2nd Semester Of Adult Ed. Program Set

"Stenocrat" — a simplified method of shorthand or speed-writing — is only one of an array of classes that the adult education and recreation department will offer during the second semester of the 1962-63 school year, it was announced this week.

In all, 70 classes including five for college credit will be offered during registration which begins Monday, Jan. 14, director Herb Woolweaver explained.

The local adult education and recreation program is conducted by the Plymouth community School system.

Registration for adult education and recreation classes will be held Monday through Friday of next week, Woolweaver said. It will take place at the adult education office at the Senior High School.

Hours for registration, which will be handled by Mrs. Irene Graham, are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Monday and Tuesday, and from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Mrs. Graham urged residents interested in any of the 70 classes offered to register as early in the week as possible. Classes that do not have sufficient number of students will be dropped for reasons of economy, she said.

A brochure listing all of the classes is being mailed to residents of the School District this week. It lists the classes, where they are held, when they begin, at what time during the week, the instructor's name, the length of the course and the course fee.

Most of the classes are scheduled to start Jan. 28, 29 or 30.

Registration may be accomplished by mail, the brochure points out. Further information on classes and registration is available at the adult education office, GL 3-3100.

The "Stenocrat" course fully described as "A-B-C Stenocrat Shorthand" — is being offered for the first time here. It will start Jan. 30 and will be held in room 216 of the Senior High building.

Course fee is $12. The three-hour class, which will begin at 7 p.m., will meet weekly for 10 weeks. Mrs. Robert Stenger is the instructor.

FORMER HOUGH FAMILY home on North Main St., opposite Kroger's, stands vacant today as a result of flames that badly damaged the interior of the building Christmas Eve. Boarded up windows (at left) are testimony to damage done.

Flames Menace Future Of 2 City Land-Marks

Heavily damaged by flames last month, two community landmarks stand empty on Main St. today while insurance companies total up losses.

The two vacant buildings, one of which is estimated to be a century old and the other approximately 75 years, are:

The Heddon building at 200 South Main, and the former Hough mansion at 243 North Main.

History surrounds both old structures, a history that links present-day Plymouth with its years as a rural community when Detroit was a one- and perhaps even two-day trip to the east by horse and buggy.

The Heddon building, which is opposite the City Hall, was virtually destroyed in a day-long blaze Dec. 17. The Hough home, two blocks up the street and directly opposite Kroger's, was gutted by flames Christmas Eve, exactly a week after the first fire.

While the Hough home shows little evidence from the outside of heavy damage, inside it is badly demolished. The floors are littered with debris and the smell of smoke still hangs heavily in the air.

Windows on the south side and boarded up, as is one wide window facing out from the veranda-like front porch.

Gaping holes show at various strategic points along one exterior wall where firemen had to rip away the siding to get at stubborn flame pockets that threatened total destruction of the building.

Meanwhile the Heddon building displays a pile of rubble where once three business places and two apartments were located. The entire front half of the structure is a heap of charred ruins.

Saw-horses have been set up by the City to prevent passers-by from injury in the debris, which rests like a heap of jack-straws.

In the rear, much of the remaining portion of the building appears as it did before the fire, except inside.

Damage to the Heddon building will conceivably exceed $30,000. What the total damage to the former Hough home will be is not yet known.

Owners of the two buildings are awaiting judgement from insurance companies before indicating what their plans for the two structures will be.

Miss Cornelia Hoffman, a school teacher in Detroit, owns the Hough mansion now, and Mrs. Ethel Joliffe, of Plymouth, owns the Heddon building.

Personal loss encountered by occupants of the two structures has been described as "considerable."

Both buildings have watched Plymouth grow from a sleepy agricultural community to a city.

Election to Alter City Ruling Body

The complexion of Plymouth's City Commission will be altered materially next April, almost regardless of which of the 11 candidates are eventually elected to fill four vacancies.

As it stands today, the Commission represents a heavy background in the retail business world. Only one member is a non-businessman.

He is Richard Wernet, who holds a law degree and is employed by Wayne County probate court in Detroit. The others have considerable experience in retail business.

All but one, in fact, of the remaining six Commissioners operate — or operated — their own business firms. James Houk owns three shoe stores, Robert Beyer has a trio of drug stores, Carl Shear is a former automobile dealer, mayor Robert Sincock operates a service station, and

Three Apartment Buildings Approved

A trio of apartment buildings, comprising 20 dwelling units in all, is expected to rise sometime this spring on property facing Coolidge St. between Joy St. and Burroughs.

Developer of the apartment buildings is Virgil Cornwell, who handled the development of the multi-million dollar Farmington Shopping Center in Downtown

Farmington three years ago.

Cornwell proposes to name the three apartment buildings "Jamestown Courts."

A zoning ordinance amendment, changing the property from single-dwelling to multiple-dwelling property, passed its first reading Monday night at the City Commission meeting.

The trio of apartment buildings will be situated on one and one-half acres of land with a perimeter drive and large parking areas.

Commissioners approved the initial reading of the zoning change upon receiving a favorable recommendation from Vilcan-Leman and Associates, the City's consultant planning firm.

The City planning commission had previously approved the zoning change. Two more readings, and subsequent approval of each, must follow before the zoning change becomes official.

Cornwell indicated that construction on the three buildings will begin this spring. He said that detailed plans will be drawn up as soon as the third reading of the zoning ordinance amendment receives City approval.

In other action Monday evening, Commissioners agreed to place on the April 1 election ballot a request that the position of City supervisor be made an appointive position. It presently is an elected post.

Current supervisor for the City is Arch Vallier. The job entails handling all dealings between the City of Plymouth and Wayne County.

Since a City charter amendment will be required to make the change, it will not go into effect until the spring of 1965, when Vallier's elected term of office expires. (Continued on Page 4)

Commissioners Submit Figures Explaining Water Decision

The City Commission this week issued the following official figures describing costs of operating the City's water system.

They may be compared to the quoted cost of 19.6 cents per 1,000 gallons for purchase of Detroit water here.

CITY OF PLYMOUTH WATER

Pumping - 2.613 cents per 1,000 gals.
Treatment .717 cents per 1,000 gals.
Total 3.330 cents per 1,000 gals.

The City of Plymouth pumped a total of 742 million gallons of water during fiscal year 1961-62.

Total City water pumped multiplied by 19.6 cents (Detroit quoted price to users here) equals $145,432. Total City water pumped multiplied by 3.33 cents (City of Plymouth pumping and treatment costs) equals $24,733.33

Total Detroit cost ..... $145,432.00
Total City cost ..... 24,733.33

Detroit water cost over City of Plymouth cost . $120,698.67

The City of Plymouth, say Commissioners, averages a 20 per cent water loss for flushing hydrants, operating drinking fountains, repair operations and flushing streets.

A 20 per cent water loss multiplied by Detroit cost equals $29,086.40. A 20 per cent water loss multiplied by City of Plymouth cost is $4,946.67.

Water loss, Detroit cost over Plymouth cost, is $24,139.73.

To both the Detroit and Plymouth costs, the following fixed expenses must be added:

1. Transmission and distribution.
2. General and administrative costs.
3. Employee Hospitalization and retirement.
4. Uniforms
5. Non-assessable jobbing.
6. Depreciation of system.
7. Bond payment on principal.

In addition to the above figures submitted by the Commission, it is interesting to note that if the fixed costs, as computed by the C.P.A. firm of Sutherland and Robson, of 19.89 cents per 1,000 gallons were added to the Detroit purchase price, water would cost nearly 40 cents per 1,000 gallons.

In some instances, large volume industrial users would encounter a 300 per cent increase in water rates, if water costs were increased to all users on this basis.

Remus Sudden Visitor

Gerald Remus, general manager of the Detroit water board, made a surprise visit to Plymouth Monday night and, in an informal session, met for the first time with the entire City Commission.

His appearance, he said, was "to see where we differ and why we differ."

He outlined the Detroit water proposal for City Commissioners and cited a contract the Detroit water board had signed with Wayne County when responsibility of furnishing water to the out-county area was placed in Detroit's hands about three years ago.

Commissioners felt that Detroit's agreement to build a major transmission line south along Sheldon Rd. from Eight Mile Rd. was a major concern to Remus and one of the reasons for his surprise visit here.

Detroit's agreement with the County to construct the water line south down Sheldon Rd. represents a heavy financial investment, and Remus admittedly is fearful of undertaking the construction plans without City of Plymouth as a customer of Detroit.

It was brought out during the unofficial session that many facts appearing publicly and pertaining to the situation had been erroneous. Commissioners expressed

Open Letter from City Discusses Water Facts

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITY OF PLYMOUTH:

What effects do the proposed improvements to the City of Plymouth Water System have on the question, "Do we purchase water from the City of Detroit or maintain present source of supply?"

The fact is that the proposed improvements would in no way be altered by the purchase of Detroit water. Further, if Detroit water were to be purchased tomorrow this would only hasten the need for the storage reservoir and controls.

To properly consider this question and other effects of purchasing Detroit water the following items must be considered:

I. What improvements are planned, and would purchase of water from the City of Detroit void the need for any of the proposed improvements? Why?

II. If water is purchased from the City of Detroit, what additional costs will be involved?

III. What are the advantages and disadvantages of Detroit water to the City of Plymouth?

IV. What are the advantages and disadvantages of continuing with present ground water source?

V. What improvements are planned and would purchase of Detroit water void the need for any of the proposed improvements?

A. The City plans to make internal improvements to the lateral distribution system, including replacement of sub-standard mains and outmoded hydrants and leads, and the addition of new hydrants where they are needed. This phase of the project will cost approximately $250,000.

Purchase of water from the City of Detroit would in no way effect this improvement since the supply source is not a consideration in distribution lateral and or hydrant replacement.

B. The Construction of a new storage reservoir and controls, at a cost of approximately $250,000.

This facility is presently needed to provide adequate pressures and to meet peak demand if present source is utilized.

If water were purchased from the City of Detroit, provisions of the contract documents which have been presented by that City state that supply may be interrupted without liability to the supplier.

Since Plymouth would be at the end of an eight (8) mile supply line the reservoir is essential to assure continuity of supply, and the ability to deliver peak hour supply at satisfactory pressures, thus eliminating the need for sprinkling bans.

The construction of the reservoir as proposed would simply allow Plymouth to be masters of its own fate rather than being at the mercy of an outside supplier, with regard to water supply.

Regardless of what cost rates have been furnished by the City of Detroit the reservoir should enable Plymouth (Continued on Page 4)

Waldecker Opposes Stein in Canton Supervisor Race

Democrat Robert Waldecker will oppose Republican incumbent Louis Stein for the office of Canton Township supervisor at the April 1 biennial election, and a total of nine candidates — two of them incumbents — are set to battle for four Trustee seats that are also to be decided.
The number of Canton Township Trustees will be expanded from two to four at the April election.
Present Trustees, both of whom filed for reelection, are Republicans Harvey Vetal and Elmer Schultz. Five other Republican candidates are also on the primary slate along with two Democrats.
The five Republicans are William Sprengel, Perry Hix, Richard Palmer, John Collins and Robert Simmons. The two Democrats include George Bradley and Henry Ruperi.
Incumbent Canton Township clerk John Flodin will be opposed by Cliff McCumpha and Treasurer Phil Dingley will battle Mike Bonnie Berg for that post. All are Republicans.
Alton Shirley, an attorney, is running for a justice-of-the-peace assignment, seeking to fill the vacancy that will be created by Simmons who has chosen instead to run for Trustee.

Ralph Foote is another Canton justice, but his term does not expire this year.
The Canton Township Board — in its regular meeting Tuesday evening — handled a number of routine agenda items.
It waived the four per cent property tax penalty on 1962 taxes that otherwise would be assessed during the period Jan. 19 to Feb. 28.
It also passed an ordinance regulating the removal of sand and top soil in the Township. The ordinance will require that newly-developed homes must have top soil that brings the ground level above adjacent road-ways.

School Board To Hear Request For $1,400 Grant

A request from the Board of Directors of the Northwestern Child Guidance Clinic for a grant amounting to approximately $1,400 is expected to be made Monday night at the regular meeting of the Board of Education.
The local grant, if approved, will join whatever other grants are made by 18 other suburban school districts and will be used to establish a branch of the Wayne County Children's Center in western Wayne County.
Main offices for the Children's Center are in Detroit. The proponents of an out-county branch believe it will aid suburbs in counselling children who have emotional problems or come from broken homes.
Apparent head of the movement in Plymouth is Dr. William Covington, a dentist, who is also the Plymouth representative on the Children's Center Board of Directors. The $1,400 grant is requested on a basis of 25-cents-per-child attending the Plymouth public schools system, Covington said.

Postal Rate Boost Causes Buying Surge

Plymouth's post office experienced a first day rush Monday by residents seeking to purchase the new five-cent first class postage stamps, Postmaster George Timpona said.

He added that there was a slight last-minute surge in four-cent first class letters Saturday, the final day letters could be mailed first class for only four cents.

Monday marked the initial day of the postal rate increase which included a boost of air mail first class rates from seven to eight cents.

Timpona said that many persons buying stamps were asking for additional one-cent stamps to accompany the four-centers they had purchased earlier, but which are no longer sufficient under the rate hike for first class letters.

Meanwhile, local stores which sell stamps through machines are having their problems. While the four-cent stamps are still available at many business places that use stamp-dispensing machines, the additional one-centers are being sold separately over the counter to accompany the four-cent stamp purchase.

Post cards have gone to four cents, in another facet of the new rate hike that went into effect Monday, Jan. 7.

'53 Class Reunion Planned for June

Hey, all you 1953 graduates of Plymouth High School! Start planning now to attend your class' ten-year reunion, to be held next June.

Plans are in the making for a tentative dinner dance, exact place and time to be announced at a later date. Organizing the affair are Casey Cavell, of 540 Blunk St., Mrs. Wayne (Carol Rakowski) Carmickle, of Wayne, and Mrs. James (Barbara Doyle) Nelson, of Livonia.

Suggestions and help are badly needed by the trio. A meeting to get plans underway will be held at the home of Mrs. James Nelson, 9751 Norman, Livonia, Monday evening, Jan. 14, beginning at 8 p.m. Anyone interested in attending is invited to do so.

To help make the reunion successful, Mr. Cavell urges all class members to send him their present address, in care of him at 540 Blunk St., Plymouth.

Post Office Volume Hits Record High

A new record in the volume of mail handled at the Plymouth post office was established during 1962, Postmaster George Timpona revealed this week.

He said that the heavy surge of strictly Christmas mail also set a new fourth-quarter record here. Total number of pieces of mail handled at the local post office during the recent 10-day Christmas period amounted to approximately 2.4 million, compared to 2.2 million during the same period in 1961, Timpona said.

For the fourth-quarter of the year, total number of pieces of mail handled was 5,034,000 compared to 4,552,000 during the fourth-quarter of 1961. Similarly, cash receipts at the Plymouth post office set new highs during the recent fourth quarter. Receipts during the last three months of 1962 amounted to $232,000, up more than $40,000 over the fourth-quarter receipts of 1961.

Total cash receipts for calendar year 1962 reached $968,000.

Timpona extended his thanks — on behalf of local postal employees — to the residents of the community for their cooperation in making the post office's job at Christmas-time as easy as possible in view of the tremendous volume of mail that was handled.

NEW GENERAL MANAGER AT CALHOUN FORD HERE

 Simkins, but the sum of the fees will be paid the Township.
 The Board authorized a class "C" liquor license for Thunderbird Inn, on Northville Rd., following receipt of favorable police inspection of the inn's new owners.
 An annual pay raise of $300 was granted Supervisor Roy Lindsay, Clerk John McEwen and Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes. It will become effective April 1. The raises brought the supervisor's salary to $8,800, the clerk's pay to $8,300 and the treasurer's salary to $7,800. The last pay raise for Township officials was two years ago.
 Lindsay reported on the status of the Township's request for a federal grant through the Public Works Acceleration Act. He said he called Chicago and was notified that the Township's application was "in order."
 He said he then asked what would happen next.

"Well," he was told by the Housing and Home Finance Administration, which administers the applications.
 All Board members made arrangements to attend at least one portion of the 10th annual convention of the Michigan Township Association next week in Lansing.
 They will attend the evening banquet Jan. 17 when Lindsay concludes his 1-year term as president of the state-wide association. All Board members, as well as legal counsel Earl Demel, plan to attend.
 A $6 fee was approved as payment by residents who wish the Township fire department to flood back-yard skating rinks. The fee will include the price of water consumed along with the use of certain tools necessary for operating a hydrant where water is available.
 Final inspection of Parklane Estates subdivision was given approval officially by the Board members.
 The four per cent penalty on 1962 Township property taxes was waived during the period Jan. 19 to Feb. 28. It was action identical to that taken by the Board during at least the past 10 years.
 Approval was granted for Detroit Edison to install six mercury-vapor street lights along Plymouth Rd. in front of Burroughs and regular street lights at Ann Arbor Rd. and streets leading out of Green Meadows subdivision.

The one-hour session ended quietly enough, although it had its anxious moments.
 Remus claimed that Detroit would furnish water to City of Plymouth at "a constant pressure of 35 pounds per square inch." He admitted that Detroit is considering eventually building two large storage tanks to supplement the water supply in the mains, if the load became too great.
 He denied that it was a "strange admission" that Detroit was considering the construction of storage tanks to supplement pressure in the lines, when that was also City of Plymouth's main purpose with regard to its proposed 3-million-gallon tank on Beck Rd.

 ed displeasure over the erroneous facts, which had been presented recently by out of town interests.
 Commissioner Richard Wernette repeated the City's intentions to construct a 3-million-gallon water reservoir on Beck Rd.
 Mayor Robert Sincok explained that the City of Plymouth will meet with representatives of industry soon to discuss the Detroit water proposal and attempt to learn if the implied rate hike to industrial users would be agreeable.

 sity of the mid-and late-1800s to its present-day role of suburban residential and industrial center.
 Both have stood alongside the City's main thoroughfare long enough to earn the tag of "land-marks" and one, the Hough mansion, was built by an area pioneer.
 Louis C. Hough was among the earlier residents of Canton Township and had the Main St. home built about 1885, according to local historian Karl Starkweather.
 Hough owned the L. C. Hough & Son grain operator where McLaren Lumber Company is today. Louis Hough's son was Edward C. Hough, who died a few years ago.
 While Louis was instrumental in the founding of the Daisy Air Rifle Co., according to Starkweather, it was Edward who became widely known through it.
 He was secretary-treasurer of the air rifle firm, Starkweather recalled, and held a position as a ranking company officer until the time of his death.
 The other building has a similar past.
 Starkweather believes it was built during Civil War days by a man whose name was Isaac N. Heddon. Con-

Credit Union To Sponsor Comm. Band

The Plymouth Community Band, directed by James Griffith, will receive its financial support this year from the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union, it was announced this week.
 The move will assure that the band will be able to perform its weekly concerts in Kellogg Park during the summer months and at least four performances during the spring, fall and winter.
 Support of the band was announced following action on the matter by the Board of Directors of the credit union.
 It means that the band will not have to make seasonal pleas to numerous civic organizations in order to obtain the finances with which to continue its program.
 George Lawton, executive manager and treasurer of the credit union, said the action was "a small way of showing gratitude to the community for the manner in which it has supported our institution over the years".
 The band presently numbers 60-musicians, compared to the eight members who three years ago formed an informal group to play at parades and other community events.
 A total of eight summer concerts are scheduled for this year and the band will also take part in the July 4 celebration here as well as the 1963 Fall Festival.
 Keith Burton is president of the recently-incorporated community band, Judy Leavenworth is secretary, William Edgar business manager and treasurer, and Richard Larkin, is publicity chairman.

Remus Writes Mayor Sincok

Following his surprise visit to the City Commission meeting last Monday evening, Detroit Water Board general manager Gerald Remus sent a "thank you" note to City of Plymouth Mayor Robert Sincok.
 Remus wrote:
 "It is better to first build the large mains... and when they can no longer supply peak-hour service, supplement (them) with storage facilities at the place where the load concentration becomes the greatest."
 Remus wrote that his office will not "be doing anything on this project except in cooperation with your engineers when they need information, and that our construction pattern will be developed after you people have decided what your course of action will be."

City Christmas Tree Pick-Up Announced

City residents may dispose of their Christmas trees by placing them at the curb side at the time of the regular rubbish pick-up during the rest of this week, announced Joseph Bida, DPA superintendent.
 He said that the City itself will make one City-wide pick-up of Christmas trees next week for those residents who will not be taking their trees down until this weekend.

Speaking of WOMEN

Wednesday, January 9, 1963 THE PLYMOUTH MAIL Page 2

PROVING THAT she lost 73½ lbs. since joining the Plymouth TOPS, Club, last April, Mrs. Irma Larrick (center) steps on the scale—so Verna Becoskey, weight recorder, (far right) can make the official entry. Smiling approvals are given by Doris Root (left) and Phyllis Kesling. Mrs. Root served as leader in the club's first year and Mrs. Kesling will take over as secretary of the club following the installation of new officers this evening.

Loses 73½ Lbs.

Irma Larrick is Crowned TOPS Queen

From a size 24½ to 14½ in 8 months and six days is the success story of the first Queen of the Plymouth TOPS (Take Off Pounds Safely) Club, Mrs. Irma Larrick, of 1953 Elmhurst St. Mrs. Larrick was officially crowned Queen last Wednesday night, when her weight was recorded as 136½, 73½ pounds lighter than when she originally "weighed in" last April 25.

As Queen, Mrs. Larrick will be eligible to participate in the national competition of TOPS Queen winners from all over the U.S. in Long Beach Cal., next July. The Plymouth club will finance her trip.

To capture the Queen title, a TOPS member must lose at least 50 pounds within a year, and have lost more weight than other members.

Runners up to Mrs. Larrick were Ed Brown, only male member, in second place with a total lossage of 65½ pounds, and Mrs. Helen Clark, in third place, who lost 63 pounds. Mr. Brown started Feb. 7 and Mrs. Clark started Jan. 31.

To lose 73½ pounds in eight months, Mrs. Larrick conscientiously kept to her diet averaging between 800 and 1,000 calories per day. Average menu for a day went like this:

BREAKFAST
½ grapefruit
1 egg (fried, poached, scrambled)
1 slice toast
Coffee

LUNCH
½ sandwich
Raw vegetables
Coffee

DINNER
Broiled meat (average serving)
2 cooked vegetables
Cottage cheese with fruit
Tossed salad (with diet dressing) room 101 of Plymouth High School. Agendas for meetings vary, but always the meeting is opened with a "weighing in" session, during which each member is weighed and his weight is recorded.
Coffee

Woe be unto any member who has gained a pound or more during the preceding week. Penalty fines of 25 cents per pound gained are made and collected weekly. Monthly cash prizes are awarded to members of each group who have lost the most weight. The club has five groups, classified according to weight.

Throughout the year the Plymouth club challenges other nearby chapters to contests. There is no definite schedule for these contests, according to Doris Root, charter member, they just take place when we "feel the need."

Members are not given a specific diet to follow, they are on their own. Upon joining, however, they are given a booklet containing a list of foods and their caloric content. Calorie counting is of prime importance to the club, with exercise placing secondary—in fact only one time during the year did the club indulge in exercises during their meeting.

Charter officers will turn over their reigns to new officers for 1963 tonight.

Patricia Laidlaw will take over from Doris Root, as leader; Helen Clark will take over as co-leader; Phyllis Kesling will take over from Irene Gibson, as secretary; and Anna Matthews, will take over from Virginia Ash as treasurer.

Anyone interested in joining the TOPS should contact Doris Root at GL 3-3899.

Mrs. Willoughby's Antique Miniature Lamps on Display

Mrs. Robert Willoughby's collection of miniature lamps, including a student lamp, kerosene, whale oil, glow, and even Fairy Lamps is the subject of the current Collector's Corner exhibit at the Detroit Historical Society.

Some 75 of Mrs. Willoughby's 150 lamps went on display Dec. 17 and will remain on view until Feb. 24.

Mrs. Willoughby's interest in lighting fixtures stems from the necessity to acquire something in the non-electric vein for the family's northern Michigan cabin a few years ago.

The problem was solved by "Little Twilight," miniature kerosene lamp, whose filling aperture was so small that it had to be filled with a straw. It served as a night light for many years.

"Little Twilight" started the collection and has been joined by many others of exquisite pressed glass, satin glass and even amberina ones.

Mrs. Willoughby is presently busy packing these lamps in preparation for her move next month from her West Ann Arbor Tr. home to the former Harrington residence at 14061 Ridgewood. She is a member of the Plymouth Woman's Club, the Huguenot Society, Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution and the University of Michigan Alumnae, and a past member of the Plymouth Board of Education.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a traditional light ivory bouquet taffeta gown with Alencon lace with seed pearl appliques on the scoop neck and bracelet length sleeves for the candlelight ceremony. The fitted waistline was accented with a double obi bow at the back. The controlled bell skirt was appliqued with seed pearls and fell in a long train. Her bouffant butterfly veil was attached to a demicap of satin petals appliqued with seed pearls to match her gown. She carried a cascade bouquet of ivory colored roses and bouvardia.

She was attended by Miss Sue Worthington of Plymouth as maid of honor. Miss Worthington wore a willow green satin brocade bell-shaped ballerina length dress with fitted waistline and double obi bow in back and a rose headpiece of a willow green, edged with seed pearls and covered with net illusion.

Wearing identical gowns were the bridesmaids Miss Sheila Lorenz and Miss Nancy Worth, both of Plymouth; Miss Doris Larden, cousin of the bride, from Detroit; Miss Sue Fruentnick of Fort Wayne, Ind., and Miss Barbara Guy, of Oak Park, Ill. All the attendants carried cascade bouquets of

Art Around Us:

As Christian art developed to meet the needs of the expanding church new forms of architecture made room for new art expressions. Much of this art was influenced by Byzantine infiltration and many of the new buildings were encrusted with mosaics. These mosaics, glowing gold, blue and red, were made with hundreds of small hand-pressed cubes of glass, some of them inlaid with silver and gold leaf. Because of the more rigid technique involved the style of mosaics is classically decorative, two rather than three dimensional. Figures are stiff, monumental, stylized, unmoving, but grand.
 Prime examples of Byzantine mosaics are still to be seen in the churches of Ravenna, Italy. Here in San Vitale are groups representing the Emperor Justinian with attendant clergy, and the Empress Theodora and her court. They rim the building in impressive simplicity, in luminous colors, against blue or gold backgrounds, in reverent and charming beauty.
 In Constantinople, also, Christian churches were being built using mosaics lavishly in their interior decorations. One of the earliest of these, Saint Sophia, built in the Sixth Century, still remains one of the most effective expressions of Byzantine art, though some of the original figures are now covered with Turkish plaster and paint.
 Though an expensive form of mural painting, mosaics continued to be applied to the walls of Christian churches as late as the Thirteenth Century, but because of mounting cost, were largely supplanted by quicker, cheaper, more three-dimensional frescoes from the Fourteenth Century on. Only the floors of buildings were covered with mosaics, by practical Italian artisans, and a minor form of the art continued to be used for decorative jewelry in a few Italian towns.
 A Gothic revival in the Nineteenth century brought a renewed interest in mosaic and they have again increased in popularity to the present use on exterior walls of buildings in shopping centers. Another use has developed for this ancient art in the form of wall hangings, and anything that can be glued is now being employed in the making of attractive mosaics. Broken glass, stones, slate, seeds, broken dishes, crushed rocks, as well as the more traditional Italian glass or ceramic tiles are only some of the materials being used in modern mosaics. Still mainly decorative rather than pictorial, a good mosaic maintains the tradition of simple, stylized, form, with glowing color.
 Some modern examples of mosaics may be seen in the Dunning-Hough Library in Plymouth where work of the High School students is on display, or at the Hartley-Powers Gallery in Northville where some examples of mosaics in tile and pottery are being shown.

Two men, including a 62-year-old Plymouthite, were injured Monday evening when their cars collided at the intersection of West Ann Arbor Rd. and Sheldon, shortly after night-fall.

Almond McAllister, 62, of 467 Roe St., sustained what were described by Wayne County Sheriff's deputies as "serious injuries" in the mishap.

The other driver, 55-year-old William Lamberson, of Jackson, Mich., sustained similar injuries. Both were taken by ambulance to Wayne County General Hospital for examination and treatment.

Sheriff's deputies reported that McAllister was driving north on Sheldon Rd. while Lamberson was traveling west on Ann Arbor Rd. At the intersection, McAllister apparently pulled in front of the other car and the two autos collided. McAllister

The facilities committee of the Plymouth community Board of Education is scheduled to meet twice this week to formulate a recommendation on three construction projects planned for the near future.

With Robert Soth as chairman, the committee was to meet tonight (Wednesday) to review plans for Phase II of Junior High West.

Tomorrow evening it is scheduled to meet jointly with the finance committee, whose chairman is Harold Niemi, to review plans for the two-room addition to Farrand Elementary School and the continued rehabilitation of the Senior High.

A report will be made at the Board of Education's regular meeting Monday, Jan. 14.

Sincock, Glasford Guest Speakers At Rotary Club

City Mayor Robert Sincock and City Manager Albert Glasford were guest speakers at last Friday's Rotary Club meeting at the Mayflower Hotel.

Glasford told about the history of the community, its manner of government and how it became an incorporated City in 1932, while Sincock reviewed the City's growth over the past two years and outlined a projection of 1963.

The program was arranged by the club's civic affairs program chairman Sam Hudson, advertising director of Evans Products Co.

Sincock, in his remarks, cited "the fine cooperation" between all agencies engaged in administering the needs of the Plymouth community. He described the success of the Urban Renewal project and the establishment of the City's industrial park along Plymouth Rd.

"While the City's residential growth is fast approaching a saturation point," he said, "we look for a continuation of industrial expansion during 1963."

The outlook for 1963, Sincock said, is definitely one of "optimism."

He stated that the business district of Downtown Plymouth must be rejuvenated as much as possible in coming months so that it may remain a focal point of the community. He said he anticipated an upsurge in smaller, specialty-type retail stores here, instead of a large department store-type operation.

Wiltse's COMMUNITY PHARMACY

Here, at Wiltse's Community Pharmacy, we have continued, due to its success, our modern "Safeguard Record System" in order to make available to you — at any time — a complete record of your various prescriptions, and prescription refills, for each year or any given period.

Under this system, your family's individual record for prescriptions will be maintained so as to qualify you for Income Tax deduction purposes, insurance requirements, or for any purpose you may desire.

For instance —

If you were to lose, or misplace, your prescription and had no record of its original number through which you would customarily obtain a refill, it would be instantly available to you under our individual record at Wiltse's Community Pharmacy.

As another illustration of the benefits of Wiltse's "Safeguard Record System," your doctor may wish to review the medication that you have taken over a particular period of time. This information, too, is readily available to him from your personal file here at Wiltse's Community Pharmacy.

A copy of your complete prescription record will be available to you at any time during the year, and at the end of the year as well. And, of course, your record for each previous year will become a permanent part of your personal file.

There is no charge for this additional service. In fact, we automatically begin such a file for each of our prescription patrons.

Visit Wiltse's in Plymouth at your next opportunity. We're confident that you will enjoy the visit and will return again over the years.

Four Hunters Find Success in Colorado

A converted bus which they drove more than 3,600 miles all told, and individual expenses amounting to about $200 apiece, brought four ambitious hunters — including one from Salem and another from Livonia — some impressive hunting trophies last month.

The four hunters, led by former Plymouthite Ron Shoebridge who lives now at 8275 Chubb Rd. in Salem, came back from a two-week excursion in Colorado with the racks of 12 deer.

Accompanying Shoebridge were his cousin, George Shoebridge, and Elwood Perry, both of whom live at White Lake, Mich., and Robert Hillborn, of Livonia.

The quartet of hunters, who owned 12 deer between them, each bagging the Colorado limit of three deer per hunter. Largest of the deer, which Ron Shoebridge himself shot, was a 240-pound, 16-pointer. Shoebridge said he knocked it over with one shot from a 30-06 Remington "at quite a distance."

It was the second trip the former Plymouthite has made to Colorado, but the first time for his three companions.

"We had a ball," Shoebridge said later, "and we want to try to drum up even more interest in the trip for next year."

The four made the trip in a bus that Shoebridge purchased last summer. Named "Hunter's Haven," the bus has been converted into a massive mobile home.

"It has bunks for sleeping and a hi-fi set," said Shoebridge, describing the hunter's home for two weeks.

Once in Colorado, the four men stopped at Cedaredge, a small community near Montrose. There, they met three men who knew the hunting area well.

The three Colorado residents, Darrel Gyer, Forrest Carver and Neil Gramm, treated the Michigan foursome "royally," said Shoebridge. "They took us everywhere hunting, let us use their jeeps and really took wonderful care of us."

Shoebridge, who is already anxious to return next winter, explained that the $200 average cost to each of the four hunters included $47.50 for a Colorado hunting license.

"It was well worth it," he added, however. "The two week trip encompassed the last week in November and the first week in December and provided plenty of hunting time despite the 1,600-mile drive from here."

The four, with their three Colorado friends, hunted generally at altitudes between 6,000 and 8,000 feet, Shoebridge said. The area was heavily populated with deer, he said.

"We'd like to have eight or 10 men go with us next year," he added.

The recreation swimming program resumed Monday for adults and students alike at the pool in the Senior High. Admission is 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students, recreation director Herb Woolweaver explained.

This is the schedule: Monday's from 7:30 to 9 p.m. are reserved for open swimming, while Tuesdays during the same times are for mothers and daughters only. Open swimming is also scheduled for Wednesday evenings from 7:30 p.m. to 9 p.m. and on Saturdays from 1 p.m. to 2:30.

Supervising the program will be John McFall, Plymouth High School head swimming coach, and his assistants.

WITH DEER LOADED on the top of their converted bus, the Michigan hunters prepare to leave Colorado. Shown surveying their success are (left to right) Darrell Gyer, Forrest Carver (both of Colorado) and Ron Shoebridge, who led the quartet of four Michigan hunters. Shoebridge lives in Salem, but is a former Plymouthite.

Farmington Downs Jay Vee Cagers By 37-34 Margin

Farmington turned back Plymouth's varsity basketball team, 37-34, last Friday evening, thus sending the junior Rocks down to their fourth defeat of the season.

They have won two.

Only a late rally by Plymouth brought the score as close as it was. Farmington led all the way, bursting to a 19-11 half-time margin and a 31-22 edge at the three-quarter mark.

Bill Nelson scored 13 points for Plymouth and team-mate Jim Lambert contributed eight. Russ Olander had 10 for Farmington.

The Rocks were hampered by inaccuracy from the floor. They hit on only 20 per cent of their field goal attempts.

SPORTSEEN

BY JEROME O'NEIL

Plymouth's basketball team sat on the sidelines over the recent holidays, working out occasionally under the tutelage of coach Charlie Ketterer, while neighboring schools sent their respective basketball squads off to various Christmas tournaments.

Bentley High, in Livonia, was one of these, as were Redford Union, Farmington, Wayne, Southfield, Northville and Belleville, to name only a few local ones.

It would seem that perhaps Plymouth could find a pleasant niche for itself in the confines of some annual holiday cage tourney. It is a subject that has occurred frequently to this desk, and one that ought — perhaps — to be explored somewhat carefully.

This is not to say, however, that the Rocks should hit the tournament trail during the holiday lay-off simply for the reason that innumerable other schools engage in this activity.

There is no logic in this sort of reasoning, certainly. Instead, perhaps there are definite reasons of merit involved in the possibility of entering the Rocks in a holiday classic. In fact, what's wrong with Plymouth staging its own cage tourney right here at home?

Undoubtedly, some people will fault this proposal on varying grounds. This is their prerogative and their reasons are, presumably, justifiable.

But here are a few reasons that lend strength to the proposal:

1. First of all, it would enable the Rocks to remain competitively active over what otherwise amounts to approximately a three-week lay-off.
2. It would stand to reason that there could be some financial profit resulting from a tournament endeavor, providing it was staged successfully and well-promoted. This money, if put to no other use, could be applied toward the cost of new athletic uniforms, or additional press box facilities at the football field, or plowed into other athletic equipment. There are endless possibilities here, we feel.
3. Last of all, it might well drum up some "extra" interest in the basketball fortunes of the Rocks, perhaps to the extent that more boys would try out for the team at the start of the following season and that more people would attend regular season home games here, thus putting the game on still a more firm footing in Plymouth.

An argument that we've heard bantered about is "the students should be home with their parents over the holidays." Bosh...

What ordinary teen-age high school student spends more than the bare minimum of time "at home" during Christmas vacation? And what is the difference between permitting a student to attend a basketball game that is part of a holiday tournament and a regularly scheduled game at some point elsewhere in the season? We contend there is no difference, but it's a personal thing.

At any rate, Plymouth has been issued tournament invitations on a couple of instances in the past decade, we understand. After due deliberation by whoever mulls over this type of request, the invitations were "declined," we are told.

Or perhaps the requests actually generated from within and were "denied."

As is to be expected, Ketterer, Plymouth's head basketball coach, would be in favor of the Rocks participating in a holiday tournament... under certain conditions. Similarly, John Sandmann, athletic director at Plymouth High, also favors a tournament during the holidays.

Both seemed to lean toward a four-team tourney, with action confined to first round games on a Wednesday night and the championship and consolation rounds two evenings later, on a Friday night.

These are the ground rules that Ketterer would prefer, providing a holiday cage classic ever materializes here. They seem to be wise ones, because obviously the players would unlikely become "over-exerted" with a night off between games.

We might take the opportunity to propose three other possible competitors, too... that is, in addition to the Rocks.

First, Bentley High would seem logical, since it is a sister member in the Suburban Six league. Second, Northville High should be considered, since it has long been a Plymouth rival and is also a next door neighbor.

It would be a toss-up to say what school ranks third, but certainly either Redford Union, Allen Park (also league members) or the new school in Livonia, Franklin High, should be prospects.

At the risk of appearing presumptuous, this office would gladly volunteer whatever services it could provide to assist in setting up a cage tourney here next winter, to include the task of promoting the event locally.

We would urge the school administration and even the Board of Education itself to consider the matter openmindedly, that is if it appears to have merit, and we most certainly feel it does.

But, like we said, it's a personal thing.

Old Nemesis Inaccuracy Leads Rocks to 4th Loss

An old nemesis plagued Plymouth's varsity cagers Friday evening as Farmington handed the Rocks their fourth loss of the 1962-63 season, 52-42.

It was a non-league game, the first cage encounter for the Rocks after a three-week holiday lay-off.

The Rocks, seldom known for their success in connecting on field goal tries, managed only 25 per cent from the floor against Farmington.

Plymouth hit on 14 of 55 field goal attempts and wound up with a 25 per cent scoring average for their night's efforts. It was a similar statistical problem for the Rocks from the free throw line.

In charity tosses, the Rocks cashed 14 of 25 shots, good for 56 per cent.

Meanwhile, Farmington enjoyed considerably better success, posting a 40 per cent shooting average from the floor (on 17 baskets out of 42 attempts) and a 75 per cent accuracy on free throws (18 of 24).

Plymouth found a degree of success in the first period and fashioned a narrow — and short-lived — lead, 14-12. From that point on, however, with Farmington controlling both backboards and Plymouth suffering from mistakes and shooting inaccuracy, the Rocks fell further and further behind.

Farmington took the lead shortly before half-time, 24-22, and worked its advantage to seven points, 38-31, at the end of the third quarter. Outside of the first quarter, Farmington dominated the rebounding by a wide margin.

"We did a good job in the first quarter, both offensively and defensively," said Plymouth coach Charlie Ketterer, "but after that we just were not able to take advantage of our opportunities."

Plymouth missed entirely on a number of scoring opportunities in the second half, many of them coming on fast break situations.

Farmington's extra height paid dividends, particularly in the second half. The Falcon's 6-foot-6 center, Walt Grimala, scored 14 points for the winners, 12 of them in the last two periods.

He was aided in the scoring department by Paul Chatska with 12 and Russ Cleveland who added 11.

Tom McGill and team captain Dick Schryer led Plymouth, each with 10 points. McGill's total came on two baskets and six free throws, Schryer's resulted from three baskets and four free throws.

Dick Egloff had eight points, Jim Lake and Garry Grady added six apiece and Bob Steele had two.

Earlier this season, Farmington narrowly missed scoring an upset victory over Redford Union. Instead, RU managed a slim, one-point decision over the Falcons.

The Rocks, now 2-4 for the season, are at Belleville Jan. 11 and host Fordson on Jan. 12.

Swimmers Post No. 4 As Dearborn Tumbles

Plymouth's varsity swimmers boosted their season record to 4-wins against 2-losses last Thursday evening as they downed Dearborn High, 57-48.

It was the Rocks' first dual meet following the three-week holiday vacation. Coupled with an earlier win over Allen Park, it earned the locals a two-meet win streak and three victories in the last four encounters.

The Rocks clinched the Dearborn victory in the ninth event of the evening as George Collins gained a second place finish and Tom Blunk was third in the 400-yard freestyle.

From that point, with two events remaining, Plymouth had only to avoid a disqualification to assure its fourth win of the 1962-63 season.

The Rocks added some icing in the final event as Pete Gustafson, Jim Beglinger, Mike Britcher and Mark Schultheiss combined for a victory in the 200-yard freestyle relay to stretch Plymouth's final margin of success to nine points.

Even if the Rocks had lost the concluding relay event, Plymouth would have escaped with a 53-52 decision.

Plymouth co-captain Gary Gould paced the victory with a 10-point performance, based on individual wins in the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard butterfly.

Gould, who shares the team captain's duties with Schultheiss, is the squad's leading scorer.

This is the manner in which Plymouth notched its victory:

Dan Olson, Al Curtis, George Collins and Jim Mattison combined to win the 200-yard medley relay, and Dick Berry was first in the 200-yard free with Dave Beglinger second.

Gustafson placed third in the 50-yard free, and Gould followed with his win in the 200-yard individual medley where Jim Beglinger earned a second place ribbon.

Schultheiss won the diving competition and Bert Quinn was third.

Gould posted his second win of the evening in the 100-yard butterfly and Dave Beglinger captured second place. Berry was second in the 100-yard free and Dan Cook was third.

George Gardner was third in the 100-yard backstroke, and Collins was second in the 400-yard free with Blunk third.

Curtis was third in the 100-yard breast-stroke, and the 200 yard freestyle relay team of Gustafson, Jim Beglinger, Britcher and Schultheiss concluded the meet with a win for the Rocks in that event.

Next battle for the Plymouth swimmers is Thursday evening at 7 p.m. when Belleville visits the Rocks' pool.

Men's Cage League Starts

The men's recreation basketball league gets underway officially this week as four of the five teams see action. The fifth team drew a bye in opening play.

Tait's Cleaners was slated to take on Auto-Crat Mfg. this evening (Wednesday) at 8 p.m. at the Senior High gym and at 9:30 p.m. D.S.I. was scheduled to face Cloverdale.

The entry sponsored by Blunk's Inc. was the team that drew a bye in the initial round of action.

Recreation director Herb Woolweaver said that the team which each week draws a bye will have an option to play a game at Detroit House of Correction that same night.

The five teams have been practicing several weeks in preparation for the opening of the conference activity. Practice sessions have been held at the Senior High gym and at several elementary schools.

Last year's championship team, Burroughs, did not enter the conference this winter, Woolweaver said. League supervisor is Paul Cummings, who held the post last year as well.

Savings, Mortgages Climb In 1962 for First Federal

The year 1962 saw new records set in both savings gains and mortgage loan activity for First Federal Savings of Detroit.

"The inflow of savings started at a much higher rate last January, when all Detroit savings associations increased the earnings rate to 4 per cent," said Perry W. Richwine, Vice President and manager of First Federal's office at 843 Penniman Avenue.

"A large inflow of savings continued throughout the year, for a net savings gain of over $56,000,000 for First Federal. During the same 12 months, we added 8,096 mortgage loans totaling $88,649,576," said Richwine.

Last year over $14 million in earnings were paid to savings customers at the current rate of 4 per cent, after allocating $3,621,822 to reserves and surplus.

The association started construction of a new skyscraper office building in Downtown Detroit; finished and occupied two new branches (in Farmington and in Bloomfield Hills); started construction of another new office to replace an older one at Plymouth, and opened a new temporary office on Greenfield Road near Northland Shopping Center. The Greenfield Road office will be replaced by a new Northland branch, now under construction.

In a year-end statement, it was also revealed that First Federal, in 1963, will start and finish construction of another branch on East McNichols near Hoover Road.

Denise Hochlowski

PHS Junior Named Ballet Teacher Here

Denise Hochlowski, 16-year-old junior at Plymouth High, has been named the adult education and recreation department's new ballet and Spanish Dance Instructor and will begin conducting her first classes Jan. 26.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hochlowski, of 151 Amelia, Denise has spent two-thirds of her 16 years studying ballet and related dancing from innumerable teachers.

She took her first ballet lesson at five and only recently successfully completed her fifth examination by the Cecchetti Council, a national ballet organization. By passing this fifth exam, ballet pupils are enabled to begin teaching on their own.

Denise, who has studied mostly under well-known ballet teachers located in Detroit, once was a student of Aleta Nichols, of Plymouth. Denise, who will seek a career in ballet, has lived in Plymouth all her life.

Interested persons who wish to obtain more information on the adult education and recreation ballet and Spanish dance program may contact the recreation department (GL 3-3100) at the Senior High School building.

Local Surgeon Tells of Cancer in Hi-12 Talks

Guests of the Plymouth Hi-12 club at its regular Dec. 19 meeting were Howard Cochran and Leslie Scofield, while Dr. Walter Hammond, local surgeon, was guest speaker.

Dr. Hammond discussed the disease of cancer and showed color films, furnished by the Michigan Cancer Society.

Cancer, said Dr. Hammond, can be cured or arrested if caught in time. He urged that everyone have regular physical check-ups in order to assure their total health.

Members of the local Hi-12 chapter were invited to attend the board meeting of the Michigan Association of Hi-12 clubs in Howell early this month.

Announcement of the state convention was also made. It will be held in Jackson May 24-25. Reservations are available now, it was announced.

Installation of officers was scheduled to take place at the Jan. 9 meeting. There were no meetings during the holidays.

Earnings Rise At Detroit Bank & Trust

Detroit Bank and Trust company has reported net operating earnings of $8,581,672 for the year ending Dec. 31, 1962, equal to $4.45 a share.

This compares with $9,748,964 for 1961 which, after giving effect to the 5 per cent stock dividend paid earlier in the year, equals $5.05.

There is a Detroit Bank and Trust Branch in Lake Pointe Village here.

In detailing the bank's performance for 1962, Joseph M. Dodge, chairman and Raymond T. Perring, president, noted that although earnings per share for 1962 were somewhat lower than in 1961 principally because of substantially increased interest payments to savings customers, overall financial results for the year were quite satisfactory.

"For example, deposits and loans were up for the year in nearly every category. Indicators both within and without the bank give us reason for optimism when considering the new year," they said.

WITH OUR SENIOR CITIZENS

By Iva Shipley GL 3-6274

The Senior Citizens Club held its second annual meeting at the Masonic Temple last Thursday afternoon. The Rev. Arnold H. Kehrl, charter member, was elected president.

In just 26 months, since Oct. 20, 1960, when Miss Neva Lovell, representing the Senior Citizens Club of Plymouth, called the first group of less than 20 persons together to consider formation of a Senior Citizens Organization, the club has grown to a membership of 190, with 125 on the "active roll" and an average attendance at the weekly meetings of 66 during 1962.

The business and professional women sponsored the club for over a year, caring largely for the program and paying the bills. During 1962 the Senior Citizens became an independent and self-supporting organization.

New members added to the roll during the past year numbered 37.

Membership dues are $1 annually and open to those who are 60 years of age or older.

An interesting program is held every Thursday afternoon at the Masonic Temple beginning at 1 P.M. There are brief business meetings when necessary, entertainment featured with various games for all.

Once each month there is a birthday cake and a pot-luck dinner which is always of special interest. Sometimes buses are chartered for trips out of the city. Refreshments are always served.

Additional members elected to serve with the president, Mr. Kehrl, are Jack Gilles, first vice-president, Forest McDonald, second vice-president, Grant Camphausen, treasurer, and Edith Sockow, secretary. Dorothy Wilhelm is registrar, Bettv Clum cheer chairman and Walter Becker keeps a watchful eye over the "Kitty". A cordial invitation is extended to all of our Senior Citizens to attend.

Ever since that old movie, "Lost Weekend", one hesitates to indicate, even to the slightest degree, that he might have participated in such a thing. However, since University doctors have steered me away from such fluids that might influence such happenings, I can honestly say this effort is the total result of a lost weekend. Lost in old maps, charts, atlas plates, early Plymouthiana, et cetera. And, all because Margaret Wilson, in addressing a Christmas card to us, said to Charlotte Lush, "Why is that North Territorial road?"

My search was interesting and fun and let me take you on a guided tour of our fair village back in those days. Names and spelling are authentic from the General Official Atlas of Wayne County prepared sometime in the middle 1800's. If you care to see this atlas it is available for your amusement in my office.

This is 1880 and I am driving my team and carriage, with you as my guests, into Plymouth via the old Plank Road. Of course at the village limits we must stop to pay our toll, else how else could so modern a road be maintained.

For a penny a cup, across the street, we indulge in some deliciously fresh cider, just come in from the presses in the old Gonsoli Cider Mill.

Driving into the village down the old Plank Road we pass on the left the giant Markham Air Rifle Works and across the street, at the F & P.M. railroad tracks, we view the L.C. Hough elevator.

Travelling about a block further we turn left on Bennett street where we pass the Bennett Fanning Mill Works and then on down the block to the Plymouth Air Rifle Company and across the street the famous Plymouth Iron Windmill factory.

From here we'll probably go down Union street to the Village Green where we'll rest our horses and perhaps enjoy a picnic lunch. If a visitor cared for refreshment or a good home cooked meal he could walk across South street, which was really the old Plank Road, but dignified because it was actually the most important downtown street at that time, to our famous Berdan House, where most local society gathered.

After this refreshing stop we shall continue on down South street to Bowery street which we shall take east to the Plymouth Fairgrounds and Race Track. After watching a couple of races we'll go out the northern entrance of the grounds to Ann Arbor road and head back toward the Green passing the Shaffer Iron Foundry and Machine Shop. When we get back to old Plank Road we'll go north past the town hall and stop at Jolliffe Brothers Cheese Factory while we debate having dinner either at the Commercial Hotel or the Exchange House, both busy hostels, located near the depot and the station house for the D. L. & N. railroad which also served our residents.

Of course we'll take Division street back to Mill street, which will lead us back to that old Plank Road and out of town... after paying our toll again, however.

Well, that's the tour and you hardly recognize your own home town, do you?

Let's see, the Plank Road is of course Plymouth Road. Bennett Street is the present street off Main at the Kroger store, and the Village Green is Kellogg Park. South Street is now Main Street and Bowery Street is now Maple Street east of Main. The Ann Arbor Road referred to is now Ann Arbor Trail.

Can you follow us now? The Berdan house was where the D & C store is. The Commercial Hotel was the present Alexandrine Hotel, and the Exchange house was across from Dot's Koffee Kup restaurant. Division Street followed the railroad, east and west, past our present depot further than it does now. Remember?

Certainly the above doesn't tell us where the name North Territorial road came from but I'm having a lot of helpful suggestions from our kind local residents.

Russell Hoffman and Katharine Todd preferred the following same opinion. Probably Ann Arbor road was originally Territorial road and, as wagon traffic increased there, local residents used the north branch of Territorial road which brought about the North designation.

Mrs. Paul Nash and Emerson Woods are of the opinion that Geddes road was the original Territorial road and here again North was applied to this branch to avoid confusion. Says Mr. Woods, "I think North Territorial road, in the old days, ran from Sheldon to Michigan avenue."

Here's a dandy, too. Orval Kerr of Harding street says that if we could check the abstract of some of his Chelsea, Michigan, friends, now in Florida, we would find Territorial road was the original dividing line between Michigan and Ohio and was one of the main stage coach lines to Chicago, paralleling our present Interstate 94 west from Ann Arbor.

And, to add to our confusion, our old friend Edwin Schrader says without much effort he can show us proof that actually the road is East North Territorial Road. From anyone but Bud I might have welcomed this suggestion but, though he may be right, I'll just say at this moment I've had about enough of this problem, and the whole solution has been turned over to Karl Starkweather who is deep in research right now getting an expert opinion ready for one of our coming issues.

Let's change the subject and tell Paul Wiedman how much we'll miss seeing him in his familiar salesroom on South Main street. When I came to Plymouth, Paul, Ernest Allison and Carl Shear were young men and it was with their help and guidance that I learned many of the answers to problems of the business world.

Plymouth was fortunate to have men of this caliber in the early days of the automobile business, and I dislike the thoughts of the three of them not being a truly active part of our business community. Certainly their individual and collective contributions to Plymouth and the entire area have made this a better place to live.

It isn't often that a community can witness three competitors working their hearts out together on projects of beneficial interest to all the people of their locality. Yet, this has been true of Paul, Carl and Ernie. Competitors, yes, each selling a product in a field that challenges the best of the best of men. Each has made a tremendous success of not only their businesses but their personal lives and almost any interest into which they so graciously consented to participate for the good of Plymouth.

To culminate a career as brilliant as those of these three, and to enjoy the fruits of their labors and charities, necessitates the proper selection of a successor to continue that life's work in the same way that the pattern was cut and, in true form, each has accomplished this end, with dignity, with thought and with extreme care.

The passing of the Buick agency from Mr. Shear's hands to that of Jack Selle has proven the clarity and vision of his selection.

The good fortune of having a son interested in his profession has given Plymouth a fine replacement in the Chevrolet agency, with Frank Allison now directing, so capably, the business which his father so ably operated for so many years.

And now, the selection of Leo Calhoun, to continue the operation of Mr. Wiedman's 41 year old Ford Sales and Service, is only another achievement to cap Mr. Wiedman's long service to this area.

If these three young men can look back, several years hence, on their accomplishments and attain half those recorded by their illustrious predecessors they will have made a success of their businesses and Plymouth will be an even better place in which to live because of their participation, interest and enthusiasm.

Our most sincere wishes for complete happiness in the days ahead go to Paul, Ernie and Carl, for rests most deservedly earned. And, without saying... we hope for a continuation of the prosperity and achievement for their three young successors, Jack, Frank and Leo.

RECREATION LANDS are in great demand in Michigan and most natural resource enthusiasts agree that scarcity of land will be a critical situation soon, if it is not such already.

State parks and recreation areas bear a heavier load of campers, swimmers and picnickers every year. Where will additional land for Michigan people and out-of-state tourists come from in the future?

One idea man, completely outside the Conservation Department, has a unique idea of where one batch of new recreational lands can be created.

PAUL LUTZEIER, aide to Secretary of State James M. Hare, suggests Lake St. Clair offers great potential for new recreation facilities.

The lake, particularly in the shallow areas near Harren's Island, is a natural for man-made islands linked together in the same way the Florida Keys are joined. Lutzeier says this unique project would be "one dramatic, yet relatively inexpensive solution, to the pressing problem of providing recreation lands".

Conservation officials are considering Lutzeier's proposal for a pilot study of the island idea. Charles E. Miller, head of the department's lands division, said the idea definitely "has some merit".

THE LOCATION PROPOSED for the island-making project is an area where Lake St. Clair ranges in depth between 2 and 12 feet. Lutzeier suggested that material periodically dredged from the shipping channel in the lake and industrial waste from the Detroit metropolitan area could be used as raw materials for the islands.

Because of the population concentration in the Southeast Michigan area, the chain of 20 islands proposed by Lutzeier would provide recreation opportunities for the hundreds of thousands who live within 50 miles of Lake St. Clair.

Lutzeier, who also worked with Hare in planning the new annual International Freedom Festival in cooperation with Windsor, Ont. officials, sees Lake St. Clair as "an acre of diamonds. It has the greatest recreational potential in Michigan because of the population surrounding it".

WHAT'S AHEAD in 1963? For one thing, the job outlook is good, according to Michigan State University economist Roger L. Bowley.

Michigan's unemployment rate has been steadily dropping and the trend seems to be continuing, Bowley said.

"For the first time since early 1956, Michigan's rate of unemployment has dropped below the national average," unemployment has dropped he said.

A continuation of this trend, although the national unemployment figure remains relatively high, should take Michigan out of the category of "the problem state", the MSU spokesman predicts.

A CONTINUATION of the performance of the American drop in unemployment will largely depend on the overall economy, Bowley pointed out, but the recent trend appears to be strong enough to warrant a prediction of its extension.

Loss of defense jobs and decentralization of the auto industry were blamed for many of Michigan's problems in the employment record during the past few years. Bowley predicts these will not likely be important factors in the coming years.

"It is very reasonable to guess that Michigan will share in the national growth of output, income and employment during 1963", he said.

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY MAY increase in the immediate and near future, warns State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs.

This conclusion is drawn by Childs on the basis of current rates of delinquency in comparison with projected numbers in the juvenile population of the state.

During 1961, Childs reports about two-thirds of the persons arrested by various police agencies for major offenses were under 21 years old.

CHILD'S NOTED that of 51,634 arrests for what are considered major offenses, some 33,798 of the persons were 21 or younger. Of these 19,930 were in the 16-and-under age group.

An indication of the potential for numerical worsening of the juvenile crime problem comes from the basic population figures. The number of 19 year old youths in Michigan in 1975 will be approximately double the 97,146 in that age group during 1961, Childs said.

A closer comparison can be noted in the fact that in 1961 there were 160,144 in the 14-year age group. This was an increase of 43,460 over the 1960 population in the same group, Childs said.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS-AT-HEART

BY MELVIN L. WOELL, MGR.
INFORMATION DIVISION
MICHIGAN FARM BUREAU

What do farmers notice when they travel to a new section of the big country? What is a Northern farmer's impression of a big Southern city, such as Atlanta, Georgia?

Doubtlessly, replies would vary widely with each of the 5,000 or so farmers, 75 from Michigan among them who attended the mid-December annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation in Atlanta.

There was the impression of cold, unbelievable cold for the South. Certainly zero weather was hard to believe for most Georgians. To the Florida farmers at the meeting it represented actual catastrophe, with many of them sick with worry about what frost damage they could expect back home.

If the burning of Atlanta during the Civil War, (Southern people prefer to call it "the war between the states") - a used any permanent damage it is not now evident. Atlanta boasts fabulous growth in buildings, wealth and people. It has surpassed the one-million resident mark, and a building boom is on. Many of the new buildings are tied to the finance industries, to banks, loan agencies investment firms.

A study in contrasts were the ever-present beggars. Seven were counted in a five-day period. The price has gone up too. "Can you spare me twenty cents to spend in the mission?" one asked. Others offered pencils, or held out tiny flags for "sale" - several preferred tin cups.

The famed Georgia pecan has almost vanished from the market, with something like an one-eighth normal crop reported by one farmer. "I think the blossoms failed," he said. Peanuts? Quite a different story. An excellent supply of "goobers" were much in evidence with sample packets passed out to convention visitors by the Georgia Department of Agriculture.

The South may have lost the war, but is busily cleaning up in souvenir business. Rebel hats and flags sell at a brisk rate and genuine Confederate money is rapidly becoming more valuable than real dollars.

"The South will rise again" might well have been the motto of Southern farmers who added nearly 16,000 new Farm Bureau memberships to organized agriculture in the past year. As if to prepare a welcome for other states, the host state of Georgia contributed the greatest single membership gain of more than 4,000 new farm family members.

To Plymouth and it's citizens:
Prudential Insurance indicates it's strength by using the Rock of Gibraltar as it's symbol.

I don't know how Plymouth gained it's name unless it's built on a rock but I do know that Plymouthites show their strength; by their knowledge of good solid government; by their unity of purpose, community wise, and by their thirst for a better living and working City.

You thrust out a welcoming hand to our family for which we are grateful. It only goes to prove that Plymouth is not all Rock.

You couldn't have made a better choice than Vivian Champion as a "Welcomé Wagon" lady. She filled us in completely on Adult Education Classes at the various schools, recreation opportunities in this fine city and granted us opportunities to visit with various merchants in town. The merchants carried on her work by extending another warm, personal welcome spiced with gifts to delight the family.

We feel wanted as we want to be, and I'm sure we'll have as many acquaintances and friends in the near future as we enjoyed at our previous place of abode.

Many of such kindnesses are noted, to be sure, not only during the weeks before Christmas but throughout the year. Those extra efforts, however, contributed by so many during the past few weeks, underline and alert our awareness.

Fire Chief, Fred Korte reports there were no fires caused from Christmas trees, which made him happy but on New Years Day they had a bad fire. They answered a call at 9:17 a.m. at 50376 Geddes Rd. to find the second floor and roof involved, in a dwelling over 120 years old, belonging to Mr. Walter B. Gorham. The roof was of metal and collapsed, which the firemen had to remove, in order to fight the fire, which they found one of the toughest to extinguish. The fire was caused by a faultily installed coal stove. Damage was confined to the second floor and roof. A broken window on the second floor fed the fire with oxygen greatly intensifying the blaze. This floor had been used only for storage, and in previous years many items had accumulated, such as old clothing, mattresses, trunks, papers, and much more, which made extinguishment very difficult. The fire started in the first story by the stove pipe, spreading through the floor to the walls, and up the walls to a small attic. It took approximately forty minutes to bring this fire under control. Mopping up operations were hampered by the collapsed roof. Canton Firemen spent a total of five hours on this fire. Fire Chief Fred Korte wishes to praise the fire-fighters for their extreme efforts in bringing this fire under control, working in zero temperatures. Superior Township Fire Dept. was called on for assistance and responded with their 1000 gal. Tanker. The fire loss was undetermined at this writing.

BY GEORGE SPELVIN

Old, familiar voices wait for the ear-ward over W. J. R. these days. Arthur Godfrey, Art Linkletter, Lowell Thomas, and a host of radio favorites ride the "kilo-cycles" as the Goodwill station returns to the C.B.S. fold.

The network programs add a bit more dash and piquant flavor to "J. R.'s" already spicy, ear-titillating array of fine programs. Many of your record for longevity, occupies time on Sunday afternoon at 4:30 p.m.

Radio is far from dead. Millions of car radios and the influx of FM sets that accompany the stereo Hi-Fi sets have swelled the listening audience. In fact, I'd be willing to wager that every week TV loses a few more addicts to this more entertaining world of radio. Old George recommends the world of FM.

Dial in stations like W. D. T. M. and W. U. O. M. for stimulating educational programs as well as fine music. Give your eyes a rest during the coming year. Dr. Kildare and Head Surgeon Ben Casey will still be cutting cadavers by the carloads when you want to come back to the "idiot box."

And if you'd like to go even further, you can get a real reckless and decide to read a book. Not a condensed version found in the Reader's Digest, but an honest-to-goodness complete book with a couple of hundred thousand words in it. Sounds frightening, doesn't it?

You'll find that the book from which most movies are made has page for page more pleasure than the cinematic treatment. So if you're seeing more TV lately and enjoying it less, my advice is to go to your local library or bookstore and obtain a book.

In the past fortnight, old George has read Brian Moore's "Answer from Limbo," a New York adventure seen through the wry, whimsical Irish eyes of Mr. Moore. A gigantic monumental study of Sinclair Lewis written deftly by Mark Schorer.

When you heft all 800 pages of this book in an effort to pre-judge its worth, you are safe in assuming that it's going to be heavy reading.

But the weight of the book remains the only disturbing factor. You are absorbed in the extraordinary story of a writer who staunchly refused ever to take a good hard look into himself. If you have ever read any of Sinclair Lewis' novels, you'll definitely enjoy such a fine biography. Try "King Rat," by James Clavell, a spellbinding novel about life, death and basic morality in a Japanese prison camp; exciting and thought-provoking.

For more prodding of those quiescent brain cells take a trip over to the U of M campus in Ann Arbor. Purchase a ticket for the University Players production of Pirandello's "Six Characters in Search of An Author."

Our Italian playwright in this play dwells on the illusions on which life itself is built...and the disturbing philosophy that, since truth varies with the individual, there can be NO TRUTH... thus really there can be no true communication among people.

Mull this bit of metaphysics around in those gray areas of your brain-pan for while. Better yet, plan to see the play sometime this week on Jan. 9, 10, 11, or 12 at 8 p.m. in the Trueblood Auditorium.

The following week "The Fantasticks," the original company from New York, invades the U of M campus. You'll be able to sit back and relax as this "magical musical" spins its gossamer charms in and around you for the evening.

You'll be humming the gay tunes and be so happy that the boy finally gets the girl. It's a happy, delightful piece of whimsy. The U of M Professional Theater Program is presenting the play in the Trueblood Auditorium starting Tuesday, Jan. 15, for a week's engagement with special matinees on Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays. Mail orders are being accepted now.

Thinking about the "Fantasticks" played earlier in the season at the Wayne University Theater. Currently, the Vanguard is enjoying capacity business with this popular musical. Comparisons between the two productions are inevitable.

As good as most of the professionals at the Vanguard are, I'm afraid I will have to cast my vote in favor of George Pentecost who did the role of "The Boy" with far more polish. And Martin Shakar's portrayal of the old Shakespearean actor had more ham in it than Warren Colston's at the Vanguard. Old George always prefers generous slices of ham and plenty of corn either on or off the cob.

All this doesn't mean that you can take anything away from the wonderful production of the "Fantasticks" at the Vanguard. No, siree!! You'll find David Atkinson, John Gregory, William Feaster, Virginia Wing and Gardold Gardner doing a "fantabulous" job with merry musical. If the Vanguard management hadn't made prior commitments with Mr. Atkinson, I'm quite sure "Fantasticks" could run for six months at the Vanguard.

I might caution you to try for tickets during the early part of the week. The weekend performances are selling out.

Students and Parents Invited To 'Opportunities' Meeting

All Plymouth High School students and their parents are invited to attend a meeting in the Senior High school auditorium Tuesday, Jan. 15, at 8 p.m. The topic for discussion will be "Opportunities for employment and further training after High School."

James H. Dotseth, director of technical education at N W Wayne County Community College, will direct the discussion.

Previous to accepting his present position, Dotseth was with the State Department of Public Instruction as Consultant and Industrial Education. He was also a teacher at Flint, Hamtramck, and Detroit.

He received his Masters in Education from Wayne State University and has recently retired as a Commander in the United States Navy, having served in World War II and the Korean conflict.

Students and their parents will have a chance to learn about the manpower needs and population growth for the 1960's. The opportunities for employment will be surveyed. The opportunities for training in private trade schools, public schools, apprenticeships, and cooperative work-study experiences will be emphasized.

Since the community college will be ready for operation in September, 1964, the kinds of programs being considered and the opportunities resulting from the completion of these programs will be highlighted.

Also the admission requirements to the college will be explained.

Further information is available from Robert Smith at the Senior High, GL 3-3100.

Store Hours 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Expanding Credit Foreseen in 1963 By Research Firm

A credit report of some type is made on an individual in the United States every one-half second, according to statistics compiled by the Harold A. Wallace Research Center of Associated Credit Bureaus of America, Inc., an international trade association for credit bureaus and collection service offices.

Other figures made available by the Center reveal that during 1962 credit bureau members of the Association issued a program totaling $7,000,000 credit reports, an increase of 8.1 per cent over the 1961 total.

Collections amounted to $97,000,000 as compared to $88,000,000 for the preceding year. This represents a 10.2 per cent increase in the number of past-due accounts receivable collected by members of the ACBoA Collection Service Division.

Present long-range forecasts indicate these figures will continue to rise during the next 12 months. All reports currently available indicate that 1963 will be a period of continuing expansion for United States business in general and for the consumer credit industry in particular.
