

No Tax Revenue For Community College Until '63

An appeal for funds to operate the Northwest Wayne County Community College until tax money becomes available is being made by the Board of Trustees through citizens who are being enlisted to inform all voters of the college's problems.

The nearly-broke institution has been running on what grants it could receive from the four school districts in the Community College district — Clarenceville, Garden City, Livonia and Plymouth.

But in order for the college to open by its target date of September 1964, certain staff members must be hired now. But there is no money available to hire these people.

Plans call for presenting a one mill levy to voters at the June 11 school election in all four districts. If approved, the first taxes from this millage would not become available to the college until January 1963.

One half mill would be used for operating while the other half would go into construction.

One half mill, when combined with income from student tuition and fees and state and federal aid, would cover costs when the college is in operation. This millage would also cover operating costs during 1963 and until the Community College begins operation, probably in September 1964.

The college's principal financing problem, therefore, is in finding a means of covering necessary operating costs during 1962.

In this year, if the opening of the college is not to be delayed a year, the Trustees claim, it is necessary to hire staff members to begin planning the college curriculum and prepare specifications which will permit architects to begin work on facilities. Also to be started is a 20,000 volume library, necessary to college operation.

"It is these 1962 operating expenses, which will be incurred before the college receives its first income from millage, that the trustees are attempting to find income to cover," the trustees declared. "Unless we can find sufficient funds through gifts and grants, the opening of the college will have to be delayed a year."

During the coming weeks, citizens will be enlisted in preparing a presentation of the financial needs of the college.

According to Harold Fischer of Plymouth, president of the college.

Local Man Struck by Car Dies at 79

Injuries he received when struck by a car were listed as "contributing factors" in the death of 79-year-old Fred Tobey, 1024 Wing St., who died Monday morning, Jan. 1, at Wayne County General Hospital.

Mr. Tobey suffered a fractured right leg and head lacerations. Because of his advanced age, the injuries were considered serious and he was in a semi-conscious condition. Department of Public Safety Director Kenneth Fisher said that the death will probably be listed as a traffic fatality for the City.

Mr. Tobey was taking a walk on Saturday, Dec. 23 and was returning home when he crossed the street near Wiedman's Ford dealership. A car driven by JoAnne Malik, 17, of 47813 W. Seven Mile, Northville, was heading south. Miss Malik said that she didn't see the pedestrian and that he walked into the side of her car.

Witnesses in another car said that they didn't see Mr. Tobey until he was tossed into the air. He was rushed to Wayne County General Hospital.

Born in Friesland, Mich. on May 4, 1882, Mr. Tobey was the son of Cyrus and Lizzie (Sedman) Tobey.

City Asks: 'Why Equalization?'

Seeks Report For Six Months

Why, after the State Tax Commission told the City that there would be no equalization if assessments were made according to the State Assessment Manual, was there an equalization? And where is the data supporting the Commission's denial of the City equalization appeal?

These are the questions that the City Commission and Supervisor A. E. Vallier have been asking for months now and there still appears to be no answers forthcoming from Lansing.

At Monday night's City Commission meeting, a report sent by Supervisor Vallier stated that the State Tax Commission has now indicated they were willing to meet with representatives of the City to discuss the City's equalization, but Vallier recommended that the meeting be postponed until the Tax Commission gives the City a copy of its report with data indicating why the protest was denied.

Mayor Robert Sincok declared that the state has continually said that if assessments are made according to the state manual, there would be no need for equalization (a percentage added to the total assessed valuation). But Wayne County Bureau of Taxation has equalized the City's tax assessment anyway and the City has taken its protest as high as the State Supreme Court. In 1959, the City submitted to a complete reappraisal.

Supervisor Vallier has been attempting since June to get the State Tax Commission's report on Plymouth's equalization appeal denied. Trips have been made to Lansing and Detroit, and so far, there has been no sight of a report. Now, the Tax Department says it will meet with the City representatives in Lansing. Commissioners voted Monday night not to make the trip until the report is first seen "so we will know what we are talking about when we get there," Vallier will send another letter.

ICE SKATING CAME to Plymouth in full force last week as Wilcox Lake hardened up under zero temperatures. The lake, operated by the Wayne County Road Commission, attracted hundreds of skaters between Christmas and New Year's Day with many of the young folks trying out their new skates. The warming sheds are again in place while nearby a new, modern shelter house is being built that will probably open in February. Pictured is the largest body of skaters last Sunday afternoon, but many more were scattered in other parts of the lake playing hockey.

Two Schools, Two State Elections Ahead for Local Voters During 1962

Voters of Plymouth will be asked to go to the polls at least four times during 1962 to decide on millage issues and candidates, a survey by The Plymouth Mail this week indicated.

Two statewide elections will be held and two others dealing with schools are also anticipated.

The first election facing voters in the Plymouth Community School District is expected to be sometime in April. No date has yet been set by the Board of Education, but the election will deal with millage. The district has 3.5 mills expiring this year and may need additional millage to operate a new school opening next fall. Indications are that the Board will set this election in early April.

On Monday, June 11 will be the annual school election, always held the second Monday in June. Board of Education vacancies are filled at this election. Expiring this year will be the terms of Wesley Kaiser and Robert Soth.

Also on this ballot may be a one mill proposal for the Northwest Wayne County Community College. The college, although authorized for formation and headed by seven elected trustees, has no source of revenue of its own, except for grants from the school boards. (See story elsewhere on this page.)

There will be no local City or Township officials elected in 1962, but the polling places will be kept busy two days during the latter half of the year.

On Tuesday, Aug. 7, the statewide primary election will take place. At this election, the parties will nominate their candidates for governor, U. S. representative, State senator and representative, and Wayne County offices. There is no U. S. senate race this year.

Then, on Tuesday, Nov. 6, there will be a general election at which winners of the primary will face each other.

Goodfellows End Biggest Holiday Task

Sixty-five families were aided by the Plymouth Goodfellows this year while the Salvation Army listed 60 families that it brought cheer to during the holidays.

The two agencies work together in disbursing happiness to area families at Christmas. In many cases, the Salvation Army gave food baskets while the Goodfellows gave shoes and clothes to the same families.

Although the Goodfellows report will not be finalized until their next meeting, it appears that they have had their most successful year as far as donations were concerned. The newspaper sale brought in $2,200 compared with $1,600 a year ago. The 65 families aided this year

Language Lab Is New Look in Schools

By Jim Sponseller

A classroom where the teacher sits in the back — where students are divided by partitions — and where the pupil puts on a set of headphones at a desk covered with buttons and a recorder turntable.

A generation ago, such a classroom found in a school or college would be considered a marvel and certainly perplexing, but today they are commonplace across the United States, including Plymouth High School.

Plymouth High's language laboratory is now in its second year of operation and already it is clear that it is insufficient to handle the growing numbers of foreign language students.

Located on the third floor of the High School Annex, the laboratory was inaugurated a year ago at a cost of $13,000, of which the federal government paid 45% as encouragement to schools to teach more foreign language.

At present, there are 10 classes of French being taught at the Senior High, nine classes of Spanish and six classes of Latin. This means that around 500 students are now enrolled in foreign language classes. In addition, there are one Spanish and two French classes at the Junior High.

The language "lab" room looks more like a place for a group of people who are mad at each other. Students sit at desks that are three-sided cubicles and are somewhat sound-proofed by acoustical paneling.

There are 30 "stations" in the room. At the back of the room is a small "stage" where the instructor sits behind a complicated console of electronic equipment consisting principally of tape players, record players and switches.

The instructor plays pre-recorded tapes and records on which the recording teacher repeats words, phrases or sentences.

There is then a pause so that the student can repeat the same words. Three different programs can be played at the same time. A combination of switches allows playing the recordings to any or all of the six rows.

An instructor can also monitor any of the student conversations and the instructor can even interrupt a student and tell him what he is saying wrong.

Pre-recorded tapes are mainly used. They are recorded by experts in the field, most of them in native dialects.

Pedestrian Hit By Turning Car

Seventy-six-year-old Fred Kohler, 297 Fair St., is being treated at Wayne County General Hospital for head injuries he received when struck by a car Tuesday afternoon.

Police said that Kohler was crossing the street with the traffic light when a car driven by Peter Miller, 19, of 772 Burroughs, made a left turn and struck the pedestrian. Miller said that he did not see the pedestrian until a passenger yelled.

At press time, X-rays had been taken but police were not able to learn the seriousness of Kohler's injuries. He did have head injuries, a patrolman reported. The driver was ticketed for reckless driving.

WITH A CASH register that had been in use for at least 50 years, barbers Al Conery, owner of Red's Barber Shop, and Homer Jewell, former owner, whip up a final batch of lather in the place that has been a barbershop since 1902.

After 60 Years, Barber Shop on Corner Closes

"It just won't be the same."

That was the comment heard from several Plymouth old timers as the barbershop on the northeast corner of Main and Pennina Ave. was locked up Saturday.

For 60 years there has been a barbershop on that corner. One can only estimate how many tons of hair have fallen, how many barrels of shaving cream have been whipped up and how many favorite stories have been unraveled during those three score years.

But when the shop owner locked the door last Saturday, it was the last time. Preparations are being made to tear down the old structure.

Now occupied by Red's Barber Shop, operated by Al Conery, the shop has been owned by only four barbers since it was started in 1902.

The building itself was erected around 1880, according to Homer

HARDLY A typical classroom is this language laboratory at Plymouth High School. Thirty individual booths equipped with headphones and recording equipment give language students a new training aid, that has been in use since last year. French and Spanish teachers report success of the method is becoming more noticeable each year.

Newburg Den Tours Greenfield Village

Mrs. Emil LaPointe
GL 3-3797

When you read this column it will be the new year 1962, so may I, at this time, extend to you and yours the best of health, wealth and happiness in this new year.

Despite the busy holiday schedules to be met by many folks, throughout the Christmas week, three ladies found time to escort a group of boys of Den 8 from Pack 852 of the Washington school on a tour through the Greenfield Village Museum on Friday, Dec. 29. Those ambitious ladies were Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. H. Nay and Mrs. Edward Reid and the Cubs enjoying the outing were Robert Clark, Scott Stover, Philip Reid, David Savage, Robert Ralph, Douglas Nay, James Eatmon and Keith Barry. The entire pack has a skating outing scheduled at the Riverside Roller Rink.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reid of Richland entertained Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chico and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Waltz on Wednesday, Dec. 27 at their home.

Christmas guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Verner Nyman of Laurel Ave. were the Nyman's son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Nyman of Kalamazoo.

Christmas gifts come in many shapes and forms, but the family of John Jensen of Richland Ave. can proudly announce the arrival of two, a boy and a girl, Diane and Chris, each just under five pounds in weight. This addition makes the other four brothers and sisters of the family very excited. Congratulations to all.

Dinner guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ritzler of Plymouth Rd. on Friday, Dec. 29, were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Lacy and sons Bill and Jim from Pontiac.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Willson and son Bill of Plymouth were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Reid on Thursday, Dec. 28.

Our household boasted a goodly number on Christmas Day. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Weiss, Sr. of Graham Rd., Detroit, were guests for dinner in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bennett and son Graham and daughter Donna of Stark Rd., who joined us for the supper hour. To top off the day, but not so grandly, our daughter Nan, came down with the mumps and has been confined to bed ever since.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Waltz and daughters Jennifer and Sara of Richland Ave. made the rounds of relatives on Christmas Day by first stopping at the home of Mrs. Waltz's sister in Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. William Ince and then on to Detroit to the home of Mr. Waltz's mother, Mrs. Robert Waltz for more Christmas festivity.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bowerman of Joy Rd. had pre-Christmas celebration on Sunday, Dec. 24 by having in Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Remy and children Leonard and Ann of Newburg Rd. as dinner guests and then in addition, for the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jefferson and son Robbie and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Remy, Jr.

The ladies of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Newburg Methodist Church presented some of their shut-in members with poinsettia remembrances at this Christmas time. Recipients of these thoughtful gifts were Mrs. Janet Hodge at the West Trail Nursing home; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilbert of Newburg Road and Mrs. Anna Bennett of Newburg Road. Greetings of the season were also sent to a shut-in friend, Mrs. M. S. Ayers of Ann Arbor Trail.

Christmas Day was a festive occasion in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ritzler of Plymouth Road. Their dinner guest list included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ritzler of Ypsilanti; Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Hoffman and sons Ronnie and Jimmy of Carleton; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Simpson and son Charles of Belleville and Jerry Brady of Plymouth.

The holidays were made doubly enjoyable at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Femy of Newburg Rd. for their dinner guests on Christmas Day were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gilbert, both folks who have been unable to get out too often but the pleasant day provided them with the opportunity. Evening supper guests at the Remy's were Mr. and Mrs. James Remy, Jr., and daughters Roberta and Sharon of Newburg Rd.

Receives Degree At Michigan State

Linden F. Mills, 625 Pacific, received a bachelor of arts degree in hotel and club management at the fall quarter commencement exercises at Michigan State University on Dec. 7. Baccalaureate degrees were awarded to 487 candidates and advanced degrees to 220. "Aim high" and "aspire," the graduates were counseled by the commencement speaker, George Romney, president of American Motors. "Only through faith in three things — God, yourself and goals greater than yourself — can you develop the staying power required to overcome any of life's trials and disappointments," he said.

Alpha Xi Deltas To Hear Report

Mrs. Dwight Lewis will speak to the Dearborn Alumnae Chapter of Alpha Xi Delta on "Etiquette of Entertaining" at the Jan. 9 meeting. The meeting will be held at Mrs. Lewis' home, 810 N. Elizabeth, Dearborn, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. W. D. Wassell will report on activities of the sorority chapter at West Virginia Wesleyan College. All Beta Sigmas in the area are especially invited. Plans will be made for the Panhellenic Dance to be held in February at the Dearborn Country Club. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Richard Hagemeyer at LO 1-2365 or Mrs. Donald Loomis, GA 7-8685.

Christmas time finds many young folks home from college and it was nice to see Richard Waack, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Waack home for the holidays from Ferris Institute in Big Rapids. Richard is in his freshman year at Ferris.

The eighth grade Sunday school class of the Newburg Methodist church spent Saturday, Dec. 23, spreading cheer and gifts for the season. The young folks took a small decorated tree, decorations which they made themselves, to the senior citizens at the West Trail Nursing home in Plymouth, presented a gift book to Mrs. Janet Hodge and sang Christmas carols. Following this expedition they went to the home of their teacher, Mrs. Emil LaPointe for party and fellowship. Debbie Anderson, Barbara Merrell, Joan Esche, Nancy Ritzler and Alan Daum were the members of the class who participated.

Nice to be with you again. Glad to hear that you enjoy reading the Newburg News. Call me about your activities. See you next week?

Grange Cleanings

The Christmas Party of Dec. 21 drew a large attendance and was enjoyed by all. There was a plenty of apples, pop corn balls and candy and dear ole Santa Claus was the hit of the evening.

All of those that took part helped to make the party an outstanding affair. Don't forget the pot-luck supper on Thursday, at 6:30 p.m. Jan. 4. Bring your own table service. Happy New Year to all.

Michigan Bell Offers Almanac

"The nation that secures control of the air will ultimately rule the world." Who said it?

One can find the answer in the 1962 and 40th edition of the Telephone Almanac, now available at the local business office of the Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

In addition to information about the weather, astronomical data, important dates, and other interesting facts, the new edition, with its feature drawings, emphasizes the world's struggle to conquer the air — from the first rocket developed by the Chinese to the Space Age of today. The color of the 1962 edition is blue and the cover supports the Space Age theme with a scratch-board drawing of an experimental earth station for communication by satellite.

Incidentally, the author of the above statement is Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, who made the prediction in 1907 when he organized the Aerial Experiment Association, following a successful attempt at getting a man into the air in a huge kite.

Robin Neglects To Winter in South

"Why do robins fly South in the winter?" "Because it's too far to walk." Just about everyone has heard that old riddle. But why a robin hangs around the Eber Readman home at 1310 Maple, zero weather and all, is anyone's guess.

The robin has been hanging around the outside of the home's front picture window. Mrs. Readman, of course, has encouraged the robin to stay with some fruit cake, cookies, bread and other goodies. "He seems fat and fluffy," Mrs. Readman reports.

At last week's meeting of the council, a schedule of rates for water users was established, and porch lights discussed. There are more than 280 porch lights in the village on free circuits. They are allowed to use 16 candle power lamps costing 1/2 a cent per hour. At this rate the average porch light is running 14 hours a night for the year round. Very few people turn theirs off. Over the period of a year this amounts to $7776. A proposal is now before the council to investigate a public lighting system which in the long-run would be more economical to Plymouth.

The church at Newburg has just had a new carpet laid over the entire auditorium and will be reopened for services next Sunday.

About 30 friends and relatives of Jacob Streng surprised him at his home last week Thursday, the occasion being his birthday. All were given fine entertainment.

WHAT DOES ONE do when the family cat tears the decorations from the Christmas tree? Well, hang the tree upside down from the ceiling, naturally. Mrs. Roy G. Hopper, 1815 Haggerty, wasn't troubled by her cat, Scuzzy, at all this year. Besides that, one can get more presents under the tree. Next year, Mrs. Hopper says she will get a bigger tree.

Jean's Jottings

Jean Campau - Women's Editor

Our modern Christmases are hustling and hectic. Stores are crowded, traffic heavy and we come home from shopping excursions battered, bruised and footsore. It seems, in our mind's eye, that surely Christmas in days gone by must have been more leisurely. Investigation leads the inquirer to wonder.

In a scrapbook owned by the late Louis Hillmer, Christmas of 1825 was celebrated this way in Plymouth. "It was duly celebrated. Wild turkeys were in abundance and within easy gun-shot of every log cabin. It required only the keen eye and deliberate aim of a Markham, a Starkweather or a Tibbits to provide the requisite game. And quite likely while the 'animal' was hanging upon the crane over the open fire, broiling steadily on, stories and sweet cider circulated freely among the guests."

"At the conclusion of the 'feast' the company, young and old, drew back toward the log-ribbed walls of the crude cabin and A. B. Markham, without invitation, led off with a holiday song." According to the Hillmer clipping the chorus of the popular tune went like this:

"To drive dull care away
To drive dull care away
Oh, we think it no harm in the least, boys,
To have an occasional feast, boys,
And turkey is the beast, boys,
To drive dull care away."

"The whole company joined in the chorus and the song was no sooner concluded that William Starkweather also without solicitation, and in his usual 'I'll-take-care-of-myself' sort of way announced his readiness to honor the gathering with an original song, of his own composition, and which he thought particularly appropriate to their first Christmas celebration in the opening wilderness."

"The song was a good one, and full of good 'local hits', so much so that the uproarious laughter and applause attended its delivery. The songster, at its conclusion, even without a motion to that effect, was unambiguously declared poet laureate forever, or as it was afterward modified, 'till the wilderness should blossom as a rose.'"

On that first Christmas in Plymouth 136 years ago, this community had not yet acquired a name for itself and went only by the surveyor's description of 'town one south, range eight east, District of Detroit, M.T. (Michigan Territory). Life then was hard and rugged with few, if any, conveniences.

Well, to me, when the past is balanced against the future, I'll take today, with its electricity, and supermarkets bulging with frozen turkeys and other goodies, and the dilemma I am faced with selecting from the great abundance that surrounds us.

Today is better than yesterday and tomorrow will be better than today.

Retirement Party Is Given Salem Resident

By C. W. Clair
GL 3-2610

A retirement party was given Robert Bulman at his home on Pontiac Trail, last month. Twenty-five were present including Raymond Cook, chairman of the Road Commission, and Howard Menier, superintendent of roads for Washtenaw County. It was also Mr. Bulman's 70th birthday. Rolland Kapp of Whitmore Lake will take Mr. Bulman's place with William Hurth as assistant in Salem Township.

There's a rumble in the Township that the people are going to be asked, sometime in the future, to vote on a sewage disposal system. The plant is located at Willow Run. The line would run as planned now from Whitmore Lake along the Five Mile Rd. to Curtis Rd. over to Prospect Rd. to the plant. The estimated cost for the trunk-line and pumping station would be approximately $2,260,000. When more information is available I will pass it on.

H. C. Shaffmaster of Curtis Rd., is still in Harper Hospital in an oxygen tent. He has shown some improvement, but his condition is considered critical.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Griswold of Salem Rd. were called to Wilkes Barre, Pa. last week, to attend the funeral of Mrs. Griswold's niece.

Mrs. Ray Pond from Six Mile Rd., Salem, was taken back to the University Hospital in Ann Arbor last Sunday for surgery the following Monday.

William Lewis was taken out of the isolation ward at the Veterans Hospital in Ann Arbor. He has shown a big improvement the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Roberts and family of Chubb Rd. had their Christmas dinner with Mrs. Edmund Schutler in Detroit. Mrs. Schutler is Mrs. Roberts' sister.

The Go-Gos 4-H Club had their Christmas party at the home of Robert Anderson on Dixboro Rd. last Tuesday, Dec. 26. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mr. J. Lutchka Jan. 4. They live at 5100 Five Mile Rd.

The Douglas Hoyer family on Goffredson Rd. was surprised last Friday when their son Leonard came home unexpectedly from the U.S. Army. He is stationed in Missouri and had four leave days and decided to come home.

Miss Harriet Ingall from New York City spent Christmas with her mother and father who live on Joy Rd. Miss Ingall arrived home last Thursday and left Monday. She is a fabric stylist in the textile industry in N.Y.C. A family gathering was held at the Ingall home Saturday evening. A son from Plymouth, a daughter from Monroe and a son from Joy Rd. were there. Their other daughter came up from Findlay, O. Tuesday. Beware of the Brunette — for she excels all women in the magic of her locks.

Also when she winds them around a young man's neck, she will not ever set him free again.

Goethe Mr. and Mrs. Burton Rich spent the Christmas Holiday at Stanton, Mich. with their daughter, Mrs. Duncan McIntyre. They went up Sunday and came back Monday night.

I have had reports of teenagers drag-racing on Eight Mile Rd. in the late hours of the evening; and racing and speeding on Seven Mile Rd. Now this week I had a call come from the Six Mile Rd. area. The lady who called me had been to South Lyon to pick up her daughter. When she came back home, she found her dog had been killed. He had broken his chain and wandered to the road where he was hit. She then asked her neighbor what had happened. The neighbor told her there had been two car loads of young people racing through and had hit the dog and hadn't stopped. She said they had gone through the village at a terrific speed, disregarding all signs. She called me and asked me if I would write something for the paper that the people would know and be warned. I made several phone calls and the people I have talked to said it was not an unusual thing to see these kids go tearing through speeding and driving recklessly. My thought is that they very well could have hit a child as they did that dog — and probably would have kept on going. How to cope with this problem? I have to confess I really don't know. There is one thing that parents in this area can do and that is to be sure that the children don't play in the road. We all know that there is very little patrol on any of these highways and there hasn't been since our patrolman was taken off a couple of years ago. I have called the Supervisor and told him about the conditions and he promised me that he would talk to Mr. Peterson and find out if he can do something about it. He said he knows it is very bad on those roads but to date there hasn't been anything done about it.

Mrs. Marguerite Bromley

Like to be awakened at 4:30 a.m. twice a week by market noises outside your bedroom window? This was the experience of Mrs. Marguerite Bromley who has just returned this August from France where she lived for seven weeks as a member of a three generation French family.

Mrs. Bromley has been the recipient of two National Defense Educational Act grants for the Summer Institute in French. She studied on the first level at the University of Missouri for an equivalent of six hours of graduate work. Then on the second level of eight hours of graduate work she was one of 80 French teachers (4 were from Michigan) selected to study in Tours, France.

This institute under the administration of the University of Oregon was taught by native French teachers in a girl's Lycee and was initiated with a one week visit in Paris to the many cultural attractions and concluded with an eight day conducted tour of the country.

Other scholastic recognitions have been the Eddy Memorial Scholarship and the Women's Club Scholarship both of Saginaw given for her undergraduate work at the University of Michigan where she received her BA degree with a major in French and a minor in English.

What The People Want

"What do YOU look for when you buy a new car?" If you're like sixteen out of seventeen Detroit radio listeners recently asked that question, you'd answer that dealer integrity, reliable service and economy, in that order, count most. Price would place a poor fourth.

Summing up the consensus of opinion, one listener to the program called "Phone Opinion" responded: "One of my pet peeves in buying an automobile, and I'm sure the majority of your audience agrees with me, is the rosy picture they paint you before you buy the car. . . . We are going to take care of your car." "It's the best car on the road" . . . etc.

"Everybody has the same story, basically. But after the sale it's a totally different story; you go back for repairs — even minor ones — with your warranty still in effect, and they just give you the runaround. They stall you off by referring you to one mechanic after another and keep you waiting for hours until you finally get tired and leave."

One lone dissenter — an automobile salesman — claimed price was the most important of all to buyers, economy and service notwithstanding. As most automobile dealers realize, actual public behavior is a compromise between these two attitudes. To be successful, a dealer must be competitive in price, but back his product with honest dealing and reliable service if he is going to acquire and keep customers.

Our town is not so big that we can afford the one-shot no-repeat sale, or to lose customers by offering less value for the buyer's money.

SPORTSEEN

By Jerome O'Neil

If there are four chaturanga players in Plymouth today, it may be that no two of them are familiar with each other.

This assumption is logical only because there is no chaturanga club in Plymouth today.

There once was, but someone must have moved away or else they've given up the game.

A chaturanga club could consist of as few as two members, but perhaps — for variety — four or six would be more sufficient. This is not to say that Plymouth necessarily needs a chaturanga club, but it's a diversion from the more commonplace.

Chaturanga, a word from Sanskrit, was invented in India about 560 A.D. and has undergone few basic changes during the past 14 centuries.

It's a game of skill, requiring a minimum of two participants, a maximum of mental agility and concentration, and for what it matters, physical conditioning is of no importance.

Competition in a game of chaturanga is as great as it is anywhere else in the world of sports. The difference is, it doesn't show as much.

Chaturanga most usually is played on a table top with the opponents directly facing each other. Each opponent has a rather formidable army at his command.

The game, however, could be played entirely out of memory without the physical aid of a table or either of the two armies. It has been known to be played via postcard with opponents miles apart.

And the game today — if you haven't already recognized it — is known as chess.

(Well, it's a diversion from the commonplace, isn't it?)

Chess is more intricate than bridge, presumably less exciting than professional football, and has the longest sports history with the exception perhaps of that which surrounds a deck of playing cards.

A New York City teen-ager is a world champion and ranks with the best Russian masters. Chess is part of the training of Russian army officers.

One of the greatest chess wizards of all time was Paul Morphy, from New Orleans, who in the 19th century reigned supreme throughout the chess world.

For every 10 bridge players there perhaps is one chess player. Only a slender fraction of those that witness a professional baseball game each year also view a chess match.

There is no common denominator between golf and chess nor between commuter-car gin rummy games and chess.

Still, chess has lived longer than practically any other competitive sport in the world and there is no sign it will soon disappear.

Which is fortunate.

Chess is too well known to require a detailed introduction, but its past history may be of interest.

For the unfamiliar, chess is played on a board of eight by eight squares, each player having 16 men — a king, queen, two bishops, two knights, two rooks.

Originally, as it was invented 1400 years ago, chess (then chaturanga) illustrated the operations of an Indian army. Instead of a king and queen, there was the king and his minister, the latter being the commanding officer of the army.

In those days, the minister could move one step diagonally, the king one step in any direction. Other players were the chariot, which corresponds to the modern rook, the horse (today the knight), and the elephant (now the bishop).

The pawn has remained unchanged.

The Persians picked up the game soon after its invention and made minor changes in the rule-book. When the Arabs conquered Persia (638-651 A.D.); they retained the game of chess.

The names of many famed chess players before 750 A.D. have been preserved. Books on chess were written during 800 to 950 and are still being quoted.

During that same period chess was recognized not only as a game, but also as a method for teaching military tactics.

Christians on the Spanish Marches were playing chess soon after 1000 A.D., and it was introduced in Italy not much later. Soon it spread in Bavaria, France and England and by 1250 it had even reached Iceland.

English and French players adopted eastern names for pieces and moves. The chariot became a 'rook' from the Persian word 'rukh' meaning chariot. Today's word 'checkmate' is from the Arabic 'shah mata' meaning 'the king is helpless.'

'Pawn' is derived from a medieval French word meaning foot-soldier.

By 1250 the earlier prejudice of the Church against chess was weakening, since the game was patronized by kings. The monastic orders were gladly accepting chess to ease the monotony of convent life.

A great chess activity swept Italy and Spain in the latter 16th century and the act of 'casting' was originated then. Chess today is virtually the same as it was 300 years ago.

And, of course, there was no chaturanga club in Plymouth in 1662. Which seems to explain it all.

Bentley Next for Swimmers, Cagers

Coaches John McFall and Charlie Ketterer this week share a mutual opponent as Plymouth's 1962 portion of the winter sports program gets underway.

McFall's swimming team hosts Bentley tomorrow evening at 7 p.m. and Ketterer's cagers invade the Bulldogs' domain the following night.

In addition, the Plymouth basketball team has another appointment on Saturday evening, this one with Farmington.

Although McFall's wariness is something less than Ketterer's, it is none the less very real for the Bentley swimming team is rated among the strongest in the Suburban Six conference.

Only Trenton — on Jan. 11 — will pose a greater threat to Plymouth's hopes of sweeping undefeated through its league list of dual meets.

A glimpse at the schedule for January reveals that Plymouth's swimming team takes on no less than four exceptionally strong opponents. Following Bentley and Trenton is Ann Arbor (on Jan. 13), a perennial powerhouse, and then Redford Union and Allen Park, the Rocks on Jan. 27 meet Fordson, another highly regarded team.

The Plymouth swimming team currently carries a 3-1 record.

McFall revealed that he had observed with pleasure the progress of Plymouth's junior varsity swimming team and is giving thought to advancing one or two of the JayVee swimmers to the varsity roster, but not necessarily for the Bentley meet.

From a basketball standpoint, Bentley High represents the team that knocked over high-flying Allen Park two weeks ago.

Although Bentley these days is far below its usual form on the basketball floor, it still is a serious threat to Plymouth which also has fallen on bad times.

The Rocks have managed only one victory (over Walled Lake) in five outings and have lost their last two games.

A year ago at this time when Plymouth and Bentley met, the Bulldogs pulled out a 47-46 decision with a field goal in the final three seconds.

Plymouth will be seeking revenge for that loss and several other close defeats at the hands of arch-rival Bentley High over the past decade.

Ketterer sent his cagers through four practice sessions during the holiday lay-off and also worked in a game scrimmage with Thurston High from Redford Township.

There were indications that he might institute some changes in his starting lineup for the Bentley encounter. (Plymouth's last loss was a dismal 38-32 beating from Belleville.)

Ketterer, too, faces a tough list of opponents during January. While Bentley will not be the most serious one, neither will it be a "weak sister" affair, for games between the Rocks and Bulldogs have a habit of reaching fever pitch, regardless.

Immediately following Bentley comes Farmington on Jan. 6.

The Falcons earned consolation honors in the recent Northwest Suburban holiday basketball tournament and rang up 70 points in one effort there.

Trenton, which shares the league cellar with Plymouth, comes to town on Jan. 12 and then its high-flying Redford Union on Jan. 19.

(Redford Union stopped Allen Park, 61-51, in the N.W. Suburban tourney Dec. 29 in a game of significance to Suburban Six league members.)

The Fordson Tractors are in town on Jan. 20 and Allen Park visits on Jan. 26.

All-in-all, Ketterer has reason for sleepless nights as he considers his assignment this month.

On the matter of the Suburban Six league cage crown, he was quick to name Redford Union as an

Civic Assn. Has Monthly Meeting

The Superior Township Civic Association will hold their regular monthly meeting on Jan. 4 at 8 p.m. at Superior Township Hall.

Following a brief business meeting there will be two color, sound movies. The first feature is entitled "Wyoming Adventure" which will take the viewer along with a typical American family through forests and across streams, hunting and fishing as they go.

The second movie "Aerobics", deals with scientific achievements in space and space vehicles, showing the advancements of this rocket-age.

It promises to be a highly entertaining evening and all members are urged to attend.

odds-on favorite. "Redford Union is definitely with the upper hand now," he observed, pointing out the Panthers' easy victory over Allen Park in the Christmas spectacular.

(Allen Park had been regarded at one stage of the season as the only other serious contender for league laurels. But Bentley promptly dumped the Parkers in a league match and Redford Union displayed its superiority over Allen Park in the holiday tourney, thus erasing the majority of doubts.)

Plymouth, in the meantime, will strive to raise itself from the bottom of the standings to a more respectable position.

Rocks Seek More Smiles From Dame Fortune in '62

Dame Fortune, a fickle Lady at best, has smiled intermittently on Plymouth High in its athletic undertakings thus far in the 1961-62 season.

But, none the less, the Rocks have fashioned a creditable record as they take the turn in their sports schedule and head into the New Year.

Particularly successful fall sports have kept the winning percentage high at Plymouth this academic year.

Under Mike Hoben, the Rocks compiled a 6-2 card on the football field, captured the Suburban Six league crown and lost only to top-ranked Northville (in the first game) and equally high-ranked Walled Lake in the final contest of the fall.

During the same span, John Sandmann's cross country squad captured a league championship too, and earned a 10th place finish in the state cross country meet.

More currently, basketball at Plymouth is not enjoying a similar level of success, despite the determined efforts of coach Charlie Ketterer and his hopeful cagers.

With Bentley the opponent Friday evening, Plymouth will seek to throw off its loser's mantle.

To date the Rocks are 1-4 for the season and display a 0-2 record in conference play, sharing the bottom rung on the league ladder as a result. Plymouth's lone cage victory was over Walled Lake.

The swimming team has fared somewhat better this winter.

John McFall's swimmers, who entertain Bentley tomorrow night to begin the 1962 portion of their season, have won three of four dual meets.

The one loss, a narrow defeat to Birmingham Seaholm, snapped a sparkling 39-meet victory skein that dated back to 1958. The Rocks rebounded from that defeat with two wins in a row and are favored in the Bentley match 24 hours from now.

Prophecies for Plymouth's spring sports might include favorable mention for the baseball and track teams and question marks on the golf and tennis squads.

But, like the weather man, mistakes can be made here, too.

Forest Fires Claim 8,000 Acres in 1961

Forest fires left their black mark on nearly 8,000 acres in Michigan during 1961, an increase of about 5,000 acres over the record low total of 1960, the Conservation Department reports.

Hardest hit were lands in the northern lower peninsula where 556 fires burned 4,881 acres, more than three times the region's acreage figure in 1960.

In the upper peninsula, 433 fires damaged 1,748 acres as compared with 381 acres the year before. Another 1,350 acres fell victim to 142 fires in the southern lower peninsula; some 1,050 acres burned in this part of the state last year.

Much of this year's forest fire toll can be laid to winter's relatively light snowfall which produced unusually dry conditions during the spring.

From January through mid-March, the traditional off-season for forest fires, more than 500 acres burned. By the end of May, the figure stood at 6,800 acres; approximately 3,200 acres were damaged during April, the year's highest monthly total.

Only about 540 acres were caught by fires from the start of July through the season's end in December, which normally includes some of the most dangerous weeks in the fire-fighting year.

Tiger Stadium Inviting Target For HR Hitters

Tiger Stadium, which annually yields its share of home runs, will offer an even more inviting target to American League sluggers in 1962.

The temporary screen in right-field, which robbed the Tigers of seven homers last season, is coming down.

At the same time, the remaining outfield fences will be leveled off at a uniform height of nine feet above ground level, thus knocking two feet off the barrier in leftfield.

Billy Bruton will be especially happy to hear that the rightfield screen, installed a year ago, is coming out. The Tiger center fielder had three home run bids cancelled by the screen last season — although still managing to hit a career high of 17 round trippers.

Norm Cash, whose 41 homers in 1961 set a club record for lefthanded hitters, was foiled twice by the screen, while Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe hit it once each.

Against the Tigers' total of seven balls off the screen, their foes had only four — by four different batters — last year.

Dropping the leftfield fence two feet might be helpful to Rocky Colavito, whose right-handed blasts accounted for 5 homers last year, the highest total for a Tiger slugger since 1938. Only 18 of his home runs were at Tiger Stadium, which has always been more difficult for righthanders than lefthanders.

The effect of the new fences on home run production at Tiger Stadium will be watched carefully by the fans. There were 185 home runs there last year, 90 by the Tigers and 95 by their opponents. That total has been exceeded only once in the park's history. In 1959 there were an even 200 four-baggers, 95 by the Tigers and 105 by their foes.

The major league record for home runs in any park is 248, established last season in the Wrigley Field bandbox at Los Angeles.

Hockey Teams Ready to Go

Plymouth's two entries in the Nankin Twp. Bantam hockey league face each other in the first conference game Sun., Jan. 7, at 8 a.m.

The two teams are the VFW and the Bears.

They will confront each other at the Nankin Twp. rink. The Bantam league is for boys under 14 years of age.

Meanwhile Plymouth's entry in the Midget division of the Nankin conference will start its season against Nankin Mills on Thurs., Jan. 4, at 7 p.m. at the Nankin rink.

It, too, is a VFW-sponsored team.

'Great Sauk Trail' Is Part Of Canton Township Lore

Esther Sprengel
 GL 3-0184

Not too much to report this week, but as long as we get one news item we shall have a column. Before we start on the news for the week, here is a did you know bit:
 As everyone knows, Michigan Ave. cuts through our Township. Before it became known as Michigan Ave., it was known as the "Great Sauk Trail." It was the most traveled Indian route between Ypsilanti and Detroit and was used mainly by the Potawatomi tribes. They traveled to Detroit to collect subsidies from the British. Now that the holidays are over perhaps I can get down to some serious reading and it just might be that although Canton is a very small place on our Michigan map, it just might have some interesting tales within its boundaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Grow of Haggerty Rd. and Mrs. Emma Miller of Ann Arbor Rd. visited the Larry Grow in Jacksonville, Fla. in November. They visited the many points of interest, Marineland, Silver Springs and while there the U.S.O. Pal Day was observed, and all services and their families were given free passes to the many Florida tourist attractions. Upon their return to Michigan, Mrs. Larry Grow (Lynn) returned with her mother, Mrs. Miller and her husband's parents to wait for Larry's leave at Christmas time. F. N. Grow was home for the holidays and was scheduled to report for duty on January 4 at his new base at Norfolk, Va., where he will await further orders. Lynn will remain in Plymouth.

 To make the holidays really complete, Mr. and Mrs. David Grow of Syracuse, N. Y. arrived in Canton on Dec. 22. Another Canton family had reason to celebrate, as Mrs. David Grow is the former Rosemary Kendzior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Kendzior of Haggerty. The David Grow returned to their home on Dec. 26.

While speaking with another Township resident, who by the way, has been called to jury duty, Albert Wietecha of Beck Rd., we found that the Wietechas were eagerly looking forward to a visit from their son Al, who will be home for the holidays from his studies in Chicago.
 Was unsuccessful in contacting residents about their New Year celebrations. As for the Sprengels, it was a family night, with guests from Detroit, Livonia, Nankin, Detroit guests — Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Zabel, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Karschnick, Livonia guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Zabel, Jr., and sons, Larry and Kurt, Nankin guests, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hilving and children, Karen and Kenney.

Here is a do-it-yourself for kids and the ladies. Ladies know about the very popular halo hats the ladies are wearing now. If you sew, this little hat is just the ticket for left-over material. The band that makes the halo can be made from the plastic gallon containers your household bleach comes in. Now for you kids who plan a birthday party, if mom uses bleach from plastic containers, don't let her throw them away. They make dandy or just plain funny hats. With a little glue, sparkle or just crayons, you can really have fun planning your own party hats. It really works, cause we made our own New Year hats, and the halo hats for mom come out real well, we've made them too.

How about adding a resolution to your already long lists. Let's make the Canton column a lot longer this year, with lots of names, both familiar ones and new ones, and get your organizations to let us know what they have planned, appoint someone to keep us posted.

"Turning over a new leaf is seldom worthwhile unless you plan to use a little moral macilage."

THE CORNER barbershop locked its doors forever last Saturday. Owned by four proprietors since 1902, the shop and adjacent buildings will be torn down soon.

Corner Barber Shop

Jewell, who was owner No. 3 of the shop. In 1902, George Vandecar opened a barber shop at the location. After that, came Harry Terry, who is now retired in Florida.
"Homey" Jewell went to work for Terry in the fall of 1920 and in March 1921 he purchased the business. Mr. Jewell had started his barbering career in 1906, making it 55 years since he has been in the business.
Al Conery purchased the business from Mr. Jewell last June and re-named it Red's Barber Shop. Mr. Jewell works part-time, along with another part-time barber, Herb Hamlin who has been in the shop 12 years.
Workers are expected to move into the corner block sometime this month or February. Plans are being drafted for a new office for First Federal Savings and Loan Co. If the building isn't started immediately, the land will be temporarily turned into a parking lot, First Federal officials have declared.

Red's Barber Shop will reopen tomorrow at 834 Penniman Ave.
One of the things that will not be moving to the new location is the "case" that includes the mirrors and counter space. Vandecar is reported to have purchased the case around 1893. Made of cherry wood, it is now painted white. The ornate case will be dismantled and only the mirrors saved for the new location, Mr. Conery said.
While the corner barbershop hasn't changed much over the years, some other aspects have. Mr. Jewell observed, "I never expected to see prices for haircuts to what they are today," he asserted. Haircuts were normally 25 cents and a shave was a dime. During the depression we were giving haircuts for 15 cents.
As for shaves, "we haven't had a request for a shave in three years," Mr. Jewell added.

Local Man

Tobey. He was married in 1902 to Elsie Wright Tobey who survives with the following:
Two sons, Gerald E. Tobey of Plymouth and Burton Tobey, Livonia; three daughters, Mrs. Merle Stevens of Plymouth, Mrs. Marian Willste of Freeland and Mrs. Gwendolyn Holcombe, Plymouth; four brothers, Faye, Charles, George and Harrison Tobey; 25 grandchildren; and 17 great grandchildren. He was preceded in death by a son, Ronald, a Marine who died in 1944, and a daughter, Mildred Burgett.
Mr. Tobey came here from Mt. Clemens in 1923 and was a retired carpenter.
The Reverend Melbourne I. Johnson, D. D., will officiate at funeral services at the Schrader Funeral Home at 1 p.m. Thursday. Interment will be in Riverside Cemetery.

No Tax

dent of the Board of Trustees, two school districts, Livonia and Garden City, have officially indicated their intention of advancing money to the college.
Plymouth's Board of Education, at its December meeting, was cool to the request because they feel that they do not have enough money to meet Plymouth's own demands. They promised Fischer, however, to give the request more study.
Industry in the area will be invited to aid the college through gifts and grants, Fischer said.

Zero Weather Brings Trouble To City DPW

Zero temperatures last week brought its usual trouble to the City's Department of Public Works.
Tele-metering equipment failed last Friday when the mercury plunged to zero. The message from the water tower near Church St. indicating that it was full failed to reach the Six Mile Rd. well field. The water tower overflowed at around 6 a.m.
A half hour later, a six inch water main broke at S. Holbrook, south of Union. "So for the first zero temperature day, we had lots of ice," DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida said.
On Sunday, Dec. 31, a three-quarter inch water main broke at the rear of 576 Ann St. This line served four houses. On Jan. 2, the DPW was called out at 7 a.m. to start salting all main streets when the snow started to come down heavy. During the week of Dec. 25, the DPW used 20 tons of salt on the streets.
Next Monday, the department will collect all discarded Christmas trees. For further information, citizens may phone the department at GL 3-1556.

Collision, Theft Only Mars On Holiday Report

An injury accident and a theft were the only things marring an unusually quiet New Year's weekend for City Police.
The accident happened Friday evening at Penniman and Main. A car being driven by Joseph Tront, 67, Detroit, made a left turn off Penniman onto Main when it collided with an oncoming car driven by Allen Klein, 39, of Garden City. Klein was taken to Wayne County General Hospital with minor injuries.
David Millar of Lansing, who is staying in Livonia, was off to a bad start in the new year — or rather, his car was off to a bad start. Unable to start his 1961 Falcon Tuesday morning as it was parked on McKinley, Millar found that someone had stolen the battery.
Last Friday morning, police found a window broken out at the Guernsey Farms Dairy Store, 748 Starkweather. Investigation found three rolls of pennies and a petty cash fund of 100 pennies stolen.

Senior Citizens See Europe Through Slides

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Fisher entertained the Senior Citizens of Plymouth Dec. 28 with slides from several European countries which Mrs. Fisher attended in October.
Playing of cards and a luncheon rounded out the activities for the afternoon with a happy New Year greeting issued by all. Assisting the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, was Mrs. Alice Tallmage.

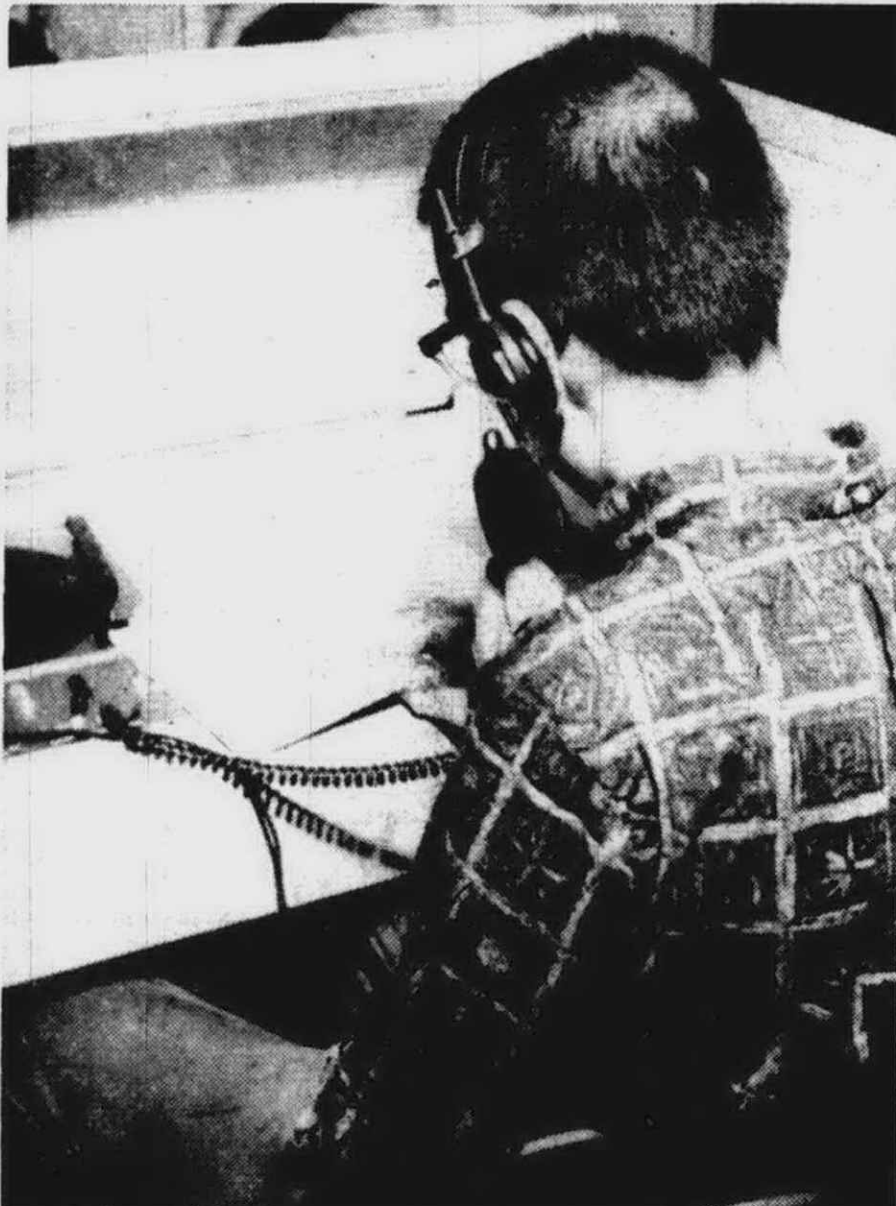

Goodfellows

were three more than a year ago.

As of Tuesday, there were 115 children reported given shoes or boots, compared with 80 pair issued a year ago. Other Good-fellow gifts included toys, clothing and food.
Capt. John Cunard of the Salvation Army reported that his agency's income was not as great this year. Consequently, the program was cut too. Of the 60 families aided, 40 were within the immediate Plymouth area. Most of the aid was given in food baskets and grocery orders this year, Capt. Cunard said.
The agencies were also helped by a theatre party with admission being a new or almost-new toy. The Soroptimist Club gave 25 dressed dolls to the Salvation Army and the Rotary Club Foundation presented a $200 check to aid the cause.

SPANISH AND French classes of these four teachers utilize the High School language lab. From left are Mrs. Judith Powell, John Hopkins, Marguerite Bromley, and Carmello Crespo. They are at the control console where up to three tape or record players at a time can be channeled to the students.

TUNING IN a lesson in Spanish is Frank Guldbrandsen, a first year Spanish student. Turntable at his elbow records and plays magnetic recording discs.

Local Sailor To Miss Space Shot

SFM-3 Joe Barraco of Plymouth will miss the attempted pick-up of John Glenn when the astronaut is shot on a global mission sometime this month, but he was on the deck of the carrier USS Randolph when Gus Grissom made his sub-orbital flight July 21.
Visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barraco, 115 S. Mill, Joe is on a 22 day leave. While on leave, his ship left port to take up its position for the next astronaut pick-up.
Joe, who will be discharged in June, said that it is hard to believe that one could see the parachute of the space capsule from so many miles away. He was on the flight deck of the carrier when the capsule came down and when Grissom was brought aboard.
The Randolph was also to have picked up the monkey that recently circled the world twice, but the capsule was brought down before the third circle and it was picked up by another ship.
A former limestone mine in Missouri has been converted into an underground warehouse.

Language

Only French and Spanish classes now utilize the language lab, since Latin is not a spoken language and is not recommended for language lab teaching.
The two French teachers are Mrs. Judith Powell and Mrs. Marguerite Bromley. Teaching Spanish are Carmello Crespo and John Hopkins. Both languages offer four-year courses now.
"The more advanced the student, the more benefits they reap from the language laboratory," Mrs. Bromley observed. The teachers point out that the lab only reinforces what the students are drilled in class.
A stranger walking into the language laboratory where a class is going full-force may well think that everything is in utter confusion because everyone is talking at once.
To add to the interest, effectiveness of instruction this year each unit now has a turntable on which a plastic magnetic recording disc is placed. The student can record his conversation seven minutes at a time and then play it back to see how close his pronunciation came with that of the experts. The magnetic discs are reusable.
Actually, the first several sessions in class are spent by pupils learning how to manipulate the switches.
The major drawback to the entire operation is the lack of more facilities just like it. With there being 19 language classes that can utilize the one room, its use has to be spread out rather thin. (The room is also used as a homeroom by one of the teachers.)
As a result, a single class usually gets no more than one week a month in the lab. Beginning language students are usually not included until they become more familiar with the language.
Each year, more and more students are expressing interest in German and the Board of Education is seriously thinking of including it in the curriculum.

City to Pick Up Yule Trees Monday

Discarded Christmas trees will be picked up in the City on Monday, Jan. 8, DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida announced today.
A skeleton crew will pick up trees that are out early, but the "big push" will be next Monday. The crew will begin at the south end of the city and work northward until all trees are picked up.

A baby girl, Linda Marie, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Scruggs of Sheldon Rd., Sunday, Dec. 3. She weighed 7 pounds, 1 ounce. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Claude Scruggs of Tipton, Mrs. Helen Carter of South Lyon and Louis Carter of Whitmore Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold B. Proehl, 887 Harvey St., are the parents of a son, Steven Clark, born Christmas Day at Woman's Hospital, Ann Arbor. He weighed 8 pounds, 6 1/2 ounces. The couple has one other child. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Ford of Plymouth and Mr. and Mrs. Arno Proehl of Detroit.

First Scholarship Fund Accepted By Community College Trustees

The Northwest Wayne County Community College board of trustees has established a scholarship fund by accepting grants of $200 from Dr. and Mrs. Charles W. Sellers and $100 from the Garden City Education Assn.

Both grants are for the purpose of establishing scholarships to pay community college tuition for Garden City high school graduates. Until the funds are needed, they will be deposited in a savings account. The Garden City Education Assn. scholarship is to provide first semester community college tuition for a Garden City high school graduate to be selected by the Assn. The Sellers' scholarship is to provide tuition for a Garden City graduate for one year, and the recipient is to be selected by the board of trustees upon the recommendation of the Garden City Education Assn. The selection is to be made as specified by Dr. Sellers on the basis of (1) application by the student for the scholarship, (2) need, and (3) merit, in that order.

COMMUNITY COLLEGE Trustees L. Clarke Oldenburg and Charles B. Kirkpatrick, treasurer, present scholarship fund checks for $300 to Robert K. Barbour of the National Bank of Detroit. The money will be held in a savings account until needed to pay community tuition for two Garden City youths.

Favorite Recipes from Kitchens of Plymouth Homemakers

In the Edwin Good family it has become traditional for Mrs. Good to serve Yule Log Cake during the holidays. It is both attractive and delicious, and while it requires quite a bit of time, the end result is worth it. Here is her recipe.

Yule Log Cake
Sift together:
three-quarters cup sifted cake flour
one-quarter cup cocoa
½ cup sugar
1 tsp. baking powder

Beat 4 egg whites until very soft peaks form when beater is withdrawn. Beat in 2 tbs. at a time along with ½ cup of sugar. Continue beating until mixture is shiny and forms firm but not stiff peaks. Beat 4 egg yolks until light and lemon colored. Stir in a small amount at a time, three quarters cup water and 1 tsp. vanilla.

Stir in flour mixture and fold yolk mixture into white mixture. Pour into jelly roll pan, 10 x 15 x 1 inches, thoroughly greased on bottom. Line with waxed paper and grease again. Bake in oven 375 degrees. Cake will be done when it springs back when pressed lightly with finger. Remove from oven and invert on towel dusted with confectioners sugar. After peeling off greased paper, roll tightly both towel and cake together. Cool on rack.

Combine and whip:
three quarters cup heavy cream
1 tbs. sugar
one eighth tsp. vanilla.

Completes Course

Quincy M. Watson of 15030 Bradner Rd. has completed a special, Cummins-approved diesel course offered by Interstate Training Service, it was announced by C. E. Green, president of the home training school. The advanced diesel course was prepared by Interstate with the cooperation of the Cummins Service Department. It contains up to the minute information on diesel developments and teaches approved methods for repairing and servicing Cummins diesel engines.

Mrs. Edwin Good

When cake is thoroughly cool unroll and spread with whipped cream. Re-roll and chill thoroughly.

To make the frosting: Cream together: ½ c. butter or margarine and beat in 1 egg. Melt, then add, 2 sq. (2 ozs) unsweetened chocolate. Add, beating until smooth, one and one third cups sifted confectioners sugar, one eighth tsp. salt, 1 tsp. vanilla.

Spread over chilled cake, including ends and sides. With spatula mound icing into several little rounds to simulate log knots. Swirl icing on ends to simulate rings of wood. With fork tines mark lines the length of the log cake to look like bark. Lift cake onto serving plate and refrigerate until serving time. Makes 10-12 servings.

This cake, says Mrs. Good, can be baked ahead and frozen for as long as three months. The Yule Log is an impressive holiday dessert and is rich and delicious too. Professional looking results are mostly a matter of patience, explains Mrs. Good. The trick is to have the cake very cold when decorating it.

This energetic young woman is the mother of three, Debra, 10, Eddie, 7, and Jeffrey 5. She makes time in her busy schedule to participate in the church and school activities of St. Peter's Lutheran Church.

Social Security Recipients Can Now Earn More Money In Year

A person can now earn more money and still get some of his social security benefits during the year.

This change in the law is of special interest to people who earn between $1,500 and $1,700 a year after they become eligible for benefits. A person who earns more than $1,200 now has benefits withheld at the rate of $1 in benefits for each $2 earned between $1,200 and $1,700. On earnings of over $1,700, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $1 earned. These new withholding rates apply to a person's earnings during 1961.

Some parts of the social security retirement test were not changed by the recent amendments to the law. A person may receive checks for all 12 months of the year when he earns $1,200 or less during the year. He can get a benefit payment, also, for any month in which he is 72 years of age or older, regardless

Biology Class Seeks Help From Florida Visitors

Been in Florida lately? A biology class at the Junior High could use your help. Dallas Goss, the teacher, notes that his class is now studying coelenterates, a group of animals including the jellyfish, corals and sea fans. They have just finished a study of the sponges. Specimens of these animals are sometimes hard to find in the homes of students, so they thought of the idea of appealing to those who may have brought such specimens back from Florida or other sub-tropical regions with them.

The specimens would become a permanent part of the Junior High biology collection for use by the students during their study of these animals Goss said. Those who have specimens to offer may phone the Junior High at GL 3-0900.

For further information about whether you could get some checks during the year if you applied for benefits, visit, call, or write the Northwest Detroit Social Security Office located at 18500 Grand River Avenue, Detroit 23, Michigan, telephone 272-0080, and ask for "You Don't Have To Retire Completely". The pamphlet is free.

November 27, 1961

A special meeting of the Board of Education of the Plymouth Community School District was held Monday evening, November 27, 1961, in the Board Room of the Administration Building, 1024 South Mill Street, Plymouth, Michigan at 7:15 o'clock.

Present: Members Fischer, Kaiser, Niemi, Soth and Utter; Superintendent Isbister.

Absent: Members Hulsing and Zylstra.

Also present: Mr. Finlan and Mr. Jacobus.

President Niemi called the meeting to order at 7:15 p.m. He indicated that the meeting had been called for the express purpose of discussing the need for general public liability insurance to protect the Board and the School District from suits arising from personal injury and/or property damage in the schools and on the grounds.

Mr. Jacobus stated the doctrine of governmental immunity was not a safe one. He pointed to the Port Huron Hospital and the City of Detroit cases as evidence that the courts were holding municipalities liable for personal injury on public properties. He recommended that the Board purchase insurance which would be broad enough and high enough to take care of any case, no matter where or when it happens so long as it is school connected.

Mr. Finlan emphasized again the importance of this type of insurance and also recommended broad coverage.

The Administration was authorized to prepare specifications and take bids on an insurance program in accordance with these recommendations.

The meeting was recessed at 8:00 p.m. and called to order again at 8:15 p.m. in the library of the Plymouth Community Junior High School for the purpose of reviewing with a group of staff representatives and parents the health and physical education programs in the Plymouth Community Schools.

Present for the curriculum review were: Staff members Carvel Bentley, Mary Carliss, Elizabeth Donnelly, Virginia Gibson, Margaret Gollinger, William Harding, John Howe, Grace Jarvis, Charles Ketterer, John McFall, Lois Mattson, John Sandmann, Robert Smith, Jane Watts, Cris Witwer and Thomas Workman; and parents Jane Raafaub and Johanna Vallier of the School Community Planning Group.

Member Fischer, Chairman of the Curriculum Committee, served as a discussion leader. Mr. John Howe, Chairman of the Health and Physical Education Study Group, interpreted the report which had been previously prepared and distributed to members of the Board of Education. The discussion which followed dealt primarily with specific recommendations which the Study Group in their deliberations thought would strengthen the program. These recommendations included the following:

1. a stepped-up program of physical fitness, particularly in the elementary schools

2. regular health instruction in accordance with an instructional guide

3. periodic immunization and health examinations for students

4. sex education

5. credit requirements in health and physical education

6. need for additional staff

7. coordination of instruction

8. laundry and towel service

Superintendent Isbister was authorized to prepare for consideration a new policy on immunization and health examinations. He was authorized to proceed with plans for laundry and towel service in the junior and senior high schools.

The meeting was adjourned at 11:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Russell L. Isbister

Theft Charges Send Pair to Court

Two Detroiters who admitted stealing $958 worth of television sets and radios from Hubbs & Gilles on Ann Arbor Rd. Nov. 19 have been bound over to circuit court on charges of breaking and entering in the night time.

They are James Johnson, 32, and Charles Rivers, 34, who have just completed 28 days in the Detroit House of Correction on charges of being disorderly persons.

The pair had stolen the five TV sets and seven radios and then returned with a rented truck with a lift for bigger items when they were found at the back door by police. They refused to admit the thefts, so were sentenced on the disorderly charges. Later, Rivers talked. They pleaded guilty and were arraigned. They are in the Wayne County jail under $5,000 bond.

Rivers will appear this week in Oakland County on a similar charge. He was shot in the leg by Royal Oak police while fleeing.

By George Spelvin

Sixty-one was lots of fun, but sixty-two looks best for you.

Economically let's hope this slogan has a ring of truth. 1962 should be the year that we put a U.S. space-man into orbit, we go to the polls in droves and vote positively for improved school programs, and who knows some generous soul may start a Fund for The Advancement of Culture in Plymouth (Construction of a Group Educational Auditorium?). And the column, now a sturdy five year old, is past its toddling days and is ready for a little face-lifting.

In the past issues old George has always tried to mention all the "live" stage attractions in the course of his theatrical rambling. Many times a show or two has been left out. To avoid this horrendous happening a new ending to the column will be initiated with this first of fifty-two for '62. At the conclusion or as I like to say euphemistically with a misty eye... when we lower the curtain for a short intermission of seven days... we will list the week's events in a section entitled "The Billboard."

Might add that any reader that knows of a local piece of entertainment that should be listed in our "Billboard" might drop us a post card and we will post the notice. We want everyone to know where "live" entertainment is on tap.

Another Spectacle
"El Cid" opened last week at the Music Hall in downtown Detroit. Truly this cinematic experience out-does all previous motion picture attempts at spectacle. If C. B. DeMille were alive today, he would have to turn in his megaphone and put down to Sam Bronston and Tony Mann, the two men that engineered this colossus. Charlton Heston's acting hasn't improved since his "Ben-Hur" and "Ten Commandments" days. And the script gives Sophia Loren little chance to turn on the emotions. Still the big event in "El Cid" is the rush and full sweep of history coming alive before your eyes.

The hand-to-hand combat, the jousting contest, the massive battles... all these make the picture an adventure for young and old. At least 40 minutes could be cut from the total running time of the picture, but then maybe you enjoy battle scenes more than I do. If so, "El Cid" deserves a high spot on your list. The Music Hall is the only place that you'll see the movie in 70mm with stereophonic sound. "El Cid" should be with us for awhile... at least until Cinerama comes along with "How The West Was Won"...

TV Resolution
Now that the holidays have expired you can sweep under the TV set. In place of dead Indians I'm sure you'll find the battered remains of many a football player. It's getting so that the end of the year with its bulging batch of "bowl" games usurps hour after hour of TV football time.

You might resolve to buy a converter for your present TV set. No, don't want you to convert to color, but try educational TV. You have to purchase a UHF converter from your favorite TV man to bring in Channel 56. It's well worth the effort to escape the annoying commercials. Every Friday at 3 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. on Channel 56 for the next fourteen weeks you'll be able to study and enjoy all of Shakespeare's historical dramas. The series is entitled "Age of Kings" and was done in London by the Old Vic players. I caught the first two programs and deem them worth your undivided attention.

Free Venture
Another educational venture worth pointing out can be found at the Garden City Public Library on Wednesday evenings at 7:30 p.m. Starting Jan. 17 with a fine film, "Albert Schweitzer" and continuing until March 21 a series of excellent documentary flickers will be shown. Admission price: it's free. All you have to do is drive over to Ford Road and Middlebelt. Who knows but sometime in the near future we might have a film series of this educational nature right here in Plymouth. I'll list the films for you in our "Billboard" as the weeks roll along.

Campus Comedy
The Wayne State University Players start the New Year in a rousing fashion by presenting the charming musical "Where's Charley?" Russ Smith has directed this production and I'm certain before I go down to see it that it will be a joy to behold. Russ has yet to miss on a production. And with a show like "Where's Charley?" he has some built-in box office appeal. "Where's Charley?" is the happy-go-lucky singing and dancing version of "Charley's Aunt", long a favorite with audiences the world-over.

This same company that you will see at Wayne will be taking the musical on a tour of Europe for the months of February and March under the sponsorship of the Department of Defense, the U. S. O. and the American Educational Theater Assn. My only regret is that I can't accompany the production and see the world from the theater wings.

University of Michigan players are busy at work on an original work by Barton Wimble, "Faces of Malte". Mr. Wimble's work is a drama based on the introspective novel of the German writer, Rainer Maria Rilke. More about this little-known, yet important, modern German writer next week.

Who's New in Plymouth?

MOVING TO their new home at 915 Hartsough Ct. from Livonia in October were Donald and Anne Donald E. Totten and their son Donn, 6. Owner of Don's Plymouth and Holbrook Sunoco Service, Mr. Totten has been in business here 17 months and has been in the service station business 12 years. Mr. Totten is a member of the Mayflower Post of the V.F.W. while Mrs. Totten recently became a member of the Auxiliary. Young Donn, who is shown anxiously awaiting arrival of Santa, attends Our Lady of Good Counsel School.

☆ VFW Auxiliary ☆

Dec. 16 was the birthday of one of our shut-ins, Marion Groth. Several Auxiliary members planned a party for her at the West Trail Nursing Home. Coffee, ice cream and cake were served to the patients there. Marion received over 100 birthday cards. President Olson and Jennie Tallmadge took cookies and candies to the shut-ins at the nursing home for Christmas.

On Dec. 16, a group of Post and Auxiliary members made a trip to Maybury Sanatorium and passed out 150 cartons of cigarettes to the veterans there. A very nice thank you letter has been received from the director at Maybury expressing the gratitude of the staff and the patients. Marion Skoglund, hospital chairman, would like to express her thanks to all those who helped on this trip.

There were 44 members present at the Auxiliary Christmas party. A very enjoyable evening of games, gift exchange, and visiting with old friends was had by all attending. Congratulations and thanks are extended to Mary and Ed Holdsworth for the fine job done on the children's Christmas party. There were over 70 children at the party. A lot of time and work is involved in putting on a party of this type that will please the parents as well as the kids. Everyone seemed very happy with the party and this fact alone is an indication that we had two very capable chairmen who understand the likes and dislikes of little ones.

Get-well wishes are extended to Gladys McBride and to Barbara Nash's son. Both are in the hospital at the present time. There are about 20 members who have not paid their dues at this time. If you are one of this group, remember that your cancer insurance policy is not in effect after Dec. 30 unless your dues are current. This is only one of the many advantages that can be yours for being a member of this organization. Let's start the new year off right and mail a check today to Virginia Bartel for your 1962 dues.

Appointed By Packaging Firm

Two appointments effective Jan. 1 have been announced by the Down River Packaging Corp. of 1764 Marie, Plymouth. Robert Kauffman, formerly associated with Packaging Corp. of America, will be general sales manager for both the standard corrugated and specialty products.

Spencer Thompson, formerly associated with Owens-Illinois Container Division, will be production manager for standard corrugated products. Board Chairman Ronald Hees announced.

David Dyer
David A. Dyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil D. Dyer of 9025 Marlowe, reported, Nov. 22, for Naval Reserve recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The short training course emphasizes military etiquette and drill, physical fitness, swimming and survival, first aid, shipboard safety precautions, and security duty. At the end of the course, reservists will return home to rejoin their local reserve units and continue their training on a weekly basis.

James Steele
James S. Steele, son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Steele of 1294 S. Harvey St., completed recruit training, Dec. 1, at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine weeks of training transform raw recruits into blue-jackets ready to take their place in the fleet. Throughout the training, experienced counselors help determine which of the Navy's 67 career fields each man is best suited for.

Spends Christmas At Pearl Harbor

Freddie Spencer, fireman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Spencer of 646

Maple Ave., and William J. O'Brien, airman, USN, son of Mrs. Ann E. Titus of Plymouth, spent the Christmas holiday at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, while serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea.

Pearl Harbor is the Coral Sea's first stop on its way to join the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

The 63,000-ton ship moored at the Ford Island pier in the historic harbor to give its crew a chance to celebrate the holiday before continuing their cruise on Dec. 26.

A Plymouth High School graduate now a medical student at the University of Michigan will leave Jan. 24 for two months of work in a small hospital on the edge of Ecuador's jungle.

He is Dan Clifford, son of Rev. and Mrs. Patrick Clifford, 452 Maple St. Dan will be accompanied to Ecuador by his father who will remain there for several weeks.

Epp Memorial Hospital in Shell Mera, Ecuador will be the home for Dan for two months as he helps perform major operations and probably perform some of the minor surgery himself. He also expects to visit some of the Indians in the jungle country where medication is administered in the field.

Rev. Clifford, who is pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, and son Dan will fly to Miami Jan. 24 and then transfer to a plane for Quito, Ecuador. Pastor Clifford will observe the Wycliffe Bible Translators working in the area and visit with missionaries. Shell Mera is several hundred miles south of Quito.

A radio station was built over 30 years ago in Quito to broadcast worldwide the missionary message that is being carried out there will also be visited.

Dan Clifford, a 1955 graduate of Plymouth High, is in his final year at the U. of M. Medical school. With an eye on becoming a medical missionary, he has been corresponding with the hospital staff at Shell Mera for some time. The staff is headed by Dr. Everett Fuller of the University of Syracuse and Dr. Art Johnston of the University of Toronto. Dan will be in Ecuador for two months.

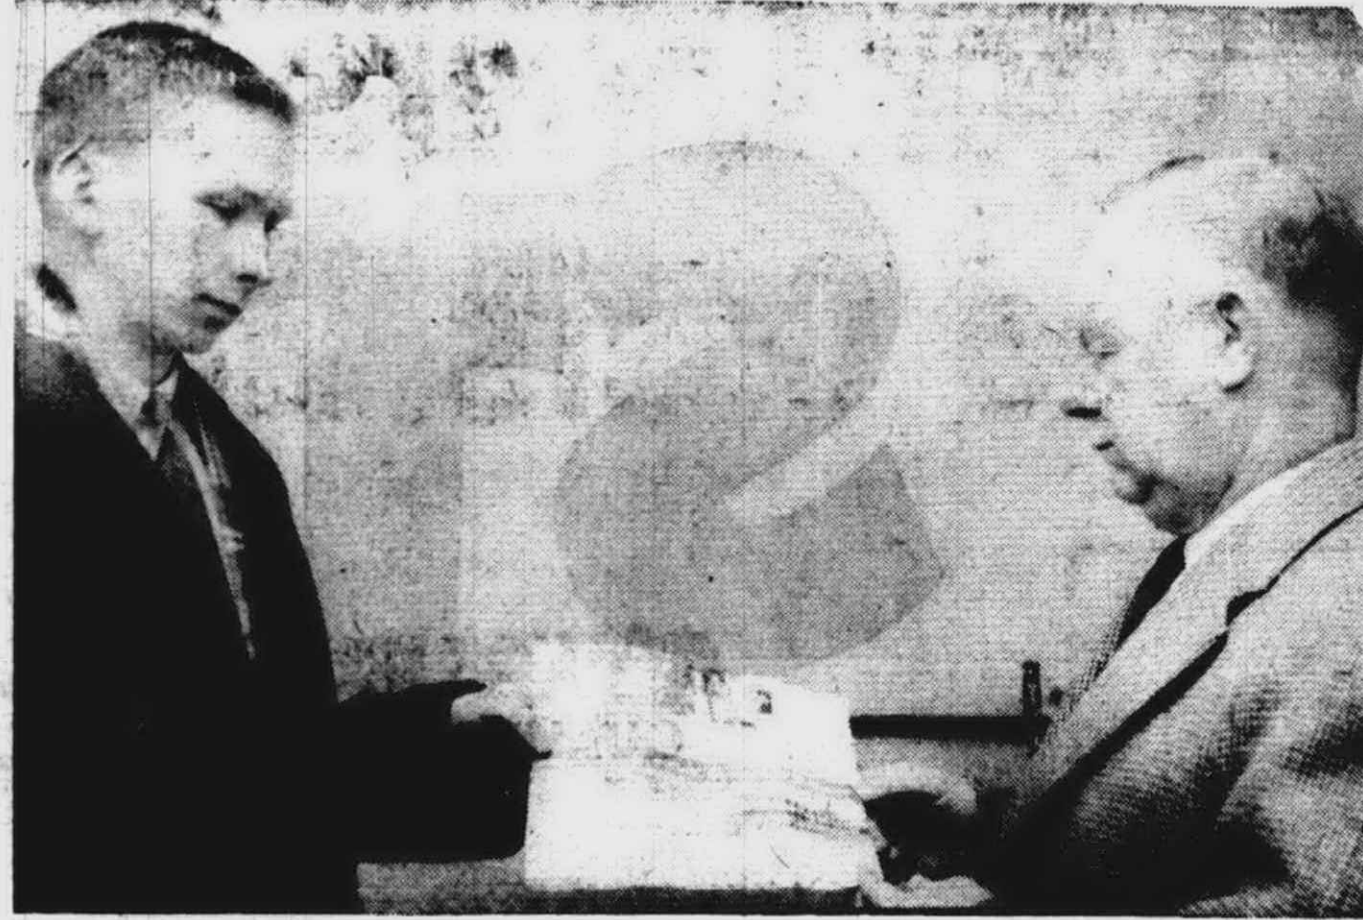

Epp Memorial Hospital has 18 adult beds. It brings to a large rural area an evangelical medical service and is also within reach of all the jungle mission stations by radio and plane. There is a close cooperation between the hospital and the Missionary Aviation Fellowship, whose radio network and planes make possible the link with the jungle stations.

The two missionary doctors, five nurses, an administrator and eight Ecuadorian helpers are the team which treats and witnesses to an average of 15 out-patients a day, besides those in the hospital beds.

Epp Hospital's operation is adjusted to local customs and needs. In-patients may be accompanied by relatives for whom cottages have been provided in the grove behind the hospital. Instead of operating a laundry and kitchen, the hospital has contracted with a local woman to wash its laundry and with a restaurant to supply meals.

Hospital doctors give medical advice by radio when missionaries treating their people out in the jungle call in on the radio. If the case seems serious the patient is flown in to the hospital.

A PHOTOGRAPH of the hospital where Dan Clifford, left, will be serving as a senior medical student in Ecuador for two months is being shown to his father, Rev. Patrick Clifford. Pastor Clifford will accompany his son to the South American country where he will observe missionary work for two weeks.

News of Interest In Our Churches

Editor's note: This column will be open each week for contributions from churches in this area. We welcome news of your coming events and congregational activities. All material must be in the hands of The Plymouth Mail by noon on Friday preceding next weeks publication to insure its appearance.

The Campbell-Reese evangelistic team will conduct a seven-day evangelistic meeting at Calvary Baptist Church Jan. 8 through 14.

Rev. Ken Campbell is a graduate of Bryan College, Dayton, Tenn. While a student he was elected student council president and was listed in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." Since graduation in 1956 he has been ordained to the gospel ministry, serving as a pastor and also conducting evangelistic campaigns. Recently he conducted six weeks of meetings in West Hartlepool, England. Evangelist Campbell will speak at all services.

Rev. Jim Reese, born in Lansing is the son of Rev. Harold Reese of Williamston, Mich. Following Jim's graduation from Bryan College in 1956, he attended the Grand Rapids Baptist Seminary and received a B.D. degree in 1961. As song leader and soloist for the evangelistic team Jim is well qualified. He has studied voice for four years and during his college and seminary days he traveled much for his schools, ministering in music. D. I. A. D. M. Productions have recorded several records for Mr. Reese.

This newly-formed evangelistic team already proven its ability as capable servants of the Lord and has been used of God to bring blessing to the communities which it has served. The public is invited to enjoy this ministry each week night at 10:30 and 7:30.

Christmas Tree Shoppers Get Pleasant Bonus

Last minute Christmas tree seekers on Sunday, Dec. 24, were well-rewarded if they happened to pass by Ye Olde Shoe Shine & Hat Cleaning Parlor at 491 S. Main.

At least a dozen tree shoppers came away with free spruce trees.

Clarence Easterling, owner, had sold all but about 12 trees prior to Dec. 24 and then decided to give away the remainder when it appeared he would be unable to sell them.

He put up a novel sign — novel by today's standards. It read: "Christmas Trees, Free. Take One."

The sign did the trick. By Sunday afternoon, the remaining trees had disappeared. It saved Easterling the trouble of burning them and made Christmas that much more pleasant for a fortunate few.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

The following letter was received this week from H. F. Dove of Leeds, England, who visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kelly of Penningan Ave. Mr. Dove is an architect.

On October 1st of this year my wife and I had the very great pleasure of visiting Plymouth and spending three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. T. Kelly of 1103 Penningan Avenue.

When I mention that we had waited 30 years to renew our acquaintance with our friends, you can imagine the thrill this was, and how, even a Boeing 707 could not get us over fast enough.

Although many letters had crossed the Atlantic between us over the years, and those from the Kellys had extolled the virtues of your town, it can be said in all sincerity that these in no way exaggerated Plymouth or its people.

My wife and I write to you, Mr. Editor, in the hopes that you can find space in your paper to publish this letter to the town of Plymouth to enable us to say one big thank you for being so nice, kind and hospitable to us — everybody was wonderful.

The thing which impressed us so much about your people was the energy and enthusiasm of voluntary workers in the cultural and entertainment side of the town, and we pay special tribute to the efforts of your Symphony Orchestra and all who work so hard to enable this to be produced. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly took us to the final rehearsal which gave us an insight into the terrific gusto and work of your conductor, Mr. Dunlap, and all the musicians. Truly, this was an inspiration, and it came as somewhat of a shock to find that a mere handful of enthusiasts were present on this night, and we could only put it down to folks not realising what they were missing. Surprisingly, on the afternoon of the concert, we found ample room, when we thought that "housefull" notices would have to be posted. Would it be presumptuous of us mere Britishers if we nattered on a tip to your people by saying "Go to it and support all who put so much into this project" as we are sure they would come away thinking "What could I do to help next time" — who knows, it may be that someday a generous benefactor may come along and build you a proper Concert Hall, which would be no more than deserved.

We would also like to pay tribute to your lovely library which we visited — here again we were welcomed very warmly by your librarian who took us round the whole building and gave us a full explanation of how everything worked, and, in particular, the very great care and facilities given to the school children, which, we might add, must be appreciated, as the library was full of them, and on their way home from school too — again, a big thank you.

We have to confess we found it difficult to sort out our dollars, dimes, quarters and nickels etc., and just to confuse us a bit further, after we had sorted out the right amount for a purchase, and prided ourselves that at last we had the hang of it — on went the tax — and we would start again, however, that necessary evil is with us, too.

It is said that we Britishers are hospitable and make visitors welcome — and so we are — why not come and see for yourselves? But it must be confessed that we have nothing on you Americans when it comes to "Welcome." Living with our host and hostess, as we were privileged to do, was ample proof. It was open house too, to all their wonderful friends.

Last but not least the teenagers and children — we cannot end without expressing the great pleasure it gave us in meeting those we did. An awful lot is both talked of and written about the modern youngster, but let us say that if Plymouth children are a fair sample, then nothing is wrong with the rising generation of America.

Our very best wishes to everybody, for Christmas and the New Year.

Barbara Haas In Stunt Night

Barbara Haas, a freshman, 8870 Rocker St., participated in the 47th annual Stunt Night of Flora Stone Mather College of Western Reserve University Dec. 20, in Cleveland Public Music Hall.

Each of the four classes presented an original skit satirizing college life with musical backgrounds from familiar comedies and operettas.

The stunt with the greatest originality, best staging and presentation and with the most class participants won the silver cup trophy. A formal dance followed at the Statler-Hilton Hotel and a breakfast on campus wound up the evening's festivities.

Entered as Second Class Matter under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879 in the U.S. Post Office at Plymouth, Michigan

It's an old adage that says... "Where there's smoke there's fire." And... as the days roll on it becomes more and more apparent that the clouds of smoke are gathering in downtown Plymouth and that by some stroke of fate the flames will burst out and a real conflagration will take place... and the fire we're talking about is a sincere re-evaluation of the economic condition now prevalent here and in all suburbia throughout this country.

The decline in dollars spread throughout our local stores can be traced in many ways, and this we shall not attempt, but it is a fact we have more empty local stores than at any time in our history. Local merchants have fewer people to provide service and, in many instances, merchandise is available in smaller selection... Let me hasten to add this is NOT TRUE THROUGHOUT THE MAJORITY OF OUR STORES... I can list more than a dozen with which I am particularly familiar that will show a surprising gain in dollar volume over last year, and who have done much to bring more activity to our shopping area.

These stores are attractive, well arranged, well staffed with polite eager sales people, and offer an unusually large selection of merchandise which they are expected to carry. However, on the other hand, we have several stores who are suffering from economic depression. This is not only true in Plymouth but nationally as well. Christmas week brought about the closing of two more of our retail outlets and three other local merchants have mentioned to me in the last 10 days that their plight was causing them worry as to the advisability of continuing in business. THESE ARE THE STORES I AM CONCERNED ABOUT... We cannot continue to lose our local merchants... The toy store on Ann Arbor Trail is a distinct loss to our shopping area... What then is the answer?

Certainly not a couple of New Year's resolutions... but rather a sincere, earnest look by every merchant at his own particular problems... Is my store clean? Is my stock arranged for best display, and is my quality better, competitive and properly priced? AND further... do my clerks really want to sell my merchandise, are they polite and are they trying to give my customers the best service they possibly can? And... am I informing people in this area with advertising of the merchandise and prices I offer? These are only a few of the areas where an immediate re-evaluation can be made by the merchant himself and where he personally can start his own rebuilding to increase the traffic flow through his doors. This is the age of specialization, and it can be important to one re-evaluating his own merchandise — Price, quality and service are still the most important customer demands.

Next is the attitude of the merchant toward joining hands in an all-out effort with the rest of the retailers in Plymouth to attack and solve such major problems as street cleanliness, parking, access, taxes and the myriad other immediate headaches that are presently confronting them. No one group can bring about a solution to any one of these problems... no committee, no organization, no person, no newspaper can undertake an effort of this immensity without the 100 percent cooperation of every single merchant who desires to continue in business in Plymouth... and, by this, I mean everyone!

The shopping center has one advantage in this respect... Single management of the overall area is done by the entity which owns the property... hours of operation are set, parking is planned, flow of traffic predetermined and a multitude of other restrictions are placed on the tenants at the time a lease is signed. In a community such as this the same does not hold true, so it becomes necessary for complete unity and cooperation among all the tenants of our main streets if we are to achieve any betterment.

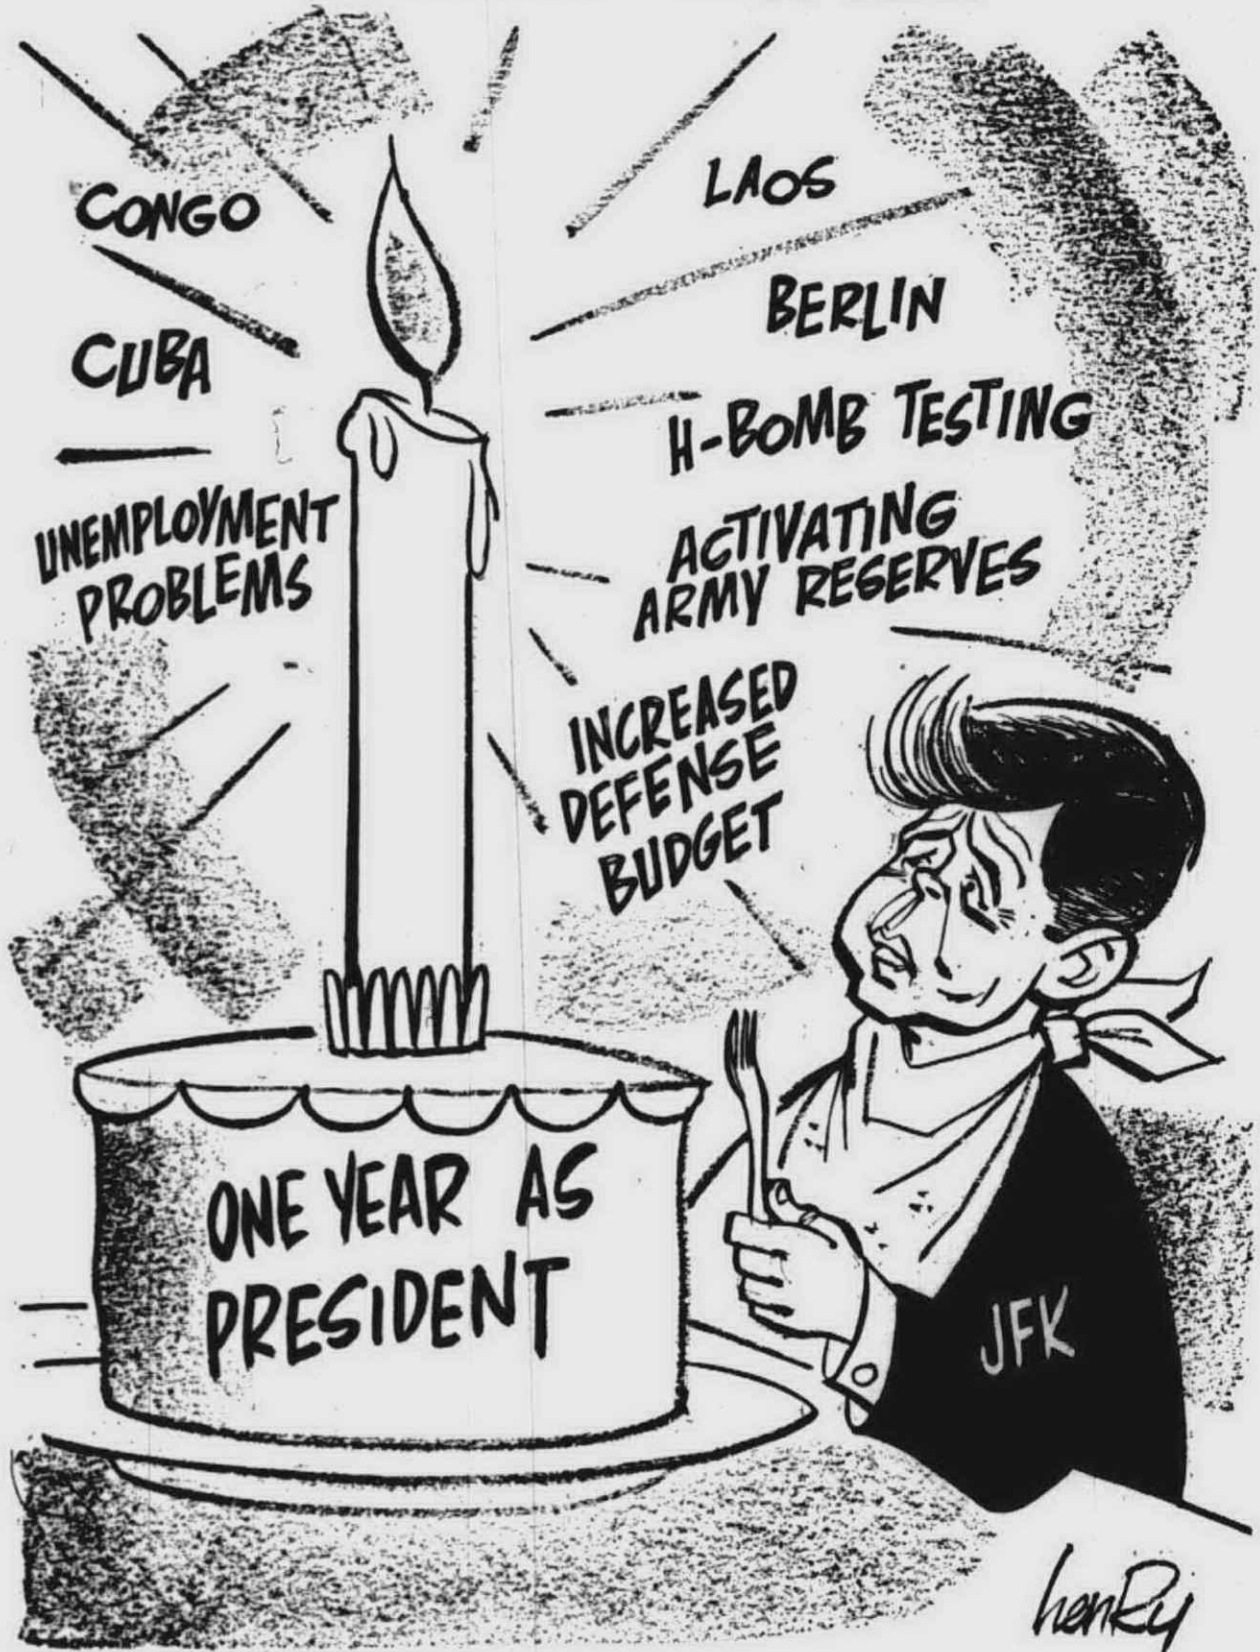

Of particular interest to me is the fact that almost any Plymouth merchant you talk to is personally concerned about these problems... perhaps they are not his, but he knows of his neighbor's plight and in every case, in conversation at one time or another, these merchants are aware of the economic fog creeping over our shopping area and all want to do something about it.

There are many reasons which we could enumerate why Plymouth residents would actually prefer to shop right here at home. In the first place, chances are ten to one that the customer knows the merchant and has trust in what he says. Secondly, it costs less and is faster to visit a store here than to run a car 10 or more miles to a shopping center. Thirdly, you can almost bet you can park hundreds of feet closer to a local store than you can to one you want to visit at a shopping center. Fourthly, a local customer knows he can come back easily for an exchange or credit, and last but not least, he knows the dollar he spends at home will help support his home.

If business is on the decline it isn't because it's practical to shop elsewhere... because it just plain isn't... if your wife or mine can get what she wants right here, why chase to Detroit or Ann Arbor? It costs money... takes time, and is outright inconvenient.

This being the case, therefore, the problem must be ours and must be met head on if we survive. How best can this be accomplished? I can't say we have an answer, but

BUSY MAN -- BUSY YEAR

Voicé of the Mail

Let's Fight Fire with Fire

Last October, the Grosse Pointe superintendent of schools, Dr. James W. Bushong, took a month-long tour of Russia to make an intensive study of education there. His trip was partially financed by his Board of Education, which in most school districts would have caused some furor — to say the least.

BUT DR. BUSHONG is a very capable man and his School Board must have felt that their investment would somehow pay off. Dr. Bushong has been heard by a large number of Plymouthites already, including members of the Rotary Club. While the superintendent admitted that one month in Russia hardly qualified him as anything like an expert, he did return with observations that are already bringing some returns. Among other things, Dr. Bushong observed that education in Russia is no better than that in the U.S. In fact, it is shoddy, in many respects.

But one area where their education does surpass ours is their stressing of Russian ideals. The Russian child believes wholeheartedly in the "truth" of communism, Dr. Bushong has stressed. In the U.S., our school children are expected to pick their ideals out of thin air. "The American child must be taught to believe, just as wholeheartedly, in the truth of democracy," Dr. Bushong feels.

AS A RESULT, a Curriculum Steering Committee in Grosse Pointe has proposed a program that would see to it that no Grosse Pointe boy or girl is ignorant of the true facts about communism; that they understand American ideals and the American way of life; that to understand the principles and practices of communism is to know its weaknesses. They also propose to teach young people to be responsible for expressing one's self as an informal citizen in the defense of American institutions and culture.

Most of our high schools probably do offer some degree of instruction in the area of American idealism. But it is doubtful that it is anything approaching the one-sided indoctrination given Russian children during their entire schooling. Nor do all of our students get into the classes dealing with civics or international relations.

A GENERATION ago, it took only a Fourth of July parade or the playing of the Star Spangled Banner once in a while to remind us of our patriotism. Today, however, a little patriotism is not enough to fend off the hammering blows of communism on all fronts — including a front within. We must not only recall a few dates in history and those who died fighting for our nation, but we must make a deep, periodic self-examination so that each of us are able to express to all who will listen what America and Americans stand for.

We agree with Dr. Bushong that there is no better place to kindle this flame than in our schools.

here is a possibility. We suggest Mayor Robert Sincok create a civic authority consisting of seven members empowered by the city commission, with a suitable appropriation of city funds (and it doesn't have to be large) to immediately start a study, and develop a program for a complete revamping and rejuvenation of our shopping districts. Plymouth needs a face-lifting in its retail areas outside as well as inside.

This authority could recommend a program of tax concession, however slight, to property owners who made major property improvements. This authority should be empowered to recommend traffic and parking developments, enforcement procedures, condemnation of undesirable areas, and produce a planned shopping area revitalization development that could well set a pattern throughout the country.

Members of this authority should be chosen for their ability, interest, and sincerity and they should have large financial stakes in all areas of the city. Though their problem is monumental, it is our considerate opinion there is ample, capable talent in this community to surmount any obstacle no matter how difficult.

The problems herein outlined are not only of general interest to our residents, our business population, industry, etc., but to our City, the Township, and School District as well. One cannot properly survive without the other, and should our tax base decline in any of these areas certainly our standard of living would decline as well as our present cultural superiority.

For the Plymouth area, 1962 is a year of great decision, and most certainly it must be one of positive action. We pledge our unlimited support to any program that might develop from such an effort regardless as to how it effects us personally, and we pray for the momentum to develop which will light the blaze from our presently smouldering smudge.

How's Business?

Question Marks On The Horizon

By Roger W. Babson's Staff

The economy is running under a full head of steam as 1961 exits. A high degree of confidence, therefore, is natural with regard to the outlook for 1962 business. Last week, we examined a few of the key factors in the economic picture which appear to justify such optimism. It is wise, however, to give some thought also to the more prominent hindrances possible in the year ahead.

First and foremost are problems of international relations. At present, with the cauldron of world problems boiling vigorously, it is difficult to envision anything but continued serious tensions. But a disarmament agreement, or even the probability thereof, whether partial or complete, could have a major impact on our economy, which now leans heavily upon defense spending.

Second is the virtual certainty of continued keen competition from every sector — that is, within the same industry, between various industries, and with foreign producers. While this has the favorable aspect of helping to hold the line on prices, the attendant adverse effects upon profit margins, production, and employment in the affected lines may restrain the economy's progress in the coming year.

A third point to bear in mind is the ready availability of most goods and commodities. There are no shortages, and no pent-up demand to be satisfied. This means that aggressive selling is necessary to create the demand necessary to support a high level of business.

A good business year is in prospect. It is imperative, however, that readers of this column guard against being drawn into over-confidence, which could lead to excessive borrowing.

Ole Brad's Journal
 New Year's Day... 1621... those plucky Pilgrims had landed, suffered through a nasty first month in the howling wilderness, and were determined to stick come what may. John Carver had been elected the first Governor of the group.

HONORABLE John had little time to issue an official New Year's Day message. The immediate order of business was shelter. Every able-bodied individual spent the holidays chopping, sawing, digging, bending branches.

Caves were dug in the sides of hills. Tents provided shelter until lean-to's were hastily hoisted. Primitive? Yes, but when you are faced with a wild, virgin wilderness, the adage "any old port in the storm" never had a truer ring.

AFTER these first crude shelters, what next? Log cabins? For years we have always pictured our Plymouth forefathers cozily ensconced in their petite homes hewn of native logs, the fireplace blazing brightly as the Junior studied in front of the fire.

No log cabins followed those shaky lean-to's. The Swedes that first populated in 1610 the Eastern coast to the South had the know-how for log structures. Not so, our English ancestors. They created weather proof structures out of rough-hewn timber that were daubed with mud, the wattles and daub form of construction of ancient times. This type of construction they knew from their ancestors.
