

OVER 100 Plymouthites turned out last Wednesday to bid a fond farewell to City Manager Albert F. Glassford who resigned to become manager of the City of Albion. They stood grouped in the lobby of Plymouth's Mayflower Hotel before the farewell dinner. Glassford and his wife, Lola, appear at lower right.

Ever Wonder About Holiday Customs?

Did you ever wonder about some of the strange Christmas customs celebrated in other parts of the world? Or how the more usual ways of celebrating Yuletide came into being?

The Swedes and Danes make a Christmas practice of baking a loaf in the shape of a boar-pig: the Yule Boar. In some parts of Sweden, a man is wrapped in a skin, and he carries wisps of straw in his mouth so that they look like the bristles of a hog. Queen Elizabeth depended on gifts from courtiers to replenish her wardrobe! In fact, ladies of the Court presented her with the first silk stockings worn in Europe.

To make sure that their crops grew, Polish peasants used to drive harmful spirits away during the 12 days between Christmas and Epiphany. They burned pine resin all night to rout witches from their homes, and on Christmas eve: they wrapped cloth around the base of trees to keep spirits out, and fired shots into fields to prevent supernatural beings from harming the land.

WHILE CHRISTMAS can mean many things to many people, the world itself has some peculiar slang uses.

"Christmas" can mean a sparkling article of clothing or jewelry. In World War II, fliers used the word to describe a shower of metallic foil dropped by an airplane to jam enemy radar systems. And a "Christmas tree" in the slang of drillers means the derrick of an oil or gas well!

Called "Noel" by the French, "Navidad" by the Spanish, "Natale" by the Italians and "Weihnachten" by the Germans; Christmas in our part of the world is derived from the Old English term "Cristes mæsse" (Christ's Mass), a term first used in the 11th century.

The earliest known Christmas hymn is "Jesus refulsit omnium" (Jesus, Light of All the Nations), written by Saint Hilary of Poitiers in the fourth century. However, the first Christmas carol with the traditionally lighter tone was born in Italy among the early Franciscan monks.

Decorating the Christmas tree is attributed to several sources. One story has Martin Luther putting candles on an evergreen to represent the stars on Christmas Eve. Another tells of St. Boniface when he was a missionary in Germany in the eighth century. Trying to discourage a pagan regard for the oak, he led a group of people into a forest and gestured at a fir tree. He said it pointed to the Christ Child, and commanded them to take fir trees into their homes as a sign of their worship.

ANOTHER story credits medieval German drama with the origin of trimming and lighting a Christmas tree. In their plays, the Germans used decked-out fir trees as the "tree of Paradise," representing the Garden of Eden. When authorities frowned on public displays of this sort, the tree was used in the home; a custom gradually evolved of decorating it at Christmas time with cookies, fruit and, eventually, candles.

The custom was introduced in England in 1841 by Prince Albert, Queen Victoria's German husband. German immigrants brought it to America, and the first U.S. Christmas tree is dated 1832, in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

The large part children play in Christmas is legendary. If he was lucky, the 18th century child got a ride on a huge Yule log when it was dragged into the manor house or castle. While caroling and feasting went on during Christmas eve, the youngsters played Snapdragon, a game in which the players tried to snatch a raisin from a bowl of burning spices and spirits.

During the heyday of clipper ships, in the 19th century, American seamen used to bring their families rare and costly presents gathered from the Orient, spices, silks, china and teakwood. Appropriately enough St. Nicholas was the patron saint of sailors as well as children. And appropriately enough, one of the finest and most popular shaving lotion given as a gift for men has a ship on the bottle. While American youngsters are putting their gifts under the tree, Slavic children go to sleep on a bed of straw and hay on Christmas eve, to share in Christ's humble birth.

ON ST. NICHOLAS Eve, Dutch children fill their wooden shoes with straw for Old St. Nick's white horse, hoping to have them filled in with candy and toys. In Italy, children set out their shoes for the female Santa Claus, "La Befana," to fill with gifts. Central American children enjoy the "pinata" game: an earthenware jug is filled with candy and a child is allowed 3 tries to break the pinata with a bat — when he does, the candies are shared by all.

King Henry VII of England, popularized gift-giving in this part of the world. The joy of that night, when the sweet-smelling gifts somehow magically appear, is immortalized for children of all ages in a poem written in 1822 by Dr. Clement C. Moore, a Presbyterian divinity professor; it begins, "Twas the night before Christmas . . . And near the end it says, "Merry Christmas to all!"

A RESOLUTION of tribute and appreciation from the Township of Plymouth was presented to Glassford by Township Supervisor Roy Lindsay.

A PRICELESS RECIPE

In a health emergency, the little slip of paper on which your physician writes his prescription is priceless. You wouldn't part with it under any circumstances.

However, once the emergency has passed, human nature being what it is, you are apt to forget how valuable the prescription really was. Maybe you even grumble a little at its out-of-pocket cost, failing to remember the doctor's professional skill, the countless hours of pharmaceutical research and many other factors that made the "recipe" possible in a health crisis.

Permit our prescription department to fill your next "recipe for health."

OVER 180 persons attended a kickoff dinner held at Calvary Baptist Church last Friday evening to officially launch the building program for this $340,000 edifice to be located at 43065 Joy Road, just east of S. Main St. The modified colonial-style building will have a seating capacity of 700, according to The Rev. Patrick J. Clifford, pastor of the church. Educational and Sunday School facilities will accommodate 1,000. Rev. Clifford said the church will break ground on or about April 1. Construction will take at least a year. Calvary, Rev. Clifford said, has outgrown its present facilities on Ann Arbor Trail and needs more parking area. The church will be on a nine and a half acre site. In the 15 years Rev. Clifford has served at Calvary, the church has grown from 68 members to 268. Members of the congregation are signing "Faith Covenant Cards," pledging to give a certain amount over a three-year period. Bonding and borrowing is planned, if necessary.

Vote Twp. Funds

IN A LETTER to Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay, Evans Products Company said the first gas burner has been installed in the firm's boiler plant in Plymouth Township.

A second burner, capable of burning gas, will be installed next year. Whether gas or some other fuel will be used, the letter said, depends on the outcome of efficiency tests on the first unit.

Evans made the switch in fuel after a heated controversy arose among some residents about enforcement of the Township's air pollution ordinance. Burroughs Corporation has also notified Township officials that it is switching in part, to gas fuel.

Other action at the meeting saw trustees table Fire Department Administrative Board Appointments, agree to a meeting with City and School District officials on the question of a community swimming pool and pass a resolution to waive the four per cent penalty on 1964 taxes collected after Feb. 15.

They authorized purchase of a "Resuscitator" doll for Fire Department use in teaching mouth-to-mouth resuscitation and closed chest cardiac massage, agreed not to spend money for payment of easement fees on the 1964-65 sewer and water program until bonds have been sold and authorized a legal opinion to determine if Dunn Court property owners must give easements for water and sewer facilities.

A resolution honoring Plymouth City Manager Albert F. Glassford was given unanimous approval.

Chandler Rites

(Continued from page one) Bronze Star while aboard an aircraft carrier. After World War II he served as sports writer for The Detroit News from 1946 through 1952 and was featured on some sports television shows during that period.

He was employed as vice-president in charge of public relations for the Michigan Racing Association and also as associate editor of the D.A.C. (Detroit Athletic Club) News, a magazine. Mr. Chandler would have taken office as a Senator next month.

SURVIVING are his wife, Myra; two sons, William, 19 and Thomas, 16; three daughters, Cathy, 14; Cindy, 9, and Jennifer, 1½; his mother and father and a sister, Mrs. Ruth Tomlinson of Galena, Ill.

The body lay in state at the R. G. and G. R. Harris Funeral Home in Livonia. Burial was in Glen Eden Cemetery.

Schools Accept

Permission was granted to Junior High School music director Laurence Livingston to attend the National Midwest Band and Orchestra Clinic in Chicago, Ill. on Dec. 16 through 19.

Livingston is well known in the community for his work in developing the Junior High School band and orchestra into award-winning units known statewide.

A bulletin from O'Dell, Lewlett and Luckenbach Associates, Birmingham architects, indicated that the school additions, currently under construction at Farland and Allen Schools, will finish about a month behind schedule.

ORIGINALLY slated for operation by February, the units will not be ready until about March 15, according to Coordinator James H. Mattison of the architectural firm. Mattison said a delay in delivery of roof decking had slowed the projects.

Committees had little to report to the school board. Employee relations committee chairman Robert Utter said his group had held meetings to discuss overtime planning for non-teaching personnel in the school system.

Decorations the whole Family can Create

A gumdrop star... a frosty Christmas bell... sputnik-like tree ornaments... a delicate angel... are just a few of the oh-so-easy-to-make Yuletide decorations that the whole family will have fun creating. And the cost is just pennies. For a family session, play carols on the phonograph, gather round the kitchen table, and see to it that each member has his share. The materials you'll need to make the Christmas bell are: 2 boxes toothpicks, one 9" x 12" rectangular sheet of styrofoam, one inch thick, one can of snow spray, a table knife, a pencil, a 9" x 12" piece of paper and a pair of scissors. Start by drawing a large bell on the paper. Cut it out and trace the outline on the styrofoam. Carefully cut out the styrofoam bell with a table knife. Placing toothpicks in the styrofoam at regular intervals and put the final touch on it with the snow spray. ANOTHER easy-to-make Christmas decoration is a lovely centerpiece. Ingredients are: 50 toothpicks, one 8" square sheet of styrofoam, one inch thick, 50 red and green gum drops and an 8" x 8" piece of paper. The first step here, also, is to make a pattern on the eight-inch-square piece of paper and trace the outline on the styrofoam. Mount the toothpicks with gumdrops on one end onto the star edges at regular intervals. The toothpicks you have left over should be pierced into the face of the star. Your gumdrop star will look wonderful. Mount it on the wall or use it as a table centerpiece.

Some adult education classes and activities started their second session at Plymouth High School this week, but others were postponed until the week of Jan. 4, according to Director Herbert Woolweaver.

Classes in commercial art, golf lessons, sewing both beginners and advanced, beginning typing, welding and body conditioning for women will begin in January.

Other postponed classes include business machines, beginning and advanced cake decoration, pewter, tumbling for girls, investment principles and shorthand II. Enrollment in most of the classes is still open. To register call Woolweaver, GL 3-3100, ext. 4.

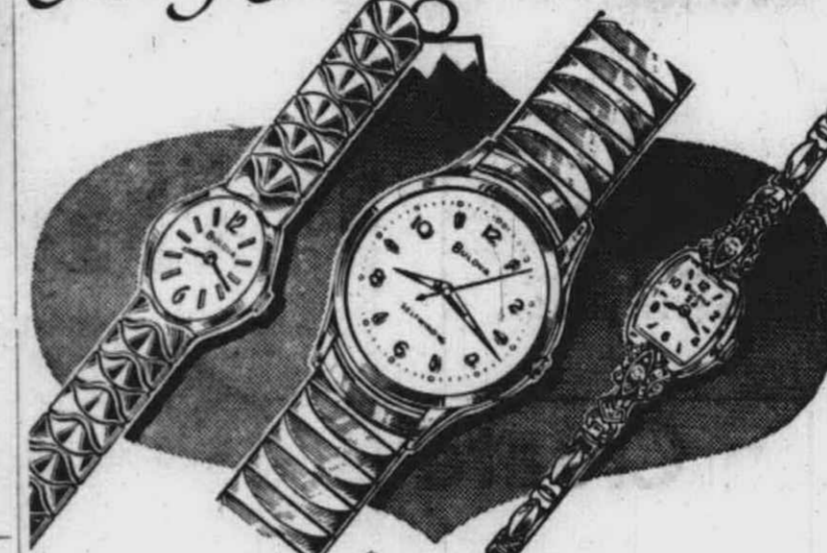

Glassfords

(Continued from page one) "WE GOT three Federal projects," Glassford said, "because the city was wise enough to hire engineers." He predicted a bright future for the area and noted, "We're one community. That's what I like about the Township."

Glassford said he was leaving because of the challenge Albion offered. "It's a challenge of life," he noted. "I wanted to see if I could make a community want and maintain the manager form of government after they adopted it."

A letter was read from Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister, expressing regret at his inability to attend the dinner. City Attorney Edward F. Draugelis acted as master of ceremonies. The invocation and benediction were given by the Rev. Edward W. Castner of Plymouth's First Presbyterian Church.

City Appointees Named At Commission Meeting

Acting City Manager and Director of Public Safety Kenneth Fisher was appointed acting urban renewal director by City Commissioners at their special meeting Monday evening.

Other appointments recommended by Mayor Richard Wernette and approved by Commissioners include John Wallace and Sidney Strong to terms on the Planning Commission expiring Dec. 1, 1967.

William Hartmann was appointed to the Building Authority, and his term will expire Nov. 12, 1967.

Wernette said he would hold the second vacancy on the Building Authority until a new city manager is named, so that he can be appointed to this committee.

A four-year rubbish contract with Denski Brothers providing for collection and disposal of rubbish at a cost to the city of 90 cents a unit per month plus $2,000 a year for service to commercial establishments was approved by commissioners.

TREASURES FROM Plymouth Pantries

A perfect recipe for Christmas Cookies has been suggested by Mrs. Henry T. Nay, Jr., of Sheridan Ave.
The cookies can be baked at your convenience and then stored for as long as one month in an earthenware crock. Just before you want to serve them, decorate them with icing.
The Nays moved to Plymouth from Livonia in July. Mr. Nay is a research engineer for the University of Michigan. They have three children Candace, 14-years-old, Doug, 11, and Jeff, seven.
Still in the midst of straightening her house after moving in, Mrs. Nay is enrolled in an evening course in operation of business machines at Plymouth High School. She has worked as a secretary and would like to work part-time again, she said.
Mrs. Nay said her children enjoy frosting the cookies and it keeps them occupied for quite a while.

CHRISTMAS COOKIES
1 C. butter or margarine
1 1/2 C. powdered sugar, sifted
1 egg
1 tsp. vanilla
2 1/2 C. flour, sifted
1 tsp. baking soda
1 tsp. cream of tartar
1/4 tsp. salt
Cream butter and egg; add dry ingredients and vanilla. Chill thoroughly.
Roll and cut into gay Christmas forms.
Bake at 400 degrees for six to ten minutes on ungreased baking sheet. Frost when cool.

FROSTING
4 C. powdered sugar, sifted
1/4 tsp. salt
3 Tbsp. butter or margarine
7 Tbsp. milk
1 tsp. vanilla
Blend until smooth. Frost.

MIXING UP a batch of her favorite Christmas cookies is Mrs. Henry T. Nay, Jr., of Sheridan Ave. The cookies can be made and then stored in an earthenware crock for as long as one month, according to Mrs. Nay.

Love at First Sight for High School Sweethearts

By Anna Jung

How romantic it seems to the guests at the wedding of John and Jane when Jane's mother explains happily, "Yes, they fell in love at first sight."

"They were high school sweethearts."

Jane was 16 when they met; John was not quite 17. They held hands in the hallways; they danced, skated, went to football games together.

Two years and several hundred kisses later they were married.

John was the oldest of three children. After his father died his mother placed him in charge of his younger sister while she worked.

John lived up to his mother's expectations of him, although at times it was difficult to maintain the authoritative role with his sisters.

Sometimes John had to threaten his sisters with physical harm, and sometimes he had to carry out his threats in order to maintain the role in which his mother had placed him.

He pulled their hair, slapped their faces and shut them in the closet. He made certain that he never left any evidence of mistreatment and mother always believed him when the girls tried to tell her of John's behavior.

From nine to 19 John carried a load of responsibility too big for a "little man."

Why did John accept this responsibility? Because he felt a burden of guilt for his father's death. Like most little boys, John had sometimes resented his father and once or twice he had thought how nice it would be if daddy didn't come home from work, if he and mamma could have the whole evening to themselves after the little ones were in bed.

Mother had lost a baby boy about three years after John was born; his sisters were four and six years younger than he. After the baby's death mother clung to John. Even then John felt a sense of guilt because he was glad the baby was no longer taking up mother's time and attention.

It was nice to be the only boy in the family, especially since his mother and father both seemed to prefer boys to girls.

John's mother and father sometimes blamed each other for the baby's death, probably because each was really feeling guilty about it. The baby had been born with what the parents felt was a hereditary physical defect and the doctor could not convince them that the defect could not be explained on the basis of heredity, birth injury, or neglect after birth.

Like many parents of defective children, John's parents had to find a reason and so they looked to each other for the reason.

When his father died, John felt guilty for the hostile wishes he had directed toward his father, and his guilt was compounded by the earlier guilt induced by his brother's death.

John enjoyed being mother's favorite after father died but he considered his lot a mixed blessing.

At times mother needed to pour out her unhappiness and her loneliness to John, when he would have liked to be playing baseball with the boys, or going skating, or later on, going to dances and parties.

John's early attraction to Jane was an expression of his need to break away from mother. "Falling in love" with Jane meant "falling out of love" with his mother.

Forgotten Children Need Christmas Attention

By Mike Ross

Forgotten is a word most people only like to use with bad memories.

But when those same nine letters are coupled with the eight letters of the word children, they spell out despair, loneliness, and heartbreak.

"Forgotten children" is the title 400 have earned at the Plymouth State Home by not having more than one visit annually.

This scarcity of visits is due to no longer living parents, parents that moved outstate because of jobs, or the most pathetic reason, the parents who are trying to forget that a child of theirs is abnormal — trying to forget by pushing them into obscurity.

These "Forgotten children" can and need to be adopted. Not by legally taking a child into the home of some family, but by acting as a kind of "stand-in" parent for those that don't have courage enough to take the responsibility.

This type of "stand-in" parent remembers the child not only on his birthday and Christmas, but on every other important day of the year.

These could be Valentine's Day, Easter, 4th of July, New Year's or any other date on the calendar with some significance to the child.

But more important, a weekly visit to see how he or she is getting along, a phone call, an unexpected note in the mail, these are the things that do the most good for the child, making him feel he belongs, that there is someone "outside" where someone cares about him.

Since the "red coat is coming" in less than a fortnight, there isn't enough time to "adopt" a child. But there are still two weeks to donate gifts or time. The excuse many people use to not send gifts is that they have no idea what to give.

Their excuse is now void.

By calling GL 3-1500, the Plymouth State Home will give on request a six page catalogue of gifts wanted and needed. The Home is in need of everything from electric shavers to wood blocks, squeeze toys to haircurlers and TV's. Clothes in good condition, may also be donated.

There has never been an over abundance of gifts. But, should Plymouthites jerk open their tight little hearts and equally tight pocketbooks, and the Home receives more than ample gifts, the remainder will go into a stockroom so that when it is a child's birthday, he or she is certain to have at least one gift.

All the donations made will be answered by the receiver if old enough to write, or otherwise by an attendant.

It takes so little to make a child happy. A few hours a week or a small toy would be all that's necessary. The Plymouth State Home is a goldmine of needs and wants just waiting to be mined.

This Christmas, fellow Plymouthites, why not break out of the glitter-lit commercialized season we're all so used to and have a feeling that only a few people around here seem to know about, compassion?

Have a heart, for once... help a child.

A new topic in schools around the country is something called "photo-finish fashions." They're not bought. They're created. For a photo-finish fashion starts with an exchange of school photographs and ends in using them to glorify your friends on belts, notebooks, earrings, scarves—you name it.

Two are pictured. One is a sailor hat; the other, a pencil garnished with a school photograph on a flag of felt. Both are easy to make. Here's how.

THE SAILOR HAT. First glue quarter-inch-wide ribbon to cover six seams of the hat. Cut out 2x3-inch school photographs exactly to fit key tags (available at stationery stores). Glue them on.

Waterproof with clear nail polish. Then punch a hole and thread a quarter-inch-wide ribbon through. Tie a bow and pin the ribbon to the hat. Trim with a topknot of bows and bells.

THE PENCIL. First cut a piece of brightly colored felt into a circle, triangle, square, or whatever shape suits your fancy. Thread a needle through the felt leaving about a half-inch sticking out the bottom.

Glue school photographs to both sides of the felt. Plunge the needle into a pencil eraser.

Fun? Of course. So much so, you'll soon be inventing photo-finish fashions yourself.

D.P.W. Activities

By Supt. Joseph Bida

The Public Works Department was busy the past week plowing snow and finishing the Christmas decorations.

The Department repaired two broken six inch water mains. One on Pacific, north of William, and the other on Dewey between Byron and Simpson. All main streets also were patched twice during the week.

A manhole was repaired on Main St., south of Wing and a 1 1/2" Water Tap was installed on Byron St. for a new apartment building.

46 tons of salt were used during the week bringing the total to 394 tons.

Several citizens have called wondering why the snow was not plowed Saturday. The main reason was due because so many people were not working Saturday so many cars were parked at the curb and the P.W. felt it would be efficient to plow on the week-end. On Monday two underbody trucks and 1 grader were out. The town was covered in two days. Then we received more complaints about drive-ways being plowed with snow. However, the weather warmed up and now most of the streets are clear. Again we thank the citizens for their patience.

Five funerals were conducted at Riverside Cemetery this week.

Voice of Democracy Contest Deadline Set for Dec. 20

Deadline for students to enter essays in the 18th annual Voice of Democracy contest is Sunday, Dec. 20. The contest, open to all tenth, 11th and 12th graders in public, private or parochial schools, is sponsored by the VFW (Veterans of Foreign Wars) and the National and State Associations of Broadcasters. The contest was started 17 years ago to stimulate high school youngsters to think about patriotic subjects and write brief scripts. "The Challenge of Citizenship" is this year's theme. From Plymouth one of the essays will be selected for the state contest. Winner in each of the 50 states will receive an all-expense-paid trip to Washington, D.C. for national awards ceremonies next March and will spend five days in the capital. The National winner will receive a $5,000 scholarship to the college of his choice, and second, third and fourth place winners will receive scholarships for $3,500, $2,500 and $1,500. Rules for the essay include original content, all reference material clearly identified and between three to five minutes in length. The winning writer in Plymouth will tape-record his script, and the essay will be judged by this recording in later stages of the contest. For additional information see Plymouth High School Assistant Principal John M. Hoben.

Seek Homes for Africa and Me Aged, Retarded

The Wayne County Bureau of Social Aid is looking for homes in Plymouth, to place patients being released from State mental institutions and State homes and training schools.

Patients from the hospitals are past 65 years of age, lived in State hospitals for a number of years and have improved to the extent that they can now be released.

The patients from the training schools fall into a younger age group and although mentally retarded they no longer require institutional care and are ready to return to the community.

This home-finding is part of the County Referral Program sponsored by the State Department of Mental Health and the State Department of Social Welfare. The aim of the program is to offer patients an opportunity for community living and provide services for them.

Public assistance through the Old Age Assistance and the Aid to Disabled programs will be given to those patients who are without funds.

A variety of homes is needed. Homes of different cultural backgrounds where a language other than English is spoken; homes in the city, in the Suburbs and farm type homes.

For further information, call the Wayne County Bureau of Social Aid, Home-Finders Staff, 222-3021 or 222-3022.

Life in Sierra Leone's Diamond Mining District

By Lon Dickerson

As we drove through the countless villages of Kono District, men would sit up in their hammocks, women would stop pounding the rice in their mortars, children would halt their rolling hoops, and all would wave.

When we passed over small streams, women would temporarily stop pounding their clothes on the rocks to wave; men would interrupt their bathing and wave.

And, rolling through the countryside, workmen repairing the roads and farmers harvesting the rice would all stop working long enough to wave.

Everywhere it was the same.

People were surprised at the sight of a white man. But more importantly, I think, they wanted to welcome the bookmobile to their district.

Whenever we stopped to buy palm wine, to fill up the gas tank, or just to relax for a moment, people would flood around the truck and ask us to sell books to them. With deep regret I had to inform them that we could only supply books to some of their primary schools.

Each night we returned to our base in Koidu. Being in the center of diamond mining country, we were appropriately living at one of the laborers' camps provided by Sierra Leone Selection Trust Limited.

Kono District is the home of the Kono tribe. But the lure of sudden wealth has brought people to Koidu from all 16 of the major tribal groupings found in Sierra Leone. Thus there was a wide spectrum of people in this camp.

The man with whom we lived was a Temne. When he saw the driver of the bookmobile, who is a lifelong friend of his, he immediately offered us everything at his disposal.

I had earlier become the driver's brother (whose name is Daddy and about whom I will write in future articles) so, everywhere I went, I was readily accepted.

Most white men, including some Peace Corps Volunteers unfortunately, are not readily accepted into the traditional African society. This is mostly due to the fact that they don't want to do so, preferring their own circle of friends from their home country. It is a carry over from colonial rule. Luckily, this barrier has not existed for me and most other volunteers.

Our one-room house was one of several connecting houses in a row. There were two windows and a door. Everything was very clean and comfortable.

Our meals were prepared by one of the host's two wives. Breakfast always consisted of a mixture of sardines, minced onions, and hot peppers which you scooped up with pieces of freshly baked bread. Supper was always, rice topped with a different spicy sauce each night. The ones I had on this particular trip were variations of beef, fish, and potato leaves.

I found all of the food very good. Everyone (the host, Daddy, and myself) ate from a common dish. Despite the fact I was always offered a spoon, I choose to eat with my right hand along with them.

If I bathed during the day, it was from a bucket of water and inside a special enclosed area. At night we bathed behind the house under the cloak of darkness.

There were several outdoor bathrooms in the camp. And while on trek the nearest one was the nearest bush.

Upon returning to the camp each day the house was filled with people who wanted to meet the American who had accepted their way of life. Although several of them spoke English, we always conversed in Krio.

Everyone wanted me to answer questions about the United States and how I liked Sierra Leone. They all liked America and hoped to visit it someday. They had followed the U.S. Presidential election closely, and were happy that President Johnson had received an overwhelming majority.

We were "dashed" (given gifts of) fruit, palm wine, beer, and other like commodities. I could not help but be overwhelmed by their hospitality and generosity.

At night our host moved in with his wives and left his house to us. Using a piece of woven material called country cloth for a blanket I slept for the first time without my troublesome mosquito net.

I left these people reluctantly, but promised to come back when the bookmobile came to the district in January.

Kiwanians Get View of Future

Life will be far different in the 1970's and 1980's, according to predictions made to Plymouth Kiwanians last Tuesday evening by Elmer Witt, a Detroit Edison commercial and industrial lighting specialist.

He said homes will be built so they can be readily turned in any direction and they will be constructed in modules or individual rooms.

As children are born, another room may be added. When the children marry and leave home, parents may give them the room as a wedding present as each room will be self-contained.

Our homes will be completely and automatically climate controlled for heat, cooling and air purifying, Witt said. The housewife will run her home automatically with a console directing automatic machines to clean the house, wash and dry the clothes and put them away, mow the lawn and water the grass. A closed circuit TV will keep small children under constant surveillance.

Telephone calls will turn on the oven or operate any of the other mechanical servants. We will be able to shop from home by TV-telephone for specially prepared food that will not spoil for several years and does not need refrigeration. We will use inexpensive paper clothes that can be thrown away when soiled.

Witt predicted a drastically reduced work week and startling changes in private and public transportation. Included in the things he forecast were completely automatic cars and speedy monorail systems.

The United States will have an estimated population of 230 million by 1975. New drugs will almost eliminate pain and suffering and vital organ transplants by skilled doctors will become common.

Bob Utter, the U.S. representative to the Chartering of a Kiwanis Club in Curacao, presented a flag from the new Kiwanis Club to President Gerry Fitch for the Plymouth Club. The Curacao Kiwanis Club was sponsored by the Rideau Kiwanis Club of Ottawa, Canada.

Curacao is one of the six islands of the Netherland Antilles with predominantly Dutch and native population.

Plymouth City Manager Al Glassford was a guest at Tuesday's meeting. Norb Lofy will present a Family Night Program on Tuesday, Dec. 22.

Installation of 1965 Officers and Board of Directors will take place on Jan. 5. Jan. 12 is President's Night. Ken Blyth of the C & O Railroad will be the guest speaker on Jan. 19.

DBT Dedicates New Main Office

Detroit Bank & Trust dedicated its new multimillion dollar main office in downtown Detroit on Saturday, Dec. 6. The ceremony included numerous tributes to Joseph M. Dodge — honorary chairman of the bank — who died four days earlier.

Mayor Jerome P. Cavanaugh joined Raymond T. Perring, chairman of Detroit Bank & Trust, and Charles H. Hewitt, president in paying homage to Dodge who had led the bank for more than 30 years until his retirement in January, 1963. A message from Governor George Romney lamenting Dodge's death was also read.

The dedication ceremony was attended by a large number of business, cultural, educational and political leaders.

During the program, a Michigan Historical Commission marker — commemorating the site of Fort Lernout where the American flag first flew over Detroit — was unveiled. The bank's new headquarters stands on the site of the fort.

FOLLOWING the unveiling, Detroit Bank & Trust was presented with the Award of Merit of the American Association for State and Local History.

The program also included the presentation to Wayne State University of artifacts from Fort Lernout. The artifacts were given by Sam Minskoff & Sons, builder-owners of the Detroit Bank & Trust Building, and came from a portion of the southwest bastion of the fort which was discovered during construction of the 26-story skyscraper.

The bank's new main office is located on the first seven floors and two lower levels of the 26-story Detroit Bank & Trust Building which adjoins it — formerly the trust department of the bank. The latter has been completely remodeled at a cost of approximately $2-million and is connected with the skyscraper by a three-story glass-enclosed link.

Serving As We Would Wish to be Served

We are deeply grieved to learn of the untimely death of State Senator Elect Paul Chandler. In our opinion he was a noble gentleman and an honorable and responsible politician.

Too many people prefer the laziness of non-partisanship. They abdicate their birth right and refuse responsibility for active participation in the work of government. These are the do-nothings who chide the politician yet deny their own failure to come to grips with issues.

Paul Chandler was not one of these. He truly believed in the principles of his party, and proudly fought for them.

We disagree with the political philosophy which Mr. Chandler espoused but we always welcomed his honest debate and heritage. For only through fair controversy and debate will the best of political work be accomplished.

Paul Chandler believed this too. We count his passing as a great loss to our community.

Junior Cage Unit Proposed

Expressions of interest in a proposed Plymouth Junior Basketball League are being sought today by a backers of such a league.

It is expected that play would start on Saturdays in the latter part of January, according to a steering committee report by John Van Wagoner, Howard Oldford and Joe Bida.

All Plymouth community youngsters from 8-12 on Dec. 31 are eligible. No experience is necessary, just a desire to play the game.

Registrations and tryouts are to be accomplished shortly after New Years with practice to start soon thereafter. The registration fee for the first season will be $7.50 for the first boy in each family and $4.00 for additional youngsters of the same family.

REGISTRATION fees will cover uniforms, league sweatshirts, basketball equipment, referees, etc. Leaders of the proposed league expect to have between 6-8 major league teams and 6-8 minor league teams.

The majors will consist mostly of 11 and 12 year olds, while minor league teams will have 8-10 year olds. It is expected that there will be about 10-11 members of each team.

Initial backers of the Plymouth little league basketball program include the Jay Cees, leaders of little league baseball and interested fathers in the Plymouth Community.

DATA SHEETS and "expressions of interest" forms can be picked up at the Plymouth City Hall. Additional information can be obtained by calling John Van Wagoner (453-8023), Howard Oldford (453-7538) or Joe Bida (453-1556).

THIS TEN-pointer was bagged by Herman White of 11846 Riverside Dr. at 2 p.m. on the opening day of Michigan's elk season. Conservation Department officials estimated live weight of the bull at 520 pounds. A neighbor had to help White drag the elk out with a tractor, just northeast of Wolverine. White, who does a lot of hunting, will have the head mounted and eat the meat.

In a foul-loaded basketball game, Plymouth defeated a rough Northville team 60-52 for its first victory of the season last Friday.

The Rocks trailed 5-0 early in the first period, but poured in 20 points before the first quarter ended to go ahead 20-8.

Sixty fouls were called in the game, including three technical fouls. Thirty-one personal fouls were called on Northville and 26 on Plymouth. The Rocks also got three technicals, including one to Coach Charles Ketterer.

AS THE game got rough in the latest stages, the foul on Ketterer was the weirdest of all. Called by official Wayne LaNeave, who must be a prime candidate for the worst high school referee in Michigan, the foul was inflicted on Coach Ketterer for not talking!

For over a period and a half Plymouth fans and Coach Ketterer watched the most fantastic overlooking of deliberate fouls by Northville that this writer has ever seen.

Finally, after some comments by the Plymouth Coach, official LaNeave approached Ketterer and he was white with rage. "Listen to me," he spluttered and at that moment Ketterer turned his head.

LaNeave almost swallowed his whistle, blew it and pointed at Ketterer. "Foul on you!" he screamed.

Despite the lopsided officiating by LaNeave, Plymouth managed to scoot to a 30-32 halftime lead and to lead 44-17 at the beginning of the final period.

five field goals and eleven free throws.

PLYMOUTH, however, put together an amazingly well balanced scoring effort with five players getting 10 points or better. Garry Grady led with 14 points, while Jim Lake added 12. Dave Hollingsworth and Dave Tidwell had eleven each and John Hannula added ten.

In the JV game, preceding the varsity encounter, the young Rocks led Northville all the way to win 60-44. It was the second win against one loss for the JV's.

The JV's led 13-10 at the first quarter and 33-17 at the half. They pushed that margin to 49-30 at the beginning of the fourth quarter.

FOUR OF the JV Rocks were in double figures in the scoring column. Mike L...ley and Bob McCall had eleven points each, while John Davis and Dennis Rickard were right behind with 10 points each.

Swimmers Open League With Win

Plymouth swimmers won their second dual meet of the season 61-44 against Bentley last week in the Plymouth pool. The win, the first Suburban Six League encounter, got the Defending Champions Rock tankers off to a winning start in the league race.

It was a close one. Plymouth took an 8-0 lead in the meet when Jeff Hoffman, Don Norman, Tim Wernette and Al Saxton combined for a 1:54.1 winning effort in the 200 yard medley relay.

The Rocks Jeff Haarbauer and Dan Decker were second and third in the 200 yard free style as Bentley closed the gap to 12-9. In the next event Plymouth's Dick Berry won the 50 yard free style and Dave Clark was third as the Rocks pushed their lead to 18-12.

Bentley came back to go ahead in the 200 yard individual medley as Doug Jaskierny was third for Plymouth. Bentley now led 20-19.

John Herter won the diving for Plymouth and Dick Jaskierny was third for Plymouth. Bentley now led 20-19.

John Herter won the diving for Plymouth and Dick Lorenz was third. Plymouth edged in front again 25-23. Haarbauer was second in the 100 yard butterfly and Tim Wernette was third, as Bentley regained the lead 29-28.

JEFF BURKE and Dick Berry got the lead back for Plymouth again by placing one-two in the 100 yard freestyle. Plymouth now led 37-29.

Hoffman and John Skinner gave the Rocks some breathing space by finishing one-two in the 100 yard backstroke. Plymouth now increased its lead to 43-32.

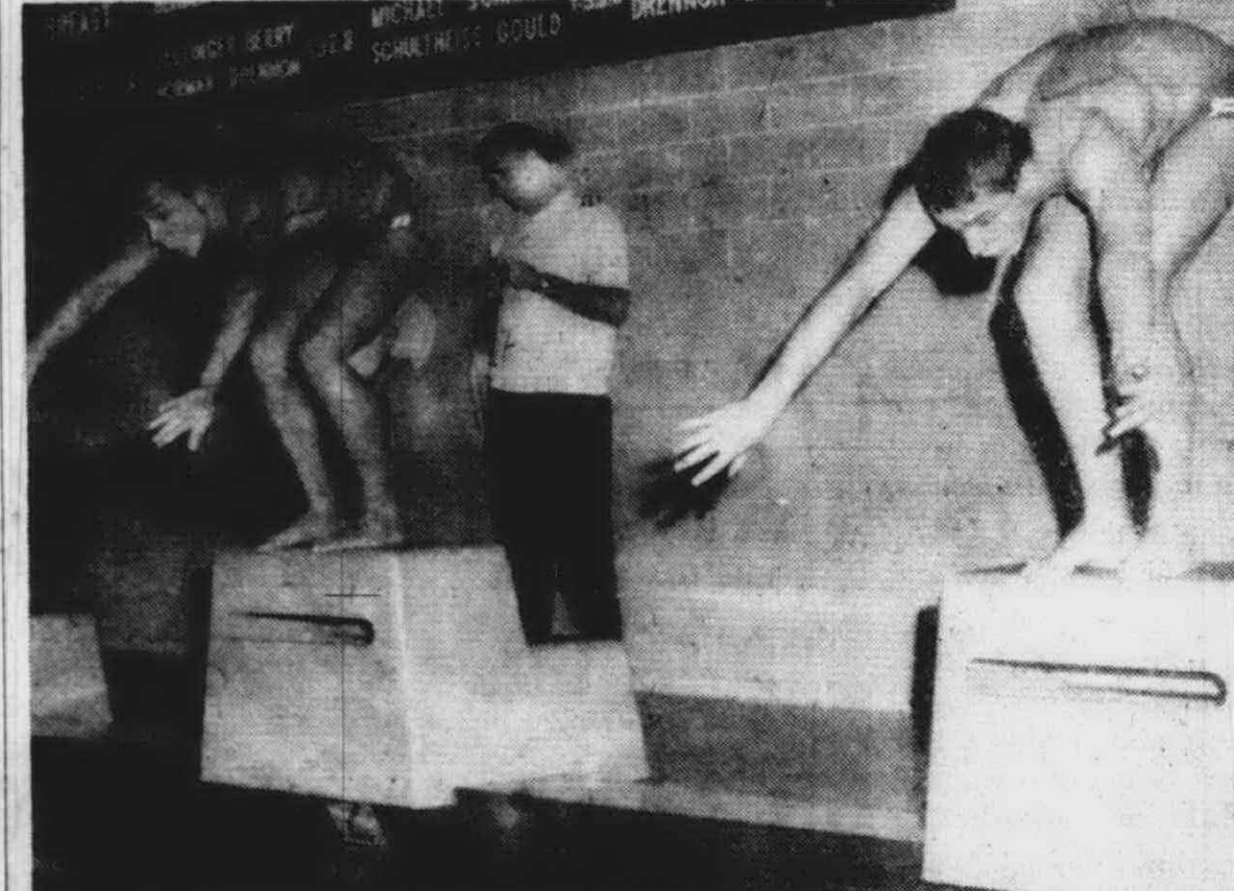

Bentley came back to win the 400 yard freestyle, however, as Jaskierny was third and Decker second for Plymouth. The Rocks now led 47-37.

THE ROCKS wrapped up the meet in the next event as Norman won the 100 yard breaststroke and Dan Gustafson was third. The score then read 53-40.

Plymouth added another first in the last event, the 200 yard freestyle, as Burke, Dan Cook, Russ Crosby and Saxton combined to win this event. The final score read 61-44.

"It was a close one", swimming coach John McFall said after the meet, but I was proud of the way our boys performed. It was a team effort all the way."

Cagers Lose At Bentley

Bentley, the defending Suburban Six League champions, handed Plymouth's basketball team its first Suburban Six League loss of the season, 50-39 last Friday in Livonia.

The Bulldogs took a 12-8 first quarter lead and were never headed after that. At the half it was Bentley by a 29-17 margin, as Plymouth had trouble finding the range in Bentley's dimly lit gymnasium.

The Rocks trailed 42-26 as the final period began, and outsourced Bentley 13-8 in the final quarter, but it was too late.

Bentley's Bob Elsner led both teams, scoring 19 points on eight field goals and one free throw. Gary Grady topped Plymouth with 11 points on five field goals and one free throw. Plymouth's John Hannula scored 10 points on one field goal and eight free throws.

In a contest preceding the varsity game, Bentley JV's beat Plymouth 46-29. It was the first loss of the season for Plymouth's JV team.
