Coronary Takes Life Of Municipal Judge Perlongo

A coronary attack took the life Tuesday morning of Nandino Perlongo, who for the past 12 years has served as the City of Plymouth's municipal judge. He was 52 years old.

He suffered the attack at 5 a.m. and at 6:10 a.m. died at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor. He had suffered a similar attack three years ago.

Judge Nandino Perlongo

Highly respected among persons in the judiciary and known for his firm, and often stern handling of repeat violators, Judge Perlongo also served as attorney for the Plymouth Board of Education.

His law practice and elective position were considered a notable achievement by many because of his blindness.

Born in Italy and later naturalized, the judge was reared in Gaastra, Mich. where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Perlongo, still live. He graduated from the Michigan School for the Blind and Michigan State University and earned his law degree at the University of Michigan in 1937.

In November 1942 he moved to Plymouth and became a law associate of Dunbar Davis. He ran for municipal judge in 1949 and won over the incumbent candidate. He was re-elected to a two-year term in 1953 and 1959. His present term has four years remaining. The City Commission will appoint a successor.

Unknown to many people, Judge Perlongo donated much time and money to a number of projects, including the Michigan School for the Blind and Plymouth's school system. As attorney for the Board of Education, he often returned his fee and designated it to some project.

He was especially noted for his interest in hi-fi and sound systems. He donated time and money to developing the sound system in the present Junior High and was working on another system for the new junior high. During the recent High School musical, "The Mikado," he furnished stereo tapes to those taking part.

Judge Perlongo was probably among the first in the area to adopt hi-fi as a hobby. Most of his entire basement was devoted to elaborate recording and play-back equipment. Though blind, he did much of the work himself.

Because of his lack of eyesight, the judge had to develop a keen memory of facts relating to the cases and legal jobs he was performing.

Surviving are his wife, Dorian (Dodge) Perlongo; two children, James, 15, and Mary, 13; four brothers, five sisters and his parents. Three of his brothers, Herman, Joseph and James, live in Plymouth.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Thursday from the Schrader Funeral Home, The Rev. Henry J. Walsh, D.D., pastor of First United Presbyterian Church, will officiate. Interment is in Riverside Cemetery.

Midnight Madness Striking Again!

They're doing it again! Plymouth merchants are going berserk again next Wednesday night — and it's all part of the annual Midnight Madness sale that has brought out thousands of shoppers in years past in search for unusual bargains.

Most retailers will close their stores at 6 p.m. Wednesday and then re-open at 8. Stores will keep their doors open until midnight.

"You have to be crazy to mark down prices the way we are for the night," one merchant declared as he prepared for the evening of fun. A circular listing many of the bargains will be going into all Plymouth area homes early next week.

Fun-Filled 'Philadelphia Story' Opens Four-Day Run Thursday

As gay and as light as a billion balloons bobbing spaceward is the Guild's spring production, "Philadelphia Story." Gone are the grave concerns of "The Crucible" and the somber, sonorous sounds of "Inherit the Wind." It's time to settle back, relax and chuckle contently at the romantic antics of Tracey Lord, the sylph-like comments of Uncle Willie, and the healthy, good-natured humor of adolescent Dinah in the fun-filled "Philly Story."

As Tracey Lord says in the third act, "she was yar" (the "she" in this case is a sailboat True Love ... and "yar" refers to a slang expression meaning "top performance." Yes, sar, the Theater Guild's spring production opening to-orrow night for a four-day run is "YAR" and by far a real shining star. The brilliance of its professional rays are due in no small part to the cooperative spirit always providing a firm foundation to any Plymouth Theater Guild production.

"The Philadelphia Story" tells of a romantic battle of wits in which Tracey Lord has three young swains chasing her for the right to be married to her. Dexter, her hubby by an early marriage, shows signs of once again "on the second time around" that he will provide keen competition with Tracey's latest beau, George Kittredge. Love's old sweet song approaches choral dimensions when a bit later in the play a third suitor appears in the

20-Unit Apartment Project Issued Permit

A building permit was issued today by City Building Safety Inspector Charles Thompson for an apartment building that will eventually have 38 units—making it the largest such project ever undertaken here.

Ground will be broken soon for the group of buildings that will face the Sheldon Rd. and N. Territorial Rd. intersection. The buildings will be on the northwest corner of the intersection.

Called the Frances Apartments, they are being built by John Hancock, a Grosse Ile investor, who is naming them after his wife.

The first part of the project will have 20 apartments. (Continued on Page 8)

WHIT-PLY, a Junior Achievement company sponsored by Whitman & Barnes, was presented the Company of the Year trophy at the Plymouth JA Center last Thursday as seven of the miniature firms closed their books for another season. From left are Woodrow Tichy, general manager of Whitman & Barnes; Wallace

Fleming, executive director of the Southeastern Michigan JA program; and Ben Creech, president of Whit-Ply and a Plymouth High School student. The firm sold $1,592 and earned a profit of $510 this year by making and selling costume jewelry and reel-type extension cords.

Community College Forum

Background of The Question

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of five articles written by Dr. Eric J. Bradner, coordinator of the Proposed Northwest Wayne County Community College. Electors in six school districts will decide June 12 if they want to establish the college.)

By Dr. Eric J. Bradner When World War II ended, many veterans decided they needed additional education. Armed with Federal aid, they went to college, nearly doubling the pre-war enrollment figures. The Korean Veterans and the increased birth rate of the '40's convinced educators that a real problem was in the making. Projections indicated that by 1965 colleges would be swamped with students.

All Michigan colleges nearly doubled and the 16 community colleges nearly tripled their enrollments from 1953 to 1960. This growth caused State and local groups to become concerned. The Michigan Legislature authorized a study which recommended, among other things, the establishment of at least three more community colleges in Wayne County—one to be in our area. When several studies, conducted locally, appeared to verify these conclusions, it was decided to request the school boards to look further into the matter.

An "Executive Committee" was established, with one school board member from each district, to work with the citizens. The movement to establish a community college had begun to take shape.

Changes were needed in the Community College Law before school districts could join to establish a Community College District. During the past two years these changes were recommended to the Legislature, which passed them. Last fall the University of Michigan was requested to assist in a master study of the area. This excellent study was finished by March 1 of this year.

Plymouth and the Civil War

(This is the fifth in a series of articles about Plymouth and the role its citizens played in the Civil War 100 years ago.)

By Jean Campau In an effort to see the War Between the States through the eyes of the soldier as it was in its reality, we continue with documents from that period. In these letters written to his sister, Ellen, Lt. Lucius Shattuck describes camp conditions, morale of the men and the line of march leading to the halloast that was the battle of Fredericksburg. The river he refers to is the Rappahannock.

Lt. Shattuck, 26, was a bachelor and was a University of Michigan student when he enlisted with 100 other Plymouth men who formed Company C of the 24th Infantry Regiment. The family home was located at the site now occupied by Burroughs Corp. He was killed July 1, 1863 at Gettysburg.

Near Warrenton, Va. November 10th, 1862 Dear Ellen: We have now had three mails in succession without my getting anything and I begin to think it time to remind you of it. You have written probably as often as I deserve to hear, yet I can't help feeling disappointed at not receiving something when after a week's delay we finally get a mail. Our mail has been quite irregular for the past two weeks on account of our being constantly on the move. Nor have we been able to send letters.

We are still in the camp from which I sent the last letter to Mort, having been obliged to wait for provisions. The fact is, we have marched so fast that we have got clear ahead of our transports, and have been short of rations for a few days. But the trains arrived yesterday bringing us a supply again.

You must make some allowance for what you may have heard from us during the past few days as the boys were a little hungry, consequently very cross. When the cars get to running to Warrenton we will be able to get plenty of supplies and can move forward again. Till then, we shall probably stay here or nearby. We have a pretty fair camping ground here in the woods on a side-hill near good water and with plenty of wood, of course.

We have had several calls from boys of other Regiments since coming here. Tommie Merritt was here on Friday. He has not heard from home in a long time and is a little (Continued on Page 8)

Only 8 Attend Public Hearing

New starting and dismissal hours are ahead for Plymouth Community School District pupils next fall as the result of a public hearing by the Board of Education Monday night at which there were no definite objections made to the change.

Only eight interested parents appeared at the special public hearing held in the Junior High Library where 60 chairs had been set up. While the visitors asked questions, none voiced opposition to the latest recommendations of Supt. of Schools Russell Isbister.

Many parents were disturbed at the first recommendation of two months ago which called for starting Junior and Senior High students at 8 a.m. and dismissing them at 3 while starting elementary children at 9 and dismissing them at 4.

Last week the superintendent issued a new recommendation which draws the starting and dismissal hours of the two groups closer together but will still give buses a chance to make separate trips for elementary and secondary pupils.

The schedule will be this: Kindergarten: morning session 8:45 to 11:30 p.m.; afternoon session 12:35 to 3:20 p.m.

Elementary schools first and second grades: start at 8:45 a.m. and dismiss at 3:20 p.m.

Elementary schools third through sixth grades: start at 8:45 a.m. and dismiss at 3:30 p.m.

Junior High School: start at 8 a.m. and dismiss at 2:50 p.m.

Senior High School: start at 8 a.m. and dismiss at 2:38 p.m. (Those taking an optional seventh hour will be dismissed at 3:38 p.m.)

Those who objected to the earlier schedule pointed out that late dismissal of small children would interfere with the church, Scout and other organizational programs that meet after school.

One spokesman at Monday's hearing said that he represented a Bird School group and they were happy with the new recommendations and was there "to make sure they don't change."

A change in hours was suggested for two reasons:

1. Because of complicated bus schedules, children in various schools were starting and being dismissed at different hours. Some children, the superintendent noted, are forced to leave school on an early bus while others must wait as long as 40 minutes after school for their bus to arrive. He feels that the new schedule will eliminate this.

2. A change will also eliminate the purchasing of additional buses for at least several (Continued on Page 8)

Deadline Nears For Board Race

One petition has been filed but three others have been secured for the single Board of Education seat that will be available in the Plymouth Community School District at the June 12 election.

The one petition already filed is for Richard B. Stribley, 1042 Carol. Deadline for filing the petitions is 4 p.m. this Saturday.

This year there is but one vacancy on the Board of Education. It is the seat held by Harold Fischer, who after two terms is not seeking re-election. Instead, Fischer has filed a petition as the Plymouth district's trustee to the Proposed Northwest Wayne County Community College.

Dog Tags Needed By June 1

Plymouth Township Hall expects a big rush of dogs this Saturday as they stage their second Dog Clinic. Last week, only 66 dogs were licensed.

This Saturday will be the second and final date for the Dog Clinic. There are around 935 dogs in the Township and all must have their new tags before June 1.

Hours of the clinic are 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

The City of Plymouth will also have a clinic for its dogs on Saturdays, May 20 and 27.

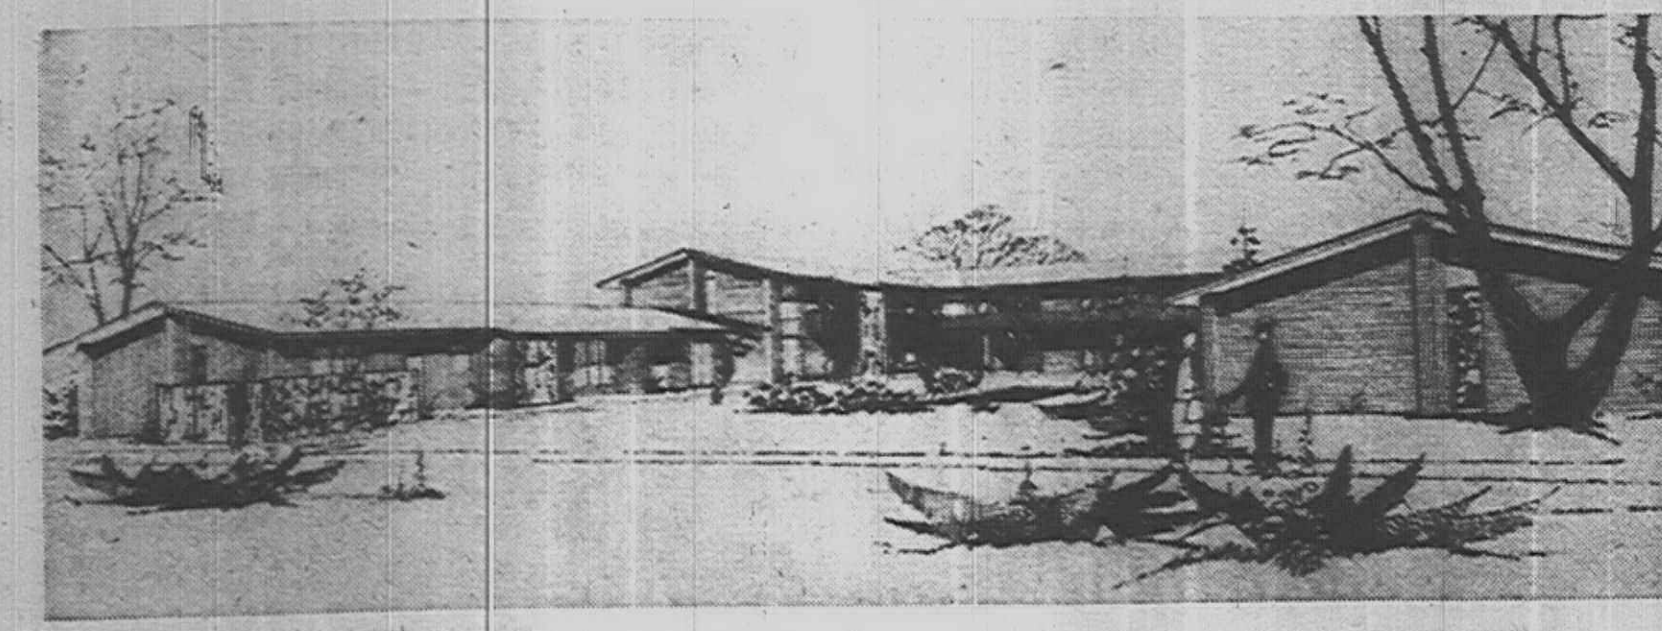

The hours will be the same as the Township, but the place will be the City Hall.

Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher estimates there are around 700 dogs in the City to be tagged.

Cost of licenses in the Township is $4 for females and $2 for males. After June 1, the cost goes up $2.

City dog tags cost $2 for all dogs. In both the City and Township, a house-to-house canvass will take place following the deadline.

Rabies vaccinations are necessary before the licenses are sold. If the dog received the new two-year shot last year, proof of the vaccination must be shown. Only two-year immunization is now obtainable.

STARTING SOON will be this first unit of an apartment house project located on the northwest corner of N. Territorial Rd. and Sheldon. There will be 20 apartments in the first unit and 18 in another unit that are expected to be built later. There are one and two-story levels and one and two-bedroom apartments.

KROGER opened doors to its new building on N. Main St. Tuesday morning and cars jammed the parking lot all day. Mayor pro tem Marvin Terry cut the ribbon to open the store as City, Chamber of Commerce and dozens of customers looked on. This photo was taken at dusk.

Wedding Bells Ring Out At Lidgard-Limburg Rites

Roberta Gaye Lidgard and Gordon G. Limburg were united in marriage Saturday, April 15 at the Grandale Presbyterian Church. The Rev. L. J. Peterson solemnized the couple's vows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Robert Lidgard, was gowned in a dress of white peau de soie, with a sabrina neckline, lace bodice and long sleeves. The skirt of the gown was bell shaped and embroidered in a delicate lace and ended in a chapel train. Her Swedish crown of pearls and crystal held her fingertip illusion veil. The bridal bouquet was composed of white orchids and white stock.

The church altar was trimmed with vases and large standing baskets of white gladioli, snapdragons and yellow baby mums and candelabra with white candles.

Miss Mary Atcheson, organist, accompanied soloist Nat Sibbold.

Jean's Jottings

Recently decided it was time for a long overdue dental checkup and so with trembling and trepidation made an appointment with a dentist near The Plymouth Mail. My astonishment was enormous when I discovered the tremendous advances the field of dentistry had taken.

To begin with, modern dentistry has become a science dedicated to preventing tooth difficulties with the eventual hope that in time the need for dentures will be eliminated, except in isolated and extreme cases.

My own examination consisted first of a thorough investigation, by X-ray, of each tooth. This was followed by taking a cast of my teeth. The substance used, which is pink in color, is a derivative of seaweed. While entirely painless, it's an experience of mixed feelings. On the one hand, it's a frustrating sensation having the substance harden in your mouth (though it's only allowed to set one or two minutes), but on the other hand, the mind is deterred from becoming panicky by the awareness of coolness emanating from the mixture. The dental impression is taken for the purpose of study in conjunction with the X-rays to determine the present stage of oral health and future plans of treatment.

Perhaps the most amazing giant step dentistry has made toward painless repair is the adoption of the Audiad. Evidently the old saw that says "music hath charm to soothe the savage beast" is rooted in fact. For the Audiad does soothe away the fear that often sits with us in the dental chair and does blot out pain.

It's such a simple operation that it must be heard to be believed. The real 'whys' of its operation are something of a mystery even to its discoverers, but its effectiveness is positive.

The patient, after being given several choices in his musical preferences (popular, classical or modern musicals, children can select any number of entertaining stories) then dons earphones, heavily padded with foam rubber and sits back, completely relaxed, to the strains of his favorite melodies. When the slightest discomfort is felt from the probe of the dentist's tools, the patient merely turns up the volume of hand-size control he holds. The device has two knobs, one adjusts the music, the other the noise level. The latter is kind of a non-irritating static. The combination of the two eliminates and stamps out pain and cancels the need for novocain and similar sedation.

Audiad absolutely erases the apprehensive fear the dental chamber has held for so long. And with its inception, a visit to the dentist is no longer the nerve racking ordeal it once was.

Students View Science Show

Principles of jet propulsion, synthetic rubber, molecules and a sunmobile are some of the demonstrations seen by Senior and Junior High School students Monday when General Motors brought its traveling science show, Previews of Progress, here.

The educational, non-commercial science stage show was presented at the Senior High Monday morning and at the Junior High in the afternoon. There are seven units of the show operating in the United States and 14 units overseas. During the past 14 years, more than 26 million children and adults have seen the presentation.

John Belohlavek and Bill Hein were the demonstrators.

Spanier-Farwell Vows Spoken At Double Ring Ceremony

At a nuptial high mass at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church April 8, Delores Marie Spanier and Richard Arlen Farwell exchanged vows at a double ring ceremony before the Rev. Father Kenneth J. Noetzel, S.J., of Cleveland, Ohio, a cousin of the groom.

Before the altar decorated with white gladioli and carnations Mr. J. C. Spanier gave his daughter in marriage.

The bride's gown was made of white imported chantilly lace over a bouffant skirt. The fitted bodice had a scalloped portrait neckline with long pointed sleeves. A scalloped lace apron swept to the back with a five tier nylon tulle chapel peacock train. Her French illusion veil was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of white amazon lilies and stephanotis.

Mrs. Gordon Nulty, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Alice Reddeman, Mrs. Gerald Mitchell, Mrs. Orville Tungate, Mrs. Dale Leveille and Mrs. Donald Gray. The bridal attendants all wore white nylon tulle ballerina length dresses with lavender pleated bodices and satin cummerbunds. Lavender headpieces, white shoes and gloves completed their costumes. They carried cascade bouquets of lavender carnations.

The flower girl, Maureen Nulty, niece of the bride, wore a dress identical to that of the bridesmaids and carried a basket of miniature lavender carnations.

Gregory Nulty, the bride's nephew, was ring bearer.

Brother of the groom, William Farwell, was best man. Ushers were William Strautz, Donald Gray, Jack Dobbs, and Gordon Nulty, the bride's brother-in-law and Jack Spanier, her brother.

Both mothers, Mrs. J. C. Spanier and Mrs. George Farwell, wore sheaths of embroidered lace with cape collars and matching accessories. Mrs. Spanier's was hyacinth blue and Mrs. Farwell's was plumarius pink.

Immediately following the 11 a.m. ceremony a wedding breakfast was held for the wedding party at Hillside Inn. An evening reception took place later at the Wayne County Conservation Club for 450 guests.

For her going-away outfit the new Mrs. Farwell chose a sand-dune colored sheath with matching coat and hat and tapestry shoes and bag. And she wore the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

Following the honeymoon trip to New Orleans and Biloxi, Miss., the couple will make their home in Lake Pointe Village.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Farwell are graduates of Plymouth High School.

Parents Seek to Form Cooperative Nursery

Formation of a cooperative nursery school in Plymouth is being undertaken by a group of housewives and a meeting will be held June 6 for other interested mothers.

The name of the "Plymouth Community Cooperative Nursery School," the organization held its first meeting May 3 at the home of Mrs. Philip Settles. The board of directors consists of Mrs. Settles, president; Mrs. James Pope, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Tripp, treasurer.

The next organizational meeting will be held June 6 at the home of Mrs. John Ryder. Anyone interested in joining the group is invited to attend the meeting and call GL 3-1361 or GL 3-2652 for further information.

The nursery will be for three and four year old children. Parents will participate in the sessions. Its purpose will be to provide opportunities for pre-school children and their families to learn and grow in experiences, understanding and confidence together.

Planners state that children gain by having the opportunity to associate with children of their own maturity in a planned environment while the parents gain insight into their own child's development and learn valuable techniques in handling problems.

Ghana has signed a contract to purchase 24 locomotives and 130 railroad coaches from a West German firm.

Tiger Scout Speaks to Optimists

A bright season for the Detroit Tigers was predicted by Ray Meyers, talent scout for the club, at a meeting of the Plymouth Optimist Club at which boys' teams sponsored by the Optimists were guests.

Two Optimist-sponsored intra-mural basketball teams and one hockey team were guests. The hockey team won the league championship and each member received a trophy. The club, in turn, was presented a special trophy of appreciation.

The guest speaker was Ray Meyers of Livonia, talent scout for the Tigers and a former Optimist. He noted that the Tigers have more steam and vigor team-wise than they have had in several seasons. He pointed out that they have more bench strength this season and that the average player age is younger this year than in many seasons.

Only Two Hits, Stevens Homers; Rocks Beat Bentley 4th Win Puts PHS On Top

Another good pitching performance — this one by Pete Lomonaco — hurled Plymouth's Rocks to their third consecutive Suburban Six League victory last Thursday 4-1 over Redford Union.

Each team managed only two hits, but the Rocks coupled their hits with opponents' miscues to remain undefeated in league play.

Redford Union scored first in the top of the first inning when Williams singled, stole second and scored on a throwing error by Plymouth catcher Bob Monteith.

Plymouth got that one back in the bottom of the first when three walks and a single produced the tying run. Rightfielder Brian Gilles walked and the shortstop Jim Ralston belted a single. When both catcher Bob Monteith and third baseman Dick Schryer walked, Gilles was forced home with the tying run.

In the third inning, Plymouth scored the winning run without a hit. Art Nelson was safe on an error and moved on to second when first baseman Darrell Miller also got on via an error. Gilles was hit by a pitch and the bases were loaded again. Nelson came home when Ralston was out at first on a fielder's choice.

Another Plymouth run was forced in during the fourth inning without a hit. Plymouth scored its last run in the 5th when Dick Schryer, who had tripled, scored from third on a ground ball to first.

Schryer's hit was Plymouth's only extra base blow and it came with Monteith on first. Monteith's score on the triple was disallowed, however, when it was ruled he didn't touch third.

4th Win Puts PHS On Top

Plymouth bumped off Bentley's baseball team Monday, 10-3, for its fourth consecutive Suburban Six League victory.

The victory set the stage for a showdown battle between Plymouth and Belleville at Plymouth on Thursday. Belleville won its first three league games.

The two teams haven't met yet, although they were scheduled to meet each other in the opener. That game was rained out.

In the Bentley game, Plymouth spotted the Bulldogs a two run lead in the first inning. Bentley led until the last half of the second, when Jared Stevens unloaded a three-run home run to send Plymouth ahead, 3-2.

The Rock leftfielder blasted his four-bagger with Dick Schryer and Pete Lomonaco on base. Bentley got that run back in the top of the third.

Plymouth came right back to go ahead in the bottom of the third when Pete Lomonaco singled home Bob Monteith with the winning run. Monteith had walked and moved to second when Schryer was safe on a Bentley error.

Lomonaco had two singles in two official tries.

Plymouth pitcher Dick Schryer held the Bulldogs in check the rest of the way, and Plymouth got him four more runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Shortstop Jim Ralston drove in two runs on an error by Bentley in the sixth, but the big blow of the inning was a triple by Schryer which scored Ralston and Monteith, who had walked.

A couple of errors in the last inning provided Plymouth with two more insurance runs.

POSING with his prize catch, a 65 lb. Whopper, is a happy, young fisherman, Robert Stewart. The fish was caught on the Marlin II. Stewart was in Florida during Easter vacation from school with Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schrader and their son, Win.

Whopper Whopper Trophy Winner

In a letter from the Boynton Beach, Fla. Chamber of Commerce, Robert G. Stewart, 1368 Elm St., was notified that the 65 lb. 5 ft. 7 in. Whopper he caught off the Boynton Inlet was the record-breaking whopper in the Chamber of Commerce Fishing Tournament.

Young Robert was vacationing with his friend, Win, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Schrader, during the Easter recess. Both boys are students at Plymouth Junior High.

Though Robert will not be on hand to have his trophy awarded to him personally. Tournament officials are forwarding it to him by mail.

Harriers Win By 1; Lose

Keith Baughman's track team nipped Allen Park 55-54 last Tuesday, but was swamped 71 and one-third to 37 and two-thirds by Bentley on Wednesday.

The split left the Rock harriers with a 2-1 season's record and heavy schedule to face this week.

Plymouth meets Belleville here tomorrow and will participate in the Regional meet at Bentley on Saturday. The Rocks were host to Trenton yesterday.

Plymouth won the Allen Park meet by sweeping the mile run late in the meet. Because track is scored by allowing five points for first, three for second and one for third in individual events, Plymouth actually won the meet when Ward Griffith placed third in the mile. It was the Rocks 55th point.

Only one event remained in the race, the 880 yard relay, and Allen Park won that.

Plymouth took seven of a possible 13 firsts in the meet. The Rocks lost the shotput, but Hugh Sarah was second and Ralph Spigarelli placed third.

Herb Park tied for second in the pole vault and Dan Stremick won the high jump with a leap of 5'4". Rick Sweet tied for second.

Chuck Bowers was second in the broadjump and Sweet was third. Bob Steele won the high hurdles in 16.3 seconds, but Allen Park won the mile relay.

Dave Fey won the 100 yard dash in 10.7 seconds and John Spigarelli won the 440 in 55.4. Bob Steele was third in the 180 yard low hurdles.

Fey scored his second win in the 220 yard dash, winning this event in 23.7. Dave Westover followed with a 2:13.8 in the 880, which was good for first. Bob Winterhalter was second.

Byron Latta won the mile and Tony Hunt was second, while Ward Griffith, who was third, got the point that won the meet.

Against Bentley, the Rocks got off poorly, although Hugh Sarah placed second in the shot put. Rick Sweet was third in the broadjump. Gary Sciba and Mark Fischer shared a third spot in the pole vault with Bentley.

Sweet and Stremick tied for second in the high jump and Bob Steele was second in the high hurdles.

Dave Fey got the Rocks' first win with a 10.4 in the 100 yard dash. Gary Mirto was third. John Spigarelli was third in the 440 and Bentley swept the low hurdles.

Fey came back to win the 220 in the 23.1 for his second double win of the week. Gary Mirto was third. Dave Westover won the half mile in 2:08.4, while Byron Latta won the mile in 4:47.1. Tony Hunt was second.

Bentley completed the meet by winning the 880 yard relay.

In the state regionals scheduled for this Saturday at Livonia Bentley 10 Class A and 13 Class B schools will compete. Starting time for the final events is 1:30 p.m. Allen Park, Farmington, Garden City, Inkster, Inkster-Richmond, Bentley, Melvindale, Southfield, Walled Lake and Plymouth will be competing in Class A.

Northville will be among the schools in the Class B meet.

Tennis Team Loses Two

The tennis team took two defeats last week, losing 8-1 to Trenton Tuesday and 5-2 to Northville Wednesday. Only Tom Lock, playing the number two singles, was able to win against Trenton.

Against Northville, the Rocks did slightly better when Dale Livingston and Dennis Smith combined to win the number two doubles. Larry Hall and Otto Dobus also won in the number three doubles.

The Rocks were scheduled at Allen Park yesterday and will meet Ypsilanti Thursday.

Tea sales to groceries and institutions in the United States totaled more than 108 million pounds in 1958, second largest in history.

Hayskar Low Twice As Golfers Win Two

With Del McAllister leading the way, Plymouth golfers drove past two more opponents last week to boost their season record to five wins and two losses.

The Rocks stung Redford Union 188-171 at Western last Wednesday and dumped Northville Friday 172-188. McAllister shot 37 at Western and 38 against Northville.

Steve Hayskar was next for Plymouth in both meets. He scored 40 against RU and 42 against Northville.

Carl Zornow had a 46 against Redford Union to tie teammate Tom Fletcher. Zornow had a 47 against Northville and Dick Gretzinger totaled 45.

The Rocks were scheduled against Southfield at Brae-Burn yesterday and will meet Bentley at Brae-Burn today.

The triangular meet with Brighton and Dearborn was called off last Saturday and has been rescheduled for May 16. The Regional meet will be held May 12 at Burroughs Farms.

Fun-Filled Play

(Continued from Page 1) laughter as they chorused with glee at the problems that came to the Lord household for a most hectic weekend. You'll find this production amusing and a smile will be in order as you tell others about "The Philadelphia Story."

Matt Fortney continues to amaze Guild audiences with his histrionic ability. Quietly and with dignity Matt delivers a forceful picture of Seth Lord. Betsy Gibson in the coveted lead role that Katherine Hepburn played on Broadway rose to new heights as she ran the gamut of emotions from "A" to "G." Guild veterans Loretta Young and Effie Kuisel gave their usual sharp characterizations, but they had best watch a newcomer, Hollis Haynes, who did some expert scene stealing in the role of Dinah.

Miss Haynes utilized the timing of a competent comedienne as she limned the obnoxious teenager part to perfection. Several interesting items in this production: having a professional type curtain call where the featured players of the production are brought on last and the use of wedding cake and coffee at intermission time was a clever adaptation to the over-all theme of the evening.

Tickets will be available at the door when "Philadelphia Story" is on view Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:15 p.m. and for a special Sunday matinee at 2 p.m.

Writer Readies for Civil War Battle

(Continued from Page 1) hungry for a letter. You can say to his friends if you see them. He looks quite well and seems contented with his situation. In fact, he, as well as many others, are determined to see this thing through.

A boy of the 2nd was over yesterday. He says John Young, John Holbrook, Frank McGraw, Oscar Lockhead and Westfall are well. Oscar Lee from Stockton's Regiment was here yesterday; also George Valentine and Kenneth Smith. They are about the only boys remaining in that regiment that we know.

Evening - We have just come in from Review by Gen.'s McLevan and Burrside. It was very fatiguing as we went out before dinner and did not return till after 4. Since then I have barely had time to cook my supper, go to the hospital which very sick I draw 3 days rations for the Company, and now I must cook my rations to be ready at a minute's warning with cooked rations for three days.

Oscar Lockhead was over this afternoon. He looks very healthy. He is a corporal in the Provost Guard. Good Night. I must finish as occasion may offer.
 Wednesday morning - We moved 7 or 8 miles yesterday in the direction of Fayetteville. On paper, this looks like a very short march, but it took 6 hours to do it - on account of the trains and troops that blocked the road. The roads were excellent and we came without much fatigue. It is a little singular that we have been within hearing of guns every day for nearly 2 weeks but have not got sight of a greynack yet - except a few prisoners.

The country through which we are now passing is rough, barren, and deserted. The fields are overgrown with bushes. The fences torn down or burned up. The inhabitants, of whom there are none but women at home, are so claim to be destitute of everything. It is impossible to buy a pint of meal or flour, and groceries with them are among the things that were. The last coffee they saw was worth $2.00 per pound, tea six dollars, and sugar was long since forgotten - except as a matter of Ancient History.

Afternoon - For some reason we are to remain here today so I guess I'll finish this, and send it out while I have an opportunity. It is a dull business, lying in camp without anything to do and nothing to read. Newspapers and periodicals don't come to camp any more, unless it is through the mail. Paper peddlers were plenty as to make it unsafe for passing. We expect our sutler has been captured. He went to Berlin for supplies a week ago, Sunday and has not been heard from since.
 Remember me to Kittle Fuller, Loretta, and others - Kate Conner among them. Write as often and as much as you please.

 Burnside's Army
 Near Fredericksburg
 Dec. 11th 1862

Dear Ellen:
 Last night I gave the Chaplain a letter for Mort but it has not yet left camp and there is no knowing when it will. Probably not today.

Having a little leisure just now I thought to commence a letter to you. First, I will tell you about the position in which I'm writing. Our Regiment is in column closed in mass in a field in front of a little frame house which is the headquarters of some Gen. Our guns are stacked and we are sitting on our knapsacks resting - or rather waiting our turn to join in the fight. The river is about 1/4 of a mile distant, with a wood intervening which intercepts our view of the scene.

The Rebs, I'm told, are drawn up on one side of the river and our troops on the other. And from the rapidity and loudness of the firing the contest must be pretty warm. The volleys sound like tremendous thunder seeming to rend the Heavens and making the earth tremble. The discharges are more rapid than you can count - making a continuous buzz, and roar all along the horizon. And then, the shrieking of the shells, and the clatter of musketry, make up the interlude.

We were called this morning at two o'clock but we heard no guns till about five. At first a big gun ... Then an interval ... Then another ... till about 6 when it became general and has continued ever since, being now about noon. The report from men in the trees is that the town is on fire.

There is a terrible smoke in that direction hiding the enemy from view. The men seem to feel concerned about the matter no more than as though they were at a picnic and the guns were only a part of the programme. They set a box out on their knapsacks, joking, laughing and eating crackers and pork. I've just cooked a cup of coffee, which, with the help of some raw pork and hard bread, made me a good dinner.

12 1/2 o'clock - the firing has ceased though no report comes as to the reason.
 Your letter and the pepper made a quick trip reaching me in 5 days. I can hardly say for which I was the most thankful. They were both of them just what I wanted. You remember, I was always very fond of soup and I've not outgrown it yet. I make it very often, taking a little fresh beef cut fine, a little salt pork, boil and skim till clear. Add a little rice, a few mixed vegetables, and when nearly done break some hard bread fine and put in. Now if I have a little pepper to put in, I have a rare dish - a big dish in a pint cup. And it has not been possible to get pepper here for the last month, except by mail.

Charlie Dobbins is not with us. Feeling unwell he was left in camp this morning. He has a cold ... not very bad. Mrs. Jones need feel no concern about his or any other member of Co. C's enlisting in the Regulars. They think too much of their homes and friends.

About my hands. I have no trouble with them, only to keep them clean which seems almost impossible under the circumstances. My feet keep sound. In fact, I'd forgotten rather dull business, lying in camp without anything to do and nothing to read. Newspapers and periodicals don't come to camp any more, unless it is through the mail. Paper peddlers were plenty as to make it unsafe for passing. We expect our sutler has been captured. He went to Berlin for supplies a week ago, Sunday and has not been heard from since.

Friday morning. We moved into the woods last night dark and encamped for the night, but as soon as daylight came this morning we moved down here to the river bank, where we are now waiting for a chance to cross. The firing yesterday was done entirely by our batteries, the Rebs only replying with their sharpshooters. Officers and old soldiers all agree in saying yesterday's cannonading exceeded anything they ever heard before. The pontoon bridges were finished yesterday and troops are crossing as fast as possible. It is very smoky this morning preventing our seeing far. If it wasn't I presume we could see nothing but troops.

The boys of our company are spending the time in cooking, parching corn, mending clothes, washing, telling stories, and a few playing cards. There has been but very little card playing in the company so far.

Evening. We crossed the river at half past one P.M. just below the town. And at 3, we received our first dispatch from Secesh. We were resting on the bank when a shell dropped right in our midst. Fortunately for us it did not explode, but contented itself with showering the "Sacred Soil" pretty plentifully on us. This was followed in quick succession by about 20 more, none of them taking effect - on us at least - though some came pretty close. Our Batteries opened pretty freely on them, they ceased firing and we have not heard from them since.

Saturday 11 o'clock - The battle began again at 10 this morning by pickets and in about 10 minutes it was general on the left wing where we are now. I write this as I near the riverbank with the shot and shell whistling and screaming over my head. Occasionally one bursts over us.

Monday, the 13th: I was obliged to hurry this into my pocket as we were ordered to advance and support a Battery. We advanced at a double quick about 1/2 mile, halted near the battery shelled a piece of woods - advanced again, charging on the woods taking some half dozen prisoners and about a dozen horses. As soon as we passed through, the enemies batteries opened on us with shell and shot. Our batteries came up immediately, and from this time - about 10 o'clock - till some time after dark, the firing was incessant.

We supported a battery of rifled guns (Stuarts). We were frequently obliged to change our position to keep out of their range. We were very fortunate through the day, considering our position. We lost 6 men killed and 5 or 6 wounded. The killed were from Co. K and I. Old Regiments of our Division, as they never before stood under so heavy a fire for so long a time.

Our Regiment elicited many compliments from Gen. Doubleday and others. To cap the whole, the Rebel Gen. Hill who commands the enemy in front of us sent a flag of truce over with his compliments to Gen. Doubleday and stating that he never saw infantry stand better under artillery fire. Yesterday and today there has been little done but skirmishing. Occasionally the batteries open and give us a dozen rounds or so making us hug the ground pretty close.

We have just come in from reconnaissance, that is Col. and I. We went to the left and front to ascertain the position of their batteries. We found plenty of Rebs and got sight of the battery but I learned nothing of importance. You know more of the general result of the battle than I can write.

School Hours Change

(Continued from Page 1) eral years. Supt. Isbister estimated that to get all pupils in all grades on the same schedule would require four additional buses at a cost of $30,000.

Then too, by dismissing High School students at 2:30 they may take another optional course and athletics will be played only after school not occupying the sixth hour as they now do.

But one post card writer who did not sign her name told the Board (it was read at the meeting) that dismissing High School students earlier just gives them more time to get into trouble after school. One member of the audience recommended that the Board re-examine the optional seventh hour a year from now to see how many students are taking advantage of the extra time.

Following the hearing the Board went into regular session in the Administrative Building and approved the superintendent's recommended school hours.

Two resignations were also accepted. They were from Maude Laury who taught elementary music, and Joan Hannum, speech therapy teacher.

20-Unit

If these prove successful, the second unit containing 18 apartments will be erected, according to Tom Notebaert, who is handling the real estate transaction here for J. L. Hudson Real Estate.

The 20-apartment first unit, consisting of three separate buildings, are expected to open by mid-September. There will be nine two-bedroom apartments and 11 one-bedroom units. Each will have heat, water and appliances furnished. Rentals, now being taken, will be $115 and $135 a month.

Another apartment building with eight units has been approved for Dewey St., near the Burger Chef. A building permit has not been issued yet.

Local Post Observes

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6695 has announced that it had joined with the national organization of the VFW in celebrating National VFW Week April 30-May 6.

In making the announcement, Oscar Luttermoser, commander of the Mayflower Post, Plymouth, said: "As one of the most active organizations in our community, we feel that National VFW Week is an appropriate time to call to the attention of the people of this community the many things our nation's overseas war veterans are still doing to make this a better community in which to live."

"However, we are just one community and I believe that during this special period of celebration our friends and neighbors might also be interested in what we do as an organization on a national level. For instance, how many know that during last year, the Veterans of Foreign Wars performed more than 650,000 individual community service projects? Or how many people know that the VFW sponsors more than 1,400 Boy Scout troops?"

VFW Week

"Still another important phase of our work deals with our former comrades in arms. Despite the fact that we are moving away from the days of armed conflict, our national rehabilitation service last year successfully processed more than 150,000 claims with a monetary value of more than $150,000,000."

In a public opinion poll in Sweden, about 30 percent of those questioned said the United States was the country they would most like to visit.

She is a 1960 graduate of Plymouth High School.

Plymouth High School

By Lester Barton

Plymouth High voters went to the polls last Friday and elected their all-school officers for next year, as well as officers and Student Council representatives on a class level. Jim Kropf, a junior, was the people's choice for mayor. He will be assisted by Carolyn Scott as vice-mayor, while Mary Lou Argo will fill the position of secretary. Buzz Smith was elected treasurer.

This year's all-school campaign was one of the liveliest in a long time, with a lot of controversy over proposal number one on the ballot. Defeated 441-337, it called for acceptance of the revised school constitution that has been in preparation for a number of months. The reason for the revision was that the old constitution was in an inefficient form and as difficult to work with, especially during Student Council meetings. Basically, the revision was a reorganization for order and clarity. However, the consideration of passing it brought out into the open certain long-smoldering sentiments about basic principles that had been in the old constitution and were maintained in the new revision. Principal of these was the requirement of a "C" average for eligibility to run for a school office. There were two arguments — one being that from the democratic viewpoint, such a limitation was intrinsically wrong — that it should be the voters and not the constitution that determine the ability of a candidate. This gives true experience in the democratic process and protects the rights and privileges of all individuals. Others felt that the "C" requirement encouraged academic achievement. The revision not only specified the "C" regulation, but stated it numerically as 2.0. Furling it set the requirement for running for the mayorship as 2.8, thus cutting out most of the "C" range, too. Although stating the 2.0 changed nothing, the 2.8 did make the requirements for the mayorship considerably more rigid. Another point brought out was that the new revision was very vague and incomplete in the matter of the right of voter petition and recall. Many arguments filled the air last week, with representatives from both the pro and con sides debating issues before various assembled groups. At any rate, the majority of the voters were evidently not satisfied with the new revision, and voted it down. The feeling of many seemed to be that by voting this revision down, they were giving someone else the chance to revise the present constitution more to their liking. And this will probably happen soon. Jim Kropf, taking a stand against the proposed revision in his campaign, promised another version to the voters by June 1. While we're on the subject of elections... The National Thespian Society, Troupe 1784, recently voted in Donn Kelley as its president for next year. Georgina Daubresse will assume the position of vice president, while Sylvia Godwin will be club secretary. John Augustine was elected treasurer, and Steve Bullington was returned to the office of scribe. A combination inaugural-initiation ceremony will be held soon. Georgina Daubresse has urged all those who feel they are qualified for Thespian membership to submit to her or any club member a sheet listing dramatic experiences and accomplishments. And last but not least — congratulations are in order to all those who participated in the very successful water show "Sketches in Water Color." Presented jointly by the Dolphins and Water Waves Clubs, the show provided a very delightful evening of entertainment.

Mrs. John K. Nelson of Arthur St., Plymouth, was the guest of her granddaughter, Mrs. Garnet Potter, at the Mother and Daughter Banquet last Sunday in Our Lady of Victory Church Hall in Northville.

Wins Employee Art Contest

"Best of Show" honors in the Ford Motor Company's Employee Art Contest Show have gone to Mrs. Judy Verish Mastick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Veresh, 42460 Clemens Drive. Her oil painting, "Moonlight Sonata," was judged best of the show. Her father, Steve Veresh, a brother of Steven, both won honorable mentions in the contest for sculpture. Mr. Veresh works in the styling department. Mrs. Mastick's art is described by her father as "not modern, not conventional, but perhaps a recognizable abstract." The winning painting was in varying shades of blue with recognizable still-life objects in a semi-abstract form. The artist is a Ford Fund Scholarship winner and attended the University of Michigan. She later studied at the Society of Arts and Crafts in Detroit. Last year she failed to place, but this year returned to take "double" first in oils when judges couldn't decide which of her entries was best. She then grabbed the top award in the finals. Mrs. Mastick is now in California with her husband who is in the service.

Climax of the University's Commencement-Reunion weekend will be the solemn commencement ceremony at 9 a.m. Monday, June 5 in the Wisconsin Stadium, at which more than 2,400 students will be given their first and higher degrees and five honorary degrees will be conferred by the University.

Who's Who in the Plymouth Community Schools

Theone Ethel Secord

Theone Secord, better known to her friends at Starkweather School as "Terry," has been teaching there for the past three years in first and second grades. Her father, Paul Schulz, was an attorney in Detroit where she was born, and Mrs. Florence L. Schulz, her mother, was director of Christian education. Her only brother, Paul, Jr., is studying engineering at the University of Michigan.

Besides her teaching activities, Mrs. Secord runs the busy family household at 46675 W. Seven Mile in Northville, for her husband, B. William Secord, and two lively daughters, Linda, who is 12 and Nancy, 9. Mr. Secord works on production control at the Ford Motor Co., Lincoln-Mercury Division. He is a direct descendant of Laura Secord, famous in Canadian history during the Revolutionary War.

Mrs. Secord attended school at Redford High in Detroit, Ann Arbor High, and The University High School in Ann Arbor. She received both her bachelor of arts and a master's degree in business administration at the University of Michigan, and was an honor society member in her freshman year.

She followed a business career before her marriage, first as an accountant at Reo Motors, Inc., in Lansing, and then became a special service accountant in Jackson. She also worked in accounting at the University of Michigan Hospital in Ann Arbor, and has done tax work off and on.

Deciding to go into teaching when her daughters were both in school, Mrs. Secord went back to Wayne State University for a certificate in education and did part of her practice teaching at Starkweather School, before taking on full-time duties.

Mrs. Secord has been a tireless community worker in both Plymouth and Northville. As president and former publicity chairman of the American Association of University Women, she has been behind most of the local activities of that group, assisting with the dramatic production for children "Snow White and Rose Red" given here early this spring.

A year ago she was the teacher representative for Starkweather School at the Plymouth Community School Planning Group, and has been Northville PTA treasurer for three years. When the Northville High School curriculum study group was started she became the recording secretary and a member of the Gifted Child Study Committee. Her professional organizations are PEA, NEA and MEA.

Earlier she was chairman of the Ann Arbor Cooperative Nursery School, and also played the same role in the Northville Cooperative Nursery.

She has been a troop mother in the Scouts for five years, and has been on the Vacation Bible School staff at the Presbyterian Church, and yet when asked if she had any talents outside of teaching she said "None!"

The Secords have traveled over most of the United States by car, and have enjoyed brief vacations up in Canada in the Laurentian Mountains - Montreal area. Mrs. Secord spent time in Mexico during the summer of 1939.

Whenever she can play hooky from her many civic and professional duties, she can usually be found out on a golf course or enjoying a game of bridge, but as a lover of sports, her most recent indulgence is volleyball.

Penniman Parking Project Shelved for Study

A proposal for a $49,350 parking lot that would serve Penniman Ave. failed to get off the ground at a special hearing before the City Commission Monday night.

The program called for purchasing the old building last occupied by Plymouth Men's Wear on the north side of Penniman and developing a parking lot that would include the area now behind the stores along the street.

Owners of the former Plymouth Men's Wear building, however, say they want to improve the old building that has been vacant for the past two years. Because of its condition, the City Building Department has not allowed occupancy until many improvements are made.

The Penniman Parking Lot project would be financed the same as the enlargement of the Central Parking lot, approved last week. Half would be financed by the City-at-large and half by assessments to surrounding building owners.

Members of the Mayor's Parking Committee attending Monday night's hearing were not completely in accord with the method of financing. The committee had given some study to the project, but Monday night's proposal was not their recommendation.

Buildings immediately abutting the proposed lot would pay what is called an 80 per cent share, while 10 per cent shares would be paid by properties west of the Post Office and on the south side of Penniman.

Some members of the Commission agreed that perhaps a more equitable assessment could be worked out and they voted, 4-3, to turn the project back to the Parking Committee.

Three commissioners voted no because they felt a six-month limit on the committee's report should be much less.

Meanwhile, the Commission must decide if it wants to issue a building permit to the owners of the vacant store. The permit was held up last week because of the pending parking lot hearing.

Chrysler Corporation extends congratulations to all the people who cooperated in the first U. S. manned space flight, particularly astronaut Navy Commander Alan B. Shepard, Jr. This flight was boosted by the reliable Redstone—a member of the first team of missiles in America's conquest of space. This team has established an unequalled record fulfilling missions with reliability and accuracy. The record is the product of a philosophy of building on proven principles and hardware. The carry-over of experience from the phenomenally reliable Redstone is largely responsible for the equally impressive performance of Jupiter. This inherent integrity is transferred to the succeeding generations of missiles. There is something else behind this record. Teamwork—a government-military-industry team working unselfishly in the best interests of the country Redstone is operational with U. S. Army forces. Jupiter is deployed by the Air Force. Redstone, Jupiter, Jupiter "C" and Juno II have served the missions of the department of Defense and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Chrysler Corporation is proud to have been a member of this most successful team since 1952. As prime contractor for the Redstone and Jupiter systems, we have worked closely with military and government scientists in taking these missiles from initial concept to the launching pad... and beyond. Broad Chrysler Corporation capability and experience in research, development, engineering, production and logistic support is supplemented by Chrysler operation of the Michigan Ordnance Missile Plant. Today these missiles mean military strength to keep the peace. They are also the key to the door of a vastly expanded new world of knowledge which will contribute much to peace and a better way of life.

Gallimore Tea Deemed Success

By Esther Sprengel GL 3-0194

Mrs. John Denski of Cherry Hill called to supply us with the following birth announcement — Jean, Mary, John and Mike Denski, children of Mr. and Mrs. John Denski of Cherry Hill, announce the birth of a baby brother, Kevin Brian, born at St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia on April 29, weighing 7 lbs. 12 ozs.

The regular meeting of a pinocchio club met at the home of Mrs. Richard Higgs of Beck Rd. The ladies get together every two weeks. The two tables of players included Mrs. Mary Tooze of Wayne, Mrs. Midge Jaskolski of Wayne, Mrs. Irene Carpenter of Wayne, Mrs. Betty Miller of Livonia, Mrs. Norma Fogelman of Garden City, Mrs. Peggy Kelly of Inkster, and Mrs. Kay Fadena of Dearborn. The refreshment table was gaily decorated with large Red Emperor tulips picked from the beautiful display of tulips growing in front of the Higgs' home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sprengel of Beck Rd. proudly accepted the honor of being godparents to Larry David Zabel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Zabel of Livonia, on Sunday, April 30. The Zabel's infant son was presented for baptism at the altar of Christ the King Lutheran Church, with Pastor Larkin officiating. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Zabel and their son, Kurt, were host to other members of the family in honor of the occasion, at their home in Livonia.

Mrs. Jean McKim, president of the Women's Society of the Cherry Hill Methodist Church, reports a very successful Mother and Daughter Banquet held Wednesday, May 3. The mistress of ceremonies was Mrs. Betty Freedle. The toast to the mothers was given by Miss Janice Nagy, toast to the daughters by Mrs. Nagy. The program consisted of a solo song by Miss Sharon McKim, a tap dance by Bonnie West. Following the program the traditional prizes were awarded. The oldest mother present was Mrs. Wilkie, 97 years young. The youngest mother was Mrs. Robert Harper, the youngest daughter was Tracy Hodges, 2 1/2 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hodges. The mother with the most children was Mrs. John Caroen, with 13 children. The winners were presented with geranium plants. The menu consisted of tomato juice, turkey, mashed potatoes, green beans, gelatin, salad, relish dish, ice cream and cookie, coffee and milk. The Dutch theme was carried out by little Dutch girls centering the tables, surrounded by tulips. A most pleasant evening was reported to have been had by the 150 guests attending.

Another fairly new resident to Canton Township, Mr. and Mrs. Cass Denski and two sons, proudly announce the birth of a new brother, Robbie Lynn. Robbie was born on April 5 at the Beyer Memorial Hospital and weighed 7 lbs., 9 ozs. Of course reports have it that Robbie has made great strides since the time of his birth. The mothers and daughters of Gallimore School enjoyed the Mother and Daughter Tea held on Thursday, April 4. Upon arrival the guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Virginia Benoit and daughter Ginny and were asked to put their names on a slip of paper and place it in a container, one for mothers and one for daughters. The guests were then seated at tables surrounding a small stage, decorated with a trellis entwined with spring flowers. The tables had gaily colored carnations, made by the committee, running the full length of the tables. At one corner of the room a table was placed holding the hobbies of various mothers. A hat collection was shown, with hats designed and made by Mrs. Homer Benoit, a knitting display by Mrs. Roxie Dunstan and embroidered pictures hand sewn by Mrs. Jean McGonagle. Following refreshments of cupcakes, coffee or punch, the guests enjoyed a fashion show with the articles shown having been made by many of the guests. Mrs. Edna Schwartz narrated the show. Miss Sherry Snow modeled a green full skirt attractively decorated with ric rac, sewn by her grandmother. Charlotte Snow modeled a green full skirt complemented by a white blouse, made by her grandmother. Mrs. Snow. Pamela Smith modeled a navy blue suit, gaily complemented by a red sash and matching tie, made for her by her grandmother. Pat Fox wore a black and white sailcloth dress, quickly changed to black Bermudas and white blouse outfit and a red and yellow plaid slacks set with a white blouse. The outfits were all made by Miss Fox in high school. Tomie McGonagle modeled a skirt and blouse set made by her mother and a crop top of polished cotton with hyacinth colored chino shorts, also made by her mother. Mrs. Harriet Fox modeled a black and white silk two-piece dress with box pleats and fitted jacket which she made. Connie McGonagle modeled shorts and a dress made by her mother. Ginny Benoit modeled a two-piece cotton outfit with loose-fitting overblouse made by her mother and an all wool coat and straw hat also made by Mom.

Carolyn Dunstan modeled a pink cotton dress with a full skirt made by her mother, Debra Smith modeled an outfit made by her mother — pleated skirt and jerkin top worn over a white blouse. Connie Palmer modeled a dress made by her mother of red and white gingham. Mary Kay McGonagle modeled warm cotton flannel pajamas made by her mother. Jean Fox modeled a brown and white striped dress with full skirt made by her mother, and last, but not least, Margaret Grady modeled a cotton print dress with gay gold button trim. The models did a wonderful job presenting their garments and the show was enthusiastically received by the guests.

Mrs. Irene Burow, chairman for the event, wanted to thank her committee for their all-out cooperation and help. The committee consisted of Mrs. Homer Benoit, Mrs. Doris White, Mrs. Jean Rocco and Mrs. Jean McGonagle.

Following the fashion show, prizes were awarded the youngest daughter. The door prizes with the winners' names being picked by a young guest, were Mrs. Janet Smith, kindergarten teacher, and Sandra Wagenschutz. A background of soft music played throughout the evening.

Our Canton Township Fire Department has added some new volunteer firemen and we shall present you with names and background as soon as possible.

Larry Kruse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Kruse, left for his naval air base in Florida on Monday, May 1 in his newly purchased red convertible, which Larry spent many hours preparing for the trip. Another week has passed, and no, I did not hear about this and that. My crystal ball has been a bit cloudy of late, so won't you call?

TREASURE ISLANDS

Natural Gas, the miracle fuel, comes to us from underground storehouses discovered on hazardous mountainsides, in deep forests and searing deserts - now geologists are searching even the floor of the Sea! This underwater exploration takes place from huge, man-made, metal islands called drilling platforms. The islands are built as far as 72 miles offshore in the tidelands and coastal waters, and are supported by long legs reaching to the ocean bottom. These "treasure islands" support tons of equipment, living quarters for the crew, and a helicopter landing platform. When a new reservoir of Natural Gas is discovered, the well is capped and connected with the miles of Natural Gas pipeline spread over the nation. This provides millions of people in crowded cities, spacious suburbs, and small towns with a new source of gas, the wonderful, for use in home and industry.

Sad City in a Troubled Land

Surely Johannesburg, Union of South Africa holds in its nearly half-million black inhabitants more sorrow and sadness than any other city in the world. Richest industrial city in the Union, Johannesburg is partly a humming modern metropolis, partly a teeming, slum-ridden shantytown. Capital of the Union, it is the center of the most inhuman racial policy - apartheid - the world has seen since Nazi Germany. Next to the rulers of South Africa, our Governor Faubus looks statesmanlike; alongside Johannesburg, our Little Rock resembles the Heavenly City.

From this pathetic place came a number of first rate novels and several excellent novelists. Three stand out: Alan Paton, Nadine Gordimer and A. A. Murray. All three are white, all have lived their lives in the Union.

With the publication in 1948 of his first novel, Cry, the Beloved Country, a book that has since taken its place as one of a handful of genuine contemporary classics, Alan Paton becomes the conscience of his country.

Cry, the Beloved Country tells the tragic story of an old Zulu preacher, the Reverend Stephen Kumalo, and his son, Absalom, who murders a friendly white man. Written in simple but poetic prose, the book is beautiful to read; more, its compassion and power make it one of the few truly unforgettable novels of our time.

Patron's second novel, Too Late for the Phalarope, is now out in paperback (Signet Books, fifty cents.) His newest book, a collection of short stories called Tales From a Troubled Land, was issued this month.

Nadine Gordimer and A. A. Murray are among our most perceptive young novelists. Miss Gordimer's World of Strangers concerns a young Englishman sent to Johannesburg to manage his family's publishing business. Fed up with the crusading liberalism of his parents, he wants nothing more than to keep out of the race problem, live his life alone. He is handicapped, however, with a sense of decency. Inevitably drawn into the city's strife, he finds he must commit himself to one side or the other.

Miss Gordimer deals with a different layer of society than does Mr. Paton. Here are the rich, successful, sophisticated. But they face the moral choice, too, and it is, perhaps, even

Housewife Becomes Racing Promotor

Joan Simmons, Plymouth housewife, became Michigan's first female auto racing promoter when she was named this week to direct competition at Flat Rock Speedway.

She immediately announced an invitation to Michigan's top racers to bring their cars to the Speedway on Sunday afternoon, May 21, for a series of trophy races. This program will start at 2 p.m.

After the "shakedown" card which will allow drivers to test their autos, racing will be held each Saturday night. Trials will start at 7:30 p.m., the first event at 8:30. The first such night program will be on Saturday night, May 27. It will have two 25-lap features, one for semi-late models, the other for modified six-cylinder cars. (Admission: $1.25 for adults; children under 12, 50 cents.)

Joan—formerly Mrs. Richard Simmons of 40850 Micol Drive, Plymouth—is no stranger to auto racing.

She organized Michigan's first auto racing association for women in 1951. Its members were the famous "pouder puff" racers. A racer herself, with trophies to prove her ability, Joan took time out in 1953-54 to become the mother of Billy, now 6.

Now 31, Joan is one of four women who were permitted to race against men drivers at Flat Rock Speedway.

She has served as secretary during the past two years for DARE, an association of men auto racers. She will resign that position, however.

Joan has a ready-made star who will compete on her programs. Her husband, "Lil Richard" to fans, was runner-up to Hugh Hans for the track championship in the semi-late model division last year.

And, promoting won't be new to Joan, either. She is a wrestling impresario of no mean ability. She will offer a mat show at the Armory in Monroe on May 17. She has promoted three mat shows in Wayne, latest last Tuesday. And, her plans call for outdoor mat shows at the Speedway during the outdoor season.

Michigan Week Plans Made

Every firm, family, school and organization in the Plymouth community is urged to prepare during the coming weeks to take an active part in Michigan Week, which starts Sunday, May 21 and brings together several million people in an outpouring of enthusiasm for their state and its communities.

City Manager Albert Glassford has again accepted chairmanship of the local observance. Chairmen are working on the daily observances.

This year the theme of the week is "Michigan's New Horizons."

Sunday, May 21 is Spiritual Foundations Day when every church is invited to have some discussion of its early history and that of its faith or denomination in Michigan.

Capt. John Cunard of the Salvation Army is chairman.

Monday, May 22 is Our Government Day. It is also called Mayor's Exchange Day, because mayors of most communities will be visiting other cities and villages. This year, Mayor Robert Sincok will exchange cities for the day with the mayor of Big Rapids. City Treasurer Kenneth Way is chairman of the observance here.

Tuesday, May 23 is Michigan Hospitality Day when communities, neighborhoods, and business places demonstrate their friendliness and everyone is asked to glorify Michigan's tourist industry. Kenneth Fisher, public safety director, is chairman.

Wednesday, May 24 is Our Livelihood Day, for special heed to how the people of the community make a living. Chairman is Charles Finlan.

Thursday, May 25 is Education Day with the observance centered on the schools. School Administrative Assistant Melvin Blunk is chairman of the day.

Friday, May 26 is Our Heritage Day, stressing particularly the culture and history of the state and community. Librarian Agnes Pauline will be chairman with a historical display planned for Dunning-Hough Library.

Saturday, May 27, Our Youth Day, will have Lee Coolman of the Kiwanis Club as chairman.

Arizona Grand Canyon became a national park in 1919.

'Luxury Taxes' Must Go

Fourteen years ago, come June 30, those wartime excise taxes on "luxuries" such as toiletries and women's handbags were to have expired.

Wherever they gather — in their community groups, the PTA, the women's business and professional clubs, social clubs, the corner drugstore and the grocery — one woman tells another and both of them tell their Congressmen.

The theory is that the lady members will understand that a woman needs a handbag like a man needs pockets; that you can't get very far in business or social life with a shiny nose and that there's no luxury involved in keeping a bunch of kids clean and polished up.

ber will be spared the pointed advice of his lady constituents.

The girls are also pointing out that while Congress is so disturbed over "distressed areas" it might give a thought to the "distressed" homemakers, secretaries, career girls and the little girls with their school bags who are still being penalized by a war that was officially over on Dec. 31, 1946.

While reading his mail, the Congressman might reflect on the probability that more women than men voted in 1960, since there are three million more of them who are eligible.

At least, we always have.

Road Program Biggest In Midwest

LANSING — Michigan will have the biggest highway construction program of any state in the Middle West and the third largest in the nation during 1961, according to Engineering News-Record.

A survey of spending plans by the 50 state highway departments showed

The Michigan State Highway Department expects to award construction contracts totaling $250 million this year, an increase of 22 percent over last year.

California, which expects to put $328 million worth of work under contract, will have the biggest highway program, followed by New York with $300 million.

Illinois, with plans to award contracts totaling $215 million, will have the second largest road building program in the Middle West, followed by Ohio, $200 million; Indiana, $95 million; and Wisconsin, $88 million.

By DAN HALLIGAN

Dear Readers: Dating is similar to a phonograph record because it has two sides — the good and the bad. Two girls wrote to me recently, each with their own idea as to how to go steady.

Dear Dan: I don't have a problem but if you have the space sometime, wish you would print my letter for the benefit of all those girls who believe going steady is dull and uninteresting.

I used to believe that but that was before I started dating my guy steady. Honestly, I've never known two people to get along any better than we do.

We don't believe in parking, so there's never any worry on that score. We have loads of fun with our friends and are always doing something in a crowd.

I know that some steady dating doesn't work out but I'm sure our dating will eventually end at the altar in a few years.

Dear Dan: I know you don't approve of 15-year-old girls going steady and neither do I. However, I'm 17 and went steady for four months up until last week because I felt it was time I quit fooling around with as many boys as I had been dating.

Paul and I had dated off and on for more than six months before he asked me that all-important question. Even then I wasn't too sure and only decided to try going steady when my mother said she liked Paul.

When you start going steady, you find out a lot more about the boy than you ever dreamed possible. Everything was fine for the first two or three weeks but then we started arguing.

I didn't agree and we had some hard words about it. I'm like any girl, I guess, and had a difficult time controlling myself sometimes but I always managed to and I'm proud to say that.

Our next biggest problem concerned dating itself. I finally realized that whether I liked it or not, going steady had changed my life. I always knew I was dated up weeks ahead of time for Friday and Saturday nights.

There were a lot of other things too and when I added them all together, I found out I was foolish for dating one boy exclusively when I wasn't having half the fun I once did.

Well, there you have it, readers. Reasons for and against going steady as written by two girls with experience.

Dear Dan: What can you do if someone comes to your house and wants to go somewhere with you but whom no one likes or wants?

This happened to me about a month ago. My friend and I were sitting on the bus and this one girl, one nobody likes, asked if she could sit with us.

I thought this statement was terribly mean of her. Dan, what do you think about this? — Not to Blame.

Dear Not to Blame: I think your "friend" had terrific nerve and she owes the first girl an apology.

You teen-agers don't have the right to tell someone of your own age, "You're no good and you'd better get lost. Believe me, if a girl of your age can't find friends among you kids, what can she do?"

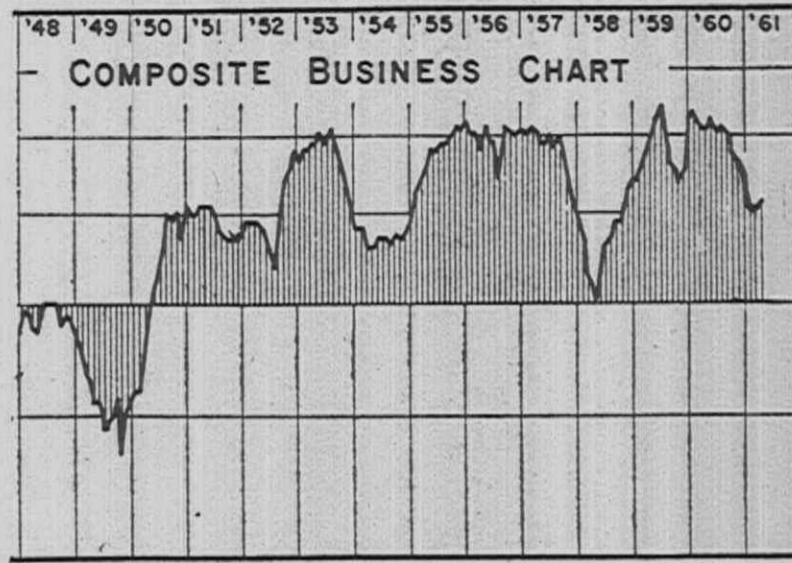

Dear Dan: My sister and I have always done the dishes at night but since she got a boyfriend, Mom says I can't always expect her to help.

Dear Kid Sister: You sure do have a complaint and if you want to make her do her part, hop right up from the table, wash the dishes and have them ready for drying long before the boyfriend is due.

How's Business?

April Brings Favorable Signs

By ROGER W. BABSON business outlook. Although the month of April produced a few more signs of strength evident, business encouragement for the activity during the month confirmed the bottoming-out pattern of the previous two months. Our Composite Business Chart substantiates this with a generally sidewise to upward movement for the February through April period.

Automobile production was restored to a faster pace during the month of April after the succession of curtailments during the first quarter of 1961. This was made possible by the stepup in new car sales in recent weeks which reduced dealers' inventories to below the one-million-unit mark.

Steel production continued to push its way upward. The average weekly production rate rose to the highest level since June 1960, and marked the fourth successive month of rising steel output.

In addition to the favorable showings of these two key industries, paperboard production also remained high. Demand for paperboard products rose somewhat, enabling a modest buildup of backlogs. The stronger demand for paperboard, which is used for the shipping of finished goods, lent another note of encouragement to business.

The healthier tone in employment conditions which was manifested during the month of March made additional improvement in April. With this favorable background, consumers were encouraged to step up their purchases of goods and services, thus adding another hopeful protent to the brightening business picture.

Basic economic factors are now predominantly favorable. Hence, a pattern of gradually rising business activity is likely to emerge in the months ahead.

If Your Name Is Tom

By ANN REYNOLDS

"Tom" is short for "Thomas." First the familiar form for "Thomas" sounded "Thome." Then, sometime about the 14th century, it was streamlined to "Tom." Incidentally, "Thome" survives as a last name, while "Thomas" is around both as a last and a first name.

Among all the peoples of Europe none became more fond of "Thomas" and "Tom" than the English. "Tom," like many other pet names, then made itself independent. In centuries bygone there was just a handful of first names to choose from, and among this "Tom" and "Thomas" were favorites.

"Every Tom, Dick and Harry" meaning "any man or boy"; "tomboy," which is no boy at all but a wild, spirited girl behaving like a boy.

"Tommyrot" is another combination; it contains the endearing, lengthened form of "Tom," and means "non-sense." "Tomfoolery" is "foolish behavior"; it came about because one who acted the part of a fool on the stage was said to be a "Tom Fool."

"Tom," of which everybody was fond, often was picked by writers and storytellers for their fictional characters.

There is Tom Thumb, whose story is an old favorite, already found in chap-books, the low-priced small pamphlets of popular tales, and sold by itinerant sellers, or "chapmen." Tom Thumb, as we remember, is a legendary tiny person.

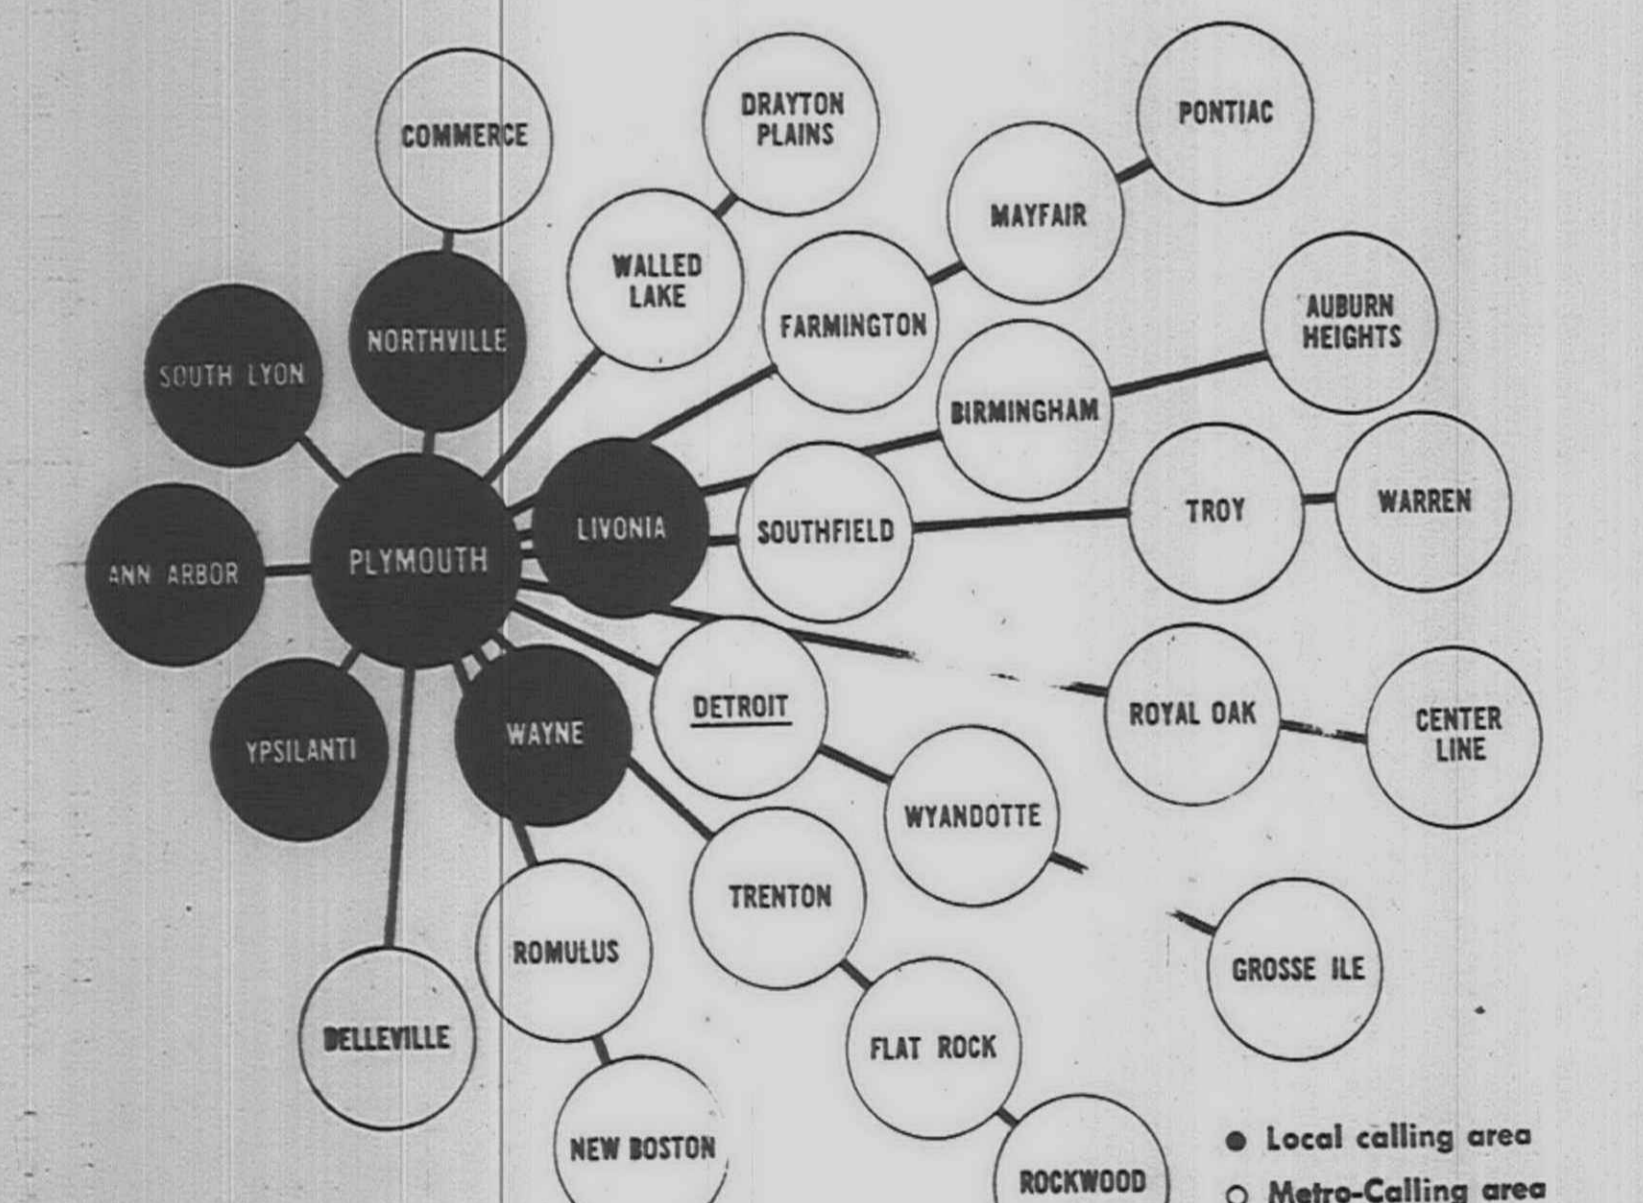

"Tom" took on a number of additional meanings. It came to be applied to the male of various animals. When we say "tom-cat" we speak of a male cat. "The Life and Adventures of a Cat," published anonymously in 1760, accounts for this. The tale was widely read, and its hero, a cat named Tom, was much talked about, and then folks got into the habit of referring to any male cat as a "tom-cat." Prior to that time a male cat was said to be a "ram-cat."

Where did we get the name "Thomas," from which "Tom" evolved, in the first place? From the Holy Land, the Aramaic language, a Semitic tongue spoken in the time of Jesus. The very first Thomas was His disciple, whose original appellation was Judah. To distinguish him from a few other men called Judah, he was referred to as "the twin," which, in Aramaic, was "Thomas."

Want to know about some other name? Write to Ann, in care of this paper. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Please always print the name requested.

The Mail Attitude

I have a sound friend who is a businessman with a rather uncomplicated attitude toward life. He decided long ago that the game they've thrust before us is that of making money wherever possible, and he's pretty much been able to leave his mind untroubled by counter thoughts.

But he asks this reporter: "When are you going to come up with another of those philosophy columns, like you do around Christmas time? I think you ought to slip one of those in, every now and then, just to let people know you're thinking."

Maybe, there's a flicker of doubt somewhere deep inside my friend; a wonder if goals and principles are so simple, after all.

Well, this is a column by request, anyway.

It seems to me there is more than a usual air of melancholy about our land these days. It shows in new works being placed on center shelves in the book stores. One hears it, muted but there, in the tone of the television newscasts. It can be seen in the face of the new President of the nation, who campaigned 150 days ago as a flashing, daring Lochinvar. The same mood can be caught vividly in the writings of our more literary newspaper columnists, as Jim Bishop of The News.

Gene Fowler, an esteemed newspaper reporter of the frenzied 20's in New York, dispatched a new book just before he died called "Skyline." It is a brooding menage of memories, barren in mood.

He sees the rowdy, fearless Press of yesteryear being squeezed to damnation within the vise grip of haywire economics and he quotes this conversation between himself and Damon Runyon:

"I told Damon, upon death of my grandfather, that grandfather was a failure as the world sees such things. And so am I. He was always looking to tomorrow, and saying it would bring a big mining strike for himself. And I am that way, too. And I wouldn't change my way of thinking if I could."

"I remember Damon's reply as clearly as though it were made yesterday. 'My old man was that way,' he said. 'For him there was always a tomorrow. But me? There ain't no tomorrow, never. Just today. But I suppose it's kind of nice to play kissing games with the future.'"

And Jim Bishop in a recent column noted: "It's impossible to live in the past, and desperately difficult to live in the future." That leaves the present, so he dedicated himself to burying his brain in the details of the hour.

People of the U.S. are engaged in a fevered soul-searching. The New World is no longer new and that thought is just catching up to us in mountainous fashion. Other worlds are newer and those people seem to be having all the fun.

We are caught trying to defend our "high standard of living" and our "security" fetishes before nations which don't even seem to care.

Our country is trapped somewhere between trying to dredge up past memories while trying to dare to take a look at a radical, wrenching future.

Scientifically, the United States no longer is the only bright kid in the cvclassroom.

Militarily, we are not the only tough kid on the playground.

Economically, we've begun to lose tremendously important sales in the marketplace.

Morally, we're enmeshed trying to settle for heavy, only reward in the hereafter while feeling compelled to survive as a nation in the present.

Philosophically, we're trying to compromise our clawing for mundane conformity at the same hour we're sending a 21st century Columbus to the moon to see what he might find there.

And it all is extremely hard to swallow for a nation which was built by gambling, speculating adventurers who took a tricky voyage across a sea to see what they might be able to stake out here with their wits and guts.

It makes for melancholy on a national scale.

If one has faith in our people and this country, then the fairest analysis is that we're caught today between acts. We're moments from something new.

The last thing we need is melancholy and self-pity.

Instead, we will return to the kind of society based on leadership by risk-takers, dreamers, soldiers — men and women willing to scrap everything old and take a chance on the future. Just a chance — not a "sure thing." The latter is a lure, a canard, a trap and today we're suffocating in the illusion, identifying it as "security."

I'm certain President Kennedy means just that when he advises that a period of "sacrifice" is ahead.

We're going to sacrifice treasured symbols, morbid theology, financial "security," nasty prejudices. This will happen because it has to happen. Basically, our ancestors were tough people and we're tough inside too. We won't drown ourselves in an ocean of tears and let it go at that.

Man's real pleasure is in work, in creating, in searching, in spending energy to try to answer the questions in his mind.

There is no satisfaction in idleness, leisure, in "killing time," save as it serves as a rest spell between work.

We've deluded ourselves and now some want to cry.

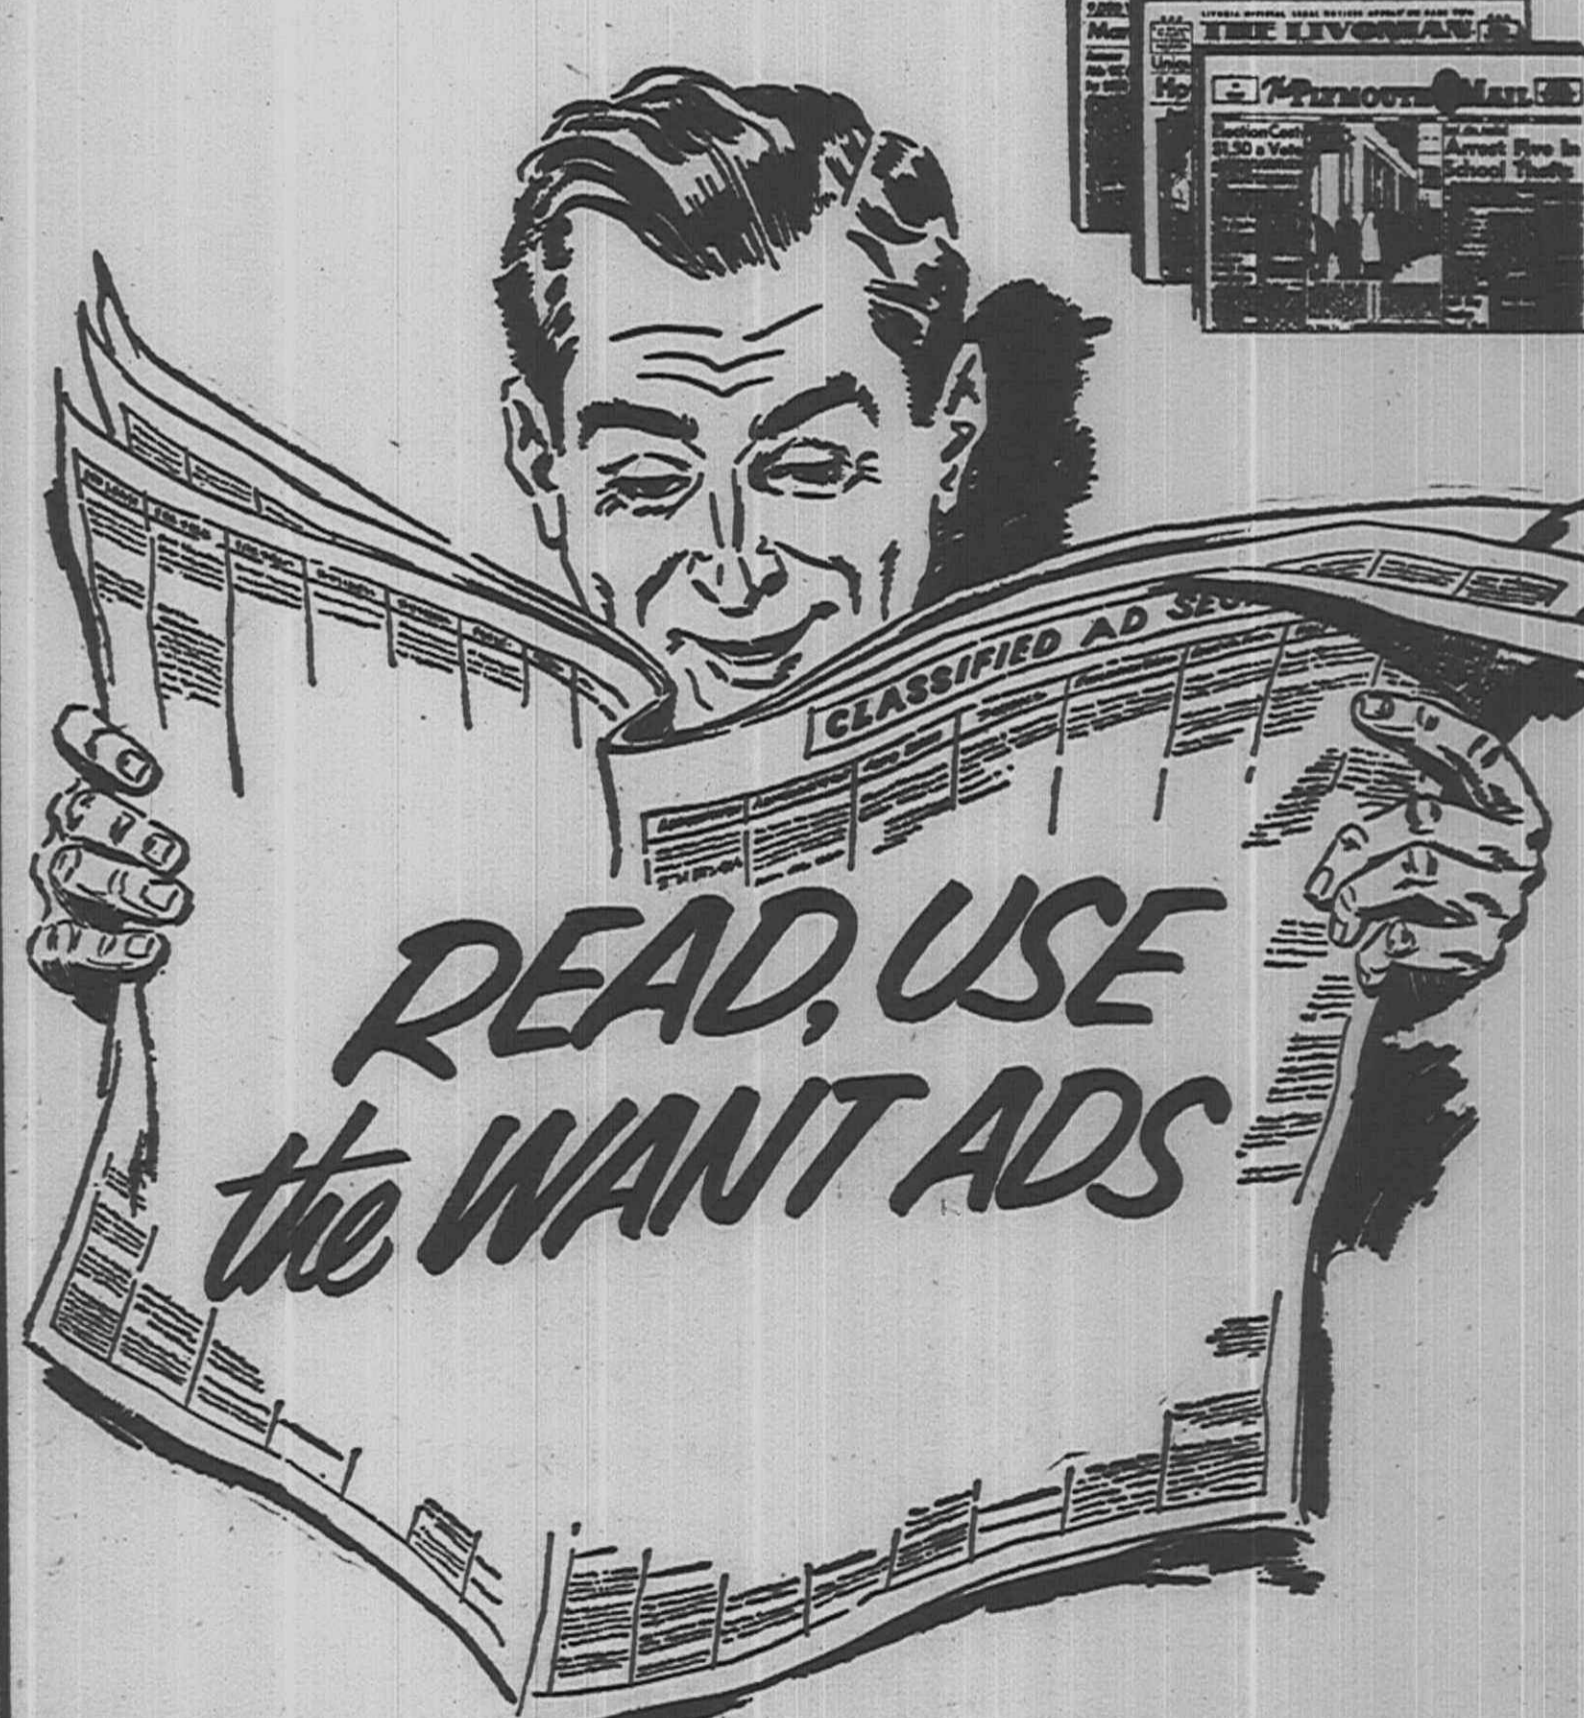

The day America goes back to work is the day it will turn successful and happy again. And whatever traditions must be scrapped to achieve that, they must go.

My businessman friend (mentioned at the outset) is a patient man, but this is getting long.

Still he asked for it — "every now and then" to be sure.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

Commander Luttermoser announced that there will be an officers' and chairmen's meeting at the Hall at 8 p.m. on May 17 to outline a program for the coming year. At the last meeting Dick Erdelyi was voted into the ranks and will be taking his obligation soon.

All members are urged to do their part for Honoring our Dead. We will be decorating graves with flags Saturday morning, May 27. After the park ceremony, our hall will be open for lunch and refreshments. Ed Holdsworth will be in charge.

Another very important day coming up is our Buddy Poppy Day May 25, under the direction of Lou Dely. He needs all of the help he can get, so call him if you can offer your services.

Lapel pins were recently given to members who attended the installation of officers for keeping their dues paid each year for the last 10 or 15 years continuously. We have 28-10 year and 43-15 year members.

Commander Luttermoser and the Luttermoser family wish to express their appreciation to the Post and Auxiliary for their sympathy in their recent bereavement.

Chemical "policeman" in today's Super Shell guards against gum-fouled carburetors — to give your car top performance

One special ingredient among the nine in today's Super Shell gasoline is a gum preventive.

Like a policeman dealing with a mob, it works to keep unstable elements from clotting together. Hence no gum problem. Result: top performance.

IMAGINE an ingredient so effective that only one thousandth of an ounce is enough to treat a gallon of gasoline.

This tiny drop is all today's Super Shell needs to stave off gum troubles that can hamper your car's performance.

Gum forms when even the purest gasolines are held in storage. Unstable elements in the fuel combine chemically with oxygen and with each other. The latter is what scientists call polymerization (a good thing if you want to make plastics, but not if you want top performance from your gasoline).

Shell tackles the situation with a special inhibitor that is designed to keep gum from forming.

Where the trouble strikes

Gum usually ends up on sensitive carburetor parts, where it can foul the automatic choke and raise hobb with a car's air-fuel mixture.

Too rich a mixture can waste gallons of gasoline. Too weak a mixture can burn valves. Either way, gum troubles cost money.

In extreme cases, gum can even stick your intake valves. This means a rough and noisy engine—lost power—and perhaps an expensive repair job.

To say that Super Shell's chemical "policeman" protects your pocketbook is an understatement.

How the "policeman" works
Shell's special anti-gum ingredient is an oxidation inhibitor. It helps keep unstable elements in the gasoline from sticking together—just the way a skilled policeman prevents trouble by keeping a crowd from forming.

As a result your engine is cleaner—for maximum power, maximum mileage. All of which adds up to top performance.

jobs done by the 9 ingredients in Super Shell to give your car top performance. You owe it to your car to learn what each of the others can do for you, too.

#2 is TCP for power, mileage and longer plug life

Today's Super Shell now contains an even better version of this famous additive. Its name is cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP* additive can give your car up to 15 per cent more mpg over; up to 17 extra miles per tankful; and, can make spark plugs last up to twice as long.

New TCP does this by neutralizing certain effects of combustion deposits. It is scientifically formulated to keep them from glowing when hot—a major cause of power loss. Also from diverting your spark—a major cause of "missing."

#3 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr

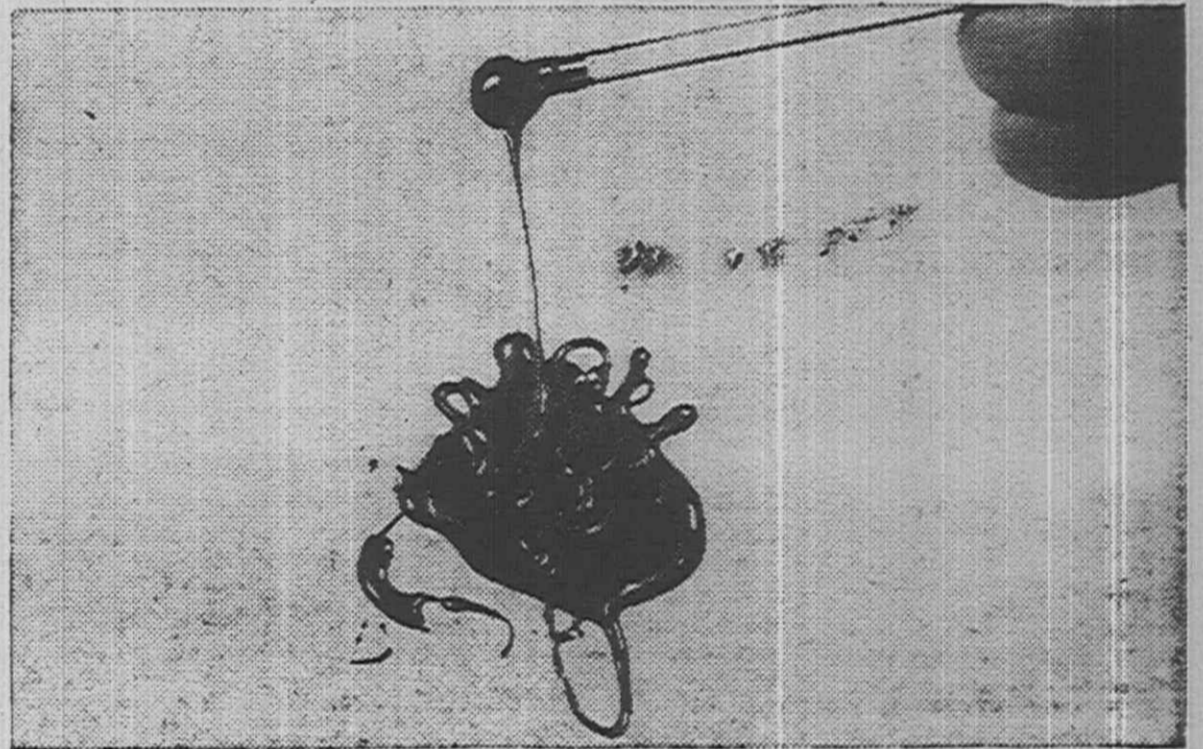

This is petroleum that has actually cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action. Its heavier molecules have been shattered into lighter ones.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that makes your engine purr with power the moment you put your foot down.

Shell's Doolittle, pioneer #4 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer

You can forget this ugly picture if you fill your tank with today's Super Shell. It shows the gum that could form in your fuel system if you didn't use a gasoline with an efficient gum preventive.

this high-octane ingredient for Shell aviation fuel.

Alkylate—which took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the skies—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds far better than anything else yet available.

NOTE: Speaking of controlling knocks at high speeds, remember that car engines frequently turn even faster than the engines of a DC-7. Think of this next time you pass another car.

#5 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks

You might think that two high-octane ingredients are enough for knock-free performance. But Shell's scientists have ears like musicians.

They insist on adding a special anti-knock mix. A mix, so effective, one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

This mix has the tricky job of regulating combustion so that Super Shell gives each piston a firm, even push—rather than a sharp blow which would cause a knock.

#6 is Butane for quick starts on cold mornings

Butane is so eager to get going that Shell keeps it under pressure 400' feet below ground to stop it from vaporizing by itself.

Think what this extra volatility means in cold weather.

Your engine fires in seconds. There is less strain on your battery. And none on your patience.

NOTE: Super Shell is primed with Butane all year. In winter, Shell scientists just increase the dose.

#7 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups on cold days

Pentanes are made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling to start a log fire.

In this case, the "logs" are petroleum's heavier hydrocarbons. A special process transforms their molecules from slow-burning "logs" into the quicker-firing "kindling."

NET RESULT: Fast warm-up and top performance in a hurry.

#8 is an "anti-icer" to check cold-weather stalling

Super Shell's formula is adjusted up to eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to be less than forty-five degrees, a carburetor anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? (Because, even then, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can stall your engine.)

worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to produce Platformate. But fortunately this precious stuff can be used over and over again.

The platinum re-forming process, which gives Platformate its odd name, converts petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene and toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than 100-octane aviation gasoline. This is energy that shows up as extra mileage.

Test Super Shell for yourself

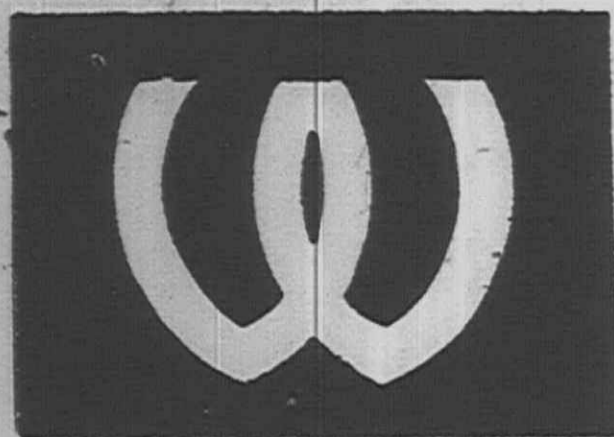

Try Super Shell next time you fill up. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Editor:

I hope you will allow me space in your paper to say a word about the "Support Our Schools Committee."

This committee is composed of public-spirited citizens who are practicing their democratic right and duty to see to it that people they consider worthy are elected to the Board of Education in South Redford.

In all too many school districts the people do not take an active interest in school board elections and candidates are elected who only want to use the position as a stepping stone to a political office or they want to give out patronage or because they have a particular pet gripe. I am sure many districts have good school board members without a committee such as this, however it is our philosophy not to wait till the horse is out to lock the gate.

I assure you we are very sincere in our aim of keeping our school system functioning well with intelligent, informed, interested board members.

We will invite all the candidates to appear before our committee on May 22 and only after hearing from them all will we choose the two we wish to support.

Sincerely,
Janeth Ream
Chairman, Support Our Schools Committee

Open House at State Police Post

As has been the custom the last several years, the State Police will observe Michigan Week with open house "Hospitality Day" Tuesday, May 23, at all posts, according to Sgt. Potter, commanding officer of the post.

Visiting hours at the Seven Mile - Grand River post will be from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m., and everyone is extended a special welcome to examine the equipment and facilities and ask questions regarding the operations of the department. Officers will escort the visitors.

"While visitors are always welcome at the post, Hospitality Day offers a special opportunity to look us over and in past years many have done so," said Sgt. Potter. "Those who call on us will learn about the services the State Police perform and how a post functions.

"To those who may not know the location, the post building, which is easily identified, is situated at Seven Mile Rd. and Grand River. Stop in to see us."

In addition to open house, the State flag as well as the United States flag will be displayed all week at the post.

New Car Wash System Manufactured in Livonia

Simplified automatic car wash equipment which does the work in 12 minutes is now being marketed by Precision Industries, Inc., a Livonia firm. The "Deep-Glo" Power-Wash machines were developed as a replacement for the many hand wash situations which cannot be handled by the elaborate conveyor-type washing equipment because of space, cost or personnel reasons.

George W. Grabenhorst, inventor and general manager of the manufacturing concern at 12751 Inkster Rd., Livonia, explained, "This equipment can easily be installed in a wide variety of locations — from customer coin-operated car laundries to large volume hand wash operations such as fleet and indoor parking garages.

"We believe this is the answer to greatly increased losses in lubrication business, and its attendant customer traffic, by gasoline service stations — and we are installing the Powr-Washes right over lube racks, without any loss of usefulness of the hoists, etc." he added.

The equipment consists of two main sections: a rust-proof fibreglas cabinet unit 22" deep by 60" long and 50" high which contains a powerful vacuum cleaner, white wall gun, special engine cleaner and the mainstay of the system, a "wand" which sprays cold water and the manufacturer's own formula detergent under 250 pounds of pressure.

The second unit, which incorporates rinsing bar and blower fans, is mounted from the ceiling over the wash area and is controlled by a push-button on the Powr cabinet. The rinse bar is an inverted L-shape which travels round the car, and the blowers are so placed as to dry the vehicle with existing ceiling warm air.

Due to the high pressure washing action which is hand directed, all the intricate contours of today's car bodies can be custom cleaned, and the pressure is strong enough to penetrate even behind trim moldings. The system is flexible enough to allow the washing of all kinds of vehicles from foreign sports cars to large trucks.

Engine cleaning equipment is also standard so a thorough job of this once-difficult operation can be done at any wash setup. A special chemical thoroughly penetrates and emulsifies dirt which is then force-flushed away in a total time of 15 minutes. There is none of the usual paint or wiring damage.

In every aspect the new units are low in cost. They sell for a total of under $2,000, including installation. Maintenance is nearly non-existent. Components are chiefly brand-name stock items, available in all areas of the country, and the few moving parts which may eventually need replacement are available from the company's distributors at nominal cost. Detergent supplies are, of course, inexpensive.

Installation requires only 110 volt current and cold water connections, complete advertising and promotional plans for purchase, rental or lease, a unique coin box plan with an unusually high monetary return is offered to private investors.

This equipment is being used advantageously in installations such as Buick Motor Division and General Motors Corp. engineering departments at Flint, and in many locations throughout Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, New York and New Jersey where there is distribution at present.

"Philadelphia Story" Opens May 11 in Plymouth

The gales of laughter greeting Plymouth Theatre Guild's "Philadelphia Story" as this play opens Thursday are a gigantic echo of the Guild's reactions to this sparkling comedy during rehearsal and set construction.

Practicing a tender moment or hilarious situation on a stage devoid of furniture lends itself to laughter, while Director Al Murdock raves at his cast. Equally, the backstage crew has times when the only thing to save sanity is to laugh, even though set boss Bill Kamen and set designer Dick Knopf are chewing nails.

Some of these goofs, errors, and side-splitters will find their way into the traditional "Fourth Act." This spoof on the show is written and acted by the backstage crew. Producer Rosemary Koolman is noted for her scripts needing the cast's mannerisms and classic lines.

Among the many laughs that the audience will not get are such pre-planned things as the absurd titles placed on the painted-in books by Hal Young. Another will be the caustic comments of 'head gripe' Tom Kelly, over the head sets backstage during the play.

There is enough comedy in this frothy, fast-paced play for any audience, however. Plymouth leads Betsey Gibson, John Canon, Loretta Young, and Skip Lucas are experts at wringing the last laugh out of every situation. The play will continue this Friday and Saturday night, closing with a Sunday afternoon performance.

This Is Week To Plant Perennials

This is the best week in the year for you to add to the perennials already in your garden or to start a perennial bed or border if you do not have one.

Experienced gardeners grow these plants rather than annuals for they do not need to be replanted each year in order to have colorful flowers in the garden. Annuals, by definition, are flowers which are planted from seed, bloom, and produce all within the space of a year. Perennials have roots which live from year to year, though the tops of the plants die down each winter.

Perennials, however, do not last forever, though some are practically indestructible. Peonies, for instance, have been known to grow in one place for over 100 years, still producing flowers every year. Columbines, on the other hand, particularly the new hybrid sorts, last two or three years in the garden, then die out. But they are so beautiful that their short life is forgiven.

There are innumerable perennials for your garden, as you'll find out if you visit your local member of the Michigan Association of Nurserymen.

People who already have groupings of these sturdy plants know which they want to add this year. But for new gardeners, the choice is so wide that some advice is needed.

A perennial border or bed is best when built around certain perennials which have either extra good foliage, or an exceptionally long flowering time, plus ease of growth.

These "backbone" perennials are generally considered to be: irises, peonies, phlox, daylilies (hemerocallises), asters and chrysanthemums.

The first irises to bloom are the dwarf sorts, which start in late April. The last to bloom are the Japanese, in July. Thus by choosing a few varieties of several different types of irises bloom may be had over this long time.

Peonies are in flower by Memorial Day and, by careful selection of varieties, blooming season may be stretched for three weeks. But peonies have handsome foliage which ornaments the border for the remainder of the season, especially in autumn when it turns deep red.

The first phlox to flower is the white Miss Lingard, which is of a different species than most garden phlox. There are innumerable varieties and flower colors of phlox. You'll like them all, but may have to move a plant here and a plant there to achieve a good color scheme. Phlox blooms from mid-June through July, into August.

By the beginning of July the great bulk of day lily varieties is blooming. These husky plants need little care; have numerous flowers in shades of yellow, orange, a few pinkish and purplish. Varieties may be purchased which bloom as early as May, as late as September.

Evangelistic Series Opens

The Plymouth Church of Christ has announced its annual spring meeting will begin next Sunday and continue through Wednesday, May 24 with W. C. Reeder of Portland, Tenn. as the guest speaker. Time of services are daily at 7:30 p.m., Sundays at 8:45 a.m., 11 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. The church meets at 9451 South Main, just south of Ann Arbor Rd. The public is invited to attend.

Mr. Reeder is no stranger to Plymouth. He has conducted similar meetings in the past. For 13 years he has lived in Portland and divided his time between evangelistic meetings and local church work. His services are in great demand, this meeting having been scheduled for several years.

Congregational singing will be under the able direction of Melvin Sims of Detroit. Mr. Sims has appeared at the local church before, also as singer, teacher and on special occasions, such as weddings.

The church in Plymouth is experiencing rapid growth. An additional Sunday morning service has been added since the first of the year to take care of all those attending. Records have been set for these services, Sunday school, Sunday evening, Wednesday night and offerings a number of times in recent weeks. In every way the church is registering a one-fifth to one-third increase over a year ago.

ALSO honored recently by the VFW with a Medal for Outstanding Citizenship was Nat Sibbold, who has participated in Memorial Day services for many years with vocal solos.
