With a goal of adding 500 members and raising $6,000 toward its 1964 budget, the YMCA continued its membership drive this week after having already enlisted 125 new members.

A concerted telephone solicitation campaign coupled with wide-spread personal contact has been cited as the reason for the drive's success to date.

However, a YMCA spokesman said that the results thus far have not been "all that was hoped for originally."

City Hall Ceremony Being Planned

Plans are being made this week to hold an official ground-breaking ceremony Oct. 6 to mark the start of work on Plymouth's new City Hall.

According to Joseph Near, of the Municipal Building Authority, at least one member of congress will be on hand for the event.

Meanwhile, demolition of existing buildings on the site of the new City Hall got underway late last week, well ahead of the Sept. 29 target date decreed by the federal government's Housing & Home Finance Agency.

Local officials estimate that the new structure will be completed late next September.

School Suddenly Runs Dry; 'Wotta Break,' Pupils Cry

The 540 youngsters at Smith Elementary School got an unexpected day of vacation Friday and while water had a lot to do with it, the rain that fell most of the day wasn't the reason.

Instead, the brief respite from classes resulted for the children when an 8-inch water main that services the school broke at McKinley and Hartough Sts.

Spewing out water that ordinarily would have been fed into the school building, the broken main — buried eight feet below the street's surface — required nearly half a day to repair.

As a result, the school building literally ran out of water. Drinking fountains dried up, toilets couldn't be flushed and faucets — when turned on — produced nothing.

Plan Oct. 1 Joint Service Club Meeting

For the first time in approximately four years, a joint meeting of all Plymouth service clubs is being scheduled.

It will be held at 6:20 p.m., Oct. 1, at Lofy's and is being hosted by the Kiwanis Club. Ernest Henry, long-time Kiwanian, is chairman of the affair.

He said that invitations are being sent to all of Plymouth's numerous service organizations as well as to the Chamber of Commerce. Representatives of each are expected to attend.

The meeting is designed to provide an opportunity for each of the clubs to exchange ideas and discuss common goals.

Henry, secretary of Kiwanis and a member of the Plymouth Community School Board, said he thought it would be the first joint meeting of all the service clubs in "perhaps four or five years."

He said that it may lead to a strengthening of a joint council of service clubs here.

On other Kiwanis Club news, members are making plans for the celebration of the club's 38th anniversary in the form of a special program the evening of Oct. 13.

Kiwanians held their annual corn-and-steak roast last week at Allen School. "Gus" Worth and his agricultural committee was in charge of the event.

A guest speaker during the evening was Kurt Thrun of the Travel Centre. Thrun told the club members that word travel was making such wide gains that within three to five years it would become readily available to almost every person.

"Like A House Afire"

THE FIRST high-pressure hose to spout water into a blazing, partially-built new home in Lake Pointe Village last week scarcely worried the raging flames which already had virtually destroyed the home. Under construction for a tentative buyer, the house burst into flames late Wednesday afternoon, and was all but consumed in the space of 30 minutes or so. These two firemen were the vanguard of more than a dozen who fought the blaze. Damages to the quad-level home, which was to have sold for $23,240 when completed, could exceed $7,000. "We'll have to start over from scratch in order to re-build it," said a spokesman for the builder. Exact cause of the fire was not immediately known. Insurance will cover the loss. ## Saxtons' 35th Birthday Big Moment for Dean

Dean Saxton, affable owner of Saxtons Garden Center, 587 W. Ann Arbor Tr., will tell you that some chickens, an old barn in Southfield, and a feed company representative are largely responsible for the "birthday" he's going to celebrate this week.

The celebration will center around the 35th anniversary of the founding of Saxtons Garden Center, and the chickens, barn and feed company official can share in the credit along with Saxton, himself.

A World War One veteran, Dean Saxton was an hourly worker at the Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant in 1928 when he decided that he'd remodel a barn that housed his chickens.

Thinking that a feed company man might be the person to ask for advice on the project, Dean invited one over. The two men got to talking, and one thing led to another. A bit later, another higher-ranking official of the feed company stopped by and convinced Dean to open a feed store. Saxton searched around for a building to house the new business. Unable to find anything suitable in Plymouth, he went to Northville.

There, a local businessman offered Dean the use of a building for six months, rent free. Dean swiftly accepted. It was in September, 1928, and the country was still many months away from the bleak days of the Great Depression.

While his tiny business got underway, Saxton continued with his job at Ford Motor Co. He worked days in his feed store and nights at the auto manufacturing plant. Finally, the grind became too much and after more than half a year of holding down two full-time jobs, Dean quit Ford's.

"Everyone said I was foolish to quit Ford's," Dean reflected more recently. "They all said it was a good, steady job. But I was working night and day, and it was just too much."

Constantly on the look-out for a place to move to in Plymouth, Dean found the answer in February, 1934. He established the Saxtons Feed Store in a building on Main St. near Maple, approximately where the former AAA office stood. In 1937, Saxtons was moved once again — this time to its present location on Ann Arbor Tr. It has remained there ever since, a familiar business place

Dean Saxton and son, Bill.

Youth Employment Office Seeks More Applicants

The back-to-school surge that takes place each September has caught the Youth Employment Service in a unique situation.

In the simplest terms, the employment service has more job openings than qualified applicants, according to coordinator Mike Hoben.

Of some 300 persons who have applied for work, approximately 200 have found jobs. Many of the remaining 100 or so have either left the community in recent weeks or returned to school.

Thus, the numerous job openings on file at Hoben's office in the Credit Union here remain unfilled due to a shortage of applicants with suitable qualifications.

Among the many job categories in Hoben's list are openings for a machinist, a graphic arts apprentice, a management apprentice, a receptionist, a shoe clerk, farm workers, secretaries, waitresses and baby-sitters.

The latter category — baby-sitting — is causing Hoben a share of concern. "We have an abundance of baby-sitting job openings," he said, "but no where near enough applicants for this sort of work."

Many of the baby-sitting jobs, Hoben explained, are the "live-in" variety, ideally suited for older women.

"There are also several apprentice-type jobs available," Hoben declared. Offers of employment have come from Northville and Livonia as the success of the Youth Employment Service has spread since its inception 10 weeks ago.

Some statistics that Hoben released last Wednesday bear testimony of the employment service's success in locating work for young adults here.

As of that date, he said, 303 persons had applied for work through his office. Hoben explained that 196 potential job "stations" have been located, creating 271 possible jobs.

Of the 271 jobs uncovered, 190 have been filled. In all, 369 employment interviews have resulted from the efforts of Hoben and his staff. Ninety-five of the persons placed in jobs have found permanent-type work, he said.

Hoben estimates that the dollars earned by these newly placed workers exceeds $50,000. Much of the earnings have been spent locally, he added.

"We've got more jobs than qualified people," Hoben said. "We simply need more applicants."

Due to a lack of communication on the part of people who registered early with the employment service, Hoben's records indicate that there are still 140 "open" applications on his desk. Of these, 78 seek full-time jobs; the balance part-time work.

But since many of these 140 persons have since left the community or returned to school, Hoben estimates that perhaps as few as 50 young people are still listed as realistic job-seekers through his office.

It is this fact that has prompted his quest for more job applicants.

Young persons wishing to register with the YMCA Youth Employment Service may do so weekdays at Hoben's office in the basement of the Plymouth Community Credit Union.

There is no fee.

Forum Ponders Plymouth's Need For Civic Center

If there's a community center in Plymouth's future, the 62 some persons attending the second Open Forum last Wednesday evening were able to envision it in only the most general terms.

And the matter of achieving further economic development, second item on the Forum's agenda, drew no better solution at the hands of the five dozen or so community leaders and residents assembled for the session.

In the case of the long-thought-of community center, which may cost anywhere from $500,000 to $1 million some day, financing was the chief concern.

But the 11 discussion groups could hit upon no firm design for the structure, either. As Russell Isbister, host and moderator of the meeting, summarized the matter later:

"It is difficult to determine any clear cut direction or mandate coming from the discussion groups. It appears that the participants feel some kind of a need for a cultural civic community center."

"However, they are unsure about the method of financing such a facility. Although the weight of opinion seemed to be in favor of a theatre type of facility, a strong minority felt that the needs of youth in a form of a youth center should have top priority."

Not only was the initial financing of the building a point for heavy discussion, the problem of operating and maintaining it also came up with frequency.

One bold suggestion as to financing a community center involved gaining the approval of voters to levy one mill special tax for 10 years.

Other people questioned whether the area "is ready for a community center at this time."

The matter of community-wide planning in order to increase industrial and economic development was greeted with no better recommendations.

Said Isbister: "The groups were almost unanimous in expressing concern over the need for further economic development."

He said that the interest and willingness to pursue area planning for industrial development is evident, but how to do it was not so clearly expressed.

A recent attempt to form a community-wide joint planning group reached an impasse after the School District was advised it could not divert school funds toward the support of such a project.

Earlier, City of Plymouth Township and Canton Township had given their approvals to the move and the City had even authorized $5,000 toward the first year's $20,000 budget.

But when the School District received word it could not help financially, the joint planning authority fell into at least temporary limbo.

One guest at the Open Forum suggested that the three municipalities (Canton and the City and Township of Plymouth) attempt to fashion the joint planning body without the help of the School District.

There seemed to be a measure of support for the suggestion.

The Forum, held in Junior High East, featured special reports by chairmen of two appointed committees. Sam Hudson reported on the possibilities of building a community center.

He related a set of statistics describing how Dearborn, Muskegon, Midland, Birmingham and Northville were able to build and operate community centers.

A bond issue financed Dearborn's; gifts were the basis for those in Muskegon and Midland; Northville was widely aided by race track revenue; and Birmingham's resulted from fees and an annual fund drive.

The most expensive was Midland's. It cost $1.7 million. Muskegon's has an annual income of $106,000, Hudson reported.

City Commissioner George Lawton, who is also an officer of the non-profit Industrial Development Corp., related various facts leading up to the impasse involving the proposed joint planning authority.

He stressed the urgent need for bolstering the entire community's economic posture.

Lawton explained that a "balanced tax base" is where the residential tax base is nearly identical to the industrial and commercial tax base.

He told how dollars expended on economic development were not dollars wasted. He said they represent an expense that will be returned to the community in tax revenue.

Lawton urged his audience to consider the possibility of a trained administrator who could handle the matters of running an industrial development movement on a full-time basis.

Little mention was made of consolidating adjoining municipalities into one total entity. It was given much wider attention at the first Open Forum last April.

The discussion leaders of this most recent Forum will meet Oct. 2 to determine what the next step will be. Among their points for consideration will be the future of the Forum meetings themselves.

The April session drew more than 100 persons. This one attracted fewer than 70, although Isbister pointed out that conflict with other meetings was largely responsible.

"An Open Forum," he said, "is an exercise in communications; sort of an old-fashioned 'cracker-barrel' conference."

He had hoped for an attendance of 200 persons around last week's cracker-barrel.

John Herb, president of Plymouth Chamber of Commerce.

These were the discussion leaders at last week's Open Forum meeting at Junior High East:

Sam Hudson, Harvey Ziel, Bob Sincok, Phil Dingeldey, Ethel North, Jack McEwen, Cliff McClumpha, George Lawton, Elizabeth Holmes, Ernest Henry, Harold Guenther, Walter Gemberline, Ralph Garber and Joyce Foust.

The 62 persons in attendance represented a wide cross-section of the community, similar to that comprised by the 700 who attended the first Forum meeting last April.

PLYMOUTH'S busy Kiwanians opened their annual Kid's Day Peanut Sale, which will be held here this Friday, by extracting all of Plymouth Mail publisher Sterling Eaton's pocket cash one day early this week. Kiwanis sale chairman, James Winterhalter, takes the money while James McKeon, left, and the Rev. Hugh White, right, pass out the "goobers" to their first customer. Proceeds of the yearly sale are used by Kiwanians to provide funds for their youth activities which include participation in Junior Achievement, Wolverine Boys State, National Music Camp, base ball excursions, Boy Scouting, YMCA, summer camp trips and a baseball program. Hundreds of local boys and girls have been the recipients of these various benefits, all paid for by members of the Kiwanis club through their fund raising projects. "When you buy a bag of peanuts from a Kiwanian on peanut sale day you are helping some local youngster participate in one of these fine programs, which, of course, he couldn't have without your help," stated chairman Winterhalter.

Saturday, in preparation for moving the nursery there shortly. Even several youngsters turned out to "tidy up" the nursery's new home. The Plymouth Lions club ticket selling campaign for its Travel and Adventure Series which opens October 12th moved into high gear today with the announcement door prizes will be given away at each performance.

At least two attractive appliances will be given at each of the six performances. A season ticket to the six exciting travelogues costs $5.00 for an adult $3.00 for a student (the latter a one dollar reduction in cost over last season's price).

More than six hundred Plymouth people attended each of last year's performances. This third annual series will be kicked off at 8 p.m. October 12th in Junior High-East with "Freightboat to Asia", an exciting color tour of Japan, Hong Kong, Bangkok, Singapore, India and Ceylon. Narration will be by John Weld, a first rate story teller.

Church of Christ Annual Revival Begins Oct. 2

The Plymouth Church of Christ announces its annual fall revival to begin Wednesday, October 2, and continue through Wednesday, October 9. Mr. Basil C. Doran of Houston, Texas is the guest speaker.

Evening services are set for 7:30 o'clock, with the exception of Sunday, when the time is 10:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Plymouth's new building is at 9301 Sheldon Road, just south of Ann Arbor Road (M-14).

Mr. Doran was born and reared in the Dresden, Tennessee - Mayfield, Kentucky area. The name is one well known in religious and educational circles.

A brother, Dr. Adron Doran, is president of Morehead State College, in Kentucky as well as a gospel minister. For many years Mr. Basil Doran has made his home in Texas. At the present he ministers to the Aldine Church of Christ in Houston and conducts meetings like this throughout the country.

He has also had much experience as a singer and in radio.

A new feature of this meeting will be interpretation (sign language) for the deaf. Mr. David Laikind is the interpreter. Much interest is being shown in a Bible class held at 6:30 p.m. each Sunday for the deaf.

All (including the deaf) are extended an invitation to attend. His style of presenting the gospel is unique and effective. Transportation can be arranged on the church bus by calling GL 3-3020 or GL 3-7630.

3-Car Accident Draws A Crowd

A three-car accident in front of City Hall Monday morning attracted a number of passers-by, but the incident caused no serious damage or injury.

A woman was attempting to pull out of the drive leading from the Detroit Edison Co. parking lot. As she drove onto Main St. she was struck by an on-coming auto which, in turn, slammed into a third car.

All three cars were damaged, but none particularly badly. A child riding in one of the cars sustained a bruise on the face and broken glasses.

The three drivers were from out of town. The woman pulling out of the Edison Co. drive was ticketed for "interfering with moving traffic."

1964 Festival Planners Hold First Meeting

An informal "steering committee" which hopes to plan the general format of Plymouth's 1964 Fall Festival met last week for the first time.

On hand were Harold Guenther, Albert Glassford, George Lawton, John Herb, Margaret Wilson and James Thornton. Another member of the committee, Edward Drugelis, was absent on business.

Thornton, a general co-chairman of the 1963 event along with Miss Wilson, said that the meeting "was strictly a 'brain-storming' session." He said that nothing definite was agreed upon.

The group, which is serving essentially as a guiding hand for next year's Festival, will announce some of its tentative plans later, he indicated.

An "action committee" is expected to evolve out of this informal steering group. Planners of the 1964 event hope to begin making specific arrangements for next year's Festival sometime soon after the first of the year.

Grange Cleanings Jesse Tritten GL 3-4387

Three of our big Fall activities for Plymouth Grange are a matter of past history. With one more major activity remaining for the immediate future let's all concentrate on making this, our annual Fall Bazaar and Turkey supper, an outstanding success. It is not too early to make your reservations for the Turkey Supper since many have already done just that. The date is October 12 and the supper will be served, family style, at 5:00, 6:00, and 7:00 p.m. To be assured of service call Jessie Squires at GL 3-3030.

The Bazaar for that October 12 date will feature Baked goods, Candy, Aprons, Fancy Work, Gifts and Novelties, Hubby's Hobby Hut, Dolls and Toys, Parcel Post, Christmas Cards, Plants and Flowers and a Snack Bar open from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

The next regular meeting of Plymouth Grange will be held Thursday evening, October 3, 1963.

Last week Thursday evening it was the pleasure of Plymouth Grange to hold our annual Booster Night at which time we were most happy to have so many visitors with us. I'm sure the program of Music, songs and Dances was enjoyed by all and we wish to thank all of the many talented people who took part in this program. Thanks to our volunteer committee who supplied the coffee and cookies for our social period following the program.

Among the administrators who will take part in the program, in addition to School Board members who comprise the curriculum committee, are Senior High Principal Carvel Bentley and guidance counselor Mike Hoben who is also co-ordinator of the Thirty year awards went to John W. Meinhardt and Max Strohl, and 20-year awards of service were presented to Albert Rose and James Watson. Ernest Worm and Beauford Vogt received 15-year awards and Percy Grooms and Gerald McDonald were recipients of 10-year awards.

Sixteen employees were honored for five years of service. They were: William Davis, Frank Holdreith, Thomas Dudley, Jr., Barbara Nash, Frank Hamilton, William Crowther, Irving Allain, Frank Cangelosi, George Stevenson, Elmer Burgett, Gordon Morrison, Vera Caldwell, Fred Stasky, James Jones, Jr., Jesse Austin and Wilfred Reaume.

Toastmaster for the banquet was J. P. Tarantino, III, and John Meinhardt presented the awards.

Curriculum Review Monday to Study Non-College Program

Another curriculum review, this one to study the Plymouth School District's academic programming for students who will not go on to college, will be held at 7:30 p.m. next Monday evening at Junior High East.

The public is invited.

Among the administrators who will take part in the program, in addition to School Board members who comprise the curriculum committee, are Senior High Principal Carvel Bentley and guidance counselor Mike Hoben who is also co-ordinator of the YMCA's Youth Employment Program.

Three questions will be explored: What are the occupational opportunities in the Plymouth community for students who do not choose to go on to college? What is the school system now doing to provide occupational skills for this same group of young people? What changes in the school program should be made in order to better accommodate these students?

Night Vocational Classes Attract Enrollment of 45

Forty-five young people have thus far enrolled in the various evening vocational classes set up this fall to aid high school drop-outs.

The classes, occupational shop, occupational English and business training, comprise a portion of the regular adult education program here.

The shop class actually consists of welding, basic mathematics, drafting and blueprint reading, while the English course includes instruction in speech, oral expression and business English. The business training class consists of typing, office procedures and business machines.

The classes get underway next week.

Meanwhile, about 800 persons have thus far registered for the fall semester of the adult education program, which is conducted by the school system. There are about 80 classes being offered this fall.

A mailing piece, sent to 5,200 homes here, was credited with the wide response. The regular fall semester of the adult education program also gets started next week.

Discuss Water Authority Here

City Commissioners met informally Monday evening with officials of both Northville city and township to discuss the feasibility of a joint water authority.

No official action was taken since the meeting was only a committee-of-the-whole affair.

The matter is expected to come up at the next regular Commission meeting.

The small two room school house of those years is now being used as a general store, and the small town of Wixom of those days is now the City of Wixom, with a large, modern brick school. The school bus replaces the bob-sleigh that was sometimes our transportation in the winter. Most of the time, however, we walked.

Those having the greatest number of points for bringing the most people to the Evangelist meetings for the week were Mary Lou Lanning, first place, who received a camera outfit; second place was Kay Roberts who received a Bible; third place, Gloria Mitchell, who received a box of stationery and Robert Bridenstine, honorable mention.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Aid will be Thursday, September 26th, with a pot-luck luncheon at noon.

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT
Plymouth, Michigan
ANNUAL REPORT

To the Citizens:

Revenues for the General Fund were $45,000.00 above the anticipated level. The change was due in part to an increase from the previous year of $2,231,500.00 in state equalized valuation placed on all properties within the school district upon which the allocated and voted millages were applied for local school tax purposes. The added revenue together with an understanding of the 1962-63 operating budget increased the operating fund balance from the 1961-62 level of $141,483.90 to the 1962-63 level of $222,629.74. Part of this increase in the operating fund balance was planned by the Board of Education to meet the rising costs in the 1963-64 school year and to offset the dwindling balance from the previous year.

Revenues from the Building and Site Sinking Fund (pay-as-you-go plan) were used to finance the alterations and modernization program at the High School, build an addition to the Farrand Elementary School and continue the construction of the new Junior High School West. Short term borrowing permitted the Board of Education to receive money in advance of taxes and thus proceed with these projects as scheduled. This method of financing school building relieves the district of heavy interest payments on long term bond issues. Taxpayers get more buildings with less dollars by means of the Building and Site Sinking Fund.

The Board of Education will continue to involve the staff and the citizens in an appraisal of the quality of the total educational program. Long term financial planning to meet the needs of the growing school district is imperative.

Citizens are invited to call the Central Administration Office, Glenview 3-0200, for further information regarding the Annual Report.

Respectfully submitted,
Russell L. Isbister
Superintendent of Schools

WHEN a partially-completed new home in Lake Pointe Village subdivision caught fire one evening last week, flames raced through the structure with devastating swiftness. At left, a fire truck has just arrived and two spectators watch the blaze, unable to help. In the center photo, the house still burns as children look on. At right, a boy watches as a rear portion of the house collapses after taking heavy damage from the flames. The fire, which seemed to last less than 30 minutes from start to finish, attracted hundreds of witnesses. Lake Pointe youngsters raced to the scene on foot and bicycles, and parents walked over to view the happenings. A spiral of billowing smoke targeted the center of activity from miles away. Dean — at 66 — can look back on a wide variety of experiences in his life-time. Born in Grand Rapids, Dean moved to Detroit shortly before World War One. Before he enlisted in the 119th Field Artillery, Dean had one date with an attractive, young girl by the name of Margaret Van Fleet.

But before his marriage, Dean took a job at Ford's which he kept until early in 1929 when his feed store was finally well underway. At Ford's, he was a locomotive crane repairman.

Her father was night editor of the old Detroit Tribune. Margaret lived across the street from Dean, but the war came along to interrupt things. After returning home from a tour of duty in France, Dean met Margaret again at a picnic. "I guess I was hooked right then," he recalls.

Plymouth High Notes

By Judy Burgess

"Homecoming" seems to be a magic word around Plymouth High these days as Oct. 11 draws near and plans for the traditional homecoming celebration continue to form and take shape.

The football team will play host to Allen Park that evening on the field behind the Senior High. It promises to be a real "bang-up" affair and a capacity crowd of Plymouth loyalists is expected, of course.

According to Pam Barbour '64, Homecoming chairman, the day will also be designated as "color day" and all PHS students are being asked to wear a blue and white, the school's colors.

Nominations are now being taken for class representatives for the Homecoming court. Any student may nominate any girl, along with three good reasons for backing her.

For the 17th consecutive year, the Plymouth Prints has been awarded the International First Place Award from the Quill and Scroll, an International Honor Society for High School Journalists.

HELP! An artist is wanted! Mr. Ray Homer is in need of an artist to finish the American development mural located in Mr. Homer's room. The mural started and 80% finished by Marcia Livingston, before she graduated in June, awaits the touch of any willing artistically inclined student. Materials will be furnished.

The Queen will be crowned at half-time by Senior Class President Tom Blunk, and will dance with drum major Mike Bentley, a junior. The Senior float committee, headed by Jenny Roberts, Sue Lucy, Kirk Lorenz and Pam Perkins, is beginning plans for "the best Senior float ever," on which the four Senior representatives will ride.

Chosen as the '63-64 president of the Senior club, Sandy Fielden's '64 first job is the proposed new constitution. Also selected to head "Español" activities are Kathy Hodge '65 and Louie Wright '65 as secretary and treasurer, respectively.

For the third year, 11-year-old Connie Jo Palmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Palmer, of Beck Road, is up in front of the band as mascot. Also found in the "junior" department is six-year-old Twyla McCuaig, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric McCuaig, of Clemons Drive, who is the mascot of the varsity cheerleaders.

Children's stories and poems will be the dominant theme of this year's Water show, planned for next spring, and put on by the Water Waves, Ripples, and Dolphins.

With try-outs over, the executive board, consisting of Roz Juve '64, president; Nancy Derr, vice-president; and Sue Ward, secretary-treasurer, are planning a pizza party tonight, and visits to swimming clinics.

"Singing sweetly" are the new members of the Triple Trios, who plan to "make beautiful music together." Selected members are: Seniors - Marilynne Moss, Margaret Ellison, Nancy Smith, and Bonnie Hoffman, Brenda Newberry; juniors - Jackie Maxey, Jan Larkin, Jill Nor-

Local Youth in Ethiopia As Peace Corps Member

An experience that undoubtedly will play a significant role throughout his entire life-time is about to unfold for 22-year-old Robert Catlett, Plymouth's first member of the U.S. Peace Corps.

Robert Catlett

A slender, serious young man with a degree in history from Virginia Polytechnic Institute, Catlett this month began a two-year stay in Ethiopia in northeast Africa where he expects to serve as a secondary teacher to native children.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Catlett, 1096 Roosevelt. His father is an engineer for Burroughs here. The younger Catlett volunteered for the Peace Corps shortly after graduating from college last June. A two-month special training program at U.C.L.A. prepared the youth for his stay in Ethiopia, where he will be as much a good-will ambassador of the United States as a trained technician in his assigned duties.

Following a brief "furlough" with his parents in Plymouth, Robert earlier this month departed by air for Ethiopia. He is one of 141 new Peace Corps volunteers sent to that country where they will join 270 others already at work there. Catlett's group, coupled with the members already there, comprises the largest single Peace Corps program in any country in Africa.

"A lot of people probably think he's crazy," said his mother a few days after her son had departed. "But he's always been interested in things of this sort. He's had an interest in the Peace Corps since its inception."

Mrs. Catlett said her son may go back to college when he returns home in 1965. She said that two years ago Robert visited Japan with a church group. "He's quite a traveler," she added.

Robert graduated from Col. White High School in Dayton, Ohio, while his father worked in that city for Burroughs Corp. The family moved to Plymouth in 1959, the same year that Robert enrolled at Virginia Polytechnic Institute in Blacksburg, Va.

The elder Catlett has been an employee of Burroughs Corp. since the late 1940's. Robert has two brothers, Charles, a sophomore at PHS, and Philip, a Smith School fourth-grader, and a sister, Catherine, who is a senior at Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo.

The youth suffered a compound fracture of his left leg and other lesser injuries. He was walking along Ten Mile in front of his home enroute to school.

A junior at South Lyon High School, David attended Plymouth High last year. His family moved from Plymouth two months ago.

A relative said he will be in the hospital (room 3014) for about six weeks. The incident happened early the morning of Sept. 16.

Linda Jean Ross, Howard R. McKillip, Jr. Repeat Vows

Linda Jean Ross and Howard R. McKillip, Jr., repeated their nuptial vows in a double ring service in Our Lady of Good Counsel Church on Saturday, Aug. 31.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Ross, of 39919 E. Ann Arbor Tr., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McKillip, of 575 Irvin St.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Ross wore a Dresden-like gown of blossom white mousseline de soie, combined with Alencon lace in a floral motif and styled with classic lines. Appliques of lace defined the crescent-curved decolletage and short shoulder covering sleeves. Below the slender pointed basque waistline, the bouffant skirt, lavishly embroidered with curved panels of the lace which cascaded to the hemline, fell in short cloud-like fullness to toe-reaching length and blended to a wide court train. Additional interest was created with two Dior bows on either side of the full skirt and another at the back waist. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, roses and stephanotis.

Attending the bride as maid-of-honor was Miss Pamela Carson, of Detroit. Mrs. David Mynatt, of Northville, and Miss Cheryl Hecox, of Marshall, attended as bridesmaids and Miss Paula Rudolph, of Garden City, and Miss Diane Klaiber, of Grand Rapids, were junior bridesmaids.

The attendants wore street length polished cotton lavender blue print frocks with a white background and overdress of apple pink satapeau. The bouffant skirted dresses were highlighted with a matching bow at the back waist and short cape of matching material which covered the bodice. Matching bouffant held their scalloped pink veil in place.

The maid of honor carried a bouquet of lavender, purple and pink asters and the bridesmaids carried bouquets of lavender and pink asters.

Robert Stanley, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. Robert Evans, of Plymouth, served the bridegroom as best man and Dick Alsbro, Robert Cosby, Jerry McKillip, brother of the bridegroom, and Mike Ross, brother of the bride, all of Plymouth, seated the guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ross chose a beige lace sheath with brown accessories. Mrs. McKillip wore pink lace and silk shantung with matching accessories. Both wore sweetheart ruses corsages.

A reception was held at the Knights of Columbus Hall for approximately 175 guests from Detroit, Ann Arbor, Grand Rapids, Dearborn, Monroe, Wayne, Livonia, Plymouth, Marshall, Grosse Ile, Taylor and Florida.

Following a camping trip in Northern Michigan the couple will make their home in Newport, R.I., where Mr. McKillip is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

The new Mrs. McKillip is a graduate of Plymouth High School and the National School of Aeronautics at Kansas City, Mo., and attended Eastern Michigan University.

Spring?

Although the calendar officially designated yesterday as the first day of Fall, Mrs. Harry Hirez, of 14592 Northville Rd., has reason to believe that Spring is just around the corner!

You see, Mrs. Hirez noticed last Thursday that a proud crocus plant in her front yard was sprouting four lavender blooms . . . and, everyone knows that a blooming crocus is a sure sign of spring . . . or is it?

Art Around Us:

by Mrs. Jessie Hudson

Each year at this time as I look over my notes, prints, slides and books in preparation for a presentation on Primitive Art to my beginning art students my enthusiasm for this period is rekindled.

It is interesting to see how similar certain aspects of primitive art are no matter where the primitive society is or was located or how long ago it began. Celtic art from the pre-Christian era, from a cold northern climate, using mostly metal has something in common with the even earlier Aztec, nurtured in a warm South American climate, using clay, silver and jewels. They both have something in common with the art of today's Eskimos, Melanians, Polynesians, American Indians of the north-west and of the south-east and of many African tribes. The main similarity is the use of geometric design on three-dimensional objects for religious or superstitious purposes.

The primitive artist never copies nature. Instead, he reproduces reality by emphasizing characteristic forms. Everything essential is there, though not always in "proper" proportion. He exaggerates for a purpose. It is more expressive that way. In fact, he differs from a modern expressionist artist only in that the primitive artist does not express only his own emotions, obey his own whims. Instead, his art is rooted in traditions passed on from generation to generation. He expresses the feelings of his whole society.

Although the main body of primitive abstract art such as masks, fetishes, and totem poles, is made for religious ceremonies or ancestral worship, everyday objects too, are given decorative treatment. They carve knife handles, decorate clay pots, baskets, b'ancan tubes. The main similarity with intricate geometric designs or stylized symbols of animals. Primitive art, in short, is not at all simple. It is extremely sophisticated.

Riverside Estates

BY FLORENCE STEPHENSON — 453-8918

Richard and Nedra Wagner of Hines Court with their two children, Richard and Cindy, spent the week end at Foy's Beach on Lake Erie. The cottage, which is owned by Richard's parents (Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wagner), is near Kingsville, Ontario. The whole family went swimming despite the cool weather.

Richard and Barbara Hannum of Riverside Drive spent an enjoyable evening last Saturday playing bridge with Mr. and Mrs. Mark Chase. The Chase's are from Redford Township where the Hannums used to live. On Monday Barbara had more company from her old neighborhood. Joan Silverstein with her two children Nancy and Judy; Nora Coacher and her children Joey and Sarah; and Mary Chase and her son Mitch combined with Barbara's two children Kathy and David gave the Hannum home the air of a Nursery. All the children had a lot of fun while the mothers tried to talk.

On Tuesday, September 10, Lloyd and Dorothy Curok celebrated their 14th wedding anniversary. The Curok's went out to dinner at Chin's Restaurant with their children, Joyce, Linda, and Paul. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dutter came for dinner and a gab session. The Dutter's are from Coral Gables, Florida, where the Curok's hope to spend a couple of weeks this winter.

Mary Ann Karamon, of Lindsay Drive, held a birthday party for her husband, Cleo, Labor Day weekend. About ten friends and relatives attended the party. Cleo's birthday was September 3, Mary Ann's birthday is September 26. Happy birthday to both of you!

Bill and Mildred Young had a steak barbecue Monday night on their patio. Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Karamon and the Young's boys, Andrew and Jeffery enjoyed the food. The Young's spent their summer vacation in Rhode Island visiting with Bill's parents (Mr. and Mrs. William Young Sr.) Mildred and her boys stayed for six weeks with Bill joining them on the last week.

We are glad to report that Joy Lynn Fitzpatrick is out of the hospital. Joy Lynn is the 15 month old daughter of Norm and Diane Fitzpatrick of Lindsay Drive. Joy was in the hospital nearly a week with a case of strep-throat.

Seek Federal OK on U. R. Land Sale Price

Delayed by the press of other administrative matters, the City's urban renewal project is scheduled to get rolling again shortly.

City Manager Albert Glassford, who has assumed the duties of urban renewal director, is about to request concurrence from the federal government on the sale price of the land involved.

It is expected the land will sell for between $7,000 and $8,000 per acre, providing the federal officials will approve this figure. The area is about seven acres in size.

Glassford is also having plans drawn up in preparation for the installation of a storm sewer along Mill St. in front of the urban renewal area.

Chips from the ROCK

Last Friday was a rainy day and since I was hard put for something to pass the time I had my office bring me a group of exchange papers that had arrived in the mail that day so I could spend my time reading and perhaps garner some new ideas.

After reading for an hour or so, I was surprised to find that life in our neighboring suburban towns was so closely knitted with that of ours here in Plymouth that I could almost shut my eyes and think I was reading about Plymouth.

For example, over in Farmington the city offices are moving this week into their new $130,000 city hall. Ours is just getting underway.

Over in Trenton residents are wrestling with the problem of having two names for W. Jefferson avenue, called in some places River Road. We have a similar situation on Ann Arbor, or is it Plymouth Road. At any rate, they are trying to get a solution for that problem from the Wayne County Road Commission.

In Nankin a move is underway to get some three million government dollars for water and sewer expansion, and the city of Wayne is giving stern warnings to their school students in regard to littering the streets. Incidentally, the Wayne Lions Club also announced plans for their annual Travelogue series.

Biggest news in nearby Northville is the fact that they are getting ready to install some modern street lights such as now grace our downtown section, and their new post office will be of Early American design rather than the Contemporary one first considered.

Way over in Grosse Pointe the Parent-Teacher Council gave solid approval to the school district's request for a millage renewal similar to the one we shall soon be faced with here.

Interestingly enough these communities move from day to day much in the same manner as we do here in Plymouth. Our problems are mutual and our headaches and pleasures seem to respond on the same plane. This, of course, you all knew and so did I, but it made me reflect on the fates that placed each and every one of us in the various localities and I couldn't help but feel how fortunate we are to be here rather than in one or the other of these fine communities.

Then I began to wonder what it was that gave me this feeling of serenity in this old town of Plymouth. Why was it that I just naturally thought and knew this was a better place to live?

Well, there are many reasons, and to refresh your memory and perhaps make you as conscious of our blessings as am I, let me, with your indulgence and for the benefit of our many newcomers, enumerate a few.

- It takes determined, dedicated people to start a campaign such as we will have here shortly to raise $64,000 to support our locally controlled Community Fund, one of the few, if not the only independent one left in Metropolitan Detroit.

- There must be an ingredient of tireless, unselfish people who devote hours of their own time to play and work for our symphony orchestra, one of the few in America in a small town such as ours. And, incidentally, one that will compare favorably with any in any town in this country, regardless of size.

- A willingness on the part of our residents to sacrifice large chunks of their hard earned school dollars is reflected in the excellence of our school system, which is second to none.

- The unusually high calibre of our civic minded public servants, who serve on our various governmental units, the schools, the city and the township. People eager and willing to do their part by offering their talents in the formulating of policy and plans to perpetuate the quality which we present to the world in this respect.

- The cooperation and togetherness as reflected by our business and industrial community, our various service organizations, etc., which make it possible to present a week's undertaking as successfully as did Plymouth two weeks ago with its Fall Festival.

- There is, too, a religious element far larger than usually encountered in a community of this size, whose dedication to their faith have blessed this area with a tremendous number of active church congregations and edifices. Certainly indicative of the solid foundation upon which our walls are supported.

And on and on and on. But perhaps a rainy day for all of us privileged to be a part of this community is a good thing once in a while to remind us that to maintain this bonanza takes sacrifice, and if we are to continue to enjoy the fruits of these efforts we must continue to give and support everything which brings these things into being.

Plans Firm For Nursing Program At Schoolcraft

Plans for a practical nursing program of instruction are well underway at Schoolcraft College, which is scheduled to open next fall.

According to Mrs. Harriet Sattig, director of nursing education at the college, the first class in nursing will include 35 students.

In order to be considered for admission, applicants must be between 18 and 50 years of age. Both single and married women will be accepted, Mrs. Sattig announced.

Women interested in taking the course in nursing must apply for general admission to the college and complete a 11 admission procedures. They will then be interviewed and given additional testing.

The nursing program will last about 12 months, Mrs. Sattig said. Tuition and fees for the course are $101 and cost of books, uniforms and other expenses will bring the total to about $220.

Further information is available at the college.

CITES POST OFFICE

The Plymouth post office has been commended for its successful efforts in promoting the sale of U. S. Savings Stamps. At the same time, it announced that children buying their first stamps of the school year will receive a certificate signed by the seven Mercury Astronauts. The certificates are available now.

Expect great things from Chevrolet again—for '64

Tomorrow...Jet-smooth Luxury '64 CHEVROLET

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan—one of 15 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolets

Chevrolet was luxurious before, but you should see it now. With smart new styling, the '64 Chevrolet looks even longer (but isn't). There's even a whole new series this year—the Impala Super Sports—with front bucket seats as standard equipment. (The new Impalas and Bel Airs are more luxurious, too. Even the lowest priced Biscaynes have new foam-cushioned seats front and rear and are fully carpeted.) Of course, you expect more than just luxury from Chevrolet. A choice of 16 power teams, for instance—a 6 and six V8's up to 425 hp (optional at extra cost). And quieter transmissions. Jet-smooth ride with Full Coil suspension. Flush-and-dry rocker panels, Delco-tron generator, self-adjusting brakes and other low-upkeep features. If you've ever wondered how luxurious Chevrolet could get—with all the extra-cost options there are to choose from—that's entirely up to you.

Take your first look at the first CHEVELLE!

CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

New Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe—one of 11 models in three great series.

You've never seen anything like this totally new line of cars before. Chevelle is new in everything but Chevrolet quality. Chevelle is a good foot shorter than the big cars, so it parks easily. Yet the interior of its Body by Fisher gives you a generous supply of passenger and luggage room. The ride is surprisingly smooth with a rugged coil spring at all four wheels. And not so surprisingly for Chevrolet, the new Chevelle offers a choice of engines ranging from an economical 120-hp 6 to a 220-hp V8 (optional at extra cost). Choose the Chevelle you like best from the three series—the Malibu Super Sport, the Malibu and the 300 Series, eleven models in all—at your Chevrolet dealer's. (This good-looking Malibu Super Sport maybe?)

Cross-Country Team Drops 2

Coach John Sandmann's Chinclads ran into bad luck last week dropping the first two contests of the year to Franklin and Trenton, by the score of 23-33 22-34 respectively.

In cross-country the place that a boy finishes in, is equal to the number value of that place, for example, 1st place is worth 1 point, 10th place is worth 10 points and so on. Therefore the team with the lowest points is the winner. Last Tuesday, Sept. 17, the Plymouth team traveled to Franklin for its first meet of the season. The results were disappointing as Franklin had good depth and captured the first three spots along with 6th, 11th, 12th and 13th. The highest Rock finisher, Steve Ward, came in fourth with a time of 11:10, followed by Jim Eder, 5th; Dennis Caderet, 7th; Buck Kuisel, 8th; John Bowsman, 9th; Bob Pringle, 10th; and Bruce Sprattling, 14th.

On Friday, Sept. 20, the Rocks traveled to Trenton for their first league meet and although they were beaten Coach Sandmann was very pleased by the finish of three first year runners. Trenton took the first 3 places but Mike Bentley, Frank Dorset and John Bates, all competing in their 1st cross-country meet, finished 4th, 6th, and 7th respectively. Coming in right behind Bates were co-captains Kuisel and Bowsman followed by Eder and Ward.

Jay-Vees Bow to Franklin in First Game of Season

The Plymouth Junior Rock football team started the season on a dismal note last Thursday afternoon as they were defeated by the Franklin Jay-Vee team 14-0.

The game started out on a defensive note as both teams were contained and the offenses just couldn't seem to click. Early in the game Franklin had the ball as close as Plymouth's ten yard line but couldn't penetrate the Rock defense.

The ball-switched back and forth throughout the first half and most of the way through the second until there was about 2 minutes left in the half. The Rocks had held defensively and Franklin went into punt formation on fourth down. Instead of kicking, the punter threw a pass over the surprised Plymouth defense and scored. They picked up the extra point and led 7-0 as the first half came to a close.

The third period was much like the first with the defensive prevailing again. Then in the last quarter, as Plymouth punted, a Franklin defender blocked the kick and recovered the ball in the Plymouth territory. They scored their second touchdown and extra point and the game ended 14-0.

Coach Dick Bearup was pleased with the defensive performance of his boys but was disappointed at the lack of offensive punch. He realizes the squad hasn't been playing as a unit very long and said they need more experience to be able to function as a team.

Wilson, Plum to Visit Home Appliance Mart

George Wilson Detroit Lions head coach George Wilson and quarterback Milt Plum will make a combined guest appearance between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

HOT UNDER HOOD

An auto owned by Mrs. Charles Ray, 3860 Napier, caught fire one afternoon last week on Forest Ave. at Wing St. Faulty wiring around the generator was believed to have caused the flames, which firemen swiftly extinguished. The blaze burned a hole through the hood, however.

Q. How many books in Michigan's 326 public libraries? A. 8,800,000.

this Saturday at Home Appliance Mart, 34722 Plymouth Rd., Livonia.

Their joint appearance is being billed as a "must" for all "arm-chair" quarterbacks in the northwestern Wayne County area.

Home Appliance Mart has extended an invitation to all Plymouth-Livonia residents to stop by the store during the two-hour span and discuss the topic of the Detroit Lions with Wilson and Plum.

There is no admission. Wilson, veteran coach of the Lions, and Plum, who last year led Detroit to a solid second place finish in the NFL's western conference, will answer all questions.

"The two men will be glad to listen to all comments and will attempt to provide answers to questions as to how the Lions expect to do this season," a spokesman said.

"I wouldn't be surprised if Wilson will be looking for some suggestions as to how the Lions might be able to clinch the division championship this year after finishing second three seasons in a row," the spokesman said.

Everybody is invited, young and old alike. "I guess the only requirement," quipped a store employee, "is that all visitors ought to be fans of the Lions."

Home Appliance Mart will give away a boy's complete football uniform or an official Detroit Lions autographed football to everyone who purchases a Hotpoint appliance.

Freshmen Football Team Preparing for Opener With Clarenceville

Dick Hill begins his second year as freshman football coach by readying his boys for their first game of the year which will be played at Clarenceville, Thursday, Sept. 26 at 4:00.

Dick teaches General Mathematics and Algebra besides coaching football at Junior High-East.

Hill started his football career in high school, in Gary, Indiana. After graduation he went to the University of Michigan and earned a job as starting guard as a sophomore. He was a starter through his three years of eligibility from 1954 to 1956.

He then went into the Canadian Professional football league playing for the Montreal Alouettes for one season after which Uncle Sam beckoned and he went into the service where he played service ball. After leaving the Army he returned to the University of Michigan and picked up his teaching certificate.

He was hired at semester change 2 years ago by the Plymouth school system. He lives with his wife, Gwen, and daughters, Evelyn 4 and Kristen 1 on Carpenter St. in Northville.

According to Hill, it's hard to determine how his team is coming along until he sees them in action, but he mentioned he has some good prospects in halfbacks, Jim Elias and Dick Micol. He likes the way Dave Prochazka handles the ball from his quarterback spot and looks for some good line play from tackles.

Rocks Trounce Farmington, 37-12

The Plymouth Rock Football team trounced Farmington last Friday night and literally rolled them over by amassing a total of close to 400 yds. while scoring 37 points as opposed to Farmington's 12.

Again this week the difference was the power running of a trio of Plymouth backs. Dave Agnew, Gary Grady and Roger Tobey accounted for the majority of yards rushing and scored all but 6 points for the winning Plymouth team.

It's still early to tell much about the absolute strength of the ball club but it appears that future opponents will have to contain Plymouths backfield if they intend on beating the Rocks.

Farmington found this out early in the 1st quarter, after having received the opening kickoff from Plymouth. Farmington had to punt after one series of plays. Plymouth received the ball and started its march downfield from the 24 yard line. Grady picked up a first down on a 15 yard sweep around left end. Tobey then picked up 3 yards and Grady cut thru the left side of the backfield and pitched a screen pass to Agnew for 17 yards and a first down. On the same play Farmington was penalized 15 yards for a personal foul and Plymouth was threatening. Grady drove through left end to the 1 yard line and Agnew plunged in for the touchdown. The extra point was no good leaving the score at 6 to 0.

Plymouth kicked off to Farmington, held them to one first down and forced them to punt. The ball ended up on Plymouth's 19 and after 2 plays Grady brought everything to their feet by sweeping left end and behind tremendous blocking and racing 80 yards for the T.D. On the play Agnew, leading the interference, cut down two men and Tobey got another to send Grady into Farmington's backfield. Captain Dick Egloff chopped down the defensive halfback and Grady was gone. "A picture play", was Coach Mike Hoben's description.

The extra point attempt failed and Plymouth led 12-0.

Plymouth kicked to Farmington's 42 and a clipping penalty set it back to the 27. Farmington then fumbled and tackle Kevin Hunting pounced on the ball at the 24 yard line.

Toben ran for 9 as the quarter ended. Daniel then connected with Agnew for a 15 yard pass play setting up a dive for Grady who scored from the 1.

The try for point was blocked and the score stood at 18-0, Plymouth.

Farmington scored on the next series of plays by smashing up the middle for a 55 yard run. The point was no good and there was no further scoring in the half so it ended with the Rocks leading 18-6.

The ball went back and forth the first part of the 3rd period. Farmington then started a drive from its own 43, got as far as Plymouth's 17 and fumbled. The Rocks recovered and after losing yardage to their 10 began a drive of their own. Daniel spotted Egloff breaking past the defenders and dropped a pass into Dick's hands, who was brought down on the 50. Grady scampered around end for 23, 11 and 4 yards to set up a slash off the right side were up front. Hal Smith and Kevin Huntington both played well and deserve a good round of applause.

Coach Hoben stated after the game that the team played good ball but he doesn't feel as if he can say too much about the Rocks prospects until they hit tougher competition. He contributes the high score to the fact that Farmington ran out of gas in the second half. Hoben is fairly pleased with his offense but hopes to improve the play of his defensive line in preparation for the 1st league game of the season, this Friday with Trenton.

Boys Interested in Hockey Urged to Attend Meeting

There will be a meeting for all boys interested in playing hockey this winter. It will be held in the auditorium annex at the senior high school, Thursday, September 26 at 7:30.

The meeting is being held so the coaches can find out who is available for the different age groups teams that will be organized.

Jim McKindles, president of the league, along with the recreation department urges all boys to attend this meeting if they are at all interested.

He also stated that practice sessions will start the first of November and league games usually get under way in mid December.

For additional information call the Plymouth Recreation Department or Mr. McKindles whose phone number is 453-7036.

Rocks Open League Play Against Trenton

Coach Mike Hoben's charges meet Trenton this Friday on the Plymouth High School Athletic Field as they open their league schedule.

When asked about the game, Hoben said that this would probably be Plymouth's first real test of the season. Northville and Farmington had fair teams but lacked any offensive threat.
