

Come to Fall Festival - it starts tomorrow

Plymouth, while boasting a population of over 20,000 people, still likes to consider itself a small town.

With that in mind, the entire community — or so it seems — gathers in Kellogg Park downtown for a four-day Fall Festival.

Mostly, it's a chance to forget the cares of busy suburban life, a chance to eat well, a chance to talk more than a minute to forgotten neighbors.

The outgrowth of a fall Sunday barbeque started by Rotary Club, the Festival has expanded into four days of fun and food with every major club and organization taking part.

The order of the day: take it easy.

For newcomers, it's a chance to see the community at its best — relaxed, friendly and candid.

For the old timers, it's a time to remember yesterday, and look to tomorrow.

The whole thing kicks off Thursday, with the Business and Professional Women's Club German Night, complete with a knockwurst and saurkraut dinner, and music from a German Band. Organ music, the Something Else 4, and the Monte Carlo Dance Studio will add to the entertainment roster.

Friday, the Lions Club will hold its Melon and Ice Cream Social. Entertainment begins about 4, and includes the popular Banjo Pals. The evening is capped by the Firemen's Ball in the Mayflower Meeting House.

Saturday, two major food events can keep the Festival visitor stuffed.

The Kiwanis Club offers pancakes all day, from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. at the Masonic Temple.

And the Jaycees will have the charcoal hot for their Western Beef Rib Barbeque. The dinner features ribs, corn, salad, dessert and beverage.

Sunday, an estimated 15,000 hungry people will jam Kellogg Park for the Rotary Chicken Barbeque. Entertainment runs all day, and includes the Sweet Adelines, a hootenany, and the Community Band.

For three days, the Symphony League will sponsor the Antique Mart, featuring 22 dealers displaying their wares at the Grange Hall and the Community Center Building behind City Hall.

Gay nineties costumes will be worn by many, and awards offered on Sunday for the best one.

Art displays from Plymouth artists will be in the park, along with booths and concessions from many clubs and groups, including the YMCA, Rotary Anns, Camp Fire Girls, Plymouth Theatre Guild, the Soroptimists and Beta Sigma Phi.

Saturday, one of the outstanding features of the Fall Festival takes place — the Optimist Club pet show.

The show begins at 9 and runs until noon, in the parking lot next to Sharrard's Bath and Boudoir Shoppe.

The annual Festival gets bigger each year as more people participate and more come and enjoy the fun.

People from all over the area come to the City, especially on Sunday for the Chicken Barbeque.

No action on more Twp. firemen

William Burr, Plymouth Township Director of Public Services, is a persistent man. The Township Board tabled his request for additional manpower for the second meeting in a row, apparently feeling the need was not "urgent" as Burr insists it is. The occasion was a special meeting held last Tuesday.

"I realized when I requested these men it would be difficult when I came here you asked me to do the job. This is how I see it. It is important that we make this step so we can have two men on the apparatus when it responds," Burr said. "Even if we had six, it would be better than what we have."

Supervisor John McEwen said there was no money in the budget for the additional men. Burr countered that there was a two mill provision for fire and police in House Bill 256 for Townships and that millage could be levied without a vote of the people.

Ralph Garber moved the matter be tabled, and asked Burr to report on the two-mill provision, as well as how he would schedule the ten additional men. The Board agreed with Garber's motion.

In action on another Burr Request, the Board agreed to study a pension for firemen.

"Personally, I'm in favor of this," McEwen said. "It's a matter of money."

Trustee Gene Overholt echoed these comments, and said he recalled that the members of the Board favored the pension at the budget meetings, but money was lacking. Burr was ordered to report on various plans at the next regular meeting.

A third request from Burr, that of more hydrants to serve four "critical" areas was discussed briefly with no action being taken.

Burr, in three letters to the Board in August, had outlined his desire for a pension plan, ten additional full-time firemen and more hydrants.

"The current concept of one man responding with an apparatus to a fire, hoping a volunteer will show up eventually, has inherent in it the element of chance, uncertainty and risk. It would be idle to pretend that the undermanned condition of this department can be solved by the calculated disregard of these important factors," Burr wrote to the Board.

Burr said he had on occasion had men work 48 hours in a row, clearly violating the law. In other action at the special meeting, the Board:

and the Board expects him to make new recommendations, which he said after the meeting he would do.

Bid $1300 in water transfer

Plymouth Township has offered the City of Plymouth $1300 for the 52 water customers in Plymouth Colony Subdivision, well below the City's asking price ranging in the tens of thousands of dollars.

The offer was approved at a special meeting of the Board last Tuesday. In a letter, to City Manager Richard Blodgett, Township treasurer Mrs. Elizabeth Holmes said the Township would pay "$25 per customer, representing $15 per meter and $10 for good will."

Township supervisor John McEwen lives in the subdivision, which is just off Sheldon Rd. He, along with 51 others, must pay one and one-half times the normal City rates.

City eyes parking authority

The City of Plymouth commission last week informally agreed to begin a study of a downtown parking authority.

Their action came at a special meeting. City attorney Thomas Healy and City Manager Richard Blodgett were asked to draft an ordinance creating a parking authority.

The group, which would operate along lines similar to the Municipal Building Authority, would maintain, expand and create parking space.

The idea is an outgrowth of Chamber of Commerce and parking committee recommendations.

"The whole thing is in the study stage," Blodgett explained. It is expected the authority will tie in with a proposed blue ribbon study of a downtown business authority, also proposed by the Chamber of Commerce.

Both projects are aimed at enhancing the downtown shopping area — both as a place to shop and as a better tax base.

Liquor by the glass to be on November ballot

The question of liquor by the glass will go before the voters of the City of Plymouth in November for the sixth time since the Prohibition Act was repealed in 1932.

Petitions for the question were filed over the weekend on behalf of Ralph Lorenz, owner of the Mayflower Hotel, by Roy Rew, a resident of the City.

The City has been "dry" since Prohibition. The act was repealed in 1932, and the state went "wet" two-to-one.

But the City of Plymouth, steeped in a combination of Puritanism and strong links with the past, never went "wet". The repeal act allowed local municipalities to remain "dry" if they failed to act within ninety days.

It never got before the City Commission, and by default, Plymouth remained "dry". Only by special referendum may that be changed.

So, for the sixth, and what Lorenz vows will be the last time, the question will go to the voters.

Petitions with the signatures of a little under 1400 qualified voters were needed, which equals 35 per cent of the voters who voted for attorney general in the 1964 election.

The last two times, the question lost by the smallest of margins. In 1958 it lost by 79 votes, in 1962 by 58.

But in 1952 it was turned down by over 800 votes. Each time the question faces stiff opposition for organized groups, whose emotional pleas about alcoholism and a "bar on every corner" cost Lorenz the election.

Lorenz sees the vote as one critical to his future plans for a downtown motel and the Mayflower Meeting House.

Strict rules govern the location of bars, whether they sell liquor by the glass, or just beer and wine. Should the proposition pass, theoretically, one license for liquor would be allowed for every 1500 in population.

But, no one may have a license unless approved by the City Commission. Further, the approval of 51 per cent of the residents within 300 feet in all directions from a bar location must be obtained in writing. Further, it must be in a commercial area. Nor, can it be

Plymouth Rocks gear to avenge last year's record

Host Northville in opener

John McFall would like to think this is his first year at coaching high school football. Last year? Well, he'd like to forget that. New to the job, McFall's Plymouth Rock's last year looked promising on the practice field. But on eight Friday nights they struggled vainly for a win, and found themselves on the short end of 52-0 whitewashings on two different occasions. McFall shuffled personnel last year, and played many underclassmen. They are back this year for a new season that starts Friday, September 16. The Rocks are in shape, according to McFall. "The heat took care of that", he noted.

They took to the practice field Monday, August 29. McFall limited sessions to morning and night, avoiding afternoon practice because of the sticky-hot weather.

Northville, the traditional opening foe, comes here in two weeks. With Northville star Jerry Imsland running wild, that team had little trouble when they hosted Plymouth last year.

With school starting Thursday practices will be cut to one - after school.

Saturday they ran hard in the morning, as a misty rain made footing slippery. Who will McFall count on to avenge last year's seven losses and one tie?

Two quarterbacks, for one: Dave Prochazka and Steve Hulce. Which one will get the starting nod is up in the air. A third hopeful, Mike Cederberg played on the JV team last year.

Plymouth begins the new season with one-year veterans at many positions. Jeff Adams and John Bida stack up as possible starting ends. Tackles will include Jim Elias and John Eagan, along with Tom Matthews.

Three top candidates for guard include Rick Neale, a sophomore, and John McGraw and Sam Callan.

Fullback in the backfield will be up for grabs between Dick Dyer, Dick Michael and Al Nawrocki.

McFall also has all of his assistant coaches back from last year: Tom Workman, Pat Montagano and Dick Bearup. It appears he will also have the help of Paul Cummings, with Frank Fisher moving to the JV team.

McFall split the squad last week, and will work with 38 on the varsity for the time being.

INTER-SQUAD scrimmage tested everyone Saturday, as head coach John McFall, far right, and Tom Workman, an assistant, survey the work out.

BLOCKING PRACTICE occupied much of the time last week at night practice for the Rocks.

To sell season tickets

Season tickets for the home games will be offered to Rock fans for the first time this year, Plymouth athletic director John Sandmann has announced. Tickets for four games will cost $1.50 for students and $3 for adults.

"This won't reserve a seat," Sandmann explained, "but it does give the customer a break money wise and the line at the ticket booth won't be tied up so badly."

Tickets can be purchased at the assistant principal's office only. They will not be sold at the games.

The tickets will be for the four home games: Northville, Bentley (homecoming) Redford Union and Walled Lake.

Penn to show old time movies

The Penn Theater will offer the oldtime, silent movies Sunday afternoon in keeping with another of the traditions surrounding the annual Fall Festival.

Owner-manager Margaret Wilson indicated the doors will open at noon and the silent movies will be offered for the remainder of the afternoon through 6 p.m. at the price of 10 cents.

The Penn Theater is opposite Kellogg Park on Penniman Ave. and easily available for all participating in the Rotary Club chicken barbecue.

Produce contest- something new at Festival

The Plymouth Rotary Club has added new innovation at the 10th annual Fall Festival, an event that is expected to add interest to the program on Sunday, Sept. 11.

Under the supervision of Wilfred Bunya and Don Lightfoot, the Rotary Club will sponsor a farm produce show in which cash prizes will be awarded to the winners of the various events.

It is the first time such a program has been offered in conjunction with the Festival and the Co-Chairmen believe there will be a great many entries.

Entries will be accepted until 10 a.m. Sunday in the Kellogg Park area set aside for the contest.

Farm produce from most of the major farms in the area will be on display.

Along with piercing tin and demonstrating pewtering he will show you how to tool copper into an ancient Greek coin design. Or if your taste runs to sculpture, bring a Jonathan apple with you to this intriguing exhibit and Pat Scott will show you how to sculpt a shrunken apple head, an old Indian craft taught to the early settlers of this land.

Creative Arts program established at College

An expanded Creative Arts on the Campus program at Schoolcraft College has been announced for the fall semester by Wayne Dunlap, chairman of the college humanities division.

The program of 14 individual events will include poet Gary Snyder, a return engagement by mezzo-soprano Leslie Eitzen and seven films. All of the programs are open to the public without charge, Dunlap said.

The events are grouped into four series, providing seven films, five concerts, two lectures and a number of exhibitions of art, ceramics and photography. Announcement of dates and events on the exhibition series will be made as plans are complete, Dunlap said.

"The Captain's Paradise," an English film with Alec Guinness, opens the semester program on Friday, Sept. 9. Thereafter, films are scheduled at two week intervals on Fridays through Dec. 2.

Other films in the series are "Yojimbo," a Japanese film, Sept. 23; "Pather Panchali," the critically acclaimed Indian film, Oct. 7; "Tight Little Island," Oct. 21; "The Idiot," an adaptation of the Dostoyevsky novel, Nov. 4; "The Big Deal on Madonna Street," Nov. 18; and "Hiroshima, Mon Amour," Dec. 2.

Films are scheduled for 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. in the amphitheater in the Forum. Foreign language films in the series have English subtitles.

The concert series will open on Friday, Oct. 14, with a program by String Bassist Lawrence Hurst, one of the best known artists on an unusual solo instrument. Hurst has been principal bassist with the Seventh Army Symphony in Germany and the Dallas Symphony and has been a member of the University of Michigan music faculty since 1964. The concert is scheduled for 3 p.m. at the Waterman Campus Center.

Miss Eitzen, who appeared on the Schoolcraft creative arts series last year, will return for a program of lieder on Thursday, Nov. 10, at 11 a.m. in the library. She will be accompanied by Allen Shaffer of the Schoolcraft music faculty.

The Schoolcraft Evening Choir and Orchestra, directed by Dunlap, will offer a concert on Wednesday, Dec. 7, at 8 p.m. at the campus center, and on Thursday, Dec. 8, at the Beaumont String Quartet will perform a chamber music program at 11 a.m. in the library.

The quartet is composed of Michigan State University faculty members and is gaining a wide spread reputation in Michigan for recitals of distinction and musician merit. Quartet members are Romeo Tata and Theodore Johnson, violin; Lyman Bodman, viola; and Louis Potter Jr., cello.

A week later, on Thursday, Dec. 15, Dunlap will direct the Schoolcraft College Choir and Orchestra in a program scheduled for 11 a.m. in the library. Sir Arnold Lunn, author and lecturer, will open the lecture series on Wednesday, Oct. 12, at 1 p.m. in the amphitheater. Snyder, regarded as one of the best poets to come out of the so-called Beat Generation, is scheduled for two appearances - one at 3 p.m. in the Waterman Center, and one at 8 p.m. in the library - on Thursday, Nov. 17.

Fall Festival unites community in spirit

Governmental leaders and residents of the Plymouth Community may not agree on Detroit water for the entire area, consolidation of the City and Township into one unit, the need of a Fire and Police Authority, the need for an incinerator, the difference in tax structure in the City and Township - but they all agree that the annual Fall Festival is one of the biggest boosts the community can get.

They know the Festival will bring thousands of visitors to the community and they are agreed that this is the one time that all should do everything possible to put the best foot forward, to make the best showing of community spirit possible and to give every visitor an idea that this is the community they'd like to live in.

It's this spirit of togetherness that annually makes the Festival the high spot of the year's activities in the community. It's this spirit that is expected to make the 10th annual Festival, which starts Thursday and continues through Sunday, the biggest and best ever.

It doesn't make any difference where one lives - City or Township - when Festival time comes, all join hands to make every one of the events a successful one.

And this year's celebration isn't any exception.

Folks, who barely speak during the rest of the year, will be working side by side during the four afternoons and nights.

There isn't any question but that the Fall Festival Committee, headed by John Herb, has done everything it can to make this year's Festival the most attractive in history.

From the moment the members of the Professional and Business Women's Club serves the first kraut and knockwurst dinner until the last tired person leaves the grounds on Sunday night, it will be go-go-go to keep the Festival humming.

There's something for every member of the family, whether it's for Grandma at 92 or tiny Sue at a year and a half.

The six major events are the kraut and knockwurst dinner on Thursday, the ice cream social with cake and melons on Friday sponsored by the Lions Club; the Women's Symphony League Antique Mart on the final three days; the Kiwanis Club day-long pancake festival on Saturday from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.; the pet show Saturday morning from 9 a.m. until noon in the lot next to Sharrard's on Ann Arbor Trail; and the granddaddy of the Festival, the mammoth Rotary Club chicken barbeque starting at noon Sunday.

Then there are: the first annual Firemen's Ball in the Mayflower Meeting House on Friday night; the unusual exhibits and demonstrations by the Garden Club in the Leo Calhoun showrooms; the Plymouth Jaycees barbecue ribs of beef dinner on Saturday night; and day long events from the stage of the portable bandshell which will be located in Kellogg Park Sunday.

It's the time of the year to celebrate and join in the fun. We urge all resident of the community to participate and show that Plymouth is the most outstanding community of its size in Michigan. It can be done at Festival time - why not do your share to make this true.

mean the first time that all the library books can be stored in one central place. Last year $1200 was spent for visual aid supplies. Any extra funds received this year will also be spent on supplies for the library.

The second major project is to revamp the CCD program, a religious instruction program for students attending public schools.

Over 1,000 children in grades one through 12 attend this program, and Sister Victor is hoping to make it more meaningful.

Sister Victor brings a varied background to her job, having taught grades two through eight. "It might be good if teachers could have experience in different psychological levels," she says.

"Teaching is more than a job. It has to be a dedicated service."

Sister has praise for lay teachers working in Catholic schools. She feels they are making many sacrifices, especially as far as salary goes.

Sister Victor is also anxious to cooperate with the public schools in any programs they might initiate for children in the area.

This picture of the house, before the pillars and French doors were added appeared in the Plymouth Mail in 1901.

This dresser was made by hand by E. J. Penniman. Much of the old furniture was left in the house when it was purchased by the Catholic Church.

Today the Penniman-Allen house is maintained by the Catholic Church, which uses it for a rectory.

INTERESTING OLD HOUSES

Penniman house now serves as rectory

In 1835 an ambitious young man named Ebenezer J. Penniman came to Plymouth. Already successful, Mr. Penniman settled down, started to farm and eventually built the house at 1160 Penniman Ave., now the rectory for the Catholic Church.

Born in the east in 1804, Mr. Penniman worked as a printer's devil, a clothing salesman, and a real estate dealer before moving west.

When he first came to Plymouth he started to farm. He also continued to buy and sell land. Just when he built the house is not known for sure, but it became the center of the social activities of the community.

Penniman's two children, Kate and Julius, grew up amidst the comings and goings of civic and political leaders of the time.

Mr. Penniman was an ardent Whig and in 1854 helped establish the Republican Party. In 1871 he helped start the first bank in Plymouth and was its first president.

Every year at Christmas time he used to give quarters to children who came to his house. In 1889 he was ill and there was an announcement in the Plymouth Mail that he was sending the quarters to the different ministers in town to distribute.

He died at the age of 86 in the spring of 1890. However the house was as active as ever. It was now the home of his grown daughter, Kate.

In 1896 she married W. O. Allen another successful business man.

After her husband's death Mrs. Allen continued to be active in the community.

She was always interested in the theater and loved to drive into Detroit for dinner and a play.

With the coming of moving pictures Mrs. Allen decided to build a theater in Plymouth. She named it the Penniman and Allen Theater and it opened with a gala celebration on Friday evening, November 22, 1918.

She also built an elaborate ballroom next door, where Minerva's and Bode's are now. The place was decorated with Japanese lanterns and the gay dances held there were much looked forward to.

A fight with some of the more conservative elements in town occurred when Mrs. Allen wanted to open her theater on Sunday evenings.

The matter was eventually decided in Mrs. Allen's favor, and movies were shown on the Sabbath.

Sometime between 1928 and 1930 Mrs. Allen remodeled her house.

She added the pillars on the front of the house, put French doors across the front of the house and between other rooms in the house.

Other changes were added inside the house, a sun room was added.

Mrs. Allen died in 1941 and her heirs sold the house to the Catholic Church for a rectory. Since then minor changes have been made to the west side of the house. Originally, there was a front parlor on the first floor, behind that was Mr. Penniman's bedroom.

These two large rooms were made into offices and waiting rooms for the priests.

There are no direct descendants of E. J. Penniman left in Plymouth. Even his name has died out, although there are descendants of Julius Penniman's daughter living in Detroit.

But the Penniman name is not forgotten in Plymouth. In 1912 the name of Sutton St. was changed to Penniman Ave. in his honor.

Foremost plans for the chapter's coming year are to continue supporting its local philanthropy, Plymouth State Home.

Recently the chapter members equipped and presented "good-grooming" kits to teenage girls at the home.

She wore a pink dress with empire waist, nylon chiffon skirt, and detachable lace train. She also wore a floral headpiece.

The bridesmaids were Misses Barbara Authier, Judi Wicker, and the bride's sister, Lana White, served as a junior bridesmaid.

The best man was Robert Cooper, and the ushers were Joel Bailey and David White.

Mrs. E. Langtry was the organist, and Linda Weston and Dean Sanford were the singers.

The bride's mother wore a turquoise lace dress. Mrs. Trombley wore a pink silk outfit with a lace bodice, carrying out the color scheme of the wedding.

A reception for 175 guests was held at the Fellowship Hall of the Northville Presbyterian Church.

For her wedding trip to northern Michigan the bride wore a royal blue knit suit.

The bridegroom, a graduate of Eastern Michigan University, teaches at Northville High School.

Where the action is Chicago's Old Town, St. Louis's Gaslight Village, and now, hopefully, Detroit's Plum Street are the places where the swingers go.

Plum Street, patterned after the other two successful areas, is a center of specialty shops, jazz spots, and restaurants. Only a few places are open now, from noon to midnight, but 22 are expected to be ready for the grand opening on September 24, and 25.

The idea for fixing up the old area, near Vernor and the John Lodge expressway, belongs to Robert Cobb and Sherman Shapiro.

They bought and restored the houses and apartments which had deteriorated since they were built in the late 1800's.

The old houses have been decorated in vivid color combinations. A cream colored house has peach colored shutters and trim. An old brownstone building is trimmed in mustard.

Park benches and old bathtubs filled with flowers line the sidewalks.

Last January eight merchants signed up to open businesses there.

Their wares vary from an antique shop known as "Cabbages and Kings," run by Jackie Simo, and already open, to a coffee house, "The Wisdom Tooth," run by Mickey Stern which will feature jazz and folk music, and be open by September 24.

"The Back Room," restaurant and bar, will be ready for the grand opening. It is in an old store, which still has the elaborate stucco work on the walls, popular in the gay nineties. Player piano type music will be featured in "The Back Room."

"Pick a Pearl," a unique jewelry shop will feature live oysters which contain cultured pearls. The oysters cost three dollars, and the fun is finding out what kind of a pearl is inside. Some purchasers have discovered more than one pearl in their oyster.

Ike Stein runs "Little Things" where the wares run the gamut from wigs to napkins to object d'art.

"The Book House" sells rare and used books. "Plum Hollow" exhibits and sells the work of Michigan artists. Owner, Howard Haberman also sells his own art photography. His wife, Sherri, demonstrates the craft of weaving at the store. Her products are sold there, too.

A walk-in cooler made in 1892, and taken out of one of the grocery stores in the area is used for a snack shop called "Wee Folk."

A shop specializing in Irish imports, and "The Bitter Earth," a jazz spot are some of the other businesses who have joined the original eight and hope to be ready for the grand opening.

Mayor Cavanagh is expected to be on hand for the opening celebration.

Elton Park, right behind Plum St. will have an old world continental market with merchants from other areas coming in for the celebration.

There will also be continuous entertainment in the park for the two days.

Right now the area covers one square block, eventually the planners hope it will extend from John Lodge to Third, and from the Vernor overpass to Bagley.

The city has cooperated with the idea, planting and cleaning up Elton Park, and donating an old bandwagon. Also they will be installing gaslights along the streets.

The area can easily be reached from Plymouth by taking the southbound John Lodge to Vernor. Turn left after getting off at the Vernor exit. And there is Plum St., where the action is from noon to midnight.

Heading for a brand new season

Mrs. Muehlbauer checks her recipe file as she plans a meal for her family.

It's September, and women's clubs throughout Plymouth are starting out on a new season. New officers are getting the feel of their jobs.

They're finding out it takes more than a gracious smile to run a women's organization. Tact, diplomacy, and the ability to convince all the club members to pitch in are needed. These officers of Newcomer's Club heading across Kellogg Park are typical of the capable women running Plymouth groups.

"There is a lot more phoning, than I thought," says Mrs. Thomas Lewis, the president. Installed as president in June, she was responsible for the Fourth of July float. A committee had been working on the project, but every president knows the final praise of blame falls on her.

She and her husband, Tom, got to work helping to build platforms, and paint backdrops. The teamwork paid off, because the Newcomer's float won first prize.

"I'll be weak in the knees," she says describing her feelings about presiding over the meetings. "But I think it will be a good experience." Originally from Columbus, Ohio, Mrs. Lewis served as vice-president last year.

"That experience is almost a necessity in a club as complicated as Newcomer's, where the membership has a complete turnover every two years," she states.

The experience, along with a president's most valuable asset, the other member's of her board, will help her through a challenging year ahead.

While the club members were enjoying a relaxing summer, Mrs. Richard Brooks was having a hectic time organizing the interest groups, so they would be ready to start in September. "I'm very enthusiastic about Plymouth," says the attractive Mrs. Brooks.

Enthusiastic about Newcomer's, too, she feels that it is the ideal way to break the ice in a new community.

Mrs. Brooks also works part time as nurse.

Plymouthites will be happy to know that the affection for Plymouth is strong in these new people.

"The community spirit, and the permanence that areas which are just housing developments rather than towns don't have are why we picked Plymouth," says Mrs. Eugene Fisher, the recording secretary. Her job of taking minutes seems easy to her, and she is looking forward to the coming year.

Tall, blond, Mrs. Kenneth Zecman, is the corresponding secretary.

Recently she spent about two days typing and rechecking a club roster sent to all the members.

This is the first office she has held since college days, and she is enjoying the challenge. She is also thinking about combining it with a teaching job next semester.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Thompson

Fairman-Thompson vows spoken

On July 30, Miss Nancy Jane Fairman was married to Gary Wayne Thompson in the Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses, Garden City.

The former Miss Fairman is the daughter of the William Fairmans of Livonia, and Mr. Thompson is the son of the Wayne Thompsons of Plymouth.

The church was decorated with white pom poms and gladiolus.

The bride's dress was charmingly rose point lace over taffeta. It had three tiered skirt, and the bodice was appliqued with sequins and seed pearls.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Judy Cresmen and Miss June Lewis.

The attendants wore full length A-line dresses. The maid of honor's was turquoise with turquoise and white embroidered roses.

The bridesmaids' were pink with pink and white roses. They also wore full length veils in matching colors edged in the roses.

They carried carnations, the maid of honor's tipped in turquoise and the bridesmaids' tipped in pink.

The best man was Bill Cresman. Ushers were Frank Thompson and Timothy Lasslett.

Mrs. Fairman wore a sea blue crepe sheath dress with a lace bodice. Mrs. Thompson wore a light pink crepe sheath with a coat of pink brocade.

A reception was held for 250 at Lofy's.

For their honeymoon the young couple went to the Pocono Mountains in Pennsylvania.

The new Mrs. Thompson is a 1966 graduate of Franklin High School in Livonia. The bridegroom is a 1964 graduate of Plymouth High School.

They will make their home in Plymouth.

Vivians meet

The Vivians will hold their opening meeting at the Elks Club Thursday, September 8 at 8 p.m. Dr. John Tipton will speak on the "Wonders of Plastic Surgery".

Specialty of the house

Sauce adds flavor to spare ribs

Mrs. Melvin Muehlbauer of Greenbriar Lane leads a very family centered life.

She devotes most of her time and talents to creating a pleasant, orderly home for her husband and two daughters, Candy and Tina.

Her kitchen, done in pink and white with copper accessories, is a cheery place to work.

Colder weather is near, which means heartier meals. So Mrs. Muehlbauer suggests one of her favorite recipes, a tangy sauce for spareribs.

She recommends extra lean spare ribs, sometimes called country ribs.

Combine these ingredients. Salt, pepper and sprinkle ribs with cayenne pepper. Brown the ribs. Apply the sauce and bake uncovered in a 300 degree oven for an hour and a half to two hours. The sauce will be enough for two to three pounds of spare ribs. Mrs. Muehlbauer finds that baked potatoes go well with this meat, and are also convenient, because the oven is already being used.

Delta Gammas open new season

The speaker will be Mrs. Hertschel Bowyer, Delta Gamma Province Alumnae Chairman, telling about her trip to this year's Delta Gamma convention in Hawaii.

All Delta Gammas in Plymouth, Livonia, Redford, Northville, Novi, and Farmington, are invited.

Some of the new club women in town stand in front of the old statue in Kellogg Park, commemorating the Civil War dead. Strolling towards their meeting are Newcomer's Club corresponding secretary, Mrs. Kenneth Zecman; recording secretary, Mrs. Eugene Fisher; president, Mrs. Thomas Lewis; vice-president, Mrs. Richard Brooks.

Garden Club news

The Plymouth Branch of the Womens National Farm and Garden Club will hold its first meeting of the new year on Monday, Sept. 12 at Mrs. Vincent M. Sullivan's, 1470 Woodland Place in Plymouth.

The program will be Forestry in Action, presented by Mr. Donald Gulman. There will also be a member's plant exchange so be sure to bring a plant.

Tea Chairman for the day will be Mrs. James Gilbert assisted by Mrs. James Amick, Mrs. Alpha Arney, Mrs. Edward Ayers, Mrs. William Bake, Mrs. Lawrence Becker, Mrs. Donald Burleson and Mrs. Clifford Fishbeck.

The Plymouth Garden Club will present a Flower Show on Sunday, Sept. 11 at the Leo Calhoun Ford Dealer on S. Main Street.

There will be demonstrations by various members from 11 a.m. till 1 p.m. and again from 3 till 5 p.m.

There will also be a display of Christmas Ideas . . . No charge will be made.

Strictly fresh

A fellow will flirt with a girl he wouldn't marry and then wind up marrying the girl who wouldn't flirt with him.

What's for lunch?

The problem of what to fix for school lunches is here again, now that school is open. Mrs. James Barber, of Greenbriar Lane, a home economics teacher at Wayne Memorial High School has some ideas to give variety to lunches. These are designed for lunch boxes, but can be used equally well at home.

Mrs. Barber has considered both nutrition and taste appeal in her luncheon ideas. Every lunch should contain protein (meat, cheese, egg or peanut butter), bread, fruit and milk. Here are Mrs. Barber's suggestions:

A submarine sandwich with plenty of meat and cheese on a crusty long French roll is a tasty variation of the typical lunch meat on white bread sandwich.

Freeze a small can of fruit or vegetable juice. Put the can of frozen juice and a punch type can opener in the lunch box in the morning. The juice will be thawed, but cool by noon.

Hot soup, beef stew, cold drinks or chilled fruit can all be carried in vacuum bottles. Plastic containers that will hold one piece of pie or cake, and plastic forks make it easy to take this kind of dessert to school.

Slice cold ham, roast beef, pork or turkey paper thin, then place several slices together to make thick sandwiches. Thin slices of meat are easier to eat than thick ones.

Lettuce and tomato to be added to the sandwich should be wrapped separately until ready to eat, so the sandwich won't get soggy.

Sliced turkey, crisp bacon and swiss cheese on French bread spread with salad dressing makes a delicious sandwich that travels well.

Celery, carrot, and green pepper strips are nice to add to the luncheon, as are olives and pickles.

Baby talk

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dethloff of Union St. announce the birth of a six lb. 15 oz. daughter, Tamara Ann, at St. Mary's Hospital on August 30.

The maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Vincent St. Louis of Ferguson, and the paternal grandparents are the Harvey Dethloffs of Lilley Rd. Tamara has three older brothers Robert, four, Scott, three, and Michael, one.

Senate candidate Livingston urges voter registration

Declaring that present inertia and smugness in neglecting to encourage greater citizen participation in elections is hypocritical, Paul F. Livingston, candidate for the State Senate in the 24th District, proposed that door to door voter registration be immediately instituted in Michigan.

The candidate, a West Bloomfield businessman, deplored the fact that a nation with a literacy rate of 97.8 per cent has a poorer voter turnout than any nation in Europe. Only 62 per cent, roughly three out of five, of those citizens over 21 in this country voted in the 1964 election, Livingston pointed out. Further citing European voting performances, Livingston enumerated the voting records of Denmark, at 87 per cent; Finland 85 per cent; 83 per cent in Sweden; 79 per cent in Norway; 77 per cent in Great Britain and 72 per cent in France.

In Canada, registrars canvass every house, similar to our census canvass, and register everyone eligible. As a result, in Canada four out of five, or almost 80 per cent, voted in their last general election, Livingston reported.

In Idaho, which follows the Canadian system, the proportion of citizens voting in 1964 was 75.3 per cent, as compared to 68.7 per cent in Michigan, Livingston said.

Livingston said he was certain there would be "prophets of doom" who "warn that such coddling would take away the initiative of citizens and further aver that anyone who can't take the effort to register is not worthy or capable of having the vote."

He cited the indifference and reluctance of registrars to encourage registration, rather than the apathy of the citizens, as the real reason for the poor voter registration.

He pointed out that the historical performance in this country indicates that as voter registration restrictions became more intricate, voter percentages declined. In the 1870's, he said, 85.8 per cent of eligible voters cast their ballots.

Livingston stressed that technically it is entirely possible for all polls in the state to be open 24 hours. This, he said, would permit anyone, anywhere in the state to vote at any time of day and night. He further stated that election day should be a state holiday, freeing thousands to vote at their convenience, rather than attempting to squeeze their voting in before or after work.

Legislative concern and legislative action can bring Michigan voting procedures fully into the 20th Century, Livingston concluded.

Detroit Town Hall begins new series

Detroit Town Hall will open its 33th consecutive season Wednesday, Oct. 5, in Fisher Theatre, with New York designer Ellen Brooke and a fashion show, "Clothes Around the Clock."

The program, first of 12 in the series, which meets on alternate Wednesdays at 11 a.m., will be followed by luncheon at the St. Regis Hotel.

This nut tree sprayed gold makes a most effective fall arrangement.

NUT TREE

Smart yet easy to make

A striking fall centerpiece can be made very easily according to Mrs. Philip Truesdell, past president of the Lake Pointe Garden Club.

A cone shaped piece of styrofoam is covered with nuts and pine cones, then sprayed gold to make this attractive table decoration.

If the cone shaped styrofoam is hard to find in a dime store or garden center this time of year, Mrs. Truesdell says a hobby shop will usually carry this shape in several sizes. It is necessary to find a gold base. Mrs. Truesdell uses a heavy candlestick turned upside down. The base must be sturdy, because the finished piece is very heavy.

If you can't find a heavy gold candlestick, one may be painted with gold spray paint.

The other equipment needed is a small bag of plaster of paris, several bags of mixed nuts, and some small pine cones.

The nuts are put on the styrofoam whole, except for the large walnuts, which are cut in half.

First attach the cone to the base with posey clay, available in flower shops.

Mix a little of the plaster of Paris according to directions. Do not mix too much at one time, or it will harden before you can use it.

Spread enough plaster of Paris on the bottom of the cone for two or three nuts. Put the plaster on the cone in globs so the nuts will stick to it easily, and so that it will have an interesting texture.

As you put on the nuts and the cones, make a little ledge in the plaster to help hold them.

Work around and up the tree. A pine cone looks best at the top.

After you are finished leave the tree alone for several days. "Don't get discouraged if some of the nuts fall off during this time," says Mrs. Truesdell. "Simply put some Elmer's glue in the spot and put the nut back."

After a few days the tree should be dry and the nuts secure.

Then take some gold spray paint and spray until the tree is completely covered.

Another touch that Mrs. Truesdell suggests is to put hairpins in the plaster at random before it is dry, and then at Christmas time you can hang the small Christmas balls on them.

VFW Color Guard greets President

The state championship color guard unit of VFW Mayflower Post 6695 was selected as one of the honor groups welcoming President Johnson when he stepped off the plane at Metro Airport for his Labor Day visit to the area.

The color guard, which recently finished second in the national competition, was out in full force well in advance of the arrival and presented its usual precision drill for the benefit of the President and his party which included Congressman Wes Vivian.

The Plymouth High School marching band was invited to join in the welcome but School Supt. Russell Isbister had to turn down the invitation. The Band was up north for the annual band week program and wasn't scheduled to arrive back in Plymouth until late Monday afternoon.

Calvary Baptist Church plans dedication Sept. 18

The dedication of the new Calvary Baptist Church will take place September 18, capping the growth of a church that began in 1933 with 35 members.

The church, located at 43065 Joy Rd., will hold its Sunday worship in the simple but beautiful sanctuary, decorated with deep green carpeting and light natural wood pews and altar.

Pastor Patrick J. Clifford said the entire congregation helped move the church furnishings from the old building on 496 W. Ann Arbor Trail on Labor Day.

Anchor Coupling sets sales, earnings mark

Libertyville, Ill., Anchor Coupling Co. Inc. consolidated sales reached an all-time high of $34,972,091 in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1966, up $5,728,853 or 19.8% from the previous year. Earnings were also highest in company history, Don F. Stranberg, Anchor president said: up 18.8% over fiscal 1965 to $2,446,597.

Cash dividend payments were made at an annual rate of 80c per share, with an extra stock dividend of 5% or 50,122 shares paid in November, 1965. 28,048 shares of Anchor stock were exchanged for all outstanding shares of K & K Machining Specialties Co., Loves Park, Ill.

Chairman of the building committee was Ralph Alloway, with members including DeLoey Kelley, William Hogg, Mel Sattler, Russell Lapeer, Herman Warnemuende, Jack Stout, Floyd Fisher, Ferris Mills and Ray Flanagan.

Pastor Clifford joined the congregation in 1949. Two years later, the first main addition at the present church was completed. Before, a basement building at the same site had been used. Then, in 1956, another addition was put on the Ann Arbor Trail building.

The sanctuary, which seats 600, has a balcony. The building project started in 1964, and was finished this week at a cost of $425,000.

Toastmasters work on each other's faults

Men who want to learn the proper use of words are invited to join the Motor City Speakeasy Toastmasters Club, William Johnson, Jr., president said today.

Johnson said millions of men use such phrases as "true facts" and "old adage," not knowing that all facts must be true and all adages are old. He said speakers frequently confuse the words "podium" and "lectern" and many people think they are saluting the flag when they are giving the pledge of allegiance.

Toastmasters help each other correct their speaking faults. Johnson said an evaluator is assigned for each five-to-seven-minute speech.

In addition to the suggestions made by the evaluator, members receive help from the club grammarian.

Impromptu speaking and parliamentary procedures are also part of Toastmasters training.

The Motor City Speakeasy Toastmasters Club, a member of Toastmasters International, meets on alternate Mondays, 7 p.m., at the Hillside Inn, Plymouth Road. Visitors are welcome. The next meeting will be held on September 12.

Senior Citizens plan fall tour

As a climax to a summer of various activities a Two-Day Fall Color Tour by chartered bus is being planned for September 26 and 27. The bus leaves Plymouth on September 26, via Port Huron and Sarnia, Ontario, where an overnight stop will be made, with the bus returning on September 27. The bus fare, including the price of one double occupancy, will be fifteen dollars. Call Dorothy Wilhelm at 453-2164 for immediate reservations.

Fall Roundup - a chance to be a Scout

Are boys on the sidelines when Scouts in their neighborhood are exploring new frontiers — hiking an historic trail, camping at a rugged campsite, or learning a new skill.

The fall roundup of the Boy Scouts of America, with its theme "Follow the Rugged Road — Be A Scout" will make it possible for hundreds of boys in Wayne County and the southern portions of Oakland and Macomb Counties to be Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers, according to Joseph H. Brinton, Scout Executive of the Detroit Area Council.

Cub Scouts are 8, 9 and 10-year old boys who meet weekly in a small group with a Den Mother and once a month at a pack meeting with their parents. Boy Scouts must be at least 11 years of age. Explorers are at least 14 and in the ninth grade.

Organizations such as churches and synagogues, schools, service clubs, and community groups are chartered by the Boy Scouts of America to use the Scout program for the boys in their neighborhoods. Information about Scout units is available from the Council Service Center, 1776 West Warren Avenue, Detroit . . . phone 897-1965.

Plymouth teens plan march for ALSAC

The fourth annual Teenagers March with Danny for 1966 is underway in Plymouth with an enthusiastic army of teens gearing up for another successful ALSA (Aid to Leukemia Stricken American Children) Drive.

The Teenagers March is an annual march for the support of St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, Memphis, Tenn.

Founded by Danny Thomas, St. Jude's is working in childhood diseases, including cancer, leukemia, muscle disorders, and nutritional disorders. Expenses have consistently been held under 10% of all funds raised, with more than ninety cents of every dollar going directly to the research hospital.

Last year Plymouth contributed $318, to the $198,000, raised by Detroit and other suburban communities — a rather poor showing compared with neighboring Livonia's contribution of $7,000. This year a new goal has been set for $1,500. However, in order to meet this goal the complete support of all teens and adults of Plymouth is needed.

Teen chairman, Phyllis Lenaghan with Bob Schaefer and Doug Bruce as co-chairmen, and leaders Janet Silvis, Barbara Thomas, Debbie Broderick, Betty Jo Fisher, Cathy Brisbois, Sandy Singleton, Ann Wood, Sally Post, Kathy Skinner, Jane Doyle, Linda Young, Dona Tate, Sue Greenley, and Mary Jane Herb are in desperate need of teen marchers. Any interested teen or pre-teen from age 12 and up please call Phyllis at 453-2870 or Doug at 453-6576. Anyone participating in the march is eligible to attend the big WKNR All Star Show at Cobo Hall.

Also to supplement the march and the canisters on display throughout Plymouth, ALSAC teens will have a booth at the Plymouth Fall Festival.

Teens and adults alike we need your help.

Back-to-School Is Hard On Pets - Here's How to Help Ease the Transition

Not all the small members of the family are going back to school. After a summer of constant companionship with vacation-free children, Fido and Tabby are going to be left behind. If you think they haven't circled this date on their own private calendars, observe their droopy spirits the first day of school, advises the manager of a pet foods Research Center. There is no one to romp with, no one to pet them, no one to give them undivided attention and love.

The first few days are the most difficult for any pet. They are also the most trying for Mother who must resume duties she had happily shifted to Junior during the summer months. One of the real dangers to be guarded against on the opening day of school is that Fido will follow his young master all the way to school. That may have been all right for Mary and her lamb, but it can be death for a dog who may be exposed to strange streets, speeding traffic, and the risk of becoming lost on his way home. Even Tabby has been known to venture into the path of office-bound commuters in her anxiety not to be left behind.

For more reasons than one, it is better to keep both dog and cat indoors the first few days of school. They may get under Mother's feet, but they will be reassured by her presence. Remember, they are lonely. Play with them as much as you can. Humor them with new toys. Give them a little extra grooming. See that they have the food they like best. A bowl of top quality dry food such as Friskies can be left all day without danger of spoiling, and provides a quick treat whenever the dog or cat feels hungry. (Good food is one of the best ways to pamper a pet. It cheers his disposition as well as his palate.) Most important for Mother, pet, and child is the establishment of a household routine whereby the child resumes his pet care responsibilities when school is out in the afternoon. No boy who assured his mother, "I'll take care of Fido, honest I will!" should be allowed to duck his chores entirely. After 3:00 P.M. and before football, he can put out fresh water, take the dog for a romp, give Tabby a brushing, talk to them both. Pets love to hear the sound of your voice, and every one of them needs to be stroked and petted. If the child is not taught this kind of TLC (tender loving care), Fido and Tabby suffer. So does Junior.

Michigan Bears Sleep Lightly In Winter, Says WSU Prof.

The black bear, Michigan's most common species, finds good hibernating sites in the State's deep forests.

DETROIT—The wild bears of Michigan, unlike their furry friends, the cottontails, foxes, squirrels and field mice, don't worry about the long winter—they sleep through it. As the birds fly South and fish swim for deep water in fall, the bears and some other mammals are packing away food, not into their "nests" but into their stomachs, building up a layer of fat. This is how their elaborate nervous and endocrine systems prepare them for a period of food scarcity ahead. In bears, the fat layer is especially important for the female because it is during the winter that she bears her young, and she must keep them fed and warm. "Bears and other hibernators are able to survive the many weeks of winter not only through this food storage but by reducing their energy expenditure," points out Wayne State University biology Prof. William Prychodko. "Scientists know that chipmunks and most other hibernators have extremely low heartbeat rates and body temperatures during their winter's sleep," he points out. They are cold to the touch and can be handled safely in their state of suspended animation. "But bears' hibernation is somewhat different," he says. "Experts differ in their opinions regarding its completeness or 'depth.'" The curious sight of bears wandering around in winter has been observed in Michigan not only by biologists and game experts but by many hunters. "Unlike the really 'deep sleepers,' bears have only a slightly lower-than-normal temperature in their hibernation and are awakened easily when found in this state. Once awakened they may wander around a bit before returning to sleep. Females, because of their cub-bearing, are likely to stay put. "Bears don't usually live in caves," says Dr. Prychodko, "but settle for a depression in the ground, or a spot under an uprooted tree in the thicket where they can sleep on a layer of pine boughs. "Although carnivorous, bears rarely eat meat," he says. "and when they do, it's more likely to be a chipmunk than a deer." Bears subsist on grubs, roots, berries, nuts and—if they're lucky—honey. In desperation they will eat grass and twigs.

HAHA (Think school is a laugh? See how funny it is when you can't get a good-paying job.) A small education is something you can't laugh off. It's the biggest handicap you'll ever have... today, tomorrow, the day after tomorrow, and every day of your working life. And it's a funny thing. People who really stay with it and get a good education are often seen laughing all the way to the bank. It's no joke. To get a good job today, you need a good education. A good education is the number-one requirement for the better jobs with the better salaries... and the better futures, too. So if you're in school now... stay there! Learn all you can for as long as you can. If you're out of school, you can still get lots of valuable training outside the classroom. Just call on the Youth Counselor at your State Employment Service, or visit a Youth Opportunity Center, which has been set up in many cities to help you. To get a good job, get a good education. Tips from the STOP & SHOP CHEF Questions & Answers

Is it possible to cook a cracked egg in water?
Yes — and with nary a king's horse or a king's man involved. To make the egg whole again, simply add a few drops of lemon juice or vinegar to the water in which it is to be cooked. Then cook the egg at a bare simmer, as all eggs cooked in water should be done.
