At Last! GOP Plymouth on Winner's Side

City Says "No" Again To Liquor Referendum

For the third time since 1952, voters in the City of Plymouth denied a referendum proposal asking permission to sell liquor-by-the-glass here.

The margin of defeat yesterday was the most slender yet — a scant 57 votes in the "No" column serving as the determining factor. It was 22 fewer than decided the same issue with the same results four years ago.

In all, voters in the City replied to the proposal with 1,643 "No" ballots and 1,586 "Yes" responses.

Interestingly, a similar issue in Northville Township was passed by a handy margin, while in Salem Township voters also turned down the request.

In Northville Township, permission to sell liquor-by-the-glass was granted, 690-497, and in Salem Township the defeat was decided by virtue of a 256-378 tally.

Here in the City, voters will not see the liquor proposal again until at least 1966, considering the four-year moratorium that is required by law on this issue.

Even then, it may be still longer — if ever — that the item reappears on the ballot. There were suggestions that no concerted effort would be made four years from now to place the matter on the ballot. But that is conjecture.

Results taken individually from the City's five voting precincts failed to provide a definite margin either way on the matter. But taken together, the precinct returns stated "No."

Largest single difference — one-way or another — was recorded in precinct 5, one of the three precincts voting at the Community Center Building.

There, opponents to the issue accumulated a slender 32-vote advantage.

Precincts 1 and 4, the other two that were located at the Community Center Building, recorded off-setting totals. In precinct 1, favor was indicated by 22 votes, while in precinct 4, the matter was opposed 288-316.

Precinct 2 voted against the proposal by a 17-vote margin, 226-243, while precinct 3, by a slender two votes, 389-391.

The total number of ballots cast on the issue was 3,229. By comparison, 3,586 persons cast ballots on the overall general election in the City and thus some 350 persons voiced no opinion at all on the proposal.

In 1958, the same issue was defeated by 79 votes while in 1952 it was turned down by an 829-vote margin.

Charted by precinct returns, the liquor-by-the-glass issue looked like this in final — but unofficial — tallies:

Precinct	YES	NO
1	344	322
2	226	243
3	389	391
4	288	316
5	339	371

2 Bond Issues Gain Approval In Canton Twp.

Canton Township voters — in record numbers for a non-presidential election — approved two bond issues, totaling $700,000 Tuesday.

By a 2-1 margin, a $200,000 bond issue passed. It grants permission to the Township to issue revenue bonds, thus raising money to extend and improve existing water lines, located mostly along Ford Rd., Canton Center and Lilly Rd.

Actual vote on the matter was 755-347. No tax increase will result. Instead, the bonds will be paid off from water department revenue.

The other bond issue — for $500,000 — which also gained voter approval in Canton will enable the Township to extend existing sewer lines. Here, a 2-mill tax boost is involved.

Margin of approval on the latter issue was 629-466.

Township supervisor Louis Stein was in Detroit Wednesday morning studying the details of the bond issue with the Township's bonding attorneys.

Voter turn-out in Canton Township was 1,578, compared to total voter registration of 2,650. The resulting 60 per cent showing was termed a new record for an off-year election in Canton Twp.

Similar voting records for an off-year election were established in Salem Township, Northville Township and the City of Northville.

Stroke Puts Twp. Clerk In Hospital

Township Clerk Fred L. Miller, 70, is in St. Joseph hospital in Ann Arbor this week after suffering a stroke Thursday morning at the Township Hall.

His condition is listed as serious.

Miller, who has been clerk of the Township since April, 1959, was stricken as he was conducting an election worker instruction class. He was treated by a doctor at the Township Hall and was taken to the Ann Arbor hospital by ambulance.

He resides with his wife at 46303 Five Mile Rd.

Deputy Clerk of Plymouth Township is Janice Birkelbaw, who has assumed Miller's duties during his absence.

Start Later Store Hours on Nov. 30

As a convenience to local Christmas shoppers, many downtown Plymouth retail stores — beginning Friday, Nov. 30 — will remain open until 9 p.m. each night of the week.

The longer opening hours, designed as an added convenience for Plymouth residents in their search for Christmas gift items, will begin a week earlier than a year ago, in most instances.

Included among the evenings that stores will remain open until 9 p.m. is Saturday night, explained Wendell Lent, chairman of the Chamber's Retail Merchant's Division.

A list of those stores that will start staying open until 9 p.m. beginning Nov. 30 will be published next week.

ROTARIANS here surprised fellow-member and local attorney John Dayton Friday with a "John S. Dayton Day," acknowledging his many accomplishments and contributions to the Plymouth Rotary club.

Dayton, shown here (seated, left) shaking hands with Paul J. Wiedman, is one of five original members who helped charter the Rotary club in Plymouth in 1924. The others include: Carl Shear (standing, left); Wiedman, Sidney Strong (seated beside Dayton); and Dr. B. E. Champe (not shown). Dayton was given a plaque, citing him in "John S. Dayton Day."

No Word Yet on City Hall Request

City Commissioners in regular session Monday night concealed any anxious thoughts they may have been entertaining over three pending applications for federal funds and waded through a decidedly dry agenda.

The closest they came to outright discussion of the trio of Accelerated Public Works Act applications that were submitted recently was when authorization was given Mayor Robert Sincock and City Clerk Joseph Near to prepare and sign a contract with the new City Hall architectural firm of Wheeler & Becker Associates.

An architectural fee of seven per cent of actual construction costs of the colonial-styled City Hall was included in the contract, which was approved subject to minor changes.

Total construction cost of the new municipal building here is figured at approximately $425,000, with an additional $70,000 required for land acquisition.

One other matter that touched close to the three pending federal applications concerned a letter from the Wayne County Board of Supervisors.

The letter notified the Commissioners that a request from the City pertaining to the proposed lease or purchase of two acres of land from Wayne County Training School had been referred to the Board's committee on disposal of Surplus County-owned property.

It is part of a "back-stop" move by the City, aimed at assuring a site for the proposed new 3-million-gallon water reservoir. This project, too, is among the three applications submitted two weeks ago to the Chicago regional office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency by Mayor Sincock.

The third application pertains to a vast City water transmission system improvement plan.

On other matters, Commissioners awarded four minor contracts to cover the purchase of equipment or services for the DPW department.

The purchase of an air compressor ($4,100) from R. G. Moeller Co., of Detroit, was authorized, as was the purchase of a trailer, ($2,190) for a heavy-duty tractor from Construction Equipment Co., Southfield.

Commissioners awarded a shade tree purchase contract to low-bidder Harold Thomas Nurseries of Livonia, covering the purchase of 140 trees, 70 to be planted this year and 70 more next spring.

A tree trimming contract was agreed upon, Green-Ridge Nursery, of Northville Twp., was awarded the contract, which will call for some $3,000 worth of tree trimming over the 12 months of 1963.

The first reading of a proposed amendment to the existing Tree Ordinance (No. 103) was passed.

Car Levels Gas Pumps, Driver Escapes Injury

A 19-year-old Garden City girl escaped serious injury early Monday morning when the car she was driving missed a turn on Main St. here, careened into a gas station entrance-way and knocked over two gasoline pumps. JoAnn Shirley Sunal, who was alone in the car, sustained a cut finger, according to investigating officers, and was treated for shock and released from Wayne County General hospital later in the day.

Her car was virtually demolished.

City police, who arrived at the scene shortly after the accident happened at about 1:30 a.m., reported that Miss Sunal was driving into Plymouth on Main St. and failed to negotiate the curve at the Mill St. intersection.

Instead, she drove into the entrance-way of the Standard Oil service station on the corner.

The car struck two fuel pumps on the service "island" there and a fire broke out. Extensive collision and fire damage resulted to the auto.

City police attempted to halt the flames with hand extinguishers, but it required a fireman and a City fire truck to put out the blaze.

The accident could easily have been far more serious than it was, according to one spokesman.

In other news from the police department, two men and two women were arrested early Sunday morning as they were attempting to steal three cases of chicken halves from the Daily Drive-In at Main St. and Ann Arbor Rd. here.

The four, apprehended shortly before 3 a.m., included James Spencer, 21, and Richard Chastian, 22, both of whom live on Sheldon Rd., and Patricia Danley, 34, and Violet Black, 32, who gave Starkweather Ave. addresses.

The two men pleaded guilty in municipal court here on Monday and were each fined $25 by Judge Harry Deyo. The women pleaded not guilty and trial was set for Nov. 19.

The three cases of chicken were valued at $18.

Among other things, the amending items prohibit the planting on private property of nine varieties of trees.

Among these: box elder; Chinese or Siberian Elm; silver maple; Ailantus; poplar (cottonwood and aspen); mulberry; willow; catalpa; and European white and river birches.

Referred to the City Manager and City Attorney was a proposed amending ordinance that would create a new zoning category within the City.

The new category is referred to as "modified professional-residential zoning" and will be designated as PR-2, provided it becomes reality.

Audit of City's books by the local accounting firm of Sutherland & Robson was reported upon by Donald Sutherland and was received by Commissioners. The City's financial records were deemed to be in order and the system of bookkeeping was termed satisfactory.

City Manager Albert Glassford, who is also the City's director of Civil Defense, reported on precautionary measures being taken to protect City Hall occupants in event of nuclear attack.

City Attorney Edward Draugelis was cited, and presented a plaque, for distinguished service as the local United Nations chairman recently. The plaque was signed by President Kennedy.

In other brief items, the Commission:

Traditionally - Republican Plymouth picked a winner in the Governor's race Tuesday, undoubtedly for the first time in at least 14 years.

The same results were true throughout the surrounding communities, from Northville City and Township, and Salem Township, down to Canton Township.

In the Township of Plymouth, voters backed Republican candidate George Romney by better than a 2-1 margin while in the City of Plymouth support for the former American Motors Corp. president was still greater.

There was little sentiment shown incumbent candidate John Swainson, running on the Democratic side of the ballot, despite the fact that he is an official resident of Plymouth Township and counts numerous friends throughout the community.

All down the ballot, residents here supported Republican nominees with overwhelming advantages. The Republican trend here, as expected, carried deep into the lesser candidate races at the county level, although all Democratic County nominees were elected.

Only major race that went decidedly against Plymouth's choice was the Congressman-at-large dispute between Democratic Neil Staebler and GOP Alvin Bentley. While Plymouth favored Bentley by a considerable majority, Staebler swept to decisive victory across the state.

New record turn-outs were recorded in both Plymouth City and Township as far as a non-presidential election year is concerned. The same seemed true in neighboring communities hereabouts.

In the City, 3,617 out of 4,586 registered voters turned out to poll places and the turn-out surpassed 78 per cent, very nearly exceeding the 82 per cent voter response in the 1960 presidential election.

Plymouth Township's total was slightly less, percentage-wise.

There, out of 3,906 registered voters, 2,931 cast ballots for a 75 per cent response. Two years ago, when the Kennedy-Nixon race had intensified interest to a peak point, the Township recorded 84 per cent balloting.

City voters called for Romney yesterday by a margin of 2480-1115 and in the Township the gubernatorial margin — also in favor of the industrialist — was 1962-956.

By comparison, in 1960, the City favored Paul Bagwell 2514-1397 and the Township's voters balloted 2023-1372 in favor of the MSU professor. Bagwell, as did G. Mennen Williams' opponents over the 12 years prior to 1960, couldn't make his advantages in Plymouth hold up across the entire state.

In the 1958 non-presidential election year, 2,802 voted in the City and 1,843 cast ballots in the Township. The increase over those figures in yesterday's race was better than 1,000 in the Township and better than 800 in the City.

Regarding the Romney-Swainson clash, City precinct returns these unofficial tallies:

Precinct	Swainson	Romney
1	226	323
2	286	587
3	187	481
4	184	583

In the Township, the unofficial vote went like this on the gubernatorial race:

Precinct	Swainson	Romney
1	222	560
2	255	433
3	254	573
4	225	578

Both proposals — one a county matter and the other a state request — were approved by Township voters. The same was the case in the City.

In the only local issue, City voters denied a referendum proposal asking for permission to sell liquor-by-the-glass. The item did not appear on Township ballots.

The County proposal dealt with the conveyance of nearly 1,000 acres of land in the southwestern portion of the county to the Huron-Clinton Authority for park lands use.

The state proposal concerned a present-constitution change giving the state legislative authority to revise state laws. It had no relationship to the pending new Constitution which will be voted upon in April.

While Romney himself and his Republican enthusiasts here did not know of the industrialist's state-wide victory until the earliest hours of the morning Wednesday, election workers learned of his local success within 90 minutes after polls closed in Plymouth Township and City.

Township results were com-

Fund Campaign "Huge Success" As Donations Approach $58,000

Plymouth's 1962 Community Fund drive swept decisively past its $45,050 goal last week as divisional chairmen reported a record total of $57,898 in pledges and contributions at the Victory Banquet Friday night.

The total established a new high for the Community Fund drive here, shattering by $10,000 the previous all-time amount contributed last year.

At that time, with a goal of $703 less than this year's objective, the drive reached close to $48,000.

"The success of our 1962 drive is a tremendous show of generosity," said general campaign chairman Albert Glassford at the Victory Banquet at Lofty's Skyline Room Friday evening. "It is a wonderful surge of human kindness," he said.

Glassford acted as toastmaster at the banquet, attended by an estimated 300 campaign workers and their guests.

Although it will require an estimated two weeks to determine the exact final contributions, Community Chest Board president Robert Barbour indicated that the eventual tally should coincide closely with the figure reported late last week.

"Other pledges and contributions will continue to arrive," he said, "but there may be some duplication in the reports and I believe the final (Continued on page 6)

Three More Purchases Spur UR Project Here

Three more parcels of land located within the Urban Renewal project on Mill St. were purchased by the City Friday, with City UR director Joseph Near handling the negotiations.

It brought the total of parcels purchased to seven, said Near. There are 13 individual parcels of land involved in the 17-acre redevelopment site.

Eight homes were included in the most recent purchase, with one of them being a four-family residence and two others two-family dwellings.

Near has set a target date of April 1 for the installation of utility services there and has indicated that it is entirely possible the site will house new industrial tenants by late 1963.

Under the terms of the City's Urban Renewal federal grant, Near is supervising the re-location of families that have been living in homes within the UR area.

He said that land-lords in the Plymouth area who have vacant rental homes could rent them to the families being displaced by the Urban Renewal project.

"We need two large-sized homes right now," Near said. He said, however, that the maximum rental is $85 per month under the City's present arrangements.

City, Township Results Set Off-Year Records

Completely tabulated by 10 p.m. and City returns had been filed shortly after that time.

The day began, as do all election days here, at about 6:30 a.m., when prospective voters started to line up in front of local polling places.

Favorable weather was attributed as part of the reason for such a heavy turnout during an off-year election. No incidents marred the day's election activities within Plymouth.

Lines, ranging from long ones to medium in size, were constant at several polling places. Other polling sites had a steady flow of voters and turned in near-equal totals yet still avoided the time-consuming wait in line.

A long-time Republican community, Plymouth cast a majority of its votes for GOP candidates all up and down the ballot Tuesday.

Local voters threw their support behind ill-fated Republican candidate James O'Neil, of Livonia, but incumbent Democratic U.S. Congresswoman Martha Griffiths — as expected — swept to victory from the 17th District.

In the two state legislative races that concern this area, victory was shared by the two parties.

Incumbent Democratic Senator Raymond Dzendzel retained his post as he downed challenger and Republican Patrick J. McNally in the 18th county district.

H. J. Beadle, incumbent State Representative and Democrat from the 21st county district, was defeated by Republican P. Chandler.

Roderick Alexander Cassady died at his home at 44622 N. Territorial Rd., Plymouth, Tuesday, Nov. 6.

Visitation is being held in Schrader Funeral Home this afternoon, evening and tomorrow (Thursday) morning.

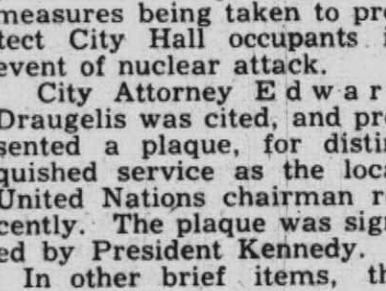

Private funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon, Nov. 8, at Schrader's. Earl Reh, first reader of First Church of Christ, Scientist, will officiate. Interment will be in Riverside cemetery.

The family of Mr. Cassady has requested that no flowers be sent, either the funeral home or to the house. In lieu of flowers, memorials may be sent to First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth dedication fund.

Born in Saginaw, Mich., Mr. Cassady was the son of William A. and Sophia Rex Cassady. A former resident of Flint, Ludington, and Detroit, he married Norma Mariah Baker on Oct. 28, 1916, in Plymouth.

A resident of Plymouth for about 60 years, Mr. Cassady's former banking associations included the Plymouth United Savings Bank for 10 years and manager of the Central Savings Bank in Detroit. (Continued on page 6)

Architect Calls Library "Brick Box," New Post Federal Building "Massive Pile"

Tivadar Balogh
Architect A.I.A.
49800 Joy Rd., Plymouth
Editor:

In an age of such achievements as man-made satellites, nuclear power plants, radar and television, jet aircraft, to name but a few, it is astounding to realize that a city like Plymouth, Michigan would build a new city hall which, as the recent issue of the Plymouth Mail indicated "will carry a Colonial theme".

Someone, at one time, must have done an excellent job of brainwashing some of the Plymouth residents and convinced them that since Plymouth, Michigan was related by name to Plymouth, Massachusetts and the "rock", we must convert Plymouth, Michigan to a veritable pilgrim colony and forever ape the modes and practices of some 300 years ago.

Good American Colonial architecture was more than a "motif" or "theme". It was a result of the use of available materials and techniques and was designed and erected with the fresh vigor and imagination for which we have long admired this country's forebears.

Their was not a wifical life of copy and artificial embellishment. Indeed, they were with us today, they surely would be distressed to see that we have been as lazy and unimaginative as we have been as far as our architecture is concerned.

The City Hall for Plymouth, Michigan or any other city should be an efficient office building. It should be designed in the best possible way to help those working there to most fully and effectively complete their tasks involved in the administration of the functions of a city. It should also be a proud, elegant structure of dignity and reserve. How can it be any of these by being a pseudo-Colonial imitation of something that should not be in the first place?

We are responsible to posterity too, as well as to the past. Fifty years from now, citizens of Plymouth will wonder why in the 1960's we built a city hall which before it was built was already obsolete. The horse and buggy days are gone. We require greater mobility. Our modern automobiles provide it. An old carriage, kerosene lamps and fringes just won't do the job anymore.

Unfortunately, the Dunning-Hough library is just as much a poor example of architecture as is being proposed for the new city hall. If it can be called architecture at all, it is no more than western store-front architecture with a so-called Colonial facade glued on the front end of an uninteresting brick box that is punched full of holes for windows.

And we continue to perpetuate mediocrity by building a massive pile of a thing to serve as a modern-day bank at the corner of Pennington and Main.

We talk about progress, but we sadly regress. We may as well clop around with that horse and buggy, for our view to the future is as narrow as that of the horse with its blinders.

Sincerely,
Tivadar Balogh, A.I.A.

P.S. Publishing this letter would produce some strong comments. I am sure. Considering the importance of the city hall and its cost, which we as federal tax payers share, I feel that the project deserves and requires much more discussion than it has had.

P.O. Issues New Rules on Envelope Size

Postmaster George Timpona of the Plymouth Post Office has announced that a Mail Standardization Program by the U.S. Post Office Dept. will become effective the first of next year.

Two new mandatory rulings to become effective Jan. 1, 1963 are (1) Pieces less than 3 inches in width (height) or 4 1/2 inches in length will not be mailable. (2) Pieces having shapes other than rectangular (4 right angles) will be non-mailable. These changes are the first step towards mail standardization, that is designed to eliminate a major source of delay in mail processing the extremely small and odd kinds of mail which cause trouble in modern cancelling machines and other postal mechanization equipment.

Mission Study Program Opens

The First Methodist Church of Plymouth launched its 1962 Mission Study Program last Sunday when Roger Arnett spoke on "Our Mission to Handicapped People," during which he pointed out the need for workers in this area to help the handicapped.

Topics for the next three Sundays will be "Our Mission to Orphans and Broken Homes," "Our Mission to the Blind," and "Our Mission to Senior Citizens." The lectures are held at the church at 5 p.m. Sundays, followed by a box lunch. The public is invited.

A Presbyterian clergyman, the Rev. John Monteth, organized the First Protestant Society of Detroit in October 1816. A few years later the Society became the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit. Interestingly enough, checks issued by the treasurer of that church still carry the original incorporated name, the First Protestant Society of Detroit.

Investments Are Topic of Adult Class

A meeting of Plymouth residents interested in investments will be held tonight in room 113 of the Senior High School as an aspect of the local adult education program.

Another identical meeting will be conducted the evening of Nov. 14 and an optional gathering is being planned for Nov. 21, it was announced.

Conducting the meeting, which starts at 7:30 p.m., will be a representative of the investment firm of Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc.

The Nov. 21 meeting may include a visit to the firm's Fisher Building offices in Detroit where class members will witness the actual operation of an investment business.

In other news from the adult education department, director Herb Woolweaver announced that golf instructions will begin Nov. 12. The Gallimore school but registration is now taking place at the adult education office in the Senior High School.

Local golfer Doug Jetter, an officer of Salem Hills Country Club, will serve as instructor. Fees for the classes, which will last six weeks, are $6.

Woolweaver also explained that there will be no recreational swimming at the High School swimming pool during Nov. 20 to Nov. 25 due to repairs that will be made on the pool at that time.

Broken Leg Sidelines License Bureau Head

Sale of 1963 Michigan license tabs got off to a good start Nov. 1, but local Secretary of State branch manager Mrs. Doris Root wasn't on hand to witness it.

Instead, she was in St. Mary Hospital being treated for a broken leg.

Mrs. Root, manager of the Plymouth license bureau since 1954, fell down four steps of stairs in her home at 265 Ann on Oct. 27, and suffered a double fracture of one leg.

She returned home from the hospital Sunday.

"I'm in a cast practically up to my hip," she lamented. But she will continue to direct the operation of the local license bureau from her home via telephone, she added.

Mrs. Freda Range and Mrs. Mildred Dely, who have been with Mrs. Root for nearly eight years, will continue to staff the office on Liberty St. near Starkweather. After her fall, Mrs. Root was rushed by ambulance to the hospital in Livonia. Her husband Charles had alerted a doctor. Despite her enforced lay-off, Mrs. Root had a careful eye on the sale of license tabs here. "Remember, all trucks must be re-weighed this year," she cautioned, "and the half-year truck and commercial plates expire Nov. 14."

The National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, is a unique center of musical art. Situated in a virgin pine forest 14 miles southwest of Traverse City, it attracts the best juvenile musical talent from all over the country for 10-week summer sessions.

Thursday, Nov. 1 was the Grange pot luck supper with a larger attendance than usual. There were 77 attending. A bountiful supply of good things to eat were so nicely arranged by our kitchen committee, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nilson and Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Wood, after which we managed to make it up stairs to the lodge hall. The meeting was called to order by our master, Jessie Tritten, who promptly took care of the business at hand. On Nov. 8 the officers of Plymouth Grange will go to Pittsfield for a joint installation. There will be potluck refreshments. Please take your own table service. One of our members, Mrs. Emma Kincade, won first prize on her dresser-scarf at the State Grange, which entitles her to enter it in the National Grange in Fort Wayne, Indiana, starting Nov. 10. Hilda Lunn gave a good report from the State Grange. After all your car trouble, how could you remember all the good things you reported? Sounds like lots of fun. Hope someone gets Sam Spicer's doll dressed before it gets any colder. I hope as many as possible will go to the National Grange at Fort Wayne, Indiana, starting Nov. 10. Our prayers are with all our sick members. We miss you. We'll see you at Grange, Nov. 15.

HE WAS Michigan's governor when he visited Plymouth last Thursday noon as he neared the conclusion of the campaign trail. But effective Jan. 1, 1963, it's Mr. John Swainson, and George Romney takes over the governor's chair in Lansing. At any rate, Swainson was guest of honor at a luncheon in the Mayflower Hotel last week. Here, he is greeted by George Witkowski, chairman of the local Citizens for Swainson group, Plymouth City Mayor Robert Sincok and State Treasurer Sanford Brown witness the welcoming handshake.

Fund Drive

total will be right around the $58,000 figure.
The totals reported by divisional chairmen at the Friday evening Victory Banquet were these:
Advanced Gifts $6,500
Business $11,718
Professional $3,038
Residential $4,318
Industrial $32,309
Much of the drive's overwhelming success stems from an increased participation on the part of industrial employees here this year.
According to Elmer Hedlund, chairman of the Industrial Division, payroll deduction contributions — the vehicle for donation for most industrial employees — are up 76 per cent over a year ago.
In addition, corporate gifts, said Hedlund, have increased by 12 per cent over the amount given in 1961. The overall increase of the Industrial Division alone was approximately $10,000.
The success of the 1962 drive means that the 11 local agencies participating in the fund will be sustained in their community activities this coming year and, in addition, the 22 agencies on a state-wide level that also participate will receive full allotments from the Plymouth Community Chest.
Barbour, board president of the Community Chest, has already called for an evaluation meeting of committee heads on Nov. 14, at which time duplication in reports will be sought and a verification of the final total will be issued.
"Other money is expected to arrive over the coming days," he added.
Among the divisions that "expect additional contributions or pledges" are the Industrial and Advanced Gifts phases.
A follow-up letter to Advanced Gifts sources is expected to prompt further contributions, according to division chairman Sterling Eaton.
Additional payroll deduction contributions or pledges will further increase the Industrial division total, according to chairman Hedlund.
Business division chairman was Thomas Notebaert, Sidney Strong headed the professional phase and Mrs. Ray Barber was in charge of residential solicitation.
An estimated 500 individuals took part in the actual drive, including a group of Senior Citizens who aided Strong, a number of Boy Scouts who distributed informative literature on the cam-kerson Landscaping to solicit snow removal agreements within the City for the coming winter.

Received correspondence from the County Board of Supervisors regarding the method whereby county road may be closed.
Acknowledged receipt of a letter from the Michigan Municipal League describing a proposed amendment to the present State Constitution.
Deferred action on appointments to the recently-created Municipal Building Authority.
Deferred reappointments to fill vacancies on the City planning commission.
Appropriated $250 and granted permission to Municipal Judge Harry Deyo to attend the Municipal Judges' Convention in Miami, Nov. 26-30.
At this time the College staff and the counselors will discuss the evolving College programs. The preliminary architectural plans for the College buildings also will be on display.
Many subjects of common interest will be considered. Dean Lois L. Waterman will present the proposed application blank and ask for any suggestions which the counselors may have. The nature of the College admissions and counseling program also will be reviewed.
The proposed curricula for the College will be presented to the high school counselors. As a result of an earlier unanimous request from the counselors, the inclusion of a practical nursing program is being carefully studied. Other suggestions also are being investigated.
A summary of developing technical programs of the College will be presented by Technical Education. Dotseth has been working with the representatives of Vocational Education from the area high schools and is making plans for technical curricula which will be available when the College opens in Sept. 1964.
Attending the meeting will be representatives of all senior high schools including Ladywood, Franklin and Bentley High Schools in Livonia, Garden City High School, Plymouth and Clarenceville High Schools. The use of the Dunning-Hough Library facilities have been made possible through the courtesy of Mrs. Agnes Pauline, Librarian.

Traffic Mishap Takes Life of Twp. Woman

A traffic accident at a corner of Haggerty and Five Mile Rds. in Plymouth Twp. early Monday claimed the life of a 64-year-old woman.
Pronounced dead soon after arrival at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia was Mrs. Eurva Martin, 64. Conflicting reports gave her home address as 35713 Joy Rd., in Plymouth Township, and also as 5925 Hampden Inkster.
According to the Wayne County Sheriff's patrol, Mrs. Martin was returning from work as a nurse's aid at Northville State Hospital. She failed to heed a stop sign while driving south on Haggerty Rd. and was struck by an auto driven by Francis LaBadie, 38, of 448 Sheldon, Plymouth.
LaBadie was found blameless of the mishap. He told investigating officers that he was unable to avoid the collision when Mrs. Martin's auto turned in front of his own car. He escaped with minor injuries.
Funeral services were held this morning (Wednesday) in Dearborn. Burial was in Richland Township cemetery in Prescott.

Memorial Fund Established In Memory of Child

Contributions may still be made to a patient benefit fund set up at Plymouth State Home in the memory of Katharine M. Thoburn, seven-year-old Plymouth child who died last week in the City's first pedestrian fatality of 1962.
The memorial fund was requested in lieu of flowers.
George Ebling, administrative assistant at Plymouth State Home, is supervising the fund and reported Tuesday that one contribution in the amount of $25 had already been received.
The Thoburn child was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Thoburn, 1324 Sheridan. Mrs. Thoburn has served as a volunteer worker at Plymouth State Home on several occasions in the 18 months she and her husband have lived here.
Meanwhile, a memorial service was to be held today (Wednesday) at St. John's Episcopal Church here.
Mrs. Thoburn's father, Reverend Gerald V. Barry, rector of Christ Church in Riverdale, N. Y., was to officiate at the service.

The Professor Says...

By Ed Brown

Last week I mentioned something about a subject — grades, student ability and the individual differences of our young people. Most all schools give an academic grade. They are required to send some evaluation to the colleges when our students enroll there. This business of grading pupils is not an easy one. Grades are supposed to measure certain accomplishments in a given subject. Whether a mark has the desired effect or not is controversial. It is all according to the kind of test given, and what the instructor expects it to accomplish. I think it is quite difficult to give a test that covers all the important aspects of a subject over a given period of time. The longer the time span the harder it is for the student to remember the facts. It is a well-known fact among educators that students retain ideas, but few remember all the factual material they were supposed to have learned while in school. This is particularly true in the discussion classes — some of the exact sciences where fact prevails a test is more meaningful. There are those students with what we call "a photographic mind" — they can read a lesson once, or hear a lecture; store the information until needed, and then give it back almost verbatim at a later date. There are also students who memorize all the important facts and give them back when needed. In neither instance does the student have to necessarily use any concrete, constructive, logical reasoning to obtain a good grade on a test. I think the above methods are definitely a weakness of the American educational system. I do know of a few teachers who try to give a good comprehensive test that challenges the thinking of the individual. Last year I read where a Wall Street brokerage firm was not satisfied with the graduates of a leading well-known Eastern university. It seems the firm had been hiring all "A" students from this Ivy League school for many years, and placing them in the statistical department. The brokerage firm found that these "brilliant" young graduates could set up statistical problems from given formulas, but very few had the initiative to originate a problem and follow it through on their own. In other words, they could do something if they had a form to follow, or help from someone else, but could create little on their own. Education can be quite complicated when one tries to analyze all the many phases of it. WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO??? Sorry! No personality today! Just did not find time to make the calls necessary to get the information. I did try to contact three former students last weekend, but could not find them at home. I have made out a form and will send it to many former high school students. I hope the recipients will return this information sheet to me as soon as possible. By using the above method I will have a number of personalities on hand to write about. If you readers want to know the whereabouts of any former school mates, let me know.

SALEM NEWS

By VERA CLAIR — GL 3-2610

The Farmers Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Currie on Currie Road, Wednesday, Nov. 7, with a noon-hour pot luck. The regular business meeting was followed by a short program.

Mrs. Sue Shaffmaster and Mrs. Nona Avis have returned to their home on Curtis Road after vacationing for a week at Elk Lake near Traverse City.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Figueiredo of Chubb Road are the proud parents of a baby, daughter born at New Grace Hospital in Detroit on Sunday, Nov. 4.

The Sun Shine Club will meet Wednesday, Nov. 14 at the home of Mrs. Lucille Adams on Gotfredson Road. The annual Christmas pot luck dinner will be planned. A warm welcome is extended to the three new members who joined the club last month, Mrs. Ralph Wilson, Mrs. Blaine Hicks of West Seven Mile Road and Mrs. Mary Adams of Gotfredson Road.

Mrs. Dora Nelson one of the oldest members of the club will be celebrating her birthday on Nov. 25.

The Senior young people of the Salem Federated Church will have a scavenger hunt Saturday, Nov. 10. This being fun for young people and they will appreciate any help you can give them when they knock at your door.

I have before me a list of the fall and winter activities of the Northville Recreation Department. The program schedule was given to the school children last week for the different age groups. The registration fees for the activities, except basketball, were as follows: fifty cents for residents of the city or township of Northville who have not registered this year. The fee for non-residents is four dollars which may be paid to the supervisor in charge of the activities. Now I ask why this should be passed out in the schools if all children are not allowed the pleasure and privilege of these activities at the one low fee of fifty cents. Just how do you explain to a child of pre-teen age who is over-joyed that they can do these things and then is told they will not be allowed to because the fee is too high. How does one explain to a small child that their little playmate can do it because it doesn't cost as much for them to participate? How do you answer their question of why? As an interested party I believe that if all children are aware of what they live are not allowed to enjoy these activities at the one low fee, then the literature should not be passed out in the schools. I believe that the happy smiles on the faces of the children would be worth more than a few lost dollars if they could all enjoy the activities that the department has to offer. There to have even one child left out because the fee is too large. We have many children in our township going to Northville Schools and I believe there will be some who will want to enjoy this program.

Is has become Halloween tradition with the W. F. Wilson family of West Seven Mile Road to spend the "ghostly eve" with Mrs. Wilson's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James Moran of Redford Township. After an early dinner the four children, Elaine Ann, Lucy Jane, and Debbie Lee Wilson; and Bill Moran "trick or treat" together.

Sixty-six attended the Pal and Gal dinner at the Federated Church on Tuesday, October 30th. The dinner was followed by a short program with Mrs. Chipchase being the speaker of the evening. Those providing the music were Mary Hamilton, Ruth Ann Hardesty, Celia Schuchard, Sharon Grimes, Margaret Givens, Mary Jo Lanning, and Gloria Fortson.

The Pioneer Girls will have their encampment program at the evening service on Sunday, November 11th. At this time they will receive their awards earned for achievements.

Eight couples gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Shaffmaster on Curtis Road on Tuesday, November 6th, for a social evening and for the election returns.

The week of November 4th Rev. Chipchase will attend a Pastor's Conference at the Grand Rapids' School of the Bible and Music. If needed he can be reached by contacting Mrs. Chipchase or Don Lanning.

The National Wildlife Federation has been informed that Michigan is now penalizing the litterbugs who throw bottles from cars rather than prohibiting the use of throw-away bottles as an anti-litter measure. The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has postponed its ban on the use of throw-away beer bottles, but the throwing of a beer bottle on U.S. 27 in Michigan's Otsego County recently brought a $25 fine and $4.30 costs to a Vanderbilt teenager after his arrest by State Police.

500 Youngsters Find Big Fun At Kiwanis Halloween Party

AN ESTIMATED 500 Plymouth youngsters discovered lots of Halloween fun last Wednesday night in Kellogg Park in the form of the first annual Kiwanis Club Kiddies' Halloween party. The youngsters visited the witch in her weird tent, drank free cider and received numerous treats from the Kiwanians who, with their wives, chaperoned the event. AT RIGHT, 10-year-old Donald Buckmaster shows no alarm at the sight of the spooky witch, who is reaching out an eerie, claw-shaped hand to shake. Below, five children appear blissfully unaware of the Halloween skeleton about to sweep them up in his long arms. The youngsters (from left) are: Walter Harris, 10; David Scott, 5; Bill Knopf, 7; Linda Sibbole, 8; and Kathy Kenyon, 8. The skeleton is chairman Jim Winterhalter, Kiwanian of the event. A SPECIAL judging committee selected four "best costumed" children for extra prizes. They included: Lisa Bilinsky, Janice Jones, Pam Miller and Anna Peer. Meanwhile, other Kiwanians that same evening were judging the "best Halloween decorated" home here. Top honors went to Robert Stenger, whose home at 448 Pacific was acclaimed as best decorated.

How I Earned My First Dollar

Walt Rensel and Doug Blunk earned their first dollars several years and a considerable distance apart from each other, but they have since become closely associated in the operation of Blunk's Inc., 640 Starkweather.

Rensel was 10 when he was paid 25 cents for a morning's work delivering milk in Butler, Pa. It was about 1916, as he recalls it today.

At 13, Walt was working in a coal mine there, and was paid 70 cents for loading a ton of coal. Shortly thereafter, he was earning three and one-half cents per dozen shirts as a presser in a shirt factory.

He moved to Michigan in 1929, just before the stock market crashed and went to work for J. L. Hudson Co. at $42 a week. Within 18 months he was out of a job because of the Depression.

He opened his own linoleum and floor covering installation business in 1931 and remained at that until 1945 when he joined Blunk's Inc. here as general superintendent. (It was Blunk & Thatcher at the time, and was located on Penniman Ave.)

In 1960, Walt purchased 75 per cent of the business when the announcement was made that the Penniman Ave. store would be closed. Walt had visions of re-locating the business elsewhere in Plymouth.

The new Blunk's Inc. opened on Starkweather in October of 1961 with Walt as principal stockholder and president of the company.

He lives at 987 Dewey with his wife, Alice. They have two grown children, a daughter Pat and a son Walt.

Walt Rensel and Doug Blunk

Doug Blunk first became acquainted with Rensel in 1945 when the latter sold his floor covering contracting business and joined Blunk's Inc. here as general superintendent.

But it was six years prior to that time that Doug earned his first dollar. He was paid about five dollars a week working part-time at his father's farm on Haggerty Rd. between Schoolcraft and Five Mile.

A 1947 graduate of Plymouth High, Doug — during his senior year — worked half day at the farm and attended classes half day.

After graduation, he worked briefly at Daisy air rifle and early in 1948 started at Blunk's Inc. in the Main St. warehouse and driving the store's delivery truck. The warehouse was located next to Plymouth Lumber & Coal in the old Markham Building, now gone.

Doug earned about $37.50 a week for his labors those days.

The paths of Doug and Walt came closely together in a short while when Doug went to work as a floor covering installation man in the linoleum and carpeting department that was headed up by Rensel in those days.

In 1950, Doug enlisted in the U.S. Air Force and served three years.

He returned to the store on Penniman following his military service and became a stock records clerk.

The following year he "went on the floor" as a full-time salesman at Blunk's. He moved with Walt to the store's new location on Starkweather in 1961.

Doug lives at 42157 Brentwood with his wife, Sally, and their two children, Gail, 8, and Craig, 5.

MODEL HOME at Parklane Estates off Sheldon Rd. here is completely furnished by re-built items from Goodwill Industries in Detroit. Goodwill, whose pick-up trucks are a familiar sight in Plymouth, supplied the model with complete furnishings, all re-furnished and all in an Early American decor. Included among the items is this Early American spinning wheel, valued at $40. Gloria Worrell, saleslady for J. L. Hudson real estate, is shown admiring the spinning wheel with Mrs. Edward Skorupa, a prospect. Many people have visited the home simply to see the Goodwill items that furnish and decorate it.

1804 Minister Calls Detroit 'Abandoned Site'

The diary of the Rev. Nathan Bangs, a Methodist minister, states that when he crossed over to Detroit from Sandwich, Ontario in 1804, he found Detroit "a most abandoned place." After three visits which he found unprofitable he "shook off the dust of his feet as a testimony against them and look his departure." But a Methodist group established Michigan's first permanent Protestant church at Dearborn in 1818.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS-AT-HEART

By MELVIN L. WOELL, MGR. INFORMATION DIVISION MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

Luckily the loaded school bus was moving slowly across the old bridge, hardly moving at all. Luckily too, when the girders collapsed, the bus went straight down and landed upright. Even more fortunate, the bridge gave way this fall when the stream was very low, instead of during the ten-foot deep, (and more) spring torrents. What could have been real tragedy caused only some bumped heads and a lot of excitement.

The bridge was due for replacement but reported one official, "We had a bad winter and it ate up our funds." What did? Why, salt of course. Salt demanded by people who hate ice and snow. Salt that not only depletes budgets but eats away at anything made of metal.

"Ice control is extremely costly," reports one road commissioner who adds that in his county, it often comes to the $100,000 figure for the winter. Included, of course, is the cost of manpower and equipment to spread it, but tons and tons of salt after each storm add up. And costs are increasing, County Supervisors report.

"It's not that more people are travelling in all kinds of weather, although that's part of it. The reason is people. People and the telephone," a Road Commissioner says. "When the first flakes fall, people start to call. They don't let up until we salt their particular stretch of road." Shaking his head over the problem he added, "When we salt every road first we'll have this thing licked."

But far from licked will be new problems that increase with the saline deposits. The near-new cars rusted out, the metal signs and road markers made illegible from rust, and mail boxes that dissolve.

Farmers are particularly conscious of the problem. In policy session, farm-delegates at the Michigan Farm Bureau annual meeting wrote: "The materials now used to remove snow and ice from highways, roads and streets, result in serious rusting. We urge an accelerated program of research by chemical companies and universities in the development of rust-inhibitors or non-damaging materials."

Interestingly, the money spent on salt in most areas in any one year could buy and operate such truly adequate road clearing equipment not in common use elsewhere. Only in Michigan, it seems, are people content to let things "rust in peace" until they rest in pieces.

The Cherry Hill Methodist Church will hold its annual Thanksgiving Harvest potluck Dinner following the morning Services Nov. 18. Speakers will be Mr. Andersen, of Ann Arbor, and two of his Foreign Exchange Students. The W.S.C.S Ladies of the Church were present at an afternoon meeting Tuesday Oct. 30 which was the Day of Prayer. A young woman from Okinawa was present, and showed picture slides and told about the work being done there.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas King of Cherry Hill Rd. had as weekend guests, Mrs. King's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilder from Dayton, Ind. and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Wilder from Nashville, Mich.

Merilou Truesdell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Truesdell of Haggerty Rd. made the rose wool suit in which she exchanged marriage vows, with David L. Warner, on Oct. 6 in Birmingham, Mich. The Rev. H. Clark of Pine Lake Congregational Church performed the double-ring ceremony, after which a reception was held for the immediate families. Nina Rhines of Lapeer, Mich. was Merilou's only attendant, and the groom's brother, Gordon Warner of Muskegon was best man. Both the bride and Miss Rhines wore tiny pill-box hats made by Merilou; the brides matching her rose suit, while her attendant's was a velvet, matching her oatmeal colored wool suit. After the young couple returned from a honeymoon in the East, they were honored with a dinner at the Mayflower Hotel in Plymouth, by the parents of the bride. Guests were present from Livonia, Detroit, Belding, Taylor, Clawson, Wayne, St. Clair Shores, and Birmingham. David is the son of Mrs. Joseph Matick of Clawson, and the late Leroy Warner of Muskegon. The young couple will make their home in Birmingham.

Cub Scout Pack 766 had a combined Pack meeting and Halloween Party Oct. 25 at Gallimore School in the all-purpose room. The children made their own costumes (with some help from their mothers) and really turned out some very original outfits. There were prizes for the costumes and also for the pumpkins. There was an exceptional turnout of Scouts and their families, approximately 75 attending. Cider and doughnuts were served.

Mrs. Edgar L. Cummins of Hanford Rd. is a patient in Ridgewood Hospital where she underwent major surgery.

The Truesdell Neighborhood Club met Wednesday, Oct. 31 at the home of Mrs. Marley Wilcox on Haggerty Rd. for a potluck dinner.

The Cub Scout Pack 766 made a trip to the Cider Mill in Northville Saturday, Nov. 3 accompanied by their Den mothers.

Postmaster Reminds Of Safety In Use of Mail

Although the Post Office of duplicating damaged or lost articles are generally required.

On claims involving used items or items in need of repair, an allowance must be made for any depreciation due to age or wear, or for repairs needed at the time of mailing.

Insured, registered, or c.o.d. parcels may be opened and the undamaged items removed. It is not necessary that parcels suspected of containing damage be inspected by the post office before being opened. Only the items for which a claim is made are required to be submitted with the wrapper or other evidence of insurance.

"The best insurance against loss or damage," Postmaster Timpona warned, "is still proper packing and addressing. Beyond these precautions, insured, registered, and c.o.d. services do offer financial reimbursement if something adverse should happen."

Michigan was one of the first states to remove treatment of tuberculosis from the category of public welfare and declare that payments for hospitalization and treatment were for the protection of public health.

Pranksters Open '7 or 8' Twp. Hydrants

Pranksters in Plymouth Twp. last Halloween evening opened "seven or eight" water hydrants in Lake Pointe Village subdivision and on Northville and Wilcox Rds. Although the hydrants were open only a short while, a Township fire department spokesman said the loss of water prompted a noticeable drop in the level of water in the Lake Pointe Village storage tank on Schoolcraft.

The spokesman said the hydrants each were on "about five or 10 minutes."

Quick reports by residents to the fire hall on Schoolcraft Rd. prevented the series of pranks from resulting in a major water loss.

No serious damage was reported by residents.

Township firemen immediately scouted through all of the area, turning off the water hydrants that were open and checking others to assure that those were closed.

Community Chest Officers To Discuss Plymouth Fund

The Social Education and Action Committee of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth has announced that the president and board members of the Plymouth Community Fund had accepted an invitation to speak at a meeting based on the theme "What do you expect from your Community Fund?"

The meeting will be held in the church dining room on Thursday, Nov. 29, at 8 p.m. The public is invited to attend.

Present at the meeting to answer questions from the audience will be Robert K. Barbour, president of the Plymouth Community Fund, plus members of the Fund's board of directors.

Barbour indicated that a report will be given at the meeting concerning a study the Fund ordered made to determine the needs of the Plymouth community.

Sam Hudson, chairman of the S.E.A. committee of the Presbyterian Church, said this is an opportunity for citizens of the Plymouth community to have questions answered concerning the Community Fund operation, to express opinions about the use of funds, and to point out to the Board any needs of the community they feel are not being met at this time.

He said that anyone who has an interest in the subject is urged to attend the meeting.

Evans Co. Profits Are Improvement

Evans Products Company of Plymouth, has announced a net profit of $627,545 for the first nine months of 1962.

Edward S. Evans, Jr., president of the company, said in a letter to shareholders that profit for the first nine months represented an improvement of $2,149,252 over the loss of $1,521,707 for the same period of 1961.

"The third quarter was adversely affected by a 26 day strike at one of our plants and a seasonal reduction in sales volume of several specialty product lines," Evans said.

"Increases in sales of more competitive product lines resulted in a continuance of the average monthly sales of ten million dollars experienced during the second quarter of this year."

OPERATION SPOOK last Wednesday night helped assure a safe and sane Halloween night within the City of Plymouth. Five "ham" radio operators aided City police and firemen in setting up an effective mobile communications net that covered all of the City streets.

The operation was centered on the system's base radio (right) in City Hall, where Verne Olds (with microphone) and Bob Waters handled incoming and outgoing calls.

Nine mobile communications cruisers patrolled City streets, on the look-out for danger signs and possible mishaps, all the while maintaining constant radio contact with City Hall through in-car radio sets (above).

Two "Ham" operators actually drove a pair of cruising cars, while the other seven patrol cars were staffed by City police or firemen. Each car traveled approximately 30 miles during the three and one-half hour alert that ended at 10:30 p.m.

"Operation Spook" Assures Safe Halloween Here

Despite a lightly-humorous sounding name, "Operation Spook" last Wednesday evening — it was Halloween — was a highly serious undertaking.

And equally successful, as well. Conducted under the supervision of the City of Plymouth police department, "Spook" provided on-the-job experience for five ham radio operators who helped to assure that Halloween here was a safe one.

While radio "hams" Verne Olds and Bob Waters stayed glued to their radio set in the City Hall, nine mobile patrol cars slowly cruised City streets on the look-out for Halloween danger or mishaps.

The mobile units — five City police cars, two DPW automobiles and a pair of privately-owned autos — all were linked by their in-car radio sets to the "base station" at the City Hall. The base station radio system supplemented the normal police radio communication that is utilized at all times here.

"The base station gives us greater mobile communication," explained City director of public safety Ken Fisher. "They can sweep the frequency dial on the base station radio set and broadcast much further than we can on our regular police radio."

While Olds and Waters, both members of the Stu Rockafellow Amateur Radio Society, were seated before the base station radio, fellow club member Sam Stern was nearby, recording receipt and transmission of the calls.

Meanwhile, two other club members were manning the pair of privately-owned cruising "safety cars." In one was Herb Bissa, who drove more than 33 miles along City streets that night during the three and one-half hour alert that ended at 10:30 p.m.

In the other auto was Roger Vaughn. He drove nearly 30 miles, all told.

City policemen and fire department officers staffed the seven other cruisers.

"Operation Spook" meant far more than simply assuring a safe Halloween night. It illustrated, too, that in the event of disaster here, a similar mobile communication set-up could hasten aid to critical areas, keep Civil Defense officials abreast of the status of the disaster, and generally serve the community in its time of crisis.

"It could be useful to us in the event of either a natural disaster, or one that was man-made," explained Fisher. He added that the Stu Rockafellow Amateur Radio Society is already an integrated part of the local Civil Defense plan.

"Halloween night was pretty much an alert exercise for them," he added. Directly supervising the "Spook" operation was Assistant City Police Chief Loren Johnson.

In all, there are about 40 members in the local radio club, but all but five of them were attending a special CD class in Detroit that night. Olds, Waters, Bissa, Vaughn and Stern were the club members on hand for the operation here.

The base station radio communications system is City-owned, as an aspect of CD here. It is operated generally by the "hams."

Call signal is "W8NJKH." The club was formed two years ago with Olds as the organization's first president. Current president is Steve McEwen, of Plymouth. There are several members who actually live outside of the Plymouth community.

Stern is one. He lives in Garden City, but is as avid as any "native" member.

The club meets the third Tuesday of each month at 7:30 p.m. in the Junior Achievement building next to the City Hall at the corner of Main St. and Dodge.

Olds, the former president, said that anyone interested in radio operation is invited to attend the meetings.

Eventually, Fisher said, he hopes to expand the mobile communications system so that it includes not only the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Twp., but Northville City and Township, too.

This is the look of things to come in modern motor car styling.

It's the 1963 Cadillac—a motor car so beautiful and so tempting it is difficult to resist.

The new look in Cadillacs combines formality and youthfulness, majesty and vigor in a way that is rediably trend-setting.

And it belongs to Cadillac alone. You won't see any others with that sweeping expanse of hood and deck that gives the 1963 Cadillac its unique look of vitality and power.

And its discerning use of chrome and adornment welcomes a new purity of form in automotive design.

Of course, there's a great deal more than styling in this new Cadillac that is worthy of emulation.

There are Cadillac's beautiful and luxurious new interiors—and Cadillac's remarkable new performance—and Cadillac's unprecedented choice of personal appointments and accessories—and Cadillac's unrivaled dependability and value.

Cadillac is now more clearly than ever before the Standard of the World.

The thing to do is to see and drive one of the twelve brilliant new models and get the whole Cadillac story for 1963. And for a full year at the wheel, do it before another week goes by.

FRONT ROW CENTER

BY GEORGE SPELVIN

My text today concerns the distressing state of comedy. To be funny on the stage is a true art. Great comedians can be counted on the ten digits of your two hands. In short, the world has known too few great masters of the art of evoking laughter.

Why is this commodity so rare?

Contrary to what most of us might believe the highly dramatic actor can learn his trade a great deal easier than can the buffoon. Provoking an audience to guffaw takes proper timing, subtle facial gestures, and accurate modulation of the voice. You learn one important thing in becoming a chuckle-gatherer: work from the inside out. Never put stage business on in layers and expect laughter to be a natural result.

Your comic actions must first develop from the inside and be a natural part of your total characterization. Amateur actors too often make the mistake of cluttering their comic characterizations with excessive "bits of business." They try too hard to be funny and end up making their audiences weary.

Last week at times the University of Michigan players were guilty of over-extending themselves in what could have been a rousing Italian farce, "The Servant of Two Masters." Back in 1949... yes, old George remembers the fabulous forties... Dr. William Halstead did an earlier version of this play.

I still have the yellowing, brittle program. The play at that time made such an impression on me that I vividly recalled the frantic action that concluded Act I. Truffaldino, the bewildered servant, tries to serve his two masters two meals at the same time. The shimmering, quivering huge plate of yellow, lemon jello stuck in my brain cage over the years and brought back every hilarious moment of that raucous 1949 version of the play.

The 1962 version had no dancing, jiggling mountain of lemon gelatin. Instead Dr. Halstead decided to have a warring cherry atop a rigid whipped cream abomination. And the scene as done in the Trueblood auditorium tried its level best to be frantic, but the excessive distances that the actors had to traverse defeated their attempts to make the scene have a frenetic quality.

George Bedard tried his "darndest" to be the "top banana" all evening but far too often he slipped on the peel of excessive, over-blown state business. Old George had the feeling that everyone in the company had been suggesting comic bits to Mr. Bedard and in true Comedia del Arts style all the "Bits" were constantly added.

All the "letter" scenes were far too long and could have been sliced directly in half. Strangely enough, the rest of the company gave an excellent account of themselves. Carl Schurr as Silvio played the lovesick suitor perfectly. Ruth Ann Neipp as Clarice smiled vacuously and added life and laughter every time she was out on the stage.

Jeanne Lucas always knows what to do with a line and Dave Hirvela delivered his long speeches with professional ease. The stylized make-up and colorful costumes did what they could to move the play along; however, it still was a problem of what to do with the lead role.

My plummed hat is doffed to George Bedard for he did work like a veritable "Trojan" and should get an award for heroic efforts. "Servant of Two Masters" was the 650th production in 46 years of producing plays. Guess a slight slip is possible once in a while.

And believe me, the production was still worth seeing as most of the U of M productions are.

A few nights later in Ann Arbor the A.P.A. group opened with John Whiting's "A Penny For a Song". Will Greer, David Hook, Cavada Humphrey, and Keene Curtis displayed individual skill and polish in the science of garnering laughs from a most sophisticated audience.

Even though each of these professionals tried to outdo the others in their impeccable efforts to evoke steady laughter, at no time did they forget that they were a well-coordinated team of actors. The play moved quickly and neatly to the zany conclusions provided for each of its acts.

Ellis Raab, the APA director, has a deft sure sense. His pacing of the show would do credit to anything one could see on Broadway. "A Penny For a Song" was a comic gem and a fitting conclusion for the fall festival of five plays, in Ann Arbor. Old George awaits eagerly the return of the company in February with its series of Shakespeare plays.

And if you missed "The Tavern" or "School for Scandal", the APA group will be performing yet this week at the Detroit Institute of Arts on November 8, 9, and 10.

Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans will be appearing at the Hill Auditorium under the aegis of the University of Michigan Professional Theatre.

ter program as a part of their efforts to bring great stars to Ann Arbor.

Having seen the program when it was at the Fisher Theater, I'll merely add my hurrahs from a distance and indicate that you'd better plan to drive quickly to Ann Arbor on Thursday night.

You'll long cherish the memories of these two theatrical greats doing 18 excerpts from the works of Shakespeare.

Old George had the good fortune to be granted the only television-interview during Miss Helen Hayes' stay in Detroit a few weeks ago. I'd be right over at the Hill Auditorium for a second look at this program, but a trip out east to the concrete jungles of New York stands in my way.

Book Fair In Progress; Eyed As "Huge Success"

With hundreds of Plymouth public school students and their parents visiting the library in the Junior High East, the Book Fair there promises to be a huge success, a spokesman said.

The event runs from now until Nov. 9. Hours of the sale are from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1-5 p.m. and 7-9 p.m.

The public is invited to attend the Book Fair where a wide selection of books — appealing to all age groups — is available.

Among those for sale are books for pre-school children up to adults. New books may be ordered and used books may be purchased on the spot.

Profits from the sale are used for a PTSA service project involving assistance to needy people in the Bolivian Andes. Sponsors of the project are the PTSA-East and the Junior High East library club, under the guidance of Mrs. Bertha Green.

Chairmen of the sale are Mrs. T. H. Roberts, Mrs. G. McLachlin, and Mrs. Ralph Fluckey.

MAKING PLANS for the Senior High School's forth-coming "open house" for parents on Nov. 13 are these seven persons. From left, teachers John Olson, Gustav Gorguze, Warren Pelton, John Hopkins and Louise Spence, student Jane Vallier, and teacher Florence Slocum. Two other committee members not shown are teacher Ray Homer and student Art Gulick.

Plan Senior High Open House Nov. 13

An open house for parents of the Senior High here will feature an abbreviated version of a regular school day, with parents attending 10-minute classes on a program identical with that of their student-children.

A general meeting will open the evening's agenda at 7:15 p.m. in the gymnasium. Bentley will conduct the opening session and will acquaint the parents with various room locations.

Regular classroom teachers will be on hand in each room to explain the purpose of the particular class and its goals and requirements.

The Senior High, which annually has observed American Education Week in some form, has not conducted an open house of this sort since 1954, Bentley said.

Last year, parent-teacher "conferences" were held. Bentley said he estimates that between 800 and 1,000 parents will attend this year's open house.

A teacher-student committee has been working out plans for the evening. Committee members include: teachers John Olson, Gustav Gorguze, Warren Pelton, John Hopkins, Louise Spence, Florence Slocum and Ray Homer while students on the committee are Arthur Gulick and Jane Vallier.

Former German Soldier Guest of Kiwanis Here

Peter Kalinke, a native of Germany, veteran of the German Army and a former occupant of a Russian "re-education" camp, was guest speaker at last week's regular meeting of the Plymouth Kiwanis club.

Kalinke discussed a comparison between Communism and Democracy.

After spending all of his life up to that time in Europe, Kalinke moved to the United States in 1960 and lives now in Birmingham.

He told the local Kiwanians how — in East Germany — the government owns everything and that, in order to maintain a home, there, both husband and wife must work.

Community indoctrination of young people in East Germany begins in the very first year of school, he said, and continues throughout the child's formative years.

Communism is a form of materialism, he said, and the thing that the East Germans fear most is any form of religious education. God is the chief enemy of the communist system, he said.

The East German government builds a type of "invisible fence" around its people, he explained. People who go to church are refused higher education or promotion in their present job. The "good communist" receive the best type of ration card, which is the "A" classification, whereas the others receive a "C" ration card or the lowest classification.

At the present time in East Germany, Kalinke said, there is only one doctor for approximately every 48,000 people.

Prior to the building of the Wall in East Germany, most of the professionally educated people had left their section. Today in East Germany there are approximately 17 million people.

Life for them he said is basically dismal and dull and "the majority of them" live in rural areas. East Germany's return to ration cards best illustrates that the Communist system will not work well, Kalinke said.

PHS Students Exhibit Wares at Library Here

Something new in art exhibits at the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth this month is now on view. The exhibits are not members of the Three-Cities Art Club, as is usual, but are students in the art classes of Mrs. Jessie Hudson at Plymouth High School. The work includes oil paintings, mosaics, drawings, collages and jewelry, and the students range in experience from those in first year art to the fourth year seniors.

A large oil on masonite showing an artist at work is by Doug James, a romantic monochromatic study is by Marcia Livingston both fourth year students, and a scene from the Civil War is by third year student Mike Mueck. Six mosaics using different materials, from imported Venetian glass tile to broken pottery, glass and flower pots are the work of Linda Wall, Sharon Heidt, Diane Wiles, Betty Stover, Pat Bridge and Bruce Becker.

Second year students Chris Rowland, Jim Norman, Jay Kendall, Mike Wagner and Judy Lent have pencil and chalk drawings on display. Donna Manzi's colorful paper collage demonstrates abstract design and pleasing color while Dennis Thorpe's tiny black, white and red tempera painting shows the dramatic effect of these stark colors. Both of these students are also in second-year art.

Beginning art students are represented by Bob Hill, Gordie Holland, and Cindy McLaren with pencil drawings and a geometric abstraction in black, grey and white. Lauren Campbell, third year student has a pen and ink study of horse and colt, and fourth year students David Schmidt and Doug Jacobs have two studies from history-of-art, one in crayon and one in paper collage.

Jewelry from the Clay and Metal class is on display in the show case in the lobby of the library. Especially imaginative are the enamelled copper collages by David Schmidt and Linda Wall, and the small plaque mounted on grey rock by Mike Krizman. Linda Wilt, Nancy North, Anne Tillotson, Shirley Nickerson and Lee Stone are the other jewelry students exhibiting their works.

How Super Shell's 9 ingredients can give cars top performance

POWER INGREDIENT in Super Shell works for world champion driver Phil Hill (above, in Ferrari racer). Hill, first American to win the World Championship for Drivers, relies on Super Shell. One important reason: power. Today's Super Shell contains "cat-cracked" gasoline—a power ingredient made by cracking heavier petroleum molecules into lighter, livelier ones. It works to give you the power you need for top performance.

NOISE-FIGHTING INGREDIENTS in Super Shell work for a quiet engine at all speeds. Shell scientists even use a stethoscope (above) to check effect of Super Shell's anti-knock ingredients. One of these ingredients, an anti-knock mix, is so effective that a teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating five points. Alkylate, another Super Shell ingredient, is noted for controlling knock in hot engines at high speeds better than anything else yet available.

MILEAGE INGREDIENT in Super Shell is Platformate. Shell scientists test it in many cars, many places. In a recent test in San Francisco (above), exactly 250 cc. (about half a pint) of fuel without Platformate was fed into test car. Car ran until fuel was used up, then coasted to a stop (left). Distance: 6186 feet. Test was repeated, using same blend of fuel with Platformate added. Same amount of fuel. Same car. Same conditions. In this test, Super Shell with Platformate took car 6454 feet (right), gave a mileage bonus of 4.3 percent.

TCP* AND FOUR OTHER INGREDIENTS complete Super Shell's 9-ingredient blend. TCP additive can help restore power lost due to combustion deposits—can also extend spark plug life. Butane is for quick starts. Pentane mix helps engines run smoothly during "warm-up." The gum preventive ingredient is to help keep carburetors clean inside. And, when the weather calls for it, Super Shell contains an anti-icer. That's nine ingredients in Super Shell—scientifically blended to give your car top performance.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2889212.

PLYMOUTH HIGH'S 1962 varsity football team concluded its season last Friday night, striving to raise its record over the .500 average. But visiting Walled Lake wouldn't cooperate and the Rocks wound up 1962 with a 3-4-1 overall mark and a tie for fifth place in the Suburban Six conference. The varsity gridgers are shown here. Team captain Dick Schryer, first-string quarterback, is third from right in the front row.

End Season Above .500

Gridders Crush Walled Lake, 33-14

The Rocks concluded their 1962 football season by crushing highly-regarded Walled Lake, 33-14, here last Friday night.

Plymouth exploded with three touchdowns in the first half to take a 19-7 lead and added two more insurance tallies in the second half to clinch the victory.

It was a conclusive finish to a season that saw the Rocks absorb two tough defeats that knocked them out of contention in the Suburban Six conference and badly blemished their season record.

As it was, Plymouth emerged with a 4-3-1 mark overall, but maintained an enviable record of having avoided a losing season every fall since 1951.

A loss to Walled Lake would have dropped Plymouth below the .500 level for the first time in 12 campaigns.

There was little risk of this, however, as the Rocks capitalized on a Walled Lake fumble in the early moments to seize a 6-0 lead. From that point on, there was no stopping Plymouth, intent on wrapping up its 1962 season on a winning note.

Walled Lake, champion of the Inter-Lakes league this season, entered the game with a neat 6-1 record.

Plymouth promptly extinguished any hopes on the part of Walled Lake loyalists that the visitors would leave with a 7-1 mark.

Senior guard Jim Ayers started the Plymouth onslaught just as soon as the Rocks kicked off to open the game. Ayers executed a slashing tackle of the Walled Lake receiver and Plymouth recovered the ensuing fumble on the Walled Lake 40.

Within moments, senior quarterback Dick Schryer uncorked a 28-yard scoring aerial to junior fullback Dave Agnew.

Plymouth was off to the races.

Plymouth kicked off following that initial scoring thrust, and took the visitor's punt at midfield. A 50-yard scoring drive was culminated by Schryer as he passed seven yards to Dick Egloff.

Schryer's toss to Jim Walasky scored the extra point and put the Rocks ahead, 13-0, with scant minutes gone in the first quarter.

Walled Lake retaliated moments later, however, as it surged 67 yards, and trimmed the Plymouth margin to 13-7 when quarterback Ralph LaRue heaved a 45-yard scoring aerial to Ron Wik.

In the second quarter, Plymouth regained its two-TD advantage. Walled Lake kicked off. Plymouth took the ball on the 40 and drove all the way, scoring on a Schryer-to-Mark Schultheiss pass play that covered six yards. The Rocks missed the extra point. The half ended with Plymouth leading, 19-7.

Walled Lake moved to the 30 of Plymouth early in the second half. LaRue faded to pass but linebacker Gary Grady charged through on a "red-dog" play and tackled LaRue.

The ball bobbed loose and Plymouth's Hugh Sarah scooped it up, raced nearly 70 yards to score.

Schryer, who completed 11 of 17 passes for 123 yards during the course of the night, hit Agnew for the extra point, making it 26-7 in favor of the Rocks.

Plymouth ran out the string seconds later.

Walasky intercepted a Walled Lake pass at midfield and Plymouth struck to the nine of Walled Lake, with Schryer mixing running plays perfectly with aerials.

Roger Tobey, a sophomore who gained a total of 33 yards, scored on the last of three consecutive running plays, and a pass to Egloff was good for the extra point.

Facing Plymouth's reserves late in the game, Walled Lake scored a consolation touchdown. It was far too late for this to upset local fans.

A one-yard plunge by Walled Lake's Len Rickard brought the score to its final form after a short pass gained the extra point.

"We jelled into a real fine ballclub in the last three games," Plymouth Coach Mike Hoben said. "We only played one really poor game all season." (It was the Rocks' 19-0 loss to Allen

Agnew led Plymouth's rushing attack Friday night with 45 yards in six carries. He also gained 38 yards, as a three-time receiver of Schryer's aerials.

Grady had 21 yards in six tries, Sarah gained 10 in four attempts, Walasky made 25 in six carries and intercepted a pass, and Tobey had 33 yards on five runs.

The Rocks rang up 16 first downs to Walled Lake's nine, gained 123 yards in the air and added 135 on the ground. The visitors had 115 yards rushing and 156 passing.

Walled Lake's quarterback completed 11 of 18 pass attempts.

Egloff, who will return to Plymouth's grid ranks next fall, caught six passes for 70 yards to lead the Rocks in that department. He caught 39 passes during the season, and averaged nearly 60 yards a game as a receiver.

Schultheiss caught two for 15 yards Friday night.

Eleven Plymouth seniors saw their last high school football action against Walled Lake.

They include: Schryer, Sarah, Schultheiss, Ayers, Walasky, Terry Madick, Craig Newton, Wayne Commins, Tom Abraham, Bob Dart and John Smith.

Hoben already is eyeing 1963. He has good reason. He expects to award letters to 17 underclassmen shortly. Among them are four sophomores who saw considerable duty in Plymouth's backfield this fall. In addition, Hoben expects to welcome three ends, three tackles, four guards and one center next fall, all of whom saw action this season.

"I'm kind of encouraged about next year already," he said.

Rocks Approach Busy Winter Agenda

As the fall athletic schedule comes to a close at Plymouth High — the gridgers officially concluded it last Friday evening — the Rocks begin gearing themselves for the forth-coming winter agenda.

Already, both the swimming and basketball varsity teams have had initial meetings and were intending to get underway with regular practice sessions this week.

The varsity swimming team opens the 1962-63 campaign Nov. 29 at Lincoln Park visits. Rough, tough Birmingham Seaholm — always a swim power — will host the Rocks in their second meet, a Dec. 6 affair in Birmingham. Ann Arbor is here Dec. 15.

Meanwhile, the Plymouth

aggers are readying themselves in preparation for a Nov. 30 date with Ypsilanti. The second home basketball contest is Dec. 7 when Walled Lake High comes to town. Northville hosts Plymouth's cage team Dec. 8.

In all, the Rocks will field six athletic teams this winter to assure a busy schedule throughout the cold months. Varsity, junior varsity and freshmen swimming and basketball will dominate the spotlight all winter long.

No significant staff changes were announced by Plymouth High athletic director John Sandmann.

John McFall enters his 12th year as varsity swim coach intent upon improving an already sparkling won-lost record. The Rocks — under McFall's tutelage — have racked up nearly 90 victories in the past 11 seasons.

Once — in 1960-61 — Plymouth swimmers emerged as state Class A champs.

Charlie Ketterer, head basketball coach of the Rocks for a three year period in the mid-fifties but absent from the cage floor for four years up to last season, returns as head cage coach.

Last year, Plymouth encountered ill fortune on the basketball court, but did post a moral-building victory over arch-rival Bentley High — first such accomplishment in five years.

Tom Workman is junior varsity swimming coach; Dick Bearup will head the JayVee basketball team; Jim Stevens will direct the efforts of the Frosh swimmers; and Bryan Boring is Frosh cage coach once again.

The varsity schedules:

The Suburban Six league championship meet will be held in March and will be held at Allen Park. The state Class A swimming meet will be March 8 and 9 at Michigan State University's field house in East Lansing.

The Lincoln Park, Birmingham, Ann Arbor and Royal Oak dual meets here are evening affairs and will start at 7:30 p.m. Most of the other home meets will get underway at 4 p.m.

With tentative plans calling for its first meet Nov. 24 in Pontiac, an AAU-approved Plymouth Swim Club is being organized here.

Boys from 8 years of age up are invited to join the club, according to spokesman Bud Gould, one of the organizers.

First practice of members will be Nov. 14 at 6 p.m. in the high school pool here.

Varsity swim coach John McFall will coach the club team with assistance from Tom Workman and Jim Stevens.

It is planned that the swimming competition will be divided into two seasonal categories, one for winter and the other for spring.

Fees for club members are $10 apiece, to be paid by the time of the first practice Nov. 14. Fees may be paid in advance by mailing check or money order to Mrs. Harry Berry, 1340 Elm St.

She has been designated club treasurer.

A meeting of parents of club members will be held at 6:30 p.m. on Nov. 14 in room 101 of the Senior High here.

Questions on the Plymouth Swim Club are being answered by Jim Gretzinger (GL 3-5575) or Coach McFall (week days, GL 3-3100) extension 5.

Michigan is proud of its many church-sponsored secondary and elementary schools and its 23 denominational colleges.

SPORTSEEN

By Jerome O'Neil

Plymouth High fielded a far better football team than the final records would indicate this year.

The Rocks sport only a four-win, three-loss, one-tie mark for their efforts over the course of the past two months on the gridiron, but — if it's any solace — they deserved a better fate.

Including the score of the Walled Lake contest (the finale for '62), Plymouth totaled 143 points while its opponents managed only 102.

But that statistic alone is not the clincher by far.

If two games had been 60 seconds shorter, the Rocks would boast a 4-1 league mark and a share of the Suburban Six crown that they won outright a year ago when they were unbeaten in conference action.

First test that ran one minute too long for Plymouth was the Redford Union clash. With a 14-12 margin — thanks to Dick Schryer's 80-yard scoring punt return — and less than three minutes left, the Rocks appeared in good shape.

But RU's amazing aerial wizard and quarterback, Chuck Shelton, wouldn't relent and with only moments remaining he marched Redford Union 67 yards in seven plays and the winning advantage on a 31-yard toss to end Dick Fifield.

It was a crushing, heart-breaking loss that Plymouth absorbed that night.

The second heart-breaker that ran 60 seconds too long was the Belleville battle. Plymouth had engineered a sound-seeming 19-13 margin with two minutes remaining. At the 42-second mark, however, Plymouth's hopes came tumbling down as Belleville scored its winning TD. This loss, too, was a crusher.

The only game this season — within the Suburban Six conference — that couldn't have been changed, regardless, was the Allen Park encounter. Plymouth would have needed MSU's line and the Detroit Lions' backfield to have made a difference.

The Parkers squashed the Rocks, 19-0. It was quite decisive.

Late in August, Trenton's football coach described Plymouth "as the team to beat" in the race for the conference championship. He was right, and he was wrong.

Redford Union and Allen Park had to beat Plymouth to earn a share of the crown. Belleville had to beat Plymouth to gain third place. But Trenton, whose coach had Plymouth pegged from the start, couldn't achieve his intentions.

Not by a long shot.

Plymouth really unfurled itself against the hapless Trenton gridgers and rolled to a convincing 39-7 victory. The game was made as a toss-up beforehand, but the end result was listed to appear ridiculously easy by the Rocks, who finally found themselves.

A week earlier, Plymouth posted a sweet 13-12 win over neighboring Bentley High, to regain some confidence and respect. The Rocks overcame a 12-0 deficit enroute to that one.

Walled Lake was a non-league opponent, and maybe a different story altogether. It was a stunning climax to the 1962 season here as Plymouth astonished their guests, 33-14.

At any rate, the Rocks had a much better football team this fall than their final won-lost record would indicate.

Plush Family Billiard Hall Opens Doors Here

Described as "the plushiest family billiard establishment in Michigan," the Pool-O-Drome opened its doors here last week.

Located at 584 W. Ann Arbor Tr., Pool-O-Drome is designed to appeal to the entire family. "We've styled it on the lines of the Rack-and-Cue in Royal Oak," explained owner Sid Ray. "Husbands and wives," he said, "and their older teenage children will find it real entertainment, but youngsters under 18 must be accompanied by adults."

Pool-O-Drome is situated in the building that formerly housed Parkview Lanes, opposite Saxtons Garden Center on W. Ann Arbor Tr. It has been entirely re-decorated inside and re-styled outside. There are 20 tables, some covered in bright pastel felt, including one snooker table and a three-cushion billiard table.

Exterior of the new business is painted an appealing Westchester grey with the wide business nameplate "Pool-O-Drome" emblazoned across the front of the building.

Clever imitation pool table tops, with crossed billiard cues and a full rack of billiard balls, are worked into the front of the building, signifying the entertainment that awaits a visitor inside. Inside, the bowling equipment has been entirely re-moved and wall-to-wall carpeting has been installed. Bright interior colors, hanging ceiling lights and soft-colored acoustical tile complete the modern decor. Of the 20 tables, two are covered in tangerine, two are done in beige and two are covered with gold felt. The remaining 14 are covered in the conventional green felt. Eighteen of the tables are regulation pocket billiard tables.

Ray, a 41-year-old Detroit and a member at Fox Hills Country Club, was two months supervising the overall remodeling of the building. He extended an invitation to all Plymouthites to stop in, say hello, and see for themselves why Pool-O-Drome is described as "the plushiest family billiard hall in the state."

In addition to the 20 pool tables and the brightly, modern overall decor, the Pool-O-Drome features a complete vending arrangement where patrons may dine on light snacks, obtain cold drinks and other vending items.

Pool-O-Drome, which officially opened its doors last Friday, will be open Mondays through Saturdays from noon to 11:45 p.m. and on Sundays from 1 p.m. to 11:45 p.m.

A couple may shoot pool at any table in the house for $1.50 per hour. There is an additional fee of 25 cents per hour for each patron over two at a table.

An official grand opening celebration is being planned soon after the holidays, Ray said.

POOL-O-DROME, plush billiard hall appealing to the entire family, opened here last week on W. Ann Arbor Tr. where Parkview Lanes once was located. Owner Sid Ray is shown standing in front of the re-modeled building. Twenty billiard tables are featured inside.

Junior High West Champ of Touch Grid Conference

The elementary touch football season ended here last week as Junior High West gained the championship on the strength of a three-win, no-loss record. The final standings:

W L	3 0
Jr. High West	3 1
Gallimore	2 1
farrand	1 3
Bird	0 4
OLGC	0 4

Simultaneously, recreation director Herb Woolweaver announced that the elementary basketball season will begin about Dec. 10 and will last until the first week in March. Already he has put out a call for team coaches and is hopeful that all of the elementary schools will be able to participate in the basketball program this winter.

Games will be played weekdays at 4 p.m., he said. Men interested in acting as coaches of elementary teams may contact Woolweaver for further information at GL 3-3100.

Woolweaver also said that the recreation basketball program for older boys will start Nov. 10 at 9 a.m. Sessions each Saturday morning will last until 11:30 a.m. and will be directed by Paul Cummings and Jerry Vettesse in the Senior High gymnasium.

The National Wildlife Federation reports that the Forest Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture is moving into the missile age in its efforts to combat forest fires. It is developing a missile capable of carrying a 100-gallon load of fire-retarding chemicals. The missile is released from an airplane at an altitude of 3,000 feet, which is above the turbulence caused by forest fires and usually above the smoke. This could replace the more hazardous practice of low-level, direct bombing by hedge-hopping tankers.
