

Nearly Paid-in-Full, $817,000 School Ready to Open

When the new Junior High School-West opens its doors for the first time on Sept. 6, most of the $817,750 unit will be paid for.

And because the structure is being built on a pay-as-you-go basis, interest payments amounting to almost $200,000 will be saved.

WORKMEN ARE busy this week moving furniture and equipment into the Plymouth School District's newest building located at Sheldon Rd. and Ann Arbor Trail. Because work on the building was ahead of schedule, the school district will have no trouble getting the building ready for the first day of classes.

There will be around 450 pupils attending school there this year. Of these, 90 will be sixth graders and 360 will be seventh graders.

All seventh graders in the system will attend the Junior High-West, while the sixth graders will be the overflow caused by the closing of the outlying schools in Canton Township.

When the second phase of the building is opened in 1964, both the Junior High-East and West will have comparative programs, both having seventh, eighth and ninth graders.

THE NEW Junior High was built in two phases in order to save taxpayers money. In 1960, the Board of Education submitted to voters a proposal to establish a Building and Site Sinking Fund. It called for five mills for five years with proceeds to be used to construct buildings as the money came in.

The projection estimated that the Sinking Fund will bring in $2,600,000 during its five years.

If a bond issue for 14 years had been floated for the same amount, interest would have cost $600,000. This savings, the Board estimated, would build another elementary school.

(In contrast, Livonia sells 29-year bonds. For every dollar borrowed, $1 in interest will be paid during the life of the bonds.)

Voters approved establishment of the fund, 1,322 to 835.

BECAUSE THE five mills yields around $500,000 each year, it was not possible to build a complete Junior High all at once, so the plan, as promised before the 1960 election, called for building the structure in two phases. Several times the Board has issued short-term notes to borrow money ahead on anticipated tax collection so that construction work could continue.

With the first phase costing $817,750 (plus equipment) the interest saving on this building is nearly $200,000. There was some interest on the short-term notes, but these were sold at very low rates and the money from these notes is drawing higher interest while deposited in the bank. The last of these notes will be paid by next March — meaning that phase I of the Junior High — West will be paid-in-full at that time.

It is estimated that the two phases of the building will cost a total of $1,688,200. The Junior High-East was built five years ago at a cost of $1,749,838. While the Junior High-East has 34 teaching stations, Junior High-West will have 36.

Besides the first phase of the new Junior High, revenue from the Building and Site Sinking Fund has been used to rehabilitate the High School and build additions to several elementary schools.

What did taxpayers get for the money in Phase I?

The front of the Junior High-West faces Ann Arbor Trail. Walking through the front door, the visitor finds an attractive hallway which is actually the only "showy" part of the building. Several panes of colored glass, some wood paneling and fancy lights sets the entrance off from other hallways in the building.

THE MAIN ENTRANCE is in front of the gymnasium, which will undoubtedly be used for numerous community functions.

This part of the building is one story, although the gym is as high as the adjacent two-floor wing. The one floor section also contains the boiler room. When the second phase is built, a removable wall will be opened to easily move in the second boiler.

"We first planned the whole building and then chopped it in half for the two phases," Building and Grounds Superintendent Thomas Kelly pointed out. Kelly has been inspecting the building a lot since it was started and states that the workmanship is very good.

The first unit also has the electrical and pipeline stubs all ready

CHAIRS, TABLES and desks by the hundred fill the halls of the Junior High-West as maintenance workers get them ready for the first day of school in the new building. Maintenance man Milan Daley is shown polishing up some of the desks. Much of the furniture, sized for seventh graders, has been moved from the Junior High-East. Although the desks are now five years old, school officials were amazed to find them in like-new condition.

$2.4 Million Budget Gets Board's Tentative Approval

Fast-Moving Romney Takes on Governor's Town

The billiard player was ready to make his shot. Beside him patiently waited a shirt-sleeved kibitzer.

Twenty seconds passed and the billiard player still studied his shot. Still the kibitzer quietly stood by.

Finally the billiard player gave up. Standing erect, he extended his hand to greet the visitor.

"Hello, I'm George Romney," the shirt-sleeved kibitzer declared.

This was the scene at the Box Bar late Tuesday afternoon when the GOP's George Romney made his first campaign invasion of the hometown of Governor John Swainson.

And before the campaign ends in November, Plymouthites can expect to see more of both Romney and Governor Swainson.

A MAN-TO-MAN chat on the state of Michigan went on quietly when George Romney, right, met up with this unidentified pedestrian on Forest Ave. late Tuesday afternoon.

The Box Bar was one of the several dozen downtown business establishments that the former American Motors president visited. With his shirt sleeves rolled up and a smudge of grease on the back of his shirt, Romney spent an hour and a half in Plymouth shaking hands and briefly chatting with hundreds of people.

He had earlier stopped at the Burroughs Corp. plant and there met the swarm of workers as they changed shifts.

At 5:15 p.m., he pulled up in front of the Community Pharmacy on Main St. where drug store partner John Wiltse, head of the Volunteers for Romney Committee, greeted the gubernatorial hopeful.

Wiltse and Ned Stirton of Plymouth, along with a squadron of "Romney Girls" passing out campaign literature, took Romney on the whirlwind tour.

Pedestrians along the sidewalk, people sitting in cars, and even motorists stopping for traffic lights found themselves suddenly confronted by a welcome hand.

From store to store the fast-moving Romney greeted startled shoppers and clerks. Among his stops were Peterson's Drugs, Graham's, Hugh Jarvis Gifts, Terry's Bakery, Cloverdale Dairy, Stop & Shop, Beyer Drugs, Plymouth Hardware, Nick's Barber Shop and Bob 'Sincocks' Standard Service.

At Dunning's he moved up and down the aisles among the women's apparel and in the Mayflower Hotel dining room he greeted those eating dinner.

At Box Bar the non-drinking, non-smoking Romney found his largest crowd and he spent 10 minutes moving down the bar and sometimes sitting down on a bar stool to chat with the customers. In the rear of the barroom, he found the pool player who found a good moment to momentarily stall the candidate.

From there he went to Lofy's Arbor-Lull where he met Kiwanis Club members who were gathering for the regular Tuesday meeting. In a brief talk before the dinner, he asked that voters end the "cold war" in Michigan's legislature by electing him governor.

Later last night, he appeared on a taped television program across the state.

Volunteers for Romney say that their candidate will return this fall to address a gathering.

Newest Parking Plan Given Mild Reception

A new off-street parking development — this one costing an estimated $236,000 — was not enthusiastically greeted Monday night by the City Commission when the Parking Committee submitted its report. The committee, composed mainly of downtown property owners and store owners, has been working for months on a plan for a new off-street parking development in the Fralick Ave. area.

It calls for removing all buildings along the north side of Penniman Ave., from the Post Office to the former location of Terry's Bakery.

Properties would also be purchased on the north and south sides of Fralick Ave., and a new entrance-way from Main St. to the Central Parking Lot developed.

Of the $236,000, the City share would be $120,000 while commercial properties in the area benefiting from the increased parking would pay the remaining $116,000.

Because the meeting was a committee-of-the-whole session, no official action was taken on the report, but commissioners for the most part missioners for the most part.

Friday is Last Band Concert

This Friday night will be the last chance to hear the Plymouth Community Band during its 1962 summer concert series in Kellogg Park.

The eight-week series will come to a close Friday night. If weather permits, lemonade will be sold during the concert.

Conductor James Griffiths announced that a clarinet trio will be featured, along with some of the more popular numbers played during previous concerts.

The concert starts at 8 p.m. and continues until 9:30.

Debt Retirement Rate Down Slightly

A budget that is $172,832 higher than last year's was tentatively adopted by the Board of Education Monday night.

And instead of the school taxes going up 1.50 mills this year, the Board was able to shave off five-hundredths of a mill — making the increase 1.45 mills.

Last year the school tax rate was 22.25 mills. Two weeks ago voters approved a five mill proposal for operation that included a net raise of 1 1/2 mills.

While the full 1 1/2 mills was applied to operation, the Board cut the debt retirement from 2.85 mills to 2.80 mills. For a person having a house assessed at $5,000, the cut would mean $2.50.

"It certainly isn't much, but it's a step in the right direction," President Gerald Fischer declared. The only bonds now outstanding held by the district is a $3 million issue of 1955. This is to be paid off by late 1966, making the district debt-free, unless rapid growth would make major construction necessary.

The 1962-63 budget was given tentative approval, pending discussion about several items with the Assistant Superintendent of Business Melvin Blunk when he returns from vacation.

The $172,832 increase was mainly due to opening of the Junior High-West, a cost-of-living increase and partial payment of hospitalization.

These are the tentative expenditures in each budget item and whether they are over or under the past year's actual expenditures:

At Haggerty & Seven Mile

A College Site at Last!

Although a new interstate highway will someday be constructed along what is now Haggerty Rd., it is not expected to interfere with the site of the Northwest Wayne County Community College which is now negotiating for a location at Haggerty and Seven Mile Roads in Livonia.

Located three miles from the center of Plymouth, the proposed site was selected unanimously by the seven-member Board of Trustees at its meeting last Wednesday night. It was the first of many sites that had drawn anywhere near a unanimous agreement from the Board.

On Monday, five men connected with the college left for California to study facilities and campuses of junior and community colleges. Making the trip were Board President Harold Fischer of Plymouth, Trustee Clark Odenburg of Garden City, College president Eric Brander, and Architects Lyn Grazini and Jonathan Taylor.

They plan to visit six campuses in the Los Angeles and San Francisco areas.

While an option on the property is not expected to reach the Board of Trustees until next Wednesday night, no

Museum Guest List Reaches Over 1,000

Plymouth's Historical Museum has had over 1,000 visitors since it opened last May and they have come from coast-to-coast.

Plymouth Historical Society members have been happy with the summer turnout. The Museum is open only on Saturdays and Sundays and is now experimenting with the hours of 2 to 5 p.m. both days. There is no admission charge.

A guest register indicates that 1,034 people have visited the Museum located next to City Hall. They have come from a number of states, including New Jersey, California, Nevada, Arizona, Florida, Iowa, Kentucky and Ohio.

The number of visitors is expected to increase as the summer comes to an end. Many school children are expected to be among the visitors who will see the thousands of items culled from Plymouth's past.

A gas street light, a possession of the City for many years, is now being made serviceable by Consumers Power and will be installed in the Museum lawn.

AYH Offers Sailing Course on Sunday

American Youth Hostel will conduct a Sail School on Sunday, Aug. 19, at the East Boat Launching Site in Kensington Park from 9-1 p.m. During the following week, students will sail for four hours with instructors. After passing a "skippers" test, students may sail independently at any time the five AYH boats moored at Kensington Park.

Charge for the Sail School is $10, plus AYH membership. Reservations may be made at the Detroit AYH office, 48355 Woodward, Detroit 1. Phone number is TE 1-4800.

Goodwill Trucks Return Here Monday

The next visit of Goodwill Industries pick-up trucks to Plymouth is scheduled for Monday, Aug. 20. Goodwill trucks collect household discards of clothing, shoes, hats, toys, most types of furniture and other household discards.

To arrange for a Goodwill Industries truck pick-up, ask the operator for toll-free Enterprise 7002.

FROM THE second story of the Junior High-West visitors can gain a pleasant view of the countryside. The building in the distance is St. John's Episcopal Church.

New County School Chief Begins Duties Monday

Former Plymouthite Charles E. Brake has stepped down as county superintendent of schools and in his place next Monday will be William A. Shunck, former superintendent of the Waterford Township Schools.

For the past 17 years, Shunck has been the Superintendent of Schools, Waterford Township in Oakland County. In 1945, when he was appointed Waterford's school chief, the district had less than 3,000 children enrolled. When he submitted his resignation to his Board of Education, Shunck commented on how he had seen the district grow and expand to its present 13,400 enrollment.

The Wayne County educational system, largest in the entire state, offers a challenge to any administrator. Over half a million children attend the 750 school buildings in the County of Wayne. The Wayne County Board of Education, with a staff of 23 educational consultants, provides a wide variety of services for Wayne County's 43 school districts.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Editor:
Americans need to know—That, as a people, we go to extremes. During the first thirty years of this century, captains of industry felt that they should have the lion's share of the profits of production. This meant too little money in the hands of the people with which to buy the goods being produced.

Result: A first class depression.
Solution: a greater share of profits to labor.
During the second thirty years or more of this century certain political leaders and labor leaders feel that labor should have the lion's share of the profits of production. This means too little profit to entice capital into new ventures, new factories, new risks.

Result: High unemployment.
Solution: A greater share of profits to management. More new enterprises, more factories, more jobs.
Let's avoid both such extremes. Who would invest his hard earned dollars in a new factory where little, or no, profit potential exists, as is the case over the nation today?

Many of you know Barton and Ada Rogers of Plymouth, last year of Mexico, and now of the world. Bart retired from teaching last year after a lifetime of dedicated service in the schools of Wisconsin, Livonia and Plymouth. About the same time Ada retired from social time Ada retired from social service work. Since then the two have really been living it up.

We had the pleasure of a long visit with the energetic couple last week. It is so much fun reminiscing about various things we have seen, and places we have been on this continent.

The two have been doing something that everyone dreams about doing upon retirement - travelling and doing and seeing the things they have wanted to for years.

Last winter the pair spent a blissful vacation at Oaxaca, Mexico - a city 140 miles southwest of Mexico City. It was most interesting, especially from Bart and Ada, who have no peers when it comes to relating experiences they have had.

Now the happy couple are heading for Europe and a one- or two-year sight-seeing trip from one country to another; seeing all the interesting things and learning as much as possible about the customs of the people in each country they visit.

A more detailed report will be forthcoming some months from now when they return to Plymouth.

The thing that fascinates me is the fact that they are retiring from a lifetime of service to a stimulating adventure "packed" full of new

By MELVIN L. WOELL, MANAGER
INFORMATION DIVISION
MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

If farmers don't promote their own products, who will? The supermarket chain that sells them? How will farmers fare in promotions for fruit and vegetables, meats and cereals, by others who have prepared and branded them?

As farmers become better merchandisers, they have learned to sharpen their "consumer image" in public relations efforts that often begin in a small way, but sometimes end up with a Madison-Avenue flourish.

For example, the famed "by invitation only" Apple Smorgasbord held annually in the height of the fruit season in the Sparta area of Kent and Ottawa counties. Other examples include the bean dinners of Bay, Saginaw and Gratiot counties, the Blossom Festival of Benton Harbor-St. Joseph area and the Tulip Festival of Holland.

Not to be ignored are the many successful dairy promotions sponsored through A.D.A. and the newer combination deals, the Cherry-Dairy Festivals.

"This is our first try at a festival," said Henry Johnson, hard-working Oceana County farm leader where new cherry plantings are now starting to come into fruit. Although Oceana may one day top the state and nation in cherry production, the Farm Bureau festival committee had some trouble trying to draw the line at cherries, or dairy products. As a result the exhibit areas included other county products - excellent honeys, pears, peaches, apples, - on and on.

The invited public formed long lines past 20 or more salads and fruit or cheese appetizers, to end at tables, where local farm women served meat courses and vegetables. Other farm volunteers served endless amounts of fruit desserts, many of their own creation. No preaching - just friendly greetings, a wonderful farm welcome by members of the festival committee to the non-farm guests, and a well put together color-slide presentation later to show how really important agriculture is. Madison Avenue could have spent more but it couldn't have done better. Michigan leads the nation in the number of state parks and prepared camp sites there being 7,200 available to the public.

OVERSEEING THAT her daughter, Mrs. John Wiltse, (right) is using the correct portions of ingredients for Austrian Mushroom Soup, is Mrs. Johanna Supperl, (left) who is visiting here from Graz, Austria

Devotees of foods with a foreign flavor will be delighted with a recipe for Austrian Mushroom Soup, a specialty of Mrs. John Wiltse, of 917 Ross, who consented to be this week's guest cook. Mrs. Wiltse said the recipe has been in her family for years. The recipe, which she borrowed from her mother, who has been using it for about 40 years, has received many plaudits from Plymouth friends, Mrs. Wiltse said.

Austrian Mushroom Soup
2 quarts water
½ lb. fresh or canned mushrooms
1 large potato
1 small onion
2 bouillon cubes
2 bay leaves
3 tbl. shortening
3 tbl. flour
salt and pepper to taste

Cut mushrooms into small pieces; dice the potato, place in pan and add water, bouillon cubes and bay leaves. Boil for about 15 minutes or until potato is tender. Meanwhile, saute thinly sliced onion in shortening until slightly brown. Then add flour and saute until the flour turns golden in color. Stir flour and onion into soup and simmer for about five minutes. Serves 6-8 persons.

Mrs. Wiltse, who met and married her husband while he was stationed in Austria during his service with the U. S. Army, came to the United States in 1955, from Graz, Austria. She has been an American citizen for three years, and has voted in a presidential election. In Austria all elections are held on Sunday and everyone has to vote, Mrs. Wiltse said.

In addition to caring for her two children, Peter, 5, and Johanna, 3, Mrs. Wiltse has been busy showing her mother points of interest around Plymouth and pointing out differences between Austria and America. Her mother, Mrs. Johanna Supperl, arrived by jet June 17 from Graz. She will return to Austria Aug. 18. Mrs. Wiltse said her father decided not to come to Plymouth to visit because he felt he wouldn't like the plane flight.

Munzers to Move

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Munzer, and children, Tom and Pat, of 360 Parkview, will move to Warwick, Rhode Island, Aug. 20. Mr. Munzer, who has been principal of Jackson Elementary School, in Wayne, has been named assistant professor of education in the graduate school of Rhode Island State College, in Providence. KEEP IT CLEAN

We are sometimes asked whether drycleaning is harmful to a good suit of clothes. As far as we have been able to find out, it is not! The danger is rather that a man will wear a suit for too long a time without cleaning. London's Trade Magazine, Tailor and Cutter, recently explained why:

"There is an enormous amount of smoke, dirt and grit in the air that penetrates into the fibres of the suiting. After a while this dirt, instead of being removed by brushing, is pressed further into the material and causes it to become hard. This transition, however, is gradual and people do not notice the cloth becoming slightly sticky. The dirt must be coaxed out at regular intervals by drycleaning. Without this maintenance a suit is not being treated properly and it is unfair to both your tailor and the cloth manufacturer."

To which we at Caplin's would add that trying to save a few pennies on drycleaning is misguided economy. Take the trouble to find the very best local cleaner. It pays.

Elders are W. F. Albright, Clark Finley and James Ward. Floyd Albright, Nick Baggett and Murray Rowland are the deacons.

Thespians Enact Roaring Western At Fall Festival

Plans for a rousing Western comedy that will out-squeak "Wagon Train" and out-puff "Gunsmoke" are being readied by the Plymouth High School Thespian Club.

"Big, Bad, Freddie", a Western comedy replete with gunfire, gals, and gorgeous scenery, will be enacted at the annual Fall Festival on Sunday, Sept. 9.

"Big, Bad Freddie" has such rapid-fire action and sweeping scenery that a special location is necessary for this wild comic tale of the West. Dean Saxton has granted permission for the thespians to use the outside patio of his garden store for the production.

A special meeting of the Thespian Club has been called for Friday, Aug. 17 to name cast members, assign publicity jobs, and get the scenery in order. No one has been named as yet to round up the herd of buffaloes needed for the second act stampede.

"Big, Bad, Freddie" will be played on a continuous basis throughout the day.

Special music is being written to blend with the roar of gunfire.

Billiard Boom Hits Plymouth

Parkview Recreation, a long-time bowling center here, will be converted into a modern billiard establishment within the next two months, it was learned earlier this week.

Tentative plans call for the establishment to be re-named "The Cue Ball" when it opens. It will cater to both men and women.

Although not all of the necessary papers have been signed yet, it is expected that the legal work will be completed by next week and remodeling will begin almost immediately.

Bill Stockton, who has owned and operated Parkview Recreation for the past 11 years, said Saturday that sometime this week he will complete the sale of the building to its new owner.

Stockton will remain with the business when it re-opens as "The Cue Ball."

New owner will be Sidney Ray, a 41-year-old Detroit, who is a member at Fox Hills Country Club here and rather well-known to many Plymouthites.

He previously owned a bar in Detroit and then operated two "ham specialty" restaurants there.

"It's going to be a high-class billiard establishment," Ray said last weekend in a telephone interview. "We're going to modernize it inside and out and make it into a sort of a family recreation spot."

He added that "The Cue Ball" will be modeled after Oak Park's highly successful "Rack and Cue" which also caters to members of both sexes and has received considerable acclaim in Detroit papers recently.

"I'm right now making plans to re-model the exterior in keeping with Plymouth's colonial atmosphere," Ray explained. "Eventually it will look much like the front of The Plymouth Mail building."

Stockton has already put in order that the bowling alleys and pin-setting equipment be removed, and then interior refurbishing will get started.

A total of 20 tables will be installed, including conventional pocket billiard tables covered with bright pastel-colored felt instead of the green felt tops that are by far more common.

Toll House Finishes 2nd As 'B' Season Concludes

Toll House Inn bounced merrily into a tie for second place in the Class B recreation softball league as the season drew to a close last week.

One make-up game remained on the docket for earlier this week, but the remainder of the B conference schedule was completed by last Friday.

Toll House, which rested in third place as the final action approached, profited measurably from two victories last week.

One was a 7-0 forfeit decision over Carling's, while the other was a 6-1 win over Plymouth Plating. The pair of victories raised Toll House's final record to 10-4 and placed it in a second-place tie with Vico Products.

Earlier, Tait's Cleaners had claimed the conference crown.

Vico too, gained a forfeit decision last week as the curtain fell on the 1962 softball season here. McAllister Bros. was the victim.

The forfeit was ruled when McAllister Bros. failed to appear with sufficient players. A pick-up game between the two teams resulted, with McAllister Bros. "borrowing" the necessary additional players from Vico, which already had chalked up the 7-0 forfeit decision.

Toll House, following its forfeit win over Carling's, found Plymouth Plating easy pickings.

Dick Gabriel and Don Williamson paced the Toll House attack with two hits apiece. Winning pitcher was Ross Fulton who gave up only three hits.

Fulton, one of the league's leading hurlers this season, finished the year with a 9-4 mound record, figuring in all but one of Toll House's 14 contests.

In other action last week in the B circuit, Pursell's absorbed a 15-1 defeat at the hands of lowly IBM, concluding the action for those two teams.

Pursell's, a serious contender for the title at one point in the season, slipped to 8-6 and fourth place in the final standings.

The make-up game, which was scheduled to be played Monday evening behind the high school, involved league champion Tait's Cleaners and Plymouth Plating, which finished tenth in the 11-team conference.

The game had already been postponed three times previously.

SPORTSEEN

By Jerome O'Neil

A national resurgence of the game of billiards will reach its way into Plymouth shortly with a resounding boom and a corresponding clack of the billiard balls.

This was the conclusion after:

- 1) The announcement of the impending arrival of "The Cue Ball," described as a high-class billiard hall replete with pastel-colored table felt and ultra-modern appointments, and
- 2) The revelation that Plymouth Bowl — when it opens within the next 15 days — will feature an auspicious billiard area as well as 32 modern bowling lanes.

While billiard enthusiasts here — women included — will realize a decided increase in facilities available, local bowlers will not fare quite as well, despite the addition of Plymouth Bowl east of town.

Reason is that "The Cue Ball" will move into the building on West Ann Arbor Tr. that presently houses Parkview Recreation, whose alleys long have been the home of numerous local bowling leagues. Parkview Recreation, a starting place for Bob Hitt in the Mike Shuster era, will disappear from the scene.

There are good indications that "Minnesota Fats" would be unwelcome at "The Cue Ball" once it opens its door here.

Detroit Sid Ray, who brainstormed "The Cue Ball" and is right now negotiating the purchase of Parkview Recreation from Bill Stockton, explained why.

"First of all," he said, "we're going to cater to ladies as well as gentlemen...it's going to be plush, clean, no cards, no honky-tonk."

"We hope to make it a sort of family-recreation spot," he emphasized "push" during a telephone interview Saturday.

Carpeted floors, ultra-modern interior decor and pastel billiard table felt underlined the word. Outside the building will take on a colonial touch, in keeping with the rest of the Plymouth business district.

"Young people must be at least 18 before they'll be allowed to play, and these under 18 have to be accompanied by parents or an adult," he said.

Under a 1921 statute, Ray must pay the City of Plymouth $10 for each of his billiard tables in order to gain an annual license here. With 20 tables in the plans, he applied to the tune of $200 at City Manager Albert Glassford's office the other day.

A former bar and restaurant owner in Detroit, Ray hit upon "The Cue Ball" idea after following the impressive success of Oak Park's "Rack and Cue."

Meanwhile, the Plymouth Bowl, located on Plymouth Rd. near Eckles Rd., is slated to open 16 of its 32 lanes by August 25 and the entire 32-lane house should be in full swing before Sept. 1.

Work stoppages over the summer delayed considerably an original May 31 target for opening.

The Plymouth Bowl will feature a bar and grill along with a billiard area and modern conventional bowling facilities.

Tells Kiwanians About ABC's Of Life Insurance

Sixty-eight Kiwanis members and guests heard Fred Van Dyke, former president of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, speak at last week's meeting. A Kiwanian for 16 years, Van Dyke's farm on Joy Rd. has been used for camping by local Scout troops, both boys and girls, for 25 years.

He has been under contract with Mutual of New York Insurance Co. since 1947 and has been awarded the Man of the Year designation by his agency five out of the nine years.

"The A B C's of Life Insurance" was the subject of his presentation. A life insurance policy is a contract between a company and an individual, he began. Many companies have been in business for over 100 years. There are four main types of companies: Stock, Fraternal, Assessment and Mutual.

With a stock company, the ownership belongs to the stock holders as in private business and is conducted to make a profit for the stockholders.

In fraternal companies, insurance is a sideline of the fraternity, he continued. Assessment companies are very unpopular because if the company loses money the policyholders are assessed for an additional fee or fees to keep the company operating. Mutual companies write about 90 per cent of the life insurance annually. There are about 1,500 such companies in the United States. They have one of the best systems for the collection of money.

Insurance companies are regulated by State laws only, Van Dyke explained. They are not regulated by Federal laws. New York State has the strictest regulations, which is a desirable thing. Canada has a good set of regulations and Texas has the weakest regulations, which is not desirable, he added. Mutual insurance companies are operated by a Board of Directors, who serve without salary or compensation.

Van Dyke noted that life policies are issued in three main categories: a retirement policy, a straight life or whole life policy and term insurance. Either of the first two are good, depending upon the wishes of the insured. The third is like renting a house, and is not issued beyond age 65.

FRONT ROW CENTER

By George Spelvin

Do you have a nose for news? How about a nosey person? You've seen them and could name a few. Keep your nose to the grindstone. What is so sweet as a nose? OOps...now we are beginning to mix our pithy pixedated penn-o-grams that honor that middle spot of our visage—the blob of cartilage and skin known as "Sir Nose."

Such crazy carryings-on are only natural after seeing a stellar performance of "Cyrano De Bergerac" in Stratford, Canada. Yes, Christopher Plummer in the leading role was perfection itself. His magnificent handling of those long speeches earned his spontaneous bursts of applause three times during the course of the performance.

"CYRANO DE BERGERAC", as you recall, is the romantic drama written so beautifully by Edmond Rostand in 1897. The play is based on an actual occurrence in mid-17th Century France. In brief, a soldier with a nose almost as long as his sword did exist and have a burning passion for a gal named Roxane.

Of course, the universal appeal is present in "Cyrano" too many of us are not as good-looking as we'd like to be. True, our mothers and wives love us as we are, but if we could have some safe plastic surgery a goodly number of people might effect some facial re-arranging! Actors over the years have tried the Cyrano part. Walter Hampden is best remembered in this country for his long association with the challenging part. Jose Ferrer in recent years has done the role on stage and the screen. Christopher Plummer adds new dimensions to the role and will keep you glued to your chair as you sink back into the 17th century to live with him the wild, carefree antics of Cadet de Bergerac.

His sword fight in act I, the balcony scene with Roxane and Christian, the realistic bakery shop, and the final death scene complete with falling leaves all contain moments that will remain with you for many years to come.

ACCORDING TO all my reliable sources, "Cyrano" will open on Broadway in the fall for a limited run. And well it should. You can save a trip to the big city by driving over to Stratford, Ontario. It's only a three and one-half hour drive from Plymouth. Old George usually goes by way of Sarnia even though the traffic up to Mt. Clemens just about drives you to distraction. Mark these dates on your amusement calendar for "Cyrano." You can see this remarkable classic on the following dates: August 18, 22, 25, 27, 30, September 4, 7, 12, 15, 19, 22, 26, and 29. Order your tickets right now for best seats. In fact, the September dates in the middle of the week would probably yield the choice locations.

Met Sam Hudson, at the band concert the other evening and we compared notes on the past seasons at the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. We agreed that Paul Scofield had been miscast in his roles last year. I recommended that Sam read "Man of All Seasons" the play in which Paul scored such a hit. It is a powerful play and probably better suited to Scofield's style.

OLD GEORGE couldn't quite go along with Mr. Hudson's dislike of Shakespeare's comedies. Personally, I have always enjoyed his pastoral comedies. I'll have to agree that many of his low comedy characters are overdone when our present-day directors stage the plays and improve their interpretation. Still, you have to have some comedy moments in a Shakespearean play. Or do you? Best way to solve the problem is to take a trip to the Stratford Shakespearean Festival. When you get back, look for Sam or Old George in the park on Sunday, Sept. 9. We'll be down there helping taste those delicious chickens. Of course, there will be time to chat about the Bard and what you discovered from your own investigation of the situation over in Canada. # Shell dealers suggest 7 things to tell your son when he first borrows the family car

- 1 Don't take other drivers for granted. They sometimes do unexpected things. In the U.S. in 1960, they ran into stationary objects more than 150,000 times. So don't be too optimistic. Cars backing out of parking spaces do sometimes back out blindly. Cars coming from the other direction might swing into your lane—especially on hills and curves. Your best protection is to drive defensively. The only driver you can really be sure of is yourself.
- 2 If the car won't start, there are a number of simple things worth trying. Use the starter in short bursts. Press accelerator to the floor once, then hold it there while you try starter. With manual shift, keep clutch pedal all the way down. With automatic transmission, jiggle lever to make sure it's in neutral.

Many a young man first borrows the family car for a summer dance. On this page, your local Shell dealers offer some driving tips that can be useful to him all his life.

- 3 Courtesy is contagious—and adds to everyone's driving pleasure and safety. Nobody ever cured a traffic jam by losing his temper. If you can keep your sense of humor and wait your turn, everyone will probably get where he's going sooner. Including you. Another suggestion: It takes only seconds to let someone enter the roadway ahead of you, but it can save the other driver minutes. Just remember to signal the car behind that you're slowing down or about to stop.
- 4 Cars respond to good care. Have the oil, battery and water checked every time you stop for gasoline. When you're driving, listen for unusual mechanical sounds. If you hear one, have it checked right away. It could save a big repair bill later on. On rough roads, take it easy—tires are tough, but they are destructible. Note: For a free copy of Shell's 12-page booklet, "44 ways to make your car last longer," write to the Shell Oil Company, P.O. Box 272, New York 46, N.Y.

- 5 Remember what you learned to get your driver's license, and you'll be a better driver. Eight out of ten car accidents stem from improper driving practices—such as speeding, failing to yield right-of-way and following other cars too closely. Truck drivers and other professionals have very few of these accidents—mile for mile, about one-quarter as many as other drivers. The professionals know the rules of good driving—and obey them.
- 6 If you're going to be late, call home. And if car trouble is the reason, call the nearest service station, too. Park off the traffic lanes and wait in the car until help arrives—with the hood up to show you're disabled. Making repairs close to a busy road can be dangerous. Note from Shell: Over 12,000 of our dealers go to special training schools each year. There, they learn how to spot trouble in a hurry. A Shell dealer can be helpful to you in almost any emergency.
- 7 Have a good time. So far, almost everything you've heard about cars has to do with safety. Now you're about to find out what a pleasure they can be. Here are the keys. Just take your responsibilities in stride. And have fun. Comforting fact for parents: Drivers with less than three months' experience account for very few serious accidents. That's a good sign that most new drivers do take their responsibilities seriously. So you can relax.

Studies Dance In Ohio Under Scholarship

Linda Stammitz

Plymouth dancing teacher Linda Stammitz has returned from studying under a scholarship grant at Wilmington College in Wilmington O. She will again be teaching young children of Plymouth and surrounding communities when the fall semester dancing classes begin Sept. 4 at the Plymouth School of Dance.

All day long and into the evening ballet dancers were performing and studying at the annual conference of the Northeast Regional Ballet association. Starting at 8:30 each morning she began technique classes followed by a two-hour choreography session.

Following lunch, the ballet dancers returned for lectures and rehearsals of choreography and the various phases of technical points that are involved in the art of making ballets. Evenings were concluded with music classes in the scope of voice, rhythm, theme and variation, and music for contemporary work.

Dancers, directors, and associates representing different dance companies from the east, south, and north attended the conference of the Northeast Regional Ballet Association. Alec Martin from New York City and Josephine Schwartz of Dayton, O. acted as the conference chairmen.

Your Pharmacist Is A Professional Man!

Your pharmacist and his store are unlike any other retail operation — they are indeed unique. While most small business owners either inherit a family-owned business, or are driven by the rather abstract desire to become their 'own boss,' the pharmacist is a professional man.

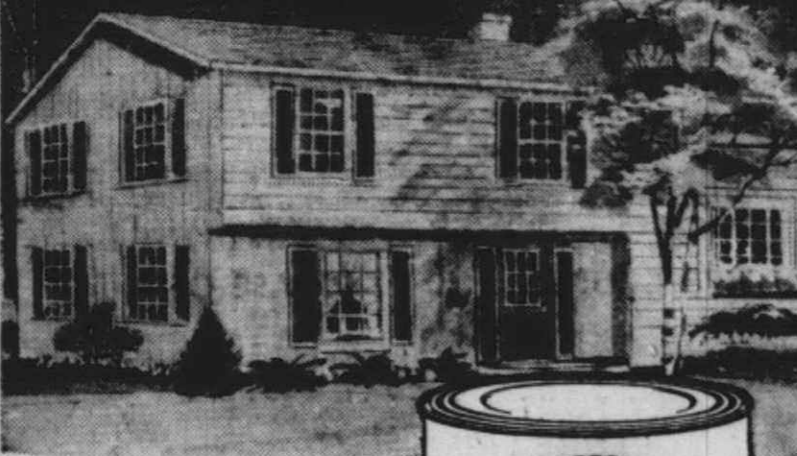

It generally takes him five years to obtain a degree from an accredited college of pharmacy. He then must satisfy his state's licensing requirements by completing an apprenticeship and by passing the state board examination — an exhaustive test of his theoretical and practical pharmaceutical knowledge.

And then, to really learn the business, he may spend from two to five years working for another registered pharmacist. This, then, is not only a man of dedication, but one who knows where he is going, how he is going to get there, and one who plans on staying there.

Wife of Neil Staebler Speaks Here Friday

MRS. NEIL STAEBLER

Mrs. Burnette Staebler, Democratic candidate for Congressman-at-large, will campaign in Plymouth this Friday, it was announced by Mrs. Henry Hensen, 1485 Penniman Ave.
She will be accompanied by Adelaide Hart, former vice-chairman of the Democratic Party of Michigan and delegate to the constitutional Convention.
Mrs. Burnette Staebler and Adelaide Hart will speak at a brunch at the home of Mrs. Arthur L. Shepard, 1357 Sheridan Ave., starting at 9:30 a.m.
Mrs. Staebler is the Democratic National Committee state chairman. He is opposed by Republican Alvin Bentley of Owosso.

Michigan became entitled to a 19th Congressman as a result of population growth recorded in the 1960 census. Failure of the Legislature to produce an equitable redistricting plan resulted in the election of the new Congressman being statewide.
Staebler is campaigning on a platform in full support of President Kennedy's program.
The candidate served 10 years as Democratic State Chairman before stepping aside in 1961 to become Democratic National Committee-man.
During his leadership, the Democratic Party in Michigan reached a peak of success through a citizen-based and program-oriented organization.

The brunch is the second of major activities planned by Democrats in Plymouth. Two weeks ago the Plymouth and Northville Democratic Clubs held a reception for Governor and Mrs. John Swainson at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Albert G. Kalin, Nine Mile and Haggerty Roads.
Over 250 guests attended the affair for the former Plymouth residents. The governor stressed the need for re-apportionment of the state senate and charge his opposition with neglecting educational and welfare needs of Michigan.
In a brief greeting to the guests, Mrs. Swainson recalled past friendships in the Plymouth-Northville area. Other speakers were State Representative Harvey Beadle and State Senator Raymond Dzendzel. Congresswoman Martha Griffiths was represented by an aide.
Refreshments were under supervision of Mrs. Agnes Rollins of Plymouth.

Hotelman Ralph Lorenz, and his wife, Mabel, have been taking the last two weeks to celebrate the event of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at Hotel Windermere up in Windermere, Ontario, where they originally spent their honeymoon and have vacationed every year since. Perhaps some of the glamour of their anniversary celebration was somewhat shaken when they returned Monday to find son, Staten, who was left at the helm of the good ship Mayflower, had shirked his duties and taken off time to enter a golf tournament at Washtenaw Country Club with paint and wall-paper man, Jerry Pease. After the original shock of knowing their eldest son had taken time away from his 24 hour duties during their absence, the golfing Lorenzes were pleased to learn, however, that this Plymouth twosome had won Washtenaw's annual Hurley Memorial Tournament with a score of 60 which netted them a 12 under par in the best ball full handicap match.

Mortician and Mrs. Edwin Schrader vacationed several days at Beaver Resort up on Burt Lake. One purpose of their northern trek was to haul their son's little speed boat up to the lake and sell it before the season was over this year. The day before they left to return to Plymouth they sold the boat to their next door vacationing neighbors who were, Mr. and Mrs. John Cenko, of Clemons drive right here in Plymouth.

Few people realize the number of hours members of our local service clubs put in for the benefit of their clubs various charitable undertakings, in addition to their regular jobs of providing a living for their families. Kiwanians are presently garnering items for their huge fall rummage sale, Lions are constantly raising funds or collecting glasses for their aid to the blind, and presently Rotarians are making an all out effort to get their Fall Festival underway on Sunday, September 8th.

The Rotary project started about six years ago when a Rotary committee, headed by Don Lightfoot, wanted to raise funds to purchase playground equipment for one of our local playgrounds. From the first barbecue, which fed about two hundred local residents, the project has expanded to the place where last year 3,600 people participated in the feast in Kellogg Park. Through the untiring efforts of club members the project has become so big that it has assumed the aspects of a community project, and many people other than Rotarians are lending their efforts to make this a continuing event for this community.

Plymouth's cultural interests have been invited to participate, and many items of interest other than the bounteous chicken barbecue will attract thousands of people to this city on that day. There will be educational displays and entertainment, and the name of Plymouth will be spread far and wide in the promotion of the festival.

Edward Sawusch is general chairman of the event this year taking over the responsibility from Frank Arlen who has become the god-father of the event and led it to the tremendous success it now is. Under Mr. Arlen's direction Rotarians are having a private trial run this Thursday night in the yard of the Clifford Tait residence on Ridgewood road to test their new barbecue machine which was designed and built by Mr. Arlen to reduce cooking time and labor about 50 per cent over previous years.

According to chairman Sawusch the project is not necessarily a fund raising event but because of the labor contribution of club members nearly $1,400. was netted last year and this money is divided between several Rotary charitable funds for community betterment. Rotary's scholarship fund which provides financial aid to deserving college students, benefits mainly, as do the local Boy Scouts.

Just in case you cannot appreciate the immensity of this undertaking we asked Cal Jabara, who has charge of assembling all the materials and food needed for the festival, to provide us the following list of purchases the club will make to feed the estimated 4,000 people who will be in attendance this year. Of necessity, of course, they will buy 4,000 half chickens, 4,000 ears of corn and 4,000 rolls; two hundred pounds of potato chips, 2,000 half pints of milk, 75 pounds of butter, 25 gallons of cooking oil and 200 quarts of ice cream. Six hundred chairs will be provided in the park along with 60 picnic tables. They will use 10,000 paper napkins and 5,000 paper plates and burn 2,000 pounds of charcoal in their barbecue pits, as well as another ton of soft coal in the old steam engine to provide amusement for those in attendance.

In case you didn't know, you, your family and all of your friends are invited and tickets can be secured from any member of the Rotary Club, most downtown stores, and, of course, the Plymouth Mail office. Why not invite friends from neighboring towns to be your guests this year at Plymouth's Famous Festival? They'll appreciate your thoughtfulness and, "The Price is Right."

Vacationing Couple Become Celebrities in Frederick, Md.

A Plymouth couple vacationing in the East drove into the town of Frederick, Md. this month — and from that moment on, things began to happen. Each year the Frederick Jaycees pick a vacationer for their "Jaycee Welcome Mat Project." On the afternoon of Tuesday, Aug. 7, Mr. and Mrs. Barry Coutts, of 41303 Greenbriar Lane, and two of their three children were driving into Frederick while enroute to Washington, D.C. On U.S. Route 15 they were stopped by a state trooper and a committee of Jaycees. It was then the surprised couple learned they were to be the Welcome Mat family of 1962. Mr. Coutts, 24, is an accountant at the GM Willow Run plant. His wife, Judy, is a part-time office worker. With them were Michelle, 2, and Michael, 3. One-year-old Connie was left at home. Whisked off to an official reception at the Francis Scott Key Hotel, the family was greeted by the mayor and other officials. They were then taken by limousine on a police-escorted tour of historical Frederick. That night, they were the honored guests at a Welcome Mat Dance and they spent the night at the Francis Scott Key Hotel as guests of the Jaycees. The next morning they had breakfast with their hosts before leaving. Jaycee wives provided baby sitting service for the two children. They were presented a key to the City, appeared on a radio broadcast and had their pictures on the front page of the local newspaper. The day also happened to be Mr. Coutts' birthday. Said Mrs. Coutts, "We had just come from Fantasy Land near Gettysburg and I feel like we entered another fantasy land all our own when we arrived in Frederick." Sleeping Bear Dune, between Lake Michigan and Glen Lake in Leelanau county, is the largest shifting sand dune in the world.
