

PCF collections ahead of last year

With collections well ahead of last year's, Plymouth Community Fund drive officials last week reported a little over $40,000 in so far.

The figure represents about one-half of the $80,000 goal.

At a meeting held at Hillside Inn, division chairmen made detailed reports of progress. A final report will be made at a victory dinner to be held tomorrow, Thursday, at the newly-decorated Mayflower Meeting House, above the Chamber of Commerce offices. The dinner will kick off at 8:30, with the final reports made just before.

NEAL K. FENKELL, who heads up the Detroit Tiger television network, will be guest speaker at the banquet. The dinner will fetter the division chairmen, team captains and block workers.

James Orvis will be master of ceremonies.

President of the Community Fund, Frank Palmer, and John Kamego, general chairman, will make brief comments.

Palmer commented at the report meeting last week:

"The drive is going very well; it's going excellently. The community is showing its support. Things are much better than last year.

"To reach our goal, however, we need to keep everyone working at the same pace."

Plymouth Community Fund officials are holding their breath to see if initial indications are correct — that the fund may top all records.

The residential drive was reported going extremely well. Mrs. Martin Schomberger, division chairman, reported a total of $6,073, and about another $400 in pledges.

Kamego commented at the report meeting that he had forecasted a need of $5600 from residential, and was not only surprised, but pleased by the returns.

And there are still more to come, Mrs. Schomberger said.

GEORGE BURROWS also reported that his division, industrial, was running very strong. Burrows reported a total of $5,620 in corporate gifts so far, and $12,560 in employee contributions, for a total of $18,182.

Kamego also commented on this report: "The corporate giving is about the same level, but the employee giving seems to be on the upswing."

Business, under Terry West, of National Bank of Detroit, reported a total of $15,226. This represents about one-third of the total. West said. At least two-thirds of the businesses have yet to report. The money raised thus far by West comes near to the complete total raised in the same division last year.

Dr. Ray Barber, who is heading the newly-formed professional division, said he would make a final report Nov. 4, at the victory dinner. "I expect about $2,000. I will be surprised if we get more than $2,000, and I hope to be surprised," he said.

Kamego noted that this was the first year for the professional division, and that any results would be welcome. "We're building," he said.

JIM DOYLE, of the educational division, was unable to report in person. He had told Kamego that the drive in the schools among the students and the teachers was progressing very well. He will also make his final report on Nov. 4.

Robert Sincovek, who heads up the governmental division, said things were going very well, but that a final report would not be in until the victory dinner.

The drive began Oct. 11, and is the give-once-for-all effort of The Plymouth Community to collect funds for the various agencies.

The final report meeting will total up cash on hand, pledges, and come up with a "best possible estimate," said Frank Palmer, PCF head, in conclusion at last week's report gathering.

ALL FOR THE COMMUNITY FUND. They gathered in a neighborhood garage in August, put on the "Sound of Music" to the delight of the other children and parents, and earned $1.01 for charity. The money was turned over recently to this year's Plymouth Community Fund Drive. Sherry Godfrey, left rear, directed the show and Gail Honey, next to her, played Maria. The rest of the cast, in order, from left to right, are Sandy Stump, Michelle Gilbo, Marsha Brown, Brad Kerr, Julie Smith, Debbie Honey, Brian Kerr, and Debbie Kerr. Heidi and Amy Erderle, who have moved, are not pictured.

Summer fun makes $1.01 for PCF

Mothers the world over are pestered to death in the summer by energetic offspring who ask "What can we do?" One group of Plymouth kids this summer didn't have to ask; they put on a play in their neighborhood to raise money for charity, or the Plymouth Community Fund.

Last week the money they raised — a whopping $1.01 — was turned over to the drive's general chairman, John Kamego.

"It's very definitely not the amount that is important," Kamego said. "It's important because the youngsters, on their own, decided to raise some money for the Community Fund. It's a refreshing attitude and spirit."

The group was headed by Sherry Godfrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Godfrey, 15048 Maplewood Ln. She, and other children from the Lake Pointe neighborhood gathered together in a nearby garage and hatched their idea this August.

"We all thought of it," Miss Godfrey said last week. "Sure," said another, Gail Honey, "we didn't have anything to do so one day we all got together and found something to do."

THE "SOMETHING" was "The Sound of Music," which the children, 12 of them, practiced twice a day for a week.

"All the kids are good singers," Gail said. "We sang 'Do, Re, Mi,' 'The Sound of Music' and 'My Favorite Things.'"

They sang, and talked, and practiced. Then one day late in August, they performed the play before the neighborhood kids. And that night the parents crowded into the garage to hear the production.

"Everybody liked it because it was a musical," Miss Godfrey said. She received a bouquet of flowers from the cast for her work as the Captain, and as director.

"Oh we had a ball," concluded Miss Honey. Among the cast members were Heidi and Amy Erderle, who moved away, Sherry Godfrey, Gail Honey, Sandy Stump, Michelle Gilbo, Marsha Brown, Brad Kerr, Julie Smith, Debbie Honey, Brian Kerr and Debbie Kerr.

Conferences, open house at PHS shop set

Ban overnight parking on City streets to aid DPW

Parking on all City of Plymouth streets will be prohibited between 2 a.m. and 6 a.m., based on an ordinance presented for the first time Monday night at the City Commission meeting.

The Commission passed the ordinance through its first reading, determined it an emergency, and will probably put the new law into effect within a month. The exact effective date will be announced in the near future.

Two more readings and publication are needed before the ordinance can take effect. The ordinance was submitted by City attorney Edward Draugelis as an amendment to the traffic ordinance and it reads, in part: "It shall be unlawful to park any vehicle on any street in the City of Plymouth between the hours of 2 a.m. and 6 a.m. of any day. The Chief of Police for good cause, may grant special parking permits permitting parking of vehicles during the above hours, provided each permit is granted for a definite period of time."

THE NEW ordinance also provides officers with authority to impound vehicles, and collect fees for such impoundment.

If a car is allowed to stand in violation of the 2 a.m. to 6 a.m. parking prohibition, it may be removed. The new law also reads, in part:

"Whenever an officer removes a vehicle from a highway under this section, a fee of $10 shall be charged for the moving of the vehicle as provided in this section. In addition to the above fee there shall also be collected the sum of $2 (Continued on Page 8)

Township begins work on vast sewer line

A $750,000 sewer project along Joy Rd. broke ground in Plymouth Township Monday morning, with City and Township officials looking on.

The project's target date for completion is January 1, 1968, according to John McEwen, Township supervisor, and Don Gargaro, general contractor for the project.

City of Plymouth's mayor, James Houk, McEwen, Gargaro, and other governmental leaders were present when the project began.

The project will be started near the C&O tracks along Joy Rd.

It will tie in with the City's sewer, take care of the flow-age from the west and eliminate the pumping by the City, according to McEwen.

"This is our biggest sewer project; it's a $6 million line that will run along Joy and up Tonquish Creek," McEwen said last week.

THE PROJECT was supposed to be started in August, but construction delays have postponed it until November 1.

McEwen indicated that (Continued on Page 8)

Stray slug misses woman by inches in trailer park

A stray slug from an unidentified source slammed through a trailer in the Oak Haven Trailer Court Sunday morning, narrowly missing one of the occupants, Mrs. Cleo Curtis.

The slug, according to Redford State Police officer Corporal Frank Pronger, tunneled through the outside wall, went through a bathroom, and lodged in an inside wall. The trailer is located at 49443 Maple St.

Clyde Smith, one of the owners of the trailer park, reported the matter to The Mail Monday. He thinks the (Continued on Page 8)

Seek rabid cat

A 1½-year-old Plymouth girl will be forced to undergo a series of painful rabies shots if a long-haired calico cat owned by her grandparents is not found.

A plea was issued Tuesday by Assistant Police Chief Loren Johnson for Plymouth residents to be on the lookout for the animal.

Debbie Mynatt, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Phillips of 334 N. Evergreen, was bitten by the cat on October 24. The animal, which must be kept under observation if Debbie is to avoid the rabies injections, disappeared last Friday.

Persons seeing the cat are urged to call the Phillips family at 453-2423 or Plymouth Police at 453-1234.

POLICE BAFFLED Vandalism hits new high

The wave of window-smashing vandalism hit new peaks this weekend with at least 28 complaints reaching City of Plymouth police.

Vandals had been smashing car windows out on various streets in the City for the past four weeks, at night, at the rate of about ten a week. Police still have no clues as to who is doing the damage.

Then, last Friday during the Plymouth High School football game, the destruction hit a new high.

Assistant police chief Loren Johnson called a 11 nine of Plymouth's officers off of game duty, and put them on the streets in cars looking for the culprits.

Patrolman William Fletcher reported to the Mail late Friday night that the damage was the worst he had seen in many years.

"We've been chasing them all night," Fletcher said. "And we never quite catch up with them."

THE VANDALISM has been confined to cars parked along streets; side and rear windows have been smashed on scores of cars in the last few weeks.

Insurance company reports confirm the damage has been extensive.

Recently, an insurance executive, Earl Merriman, proposed a Citizens Block Patrol to curb vandalism. He urged the formation of the group to sign complaints against vandals and, when alerted by police, take up stations in neighborhoods and watch for violations.

Chief Johnson outlined the problem Monday:

"We had 28 over the weekend but I'm sure there were more that weren't reported." When asked if he suspected teenage vandals, he said:

"Sure I suspect teenage vandals. Whoever's doing it has got something wrong with their head. I'm going to throw the book at them when we catch them. I don't give a damn who it is."

Johnson said the weekend had been free of normal Halloween vandalism.

HE URGED all City residents to park their cars off of the streets at night whenever possible.

Police state they have no concrete suspect or clues in the case. They feel that either an air rifle, pellet gun, or just plain hammer is being used to smash the windows.

The window smashing began about four weeks ago with reports of eight windows smashed along Adams St. The vandals missed a week, then eight or so were reported last week, at scattered spots.

Then this weekend they hit on Byron, Dewey, Simpson, Hartsough, Ross, Union Streets and the lot behind the City Hall.

Friday night policemen followed the trail of broken windows, found and reported some themselves.

Radar unit to aid City police on speed control, surveys

A compact and extremely accurate radar traffic timer will be added to the City of Plymouth's police equipment in the near future.

The City Commission approved the expenditure last month, and City police chief Kenneth Fisher said this week the unit had arrived and was ready for use.

Fisher also took the opportunity to explain that the radar did indicate a crackdown on speeders:

"I can't get excited about a crackdown. This always infers that we'll give everybody a ticket this week and the rest of the year the hell with it."

"Crackdowns just aren't an answer," he added.

FISHER pointed to two uses for the unit — speed control and speed surveys — and noted that the unit's big advantage was mobility.

The Muni-Quip Radar Timer comes with two units—an antenna and a speed timer, or meter. The antenna hangs on the window of the police car, and the timer sets inside.

The whole thing weighs less than 15 pounds, rides in a suitcase a little larger than a brief case. Fisher commented on the new equipment:

"The greatest advantage of this radar is its mobility.

And there is no question on its accuracy. If these units weren't, they wouldn't be accepted in court."

"Basically what we've got is a piece of equipment to try and control speeding year around. It was bought because it is a better piece of equipment than our old timer."

The City police have an out-dated timer, which takes one-half hour to set up and the same to dismantle, thus making it impossible to use regularly.

RADAR HAS BEEN added to the City's police equipment and will be in use for speed control and speed surveys in the near future. Assistant police chief Loren Johnson, left, and patrolman Henry A. Berghoff demonstrate how easy the unit is to handle. The highly accurate unit consists of a speed meter and a small antenna that hangs on the outside of the car. It fits neatly into a suitcase.

A thoughtful and reasonable solution

There are several viewpoints that a community newspaper can take when an area is hit by a spurt of malicious and destructive vandalism.

One course suggested is: "Ignore it and maybe it'll go away."

This reasoning is based on an assumption that the havoc is wrought by youthful punks who will get the destructive urge out of their system and eventually stop. Publicity, it is said, will only encourage continuation of the vandalism and perhaps lure others into participation.

This is a cynical and negative viewpoint.

First of all, most youngsters decry vandalism. They know that the older generation, with its penchant for generalization, will tend to brand teens as a whole for the damage.

The majority of them, therefore, are eager to see vandalism halted; they have no inclination to participate or add to the destruction.

What to do? A thoughtful and reasonable solution was offered last week by insurance man Earl Merriman of the C. L. Finlan & Son Agency.

Merriman proposes groups of well trained, unarmed, radio equipped citizen patrollers to act as observers and report to Plymouth Police.

He does not suggest a wild-eyed group of vigilantes who would usurp traditional police functions. Rather, he sees the Plymouth Citizens Block Patrol as an organization that would fill a void by signing complaints against violators — something that it's unfortunately hard to get people to do.

Meanwhile, the destruction goes on.

A poll of local insurance agencies has revealed from 45 to 60 damage claims in the past two weeks. Some of them involve side window breakage on automobiles and others, smashed windshields.

Side windows cost from $15 to $20 to replace. Windshields range from $85 to $100.

Assistant Police Chief Loren Johnson

urges citizens to park their vehicles in garages at night or — lacking a garage — to pull them well up in the driveway.

It's not difficult to agree with Superintendent of Public Safety Kenneth Fisher's comment last week that the citizens patrol plan has merit. He and Merriman are expected to meet shortly and discuss the idea in greater detail.

Their meeting, hopefully, will be productive and lead toward making the citizens patrol — which we support — a reality. Persons interested in the project should call Merriman at 453-6000 or 453-3638.

Many people have commented favorably in the past week on News Editor Doug Johnson's column on Hubert Horatio Humphrey.

I was impressed too. Up until now it has always been my impression that Hubert was something of a cornball.

But I take my hat off to any guy who can inspire Doug Johnson to shine his shoes.

In the newspaper business the things that don't get into print are often as funny as the things that do. Like the ad copy that a local realtor sent us last week.

"Small home in wooded area in Northville," it said, "suitable for bachelor and single woman. Everything of finest quality."

After our blushing linotype operator, Nellie Fillmore, hurried to me with the ad, I called the gentleman who had submitted it.

"Good grief, no," he commented. "It should read 'bachelor OR single woman.'"

I promised I wouldn't tell his name. He owns James W. Taylor Real Estate though.

When the fire whistle blew Monday evening, I grabbed the battered press camera and shot out the office door.

"Gee," a guy on the sidewalk commented, "must be a big fire. Every truck in the station's gone by."

"Nah," I reassured him. "They do that for a garbage can." But I was wrong. It was a clothes dryer.

I always thought car advertising was a bunch of hokey. That's wrong too.

At the clothes dryer conflagration, I saw a minor league miracle.

City Commissioner Arch Vallier and Superintendent of Public Safety Kenneth Fisher both got into a tiny Mustang.

Together, yet. And it still drove. That's total performance.

Vallier got even with me though.

At Cloverdale Dairy after the city commission meeting, guess who got to pay for the round of sundaes and banana splits and triple thick shakes that the city had ordered?

"That'll go on the old expense account," one of the commissioners commented. "He'll mark it up to entertaining city officials."

"Quite to the contrary," I said in my smooth and urbane manner. "City commission meetings keep me entertained and I figure turn about is fair play."

Have been reading Gore Vidal's novel, JULIAN, during the past week. It's about Emperor Julian Augustus's effort to stamp out Christianity and restore the Hellenistic beliefs.

One can't help but wonder what course world history would have taken had he succeeded.

If the Hellenistic philosophers and their methods had triumphed, would mankind have been spared the agony and ignorance of the dark ages, the injustices of the inquisition, the bloodshed of wars?

This is election day and I wish I were in New York. I would like to be present when William F. Buckley concedes defeat. He is so articulate that whatever he says will sound less conciliatory than the winner's remarks.

Buckley's stentorian tones and cultivated sneer are vastly attractive.

He's written a piece in the current ESQUIRE on behalf of a man who faces the electric chair as a convicted killer.

Buckley is so convinced that an injustice has been done that he sounds more like an American Civil Libertarian than editor of the NATIONAL REVIEW. Life is full of paradoxes.

Back to Doug Johnson. He's written a truly moving column this week on the life and times of one John McFall.

The picture on the front of the second section of The Plymouth Mail was taken after McFall read the effort. The shutter clicked just as McFall said: "You didn't even shine your shoes!"

Full time man is needed

The Township of Plymouth is in the throes of hiring a combination public safety director, building inspector and water department aide.

Apparently it is felt if a man were hired to boss the fire department, that in itself would not be enough work. So, other duties have been added to his job.

If he were hired to run the fire department, he would have five full time men under him. The department and he would still be responsible to the Fire Administration Board, the Civil Service Commission and the Township Board.

It ends up with 16 men bossing a five-man fire department, which doesn't make a lot of sense.

Nor does it seem reasonable to hire a retired policeman, or other experienced public safety officer, and have him crawling around under new houses to see if plumbing was put in right, and furnaces installed properly.

That's not our idea of a public safety director.

It would be more logical for Plymouth Township's public safety director to assume the administrative duties of running the fire department which will grow larger because of changes in State law regarding the number of hours a fireman can work, and because of increasing population.

In addition the new man, if he had the proper experience, could begin study and work on formation of the Township police department, whatever form it is to take.

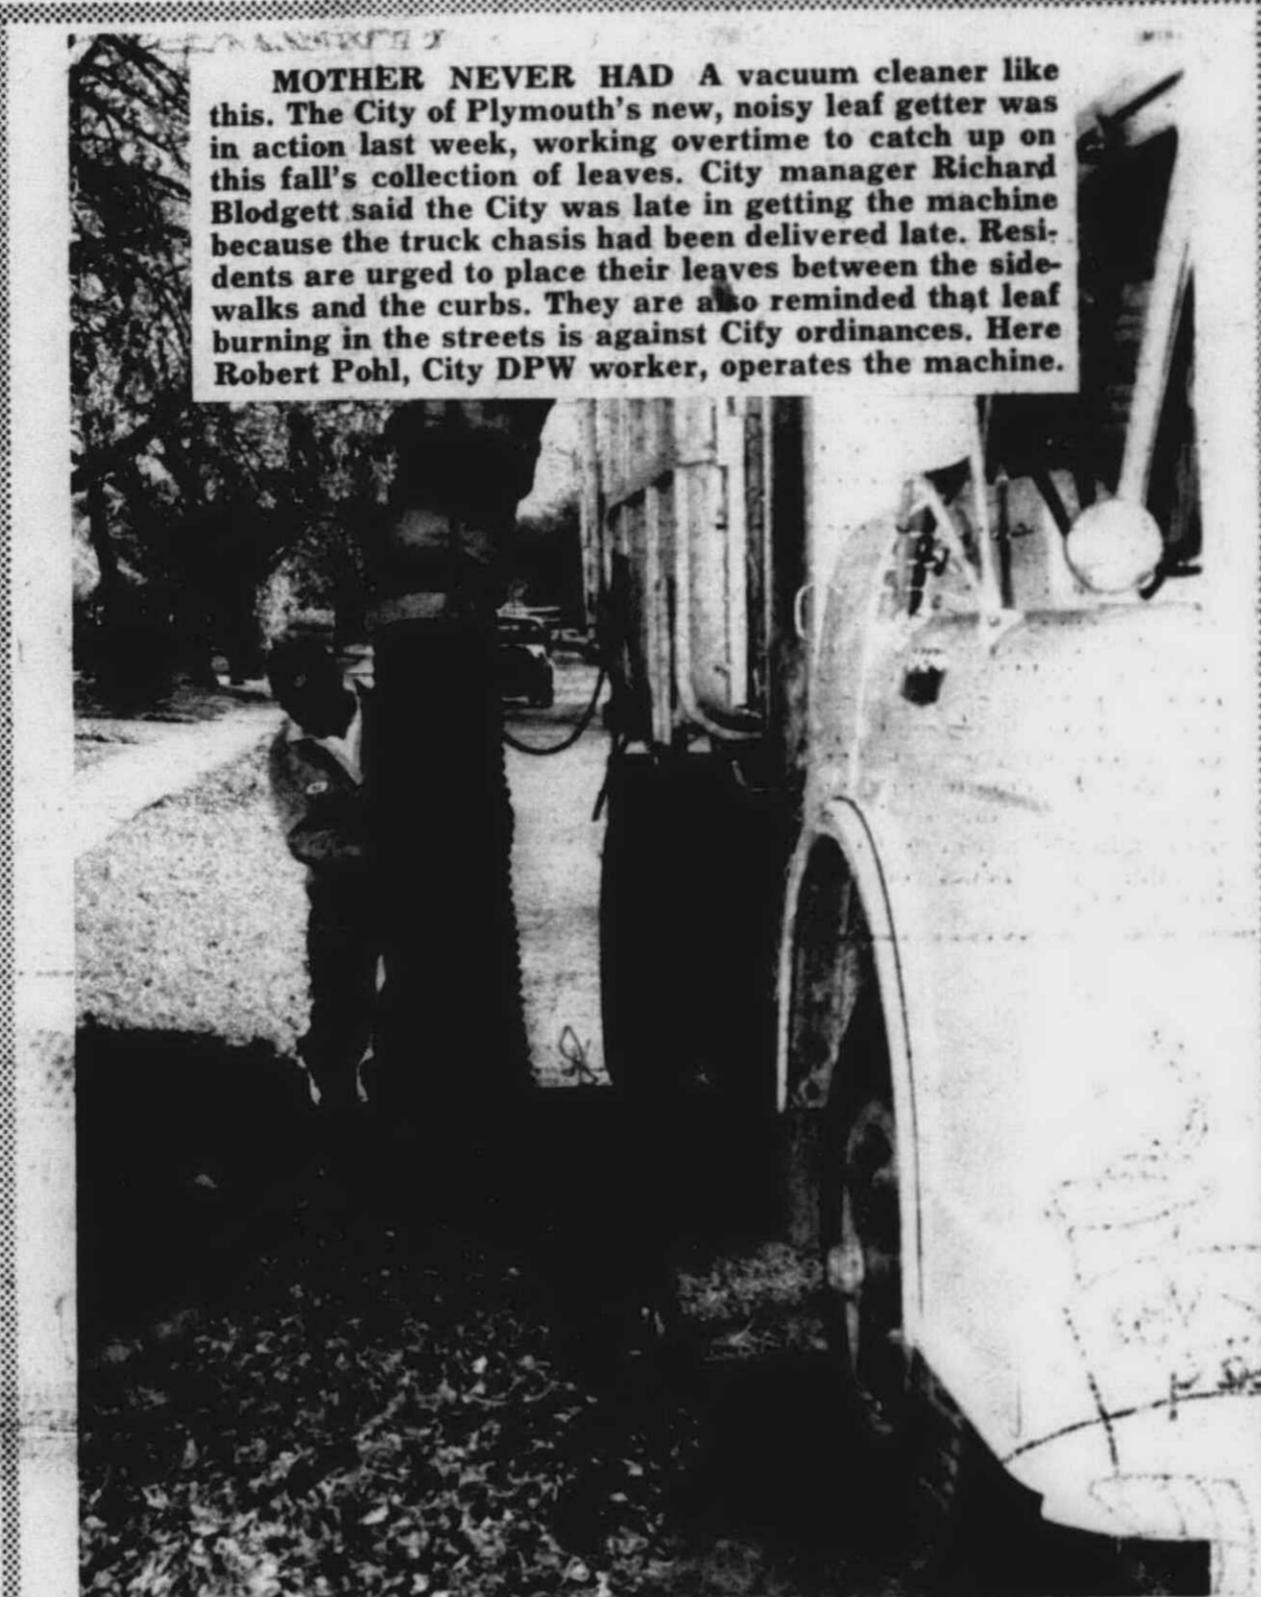

A year's work by one qualified man on a proposed police department is not too much to expect for something as important as police protection.

A few weeks back Township Trustee Richard Lauterbach asked for action on his police report, now many months old. He was urged to hold off until a public safety director, who would review the problem, could be hired.

Now, such a position and man is in the offing, and his duties apparently will not include a study of police protection.

The matter should be handled right in the first place. The person hired should know fire, police work and administrative procedures. He should study the police angle, as Lauterbach asked and was promised.

The addition of a part time public safety director, busy with a multitude of duties, would shortchange a vital area of public service — safety.

MOTHER NEVER HAD A vacuum cleaner like this. The City of Plymouth's new, noisy leaf blower was in action last week, working overtime to catch up on this fall's collection of leaves. City manager Richard Blodgett said the City was late in getting the machine because the truck chassis had been delivered late. Residents are urged to place their leaves between the sidewalks and the curbs. They are also reminded that leaf burning in the streets is against City ordinances. Here Robert Pohl, City DPW worker, operates the machine.

Radar will aid City police

Assistant police chief Loren Johnson has demonstrated the machine to several of his patrolmen. He emphasized that it had to be checked each time with a highly sensitive tuning fork.

HE SAID each officer would be instructed that times recorded would not be accepted as accurate unless the test had been made.

Johnson said the unit plugged into the cigarette lighter, and takes about ten minutes to warm up.

The unit cost the city just under $1000.

Fisher said it would be used at school crossings, and on on-called 'trouble' streets. These are streets that may have been reporting a rash of speeders. One such street is Aams Street near the High School at the time school lets out.

The antenna picks up the wave reflections of an approaching car; the change in the frequency of the waves is proportionate to the speed of the car. An amplifier converter changes the frequency into miles per hour.

Surveys on traffic flow speeds will also be taken with the unit. Fisher recalled that when traffic was being tied up on Main St., a survey showed the average speed at busy times was 14 miles per hour.

On-street parking was removed, the average speed of the traffic picked up considerably, and traffic accidents were reduced.

"I HAVE doubts about some of our speed limits now," Fisher said.

"They are too low in some areas. With this unit we can study speed limits." Continuing Fisher said:

"The old theory was that if everybody drove slow you wouldn't have accidents. Now we set the limit on average speed."

The results, Fisher added, show fewer accidents.

Studies would be made with the unit at various points, and covering various time periods.

Three hurt in separate cycle mishaps

Two motorcyclists received minor injuries on Oct. 26 when they were involved in two separate accidents.

Mark A. Neumann, 47022 Stonecrest, ran into a car driven by Faith Fortier of Garden City at the Harvey St. entrance to the central parking lot, according to Plymouth police.

Neumann and his passenger, Paul Diveto, 1242 Williams, were taken to Wayne County General Hospital with minor injuries. Police stated that Neumann was ticketed for an improper right turn.

In another motorcycle accident the same evening, Paul C. Densmore, 1200 Hartough, received minor injuries when his bike collided with a car driven by Diana L. Asseltine, 481 W. Ann Arbor Trail. Miss Asseltine was given a ticket for failure to yield, according to Plymouth police.

children in seven discussion groups. Another 30-40 students are waiting for a leader in order to participate.

The groups are limited to about 14 children, with an equal number of boys and girls in each group.

The Junior Great Books program started in 1961 in the Detroit area as a pilot group sponsored by the adult Great Books Foundation which got its start in Chicago in 1947.

Essentially, the Junior Great Books program is for pleasure and enrichment. It is a useful addition to the student's normal studies.

The purpose of the program is to give the children an incentive to read the great books of the past 2,000 years.

Meeting for 1 1/2 hours every three weeks, the children have a set of 12 books which they discuss during the year. Fifth graders read works such as "Aesop's Fables," "Pied Piper of Hamelin," "Selections in Science," "A Christmas Carol," and "Treasure Island," among others.

By the time they get to the ninth grade the children are reading Homer's "Odyssey," Aristotle's "Rhetoric," Swift's "Gulliver's Travels," Thoreau's "Walden" and others.

The leader's tuition free training course will begin the week of Jan. 10. Trainees learn the Socratic technique of guiding discussions, based on asking questions, not giving answers.

Leaders this year include Mr. and Mrs. Fred Andres, Mr. and Mrs. William Birge, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lawson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Worsnop, Mrs. Robert Andrews, Mrs. George Lawton, Mrs. William Nelson, Mrs. Norman Thoburn, Mrs. Donald Sutherland, Mrs. David Wiley, and Mrs. James McKeon.

PLYMOUTH PANTRIES

Mother of 17 cooks the quick way

Quick and easy—that's the way Mrs. Joseph LeBlanc, 13443 Banbury, likes to cook. The Lemon Velvet Cake she suggests this week is just that—quick, easy and delicious. She says her whole family enjoys this dessert.

And with a family of 17 children, it's not always easy to please everyone. With such a large family, we were interested in a few statistics concerning the amount of food the LaBlancs eat at each meal.

Slim and trim Mrs. LeBlanc says she uses 9 to 10 pounds of meat at each dinner meal. She cooks 36 pork chops for one sitting and the family consumes 84 quarts of milk each week.

Sixteen of the children are at home in the lovely six bedroom home in the Glenview subdivision which Mr. LeBlanc is developing. Joey, 19, is attending St. Thomas College, St. Paul, Minn.

The other children are Jeannie, 22, and Dorothy, 20, who are working girls. Jim, 18, Don, 17, and Jon, 15, attend St. John's high school, Ypsilanti. Peggy, 14, is a student at Our Lady of Mercy high school, Farmington. Tim, 13, Tom, 12, Sue, 11, Donna, 9, Mary Jo, 8, and Michelle, 7, attend Our Lady of Good Counsel. Pat, 4, is in kindergarten at Bird school and Therese, 3, Dan, 2, and Anne, 15 months, keep their mother company at home.

Mrs. LeBlanc is a member of Rosary Society and enjoys swimming and water skiing. The LeBlancs have been residents of Plymouth for about nine years.

This is the quick dessert she suggests this week.

PLACING HER QUICK and easy Lemon Velvet Cake in the oven is Mrs. Joseph LeBlanc of Banbury Rd. She says the entire family of 19 enjoys this dessert.

LEMON VELVET CAKE
1 pkg. lemon velvet cake mix
1 pkg. instant lemon pudding
4 eggs
¼ C. salad oil
¼ C. water
Mix together. Beat 10 minutes. Pour into 9 x 13 cake pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes.

ICING
2 C. powdered sugar
2 Tbl. salad oil
1/3 C. orange juice
Beat until smooth. Prick cake. Pour on cake while warm so icing seeps through the cake.

Park dumps Rocks 13-0; W. Lake next

Allen Park shaped up as Plymouth's best bet for a victory this football season, but the Park just wouldn't cooperate.

Halfback Jim Szoszek got two touchdowns, one when he reversed his field and snaked out a sure trap on the sideline, and led Allen Park to a 13-0 decision over the Rocks, Friday night, here.

Plymouth has one game to go and has yet to win; the closest thing to it was a tie early in the season, 13-13 with Belleville.

The rest of the scores have been lopsided, often shutouts against the Rocks, who are experiencing their worst season in many years.

Coach John McFall continued to experiment with underclassmen and green linemen, and alternated Dave Prochaska and Jim Arnold at quarterback.

ALLEN PARK stumbled around in the opening minutes, then on an off-tackle gambit gained 15 yards and several more when end Gary Phillips grabbed a pass from Steve Weshale, quarterback.

Then Weshale tucked the ball under his arm on a trap play of sorts, and ran 15 yards up the middle. Szoszek took to the sidelines, set Allen Park up on the 1 yard line, and then plunged in for the score.

With Prochaska at quarterback, and Jon Adams picking up some nice yardage, it appeared the Rocks might retaliate.

But Prochaska's pass was intercepted by Szoszek, who doubles as a defensive back.

Later, after Allen Park had been forced to kick, Ron Lowe grabbed a pass to put the Rocks at midfield. But again the Rock offense just couldn't jell, and the drive faltered.

Prochaska had trouble all night with his passing, and had two other passes intercepted later in the game.

IN THE THIRD quarter,

Allen Park put together a sustained drive for the second touchdown. Gambling at midfield, in a fourth down and seven to go situation, Weshale passed to Jim Palming, complete.

Then halfback Szoszek broke the game wide open with a cross field run that saw him break two tackles, get trapped on the sideline, then reverse his field and dart into the end zone for the TD. The PAT was good.

Poor pursuit has plagued the Rock defense all season, and that play showed why. Late in the fourth quarter Plymouth was threatening but Prochaska had two different passes intercepted, as the Park cut short two late Rock scoring efforts.

Plymouth netted 15 yards rushing in the first half, and 52 passing. They netted a negative nine yards in the second half.

Allen Park rushed for 68 yards in the first half, 145 the second half.

The Park passed for 21 yards in the first half, and 11 in the second.

COACH McFALL had no comment on his sixth defeat of the season, his first year as head football coach.

Plymouth faces Walled Lake, there, this Friday. The game pits the Rocks against a powerhouse team that has surprised several opponents so far this year.

The game is the last of the season. A victory would make the Rocks 1-6-1 for the season. Allen Park now stands 3-3 in league play.

JON ADAMS, Plymouth halfback, runs around end early in the first quarter for a big gain, as several Allen Park defenders force him to the sidelines.

The Sporting Life

McFall grins and bears it

Doug Johnson

John McFall has a puckish sense of humor; so wrote my predecessor, sports editor Bill Nelson.

John McFall, head football coach for Plymouth High School, has maintained that sense of humor throughout the season — a season which has caught the Rocks 'tres dishabile', or figuratively, with their pants down.

The hapless footballers have managed only a tie and six resounding defeats so far. McFall has grumbled and grunted, but still managed some humor.

A sample. During the first week of practice I trundled over for a picture of him, and his two new coaches, Frank Fisher (JV) and Pat Montagano, varsity assistant. I lined them up in a row, and handed them a football. "What's this?" McFall asked.

"That's a football," I said. "You know . . . so our readers will know this is football practice." McFall turned to his new helpers.

"OK, fellas. This-is-a-football," he said, voicing the words very slowly. "What is this Doug, pornography?"

I told him no.

After a 32-0 trouncing at Bentley, we spoke briefly as we left the field.

"Good luck with Trenton," I said. "Luck?" he snorted. "We'll need horseshoes."

McFall is very quiet with the press. No off-the-top-of-the-head quotes, and no comments on his team. He's waiting for them to win before he heaps any praise. Then, knowing him, it will be sparing.

McFall has made no public excuses for the lackluster season; nor has he blamed any one team member, or one of his assistants.

Or himself. He has instead asked his players to learn from their mistakes. And they have come to every game expecting to win because that's the kind of coach McFall is.

He firmly believes they can win. Not once during the season has he mentioned to me lack of talent, depth or quarterbacks, or anything.

"You're not going to beat Walled Lake," I said after the game Friday.

"Wanna bet?" he replied. "They can win."

Later Friday, McFall noticed me toying with a pom-pom someone had turned into the office. He asked:

"What's that. What are you? A go-go girl?" I had to admit I was a lot of terrible things, but I was not a go-go girl.

McFall will have little chance to rest. He is also head swimming coach, and his team will start practice very soon after football season ends. His record there is extremely good, including a State Championship.

Not once during the season have I heard a bad comment about McFall from anybody who knows him. He pushes hard, and goes extra hard himself.

"He really works you," said one youngster in the Swim Club to me once last year. "He's a good coach," he added.

Such things don't always show on the scoreboard.

A sad footnote to the season was the poor attendance at last week's game. There's something nice about the staunch fan who is always there win or lose, it makes the game so much more fun.

Plymouth apparently doesn't have too many.

Honor Saxton employee

Harland Smith of Saxtons Garden Center has received a special graduation certificate of achievement awarded by the Scotts Technical Institute at Marysville, Ohio. Included in the week long school attended by lawn specialists from 11 states were classes devoted to the identification and control of weeds, insects, and diseases, latest cultural procedures and the newest scientific lawn equipment. Instructors were the research men of O. M. Scott & Sons. Smith joins the more than 2,500 registered lawn counselors trained at the unique institute.

HOCKEY LEAGUE

Seek more ice time

The Plymouth Hockey Association is in desperate need of ice time, according to Association president Jim McKindles.

The hockey players will have to travel many miles into Canada to practice at odd hours as the schedule now stands.

First practice session was held early last Saturday, with the teams leaving at 5:30 a.m.

About 125 have registered so far, MacKindles said Friday.

The Hockey Association is still accepting registrations, he added. No fee is required. "But we sure do need ice time somewhere closer than Toledo, Ohio, or Tisbury, MacKindles said.

FIVE TEAMS have been formed, as in the past. The under-10 age group will be called the Squirts; they have no sponsor as yet.

The under-12 team will be called the PeeWees, and will be sponsored by the VFW.

The Bantams, under-14, will be sponsored by University Litho.

Local merchants sponsor the Midgets, the under-16 group. The Juveniles will be sponsored by the Trading Post, and will have 18-and-under members.

MacKindles said the season started soon after Thanksgiving.

Anyone knowing of ice time is urged to contact MacKindles.

Warn of Social Security 'agents' who bilk aged

Enrollment of the Plymouth area's older people in the new medicare program indicates that an overwhelming majority of those on the social security rolls are choosing to participate in the voluntary medical insurance portion of the program, Samuel F. Test, social security district manager of the Detroit-Northwest office, announced last week.

The Social Security Administration plans to complete its mailing of information and medical insurance enrollment cards to 15 1/2 million social security beneficiaries 65 or older by October 31, Test reported.

Test also commented on some reports from a few sections of the country that unscrupulous persons posing as social security representatives have tried to trick older people into signing up and paying cash in advance for medicare benefits. "There are no reports of such individuals operating in our area, and only a few cases—about 14 or 45 in all—have been reported in other parts of the country," he stated. "In several of those cases, alert people have called the police or the FBI as soon as they were approached for money."

OLCC Shutout

St. Norberts shut out Our Lady of Good Counsel's football team Sunday, 7-0.

Next week the team travels to St. Susanne.

Stuedeman second in league meet

Plymouth's outstanding cross country runner, Howard Stuedeman, placed second in the league meet last week with a 11:40 mark.

He was .02 minutes behind the pace-setter, Jack Shepard of Redford Union.

Bill Singbiel of Trenton ran third.

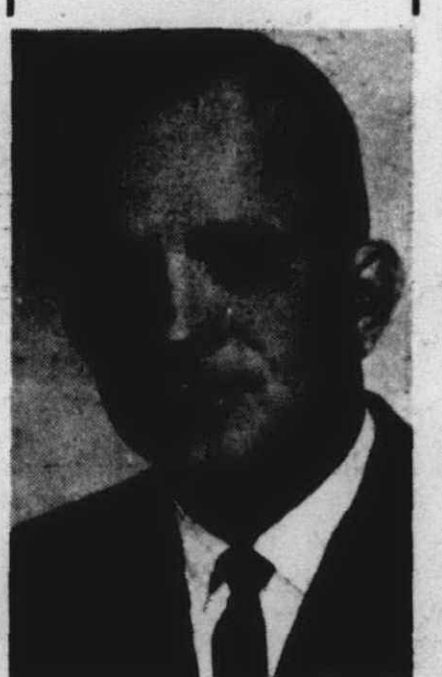

Trenton won the meet with a low score of 27; Redford Union was second with 53; Bentley third, with 68; Plymouth fourth with 105; Belleville fifth with 138 and Allen Park sixth with 173.

Varsity cage practice starts

Basketball practice for Plymouth High School's cage squad will begin the second week in November.

New head coach Dick Bearup said the team will begin the season in a game against Walled Lake on Dec. 3.

Strack to speak

Dave Strack, the University of Michigan's head basketball coach, will speak to the Chamber of Commerce-sponsored Businessmen's Forum Thursday. Strack, who has led the U of M to the top of national basketball fame in a few short years, will talk at a noon luncheon in the Mayflower Hotel.

City Commissioners voiced concern over the number of people the new law might affect.

The new ordinance will aid City DPW workers cleaning the streets of snow and debris.

The City Manager will handle all special hardship cases. Commissioner James McKeon commented on the new ordinance:

"Overall, I think this is an ordinance that should be required. But we should be aware of the problem created in the older areas, the rooming house and apartment areas."

DRAUGELIS said the new law did not require a public hearing. The Commission directed police chief Kenneth Fisher to issue warning tickets on first violations.

In other action, the City Commission approved a lease for gas storage rights deep under City land for Consumers Power Co. The company will make an initial payment to the City of some $17,000. An annual rent will also be paid on a per-acre basis.

The lease means considerable money for the City, was studied closely, and then recommended by Draugelis.

The Commission approved Margo Robson, a senior secretary, as acting City Clerk. She has worked for the City for seven and one half years.

She handles all the City's permits, the Urban renewal files, the Municipal Building Authority records, and will replace Richard Shafer, who resigned last month.

Acting upon a request from the Fall Festival Board, the City agreed to pay one-half of the electrical bills for this year's Festival. At the same time they agreed to share the rest of the expenses with the other governments in the Plymouth Community. The City's share on the electrical bill amounts to about $350. Total bills of $1400 were submitted by DPW head Joseph Bida.

Daniel Collick was approved as the High School's representative on the Human Relations Commission.

The water reservoir dedication date was moved from Nov. 7 to Nov. 14.

IN FINAL ACTION Commissioner Arch Vallier urged action on the traffic tie-ups created by car transports unloading in front of Leo Calhoun Ford, on Main St.

CONFUSION reigns when Nita Talbot and Sandra Dee try to cook a duck in the hilarious Universal romantic comedy in Technicolor, "That Funny Feeling," running Nov. 3 through 9 at the Penn Theatre. Costarring with Miss Dee are Bobby Darin and Donald O'Connor.

Sewer project

Plymouth Area Planning Director Harold Fischer has asked if Canton Township couldn't join into the sewer, and thus service some prime industrial land along Joy Rd.

The matter was discussed in late October when the Plymouth Township Board met in executive session. They have heard no formal request from Canton, and feel the sewer's capacity would be stretched if Canton land was included, McEwen said.

The question will come up at the regular Board meeting, and McEwen indicated the request for a hookup would be denied.

Township treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes described the route of the sewer:

"It will start at Haggerty and Joy Rd., hooking onto the existing Rouge Valley Interceptor, run west to Tonquish Creek, north up the creek along side of Ann Arbor Rd., to connect with the City's Byron St. drain. Then it will cross Sheldon, go over to Oldford's subdivision (Oldford and Son's, Woodbrook) and end up at the western edge of the subdivision."

MRS. HOLMES said eventually the sewer would continue out, running diagonally with Ann Arbor Trail and end up somewhere west of Glenview subdivision on North Territorial Road.

In essence the Township is building both ends of a system for lines the City has already built.

Stray slug

bullet may have come from the Western Wayne County Conservation Association gun club range nearby.

A similar incident occurred June 6, when a stray bullet went through a trailer owned by Charles Spencer, 29538 Oak St. That bullet also narrowly missed an occupant of the trailer as it sailed through the bathroom.

"WE'RE wondering if somebody's got to get killed out here before we get a little action," Smith said Monday.

Smith said they had been in court on the matter since 1962. The Wayne County Conservation Association successfully defended its side in a lower court; the case now pending in the appellate court.

Smith said he estimated the bullet to be at least .270 caliber. He added that the State Police had taken pictures of the hole the bullet made, and had contacted the gun club.

Tuesday, the State Police reported they weren't so sure the bullet came from the gun club. According to Corporal Pronger: "We are checking everything in that area, which would include the gun club."

They have not been able to determine exactly where the bullet came from, he said, because it apparently had been deflected before it hit the trailer.

"It could have been somebody out there other than a sportsman at the gun club. There is a possibility that somebody is doing some target shooting in the field adjacent to the range and not on club property," he noted.

THE INVESTIGATION is continuing into the matter, under State Police officer Terrence Lavoy.

TALE OF A TOPCOAT VALUE

Occasionally the discriminating male shopper comes across an especially good garment that is priced far below its true value. If he likes it and buys it he's been a very clever fellow.

This is your opportunity to be that man. Discriminating, clever and the happy owner of an impeccably tailored topcoat.

It's a black all wool twill. A fabric that endures and endures. Lined with an equally enduring black paisley Bernberg and cut in a traditionally classic manner.

Except . . . the detailing of the collar, line of the rear raglan and boxed front shoulder . . . neatly cuffed sleeves . . . other fine details . . . are all the result of some of the finest tailors available, who, during the slow summer months, were given this skillful task to keep them employed at a fine men's garment house. This . . . for the obvious reason that skilled craftsmen, like the whooping crane, are becoming obsolete.

Thinking about this forces the issue that under these particular circumstances these coats were given very special pains. Your purchase of one, then, would be doubly clever.

For the comparatively small amount of $85 this trim and tailored coat can be yours. In sizes 38 to 44, in short, medium or long lengths, delivery guaranteed within a week.

And if you're as clever as all this, you'll come in yesterday.

Well-balanced meals are provided for youngsters at noon. Unfortunately for many, this meal is both breakfast and lunch since many are breakfast skippers either through poor training or lack of interest in this first meal. Mid-meal of the day should, and does in the school lunch program, provide one-third of the day's nutrients.

Quick Roast You probably have the makings of a meat and potato roast right on your kitchen shelf! Open two cans of luncheon meat and place the contents end to end on a rack in an open roasting pan. Spread with sweet potatoes or mashed potatoes made from the instant variety. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) until heated through.

If you wish, sweet potatoes may be seasoned to taste with brown sugar or drizzled with 1/4 cup of dark corn sirup after the loaf is frosted.

Potatoes Frost Beef Squares Meat and potatoes come in a single serving with this ground beef entree. Catchup or chili sauce is the primary seasoning.

What do youngsters who have a hot lunch at school eat? Beef Squares with Potato Topping is one popular main dish in this nationwide program of providing children with a hot meal, states Reba Stages, meat expert. It's served with vegetable, salads or relishes, milk and a dessert to give a well-balanced meal.

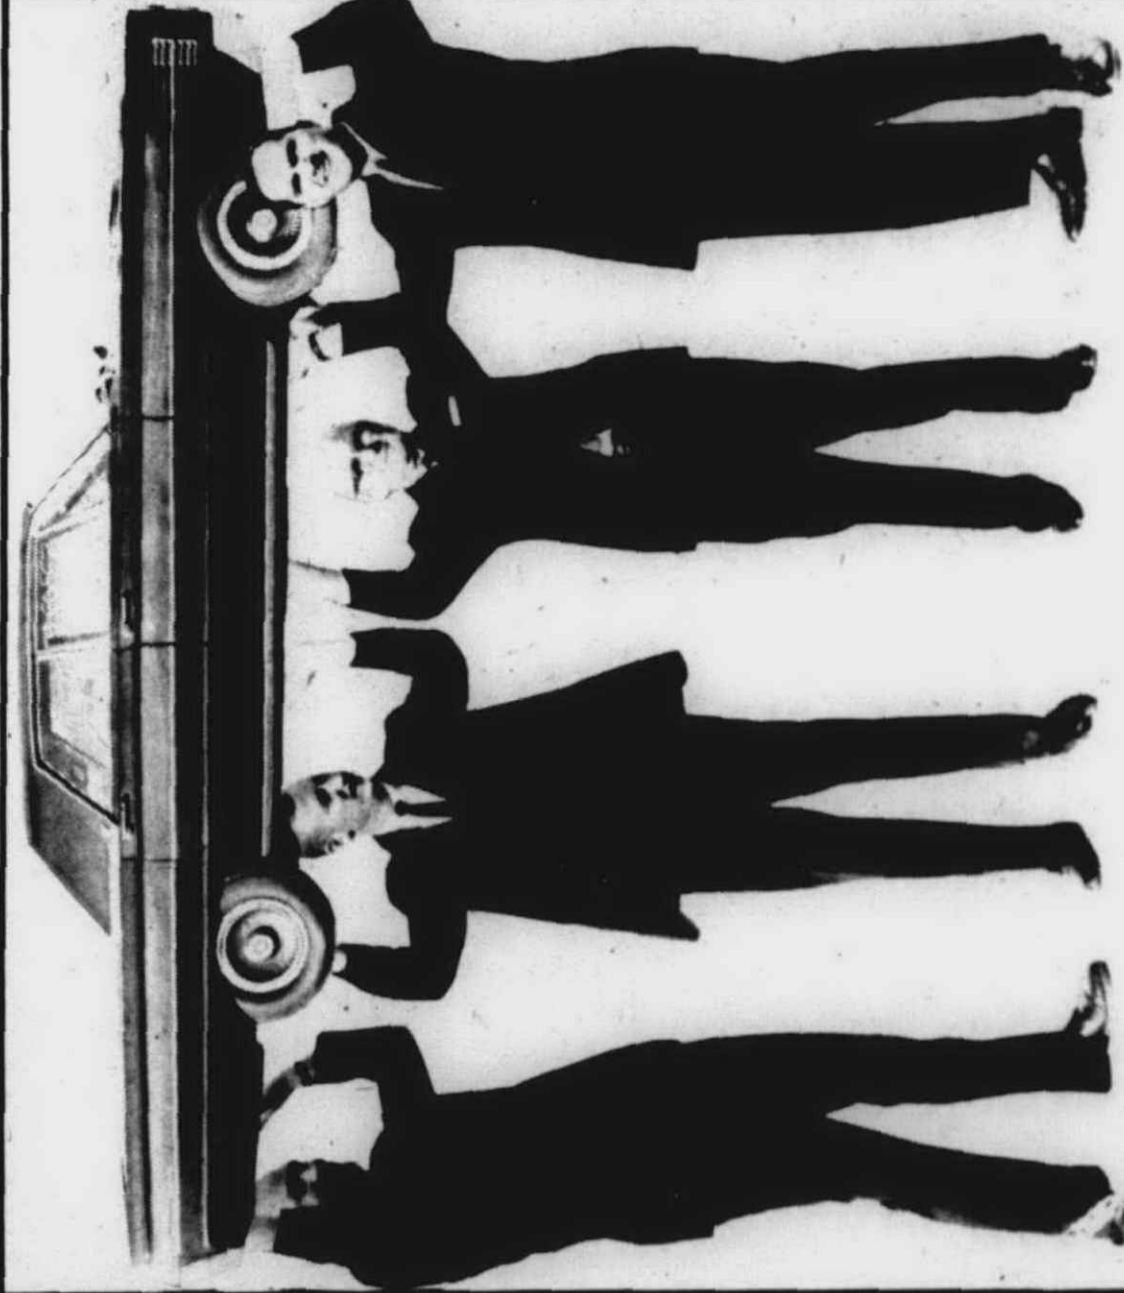

Lunch should provide a third of the day's nutrients. Served at school, it does. For many unfortunate children it's breakfast as well as lunch. An easy-to-make main dish, Beef Squares with Potato Topping is here presented in a family-sized version. The ground beef mixture spread in a 9 x 9-inch baking pan bakes in half an hour. Potato topping takes only a few minutes broiling.

Beef Squares—Potato Topping 1 1/2 pounds ground beef 1/2 cup catchup or chili sauce 1 cup soft, whole wheat bread crumbs 1 tablespoon chopped onion 1 egg, slightly beaten 1 1/2 teaspoons salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper 2 cups hot, seasoned, mashed potatoes Combine ground beef, catchup or chili sauce, bread crumbs, onion, egg, salt and pepper and mix well. Pack meat mixture into a 9 x 9-inch baking pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Spread mashed potatoes over meat. Place under the broiler until beef mixture is lightly browned. Cut into six 3-inch squares. 6 servings.

Thayer, Tierney debate before Kiwanis

The Republican Party tended to maintain a responsible opposition in Lansing this year, according to former State senate majority leader Stan Thayer, who spoke to the Kiwanis Club last week.

Thayer was the first part of a two-man debate that also featured James Tierney.

nothing it turned tail and ran.

In general, Thayer argued that the past session in Lansing did not stand up to the standards of real concern.

James Tierney said he had tried, during the past session, to put issues above party.

"I tried to persuade members of my own party to put matters above party," he said. "I believe Romney is utterly sincere in his convictions."

Tierney commented on the pay raise issue, and said he did not vote for it. Then he said that the county home rule legislation had not been killed, but that the motion to table had been carried in committee with two Democrats and four Republicans voting.

Tierney commented on several areas he felt were untimely in 1967, and seriously in trouble in 1968. It's fair about the bill as it read last year, including the 10 mill debt limit.

John DeWitt Wells of Farmbrook Dr. is among the 316 newly registered engineers in the state of Michigan.

To qualify for registration he had to complete a written examination, have a minimum of eight years of qualifying experience and college credits in his field in order to write the examination.

ON THE TAX program, Tierney said he did not like the 15% rebate on ad valorem real and personal taxes, which would take effect. If the state had an income tax.

"I shudder to think about the administrative problem if we had the 15% rebate," Tierney said.

The biggest need, he noted, was for funds for education. "I'm not going to drive people out of their homes with taxation," Tierney concluded.

THAYER said action was lacking on four major items—county home rule, Mackinaw bridge tolls, traffic safety legislation and fiscal reform.

He said he felt that the lawmakers had not fulfilled their moral responsibility in providing the right economic base. "We need to tax a growing economy," he concluded.

"We are going to be in fiscal trouble in 1967, and seriously in trouble in 1968. It's never a popular issue. The

ON THE TAX program,

Tierney said he did not like the 15% rebate on ad valorem real and personal taxes, which would take effect. If the state had an income tax.

"I shudder to think about the administrative problem if we had the 15% rebate," Tierney said.

The biggest need, he noted, was for funds for education. "I'm not going to drive people out of their homes with taxation," Tierney concluded.

WHAT HAPPENED IN Lansing was discussed by two state legislators - James Tierney, House Democrat from the 36th District, left, and Stan Thayer, Republican and former majority leader of the State Senate, right. The program was arranged by the business and public affairs committee of the Kiwanis Club, and member Carl Purcell, center, introduced the speakers. The two men discussed the just-ended legislative session. The occasion also honored all of the area's governmental officials who were introduced to the Kiwanians.

Headstart program is described to Assembly

The already famous federally-aided "Headstart" program for deprived youngsters was described to the Plymouth School Board Wednesday.

Dave Weikert, of the Ypsilanti schools, and Edwin LaDuke, of the Livonia schools, spoke at a special program meeting of the school board at the high school at 8:30 p.m.

Both Weikert and LaDuke outlined how their school systems used funds made available through the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. The program takes pre-schoolers, and attempts to give them a "headstart" in learning.

3. Parents brought together for group discussion.

"It was formed," Weikert said, "because the traditional system failed in the lower class environment do not know various things — they do not have the tools to work with."

"Headstart" tries to give these children those tools. Weikert added that the statement that "children

As of press time, the "mighty" seniors were way ahead of the "lowly" underclassmen in donations for the Red Feather Drive with a total of over $170.

A combined total of $348.34 had been reached before Monday's collection, but it was still a long way from the school goal of $600.

Busy juniors rushing to meet a fast-approaching J-hop met at the school auditorium Saturday to work on decorations for Alice's Wonderland. Murals were painted and scenery made, but there's still lots to be done.

Blip blip blip blip... dribble, dribble, dribble. Yup, recreation basketball started for the high school boys and all those promising (?) young Bill Bradleys have begun to play. Practices will be held

Junior High East news and notes

Study group sees 25 years

The Allen Extension Study Group celebrated 25 years in co-operative extension recently. They met at the home of Mrs. Harold Barnes of McClumpha Rd. where a special cake decorated with a silver 25 highlighted the lunch. Felt covered scratch pads with the dates 1940-1965 imprinted in silver on the cover were given as souvenirs to each member.

Twenty-five years ago eight ladies founded the Allen Study Group in the Allen School, formerly located on Ann Arbor Trail between Beck Rd. and McClumpha Rd. Of the original group, four are still members.
