

Plymouth Symphony's 19th Season Starts Oct. 24

The first program of what is expected to be a most successful 19th season for the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra will get underway a week from Saturday, Oct. 24 at 8:15 p.m. in the Plymouth High School auditorium.

For the 13th season in a row the symphony, which has amassed a stellar reputation, will be under the capable baton of conductor Wayne Dunlap, musical director at Schoolcraft College.

Dunlap, former head of the music department in Plymouth Community Schools, left the school system earlier this year to become director of music at newly-opened Schoolcraft College.

The opening concert of the season became an evening event last year and was so well received that symphony officials decided to continue evening scheduling for the initial performance.

FEATURED soloist will be 19-year-old Sheila Stephenson of Detroit, piano student of musical great, Mischa Kottler. Miss Stephenson will appear in Schumann's "Concerto for Piano and Orchestra in A Minor."

The program will also include "The Wise Virgins, Suite from the Ballet" by Bach-Walton, "Iberia: Images pour Orchestra," No. 2 by Debussy and the first sequence of waltzes from "Der Rosenkavalier" by R. Strauss.

Admission is free to all performances during the six-concert season and residents of The Plymouth Community are urged to attend.

Between 95 and 100 musicians, both professional and amateur, make up the Plymouth Symphony Orchestra.

They come from 20 different communities scattered throughout southern Michigan. Concertmaster is Emily Mutter Austin, also associated with the Detroit Symphony. The orchestra draws its support, in part, from the Plymouth Community Fund.

FURTHER financing comes through subscriptions by Plymouth area businesses and residents and by fund-raising events sponsored by The Plymouth Symphony League, a women's group vitally interested in the musical organization.

It all began back in 1945 when a group of 10 musicians met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Groschke to form a string orchestra.

Soon, they were playing regularly. In an article first published in the D.A.C. News in 1962, and reprinted in last year's Michigan Yearbook, Robert Hodesh noted:

"They met wherever they could and once, lacking a house, they rehearsed in a barn that stood near a boiler room behind the Plymouth High School . . .

"A year after the small group of string players had begun to play together; Paul Wagner came to Plymouth as director of the high school band and supervisor of music in the public schools. He had previously organized an orchestra in a town in Ohio and, interested in developing one in Plymouth, he took the string group over as a core.

"A year later the group had grown to 35 and had adopted its present name. By 1948 there were 50 persons in the orchestra and that year three concerts were given.

"In 1951, Wagner left Plymouth for another post and the baton went to Wayne Dunlap, then at the University of Michigan as conductor of its orchestra . . . It is under his aegis that the Plymouth Symphony has come into full musical flower.

"DUNLAP'S credentials are impressive. He is a graduate of the Eastman School of Music and has studied under the celebrated French conductor, Pierre Monteux. Awarded a Fulbright Fellowship in 1945, he went to Vienna for additional studies. In Michigan he widened his conducting experience at the helm of five different community orchestras."

Perhaps one of the greatest tributes paid the Plymouth Symphony is repeated in Hodesh's article. He reported a conversation held between several members at the annual meeting of the Michigan Civic Symphony Orchestra Association.

"Isn't it true," one asked, "that all the Michigan community orchestras can do very well with anything in the standard orchestral repertoire?"

"Not necessarily," came the answer, "but there is an exception—the Plymouth Symphony."

Light Torch To Kick Off PCF Drive

A rise of almost $60,000 in the past 10 years has occurred in the goal of the Plymouth Community Fund, workers were told Monday at a noon kick-off luncheon held in the Mayflower Hotel.

That's what PCF director and National Bank of Detroit vice president Robert Barbour saw as he looked over his 10 years of service to the fund.

But part of the increase, he said, can be attributed to inflation.

Additional agencies on the Community Fund rolls have also caused the increased goal, Barbour added. He told his audience that several organizations recently added are the Senior Citizens, Plymouth Family Service, Y.M.C.A., Youth development program and Northwest Child Guidance Clinic.

"The Plymouth Community Fund is independent but it does cooperate with the United Foundation by giving it 15 per cent of every dollar raised," Barbour said.

In speaking about the board, from which he is retiring in December, he told his audience that all members serve for nothing. He added they put in much more time on projects than the hour a month they spend in a meeting.

In opening remarks to the group, preceding Barbour's speech, Campaign Director Charles Bruce reminded the workers that this year's thought for the campaign was that every time you helped another person up the steep hill you were closer to the top yourself.

He also emphasized that luncheons for workers and other activities for the Community Fund were being paid for by local groups including the National Bank of Detroit, First Federal Savings of Detroit and Detroit Bank and Trust. All the money collected for the Community Fund goes into that fund, Bruce added, and isn't used to meet extraneous expenses.

The Rev. Alfred Renaud gave the invocation.

TORCH lighting ceremonies preceded the luncheon. President of the Community Fund Frank Palmer gave the opening address and Plymouth

Worried Parents Rap Unsafe Walking Conditions to Schools

Worried about the conditions under which their children are forced to walk to school, a group of Plymouth Township's Salem Square Subdivision parents vigorously protested the situation at the Monday evening board meeting of the Plymouth Community Board of Education.

James Souder of 9645 Terry St. acted as spokesman for the group from Plymouth Township's Salem Square Subdivision, a new development at the corner of Ann Arbor and Haggerty Roads.

He submitted a petition signed by 60 residents of the recently opened subdivision and asking the board to consider bus service for eighth and ninth grade Junior High East students living in Salem Square.

According to school officials, the students are presently forced to walk because state law requires that students in the sixth grade and over, living less than a mile and a half from school, may not be bussed.

Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister told the parents at the Monday evening meeting that the district would be penalized financially if it began transporting students within the 1.5 mile limit. The state, he said, would cut down on transportation monies.

little impressed as they emphasized that the route along Ann Arbor Road (M-14) was unsafe, without sidewalks, and wet and sloppy at the viaduct which crosses the road.

They voiced concern that 12 and 13-year-old girls should have to walk to school in the early morning, dark of winter-time and noted that brochures and promotional material, given them before they purchased homes in the subdivision, promised transportation to all schools except Allen Elementary.

Students, they said, must leave at 7:15 a.m. to get to school on time. The group also said they were irked by the fact that a bus, headed for Junior High West, stops outside—the subdivision each morning to pick up sixth and seventh graders.

"For a while," one mother noted, "the driver picked up my daughter and dropped her off at the corner of Lilley Road. But later refused, saying he didn't feel like it any more." The bus also carries Junior High East students living outside the K5 mile area.

Isbister told the 10 parents the school district was not in a position to provide transportation with its present policy.

Mrs. Rudolf Smith of 4044 Pinetree decried the lack of safety inherent in having children walk next to a highway where speeds often exceed the 40 mile per hour limit. The safest route to the

Registration Climbs to New High

Voter registration in the Plymouth Community has hit an all time high, according to figures released this week by Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay and Plymouth City Clerk Richard Shafer.

Lindsay said he estimated that 4,400 registered voters would be eligible to vote in the Township in the general election on Nov. 3. This, he said, would be the largest figure in the history of the Township.

During the past weeks since the primary election, Lindsay pointed out, the Township Clerk's office has processed 474 voter registrations.

IN THE CITY, clerk Shafer foresaw 5,000 eligible electors after cancellations had been culled from the list. This, too, is a record for the municipality.

Shafer's office handled between 400 and 500 registrations since the September Primary. On the final day of registration, a week ago Monday, 260 persons streamed through Shafer's City Hall offices to register.

Dr. Russell Kirk Lashes Administration in Speech

Speaking to a crowd of over 300 Wednesday evening, Russell Kirk predicted a rash of dire consequences if the present administration is returned to office on Nov. 3.

Kirk, noted author, teacher and columnist, and former Plymouth resident, appeared under the sponsorship of the Plymouth Republican Club. Among the things Kirk forecast, if President Lyndon Johnson is returned to office, were:

- A severe economic slump by the end of the year, perhaps worse than in 1929.
- Trade or non-aggression pacts between European nations and the Soviet Union and a moving away from the U.S.
- Increased tendencies toward centralization and "dictation."

Kirk told his audience he knows the GOP candidate, Senator Barry Goldwater of Arizona, well. Terming him "lively and interesting," Kirk said Goldwater would make a superior President of the United States.

Discounting opposition within the party, Kirk attributed most of it to hostilities engendered in the primary campaign. Later, in answer to a question about Michigan Gov. George Romney's lack of endorsement, the speaker noted New York Gov. Rockefeller's support of Goldwater and predicted Romney would also endorse the national ticket before the general election.

School Enrollment Hits All-Time High

A record total of 6,192 students are officially enrolled in Plymouth Community Schools this year, according to figures released yesterday by school district officials.

The figure reflects an increase of 542 students over last year's student population, substantially more than the prediction officials were working with last January when a rise of 340 was postulated.

Officials did point out at that time, however, that the figure was fluid and subject to upward revision. Classes now, in some schools, are at the 35 student mark as the school district pushes construction of 15 additional elementary classrooms.

In addition, bids are due to be let soon on the vocational education addition at Plymouth High School.

SECONDARY membership includes 2,657 students and elementary students number 3,535. In elementary schools, Farrand School leads the way with 609 students. Close behind are Smith with 532 and Bird with 527.

Other elementary populations are, Allen, 473; Junior High West, 452; Starkweather, 440 and Gallimore with 428. Truesdell School has 74 students.

Secondary students include 456 at Junior High

Plymouthites Donate Funds For Schoolcraft Carillon

With interest growing in the Schoolcraft Community College which serves the Plymouth Community, announcement was made this week of a generous gift to the educational institution by a Plymouth couple.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kehrl of Plymouth have given 87 shares of National Bank of Detroit stock, valued at about $5,500 to the college. The Kehrls earmarked their gift for purchase of a carillon for the tower on the college campus.

Both the Board of Trustees and College President Dr. Eric Bradner, who received the gift, expressed gratitude for it.

Purchase of three bells has been authorized by the board. They will come from John Taylor and Company, Bell Founders and Carillon Builders, Loughborough, England.

Delivery is expected in about three months.

The carillon will include bells tuned for A Flat, D Flat and F. They will be electrically controlled and will strike the hours and quarter hours.

A PLAQUE will be installed indicating the nature of the gift from the Kehrls. A resident of Plymouth since 1919, the 61-year-old banker began his banking career here in 1921.

He rose to the post of president of the Plymouth United Savings Bank which later was merged with National Bank of Detroit. He presently serves as a bank vice president and heads NBD's Plymouth, Livonia and Novi offices.

His record of community service includes a term on the Plymouth City Commission in the 1930's. He and his wife, Shirley, live at 41525 Eight Mile Road in Northville.

What Makes the Plymouth Symphony a Little Better?

What makes the Plymouth Symphony tick? What, in fact, makes it a little better than other community orchestras? What lies behind the success of this organization that draws dedicated musicians, some of whom come from as far away as Brighton and Rochester, hurry in and greet their fellow music lovers enthusiastically. They seem anxious, eager to begin practice.

Talking and tuning their instruments, they appear relaxed and almost gay. Some stop to speak to symphony conductor Wayne Dunlap. Almost apologetically, one or two explained an absence and expressed sorrow at having missed a session.

Over other sounds persisted the penetrating sweetness of string instruments as their owners lovingly tuned them. In an interview with six young Plymouth musicians, however, it was agreed that the questions posed would remain essentially unanswered.

"For you can't put your finger on and isolate intangible qualities. These young people, who took a few moments to talk while the remainder of the string section practiced, are, with the exception of one, all in

These People Produce Your Paper

HERE ARE the people that make up The Plymouth Mail. We take this opportunity to re-introduce them on the occasion of National Newspaper Week this week. Above, Editor and General Manager Dave Wiley, right, explains the workings of a linotype machine to a group of Livonia girl scouts who toured the newspaper plant last week. The 25 girls, of Livonia's Washington School PTA sponsored Troop 1019, were accompanied by their leader, Mrs. George Rousakis of Livonia. Most expressed amazement at the amount of work that goes into producing a newspaper. The Plymouth Mail welcomes tours of scouts, school classes and other groups and organizations. We request a telephone call in advance to set up the tour date.

COMMERCIAL PRINTING foreman Herb Allen makes some last-minute adjustments on our printing department's offset press before a press run. The Mail offers complete letterpress and offset printing service, from the smallest business card order to large industrial printing jobs.

ADVERTISING MANAGER Don Derr puts advertising copy into the print shop for processing for this week's paper. Don is the mainstay of the ad department, is a veteran of more than seven years in the newspaper advertising field, and stands ready to offer service and advice to advertisers.

RECENTLY RETURNED to The Plymouth Mail staff is Mary Plumb, key figure in our classified advertising department. Mary's cheerful voice is heard over the telephone by customers who call in to place result-getting want ads. Mary is no neophyte in the business, however, having worked for The Detroit Free Press, The Palm Springs Desert Sun in Palm Springs, Calif., and, a few years back, for The Mail.

WOMEN'S EDITOR Sally Rothfus, a graduate of the University of Michigan journalism school, has been with The Plymouth Mail for nearly a year. Sally edits all of the newspaper's correspondence copy, writes and designs the women's page each week, covers meetings of governmental units and takes pictures. She is anxious for news of your family, group or organization.

PLANT SUPERINTENDENT Walter Jendrycka is the man that oversees all Plymouth Mail plant operations. A veteran of 33 years in the printing business, most printing customers acknowledge that Jendrycka is a master. He has won many friends during his years with The Plymouth Mail.

ONE OF THE Plymouth Mail's newest gals is Nancy Richard who operates the electronic engraving machine for newspaper pictures. The machine engraves the photographic image on a sheet of plastic for reproduction in the paper. Nancy also handles proofreading and want ads.

What Makes

THEY INCLUDE Norman Fischer, Robin Wideman, Joanne Thom, Roberta Van Meter, Jane Palmer and Andy Wisniewski who is beginning his first season with the 100-piece orchestra.

Some of the group have taken music lessons from other symphony members. All have attended the National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan.

At one time, each of the youthful music makers played with the junior symphony at Plymouth High School. However, they explained, because the school system is presently without an orchestra teacher, the junior symphony has ceased to exist.

With the exception of Fischer, each is a member of the Michigan Youth Symphony at Ann Arbor, sponsored by the University of Michigan. Asked why they chose to play with The Plymouth Symphony, these were some of the answers:

"It provides an opportunity to play challenging music in the classical repertoire. You come to know the music that way."

"It broadens both your appreciation and abilities."

"I hope to teach music eventually and want to learn all I can."

"Basically for the experience. I like to be exposed to music."

Unable to detail just what makes the Plymouth Symphony different, the six musicians said there was a friendliness within the group that defied description. They all paid tribute to the conductor:

"Mr. Dunlap has raised the orchestra to such a height," one commented.

AT ANY rate, all seemed proud, pleased and anxious to get into the symphony's 19th season which begins Oct. 24. As the little group broke up and prepared to take their seats within the string section to practice, one noted what, by its very simplicity, may be the real reason underlying the symphony's excellence.

"There's a warmth of welcome here," was the comment, "a feeling of being at home."

Africa and Me

First Day Impressions After Flight To Africa

By Lon Dickerson

To get from Lungi Airport to Freetown one must take a ferry. And to get to the ferry, one must first pass through a couple of miles of semi-rural Sierra Leone. It was along this stretch of road that I saw my first panorama of African life.

Palm trees, coconut trees, banana trees, and other forms of tropical vegetation lined the way. We passed mud huts of all shapes and sizes, and in front of these houses stood the people, waving friendly hellos.

On the ferry one gets a beautiful view of Freetown, and in the bay itself the bulwark fishing boats with their triangular sails amid an occasional ocean vessel make a colorful sight.

At the wharf, we were greeted by placards which said, "Yankee Go Home." As we stepped ashore, however, the Peace Corps Volunteers already in the country for a year put aside their signs, and gave us a warm welcome.

Then we loaded our luggage into waiting jeeps and drove to Fourah Bay College where we would have three days of orientation. As we passed through the narrow streets of the city, I became immediately aware of the rapid tempo of the traffic, not unlike that in Detroit. Except, here, driving is further complicated by the fact that most of the people walk in the streets instead of on the sidewalks.

In addition there is the initial shock of driving on the lefthand side of the road.

The streets themselves were lined with stores of every variety. And everywhere people were selling peanuts, bananas and other forms of food and goods. Dressed in the rich hues they love, they gave the city a colorful atmosphere, indeed. Aware that a new group of P.C.V.'s was arriving in their country the people waved as we drove past them, and one could not help but be warmed by their friendliness.

At Fourah Bay College we had lunch and then settled in our rooms. The college is located high on a hill above the city and the view from my room which overlooked this city and the bay could not help but leave one breathless.

Even the ever-present, circling buzzards added dignity to the panorama before my eyes.

Unlike the sounds of automobiles present everywhere in an American city, the sounds of Freetown were mostly happy sounds of singing and dancing.

PLYMOUTH HIGH NOTES

By Sharon Olin

And they're coming down a stretch, neck and neck, in a hard race. It looks as though it's going to be a photo-finish, folks. And that's just about how the students of PHS feel about this year's Homecoming queen, Carol Otwell, Judy Olds, and Sue Walker and Sue Ward will be on the Court. The major representative is Pam Allister and the sophomore representative is Carol Allstrom.

and the $1.00 donation for each car will go to the YMCA in Japan.

The International Relations class has begun a series of bake sales every Saturday at various local stores. Their first bake sale was Oct. 10, at Krogers. The profits will go towards financing their customary trip to New York, and the United Nations.

Wednesday, Oct. 14 is color day and almost everyone is wearing blue and white. The students have voted for their favorite candidates for queen and there also is a pep assembly.

Seniors Peter Ackerman, Chris Rowland and Sue Rybka have been honored for their high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test given last spring. Each student will receive a formal letter of commendation signed by PHS principal, Carvel Bentley, and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, John M. Stalnaker.

Thursday and Friday, Oct. 17 all students will have a vacation from school because teachers will be attending teachers' institute.

Miss Elizabeth McDonald, advisor to "Pilgrim Prints" is in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor, recovering from an operation.

Friday night the Homecoming parade will begin at 8 p.m. with the bonfire at 10 p.m. behind the football field. The Rocks challenge against Redford Union will begin at 8 p.m. with the special half-time program of dancing the queen.

Juniors are making plans for the J-Hop, which will be held Nov. 21. This past week, they have been accepting suggestions for the theme.

Saturday night the queen and her court will reign at the traditional Homecoming dance.

Last week, seniors picked up their Christmas cards and now are showing samples and taking orders. Each senior is requested to sell at least $16 worth of cards.

Plymouth Hi-Y headed by president Linda Ross '65, will have a car wash on Oct. 17 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. It will be held at West Brothers

Saxton, Saxton, Frank Henderson, Kirk and his bride of one month, Annette. Kirk spoke to a crowd of over 300 at the school. (See story, Page One).

Chamber Warns Against Chain Referral Schemes

The Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce today warned against fraudulent and deceptive chain referral sales schemes that employ high-pressure tactics to saddle consumers with debts on over-priced merchandise.

Wendell Lent, president of the Chamber, said this vicious scheme is extracting millions of dollars annually from gullible consumers who believe the glowing promises of high commissions made by salesmen using the classic "something-for-nothing" appeal.

more than offset by the "flood" of commissions. The commissions are an illusion and monthly payments for the product involved must be met out of the consumer's own resources. If the payments are not made, a law suit is filed and the victim's financial problems are compounded.

Noting that these schemes violate postal fraud and lottery laws and probably conflict with many state lottery statutes, he said consumers discover after signing contracts that the promised commissions never materialize and they are obligated to pay for something they wouldn't otherwise buy and usually cannot afford.

They are led to believe that the income is a "sure thing" and that the contract they signed will be

Plymouth Couple Hurt in 3-Car Crash Saturday

A 30-year-old Northville man was ticketed early Saturday morning after the car he was driving smashed into three others waiting at a railroad crossing on Sheldon Road, injuring a Plymouth couple and one other man.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the Chamber is affiliated through membership, the scheme works this way:

Wayne County Sheriff's officers said Raymond C. Miller of Northville was cited for reckless driving after the accident.

Prospects are told they are being given an opportunity to earn extra money by taking part in a "word-of-mouth" advertising campaign. All they have to do is supply a dozen or so names of friends or neighbors. For each one who buys the product they get a commission of $50 or more. In this way, they get the product "free."

They said three southbound cars driven by John F. Ward, 44, of 1404 Penniman Ave., Robert Dienes, 44, of Lincoln Park, and Thomas Rossier, 26, of Toledo, O., were stopped at the C & O railroad crossing when the accident occurred.

BEGUILED by this something-for-nothing gimmick and by the salesman's assurances that people have earned $3,500 in commissions

OFFICERS said the Miller's car struck the last car in line, sending it forward and causing a chain reaction.

Ward's wife, Winifred, 45, was injured and taken to the hospital for treatment, officers said. The other drivers received minor injuries.

A SPECIAL YEAR... EVEN FOR CADILLAC OWNERS!

No one knows better than an experienced Cadillac owner how each year sees Cadillac excel in all the qualities that make a motor car desirable. But in 1965, marvelous new smoothness and quiet have been added to Cadillac performance. There's even more brilliant response from an improved Turbo Hydra-Matic transmission. New luxury now graces the world's most luxurious interiors... and Cadillac's famous ride and handling have both been noticeably improved. Cadillac for 1965, for its long-time as well as its first-time owners, promises a driving reward that is truly out of the ordinary.

So new! So right! So obviously Cadillac

FINAL?

City Makes Decision On Church St. Mixup

Following a special City Commission meeting held last Friday evening, it appears that city fathers have arrived at some kind of final solution to the street alignment problem that has occupied much of their time in recent weeks.

After taking a look at four separate plans submitted by Superintendent of Public Safety Kenneth Fisher, the city governing body tentatively settled on one that would leave the portion of Church Street lying east of Main Street pretty much as it is.

The west side of the street would be modified in the future to better line up with the new portion.

Contractor Ernie Berger suggested a plan of removing projecting cement points in the new area and tearing out curb on the south side of Church, west of Main for a distance of about 118 feet.

The south edge of Church would then be moved over about eight feet and, at the corner, a 25-foot radius would be swung around to permit easier traffic flow.

Removal of the recently constructed points will cost about $225 and commissioners saw a total figure of about $2,500 involved in modifications to the west side of the boulevard-type thoroughfare.

BERGER came up with the plan at the last minute after Fisher, working with City engineer Stan Bessey, had carefully drawn three other possible solutions. They included:

(1) An ambitious, $20,200 project that would include complete revamping of Church Street west of Main to align it with the newly laid out east side.

(2) A $2,840 plan that involved removal of the new sidewalk next to the Historical Society Building, changes in the new center island and projection of the curb on the south side of the street.

(3) Complete removal of the new island and paving of the entire area at a cost of $1,281.

A motion to remove the two projecting points on the east side and finish the project won approval from the governing body with only Commissioner Robert Smith voting no.

A second motion authorizing work on the west side of Church Street, after detailed plans are laid out by planning consultants Villican and Leman, won unanimous approval.

Later in the meeting, after vigorous discussion with property owners on the city's Byron Street, commissioners turned thumbs down on the petition to vacate the entire street, but authorized partial vacation.

Mayor Richard H. Wernette voted against the motion and commissioner Robert Beyer abstained. Then commissioner James Houk moved that the street be vacated up to the last three lots on the south side, contingent to the city's securing a right of way to McKinley Street.

It was passed by a 3-2 margin with Houk, James Jabara and Mayor Wernette voting yes and George Lawton and Smith casting negative votes. Beyer abstained.

The petition to vacate was submitted by the owner of recently constructed apartment buildings in the area, Thomas Cape, who offered to provide a road for his tenants.

REPEATEDLY, at the Friday meeting, City Attorney Edward Draugelis cautioned commissioners to determine the public interest in the matter before reaching a decision. He noted that they should not be swayed by objections of a few property owners or Cape's request, but rather by public interest as a whole.

Three property owners have actively opposed the vacation move. In other action at the special meeting, commissioners granted permission to Plymouth Kiwanis to hold its annual Kids' Day Peanut Sale this coming Friday and Saturday. Commissioner A. E. Vallier was absent from the meeting.

VFW Does It Again

Plymouth's VFW Mayflower Post color guard has done it again.

- Appearing in the annual memorial service torchlight parade in London, Ontario, on October 3, the prize-winning marching group — three men short of regular team strength — walked off with five out of seven parade trophies.
- Prizes and awards which were granted the Plymouth marching unit include:
 - The Molson Trophy, awarded to the best marching group in the parade. A total of 38 units.
 - The O'Keefe Trophy, given to the best American veterans' marching group.
 - The 7-Up Ontario Shield, awarded to the best American participating group.
 - The City of London Trophy, given for the first time to the best American marching unit.
 - The Dow Friendship, handed down to the unit travelling the longest distance.

The Molson Trophy was, for the first time, won by an American organization. It has never before been out of Canada. The Plymouth unit, led by Hal Young, won nationwide recognition in August when they placed second in U.S. competition at the VFW national convention in Cleveland, O.

What Now Black Cow?

A cow owned by a Plymouth area farm appears well on her way to eclipsing the normal production figures of the average U.S. dairy cow, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

Droomwald Burke Gold June 5087302, a three-year-old owned by Angelo DiPonio of Plymouth, produced 14,064 lbs. of milk and 535 lbs. of butterfat in 331 days.

These figures may be compared to the estimate average annual output of 7,500 lbs. of milk and 275 lbs. of butterfat, notes the national Holstein Association.

Sampling, weighing and testing operations were supervised by Michigan State University.

Class Reps Picked for Homecoming

Plymouth High School started its Homecoming festivities this past week with selection of class representatives for the Queen's Court.

Homecoming is scheduled for this weekend, Oct. 16-17. Sue Niemi and Chuck Castelli. Class representatives for the court are Carol Engstrom, Pam McAllister, Judy Olds, Carol Otwell, Linda Walker and Sue Ward.

On Friday evening, festivities will begin at 7 p.m. with a parade down Main St. Featured will be the senior float, decorated cars and Plymouth's Marching Band, under the direction of James Griffith.

THE PARADE will be followed by the traditional bonfire at 7:15 behind the grandstands and the football game at 8. Plymouth meets Redford Union in the game.

Crowning of the Queen will take place during half-time followed by the band show.

The weekend will culminate on Saturday evening with a dance sponsored by the G.A.A.

to walk a 65 mile per hour zone."

Board members referred the petition to committee with orders for a report in time for next month's meeting on Nov. 9.

In other action at the Monday evening meeting, board members approved the tuition rate for the 1964-65 school year. Tuition will be set at $311.88 for kindergarten through sixth graders living outside the district and at $331.06 for students in grades seven through 12.

The district has no tuition elementary students but, as approved by the board, each sending district will be billed at the $331.06 rate for the number of students attending in grades seven through 12.

UPON THE recommendation of Superintendent Isbister, the board approved a raise in the substitute teacher daily salary rate from $20 to $22 per day. The rate will place Plymouth well up on the scale behind Northville at $24 and Livonia at $22.25.

After 20 days of a single assignment the rate will increase to $25 for the duration of the assignment.

Also recommended and approved was the request of Miss Mary Ann Gleason, Plymouth High School business education, typing and shorthand teacher, to be released from her contract as of Oct. 14.

Board members approved a date of Jan. 28, 1965 for Plymouth to host a meeting of the Wayne County Association of School Boards.

The University of Detroit with annual enrollment in excess of 14,000, is the world's largest Catholic university.

Legion to Host PTSA for "Why Are We" Series

Plymouth's American Legion will host the East West Junior High School P.T.S.A. groups on Saturday, October 17 for another group in the current "Why Are We" series.

East and West Junior High's P.T.A. Presidents Darrel Sand and William Upton will speak briefly about their groups and West Jr. High Principal Robert Smith also will speak. Administrative personnel of the Plymouth School District attending the meeting will include Superintendent Russell Isbister and High School Principal Carvel Bentley.

Donald J. Smith, superintendent of schools in Fowler, will be the principal Legion speaker. Smith, of St. John's has served the Legion as State Commander, in 1955, and as Michigan's National Executive Committee member for a two year term. He has also served as the St. Johns post Commander and committee member from the eighth district.

Prior to his World War II service, he taught in elementary schools for ten years and is a graduate of Central Michigan College and the American Legion College. Smith is also a member of the 40 et 8.

He operates a cast crop farm in partnership with his brother and mother-in-law. The Smiths have two sons.

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce will be the guest organization of the Legion on November 21.

The programs which begin at 7:30 p.m. are open to the public.

AT ROTARY:

District Gov. Stresses Importance of Individual

Stressing the importance of the individual within the Rotary organization, A. Robert Davidson, district governor of District No. 640, paid his annual visit to the Plymouth Club Friday afternoon.

Davidson emphasized to Plymouth Rotarians that each man is chosen because he is considered to be outstanding in his particular vocation.

He cited the tremendous effect that four individuals had when Rotary had its beginning a little over 50 years ago in Chicago. Today, he noted, because of these four men, Rotary now numbers over 600,000 members and the organization is represented throughout the world.

Pointing out that there is a way of doing international things at home, Davidson suggested inviting foreign students to private homes to acquaint them with our way of life. When they return to their native lands he said they can communicate a better understanding of America to others.

Davidson was introduced to Rotary Club members by Robert Beyer, governor's representative in this area and immediate past president of the club.

PRECEDING the regular weekly meeting, the district governor met for two hours with club President Carl Caplin and the board of directors and committee chairmen.

At that session, each of the committee chairmen briefed the governor on activities planned by the local club for the coming year.

At the regular meeting, two Plymouth High School Seniors, junior Rotarians for the month of October, were introduced. They are Tim Wernette and Frank Baumgartner.

What does "80-30-5 1/2" mean to home buyers?

It's the short form for a meaningful offer by First Federal to home buyers, and to refinance an old mortgage, and you don't have to be a First Federal customer. The 80 means you may borrow up to 80% of the appraised value of a well-located modern home. 30 means you may take up to 30 years to repay (payments including principal and interest as little as $5.68 per thousand monthly). 5 1/2% means 5 1/2% interest. These figures are from First Federal's own conventional loan plan. We also make FHA and VA mortgages. As Michigan's largest home mortgage lender, we offer (1) the experience to advise you, (2) facilities for fast service and (3) applications and closings quickly arranged at any First Federal office near you.

In Michigan... at a picnic, beer is a natural

When you're relaxing at your favorite outdoor beauty spot with friends or family, and your thirst is whetted by fresh air and exercise—that's the ideal time for a cool, refreshing glass of beer. In fact, you can name your recreation—swimming, hiking, or just watching TV—and chances are nothing in the world fits it quite as well as beer.

Your familiar glass of beer is also a pleasurable reminder that we live in a land of personal freedom—and that our right to enjoy beer and ale; if we so desire, is just one, but an important one, of those personal freedoms.

Honor 3 Plymouth Seniors

Three seniors at Plymouth High School have been honored for their high performance on the National Merit Scholarship Merit Qualifying Test (NMQST) given last spring. Each student who is endorsed by his school receives a formal Letter of Commendation signed by his principal and the president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

The commended students are Peter Ackerman, Christopher Rowland and Susan Rybka, according to Principal Carvel Bentley, John M. Stalaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, said: "Letters of Commendation are being awarded to 38,000 students throughout the country in recognition of their outstanding performance on the qualifying test. We wish to draw attention in this way to their high academic achievement."

Although they did not reach the status of semifinalists in the current Merit Program, they are capable students. The semifinalists and commended students together constitute about two percent of all high school seniors. This certainly signifies noteworthy accomplishment by all these bright young people.

"We urge the commended students to make every effort to attend college, and to develop to the fullest their promise of future achievement. By doing so they will benefit both themselves and the nation."

The National Merit Scholarship Corporation gives recognition to two groups of students who achieve high scores on the NMQST. The semifinalist group is composed of the highest-scoring students in each state and in U.S. territories. Some 14,000 semifinalists take a second examination to establish further their eligibility to become Finalists and to receive consideration for Merit Scholarships.

To increase their opportunities to obtain financial assistance if they need it, the Merit Corporation sends the names, home addresses, test scores, and proposed college majors of all commended students to the two colleges they indicated as their first and second choices at the time they took the qualifying test.

The three Plymouth students were among the high school juniors in approximately 17,000 schools who took the NMQST last March. The test is a three-hour examination that covers five separate areas of educational development. It was the first step in the tenth annual Merit Program.

On Oct. 3 Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Byszynski celebrated Mr. Dennis' birthday by entertaining a former Plymouth couple, Mr. and Mrs. William Schmidt, with dinner at Mr. Schmidt's home. The Schmidts resided on Canton Center Rd. before moving to Livonia in 1962.

Mrs. Joseph Krocchmalny, of 40514 Pinetree Rd., co-hosted a baby shower with her mother Mrs. Leo Lazar and her sister Mrs. John B. Joseph Jr. on Sept. 27, for Mrs. Dennis Byszynski. After dinner the 20 guests from Detroit played Burco.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Powell, of 9631 Terry, chose Oct. 30 to entertain seven couples from Wayne at a pinocle party. Following the distribution of the prizes, the group had a light luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Braun, of Pinetree Rd., spent the weekend in Toledo, O. as the guests of Mrs. Braun's parents. They returned with Tippy, a five-week-old black and white puppy, that bit the Rev. Paul Greer, of Newburg Methodist Church, upon entering the house for the first time.

Timmy Greenleaf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Greenleaf, of 40418 Pinetree Rd., was struck by an automobile while riding his bicycle late in August. He suffered a concussion and was a patient at Ann Arbor Hospital in Wayne for one week. On Sept. 26 he celebrated his sixth birthday at a party given by his parents and attended by ten of his friends. Among the guests were George, Larry and Carolyn Bird, also of Pinetree Rd.

Hats, horns, balloons, cake and ice cream were the main fare on Oct. 4 when Mr. and Mrs. James Abraham of 9643 Russell helped their son Brian celebrate his third birthday by hosting a party attended by 22 children and 18 adults.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kro-chmalny of Pinetree Rd. celebrated their fifth anniversary with the help of Mrs. Krocchmalny's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Byszynski. The two couples traveled to Detroit and enjoyed dinner at Carl's 'hop house' before attending the evening performance of Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad, World at the Music Hall.

For the last two months Mr. and Mrs. Tibor Matyas, of 40450 Pinetree Rd., have had as their house guests Mrs. Matyas' mother, Mrs. Margaret Pinter, and Mr. Matyas' brother, Mr. Enro Matyas, both of whom reside in Hungary. This is the first time Mrs. Pinter and Mr. Matyas have left their native land. Mr. and Mrs. Tibor Matyas drove to New York to pick them up at the airport and from there they toured the World's Fair, Niagara Falls, the White House in Washington, D. C., and Richmond, Virginia.

The Tibor Matyases have been in the United States for seven and a half years. They escaped from Hungary, two days after the Russians regained control following the revolution. They lived in an Austrian refugee camp for two weeks before coming to this country. The Plymouth area has had them as residents since Dec. 1963. Mr. Matyas is an engineer employed by Evans Products.

Over the weekend of Oct. 4-4 students from Concordia Teacher's college in River Forest, Ill. came into the Plymouth area. They were sponsored by The Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ, 1233 E. Ann Arbor Trail and were housed by members of the congregation. Two of the students, Miss Heidi Haupt and Miss Kathryn Pribula, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hill, of 40433 Pinetree Rd. Another pair, Miss Sandra Dressler and Miss Donna Bremmerman, are hosted by Rev. and Mrs. David Romberg of 3820 Orangecrown Rd.

Pastor from Hong Kong to Speak At St. Peter's

Pastor Peter Chang, of Hong Kong, will be the guest speaker this Sunday at the 10 a.m. Mission Festival Service of St. Peter's Lutheran Church, 1343 Pennington Ave. This year the annual Mission Festival service is part of an area Mission Weekend featuring the work of the Christian Chinese Lutheran Mission and the relief work of the Wisconsin Synod. Other events of the weekend include a "Women for Christ Tea" this Friday afternoon, a "Children's Mission Day" on Saturday morning, an "Adults' Mission Night" Saturday evening, and an area Mission Rally on Sunday afternoon, all at Lola Park Lutheran Church, Redford Township.

The Christian Chinese Lutheran Mission was founded in 1956 by Pastor Chang six years after his conversion to Christianity. He pioneered in opening the first roof-top school and church in Hong Kong. Pastor Chang now supervises the work of Spirit of Grace, Spirit of Love, and Immanuel Churches as well as Spirit of Love Elementary School and Immanuel Lutheran English Middle School. At the present time Rev. Edgar Hoenecke, the former pastor of St. Peter's Church, is in Hong Kong to assist with the setting up of a theological seminary for the training of Chinese pastors. According to District President Norman Berg, the offerings from seven Area Mission Weekends throughout the Michigan District will be used to make payments on the schools of the Hong Kong Mission.

Urge Human Growth Course for Schools

The go-ahead was given Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Plymouth Community Board of Education to further work on planning courses in Human Growth and Development in Plymouth Schools.

Action came after receipt of a report from a committee designated to prepare a recommended program on sex education. The committee submitted proposals urging classes beginning with instruction in appropriate moral and social attitudes throughout all grade levels. Board members suggested to Harding that meetings with administrative officials throughout the system be set up to plan detailed class programs. They unanimously voiced their approval and support of the project.

ROMNEY, he said, was basing his campaign on the same theory as N. Y. Senator Kenneth Keating: That he could not win with Goldwater-Miller.

agreed with Time Magazine's charge that "propaganda against Senator Goldwater has been vicious."

"The tactics employed are the same as those used by Alee socialists in England against Winston Churchill," Kirk claimed. Churchill, he said, was another who believed in peace through strength. "One cannot avoid war through conciliation," he noted.

"I suspect Keating is right," he said. "Romney is wrong."

Decrying the lack of issues, Kirk criticized the President for refusing to debate or discuss. "In foreign affairs," he said, "LBJ is in the hands of liberals of the ADA stamp and is following a policy I believe to be fatuous, of compromise and conciliation."

"Things may be a good deal different four weeks from now," he said in reference to the political polls. Kirk claimed polls are a bad thing, noting that they capitalize on "bandwagon psychology."

Continuing his attack on the Democrats, Kirk said President Johnson had been counseled to content himself wholly with platitudes.

That may be a mistake," he commented.

Later he said: "The result will really depend, not on the polls, but on how hard the party works." Kirk answered questions from the floor following his address.

Two of the paperback publishers leading the attack against Sen. Goldwater, he said, are pornographers. He said the pair were against Goldwater "for obvious reasons." Referring to the Arizona Senator, Kirk said:

If re-elected, Kirk predicted, the President will meet with Khrushchev, agree to dissolve NATO and SEATO and take steps toward disarmament without inspection.

Earlier in the evening, Kirk and his bride of one month, were honored at a dinner held at Plymouth's Mayflower Hotel and attended by more than 40 persons. He was introduced at the high school meeting by well-known Plymouthite Frank Henderson. Henderson paid tribute to Carl Pursell and William Saxton, who worked to make Kirk's appearance possible.

As presidential candidates go, he is a very superior candidate in terms of shrewd and penetrating intellect."

He criticized the administration for its "late" action in the Cuban Crisis. Noting the relation between election to the presidency and decisions of the U. S. Supreme Court, the speaker said several older men may have to be replaced in the next four years.

Both U. S. Congressmen George Meader and State House Candidate W. Wallace Green were at the dinner and the meeting following.

Rapping charges that Goldwater is "trigger happy," he

Wesley Maurer to Open Plymouth Listening Post Series Oct. 21

The Plymouth Listening Post opens its season Wednesday, evening, Oct. 21, at 8:30 in Plymouth High School auditorium with the Chairman of the University of Michigan Department of Journalism Wesley Maurer as the speaker.

"The Meaning of the Conflicts of Our Time," an analysis of the result of changes in basic cultural premises of our times will be Maurer's topic. An illustration of the conflicts derived from social, political and economic changes and a realistic analysis of philosophy of events will be included in his discussion.

Maurer's specialty at the U-M is a course entitled "Freedom of Publish" through which he teaches the relation of freedom of the press to a free society and its dependence upon all other democratic civil liberties.

A life-time Distinguished Service member award of the American Society of Newspaper Editors was presented to Maurer in 1956 for his development of the U-M department's experimental newspaper. He has also received the U-M's Distinguished Faculty Achievement Award for outstanding teaching.

He is director of the oldest continuous discussion group in the U.S., "American Affairs and World Events," now in its 34th year under the auspices of the U-M and Wayne State University division of Adult Education.

Maurer has served on the executive committee of the College of Literature, Science and the Arts of the U-M, on the deanship committee of that college and as chairman of the Senate Advisory Committee on University Affairs.

He is past president of the American Association of Accredited Schools and Departments of Journalism, Kappa Tau Alpha, national journalism scholarship society, and co-founder and past president of the Michigan Federation of Teachers.

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, Kansas City Star and St. Louis Globe-Democrat are among the newspapers where Maurer has worked.

The lectures are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. in Plymouth

Dr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Hammer

Barbara Steencken Weds Edwin Hammer on Sept. 13

Barbara Ann Steencken and Dr. Edwin J. Hammer spoke their wedding vows in a double ring ceremony in the First United Presbyterian Church, Plymouth, on Sept. 13. The Rev. Henry J. Walch performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Steencken of Northville. Parents of the bridegroom are Dr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Hammer of Grosse Pointe.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of silk pea-dee-sole. The lace trimmed bodice was accented with iridescent sequins and tiny pearls, and lace appliques trimmed the full skirt. Her finger-length French silk illusion veil was made by her mother and was hand appliqued with Chantilly lace. It was held in place by a tortoise shell mania, belonging to the bridegroom's mother. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow roses and white stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Miss Katherine Johnson, of Belding, Mich., was maid of honor. She wore a floor-length gown of blue taffeta, and carried a cascade bouquet of yellow Fugi and bronze pom-pom mums.

The bridesmaids, Linda Steencken, sister of the bride, Mary Kris Hammer, sister of the groom, and Carolyn Langtry, of Northville, were dressed in gowns identical to the one worn by the maid of honor. All wore matching blue tulle veiling held in place by tiny blue crowns, trimmed with pearls and crystals. They also carried cascaded bouquets of yellow Fugi mums.

Thomas Hammer, the bridegroom's brother, was best man. Joseph Steencken, brother of the bride, Joel Prescott III, of Grosse Pointe, David Groom, of Morgantown, Pa., H. Rex Harrison, of Pinckney, Dr. Robert Hensinger, and Dr. Murray Renfrew, of Ann Arbor, served as ushers.

The bride's mother chose a printed gold lame sheath with accents of beige, silver and brown. The mother of the bridegroom wore a beige print marquisette. Both mothers wore Cymbidium orchid corsages.

A garden reception was held at the home of the bride's parents in Northville. Following the reception, the couple left on a wedding trip through northern Michigan. The bride chose a beige and brown suit with brown accessories and wore a corsage of yellow roses and feathered carnations for her going-away outfit.

Mrs. Hammer is a graduate of Plymouth High School and attended the University of Michigan. Dr. Hammer is a graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School and is serving his internship at Riverside-Methodist Hospital in Columbus, Ohio.

The couple will live in Columbus.

Cornell Greavu Accompanied by His Wife Returns to Birthplace After 59 Years

"Home Sweet Home, blessed America - it's wonderful to be back," were Mrs. Cornell Greavu's comments about her husband's and her recent trip back to their Rumanian homeland.

The Greavus, of 373 Maple Ave., spent two months in Rumania and Switzerland this summer visiting their former villages and relatives.

It was Mr. Greavu's first trip back since he came to the United States in 1905 - 59 years ago. Mrs. Greavu had returned to her homeland in 1957 without her husband.

"He could remember everything about the country and visited with people from morning until night," Mrs. Greavu said.

When she went back to her native village, Mrs. Greavu said she didn't remember nearly as much about it as her husband did about his.

In 1957, Mrs. Greavu said the secret police followed her in Bucharest but this time they had no trouble in their travels.

The most trying experience of their journey, the Greavu's said, was when they were separated overnight while taking the train into Rumania. When they boarded the train in Switzerland they got on the wrong car and consequently had to change in Bucharest. Mrs. Greavu's sister who was traveling with them and Mrs. Greavu boarded the new train in time, but Mr. Greavu was left behind.

The authorities assured the two women he would follow on the next train. Mrs. Greavu related. Things were difficult, though, she explained, because she had the tickets and money and he was carrying the passports.

They were re-united the next day but not before one of the train members offered to buy the shoes Mr. Greavu was wearing.

Although they enjoyed their European trip they both said they were glad to be back in America.

REMINISCING about their trip back to their Rumanian homeland this summer are Mr. and Mrs. Cornell Greavu, of 373 Maple Ave. They are looking at part of the native costume of Rumania. It was Mr. Greavu's first trip to Rumania since he left there 59 years ago; Mrs. Greavu had returned in 1957.

Town Crier

Doesn't Like Little Signs, Inhuman Bell

By Jacquie Town

What ever happened to the smiling, willing to help clerk that graced all counters? Must they be replaced by cold steel carts and inhuman bells with little signs that read "Ring for Service?" Invariably, after ringing the bell, you're unsmilingly informed that they are out of the product.

If one is so impertinent as to ask, "Would you check your stockroom?"; he is met with a glare of indignation.

Unfortunately for suburbia, there are many places of which I speak.

If I am correct in my assumption and, as a consumer, I have ample first hand experience, it strikes me as strange that we as customers continue to pay the same price (and sometimes higher) for merchandise, as we did before the innovation of "ring for service."

This practice of less help isn't saving me pennies. The lower operational costs may go into someone's pocket, but it's not mine.

Recently, I walked into a "do-it-yourself" store and bought some brand-name shirts for my daughter, for which I paid $1.69.

On my way home I stopped into a local small shop and bought several more, for which I paid $1.59. This shop was more than willing to offer assistance to me personally. Their prices were lower; counters were neater; sizes in correct order; and courteous return service was available if necessary. Having discussed this with other homemakers, I find the majority feel as I do.

They complain about useless time spent at check-out counters because enough registers are not open.

They complain about discourteous clerks who seem to resent you-taking their time.

They hate looking for a size 6 and finding it buried under size 14's.

They resent paying standard prices for, in some cases, sub-standard quality.

They leave with the feeling that the customer is a "necessary evil."

We not only play the role of clerk, but we are used as final assemblers on their factory production lines.

There is nothing my husband detests more than finding a box where a bike should be; complete with inadequate instructions and insufficient nuts for an over-abundance of bolts.

When we need clothes, we shop in Plymouth. When we need lawn and garden supplies, we shop in Plymouth. We LIKE Plymouth, and the merchants who staff our stores. They give us what no "do-it-yourself" store can ever provide.

They add a personal touch, which is lacking in larger concerns. To store owners and the clerks behind our counters, I say thank you. It's a pleasure to be one of your customers. I hope big business never totally does away with the small shop owner.

I should hate to "ring for service" for ALL my purchases.

Automation and production lines are important in their place, but they just can't beat a friendly smile, and a sincere "May we help you please?"

The response to organization of a League of Women Voters has been gratifying, but we could use a few more interested people to make it successful. The Detroit chapter has offered its assistance and Editor Dave Wiley of The Mail has extended his help. Those who are interested can reach me at GL 3-2909.

Those who have already expressed an interest can help further by getting a few friends to share their enthusiasm.

An easy-to-make excellent recipe for donuts to serve after football games and during the Fall season is Mrs. Jack McCrumb's "French Raised Donuts."

The McCrumb's, who with their 13-year-old son moved to Plymouth almost a year ago from Elgin, Ill., live at 4106 1/2 Greenbrook Ln.

Mrs. McCrumb is active in Newcomers Club and is publicity chairman of the group. She also belongs to the Lake Pointe Garden Club and to a church circle and women's society at Northville Methodist Church.

She lists sewing and reading among her hobbies.

The recipe for the donuts

she explained is one a friend coaxed out of a New Orleans, La. cook. They are made from yeast dough and may be refrigerated until you are ready to use them.

One of their biggest advantages besides being so good, Mrs. McCrumb said, is that you can make the batter ahead of time and then fry the doughnuts as you need them.

She suggests serving them hot for best results.

FRENCH RAISED DOUGHNUTS

- 1 C. boiling water
- 1/4 C. shortening
- 1 C. sugar
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 C. evaporated milk
- 1 tsp. vanilla
- 2 packages yeast
- 1 C. lukewarm water
- 4 eggs, well beaten
- 8 C. sifted flour

Confectioners sugar for top

Pour boiling water over shortening, sugar and salt. Add milk and cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water and stir into cooled mixture. Add beaten eggs. Stir in 4 cups flour. Beat.

Add enough flour to make a soft dough. Place in greased bowl, brush with melted butter and cover. Refrigerate.

Roll dough to 1/2 inch thickness and cut into two inch squares with a pastry wheel. Fry in deep fat (360 degrees). Turn to brown. Do not let dough rise before frying. Drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with sugar.

Makes about 70 doughnuts. Dough keeps four to five days in refrigerator.

BEATING UP a recipe of her "French Raised Doughnuts" is Mrs. Jack McCrumb, of 4106 1/2 Greenbrook Ln. The recipe came from a New Orleans, La. cook, Mrs. McCrumb explained. She added the doughnuts are best served warm.

Amended Zoning Map No. 204.16
Of the TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH WAYNE COUNTY, MICHIGAN

Adopted by the Plymouth Township Board September 8, 1964
Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay
Clerk John D. McEwen

ORDINANCE NO. 14W
AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH BY AMENDING THE ZONING MAP.

THE TOWNSHIP OF PLYMOUTH ORDAINS:

PART I. That the Township Zoning Ordinance is hereby amended by amending the Zoning Map, by changing those areas indicated on the Amending Zoning Map No. 204. 16, attached hereto and made a part of this Ordinance.

PART II. Section 2.04 is hereby amended by the addition of the following paragraph to read as follows:

The areas comprising the zoning districts, the boundaries of said districts, as heretofore established and adopted, are hereby amended as shown and provided on the Map attached hereto and marked Amendment No. 204. 16 to the Zoning Map of the Township of Plymouth, which Map is hereto attached and made a part of this Ordinance, and any part of the Zoning Map of the Township of Plymouth as now established, which conflicts with said Amendment No. 204. 16, of the Zoning Map is hereby expressly void and of no force and effect.

PART III. CONFLICTING PROVISIONS REPEALED. Any Ordinance or parts of Ordinance in conflict, herewith, are hereby repealed.

PART IV. EFFECTIVE DATE. The provisions of this Ordinance are hereby declared to be immediately necessary for the preservation of the public peace, health and safety and are hereby ordered to take immediate effect and be in force from and after the earliest date allowed by law.

PART V. ADOPTION. This Ordinance was adopted by the Township Board of the Township of Plymouth by Authority of Act 184, of the Public Acts of Michigan, 1943, at a meeting duly called and held on the 8th day of September, A.D., 1964, and ordered to be given publication in the manner prescribed by law.

Family Service
Mrs. "C" Had To Understand Her Need For Punishment

By Anna Jung

EDITOR'S NOTE: This week sees the continuation of examples of levels of service available at Plymouth's Family Service Agency. This week, Miss Jung discusses Mrs. "C," a case example drawn from experience in other communities.

Mrs. "C" called and was given an appointment. Her first question to the caseworker was, "How can I make my husband stop drinking?" At the end of the hour the caseworker had learned that this was Mrs. "C's" third marriage; she was 42 years old, working and supporting her husband and two sons from her first marriage.

The older boy was in treatment with a psychiatrist; the younger boy had a learning problem, and his behavior at home and in school was increasingly difficult to tolerate. Mrs. "C's" father had been alcoholic and her parents were divorced before she had reached adolescence; she was an only child. Mrs. "C" married the first time at 17 "to have somebody of my own."

Her husband, unready for marriage and fatherhood, and himself the product of a broken home, soon began to go out with the "boys"—drinking, neglecting his job, and finally deserting his wife when she became pregnant with the second child. Mrs. "C" returned to her mother's home, a divorcee at 22. She returned to school, completing a secretarial course.

An intelligent, capable woman, she soon obtained a good position. She became self-sufficient financially, but emotionally she felt destitute. She began to date a married man whose wife "didn't understand" him. He drank a little to ease the discomfort of his unhappy marriage. He left his wife and two children, and, some time later, married Mrs. "C" after this, he drank more and more—to "drown" his guilt,—to escape from the knowledge that his second wife was largely supporting him while he was in and out of jail for non-support of his first family.

The marriage ended in divorce when Mrs. "C" was no longer able to meet the increasing financial needs of her husband and children. Mrs. "C" married for the third time, choosing as husband a man who was a "cured" alcoholic. (His first wife and her second husband were also clients of the agency.) When Mrs. "C" called the agency, she had been married to Mr. "C" for about five years.

He worked sporadically, drank up more than he earned, was verbally abusive to his wife and encouraged his stepsons to be rude and disobedient to their mother. She despised him but was afraid to leave him. At 42, with three broken marriages behind her, she saw little chance for building a happy marriage with a fourth husband.

And she could not bear to face the prospect of living without a husband for twenty-five years or more. Obviously, the caseworker was not able to answer the client's first question. But she worked with the woman and her husband, in weekly interviews, for about 18 months. The goal for Mrs. "C" was to help her to understand and to control her need for punishment. The goal for Mr. "C" was to help him to understand and to control his need for self-destruction.

Psychotherapy was the method of treatment, and although the clients were not completely "cured" their symptoms were reduced appreciably. As they achieved large and small successes in their treatment and their life together, their egos were strengthened, enabling them to deal more effectively with continuing and recurring problems.

Key Clubbers Installed at Kiwanis Meet

Six Plymouth High School students were installed last Tuesday evening as 1964-65 officers and board members of the Plymouth Community High School Key Club.

Walter Gemperline, Lt. Governor of Michigan's Sixth Division of Kiwanis Clubs officiated at the ceremonies that saw Tim Wernette installed as Key Club President, Geoff Burke as vice president, Jon Adams as secretary, Richard Irvine as treasurer and Don Norman and Chuck Catlett as board members.

President Tim and Secretary Jon, following installation, passed out member pins and folders to new members. They are: Tom Batterman, Joel Congdon, Rob Wilson, Bill Wolfe, Tom Pry, Mike Riley, Richard Radcliffe, Dave Wall, Gary DusBiber, Jeff Cardinal, John Egan, Bill Yost, Donald Fohey, John Gilles, Brian Foust, Ted Johnson, David Sibbold and Dan Camp.

John Bates, Randy Birkle, Jordan, Grant Fischer, Dave Dorset, Jim Lent, Chuck Olsen, Bob Shirey and Bill Way carried forward their membership from last year.

Gemperline said the Key Club motto, "Active Service To School And Community," was an excellent challenge for our leaders of tomorrow.

Kiwanians Carl Pursell, Larry Becker, Don Rank and Joe West are largely responsible for organizing the Key Club in Plymouth. The parents of several Key Club members were guests, along with Carroll Bacheider, Charles Burbank and Tom Howell.

Fred Foust de-bibbed Ray Casuto. Casuto is no longer a baby Kiwanian and must return his freshly cleaned bib

OOPS

Mrs. Fran Booth, secretary of the Plymouth Community Chamber of Commerce this week noted that the Chamber had inadvertently furnished the wrong name for a news release on the industrial division's recently named executive committee. Arnold Johansen was elected to the committee, not Lester Johns as previously reported.

City DPW Activities

By Supt. Joseph Bida

The past week I was fortunate to attend the 70th Annual American Public Congress and Equipment Show which was held at Atlantic City, N. J. I attended several sessions on new and better methods of refuse collection and snow and ice removal. Also saw all types of Public Works Equipment, some shown for the first time anywhere.

The top 10 Public Works Men of the Year were given awards at the Annual Banquet at which time Lucius D. Clay, General of the Army Retired, was guest speaker. All functions were held at Convention Hall. More than 3,000 Public Works Officials attended the Annual Meeting.

The department was busy this week sweeping the business district, cleaning the parks and installing a catch basin on Burroughs Street.

A one-week water tap was installed at 1470 Maple Street, a broken water line at the rear of the new city hall was repaired and a broken main fixed at Joy and Sheldon Roads. A leaking fire hydrant was replaced on Williams Street East of Arthur Street.

The overflow line from the Diesel Engine at Six Mile Road West field was replaced.

Fall cleaning took place at the cemetery and five funeral services were held.

- 1961 VOLKSWAGEN SEDAN - Beautiful Ruby red with whitewalls - radio and heater and tan interior. If you are looking for a clean used VW - you won't want to pass this one up. $1195
- 1960 VOLKSWAGEN SEDAN - Dark green with tan interior and heater. A clean well cared for car traded on a new VW. $995
- 1959 VOLKSWAGEN SEDAN - Blue with tan interior - new white walls and heater. Many miles left in this one. $795
- 1958 VOLKSWAGEN SEDAN - Black with gray interior heater and whitewalls. An average older car with VW economy. Priced to sell at. $595
- 1957 VOLKSWAGEN SEDAN - Blue with black interior and white walls. Engine and trans. reworked - and she runs like a new one - looks like one - too. $795
- 1955 VOLKSWAGEN SEDAN - Runs and drives OK - not the sharpest but good second car transportation. Priced to sell at. $295

Volkswagens don't give away their age. Other reasons why Green Motors VW's are such a good buy: The money you'll save on gas, oil and tires; The reconditioning job that's standard for every car on our lot.

LEGAL NOTICES

Earl J. Demel, Lawyer
729 W. Ann Arbor Tr.
Plymouth, Michigan

STATE OF MICHIGAN
County of Wayne
ss. 536,884

At a session of the Probate Court for said County of Wayne, held at the Probate Court Room in the City of Detroit, on the sixth day of October, in the year one thousand nine hundred and sixty-four.

Present Ernest C. Boehm, Judge of Probate. In the Matter of the Estate of MARGUERITE VOLLBRECHT, Deceased.

On reading and filing the petition of Earl J. Demel, attorney for Joseph D. Pace, Josephine Strom, Henry J. Gregory, Rose Mason, Elizabeth Blasko and William Gregorowicz, praying that this Court vacate and set aside all Orders heretofore entered in said matter, including an Order allowing the purported last will and testament of said deceased, together with the appointment of James Thomson and R. G. Danneels as co-special administrators and the appointment of executors in said matter.

Michigan was the first state to provide in its constitution for the establishment of public libraries. There are 310 public libraries and more than 900 school libraries in the state today.

It is ordered, That the Ninth day of November, next at ten o'clock in the forenoon at said Court Room be appointed for hearing said petition.

And it is further Ordered, That a copy of this order be published once in each week for three weeks consecutively previous to said time of hearing, in The Plymouth Mail, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Wayne.

I do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing copy with the original record thereof and have found the same to be a correct transcript of such original record.

John E. Moore
Deputy Probate Registrar
10/13 - 10/20 - 10/27/64

STATE OF MICHIGAN
THE PROBATE COURT FOR THE COUNTY OF WAYNE
No. 536,555

In the Matter of the Estate of ALLEYN N. CARMINE Deceased. Notice is hereby given that all creditors of said deceased are required to present their claims, in writing and under oath, to said Court at the Probate Office in the City of Detroit, in said County, on or before the 7th day of December, A.D. 1964, and that such claims will be heard by said court, before newspaper printed and circulated in said County of Wayne.

Ernest C. Boehm, Judge of Probate
I do hereby certify that I have compared the foregoing copy with the original record thereof and have found the same to be a correct transcript of such original record.

STATEMENT OF OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT AND CIRCULATION
Publication Title: THE PLYMOUTH MAIL
Date of filing: 10/1/64
Frequency of issue: Weekly
Location of known office of Publication: 271 S. Main St., Plymouth, Wayne Co., Michigan 48170.

Owner (if owned by a corporation, its name and address must be stated and also immediately thereunder the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 percent or more of total amount of stock. If not owned by a corporation, the names and addresses of the individual owners must be given. If owned by a partnership or other unincorporated firm, its name and address, as well as that of each individual must be given.)

Paragrapgs 7 and 8 include, in cases where the stockholders or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, and the statements in the two paragraphs show the affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner. Names and addresses of individuals who are stockholders of the corporation which itself is a stockholder or holder of bonds, mortgages or other securities of the publishing corporation have been included in paragraphs 7 and 8 when the interests of such individuals are equivalent to 1 percent or more of the total amount of the stock or securities of the publishing corporation.

MEMBER BUILDER'S ASSOC.

Canton News

By Clara Witherby — GL 3-7433

The Plymouth 4-H Livestock Club met Oct. 1 at Gallimore School for their first meeting of the new year and filled out enrollment cards. They welcomed four new members, and held an election of officers: President Tim Steiner; Vice-President David Magraw; Secretary Tori Ketchman; Treasurer Bill Sheridan; Recreation Leader Rob Magraw. Plans were made for a club hayride the later part of October.

Water Waves Set Schedule

Plymouth High School's synchronized swimming club Water Waves, has set up a busy schedule for itself. Starting in the middle of September they auditioned for members for their club and for the Junior Ripples group for those in junior high schools. They will hold auditions again in November. They had a pizza party at the end of the month to raise money to purchase curtains for the pool. Throughout the year members plan to participate in A.A.U. speed and synchronized swimming meets. They will also work on a synchronized swimming show to be presented on May 6-8. The subject for this year's show will be school subjects.

Members of Water Waves and Ripples include Cindy Adams, Jill Allison, Pam Anderson, Phyllis Barney, Pat Barry, Mary Beglinger, Debbie Broderick, Karen Burke, Judy Conn, Janet Covington, Lorrie Daley, Nancy Derr, Sue Driscoll, Cindy Eley, Pat Fehlig, Jan Firestone, Rhea Fluckey, Luann Gendreau, Marilyn Gibson, Sue Hudson, Katie Hurson, Debbie Jenkins, Judy Kisabeth, Sally Mackenzie, Brenda Mackie and Janet McCully.

Junior Great Books Program Is Now Underway

Seventy boys and girls in grades five through seven participated in the first discussion meeting of the Junior Great Books program Saturday morning, Oct. 10.

These students meet monthly to discuss the ideas in readings especially prepared by the Great Books Foundation, a non-profit organization which originated at the University of Chicago in 1947.

To stimulate the best possible discussion of the issues in the books, the groups are led by adult co-leaders who have completed the authorized Junior Great Books leadership training course. The role of the co-leaders is to guide and organize the discussion by asking questions to help students discover their own answers to issues raised by the book.

Students in fifth and sixth grades will use Set I readings which include Aesop's "Fables," Fabre's "Selections in Science" and Tolstoy's "Fables." Set II Readings, for seventh graders, includes Xenophon's "Education of Cyrus," Schiller's "William Tell" and Crane's "The Red Badge of Courage."

In May, 138 children registered for the program. However, only five groups of 14 each can be organized at this time as additional trained co-leaders are needed.

Co-leaders for the fifth grade are Mrs. Donald Sutherland, of 8175 Ridge Rd., and Mrs. William Nelson, of 1073 Penniman Ave., Mrs. Norman Thoburn, of 1052 Harding, and Mrs. Robert Werner, of 675 McKinley. Sixth grade leaders are Mr. and Mrs. William Moon, of 45675 W. Ann Arbor Tr.

Seventh graders will be led by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson, of 47818 Powell Rd.

Adults interested in participating as co-leaders in a Junior Great Books Discussion Group may call Mrs. Birge, parent-secretary, GL 3-8627, for further information.

OH DEAR!

Even Witches, Hobgoblins just Aren't Like They Used To Be

Witches just aren't what they used to be! In 17th Century Ireland they scared away evil spirits. Villagers dressed up as witches, goblins and fairies on All Saints' Day because they knew that the ghosts of the dead would linger unless they were chased away.

Today, the witch with her broomstick and black cat is just the symbol of the fun of Halloween. Happy children in eerie costumes scare more neighbors than evil spirits.

Witches and ghosts can be easily recreated. One child, one old white sheet and one scarry mask is as good a way as any to start. And once you've started making Halloween costumes, a good time will be had by all.

Researchers have found that our American celebrations rest upon Scottish and Irish folk customs which can be traced in a direct line from pre-Christian times.

The earliest Halloween celebrations were held by the Druids in honor of Samhain, Lord of the Dead, whose festival fell on Nov. 1. Over the years, troops of goblins and fairies were added to the ghosts and devils originally assembled by Samhain.

To make a devil costume start by folding an old sheet in half. Cut a large semi-circle from the sheet with the flat side of the semi-circle in the fold. (A good radius to use is the wearer's height from ankle to shoulder.) At the center of the fold, cut a smaller semi-circle for the head. Unfold the sheet and draw a flame-like border completely around the circle. Then, crayon the whole area inside the circle with bright orange, red and yellow flames. When the crayoning is finished, cut off the extra material outside the border.

If you want to "set" the crayon colors into the sheet, place paper above and beneath the sheet and press it with a warm iron. You can do additional touch-up crayoning while the sheet is still warm.

You can make the tail from the hem of the sheet which is already stitched into a long tube. Cut it away from the rest of the sheet and crayon it bright red. To make the barb for the end of the tail, crayon a strip of paper red. Then fold it into a point and staple it to one end of the tail.

Stuff the tail with cotton or rag or - for a particularly wicked look - with a long twisted wire. If wire is used, make a loop at the end and thread a belt through it for wearing. Otherwise attach the tail to the leotard with a safety pin.

To make an equally devilish mask, start with a paper plate. Crayon the bottom of the plate red and cut a heart shape carefully from the center. Save this heart shape. Now, cut a straight slit from the edge of the plate almost to the point at the bottom of the heart. Overlap and staple the two sides of the slit to form a pointed chin. You can reinforce this chin with a little paper and paste.

Cut the horns from the heart-shape and staple or tape them to the mask. To make the eyes and nose, just fold a sheet of paper in half. Along the fold, you cut a triangle and then, joined to it, a slanted leaf shape. Unfold the paper and cut an eye-hole in each "slanted leaf." Crayon this paper in bright colors and then staple it to the mask.

For a final touch, you could add a little pointed mustache and a goatee both pasted to the back of the mask and pulled forward.

Add string or a piece of elastic to hold the mask on, and a devil is loose in the neighborhood!

Goblins, pixies, fairies, and mystic symbols and add a pointed hat; a witch is ready for her broomstick. But be careful when you wear that witch costume! In Scotland and Ireland, some people still build fires on the hillside on Halloween as a weapon against witches, war-locks and all the powers of darkness. They also plait their pitchforks with straw, set them on fire, and wave them aloft to singe the brooms of any witches who may be hovering near by!

Editorial Page

Of you, by you and for you

This being National Newspaper Week, it seems fitting that The Plymouth Mail take this annual opportunity to tell its readers where newspapers in general, and community newspapers in particular, stand — what their mission is to the reading public.

First of all, newspapers are a vibrant, expanding business. They are not declining. This expansion throughout the industry is in the face of ever-increasing competition from many diversified sources.

To take a brief backward look, newspapers are the result of historical forces which are constantly altering the conditions of American life. This newspaper, especially, in the face of booming growth in The Plymouth Community, must be resilient enough, aware enough to adjust to rapid change in the character of its circulation area and its readership.

Historically, the simple fact of the matter is that newspapers have lasted as long as they have because they best serve the public. Throughout the years a constant effort to improve the editorial product has been made.

This was brought home forcefully here at The Plymouth Mail last week as staffers worked to compile information from ancient issues for a talk, Thursday evening, to Plymouth Historical Society members.

Beginning in 1887, when J. H. Speers launched The Mail with a front page dominated by advertising and continuing through the years, the forces of change and improvement have been apparent. Your community newspaper, The Plymouth Mail, has grown in size and scope until, now, it is larger, cleaner and more colorful than ever—and all this in the face of increased competitive pressure. But, what else does your local newspaper do?

- It concerns itself with liberties of others as much as its own. The newspaper is the written expression of freedom of speech, indispensable in a free society.

- The Plymouth Mail provides a record of history and a textbook of life. It is therefore an important tool for any education that relates classroom objectives to the world in which today's students may live as adult citizens.

- For advertisers, this newspaper offers a unique range of services to produce more productive messages.

- Mail want ads are the peoples' marketplace. They offer a wide variety of channels for selling many kinds of goods and services quickly and efficiently and inexpensively.

Community newspapers are, at times, criticized for their superficiality and concern with things that, to some, seem trivial and unimportant.

We firmly believe this criticism is unjust.

In a world that increasingly strives to mold its inhabitants in the same image, The Plymouth Mail, and other publications like it in other communities, detail the everyday triumphs and sorrows that set the individual apart from the faceless mass.

In Plymouth, this newspaper — with its sense of responsibility to the community as an organic whole, dedicates itself to the goal of maintaining and furthering our identity. We look at Plymouth, not as another gray area of "suburbia" (whatever THAT is) but as a separate entity with individualism and character and personality.

This is why we exist.

In the future, we pledge ourselves to TOTAL news coverage of our area—a product improved in appearance, improved in content and improved in reader appeal. Reporting will continue to be backed by local editorial comment, the one characteristic that distinguishes a newspaper from a wan imitation, designed to grab advertising dollars while sidestepping its traditional responsibility.

All of this we proffer as a publication, not ours, but yours. This, we repeat, is YOUR newspaper—of you, by you, and for you.

Need greater willingness

As the Plymouth Community Fund drive moved into its final organizational phase before the concentrated effort of next week, group captains were contacting workers to canvass residential districts.

Some found the going a trifle rough.

In at least one area, it turns out that most of the workers are older women who, by virtue of their age, should not be expected to cover too much area.

The younger gals, when called, invariably have too much to do. Excuses are legion. Kids to take care of, prior engagements, you name it.

Simple criteria, brief advice

In recent weeks it has been our lot to open more than a few letters, generally voicing dissatisfaction with something that has appeared in these pages, and discover that no identification appears at the bottom.

Oh sure, there have been quaint appendages such as "A disgusted Democrat," "A revolted Republican," and "A concerned Plymouthite,"—everything except a signature.

Now, newspapers (like people) delight in getting mail. Since our traditional duty lies in keeping an editorial finger on the pulse of the area, we actively solicit opinions from readers on the course of life in The Plymouth Community.

In addition, we urge you to voice approval or dissatisfaction with anything in The Plymouth Mail. This includes news coverage, editorial comment, or any of the viewpoints spelled out by our columnists.

One thing that some people can't seem to understand is that unsigned letters literally are not worth a darn to a newspaper, its editor or its staffers. They are read, sometimes snickered at, and filed gently in the nearest wastebasket.

On the other hand, we want and need letters from people who believe strongly enough in something to be identified with it. Our criteria are simple. We ask only for reasonable length and a signature.

For the other variety of letter writer, we offer brief advice.—If you haven't got guts enough to sign it, save your time.

The Grim Pilgrim
By DAVE WILEY

What follows are purely personal reflections and impressions of last Wednesday evening when a man whom, it seems most of Plymouth would clasp to its bosom as an authentic home-grown intellectual, returned to speak.

Russell Kirk, writer, lecturer, professor and reported philosopher mingled with people at a pre-meeting dinner at the Mayflower Hotel and there received his due in adulation and respect. Here, I do not intend sarcasm, nor would I deprecate the Doctor's appreciation of American equality.

He simply appeared as returning nobility, was courted as such, and accepted the tribute with smiling tolerance. In the banquet room were those who had known Russell Kirk when — those who were now uncomfortably removed by the vast gulf of erudition with had risen between them. And, with awe in their voices, some were heard to comment:

"He's so intelligent." Seated at the head table after dinner, Kirk puffed thoughtfully on his pipe and talked quietly with one of the community's best-loved elder statesmen, a man at least as articulate as the doctor himself, and the one who would introduce Kirk later — Frank Henderson.

Throughout the remainder of the room were Plymouth's key Republicans, boyhood friends and acquaintances of Kirk's, and my wife and I.

At first, at our table, one felt there was a barrier (though as a confirmed independent with a liberal streak, I'm sure it was of my own making — for the Republicans were more than cordial). Later though, things warmed and the conversational machinery grew lubricated and moved with ease.

We discussed objectivity as it relates to the press, a former high school instructor of Kirk's reminisced about the man's early brilliance and things were going quite well until I felt constrained to ask, wretched guest that I was, a question: "Tell me, as good Republicans, how do you feel about Senator Goldwater as a candidate?" I had re-built the barrier.

One person who had risen and appeared about to return, turned quickly and hastened back to the table surrounded by Congressman George Meader and State House candidate W. Wallace Green and their wives. After a moment's thought, an answer came. I must paraphrase it here, for I do not recall the exact words.

"I am in agreement," the respondent said, "with what Senator Goldwater believes."

"But," murmured another, "I don't KNOW what Goldwater believes."

At the high school, after candidate introductions and a note of thanks to Bill Saxton and Carl Pursell, the two young Republicans who sought Kirk out and arranged for him to appear, the podium went to the main speaker.

Kirk talked rapidly, his words garbled with the nuances that one comes to associate with the uncommon, and carefully regimented, accent of academe.

I was sincerely disappointed.

For I had come expecting some sort of reasoned argument, a well-phrased attack on the present administration, perhaps some heretofore concealed and well-articulated bases for supporting the junior Senator from Arizona.

Doctor Kirk provided none of these.

Rather, after describing the GOP standard bearer as a man of great integrity and intellectual capacity, he lapsed into trotting out the sort of unsubstantiated information that a breed of columnist who lives by insinuation and the knowing leer thrives upon.

Two paperback pornologists, he claimed, were badging an attack on the senator — the implication being, somehow, that Goldwater is against pornography and Lyndon Johnson is in favor of it.

Citing an unnamed World Press official, the speaker told his Plymouth audience that agreements with the Soviet Union lay, unsigned, in the chancelleries of various European governments — awaiting signature upon re-election of the incumbent chief executive.

Kirk predicted national economic collapse by year's end; and did joust heartily with the conservative windmill of the United States Supreme Court, implying a sort of dark disaster if it fell Johnson's due to appoint Justices during the next four years.

He hauled forth the battered and bleeding remnants of Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), pointed out, in the accepted conservative fashion, that the Texan President was its captive, and — not quite stooping to the phrase "left wing" — contented himself with "ultra-liberal," which (in all fairness) is probably correct.

The Democratic Solid South, Kirk said, may very well become the Republican Solid South and, in answer to a question which sought motivation, claimed that it was not the "segregationist" south that is joining Goldwater-Miller forces but, rather, the "moderates." Employing a hardly worthy term, he suggested that "rednecks" were still firmly in the Democratic camp.

I move quickly, now to the Michigan Republican party's most embarrassing moment. Some kind soul inquired of Russell Kirk why Governor George Romney did not "speak out" in favor of the national ticket.

Well, he answered, like New York's Senator Kenneth Keating, Romney feels he can't carry the state if he endorses Goldwater — Miller. Keating, Kirk said, may be right. Romney is wrong.

As a resident of north-central Michigan's Mecosta County, Kirk said there is a very real feeling of resentment toward Romney because of his reticence.

He predicted that as Nelson Rockefeller has done, Rockefeller would come forth with some sort of endorsement before Nov. 3.

Later that evening, I picked up the Oct. 6 edition of The Christian Science Monitor, a newspaper whose collective reputation for objectivity and intellectual orientation is as stellar as Doctor Kirk's individual one. In a page one story on the Romney — Staebler race, James S. Brooks, Monitor correspondent, wrote:

"Polls taken both by Republicans — including the GOP state central committee and Governor Romney's own staff — and Democrats have shown Sen. Barry Goldwater to be almost unbelievably unpopular in a state that was once a Republican stronghold."

"He (Romney) passed up several chances to do so (endorse) while making joint appearances with Senator Goldwater in Michigan, and it became evident this will be the position he holds through the general election."

"The question bothering Governor Romney's staff now is: Is this a strong enough stand, or should the Governor publicly disavow Senator Goldwater?" We shall see.

In summation, my impression is that Russell Kirk, the man, was polished, urbane, and witty — a seemingly delightful individual whose company would be a pleasure.

In contrast, Russell Kirk, the conservative, was a tremendous let-down. He accurately described the Democrat slogan — "peace and prosperity" as facile, but failed to offer a worthy solution.

Dear Editor: Each week, one of the first things I read in The Mail is "The Grim Pilgrim." And, each week I resolve to drop you a line and let you know how much I enjoy it. Before I find myself buried in a pile of dead resolutions, my congratulations on a fine column. It is always a good piece of creative writing.

I'm glad to read, once in awhile, the writing of one who is unashamed to talk about the simple and good things of life which so many of our writers seem to feel are non-existent.

Much has been written about hate. We are confronted on all sides by movies, plays and television productions about warped personalities who view the world through alleys cluttered with garbage. In recent years, particularly since the assassination of President Kennedy, writers seem to be obsessed with the malignancy of hate which they feel is eating at the soul of our country.

Certainly there is hate — but, then the history of mankind is filled with examples of man's inhumanity to man.

Have we become so obsessed, however, with the bad that we are unable to see the good? Is this great land of ours becoming a gigantic cesspool whose stagnant waters are engulfing all that is good and beautiful?

I would hate to think these things are true. Yet our modern writers, in their literary output, paint with equally as bold a brush the beauty which is in any scene. Let those who see or read their output be aware that, even on the stormiest of days there is a sunset even though, at the time, its perception is difficult.

Or, am I as wishful in my thinking as was Edna St. Vincent Millay when she wrote: "Safe upon the solid rock the ugly houses stand! Come and see my shining palace built upon the sand!" I'm afraid I've rambled much too long. Again, my congratulations on a fine column — it's nice to see that even "Grim Pilgrims" can smile!

Frosh Beat Northville 6-0

Plymouth's fresh man football team, still unbeaten after two games, travels to Belleville at 4 p.m. Thursday for its next encounter.

The young Rocks beat Northville last week 6-0 in a close ball game. Quarterback Mike Cederberg got things moving in the third quarter for Plymouth after a scoreless first half. Cederberg flipped a flat pass to end Mike Stakias that covered 30 yards before Stakias was downed on the Northville eight yard line. Two plays later left halfback Tom Elias bolted off left tackle from the five to score. According to freshman coach Dick Hill, Cederberg, Elias and Dale Theeke were offensive standouts. In the line, Rick Neal and Mike Waller, both linebackers, also played well.

JV's Lose in Rain

Bentley's junior varsity football team handed Plymouth a 33-7 loss last week. The Rock defensive unit had trouble containing Bulldog runners, as all Bentley touchdowns came on runs of 40 yards or more. The Bulldogs piled up a 20-0 lead before the Rock defensive unit bounded back to recover a fumble in the end zone.

Defensive tackle Jim LeBlanc covered the ball for Plymouth. Quarterback Steve Hulce passed to halfback Ron Lowe for the extra point. The Rocks, playing in a steady downpour, were also plagued by several offensive fumbles. The Rocks meet Trenton in Plymouth at 4 p.m. Thursday.

When Plymouth was unable to move the ball, and tried to kick on fourth down in the opening minutes of play, three Trenton linemen blocked the kick on the Rock 43. TRENTON then moved in quickly to score on eight plays, with halfback Lanny Scheffler scooting around right end the final six yards to score. The extra point by Sandy Federico was good and Trenton led 7-0 with 6:22 left in the first quarter. They came back to score again early in the second quarter. After taking over on their own 33, Scheffler ripped 10 yards up the middle to the 43. Another play netted one yard, and then Eric Federico, a tremendous fullback, bolted 54 yards to score. He was hit about five times on the run and used a straight arm three times. He looked like the best fullback in the league on that run. The kick was blocked by Plymouth and Trenton led at the half 13-0. In the second half, Trenton received the kickoff and moved in to score on a long 14-play drive that ate up most of the time in the third quarter. Eric Federico ploughed into score standing up from the one yard line. Sandy Federico's kick was good and Trenton led 20-0. Plymouth battled for the rest of the game, but was never able to put together more than two first downs in a row.

Runners Lose Two, But Improve

Plymouth's cross-country team kept chopping seconds off its performance last week, but ran into another record breaking opponent and one that came within four seconds of breaking a record.

Against Walled Lake last Tuesday, Plymouth lost 21-38 as the Lakers' Karell came within four seconds of the Plymouth Riverside Course record, turning in a speedy 10:29. Plymouth's John Bates was next at 10:30, only five seconds off the course record.

AT REDFORD Union's tough, hilly course, RU's John Shephard set a new RU varsity record of 11:02 to lead the pack, as Redford Union won 21-40. Mike Bentley, third in the meet, paced Plymouth with a 11:30 effort. Bates was right behind him in fourth place with an 11:31.

Bob Kreitsch, eighth (11:22); Dave Dirlum, eleventh (11:35); Dave Allen, twelfth (11:36).

Coach John Sandman said cautiously, "I hate to sound overly optimistic, but we have run most of the tough ones and we should begin to win a few. Each week our times have improved, but we've run into some fine runners." In addition to the varsity runners, Sandmann oversees JV meets after the varsity events. There are a total of 25 students participating, and while scores are not kept, Sandmann does keep times. Occasionally, Sandmann will give one of the JV's a try in the varsity meet. Jeff Scott turned in a 12:38 last week on RU's tough course. This week he'll be competing with the varsity against Allen Park at 4 p.m. on the Plymouth Riverside course.

Plymouth's 1964 Homecoming game at 8 p.m. Friday will feature Redford Union. The game, with its traditional festivities, also marks the beginning of the second half of Plymouth's eight game schedule. The scrappy Rocks go into the last half of the season exactly even. They have won two and lost two in Suburban Six League play, are one-one for the season. Redford Union is the third suburban six league team the defending champs meet this season. LAST FRIDAY, the Rocks were overpowered 20-0 by a potent Trenton team at Trenton. Trenton scored at will in the first half, rolling up two touchdowns for a 13-0 half time lead. Two other scoring runs were called back on clipping penalties. To their credit, however, the Rocks battled hard in the second half and Trenton was not able to remove its crack first string from the field until the final minutes of the game.

The Sporting Thing

By Bill Nelson

This Friday evening Plymouth high school's 1964 homecoming game will be played here against Redford Union.

The festivities will begin well before the game and add extra fun to the evening. Seldom has a Homecoming game been better timed for the team.

Plymouth has won two and lost two, the most recent loss being a 20-0 punishing at Trenton last week.

If the adage is true that you must beat the champions to become champions, it looks like Trenton this year. They have a powerful aggregation and in beating Plymouth last week they, of course, had beaten the 1963 Suburban Six League champions.

In high school football, however, nothing is certain. While Trenton looks tough, the history of the Suburban Six League is loaded with unusual upsets. So no team with only one league loss is dead yet, and that includes Plymouth.

The timing of the Homecoming game is good, because last place Redford Union, while providing good opposition, also provides an opportunity to get back on the victory trail in front of a big home town crowd.

About 500 fans and the Plymouth band traveled to Trenton last week for the game in damp, windy and freezing weather. It drizzled until game time and a 16 mile an hour wind whipped the 30 degree emperature through clothing.

Plymouth's team, after taking a real 13-0 pushing around in the first half, gave Trenton a good battle in the second half. This is not a team that rolls over and plays dead.

Trenton, incidentally, has an after game idea that is sportsmanlike and pleasant. Both teams are invited into the cafeteria after the game for talk, donuts, cokes and seven ups.

Their hospitality was further augmented by free, juicy apples in the press box, provided by tennis coach Tony Malinowski.

In the press box a reporter from the Trenton Times tape recorded the game instead of making notes. They appear to be getting a little ahead of everybody else down there.

Late in the fourth quarter, when your nose feels like it will never thaw again, someone in the audience let loose with a box full of small paper tissues. One floated to me and I immediately seized it to doctor a cold nose.

"We take care of everything," a Trenton supporter said.

Twp. Firemen Aid Stricken Man Thursday

Two Township firemen did it again.

For the second time in less than a month, a stricken man came to the fire department for help. This time it was Morris Maddox, 60, of Detroit, a doorman at Lofy's Arbor Hill, located next to the Township Hall.

Faddox came into the station last Thursday afternoon, shortly before 6 p.m., complaining of pain in his chest and difficulty in breathing.

Firefighters rushed a resuscitator from Station No. Two on Schoolcraft Road and administered oxygen to Maddox.

Less than two weeks before, Township Clerk John D. McEwen and an on-duty fireman were credited with possibly saving the life of a man who came for aid following a heart attack.

The Poverty social given Tuesday evening by the young people of the Baptist church was largely attended. The costumes worn by the men and women surely indicated they were properly stricken. About ten o'clock, after having had considerable fun the men were formed in line and after parading around the room the judges, consisting of Messdames Trinkhaus, Granger and Tillotson, awarded the prizes to Reuben Barnes. Afterwards the ladies then formed in line and after circling around the room the judges, consisting of Messrs. Greenlaw, Brown and Ash, awarded the prizes to Miss Ruth Bradley.

One hundred tons of gas pipe was shipped in here the first of the week, and unloaded near the electric lighting plant. This pipe will be distributed on the different streets of the village.

Recap of Lion Activity Shows Busy Month

Plymouth Lions were entertained at their Sept. 3 meeting by Carl Bovee, principal of Lincoln Grade School in Livonia, and Mrs. Ruth Gay also of Livonia, who presented a workshop film report entitled "Fine Arts for Fine Minds."

The stereo and color slide presentation was the result of a project undertaken by Mrs. Gay and Miss Carol Sullivan of Redford Union High School during a summer workshop conducted for surrounding suburban communities at the Franklin School in Livonia. The report emphasized appreciation of the intrinsic beauty to be found by observing phenomena present in our immediate environment.

On Thursday, Sept. 10, the entire club participated in a Melon and Ice Cream Social kicking off Fall Festival Activities for 1964. Lion Mary Van Heese, chairman of the event, termed it a highly successful venture.

Tom Workman of Plymouth Schools and the Plymouth YMCA provided a project report on the YMCA Summer Youth Program at the Sept. 14 meeting to complete the Lions program schedule for the month.

As YMCA Summer Youth Project Director, Workman worked with a group of junior high school age boys throughout the past summer. During this time the boys met each week in physical conditioning and team game activities. They were given instruction in the proper use and care of firearms by Michigan State Police and the Western Wayne County Conservation Club. In late August the boys participated in one and two-day canoe outings and a series of one week work and canoe trips on the Au Sable River. Mr. Workman said continued youth activity during the coming year will include development of a Junior-Hi-Y Program, a continued summer youth project, development of a gasoline-alley project, and continuation of the Hi-Y, Y-Guides and other activities.

Michigan has long been recognized as the pioneer among states in public education. It had the nation's first superintendent of public instruction and was the first state to assure every child the right to a tax-paid high school education. The state's educational system has been established.

PLEASE DON'T feed the salesmen. This is what Plymouth Kiwanians are NOT expected to do this weekend as the local Kiwanis Club launches its annual Kid's Day peanut sale to raise funds for unfortunate youngsters. Here, first vice president Bill Lyons, left, gets ready to sample a peanut offered by club member Don Zander, right. Don didn't even bother to shell the nut.

Install R. Wylie As Minister of Wyoming Church

The Rev. Richard Wylie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis I. Wylie, of Carol St., was installed as the first minister of the Wyoming Presbyterian Church in ceremonies Oct. 4. A 1949 graduate of Plymouth High School, he has been organizing minister of the congregation since June 1963. The church serves Presbyterians in the Grand Rapids, Wyoming, Grandville and Jenison area.

Arbor-Croft News

By Betty Radcliffe — GL 3-6340

A large group of friends surprised Mrs. J. P. Tarantino with a baby shower at her home on Ross Avenue last Thursday evening. The guests brought cake and coffee for the party and gifts for little Joseph Peter Tarantino IV who was born September 23. The baby's grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tarantino, of Tampa, Fla., are here this week to visit the family.

Donald Bidwell, of 1465 Ross Ave., has returned from a two week trip to Canada. Mr. Bidwell and several friends were moose hunting near James Bay in Ontario.

Mrs. George Johnson entertained her bridge club on Tuesday afternoon in her home at 1417 Palmer Ave.

Arbor-Croft women won most of the door prizes at the Newcomers fashion show luncheon at Meadowbrook Country Club. Among the lucky winners were Verba Peekart, Alice Arlen, Jennie Frost, Barbara Bowling, Joan Brandt, Donna Boshoven, Marcella Woodring, Dorothy

Plymouth Hi-Y Sets Car Washes
Two car washes have been set by Plymouth Hi-Y to raise money for World Service projects for the YMCA and for club activities. Members will be washing cars at West Brothers on Saturday, Oct. 10 and Saturday, Oct. 17 from 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. The charge is one dollar.

Mr. and Mrs. James Surraitt, of 1301 Palmer Ave., entertained the Art Johnson family, of Livonia, at a cook out last Saturday. On Sunday the Surraitts had as their dinner guests, the Richard Koster and James Eshleman of Toledo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Woodring, of 1480 Hartsough Ave., have had houseguests from Pennsylvania. Mr. and Mrs. John Jaeger and daughter and Mrs. J. Greenstein of Bethlehem were here for several days.

...tell it to Herman Schwartz

You say your daughter is getting married, and she doesn't want her reception in a cinder block citadel, and you can't afford the country club? ... Or it's your anniversary, and your wife is expecting a big party, and you're so busy at the office you haven't even got time to call for a cake, and it's your Silver, and you'd like it to last to the Golden? ... Or you've been made chairman of your company's annual banquet, and your committee ran out and left you holding the guest list, and your boss is big on banquets ... small on boners? Tell it to Herman Schwartz.

He'll lend a sympathetic ear. An ear educated by years of experience of catering everything from St. Patrick's Day dinners to Bar Mitzvahs. Where to find this Confucius of catering? The Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel, of course. Here Herman combines his rare talents for organization with those of Chef Hagen for vending award-winning victuals. Together they give you the best-looking, best-tasting, best-organized banquet in town.

The Sheraton offers you a choice of 18' modern air-conditioned banquet rooms. Where our Schwartz-Hagen duo can seat and satiate from three to a thousand people with equal ease.

If you've got a catering problem, why not pass Herman the buck? ... simply call Mr. Schwartz, WO 1-8000. Respectfully, the Sheraton-Cadillac, Detroit's largest, most accommodating hotel.
