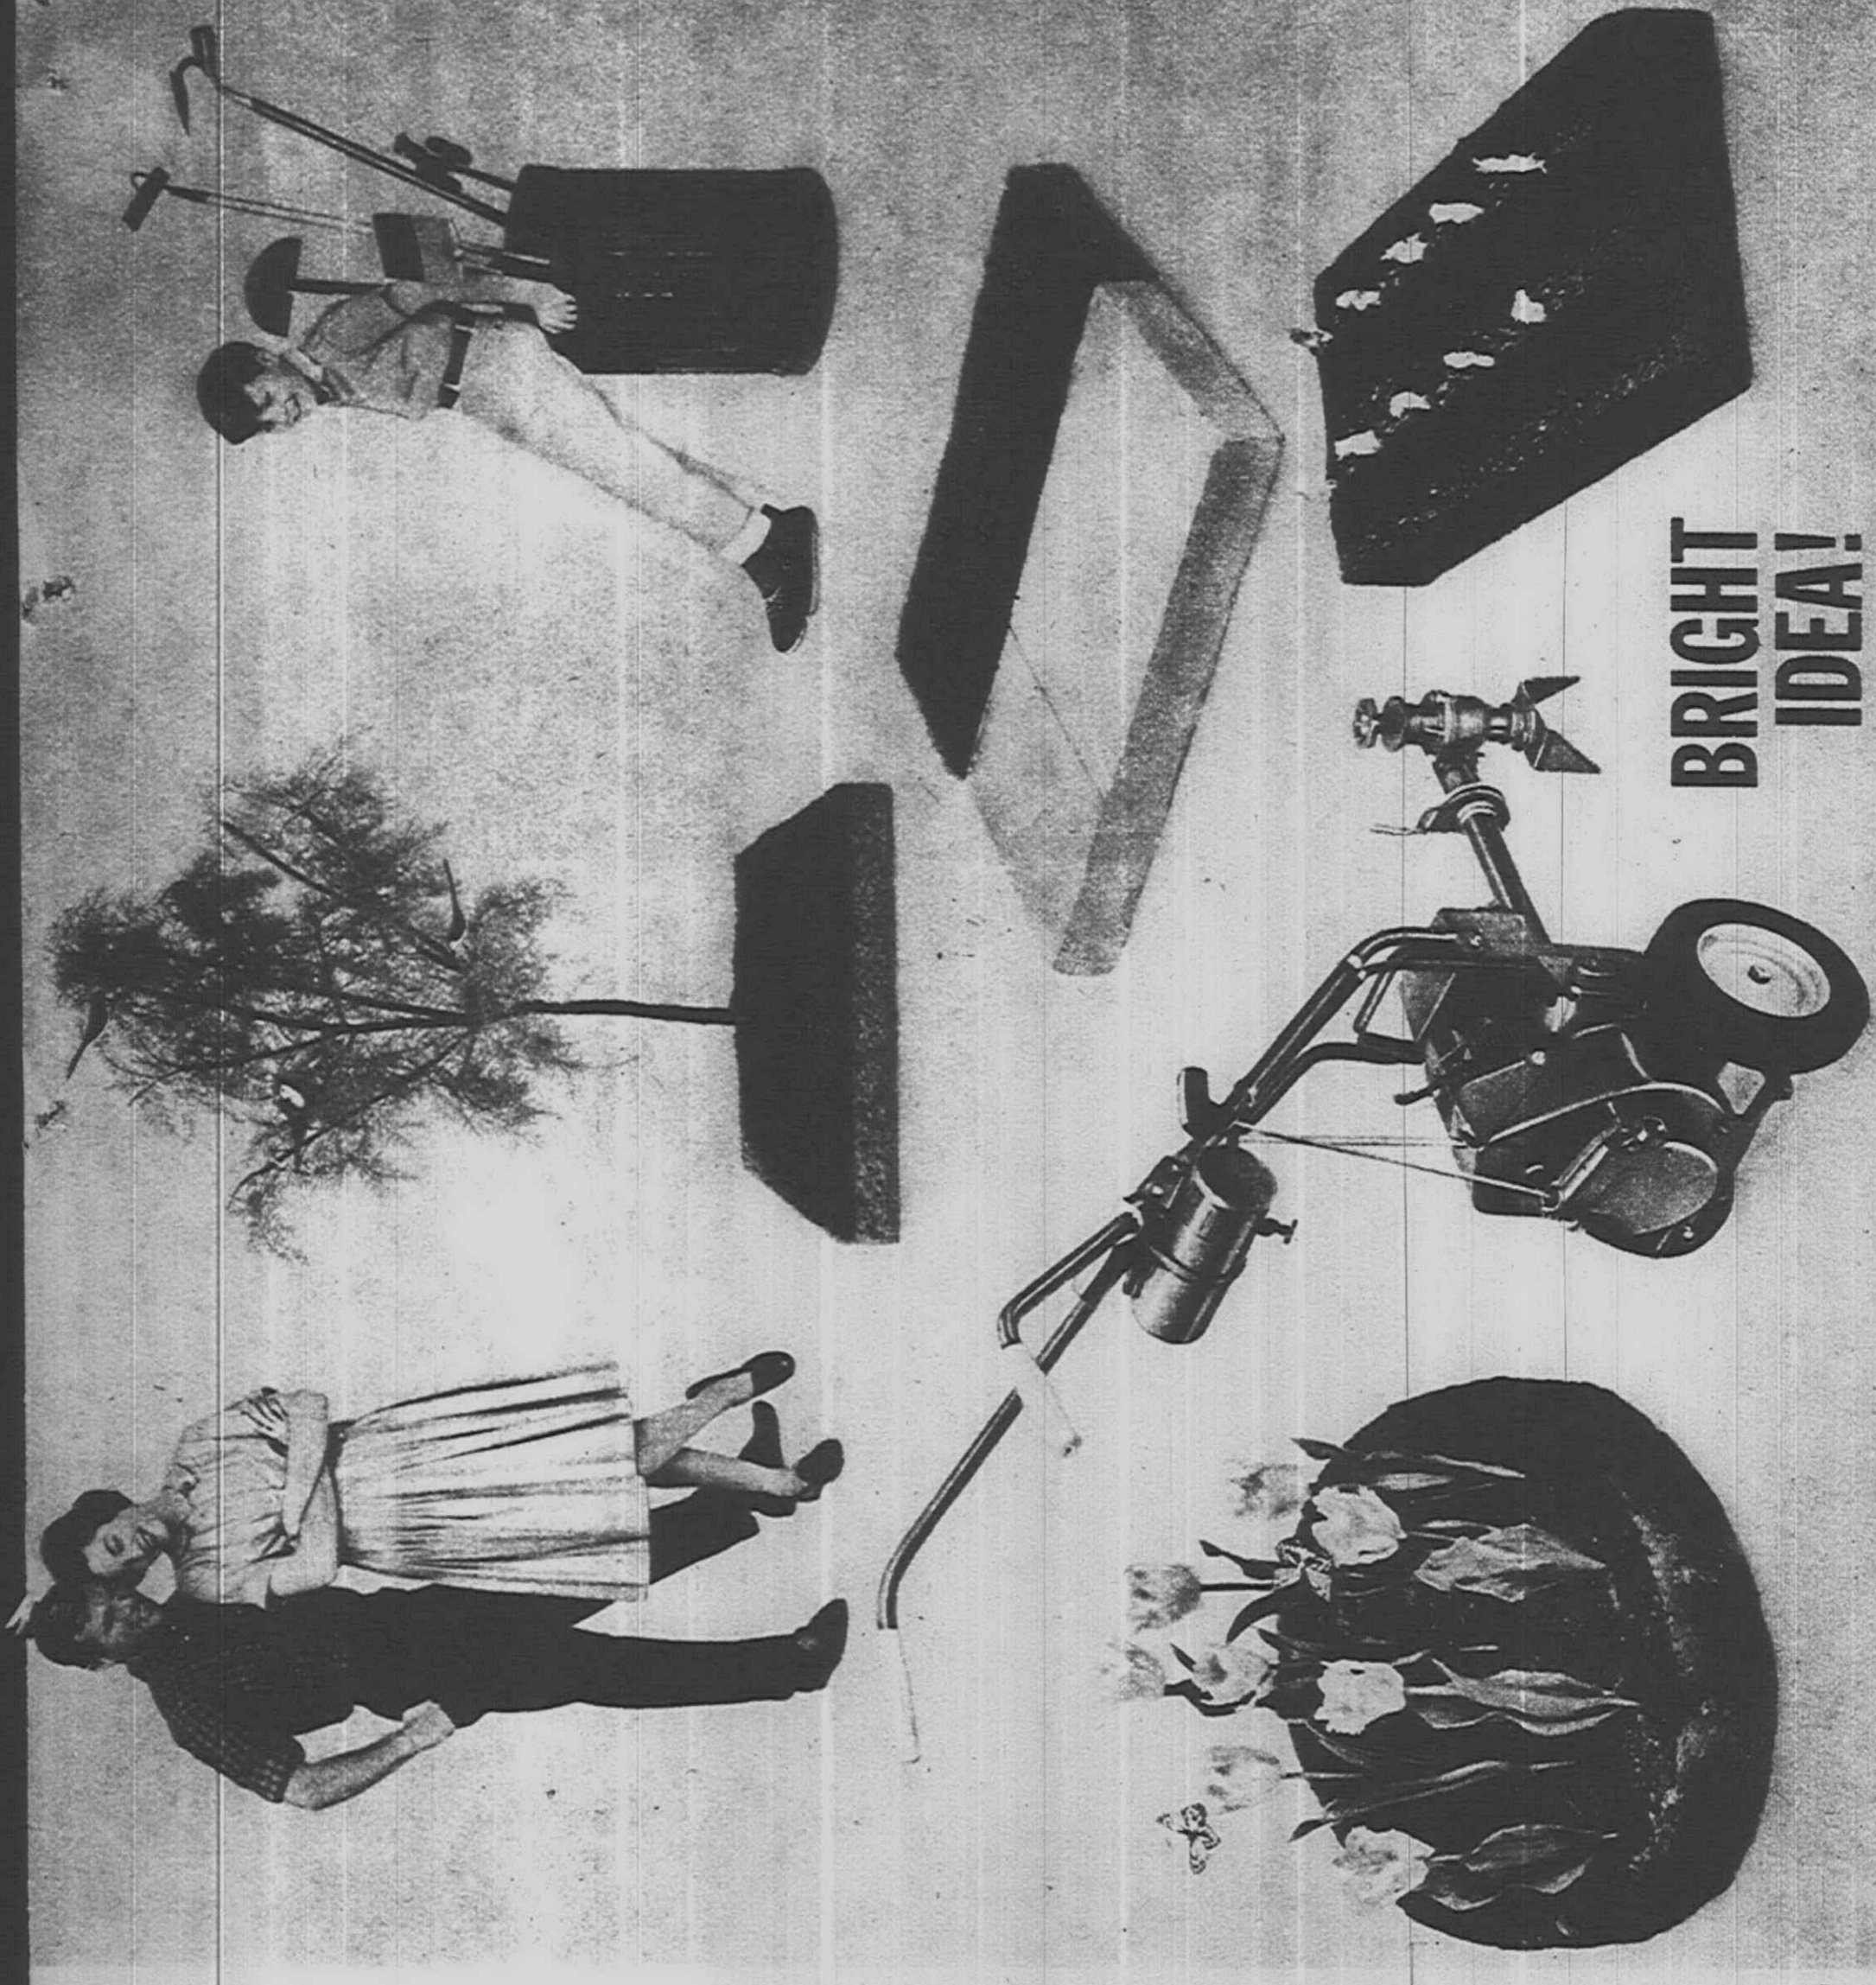

James R. Beard, another cooking teacher, periodically gets long-distance calls from a Houston matron who talks to him for an hour or more about what food and wine to serve at her next party. Beard suggests a menu and discusses preparations, and the matron gladly pays the charges, including Beard's fee for a private lesson: $25.

In Los Angeles a group of epicures take turns cooking elaborate dinners based on historical menus. One couple spent 11 months doing research on how the ancient Romans prepared certain foods, then reproduced a Lucullan feast.

All this points to the fact that the U.S. is in the grip of a new craze: to know good food, learn to prepare it, and eat it—often. "Gourmet" restaurants are springing up everywhere. Herb-and-spice sales are multiplying dizzily: one California concern has increased its gross from some half-million dollars to $10 million annually in the past decade. The sale of such exotic as whisks, copper dishes, and pastry sacks is mounting like the 1929 bull market. All kinds of culinary clubs—eating, learning, or knowledge sharing—stud the country from Boston's Beacon Hill Wednesday Night Buffet (six elegant dinners a year) to San Francisco's YWCA classes in Japanese-and-Chinese cooking, and Dallas's "Happy Pots" Club. Enthusiasm is such that one student—a Philadelphia dentist—commuted to New York twice a week for months to take lessons from Helen Worth, who has taught 15,000 students. When Joseph Hyde gave a cooking class as part of the humanities program at UCLA last year, the turnout was unprecedented—342 men and women.

COOKING CLASSES divide into two kinds, demonstrations and group participations. Participation classes are usually small—six to ten students at a sitting. They are conducted in light, handsome, superbly equipped kitchens. Two of the best known are James

Now! 4 Onion Dressings no one can buy

The very first onion dressings
...make them with this new GOOD SEASONS MIX!

Good Seasons Onion Dressing. So different, so delicious. A light, fresh dressing with an herb-spice base, flecks of sweet, red peppers, and a provocative touch of onion. Flavorful, but never sharp! Takes just seconds to mix. Easy directions are on the Good Seasons envelope. You combine your favorite oil, vinegar and a little water with the Mix. The water, or a substitute liquid, makes the blend smoother. (A continental chef's secret!) You can use many substitutes, vary the dressing to your own special taste. See the recipes below for delicious suggestions.

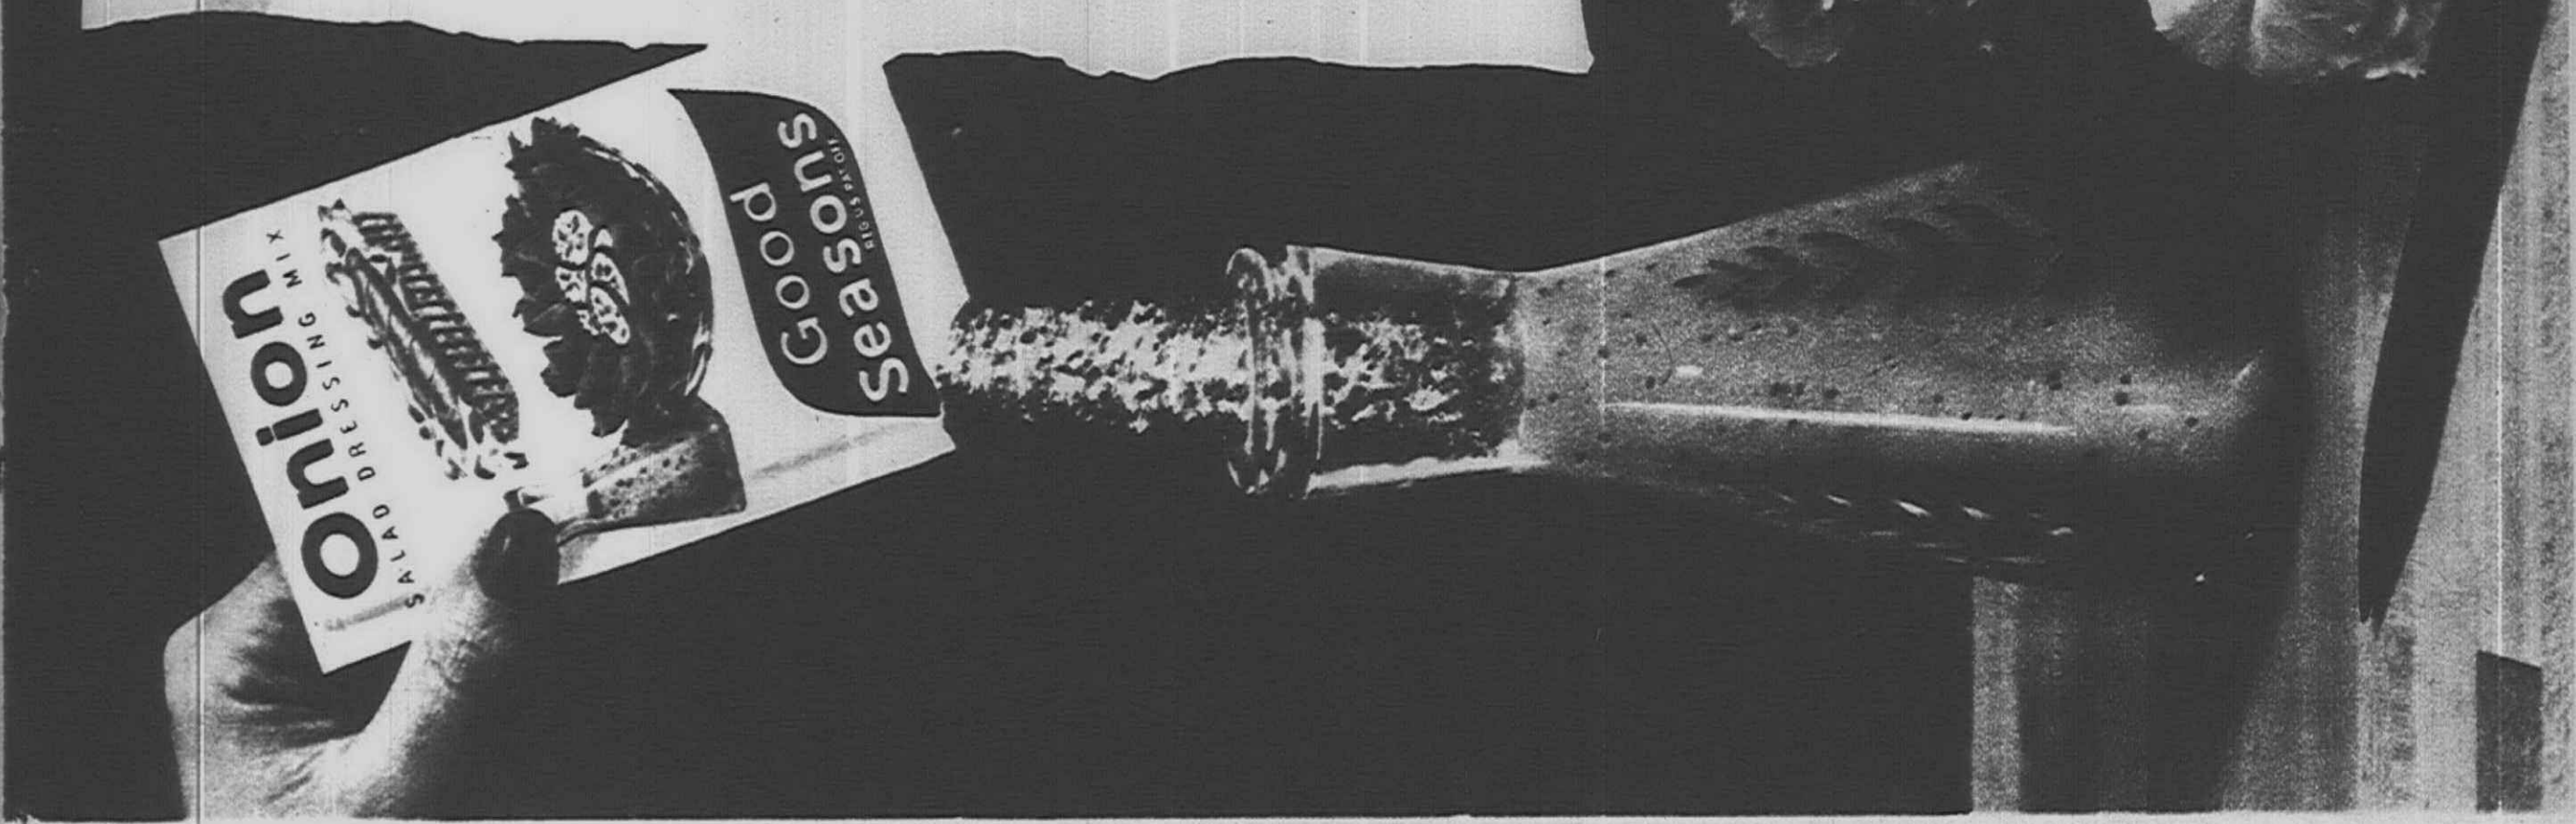

Creamy Onion Dressing for Cole Slaw. Prepare the Good Seasons Dressing but substitute either sour cream or mayonnaise for the water. This dressing, stirred into shredded cabbage salads, adds all that leary business of chopping onions. And the flavor is evenly distributed, subtle, heavenly!

Onion-Orange Dressing. In making the dressing, use orange juice instead of water. New and very good on all fruit salads. Or, on a green salad that has either orange sections or canned mandarin oranges (so easy), and a sprinkle of blue cheese chunks.

Tomato-Onion Dressing with Sweet Pickle. Substitute chili sauce or catsup for the water. Final touch: add 1 tablespoon chopped sweet pickle. A smooth and zesty dressing, to brighten green salads, sea food, cottage cheese.

Get the new Good Seasons cruet, with measurements marked, where you buy the 7 Mixes: Italian, Classic, Garlic, Cheese-Garlic, Onion, Blew Cheese, Exotic Herbs.

DOBOS TORTE

Delicate layers, velvety rich chocolate filling, and a crunchy caramel-like topping were the inspiration of a gifted Hungarian pastry chef named Dobos.

TO PREPARE: 45 MIN.
TO BAKE: ABOUT 15 MIN.

Hungarian Chocolate Frosting
(see recipe)

- 6 egg yolks
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 6 egg whites
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 cup sifted flour
- 3/4 cup confectioners' sugar

1. Prepare Hungarian Chocolate Frosting.
2. For Torte—grease bottoms only of six 8-in. round layer-cake pans; line bottoms with waxed paper cut to fit; grease paper. Set aside.
3. Beat egg yolks and 1/4 cup sugar together until very thick and lemon colored; set aside.
4. Using clean bowl and beaters, beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually add 1/4 cup sugar, beating well after each addition. Beat until rounded peaks are formed and egg whites do not slide when bowl is partially inverted.
5. Gently spread egg-yolk mixture over beaten egg whites. Sift one-fourth of the flour at a time over surface and gently fold until just blended after each addition. Do not overmix! Spoon equal amounts of batter into cake pans and spread evenly.
6. Stagger pans in oven and bake at 350°F about 15 min., or until lightly browned. Remove torte layers to cooling racks.
7. Carefully and quickly invert layers onto the racks. Beginning at center, tear paper and gently pull it off. Place layers, right side up, on cooling racks and cool completely.
8. To assemble torte, beat the chilled frosting until fluffy. Spread 1/4 in. thick on four of the torte layers; stack layers. Add fifth layer, but do not frost top. Spread frosting thinly on sides of torte. Put the five layers and remaining frosting in refrigerator.
9. Meanwhile, place the sixth layer on a shallow baking sheet. Mark into 16 to 18 wedge-shaped pieces with back of knife blade; do not cut wedges apart. Grease a small area of the baking sheet around the torte layer (so topping will not stick to baking sheet if it runs off).
10. For Topping—stirring constantly, melt confectioners' sugar in a small, heavy skillet over low heat until sugar is smooth and golden brown. Remove from heat and quickly pour onto top layer of torte. Spread topping evenly over layer with a spatula, working rapidly before sugar hardens. With back of knife blade, make indentations over those marked in torte layer. Then cut wedges apart.

11. Remove the stacked layers and frosting from refrigerator. Beat frosting until fluffy. Spread frosting 1/4 in. thick on top of fifth layer and arrange wedges on top of it. Frost sides of sixth layer. Using a pastry bag and a decorating tube, pipe a border of frosting around top edge of torte. Chill in refrigerator until frosting is firm. 16 to 18 servings

TO PREPARE AND COOK: 30 MIN.

- 4 sq. (4 oz.) unsweetened chocolate, melted
- 8 hazelnuts (filberts)
- 1 cup firm unsalted butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup water
- 6 egg yolks

1. Set chocolate aside to cool. Heat nuts in a 400°F oven 3 to 5 min., or until skins are loosened and nuts are lightly toasted. Remove from oven, cool slightly, and remove skins. Chop nuts finely and set aside.
2. Cream butter and extract together until butter is light and fluffy. Set aside.
3. Mix sugar and water together in a small saucepan, cover, and bring sirup to boiling over low heat. Uncover pan, set candy thermometer in place, and continue cooking sirup to 230° F (sirup spins a 2-in. thread when allowed to drop from tip of a spoon).
4. Meanwhile, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beating constantly, pour the hot sirup very gradually in a thin stream into egg yolks. (Do not scrape pan.) Beat egg-yolk mixture until very thick and of same consistency as the creamed butter. Cool completely. Beat egg-yolk mixture, about 2 tablespoons at a time, into butter until just blended. Adding gradually, beat in chocolate and hazelnuts. Set in refrigerator to chill until ready to use. 3 cups frosting

Fine Art?

BY IVAN DMITRI

Director of "Photography In The Fine Arts" Exhibits

Look at the photographs on these pages and judge for yourself

IF YOU ARE A STUDENT of art and you wish to see examples of the finest work produced in the past, where do you go? To the museums, of course. So, too, with prints, etchings, and drawings.

Now, if a student of photography wishes to see what qualities do all of these pictures have in common that make them worthy of being hung in museums all over the world? They were judged, first, as any other work of art would be. Form, composition, perspective, technique, movement, and emotion were some of the factors considered.

But, as we know, a work of art is more than this. AS ONE JUROR put it, each one of these, when you come upon it suddenly, has such vitality that it "makes the pulse jump slightly." Each is more than just a careful record of reality—is rather an expression of a great moment, a great idea, caught forever on film. They are not all beautiful moments, although in art all that excites is beautiful. Some are tragic, some historical, some even ugly, but never aesthetically ugly.

Our juries receive no instructions other than to seek out the great photographs, those inspiring and gallery in the world. Perhaps it will happen within the next six or seven years. And when it does, we will happily go out of business.

There have been two different touring exhibits since we began. Each year a panel of judges selects what it considers aesthetic photography, works that will stand the test of time . . . that are indeed works of art.

And what makes a photograph a work of art? What qualities do all of these pictures have in common that make them worthy of being hung in museums all over the world? They were judged, first, as any other work of art would be. Form, composition, perspective, technique, movement, and emotion were some of the factors considered.

But, as we know, a work of art is more than this. AS ONE JUROR put it, each one of these, when you come upon it suddenly, has such vitality that it "makes the pulse jump slightly." Each is more than just a careful record of reality—is rather an expression of a great moment, a great idea, caught forever on film. They are not all beautiful moments, although in art all that excites is beautiful. Some are tragic, some historical, some even ugly, but never aesthetically ugly.

memory of their subject matter.

We've had plenty of opposition, often by potent influences in the field of photography. Edward Steichen, a great photographer and director of the Department of Photography at New York's Museum of Modern Art, has called our project "the most damaging thing that has ever happened to the art of photography." He has accused us of being "slipshod" in our methods of collecting photographs for our jury. We've also been attacked by some of the trade publications in the field, one of which published a story after our first exhibit opened, entitled, "The Day Photography Got Kicked In The Head."

Our second exhibit is now on tour in 28 museums around the United States and in several foreign countries. We expect the storm of controversy to increase as the exhibit tours, but this can be good. We welcome all constructive criticism; we learn from it. The more people who come, who see, who talk and argue, the better.

We believe that photography as a fine art must eventually be accepted by almost every museum and gallery in the world. Perhaps it will happen within the next six or seven years. And when it does, we will happily go out of business.

An epicure's delight is this roast pork shoulder with a subtly
flavored rice stuffing.

CAVIAR

For the ultimate in appetizers, set out a tray holding small bowls filled with fresh Beluga caviar, coarsely chopped onion, chopped hard-cooked eggs, whites and yolks separately, and thick sour cream. Accompany with a basket of Melba toast and pumpernickel slices. Allow guests to spoon any combination they desire onto the toast or bread.

FRESH HAM WITH EXOTIC STUFFING

TO PREPARE: 40 MIN.
TO ROAST: 4½-5½ HRS.

- 6- to 8-lb. boned fresh ham (leg of pork) or lean shoulder
- ¼ cup butter or margarine
- 1 cup uncooked rice
- 2 large onions, chopped (about 1½ cups)
- 1 10¼-oz. can condensed beef bouillon, undiluted
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups chopped celery
- 3 cups small bread cubes
- 1 13¼-oz. can pineapple tidbits, drained (reserve sirup)
- ½ cup seedless raisins
- ¼ to 1 teaspoon curry powder
- ¼ teaspoon garlic powder
- ¼ teaspoon marjoram
- 1 teaspoon seasoned salt
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon black pepper
- 2 teaspoons ground ginger

- Have meat dealer bone the leg or shoulder of pork. (If leg is used, have it cut almost through to bottom so it will lie flat.) Have wooden skewers available.

- Heat butter in a large skillet. Add rice and onion and cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until rice is light brown. Stir in bouillon and 1 teaspoon salt; cover tightly and simmer over very low heat 15 min. Combine with celery, bread cubes, pineapple, raisins, and a mixture of curry powder, garlic powder, marjoram, and seasoned salt; blend thoroughly, tossing lightly with a fork.
- Rub inside surface of flattened leg or shoulder with a mixture of 1 teaspoon salt and the pepper.

- Spread dressing over meat; roll lengthwise, secure firmly with skewers, and lace tightly. (Any leftover casserole may be baked in a greased casserole; place in oven about 1 hr. before meat is done.)

- Rub outside of meat with the ginger, then place on rack in shallow roasting pan.
