SATURDAY VERY nearly became YMCA day in Plymouth as the local "Y" sponsored two events for local youngsters. Beginning early in the day, together with what one board member termed "five adults and three old men," over 20 boys took part in an old-fashioned logging bee at property owned by David D. Wood of 9000 Warren Road in rural Washtenaw County. Saturday evening, sponsored by Plymouth's Hi-Y club, the new teen drop-in center got its start in the old K of C building behind City Hall. At the beatnik party, above, Hi-Y President Linda Ross hands first prize to Kathy Burke who won the costume judging. Next to Kathy is Sally VanAntwerp whose suggestion for the drop-in center name was adopted. Sally came up with "The Chip off the Rock," abbreviated to "The Chip." At right is costume contest runner-up, Dennis Fuelling.

SCHOOLS TO MATCH FUNDS:

Rotary Votes $5,000 For Football Lighting

Cute labels and smart remarks about the Plymouth High School Athletic Field lighting system may well be a thing of the past, thanks to Plymouth's Rotary Club. In action last month, club directors voted to donate $5,000 to the Plymouth Community School District, contingent upon matching funds, to improve football field lighting. This week, Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister said the item will be placed on the Board of Education's December 14 agenda for action. Approval, he said, is expected.

The lighting equipment, originally donated by Rotary years ago, has become progressively outdated, weather-worn and unserviceable. It was the first electrical system in the league.

AS OTHER schools installed newer illuminating apparatus, "Plymouth's football field became the target of scorn and ridicule and, in recent years, was dubbed "Candlestick Park," and other equally colorful, if not complimentary, names. Funds for the project will come from the Plymouth Rotary Club and Rotary Foundation, according to President Carl Caplin. Asked to comment on appropriation of the funds, Caplin said: "Rotarians voted the funds with the idea that the job had been appreciated in the past and that it was now time for a change." Rotary funds are raised, primarily, within the club. Only once during the year do Rotarians support an outside activity — the annual Chicken Barbecue held during the Plymouth Community Fall Festival in September. Monies are used to back Rotary's support of the Crippled Children's Fund, in the non-profit Rotary Foundation which provides educational opportunity for Plymouth youth through scholarship aid and in other community projects.

O.K. Ann Arbor Rd. Traffic Light

The serious traffic problems which have persisted for years at the intersections of Ann Arbor Road and Sheldon Road, and Ann Arbor and Lilley Roads may be over, according to Plymouth Township Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay. Lindsay told The Plymouth Mail he had received a letter from the Michigan State Highway Department indicating that a light would be installed shortly at the Sheldon Road intersection.

In addition, approaches to the crossing may be flared to make left turns easier and safer. The letter followed on the heels of action at last month's Township Board meeting when Trustees renewed their pledge to seek improvements at the intersections.

At that time, Board members promised to join forces with the City of Plymouth and throw their weight behind a concerted effort to gain three-phase signal lights. A letter from the Township of Plymouth was dispatched to the State Highway Department on Nov. 13.

LAST WEEK, Supervisor Lindsay received a reply from Assistant Traffic Engineer W. B. Washington acknowledging the Township's communication. Washington wrote: "The Highway Department has recently conducted studies at both intersections and found that the volumes of traffic on Sheldon Road are above those required for signal installation."

"In addition to the signal installation at this location, we are also investigating the feasibility of flaring the intersection which should separate the left turning traffic from those proceeding through or turning right."

"We are now at the state of processing operations for these two items of work which should be completed very soon."

"Concerning the M-14 at Lilley intersection, a new survey has been ordered for this location. When this data is received, we will analyze it and advise you of our decision."

SUPERVISOR Lindsay said he had been assured by State Police that there would (Continued on Page 2)

MORE ROTARY FUNDS:

Committee to Plan Park Landscaping

Refurbishing of Kellogg Park will be the goal when a committee begins its work of determining how $2,000 can best be spent to landscape the park attractively.

The funds include $1,000 recently donated by the Plymouth Association of Insurance Agents and $500 appropriated by Plymouth Rotary, contingent upon a matching city funds, according to Plymouth Mayor Richard H. Wernette.

Rotary voted the $500 at the same time they pledged $5,000 to improve the lighting system at the Plymouth High School Athletic Field.

WERNETTE SAID the committee is awaiting the appointment of a Chamber of Commerce representative by Chamber President Wendell Lent.

Those already appointed to the committee are Miss Genevieve Gillette, Ann Arbor landscaping expert who will represent the City of Plymouth; Mrs. Edwin Schrader FESTIVAL MEETING The annual meeting of The Plymouth Community Fall Festival has been set for tomorrow (Wednesday), Dec. 2 at 8 p.m. in the City Hall Commission Chambers. The meeting is open to the public.

Glassford To Speak At Forum

"Plymouth — the City of Progress" will be City Manager Albert Glassford's topic at the Chamber of Commerce Businessmen's Forum, Thursday, Dec. 3, at 12:10 p.m. Cost of the luncheon will be two dollars and reservations may be made by calling the Chamber of Commerce, GL 3-1540.

Glassford will speak about the progress made in Plymouth and of its future needs and unfinished business. He submitted his resignation to City Commissioners at their Nov. 16 meeting and it will become effective Dec. 15. Glassford who has been City Manager for 15 years, is moving to Albion to become their first manager.

LATER IN THE afternoon, at the logging bee, a few of the kids found painting more up their alley than logging. Inside a garage, they rolled paint on large, plywood slabs. Left to right, they are, Steve Steele, 13, of 671 S. Harvey; Bill Tobey, 13, of 483 Maple; Matt DeNoyer, 11, of 607 Harding; and Lyle Downing, 14, of 1291 Linden.

Township Should O.K. Apartments, Analysts Claim

Plymouth Township not only can handle, but actually needs, more apartments. That was the verdict handed down recently by a Detroit Market Analysis Firm retained by Rose Hill Builders of Detroit.

Rose Hill has requested rezoning of 31 acres in Plymouth Township, south of Ann Arbor and west of Lilley to R-2A, Garden Apartments.

The report contrasts with one submitted to Plymouth Township Planning Commissioners by W. C. Johnson of Waring and Johnson, Landscape Architects and Planning Consultants. Johnson contends that the Plymouth area is near the saturation point for multiple dwellings and urges that no further re-zoning take place until present sites have been completely developed and a further evaluation made.

But Harold Black and Silla G. Tomasi of Metropolitan Market Analysts feel differently. They spelled out their views in a 21-page report prepared for Richard T. Gieryn of Rose Hill Builders.

THE REPORT was submitted to planning commissioners by Thomas G. Notebaert of the J. L. Hudson Real Estate Co. Citing detailed figures and statistics, it makes these main points:

- (1) The Plymouth Community has shown a consistently large rate of population growth.
- (2) Since 1960, over 1,200 residential units have been authorized for construction at a value of $13.6 million.
- (3) The Plymouth Community will continue to grow and should reach a population of 27,000 by 1970, and 32,000 by 1980.
- (4) The two age groups with the greatest propensity for apartments living (20-29 and 45 years and over) will show the greatest rate of growth.
- (5) Only 23 per cent of the occupied dwelling units are in the rental category. This, according to the analysis firm, coupled with the fact that only 2.5 per cent of all the housing units are in structures with five or more units indicates a real shortage in apartment dwellings.
- (6) There are a great many executives working for national concerns in The Plymouth Community. Many are subject to transfer with very little notice and they tend to prefer rental housing.
- (7) Most of the future growth of The Plymouth Community can be expected in the Township portion.

The Township will have to offer sites for various types of housing, including multi-family.

The analysis firm argued that the proposed site is well-located for apartment living and cited its nearness to retail facilities and other apartment complexes.

The report noted that the development could serve as a buffer between the light industrial area to the north and the single-family residential area to the south.

ADVANTAGES of apartment construction, the report said, are generation of more taxes, less contribution to the school load and less cost in terms of municipal services.

"Based on the above findings," the report concluded, "we recommend that the client construct apartment units on this site. We further recommend that these units be of the luxury, garden-type with individual entrances to each unit."

The analysis firm took issue with Johnson's claim that present apartment developments were having trouble keeping units occupied.

"Occupancy has been quite good," the analysts commented in reference to other developments. "Most apartment complexes for all practical purposes are filled within six months of the final unit." The firm cited statistics (Continued on Page 2)

IT'S THAT TIME:

Township, City Taxes Sent Out

Plymouth Township property tax bills amounting to $2,105,637.79 are in the mail and due today (Dec. 1), according to Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes.

Deadline for Township residents to pay taxes without penalty is Feb. 14. The Township already has received payment from 34 persons, Mrs. Holmes said.

The more than $2 million dollars in taxes is broken down into $451,343.06 for the county, $1,357,770.22 for Plymouth Community School District, $57,265.72 for Schoolcraft College District and $239,258.79 for the Township.

CITY OF Plymouth Treasurer Kenneth Way's office has reported city tax bills were mailed Monday evening and also are payable from Dec. 1 until Feb. 14 without penalty. Of the total city taxes paid, $286,948.62 will go to the county, $859,950.32 to the school district and $36,269.52 to Schoolcraft College District.

Urge Immediate Adult Education Enrollment

Applications for adult education classes and night activities are being accepted this week and next, according to Director Herbert Woolweaver.

He urged residents to enroll now so the department can schedule the courses. Classes begin the week of Dec. 15.

Additional courses have been added since their brochure was mailed Woolweaver said. New classes will include advanced German and organ classes, an afternoon pewter course from 2:30-5 p.m. and yoga classes on both Wednesday mornings and evenings.

BY POPULAR request from area hunters, Woolweaver said, a course on gun care taught by a gunsmith also has been added to the program. To enroll or for further information call GL 3-3100.

In a Nutshell . . .

- ★ Candidate for the week's most unlikely event is a recorder playing party, slated for Wednesday, Dec. 9 at 8 p.m. in the home of Mrs. Frank A. West at 12005 Amherst Ct. In case you haven't heard, the recorder is a flute-like instrument played like a clarinet. It was the flute of Mozart's time. While a large crowd is not expected, anyone who plays the instrument is invited. For information, call 453-7875.
- ★ Township residents were cautioned this week to be wary of persons soliciting money during the holiday season. One Marilyn St. resident called to complain that a youth, bearing a coffee can marked "crippled children," had been going from house to house collecting money. Officials emphasized that no such drive has been authorized at this time.
- ★ Members of the Plymouth Community School District Board of Education met Monday evening to review fiscal information to be released to the recently appointed Citizens' Committee on School Finance, according to Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister.
- ★ Creativity will be the by-word when a special, tabloid-sized newsprint edition is published in April, 1965 by the Plymouth Community School District. The edition will include select writings by Plymouth students. A volunteer committee has met and established guidelines for the project. Committee members are Betsy Gibson, Jean Wernette, Fred Libbing, Mary Ellen Knopf, Lucy Barnes, Earl Gibson and Jean Schmittgen.

ON A COLD, RAINY Saturday morning, Santa Claus came to town and took up residence at his house in Kellogg Park. Old St. Nick finally arrived in Plymouth JayCees' scale model 1903 Oldsmobile, piloted by Robert Wilson, right. On Santa's lap is four-year-old Gary Avery. Long lines cropped up in front of the Santa Claus house as parents and children waited in the cold rain for him to make his appearance. The parade was unavoidably delayed, starting about 25 minutes late.

People You Know

Christine McMullen, Sherman Thompson and Donna Raycroft were home from Kankakee College in Kankakee, Ill., for the holiday weekend.

Steven Bringardener, of Kankakee, Ill. spent the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McMullen and family.

Indianapolis Veteran to Head JayCee Sports-a-Rama Series

Indianapolis "500" veteran Gene Hartley will narrate "Racing for Highway Safety" in the opening program of the Junior Chamber of Commerce new Sports-a-Rama series, Thursday, Dec. 3, at 8:15 p.m. in Junior High School West.

The color and sound film will show the excitement of the Indianapolis "500", Daytona and Charlotte stock car races. It is a presentation of carefully selected experiences and thoughtful opinions demonstrating the importance of attitude in safe driving.

On three occasions the National Safety Council has presented its Public Safety Service Award to the Champion Spark Plug Company for developing and maintaining the program.

Hartley is one of eight Indianapolis veterans who appear daily in the high schools throughout the nation. Since 1954 more than eight million teenagers have heard the safety message which compares the controlled speed at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway to its opposite on the highway.

"Our business of racing," he continues, "is the matter of recognizing the calculated risk we take and preparing for it. On the other hand, most motorists don't even take into consideration the calculated risk which confronts them when they get behind the wheel of a car. This can lead to trouble."

In the 1962 Indianapolis race Hartley was awarded 27th position after mechanical failure sidelined his car. His interest in automobile racing was derived from his father who was also a well-known race driver.

"WE POINT to attitude as the biggest factor in driving," Hartley says. "We skip the usual do's and don'ts of driving and maintain that by keeping a car in good operating condition, being mentally alert and practicing common courtesy we could come up with a sizable decrease in our annual traffic tolls."

O.E.S. Highlights

American Legion Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary is proud of its Education and Scholarship program. There is no more sound investment that America can make in her future or her children's future, than in the education of her children. As a nation we are accused of failure in our investment. You can do something about this. Many of our young people are seeking help for college as they enter their senior year. We stand ready to give them advice and help.

A copy of "Need a Lift" (a book that contains available scholarships) has been placed in the Senior High School along with rules and explanations of how our young people can receive a scholarship according to Mrs. Gertrude Simonetti, education and scholarship chairman.

The American Legion Auxiliary is seeking to bring information about the Junior G.I. Bill to young people eligible to its educational aid. Mrs. Simonetti said. Under the bill, children of parents who died in war services or from war-incurred injuries or illness, or who are totally disabled, are eligible for $110 monthly while attending college.

Assistance is available to the student during the period which begins on his 18th birthday and ends on the date of his 23rd birthday. Payments up to $110 per month will be made for the student to attend approved vocational and business schools in Michigan.

This Bill was passed in 1960. In 1964, the Jr. G.I. Bill benefited more than America's ten largest scholarship programs combined. Presently, there are more veterans than non-veterans in United States. But, less than half of these eligible have used the Junior G.I. Bill benefits. We of the American Legion Auxiliary are seeking eligible young men and women to make sure they know of this educational aid available to them.

Fruit Cocktail 'Bejewels' Gay Dessert

Festive desserts like "Holiday Party Wreath" are guaranteed to get everyone into the Christmas spirit. It resembles a rich Bavarian cream, this chilled ring mold made with eggnog, whipped cream, gelatin, rum and gala canned fruit cocktail.

The bite-size pieces of cling peaches, pears, pineapple, seedless green grapes and maraschino cherries in fruit cocktail are not only a part of the mold. Some of them are spooned over each serving to provide a jewel-like effect befitting the happiest season of the year.

HOLIDAY PARTY WREATH
3 cups commercial eggnog 1 cup whipping cream
1 can (1 lb. 14 oz.) fruit cocktail 4 tablespoons rum or brandy (optional)
2 envelopes plain gelatin 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup cold water

Allow eggnog to warm to room temperature. Drain fruit cocktail; spoon 1 cup fruit into 9-inch ring mold. Combine gelatin and cold water; heat gently, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Stir gradually into eggnog. Chill until mixture mounds on spoon. Whip cream; add 2 tablespoons rum and vanilla. Fold into eggnog mixture; spoon into mold. Chill until firm. Combine remaining fruit and rum. Chill. Turn mold out onto serving plate; pass chilled fruit to spoon over servings. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

PERFECT SAFETY RECORD
BIRD
- PLYMOUTH
1963-1964

A MICHIGAN State Police Trooper presented perfect safety awards from the Detroit News to three Plymouth schools, Nov. 30. Above, at Bird School, left to right, Nancy Wehmeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Wehmeyer, of Elm Ave., Principal Earl Gibson, Glenn Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, of Pacific St., and Trooper D. E. Kaiser. Miss Wehmeyer is captain of Bird's service squad and Smith is captain of the safety patrol. Other schools receiving the award yesterday from Kaiser were Ferrand and Allen-Truesdell. The awards are presented to schools with 100 per cent safety records for the preceding year.

More on the way every day! Thanks for waiting!

Your wait for one of these new 1965 Chevrolets is about over—and we want to thank you for your patience. Come see us now. When you get behind the wheel, you'll be glad you waited!

'65 Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe
It's longer, wider, lower. It's swankier, more spacious. You could mistake it for an expensive car—if it weren't for the price.

'65 Chevelle Malibu Sport Coupe
Fresh-minted styling. V8's available with up to 350 hp. A softer, quieter ride. And it's as easy-handling as ever.

'65 Chevy II Nova Sport Coupe
Clean new lines. Fresh new interiors. A quieter 6 and—V8's available with up to 300 hp. Thrift was never so lively.

'65 Corvair Corsair Sport Coupe
It's racier, roomier, flatter riding. With more power available—up to 180 hp in the new top-of-the-line Corsas.

"FARM FOR SALE"

Located in Washtenaw County, Dexter Township, 212 acres. This farm has approximately 2500 feet of road frontage on blacktop road. Approximately 10 miles from Ann Arbor. Has excellent running water, nice creek with pond and an excellent dam, has water year around even in dry weather. This pond is approximately 250 ft. wide at the widest point and nearly 500 ft. long. This pond has been drained and cleaned out at the cost of $2,000 last year.

The buildings are in fair condition, the house has five bedrooms, large kitchen, living room, dining room and bath. There is a coal furnace, good well and septic conditions. The hog house is 20x60 ft. with its own 4" well, small chicken coup and tool shed in poor condition. Taxes are $438 per year with the possibility of reduction due to the fact that the barns were torn down last year.

There is approximately 33 acres of woods. There is an oil lease at $1 per acre, $212 dollars per year. Which is one of the few that is still retained by the oil company. There is good hunting due to water and good cover, small game and also deer. There is approximately 128 acres of work land. Price is $310 per acre. This is an excellent opportunity for developers. Nice location for a housing development in low tax area for retirees housing.

This is an estate. Terms are cash, arrange for your own financing. For further information contact Ellsworth Henes, 2901 Baker Rd., Dexter, Mich. Tel HA 6-8380. 13p

Garland for "just a secretary"

During an activity-packed Saturday last weekend, Plymouth's YMCA sponsored two separate events which should endear it to Plymouth youngsters and merit the respect of old and young alike.

For the "Y" has demonstrated its interest in, and concern for, young people in The Plymouth Community.

Saturday's activities illustrate the point.

Beginning early in the day, more than 20 boys turned out for an old-fashioned logging bee on property owned by David D. Wood at 9000 Warren Road.

There, kids were equipped with woolen stocking caps, assigned to various teams and put to work. Essentially, they are the same group of youngsters who participated in the "Y's" canoeing and overnight camping activities this past summer.

All day, under careful adult supervision, the youthful woodsmen hauled branches, carried logs and made themselves useful while older members of the group manned saws and axes.

For their labors, each earned an all-expense ticket for a Dec. 29 ski outing at the Mt. Holly Ski Resort. The skiing date includes all equipment and free instruction.

Saturday evening, at the former K of C Hall on Union St., the "Y" kicked off the opening of its teen drop-in center.

Centered around a beatnik party format, the evening's activities included costume judging, games, dancing, and a contest to choose a name for the center.

By all standards, the night was a rousing success.

With many youngsters out of town for the holiday weekend, the Hi-Y club-sponsored party drew over 150 and everyone, by all reports, had a ball.

The teen center was named "The Chip Off the Rock," abbreviated succinctly to "The Chip," and kids gave their wholehearted approval to a pizza party, scheduled for next week.

The two Saturday events show beyond any doubt that, given a chance, teenagers are eager to band together and enjoy themselves in constructive activity.

We think Plymouth's YMCA and particularly Mrs. Eugene (Johnny) Crosby who took the reins as "Y" office manager from Mike Hoben deserve credit for providing that chance.

And so do Mrs. John DeMott, who did much of the spadework for the drop-in center, and Dave Wood, who provided a place for the logging bee.

"Johnny," who terms herself "just a secretary," and pleads "keep me out of it," has done much to keep the "Y" program moving.

Because credit must inevitably fall where credit is due, "Johnny" Crosby can't be kept out of it. We believe that she, together with other dedicated people who keep the YMCA rolling, merit a big bouquet from The Plymouth Community.

Herewith, an editorial garland for "just a secretary."

A BUSY weekend was had by Plymouth's YMCA as "Y" members sponsored a Saturday logging bee on property owned by David D. Wood of 9000 Warren Rd. That evening, in the former K of C building on Union St., the "Y" opened its teenage drop-in center with a Beatnik party that drew more than 150 youngsters. Above, at the logging bee, the head of Plymouth High School's guidance department, John M. (Mike) Hoben, right, mans a chain saw while "Y" board member Harold Guenther swings an axe. Below, Plymouth teens had a ball at the billiard table in the youth center. (See editorial at left).

The Grim Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

My perpetual weariness with the U.S. television industry was compounded this weekend by an article in the video section of The Detroit Free Press. In contrast, stands a Sunday evening Canadian program.

The story, by Hal Humphrey (whoever the heck he is), was headlined "NBC Balks at Airing 'This Hour Has Seven Days' which is apparently the Canadian answer to 'That Was the Week That Was'."

"Efforts of some in television to use the medium to help solve social problems," Humphrey wrote, "evoked much difficulty. 'There is ready for showing, for example, a two-part drama on venereal disease among students. It was to be sandwiched between a 'Mr. Novak' and 'Dr. Kildare' episode, but NBC is holding up its showing."

"Even a plea to NBC from the U.S. Surgeon General has had no effect."

"Norman Felton, executive producer at MGM for 'Kildare' and other MGM-TV series, has renewed his efforts to persuade the network that we are supposedly living in an age of enlightenment."

"NBC seems to be leery of the early hour," Felton explains. But he then pointed out that young people can't be reached at a late hour and they won't watch documentary shows on such subjects."

Humphrey goes on to detail pressure which CBS underwent as an advertiser felt "some concern" over showing of a "Slattery's People" episode which deals with sex education in the schools and the obvious need for it.

And he notes that a "Kildare" program was not rerun last summer because the American Bar Association did not like the portrayal of the attorney in a malpractice suit resulting from Dr. Kildare's attempt at a good Samaritan act on behalf of an expectant mother.

"As a result," Humphrey concludes, "much of the drama we see on our TV screens is a kind of homogenized soothing syrup not very much different from an 1890 melodrama in which the mortgage-holding villain and the hero are recognized only because one wears a mustache and the other loves Marybelle."

Hear, hear!

My heart goes out to artists who must subject their creativity to the whims of a soap company or, for that matter, an automobile manufacturer.

During a brief stint in New York City, where it became my unhappy lot to perform dull, archival type research in libraries, I contacted the downtown office of a large photocopying firm for reproduction of a document which they found offensive.

"Look," the office manager told me, "we can't reproduce this."

"Why not?" I asked. "Well, we just can't."

"Yeah, O.K. Who's next up the ladder?" "Leave your office number," the manager said, "and I'll have the 32nd vice president in charge of marketing and sales call you."

"Great," I commented, much impressed. The call came from downtown Manhattan. After many conversations, I ended up with the empty-urn vice president in charge of something or other.

"You gotta realize," he finally said in desperation, "that we've got a corporate image to maintain." When I put down the phone, I felt nothing but pity for the strained Ivy-League voice on the other end.

Corporate image, phoo! In contrast to these gray flannel steppes of discretion, I give you the unsponsored Canadian program mentioned earlier.

Penetrating, incisive, cutting, and head and shoulders above its American counterpart, it makes you wonder whether or not there is some virtue to government-backed television.

Free enterprise is obviously not as free as it's cracked up to be.

We are becoming a nation of pussypoos, afraid to create, afraid to speak out, afraid to innovate lest we harm our corporate image.

All of which leaves me a trifle sad.

It seems as though, more often than not lately, I end up making some sort of remark — snide or otherwise — about sports pundit Bill Nelson.

Old Bill probably smirked all the way home after he composed that deathless paragraph about Larry Gaffka who is a member of a club of men "who had the brains, charm, looks and money necessary to marry women named Pat or Patsy."

In addition to Gaffka, according to Nelson, the club includes Mike Hoben, John McFall, Paul Cummings, Charlie Keiserer "and others."

Just in case you're interested, the "and others" consists of Nelson himself. Modesty, it becomes apparent, is not requisite for membership in the club.

Schoolcraft Hosts Advisors from Mich. Colleges

Admissions officers from Michigan colleges and universities are visiting Schoolcraft College to speak with students wishing to transfer to other schools.

This week representatives from Wayne State, Oakland and Western Michigan universities will be on campus.

University of Detroit, Central Michigan University and the University of Michigan officials will speak to prospective students next week.

Most visitors will speak to the student body in the Forum prior to their individual discussion periods so that more students may receive general information about the schools.

ACCOUNTS INCREASE

Customers of National Bank of Detroit saved 18 per cent more in Christmas Club accounts in 1964 than in the previous year, the Bank reported recently. Total dollar amount of Christmas accounts this year was $3,849,908, compared with a 1963 figure of $3,253,673.

Long, searching look needed

The other side of a sticky problem was presented to Plymouth Township Planning Commissioners last week when an apartment house market study was submitted by Rose Hill Builders of Detroit.

The study, commissioned by the building company and conducted by Metropolitan Market Analysts — a Detroit firm, reaches far different conclusions than those of Waring and Johnson, Plymouth Township's planning consultants.

In a report submitted more than a week ago, Planning Consultant W. C. Johnson concluded that there was little, if any, more room for multiple family dwellings in Plymouth Township at the present time.

"It is our opinion," he wrote, "that Plymouth Township should and will remain predominantly a community of single dwellings, and that its character has been pretty well established."

"We believe that the Plymouth area is near the saturation point for multiple dwellings and that no further rezoning for multiple dwellings take place until the present sites have been developed and further evaluation of the market be made at that time."

The paragraphs which preceded Waring and Johnson's conclusions are noteworthy, if only for the glaring absence of statistical material in them.

Though working within the framework of a society as fluid as that of The Plymouth Community, Johnson hearkened back to an 18-month-old report compiled by W & J which estimates a need for 120 acres for multiple dwellings by 1970.

He noted that 70 acres, give or take a few, are currently zoned for multiple dwelling use and pointed out that this area will provide space for about 800 units. Then, without benefit of substantiating facts or figures, Johnson wrote:

"Reports indicate that some of the apartments are having trouble in keeping the units occupied. In talking with the F.H.A. Site Plan Division there was an indication that the Plymouth area was reaching a saturation point in regards to apartment units."

In startling contrast, the material submitted by Thomas G. Notebaert, representing Rose Hill Builders, seems exhaustively researched, extensively backed up by statistics and well documented.

The analysis firm retained by Rose Hill noted the consistently large rate of population growth in The Plymouth Community, cited statistics for past, present and future expansion, claimed a need for more rental units in the area and pointed out what they felt were advantages of the site under consideration.

Rose Hill is requesting rezoning of approximately 31 acres, south of Ann Arbor Road and west of Lilley.

Among favorable characteristics which the analysis firm felt accrued from apartment construction were these:

- (1) Generation of more tax base than single family units.
- (2) Less contribution to the school load.
- (3) Less cost in terms of municipal services.

The Plymouth Mail thinks Township planning commissioners should take a long, searching look at the report submitted by Rose Hill Builders.

Examination and consideration of it is merited, if for no other reason, because of the paucity of information contained in the submission by Waring and Johnson.

Based on the kind of report the Township planning consultants submitted, it becomes obvious that W & J feels little obligation to justify conclusions with the kind of data planning commissioners need to reach intelligent decisions.

The Waring and Johnson report seems hasty and ill documented.

We urge Plymouth Township Planning Commissioners to make it clear to their planning consultant that hurried, unresearched reports are not welcome. They should emphasize that planning consultants, like anyone else, are expected to earn their money.

Anything less amounts to short-changing residents of Plymouth Township.

School Additions Move Along

Work was moving along last week on Plymouth School District building projects, but slow brick delivery was retarding progress at one of the elementary sites.

Another brick delivery was due and scaffolding was high throughout the Farrand Elementary School addition, according to a memo issued by James H. Mattison of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach Associates, Architects.

Mattison noted that sash would be in place in about two weeks and roof decking would be set in about three weeks.

At the Allen Elementary School addition, Mattison said, the new boiler was fired for the first time, masonry was approaching completion and sash and roofing would be installed on the same schedule as the Farrand project.

At the high school shop addition on Adams St., excavation had started along the west wall, plumbers were running underground work and batter boards had been set.

The Farrand School addition includes six classrooms and kindergarten facilities. Four rooms and a library are being built at Allen School. Cost of the two projects is nearly $195,000. They are scheduled for completion in February.

The high school addition, costing in excess of $260,000, is slated for occupancy in Sept., 1965.

Mr. and Mrs. James Schantz

Roberta Toll, James Schantz Marry; Live in Tennessee

In a noon ceremony Oct. 17 in St. John's Episcopal Church Roberta Maxine Toll became the bride of James Roy Schantz. The Rev. David Davies performed the rites.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Toll, of 1122 Simpson St., and Mr. and Mrs. Myrl Schantz, of 460 Ross St.

The couple is living in Clarkville, Tenn. and Mr. Schantz is stationed at Fort Campbell, Ky. where he is serving with the Army paratroopers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of silk peau de soie with lace appliques. Her train was chapel length and a pearl headpiece held her elbow length veil.

Maid of honor was Francis Rudick, and bridesmaids included Jerie Taylor, Kathy Kropf, Toni Myers and Barbara Taylor. Their gowns were gold floor-length sheaths, and they carried bouquets of bronze spider mums arranged in a waterfall effect.

The bride's uncle Albert Myers was best man. Seating guests were Beau Toll, the bride's brother, Ted Gerth, John Taylor and Denny Eskra.

The bride's mother chose a blue suit for the wedding and a gold brocade dress for the reception in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Mrs. Schantz wore a beige lace dress.

A summer wedding is planned. For her going-away outfit

Holiday Tradition that Boars Plymouthites

By Jacquie Town

Tradition is defined as the repetition of ancient customs, passed on verbally from one generation to the next. Such customs exist in individual homes as well as communities and countries.

Often, customs celebrated in one area are passed on to another and become a part of the latter's traditional pattern.

Such is the case with Plymouth's Fall Festival, America's way of celebrating Thanksgiving, and with various Christmas practices. One finds many interesting traditions existing in our own community concerning this season, and the brotherhood it signifies.

The most unique I've heard about is the Annual Boar's Head Dinner on Dec. 9, sponsored by The Presbyterian Church.

This elaborate affair, held annually, began here in Plymouth ten years ago and was attended by 25 men. This year, according to Bob Delaney, there will be well over 240.

The idea was originated before the 17th century in England by a group of Oxford University men. One, so the tale is told, went into the woods to study Plato. He was soon attacked by a wild boar, and in order to save himself, he stuffed the book down the boar's throat, choking it to death.

He then carried it back to the University Square where his fellow students built a bonfire, roasted the boar and sang Christmas carols. It soon became a yearly event celebrating the Brotherhood of Man and, centuries later, the tradition spread to Plymouth, Mich.

The ceremony begins with costumed Elizabethan Heralds playing trumpets, followed by committee members wearing traditional Scholastic Robes. Then enter the Chefs carrying the Head of the Boar complete with apple stuffed mouth (more appetizing than Plato), maraschino eyes and garlands of flowers adorning his ears. The feast includes huge platters of vegetables, potatoes, condiments, and is topped by a flaming plum pudding.

A small boy in costume carries the demitasse. Throughout the evening the men are entertained by singing of ancient German Carols and tabloids put on by the younger set.

The entire dining hall is lighted only by candle giving it a somewhat ethereal atmosphere. The women who prepare this feast deserve a good deal of credit for their efforts on behalf of the men. It is obvious that sacrifice and giving of themselves are qualities they each share.

Bea Bessy is this year's chairman, and although the dinner in its completed form may seem effortless, I'm sure she can testify otherwise.

There are certain drawbacks to the affair, however as can be attested to by a local bakery. The boar's head was being roasted in the oven at Terry's one year, when a female employee unwittingly opened the oven door and fainted dead away at the sight of two eyes staring at her.

In that respect, I believe I'll leave the dinner to the men.

This is a truly beautiful way to herald the coming of Christmas. Although it has been a function of The Presbyterian Church, men of all faiths participate.

Many in the community would like to see this celebration made into an interdenominational event with all churches participating.

After all, isn't that the true meaning of Brotherhood?

Michigan Christian College Alumni

Set Bazaar, Dec. 5

The Plymouth Chapter, Ladies Associates of Michigan Christian College will participate in a Christmas Bazaar, Dec. 5, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., in the college cafeteria, Rochester.

This bazaar is designed for holiday gift buying and an afternoon of family fun. Plymouth, among other Michigan, Ohio and surrounding state chapters will offer a Gift Buying Center for children only, pictures with Santa, and prizes every 15 minutes as attractions. Gift items are dolls, doll clothes, bake goods, hand made articles, linens, books, games, jewelry, stuffed toys, infant and children's clothing, novelties and Christmas decorations.

Funds raised by the Plymouth chapter since January, amount to approximately $600 through rummage and pecan sales, dues and Kiddy Land at the Harvest Festival.

Regular monthly meeting of the Plymouth chapter will be Monday, Dec. 14, 7:30 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Paul McAllister, 467 Roe.

The Seneca root is harvested by Indians in Alberta, Canada, and is used as the base for much cough medicine.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS GALORE will be featured at the International Fair, sponsored by the Women's Society of the First Methodist Church, Dec. 3. Items from all over the world will be for sale in booths representing the various countries. Co-chairmen of the bazaar Mrs. Dale Dauderman (left) and Mrs. Arthur Shepard are examining some of the children's gifts. The fair opens at 10 a.m. and will close at 8 p.m. Tea, cookies and pastries will be served to shoppers in the French tearoom during the day. From 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. light luncheons also will be served.

Swedish Exchange Student Wants to Study Engineering

A 17-year-old Swedish girl living with the Fred Feekarts of Palmer Ave. and attending school at Plymouth High School said she wants to be an electrical engineer.

She explained children in her country don't start school until they are seven-years-old. She added she will not receive credit for this year's schooling in the United States.

Gilla Rynning

Gilla Rynning, of Avesta, Sweden, 20 miles north of Stockholm, came to Plymouth under the Youth for Understanding Exchange program of the Council of Churches. She will live with the Feekarts until July. Their daughter Terry is also a PHS senior.

Women engineers are more common in Sweden than here but there are still only a few of them, Miss Rynning said. She will have two more years of high school when she returns to Sweden.

HONORS STUDENT

William M. Silvis, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Silvis, of 1329 Carol St., is one of 417 freshmen attending the University of Michigan to be admitted to the honors program of enriched studies. They are selected on the basis of high school records, scholastic aptitude and achievement scores.

Plymouth High School seems to be more concerned with its students than her school in Avesta, Miss Rynning said. She explained her school doesn't sponsor clubs for the students the way Plymouth High does.

American churches are also more personal she has discovered, Miss Rynning said. In Sweden the state church which is Lutheran has a worship service and that's all in comparison to the additional Sunday school for all ages, clubs for both children and adults. She also added Plymouthites seem to attend church more regularly than her people. She said in Sweden a lot of people only go on special occasions.

Her favorite hobbies, Miss Rynning said, are track and high jumping, skiing, skating and swimming. She is also a Girl Scout leader.

In Sweden, according to Miss Rynning the people welcome winter and the Christmas season on Dec. 13 with a St. Lucia celebration. For this occasion which is celebrated in the family, school and all organizations one girl is chosen to dress in white and wear a crown of candles. They sing songs and eat special breads and coffees.

Palms are Important to Sierra Leonean Economy

By Lon Dickerson

(Continued from last week) Once the fruit of the oil palm is harvested it is taken to an open shelter where the palm oil is extracted and refined.

First the fruit is allowed to dry, then it is split into quarters and the kernels removed. Having been transferred to a wire mesh, the fibrous tissue which holds the kernels together is worn away by constant raking.

Afterwards the kernels are placed in a fanna, a shallow mat basket. Repeated tosses into the air results in most of the remaining husk and debris being blown away by the wind.

The kernels are placed in a barrel of boiling water. This process softens them. Discarded husks and wood provide the fuel.

After being removed from the barrel the kernels are put into a large, wooden mortar which measures three to four feet in height. Four men then pound the kernels in alternating rhythmic beats with pestles.

It is a process similar to a Plymouth druggist mixing drugs except on a larger, and more picturesque scale.

If the fruit has been allowed to properly ripen, the mash which results is red in color. In the process I watched it was yellow which indicates that the fruit was not yet ripe.

Once it is removed from the mortar it is placed in a press. In this instance it was a manual hydraulic press. But in the home less advanced means are used.

After this process the yellow, butterlike liquid (red if the fruit is ripe) is poured into another barrel of boiling water. After a short time the oil comes to the surface where it flows into an inner barrel from which the finished product is drained off.

The next time you see the palm oil it has been bottled in discarded bottles and is for sale in the local markets.

While traditional methods are used in the manufacture of palm oil and the other products of the palm tree, these products are nevertheless important ingredients of Sierra Leone's economy and daily life.

They are as important today as they were in the country's early history when the modes of manufacture which are still used were first perfected.

It is not surprising, therefore, that two palm trees are included in the country's coat of arms.

Africa is a continent which still clings to many of its traditional customs. But rather than impeding progress these customs seem to enrich Africa's contributions to the twentieth century.

To replace many of these customs with the highly technical processes with which I am familiar would destroy the Africa I have come to love and respect.

To Deliver Parcel Post Overnight in Mich.-Ohio Area

A new "Scheduled Delivery" system now permits overnight delivery of ZIP Coded parcel post between Plymouth post offices within a 25,200 square mile area of southern Michigan and northeastern Ohio. Plymouth's Acting Postmaster James Grater announced today.

The delivery area includes all of southern Michigan from the Line Bay City-Mount Pleasant-Muskegon except the counties of Huron and Sanilac in the northeast and a portion of Berrien county in the southwest and, an eight-county area surrounding Toledo in Ohio. This area includes over 560 post offices and more than 7,972,000 people.

Mailing deadlines for the service will be 5 p.m. in Plymouth—the time when lobby windows close. "The Post Office Department found through extensive study," Grater said, "that one of the major problems of the parcel post service has been the lack of dependability of delivery. For many mailers, it is often more important to know when a parcel is to be delivered than it is just to get it there in a hurry."

For these reasons the Post Office Department developed scheduled delivery.

In the Scheduled Delivery area, parcels will be transported to the destination post office overnight and will be delivered to the addressee on the next scheduled parcel delivery.
