Heights Vote Is July 9

The revised charter for the City of Plymouth Heights (nee Plymouth Township) has successfully passed the scrutinizing inspection of the Michigan attorney general's office and is understood to be awaiting only Gov. Romney's signature.

This was the announcement last week of James Garber, chairman of the Plymouth Heights charter commission. Garber said he had been told by the attorney general's office that a favorable recommendation on the charter had been issued and the document had been submitted to Romney's office for signing.

The attorney general was called in on the matter to determine if the charter conformed to the legal requirements of Michigan's Home Rule Act.

Following the governor's signature on the document, a charter-adoption election will be held in the township. Although Romney has not yet signed the document, the election has been scheduled for July 9.

Garber said that he had been instructed by the attorney general's office to proceed with plans to publish the entire revised charter in a forthcoming issue of The Plymouth Mail.

It is a requirement that must precede the actual election. The incorporation of the City of Plymouth Heights was approved by a margin of 65 votes in February, 1959. But that simply set the wheels in motion.

Without a charter, Plymouth Heights remains only a Township. A previous charter-adoption election was held in January, 1961. At that time, Township voters rejected the charter, 1,589 to 35.

It prevented Plymouth Heights from gaining official status. A new charter commission was immediately called and the revisions of the initial document were begun.

In the final analysis, the efforts to form the City of Plymouth Heights have constituted a "holding action" which for four years has effectively prevented any attempt to annex a part of the NORMA CASSADY said she is "as surprised as anyone" that her store — Cassady's — has "lasted as long as it has." It is marking its 30th anniversary this month.

Norma Cassady's 'Dream' Becomes 30-Year Reality

Spawned as it was in the depths of the depression, the national bank "holiday" of 1933 turned Plymouth's economy into a 100-day-long hand-to-mouth struggle, just as it affected all towns across the country.

But despite the inherent danger of the times, Plymouthite Norma Cassady had a mind "to do something different."

Plymouth for a month or more had been without a retail business that catered expressly to women. Norma had hopes of improving the situation.

In the face of the continuing economic storm, she was not altogether without doubt, however.

Looking as much to her daily budget as she did to the future, Norma — a life-long resident and mother of three small children — selected a narrow $20 a month building on Penniman Ave. and warily opened the "Norma Cassady" store.

Pops Concert Program "Zany" Musical Affair

Described as a "zany" musical number that was written originally for the Hoffnung Festival in London, "A Grand, Grand Overture" will be among many highlights of the annual Pops Concert here Saturday night.

Put on by the Plymouth Symphony Women's League, the Pops Concert will feature music of a light, gay nature in an informal setting that will include the serving of refreshments.

The concert will be presented in the Senior High gymnasium and will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Only reserved tickets may be obtained, since guests at the concert will be seated at small tables, each accommodating four or five persons. The tickets, at $1.50 apiece, are on sale now at Melody House. No admission tickets will be available at the door Saturday night, according to Mrs. James Warren, who is in charge of publicity for the event.

Music will be provided by the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Wayne Dunlap. The orchestra only last month concluded its regular 1962-63 free concert series and already is making plans for next year's concert session.

Proceeds will be used to support next year's Symphony Orchestra concert series.

It was Dunlap who described "A Grand, Grand Overture" as a "zany" musical accomplishment. He explained that it was written by an Englishman, Malcolm

Not fully convinced that the venture would prosper, she turned down a large location next door that rented for $50 a month.

She stocked the smaller store with only dresses and hosiery. It was May of 1933, and the bank holiday was at mid-point. The new president, Franklin Roosevelt, had been in office two months.

Using womanly discretion in her buying habits and performing many of the alterations for customers herself, Mrs. Cassady slowly nursed her business through the tag-end years of the depression and into full adulthood.

Today, three decades later and better than a generation away from the bank holiday, Norma is marking the 30th anniversary of "Cassady's."

Millage Election Looms

Report Tells of School 'Pinch'

The increasing financial needs of the Plymouth School District took on added significance Monday night in the light of a comprehensive report submitted to the Board of Education by the volunteer School Community Planning Group.

It forecast the growth of the area to a point "in the near future" where at least 1,300 additional new homes will add measurably to the present 5,300-student enrollment in public schools here.

Robert Crosby, chairman of the school planning group, presented the report, which included recommendations on the renewal of existing tax levies so as to meet the financial burden of the School District.

Although the School Board itself must announce the date of any millage election, the report implied that an appropriate time for such a move would be either this fall or next spring.

The report recommended the renewal of the five-mill building and site sinking fund for a three-year period beginning with the tax levy of December, 1965.

It also urged that at the same election another proposal be made to renew a three-mill school operating tax which is due to expire in December of this year.

Board members discussed briefly the wisdom of seeking to renew the five-mill building and site sinking fund levy for only three years. The present one is a five-year

Exact Impact Of 'Bus Bill' Unclear Here

Exactly how the pending "parochial bus law" will affect the Plymouth School district's transportation program is something that must await careful study once the bill has been signed into law by Gov. Romney.

The bill, already passed by the Michigan House and Senate, requires only the governor's signature before going into effect with the start of the 1964-65 school year.

Supt. of Schools Russell Isbister estimates that approximately 200 parochial school children will become eligible to ride on the public school system's fleet of 21 buses once the bill becomes law.

At present, 2,200 public school students get to and from school on the 21-bus fleet, he said.

Only major problem expected to arise is the manner of applying "boundaries" to the parochial school students, Isbister indicated.

Under the School District's present arrangement, pupils in kindergarten through sixth grade may ride the bus if they live more than one mile

Seven Enter Race For School Board

In a flurry of last minute filing of petitions, seven men have emerged as candidates for the June 10 School Board election here. Deadline to file was on Saturday.

The candidates are:

- GEORGE CONOVER, 279 Blunk;
- PATRICK GANNON, 165 Burroughs;
- JAMES GARBER, 42269 Hammill Lane;
- JOHN D. McLAREN, 1008 Roosevelt;
- HAROLD I. NIEMI, 47566 Joy Rd.;
- GLENN SCHROEDER, 1330 Beech;
- CARL SCHULTHEISS, 11705 Amherst Court.

At stake in the election will be a pair of four-year terms on the Plymouth School District's Board of Education.

Listening Post Tickets on Sale

Tickets for the Listening Post lecture series will go on sale this week, according to Mrs. Jules Eder, ticket chairman.

The three lectures of the 1963-64 season will feature speakers in the general fields of the arts, science, and human relations.

Season tickets at $4 per person will be available at the monthly meeting of the American Association of University Women on May 16 and from the following members of the ticket committee:

- Mrs. Eder, Mrs. Henry Jensen, Mrs. D. L. Borgia, Mrs. William Clarke, Mrs. LaVerne Jones, Mrs. C. B. Levering and Mrs. D. F. Van Hine.

and development department for the Plymouth Community School system was also among the list of recommendations.

The study was based mainly on the present elementary school facilities and on a projection of school enrollment through the 1966-67 school year.

"At the present time," the report stated, "certain elementary schools (here) are facing a critical shortage of classrooms. The Farrand School (Lake Pointe Village area) is currently transporting all of its sixth grade pupils to Junior High West."

The report said that an increase of 800 homes in Canton Township is expected "sometime in the near future." Between 500 and 600 new homes in Lake Pointe was also among the projections contained in the report.

An estimate of elementary school enrollment by 1966-67 indicated that there would be 3,667 youngsters between kindergarten and sixth grade by that time. Present elementary school capacity is less than 3,000 pupils.

The existing sinking fund has enabled a savings of $500,000 in interest costs over recent years, the report said, but even this has not permitted the School District to remain safely ahead of the growth of the area.

A two-room addition to Farrand School that is now underway is destined to be "inadequate by the time it is completed," according to the report.

The study also urged that kindergarten through sixth grade students should be kept together in the same school in the respective geographical areas of the School District.

"Any deviation from this should be on a temporary basis until additional elementary facilities are available."

McLaren — best known as "Jay" — is a partner in McLaren Lumber and Coal Co. and two affiliated firms bearing the same family name.

Present capacity of the 10 schools in the School District is 5,550 pupils. Present enrollment is about 5,300. Estimated total enrollment for 1963-64 is 5,584. For 1964-65, it is 5,795. It is estimated to reach nearly 6,000 by the following year and by 1966-67 the total enrollment will be approaching 6,300, nearly 1,000 students more than at present.

The increase per year between now and then ranges from 3.2 per cent to 5.3 per cent, with the largest percentage boost to take place next fall.

Stremich To Head Fund Plea

Robert Stremich

Robert Stremich, co-owner of Hillside Inn, has been named general chairman of the 1963 Community Fund drive by the Fund's board of directors.

The announcement was made following a regular meeting of the board members last week. City Manager Albert Glassford was general chairman for last year's drive and will serve in an advisory capacity for the coming appeal.

At the same time, Elmer Hedlund, an executive of Western Electric Co. here, was named once again to head the industrial division phase of the campaign. Hedlund held the same post last fall.

Stremich, active in a number of community projects, is a member of the local Rotary Club. He has been among the leading proponents and participants in Plymouth's efforts to increase its industrial tax base.

He lives at 7675 Hix Rd. and attends Our Lady of Good Counsel Church.

Although the exact kick-off date for the 1963 Community Fund campaign has not yet been set, it will be sometime in October.

Stage Is Set for Local Michigan Salute

A lengthy schedule of events during all of next week will add tangible meaning to Plymouth's share of the state-wide "Michigan Week" observance, May 19-25.

General theme of the salute will be "Spotlighting Science and Research for our Future." It is the 10th annual Michigan Week observance, announced Plymouth's general chairman Jim Jabara.

"The purpose of the Michigan Week celebration," he said, "is to add further emphasis to the progress of Michigan and its many communities."

Jabara and his chairmen have planned a busy week of special events. Beginning with Spiritual Day on Sunday, the week will culminate Saturday, May 25, with Youth Day.

Between the start and the finish of the week are five other day-long programs, each devoted to separate topics illustrating in depth the progress, tradition and freedom of the American way of life as it pertains to Michigan and Plymouth.

Monday, May 20, is entitled Mayor's Day and will be highlighted by the exchange of mayors between Plymouth and Monroe. Both men will receive keys to their host cities.

Lue Monroe mayor is Dr.

Lawrence Frost. His visit will include special presentations to him by local Urban Renewal officials, members of the Industrial Development Corp., and a spokesman for the Plymouth Historical Society.

An evening banquet will cap the festivities.

Hospitality Day on Tuesday will be a general affair during which time local merchants will serve coffee and cookies to customers.

Wednesday has been designated as "Our Livelihood Day." While plans had not altogether been finalized by Jabara, the Livelihood Day observance will consist essentially of special industrial displays in the windows of

National Bank of Detroit, Davis and Lent, and the Hotel Mayflower.

One of the busiest days will be Thursday, Education Day. All grandparents have been invited to visit the schools at that time to see the difference between present-day educational systems and those they knew as children.

Certain Senior High students will take over the reins of local government briefly and the Plymouth Mail will do a picture feature on the subject of how the school system is preparing students for science and research in the future.

Teachers have been instructed to emphasize the significance of Michigan Week. Additional stories on Michigan Week will appear in "The Pilgrim Prints," the Senior High's student newspaper.

Friday is Heritage Day and special exhibits will be set up in a number of store windows. An art display will be shown all day at the library and librarian Agnes Pauline will arrange a special display of books on Michigan and its history.

A D.A.R. tea will be held at the library in mid-afternoon and the Plymouth Historical museum will be open the entire day.

A lilac will be planted in Kellogg Park in ceremonies

Babette was one of 275 Township dogs that "attended" the clinics. City of Plymouth will hold similar dog clinics Saturday, May 18, and again on Saturday, May 25. Purpose is two-fold: rabies shots and the sale of dog licenses.

Another coming spring concert will be presented by the Plymouth High School Vocal department Tuesday, May 28, in the gym at 8 p.m., it has been announced.

The Student Council, headed by Mayor Buzz Smith, has been working on three major projects that will be completed by the end of the school year.

The first project entailed the purchase of a trophy board with a small statue signifying each sport played during the school year.

Every school in the Suburban Six League has purchased one of these boards and a traveling trophy will be displayed by the school that wins the league crown.

After a school has won the same championship three times, the trophy is retained and another put into rotation. The trophy board cost the Student Council $94.50. It was presented to the Athletic department.

The Class of 1962 left a total of $833 in its treasury which was turned over to the Student Council.

One hundred dollars is being used to purchase new books for the library. Many of the books are concerned with careers and other specialized subjects.

The remainder of the money and some funds from Student Council projects will go toward the purchase of curtains for the gym. These will be used when movies are shown at assemblies and gym classes.

The projects complete a very active year for the Student Council and the school as well, for that matter.

Nursery Elects New Officers

An open house will be held on Monday evening, May 20 to acquaint all prospective members with the nursery school. The school meets at the Community Center, 200 Union Street, and it will be open that evening to all residents of Plymouth who are interested in learning what the school has to offer. The program will be explained, questions will be answered by the present membership, and all guests will be able to view the equipment available and will learn what special events are held over the school year.

There are still a limited number of openings available for next fall. Three year olds will meet on Tuesdays and Thursdays, while four year olds will have classes on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Robert Stenger at 453-7896.

At the breakfast a prayer of thanksgiving for daughters was given by Mrs. Sidney Strong. A prayer of thanksgiving for mothers was given by Miss Betsy Williams.

Hostess for the breakfast was Mrs. Robert Willoughby. Although mother-daughter breakfasts were held often in the past, this is the first such affair to be held since the church moved to its present location on Sheldon Rd.

Announce 1963-64 Symphony Concert Series

With the Plymouth Symphony Society's 1963-64 membership drive rapidly drawing to a close, dates for next year's Symphony concert series have been announced by conductor Wayne Dunlap.

The membership drive thus far has met with good success, a spokesman indicated, but additional membership subscriptions are still being sought. The campaign will conclude the evening of May 22, coinciding with the Symphony's annual meeting at Junior High East. Next year's Symphony series will feature six free concerts, same number as were offered during this past season. A significant change has been made, however. Instead of one Saturday evening concert as was the case this past year, the Society will present two Saturday evening affairs during the 1963-64 season. Again, the opening concert, this time on Oct. 12, will be on a Saturday night.

The additional Saturday night performance will be April 11, 1964, Dunlap explained. In years prior to this most recent one, all of the concerts were held on Sunday afternoon. The Saturday evening concert opening the season last fall was followed by a social "After-Glow" at the Hotel Mayflower. No definite plans have yet been made to include similar festivities in conjunction with the two Saturday night concerts next year.

It is an item that presumably will be explored, however. The forth-coming concerts will be held on: Saturday evening, Oct. 12; Sunday, Nov. 17; Sunday, Dec. 8; Sunday, Jan. 26 (the family concert); Sunday, March 1; and Saturday evening, April 11. Date for the 1964 "Pops Concert" is May 16, Dunlap said. This year's "Pops Concert" is just around the corner. It will be presented this Saturday, May 18.

Retires after 11 Years As Plymouth Teacher

The retirement of one teacher, the granting of leaves of absence to three others, and the appointment of 13 new teachers were items of business on the School Board's Monday evening agenda.

Retiring at the end of this school year is Mrs. Jean McKenna, a veteran instructor in the Plymouth school system. She teaches third grade at Gallimore Elementary School.

Mrs. McKenna, of 1309 Collegewood Dr., Ypsilanti, has been a member of the Plymouth school faculty since 1952 when the Bartlett School — at which she was teaching — was annexed to the Plymouth School District.

She had taught two years at Bartlett and for 14 years at various other schools before that. For 27 years, Mrs. McKenna has been a public school teacher.

She attended Central Michigan and Eastern Michigan University.

Leaves of absence for three teachers were approved. Involved were Mabel Bloxom, who intends to travel extensively next year; William Sands, who is planning to undertake a graduate study program, and Donna Stevens, for maternity purposes.

McAllister's Robbed; Loot Totals $1,200

An estimated $1,200 in merchandise — including 14 cases of whiskey — was stolen from McAllister Brothers Grocery, 14720 Northville Rd., sometime the night of April 30.

Wayne County Sheriff's officers are continuing an investigation of the theft.

James McAllister, a part-owner in the store, discovered the break-in about 8:30 A.M. Wednesday morning, May 1. He said other loot included 135 cases of cigarettes and a radio.

Entry was gained through a rear door, McAllister said. It was pried off its hinges, after barricading steel bars were first jimmied off.

Retires after 11 Years As Plymouth Teacher

The retirement of one teacher, the granting of leaves of absence to three others, and the appointment of 13 new teachers were items of business on the School Board's Monday evening agenda.

Retiring at the end of this school year is Mrs. Jean McKenna, a veteran instructor in the Plymouth school system. She teaches third grade at Gallimore Elementary School.

Mrs. McKenna, of 1309 Collegewood Dr., Ypsilanti, has been a member of the Plymouth school faculty since 1952 when the Bartlett School — at which she was teaching — was annexed to the Plymouth School District.

She had taught two years at Bartlett and for 14 years at various other schools before that. For 27 years, Mrs. McKenna has been a public school teacher.

She attended Central Michigan and Eastern Michigan University.

Leaves of absence for three teachers were approved. Involved were Mabel Bloxom, who intends to travel extensively next year; William Sands, who is planning to undertake a graduate study program, and Donna Stevens, for maternity purposes.

The 13 new teachers, some of the colleges they attended, and their teaching assignments are:

Northville Man Dies When Car Strikes Train

A 24-year-old Northville man died Friday afternoon some 90 minutes after the car he was driving slammed into the side of an east-bound passenger train at the C & O rail crossing on Eckles Rd.

Pronounced dead shortly after being admitted to St. Mary Hospital was Preston Anderson, of 790 Horton, Northville. He was alone in his car.

Wayne County sheriff's deputies reported that Anderson was driving south on Eckles Rd. A west-bound freight was just clearing the railroad intersection, but warning red flashers were still operating.

Anderson did not stop and just as he was about to cross the tracks, a passenger train roared across the intersection, traveling east. Anderson's car slammed into the side of the engine and was dragged some 100 feet down the tracks.

The car was demolished. The mishap occurred at about 12:30 p.m. Friday.

In another local traffic accident, investigated by Wayne County sheriffs, Plymouthite Raymond Meiers, Jr., of 48763 Gyde Rd., sustained minor injuries when his car went out of control Thursday evening near the Schoolcraft and Five Mile Rd. intersection and struck another auto.

Meiers told deputies he lost control on slippery pavement. His car struck an auto driven by Albert Smart of Livonia. Smart suffered minor injuries. Both men were treated by local physicians.

The Professor Says...

By Ed Brown

This summer I hope to have time to do a little research in trying to locate some of our former PHS graduates, and letting you all know what they are now doing, and about their families, etc. This is rather hard to do from week to week, and trying to do a regular job at the same time.

If any of you readers have some information concerning our former graduates, or if families and relatives would give me a call, or a letter, it would be appreciated and most helpful.

In some cases I will bring back an entire family who have passed through the portals of our education system. I am going to tell you of such a family of youngsters today.

Several weeks ago I told you about Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kidston. He is the former debater who became a top-notch trial lawyer, and is fast becoming a politician in Kalamazoo. Roger, part owner of his own law firm, is married to the former Ann Hammond. They live in Kalamazoo, and have two girls.

Since that appeared in the paper I have heard from several sources that others in the same family are "cutting quite a swath" in their chosen fields since they left PHS.

Alan, the oldest of the five Kidston children, and one of Jim Latture's star debaters, graduated from Plymouth in 1946, and then attended the University of Michigan. He obtained his law degree from there, and in his senior year was the presiding judge of the trial court, and was named the top lawyer of his class.

The young couple have four children, all boys, Bobby, 9, Billy, 7, Ed, 5, and John, who was born last February. They live at 40560 E. Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth.

The youngest Kidston lad graduated from PHS in 1954. He also attended the University of Michigan, graduating with a Master's degree in Education. Brian is presently teaching at Mumford High School in Detroit. He is married to the former Margaret Burr, who taught in the Plymouth schools before their marriage and while Brian was serving his "hitch" in the Marines.

The husband is employed in a laboratory in Hillsdale and the couple have a lovely home there.

They both hunt, fish and bowl regularly on league teams.

Yes, the Arthur Kidstons of Ann Arbor Trail can well be proud of their fine young sons and daughter for what they stand for and what they have accomplished in so short a time in their young lives. It is most heartening to see all members of a family grow into successful young men and women like this one.

To Present 'Springtasia' Friday

Plymouth High's 70-piece concert band, under the direction of James Griffith, will present "Springtasia" Friday evening at 8 p.m. in the Senior High gym.

The concert, coupled with last Saturday's Band Booster tag sale, is designed to raise funds to send the band to the National Music Camp at Interlochen this summer.

Among the selections to be performed will be the Water Music Suite, by Handel, and Gershwin's popular "Porgy and Bess."

Other pieces range from stimulating marches, including one entitled "Marchman-ship" written by Howard Cable, to lighter numbers such as LeRoy Anderson's popular "Alma Mater."

Admission to the concert will either be by presentation

It's Official - Lilac is City's Flower

The City of Plymouth has an official municipal flower finally.

Commissioners, acting Monday night on the recommendation of the Plymouth Garden Club and local Michigan Week chairman Jim Jabara, designated the lilac as the City's official flower.

The move was timed to coincide with next week's salute to Michigan by the Plymouth community. Official recognition of the lilac as the City's flower will take place on Heritage Day, Friday, May 24.

The members of the Garden Club have put up $25 with which to aid in the promotion of the lilac, and Commissioners indicated that a civic pride in the fragrant bush could best be shown if citizens would plant more lilacs.

There was a bit of a risk involved in the action, however. A question was raised whether the petunia had previously been designated the City's official flower.

School District "Pinch"

School Board meeting was a particularly significant one. It dealt with a communication from the Frains Lake School Board inquiring into the possibility of being annexed to the Plymouth District. The Frains District is between here and Ann Arbor, but does not touch the Plymouth District.

The Plymouth Board members referred the matter to the superintendent of schools for Washtenaw County.

The 1963-64 school calendar for the public school system here was approved and resolutions were passed relative to the June 10 general school election.

Discussion was given to a petition signed by students who attend Plymouth schools on a tuition basis. The districts that send them, all located to the west, have on occasion had difficulties in paying the tuition fees on time.

The Superintendent of schools was authorized to draw up a master plan governing the matter.

Board member Esther Hulsing was appointed as the local district's representative to the Wayne County intermediate school district and members Robert Soth was named as her alternate.

from the school they attend. Seventh through 12th graders must live at least one and one-half miles from their respective schools in order to be eligible to ride the buses.

The matter of applying similar "distance rules" to parochial school students will be studied once the bill becomes law, Isbister said.

Isbister added that he has not seen the final, amended bill and is unable to measure its full meaning here until he does.

McClune supplemented his presentation by a tape recording of satellite transmissions from Vanguard, Echo and Telstar I, including the first transcontinental message via satellite and the first Michigan-to-Europe phone conversation over Telstar I.

A model of Telstar I was also shown.

200 Attend Plymouth Annual Swim Banquet

Members of the Plymouth High varsity and junior varsity swimming teams turned out in full force for last Saturday evening's 1963 swimming banquet at Junior High East.

Including parents, an estimated 200 people were in attendance.

Varsity and junior varsity letter awards were presented, along with varsity manager awards. Guest speaker was Ed Gabel, swimming coach at Western Michigan University, this year's Mid-American Conference champion.

Gary Gould, co-captain of the Plymouth team, was named most valuable swimmer, and Jim Beglinger and Tom Blunk were introduced as next year's co-captains.

The banquet was arranged by parents of the swimmers. Chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beglinger.

resolution passed previously on the petunia, the Commission voted unanimously in favor of the lilac.

And Plymouth may breathe easier... amidst a hoped-for increase in the fragrant scent of lilacs over the years to come.

In other matters, the Commission acted on several changes in the plans for the new City Hall. They agreed to install a 6,000-gallon gasoline tank below ground, from which the gas needs of the police and fire departments may be met.

Cost of the tank was estimated at $1,200, but it will enable the City to purchase bulk quantities of gasoline at a lower price than in past years. The tank eventually will pay for itself.

Still studying the matter of a new auxiliary power generator, the Commission agreed that it should be installed on the roof of the new municipal headquarters, along with a power transformer.

Price of the emergency generator was estimated at about $12,000 last week, but revisions in its size suggested during Monday night's meeting indicated that the eventual cost involved will be less than one-quarter of that figure.

Open Forum Leaders Organize As Unofficial Steering Group

Moving slowly and deliberately, the 11 discussion leaders from last month's open forum have comprised themselves as an informal "steering committee" to explore possible answers to urgent problems that are expected to face Plymouth over the next decade.

Having already met twice among themselves since the forum was held late last month, the discussion leaders planned to meet again this morning (Wednesday) to discuss further their responsibilities.

Comments from the approximately 100 civic leaders who attended the forum are being studied in an effort to devise a definite plan of action.

"Our general direction of effort will be on an informal unstructured organizational pattern with no legal status," said Supt. of Schools Russell Isbister who devised the open forum and served as its chairman last month.

He said the 11 discussion leaders have agreed to identify themselves as "Citizens for the Plymouth Community," a title believed to describe fully their interest in interest in aiding Plymouth's Community-wide plans for the future.

The 11 are expected to form three specific study groups and will collect pertinent facts on each of the areas concerned.

The three study groups will pertain to:

1. Inter-governmental planning.
2. Community civic facilities.
3. Economic development.

Already plans are being formed to hold another open forum early in the fall, Isbister said.

The 11 discussion leaders are: Walter Gemperline, Harold Guenther, George Lawton, Joyce Foust, Ethel North, Peg Jenkins, Sam Hudson, Elizabeth Holmes, Harvey Ziel, Dr. Clifford Mc Clumpha and Ernest Henry.

Isbister continues as informal chairman of the group.

"There is a consensus among the group," Isbister said, "that in order to be successful in our efforts we must move slowly. If we attempt to push our ideas ahead without a careful and complete study, the whole concept of the open forum movement could disintegrate. Above all, we have no desire to arouse any animosity or distrust or a disbelief in our sincerity."

Additional lilacs will be sold that afternoon and evening in Kellogg Park in an effort to bring greater predominance of the flower to the City.

"It's hoped that every home in Plymouth — both in the City and Township — will plant at least one lilac to add to our community's beauty and character in future years," said general chairman Jabara.

Saturday is Youth Day. A Junior Baseball League parade will march up Main St. at 9:45 a.m. to the Senior High parking lot where demonstrations of youth activities will take place.

Boy and Girl Scouts will take part, as well as a number of high school youngsters who will demonstrate the interests of teen-age boys and girls. The program at the Senior High parking lot will last until 12 noon.

From then until 12:30, special ceremonies to start the Junior Baseball League schedule will be held at the league's playing field on Plymouth Rd. Carl Cederberg will act as master of ceremonies.

An appropriate program including Mayor Richard Wernette and Supervisor Roy Lindsay as principals will be presented.

The first junior league game of 1963 will begin at 12:30 and other games will follow throughout the afternoon.

The possibility of a visit by Congresswoman Martha Griffiths on either Friday or Saturday is being explored.

In keeping with the Poppy sale, City of Plymouth Mayor Richard Wernette has issued a proclamation designating Thursday, May 23, as Poppy Day on behalf of the VFW and the American Legion.

It says in part:

"Remembrance of those who gave their lives in defense of our country and its freedom being an inspiring part of our American heritage, and all of us having personal memories of young men from our city who died in war service, it is fitting that we keep those memories bright by wearing on one day each year the Memorial Poppy."

The area actually comprising Plymouth Heights is that portion of Plymouth Township east of McClumpha Rd.

Since the Township's western-most boundary is Napier Rd., a small slice of the Township is not affected. It will remain as Plymouth Township in the event the charter is adopted.

Busy Ballot for Trustee at-Large Post

Thirteen persons filed petitions of candidacy for a four-year term as a trustee at-large for Schoolcraft College last Friday.

The seat is presently filled by James O'Neil, who resigned effective the end of this month since he had been elected to the state board of education April 1.

The remainder of the incumbent college trustees will be running unopposed at the June 10 election with the exception of Erwin S. Brown, a trustee from Livonia.

He is opposed by Ray L. Francis, of Livonia.

Of the 13 seeking O'Neil's term, only one is from Plymouth. He is Victor Wenzell, of 141 South Holbrook. Eleven of the remaining 12 candidates for the at-large vacancy are from Livonia.

They are LeRoy Bennett, Darrel Berry, Donald C. Deremo, Arnold Fisher, Irvin King, George Shirley, Luman Slawson, Robert Thompson and Theodore Woloson.

The other candidate is Gerald Cox, of Garden City. Unopposed in their efforts for re-election are:

Plymouth trustee Harold Fischer, who will serve on a two-year term and is completing a term as president of the board; Plymouthite Jane Moehle, who will serve on a six-year term as an at-large trustee; Charles Kirkpatrick, who will also receive a six-year term; Paul Mutnik, of Clarenceville, with a four year term; and Clark Oldenburg, of Garden City, with a two-year term.

A spokesman at the college Monday said that only two of the three local school districts that had sought annexation to the College district had submitted petitions for annexation.

They are the S. Redford School District and the Northville School District. The Wayne district did not submit an annexation petition. Voters in the other two districts will decide June 10 on the annexation issue.

Both districts also nominated candidates for trustee seats, but if the annexation move is defeated by voters, the candidates will not take office.

Dr. Gordon Forrer is the Northville candidate for trustee and Jeff Santo is South Redford's candidate. They are unopposed. Both will be appointed to four-year terms if the annexation is approved.

Norma's Dream

her store, attests to the success of her dream.

With a month-long celebration only two weeks old, the guest register already is filled with a multitude of names. . . . names of the newest of her new customers mixed with those of her earliest visitors years ago.

Patrons of Cassidy's have watched the gradual growth of Norma's store with an understandable pleasure.

Since 1944, Cassidy's has advertised itself as being "on the corner — Main and Penninof clothes and accessories, except shoes. For years, the store's motto has been: "Large enough for good selection, small enough for personal service."

As proud as she is of her store's 30th anniversary, Mrs. Cassidy didn't overlook her sales staff. To customers, the faces of most of the sales women are as familiar as Norma's.

Mrs. Marie French joined Cassidy's in 1950 and Mrs. Loretta Torrence arrived a year later. Mrs. Adeline Van Loo has been at Cassidy's 10 years and Mrs. Connie Heyder for eight.

Mrs. Hilma Jordahl is a seven-year Cassidy's employee and Mrs. Janice Pinkertan has been there one year.

By the same token, the man who dresses the windows at Cassidy's has been doing that job for 19 years.

Egon Weiser is from Detroit and had moved from New York City the year Norma opened at the Main and Penniman location.

He stopped in one day to ask if he could become the store's window designer. Mrs. Cassidy agreed and Weiser has been coming back regularly ever since.

It's the same with Cassidy's many customers. They drop in once, and find themselves coming back regularly.

That second location is the building which until recently housed the State Farm Insurance Co. and Stark Realty. Cassidy's replaced the Conner Hardware Store in 1944. In the near future, the entire Conner building will be remodeled to bring it more in keeping with the dominant colonial theme of the downtown area.

"I'm as surprised as anybody that my store has lasted 30 years," Mrs. Cassidy said recently, "because it isn't what I was trained for."

She was a music and art teacher before her marriage in 1916 to Roderick A. Cassidy. She taught at Detroit University School, a private school for boys which has since moved to Grosse Pointe.

Norma and Rod went together five years before their marriage. A banker in Plymouth for a decade, Mr. Cassidy later became a banker and investment broker in Detroit.

Always a point of strength to Norma in her business dealings, Rod Cassidy retired in 1944 and devoted his efforts to promoting the store here.

A familiar face to innumerable customers of the store, Mr. Cassidy passed away recently.

Many changes have taken place since the "Norma Cassidy" store first opened. In 1938 the name was shortened to just "Cassidy's" when the business was incorporated.

Years ago we sold the very best percale house dresses for only one dollar," Mrs. Cassidy recalled, "and there was no extra charge for a hand-sewn hem. In those days, dresses came in about one size range. We simply altered the dresses to fit. Today there are half-sizes, juniors, petites, tall, any number of size ranges. It simplifies the fitting," she said.

In 1938, when Cassidy's moved to its second location, Norma had Dick Kimbrough install fluorescent lights in the new store. "We were the first business place aside from Mr. Kimbrough's to have fluorescent lights in Plymouth," she said. Kimbrough had an appliance store here.

"I remember that Mr. Kimbrough didn't finish installing the lights until about 3:30 in the morning on the day we were to open in the new location," she added.

With more space, Norma featured a wider range of merchandise. She added hats and jewelry and a number of other accessories. Six years later, Cassidy's moved to its present location and expanded still further.

Now the store's selection includes everything a woman presumably needs in the line of clothes and accessories, except shoes. For years, the store's motto has been: "Large enough for good selection, small enough for personal service."

As proud as she is of her store's 30th anniversary, Mrs. Cassidy didn't overlook her sales staff. To customers, the faces of most of the sales women are as familiar as Norma's.

Mrs. Marie French joined Cassidy's in 1950 and Mrs. Loretta Torrence arrived a year later. Mrs. Adeline Van Loo has been at Cassidy's 10 years and Mrs. Connie Heyder for eight.

INVITE TEENS TO SOCK HOP

Plymouth teen-agers have been invited to attend a Sock Hop at the Wayne Ford Civic League hall, 1661 Wayne Rd., on Sunday, May 26, from 4 to 10:30 p.m. It is a benefit to raise funds to fight muscular dystrophy. Tickets of $1 each are on sale at Willoughby's Shoe Store here.

Oxygen is used to oxidize food within the cells of animals.

Pops Concert Program

Arnold, for use in the annual Hofnung Festival in London.

Although composed for use by a full concert orchestra, "Overture" also includes numerous special sound effects.

Dunlap said that four vacuum cleaners, a floor polisher and a rifle squad will comprise the novel sound effects. The rifle squad — numbering four riflemen — will fire blank cartridges at certain moments during the number.

The men who will operate the special sound effect devices have been selected from the membership of the Symphony Society. They are: Dr. L. J. Salan, Robert Bayer, Robert Barbour and Dr. William Covington.

Overall theme of the concert is "Out of This World."

Included on the program is a number entitled "All Points West," which will be sung by Plymouthite Nat Sibbold. He will portray a train "caller" who tells of the various individuals he meets along his train's route as well as of the station stops he makes.

"Orpheus in the Underworld" will be another selection. Violinist Harry Klein, a member of the Symphony, will perform as a featured soloist in another number.

Chairman of the affair is Mrs. Thomas Adams. She said that of the 175 tables available, only 42 remained unreserved at the end of last week. Reservations may be made only in person at Melody House.

The refreshments may be purchased while the concert is in progress.

This year there are no bleacher seats available.

New Library Hours

The Dunning Hough Wayne County library here will begin its summer schedule Friday, May 31, announced Mrs. Agnes Pauline, chief librarian.

She said the library, starting on that date, will be closed at 5 p.m. Fridays and will be closed all day Saturdays until the Friday following Labor Day.

At that time, the library will resume being open Friday evening and Saturday.

Bell Telephone Opinion Poll Continues

A Michigan Bell Telephone Co. public opinion poll, dealing with a possible expansion of the present calling area here, is continuing this week.

No preliminary "trend" in the results of the survey has been determined yet, said local Bell Telephone manager Hazen Wilson Tuesday.

A total of 7,600 "ballots" have been mailed out to all telephone subscribers in the Plymouth area, Wilson said, and more than 50,000 will eventually be sent to telephone users in the Northville, Plymouth, Livonia and Farmington area.

Major point of interest in the poll is an inquiry on the possibility of expanding the present calling area under the terms of a super extended area calling service.

It would provide unlimited calls from Plymouth to Farmington and Downtown Detroit at no extra cost, although the minimum monthly bill would be higher than the present one-party minimum billing.

Present minimum bill for one-party residential users here is $4.95. The super extended area service would have an $8.55 minimum. Neither rate includes the 14 per cent tax for federal and state levies.

Telephone lines

By HUGH C. BRONAUGH, Manager

MICHIGAN WEEK is next week, May 19 through May 25. Throughout the State, activities are planned to publicize Michigan's unlimited assets, resources and advantages for industry, business, agriculture, education and recreation. The purpose? To help every Michigander become a better-informed spokesman for our State. This year's Michigan Week theme is "Science and Research for our Future." A good choice, because there are more than 200 active research units in Michigan. They do an estimated $750 million worth of research and development work annually — assuring a better future for each of us. Current projects range from work on the atom to the structure of society, from poison ivy preventatives to new nutritional products. Their fine efforts add up to a skyrocketing activity that shows no signs of leveling off.

MICHIGAN WEEK MAY 19-25

spotlight on SCIENCE AND RESEARCH FOR OUR FUTURE

RESEARCH IS THE KEY to more and better telephone service, too. For example, the hard-working transistor, developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, is basic to new transmission and switching systems that will lead to new and improved services. Just last month telephone company operators began dialing calls direct to Great Britain, Germany, Italy, France and Switzerland. Some day we may enjoy such convenience as television telephones that let you see as well as talk to the person you're calling. This continuing research means telephone service that is high in value, low in cost — now and in the years ahead.

Chips from the ROCK

Strange words from a real sausage maker . . . "anybody who knows anything about the meat business can make good sausage," says the eldest son of Plymouth's widely known, custom meat family, the Kochs, out on east Ann Arbor road.

Clayton Koch, who along with his brother Fred, operate the old, widely known sausage, ham, bacon and smoked cold meat business started many years ago by their father, probably didn't realize he was revealing to me family secrets, and I am sure, never suspected I might print them. However, these family secrets are known by their thousands of customers from all over Michigan or else why would people, "drive miles for their sausage?"

The reasons for this successful meat operation is first, the purchase of only the best available pieces needed for their curing. Second, the immaculate place and way the meat is handled. Third, only the finest seasonings and ingredients are used and fourth, no additives such as bulk, crushed ice or other synthetic materials are added to their products.

This any meat man can do, says Mr. Koch, but with the tremendous scientific, particularly chemical additives, available to manufacturers, many which will reduce manufacturing costs, the present day trend to do things fast and economically has eliminated the old fashioned methods which were slower and far more costly.

This, then, is the Koch family secret and, under the strict supervision of their father, they always have and always will follow the pattern which has made their products so superior.

Isn't this trait so sadly missing in so many business operations today? Any of the Kochs will tell you theirs isn't a big money making business but to them that isn't important. Their products are the best of their kind available and in this they are extremely proud. Perhaps I violated the Kochs trust but the lesson told herein to me is so important, in this day and age, that perhaps some new young businessman just getting started might take a hint from this story and think of service and quality above profit. Usually if service and quality are given by any firm the profit just naturally follows.

A former Plymouthite by the name of Perry Woodworth used to own an old shack out on Ann Arbor road. It was equipped with cooking equipment, a wood stove, and a few chairs and a table. Thirty seven years ago, a group of five Plymouth youngbloods borrowed it for a Saturday outing and to make it a specially festive occasion they cooked a turkey in the shack for their meal.

The cook was assistant postmaster Ernest Henry and the only other Plymouthite still living here who attended the event was mortician Edwin Schrader. From this days outing started the Plymouth Turkey Club which has met almost two or three times each year since.

Last week the following members of this exclusive organization met at the home of chef Henry to again attest to his culinary skill; Schrader, Roy Fisher, Kenneth Corey, Byron Becker, Mike Herrick and Norman Atchinson.

Most of these members have belonged to the club for many years but only Henry and Schrader since its inception. Says Chef Henry of the group, "We still cook the same size turkey and all the trimmings but it is becoming evident that the turkeys seemingly are getting bigger and bigger because our members just can't clean up all the food like they used to, and you can take my word for it that it isn't because of my cooking".

Two local matrons provided me with the following food for thought. Though I can see no reason for not revealing their identity they asked me not to, so I shall respect their wishes.

I shall quote a few lines from their letter. "We have lived in Plymouth 21 years this month and we feel like old timers here. We love Plymouth and its people."

"Our parking meters have been a source of irritation to us and many of our friends. I like to obey the law but it burns me up to have to search for a penny everytime I stop to run in a store to pay a bill. When possible to use the parking lots I do but I am not able to walk all over town from these lots . . . I am enclosing an article from a St. Petersburg, Florida newspaper titled 'Relaxed Shopping Atmosphere Aids Area Business', and hope you might pass some of the idea on for what it is worth."

In brief, the article has this to say. "The long hard successful fight of St. Petersburg merchants to have parking meters removed has from all reports been proving very gratifying and beneficial. "The parking meter problem in St. Petersburg is not unlike that in other cities in the country, and when they learn of the benefits here and in other cities like Hollywood, Florida, they will probably follow suit.

"The relaxed shopping area atmosphere is already in evidence here and local merchants feel it will be the biggest single benefit to business that has happened to the City in recent years. Free and adequate parking — one of the proven requisites of any downtown areas' salvation — will not solve all of the business areas problems but other towns have found it has given a big shot in the arm."

City treasurer, Kenneth Way, says Plymouth collects about $10,000 a year from its meters which about pays for the rental, lighting, maintenance, policing, etc. of our free parking lots. Land purchases for parking purposes are now paid for by special assessments.

It's possible, if Plymouth is trading dollars in its meter operation, that the business community in conjunction with the City Fathers might take a renewed look at this problem. No doubt policing costs of free one, two, or three hour parking areas might raise the police budget, but I wonder if our shopping area would all at once become a free customer parking place, that it might become as attractive as the shopping center parking fields which are evident in front of all such developments.

Any way that we can attract more shoppers and their dollars to our stores will reflect back in many ways to our City. This might be one more way to help fill some of our vacant stores, too. At least some exploration of the results in other towns across the nation in this respect might be an excellent project for consideration.

It is my personal opinion that anything we can do to keep our residents shopping in Plymouth, anything we can do to provide more conveniences, more service, or more anything in fact, is certainly worthy of immediate exploration.

Incidentally, former mayor Harold Guenther would be mighty pleased if he knew the number of local business people who have personally told me that the article I printed last week, which he submitted to the Detroit News, gave them a whole lot to think about in relation to their own business operations.

I might suggest to local merchants that if they didn't happen to read the article a phone call to me at home or my office will bring a copy for their perusal. It might just ring a bell, so to speak.

Again, as in the Gay 90's, the soft, mellow glow of gaslight has found widespread popularity. And it's no wonder when you consider all its advantages! The gas yard light is decorative . . . it sheds its golden light over lawns, patios and pools for nighttime relaxing or entertaining. It helps guard against unwelcome intruders. Homeowners like its dependability too . . . its untiring source of outdoor illumination. In addition to being highly decorative, useful and dependable; gas yard lights are economical to operate and simple to maintain.

Letter to the Editor

To All U.S. Mail Patrons:
The week of May 20 - 25, 1963 has been designated "Mail Box Improvement Week" and your cooperation is requested.

On city delivery routes where more than one family occupies a residence, name of occupants should be placed on boxes and each having their own.

On mounted city routes, (the red, white and blue trucks), with curb line delivery the boxes can be of rural type or model that protects the mail from the weather. On the receptacles the patron's name and address must be visible to the box side. The height of mail boxes may be between 42 and 46 inches from the ground to the bottom of the box. The same rule as above applies to the rural route mail boxes.

Mail boxes not properly installed or taken care of retards delivery. Putting your name on boxes avoids mistakes.

Please cooperate with your carrier when you are left a notice advising you of the proper procedure.

We thank you.
Sincerely,
George Timpona

Community Fund Plans "Family Service" Office

The Plymouth Community Fund is negotiating with the Ann Arbor Family Service agency in an effort to have the latter establish a branch office here.

"We hope to finalize the matter within a month," said Russell Isbister, president of the Community Fund. He said that tentative plans are being considered to house the agency in the Veteran's Memorial Center on Main St.

The Community Fund earlier had budgeted $8,000 with an eye toward establishing such a service in Plymouth.

If the negotiations come to a favorable end, a full-time caseworker from the Ann Arbor agency will set up an office here. Plymouth residents will not only have the local service to draw upon, but Isbister said the consultation and supervision of the Ann Arbor Family Service agency will also be available.

Two of the Community Fund's board members, Reverend David Davies and Mrs. Marshall North, have conducted a study of the situation and are handling the negotiations. The local office would furnish personal and family counseling, Isbister explained. The Ann Arbor agency is an accredited member of the Family Service Association of America, he said.

Purdy to Speak

Morris Purdy, head of the Credit Adjustment Co., Detroit, will discuss "Family Money Management and the Employee Garnishment Problem," at the May 15th meeting of Suburban Employers Assn. which will be held at the Mayflower Hotel, beginning at 12 noon.

Trackmen Win, Lose; Remain at .500 Mark

Plymouth High's varsity trackmen couldn't manage to climb permanently above the .500 mark last week, although they sported a 3-2 record for a brief period.

After punishing Northville, 76-33, for their third victory early in the week, the Rocks were handed a 57-52 setback by Belleville Friday afternoon and wound up the week with an even-Seven mark of three wins and three losses.

While the Northville clash was strictly "no contest" as far as the final outcome was concerned, Belleville was a considerably stiffer opponent.

The Rocks won both relays, Fischer, Bill West, John Bowsman and Schultheiss combined to win the mile relay in 3:38.9, and the four-some of Grady, Tonkovich, VanOrnum and Steele did the trick in the 880-yard relay in 1:37.3.

The Belleville meet was a different story. This is the way Plymouth fared in that one:

Schultheiss tied for first at 5-foot-6 in the high jump and Gaffield took third place. Sarah won the shot put with a toss of 52-feet-8. Jim Ayers was second, Hal Smith third. Fischer finished third in the broad jump, but turned around and won the pole vault at 10-foot-6.

It was really in the track events where the Rocks suffered the most. Gaffield won the 120-yard high in 15.7 seconds and Powell was third. Steele won the 100 in :10.1 with a strong assist from a wind at his back. VanOrnum was second. Belleville promptly widened its lead by sweeping the 880 and the 440, but Steele came back to win the 180-yard low in :20.2. Gaffield was third. VanOrnum won the 230-yard dash in 23.3 seconds and Tonkovich placed third.

Larry Oldford finished third in the mile run and Belleville won the mile relay. With the meet already decided, the Rocks took the 880-yard relay in 1:38 flat. Grady, Tonkovich, VanOrnum and Steele pooled their resources to do it.

Allen Park Bows, 7-2

Coach Cautious As Rocks Share Baseball Lead

Even though Plymouth is in the thick of things in the Suburban Six baseball race at the moment, coach Mike Hoben isn't making any rash predictions about the ultimate chances of the Rocks this year.

On the strength of an easy 7-2 decision over Allen Park last week, Plymouth held grimly to its two-way share of first place in the conference.

The Rocks are deadlocked with Bentley High for the top-ranked spot in the league. Both schools boast 3-1 conference marks. Plymouth is 4-1 in overall play to this point.

"It's anybody's race right now," Hoben admitted. "All of the schools seem about even. I still feel that Redford Union is the team to beat."

Trailing the league leaders are Redford Union and Belleville. Each has a 2-2 record. Trenton and Allen Park are bringing up the rear, both with 1-3 marks to date.

If RU is the team to beat for the 1963 league crown, Plymouth at least is on the right track. The Rocks engineered a 1-0 decision over RU in the season opener April 22 and appeared to be on the march toward a second victory over the Redford school last week when rain postponed the game.

Plymouth had taken a 1-0 lead over RU when rain intervened May 9. The battle had gone just two innings and will be re-scheduled only in the event it has bearing on the final standings.

Plymouth had little difficulty in its win over Allen Park last week. On the mound for the Rocks was Dick Schryer who allowed only four hits. He walked seven, however, and was often in danger.

Schryer struck out 10 and had the necessary finesse when the going got rough.

His team-mates staked him to a 6-0 lead after four innings. Plymouth picked up two runs in the second and added four more in the fourth.

Although Plymouth got eight hits, neither a double by Bob Gotro nor a triple by Hal Kuisel contributed in the scoring. Solid singles were the backbone of the Rocks' scoring assault.

Schryer and junior Dick Egloff each had two singles, with Schryer's hits accounting for two runs. Five Plymouth batters gained base via walks and this aided the Rocks measurably.

Not until the waning moments of the game was Allen Park able to score off Schryer's offerings.

In Allen Park's half of the seventh inning, Schryer worked his way into — and out of — what could have been serious trouble. Leading by that time by a 7-2 count, Schryer walked the bases full after one out. But he promptly struck out the next two batters to avoid any damage.

Tom Lockwood, Jim Edwards and Cal Luitbrand accounted for Plymouth's other hits. Allen Park's Tom Matakas, who was chased in the fourth inning by Plymouth's attack, was tagged with the loss.

The Rocks were to visit Bentley Monday afternoon in a battle that at least momentarily would decide the leader. The two schools were tied for first place.

Wednesday afternoon features a non-league clash with Northville there and Belleville visits here Thursday.

Although the season is scheduled to end May 31, Hoben suspected it would run into June by virtue of the make-up games that his and other teams will have to play. Plymouth alone will have a pair of make-up battles that must be re-scheduled if they will affect the final outcome of the standings.

Hoben suspects they will.

AMONG 130 Michigan Safety Patrol Boys who toured Washington, D.C. as guests of the Auto Club recently was Steven Carlovsky, of St. Peter's Lutheran School, Plymouth. Steven (at left) is shown with Robert McClellan, another safety patroler. The youngsters were in Washington to attend the 27th annual National AAA Patrol Boy rally. Included during their stay was a site-seeing tour of the Gettysburg battlefields.

Tennis Squad Gains Revenge Over Parkers

Revenge came the way of Plymouth's varsity tennis team last week as the Rocks scored a 5-2 victory over Allen Park, the only school that has beaten the Plymouth netters this spring.

The margin of victory was also the greatest that the Rocks have ever managed over Allen Park in the years the two schools have been competing against each other in tennis, according to Coach Jim Doyle.

The Parkers fashioned a 4-3 win over Plymouth on April 25, but last week the Rocks more than made up for that defeat. Plymouth is now 8-4 for the season to date.

Particular superiority in the doubles matches told the difference. Jim Jensen and Linc Smith continued their unbeaten rampage and captured the No. 1 doubles event. Bob Waters teamed with Jim Bruff to win No. 2, and Robin Huxley and Tim Wernette paired off to win No. 3.

Dale Livingston and Clark Raven both won handily in the singles as Livingston claimed a 6-2, 6-4 decision and Raven emerged a 6-2, 6-0 victor.

Earlier last week Plymouth dropped an exhibition match to Hazel Park High. The score was 4-3.

A match on the regular schedule was rained out later in the week. Plymouth was leading Franklin High, of Livonia, in all doubles and singles events when the rains called the clash to a halt. It has been cancelled.

JayVee Track Meet Washed Out by Rain

Rain prevented Plymouth's junior varsity track team from performing fully in front of a home crowd last Thursday afternoon.

In the junior Rocks only home meet of the 1963 season, a struggle with visiting Redford Union was cut short by heavy rains.

The two teams had completed the mile run and were nearing the conclusion of the clash when threatening clouds finally poured open and the meet was considered ended.

No official winner was proclaimed. The contest will not be re-played nor completed, according to a spokesman. This is the first season in several years that Plymouth has had a junior varsity track team.

In two previous dual matches, the JayVees sustained losses. The junior Rocks will complete the 1963 season May 16 at Belleville. Bentley and Trenton were the earlier opponents.

JayVee track coach is Dick Bearup.

Golfers Suffer Two Losses By Narrowest of Margins

Only the most slender of margins sent Plymouth High's golf team down to double defeat last week as the Rocks dropped a 178-181 decision to Trenton and then suffered a 265-266 loss to Northville.

The pair of setbacks reduced Plymouth's season record to a 7-3 at the close of last week.

In the Trenton match May 6 at Grosse Isle Country Club, the Rocks as good as beat themselves. While Carl Zornow and Dave Wall fired matching 41's, Gerry Scott turned in a 49 and Skip Otwell had 38 for the victors.

A match against Franklin on Thursday was called on account of rain after four holes had been played. Site of the clash was Warren Valley Country Club.

On Monday of this week, Redford Union was to host the Rocks at Western Country Club. The class A regional matches are Friday at the Burroughs Farms course near Brighton. A total of 18 teams, including Plymouth, will compete. The low three will qualify for the state finals at Jackson Country Club the following Friday.

8, and inflicted a one-stroke defeat. It was a six-man match. Jim Mattison paced the Rocks with a sparkling 40 and Zornow had another 41. Scott improved to a 42, but beyond that Plymouth fared less well.

Jeff Hoffman turned in a 46, as did Wall. Joe Light had 51. Pete Weidner had 38 for the victors.

Your BEAUTY CARE

By MIDGE DU VALL
Voices are being heard. Demands are being made to protect women against the possibility of harmful effects of some cosmetics. Pleas are being made for the Food and Drug Administration to be provided with proof of safety BEFORE a product is sold on the market. Pleas are getting louder with no "Please" in the pleas for products to list actual ingredients in or on the package.

These common sense pleas will be heard and acted upon. And when this happens, it will help all of us in this business. Common sense at least dictates that dermatologists should have ingredient information for their use in their practice for preventative or curing purposes of certain skin disorders.

Let me reassure you, please, most cosmetics are perfectly safe. But, for the relatively few in question, comments like this should not be throttled, concealed or soft-pedaled with a "Shh."

Just as there is a wide gap between some products, there is an equally wide gap between the imaginative, truly skilled stylist and the unimaginative, not so skilled. It costs you no more, and often costs less here at MIDGE'S BEAUTY SALON to have our highly skilled stylists show you magic before your eyes; magic in style and appearance. We will prove this magic to you when you come in or phone in for an appointment. Why not do it today? MIDGE DU VALL, MIDGE'S BEAUTY SALON, 450 Forest Ave., Phone GL 3-1690.

Witnesses Plan Convention at Yankee Stadium

Local members of the Jehovah's Witnesses will have the opportunity to attend three national Jehovah's Witnesses conventions this year, instead of the original two that were planned.

With New York and Los Angeles already designated as convention sites, the city of Milwaukee has been added to the list, according to C. Carson Coonce, presiding minister of the Plymouth congregation.

He said, however, that the majority of the local congregation will be traveling to New York for an eight-day gathering in Yankee Stadium there during July 7-14.

It will be the Plymouth congregation's sixth trip to Yankee Stadium since 1950, Mr. Coonce announced. "We expect 1963 to be one of the outstanding years in our history," Mr. Coonce said.

"Our congregation, along with all the other congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses world wide, will be working 100 per cent to accomplish this aim," he said.

At Convention

Dr. Leo Speer of Plymouth is attending the first annual convention of the Michigan State Chiropractic Association May 14-16, in Lansing.

The Association was formed last year in Detroit by the merger of the Michigan State Chiropractic Society and the Michigan Academy of Chiropractic.

Agrico WEED CONTROL with FERTILIZER

Don't let broadleaf weeds compete with your lawn. They compete with and can crowd out desirable grass. Destroy these lawn enemies early with double acting Agrico Weed Control with Fertilizer. The herbicide content kills Plantain, Dandelion, Buckhorn, Shepherds Purse and other broadleaf weeds. The fertilizer, formulated with slow-acting nitrogen, encourages grass to fill bare spots left by dying weeds, and gives the entire lawn a lift. Can your child pass this safe driver's test?

The American's Safe Bicycle Driver's Test

- White is a good color to wear when riding after dark.
- Bike chains should make way for pedestrians who are crossing against a red light.
- You should ride at least three feet away from parked cars.
- At night, a busy street that is well lighted is as safe as it is in the daytime.
- The light or reflector on the back of your bicycle should be visible from 300 feet.
- You don't need to stop for a red light if no traffic is coming.
- Bike chains don't have to watch for cars pulling out of streets, driveways, and parking places. It is the auto driver's job to be careful.
- A bicycle is the right size — and the saddle properly adjusted — if your hands, wrists, feet and back are comfortable.
- Hand signals for bike drivers are the same as for auto drivers.
- You should always ride your bike with the traffic, on the right hand side of the road.
- It is not necessary to slow down at intersections if the pavement is not slippery.
- This is the signal for SLOW and STOP.
- The tail light on a bicycle should be yellow in color.
- Your brakes are in good shape if you can stop within three bike lengths.
- Your bicycle's headlight should be visible from 300 feet away.
- Handle bars should be adjusted so that your body leans forward slightly when in a riding position.

College Turns Down All Bids; Will Open New Ones May 27

Schoolcraft College's board of trustees, at a special meeting last week, rejected all construction bids on the college's proposed buildings. They agreed to take new bids on the project with the exception of the college library, which will be revised to become a one-story structure instead of the two-story building as originally planned.

The library construction was "proportionately the most costly of the new buildings," according to a news release, and for that reason the trustees instructed the architect to draw new preliminary plans for a single-story library. It will provide floor space comparable to that of the original library, but is expected to reduce overall expenses. Previous bids on the entire college building project were more than $375,000 higher than the $1.9 million allocated for the work. New bids will be received and opened May 27, a spokesman said.

By letting bids before June 1, the trustees expect to qualify for state assistance on the construction costs. It will amount to approximately $100,000. The college is scheduled to open in September, 1964.

NEWS & VIEWS from Lake Pointe Village

BY MARILYN O'NEIL GL 3-0057

During the brief cold snap last weekend, it would be a good guess that Evelyn and Verne Taylor, of Brentwood, were wishing they were back on the warm, sunny island of Nassau in the Bahamas. They returned home to Lake Pointe recently after a fun-filled week's vacation there. In addition to swimming and sunning, they took a "catamaran" trip to Paradise Island to watch the natives diving for money. A catamaran, Evelyn says, is a two-pontoon, jet-propelled boat. And elsewhere during their stay, a nautical sort of convenience was the "signal flag" that guests on the beach raised when liquid refreshment was in order.

Carol Lauterbach, of Greenbrook, has announced that reservations are closed for the Lake Pointe youth group's bowling night. It will be held Friday night at 7 p.m. For transportation, call Carol at GL 3-4589.

As mentioned last week, Jim Krantzer, of Shadywood, will become the president of the Farrand School P.T.A. next fall, succeeding Chuck Childs, of Hamill Lane. Jim is an engineer with Portland Cement Association. He and his wife, June, have a boy in the third grade at Farrand. Five-year Lake Pointe residents, they formerly lived in Lansing. He graduated from MSU with a degree in civil engineering. He's a boating enthusiast and also has a complete home workshop.

Bob and Sally Petersen and Jim and Marianne Garber, of Hamill Lane, were among those on hand for radio personality Bud Guest's appearance last Wednesday night at the Presbyterian Church here. Mr. Guest was in his usual witty form, but to Sally he appeared as only a hazy outline. She had forgotten her glasses.

It was a busy weekend at the home of Larry and Bess Fields, of Cherry Lane. Their son Dan was eight years old Thursday and son Jim was 15 on Mother's Day. The family celebrated both birthdays Saturday night. Visitors included both sets of grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. D. Beatty and Mr. and Mrs. Byrd Fields, from Detroit. An aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Prover, of Farmington, also were on hand.

Dave and Claire McCubrey, of Farmbrook, will be moving out of Lake Pointe this week into their new home on W. Maple in the City of Plymouth. Dave is a surgeon in practice with Dr. Walter Hammond here. The McCubreys have two children, both boys.

Understandably proud of her newly-sodded lawn, Ruby Marshman one day last week carefully situated the lawn sprinkler and stood back to watch her handiwork and admire the lovely green grass. She was a bit distressed, moments later when her neighbor, Jane Libbing, rushed out to roll up the windows on the Libbing family auto. Ruby's lawn sprinkler was also watering down the inside of Jane's car. The two women are next-door neighbors on Lakewood.

Cheerful news for Lois Stanley, of Shadywood, after undergoing minor surgery last week at St. Mary's, was the good fortune of her son Mike. He was one of six winners of new bicycles in The Mail's recent subscription promotion. Congratulations, Mike.

Elsewhere, with three youngsters already and No. 4 they're sending over so many goodies that she's a bit afraid of all those extra calories. Nora has another problem, too. Her husband, Adam, bought her a '63 Pontiac while she was in the hospital, but the doctor won't let her drive it yet. Filled with anticipation, Nora at the present can only wistfully admire her new car through the open garage doors.

Introductions are in order on behalf of Al and Jackie Haleven, who moved into a new house on Robinwood earlier this year. Former residents of Garden City, they have three children, the oldest eight. Al is a cost estimator for Ford Motor Co. at the Ford Division. He's from Chicago and Jackie is a native Detroit. Both like to play pinocle, and Jackie is an amateur painter of landscapes, still-lives and abstracts.

Nora Jaskierny, of Brentwood, is home recovering from a recent operation. She says that her "best-ever" neighbors are taking wonderful care of her. In fact, on the way, it's clear to see why Howard and Janet Daly have added a family room to their Brentwood home. It's a pretty fancy addition to boot. It has a built-in barbecue, fireplace, and a sliding glass door-wall. As soon as it's furnished, the Dalys will host a proper christening. They hope this will be accomplished before the baby's ETA in July.

Sit Down, Relax . . . Here's Detail of City's New Budget

Complex as the City's average property owner newly-approved 1963-1964 here. Budget is, one aspect stands out on the strength of its significance to the the 1962-63 year, that same levy is the basis of the new budget. It provides for payment by property owners of $14.65 per $1,000 of assessed valuation. The City's general operating fund is actually made up of 14 smaller funds. The sum of the smaller funds in the new document is $620,551.34. Of this total, $403,000 is derived via tax revenue and the balance is non-tax income from fees, licenses and similar items. These are the descriptions and amounts of the 14 smaller funds that comprise the general fund: For general government, the budget includes an allocation of $84,246. Buildings and structures will take another $39,735, and the department of public works will require $180,610, highest single amount in the overall general fund. The department of public safety is the second largest item, amounting to $176,345 in the new budget. Health and welfare has been allotted $7,925, and the library will receive $32,765 from the City during 1963-64. Christmas decorations for next winter were figured at $3,300 and the expense of maintaining the parks and recreation facilities will amount to $12,500. Debt retirement is a large expense. For 1963-64 it will amount to $32,517. Out of its general fund, the City also must pay the sanitary sewer fund a total of $14,000, according to the new document. The City's share of retirement and social security payments will come to $18,000; civil defense has a $500 budget; the appeal board will require $100. Commissioners set aside slightly more than $20,000 under the label of "unappropriated reserve." Within the unappropriated reserve is a $5,500 amount that is tentatively earmarked for pay raises for City employees. Mayor Wernette has stated that it is his hope the raises can be granted sometime during the coming fiscal year, which begins July 1. If they are issued at all, the formula for making the pay increases has yet to be worked out. Other aspects of the budget inevitably tend to confuse those who study the document. It is that complex. But each item reflects the intricacies of financing a municipality such as the City of Plymouth.

For instance, the City's 1963-64 share for normal debt retirement of the Middle Rouge Interceptor Drain project is $11,776. Another $27,416 has been appropriated for retirement of bonds, payment of interest due and various miscellaneous changes arising out of the City's Bond Retirement Fund. The bond retirement is separate from the general operating fund. So are a few other funds. Their descriptive titles, along with the amounts allocated to each, are as follows:

|--------------------|-----------|
| Cemetery — | $ 23,100 |
| Water — | $175,860 |
| Sewer — | $113,020 |
| Parking — | $ 12,080 |
| Equipment — | $ 48,500 |
| Spec. bond debts — | $ 22,394 |
| Urban renewal — | $147,905 |

TREASURES FROM Plymouth Pantries

MRS. MAURICE BREEN

Mrs. Maurice Breen, loaned us a favorite recipe of her family this week, Italian Lasagne. When asked how her family liked the recipe she replied that they all did, especially her Irish husband. A relative newcomer to Plymouth, Mrs. Breen moved into her 4121 Greenbrook address last September. She is the mother of two young children: Melinda, 19 months, and Maurice Jr., 8 months. She and her husband are members of the Homeowners Club and the Newcomers Club and she is an active member of the JayCee's Women Auxiliary, the JayCeettes.

BAKED ITALIAN LASAGNE

Sauce
2 T. diced salt pork
1 clove of garlic (crushed)
1 tsp. parsley flakes
1 lge. can tomato puree
1/2 can tomato paste
1/4 lb. ground beef

Melt salt pork in a sauce pan and then add garlic, parsley and ground beef and brown. Combine tomato paste and puree and add to salt pork mixture and simmer for at least three hours, stirring occasionally. Then cook 1/2 lb. lasagne noodles in boiling salted (1 1/2 tsp. salt) water (3 quarts) for 15 minutes and remove from heat and add 1 quart of cold water and let drain.

Filling
1/2 lb. ricotta or cottage cheese
1/2 lb. Mozzarella (pizza) cheese grated Parmesan cheese

After the sauce has simmered for three hours and the noodles have been drained, cover the bottom of a large baking dish with the sauce. Then place a layer of the noodles over the sauce and dot with Ricotta (or cottage cheese) Mozzarella and parmesan cheese. Cover this with sauce and repeat procedure with noodle and cheese mixture. Final layer of the noodles should be covered with the cheese and sauce. Bake in moderate oven (375 degrees) for 30 minutes. Before serving let the mixture stand at room temperature for 20 minutes to prevent layers from spreading. Serves 4-6.

The Antique Corner

By Mrs. John Gibbons

Button, Button who has the button? These words may well express what hundreds of women ask when searching out new additions to their ever growing collections. Almost all women have access to button boxes belonging to their families or acquaintances. One can enjoy sorting buttons by color, composition, context or beauty alone. The cost is nominal in beginning a button hobby and can be extensive as one desires to expand it.

Dorothy Foster Brown, authoress of Button Collecting in Hobbies Magazine, well expressed her hobby by advocating it as buttons for fun. To her, button collecting is not a tense and solemn business but rather one of relaxation and enjoyment, pure and simple. Any information she acquires is largely accidental she claims rather like a by product instead of an end in itself. Yet there are those who derive their greatest satisfaction in intense research and study into the buttons history. Buttons are beautiful and interesting in themselves and they have the power to create interest on their own. Why not take a good look at the buttons you have around your home. Have you ever really paid any attention to the numerous assortment of materials that they are made of? There are buttons made from glass, mineral, wood, leather, porcelain, plastic, silver, gold, pewter, metal, painted, crystal, cut, etched, black glass, diamond, jeweled, fiber and probably a dozen more that you can think of. How about context? I have seen buttons that contain figures of animals, faces, flowers, stars, bugs, figures, and are shaped in squares, circles, moons, hexagons, and on and on. The beauty of the button is glorified by the exquisite paintings done on porcelain by hand and some of the silver on black glass are prizes in themselves. Sewing buttons to ribbon streamers make an interesting display. The pearl button, common in various sizes, looks well graduated down in size from the baby dress button to the larger coat button and sewed to a black velvet ribbon. The button picture is a challenge to create and can add a definite interest to your display. Button trays are effective and can be mounted on a wall also.

Next week something on the history of the button.

"Adopts Korean"

Mr. and Mrs. Norman L. Thoburn, of 1324 Sheridan Ave., have financially "adopted" Kan Yung Hwa, a seven-year-old Korean girl, through the Foster Parents Plan. Through the Plan, foster parents promise to contribute $15 a month for the child's support for at least a year.

Art Around Us: by Mrs. Jessie Hudson

"Serigraph" is a puzzling word which shows up more and more in galleries and art museums these days. It is derived from "seri" — the root word for silk; for example (1) Serioin, the chief constituent of raw silk or (2) sericulture, the science of raising silk worms. "Graph" means to write or print, so "seri" added to "graph" gives us a word meaning silk-printing. "Serigraph" was coined fairly recently by printmakers to differentiate between artists' original, limited-edition silkscreen prints from the work of commercial silk-screen printers.

"Silkscreen" is a puzzling word in itself but one which is really quite simple when the process is explained. Over a wooden frame the printmaker stretches fine mesh silk. The frame is attached to a baseboard with hinges which have removable pins so that the screen may be taken off the board for cleaning. Areas of the silk are blocked off by water-soluble glue or by cut-out paper stencils. The parts of the silkscreen left open, or unblocked, form the printing area. Special ink silkscreen paint like colored petroleum jelly, is squeezed through the open areas of the silk onto the paper placed between the screen and the baseboard. The process is repeated until the required number of copies are printed. The stencil is removed, the screen cleaned and a new stencil applied. The next color area is then superimposed on the first, and so on until the desired number of colors and shapes have been printed.

An artist's approach to the silkscreen process is that he rings changes in combinations of screens and colors so that the whole series may vary from print to print. He is also careful to vary transparent with opaque colors for added textural interest and to use a more subtle, hand-mixed range of colors than the commercial printer can. The whole process, like most art forms, is very ancient. It was developed from the Chinese and Japanese art of gluing delicate stencils to a web of hair and printing through the apertures with water colors and inks.

Our interest in serigraphy was aroused by the show due to open this week at the Hartley-Powers Gallery in Northville. For Michigan week Mrs. Hartley has invited James A. Walker of Flint to display his award-winning prints. Mr. Walker, art instructor at Northern High School and the Mott Foundation Art Program in Flint, is a graduate of Western Michigan, Columbia and Michigan State Universities. He is a member of the Michigan Association of Printmakers and the Michigan Academy of Arts, Sciences and Letters.

His work is usually on display with the Michigan Annual Art Show and he will have one piece in this year's exhibit opening tomorrow. He is represented in several New York Galleries. Mr. Walker's serigraphs are unusually fine examples of the artist's approach to silkscreen printing. They will be on view at the little gallery in Northville from May 19 to June 1.

Plymouth Corps Joins in Salute Of National Salvation Army Week

Editor's Note — National Salvation Army week, with a theme of "With Heart to God and Hand to Man," will be observed May 19-26. In this connection, the following article was written by the Plymouth S.A. Commander, Major Ernest V. Hammer.

The Plymouth Corps of the Salvation Army will join with S.A. units throughout the country during the week of May 19-26 to salute National Salvation Army Week. The observance is being conducted under the theme "With Heart to God and Hand to Man."

It is in this spirit that the Plymouth Corps joins the celebration by inviting all of its friends to an "open house" at the Salvation Army Citadel, 290 Fairground St., on Sunday, May 26, from 3-5 p.m.

Well known and prominent citizens of the Plymouth community will be on hand, including Salvation Army Board, as well as salvationists and friends.

A religious and social welfare organization, The Salvation Army was established in the United States in 1880, and has served the people of our nation with devotion and sincerity for 83 continuous years.

The work of the Salvation Army was begun in Plymouth in February, 1929, when Cadet Captain and Mrs. Frank Wright were sent as the first officers here.

The Salvation Army had, as its first headquarters, a meeting room on the second floor of a building on Main St. Then, for a number of years, it was housed in a small building on Union St.

About 1950, the then Major William Roberts (now Major) caught the vision of a new building for the Plymouth Corps. Through the goodness of God and the added support of the people of Plymouth and the surrounding area, this vision of Captain Roberts' became a reality.

The new building was dedicated 11 years ago last March 23. Midway through last year, the present officers were sent to Plymouth to direct the work of the Salvation Army here. They are myself (Major Ernest V. Hammer) and my wife.

From its inception here, the Salvation Army has received kindly. Through its many friends who gave their time and energy — as well as material support — the Salvation Army has since become an effective organization against poverty and to aid in many phases of social welfare work.

Its character-building work combats juvenile delinquency. Through its distribution of literature and its extensive spiritual work, the Salvation Army is a strong force for righteousness, both on the street and in its chapel at 290 Fairground.

Specifically, some of the services provided by The Salvation Army in Plymouth include:

- Family welfare services;
- transient welfare service;
- disaster and emergency service;
- boys and girls work;
- league programs;
- men's social service;
- missing persons bureau;
- spiritual work with prisoners;
- spiritual guidance and evangelism;
- Sunday school for boys and

Chamber Head Warns About Unordered Goods

Under heavy fire over the years as a wide-spread nuisance, the practice of sending unordered goods through the mails continues to plague Plymouth residents and business people.

This was the recent announcement by John Herb, president of the local Chamber of Commerce. Herb was quoting from a recent report distributed by the National Better Business Bureau, of which the Chamber here is a member.

"Housewives as well as business and professional people continue to report receipt of a wide variety of goods they didn't order," Herb explained.

Completes Move

The firm of J. Malcolm Flora, Inc., manufacturers' representatives, recently completed its move to a new location here. It is now situated at 165 W. Liberty St.

Extensively remodeled, the building previously was a Bayer Drug Store. James Flora and his wife, Scottie, are the principle officers in the firm, which was formerly located on Territorial Rd. at the corner of Ridgewood.

fore relinquishing the unordered goods," he concluded. The postal laws impose strict regulations on senders of unordered goods. Herb suggested that Plymouthites unsure of their rights concerning unsolicited goods should contact the postal authorities for clarification.

Chamber Head Warns About Unordered Goods

"Many recipients of such unsolicited goods are worried as to whether they are under any obligation to comply with the shipper's request to remit payment or return the goods," he said.

"The truth of the matter is that many of the recipients are not aware of their rights in situations such as these.

"The recipients of unordered goods generally are under no obligation whatever to pay for — or to return — the merchandise they did not request," the Chamber president added.

"However, if the merchandise is used," he continued, "liability may arise. If the goods are held for a reasonable period of time until the sender arranges and pays for its return, the addressee owes the sender nothing.

"In this event, the recipient may then demand the payment of storage charges be-
