At 17, she's budding executive; wins top J.A. award and $1000

Chris Sherry (seated center), 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Sherry, 47035 N. Territorial Road, Plymouth was named Junior Achievement Marketing Executive of the Year and awarded a $1000 scholarship by Sales/Marketing Executives-International at the 23rd National Junior Achievers (J.A.) Conference held last week at Indiana University, Bloomington.

Finalists in the international competition of 5,746 J.A. marketing heads were judged on their understanding of our Free Enterprise system of business, knowledge of duties appropriate to their office and familiarity with J.A. The second-place winner was awarded a $250 scholarship; second, third and fourth runners-up each received $50. Runners-up are: Kary Lincoln, Rockford, Ill., and Gene Trowbridge, Minneapolis. Standing: Thomas Escandell, Chalmette, La., and David Schnare, Hinsdale, Ill.

Prior to the conference, Miss Sherry captured the Vice-President of Sales title for southeastern Michigan in competition with 135 other J.A. company sales managers. Her award for the most convincing sales presentation before judges from Sales/Marketing Executives of Detroit included an expense-paid trip to the conference from S/ME.

Hike school lunch prices

The increased cost of living, coupled with a reduction in supplies of Federal government surplus commodity foods, will be felt by students and school personnel of the Plymouth Community School system—reflected in a 33 per cent increase in the cost of school lunches. That was the announcement of Assistant Superintendent Melvin Blunk, in charge of business, who indicated the new price scale, effective with the start of classes on Sept. 7, will be as follows: elementary schools, 35 cents; junior highs, 40 cents; senior high, 45 cents with a charge of 35 cents for adult lunches for school personnel.

This compares with the 1965-66 scale of: 30 cents in the elementary schools, 30 cents in the junior highs, 35 cents in the senior high and 45 cents for adult personnel. There was an indication last spring that the prices might be increased when Blunk was notified of a sharp cutback in the government surplus of commodity foods.

The prices have been held down in recent years by the

The Plymouth Mail offices will not be open Monday, September 5, to give our employees the benefit of the three day Labor Day weekend. Deadlines for all news have been moved up to Friday, September 2, at 5 p.m.

We will not be open Saturday, September 3, and will resume Saturday hours September 10, opening from 9 a.m. until noon.

Name Gibson to top level school post

Earl Gibson, softspoken principal at Bird School, and sixteen year veteran as a Plymouth educator, was named Monday as director of administrative services.

The post was created recently as the expanding problems of the school district brought a need for more high-level administrators.

Gibson, who will gradually assume duties as director of administrative services, has been

Register by Sept. 6 for school vote

September 6 at 5 p.m. That's the deadline to register for the special school election to bond for $5 1/2 million. The election will be held October 3.

Those who are not now registered may register at the City Hall on Main St., if they live in the City of Plymouth, and at Plymouth Township Hall if they live in the Township. Canton residents in the School District may register at the Canton Township Hall, 44508 Geddes Rd.

Registration will be taken up to 5 p.m. on the 6th.

In addition to the registration for the special school election, an all out drive to get new voters to register has been announced by City Clerk Eugene Silder, and Township Clerk, Mrs. Helen Richardson. The deadline to register for the regular November election is Monday, October 10 at 8 p.m. The Clerk's office will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. in both places.

To qualify in the November election, registrants must be 21, six month resident of Michigan, and thirty day resident in the city or township.

Activity in the August primary indicates a higher than average turnout for the November election. Exactly 1507 people out of 4672 voters went to the polls from the City in August. In the Township, 1748 of 4188 registered voters cast their ballot.

The election in November will be to elect a governor, Lt. governor, an attorney general, secretary of state, supreme court justices, and members of the State Board of Education, University of Michigan Board of Regents, Michigan State University Trustees and Wayne State University Board of Governors.

Also, locally, a U.S. Congressman, State Senator, and a State Representative must be elected. In the special October school election, only property owners of the district may put the district in debt.

The proposal will read exactly as follows:

"Shall Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, borrow the sum of not to exceed

Five Million, Five Hundred Dollars ($5,500,000) and issue its bonds therefor, for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping additional school facilities either as separate buildings, or as additions to existing buildings; acquiring additional land for site purposes; constructing and equip-

To open Tanger week late

Lake Pointe's Tanger Elementary School will open one week late on Monday, September 12, and will run half day sessions for at least two weeks.

That was the formal announcement last week from superintendent of schools Russell Isbister's office. The building was delayed by a construction strike early this summer.

"Students won't report at that school until September 12. This situation will last two weeks at the most," Isbister explained. Ron South, principal of Tanger, whose office has been at the Farrand school, outlined plans for the late opening this way:

Grades one, two and three will report for class at 8 a.m., and will go until noon.

Grades four, five and six will attend classes from 12:45 to 4:45.

Kindergartens will run normal schedules, from 8 a.m. until 10:30 and 12:45 until 3:15.

The half day situation was set up when it was learned the contractor could have half the 12 classrooms done by September 12.

Enrollment is now at 307, and South expects about 325. Kindergarten classes will utilize the library as the regular rooms will not be done.

These plans were finalized late last Tuesday in a long meeting school officials had with the contractor and architects.

The building has been delayed

In a nutshell

★ A special commemorative coin will be issued by National Bank of Detroit as part of its participation in the Plymouth Fall Festival. The souvenir coins will be distributed at the NBD Plymouth Office on Main Street and at the Bank's Festival Wagon. In addition, the Bank is planning two days of historical displays on Thursday and Friday, September 8-9. Floyd A. Kehrl, NBD Plymouth Group Vice President, said the displays have been assembled from bank archives. Among the displays at NBD will be a century-old coin press from the Bank's famous Money Museum.

★ Acting Postmaster John Mulligan reported Monday that the Plymouth Post Office will observe holiday schedule on Labor Day, Sept. 5. There will be no regular business, residential or rural deliveries and no window service. Mail will be picked up from street boxes on holiday schedule and outgoing mail will be dispatched. Special Delivery service will be available. The lobby will remain open to provide access to lock boxes, stamp dispensers and mail deposit slots.

★ Tickets for the first annual Firemen's Ball, featuring the music of Don Pable, are now on sale. The dance, set for September 9 from 9 p.m. until 12:30 a.m., is open to all adults. The Mayflower Meeting House provides the setting; tickets are on sale at the Hotel, Fisher's Shoes, Melody House, Davis and Lent, Dunning's and Sherwin-Williams paint store.

GET TOUGH: That was the terse order from head football coach John McFall as the Rocks took to the field Monday for the first day of practice. They open Friday, September 16, with traditional non-league foe Northville, at home. Body contact was heavy the first day as this grider grits his teeth going through the line. That's assistant coach Pat Montogano in the background with a placid face. The Rocks will be out to avenge last year's losing season.

NEW SIGNS for the Fall Festival are dressed up with frames supplied by the Plymouth Kiwanis Club. Mounting the frame is Bill Pohl of the Plymouth DPW.

ping playgrounds; and developing and improving sites? This particular bond issue carries with it no increase in millage.

However, it is part of a $17 million package recommended by a citizens study group to build a second high school, a third junior high, and four grade schools.

The remainder of the $17 million will be sought next summer, June, 1967. In that vote, a small increase is seen. A total of nine mills was suggested by the study group to finance the projects. Of that, 7.3 is currently being levied. Thus the vote next summer would raise the millage 1.7 mills, if approved.

These steps, although only in the talking stage, appear to be very firm.

The next few weeks, details of how the $5 1/2 million is to be spent will be made public. A bare outline of expenses shows the money will go for:

- * $1 million for land banking sites.
- * A third junior high.
- * Enlarge elementary number eight, now in the planning stage, from 420 capacity to 720.
- * Build elementary number nine as fast as possible, for 720.

Other funds needed are a $100,000 budget to plan the second high school. Where that money will come from is still up in the air. It appears it cannot come from the bond vote.

The special election was set by resolution at a meeting last week.

Earl Gibson

He came to Plymouth in 1950 as a sixth grade teacher. Later, after a stint as a fifth grade teacher, he became principal for all outlying elementary schools.

He then saw Gallimore school opened in January, 1957. From there, he went to Bird.

As director, he will work in three areas: Federal project funding, coordinating of all elementary education, and directing special services, such as visiting teachers and school nurses.

A graduate of the University of Toledo with a Bachelor of Education degree, he holds a Master of Arts degree from Michigan State University, and an elementary teaching certificate from Eastern Michigan University.

Active locally, he is a member of the Board of Directors of the Plymouth Community Fund, and is currently chairman of the Chamber of Commerce's Education Committee.

He is also past president of the Wayne County Elementary School Principals Association, as well as a board member of the Michigan Elementary Principals Association.

He was local Plymouth Education Association president in 1955.

Gibson also acts as chairman on various committees of the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development in area A, Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

A member of the Presbyterian Church, he is married. He and his wife Elizabeth live at 14436 Oxford in Lake Pointe with their four children: Kerry, 14, Thomas, 12, William, 10, and Mary Jane, five.

The salary for the post is comparable to the range of a junior high principal. The appointment was announced Monday by superintendent of schools, Russell Isbister.

A replacement for Gibson at Bird has not been named, and he will continue to function as principal until one is.

The school district has a training system for principals and it appears the new principal of Bird may come from that source.

The contest is held every summer after the series of eight week sewing classes the Singer Co. conducts. Sharon's division was made up of pre-teens.

Revise housing plans

The Plymouth Housing Commission will meet Tuesday night for the first time in over a month to take steps to find another site for the Senior Citizen home.

The $900,000 project has been delayed by the vehement refusal of the owner of the initial site, Jack Wilcox, to sell his land. The property in question is the stately mansion located at Union St. and Penniman Ave. across from Kellogg Park.

City Clerk Eugene Sluder said the group may authorize a request for relocation of the site. That request must be directed to the Chicago office of the Federal Public Housing Administration.

"About six" other sites are under consideration, according to Sluder.

The commission apparently is at a loss for what to do. Direction received from the City Commission several months ago indicated they should await the appraisal of the Wilcox site. That appraisal was about $30,000 to high, according to city officials.

Federal regulations are strict on the applications, and for every evening spent planning, weeks are spent awaiting word from Chicago.

The last word received on the project was that the Wilcox site was not completely ruled out, but other sites were being considered.

Tanger

The six rooms as well as offices will be open at Tanger. School officials avoided putting any Farrand students on half-days.

In other school building, Isbister reported the two additions — one at Bird School, and the other at Gallimore — would be done on time despite the strike.

Lake Pointe has been a headache for the Board of Education as the rapid growth produced a surprise in the form of the ratio of grade school children per home.

Lake Pointe was found to defy former ratios as developer Fred Greenspan built many three and four bedroom homes. Attendance at the two schools was decided by dividing the area along Five Mile Rod, and down Farmbrook. Parents with homes in several blocks on the border of the dividing line (between Farmbrook and Thornridge) were given an option as to which school to send their children.

The new school, located at Five Mile and Haggerty Rd. was begun late last fall.

Hike

★ Continued from page 1 assistance from the federal government. But without that aid in the same volume, the self-supporting noon lunch program could survive only by the price increases, according to Blunk.

Assistant Superintendent Blunk emphasized that the price hike was due to the increased food and milk prices, increased labor costs and the reduction of government aid.

"The school lunch program in past years has operated on a self-supporting basis with no cost to the school system," stated Blunk. "The price increase for the coming school year will enable us to continue the practice that has been followed for years."

"Despite increased food and labor costs for the past few years, we have held prices of school lunches. This is the first time we have had to hike prices in 12 years."

Blunk pointed out that in order to receive Federal reimbursement, school districts must comply with specific regulations regarding all student lunches served.

Each lunch served must include: one-half pint of milk, two ounces of lean meat, poultry or fish or two ounces of cheese or one egg; a three-quarter cup of vegetables or fruits; one slice of bread; and two teaspoons of butter.

The Plymouth School system will operate nine school cafeterias and one temporary cafeteria this fall, serving more than 2,500 students daily.

Demel drops suit against City, Lorenz

Earl Demel's suit against the City of Plymouth and Mayflower Hotel owner Ralph Lorenz was dropped Monday in Judge George Bowles Circuit Court upon a motion from Demel himself.

Demel had sued the City charging they had illegally vacated a portion of Maple St. for Lorenz's motel development, and for failing to sell the lot next to Snyder's Furniture Store to the highest bidder. Demel had also tacked on a $250,000 damage suit against Lorenz.

City attorney Thomas Healy said Monday. "He voluntarily stated the suit could be dismissed. Now the litigation cannot be reopened."

Lorenz, whose plans have been stymied by the suit, said every aspect of the downtown motel development, and its use of Maple Street, must be brought up to date.

"I am anxious to get going. We will have trouble with the money market because we couldn't arrange financing while the suit was pending," Lorenz explained.

The suit never got past pre-trial hearings, and discovery depositions.

"This is better than a victory,"

The dismissal ended several months of what appeared to be a bitter feud between Demel and Lorenz.

Time long overdue for twain to meet

It seems like ages ago — actually it was only four weeks back — when the voters in Plymouth Township gave a resounding "no" to the proposal for a charter for the City of Plymouth Heights.

Within a matter of days, three or four, a new petition for a charter had been signed by the necessary number of qualified voters and for the fourth time the electors will have a chance to go to the polls and pull down the "no" lever. It's just as certain as death and taxes that they'll vote "no" again in two years and then the same old procedure will start all over again.

This has been going on for six years — a vote every two years — presumably to protect the Township from having any of its land, especially that with large industries on it, annexed by either the City of Plymouth or the City of Livonia.

We came out in favor of passing the charter in the recent election, not that we thought the voters would approve it but to awaken the electors: they have been paying for an election every two years with no end in sight.

It is still our feeling that some way should be found to resolve a situation that members of the Township Board say can't be handled in any other manner than to have a charter election hanging over the Township.

In the first place, we don't believe that all of the voters know that the charters for the City of Plymouth Heights do not take in all the residents of the Township. It only includes that area up to McClumpha Road. Nothing has ever been said as to what the future holds for those residents west of McClumpha Road in case a miracle happens, and the charter passes.

Perhaps there is more to this than meets the eye. Perhaps some of those interested in the future of Plymouth Township and the Plymouth Community should make a complete study of the proposed charter and its effects. Perhaps now is the time to think of some way other than an election two years hence to forestall annexation.

It somehow reminds one of the old adage of "crying wolf once too often." Just keep throwing a charter vote to the people often enough and sometime they'll get the idea that this is what the community wants — after all they will be voting for the fourth time come 1968.

One wonders if it wouldn't be better for the City and Township fathers to sit down and start discussion of one fire department and one police department covering the City and the Township.

The City of Plymouth has an excellent Police Chief in the person of Kenneth Fisher. Plymouth Township appears to have an excellent fire department administrator in William Burr, an old hand with years of experience in metropolitan Detroit.

The City has the ideal situation with the police department and the radio equipment in the City Hall. It has everything needed for the nucleus of a fine department that could cover the City and the Township.

Inasmuch as the Wayne County Board of Supervisors has notified the Township that it will discontinue the Sheriff's Road Patrol in the not too distant future, then what better solution than to expand the Plymouth police to take care of the entire area?

That old argument that the Sheriff's Patrol is adequately taking care of the Township is so much hogwash and those that repeatedly argue this point know they are wrong. The big reason that the Sheriff's Patrol doesn't receive more complaints is that Township residents feel it is useless and that culprits would be long gone before the patrol arrived.

The Township has been fortunate in that it has received quick attention from the State Police but we argue that it would be much better to have a local police department handling the situation.

At least it's something to talk about and it most certainly won't take a vote of the people every two years to decide absolutely nothing as the charter elections have.

Then there's the matter of a fire department. Both the City and Township have excellent departments as far as they go and that isn't far enough.

The area is big enough to have one department, well-manned with full-time firefighters, adequately paid and available for service at all times they are on duty.

We feel the time is past when residents of an area this large can say they have adequate fire protection when a truck leaves the station with one driver and the hope that there will be enough volunteers at the scene to take care of the fire.

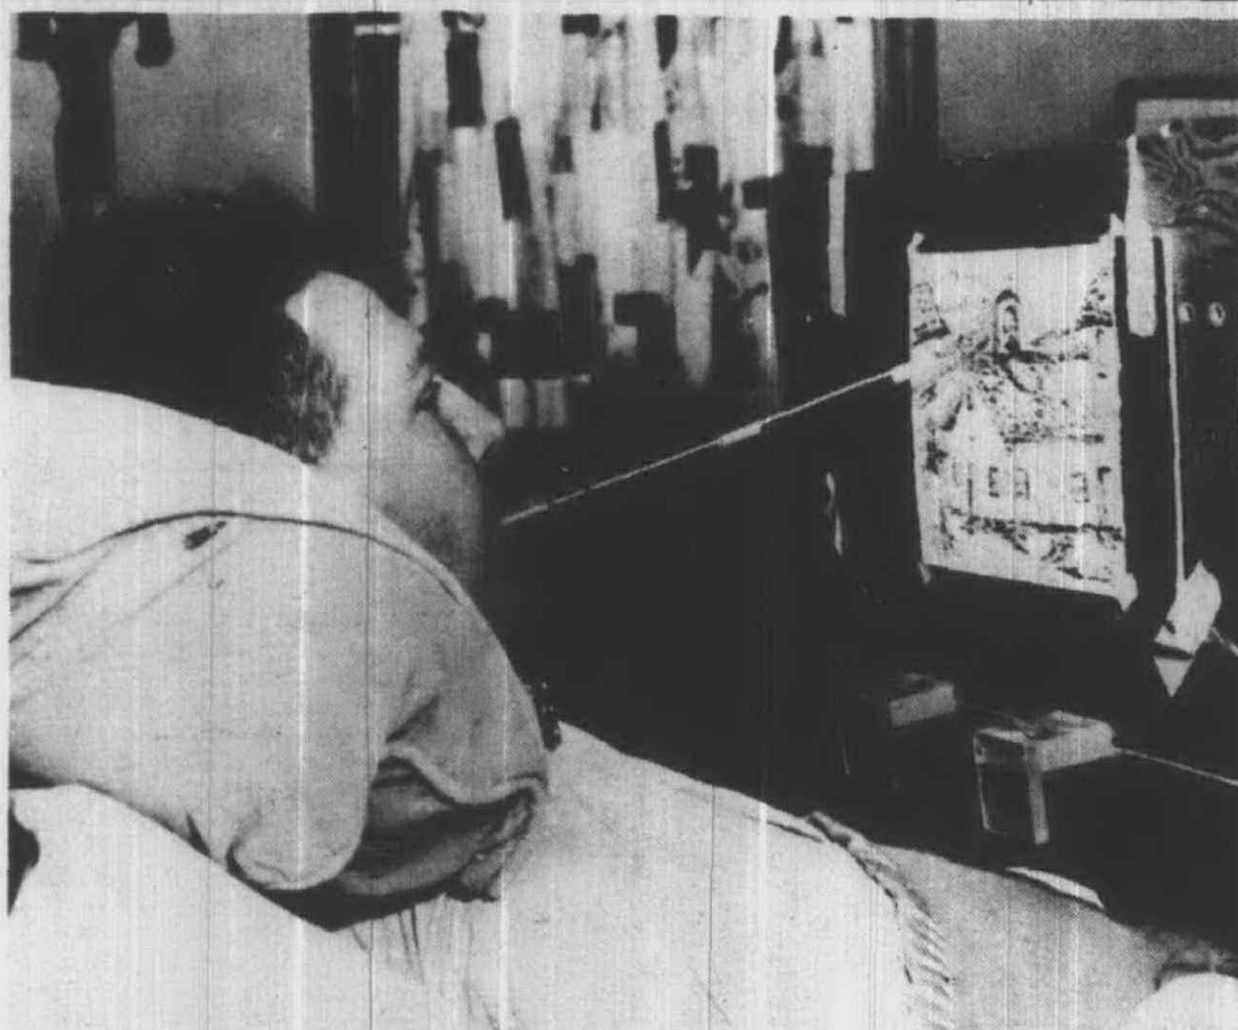

The Plymouth Community is growing in population but it isn't growing in its thinking.

The time has arrived for one police department and one fire department to cover the community. It's time the City and Township fathers stopped all of their pet peeves and began thinking of a bigger and better Plymouth and what they can do to help.

Most certainly a charter vote every two years isn't the answer nor is the thought that the City is the City and the Township is the Township and never the twain shall meet an answer.

The Plymouth Community is growing rapidly but the thinking for the future is moving at a snail's pace.

Plymouthite to work on traffic survey

A survey of all traffic safety workers in Washtenaw County was begun this week as part of a state-wide program recently initiated by the Highway Traffic Safety Center at Michigan State University to establish a plan for training all professional and volunteer traffic workers in Michigan.

Donald R. Jewell, 1096 Hartough, Plymouth, driver education teacher in Willow Run, has been appointed county coordinator for the program in Washtenaw County. During the next two weeks, Jewell will be responsible for determining the number and kinds of traffic workers in the county, their functions and responsibilities, and the training they have received to date.

In announcing Jewell's appointment, Gordon H. Sheehy, Director of MSU's Highway Traffic Safety Center said similar surveys were now being conducted in the majority of Michigan counties. "The surveys will constitute the initial phase of the total program," Sheehy observed.

"The raw data collected in the counties now will be of utmost importance to the overall objectives of the entire program," Sheehy stated. "I urge all concerned with traffic safety in the state to offer their full cooperation during the survey in order that the data collected will be as complete and accurate as possible."

Advisory groups of state and national accident prevention experts will be involved in the second phase of the program to establish standards and training needs for each level and category of traffic worker in Michigan.

LETTERS:

What to do in the summer, mom asks

Dear Editor, I don't know what writing to the editor will do, but I figure if this letter gets into the paper it might catch the eye of someone who can solve my problem. It's as plain as this: What can the kids in Plymouth do during the long summer days? Couldn't there be a club of some sort where there would be games and music that's open daily? Why doesn't somebody do something? I hope that by this time next summer I won't have to waste my time writing letters to editors.

Thanks, Liz Jewell

The good life Hemingway vacation

Doug Johnson

I don't know what it is, but of all nature's wonders, large bodies of water attract the most.

A placid lake traps a persons thoughts and hypnotizes his spirit and mood.

"Beautiful" muttered one man at our elbow as my wife and I stood on a lookout over Lake Michigan north of Manistee.

"What," I asked. "Nothing," he answered. Modern city dweller see these things and come away transfixed.

I can remember when I was young on our trips to the mountains. One drive northwest of Boulder, Colorado brought you past a hidden waterfall. It never failed that we stopped, and trekked the half mile back to see it.

It never changed, except perhaps in volume, as the snow fed streams goaded it down the canyon.

Water moving, or still, has a subtle, invisible pulling power.

We toured the northern portion of the lower peninsula on a seven day R and R (Rest and Relaxation tour).

I'm not a native Michigander, but the tour left me wondering why so many people live down here in the freeway jungle.

I felt I really was captivated by the mood of northern Michigan. First of all there was the man in the red parka on the boat to Beaver Island reading about Ernest Hemingway.

Any native of the state worth his salt knows Hemingway's first stories about Nick Adams were set in Northern Michigan.

Then there was wild country like Wilderness State Park west of Mackinaw City, where you drive for five miles on a one-car wide path for a sunset view of Sturgeon Bay. You can have the view from the bridge to St. Ignace.

Michigan need not be ashamed of its scenery, and can call itself a tourist state, particularly on the west side. The eastern portion of Michigan has a long way to go.

We visited about eight State parks and found all of them beautifully maintained.

One thing Plymouthites might look at is the town of Gaylord. What Plymouth has tried to do with Colonial Architecture, Gaylord has succeeded in doing with Swiss-English tudor architecture. In the midst of the ski country, the Swiss-chalet theme can be seen on every store and building in town.

Gaylord is a small town, but you can buy Playboy magazine off of the racks without having to surreptitiously ask for one and getting it in a plain marked bag. Towns do grow up, after all.

Then north of Ludington there was a drive in movie that features in-your-car sermons for Sunday morning.

"Come as you are", the sign beckoned. "Drive-in church," Gee, how drive-ins have changed since I went to them.

The pursuit of the biggest sunflower died with little of the flourish with which it was born. A flurry of calls after a picture of a huge sunflower appeared two weeks ago convinced me the hunt was on for THE biggest sunflower in Plymouth. We had no calls this week, which shows that sunflowers, like vacations, are short-lived.

Active teen attends Hi-Y leadership camp

Biff Leonard, a senior at Plymouth High School, acting as president of the Hi-Y group, has returned from a four-day YMCA leadership conference held at a camp on Torch Lake.

The camp is a training ground for Hi-Y officers.

reported that two projects are already underway locally: selling apples at the Fall Festival, and a canoe trip in mid-September.

The camp session ran from August 25 to 28. Topics covered, according to Leonard, were colleges, targets for growth, conservation, what is leadership, fund raising and the Hi-Y point of view.

"The Hi-Y purpose is to create in the home and the community high standards of Christian character.

The camp wasn't all work. A Polar Bear club, for those who could take an early morning dip in the frigid waters of Torch Lake, provided an outlet for horseplay.

Leonard's trip was financed half by himself, and half by the local club.

It's fall

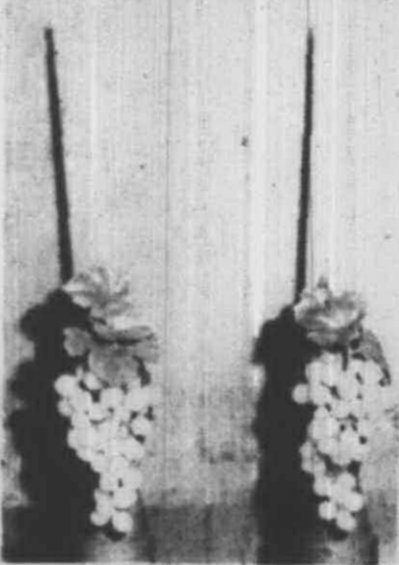

Dress your house for the season

Autumn is upon us and Mrs. Robert Shuman of Greenbrook Lane has some ideas for fall decorations. Fresh flowers are almost gone, but dried flowers are most attractive. Mrs. Shuman uses them on a

She recommends pansies, ageratum, small single marigold, and larkspur as working especially well. There also should be some kind of greenery behind the flower. "It looks better if you don't use the foliage that belongs to the flower," says Mrs. Shuman. "Ferns and any kind of leafy foliage or weeds look the best." The greenery should also be pressed until dry. An inexpensive frame to hold Artificial grapes add an extra touch to the candlesticks. Mrs. Shuman sometimes uses a circle of artificial flowers around the candle.

These can be purchased for about 60¢ at the dime store. Pick a fairly wide picture frame, so that it will give a shadow box effect. Tape the velvet or burlap onto the back of the cardboard that comes with the frame. Arrange the dried flowers and leaves on the material and slide this into the frame. The glass on the frame will hold the flowers in place. Several small pictures hung together look very nice.

Mrs. Shuman also likes to make dried flower arrangements. To do this she simply gathers different kinds of

This is one example of the way dried weeds can be combined to make fall floral decorations.

Weeds, ties them in a bunch, and hangs them in the basement until they are dry. When dry, spray them any color you want. They can then be arranged in a crock or earthenware vase with peacock feathers, straw flowers, Indian corn or anything else you wish.

Another idea from Mrs. Shuman is to make candlesticks out of flower pots. Three flower pots are needed for this project. Glue the bottoms of two of them together with Elmer's Glue. Then glue the top of the third one to the top of either of the first two.

The very thin candles will fit into the hole in the bottom of the third flower pot, which is now the top of the candlestick.

These candlesticks can be painted a dull black, and they will look as if they are made of wrought iron.

They also look very attractive if antiqued. Two combinations Mrs. Shuman recommends are gold paint antiqued with brown, and bright barn red paint antiqued with black.

Plymouth has own heritage by Margaret Murawski I have listened to many pro and con discussions of the colonialization of Plymouth without too much feeling one way or the other. Since I have been writing about the old houses in Plymouth I have formed some definite ideas.

Colonial seems to mean different things to different people. But since the days of the colonies were over after the Revolutionary War, pre-Revolutionary War is the definition that will be used here.

The earliest white man to come to Plymouth came around 1825. It seems a little meaningless to try to colonialize a town that had nothing but wigwags in it before 1825.

Perhaps the idea was to imitate Plymouth, Mass. But I would rather be a real Plymouth, Mich. than a pseudo-Plymouth, Mass.

Oh, if Plymouth wants to build all its new buildings in an adaptation of colonial architecture to give the town a certain unity, it's still all right with me.

But we shouldn't ignore the fact that we have a history of our own. In "The Tastemakers" Russell Lynes discusses the history of architecture in this country.

A chapter about what was loosely called the "Queen Anne" style of architecture which was popular in the 1870's has a passage about New England towns that seems applicable to Plymouth.

"Many a New England village that today will not put up a 'modern' building lest it destroy the character of the town, and will build stores in the 'colonial' style because they are thought to be in keeping with the architecture of the rest of the village have, in fact, a predominance of Queen Anne houses and a minimum of genuine 'colonial'."

"In the seventies Americans were not timid about being 'modern' and bankers were as happy to give mortgage loans on a modern Queen Anne house as on a Gothic one. The country was not yet old enough to have become self-conscious about reviving its youth." I am not against colonial architecture.

I am for architecture that has character and sincerity. Two examples of what I mean are the new Heide's Flower Shop designed by Tivadar Balogh, and the beautiful old Greek Revival house which is slowly dying behind the Colonial Cleaners.

They are from two different ages, but both are genuine. Real colonial architecture has great charm. In Nantucket there are three houses built by a sea captain for his three sons. They are all identical.

The city hall and the library are built somewhat superficially along the same lines.

People come and stand outside the Nantucket houses, captivated by their simple yet elegant lines. They are a perfect example of their genre.

I have yet to see crowds gather in front of the library and the city hall.

The original always has more appeal than the copy.

We have some originals of our own. It is up to us to preserve them.

The interesting old houses are more than interesting. They are fascinating. It would be a crime if the house Henry Baker built in 1870's were ever torn down for "Ye olde Colonial Drive In."

Nobody is going to build new houses like the Wilcox house and the others, it isn't practical. But these are our heritage, these are Plymouth, and we should take care of them.

Miss Mills weds George Klepack

Miss Katherine Mills, the daughter of the Robert Mills of Northville, became the bride of George L. Klepack, son of the Steven Klepacks of Marilyn St. in Plymouth, on August 6 at Our Lady of Victory Church in Northville.

The Mills are well known in Plymouth as the bride's father is a director of manufacturing at Evans Products.

The Reverend John Wittstock officiated at the high noon wedding.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a beau de sole gown with crystal and pearl beading, and cathedral length train. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a small pillbox headpiece.

She carried an arrangement of white roses and carnations. Miss Kristina Wuelner served as maid of honor. The other attendants were the bride's sister Mrs. Robert Smith, the Misses Karen Lyons, Sue Bassett, and the bridegroom's sisters Karen and Linda Klepack.

They all wore floor length pale yellow gowns with chiffon overlay and yellow embroidered roses and green leaves edging the bodice and sleeves. They carried tangerine roses and daisies.

Miss Carla Louise Johnson, of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, sang.

The best man was Duane Nimke. Robert Smith, Neil Keller, Herbert and Steven Klepack were the ushers.

Mrs. Mills wore a gold silk suit for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Klepack wore a turquoise crepe sheath.

A reception was held after the ceremony at Thunder Bird Inn in Plymouth for 200 guests. For traveling to a resort in Indiana the bride wore an Italian designed fiery red silk suit.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Klepack will be making their home in Memphis, Tenn. where the bridegroom is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Fogos are honored on golden wedding

A fiftieth wedding anniversary is something special. So the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Fogo of Jener St. in Plymouth arranged a dinner party in their honor at Edgewood Country Club in Union Lake on August 20.

Sam and Doris Fogo, Arnold and Margaret Weitschat from California, Elizabeth Yettow of Detroit and Agnes and Jean Fogo of Union Lake all planned the party.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fogo were married August 16, 1916 by Rev. W. Campbell in Clydebank, Scotland.

The Fogos came to the United States in 1927.

Mr. Fogo worked for Cadillac Motor Co. from 1929 until he retired in 1954.

They have lived in Plymouth for ten years.

Over 80 friends and relatives came to the party to honor the Fogos.

As guest of honor, Mrs. Fogo wore a light blue crepe dress with a lace bodice.

"I had a wonderful time. I never dreamed my family thought so much of me," said Mrs. Fogo about the party.

Besides their sons and daughters the Fogos have 13 grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Tasty dessert is easy to make

With the boom in apartment building a new type of resident is coming to Plymouth. Many young married couples first set up housekeeping in apartments.

Although they won't be staying there long, the young housewives quickly turn the bare apartments into cheery homes.

One such young couple is the John Sennstroms. They came here not quite two years ago when John graduated from Purdue University and started to work for Federal Mogul.

The Sennstroms think they will be transferred next spring. While here they attend the Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Sennstrom is a member of Newcomer's Club and plays symphony bridge.

The Sennstroms have one daughter, Diane, and a popular dessert with their family is:

LEMON CAKE

- 1 box Duncan Hines Lemon Surprise cake mix
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3/4 cup oil
- 1 cup apricot nectar
- 4 eggs.

Thoroughly mix the first four ingredients. Add the eggs one at a time beating after each addition. Put the batter in a greased tube pan. Bake at 325 degrees for one hour.

Frost with one cup of confectioners sugar mixed with the juice of one lemon, or enough artificial lemon juice so that the mixture is fairly runny and can be spread quickly. Take the cake out of the pan a

TWO PLYMOUTH FAMILIES had houseguests from Tubingen, Germany recently. Mr. and Mrs. John Wiltse entertained Miss Hannelore Buttgerreit, a young career girl. The David Woods were hosts to Miss Gisela Geist, a 17 year old student.

Both girls came with a group of 180 people from other countries on an individual basis. Both Plymouth families were delighted to have the girls visit their houses.

Miss Buttgerreit stayed with the Wiltsees from August 16 to 28, and they took a trip to Niagara Falls, and went sight-seeing around Detroit taking in Greenfield Village and Cranbrook.

Miss Geist stayed with the Woods for four days. MR. AND MRS. ROBERT PROBECK have returned from a Battlefield Tour of the areas where Mr. Probeck fought with the 1st U.S. Infantry Division during World War II.

The areas included Algeria, Tunisia, Sicily, France (including Omaha Beach), Belgium and Germany.

They also visited England, Rome and New York City.

The 12 members of their tour were the first American tour group to visit Algeria since the war. The Probecks and Mr. Hal Ryder (president of Galaxy Tours) were entertained by the American Ambassador in Algiers, a personal friend of the Probecks.

A surprise luncheon was held for Karen McAllister, daughter of the William R. McAllisters on Friday August 26 at the Round Table Club. Jill and Patty Hoffman planned the luncheon for Karen who will be going to Interlochen for her junior year in this school. The other guests were Ann Heid, Marsha and Judy Motzkus, and Karen and Corinne Mitchell.

U of M gives shopping tips
Dietitians at The University of Michigan Hospital offer a variety of tips to housewives who want to save money at the supermarket. One basic strategy is to prepare a grocery list beforehand, and stick to it. The U-M food specialists say spur-of-the-moment purchases are usually unnecessary, and almost always expensive. They also recommend that shoppers compare the cost of a particular food in each of its different forms: fresh, frozen and canned. Choose the one that gives the most servings for the money. Another tip: watch where the market places different brands of the same food. Name brands, often costing a few cents more, sometimes get the most prominent position while less expensive brands are likely to be placed on the lowest shelves where they can be easily overlooked. The hospital dietitians particularly urge housewives to observe government grades of various foods. Shrewd use of this grading system can be a valuable budget-stretcher. Low grade vegetables are excellent for stews and casseroles, while the higher grades are appropriate when serving the vegetable as a fancy side dish. When buying bread, always get an "enriched" loaf for best nutrition. And check the weight. Package sizes are deceiving.

INTERESTING OLD HOUSES

House next to library was built in the 1870's

In 1875 Henry Baker built a house at 233 South Main St., the fashionable residential section of town.

Mr. Baker could well be proud of his new house; today, 91 years later the house is still in excellent condition.

The house was purchased from the Baker family in 1943 by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Buzzard. Mrs. Buzzard has taken great care of the house and retained many of the old features.

Mr. Baker wanted a durable house, so the outside walls have two layers of brick with an air space between them.

There is a solid brick wall inside running the width of the house between the front rooms and the kitchen area. This wall is, of course, covered with plaster.

Even the ordinary walls which divide the rooms are at least ten inches thick.

An extra thick wall separates the front room, used for special occasions, from the everyday living room. The old wooden doors used to close off the front room still slide easily out from their grooves in this wall.

Mr. Baker had the woodwork done in butternut wood.

The tall windows and archways between the rooms are all trimmed in this warm golden brown wood.

There are grooves and scrollwork along the stairway. Hundreds of feet of beading, thin strips of wood, is placed in all the grooves of the wood to accentuate its beauty.

In 1875 the Baker family was well known in Plymouth. Originally from a farm west of town, Henry Baker and his brothers and sisters moved into Plymouth and became a vital part of the community.

Henry and his wife and his sister Anna Baker moved into the house on Main St.

Henry's sister Marietta married a Hough, a family which has played an important role in town.

Another sister of Henry's married a man named Adams, same Adams family that the street is named after.

Henry's brother, Chauncey, was the father of Norma Baker Cassidy.

When Mr. and Mrs. Baker and his sister Anna moved into the house the inside of the windows were covered with wooden shutters, which are again in style for windows.

In the front parlor there still stands a black marble fireplace that is decorated with metal and tile inserts. Over a pump in one corner of the basement.

A bathtub also once stood near the pump in the basement. Mrs. Buzzard describes the tub as a work of art.

"It was made of wood, beautifully shaped and copper lined," she explains.

The Buzzards moved to Plymouth in 1920. Mr. Buzzard was an attorney for the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad. The Buzzards two daughters; Margaret, now Mrs. Edmund Yerkes of Northville, and Doris, now Mrs. Earl Lewis of Virginia Beach, Virginia, grew up in Plymouth.

Mrs. Buzzard had always wanted a house downtown and in 1943 Miss Anna Baker offered to sell her house to the Buzzards.

"It was the first house downtown to change hands," Mrs. Buzzard states.

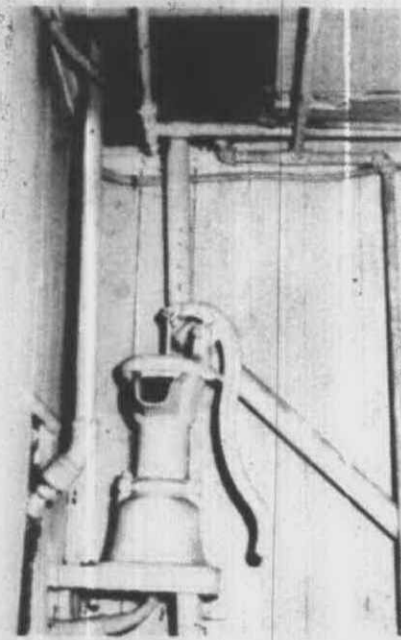

"When we moved in there was still a piece of the original carpeting, a French wilton with a floral pattern on the black background. I was able to find a very similar carpet for the downstairs."

This carpeting still covers the floors.

The Buzzards removed all but one of the gas wall fixtures that had not been used since the house was wired for electricity. This one hangs in the front hall and is mainly brass and crystal. It has been wired for electricity.

About the only evidence of age in this house is in the woodwork where the putty used to cover the original nails has faded to a color lighter than the woodwork.

But this only adds charm to the house which Mr. Baker had built, and Mrs. Buzzard has cared for.

The Bakers got their water from this pump in the basement which was connected to a cistern.

This fireplace the Bakers hung a mirror set in a deep frame of tufted velvet.

Although living in this gracious house with its high ceilings and wide high doorways, the Bakers still didn't have the convenience of today.

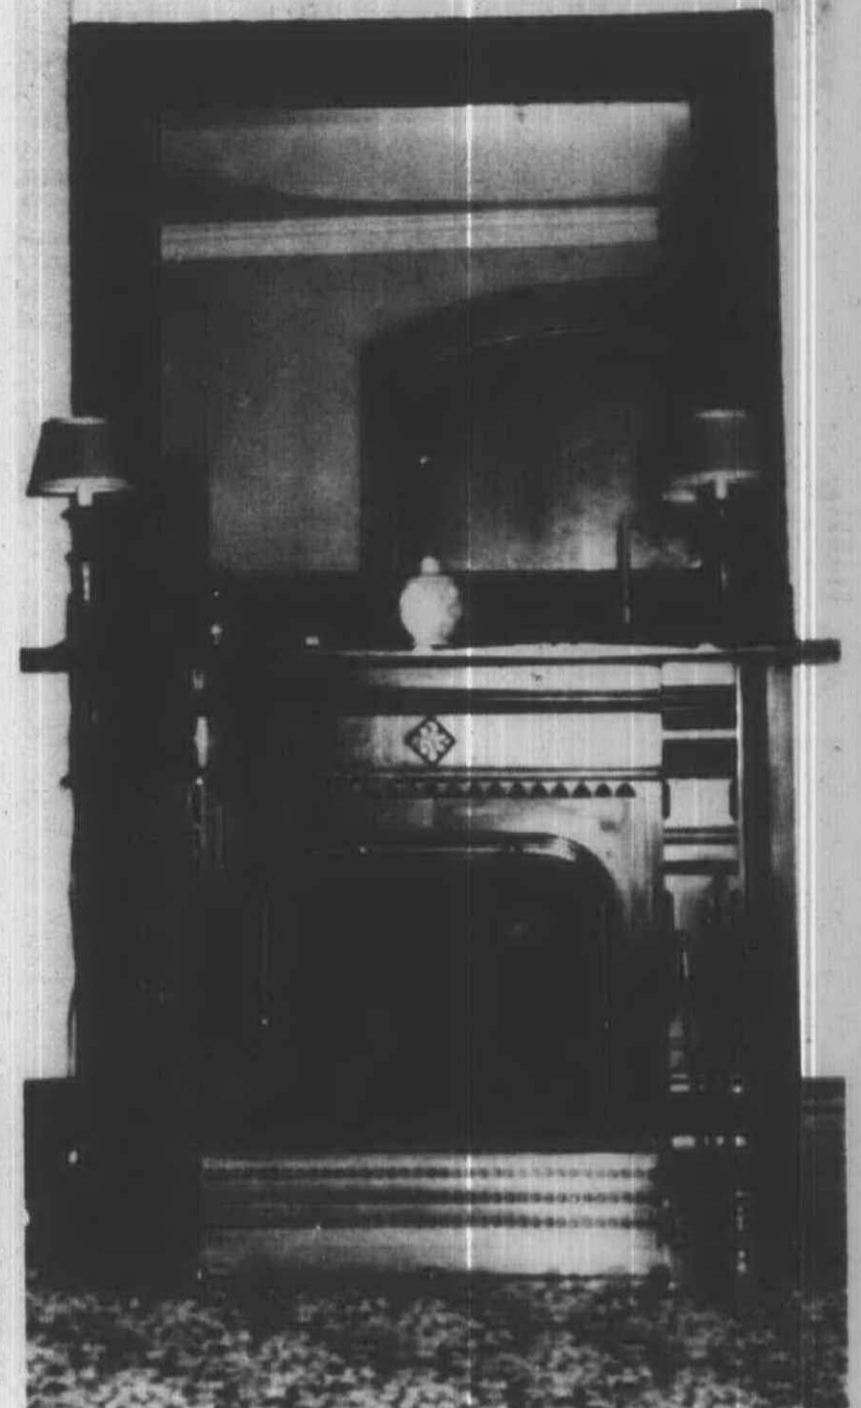

When Mrs. Buzzard moved in, there was still a pump in the upstairs kitchen which originally drew water from a cistern under the back porch.

The original kitchen, Mrs. Buzzard feels, was down in the basement. There still is Public, parochial schools open Sept. 8

Beset with all the problems that go with a mushrooming growth, the Plymouth Community Schools will open for the 1966-67 term on Thursday, September 8 with an all-time high enrollment expected to soar to 7,350.

That figure could go up or down in the remaining days before school opens. A total of 1446 have registered for high school, according to head guidance counselor John Hoben. Hoben, however, is quick to point out that the total will drop when students dropout because of the service or a job.

"We've had 84 new high school students - new to the district - since August 1," Hoben explained. "The totals are not overwhelming by any means, although we may have a few problems in some areas."

It's a matter of wait-and-see as the opening day nears and new students rush to register.

St. Peter's Lutheran Church and the Our Lady of Good Counsel Catholic schools will open on Thursday, September 8 - each with a new principal.

Sister Mary Victor, who served at St. Dennis in Royal Oak, is the successor to Sister Christine, as principal of O.L.G.C., which expects an enrollment of near 800. First graders will be in half-day sessions for September at least, Catholic school officials say. In the first grade, the boys will come in the morning and the girls in the afternoon.

James Klug is the new principal at St. Peter's which is looking forward to 120 students when classes start September 8. Pupils will register and buy books on September 7. Klug is a recent graduate of the Dr. Martin Luther College of New Ulm, Minnesota.

The Women's Club, the Plymouth Friends, and the Plymouth Vending company also worked at the fair.

Kiwanis Club donates frames for signs

Plymouth Kiwanis Club President, Bill Lyons, has presented 50 special weather-resistant anodized aluminum frames to the City of Plymouth. City Manager, Dick Blodgett, accepted the frames and immediately had them installed on light posts throughout the city, promoting Plymouth's Fall Festival.

Anyone is now aware that Plymouth is having a fall festival September 8, 9, 10 and 11.

Lyons outlined the purpose of donating the frames was to encourage other service organizations to use them to promote special projects which will benefit the Plymouth community.

The frames are designed for quick installation of posters by merely clipping them into the frames. The Fall Festival posters are styrafoam backed with weatherproof paper fronts.

Any service organization is encouraged to use the frames and should contact Blodgett's office for additional information.

Wouldn't it be nice if you could go to the movies and see a picture as good as the one that's coming next week? The first thing for a young person to do after getting a job is to purchase an alarm clock, even if he has to mortgage his car to do it.

This communication advised that Mr. and Mrs. Mangogna were willing to accept a building permit for the erection of a new structure on said premises without rezoning, if this would be legally permissible.

Following discussion, Mr. Overholt moved that the petition as drawn by Draugelis & Ashton for reconsideration of the petition to re-zone to C-2; and also the suggestion that the building be remodeled (non-conforming use) be denied. Seconded by Mr. Garber. A roll call vote was taken:

Motion Carried.

Mr. Lauterbach stated briefly his reasons for not concurring and that the Board should consider future commercial development on the west side of the Township. Fire Prevention Code

The proposed code as presented by Director Burr was discussed by the Attorney. Mr. Cole stated that it had been approved by the American Insurance Association and is in force generally throughout all the states. However, Mr. Cole stated that there were a number of items not applicable in the state of Michigan and/or the Township of Plymouth. The Supervisor then suggested that Mr. Cole and Mr. Burr meet to correct these items and submit proposed code to the Board at the next meeting. Mrs. Holmes moved that the subject of Fire prevention be tabled for one month. The motion was supported by Mr. Garber and carried unanimously.

Report on Glenview House Leads inside property line where no permit has been issued (meeting of 6-14-66)

A communication from Allard Contracting Company, 29971 Homedale Road, New Hudson, Michigan advising that 6" crock was installed in five homes was read by the Supervisor. Mr. McEwen then stated that it was his understanding that one party had applied for and obtained a plumbing permit and that only one of the other four had filed for sewer benefits. Also, that as a result of investigation by the Township; it had been determined that one of these four was hooked up and using the sewer lines illegally. Following discussion, Mrs. Holmes moved that the Township Attorney be authorized to send a letter to the one party who had made an illegal connection to the Township sewer asking him to comply with the Ordinance within ten days, or legal action would be taken. The motion was supported by Mrs. Richardson and carried unanimously.

After asking permission to address the Board, a visitor stated that he was an inspector, and of his own knowledge knew that a plumbing inspector has the right to go in a private residence between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. to inspect plumbing and if the occupants therein refused admission, he has the authority to get a court order and with a policeman go back to said residence and go in. Following further discussion, Mr. Lauterbach moved that when the additional parties do apply for a connection, that a plumbing permit be charged against them. The motion was supported by Mr. Garber and carried unanimously.

NEW BUSINESS AND PERTINENT COMMUNICATIONS

Establish a policy for employees utilizing workman's compensation and insurance and use of accumulated sick leave (case in point - Fire Fighter Fred Honke).

Mr. McEwen gave a short history of the injury on duty of Mr. Fred Honke. In this he stated that on March 13, 1966, Mr. Honke was admitted to the hospital and on May 10, 1966 returned to work, utilizing approximately 25 sick leave days. While he was ill, he received full pay from the Township, an amount of $1077.09; and from the Workman's Compensation and a Township Insurance Policy, a total of $1246.39, which amount Mr. Honke had returned to the Township Board. The Supervisor then asked the Board to discuss this matter with reference to setting a policy. Mr. Burr stated that inasmuch as Mr. Honke was injured while on duty, he should not lose his sick days.

Considerable discussion ensued regarding, for example, how long an employee should be paid his salary after injury on the job, etc. Mr. Lauterbach moved, supported by Mr. Overholt, that the Board accept, with the prior approval of Mr. Honke, the $1246.39 to cover salary issued to him for days off the job in lieu of loss of any sick leave days, and that the difference between the amount paid to him by the Township, and the checks received should be returned to the General Fund of the Township, or to the Insurance Account of the Fire Department, whichever was preferable. Carried unanimously.

Agreement between the C & O Railway and the Township of Plymouth for right-of-way for the Tramp Hollow Sanitary Sewer.

A communication from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company dated July 28, 1966, signed by Mr. A. O. Jones, Division Engineer, was read by the Clerk. An agreement covering the crossing by the sewer of the railroad's right-of-way in the north east quarter of Section 23 was enclosed. Mr. Hamill was asked by the Supervisor to comment on this communication. He discussed it briefly and stated that the $75.00 preparation fee, which included the cost of the railroad protective insurance, was very good. He recommended the signing of the agreement. Mrs. Richardson moved, supported by Mr. Garber, that Mrs. Holmes be authorized to sign this agreement between the Township and the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company for the right-of-way of the Tramp Hollow Sewer and approve payment of

E. Holmes - Permission to hire employee for sewer and water Department

The Supervisor advised that this had been provided for in the budget. Mr. Lauterbach moved, supported by Mr. Norman, that the Board concur in this request. Carried unanimously. Underground Utilities - Sanitary sewer for Riverside Drive Sub. #3

Mr. Hamill indicated on a map the approximate 200 feet location that was in dispute. He stated that the plans as shown were accepted by the Township Board in June, 1962; accepted by the Road Commission in July 1962; and by the Board of Health on July 18, 1962. He further stated that he had advised Garling that any change in the plans would have to be decided by the Township Board. Following a lengthy discussion, Mr. Garber stated that no motion was necessary, that as far as the Board was concerned, the sewer shown on the plat and accepted by the Board in 1962 should be put in.

John McEwen - Construction of sidewalks in Plymouth Township

Mr. McEwen read his communication of August 8, 1966 to the Board in which he recommended that the Board take action for the construction of sidewalks in those areas in the Township where children are forced to walk on the shoulders of basic arterial-inter-county roads on their way to and from school. A communication from John D. McEwen to the Plymouth Township Board of Trustees dated August 8, 1966 was received. Attached to this matter was a copy of the Fire Department Administrative Board Minutes of July 13, 1966 in which a motion was made and passed that said Board be discontinued. Mrs. Richardson moved that the Board concur with this recommendation and dissolve the Fire Administrative Board and that a letter of commendation be sent to each member of the Board for their loyalty and services.

A resolution authorizing the Wayne County Drain Commission to construct a County Drain on Sheldon Road, south of Ann Arbor Road to Joy Road, so as to service those areas west of Sheldon Road including the proposed commercial properties. Mrs. Holmes moved that this resolution be passed. The motion was supported by Mr. Garber and carried unanimously.

TOWNSHIP HALL ADDITION

Mr. McEwen advised the Board that he had received a communication from the attorney stating that you cannot have a cost plus contract for more than $20,000. Mrs. Holmes moved that Mr. Morris Webster, architect, be authorized to re-advertise for competitive bids for the addition to the Township Hall based on plans and specifications previously submitted and accepted by the Board. The motion was supported by Mr. Norman and carried unanimously.

The pay of the public stenographer was discussed and on a motion by Louis Norman, supported by Helen Richardson to pay the Stenographer the same fee as the members of the Planning Commission and the Trustees receive, that being $20.00 for the Planning Commission minutes and $25.00 for the Township Board of Trustees minutes. Only two weeks left to win at Mail Bingo

The prize for this week's game of Newspaper Bingo in the Plymouth Mail will be $50 cash. You could win it. The game is free all adults can play and each week $50 in cash will be given away.

There were two winners in Mail Bingo last week and they split $100. The deadline for phoning in winners is Monday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Each week, new Bingo cards will be given away at participating merchants. Bingo numbers appear in their ads in this section of the Plymouth Mail. Numbers are also posted in the office of the Plymouth Mail.

All you have to do is pick up your Bingo cards at participating stores. No purchase is necessary. Each week the color of the cards changes. This week the cards are solid blue. You may play one card from each store—as many as you wish up to a maximum of 16 cards each week. Winners will be announced in The Plymouth Mail.

The purpose of Newspaper Bingo is to bring people to Plymouth to shop. The Plymouth Mail hopes you have fun and win some cash in the process.

Numbers will be posted weekly in the office of The Plymouth Mail. Only numbers posted or published in a given week may be used in that week's game. Do not use numbers from past issues.

3. If you cover all the numbers on the bingo card you must phone 453-5500 or bring your winning card to The Plymouth Mail between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. Monday. Only at this time will winners be verified.
4. If there is more than one winner each week the prize money will be divided equally.
5. In the event that the game does not produce a winner in any one week the prize money will accumulate for the following week's game.

Grid film available from NBD for clubs

A new, exciting, full-color 16-millimeter movie, based on the most dramatic moments of recent National Football League Games, is being offered by National Bank of Detroit for showings by clubs, schools and other groups.

The new half-hour film, "The Key Plays of Pro Football" is a sequel to the highly popular "How to Watch Pro Football", which was made available last year by NBD.

Program chairmen interested in booking either of the films should notify the manager of their nearest NBD office. There is no charge.

As was the case with the earlier movie, "The Key Plays of Pro Football" was produced by the film subsidiary of the National Football League, making use of the best of the film obtained in multi-camera coverage of all NFL games played over the last two years. Popular sportscaster Lindsey Nelson does the commentary.

The film will be previewed by the NBD on television on Saturday, August 27, from 8:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. on Channel 2.

DETROIT'S Honorable Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh supported the recent Michigan Jaycee Football Classic with a city proclamation in honor of the event. Here, Cavanagh accepts an honorary ticket to the Classic from Bob Norsworthy, left, Detroit Jaycee ticket chairman for the Classic, and Wendell Smith, Michigan state Jaycee president. This game, the first annual Michigan Jaycee Football Classic, was co-sponsored by the Michigan Jaycees and the Michigan Jaycee Foundation. Proceeds will help finance Jaycee civic and community development programs throughout the state.

Fireman Mackie D. Golden, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wade L. Golden of 354 N. Main St., and damage controlman Second Class Walter A. Tracy Jr., son of Mrs. Ruth H. Tracy of 353 Starkweather, both of Plymouth have returned to their hometown of Alameda, Calif., as crewmembers aboard the attack aircraft carrier, USS Ranger, after an eight and one-half month deployment in the Western Pacific with the Seventh Fleet.

While operating off the coast of Vietnam, the Ranger struck strategic sites in North Vietnam, delivering nearly eleven-thousand tons of ordnance on enemy positions.

The Ranger planned and executed the first strike against the Haiphong, Vietnam petroleum, oil, and lubricant storage facilities.

Other missions from the Ranger included strikes on railroads, bridges, highways and water traffic, seriously hampering the movement of war materials to the Viet Cong in South Vietnam.

PCF AIDS SCOUTING

A scout doesn't philosophize about swimming, he swims

Scouting - often a valuable experience that carries its imprint through manhood - will be getting a $7,000 lift from the Plymouth Community Fund in 1967.

Last year, 19 units of Plymouth community Boy Scouts enrolled the interest and participation of 611 boys and 221 adult leaders. The emphases of their program were on physical fitness, character building and citizenship training.

Funds to continue the Boy Scouting program will be raised October 10-November 4 in the Plymouth Community Fund's campaign. Edward W. Schening, plant manager of the Burroughs Corporation in Plymouth, is general chairman of the united-giving drive.

Cub Scouting is one popular segment of the Scouting movement, and last year 326 Plymouth boys and 126 adult leaders participated in this home-centered program. Cubs learn by doing at weekly den meetings and the monthly pack sessions. Their ages are eight, nine and 10 years and dad and mom help them in their quest for learning under the Scouting creed.

Boy Scouting attracted 252 Plymouth boys in the 11-14 age group last year, while leadership was given by 74 adults.

Donald F. Allen, 42150 Lakeland Ct., is the Plymouth community Scout commissioner and he points out that Scouting provides a boy with healthful outdoor adventure, teamwork, useful knowledge and skills, and a code of honor.

Says Allen, "a Scout does not just talk about cooking, he cooks; he does not philosophize about swimming, he swims; he does not merely read about camping, he camps; and he does more than meditate about service, he helps."

Boys enter Scouting as Tenderfoots. The pinnacle rank is that of Eagle Scout, and in Plymouth about one in five boys masters the required merit badge studies to attain Eagle badge.

Scouting for boys of high school age is called Exploring. Plymouth last year had 33 Explorers with 21 adult leaders enrolled in three posts. The program provides each boy with ex-understanding the benefits and obligations of citizenship.

ONE of the great lures of Scouting is camping at two summer camps of the Detroit Area Council. In this activity, Plymouth troops often have been cited for "very good" participation.

Boys are encouraged to earn their own money to pay the registration fee and for uniforms, equipment and dues. But a boy is not rejected for lack of money, that being one of the roles of the sponsoring organization.

Sponsors also provide adequate meeting place and competent adult volunteer leadership.

A FORMER Boy Scout and two younger Plymouth Scouts learn from Robert Lash (third from left) how merit badge studies in citizenship, communications, conservation, safety, public service and nature study helped him to attain the Explorer rank. The younger boys - Cub Gregg Vetal and Scout Rodney Allen - hope to travel the same route of preparation as did Bob, while the ex-Scout, Edward W. Schening, shows admiration for the opportunities and accomplishments that Boy Scouting offers this trio. Schening, as general chairman of the Plymouth Community Fund 1966 campaign, is pleased to see this organization allotted $7,000 for their Plymouth community activities next year.

LEARN, HAVE FUN

Register soon for recreation, adult ed.

Hundreds of educational and recreational opportunities await Plymouth people as the Adult education and recreation activities gets underway.

Director Herb Woolweaver said Monday registration will take place September 12 and 13, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and 7 to 9 p.m., during the evening.

Most activities begin the week of September 26. Monday evening classes include basketball for high school boys, first aid, flower arrangements, news writing, Recovery, Inc., sewing, swim club, square dance, symphony orchestra, typing I and II, and welding.

INTERESTINGLY enough, news writing will be taught by Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, who last year retired as a regular teacher. She had taught journalism at PHS for years.

Tuesday's schedule includes ballroom dance, bridge, cake decorating, chess club, chorus, fencing, men's gym, oil painting, philosophy, sewing, slim and trim for women, and conversational Spanish.

Wednesday evening activities planned are adult band, badminton, basketball for eighth grade boys and up, business machines, basic electricity, scuba diving, shorthand I and II and the TOPS Club (Take Off Pounds Sensibly).

Thursday, classes include, basketball, driver education, folk guitar, knitting I, modern math, senior citizens and swim class for women.

In addition, classes for high school credit are offered. If you have not completed a high school diploma, you may do so, with free tuition.

Those in doubt about where they stand will be offered guidance through the high school guidance office.

Auto maintenance, American history, business and management principles, business training (either typing, machines or shorthand), basic electricity, home economics and welding, are set for Monday and Wednesday evenings.

Tuesday and Thursday evenings will have open classes in basic math, consumer economics, remedial English, government, hygiene and health, related psychology.

SPECIAL activities are arranged on Saturday's: Ballet, baton, great books, junior symphony, square dancing and swim classes.

A class in the care of the sick and injured will be offered Wednesday night by Mrs. Spring, a registered nurse.

Wayne State University credit classes will also be held at the high school, including English education, speech, political science, sociology and geography.

In the area of youth activity, several events are held using school facilities, or are conducted under the auspices of the recreation office; Junior football, junior basketball, Plymouth police rifle and archery club, the YMCA Chip, and Jaycee junior bowling.

The recreation schedule also list dates for teen dances, Plymouth Symphony concerts and Theatre Guild productions. Call 453-3100 for information.

Rare antique greeting cards to be displayed

A rare collection of antique greeting cards will be shown at Hugh Jarvis Gift Shop in Plymouth beginning September 1. The exhibit includes 75 historic greeting cards dating from the early 19th century. The specimens are on loan from the Hallmark Historical Collection, the largest and most valuable collection of antique cards in the world, containing more than 70,000 items. A similar display has appeared at the Smithsonian Institute and is now touring America's museums and galleries under the auspices of the Institute.

AMONG the cards to be shown here is a friendship greeting printed in the 1870's in England by the firm of Jonathan King, the publisher who first introduced friendship cards. Quality and good taste distinguished the Jonathan King cards. Most of them featured designs of miniature flowers and lace, framing a message printed on pastel silk in an oval or rectangular opening on the card.

The intricate patterns of the lace were fashioned by pounding or pressing paper into woodcuts or steel plates. Some of the lace patterns were guided with gold or silver - and they still glitter.

The exhibit includes several other Victorian Era greeting cards. Then-popular designs favored rustic scenes and children at play, as well as flowers and lace. Sentiments were simple but affectionate.

In the late 1880s, according to historians at the Hallmark Historical Collection, cards were widely used both here and in England as a way of making new friends. People attached colorful accessories over their names on calling cards, then exchanged cards with a friend. One of the cards was then passed on to a third person, who used it as an introduction to the stranger. Thus began a new friendship.

The collection will be open to the public without charge during regular store hours beginning September 1.

ANTIQUE greeting cards dating from the Victorian Era will be exhibited at Hugh Jarvis Gift Shop beginning September 1. A typical card from the late 19th century is shown above. The exhibit of 75 antique greeting cards is on loan from the Hallmark Historical Collection.

These guests of Gold Seal, many of whom are retailers using the Plymouth plant's photo-finishing services, have also been invited to tour the Gold Seal facilities during their visit here. Gold Seal produces color and black and white snapshots for camera users, including those throughout the Livonia and Plymouth areas. The firm employs over 100 people, and has a fleet of 20 vehicles.

Local residents and others attending the Fall Festival are also welcome on the plant tours, according to Mr. Head. Open house hours are: Friday, Sept. 9, 7 to 9 p.m.; Saturday, Sept. 10, 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.; Sunday, Sept. 11, 2 to 6 p.m.

Michael J. (Mike) Sibal, former Michigan State Police sergeant assigned to the Redford Post, has joined the Schoolcraft College faculty as an instructor in law enforcement and industrial security.

Sibal will teach in the evening college, according to Fred Stefanski, evening college director. He retired from the MSP in January after 25 years service. No stranger to the classroom, Sibal was a regular instructor for the Metropolitan Police Academy of Michigan, served as an instructor in the Southern Michigan Chiefs of Police Schools from 1951 until his retirement, and was an instructor in a number of FBI area schools, MSP in-service training schools, and at MSU-Oakland.

HOME from a visit to Milan are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lohman, and Jenny and James, of 700 Irvin St.

Family attends circuit assembly

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Lohman and children Jenny and James of 700 Irvin Street in Plymouth spent the weekend in Milan as delegates to the semi-annual circuit assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses held at Milan High School.

Lohman and his family were all volunteer workers in the convention cafeteria during the three-day meet.

There were over 1,000 delegates in attendance on Sunday afternoon from fifteen different congregations located in southeastern Michigan and northern Ohio to hear an address by Mr. H. A. Fetzik of Brooklyn, New York on the subject, "Does God Have Influence in This Twentieth Century?"

According to Lohman, Fetzik stated, "Faith in God and in the Bible are on a decline and a growing number of clergymen are expressing this skepticism. Some are even saying that 'God is Dead.'"

Fetzik further observed, "History abounds with evidence of God's influence in the past and that there is even greater evidence of it today."

Esch urges protest vote

Kaynoting the Lenawee County Republican Convention in Adrian recently Rep. Marvin L. Esch, Republican candidate for United States Congress, called upon all voters to protest when they went to the polls in November.

Esch remarked that the incumbent Democratic congressman has complained in Howell, Mich. that persons in the Second District were protesting too much. "We have every right to protest," Esch declared, "when the Administration talks of sending three quarters of a million men into Vietnam, and at the same time presents no clear-cut goals in that war, nor does our allies from trading with the enemy."

Esch said that Republicans, however, were doing more than merely protesting. "We are offering positive, affirmative action." He cited his work with the Romney Administration and his support of a grass roots vocational education system as examples of positive actions. "We are presenting an affirmative alternative here in Michigan to the unrepresentative policies of the Johnson Administration and of the incumbent congressman who claims that he represents this district," Esch said.

If you intend to build anything with bricks, concrete blocks or rocks, here is the general procedure to follow:

All of these materials are cemented together with mortar made by mixing one part cement to three parts clean sand and adding water to make a workable plastic.

If you add 10 per cent lime to this mixture you'll get a mortar that is a little easier to work with and almost as strong as one without lime.

Bricks and blocks should be laid up on either a concrete footing or slab. This base should be four inches or more thick and should be poured over six inches or so of gravel.

If you use rocks, set the first course below the frost line. Rocks should be free of dirt before any mortar is spread on. Be sure each joint is packed with enough mortar to fill any depressions in the rocks.

Life With The Rimples

Survey tells how, why 29 died on roads July 4

"Nearly a third of the 29 drivers involved in auto fatalities on July 4 weekend had records which leave questions as to their fitness to drive," Automobile

Club of Michigan's general manager Fred N. Rehm said today. Almost half had bad driving records and drinking was involved in more than 50 percent of the fatal accidents.

Yet the rest of the 3,300,000 motorists who drove on July 4 weekend did a much better driving job than over Memorial weekend. With 10 percent more traffic on the roads, they recorded 50 percent less injury accidents July 4 weekend than over the first summer holiday. Each contained 78 driving hours.

These findings are contained in an 18-page report titled "Portrait of a Holiday - Part 2" compiled by Auto Club following an on-the-scene study of each of the 27 fatal accidents over the holiday. They parallel findings of a similar Memorial weekend study.

THE 10 WORST drivers had an average of 16 points, two above Memorial weekend average. One had 36 points and another had three drunk driving convictions. Two who had been drinking were under 21 years old.

Almost half of the drivers involved in fatalities also had these common characteristics: driving too fast, drinking too much, not wearing seat belts, within 25 miles of home, not on holiday, driving cars less than four years old with no obvious mechanical defects, male and under age 30. Only one of the 29 was a woman.

Other findings: Driver failure was the proximate cause of all but a handful of the deaths, which were caused by pedestrian or motorcyclist miscalculation.

Young and inexperienced drivers are involved in far more fatalities than they should be in proportion to their numbers. Five of the 29 fatal accident drivers were age 20 and under.

Fifteen of the 22 fatal accidents happened on two-lane blacktop highways, with two on freeways, one on gravel, two on city streets, two on two-lane concrete. None seem to have been caused by highway or signing deficiencies.

Parents are too lax in letting under-high school age children wander across major highways beside recreation areas and around bridges. Drivers should be more cautious in such areas.

NO OBVIOUS mechanical defects were found in any of the vehicles involved in fatal crashes, a repetition of Memorial weekend findings. Four of the cars had poor tires, and one fatal single-car crash could have been partly caused by lack of tread on the rear tires on wet pavement at a curve, when cars in front of and behind the fatal one did not skid.

Average age of the vehicles was 3.8 years, slightly older than the 3.2 years Memorial weekend, but much less than generally supposed.

"Either the 'clunkers' do not venture out on the road on weekends, or they are driven sensibly by owners who realize the vehicles' limitations," Rehm said.

Only 2 of the 27 victims were more than 40 miles from home and obviously on vacation. Only a third were as much as 25 miles from home.

"Presence of families in cars may make us all more cautious drivers," Rehm observed.

Thirteen, or 62 percent of accidents were single-car crashes, with probable cause falling asleep, driving too fast or a combination of these and drinking too much. Seven were head-on and one was a rear end collision.

Despite the 27 deaths, the study shows Michigan drivers are improving on holiday weekends. A check of seven key state police posts shows injury accidents down by almost 50 percent across the state over July 4 holiday as compared with Memorial weekend, with traffic up five percent or more. Wayne, Oakland and Macomb sheriff offices reported injury accidents down about 50 percent also.

"ALTHOUGH the public judges safety on a given weekend by fatalities, traffic engineers judge it by the number of injury accidents," Rehm said. "For whether an injury is a death or not depends on severity of the accident, not the cause of the accident."

The study was supervised by Michael Sibal, retired Michigan State Police sergeant, with a staff of Auto Club traffic analysts.

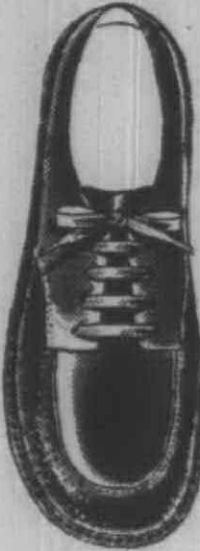

"They will study every fatal accident in Michigan through Labor Day, and we will have recommendations on procedure and law changes after we analyze their findings," Rehm said. The group has visited the sites of 202 July fatalities already. The studies are part of Auto Club's $100,000 positive safety campaign "Bring 'Em Back Alive!", a cooperative effort of police, tourist agencies, Michigan's press, radio and television.

We don't blame them. But the next best thing to going barefoot is Jumping Jacks, the shoes with barefoot freedom. They're unlined and made

Nearing 65? sign now for Medicare

Every month, 120,000 Americans reach the age of 65. The soon-to-be-65's are asking these days, "When is the best time for me to sign up for Medicare?"

The answer, according to Sam F. Test, social security district manager, is that they should sign up two or three months before they reach 65. If they wait until the month they reach 65 or the following 3 months, their hospital insurance protection under Medicare may begin right away, but their coverage under the voluntary doctor bill insurance cannot start until 1 to 3 months after they sign up for it.

Test explained that the Medicare law provides a 7-month initial enrollment period for the voluntary doctor bill insurance part of the program. This period begins with the 3rd month before the person is 65, includes the month in which he reaches 65, and ends with the 3rd month thereafter.

"The best time to enroll," Test said, "is in one of the 3 months before you reach 65. If you do so, your protection can start with the month of your 65th birthday. Waiting until that month to sign up will mean the coverage can't start until the following month.

And enrollment in one of 3 months after the month you are 65 can mean a delay of up to 3 months in the start of your protection."

failure to sign up during the 7-month initial enrollment period may mean that the individual will have to wait until the next general enrollment period. This is always the last three months of odd-numbered years. But even then, the older person will have to wait until the following July for the protection to start, and the premium payments will be 10 per cent higher.

"This matter of a delayed start in protection could have serious consequences if the individual had high medical expenses meanwhile," he pointed out. The voluntary medical insurance part of Medicare covers doctor bills for home, office, and hospital visits, surgeons' fees, and a wide variety of other medical expenses in and out of the hospital. Hospital insurance coverage begins with the month a person reaches 65, providing he applies to establish his eligibility no later than 12 months following that month, Test said.

Like social security cash benefits, hospital insurance payment under the medical insurance part of Medicare, Test emphasized.

For people who were 65 or over before March 1, 1966, the Medicare law set a general enrollment period that began September 1, 1966, and ended May 31, 1966, during which they could sign up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance to supplement their basic hospital insurance under Medicare. Nine out of ten elderly people enrolled for this supplementary protection.

Since May 31, Test said, almost 40 per cent of those applying to enroll in the medical insurance applied too late to have their coverage start as soon as they reached 65.

About 8 per cent had waited until the month of their 65th birthday; 24 per cent until one of the 3 months following that month - but still within the 7-month enrollment period. Five per cent did not apply until after the end of their enrollment period and will not have another chance to enroll until the next general enrollment period, October 1, to December 31, 1967.

HE FURTHER explained that

Carrier of the week

Richard Grimes is this week's Carrier of the Week.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Grimes, 450 W. Ann Arbor Trail, Richard attends the sixth grade at Starkweather school.

His ambition is to be a football player, and in sports he enjoys baseball and bowling, as well as football.

His hobbies include model cars.

His route covers portions of Ann Arbor Trail, Maple, Virginia and Fair Streets.

In making the announcement of the honor, circulation manager Fred Wright praised young Richard's record as a carrier, and said he had "developed a sense of responsibility and had learned how to handle people."

Historical map available at Lansing

"Michigan's Historical Attractions," an attractive map and guide to many of the state's landmarks of the past, is now available from the Michigan Historical Commission of the Michigan Department of State. According to Secretary of State James M. Hare, the new map . . . a revised edition of a 1965 publication . . . lists every significant historic site in Michigan. Several new photographs have been added, said Hare, including one of the recently opened Indian Dormitory on Mackinac Island.

More than 30 additional historic buildings, museums, and sites have been added to this year's map which lists hundreds of other historic attractions in our Great Lake State, Hare said. In addition to listing the sites, the map also contains a brief summary of Michigan history, and other items of historical interest.

The maps are free of charge and may be obtained by writing: Michigan Historical Commission, Michigan Department of State, Lansing, Michigan, 48918.

Life With The Rimples

FIX-IT TIP A bag of dry ice is an aid in removing vinyl or asphalt tile blocks that are cemented down without destroying the blocks. Place the bag on a section of tile allowing it to remain about 10 minutes to chill the tile and cement thoroughly. (Wear heavy gloves when handling ice.) Pry up the tile with a putty knife, moving ice along to the next section.

Can something be done to make the strawberries that appear in metropolitan markets in the winter taste almost as good as they look?

Vanilla extract will often point up the flavor of cooked fruit. If the strawberries are to be eaten uncooked, they may be sprinkled with vanilla sugar — sugar that has been stored for a time with a length of vanilla bean.
