

College Is Topic At Town Hall

The 10 persons who are candidates for the proposed Northwest Wayne County Community College have been invited to participate in a Plymouth Town Hall meeting on Monday, Oct. 16 starting at 8 p.m. in the Junior High School.

Town Hall meetings, which are held preceding most of the community-wide elections, give voters a chance to meet and hear the candidates.

Voters in the Plymouth Community School District, along with those in the Garden City, Livonia and Clarenceville Districts, will go to the polls Tuesday, Oct. 24 to decide if the community college district should be formed, and at the same time elect trustees to head the proposed college.

Each of the four districts are to elect one representative to the board of trustees, while three at-large trustees will be elected by all voters. Only one person filed petitions from each district as trustee candidate from the district. Six filed for the three at-large jobs.

All of the candidates, however, have been invited to the Town Hall meeting. The four district candidates are:

Harold Fischer, 40875 Plymouth Rd., Plymouth District; A. Ward McCain, 18901 Shadywood, Livonia; Paul Mutnick, 19822 Weyher, Livonia (Clarenceville District); and Clarke Oldenburg, 29780 Rush, Garden City.

The six at-large candidates are:

Jane K. Moehle, 1279 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Plymouth; Dr. A. Leo Speer, 9400 S. Main, Plymouth; Fred H. Morris, 32346 Cherry Hill Rd., Garden City; Charles Kirkpatrick, 31838 Delaware, Livonia; Herbert Kagen, 20361 Weyher, Livonia (Clarenceville District); and James O'Neil, 9840 Ingram, Livonia.

The Town Hall meeting is open to the public and without charge.

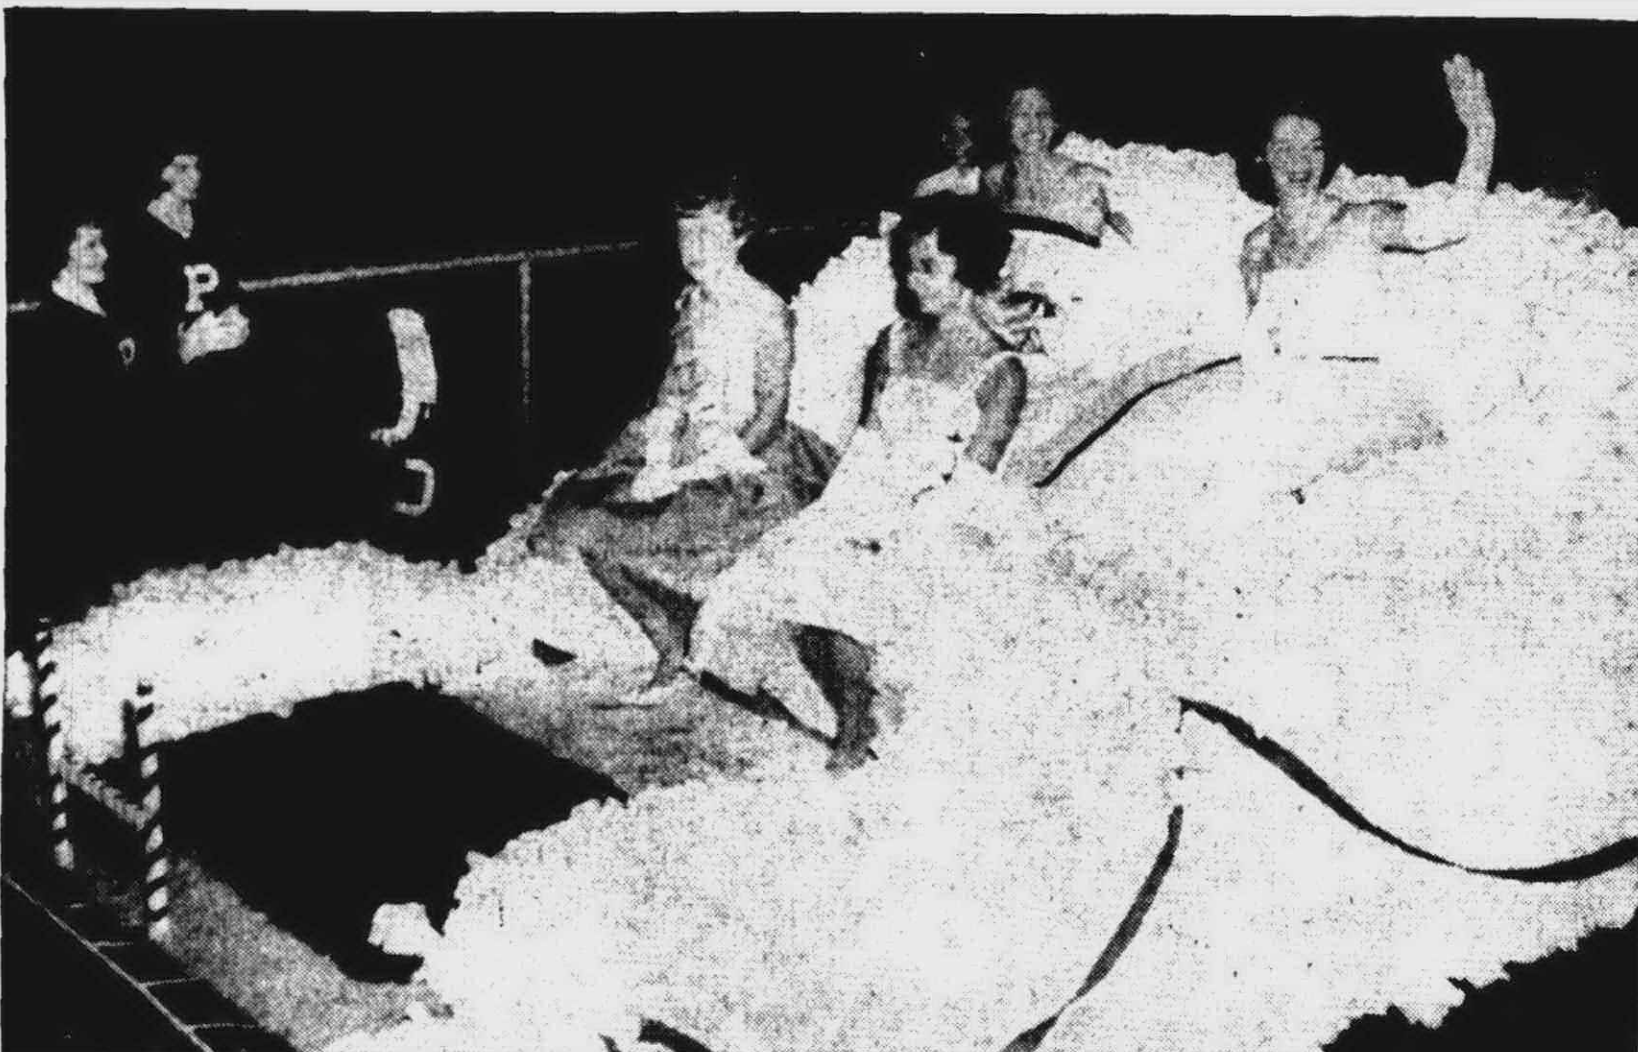

Fluoride For School Children

Plymouth dentists will again sponsor the topical fluoride program in Plymouth's public and parochial schools starting Oct. 19.

All children in kindergarten, second, fifth and eighth grades are eligible to participate in the program. No pre-school children will be taken.

The program by dentists was started last year after a state legal opinion ruled the treatment of teeth by school hygienists. In its place, the Plymouth Assn. of Dentists took on the program by donating part of their time each week to help supervise the program.

IT TOOK $17 worth of facial tissues to make up the flowers that went into this float that carried the PHS Homecoming candidates in last Friday night's parade to the football field. Crowned queen at the half-time ceremony was

Homecoming 1961 couldn't have been more successful with 10 times as much planning, cooperation and hard work. Nearly everyone wore blue and white, the pep assembly was peppy, lots of grads made it back to their alma mater, the bonfire was a success, there wasn't any trouble with the parade (all the class cars were really great but were outshined by the senior float), the band was even better than usual. Carolyn Scott made a lovely and charming queen and we won the game over favored Allen Park.

Friday was color day, and the pep assembly was a mass of cheering kids in blue and white. The assembly featured Little Blue Victory, a couple of trees, a ferocious Allen Park Jaguar, an old grandmother, and the hero — the football team. As usual, the juniors and seniors beat the freshmen and sophomores in the competition cheer — despite being "greatly outnumbered," as the upperclassmen humbly explain.

The bonfire led off Friday night's festivities and was followed by the parade which wound through downtown Plymouth. The lead car carried the "Freshman Sweetheart," Kathy McIntyre, the sophomore class car came next with representative Sandy Popp and representative Faith Raycroft followed in the junior class car.

Next came senior representatives Mary Lou Argo, Michelle Bender, Helen Otwell and Carolyn Scott, who rode (although this writer is obviously prejudiced) the coolest — and most original — senior float ever. Graham Warner and John Stone headed the committee which designed and built the really stunning float — an all-white tissue flower concoction (can you imagine making $17 of Kleenex into flowers!) which featured a miniature football field complete with real grass, goal posts, lines and two white footballs with the numbers 6 and 2 on them. This, the Class of '62 will never forget!

During the half-time ceremonies, the representatives, introduced by Mayor Jim Kropf, walked across the field through a spotlighted crown formed by the band. Football co-captains Dave Gohard and Jim Dart then crowned lovely Carolyn Scott as 1961 Homecoming queen. Carolyn, a varsity cheerleader and vice-mayor of the school, loves all sports and music and has undoubtedly the most famous — and sparkling — smile in PHS.

Victory parties followed the game and — as they say NEVER to say — everyone went home tired but happy.

Band members probably felt the effects of the night before more than anyone else, as they struggled out of bed early Saturday morning to attend the University of Michigan's Band Day. Sleepy or not, it

Sculptor Opens New Lecture Series Here

Thursday night this week (Oct. 5) marks the debut of a new lecture series for Plymouth and surrounding communities. Detroit sculptor Walter Midener, director of the Society of Arts and Crafts, will open the "Plymouth Listening Post" series with "The Creative Artist in American Life," a talk about sculpture and the sculptor, at 8:30 p.m. in the Plymouth High School auditorium.

The lecture is one of three scheduled for the season by the Plymouth Branch of the American Assn. of University Women, which includes many members from Northville and Livonia. The A.A.U.W. is assisted by "Detroit Adventure."

Talking of the artist in America, Midener will give his audience a visual as well as descriptive insight into sculpture as an art, as he brings along five pieces of his work and some of his sculptor's tools. The wood carvings, wax sculptures and terracottas will be displayed and spotlighted on the stage of the high school auditorium.

Born in Germany, Midener came to the United States in 1938 and has been an American citizen since 1943. His schools include the Humanistic Gymnasium - Abitur, the Berlin Academy of Fine and Applied Arts, and Wayne State University, where he received a master of arts degree in 1950.

He has been an instructor in wood and stone carving in the Henry Street Settlement in New York City, a visiting instructor in sculpture at the Cleveland Institute of Arts, and since 1946, head of the Seminary Opens Doors to Public This Sunday

The annual "Open House for the Lait" at St. John's Provincial Seminary will be held on Sunday afternoon Oct. 8, from 1:50-3:30 p.m. During this period, seminarians will act as guides, conducting tours through the various buildings and explaining the studies and training required of young men who are preparing for the Catholic ministry throughout Michigan.

The seminary, located at the corner of Five Mile and Shelden Roads in Plymouth Township, was dedicated 12 years ago, on Oct. 13, 1949. A joint project of the five Catholic dioceses of Michigan, it is considered one of the finest seminary compounds in the United States.

During the present scholastic year, there is a record enrollment of 225 seminarians in the final stages of their training. Since its inception, St. John's has seen almost 400 of its alumni ordained to the Catholic priesthood for work in Michigan.

The faculty and students are particularly eager that large numbers of their neighbors — Catholic and non-Catholic — will take this opportunity to visit and inspect this institution which ordinarily they see only from a distance.

Furniture Display Turned Into Lake

A broken water service pipe flooded the basement level of Schrader's Home Furnishings on Penniman Ave. last Saturday night, causing damage to dozens of pieces of new furniture on display.

Water had already risen three inches deep in the basement when it was discovered by accident early Sunday morning. Al Minehart, who is employed by Schrader's and arrived at the adjoining Blunk's store to help his former employer in their move to a new location on Starkweather.

Needing a screwdriver, he went to the workshop in the Schrader's basement and found the basement flooded. Other employees were hastily called and the City Water Department shut off the flow. Sunday was spent by a large crew of store employees and others bailing out and removing furniture from the flooded area.

Protests Court Limitation Act

A new state law preventing out-county people from filing civil cases against Detroit residents in local municipal or justice of the peace courts is being protested by the Plymouth City Commission in the form of a resolution.

The new public acts (Nos. 98 and 99), which went into effect last month, would require non-residents of Detroit to file cases in Detroit's Common Pleas court if the defendant lives in Detroit.

Plymouth has joined Wyandotte and several other out-county communities which have protested the new state act. Edward Dragulis, Plymouth's City attorney, reported Monday night that he has polled local attorneys and found that they too object to the public acts.

As an example, a Plymouth merchant who wanted to file suit against a Detroit resi-

Detroit Water Coming Soon To Township

With the arrival of Detroit water expected sometime later this month, three more miles of water mains were ready for use this week on 10 more Plymouth Township streets.

The pumping station on Eckles Rd. is being completed this month for receiving Detroit water. A ceremony is expected to take place as the valve is turned, allowing Detroit water to flow into the Township system. After that, the Township wells will be used only on a stand-by basis.

Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, Township treasurer and head of the Water Department, announced that the following streets now have water mains ready for tap-in by household-

Symphony Still Seeks Memberships

Memberships in the Plymouth Symphony Society are still available. It was announced at an Executive Board meeting last week.

Mrs. Ralph Snoke, membership chairman, reports that the membership drive, which began in the spring, has not reached its goal and since nearly 60 per cent of the budget comes from this source, the drive is being continued through the fall.

Memberships are available in four categories: active, $7.50; supporting, $15; sustaining, $25; and patron, $50 and up. Checks should be made out to the Plymouth Symphony Society and mailed to P. O. Box 99, Plymouth.

The Symphony's 16th concert season opens Sunday, Oct. 15. Paul Olefsky, noted cellist, will appear with the 100-piece orchestra of which Wayne Dunlap is conductor.

There will be six concerts in the regular season — Oct. 15, Nov. 19, Dec. 10, Jan. 28, March 4 and April 8. All concerts are held in the Plymouth High School Gymnasium at 4 p.m. and are open to the public without charge. There will be baby sitter service.

Besides sponsoring the 100-piece orchestra, the Symphony Society supports a Junior Symphony Orchestra, gives Interlochen Music Camp scholarships to promising young musicians and distributes free tickets (approximately 200) for the Detroit Symphony's Saturday Morning Children's Concerts held throughout the winter.

Symphony Board officers are Robert Webber, president; Mrs. Snoke, vice-president; James Taylor, treasurer and Mrs. Frederick Foust, secretary. Directors are Tom Kelly, Mrs. Fred J. Beitner, Charles Stoffko, Dave Mather, Mrs. Robert F. Anderson, Mrs. John W. Moehle, Miss Margaret Wilson and Robert Mares. Mrs. Charles E. Chaires is Women's League representative to the Board.

NEWS BEAT

A Look Magazine photographer and writer were in town last weekend to do a picture story on the Plymouth band and one of its members, Jo Mecklenburg, preparing for the Band Day at the U of M. Photographed were the band rehearsals, students eating in the cafeteria, Friday night's Homecoming events, the band boarding the bus Saturday morning and actual participating in the mass band concert. Jo, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Mecklenburg of Koppernick Rd., was selected from three candidates. Some 3,000 photographs were taken, the photographer reported.

WINS AGAIN: The City of Plymouth's Annual Report issued a year ago for the 1959-60 year, won first place in a Michigan Municipal League contest. The report has been a first or second place winner in the 5,000 to 10,000 population category for many years. Mayor Robert Sincok accepted the award at the League's annual meeting in Mackinac Island. The 1960-61 Annual Report is now being prepared.

BIG NIGHT: Last Friday night's homecoming game was one of the biggest affairs held here. A crowd estimated at 2,600 jammed the field to make it a stand-up game for many. The enthusiasm was at high pitch and the confetti spread throughout the downtown the next morning was sure evidence that Plymouth won the battle.

POLICE BEAT: A City dump truck was stolen Saturday night from the City yard on Junction Ave. Police said that a headlight was broken out of another truck which was backed up first, then the 1958 truck was rammed through a fence. Monday morning a Wayne resident called City Hall to find out if the City was missing a truck. Police believe it had been taken by an escapee from DeHoCo. Sixty-nine-year-old Oran Nichols told police he beat off three young men who attempted to attack him as he was walking to his home on Kellough last Thursday night. Police had to call the County medical examiner Friday when Harry Mills, 60, of 413 N. Harvey, was seen through a window slumped in a living room chair. Mr. Mills, who lived alone, had died following an illness of two years.

ON THE ROAD: A group of men have been at work throughout the year attempting to organize a YMCA for Plymouth. The chairman, James Garber, has announced that incorporation of the YMCA has not been approved. Plays, Lectures, Music, Films to Keep Us Busy

Take Your Pick — Big Season Ahead

Those long, cold winter days ahead can be made shorter if one wants to keep busy attending a growing list of events that organizations are planning for Plymouth people.

What is probably the most busy schedule of events ever planned in the Plymouth area lies ahead during the next seven months as a growing number of organizations stage public programs.

Plays, symphony concerts, two lecture series and a travelogue series are already announced for the season. Several of them will begin during the next few weeks.

The American Association of University Women's series, Listening Post, gets underway tonight (Thursday) with Dr. Walter Midener, internationally noted sculptor. Their three-program series will continue Jan. 31 with Dr. and Mrs. Fred Dohrs, geographer and artist, who will talk on "The Soviet's Use of Their Land."

Ending the series on March 6 will be an informative speaker on a current international situation. The programs will be at the High School with proceeds going to the AAUW's Fellowship Program. Season tickets are $4.

Another lecture series is the Northville Town

Hall Series, in which a number of Plymouth women are involved in the planning. This opens Oct. 19 with John Mason Brown, editor of the Saturday Review. The series will also have Madame Ginette Spanier, director of the House of Balmain, on Nov. 15; Anthony Wedgewood Benn, British political columnist, on Jan. 18; Ian Ross MacFarlane, authority on Africa, on Feb. 13; and Bennett Cerf, publisher and TV panelist, on April 3.

For those who like music, the Plymouth Symphony will again offer six free concerts during its 16th season. They open the season Sunday, Oct. 15 with Paul Olefsky, cellist.

Other concerts are Nov. 19, William Boot, pianist; Dec. 10, the annual Christmas concert with the Civic Chorus; Jan. 28, the annual Family Concert; March 4, Louis Stout, horn soloist; and April 8, the Severno Ballet. All concerts are at 4 p.m. in the High School Gym.

And for those who would rather see a good play, the Plymouth Theatre Guild is preparing for another active season. Three comedies will be spotlighted this year on the High School Auditorium stage, opening with "The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker" playing later this month.

The 14th season will also offer "The Biggest Thief in Town" and "The Curious Savage." Season tickets can be purchased for $3.

Latest entry in the season's whirlwind of activity is the Travelogue Series sponsored by the Plymouth Lions Club. The six films will be narrated by some well-known names to those who view adventure programs on TV.

The new series starts Oct. 28 with Stan Midgley and his film, "Colorado—Today and Yesterday." Others are Nov. 18, Sasha Siemel, "White Hunter of Brazil"; Jan. 13, Len Stuttman, "Africa"; Feb. 17, Capt. Irving Johnson, "The Yankee Sails Across Europe"; March 10, Julian Gromer, "Canada Coast to Coast"; and March 31, Dennis Glen Cooper, "The Wonders of Michigan."

Tickets for this series are on sale at $5 for adults and $4 for students.

In addition to the "series" types of programs, many organizations offer single programs for the public during the year.

Hundreds who like to participate in activities themselves are keeping busy at least one night a week in the Adult Recreation and Education Department courses.

Local Women Help Christian College Drive

Over $3,000 was placed in the treasury of Michigan Christian College by the Women's Associates after their annual fair, Sept. 23, held on the college campus at Rochester, Mich.

Michigan Christian College, established in 1959, recently became accredited. The Women's Associates, with membership of 1,400 are among those supporting the progress of Christian education. Their contribution last year was $27,218.61. The fair has brought this year's contribution to over $8,000.

Plymouth's group was appropriately dressed as Pilgrims, sold toys and gas-filled balloons. Other booths included an Oriental tea room, German village, pony and fire engine rides, homemade cakes, pies, bread and candies.

A total of 48 booths helped supply the ever-present needs of a growing college. Future projects by Plymouth's group include a rummage sale and selling of net Christmas trees.

Fourteen months after its introduction, one out of every four homes in Victoria State, Australia, had a television set — an estimated total of 100,000.

Mrs. David L. Long

Newlyweds Live in Kalamazoo

A Northern Michigan honeymoon followed the Sept. 10 afternoon, double ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church in Ypsilanti that united Wilma Lynn Wright and David Lawrence Long. Rev. William Shaw and Rev. Claremont Hoyt officiated.

The bride, coming down the aisle of her father who gave his daughter in marriage, wore a floor-length, princess style gown of white Chantilly lace. The long sleeves of the dress ended in tapered points at the wrist. A satin bow and tulle ruffles provided back interest. Her silk illusion veil was held secure by a tiara of seed pearls and sequins. White roses entwined with streamers were placed on the white Bible she carried.

Mrs. Cecil T. Johnson of Ypsilanti, a sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her full-skirted, street-length frock was fashioned of yellow-gold brocade with a rounded cummerbund at the waist. The tiny crown and veil she wore matched the dress and she carried yellow roses and carnations.

Bridesmaids were Ann Long, Kathy White and Karen West. Their dresses of aqua brocade were similar to that of Mrs. Johnson's and the bouquets they carried were made up of yellow roses and aqua tinted carnations. Connie Hawks was flower girl.

Terry C. Wright was best man while Jerry Weston, Roderick Wright, Louie Wright and Edward Wright seated the guests. Robert Yoakam was ring bearer.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Wright chose a mauve lace dress with matching accessories. Mrs. Long, the groom's mother, was dressed in beige lace with matching accessories. Both mothers had rose corsages.

Approximately 200 guests attended the reception held in the social hall of the church. They came from Kalamazoo, Port Huron, Hastings, Wayne, Plymouth, Ann Arbor, Ypsilanti, Willis and Grass Lake.

Mrs. Edward Wright was in charge of the guest book, Mrs. Rudy Heidenrich served punch and Mrs. Ida Yoakam poured coffee. Mrs. Cecil Johnson made and decorated the six-tier wedding cake. Highlight of the decoration was white satin ribbon stairs leading to the bride and groom figures on top. Lighted tapers were on the bottom layer. Mrs. Robert Gersabeck served the cake, and Miss Kathy Gersabeck, Mrs. Roderick Wright and Mrs. Terry Wright were at the gift table.

The bride, a graduate of Plymouth High, is now a sophomore at Western Michigan University. The groom graduated from Central High in Kalamazoo and has attended Western Michigan. He is now employed by K.V.P. Sutherland Paper Co., of Kalamazoo.

The newlyweds will make their home at 3116 Whittier in Kalamazoo.

Shirley Austin - Robert Roe Speak Vows at White Altar

Shirley Joyce Austin and Robert John Roe exchanged their wedding vows at an evening ceremony Aug. 28 before an altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and carnations and candelabrum. White gladioli and leaves graced the railing.

Rev. Patrick Clifford of the Calvary Baptist Church and Rev. Blake Hunt from the Milan Baptist Church officiated at the rites.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk taffeta gown. The scalloped, scoop-neck, fitted lace bodice tapered to a V over the waistline. Shirred lace sleeves and iridescent sequins and seed pearls trimmed the neckline. The bouffant skirt was accented with a lace insert at the back and fell into a chapel train. Her small headpiece of rose petals, trimmed with seed pearls and rhinestones, held her bouffant illusion veil. Her bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis was centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Eddy Thompson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Her gown was of rose silk organza over pink taffeta. The bodice featured short sleeves and a scoop neckline. The bouffant skirt was caught in back with a satin rose and matching satin rose held her nosetip veil.

Bridesmaid Mrs. Wayne Kramer of Livonia wore the same shade gown as the matron of honor, while bridesmaids Mrs. John Baltes, of Plymouth and Mrs. Ted Heath, Jr., had gowns of pink. Junior bridesmaids Betty Jean Pribyl, a cousin of the groom, and Donna Roe, sister of the groom, were gowned in pink organza over eggshell taffeta.

Ted Heath, Jr., of Milan, was best man. Joe Tomecek, a cousin of the groom from Milan, Dick Roe of Deerfield, brother of the groom, and Jerry BuBois of Milan ushered. Junior ushers were Frank Buchta of Milan and Raymond Roe, another brother of the groom.

Mother of the bride, Mrs. Elmer E. Austin, wore a pink brocade silk sheath with bone accessories and a corsage of pink carnations and rosebuds. The groom's mother, Mrs. Elria Roe, chose a blue embroidered silk organza over taffeta sheath with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations and rosebuds.

The reception for 200, held in the church parlors, followed the ceremony. Guests were present from California, Detroit, Clinton, Dearborn, Milan, Deerfield, Holland, Lansing, Flint, Garden City, Ann Arbor, Dundee, Plymouth and Livonia.

For their wedding trip to Niagara Falls, Connecticut and New York City, the new Mrs. Roe wore a turquoise and white suit with white accessories.

Mrs. Roe, a graduate of Plymouth High and Cleary College, is employed as a secretary at Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. in Ann Arbor. Her husband, a graduate of Milan High, is attending Detroit Bible College and is employed by Northwestern YMCA in Detroit.

The couple will make their home on Maple St., Plymouth.

Panel Featured At Association For Disturbed Children

The Hawthorne - Northville Chapter of the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children is meeting Tuesday, Oct. 10 at 8 p.m. at Hawthorne Center.

There will be a panel discussion with Judge James Lincoln of Wayne County Juvenile Court, Dr. Ralph Rabenovich of Hawthorne Center, and James Casebere, principal of Riley Junior High in Livonia.

They will discuss "The Role of the Court, the School and the Hospital in Serving the Emotionally Disturbed Child." The meeting is open to the public.

Town Hall Opening Day Draws Near

Plymouth people contributing to the success of the area-wide Northville Town Hall Series include Mrs. Margaret R. Hough, Mrs. R. D. Willoughby, Mrs. Harvey N. Deyo and Judge James H. Sexton.

Mrs. Hough has been appointed to the Board of Awards, which will select charities from the Plymouth, Farmington, Livonia, South Lyon and Novi areas to receive one-third of the proceeds of the area-wide activity.

Mrs. Willoughby and Mrs. Deyo are members of the general committee and have been engaged actively in the organization of the series. They will also serve as hostesses at the Speaker's Luncheons at Lofty's Arbor-Lill.

Judge Sexton will introduce Ian Ross MacFarlane, foreign correspondent and authority on Africa at the Feb. 15 lecture.

The morning series opens at 11 a.m., Oct. 19, with John Mason Brown at the P & A Theatre in Northville.

Season ticket reservations for the five lecture series can be made by mail to Box 93, Northville, or by telephoning FI 9-1443.

Speaker's Luncheon reservations, either singly or for groups, are made to Box 93, Northville, or by telephone, FI 9-1829.

William Schill to Speak At Riverside Coin Club

William Schill will be the guest speaker at the semi-monthly meeting of the Riverside Coin Club this evening (Thursday). His subject will be the grading of coins. This is one of the most controversial subjects in the realm of numismatics.

Schill comes well qualified for his talk. He has been an outstanding coin collector in Detroit for many years, and at present he and his brother Earl run a coin and hobby shop in Detroit. Proper grading of coins is an important phase of coin collecting because of the value of a coin or collection is contingent upon the condition.

Anyone interested in knowing more about coins is invited to attend this evening's meeting which will be held in the Plymouth American Legion Hall on Sheldon Rd., Meeting time is 8 p.m. on the first Thursday and 3 p.m. on the third Sunday of every month. Refreshments will be served after the meeting and Schill will be available for questions and discussion.

Senior Citizens Card Party Is Hailed as Success

A card party held by the Senior Citizens of Plymouth on Sept. 28 was hailed as a great success. Those who attended from out-of-town were from Northville, Wayne, Livonia, Redford and Detroit. The Senior Citizens offered their "thanks" to all of those who helped make the affair a success — those who donated baked goods, aprons and other useful items, along with the door and table prizes.

The next meeting will be a business session on Thursday, Oct. 5 at 1 p.m. in the Masonic Temple.

Jean's Jottings

JEAN CAMPAU, WOMEN'S EDITOR

"The world is a book and he who stays at home reads only one page."

The converse of this adage could hardly apply to Plymouth ladies, for they are surely not dull, limited or inactive. A case in point is Mrs. Louis Norman of 41681 E. Ann Arbor Trail.

As a member of the Plymouth Grange she spent Saturday, Sept. 27 attending the State Grange baking contest finals in East Lansing.

The recipe itself, says Mrs. Norman, was given to her by a friend who, in turn, received it from relatives. The ladies think it probably originated in Tennessee or Kentucky.

Members and guests gathered at Fox Hills last Thursday for their annual 'Doe Day' caper. This event is the distaff rebuttal to Stag Day.

Many of the gals, dressed in zany outfits, braved the brisk breezes to get in some golf before luncheon and the array of prizes awarded for various categories of costume and golf.

Bernice Sawyer would have been a natural addition to the inner sanctum of any professional clown conclave.

In white theatrical grease paint, black yarn wig, straw hat, serape and red slippers Mrs. Sawyer was a shoo-in for both the funniest and most original costume prizes.

Another well-known Plymouthite, Hazel Sessions, received prize recognition as 'most modest' for her retiring outfit.

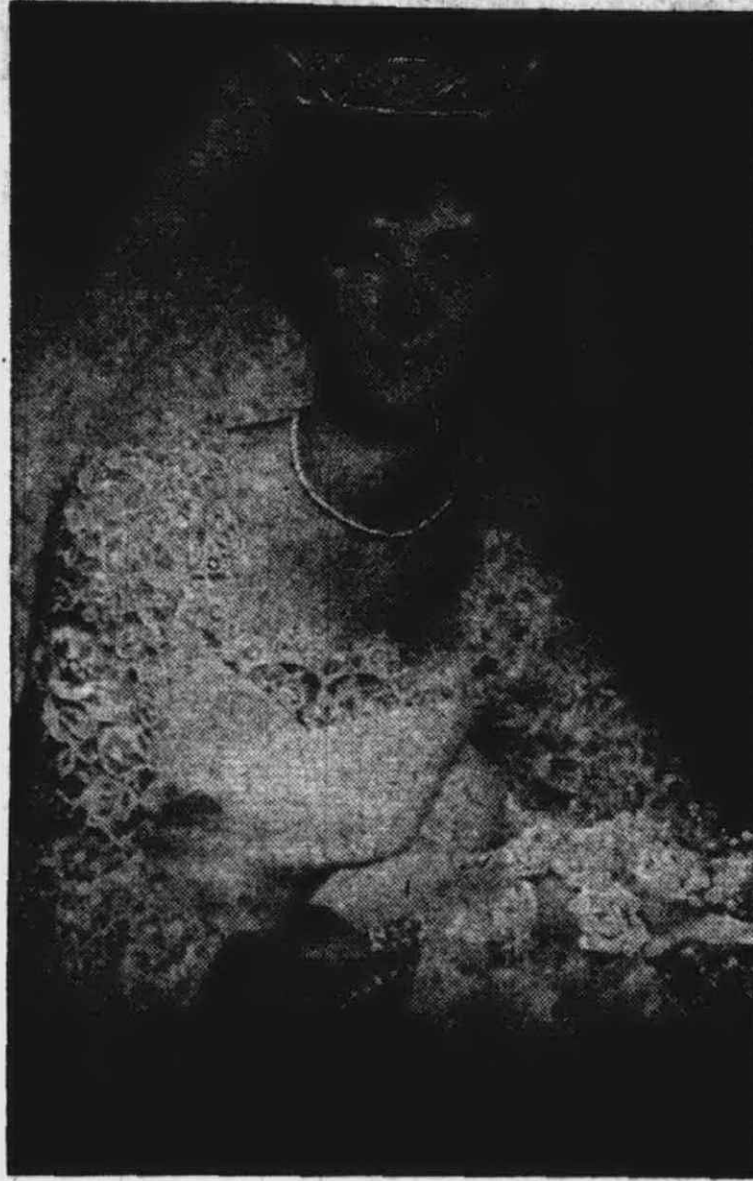

It was a day for levity but it did have its moments of gravity as well, interlaced in the fabric of feminine conversation.

The world around us is ever with us and women wearing the many hats that they do in this electric era manage to be well informed on a kaleidoscopic range of topics.

The interested and interesting ladies of the day cannot be considered a dull page in anyone's book.

KICKING OFF the Rotary-Anns first meeting of the season is Mr. Gordon Moe of American T. and T. who described to the ladies an up to the minute report on NORAD, America's and Canada's efficient Defense Command in Colorado Springs.

Evening Ceremony Unites Laura Bell and Jerry Lester

Looking lovely in a rose lace street-length dress with fitted bodice, three-quarter sleeves and bouffant skirt edged in natural scalloped lace and a band of peau de soie at the waistline, Laura A. Bell and Jerry F. Lester repeated their wedding vows at the First Baptist Church, Sept. 18. Rev. Williams officiated at the evening ceremony. Gracing the altar were candelabra and bouquets of white gladioli.

The bride carried a bouquet of white rosebuds and orchids as she came down the aisle on the arm of her father, Mr. Boon E. Bell, who gave his daughter in marriage.

Mary Bell, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a shrimp colored street length dress with matching head band and carried a bouquet of Fuji mums.

Judy Boyd and Patricia Lester were bridesmaids and were dressed identical to the maid of honor.

Robert Malinowski, was best man, while brothers of the bride, Lavoy, O'Neil and Wilford Bell seated the guests.

Mrs. Bell, chose a champagne colored brocaded dress with gold accessories for her daughter's wedding. Her corsage was of white carnations tinted with pink.

The reception immediately following was held in the church parlors for the 65 guests who came from Saginaw, Plymouth, Northville and Orchard Lake.

For her going away costume the new Mrs. Lester wore a beige sheath dress with gold accessories and brown matching shoes and handbag.

The groom is stationed at Wurtsmith Air Force Base in Oscoda.

The newlyweds will make their future home in Plymouth.

BIRTHS

Mr. and Mrs. William Taft of Northville announce the birth of a third child, a son, William John was born Sept. 22 at St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor and weighed 8 lbs., 6 ozs. at birth. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Taft of Northville and Mr. and Mrs. John VanAken of Plymouth.

Lawrence James was born Oct. 1 at St. Mary Hospital and weighed in at 7 lbs., 4 ozs. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Finney of Marlyn St. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Finney of Arthur St.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Hughes, of Canton Center Road became the parents of a baby girl born Sept. 25 at St. Mary Hospital. The new baby, Regina Kay, weighed 7 lbs., 10 ozs. at birth. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hughes of Flat Rock and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Banta of Plymouth. Mrs. Hughes is the former Helen Kay Banta.

Annalee Stewart Speaks Friday At Peace League

Residents of the Northville-Plymouth area with an interest in international relations are invited to hear Mrs. Annalee Stewart, national legislative secretary of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, speak on "A Constructive Foreign Policy for the Space Age" at 8 p.m. Friday, Oct. 6, in the vocal room (C-8) of Plymouth Junior High School.

Mrs. Stewart is a lively and charming speaker with a background in education and religion. She is the wife of Dr. Alexander Stewart of the Division of National Missions of the Methodist Church, and is herself an ordained Methodist minister. She is the only woman in the history of Congress to have served as guest chaplain of the House of Representatives. She has traveled throughout the U.S., Europe and Palestine, and has made seven trips to Europe since the close of World War II.

In her position as national legislative secretary for the WILPF, Mrs. Stewart, a registered lobbyist, has her office in Washington, D. C. She has daily many interviews with Congressmen, officials of the State Department and other government departments and foreign embassies. This contact work in Washington has provided her with a tremendous backlog of information with which she develops and supports her discussions.

This meeting opens the 1961-62 program year of the Northville - Plymouth Branch of the WILPF. Officers for this year are president, Mrs. Paul Kauffman and vice-president, Mrs. Sheldon Blackman, both of Plymouth; secretary, Mrs. Rodney Grover, and treasurer, Mrs. Cy Frid, both of Northville.

Rocks Win Homecoming Game, 12-6

Line Play Provides Edge; Gilles' Long Runs Give Lift

Diminutive halfback Brian Gilles and his fellow Plymouth Rocks felled the Allen Park goliath last Friday 12-6 before an enthusiastic homecoming crowd.

Gilles stunned Allen Park the first time Plymouth got its hands on the ball. Early in the first period he took an Allen Park punt on the Plymouth two yard line, and hustled 68 yards to the Allen Park 30.

Plymouth failed to score however, when tackle Jim Gavigan's field goal attempt went wide and low from the six yard line.

Later, Gilles again pounced on the Jaguars. On the second play from scrimmage after another punt, Gilles threaded through left tackle. He broke clear and ran 47 yards before being hauled down on the Jaguar eight yard line.

Two plays later, quarterback Dick Schryer went straight ahead to score from the four. A pass from center sailed over the place-kicker's head and Plymouth settled for a 6-0 lead.

Allen Park came right back early in the second period to move 74 yards in eleven plays. The score came on an 18 yard pass from quarterback Firek to end Chumita, who leaped clear of two Rock defenders in the end zone.

Firek's kick was wide and the score was 6-6.

The Jaguars drive was aided by an intelligent play by quarterback Firek. When a fourth down center sailed over his head, he chased the ball, ran to his right and kicked for 25 yards on the run. Allen Park recovered for a first down and kept going to score.

The Jaguar drive set the stage for an exciting last half. There was no further scoring in the first half.

Close, tough line play was the highlight of the third quarter, as neither team was able to get going. There were five punts in the quarter.

As the fourth period began, Plymouth downed a punt on their own 43. On the second play from scrimmage, there was that man again.

Unnoticed on the 15 yard line, Gilles clutched a Schryer pass from the Allen Park 49 and went untouched into the end zone.

The play covered 49 yards and Schryer played his role calmly. He waited in the "pocket" of protection, finally ran out to his right and at the last second spotted Gilles clear. Plymouth fans roared.

Gavigan's kick was blocked this time, and Plymouth led 12-6 with 10 minutes left.

It wasn't over by any means, but the Plymouth defense put on quite a show for the rest of the game. Co-captain Jim Dart flipped a loose halfback completely over with a jolting head-on tackle at one point.

Quarterback Firek, halfback Trahey and end Chumita were ever dangerous with quick, sharp passing combinations. And Plymouth couldn't relax when the Jaguars had the ball.

With a first down on their own 38, Allen Park had 1:58 left when Rock end Dan Stremick came up with a key defensive play.

He jumped passed a blocker to drop Firek for a seven yard loss on the 31.

Plymouth finally got the ball, and time ran out a little later. Hoben said earlier in the season that the Rocks would be "pesky". They were that, at least.

THE JUNIOR High School's young chief executives took part last week in the Michigan Junior High School Student Council Conference at the U of M. Pictured as they left for Ann Arbor are Randy Williams, vice-president of the Student Council; John Hannula, president; Kay Hannula, treasurer; and in the back, Mrs. Joan Hayskar, director of student affairs. The meeting theme was: "What Should Junior High School Student Councils Be Doing to Develop Leadership and Involvement of Students?"

SPORTSEEN

By Bill Nelson

"We're getting better", Plymouth High School's head football coach John Hoben said after last Friday's game in which his Rocks dumped a good Allen Park team, 12-6.

That ranks high as something of an understatement.

Two weeks ago after the opening 19-0 loss to Northville, Plymouth fans girded themselves for a lean season. Against Farmington in their home opener, the Rocks rebounded to win that one 26-7.

It set the stage for last week's Suburban Six opener with Allen Park, one of the teams favored to win the league title. A goodly number gathered to see for themselves.

After the festivities were concluded, many possessed something more than a faint hope that this team may surprise a lot of teams as the weeks pass by.

Hoben said it another way. "Any team can win it," he said, "But we must keep improving with every game."

The coach took special comfort from the play of his line. "It was a team effort," he said, "and the line played a tough game. It was rough all the way, but we were still playing hard in the last quarter." Allen Park seemed to sag a little then.

Plymouth's line, which played nearly the entire game, is made up of ends Dick Egloff, Dan Stremick, tackles Dale Houk, Jim Gavigan, Rick Sweet, guards Jarred Stevens, Jim Ayers and center Dave Gothard.

Jeff Huntington was in there often at guard and tackle. Co-Captain Jim Dart, who plays offensive end, played a strong game at defensive halfback.

In the backfield, fullback Mike Kisabeth and halfback Hugh Sarah were well bottled up by Allen Park's aggressive line play, but halfback Brian Gilles came through with some long gains. Dick Schryer matched Allen Park's quarterback in effectiveness.

Allen Park presented a dangerous offense and strong line play.

Meanwhile in the league, Bentley lost as did Belleville. Bentley, favored at the start of the season, has yet to win a game. Trenton and Redford Union are surprising everybody with good performances. RU has exhibited a potent offense in its first three games.

At this point, it looks like anybody's trophy. And Plymouth has a tough one behind it.

It's a nice way to start.

RU Upsets Bentley 19-0

Belleville, Plymouth's opponent at 8 p.m. this Friday at Plymouth High School, lost 26-6 to Trenton last week in their league opener. All of Plymouth opponent scores are listed below.

Redford Union 18, Bentley 0
Plymouth 12, Allen Park 6
Trenton 26, Belleville 6

Non-League
Walled Lake 28, Farmington 0
Northville 26, Bloomfield Hills 7

Runners Shutout AP

Allen Park supporters must be wishing today that they'd never seen Plymouth athletic teams this year. The Rock cross-country team shut them out with a perfect 15-50 score on their home course.

In addition, Plymouth's Byron Latta came within one second of the course record, as he turned in a 10:10 to lead the pack.

Tony Hunt was second with 10:12, only two seconds behind. Jim Griffith placed third (10:30), Bob Winterhalter was fourth (10:55) and Dennis Knapp, fifth (11:12).

While they didn't figure in the scoring (only the first five do), Dick Michaels was sixth and Dick Pankow was seventh. It was the second consecutive win for Coach John Sandmann's team.

Thursday (at 4 p.m.) they'll entertain Northville at Plymouth Riverside. Friday, they travel to Belleville for another 4 p.m. meet.

High Twelve Has Workshop

The first annual "workshop program" sponsored by the Michigan Assn. of High Twelve Clubs was held in Lansing, Saturday, Sept. 30.

Attending from the Plymouth High Twelve Club were president, Al Hubbs and secretary A. K. Brocklehurst.

The workshop was attended by over 100 Hi-Twelveans throughout the State of Michigan.

Hosts for the day were members of the Lansing High Twelve Club. Fred Chase, Secretary of the Michigan Senate was guest speaker.

An international organization, the clubs are comprised of members of the Masonic Order with the main objective to unite Masonry. One of the major programs of High Twelve International is to offer scholarship funds to the youth of America for international relations.

This Is Week To Write Letter, Says Postmaster

The 24th annual Letter Writing Week will be celebrated in Plymouth during the week of Oct. 1 to 7, it was announced today by Postmaster George Timpona.

Postmaster Timpona noted that a letter "is the most economical and personal way to extend greetings, communicate social news, and exchange ideas," the Postmaster said.

During Letter Writing Week Postmaster Timpona suggested that you write at least two letters: one to a friend or relative from whom you have not heard in a long time, and the second as a reply to a friend or relative who recently wrote to you.

Speaker Tells of Foreign Service Role

In a presentation last Thursday, Professor William W. Bishop summarized past and present U. S. policies in foreign affairs, looked briefly to future prospects, and finally outlined the variety of careers to be found in this field and the productive efforts with which the average citizen can and should contribute to better world relations.

The alert and attentive audience at this year's Worland Edge of Knowledge program contributed questions and discussion after the talk. The principal conclusion appeared to be that the United States needs more vigorous and imaginative personnel in the many agencies and organizations dealing with international relationships, to encourage a more positive approach to foreign affairs and free world leadership, in place of the defensive position which has been typical of our policy during recent years.

Although the President is constitutionally responsible for the administration of American foreign policy, and accomplishes this through the Secretary of State and his 20,000 employees in Washington and throughout the world, the actual content of our policy frequently arises from the citizenry, according to Professor Bishop. Constructive suggestions of citizens are given careful consideration by many government officials and by Congressmen and Senators, when presented by personal letter, but form letters are not as effective.

Special emphasis for future careers was placed by the speaker on "the great need for better work in journalism and other types of what we may call information activities, in the interpretation of America to other peoples and of other peoples to Americans." Careers in foreign trade are also of major future importance, as are those in education. Overcoming of general lethargy and lack of concern is a primary goal for both career personnel and the informed public.

Government careers in foreign affairs are to be found not only in the State Department, but in Agriculture, Commerce and Labor Departments, in the United Nations agencies, and in the various foreign aid programs for economic and technical rehabilitation of other countries.

In fact, said Prof. Bishop, the aspects of foreign affairs are so broad that representatives of practically every profession and every type of work are involved. It is probably the field with the greatest challenge of the future, both for personal achievement and for national and international physical and moral survival.

As President Kennedy said in his address to the United Nations, "Mankind must put an end to war, or war will put an end to mankind."

The Worland Edge of Knowledge program was started several years ago by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worland in memory of their son, Kim, who died of cancer at the age of eight. Since the Worlands moved to California earlier this year, friends here have continued the series.

Sunset District Installs New Officers at District Meeting

Installation of officers of the Sunset District, Boy Scouts of America, for the coming year, took place at the Wayne Ford Civic Center last Thursday evening. Ted Kuckelman, secretary of the Wayne Chamber of Commerce, conducted the ceremonies. The occasion was the annual Sunset District meeting, attended by more than 350 adult scouters and leaders.

Re-elected were: chairman, Phillip R. Ogilvie, Northville city attorney; vice-chairmen, Ken Humphrey, of Garden City and Richard Manz and Sam Spears, both of Livonia. Council representatives Horace Cooke (Garden City), Chris Hammond (Northville), and Chester Smith (Wayne) were re-elected. Elon Mickels, director of City Planning and Urban Renewal of Inkster, was elected to a first term.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of the Silver Beaver Award (Scouting's highest honor) to two of the Sunset District's adult scouters through the Detroit Area Council. The recipients of this award were Horace Cooke, of Garden City, and Edward Zopff of Livonia. This was in recognition of many years of service and dedication to Boy Scout work. A man cannot apply for the Silver Beaver. The award seeks the man and the names of those chosen are kept secret until the moment of presentation.

The names of members-at-large who had been elected for the coming year were announced also. Those elected from Plymouth were Fred Beitner, Marvin L. Sackett, John J. Huddleston and Kenneth Hulsing. These men, and the members who represent the many sponsoring institutions of Scout packs, troops and Explorer posts form the operating committees that make Scouting successful in this district.

Extension Club Elects Officers

The Allen Home Economics Extension Club sponsored by the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service, held their first meeting at the home of Mrs. Stanley Travis, Canton Center Road, on Monday, Sept. 25 at 7:30. After the new officers were installed by Mrs. C. W. Ferguson, Wayne County Council member; program books were made out for the ensuing year.

Eight new members were added to the membership list. The next meeting will be on Oct. 23 at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Busha, 1055 Beech St., Plymouth. Visitors are always welcome. You can learn to know what the Cooperative Extension Service has to offer you and your community by joining a Club or forming a new one. For more information call Wayne County Extension Agent, Mrs. Betty Barber. PA 1-6550.

THE MAIL ATTITUDE

By Paul Chandler

When Noah set out to build the Ark, as we understand it, the neighbors thought he was more than a little odd. There didn't seem to be any logical reason to build a boat; certainly it was not the fashion at the time.

Still, the good man did it and, in Biblical lore, his stout craft preserved the human race through the course of ultimate heavy rainstorms.

The old story comes to mind today in reading that America in the last few days has become extremely interested in the subject of fall-out shelters. In Livonia, the Mayor today asked a new committee to plow into the subject full-tilt and to make fast recommendations.

The idea of burrowing underground beneath concrete ceilings and walls is so foreign to the people of this land, the need for any such preparation is so hypothetical and unreal, that to talk of it is almost to be regarded as something of a strange fellow. Yet, the subject is upon us. Either the matter is real, earthy and practical, or it isn't worth thinking about at all and should be forgotten.

There hardly can be a middleground. It either makes sense to prepare for bombings here, or it is a foolish fear. And if the former is the case, the matter should be approached, full-speed ahead and let's get digging as a whole community with no delay whatsoever.

As we have noted on rare occasions before, the big decisions in our life rapidly are becoming ones of philosophy rather than of material, or practical, considerations.

Is it worthwhile to wipe out a substantial portion of the earth's human inhabitants over an argument about an "ideal" at Berlin? That, and nothing else, is the pivot on which the issue turns. Is it better to risk national suicide, than to chance national humiliation?

And those are nothing but philosophical questions. It has no relation to economics or "free access" to a city, or anything material.

Likewise, the decision on fall-out shelters has to be made on the basis of abstract thought, rather than real experience. No one knows whether they will save the American race or not, even if they are built. Foreign bombs never have fallen upon our country; hence, consideration of how to handle any kind of aerial attack falls into the area of pure theory when it is presented to residents who have only read or seen pictures of such things. There is no background, no personal history upon which to make a judgment.

Nonetheless, as the Mayor of Livonia has noted, the hour has struck when citizens must look straight at the issue and make a firm decision, one way or another.

As an individual, your editor has wavered between the two poles of thought for several years. One moment it seems logical to take all possible precaution to save human life, which means underground caverns, civil defense, huge government expenditures for survival measures, and so on.

Then again, the whole thing seems so big and staggering—and the odds of survival against modern weapons so slim—that it would appear the better part of wisdom just to chance it and let the decisions of life and death rest in Higher hands. And meanwhile to spend the days one at a time in the most honorable way we know.

The editor has swung back in recent days, along with many U.S. homeowners, it seems. It now seems our mortal duty to take every possible measure, right to the end, to preserve human life and to perpetuate the race.

And if, in the massive business of building shelters at the cost of billions of dollars, only a handful of human lives are saved... well, at least there will be a few seeds, possibly enough to multiply and keep human destiny alive.

This would mean that our local school and city officials, in Plymouth, Redford Township, and elsewhere should give the fall-out shelter subject a place of prime priority on their future agendas. It should become a real concern, not something in the misty haze of abstract theory. What are we doing to protect our sons and daughters, to the utmost of our ability, even as we do for them against other dangers which we better understand?

Fall-out shelters should be a part of future school planning, among other things. They should be built even if it seems strange, expensive and ghostly.

The justification and the reasoning offered scoffers and skeptics can be the story we cited at the outset.

Noah set the historical example.

Credit Union Moves Into New Harvey St. Quarters

From their small quarters in the Mayflower Hotel three years ago, the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union has just completed its third move to the attractive remodeled building at 500 S. Harvey.

The building contains some 3,000 square feet of area. Private loan counseling rooms are provided for the members' convenience. Large central facilities are included to give members easy transaction at the counter in an atmosphere of quiet and pleasant surroundings. Plenty of parking space is also available for the membership.

The Plymouth Community Credit Union was the former Daisy F.C.U. until the Bureau of Federal Credit Unions authorized a charter change and a broadening of their field of membership to cover the greater Plymouth community and their families. This was in 1958.

George Lawton, treasurer, reports that at time assets of the Credit Union were under $90,000, serving only 200 members. Today, assets are well over the million dollar mark and a membership of nearly 1,900 has been reached.

The Board of Directors include some of the outstanding citizens of Plymouth. Richard Wurga, president of the Credit Union, has Dr. A. E. VanOrnum serving as vice-president. Mrs. Lavena S. Hoffman is secretary and Board members include Clarence Moore, Donald Sutherland, Kenneth Way, Harold Guenther and Urey Arnold. George Lawton is treasurer.

For the past several years the Plymouth Credit Union has paid its shareholders, who are owners of the Credit Union, a 4 percent dividend on a semi-annual basis. Included in membership and part of the 4 percent dividend is life savings insurance, a unique benefit found only through credit unions. This is coupled with loan protection insurance and both are provided at no additional cost to the members.

The Board feels that these two services plus the 4 percent dividend and a dependable staff has made the credit union grow to what it is today.

Speak Easy Club Elects Officers

The first meeting of the current year for the Toastmasters Motor City Speak Easy Club was held on Sept. 25, at Hillside Inn, Plymouth. At this meeting the officers of the club were installed.

They are Mr. Jack Pritchard, president; Mr. Will Fenn, educational vice-president; Mr. Douglas Hewitt, treasurer; Mr. John Mohan, administrative vice-president; and Mr. Gordon Haymaker, secretary.

A Toastmasters Club is an organized group providing its members with opportunities to improve their abilities to speak in public, conduct meetings and develop their executive abilities.

Toastmasters International, a nonprofit, nonpartisan, nonsectarian educational organization has helped more than a half a million men through its program of self-expression and self-improvement.

Meetings of the Motor City Speak Easy Club are held every other week. The next meeting will be Oct. 9, 7 p.m., Hillside Inn.

Anyone interested in this type of training may contact Mr. John Mohan, GA 7-1122 or Mr. Will Fenn, GA 2-2548, for more information.

Arson Charged in Fire That Destroyed Big Barn

Examination will be held Oct. 9 in the court of Justice George Perry of Nankin Township in an arson case involving a Plymouth Township man who allegedly started the fire that burned a large barn to the ground last week.

Arrested by Sheriff's detectives was Allen Tillotson, 64, of 45261 N. Territorial Rd. Held on an arson charge, he stood mute in a hearing before Justice Perry and a plea of not guilty was entered for him. He was released on $500 bond pending the Oct. 9 examination.

tired, sat down and fell asleep as he smoked his pipe, he related. Heat from the fire woke him up, he continued, and he rode away instead of notifying Wheeler.

Detectives, however, believe that the fire was deliberately set and obtained a warrant for arson. The huge barn contained a few ducks, chickens and some hay. It was nearly destroyed when firemen arrived.

Fluoride

The fire happened early on the morning of Sept. 25 on a Sheldon Rd. property owned by a Detroit doctor. The home on the property is occupied by Smith Wheeler.

Detectives said that two C & O detectives who saw the blaze noticed Tillotson riding away on a bicycle. Detectives later went to Tillotson's home where they found wet clothing. (It had been raining.) Tillotson first denied any knowledge of the fire, but later admitted that he started the fire accidentally.

He stated that Wheeler had stolen some items from him last spring and that he went to the barn Sunday night looking for them. He got the cost per child for each treatment is $3. Children will be notified by their schools when the treatment will take place and when to bring money. It will take 12 weeks to complete the program.

Although the optimum amount of fluoride is now in the Plymouth City water, the Plymouth Assn. of Dentists feels the program is needed because children living outside the City do not drink the City water and fluoride ingested systemically does little to benefit presently-erupted teeth.

Last year, nearly 900 children were treated in the schools.

AMONG THE interesting program series being offered this season in Plymouth is a travelogue sponsored by the Lions Club. Six photographer-lecturers will appear during the season. Pic-

The sculptor has been represented in every Michigan Artists Show since 1946; in the Museum of Modern Art Traveling Show of 1950; at the Pennsylvania Academy in 1941, 1948, 1950, 1953, 1958 and 1960; the Whitney Museum Sculpture Annual, New York City, 1950, 1951, 1953 and 1955; the Metropolitan Museum, 1951; Cranbrook Museum, 1949; Detroit Institute of Art, 1949; Indianapolis, 1951; one man shows at the Detroit Artists' Market, 1953, and Barone Gallery, New York City, 1955; and a retrospective show, Huntington Woods, Grosse Pointe, in 1961.

The program for the Plymouth Listening Post for this year was planned by the A.A.U.W. with Dr. William Birenbaum, former director of "Detroit Adventure." After Dr. Birenbaum left Wayne State University to accept a new position, the program committee was assisted by Dr. Hamilton Stillwell, his successor, and director of Adult Education for the university. Mrs. John W. Moeihle is chairman of the Plymouth Listening Post committee, and Mrs. John H. Haas is chairman of the program committee.

A limited number of series tickets may still be available the night of the first lecture. These may be purchased at the door for $4 for the three lectures, or anyone interested may call Mrs. C. C. Wiltse, ticket chairman, at GL 3-4592.

In its 100 years, the nation's petroleum industry has produced more than 104 trillion dollars' of crude oil.

TWO TYPES OF DEALERS

I recently heard a dealer acquaintance who had moved from a very large city to a medium size place explain the difference between the two.

He summed it up by saying that in his large city dealership he rarely knew his customers personally and almost never met them socially. But since moving to a smaller center the opposite was now true - he seldom DOESN'T know the people who are buying from him. Quite a few on a first name basis and many as personal friends.

He admitted that he now felt compelled to be scrupulously honest with his customers for the obvious reason that if he ran his business any other way, word would soon get around and his business would suffer.

This basic truth about the car business accounts for the fact that a "wheel and deal" dealer, to use the trade slang, can't operate successfully in a small town or city. He must pull buyers from miles around, usually on a basis of misleading price ads or similar gimmick claims.

It logically follows that since he doesn't expect to see his customers again (the distance involved quickly discourages driving back for service or complaints) this type of dealer considers his out-of-town buyers fair game for every type of corner cutting that will squeeze an extra dollar of profit out of the sale.

If you deal out of your own town or city with this type of operator on the understandable desire to "save" a few dollars, you are likely to regret it, as thousands of buyers who have will testify.

from taxes. A number of Plymouth area people have been building shelters in both existing houses and in their new homes.

The resolution points out that existing tax laws in Michigan require fall-out shelters to be assessed on the tax roll "even though the very nature of fall-out shelters does not lend themselves to any use except for use as an emergency shelter... creating a hardship upon our citizens by forcing them to pay taxes on something they may never use."

It is noted in the resolution that such fall-out shelters must be used expressly for the purpose of civil defense.

New City Job

In other business before the Commission, authorization was given the City Manager, Albert Glassford, to take applications for a new position of Federal projects, coordinator. This job is required by the federal government for participating in the urban renewal project. The person would probably take on other duties involving other federal projects.

Subdivision Approved

Approval was given to two new subdivision plats. One is Arbor Croft Subdivision, located in the southwestern corner of the City, where Gould Homes will build 53 homes. The other is Riverside Drive Subdivision No. 3, the Garing Homes development that is both in the City and Township.

To Raze Buildings

Authorization was given to the manager to take bids to sell or raze four buildings in the Central Parking Lot area and pay balances on three contracts. The buildings include the Bronson and Richwine buildings and two homes. The projects involve the expansion of the Central Parking lot.

Protests Zoning

A protest was filed with the City Commission by a group of property owners along S. Main St. who want to sell their property for development. The Planning Commission, they say, has refused to rezone the rear 47 feet of the four lots involved from R-1 to C-2 commercial classification. This, in effect, "renders the property in accessible and unusable," the owners said.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

EDITOR: Now that our own children are back in school, we should pause for a moment and consider the fate of the some 500 children in Michigan state hospitals for the ADULT mentally ill and who are receiving inadequate education.

For example, close to home at the Ypsilanti State Hospital a basement corridor is a makeshift classroom. The 127 children there not only have poor schoolroom facilities but do not have enough teachers. Under these conditions a 15-year-old boy with good learning potentials may be dropped from further classroom education to make way for a 12-year-old who cannot yet read.

At Northville State Hospital there are 90 children in one building who have only three teachers when the very least number of teachers for these special education classes should be seven. There are 50 additional children scattered throughout the adult wards with no educational program available to them.

Pontiac State Hospital has a fully accredited school program for about 50 children. However, these children are housed in a condemned building and 95 more children in the hospital receive no education because the present facilities cannot be stretched to serve them all.

The many persons working with these children are dedicated but cannot carry out the proper programs without the necessary schoolrooms, equipment, and sufficient teachers. It would be wise for the parents of more fortunate children to lend their support to professional and parental groups who are seeking legislative appropriations for separate children's units at the state hospitals and for adequate staffing and educational programming for these "handicapped" children.

We know that these children can contribute to society if treated and not stored.

Achievers Form New Business At Local Center

New industrial firms with teenage executives and employees start operations in the Plymouth area next Monday in what is described as the nation's greatest mass induction of companies into the business world.

The small local firms are part of a world-wide network of Junior Achievement companies which will operate for seven months during the school year.

Junior Achievement companies are more than "paper corporations." They will follow an exact big business pattern as hundreds of part-time business teens elect officers, sell company stock for 50 cents and develop a product or service for the public. Lowry said approximately 180 teenagers will be employed by 10 JA companies in the Plymouth area this year. He added that over 8,000 teenagers are expected to join the organization in southeastern Michigan this year.

"Fanny" is a wonderful Motion Picture. Great entertainment that we can wholeheartedly endorse. However, Warner Brothers has insisted that theatres playing "Fanny" include it in their Saturday Matinee Programs. This we cannot agree to do. Rather than withhold the picture from our customers, while we establish our right to choose our own matinee features, we are dropping the Saturday Matinee during the "Fanny" playdate.

UF Drive Starts Oct. 17 in Canton

By Esther Sprengel
GL 3-0184

The electrical storm on Sunday the 24th sent Township firemen out on a hurried call to squelch a house fire caused by lightning. The firemen were also called to stand by Edison wires felled by the storm. Beck Rd. was blocked in several places by large trees which were hit by the storm and dropped over the road.

A joint birthday celebration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe King of Cherry Hill Rd., for Dale Larrick and Maxine King, who both celebrated their birthdays on Sept. 19. The other guests attending the festivities were Mrs. Ora Glass and family, J. C. Lee and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. McTurner and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Larrick and family. Dale and Maxine shared their birthday cake with the guests.

A report of proud parents comes from Mr. and Mrs. Al Wietecha of Beck Rd. The couple received word from their son, Albert, that upon completion of his pre-exam course he finds his grades averaging 90 to 92 per cent. Al is attending DeVrey Technical School in Chicago.

The Wietechas also anticipate a visit with their son in Chicago in the near future.

James Kaiser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Kaiser left Canton this week for his studies at Michigan State in Laning.

On Oct. 17, residents of Canton Township will again be approached to donate to the United Foundation Drive of Canton Township. As in past years, these solicitations will be followed by residents, neighbors and friends of Canton families. We hope that they will be received graciously by our residents.

Many questions have been presented to our volunteers in the past years. If they did not have the answer, the question was referred to their chairmen for the answer. Although most residents who work have already subscribed to the Foundation through their place of employment, this drive is held to give the lady of the house a chance to give her donation.

It is the hope of Mrs. Liz Variot, division chairman of Canton, that the ladies will be able to complete their door-to-door calls on Oct. 17. Canton Township's quota as yet has not been set, however, residents of Canton in past years have been generous in attempting to reach their quota.

It wasn't until my mother, Mrs. Ella Cross, and the children and I visited with Mrs. Joe McRannolds of Warren Rd. and her mother, Mrs. Emma Lehmbeck, who resides with Mrs. McRannolds, that I stopped to realize that the lady known to us as Aunt Emma is really my great-aunt and the children's great, great-aunt.

When we arrived we found this very jolly 80-some-year-old young lady busily embroidering on the front porch.

Today you hear so many mothers and young people state that children make them nervous, but to Aunt Emma kids are a lot of fun to have around, and the children seem to know this instinctively.

While making our visit, son Keith, who is still wrapped up with the Yankee and Rebel war, remembered a promise made him before going on his visit.

There is a small cemetery across from the McRannolds' home, which has been long forgotten by most, but has been restored to a great extent by Don McRannolds, Mrs. McRannolds' son. In that cemetery rest two Civil War soldiers. Their graves are marked and the place of battle recorded. This past year the veterans were reminded of these two soldiers' resting place and once again made their visit to honor these men. Most of the others resting in the small farm cemetery have been dead 100 years or more.

The markers are once again standing erect, the grass is cut and may once again draw the attention of persons interested in years gone by.

The Gallimore School's first PTA meeting drew approximately 95 parents to take part in the get-acquainted program. The guests for the evening, Mr. Russell Isbister and Dr. Bradner, both presented the group with interesting information for thought.

The Executive Board of the PTA plans to try a new type of program planning for Gallimore. Instead of the regular meeting each month, each grade shall have its individual meetings with teachers and parents, and the program for the evening will be planned by those teachers, and they will be assisted by their room mothers. This plan has been used in other Plymouth schools, and the executive board of the PTA hopes it will be successful at Gallimore.

The parents attending the meeting received a schedule of the year's PTA programs, their dates and time. If you were not at the meeting and have not received your program, it may be yours for the asking.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Clark of Cherry Hill Rd. are busily helping their daughter, Barbara, with her wedding plans. Barbara will become the bride of Pfc. David Henrickson of Detroit on Oct. 21, at St. John's Lutheran Church at Southfield and Grand River.

Following the church ceremony, a reception will be held at the bride's aunt's home, Mrs. Betty Mortzfeld, of 8090 Oporto, Livonia.

As the leaves come tumbling down and autumn casts a vari-colored cloak over our landscapes, you might be interested in a lovely spot where it's possible to relax, watch the workings of Mother Nature as the curtain goes up on this murky month. The Pokagon State Park, outside of Angola, Ind., is the exact location. It's only five minutes off the Indiana Expressway and about three hours drive from Plymouth.

Inside of that short lapse of time you are whisked away into literally another world. The Potawatomi Inn on beautiful Lake James is open all year 'round and provides activities for everyone. You can go just to relax or, meet other friends, hike, boat, fish, toboggan, ride the horses, etc. Meals are excellent. And most important of all, the price is moderate.

Old George and the wife dropped in at the Potawatomi Inn on our way over to Chicago a couple of weeks ago. It was our first visit, but let me guarantee you, it won't be the last. We stayed overnight, had three delicious meals, toured the grounds, and had an enjoyable morning boating. Cost: $14 for the 24-hour stay and all the pleasant fun we had.

Went into Chicago, but had little opportunity to see any of the shows that were playing there. Thought we might have had a chance to see "Medium Rare," a musical revue that's been running for over a year in Chicago's loop.

the starring role. It's a rare, wonderful film that will please the entire family.

"The Honeymoon Machine" follows "Fanny" at the Penn. You can put this laugh-filled motion picture on your "must see" list. It's the ancient tale of man trying to beat gambling devices. Only in this version more up-to-date methods are employed.

Specifically, an IBM computer is used to figure out an unbeatable system. "The Honeymoon Machine" opens on Oct. 8 for a three-day run. The Vanguard Theater continues with Sean O'Casey's

"Purple Dust." Warren Colston, Paula Jackson, and Mady Correll provide some exciting and hilarious moments during the evening. Any O'Casey play is a real test for a group of actors.

The Vanguard folks prove once again that they can tackle even the most difficult works of classic authors and give the audience an evening of entertainment. Hal George directed this fun fest and has every reason to be proud of his spritely production. Call WO 3-3863 for an evening downtown with the Vanguard players.

FOR ACHIEVING 1,000 days without a lost-time accident, employees of Gaylord Container Division of Crown Zellerbach Corp. were hosted at a luncheon in the plant on General Drive last week. The 1,000 days amounts to over 300,000 man hours of work. There has not been a disabling injury since the plant opened in 1958, according to Plant Manager John Minehart. The plant was also recipient of a citation from the U.S. Savings Bonds Division of the Treasury for having 52 per cent participation in the savings bond program. Randall R. Penhale, state representative for the division, made the presentation.

Goodwill Truck Comes Here Next Monday
The next visit of Goodwill Industries pick-up trucks to Plymouth is scheduled for Monday, Oct. 9. Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards. To arrange for a Goodwill Industries truck pick-up, call the local Goodwill representative, Maybury Men's Club.

Veterans of Foreign War's

Congratulations to our newest member, Alfred Campbell of Ann Arbor, who was taken in at our last meeting. Nov. 11 is Veterans' Day and a large parade is planned in Detroit. The Post color guard will be there carrying both the Post colors and the Fourth District colors. Commander Luttermoser is asking early for Post members to try to march in this parade to make a good showing for our post. This sort of thing can help in other veterans affairs, too. The department junior vice-commander, Ernie Strachuck, visited our meeting on Sept. 26. He is asking for volunteers for the Michigan Department VFW choral group, which is rapidly gaining a good reputation across the nation. Anyone with talent and desire, contact Commander Luttermoser. The choral group is putting on a variety show Nov. 5 at 3 p.m. at Cass Tech High School. For tickets for the event see Ray Danol, who is handling tickets for the group in this area. The Post Halloween dance will be held on Oct. 28 at the Post Hall. This is an annual event which has always been lots of fun with all the costumes, so come out and join in. All members and friends are invited. There will be a live orchestra for this dance.

V.F.W. Auxiliary
The annual Pow-Wow will be held in Flint this year Oct. 7 and 8. Several members are planning on going to the meeting on the 8th. Anyone who wants to go and needs transportation, please call Geraldine Olson, as there is still room available. Several members are signing up for the Civil Defense class again this year. Classes are held the first and third Wednesday of each month. This will be an advanced class and will be a wonderful opportunity for all those who took the class last year to further their education along this line.

Alpha Xi Delta To Meet Oct. 10

Local Alpha Xi Deltas will convene at the home of Mrs. Dean M. A. L. E. Y., 9459 Southworth, Plymouth, on Tuesday, Oct. 10 for the first of their fall program meetings. Mrs. Roberta Steele of Cadillac Draperies in Plymouth will speak on "Drapery Fabrics and Fashions." October is Michigan State University night for the group. All former members of the Beta Theta chapter of the sorority are especially invited, along with area members from other colleges and universities. Members are asked to bring usable discards for the rummage sale. Proceeds from the sale will be used to help furnish the new Alpha Xi Delta lodge at Albion College. Reservations for the meeting and dessert following may be called to Mrs. Fred Sigmon, GL 3-4458, or Mrs. John Hopkins, GL 3-5558. The territory of Wyoming was organized in 1868.

BIDS WANTED

Sealed proposals will be received by the City of Plymouth, Michigan, as Owner, until 3:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on Thursday, October 12, 1961, at the City Hall, Plymouth, Michigan, and then publicly opened and read.

No bidder may withdraw his proposal within 30 days after the date set for the opening thereof.

The right is reserved by the Owner to reject any or all proposals either in whole or in part, and to waive any irregularities therein.

The proposals are for the razing and disposal of:

(a) One frame house at 335 S. Harvey St., in Plymouth, Michigan. Contractor shall wreck or raze house on lot; all parts of house and excess debris shall then be removed from lot and disposed of in a manner and at a site agreeable to the City Manager, or his agent. After complete removal of the structure above the foundation, the foundation walls shall be removed to an elevation two feet below the existing grade and the entire basement excavation shall be backfilled to the existing grade with an approved sand backfill. Contractor shall be responsible for all wrecking and razing permits, fees, insurance and bonds as required by the City of Plymouth wrecking and razing of buildings ordinance and other ordinances and resolutions pertaining thereto. Address all bids to Joseph F. Near, City Clerk, City Hall, Plymouth, Michigan.

(b) One frame house at 343 S. Harvey St., in Plymouth, Michigan. Contractor shall wreck or raze house on lot; all parts of house and excess debris shall be removed from lot and disposed of in a manner and at a site agreeable to the City Manager, or his agent. After complete removal of the structure above the foundation, the foundation walls shall be removed to an elevation two feet below the existing grade and the entire basement excavation shall be backfilled to the existing grade with an approved sand backfill. Contractor shall be responsible for all wrecking and razing permits, fees, insurance and bonds as required by the City of Plymouth wrecking and razing of buildings ordinance and other ordinances and resolutions pertaining thereto. Address all bids to Joseph F. Near, City Clerk, City Hall, Plymouth, Michigan.

(c) One 16' x 20' frame garage, on rear of lot at 343 S. Harvey St. Contractor shall wreck or raze garage on lot and all parts thereof shall be removed from lot and disposed of in a manner and at a site agreeable to the City Manager, or his agent. Contractor shall be responsible for all wrecking and razing permits, fees, insurance and bonds as required by the City of Plymouth wrecking and razing of buildings ordinance and other ordinances and resolutions pertaining thereto. Address all bids to Joseph F. Near, City Clerk, City Hall, Plymouth, Michigan.

(d) One 50' x 81' masonry structure, known as the Bronson Building, near the rear of 857 Penniman Avenue. Contractor shall wreck and/or raze structure on lot, all parts of structure to be removed from lot and disposed of in a manner and at a site agreeable to the City Manager, or his agent. After the complete removal of the structure above the floor, the concrete floor shall be removed and disposed of. The foundation walls shall then be removed to an elevation two feet below the existing grade and the resulting excavations shall be backfilled with an approved sand. Contractor shall be responsible for all wrecking and razing permits, fees, insurance and bonds as required by the City of Plymouth wrecking and razing of buildings ordinance and other ordinances and resolutions pertaining thereto. Address all bids to Joseph F. Near, City Clerk, City Hall, Plymouth, Michigan.

(e) One 30' x 40' masonry construction structure on the south side of the alley, at the rear of 857 Penniman Ave. Contractor shall wreck and/or raze structure on the lot, all parts of structure to be removed from lot and disposed of in a manner and at a site agreeable to the City Manager, or his agent. After the complete removal of the structure above the floor, the concrete floor shall be removed and disposed of. The foundation walls shall then be removed to an elevation two feet below the existing grade and the resulting excavations shall be backfilled with an approved sand. Contractor shall be responsible for all wrecking and razing permits, fees, insurance and bonds as required by the City of Plymouth wrecking and razing of buildings ordinance and other ordinances and resolutions pertaining thereto. Address all bids to Joseph F. Near, City Clerk, City Hall, Plymouth, Michigan.

Note: Alternate bids will be taken for the purchase and moving of house at 335 S. Harvey St. and a house and garage at 343 S. Harvey St., advertised in this edition under a section entitled "For Sale."

Items (a) through (e) shall be completed by Dec. 31, 1961.

GAS the gentle GIANT

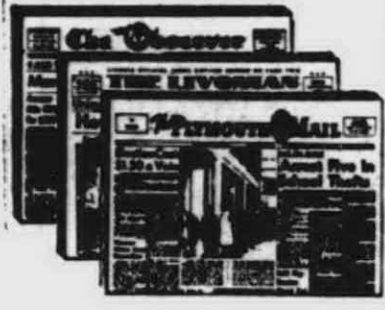

Most of Nature's energies, like the rain and the wind, are unreliable giants, heedless of man-made rules. One outstanding exception is Natural Gas!
Man surmounts many hazards and spends an untold amount of wealth searching for this "wonder fuel." Once he discovers it he treats it with great care—he guides and controls it from the well to the pipeline to the point of use. As a result, this invisible giant (Natural Gas) has become a gentle and willing servant.

2nd PRIZE

Terry Hoffman
42509 Parkhurst

3rd PRIZE

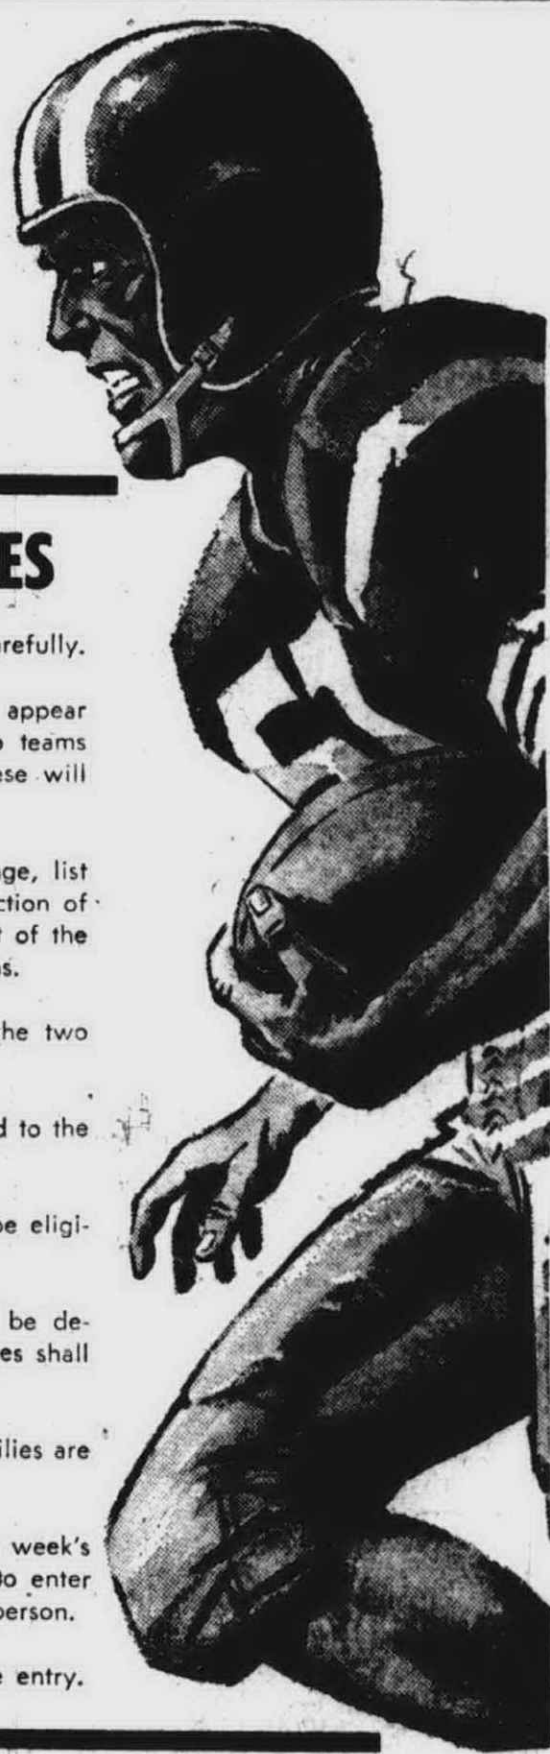

TIE
Peter & Thomas Koepke
1316 Sheridan Ave.

JACK-POT

Richard Pfister and Peter & Thomas Koepke

1ST PRIZE $750

2ND PRIZE $5⁰⁰
3RD PRIZE $3⁰⁰
PLUS — MERCHANTS'
$6⁰⁰ Bonus Jackpot

EASY CONTEST RULES

1. Read these rules and each ad on this page carefully.
2. Each week of the football season ads will appear on this page containing the names of two teams playing each other over the weekend. These will be the only games considered.
3. On a separate sheet of paper, not this page, list the names of each merchant and your selection of the winner of each game directly after that of the merchant. Example: Box Bar — Detroit Lions.
4. In addition you must show the score of the two teams in the ad that request the score.
5. All entries must be postmarked or delivered to the office of THE PLYMOUTH MAIL 271 S. MAIN by 5 p.m. Friday following publication to be eligible.
6. In case of ties the earliest postmark shall be declared the winner. The decision of the judges shall be final. Winners will be notified.
7. Employees of any newspaper and their families are not eligible to enter.
8. In order to be fair to all entrants, previous week's first place winners are no longer eligible to enter once they have won. Only one entry per person.
9. Be sure your name and address are on the entry.

BONUS JACK-POT $6⁰⁰

To be eligible for the Merchants Bonus Jack Pot simply take your entry into any of the participating merchants, have it stamped or signed, then submit it to the Plymouth Mail.

Any winning entry so marked will share in the $6.00 Bonus.

However, it is not necessary to have it marked to be a contest winner, only to share in the Jack Pot.

I guess that about sums up everybody's feelings, whether they're secretaries or managers. And we have some of each in Read-Riders, along with advertising men and insurance agents. I'm a technical writer for an advertising agency. One of our members admits to being chief rate clerk for a railroad!

We get along so well that we all get together twice a year with our spouses—once at Christmas time and again for a summer outing.

An organization like ours isn't hard to get started. All it takes is a group of people with common working hours, plus a guy or girl with a driver's license, who's reliable and can stick to a schedule that suits the majority.

Once you get a driver, you need an insurance policy for liability and collision-damage protection. And, of course, you need a vehicle.

WE PAID $8,000 for The Rocket. Our other bus was cheaper. Being an older girl and secondhand, she only cost $800 plus the investment of about $1200 to reupholster the seats and put in a new motor. When we get The Rocket paid for, we'll invest the monthly payments in a fund to replace her when she is old and feeble.

For me, driving a bus is fun. And I get a big whiz out of my 27 back-seat drivers. Take a typical morning: Fran Magill climbs up the steps to board the bus, and I hear Ron Mansell say, "Gee, you sound peppy this morning, Fran. Clump. Clump. Clump." Then one of the girls sits down and gets kidded while the girl behind her remedies something—the zipper in back of her dress. It wasn't zipped the last two inches. From one of the rolling bridge games, I hear everybody yell when a player makes a slam.

By 8:40 a.m. the Rocket has deposited all the passengers in downtown Detroit.

You see why we call it "Fun Bus." We have other names on the special destination sign up front that helps to show that ours is a private coach. In addition to the usual "Private Coach" sign, we can display "Read-Riders Special," "Read-Riders Rocket Express," or "Read-Riders Only!"

In spite of these signs, strangers try to get on when we stop to pick up a member. Then I have to tell the would-be passenger that it's a private bus and I can't pick him up.

Sometimes, though, if there's a vacancy in the organization, I tell the stranger, "You can come along as our guest and try us out for a day."

Many a new Read-Rider has been born that way, after a card-playing, songfesting, convenient, economical ride downtown.

"I think they ought to tell you when you're ordering too much."

ONE CARELESS MATCH...

Yours? Let's hope not. One lighted match carelessly tossed can cause a disastrous forest fire. One careless match—and thousands of trees are destroyed, wildlife killed, watersheds severely damaged, recreation areas ruined. One careless match—and beauty comes ugly. Last year carelessness with fire blackened 20 million acres of America's wooded land. Forest Fire Prevention rests in your hands... for 9 out of 10 fires are caused by people... people like you. Don't let this careless match be yours.

Remember Only You Can Prevent Forest Fires. Published as a public service in cooperation with The Advertising Council.

MOTHER AND I SEE EYE TO EYE

"We think alike about so many things. Take Tampax, for instance. Mother's the one who told me about it. She's such an active person, and she knows I like to be active, too. She explained how Tampax absorbs internally. How it's unfelt and invisible when it's in place. And that means you can tub or shower and be just as active as you like every single day all year 'round. It's wonderful when your mother understands so much about what's important to you."

Many mothers tell their daughters about Tampax because they want to spare their girls the discomfort and embarrassment of "the other way." Tampax's internal sanitary protection is so much nicer, more convenient. There's no odor, no chafing, and no disposal problem. Tampax users number among the millions—both married and single women. They say Tampax is a better way. Why not ask your mother, or some older woman you can confide in? Our good reputation is your reassurance. Tampax Incorporated, Palmer, Mass.

The two justices of the peace in Walters, Oklahoma, have started a new organization that, we hope, will catch on in one form or another all over the country. It's called the "100 Club." You are automatically made a member if you are caught driving 100 miles an hour or more. Dues are a fine of $100.00 or more. Now, what we'd like to see are some "Your Fine Is Double Your M.P.H." Clubs, to discourage anyone who goes way over the speed limit anywhere. How about it?

Brides-To-Be in Plymouth, Massachusetts, get more than a certificate from clerk M. Herbert Craig when they come to get their marriage licenses. Mr. Craig gives each of the prospective homemakers a box that he calls a "bridal pax." In it are 15 items, including soap powder, soap, ammonia, dessert topping, sauces, instant coffee, and aspirin. Reminders of things to come—presented with the license, and "Compliments of Town Clerk M. Herbert Craig."

Thanks for the tip, Helene Fran Holmberg, of Lenexa, Kansas. Mrs. Holmberg and her family never argue or get into hassles about who does what, or who hasn't done what he was supposed to do. They use a Family Note Box made from an old oatmeal carton covered with a piece of wallpaper, which is left on a low shelf in the kitchen. Beside it are a pen, paper, and a roll of cellophane tape for sealing, to be sure no one peeks at someone else's notes. The Holmbergs have found the Family Note Box brings wonderful results, especially for the children, who respond more to these written suggestions than to scolding or orders for work to be done. The young Holmbergs particularly like the occasional "Thank-You" notes for jobs well done.

A sign by a used typewriter in a San Fernando, California, shop, reads "Used Only By An Elderly Pasadena Woman Who Never Went More Than 20 Words A Minute."

A supermarket in Dedham, Massachusetts, says Mrs. Anne Maida, has solved the problem of what to do with the children during a long shopping spree. The store has installed a miniature theatre near the entrance that features a continuous program of colorful animated cartoons. It keeps the kids happy, lets the mother shop in peace, and saves the market quite a lot of breakage from well-meaning, busy little hands.

It's a tough job for any smallish group of people to patrol a large area—for any worthwhile reason—but the Garden Club Council of Grosse Pointe, Michigan, got around this problem by putting a large clip-out coupon in the local paper. It was headed "Sore Spots for Clean-Up," and asked friends and neighbors to help by filling in the locations of vacant lots, alleys, and other areas that were in need of attention. Then they got right down to the job of cleaning up instead of wasting time hunting around for sore spots on their own.

for $15 a month

urer, I pay our expenses by collecting $15 a month dues from each member.

This is cheaper than taking a bus or train: Public transportation would cost a minimum of 90 cents a day. Figuring 21 working days a month, that's $3.90 more than our dues.

We have one other advantage. We make better time than the public busses because we don't have to stop for as many passengers. I make only six stops after we leave the north Royal Oak service station where the bus is serviced, and parked at night. Most of our passengers climb aboard there.

We start at 7:55 a.m. In winter, a station attendant warms up the motor for us, so the heaters are going full blast before we get going.

ALONGSIDE the driver's seat, flick on my portable radio, and turn the big steering wheel toward downtown Detroit, straight down Woodward Avenue and 14 miles away.

I would rather drive The Rocket in traffic than my own car. Even a woman could drive this bus, if she wasn't wearing spike heels.

I drop the last passenger at the Penobscot Building in the heart of downtown Detroit by 8:40 a.m. Then I drive to an out-of-the-way parking lot where it costs only $12.50 a month for each of the two spaces the bus fills. That's about half what we would pay for a closer lot.

Before I go to my office, I still have time to walk back every morning and join seven other Read-Riders for a fast cup of coffee.

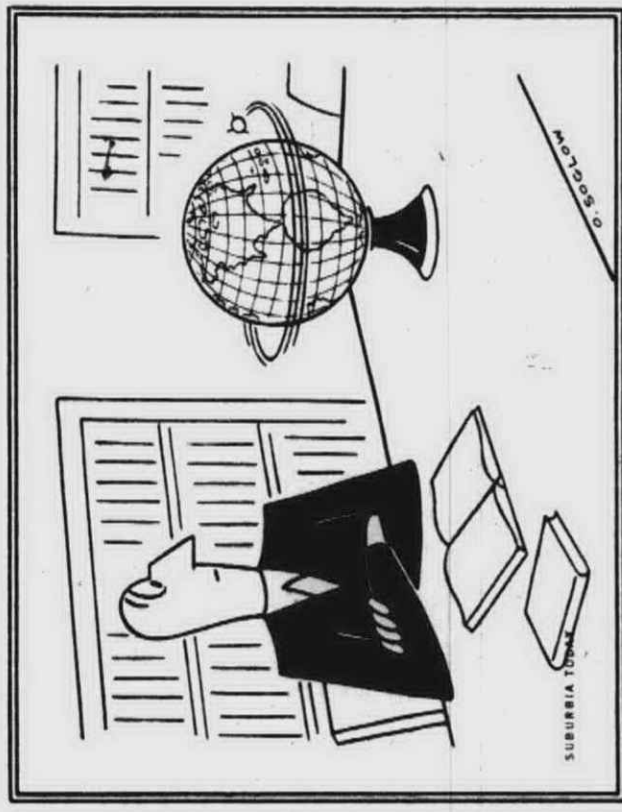

We start back home at 5:10 p.m. sharp, and by 5:15 I've picked up all the riders. We're back at the service station by 5:55.

I stay downtown to bowl once a week. Credit man Bill Wagner takes the wheel for me that night, or when I'm on vacation.

In the last three years, we've been late for work only twice. Both times, it was because we were slowed to a crawl by severe snowstorms.

Commenting on our service, one of our riders, John Cole, says he has three reasons for preferring our setup—convenience, economy, and companionship. He likes being sure of a seat each morning, and as a former car pooler he likes having "someone else" (namely, me) bucking traffic for him.

Schenley...
the whisky the years
have been good to.

Properly aged, a fine whisky becomes a great whisky. Schenley's select whiskies are aged in charred-oak casks for over 8 years (100 months, to be exact), then wisely blended with choice grain neutral spirits. The result (you'll agree on first sampling) is a whisky of mellow and memorable authority. A mature whisky the years have indeed been good to.

The Paintniks

"Of course, you know, I'm just a Monday painter."

"Well, I don't happen to live in the White House."

Now they ride in style

WE CALL OURSELVES Readi-Riders, Inc. (Our motto is "Either you're ready—or you get left.") I'm the chief driver of the do-it-yourself commuter bus that now slips twenty-eight of us through the Detroit traffic blockade twice a day.

We started, of course, as a routine car pool of five businessmen, living outside the city in Birmingham and Royal Oak, and one night at an investment club we all belong to we got to talking about the home-to-job transportation problems.

"It seems as if every time it's my turn to drive," said the president of the club, "that's just the day my wife needs the car."

"The same thing happens at our house," one of the group, Jack Keenan agreed. "Man, there's hardly a day that my wife doesn't need the car. If she doesn't have to take one of the kids to the doctor, she has to pick up something at the store."

Ted Surra, who is a lawyer (with a lawyer's imagination) said, "I know how we could leave all the cars home—all we have to do is buy a bus!"

That got a laugh—but then I began to wonder.

"It might not be as crazy as it sounds," I said. "What if we all chipped in and got a nine-passenger station wagon? Then we could take more fellows into the car pool to help pay for the wagon."

"Yes," said our friend, Pat Walsh, "and besides that, we'd be taking extra cars off the crowded streets that way. And all nine of the wives would have a car at home for errands, and if it's a spare, all the better."

Before the evening was over we had got to the point where Ted was volunteering to bird-dog the legal angles.

He learned that we could own and operate our own vehicle by organizing a nonprofit corporation. And we wouldn't need the expensive commercial licenses because this would be a private bus.

This gave us the green light to get one of those foreign station-wagon type busses, pick a name, and apply for incorporation.

THAT WAS IN 1956. Two years later, we traded the foreign job for a used 25-passenger commercial coach of American vintage, almost tripling our capacity. It was at this time that we started accepting members of the fair sex.

Then last May we acquired our pride and joy—a shiny new aqua-and-ivory dream seating 27 passengers. We call her "The Rocket" because she has so much more get-up-and-go than our other vehicles had.

From The Rocket's windows our shuttling gang can look snugly at the cars alongside, behind, and ahead of us. And they can rejoice because they're not out there squeezing cars through that paved bottleneck of squealing rubber and jumpy nerves.

Inside our bus, they're playing bridge or pinochle, reading their newspapers, or just talking. Sometimes they get going with a songfest or a round of jokes. Whatever it is, it's fun. We have a constant turnover in membership with people changing jobs, getting married, or moving. But still, Readi-Riders is a convivial bunch.

In fact, some of the Readi-Riders think the chief advantage of our system is riding back and forth to work with congenial people.

On top of that, Readi-Riders is a good deal financially. We meet monthly installments of $200 on our bus, pay for licenses, gas, parking, insurance, and upkeep. As treas-

Back in the 20's, that remark was a laudatory expression that might be paraphrased in the vernacular of the 60's as —the moos! These two modes of expression have nothing in common. But—50's or 60's—there's one cocktail that's common to the cognoscenti and connoisseurs of both eras. Today—as in bygone days—everybody's buzzing about that bonanza of the bar: The Stinger.

Which word is older, Gin or Gordon's?

"Gin" came into the language around 1700 by way of the French "genievre," meaning juniper. "Gordon's" comes from Alexander Gordon, the genius whose secret gin formula set Londoners agog in 1769.

The Gordon's you drink today harks back to this self-same formula. It's still secret, and as far as the people at Gordon's are concerned, that is as it should be, for in nearly two centuries no other gin has duplicated Gordon's distinctive dryness and flavour. Are you wondering if it's the world's biggest seller? It is. Indeed, to most people the words "gin" and "Gordon's" are by now synonymous.

CHEERS FOR CHEESE

FROZEN CHEDDAR CHEESE SALAD SENSATION

TO PREPARE: 20 MIN. TO FREEZE: 3-4 HRS.

- 1 1-lb., 13-oz. can green-gage plums, drained
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 4 oz. Cheddar cheese, shredded (about 1 cup)
- 1 cup chilled whipping cream
- 1 or 2 drops green food coloring

1. Cut plums into halves; remove pits; cut into small pieces. Mix in the lemon juice, sugar, salt, and Cheddar cheese.
2. Using a chilled bowl and beater, beat whipping cream until it is of medium consistency (piles softly). Fold whipped cream into plum mixture. Blend in food coloring. Turn mixture into a refrigerator tray. Freeze until firm, 3 to 4 hrs.
3. Thaw slightly and cut into squares or wedges; serve on crisp salad greens.

About 8 servings

Note: If desired, freeze mixture in a fancy mold and unmold onto a chilled serving plate; garnish with fresh mint, green-gage plums, and fresh fruits harmonious in flavor and color.

HI-BOY LIVER SAUSAGE SANDWICH

For each sandwich, spread 2 slices rye bread generously with Horse-Radish Butter. Top, in order, with the following: red onion, liver sausage, Bibb lettuce (spread with mayonnaise, if desired), Brick cheese, crisp bacon, tomato, and a buttered bread slice.

HORSE-RADISH BUTTER

Cream 1/2 cup butter until softened. Blend in 1 tablespoon lemon juice, a small amount at a time. Mix in 2 teaspoons prepared horse-radish, 3/4 teaspoon prepared mustard, and 1/4 teaspoon salt. About 1/2 cup butter

SWISS-CAPPED GLAZED CHICKEN

TO PREPARE: 15 MIN. TO COOK: ABOUT 1 HR.

- 2 2 1/2- to 3-lb. broiler-fryer chickens, cut in serving-sized pieces
- 1/2 cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon black pepper
- 1/4 to 1/2 cup butter
- 1 1/2 cups curant jelly
- 2 cups orange juice
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1 cup finely shredded Swiss cheese
- 1/2 cup toasted slivered blanched almonds
- 1/2 teaspoon paprika

1. Rinse chicken pieces and pat dry with absorbent paper. Coat with a mixture of the flour, salt, and pepper.
2. Heat butter in a large, heavy skillet over medium heat. Add chicken pieces, skin side down, and brown well on all sides.
3. Meanwhile, beat together the jelly, orange juice, and lemon juice.
4. Pour jelly mixture over browned chicken pieces. Cover skillet and simmer about 45 min., or until chicken is tender. Spoon glaze over chicken occasionally during cooking.
5. Top evenly with cheese, almonds, and paprika. Place under broiler 4 in. from source of heat until cheese is melted, about 1 min. Serve immediately. About 8 servings

SMOKED CHEESE DIP

TO PREPARE: 5 MIN.

- 1 roll (6 oz.) smoked or garlic pasteurized process cheese food, softened
- 1/2 cup thick sour cream

Blend ingredients until smooth and creamy. Sprinkle chopped chives evenly around edge of serving dish to form an attractive border. Serve with assorted chips and crackers. About 1 cup

WE CAN STOP HUNTING ACCIDENTS

Hunter training could protect the principal victims—young beginners and innocent bystanders accidents and injures about 3500 persons more. Some argue that, considering the large number of people engaged in the sport, this casualty rate is not high. Yet, if as many as 800 deaths occurred each fall on our high-school and college grounds, there is no doubt that the sport would long ago have been abruptly halted or radically changed by outraged public protest.

BY JHAN AND JUNE ROBBINS

A large number of hunting accidents involve the very young. Youths 16 to 19 years old are the group most likely to be shot down—or to shoot someone. They account for 46% of all accidents and supply 39% of the victims! No other sport is so dangerous for innocent bystanders.

HERE IS THE KIND OF CRASS STUPIDITY THAT CAUSES hunting accidents: In Texas, a hunter used his gun to beat back brush in a deep thicket. A twig twitched the trigger. The man's closest friend, walking just behind him, was instantly killed. In Gasconade County, Missouri, an excited teen-age boy fired too fast and too low as his dog flushed a covey of quail. He shot his sister who was standing on the other side of the field. In a suburb near Des Moines, a young mother was killed when a car driven by her husband struck a bump and jolted the loaded gun lying on the back seat. In Vermont, a boy climbing a hill turned and extended his rifle, butt end first, to help his father ascend the steep trail. The father slipped, made a grab at the gunstock, yanked the trigger, and shot his son through the neck.

Protected by the Constitutional guarantee, "The right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed," some hunters travel on public buses or even demand service in restaurants with guns clutched legally between their knees!

Says Bryan Burgin, head of New York State's

ON A BRISK NOVEMBER DAY last year the Edward Wilson family moved from their Philadelphia apartment to Bucks County, thirty miles away. Like thousands of others, they believed that the best way to bring up healthy children was in an environment of green trees and open fields. The mother, busy unpacking, smilingly told her six-year-old daughter, "You're a country girl now! Run along and explore the woods."

A few minutes later she heard a noise like a distant backfire. Her little girl fled into the house, sobbing. "There's a lot of holes in my dress!" The child's wide, red skirt, blowing before her in the wind, had been shredded by a shotgun blast.

On that same day, in Wyoming, an eighteen-year-old boy on his third hunting trip was stopped in mid-field by a reproachful deputy sheriff. "Quit dragging your gun by the barrel!" the deputy snapped. "You'll get hurt." An hour later the youth's body was found hanging over a wire fence, shot through the stomach by his own rifle. His father had shown him how to load, aim, shoot, and clean his weapon, but no one had ever taught him how to get under a fence with it.

Today no one can hope to ignore the hunting-casualty problem. Rapid transportation takes hunters to areas they have never invaded before. At the same time the rush to the suburbs has brought hunters into everyone's dooryard. Within the perimeters of our cities there is a tempting surplus of rabbit, woodchuck, and even deer.

One out of every ten American males over the age of fifteen owns a shotgun, rifle, or both. Fifteen million take out hunting licenses each year. During the usual ten-week season, they spend 169 million man-days hunting. Most use their weapons skillfully and responsibly. A lethal minority, however, each year kills 600 to 800 persons in hunting

Hunter Training Program. "The dangers of hunting cannot sensibly be compared to those of other sports. The only useful analogy is to automobile driving. No one gets a driver's license until he has proved that he can drive safely. We know that innocent people's lives are in jeopardy when an ignorant and incompetent driver takes the wheel. We probably can't run all of those people out of the woods any more than we can get all of them off the road—but it's time for every state in the nation to try."

Eleven states now have laws compelling at least a part of its young hunting population to study and pass a hunter-safety course. They are New York, California, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Montana, Massachusetts, Connecticut, South Dakota, Minnesota, Washington, and Utah. All of them found out—the hard way—that a compulsory hunter safety-education program is easy to talk about but extremely difficult to get started. New York State's law, the first to be passed, originally ordered state game protectors to conduct all the training classes for youngsters under sixteen. Thousands of boys appeared. Game protectors were completely swamped.

OTHER STATES that followed New York's example recruited instructors by newspaper advertisement and word of mouth. Their skill with guns was vouched for but, unfortunately, many early safety instructors proved to be too negligent or too softhearted to weed out the very applicants the states were most anxious to bar from the woods.

In 1950, the National Rifle Association entered the state training picture. The organization, with a membership of 435,000 and 10,200 chartered local gun clubs, has been teaching young people since 1926. Under their sponsorship three and a half million youngsters have earned marksmanship ratings with a safety record of less than half a dozen minor accidents. While opposed to some gun-regulating legislation, the National Rifle Association came generously to the aid of state safety-training programs. They supplied equipment, instructors, and know-how. In the past ten years in New York and elsewhere, they have trained and certified 35,000 additional instructors, who in turn have trained 1,500,000 young people.

The course of instruction costs the state about fifty cents per pupil. It consists of four hour-long lessons, ten rounds of ammunition, a supervised field trip, and a written examination. At its conclusion students know—and can demonstrate—the answers to such questions as:

- "When should the safety on a gun be in the off position?" (Only when it's about to be fired.)
- "How should a gun be handled when crossing a fence?" (Unload, open action, place gun under fence. Climb fence, reload.)
- "If three hunters are walking single file down a path, in what position should each carry his gun?" (First man, muzzle pointing to the front or side. Second man, muzzle to the side. Third man, muzzle to the side or over shoulder.)
- "How is a gun carried in an automobile?" (Unloaded, with action open or gun in case.)
- "If three hunters are advancing abreast down a field and a pheasant flushes to the right and flies off in that direction, which one takes the shot?" (Man on the right.)
- "If three hunters are advancing abreast down a field and a rabbit breaks between the man in the middle and the one to the left, who takes the shot?" (No one.)

New ideas for Old Fashion French Dressings no one can buy

... recipes with this favorite GOOD SEASONS MIX

Good Seasons Old Fashion French Dressing. Subtly flavored with herbs and spices, this is the kind of oil-and-vinegar dressing mixed by master chefs. Light, fresh—truly continental. Tastes just seconds to mix. Easy directions are on the Good Seasons envelope. You combine your favorite oil, vinegar and a little water with the Mix. The water, or a substitute liquid, makes the blend smoother. You can use many substitutes—see recipes below for suggestions.

French Cottage Cheese Dressing. Prepare the Good Seasons Dressing but substitute two tablespoons of cottage cheese for the water. This makes the herb-spice flavor a little brighter. And the flecks of cottage cheese add a creamy contrast—nice touch in tomato salads.

Run-Nut French Dressing. Just use light rum instead of the water in the dressing. Final touch: 2 tablespoons of chopped nuts. Delightful on all fruit salads. Or in one of our mixed greens, slices of avocado and apple. This is one salad with fruit that men really like.

Sesame Seed French Dressing. Add two tablespoons of toasted sesame seeds to your Old Fashion French Dressing. Adds a crisp and nut-like taste to perk up all green salads. Especially fine in spinach salads.

CHEERS FOR CHEESE

Cheese Cake Magnifique is a worthy addition to the finest collection of cheese cake recipes.

MELANIE DE PROFT, Food Editor

GREEN OLIVE PASTRIES

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN. TO BAKE: 15 MIN.

2 cups finely shredded Cheddar cheese
 1/4 cup softened butter
 1 cup flour
 1 teaspoon paprika
 48 large pimiento-stuffed olives

1. Blend cheese with butter. Blend flour and paprika together. Stir into butter mixture until well mixed.
 2. Shape 1 teaspoon of the mixture around each olive, covering it completely. Put onto baking sheet; bake at 400°F 15 min., or until golden. Serve warm. 4 doz. appetizers

Note: If desired, unbaked appetizers may be placed on baking sheets and frozen. When firm they may be transferred to freezer containers and stored until ready to use. To bake, place unthawed appetizers on baking sheets and bake 17 to 18 min.

PIZZA STICKS

Cheese with built-in pizza flavors is the secret of these nippy appetizer morsels.

TO PREPARE: 30 MIN. TO BAKE: 15 MIN.

1 cup flour
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon monosodium glutamate
 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
 1/4 cup butter
 8 oz. sausage pizza-flavored cheese, shredded (2 cups)

1. Mix first five ingredients together in a bowl. Cut in butter and cheese with a pastry blender or two knives. In the bowl knead mixture with finger tips to form a ball.
 2. Break off bits of dough, about one teaspoonful each, and roll to form sticks, about 2 1/2 in. long. Put onto an ungreased baking sheet.
 3. Bake at 350°F about 15 min., or until slightly browned on top. Serve warm. About 3 doz. sticks

BACON-BLUE CHEESE SALAD
 Toss generous amounts of crisp bacon and crumbled Blue cheese with assorted greens. Top with ripe olive rings and serve with a piquant French dressing.

PARTY CRAB MEAT DIP

TO PREPARE: 15 MIN.

2 8-oz. pkgs. cream cheese, softened
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1 1/2 tablespoons prepared mustard
 3 tablespoons sauterne
 4 teaspoons confectioners' sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
 1/4 teaspoon onion juice
 2 6 1/2-oz. cans crab meat, flaked

1. Combine all ingredients except crab meat, in top of a double boiler. Heat over simmering water, stirring occasionally, until well blended. Mix in crab meat; heat thoroughly.
 2. Serve dip hot with small thin slices of garlic-buttered rye toast. About 3 cups dip

BACON-BLUE CHEESE SALAD
 Toss generous amounts of crisp bacon and crumbled Blue cheese with assorted greens. Top with ripe olive rings and serve with a piquant French dressing.

CHEESE CAKE MAGNIFIQUE

TO PREPARE: ABOUT 1 HR. TO BAKE: 1 HR.

(allow time to cool and chill cake)
 6 oz. zwieback, finely crushed (2 cups crumbs)
 1 cup sugar
 1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
 1/2 cup butter, melted
 1/4 cup chopped salted pistachio nuts
 4 cups cream-style cottage cheese

6 eggs (about 1 1/2 cups)
 1 1/2 cups sugar
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
 3 tablespoons lemon juice
 1 cup whipping cream
 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
 1/2 cup flour

1. Prepare crust by mixing zwieback crumbs thoroughly with the 1 cup sugar, cinnamon, and butter. Stir 3/4 cup of the mixture and the nuts together for topping; set aside.
 2. Press crumb mixture onto sides and bottom of a buttered 9-in. spring-form pan; chill.
 3. For filling, drain and sieve cottage cheese and set aside.
 4. Beat eggs and 1 1/2 cups sugar until eggs are very thick and piled softly. Combine the final six ingredients and the sieved cottage cheese; blend mixture until smooth.
 5. Pour filling into the crumb-lined pan; top evenly with reserved nut-crumb mixture.
 6. Bake at 350°F 1 hr., then turn off heat and cool cake in oven. Refrigerate when cool and serve well chilled. Surround the cake with a garnish of assorted marzipan. 12 to 14 servings

PARMESAN-NUT STICKS

Try these as a crunchy complement to your favorite salad.

TO PREPARE: 25 MIN. TO BAKE: 10-12 MIN.

2 cups biscuit mix
 2/3 cup milk
 2 tablespoons salad oil
 1/2 cup shredded Parmesan cheese
 1/4 cup chopped salted almonds
 1 teaspoon garlic salt

1. Add milk and oil to biscuit mix. Stir with a fork until dry ingredients are moistened and a soft dough is formed.
 2. On a floured surface, roll dough into an 8-in. square. Cut into 16 4x1-in. strips. Roll strips in a mixture of the cheese and nuts to form sticks. Place on greased baking sheets. Sprinkle with garlic salt.
 3. Bake at 425°F 10 to 12 min., or until golden. Serve warm. 16 cheese sticks

HUNTING ACCIDENTS

Under practical conditions in the field, young hunters are taught target identification. They hear the story of the man who shot a six-foot five-inch companion weighing 240 pounds and said, "I was sure he was a woodchuck." They learn to hold their fire until they answer the six basic questions of game recognition: Color? Size? Movement? Location? Behavior? And, finally, Where is everybody? They are told it's dangerous to use Grandfather's antique shotgun. Old guns are usually made of twisted Damascus-process steel and won't hold together under the pounding of today's high-power ammunition.

They are warned against hair triggers, blind firing, arrogance, and alcohol. Basic physical examinations eliminate would-be hunters with defective coordination or dangerously poor eyesight. "Show-offs," along with the lazy, the undisciplined, and the defiant, are promptly kicked out of the course.

In 1955, South Dakota reported that 49% of its accidents were caused by boys of twenty or under. That year, the state passed a hunter-training law concentrated on young people, and only three years later recorded a 53% decrease in juvenile hunting accidents. In New York, after ten years of hunter training, accidents have been cut in half. This year, applicants, regardless of age, who apply for a first-time license must take the hunter-safety course. There is no doubt that mandatory hunter training works.

Seven Lifesaving Tips

With the 1961 season upon us, and more than fifteen million hunters preparing to go out, here are seven tips that may save your life—or someone else's—this fall: Keep calm. Tense, overanxious hunters are often trigger-happy and fire when they least mean to do so.

Don't count on red to save your life. Eight percent of all hunters (along with the entire U.S. population) are color-blind and see red as muddy brown—the exact shade of a plump deer. Safest color bet: Bright chrome yellow, the color used for most school buses, or a blaze orange.

Respect the .22 rifle. It isn't a child's toy, although many adults think it is. A .22 can kill at half a mile.

Take a coffee break in mid-morning. And quit early in the afternoon. Research shows there's a fatigue factor that seems to make hunting accidents rise at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Store guns and ammunition separately. Be sure the wrong person can't get hold of both at the same time.

Be particularly careful during the early days of the season. The first few days usually see 27% of the accidents, the first two weeks, 69%!

Treat every gun as though it were loaded even if you have just unloaded it yourself. Two-thirds of all hunting accidents occur for a single, simple reason. A gun was loaded when it should not have been. Live to enjoy the lovely autumn foliage—and let others enjoy it with you.

In addition to the swimming room, the house has other unusual features. There is a huge family room, for instance, with a built-in playpen and a hi-fi and TV and various game tables which are stored behind sliding teak panels when they are not being used. This room serves as a library, too, and reading lights concealed in the ceiling shine directly down on the comfortable, big leather chairs where the Stones retire with their books, sure of privacy when they need it in that 21' x 30' open space.

The color scheme here is amber and aquamarine against a light Italian marble floor.

Next to the family room, and a contrast in every way, is the small, brilliant breakfast room upholstered in white and gold, and decorated all around the walls with a conventionalized mural of Siam painted in the clear emeralds and sapphires and crimson of Siamese silks.

There is not a single fireplace in the whole big house, a fact which seems surprising till you consider that a snapping open fire is hardly to be expected in a house where, winter or summer, people spend a great deal of their time in bathing suits!

One last note on a special piece of equipment in the family room—the Stones have installed a "real" soda fountain here for the benefit of the young, complete with ice-cream wells, siphons, and pumps that squirt out strawberry, chocolate, or vanilla, for the asking.

A pool to splash in, a rubber swan to ride on, and when you finally climb out a little breathless and waterlogged, a delicious homemade soda at hand—here, for once, is a house after a child's own heart.

"It's not that you are wrong—it's just that I'm so right."

Table Scraps Can Short-Change Your Dog

Do right by the dog
you love...balance
each meal with
GRO-PUP Ribbon

When you feed your dog table scraps, you can never be sure he's getting all the nutrients he needs. And yet, to stay fit and strong, he should have a well-balanced diet every day.

Fun Way to Reward Your Dog—Gro-Pup Dog Biscuit Treats in T-Bone Form

That's why thoughtful families are adding Gro-Pup Ribbon to every scrap meal they feed. Gro-Pup is an unusual kind of dog food. It contains an extra bonus of vital protein, important vitamins and minerals—far in excess of the minimum levels set by the National Research Council. Even when fed with large amounts of "unbalanced" leftovers, the high nutrient level of Gro-Pup can safeguard against improper diet. When you feed Gro-Pup every day, you can enjoy the confidence that your dog is getting an abundance of the essentials he needs for a long and healthy life. Why don't you start tomorrow?

Eight Rooms And Swimming Room The Irving Stones of Shaker Heights, Ohio, swim in this house all year round

"WE HAVE only four months of summer in our region," says Mr. Irving Stone of Shaker Heights, Ohio, and he adds with indisputable logic, "The indoor heated swimming pool is the answer."

The pool in his house is free-form, nine feet deep, the central feature of a big, handsome room approximately 30 feet square. The ceiling goes up two stories to a height of twenty-four feet, and the walls are of narrow wood panels, stained a pale blue-green, alternating with side panels of a marble pebbled surface which matches the marble pebbled floor.

In addition to the pool, furnishings of the swimming room include all kinds of exercise apparatus, a small bar, and a wrought-iron bridge table and chairs upholstered in the same pale blue-green as the panels on the wall. Masses of tropical plants—palms and philodendrons and shiny-leaved ficus—flourish in the pleasant, moist atmosphere and make a living screen for a useful but unglamorous hot-air heating system.

A blower, built into the ceiling, helps remove excess moisture and keeps the room comfortable at all times.

The Stones' own bedroom adjoins the pool, and by an inspiration a blue wrought-iron stairway leads directly from the pool to the other bedrooms on the second story, making it possible for a happy child or guest to hurry through his white-shuttered door and down to the water the minute he is waked up in the morning. Showers and two blue-tiled dressing rooms open directly off the pool.

CARL SANDBURG AT HOME

The great poet and his family, seen through the eyes of an admiring and devoted friend

BY HARRY GOLDEN

author of "Only In America," "For 2c Plain," "Enjoy! Enjoy!"

Carl Sandburg at 83 — poet, historian, folk singer, journalist, and old-fashioned family man.

William A. Smith

THE IMPRESSION you get from Carl Sandburg's home is one of laughter and happiness; and the laughter and the happiness are even more pronounced when no company is present.

Carl has been married to Paula for 53 years, and he has not made a single major decision without careful consideration and thorough discussion with his wife. Through all these years, Mrs. Sandburg has pointedly avoided the limelight. She has shared her husband's greatness, but only within the confines of their home; a dedication which began the moment she met Carl.

Mrs. Sandburg received a Phi Beta Kappa key from the University of Chicago, and she was busy writing and teaching when she met Sandburg. "You are the Peoples' Poet," was her appraisal in 1908, and she stopped teaching and writing to devote herself to the fulfillment of his career.

She has rarely been photographed with him and, except for Carl's 75th anniversary celebration in Chicago in 1953, she has not attended the dozens of banquets, functions, public appearances, and dinners honoring him—all of this upon her insistence. Even now I will not intrude upon her except to state a few bare facts.

The only way to describe Paula Sandburg is to say she is beautiful in a Grecian sense. Her clothes, her hair, everything about her is both graceful and simple. She has small, broad, capable hands and an enormous energy.

She is not only a trained mathematician and classicist but a good architect. She designed and supervised the building of their Harbert, Michigan, house, most of which was constructed by one local carpenter who carried the heavy beams singly upon his shoulder. As the Sandburg goat herd increased, she also designed the alterations for the barn to accommodate them. When erosion threatened the foundation of their home in Harbert, Paula Sandburg planted grapevines and arranged the snow fences which helped hold the sands away.

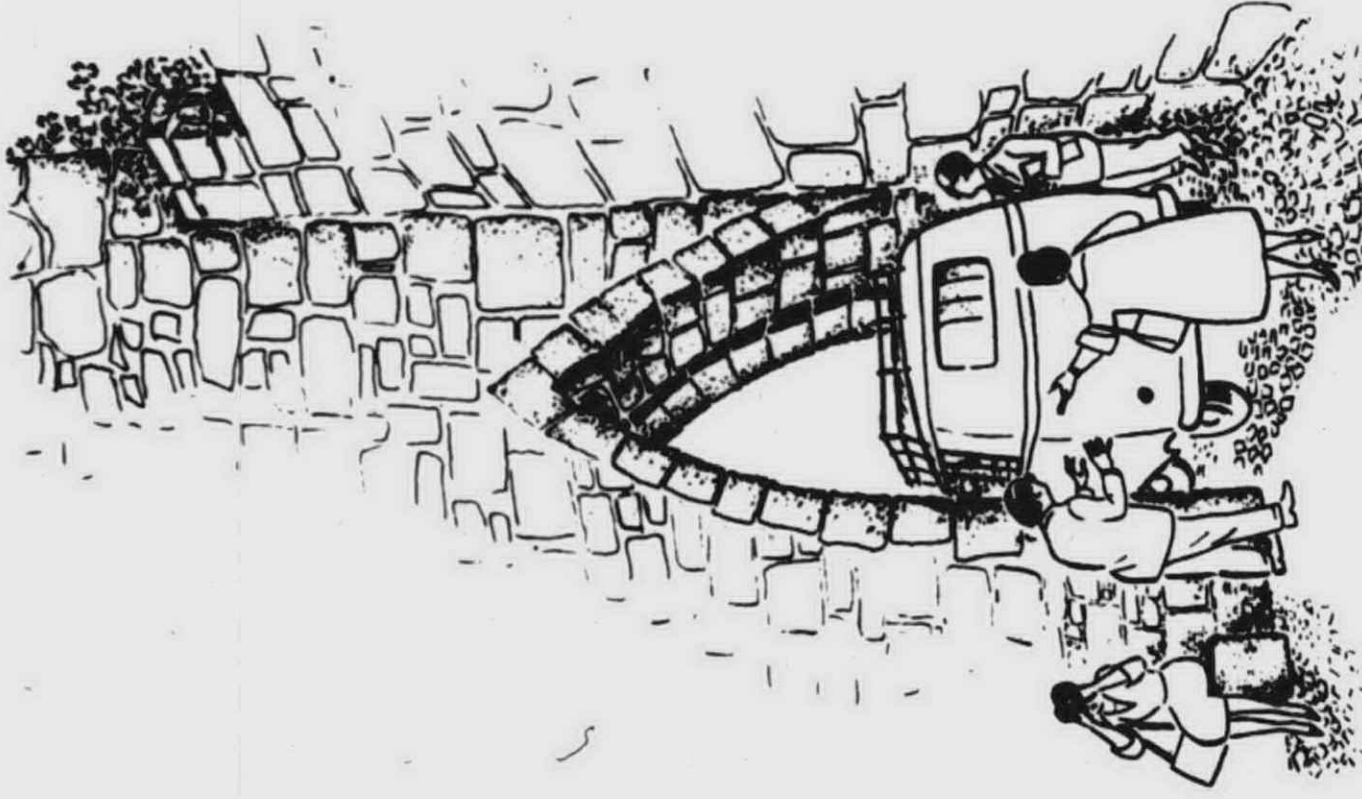

SHE WAS BORN Lillian Steichen, her parents immigrants from Luxembourg. Her mother called her Paus'l, a Luxembourg endearment meaning "pussy-cat." Some of the children of the family could not pronounce this name and called her Paula, a soubriquet Carl liked so much she has been Paula ever since.

Carl and Paula met in Milwaukee in 1907 during Paula's Christmas holiday visit to her parents. Carl was still Charles A. Sandburg. He legitimized "Paula" for Lillian Steichen, and it was Paula who insisted on "Carl" for Charles.

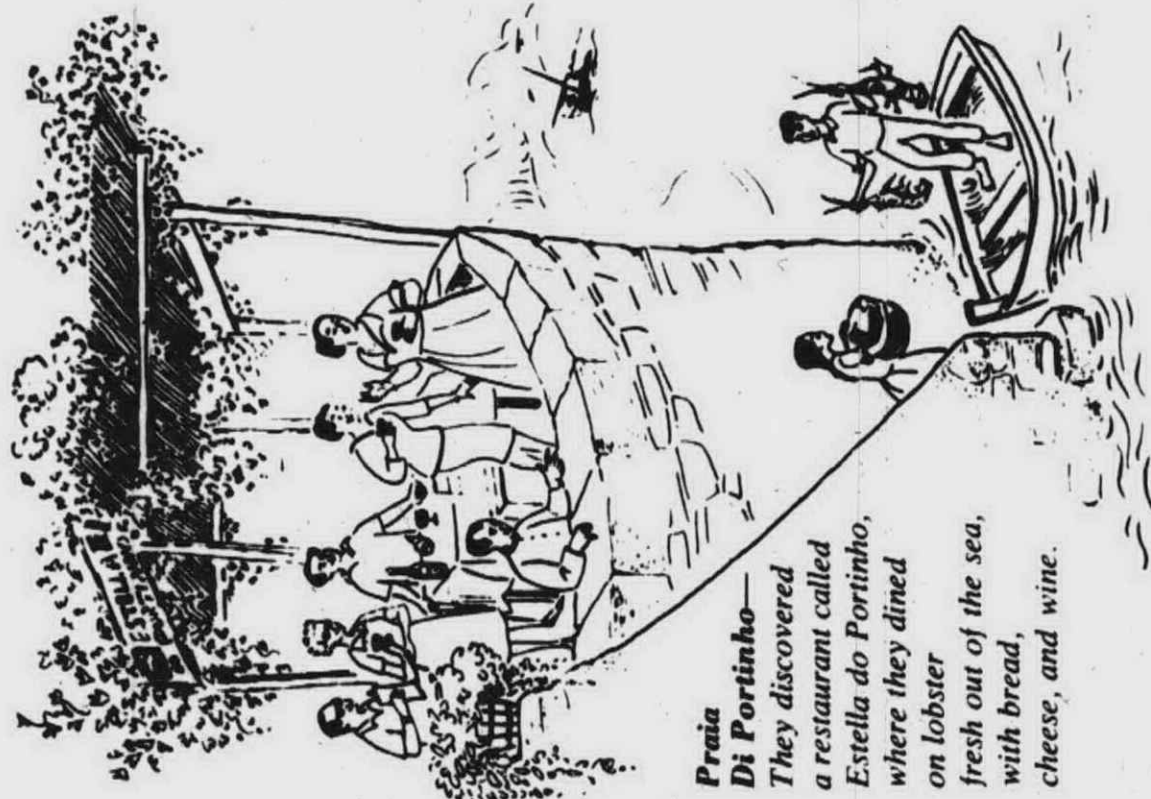

Victor Berger, the panjandrum of Wisconsin Socialism and member of Congress, had asked Paula Steichen to translate some of his German editorials into English. Carl, who was stationed in Appleton, was in Berger's office and made it his business to escort Paula to the streetcar. She left the next day for her teaching job at Princeton, Illinois. By the time the streetcar pulled away, he had fallen in love with Paula.

A letter awaited her at Princeton. Paula says that even though Carl's letters usually began, "Dear Miss Steichen," there was an understanding from the beginning that they would become husband and wife.

Her artist brother Ed liked him immediately.

To Lisbon—Miss Kimbrough is afraid of heights, but she flew and enjoyed it with the help of three highly therapeutic vodka martinis.

Historic Portugal—Miss Kimbrough and four friends hired—and drove—a bus of their own to tour the country in the wonderfully beautiful month of May. The hills terrified her.

A Short Time In Portugal

Here is a glimpse of the celebrated traveller's forthcoming book

BY EMILY KIMBROUGH

AUTHOR OF "OUR HEARTS WERE YOUNG AND GAY"

I have never been in a country in which the landscape changed so frequently and so abruptly from plains to mountains with barren, rocky sides to vine covered hills to lush pastures, to stark, ominous cliffs, to softly rounded coves, and sandy beaches... There were waterfalls of purple bougainvillea, carpets of geraniums, splatters of blue plumbago through dark ferns, mimosa like shimmering sunlight... I had tasted port before. I think my impression of the drink, as much from English novels as from my own experience, was that it is a heavy wine. It is nothing of the kind in Portugal. As a matter of fact, it is very nearly everything in texture, bouquet, taste, and color. Each place we visited had its own favorites and served them exclusively. We never found a port we did not like... There is no library in the world so beautiful as the library at Coimbra. It holds only three rooms. They are large and high, separated by a high and wide marble arch. Slender pillars along the side, patterned and embossed in gold, support stacks in a gallery above. As we came from the building and stood on the steps a moment, Sophy said, "After what we've seen, the sun looks vulgar."

Excerpted from "Measure by the Busload," to be published by Harper and Brothers. Copyright © 1961 by Emily Kimbrough

The poet with his grandchildren, Karen Paula and John Carl, who are named for their grandparents.

Found "Only in America." Sandburg and Golden, whose "Carl Sandburg" will appear next month.

The Sandburgs — she was Paula Steichen — who were married 53 years ago, on June 15, 1908.

but there were misgivings among other members of the family. Victor Berger did some whispering, and to Paula, too: "Do you know he's a poet?" Paula said she knew he was a poet, and twenty years before Carl became famous she repeated to Berger the lines from Robert Browning: Ah, did you once see Shelley plain, And did he stop and speak to you, And did you speak to him again? How strange it seems and new!

They were married in June, 1908, six months after their first meeting. There was no ring ceremony, the word "obey" was eliminated with a solemn agreement that one of the parties could call it quits any time he or she decided.

A few years later, after a half-serious argument, Paula wondered whether they should invoke the agreement and Carl said, "I'll be damned if I'll go through all that courtin' again."

Carl and Paula set up housekeeping in Appleton where they paid four dollars a month rent for three rooms upstairs in a one-and-a-half-story house. They bought a bed, a mattress, and some bedding; Paula made muslin curtains, and several store cartons served as dresser and shelves. In 1909, they moved to Milwaukee.

The first child, Margaret, was born in 1911 in Milwaukee about the time Carl became secretary to Emil Seidel, the mayor of that city.

At the age of nine, totally without warning, Margaret had an epileptic spasm accompanied by convulsions. The Sandburgs had no money and were not to have any until years later, but they strained their financial resources as well as their thoughts and energies for Margaret. Nerve specialists diagnosed her case as nocturnal epilepsy, as her seizures occurred only during sleep. They advised diet and drugs to relieve the number and severity of attacks.

YEARS LATER, after the Sandburgs had moved from Chicago to Michigan, Janet, the second daughter, was hit by a car while crossing the street in front of the Three Oaks High School in Harbert. She was unconscious for a week and lingered many weeks thereafter between life and death. X rays revealed innumerable fine fractures at the base of the skull. When she returned home, a many-windowed upper porch was set aside for her recuperation. After two years, she recovered enough to return to school but has been afflicted ever since with severe recurrent headaches. Despite this handicap, Janet is an active farmer and a fervent fan of both baseball and politics.

The girls were the Spink and Skabooch to whom "Rootabaga Stories" were dedicated.

The youngest daughter, Helga, Carl calls Swipes. Helga writes poetry and won a short story prize in 1958. She has also published two novels.

When "The Prairie Years" was sold for $30,000, the world did not know the tears Carl and Paula Sandburg shed that evening because of their concern about the future of Margaret and Janet. They felt that both girls, who would never really be able to earn their own livelihoods, were at last assured a fair chance of happiness. This is what has concerned Carl through all his productive years and explains his great care in handling of money.

Under the most rigid rules, daughter Margaret may be called an expert bibliophile. Newly developed medication and drugs have overcome her disability. She has inherited from both her parents a love of books and a mind capable of absorbing and analyzing great literature. Those who have worked around Carl have come to value Margaret's exceptional abilities.

Sandburg refuses to have his library catalogued, which numbers 15,000 volumes (this after the sale of a huge library, along with manuscripts of his Lincoln biography, to the University of Illinois). "I know where everything is," he says, "and I don't want it touched."

I've discovered, however, that his confidence is based on Margaret, who can unerringly walk to a shelf or a sealed box and pull out the book or document he is looking for.

Carl Sandburg rarely spends money on himself and at the height of his career looks as unpressed as he did when he was a $27.50 newspaperman.

When he goes out to make a speech, he'll put on a white shirt and his usual bow tie and Sunday suit, but when he is home he wears old pants and a lumberjack shirt, his favorite costume. He can't get himself to throw anything away, including several pairs of shoes ranging in age from ten to thirty years.

He calls his throat the voice box and has all sorts of muffers that he wraps around his neck when he goes out of the house to take his evening walks. Of recent years he has grown accustomed to having a blanket over his knees as he sits and writes or reads. At eighty-three, if he has such a thing as an ailment of any kind, perhaps his eyes are not as good as they were twenty years ago, but he watches them carefully and rests them as often as possible. He has thirty or forty walking sticks, but for his long walks along the mountain trails of Connemara he carries an axe and chops away at branches and dead wood along the way.

The friends and tourists keep winding up that long trail from the highway to the Connemara house. Sometimes he "can't see anyone today." On occasion, Carl will sit and talk for an hour or two with these strangers.

About a year or so ago a couple from Pennsylvania "dropped in" on the way home from Florida. They talked, got their autographs, and as they were leaving the porch the woman impulsively walked over to Carl and kissed him. The woman immediately stepped back embarrassed and started to apologize to Paula, who laughed and said: "That's all right, he belongs to the world."

I have seen Carl go into a towering Viking rage if a letter or book has been misplaced. When Mrs. Sandburg or Margaret hands it to him, along with the evidence that it was exactly where he had hidden it himself, Carl always buries his face in his hands, and they laugh with him as he says, "Please forgive me, please forgive me."

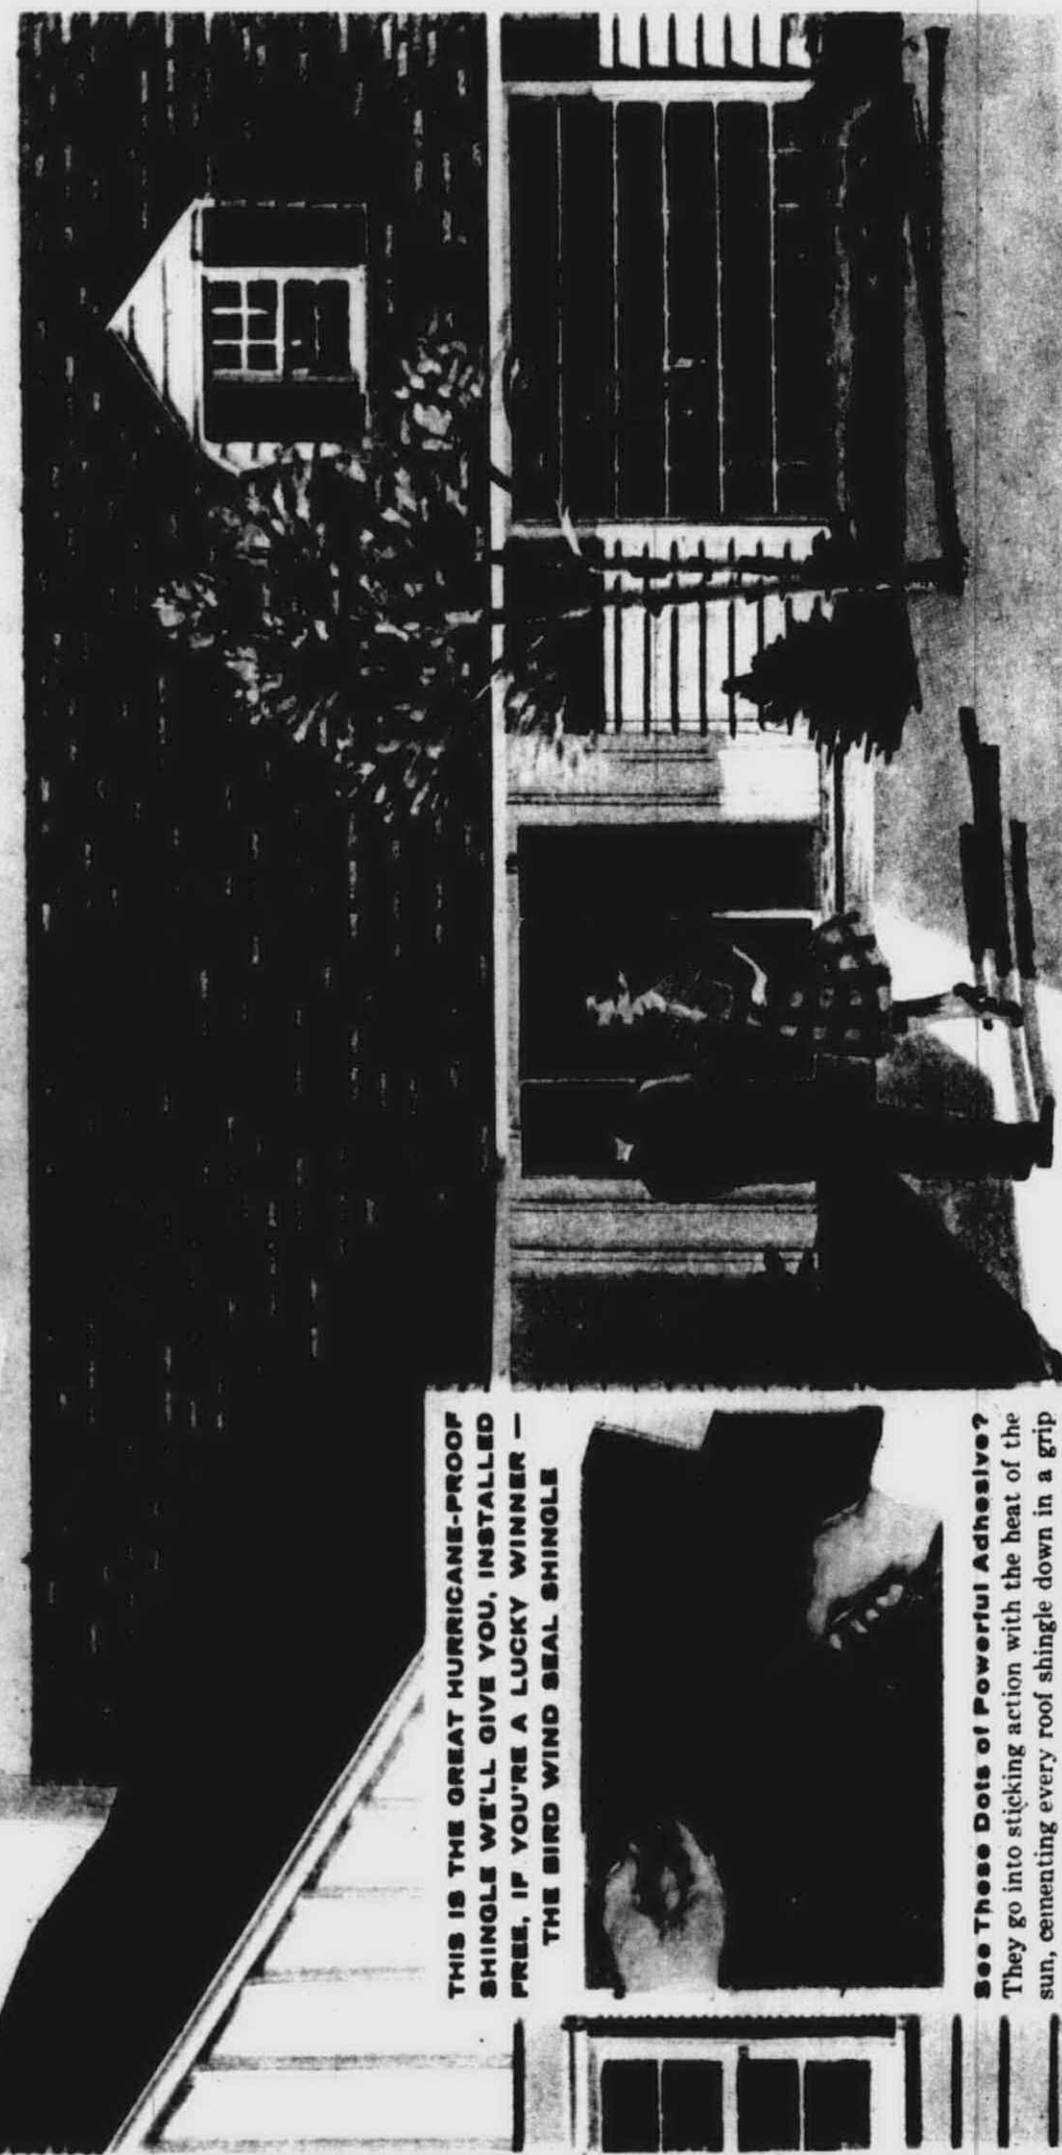

UNLESS there's a heavy rain or snow, Carl, Paula, and Margaret take an evening walk. When I visit Connemara I join them. Janet, who helps her mother with the goat herd, keeps the regular hours of a farmer; she is at the barns at sunrise and usually says "good-night" after supper. The three Sandburgs walk a measured mile along the dark path, each one armed with a flashlight. The return is slower because it is uphill, and they stop every few yards to look at the stars and talk. To avoid using the flashlight unless it is absolutely necessary, they always walk holding hands, "a good habit to get into," says Carl.

When Sandburg is home his laughter rings through the entire house; and when he is off on a trip, Mrs. Sandburg and the girls laugh at every letter he writes. Since they have three telephone extensions, all join in laughing during his daily telephone call.

"I'll be home in February," he wrote from Hollywood to Paula, "we'll take our walks again, holding hands."

enough. Stick your forefinger under the kitchen faucet, wet it, and then shake the drops onto the griddle. If it's hot enough, the drops of water will bounce around crazily before they sizzle away into nothingness. Grease your pan lightly.
All right, you're now ready to put in the batter. Do it with a tablespoon. Keep a spoon rest or a dish handy because if you leave the spoon in the mixing bowl, you'll lose it and have to go fishing into the batter for it, and this doesn't add anything to the taste. Make the pancakes any size you like them. The average griddle will take eight medium-sized pancakes. By adroit maneuvering, you can get three into a single large frying pan. When they begin to bubble on top and the edges look browned, it's time to turn them.

IF YOU'VE DONE everything right so far, and if you understand pancakes, they won't stick when you turn them. If you do have a little trouble turning them, ease your spatula under one edge, inch it slowly toward the opposite edge, gently, gently, until the pancake is free. Then turn it. It's not necessary to flip a pancake up toward the ceiling. That's for the Grade-B movie about the prospector in the mining shack. If you do it in your kitchen, hardly anybody will applaud, and it will show that you don't understand pancakes at all. Just turn the pancakes gently and easily, and then allow them to brown on the second side. For some fantastic reason, one side will always be a little browner than the other. Don't ask me why. It's a phenomenon. When you take off your first batch of pancakes, put your second batch on before serving what you already have. By the time you get back to the stove again, the new batch may be ready for turning.

Don't serve pancakes in any fancy way, like putting ice cream on them or fruit or brandy or whipped cream. Just put a generous lump of butter on top of each pancake in the stack, and then liberally pour either sirup or molasses over them. It isn't advisable to put more than four pancakes in a stack. Excessive depth makes them difficult to cut and difficult to handle on the fork. If you put four in a stack, you can serve two people while your next batch is on the griddle. Pancakes don't encourage simultaneous serving, but there's a lively overlap and, as a result, a built-in anticipation, especially when children are sitting at the table waiting to be served. The cook always gets served last or, when the pancakes are especially successful, not at all. That doesn't matter.

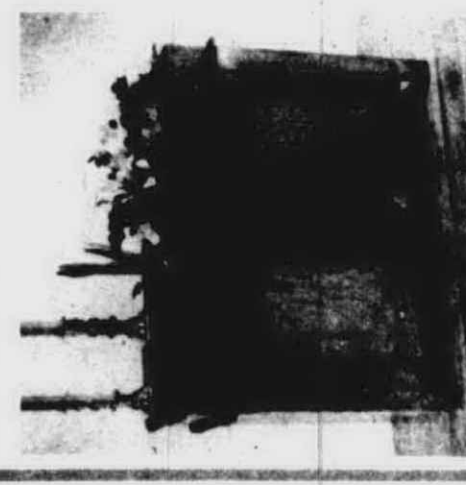

With luck, there may be a few left for the cook.

which we'd bought the night before on our way home, was spread on the table. My pancakes had made a lot of smoke in the apartment, but we didn't open too many windows because it was cold on that corner of the island, in that particular apartment exposed to the river on three sides. I've been making pancakes every Sunday morning since. I guess I make pretty good ones now. At least, everybody tells me how lousy they are, so I guess they're pretty good or they wouldn't bother to say anything.

Here's how you make them.
You buy yourself any one of the commercial mixes. Don't bother trying to concoct your own batter with flour and all that jazz because the commercial mixes are fine, and if you understand pancakes you'll recognize there's only false pride in preparing your own batter. On the back of each mix box, there are very clear and explicit directions about how to proceed. Get yourself a big mixing bowl, a tablespoon, and a cup, and spread these out on the table. Now put the box where you can read the recipe. It will almost always read something like this:

- 7 to 8 pancakes
- 1 cup milk
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon melted or liquid shortening
- 1 cup pancake mix
- 1/4 to 1/6 pancakes
- 2 cups milk
- 2 eggs
- 2 tablespoons melted or liquid shortening
- 2 cups pancake mix

The only change I make in the prepared-mix recipe is to pour in about half a cup of heavy cream which, I find, gives the pancakes a richer taste and texture. Aside from that, pancakes shouldn't be tampered with. Don't go dropping diced apples into the batter, or blueberries, because then you're not making pancakes anymore. You're baking muffins or cakes, but you're not making pancakes.

Now, before you start putting all these things together into the mixing bowl, get your griddle going. If you haven't got a griddle, use a large frying pan. Don't let it get too hot or your pancakes will brown instantly on the outside and be pasty and gooey on the inside. It's a good idea to watch the temperature of your griddle all the while you're making pancakes. You'll find it does need constant attention. While your griddle is heating, do this: throw all of the above-listed ingredients into the mixing bowl in any order whatever, and stir the mixture with a large spoon. The batter doesn't have to be very smooth. In fact, a few lumps here and there will help the pancakes. By the time you've smoothed out most of the lumps, your griddle should be hot

Suburbia Today

YOU HAVE TO UNDERSTAND PANCAKES.
If you call them griddlecakes or flapjacks, you don't understand them and you might just as well forget ever trying to make them. Griddlecakes are made in restaurants that have shiny steel stoves and chefs in big white pastry hats; they have nothing to do with pancakes which are made in people's kitchens. Flapjacks are made by gold prospectors in little wooden shacks in Grade-B movies; they also have nothing at all to do with pancakes. If you don't understand the distinction, then you won't understand pancakes, either. All is lost, and you should buy yourself a waffle iron.

You don't cook pancakes. You make them.
You don't say, "I think I'll cook some pancakes this morning." You always say, "I think I'll make some pancakes this morning." In fact, you never say that, either, because there's only one time to make pancakes, and that's on Sunday morning, and you don't have to think you'll make them, you know you'll make them. That is, if you understand them, you instinctively know they are irrevocably linked to sleeping late and people in robes with sleep around the edges of their eyes and dopey sleep-smiles on their mouths as they suggest, "Why don't you make some pancakes?"

YOU'D make them anyway. This is Sunday morning.

My own understanding of pancakes goes back a long way. It goes back to a city, and to the not unfriendly angling of asphalt street against brick building, the noise and sparks of the Second Avenue El. We would cross under the elevated structure and keep walking west toward Third Avenue. There was a candy store on the corner, and my father would stop to buy the Sunday News and the Sunday Mirror. Those were the days when Terry and the Pirates was still in the hands of Milton Caniff, who skillfully caused the Dragon Lady to reappear at intervals designed to delight the most avid reader of cyclical novels. I always knew when she was about to arrive again. I could sense it weeks before. And then, suddenly, there she was in all her mysterious Oriental beauty, and Pat Ryan would fall in love with her all over again in a nice, clean comic strip way, and then one Sunday she'd be gone. It would be a great many more Sundays before she, or Burma—whose top two blouse buttons were always unbuttoned—appeared once more. We would go up to Third Avenue where all the furniture stores were, and squeezed in between them was a bakery-restaurant where men sat around tables drinking early-morning coffee. The moment we stepped into the place, I could smell all the things baking. There were big polished coffee urns, and counter girls and waitresses in stiff white dresses, and my father would

YOU DON'T COOK PANCAKES

BY EVAN HUNTER

The author of "The Blackboard Jungle" and "Mothers And Daughters" happens to be an authority—as he's more than willing to prove buy six jelly donuts and six crullers, and they would pack them in a white paper bag, and then we'd walk home and up the steps to the fourth floor. My mother would have coffee and cocoa on the stove, and the radiators would be banging all over the apartment. When we sat down to breakfast, we didn't think about pancakes. They were there, though. They were right there in that railroad flat, even though we ate jelly donuts and crullers every Sunday morning.

Then once, in 6B, my teacher whose name was Mrs. Manelli read to us from a book by Hamlin Garland called A Son Of The Middle Border, read only one chapter of it, but oh the things in that chapter! I sat there enthralled while Mrs. Manelli's voice conjured that prairie kitchen with its cooking smells. It was very cold outside that day, and the big windows on the left-hand side of the classroom were rimmed with frost. There was a lethargic feeling to the room, the kids leaning forward with their chins cupped in their hands, and Mrs. Manelli's low voice reconstructing a warm and wonderful past. She thought she was teaching us about the prairie—but she was really teaching us all about pancakes.

I learned a lot about them long before I first poured batter into a frying pan.

ONCE, after I had moved to the Bronx, some friends and I went fishing. City boys don't often go fishing. We got up at four o'clock in the morning, and my mother came into the bedroom while I was dressing and asked, "Are you really going?" and I said, "Sure we are!" We met in front of Artie's house. We were each carrying lunch in brown paper bags. We tied them to the racks of our bicycles and started off for City Island. Our first stop was an all-night hamburger stand where we ordered coffee and scrambled eggs like truck drivers, though we were only fourteen. We cracked a lot of corny jokes and laughed a lot, and the guy behind the counter said we should be on the radio with Jack Benny. We were learning about pancakes.

In the navy once, our squadron got caught in a hurricane going from Pearl to Japan shortly after the war ended. On the second day of the storm, I went up as bridge talker, standing the mid watch with a bunch of other guys who were wearing foul weather gear and wishing MGM were there to film all these wet heroics. The communications officer in the radar shack had arranged for the talker to be relieved every hour. At two o'clock, a talker in dry gear came up to relieve me. I went down the ladder to the radar shack, took off the foul weather gear, and hung it up to dry as well as it could before the next man put it on. I sat down with the other radarmen, and we drank coffee, and I told them how terrible it was up there on the open bridge with waves crashing in over the bow of the bringing up baby.

Hints collected by Mrs. Dan Gerber, Mother of 5

All of us know the basic protective measures for guarding baby but sometimes things just plain slip our minds. A few "I-just-didn't-think-of-it's":

For the active wee one. Crib sides should always be up when baby's in bed. Can't tell when that live wire will roll over. At bath-time, it's a good idea to turn a deaf ear to the phone. When diapering, powder can should be kept out of reach so baby won't inhale powder.

For the experienced creeper. A baby on all fours will make a bee line for any bright object so eagle-eye the floor for pins, bits of cellophane, etc. Iron and toaster cords or floor-drooping plants should not be left a-dangle when baby's on the prowl. Floor fans and heaters are a hazard.

For the into-everything toddler. Beware the burning cigarette and table lighter. A toddler's hand is quicker than your eye. Floor spills are an invitation to tumbles... should be wiped up immediately. Pills in your purse are easy to find—and take none in sight of your copycat one.
