

Okay Boost In Township Property Tax

Plymouth Township property owners will encounter an increase in their tax bills come December, but the exact amount of the hike isn't likely to frighten anyone.

In fact, on a home assessed at, say $6,000, the increase will amount to just $3 more per year.

Members of the Township Board last week authorized a boost in the tax rate from 3.5 to four mills for the current fiscal year. It will not show up until the December tax statements are sent out.

The half mill increase is the equivalent of adding 50 cents per $1,000 of assessed valuation to the previous rate.

Township Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes said the additional half mill will create an extra $30,000 within a total Township collection of about $2 million. (Of the $2 million the Township expects to collect, only $243,000 will go toward Township needs; the balance is school and county tax.)

By authority of Township voters, the Board has the power to levy a maximum of five mills for administration and debt retirement. A year ago, based on the 3.5-mill rate, the Township's own tax revenue amounted to about $195,000 on $56 million state equalized valuation.

Mrs. Holmes expects the Township's equalized valuation to climb to slightly more than $60 million this year. Applying the Township's new four-mill rate against this total, the revenue to the Township will run about $243,000.

Each December, Plymouth Township collects taxes not only for itself, but also for the Plymouth Community School District as well as Schoolcraft College and the little-known Wayne County Intermediate School District.

The total tax rate is 28.73 mills, of which four mills will be for the Township itself, another 23.70 for the Plymouth Community School District, an even one mill for Schoolcraft College and .03 mill for the county's intermediate school district.

Over-all collections this December by the Township will be about $2 million.

The Township's four-mill collection for its own use is accountable in three separate ways. One mill is for basic administration of the Township, including all salaries and operating needs.

One and one-half mills provide the revenue with which to retire $790,000 in sewer construction bonds issued about three years ago. Another one and one-half mills is for retirement of a $1.1 million water construction bond issue which is two years old.

The new half-mill has been added to the latter category and not only will ease the retirement of the water construction bonds, but also will enable some future expansion of Township water facilities.

The plan for new water expansion has not been firmly established as yet, however. They approved a half-mill tax increase which will provide about $30,000 more per year in Township revenue and which presumably may be put toward a water expansion program shortly. The additional revenue will at least permit the Township to more readily raise the funds to finance such an undertaking, a member said.

Supervisor Roy Lindsay explained that the Board must first determine precisely where the expansion should take place, and then the matter of financing the project must be worked out.

At present, much of the western half of the Township is not serviced by Detroit water while practically all of the eastern half is supplied in this manner.

On the same general subject, the Board learned that some 30 Northville Township homes, where shallow private wells are running dry, will accept an offer from the City of Plymouth to provide more adequate water facilities.

The area involved is in the vicinity of Bradner and Five Mile Rds. Northville Township Supervisor R. D. Merriam had earlier asked Plymouth Township to furnish the homes with water and the request was being studied.

The three-member study group which was considering that matter reported last week on still another item pertaining to water.

Treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes, Clerk John D. McEwen and Engineer Herald Hamill urged that the Township install a water line down Mill St. to furnish water to National Concrete Products, 930 S. Mill, which has requested to be added to the list of Township water customers. It presently is a customer of the City of Plymouth.

The spokesman for the study group, Mrs. Holmes recommended that the Township install a water line north along Mill St. from Ann Arbor Rd. She said this should be

Eye Expansion Of Township's Water System

Members of Plymouth Township's Board last week agreed to hold a special study meeting in the near future to discuss possible ways of expanding the Township's present water system.

Since 1961, the Township has been a Detroit water user.

The matter of enlarging the water system has arisen gradually over recent months as members of the Board have frequently mentioned the need of such action in order to assure the growth of the Township's western half.

Trustee Ralph Garber, himself a resident of the western portion of the Township, has repeatedly mentioned the wisdom and need of enlarging water facilities in that area.

A lack of adequate funds has remained as one of the road-blocks, but in other action last week the Board somewhat reduced this problem.

They approved a half-mill tax increase which will provide about $30,000 more per year in Township revenue and which presumably may be put toward a water expansion program shortly. The additional revenue will at least permit the Township to more readily raise the funds to finance such an undertaking, a member said.

Rob Township Home, Savings Bonds Taken

A Lake Pointe Village home was broken into and robbed sometime last Thursday evening while the family was away.

Wayne County Sheriff's detectives said that a portable television set, a small bank containing some money, and about 20 U.S. Savings Bonds were stolen from the home of Donald S. Reid, 41660 Greenbriar.

Detectives said that entry into the home was gained by forcing open a patio door. The break-in occurred some time between 6 and 8:30 p.m. Thursday. The investigation is continuing.

RESIDENTS along Beck Rd. between N. Territorial and Five Mile complained about "Prison Zone - No Parking" signs that appeared one day recently on the road shoulder. Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay and Trustee Ralph Garber both notified the Wayne County Road Commission and the next day workmen were taking down the "prison zone" signs and replacing them with standard "no parking" signs. Said the Road Commission: "It was a mistake."

$4.00 Per Year with Plymouth Address. $5.00 Elsewhere in U.S.A.

Award City Hall Bids; Work to Begin Shortly

Plymouth's new City Hall, a colonial-styled two-story structure, is about to move from the planning tables and blueprint stage into the realm of reality.

In fact, demolition of buildings on the new City Hall site — together with an official ground-breaking ceremony — should take place within a week to 10 days.

This was evident Monday night when Commissioners formally accepted and awarded the low base bids on architectural, mechanical and electrical work in the form of three contracts amounting to $459,440.

Burger Construction Co., of Plymouth, received the architectural contract for $318,000. The firm of Norman Nelson, Inc., of Dearborn, was awarded the mechanical contract in the amount of $89,600.

Shaw Electric Co., of Livonia, won the electrical trades contract for $51,840.

Commissioners acted on a recommendation of the municipal building authority in awarding the contracts. M.A. chairman Harold Guenther urged the Commission to proceed on the project without further reduction in construction costs.

Consequently, the amount of the three contracts is some $40,000 higher than the earlier estimates submitted by architect Byron Becker. Approximately one-half of the construction costs and certain related expenses will be borne by the federal government, which has approved a grant to the City not to exceed $255,500.

If everything goes well, total cost of the new City Hall will fall somewhere in the vicinity of $586,000, including approximately $70,000 for land acquisition.

Cost of the land is not shared by the federal grant. Guenther told Commissioners Monday evening that the cost of the project — excluding the land — is about $516,000.

The difference between this amount and the $459,000 total on the three construction contracts is comprised of architectural fees (about $35,000), an $11,000 contingency fund, and several lesser expenses such as builder's risk insurance, bonding costs and legal fees.

Next immediate step by City officials will be to obtain the approval of the awarding of contracts from the Detroit office of the federal Housing & Home Finance Administration. The HHFA administers special grants such as the one City of Plymouth has received.

The HHFA approval is practically a formality. It is expected to be issued within the next 48 hours.

Becker, the architect, said that demolition of existing buildings on the Main St. site for New City Hall will get underway very shortly.

The construction will require between eight and 10 months, it is estimated.

Mention Water Authority Again

Commissioners Monday evening took some preliminary steps which may lead eventually to a solution of the on-again-off-again water predicament here.

They agreed to meet some time soon with officials from City of Northville and Northville Township to discuss the possibility of a municipal water authority, which presumably would purchase water wholesale from Detroit and re-sell it to customers in the northwestern corner of Wayne County.

The matter came up while Commissioners were acting on a related subject involving the sale of water to a distressed portion of Northville Township.

Supervisor R. D. Merriam, of Northville Township, was on hand. "We would be very much interested," he said, in response to a query over his feelings of a discussion centering on a possible joint water authority.

In other action, the Commission agreed to a rate charge for City water users located outside the boundaries of the City.

From now on, the City will wholesale water to out-of-City users at the same rate applicable to in-City users.

Meanwhile, individual City water users outside the City will be required to pay only one and one-half times the in-City rate. Up to now, users of City water outside the City limits have been paying double rates.

The majority of these previous "double rate" users have been industrial firms, such as Burroughs Corp. and others.

In similar matters, the Commission Monday night acknowledged a letter from Detroit Water Board Gerald Remus in which he outlined certain "prominent possibilities" relating to Detroit's plans for expansion of water facilities in this general area.

One of the "possibilities" that Remus told about involved construction — by Detroit — of a transmission line along Eight Mile west into Northville, south down Sheldon Rd. to Ford Rd., and along Ford Rd. east to Lilley Rd., connecting to the end of an existing 24-inch main at that point.

Exactly when this will take place is not certain.

Meanwhile, engineers from both the City of Plymouth and Detroit will sit down and explore the water situation further at some point in the near future.

Insiders suspect that a solution is still a long time away, however.

One other phase of this week's Commission meeting also dealt with water. Commissioners agreed to an exchange of rights-of-way so that the specific location of the City's 10-inch water main running through the proposed Edenderry Hills subdivision in Northville Township will be defined.

The right-of-way — an easement — is 20 feet wide.

Commissioners re-zoned about a dozen lots in Symar Subdivision along Mill St. from multiple-dwelling use to single family residential. A public hearing was held on the subject. There were no objectors.

The AAUW was granted permission to hold a peanut sale in downtown Plymouth Friday, Sept. 27.

The city manager was authorized to take bids leading to the purchase of a fire panel truck. A salary continuance plan for City employees was taken under study. Carol Olear and Joe Bida were announced as delegates to the Michigan Municipal Employees' annual meeting in Lansing Oct. 24.

Commissioners learned that mutual communication between the City and Plymouth Township would aid each municipality in matters involving sewer taps along the joint boundaries.

Expect 200 to Attend Second Open Forum

More than 200 residents and community leaders are expected to attend Plymouth's second Open Forum meeting at 8 p.m. tomorrow (Wednesday) at Junior High East.

The meeting, moderated by Supt. of Schools Russell Isbister and approximately 20 table discussion leaders, will consider various aspects of the community's future over the years ahead.

The public is invited.

JayCeas, Beyer Drugs Announce "Safety Sale"

Plymouth's "dynamic" JayCeas, in cooperation with Beyer Rexall Drugs and owner Robert Beyer, have announced joint plans for an "automobile safety sale" during the next three weekends.

It will consist of a special sale of automobile "safelites" and seat-belts, announced JayCee president Wendell Smith.

The sale will be conducted Fridays and Saturdays, Sept. 20-21, Sept. 27-28 and Oct. 4-5, Smith said. Site for the sale each weekend will be the parking lots adjoining the Beyer Rexall Drug stores at Main and Mill Sts. and on Ann Arbor Rd.

The "safelites" are small "running" lights that are mounted on the front grille-work of any auto and which remain on whenever the car's ignition is on. It increases the visibility of the auto for oncoming motorists during both day and night.

Two types of lights are being offered by the JayCeas. One sells for $1.75 and the other for $2.75. In either case, the JayCeas will install the small, clear-lensed light for a $1 fee.

Simultaneously, the JayCeas will be offering high-strength seat belts to fit any automobile. They will sell for $6.50 a pair with free installation.

Druggist Beyer has obtained the lights for the JayCeas and furnished them at wholesale cost.

Profits on the "safety sale" will go into the JayCee club treasury which in turn will support the club's numerous projects that bear on the future of the community.

The "safelites" as well as the seat belts have drawn wide acclaim by many safety officials and organizations.

Adult Education Classes Attract 'Well Over 300'

Formal registration for the fall semester of classes in Plymouth's adult education program will continue through Friday of this week, announced Director Herb Woolweaver.

Registration may be accomplished between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. in the adult education office in the senior high.

Woolweaver said that "well over" 300 persons have already signed up for classes. There are a total of 80 classes being offered, however some of these have already closed due to an extra heavy initial enrollment, Woolweaver said.

"The registration so far has been very encouraging," Woolweaver added. He said a total enrollment of between 700 and 800 would constitute "exceptionally good" response for the fall semester.

HOLDER of three degrees including a doctor of philosophy, Virginia Rock, valedictorian of Plymouth High's Class of 1941, visited PHS last week to speak before an international relations class. She was greeted by Principal Carvel Bentley and Gertrude Figel (right), both of whom were members of the Plymouth faculty during Virginia's high school days. Now an assistant professor at MSU, Miss Rock is presently on leave from Michigan State and is a visiting professor at a university in Krakow, Poland, under the auspices of the State Department.

Wernette Agrees: Ground-Breaking Program Inevitable

A light touch of humor crept into discussion between Commissioners and members of the building authority Monday night as they talked about a ground-breaking ceremony in connection with the start of new City Hall.

Mayor Richard Wernette, as unassuming as any mayor the City's ever had, declared at one point: "There'll be no ground-breaking at all as far as I'm concerned." Wernette is known for his retiring demeanor and lack of interest in so-called "publicity for publicity's sake."

But MBA chairman Harold Guenther instantly cracked: "I'll lay you even money, Dick, that you're modestly isn't shared." Guenther then cited certain U.S. senators and representatives who would welcome a ground-breaking ceremony, especially since they were largely instrumental in winning a $255,500 federal grant for the City.

Wernette thought for only an instant. "Well, if that's the case," he said evenly, "I wouldn't object, of course."

Warm laughter greeted the brief exchange.

Registration Underway For Vocational Classes

Formal registration for the three classes comprising the evening vocational training program began Monday in the adult education office, and already more than a dozen young people have signed up.

The classes, partially underwritten by the School District, are being offered through the facilities of the District's adult education program.

The three classes are occupational English, business training, and occupational shop. Each contains several facets.

Occupational shop will include training in welding, basic mathematics, drafting and blueprint reading. Teachers will be Keith Baughman and Bryan Boring.

Philip Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brown will teach the business training classes, with Johnston instructing in business machines and office procedures and the Browns teaching typing.

The occupational English classes will be taught by Mrs. Maurice Breen and Mrs. Zana Tauriainen, Robert Southgate will handle the oral expression and spelling classes, another phase of the occupational English program.

The three classes are designed to aid high school drop-outs who seek to complete their schooling in order to more actively compete for worthwhile jobs.

In fact, through a combination of credits for attending the classes and working at a related job, drop-outs may complete the requirements for their diploma.

Classes begin the week of Sept. 30, according to adult education director Herb Woolweaver. He said that registration may take place as late as the Friday before the start of classes.

Youngsters who have not completed their high school studies are being counseled into the evening vocational program by Mike Hoben, coordinator of the YMCA's Youth Employment Service.

These are the fees for the various classes:

For local students, the occupational English class requires a $15 fee. Non-local students must pay $25. For occupational shop, local students will pay $25 and non-local $30. For the business training class, the local fee is $15 and the non-local is $25.

Those young people who might have difficulty meeting the fees are invited to discuss the matter with Hoben at his offices in the basement of the Credit Union.

In certain instances, assistance will be offered in paying the fees.

1941 Graduate Realizes Dream By (3) Degrees

The valedictorian of Plymouth High's 1941 graduating class returned to the scene of her earliest triumphs in education last week and admitted "things have certainly changed."

Now an assistant professor at Michigan State University, Virginia Rock paid a whirlwind visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rock, 40651 Five Mile, and stopped by Plymouth High to speak before the Miss Gertrude Figel's International Relations class.

Actually, Miss Rock's journey to Plymouth began this time in Krakow, Poland, where she is a visiting professor in American Literature at Jagiellonian University.

She is in the middle of a two-year sabbatical via the U. S. State Department and a leave of absence from MSU, and will return to Poland later this week in preparation for the start of the university's fall semester.

Virginia Rock, B.A., M.A. and Ph.D., was "never in doubt" that she would someday become a teacher, from the very moment that she led the 161 graduating seniors of Plymouth High's Class of 1941 across the stage to receive their high school diplomas.

Spurred by the urgency of the war years, Virginia completed a four year undergraduate course at the University of Michigan in just three years and in 1944 was awarded a bachelor's degree in English. Three years later she received her master's in English at the U-M.

She realized her hopes of becoming a teacher soon after

Plymouth High Notes

By Judy Burgess

"A former graduate makes good." This certainly describes Doctor Virginia Rock, class of '41, who spoke to Miss Gertrude Fiegl's International Relations class on Friday, Sept. 13.

Miss Rock, a member of the English department and a professor of literature at Michigan State University, is on her second leave of absence for the State Department to teach classes in American Studies at a University in Krakow, Poland. After graduating from the University of Michigan, Miss Rock received her masters degree from U of M and her doctorate from University of Minnesota, both on scholarships.

The first girl mayor of Plymouth High, Miss Rock is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rock, 46051 Five Mile Road.

Senior pictures are being taken all this week by Kahler Studios, of Detroit. All seniors, who wish to have their pictures in the Plythean and in the composite photo, must have their pictures taken by the school photographer.

On Sept. 25, junior and sophomore pictures will be taken.

The fields of debate and journalism attracted seniors Nadine Criger and Bonnie Howitz to summer sessions at Michigan State University this past July.

Studying speech technique and research, Nadine also attended sessions to aid her in her senior year on the debate team.

A reporter on the Pilgrim Prints, Bonnie attended sessions on writing, copy editing, proof-reading, and in the shop where the "Com Arts," a summer student newspaper is printed.

Nadine is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Criger, 454 Arthur, and Bonnie's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Howitz, 751 Pacific.

Principal Seeks Talented Parents

Earl Gibson, new principal of Bird School, is busy these days studying a list of names he inherited from his predecessor. A very special list because it contains names of parents with "special" talents, interests and hobbies who are willing to share these interests with school children and of the entire Plymouth Community School District.

Gibson is being assisted in his task by several of the parents of his school who are interested in the project. This list of names will be used by the teachers as additional material for their classrooms sessions, and it will be of great value to teachers and pupils alike.

If anyone has a special skill or hobby - such as travel movies, handicrafts, Indian lore, collections - which he is willing to share with school children during class hours, Gibson wants to know about it; he hopes to make the list available to all the principals and their staffs.

If residents know of someone - or if they themselves are interested in sharing knowledge - call Mr. Earl Gibson, 453-2170; Mrs. Mark Wehmer, 453-1062; or Mrs. Richard DeBoer, 453-0912.

being presented with her bachelor's when she took a high school teaching post in Grand Haven. Soon, she became a teaching "fellow" at Michigan while working on her graduate degree.

Over the years, Miss Rock was an instructor of English at the University of Louisville, an assistant professor of English at Lake Erie College in Ohio, a communications and English instructor at the University of Minnesota, and an assistant professor at Montclair State College in New Jersey.

She earned her doctorate (Ph.D.) at Minnesota in 1961 in the field of American studies.

Following a year on the faculty at Michigan State, Miss Rock was selected to fill a visiting professorship at the university in Poland. Her leave of absence from MSU was extended so that she could remain at Jagiellonian University in Krakow a second year.

Next fall she will return to MSU and resume her faculty post as an assistant professor in American Thought and Language.

While Plymouth High has undergone giant changes since Virginia's student days here before World War II, Virginia herself is much the same as she was then. Only a complimentary trace of gray in her rich, dark hair betrays the passage of two decades.

On hand to welcome Virginia at PHS last week - in addition to Miss Fiegl - were two other faculty members from the days when Virginia achieved academic honors at Plymouth.

Miss Sarah Lickley extended a warm hand in greeting the slender, quiet woman who has ascended to high rank in many educational circles, and Carvel Bentley was equally warm in welcoming Virginia.

Bentley, now principal of the Senior High, was the coordinator of the school's occupational training program when Virginia was in school here.

Miss Rock's younger brother, Donald, is also a PHS graduate. He works for the government in Washington, D.C., as a member of the Civil Aeronautics Agency.

permanent theme and control the format" of each successive Festival in years ahead.

He hinted that one possible goal might be to utilize a portion of the proceeds from each Festival to help finance a Community Center.

The task of convincing each participating club to turn over part of its profit to such a purpose might take four or five years, he said.

Miss Wilson added that the "central council" could devote itself to overall organizational matters during the last four months of each year and beginning Jan. 1, start to work on the specific details of the next annual event the following September.

Eighteen persons attended the critique, held in the Hotel Mayflower. They agreed that the establishment of a steering committee was essential and informally selected the five-member committee that resulted.

After settling upon certain general rules for next year's Festival, the steering committee will notify each participating organization of the decisions made. From that point, detailed plans will start to take place.

Miss Wilson reported that pledges had reached $3,300 toward a budget of approximately $4,000. Bills will start coming in shortly. She said there is only a very slight chance that a balance of funds would result in order to finance a permanent Festival planning group, such as the steering committee that has been formed.

COLD FEET . . . ?

A generation ago some people thought rubbing the soles of the feet with grease would ward off a head cold. Today, we know better. Adequate rest and a well-balanced diet go a long way toward preventing colds. But, sometimes even the best precautions aren't good enough. When you are ill—whether you have a cold or something more serious—effective medications are important. They can be the difference between pain or comfort . . . slow or fast recovery. Let your physician decide the remedies you need. Then come to us for the prescribed medication.

accomplished "as soon as funds are available." She said it would cost about $20,000.

The water line would be a 12-inch main which could also service any new industrial firms that locate along Mill St. in the future.

The Board agreed to study the matter and attempt to accomplish the project when funds become available in about eight or 10 months.

Board members got into a bit of a hassle during their meeting over an item involving the authorization of funds to send justice of the peace Lawrence Schendel to a J.P. convention in Boyne City later this month.

They finally agreed to pay up to $90 to send him to the seminar which will be held Sept. 20-21. Final vote on the issue was 5-1. Mrs. Holmes opposed the expenditure and Louis Norman abstained from voting.

An action to send the Township's other J.P., Martin Schomberger, to the same convention was defeated.

The Board authorized final payment of $7,260 to the Wayne County Road Commission for work performed in completing a sanitary sewer construction project in Plymouth Colony and Arbor Village.

The contract was originally awarded to Dettore, Inc., but the construction firm defaulted on the contract and the job was completed by the road commission.

It's A Fact

The nation's first closed-circuit television traffic control system was installed in a 3.2 mile section of Detroit's John C. Lodge freeway in 1961.

Kalamazoo has one of the most active public lending museums in the nation, where over 50,000 loans of exhibits are made annually.

Grand Rapids was the first city in the world to begin fluoridation of the public water supply to reduce tooth decay, and today Michigan is a leader in this safe and effective public health measure.

Detroit's zoological park was among the nation's first zoos to be built with barrier exhibits. Spectators and animals are separated by moats.

The Detroit Mechanics' Society in 1818 was one of the nation's first unions.

Eighty-seven percent of all types of industry are found within Michigan.

Radio's Art Linkletter would have trouble bettering this one. My favorite junior spaceman, Greg Winterhalter, stopped my wife on the street the other day to pass the time of day and inquire as to my progress. "I'm glad he's getting along fine," said Gregory, "but when is he going back to the hospital to have his gall bladder put back in?"

And, on the subject of my wife, she and newscaster Carl Cederburg, both were given stern warnings from our police department's Leona Diedrick for letting their driver's licenses lapse. "If you can't get your own licenses when they expire, the least you two can do is use your mediums of communication to alert others to the fact that once every three years on your birthday drivers licenses do expire." We've carried out my wife's sentence, but I haven't heard our favorite newscaster pay his bill to the local police.

I have had some most interesting letters of late and to answer them in detail would take much more space than my make-up men would allow me. But, because all of them have been duly received and all will be acted upon in proper time, I should like to at least acknowledge the writers herewith and let them know that their thoughts are most appreciated. My sincere thanks to J. Rusling Cutler, John Herb, Congresswoman Martha Griffiths, Mrs. Ralph Taylor, Mrs. Douglas Park, James Stimpson and Mr. and Mrs. Chet Haynes.

I can't say that I was particularly impressed with the gaily colored flags that flew on the front of a lot of our store buildings during Festival week, ours included. But, basically, it was a matter of participation, I suppose, and certainly an easy and fast way to get into the act.

However, those of us who did buy the flags also had to purchase flag poles and holders which will serve for many years. Perhaps Mr. Rew, who sold the flags, or the Chamber might promote the usage of all American flags next year or have a festival flag designed and ready so that there could be a uniformity of appearance up and down our streets. It might make a natural tie-in with the oak leaves and banners which now will become a permanent part of our street decorations.

Devotees of the cannibal sandwich, or in more dainty terminology, the tartar steak, were in a flurry this week when they received word of the impending arrival in Plymouth, early in October, of their Zulu chief. Indocinated with the art of enjoying pounds of this tasty delicacy, probably on one of his early African safaris, Plymouth's former member of the clergy, Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, now chief of our local tribe, informed the organizations secretary, the Rev. Norman Berg, that he would be here for its annual convocation.

This has caused a considerable flurry among the organization's planning board consisting of mortician Edwin Schrader, dairyman Herman Bakhaus, druggist Robert Beyer and myself who will procure the necessary sustenance for the gathering. First to be alerted in preparation of the repast was local meat man, Milton Orr, who for many years has provided his own adaption of the hand chopped beef for the members of the tribe. It should be quite a reunion.

Local stockholders in The Bank of Livonia received a surprise offer for their stock in the mail last week from a Detroit attorney representing a group who have put in escrow, in Pittsburgh, a half million dollars for the stock purchase. Speculation is rampant as to who the prospective buyer is that is attempting to get control of one of the last independent banking firms in this area.

According to local attorney, William Sempliner, bank director, most members of the bank board are apparently in the dark as to who the actual purchaser might be.

It doesn't make sense to me. Not long ago the National Bank of Detroit was thwarted in its attempt to purchase the Livonia institution, which I think it should have been allowed to do, and now, by under-cover offers, control of this institution might well pass into other hands.

I doubt if any other purchaser could or would serve the area as well as the National Bank might have done. At any rate I shan't sell my stock and one day who knows what new organization I'll have a few dollars invested in.

The genial operator of the Wolverine Harness Raceway, Orlow Owen, called the other night to remind me of the beautiful sight it was to see the prancing ponies round the Wolverine track at night bathed in the beauty of a full harvest moon. He also reminded us that there is a special car parking area in the grandstand for people not able to leave their cars.

It was a thoughtful call and I agree 100% that there is no more interesting or beautiful sight than to watch harness races under a harvest moon. If you haven't enjoyed the thrill of a night at Wolverine I am sure you will find it a most pleasant experience. In fact by calling and making a reservation you can also enjoy a hearty full course dinner at the track while you are watching these delightful races. It isn't necessary to bet at any race track and if you don't you'll find the cost of admission for the evening and the reasonable price of a dinner all adds up to an evening of very inexpensive entertainment. Of course you could win your dinner, too?

If you have trouble getting a table reservation just mention the fact that you got the idea from this column and tell Mr. Owen, personally, that if he gives the writer such suggestions the least he can do is provide first class accommodations for our readers . . . and you know, he's just the kind of a guy that would do it, too.

Arbor-Croft News

by Betty Radcliffe
GL 3-6340

New Arbor-Croft residents are the Reverend Mr. and Mrs. Hugh White and their sons, Stuart, 15, and Jeffrey, 11. Mr. White is the minister of the First Methodist Church of Plymouth. The Whites, who formerly lived in Franklin, Michigan, are now living at 1401 Palmer Avenue.

A long flight in a private plane was a treat for Thomas and Rodney Ready. They flew to Louisville, Mississippi to visit friends for several days during the week before school started. They are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Ready of 1361 Palmer Avenue.

The Donald Bidwells of 1465 Ross Avenue recently had an "anniversary" steak fry at their home for the dozen couples who were the original residents of Arbor Croft. The Bidwells entertained the same group at a similar party just a year ago.

A new evening bridge group has been formed in Arbor-Croft. Included are: Lorraine Jarvis, June Emerson, Bette McKinley, Joan Vorech, JoAnn Publitz, Evelyn Ready, Nora Penrice, Julie McGuire, Helen Davis, Edna Berry, and Betty Radcliffe.

From Cleveland, Ohio, comes the Charles McKinley family. They have three daughters; Susan, 11, Kathleen, 9, and Pattie, 5. Mr. McKinley is with the American Seating Company. Their new home is at 1261 Palmer Avenue.

RALPH WALCH, son of Rev. and Mrs. Henry J. Walch, has been named manager of financial analysis for the Todd Division of Burroughs Corp. in Rochester, New York. A 1952 graduate of Plymouth High, Walch received his bachelor's from U-M in 1957 and is working on a master's. He and his wife and two children are presently living at 41023 Greenbrook Lane. Todd Division manufactures and sells paper to the banking and accounting machine industry.

STILL GOIN' STRONG
City of Plymouth pumped 75 million gallons of water from its well fields on Six Mile and Beck Rds. during the month of August, according to a report submitted to City Commissioners Monday night by DPW superintendent Joseph Bida.

EMPLOYEES at the RCA plant on Plymouth Rd. here were cited last week by the U.S. Treasury department in connection with a recent savings bond drive. Better than 56 per cent of the employees are purchasing savings bonds through a payroll deduction plan as a result of the drive. Above, employees surround the principles in the ceremony at which a special citation was presented to RCA. General Manager Norman Amberg (right) receives the citation from John Vandenberg, of the Treasury department, while Mrs. Harriet Wacker, personnel administrator, looks on. Mrs. Wacker was in charge of the drive at RCA.

Refunds Show Up In Consumers Power Bills This Month

Gas customers of Consumers Power Co. this month are receiving gas service bills from the company reflecting their share of a refund which totals $2,400,000.

The refund recently was made to Consumers Power by its Pipeline Gas Suppliers. Customers will find an average of $3.70 deducted from their bills if they are gas space heating customers.

"If they use gas for such things as cooking and water heating but not for space heating purposes, the average deduction from current bills will be about 70 cents," a company spokesman said.

Commercial and industrial customers of the company will be refunded varying amounts according to the amounts of gas used in the three-month period March-May of this year, the period on which the amount of the refund is based.

Gas customers on the company's lines Aug. 27 who moved after the March-May billing period will have to apply for their refund at their nearest Consumers Office before Dec. 31.

A very small number of customers in all classifications, and customers who only began to use the Company's gas service after Aug. 27 of this year, will receive no refund. In most cases, this will be because their monthly gas bill is smaller than the refundable amount.

Consumers says the total refund will be paid all regular customers by Oct. 2.

Fire Prevention Observance To Include Spectacular Show

Firemen in Plymouth and Canton will host a special Fire Prevention Week display at the carnival grounds opposite the VFW Hall on Mill St. early next month in conjunction with a national fire prevention observance.

Plymouth Township acting fire chief Louis Norman is in charge of the local observance. He revealed plans for the ambitious display this week.

He said the event should attract more than the 2,500 who turned out last year.

City of Plymouth, Plymouth Township and Canton Township fire departments will act as joint hosts, Norman said.

Tops on the agenda for the Oct. 9 affair will be a parade of fire engines and related equipment. The parade will culminate at the carnival grounds on Mill St.

There, Norman said, tentative plans call for exhibitions of fire-fighting methods, including a display on how to extinguish a blaze in an oil pit as well as emergency efforts on extricating persons from high places. Firemen will also take part in a water ball fight.

More definite plans will be announced later, Norman said. He explained that fire equipment from a number of neighboring communities will be pooled for the purpose of the display. Fire Prevention Week starts Oct. 6.
