A Christmas Message

by the Rev. Peter H. Beckwith

As December twenty-fifth is upon us once again and becomes an historical fact, all of us witness a typical American Christmas. In this kind of confusion we may have heard it nostalgically said, or come to it disdainfully ourselves, that "Christmas is for kids!"

As true as this may be and for whatever the reason, it is not limited to this measure only. Nor could we merely say however poetic it is, "Christmas is for Christians!" Christmas is to the whole world and meant for the whole world.

It is true, of course, Christmas becomes what we make it. Certainly, though, it only becomes what we make it in a relative sense. We may influence it all we like and see it as we will, but it remains what it is.

We may, as much as is humanly possible, give Christmas only the physical, temporal and material earmarks.

We may look at these aspects, never turning to the spiritual at all. Christmas may become limited to wrapped gifts, trees and tinsel. It may for all temporal purposes even effect us in just such a way, stunting spiritual growth within us.

But Christmas is still Christmas. In years past, and perhaps even this Christmas, there have been campaigns to "put Christ back into Christmas."

The fact is we can't get Him out!

No matter what man does, Christmas is still the time to remember that "God was in Christ reconciling the world to Himself." Christmas is still the time to recall the birth of the God-man into human history. Christmas is still the time to know that God came among men, never ceasing to dwell among them. Christmas is still the time to rejoice that "God became what we are in order that we might become what He is."

Everything we do at Christmas may become a means of confronting the living God in our lives. The two aspects of Christmas—spiritual and material—need not be separated. Such a holy occasion deserves all the physical, mental and emotional energy we can muster.

It is very possible to manifest, motivate, and increase God's love in the world by such earthly things as decorations, purchased gifts, and friends making merry. The spirit of Christmas, the giving of the self without limit, is often found within simple human situations.

One of my favorite stories speaks of this and tells of a young couple who had not been married long. They were very poor and approached their first Christmas together as man and wife without a penny.

However, neither was without assets. The young woman had very long, beautiful blond hair. The young man had a fine pocket watch which had been his father's and his father's father's. As the young man contemplated a gift for his beloved, his thoughts kept returning to one item. He had seen how his wife had looked at a beautiful brush set in the window of the corner department store, and nothing else would seem to do. But, it being so expensive there was only one thing to do. So he pawned his only valuable possession, his watch, and bought the brushes.

It was already late Christmas eve when he returned home. As it happened he had only arrived shortly before his wife who had been shopping. All evening the young man was so excited about presenting his gift, he failed to notice his wife even now was wearing the long, black veil she always wore to church.

When the moment came, the husband presented his gift with great devotion. Having opened it, his wife's eyes filled with tears. She began to cry not for

Mayor squires kids on tour of Plymouth

A group of 45 Detroit third graders took a quick tour of Plymouth last Thursday with City Mayor James C. Houk as their guide.

The tour climaxed a busy day for the children—a day that included their first train ride and a guided jaunt of railroad facilities.

The inner city children were greeted at the City of Plymouth's railroad station in the north end of town. Brief ceremonies were followed by a trip to the Mayflower Hotel, Santa's House in Kellogg Park and a look at Plymouth Community Schools.

At the park, Mayor Houk showed the children the local Plymouth Rock and explained its origin to them.

The group, from Washington School, 13000 Dequindre, was the first of a series of monthly railroad tours arranged for disadvantaged children with the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad by the Detroit Commission on Children and Youth.

They toured Union Street Station at 9:45 a.m. and saw a locomotive, other cars and depot facilities. At 10:15 they left on the half-hour trip to Plymouth.

The vacation of the small portion was opposed by three owners of land adjacent to it, and across the Tonquish Creek drain. They were Al Hubbs, Bob G. Iles and Harold Stevens.

Garber hits at Twp. Fire Ad. Board

Charging that the problems surrounding the Plymouth Township fire department were a "tempest in a teapot," Township Trustee Ralph Garber last week continued to urge an end to the Fire Administration Board.

Garber spoke out at last Tuesday's regular monthly meeting of the Plymouth Township governing body.

He hit out at plans for a joint meeting of the Civil Service Commission and the Fire Administration Board to discuss rules and regulations for the fire department.

"A few months ago we started to talk about getting a man to end all these people running a five-man fire department.

"When are we going to get him? We've spent a year on this thing and all we've got is a bigger board. We're going around with a tempest in a teapot. There's the Township Board and the Civil Service Commission and the Fire Administration Board. We are going around and around and

AMERICA'S SPOKESMAN

Chamber of Commerce gears for annual dinner

Dr. Kenneth McFarland, one of the country's foremost platform speakers on the ideals of basic Americanism, will be the guest lecturer at the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce 44th Annual Recognition Dinner, Jan. 27, 1966, in the Mayflower Meeting House.

Officially honored as "Outstanding Salesman of America" by the National Sales and Marketing Executives in 1957, Dr. McFarland was recently named "America's Number One Air Passenger" by Captain Eddie Rickenbacker in note of his extensive travels. When he spoke at Roma Hall in Livonia last November, under the sponsorship of the Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company, Dr. McFarland drew a capacity crowd of over 2500 area residents.

Dr. McFarland's challenging address "Wake the Town and Tell the People," will highlight the evening's program, general chairman Don (Continued on Page 8)

McEwen denies JC forum tax quote

A strong denial of remarks attributed to him in last week's Plymouth Mail was issued by Plymouth Township Supervisor John D. McEwen at the close of a Township Planning Commission meeting Wednesday evening.

The comments were attributed to McEwen in a story about the Junior Chamber of Commerce forum on city-township consolidation, held a week ago Monday evening at the Hillside Inn.

With the entire Township Planning Commission, a few citizens and members of the press present Wednesday, McEwen said:

"I want to go on record on this matter . . . 'No public servant would make such a statement. I will not go out on such speaking engagements representing the Township if this is the kind of journalism I'm going to get. 'The job's not worth it.' 'I DON'T blame you.'"

Planning Commissioner W. C. Koch said.

The statement that McEwen referred to was included in this paragraph in last week's story:

"Concerning assessment in the township, he said, 'Some (property) is under assessed but some is over assessed, so it all equals out.'"

Monday afternoon of this week, McEwen reiterated his protests.

"No novice would make a statement like that," he said.

McEwen said his comment referred to the difference in assessments between the City of Plymouth and Plymouth Township. The supervisor said city residential properties are overassessed while township residences are underassessed.

Brothers killed in trucks path

Two Plymouth youngsters, hurrying to hear a Christmas concert at their school, were killed Monday night when they dashed in front of a truck on Sheldon Rd.

Dead at the scene of the holiday tragedy was Jeffrey Van Newkirk, 11, son of Dr. and Mrs. Karl D. Van Newkirk, a dentist who lives at 515 Jener. The accident happened about 7:30 p.m.

Another victim Bradley Van Newkirk, 7, died three hours later at 10:23 p.m. at Wayne County General Hospital, according to Wayne County Sheriff's officers, who handled the accident.

The two boys were rushing to hear a school concert at Junior High West with their brother, Greg, 9, who was able to step back and avoid the truck.

Robert Beyer of Beyer Rexall Drugs was pressed into extraordinary service last week at his Main St. store when he was asked to perform an emergency operation on a kindly old gent who had collapsed near his front door. Donning white coat and cap and screeching orders for more light and some makeshift tools, Beyer worked his miracle on a back table.

The growing crowd gasped when he went up into the fellow's chest cavity in a futile effort to restore new life in the fallen form. The operation was a success and the old gent, known affectionately as Santa Claus, took his post at the front door to once again greet wide-eyed youngsters with a wave of his better-than-ever mechanical arm.

Maybe for the sake of ethics we shouldn't reveal the name of the shoe merchant who offered this sage advice. In fact we won't even tell his line of business, but he has the perfect answer to the women shoppers who insist on talking about the prices of the good old days. "Just act surprised and tell them you didn't think they were old enough to remember."

Bernie Morrison of Famous Men's Wear presented us with a puzzle. One of his good customers was ticketed for parking in a certain spot in roughly the southwest corner of the city parking lot next to Sharrard's Bath and Boudoir Shop. The elements of the case are as such: a no parking sign is posted, the area is clear of the main stream of traffic and guiding lines for parallel parking are clearer and more prominent than the faded sign of parking prohibition.

I know of a little tike who is concerned about one of the skiers in Bob Willoughby's shoe store window. The lad thinks he could be seriously hurt because he's been lying in the snow for the past four weeks. Why haven't any of the other ski men stopped to inquire as to the extent of the fellow's injuries?

Retailers beware—there is a man making the rounds of men's stores asking to see a selection of bathing suits. He appears vague while mumbling something about going to Florida. He is either a show off or is casing the establishment for an after-hours visit.

Novi crash kills Plymouth youth

A high speed chase involving three Plymouth teenagers and Northville police ended in the death of one of the youths when the car in which he was riding struck a guard rail and flipped over, early Saturday morning.

Ronnie D. Robinson, 16, 9211 Elmhurst Ave., was dead at 4:30 a.m. in Botsford Hospital, Farmington Township. The driver of the car, Donald Ray Ogden, 988 Arthur, 18, and a passenger, Leroy Stults, of 9275 Marlowe, 17, both escaped serious injury, and are listed in good condition at Botsford.

According to Novi Township police, into whose jurisdiction the accident came after the chase, the accident took place about 3:15 a.m.

The Northville police were chasing the car east along Eight Mile Rd., over the railroad viaduct when it hit the guard rail, and flipped. All three were thrown out of the car.

Funeral services for young Robinson, an eleventh grade student at Plymouth High School, were held Tuesday, Dec. 21 at Samburg Church of God, Obion C., Tennessee. Interment was at Antioch Cemetery.

HE IS survived by his parents Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Robinson, sisters Lucita and Charlotte Robinson, all of Plymouth; his grandmother, Mrs. Mollie Robinson of Hornbeak, Tenn. and Mrs. Ruth Kirby, of Northville.

McEwen

of McEwen's remarks at the point of the meeting in question:

"You have the lowest tax base of, anywhere in the area of Wayne County — that is, you people of Plymouth Township."

"AND OUR assessments are uh, to be questioned because some people are underassessed. But then there's other people that's overassessed so it evens out." At this point, the audience broke into laughter.

"State equalization," McEwen continued, "means exactly what it is supposed to do. It equalizes all taxes . . ."

At 11:45 a.m., they returned to Detroit by DSR bus. Mrs. Roberta Hughes, executive secretary of the Commission on Children and Youth, said the trips had been set up to reinforce classroom studies of trains and transportation.

Plans for the Plymouth trip were initiated under the Cultural Enrichment Field Trips Program. It was started by the Commission on Children and Youth as part of the Total Action Against Poverty Program.

Included in the program are 155 public and 20 parochial schools under the Economic Opportunity Program and the Great Cities Program.

made by Detective Richard Williamson of the Sheriff's Department, the boys, crossing Sheldon Rd. at Maple St., apparently didn't see the truck until too late.

THE TRUCK driver, Herman Collins of Southgate, reported to officers that he knew his exact speed at the time — 27 mph — because that's the speed he normally shifts from third to fourth gear. That's what he was doing when the boys were struck.

Williamson said that Collins told him the boys appeared in his headlights about four feet away, but didn't even look up.

Detective Williamson said Collins would make a statement to the prosecutor, but that he did not expect him to be held on the basis of what witnesses said.

Several eyewitnesses saw the accident, and confirm what Collins said, Williamson said.

Funeral arrangements were not available as The Mail went to press Tuesday.

Confusing mess

Last week someone finally had the courage to say Plymouth's street naming system was a confusing and hodge-podge mess.

Harlan Hickerson, a resident of Plymouth Township, presented a plan proposing several changes.

They include the renaming of Plymouth Rd. (from the Y in Livonia) to Burroughs Ave. and the renaming of Main St. to Mayflower Ave. and the continuation of Lilley Rd. along the stretch known as Mill St., and, most importantly, the changing of Ann Arbor Rd. to Plymouth Rd., to end confusion of it with Ann Arbor Trail.

Hickerson rightly points out that if you are in Detroit and want to go to Ann Arbor you take Plymouth Rd. all the way, except when you cross through Plymouth Township, where Plymouth Rd. momentarily becomes Ann Arbor Rd.

The idea is a good one. The ramifications of such a change, however, stagger the imagination. Imagine if you will if Burroughs Corporation could no longer list Plymouth Rd. as its address. Stationery, calling cards, return labels, bills of lading, ad infinitum — would have to be changed to conform with the new street name of Burroughs Rd.

Is Lofy's on the corner of Ann Arbor Rd. and Mill St., or Plymouth Rd. and Lilley Rd. or Lilley Rd. and Ann Arbor Rd.?

Suppose once again you were a newcomer. Remember how confusing the whole thing was?

Why is Burroughs St. turned into Sutherland after it crosses Main St. in Plymouth?

Hickerson has raised good questions, and all local governments ought to look at the possibilities. For the small space the Plymouth Community covers there is an undue amount of confusing road and street names.

Big world

The Chamber of Commerce reports that Santa Claus has been harassed during his rounds of the downtown stores by flocks of teenagers this year.

They poke at him, reports Fran Booth, Chamber of Commerce coordinator, and make fun of him.

Some of them try to sit on his lap and ask if he can get a date for them. And while he is in his red shoe house in Kellogg Park, they peek in the windows and taunt him, and climb on the Santa Claus house.

It would be nice if some of this playful and ill-mannered extra energy could be channeled into something constructive — like helping the needy at Christmas, or working with the Salvation Army on their Christmas projects.

Not just to keep the hooligans occupied, but also show them that a great big world exists outside the bounds of their own.

Take care

It was with sadness that the editorial staff of this newspaper reported an unusual amount of fatal highway accidents this week.

Most of us are Christmas shopping, unlimbering the old "White Christmas" record and putting the egg in the nog.

But for members of a couple of Plymouth families Christmas will mean intense personal sorrow.

It could be any one of us, or you.

As the holiday weekend approaches, drive slowly, and carefully. The highway carnage on one weekend can kill more than months of fighting in Viet Nam.

AN OUTDOOR CHRISTMAS PAGEANT was presented Tuesday night to the patients of the Maybury Sanitarium, with members of Girl Scout Jr. Troop 411 and Cadet Troop 501 participating. They fought the zero cold weather to put on the Christmas show. They are, Diana De-Bear, Betty Routson, Kathy Snyder, Connie Page, Michelle Harrison, Cathy Swanson, Tammy Talmage, Nancy Wehmeyer, Jolie Conn, Carol Magee, Sally Lindquist, Mary Sue Jender, Cindy Fullom, Christine Ackerman, Stephane Luce and Mary Arnold. Michelle Terry, Senior Girl Scout, led the singing, with help from troop leaders Mrs. Shirley Harrison and Mrs. Ann Fowler.

LETTERS:

Important names missed in stories on Mayflower

December 20, 1965

Dear Editor:

Many thanks for the before and future stories of The Mayflower in your last week's issue of The Mail. I know you did considerable research in your efforts to make the story real.

The name of Fred Schrader who was President of the Hotel Corporation for many years and also the owner of the famed Buffalo called "John" was left from the list of early organizers.

He passed away during World War II but was succeeded on the board by his son Edwin Schrader when he returned from service.

Bill Taylor who is a present director and one of the early investors, formerly operated the Taylor and Blyton Department Store in Plymouth, is a present resident of the Township and was one of the original group.

I know these omissions were not intentional on your part and wanted to bring them to your attention. Thanks again for the coverage.

Sincerely,
Ralph G. Lorenz

any reason but that she had perceived her husband had sold his beautiful watch. The man was to understand shortly the fullness of her tears as she presented him with her gift. She had bought him a beautiful watch chain. But how could she have afforded such a gift? This too was answered as she removed her chapel veil, revealing the fact that she had sold her hair.

This is a tragic story from the material point of view. The young man had sold his watch to buy brushes for his wife's beautiful hair, only to find that she had sold her hair to buy a chain for his watch.

However, spiritually this story is filled with joy. They have a divine relationship with each other that is anchored in nothing less than God's love for all people. Their love and God's love is made visible in a strikingly similar manner.

The point of every gift at Christmas is the fact that we are given the greatest gift of all at the hand of God. God in reality shares our lives with us that we in actuality might share His life with Him.

At Christmas we are reminded that we are given the power to become the sons of God!

TOWNSHIP PLANNERS

Woodbrook plans hit snag

Builder Stuart Oldford was told that he put in the utilities and streets in his new Woodbrook subdivision along Sheldon Rd. "at his own risk" last Wednesday.

The action came at the regular monthly meeting of the Plymouth Township planning commission, and the occasion was the presentation by Oldford of the hardback plans of Woodbrook for final approval.

Oldford had received preliminary approval for his street layout and subdividing plans, and had gone ahead with laying streets. But planning consultant W. C. Johnson had some questions about street positioning. Oldford then said:

"We have done with preliminary approval what we have a right to do. Wayne County has jurisdiction over our roads. There's no use talking about it; the roads are in and the utilities are in, and now you come up with this." Consultant Johnson did not quite agree.

"PRELIMINARY approval is not final approval. Whenever a subdivider puts in improvements he takes a chance that nothing has been missed."

"You mean that you haven't missed something?" Oldford asked.

Both Maurice Breen and Ralph Garber, commissioners, agreed that it was a risk.

The whole matter was tabled until a later special meeting.

Oldford cited a letter from the Road Commission dated Feb. 8, which indicated that body had no objections to the plans as they stood.

On other matters, the planners gave proper zoning to a proposed senior citizens' home, Plymouth Glen Community, after Johnson noted that the plans represented a desirable combination that would fit well in the location on Ridge Road north of N. Territorial Rd.

Plans outline 250 apartments and a 125-bed convalescent home, a lake and large park area on a site near the Oak Haven Trailer Court.

The rezoning made the land R-3. A spokesman for the developers, Theodore Brown, called the plan a "total environment for people who are convalescent."

"IT'S NOT a convalescent home in the old fashioned sense, but is an expanded facility with medicare in mind." Brown said. Brown pointed to the Presbyterian Village community in Redford Township as an example.

About 27 acres of land are involved in the rezoning; the approval came with all members voting yes except Breen, who abstained saying he did not like oral agreements.

Breen was referring to a possible change of the land involved in the construction of the hospital portion of the project; the proper zoning, which Johnson said must be R-3, for that was still up in the air as the commission moved to other matters.

In other action, the commission:

- Listed for public hearing the request of Richard Fritz for rezoning of about 3 acres of land near the corner of Five Mile Rd. and Schoolcraft Rd. from residential to professional offices.

- Tabled a request from Richard Kirchoff for multiple dwelling rezoning on land on Northville Rd. between Clemons and Ham-mill.

It is traditional in newspaper business that a columnist devote his talents to Christmas at this time of the year. For now is the time that mankind in the Christian parts of the world is supposed to devote himself to reflection and sober thought.

It would seem fitting that we come away and, like the gentle Nazarene, think of what our purpose is on earth.

It was with this in mind that I encountered thoughts — obviously written in the warmth of mid-year — but so close to what I think the spirit of Christmas should be that I couldn't resist reproducing them.

These words were written by George Gough Booth, son-in-law of James E. Scripps, founder of The Detroit News. It was Booth who raised The News into a metropolitan giant, who fashioned a newspaper network of his own in outstate Michigan and who gave $24 million to making a thing of beauty and wonder of Cranbrook, his home, before giving it to the people.

His thoughts follow:

"The sun shines hot today; cool, brisk breezes blow from the westward; the world would seem to be at peace — nothing but the rustling of the leaves overhead disturbs me.

A rambling thought has fixed itself upon my mind. At first I asked myself the question: "What am I doing; how are the moments used; how are the hours accounted for; how are the fleeting days and years made use of?" But in my fancy I have gone through the highways and byways of the city, halting everyone great and small with the question: "What are you doing?" Men and women everywhere look at me in wonder and at first resent my impudence, but the rebellious look in their eyes changes to uncertainty, and one and all they pass on in silence and leave me.

"What are you doing?" I still go repeating again and again, and I see thousands upon thousands of thoughtful faces all striving to answer the question, but on they go, echoing the inquiry to neighbor and friend — hunting for consolation themselves in the answer they hope for.

Gay young women, bright young men, tired-out mothers, workmen, preachers, lawyers, merchants, the weak, the strong, the young and old — to all I shout louder and louder the fiercely-burning question: "What are you doing?"

I come again to the country — I have passed the city crowds. I see a farmer in the field trudging with the plow. In haste I run over the upturned furrows; I ask again: "What are you doing?" but he ceases not his steady tramp; he glances at me only in kindness; he utters not a single word. I follow him and wonder. I see the harrow dragged across the broken ground; the seeder follows up; the rain and sun smile down their blessings; green shoots peep skyward; the ripened heads appear; the reapers come; the wheat is gathered into barns. The world is fed.

Some pass beyond human view with their answers still unmade, they meet the inquiring guardian of the road, who in solemn tones calls aloud the question: "What have you done?"

Back to earth I come and ask myself: "What am I doing?" and answer only that I am repeating again the question that more may pass it on."

George Gough Booth published the essay above in August, 1902 in "The Pleasures of Planting and Other Thoughts," printed by him at Cranbrook Press, Detroit.

For those of us who tend, at times, to seek purpose and meaning and challenge, his question can perhaps provide answer to what we should be doing at the Christmas season.

Before writing last week's stories and column about the sale of The Mayflower Hotel, I spent several hours researching the history in 40-year-old issues of The Plymouth Mail.

As luck would have it, however, several important names escaped me. (See Ralph Lorenz's letter on this page).

I am sorry.

Not only did I neglect the important role that the late Fred Schrader played in the classic Buffalo dinner and as president of the Hotel Board for many years, I forgot about the part of his friend, Elton R. Eaton, then publisher of this paper.

So, particular apologies to the Schrader family, and a recommendation to anyone who would edit a community newspaper:

Live in the town for about 30 years before you start.

Christmas Walk sets holiday mood

With the weather cooperating beautifully bringing a crisp, cool day for the Plymouth Garden Club's Christmas Walk, hundreds of women toured the seven homes last Thursday viewing the beautiful Christmas decorations and going home full of ideas for their own home. Shown above entering the James Gilbert home on Warren Rd. to begin the Walk are Mrs. Thomas Lewis and Mrs. Don Carlson of Plymouth.

Admiring the lovely white handpainted ceramic nativity scene at the home of Mrs. E. G. Ott, Jr. on Linden St. is Mrs. Ralph J. Lorenz. The Ott home was beautifully decorated in olive green and gold.

The Della Robbia wreath was a highlight at the home of Mrs. Howard Hill, above, of S. Evergreen St. An arrangement of candles and fruit accented the lovely table setting. Her home was gay in traditional red and green.

Standing beside her stately Christmas tree is Mrs. George Rowland of Warren Rd. Her lovely blue and green color scheme at the punch table, complete with green punch, was also greatly admired by her guests.

Speaking of Women

Slaters mark 50 years wed Set Christmas concert at Schoolcraft

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Slater of Northern St. will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary tonight (Dec. 22) at a dinner party at Lofy's.

In the party will be their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Slater of Garden City, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Allen of Lincoln Park.

Also attending the dinner party are Mrs. Edna Slater of Ypsilanti and Kenneth Slater, a grandson, of Garden City.

The Slaters also have a daughter, Mrs. Edna Allen of California, 14 grandchildren and 12 great grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Slater were married Dec. 23, 1915 in Marion, Mich. They have lived in Plymouth for the past 39 years.

New books at Dunning-Hough

Among new books at the Dunning-Hough library, according to Mrs. Warren Worth, librarian, are:

"More Gilt-edged Bonds" by Ian Fleming is a collection of three of the most popular stories about James Bond—"Live and Let Die," "Moonraker" and "Diamonds Are Forever."

"Literary History of Canada" by Carl Klinck is a comprehensive history and criticism of Canadian literature in English.

"The Cambridge History of the Bible; the West, from the Reformation to the Present Day," by Stanley Greensdale deals with the translations, critical studies, the scholarship, and the missionary work of Bible societies.

"A Life in Photography," by Edward Steichen reproduces some of the artist's most famous photographs.

"My Sweet Charlie" by David Westheimer is a novel set in the South, in which an uneducated white girl and a Negro intellectual, both in flight from society, are forced into a contact that leads them to some measure of understanding.

"The Two Viet-Nams; a Political and Military Analysis," by Bernard Fall, an authority on Southeast Asia.

"Notebooks, Volume 2," by Albert Camus covers the years from 1942 to 1951, except for the accounts of the trips to North and South America. These two trips, in 1946 and 1949, will be published later in a separate volume.

"Those Who Love," by Irving Stone is a biographical novel of Abigail and John Adams.

Trefoil Doings

Girl Scout Troop 626 entertained at a teen-age party at the Plymouth Credit Union from 7:30 until 10 o'clock Saturday, Dec. 18. A Santa Claus pinata made by patrol was the center of attention. Chaperoning the boys and girls were Mrs. Rudy Fox and Mrs. Ralph Fluckey, troop leaders, and Mrs. Earl Gibson.

On Monday, Dec. 6, the active group of scouts took favors and had a pre-Christmas for the patients at the West Trail Nursing Home. They are also making plans for a future trip to Washington, D.C.

SIGHTING ROBINS

Popular motif on early Christmas cards was the English robin—possibly because English postmen, who delivered the cards, in those days wore red uniforms and were often called "Robin."

LOSE A DISHRAG?

Most everyone has a tale to tell concerning wart cures. One goes like this—steal a dishrag, bury it . . . when the rag rots, the wart will fall off. Absurd, of course. But there are reliable treatments for warts, thanks to medical science. Physicians know them. Take advantage of the newer treatments and medications available. They can mean the difference between pain and comfort . . . between life and death. Let your doctor do the diagnosing and prescribing. Then come to us for quality prescription service.

Here's how to remove stains from white linens

Table linens need more than ordinary care especially at holiday time, says June L. Sears, Cooperative Extension home economist. Soap and water won't remove all stains. Here are suggestions for removing stains from white cloths.

Candle wax. Pick off the wax when it's dry. If it's soaked onto the material, wipe with cleaning fluid. Or cover it with blotting paper and iron over the paper.

Food stains. Wash linens in the washing machine and add bleach. Then rinse thoroughly. If any odor of the bleach remains on the material rinse again.

Fruit juice, tea, coffee stains. Stretch the cloth tight and pour boiling water over the stain from a height. Then wash it in warm soapy water. If that doesn't remove the stain, cover it with glycerine and repeat the process.

Fruit stains. Pour boiling water on the stain. Then wash in warm, soapy water. If the acid in citrus fruits has changed the color of the cloth, it's possible to get the stain out with ammonia water (half strength) or with baking soda spread damp on both sides of the stain.

Grease stains. Soak in very hot suds, then rinse. If necessary, boil the cloth. If the stains are old, sponge with cleaning fluid before soaking the cloth.

Ink stains. Apply ink remover or bleaching powder.

Iron rust. Sprinkle stain with salt, squeeze lemon juice on it, spread in sun to dry. Rinse well. Rust sometimes comes from iron used in bluing. (It's best to use bluing that's based on aniline dye.)

Lipstick stains. Loosen stain before washing by working vaseline or lard into it. Then launder.

Color for the fireplace

The blazing log on the fireplace can give off flames of many different colors if properly treated beforehand. Adding chemicals to the fire will produce a variety of colors. Chemicals are not added to the fire but to the wood or pine cones before burning.

A solution may be made of the chemicals dissolved in water and kindling or cones soaked and then allowed to dry. A more efficient and economical procedure is to dip the wood or pine cones into the glue (an aerosol of glue may be used to spray them), then dust them with the chemicals.

You can usually buy the crude chemicals at the drugstore or buy the compounds already mixed. The following is a list of chemicals with the colors they give off when they burn.

Use care when handling any chemicals. Many will ruin the finish on fine wood furniture and corrode metal surfaces.

Purple: lithium chloride;
violet: potassium chloride; orange: calcium chloride; red: strontium chloride; green: copper sulfate; light green: borax; blue: copper chloride.

Class of '46 needs help

Response to the plea for help in finding members of the Plymouth High School Class of 1946 has been tremendous. The class is planning a 20 year reunion on June 25, 1966 at Lofy's.

However, the addresses of some of the class members are still not available. If anyone knows the whereabouts of any of the following persons, please call or write Mrs. Clifford Wilkin, 440 Ross St., 453-4734:

- Davis Abbott, Walter Adams, Lucille Cayton, Virginia Empey, Juanita Harrison, Annabelle Koch, Veronica Kucie, LaVern Nielson, Maxie Penn, Robert Schwarz, Irving Seyer, Barbara Shear, Robert Zielasko, Don Hayes, and Gertrude Mulry.

The planning committee would also like anyone who was a member of the class at any time during the four years and who may have moved or entered the service before graduation to contact Mrs. Wilkin so they may be included in the reunion.

Chief offers tip on tree safety

City of Plymouth fire chief George Schonneman offers the following advice on Christmas trees, a potentially dangerous fire hazard.

Pick out a tree that is fresh looking; the smaller the tree the less fire-hazard you will have in your home.

When placing the tree in your home place it away from heat and do not block any exits. Keep the base of the tree in water and check water level daily; trees absorb large quantities of water.

For decorations use only flameproof or noncombustible material.

Check all lighting equipment for frayed wires, loose connections and broken sockets. Lighting equipment should carry Underwriters label of approval.

Do not leave lights burning over night or while away from home.

If using a metal tree do not decorate with electric lights. Metal trees are a shock hazard; use only indirect lighting.

Remove all wrappings from the home immediately. Do not burn them in the fire place.

Remember - fire does not take a holiday.

Mrs. Pauline entertains at BPWC

At the Christmas meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club Monday evening, Mrs. Agnes Pauline, former Plymouthite and a member of the local BPW club, entertained the group with a story "The Christmas Apple." Mrs. Pauline, former librarian at Dunning-Hough, now lives in Holland, Mich.

The Triple Trio, singing group at PHS, also entertained at the meeting held at Hillside Inn.

BPW members donated $1.00 each to be sent as Christmas gifts to the West Trail Nursing Home, the BPW National Foundation, and Project Hope.

To make refunds on ice balls

Refunds are available to persons who purchased colored, plastic "ice balls" from Plymouth High School senior class members, according to class advisor James Doyle.

The novelties, for cooling drinks, were sold locally in connection with the senior class's Christmas card sale. Class members stopped selling them early last week.

The imported "ice balls" received a burst of publicity recently when some were found to contain coliform bacteria that might cause dysentery and other ailments.

PERSONS who want their money back may contact Doyle at the high school.

Who's new in Plymouth?

"AN IDEAL COMMUNITY," says Mrs. Richard Rhinehart. "We looked all over the state and decided on Plymouth for our home because it is small, yet not dependent on the big city for shopping and entertainment—still it is close enough to Detroit if we should need its facilities." Dr. and Mrs. Rhinehart with their son, Ross, 2 1/2, shown above, have lived in Plymouth since the end of August. Before that they lived on the campus of the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor while Dr. Rhinehart attended the dental school. He was graduated in May, 1965. Mrs. Rhinehart's interests are in sewing, arts and crafts and she says she plans to return to college next year to finish earning her degree. Dr. Rhinehart enjoys golf and is already a Jaycee member.

Worker killed in Saturday accident at Plymouth plant

A 34-year-old father of seven was killed Saturday, Dec. 17 when a piece of machinery slipped as he was working at the Evans Products Company plant on Eckles Road in Plymouth Township.

Evans officials said Jack Luallen of Trumbull Avenue in Detroit was dead on arrival at Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital.

He was working with other men, straightening a railroad car when a hydraulically operated jack slipped and he sustained abdomen and chest injuries.

Mr. Luallen leaves a wife, Edna R., and seven children of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Bentley press leaves Rocks helpless

A full court press and a hot-shooting scoring spurge late in the third quarter was all the Bentley Bulldogs needed to beat the Rocks Friday 66-49.

The loss leaves Plymouth 1-1 in Suburban Six play, and 1-3 for the season.

The cagers will be idle until Jan. 7 when they face Trenton, a team that last Friday scored 95 points to beat Allen Park by a lopsided score.

Bentley had problems the first quarter with their offense and scored only 9 points.

But Plymouth had more than they could handle with the press, which the guards Rick Jones and Bob McCall couldn't crack. The Bulldogs kept the press on throughout most of the game.

TIME AFTER time Plymouth guards got pinched on the sidelines with two Bentley men around them. The inability of the guards to bring the ball up came to light against the Belleville squad the week before, and Bentley used it to good advantage.

Coach Richard Bearup indicated that he was not pleased with the work of the guards, and would work on one-on-one drills and other techniques to combat the weakness.

The sophomore star, Mike Stakias continued to play exciting ball, helping big Jim Scharmen on rebounding chores against a bigger Bentley team. Stakias hit for 14 points to lead Rock scoring.

Bentley's highly touted center Fred Matevia led all scorers with 18 points. He had help from front court man Nick Bondar, who netted 14.

Bentley shot a poor 28% from the field, but was able to dominate the game with aggressive rebounding.

THE ROCKS led early in the first quarter, then closed it to 35-34 early in the third quarter. But moments later four easy Bentley baskets put the Bulldogs ahead to stay, and the score stood 46-35 at the end of the third quarter. Bentley's head coach George Fefles and his team are being rated as one of the best around, and are expected to win the league race, with some trouble with Trenton.

But Plymouth's ever improving team can't be counted out, and the rematch the first week in February may show a closer score.

JV cagers shelled by Bulldogs

Bentley's JV Bulldogs were too tall for their Plymouth counterparts, and they came up with a 51-31 win.

M. Bollin scored 25 points in the rout for Bentley. John Adams tossed in 12 points for Plymouth, with teammate Mike Kubik hitting for 9.

Bentley led 10-6 at the end of the first quarter, and 21-15 at the half. The Bulldogs then scored 20 points in a big third quarter to put the game out of reach of the Rocks.

Sharland presently attends Western Michigan University. Jim Elias scored the other goal in the win as Joey Whitman made 23 saves at goalie. In other games Plymouth teams were victorious. Wilson's Engineering topped Inkster 9-2 in a high scoring whitewash that saw John Gilles score four goals to tie Sharland's record, and Dave Prochazka and Don Hudson scored two, and Tony Daykin one.

The Litho Printers team ran all over Inkster 9-1 with four boys missing the three-goal hat trick by one: Mike O'Brien, Pat Cosgrove, Billie Thomas, Bill Hudson. Dave Palmer scored one, and Chuck Wibby made 23 saves at the net.

The VFW Pee Wees won 3-1 with Bob Hough, Charles Curmi and Tom Hindman netting one goal each.

'There's nothing for us to do'

Doug Johnson

The Plymouth Community has gone overboard to serve its youth, and the young people owe a huge debt of thanks to the people involved.

It would be safe to say that no other community of Plymouth's size has done so much, for so many, so well. Programs for the youth of the community make a list as long as my arm.

There's the junior symphony, the arm basketball program, the YMCA youth recreation bureau, the YMCA itself, the high school recreation program, the Jaycee dances, the Firemen's Association dances, the Optimist dances, the police Rifle and Archery Clubs.

There's the YMCA-sponsored Chip for teen dances, also room for ping pong, pool, shuffle board and cards; there's the Plymouth Jaycee bowling league, the Community band.

There are several scholarship organizations: the PEA, Rotary Foundation, the Optimist Club; there is a swim club, hockey league, junior baseball, junior tennis and junior golf league. There are great books classes and ballet classes and music classes.

And there's Plymouth's fantastic school system, with its constant curriculum study, and guidance staff, and teachers — all ready to help youth.

All, or most of the churches have youth programs; there's Schoolcraft College; there's Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, and Camp Fire Girls.

That's about all I can think of in one sitting, and it represents thousands of dollars and hours for the future there is talk of a recreation center for The Plymouth Community.

I wouldn't argue that all this wasn't necessary but in a way it is going unappreciated, mainly because the real need is for the most part going without an answer.

Most of the youth programs are aimed at kids who already have plenty. Only one of the programs — a little known "Operation Exposure Program" for several Plymouth youths sponsored by the YMCA is really aimed at the disadvantaged.

Unfortunately, most of Plymouth's youth programs are for the have's — not the have-nots.

It would be nice if some of the multitude of programs for Plymouth youth could find some new channels. It should be incumbent upon the community to look at the youth service problem as one that should encompass every segment of the young population — particularly the disadvantaged, the so-called incorrigible, and the un-social and shy.

They need it the most.

Plymouth youth should say 'thank you' just once in a while to what is being done for them; and, also they should realize that everything done for them is by and large unselfish, and that they have been assured a safe and happy future because a lot of people thought it was important.

One easy way out of making a point is to quote what someone has said better than you ever could.

Here's how Judge Phillip B. Gilliam, of Denver, Colorado answers the teenager who asks "what have you done for me lately?":

"Always we here the plaintive cry of the teenagers: 'What can we do? Where can we go?' The answer is . . . go home! Hang the storm windows, paint the walkwork. Rake the leaves, mow the lawn, shovel the wood. Wash the car. Learn to cook. Scrub some floors. Repair the sink. Build a boat. Get a job.

"Help the minister, priest or rabbi, the Red Cross, the Salvation Army, visit the sick, assist the poor, study your lessons. And when you're through and not too tired . . . read a book.

"Your parents do not owe you entertainment. Your village does not owe you recreation facilities. The world does not owe you a living. You owe the world something. You owe it your time and energy and talents so that no one will be at war or in poverty, or sick, or lonely again.

"In plain simple words grow up, quit being a cry baby; get out of your dream world: develop a backbone, not a wishbone: and start acting like a man or a lady.

"What you are God gave you. What you become you give to God. America needs your help for survival. You are important and you are needed. It is too late to sit around and wait for somebody to do something someday. Someday is now and somebody is you. You be extraordinary or we die."

What if we suddenly stop junior baseball and the Boy Scouts and Rotary Foundation and the YMCA and the teen-age dances. Who would care? I hope Plymouth's young people would.

Tankers dunked twice losing close events

Plymouth's varsity swimming fortunes continued to ebb as the tankers lost two meets by lopsided scores this week—64-37 to Bentley Friday night, and 60-45 to Fordson last Tuesday.

JV swimmers drop 51-48 squeaker

A slim three points separated the Plymouth JV swimmers from a victory over Bentley last week as the Rocks lost 51-48. Bob Wellman swam second in the 200 yard freestyle, and in the 100 yard butterfly.

Diplomats will face faculty

Basketball's internationally famous Harlem Diplomats will play here at Plymouth High School gym Jan. 4 at 8 p.m.

The Diplomats recently played in Mexico, Cuba, Jamaica, Nassau, Brazil and Venezuela.

The team features two of basketball's great comedians, Dick Harvey and Goose Jr. Also there is a bright new sensational dribbler and ball handler, Pete Russell.

The Diplomats will present basketball's most spectacular magic circle. Parts of this unique circle is done in darkness; only visible objects are the hands, shoes and a glowing basketball. The tricky ball handling will precede the game.

THE TEAM is believed to have the greatest group of razzle dazzle ball handlers ever assembled. While playing before 200,000 fans last season, the Diplomats compiled a 173 to 4 win and loss record respectively. At present the team is undefeated. The game promises to be one of fine basketball mixed with delightful comedy. Admission will be $1.

The funds raised will be used for the Pep Club and the Varsity Club.

Biff Leonard won a first in the 100 yard breaststroke with Craig Zurn taking second against Fordson. Leonard swam second in the same event against Bentley.

The 200 yard freestyle relay was won by Plymouth in the Bentley meet.

Annual search

The annual search for Plymouth's man of the year will get underway soon when The Plymouth Junior Chamber of Commerce sends letters to all organized male groups in The Plymouth Community.

The letters will explain what qualifications the Jaycees expect in nominees for the yearly Distinguished Service Award. The award is normally given out at ceremonies in the latter part of January.

For the first time next year, according to Junior Chamber President Calvin Strom, the club will also give out a "Sound Citizen Award" to a member of the club, based on service to the community during the past year.

Garber raps Fire Administration Board plans

Township Trustee Dick Lauterbach didn't agree.

"Two or three years back the Township Board ignored the Civil Service Commission. I don't want that to happen again. Let the Fire Ad. Board and Civil Service Commission meet."

"You're real generous with the Civil Service Commission's time," Garber replied. But Township trustee Gene Overholt agreed with Lauterbach:

"IF WE GET a set of rules to cover the fire department we haven't wasted a dime," he said. Garber still didn't like the idea, and said so.

"Let the Ad. Board come with something in concrete form, and let the Civil Service Commission do the same, and we'll pass on each one."

"Why have all these meetings?"

Garber pointed out that the Civil Service report was well done and that the Fire Administration Board should come up with their own, without so many meetings.

"Are we going to drop this?" asked Lauterbach.

"Good idea," Garber said.

Garber's objections had no support among other board members, and they passed

6-1 a recommendation for a joint meeting between the two agencies.

The two boards overlap at times, according to Township treasurer Elizabeth Holmes. The Civil Service Commission is part of a state law, and is required by the Civil Service Act. The commission is to work mainly in the area of employee relations.

On the other hand, the Fire Administration board was set up to advise the Township Board on the operation of the fire department in such areas as purchases or equipment repair.

In other matters the Township Board spent considerable time listening to a request from Julia Mangogna for a commercial rezoning on their restaurant and bar near the corner of Ann Arbor Road and Ann Arbor Trail in the western portion of the Township.

INTERIM attorney Thomas Foley reported that the board had no recourse but to stand firm on the denial that came earlier from the planning commission.

"Our attorney says this is the law, and that's what we've got to stick by. I'm sorry," said Township supervisor Jack McEwen.

Mrs. Magogna earlier this fall requested commercial rezoning, needed to erect a new building on the spot where the existing structure rests. Presently the building stands under a non-conforming use allowance.

In other action, the Board:

- Agreed to have Township engineer Herald Hamill draw up final plans for a sewer line along Haggerty Road to serve a warehouse expected to be built on land nearby.
- Adopted the 1965 version of the National Electrical Code.
- Approved expenses not to exceed $100 for Mrs. Holmes to attend a U of M Water Works Management seminar in March.
- Tabled for a special meeting the Liquor Control Ordinance.
- Affirmed the professional office rezoning on the northeast corner of Ann Arbor Rd. and Haggerty Rd., after hearing attorney Foley state the request approved over a year ago for developer Loren Gould was still valid.
- Tabled awaiting a report from the Fire Administration Board the matter of repairs on one of the fire engines.

Deny Cape

(Continued from Page 1) Feb. 1. Cape requested more of Byron Ave. earlier this summer to help meet land requirements for two apartments in his Bryn Mawr development. The two now stand empty, "red-tagged" by City building inspector Chuck Thompson because they do not meet land requirements. Commissioner Arch Vallier was against Cape's request:

meeting that a wide range had to be considered, all the way from the bare cost of the mains themselves to the possible revenue over the next 20 years.

"The figure will have to be somewhere in between," he said.

In other matters the City: listened to a complaint from resident Ezra Rotnour, 333 W. Ann Arbor Trail, who rapped City plans to end snow removal this year.

"This is one of the best services that took Plymouth a long time to get," he said.

Commissioner Hudson noted that many complaints had been made about the quality of the service.

"You get a lot of complaints about the police department," Rotnour said, "but you never took them off."

In other action, the Commission:

- Approved four taxi cab licenses apiece for the Plymouth Cab Co. and Checker Cab Co. after reading a report from the police department that showed no complaints had been received about either company.
- Agreed to purchase about 175 new parking meters.
- Agreed to a ninety day trial period for a new Salem Township dump agreement drafted by Blodgett.

"THE PROPERTY rights of the three property owners to the south should be protected. That's just as important as doing a favor for Mr. Cape."

Considerable discussion was held on the rights of the three owners involved, and City Attorney Thomas Healy pointed out that they would be guaranteed a right of ingress and egress to their property over the street, should the City vacate.

"But they are private rights they enforce themselves," he said.

Lawton pointed out that, as he saw it, only two alternatives existed: vacation, or, the improvement of the street so it could accommodate City DPW equipment.

Commissioner George Hudson noted that he didn't want to do a personal favor for Cape but wanted the City to look at the total benefits of the question.

Vallier moved denial, and Commissioner James Jabara seconded it. Cape's attorney, veteran lawyer J. Rusling Cutler, asked that the City consider a request for the vacation of only five feet of the street.

He was told he could re-petition the City on the same basis as the last request was handled.

In other matters, the Commission agreed to pass on to Plymouth Township a report prepared by City manager Richard Blodgett on the request from the Plymouth Township Board for the transferral of the Plymouth Colony water system.

"We'll listen to any fair and reasonable offer," Vallier noted.

"But they are private rights they enforce themselves," he said.

The wide smiles on Tom Minahan's and Chuck Thomas's face reflect the holiday spirit as the two youngsters tote a tree home for decorating. The tree was cut somewhere up north, but when this picture was taken stood in Don Lightfoot's Produce Center lot at 1208 S. Main St. Chuck is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, 1338 S. Harvey, and Tom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Minahan, 1249 Carol. Somehow the happy faces of children are enough decoration for any Christmas tree.

A city on the edge of the great Sahara

The city of Kano differs from all the other towns we saw on our trip through West Africa. Located 261 miles north of Jos, it has 130,000 inhabitants, making it the third largest city in Nigeria.

It is a city which has a long and rich history. In former days it derived vast prestige as the terminal point of the great trans-Saharan camel caravans.

Camels are still to be seen in Kano. But today the new sections of the city reflect a different source of wealth. It is still a great commercial center, but now its trade moves in other directions.

Peanuts supply a great deal of this wealth. In 1959 Nigeria exported 77 million dollars worth of peanuts, most of them from Kano.

After the peanuts have been placed in burlap bags they are neatly stacked in gigantic pyramid shaped piles and covered with a green tarp to await shipment. Each pyramid contains several thousand tons of peanuts. They provide a curious sight.

KANO also has a large international airport. And there is a U.S. satellite tracking station just outside of town which was following the space flight of McDivitt and White during our visit.

But the real charm of Kano is to be found in the old section of the city. This section is surrounded by a crumbling mud wall which marks the edge of the original city. One enters the old city through one of the 12 original gates.

The houses in this section of Kano are built of mud for Early Roman Had 'Practical' View On Gift Giving

"Christmas is getting too commercial!" This modern complaint, while it may have force, is somewhat lacking in originality.

"I hate the crafty arts of giving presents," said the witty Roman poet Martial, who lived and wrote from about 40 to 104 A.D. "Gifts are like hooks."

His complaint was expressed in a series of poems written for a wealthy patron, at the time of the Saturnalia, the pagan festival from which came many Christmas customs.

Christmas will be especially happy for the Harold Voss family of Ford Rd. this year. Their son, Robert, is home on a 19 day leave from Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. Robert is serving our country with the U.S. Naval Weather Service.

Junior leaders of Plymouth 4-H Livestock Club saw their efforts rewarded Friday evening, Dec. 10, as five 4-H groups gathered at the Wayne County 4-H Fairgrounds, Belleville, for the Christmas dance hosted by this club. Festive holiday decorations provided a colorful backdrop for the music of the "Enroads" and "Illusions," high school bands from Plymouth High.

A family caroling party was held the afternoon of Dec. 19 by Sheldon Methodist Church. Following the caroling the group met at the church and the children presented a Christmas program. Refreshments were served.

Mrs. Wilford Bunyca of Powell Rd. was hostess for the Wayne County Farm Bureau Women's Christmas party Dec. 9. Thirty-five women met at noon for a pot-luck lunch. A business meeting was held in the afternoon after which the group enjoyed several games. In place of a gift exchange, a collection was taken and sent to Hawthorn Center in Northville.

A cookie bake was held Saturday morning, Dec. 18, by the Methodist Youth Fellowship of Cherry Hill Methodist Church. The cookies along with poinsettia plants were taken to Eastlawn Convalescence Home Sunday afternoon, Dec. 19, when the group presented a special Christmas program there.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simmons of Geddes Rd. attended the annual Christmas Concert presented by the music department of Belleville High School Dec. 15. Their son, Bob, sings in the high school chorus.

A Christmas play, "The World Needs A Savior," was presented by the children of Cherry Hill Methodist Church Sunday evening, Dec. 19. A fellowship hour with refreshments and a Christmas Sing-spiration followed the program.

Plymouth 4-H Livestock Club planned a Christmas party at its December meeting.

Denton Methodist Church and Sheldon Methodist Church will join together for a candle-light service 7:30 Christmas eve. Both junior choirs will be singing. The service will be held at the Denton Church.

Evergreen Is Undisputed Favorite

In Christmas trees, it's the spirit that counts. Almost anything can be—and is—a Christmas tree. In Minneapolis, Minn., they even made a tree out of water pipes, fastened like spokes to a telephone pole, and appropriately decorated.

In Wilmington, N. C., a live oak more than 300 years old is adorned at the Yuletide with colorful ornaments and electric lights. In Indianapolis, Ind., they decorate the 246-foot Soldiers and Sailors Monument with electric candles and stars.

The U.S. National Christmas Tree, officially designated in 1926, is not an evergreen but a giant redwood, located in Kings Canyon National Park, Calif.

This unusual Christmas tree, tree, called the "General Grant," is 3,500 years old. Many families prefer the "permanent" Christmas tree, often made of aluminum.

Despite all this, the time-tested favorite tree is still the evergreen.

How the higher education act works

By Congressman Weston E. Vivian

In the eight weeks that I have spent in Michigan since the end of the First Session of Congress, I have found a great deal of interest among the many constituents with whom I have talked, in the provisions of the Higher Education Act. For this reason, I should like to discuss this new law with you in this column.

Briefly, these are the provisions of Public Law 89-329, the Higher Education Act of 1965:

Title I: Authorizes Federal matching grants to the states to provide community service programs dealing primarily with urban and suburban problems, to be offered through public and non-profit private colleges and universities. This is a program which parallels the various agricultural extension services now provided for rural areas.

Title II: Provides funds for the improvement of library services of colleges and universities. Includes funds for training of librarians, and encourages regional development of library systems.

Title III: Provides funds to raise the academic quality of smaller, "developing" institutions. Funds for two-year, and B.A.-granting institutions. Funds for "national teaching fellowships" to graduate students and junior faculty members who, at the request of a developing institution, would teach there for up to two years.

TITLE IV: Student Assistance. Authorizes Federal "educational opportunity grants" to institutions of higher education, for students in great financial need. Each scholarship not to exceed either $800 or half the amount of assistance provided the student by the college or by a state or private scholarship program, not including income from work-study programs.

Michigan's share of the Title IV funds is proportionate to its share of students, nationally, who are attending college. The program is to be administered by the individual college or university.

It also strengthens and enlarges the student loan program, and makes provisions for subsidizing the interest cost of loans, while students are still in school.

Title V: Authorizes a National Teacher Corps. (The Congress failed, however, to provide funds to operate the Corps. Action to correct this deficiency is expected to be considered in 1966.) Teacher Corps would provide experienced teachers and teacher-interns, upon request of local school districts, to teach at schools with concentration of children from low-income families. Funds, when allocated, will be apportioned to states in proportion to the relative number of children from low-income families.

Teachers would be under control of the local boards, who would assign them, and determine what they should teach, and whether their employment should be continued. It also authorizes special teacher fellowships, for studies leading to advanced degrees other than Ph.D.

Other titles of the Act provide for Federal assistance in the form of grants, to improve teaching facilities of institutions of higher education; additional grants for college buildings; and a reduction in the maximum interest rate for loans for construction of academic facilities to three per cent.

As with a number of Acts passed by the 89th Congress, this year, the Higher Education is "landmark legislation." It breaks entirely new ground, in providing Federal scholarships for colleges to provide assistance to students from especially needy families. Such "landmark legislation" bears with it the responsibility for close and continuing review of the new programs.

I BELIEVE that with the passage of the Higher Education Act of 1965, the people of the United States have at last begun to take seriously our commitment to the principle that no one who is qualified ought to be prevented from receiving the education which he or she may beneficially use, because of limited personal financial resources.

The benefits of continuing education, both to the individual and to our whole society, are too great to allow them to be lost to individuals who cannot afford them.

Left to right are Jo Ann Spieser, Lisa Bogenschutz, Miss Toutant, Suzie Siegert and Mary Pat Liimakka. The girls visited the internationally famous Money Museum of the National Bank of Detroit last week and learned about the origin and development of money and how a bank operates in serving the needs of its customers and the community.

Two help begin new company

Two Plymouthites — James Van Geison and William Bannan — have taken part in the formation of a new life insurance company, Summit Life.

Van Geison, for ten years president of Duratiner Co., will be a general agent in Plymouth.

Bannan, the director of the Detroit House of Correction, is one of the 21 incorporators who bought the initial $600,000 in stock.

A total of $12 million in stock is being offered for sale, with some 3 million common shares up for sale at $4 per share.

Van Geison said the company, which has home offices in Jackson, will open an office in Plymouth.

"The company hopes to be able to write life insurance by July, 1966," Van Geison said. "And we won't write insurance until it's sold."

More information on the stock sale and the company can be had by calling Van Geison at 453-7541.

Who's new in Plymouth?

AFTER SPENDING ALMOST three months looking at homes in the area, the Gene (Charles) Amyx family decided on Plymouth because of its many fine features, says Mrs. Amyx. Mr. Amyx, a manufacturing supervisor for the Ford Motor Co., was transferred to the Livonia Transmission plant from Loveland, Ohio, which is near Cincinnati. They moved into their home at 392 Joy St. about Oct. 1 and have already become members of the Newcomer's Club. Shown above with Mr. and Mrs. Amyx are Sandra, 5, left, Rebecca, 7, right, and Mike, 9, behind his sisters. Charles, Jr., 11, was at the sixth grade camp when the picture was taken.

THE ANNUAL KIWANIS Club Christmas party for members and their families was held last week, with Laurie Kirchoff, Brig. General Ernest Hammer, Robert Usher, Marvin Terry, Ken Kirchoff and Nancy Pocklington posing around all the doll gifts.

"Oh no — not your new Christmas tie!"

Park-Woods Wanderings

News from Parklane and Hough Woods

As the last packages are being wrapped and the children are beginning to show the strain of so much being good, neighborhood hostesses are busy issuing invitations and making the last minute preparations for the continuing round of festivities.

Our vote for Plymouth's Hostess with the Mostest goes to ten-year-old Debbie Troutman, who completely without the knowledge of either of her parents, organized and executed a surprise wedding anniversary party. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Troutman couldn't have been more surprised when several of their friends began arriving for a dessert party in honor of their 22nd anniversary. Those helping Debbie keep her well guarded secret were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Don Graham, Mr. and Mrs. George Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Scott, and Mrs. Robert Delaney and Mrs. Ralph Snoke.

Entertaining her neighborhood bridge club recently was Mrs. Albert H. Stanwood of Evergreen St. Bridge players, who were most grateful to Mr. Stanwood for substituting at the last minute, were Mrs. William Davis, Mrs. James Starr, Mrs. John Jacobs, Mrs. Hugh Harsha, Mrs. George Spaniel, and Mrs. John Ward.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bengtson of Middletown, Conn., were the houseguests of her daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. David Johnson of McKinley Ave. Due to the extreme brevity of their stay, Mrs. Bengtson was unable to visit her many old friends in the Plymouth area, Margaret Johnson and her grandmother, Mrs. Sara Johnson, will make a trip to New Jersey for a visit with her aunt during the holiday vacation.

Another Christmas bridge luncheon was held by Mrs. Edwin Schrader in her Park Place home on December 15. Attending were Mrs. Frank Allison, Mrs. David Mather, Mrs. Thomas Mooney, and Mrs. Herbert Woolweaver, all of Plymouth. Mrs. Robert Matthews came from Farmington, Mrs. Robert Jack from Pontiac, and Mrs. Harold Clum arrived from Birmingham.

Welcome back to the Richard E. Nelsons and their children, Lisa, 8, and Steve, 5. The Nelsons left Plymouth two years ago to move to Rogers City and are delighted to be back in Plymouth once again. Their home on Beech Ct. is full of excitement as they make preparations for a Christmas visit from Mrs. Nelson's mother, Mrs. Carl Hughes, who will arrive from Hartsville, S.C.

Candlelight illuminated the traditional greens and reds of Christmas at the Hugh Harsha home on McKinley on Dec. 6. The Harshas held open house for more than 50 guests including neighbors and friends from Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Detroit and Livonia.

Among parents who will be eagerly meeting trains and planes to greet their homecoming college students are the Arthur Larsons, who will be greeting Alvin from Yale, and Sue, from the University of Michigan. Richard Malbeuf and Win Schrader will also be home from the University of Michigan and Bob and Linda Hill will come from Michigan State. Judy Adams will journey from American University in Washington, D.C., and David Van Ornum will return from Houghton College in New York City. Tim Corwin will come south from Marquette, and Ken Fischer will be home from Wooster. Gerry and Kathy Fischer will motor from Yale Divinity School on Christmas Day. Another late arrival will be Dave Troutman who is such a hockey enthusiast that he will remain "on the ice" at Michigan State when his parents will drive up to bring him home. Cathy Voss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Voss of Beech St., will also travel from Michigan State for the holidays.

Mrs. James Starr of Linden St. entertained the choir of St. John's Episcopal Church at an egg nog party following their usual Thursday night practice on Dec. 16.

About Trees...

On the night Christ was born, legend says, all the trees burst into bloom. Thus began many stories about the Christmas tree.

Early folk tales described a huge tree in the midst of a forest. The tree held many candles, some straight, some upside down. At the top was an infant with a halo around his head.

It was believed that the tree represented humanity. The candles, up and down, symbolized people, good and bad. The infant was the Christ Child.

Got a question on your Mail subscription?

Sometime this week your Plymouth Mail carrier will ring your bell to collect 35 cents for the month of December.

Remember, if you have a paid up subscription, he will not collect.

If your subscription has expired, he will collect for the first time this month.

And, if he has been collecting on a regular monthly basis for some time, he will again this month, only about one week early because of the holidays.

Mail circulation manager, Fred Wright urged co-operation with the carriers. "In many instances this is their first business venture," he said.

Carrier of the week

A promising quarterback for PHS? That's what this week's carrier of the week may be.

Dan Penrice, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Penrice, 1432 Palmer St. says sports are his main interest. He was a quarterback on the Our Lady of Good Counsel football team this fall, where he is a seventh grader.

He and his family have lived in Plymouth about 3 years.

Besides football and basketball, young Penrice has thoughts of being a writer. "I have thought about becoming a lawyer, or working in the entertainment field as a writer."

His route covers parts of Carol, Palmer, Hartsough and Ross.

Serving our country

PFC JAMES FERGUSON
Army PFC James T. Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ferguson, 552 Maple Ave., and other members of the 7th Infantry Division participated in Exercise Flying Tackle, a five-day field training exercise in Korea, which ended Dec. 11.

During the exercise Ferguson took part in defensive operations under simulated combat conditions. Ferguson practiced repelling attacking forces with small arms fire and grenades and coordinating defensive moves with armor and artillery units.

Ferguson is an armorer in Headquarters Company, 2d Battalion of the division's 32d Infantry. He entered the Army in October, 1963 and was last stationed in Oakdale, Pa., before arriving overseas on this tour of duty in August, 1965.

The 19-year-old soldier attended Plymouth High School.

Marine Private David L. Luedtke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard W. Luedtke of 16080 Northville Road, was graduated from Marine recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif. During his eight weeks of intensified recruit training under veteran noncommissioned officer Drill Instructors, he learned small arms marksmanship, bayonet fighting, and methods of self-protection, as well as receiving instruction in military drill, history and traditions of the Marine Corps, and other academic subjects. He has been assigned to Camp Pendleton, Calif. for four weeks of individual combat training and four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field.

THE SIXTY-SIX boys and girls at Plymouth Children's Nursery are busy with their Christmas plans and projects. Highlighting the season for Mrs. Carol Guregian's class was a trip to a Christmas tree farm with a chance for the children to select and personally chop down the tree for the nursery school. The tree was trimmed with decorations made by the children from all three classes. Members of the classes who had fun decorating are, on the ladder, John Van Wagoner and Christopher Scott, Jeff Kelley, far right, and Lynn Knittell, right and Laura Call. Mrs. Jeanette Hopkins' class invited their families to the school Sunday afternoon for refreshments and a program of songs. On Tuesday the last day of school for Mrs. Pat Kleckner's class, their mothers were entertained and presented with gifts made by the children. Mrs. Guregian's class will make and decorate cookies for their mother's party on Wednesday and present them with gifts they have made.

Plymouth Hi-lites

by Judi King

Christmas is here. And, although we've been celebrating it here at the High School for the past two weeks, the best is yet to come.

By the time this edition of The Mail reaches the teenage population of Plymouth, physics books, English term papers, and even hundred word themes will be completely erased from the minds of about 1300 Plymouthites . . . and will stay that way until around . . . oh, January 2 or so. The time has come for son or daughter to pick up that last (first?) present for Mommy or Daddy, and for belle to pick out that final surprise for her beau.

It is also time for all those senior English teachers to ruin their whole vacation correcting papers they insisted on having due before vacation. But still, it's the most wonderful time of the year!

PHS started off the Christmas season with the annual Christmas concert, which was produced by the various groups of the vocal department. This was followed on Wednesday with the Christmas assembly featuring the Spurrilows, a group of young musicians who made the assembly quite an enormous success with the students. The assembly was sponsored by Bob Mallory's Chrysler-Plymouth dealer as part of the safe driving through driver education program.

The event of the year is on its way! The Plymouth Faculty Hotshots host the Harlem Diplomats in the gym on Tuesday, Jan. 4 at 8 p.m. Naturally, the Hotshots are favored by a slim (20 or 30 point) margin but, no matter what the results, the event is bound to be an interesting and entertaining one! Tickets are now being sold by the Pep Club.

The last of the Christmas cards, money and (ahem...) ice balls have been turned in. The results of the winners of the card sales contest will be announced after Christmas.

Senior pictures have arrived! Lucky parents and relatives can now look forward to opening one more lovely (?) gift Saturday morning!

An alumni tea was held yesterday afternoon for all 1965 graduates. Graduates were also invited to visit afternoon classes before the tea.

Almost all school clubs have had Christmas parties this week. The Spanish Club held one last night at Debbie White's home, while the German Club held a folk dance last Saturday.

Only two closing words this week — Merry Christmas!

American legion auxiliary

A special reminder of the very important meeting of the American Legion and V.F.W. and their Auxiliaries tonight at 8 p.m. in the V.F.W. hall, Army Captain Hall, among others, will talk on Vietnam. The public is invited to attend, and refreshments will be served.

Passage-Gayde Unit No. 391 Rehabilitation Chairman Fern Burleson announced Jeanette Thomas, Unit Chaplain, represented the Unit at the Gift Shop in the VA hospital at Ann Arbor. She and many other Auxiliary ladies spent the day helping veterans choose and wrap Christmas gifts for their family. Many Christmas packages from "Daddy" are being received these days by the families of hospitalized war veterans throughout the country, even though "Daddy" may be bedfast and without funds, reports Mrs. Burleson.

The gift-wrapped packages came from the Christmas gift shops operated by the American Legion Auxiliary in some 200 hospitals where veterans are under treatment. The Auxiliary is expending nearly $400,000 and thousands of hours of volunteer work to make it possible for veterans who must spend Christmas in the hospital to send gifts home.

"The typical American Legion Auxiliary gift shop is set up in a spare room in the hospital," said Mrs. Burleson. "The room is brightened with gay decorations and Christmas music is played." Gift articles supplied by Auxiliary Units throughout the states are attractively displayed, and Auxiliary volunteers are on duty as clerks and wrappers.

Ambulant patients and those in wheel chairs or on crutches come to the shop where they make selections of gifts for members of their families. There are no prices, no charge for anything. The selected articles are gift-wrapped, packaged and mailed to the veteran's home by the Auxiliary.

Hospital carts piled high with gift articles are taken to the bedsides of patients unable to visit the shop, so that these patients can make their selections too.

On Christmas morning there will be gifts for all of the hospitalized veterans from the Auxiliary, but we believe they appreciated more the opportunity to have a part in Christmas giving which the gift shops bring to them.

GRADUATED

Degrees were awarded to 1,713 candidates at Wayne State University this month setting a new record in the University's mid-year commencement history. Two Plymouthites, Daniel P. McCulloch, 41767 Schoolcraft, M. Ed. and Laurie J. Bogart, 9630 Gold Arbor, B.A. were among those graduating.

60-plus Club holds annual Christmas feast

The annual Christmas dinner of the 60-Plus Club was held Monday, Dec. 13 at the First Methodist Church with 89 members taking part.

The group was entertained by the Madrigal Singers from the Plymouth High School. The entertainment was followed by group singing and a humorous reading given by Mrs. Means.

The Club also voted to send one-tenth of their bank balance to the Christmas Good-fellow drive.
