City Opposes County Income Tax

Election To Be April 16, But No Proposal Yet

A resolution will be approved tonight (Wednesday) by the Plymouth Community School District's Board of Education calling for a special election on Monday, April 16, but the decision of exactly how much millage will be on the ballot at that election has not yet been made.

To comply with state statute, the Board must approve the resolution calling the election tonight if it wants to hold the election April 16. The Board had originally intended to have the election April 9, but it was postponed a week because of the involved negotiations with teachers and budget problems.

Most of last Saturday was spent by the Board with representatives of the Plymouth Education Association (PEA) attempting to arrive at an understanding. The Board then went into executive session Monday night and worked until midnight, still not coming up with the final package.

From its attorney, the Board learned that it can set the election date without deciding on the ballot proposal, so it will meet tonight, set the election at an open meeting, and then go into executive session to take up where it left off Monday night.

(At an executive session, the Board can bar all outsiders but cannot vote on any measures. As a result, the press was not in attendance at the executive sessions.)

Supt. Russell Isbister said yesterday that the Board will undoubtedly approve the ballot proposal at its regular meeting Monday night.

What will the Board come up with?

Chop Church Altar, Organ With Hatchet

Three youngsters — two of them 8 years old and one of them only 5 years — caused several hundred dollars worth of damage last Saturday to the Pentecostal Church of God Faith Tabernacle on Spring St. and also have admitted breaking 19 windows from the church's bus.

The church, which is originally the St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church, was found in shambles at noon Saturday when a member, Schurway Rollins, arrived to clean the building. The pastor, Rev. C. C. Satterfield, had been there earlier in the morning, police said.

Police said that tape from a tape recorder was strewn all over, a hatchet had been used on the altar, pipe organ and windowsills, in the basement milk had been taken from a refrigerator and poured over the floor and cocoa poured over a table. Sixty-eight cents had also been taken from a box.

The three small boys were later found by police and they admitted the act. They also admitted breaking 19 windows from a school bus that sat in the church yard a month ago.

Rev. Satterfield said yesterday that the hatchet had been used on the organ keys and that it cannot be played. "Right now, we aren't sure what it will cost to repair this," he said. But he estimated other damage at $150 and that it will take around $50 to clean up the mess.

—According to best estimates, it will be only one proposal, not two or three as previously discussed.

—And it will range in size from 6.5 mills to 7.5 mills. Of this amount, 3.5 mills is a renewal of millage that is expiring this year. The amount above that would represent a raise in taxes.

Double Loser

Thieves Get Clothes, Then Fire Destroys Automobile

Double tragedy stalked one of The Mail's advertising men last weekend. Enroute to a weekend house party in Birmingham Friday night, Randy Eaton met other members of the party in Detroit for dinner. During the course of meeting additional party members, all of the guest's luggage was transferred into a Buick belonging to host Robert Dajnowicz.

While the group dined, someone smashed one of the car windows to make off with all of the bags, coats and clothing of the guests. According to Eaton, this was only a preview of the weekend's tragedy, however, because as they enjoyed a sandwich Saturday noon in Alban's Restaurant on Woodward Ave., in Birmingham, someone reported the fact that an Olds compact was on fire in front of the restaurant. In spite of restaurant fire extinguishers and efforts of the Birmingham fire department, Eaton's car ended up a total fire loss to complete a costly and exciting Birmingham holiday. Both clothes and car were covered by insurance, Eaton stated.

College Takes Look At Architects' Work

The task of selecting an architect for the Northwest Wayne County Community College is moving ahead with trustees now making field trips to see buildings designed by a select number of architects.

During the past three Saturdays, the Board of Trustees has been interviewing architects. After selecting several of these, they are now "on the road" to examine the buildings that these architects have built.

Trustees hope to select an architect by the end of the month so that he can begin to think about possible designs for the college, even though he will not be placed under contract until a millage has been voted. The millage vote (to be one mill) will be on the ballot June 11.

At the same time, the Board of Trustees has been working toward the selection of two administrative assistants. The entire Board is hopeful that at least one of these people will be available soon on a temporary basis to assist the architect in his work and for other duties.

There has been no indication yet as to where the college will be located. The long range plans, which involve a cultural area as well as instructional facilities, will require approximately 150 acres of ground. Facilities for approximately 5,000 students also must be supplied during the next ten year period. The Board is still hopeful that some benefactor will come forward with a site large enough to accommodate all of these plans.

Under Trustee Paul Munnich the curriculum committee has put its work into high gear. Working with the college administration, citizens and businesses of the area soon will be asked to help formulate the work that will be offered by the college.

The Board of Trustees is deliberately waiting until early April before it announces its plans for the organization of a campaign to secure a favorable millage vote for one mill at the June 11 election. Very soon, the Board said, a central publicity committee will be organized "so that materials will be available early in April for the citizens who will be asked to help in bringing about a successful vote."

Tickets will be sold at the door for $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. Saturday night's program starts at 8. The final program in the series will be March 31 when Dennis Glen Cooper shows his film on "The Wonders of Michigan." Around 500 people (Continued on Page 8) administrator will undoubtedly not be included in the 1962-63 budget. This new job, which would call for a salary of $10,000 to $12,000, would probably be postponed another year (it was originally planned for the present school year).

—The present teacher salary schedule will probably be abandoned in favor of an "earned increment" type of schedule. Instead of increasing salaries in terms of the number of years of experience, an increase would be based on such things as a teacher earning more college credit hours during the year, producing curriculum guides, instructional units and other efforts dealing with instruction, gaining related experience in business or industry, etc.

—The Board is studying ways to cut the 1962-63 budget so that the millage proposal can be kept lower. Under study is the closing of one, two or three of the outlying schools in Canton Township and bringing these students into the larger elementary schools.

One of the difficult decisions that the Board must face is whether to put one or two millage proposals on the ballot. One thought was to put millage to cover a teacher pay increase in one package and the other operational needs in another package. But the Board is not sure if one phase of education is more important than another, so may decide to put all the "eggs in one basket" for voter approval.

Burger Awarded Township DPW Building Job

Burger Construction Co. of Plymouth will be awarded the contract for the construction of the new Department of Public Works building for Plymouth Township.

The decision was made at a special meeting of the Township Board last Wednesday night. Burger had submitted the second lowest basic bid, but after consideration was given of alternate bids to include explosion-proof switches, Burger's bid was the lowest. There were 13 bidders.

The Township Board had discussed asking for revising architect's specifications to cut the cost of the building and ask for new bids. An estimate of between $18,000 to $20,000 had been placed on the job, but the Burger bid was $27,750. Bids ranged up to $34,647.

But after several meetings to look over plans and bids, the Board decided to accept the present bid. Burger put a 90-day completion date in its bid, but the job may not get started for some time due to the deep frost.

It's Kiwanis Pancake Time

Those expressions of contentment seen on the faces of folks leaving the Masonic Temple this Saturday will be due to the annual Kiwanis Pancake Festival being staged there from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Authentic maple syrup, sausage and coffee or milk will be served along with the pancakes. Tickets are $1 and 75 cents for children under 12. Profit is used to carry on the Kiwanis service projects.

During the past month, 16 supermarkets in Western Wayne County were cited for selling short-weight meat — but none of the stores were in Plymouth.

This was one of the startling facts revealed this week by Harold P. Monet, inspector for the Foods & Standards Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, who had high praise for Plymouth's stores and restaurants.

Monet visited the Plymouth Mail office this week in connection with National Weights and Standards Week, during which the government attempts to inform the public about the activities of this department. Monet's territory covers Western Wayne County.

SPINNING GOLD from straw is a trick that the federal government would like to learn, but it will be all in a day's work when the American Association of University Women sponsors and performs the children's drama, "Rumpelstiltskin," four times this Saturday at the High School. A capacity crowd of over 1,100 children is expected. Because all 975 tickets for three performances were sold by Wednesday, there will now be an additional performance at 11:30 a.m. with tickets being sold at the door. Other performances are at 10 a.m. and 1 and 3 p.m. Rumpelstiltskin, left, is played by Mrs. Richard Fritz while the miller's talented daughter, Marilyn, is Mrs. G. H. Vetal.

Some Changes Made In Health Unit Visit

The four-day stop of the mobile health unit in Plymouth begins today (Wednesday) with hundreds of citizens expected to take advantage of the free examinations.

X-ray exams for detection of tuberculosis and blood tests for diabetes and syphilis are being administered. Two changes in times and places have been made since last week. The Friday stop will be in front of S. S. Kresge store, and not in the parking lot, and the morning exams there start at 11 a.m. and not 9. Here is the schedule:

Wednesday, March 7 — A & P parking lot on Ann Arbor Rd., 2 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Thursday, March 8 — A & P parking lot, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.; 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Friday, March 9 — Main St. in front of the S. S. Kresge store, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Monday, March 12 — Beyer Rexall Drug Store parking lot, corner of Main and Mill, 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

All citizens 21 years of age or older are being urged to take advantage of the free service.

Lions Seek Eyeglasses For India

An appeal for used eyeglasses that will eventually go to the needy people of India is being made during the month of March by the Plymouth Lions Club.

A similar campaign was conducted last year and netted 806 pairs. General Chairman Lester Couts said, "Boxes for depositing the eyeglasses can be found at the food stores, drugstores, banks, most barbershops, the Methodist, Presbyterian, and Catholic churches, the Parkview Bowling Alley, City Hall and Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union."

"We don't care what condition they are in, whether it is just the frame or just the lenses," Couts declared. The glasses are sent directly to India where eye doctors there sort and repair the glasses for reuse.

On the Lions Club committee with Couts are Larry Wilhelm, John Dodge, Gene Henderson, Dr. Ralph Snoko and Bill Grubb. If anyone wants the glasses picked up, they can phone GL 3-0689.

Supervisor Says He'll Vote 'No'

A plan proposed Monday by Detroit's Mayor Jerome Cavanagh for a Wayne County tax but no Detroit tax for those living outside the city failed to soothe the majority of Plymouth City Commissioners who went on record against a County-wide income tax.

The City's representative to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, A. E. Vallier, was instructed Monday night to vote against both a City of Detroit or Wayne County income tax if they should come to a vote.

The vote was 6-1 for a resolution that put the City against all income tax plans proposed thus far. The one opposing vote came from Commissioner Richard Wernette, who said that he felt that he would rather see a County income tax if the money would come back to the City of Plymouth.

Supervisor Vallier declared himself against both a Detroit and Wayne County income tax. "I don't think we should pay for services in Detroit," Vallier asserted, "when we have our own problems. And I think we are already paying our fair share to the County."

The supervisor said that he felt that Plymouth was already paying more to Wayne County than it was getting back. (In the recent tax collection, property owners in the City were to pay $235,929 to Wayne County.)

"As far as I can see," Vallier continued, "Wayne County has made no attempt to save money through efficiency. There has been no cutback in personnel or streamlining departments, such as the sheriff's department which has more chiefs than Indians."

He added, "Before people are asked to pay an income tax, the County should try other ways to save money." He proposed that a "Little Hoover Commission" be named to study money-saving methods in the Wayne County government.

Commissioner Wernette said that he was against a Detroit City income tax, although he recognized that they desperately needed more money. "I'm in favor of a State income tax, but if we can't get that, I'd rather see a County tax with the County share coming back here."

Vallier replied that so far as he knows there is no proposal to return County income tax money to local communities. In a vote taken later, six commissioners voted in favor of a resolution opposing all income tax plans advanced so far. Wernette voted no.

Up until Monday afternoon Mayor Cavanagh had proposed a combined Detroit-Wayne County income tax with those living outside Detroit but working there paying one-half of the city rate in addition to the full County (Continued on Page 8)

Supervisor Lindsay Not Sold Either

Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay said Tuesday that what he knows about Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's County-wide income tax plan now, he would vote no on the proposal.

Supervisor Lindsay, who is a member of the Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors, went to Taylor Township last night to hear the Detroit mayor tell out-county supervisors his newest plan for an income tax.

Before attending the Tuesday night session, Supervisor Lindsay said that while he realized that Wayne County is in need of more money, he would not vote for an income tax from what he knows about it.

The Township Board had previously expressed its opposition to a Detroit income tax that would include non-residents who work in Detroit. Plymouth Township has many Detroiters who come to Plymouth Township to work, the supervisor pointed out, who would pay nothing to the local government.

Supervisor Lindsay said (Continued on Page 8)

PHS Teams In Tourneys

With high hopes, Plymouth's basketball and swimming teams hit the tournament trail this week.

Tonight (Wednesday) at 8:30 the cagers take on Ypsilanti Central in the first round of action in the District No. 25 tournament at Bowen Field House on the Eastern Michigan campus at Ypsilanti.

Friday and Saturday, the local swimmers will compete in the State Class A swimming tournament at the University Pool in Ann Arbor. Finals in one event will begin at 4 p.m. Friday and some preliminary run-offs will follow shortly thereafter.

Further preliminaries and the remaining final events will be held Saturday starting at 10 a.m.

Shortweighing Meat Puts Area Markets In Stew

Plymouth Cited for Honesty

During the past month, 16 supermarkets in Western Wayne County were cited for selling short-weight meat — but none of the stores were in Plymouth.

This was one of the startling facts revealed this week by Harold P. Monet, inspector for the Foods & Standards Division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, who had high praise for Plymouth's stores and restaurants.

Monet visited the Plymouth Mail office this week in connection with National Weights and Standards Week, during which the government attempts to inform the public about the activities of this department. Monet's territory covers Western Wayne County.

The 16 stores caught in the drive were located in Garden City, Livonia, Nankin Township, Dearborn and Redford Township, Monet said. "All of them pleaded guilty or were found guilty in justice courts," he added. Monet brought in six inspectors from other areas to assist with the weekend drive.

Monet explained that the markets had deliberately short-weighted pre-packaged meat for weekend sale because they thought the inspection department was not active on Saturdays. "Ordinarily we do not work on a weekend, but when we suspect something wrong, we will work anytime," Monet declared.

"We found that 38 per cent of the packages checked were short-weight and between 50 and 60 per cent of this was deliberate." Monet, who was once a supermarket manager himself, said that one of those cited formerly worked for him.

Looking at the other activities in the area during the past year, Monet found a bakery selling short-weight bread in a Livonia store.

Last fall, there were several cases in the Wayne and Allen Park area where bad eggs were being sold. Inspectors such as Monet carry suitcases that contain egg candlers, master weights and other devices for determining accurate measuring.

While short-weighting is one of the leading problems faced by the department, the making of sausage still remains close behind. A Livonia meat-market which makes its own sausage, Monet said, was convicted of putting sulfites in their product which "brightens and preserves" the meat, a violation of state law.

On the other hand, Monet had only high praise for a Plymouth sausage maker which he says maintains one of the cleanest operations in the business and turns out the best quality sausage possible.

Without hesitation, Monet commented that Plymouth's restaurants, stores and bakeries "do a real nice job." He added that his department hadn't had any trouble in Plymouth all year.

"There seems to be a spirit among your business owners and in the town itself to do the best job possible," the inspector asserted.

"Some of these things that happen in the larger communities haven't seemed to have brushed off on your people here. I would say that they value their customers more. Even your supermarket managers have become a part of the community and feel they must do the right thing with their neighbors," he concluded.

Farnum-Fluelling United In Double Ring Ceremony

Frances Farnum of Port Huron became the bride of Douglas Fluelling of Plymouth on the evening of Feb. 17 at a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Norman Berg in St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church.

White gladioli, mums and white carnations decorated the altar.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Farnum of Port Huron, wore a gown of white satin styled along princess lines with high neckline and long sleeves. The back of her gown was bouffant accented with a bustle effect. Her veil was draped to a pearl and sequin crown and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and baby mums.

The bridesmaid, Miss Leanne Farnum of East Detroit, a cousin of the bride, wore a pink nylon sheer dress with a full overskirt of the same material. The short sleeves and hemline of the overskirt were scalloped and featured deeper pink painted roses. She wore a matching veil and carried white baby mums and pink roses.

Interviewing across the informality of the luncheon table is one of the nicest ways that we can think of to become acquainted.

This is how we recently met one Plymouth's newest business men, Hugh C. Jarvis. He is just become the new owner of Paper's House of Gifts.

Originally a Michigan-der from Ishpeming, his retail affiliations have taken him to Louisiana, Ohio and Illinois before he arrived on the Plymouth scene.

His background lends itself nicely to the gift business, having been a buyer for the Bell Company in Chicago and more recently a sales representative of the Allan Co., proffering a line of gifts and accessories for men.

This past weekend Jarvis attended the Detroit Gift Show selecting new and interesting gifts to fill the shelves in his attractive store.

Listening to his soft-spoken Jimmy Stewart-type inflected voice, one senses the lively interest he feels at being part of Plymouth's commerce.

For the time being he and his wife, Lorraine, will continue to make their home in Ann Arbor where Mrs. Jarvis is the Educational Director of the Dietary Department of University of Michigan Hospital.

We are sure the citizens of Plymouth will make him welcome and join us in wishing Hugh Jarvis great success in his business venture here.

In the mail a few days ago came the request from Mrs. Fred Korte, now sojourning in Florida, asking for a re-print of the recipe for Dutch Chocolate Cake that ran some time ago. Having scoured back issues of The Mail with no success we can only conclude, with regret, that Mrs. Korte may have us confused with Gourmet Magazine. If so, we thank her for the compliment.

Her name is Penny. She is a timorous fawn-colored female Chihuahua who disappeared on Feb. 15 in Plymouth when her elderly mistress, Mrs. Bertles was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Williams at her 712 Fairground Ave. home. The small dog was a birthday gift some time back from her children.

Since Penny's disappearance, Mrs. Bertles has returned to her Lexington, Mich. home, ill and broken-hearted. Being in poor health to begin with, the loss of her little pet is all the more keenly felt.

If you know of the little dog's whereabouts, won't you call Mrs. Williams, after 4:30 p.m. at GL 3-2274 or the Plymouth-Police Dept., so that they in turn, can ease the mind of a lonely lady?

Pair See Europe's Sights During Stay in Germany

Mrs. Donald Mitscher is the former Martha Lytle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Blaine Lytle of Plymouth, who last year went over to Germany where her fiance, SP-4 Donald Mitscher was stationed.

They were first married at a German civil ceremony, as is the custom of the country, and then in October, repeated their vows a second time in a religious ceremony in the famous Chapel of the Three Stones.

The Chapel, originally used by the German Army as a horse stable, was converted after the war into one of the most unusual chapels in the country.

Set into the base of the altar, are three stones salvaged from St. Kilian's Protestant Church in St. Augustine's Catholic Church and the Jewish Synagogue in Stuttgart. Hence the church derived its name, symbolizing the unity which recognizes the sacredness of each man's creed.

Since their marriage the Mitschers have taken many interesting side trips. Their wedding trip took them to Austria, Florence, Rome, Venice, the Italian Riviera, Monaco, France and Zurich, Switzerland. On other trips, they have visited Brussels and London and skiing in the Bavarian Alps.

SP-4 Donald Mitscher is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Mitscher of Hamburg, New York.

Grange Gleanings

Thursday, March 1 was our Grange Pot Luck Supper, which always brings out a good attendance; there were 68 present who enjoyed the good things to eat as well as the social part of the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Richwine were our guests for the dinner and they later pleasantly showed us the colored slides of their trip to Alaska which Perry did so well you felt you were along on the trip with them. Our thanks to Perry and Mary. We hope you will visit us soon again.

We're happy to report our sick members are improving. It was good to see Sam and Harry at Grange.

Our Rummage Sale, Saturday, March 3, was a real success. There will be more about it in next week's Gleanings.

Eta Psi Sorority Holds Test for Ritual of Jewels

The Priscilla Lane home of Mrs. Melvin Fluelling was the scene of the Feb. 28 meeting of Eta Psi Sorority. There were 18 members present.

During the evening Mrs. Wilham Bailey, vice president, conducted the Ritual of Jewels test for the five pledges. The ceremonies for the Ritual of Jewels will be conducted in the near future, after which privileges of the next step upward in Beta Sigma Phi will be granted to all five pledges of this local chapter.

Mrs. Craig Stover presented the program entitled "To See and to Know". She gave a brief but interesting character sketch of each member of Eta Psi, through means of astrology.

At the close of the evening Mrs. Fluelling served refreshments to the group.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

In conjunction with their Skating Badge, Girl Scouts of Troop 259 took the bus to the Olympia in Detroit to see the Ice Capades March 3.

While not all of the Troop's girls were able to attend, those that did included Karen Wheeler, Jamie James, Janet Sheedy, Barbara Ross, Lynn Dunn, Toki Dobas, Mary Raafaub and Linda Bassett.

The girls were accompanied on this trip by Mrs. Wesley Dunn, Mrs. Woodrow Ross, Linda Ross and Diane Wheeler.

Troop 259's Scouts are now beginning work on their Ramble Badge and saving their money for a troop camp-out at Cedar Lake following the end of school this summer.

Leader of the troop is Mrs. Grace Wheeler.

Troop 800 from Redford, led by Mrs. J. Taylor, includes Dona Manzi, Bonnie Gibson and Joanne Gignac from Plymouth.

They are selling a brand-name soap to gain money for horseback riding lessons, as the troop is a "mounted" troop.

The troop is having a Burnage Sale in Redford on March 10 for money for a canoe trip late this summer.

YOU CAN'T judge a book by its cover might be the theme Wayne County Librarians play as they analyze newest publishers' editions of children's books. Here Clarence Cady, Wayne County Children's Librarian chief, listens attentively to one of the County librarians' comments when the group convened this past week at the Dunning-Hough Library for their monthly meeting.

There Is More to Reading Than Meets the Readers Eye

By Jean Campau

From the appearance of the colorful and well-ordered shelves of children's books at the library, who would ever suppose that a host of minds had been instrumental in the selection of each and every volume.

The stories your child brings home from the library telling of brave deeds, adventure, science and fiction have all been carefully culled by a team of experts to insure quality for the impressionable minds that will be perusing them.

Once a month children's librarians throughout Wayne County meet at a different county library to accept or reject the newest publishers' offerings as found in Publishers Weekly, a trade journal.

Friday the Wayne County Children's Librarians met in the cordial atmosphere of the upstairs meeting room in the Dunning-Hough Library to review their current findings.

Seated around the long table with stacks of recently read books in front of them, each member, by turn, gave a synopsis of the books she had read to the group.

Does the author tell an interesting story? Are his facts accurate? Is the grammatical construction void of slang? Does it flow? Is the story structure un-cluttered and clear?

Books that ultimately find their way to the County's library shelves answer these questions affirmatively. Those that do not are generally rejected. Approximately 100 books a month are read, examined and reviewed. Out of this number the monthly rejects total about 15.

The entire process is courteous, orderly and democratic. A time for questions is allowed following each review before the body decides a tome is worth purchasing.

Out of the final list accepted it is then left up to the individual librarians to decide if the book price fits his budget and whether or not it is a book he or she would care to order for the library he represents.

After the final list has been agreed upon it takes five or six weeks from time of publisher delivery and headquarters cataloging before the libraries receive their shipments.

"It is a great responsibility," said Clarence Cady, Chief Children's Librarian, "to try and select the best material available for the immature reader."

Books chosen in this manner include the age range of pre-schoolers through eighth grade and young moderns.

Mrs. Lillie Walker, Children's Librarian at the Dunning-Hough Library, was hostess to the gathering.

Pack 1536 Has Annual Blue and Gold Program

Pack P-6 (1536) held their annual Blue and Gold potluck dinner Friday, Feb. 23. Greetings to the guests, parents, sisters, brothers and cubs were extended by assistant cubmaster Marv VanHeest.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS...

25 Years Ago

Mr. West, who has been actively engaged in the selling of farm implements for the past ten years at Sheldon has purchased the Hillman garage and during the past six weeks has been remodeling it, installing new equipment and a complete line of genuine McCormick-Deering repair parts to further serve the farmers in this community. Not only will he carry a complete line of McCormick-Deering farm machines and parts but also a line of general farm hardware.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lush have returned from Florida where they have been spending the winter. Mr. Lush has a beautiful specimen of a swordfish to add to his collection. While the fighting demon of the sea that he landed out on the Gulf stream is not a large one, being something like five feet in length, it is of an ideal size for mounting.

Gerald Ford, who lives at 542 Starkweather, was slightly cut and bruised last Saturday noon when an automobile in which he was riding with Harold Leslie of 609 West Ann Arbor, turned over on Main Street in front of Blunk Bros. store.

Mr. and Mrs. Orson Atchinson were hosts to their "500" club Saturday evening, at their home on Canton Center road. High honors were won by Mr. and Mrs. Harley Wolf from while Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Simmons were low scorers. The other members of the club are Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Smith, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Simmons of Plymouth, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Wood, of Northville.

Mrs. Robert Willoughby, Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel and Mrs. John Paul Morrow of Algonac, attended the Panhellenic dessert bridge luncheon Monday at the home of Mrs. Robert Lattin, Longacre avenue, Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Wiedman entertained at supper, Elizabeth French, Ruth Wencil, Bruce Shaw and Ralph Schwarze, of Birmingham.

Mrs. George Richwine attended a surprise birthday dinner Sunday for Elton Richwine of Monroe, given in his honor by his sister, Mrs. Wilfred Wilson of Ann Arbor. All the members of the Richwine family were present to offer congratulations.

Newcomers to Plymouth are Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Rush of Detroit who have moved into the house formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Glider. Mr. Rush is the Michigan representative of the Rugby Knitting Mills, Buffalo, N.Y.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Terry visited their son, Marvin at Albion Sunday, where he is attending college.

50 Years Ago

The ladies of the Cemetery Society will have a measuring social at the town hall Saturday evening, March 9. Everyone come and see who will carry off the prize for the tallest lady and the shortest man. Children will be exempt from measuring.

Mr. and Mrs. Ransom Lewis, also Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stevens attended the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Bosworth at Redford Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Peterhans entertained a number of friends at cards last Thursday.

At the regular meeting of the council last Monday evening, the new water rate was passed. Three voted against and two voted for. President Hillmer cast the deciding vote.

A farewell thimble party was held for Mrs. W. O. Stewart at the home of Mrs. D. A. Jolliffe last Thursday afternoon by the ladies of the M. E. Church. Mrs. Stewart had long been identified with church work.

It was with much misgiving as to the expediency of installing 24-hour service at the electric lighting plant, but we are pleased to be able to present a better showing than was expected by anyone a year ago.

Louis Reber, the popular tonsorial artist of the north side is getting some extensive repair work done on his new home.

A very pleasant afternoon was spent by a number of the comrades of Eddy Post at the home of comrade Gage of North Village. Music, singing and reminiscences by the old boys was the order of the day. A fine luncheon was served and all were highly pleased with the afternoon.

Over 2,500 votes — at a penny apiece — were cast in last week's Ugly Man Contest. The winner: junior Gary Gould! All money from the competition will be given to CARE.

IT WAS mutual admiration day last Friday for the Detroit Symphony Orchestra's brass quintet and the 1,200-plus students who attended the morning music assembly. The musicians, who had just returned from a 10-day tour in Florida, said that Plymouth's audience was one of their best. They felt that students had really appreciated not only the histories of the brass family members, but also the music, which began with a processional march by Beethoven and ended with a swinging version of "When the Saints Go Marching In." The students' verdict: "Great! Let's have more assemblies like that!"

The Student Council appropriated $50 to cover those expenses not handled by the Ford Foundation in bringing this top-notch group here. WITH JUST one more weekend until the model United Nations Assembly opens its 13th session in Hillsdale, international relations students are holding committee hearings and practice sessions for general debate.

Representing India at the Hillsdale conference will be Dave Raaflaub, Susie Neal, Janet Graham, Harold Fisher, Jim Kroopf, Lynn Van Dyke, Byron Latta, Doug Eder and Dave Fey.

Delegates for Colombia are Ken Fischer, Mary Hulsing, Mary Park, and Jim Yost. The class is composed entirely of seniors.

A TWIST Contest will be the highlight of next Friday's dance — "Tanker's Twist." Sponsored by Pilgrim Trust, the dance will be an eve-of-the-state-meet celebration and will also feature some "Memory Tunes" from the spring of 1961. The regular dress rules and time will be in effect and the usual admission price will be charged.

AUDITIONS FOR the Talent Assembly on March 14 were held last Friday. Seniors are signing up now to work on the farewell assembly... play practice is right after school every day... a new regulation will have all doors from the main floor closed at 4 p.m. a reproduction of a Van Gogh painting has been purchased for the library (cost $40). There are only 100 days of school left this year.

How I Earned My First Dollar

Wesley McAtee

"I remember very well when I earned my first dollar," Wesley "Mac" McAtee, owner of Plymouth Office Supply on Pennington Ave., related.

"WE WERE living in Rosedale Gardens and I was around 12 years old when I sold newspapers every Saturday night in stores, and on the street." The newspapers he sold were the Sunday editions of the Detroit News, Free Press and Times.

Young Wes and his family lived on Hagerty Rd. and later on Joy Rd. in the Plymouth area before moving to Rosedale Gardens at the age of 11. Later his family moved to a farm near Chelsea and Wes McAtee graduated from Chelsea High School. He later served a stint in the Army during World War II.

"Mac" began his career in the office supply business when he worked five years in the stationary department of American Motors. After a year as an office supply salesman in Arizona where he went for his health, he returned to the Detroit area and was with the Miles Fox Co., stationers.

HE STARTED the Plymouth Office Supply on July 15, 1958 in a City-owned building in the Central Parking lot. The store later was moved to the former Michigan Bell business office on Pennington and in August 1960 to its present location, the former D. Galin & Son store.

Residents of Wixom, Mr. and Mrs. McAtee have three daughters and a son. IN CASE his business and his family don't keep him busy enough, Mac has his eye on still another job. He is running for mayor of Wixom with an election coming up April 2.

Garling's Makes 3 Appointments At Local Office

Garling's, active in home construction, land development and home modernization for 42 years, has announced the appointment of three men to head its projects in Plymouth.

The three are William Rambo, manager of development and acreage division; Dan Oles, manager of the new home division; and D. W. Yinger, in charge of the used home department.

The three will have their offices at the Riverside Estates subdivision where the 1962 Idea Home is now attracting large crowds. The Idea Home, at 11808 Riverside Dr., is one of 17 Idea Homes in the Detroit area, two of which are Garling's homes. The other is in University Village at Ann Arbor Trail and Outer Drive.

Riverside Estates with 140 lots, is the third major development by Garling's in Plymouth. There are five models in the development, ranging in price from $16,300 to $25,000. The Idea Home is a $16,300 tri-level with three bedrooms, a family room with fireplace, two full baths, over 1,500 square feet of floor space and a woman's "dream kitchen" featuring the charm built-in range.

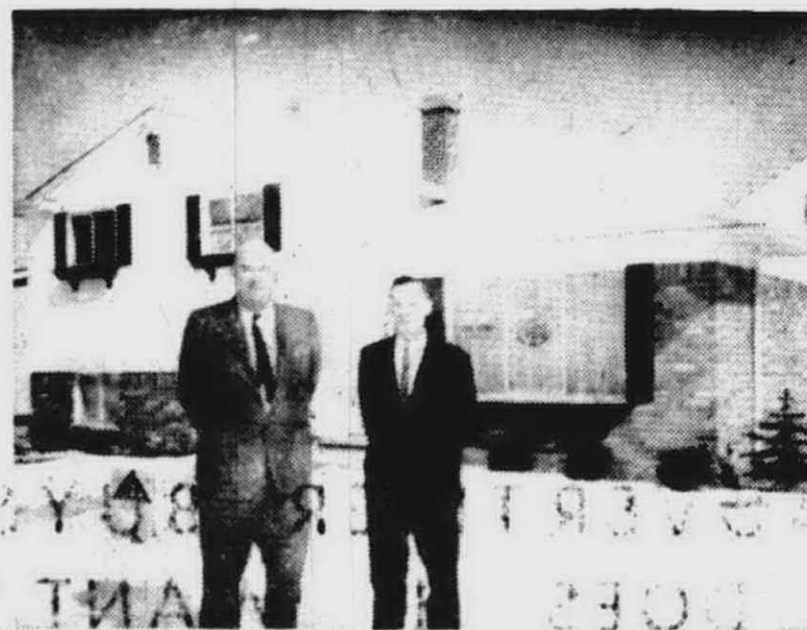

Bill Rambo, a lifetime resident of Plymouth, recently completed courses in appraisal at the U of M and Indiana University and is active in the B. P. O. Elks, Masons and Western Wayne County Conservation Association.

Rambo formerly managed Hilltop and Fox Hills Country Clubs. His father was also in the real estate business for many years in Plymouth.

D. W. "Punch" Yinger has sold properties of every description and leads the field in his department in sales year after year. He plans a permanent residence in Plymouth with his wife and four boys. He was instrumental in developing sales with Dearborn's exclusive Dearborn's Ford Foundation area, which led to further building by Garling's in that section. He is active in the PTA, Boy Scouts and is a member of the American Legion and Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

Dan Oles, who has had 10 years' experience, has also finished several new home developments including Town and Country Estates, Brookside Estates, Gas Lite Village, University Village and now Riverside Estates. He has vast knowledge of construction detail and is familiar with all phases of building.

Oles was superintendent of construction on the Idea Home. He is a member of the St. Anselms Usher's Club, Plymouth Chamber of Commerce and holds a certificate from the U of M in real estate and building and is the youngest member of the entire Garling enterprise.

ONE OF 17 Idea Homes in the Detroit area is located in the new Garling Riverside Estates Subdivision. Pictured are William Rambo and D. W. Yinger.

Plymouth YMCA Reviews Progress

The Plymouth Community YMCA reported its progress, discussed future plans, elected directors, and heard a panel discuss "The YMCA and the Local Community" at their first meeting of members held on Feb. 28 at the Plymouth Community Junior High School.

A panel, chaired by Phil Tormohlen, was composed of Fred W. Noyes, director of personnel and community services of the Jam Handy Organization, and a member of the National YMCA Council, John A. Lees, executive of the State YMCA of Michigan; and Roger H. Blood, program secretary of the State YMCA.

They discussed the importance of the YMCA in a local community, and explained the relationships of the local YMCA to the State YMCA and the National YMCA Council. Greetings were extended on behalf of the 90,000 members in Michigan, and the many associations in the 76 free countries which comprise the worldwide YMCA fellowship.

The progress of initiating YMCA activities in Plymouth was described by George Lawton, program chairman. Fred Meier, Hi-Y club advisor, explained the organization and purpose of the group. Robert Winterhalter, president, and Kenneth Evans, vice president, of the club told of their experiences in attending the State YMCA training camp last summer and the youth legislature at Lansing. Kenneth Leader, chief of the Y Indian Guides, spoke enthusiastically of the camp for father and son programs.

Rudolph Norquist, membership chairman, told of the results of the recent enrollment saying that over 300 persons representing families, individuals, sustaining and charter gifts have given support to the program.

Directors elected or re-elected for the term expiring 1965 were: Urey B. Arnold,

- 234 Arthur St., Gregory Dean, 12935 LeBlanc, Gerald E. Elston, 42044 Clemons Drive, Robert Fisher, 9351 Southworth, David Hubbs, 11803 Turkey Run, A. J. Johanson, 11570 Turkey Run, and Carl Schuller, 11705 Amherst. Elected to serve for one year (an unexpired term), David Wood, 9000 Warren Rd. The nominating committee report was presented by Ralph Garber.

Cancer Unit Seeks More White Goods

The need for white goods for the work of the local Cancer Unit of the Michigan Cancer Foundation was stressed by Mrs. Francis Patterson, office chairman, at the board meeting held at the office on Penniman, Feb. 26.

Dressings of all sizes and loan closet items such as wheel chairs and hospital beds are available to all patients in the area, Mrs. Patterson stated.

Mrs. Maurice Gibson and Dr. David Johnson, present as new board members heard the work of the Foundation explained by Mrs. Harry Bartel, vice-president. Mrs. Bartel also explained some tentative plans for the April Crusade.

A potluck dinner for all volunteer office workers was arranged by Mrs. Patterson at the local office last Tuesday, Feb. 27.

Public Invited to Auxiliary Party

The Northville State Hospital Auxiliary extends a cordial invitation to the public for their anniversary party held at the hospital on Tuesday, March 13, at 4 p.m.

For three years this group of women has been doing various forms of volunteer work in an attempt to assist the hospital in whatever way possible, and would like to interest others in this type of work.

Miss Lillian Koki, psychiatric nurse in charge of training student nurses, will be the guest speaker. A special birthday cake and coffee will be served during a social hour. Please come and bring a friend.

Boys Disable Car

Three girls returning from a High School dance were left stranded last Friday night after boys had disconnected their car engine's coil cord.

Pat Watson, 15030 Bradner, reported to police that she and two companions were driving on Farmer St. at 11:15 p.m. and had stopped at the railroad crossing, for the stop sign when a car coming off Theodore St. pulled toward them.

Rolling down the windows, a young driver asked if they were going to let their car go ahead. When the girls replied no, a boy got out of the car, raised the hood of the Watson car and disconnected the coil wire and drove off.

Local Osteopath Attends National Convention

Dr. James P. Parshall, 915 S. Main St., Plymouth, attended the annual convention of the American College of Osteopathic Obstetricians and Gynecologists and the American College of Osteopathic Pediatricians in Bal Harbour, Fla., Feb. 19-22.

Nearly 1,000 osteopathic physicians and guests from throughout the United States attended the scientific assembly. Topics discussed included infectious diseases in childhood, neo natal morbidity, carcinoma and the physician, and pediatric endocrinology.

Speakers included osteopathic college faculty, government health officers and outstanding practicing physicians.

It's Same Old Story—Cemetery Loses Money

Should Riverside Cemetery operate at a break-even point, or even make money?

This was the question that went unanswered by the City Commission Monday night as they looked over the annual audit report of the City and found that Riverside Cemetery went into the red last year by $900. It now owes the general fund $28,270.

The municipally-owned cemetery has consistently been in red ink and last year the Commission tried to straighten the matter out by raising the rates with a discount to those living in the City. It was the Commission's feeling that since City property owners were already subsidizing the cemetery operation, and the majority of burials consisted of those who had lived elsewhere, City property owners should get a discount.

But even with the increased rate, the cemetery was $900 in the red. Commissioner Carl Shear said Monday night that perhaps rates should be raised again, but Commissioner Robert Beyer answered that $900 didn't seem too much for the City to carry.

City Manager Albert Glassford declared that municipal cemeteries are growing fewer in number and that one reason that Riverside is more costly to operate than other ones is because of its age. The large number of small headstones require a great deal of more maintenance work.

DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida said that newer cemeteries are laid out so that machines can dig graves easily, but that the Riverside's layout prevents machines from moving around, so graves must be hand-dug. "This sometimes takes all day when the frost is as deep as it is now," Bida said. Some cemeteries require bodies to be laid in the mausoleums until frost is out of the ground because of the difficulty in digging graves.

Prisoner Tries Hanging Self for Second Time

Steve Gera, who three weeks ago attempted to hang himself in his jail cell after being arrested for carrying concealed weapons, has done it again.

After being returned to Plymouth after observation at Wayne County General Hospital, Gera was locked in his cell last Feb. 23 when he attempted to hang himself again. He was found dangling with a belt around his neck.

He was found to be unhurt, like the first time when he used an undershirt. Assistant Police Chief Loren Johnson said that he believes Gera is using the hanging to gain sympathy.

Plymouth police, however, don't have to worry about him now. He pleaded guilty to the charges and was bound over to Circuit Court for trial. He is in County jail. He was arrested three weeks ago in a local restaurant while carrying a pistol. Gera, 45, lived at 511 N. Holbrook.

Julian Gromer is one of America's most skilled professional photographers. Four cinema clubs have conferred honorary memberships on him and two films have won grand awards from the Photographic Society of America.

"Canada Coast-to-Coast" will take the audience on a treasure hunt digging for Captain Kidd's gold; Peggy's Cove, a gem for artists; New Brunswick, picturesque with over 600 bridges, Highland dances and Magnetic Hill; Quebec's Gaspé Peninsula; to cities of Halifax, Quebec, Ottawa, Winnipeg and Vancouver, Niagara Falls and Lake-of-the-Woods, a fisherman's paradise.

They will also cover the prairie provinces which are the treasure chests of golden wheat, oil, cattle and the wild west rodeo. Views of the Canadian Rockies include Waterton Peace Park, Banff, Lake Louise, Marmaine Lake, Mt. Eisenhower, Athabasca Glacier and Jasper.

Gromer is noted for his humor as well as informative presentation. He has often been a guest on Detroit television adventure shows.

Robert White on Dean's Honor Roll

Robert White, 465 Sheldon Rd., a senior in the College of Electrical Engineering at Lawrence Tech is one of 13 students named to the Dean's Honor Roll for outstanding scholastic achievements during the first quarter of the college year.

The compilation from the office of Registrar Genevieve Dooley show that White had an average of 2.51 of a possible perfect all-A average of 3.0. The Honor Roll is limited to those students with an average of 2.5 or better.

Robert, a graduate of Dondero High School in Royal Oak, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. White, 465 Sheldon Rd., Plymouth.

Million Receive Social Security Disability Checks

Over one million persons — disabled workers and their dependents — are receiving nearly 68 million dollars each month under the social security disability insurance program.

Harry Baltuck, Manager of the Detroit Northwest Social Security Office explained these payments go to those who suffer from a crippling disease or severe disability which makes them unable to work. Only long lasting and severe disabilities which make a person unable to engage in any substantial gainful employment are covered.

In addition to meeting the disability requirements a person must have worked in employment covered under social security for 5 years in a 10 year period ending when they were disabled.

Baltuck added that your social security office has a pamphlet, free for the asking, which fully explains these requirements. It is Pamphlet Number 29 entitled "If You Become Disabled."

At the present time over 50 million people have worked long enough in employment covered by social security to qualify for cash disability benefits if they become disabled.

Before November 1960, disabled workers and their dependents could receive these disability payments only if the worker was 50 years of age or older. However, recent changes in the law provide for payments to workers and their dependents regardless of age if they are otherwise entitled.

Mr. Baltuck indicated that the program paid cash disability payments to over 200,000 persons under age 50 in the six months after these amendments became effective. These payments amounted to over 12 million dollars monthly in cash benefits. Disabled children over age 18 of retired, deceased, or disabled workers may also receive cash disability benefits if their disabilities began before age 18.

More than 119,000 such disabled adults and children who became disabled prior to age 18 are receiving a total of over 5 million dollars each month, Baltuck added.

The risk of disability was the last to be covered under the social security system. Each legislative year since 1954, when disability coverage was enacted, amendments have broadened coverage and provided additional benefits to disabled workers and their dependents.

The 1961 amendments to the social security law extended the time for filing for long standing disability benefits to June 30, 1962. Workers with disabilities may lose all or some of their rights to these benefits if they do not apply for them before June 30, 1962.

Painters Hurt In 18-Foot Fall

Two Detroit painters were injured last Friday afternoon when they fell 18 feet from a scaffolding as they painted the outside of a Forest Ave. building.

Rufus Grier, 36, and Harry Wyatt, 40, were painting the south side of the building at Forest Ave. and Wing St. that will soon be occupied by the Cashway Lumber & Materials Co. The building was heavily damaged by fire early last year when it was occupied by Evans Discount Furniture.

One of the ladders supporting the scaffolding collapsed, police were told, and both men fell to the sidewalk below.

Grier suffered a fractured ankle on one leg and a fractured heel on the other. Wyatt received a broken leg. They were employees of the Grier & Sons Painting Co. of Detroit.

In another industrial accident last Saturday, an employee from the Michigan Foundations Co. received a serious head injury as he worked on a Rouge sewer being laid along Edw. Hines Drive in Plymouth Township. The worker is reported suffering a fractured skull.

County Tax

tax. This brought about a storm of protests from many Wayne County communities. Then Cavanagh changed his mind and announced Monday that out-county citizens working in Detroit would pay no Detroit tax but that they still pay a County income tax. This has apparently satisfied some of the out-county officials.

The Ways and Means Committee of the Board of Supervisors is expected to vote on the new Cavanagh proposal Thursday.

'Welcome' Sign Project Moves Forward Here

Sign posts welcoming motorists to Plymouth and combining the signs of six organizations moved a step closer to reality Monday night when the City Commission approved its share of the project.

The project, spearheaded by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, calls for five signs to be posted in the Township and City. The cost would be shared by the City, Township, Jaycees, Rotary, Optimist, Kiwanis, Lions Clubs and the Chamber of Commerce. The six organizations would have their own signs surrounding a "Welcome to the Plymouth Community" sign.

Howard Oldford and Terry West appeared at Monday night's Commission meeting to discuss the project. They said that each of the eight groups would pay $18.75 for each sign. The Township Board will be approached next week, Oldford said.

D.A.R. Essay Contest Has Two Winners

Four winners were selected by three judges, one a D.A.R. Northville member, one a Plymouth member and the other a Fenton businessman, from the entries submitted by youngsters in Plymouth and Northville schools who responded to the recent essay contest sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution, and locally the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter.

Themes were to depict the life of prominent Americans who have forged a part of their character and integrity on the American scene.

Plymouth produced two winners that tied for third place, Martha Cole, whose subject was Chief Tecumseh and Judy Bennett who wrote on Henry Ford.

Both girls, sixth graders, were guided in their efforts by their teachers, Mr. Jack Birk and Mrs. Virginia Trayer.

First and second prizes were awarded to Maryann LeButt for her essay on Father Marquette, and Joy Kadey who chose to write about the life of Chief Pontiac. Both from Northville, they are students at Our Lady of Victory School and Northville Junior High, respectively.

The four winners received cash prizes from the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter. From here the essays will go on to the State level for adjudication and final judgement will be made, some time in May, at National Headquarters in Washington, D.C. The following paragraphs are excerpts from Judy Bennett's essay on Ford.

"Henry Ford thought that 'horseless carriages' were better things to work with than watches, so he started building one in a shed in back of his house. He finished it in 1896. It had a single seat, and a steering lever instead of a wheel. He sold it for $200.

In 1914 he raised wages of his workers to $5 a day. This he later changed to $6. He started the eight hour day with five days in his work week.

"Most people spend more time and energy in going around problems than in trying to solve them," said Ford.

In 1945 he gave the presidency of the Ford Motor Co. to his grandson, Henry Ford II, who was then 28 years old.

Today America remembers Henry Ford as the man who put America 'on wheels'. The Henry Ford Museum, near Greenfield Village, in Michigan is named for him. Children study him in history books, and all America thanks him."

Martha Cole - Judy Bennett

American Plan Insurance Firms Report Income Up

The American Plan insurance companies of Plymouth reported important progress in 1961 during the annual meetings of the firms, it is announced by John J. Temple, president of the company.

American Hospital-Medical Benefit reported a premium income of $4,980,449, an increase of $383,954 over the previous year. Admitted assets at the end of 1961 rose to $944,890, an increase of $55,151.

American Community Mutual Insurance Company increased its life insurance in force by $1,575,283 to $12,464,118 at the end of 1961. Admitted assets rose to $1,249,245, an increase of $64,218 over the previous year.

Benefits of $4,148,734 were paid in 1961 by the company, bringing the cumulative benefits paid to policyholders to $53,866,468. Temple expressed complete confidence in the American Hospital-Medical Benefit's steady growth pattern.

Meanwhile, American Community "established new records in sales and service to policyholders and is moving rapidly along an expansion program."

Mrs. Molly Tracy was hostess Tuesday afternoon to members of her bridge club in her home on Church St. Dessert and coffee were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Jason Day and son, Tom, of E. Detroit were dinner guests Sunday of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. O. Hitt on Sheridan Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry S. Davis and sons, Gary and Craig, of Melvindale joined Mr. and Mrs. Ray Cichocki in celebrating Craig's second birthday Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoken Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Anderson of Flint attended the funeral of Mrs. Fred Ballen on Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Howard Hill, Mrs. Charles Catlett, Mrs. Harold Shirey of this city and Mrs. Ralph Wagenschutz of Lionia visited the Flower and Builders Show at Cobo Hall in Detroit Thursday.

Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel, Mrs. Robert Willoughby and Mrs. Kenneth L. Hulsing plan to attend the Panhellenic Society of Detroit Friday in the home of Mrs. Gladys Phelps in Berkeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Curtis and Mrs. Molly Tracy were dinner guests Sunday of the latter's niece, Mrs. James Thompson in Detroit.

Mrs. Max Trucks will entertain at a luncheon Friday with Mrs. Henry Walden of Farmington, Mrs. Ralph J. Lorenz, Mrs. William Bartel, Sr., and Mrs. Roy Fisher present.

Mrs. L. R. Crane of Penniman Ave. will be hostess Wednesday evening to members of her contract bridge group including Mrs. F. R. Hoheisel, Mrs. Charles Garlett, Mrs. Harry Deyo, Mrs. M. A. Arnold, Mrs. Walter Hammond, Mrs. C. C. Willtse and Mrs. Agnes Pauline.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Banks who moved to Plymouth last week from Clinton, N.C., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Foster on Ann St. while waiting for their household goods to arrive. They will reside on South Harvey.

Mrs. Charles Minehart entertained her neighborhood Canasta club on Tuesday evening of last week at her home on Clemons Dr.

Ray's Barber Shop Now Open Here

Ray's Barber Shop, 550 South Main, next to Pease Paint, is marking its Grand Opening this week with a special invitation to all Plymouthites to stop in and get acquainted.

Owner of the new barber shop is Ray Pletcher, of 42016 Five Mile Road. He previously was associated with Nick's Barber Shop here.

Located in the remodeled building adjacent to Pease Paint, Ray's Barber Shop specializes in prompt service and professional hair-cutting.

Pletcher extended his sincere gratitude to Plymouthites, business acquaintances and personal friends for their patronage last weekend. He said it helped make his unofficial opening last Friday and Saturday a tremendous success.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

the Editor: I am not the only one! I see others on the road, wanking themselves with the same perniciousness, and in one memorable moment, there was a sip left over at Inkster Road. As I lifted my trusty mug, I glanced inadvertently to my left. There, in a tired station wagon beside me, sat a rather well-wrapped mummy, doing precisely the same thing! A moment our eyes locked in shock, and then, simultaneously, and with a sheeplish grin, we raised our goblets in silent toast, drank deeply, and with satisfaction, I did not know my friend for long; the light changed.

There are the meticulous conventions of the road, evolving constantly to the right or the left. My nomination at the moment for the most courteous four corners in the world is the four way stop at the intersection of Sheldon and Phoenix Roads. Here traffic proceeds with the staidness of a gavel, as if there were no worried rushing, no importunate broadcaster warning almost boastfully that you are already ten minutes off schedule.

There is, you will agree, always THAT TRAIN. There is a crossing with a radar eye beaming for my wagon. I can be late or early; it doesn't matter, so is the train late or early. Other commuters have endowed certain traffic lights with venomous, spiteful personalities which vent their time stealing, frustrating red glares upon them. And so it goes in the private world of the commuter. Some things are always with us.

That other world of home we leave behind us, the work with its problems, which shortly we shall embrace; the inevitable errand for the trip home, and most of all, the seeing which makes every trip different. The many faces of the land as the earth turns; the gradual but lovely ending of the period when we never see Plymouth in daylight. The end of the hibernation period of the creatures... and say, be a little bit careful, will you? It is not fun to ride the highway choked with the mortality of rabbits, skunks, opossums and every other little mammal our lovely lands hold.

These creatures are the real difference between our way of life as commuters and our friends who have chosen the cities.

The Plymouth Mail
Dear Sir:

We take exception to the reprint, commenting on the gun club, to be located on Napier Road between North Territorial and Five Mile Roads, received last week through the mail. Yes - we say gun club, for that is exactly what it is going to be. No wildlife sanctuary erects a shooting and target practice range, the noise of which shooting would scare the wildlife away rather than attract it.

It is all well and good for the members of this so-called Conservation Club to say they wouldn't mind living next to such a place, but you don't see any of them rushing out to buy property on Napier Road, a very nice location for an up-to-date home. There is property for sale along here, you know, both vacant and built-up. How come? No, they just want a place within a few miles of their homes, convenient for them to get to, but not close enough to make enemies of their own neighbors, and to have their own rest broken early on Sunday mornings.

We say so-called Conservation Club, because by so naming it, you can escape a great deal of tax, yet the members of the Zoning Board, (rather we should say, some members) tried to choke it down our throats that the establishment of such a club would alleviate the township taxes.

It has been played up big about the advantages of such a place for boy and girl scout activities, as well as church organizations. It is the first time we ever knew that scouts and churches used the equivalent of road houses, where liquor can be served, for their activities.

Also, we should like to know why, when this matter was taken up at a special township meeting, it was to be a $150,000 clubhouse, thereby adding to the value of property in this neighborhood. Yet, you, as a life-time member, say it is to be a $75,000 clubhouse, just half of the first figure quoted. Of course, we know this was all a game of politicians, in an effort to get the thing through.

However, the property owners near this site were and still are very much against the erection of such a clubhouse, whether it be a $75,000 or a $1,000,000 place. We do not want our peace and quiet disturbed by the shooting and our road made unsafe by drivers following the wedding receptions, etc., for which the clubhouse is to be rented.

You say you never received any complaints in the neighborhood from which you are forced to move, but that is different from stories we have heard.

VFW News

On Feb. 21, President Olson and Lucinda Archer presented an American Flag to Brownie troop number 376 at the Allen School.

Guests at the last meeting were Marie Brown, president of the Wayne Auxiliary, and Gertrude Freshman, conductress from the same auxiliary. The date for Luncheon is Served is March 21. DeLores Shaw has tickets for sale. Be sure to order yours today.

April is designated as the month for Cancer Crusade. There will be a film showing at one of the local theatres. Watch for further information on this. As a token of remembrance for the veterans at Maybury Sanatorium who are more or less considered as the forgotten group, it has been decided to send birthday cards to each individual. Many of these men have been there so many years that they have outlived their families and their only contact with the outside world is through contacts such as this.

My apologies to Mrs. Blank for her sudden demotion. The error was strictly unintentional.

Mrs. Beulah Adamson of Denver, Colorado, national president of the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will make her official visit to Detroit on March 9 and 10, 1962.

Mrs. Adamson was elected national president at the 48th national convention in Miami Beach, Florida. She is a member of the Francis Brown Lowry Auxiliary, No. 501, Denver, one of the oldest and largest Posts in Colorado. Her first auxiliary office came the night she was initiated in 1933 and that office was trustee. She has held progressive elective and appointive offices on local, state and national levels; served the Department of Colorado as president in 1946-47.

Plans for her visit to Michigan include a meeting on Saturday, March 10 at the Grand River Post Home 1519, at 13576 Lesure, Detroit, at which time she will be informed of the many activities being carried on by the members of the auxiliaries in Michigan. A reception in

Mrs. Adamson's honor will be held on Saturday evening followed by a dinner at which she will be guest of honor.

Mrs. Geraldine Olson who is president of our Auxiliary, will be attending this affair and several members of the Auxiliary will accompany her.

Architects Hear Seminar at State 48th Convention

In depth study of the general theme, "This Is Architecture," will be afforded by way of three seminars drawing upon the talents of outstanding architects and business and professional leaders from throughout the United States at the forthcoming Michigan Society of Architects 48th Annual Convention in Detroit next month, announced William P. Smith, Jr., a Plymouth-Area spokesman.

The initial seminar dealing with "Urban Design and the Role of the Architect" will be conducted by Carl Koch, AIA, Cambridge, Mass.; Norbert Gorwic, Asst. Prof. of City Planning, WSU, and Albert Mayer, AIA, City Planning Consultant, New York City.

Participants for the second and third seminars, Smith said, will be identical. They include: William H. Scheick, AIA, Executive Director, American Institute of Architects; James M. Hunter, FAIA, 2nd Vice President, American Institute of Architects and Chairman of the "Committee on the Profession"; Nathaniel Martin, Director of Facilities Planning and Construction, IBM Corporation, New York City; Judge Bernard Tomson, New York Bar Assn., and Douglas Haskell, AIA, editor of Architectural Forum magazine.

This year's MSA Convention will be held in Detroit's Sheraton Cadillac Hotel March 28, 29 and 30.

Who's Who in the Plymouth Community Schools

What type of a child needs a teacher? You name it, she's taught it!

For two years, happy, fun-loving Mrs. Marion Breed taught the gifted, the blind, the partially sighted, the deaf, the hard of hearing, the crippled, as well as the average children in that school area at the progressive Ann J. Kellogg School in Battle Creek after she had received her degree in Special Education at Eastern Michigan College.

After marrying Walter G. Breed, principal of three Detroit schools - Lodge and Larrand, where Spanish is a part of the curriculum beginning at the third grade level, and Reeves which this year is experimenting as an ungraded school - they moved to Detroit. Here she substituted for two years.

Then in order to teach full time she went to a three room rural school near Wyandotte since the cities would not employ married women. In this school her sparkle and bounce was needed as she taught kindergarten, first, and second grades during the school hours, cooked surplus government food for the children on a small hot plate behind the piano during her lunch hour, and for a while entertained them inside the building during recess time because a plane from nearby Metropolitan Airport was embedded in the play ground and debris scattered about.

With a great deal of relief Mrs. Breed changed to an Allen Park classroom of superior fifth grade children and remained in that school system for five years until gas rationing made transportation difficult.

By this time Wyandotte would accept married women and so she was able to walk to a school just three blocks from her home to teach a classroom full of boys in a Holding Room. She also taught remedial reading for all grades, and when the psychology schedule was heavy she would offer to go back to school on Saturdays to help with the testing program. It was during these three years this very capable teacher found time to do graduate study at the University of Michigan.

After the war was over, Mr. and Mrs. Breed, who had been born three blocks from each other in Cleveland but did not meet until they were both in an Ypsilanti eighth grade class, moved to Plymouth to establish a home at 1476 Penniman and to raise a family which consists of Doug, now a sophomore in the Plymouth High School, and John, a sixth grader at Bird School.

Again she began to substitute at the Wayne County Training School when the boys were both in school, but was soon asked to teach in the Plymouth system where she has remained for six years.

Marion enjoys reading, arts, and crafts, has traveled all over the United States with the family during Walter's naval reserve tours of duty and the boys have been in every state except Louisiana.

She is a member of the PEA, MEA, NEA, League of Navy Wives, AAUW, and has been a Book Study Group Leader of that organization. During college days she served as vice-president for her sorority, Sigma Sigma Sigma, and this year was chairman of the dinner group for the Band Parents Assn. She and her husband also enjoy cooking exotic foods for their gourmet club.

Though Mrs. Breed tries to avoid the limelight, her many colleagues have always been aware of her innumerable acts of kindness and the unstinted giving of herself to children.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In last week's story about Mrs. Emmalou Pine, it was incorrectly stated that she asked to teach again after retiring at Bird School. She was invited to teach again in the fall by the school administration.)

REPORT FROM RAMBLER

Why wait for the law to make these new brakes a "must"?

DRAMATIC SIDE-BY-SIDE TEST PROVES THAT RAMBLER'S DOUBLE-SAFETY BRAKES STOP WHEN OTHERS FAIL!

HERE is the most severe test of braking safety ever performed.

Supervised by the Metropolitan Public Safety Dept., Dade County, Miami, Florida—it demonstrates what happens in case of brake damage.

First, paper barriers were set up a few feet beyond stop signs at the supervisors' observation point. Then, mechanics simulated brake damage by cutting one hydraulic line in each of two standard production-line cars—a 1962 Rambler and a 1962 competitor's car. Cars were then started up in their individual lanes, and the drivers slammed on the brakes on signal from the supervisors.

You can see the results for yourself: The Rambler stopped; the competitive car crashed through the barrier.

If one is damaged, the other works

You see, Rambler's new Double-Safety Brake System has tandem master cylinders, with one hydraulic system for front brakes, and one for rear brakes. They operate in unison. But if one is damaged, the other still works! Without this new safety device, all four brakes in ordinary hydraulic systems will fail if even one line should be damaged and lose fluid.

What it's worth to have these new brakes in an emergency cannot be measured in dollars. Yet, they're standard equipment on all 1962 Ramblers—no other U.S. car at any price except Cadillac.

When one of Rambler's two hydraulic lines was cut, one of the tandem master cylinders still worked. The Rambler stopped.

When other car's single hydraulic line was cut, all fluid leaked out. Brakes were completely useless. Car crashed through.

An obviously better value

Some day all cars may have this double measure of stopping safety. But, important as they are, Double-Safety Brakes are only one of more than 100 advancements—for increased safety and reduced maintenance—that make Rambler an obviously better value in product and price.

Highest owner loyalty

Because quality is an obsession with Rambler... because Rambler doesn't make useless annual style changes but concentrates on basic improvements... because American Motors believes in sharing its progress... Rambler has the finest record of owner loyalty in the business.

As auto expert Tom McCahill of Mechanix Illustrated magazine puts it: "I've never met a Rambler owner who wasn't satisfied—a statement I can't make about any other car."

The word gets around. And more and more people are switching to Rambler. In the four months since the 1962 Ramblers were introduced, sales were highest in history for any similar period!

Easy way to compare

The X-Ray Books available at your Rambler dealer's (see box below) will show that, with Rambler, you get quality in every detail, not just where it shows; that the 1962 Rambler gives you an estimated value bonus of up to $434 over other comparable cars.

Pick up your free X-Ray car-comparison books, first chance you get. And take the Rambler Discovery Drive. Your Rambler dealer is offering a special incentive to buy now—a special, money-saving opportunity.

FREE CAR X-RAY BOOKS CAN SAVE YOU HUNDREDS OF DOLLARS!

Authoritative 32-page Car X-Ray Books with illustrated side-by-side comparisons give facts, figures, specifications—reveal seen and unseen features and quality of all leading makes—show you how to get a better, longer-lasting, safer and more trouble-free car for your money. Finds Just About Every Salem Family Fights Flu

By C. W. Clair
GL 3-2610

Arthur Dahl from Salem with his brother, Eugene Bain from Ann Arbor, and his sister, Kathryn Slavin from Detroit, left Metropolitan Airport Wednesday at 5 p.m. for Duluth, Minn., to attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Mattie Bain. She passed away Monday night in the Miller Hospital in Duluth after a long illness. The funeral was Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Shaffer and their two children from Findlay, O. spent Sunday with Mrs. Shaffer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harlow Ingall of Joy Rd.

Harlow Ingall was in Ann Arbor Friday to pick up the tax roll.

My apology. I have been taken to task for two mistakes that I made in the Feb. 7 issue. I spelled my very good friend's name wrong. Instead of "Duguid" I spelled "Dugatt". Why I made that mistake I'll never know because I have known William for many years. The other mistake was when I said that "He was the grand 'Old' man of Northville" it should have been "The grand Young man of Northville", and as I analyze that statement I have to agree with William, because I don't know of any fellow half Bill's age that can keep up with him. I know, because he has been to visit with me several times since I came home from the hospital, and the icy roads didn't bother him a bit. So, William, come on out again, you know that my door is always open to you.

The regular meeting of the North East Farm Bureau will meet at Mr. and Mrs. D. Cortis on Six Mile Rd. March 8 at 8 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wilson of the Seven Mile Rd. and their three daughters all have been sick the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dahl received word from their son David, Airman second class, from Nevada that he had graduated from the Air Force School in Nevada with the highest honors of that school, and because of the high honors that he received there, he has been chosen to go to an Air Force school in Texas for four weeks of training for special service.

Friday night, Miss Barbara Lewis, our Salem composer, started at the Salaisan High School in Detroit, then to the Light Guard Armory and she finished the night at the Stork Club in Garden City, where they were playing her recordings. Her records are now in the top five in the WXYZ poll, so she told me Saturday morning.

A report Saturday from the Famuliner family that Mrs. Famuliner was getting along very well after her operation at the Highland Park General Hospital. She will be coming home real soon the report said.

The 4-H Go-Getters will meet Wednesday, March 7 at the home of Mrs. Bender at 7 p.m. at Pontiac Trail and Five Mile Rd.

The Worden Farm Bureau will meet Thursday, March 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Zwiernikowski, 7100 Five Mile Rd.

March 1 was the deadline for taxes to be paid without penalty. We find that $165,000.20 has been paid. This is about 83 1/2 per cent of the total. There is about 16 1/2 per cent not paid or delinquent.

The friends of Mrs. Anna Rentschler will be glad to know that she is now living in Salem Village at the Ken Rich apartment, on the corner of Salem and Six Mile Roads.

A FAMILIAR name to Plymouth shoppers is Graham's and a familiar face is Ralph Rostow, the store owner. But this particular Graham's is probably unfamiliar. It opened last week at Arborland between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor. Manager Rostow reports he has brought in lots of new styles to both stores from west coast designers and other areas. Graham's has been in operation here for 16 years.

The Ideas of March in ancient days bespoke ominous and dire consequences. By checking the New York scoreboard of what's been happening on the not-so-gay White Way, it is quite apparent that Broadway productions have been closing faster than a greased zipper.

"The Gay Life" (opened the Fisher Theater last fall), Noel Coward's "Sail Away," "The Caretakers," "New Faces of 1962," and "General Seeger" folded this past week and left the theatrical scene poorer but wiser. Financially, the loss totaled over $1 million. Detroit audiences saw three of the five failures and the exact figures were as follows: "Life" — $480,000; "Faces" — $300,000; "Seeger" — $125,000.

"DO-RE-MI" FOLDING
Even the current musical at the Fisher Theater, "Do Re Mi" with Phil Silvers and Nancy Walker nightly convincing audiences, hasn't been a profitable item for Producer David Merrick. After a 50-week run on Broadway "Do Re Mi" was still in search of the do-re-mi since the profit side of the ledger remained quite barren. To be exact, $178,000 dollars of a deficit existed when "Do Re Mi" took to the road. The road tour, after 9 weeks has been only mildly profitable. Result: Mr. Merrick will end the tour after the Detroit engagement.

Putting financial matters aside, let me indicate that old George enjoyed "Do Re Mi." The show is a curious blend of hokum and hoary vaudeville gags served tastefully in a rollicking musical comedy. Jule Styne's music does little to make the evening memorable. "Make Someone Happy" is the only song you'll ever remember from this show. Strangely enough this wonderful tune is given to a couple of minor characters to sing. Nancy Walker's big number entitled "Adventure" opens the second act brilliantly with a comic flair.

"Do Re Mi" contains a conglomerate of Phil Silvers' bits from his many years as a top comedy star. You'll chuckle and even break out in genuine laughter at some of the familiar gags. Mr. Silvers has long since proved his ability to make audiences chortle continuously. His five year run on the tiny tube as Sgt. Bilko has been no small task. And the quality of the Bilko programs remains high. In the day and age of quick death to the situation comedy series, the Bilko series stands out as a No. 1 laugh-getter. In Act II near the end of "Do Re Mi" Mr. Silvers shows he can deliver a serious number, "All of My Life." As Mr. Silvers sings this song, you see his true artistry. By all means purchase a ticket for "Do Re Mi." You'll enjoy the antics of the entire cast. It will be in our town until March 17.

ACADEMY THOUGHTS
Academy Award time draws nigh. "The Hustler," "Fanny," and "The Guns of Navarone" are three of the pictures nominated for the best of the year. The Campus Theater will be playing "The Hustler" a long with Sophia Loren's prize winning role in "Two Women." For exact playing times call NO 8-6418.

"Leda," a French film with English sub-titles, finished a successful run at the Campus. Aix, France and surrounding countryside provided some of the most beautiful background for a lively story that old George has seen for a long time.

A few days later I had the misfortune to see "Flower Drum Song." The opening credits superimposed over some stunning paintings done by a Mr. Klingman gave every indication that we might be in for a superb movie. I remembered the stage presentation as being a delightful evening in the theater.

Not so, the motion picture. At the weaknesses of the storyline were only magnified by the Cinemascope cameras. Twentieth Century-Fox neglected going to San Francisco and doing the show on location. "West Side Story" now showing in downtown Detroit did and the effect obtained was well worth the extra effort. "Flower Drum Song" had a few moments of good music, but too many dull stretches of dead dialogue.

Fortunately, Hollywood is moving away from the artificial sound stages a great deal more than they ever have in the past. It's far more economical for them to make pictures overseas on location. The majority of "Guns of Navarone" and "Fanny" was made in Spain and France, respectively. And "The Hustler" was made on location in New York City. I'm pinning my hopes on "Fanny" to walk off with "best picture honors at the Academy Award session in April.

VANGUARD HIT
You only have a few more days to see "The Disenchanted" at the Vanguard. The Vanguard has been playing this drama about the roaring 20's to capacity houses. I'm certain that Dr. Gregory can look forward to dusting off the S.R.O. sign when he opens up "Rhinceros" on March 14 for a month's run. This is the comedy that ran a year on Broadway and features the weird, fascinating plot wherein all the characters turn into stupid, menacing, charging rhinos. You have to see this play to believe how funny it can be. Mark this one down on your "must see" list.

THE BILLBOARD
Vanguard Theater — "The Disenchanted" closes March 11th. Look in on this exciting play that features Detroit's only resident theater group.

Fisher Theater — "Do Re Mi" Phil Silvers all the way in a funny, funny musical comedy. With us until March 17th. Sunday evening performances.

Shubert Theater — "Great Day In The Morning" Second Theater in Michigan production that features Colleen Dewhurst. Directed by Jose Quintero. Opens on Thursday, March 15.

Vanguard Theater — "Rhinceros" A wry comedy about conformity. You'll laugh and think about this play later. Opens March 14.

Penn Theater — "Tender Is The Night" Adult entertainment with Jennifer Jones. Closes Saturday.

The first mental hospital in North America was founded at Quebec in 1714 by Bishop St. Valier.

Mail Must Carry Complete Address

One of the best known Postmaster Timpona, "is that regular mail, including air mail, must be fully and correctly addressed if it is to be delivered. Otherwise, it will be returned to sender. This is not because the Post Office Department is anxious to return anyone's mail, but because the privilege of having post offices revise addresses which were incomplete or inaccurate became so widely abused that the cost of making corrections became prohibitive."

Postmaster Timpona hopes that those who read this article will protect their own best interests by being complete and accurate in addressing their mail and in using a return address on everything. He hopes also that users of the mail service will help both themselves and the post office by showing postal zone numbers and post office box numbers wherever applicable.

The Professor Sez . . . By Ed Brown

Most of you probably have been reading of the negotiations between the local school board and the teachers concerning salaries to be paid next year. It is really too bad that some system cannot be devised so that this unpleasant situation would not develop each year, for it causes unrest, poor morale, and to a certain extent affects the welfare of the students.

Some school districts do have a permanent plan that is reviewed every few years. Grosse Pointe is one that has such a plan, where a good minimum and maximum salary schedule is in force, and earned increments can be made by all teachers who desire to meet the requirements set up by a committee — formed of teachers and board members — who are close to the educational needs.

Any such reasonable system costs money — it all comes back to the fact as to whether a community wants to have a real good educational system and is willing to spend a little more for it — and really the difference in cost is smaller than most people believe. To me, education should be considered with our defensive taxes for I think it belongs in the front line of defense along with guns, tanks and missiles.

We pay plenty for defense, but I have often wondered what would happen if each community had to have an election to determine whether it wanted to pay defense taxes or not. I do believe that our entire tax structure should be studied and evaluated, and all injustices remedied.

I would like to present, as a public service, a series of honest, impartial and objective articles on what I think some of the problems of education are now, were a few years ago, and may be in the future. Also the many problems confronting teachers, administrators, school boards, and taxpayers today. I hope to try and bring about a better understanding of these common problems to all parties concerned.

I feel I can present a reasonable account of this because of my many years of experience as a classroom teacher, as a taxpayer for many years in the city of Plymouth, and as a parent of two children who have had all their schooling, and what I consider a good one, in the local public schools.

I do not pretend to be an authority on this subject, but since many self-styled educational experts on the large city newspapers (and who probably were never in a classroom except as a student) have written many critical and seemingly uninformed articles on the subject, it might be well if a few little old "common sense" articles were written to help "clear the air" a bit.

But these articles must be on an impartial and objective basis — no one will ever use this column to promote some selfish idea in furthering a cause unless it be one that is for the good of the majority of people.

I know that you parents, who have children in school, who know that teachers are quite different as to method, personality, and manner, but all teachers should have one thing in common — to try and help develop each child, as much as possible, in all phases of individual growth, so that he can become a good citizen when he takes his place in society. There are various other explanations for this with all having similar meanings.

This is such a broad subject that it will have to be covered in a series of articles. Next week I will tell you about a teacher's day in the classroom, the mythical "5-hour" day and 10 month year, extra hours of work at home, and extra duties, college preparation costs, and extra college work required of all teachers.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO . . . The star dash man who brought many honors to PHS by his stellar performances in local and state track meets during the mid-fifties? He received the most valuable track award for three consecutive years in 1952, 1953 and 1954.

He also starred in football, as a fleet halfback, and in basketball, and was considered one of those rare "natural" athletes that comes along once in a decade.

This gentleman married a former PHS cheerleader and they have a young son, Jeff, who is two years old, and are expecting another any day now.

Mr. X graduated from the U. of M. Dental School, and is now serving his "internship" by practicing on soldiers at Fort Riley, Kansas. He has the rank of captain.

Who is he???? Jerry Kelly, who married the former Geraldine Minehart.

A MONSTER fallen from space? No, it's just a snowman that is reclining in the backyard of the Clifford Caldwell home, 1265 Carol Ave. From left are Jeff Cavell, Cliff Caldwell, Chris and Carol Cavell, who look over the 15-foot-long giant. Jeff and Cliff started to make a fort and it ended up like this.

MEN IN SERVICE

Norton Smith
Army PFC Norton E. Smith, 20, son of Mrs. Alice E. Wiggam, 623 Herald St., Plymouth, recently participated in Exercise Long Thrust II, a month-long field training maneuver in Germany.

During the exercise more than 6,000 troops from the 4th Infantry Division, which is regularly located at Fort Lewis, Wash., were flown to Europe in one of the Army's largest peacetime deployments overseas. Units regularly stationed in Germany provided 17,000 combat and support troops for the exercise which was designed to provide participating units with long range mobility training and to test their combat readiness.

Smith, a pole lineman in the 25th Signal Battalion's Company B in Karlsruhe, entered the Army in February 1961, completed basic training at Fort Knox, Ky., and arrived overseas last July.

Leonard Shirk
Marine Pfc. Leonard G. Shirk Jr., son of Mrs. W. E. Lickfeldt of 41395 Wilcox Rd., is serving with the Third Marine Aircraft Wing at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station, Santa Ana, Calif. Helicopters, transports and jets of the wing provide air support for infantrymen of the First Marine Division at nearby Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Sherman Thompson
Sherman L. Thompson, aviation electrician's mate airman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace A. Thompson of 41090 E. Ann Arbor Trail, is serving with Air Anti-Submarine Squadron 28 aboard the aircraft carrier USS Wasp, operating in Eastern Atlantic waters.

During the tour of duty aboard the carrier, squadron members will participate in extensive air anti-submarine warfare exercises.

The cruise will take the squadron to England, Norway, Germany, France, Scotland and Holland.

Favorite Recipes from Plymouth Kitchens

This week, the Mail camera focused on Mrs. James Jabara, who contributes her recipe for Quick Coffee Cake to our growing file of interesting edibles.

Jean's coffee cake is easily assembled and the finished confection vanishes at an astonishing rate.

Quick Coffee Cake

- 1 cup shortening (or margarine)
- 2 cups sugar
- 4 eggs, one at a time
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1 cup milk
- 3 cups flour

Topping

- 3 tbsp. sugar
- 3 tbsp. cinnamon
- three quarters cup raisins, if desired.

Pour one third of batter in angel food tin and sprinkle with topping. Continue until batter and topping are all used, ending with topping.

The sugar, cinnamon and raisin mixture gives the coffee cake a marbled effect.

Bake in 350 degree oven for one hour. Icing or glaze may be added if desired.

The Jabara family moved to Plymouth two years ago from Grand Rapids, being influenced by Plymouth's friendly and pretty atmosphere. They have two sons, Marty, 6, and Mike, 9, both students at Bird School.

In addition to her duties as wife and mother, Jean finds ample time to devote to her hobbies of cooking and sewing. She makes many of her own clothes, thereby solving the problem of searching for size 5's. She is active in the Bird School PTA and is also publicity chairman of the Newcomer's Club.

Her husband, James, is the president of his own company, the Plymouth Tank and Fabricating Co., Inc., located on Ann Arbor Rd.

Sidney Strong Heads Easter Seal Campaign

Thousands of volunteers throughout Western Wayne County are joining volunteers across the nation in preparing for the Annual Easter Seal Campaign for funds to aid physically handicapped children and adults.

Sidney D. Strong, Plymouth Rotary Club Crippled Children's Committee chairman, heads the drive this year in the Plymouth area. He is being assisted by John Gaffield, Herald Hamill, Kenneth Harrison, Albert Hubbs, and Charles Westover, M.D.

The first step in the Easter Seal drive is the mailing of special letters to those who make a substantial contribution in previous campaigns. Volunteer typists have worked at the Easter Seal Center in Inkster and in their homes, assisting in the preparation of these letters which acknowledge past support, and appeal for continuing interest. Over 1100 of these letters will be arriving in homes throughout the area within the next week. Additional volunteers are addressing envelopes for the general mailing which will begin in mid-March. These along with the seals which identify this 40 year-old National health agency and its 1500 local affiliates, will carry the general appeal to homes throughout the nation. Preparation of this mail, stuffing, sealing and bundling, is an annual service project of many individuals and groups, young and old.

While the mail appeal is the basic, traditional approach of Easter Seal Societies, efforts are being made to personalize the campaign so as to provide each individual and group with an opportunity to give.

In several areas, groups are being organized to follow up the mail appeal with a personal visit to remind citizens that

Pare-Weighters Shed 50 Pounds In First Month

The local TOPS club — "The Pare-Weighters" — has been in operation for one month now and there are a total of 50 less pounds for the members of this group to carry around. That represents the combined net amount lost by the 12 members per week.

Anyone who wants to lose any number of pounds should come to one of the weekly meetings at the high school. The group meets in room 105 (to the left of the front entrance) at 7:30 on Wednesday evenings. The only thing necessary to join is the will to get rid of some unwanted weight. The local club is sponsored by the Adult Education Association.

The newly-formed group became very active right away when they accepted a challenge from the Northville group to a weight-reducing contest. After six weeks, the winners will be feted to a dietary meal by the losers. Later on the locals expect to challenge other nearby groups.

Either men or women are welcome to attend. For more information call GL 3-3899.

Pastor Back from Land of Former Head Hunters

Pastor Patrick J. Clifford of Calvary Baptist Church has returned from a visit to Ecuador where he visited several mission stations in the jungles of Ecuador, including a visit to the Jivaro Indians who in past years have been noted for their head shrinking ability.

Pastor Clifford was accompanied by his son, Dan, on part of the trip. Dan, a senior medical student in the University of Michigan, is working for two months in the Epp Memorial Hospital at Shel Mera, Ecuador.

"We arrived at our destination, Limon Cocha, just about sunset," Rev. Clifford said. "The temperature was a pleasant 80 degrees, but due to the chorus of strange noises from the nearby jungle and lake, it was hard to get to sleep. We were quite sure that we heard wild ducks in the lake, but we learned the next morning that a certain kind of toad was making the 'quacking' sound."

Limon Cocha, or Lemon Lake, is a beautiful lake which is inhabited by electric eels, sting rays, and alligators. Needless to say, there is no swimming in this lake.

"The first day in the jungle we visited the Quichua Indians," the pastor related. "This is one of the largest Indian tribes in Ecuador and are the most civilized, since much missionary work has been done among these people."

In the evening we attended the weekly prayer meeting in a small building in which about 70 people gathered. The service was led by one of their own men. One small kerosene lamp on the speaker's table was the light in the building.

The next day in the jungle, the pilot took them to three other Indian tribes farther out in the jungle. On this trip they visited the Secoya, Siona, and Cofan tribes. The most colorful of these tribes is the Cofans. Beautiful feathers are stuck through the lobes of their ears which are pierced when they are small children. Feathers are also placed through a hole in the nose.

"We found the Indians to be very friendly as missionaries have won their confidence and are helping them spiritually, physically and socially," Rev. Clifford reported. "TB is quite prevalent among these tribes, no doubt due to their poor diet. Dan had an opportunity to observe and examine some of these people and report back to the missionary hospital where he is now working."

After several wonderful days at this jungle base with temperatures going as high as 90 degrees and having had their fill of papaya, bananas, and yucca, the father and son were flown back to Shel Mera where Dan began his work in the mission hospital.

"My next stop was at Macuma, about a 35 minute flight from Shel Mera," Rev. Clifford continued. "Macuma is the headquarters for the mission to the head hunters. These Indians, known as the Jivaros, have been especially known for their ability to shrink human heads. In this area there is now a well established church, a school for boys and a school for girls."

"On Sunday morning it was my privilege to meet with about 70 Indians in their morning service. Following the morning service a communion service was held. The communion cups were made by the Indians, using clay for which they make many other dishes. Here we saw the power of the gospel to change lives. Some who attended the morning service once practiced head hunting and head shrinking. The Bible declares, 'if any man be in Christ, he is a new creation.' We saw the evidence of the power of the gospel among these Jivaro Indians."

Working with this tribe are Frank and Marie Downs, members of the Berkeley Community Church, of Berkeley, Mich., and Mrs. Barbara Youderian, of South Baptist Church, Lansing. Mrs. Youderian's husband, Roger, was killed by the Auca Indians about six years ago. After several days at the Macuma mission station Rev. Clifford returned to Shel Mera and from there by car he traveled to Guaranda, capital of the state of Bolivar, high in the Andes. Here the temperature was about 50 degrees and the scenery very beautiful. The Berean Mission carries on a work among the Quichua Indians of the mountain areas. This work is under the direction of Rev. Enoch Sanford, who acted as his guide.

The trip into Ecuador was most interesting and enjoyable, the pastor found. In many places inflation has not yet affected these people. A stalk of 225 bananas could be purchased for five cents in the jungle. In the mountain area the barber shops cut hair for five cents a head or 10 cents in the better shops. T-bone steak was 18 cents a pound. Imported goods from U. S. are very high. Kellogg's Corn Flakes sell for 60 cents a box in the city of Guaranda.

"We found a real need in Ecuador for the teaching of the Word of God, for the establishing of schools for the Indian children, and a tremendous need for medical help in the jungle areas," the pastor asserted.

"As a result of our report to the congregation of Calvary Baptist Church, interested members have committed themselves to provide funds for a new school at Limon Cocha, Ecuador. The Berean Bible Class will pay for the education of a converted Quichua Indian who will attend a seminary in Costa Rica."

During his visit to the Indian tribes Rev. Clifford purchased a number of interesting curios made by the Indians. These will be on display at Calvary Baptist Church on Sunday evening, March 11. The 7 o'clock evening service will feature the showing of colorful 35 mm. pictures taken of the Indians that he visited. The public is invited to attend this service.

Everyone Welcome - Come!

USING A HUNTING spear made by the Indians of Ecuador to point out the small country on a map is the Rev. Patrick Clifford, pastor of Calvary Baptist Church. Some of the curios he brought home are shown on the table. He also now owns a blow gun that utilizes poison darts. He will speak about the trip and show slides this Sunday night.

News of Interest In Our Churches

Editor's note: This column will be open each week for contributions from churches in this area. We welcome news of your coming events and congregational activities. All material must be in the hands of The Plymouth Mail by 10 a.m. on Monday preceding publication to insure its appearance.

The traditional Ash Wednesday Communion Service was held in preparation for the observance of Lent by St. Peter's Lutheran Church, Penniman at Evergreen. This also marked the beginning of an evangelism effort, "Call to Calvary."

Unchurched families of the community are extended a cordial invitation to attend the Midweek Lenten Vespers on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. Personal invitations to services will be given in visits to homes by members of the church.

A Fellowship Coffee, served by the Lutheran Girl Pioneers, will follow the Midweek Lenten Services. On Sunday, the theme of the sermon will be "Now Is the Day of Salvation." The choir, under the direction of Mr. Richard Scharf will sing, "Go Labor On!"

WEATHER GOOD OR WEATHER BAD - It's so easy to place a Plymouth Mail Want Ad. Just pick up your phone and dial GL 3-5500, a friendly adtaker will assist you.

Excerpts from Citizens Report Regarding Teacher Salary Hike

(EDITOR'S NOTE: On Feb. 24, the Citizens Fact and Finance Committee of the School Community Planning Group presented its report on the necessity of improving teacher salaries. While the school board has by now set a ballot proposal, many of the details of the Citizen Committee are still of interest to readers. The following are excerpts from the report.)

A survey of 18 school districts in the area indicated that Plymouth ranks third lowest in total operating levy with 14.40 mills, in a range from 13.90 to 24.90, with an average of 18.73 in the 18 districts. Plymouth ranks fourth lowest with a 6.5 mill increase in a range from 5.00 to 17.50 mills. A comparison of the total tax rate of the 18 districts finds Plymouth sixth lowest with a levy of 22.5 mills in a range of 13.90 to 32.30.

On the basis of the above facts, the committee did not feel that the amount of the increases both requested or proposed were justified in view of the districts present problems and those facing us in the future.

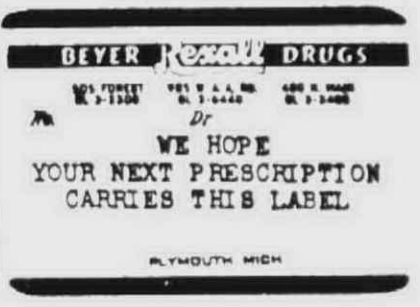

Members of the committee staff believe that the 1962-63 year is entitled to an adjustment in salary schedules. However, the committee believes that a salary hike of 10 percent is not warranted. A salary increase of 5 percent is recommended.

Shell dealers suggest 10 ways to cut car repair bills

Your car is probably the second biggest single investment you'll ever make. Here are 10 pointers from Shell that can help you protect that investment. They're easy to follow. And they might well save you a lot of trouble, as well as needless expense.

your blades and wiper arms next time you see him.

- 1. Check your cooling system hose for weak spots. Inspect all of the rubber hoses that interconnect your cooling system. If they are cracked, cut or swollen, they could give way at any time and cause engine temperature to soar. The result: a troublesome breakdown. Less serious, but a potential cause of overheating, is a debris-clogged radiator. Ask your Shell dealer to use his air hose to clear away clutter on the outside of your radiator.
- 2. Touch up scratches before rust sets in. You can discourage the spread of rust by using touch up paint on body scratches. Rust also likes to plug drainage holes on the underside of car doors and body panels. Keep those holes open to screwdriver or any pointed instrument works fine and you may well prevent a rusted-through door or body section.
- 3. Avoid 100-foot trips. It's a mean trick to start a cold car, drive it just a few feet, then turn it off. Yet people often park in front of their homes, then drive into the garage later on. This can increase engine wear, dilute your oil with unburned fuel and give sludge more chance to form. If at all possible, drive right into the garage when you arrive home.
- 4. Look for oil streaks on inner walls of tires. It may take a bit of back-bending, but it's well worth the effort to check the side of your tires you seldom see—the side facing in. If there's any sign of leaking fluid on tire walls, tell your Shell dealer. A leaking brake cylinder or rear axle oil seals could be at fault. Either can lead to extensive repairs if not corrected right away.
- 5. Obey the cardinal rule of car care. A professional lubrication job is still the best way to keep your car in good health. But it should be done on a regular basis—not "every so often." For safety's sake, Shelllubricate every 1000 miles. If your car has an automatic transmission, your transmission fluid level should be checked regularly. Your Shell serviceman can do this for you during Shelllubrication.
- 6. Never "gun" your car to warm up your engine. It doesn't help a bit. Matter of fact, it can do more harm than good, even increase engine wear. Many drivers also think it's worthwhile to idle their cars on a cold morning. But, with today's modern engines, it isn't necessary. It just wastes gasoline. Far better to start your engine, wait a few seconds until it's running smoothly—then be on your way, but at moderate speed.
- 7. Check a terribly neglected little accessory. People seldom give their windshield wipers a second thought—except when it rains. But wipers wear out too. Instead of wiping your windshield, they can smear and scratch it. Wiper blades are easy to replace—but windshields aren't. Ask your Shell dealer to check
- 8. Get a midwinter anti-freeze check. If you've had to add water to your radiator in the last few months, you may have less anti-freeze protection than you think. Let your Shell dealer check your coolant with a hydrometer—to make sure an extra cold night won't cause trouble. Reminder: If you got a Shellzone anti-freeze guarantee this winter, you're entitled to free refills, if necessary, until April 1, 1962.
- 9. Don't let front wheels hit the curb. Banging front wheels against the curb is tough on wheel alignments—and tires too. So, approach the curb carefully when you park. This sounds like a small thing, but it can help prevent costly front end problems. Suggestion: look at the tread on your front wheels right now. If they show uneven wear, your front wheel alignment may need attention.
- 10. Give your car an occasional change of scenery. A steady diet of city driving adds to the combustion deposits inside your engine. This deposit buildup can reduce your car's power and, eventually, may cause trouble. But many of the deposits that come with city driving will fly out the exhaust when you hit the open road. So, take your car for a turnpike drive this weekend. It can be good exercise for it. And a pleasant afternoon for you.

On the basis of the above facts, the committee did not feel that the amount of the increases both requested or proposed were justified in view of the districts present problems and those facing us in the future.

Junior High Basketball Season Comes to End

Basketball for the eighth and seventh grades at the Plymouth Community Junior High School has ended with the eighth graders winning three of their five interscholastic games.

For the past 10 weeks, the eighth graders have been playing three nights a week. Half of their schedule has been intramural and half interscholastic. Results of the interscholastic games were: Plymouth 23, Nankin 13; Plymouth 21, Bellevue 19; Riverside 20, Plymouth 24; Bellevue 24, Plymouth 20; Plymouth 20, Nankin 13; Plymouth 25.

Boys playing in the competition were: Rick Jones, David Eisenhower, Chuck Carlett, Bruce Barber, James Lent, Randy Blackford, Bill Way, Dale Pettis, Tom Connor, Jim Adams, Randy Williams, A. Ramsey, Brad Harrison, Larry Southard, Jim Schamper, Bob Brown, Mike Manley, Damon Grant and Jim Johnson. Robert Harring was the most successful scorer.

Seventh Grade
The seventh graders were also involved in a 10 week season. The team was named to the league's second squad all-star list.

Two other Plymouth players received honorable mention. They are Ely Mendelsohn, the Rebels' team captain, and Dick Schryver.

The first team is comprised of Roger Roman, Les Mihaly, and Allen Chumita, all of Allen Park, and Len LaPila of Redford Union, and Lionel Thorold, of Bellevue.

The second team includes Larry Carter and Greg Mares, both from Bentley; Dick Helms, of Trenton; Frank Nulley, of Bellevue; and Plymouth's Stremick and Monahan and Stover, along with Curt Johnson and Kim Lindgren. Tickets will be on hand at Zorvich's, 1800 Plymouth, in the event of Allen Park and Dick Dutton of Redford Union, and on cash at Allen Park and Stove Powers, a warmer, in the case of Bentley.

Senior Team Ousted From Hockey Playoff

Plymouth's senior hockey team was ousted last week from further action in the Garden City recreation league playoffs as Garden City defeated the locals, 7-3.

The loss ended the official season for the seniors. Al Kotak, Denny Hanks and Bill Hawkins each scored single goals in the contest, but the Garden City team could not be stopped. Kent Starbury made 24 saves.

Earlier in the week, the seniors defeated the Northville entry in the Garden City conference by a 6-1 score. Hanks and Hawkins both scored two goals and Starbury made 22 saves in a winning effort.

The seniors completed the season two weeks ago, finishing in second place with a 5-2 record. Garden City beat Plymouth in the league crown with a 6-1 mark.

This was the last bit of recreation hockey action for Plymouth teams, with the exception of unofficial pickup games, until next November.

Other Plymouth teams, all entries in the Nankin Twp. recreation circuit, had finished their seasons earlier.

When official record-keeping began in 1938, there were only 14 whoopers in the wild and it was feared those long-legged birds would vanish from the outdoor scene.

The flock now consists of 33 adults and five young. Officials of the Fish and Wildlife Service point to cooperation among sportsmen and conservationists as a big assist in the whooping cranes' fight for survival.

An outstanding example of this took place several years ago in Nebraska when hundreds of hunters held their fire on a large flock of migrating geese because two whooping cranes were in flight.

Northville Downs Gets "New Look"

Work is progressing at a rapid pace on the grandstand and mutual plant improvements that will make Northville Downs in neighboring Northville one of the most beautiful and modern half-mile harness racing setups in the Midwest.

Executive Manager John Carlo states that all improvements, which were started at the conclusion of the 1961 meeting, will be finished well in advance of this year's opening date June 18, first of the track's 42 nights which end on August 4.

The improvements will lengthen the grandstand by 30 feet and widen it by 30 feet to make room for the entirely new mutual plant. The work will enable the "Downs" to triple the size of the mezzanine betting ring and give patrons plenty of space for buying and cashing tickets.

"The steel frame is up, work has started on the new roof and the glass sides at each end of the grandstand are being installed," said Carlo. "With a few days break in the weather, we feel that the job will be completed within two months."

The new improvements are another segment of the $2,000,000 five-year plan announced two years ago by Carlo and his associates. Other steps in the overall program include a new complete tote board and a clubhouse.

With more than 250 pacers and trotters quartered on the grounds for the Northville Downs winter training, Carlo also announced the "Downs" plans for a series of $5,000 exchange trots and paces this summer that will match Michigan's best against the top performers from Cleveland, Buffalo and Chicago ovals.

The events will be held on successive Fridays at Northville and alternate between trotters and pacers.

The Northville program calls for the $5,000 exchange events on the following Fridays: June 22, June 29, July 6, July 20, July 27 and August 3.

In addition, Racing Secretary Bill Connors is making plans for a series of colt events that will bring the state's stand-out two and three-year-old pacers and trotters to the "Downs" during the 42 nights.

Electronics Will Judge Swim Results

An automatic timing and judging device will be utilized in the Michigan Class A swimmer's swimming championships this weekend in Ann Arbor.

Considered to be accurate to 1/100th of a second, the device consists mainly of a rubber plate mounted in an open half of the pool. It is clearly visible under the water.

Swimmers, as they complete their particular race, need only touch the black rubber area dominating the center portion of the plate.

This in turn sends the swimmer's order of finish and time to a computer which automatically activated judging and timing unit.

The plate, which measures 40 inches by 15 inches and is less than 1/8 of an inch thick, has not previously been used in judging the finishes for high school swimming meets.

Its use was recommended by the state swimming meet governing committee and the Michigan High School Coaches Ass'n. Supporting the recommended use of the plate was the Michigan High School Athletic Assn. along with Michigan's director of athletics, Charles E. Forstye.

The plate will be considered honorable mention with a mini-Monahan and Stover, along with Curt Johnson and Kim Lindgren. Tickets will be on hand at Zorvich's, 1800 Plymouth, in the event of Allen Park and Dick Dutton of Redford Union, and on cash at Allen Park and Stove Powers, a warmer, in the case of Bentley.

Whooping Cranes Crowded?

A record 38 whooping cranes are wintering at the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge on the Texas coast, according to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

When official record-keeping began in 1938, there were only 14 whoopers in the wild and it was feared those long-legged birds would vanish from the outdoor scene.

The flock now consists of 33 adults and five young. Officials of the Fish and Wildlife Service point to cooperation among sportsmen and conservationists as a big assist in the whooping cranes' fight for survival.

An outstanding example of this took place several years ago in Nebraska when hundreds of hunters held their fire on a large flock of migrating geese because two whooping cranes were in flight.

Rocks Fall Short in Bid for 6th Swim Title

Plymouth's five-year domination of the Suburban Six league swimming meet came to a close last weekend as Trenton, with an 80-point scoring spree, broke the Rocks' spell.

Plymouth was shoved into second place with 75 points.

Prior to Saturday, the Rocks had claimed five straight league swimming crowns and had just as effectively ruled the roost in dual-meet activity.

The results in this most recent conference clash were not altogether unexpected.

While Plymouth had been given a slender edge to gain its sixth straight league title, it was a known fact that Trenton posed a considerable threat.

In dual-meets this past season, Plymouth and Trenton had split in their two meetings. The Trojans won the first engagement by a single point and Plymouth nipped Trenton in the second battle.

Saturday, in its march to victory, Trenton captured only three first place ribbons — in the 400 and 200-yard freestyles and in the 100-yard butterfly.

But it was the Trojans' surprising depth in two of these events — and one other — that proved to be their secret weapon and marked their superiority.

Trenton amassed 10 points in the 400-yard freestyle, collected 15 more in the 200-yard freestyle and scored another 12 in the 200-yard individual medley. With 37 points in those three events alone, Trenton was off to a running start.

By the time the two relays rolled around, the final events of the meet, Trenton had fashioned a sufficient lead that Plymouth, in no way, could overcome. Although the Rocks captured firsts in both of the relays, the final standings were unalterable.

The meet was virtually a two-school race.

Bentley High emerged third with 54 points and Redford Union was fourth with 28. Belleville and Allen Park brought up the rear, each with 21 points.

Trenton swimmers pulled two resounding upsets that may — or may not — have had a psychological effect on Plymouth.

The Rocks' star swimmer, Dick Michaels, finished second to Trenton's George Lindahl in the 400-yard free and Trenton's Bruce Boughner edged Michaels in the 100-yard backstroke.

Boughner swam the backstroke in :58.1 compared to Michaels' time of :58.2, a slender difference of one-tenth of a second. And in the 400-yard free, Lindahl's winning time of 4:22.5 was 1.5 seconds better than Michaels' clocking.

It was the first time this winter that Michaels, Plymouth's individual scoring leader, had been beaten. An explanation of his two defeats — and not an excuse — might be found in the fact that he was still recovering from a bout with a virus and had not been in the water in nearly a week.

In fact, midway through last week Michaels was in bed with a temperature of 104.

The Rocks matched Trenton's three first place finishes. In addition to victories in both relays, Plymouth swept first and second in the diving as Mark Schultheiss and Wayne Stephenson did the honors.

Tom Hoffman, Phil Bender, Dave Beglinger and Win Schrader won the medley relay in 1:49.6 and Schultheiss, Al Larson, Ken Fischer and Schrader turned the trick in the freestyle relay in 1:39.5.

Schrader served well as anchor man on both relay teams, swimming despite a perforated eardrum suffered in practice earlier last week.

One other Plymouth swimmer, Barry Corwin, was also recovering from a virus. He, too, had not been able to workout with the team most of last week. Despite this, he captured a fourth in the 100-yard butterfly and finished fifth in the 200-yard individual medley.

But neither illness nor injury was the reason, in the final analysis, for Plymouth's defeat at the hands of resurgent Trenton. The Trojans displayed a deep desire to win from the very outset of the meet, and were entered in the various events in powerful combinations.

This was evident as the Trojans dominated three events and rang up an impressive 37-point total in that phase of the competition.

Plymouth finished a strong second and, as the Rocks' swim coach John McFall indicated later, his swimmers could still be proud of their accomplishments. But despite this encouragement, the mystery and gloom of defeat hung heavy in the bus as Plymouth's swimmers returned to their home camp at 10:30 p.m. Saturday.

The swimmers reflected on this series of events:

After Dick Michaels claimed a second place in the 400-yard free, Gary Gould snared another second for the Rocks in the 50-yard freestyle.

But already Trenton had fashioned a considerable lead with 10 points in the 400.

The Rocks, however, came back with a fourth, fifth and sixth in the 100-yard butterfly. Corwin, Dick Taylor and Beglinger achieved these points. Michaels finished second in the back-stroke and Hoffman was fourth.

Bender gained a second in the 100-yard breast-stroke and then Schultheiss and Stephenson swept the top two positions in the lengthy diving competition.

Corwin followed with his fifth-place ribbon in the 200-yard individual medley and then the Rocks captured both relay events.

As the meet drew to a close Trenton needed only to complete the 200-yard freestyle relay, since the two points for sixth place would sew up the victory for the Trojans. Instead, Trenton came in fourth to drop the curtain on a long and rigorous day.

Almost overlooked in the final results were six new league meet records. However, none of them were set by Plymouth. Trenton established three new standards, in the 400-yard free, the 200-yard free and the 100-yard backstroke.

Belleville, which finished well down in the standings, never the less had its moments as it set two new records, one in the 100-yard freestyle and the other in the 50-yard free. Redford Union engineered the other new mark in the 100-yard breast-stroke.

Cagers Face Ypsi in District Playoff

With the glitter and glamour of the tournament trail beckoning invitingly, Plymouth's varsity cagers face Ypsilanti Central tonight (Wednesday) in the first round of the District No. 25 basketball playoff.

The game, which is slated to start at 8:30 p.m., will be held at Eastern Michigan University's Bowen Field House in Ypsilanti.

Also entered in the District No. 25 tourney, along with Plymouth and Ypsi, are Walled Lake and Adrian High Schools. These latter two schools will confront each other at 7 p.m. tonight, prior to the Plymouth vs. Ypsilanti meeting.

The winners of the two games tonight will battle each other Friday evening at 8:30 p.m. at the same location in order to determine the District No. 25 title.

Another district crown will be disputed at Bowen Field House at the same time that Plymouth battles in its respective bracket. The other four teams, in a separate district race apart from the one in which Plymouth is entered, included Belleville, Ann Arbor, Romulus and Wayne.

However, since two games in this district were held last night, only two of the original four schools are still in contention for that crown.

The second district crown will also be determined Friday night in a game that will start at 7 p.m. at Bowen Field.

There is a certain amount of history being repeated in Plymouth's district tournament this season.

Ypsilanti, the Rocks' first-round opponent, defeated the local cagers in the regular season inaugural three months ago. The score was 43-40.

By coincidence, a year previous, these same two teams opened the 1960-61 cage season as Ypsi defeated Plymouth, 48-40.

And then in the first-round of district action a year ago, the Rocks upended Ypsilanti, 58-48, and moved ahead to the second round where Walled Lake ousted Plymouth, 59-47.

The same stage has been set for this playoff, since Walled Lake is one

The Regional playoff will also be conducted at Eastern Michigan's Bowen Field House. Those games will be held next week.

SPORTSEEN

By Jerome O'Neil

John McFall's personal kingdom at Plymouth High is a 35' x 75' swimming pool, filled with sparkling blue water and bounded on all sides by sleek ceramic tile.

His domain has — on occasion — been referred to as "the swamp" by other members of the high school's coaching staff. But not in unfriendly terms.

McFall, himself, is the Rocks' highly successful swimming coach, who — by the very habit his teams have for winning — accepts defeat only with begrudging grace.

Such was the case last weekend when upstart Trenton defeated Plymouth in the latter's bid for a sixth consecutive conference swimming title.

"We got beat," was McFall's concise summary as he opened a lengthy conversation later in describing the outcome of the league meet, which was held at Trenton.

In a way, the defeat signified the end of an era for Plymouth's swimming teams. But the Rocks have no cause for alarm, since another era, of similar winning proportions, quite likely is just around the corner.

For this is the type of coach that John McFall is.

In dual-meet competition this past winter, Plymouth felt the twinges of defeat only four times, once by Trenton and the other three by a trio of the strongest swimming teams in the state.

All-in-all, Plymouth compiled a highly respectable 11-4 dual-meet record over the course of the past 15 weeks. This accomplishment, by itself, is of credit to McFall — and to his swimmers — for Plymouth was considerably below the level of strength it had enjoyed in past years.

To enlarge upon cold statistics, Plymouth since 1953 has won 86 dual-meets, lost only 24 and, almost incredibly, has tied two others. At one point recently, Plymouth had put together a string of 39 consecutive dual-meet victories dating back to 1958.

The Rocks' winning percentage over the complete nine-year period has been an astounding .767.

Of more than incidental interest to loyal partisans is the fact that McFall has been Plymouth's first and only swimming coach during this entire span of time.

In addition to its favorable dual-meet achievements, Plymouth has also captured five league swimming crowns and one coveted State Class A title (last year).

If anything should stand as a compliment to McFall's coaching talents, these statistics will.

Surprisingly, John McFall, who is 34, was no swimmer in college although he did play football. A native of Pontiac, McFall graduated in 1950 from Western Michigan University with a bachelor's degree in physical education. He promptly joined the Plymouth faculty.

On the coaching staff here, McFall is ranked only by athletic director John Sandmann from a stand-point of longevity. Sandmann came to Plymouth in 1948.

McFall and his wife, Pat, who is also from Pontiac, live at 36611 Angeline Circle in Livonia. They have two daughters, Karen, who is 3, and Sarah, 2.

Two basic ingredients have brought about Plymouth's admirable record of success in swimming: The first is McFall, the coach. The second is the superb latent talent which he has had available to him.

While critics might be inclined to place a majority of the reasons for Plymouth's success pattern on the strength of the swimmers themselves, a far greater proportion of the credit must go to the man who has welded the Rocks' swimming teams into winning units.

The best illustration of this latter point was an observation made by a member of his current team during a recent practice session.

"Mr. McFall takes good swimmers and makes them outstanding," was the remark. And there was no doubt about the sincerity of the statement.

Kiwanians See Slides of Alaska

The Kiwanis Club of Plymouth received three new members at their regular meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 27 at Lory's Arbor-Lull Restaurant. They were Dale Carmine of GM's Corvair Division at Willow Run, Bill Pfaff of American Hospital-Medical at Plymouth and Leonard Wendel of Wendel Building Company of Wayne.

Harry Reeves was the program chairman for the evening and arranged for Mrs. Perry Richwine to present her color slides on the Richwine's trip to Alaska.

CLOSING THEIR regular season with three straight victories, the Plymouth varsity cagers wound up with six wins in 15 scheduled games and finished in fifth place in the Suburban Six league on the basis of a 4-6 record. Choose The Fuel That Keeps The Future In Mind Today

The future never looked brighter for the familiar blue flame — the symbol of natural gas service. It will continue in 1962, as in the past, to be the mark of excellence for home heating, cooking, water heating and clothes drying. Dependable natural gas does these important household tasks fast, economically, and efficiently.

But what are some of the new applications of this quiet, versatile fuel for the years ahead?

Progressive blue flame service now offers a new burner which can broil steak on both sides simultaneously... gas heating and air conditioning combination wall panels for perfect year-around climate control... radiant gas burners that warm patios and play areas... portable gas appliances such as steak grills, coffee makers and toasters... ornamental gas lights for driveways, patios and recreational areas whose soft yellow light also repels insects... gas heated driveways that eliminate snow shoveling and hazards of ice... These and many more applications, both in the home and in industry, prove natural gas is the blue flame of multiple service for today's modern living.

Entered as Second Class Matter under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879 in the U.S. Post Office at Plymouth, Michigan

Carl Caplin provided us with a pleasant weekend of reading by providing us a "hard-to-get" copy of Frank Woolford's new book, "Alex J. Groesbeck-Portrait of a Public Man." As you may know, my father was his executive secretary while he was governor and many of the public figures mentioned throughout the book were regular visitors at our home in Lansing. Of particular interest were the mentions of John Haggerty, a former resident of this area on Canton Center Rd. and a long time secretary of state. Even after we moved to Plymouth, my father and Mr. Haggerty and the late Fred Schrader did much of their political Republican skull-duggery here at The Mail office.

A group of local businessmen, including the mayor, were having a serious talk last Thursday morning about the proposed millage school officials were planning to put on the ballot. In the course of the discussion, the favorable tax situation now prevalent in the Township as compared to the City was pointed out, and, who do you think they all gave full credit for that situation . . . to the person who rightly deserves it . . . Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay.

According to Perry Richwine, of Plymouth's First Federal, bids on the demolition of the property on the northeast corner of Main and Penniman varied from $4,600 to $14,000. As soon as a proper determination can be made of the reliability of the bidders, work will be started on clearing the corner.

Bad checks still harass our local merchants and last to report was Herman Bakhaus of Cloverdale whose office accepted one for $72, and to make it worse, it came from a family that had been on Cloverdale books for years. Not to be outdone in this department, hotel manager Ralph Lorenz told of the gent who checked into the hotel, paid for his room and meals with a bad check, and to add insult to injury ran up a total of $37 worth of long distance calls. He did leave in his room, however, a dime store overnight bag crammed with old Detroit phone books. And . . . speaking of the hotel, the "Hotel World Review," a national trade magazine, gave its Dedications to Excellence awards last month to the 50-room Mayflower in Plymouth, and the 100-room Lafayette in Marietta, O. This is a nationwide acclaim for excellence.

No reason to suffer with a toothache in Plymouth any longer. The community now boasts 21 practicing dentists.

Traffic moved slowly at the corner of Wing and Main Streets on the weekend. Local motorists who have negotiated the corner on Wing St. for the past several years have become accustomed to making a complete stop as they approached the intersection. Installation of a new stop light didn't expedite traffic however, as Wing St. traffic automatically came to a stop. Just another illustration of what habit will do.

Two new features appear in The Mail this week. Our traveling professor, Edgar Brown, has decided to explain the whole problem, during the next few weeks, confronting local school officials and teachers. As a taxpayer and an excellent teacher we recommend his efforts to our readers. Secondly a new series featuring local businessmen, giving a brief background of their lives and also telling how they earned their first dollar appears elsewhere in this issue. We know it will be interesting.

"BOO !"

Voice of the Mail

We're Sad and We're Glad

A story appearing on page 1 of this issue concerning a report from a Department of Agriculture Foods and Standards inspector leaves us a little frightened, and yet greatly pleased. The inspector tells how he and six associates recently obtained convictions of 16 supermarkets in this end of Wayne County for selling short-weight meat.

HE POINTED OUT that 38 per cent of the pre-packaged meat weighed up in a weekend drive was short-weight and that between 50 and 60 per cent of this was done deliberately. It scares us to think that such a thing is happening and that it has involved some of the big-name companies. Such an occurrence makes us want to take a scale with us the next time we visit the meat counter.

We were happy, however, to hear that none of the Plymouth markets were involved in the drive, nor have any businesses been found in violation during the past year. The inspector, Harold Monet, had high praise of local groceries, restaurants, bakeries and wherever food is handled. He noted that the shenanigans practiced by a few businesses in the bigger communities east of us have apparently not rubbed off on our retailers and that our businessmen seem to still value their customers.

THIS OBSERVATION is indeed welcome, especially when it comes from an out-of-town resident who is in a good position to judge the character of those who serve the consumer.

This is National Weights and Measures Week, and while we and the public generally ignores the multitude of special weeks that every industry and organization seems to set aside, we will admit that we are glad that someone has called to our attention the work of the Foods & Standards Division. They normally receive no publicity about their efforts, but the consumer should feel that here, indeed, is one area where their tax dollars are well spent.

Wisconsin Has Sales, Income Tax

Those worried about the possibility of a state income tax might find consolation in the recent experience of their neighbors to the west.

The Wisconsin legislature enacted an entirely new 3 per cent sales tax on "selected items," including cars, trucks, radio and television sets, sporting equipment, musical instruments, boats, lawn and garden supplies, furniture and appliances and hotel and motel accommodations.

Wisconsin's tax, estimated to bring in $60 million a year, also would hit sale of restaurant meals, athletic event tickets, theater and other entertainment costs, telephone and telegraph service, beer, liquor and tobacco products.

As if this wasn't sufficient blow to the taxpayer's pocketbook, the legislature in our sister state increased the income tax by 1 per cent on incomes under $15,000 and 1 1/2 per cent on those higher.

Reductions in personal property taxes were included in the comprehensive tax package in Wisconsin.

BOATING AND other uses of Michigan's thousands of lakes have increased sharply in recent years, and brought with it a hike in the number of accidents and deaths in water.

Although the reporting system from which the State Police compute the annual water accident statistics is not complete, it indicates strongly that increased use also brings increased misuse of facilities.

During 1961 various police agencies throughout the state reported 262 drownings and 231 other personal injuries in water accidents. The death toll was an increase of 12 per cent from the previous year. The injury count was up 5.5 per cent.

A LARGE percentage of the drownings, 64.5 per cent, were charged to non-boating accidents.

State Police attribute the greatest portion of the non-boating deaths to carelessness. Fifty-four of the 156 non-boating fatalities involved persons who fell from bridges, banks, docks, piers or other waterside facilities.

Another 47 of the drowning victims were described as "non-proficient swimmers" and 35 more deaths were reported as caused by physical failure or exhaustion.

AMONG the boating accidents, carelessness also took its toll. Some kind of "operator negligence" was blamed for 24 of the deaths and another 12 persons died because boat operators disregarded weather conditions.

Overloaded boats, reckless operation, passenger negligence, unsafe boats and overpowered craft resulted in several other deaths. The department report showed no victims of boating accidents in which fire, explosion, wave swamps or other natural causes were the prime cause.

STATE OFFICIALS are taking a close look at the 1961 water accident report to determine whether new laws might cut the death and injury toll.

State Rep. Charles Boyer, Manistee Republican who heads the House Marine Affairs Committee, has proposed a bill to put the burden of writing rules and regulations for use of the waterways on a water safety board.

The rules and regulations undoubtedly are long overdue, because the increase in water activity in Michigan has been a gradual one over the past several years.

It would appear, however, that the report would dictate more to the boater, swimmer, wader of the heavy picnicker because of the heavy blame on individual carelessness. As in the case of traffic safety, the death toll quite often is attributed to human failures rather than lack of regulations.

ECONOMIC development, a term used to describe one of the apparent shortcomings state, although the department report indicates there is considerable movement of industry both in and out of Michigan.

Some 119 Michigan communities also are organized to finance plant construction for new or expanding industry, the department reports.

IT WOULD seem somewhat incongruous that the plants are available and many communities are willing to help industries locate in Michigan, but the list of vacant plants remains basically the same.

A long, hard look at all the other factors in establishing business and industry — including taxes of all types, licensing requirements and labor costs — would appear to be in order.
