See Interest, Optimism In Fall Festival Plans

New groups have expressed interest and optimism in the structure and basic plan for the Plymouth Community Fall Festival, according to information released by the Fall Festival Board this week.

This year's Festival is scheduled to be held from Sept. 10 through 13.

Expectations are that the attendance figure of 30,000, set last year, will be substantially increased. Jaycees are planning 5,000 at their fish fry — an increase of 300 per cent over last year.

Plymouth Rotary has upped its estimate for the chicken barbecue on Sunday, Sept. 13 to 12,000, a rise of 3,000 over 1963.

A FULL list of exhibitors is lined up for the Plymouth Symphony League's antique show, to be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday in the Grange and Community Building.

Veterans of Foreign Wars will repeat their popular parade of drums on Saturday, and Plymouth Kiwanis will hold its pancake festival at Masonic Temple.

Other groups submitting Fall Festival plans are AAUW, Three Cities Art Club, Garden Club, Rotary, Ann's, Plymouth Grange, Business and Professional Woman's Club, Plymouth Theater Guild, DAR, American Legion, the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce and Plymouth Newcomers.

Recapitulating last year's turn-of-the-century theme, the Festival is expected to be the largest civic-service club community effort ever attempted in Plymouth.

City Accepts, Rejects Bid for Renewal Land

Acceptance of a bid on a piece of city urban renewal property, then reconsideration and rejection of the same bid marked a lengthy special city commission meeting held Monday evening in the City Hall.

Commissioners originally voted to accept a bid of $3,500 from Plymouth's Dura-Tainer Corporation for a parcel of property located directly across from the firm's plant on S. Mill St.

But when City Manager Albert Glassford told commissioners the bid was contingent upon an ordinance change to permit parking in the 50-foot setback space, the governing body apparently began to have misgivings about the bid.

Noting that the bid was not accompanied by the required five per cent deposit, Commissioner George L. Watson moved that the bid be reconsidered.

After reconsideration and rejection, Lawson moved that Dura-Tainer be asked to submit a bid with the required deposit and a letter covering all contingencies.

Currently building a 90 by 120-foot addition to its plant, Dura-Tainer is one of four producers of wire mesh shipping containers in the world. The firm, headed by James Van Gieson, also requested to be considered as the first bidder for a parcel located to the north, currently being bid on by two men who propose to build a year-round ice skating rink at the site.

Concerning the ice skating rink, the offer to purchase the land by Marvin Shalloske and Hal Shelley was tabled until a bid, accompanied by deposit, is submitted.

In connection with the city's reservoir and water improvement program, the commissioners authorized the sale of $260,000 in water

School Board Turns Down Union Requests, Adopts Pay Schedule

Turning its back on requests of the International Union of Operating Engineers and the promise of mediation, the Plymouth Community School Board voted unanimously Wednesday, June 24 to adopt the original pay schedule presented for consideration at the regular monthly meeting held Monday, June 8.

Included in recommendations presented by chairman Robert Utter's employee relations committee are provisions for time and a half for overtime for maintenance and custodial men on Saturdays and Sundays when approved by the building and grounds supervisor.

Wage increases were approved of seven cents an hour for head maintenance men and night supervisors, six cents an hour for specialists including boiler operators and general maintenance and five cents an hour for custodians.

Other committee recommendations included increases of seven cents an hour for mechanics, assistant mechanics, bus drivers, secretarial-clerical and cafeteria workers.

Employee Relations Committee Chairman Utter told his group had secured comparative figures from nine school districts contiguous to Plymouth.

"We are second from the top in salaries," he concluded, "and in fringe benefits, including vacations, uniforms and insurance, we are the best of the nine districts."

Utter said the board made an informal decision in committee of the whole that the original recommendations were in keeping with the policy of remaining near the top of the scale with nearby districts. He reiterated the recommendations made at the June 8 meeting. Concerning the board's action, Ross asked:

"IS THIS going to be the future policy—comparing the same district—and never attaining the lead?"

Replying to Ross's question, Fischer said he could not forecast future policies. Officially, he said, the board changes each year.

"We feel that we have tried to be equitable and fair," he said. Fischer pointed out that the district was faced with a deficit financing program for the coming fiscal year.

Concerning the survey of other districts, Ross asked if the board had included a survey of responsibilities and duties. Assistant Superintendent of Schools for Business, Melvin Blunk, told Ross that no schools are alike.

"Compared jobs are not exactly alike, but they are quite similar," he said. "We feel that we have a functional plan."

Ross told the board the union has filed a complaint with the State Mediation Board and expects to enter mediation shortly.

"I DON'T think people paying taxes in this district expect substandard pay," he said. Ross objected to substantial increases in administrative salaries as compared to classified personnel. "The men are upset over action that has transpired to date," he concluded.

The appointment of four new staff members to district schools was approved by the board at the special meeting.

Margery Hagmayer, holder of a B.S. degree from Russell Sage College, New York, was appointed to teach sixth grade classes next year at Junior High School West. Assigned to seventh grade mathematics classes was William Kloote, a teacher in the Livonia School System. Kloote holds a B.A. from Hope College and an M.A. from Eastern Michigan University. He has taught one semester at Livonia and was offered a position there for the coming year.

Appearing at Wednesday's meeting were five union members and Robert Ross, business manager of the International, Local 522 of Detroit.

School Board President Gerald Fischer noted that special meetings had been held between the employee relations committee, employee groups and the board of education. Concerning the recommendations made at the June 8 meeting, Fischer said:

"WE HAVE taken a further look in committee of the whole. Our conclusions have been sent to the employee group." Fischer noted that less than a week remained until the end of the school district's fiscal year and urged immediate action on the proposals.

Employee Relations Committee Chairman Utter told his group had secured comparative figures from nine school districts contiguous to Plymouth.

"We are second from the top in salaries," he concluded, "and in fringe benefits, including vacations,

Vote Pay Raises for Administrative Staff

Pay increases, ranging as high as $700, were granted to administrative personnel at a special meeting of the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education held last Wednesday evening, June 24 at the school district offices.

Leading the list was an annual increase of $700 to the Superintendent of Schools, raising his yearly salary to $18,200.

Other increases included $650 to the assistant Superintendent of Schools for business, to a total of $12,850; $500 to the Senior High Principal to $12,600 and the establishment of a $12,750 salary for the recently-appointed Assistant Superintendent of Schools for Secondary Education.

THE DIRECTOR of Transportation was given a raise of $335 to $6,010; the Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds received an increase of $200 to $9,900; the Director of Libraries was given $200 more, increasing the salary to $1,500 over the teacher scale.

Elementary principals received a $250 raise, placing them $2,450 above teacher scale. Also approved were increases for compensation for co-curricular activities and coaching.

In the past, all coaches have received the same level of compensation. Coaching pay will now range from $550 to $700—depending on the number of years a teacher has coached. The top level will come after eight years of coaching. It represents a $125 increase over the present scale.

The primary election date has been set for Sept. 1. Township voters will find change on the ballot in November when they go to the polls. The post of township highway commissioner has been eliminated and the board of review, under the new state constitution, will be appointed rather than elected.

The test of emergency communications effectiveness stretched throughout the United States and its possessions and Canada. It was sponsored by the American Radio Relay League.

Termed a mass emergency communications experiment, the exercise saw more than 350,000 ham operators man their sets from 4 p.m. Saturday through 4 p.m. Sunday.

YOUNG Silvis and Saeger set up their transmitters and receivers in a field on a farm located on Haggerty Road south of Joy Road. They operated with both CW (code) and voice operation.

The two made contacts as far away as Nova Scotia and California. They were accompanied at first by Larry Hanz of Plymouth Township who had to stop operation because of an illness in his family.

HARD AT work during Sunday's national ham radio exercise were Plymouthites Tim Saeger and Bill Silvis, Jr. The two youths set up transmitters in a farm field near Haggerty Road, south of Joy Road.

Keeps Track of Time With Clock Collection

Visitors to the Edward Ebert's home on N. Mill St. never wonder what time it is. They can easily find out just by looking around them. One of the many clocks scattered throughout the house.

Ebert collects clocks as well as antique furniture. You can find at least one clock in every room of his house, and he has six or seven in his dining room.

The clocks, all in perfect running order, are between 40 and 100 years old. His collection includes German Becker clocks, steeple clocks, grandfather clock, banjo clocks and shell clocks. Some of the cases for his clocks are plain, others ornately decorated. They receive their names from their shapes.

One large wall clock that hangs in the Ebert's dining room, and which Ebert says is his most valuable clock, he found in a jewelry store basement. He says he removed it from the basement in pieces, cleaned it many times to get all the dirt and put the cabinet together. The clock has a white porcelain face and brass pendulum.

In the past, frequently the works for the clocks were made in Europe and shipped to this country where local cabinetmakers would make the cases for them, Ebert explained. Walnut and oak were the woods used most frequently for cases although all woods can be found. Ebert also has clocks with stone cases, brass, and other metals.

Ebert, a former switchman for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, has been collecting clocks for about 15 years. He started his collection after his brother-in-law and brother both started collections. He finds them in antique stores and through friends and says he enjoys keeping them in running order.

Plan to Organize Local People-to-People Group

Plans got underway a week ago Wednesday noon for the organization of a "People-to-People" chapter here in Plymouth after a group of local residents met at a luncheon sponsored by local businessman and city commissioner James Houk.

The purpose of the People-to-People program, as outlined by the organization's founder and board chairman, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, is:

THE GROUP, whose executive secretary is former Plymouth city manager Perry W. Cookingham of Kansas City, has three distinct programs at public school, university and adult levels. All are designed to further international understanding through activities which include pairing sister cities, letter writing, entertaining foreign visitors, hospitality programs and other efforts.

Houk became interested in People to People when he represented the City of Plymouth at the Michigan Governor's Conference, People-to-People, in Saginaw in April.

On Wednesday, John Lindeman, representing People-to-People, Inc. spoke to Houk and 10 other Plymouthites about organizing a local chapter. Needed are 30, $5 dues paying members.

A N ORGANIZATIONAL meeting will be held in Plymouth on Tuesday, Aug. 11 to form a local People-to-People chapter. Five persons have volunteered to help Houk organize the chapter.

They are Wendell Miller, Mrs. Arnod Johansen, Mrs. Marshall North, Mrs. E. I. Wylie and Arnold Kehrl. Persons interested in the program are asked to contact any one of the five or to drop Houk a postcard in care of Fisher's Shoes, 290 S. Main St., Plymouth. With less than two weeks remaining before the annual Fourth of July celebration, the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce intensified its drive to sell tickets for the annual Black Angus steer drawing to be held on the Fourth at the carnival grounds across from Burroughs Corp. plant on Plymouth Road.

The drawing will be held at 9 p.m. in a newsletter to Chamber members. President Wendell Lent expressed confidence in the efforts of the membership to accomplish the goal.

Move Recovery Inc. Meetings To High School

On Wednesday, July 1, the Plymouth group of Recovery, Inc. will move to Plymouth Senior High School (room 114), 650 Church St., Plymouth, Mich. from Our Lady of Good Counsel School Library.

The group will meet every Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. Recovery, Inc. was founded in 1937 by the late Dr. Abraham A. Low, Associate Professor of Psychiatry and Neurology at the University of Illinois Medical School.

After years of research, study and treating patients, Dr. Low developed the Recovery system of self-help techniques to prevent chronicity in nervous patients and relapses in former mental patients.

Recovery, Inc. does not supplant the physician. Recognizing limitations as lay people is part of the leader's training.

At every Recovery meeting it is made clear that leaders are not physicians or authorities or experts in any sense of the word. The training deals only with that portion of a person's life where he is expected to practice "self-leadership."

Local Netmen See Quarterfinal Play

Plymouth had an enviable record carved out for itself last week as five local tennis players distinguished themselves in quarterfinal play at the State Closed Tennis Tournament, held in Grand Rapids from Monday, June 22 through Thursday.

In the 14 and under age group, Plymouth's Bob Stover, seeded seventh in the state, reached the quarterfinals where he was finally defeated.

Teaming up with Steve Mogle and seeded sixth in the state in doubles play in the 14 and under group, Stover and his partner also made it to quarterfinal play.

Though not seeded in the tourney, Plymouth's Dick Stremg played extremely well, battling his way to quarterfinal play where he was finally vanquished by Whitty of Hamtramck, 6-3, 4-6, 6-8.

Stremg played in the 16 and under group.

BACK IN the 14 and under category, a pair of Plymouth netmen very nearly upset the number two seeded doubles team in the tournament. Chris Bellmore and Robby Clum lost in a close match, 4-6, 7-9.

Asked his opinion, Plymouth coach Jim Stevens said he was pleased with the results. "The boys played real well," he noted.

During the Fourth of July weekend, a group of 20 Plymouth youths from 12 to 18 years old will

Cubs Move Closer to Junior League Pennant

With only four games remaining, the National League Cubs of the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League held on to their three-game lead by picking up two wins last week.

The second-place Dodgers stayed in contention by winning twice. The Pirates gave the Dodgers a rough time before dropping a 10-9 decision. The Red Legs pounded out 12 hits in a 16-5 win over the Braves.

In American League contests, the Indians cut the Yankees lead to one game as they ran their winning streak to five. The Orioles helped tighten the race as they dumped the Yanks for the second time this season in a 4-3 thriller.

EARLIER, a two-run homer in the last inning saved the Yanks from the upset minded Tigers 3-2. The Tigers also came close to surprising the Indians in another 3-2 game. With a 15-hit attack, the Red Sox dropped the White Sox 15-4.

Optimists Drop Two More for 5 Losses

Continuing the pattern they set early in the season, the Plymouth Optimists team — playing in the Class "D" Livonia league — extended their losing streak to five straight games.

On Tuesday, June 23, the Optimist nine forfeited a game to the Livonia Elks because only five players showed up for the game.

Manager Bill Basham of Plymouth issued a plea for players for the team. Boys between 16 and 18 interested in being on the Optimist squad are urged to contact him at GL 3-5397 or to call Plymouth recreation director Herb Woolweaver at GL 3-3100.

Basham said the Optimists do not intend to forfeit any more games.

Plymouth made it as far as the quarter-finals in State JayCee Tennis Tournament play held in Detroit last week. In the 18 and under singles competition, Dave Tidwell and Jim Bruff went down in quarter-finals play in three set matches. Dick Stremg was beaten in the 16 and under semi-finals and Robin Wideman lost in the first round of field screen was erected in time for Ray Madean, Wayne third baseman, to smash a long home run off Optimist pitcher Dennis Thorpe.

Trailing 9-0 in the fifth, the Optimists exploded for five runs in the fifth inning on singles by Mike Manley, Glenn Heinrich and Dave Eisendorfer. Damon Cruce relieved Thorpe in the third and pitched the remainder of the game.

Garden Hints to Bring Your Living Room into Back Yard

Want to make your garden more attractive — after the planting's been done? Here are some hints you can use to bring your living room into the backyard... ways to have fun without mosquito bites... to barbecue food without burning the grass you worked so hard to grow.

You'll discover a special inducement for merging indoor and outdoor living when you study the comparative prices. Figuring the cost of your house at the local rate per square foot of enclosed space, you may find that a semi-enclosed porch will run about half the price. But, if you create outdoor living space in a spot sheltered by the walls and overhangs of the house itself, you can knock that square-foot price down to one-third! Your outdoor budget will have to cover only stone paving and plants — no insulation, and no expensive heating system. You'll also find that an outdoor living room or patio visually enlarges the interior of your house, particularly if you have floor-to-ceiling glass connecting doors.

If you like to just plain sit once the hot weather comes, you might try screening your terrace. Nothing can ruin a cool summer evening more than the sudden attack of a giant-sized mosquito or even a sneaky gnat.

Another welcome addition to summer outdoor living is a handy barbecue you can build yourself for terrace or lawn. There are many types of barbecues you can choose from: a favorite though, because of its great durability, is a stone barbecue "in the round." Only five feet in diameter, it will fit into almost any yard and operate with big barbecue performance. Its main feature, a large semi-circular wind-wall of flagstone, makes an excellent working counter as well as providing a beautiful focal point for the garden.

You will also find flagstone handy for garden walks. Easily set, flagstone requires no special base; just cut out the turf and drop in place. The walk will guide summer garden traffic where you want it to go and avoid wear and tear on the turf itself. A stone walk also permanently defines the edges of flower beds and prevents plant roots from spreading out of bounds. Best of all, your garden will be lovelier to look at.

According to Kanaji D. Moto, leading architect and garden planner, stone is one of the most important items in a garden. Compared to other items such as trees, shrubs, herbs, water, soil and flowers, stone is permanent. Once placed in a position harmonious with other stones, the proportion is maintained throughout the ages. Trees and shrubs tend to overgrow and become undisciplined or even die; water tends to dry up, soil to erode, flowers to fade, but the rugged and natural beauty of stone stubbornly remains.

New cutting techniques and the wide variety of stone available today — such as sandstone, quartzite, marble, limestone, granite, and slate — provide you with an almost limitless selection of color and textures from which to carry out your ideas.

Most people think of a garden wall as merely a "picnic crust" to keep an earthen bank from throwing its weight around. But you can use stone walls, as many home owners are discovering, to add distinctive features to your home and garden and at the same time to solve knotty landscaping problems.

Stones may be combined in a wall to create a pictorial effect. You can form a countless number of intriguing patterns for your wall from the stone of your choice. A wall just a few feet high keeps children off the grass and forms a neat, attractive edging for the sidewalk. Or perhaps you can make a steep backyard usable by splitting it into a series of level terraces held in place by retaining walls.

Any number of designs can be set in the wall, dry or wet. Your local stone yard can help you select a pattern.

If you really want to make your garden a conversation piece, large granite boulders that resemble huge outcroppings will help. They lend a sculptured effect and become principal focal points of beauty.

The truth of the matter is that it is easier and less expensive than you think to convert an ordinary backyard into a useful outdoor living room. All it takes is a little effort and a deep-rooted desire to take in all of the wonders of outdoor living this summer.

FOR PLYMOUTHITES who may have wondered what was going on in Plymouth's downtown area last week when they saw a shiny new car, a pretty girl and lots of photographic equipment, here is the answer: It was the Ross Roy Advertising Agency taking publicity shots for the 1965 Dodge. Here, at one of the picture-taking sessions, were, left to right, F. J. O'Neil New York City model, Miss Connie Van Dyke of Detroit, Plymouth Superintendent of Public Safety Kenneth Fisher, agency employee Miss Lorraine Czarneke of Livonia and City Manager Albert Glassford.

tained with The Mail Publishing Co. under the new management. Any promotions to be made will be made from within the organization and announced in detail next week, Strickland said.

Although not actively involved in the newspaper and publishing business until having acquired The Farmington Enterprise, Strickland has had a long-time interest in this work that has increased steadily during his years as publisher of The Enterprise.

Acting as personal advisor and assistant to Strickland in overseeing the operations of both The Farmington Enterprise and The Plymouth Mail will be Michael J. Kiley, presently serving as general manager of the Enterprise operations only.

Strickland stated emphatically, however, that both The Farmington Enterprise and The Plymouth Mail will be operated as individual newspapers and printing firms both serving their own individual communities and each having their own separate management arrangements.

A prominent Detroit industrialist and manufacturer's representative in past years, Strickland was a group vice president and a director of the Federated Mogul Bower Bearing Co., with several plants located in this country and overseas, until his resignation earlier this year.

HE IS immediate past president of the Boys Club of Detroit and is still active as a director, executive committee member and vice chairman. Strickland is also a director of manufacturers National Bank of Detroit, and on the advisory board of United Foundation.

Born in Detroit, Strickland holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Michigan. Married to the former Marcia Connell, also of Detroit, in 1940, the Stricklands have three children.

Kiley has been serving as general manager of The Farmington Enterprise since early 1960. From 1954 until taking over as general manager, he was editor of the same newspaper.

Kiley began his newspaper career as a "printer's devil" at the Arenac County Independent in Standish, Mich. at the age of 13 and has been active in various phases of newspaper work ever since. His wife, Phyllis, and their three young children reside in Farmington.

College training was received by Kiley at Eastern Michigan University and the University of Michigan. He is presently a member of the board of directors of the Farmington Board of Commerce and a member of the City of Farmington's Economic Development Committee.

An Adequate Breakfast

Sliced bananas, corn flakes with strawberry jam and whole milk, hot muffins, butter or margarine, and cocoa—here is an adequate breakfast!

What is an adequate breakfast? Is there a definite answer? Yes! During the course of the scientifically controlled Iowa Breakfast Studies on the role of breakfast in the diet regimen, an adequate breakfast, designated as a basic breakfast, was established. The basic breakfast is defined as one which provides one-fourth of the total daily caloric requirement and one-fourth of the total daily protein allowance. The basic breakfast is designed as a guide by which a nutritionally adequate breakfast can be calculated for any individual, by adjusting it both calorie-wise and as to the protein allowance.

The whole family can enjoy the same basic breakfast of fruit, cereal and milk, bread and butter or margarine, and a beverage. For most people, average servings of these foods supply one-fourth of the day's food needs. If a member of the family is on a weight reduction diet, the servings can be smaller, and nonfat milk used in place of whole milk. For those whose caloric needs are higher, add a generous serving of jam or jelly to the cereal, and use whole milk. For persons whose energy needs are higher, this modern breakfast may be supplemented with other foods.

Susan Grace Larkin Weds Dale Ira Hawk

In a double ring candlelight service in the First Methodist Church, June 20, Susan Gail Larkin and Dale Ira Hawk repeated their marriage vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Larkin, of 315 Pacific Ave., and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hawk, of 48708 Warren Rd.

Given in marriage by her father and mother, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white peau de soie, designed and made by her grandmother, Mrs. A. K. Brocklehurst. The bodice, front panel of the skirt and detachable train were trimmed with hand-appliqued Italian lace. She wore a fingertip veil of bridal illusion held in place by a silk organza cabbage rose headpiece. Her flowers were a semi-cascade bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis with magnolia leaves.

Carolyn Scott, of Evergreen Ave., was maid of honor. Her dress, also designed and made by Mrs. Brocklehurst, was floor-length blue batiste over taffeta and the bodice was covered with white cluny lace. She wore a spray of matching flowers in her hair and carried a colonial nosegay of yellow daisies.

Bridesmaid for her sister was Janis Larkin. Beth Ann Larkin, another of the bride's sisters, and Susan Hawk, the groom's sister, were junior bridesmaids. Their gowns matched the maid of honor's except they were yellow rather than blue.

Serving as best man was Gerald Pinkerton, of Maple Ave. Ushers were Dan Hawk, the bridegroom's brother, and David Curtis, of Plymouth.

SUSAN GAIL LARKIN, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Larkin, of 315 Pacific Ave., became the bride of Dale Ira Hawk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hawk, of 48708 Warren Rd., in a candlelight ceremony in the First Methodist Church, June 20. The couple will live in Manchester following their wedding trip through Michigan.

For Beach Beauty:

Take Special Care in Choosing Bathing Suit

If little girls are made of sugar and spice, what are bathing beauties made of? A suit and a tan, a figure spic and span, that's what bathing beauties are made of. Or so says fashion expert Meg Carter.
The bathing suit comes first because it can make or break the beach beauty. In fact, it is all that stands between a girl and her figure problems! The suit should never be an impulsive or haphazard choice and if you can sew, it might be wise to make your own. Fashioning your own swimsuit is one way you can choose not only the style but the fabric that does the most for you — and be sure of a perfect fit to boot.
The five styles below are 'in' this year. One of them can emphasize your best features.
Dropped waistline: This is great for the girl with the long waist and slim hips. If you are broad-hipped, beware that horizontal line right across your widest proportion!
Two-piece: shows the very young girl off to advantage and flattering to any woman with a slim, taut midriff and narrow ribcage.
Classic one-piece suit: This shows the well-rounded figure at its best when it is made of dull fabric, darker colors and full for the figure that's on the well-tailored. It doesn't do the very slim side.
Cuffed suit: Good for the girl with slimmer hips and thighs. Girls with thicker thighs are often tempted to wear it, thinking to hide that upper bulge, but the horizontal line of the cuff makes that risky!
Dressmaker suit: There are some excellent playsuit-bathing suit garments that fit under this general category this year made of gingham and all sorts of light, fun fabrics. Fashioned with a comfortable fit, trimmed with braid, gathered with a drawstring at the waist, they are flattering to the gal with the too-slim shape. Tailored versions show off a sturdy, well-proportioned figure to advantage, too, because their looseness helps hide small bulges you wish weren't there.
A decision on your figure type and the suit most flattering to it is the first step in your bathing suit decision. Now you must use detailing to good advantage, too. Fabric, color, trim, should all draw attention to your best feature in order to distract attention from weaker ones.
Pretty face, too-round or too-thin figure: Use vivid lipstick, a gaudy swim cap, flowers for your hair, earrings, a wild and wicked beach hat to center attention on your face. The suit fabric should not distract by color or trim from your best feature.
Good legs? Use rick rack braid, or other notions, novelties or trimmings to cuff suit legs. Novelty sandals will draw eyes to this feature too.
Pretty arms? You can feature your shoulder straps, and use colored nails, bracelets, or a spectacular beach bag to focus all eyes upward.
These are tricks that call attention to your best feature but there are others that minimize your weaker points.
Want longer-seeming legs? Vertical lines that keep the eye moving upward tend to lengthen you. Wish your waist were shorter? Contrasting color in top and bottom of the suit will help accomplish this.
While the suit is the beach beauty's showcase, the figure inside it needs attention, too. If you hate to diet or run a mile before breakfast, there are three simple exercises that help achieve that slim, spic and span figure line.
Bicycle: Lie flat on the floor, reach for the ceiling with your legs and bicycle 50 strokes with each leg.
Reach: Place a rough shower mat on the shower stall floor after your shower, and reach for the shower head ten times. If you can reach it, try for the ceiling.
Tummy in: Do this one in the shower too, as part of the morning ritual. Lift your arms in the air, suck your tummy in as hard as you can, then much harder. Let go. Do that ten times too.
A tan is usually the last thing the bathing beauty acquires. But you can do what many models do — start indoors early with a little sun lamping, then move the tan outdoors for a final polish. Remember that having the darkest tan is not a wise girl's ambition. Your tan should give your skin a healthy, glowing color, but be becoming to your hair, eye and skin coloring. A lovely skin you have tanned "just right" can soften angles and put bulges in the shade.
To insure a lovely, even glowing color do consult your doctor or beautician about a skin lotion for tanning, and try to be in the full sun for regular periods throughout the summer to keep your tan at your right shade.
Now you have a tan, a suit, and a figure spic and span — what more is the bathing beauty made of? Smiles, that's what bathing beauties are made of.

Three Plymouth Youths Named to Offices at Boys' State Meet

Three Plymouth youths have been named to city and county offices in elections held at the American Legion 27th Wolverine Boys' State at Michigan State University in East Lansing.

They are Michael Bentley of 1381 Shoridan Ave., Richard Irvine of 550 Byron St., and Tim Wernette of 387 Adams St.

Bentley was elected city attorney and Irvine was named to the post of city engineer at the "Boys' State" which is designed to instruct and educate the boys in the principles and values of a democratic and constitutional form of government.

Wernette was elected to an undisclosed post. The youths were elected from the 1,161 teenagers from all parts of the State of Michigan who are participating in the annual event.

The two simulated political parties, Federalist and Nationalist, loudly caucused in direct imitation of national conventions at this "learn by doing" seminar in Democracy.

YOUTHS selected to attend the eight-day American Legion sponsored conclave are chosen for their qualities of leadership and good citizenship.

Wolverine Boys' State goes beyond politics to include glee club performances, organization and operation of a newspaper, softball games, a swimming clinic, variety show and many other activities.

Dwight Rich, Lansing, president of the Wolverine Boys' State Commission, said: "The American Legion designed the Boys' State program to promote awareness among Michigan's youth of the problems that accompany being good citizens and community leaders." Commissioner Rich added:

"The 70,000 members of The American Legion sponsor this program and feel proud that it helps teenagers develop leadership qualities, learn the responsibilities necessary for good citizenship and gain a greater understanding and respect for the democratic form of government."

Chips from the ROCK

Sound travels differently under various kinds of atmospheric conditions. Last Tuesday evening there was a constant barrage of gun shots right up until dark coming apparently from the House of Correction area.

Starting about four a.m. the next morning the shots started up again so, about five a.m., I dressed and drove through that area trying to find who was crazy enough to be shooting a gun so early and so late the night before.

For the benefit of all the folks in Western Plymouth Township I can now tell them that the shots are from an automatic gas shotgun used by De-Ho-Co to scare away crows from their fields and that it looks like we'll just have to live with this noise for the rest of the summer.

The Rugby Sportsrafter, a trade publication, spotlighted Plymouth's Garnett Rush in its issue last month. The article says Mr. Rush joined the Rugby Company 30 years ago and in making his rounds throughout Michigan he remembers well the days when travelling wasn't as easy as it is now and the reaches between towns along unimproved highways seemed endless. However, the article goes on to say that this never bothered his disposition because he has always been pleasant and affable and is well known and well liked throughout the trade.

Livonians Clarence Jahn and Guy Spencer recently vacationed in Cape Cod. While there they visited Rotary at Plymouth, Massachusetts where they mailed me a copy of that Rotary club's weekly bulletin. Imagine my surprise when I found the title of that publication was nothing else than "Chips From The Rock."

Another publication crossed my desk this week. It was the St. Joseph's Hospital "Mercy Telstar" of Savannah, Georgia. Featured on the front page of the publication was an announcement from the Hospital acknowledging a gift of a new chapel to be built there honoring Louise and Edward C. Hough. The chapel is a gift from their daughter, Corette Hough Jennings, now a resident of that city.

I recently talked to another member of Plymouth's former, famous Hough family and suggested that while memorials are under consideration in other localities around the country their former hometown would warmly appreciate any consideration that might be given to a new civic auditorium which we so desperately need. Though I make no commitments and have no promises I do have the assurance of serious consideration to such an idea and who knows what may happen. I can think of no act that would create a finer lasting memorial for this fine family nor one which could do more good for our community.

Directly after Mr. Henry Ford II made the announcement of that company's gigantic expansion plans I was moved to write him a personal letter. My letter reiterated the early interest of his grandparents in this area and of their developing the Rouge river and the lakes and small factories which were built along its banks.

The note further suggested that perhaps this great industrial family when making plans for future new buildings might consider locating one in this area if for no other reason than providing a memorial for the Henry Ford's, the first who helped in our early development.

My morning mail Thursday brought me the following friendly and interesting letter.

Dear Mr. Eaton:
Mr. Henry Ford II has asked me to reply to and thank you for your letter of May 25 inviting Ford Motor Company to rejoin the Plymouth Community.

We presently have under consideration only one project in the Detroit Area and have already selected the location for this facility. We should be glad to keep Plymouth in mind for future projects, however. We know from personal observation that it is a delightful area in which to live and work.

The history outlined in your letter was very interesting. It is always good to hear from old friends. Best personal regards.

Yours very truly,

The Grim Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

With Independence Day around the corner and the Plymouth Community about to be submerged under a five-day whirl of local activities, I got to thinking about what the day stands for, and what it should stand for.

Somewhat my thoughts wandered to the National Anthem and I recalled standing outside Plymouth's new City Hall prior to dedication ceremonies and listening to the high school band play "The Star Spangled Banner."

It gave me a lump in my throat.

But then it always has. When I was a jungle bunny in Uncle Sam's Marine Corps, and the glory of standing at attention during a parade in the blistering California sun was over, my innards always did flip-flops when the band launched into those stirring strains.

Oh, I know it has become fashionable in some circles to knock patriotism—and nobody hates more than myself the blind, unthinking, selfish sort of super-patriotism that proclaims America's blessings good for us WASPs (White Anglo-Saxon Protestants) and nobody else.

But I think we need a resurgence of good, honest, thoughtful allegiance to what our nation stands for. A guy by the name of Charles H. Brower, president of an advertising agency, said it pretty well in a speech he delivered before the Illinois Chamber of Commerce a year or so ago.

His remarks have been reprinted widely, but perhaps repeating them just before the Fourth of July would be in order. He said:

"Back in Mark Twain's day, one of the finest words in our language was 'square.' You gave a man a square meal when he was hungry. You stood four-square for the right, as you saw it, and square against everything else. When you got out of debt you were square with the world. And that was when you could look your fellow man square in the eye . . .

"Now everyone knows what a square is. He is the man who never learned to get away with wrongdoing. A Joe who volunteers when he doesn't have to. A guy who gets his kicks from trying to do something better than anyone else can. A boob who gets so lost in his work that he has to be reminded to go home . . . A slob who still gets choked up when the band plays 'America the Beautiful.'

"His tribe isn't thriving too well in the current climate. He doesn't fit too neatly into the current group of angle players, corner cutters, sharpshooters and goof-offs.

"This country was discovered, put together, fought for and saved by squares. It is easy to prove that Nathan Hale, Patrick Henry, Paul Revere, George Washington, Benjamin Franklin, and almost anyone else you care to include among our national heroes, were squares. This can be proven by simply thinking what they might have said had they not been squares.

"Nathan Hale: Me spy on those British! Are you trying to be funny? Do you know what they do with the spies they catch? I'll give you a news flash, chum. They HANG them . . .

"Patrick Henry: Sure, I'm for liberty. First, last and always. But we've got to be a little realistic. We're a pretty small outfit. It we start pushing the British around someone is going to get hurt . . .

"Benjamin Franklin: Who we really need, for Ambassador to France, is a young man. I'm 70 years old! It's time a new generation took over . . .

"Maybe aggressive and nationalistic statements by our country's early heroes have gone the way of contact games and sports. They have been largely abandoned . . .

"Or maybe it is just because our national heroes, and their ideas, are square . . .

"Today, our country still has a choice. I believe it has already begun to make that choice . . .

"We have a whole new set of heroes. Their names are Glenn and Grissom, Shepard, Carpenter, Cooper and Sahrira . . . The towns they came from have nice, small town names . . .

"These lads apparently grew up to be squares. For who but a square would volunteer his life for his country's good? . . .

"They are not even ashamed of their feelings.

"John Glenn says he gets a tingling feeling down inside when he sees the flag go by. Imagine that! . . .

"I hope that some of him rubs off the next generation . . .

"We have, at least, the satisfaction of knowing that our problem is not new.

"When Benjamin Franklin was told that the war for independence was over, he said:

"Say rather the war of the revolution is over—the war for independence has yet to be fought."

"And today—179 years later—this war has still to be fought."

So, there you have it. Mr. Brower—a wee, small voice of dissent sounding faintly from the recesses of Madison Avenue. His words, mostly, have merged.

Think of them on the Fourth when the parade goes by.

Think of them through all the hoop-la and judgments and prizes and drawings and so on. Be square.

It might be habit forming.

motored to Bad Axe in their new Alter machine, and here is what they say of the trip:

Bad Axe, July 8, 1914
W. W. Murray:

Dear Sir, We thought you would like to hear how we got through with the Alter machine yesterday. We left home at 6:15 and got into Bad Axe at 4:30, made 128 miles. The machine ran fine, but we found lots of bad roads, that is, where they were working on the road and drawing on gravel, and only came to one place that we had any trouble, that was where the gravel was piled right up in the middle of the road and a ditch on each side, but after a little perseverance we pulled through. And it made the hills just fine. Fred says he made some hills he wouldn't have tried with a Ford. We were pretty tired but certainly enjoyed the trip.

Schrader Bros. have just purchased what is probably one of the finest pair of horses that has ever been brought to Plymouth. They are beautiful dapple grays, splendidly matched and perfect in every particular. This team was purchased at Dowagiac last week Thursday by F. D. Schrader and shipped to Ypsilanti the same day. Schrader Bros. have been on the lookout for a team of this kind for some time, to use on the horse, but were unable to find just what they desired until they found this pair of beautiful animals. This team will make a splendid addition to their already complete and up-to-date minute funeral equipment.

The Misses Elsie and Helen Gayde have gone to Spring Lake where they will visit their aunt for a few weeks . . .

Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Hill have moved into Harry Stanley's house on Mill street . . .

The free mail delivery which was to have been inaugurated in Plymouth on July 1, did not materialize on that date, and our citizens are now wondering what is causing the delay in starting the service here. In the north of the village where patrons would be especially benefited by free mail delivery there is much disappointment that it did not start at the time set, and at a public meeting held at the Baptist church Tuesday evening, it was decided to confer with the post office department and Congressman Beakes to ascertain why the promised service has not been started here.

Notice to water takers . . .

Rule 14. Water rates shall be due and payable semi-annually in advance at the office of the Village Treasurer on the first days of January and July in each year, unless otherwise provided for in the schedule rates. If rates are not paid in 30 days after due the water will be turned off. By order of village council . . .

Biggest Parade Ever -- 1:30 p.m. on the Fourth

Highlighted by Michigan's Governor George Romney and Congresswoman Martha W. Griffiths, the largest parade in the history of local Fourth of July celebrations and an all-new carnival—featuring 17 rides—will be a d i n e July Fourth activities in the Plymouth Community.

A crowd of more than 15,000 persons is expected to jam Plymouth Saturday afternoon when the colorful parade moves through the city beginning at 1:30 p.m. Gov. Romney will arrive by helicopter at 1:15.

Parade chairman Ronald Coosaia termed the event "the biggest Fourth of July parade ever staged by the Plymouth JayCeos."

The lineup will include 16 separate marching groups, 28 floats, nine pieces of fire-fighting equipment, antique cars, horses and countless youngsters. Behind Gov. Romney and Congresswoman Griffiths will come Plymouth Mayor Richard H. Wernette and Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay.

A LOUDSPEAKER will introduce each unit as it passes Kellogg Park. Units will be issued an introduction card to fill out. Cards will be read by JayCee master of Ceremonies Barry Coates.

Coosaia said groups assigned to Union St. are to enter only from Penniman Ave. Union St. residents are urged to park off the street from 12 noon to 2:30 p.m. on the Fourth.

Co-operation from residents will help JayCeos line up the parade efficiently and eliminate possible damage to parked cars, Coosaia said.

Noting that time still remained to join the parade, Coosaia urged interested persons or groups to contact him at GL 3-9478.

Following the parade, trophies will be passed out by Congresswoman Griffiths for the best commercial and organizational floats and the best military and organizational marching groups at Junior High East.

MISS PLYMOUTH and the runners-up will receive a number of gifts from the Plymouth JayCeos and local merchants. Tickets for the dance will be 75 cents and will be sold at the door to the Senior High gym.

Judges will make their decision on the basis of poise, character and beauty of the contestants. A preliminary judging with the girls clad in bathing suits will be held Tuesday, June 30. Preliminary entries are closed to the public.

After being presented with her crown, Miss Plymouth will receive a dozen red roses from Heidi's Greenhouse along with a victory trophy from JayCee President Joseph R. Fletcher.

The winner and her court of four will receive prizes donated by Plymouth merchants. All contestants will have received a free hairstyling. Photos of the young lovelies, appearing on this page,

Hard Work-Men Behind The Scenes

The JayCeos have been hard at work behind the scenes for several months planning the fourth of July festivities.

All 78 members have taken part in the planning and will be seen helping with festivities. Chairmen of the celebration include:

Norm Fitzpatrick, general chairman; John Roose and Jim Dyer, assistant chairman; Joe Fletcher, publicity chairman; Ron Coosaia, parade chairman; and Cal Strom, carnival grounds and parking chairman.

MISS Plymouth contest chairman is Terry West. Others include JayCee raffle, Bob Eddington; concession stand, Joe O'Hara; clowns, Marv Cranford; horse show, Cal Thomas; peanut drop, Bob Evans; and firemen's waterball fight, Joe Fletcher.

Elton Jones is in charge of fireworks; Howard Oldford will handle the JayCee float and balloon sales, and Harry Rietman is chairman of the fish bowl.

Plane to Drop Peanuts for Local Kids

Dropping 50 pounds of peanuts over the Little League Baseball Diamond, Sunday, July 5 for all youngsters under 12 years old to collect, will be a low flying airplane.

Many of the peanuts—brilliantly colored—will lead to prizes for their finders and will at least be worth free carnival rides. Three colored peanuts are needed for one carnival ride.

Dr. Gerald Fitch will fly his Piper Tri-Pacer over the baseball diamond to drop the peanuts. Then the signal will be given, at 3 p.m., for youngsters to start their search. The child finding the most colored peanuts will have first choice of the prizes.

Huge New Carnival Featured

The largest carnival ever to come to Plymouth Community Fourth of July festivities will open on Wednesday, July 1 at the City of Plymouth's Industrial park on Plymouth Road across from the Burroughs Corp. plant.

The third largest of the Gooding Amusement Company's 19 units, the carnival will feature 17 rides, side-shows and other activities.

Included are a merry-go-round, ferris wheel, octopus, scrambler, dark ride, bubble bouncer, spin-o-row, paratrooper, catapillar, helicopter, tank and auto kiddie rides, fun house, snake show and penny arcade.

A hint of the fun to come will be apparent when the huge red trailer-type trucks of the carnival, carrying tons of equipment, roll into Plymouth and prepare to set up the attractions.

The carnival features a complete kiddieland which boasts the newest of rides designed for the exclusive patronage of the tiny tots.

Kiddieland is set up as part of the long midway and has miniature additions of the more thrilling rides offered to the adults. The miniature rides are planned and styled specifically to entertain children. Operators of these rides are especially trained to handle the younger set.
