Parade, Program To Honor War Dead

Rev. Thomas E. Pollard, American Legion Department chaplain and also chaplain at Southern Michigan State Prison, will be the guest speaker when Plymouth pays tribute next Tuesday to the men and women who served in America's armed forces.

Grand Marshal Ray Gardner and Abe Kooiman, aide to the marshal, report that all plans for Memorial Day have been completed.

FEW PEOPLE know that Plymouth once had a factory making musical instruments, but still enjoying a practice stint on the locally-made trombone is C. H. Goyer, one of Plymouth's two remaining Spanish-American War veterans and secretary-treasurer of the instrument company.

The assembly and formation of the parade will begin at 9:30 a.m. While participants of the parade are gathering, veterans from the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will be helping the Navy Mothers conduct their annual Bridge ceremony on Plymouth Rd.

In charge of this ceremony is Mrs. Ernest Burger, president of the Plymouth Navy Mothers Club. Assisting her will be the V.F.W. drill team and a brass band section from the High School Band.

Residents are invited to attend this memorial to the sailor dead. Those attending will find ample parking space in the Hillside Inn, through the courtesy of manager Robert Stremich. Following the bridge ceremony, Gardner will lead the group to the formation point in the Kroger parking lot.

Organizations planning to participate in the parade are the American Legion and Auxiliary, the V.F.W. and Auxiliary, the Plymouth High School Band, Junior High School Rocket Band, Benton Parkway Barracks 267 and Auxiliary, Flight A of the 963rd Air Reserve Squadron, Ex-Servicemen's Club, Navy Mothers, Mom's Club, Boy Scouts and Cub Packs, Girl Scouts and Brownies, Red Cross and two Spanish-American War veterans from Plymouth.

War of '98 Veteran Still Keeps in Step

By Jim Sponseller

Participating in parades will be old hat to C. H. Goyer, one of Plymouth's two remaining Spanish-American War veterans, who will ride down Main St. during next Tuesday's Memorial Day parade.

The 82-year-old veteran has marched down the main streets of most of America's big cities — playing a trombone that was manufactured here in Plymouth over 40 years ago.

Herbert Goyer, who lives at 1046 Church St., was a musician for many years of his life and among the many organizations he played with was the famous Detroit Shrine Band. Many of his vacations were spent with the band attending Shrine conventions and his last Shrine parade was only four years ago in Minneapolis.

But his Shrine Band background was only a small part of his long and colorful life, which included service during the Spanish-American War, a musician in Detroit's theaters, a railroad office and bank employee, a manufacturer of band instruments and work in an automobile plant.

At the outbreak of the Cuban conflict February, 1898 with the battleship Maine incident, young Herbert Goyer signed up with the volunteer 32nd Michigan Regiment and he went into its band. Going to Florida, the regiment was assigned all types of menial tasks and never got to Cuba.

Mr. Goyer blames the regiment's failure to get into battle on politics. "Our colonel was a Democrat and the administration at that time was Republican," Goyer said. "The outfits that had Republican generals and colonels got preference."

Even while encamped in Florida, the regiment found life not too pleasant. "There was much sickness. We were warned not to eat too much meat. That was when they discovered that the meat was embalmed. The doctors had a big bowl full of pills and

Sixty PHS Juniors Cited At Honors Convocation

Sixty Plymouth High School juniors were recognized Monday night at the annual Honors Convocation at which Dr. R. C. Lusk, educational services director for the Automobile Manufacturers Association, was the guest speaker. Thirty-seven of the 60 were inducted into the National Honor Society.

More Michigan Week Events Ahead Friday

An opportunity to tour the City Hall and the City well field and a look into Plymouth's past will be given the public this Friday as part of the Michigan Week observance.

The Heritage Day program at Dunning-Hough Library will feature historical displays. A program at 1:30 p.m. will feature Sidney Strong from the Historical Society, discussing Plymouth's early history, and George Lawton, Chamber of Commerce president, outlining Plymouth's plans for the future.

The displays and program are open to the public without charge.

There will be an Open House at City Hall from 6 to 9 p.m. Friday. Citizens will be provided tours of the building. But of special interest will be tours of the City's water field. Most people are unaware of where and how the City obtains its water. Those wishing to take this tour should first go to City Hall.

net solo by Clare Wilson closed the program. Those elected to the Honor Society had to maintain a B average since starting ninth grade, with no grade falling below "C." Teachers also graded prospective members on their character, leadership and service.

Development Corp. Planned

Formation of an "industrial development company" with the purpose of purchasing Plymouth's empty plants and leasing them to new firms is moving ahead with $22,000 already offered by local business, industry and individuals.

The new corporation, which will soon be formed under the Michigan Corporation and Securities Commission, already has at least two outside industries interested in leasing vacant plants here.

Two meetings have been held for interested parties with some 40 individuals attending. The movement itself is sponsored by the Economic Development Committee of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce.

The two vacant plants that are being considered first are the former Daisy Manufacturing Co. plant, vacant three years, and the former Universal Stamping plant on Mill St., vacant for the past year and a half.

Two industries are interested in moving into these buildings if a lease arrangement can be secured, according to Frank Arlen, who is working part-time with the Chamber on economic development.

Other vacant industrial buildings are the former Brighton Products plant on Amelia St., the old Plymouth Tube plant on Farmer St. and a building on Ann Arbor Rd. near the Township Hall once occupied by Consumers Power.

"Our purpose is to get these vacant buildings occupied again and bring more jobs into Plymouth," Arlen declared.

Seven men have been granted provisional leadership of the program until the corporation is formed and an election of directors takes place. The seven are George Lawton, president of the Chamber; Harold Guenther, Chamber vice-president and also vice-president of E-Z Sew Enterprises and president of the Rotary Club; William Sempiner, attorney and Chamber Board member; Donald Sutherland, a CPA; Clarence Moore, president of Plymouth Stamping; Edwin Schrader, funeral director; and Frank Arlen.

The new company will also concern itself with such things as downtown parking, traffic studies, senior citizens and the central business district itself — "anything having to do with bettering Plymouth's economy," Arlen said.

The company will limit itself to raising $30,000. Of this amount, 75 per cent must

Election Is Next Town Hall Topic

One of the largest and most active meetings of the Plymouth Community Town Hall is expected Thursday, June 1 when candidates for the Board of Education and Proposed Northwest Community College board of trustees appear.

Held in the Junior High School at 8 p.m., the Town Hall will feature an explanation of the proposed community college and will also give citizens a chance to hear the candidates for trustee-at-large and the single Plymouth District candidate.

The four candidates for the single Plymouth Board of Education vacancy will also be invited.

Vote 'Yes' On College

Local Campus Solution For 2-3 Year Students

(Third in a Series of Five Articles For Voters on June 12)

By ERIC J. BRADNER

In the nation at large, approximately 38 percent of the young people of college age are attending college. Only about a quarter of those who start college actually finish the four years. The rest complete their work in less time or drop out.

Some of these two year people, particularly the girls, want programs that are general in nature — programs that will help them become better citizens and better wives. Private "name" junior colleges specialize in providing this kind of education. So do community colleges.

There are many two year people who need programs that combine studies in the liberal arts with training in business. Unless there is a local college, these students must leave home for this type of instruction. This explains, in part, why so many students drop out of our state colleges and universities after one or two years. They have reached their objectives and are ready for employment.

About half of the two year people want training as technicians. Here also a community college can be helpful.

A generation ago our economy rested upon strong backs. Today our industries need strong brains. The missile age, with its demands for high quality electronic, hydraulic and other engineering capacities, has intensified the need for a vast army of technicians.

Where there is no local college, industry must do much of its own technical training, usually after employment has begun.

When the Citizens' Survey of our area was made, both students and industry expressed interest in drafting, electronics, mechanics and hydraulics. A community college is designed to give the necessary instruction in these technologies.

Thoughtful people will agree that it is equally as important to our national security that we train people as technicians as it is that we train people for the professions. A local community college working closely with industry, will give our youth the information and training needed for tomorrow's jobs.

Many Still Recall Civil War Veterans in Our Parades

THERE ARE STILL many who can remember when members of the Eddy Post of the GAR marched down Main St. for parades, but today every last Civil War veteran in the United States has died. This photo taken in 1914 by teenager Davis Hillmer, youngest son of the then village president, Louis Hillmer, when they had assembled at the Village Hall for a meeting. Louis is a brother of Karl Starkweather. Absent from the picture is Arthur Stevens, Plymouth's last Civil War veteran. After waiting for Mr. Stevens, one of the number finally said "we can't wait any longer" and the photo was made without him. Hillmer, who is now a photographer in Detroit, had not thought of recording anything for posterity, but wanted to make some money (35 cents a copy). From left are Asa Joy, Ephraim Partridge, T. V. Quackenbush, William Smitherman, Christ Peterhans, James Manzer, Oliver Showers, Pizarro Perkins, Dr. Abram Pelham, Orson Westfall, David Peterkin, Willard Roe, John Stewart, Chauncey Bunyea, C. E. Maynard, James Purdy, John Burden, unidentified, Henry Robinson, and Chauncey Baker.

Life is Still a Challenge For Nimble Nonagenarian

By Jean Campau

After being air-borne for three and a half hours, Mrs. Sophie Huelgel jetted in at Willow Run from California to make her home with her daughter, Mrs. Sophie Saner at Windover Lake, Mich.

It was while she was visiting her granddaughter, Mrs. Madeline Penney, 48222 Powell Rd., that we talked with her.

Mrs. Huelgel was born in Alsace-Lorraine in 1865 and came to this country in 1914. Before her husband's death, she made Mt. Clemens her home for many years.

When she was a youngster of 81, Mrs. Huelgel underwent a successful operation for cataracts. And up until last year she did a great amount of knitting, turning out socks and garments at a rapid rate for her relatives and friends. Now, she spends her time watching television and listening to music. When she's with her granddaughter, Mrs. Penney, she enjoys listening to her play the organ and her great grandson, Terry, play the accordion.

She rises each day to a hearty bowl of Wheaties and then busies herself making her bed and drying the breakfast dishes.

The only time since the removal of her cataract that she has seen a doctor was prior to her flight from the West Coast. At that time she was given an OK bill of health, when she feels the need for medication, which is seldom, she takes an aspirin and soon feels tip-top again.

Mrs. Huelgel prefers the crisp climate of the north to the coast weather, where she says the smog is very irritating, and she likes jet air travel over conventional planes, in that one is hardly aware of any movement.

She has two sons, two daughters, eight grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

But best of all this neat and tidy lady who will be 97 in July, still finds life interesting.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Curtner of Orange, Cal., are announcing the arrival of a new son, Jon Kelly, on April 28.

Mrs. Curtner is the former Elisabeth Neal, daughter of Mrs. Charles J. Neal, and Mr. Curtner the son of the Harry Curtners, Sr., of Livonia.

The Jr. Curtners, formerly resided on Simpson St. in Plymouth and later in Farmington Township.

Mr. and Mrs. William Riddle of Arthur St., announce the birth of their first child, a 6 lb., 14 1/2 oz. son, William S., born May 8 at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor.

The maternal grandmother is Mrs. A. Calkins of Pacific St., and the paternal grandmother is Mrs. M. Riddle of Garden City.

It's a girl for Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Burmeister. Deborah Lynne was born May 2 at Detroit Osteopathic Hospital and weighed 6 lbs. 14 ozs.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Sarah of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Lester W. Burmeister of Detroit. Mrs. Burmeister is the former Liz Sarah.

The United States paid $5,500,000 to Canada for the use of inland fisheries after the Halifax Award of 1877.

June Cutright

Miss June Cutright was installed Tuesday evening as the Worthy Advisor of the Northville Rainbow Girls, Assembly 29 at the Northville Masonic Temple.

June is a tenth grade student at Plymouth High School and lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cutright at 799 Arthur St.

Jean's Jottings

By Jean Campau, Woman's Editor

We made a family occasion out of Saturday's Plymouth Pop Concert. It was the first opportunity my two children have had with a live symphony orchestra and they received it with the wide-eyed wonderment typical of youngsters. The experience took on a personal note for my daughter when she discovered her music teacher, Miss Judy Mansfield, in the orchestra, and the high point for my son was the firing of the Civil War muskets.

It would be difficult to pick a favorite from the fine musical program the Symphony offered, but for me the Civil War segment was probably the most exciting.

There was a realistic 'you are there' atmosphere prevalent when folk-singer Henry Austin, spotlighted in authentic Union Blue, sang a medley of songs from that epochal era.

The Symphony's final concert of the current season ended in a community song-fest, enthusiastically endorsed, judging from the audience participation.

Just 93 years ago most states of the newly reunited Union observed the first Memorial Day. Maj. General John A. Logan, commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, proclaimed the holiday and led tributes with services at Arlington National Cemetery, honoring the men who had died in their own land at the hands of their own countrymen, defending the principle of one nation.

That first Memorial Day was probably greeted with mixed feelings by the four million former slaves who were not yet official citizens. Soon after the holiday, however, Congress passed the Fourteenth Amendment giving them full status.

The old Southern aristocracy was faced with monumental adjustments, too. Its land had been ruined, its economy was near total collapse and its social traditions had been relegated to the dead past.

In the North, conditions were more cheerful. Harriet Beecher Stowe, author of Uncle Tom's Cabin, was now penning quiet stories about New England life. While the war had shattered the South, it brought booming prosperity to the North and the Nation as a whole was experiencing the birth pangs of the industrial revolution.

Now after nearly a century, and several intervening wars, Memorial or Decoration Day, is dedicated to the memory of not only the Civil War dead but all American soldiers who have fought for the American cause.

It is today a national time for remembering except in the states of Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, South Carolina and Texas.

Historical Society Observes 13th Year

At the annual dinner meeting of the Plymouth Historical Society 100 members and guests converged at St. John's Episcopal Church for a sumptuous turkey dinner and all the fixings.

Special guest was Detroit's own Anne Campbell, the Detroit News poetess, her husband, George Stark, was unable to attend at the last minute and in his stead was the 92-year-old mother of Anne Campbell.

Following the dinner the election of officers was held and Frank Henderson was re-elected as the Society president. Other officers were Mila Livingston, first vice-president in charge of publicity; Karl Starkweather, second vice-president in charge of programs; Mrs. George Smith, third vice-president in charge of membership; Fred Thomas, treasurer; and Mrs. Dora Woods, re-elected to the position of secretary and Mrs. Effie MacDougall, re-elected as recording secretary.

There was a lively discussion throughout the evening about the procuring of a permanent home for the many interesting artifacts and tokens now scattered among the various members of the Historical Society.

Since the dinner meeting, the City Commission has given the Society a two-year lease on the old home located north of the City Hall, to be used as a historical museum.

The Plymouth Historical Society will take possession June 1.

The newly-formed building committee, headed by Ernie Henry, will be meeting weekly to formulate plans for setting up the Society's new quarters.

Elizabeth McDonald Wins Journalism Advisor Award

Elizabeth McDonald, Plymouth High School journalism teacher and adviser of the student newspaper, the Pilgrim Prints, was presented a Golden Pen Award by the Michigan Interscholastic Press Assn. at a luncheon meeting in the Michigan Union Building in Ann Arbor last Friday.

The award, which has long been presented annually to outstanding teachers, recognizes notable contributions to all aspects of journalistic education and student guidance. The MIPA is a statewide organization of journalism faculties, teachers, and students. Principal Carvel Bentley was on hand for the occasion. The text of the presentation to Miss McDonald follows: "For many years she has been recognized by administrators, colleagues, students and parents, as a dynamic teacher of English, Latin and journalism, and she has served as faculty adviser of the Pilgrim Prints, the Plymouth High School newspaper, which through her guidance won International First Place

Awards from 1947 to 1961.

"She has furthered the cause of good journalism as adviser for the Plymouth, the school yearbook, and as supervisor of articles for the local newspaper. She was a member of the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of Cooperative School Studies for four years, acting as chairman in 1957-58; she has given her students an awareness of European culture through her extensive travels.

"Therefore, the Michigan Interscholastic Press Assn. bestows upon Miss Elizabeth McDonald this Golden Pen in recognition of her superior service to scholastic journalism in the state of Michigan."

Big things are in store for Brownie Troop 345. The girls are planning an overnight trip to the Girl Scout Lodge May 27, and their leaders, Mrs. Brezeale and Mrs. Zander, are busy getting everything ready for the "fly-up" ceremonies that will be held at that time.

The girls flying up are Kathy Bostedor, Sharon Brezeale, Rose Curmi, Nancy Horn, Beverly Jacobs, Nancy Jones, Roxanne Ketcherside, Barbara Krukliis, Carol Magee, Barbara Overholt, Jill Pinkerton, Kristine Pugh, Sharon Reeder, Sandra Schmidt, Donna Siles, Ida Smith, Debbie Westfall, Debbie Zander and Rita Ferguson.

This same troop has just finished a service project at the Allen School PTA Fair where they manded the fish pond.

Brownie Troops 249, led by Mrs. Milligan and Mrs. Bush and Troop 272 with Mrs. Gibson and Mrs. Brennan have once again joined forces for a royal feast in the park last Saturday, May 20. The girls made and consumed pounds of Sloppy Joes.

The girls and their leaders would like to thank Mrs. Mildred Lambe, who taught the girls how to build a basic "A" fire and spoke to the girls on fire safety.

So we need those rest rooms and the merchants can't provide them in their stores, so merchants again, "Do you want our trade?" If so, why don't you hire a senior citizen to be on duty when the rest rooms are open? It would cost each merchant so very little and would bring many shoppers here besides keeping our own people home.

The senior citizen would probably be glad to add a little to their income.

Canton Electorate Studies College Proposal

By Esther Sprengel
GL 3-0194

The Cherry Hill Methodist Church on Ridge Rd. was the setting for a bridal shower, given in honor of Joyce Gots, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Gots of Ridge Rd. Joyce will become the bride of David Gyde June 17. The ceremony will take place in the Cherry Hill Church. The miscellaneous shower was given by the women of the church. The guests were presented with a number by Mrs. John Contario as they entered the hall, and were seated at smaller tables placed around a long banquet type table which held the many gifts. The table was gaily decorated in yellow parasols on candles, with green clinging plants twining around the base. The festivities began with the bride-to-be sitting at the head of the table with the young ladies she chose to serve in her wedding party. They helped her open her gifts and record the name of the guests. Also the traditional ribbon corsage was made from the ribbons adorning the gifts. The young ladies to serve Joyce in her wedding party are: Pat Gyde, sister of the groom, Pat Clixby and Karen West. At ten minute intervals Miss West tinkled a spoon against a cup and the holder of the number she called was presented with a prize. The 75 (approximate) guests gaily chatted and showed their pleasure at the beautiful gifts received by the very pretty and radiant Joyce. After the gifts were all opened, Mrs. Gladys Gots, mother of the bride-to-be, was asked to serve coffee and tea from the silver service placed at the end of the buffet style luncheon table. Mrs. Robert DeKarske (Betty), sister of the bride, walked among the guests taking pictures of the gifts and guests.

As the guests left the party they were once again thanked by Joyce who stood at the door to bid them goodbye.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Wing announced the marriage of their son, Wilfred J. Wing, to Mary Ann Kreger of Henderson, Minn. The couple was married May 13 in Minnesota. Mary Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Kreger.

Wilfred graduated from the Plymouth High School and served in the United States Army, completing his duty a year ago. The couple will make their home in Dearborn, where Mr. Wing will serve on the police force. Although Mr. and Mrs. Wing, Wilfred's parents, were unable to attend the wedding of their son, due to Mr. Wing's illness, their good wishes for their son's and daughter-in-law's happy ness were related to the couple by guests from Michigan who were: Wilfred's brother, Thomas, and aunts and uncles, Mr. and Mrs. John Mulvan of Dearborn and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Houd of Detroit.

Sunday, May 14, Mary Margaret McNulty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl McNulty, made her first Holy Communion at St. Alexis Church in Willow Run.

Following the ceremonies 'open house' was held for friends and relatives. Mary Margaret's godparents (and grandparents), Mr. and Mrs. Philip McNulty, were present at this happy occasion. Guests from Brighton, Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor were also present. The young lady received many beautiful gifts and she served her guests the special cake baked for the occasion which was in the form of a large book. As though the excitement of this most sacred occasion wasn't enough, Mary Margaret was also the guest of honor at a birthday party, given in her honor by her parents, for guests from her class from the Cherry Hill School, to celebrate her eighth birthday.

Township residents who are part of the Plymouth Community School System, may pick up literature at the Township Hall, or local grocery stores to give you a thorough understanding of the proposed community college vote to be put on the ballot June 12. It is important that you get all the information possible on this proposal, for it is a very important issue, especially for our young people and their parents. It is also something to know about for persons who do not have children who are thinking of going to college.

The community college will have a vast influence for our people as well as to the community as a whole. So go to vote, informed, no matter how you vote.

In case you have been wondering about the fire on Sheldon and Warren Rd., the fellows of the Canton Fire Department were given permission by the owners to burn the already partially burned buildings, for practice. These practice sessions help greatly in aiding the men gain experience when faced with the real thing.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McTurner proudly announce the birth of a daughter, Tammie Lou. Tammie was born Saturday, May 6, at the Ridgewood Osteopathic Hospital and weighed in at 5 lbs. 6 ozs. At home to meet their new sister were three sisters and one brother. We understand mother (Doris) and Tammie are both doing just fine.

We are happy to report that Mrs. Parnell Johnson (Lillian) is home from St. Joseph Hospital following extensive surgery. Mrs. Johnson who resides on Maben Rd. with her family, wants to thank the many nice people, friends, relatives and members of her church, for the many wonderful cards and visits. Mrs. Johnson felt that her illness was made much easier by the prayers offered for her by The Rev. Norman Berg of the St. Peter's Lutheran Church of Plymouth and the congregation. A special thanks goes to Mrs. Johnson's sister, Mrs. Borovsky, who remained with Mrs. Johnson throughout her ordeal.

Vivian News

At the May 11 meeting of the Vivians, new officers for the 1961-62 season were elected. They are: Venith Dauderman, president; Shirley Swadling, vice president; Winifred Schoenneman, recording secretary; June Nichol, corresponding secretary; Christine Foster, treasurer; Alice Harriman, chaplain; Esther Powell, sergeant-at-arms; Madolyn Hartford and Virginia Fann, members at large.

The new officers will be installed at the June 8 meeting.

Following the election, Vivians heard a talk by Mr. Lamb about the proposed Community College.

Refreshments were served during a showing of the slides taken at the Elk's and Vivian's Special Projects of the past year.

A miscellaneous bridal shower is being held at the Cherry Hill Methodist Church by the combined groups of the women of the church, for Miss Joyce Gots, daughter of Mrs. Gladys Gots of Ridge Rd., on May 18 at 7:45 p.m. More about our future bride later.

On Sunday, May 7, the Cherry Hill Methodist Church held its annual Children's Day Program. This year, however, the program had a new twist. The parents of the children were asked to visit their Sunday School class and learn a little about how their child's teacher goes about presenting the story of Christ to the small children. Following the class visit, the group was shown a short movie on teaching small children. This month is being observed as "Family Month."

On May 21, the Junior Choir of the Cherry Hill Methodist Church were invited to sing at the Sheldon Methodist Church. The Choir is under the direction of Mrs. Madeline Bastian. The Senior Choir of the church is under the direction of Mrs. Sue Ashman.

Mr. and Mrs. John Contario of Ridge Rd. and son Johnny and Danny and Phillip West, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Stan West, plan to attend the meeting of the Junior Achievement group in Cobo Hall. The guest speaker was Sam Levenson, the personality famous for his clever talks about children and their families.

The Gallimore School safety boys and girls were awarded for their fine work during the year by a trip to see the Tigers play ball and a luncheon treat at the Mayflower Hotel. Many persons do not realize that these young people have to put forth greater effort in their school work in order to be able to fulfill the duties of the safety patrol and still keep up with their school work. In fact a student who slips in his school work must then put aside his safety duties until he is able to bring his marks up.

The boys and girls of the Cherry Hill School had a tour of the Willow Run Airport on May 16. The first and second graders, numbering approximately 60 students, were accompanied by their teachers, Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Cox and room mothers.

The Yellow Jackets, a baseball team of Little Leaguers, who must be members of the Cherry Hill Methodist Church Sunday School, held their first organizational meeting. The young players will be under the direction of Mr. Bill Case, Mr. Allen Bastian and Mr. Beller. In previous years the ball team did very well for themselves. And although this year the team, for the most part, is made up of new boys, we wish them success and hope they will let us know from time to time how they are doing.

Mrs. Homer Benoit and Mrs. William Sprengel along with friends, attended the showing of the "Music Man." The music was very good, the plot light and enjoyable, but a word of advice. Be sure you don't sit behind a beehive hair-do. It's very hard on the neck. I suggest ladies wearing such a hair-do to movies or such, be kind enough to have a hole in the middle of the hive, for persons unfortunate enough to sit behind them.

I would like to call each and every resident, but since this is impossible, won't you call me with your news items?

A TOUR through City Hall was a "must" for the Big Rapids delegation here Monday. In center is City Treasurer Kenneth Way, host for the day, showing a

Detroit Mutual Names Willis Butler to Post

Willis D. Butler has been appointed manager of sales for the Monthly Debit Ordinary Division of Detroit Mutual Insurance Co. He will coordinate life insurance sales within its several weekly industrial offices.

Butler began his career in insurance in 1937 with Western & Southern Life Insurance Co., where he was the leading producer of Ordinary Life Insurance for the Midwest region from 1938 through 1941. He enlisted in the U.S. Army in 1944, and after his discharge in 1946, became rehabilitation officer in Flint for the Veterans Administration. Mr. Butler resumed his work in life insurance in 1957 when he joined Detroit Mutual and became staff manager in their Flint office.

He makes his home in Flint with Mrs. Butler and their five children and is very active in the Flint Chapter of the S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. (Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America), having been founder and past president in Flint.

A PROCLAMATION calling upon Plymouth employers to "Hire Now" was signed this week by Mayor Robert Sincock. It is part of a nationwide drive spearheaded in Michigan by the State Employment Service. City Manager Albert Glassford looks on while the mayor signed the proclamation.

Asks Employers To 'Hire Now'

Mayor Robert Sincock today called on Plymouth employers to "staff their plants and businesses now to prove their faith in the free enterprise system."

His appeal was made in a proclamation endorsing the nationwide "HIRE NOW" drive being spearheaded in Plymouth by the Plymouth office of the Michigan State Employment Service. The drive has also been endorsed by the Governor.

Slogan for the campaign is "When They Work, You Profit. HIRE NOW!"

Mayor Sincock said the drive is being undertaken to fill existing job openings which in turn will create new employment opportunities.

He noted that the time was propitious for a hiring push because many economic indicators show that the national economy is on the rise.

"I call upon all local employers, leaders of industry and labor, and members of civic, veteran and fraternal organizations," he said, "to cooperate and assist the Michigan State Employment Service to carry out a successful Job Drive, thus increasing local payrolls and creating the buying power necessary to maintain a healthy and sound economy."

How Long To Store Food?

BY ROSELLA M. BANNISTER
 Wayne County Extension Agent, Home Economics

Have you ever wondered how long foods will keep good quality in the refrigerator? It all depends on the food, the wrapping and the refrigerator. Here are answers to questions people often ask about food storage.

How should fresh meats be wrapped for refrigerator storage? Fresh meats should be loosely wrapped in waxed paper or kitchen foil. If you purchase meats which have been tightly wrapped at the grocery, be sure to loosen the wrap before storage.

How should cooked meats be wrapped for refrigerator storage? Cooked and leftover meats should be tightly wrapped or stored in a covered container.

What is the average temperature of a refrigerator, and where is the coldest part of the refrigerator? When the refrigerator temperature control is set at normal, the center of the refrigerator will run between 38 degrees and 42 degrees F. The area just below the freezing unit is colder, for storage of meats, poultry and fish. The bottom of the refrigerator is warmer than the center, for less perishable foods.

How long will fresh meats keep? Use ground meat within one day; use variety meats such as heart, liver and tongue within two days; use fresh meat cuts within three to six days. Storage time for pork cuts is somewhat shorter than for other meat cuts.

How long will cured meats keep? Use ground meat within seven days for best quality. Probably storage life in the refrigerator is three to four weeks.

How long will poultry keep? Use poultry within two to three days.

How long will fresh fish keep? Use fish and seafood within one day for best quality.

How long will sliced cold cuts keep? Use within six days for best quality.

How long will milk, eggs and cheese keep? Use milk within three days for best quality. Use eggs within seven days for best quality. Probably storage life for eggs is two to six weeks. Hard cheese, tightly wrapped, will keep for months. Soft cheese will keep one to two weeks.

How should fresh vegetables be stored? Store vegetables in plastic bags in the hydrator section of the refrigerator. Hydrators help vegetables retain moisture. Vegetables should be used when as fresh as possible, for they lose vitamins rapidly in storage.

How can you tell when meat is beginning to spoil? An off odor and sliminess are signs of meat spoilage. Beef usually spoils first near the bone in the inside of the meat. To test for spoiled pork, use a pointed knife to reach the interior of the meat. An off odor on the knife means spoilage.

Are some foods more apt to spoil quickly than others? Foods such as chicken, ham, tuna and non-acid potato salads must be refrigerated at all times. Custard filled pas-

By Bill Nelson

An unusual record tickles the sports bone today. Wayne State University (our alma mater) was looking for its 13th consecutive league baseball victory last weekend against Washington and Jefferson, also of the President's Athletic Conference.

But the Tartars can't possibly win the league championship!

This record extends over a period of three years and includes the fact that Wayne has never lost a PAC game in baseball. They have, however, won only one championship.

The league, it seems, requires that a team play at least six games to qualify for the championship and the Tartars have been rained out so often over the past few years that only in 1959 were they declared champions. That year they won six and lost none. No one has beaten them yet, in over three years of league play and yet only one championship.

The state legislature ought to investigate this one.

Charles E. Ketterer comes back to a coaching role at Plymouth with the announcement today of his appointment as basketball coach at the high school.

Rock fans will recall his efforts as a football coach in the early 50's, particularly 1952 when his team won nine and lost to no one.

A basketball team isn't created overnight, however, and fans will do well to remember that his first football team here was in 1951, just prior to the unbeaten season. It lost four, tied one and won only two.

The Plymouth Junior Golf League is underway again. It attracted over 100 youngsters during its first year of operation.

Hilltop is the scene and youngsters from the fourth grade through high school are invited. Green fees are 75 cents and a registration of 50 cents is charged.

It's part of the Junior Golf League under the summer recreation program. Mrs. Wilson Augustine, Mrs. Howard Beck and Mrs. J. Griswold are three ladies who are instrumental in this year's planning and organization.

Mrs. Augustine takes a good deal of pride in the league's prior efforts, noting that "every one of the boys on this year's high school team took part in our program." Del McAllister was second in the state finals this year.

Chris Burghardt, golf professional, is on hand at Hilltop to help teach the youngsters, who play nine holes. Parents help out by walking around with the youngsters.

A tournament is scheduled for August 7 and 8.

Tennis Team Finishes 2nd In Regionals Plymouth Edged By Quarter Point

A surprising Plymouth High School tennis team came within one-quarter of a point last Saturday of winning the State Regional tournament. Coach Jim Doyle's netters, possessor's of a mediocre 6-5 season's record, scored 10 1/4 points in the two day tournament, but were edged by Birmingham, which scored 10 1/2 points.

Don Conover led the Rocks in singles play, winning in the regional finals. Dale Livingston and Dennis Smith paced Plymouth doubles effort to win in the finals of the regional meet.

In placing second in the eight team meet, Plymouth also got support from Jim Jensen, Linc Smith and Tom Locke. Jensen and Smith reached the quarter finals before being eliminated. Locke won a half point in the opening round. John Tichy had the misfortune to draw Birmingham's Steve Anderson on the first round. Anderson won the quarter final and promptly eliminated Tichy.

Regional meets are scored thusly: one point for singles victories; one and half points for doubles victories; one-half point for preliminary victories in singles and three-quarters of a point for victories in doubles preliminaries.

Coach Doyle credited the Rock performance to "some good breaks and good performances."

Earlier in the week, Plymouth pounded Bentley 7-0 for its sixth dual match victory of the season. John Tichy won the number one singles by default, when his opponent failed to show up. Don Conover, Linc Smith and Tom Locke completed the singles sweep.

In doubles, Dennis Smith, Dale Livingston and Jim Jensen, Ed Fisher combines won the number one and two events respectively.

Otto Dobas and Larry Hall won the number three doubles to complete the sweep of the Bulldogs.

The Rocks were scheduled at Northville yesterday.

Charles E. Ketterer

Ketterer To Lead Cagers

Charles E. Ketterer was appointed Plymouth High School basketball coach today, athletic director John Sandmann announced.

Ketterer, 37, and a Plymouth resident since 1950, has coached Plymouth sports before. Currently he is a physical education teacher in the Junior High School and also director of the intramural program there.

Ketterer coached Plymouth basketball teams in 1955-56 and 1956-57 seasons. He compiled 7-5 and 9-6 records during those seasons. He has also coached Rock football and baseball teams. Ketterer-coached teams won three Suburban Six League championships in four years (1951-54) of football.

During this span, his teams won 24, tied two and lost six. Best remembered probably was his 1952 team, which won nine and lost none. In 1954, another unbeaten team won seven and tied one. The team won the championship outright in '52 and '54 and tied for first with a 9-2 record in 1953. That team lost its first two games, but won the next six in a row.

Ketterer is a graduate of the University of Michigan with an A.B. in Physical Education and a Master's Degree in Athletic Administration.

He has also coached at River Rouge and Northville. From 1942-45 he served in the Marine Corps as a second lieutenant in the infantry. In the early part of those years he was a student at U of M, a member of the V-12 program there.

He won letters in baseball and basketball at Michigan and played 150 pound football. He will continue his teaching duties in the Junior High School and also continue as intramural director during the spring and fall.

In the winter time, he'll be busy coaching the Rocks.

Split Two - Race Tied

A close escape in an extra inning game and its first league defeat of the season last week left Plymouth tied for first place with Belleville.

The Rocks went 10 innings (high school games are seven innings) to win Tuesday over Trenton 6-5 before losing 6-1 at Allen Park last Thursday.

With a 6-1 league mark, the Rocks were scheduled to meet Redford Union Monday.

Belleville also has lost only one game, that one to Plymouth.

Catcher Bob Monteith was the hero in the Allen Park game, when he singled with two out and two on in the top of the tenth to score right-fielder Bryan Gilles, who had walked.

Pitcher Pete Lomonaco, who pitched the entire 10 innings, held Trenton and Plymouth batted its 6th consecutive league victory.

Plymouth earlier had scored three runs in the second on four singles by leftfielder Jared Stevens, Lomonaco, centerfielder Jim Lockwood and Gilles.

Trenton got one back in the bottom of the second, but Plymouth boosted its lead to 4-1 in the top of the third on doubles by Monteith and Stevens.

Trenton got that one back in the bottom of the third on two walks, an error and a long fly.

Trenton closed in to make it 4-3 in the bottom of the 5th, on a walk, two infield outs and a single. Plymouth pushed ahead 5-3 in the sixth when third baseman Dick Schryer led off with a home run.

That was all the scoring for Plymouth however, and Allen Park salted the game away with a four run outburst in the fifth inning.

The Rocks were scheduled at Redford Union Monday and will meet Bentley at home tomorrow. The first Belleville game, which was rained out, appears likely to be rescheduled now to determine the league championship.

RU Dumps Rocks 5-2

Shortstop Jim Ralston homered and relief pitcher, third baseman Dick Schryer, drove in another run with a triple, but Plymouth suffered its second league defeat Monday 5-2 at Redford Union.

The second successive loss bumped the Rocks out of first place in the Suburban Six race.

Plymouth jumped off to an early lead against RU, when Ralston hit his bases empty homer in the first inning.

But, RU came right back to tie it up in the first on two errors and a single. RU went ahead, 3-1, in the bottom of the second on another error and two singles.

Catcher Bob Monteith stretched its lead to 5-1 in the fifth on three successive singles after two were out. Plymouth came back with its other run in the top of the seventh when catcher

Bob Monteith walked and Dick Schryer tripled him home.

Plymouth now has a 5-2 league record.

McAllister Shoots 77; 2nd In State

Del McAllister placed second in the state golfing meet last week and Plymouth finished seventh. McAllister with a 77 was only two strokes off the winning mark of 75. He received a medal for his performance.

The Rock team, meanwhile, was seventh in a field of 20 finalists at Blythefield Country Club in Grand Rapids.

Jackson won it with a 323. Plymouth had a 333, only 10 strokes off the team mark.

Dearborn and Ann Arbor tied for second with 324, while Farmington was fourth with 325. Bloomfield Hills (329) and Grosse Pointe (332) also finished in front of the Rocks.

Steve Hayskar was second for Plymouth with 78, while Carl Zornow had an 85. John Augustine with 92, finished fourth for the Rocks.

The Suburban Six League meet was scheduled for Monday at Bentley. Plymouth went into the meet with a 7-2 dual record for the season.

The Rocks are also scheduled to meet Dearborn today, Northville tomorrow and again Monday.

Golfers Win Title

Plymouth golfers added another championship trophy to the Plymouth High School case Monday by winning the 1961 Suburban Six League championship at Meadowbrook.

The Rocks finished first with a 332 team score. Bentley, with 357, was second and Redford Union, with 361, was third. Trenton placed fourth with a 394.

The Rocks had good team balance. Del McAllister was a medalist for the meet with an 80, while teammate Carl Zornow was second in the meet with an 83. John Augustine dropped his score from the state meet, shooting 84. Steve Hayskar was one stroke back

Title Meet Tomorrow

Plymouth's track team will participate in the League meet tomorrow evening at Redford Union. The final field events are scheduled for 6:15 p.m. and the preliminary and final running events are scheduled for 7:30 a.m. and 8:30 p.m. under the lights.

Bentley is heavily favored. Last season Plymouth wasn't given much of a chance but managed to win the league title by one-twelfth of a point.

The Rocks were scheduled to participate in the League against Northville Monday in the last dual meet of the season.

Good Counsel Wins Second In CYO League

Taking their second straight win in the Catholic Youth Organization Inter City League, Our Lady of Good Counsel grade school baseball team looked like the champions of last season. Coach Fred Crissey in his first year with the local team, picked as his hero for the day, Frank Ross, centerfielder. Ross drove in three runs in the second inning with a wrong field double, and added another double in the sixth, scoring two more runs.

BULLETIN:

Shell Research warns of "winter-weary" autos—Dealers of J. Austin Oil Co. urges prompt Spring Change-over

No matter how mild or how severe the winter, your car may now be in for trouble. This was the word which Shell Jobber, A. S. Truesdell, President of J. Austin Oil Co. of Wayne, Inc. received from Shell Research.

Truesdell explains that troubles can develop even though the car's winter preparation was good.

The blame rests on the rugged conditions of winter driving. Here is what happens, and what you should do about it:

1. Over the winter, the rust inhibitor in your anti-freeze loses some of its ability to protect your radiator. A rusting, clogged cooling system can cause boiling troubles in warm weather driving.
2. The oil in your crankcase becomes contaminated with sludge particles which are generally heavier in short-trip winter driving. It also becomes contaminated by water formed by condensation in cold engines. Ordinarily, this water evaporates harmlessly, but in winter, your engine may not warm up enough to do this. So the oil you now have in your crankcase can't be expected to do a proper lubricating job.
3. Your car's running gear—king pin bushings, ball joints, steering linkage and the like—suffers over the winter, too. Water, salt, sand and mud are splashed up from the road. This washes away the lubricant in many cases—
4. Your battery gets a heavier workout in winter. It discharges faster with winter start-ups, and puts out less energy in cold temperatures. Cells may break down.
5. Your tires and front wheels need Springtime attention, too. Frozen ruts, washed-out chuck holes, chunks of ice—all these can damage tire side-walls and knock front wheels out of alignment. (With out-of-line wheels, your tires may scrub sideways a full mile for every 100 miles you travel!)
6. The finish on your car will be better for a thorough Spring cleaning—inside and out. (A look under your front fenders will prove it.) Here road salt and sand collect. Corrosion can get a start. Winter grit and grime get imbedded in upholstery, hastening wear.

Most of the Shell Dealers in the area now have special prices on Spring Spruce-up. Come in soon and see how much less it can cost to have these important jobs all done at once.

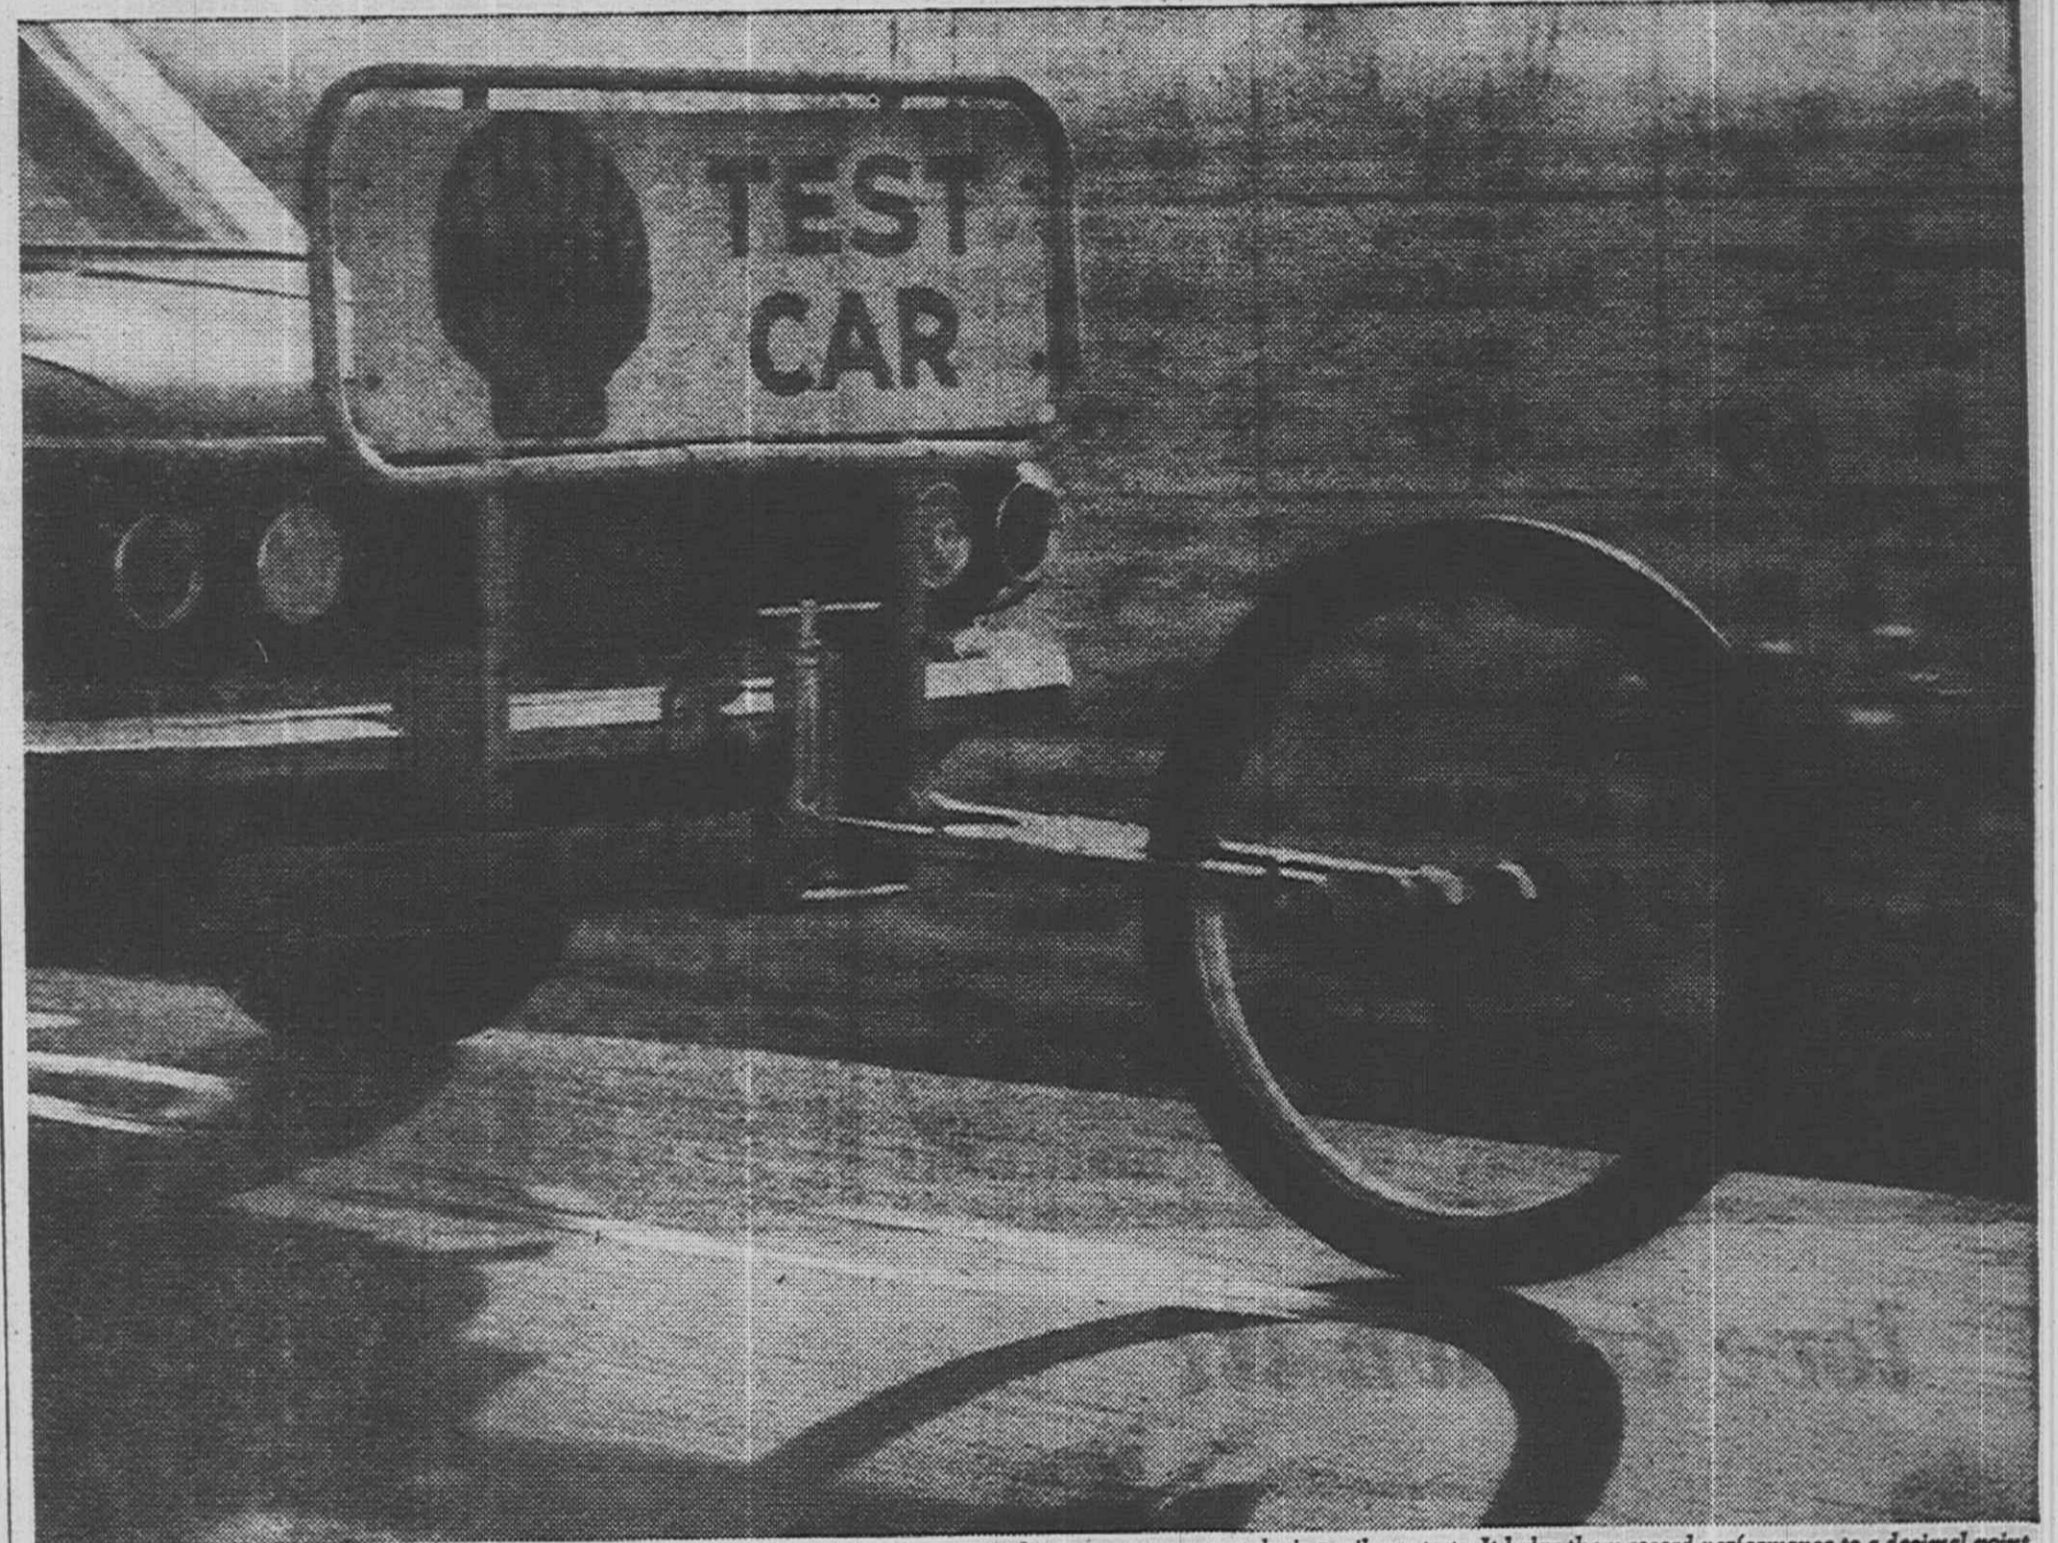

Let your Shell dealer help save your battery. He can check your voltage regulator and generator. He can usually tell you whether your battery is likely to give you trouble, too.

Let your Shell Dealer rotate your tires to even the wear—including the spare. You'll want your tires balanced and the front wheels aligned, bearings repacked. If your dealer doesn't do wheel alignment, he can tell you where to get it done.

Under way, uneven pedal pressure is costly, too. Instead, feed just enough fuel to maintain even speed.

Watch for slowing traffic and red lights as far ahead as you can see. You'll be able to coast up to the stopping cars, instead of braking heavily when you get there.

NOTE: Tire pressures build up during a long run. Don't let air

Shell test drivers add a "fifth wheel" to their cars for precise distance measurement during mileage tests. It helps them record performance to a decimal point.

Shell reveals how to increase your mileage up to 30 extra miles per tankful

Here are some tips from Shell's experts on how to get maximum mileage from your car. If you practice these good driving habits—and if you use today's Super Shell, with 9 ingredients for top performance—you may well save a pretty penny on gasoline bills.

1. Don't race a cold engine. When your engine is cold, it uses up more fuel. Today's Super Shell contains Pentane mix—for fast warm-up. (A properly operating thermostat helps.)
2. Use a light touch with the accelerator. Tromping down on the pedal is an expensive habit. Starting up, it holds your automatic transmission in a lower "gear" longer. This makes the engine turn faster, wasting fuel. Under way, uneven pedal pressure is costly, too. Instead, feed just enough fuel to maintain even speed.
3. Drive "ahead of your car." Watch for slowing traffic and red lights as far ahead as you can see. You'll be able to coast up to the stopping cars, instead of braking heavily when you get there.
4. Don't let fuel costs creep up. If your car "creeps" when idling

5. Don't indulge in jack rabbit starts. Racing starts are fine on race tracks—but the drivers are lucky to get 6 miles per gallon.
  6. Check tire pressure—regularly. Keep tires properly inflated. Under-inflated tires increase drag and friction and cut mileage. Not to mention extra tread wear.
  7. Check for dragging brakes. Have your Shell dealer check for wheel drag next time you're in for a lubrication. If brakes drag, you pay for it every mile you drive.
  8. Get these fuel-saving adjustments for top performance. If spark timing is off, for example, you pay for it in wasted gasoline and possible engine damage. Have the compression checked—it can reveal power-wasting valve and ring conditions. Use Super Shell with TCP to give spark plugs extra life. Replace worn plugs. Adjust carburetor for correct air-fuel mixture and proper idle speed. Have automatic choke checked for correct operation. Clean or replace filters for air,
  9. Get regular oil changes and lubrication—including transmission and differential. Your Shell dealer knows what to do. He has the finest equipment and lubricants to do it with. There's a good chance your car and your gasoline will last longer.
  10. Show this advertisement to everyone who drives your car—especially if you pay their gasoline bills. Insist that they stop for service at the sign of the Shell.
- While we can't guarantee 30 extra miles per tankful, the closer these suggestions are followed the better your mileage is likely to get.
- To start off right, fill up with today's Super Shell. Its nine ingredients mean top performance.
- Super Shell's 9 ingredients
- #1 is TCP for restored power, added mileage and extended plug-life.
  - #2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr.
  - #3 is Butane for quick starts at all times.
  - #4 is Alkylate, noted for knock control in hot engines at high speeds.
  - #5 is anti-knock mix for knock resistance.
  - #6 is an "anti-icer" to check the cold-weather stalling that can occur even at 45° F.
  - #7 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.
  - #8 is gum preventive—to help keep carburetors clean inside.
  - #9 is Platformate—to add the extra energy that shows up as extra mileage.
- Try Super Shell. You'll soon feel and hear the difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.
- A Bulletin from Shell Research—where 1,597 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

Plymouth and the Civil War: More Letters to the Home Front

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth in a series of articles concerning the role that Plymouth men played in the Civil War 100 years ago.)
By Jean Campau
Aside from the political facets of the great rebellion by the states, the personal feelings of the soldier and the turmoil he found himself can best be understood through the letters to the home front. Here are several more by Lt. Lucius Shattuck written to his sister in Plymouth, Ellen Shattuck. The lieutenant was later killed at Gettysburg.

Dear Ellen:
I don't know where to station this letter, only on the march in Virginia. On Thursday we had orders to be ready to march Friday morning at 5 o'clock A.M. We were ready at the appointed hour, but the order was changed to 9, then rechanged to 7 the following morning. Yesterday morning at 9 we got off, expecting to go about 5 miles toward Bell Plain (on the Potomac), there to arrange comfortable quarters and settle down for a short time at least.

We marched, and marched, and kept marching till we must have come twice 5 miles (for the day was freezing cold and we came very fast), but brought up at last in a country outside of the general range of the Army, judging by the rail fences, and a couple of stacks of cornstalks that lent their aid in making us comfortable last night and today. We hadn't hoped that these emblems of civilization could be found within the borders of Virginia - and when we suddenly came on them the men became almost uncontrollable, requiring special exertion from the Colonel to keep them from "rallying on the rails" before we could find a place to encamp.

I lost my latitude yesterday about noon and am unable to judge of our whereabouts today, but we are probably within 2 or 3 miles of the Potomac between Agnia Creek and Bell Plain. I've commenced this today because I had a little time, but will leave its completion till we find where we are.
On Friday I visited the 2nd and 17th regiments, seeing John Young, John Holbrook, Oscar Lockhead, James Westfall of the 2nd and B. D. Safford and William May's two boys of the 17th. John Young is Captain of Co. C in the 2nd. One of the May boys had just returned to the Reg. having recovered from the wound he received in the battle of South Mountain. Neither of these Regiments lost much in the fight. William Eddy of Shutt's Corners was the only one killed in the 2nd. The general impression among the troops through here is that the Army will settle down for a while in these quarters, and they are preparing accordingly. In fact we can hardly see where we can make another advance (unless it is on Washington).

Monday, 22nd. I've just been having a great feast. Lieut. Safford made a raise of a peck of dried peaches somewhere in the country yesterday, and kindly furnished enough for nearly a pint of sauce for three of us. (Oscar Holbrook, Charlie Dobbins, and myself). Had there been enough of it, we would very likely have foundered ourselves; but as it was, it simply helped to make one of the best meals I've had in a long time. I made some inquiry of him as to where he got them, and what they cost, hoping to procure some on my own hook, but it was of no use. Men were too plenty and fruit too scarce for me. Had I found some I should probably have questioned as to whether I could afford it. Two dollars a peck seems rather high for dried peaches when they were so plenty last fall. Had the price been $8 a peck, they would have been taken just as quick.
And then I feel considerably poorer than I did a week ago. A few days ago I had occasion to use my pocket-book but on feeling for it, it wasn't there. There was no use in looking for it. When I first missed it I was on the battlefield, the afternoon before we left it. There was a twenty dollars in it, rather more than I wanted to spare. I should have sent more of it home, only I wanted some of it to buy a pair of boots, when I found an opportunity. I am fortunate in having plenty of friends here that have more money than they want to use. Almost every boy in the Company offered to loan me the half of what he had. Some of them offered to give me a share of their pile. One of them even urged me to take $5.00 as a present. Of course I refused to accept any such offers. But I borrowed ten dollars of Hoyt, eight of which I paid for a stout pair of boots. I questioned some as to whether I could afford to clothe my feet in greenbacks, but wet, cold feet for a few days decided the question - and now I rejoice in boots up to my knees.

With a little money that the boys borrowed of me before payday, and have since returned, I shall get along quite well till next payday which should be on the first of January.

The Regiment is having quite a general change in Company officers. All the captains except two or three have resigned and many of the lieutenants are following suit. The general plea is ill health. Only a few of the resignations have been accepted as yet, but there is no doubt but they soon will be. In the turn around, the Col. says I am to be Sergeant Major. The position is one I never sought for but, I guess I'd better accept it if offered to me. Sergt. Hutton of Co. G is expected to be Lieutenant in our Co. in place of Hoyt who is to be made Captain. The Co. positioned the Col. to make me their Lieut. but the office has been contracted beforehand. The health of the Company and Reg. is poorer now than ever. The boys have been much exposed to late and show its effects decidedly.

It is quite pleasant to sit by a comfortable fire in a comfortable house and read of the rapid, perhaps dashing moves of the Army. But citizens can never appreciate the fatigue and misery especially those in the ranks. I don't say this because of my own suffering, for I never enjoyed better health for the same length of time when I've been in the Army. There are none of our Company very sick, yet many of them are complaining and more will be if this Winter Campaign is continued. Charlie Dobbins has taken cold and is quite under the weather, not so but that he stays in the tent with us, but is excused from duty. Alfred Noe is not getting any better. He is enough for his full rations.

Tuesday evening, 8 1/2 o'clock. I had hoped to mail this today, but we marched this morning at 9, consequently there was no opportunity of getting mail out. We have come about 10 miles today over a terribly hilly road, and through a barren desolate country. And finally brought up on a hill near the Potomac within a mile or two of Bell Plain Landing. It is expected that we will remain here some little time, though we may be off again tomorrow. When I commenced this, it was with the intention of requesting you to send me something good to eat. But the difficulty we have heretofore had in getting things from Washington has pretty much discouraged me.

The boxes sent by Bennett have not yet reached us, though this is owing to our being so constantly on the move of late, probably. Some boxes sent by express to some of the Company have come safely through. They were directed just as you would direct a letter. It would be better perhaps to mark it in charge of Judge Edmonds, Washington. If you could put a small tin can of honey in a box that was being sent here it would be very acceptable.

Wednesday morning - We are all very busy this morning trying to make something comfortable over our heads. The day is warm enough for May, with a pretty fair prospect of rain, which hurries us up some. We are building log pens about 3 feet high, and stretching our tents over them for roofs. Tomorrow, Christmas. I wish you all a merry one. Have you heard anything of late from Burt Hough. Give my love to lots of friends.
Yours truly,

Lute P.S. Tell Kittle Fuller I have occasion nearly every day to be thankful for that nice handkerwife she gave me. It has become to me one of the necessities of life.

This is a letter written by Charles Burr to his neighbor and friend in Plymouth, Gilbert M. Shattuck. Burr was 22 when he enlisted in Co. C.

Ft. Wayne Sept. 1862
Dear friend Gilbert and family:
This is a poor letter, we have not seen any Rebels. Left Detroit Aug. 29 after dark and got to Cleveland next morning about six o'clock. Then took the cars (trans) for Pittsburg. Arrived in Washington about noon. Took dinner, of coffee, meat, piece of bread. Did not see much of Washington. Put on our harness after lunch and traveled to Ft. Lyons, about nine miles. We had a heavy thundershower just as we got there. We had not any tents, I think it is a little warmer here than at home. We were ordered up to march the next day after we arrived at Ft. Lyons.

Saw John Holbrook, James Glover Bentley, Oscar Lockhead Westfall and James Stevens Arthur, James Goswoley has been well. Charles Dobbins has been unwell, but is better now.

A great many of the old troops came in Wednesday, they all looked hard, ragged and dirty. I did not see any of the Boys look as I expected though they probably look nice as any of us that had had or been in a battle travel day and night. It looks tough.

The Rebels are getting the better of us as near as I can learn by the troops falling back. We are going to have a hell of a time if before we get through. The day we left Washington we saw teams after team bringing in the wounded.
Date (address) your letter to Washington, 24th Michigan Infantry.

I am, Charles Burr

Horace Jewell was the great uncle of Mrs. Harlow Ingall, 10485 Joy Rd., Plymouth. This letter was written to his brother, Charles.
Nashville Feb. 3, 1864

Dear Charlie:
I arrived in town last night from Louisville on my way to my regiment. I was captured on the 4th of November, taken to Atlanta, Ga., from there to Richmond, from Richmond to Danville, Va., 140 miles s.w. from Richmond.

I remained in rebel prison at Danville, Va., until the 27th of December when I escaped by cutting the bars off the window and running through the guard lines, two sentinels fired at me, one ball hit me in the right shoulder, cutting a hole about two inches in length and about the size of the ball and passed out through my coat on the left shoulder, it was only a slight wound, and did not prevent my running.

There were 3,000 of us taken from Castle Pemberton in Richmond to Danville. We were confined in your old tobacco factories. I was 25 days getting through to our lines. I got to our lines on the 21st of January at South Washington, at the mouth of the Tar River in North Carolina on Pamlico Sound. There I got transportation to New Bern, at which place I wrote to you directing the letter to Nashville, but Chatfield says the letter has not got there yet.

I went from Newbern to Fort Monroe, from there to Baltimore, from there to Cincinnati, from there to Louisville and from there to Nashville. I shall take the 3 o'clock train this evening for Chattanooga.

I am disappointed at not seeing you but am glad you are at home. I should like to have gone home, the boy who escaped with me went home to stay a while before reporting to his regiment, but I thought it my duty to go to my regiment as soon as I could.

I wrote to my Company and Regimental commanders as soon as I got into our lines telling them that I had escaped and was on my way to the regiment. Chatfield has let me have five dollars, which if you will pay him, I will send you as soon as I get paid. I wanted to get some things to take to the regiment which I cannot get there, such as tobacco, emery paper, coffee pot and etc.

Andrew Jewell tells me there is a commission here for you as 1st Lt. in Co. 1 which I am glad to hear, give my love to all the folks, and all write to me. I am anxious to hear from home.

I suppose you would like to know how I travelled thru the Confederacy without getting caught but I haven't time to write much. I travelled by night and laid in the woods by day, stole chickens and sweet potatoes and cooked them in the woods. Crossed streams where the bridges were guarded by making rafts of rails. Charlie, you must write to me as soon as you get this and tell me of your prospects.

The Mail Attitude

Nostalgia seems to be grabbing the thoughts of this writer to an uncommon extent lately.

Some of the origin of the feeling doubtless comes from a series of recent letters from the Ann Arbor campus asking if I'll participate or help with the "twentieth reunion" of my graduating class next month. Twenty years? Impossible. That just happened a few years ago. And don't anybody try to say that it was 25 years ago I graduated from Sault High on that hot night when some of my impish classmates tossed firecrackers into the audience during the Processional March. That was longer ago, to be sure, but not that long. I've always wondered why the very first person they grilled about those firecrackers was myself, when I was totally and utterly innocent ... for once.

Forest Evashevski at Iowa wrote a letter about this college reunion matter this week, saying that the occasion might be pleasant, once the '41 classmates faced each other and ceased laughing at what they saw.

As anyone who has seen Evy's pictures lately knows, he's gone baldish, and so has Tom Harmon, his old sidekick at left halfback, but for some reason while reading his letter I got to wondering about Marian Phillips. For a brief flash, that slip of a coed was almost as prominent in the newspapers as Harmon and Evashevski during those tender years.

Marian Phillips achieved her glory for an essay titled, "50 Reasons Why I Hate Michigan Men." She pounded them out in hard sentences — "M" men were vain, crude, ruthless, ill-tempered, bad-mannered, odorous, etc. Her theme was really an answer to an earlier study written by a man, and titled: "Nine out of 10 American Women are Beautiful, and the Tenth One Comes to Michigan."

Anyhow, Miss Phillips' work was carried coast to coast by the wire services, and she was summoned to some radio programs, and made the subject of rotogravure articles and I had forgotten all about her until now.

Hal Wilson, at the alumni office, today provided an answer. "Marian Phillips, while not yet a grandmother, shows in the record as having at least three children. She was married to a man from the Engineering Class of 1941."

Then there was a photographer friend I knew a few years ago at a Detroit newspaper. He startled me one time by disclosing that he slept only four hours a night.

"Sure, but then you doze or nap during the day?"
 "No, Paul, I've just learned to get by on four hours sleep. Anybody can do it, if they put their mind to it."

Time is Here to Put Mail Boxes Into Shape

The annual mail box improvement program to assist the postal service in providing more efficient deliveries and to stimulate efforts to improve the appearance of the countryside is now on.

Postmaster George Timpona said that all patrons are being urged to provide suitable mail receptacles. They should be erected and maintained for easy and safe accessibility, present a neat appearance and afford protection to the mail, the postmaster pointed out.

The following is a list of suggestion for mailbox improvement:

1. Boxes that are not properly erected or not maintained in good serviceable condition retard the delivery of mail and expose it to the weather.
2. Boxes which are no longer serviceable should be replaced.
3. Name or street address or boxowner should be inscribed on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door if boxes are grouped.
4. Boxes and supports should be kept painted preferably white, but other colors may be used.
5. The approaches to boxes should be filled and properly graded and unobstructed at all times.

YOU'RE ONLY AS SAFE AS THE CAR YOU DRIVE!

He explained: "I was getting disgusted with myself, not having enough time in a day to do the things I really wanted. I was working eight hours a day on the job, and between that and driving and sleeping and eating, there was hardly anything left. And I enjoy many other things, my stamp collection, for instance."

"So I educated myself. At first I cut back my sleep half an hour a night. In a couple of weeks I was back to four hours."

I asked, "But won't it affect your health? People just can't live without sleeping."

"Oh, it undoubtedly will cut down the length of my life," he said, "but that's a calculated risk. I might get hit by a car anytime, anyway. Meanwhile, I can do the things I enjoy."

Two days ago I spotted his name in an Obituary column. Heart attack. Age 62.

In this land of brotherly love, what is the answer to our barbaric race prejudice? Will Detroit again be the scene of bloodshed and nausea such as Birmingham, Ala. saw last week?

There is a new statistic in Detroit. It shows that 53 percent — more than half — of all of the City of Detroit's school children now are Negro.

In other words, it appears certain that in a few years the "minority" race will trade places with the "majority" there.

Detroit rules Wayne County in political voting; Wayne County usually casts the decision for Michigan. How will the parties react to the changing racial ratio? It is possible the Negro vote will have the entire power of electing state officials.

Will the prim and proper "white" churches all run for the suburbs?

Will the "minority" whites attempt to keep the Negro "in his place," a la Dixie?

Or, by some miracle, will the hearts and minds of men change when faced with the weight of reality?

Back in 1942 we were a reporter covering a long and dirty race riot in Detroit. It is a bad memory.

Red Carpets Roll Out for Mayor Swap

Mayor Russell Brown of Big Rapids and Mayor Robert Sincock of Plymouth swapped jobs Monday for the annual Michigan Week Mayors Exchange Day and both found that they were handled with considerably more pomp and ceremony in their adopted towns than in their home towns.

Both found their days crammed with tours, luncheons and hand-shaking. And both found the cities they were visiting had some enviable features.

Traveling here from Big Rapids Sunday night were Mayor and Mrs. Brown and Commissioner and Mrs. Royal Klein.

Going the other direction were Mayor and Mrs. Robert Sincock, Commissioner, and Mrs. Robert Beyer, Commissioners Carl Shear and Richard Wernette and City Manager Albert Glassford.

Monday's tours for the guests in Plymouth opened at the Junior High School. There was then a tour of Whitman & Barnes, followed by a luncheon at the Mayflower, at which Mayor Brown was presented a key to the city by Mayor pro tem Marvin Terry.

In the afternoon the group toured City Hall and Western Electric.

Mayor Brown said that he was interested in the school system and hopes that Big Rapids can resolve its school problems. (In Big Rapids, the Plymouth delegation learned that there are 800 pupils squeezed into a high school meant for 400.)

The Plymouth group found an old friend much in evidence in Big Rapids. He was "Top" Taggart, who made a fortune in oil. Taggart drilled the first successful oil well in the Northville field in 1954 and spent many months at the Mayflower Hotel here. Taggart has bought a fire truck for Big Rapids, is donating the City's share for enlarging the airport runway 1,000 feet, donated a quarter million dollar library and a football stadium to Ferris Institute. The Plymouthites had lunch with Taggart.

Visited in Big Rapids was the Austin gas field, City Hall, the modern Ferris Institute and other points of interest. The city is the home of Robinson Furniture and the nationally famous Hush Puppy shoes, selected product of the year during Michigan Week last year.

The City, it was learned, is embarking upon a $250,000

Nab Thief Soon After Church Job

A few hours after stealing $135 from First United Presbyterian Church, Teddy E. Booth, 27, of Muskegon, was behind bars facing a breaking and entering charge.

Plymouth police said Booth has admitted breaking into the church early Sunday morning. He had been released from the Muskegon jail Saturday morning after being arrested on a similar charge.

NOT ONLY did the mayors of Big Rapids and Plymouth exchange jobs Monday, but the mayors of the Student Councils in the two cities also swapped. At left is Kenneth Fischer, brother of Plymouth High's Mayor Jerry Fischer, who escorted Mayor Dennis Kelly of Big Rapids High through the school day.

come from local business and industry and 25 per cent from individuals. This provision is made by the Small Business Administration, from whom the new company hopes to borrow the balance of the needed money. The CBA demands a broad local base of local interest so that a few individuals cannot control the project, Arlen said. There is one plan suggested for selling $25 stock membership certificates, making it possible for many people to participate.

Since Plymouth is in the three-county "depressed" area as designated by the government, some preferential treatment is expected by the CBA in hurrying the project.

would ask you what was wrong, then dish out a few of the pills."

The "100-Day War," as it was sometimes called, finally came to an end and Goyer was mustered out after eight months of service.

When George M. Cohan wrote "Oh How I Hate to Get Up in the Morning" during World War I, the source of a lot of the irritation caused by buglers could probably be blamed on Herbert Goyer and the Plymouth company he helped operate.

Directing the band that Goyer played in during the Spanish-American War was a man named Frank Millard of Grand Rapids. Prior to World War I, Millard opened a musical instrument making concern in a shop on Amelia St. in Plymouth and Goyer was secretary-treasurer of the board. They made cornets, trumpets and trombones.

During World War I, Mr. Goyer obtained a number of government contracts and by the end of the war, F. Millard Co. had turned out 18,500 bugles for all services and 1,200 cornets for Navy bands.

"They were fine instruments, too," Mr. Goyer observed. In fact, he used one of the Millard trombones in his professional work and still owns it. But Millard went out of business after the war and Mr. Goyer turned to other jobs.

For some 18 years, both before and after World War I, Mr. Goyer played in Detroit theater orchestra pits "in everything from grand opera to burlesque." For one season he played in the Forepaugh-Sells Circus Band. His name is still well-known among Detroit musicians and is recalled as among the outstanding "old timers" of Detroit theatre music.

But music wasn't his only occupation. After the Spanish-American War he graduated from business college and went to work in the auditing department of Michigan Central Railroad. In 1924 he went to work for a Detroit bank as an appraiser and learned to know every real estate owner in downtown Detroit. Eventually he went to work with the Federal Reserve Bank and after the depression hit, became an FHA appraiser.

When things got worse, he found himself out of a job but luckily got a job as a receiving checker at the Ford Rouge plant. He was already past 60 years of age. He stayed there for 13 years and was finally forced to retire in 1952. Even then, he didn't stop working and sold boilers for a while.

Born in 1878 in Detroit, Mr. Goyer first moved to Plymouth when he was with F. Millard Co. and then returned in 1933 for retirement.

Mr. Goyer will be introduced during the Memorial Day program. Also invited to take part is Plymouth's other veteran of the Spanish-American War, Col. Edward T. Miller.

Parade

At about 10:30, a formation of jets of the U.S. Air Force Reserve will salute Plymouth by flying over at a low altitude across the center of the business district.

Two officers of the Department of Michigan of the American Legion will play important roles in the Kellogg Park ceremonies following the parade. Dorothy J. Koi, a Plymouth citizen and historian of the Department of Michigan for four consecutive years, will serve as master of ceremonies. Mrs. Koi enlisted in the Women's Army Corps in 1944 and was assigned to Colorado Springs, Colo., where she served as a corporal in the 200th AAF, Squadron B, 2nd Air Force. She was discharged in December 1945.

She has served as adjutant and junior vice-commander of the local Legion post and adjutant of the 17th District prior to her election as State Historian. Her husband, Ernest Koi, is now commander of the 17th District and former commander of the Passage-Gayde Post.

The speaker, the Rev. Thomas E. Pollard, is State Department chaplain and is also chaplain at the Southern Michigan State Prison in Jackson. He will make a special trip here for the event.

Other guests on the speakers platform will include Mayor Robert Sincock and Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay who will lead the assembly in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Col. Edward T. Miller and C. Herbert Goyer, local residents who served in the Spanish-American War, will also have a place of honor on the platform.

Printed programs will be distributed to the public along the parade route and in Kellogg Park by volunteer Cub Scouts of Pack 781 of Our Lady of Good Counsel School.

The park program will conclude with laying of the wreath at Plymouth Rock and playing of Taps."

In case of rain, the parade will be held on schedule, but without bands. The bands would then assemble at the High School gym and await the return of those who will march to Kellogg Park to observe the laying of the wreath. The same program that is scheduled would then be conducted in the gym at about 10:30 a.m.

The Good Old Days

10 YEARS AGO The Cub Scouts of Den 2, Pack 4, sponsored by the Presbyterian Church won the "Honor Den" and the "Do Your Best" pennants for the month, because they had a large attendance of parents. The boys are Larry Smith, John McLaren, Jay Selle, William Rocker, Jimmy Carney and Robert Delvo. The Cub's projects were bird houses and gifts for Mother's Day.

25 YEARS AGO A few friends gathered at the home of Mrs. William McClain on Rose St., last Thursday for luncheon to honor the fifteenth wedding anniversary of Mrs. Chauncey Evans. The guest of honor received several lovely gifts in remembrance of the day. Those present were: Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Sven Eklund, Mrs. Hilda Johnson of Long Island, Mrs. Harry Barnes and Mrs. Gus Lundquist. On Sunday Miss Grace Dawson, Miss Ruth Hart and Clare Wilson of Detroit were guests of William Poppeger for a picnic at his home on Penniman Ave.

City Water Main Flushing Continues

Those water hydrants spurting water during the small hours of the night in the City of Plymouth are causing some concern among people who happen to be going home or driving through at that hour — but it's all part of a Department of Public Works program to clean out the water mains.

The program was started last fall when a high water first introduced to the water system to clean out accumulated rust. Flushing is necessary to break loose the iron particles.

According to DPW Supt. Joseph Bida, flushing will continue for the next month or so and it will take place during the night and early morning hours.

"It is almost impossible to say when we will be in front of one's house or on anyone's street," Bida said. "We have been flushing for two weeks and the results have been good." Some mains, he said, will take more flushing than others.

"Some people call the City Hall during the night because of pipes rattling," the DPW chief declared. "This happens when we turn on a fire hydrant too fast. It sends a shock or so-called water hammer which vibrates through the water pipes and this is what one hears in the house."

Bida said that if a householder should draw hot water from their hot water tank while hydrants are being flushed, the tank may draw some rusty water. To get this out, a person should close off the intake valve, then open the hot water tank drain and let the water run until it clears. The intake valve must be closed, because new water coming into the tank rises up all the sediment in the bottom.

If the draining of hot water tanks is followed at least once a week during flushing, Bida said, there is less chance of laundry discoloration.

"We certainly appreciate the patience of the citizens in the past year," Bida stated.

ROBERT SOUTHGATE, center, and Miss Betty Stevens, far right, spent a Saturday afternoon inspecting the Eastern Michigan University speech and drama facilities. Members of the Thespian Club accompanied them to this all-day session that was climaxed with a lively performance of "The Pajama Game" given for their benefit in the Quirk Auditorium. Thespian Club members resting outside of the air-conditioned Quirk Theater are as follows (sitting on patio) Lee Stone, Linda Anderson, Linda Wall; (standing) Jim Stout, Mr. Robert Southgate, Mike Evans, and Miss Betty Stevens.

Speaker at the Annual Honors Convocation last Monday night was Dr. R. C. Lusk, director of Educational Services for the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. Purpose of the assembly, which was presided over by Principal Carvel Bentley, was to receive new members into the National Honor Society.

Requirements for membership are a 'B' average maintained since freshman year, with no mark lower than a 'C' as well as good citizenship and outstanding contributions to academic and social activities. Students must be juniors or seniors to be eligible for admittance.

Those initiated were: Bonnie Gaye Anderson, Linda Anderson, Mary Lou Argo, John Augustine, Michelle Bender, Margaret Berry, Karen Clyde, Georgina Daubresse, Doug Eder, Bonnie Edgar, Jackie Egloff, Janet Fair, Dave Fey, Ken Fischer, Janet Graham, James Hallock, Hollis Haynes, Tom Hoffman, Mary Hulsing, Tony Hunt, Greta Jensen, Donn Kelly, Jim Kropf, Sue Larkin Al Larson, Katherine Merryfield, Maurine Minehart, Susie Neal, M. A. Park, Dave Raaflaub, Win Schrader, Carolyn Scott, Marlene Sharland, Marianne Shirk, Susan Tichy, Lyn Van Dyke, and Bob Winterhalter.

The assembly was organized by Miss Louise Spence, Miss Irene Waldorf, and Walter Goodwin, the advisers of the Honor Society.

The Annual Senior Banquet is drawing near... To be held on May 29 at the Michigan Union Building, as in past years, it will feature a rib roast dinner, dancing to the music of a five-piece orchestra, and billiards as well as other activities in the extensive game rooms that adjoin the banquet hall. All seniors will travel to Ann Arbor in school buses, thus alleviating parking difficulties. The affair will last from 6 o'clock until 11 p.m. when the buses will depart for the High School. Good thing the next day's Memorial Day.

Attending the 34th annual convention of the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association at the U of M in Ann Arbor last Friday were the editors and reporters of the Pilgrim Prints, as well as staff members of the Plythean. The day began at the Rackham Auditorium with an address by Charles W. Ferguson, senior editor of the Reader's Digest. Ferguson, a lively and animated speaker, "brought down the house" with his humor. In his speech, entitled, "Love That Language" he declared that the English language was suffering from neglect from the standpoint of actual appreciation and thoughtful use, and offered various ways in which to "keep the language alive within yourself."

Major of these were acquiring a sense of rhythm in the arrangement of words, the use of verbs picturing action, employment of rhetorical devices, and the acquisition of knowledge of the background of individual words, which Ferguson claimed would give one a view of the whole expanse of human experience.

After the address the 1,300 delegates from all over the state went to individual conferences on various journalistic topics. At a luncheon program Miss Elizabeth McDonald, Prints adviser, was presented a Golden Pen Award by the Association, in recognition of her many contributions to high school journalism (See story elsewhere.)

Girl Scout Council Officers Elected

Election of new officers and board members highlighted the Seventh Council Meeting of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council on Tuesday, May 16 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, 200 W. St. Paul, Brighton, Mich. About 150 delegates from the three-county area of Livingston, Washtenaw, and western Wayne Counties attended the day-long session. The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. and adjourn at 2:30 p.m. with luncheon scheduled for 12:15.

Other business at the meeting included presentation of the 1962 budget and revisions of the by-laws of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

Delegates elected a new president, first vice-president, five members of the board of directors, and four members of the membership-nominating committee.

Delegates also heard a progress report on "Operation Birthday Present," a plan to bring two Indian Girl Guides to the United States next year.

The meeting marked the end of the first three-year cycle of the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

Optimists Install Officers

Roger Smithling, physical science and geography teacher at Plymouth High School, was installed as president of the Plymouth Optimist Club at a meeting last week at which the Proposed Northwest Community College was discussed by a speaker. Installing the new officers was Clarence Smith, lieutenant governor of the 17th District. Other officers are: Arnel Ursa, vice-president; Robert Tripp, secretary-treasurer; and Dr. Karl Van Newkirk, sergeant-at-arms.

A new member, Richard Merriam, was also initiated in the club. Nine new members have been initiated within the past few months.

The new president and the past president, William Baumgartner and secretary Bob Tripp attended the 17th District Annual Convention in Bay City last week. The delegation took with them the 1960-61 scrapbook compiled by member Karl Starkweather. Scrapbooks compete for honors at the conventions.

Harold Fischer of the Plymouth Board of Education was the guest speaker at last week's meeting, which was also Ladies' Night. Fischer who is chairman of the Proposed Northwest Wayne Community College executive committee, stressed the need of a junior college.

In order for the proposal on the June 12 ballot to succeed, it is necessary for each of the six involved school districts to approve it.

The college is in need, Fischer noted, because of the need to keep both young and older people abreast with technical advances. The college would also provide the first two years of regular college work.

Courage on Canvas

One-man shows of paintings are commonplace in New York City and rarely considered startling news. The New York Times, however, devoted a column recently to a showing of James V. Wallace, Jr. He was not a veteran for some years, at the Hines Veterans Administration Hospital in Chicago.

As a boy in Akron, Ohio, where he worked as a mailer for the Beacon Journal, Wallace had some interest in art before going into the Army in World War II. It was to art that he turned when he became a quadriplegic after breaking his neck in a diving accident in Nuremberg, Germany in 1945.

He began to paint landscapes with a brush held between his teeth. Irving S. Gilmore, a Kalamazoo department store owner who read of his efforts, says Wallace, was moved to send him money for more brushes and paints. His showing of 16 works, including paintings of the warships, "Astoria" and "Wasp," at the Barzansky Gallery in New York came as a sequel.

"To me the word hero is exemplified in the person of James V. Wallace, Jr.," said Bess Barzansky in the catalog of the exhibit. "Against the most overwhelming odds, by sheer determination, by continued effort, by the will to succeed, he has painted a group of paintings which show what can be done if the spirit and courage are there."

It is difficult to imagine a spirit more unquenchable than that of a man who is totally paralyzed and who wills himself to be an artist when he must have his brush placed between his teeth for him in order to make a mark on a sheet of paper. Such a man provides a sorely needed example in these days when self-pity is the fashion among a segment of youth who inately consider themselves a "lost generation."

If Jim Wallace could find himself, so can any man who breathes.

RR Mergers Good and Bad

Most of the nation's railroads are deeply mired in serious financial difficulty. The advent of superhighways, pipe lines and improved waterways has taken away substantial freight traffic and pressed many, if not most, railroads to the brink of bankruptcy. The solution many railroads believe it to be merger with other railroads.

But here, railroads are confronted with legislative obstacles. Recently, Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield (D) of Montana said on the Senate floor, "it (railroad merger trend) has not resulted in improved service to the public."

Here, certain railroads agree and in the next breath take exception. The New York Central, for example, agrees that haphazard, ill-conceived mergers, entered into for narrow financial and competitive gain, do not result in improved service. The Central is opposed to such mergers.

MIDCENTURY by Dos Passos. A fictional chronicle that includes real public figures in describing the present and evoking the lines of ordinary people in the 20th century.

However, this railroad firmly believes in carefully deliberated, thoughtful mergers which consider the logic and long-range desirability of strong, competitively-balanced railroad systems throughout the nation, particularly in the depressed areas east of the Mississippi River.

If Your Name Is "Letitia"

BY ANN REYNOLDS

Want to pick a name for your new baby girl, with a pleasant meaning? What about "Letitia"? It is from the Latin, and means "gladness, joy." "Joy," too, is used as a name sometimes. "Letitia" came to be used as a first name. The ancient Romans did not have it. One thing is certain, in the last eight hundred years it has been among our names. On a recent television program it was referred to, or rather its usual pet form "Letty," as old fashioned.

"Tish" seems to be the more up-to-date endearing form now. "Letitia," too, was a usual variant of it. I guess, this we would not like today, it is too similar to lettuce. "Letitia" is spelled also "Laetitia" and this is the original form of the Latin word meaning "gladness."

The most famous "Laetitia" was Maria Letizia Ramolino Buonaparte, mother of Napoleon. Married at fourteen, a widow at forty-five, she was the head of her family even before her husband's death. She had little learning, but a good mind. Her most famous son, Napoleon, called her "a great character, a strong spirit, and proud"; bad news would crush her only for moments, then hope would return and save her from despair.

She had the tendency to influence the choice of her five sons' and three daughters' spouses. For Napoleon's first wife Josephine, she had little use. She detested her fun-loving flippancy and reproached her that she did not care enough for Napoleon, maybe not even so much as for her small dog Fortune (which dog, it was said, bit Napoleon in the leg on his wedding night).

"Madame Mere," as she was called, was a careful housekeeper, even when lavishly provided for by the emperor at the height of his career. She used to say that, who knew, maybe one day she would have to give bread to all those kings, her sons on a like back in the old days. She mistrusted the good fortune of her family.

After Napoleon's downfall she tried to obtain mercy for him. The mourning she put on at his death she never set aside. Blind and immobilized by a fall, she lived on until she was 86. Upon her tomb at Ajaccio the words can be read "Mater regnum." "Mother of Kings." But none of her descendants retained his throne.

(Want to know about some other name? Write to Ann, care of this paper. For a personal reply enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

How's Business?

Good Prospects on Farm

By ROGER W. BABSON

The domestic farm equipment field is closely tied in with changes in farm income. A good year in farm income normally provides indication that the following spring will see an increase in purchases of farm equipment; whereas a poor farm income year points to lower purchases. Last year was no exception. Manufacturers and sellers of agricultural implements experienced tough sledding in 1960, following the drop in farm incomes in 1959.

The record 1960 crop outturn enabled farmers to earn a little more than they had in the previous year. The higher 1961 price-support levels should encourage the planting of another large crop for this year. Weather conditions so far this spring have been much better than they were last year for field work and crop growth.

The 1961 crop year has therefore gotten off to a good start, and, barring larger than normal losses due to drought and insect damage, another bumper over-all crop outturn is being predicted.

Moreover, prices of farm commodities have firmed. In recent months, farm prices have been running slightly above those of a year ago. The combination of firm prices, higher government price supports, and prospects for large farm production augur well for a further rise in farmers' incomes this year. These are all favorable factors in the outlook for the farm implement industry.

Other fundamental factors in the farm picture also are encouragingly upon modern implements to get the job done. Farm equipment producers and dealers look forward to a good sales year in 1961; introduction of new equipment models should help boost sales. Hence, the general economy should derive some benefit from the revival in this field.

Under 21

By DAN HALLIGAN

Dear Dan: My parents have practically ordered me to get a steady boy friend and I just don't know what to do. Please understand, I have wonderful parents. Perhaps you're too wonderful because they always want me to be the most popular girl in the crowd.

I'm 16 and most of the girls I run around with have steady boys. I don't have one and haven't any interest in a particular boy so am I expected to get a steady when no one boy excites me.

Mom says if I don't get a boy friend, I'm going to miss out on a lot of fun with my friends this summer. I know she means well but I think she's just too much of a busy-body where my social life is concerned. What do you think?—Single Girl.

Dear Single Girl: Like you said, your mother means well and while I wouldn't say she's interfering in your social life, I would say she'd better take another look at the business of going steady.

I hope your mother realizes that no girl ever asks a boy to go steady and that a smart girl doesn't go steady with the first boy asking her if she doesn't like him that much or doesn't want to go steady.

Dear Dan: My mother found a pack of cigarettes in my purse last night and now won't let me go out of the house for the next month. I didn't smoke any of them but she won't believe me. The cigarettes belong to my girl friend and I was just minding them for her. Should I be punished for that?—Grounded.

Dear Grounded: A month is a long time and if what you say is true, your mother could at least contact your friend and ask her who owns the smokes. But then, what if your friend's mother doesn't know about the girl smoking? See what making can do to a girl's social life?

Dear Dan: My girl won't act like other girls and won't sit close to me when we're out in my car. Other guys say if I tell her to slide over to me instead of asking her I'd probably get some results. What do you think?—Si.

Dear Si: If you do any ordering your girl might slide all right but the slide might be right out the door. Maybe she has her own reasons for wanting to sit where she does and until you find out those reasons you'd better not take any chances and order her around.

Your buddies may not know as much as they think they do about girls.

Brand a Bargain AT YOUR CHEVY DEALER'S Truck Roundup!

The famous Thriftmaster 6 does the saving as standard equipment in this Fleetside model. For V8 power, you can choose the Trademaster V8, optional at extra cost.

Here to talk up Chevy's big savings roundup is Western star Roy Rogers! "They tell me it's the best time of all to put your brand on a hard-working, easy-riding I.F.S. truck. You'll find a full corral to pick from—each built and priced to save you plenty."

Roy's laying it right on the line, letting you in on the best time to buy and the best place to save! That goes for whatever model you need, too... from pickups to tandems. And with Chevy's I.F.S. (Independent Front Suspension) soaking up road shock and vibration, your Chevrolet stays young, protects the load better, works faster. You make more money. And who can offer you anything better than that? Just see your dealer—soon.

Chevy's hefty 261-cu.-in. Jobmaster 6 is a big reason for the outstanding popularity of Series 60 middleweights.

Warm Weather Tips From Dr. Molner

Warm weather will bring increased activity among domestic and wild animals, thereby increasing the chances for the spread of rabies. Dr. Joseph G. Molner, City-County Health Commissioner states.

If you have not already done so, now is the time to have your family pet protected against rabies.

No animal has been infected with rabies while in Detroit since 1955. Twice during that time dogs owned by Detroit residents got rabies while they were out of the city.

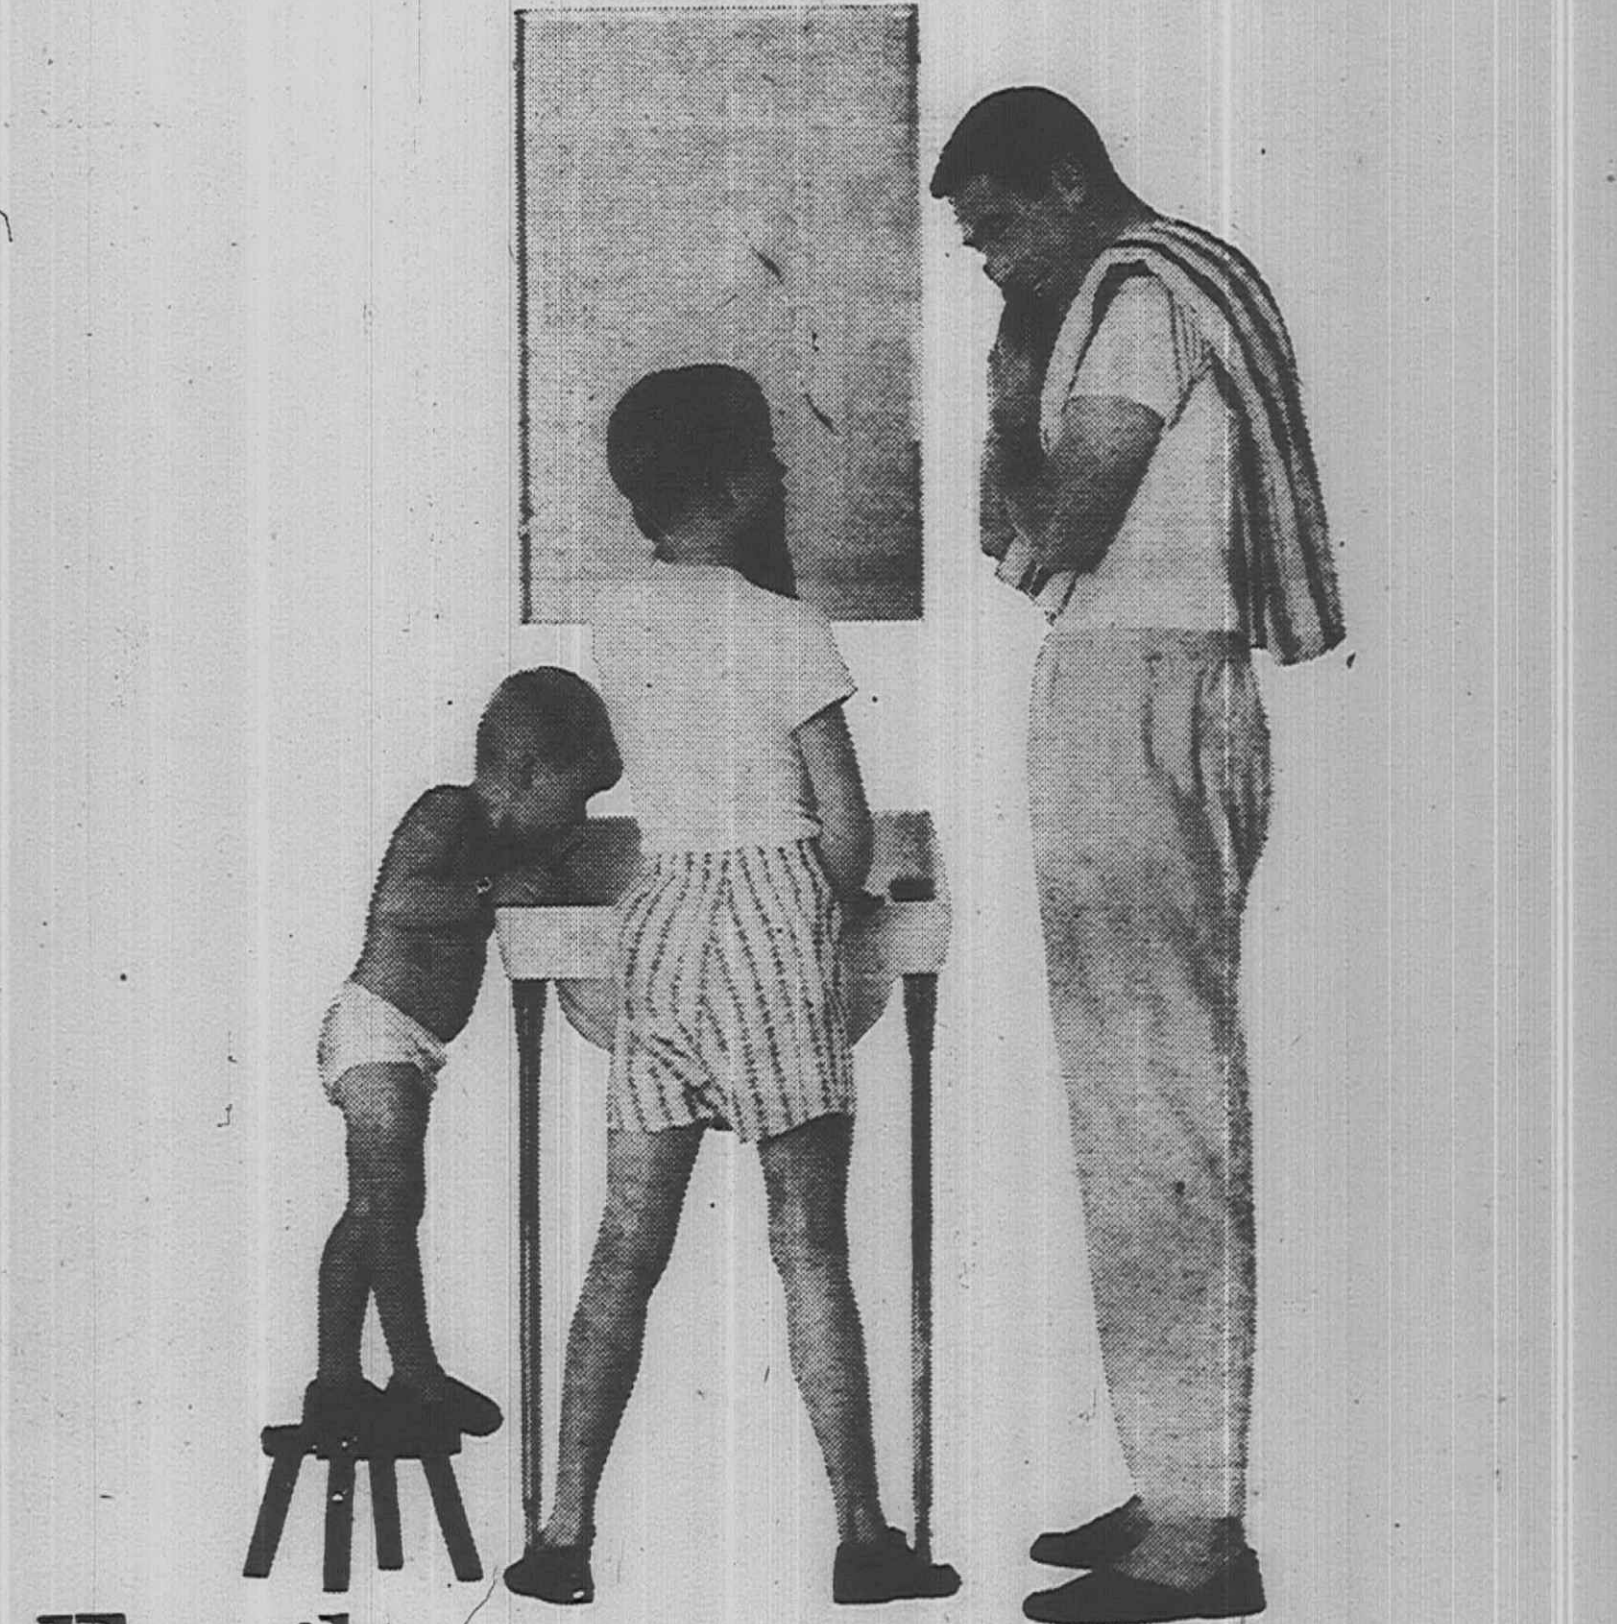

Dr. Molner warns against permitting your dog to chase skunks, squirrels or other animals when out in the country.

The number of persons bitten by animals in Detroit since Jan. 1 is 1,840. A total of 8,051 persons were bitten in Detroit during 1960. Many of these could have been prevented if dogs were confined to their owners' premises or were held securely by a leash, as required by city ordinance.

A Detroit ordinance requires that all dogs be vaccinated and licensed. Dr. Molner points out that when a dog is not on the property of his owner, it is required that he be on a leash which is held in the hands of a competent person.

Dr. Molner suggests that everyone help to continue this good record by following these precautions to protect both people and pets.

1. Have your dog or cat vaccinated against rabies as advised by a veterinarian.
2. Do not touch a stray or sick dog.
3. Have any dog bite treated immediately by a physician and notify the police department.
4. Report any stray dog to the dog pound.
5. Help enforce dog control laws and regulations in your community.
6. Never kill a dog suspected of rabies if it can be avoided, because the disease can be diagnosed more quickly by observing the animal than it can by laboratory tests.

Family-Test a flameless electric water heater!

DETROIT EDISON GUARANTEES SATISFACTION OR YOUR MONEY BACK!

Want a water heater that's "satisfaction guaranteed"? Here's all you do: Buy a flameless electric water heater that bears the H2OT guarantee. Family-test it. Call on it for plenty of hot water day after day. Get all the hot water you need, or your money back!

What does "satisfaction guaranteed" mean? Just this—if at any time within one year after purchase of your flameless electric water heater you are dissatisfied with its performance, just let us know. We'll remove it and return the full purchase price, including any installation charge. This guarantee covers any Edison-approved electric water heater, sized according to the recommendations given at right, and installed in a dwelling in the Detroit Edison service area. This Edison satisfaction guarantee is in addition to the manufacturer's own warranty.

Where to buy? That's easy, too. At appliance dealers, plumbing contractors or Detroit Edison offices, where you see the H2OT satisfaction guaranteed seal.

Family-test a flameless electric water heater for yourself. Get all the hot water you need or your money back!

Who Killed Dick and Jane?
Dick and Jane are now among the dear departed. You remember Dick and Jane — the plague of primers since time began. Well, they have seen their last ball. Their last big ball. Their last big, red ball. Oh, Dick! Oh, Jane! And except for their parents, no one is shedding a tear. Personally, we never liked their parents, either. They kept that little white house too neat.

The man who slew these tiresome tots is the waggish genius named Dr. Seuss. (His real name is Theodor Seuss Geisel but he apparently thought nobody would believe that.)

It happened like this. About five years ago novelist John Hersey complained in Life magazine of the dismal contents of his children's primers. Bennett Cerf, who appears in public disguised as a cheerful joker but who is, in reality, a businessman canny enough to make the late Andrew Carnegie look like a bankrupt Kool-Aid vendor, agreed that Mr. Hersey's gripe was legitimate.

Cerf called Seuss and the situation was saved. Dr. Seuss came up with The Cat in the Hat, a primer educationally sound enough to be used in schools. The rollicking story is told with only 223 words, all of which can be learned by beginners; but it is a real book, too, with plot, rhyme and humor.

Thus was Random House's Beginner Books series begun. The first success was followed by The Cat in the Hat Comes Back and Green Eggs and Ham, also by Dr. Seuss. The series now runs to six titles, the other three by different authors, and other publishers and bringing out similar books (Price $1.95).

Dr. Seuss, of course, has been charming children and their parents for a quarter of a century but these are the first of his books the first-graders can read themselves. He is the author of some 15 earlier books, all but three told in rousing verse. A few of his unlikely creations are Thidwick the Big Hearted Moose, Horton Hatches the Egg and If I Ran the Zoo. If the Cat in the Hat books vaguely call to mind a long lost Marx brother, it is no accident. Asked to describe his writing, Seuss called it "logical insanity." Whatever it is, it is always welcome.

But even if Dr. Seuss had never written those first 15 masterpieces he would still merit a statue in the park.

After all, his Beginner Books finished off Dick and Jane.

What man has done more?

There eventually comes a time when anybody gets tired of work.

SHOWN examining the array of Civil War weapons, from the private collection of Mr. Cass Piotrowski from Grosse Pointe, are some of the throng that attended the Saturday night Plymouth Symphony Pop Concert. A part of the program was dedicated to the centennial observance of The War Between the States.

Young People Attend Evening of Recollection

One hundred and eleven students from Plymouth High School attended an evening of recollection recently. The young people, members of Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church, spend the evening twice a year at the opening and closing months of the school year in spiritual meditation and concentration.

For the boys an evening consists in traveling to St. Paul's Monastery in Detroit after school lets out, and remaining there until 9 p.m. Here they received two sermons by Father Michael, C.P., attended the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, received communion, went to confession, ate their dinner, and concluded with Benediction. Father Michael emphasized the need of obedience in their lives, and the dangerous tendency of people today to conform to mediocrity. The trend to "be as others" creates laxity in the spiritual life and a lessening of moral values. Father Campion, head of the retreat house, read the boys a work entitled "Fun, Fame and Fortune," a light, but thought-provoking piece concerning high school attitudes. For the girls the evening consisted in remaining at the parish church where a visiting priest, Father Harold, C.P., presented likewise two sermons, one on a young lady's call in life, the other on the need in the world for girls who will maintain morality despite paganistic surroundings. Ladies of the parish served dinner to the girls following a dialogue Mass and the reception of Holy Communion. Recitation of the rosary and Benediction closed the retreat for the girls.

Graduates

John Janicki

John J. Janicki will be granted a bachelor of science in electrical engineering degree by the Lawrence Institute of Technology during commencement exercises to be held at 3 p.m. Sunday, June 4, in the Ford Auditorium.

Janicki, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Janicki, 11684 Amherst Ct., Plymouth, is a member of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers, the Society of Automotive Engineers and the Phi Kappa Upsilon Fraternity.

He is active in the Tech News and the L. Book as a writer, in the Electronics Club and is on the Senior Dance Committee. Janicki is active in the Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church of Plymouth.

Mrs. Hedrick

RECEIVING her bachelor of arts degree at Madonna College June 4 will be V. Loraine Hedrick, 801 Irvin, a major in art. Coming to Madonna as a transfer student from Michigan State University, Mrs. Hedrick fulfilled a lifetime promise of finishing her college education. Her plans for the future include teaching in Jackson School, Livonia. Her husband, Ross Hedrick, teaches biology at Plymouth High.

Public to Inspect New Consumers Power Center

Consumers Power Company's new West Wayne district service center at Farmington and Plymouth Roads in Livonia will be open to the public for three days of special open house festivities Friday through Sunday, May 26 through May 28, James P. Thomas, district manager, announced.

Thomas said several thousand residents of the district are expected to visit the center. The West Wayne district includes Livonia, Farmington, Plymouth, Wayne, South Lyon, Northville and many other communities west of Inkster Road and north of Wayne. It encompasses some 200 square miles.

"We hope the crowd's even larger, and we'll be ready for all who show up, with favors for the ladies and a series of special exhibits and displays to interest the whole family," Mr. Thomas said.

A feature will be free prize drawings each day for some $4,000 worth of gas appliances.

Another feature will be the appearance Saturday only of radio and television star Fran Allison, of "Breakfast Club" and "Kukla, Fran and Ollie" fame, who will visit informally with guests at the building all that day. Miss Allison is flying in from Chicago to help Consumers and its customers celebrate the opening of the new center as a representative of the RCA-Whirlpool Corp.

company's 40,000 district gas customers are receiving personal invitations to the open house from him.

Favors for visitors, special exhibits and displays and a tour of the new building and grounds are features which Consumers is arranging for the three-day period.

Thomas pointed out that the new center replaces older buildings in scattered locations around the district.

"Centralization of our operations in the expanding West Wayne area will result in continued efficient service and a generally smoother operation," Thomas said.

He said Consumers has added some 30,000 gas customers to its district rolls in just 10 years, and that requests for gas service continue at a high level, particularly in view of the availability of natural gas for space heating. Consumers lifted all restrictions on gas for heating about a year ago, he added.

The new center includes an office building, a attached dispatching gas service vehicles, and ample parking facilities for employees and customers. A drive-in cash-occupies an 11-acre site.

Thomas said some 225 Consumers employees will work at the center, or report to it for assignments in the field.

The West Wayne district service center is the newest of its kind in Consumers Power company's gas service area. The company supplies natural gas to more than 540,000 customers in 30 counties of Michigan's Lower Peninsula. Division headquarters for the West Wayne district are at Royal Oak. Consumers has its executive and general offices at Jackson.

The new service center is the headquarters for the company's gas service to 46,000 customers in a 250 square mile area.

It is an area in which the company had only just over 1,000 meters ten years ago. The new district quarters are symbolic of the company's determination to keep pace with the growth and progress of the communities it serves.

The building is loaded with the most modern, efficient business and industrial aids available. Offices hum with machines helping accountants and bookkeepers. Files spring open at a touch to reveal a customer's entire service history, at a glance. Radio-telephone communication from the headquarters to service men in the field results in virtually constant contact between the office, where customers' requests are received, and the serviceman, who meets the customer's needs.

Such fast growth as the district has experienced is responsible for the incorporation of all possible new skills and techniques at the service center.

How It Began
In 1821 at Fredonia, New York, large mysterious bubbles began appearing in a well being drilled for water. The driller, Edward Howard, abandoned his efforts. Soon afterward, on the same site, a gunsmith named William Aaron Hart completed America's first natural gas well — at a depth of 27 feet. Piping the gas to a nearby residence, he began work on what was to be the first natural gas pipeline project in the United States.

But some of the old, tried and true features are there too. A beautiful customer room, featuring gas appliances, model kitchens — even a model utility room! — is the big feature just inside of the building entrance.

Just beyond this is an auditorium with a fully-equipped kitchen on the stage, and an equally well-equipped kitchen just off the stage, where the home service girls assigned to the District give their talks and programs to school groups, women's clubs and builders and contractors with the same charm and enthusiasm that such talks have been given by Consumers home economists for 30 years. Personalized home service is a utility company feature that apparently will never go out of popularity, in new locations or old.

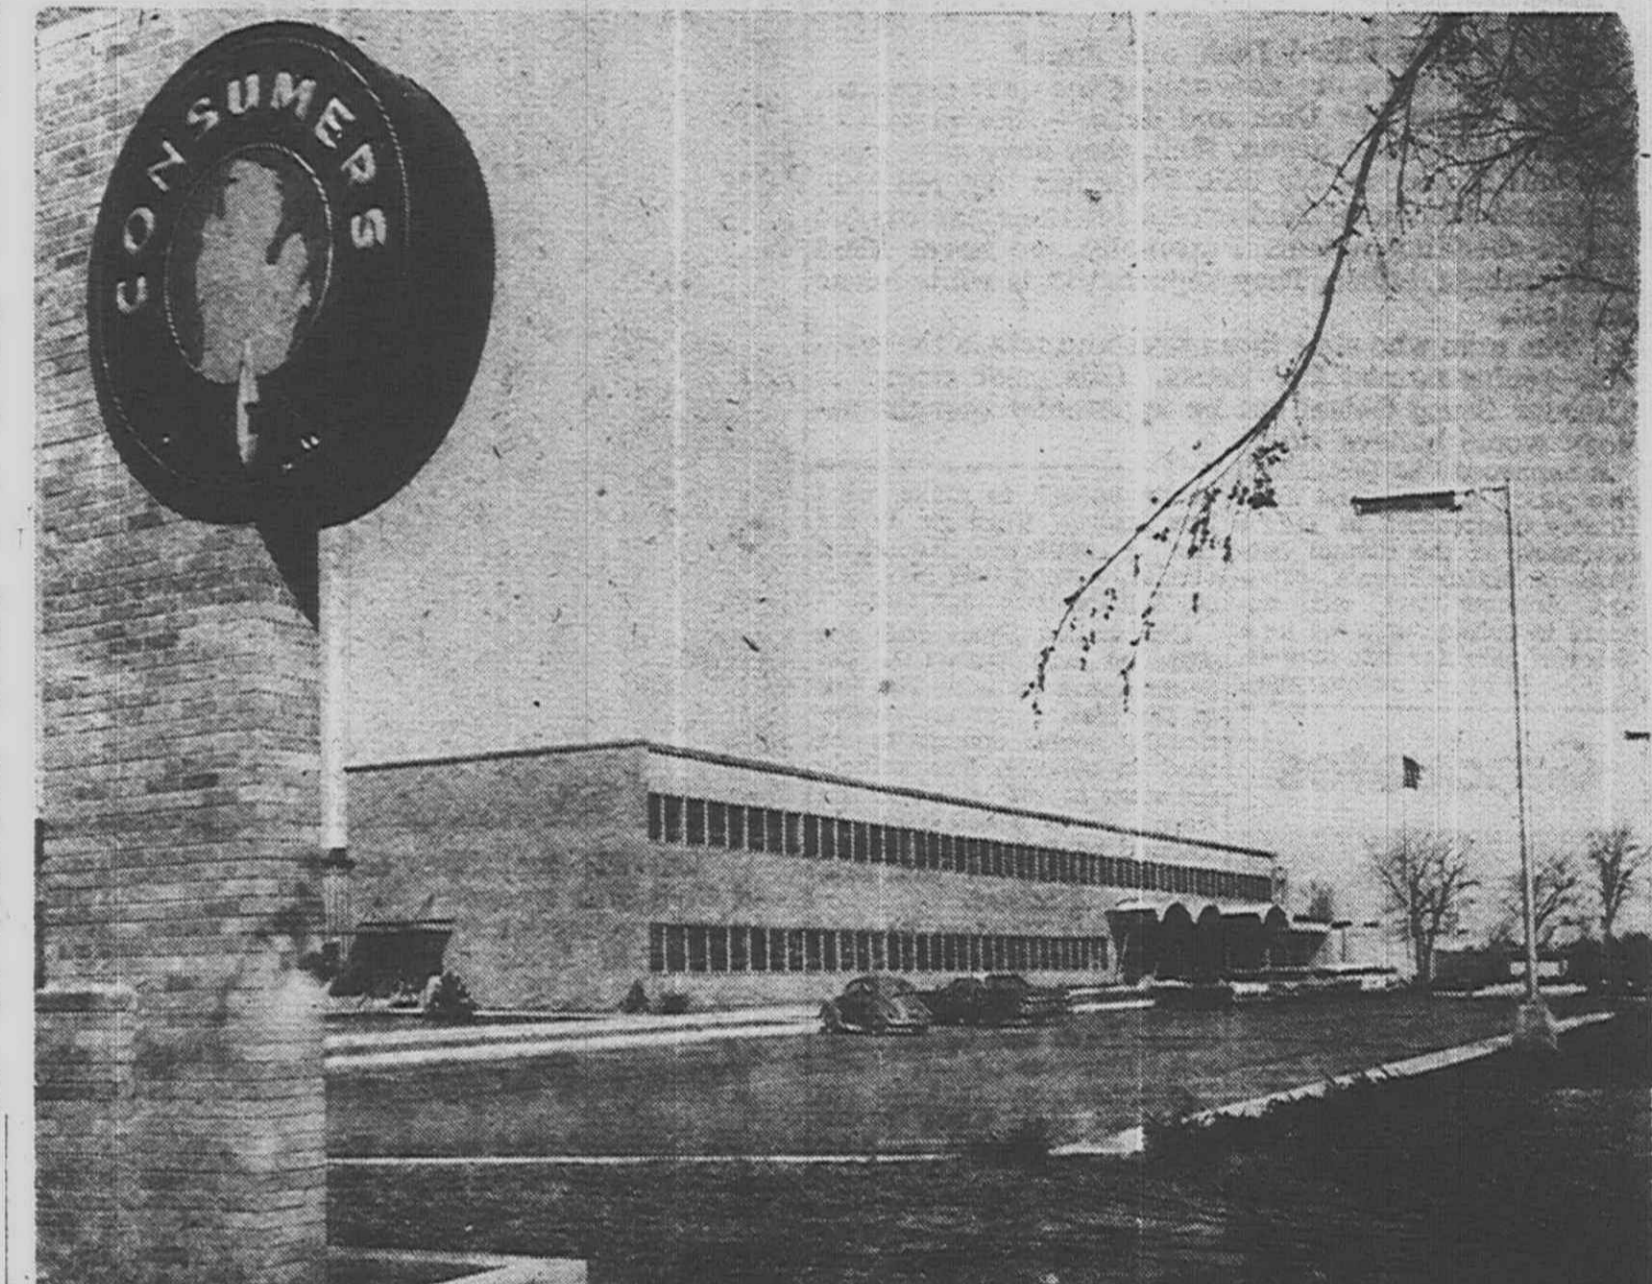

An employee cafeteria, employee training and meeting rooms, a large warehouse and a big truck and car fleet service center, complete with car wash racks and gasoline pumps, are other features of the center.

By GEORGE SPELVIN
Old George guffawed generously the other eve. Yes, his raucous laughter rang out so stridently that the good wife had to nudge him (none too gently) into a more silent state. The occasion? Faye Emerson's antics in "The Marriage-Go-Round" as she cleverly defended her husband, John Baragrey, from the wily designs of Lynne Forrester, a Swedish blonde bombshell that exuded S-E-X from every pore and a bit more.

"Father Panchal," starts on May 28 to be followed on May 31 by Part 2, "Aparajito." India's film industry is one of the largest in the world. Try viewing a film made in India... all the critics have hailed these movies from India as classics.

The Absent-Minded Professor at the Penn Theater this week won't win any Academy Awards, but you will have a bouncing good time as you watch Fred MacMurray solve his problems with "flubber." Flubber is the substance that gives this film a lift right out of this world. "Absent-Minded Professor" has that cornball quality we all seek at least once a week to forget all the cares of the world. And that flying flubber is a dream all of us have had for years. Take the whole family, even the family, even the family dog or cat, to this light, frothy celluloid romp.

"The Pajama Game," a peppy modern musical comedy, was produced by the Eastern Michigan University players in the beautiful, air-conditioned Quirk Theater last week. Plymouth High School students journeyed over to Ypsilanti on a Thespian Club field trip to see a special matinee performance. The laughter and applause for the exceptionally good singing and dancing gave evidence aplenty that the Eastern Michigan Players had scored an artistic triumph. Dr. William Work deserves credit along with his entire staff for a job well-done. Next season he promises "The Boy Friend" to be on the bill of his four presentations. Look for old George to be over there in row one since he is a dyed-in-the-tweeds "Boy Friend" fan.

Stephen Elliott completed the quartet of professionals that zipped through their lines with the ease and elan of old timers. Steve only had a couple of scenes in the play but laugh-wise he had the audience responding long and loud as the misunderrated language professor. The "Marriage-Go-Round" provided a wonderful opening comedy for the Ann Arbor Drama Season. Ted Heusel and John Kokales, producers par excellence, are to be commended for such a wise, witty choice to open their five play drama season.

Nancy Kelly is appearing in "The Bad Seed" for the balance of this week over at the Lydia Mendelsohn Theater. "Bad Seed" is a 14 carat thrill-a-minute chiller - diller type of mystery play. You can turn off the air-conditioning when this production is in progress. Nancy Kelly did the play originally on Broadway. Dash over right now for tickets if you like thrillers.

Yes... The Mother of God WILL Help You!

You may not approve of the age-old Catholic devotion to the Blessed Virgin.
Perhaps you have heard — and believed — that this is "un-Scriptural"... that Catholics are trying to establish Mary as a divine person equal in power to God.
But if you will look at the facts, you will see that these things are not true... and you will realize that Mary can exert a wonderful influence in your personal life.
It certainly is not "un-Scriptural" to recognize that Mary is the Mother of Jesus Christ. If we are to be truly "Scriptural," we must further acknowledge that Christ is the eternal Son of the eternal Father — a Divine Person who assumed a human nature like ours in all things except sin. And while Mary did not give Jesus His divine nature, the Savior was her Son... as truly as anyone is the son of his own mother.
In view of these truths, how can anyone look upon Mary as just another woman, or just another mother? Why should we hesitate to honor one whom God so greatly honored... and upon whom He conferred a surpassing holiness and complete freedom from sin? Why should we believe that one so close to the Son of God in his earthly life is not close and dear to Him in His eternal Kingdom?
It is erroneous, of course, to think that Catholics worship Mary as a divine person. But we do love and venerate her for the unique place she occupies in God's plan for our salvation... for her intimate association with the all-holy Son of God... for her own holiness.
But, you may say — why should we pray to Mary when we can pray directly to God, as the Scriptures command? The answer is that Catholics do pray to God and they seek from Him grace and forgiveness — for these are blessings which only God can grant. But there is no law of God which commands us, when we go to Him in prayer... that we must go alone.

Like St. Paul, we believe in praying for others and having others pray for us. And whose prayers could find greater favor in the sight of God than those of the Mother of His Divine Son?
These are the chief reasons for the world-wide Catholic devotion to the Blessed Virgin. These are the reasons why millions of people, in every land and every language, are heard to pray:
"Hail, Mary, full of grace! the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou amongst women; and blessed is the fruit of thy womb, Jesus..."
The name of the Blessed Virgin is in the headlines these days... and people everywhere are discussing her place in Catholic devotions. We have prepared a special pamphlet dealing with Mary's place in the Christian creed and will send you a copy free of charge, in a plain wrapper, and nobody will call on you. Write today... ask for Pamphlet No. KCPM-24.

They Play Key Role in Consumers Operation

Three of the men who play an important role in seeing to it that Western Wayne County is supplied with gas are Alphonse H. Aymond, Jr., chairman of the board of Consumers Power, David H. Gerhard, Southeast Division manager, and James P. Thomas, Jr., manager of the West Wayne District.

James P. Thomas, Jr., of Plymouth took over the West Wayne district of Consumers Power Company as manager in April of 1959 after serving the Lansing division as assistant gas distribution superintendent for four years. Before that he had been West Wayne district distribution superintendent for five years, and witnessed much of the growth that boosted the district's number of customers from 10,000 in 1950 to nearly 45,000 in 1960. Thomas joined Consumers at Jackson in 1947 following graduation from Michigan State University with a degree in chemical engineering. He worked first in Lansing and later in Flint, before his earlier tour of duty in West Wayne in 1950. A native of Saginaw, where he attended public school, he served in the Air Force in World War II as a P-47 pilot. Thomas reports to Southeast Division Manager David H. Gerhard, who in turn reports to the company's headquarters organization at Jackson.

Gerhard, who has headed the Southeast division since 1935, has been with Consumers since 1925 when he joined the company as a radio engineer. In 1927 he transferred to the power sales department, where he served until he went to the company's Central division at Alma as manager in 1933. Eight years later he was named division manager at Saginaw.

Modern Art Not Easy; Says Expert

Modern art is not easy. It is not play. Anything produced by worms crawling through paint, splashed on by monkeys, or by the tails of donkeys may be modern, it may seem abstract, but it is not art. Modern art is the conscious expression of sensitive individuals much concerned with the ill or deeply appreciative of the beauties of our world. The keen insight of the artist and his more concentrated observation of everyday subject matter or of abstract ideas make him a recorder of our time, aware of evolving conditions, or prophetic of changes yet to come. Jackson Pollock, for instance, when he tired of academic illustration, expressed the restlessness of our post-war era with the dribble and splash of his action-school of painting. His work seems to forecast by 20 years the outer-space views only recently achieved by astronauts.

The modern painter is not concerned with decoration only. He goes deeper than surface beauty to present the essential meaning behind a rose, a lonely house, a stormy sky. He may paint these in purely abstract forms, the meaning or mood only, or he may paint super-real images, the subject and the meaning.

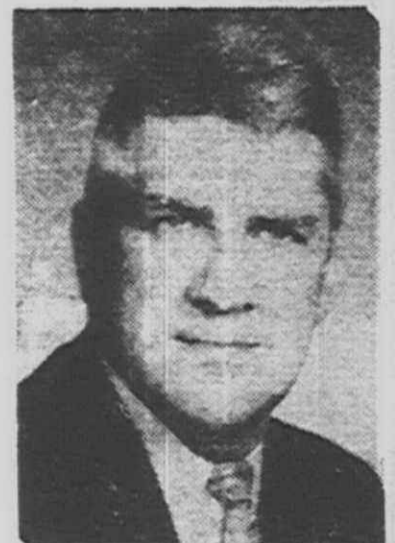

This exhibit, arranged by Mrs. Sam Hudson, will be on view at the library for the next two months. Superior" expresses the intense chill of Lake Superior ice. Hal Stein's black and white canvas uses a Medieval motif and atmosphere to symbolize man's stumbling search for spiritual values. Another canvas in oil suggests the contrast in fundamental, unchanging values symbolized by the clear, impervious sky and the temporary nature of man's achievements which change and time decay.

Veterans of Foreign Wars

Memorial Week church services at the First Baptist Church on Mill St. meet at 10:45 in front of the church. The bridge ceremony for the Navy dead — the color guard and firing squad along with any Post and Auxiliary member will meet at Hillside Inn parking lot at 9 o'clock on May 30. We urge you again to turn out for these ceremonies.

Bill Ronk is still in the hospital awaiting surgery on his back and will be out of action for some time. It would be well to cheer him along with a card or better yet a personal visit. His address is Cecil W. Ronk, VA Hospital, Ann Arbor.

With the last word from Lou Dely he could still use some more help on the street selling Buddy Poppies. If you have even an hour or two, pick up a canister at Kellogg Park.

At the last Fourth District Convention new officers for the coming year were elected, some of which were Don Eiden, commander of 5572, Robert Backett Sr., vice commander of 4553, Chester Snyder, junior vice commander of 1136; quartermaster, Stanley Slowik, of 4553; and the chaplain is Fr. Gregorz.

The new Fourth District commander has appointed our Post color guard team as the District color guard. This will be the second time we have been picked for this honor. The color guard is planning to compete in the competition at the Pontiac Centennial and also at our State convention in Lansing. The team has been practicing in hopes of bringing home the State championship trophy to set beside the others we have.

The State Convention will be in Lansing this year from June 22 through June 25. There will be a good sized delegation going from Plymouth and it would be nice to enlarge it, so give some thought to going. The Fourth District will have Room 235 at the Jack Tar Hotel as a meeting place.

We received a very nice letter from Leona Hood, R.N., the assistant director of nurses at Maybury Sanatorium in Northville thanking us and telling what a wonderful idea it was to give the men the potted flowers as the men are happy with them and love taking care of them.

Remember our meetings are now the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month at 8 o'clock. Attend them to help our new officers as well as help yourself.

Jericho, 825 feet below sea level in Jordan, was once owned by Cleopatra. She prospered from its rich harvests.

About one million Americans today earn their livelihood by providing goods and services for recreation.

Six-week ski courses for youngsters are conducted at seventeen elementary schools in Oslo, Norway.

Charles Zoet was a guest speaker at our last meeting and outlined for us the plans for the Community College in this area. A question and answer period followed, clarifying many of the questions the members had on this proposal.

Memorial services were held at the May 16 meeting for our five departed sisters. Chaplain Smith announced that she is going to the cemetery at 2 p.m. on May 27. Anyone wishing to accompany her is welcome. The Auxiliary is going to participate again this year by attending the joint Memorial Services Sunday, May 28 at the First Baptist Church at Mill and Spring, and by taking part in the parade May 30. The meeting place this year is at Hillside parking lot at 9 a.m.

Members are asked to wear uniforms and hats if possible. The Auxiliary will be serving refreshments at the Post Hall after the Memorial Day program. All members and day guests are welcome, so plan on spending a pleasant hour with your friends.

Our Auxiliary is going to furnish a meat loaf for the potluck dinner planned by the district for the long form initiation to be held at the Wolverine Post May 21. I understand our Post has some new members to be initiated at this program. It promises to be a very interesting event highlighted by the attendance of two championship ritual teams from visiting posts.

Navy Reservists Face Inspection
Lt. Cmdr. John W. Stone, USNR, of 8324 Morrison Rd., Plymouth, and Philip E. Truesdell, aviation machinist first class, USNR, of 42347 Brentwood Dr., Plymouth, will participate in the annual Military Inspection and Review at the Naval Air Station, Grosse Ile, Mich., on Saturday, June 3. The inspection will be conducted by Rear Adm. Arnold W. McKenzie, Chief of Naval Air Reserve Training with headquarters at Glenview, Ill.

The Naval Air Reserve, appropriately named the "Weekend Warriors," is composed of officers and men from all walks of life. They devote one weekend each month and two weeks each year to active training duty.

In Bloom Now RED BUD TREE
The Red Bud or Judas Tree is often used as a specimen or to provide a shrub border. Branches are covered with petite blossoms in a delicate purplish pink. Blossoms before the foliage comes out in the spring. These trees are in bloom now and they are beautiful to see!
Red Flowering DOGWOOD TREE
A colorful tree, before the leaves appear the tree is literally covered with rose-pink flowers suffused with bright red.

Portable Air Conditioner Quick Way to Escape Heat

Mobile room air conditioner rolls easily from room to room to provide summer comfort wherever it's needed.

Families suffering through the miseries of summer heat waves can get permanent relief in a matter of hours with one or more of the new, lightweight portable electric room air conditioners now on the market.

These new models can be purchased over the counter, taken home in the car, and installed in a few minutes by the home owner himself without the need for special tools.

Plugged into an adequately wired standard 115-volt circuit, they'll start immediately to replace hot, muggy air in the room with cool air that is filtered and dehumidified.

Portable and mobile room air conditioners offer other advantages beyond quick relief from heat. Important among these is that the units can be taken from room to room to provide summer comfort when and where it's needed most.

A practice of many families is to place their portable units in the children's rooms just before the evening meal. When the youngsters are ready for bed, the room is at just the right temperature for restful sleep. Later, the unit is transferred to the parents' room to begin air conditioning it for their bedtime.

Portable and mobile air conditioners can spread comfort through the rest of the house as well—in the dining room for more comfortable meals, the den or living room for cool TV watching or reading, or in the family or recreation room for parties and other activities.

Ideally, a house should have at least two of these versatile electric room air conditioners—one for sleeping quarters and another for activity areas of the house.

Portable or mobile units come in a wide range of styles and cooling capacities. Some can be moved easily from room to room, while others come equipped with carts to permit them to be wheeled to new locations.

Literary quiz. Name the original sources of the following quotations.
1—A little knowledge is a dangerous thing. (Pope) (Shakespeare).
2—Habit is the nursery of errors. (Hugo) (Franklin).
3—Popular opinion is the greatest lie in the world. (Thomas Paine) (Carlyle).
4—All that glitters is not gold. (Bible) (Cervantes).
5—A conservative government is an organized hypocrisy. (Disraeli) (Truman).
6—If a house be divided against itself, that house cannot stand. (Lincoln) (Bible).
7—Patriotism is the last refuge of a scoundrel. (Sam Johnson) (Ernest Hemingway).
8—They shall beat their swords into plowshares. (Woodrow Wilson) (Bible).
9—A host of golden daffodils: Beside the lake, beneath the trees . . . (Shelley) (Wordsworth).
10—Arms and the man I sing. (G. B. Shaw) (Virgil).
