

Committee Recommends Against Twp. Police Force

A special committee recommended that Plymouth Township should not form its own police department in a final report submitted last night (Tuesday) at the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees meeting. The report said in part:

"Because of the cost factor and the apparent inefficiency of a small police department this committee suggests that establishment of our own police force would not be feasible."
The report urged a series of discussions with the City of Plymouth for police protection and sought the appointment of a committee for such discussions.

At the City Commission meeting Monday night, the Commission agreed to work with whatever township forms. The Commission heard the report read, and reviewed a letter sent to township trustee Richard Lauterbach in April, 1964 by then City Manager Albert Glassford. The letter indicated the Commission's position at that time, which had been one of co-operation.

Lauterbach, chairman of the special police committee, submitted the report. The committee found that minimal protection would cost the Township at least $150,000. Because of this, the report states, the committee looked elsewhere, getting estimates from the Sheriff's Department and the City police department.

The cost of one car in the Township manned around the clock was esti-ated at $50,261 by the Wayne County Sheriff's office. City officials estimated the cost for the same protection at $46,930.

The report cited figures from the Michigan Municipal League, which would indicate that with the Township's population of 10,000 at least 6 officers would be needed.

Members of the Committee were Lauterbach, Maurice Breen, Clarence DuCharme, Paul Dwyer and David Katke.

School Finances; How Pay as You Go Setup Works

EDITOR'S NOTE: On Monday, March 23, Plymouth Community School District voters will go to the polls to vote on a request for 3 1/4 mills for school operating expenses for the next five years. This is the second of three stories on tax millage, school financing and future planning.

It is one of the four schools of 41 in Wayne County that are on the pay-as-you-go basis: River Rouge, Riverview and Allen Park are the only other schools using the system.

Pay-as-you-go is normally possible under only one condition — a low current total indebtedness. Plymouth's modified system works this way:

The state allows the school to borrow money without voter approval in anticipation of forthcoming taxes at a rate of 2 per cent of the state equalized valuation — after the deduction of total current indebtedness. The money may be borrowed for building sites, new schools and renovations. It may NOT be borrowed for operation expenses.

It must be realized the money is being borrowed in ADVANCE of taxes. The money has been voted for in millage issues and would come in normal tax returns. The pay-as-you-go system thrives on the ability to get tax money before it is actually paid. And economists agree the system could go on forever.

As stated, to get the money, the school system needs a low total indebtedness. The formula the state allows on current figures works this way:

USING THE school district's equalized valuation of $106 million (1964's) times 2 per cent ($106,000,000 x 2%), a figure of $2,120,000 is reached.

Now, the school's current total indebtedness is subtracted thus:

$2,120,000
- 1,360,000
$ 760,000

The $760,000 is how much the school can borrow as of April when the debt reaches its low point.

What is the current debt? The district will have paid about $290,000 of the 1955 bond issue, leaving a total of $810,000 for that debt, by April. Also, $475,000 has been paid as final payment on loans made in the summer of '63. This leaves only last

Milliken Draws Crowd Of 300 Thursday Nite

Contrary to popular belief, a divided government in Lansing contains a mandate from the people for both parties to search for avenues of co-operation.

That's what Michigan's handsome, young Lt. Governor, William G. Milliken, told a capacity crowd of nearly 300 Thursday evening at Lofy's.

The crowd braved messy, rainy weather to attend a special evening meeting of the highly successful Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Businessmen's Forum series.

Noting that some are saying that, because state government is divided politically, we are headed for trouble, Milliken commented: "It is absolutely vital that members of both parties find ways to work together."

"In my judgement," he continued, "there is good reason to believe that both political parties will work toward that end." It is possible, Milliken said, that state government could break down. But he commented: "As one Lt. Governor, I will do everything possible to see that it won't happen."

Speaking quietly and confidently, Milliken moved rapidly through a series of legislative topics that face the State of Michigan.

Commenting on Governor George Romney's record budget, up $9 million from last year, he said the increase was due, primarily, to the rapid rise in the state's population.

"WHEN YOU recognize that every Fall, schools will enroll 60,000 more students for the foreseeable future," he said, "you realize that we must find a way of doubling facilities and expanding our institutions of higher learning."

"Directly or indirectly," he went on, "our problems are related to the population explosion."

"If a policy is not framed in reference to population growth, it will have been framed in futility."

Romney's budget, the Lt. Governor said, will merely be adequate for this year. The fiscal year surplus of $105 million expected in June will be pared by $32 million if the Governor's recommendations are followed, he said.

If the increase in services needed the following year is approved, the surplus will be wiped out.

Milliken called for a long-term program to study the state's income and budget needs. He cited economies in Michigan government that will exceed $2 million this fiscal year.

Termining tax reform an "explosive political issue," the Lt. Governor said three things are required:

(1) Agreement among all concerned that tax reform is necessary.
(2) Groups (such as the Plymouth Chamber) who are willing to back needed reforms.

(3) Close bi-partisan co-operation aimed at "bi-partisan tax reform."

"If we really want to put our house in order, we have only one alternative," Milliken charged, "— a thorough and complete and courageous overhaul of the tax structure."

"We need the wisdom and courage to do that job now," he said.

Taking note of progress in the automobile industry and a general feeling of confidence in the state, Milliken nevertheless pointed to continuing unemployment as the number one challenge to be faced in the years ahead.

Judge to Rule on Draugelis Eligibility

Eligibility of Plymouth City Attorney Edward F. Draugelis for the office of municipal judge may be decided later this week at a hearing before Wayne Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid of Detroit.

The hearing has been set for Friday at 2 p.m. and will include two cases, argued concurrently.

A show cause order was issued last Thursday by Judge Rashid after petition by Clifford H. Manwaring, third place candidate in the Feb. 15 primary election that saw Draugelis win by a lopsided margin.

Manwaring is being represented by Robert B. Delaney, a Plymouth attorney.

By agreement on both sides, the case will be heard in conjunction with one filed on behalf of the City of Plymouth by Attorney William Sempiner. Draugelis will be represented by his law partner, John Ashton.

Draugelis, City Clerk Richard Shafer and the Plymouth Election Commission have been named as defendants.

Manwaring will petition the court for a declaratory judgment to determine the eligibility of Draugelis for the office of municipal judge.

CONTACTED by The Plymouth Mail, Delaney, who will represent Manwaring, said he will — in effect — ask that Manwaring's name be placed on the April 5 ballot if Draugelis is declared ineligible for the post.

Delaney said he would argue during the course of the hearing that Draugelis stated he had sought the opinion of the Attorney General for the State of Michigan and had otherwise carefully checked provisions of the State law before announcing his candidacy.

In addition, it will be argued that Draugelis, at the time he claimed eligibility, was the city attorney for the City of Plymouth and a member of the Plymouth Election Commission.

Manwaring will claim that, prior to and up to the time of the nominations, he relied upon the opinions of the city attorney (Draugelis) based upon the alleged ruling of the attorney general's office and, therefore, took no action.

Also referred to will be the opinion handed down to State Rep. James Tierney of Garden City, at the request of The Plymouth Mail. The opinion, from the office of Attorney General Frank Kelley, holds that Draugelis is ineligible under Section 8.2 of the Charter of the City of Plymouth.

NON-PARTISAN:

GOP Sets Meeting Of City Candidates

A non-partisan meeting at which candidates for the City Commission will speak will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union building at 500 S. Harvey St.

The program, open to the public, is sponsored by the Republican organization. All candidates are expected to appear. The general election will be Monday, April 5.

Incumbent City Commissioners Robert Beyer, 725 N. Mill St., James Houk, 346 Irving St., and Robert L. Smith, 700 Pacific Ave. will be seeking second terms.

THE FOURTH seat up for election is that held by Plymouth Mayor Richard Wernette who is ineligible under city law to seek another consecutive term of office. The law provides a commissioner may serve only two terms in succession.

George Hudson, 706 Burroughs St., Eldon W. Martin, 880 Fairground St., James B. McKeon, 238 N. Evergreen

St., and Arthur L. Shepard are the other candidates seeking election to the four open seats on the commission.

City Commissioner and Wayne County Supervisor A. E. Vallier is unopposed for another term on the County Board of Supervisors.

Newsboys Still Needed

Applications are still being taken from Plymouth Community youngsters for jobs as carrier boys for The Plymouth Mail.

The Mail will switch from mail to newsboy delivery in the near future. Interested boys, 11 years or older, may apply at the YMCA youth employment service at The Plymouth Community Federal Credit Union Building at 500 S. Harvey St. in Plymouth or by calling 453-2904.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON:

To Feature Original Overture at Concert

The Plymouth Symphony Orchestra's fifth concert of its 19th season, featuring an original overture written by one of its members, and a violin solo, will be held Sunday, March 14 at the High School auditorium beginning at 4 p.m.

"An April Overture," written by Lee Eitzen, was first performed in 1950.

A soloist, Emily Mutter Austin, will play a concerto for violin by Sibelius.

Also on the program is John Addison's "Wellington Suite," and "Variations on a Theme of Haydn," written by Johannes Brahms.

The program, free to the public, had been originally scheduled for Feb. 8, but was postponed due to a previous commitment by Miss Austin.

EITZEN is a resident of Detroit and Director of music at Osborne High School. He holds advanced degrees, including a Ph. D. from the University of Iowa. His "April Overture" was written as part of a master's thesis at the University of Michigan.

Miss Austin began her musical career at four and soon became a protegee of the late Frederick Stock, conductor of the Chicago Symphony. Today she is in the first violin section of the Detroit Symphony. She joined the Plymouth Symphony as concertmaster in October of 1957, and has remained with the group since.

Church Seeks Rental Of School Facilities

Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister was given permission by the Plymouth Community Board of Education at their regular meeting Monday evening to meet with Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ officials concerning renting school space to the group for church services.

The church has requested permission to rent Allen School's multi-purpose room for a definite length of time while their church is being constructed. Site of the new church will be at the corner of Ann Arbor and McClumpha Roads.

Isbister is to bring back specific ground rules for the congregation's use of the school for the board's approval.

Community relations committee chairman Ernest

Henry told the board his committee plans to work primarily through parent-teacher organizations to encourage passage of the millage issue at the March 29 election. The school district is requesting voter approval of an additional 3/4 mills tax for five years.

Change orders in the amount of $9,374 were approved by the board for changes for the vocational education addition at Plymouth High School required following inspection of plans by the Fire Marshall and Wayne County Department of Health.

THE FIRE Marshall required changes ($649 cost) in the type of doors proposed for the building and in additional fire stop insulation material. (Continued on Page 2)

Appoints Committees For Security Group

Ray R. Eppert, President of Burroughs Corporation, Chairman of the Civilian Membership Committee, National Security Seminar, has announced the appointment of six divisional chairmen:

Dean Victor A. Rapport, Professor of International Studies, Wayne State University, R. T. Johnston, Vice President, Marsh & McLennan Business, Judge Edward J. Piggins Civic & Religious, Mrs. Raymond Dix, League of Women Voters Women, Leon J. Jacoby, R. Adm. USNR (Ret.) Veterans.

The National Security Seminar, conducted by nationally recognized military leaders under direction of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces, will be held at the Rackham Auditorium, March 29 to April 9. It is a broad presentation which clarifies the interrelated civilian-military industrial and economic problems in mobilizing resources for the preservation of national security.

"We are putting on a strong campaign for attendance by men and women in all walks of life," Eppert says. "This seminar is of utmost importance to all citizens, because, as the last war proved, all citizens can be involved. It is vital for citizens to understand our measures to prevent war, and our preparations if it should occur."

Girl Scouts Mark Group's Founding

Plymouth Girl Scouts kicked off Girl Scout Week Sunday with a community-wide program in the Plymouth High School auditorium.

This year the Scouts mark their 53rd anniversary and the celebration's theme is "A Bridge to the Future." March 12 is the actual anniversary of the founding of the first troop in Savannah, Ga. by Juliette Gordon Low.

There are more than 700 Girl Scouts in the Plymouth Community.

The program, in charge of Col. Robert R. Ploger, U.S. Army, is far-ranging. It covers military, political, economic, and diplomatic situations throughout the world, geopolitics, geoeconomics; our human, industrial, mineral, power, fuel and agricultural resources, logistics and related subjects. There is a total of 32 lectures in the complete course.

The seminar is sponsored by the Greater Detroit Board of Commerce, co-sponsored by the University of Detroit, Michigan, Wayne State and Michigan State.

Church Seeks

Board member J. D. McLaren voted against approving the change orders after raising the question of the architect's responsibility for thorough checking of health department ventilation regulations.

The board also approved plans and specifications for the high school boiler pending final approval by the state fire marshal and Wayne County Health Department.

In other action, the board approved a school calendar for the 1965-66 school year, approved a year's leave of absence for elementary school teacher Ruth Lindsey so she can earn her master's degree and set up a breakfast with State Representative James Tierney Saturday morning, March 20 to air opinions.

Guest Minister to Talk at Methodist Church March 14

First Methodist Church of Plymouth and Second Grace Methodist Church of Detroit, will exchange ministers and choir for their Sunday, March 14 services.

Coming to the Plymouth Church will be the Rev. Alvin Burton. He and the choir with the assistance of First Methodist's associate minister the Rev. Peter Schweitzer and worship assistant Sanford Burr will present the worship service and sermon for both the 9:30 and 11 a.m. services.

The Second Grace Church was the first Detroit area Methodist Church to enter the Detroit Conference from the Central jurisdiction of the church.

Draugelis

(Continued from Page 1) Another point that will be made is that Draugelis, prior to filing for the primary election, filed an affidavit of qualifications with the state, based upon the affidavit, was certified as a valid candidate.

Such action, it will be argued, was taken without first obtaining an independent and impartial determination of Draugelis's eligibility.

COMPARATIVE GOVERNMENT CLASS students at Plymouth High School traveled to Lansing March 2 to watch the state legislature in action. The group also talked with Representative James Tierney and visited the State Supreme

Minister Group Hits At Selma Incidents

The Plymouth Ministerial Association hit out at recent police brutality in Selma Ala., in a letter sent to United States Representatives this week.

The letter was signed by The Rev. Edward W. Castner, president of the association. The letter called the action of March 7 a "violation of the fundamental dignity of man through police brutality." The letter also urged the government to take steps to see that it didn't happen again.

The letter was signed by The Rev. Edward W. Castner, First Presbyterian Church, The Rev. John Miller of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Epiphany, The Rev. David Romberg of the Lutheran Church of the Risen Christ, The Rev. Ronald Phelps, Chaplain at Wayne County Training School, The Rev. Hugh White and The Rev. Peter Switzer, First Methodist Church, Brigadier General Ernest Hammer of the Salvation Army of Plymouth, The Rev. Dr. David Davies and The Rev. Peter Beckwith, St. John's Episcopal Church, The Rev. Dr. Henry J. Walch, First United Presbyterian Church of Plymouth.

Seek Poison Prevention Drive

The 3,000-member Michigan State Pharmaceutical Association, which initiated a widely-acclaimed poison prevention campaign last year, has announced plans to renew its campaign efforts throughout the state March 14-20 during National Poison Prevention Week.

The announcement was made by MSPA president Royce N. Nephart, R. Ph. of Traverse City, Michigan who said last year's campaign which used a newly designed warning symbol attracted attention from as far away as Australia and other foreign sages, the posters will note the availability of free warning labels at community pharmacies. Mr. Nephart said that the number of accidental poisonings in Michigan last year makes the pharmacists' efforts to reduce these tragic figures valid and necessary. He cited statistics issued by the Michigan Department of Health which revealed that nearly 3,000 cases of accidental poisoning were reported in the state in 1963 and that 2,600 of these involved children

In addition, 54 deaths resulted from accidental poisoning, Nephart said, and 86 different substances were identified as the toxic agent. He said aspirin was the most frequently used, followed by bleach, soaps and detergents. Summer proved to be the most hazardous time of the year by a considerable margin, accounting for 1,016 accidental poisonings from July through September.

Insecticides, lighter fluid, furniture oil and perfumes were also high on the list of toxic agents. Two-year olds appear to be the most vulnerable to accidental poisonings with 1,040 reported cases; followed by one-year olds, 731; the three-year olds, 530; the four-year olds, 168; and those under one year, 106. In each age group, there were more boys involved than girls. Males were also involved more frequently in the total number of cases, and more males died than females.

The Michigan-made anti-poison symbol was created to visually impress the preschooler and the young school student and was not intended to replace the more familiar skull and crossbones.

WARNING

Seek Workshop for Mentally Retarded

A "Sheltered Workshop" or "Activity Center" for the mentally retarded who no longer qualify for the school special education programs is the goal of a new committee being formed in Plymouth. Interested groups include the Jaycees, AAUW, and the Plymouth Retarded Parents Association.

Many individuals are already working toward making a "Sheltered Workshop" a reality, including Bill Green, Plymouth High School Special Education Teacher; Anna Jung, Family Service Director; Alice Mohrhardt, Chairman of the AAUW Community Problems Committee; and Wendell Smith, Michigan Jaycee Public Relations Chairman.

A Townhall meeting open to the public has been scheduled. John Murawski, Jaycee Vice President, announced that the meeting has been tentatively scheduled for March 15th. The purpose of this meeting is to stimulate public opinion, and a willingness to adopt a Plymouth Area rehabilitation of the adult retarded.

The outcome hopefully would be the establishment of a Fact-Finding Committee to work with local retarded children's associations to determine the need, fund source, and support. A study committee may be formed of private citizens to operate at the community level to promote the welfare of the mentally retarded, according to the spokesman for the group, Wendell Smith. This is a community level problem which should be solved, if possible by citizens, NOT by passing the problem on to tax supported institutions. These are home-ground problems which can be solved by home area community action.

City DPW Activities

By Superintendent Joseph Bida

The past week found the Public Works Department busy cleaning up from the Big Snow of 1965. Due to the fact of the warming weather the department was afraid of the results of the thawing, so all men were put out to clean snow from the tops of catch basins. Also, city parking lots were cleaned and streets out to the Riverside Cemetery were plowed. There were two funerals held there this week.

The cost of the snow removal from February 25 thru March 4, 1965 was approximately $6,236.59. At the time of this article the department hopes to have things back to normal.

The department at this time would like to thank all the citizens for their cooperation during the Big Storm. Also, we would like to thank the many citizens who wrote us letters to show their gratitude for the work that was done. Many thanks to the City Commission for the Resolution of thanks to this department. All of these compliments were greatly appreciated by the department after many hours of hard work. Mr. Bida, Supt. of Public Works, also wrote a letter to the men responsible for the fine job done. Also, at this time I would like to thank my secretary, Evelyn Stanable, for a fine job done in handling the phone calls during two hectic days.

I am sorry one name was omitted from the list of men who worked so hard and long, his name is Alvin Diedrick and Al is one of our most conscientious and dependable employees.

The department has added two new Ford Dump Trucks and a new Caterpillar 12 Motor Grader to their list of equipment.

SPORTS CORRECTION

There is an error on the sports page. The Plymouth Junior Baseball League registrations will be held Saturday, March 20 and 27 at the American Legion Hall on Sheldon Road. Originally the program issued by the registrar department said the registration would take place at the high school.

The Trading Post Black Hawks were defeated by Livonia in three periods of overtime, 2-1. Ken Wilins got the lone goal for Plymouth.

March 2 the Bantam T-Birds lost to Dearborn Heights, 3-2. Pat Cosgrove got both Plymouth goals.

All playoff games are over for Plymouth. On Sunday, March 14, the VFW Pee Wees will travel to Tillisburg, Ontario to play an exhibition game against Walled Lake.

School Finances

year's bond issue to pay for, $550,000.
$ 810,000 ('55)
+ 550,000 ('64)
$1,360,000 Total Debt

Last year's two-year bond issue was the first of its kind. Previously, tax anticipation notes were signed for the extra money. Both the short term bonds and the notes are essentially the same.

This building and site sinking fund had been making these loans on short term tax anticipation notes up until last year, borrowing for about 18 months or 18 months in advance. The $475,000 was the final payment on this type of borrowing.

LAST YEAR, the school went to short term bonds — 2 years. The $550,000 will thus be paid over the period of the next two years.

The proposed $750,000 next year will be on a 5-year bond. Generally, as the bonds get longer in term, interest rates go up.

School officials plan to borrow $750,000 this year and about $700,000 next year on the plan, giving the district a total of $1,450,000 in two years. The money will be used, in the words of Superintendent of Schools Russell Isbister, "to take care of our elementary school problems in the next two years, to make minor changes on the high school boilers, and to renovate three rooms in the high school."

Plans call for additions at Allen, Bird and Gallimore elementary schools. Phase One of a second Lake Pointe school and another elementary school whose site is, yet, undetermined.

Now, one more thing. The school district can ALSO borrow money for operating expenses in anticipation of taxes for a short term — 6 months.

This it did last year — $600,000 — and it was paid back this month. This should not be confused with the schools' ability to borrow 2 per cent of the state equalized valuation less total current debt for building and site funds.

How is school money spent? First, all tax receipts are placed in proper funds as soon as they are received. The three funds are operational, building and site and debt retirement.

It will cost the school an estimated $3,434,000 to operate next year including an additional $470,000 brought on mostly by sheer enrollment increases and normal school personnel salary increments.

The proposed 3/4 mills would pay for the additional costs this year (1965-66) and similar costs for the following year.

The building and site sinking fund is money gained from millage (4.5 next year) assessed. The money is used to build new schools and equip them.

The debt retirement millage pays for an issue voted in 1955 that covered a high school addition, the Farrand school addition, a junior high addition, phase One of Gallimore school and the purchase of sites.

Basically, the whole system revolves around tax placed against state equalized valuations, loans made in anticipation of those taxes — on the basis of a state statute permitting such a loan, providing local school debts are low enough.

THE WHOLE system has come under fire in the past. Recently, a disgruntled parents' group, protesting overcrowded conditions in the Lake Pointe Farrand school, signed a petition seeking a re-evaluation of the schools pay-as-you-go plans. School officials point to the amount of interest saved because money is borrowed for a short time only as its chief virtue.

Last year, at almost this same time, the plan came under criticism.

Then, School Board President Gerald Fischer said the plan would not be feasible in the face of "sudden explosive growth," meaning in the event of the need for a massive building plan to house a bulging enrollment, enough money could not be obtained on the 2 per cent of state equalized valuations less total current debt fast enough.

A bond issue voted by the public would be necessary at this stage.

The key to the whole system remains in the stipulation that a stable basic growth rate is maintained. School officials are wary and dislike to guess the growth rate will skyrocket.

In the meantime, they keep a watchful eye on the debts, the local state equalized valuations and the burgeoning subdivisions being planned throughout the school district.

(Next week The Mail discusses the school's plans for the future, the building boom and how it will effect the school district's plans).

Mrs. Eugene Wingerson, 15047 Lakewood was the hostess for the regular meeting of the Newcomers' knitting class on March 2. Mrs. Marion Cooper, Greenbriar Ct., one of the club's instructors, demonstrated several unusual new stitches to the group. Participating in the activities was Mrs. Gerald R. Stevens, 40562 Pinetree Rd., and joining the organization for the first time were, Mrs. Herman T. Rugel, 11163 Terry St., and Mrs. Whitney Stevens, 40753 Orangelawn Rd. The next get-together will be held on April 6.

Mrs. Howard Buffington, of Toledo, spent February 24-26 as the house guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Braun, 40546 Pinetree Rd. On Feb. 26 the Brauns drove Mrs. Buffington home and remained in Toledo to attend the wedding, on Feb. 27, of Richard Cherry, a longtime friend of Mr. Braun's. The Brauns returned to Salem Square on March 2.

Should In-Laws Live With Married Children

By Jacquie Town

Much discussion takes place these days concerning in-laws residing in the same home with married offspring. In generations past, it was common to live with the parents after marriage, or vice-versa.

Older parents contributed a great deal to family life, by taking care of the grandchildren while their parents worked for the good of the entire family. However, homes were much larger, life was not so fast-paced, and the housewife was merely that.

There were no modern split-level homes in suburbia and no uprooting of families by business transfers.

There were few outside activities for the young bride, only a variety of aunts, nieces, cousins and other relatives who helped one another and enjoyed each other's company.

But the day of the jet aircraft soon expanded interests and distances between family members and young married couples came more and more to depend on business associates and new found friends for entertainment and common interests.

Parents began to live a life independent of their offspring and, when death took one partner, the other resorted to a small apartment or Senior Citizen housing, where interests were shared by people of their own age.

But, what if mother or father decide to move in? Various studies have been conducted in this area, hundreds of letters are written to Jane Lee and Ann Landers regarding the problem — all because offspring feel guilty about their parents.

When the parent moves in, the son or daughter, because of mere lack of space, lose much of their privacy. Feelings mount and nerves become frayed with more than one woman in the house or one man in the workshop. Normal emotions are not freely expressed because of a third party and, often times, a partial third party.

Most of us are the same in that we can say what we please about our spouses, but don't let anyone else say it. Too often a parent fails to realize that their child has grown up and he wishes to be a part of everything the child does.

Because he feels this way, he cannot understand why he can't be part of everything the son or daughter enters into, socially or otherwise.

Time has changed our society and we find ourselves in an entirely different framework than that of our parents. If a parent is physically or financially unable to care for himself, then it is the responsibility of his children to assume that care.

However, if he is able to be independent, I believe he should do so.

It is frequently noted that the United States is one of the few countries where families of varied generations do not live together in complete harmony. Perhaps this generation, as well as our parents, are too self-satisfying. We are what we are because of our parents.

It is not the cause that is the problem, but rather the effect. It's easy to say, "I resent my folks intrusion on my life for these reasons," but it is often difficult to deal with the effect these reasons produce.

It's a sad and awakening experience to have a once close family slowly disintegrate because of a lack of communication between adults. It is very difficult to openly express our true feelings to someone as meaningful to us as our parents, but often it saves many unkind feelings if we can do so.

These feelings soon build and lead to only one place — resentment on both sides. One elderly woman I know said it perfectly:

"My family is married and moved out of the house. I enjoy them for a visit; but I love to see them leave. The children get on my nerves, and I can't take all the confusion."

If an elderly parent can express this, why should the offspring suffer guilt about feeling the same way in reverse? Many people do not feel this way, and I don't wish to imply that parents and married children should not share the same house.

Obviously, it takes a great deal of understanding on both sides. If communication breaks down, then it can be a terrible strain for all people involved.

Maria Mitchell, born in Nantucket, Mass., was the first distinguished woman scientist in the United States. Her field was astronomy.

TREASURES FROM Plymouth Pantries

FRYING EGGPLANT for her "Eggplant Malfoufe" is Mrs. J. Kheder of Clare Blvd. The Kheders have lived in Plymouth for about one year, moving here from Columbus, Ohio.

A native of Baghdad, Iraq, Mrs. J. Kheder of 44526 Clare Blvd., suggested one of her favorite recipes from Iraq, "Eggplant Malfoufe."

The Kheders moved to Columbus, Ohio from Iraq in 1958. Prior to this, in 1948, the family lived in the United States for about 14 months while Dr. Kheder, a pediatrician, studied on a fellowship at Ohio State University, Columbus.

The family, which includes Nobel, a Wayne State University freshman; Mary, a tenth grader; Susie, a fifth grader, and Joe, a kindergarten, moved here from Columbus last March. Dr. Kheder was an assistant professor of pediatrics at O.S.U. and director of the birth defects clinic at the university's hospital, according to Mrs. Kheder.

Her husband is now on the staff at Plymouth State Home and Training School, Mrs. Kheder said.

A graduate nurse, Mrs. Kheder said she loves to sew. She recently completed making all the draperies for their new home on Clare Blvd. and added that she makes many of her own clothes.

She and her husband are members of the Plymouth Dance Club.

1 tsp. mixed spices (nutmeg, cloves, allspice, cinnamon, black pepper)
1/2 tsp. mint
1/2 Tbl. flour
Slice eggplant very thinly and rinse. Brown both sides in shortening.
Put lamb through meat grinder twice. Add salt, garlic powder, mixed spices, mint and flour. Take a tablespoon of meat and roll in palm of hand until firm and finger shaped.
Roll on floured board, then brown in shortening. Roll each in browned eggplant slice and tie with parsley sprig. Place in large oval baking dish.
Cover eggplant rolls with following sauce: 2 Tbl. tomato paste, 1 Tbl. lemon juice and 1 glass water. Bake uncovered for 20 minutes in 350 degree oven.

Trefoil Doings

By Faye Langert

A new world has been added to the Roundup vocabulary — "potlatch."

Potlatch gifts are gifts with meaning and a way to bring the "swaps" of other years into proper focus for the 1965 Roundup. Many girls were disappointed at the last Roundup with the too many, too commercial, too meaningless aspects of swaps.

Potlatch is the ceremonial giving of gifts carried out by the Indians of the Northwest, and the emphasis is on the word "ceremonial." For while potlatch gifts will not be large or expensive, they are expected to convey something of the spirit of giving and of the good wishes of the giver.

The plan is for girls to exchange limited numbers of small, handsome gifts at campfires, meals, or special meetings of several patrols or troops. These gatherings will be occasions for getting acquainted with new friends, and campers are urged to exchange their gifts only on these special occasions.

The first potlatch, according to myth, was the ceremonial giving of feathers of different colors to all the birds of the forest. These feathers — yellow and brown to the meadowlark, red and brown to the robin, brown to the wren, yellow and black to the little finch — were taken by two Indian girls from a strange and fearful bird that had appeared over the ocean near their village. Ever since then, certain birds have had certain colors — and ever since there have been potlatches.

The potlatch ceremony which began so graciously fell on evil days when some tribes used it to bribe and control others. In recent times, however, the quality of the original ceremony has been revived and its positive influence over the years is evident in the folk art of the region where it has not only stimulated high quality in arts and crafts, but has made itself felt in the songs, oratory, and dancing of the people.

DPW Workers Cited by Bida, Commissioners

A resolution commending Plymouth's Department of Public Works personnel and a letter of appreciation from DPW Superintendent Joseph Bida were released this week in the wake of the Feb. 25 snow storm that crippled much of Michigan.

Plymouth was less hard hit than many communities because of prompt and intensive work by the DPW staffers. Bida wrote:

"At this time I would like to personally thank the following men who worked so hard during the past snow storm: 'Howard Roddenberg, Ken Vogras, Al Dierick, Herbert Canaday, George Graham, Clyde Kintner, Melvin Behling and Arlie Bagwell.' 'I would like to thank each of you because as you know, Plymouth was one of the first cities who had clear streets. I have personally received many, many compliments and I have told the people that the men did the work.'

"SO, MEN, I am very proud of your hard work and efforts." The resolution, passed unanimously, was offered by Commissioner A. E. Valier and supported by Commissioner Robert Smith. It referred to the snow storm and noted:

"The Plymouth Department of Public Works worked continually for approximately 39 hours to clear the streets of Plymouth to make it the first city to be completely mobile in the area."

"Now, therefore, be it resolved, that this city commission, on behalf of the citizens of the City of Plymouth, extend a vote of thanks to Superintendent of Public Works Joseph Bida and his D.P.W. employees for the outstanding snow removal job done."

The commission also issued a letter of thanks to firms which supplied snow removal equipment and manpower during the cleanup effort.

The PLYMOUTH MAIL

THE FABULOUS Forties were a roaring success last Saturday evening as the 60 couples that make up the Plymouth Dance Club gathered at Lofy's for one of the seven meetings they hold during the year. Thomas G. Notebaert who, with his wife, serves as President of the group, said meetings are held "to dance, make merry and have fun." The GI's and their gals, gathered around an ominous looking front page of the now defunct "Detroit Times," are, left to right, Don Wisman of 41216 Bruce, Beverly Anderson of 1201 Carol, Ellen Smith of 9163 Lilley Road and her husband, Rockwell. The interior of the restaurant's Skyline Room was decorated with mementos of the decade that saw man mark some of his best, and worst, achievements.

PHS Viewpoint:

Plymouthites Gape at Hip New York City

By Mike Ross

I'd like to give you, the public, a breather this week from my usual appraisal of our fair city and its inhabitants and turn to a much brighter topic.

Since last October the International Relations class at Plymouth High School has scraped the bottom of the charity dish and, with the help of Plymouthites, raised enough of the long green for their annual trip to New York City. Never let it be said this teen never thanked Plymouth for anything, I and the rest of the I.R., class heartily thank every Plymouthite that helped send the class to N.Y.

Though many adults in Plymouth have visited New York at one time or another, not many have had the opportunity to view America's metropolis through the eyes of a teenager. The week before last, some 30 Plymouth High seniors boarded a train at Ann Arbor for what seemed would be a grueling 14-hour trip to "the big city." With 17 hours of "fun and games" and one train wreck behind us, we stepped off the train at Grand Central Station, trying to look not too "Michigan."

But, being seniors and already oozing with that dread affliction, "senioritis", we were sure we'd make fine, sophisticated, New Yorkers.

What progressed through the next four days made us think that residents of New York must have seen hay sticking out of our hats the first time we walked down Fifth Avenue. Everytime one of our chaperons ran up to someone with a group of obedient teens following and said, proudly, "We're from Plymouth, Michigan!" it sounded rather amusing to us at the time, but what it sounded like to the bewildered listener I have no idea.

To the native N.Y.'er, celebrities are a common sight; but to a group of young men from the Midwest, Gina Lollobrigida was quite an eye-opener stepping from her green Rolls into the premier of "Lord Jim."

When Bill Cosby, known much better to some than others, strolled across the lobby of the Lexington, he had yelling and pawing women making demands, (usually for his signature) following him from one side of the lobby to the other, among them, respectable, sophisticated Plymouth mothers.

Incidents not so cheery, as when a policeman shot and critically wounded a would-be burglar in the alley behind the hotel, caused an uproar that still has not ceased... though no one ever saw it happen.

Perhaps the most obvious mark of an "out-of-towner," alias bumpkin, is the skyward gazes, which, besides telling everyone around you that New York is a rather new and fascinating place to you, has its pitfalls. For instance, when yours truly, gawking at the height of some unmarked skyscraper, tripped gracefully across a half-open man hole and slammed into a trash barrel... just off Fifth Avenue during the rush hour.

Subways and cabs seemed to be two of the most popular ways of making a fool of oneself. On one chilly evening, after most had begun the five block trek to Broadway to see a play or movie, some late-comers decided upon a cab as their means of transportation.

Two young pants-wearing members of our group stood near a corner outside the hotel attempting to hail a cab. A big blue Chevy pulled up and one of the two went to the other side. Upon finding the door locked, the other fellow opened the door on his side and got in.

Much to his disappointment and extreme surprise, there was no meter, no taxi license in view, no 2-way radio. But the street light that the car had stopped for by this time had changed and the driver took off before realizing he had a back seat companion. He suddenly whipped around and growled, "What the hell is this?" Needless to say, the poor passenger ended the free ride with haste.

Tips are the magical tickets in New York. When one of the fairer members of our group stood in the middle of Lexington Avenue paying a hack, the forty-cent fare with a one-dollar bill, she gracefully put her hand out for the change. She made a rather amusing picture standing in the middle of the street, hand out, face perplexed, with no one around — the cab screaming down the street.

Big, impressive, and expensive restaurants garnish downtown Manhattan in abundance. Poise, charm, and etiquette are a must. The quarter for the maid in the Lady's room shook quite a few girls up. The word "john" raised many eyebrows that had ears close enough to hear.

But the classic came in the Delegate's Dining room in the United Nations when a female of our group, surveying the decorative garnish, a peace sprig, on her plate, popped up with, "What's this, catnip?"

All told, we came back a much learned group of teens on the "what-to-do's" and "what-not-to-do's" in Manhattan. Again, I say, we thank everyone who made this trip possible; all the financial aid and travel tips were much appreciated.

Register Now for Scholarship Test

All 1966 graduates of Plymouth High School who wish to enter the 1965-66 National Merit Scholarship competition should register now at the school guidance office, John M. Hoben, asst. principal, announced today.

More than 200 students plan to take the test. The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given in the school at 9 a.m., Saturday, March 13, 1965.

To receive consideration, the student must take the test when it is offered in his school. Participating students pay a $1.25 fee. A student's performance on the qualifying test also provides him with information that is useful in career planning or in selecting courses in high school and college.

In addition to the awards made by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, about 230 business corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, and individuals give scholarships through the Merit Program. A considerable number of other scholarship agencies utilize the services of NMSQT in awarding their scholarships.

The NMSQT is a three-hour examination of educational development. The test is the first step in the eleven-year annual competition for four-year Merit Scholarships provided by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation and by sponsoring corporations, foundations, colleges, associations, unions, trusts, and individuals.

ELECTION NOTICE
CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

Take Notice that at the Regular City Election, Monday, April 5, 1965, the following proposed amendment to the charter of the City of Plymouth, Michigan will be submitted to the city electors:

PROPOSITION

The proposed charter amendment of Chapter 12 of said charter reads as follows:
Section 12.5. A non-partisan city primary election shall be held on the third Monday in February in every odd-numbered year. If, upon the expiration of the time for filing nomination petitions for any elective city office, it appears that petitions have been filed for no more than twice the number of persons to be elected to such office, then no primary election shall be held with respect to such office, and the Clerk shall publish notice of such fact. Candidates in number equal to twice the number of persons to be elected to each city office, who received the highest number of votes at any such city primary election shall be declared the nominees for election to the respective offices for which they are candidates. As to any office with respect to which no primary is required to be held, persons named in petitions as candidates for election to such office shall be certified to the election commission to be placed upon the ballot for the next subsequent regular city election. No person whose name is not printed on the primary election ballot, but whose name is written thereon, or appears on the ballot on a sticker pasted thereon at such election, except such stickers as have been placed thereon by the election commission as provided by law, shall be nominated for election to any office, unless he shall receive at least twenty-five votes nominating him for such office.

The existing charter provision of Chapter 12, which would be altered or abrogated by the above and foregoing, reads as follows:

Section 12.5. A non-partisan city primary election shall be held on the date prescribed by state law for the holding of general spring primary elections. If, upon the expiration of the time for filing nomination petitions for any elective city office, it appears that petitions have been filed for no more than twice the number of persons to be elected to such office, then no primary election shall be held with respect to such office, and the Clerk shall publish notice of such fact. Candidates in number equal to twice the number of persons to be elected to each city office, who received the highest number of votes at any such city primary election shall be declared the nominees for election to the respective offices for which they are candidates. As to any office with respect to which no primary is required to be held, persons named in petitions as candidates for election to such office shall be certified to the election commission to be placed upon the ballot for the next subsequent regular city election. No person whose name is not printed on the primary election ballot, but whose name is written thereon, or appears on the ballot on a sticker pasted thereon at such election except such stickers as have been placed thereon by the election commission as provided by law, shall be nominated for election to any office, unless he shall receive at least twenty-five votes nominating him for such office.

The Proposition will appear on the April 5th Ballot in the following form:

PROPOSITION

"Shall Section 12.5 of Chapter 12 of the City Charter be amended to provide that the non-partisan city primary election shall be held on the third Monday in February in every odd-numbered year instead of on the date prescribed by state law for the holding of general spring primary elections, as is now the case?"

Milliken Draws Crowd

"We must find in this state," he said, "new jobs at the rate of 90,000 to 100,000 per year."

There is no question, he said, that sustained economic growth in Michigan is vital.

Growth, he said, requires a new level of co-operation between labor, business, management and government; greater diversification; continual applied and basic research; stronger industrial promotion and continued strong support of secondary and higher education.

"AND, IT requires, absolutely," he said, "an end to all forms of discrimination in this state." Milliken referred to discrimination as both morally wrong and a waste of manpower. Noting the correlation between education and economic growth, Milliken said.

"As we look ahead in 1965, it seems to me that all of us must recognize that we must provide good schools in all communities."

He said a healthy and expanding private economy means more than government programs to growth. Milliken answered questions from the audience following his remarks.

The number of scholarships awarded in any year depends upon the extent of sponsor participation. In 1964, 1962 Merit Scholarships were provided by 227 sponsors and 500 by the Merit Corporation. There are 4880 Merit Scholars at present.

The scholarship stipends are based on financial need. The minimum award is $100 and the maximum is $1500. The average stipend awarded to freshman Merit Scholars in 1964 was $737 annually, or about $3000 for the four years of college. Supplementary grants are usually made to the colleges that the scholars attend. Each scholarship competition is a form of educational insurance, since the stipend may be increased at any time by the student's financial situation changes during the four-year term of the scholarship.

A bi-partisan flavor saw representatives from both political parties in attendance. Enoch Edward F. Draugelis, Plymouth city attorney and a Democrat, quipped about his political differences with the Lt. Governor and included the representatives from both sides of the political aisle.

Included were Democratic State Rep. and Mrs. James Barney of Garden City, State Rep. and Mrs. Marvin Stempin and Democratic State Senator hopeful Edward McNamara of Livonia.

Republicans included former State Senate Majority Leader and Mrs. Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor and GOP State Senate candidate and Mrs. Farrell Roberts of W. Bloomfield Twp.

Also present were Canton Township Supervisor Louis Stein, Plymouth Mayor Pro Tem James Houk and his wife and representatives of Plymouth Township.

Businessmen's Forum committee chairman Dr. Ray Barber gave a brief history of the success of the forum programs.

McNamara Raps Flat Rate Income Tax

EDITOR'S NOTE: Between now and the April 5 general election, The Plymouth Mail will carry news releases from the two candidates for State Senate in the 14th Senatorial District. Below is one from the campaign headquarters of Edward H. McNamara, Democratic hopeful.

Stressing that "tax reform without a graduated income tax would be no reform at all," Edward H. McNamara, Democratic candidate for the State Senate, challenged his Republican opponent on fiscal reform, in a series of debates last week.

"The flat rate income tax scheme being suggested by my opponent is no better than the imposition of additional nuisance taxes. Such an ill conceived plan places the biggest burden upon those people who have the last ability to pay," McNamara stated. "We hear a lot of talk from my opponent and the members of his party that the real property tax is unfair. They also have come to the realization that another tax inequity is the sales tax upon food and drugs. However, they fail to realize that the flat rate income tax concept is also unjust and obsolete," McNamara continued.

"It was a Republican controlled Constitutional Convention that adopted the prohibition against a graduated income tax. If that prohibition cannot be overcome, it may then be necessary to pass a flat rate income tax with exemptions, similar to the federal system of exemptions and deductions."

"Michigan needs tax reform. But the mere addition of another nuisance tax without relieving the inequities and hardships in our present tax setup would only worsen what is already a poor situation," McNamara concluded.

Scouts Set Pancake And Sausage Dinner

The Boy Scouts of Troop 862 and the Explorer Scouts of Post 862, both of which are sponsored by the V.F.W. Post 6695, are combining their efforts this year to put on a Pancake and Sausage Supper, March 22, serving from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the V.F.W. Hall 1426 S. Mill St.

All you can eat, plus coffee and milk. Tickets are now on sale, children under 12 only 50c, adults $1.00. Also family tickets for $4.00.

This is the only financial project the boys have during the year. Last year over four hundred people ate them.

POSTIFF ESTATES was denied a rezoning request at last month's Plymouth Township Planning Commission meeting. They have resubmitted their plans and are asking for a smaller section to be rezoned. Postiff Estates, Arbor Croft apartments in the City and several others have met with opposition from many officials who feel their requests are spot zoning and harmful to community character. Above is the artist's version of one of Postiff Estate's proposed units.

BOOM OR BUST

New Apartment Construction Raises Questions of Need

The apartment boom has come to the Plymouth Community, and with it, a chorus of approvals and disapprovals, comments and criticisms.

Some say apartments upgrade the area, bring in more money for the community and are in great demand in Plymouth.

Others feel they downgrade living areas, spoil the community character and are in little demand in the Plymouth area.

One of the key questions surrounding the discussion concerns the marketability of apartments — are there too many in the Plymouth area already?

A spot check last week revealed the new luxury apartments in the area were renting about as fast as they are completed — and with a minimum of promotion.

For instance, in the Township, builder Fred L. Greenspan's Lake Pointe Village has 41 of 44 units rented. The manager there figures the three unrented apartments are about normal turn-over. Greenspan has two more apartment buildings under construction at the same site.

It is the same story at Crestwood Apartments on Sheldon Road in the City. The manager there reports all but three of 100 units rented. She also figures the three vacancies as normal turn-over.

Next door, at Plimeth Place, the renting agents, J. L. Hudson Real Estate Company, report a total of 72 apartments rented out of 94. Plimeth Place is one of the most recently completed apartment developments in the Plymouth area.

A run-down of other apartments shows all but three units now completed in the Bryn Mawr development rented, all units rented and a waiting list at Frances Apartments. All completed units are rented in Jamestown Court on Coolidge St.

ALL OF WHICH proves, according to Joseph Hudson of J. L. Hudson Real Estate Co., that "apartments are renting and renting steadily." Hudson's associate Thomas Notebaert noted Friday:

"All this has been done with a minimum of publicity and promotion. What could be done if the thing was really pushed we don't know."

Township Supervisor Roy R. Lindsay leads the opposition to apartments. At the last meeting of the Township Planning Commission, Lindsay took the floor and hit at apartment construction in the area, calling for a slow-up of multiple dwelling construction in the Township, at least until a study could be made. That night, Lindsay said, in part:

"This multiple dwelling proposition has gone wild and has got to be stopped somewhere. We should have consistency as to where multiple dwellings are going to be. Plymouth Township is one of the best developed townships anywhere. I'd hate to see it destroyed with multiple dwellings."

Lindsay called for a study that night and his request reflects the opinion of many local people on the need for apartments.

An independent study made by students from the University of Michigan of the entire Detroit area stated that the danger of saturation in apartment construction was near in the Plymouth area. The study was sent to governmental units through routine mail.

STUDIES by Waring and Johnson (dated April 25, 1963) indicated a need of about 1600 apartment units in the Plymouth Community by 1970. Another study made by Metropolitan Market Analysts of Detroit rapped Waring and Johnson's estimates as "extremely conservative" and felt their proposed apartment market had been too limited.

The study pointed out that as of late 1964, only about half of Waring and Johnson's estimated 1600 had been reached, thus leaving room for at least 800 more units.

The study was made for Rose Hill Builders and was aimed at a specific analysis of a site at Lilley and Ann Arbor Roads. Both Waring and Johnson's study and the Market Analysis study were based on an estimated 27,000 population in the area by 1970.

Recently, the Township put the clamps on apartment construction. At least month's meeting of the Planning Commission, a motion to rezone land on Lilley for Postiff Estates was tabled following the voiced objections of Supervisor Lindsay and Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes.

Earlier in the year, two Detroit builders were held up in their plans for apartments by a mixup in a recently adopted ordinance. The ordinance is still in the process of being changed.

Some realtors are optimistic about the market for apartments. Notebaert said Friday:

"IF THE market's saturated and we have a lot of unrented units, the big lending institutions will cut off the money . . . And there are more taxes to be gained per acre than even industrial."

Notebaert also said he felt it was impossible to build cheap apartments with the building codes as they are now and that the high price of land in the area has forced developers to build multiple units.

"There are people who would like to see Plymouth stay where it is. We can't stay where we are," said Joseph Hudson, in commenting on Notebaert's statements Friday.

Other real estate agents are less optimistic. William Felig is one of them.

"We could reach a saturation point," Felig said last week. "I don't mean to say we have . . . There are not too many at the moment."

Felig feels a builder could get money for apartments if he had a known series of building successes — and the money would be given to him on that basis alone — not on the basis of the market for apartments.

Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes characterized the official Township position Friday and in many respects, it reflects the opinion of most people in the area.

"We have to determine if our community is going to be of homes. Are we going to issue building permits for anything that comes up . . . Profitability and marketability are not the real considerations; the community's character, spot zoning and what's standing in the area are."

In the City, apartments have not been a hot issue, mainly because of a lack of land. Yet, recently, a rezoning request was denied Arbor Croft apartments after the objections of a handful of area residents were heard.

THE CITY'S planners, Villan and Leman however, are looking to the future when area redevelopment will take place in the City. In a development plan submitted in September 1964, the planning consultants included a map of proposed rezoning.

East of Mill St. and North of Main to Wilcox Road was zoned multiple.

Commissioner Arch Vallier has led opposition in the City.

In most cases, the opposition has formally objected on the basis of spot zoning and ruin of community character.

However, in the background has been the ever present question of need.

Despite the discussions pro and con, the following facts are clear: Present apartments are renting within two to three months of completion. Promotion has been limited to a sign in front of the new units and a small series of ads in local papers.

Apartments renting for less than $100 a month are nearly impossible to find. Houses for rent are equally impossible to find. A spot check of four apartments listed in the want ad section of The Mail showed they had been rented the day the paper appeared and that several calls had been received in response to the ad.

The "house for sale" market in town is very tight. A survey of realtors show a need for listings. All said they had plenty of prospects, but not enough houses.

The area continues to grow, especially as evidenced by growth in the school district.

For as many interests involved in the apartment issue there appears to be an opinion. In the meantime, housing seekers have a limited market to choose from.

C of C Warns of 'Success Story' Promotions

The Plymouth Chamber of Commerce today warned businessmen to be wary of high-sounding organizations offering "success story" awards at a price.

The organizations or foundations promoting achievement awards of one kind or another are offering "awards" to unsuspecting businessmen who discover that the "honor" bestowed on them is dubious at best and comes at a high price.

According to the National Better Business Bureau, with which the local Chamber is affiliated through membership, one organization whose alleged purpose is to dramatize the success possible under the free enterprise system will arrange for businessmen to receive a "success story" award at a ceremony in New York.

The catch: The businessmen must be willing to pay the organization up to $2,500 in advance to cover the cost of publicizing the event. If the promoter can get ten executives to accept the award annually he has his own "success story."

NBBB advised businessmen who are told that they have been chosen to receive an award to get the facts before replying.

Come to Church Sunday

You've been speeding, and you get a ticket. You don't like it, but you know you've been wrong. With little or no argument, you pay your fine.

You've been staying home from church on Sundays for one of a dozen reasons. Maybe you like to sleep late. Maybe the minister in your church preaches dull sermons. Maybe you don't consider yourself the church-going type. Whatever your alibi — nobody's going to come after you.

This is a summons you'll have to serve on yourself. For an infraction of God's law is something that can't be ignored. Until you declare yourself guilty, you will be deliberately shutting yourself off from the greatest fellowship in the world. No judge in history has ever pronounced a sterner sentence.

Roberts Raps Foe's Tax Reform Stand

In a blistering indictment of his Democratic opponent in the 14th Senatorial district race, former Republican State Senator Farrell E. Roberts informed audiences throughout the district this week that they were faced with a heavier burden of income tax than most people would conceive.

In explaining the differential, in his view, to that of his Democratic opponent, Roberts pointed out that if Michigan were to have an income tax, he was solidly in favor of a flat tax assessment.

Should his Democratic opponent be elected, Roberts said residents of this district would find themselves faced with a senatorial representative who has openly gone on record favoring a graduated income tax.

Roberts pointed out that since the areas encompassed in the 14th district are among the highest income groups in the state, the graduated income tax, as proposed by his opponent, would force residents to pay far more than they would under the flat tax basis.

CANDIDATE Roberts cited actual family per capita income from the 1960 census, showing the average family income in the areas covered by this Senatorial district. "Facts cannot be denied," said Roberts, "and anyone voting to send a dedicated graduated income tax candidate to Lansing is only asking the State of Michigan to take more hard-earned dollars out of their pockets in this day of high-cost living."

Roberts further stated that "this particular Senatorial seat, at this late date, is no position to be filled by a state political neophyte. Because of my years of service in both the Legislature and the Senate, my experience and accomplishments, in addition to my dollar-saving stand on the income tax, make it equally as interesting to members of both parties. "Records of my years of service prove my ability and willingness to be of service in or on any issue which has been in the best interest for the areas which I served, regardless, many times, of party affiliation."

"As my record will show, I supported both the Swainson and Romney tax reform programs.

"If I am elected the residents of this area will have a dedicated public servant, whose entire energy will be devoted to those things best for the people I shall serve. My records of attendance, accomplishments and ability during my tenure in Lansing will stand as a testimonial to this statement."

Senior Citizens

By Esther Weigel

A large group of Senior Citizens attended the funeral of member Mrs. Amelia Eschels on March 2 at Schraer Funeral Home.

Our business meeting on March 4 consisted of a short policy meeting and recommendations were made by our president.

The few members that have not paid their 1965 dues, perhaps due to the inclement weather or illness, call Secretary Lena Birkhold.

Chairman of trips Dorothy Wilhelmi, has information on the following trips for members. A daytime trip to Vermontville Maple Syrup Festival on April 24th. If you are interested, please inform Mrs. Wilhelmi at once. A Hawaiian trip, costing about $600, from May 2 to May 16 is also being planned. A deposit of $50 must be made before March 22. Finally a five day boat trip to Duluth, Minn. is scheduled for the later part of June. For further information call Mrs. Wilhelmi.

Our next meeting will be March 11 with a birthday meeting on March 18. The next potluck dinner will be held on March 25.

Postmaster Boosts Savings Program

Acting Postmaster James Grater said today he had just been instructed by Postmaster General John A. Gronouski to extend all cooperation possible to students, educators, bankers, and other volunteers in promoting and servicing the Treasury's School Savings program in Plymouth.

"I am pleased to carry out Mr. Gronouski's instructions," he said, "because any program which stimulates young Americans to save these days, is for the good of the country and for themselves."

The School Savings Program during World War II, he noted, provided one of our most effective instruments for teaching thrift and good citizenship.

An adequate supply of Savings Stamps and books and promotional material, he said, will be on hand to meet the needs of the students and the community in carrying out the Stamp Consignment plan.

The Stamp Consignment plan, has in the past, greatly eased the burden borne by our school systems. The plan eliminates the financing problems of the school savings program which our schools have had to handle.

FILM SERIES STARTS

A Spring film program to be held on Saturdays at 11 a.m. will begin March 13 at Dunning-Hough Library. The series will feature Walt Disney color films on United States wild life. The first film will be "Bear Country" which depicts a year in the life of Rock Mountain bears. The movies, primarily shown to an audience of youngsters, are open to anyone.

The vast Krupp steel and munition industry in Germany began as a small iron forge in 1848.

JUNIOR LEAGUE basketball recently played at Junior High West. The league is holding a special banquet March 27 to honor the boys and coaches who have worked hard to make the junior league venture a first-year success.

Games, Banquet To Wrap Up Jr. League Season

The Plymouth Community Junior Basketball League will wrap up its season with an all star game, a coaches game and a banquet Saturday, March 27 in an all day session of activities.

The Champs in the 'A' and 'B' leagues will play All-Star teams comprised of three boys each from the other five teams. The teams will be selected by the individual coaches and the games played at Junior High West.

The 'B' league game will tipoff at 9 in the morning, to be followed by the 'A' game at 10:30.

At noon, the coaches game will take place.

In the afternoon, a banquet and program has been scheduled for 1:45 at the Elks Lodge 1780 on Ann Arbor Road. The Elks have donated the hall for the young basketballers.

The banquet is free for all players and coaches. Parents and other guests will be charged $1.

Plans call for a basketball notable to be on hand to speak. Also a basketball highlight films is slated.

Trophies and awards will be handed out at the banquet and an autographed Detroit Pistons basketball raffled off.

League officials urge everyone to turn in their reservation forms by March 13.

Ketterer Retires from Coaching, Bearup to Head Varsity Cagers

Charles Ketterer, long-time Plymouth High School mentor, retired from coaching this year.

He coached his last game last week in the District tournaments against Belleville at Bowen Fieldhouse at Eastern Michigan University.

Richard Bearup, junior varsity basketball coach will succeed Ketterer as head basketball coach.

Ketterer, who had been coaching at Plymouth High School off and on since 1951, is not quitting the school system. He will remain on the faculty at Junior High East.

Bearup's appointment was approved at Monday night's school board meeting after the recommendation of athletic director John Sandmann and Principal Carvel Bentley.

ing career at Northville, Ketterer soon stepped down to work on an advanced degree.

After a stint as football coach at River Rouge, he joined the Plymouth staff in 1951, coaching football and baseball.

In 1955 he began coaching basketball for two years, dropped off of the coaching staff for four years, then returned as basketball coach.

In basketball, Ketterer teams never won a title. In football he had three championship teams.

Ketterer was a good coach and had the respect of his associates, team members and the community.

Ketterer also operates an insurance business.

Gretzinger Leads MSU Swimmers In Big Ten Finals

Leading Michigan State into Big Ten championship this week is Plymouth's Dick Gretzinger, captain of the 1965 Spartan swimming team.

One of the most versatile swimmers in Michigan State history, Gretzinger has won All-American and Big Ten honors two straight years.

This season he has concentrated on the butterfly and individual relay events and is the first State swimmer to go under the magic two-minute mark in the 200-yard butterfly. Gretzinger, a senior, now holds three varsity marks at MSU and is a member of the medley quartet that is threatening another.

Making his final season his best, Gretzinger has led the Spartans to an 11-1 dual meet season — the only loss to Michigan. State ranked as the dark horse in the race for the Big Ten championship with enough speed to contend with perennial pacesetters Indiana and Michigan.

Throughout his three-year career Gretzinger has swum and scored in almost every event including the 440-yard freestyle relay team that won first place in the Big Ten last year.

Gretzinger was an All-

Richard Gretzinger

American at Plymouth High, serving as captain of the team that won the state championship in 1961.

He's the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gretzinger of 390 Adams, Plymouth, and is majoring in physical education at Michigan State.

Sports

IN AND AROUND PLYMOUTH

The Sporting Life A Pair of Gentlemen

Doug Johnson

Plymouth's tournament fling didn't last long. One of the reasons is a graying basketball coach named Marlon Howard, Belleville's mentor.

Howard hasn't fared as well at Belleville as he did at a little class C school in the Kalamazoo area, Bangor — where he coached before his move to Belleville.

In 1960 his team won the class C state championship in Basketball. The team was led by a pair of youngsters named Gent — Pete and Jamie. Pete went on to be one of Michigan State's all time cage greats, setting a scoring mark good enough to make him second highest all time MSU scorer. His brother Jamie went to Central Michigan University, where he has been a standout defensive halfback.

Pete played pro football for the Dallas Cowboys last year, and will play for them again this year. The unusual switch was made because the Cowboys thought the lanky Gent would make a good defensive back.

Marlon Howard hasn't had a pair of players like them since, and probably won't in some time to come. He posted a good record at Bangor, losing only one game in 1960.

The Gents come from a remarkable family and have been friends of mine for several years. Pete and I went to high school and then to college together. I don't know how much education we got, but we had fun.

Watch for his name. You'll be hearing more about him this fall.

Spring sports are around the corner in Plymouth and the spring sports schedule will be published in next week's Plymouth Mail.

Baseball may be the strongest spring sport with essentially the same team returning. A new coach, Brian Boring will take over the place vacated when John Hoben moved up. Boring has been an assistant coach for several seasons. Paul Cummings, who has just completed a successful season as a Jr. High swimming coach, will handle Junior varsity baseball.

Veteran coach John Sandmann will take the golfers this year as in the past.

Industrial arts instructor Keith Baughman will guide the track team's fortunes this year, with an assist from new head basketball coach Richard Bearup.

James Stevens, a Junior High West faculty member, will coach tennis.

Several Plymouth boys made headlines this week in college sports. See stories on Gretzinger and Schryer. Another lad, Richard Michaels, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Michaels of 575 Arthur St., swam in the Big Ten conference meet recently and won a fourth place in the backstroke event.

This reporter predicts the Benton Harbor Tigers will go all the way to a state class 'A' title this year. Some prediction, huh?

They haven't lost and were scoring at a 100 point per game clip all season long. That's a lot of points in 32 minutes, more than a lot of college teams score in 40.

Benton Harbor is as much a basketball town as Plymouth is a swimming town. They play on driveway courts and sandlots all over town. It shows up in their varsity team.

Like everyone else, I'm looking forward to spring — for two reasons.

One, Plymouth should do better in spring sports than they did in fall and winter sports.

Two, I like the sight of kids playing catch in the yard and in the street. In fact, I'll trade a broken window or two for the all drifts, ice and cold weather, or at least one of my neighbor's windows.

Rocks Out of Tournament Play As Belleville Wins 51-46 Decision

Tournament action last Thursday saw Plymouth lose to Belleville 46-51. Here Plymouth's Jim Lake (50) shoots past a screen set by Dave Tidwell as Belleville players move in to attempt a stop.

PLYMOUTH'S Don Stamper shoots from the side in Thursday district tourney opener. It was the last game for coach Charles Ketterer and seniors Dave Tidwell, Jim Lake, Dave Hollings-

A poor shooting night, especially at the free throw line, was Plymouth's downfall last Thursday, as the Rocks lost the first game of the district tournaments, 51-46, to league for Belleville. Plymouth shot at a poor clip from the floor — less than 20%, taking 80 shots, hitting 15.

It was the same story at the free throw line, with Plymouth sinking charity tosses at 45% rate, while Belleville was dropping them through at a 64% rate.

This game was the end of the '65 basketball season for the Rocks and the end of the prep coaching career of Charles Ketterer, who is retiring this year. (See story, page 4.)

It was the first game in the district; in the earlier match, Ypsilanti beat Wayne 71-66. The Rocks displayed their typical drive and hustle in the game and led most of the way — 10-8 at the end of the first quarter, 27-21 at the half, 40-35 at the close of the third quarter.

But in the 4th quarter, Belleville hit for 16 points, Plymouth only 6.

Belleville's Jim Wilkins provided the late spark, grabbing several key rebounds and sinking 5 free throws in the final quarter. He led Belleville scorers with 13.

Plymouth had several chances to tie the score on Belleville turn-overs late in the game, but couldn't put the ball through the hoop.

Both teams had balanced scoring. Gary Grady led the Rocks with 13 points, with Rick Jones second adding 7 points.

An earlier game with Belleville in regular season play had been cancelled by the storm. In the two team's only other encounter, Belleville won 50-49. Both were at the bottom of the league this year.

Swimmers Set Record in Relay, Place Third in League Meet

John McFall's varsity swimmers won a surprising 3rd place in the league meet Saturday, behind a strong team effort and a record setting 1:36.2 mark in the 200 yd. freestyle relay.

Plymouth's relay team copied 28 points in winning the relay and setting a new league record. The team turning the trick included Geff Burke, Dave Cook, Al Saxton and Pat Brady.

The team scoring went like this: Trenton, 307; Allen Park, 193; Plymouth, 152½; Redford Union, 145½; Bentley, 124; Belleville, 96.

Coach McFall praised his swimmers:

"It was a good team effort and the under classmen came through."

The third in the league meet at Bentley should give Plymouth a 4th place in the final Suburban Six standings.

In other Plymouth scoring a team of John Skinner, Don Workman, Tim Wernette and Pat Brady took a 4th in the 200 yd. relay with a time of 1:54.5. (There are 12 possible places in a league meet).

Jim Jaskierney won a 6th in the 200 yd. freestyle, posting a 2:07.6 time

Two Plymouth swimmers scored in the 50 yd. freestyle.

Dick Berry taking a 5th and Geff Burke a 6th.

Dick Lorenz scored 169.35 points, good enough to make him 6th best diver in the league.

Al Saxton swam a strong

100 yd. freestyle, taking second. Berry won a 6th place in the same event.

Jaskierney put Plymouth in the scoring column again in the 400 yd. freestyle, taking a 5th with a 4:35.3 time.

In the 100 yd. breast stroke Norman swam to a 4th place with a 1:12.3 time.

State Meet

Plymouth will send 4 swimmers to the state meet this Friday and Saturday in Lansing.

The state meet is scored and run like the league meet. Dick Berry has qualified and will swim in either the 50 yd. or 100 yd. freestyle.

A relay team of Jim Jaskierney, Geff Burke, Dave Cook and Berry has also qualified.

Each swimmer had to swim to a certain mark twice during the year to qualify.

Set March Crusade

The Plymouth Salvation Army Corps is planning a special evangelistic crusade, March 9 - 14 as part of the world-wide Salvation Army centenary year celebration.

Internationally-known revival campaigner and trumpet virtuoso Ronald L. Crozier of Joliet, Ill., will be the speaker. His recent meetings include city-wide revivals in Birmingham, Ala., Hamilton, Ala., and Tuscaloosa, Ala.

The programs will be held each evening at 7 p.m. and Sunday at 11 a.m.

Jr. League Baseball

Registration for anyone who has never played little league baseball will take place at Plymouth High School March 20 and 27 at 10 a.m. in room 114.

The league, known as the Plymouth Community Junior Baseball League, will hold tryouts on Saturday, April 3. The league is for boys between the ages of 8 and 12.

Anyone over 12 may register for the Recreation league at the Recreation office at the high school.

Richard Schryer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schryer 150 S. Union, was among 20 University of Michigan baseball players who left for Phoenix, Arizona and spring practice. Last Friday he hit 4 w o singles to help the U of M in a 6-3 spring win over Arizona State University.

Schryer, an ex-Plymouth prep star, is only a sophomore, but will start as center fielder.

The team plays exhibition games with Arizona State, University of Arizona, and Grand Canyon college, among others.

They flew to the sunny climate by jet last week. Schryer who was born and raised in Plymouth played baseball, basketball and football in his high school days, graduating from PHS in 1963.

He played on the Detroit Citizens Mutual national championship baseball team in 1963 and 64, being named most valuable player in 1963. The Detroit team is in the National Amateur Baseball Federation.

In 1964 he played on the Detroit Andray team in the AAABA league, another championship team.

Schoolcraft Gets Funds for Work Study Program

An initial allotment of $17,982.00 for the current academic semester has been granted to Schoolcraft College under provisions of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 to finance a College Student Work-Study Program, according to Dr. Eric Bradner, President of the College.

The purpose of the Student Work-Study Program is to stimulate and promote the part-time enrollment of students at Schoolcraft College from low-income families who need such earnings to continue their education. The program is open to both male and female students who are currently enrolled at the College as full-time students, and to students who have been admitted and will enter the College for subsequent semesters.

"Students will be permitted to be employed a maximum of fifteen hours per week during the time they are enrolled in classes, and as much as forty hours any other week," Bradner said.

Under provisions of the act, students will be employed in such jobs as science and technical assistants, faculty secretarial aides, general clerks, library assistants, groundskeepers, watchmen, maintenance men, book store clerks, switchboard operators, and cashiers.

Student eligibility established in the statute dictates that he be from a low-income family, which is based upon the combined income of the family. Any family which is receiving or is eligible to receive financial assistance under a public or private welfare program would normally fit this category. Further, the determination is based upon the total number of dependents in the family making application.

Schoolcraft College received State Department of Public Instruction approval for federal funds from the new Vocational Education Act of 1963, Dr. Eric J. Bradner, President, announced. This approval was contained in a letter received last week from Dr. Lynn M. Bartlett, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The College is to receive $456,000 which is half the cost of constructing the new Technical Education Building. The Board of Trustees of Schoolcraft College has approved an equal amount to construct the $912,000 building.

The Technical Building and occupational areas for career programs were planned by James H. Dotseth, Assistant Dean of Instruction for Business and Technical Education. His application for federal funds was accepted for 50% of construction costs. Approval for construction costs further means that the College has been accepted as an Area Vocational School.

The Technical Building will include a variety of occupational training areas. An electronics laboratory which will permit instruction in electricity, electronics, hydraulics, and industrial equipment controls. A data processing department which has space for wiring panels, a machines room, and instructional area. The Practical and Associate Degree Nursing Programs have space in this building which includes a laboratory, a classroom, the Director's Office, and a waiting room. The manufacturing processes laboratory permits students to major in die-making, tool-making, machine repair and maintenance, and manufacturing processes.

The building will include three drafting rooms. One will be for engineering transfer students. Another will be used for product, die, tool, machine, and electronic drawing and design programs.

My Neighbors

"Oh... on your way out of town stop at the drive-in and have 'em send a gallon of ice cream with a large can of fudge topping, huh?"

grams. The third drafting room is planned for the architectural and civil engineering technology curricula. Students in this area may major in residential, commercial or industrial building design. Some may further specialize in topographical drawing or map-making.

Another laboratory is for welding and foundry. The automotive automotive service laboratory is of special significance because of the shortage of automotive mechanics and technicians. Also included in the building are six classrooms, office space for the faculty, an administrative bank of offices, and the heating and ventilating services area. The Technical Building must serve a variety of needs for the business and industrial community. It must provide related instruction for apprentices and perform as both day and evening, who plans to earn an Associate Degree in Technical Studies; it must provide for upgrading adult workers. It must provide related instruction for apprentices and perform as an Area Vocational School for selected high school students as well as for accepted college students. Dotseth says the administrative bank of offices is of extreme importance to provide services for the community. The Institute Program will be headed by a Director and there will be a need for a vocational counselor, coordinators for curricula, technology, and women's occupations. Bids for the building must be accepted prior to June 1965. Construction will be shortly after that date with the schedule for completion for the fall semester of 1966.

The growing use of ELECTRIC HEAT IN SCHOOL BUILDINGS has made a lot of people curious--- here are the FACTS

Before we even begin to talk about the superiority of electric heat, let's look an old bugaboo straight in the eye... it costs too much.

It simply isn't so!

Something can only cost too much in comparison with something similar. In this case, it's the operating cost of an electric heat system vs. the operating cost of some other kind of heating system.

GROSJEAN HIGH SCHOOL, in southwest Wayne County, another fine, new total electric school.

AKRON-FAIRGROVE HIGH SCHOOL, Tuscola County, will be as modern as tomorrow—a total electric school.

Operating Cost Is More Than Just Fuel Cost

Perhaps operating cost should really be thought of as cost of ownership. In this broader context, there are a number of building construction, building equipment, annual repair and maintenance and annual labor costs which are affected by choice of heating systems.

Among the building construction and equipment costs which are altered or eliminated, according to choice of heating system, are these:

Building Item Required	Electric Heat	Fuel Fired System
Boiler room	No	Yes
Smokestack	No	Yes
Fuel storage	No	Usually
Steam or hot water piping	No	Yes
Pipe trenches	No	Yes
Boiler and controls	No	Yes
Boiler water pump(s)	No	Yes
Boiler water treating system	No	Yes

To keep this set of comparisons absolutely fair, the insulation of an electrically heated school must be better than the applications which are now acceptable in most school buildings.

It would pay to have topnotch insulation in EVERY school—pay off in heating economy and in student-teacher comfort, both winter and summer. But since it is not yet in widespread demand in all school plants, this may be an item of increased cost in an electrically heated building. The additional cost, however, when related to total construction cost, is insignificant.

Expansion Costs

In a constantly growing area like southeast Michigan, new school buildings invariably are increased in size—very often, more than once in their careers. Always a major item of cost when classrooms or other facilities are added is complete replacement of a too-small boiler or addition of boiler units.

Even when a foresighted school administration—anticipating building enlargement—installs an over-capacity boiler to begin with, school funds are tied up in the too big boiler and its auxiliary equipment. This non-productive use of money may be a burden for several years.

School building expansion, when the heating system's electric, is never a problem or an undue expense. All that's required is electrical distribution from the transformer to the newly added school plant—a normal cost of expansion which would apply regardless of type of heating system.

Annually Recurring Costs

There is another class of ownership costs which needs consideration when comparing electric heat to other types of heating systems for a school. These are the various expenses which recur, most of them on an annual basis.

Typical Recurrent Costs	Electric Heat	Fuel Fired System
Boiler maintenance	No	Yes
Boiler inspection fee	No	Yes
Boiler insurance	No	Yes
Boiler attendant(s)—labor	No	Yes
Ash disposal	No	Usually

Another recurrent cost which is sizable enough to help make the difference in heating systems is the amount of interest paid on the money which is borrowed to build a school.

An electrically heated school will be less costly to design and build because you are not buying a boiler with all its auxiliary equipment. No money goes for a boiler room, smokestack or a steam or hot water distribution system. So it follows—a less costly school, less money to borrow, less interest to pay on the borrowed money.

Electric Heat—Low Cost Comfort For Children And Teachers

The Superintendent of Schools of a school district in northern Ohio recently prepared a two-year comparative analysis* of heating operational costs for four of the schools under his supervision. It was a painstaking and detailed comparison, taking into account these major factors: fuel cost, heating labor cost, auxiliary fuel, auxiliary power, ash disposal, heating system maintenance.

Two of the schools have coal-fired boilers, one has a gas-fired boiler and one is completely heated electrically. Quoting from the report, "... the cost (for heating the electrically heated school) during the 1962-63 school year was 5¢ per square foot less than at the other three buildings... For the 1963-64 year, the savings was 12.9¢ per square foot."

In subsequent years, the savings should be closer to the 12.9¢ per square foot figure than to the 5¢ figure. This is a conclusion drawn from the following facts.

In 1962-63, the electrically heated school was a new structure. Some of the heating cost for it went to drying out concrete, masonry and plaster. This is an extraordinary expense not to be repeated.

Also, in February 1964, the utility serving the electrically heated school reduced its rate for electric power from 1.6¢ to 1.5¢ per kilowatt-hour.

And, finally, by 1963-64, the staff at the electrically heated school were better able to control electric power consumption.

One condition which helped establish the greater per-square-foot savings in 1963-64 may not always hold true. The weather during the '63-'64 heating season was slightly warmer than it was in '62-'63.

*Copies of this analysis will be made available to qualified inquirers on request.

Electrically Heated Schools In Southeast Michigan

1958 was the first year of record for electrically heated schools in the area which Detroit Edison serves. In that year, there were 26 classrooms completely heated in this modern way. Now, in early 1965, there are 12 total electric schools having 220 classrooms in the area.

In number of electrically heated classrooms, this is more than an eight-fold increase in seven years. Several more school and college buildings which will be all-electric, including heating, are now under construction within the area.

More For The Money

These are the features of electric-heat which appealed most to the school administrators who wrote the analysis quoted above. Only slightly edited for brevity, this is essentially the language of that objective report.

Safety—Electric heat is highly automated. A minimum of human attention and judgment is all that's required in its operation. By so reducing the human element, a maximum of safety is achieved. Nor is electric heat complicated by auxiliary or satellite systems of any kind.

Simplicity—The absence of complex mechanisms makes it easier for building custodians to concentrate on their prime function—keeping a building and its equipment clean. Boiler room attendants are not a requirement.

Dependability—Electric heat reduces the possibility of building freeze-ups; eliminates boiler breakdowns during unattended hours.

When there's a boiler failure, the whole school must close down. If an electric heating unit fails, only the one room involved need be closed.

Flexibility—Electric heating equipment can be used just in the room or rooms where heat is required, completely independent of and without affecting any other part of the heating system. On a cool but sunny autumn day, for example, the heat may be on in rooms on the shady side of a school, off in rooms on the sunny side of the building.

Unscheduled, off-hours use of a school-room—even with the briefest advance notice—creates no heating problem. Electric heat reacts quickly and, again, there can be selective, one-room-only use.

Cleanliness—Since there is no combustion, electric heat does not create smoke, soot or ashes to add to cleaning chores.

Efficiency—With electric heat, there are no long, laborious heating up or cooling down cycles. The equipment is ready to furnish heat at the moment of need and there is no wasteful heat carryover when the equipment is shut down.

Warm weather benefits—With more efficient and effective building insulation, a school will be cooler and more comfortable in warm weather—a decided advantage to students and teachers.

Air conditioning is also simplified and made more economical since the electrical wiring installed for the heating system can also energize air conditioners.

Through the taxes it pays, Detroit Edison is one of the largest supporters of schools in the state. In this role, we are as concerned and interested as you are in seeing that our educational system operates as efficiently and economically as possible. It is our sincere belief that electric heat, when evaluated with an objective and open mind, will show itself to have the economy and efficiency we all want in our schools.

EDISON CUTS ELECTRIC RATE FOR TOTAL ELECTRIC SCHOOLS

Detroit Edison has just voluntarily reduced the electric service charge to schools in its service area which are all electric, including the heating. School administrators, school board members, architects and consulting engineers are invited to inquire at any Edison office concerning the details of this downward rate adjustment.

What's good for Plymouth...

Tomorrow evening (Wednesday) at 7:30 p.m., the Republican organization of this area will sponsor a non-partisan candidates' night at The Plymouth Federal Credit Union Building.

The meeting is expected to feature all seven candidates for the four openings on Plymouth's City Commission — positions to be filled at the April 5 general election. Three of the men are incumbents; the other four are not.

Meetings like these are vital; and it's a telling commentary on contemporary American society that they are often relegated to a position of relative unimportance.

We, all of us, are prone to bemoan the increasing role taken by state and Federal bureaucracies in our lives. One needn't go far in The Plymouth Community to hear criticism of governmental spending and projects at the Michigan and U.S. levels.

There is a way to shortstop the trend.

It lies in assuming responsibility at the local level and seeing to it that local elective officials are of high competent caliber.

Admittedly, a single city commissioner is not apt to change the course of the state, the nation or the world. But the aggregate of all city commissioners and councilmen and trustees throughout the land could easily do so.

Therefore, The Plymouth Mail urges active citizen participation in meetings like Wednesday night's. The Credit Union building should be packed with interested voters.

The candidates should be questioned at length. Their mettle should be examined and evaluated.

A hapless Secretary of Defense once made the notorious mistake of commenting that what's good for General Motors is good for the U.S.A. In a collective sense, Wednesday's session might give rise to the contention that what's good for Plymouth is good for the U.S.A..

It will be interesting to see how many attend.

Ben's boys

A delightful tome, published by the Wayne State University Press, came to light last week — a book that's well worth the reading.

"Forty Years in Politics: The Story of Ben Peinam," is the chronicle of the man who started in 1895 in the Wayne County Treasurer's Office as a junior clerk.

At that time, Peinam was in his thirties and had gained fame as publisher of Detroit's first Negro newspaper, the "Plainedealer."

Through various outwardly unimportant positions, he rose to the place where he virtually controlled Wayne County finances and had earned the title, "Czar of Wayne County."

What prompted our interest in the book?

The name of Plymouth Township Clerk John D. McEwen on Page One, that's what. McEwen, in case you didn't know, spent years in the service of Wayne County before he "retired" to take on the duties of Township Clerk.

McEwen was one of the group known as "Ben's Boys."

"Forty Years in Politics" is a fine piece of reading. We recommend it.

LETTERS:

Time to Do Something

EDITOR'S NOTE: Last week, this letter which appeared in the Livingston County Press in Howell, Mich. was sent to The Plymouth Mail by Vern Taylor of 41888 Brentwood, Plymouth, with the note, "It's about time someone did something."

Dear Editor:

For a nation whose officials give constant lip service to the desire for peace, we certainly seem to have a contradictory foreign policy backing it up.

Recently we started a series of attacks on North Vietnam.

Our reason, according to President Johnson was, "It has become clear that Hanoi has undertaken a more aggressive course of action against both South Vietnam and American installations, and against Americans who are in South Vietnam assisting the people of that country to defend their freedom."

Some of our statesmen are saying, "accelerate the war", others say do that or withdraw. What is so wrong with withdrawal? Are we so perfect we can't err? Are we so belligerent, so falsely proud we can't change course?

VIETNAM is a country divided against itself, much like the U. S. was in civil war days but Vietnamese people live in both North and South Vietnam.

Their only differences is that the North Vietnamese want communism. South Vietnamese want another political ideology (exactly what they do not seem to know themselves).

During the Civil War days in our country, the south wanted slavery, the north did not. The south seceded and a civil war resulted — but we fought it out ourselves. Let the Vietnamese do the same.

UP TO NOW in the current fracas in Vietnam I have yet to read any news releases stating the enemy forces were anything other than the Viet-Cong (Vietnamese), nor have I read that Russian or Red Chinese planes, tanks or armaments were used, much less Russian or Red Chinese soldiers. Yet the United States has both armaments and soldiers in the field of battle.

How must the people of Russia and China react to this? I imagine they would react much like we would if Russian or Chinese forces and armaments were on our shores in Cuba or Mexico.

Yet it is reported that mostly American made weapons, captured by the Viet Cong were used in the assaults against us.

If so, how can we blame Hanoi and North Vietnam instead of the Viet Cong?

So don't we set the stage for the leaders of both these nations to sell their people on our "Imperialistic intentions"?

Couldn't the acknowledged fact that our planes and soldiers attacked North Vietnam be perfect grist for the Russian and Chinese propaganda mills to sell their people on our "aggressive tactics"?

Could this also explain our Moscow embassy being attacked by students recently?

AMERICAN military advisers in Vietnam have long conceded that the major part of Viet Cong weapons are American arms captured from South Vietnamese forces in battle, and in the Pleiku attack on American and Vietnamese forces it is admitted that the heaviest weapons used were American made 81 millimeter mortars.

Why, then, does official Washington try to sell us the idea that communism (other than the Viet Cong which is still made up of Vietnamese) is threatening the freedom of Vietnam — it's their country, let them fight it out.

Getting back to Mr. Johnson's statement above, it would appear that perhaps Hanoi had much less to do with the attack on our forces than did the Viet Cong (Vietnamese) but it must certainly appear to Hanoi, Russia and Red China that we are having quite a bit to do with the South Vietnamese when the Viet Cong can kill our men in mind, destroy our planes, and seize our weapons. It must look to them like we are surely even more active in this war than we accuse them of being.

If this were not true, couldn't we logically expect in our "retaliatory" raids to kill a few Russians or Red Chinese and seize or destroy a few Russian or Chinese made implements of war?

AND AS for making this strike to retaliate against attacked and killed Americans, I, for one contend we have no damned business there in the first place, any more than some "foreign" country would have had business butting into our Civil War, or in Cuba where President Kennedy insisted the Russians leave.

But more importantly, the whole mess is not worth the life of one American soldier alone hundreds, whether the excuse is buffering communism or not.

And, finally, still more importantly, if this action kicks off a major war between the communistic nations and ourselves, what a hollow epitaph will be the word "reprisal" on the thousands of grave-stones.

There must be a better way — there has to be a better way!

If you believe there is — write your Senator or Congressman.

It is said every letter they get, they multiply by at least 100, on the theory there are 99 others who think like you but don't take time to write. You might want to suggest we let the United Nations handle it — but let's withdraw.

We delivered an ultimatum to Russia in Cuba and they withdrew to prevent chance of an all out war — are we any less considerate of world welfare?

LETTERS:

Time to See if Public Really Wants Theater

March 5, 1965

Dear Editor:

I am writing in response to the letters and articles which have been written regarding the Theatre Guild. There is so much to be said on all sides that this would not be adequate; but my observation is that the present situation is due to a vicious circle of events and attitudes.

The public has a right to expect the best possible quality from its entertainers, and on the other hand if it expects the best, it should make every effort to support it. Not just by buying a ticket, but by attending.

To a performer, this is the time to find out if the Plymouth public really wants Community theatre.

I have belonged to the Theatre Guild from its first meeting 18 years ago, and I have seen many things (and people) happen. The chief underlying aim has been to give Plymouth what it would like. The expression I have heard most often has been "Plymouth will (or won't) accept this play." Yet after literally hours of discussion and arguments to hold to this demand, the audiences have been sparse. Yet in the very few instances where an undesirable play has been given, it wasn't long before we heard about it!

I thoroughly agree with Mr. Wallace's letter. The highest calibre of direction available is very important. Many others who have worked with Russ, as I have, feel the same way. The average member of a little theatre group is in it for relaxation, or to learn about theatre; or if he has had experience and is aiming for theatrical fulfillment to the extent of his limitations, then he wants to get as much out of it as possible.

If the director is as inexperienced in his field as the actors, what can he possibly give them? It has been our contention that a competent director knows how to utilize everyone, and bring out a good performance from a complete novice.

AN "OUTSIDER" is not bound by his favorites or prejudices, whereas an inexperienced director from within the group will choose those whom he knows will "carry" the show for him, and many aspirants are left out. Cliques and personalities will appear in any organization, and like the poor, they are "always with us."

But why encourage it? A happy group will put on better productions, and in time this carries over to the audience. One of our loyal members said he joined our Guild because we always seemed to be having so much fun. Indeed it was true; he came in during the period Mr. Wallace mentions. A point which I learned in early years of dramatic training was "Never underestimate your audience."

In defense of Mr. Rumpf, I feel that the average John Q. Public is not aware of the machinations of a production, and if the cast and crew has gone to a lot of effort, there should be enough people there to see it. Aside from those who go to plays for entertainment, everyone in the cast should have enough people interested in him to see him perform.

To blame a ny particular faction is useless and silly. Everyone in the Theatre Guild and the audience is part of the Plymouth Community. The responsibility rests with all of us if we truly want community theatre.

My personal opinion is that the Plymouth people are over-organized. There are so many groups going that I get exhausted reading about them. The general trend seems to be a constant grabbing for support of each one with no thought for the others. If each one would show an eagerness to support others, there should be enough mutual pleasure — and money — to go around.

I appreciated Doug Johnson's and Jacquie Town's articles, but I take exception to her statement that "There was a time when Plymouth had a hard working group." Gal, we're still a hard working group!

I, as a member of the Guild, have reached the cross-roads of indecision. I think that after 18 years, a thought of discontinuing would not be a snap judgement. At present, the only satisfaction I get from the Guild is from working with the splendid people who have worked so hard to keep it going.

I've worked on various phases of productions through the years, but my greatest happiness comes from entertaining my friends and associates from the footlights. However when I look at the audience and very few of them are there, I feel "What's the use?" I am only one — multiply that following by every member of the cast, and you come up with a small audience.

May I say here that I send bouquets to those of you who have stood by us through the years?

Respectfully,
Effie L. Kuisel

State Rep. Cites 43 Plymouth Seniors

March 4, 1965

Dear Editor:

On Tuesday, March 2, 1965, I, as freshman member of our State Legislature, enjoyed one of my most gratifying experiences in two and one-half decades since I first embarked on public service at the community level.

It was the pride I took in introducing the 43 seniors of the Plymouth High School class in Comparative Government and their two teachers, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Homer, to the Michigan House of Representatives.

It was unfortunate that I could not be with them during the entire period of their visit, but I had three committee meetings that morning and I know that they, as students of the process of government, understand the importance of the decisions that occur at committee levels.

When I looked at these healthy, interested, and courteous young men and women, I realized how foolish the detractors of our youth are when they express lack of confidence in this new generation and when they fail to realize that the future, the ideals, and the heritage of our nation will be in hands that are not only strong, clean, and capable, but also sincerely dedicated to the high principles of freedom and justice for which so many of our forefathers paid the supreme sacrifice to establish on this continent.

I just pray that I, as a legislator, can be as worthy of the trust that has been assigned to my keeping as these fine young people are worthy of the confidence and pride of every one of us.

Sincerely,
State Representative
James Tierney

The Grim Pilgrim

By DAVE WILEY

Being the kind of a guy who hates to foist unwanted opinions off on a generally disinterested public, I always do my best to steer clear of controversy in the emotion-laden field of partisan politics.

But a constant reader and close friend has been after me for a personal assessment of Lt. Governor William G. Milliken following his Thursday evening appearance in Plymouth.

I'll admit it's awfully presumptuous for a newspaperman to admit he has either a close friend or a constant reader, but this one is about as close and constant as they come.

"Well, smartie, what did you think of him?" inquired my helmsman, counselor, critic, crying towel and the lady who hollers at me to pick up my coat off the chair-where-I-threw-it.

"He's cute," was the reply. "He's got a nice smile and wavy hair and dimples."

"There are times," she noted, "when I get the distinct impression that you're an intellectual pygmy."

You're in good company, honey. You oughta see some of the letters that come in.

Seriously, though, the question is there, immutable, demanding a personal — if not public — answer.

What do I think of Bill Milliken?

In the end, or the beginning if you prefer, what I think of Michigan's young, personable Lieutenant Governor is contingent upon what I think of the party he represents.

And this, in all sincerity, is what I think of the Republican party:

Republicanism, historically, has represented the principles of independence, self-reliance and the inherent dignity of man. Its philosophy has been geared to the cliché that God does, in fact, help those who help themselves. The past record of the GOP is one of paradox — even dichotomy, contrasts which are most obvious in the two men the party loves most.

In Theodore Roosevelt, the Republican party found youth and drive and vibrance and guts. But in Abraham Lincoln, more than a half century before the Rough Rider, it committed itself irrevocably to love and compassion.

Therefore, it would seem to me, that the GOP — if it would survive — must offer the affection of Lincoln, the youthful zest of a Roosevelt.

Milliken seems to have these qualities.

After he spoke the other evening, a friend approached, obviously impressed with the Lt. Governor. And we talked together about what the man said, how he said it and his meaning.

Our inept conclusion was that the salvation of the GOP, yea, verily, the two-party system, lies in men like Milliken.

Let me stray briefly. Last week, at home, I received an anonymous letter warning me that continued criticism on my part of the Republican party would surely result in unhappiness.

Let me allay the writer's fears. I do not hate the party. I do not dislike the principles it has historically championed.

I do not espouse the philosophy of either major partisan organization. But, there is a sentimental attachment on my part for the two-party system; and I hate to see it travel to Hell in a handbasket simply because the looney-bin fringe has pre-empted control of the Republican machinery.

The party should aspire to greatness, not to the puerile pettiness that prompts news releases like this:

"The Republican Congressional Committee charged that Rep. Weston E. Vivian's vote against continuation of the House Un-American Activities Committee 'lined him up with every subversive organization in the country which is trying to abolish the committee.'"

Taking honest issue with the Congressman's vote is one thing; but the weary McCarthyist tactic of guilt by association is another.

But back to Milliken. His finest moments

Thursday evening were his concluding ones. Asked how he felt about open-occupancy, the Lt. Governor was firm and direct. He referred to the moral and ethical responsibility human beings have toward their brethren; and he expanded that morality throughout his remarks.

It showed when he spoke of education.

It was obvious when he referred to tax reform. It stuck out all over.

It pervaded the atmosphere and fairly shrieked, "This is a Republican who is living in the last half of the Twentieth Century."

"This is a Republican who is aware."

"This is a Republican who cares about his state, his nation and his world, beyond his personal political ambitions."

"This is the kind of Republican who, with others like George Romney, Mark Hatfield of Oregon, Thomas Kuchel of California and John Lindsay of New York, offer a real salvation for the party."

What do I think of him? I think he deserves to be ranked among Michigan's finest Republicans.

The party needs all the Millikens it can get.

The Legion is now composed of three wars, of whom more than 2,500,000 are members. It is the largest organization of war veterans in history and its record of accomplishments also is large.
