Speed Essential

New Building Authority Eyes Tight Time Table

Moving rapidly to set up a complete time-table on the proposed new City Hall here, the five-member Municipal Building Authority — in charge of the project — was scheduled to meet for the second time early Tuesday morning.

Former City Mayor Harold Guenther, who was named chairman of the newly-appointed body in its first official meeting last week, explained the speed with which the Authority must move:

"We have to go on the premises that the City's request for a federal grant on the project will receive approval," Guenther said.

"And we've got to have the project carefully planned out because of the close time requirements set forth in the terms of the Public Works Acceleration Act," he added.

He referred to the "120 days" stipulation that will accompany any approval of the City's request, which has been filed a second time with the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Any municipality granted federal funds through the Public Works Acceleration Act must be prepared "to break ground" within 120 days of the date the application is submitted.

First application for federal aid on the proposed colonial-styled City Hall here was made on Friday, Oct. 26, although a second request was filed mid-way through last week as a result of a technicality.

The initial request was submitted by the City itself, but the Housing and Home Finance Agency asked that the Building Authority make the application, since that body will legally oversee the proposed project.

Discussing the subject informally last Friday during a picture-taking session, the former mayor continued:

"I expect that we'll hear one way or another on our request within 10 days to two weeks," he said.

"Whatever the decision, we've reached a legal point at this time where the Building Authority is in charge of the project.

"We have to be fully prepared in the event the grant is approved," he said.

"Right now we're in a transition period. The City Commission has done all of the spadework and now the Authority has been formed. The work itself must continue and we members of the Building Authority must be certain that we're representing the desires of the Commissioners."

He added that speed was important for a number of reasons.

Building Authority members must fully acquaint themselves with their responsibilities and at the same time prepare for the many administrative matters that are set to unfold, should approval be given to the request.

A primary consideration will be the preparation of detailed plans and specifications for the proposed municipal structure in anticipation of a call for general contracting bids on the project.

Guenther said he estimated it would be a matter of about 60 days before specific plans will be ready so that bidders may figure the detailed requirements of the job.

Whichever date is deemed the starting point of the 120-day stipulation — be it Oct. 26 or mid-way through last week — the weather will play a large factor in actual "ground-breaking."

Expiration of the 120-day period could well be the end of next February, Guenther pointed out. But he implied that bad weather could prompt HHA to defer its "ground-breaking" within 120 days' requirement.

With regard to the demands of a carefully mapped out time-table on the project, Guenther was optimistic. "We should be able to put together a time-table meeting all requirements without any trouble whatsoever," he said. (Continued on page 3)

Community Chest Agencies Assured Full Allocations

The final tally on contributions to Plymouth's 1962 Community Fund drive may conceivably put the total over the $60,000 mark, it was suggested last week.

As announced earlier, the campaign had reached $57,898 at the time of the Victory Banquet two weeks ago. Actual goal this year was $45,050.

During the drive itself, contributions poured in at an all-time record rate and the Victory Banquet report of nearly $58,000 far surpassed the previous high of approximately $48,000 established a year ago.

Regardless of what the exact final tabulation is, the 11 local agencies that participate in the Plymouth Community Fund are assured of receiving previously determined allocations.

At the same time, 22 other agencies on a statewide level will share in 15 per cent of the $45,050 goal.

The remainder of the final total will be set aside as surplus funds to be allocated to local agencies on a basis of proven need, said Robert Barbour, president of the Plymouth Community Chest.

The 11 local agencies and the allocations each will receive are:

- Boy Scouts $6,000
Girl Scouts 4,500
Veterans Memorial 2,200
Dental Fund 2,000
Police Youth Club 1,500
Symphony Society 2,000
Cancer Foundation 3,683
Red Cross 4,200
Senior Citizens 520
Salvation Army 8,500

The 22 Red Feather agencies — on a statewide level — will receive a total of $5,647, since the 1962 goal was achieved. The Board of Directors had set aside $1,800 for the cost of campaign supplies and administrative expenses.

Interestingly, two other local agencies will be given support during 1963, but were not included in the recently-concluded Community Fund campaign here.

Support of a YMCA program and a family service branch office in Plymouth was approved last fall by the Community Chest's Board of Directors. An allocation of $12,000 will come from surplus Fund monies. The YMCA was granted $4,000 while the family service program will be allowed up to $8,000.

Last week, the first of at least two evaluation meetings was held pertaining to the 1962 drive. Barbour, along with general campaign chairman Albert Glassford, members of the Board of Directors and divisional chairman attended the informal gathering.

"The purpose of the meetings is to iron out rough spots in the campaign for next year," said Barbour, president of the Community Chest.

He said that a second meeting will be held in the near future and that a final tabulation on the exact amount of 1962 contributions would be forthcoming soon.

Thunderbird Inn To Reopen Soon

Papers have been signed for the sale of Thunderbird Inn to John Carlo and Arthur Kobierzyński of Northville and John Klein of Detroit.

As soon as all legal details presently surrounding the property are cleared through the courts, Plymouth will boast another fine dining establishment.

The Inn, which has been closed since the death of its former owner, will be completely renovated and redecorated and the grounds will be completely landscaped. Opening is planned for sometime in December with a formal opening celebration in January.

The three new owners are not new to this kind of an operation each having a wide background of experience. Carlo, a businessman of many facets, is best known here for his operation of Northville Downs and is well acquainted with this locality and many of the people of the area. Associated with him are Kobierzyński of Northville, an accountant and owner of Livernois Inn in Detroit, and Klein, former operator of Lone Pine Inn on Six Mile road, now Danny's, and the Taboo Lounge on Seven Mile road. Klein intends soon to make his home in Plymouth.

Complete details concerning the opening will be announced as soon as current legal problems can be resolved, Carlo said.

Announce Later Store Hours

Nearly two dozen Plymouth retail stores will start remaining open each night until 9 p.m. beginning Nov. 30 as an extra convenience to local Christmas shoppers. Virtually all of the local stores will be open later beginning Dec. 7, it has been announced.

Stores that will remain open from 9 to 9 beginning Nov. 30 include: Fisher's, Sharrard's, Kresge's, Photographic Center, Beiter's Famous Men's Wear, D & C Store, Dodge's, Minerva's, Davis & Leni, Agnew's, Plymouth Office Supply, Singer Sewing, Melody House, Plymouth Hardware, Hugh Jarvis Gifts, Bonnie Discount, Early American Shop.

Stores that will be open until 9 p.m. starting Dec. 6 are: Kade's, Dunning's, Bluford's, Schrader Furniture, Cassidy's, Carl Caplin Clothes, Graham's, Western Auto, Hubbs & Gilles, Better Homes.

2nd 'Adventure' Lecture Nov. 24

Ben Carlin will present the lecture and film, "Around the World by Sea-Going Jeep" at 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 24, 1962 at the Plymouth Junior High School East. (It is the second in the current Travel and Adventure series, sponsored by the Plymouth Lions Club.)

Carlin tells a fantastic story of an epic feat of transportation with an amphibious jeep which was used to cross two oceans and four continents.

How this was achieved is an almost incredible tale of ingenuity and raw courage, always the stuff of pure adventure.

The jeep, named "Half-Safe", was a surplus Army vehicle, purchased in the United States and modified at Annapolis as an amphibious vehicle.

It was then taken to Montreal, where the adventure and story begins. During the following eight years, the jeep was used to cover 9,400 nautical miles and 35,000 miles over land; from Montreal to London and back to Montreal via Calcutta and Tokyo.

Those who will attend his lecture will be fascinated, not only by the story that Carlin has to tell, but also by the fact that he is the only one who has accomplished this remarkable singlehanded feat.

Carlin, a unique and rare personality, was born and educated in Perth, Australia. He studied Law and Mining Engineering and for three years, following graduation from the Kaigoorlie School of Mines, he worked as an engineer in the Australian gold fields.

Just prior to World War II, he was employed in the same capacity in the coal mines of North China.

During the war, he was

Message of Thanksgiving

BY REV. R. NEWMAN RAYCROFT, Pastor, CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE, 41550 E. Ann Arbor Tr.

The Feast of Tabernacles in the Old Testament of the Holy Scriptures was, no doubt, the beginning of the Thanksgiving celebration. It lasted for a week, was held in the autumn and was an occasion of thanksgiving to God for His bountiful provision.

In North American history, the first Thanksgiving Day was held in Newfoundland in 1578 by an English minister named Wollfall. Another was held in Maine in 1607, and in 1621 the Christian Pilgrim Fathers held another.

They deemed it fitting and proper to suspend their autumn labors to express their sincere and heartfelt gratitude to Almighty God for the bountiful yield of the soil in their new found homeland. It was, however, a dynamic woman named Sarah Hale who really made this nation feel that it ought to take time out every year to give thanks to Almighty God for His generous provisions.

Her appeals moved President Lincoln to declare a national and annual Thanksgiving Day.

Surely, if any people in the world ought to be thankful, it is the people of the United States. Copious provisions have been our constant lot. When we see the conditions of spiritual darkness and physical poverty under which people of many nations live, we should be ashamed to ever complain again.

Genuine gratitude is a self-rewarding virtue. Nothing brightens life — our own and others — as much as a genuine spirit of thanksgiving. A smile costs less than a frown and uses fewer muscles. Real thanksgiving has much to do with human relations.

Sometime ago the Christian Herald told the story of a medical student and his patient. A man was brought into McGill University Hospital in the city of Montreal. His life was saved by blood transfusion. When the patient was well again he asked, "Isn't there any way I can discover the name of the blood donor and thank him?" He was told that the names of donors were never divulged. A few weeks later he came back to the hospital to give a pint of his own blood.

Since then he has returned frequently for the same purpose. When one of the surgeons commented on this splendid anonymous service he simply replied, "Someone I never knew did it for me. I'm just saying, 'Thanks.'"

All of us have something to be thankful for. The father of the sainted and revered John Wesley, seeing his home and all earthly possessions go up in smoke, was full of thanksgiving to God that his wife and children were spared.

In most cases it is upon the small and seemingly unimportant things of life that the spirit of true gratefulness shines the most. Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, after those horrible days of hunger and thirst while helplessly adrift on the vast expanse of the Pacific, said: "If you have fresh water to drink and food to eat, you ought never to complain."

Written Permit Required Now To Burn Trash

City residents from now on must obtain a written permit from the fire department before burning rubbish or leaves here, stated deputy City fire chief Charles Groth this week.

Previously, only verbal permission was required. Groth said the move is simply a more strict enforcement of a city ordinance that has been on the books for some time.

Residents wishing to burn rubbish must now appear in person at the Fire Department headquarters, 185 East Spring St., and make formal application for permission.

Groth said the enforcement pertains to the burning of leaves as well as other trash and rubbish. He added, however, that leaf-burning in the City is unnecessary, since the DPW will pick up leaves upon request from the resident.

In fact, Groth said, the fire department is attempting to discourage leaf-burning here although it is permitted if the resident obtains written authorization from the Fire Department.

He said, instead, that the DPW leaf pick-up service should be used.

WCTS Land Sought For Water Tank

City officials, striving to obtain the most favorable site on Beck Rd. for a proposed 3-million-gallon water reservoir, met Monday afternoon with Wayne County representatives to discuss further a possible two-acre location on Wayne County Training School grounds here.

Four weeks ago, City of Plymouth obtained an option on an alternate site comprised of three acres and owned by a five-man group of Detroiters.

The eventual site, whichever of the two is selected, will be along Beck Rd. between Five and Six Mile Rds. (Continued on page 3)

Nominating Petitions Are Available Now

Nominating petitions for candidates seeking office in Plymouth City or Township may be obtained from the Clerks of either of the two governing bodies.

Filing deadline is Dec. 31 at 4 p.m. Between 25 and 50 signatures of registered City electors are required on City nominating petitions, while between 40 and 155 signatures of Township electors are necessary on petitions there.

A primary will be conducted in February and the Biennial Spring Election next April will determine the new office-holders.

NEWLY-APPOINTED members of the Municipal Building Authority are these five men, who will oversee the proposed new City Hall here, providing a federal grant of approximately $250,000 is approved. Matching funds from the City itself will cover the remainder of the $518,000 total estimated cost of constructing the municipal structure. From left: Joseph Near, David Mather, Everett Burmester, Louis Borregard and Harold Guenther. The latter is chairman of the newly-formed body, while Borregard is treasurer and Near is secretary.

TENTATIVE FRIENDSHIP (see Page 1) was struck up last week between 10-month-old Jeff O'Neil and a 30-pound Tom turkey at the Gottschalk turkey farm on N. Territorial. Helping with the introductions was Lloyd Sharland, who manages the farm. While Lloyd and Jeff undoubtedly will remain pals, the acquaintance with the turkey will cease abruptly when Tom makes its way to someone's Thanksgiving dinner table T h u r s d a y. Meanwhile, the Gottschalk farm, stocked with some 1,900 turkeys recently, was selling the birds just as it has for the past quarter century. Most of the 1,900 will be gone by Christmas time, Sharland said.

Accountant Firm Addition to Have Colonial Lines

Another business place in the near-Downtown Plymouth area will take on a more colonial appearance shortly.

Work is already underway on construction of a 600-square-foot addition to the Sutherland & Robson accounting firm buildings at 1095 S. Main.

Cedar shaking shingling and red brick will give the building a distinct colonial theme.

Donald Sutherland, partner in the firm, said the addition will provide office space for another staff accountant, Earl Weisinger, a recent graduate of Cleary College in Ypsilanti.

Sutherland said that the addition will also offer greater work space for the eight employees the firm now has. The expansion should be completed shortly after the first of the year.

Hoyt Mills is general contractor.

Sutherland founded the business by himself in 1948 and formed a partnership four years later. The firm has an office in Wayne.

Rotarians Host Sixteen Teachers At Meeting Friday

Plymouth's Rotary Club, in a meeting coinciding with the conclusion of American Education Week, hosted 16 teachers from the public school system here last Friday noon at the regular Rotary Club meeting in the Hotel Mayflower.

Three of the teachers gave brief remarks on their learning experiences this past summer.

Elizabeth McDonald, a Senior High English and journalism instructor, spoke about her summer studies at Syracuse University. She attended Syracuse on a special journalism fellowship.

Donald Helm and Fred Meier, both science instructors, described their experiences as recipients of special science fellowships last summer.

Helm attended the University of Wisconsin while Meier was with General Motors in the scientific laboratory at Chevrolet Spring & Bumper plant in Livonia and at the GM Technical Center in Warren, Mich.

Robert Smith, assistant principal of the Senior High, introduced the three teachers.

Rotarians Donald Sutherland and Urey Arnold handled arrangements for the meeting.

A Rotarian spokesman said later: "The Plymouth Rotary Club is even more aware now that these three — and others — are not only 'teaching' teachers, but 'learning' teachers as well."

Architect Defends New 1st Federal Bldg.

November 12. It is doubtful as to whether or not the bit of diarrhea appearing in the November 7 edition of your newspaper entitled, "Architect calls Library Brick Box, New First Federal Building, Massive Pile," really merits an answer. We make no comment on the library nor the new city hall since they are none of our affair.

We must, however, rise to the defense of the new First Federal Building, much in the same painful manner as a fighter who has just been dealt a foul blow.

As for our Colonial forebears, history tells us that Georgian American Architecture, was an effort on the part of the Colonial builders to reproduce the English Renaissance of the mother country with the materials to be found in the new land. So you see Colonial architecture was a development rather than a vigorous and imaginative spontaneous invention.

May we in all sincerity ask:

Since when has it been wrong to follow the culture and precedent of history especially when it is beautiful?

Since when has it been wrong for a modern symphony orchestra with its improved instruments, to devote hours in practice, in order to beautifully render the compositions of the old masters?

Since when has it been wrong for a theatrical troupe to produce Macbeth or Julius Caesar in perfect acoustical surroundings aided by lighting effects that are way beyond the fondest imaginations of the immortal bard of Avon?

To throw away the lessons and culture of a past day is the sheerest madness.

As for contemporary architecture, there is nothing the matter with it, albeit that for the average building problem it only shows about one percent vigorous imagination, the other ninety-nine about being the ability to assemble the standard parts produced by the manufacturers. This is all right if both the designer and the owner are happy and satisfied. Surely they are all nice people and we grant them their share of the landscape to build upon.

However, there is an increasing number among us who love the classical background of history, particularly as exemplified in Early American Architecture. We see no reason why in certain instances, it may not be adapted to solving today's building problems, so long as the result is beautiful.

To be sure the new First Federal building with its design inspired by the early architecture of the Colonies, will be provided with telephones, cooling equipment, inside plumbing, electric lights, as well as the most up-to-the-minute whirring accounting machines that genius has yet been able to devise. These things will all be these to the same extent that they may be found in the most modern flat-roofed, glass-box building.

We feel we should be allowed to build upon a part of the landscape, because we are nice people too.

Yours very truly,

"Prayer for Our Country" will be the theme of the sermon by Pastor Norman W. Berg. The Senior Choir, under the direction of Mr. Richard Scharf, will sing the anthem, "Praise Ye the Lord, All Ye Lands."

No classes will be held at the Lutheran Day School on Thursday or Friday of this week.

Water Tank

The two under consideration are virtually adjacent to each other.

Attending the Monday afternoon meeting in the City-County building in Detroit were Mayor Robert Sincok, City Manager Albert Glassford, City Attorney Edward Draugelis and the City's appointed member to the Wayne County Board of Supervisors, Arch Vallier.

County authorities on hand included members of the Board of Auditors and a representative from the Wayne County prosecutor's office.

The matter of obtaining a creage at the Training School here has been on the planning tables for more than two months, but at one time appeared to have been a dead end proposition.

More recently, however, it was revived by a personal letter from Sincok to the Board of Supervisors. Interestingly, Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay helped in bringing the matter up for reconsideration.

The topic had been referred to the county's Surplus Property Committee, which in turn sought the advice of the county's Sewer and Water committee.

Lindsay, a member of the latter special group, voted in favor of the City's request and indicated that City of Plymouth's plans to erect a reservoir here posed no interference with Detroit's future plans for a greatly expanded water supply system in western Wayne County.

The Monday meeting was intended to lay the groundwork for a lease of the two-acre site by City of Plymouth from the county.

Brief report on the talks was expected to be made at the commission's regular meeting Monday night as part of a rather routine agenda. In their regular session Monday night, Commissioners were expected to appoint George Bauer, Carroll Porter and Ezra Rotnour to the Planning Commission for terms that expire in November, 1965.

Other matters pertained to second and third readings of an amendment to a present Tree Ordinance, plus first reading of an amendment to the City's zoning ordinance. Included in the latter is the addition of a new PR-2 category, which has not previously been among the zoning districts here.

Other matters on the agenda were to be of routine nature.

Fun, Gaiety Prevail at Guild

Rehearsals for 'Mighty Man'

An atmosphere of gaiety and fun prevails these evenings in the High School auditorium where rehearsals are underway for the Theatre Guild's "A Mighty Man Is He."

Clever lines, laced with subtle overtones and gay innuendo, set a fast pace in this sophisticated, adult comedy. The action of the plot revolves around three women, all seeking the affections of the "Mighty Man." One of the women is his wife.

As rehearsals progress, each of the actors and actresses is concentrating on putting the final polish on their respective characterizations. Kay Hall's portrayal of Barbara Smith, married to a peripatetic Lothario, comes through strongly as the distracted but loving wife who cunningly diverts the charming cheater's affections homeward.

It is her determination to get rid of the cooing pet that leads to a verbal free-for-all, no holds barred.

Phyllis Clyde, as characterized by Kathleen Dobbs, comes across as a calm, cool and collected divorcee who has all the answers until she finds she, too, has competition. Carol Carlson as Jennifer, the dumb blonde who isn't so dumb after all, is the spark that sets off all the explosions. And when the noise and confusion has died away, there is a clever, unexpected ending which should keep the audience chuckling all the way home.

"Mighty Man" is clever, sophisticated and strictly adult fare and will be presented Dec. 6, 7 and 8 in the Plymouth High School Auditorium by the Plymouth Theatre Guild. Tickets will soon go on sale and reserved seats will be available.

Witnesses to Meet Dec. 21-23 In Ann Arbor

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Plymouth congregation and 15 other congregations will meet in Ann Arbor for their semi-annual circuit assembly, Dec. 21-23, according to C. Carson Counce, local presiding minister.

"Spread the Word of Life" will be the theme of the convention. More than 20 ministers will speak on this theme and show it to be the responsibility of each and every Christian.

Supervising the convention will be Richard Krebs, Jr. of Dundee, convention manager, Robert W. Puster, circuit minister for the 16 congregations, and Nicholas Kovalak, Jr., district supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses in Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois.

Highlights of the convention will be the public discourse, "The Bible's Answer to our Problem of Survival," by Nicholas Kovalak, Jr., on Sunday, December 23.

"The purpose of the convention," said Mr. Counce, "is to make each delegate more aware of his Christian obligations and to assist him to more effectively fulfill them."

New Church to be Dedicated Sunday

The Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany, Five Mile Road, Northville Township will celebrate its Fifth Anniversary this Sunday with a service of dedication for their new church building beginning at 11 a.m.

Participating in the service will be Rev. Dr. Frank P. Madsen, President of the Lutheran Church in America, who will actually dedicate the new building, Mr. Robert F. Krasa, Secretary for Church Extension of the board of American Missions of the Lutheran Church in America will preach the sermon. Assisting in the service will be the pastor of the Epiphany Lutheran Church, the Rev. John W. Miller.

Completed in July of 1962, the church building stands as a tribute to the members of the congregation and the interest and help of the former United Lutheran Church of America (Now part of the Lutheran Church in America). Organized in November 1957 by the Rev. Charles E. Poland, the new congregation had a succession of church homes including the Veteran's Hall on Lilley Road, the former Seventh Day Adventist Church on Ann Arbor Trail, and the former Steven's Heating on Ann Arbor Road before permanently settling in its new building.

The congregation has maintained a small but consecrated membership until this past year when it began to grow. During the past six months alone the church school enrollment has doubled and the active membership has increased by nearly forty percent.

A JAPANESE MISSIONARY, who seven years ago stayed with Rev. and Mrs. Patrick Clifford here as part of his missionary training, returned to Plymouth briefly last week. He brought with him his wife and seven-month-old daughter. Akira Uchida, the missionary, is guest speaker at the Calvary Baptist Church's annual missionary Christmas banquet. Shown here, from left, are: Mrs. Fred Morris, president of the Ladies Missionary Society of the church; Mrs. Clifford; Rev. Clifford, pastor; Uchida with his daughter, Hichiti; and Mrs. Uchida, who was a school-teacher in Japan prior to her marriage. An offering was taken during the banquet last Tuesday. It will be divided among the church's 10 missionary families and several other church-supported charitable projects. Uchida, born in Canada, was the only boy in a family of 13 children. Five of the children are missionaries in Japan. It was in 1955 that he stayed briefly with Rev. and Mrs. Clifford and his visit here last week was his first since then.

Many years ago, when the City adopted its new charter, I was critical of a couple of items contained therein. Item one was the restrictive effect the section pertaining to providing so many parking spaces for each remodeling or new building planned for Plymouth might impose on future development here.

Item two was the limitation upon the number of terms of office our city commissioners might serve. It is this second restriction with which I am concerned today as well might be all of our local residents.

One of the most difficult things most municipalities are confronted with today, as are other areas of government, is that of convincing capable and qualified people to put their time and abilities on the block and seek public office. Almost 90 per cent of the best qualified people are reluctant to give of their time and effort in seeking or serving in any public office.

Plymouth city and township have both been fortunate in acquiring the services of highly competent people to serve in public office and it is with great concern, on my part, that we are faced with this peculiar charter restriction in the city that will keep four of our excellent commissioners from seeking re-election when their terms expire next spring.

The four dedicated commissioners whose services we will lose next spring are: Mayor Robert Sincock, Carl Shear, Marvin Terry and William Hartmann. It seems to me that it almost takes two terms in office for any public office holder to get a solid grip on the overall problems confronting such a civic body and by the time we have properly educated these people in all the complex facets of government, and made them truly well informed public servants, we stand by and kick them off the commission and forfeit their knowledge and judgment in favor of four neophytes.

Government has become a complex business in itself. The new fad of tempting government hand-outs being dangled in front of municipal bodies is a study and business in itself and the mere problems of administration have been relegated to the background in this rush to get there first, "to get the mostest 'cause if you don't your next door neighbor will".

I think Mayor Sincock will agree with me that during the last couple of years he has spent almost more time on this sort of thing than he actually has on administering city affairs, and who can blame him. Certainly if he didn't get our share of these enticing gratuities for Plymouth by putting forth these extra efforts we would scream, and loudly at that.

If ever there was a time when this city or any other city needed the services of seasoned capable public servants it is now, and to think we are losing four particularly honest and qualified public servants because of this ridiculous restriction, included in the charter in a time of bitter animosities within our city, it's time it should be changed and it should be changed now regardless of how difficult it may be or how much effort it would take to do it.

From down under... way down on the salt soaked, sand-burr strewn beach of New Smyrna, Florida we managed to get a rise out of a beloved old beach-comber who at one time was one of this municipality's best known citizens, sharpest tongued wits, philosopher and darned good electrician, Stanley (Sid) T. Corbett.

Prompted to jog my memory regarding the item I wrote a few weeks back concerning the Lansing visitation of local businessmen to have dinner with my father in the Capitol, the sage of New Smyrna has this to say:

"On reading your paragraph regarding the trip to Lansing to visit your father I would like to make the following corrections. The trip was the idea of druggist Stew Dodge and he spoke to me about getting together the fellows who ate regularly at the family table in the Hotel, where your father usually had lunch when home.

"At that time we had a busy secretary of Chamber of Commerce who heard about our little plan and decided to make a big production out of it. When Stew and I heard of this plan, which was so different from our intimate little group we had talked of, we both decided not to go so we didn't make the trip though it was our idea. We explained the reason to your father and he was satisfied. I do remember, however, that it was a rough hard journey and some of the Pilgrims had to resort to stimulants. I think you will find that the Governor was Frank Murphy who, as you know, was a teetotaler. I am not sure which your father disliked the most, Murphy or the stimulants."

I can't let the criticism of Plymouth's Colonial theme idea go un-noticed since my family must take credit for a lot of the efficient job of "brain-washing" we have done on local residents for the past several years. The idea first evolved in a column written for The Plymouth Mail many years ago by my father who felt the creation of an image such as Colonialization of our business community might help create a permanency of impression on visitors which might help spread the name and fame of Plymouth far and wide.

I suppose if Plymouth had retained its original name, Pekin, he might well have projected some oriental appearance or atmosphere for future exploration and symbolic of this community.

As a matter of fact perhaps many of our newer residents, including our Colonial critic, don't know that when Canton and Nankin were named, we also, for a short time, derived our village name from the orient. Fortunately our forefathers preferred something, which for my money is far more American, and we were honored by being named after the site of our founding fathers settlement of Plymouth, Massachusetts.

Apparently my father's idea gained much local support as is evidenced up and down our streets and throughout our entire community. I have no intention of entering into the argument provoked by our recent contributor but merely state I like the idea of Colonialization. I like the idea of an image in which all can one day participate. I like the idea of making this community outstanding because of its adoption of a theme, and its courage in trying to develop a oneness which could present a front for the world to see far different from the usual conglomeration of mixed design and detail.

Further, I like the impressiveness of our library, I am pleased with the appearance of Hillside, the Finlan Buildings and others, and also that of the Schrader Funeral Home across the street, and I can visualize the many advantages to and for this community if our total appearance was uniform in the warm, old, early American way that so impressively warms the inner most regions of your heart when you stroll the streets of Williamsburg, Virginia.

Our new First Federal building and our proposed City Hall will only further this truly American atmosphere and, though I personally might prefer a modern contemporary design, I foresee the tremendous value and import of such a program of future remodeling and building of Colonial buildings that I should gladly set aside any and all of my personal desires or impressions to help bring this into being.

My travelling secretary reminds me that I must have completely recovered, at this instance, from my ailment especially in view of the fact that I have kept these typewriter keys pounding much longer than is usually the case in putting together a column. Could be she is right, and also it might be that it just feels good to get back in the harness again, and time and length seemingly have lost their depth in my mind because of the fun of pounding out an extra word or two. And, in this respect, I have given no thought to the festive day which approaches or the significance for which it stands.

We are thankful for the success of our business and the breadth of its growth between this Thanksgiving and the last. We are thankful to be surrounded by such tried, true and faithful employees whose daily efforts bring our message to you each week. We are thankful for two such wonderful children who are so closely associated with us in our weekly efforts, and we must give thanks for the opportunity which provided the means to bring us together in our daily labors and life. And, we are thankful to serve in a community where the people are so wonderful and so understanding, where our merchants and industrialists are so cooperative and willing to be of service to the community in which they are located. Indeed it is a truly Plymouth Thanksgiving in the fullest tradition, and we hope and we pray that those blessings which are ours may encompass and surround each and everyone of you and that you may enjoy with us a most bountiful, reverent and humble Thanksgiving.

BY GEORGE SPELVIN

Pass the drum stick and don't beat on the table for more pumpkin pie. Thanksgiving, 1962, crowds in upon us before we can say, "Slide the cranberries down our way."

Time has a way of creeping up on you at the holiday season. Best resolution: plan now to order those theater tickets for the entertainment of friends and relatives soon destined to descend on you from all directions.

"Oliver," the London musical smasher, would be my No. 1 recommendation. Mr. Dave Merrick's production of this London musical comedy that has been freely adapted from the immortal "Oliver Twist" is presently playing at the Fisher for a three week engagement. A tremendous success on two continents, the show is now in its third year of its London stand.

The American production has been hailed with rave review in Los Angeles and Frisco where it has been playing to capacity audiences for the past 12 weeks.

This eye-filling production opened last Monday night to the loud hurrahs of all the local critics. Yes, even old George threw his battered Stetson high in the air. The Fisher has a genuine hit on its hands.

Clive Revill and Georgia Brown were fascinating in their respective roles of Fagin and Nancy Sykes. Songs, dances, and the entire production moved along at a delightful pace. You can count "Oliver" as a true triumph of the Detroit theatrical season.

Make every effort to see this musical comedy before it settles in New York for at least a two year run at the Imperial theater.

For an adventure in the world of the avant-garde drama you might want to visit the Stables Coffeehouse theater located in the basement of the Earle Hotel at 22 Charlotte street in downtown Detroit.

Merely to try and find the theater is a real adventure. "The Apple," a Jack Gelber comedy, is the play being performed on Thursdays, Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8:30.

Audience sits at card tables and is allowed to smoke, sip coffee, and chew home-baked rolls while watching the comic antics of a most competent group of actors perform.

The entrance fee is under two dollars. "The Apple," a wit on-the-rocks, played off-Broadway for an entire season. The N.Y. Critics shouted its praises so loudly that folks from uptown gladly descended to Greenwich Village to see this provocative comedy that comments caustically on life in our times.

A few blocks down Woodward Ave. and over to the east on Columbia Ave. the Vanguard theater has raised the curtain on "The Egg." This play similar to "The Apple" comments critically in a most hilarious fashion about our middle-class society and the rules of the system.

The play's hero in "The Egg" is poor, wistful and young. Emile yearns to crack the shell of "the egg" as he calls middle class society.

Emile's adventures provide a wonderfully funny evening as you vicariously watch him fight against the conventions of society. In episodic vaudeville style you see this timid soul doing his best to beat the system. Hardly sounds like an evening of frivolity, but let me assure you that the Vanguard company plays the show for the fun angle.

For through all the racy lines and laughter you do get the worthwhile message. "The Egg" will be at the Vanguard for a month. As with "Three Penny Opera" Vanguard is continuing to sell out the weekends. Get your ticket orders in early.

Same advice can be said for the coming Plymouth Theater Guild production of "Mighty Man Is He". Jake Rumpf, the director, indicates that he has a full cast of 15 in a night, re-furbishing those wild, wicked, comic lines found in such great profusion in this adult comedy.

The Guild has secured the services of some mighty talented folk for their opening winter production. Kay Hall, Kathleen Dobbs, Jane Dobies, and Carol Carlson shoulder the major share of the play's comic situations. E. V. Sparks, a charter member of the Guild, has been tempted back after an absence of two years to play the quietly humorous role of the butler in this sizzling farce.

"Mighty Man" hits the boards during the first week of December.

The Campus Theater in Ann Arbor features "Boccaccio 70" for the next two weeks. This is the all-color Italian spectacular with those petite, sultry sirens (Anita Eberg, Sophia Loren, Romy Schneider) in three stories based on the ancient ribald classic.

"Boccaccio 70" has been breaking box office records during the past year. Call NO 8-6416 for exact starting times of this special feature. Miss Grandberg, the state manager, has booked an exciting Spanish picture to follow "Boccaccio." I'll keep you posted as to its subject matter and date of showing. It's a must-see film.

THE BILLBOARD

Vanguard Theater "THE EGG" A thoughtful comedy about how to play the grim game of life. Nightly for the next month at 8:30 p.m.

Principals Suggest Inter-Com System For Schools Here

The Board of Education — in its regular meeting last week — took under consideration a suggestion from six school principals that an inter-communication system be installed in the elementary schools here.

The added communications method, said the principals, would be useful, not only for teaching purposes at certain times, but also as a means of speedily issuing directions for evacuation and safety instructions during a disaster.

"The utilization of a communicating device is, at this time, a major reason for the request that such a system be installed in each elementary school," said the principals, in a special report to School Board members.

Total cost of the project is estimated at between $6,000 and $7,000.

The principals asked "earnest consideration" of the proposal by Board members, who took the matter under advisement.

At the same time, Schools Superintendent Russell Isbister reported that the School District is currently devising a complete evacuation and dispersal program.

Under it, he said, students at all schools who live within approximately 12 minutes walking time of their respective school will walk home. Youngsters who live further than 12 minutes walking time will have prior arrangement for them to seek shelter in the home of a nearby resident.

No official action was taken on either matter by Board members.

SPORTSEEN

BY JEROME O'NEIL

Bits of unrelated facts...and some not so factual: Ken Calhoun, a three-sport athlete in his days at Plymouth High, is now head football coach at Ridgefarm (Ill.) High School, near Champagne-Urbana and the University of Illinois.

He has directed the Ridgefarm Redbirds to a particularly enviable grid record in his first season as head coach there.

Described as "The finest small high school football team" in that part of Illinois, Ridgefarm — under the tutelage of Calhoun — raced undefeated and untied through an eight-game schedule this fall.

The Redbirds allowed no more than 13 points to be scored against them in any single game. This type of sturdy defense led Ridgefarm to its fourth East Central Conference Championship in six years.

In the past three years — this one under Calhoun — the Redbirds have racked up an astonishing record of 22 wins against only two defeats.

Undoubtedly, Ken learned his fundamentals well under Plymouth grid coach Mike Hoben.

A 1957 graduate of Plymouth, Calhoun was fullback, team captain and MVP on the Rocks 1966 grid squad. He was just as talented on the basketball court where, as a forward, his fall-away jump shot was among the best in the Suburban Six league at the time.

As a baseball player, Calhoun did equally well. He was elected MVP in his senior year here and was elected MVP by his team-mates that same season. He played the infield.

After graduating from college in 1961, Calhoun joined the Ridgefarm faculty and was assistant football coach there a year ago and was appointed head coach at the start of this season.

(Ha! We stole a page out of Ed Brown's "Mystery Man" series.)

Charlie Ketterer, who dabbles in insurance on the side, is a fundamentalist in his own right as head basketball coach at Plymouth High.

After serving a three-year tour as varsity cage coach of the Rocks in the mid-1950's, Charlie gave up the post to Jim Doyle for four seasons and returned to the task at the start of the 1961-62 campaign.

This year, he once again is in full stride.

All of which is a lengthy introduction to a behind-the-scenes happening between the Mail's photographer and Charlie the other day.

The photographer was on hand at the tail-end of a varsity work-out last week and witnessed Charlie demonstrating the proper method for a center to bounce-pass to a breaking forward.

It was rather amusing, since Charlie (at 5-foot-6) was acting the role of the center and 6-foot-3 Dave Jensen (presumably starter at the pivot spot for the Rocks, once the season begins) was observing and guarding Ketterer.

(Maybe we can get away with this, since the photographer faithfully pays the premiums on the policy Ketterer sold him.)

At any rate, the cameraman posed the scene later and took two shots. In each instance, Ketterer passed off to a breaking forward with Jensen attempting to guard against the play.

The first shot is shown elsewhere on this page. The other one found Jensen and Ketterer doing a little head-bumping of their own as Jensen pressed close, guarding his coach. It's shown above.

We present the latter shot here in the event you're interested in what Jensen's paint looks like.

In other brief matters, Chris Burghardt — manager of Hilltop — said the other day that he is contemplating some kind of a winter golf session, and will keep Hilltop open throughout the cold months.

He said he had in mind a "New Year's Day" tourney on Jan. 1. It was suggested that perhaps the turn-out would be rather slight, not so much due to the cold weather but for other reasons.

He returned with the observation that maybe it would go over well on Jan. 1, because "that might be the day that a lot of golfers could use the fresh air."

It did seem to make sense, after all.

Coach Stresses Fundamentals

A STICKLER for fundamentals is Plymouth's varsity basketball coach, Charlie Ketterer, who is stressing the basics of the game these days in pre-season practice sessions at the senior high gymnasium.

The Rocks have less than two weeks to wrap up their pre-season training schedule as the inaugural Nov. 30 with visiting Ypsilanti fast approaches.

KETTERER, in his second year as varsity cage coach after a four-year lay-off from the same post, is shown here demonstrating a proper pass from center to a fast-breaking forward.

The two players are 6-foot-3 Dave Jensen, a senior who saw limited duty last year on the varsity, and Bob Steele, a guard who is also a senior and who also saw a limited amount of action during last year's cage campaign. Steele (at right) was filling in at a forward slot for the photo.

THERE WERE 24 sophomores on Ketterer's roster at first practice two weeks ago and since then he has trimmed the varsity contingent to 18. He intends to dress 15 players for the varsity games.

Meanwhile, junior varsity coach Dick Bearup is conducting similar training sessions with his JayVee candidates, most of them sophomores.

THE JAYVEES, a year ago, posted a 7-win, 8-loss mark, while the varsity over the course of 1961-62 fashioned an overall record of 8-3. Ketterer has hopes of improving the Rocks' fifth-place Suburban Six league finish of a year ago.

After the opener with Ypsi on Nov. 30, Plymouth has two other non-conference contests before entering league action.

Swimmers Wary of 3 Of First 4 Opponents

Brief time trials early in the pre-season training program and full-fledged ones last week moved swim coach John McFall closer to his final varsity roster this week as the opener with Lincoln Park looms.

McFall will retain 24 swimmers on the varsity list, with the remainder of the 60 candidates that showed up for initial practice to be transferred to the JayVee team.

Among his 60 hopefuls, McFall welcomed 12 returning lettermen, all of whom were instrumental in leading Plymouth to an 11-4 dual meet record and second place in the Suburban Six championship meet a year ago.

The Rocks have been in practice for slightly more than two weeks now in anticipation of the forth-coming campaign.

Plymouth will unveil its current swimming contingent Nov. 29 — 10 days from now — when Lincoln Park, predicted to be a tough opponent, invades the Rocks' big pool in the Senior High here.

Among the returning letterwinners is Gary Gould, a sprinter, and Mark Schulteis a diver. The two will also share the duties of co-captains of the varsity this winter.

McFall, in his 11th year as head swim coach at Plymouth, can look back on an impressive record. Plymouth teams have posted 86 victories in 130 contests for a winning percentage of .767.

But McFall this week is far from resting on past accomplishments.

Concerned over the considerable strength of three of Plymouth's first four opponents, McFall has pushed his candidates hard through fundamental drills, sprints and distance trials.

The exacting time trials of last week will enable him shortly to announce a varsity roster for Plymouth's 16 dual meets this year.

Following the Lincoln Park opener Nov. 29, Plymouth takes on ambitious Birmingham, the school that shared the state Class A swimming crown a year ago. It also has most of its team back again for this season.

Birmingham is followed by a test against Redford Union, first league school to confront the Rocks on their new campaign. It may prove to be somewhat of a breather after the Parkers and Birmingham.

The fourth clash on the schedule is a test with Ann Arbor High, which was third in the Class A state meet last spring. Ann Arbor, too, says McFall, has most of its first team back this winter.

Changes in the swim schedule were announced by athletic director John Sandmann recently. The state meet will be March 15 and 16, instead of March 8 and 9 as originally intended. It will be held at MSU in East Lansing.

The league meet is March 8 and 9 at Allen Park, instead of March 1 and 2. The Rocks' final dual meet is Feb. 28 with Trenton. It originally was scheduled for Feb. 26.

Elsewhere, Jim Stevens, active in the recreation tennis program here in recent years and a member of the teaching faculty at Junior High East, has been named as assistant swimming coach in charge of the Junior High swim program.

Boys vs. Girls In Firemen's Cage Contest

It'll be the "girls against the boys" on the basketball court at Plymouth High School the evening of Dec. 6.

Occasion is the Plymouth Firemen Association's fundraising basketball game between Hazel Walker's Arkansas Travellers, a professional all-girls team, and the Plymouth All-Stars.

The local all-star squad will be comprised of current and former male basketball players, selected by the firemen.

Game time is 8 p.m., according to Charles Groth, deputy city fire chief.

Proceeds from the event will go toward the Firemen Association's uniform fund Groth said.

Tickets to the game are available now from any City or Township fireman and at the various fire stations. Tickets are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for students.

The Professor Says...

By Ed Brown

Another Thanksgiving is upon us. Do you have something you should be especially thankful for this year? Think everyone should have I know I have many reasons why I should express my thanks tomorrow.

During the holiday seasons of Thanksgiving and Christmas people become more expressive of personal feelings and enter into a spirit of good samaritan deeds.

An appropriate story for this time of year came to my attention this past week, and one I think worthy of relating to you in this column. It's one of continual thoughtfulness for others rather than a seasonal feeling.

A local lad who graduated from PHS in 1953, and who played a "whale" of a game of football while in school, has been busy since that time helping younger less-fortunate boys become adjusted to life.

This husky young man was an all-suburban choice at guard in football and received several all-state mentions at that position. He also tossed the shotgun as a member of the track team.

The self-giving young man above is Jerry Vettese. I'll now print a copy of a report I received from one of Jerry's many friends.

"Have you ever stopped and wondered what kind of a person you might have been without the help of your mother and father? How many times did you call on them for help of some kind or other?"

"I'll bet it was your dad who first explained the game of baseball or football to you. And you probably still remember the good time when he took you to see your first game. How about the times your mother had you helping her out in the kitchen when she did some baking or canning, and how she always managed to take care of all your cuts and bruises.

"Most parents today want their children to have better conditions than they had when they were children. Everyone wants this, but it doesn't always turn out that way.

"What would you have done if your parents weren't around? Who would have stepped in and taken their place? Who would have seen to it that you grew up knowing right from wrong?"

"Well there is a group of swell kids who are trying to find these answers and more. The same years that we tell our youngsters are the happiest in their lives, these kids will grow up trying to forget about their younger years. The same years that educators claim children form habits and ideas that shape their future, their childhoods aren't going to be filled with happy memories.

"I'm sure you will agree that they aren't mentally mature enough to cope with life problems at their age, and you will probably also agree that they shouldn't serve out the punishment for circumstances they weren't responsible for.

"I'm certain that if we asked for donations to feed, clothe, and provide shelter for them, you would contribute generously, but would you give as generously of yourself to provide what these children really need? Someone to care, to love, and to be a companion. Would you be willing to give a little understanding when they are bewildered? To give a little hope when they are filled with doubts and despair?"

"A little confidence when they are lost? Or a little love when they are alone?"

"These are the ingredients that you need to help grow up into a well-adjusted adult. The times haven't changed just how much of a problem would it be to make room for another boy in your home? Compare your childhood of happy memories with that of one filled with boring routine. Childhoods are a time of exploration and learning, not routine and drill.

"The proper environment for youngsters is so important in their development, that institutions are willing to contribute a weekly sum to board youngsters in your home. Wouldn't you like to lend a helping hand to some deserving youngster and see that he gets a chance to grow up under proper environment? Let's not just think it is a good idea and leave it to our neighbors. But for the Grace of God this could have been your future and your life we are now concerned with."

(Note) Mr. Vettese has been bringing young boys out from an orphanage in Detroit weekends to the farm for hunting, fun and campouts. He has spent much money taking these youngsters to professional and college football games, baseball and hockey contests, and various other places of entertainment. He is very much interested in securing boarding places for these boys. If anyone is interested contact Jerry by calling GL 3-4084.

It's a New Baby, New House for The Hugh Jarvis

Everything will be new for the Hugh Jarvis family this Thanksgiving. Owners of the popular Hugh Jarvis Gift Shop on Ann Arbor Trail the Jarvis' father, mother and newly arrived six week old son Robert Charles, will carve the festive turkey for the first time in their new home at 1433 Palmer street.

Moving day last week was a truly exciting one for this family. As boxes were being unpacked in their first real home of their own, just completed by local builder Bud Gould, a long distance call arrived from the Cradle at Evanston, Illinois informing them that their new six week old son was ready to move to Plymouth along with his adopted parents.

Naturally unpacking stopped, and Robert Charles was whisked from Evanston to Plymouth where mother, who resigned last week from the dietetic staff of the University Hospital, undertook the preparation of unfamiliar formulas and calorie combinations not encountered in her former daily routine.

It truly will be a magnificent Thanksgiving for this family with mother becoming a full time housewife, a brand new house, a brand new son and dad ... well, he's been reading up on how to bake and carve a turkey.

Familiar Faces

Very much at home in the City Hall building is Mrs. Everett Salow, of 38000 Schoolcraft, secretary for the past ten years to Albert Glasford, city manager.

Prior to her secretarial duties with Mr. Glasford, Mrs. Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wickstrom of 13010 Dunn Ct., more commonly known as Linnea, was a bookkeeper for the City of Plymouth for 10 years.

Born in Flint, Linnea moved to Plymouth in 1938. A graduate of Plymouth High School, she finds music her main source of relaxation. When not listening to her particular favorites — semi-classical and show tunes, she's apt to be playing the piano at the Kiwanis meeting or singing at a church service, wedding or funeral.

Other hobbies for Linnea include reading biographies, canning and freezing produce grown by her husband in their garden, or boating on local lakes in their boats.

Although she prefers the color blue, she said she likes to wear red now and then to "brighten things up."

She is a member of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church, in Plymouth.

The market, hearing of "an old fashioned Christmas" theme, will be held in Northville in the Northville Community Hall, located on Main St., from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Robert St. John Urges:

Discuss Foreign Policy Publicly

Speaking before a sea of mink, with touches of black fox and leopard scattered here and there, Robert St. John, American foreign correspondent, delivered a stirring speech on the "Crisis in the Middle East," at the second lecture in the Northville Town Hall Series, held last Thursday.

Author of 15 books, including biographies on Nasser, Ben Gurion and King Saudi, Mr. St. John, with a shy, yet magnetic and penetrating force, rapped U.S. government officials for America's "non-partisan lack of foreign policy." He asked why leaders of feudal, corrupt and primitive countries, such as King Saud, of Saudi Arabia, are given the Red Carpet treatment every time they visit Washington.

He blamed the real basis for the Middle East crisis on the feudalism and poverty in the area, the fragmentation of government, the constant state of war, and the morality of the great powers.

United States helps to perpetuate the crisis by sending arms to forces on both sides of fence, the speaker added.

The American public was chided by Mr. St. John for not pinning down their representatives in the U.S. Congress on their feelings toward foreign policy, prior to electing them to office. Feelings of all congressmen on foreign policy should be made public, not kept secret or avoided, as is done in totalitarian governments, he added.

The "Plan for a Solution to the Middle East Crisis, according to St. John," involved the following six steps: 1) America should give no more aid of any kind until the Middle East agrees to certain conditions. 2) They must recognize the State of Israel. 3) They must set up a peace conference with Israel. 4) They must come to agreement on refugees, frontiers, etc. at the conference. 5) They must guarantee these agreements on frontiers. 6) Complete and absolute disarmament.

Mr. St. John urged everyone attending the lecture to make what ever alterations they saw fit to his plan for solution and to write their congressman, giving their own plan, plus asking their congressman to let them know of his own feelings toward foreign policy.

Following a "Celebrity Luncheon" at Lofy's after the lecture, Mr. St. John answered questions, submitted to him by those present.

His ire was aroused by questions chiding him for not living in the U.S. In explaining that he was a foreign correspondent, and because of that, he could not possibly live in the U.S. and cover foreign events, he mentioned a fellow foreign correspondent, who also makes his headquarters overseas, David Nichol, son of Mrs. Walter Nichol, of 985 Church St., in Plymouth. He referred to Mr. Nichol as one of his favorite newspapermen, who is also a very good reporter.

In answer to a question on the effectiveness of the Peace Corps, Mr. St. John termed it the finest step to date in international relations.

He said people in Africa and the Middle East are tired of having countries give something to them (they consider it exploitation) or doing things for them (they consider it charity). They, like all other people, want to be independent with human dignity, he said.

In answer to still more questions, the speaker said America must stop acting so scared of its principles. We are a giant country now, he said, and should start acting out age.

In a private interview with The Plymouth Mail, Mr. St. John, in response to a question on G. Mennen Williams' effectiveness in Africa, said that Mr. Williams' controversial statement "Africa for the Africans" was the first true appraisal in foreign policy in 10 years. The consequential results only proved the great power of influence that the colonial powers have on Washington, he added.

Mrs. Carl F. Berry

JUDITH ANN TROMBLEY, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen J. Trombley, of Escanaba, became the bride of Carl Frederick Berry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Berry, of 14323 Shadywood, Plymouth, in a double ring ceremony in St. Patrick's Church, Escanaba, on Oct. 13.

Local Police Officer Carl F. Berry Weds Escanaba Girl

A double ring ceremony in St. Patrick's Church, Escanaba, on Saturday, Oct. 13, united Miss Judith Ann Trombley and Carl Frederick Berry in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen J. Trombley, of Escanaba, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Berry, of 14323 Shadywood, Plymouth.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white peau de soie taffeta, highlighted by Venetian lace trim on the skirt and bodice. It was fashioned with an oval neckline, long tapered sleeves and a draped bodice. The softly pleated dome skirt was detailed with a long back bow. Her elbow length silk illusion veil was held in place by a crown of seed and tear drop pearls. She carried a bouquet of white feathered carnations, centered with a white-orchid and trailing ivy.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was her sister, Joyce Ann Trombley, who wore a teal blue Montego satin sheath gown with detachable Bell overskirt. Misses Ellen Young, of Escanaba, and Elaine Barry, sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaids, wore gowns identical to the maid of honor's. The attendants all wore matching pill-box headpieces and carried cascade bouquets of yellow and white mums.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Richard Vande Wiele, cousin of the bride, from Escanaba. Groomsmen were James Pearce of K.I. Sawyer AFB and Carl Glasford, of Plymouth, and John Vande Wiele, cousin of the bride, from Escanaba, and Raymond Collins, of K.I. Sawyer AFB, seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Trombley chose a plum colored sheath with matching accessories. Mrs. Berry wore a light gray jacket sheath with darker gray accessories.

Following a reception in the Eagles Club, Escanaba, for about 150 guests from Plymouth, Garden City, Dearborn, Marquette, Gladstone and Waukesha, Wis., the couple left on their honeymoon trip through lower Michigan.

The bride wore a teal wool suit with matching accessories when she left on her wedding trip.

The couple are making their home in Plymouth, where Mr. Berry, a 1958 graduate of Plymouth High School, is a member of the Plymouth Police Department.

MRS. RUSSELL KREITSCH, of 4476 John Aiden, left, and Mrs. George Schmeman, of 7095 N. Territorial Rd., take one last look at posters publicizing the upcoming "do it yourself" Christmas Workshop, sponsored by the Plymouth branch of the Women's National Farm and Garden Assn., prior to placing the posters in Stop and Shop, Kroger's, Food Fair, A & P, and the National Bank of Detroit. The Workshop will be held December 3, in the Plymouth Community Credit Union.

Newcomers Set Holiday Dance

Another festive Christmas dinner-dance is being planned for the Plymouth Newcomers and their guests. This year's dance will be held on Saturday, Dec. 15 at the Farm Cupboard on Plymouth Road, located between Plymouth and Ann Arbor. The price is $8.50 per couple.

Hostesses in charge of reservations for the city are Norma Bell, GL 3-3805; Old Lake point, Marilyn O'Neil, GL 3-9057; New Lakepoint, Margie Mucawski, GL 3-0106. Those interested should make reservations with the hostess in their area.

Newcomer's luncheon is to be held Thursday, Dec. 6 with reservations limited to 100 persons. Mark this date on your calendar.

Take a Break... I Have To Go "FISHING"!

THIS WELL DRILLER IS GOING FISHING, BUT NOT FOR FUN!

To the men who drill gas wells, fishing is not a pleasant pastime—it's a painstaking, tedious job. It means that the well driller has to take his large, heavy, cumbersome tackle (hooks and line) and fish out drilling tools that have become stuck or broken off deep in the earth. Consumers Power Company, too, has an important and expensive task—that of providing its customers with a dependable supply of natural gas during the cold winter months. To assure a sufficient reserve supply, it has underground storage fields near Marion, Michigan and elsewhere. Natural gas is put back in the earth under a pressure of hundreds of pounds per square inch and withdrawn as needed when gas consumption is highest.

Art Around Us:

by Mrs. Jessie Hudson

The walls of ancient Pompeii were decorated with glowing paintings made from colored pigment, melted beeswax, burned in to the plaster walls. The artist worked quickly, keeping a brushier lit beside him to heat his broad spatula with which he spread the colored wax into technicolor records of early Roman history. Earlier, the Egyptians and Greeks, too, were fond of this durable art, and used it to color their sculpture, their palaces and temples. Examples of these ancient encaustics are still to be seen in museums throughout the world.

The walls of the Hartley-Powers Gallery in Northville this week are decorated with glowing paintings made from colored pigment, melted beeswax, burned in, not to the plaster walls, but to backboards of pressed wood. These glowing examples of this ancient art-form are by Cecil North, Ann Arbor art teacher, who is one of the few artists in the world working again in this difficult but enduring medium. The wax which imprisons the pigments gives a uniquely soft luster to the finished work and seems especially suitable to the reverent themes which predominate in this exhibit. One huge panel, about three feet by six, cries out to be placed in a prominent spot in one of our newer churches. Its title, "Father, Son and Holy Ghost," the dignity of the composition, the harmonious colors make it perfectly suitable for a house of worship.

Even the studies of forests in soft blues and greens in abstract shapes give a feeling of dignity and reverence. In contrast to these quietly analogous paintings are some cities aglow with color like jeweled mosaics, and some crowd studies which are gay, humorous, and dreamlike. It is well worth the short trip to Northville, to this tiny gallery, to look at these unusually handsome works. Somewhat less ambitious facsimiles of the ancient art of encaustic was assayed by second year high school students this past week. Using candles instead of charcoal braziers and wax crayons instead of melted bees wax and ground pigment the students have been melting and pouring the colorful liquid into free-flowing designs.

TREASURES FROM Plymouth Pantries

Mrs. Alfred Campbell and Mrs. Willie Reimann

Although Christmas is a month away, baking of Christmas cookies has already begun in the home of Mrs. Alfred Campbell, of 774 N. Evergreen.

Last week Mrs. Campbell, and her mother, Mrs. Willie Reimann, who resides with her, were busy at work making Springerles to send to Mrs. Reimann's grandson who is stationed in Korea. The recipe has been in the family for four generations and had been misplaced, recently, by Mrs. Campbell, but an aunt in Illinois found hers and forwarded it to Mrs. Campbell. Mrs. Campbell, a member of the Rosary Society, lists cooking, baking and gardening as her hobbies. She has

- Beat eggs and sugar for 30 minutes, then add Hartshorn and beat for five minutes. Then add vanilla and mix. Roll out dough with rolling pin or Springerly rolling pin. Cut out squares, cover with towel and dry overnight. The next day grease cookie sheet lightly and sprinkle Anise Seed on cookie sheet, so entire sheet is covered. Place cookies, pattern side up, on sheet and bake in oven at 325 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. Do not brown cookies. Makes about 4 dozen.
- Coffee "as is" has its uses, too. Pulverized coffee or instant coffee, combined with a bit of sugar, makes an excellent "sprinkle" for toast, cookies, or cakes. Coffee, pulverized or instant, is a decorative topping for ice cream, too.

How to travel in luxury without really flying

The new '63 Chevrolet has captured the silence and effortless ease of jet flight and translated it to highway travel. Every new Chevrolet, whether it's a luxury Impala, a low-priced Bel Air or a Biscayne, now has self-adjusting brakes, a Delcotron generator to extend battery life, and the ingenious new flush-and-dry system that takes air and rain water from the cowl and rinses corrosive elements out of the rocker panels where rust usually begins. A test drive will amaze you. The suspension, with coil springs at all four wheels, treats back roads, car tracks, gravel as though they were billiard-table smooth. The engine whisks you away from traffic lights or steps safely out to pass slower cars without once intruding on your privacy. When you're driving a Chevrolet, you don't take a back seat to anyone!

The make more people depend on

GO JET-SMOOTH '63 CHEVROLET-IT'S EXCITING!

Ask about "Go with the Greats," a special record album of top artists and hits and see four entirely different kinds of cars at your Chevrolet dealer's - '63 Chevrolet, Chevy II, Corvair and Corvette
