

Push Industrial Development Program

Corporation Invites Public to Invest in Plymouth's Future

An invitation to "invest in the future of Plymouth" was issued this week to the public by the Plymouth Community Industrial Development Corp. as they opened a campaign to sell shares in the corporation which is designed to help industry locate in the area.

Eighty-seven citizens have already become stockholders in the corporation whose current project is to help establish Distribution Services, Inc. (D.S.I.) in the former Daisy Manufacturing Co. plant.

It was the Plymouth Community Industrial Development Corp. that was instrumental in bringing the Detroit firm here to fill the long-empty Daisy plant. And after commitments are fulfilled with D.S.I., the non-profit corporation wants to turn its sights on other projects.

A share in the corporation costs $25. "We have hopes of involving 250 to 300 people in this corporation, making it a real community effort," Harold Guenther, chairman of the campaign said this week.

The Development Corp. has made a commitment of $30,000 to loan D.S.I. for making capital improvements in the old air rifle plant. The Development Corp. has already obtained substantial loans from 20 individuals and businesses, larger than the $25 shares.

D.S.I. is purchasing the property from Daisy, now located in Rogers, Ark. It was a similar development corporation in Arkansas which three years ago lured Daisy away from Plymouth.

Serving on the Board of Directors for the Development Corp. are Frank Arlen, George Lawton, Edwin Schrader, Clarence Moore, William Sempliner and Guenther. The corporation is an outgrowth of the industrial development committee of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

(Next week The Mail will carry an advertisement listing present stockholders and providing a form for purchasing a share in the corporation.)

The corporation is attempting to draw more industry into the community for several reasons.

"For one thing, it will broaden the tax base," former Mayor Guenther explained. It is evident that more and more homes will be built in the community and this will mean more schools and other costly services. By keeping the growth of industry in balance with the increase of homes, it is possible that taxes not need to go up. If taxes do soar too high, industry will forever be scared away, it has been noted.

"And, of course, more industry will bring more jobs into the community," Guenther continued.

D.S.I. and its affiliated firm, Scott Associates, is already operating full force in the Daisy plant. Several dozen local people have already been hired to augment the former employees who moved here with the plant.

Those wanting to become shareholders may contact the Chamber of Commerce office, Wendell Lent at Davis & Lent, the Mayflower Hotel or one of the board members.

THE SIGHT OF football players hard at work on the Plymouth High practice field is a sure sign that school is ready to resume and fall is nearly here. The PHS gridgers were working out Monday night and heading the team this year are co-captains Dave Gothard (foreground), the center, and halfback Jim Dart. Two seniors will lead 13 returning lettermen and 30 other candidates for positions in the 1961 Rock schedule.

Boards Seek Delay On College Levy Vote

It now appears that voters in the Plymouth, Livonia, Garden City and Clarenceville School Districts will not vote on a millage issue in the same election that they will decide if to establish a community college district.

Tuesday, Oct. 24 has been set as the date that electors will make a decision on the community college establishment. And only two weeks ago, the Plymouth School Board approved a resolution agreeing to put the millage question on the same ballot. It seemed certain at that time that all parties involved were willing to vote on a one-mill proposal on the same ballot.

But at a joint meeting of the four school boards last Wednesday night, the boards of Livonia and Clarenceville declared themselves against the combined vote and Garden City later joined the two.

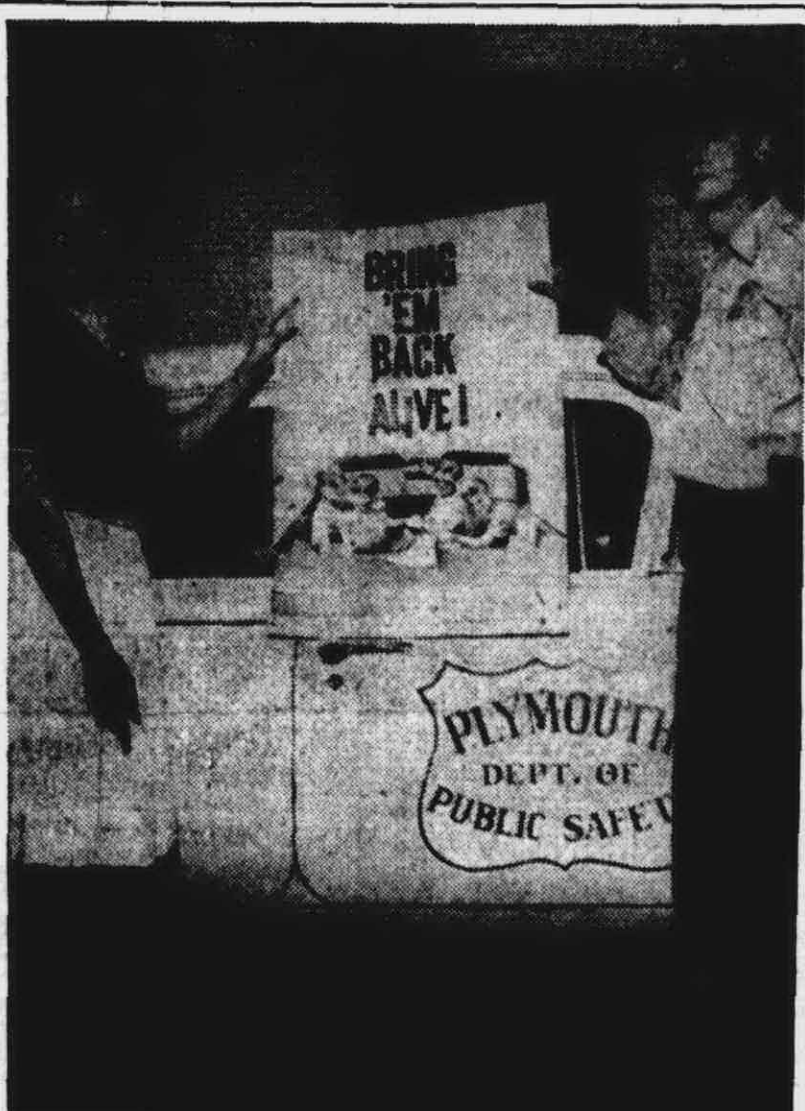

Plymouth Board President Harold Niemi, who represented the Board at the joint meeting, argued in favor of the combined vote. He reported to the Plymouth Board Monday night at a special meeting.

Since the four school districts involved in the election had previously approved formation of the college district, Niemi said that he felt that there should be no trouble approving it once more in October, along with the millage proposal which is needed to build and finance the junior college.

In the first vote held last June, electors in the Redford Union and South Redford districts rejected the formation, thus defeating the entire program. The four districts approving the college are now going to "go it alone" without the Redfords. It is proposed to levy just one mill, the same as was promised in the first election.

But since the June election, a new constitutional amendment supposedly permits the millage question to be placed on the same ballot as the vote on establishment of the college and election of trustees.

The Livonia Board, however, expressed doubt that the amendment applies to the local situation, since

BRING YOUR family back alive, the Plymouth Department of Public Safety is urging this week as the Labor Day weekend approaches. Posters and bumper stickers are being distributed throughout the state in hopes of keeping the highway death toll down. The AAA is promoting the "Bring 'em Back Alive" program and Mrs. Jeannine Dahlager of the local office is shown presenting a poster to Patrolman Ralph Owings.

8 More Streets Get Water

Eight more Plymouth Township streets were certified this week for water tap-ins into the newly-expanded system that now covers most of the Township's eastern half.

Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes said that householders along the eight streets can now make application at the Township Hall for tapping into the Township water line.

Streets are gradually being approved for taps as the Health Department approves the water samples. New mains are thoroughly flushed to assure that the water is safe to drink.

Placed on the approved list this week were:

Haggerty Rd., from Plymouth Rd. to Ann Arbor Rd.

Ann Arbor Trail, west of Haggerty to the City limits.

All of Southworth, Riverside Drive, General Drive, Eastland Drive, Firwood Drive and Plymouth Rd.

Previously approved for tap-ins were Wilcox, Clemons, Finch and Hammill Drives, Bradner Rd. and Lakeland Court.

Water flowing into the new mains is still Township well water. Eventually, Detroit water will be turned into the mains and Township water will be used only on a stand-by basis.

The cost of tapping into the mains depends upon the width of the street. Costs range from $125 to $190. There is also a charge of $3 per front foot to help pay for the main itself and a $5 permit fee for inspecting the change-over to existing buildings.

The Township water rate is 34 cents per 1,000 gallons up to 17,000 gallons; 28 cents per 1,000 gallons over 17,000 gallons in any one billing period.

Local Exhibitors Found at State Fair

While scores of Plymouth people will undoubtedly be traveling to the Michigan State Fairgrounds again during the course of the 112th annual event, Sept. 1-10, there will be a number of local people entering competition.

The fairgrounds, less than an hour's drive from Plymouth at Eight Mile and Woodward, opens this Friday following a parade down Woodward Ave. Thursday night.

A long list of entertainers, such as Dick Clark, Ricky Nelson and Frankie Avalon will entertain during special shows in the Coliseum. And there will be the annual 250-mile auto race, art exhibit, auto show, kiddie barnyard show, hog calling, husband calling, sheep shearing and auctioneering contests.

"Finest horse and livestock show ever presented at the State Fair," is the way Eldon McLachland, director of agricultural exhibits, described the three-night free program in the Coliseum.

Holiday Ahead... Early Copy, Please

Although the Plymouth Mail office will join other businesses and industries by closing its doors on Labor Day, next week's edition will be published at the same time on Wednesday.

Deadlines for submitting classified ads and news have been moved up until 5 p.m. this Saturday, instead of Monday. Classified ads should be phoned to GA 2-0900.

The Mail will be on newsstands late Wednesday and delivered by mail into homes Thursday.

The horse and livestock programs are slated for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 5-7.

Here is a list of the local entrants in the fair: Horses — Anne E. Wood, 9000 Warren Rd.; Charles Gogolin, 8495 Territorial Rd.; William Wall, 39548 Ford Rd.; Wesley and Eleanor Lickfeldt, 41395 Wilcox Rd.; Cecil and Lleo Finlin, 5148 Ridge; Di-Ponio Farm, 8262 N. Territorial; Barbara Niemi, 47566 Joy Rd.; Mr. and Mrs. Erich Moers, 2915 Canton Center; Will-O-Way Farm, 8325 Territorial.

Beef Cattle — Willoughby Farms, 44661 W. Ann Arbor Trail; Richard Schmidt, 7550 Lilley Rd.

Rabbits — R. E. Olson, 39850 Schoolcraft; Oscar Bechtel, 8215 N. Wayne Rd.

Vegetables — Raymond Olsen, 39850 Schoolcraft.

Agriculture — Raymond Olsen.

Junior Crops — Lapham 4-H Club, 5683 Napier Rd.

Junior Show — Mrs. Robert Clixby, 2524 Canton Center Rd.

Walter A. Goodman, general manager of the fair, said that a record $150,000 in prizes will be awarded this year. There will be new names, faces, exhibits, contests and a new General Manager in Walter Goodman who anticipates a new attendance record in his first year as the boss.

The Fair will have a 10-day run concluding on Sunday. (Continued on Page 10)

Con-Con Candidates Appear Thursday

What do you know about the candidates seeking the Constitutional Convention delegate jobs from this district?

His background? His name? The four candidates will appear at a public forum this Thursday night at the Plymouth Community Junior High School.

Sponsored by the American Association of University Women in cooperation with the Town Hall Committee, the forum is designed to make voters acquainted with the four candidates by giving them an opportunity to ask questions and hearing the opposing candidates state their views.

The forum will be from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

Appearing will be Weldon Yeager (Republican) and George Montgomery (Democrat), candidates as the 18th State Senatorial District delegate; and Anna Conklin (Republican) and William Hahn, (Democrat), candidates as delegate from the 21st Representative District.

Moderator for the evening will be Paul Chandler, publisher of The Plymouth Mail. After the audience asks a question, the moderator will ask the opposing candidates for their specific side of the question.

The Constitutional Convention election is Tuesday, Sept. 12, less than two weeks away.

Two of the four candidates from the local districts—Hahn and Montgomery—are teachers. Mrs. Conklin is a housewife while Yeager is an employment agency owner.

Mrs. John Haas, organizational chairman of the forum, as well as chairman of the Legislative Study Group of AAUW, urges all voters in the Plymouth area to attend. AAUW is a non-partisan organization.

Grade Students To Pay $1 Fee For Materials

Effective with the opening of the fall semester, the Plymouth Community Schools will charge each student enrolled in grades kindergarten through six an instructional fee of $1 per semester, school administrators announced this week.

The fee will partially cover the cost of instructional materials, such as workbooks, science supplies, art supplies and other miscellaneous materials used by the student in his classroom work.

Basic textbooks will continue to be furnished in grades kindergarten through eight without cost to the student, it was pointed out.

Students in grades nine through 12 will continue to purchase all textbooks and instructional materials as they have in prior years.

NEWS BEAT

BETTER SHOW: Last year, the local V.F.W. color guard placed seventh in the National V.F.W. competition in Detroit. Last Thursday, the team returned home from Miami where they captured fourth spot. Now they are eyeing next year's convention where three more steps would put them first. Several donations plus some fund-raising by the Post sent the team to Miami. Temperatures were in the 90's and ambulances were always on hand to pick up paraders who were felled. On the team were Hal Young, drill sergeant; Jack Olsaver, Gerald Krumm, Ray Danol and Charles Olson.

CRACK-UP: A Piper Tri-Pacer plane was heavily damaged Friday when it plowed into a cornfield near Six Mile and Sheldon Roads. Piloted by Don Hall of Northville, the plane was owned by Finney Aviation of Plymouth. It is believed that one gasoline tank went dry and the pilot neglected to switch to the other tank. Hall, a harness race horse driver, received a bumped nose.

MENUS AGAIN: Starting next week, The Mail will again publish the menus for the coming week of each of the school district's cafeterias. This feature has proved to be extremely helpful to parents of school children. Hundreds of parents clip the menus. The Mail learned last year when for several weeks they were not published.

IT'S NO mystery to determine what these men are selling these days. It will be Fall Festival time in Plymouth on Sunday, Sept. 10 and the Plymouth Rotary Club will again stage its charcoal broiled chicken dinner and afternoon of entertainment in Kellogg Park. Last year the event drew some 3,000 people to the park. In addition to the dinner, the festival will feature displays by the Three Cities Art Club and Plymouth Historical Society, a concert by the Plymouth Community Band and a visit by several score antique automobiles from this part of Michigan. Rotarians pictured, from left, (assisted by several of their sons), are Charles Finlan, Mayor Robert Sincock, Robert Maurer, Dr. William Covington, Dr. A. C. Williams, Kenneth Harrison, Harold Curtis, Angus Diack, Sidney Strong, Gerald Pease, James Taylor, Carl Shear, John Gaffield, Edward Sawusch, Paul Wiedman, Harold Hamill, Arthur Haar, Roland Bonamici and Harry Draper. Profit from the festival is used to finance the many civic projects undertaken by Rotary throughout the year.

More Teachers Added; High School Readied

Two more teachers were included in the list of new teachers in the Plymouth Community schools that were not among those listed in The Mail last week.

At Bird Elementary School, Miss Ellen Walker will serve as a combination fifth and sixth grade teacher. She attended Madonna College, Michigan State and Eastern Michigan. She has had two years of teaching experience at Trenton.

Teaching English at the Senior High School will be Frederick Libbing, who is a graduate of PHS. He received his A.B. degree from Eastern Michigan and has no experience. He will replace Mrs. Adrienne Zahniser who

Sorority Preview Feature of Frosh Tea

An informal tea and panel discussion are being presented Friday, Sept. 8, for Plymouth girls who will begin their freshman year of college this fall. The tea, scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m. at St. John's Episcopal Church, is a project of local sorority alumnae.

This year marks the first year for such a "Plymouth Panhellenic Tea," which will feature several college upperclasswomen, all active members of various sororities, in a general discussion of sorority life. The rushing system, on both national and chapter levels, will be explained and a question-answer period will follow.

A local alumna will discuss the activities available to the post-college sorority woman.

"We'd like to see costs, what-to-wear, activities and purposes explained to the girls," said Mrs. Dean Manley, chairman of the panel. Nearly 60 graduates of Plymouth High's Class of 1961 have been invited, most of whom will soon be going through Rush Week for Greek organizations at campuses in and outside of Michigan.

Co-chairmen, Mrs. Frank Allison and Mrs. Kenneth Hulsing, have stressed that the tea will be an "all-sorority" one, in accordance with National Panhellenic Assn.

Marjorie Alford and Don Easley Repeat Vows

Mrs. Donald K. Easley

On Saturday, Aug. 19, a candlelight ceremony was held at 7:30 in the First Methodist Church of Plymouth, uniting Marjorie Alford and Donald K. Easley in marriage. Dr. Melbourne I. Johnson officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Keith, and attending Marjorie's maid of honor was her sister, Nancy, and bridesmaids, Mrs. David Valentine and Sara Wesley.

David, younger brother of the groom, acted as best man, and seating the guests were Dr. James Easley, brother of the groom, Roger Levy, Thomas Hill, Fred Cassidy and David Valentine.

Marjorie's dress was of tissue taffeta, classic in style with a chapel train. A broad-caded pattern adorned the simple skirt and the scoop neck, coming to a V shape in back, was edged with delicate lace. The pearl and lace tiara held her shoulder length veil and she carried white rosebuds with a cascade of ivy.

The attendants wore white sunderses of puccini with pleated-on skirts and the flat bow across the back matched the Dior bow headpieces. They carried delphinium blue mums.

Mrs. Alford wore a pale lilac sheath of linen and Mrs. Easley's dress was of blue linen. Both mothers wore corsages of sweetheart roses.

Candelabra were on either side of the sanctuary and bouquets of white mums and snapdragons were on the altar.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors, followed by an open house at the home of the bride.

The young couple are honeymooning in northern Michigan.

Newcomers First Fall Lunch Sept. 14

The Plymouth Newcomers first luncheon of the season will be held Thursday Sept. 14, at Lofy's Arbor Lill. A get acquainted hospitality period from 12 noon to 12:30 precedes the luncheon which will be served promptly at 12:30. Reservations may be made by phoning hostesses Jean Werner (GL 3-6086) and Beverly Weir (GL 3-2157). All reservations must be called in by Tuesday, Sept. 12.

Bill Saxton from Saxtons Garden Center will give an interesting talk on Fall Gardening. Door prizes will be awarded the lucky winners.

The Newcomers Club welcomes all new residents in the Plymouth area. Its prime objective is to better acquaint them with other new people. The club also selects several projects to work on throughout the year.

A vote of thanks to a gracious lady, Mrs. Vivian Champion, who was fundamentally responsible in organizing the group. Many friendships have developed as a result of this club now entering its fourth year.

Canton's Walter Herbert Breaks Own Gladioli Record

By Esther Sprengel
GL 3-0194

Monday, Aug. 21, was a very eventful day in the life of the Roger Smith's of Canton Center Rd., for on that day a little girl was added to the all male family of Mr. and Mrs. Smith. Roxanne Vel was born at St. Mary Hospital and weighed 7 lbs., 4 oz. On Thursday, the little miss was to arrive home and meet her brothers, Roger, Rodney, Rocky and Ronney.

The report of the arrival of Roxanne was given us by her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Rose Smith, and just to prove that the whole family was excited, we also got a call from the young lady's Aunt Marge (Mrs. Norris White).

While speaking with Mrs. White, we found that the family had just returned from a visit with relatives in Otisville, Michigan with another visit to Bay Port, Mich.

Your writer had a very pleasant surprise last Wednesday, Aug. 23. While busily picking crabapples for jelly, I looked up and saw a car, and mentioned the fact that the occupants looked like the Robert Mitchells, formerly of Ford Rd., Canton Township.

Of course I didn't believe it was the Mitchells, but sure enough there they were all the way from their present home in Florida.

The couple are very well known in Canton Township, and had been busily trying to visit former neighbors and friends. They made the visit to be with their son and his family of Garden City.

They both looked like an advertisement for some kind of sun tan lotion and related a little bit of vital statistics regarding their new home. Fishing and golfing occupy a great deal of their time, and while telling about some of their fishing excursions, they tell us they catch most everything from sharks, to octopi along with many other types of fish I hadn't heard of. They live near the gulf and at times can hear the alligators in the swamps near their home.

Now they couldn't seem to praise their new home in Florida enough, however, they did concede to us Michiganders that vegetables just don't have the old zing in Florida as they do here. They plant their vegetable gardens sometime in September, and who would know more about such things than the Mitchells, for they used to have a lovely garden at their home on Ford Rd., and vegetable stand.

They said they had been host to Hurricane Donna, but that two weeks before she made her appearance they were warned, so made preparation such as preparing food, that didn't need cooking, etc. The only damages recorded by the Mitchells were the loss of their shrubs.

After speaking with this very energetic and vivacious couple, one's first impulse is to go and immediately pack for Florida, however after considering the hurricane visits and the lack of good vegetables, I think we'll wait a little longer. It was wonderful to see them and hope they will let us know when they get home.

With 81 years to his credit, Mr. Walter Herbert of 4854 Proctor Rd., is still a very enthusiastic gardener and has a real zest for living. Upon Mr. Herbert's invitation, my son Kim and I made a visit to Mr. Herbert's home. He beams as he shows you through his garden of vegetables and flowers. His specialty is gladioli.

This year his largest gladiolus measured 5' 7", which Mr. Herbert claims to be a new record. Last year his largest bloom was 5' 2". The bloom had 34 blossoms on one stem.

Besides his vegetables and gladioli, Mr. Herbert has many more varieties of flowers on his half acre plot, among which are varieties from Texas and Mexico.

The last few days, visitors from Wayne, Garden City and Ypsilanti have visited with Mr. Herbert and viewed his garden, and just between us, they never go away empty handed. They always go with a bouquet of flowers or a variety of vegetables, in fact our home has been beautified by a large bouquet of asters.

This year the Gallimore P. T. A. is determined to get as many parents as possible into the school's activities. One of the campaign efforts is being led by Mrs. Homer Benoit of Canton Center, chairman of the hospitality committee. Mrs. Benoit has been trying to contact all the parents who will have children in kindergarten this year and welcome them to Gallimore, but more about school a little later.

Now that summer vacations are just about over, P.T.A., clubs and other organizations will get into swing again. We would love to know about your activities, and we still would like to hear about those vacations.

To Open Toys For Tots Drive At Walled Lake

The national kick-off for the 1961 "Toys for Tots" campaign sponsored by the United States Marine Corps Reserve will be held in this area, according to an announcement by Lt. Col. G. D. Wolverton, Commanding Officer, Marine Air Reserve Training Detachment, at Grosse Ile.

The Toy campaign is an annual one which the Marine Reserves throughout the country put on to collect new toys for needy children at Christmas time. Plymouth also participated.

The marines then distribute the toys either directly or through welfare and charity agencies. Lt. Col. Wolverton said that this year contact would be made with Goodfellow organizations in the metropolitan area and toys turned over to them for distribution.

"The Goodfellows in all of the communities have extensive files on needy families," said Lt. Col. Wolverton, "and, if they are agreeable, we would like to give them the toys we collect and let them add them to their own contributions. In that way, we can be sure that kids will be made happy at Christmas."

In communities which do not have their own Goodfellow organizations, other civic and governmental organizations will be contacted, Lt. Col. Wolverton said.

Lorraine Konke Becomes Bride of Leonard Iwaniec

At a 10 a.m. Nuptial Mass, Lorraine Patricia Konke and Leonard Patrick Iwaniec were united in marriage by Fr. Alfred Renaud at Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic Church Aug. 26.

The altar was graced with bouquets of gladioli and pom-pom mums. Mrs. Millard Mitchell, organist, sang "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother".

The bride was gowned in an ankle-length dotted nylon organdy. The round neck of the bodice was accented by her evening star diadem pendant. A row of satin covered buttons extended from the neckline of her dress to the hemline, edged by ruffles.

The cabbage rose headpiece of dotted organdy held her three tiered silk illusion veil. Her bridal bouquet of white roses, stephanotis and ivy was placed on her prayer book.

Carol Konke, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a sleeveless, street-length dress of blue taffeta accented with a bow at the waist. Her jewelry was a pearl pendant. Wrist length gloves, matching shoes and headpiece completed her accessories. She carried white carnations, tipped blue with white stephanotis.

Bridesmaid, Bette Jayne Argo was dressed identical to Miss Konke.

John C. Iwaniec, brother of the groom, was best man. Laurence Lausten of Lincoln Park ushered.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Konke wore a beige shantung sheath with a silk overskirt with brown shoes and corsage were orange.

The groom's mother, Mrs. John Iwaniec, was dressed in blue chiffon with pink accessories and corsage. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Lofy's Arbor Lill for 150 guests who came from Detroit, Plymouth, Ypsilanti, Dearborn and other Michigan cities.

For their wedding trip the new Mrs. Iwaniec chose a white linen sheath. Her white accessories were a crushed leather purse and shoes and white gloves.

Upon their return from a trip through Tennessee's Smokey Mountains, the couple will make their home in Ypsilanti.

Mrs. Iwaniec will graduate with a B.S. in January, 1962 from Eastern Michigan University. She is affiliated with Sigma Nu Phi. The groom, a Theta Chi, is an engineer at Corvair.

Two Local Lads Attend Camp

Robert Winterhalter, 1302 W. Maple Ave., and Kenneth Evans, 45560 W. Ann Arbor Trail, are among the more than 100 selected high school boys from throughout the state who are attending the annual Michigan YMCA leadership training conference for Hi-Y clubs at the State YMCA Camp Hayo-Went-Ha on Torch Lake.

The annual leadership conference through discussions, platform presentations, and demonstrations develop program ideas in keeping with the Hi-Y purpose: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character." Clubs operate throughout the year within the high schools with programs of service with their purpose.

While at Hayo-Went-Ha the boys will also have time to enjoy each afternoon the outstanding recreation facilities of the camp.

The boys were accompanied by Karl Benne of the State YMCA staff.

Following the boys' conference members of the Tri-Hi-Y Clubs (the high school girls' organization of the YMCA) will be at the camp for a similar training conference.

The National Hi-Y Fellowship, the largest voluntary organization of high school youth within the United States, is composed of thousands of groups of high school age boys and girls, with each club developing programs of service to their school and community.

Snarey-Memmer Speak Vows In Peace Lutheran Church

Kathleen Lorain Memmer became the bride of Timothy Claude Snarey at a candle-light ceremony on August 12 at Peace Evangelical Lutheran Church in Livonia. The Rev. John Westendorf officiated at the ceremony.

Kathleen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Memmer, 10021 Seltzer. Timothy is the son of Mrs. Ilene Snarey and the late Claude Snarey, also of Livonia.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza with a chapel train and sweetheart neckline. A crown of crystal held in place her fingertip veil. She wore a single strand of pearls and carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and roses.

Dorothy Memmer of East Detroit assisted as maid of honor. She wore an orchid dress of silk organza over taffeta and carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and mums. Bridesmaids Barbara Brandy and Karen Frigon and junior bridesmaid, Cindy Snarey, all of Livonia, wore gowns which matched that of the maid of honor. They carried bouquets of white mums and roses.

Serving the groom as best man was his brother, Dennis Snarey. Ushers were Tom Snarey and Dennis Memmer. The mother of the bride chose an ice-blue silk organza dress and wore an orchid. Mrs. Snarey, mother of the groom, wore a gold brocade sheath accented by an orchid.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the D.A.V. Hall in Redford. After receiving their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Snarey left for a honeymoon to Canada and then to Maine for two weeks. For her going-away outfit, the bride chose a yellow linen suit.

The couple will reside in Plymouth. The groom is attending E.M.U.

Titan, among the earth's rodents, is the South American capybara, which resembles a king-size guinea pig. An adult male may measure four feet in length and weigh more than 100 pounds. Despite its size, the capybara is a gentle creature with many enemies. It lives along streams and makes its escape by swimming.

Madonna College Begins Fund-Raising Campaign

The Madonna College Fund Raising campaign is on!

With the proclamation of Mayor William W. Brahear, mayor of Livonia, friends, alumnae, and students of the College will begin their fund-raising campaign soliciting funds for the expansion program of the institution.

Though relatively young, Madonna College has outgrown its present classrooms and facilities which it occupied in the Felician Sisters' motherhouse on Schoolcraft. Present increase enrollment and anticipated future increases make it necessary for the College to expand its building and resources.

In its 14 years of existence as a senior college, Madonna College has granted approximately 400 bachelor of arts and bachelor of science degrees to women, religious and lay. At present, these are engaged in various professions and careers and render invaluable services to society.

Madonnites work in the fields of medicine, of research in hospitals and industry, of teaching, of social work, and finally in homes as housewives making their contribution to the happiness and well-being of their fellowmen.

To continue its work and extend its resources to many more young women, Madonna College must build. A multi-purpose building which will include classrooms, laboratories, lecture rooms, the library, chapel, cafeteria, administration offices, residence halls for students and faculty, gymnasium and an auditorium are the most pressing needs at present.

During the month of September, residents of Livonia, Plymouth, Garden City, Northville, and Farmington, will receive a letter and literature with forms for contributions. It is they who can help bring the new horizon into a sharp focus of reality. It is they who can assure a tomorrow with well-trained women who will serve society as leaders, teachers, and mothers.

The public is urged to read the enclosed letter and brochure and to respond according to the encouragement of the mayor of Livonia, who pleaded that all "volunteer their financial and spiritual support to this worthiest cause." Contributions may be sent to the college.

Area Township Officials Meet At Arbor-Lill

The Michigan Townships Assn. for the 14th, 16th, 17th and 18th Congressional Districts will have an annual meeting Friday, Sept. 1 at Lofy's Arbor Lill in Plymouth Township.

The four districts include township officials from Wayne and Oakland Counties. The meeting, designed to bring together those who make the laws and those who must enforce them, will feature a "Face to Face" discussion with the congressmen, state senators, state representatives, state officers, county officers and township officers.

In making the announcement the directors said that although the meeting is called primarily for township officials of member townships of the Association all township officials and anyone interested in local township government are invited to attend.

Your Child May Take Wide Variety of Intelligence Tests During His 12 Years in School

During your child's 12 years in elementary and secondary school, he will possibly take a dozen tests designed to measure his intelligence, achievement, aptitudes, and interests. These standardized tests will be in addition to the hundreds of informal quizzes and examinations given by classroom teachers to evaluate his progress in the regular course of study, according to information released by the Michigan Education Assn. School systems vary widely as to the number and types of standardized tests given to children throughout their school years. The Michigan Education Assn. cites several of the most frequently used tests.

Readiness Tests. In Kindergarten and at the beginning of first grade, your child may be given tests to determine whether he is mature enough for first-grade work. If he is to be taught successfully, his teacher needs to know whether or not he is able to acquire the necessary skills for reading. Similar tests may be given to discover his readiness for learning about numbers. Intelligence Tests. Often, early in our child's education, tests are made of so-called "mental ability." These tests measure his ability to learn by requiring him to perform certain selected mental activities involving his knowledge of vocabulary and his ability to reason. These tests may be used by your child's teacher to place him in classroom groups with other youngsters of similar abilities. In this way the program can be adjusted to his best rate of learning. Aptitude Tests. Usually given at the junior or senior high school levels, aptitude tests help to estimate your child's special interests and abilities not revealed by achievement and intelligence tests. Aptitude tests, such as those designed to measure mechanical, clerical, musical, writing, teaching, or stenographic aptitudes, attempt to identify and evaluate abilities believed to be associated with success in these occupations. Achievement Tests. This type of test seeks to measure your child's knowledge and skill in a specific subject field as compared with the achievement of similar age groups. Tests are labeled for such subjects as reading, mathematics, social studies, and science. A special type of achievement test is diagnostic in that it helps the child and teacher locate particular strengths and weaknesses in specific subject.

Inventory Tests. One type of inventory tests asks your child to indicate his likes and dislikes; the interests revealed may be compared with those of successful people in various occupations. Other inventory tests explore your child's personality, especially his attitudes and biases.

Plymouth Girds for Fall Grid Schedule

Runners 'Get Set'

Cross-country practice for the 1961 Plymouth High School team gets underway the first day of school, Wednesday, Sept. 6. Four returning lettermen will lead the candidates for Coach John Sandmann's team. Co-captains Tony Hunt and Byron Latta are back again as are the Griffith twins, Ward and Jim. The first meet is scheduled for Sept. 15.

Last season the Rocks posted a 4-1 league record, which was good for second. Bentley was first. The 1960 Rocks were third in the regionals and qualified for the state finals.

While there has been no formal practice yet, some of the candidates have been getting in some early conditioning, running by themselves.

SPORTSEEN

By Bill Nelson

While you can't blame the whole base New York attitude on one man, John Sandmann did bring the subject to mind the other night.

He was born and raised in Brooklyn, N.Y. and that's a dangerous thing to be admitting in these parts these days. Recently he visited there and his report is in accord with our limited experience with the town.

"In this area," he was saying, "Detroit and New York are a big thing, but there the Tigers' chances are just ordinary news items. It's just different. No one seems to get excited. The sportscasters, the writers and the public treat the Tigers with little concern."

Sandmann, as nearly everyone knows, is athletic director at Plymouth High School and the background for the conversation was provided by football coach John Hoben's charges going through their first night practice. Colavito had just hit his 39th, however, and the conversation was still summer and baseball.

Sandmann admitted to being a Yankee fan (as who isn't most of the time) but tossed in his lot with the Tigers, saying "I'd like to see Detroit take it." This weekend Detroiters have a chance to make a dent in the New York attitude. The site is the House that Ruth Built in the Bronx, just north of Manhattan.

In a sense it couldn't be better, regardless of what Midwesterners may think of the New York attitude. In opera, the Met is the test. In New York. For plays, Broadway openings are the test. In baseball, New York has been the test for years.

You can't think of a better moment of truth than will take place for the Tigers this weekend. If this really is the 1961 team of destiny—the team that has lured many Plymouth groups to attend games en masse—then we may know for certain Labor Day.

Plymouth Rotarians had tickets for the game with Chicago yesterday. All of us ought to be glued to the television sets this weekend. It may be better baseball than the World Series, regardless of who ends up in it.

Apparently Whitey Ford and Frank Lary won't meet this trip. We'd like to see that. The risk is great, but if the Tigers beat Ford, our second line pitchers ought to be able to take the Yankees. And a defeat to Ford early in the series may provide the momentum to take it all. A defeat to Lary, of course, might produce opposite results.

It's televised events like these that make the ornery little contraptions worth their weight in green stamps.

Football Coach Mike Hoben has started off the season with a lament about the meager turnout for Plymouth football. Forty-six, he says, is the most disappointing of recent years.

Time will tell, of course. He needs only 11 on the field at one time, and Hoben has produced some amazing results before.

Of more serious concern than mere numbers is the coach's concern with the condition of many of the athletes. Other coaches in the area have also expressed concern in this regard. Some have theorized that the tense times in which we live may be producing a careless attitude among the youth.

13 Veterans Lead 46 Candidates

Plymouth High School football practice got underway on a two-a-day schedule last Monday and will taper off to one-a-day when school opens next Wednesday.

The opening game is scheduled for Sept. 15 at Northville. The home opener will be with Farmington the following week on Sept. 22.

Forty-six candidates turned out for the first practice. "It's the smallest turnout of recent years," Coach John Hoben said. He issued a call for more candidates, especially for the junior varsity and freshman teams. "If we don't get a bigger turnout," he said, "we may not be able to have a freshman or JV program."

Of the 46 out for practice, 13 are returning lettermen. At center, Co-captain Dave Gothard is back. Guards Jared Stevens, Jerry Dunbar, and Jim Ayers lettered last season as did tackles Rick Sweet, Dale Houk and Jim Givigan. Dan Stremick is returning for another season at end, while Co-captain Jim Dart, an end last year, is moving to halfback.

Dick Schryer, a veteran sophomore quarterback last year, returns at that position, and burly Mike Kisabeth is back at fullback. Other halfbacks who lettered are speedy Brian Gilles and Dave Schoeneman.

Hoben estimates that Allen

Park and Bentley will be the toughest in the league with Belleville and Plymouth next. "Redford Union and Trenton will be better," he said. He quickly noted, "We'll do all right, I think."

An inter-squad is scheduled for Saturday morning. Guernsey, in the Channel Islands, was given an autonomous government by the Duke of Normandy in 912 A.D.

The newer secondary schools built by the county council of London accommodate up to 2,000 pupils.

Egloff Reports At Yale
NEW HAVEN, CONN. (Special) — Randy Egloff, 336 Adams, Plymouth, is one of 44 sophomores invited to report for the opening of Yale's pre-season football drills on Sept. 6.
The Bulldogs, beginning the 10th championship under the direction of Coach Jordan Olivar, will conduct twice-daily drills in New Haven until the start of classes on Sept. 20. Sophomores will constitute more than half of the 86-man roster during the pre-season training period. Promising prospects will be watched closely in the practice sessions, as the Yale staff prepares to fill vacancies created through the loss of 18 lettermen and a number of talented reserves from the undefeated and untied 1960 squad.
Egloff, a key performer with the big three championship freshman team last year is one of the young hopefuls who will compete for assignment with the varsity this fall. He prepared for Yale at Plymouth High School. At Plymouth, he was a standout performer in baseball, basketball and football. He pursued all three at Yale last year and became one of the few athletes to win freshman numerals in three sports.
An excellent passer, punter, place-kicker and runner, Egloff figures highly in the Eli's 1961 varsity football plans as a halfback. The 6-1, 195-lb. sophomore is a mathematics major at Yale.
Yale enjoyed one of the finest football seasons in its long history last fall. By winning all nine of its games, the Eli's completed their first undefeated and untied campaign in 37 years. Yale, which shared the Lambert Trophy with Navy as the East's finest collegiate football team in 1960, also claimed the distinction of being the only major college team in the nation to go through its schedule undefeated and untied. Yale is the only one of the eight Ivy Institutions to have captured the league championship twice since formal Ivy competition was initiated in 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Curtis

Haughn - Curtis Married In Double Ring Ceremony

In the First Lutheran Church of Leipsic, Ohio, Miss Jean Haughn exchanged wedding vows with Bruce Curtis. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Haughn, Route 3, Leipsic. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Curtis, 417 Auburn, Plymouth.

The Rev. E. A. Lehman, pastor of the First Lutheran Church, officiated at the 2:30 o'clock Aug. 20 double ring ceremony.

The altar was graced with arrangements of white carnations, palms, white gladioli and pink asters. Altar candles and white pew bows completed the setting.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a white floor-length gown of nylon organdy over taffeta. The dress was fashioned with a fitted bodice, short sleeves, and a V-shaped neckline appliqued with white Swiss embroidered organza flowers. Her full gathered skirt was also accented with the organza flowers.

The bride chose a fingertip length veil of French illusion attached to a crown of organdy with the flower accent. Both the gown and veil were designed and made by the bride. She carried a bridal bouquet of a white orchid and stephanotis on her Eastern Star Bible. Her pearl earrings were a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Frederick Russell, East Lansing, and sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Miss Marcie Curtis, Plymouth, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Their identical princess style street length dresses were of pastel green embroidered polished cotton. Small green bows accented the low back V-neckline. Their white picture hats were also accented with green bows and they carried colonial bouquets of pink asters trimmed with white ribbon.

June Rorabacher of Belleville, cousin of the bridegroom, served as flower girl. Wearing a white organdy dress and a white headband accented with green, she carried a white taffeta and organdy basket with pink sweetheart rosebuds.

Bernard Curtis, Plymouth, attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Jerry Haughn, Leipsic, brother of the bride, and Arthur Buskirk of Edmore, Mich.

Organ music for the ceremony was presented by Mrs. Carl Radabaugh, Ottawa. Her selections included "Liebestraum," "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Traumer-Romanze," "If Thou Art Near," "I Love Thee," and a post prelude.

Vocalist Nancy Foley of Leipsic sang "God Gave Me You," "Entreat Me Not To Leave Thee," "O Perfect Love," and "Wedding Prayer."

Attending the guest book was Mrs. Larry Hoover, Robinson, Ill. A lawn reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Among the hostesses at the reception were Mrs. Donald Place, Leipsic; Mrs. Arthur Buskirk, Edmore; Mrs. LeRoy Goodwin, Leipsic; Miss Peg McConnell, Elida; Mrs. Alan Snider, Edgerton; and Mrs. Frank Welty, Pandora. Miss Edith Leinsetter, Leipsic, and Mrs. Flossie Mack, Leipsic, presided at recording gifts.

Greeting the guests were the mothers of the couple. Mrs. Haughn was attired in a blue nylon eyelet over taffeta sheath dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Curtis wore an ensemble of blue and white dacron print jersey with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

For their wedding trip to Northern Michigan, the bride chose a blue and white figured ensemble with white accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet. On their return they will reside at C-4 Preston Court, Mt. Pleasant.

The bride, a graduate of Leipsic High School and Ohio State University, will teach vocational home economics at St. Louis, Mich. The bridegroom, a graduate of Plymouth High School, is a senior at Central Michigan University.

The total did not include the estimated 50,000 who took advantage of the pre-opening Thursday night program which again will be held before the official start on the following day.

The Fair actually will extend for 10 days plus the night previous, Thursday, Aug. 31, when there will be a dazzling three-mile long parade through the Downtown Detroit business section along with the official ribbon cutting ceremonies at the Fairgrounds.

The parade, which will include floats, marching units, bands, beauty queens, championship livestock, clowns, radio and television personalities, is scheduled to start at 8 p.m.

Gov. John B. Swainson will head the night procession which begins at Woodward between Jefferson and Vernor. Then at 9:30 p.m. before the grandstand he will cut the ribbon that officially opens the State Fair and the crown Mrs. Michigan State Fair. An hour of fireworks will follow.

The Fairgrounds will be open to the public free of charge Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. The midway will be in swing but most exhibit buildings will not open until Friday morning.

The judging of horses in the quarter horse competition is listed in the Coliseum starting Thursday at 7 p.m. and will be open to all who desire to attend.

But it's the new items that have members of the State Fair Commission and General Manager Goodman enthused and talking of all-time attendance records not only at the gate but at every exhibit on the grounds.

OTHERS TOO: Voters going to polls Sept. 12 to vote on Con-Con delegates will find two other candidates besides the Republicans and Democrats. The Socialist Laborites are running James Sims and the Tax Cut party is running John N. Grass for the 18th Senatorial District delegate post ... Absentee ballots are now available with your local clerks for the election.

TROUBLE SPOT: One of the most dangerous intersections in the City is Main and Mill Streets. Two crashes occurred there one morning last week an hour apart. In both cases, cars heading east on Main were turning left onto Mill and drivers did not see other cars coming west on Main. One of the approaching vehicles hit a DeLuxe Motor Stages Bus. Sun glaring on the windshield was said to have hampered both drivers ... A truck overturned at Main and Joy last week, sending the driver to the hospital. A guardrail at the end of Main was partially knocked down.

"HOW'S HIS throwing arm?" Detroit Tiger publicity director and scout Neal "Doc" Fenkell, left, asks as six-month-old Wesley McAtee, Jr., appeared Friday noon at the Rotary Club's Father and Son luncheon. Fenkell, who is also the "voice of the Tigers" on the Tiger Stadium public address system, told his audience of Rotarians and their sons that for a change he doesn't have to make any excuses for the team. But always on the lookout for new talent, he asked Wesley McAtee, Sr., owner of Plymouth Office Supply, to bring his son around in a few more years for another look.

More Teachers

One kindergarten teaching position still remains open this week.

Meanwhile, most teachers are this week involved in a workshop at the Junior High School where they are studying curriculum and methods of improving their departments. The workshop is an optional program in which most teachers participate.

Senior High Report
 The Board of Education heard a report Monday night from Administrative Assistant Melvin Blunk on the Senior High. Blunk said that "for sure" the building will be ready for classes on opening day next Wednesday. Many jobs will be finished by the end of this week and some workers will be working Sunday.

Boards Seek Delay

(Continued from Page 1) its peculiar wording was drafted mainly to cover a situation in Muskegeon. Use of the amendment may bring a court challenge by someone who is against the college, they feared.

Opponents also suggested that once the board of trustees is elected, it should be up to them to promote the millage election. Now, the individual school boards and an executive committee composed of representatives of these boards handles community college business.

Plymouth Board members, after hearing President Niemi's report, declared that they still felt that the election should be combined. But they said that the issue was not great enough to hold out against the other boards.

As a result, a motion was made by Robert Utter and seconded by Gerald Fischer that the resolution made two weeks previously be rescinded, that separate elections be held and urged that the millage vote be held at the same time as the regular June school election. Fischer, Utter and Niemi voted for the resolution while negative votes were registered by Mrs. Esther Hulsing and Peter Zylstra.

Holding the millage vote in conjunction with the regular school election in June will eliminate the cost of a special election, which was estimated to cost up to $10,000.

Plymouth District is expected to have a special election of its own in the early spring to vote on renewal of 3.5 mills for operating. The millage expires this year and the Board must put the issue to voters as early as possible so that plans can be made concerning the budget and hiring teachers, teachers, usually completed by late spring.

The Mail Attitude

BY PAUL CHANDLER

Some time ago Plymouth started a project to assess the needs and hopes of Senior Citizens living in the area. Those working on the project will be interested in a development announced in Livonia just this week.

There the final zoning hurdle has been removed to permit construction of a 104-unit apartment cluster which will be reserved solely for aged men and women.

One bedroom apartments will cost $65 and two-bedroom ones $85. They'll have living rooms, kitchens, bath, and small dining area.

There'll also be a central hall and kitchen for community dining. Meals also can be ordered to be sent to the apartments.

A full time nurse will be on duty. There'll be a barber shop and beauty shop in the development. Emphasis will be given to a well-equipped recreation room and planned recreation.

It will be possible to walk to any part of the development under cover without going outdoors. All walking areas will be designed for safety, with hand rails and no inclines. Bathrooms will have hand rails and other safety features.

Adjacent to the apartments will be a large professional building and a complete pharmacy. Doctors and a first aid room will be there. A shopping center will be about a block away.

It's a unique thing for the local suburbs, and probably a pattern of the future. The location will be southeast of Seven Mile and Middlebelt Roads and target date for opening is October, 1962. Sinacola Construction, KE 3-3410, is the builder.

Some time ago there were rumors of a new small shopping center planned for Sheldon and Ann Arbor Roads. A phone call this week indicates that this still is pretty much a gleam in the builder's eye. The key would be having a supermarket sign a lease, and none such has happened so far.

This newspaper reported last week that the next vote on a Community College would include two proposals: (a) establishing a College District, and (b) approving of one mill in tax, half of which would go to finance a bond issue for the College.

There has been a change in signals. Millage will not appear on the ballot Oct. 24... only the proposal to set up the District and elect members to the Board of Governors.

This election is a follow-up, of course, to the earlier one here where a College District was approved by four Districts but rejected by two others, Redford Union and South Redford. Unanimous approval of all is required to set up the District.

The two Redford units have been dropped from the project now, leaving Livonia, Plymouth, Clarenceville and Garden City.

The new District has an assessed property valuation today of almost $500,000,000 and a predicted valuation of $600,000,00 by 1966.

For the college buildings and land, it now is proposed to spend $4,794,000, scaled down by about 30 percent from earlier figures because the enrollment will be less in the reduced District. The building would be financed by a 25-year bond issue, with half a mill sufficient to cover it.

Operation costs would be about $1 million annually in the early years. This will be covered by (a) Tuition fees (b) State Aid and (c) Millage, one-half mill. Each would cover approximately one-third of the $600 annual cost for educating a full-time student. Federal aid and business gifts are anticipated for special laboratory equipment and research projects.

Projected enrollment under the new setup is 8,000 students by 1970.

The millage was withdrawn from the Oct. 24 ballot at the request of Boards in Livonia, Clarenceville and Garden City. They argued that the citizens should be given the privilege of voting on the tax separately. Plymouth's Board earlier had sought to have the whole thing handled in one package, but acceded to the requests of the neighbors.

One of the hopes many officials have for the Constitutional Convention is that from it will come some new law which would standardize and simplify the taxation of property in Michigan.

Nothing is more frustrating to tax authorities — and to taxpayers — than the knowledge that identical properties go on the rolls at grossly different assessments. It depends on the assessing standards in the particular location. These can vary between next-door neighbors in the metropolitan area. Across the State of Michigan as a whole, the differences are more drastic.

Pending Convention action, possibly there is some small comfort in a tiny item buried in the Detroit papers last week. The report said that City, County and State officials had met and agreed to send hired employes out "to determine how various communities assess property." The project is "an attempt to set up a uniform system of tax assessments throughout the County."

A sobering postscript: "the survey is expected to take several years."

But, at least, there now seems to be official recognition for what most of us always have known: property taxes aren't applied equally in Michigan.

Another Con-Con subject which could have been interest here is that of finding a method to support schools other than absolute slavery and dependence to the property tax.

Marvin Criger Graduates From Banking School

Marvin Criger

Marvin J. Criger, senior vice president of the Bank of Dearborn, is a member of the graduating class of the School of Banking at the University of Wisconsin at Madison. He lives at 454 Arthur St.

Having completed two-week residence sessions at the University for each of three years, and a series of extension projects covering all phases of banking, Criger was awarded the University Certificate of Graduation at ceremonies Friday, Aug. 26.

Dr. O. Meredith Wilson, newly elected president of the University of Minnesota, was the commencement speaker.

The school is sponsored by the Central States Conference, composed of bankers' associations in 16 midwestern states. Attendance this year will approximate 1,252 bankers, ranging from junior officers and department managers to presidents, vice presidents, and board chairmen of banks from 43 states and three foreign countries.

The faculty of over 110 instructors consists of bankers who are specialists in their respective fields, practicing attorneys, business executives, and members of a number of university and college faculties. The instructors are among the most competent men in their respective professions ever assembled for a adult educational purposes.

Sees Improved Valve Springs with B-G-R System

RECENT VISITOR to B-G-R Division of Associated Spring Corp. just after flaw-detection equipment was installed, was Jose Visconti, left, a director of Resorres Argentina S.A., Cordoba, Argentina. Operation of the equipment, installed in the B-G-R Division plant at Plymouth, is being explained by Charles J. Stofko, center, B-G-R general manager.

A new production capability designed to improve the quality of engine valve springs and other high-performance springs has been installed by Associated Spring Corp. at the B-G-R Division here.

Charles J. Stofko, general manager of the division, said the company — for the first time in the spring industry — has succeeded in applying high-speed flaw inspection of ferromagnetic spring wire on a production basis.

"As a result of this development," Stofko explained, "we have a powerful tool to help us achieve our goal of making engine valve springs from wire that is free of harmful nicks, pits, and seams — defects that may cause expensive spring failures in service."

Developed and tested by the Associated Spring Research and Development Center in Bristol, Conn., together with engineers of the B-G-R Division, the new equipment uses a specially adapted eddy-current detection technique. In B-G-R production facilities, Mr. Stofko said, the detection system will be used primarily for inspection of valve-spring quality wire but may also be used on other spring wire requiring great reliability — in applications such as aircraft and missiles.

The new detection system is the culmination of a dozen years of effort directed at inspection and quality control of wire used for making high-performance springs in order to assure product quality. During this period a research project was established at the University of Michigan which resulted in the building of a prototype unit using eddy-current techniques. From this unit information was gained that made possible the development of the new production unit.

The new high-speed inspection equipment was developed from a flaw-detection system originally used for rod and tubing, according to H. Perry Smith, corporate Director of Research and Development, ASC engineers — in cooperation with Magnaflex Corp., Chicago, which supplied the basic instrumentation — designed the total system, which is capable of detecting very minute flaws anywhere on or near the surface of a strand of wire at production speeds, he said. Conventional quality assurance of wire surface normally consists only of visual inspection of both ends of a given bundle of wire.

The new test equipment uses a combination of electronic and mechanical systems. The electronic circuitry provides the signals for a paper tape read-out which designates "off-specification" sections of the wire tested. Sections of wire failing to meet set standards are marked by a lacquer spray for subsequent discard. The tape becomes a permanent record that can serve to certify wire quality.

An eddy current is induced in the wire by means of exciter coils. A pair of sensing coils detects any change in the normal eddy-current pattern of sound wire if the pattern is interrupted by flaws, such as pits, seams, or scratches. The electronic equipment amplifies and filters these changes and then triggers the marking system. Associated Spring coupled the basic electronic equipment with precision mechanical devices for handling the fast-moving wire.

Art Club To Exhibit At Fall Festival

The Three Cities Art Club of Plymouth, Northville and Livonia will hold its annual outdoor exhibit and sale in Kellogg Park in Plymouth, on Sunday, Sept. 10. Kellogg Park is on Main Street in the heart of town.

The hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. It will be held in conjunction with the Plymouth Rotary Club's Annual Fall Festival. Oil and water color paintings will be displayed along with sculptures, handmade puppets, mosaics, weaving, graphics, silver and enameled jewelry and ceramic pottery.

RECEIVING HIS wings at the Wing Designation ceremony at the Naval Air Station at Corpus Christi, Tex. this month was Ensign David M. Bowen, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Neal Bowen, 1113 Penniman Ave. His wife, Constance, is shown pinning on the wings. David is a graduate of Plymouth High School and Western Michigan University. He will be stationed at the San Diego Naval Air Station for four months and then at Whidbey Island, Oak Harbor, Wash., for three years. He will be a member of a patrol squadron covering the Aleutian Islands and the Bering Sea. His wife and son Jimmy will accompany him.

Men In Service

George L. Norton, gunners mate, second class, USNR, of 15748 Maxwell, Plymouth, is on two weeks training duty with Naval Air Reserve Squadron VA-731. The two weeks duty is being spent at the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station. While there, George is participating in classroom sessions in his specialty. Then he puts his classroom training to work on the AD-5N "Sky-raider" Attack Bomber.

Outlook for Better Profits

BY ROGER W. BABSON

With the exception of the first quarter of 1960, when the previous business recovery reached its zenith, the trend of net corporate earnings has been downward since the third quarter of 1959. Thanks to a substantial lead built up during the 1959 first half, however, the full year 1959 established an all-time high of $23.7 billion for business profits after taxes. In 1960 net corporate earnings fell to $22.7 billion, down a little more than four per cent.

The first quarter of the current year saw the low point reached in the business recession. Correspondingly, business profits after taxes for this period extended the downward trend in earnings. Official government statistics indicate that the net profits figure fell to $20 billion for the initial 1961 quarter, on an annual-rate basis. This was the lowest rate of earnings since 1958. However, it probably marked the low point of the two-year decline in corporate earnings, since the turn-around in business was vigorous.

The scattering of gains among the companies which have thus far released earnings results for the second quarter appear to confirm this expectation.

Bear in mind, however, that increases in profits were generally small, and many companies still reported lower earnings and/or deficits. Hence, the advance in aggregate corporate profits was probably quite small.

While this may seem disappointing in view of the vigorous upturn in general business, the revival process for profits is customarily slow, held back by the forces of keen competition for sales and shaky price structures—carryovers from the preceding recessionary period.

Nevertheless, the break in the cloud overhanging the profits picture is favorable; and, in view of the good outlook for business in the months ahead, profits should swing upward in convincing fashion. The slow start, however, will hold full-year 1961 profits below those for 1960.

Anti-Fluoridation Forces Always Are Hard Fighters

EDITOR'S NOTE: While City Commissioners are being asked to place the question of fluoridation on a ballot, an article appeared in this month's Changing Times, the Kiplinger Magazine, entitled, "What's Holding Up Fluoridation?" While the article is clearly for fluoridation, it also points out some of the objections and history of the controversial subject.

For more than ten years now, every community in the United States had the means to give lifelong protection to its younger citizens against a universal, costly, painful and disfiguring health problem—tooth decay.

For that period, the scientific world has been in agreement that adding a trace of fluoride to public drinking water (one part fluoride to 1,000,000 gallons of water) positively reduces tooth decay by as much as two-thirds; that at a cost of only about a dime a year per person it is economically feasible; and that it is absolutely safe.

These facts have been proved beyond scientific dispute by more than 30 years of careful, objective evaluation of evidence collected from all over the world—proved, that is, everywhere except in the public mind.

After ten years of certainty, only 2,000 communities with a total population of 38,000,000—out of a possible 200,000 communities with more than 125,000,000 in population—have accepted fluoridation of the water supply. (Another 7,000,000 persons live in areas where the water supply naturally contains protective amounts of fluoride.)

After ten years, in city after city across the country, parents, doctors and public health officials interested in bringing better teeth to tomorrow's adults are being stymied in their efforts to get fluoridation programs adopted.

This failure to accept fluoridation is costing dearly. For example: More than 97,000,000 people in the nation have decayed teeth requiring treatment, and another 21,000,000 have lost all of their teeth.

The average high school graduate has ten teeth attacked by decay. The national dental bill, even though a third of the population never goes to a dentist, totals around 2.4 billion dollars annually, or an average of $44 per family.

Of course, fluoridation cannot eliminate all dental bills or all dental ills. Nor can it remove the necessity for such additional dental health practices as good diet, conscientious brushing and regular visits to the dentist. It has been repeatedly proved, however, that drinking fluoridated water through childhood can reduce tooth decay by as much as 65 percent and that this benefit lasts throughout life.

The uproar—what it's all about
Fluoride is a natural substance that is found in varying amounts in all drinking water and in many foods. It would be next to impossible to live without ingesting some fluoride, but it appears naturally in such small amounts that most people get very little.

In late 1930 it was discovered that in communities where the fluoride content of water was high, tooth decay was astonishingly low. Unfortunately, only a few areas had enough natural fluoride in their drinking supply to do the trick. In 1945, after 15 years of intensive study, it was decided to add sufficient fluoride to the drinking water of several cities (the first were Grand Rapids, Mich., Newburgh, N.Y., and Brantford, Ontario) to bring the level of the chemical up to one part per million gallons (1ppm).

By 1951 and 1952 it had become apparent that the plan worked even better than anyone had dared hope. Tooth decay did decrease in fluoridated cities. In Grand Rapids, for instance, these were the results:

- 65 percent less tooth decay in children who drank fluoridated water from birth;
- 45 percent less decay in children who were 5 or 6 years old when the programs started;
- 20 percent less decay in those who were teen-agers.

Endorsements of fluoridation for all cities as a public health measure began coming from the cautious scientists. By now every major scientific group with any interest in the subject has added its approval—the U.S. Public Health Service, the National Institute of Dental Research, the American Medical Association, the American Dental Association, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the American Association of Public Health Dentists, the American Public Health Association, the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council, the American Cancer Society, the American Pharmaceutical Association and scores of others.

Nonscientific groups have also supported the movement. The National Congress of Parents and Teachers, the American Legion, many chambers of commerce, the AFL-CIO, the Child Study Association of America and the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce are among them. Individuals from Dr. Benjamin Spock, the famous pediatrician, to Dr. Louis I. Dublin, one of the nation's leading statisticians, have urged communities to go ahead with the program. Everywhere the idea spread rapidly, and towns and cities all over the country began the work of insuring stronger teeth for their children. Two-thirds of all the big metropolitan areas have fluoridated water. Among them are Chicago, Baltimore, Philadelphia, St. Louis, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Milwaukee, Houston, Buffalo and Minneapolis. The U.S. Congress, which twice has heard antifluoridationists speak their piece in formal hearings, some years back, quietly fluoridated the water of the city it governs, Washington, D.C.

For the last eight years or so, however, fluoridation has been steadily losing ground to the strident objections of a small but highly persuasive group of opponents. In elections in the fall of 1960, for instance, citizens of 5 municipalities voted on fluoridation referendums. In 29 of these 35 towns and cities, they voted the proposal down. In a number of communities that have had fluoridated water supplies for some time, opponents have succeeded in getting programs stopped.

Wherever the issue comes up these days, there is bitterness, name calling, smears, hate campaigns, wild charges and counter charges, distortions and outright lies. Before it is all over, there is likely to be rancor between friends and neighbors, division within civic and social clubs, professional organizations, even scientific groups.

No matter who starts the movement, the deluge is soon on. Any local opposition is instantly reinforced by help from outside the city. The governing body is pressured to kill the whole idea. If that maneuver fails, it is practically forced to put the issue to a vote of the people although most city governments have the power to decide public health matters just as they have the power to establish fire departments. When an election is called, an acrimonious campaign is bound to ensue, and through a combination of factors the opposition all too often wins.

Who the opponents are
Ten or fifteen years ago, there was some genuine disagreement among scientists about whether fluoridation was absolutely safe, whether it would actually work, whether alternative methods of putting fluoride into the diet might be better. Now the evidence is in, and these questions are no longer disputed except by a few diehard-physicians and dentists and by a loud group of laymen who are confirmed "againers." The dissenters have been classified in this manner:

1. Professional hatemongers who see fluoridation as an evil and subversive plot conceived by such diverse culprits as the Public Health Service, the American Medical (or Dental) Association, the Jews, the United Nations, the politicians, the Communists or "the Capitalists" to weaken people's minds and destroy their reasoning power.

2. Health-food enthusiasts and people dedicated to drugless therapy. Sellers of "nature" foods and pills, such as the Rev. Andrew G. Rosenberger of Boston, Dr. Royal Lee of Milwaukee and E. H. Bronner of Los Angeles are in the group. So are the writers of books and publishers of magazines and pamphlets on "natural" diet, such as J. I. Rodale of Emmaus, Pa., (who is best known for espousing organic gardening) and Dr. C. T. Betts of Toledo, Ohio, (who has spent a lifetime trying to convince people that aluminum cookware causes cancer). Included also are many chiropractors and naturopaths. Finally, there are people like the Christian Scientists who sincerely think that fluoridation of drinking water is medication and therefore runs counter to their religious beliefs.

3. Physicians and dentists who may have any one of a number of reasons for opposing fluoridation. Some still honestly disagree with the overwhelming weight of fact and judgments of their colleagues. Some jump on the antifluoridation bandwagon in order to gain notoriety. Some dislike the organizations favoring fluoridation and use the issue to bludgeon their "enemies." Some see the "socialized medicine" bugaboo in the measure even though their professional organizations do not.

Probably the best known of the professional men—persons who are cited by antifluoridationists as authorities and sometimes travel for the cause—are these: Dr. Leo Spira, who is convinced fluorides cause chronic poisoning; Dr. Frederick B. Ekner, a prominent radiologist of Seattle; and Dr. George L. Waldbohn, an allergist of Detroit (these two physicians, coauthored the book that is the bible of the opposition), Dr. Paul Manning, a dentist from Springfield, Mass., and Dr. A. B. MacWhinnie of Seattle, also a dentist.

4. The rugged individualists, who see fluoridation as an invasion of the individual's rights. The archconservative John Birch Society is said to take credit for defeating fluoridation in Council Bluffs, Ia., and Alameda, Cal.

Last year the University of Michigan's School of Public Health published a list of antifluoridationist objections and an appraisal of their validity. The objections, printed in index form, filled five oversized pages.

A major objection has always been that fluoride is a poison. It is a poison—in the same sense that table salt (chloride) is a poison. Taken in excessive amounts, either could cause illness or death. Most foods and water contain, however, some fluoride, and it is considered a nutrient like phosphorus and calcium. Some 7,000,000 persons have drunk fluoride (often in quite high amounts) with their untreated water all their lives, but studies of thousands of them show no adverse cumulative effect on general health.

Yet, the Michigan survey found that opponents to fluoridation have cited more than 100 different disorders supposedly caused in human beings or animals by fluoride. The ailments included cancer (the American Cancer Society says that there is no evidence of any relation between fluoride and cancer), ulcers, diarrhea, constipation, liver disease, kidney troubles, tuberculosis, sinusitis, heart disease, leukemia, hemophilia, neuritis, psychoses, stammering, loss of memory, nail biting, polyomyelitis, multiple sclerosis, cataracts, glaucoma, color blindness, goiter, diabetes, scurvy, acne, boils, athlete's foot, baldness, brittle nails, brittle bones, arthritis, rickets, poor posture, flat feet, increased tooth decay, periodontal disease, amocclusion, abortions, stillbirths, prematurity of birth, tonsillitis, left-handedness, loss of hearing and allergic manifestations.

The only disorder that can, according to all present medical knowledge, be caused by ingesting fluoridated water is the mottling of teeth. This happens in communities where water naturally contains too much fluoride; it never happens where the fluoride content is controlled, as it is in all city fluoridation programs, at 0.7 to 1.2 parts per million.

Other objections are that commercial activities like ice-manufacturing, food-processing and beer-making are adversely affected when fluoridated water is used (there are no such problems); that fluoridation is too expensive and is wasteful because only a small proportion of a city's water is used for drinking (on the contrary, doing without fluoridation is expensive, and separate water systems for treated and untreated water would be the wasteful procedure); that adding fluoride is a big problem to engineers at the water works (it is no more of a problem than adding chlorine); that the value and safety of fluoridation has not been proved (no other proposed public health measure ever has had such sound proof or such widespread approval by scientists).

The supreme courts of numerous states have passed on the legality of fluoridation, and the U.S. Supreme Court has refused to review their decisions. Still the opponents often claim interference with human rights. A favorite ground is that fluoridation constitutes compulsory medication. Actually, proponents reply, fluoride is a normal constituent of food, and adding it to the water supply in correct amounts is no more medication than adding nutrients to white flour. Besides, it's a preventive, not a curative, measure.

If all else fails on deaf ears, the antifluoridationists claim that better ways of administering fluoride exist, such as the use of fluoride tablets (which would cost about $2.50 a year per child and are tedious to use) or the application of fluoride directly to the teeth (which costs about $20 for each series of treatment and reduces decay only 40 percent).

A host of other objections are encountered—many of them the sort that are hard to answer in nontechnical language. The net result is to confuse, befuddle and cast doubt and fear in the minds of the electorate, which is likely to be somewhat apathetic about tooth ills at best.

If it happens in your town
In too many places in the past, proponents of fluoridation have been helpless to counter effectively the attacks of the opposition. Local dental societies and individual dentists and physicians have been less than forward because of their fear of "mixing in politics." Ammunition, such as pamphlets to distribute, has been scanty.

If a fluoridation fight is in the offing in your community and you are involved, remember that all the proponents in town must be mustered into the fray, their backs stiffened and their lukewarmness heated.

You can expect an arduous, hard-hitting, no-holds-barred campaign. There is nothing polite about most battles for fluoridation, but most people who think about it figure their children's and grandchildren's teeth are worth the struggle.

Mrs. Josephine Smith says if the party who took her pocket-book and eleven dollars the night of the social at her home will kindly return the same, they will avoid further trouble, as they are known and the evidence is getting stronger every day against them.

Mrs. Albert Ruthenbar of Gilt Edge called on Mrs. Robert Douglas Thursday.

A horse became frightened at a pile of sand Sunday and shied out of the road, throwing the occupants of the vehicle into the ditch, but fortunately no one was hurt.

School begins in Rough and Ready school Sept. 5, with Miss Fulton as teacher.

"I GUESS MAYBE WE SHOULD HAVE PHONED AHEAD FOR RESERVATIONS"

Don't be caught without a room for the night. You can call hotels or motels a day's drive away for about a dollar.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Shorty Made No "Bones" About It

Folks thought it was a big joke when Shorty Johnson came back from Center City with a new St. Bernard for his kids.

And the truth was, Shorty did look kind of funny. The pooch practically filled the whole back seat of Shorty's car, and when he let it out, it stood darn near as high as Shorty did!

But Shorty didn't mind the ribbing. As he explained, "I know I look pretty silly with a dog like this. But when you've got eight kids like I do, and you get 'em a dog, you get one big enough so they can all play with it at once!"

From where I sit, folks should "size up" a situation before jumping to conclusions. For example, because Shorty likes coffee, I used to feel he'd disapproved when I'd have a glass of beer. But after I got to know him, I realized he was a tolerant man—one who'd never think of challenging his neighbor's right to his own opinions. This attitude is typical of most of the folks in our town—one of the things that makes them so "dog-gone" wonderful!

Plymouth City Commission Minutes

Monday, August 7, 1961
A regular meeting of the City Commission was held in the Commission Chamber of the City Hall on Monday, August 7, 1961 at 7:30 P.M. PRESENT: Comms. Beyer, Houk, Shear and Mayor Sincok. ABSENT: Comms. Hartman, Terry and Merritte.

Since Comms. Hartman, Terry and Merritte were out of town, their absences were excused by the Commission. Moved by Comm. Shear and supported by Comm. Houk that the minutes of the regular meeting of July 17 and the special meeting of July 24, 1961 be approved and read. Carried unanimously.

Since Supervisor Vallier was out of town, no report was made. The Clerk presented a communication from the U.S. Department of Interior offering to cooperatively maintain a recording station with the City of Plymouth for the continuous collection of basic hydrologic data for the city's water supply, at a cost of $600 for the first year and $400 per year thereafter, with 50 per cent of the cost to be borne by the U.S. Geological Survey.

Moved by Comm. Houk and supported by Comm. Beyer that the city avail itself of the services of the U.S. Department of Interior for the collection of basic hydrologic data, as recommended by the City Manager and D.P.W. Supt. Carried unanimously.

The Clerk presented a communication from the Rotary Club of Plymouth requesting permission to use Kellogg Park on Sunday, September 10, 1961 from noon to six p.m. for its Fall Festival, and to place a banner in Kellogg Park advertising the festival to be held on Sunday, September 10, 1961. Carried unanimously.

Moved by Comm. Houk and supported by Comm. Beyer that permission be given the Rotary Club of Plymouth to use Kellogg Park and Penniman Avenue from S. Is there anything more dramatic than a plate of corn-on-the-cob piled steaming high with its golden goodness? Butter waiting nearby for the slash of the knife to aid in its journey to the delectable, gleaming rows of juicy morsels. A dash of salt and the cornferres ear is ready for the crunch of the choppers. To hang with the diet let's all start in a couple of weeks after the corn-on-the-cob days have faded into the misty shadows of Autumn.

These corny thoughts came bounding through my cranium after viewing of all things—a corn shredder. Some joker has invented a gadget that makes the eating of corn-on-the-cob a genteel matter. No longer will your guests sound and look like a pen, full of porky scotters. No, sir, you merely take the corn firmly in one hand, pull this little wonder-working shredder down the length of the ear, and in a flash you have the tender morsels in a humiliating heap. Let's hope that the sale of these shredders remains at a minimum. We can't afford to have such a simple gustatory pleasure removed from our American way of enjoying life.

Out amid the corn fields that surround the City of Plymouth the Bartlett School sits sedately. Occasionally the old school is lit at night with the activities of the Plymouth Theater Guild. The Board of Education has loaned the school to the Guild as headquarters for their flats, stage furniture, etc.

This coming Thursday evening the windows of Bartlett School will shine brightly with an incandescent glow piercing the inky darkness of Canton Center Rd. Inside Mr. Jake Rumpf is busily conducting the apprentice drama workshop. Last week, 14 eager thespians showed up to discuss organizational plans.

On this Thursday (Aug. 31) at 8 p.m. the group will tackle some scripts. Scripts will be read and some decisions made on what will be done for a September 18 program. The Theater Guild meetings (Third Monday of every month in the High School) will feature a different series of dramatic performances each month. Mr. Rumpf feels that with the emphasis on action ("You learn by doing"—one of his favorite phrases) the Guild meetings will attract more newcomers. And most important of all, he hopes, some of the newcomers will stay with the Theater Guild to do some work in the theatrical line that interests them.

The Workshop program stresses that there is something for everyone to do. If you prefer working backstage or painting scenery, there will be a chance for this type of work in the apprentice workshop. Everyone at any age is welcome to join up with this free and easy, informal-but-eager-to-learn group. Men, boys, youths, or young fellows with extra time on their hands might find the drama workshop an excellent spot to gain some profitable experience. You don't have to act or even read the scripts. Just drop around this coming Thursday and enjoy yourself.

A player piano and a gramophone, circa 1890, are on the prop list of "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker". Please contact Jake Rumpf, producer for "Pennypacker" if you know the whereabouts of said articles. His number: GL 3-7734.

"Gone With the Wind" arrives at the Penn Theater on Sept. 3. Here's the champion money-maker of all time. "Ben-Hur" will eventually pass "Wind"'s 40 million mark, but until it does... "long live the king." "Wind" was the original long-playing type movie. Nowadays the long feature film is as commonplace as the short, sickening TV commercial. This Civil War epic still retains a freshness though and merits the entire family's attendance.

"Parrish," a high-powered drama with some adult dialogue, plays the Penn for a three day engagement prior to "Gone With the Wind." Radio City Music Hall played this film a couple of months ago and did excellent business with it. "Fanny," the current Radio City Music Hall attraction, is now in its seventh week. Averaging well over $187,000 per week this colorful look at life on the waterfront of Marseilles will gross well over a million dollars at the Music Hall.

While I'm thinking about money, I'd like to report that Hugh Downs, the staid anchor man on the Jack Paar midnight TV frolic, has discovered a gold mine. Hugh takes his pick and shovel out to Ohio where the Kenney Players operate summer theaters in Warren and Columbus. Uncle Hugh works one play for two weeks, asks for no salary and is happy to accept a percentage of the gross. Mr. Downs' share for one week this year in "Under The Yum Yum Tree" was a fat $13,100.

I can hear most of you sighing and saying that's more than most guys make in a month. Of course, the government gets a healthy share of that "13 thou", but still it's pretty good for a week's work. Shows you the power

Five Hurt In Two-Car Crash

Five people were injured in a collision at N. Territorial and Ridge Roads Saturday morning when a Belleville motorist failed to heed a stop sign.

Sheriff's deputies said that William Atwell, 6470 Denton, Belleville, was ticketed for reckless driving when his car ran past the stop sign as he drove north on Ridge Rd.

His car struck another driven by Carleton Lang, 29848 Hathaway, Livonia, which was going west on Territorial. Deputies said that Atwell and four occupants in the Lang car were injured and were taken to a hospital by Schrader ambulance.

The Plymouth Township fire department was also on the scene.
