

Susan McIntyre chats with a PHS French class.

Returns home to talk of life in France

A 1963 graduate of Plymouth High School had a homecoming Friday as she visited her French teacher of seven years ago.

Sue McIntyre, 15512 Lakeside Dr., spoke to French classes about her recent one year stay for special studies in Paris Friday. She renewed old acquaintances with John Hopkins, French teacher who joined the PHS staff in 1959. At that time young Sue took first year French as a freshman.

Friday she was back to talk about how she used what she had learned.

Undecided as to her career she's majoring in French at Ohio Wesleyan University. Sue spent one year at the Sorbonne, Arts and Letters Division of the University of Paris. During her stay she studied French grammar, theatre and German. She stayed with a French family as part of the Hamilton College Junior Year Abroad program.

"France has a politically minded society... it's a cafe society. They love to argue politics for hours," she said, talking with students here in Plymouth.

*They see us big and rich, through the American tourist. And, there is a full range of American products. Yet, they hold to the idea they have more culture and history, and that we are sort of young, childlike and crude."

"President Kennedy is idolized. The first question any one from here is asked: what was he like? I think they have a soft spot for aristocracy. He represented everything that is noble and aristocratic. They see Lyndon Johnson as a sort of a heavy handed loudmouth American. In him they see everything they don't like about us," she explained.

Newspapers, she noted, are numerous, and full of varied editorial opinions. "There is much more editorializing. It not surprisingly done... it's quite obvious, and not like our newspapers where the sought after goal is objectivity," she said.

The French also love movies, and think it an art form, spelled with a capital 'A'.

In the area of international politics, the French, obviously, disagree sharply.

Isbister to resign as head of schools

After 40 years as a teacher, coach, principal, superintendent and school administrator, Russell Isbister who has guided the Plymouth Community School system through some hectic situations during the past 16 years, will call it a day at the end of the 1966-67 school year.

Isbister tendered his resignation Monday night to the School Board. Earlier he had sent the letter to Board President Gerald Fischer, and trustees were aware of his decision well in advance of the Monday meeting.

It has been rumored for some time that Isbister might seek retirement at the end of the school year - the effective date of the resignation is June 30, 1967.

However, although his future plans are still unknown, Isbister is known to have expressed a desire to get out of public school administration and enter the college field. He is still available for several years of service and has long felt that he would like to give the college profession a try.

At the moment he is busy working with the School Board on plans for a campaign to make the community aware of the need for a $5. million bond issue next month.

The bonding is to secure funds for much needed building expansion and Isbister and his aides, with the Board, plan to get the message to every parent and property owner in the district.

In his letter, Isbister wrote "In making the announcement at this time it is my desire to provide the Board of Education with ample time to select my successor and thus make an orderly transition to the new administration."

The Plymouth school chief is rated as one of the most capable in the state and he is constantly being asked for advice by school superintendents, not only from the area, but from all sections of the state.

He is also much in demand in Lansing at the state level where officials are constantly asking him to attend meetings there to have the advantage of his advice on high level matters. During his regime in Plymouth, he has seen the school system grow from one with a six-year combined junior and senior high to one with two junior highs, a three-year senior high and eight elementary schools.

He has constantly strived successfully for one of the finest school systems in the state - the impact of his work is felt by the fact that the Plymouth system is considered equal to or better than any, including those in the populous metropolitan centers.

During the past five years, it is known that he has had offers from several other school districts, at higher pay, and also positions at the state level, but has rejected all to stay in his beloved Plymouth.

And strange as it may sound, Isbister, who had a taste of coaching early in his career, has a tremendous love for all athletics and often attends a Plymouth High football or basketball game. He also has been as prominent as a spectator during the baseball and track season.

A native of Memphis, Mich., he graduated from high school there and then attended Eastern Michigan University where he received a bachelor's degree. He took his Master's work at the University of Michigan and since has taken graduate work at New York University, Wayne State, University of Michigan and Harvard.

Isbister started his teaching career in Centerline in 1927 and served there for 23 years as a teacher, coach, high school principal and school superintendent.

There was a break of one year in 1947 when he accepted the post of principal of River Rouge High.

But during that year the School Superintendent of Centerline died and the job was offered to Isbister. Thus he returned to Centerline after one year and served in that capacity for three years before moving to Plymouth.

He became head of the Plymouth school system in July 1951 and has been here since.

Mr. and Mrs. Isbister are the parents of two sons, Robert, who was married recently and resides in Livonia; and James, who lives in Bethesda, Md. His letter of resignation follows:

"Reluctantly, yet after long and considered judgment, I hereby tender my resignation as Superintendent of Schools, effective June 30, 1967. In making the announcement at this time it is my desire to provide the Board of Education with ample time to select my successor and thus make an orderly transition to the new administration.

"At the close of this present school year I will have completed 40 years of teaching and administration in the public schools of Michigan, the last 16 of which have been in Plymouth. These years have been pleasant, satisfying, and from my point of view, productive ones in the education of children, youth and adults in the communities which I have served."

"Therefore, it is a fitting time for me to step aside from the heavy responsibilities of this position and give to the Community the benefit of a change in leadership and to myself an opportunity for a new venture in service. In the metropolitan area, I am among the fortunate few who have had the privilege of serving a community so many years as a superintendent of schools.

"During my tenure here the Plymouth Community has elected to membership on the Board of Education high caliber men

Parents, Board tangle over Tanger conditions

Lake Pointe parents complained about conditions at the half-finished Tanger Elementary School at the regular monthly School Board meeting Monday night.

They said they didn't like:

- (1) The muddy conditions.
- (2) The noise of work being done.
- (3) Unsafe conditions with workmen running up and down the hall with materials.
- (4) Workmen swearing.
- (5) Dirty building, due to the construction.
- (6) Half days because of the construction.

The Board was somewhat helpless, but chose to stick to their guns and back superintendent Russell Isbister's decision to open school despite the problems.

School opened late at Tanger on Monday, with half day sessions.

Enrollments hit new heights

Rough figures released Monday show the Plymouth School District enrollment at an all time high of 7,379.

A breakdown by building shows:

One day was enough to bring about twenty parents to the Board meeting Monday.

"It was my decision to do this," Isbister said, "It is for a short time only. There's good leadership in the building and a good staff, and I am confident the education offered will be up to our standards."

Board President Gerald Fischer backed Isbister: "It's an inconvenience to be sure," he told the parents. "But this is the first day in a new school, and I think it is extremely unfair to judge the efficacy of the education in one day. We've been working night and day to get the contracts finished."

Fischer, obviously angry, and his voice strained, further noted many troubled districts in the state will face half day sessions all year.

The building, which was started late last fall, was held up in early summer by a nation-wide strike.

Isbister told the parents he felt they could live with the situation.

The Board took little action on the complaints, but agreed to check on matters of safety and busing along Five Mile Rd. in areas with no sidewalks.

Another group, led by George Oury 910 Hartsough, complained about the busing of seven sixth graders from the Hartsough St. area to Tanger.

"They are taking a 45 minute bus ride to get there, and back" Oury explained. "My boy said he saw The Detroit House of Correction for the first time today."

DeHoCo is on Five Mile near the western edge of Plymouth Township.

School officials agreed to inspect the attendance areas for sixth graders, and let the parents know about a possible solution within one week.

In other action, the Board: * Hired Frank Krimbacher as buildings and grounds supervisor, Jon Jacobs as school diagnostician, and eight teachers: William Beaman, Ina Crider, Linda Leavitt, Nancy Moran, Jane Raaflaub, Shirley Spaniel, Marilyn Snyder and Jerry Vance.

* Approved Earl Gibson's appointment as new head of school special services.

* Accepted one bid from the National Bank of Detroit to buy $900,000 in tax anticipation notes at a low 3.25 per cent interest.

City beats bushes for policemen

The City of Plymouth is beating the bushes for policemen. As in every other community in the nation, there is a severe shortage of competent policemen. The City, according to police chief and administrative aide Kenneth Fisher, needs four.

Recent resignations have trimmed the size of the force.

The salary ranges from $6,056 to $7,202, and is determined by experience, training and qualifications.

Fringe benefits include hospitalization, paid vacation, holiday pay and uniform.

Despite the shortage, Fisher said he would not cut Plymouth's standards for officers.

Tanger principal Ronald South helps children find their way the first hectic day at the half-finished elementary school in Lake Pointe.

City, Township reach pact on school fires

Both the City and the Township fire departments will automatically respond to any fire in any school as a result of a special agreement reached last week.

Drafted by Township Public Service Director William Burr, the agreement calls for both departments to send equipment and men the second a call is received from a school.

This, in general, gives more prompt coverage in case of many schools.

"For instance," Burr explained, "although Junior High East is in the City we are only a stone's throw away and can get there much faster. On the other hand, the City can respond to a fire at Junior High West faster than we can, and it is in our domain."

The agreement was approved by the City Commission, after fire chief George Schoenneman reviewed the proposal and agreed to it. The City approval came at a meeting last Tuesday night.

The agreement supplements an already existing mutual aid agreement which calls for response to a fire in another municipality, if asked. It does not, however, provide for automatic coverage like the new one does.

The agreement further specifies no charge will be made for the automatic assistance, and that the local fire chief will be in charge of both his unit, and the aiding unit.

The first firemen on the scene do not need to await an officer in charge, and will begin fire fighting immediately.

In other action at the routine but lengthy meeting, the Commission, heard status reports on various projects from City Manager Richard Blodgett:

(1) The DPW storage garage is still in the hands of the Municipal Building Authority. The City turned down a request for an architect, and asked them to speed things up.

(2) Preliminary plans for a final agreement on the Salem Dump site are now in. The suit was won by the City which

The School Board announced exact details of the October 3, $5 1/2 million bond issue at their regular meeting Monday night.

They also approved the resolution setting the nature of the vote.

The issue is part of a $17 million package proposed by a recent citizens study group. The October vote carried no millage increase.

THREE PART SERIES

Plymouth schools use unique planning methods

Editor's note: This is the first of a three part series on how citizens committees help to plan school facilities. Citizen advisory groups have served as the right arm of the School Board. The most recent group's recommendation will culminate October 3 in a $5 1/2 million bond issue. Following is the first part tracing citizen activity.

The past 15 years has seen the Plymouth School District double in size, population increase at a proportionate rate, and problems of the school administration multiply even faster.

In the same period of time, however, Plymouth schools have achieved recognition for the outstanding way they have met and solved their problems while maintaining and improving the standards within the system.

Two words describe how Plymouth achieved these results: citizen participation. Fifteen years ago Plymouth School District enlisted the aid of its citizens in an advisory capacity to work as a volunteer arm of the schools. At first it was as a continuing committee, the Plymouth School Community Planning Group. More recently, citizen help has been directed to specific needs of the school system on a project basis.

"When I first came to the Plymouth District, there was a great need for more involvement by the community in school planning and in problem solving," said Superintendent Russell Isbister. "With approval of the board, we invited participation in a community-school advisory group."

"We organized teams. Each school had a team including the principal, a teacher and two parents from the PTA. Each team met monthly in one of the schools. They began working in areas most important to the schools at the time."

Records show in November, 1951, Superintendent Isbister invited participation by letter

The good life

He's laughing

Doug Johnson

Maybe some of you read in the paper a long article, (which to a journalist is a "think piece") by Robert J. Donovan, about the mood of America today.

"I was struck at the same time by the fact that I heard little laughter in the United States this summer, though the country is awash in greenbacks and bulging with the apparatus of personal comfort," Donovan writes.

The story was long and discussed our deep frustration and fear about the things that threaten our lives.

Count the times you laughed out loud last week. I couldn't count one, and I hope it's just me.

To help all you whose blood is tired whose sensibilities have been chaffed, who never feel really clean, I offer two of the things I found funny Monday morning.

John E. Tripp, republican candidate for the state House of Representatives, had the air let out of his campaign Sunday.

A Fall Festival prankster - probably a Democrat - let the air out of a tire on the Tripp campaign bus parked on Main St.

Here follows his comments:

"It took me nearly 30 minutes hard-pumping to inflate the tire again. When interrupted in his pumping, I was asked how the tire became flat. I don't really know whether it was vandalism, a prank by youngsters, a thoughtless act, or a petty political move. Air is free - and I have my own tire pump. We've got to keep the campaign bus moving, and if someone lets out the air again, I'll be here to pump it up." Tripp's campaign slogan is "This Tripp Is Necessary".

Now that you are rolling in the aisles, have you heard this one?

A man and his wife passed away within a few weeks of each other, but went in opposite directions. Later, she called from Heaven to see how her spouse was doing.

"Fine," he says. "All we have to do here is shovel some coal on the fire. We don't work more than two hours a day. How about you?"

"We get up at four in the morning," she said, "to gather the stars, then haul in the moon."

If your hair isn't becoming to you . . . you should be coming to us.

"Equally important, too, is the community's interest and willingness to attract and retain highly qualified teachers and other employees. What success we have had in building an image of good schools can be attributed to these factors.

"During this last year it is my intention to give to the Board of Education a full measure of dedication and leadership in the solution of the many problems which confront the schools in these rapidly changing times.

"It is a great source of comfort to know that I can separate from this position with a positive attitude towards the Board, the Community and my many fellow employees whose loyalty and dedication helped to make my task easier.

"May the Plymouth Community Schools continue to have a bright future."

Save on your milk bill

Grocery prices are continuing to rise. Recently milk prices advanced, and now bread prices are following. These are basic items, and a price hike really hurts.

There are several ways to save on milk. Powdered milk is recommended by food experts as being nutritionally valuable, and inexpensive.

Many women use it in cooking. Unfortunately the taste isn't too great.

However, the taste can be disguised by making the powdered milk, and then mixing it with an equal portion of whole milk.

A way to make children think they are getting a treat is to add chocolate syrup to the powdered milk.

It is best to mix it well ahead of the time it is to be used, so that it will have a chance to chill.

Also if it is fixed when children aren't around, they aren't as likely to push it away before even tasting it.

Recipes which stress powdered milk are not only economical, they help fill milk requirements for children who aren't good milk drinkers.

Here are several: Chocolate Toffee Dessert

- 3/4 cup butter
- 1 and 1/2 cups crushed vanilla wafers
- 1/2 cup chopped walnuts
- 2 ounces unsweetened chocolate
- 1 cup confectioners sugar
- 2 eggs separated
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/3 cup ice water
- 1/3 cup non fat milk

Melt 1/4 cup butter, and mix it with wafers and nuts. Spread half of mixture in 9 by 9 inch pan.

Melt chocolate. Cool slightly. Cream remaining butter with sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in egg yolks and vanilla. Mix in chocolate. Beat egg whites until stiff.

Put ICE water and milk in bowl and beat until stiff peaks form.

Carefully fold egg whites and whipped milk into chocolate mixture.

Pour over crumbs in the pan. Sprinkle remaining crumbs on top.

Refrigerate several hours or over night. Cut into squares and garnish with whipped cream if desired. Serves eight.

CHOCOLATE DREAM CAKE

- 2 six ounce packages of chocolate chips
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 eggs separated
- 1 cup ice water
- 1 cup non fat dry milk
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 small (8 ounce) angel food cake

Melt chocolate chips with sugar over hot water. Beat egg yolks. Remove chocolate mixture from heat, stir in beaten egg yolks and cool for five minutes.

Beat egg whites until stiff. Sprinkle dry milk over ice cold water and whip. Add the lemon juice. Fold egg whites and whipped milk into chocolate mixture.

Break angel food cake into bite sized pieces, and sprinkle a layer in the bottom of a lightly greased 8 by 12 inch loaf pan, using about half the cake.

Cover with a layer of the chocolate mixture.

Dot this with remaining cake pieces, and top that with the rest of the chocolate mixture.

Chill overnight. Cut into small squares or wedges.

Serves 14. CHOCOLATE PUDDING

This pudding is a little more work than the instant kind, but exceptionally creamy.

- 1/4 cup cocoa
- 3/4 cup non fat dry milk
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/3 cup flour
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 and 1/2 cups water
- 2 tablespoons butter
- 1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix cocoa, non fat milk, sugar, flour and salt. Add a small amount of water and stir to form a smooth paste; add the rest of water. Cook until thick over hot water or in heavy pan, stirring constantly.

Remove from heat; add butter and vanilla. Cool and serve. Makes four to six servings.

Add a small amount of cooked mixture to beaten egg yolks, beat until smooth and return to double boiler.

Cook two minutes. Remove from heat; add butter and vanilla. Cool.

This filling is enough for one 9 inch pie crust.

Add coconut or bananas for variety.

Isbister's retirement a loss to Plymouth

It is with a great deal of sadness that we received news of the resignation of Russell Isbister as superintendent of schools in the Plymouth Community Schools at the end of the present school year.

Isbister has served the community for 16 of the 40 years he has been in the teaching profession. It goes without saying that many of those years have been trying years—ones that probably made Isbister wonder if it was worthwhile.

Hardly a year goes by but that the Board of Education is greeted by a band of emotionally worked-up parents complaining about bus schedules, distribution of students so that their sons and daughters have to take long bus trips to get to classes, the early start of classes, the lateness of afternoon closing, the dust in the summer, mud in the spring and snow in the winter.

During his 16 years here, Isbister has faced these barrages each year shortly after the start of classes. He has always managed to work out solutions and generally when the parents settle down they have realized that the Superintendent had done the right thing.

We mention this because of an incident at Monday's school board meeting when a band of parents bitterly complained about conditions at Tanger School and a second group took issue with their youngsters being bused to Tanger from an area within a block of the Administration Building on Lilley Road.

Words flew hot and heavy and some bitter accusations were flung at Isbister by one of the belligerent parents. He just wouldn't listen to any explanations, demanded that the Board take an immediate stand and accused the Board of being incapable of decisions.

The matter never was completely resolved but the Board did back Isbister's decisions. Members plan to make a complete study of the facts and figures and give their opinion to the belligerent parent within another week.

Then with that matter out of the way, the Board went on with the business on the agenda.

For Isbister and several members of the Board, this sort of thing has been more or less a regular part of the job during the early weeks of the school year.

For Isbister, it is just another of those incidents he has had to battle throughout his 40 years.

In his 16 years at the helm of the Plymouth School system, he has seen it grow to eight elementary schools, two junior highs and a senior high with plans on the boards for additional elementary, junior high and senior high buildings.

That's a far cry from the days when he first arrived on the scene and found the senior high a six-grade operation, from the sixth through the 12th grade.

He successfully fought for and won two new junior highs, additions to the senior high and several new elementary schools.

During his regime, he always strived for a better school system, a better curriculum, better facilities, everything better—and with the backing of the School Board, he succeeded in making Plymouth one of the state's most respected school systems.

But now he has come to the point where, after 40 years in the schools, he would like to try his hand in the college level during his few remaining years of eligibility. It has been his ambition for some time to leave the administration field and go into the colleges and get back to his beloved teaching.

The decision to retire must have been a hard one, for Isbister has been good for Plymouth and Plymouth has been good for him.

However, it is known that the long hours required of a good administrator, which he always was, have taken their toll. Isbister has had a minor health problem in the past few years, he has found it more and more tiring to keep up with all of the things required of a superintendent.

Thus, it was with regrets that he tendered his resignation, effective at the end of the year.

We are certain that Plymouth will find a capable replacement but whether they will be able to fine one with the wisdom and the know-how of Russell Isbister is something else. But then, there comes a time when a man has to think in terms of retirement; Isbister feels that time has arrived for him—and thus his resignation.

Isbister has left his mark on the schools, and his community of Plymouth. He was considered a man of vision by many of his contemporaries in the community leadership.

His loss will be felt not only in the schools, but everywhere else top community decisions are made.

A man like that is never replaced.

LETTERS:

"The pawn of the school district"

Dear Editor,
"The Pawn of the Plymouth School District"

Living within one section of Plymouth is like sitting on a chess board as far as the Plymouth school administrators are concerned.

Within five years our children have gone to Smith School, Allen School, Starkweather School and now Tanger School.

Where is our forward planning? Where is our concern for the child? When will we recognize children as individuals and not as numbers?

Too often the administrators of our school system make decisions for convenience, for certain groups or just to relieve minority pressure.

We talk about the high cost of busing children yet when children could walk we send them to a school too far from their home. So they have to be bused. Instead of always asking for more money, which means higher taxes, we should review what we have and how best to apply it.

Because our children have to go to Tanger school here is the penalty they must suffer:

I. All children start school Sept. 8 - except ours which start Sept. 12.

II. All children are on full days - except ours which are on half days and for how long this will last no one can or will tell us.

III. Because our section is so far from the school our children must, each day, take a bus ride lasting one hour or more.

IV. Because our section was again picked to shuffle around, our children must adapt themselves to new surroundings, which aren't complete, new teachers and new playmates.

Now, although all this is going to happen and must have been known for some time, we were not informed until last week.

Why? Where is our communication? Why are we not informed? In fact, to this day, no one has advised us of the bus schedule.

We seem to do an excellent job of looking after the welfare of our teachers by paying top salaries and negotiating contracts but when it comes to students they are rated as second class citizens.

I know this letter will not change the present conditions but I do hope I have done a better job than the school administrators, of informing the people of things going on within our school district.

Fall Festival-fun for all

THE ENTIRE FAMILY enjoys the Fall Festival as the Ed Kleinsmith family can attest. Jeffrey and Doug are on the bike, Eric, the baby, is hidden in the carriage pushed by Carolyn Kleinsmith. They enjoyed sauerkraut served by Business and Professional Women's Club members Mary Helen Hosier, Jessie Sutton, Connie Aldrich and Shirley Perryman. The German Night festivities are the traditional kickoff for the Fall Festival.

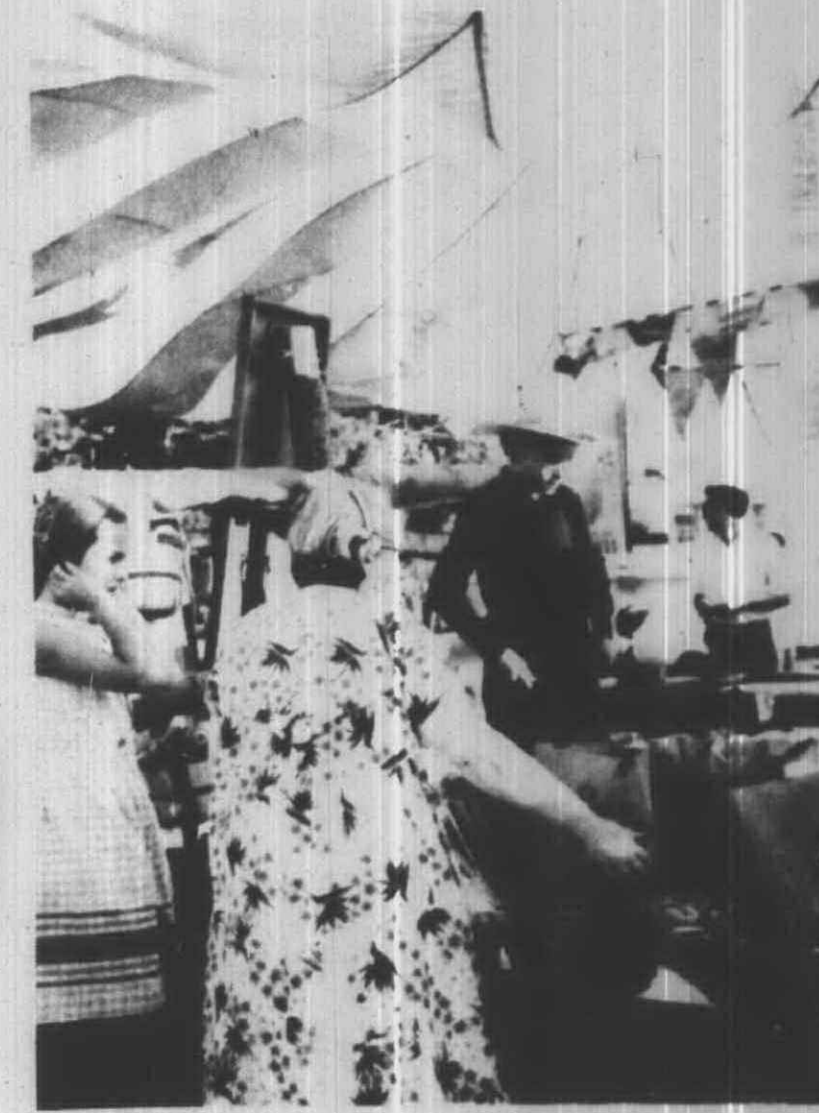

NEW JAYCEE club members pitched in at the Chuck Wagon Beef Rib Barbeque Saturday. Chuck Bradburn and Bob Kehrl are two men in the 100-strong club. The JC's also sold cheese and sausage at a booth in the park.

TO THE BOUNCY rhythm of the caller, many square dancers from the area danced in front of the bandstand Saturday night. The streets are cleared and the feet begin to move as the music comes over the loudspeakers.

ICE CREAM and the best melons in the world—or so it seems—fill hungry Fall Festival goers Friday night as the Lions Club sold a record amount of food. Lions Dr. R. R. Barber and Louis Schultz are on the right.

THE YMCA sold apples at the Fall Festival to raise money. The apples come from the David Wood farm on Warren Rd. and will be in more plentiful supply later in the year.

INTERESTING OLD HOUSES

Main St. was society center when this old house was built

The outside of the Cutler house still looks the way it did when it was built for Richard Hall nearly 100 years ago.

In the 1840's no one lived along Plank Road which led from Plymouth (the area around Starkweather St.) to Plymouth Corners (the area around Main and Ann Arbor Trail).

By 1875 the area was the most fashionable place to live in town. Plymouth and Plymouth Corners were united into one town. Plank Road was known as Main Street.

One of the first houses to be built in this area is still standing at 193 North Main St., and is now the home of the J. Rustling Cutlers.

The house was built prior to 1870 by Henry Bennett. Henry Bennett was the uncle of C. H. Bennett who was one of the founders of Daisy Air Rifle Co.

Henry Bennett built the house on land he owned for the Richard Halls who were living in Albion.

The Halls moved to Plymouth, and Hall opened a dry goods store on Main Street between Ann Arbor Trail and Penniman. Exactly when they came here is not known. Hall's shop is not included in a list of store's on Main St., in 1860.

But by 1869 is was a well established business, right where Dodge Drug Store is now. Before she was married, Mrs. Hall had been a member of the Fralick family, a pioneer Plymouth family.

The Halls lived in the house with their three children, Margaret, Fred and George.

George, who died in 1912, was one of the first few people in town to own a car.

Tradition also says that he was the first one to have an automobile accident.

He was on his way to Butter Powell's Creamery on Amelia St. As he approached the creamery he hollered "whoa" to stop the car.

Unfortunately this didn't stop the car, and George gets credit for being the first to bang up a car in town.

After the death of the senior

Halls, the son of their daughter Margaret and his family moved in with Fred, the only member of the original Hall family still living there.

This was in 1916. Margaret's son was named Winfield Scott, after the Civil War general. They stayed there until 1945 when Fred died.

"People who lived here in those days, will still remember Fred," comments Mr. Cutler. "He was a little old man who walked around town carrying a cane in one hand and a basket in the other." The Scotts moved east, and the Cutlers bought the house from Fred's estate in 1946.

The Cutlers are well known in Plymouth.

Mr. Cutler, a lawyer, served for 15 years in city government.

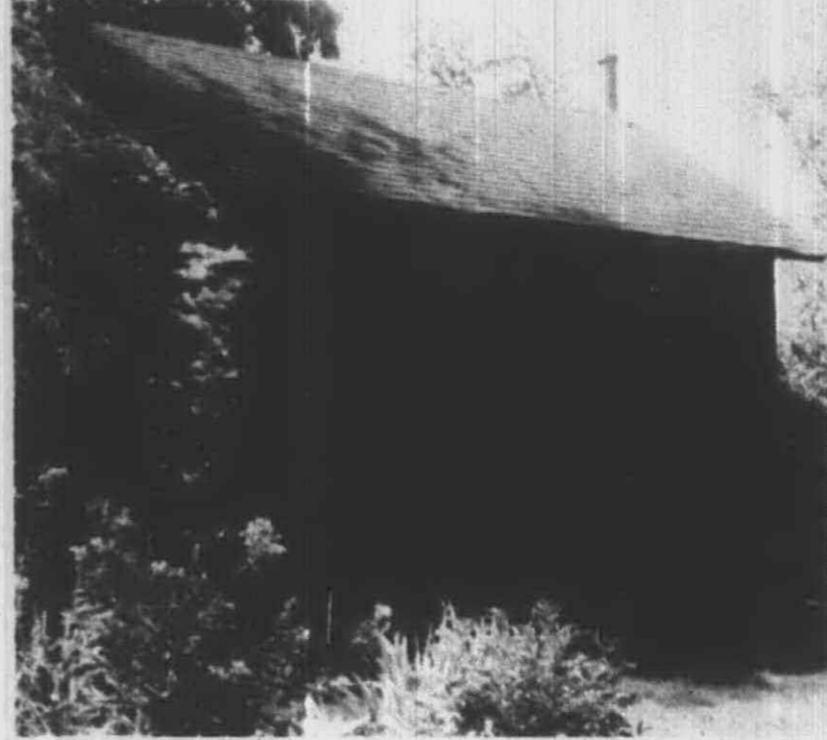

Mrs. Cutler is a daughter of Sidney Strong who has been active in civic affairs for many years.

The five Cutler children who grew up in the house were the first young children to live there. The Hall children were nearly grown when they moved to Plymouth.

The Cutlers have remodeled the kitchen and made other changes to make the house more convenient. However, they have kept the basic structure of the house just the same as it originally was.

The windows still have the old wavy glass. There is still a well, and two cisterns, used to collect rain water, in the back yard.

This barn, originally used by the Halls, still stands only a few years away from the busy Main St. thoroughfare.

Mr. Cutler holds up a copy of a 1918 paper found under the rugs, when he bought the house. In those days people sometimes used to put papers under rugs rather than use pads.

Specialty of the house Dips that give a Mexican touch

Food from the southwest has a distinctive flavor of its own. Barbecuing, a specialty of that area, has become popular all over the country.

Mexican food also plays an important role in southwestern cooking.

Mrs. J. O. Watson of Greenbrook Lane is originally from Dallas, and uses the "Helen Corbitt Cookbook" for authentic southwestern recipes. Helen Corbitt is the director of the Neiman-Marcus restaurants.

When she entertains Mrs. Watson often chooses a Mexican theme for her parties. Here are two dips she uses:

- PRARIE FIRE DIP
1 quart red beans cooked and put through a sieve
1/2 pound butter
1/2 pound grated Provolone cheese
4 jalapenos, pickled hot peppers, chopped fine
1 teaspoon jalapeno juice (Mrs. Watson says that small cans of Old El Paso Brand of jalapenos or green chilies can be found at Grocers.)
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 clove garlic minced
Mix, and then heat over hot water until cheese is melted. Serve hot from a chafing dish with fried tortillas or potato chips.

Instead of chopping everything up Mrs. Watson puts the ingredients in her blender before heating them.

This dip must be kept hot, while serving, or it will get too thick.

It can be made ahead and stored in the refrigerator.

GUACAMOLE

This can be used as a dip with tortillas or fritos that have been warmed in the oven. It is good as a salad dressing on a green salad, or sliced tomatoes. It can also be served as a dip for vegetables such as cauliflower.

- 2 cups ripe mashed avacados
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 tablespoons grated onion
2 tablespoons chili sauce
4 drops tabasco sauce
salt to taste.

Mix together thoroughly, and chill.

If made ahead of time leave an avacado pit in the mixture until ready to serve. This keeps it from turning dark.

Do electric dryers really cost less to buy? Do you really get no-charge service?

Do kids like ice cream?

The answer, of course, is a rousing YES! Model for model, electric dryers cost from $20 to $40 less than gas dryers. And every electric dryer is backed by Edison's No-Charge repair service. No charge for any electrical parts. No charge for labor. Edison is the only utility company in this area that offers no-charge repair service.

Can you get this kind of worry-free assurance with a gas dryer? Sure—with a manufacturer's repair service policy. But it will cost you up to $120 over the first five years of operation alone!

One thing more. Edison's No-Charge repair service applies even if you don't buy your dryer from Edison—so long as the dryer is electric and you get your electricity from Edison. And if you buy now from a participating dealer, the low price you pay includes the cost of wiring, if any's needed. So when you add it up, an electric dryer can save you up to $160 in just a few years. That can keep the kids in ice cream a good long time.

Can you imagine pouring turpentine on an open cut? This was the favorite way to prevent lockjaw some years ago. Naturally, we wouldn't think of doing this now. But then, we're lucky. We have tetanus toxoids and antitoxins. Thanks to medical science, lockjaw need no longer be a killer... previously, death occurred in 90% of the cases. Children, because of their affinity for cuts, sometimes pick up the tetanus germ. So, if there are young children in your family, be sure to ask your physician about preventive tetanus shots. It's always wise to seek your doctor's advice before using any medicines. And next time you have a prescription to be filled, think of us.

The Fall Festival - a handful of memories

The Fall Festival is nothing but a whirl of memories... a little girl skipping along with a giant balloon...

How does one get into the business of being an antique dealer anyway?

Mrs. Robert Arlen a young dealer from Northville just seemed to stumble into it.

"When we were first married my husband and I went to rummage sales and picked up old chests for a dollar or so and refinished them."

"After a while we had so many things we couldn't afford to change to modern."

"Besides we had gotten interested in the history and craftsmanship of antiques."

Mrs. Arlen gets most of her antiques in the east.

She has no store and brings the antiques back to show by appointment at her house, or in shows. Things she doesn't sell at the shows simply go back home, where as she says: "We live with them." . . .

200 members is the largest in the state.

Granges were organized nationally almost 100 years ago as a cooperative and social organization for farmers.

The Plymouth organization came into being about ten years later.

Since the town has swallowed up most of the old farms, very few of the members are still farmers.

The members are very loyal Mrs. Lloyd Fillmore joined in 1911. She was, of course, a very young girl at the time.

Sisters, Mrs. Jesse Tritton and Mrs. Louis Norman have been members since their teens.

Mrs. Norman, by-the-way, baked 100 dozen melt-in-your-mouth type chocolate chip oatmeal cookies for the Festival.

Sunday was family day . . . The Robert Shumans were there to relax and enjoy the chicken. Mrs. Shuman is president of the Jayceettes who helped their husbands at the sell out of the beef rib dinner Saturday night . . .

The Rotary Ann booth had their usual supply of goods made by the handicapped . . . "The sturdy doll furniture caused lots of admiration . . . Mrs. Frank Allison brought out the newest item, would you believe a knitted nose warmer? The warmers were enjoying a booming sales success as an aid against the brisk wintry winds we'll soon be having . . . It's all over, and it's time to sit back and relax, until the phone starts ringing and someone wants help on a project for next year.

Thursday morning Mrs. W. R. Augustine, Mrs. Charles Miller, Mrs. Robert Barbour, Mrs. William Bird and Mrs. Richard Newton were rushing around in slacks and old clothes helping dealers unpack and get ready for TV crews that would be arriving in the afternoon to take pictures of the Antique Mart.

Things were going along just fine when the TV crews arrived at 9:45 a.m. Undaunted our ladies went ahead dusting and arranging in front of the cameras as if they were on TV every day of their lives . . .

C. R. Hill of Plymouth's Manor Hill made the Antique Mart a success for one lady from Taylor. She spied a doll sized toy electric stove circa 1920.

"My sister has one of these, and I've been looking for one for my little girl," she explained. "When my sister and I were little we used to have great fun cooking toast and hot chocolate on the stove."

Five dollars for the stove was a small price to pay for happiness.

Not all prices were such bargains . . . If you think the clothes for the Barbie dolls are expensive, what would you think of $95, for a doll one foot high?

She was made in 1890, has a bisque china head, pierced ears and kid body . . .

You'd think women as busy as the business and professional women wouldn't have time to stage a major event in the Fall Festival.

Not so, they put on a German dinner, and made all those German chocolate cakes, from scratch. All the members were on their honor not to use a mix . . .

"Be sure to mention the Grange people . . . Don't forget the Grange . . . Over and Over people kept saying that."

We couldn't have cooked our dinner without them, said the women from BPW.

They've been a terrific help, said the women who staged the Antique Mart.

Feather flower ideas from the Garden Club

The talented members of the Garden Club whipped up attractive displays out of bits of ribbon and feathers for the Fall Festival.

For those who didn't get a chance to see the demonstrations at Leo Clahoun Ford, Mrs. James Gilbert gives some tips on making feather flowers.

Artistry in feathers is an old art, newly popular.

Today's feather flowers are glamorous. The colors are brilliant and exotic, yet the texture softens them so that they do not seem harsh.

The materials needed are floral wire, floral tape and plenty of gay feathers. Also needed are either styrofoam balls or very thin wire purchased on spoons.

Mrs. Gilbert says these materials are available at Frank's Nursery or a hobby shop.

The feathers can be gotten at a turkey farm, by simply going over and picking them up.

Feathers must be washed in detergent and warm water. This cuts the natural oil and grease in the feathers.

They can then be dyed with Rit or any good water soluble dye. Test one feather first to be sure that the right shade is obtained.

After dyeing, tie feathers in bunches and hang to dry. Or put feathers in a pillow case, baste the open end closed and dry in the dryer.

After the feathers are dry, steam to make fluffy and easy to work with. How to curl:

Curling soft quilled feathers is no problem. Merely use a kitchen knife or scissors and pull edge along the back of the quill, as you would curl a ribbon. Repeat as many times as necessary to produce the curl needed.

Stubborn feathers may be steamed to soften the quill, or quill may be cut or broken with a knife every quarter inch or so on the back side to force it to curl.

Two different ways to make flowers:

1. Curl the feathers around a styrofoam ball. Make a hook in a long piece of floral tape and put it through the ball to make the stem. The hook keeps the wire from slipping through the ball.

2. Poke holes near the bottom of the ball, going completely around it. An ice pick or the point of a scissors may be used to poke the holes.

Put feathers in the holes. Repeat this row about a quarter of an inch higher on the ball. Continue doing this until the ball is covered.

The floral wire, which makes the stem, should be covered with floral tape. This helps secure it to the ball, and gives the flower a finished look.

The stem can be cut any length desired.

After the flower is made, the feathers should be tied around the ball overnight, so they will stay curled over the ball.

Another way to make flowers is to wire two feathers together, laying them flat and winding thin wire around the bottom of the quills. Wind the wire around the quills several times, and it will not be necessary to tie the wire.

Do this with several sets of two flowers. The wire is flexible and makes it easy to bend the feathers up into a flower shape.

When you have several sets of flowers wired together put them on top of each other, bend them up and wire the whole thing together, going over and under the center of the flower.

About six sets of two feathers makes a nice full flower. Then hook a piece of floral wire over the center of the flower.

Cover the wire with floral tape, to give the stem a finished look. The individual flowers may be used in any sort of arrangement desired.

Citizens group reports on study of Plymouth vocational education

A comprehensive survey of Plymouth's vocational education has been completed under the direction of assistant superintendent William Harding.
The purpose of the study, which was conducted by the General Advisory Committee for Vocational Education, was to study manpower needs, training, new programs, and the current vocational offerings.
The Committee was further charged to find ways to improve all areas.
Comments included:
(1) Most participants were satisfied or impressed with present vocational education facilities.
(2) Those who expressed concern about facilities were disappointed in the machine shop, retailing, and the present general shop stations. Their disappointments were based on both the size of the rooms and equipment.
(3) Vocational guidance personnel must work more closely with teachers to stress to students the importance of attitudes toward work, appearance, and basic reading and writing skills needed for successful employment.
(4) Participants now feel that the appraisal of the present vocational education program has been completed. Work in small groups in certain areas might be indicated. Areas that were mentioned most often included machine shop and business education.
Recommendations for the coming school year were also made:
1. School administrators and department chairmen in the vocational areas should devise ways of improving communication between the employers and themselves.
2. Junior and senior high school counselors should become more knowledgeable about occupational information.
(3) High School counselors and vocational teachers should meet to plan ways that school employees could do more than what is presently being done to help students improve their attitude toward work, manners and personal appearance.
Recommendations that should be implemented as soon as possible:
(1) When an opening occurs in the present high school counseling staff, consideration be given to a qualified person from the vocational field. This person should possess the necessary requirements of counseling and guidance and have a teaching background in the vocational field.
(2) When a second high school is operating, consideration should be given for a Director of Vocational Education who would coordinate programs for the Plymouth Community School District. He would also be held responsible for working with department chairmen to design programs.
(3) When additional rooms are constructed at the present high school, one room should be designed to teach retailing.

Fr. VanAntwerp new head at St. Johns Seminary

Reverend Eugene I. VanAntwerp, son of a one-time Detroit mayor, is the new rector of St. John's Catholic Seminary on Five Mile Rd.
St. John's is the only seminary in Michigan offering the final four years of training before ordination.
Father Edward J. Hogan, rector for the past seven years, will take Father Van Antwerp's place as spiritual director of St. Patrick's seminary in San Francisco.
Father Van Antwerp was born and raised in the Detroit area. His brother, Daniel is presently a candidate for Recorders Court, and another brother, Joseph, is the mayor of Cheboygan.
Ordained a priest in 1942, Father Van Antwerp was the spiritual director of St. Patrick's for the past three years. Before that he was assigned to St. Mary's Seminary in Baltimore for 12 years.
Seminary training resumed last Saturday, with an enrollment of 164 students.
Father Van Antwerp is the third rector of St. John's since its opening in 1949. The first was Father Lyman Fenn, followed by Father Hogan. They, like the faculty members, are Sulpician priests.

How citizens groups help Plymouth build better schools

to several Plymouth citizens which explained, in part: "This group when organized and under way will provide a means for bringing about the combined thinking of representatives of parent groups, building faculties, school principals, the Board of Education and others interested in educational problems facing the community. It is hoped that this group will open lines of communication with the neighborhood schools and the representatives will report back to constituent groups."

The first meeting of the Plymouth School Community Planning Group was held November 20, 1951, in the high school and thus began a procedure that has continued to the present Citizens' Committee on Facilities. Carvel Bentley, present high school principal, was elected chairman of the initial committee, and Mrs. Esther Franklin served as secretary.

Meeting monthly during the school year, the group established its immediate needs and began systematically to solve them. The first problems included: (1) a survey of the growth patterns of the Plymouth area, and (2) a new physical education addition to the high school.

Response to the invitation to serve was excellent and best indicated by the fact that 26 citizens volunteered at the first meeting with attendance almost perfect at each meeting. Many times the meetings, open to the public, were attended by more than 60 members and guests.

School population at that time was 1,455 elementary students, 368 junior high and 825 senior high students. There were 1,103 pre-schoolers to plan for. The school district operated three elementary schools in 1951; Bird, Smith and Starkweather. The junior and senior high students were located in one building, the present high school building.

How did a group of citizens, parents for the most part, some teachers and school principals, begin to learn the problems of a school system?

"Russell Isbister helped us a great deal," remembers Harold Fischer, director of the Plymouth Area Planning Commission. Fischer served on the Plymouth School Community Planning Group in the early 1950's.

"Russ was a great one for planting ideas and for guiding us in our work," Fischer said. "We did a great amount of leg work to get the research on programs and plans in other school systems. We used this information as a base for making our recommendations to Russ and the school board."

As the months progressed, the citizen volunteers began to warm to their task. One of their most important steps, a step which was described by Superintendent Isbister in his expression of hope for communication, came near the end of the first year. In April, the committee decided it was advisable to formally report to the public on their findings and recommendations.

A special meeting was called for April 15, 1952, and invitations were sent to every service organization, township official, city official, lodges and newspapers to attend.

To these opinion leaders of the community, the committee explained their work and outlined the needs and costs of the school system. They thus laid the groundwork, by informing the public, on the need for more money for school facilities and site purchases. The schools received a favorable vote from the community in the May elections of 1952. A precedent had been set.

Succeeding years and continuing efforts of the School Community Planning Group brought invaluable studies into such areas as curriculum planning and development, facilities, financing, site locations, teacher relations, and plan of organization of school levels. They also worked on street safety, the naming of new schools, granting of special diplomas to Korean War veterans, and special education planning.

Step by step, the committee aided the course of the school system and, through communication with the community, they continued to keep the public abreast of the state of the school system. As a result, says Earl West, of West Brothers Mercury, who served on the early citizen committees, Plymouth schools have enjoyed "better facilities and teaching results than some of our neighbors."

"I think our schools have done a better job in totally meeting the needs of the community," West said. "They have been especially strong in music and art." Two years following the initial success for tax money for schools, the committee reported a need for a new junior high school to house 1,000 students in 1954.

The need would be acute by 1956-57, they advised the Board and the public.

"We worked very hard and traveled to many other cities when we were working on the junior high school research in 1954," said Harold Fischer, chairman of that committee. "We visited Mt. Clemens and Grosse Pointe. We talked to experts at the University of Michigan. We received reports from the Michigan Department of Education and from New York."

"We recommended that the school system adopt a 6-3-3 plan of organization and build a junior high school for 1,000 students," Fischer said.

That was in 1954. The school system was on a 6-6 plan and junior and senior high school students occupied the same building, the present high school, although they had separate administrative and teaching staffs.

Part of the citizen's committee's recommendations to the board was a millage increase of 4 mills to pay for the new junior high school. Voters approved the request.

"We were instrumental in having the first $3 million approved for school buildings," Fischer said. "Half went for the junior high school and $500,000 each was spent for two new elementary schools." The citizens' work went on.

September of 1954 saw greater effort in the study of school organization, curriculum and plant needs. The street safety problem continued to occupy a major portion of the group's time but taxes became the top concern.

In April of 1960, with the minute study and detailed recommendation of the citizen's group under Dr. Fred Foust, a plan was suggested for a continuing building program financed by increasing to 5 mills an existing 2 1/2 mill building and site levy. Gerald Fischer, current president of the Plymouth Board of Education, was chairman of the sub-committee making this recommendation.

The problem they solved was in programming a low cost facility plan for the district for the following five years.

"We sought to establish a base from which to evaluate and recommend a financial plan," Gerald Fischer recalls. "Our plan became a pay-as-you-go plan rather than bonding. We recommended the five mills to build a $2-1/2 million building and site sinking fund using short term notes with low interest rates. Through this method we actually built the second junior high school with a net interest cost of zero." Citizen participation continued to play an important role in school planning but the character of the schools began to change in the late 1950's.

Expansion of the district in geographical size and the rapid increase in population growth brought a need for quicker action.

"A weakness developed in our advisory group," said Russell Isbister. "Too often professional educators dominated the thinking and planning of the group and frequently we spent time on problems that were secondary to the immediate needs of a larger, more complex school system."

"In other words," Isbister said, "we had to revise our citizens' advisory committee approach just as they had revised the community approach to school planning ten years earlier."

The answer became a citizen's committee appointed by the board for specific projects. The best community talent was invited to serve on these project committees. They were charged with detailed evaluation and recommendations in such school planning areas as was recently completed by the Citizens' Facility Committee.

They were asked to do their work thoroughly and precisely but in a shorter period of time and always in the best interests of the entire community.

The results of the citizens' work has been self-evident over the years. Speaking of the initial committee, Earl West said "The help we gave to the school administration 15 years ago was the equivalent of triple their full time staff. Citizen help has been the most important factor in keeping our schools ahead of our neighboring communities."

Echoing West's comments, Harold Fischer said, "Citizen participation is a must."

The new approach to citizen-school assistance is receiving an immediate test. Growth came faster than even the thoroughness of mid-1950's research anticipated. New schools and additions are needed faster than the 5 mill building and site sinking fund assessment can meet.

Permafrost

Nearly one-fourth of the earth's surface is permanently frozen ground. Scientific observations suggest that permafrost, as it is called, extends to 1,500 feet deep in northern Alaska and Canada, and even deeper in northern Siberia.

ENTERTAINMENT at the annual Fall Festival was highlighted this year by the appearance of the Monte Carlo Dance Studio class members, including Dennis McVittie from Plymouth, far left.

Pet show-lots of fun, lots of winners

Following in the path of every event of the 10th annual Fall Festival, the pet show Saturday morning attracted a total of more than 170 entries, largely ever according to Director Herb Woolweaver.

And there was more interest this year than ever before, especially on the part of parents, Matter of fact, the pet show was labeled for the kiddies but it was hard to determine whether it was a parent or child exhibiting the pet. Both were hard at it grooming the pets and doing everything possible to win one of the three ribbons.

There was one consolation for all young exhibitors, each received a free pass for the Penn Theater. The parents had to be content with what ever prizes their pet won.

"We are extremely pleased with the interest this year," said Woolweaver. "It certainly is gratifying to see the tremendous interest shown by parents who got right down with their children to make the pets as attractive as possible."

The judging was conducted by a panel of three including: Dr. Marion Weberlein, Dr. Richard Kerchatter and Bill Baumgartner.

John Close served as announcer and master of ceremonies and Mrs. Sharon Andrews was clerk of course, recording all entries and prize winners.

Plymouth Township Minutes

PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP BOARD OF TRUSTEES
SPECIAL MEETING - AUGUST 30, 1966

Mrs. Oren Millard and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morley who live on Lilley Road.

The meeting was called to order by the Supervisor at 7:40 p.m.

MEMBERS PRESENT: John D. McEwen, Helen Richardson, Elizabeth Holmes, Louis Norman, Ralph Garber, Gene Overholt.

MEMBERS ABSENT: Dick Lauterbach

ALSO PRESENT: Ralph W. Cole, Herald F. Hamill, William Burr, L. John Miller, Fred Honke, Ernest Honke, Carlus Maas, Matt McLellan, Irving Rozian, Preston Clemons.

ITEM NO. 1 - DISPOSITION OF TABLED AND ADJOURNED BUSINESS

1. Condemnation proceedings for easements on Tramp Hollow Sanitary Sewer Project.

Attorney, Ralph Cole advised the Board that he had obtained signed easements by Mr. Scholnick and the title holder on the Tramp Hollow Sanitary Sewer Project. Supervisor, McEwen, asked direction from the Board as to starting condemnation proceedings against Consumers Power Company as these easements are unsigned. Mr. Preston Clemons was in the audience representing Consumers Power Company and advised the Board that he was desirous of setting up a meeting with men from their company, Herald Hamill and the Supervisor to reconcile and resolve the signing of the easements in question. After a short discussion; it was determined that a meeting would be held at the Plymouth Township Hall at 9:30 a.m. on Thursday, September 1, 1966 for the above mentioned parties. Supervisor McEwen requested the Township Attorney to be present at this meeting. A motion by Ralph Garber, supported by Gene Overholt that in the event that the Township is unable to arrive at a satisfactory agreement for an easement with Consumers Power Company before September 10, 1966, that a Special meeting be called for the purpose of starting condemnation proceedings against Consumers Power Company for the construction of a Sanitary Sewer. Carried unanimously.

2. Planning Commission Appointments.

This item was put aside until later in the evening.

3. Recommendation of William Burr regarding the Panel Truck for the Fire Department.

Mr. Burr stated that the lowest bid (Ford) in the amount of $2239.00 did not meet specifications; especially in body size. The intermediate bid (General Motors) would, in the amount of $2475.00, not have the panel truck available until 1967.

The higher bid (Chevrolet-Wink Chevrolet Company) in the amount of $2642.00 could deliver within a week to ten days and met the specifications requested by the Public Service Director and as advertised.

Mr. Miller was present from Wink Chevrolet and answered questions about the truck and had another model (step van) with him that Mr. Burr had seen and found more desirable. In addition to this vehicle, Mr. Burr had asked the City of Plymouth to drive their panel truck out so the Board members could look both vehicles over and decide which would be the better one to purchase. Supervisor McEwen recessed the meeting at 8:05 p.m. so all members could step outside and view the vehicles. The Board reconvened at 8:15 p.m. and Mr. Burr was requested to make his recommendation and preferred the step van but due to the necessity of readvertising for bids on the more expensive model, he recommended the Board purchase the panel truck. A motion was made by E. Holmes, supported by G. Overholt that the Township Board of Trustees accept Director Burr's recommendation to purchase the Chevrolet panel truck as bid by Wink Chevrolet in the amount of $2642.00. Carried unanimously.

4. Discussion on Additional Manpower for Fire Department.

Mr. Burr once again pointed out the necessity to have more firemen so as to enable him to have two men on the apparatus, men to inspect hydrants and stated that most times it is most difficult to get volunteers to assist in the daytime hours. The consensus of the Board members is that the money was not budgeted for these extra men and there just isn't money available for such expenditures. Director Burr pointed out that House Bill #256 states that the Township can levy up to two mills without going to the vote of the people, if the money is used for Fire and Police protection. Supervisor McEwen requested that the Township Attorney look into the House Bill and notify the Board of his findings. It was moved by Ralph Garber, supported by Louis Norman that this item be tabled for further study. Carried unanimously.

5. Discussion on Pension Program for Firemen.

Supervisor McEwen advised Director Burr that much thought and consideration had gone into a Pension Plan for both the Firemen and the regular Township employees at the 1966 Budget Hearings and steps had already been taken to investigate costs of such a plan from the Travelers Insurance Company. On a motion by Gene Overholt, supported by Louis Norman, it was decided that the Clerk write to Michigan Township Association regarding a Pension Program and that this item be tabled for a special meeting in October. Carried unanimously.

6. Discussion on William Burr's request for additional hydrants.

Supervisor McEwen requested Elizabeth Holmes to check on prices of hydrants with two steamer connections, compared with hydrants with one steamer opening and two points. This was tabled until the September 13, 1966 meeting. If, at this time, there is no sizeable difference in cost, Engineer Hamill will be asked to request two steamer connections in all new subdivisions. Director Burr requested mains and hydrants for Burning Tree Lane and Plymouth Hills. Supervisor, McEwen, stated the Board had hopes to bring water to some outlying areas of the Township.

7. Discussion on transfer of Plumbing Permits from our present Inspector to Herbert Smith.

Much discussion was held regarding this transfer and Matt McLellan was present in the audience and was asked his opinion on this action. He stated that he would feel better and the Township would be protected if Mr. Smith take the State Examination for Plumbers. A motion by Louis Norman, supported by Ralph Garber, stated that the Supervisor request the State to give a Plumbing Inspectors qualifying test to Herbert Smith of the Building Department and that this item be tabled until September 13, 1966 regular meeting. Carried unanimously.

8. Request for tap to the Township Sanitary Sewer by Mr. and Engineer Hamill spoke in regard to this request and states that the manholes are all in and plans made to place the sewer in the front of these homes and that much discussion has been held on this particular property over the past year or so and it is now a little late for the petitioner to change their minds as to where they would like the sewer. It was moved by Ralph Garber, supported by Louis Norman that sewer taps be granted on Lilley Road to the petitioners in accordance with current plans and recommendations as the Township Engineer shows these installations on Lilley Road.

9. Discussion on the Proposed Expressway. (Communications from Atlas Engineer's, Inc., and Merchant Machine Tool Company, Inc. on Shearer Drive)

Supervisor McEwen pointed out that we had received another letter from the Macer Manufacturing Company on Shearer Drive and all three letters were along the same vein of thought. He requested the Clerk to read one of the letters. Irving Rozian was present to enlighten the members and those in the audience as to what is being done to possibly reroute the Expressway. He said that Maurice Breen had requested that Mr. Rozian chair a sub-committee to see what compromises could be made and Mr. Breen was going to assist him on this committee. They feel the best way is to have a meeting with such people as the St. Johns Seminary, Salem Township, Ford Motor Company, Chesapeake and Ohio Railway, Wayne County Road Commission, Consumers Power Company and the Area Planning Commission. Supervisor McEwen volunteered to assist M. Breen and I. Rozian on this sub-committee and thereby setting up a meeting date and notifying the Board on September 13, 1966. Mr. Rozian asked two questions of the Board and asked the Board to authorize the Township Attorney to check on these. Those questions being: What power of law do we have under the 701 program and where would we stand if we incorporated into the City of Plymouth Heights between now and when the expressway is built? Elizabeth Holmes moved, supported by Gene Overholt that the Attorney be authorized to check the legal questions regarding the expressway as submitted by Irving Rozian. Carried unanimously.

10. Fire Prevention Code.

Supervisor McEwen, Attorney Ralph Cole and Director Burr had met, discussed and changed the Fire Prevention Code and new copies had been drawn up with each member receiving same before the meeting. Some questions were asked and a few changes made. Ralph Garber moved, supported by E. Holmes, that new copies be made with the corrections and resubmitted to the Township Board members for their consideration and approval at the next regular Township Board meeting on September 13, 1966. Carried unanimously.

11. Request that unexpended funds from the former Fire Administration Board Budget (Account #478) General Fund, be transferred to Auxiliary equipment and maintenance (Account #536) Fire Department.

Director Burr stated that due to his error, the agenda should read a request to transfer unexpended funds from Act. # 478 - Fire Administration Board and Act. # 535 - Equipment and Maintenance to Act. # 536 - Auxiliary Equipment and Maintenance. Discussion was held as to whether this could be done and why it should be done when there is approximately $2,000.00 left in Act. # 536. The item was tabled until Director Burr prepares a list of equipment that is needed by the Fire Department and presents the list to the Township Board for review and study.

12. Report on the request of Plymouth Colony's residences petition for Detroit water.

Lengthy discussion was held as to what would be a fair price to offer the City of Plymouth for the Plymouth Colony's customers. Herald Hamill had presented a letter to the Township Board stating that it would cost the Township approximately $10,175.00 to bring the mains up to the Township standards. Ralph Garber moved, supported by Helen Richardson, to give authority to Elizabeth Holmes to contact the City of Plymouth offering them a price of $25,000 per water customer and the hydrants will be replaced by us and their hydrants returned to the City of Plymouth. Carried unanimously.

13. Approval of Utility Plans on the Leonard S. Herman Apartments.

It was moved by Helen Richardson, supported by Elizabeth Holmes that we accept Engineer Hamill's recommendations to approve the Utility Plans on the Leonard S. Herman Apartments, pending acceptance of easements. Carried unanimously.

14. Approval of Utility Plans on the Terrace Apartments.

It was moved by R. Garber, supported by E. Holmes that we accept Engineer Hamill's recommendations to approve the Utility Plans on the Terrace Apartments. Carried unanimously.

15. Extension of time for Don Gargaro Company and reduction of percentage of retainage.

It was moved by Gene Overholt, supported by Helen Richardson that we accept Engineer Hamill's recommendation to extend time for the Don Gargaro Company to September 15, 1966. Carried unanimously.

It was moved by Ralph Garber, supported by Elizabeth Holmes that we reduce the percentage of retainage from the 5% of the total contract to $10,000.00, (per a letter from the Board of County Road Commissioners) dated August 24, 1966 and per Engineer Hamill's recommendations. Carried unanimously.

On a motion by Ralph Garber, supported by Gene Overholt, the meeting was adjourned at 12:07 p.m.

After adjournment, discussion followed on the closing date of items to go on the agenda. The Clerk announced that in the future, all agenda items must be in the Clerk's hands by 5:00 p.m. the Thursday before the Board meeting or they will be held over until the next regular scheduled Board meeting.

Planning Commission appointments were also discussed, but no action taken.

Approved, John D. McEwen, Supervisor

Respectfully Submitted, Helen Richardson, Clerk

NDA student loans

Congressman Wes Vician

Many students who return to school this fall will be completing their education with the help of a National Defense Student Loan. Under the provisions of this Act, colleges and universities in our District will have available over two million dollars in loan funds this year.

This total includes funds for the University of Michigan, Eastern Michigan University, Monroe Community College, Adrian College and Marygrove College. I am hopeful that the quantities of loan funds available in our District will be significantly increased under the provisions of H.R. 14745. I was privileged to support this bill when it was passed by the House of Representatives, and am hopeful that it will soon be passed by the Senate and signed into law by the President.

Local colleges and universities participate in the National Defense Student Loan Program by signing a Terms of Agreement. This agreement sets certain stipulations for participation in the program and offers guidelines for the selection of students to receive the awards. The institutions must also, from their own resources, provide funds equal to at least one-ninth of the allocation given them by the government.

To be eligible for a National Defense Student Loan, an individual must be an accepted student in an undergraduate, graduate or professional program. In addition, he or she must be a United States citizen, or give evidence of intent to apply for citizenship. Students are selected for the loans according to both academic ability and need.

The government prefers that the allocated funds be divided among as many eligible applicants as is feasible. However, except in unusual circumstances, the final selection of applicants is left up to the individual colleges and universities.

Last year, the total amount of funds made available by Congress for NDEA loans was $179 million. Institutions are continuing to receive funds at this rate at the present time; but, assuming the Senate concurs with bills already passed by the House, the amount available will be increased by 7% this year to accommodate the rapid increase in the number of young people in our land.

Gifted young musicians boosted by Symphony

Since young musicians are the life blood of the Plymouth Symphony, the Community Fund of that city will continue its $2,000 support of the orchestra's scholarship program and Junior Symphony effort in 1967.

One of 13 agencies in the Community Fund, the Symphony will receive support from the United-Giving Campaign to be conducted October 10-November 4 for a goal of $88,543. Chairman of the fund drive is Edward W. Schening, plant manager for the Burroughs Corporation in Plymouth.

Unique among some 30 civic orchestras in Michigan because of Plymouth's comparatively small size, the Symphony can muster over 100 musicians to perform the most elaborately-scored works. And it's been doing it since its founding in 1945 as a string group. Important to the Symphony's growth and long history are the youth activities which have developed a "feeder system". Eighty-six scholarships - 12 of them extended this year - have sent outstanding young musicians to the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

Director Wayne Dunlap sees this experience as a "tremendous inspiration and impetus in their study of music".

Four years ago the Symphony Society began bringing groups of the Detroit Symphony to Plymouth to give free concerts in all elementary schools, including the parochial, and in the two junior high schools. These concerts - heard by about 3,000 students each year - are organized by the Symphony Society and the cost is shared with the various schools.

Giving young people an opportunity to gain orchestral experience, the Plymouth Junior Symphony has been popular for some 15 years. Its members gather each Saturday morning for several hours during the school year, and many of them are the most gifted and advanced young players in the area.

Talented youngsters not only may become regular members of the orchestra, but on numerous occasions they have been soloists or appeared in works requiring a youth chorus.

At each of its concerts, the Plymouth Symphony programs something which will have a special appeal to children, but one concert in particular is designed to attract the whole family and is therefore called the Family Concert. The theme of the 1967 Family Concert will be "Bells", and the Symphony will be joined on this occasion by the Spartan Bell ringers from Michigan State.

Six concerts each season are presented without charge. There is a charge for the annual Pop Concert.

About 20 per cent of the orchestra's income is from the Community Fund, the balance accruing from memberships, the Women's League "Pop" Concert, and the Symphony Christmas Ball.

Three facts about the Symphony mark it for continued success: its leadership is inspired; its youth programs have a wide appeal and provide impetus to young musicians; and its members - 26 of whom have served ten years or more - are dedicated.

As its school and Symphony musical organizations attest, Plymouth could well be re-named "Musictown, Michigan".

FORMAL GOWNS and tuxedos one day will replace the bluejeans of today's practicing Plymouth Junior Symphony members, for the organization feeds talented young musicians to the 100-member civic orchestra of Plymouth. This weekly activity, under the baton of Michael Endres, has had Plymouth Community Fund support for a number of years.

THEY WERE all smiles upon returning from the National Music Camp at Interlochen and wanted Edward W. Schening, Plymouth Community Fund chairman, to know of their appreciation for the training received. This was because they were five of 12 young musicians granted scholarships by the Fund. Showing Mr. Schening their achievement ratings are, left to right: Robert Leach, Craig Sincock, Karen Kreitsch, Phyllis Berry and James Warren.

VFW Auxiliary #6695

Auxiliary #6695 President Ann Smith accompanied by a group of officers and chairmen attended the 4th District meeting in Belleville.

If you have rummage to be picked up, please call Marion Skoglund before September 19. Hospital Co-chairman Marion Skoglund and seven other auxiliary members served a luncheon for approximately sixty people at the Ann Arbor VA Hospital September 6.

Time was also spent visiting with the patients, many of whom never receive visitors. Ten subscriptions of the National Geographic will be presented to the Hospital as a part of our Christmas program.

This is a magazine that is received with much approval and the additional copies will enable many more men to read it. A VFW motto is "We help ourselves by helping others." Thus we are very dedicated to our Community Service programs. What we do for the Community benefits us; what we fail to do reflects on us. Our objective is the building of better cities, towns and neighborhoods; better citizenship, better mutual understanding and unity in the American way of life. Some phases of community life we try to touch upon are: health and safety, fun and relaxation, patriotism in action for boys and girls, for better schools, for award to individuals, for the unfortunate, for cooperation with others, for raising funds, for assistance to churches, for helping Veterans and their dependents, for honoring the dead and for general community improvement.

The Auxiliary will be inspected October 18 by 4th District President Warren.

Well, when was it? And what did you see? Seems that a lot of us have the habit of letting our shoes reach the point of no return—where they really don't do much at all for our appearance.

What about you? When was the last time you checked your shoes? If it was too long ago, why not drop by our store soon for a look see and a try on. It might do wonders for your image!

FORMER PHS grid star Garry Grady was among the returning veterans to the Eastern Michigan Hurons as they began football practice September 1. Grady, one of 93 out for the varsity, chats with head Huron coach Jerry Raymond. Grady served double duty last season as a flanker back and punt return specialist.

Here's Rock fall schedule

Plymouth's eight game varsity football schedule begins Friday night, September 16, as the Rocks host Northville.

They then face Farmington on their home field Friday, September 23. The next five Fridays they meet the teams of the Suburban Six Conference.

The last game in November is with non-league foe Walled Lake.

Three junior high squads are also being organized. Wayne Welmer will coach the ninth graders. They open September 29, hosting Pearson, and will play a six-game schedule.

A seventh-eighth combination squad will drill at Junior High West under Norman Jacobs. That team's opening game is still undecided.

The eighth grade at Junior High East will also field a football team under Casey Cavell. They will travel to Pearson on September 29.

A six game schedule is planned.

3 letterwinners back on cross country team

A thin return of lettermen for the Plymouth cross country squad may spell trouble for coach John Sandmann.

The team opened practice last Wednesday with Doug Bates, captain Ken Evans and Fred Godwin back as the only lettermen.

Sandmann expects from 15 to 20 men out for the squad.

KICKING specialist Dale Livingston, junior from Plymouth, who last year booted eight of eleven field goals and five for five extra points for 29 and the team scoring title at Western Michigan University will be back again this year. The 6-3, 245-pounder, kicked a record 42-yarder in the Kent State game to gain a 10-10 tie and his three field goals in the Marshall game is a league record in the Mid American Conference. His eight field goals tied Bob Jencks of Miami of Ohio (1962) for a season output.

Tips from the STOP & SHOP CHEF Questions & Answers

Can eggs absorb the flavor of other foods?

As eggs are porous, they can and frequently do absorb the flavors of other foods. For this reason they should not be placed in the refrigerator too close to such foods as fish, highly seasoned meats, cheese, radishes, or onions. Eggs that have been stored near truffles, however, provide the basis for a magnificent omelet.
