

Mayflower Group Is Newest Button Club

Sharing a mutual fascination for collecting buttons, 14 women gathered March 26 to officially form a club. Calling themselves the Mayflower Group of Button Collectors, the eighth such group in Michigan, they will meet the last Monday during January, March, May, July, September and November.

Interested in expanding their knowledge on the subject of buttons, the ladies will explore the various materials from which buttons are made. Other subjects for the future will include the study of buttons, Black & White, color, shape, design and material. They will also study the history of buttons and their use in various countries.

Collecting buttons as a hobby ranks third in the United States, comparing in popularity to stamps and coins.

One of the charter members, Mrs. Elizabeth Joslin, owns the longest button string in the state of Michigan. It

Season Ends With 'The Curious Savage'

The last play of the season for the Plymouth Theatre Guild, April 26-28, is one that will leave the audience with a good feeling and the idea that things aren't as bad as they seem.

'The Curious Savage' is a comedy that has a happy ending with a twist. The story is of Mrs. Savage who inherits millions of dollars and decides that now is the time to do all the foolish things she could never do when young. Her avaricious and bumbling step-children; a neurotic senator, a constantly over-ruled judge and a much married daughter, try to stop her by putting her in a 'home.' There she meets the 'guests' who, it turns out, are much more normal than the inmates of the 'outside.'

Her actions and reactions to the friends she makes at the 'Cloisters' and her surprise decision at the end will give you many laughs and a good feeling to take home.

Reserved seat tickets will be on sale at the Melody House on Penniman Ave., April 9, or from Guild members.

Regular tickets are $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. For groups of 10 or more there is a special group rate of $1 per ticket. For information call GL 3-3780.

The cast for the last play of the Plymouth Theatre Guild 1961-62 season is a mixture of old and new. The title role of Mrs. Savage is played by Effie Kuisel who played Mrs. Lord last spring in 'The Philadelphia Story'. She has been with the Guild many years and will do an excellent job as the 'not as crazy as I look' eccentric.

Among the guests of the 'Cloisters,' where the story who did so well as the straight-laced aunt in 'The Remarkable Mr. Pennypacker' last fall. Saxy Heft who gave such a thrilling performance as one of the bewitched girls in 'The Crucible' last year. Bill Mandt who is new to the Guild this year and already has a role behind him in 'The Biggest Thief in Town.' Merl Heft, the young lawyer of 'Inherit the Wind', and Ann Tillotson of the Guild apprentice group.

D., Austin of Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Jeanette Mathien of N. D.; and one grandchild.
Services were held at 1 p.m. April 4 from the Schrader Funeral Home. Rev. Roger Merrill officiated.
Interment was in Glen Eden Memorial Cemetery.

Beaten in Fight
A Plymouth man, Arthur Saunders, was hospitalized with injuries he received when he was beat up by "friends" last Sunday night.
Police said that the fight took place at the Toll House Bar on N. Main St. Saunders was hit on the head with a beer bottle, knocked down stairs and beaten with a pool cue. He was still conscious but bleeding badly when police arrived to find him sitting on a case of beer.
He was sent by ambulance to Wayne County General Hospital suffering broken bones and cuts and bruises. Police said that as of Monday no one had filed a complaint in the case.

Oh, That Fuel and Sandwich Bill!

Newsman Take 550 MPH Lunch Hour

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Last Thursday, American Airlines invited The Mail's managing editor and student pilot Jim Sponseller and advertising man Handy Eaton on a courtesy flight aboard the nation's newest and fastest jetliner, the 990 Astrojet. This is their report.)

By Jim Sponseller

Almost apologetic, the pilot of the American Airlines 990 Astrojet explained as we prepared to land at Metropolitan Airport that the plane had hit only 550 miles per hour.

"We are permitted to fly at 639 miles an hour," he explained over the intercom system, "but because we could climb to only 15,500 feet during our short run today, we have only reached 550."

IT WAS near noon last Thursday that an army of newspaper, TV and radio people from the Detroit area climbed aboard the plane. Our arrangements had been made by Plymouth's Bob Utter, 11827 Amherst Court, head of airport passenger services for American in Detroit. Bob, who spends most of his off-duty hours as a member of the Board of Education, was there to wave goodbye as we boarded the ship.

The jetliner, 139 feet long, has space for 103 passengers. At the end of the runway, the brakes were set and the jet engines revved up. Brakes were then released and off we went — like the human bullet from the circus cannon. The ground hurriedly slipped away and in five minutes we were looking down on the crooked Raisin River flowing through Monroe. And only 10 minutes after take-off we were sight-seeing over Toledo.

Original plans called for a run over northern Michigan, but because it was overcast there, the flight plan was changed in favor of a round-trip over Cleveland, a four-hour drive by car one way.

As we scammed above the Ohio Turnpike at 550 miles an hour, a squad of stewardesses brought out some delicate sandwiches and some type of bubbly substance normally served on the Champagne Flight.

By the time we did away with the sandwiches, we were circling Cleveland's Terminal Tower and headed over Lake Erie's ice floes toward Detroit. "We are now starting our descent to Detroit," the pilot advised us a minute after passing over Cleveland.

THE 990 doesn't have engines, we learned. American calls them "speed capsules." Normally flying at 25,000 feet, the plane is certified by the Federal Aviation Agency for a top speed of mach .91 (639 miles per hour) — right at the edge of the speed of sound. This is about as close to the sound barrier any passenger jet transport is expected to be certified to fly until the arrival of supersonic transports 10 to 15 years from now.

Two 990 flights daily were started this Monday between Detroit and New York with a meager flight time of one hour, 23 minutes.

Over Ontario, I strolled up the block and took a look inside the cockpit. Walls, ceiling and the floor were tastefully decorated with instruments, levers, radios, radar and who-knows-what, I was taken back a bit when I spied a card pasted on the wall near the pilot with the heading — "Here's How." (I couldn't read the small bit of type underneath, but I ASSUME that the plane's creator, General Dynamics, puts out a more complete driver's manual than that.)

I gave a thought to flashing my student pilot's license and asking for a turn at the controls, but the four-man crew looked a little too preoccupied as we hurried toward the Detroit skyline. And too, American may be a little finicky about trusting its $6 million flying machine to someone with 5 hours' flying time in a Piper Colt.

We banked around downtown Detroit and headed out Michigan Ave. toward Metro where we landed less than an hour after take-off. The trip seemed so short that had I paid for it I may have asked for my money back.

The pilot announced that the 990 had burned up 20,000 pounds of kerosene during the little jaunt, which is roughly 2,800 gallons — or enough that would have kept great grandma's house well lighted for a generation, I figure.

"I THOUGHT you were going to fly someplace today," a fellow employee asked as we returned to the office. It was now 1:30 p.m. and we had left the office at 11 a.m. It had taken a half hour to drive to Metro and a half hour back.

"We went to Toledo, Cleveland and back." I replied, trying to remain nonchalant about the whole thing.

"Uh-huh, sure you did," he sneered, with a tone of voice indicating that I was something of a smart aleck.

BUT THEN, American advertises its 990 Astrojet is three years ahead of its time. Maybe by 1965 he'll believe me.

News In Brief

Mr. and Mrs. James Strelow of St. Clair Shores and Miss Iris Dean were Sunday dinner guests in the home of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. William Flora on N. Harvey St.

Mary Hulsing, Susan Neale and Susan Tichy will attend a tea Saturday of the Detroit Wellesley Club at the home of Mrs. Orvil Aronson in Grosse Pointe.

The pupils of the sixth grade of the Bird School left Monday for camp at Prud Lake near Milford to spend the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Krumm of this city, Mrs. C. W. Robertson of Dearborn and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kloplic of Ann Arbor surprised the former's daughter, Mrs. Ernest McBride Sunday in her home in Dearborn as it was her birthday anniversary. The guests took presents and a birthday cake a long in honor of the occasion.

Local Merchant Is Wixom Mayor

While many Plymouthites took an interest in the Livonia election where Harvey V. Moeke edged out Mayor William Brashear, there was also an election in Wixom where Plymouth businessman Wesley MacAtee defeated the incumbent candidate.

MacAtee, owner of Plymouth Office Supply, defeated Mayor Donald Brooks, 274 to 206. This is MacAtee's first venture into politics.

By coincidence, Wixom's first village and city mayor was also a Plymouth businessman, Joseph Stadnik, partner in Stadnik and Shekell.

Livonia's upset was dealt by a slim vote of 8,736 to 8,545. Moeke, a real estate and insurance agent, charged Brashear with "machine politics" and unfair tax assessments. Livonia's popular city clerk, Marie Clark, won easily over her opponent.

Umpires Needed

All persons interested in umpiring hardball or softball games in Plymouth, Wayne or Nankin are invited to attend the meetings at the Plymouth High School, room 114, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Wednesday of each month.

They may contact Earl Gray at GL 3-0477 for further information.

Election Questions

A. Bachelor's degree, $5,000 minimum; $7,825 maximum. Master's degree, $5,300 minimum; $8,700 maximum.

Q. What's this about teachers no longer receiving automatic salary schedule increases?

A. All salary schedule increments, except the first two steps of the bachelor's degree schedule, will now be earned increments. This means that a teacher, in order to receive the salary schedule increment (increase), must receive a satisfactory performance evaluation and provide evidence that one of several professional growth requirements has been fulfilled.

Q. How do the present school tax rates of our district compare with rates of neighbors?

A. The 1961 tax rates of our neighbors are as follows: Redford Union, 32.80 mills; Clarenceville, 30.95 mills; Farmington, 29.11 mills; Garden City, 28 mills; Livonia, 26.75 mills; Northville, 25.75 mills; Wayne, 25.65 mills; South Redford, 23.50 mills; PLYMOUTH, 22.25 mills; Ann Arbor, 20.15 mills; Belleville, 16.30 mills.

Q. Is it necessary to open the new Junior High-West in September?

A. School officials say yes, in order to accommodate an increased enrollment of 175 students and house all the ninth grade in the present Junior High building, thus avoiding putting the ninth grade students in two buildings.

College Hires Architect

Another milestone has been passed in the development of the Northwest Wayne County Community College. After many weeks of work by the entire Board of Trustees an architect has been selected.

The Board has accepted the offer of Eberle M. Smith, Associates, Architects of Detroit, to do some preliminary planning with the understanding that if the millage and bonding vote on June 11 is successful, a contract will be signed. Both parties have agreed that if the millage fails, the work done by the architect will not be paid for.

The firm of Eberle M. Smith & Associates is well known in the school and college fields. They have designed several hundred grade and high schools throughout the state. One of their most recent completions is the new Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn.

The success of the firm in school design and their familiarity with the needs of community colleges, were factors which led to their selection.

Meanwhile, plans are being perfected for the initial meeting of the Citizens Committee to aid the Community College in securing its millage. The meeting to be held April 17 at Bentley High School, Livonia, will bring together about 400 citizens. Appointment of members of this committee has been made by the Board of Trustees. Letters, dated April 4, are in the mail and it is hoped all citizens who have been appointed will accept.

Grass Fires

Ave., burning of leaves and grass got away and started field afire.

Thursday, March 29 — 12:59 p.m., field beside former Thunderbird Inn on Northville Rd. Believed deliberately set.

Thursday, March 29 — 2:03 p.m., field near 614 Mill St., caused from burning rubbish.

Friday, March 30 — 1:31 p.m., former Daisy ball park, cause unknown.

Seek Cat That Bit Boy, 5

Plymouth people are being urged today to help locate a cat that bit a small boy who is now beginning his series of 14 rabies shots.

While playing with other youngsters near his house at 41101 Wilcox Rd., on March 19, Mark Lee Kellar, 5, was bitten. The young cat disappeared. It was described as a female, not fully grown, all gray medium-length fur, a whitish front and a raccoon tail.

Anyone knowing of a cat in this area answering this description is urged to phone Mark's mother, Mrs. Barbara Kellar, GL 3-6068. If the cat is found not to be rabid, no more injections are needed.

Intersection Crash Kills Woman Here

One person was killed last Saturday night at Ann Arbor Rd. and Sheldon when a car driven by her husband, Willard, that was headed west toward Ann Arbor.

Killed was Mrs. Marie Selander, 42, Ann Arbor. She was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, Willard, that was headed west toward Ann Arbor.

A car driven by James Hodges, Oak Park, was going south on Sheldon. Sheriff's deputies said that Hodges failed to heed the stop sign and his car was hit broadside by the Selander car. The Hodges' car went on to break off a utility pole on the southwest corner of the intersection.

Mrs. Selander was dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital. Hodges and a passenger, Rhonda Hodges, 65, were reported in serious condition.

PHS Choir Rates Tops In Festival

The Plymouth High School Choir earned a first division rating "Superior" and the Girls Glee Club earned a second division rating "Excellent" at the District Choir and Glee Club Festival held Friday, March 30 at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti.

The adjudicators, Dr. Haydn Morgan of Ypsilanti, Dr. Harry Langford of Detroit and Earle Trudgeon of Lansing were complimentary of the groups' balance, precision and interpretation, and at the same time offered constructive criticism for further improvement by each group.

This was the one occasion during the year that the Plymouth singers could hear groups from the more than 20 other schools in the area.

Soloists with the Choir were Faith Raycroft, soprano, and Marilynne Moss, alto. The piano accompanist was Marcy Woolverton. The director was Fred Nelson.

Has Heart Attack

Stanley West, part owner of West Bros. Mercury-Comet, Inc., is reported improving in St. Mary Hospital after suffering a serious heart attack last Thursday night. He is still in an oxygen tent, relatives reported and has shown improvement. He lives at 703 Ridge Rd.

Mother of 3

She suffered a fractured skull and broken neck. The accident happened only three miles from the Avey home.

Mrs. Avey was born Sept. 14, 1924 in Lynn, Ark. to John and Betty Walker. She is survived by her husband, Keith; her mother, Mrs. Betty Coon of Detroit; two sons, Dalton Avey, Jr., and William E. Hall; a daughter, Janis Avey; two brothers, Neil Walker of Calif. and Billie Joe Walker of Wayne; and two sisters, Mrs. Alpha Brodie of Farmington and Niobra Heller of California.

Funeral services will be at 1 p.m. Friday at the Schrader Funeral Home.

Dog License

(Continued from page 1) be a dog clinic at which rabies shots can be obtained for $3. Dogs which received the two-year shots last year do not need to obtain another one this year, but the vaccination slip is needed to obtain the license.

City Treasurer Kenneth Way has the 1962 licenses on sale in his office for City dog owners. Last year he sold 725. The price for all dog licenses is $2, Way announced. There will also be dog clinics scheduled in the city, he said, but the dates have not yet been set.

The new City dog tags are in the shape of a dog's head.

Bennett Cerf Speaks

A group of nearly 400 Plymouth and Northville area women heard editor, author, columnist and TV panelist Bennett Cerf Tuesday morning at the final program in the Northville Town Hall Series.

Following the talk at the Northville P & A Theatre, the speaker and his audience adjourned to Lofy's Arbor-Lill for a luncheon.

Watermelons are grown commercially in 22 states.

Ballet

symphony performance is a large task. Besides volunteers from the symphony itself, several Plymouth Jaycees and four school bus drivers will help out, according to Thomas Kelly, school buildings and grounds supervisor.

Lighting will be handled by the High School boys, some of them from the Thespian Society.

Get Litterbugs' License Numbers, Salemites Told

By C. W. Clair
GL 3-2610

John Thomasson of Salem was taken to St. Joseph Hospital in Ann Arbor Sunday, March 25 suffering a heart attack. He passed away Monday, March 26, at 3:30 p.m. The funeral was at the Casterline Funeral Home in Northville Thursday, March 29 at 2 p.m. Mr. Thomasson was the owner of the general store in Salem for the past five years.

Harry Atchinson of 9515 Six Mile Rd., Salem, came home from St. Joseph Hospital last week. Mrs. Atchinson told me that he is feeling a lot better but is very weak yet.

Rubbish is defined as being waste or rejected material or matter. Most communities have places where this trash or debris may be taken for disposal. Salem Township is no exception. It too, has a very large dumping ground. It is located on Chubb Rd. just a short distance north of the Five Mile Rd. It is called The Plymouth-Salem Dump. I believe. Therefore, there is no legitimate excuse why anyone would deposit their rubbish or garbage along the roadways. When I see piles of trash that has been tossed to the side of the road from cars by these careless and nasty people, I wonder what their homes or garages and basements must look like. I feel that these people who would litter up the highways with their debris, would be the same people who would spit on the floor at home. Words fail me. I can't seem to think of the proper name for these litterbugs. The names that come to my mind could not be printed. The only way I know to combat this practice is if you happen to see them tossing out rubbish from their car, take their license number and turn it in.

George Schmeman called me and asked me to correct a statement that was in the column of March 28. In the meeting of the Township Board for March, it was said that Mr. Schmeman "invited" the Township Board to enter a suit that is now in Circuit Court. Mr. Schmeman told me that he did not invite the Board, but he demanded that the Board enter the suit to defend their zoning ordinance.

so that one man isn't burdened with the cost. The Board took a vote and Mr. Schmeman's demand was voted down by three to one.

The first snake of the season was reported to have been "captured" on the Five Mile Rd. just west of Chubb Rd. Monday, March 26. Seems early for these pests, doesn't it? But this one was for real. I watched the operation.

A woman from the Township called the Editor on day last week. She said "You know, we've subscribed to your paper for many years and I thought you might want to print a story about my husband. He's a wonderful man, who doesn't smoke or drink, has always been a model citizen in every way. He's never used strong language and he's never once stepped inside a theatre or a movie house. In fact, he has no vices or bad habits, and tomorrow he's going to celebrate his 80th birthday." Jim, the editor asked "How?"

Rev. Elwood Chipchase of the Salem Federated Church will preach from the Book of Revelations Sunday, April 1, and Sunday, April 8. He will use a chart 6 feet by 36 feet illustrated and oil painting. Some interesting sermons have been taken from the Book of Revelations, and I'm sure the next two Sundays at this church, your time will be well spent.

Mrs. Doris Marshall of Salem Rd. has been ill for the past few days, she is not bed ridden but says she would feel better if she could spend some time in bed, and get rested up. I don't believe it's spring fever with Mrs. Marshall. She has had a rough winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dahl of Salem Rd. and Miss Barbara Kreger of Northville spent Friday evening with Raymond Dahl in Albion at his fraternity house, returning home late Friday evening.

The Northeast Washtenaw Farm Bureau will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gregerson on Six Mile Rd. April 12 at 8 p.m.

H. C. Shaffmaster of Curtis Rd. came home Friday, March 30 from the Harper Hospital in Detroit where he has been convalescing from a heart condition. Mr. Shaffmaster will go to the hospital twice a week for treatment. I know that his friends will be happy to hear that he is back home again, and needless to say that he is glad to be back too.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thurman from Livonia stopped by for a social call last Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Marie Thurman is the Junior W.H.P. of the Farmington White Shrine.

Members of the Sunshine Club will meet Wednesday, April 11 at the home of Mrs. Lucille Adams, 5690 Gotfredson Rd.

Favorite Recipes from Plymouth Kitchens

Relishing the art of cooking makes Mrs. Melvin Fuelling, 11767 Priscilla Lane, a logical choice for The Plymouth Mail's Cook of the Week. The new recipe she tries become the subject of family scrutiny and each is rated for preference. Four stars indicate complete family accord and assures repeats, while a one star marking relegates the dish to a dim future.

One such four star recipe is Mrs. Fuelling's Galettes (French Cakes). Originally a Belgian favorite, it has been used for a good many years in her family.

Mrs. Fuelling makes time in her full schedule to pursue her favorite hobbies of sewing, and her first love, playing the organ.

She is a member of Eta Psi Sorority, the Eastern Star in Wayne and she was active in the Business and Professional Women's Club of Wayne.

Mrs. Melvin Fuelling

Galettes (French Cakes):
1 lb. soft butter (2 cups)
1 1/2 lb. sugar (3 cups)
1 1/2 lb. flour (4 1/2 cups)
6 eggs (whites and yolks) beaten
soda (pinch, the size of a pea)

Work all ingredients into soft butter. Blend well. Bake on a waffle iron. One tablespoon makes one cake. Cakes bake approximately two minutes. Extra care should be exercised to carefully lift cakes from iron when golden brown, to avoid crumbling.

"These rich confections offer a pleasing and different contribution to holiday fare," says Mrs. Fuelling.

The Fuellings who have four children, Diane, 21, recently married, Denny, 15, Jenine, 9, and Kevin, 2 1/2, enjoy mutual family interests in music and traveling. They have visited all of the States and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick.

Front Row Center

by George Spelvin

A week on the college circuit of plays produced two "bright" moments. "The Living Room" done with consummate skill by the U of M players proved that the female members of the cast outshone the male thespians. "The Flies," Sartre's powerful drama performed so magnificently by the Eastern Michigan Players, needed the services of a play doctor since cutting the script would have made this play contain greater impact.

Show biz is rough and only the hardy folks survive. Guess that's what makes the industry so darn fascinating at times. You live only a stone's throw away from failure nine-tenths of the time.

As a rule, most college productions do err on the side of letting the script get top-heavy on length. First reports on the U of M version of King Lear, presently playing on weekends, indicate that it is three hours long. I fail to see how we can justify the full attention of an audience when a production goes on beyond the customary two hour limit. You must make your point in that established time limit or it's too late. An old adage still uppermost in my mind, "The mind will bear only what the seat will endure," has served me well through the years in dealing with all forms of dramatic endeavor.

I would rather see a production be only two hours in length, even counting the intermissions. You can't overdo the classics by playing every line that was written. The Old Vic Company, in town last week with "Romeo and Juliet," is a case in point. Their version of "Romeo and Juliet" was a fast-paced, exuberant production. The only fault: the latter part of the play dragged a bit after such vim and vigor of the first half. The director should have exercised a bit of dramatic license and excised a few hundred lines. I'm certain the patrons would have left the theater less lethargic and more able to reflect on how excellent the entire show had been.

"Gramercy Ghost" playing this week on Thursday and Friday night will have no pacing problem. Director Bob Steger has staged this happy comedy with the hand of a master. His fledgling actors and actresses move about the stage with the ease of professionals. Take time this week to go back and see a high school play. The auditorium? It's still the same one that most Plymouth citizens used decades ago. And it begins to look like we will have the same multi-purpose room, for several generations to come.

Miss Faye Emerson and Eva LeGallienne are at the Cass Theater this week. Their fiery version of "Elizabeth the Queen" is an easy way for you to brush the cobwebs off your English history. Elizabeth was quite a queen. Maxwell Anderson's version of her trials and tribulations still retains its Pulitzer Prize qualities.

THE SAVAGELY ambitious Essex, Elizabeth's royal lover and pretender to the throne, is played bravely by Scott Forbes. Mr. Forbes a few seasons back did all his evil plotting on the "Adventures of Jim Bowie," a TV western. Old Gebge is happy to report that Mr. Forbes made the transformation to a legitimate actor in adequate fashion. His characterization exudes the right amount of impetuosity as he stands up to the wiser maturity of the Queen.

The clash of wills between Elizabeth and Essex provides conflict that sparks and your evening at the Cass Theater most provocative. Miss LeGallienne and Faye Emerson can always be depended on for best performances.

BALLET LOVERS are forewarned that the American

Ballet Company will be at the Shubert Theater for the remainder of the week. Jon Essex, man behind the scenes at the Shubert, indicated that the old favorites like "Swan Lake" are being performed and that several new ballets such as "Etude" can be viewed.

With classic dramas, Shakespearean plays, and thought-provoking comedies in our midst ("Rhinceros" it might be the appropriate time to remind you that the Stratford Shakespearean Festival box office is open. Send for their free brochure describing all the many cultural events taking place at Stratford, Ont. You can't order your tickets too soon. Season opens on June 18 and already many of the plays have sold out some of the weekend dates. Hurry before you are disappointed.

Before the curtain descends this week, we might take a moment to doff our hat in a most sad gesture out of respect for the passing of the Theater of Michigan Company. Their second production, "Great Day," met with disastrous results as old George openly predicted. The N.Y. critics bombed the show.

THE BILLBOARD

Fisher Theater — "BRAVO GIOVANNI" A new musical comedy with Cesare Siepi and Michle Lee. Opening night, April 9, is sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony.

Vanguard Theater — "RHINOCEROS" Every night but Monday the laughs ring out clear across Woodward Ave. as Peter Harris battles to remain the only human in the world.

Penn Theater — "LOVER COME BACK" If you enjoyed "Pillow Talk," you'll like the sequel. It's a riot and will be here for 16 days.

P and A Theater — "TUNES OF GLORY" Hard hitting study of man's integrity. Alec Guinness and John Mills at their best.

Goodwill Truck Comes Here Next Monday

The next visit of Goodwill Industries pick-up trucks to Plymouth is scheduled for Monday, April 9. Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards. To arrange for a Goodwill Industries truck pick-up, call the local Goodwill representative; ask the operator for toll-free Enterprise 7002.

Start First Aid Class in Area

The Detroit Red Cross Chapter announces scheduling of two classes of interest to residents of the Northwest Region. One class for persons interested in safe handling of a canoe will be co-sponsored by the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation and conducted at the Belle Isle canoe shelter for six consecutive Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., starting on April 14.

The other, a Standard First Aid class, will be conducted in the Northwest Region Red Cross office, 3359 Plymouth Rd., Livonia, for five consecutive Wednesdays from 9 to 11 a.m.

All aspects of canoe safety are described and demonstrated and use of the canoes on Belle Isle will give class members an opportunity to practice the demonstrations. Persons who are already swimmers and at least 14 years of age are invited to enroll in this course by calling the Detroit Red Cross Chapter, WO 1-3900. Water Safety officer, before the first class session.

The First Aid class includes discussion, demonstration and opportunity to practice techniques of emergency care for victims of common accidents. Registration for the class will be accepted at the Northwest Region office, GA 4-0220, until the first class session.

There is no charge for either class. First Aid textbooks are available for a nominal sum.

The PLYMOUTH MAIL

When a physician prescribes medication he takes into consideration many of his patient's individualities such as age, weight, blood pressure and health history. It stands to reason, therefore, that prescriptions for the same medicine can vary in strength and dosage for different persons. It is foolish and can be harmful to "try" a prescription that was prepared for someone else. When you feel below par, see your doctor and obtain the "personalized" treatment that will quickly restore you to good health.

SWING INTO SPRING
light-as-air...last longer, too!

It's amazing! Because the new Sarong Perfection Control girdles are made with Stretch-Ever, the no-rubber spandex elastic, they last and control so much longer than ordinary girdles. A few ounces of girdle seem to make pounds disappear—with such wonderful comfort...and they can be machine-washed even with detergents and bleach without discoloration. You'll love the way these new Sarong Perfection Control waistline girdles and panty girdles win the battle of the bulges with no-girdled feeling, thanks to their exclusive criss-cross construction. Only Sarong creates the slim, unbroken line of Spring fashions—with cool and lasting comfort.

 During this past week I received a delightful poem from the pen of Mrs. Vivien Shaw who resides on Plymouth Rd. and, since it is concerned with this heavenly season known as spring, I thought I should share it with you:

Be Glad
 Be glad, because it's nearly spring;
 When leaves are green and birdies sing.
 The trees and flowers will be in bloom,
 And there's no time for any gloom.
 But just be glad that we can sing,
 And hear the distant church bells ring.
 Much happiness each bell will bring.
 Be glad, it's nearly spring.
 I do hope you enjoy this bit of sunshine and how wonderful to have the talent for poetry and the thoughtfulness to share it.

Teachers Attend English Conference

Three Plymouth High School teachers were among the 500 English instructors meeting March 27 at the Rochester High School for the 12th Annual English Conference of the Metropolitan Detroit Bureau of School Studies.

Attending were Miss Betty Gibson of the Junior High and Miss Elizabeth McDonald and Robert Stenger, Senior High teachers. Stenger was chairman of one of the section groups while Miss McDonald was a guest of the conference as one of the 11 past chairmen of the committee.

Robert Beauchamp of Wayne State, keynoted the conference. Afternoon sessions included 15 discussion groups with an intermission to allow viewing of exhibits. After a dinner meeting, Dr. Philip Jackson of Chicago University stirred the audience with his address: "Creativity Among Children; Some Exploratory Studies."

The Strait of Georgia between Vancouver Island and the British Columbia mainland was so named by Capt. George Vancouver in 1792.

Painting Can 'Re-Shape' A Room to Your Liking

You can reshape a room as you repaint it. Ceiling too low? Raise it. Room too narrow? Widen it. Or too square? Lengthen it. You can do it with paint — the right color paint.

A small room will look larger when painted a light color, particularly a light, cool color, such as pale blue, lilac, aqua, or blue gray. These colors retreat, making the walls seem farther apart, thus making the room itself appear more spacious.

To increase the size illusion, always paint the woodwork and trim the same color as the walls.

On the opposite side of the coin, deep hues are most flattering to large rooms. Even a sparsely furnished, barn-like room will look friendly and inviting when its walls are painted a deep, warm hue, such as burnished gold, copper or burgundy red. Woodwork can be painted white or a contrasting color in a spacious room, and should be, as it's exceptionally decorative.

What about a long, narrow room — or hall — that resembles a bowling alley? You can make it seem much wider and square shape if you paint the two side walls a light color and the narrow ends a deeper hue. This effect can be achieved by using a tint and shade of the same color, or by combining light and dark contrasting hues. For instance, you could use shell pink and rose or shell pink and turquoise.

Duo-tone Effects.

Even a room can be a real "square." You can create more interest in a box-like room by making one wall the focal point. Select the wall behind the room's most important furnishing. Paint this one wall a contrasting color, or a brighter or deeper shade of the other walls. You might paint one wall bright gold and the remaining walls gray or pale yellow or a deep golden tone.

To make a ceiling look higher, paint it white or a very pale color which is much lighter than the walls. If you wish to make a high ceiling seem lower, use the reverse technique: paint the ceiling a deeper color than the walls.

Attractive features in a room should be accentuated. For example, to spotlight a handsome fireplace, paint it a color that contrasts with the surrounding walls. Or to call attention to a handsome painting, paint the frame a color that blends with the painting, but contrasts with the background wall.

When you wish to divert attention from unattractive features such as pipes and radiators, paint them the same color as their surrounding areas. They will fade into the background.

Paint Selection

If you are going to do your own painting, here's a quick guide to the selection of the proper paints to use on the various surfaces.

New Plaster Walls — two coats of latex paint (also called water-thinned, plastic, rubber based) or one coat of primer sealer followed by alkyl flat enamel.

Previously Painted Plaster Walls — one coat of either latex or alkyl flat. If new paint is yellow or pink, it's advisable to use a coat of pigmented primer sealer first.

Wallboard — seal with one coat of primer sealer, then follow with latex or alkyl.

Hardboard — first seal with latex, enamel undercoater, oil or alkyl based primer. Follow with topcoat of choice.

Plywood — seal with penetrating resin sealer, clear top coat is to be varnished. If top coat is wall paint or enamel, use pigmented resin sealer.

New Woodwork — prime with enamel undercoater. Follow with semi-gloss or gloss enamel.

Previously Painted Woodwork — gloss or semi-gloss enamel. If color is being changed from dark to light, use enamel undercoat first.

How I Earned My First Dollar

David Mather

David Mather was 12 years old when he went to work for his father, Charles Mather, then owner of Plymouth Lumber and Coal Company. Young David was hired to nail together the flats that were sold to greenhouses. For this job he received one cent a flat, making his first dollar not quickly attainable.

A graduate of Plymouth High School, Mr. Mather went on to the University of Michigan where he received his degree. After graduation in 1937, he returned to Plymouth to become a partner in Plymouth Lumber with his father. But his father died a year later and the son has remained as the company's president since.

"The business has changed a lot since then," Mr. Mather recalled. "There are all types of new products on the market that we must now stock." Plywood, for instance, was not known back then.

Plymouth Lumber and Coal is one of Plymouth's oldest business establishments. It was started in 1908 and celebrated its golden anniversary four years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Mather have two children, Susan, a sophomore at Albion College, and Charles, a Junior High School student.

Spring Sparks Clean-Up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Urge

On the day the last snowflake melts and the first bud appears, just about every home-owner starts talking and thinking about what has now become a well-established national custom — "spring cleaning."

Today, "spring cleaning" has come to encompass far more than a strenuous "scrubbing operation." New painting and decorating, new lighting fixtures, new floor coverings, touch-up jobs on siding and roofing, and a host of repair and improvement jobs are all part of a well-integrated program aimed at maintaining a high standard of appearance and livability in the home.

Like any other large and expensive piece of equipment, a home should be inspected periodically if it is to be kept in smooth operating condition. Since the winter months usually do the most damage, spring is the best time for making a seasonal check-up and attending to the necessary repairs and other little jobs about the house that will make it a better place in which to live.

Make Repairs Promptly. Minor repairs should be made promptly. Failure to do so will often result in more serious breakdowns later on — may even necessitate an expensive major overhaul that might have been avoided.

Here is a convenient guide to a "spring inspection" that will determine how you can step up the appearance and livability of your home.

1. The Outside. This is your home's face to the public. Check roofing and siding. Small cracks, peeling, etc. often require little more than minor repairs or painting. The new latex paints that cover exteriors with a single coat make it far easier than heretofore to put a fresh, bright sparkle into a weather-worn home.

Moreover, new materials make it cheaper to have new roofing or siding installed than to do a patch job.

Money-Saving Features. Among the materials that now include new time- and money-saving features are: (a) fireproof shingles that protect while they beautify, and (b) sidings that provide insulation, retaining building heat and cutting fuel bills. Fuel savings, over the years, can amortize the cost of the installation.

Then there are rot-resistant sidings and shingles that provide longer life and beauty for the home. Some sidings have baked-on decorator colors that never need repainting.

2. Inside the House. A change in the family's size and needs may call for a room addition for interior remodeling. Consider converting the basement to a finished recreation room, or add a finished bedroom or den to the attic to meet expanded family needs.

Effect a "change of scene" in any or all rooms via a new paint job or wallpaper — or a combination of both. Consider new floor coverings, too.

3. The Grounds. Even a small backyard can become a happy, modern outdoor living area. New patio awnings and shelters can convert a small corner near the house into a suitable area for summer relaxation and barbecue fun.

Planting Blends Garage, Drive

The garage and its driveway can be a very attractive part of the home landscape. A home garage looks box-like when there is no foundation planting to blend the structure into the landscape. The garage requires a foundation planting the same as the home, and an otherwise beautiful property often can be spoiled without it.

This is also true of driveways which could be made much more delightful by planting perennials, shrubs, or ground covers as a border. Visitors get their first impression of a home as they come up the driveway, whether it is a long or short drive.

The homeowner would do well to consider planting the home garage as part of his improvement program. It may require only a few flowering shrubs or evergreens at the front corners where the garage is at the extreme rear of the property.

Usually where the garage is part of the house, the house foundation planting includes the garage, the planting being an extension of the former. Sometimes a couple of climbing roses or other vines on each side of the garage doors will do.

In cases where the sides and rear of the garage are visible from the rest of the property a few evergreens and flowering shrubs, or a low tree whose branches may extend over part of the roof, when combined with lower shrubs will tie the structure into the landscape.

Any plants that will keep the garage from looking like a sore thumb will help.

There are two solutions to planting a driveway.

The first is to make two long narrow beds and plant permanent shrubs, both evergreen and flowering.

Floribunda roses make a splendid border for a drive as do numerous other flowering shrubs, such as azaleas, spirea, forsythia or any one of probably a hundred or more shrubs that do well in your neighborhood climate.

Kitchen Modernization Is Home Improvement on Most-Wanted List

Kitchen modernization won top place in a recent survey, in which homeowners were asked what improvement projects they were contemplating.

This is not surprising. Usually the first room in a home to "show its age" is the kitchen. New advances in kitchen equipment seem to come almost as rapidly as in women's fashions. Then, too, the constant in-and-out traffic and the day-in-day-out use that the room gets tends to make a kitchen "old before its time."

The best part about kitchen modernization is that the whole job need not be done at once. It can well be a step-by-step program, in which the most urgent needs are given top priority, and progress is geared to the "state of the budget."

It is amazing (and most gratifying) what a difference the installation of one or two of the new attractively styled, work-saving appliances or storage units can make in the efficiency and appearance of a kitchen. Indeed, just re-covering the counter-surfaces or re-doing the floor or walls can give the room a "new look."

Planning Ahead

If you decide to modernize your kitchen a step at a time, it is important that you keep in mind from the very beginning what your ultimate "dream kitchen" will be like. By so doing, you can plan ahead for future installations of wiring and plumbing.

Here is a check list of the characteristics of a truly modern kitchen which may prove helpful in your planning:

1. Step-saving. Today kitchens are planned for time — and step-saving efficiency. Appliances are grouped so that the homemaker can quickly turn from one to the other.

2. Easy-to-maintain surfaces. Plastic laminates are used extensively for cabinets, wall surfaces and counter tops. The homemaker appreciates the advantages of a surface that can be kept clean with a damp cloth.

Functional Lighting

3. Lighting where is should be. No homemaker likes to work in her own shadow. For this reason, the trend is to get away from center lights and instead have them under the cabinets. The ideal setup is to have a light for every counter-top.

4. Traffic patterns. It is desirable that there be no direct flow of traffic through the main part of the kitchen.

5. Built-in ranges and ovens. Many of the new ranges offer automatic top burner heat controls on the gleaming surface units, oven rotisseries, easy-to-clean features, etc.

6. Work savers. The two appliances that probably do more than any others to eliminate tedious chores are the automatic dish washer and the food waste disposer.

Sterling Eaton, Publisher

Entered as Second Class Matter under Act of Congress of March 3, 1879 in the U.S. Post Office at Plymouth, Michigan

"A COMMUNITY DOES NOT ENDURE BY THE WORK OF HIRELINGS. A COMMUNITY ENDURES WHEN ITS LEAST AND ITS GREATEST CITIZEN LOVE IT ALIKE AND WILL LIVE AND WORK AND DIE THAT IT MAY BE GLORIOUS."

My Sigma Delta Chi brothers in Detroit reported almost everything Colonel John (Shorty) Powers said in their metropolitan papers after his visit here last week. However, one interesting statement he made and one which hasn't been printed was his statement regarding the communication system he used while vocalizing to the world over TV and radio during the flight. During the flight and all the time you were hearing his voice he had nine lines of communication running into his left ear and eleven into his right. From this mass sound running through his head he was able, in the time it took him to communicate from brain to voice, to bring to the world the excellent continuing commentary that we all heard. Of this unusual feat Powers merely said, "It was my job to give the people an objective report without any display of emotion. Millions were hanging on my every word."

And speaking of pilots my thoughts turn to Col. Cass S. Hough with whom I covered most of these United States in his plane when he carried the pre-war rating of America's number one private pilot. First let me say in our offices are displayed the two new Daisy products he mentions in his letter below and he is promptly credited with two additional years on his already prepaid subscription.

Mr. Sterling Eaton
The Plymouth Mail
Plymouth, Michigan
Dear Ster:

I don't know whether your little mention of Daisy and me in "Chips from the Rock" was intended to (1) find out if I read the paper that I subscribe to, or (2) get a free air rifle, or (3) both. At any rate, I do read it, and the newest in Daisy creations are on their way to you. The 1894 BB Gun, which is a "Spittin' Image" of the Model '94 Winchester, is our present pride and joy, closely followed by the 179-BB Handgun, which is a "Spittin' Image" of the Frontier Colt. I am sure you will agree that they are a far cry from what has been turned out in the past; but it is the sort of thing we are attempting to pace our line with now — Spittin' Images!

I can't help but comment, too, on the other part of your editorial column, dealing with "frills" in education. I presume I'll sound like a dyed-in-the-wool Arkansawyer when I tell you that one of the refreshing things about this section of the country, particularly northwest Arkansas, is how far they stretch a dollar — how they are perfectly willing to do without frills, providing the "necessaries" can be given to their children education-wise. This is evidenced in their school buildings, university buildings, and everything — no fancy friezes; as a matter of fact very plain buildings, but very functional, with not one extra cent of cost. In my opinion this is the only way the United States is ever going to be able to provide the quantity, and particularly the quality, of education our youngsters deserve, without breaking the back of the country with debt. I don't need to tell you that many sections of the country have, in the past, had a motto: "how much money can we spend on this," rather than "how much can we get for the money we have to spend."

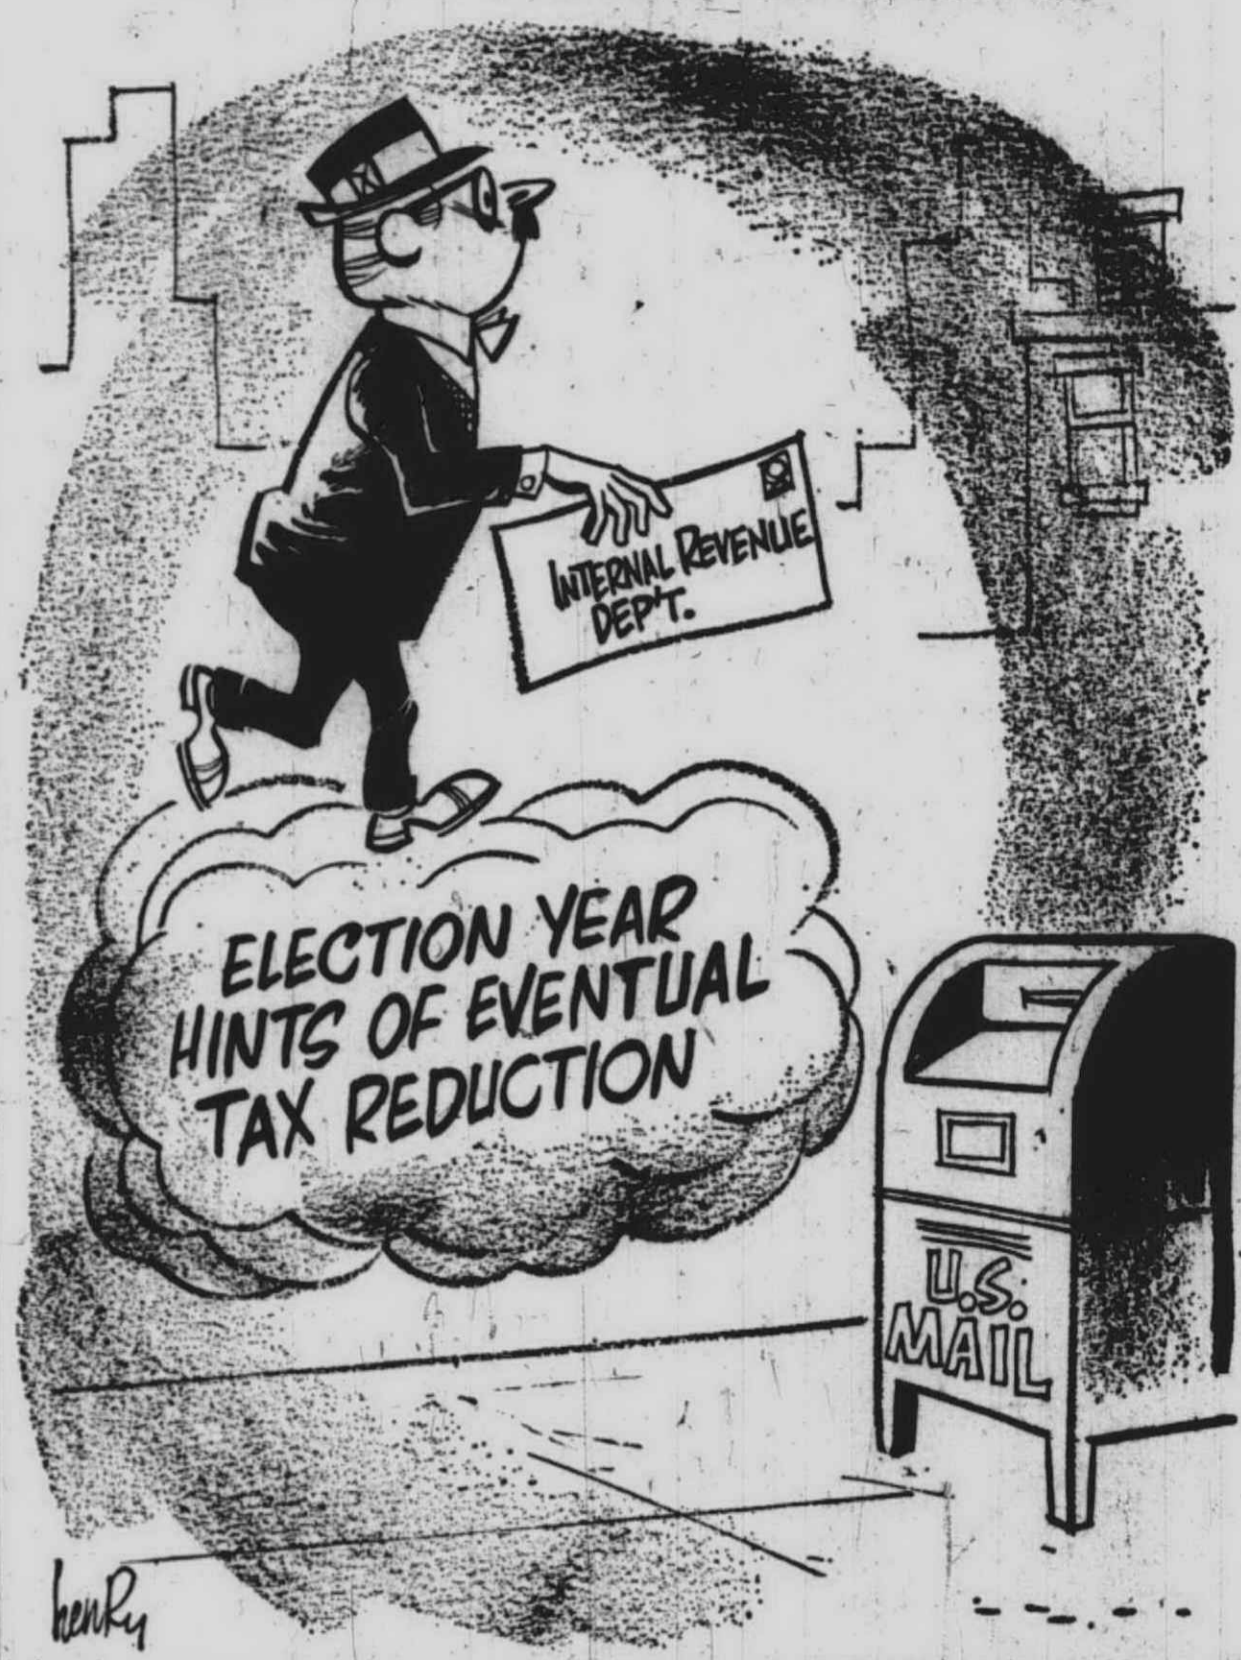

The Mail has its old zip — keep up the good work.
Regards,
Cass S. Hough

When a subscriber spends the money to call from Florida to say she has missed the last five copies of The Plymouth Mail she certainly deserves mention here. Needless to say Grace Gettleson, former Plymouth realtor, now has the lost copies and we hope The Mail continues to arrive promptly at her present home in Lake Placid, Florida.

Time passes so swiftly and days seem so full that obligations pile up undone and are seemingly left on the shelf for one of those days when there's time to get at them. This is the case in my acknowledging the hundreds of personal letters which have poured into our offices during the last few months. My first intent was to answer them individually but as the quantity increased and as my hours became more burdened it has now reached a point where I must take this method to apologize for my lateness and offer my most sincere appreciation to the writers.

Letters from Frank Henderson, Jerry Pease, Eleanor Hammond, Peter Miller, Corette Hough Jennings, Andy Dunn, Esther Hulsing, Fannie Pitts, John Swainson and on and on and on. From Plymouth, Florida, North Carolina, California and all over . . . they were perfectly wonderful and most warmly received. Thank you and by our efforts we hope we shall earn your continued confidence.

Gallimore School PTA Names Carnival Chairman

By Clara Witherby
GL 3-7435

The Gallimore School PTA is planning a Carnival, to take place on May 19. Mr. and Mrs. William Sprengel are general chairmen; Co-chairmen are Mr. and Mrs. John Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Vetal, and Mrs. Virginia Steiner.

Others are: Sample Booth chairman—Mrs. Alice Armstrong; Cake Walk Booth chairman—Mrs. Rumberg with co-chairman Mrs. Jo Palmer; Country Store Booth, Mrs. Doris McTurner, with co-chairman Mrs. Irma Larick; Fish Pond No. 1, Mr. and Mrs. R. Breech; Fish Pond No. 2, Mr. and Mrs. D. Schroeder; Hand Writing Analysis; Mrs. J. Stuart.

Garden Shop—Mrs. Berry Lyle; Kitchen Booth—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, with co-chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Williams; Candy Booth; Mrs. Karen Osenton, with co-chairman, Mrs. J. Rocco; Parcel Post Office—Mrs. Morris White, co-chairman, Mrs. Roger Smith; Fun House—Mrs. Grady, Game Room, Mr. and Mrs. William Drudge; Profite—Mrs. Dwyer, the school's art teacher; Beauty Earlor—Mrs. Maxwell Allen; Snack Department—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwartz, with co-chairmen Mr. Green and Mrs. Eva Morrison.

The School principal, Earl Gibson, will see that everyone has a good supply of tickets. Two clowns, Morris White and C. Christner, will be on hand to promote mirth and laughter. Big plans to make this a night of happiness for all are in the making. Within the next week parents will be receiving notes by way of their children, asking for donations to the different booths.

Mrs. Joseph P. Beune of 875 Willard is at home, recuperating from surgery on both feet. She hopes to be back at work next week.

The Witherby family had a busy weekend. Daughter Patricia, with her husband and three children, arrived Friday, from Lockport, N.Y. From then, until Monday morning it was open house. With a large family, it was frantic, but nice, and we loved every minute of it.

Mrs. Stanley West of Ridge Rd. entertained her father, Victor May of Ridge Rd., and her uncle, William May of Lima, O. Sunday, March 25, with a birthday party dinner for both. They were 75 and 77. Congratulations!

The Gallimore School had their election of officers on Tuesday, March 27. The new

Letter To The Editor

A few thoughts on the coming school election! I'm a Plymouth taxpayer so can Squanto, the friendly Indian who found a home with the earlier colonists, earned his "keep" by being the head mediator for the Pilgrims in their subsequent dealings with the neighboring Indian tribes. Squanto's PR work provided many years of good will and gave our forefathers time to fortify themselves against the eventual attacks of the duped redmen.

EARLY IN 1622 the great Sachem, Massasoit arrived at the Plymouth Colony with 60 of his warriors to discuss a "heap-big" peace treaty. Grandfather Brad as the Governor gladly agreed to make with the syllables regarding this touchy subject. Massasoit was taken to the Common House where a green rug and a few cushions were placed for the Indian King's comfort. Everything was done to soften the harsh treaty terms!

Protocol demanded the kissing of hands and so Massasoit kissed the Governor's as did the Governor in return. Strong water was called for. What meeting in history has ever been without its flagon or two of strong water? After all participants had quaffed a bit of the spirited water, terms of the treaty were laid out.

THE SIX-POINT treaty could be quickly summarized and codified as a "backwoods" version of the Golden Rule. If the white settlers started nothing, then the redmen would remain friendly. And peace did reign in the Plymouth Colony for the next 54 years until 1675 when King Philip, one of Massasoit's sons decided to oust the settlers in a final blood-shedding event.

sympathize with other taxpayers. I'm also a teacher but in another system. I stand to lose instead of gain from a favorable vote, but I'm wholeheartedly for it. Why?

First, people who have given up to 4 or 5 years of their lives to prepare to teach future citizens of a democracy must have a real urge to do it. They have given up wages they might have earned in that time besides the huge expense for books, living, tuition, etc. Then compare the salaries of these people with those of plumbers, factory workers, washers and many other workers, who did not spend 4 or 5 unpaid years learning their trade.

Why raise teachers' salaries? Because good effective education begins and ends in the classroom. Any number of supervisors, principals, or other administrators cannot improve education beyond the performance of the individual who is actually implementing the program. The class-room teacher should be carefully selected for his job, dropped before he is in tenure if he lacks competence, but if kept, he should be respected and paid for continued successful teaching. Also, salaries should not depend on "earned increment." A teacher earns that increment every day working with his classes, planning lessons, and attending professional conferences, lectures and workshops. Doctors and lawyers are trusted to keep informed on the latest developments in their fields. So should teachers.

Again, when forced to take courses to earn their increment, some courses will not be applicable to their area. Anyway, these detract from the time the teacher might spend evaluating their pupils' work or planning classroom activities, reading professional journals or carrying on research on his own.

One more point! I don't know how large classloads are in Plymouth, but they shouldn't exceed 25 in ordinary classes, and fewer in specialized High School subjects. Large class loads reduce teacher efficiency. Also, special help to class-room teachers is money well-spent. Remedial reading, speech correction, extra projects for gifted children as well as retarded are a better investment than 2 or 3 extra coordinators or administrators. Lastly, vote in the millage for needed education in Plymouth. Then, put it where it will do the most good—in the classroom.

Florence Lathers.

Local Girl on Honor List

Daniel J. Sorrells, dean of student personnel service, announces that a total of 465 Central Michigan University students have been placed on the scholastic honors list for the first semester of 1961-62. In this group is Plymouth's Mariana Jensen, a senior at the Mt. Pleasant college.

Agrico Pre-Emergence CRABGRASS CONTROL

Now is the time to deliver the death-blow to this monster that destroys lawn beauty. Apply Agrico Pre-Emergence Crabgrass Control—it sets up a preventive barrier in the soil that kills Crabgrass, Goosegrass, Foxtail and similar seedlings as they sprout. The dry granules can be effectively applied up to the 2-leaf stage (when Crabgrass is about 1" high). What's more, Agrico Pre-Emergence Crabgrass Control is beneficial to mature lawn grasses and it's safe to use on flower and shrub beds, too!

Local Soroptimists To Attend April Conference

Soroptimist Club of Ferndale and the Venture Club it sponsors will be hostesses for their groups' joint Midwestern Conference at Statler Hilton Hotel, Detroit, April 6, 7, and 8.

Members of 61 Soroptimist and 21 Venture Clubs will gather Friday for get-acquainted activities, Soroptimist Governor Lucy Ogden Norton, Erie, Pa., has planned a "come as you are" dinner for presidents and vice-presidents. She will be assisted by Lt. Gov. Helen A. Mersman, of Celina, Ohio. Venturists will be convened by Evie Kapitz, Milwaukee, Wis., Governor.

Mayor Bruce Garbutt and Frank DeLine, president, Chamber of Commerce, will present official greetings on behalf of Ferndale and Michigan at opening ceremonies on Saturday morning. Mrs. Alice Iversen, Ferndale Soroptimist Club president and Louise Lechauer, Venture president, will welcome their delegations to the 55th Midwestern conference.

M. Virginia Sink, president-elect of Soroptimist Federation of the American, Inc., is to be keynote speaker. Her topic, "How Much Will You Weigh?" will set the stage for the conference theme, "A Look to the Future."

There will be reports by regional officers, district directors and chairmen, a general review of the biennium, followed by a look at what is ahead in Soroptimism and Venturism and elections.

Soroptimist officers-elect for Midwestern, as well as for three districts for the biennium beginning in July will be installed at the Saturday banquet by President-Elect Virginia Sink, and there will be presentation of Regional Awards in various categories as well as gifts. A special program, "Design for the Future" will be one of the highlights.

After the Sunday breakfast, sponsored by Ferndale Venturists, Miss Sink will install their officers-elect. A Soroptimist Necrology Service will be followed by final business sessions.

Plymouth's Soroptimist Club will be represented by Mrs. Laurena Hubbs, president, Mildred Field, Katherine Todd, Neva Lovewell and Dr. Victoria Lovewell of Northville.

Leoncavallo wrote only one successful opera, "Pagliacci."

TO OPERATE AND staff the new Junior High School — West next year will require $54,000. This is one of the items listed by the Board of Education telling why a millage increase of 3.5 mills is required next year. The proposal will be on the ballot April 16.

Easter Seal Contributions Reach $1,306 in Plymouth

The first progress report of the 1962 Easter Seal Campaign shows that to date $1,306.38 has been contributed by residents of Plymouth through the mail appeal.

Sidney D. Strong, chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee, Plymouth Rotary Club, points out that the $2,607.38 coming from this community last year helped to support the Easter Seal Center, one of the few local service agencies in Western Wayne County.

"Classes and clubs for physically handicapped adults, the summer Day Camp for crippled children and referral, including in many instances transportation to existing facilities for medical diagnosis and treatment makes the Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County an important resource for our neighbors with severe physical limitations," he emphasizes. "Additional services can be developed to fill special needs only as total community support is mobilized."

The Easter Seal Society of Western Wayne County works closely with all clinics, hospitals and social agencies, setting up programs of its own only when there is no resource to meet the need. It serves physical handicapped children and adults regardless of the cause of the disability.

The Easter Seal campaign continues through Easter Sunday, April 22.

Leoncavallo wrote only one successful opera, "Pagliacci."

Kiwanians Hear Talk About Paint

Kiwanis club Program Chairman Warren Worth presented a program on the spring theme, "Interior and Exterior House Painting" last week. G. Kenneth Oxley, technical advisor and John J. Carr, sales manager, of Acme Quality Paints, Inc., Detroit, made the presentation to the group and answered many questions.

The Acme plant in Detroit is the largest in the world in the manufacturing of paint. House exterior paint has five general categories and they are prime, trim, chalking, mildew resistant and paint used in industrial areas that is resistant to fumes, chemicals and the like. The present trend is to water base paints of which three coats are generally necessary to do a good job, whereas with an oil base paint, two coats will generally do a good job, the speakers said.

Scrimmages Keep Plymouth '9' Busy

Plymouth's varsity baseball team defeated Clarenceville High in a scrimmage game last Friday afternoon and met Inkster Saturday.

Couch Mike Hoben, whose varsity roster has been cut to 19 players, has also lined up additional scrimmage games for the Rocks this week.

Last week, warm weather prompted three outdoor practice sessions as the Rocks worked hard on batting practice and infield play. Hoben continued to stress fundamentals as his team concluded its second week of practice.

The Rocks open the season on April 19 with a game against Dearborn here. It will mark the beginning of a 14-game slate that runs until June 6.

Meanwhile, JayVee baseball coach Bryan Boring has been eyeing 30 candidates for the junior varsity squad. His player roster lists freshmen, sophomores and a few juniors. There is no Frosh baseball team at Plymouth. Instead, the freshmen are carried on the JayVee squad.

Varsity coach Hoben called his first practice session March 21 and for a few days all baseball candidates were in one group. Boring assisted Hoben during those days. After Hoben made his first player cut, the JayVee squad was formed and Boring took up those reins.

Stationed along the routes of early stagecoaches in the United States were posts for changing horses. Mail was taken off or on at these posts. Hence the present-day name of "post offices" for handling mail.

Honor to the American Legion's 43rd birthday was paid by the members of the Passage-Gayde Post and Unit at a birthday pot-luck dinner at the Post Home on Sunday, March 25.

Initiation of new members was held at this time by the 17th District Ritual Team. The following members were initiated: Gilbert Williams, Jerome Hoelscher, Joseph Gajewski and Charles Bennett.

Participating on the Ritual Team were: Oscar Hammond of Lloyd H. Green Northville Post, initiating officer was Peter Crawford, Redford Township Post, Irving Geer and Vaughn Gagner of Myron Beals Post of Livonia, Otis Tewksberry of Lloyd H. Green Post of Northville and Vern Miller of this Post. Sergeant-at-arms was Vaughn Gagner.

Receiving a 30 year card was Vito Simonetti, 20 year card, Charles Ryder, and a 15 year card, William Fann. Harry Burleson and George Carr received their 10 year cards and Jack Stevenson and Vincent Simonetti were awarded their five year cards.

The Auxiliary also initiated the following members: Lavine Bennett, Mae Hoelscher, Marcella Longmaid, Emma Williams and Virginia Overmire.

Past presidents did the initiating with Melva Gardner presiding. Phyllis Hewer, Emily Mosher, Dorothy Knapp, Fern Burleson and the current president, Marion Kot, were on the initiating team with Peggy Crawford acting as sergeant-at-arms.

Melva Gardner is the 17th District president and a member of this unit. She also received her 10 year membership card. The following members have been members 15 years: Alicia Estep and Carrie Gladstone; 5 years, Joan Sackett and Ann Smith; Commander Vern Miller and President Marion Kot extend a hearty welcome to all the new members.

The agenda of coming events includes the following:

Each Friday evening during Lent the Post is sponsoring a "Fish Fry". Serving time is from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. at the Post Home, 888 N. Sheldon Rd. Adults $1 and children 50 cents.

The Post will have a business meeting Wednesday.

Plymouth Shrine Installs Officers

The 11th Installation of Plymouth Shrine was held at the Masonic Temple with 175 members and guests present.

Installing officers were Julia Kenny, Roland Kenny, Lucille Reeves, Florence Vetal, Leilia Huebler, Sally Wallace, Jerry Ansama and Betty Higgins.

Officers that were installed were: Worthy High Priestess, Edith Hill, Worthy Guide, Organist, Esther Jacobs, Edith Fetner, Watchman of Margaret Gill, Worthy Her- Worthy Guardian, Ida Beck- er, and Worthy Guard, Floyd Stombaugh.

Following the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining room. The tables were attractively decorated with bowls of red roses and blue morning glories and tapers.

IT'S NOT surprising that happy smiles wreath the faces of these workers for the Plymouth Historical Society's Old-Fashioned Bake Sale held recently at Krogers. The support and enthusiasm with which the community supported them, helped the Society realize fulfillment of their goal. Shown standing is Miss Grace Stowe, Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. Everett Burmester, Mrs. Herald Hamill, Mrs. Harry Brown and Mrs. Robert Durie. ### Annual Report Shows Western Electric's Multiple Functions

Record production of Bell System products, coupled with the lowest price levels for those products in more than a decade, highlighted the Western Electric Company's performance in 1961, the company's annual report, made public in Plymouth by A. D. Johanson, local Western Electric Manager, disclosed today.

The price reductions will save Bell Telephone companies an estimated $34 million a year and were made possible by continuing cost-reducing improvements and innovations resulting from Bell System teamwork, the company said.

Western Electric is the manufacturing and supply unit of the Bell System, which includes the parent American Telephone & Telegraph Company; Bell Telephone Laboratories, its research unit; and 21 operating telephone companies.

Western Electric's total sales for the year were $2,608,000,000 — about 1.3 per cent below 1960 sales. Of that amount, $1,917,000,000 was in sales to the Bell System, an increase in this category of 3.6 per cent over the previous record set in 1960. Sales to the U. S. government for various defense activities and space projects were $634,000,000 — about 12 per cent lower than 1960.

Earnings for the company last year were $122,200,000 compared with 1960 earnings of $124,300,000. This amounted to 4.7 cents per dollar of sales.

H. I. Romnes, Western Electric president, reported that the level of W. E. prices to the Bell System for products of its own manufacture is now 10 per cent lower than at the beginning of 1950.

This achievement was made despite a 71 per cent increase in the Company's wage rates and a 27 per cent rise in material costs during the same 12 years, he said.

An important factor in the price reductions, Mr. Romnes said, is the company's continuing cost reduction program, which last year, in the manufacturing division alone, resulted in a $20 million savings.

The company, through its purchasing and traffic division, did a $1.2 billion buying job for the Bell System in 1961 from about 40,000 U. S. suppliers, about 90 per cent of which were small companies with fewer than 500 employees.

During 1961, a number of new products and systems continued to be developed under supervision of Bell System joint committees on new design. More than 1,700 Bell Laboratories personnel worked at factory locations also to help W. E. people solve problems of final design and manufacturing capability.

This teamwork was of particular value in the rapidly developing field of data transmission. During 1961, almost 33,000 data sets of various types were produced. About 28,000 of these were for use in the Dial Teletypewriter Switching System, scheduled for nationwide cutover in September, 1962.

The new system will provide for dialed connections between sending and receiving teletypewriters without need for a central office operator, and will permit teletypewriter messages to travel over the telephone network.

Development work continued at the Indianapolis Works on new customer products now being tested. These include the Business Interphone, which permits a regular telephone to be used for rapid, inexpensive interoffice communications; Touch-Tone telephones, which use push-buttons instead of dials, and various types of automatic dialers using punched cards or a magnetic "memory."

Other systems under development include the electronic central office (ECO), which will eventually replace present types of central office switching gear, and the electronic private branch ex#### change (EPBX) for use by business and industry.

Two new microwave carrier systems went into manufacture at the Merrimack Valley (Mass.) Works. One, called TL, employs pulse code modulation to carry many more conversations on inter-office and short inter-city trunk circuits, thus reducing the need for laying additional cables in urban areas. The other, known as TL, is a new light route, short-haul microwave system suitable for rural or less populated areas. Manufacture began also on components of a new submarine cable system which will carry 75 to 100 simultaneous conversations in both directions over a single cable.

The company invested about $150 million in new plant and equipment, bringing the total investment at year's end to $1,194,000,000. Construction projects under way, completed or in the planning stage included extensive plant modernization programs at the Hawthorne and Kearny Works; new distribution centers at Indianapolis, Salt Lake City and King of Prussia, Pa.; a new plastics molding building at Indianapolis Works; a new factory in Kansas City; a merchandise building at Baltimore Works and a 31-story office building in New York City.

Western Electric continued to play an important role in major defense and space projects. These included:

PROJECT MERCURY — led industrial team which successfully completed global tracking, communications and data network for America's manned space flight program. Network performed flawlessly on February 20 this year when Col. John Glenn made historic orbital flight.

NIKE — prime contractor to Army for Nike Zeus, an anti-missile missile system now under development, and Nike Hercules, improved system effective against certain tactical missiles and high performance aircraft.

TITANI — continued manufacture of Air Force command guidance equipment for this ICBM. Same guidance equipment developed by Western Electric-Bell Laboratories team, has performed without failure on 72 successive launches.

BMEWS — prime contractor for rearward communications of Ballistic Missile Early Warning System, connecting forward detection stations in Alaska and Greenland with Air Force command center in U. S.

DEW EAST — prime contractor for communications and electronics in seven-station extension of main DEW Line from Baffin Island to Iceland. Segment turned over to Air Force in September.

SAGE — continued to provide management and testing services for this air defense control and warning system. Last U. S. sector of SAGE became operational in December. Canadian portion remains to be completed.

About 55,000 oil wells a year are drilled in the United States.

How a Shell research team got 168.47 miles per gallon

A Shell research team drove this car to a Mileage Marathon record. They used the same Shell fuel that could be bought at Shell stations.

168 miles per gallon must be a world record. Here's how the record was made—and how a quiet marriage of careful driving and today's Super Shell can help you get better mileage.

2. Avoid jackrabbit starts. Fast getaways waste gasoline and power.
3. Drive at moderate speeds. Your car uses about 25 percent more gasoline at 65 mph than at 45 mph.
4. Keep an even speed. Ragged driving uses extra fuel—without taking full advantage of the power it could generate.
5. Pace yourself in traffic. Don't be the fastest or the slowest. You'll just be trapped into wasteful spurts and slowdowns.
6. Keep tires up to their proper pressure. Soft tires can soak up power.
7. Ask your Shell dealer about these checks: Spark timing should be set correctly. Fuel filters and air cleaner should be cleaned regularly. Brakes should be properly adjusted. And your cooling system thermostat must work right.

SOME time ago, a group of Shell scientists had a friendly argument. The gist of it: who could get the most miles from a gallon of gasoline. They decided to find out. And Shell's Mileage Marathon was born.

All contestants had to use the same gasoline anybody could buy at a Shell station. Beyond that, the Marathon had few rules. And ingenuity ran wild.

How the record was set

Here are some of the things that Dave Berry and Fred Schuette, the winning team, did to set their record.

- None are recommended for informal marathons. But they do offer a few clues on how to get more miles per gallon.
  - Berry and Schuette removed their engine cooling fan to save power and muffled their radiator to retain heat.
  - They used tires worn smooth and pumped up to 50 pounds pressure to cut rolling friction to a minimum.
  - On the road, they accelerated to 20 miles per hour, cut the ignition and rolled until speed dropped to 5 miles per hour. Then they repeated the cycle.
- NOTE: they used a standard carburetor from an old one-cylinder engine.

Since "on-and-off" driving is illegal on public roads—and since most Marathon modifications are dangerous for normal use—you may wonder if Shell's Mileage Marathon had any point.

Indeed it did. In the months of preparation, every contestant learned a bit more about the care and feeding of automobiles. Knowledge of this sort gets passed along to you in the form of better Shell products for your car.

EXAMPLE: As a result of Shell's research studies, including many mileage tests, one of the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell is a mileage-booster called Platformate. This ingredient alone can release up to 8 percent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline. Result: extra mileage.

To help boost mileage even more, follow these driving tips from Berry and Schuette.

How you can save gasoline

1. Don't race your engine when standing still. Unnecessary engine speed is pure waste and takes you nowhere.

Dr. Molner Gives Tips On Healthful Travel Abroad

When you travel abroad, you must take some health precautions which are not necessary if you stay at home, Dr. Joseph G. Molner, City-County Health Commissioner, says. If you follow a few health precautions, your travel can be pleasant and healthful.

Certain diseases which are little known to most Americans occur in other parts of the world, particularly in the tropical and subtropical countries. These include yellow fever, cholera, smallpox and typhus. Vaccination helps to keep travelers from catching these diseases and bringing them back to others in this country.

Smallpox vaccination is required by the United States government for everyone who wishes to return to this country and many other countries require smallpox vaccination before you visit them. Requirements for vaccination against other diseases differ according to the country visited. Typhoid and paratyphoid fever, poliomyelitis and tetanus inoculations are recommended for all international travelers. It is extremely important that you follow immunization requirements and recommendations. These measures protect you, the people in the countries you visit and the American people after your return. By meeting these requirements early, you may avoid delays and interruptions in your travel.

Be sure that you start your vaccinations well in advance of your travel date so that they can be spaced correctly and allow time for your body to build up resistance. Immunizations required by governments must be recorded in the INTERNATIONAL CERTIFICATES OF VACCINATION form, because this is the only way they will be accepted. You will be given one of these forms with your passport application and

The Professor Sez . . . By Ed Brown

Last week I mentioned merit pay and earned increment for teachers. Now I would like to continue the discussion on teacher-evaluation, and some increment plans that might work.

EITHER A merit pay or an earned increment plan involves some sort of an evaluation by one person, or a committee of people. Why do teachers fear teaching evaluation? Most of them would not fear any type of an evaluation if they knew it could be a fair and honest one and not connected with payment. This is where "the rub" comes. Teachers feel that no one can tell what kind of quality teaching is being done in the classroom by someone who visits the room a few times a year, and may not be familiar with all types of subject matter.

Some larger systems have tried subject supervisors to help with subject evaluation, but these have not worked out as well as expected. In a small system, teachers evaluating teachers is definitely not considered good for staff morale.

One person evaluating could not possibly evaluate all teachers as to quality being taught in foreign language, English, business education, shop, etc., as to subject matter or quality. Sure, an appraisal can be made of a general classroom tone that particular day; on bulletin board displays, room cleanliness, orderliness and discipline.

BUT EVEN the general tone of a classroom consisting of potential dropouts differs greatly from one composed of college-bound students, and a clean room and discipline does not insure quality teaching even though where you find the latter you will usually find good discipline and interest.

I have talked to a number of administrators and teachers, throughout the state and the majority seem to feel that quality-teaching cannot be truly evaluated from classroom visitations alone, because there is no way of measurement.

I remember hearing of a student-teacher evaluator at a nearby university who said that he had failed a student in practice teaching a few years ago, and told her that she should find some other occupation for she never would become a good teacher. This student luckily did not take his advice, but the following year took the training over from a different instructor, passed with a good grade and became one of the most successful teachers in the Detroit Public Schools. She is now a principal of a grade school there. Needless to say that professor had a different slant on evaluation after that experience.

ANOTHER well-known business teacher in Detroit was rated a "C" in practice teaching — not considered good by most administrators — but this same person became an excellent teacher, and has since written many textbooks that are in use today.

If people close to the evaluation field cannot do as good a job as they would like to do, how can someone who has had little training in evaluation; whether it be a principal or teacher?

Teachers would welcome an appraisal if it were constructive and for the betterment of themselves and not connected with an earned increment. Teachers now get together as departments, or by grade schools, and evaluate their methods, etc., more than most people know about.

TEACHERS also feel that a principal cannot properly evaluate a teacher in the classroom because it is not a normal situation, particularly for a beginning teacher. I have seen some teachers dread these visitations mainly because they cannot be their real self and teach by natural methods. Older experienced teachers do not mind this nearly as much because of the confidence that has been built up by experience.

There is also a fear that a good teacher may not receive the recognition deserved while some poorer teacher might receive more than is deserved. Some feel that the inferior teachers would go back to school, volunteer for committee work — even though they contribute nothing by their presence — and do everything possible to make up for their shortcomings in the classroom where the real teaching takes place.

Teachers also feel that someone who want a good rating will go all out to get it by praising their superiors and as others in the area. A teacher who desires to, and has the ability, should be able to go beyond the maximum salary schedule, by meeting certain requirements. Sure, this all costs money, but it usually produces high-quality results.

Such a system would attract many good teachers from other schools — teachers who have proven quality education from experience. The schools in that area are quite provoked because some of their better young teachers leave each year for the Grosse Pointe system — simply because the latter system is recognized as a progressive one where a teacher can be rewarded under a incentive system of producing. They also require all new teachers to have an M. A. degree, or be near having one.

Most all the above ideas came from discussion with teachers throughout the state. When I talk about various things in education I do not mean locally, as I thought I explained before, but education in general — common to most districts, but exceptions in others.

If anyone has a positive "sure-fire" plan on evaluating teachers as a basis for pay I will gladly print such — with comments.
