

Left Turns Made Permanent--Until Next Fall

The much cussed and discussed no left turn signs on S. Harvey at W. Ann Arbor Trail, which were installed temporarily for a six week period during the Christmas shopping season, will remain up permanently.

That was the decision of the City Commission Tuesday after more than an hour of debate, discussion and disagreement that found suggestions ranging from removal, tabling, to the final decision.

Commissioner George Lawton sparked the lengthy talks when he raised the question of the fines assessed drivers arrested for making forbidden left turns during the trial period.

Lawton told the Commission that he had learned that fines of $15 had been ordered in addition to the driver receiving two points on his driving record for a moving violation.

"I would suggest that the Commission consider refunding these fines if there were a great many as I have been told," said Lawton.

Acting Police Chief Roger Vanderveen, when questioned, reported police officers had issued 10 tickets in a single day and an estimated total of between 25 and 30 during the crackdown.

The report to the Commission shows that the police department installed the "No left turn between 11 a.m. and 8 p.m." signs on Nov. 17 and then on Dec. 13 orders were issued to discontinue warnings and start enforcing the no left turn provisions.

City Manager Richard Blodgett, in a communication to the Commission, wrote that the signs were proving helpful in eliminating the congestion at the intersection. "They permit more traffic to pass through the intersection than was previously possible without the signs," he wrote in the report.

"Now that the signs have been up better than 30 days, it is necessary for the City Commission to take some sort of action to either approve them or order that they be removed.

"It is the City Manager's recommendation that they be approved for permanent installation. If this recommendation is followed, then we will purchase an additional sign to be hung from the signal light cable in the middle of the intersection."

Eventually, the Commission decided to approve the recommendation of the City Manager with the provision that the signs be permanent only until S. Harvey is widened.

Commissioner Arch Vallier was vehement in his protests that the present signs were not

Fischer, Campbell Help Settle Land Dispute

Thanks to the efforts of Harold Fischer, director of the Plymouth Community Planning Commission, and the H.F. Campbell Construction Co., which has erected several of the buildings in the city's Industrial Park on Plymouth Road, the City of Plymouth and the Wheel Trueing Co. are near agreement on disposition of the 7.76 acre site.

It was almost five years ago that Wheel Trueing made a deal with the City for the land with the provision that it must carry out its plans or turn the acreage back to the city.

The matter was more or less dormant until a year ago when Wheel Trueing officials appeared before the City Commission, told of plans for a building and indicated they would start work immediately.

The work did start and the shell of the building, which was being constructed by H. F. Campbell Co., was up when Wheel Trueing halted work and finally told the City Commission it had a change of heart and wanted out of the entire deal.

Thus, the brand new shell of the building has been sitting on the land for the past eight months while the City and Wheel Trueing haggled over a final settlement.

It appeared a hopeless situation until Fischer entered into the negotiations with Campbell and finally reached an agreement that has been approved by the Commissioners. It probably will be finalized as soon as a written confirmation of the verbal agreement is received by City Manager Richard Blodgett.

The agreement calls for Campbell to pay the City $10,000 upon the sale of 4.76 acres of the site. The remaining three acres will be turned over to the City for disposal with the provision that Campbell has a one year option to purchase one and a half acres at $10,000 per acre.

In an earlier meeting with the Commission to discuss the negotiations, Fischer reported that special interest had been placed on the sale of the land rather than to include the building as it exists on the property.

It was at that meeting the Commissioners determined a fixed price be placed at $10,000 per acre. The City reportedly has more than $30,000 invested in the property in improvements which include water and sewer. The Commissioners were insistent that the City receive every penny back and indicated this would be the case with the value at $10,000 per acre.

Fischer Sees Rating Improved For Bonds

Gerald Fischer, president of the Plymouth Community School Board, is confident that the school district's bond rating will be raised in the near future.

If the rating is raised from the present BAA rating, the district would almost definitely save thousands of dollars in interest payments on future bond issues.

Fischer and Melvin Blunk, assistant superintendent for business, visited Moody's and Standard and Poor's in New York — the two major rating companies — this past week. The companies were given packets of information on the financial condition and plans of the district.

Both firms were "extremely impressed," Fischer said. Moody's told Fischer that they would try to reach a decision by Jan. 20.

Three Schools Hit By Holiday Thefts

Burglars took hundreds of dollars in office equipment from three schools and a church in the Plymouth area over the holidays.

Largest amount stolen was from the Plymouth High School library, from which the burglars took a $300 copying machine, a tape recorder, a tape deck, a stereo turntable and cartridge.

Total cost of the equipment was estimated at $746.90. The burglars entered the building sometime between Dec. 22 and 31 through a window which they broke on the north side of the building, according to police. Police have no suspects at this time.

Earlier in the vacation period, school officials said nine clocks had been stripped from the walls of the high school. Additional break-ins were investigated by Wayne County

Michigan Is Tops In Federal Roads

Michigan still leads the nation in completion of Interstate freeways to full federal standards, the State Highway Commission reports.

Commission Vice Chairman Charles H. Hewitt of Detroit said Michigan has built 69 percent of its Interstate highway system to full standards. The average for all states is 41 percent.

As of Sept. 30, Hewitt said, Michigan had 741 miles of Interstate highways open to traffic that are built to full standards. When completed, Michigan will have 1,080 miles of Interstate freeways.

Sheriff at Allen School, Tanger School, and the Epiphany Lutheran Church. Breaking a window in the clinic for entrance at the Allen School, the burglars took a filmstrip projector and two record players from the vault, which they opened.

A door was forced open at Tanger School, from which a typewriter and an adding machine were taken.

Burglars took a typewriter and $103 in cash and checks from the Epiphany Lutheran Church on Five-Mile Road. Of the cash and checks taken, an estimated $50 was in cash. Entrance was achieved by breaking a glass in a door after the burglars were unsuccessful at forcing a window.

The sheriff's office said it had no leads on the break-ins.

1966 Man Is Sought By Jaycees

Who will be the Young Man of the Year in the Plymouth Community?

Your guess may be as good as the next fellow's, but the Plymouth Jaycees have begun the annual official search to locate him.

They are looking for a young man, between the ages of 21 and 36 who has given outstanding and meritorious service to church and his family.

When they find him they'll present him with their Distinguished Service Award, the highest honor within the realm of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Not only will he receive the award, but he will be entered in the national contest to compete for one of the 10 places in the United States Jaycees' event.

Blanks were placed in the mail a week ago by David McCormick, Chairman of the Jaycee Week Activities in Plymouth, with the warning that all must be in the hands of the Jaycee DSA Committee prior to midnight, Jan. 12. All nominations must be addressed to the Plymouth Jaycees, Box 279, Plymouth.

The judging committee will be made up of citizens of the community who will start the screening of all nominees on Jan. 14.

The "Man of the Year" award will be made at the annual DSA banquet on Thursday, Jan. 19 in the Skylight Room.

The 1965 winner follows in the footsteps of Wendell Smith, currently Michigan Jaycee President and a National Director who went on to become one of Michigan's 10 Young Men of the Year for 1965.

At the moment, Smith is considered in the running for selection as one of the 10 Young Men in the Nation for 1966.

School Bids $50,000 Below Estimated Cost

With bids almost $50,000 below the estimates of the architects, the Plymouth School Board Wednesday approved low bids for three of the four contracts for the new elementary school No. 8 which will be constructed on a site on Joy Road east of Haggerty Road.

The Board approved contracts for the architectural, electrical and food services on the recommendation of Architects O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach Inc.

However, the architects withheld a recommendation on the bid for the mechanical portion until they have a chance to check all figures.

Including the low mechanical bid, the bids totalled $603,205, compared to the estimate of $655,000.

Board members and representatives of the architectural firm were highly pleased with the bids. The cost of No. 8 will be considerably less than that of Tanger School, which opened for classes last fall, even though the buildings will be identical.

Board members pointed out that Tanger School was built in two sections and that boosted the costs. The new elementary school will be constructed under one contract.

The major contract, for the architectural work, went to Armstead Construction Co. of Dearborn, on a total bid of $401,465 including alternates No. 1 and No. 2.

Base bids of other companies included: Burger Construction Co. of Plymouth, $403,990; West Side Construction Co., $411,350; and Moriarty Construction Co., $447,800.

The electrical contract went to McGarvey Electric Co. of Detroit on a low bid of $43,492. Others included: Creative Co., $49,223; Shaw Electric Co., $49,700; Gillis Co., $51,945; Plymouth Electric Construction Co., $51,950; Folgmann Electric Co., $62,696.

The food services contract was awarded to F. D. Stella Products Co. of Detroit, on a bid of $16,500. Two others were submitted including: Canton China and Equipment Co., $16,700; and Harry Altman and Son, $17,552.

The bids for the mechanical contract found Thermo Co., of Detroit, submitting an offering of $143,750. It was the lowest of the eight but the architects advised the Board that they would like more time to study all of the bids before making a final recommendation. They indicated the report would be available at the Monday Board meeting.

The others were: Brady Plumbing and Heating Co., $145,450; A.N.J. Heating Co., $145,000; Evans Plumbing and Heating Co., $146,641; Gillies Co., $157,640; Redwold Co., $165,700; Birmingham Heating and Air Conditioning Co., $166,500; and O'Loughlin Co., $171,900.

"We are elated with the bids," said a spokesman for the architects. "There was keen competition for all contracts and the closeness of the bids in each division shows that the school board was right in the timing of advertisements for the work."

It is believed work will start as soon as possible after the contracts are signed since the target date for classes is fall of 1968.

Trucks Slower Than in 1965

LANSING — Although the legal freeway speed limit for trucks has been increased, their average speed has decreased, the State Highway Commission reports.

Truck speed limits on freeways were increased from 50 to 60 miles per hour in July. During October, State Highway Director Howard E. Hill said, the average speed of trucks traveling on freeways was 53.9 MPH, about three-tenths of a mile per hour less than the average of 54.2 MPH for trucks during the same month in 1965.

NEW MAN IN the City Manager's office is Steve Walters (left), the new administrative assistant to manager Richard Blodgett. Walters, who just received his M.P.A. from the University of Michigan, will be helping Blodgett in the coming weeks with compiling ordinances, budget preparation, and general management of the city's business.

Six Candidates Will Run For City Commission Posts

Four incumbents and two newcomers met the filing deadline Tuesday for the four posts on the City Commission, which will be up for election April 3.

Another person who filed, the Rev. Peter Schweitzer, assistant pastor at the First Methodist Church, was told he was ineligible because he did not own property in the city.

Since only six people filed, no primary will be held in February, but only the regular election April 3.

The City of Plymouth charter provides that there shall not be a primary unless there are more than twice the number of nominations as there are vacancies.

The four incumbents who have decided to run again are George Hudson, James Jabara, George Lawton, and Arch Vallier.

Other candidates are George R. Hunter, 335 Burroughs, and Alfred E. Johnson, 511 N. Holbrook.

Lawton had indicated more than once recently that he would not be a candidate for reelection, but late last week, after little interest had been shown by voters, petitions were taken out in his name.

A City Charter provision made Rev. Schweitzer's petition invalid and also would have voided a petition taken out for Charles C. Develder, 1142 Byron St. Develder did not file, but a ruling from City Attorney Thomas Healy said that he would not be eligible for the same reasons as Schweitzer.

The charter says a candidate must be, for a period of two years prior to the date of election or appointment to office, the owner of property located within and assessed for taxes by the city.

DuRay Stromback Comes Back Home

DuRay Stromback is back home.

After spending three years on the Pacific Coast where he was General Manager of the Burroughs plant in Pasadena, he came back to Plymouth during the holidays to take over a new position as Vice-President and General Manager of Manufacturing of the new Business Machines Group of the Corporation.

Before leaving for the coast he served as General Manager of the Plymouth plant. Prior to that he had come to Burroughs in 1949 and was named manager of engineering at the Plymouth plant in 1955. Three years later he moved up to plant manager and served in that capacity until he went west in 1964.

His latest promotion, announced by Board Chairman Ray Eppert, took effect on Jan. 1.

The latest changes came after Eppert earlier had the consolidation of Burroughs' two largest divisions in the United States into a single manufacturing and marketing organization called Business Machines Group.

The new group will include the domestic business machines manufacturing and engineering division and the equipment and systems marketing division.

Eppert indicated Burroughs will place all worldwide activities into four major groups. The others are: International Group, the Defense, Space and Special Systems Group and the Business Forms and Supplies Group. The latter, until recently, has been called the Graphic Systems Group.

In his new position, Stromback will be responsible for the domestic manufacturing and engineering activities of the new group, composed of Burroughs' two largest divisions, the equipment and systems marketing division and the domestic business machines manufacturing and engineering division.

Michael R. Capo has been appointed controller of the new group. He remains as assistant controller of the corporation, a position he has held since 1963.

The manufacturing and engineering division produces electronic data processing systems and equipment in plants in Pasadena and in the Tireman Ave. plant in Detroit, electronic and electro-mechanical accounting machines and systems in the company's largest plant in Plymouth and small parts in a plant on Schaefer Ave. in Detroit.

The marketing division has been engaged in selling the wide range of Burroughs business machines, from adding machines, to computer systems, to commerce, industry and government through its 14 district and 170 branch and area sales

Steering Committee Considers Five Centennial Projects

Choice Due In Week

The Steering Committee for the proposed Centennial celebration later this year has five projects under consideration from which one will be recommended to serve as a lasting memory of the big event.

The Committee spent several hours pouring over the various projects on Thursday evening and Chairman Joseph Tarantino has let it be known that a recommendation and complete plans for a single project will be made to the Mayor and City Commission on Tuesday evening, January 10, in Plymouth City Hall.

The five projects studied and discussed included:

1—Building of a Historical Museum.

2—Publishing a professionally written "hard book" history of the Plymouth Community.

3—Establishment of a Youth Center.

4—Establishment of a full scale skating rink.

5—Beautification of Kellogg Park.

Those favoring the building of a historical museum have suggested, with a bow to the senior citizens, that it be a one-floor structure, modeled after the Public Library, on the other side of City Hall and make the center a complex of three buildings.

The Committee already has looked at the church building opposite Kellogg Park for possible use as a Youth Center, and several sites have been viewed as possible location of the proposed skating rink.

Most of all the committee also favored the beautification of Kellogg Park, regardless of what other project is chosen.

While nothing can be done until the plans are presented to the City Commission, there is some sentiment that the Centennial Celebration should open on the Anniversary date early in Spring, continue through Michigan Week, the Fourth of July and close with the annual Fall Festival.

WHEN DONA AMANN, 5, left, and her sister, Dawn, 4, visit their grandparents from now on, they'll have a whole house to play with — a doll house, that is. The house was a gift to them from their grandfather, William Harrison, 965 Lotz Road, Canton Township. The girls are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Amann, 32147 Florence, Garden City.

Inspired Grandfather Has His Wish Granted

For three years William Harrison has been watching his little grand-daughters grow and every time they came to visit him at 965 Lotz Road in Canton Township he would look at them and wonder what he could do to bring joy and happiness into their young lives.

"You see," he said, "their mother was killed in an auto accident up in St. Paul just about three years ago and I had a sort of special feeling for them."

"Their mother was a grand person and everytime I look at Dona, who is five years old, and Dawn, who is four, I sort of see my daughter and I know she'd be so proud of them."

During these three years not a day went by at his work on the gas and oil wells owned by Consumers Power Company that he didn't wonder just what he could do for them—something that would live with them for the rest of their lives and something by which they could remember their grandfather.

"I thought of so many things," he explained, "but one by one I tossed them aside. Then, it seemed, I was groping for an idea and I began to feel just a bit badly that I hadn't been able to come up with something."

Here he stumbled a bit and a bright gleam came into his eye as he continued to unfold his story.

"Sometime ago," he pointed out, "I went down to Washington and while there, like most people, I visited the Smithsonian Institute. I was walking along leisurely when, all of a sudden, my eye caught the sight of a doll house. You must have seen it, if you've ever been down there. And, at that moment, I said to myself,

"That's it. I'll build them a doll house and it'll be the kind they can keep and always remember."

On his return home he started the building and worked on it in his spare time. He used cedar shingles for most of the construction and sheets from wall paper sample books for the wall covering. And, shortly before the joyful holiday season it was completed.

"It is 62 inches long," he explained with a twinkle in his eye, "and it has eight rooms. Each room is 16 inches deep and it is five feet high. It sure is a dandy."

"And those two little girls just loved it. Their father, who is happily married again, brought them over to see it and the big grins on their faces was reward enough for their old grandfather."

"They'll always have something to remember me by," he concluded with a sigh, "and I feel I have done something my daughter, Beverly Jean, would have liked, too, had she lived."

It was a holiday season little Dona and Dawn never will forget — and neither will their grandfather.

Adult Courses Offered

Courses ranging from labor-management relations to the identifying of edible Michigan mushrooms will be offered at three Washtenaw County locations beginning in February by the University Center for Adult Education (UCAE).

Fourteen of the courses will be taught at Eastern Michigan University, 12 at Ann Arbor High School and three at the University of Michigan. UCAE is a joint educational project of EMU, U-M and Wayne State University.

Courses to be taught at EMU are: Understanding Labor-

Management Relations; The Employee; Effective Reading and Writing for Personnel Managers; The Executive Secretary; Effective Business Writing; Fundamentals of English Usage and Composition; Elements of Logic; Motors, Generators and Magnetic Devices; Interior Decoration for the Home; Dressmaking for Beginners; French for Travelers; Reading Efficiency; England and America; and Response to Poetry.

At Ann Arbor High courses will be offered in Production Control; English for Non-native Speakers; Great Artists and Their Patrons; The Search for Meaning in Literature; General Semantics; Interior Decoration for the Home; Michigan Mushrooms; Michigan Birds; A Survey of Data Processing; Computer Programming I; Early American Furniture Decorations; and Fundamental Techniques in Recorder Playing.

Three courses in art will be taught at the U-M — Drawing and Color Sketching, Techniques of Water Color, and Intermediate and Advanced Oil Painting.

Tuition for the various courses ranges from $17 to $60, with the exception of the English course for non-native speakers, which is free. Registration will be held the week of Feb. 6-11, and all courses will begin the week of Feb. 13.

Further information may be obtained by calling or writing the UCAE office at Eastern Michigan University, 1172 Cornell Rd., Ypsilanti, Mich. 481-97. The telephone number is 482-2920.

Madonna College Contemplates Survey To Determine Need For Co-Ed School

Inspired by the number of men enrolled in the special evening classes, Madonna College is contemplating a survey to determine the possibility of making the school a co-educational institution.

"We are set up for a co-educational school," Sister Lauriana, dean of students, explained, "and it wouldn't be difficult to make the change."

She admitted surprise at the number of men, some of whom are GIs, enrolled in the special adult evening classes.

"I find this development most interesting," she confided, "and as long as we can help provide an education or some one that is what we are here for."

She didn't place a target date on the survey, other than to say that it was contemplated and, if taken, the results would have to be studied thoroughly before a decision was made.

As she spoke, her attention was attracted to the number of students registering for the new semester.

While the group was pleasing it wasn't as large as it should have been, considering that students in private schools, under certain conditions, are eligible for student aid from the state.

"Last year" Sister Lauriana pointed out, "70 of our 89 freshmen class members received state aid. Of course, it was the first year under the state aid plan, and these girls already were enrolled in the school."

"I imagine the reason the groups are not larger now is the possibility that most folks don't understand the state grant in aid program."

"They become confused with the term 'effective income', she continued.

The amount of grant is determined by the annual 'effective income' of the student's family—and this means that if the income is $10,000 or less, after deductions are made for such things as dependents, family expenses and other variables, the student is eligible.

"Most of them now believe that to be eligible the family income must be less than $10,000 in its entirety. This is wrong—and I only wish there were more avenues open to let them know."

Sister Lauriana didn't mention it, but it has been learned that there is close to $2,000,000 in the state fund at the moment. Last year only 25 per cent of the grant was given out.

The deadline for aid next fall is Jan. 15 and the Madonna officials are hopeful that many more will apply for aid. Madonna is set up to handle close to 500 students in the dormitories and little more than half of the facilities are being utilized.

Application forms for the state grant in aid can be had by applying to Madonna, even though you don't have to make final choice of the school you wish to attend until after the amount of aid is determined.

All Aliens Requested To Register

Walter A. Sahli, District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service offices in Michigan advised today that the annual alien address report program is again under way, and that Governor George Romney has designated the month of January as "Alien Address Report Month."

According to Mr. Sahli, 130,000 aliens reported their addresses last year in the State of Michigan. The number this year is expected to be slightly larger.

The immigration official pointed out that the address reports are required by law and willful failure to comply with these requirements may lead to serious consequences.

Forms with which to make the reports are available at all Post Offices and Immigration and Naturalization Service offices. It is an easy matter to fill out one of the cards and return it to the same office.

Course Set For Property Managers

A course in the everyday problems of property management for the experienced manager and the beginner will be given in Ann Arbor this winter.

"Real Estate Management," a required course in The University of Michigan's program leading to a Certificate in Real Estate, will meet for 16 sessions on Tuesdays, beginning February 7, from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. in Room 140, Graduate School of Business Administration, Monroe at Tappan.

Students may register in Room 105, Graduate School of Business Administration, 6:45 to 8:00 p.m. Tuesday, February 7, or at 412 Maynard Street, 10:00 to 5:00 p.m., Monday through Friday, beginning January 9. Registration will also take place at the first class session.

Earl Wise Joins Accounting Group

The Oakland County Chapter of the National Association of Accountants has elected a new member from Plymouth. He is Earl D. Wise of 15032 Maplewood Lane, who is a Budget Analyst for Ford Motor Company - Livonia Transmission Plant. Mr. Wise attended Henry Ford Community College and Eastern Michigan University and majored in Industrial Management.

MOVES UP: Donald L. White who came to Evans Products rail car plant last August, has been moved up to plant superintendent, according to an announcement by Arthur J. Bjork, manager of the company's rail car plant.

Why All The Apathy Toward Public Office?

What is there about holding public office that causes a vast majority of the people to shy away from rendering this type of service to a community?

This question came to the fore again last Tuesday afternoon at City Hall when only six candidates filed petitions to run for the four terms that are expiring on the City Commission — and four of them were the incumbents.

Meanwhile, in another section of the city several groups were meeting to lay plans for the Plymouth Centennial and the beautification and improvement of the central business district. And you'd have to go a long way to find more enthusiasm than was shown by these volunteer groups.

Plymouth is most fortunate in having among its citizens many who welcome the opportunity to help in any type of civic function. They'll work long hours with a smile. They'll endure hardships to do their share of the volunteer work. They'll sacrifice time with their families so that such things as the Community Fund Drive are a success.

They're working now to make certain that the Centennial later in the year is a success. And mind you, this is not just a few, but much of the industrial, professional and business life of the community.

Why then, the apathy toward holding public office?

Ask most any of these men who give of their time and talent on a volunteer basis why they don't seek public office and give of their ability and experience to the building of a finer city and, invariably, you will hear them say, "I don't want to get mixed up in that."

Holding public office is a privilege and those who sit in high places and make our laws and guide our communities should be looked upon with respect.

But somewhere along the line the image of a public servant has been tarnished. How else can you account for the apathy that showed its ugly head in the coming competition for four seats on the city's top governing body?

There's another side to the perplexing problem, too. How do you suppose the incumbents feel when so few are interested in running for the office?

Some years ago, in the city of Livonia, the members of Council had worked long and hard in preparing a budget. They looked forward to the evening of the public hearing as it would afford an opportunity to tell the people just how their money was going to be spent.

But, lo, on the evening of the budget hearing, only two citizens appeared. The Council members sat amazed.

"Don't the people care how their money is spent?" one Council member asked, "or is their absence a token of confidence that we will spend it properly? I only wish I knew."

The apathy was puzzling then. It is puzzling now in the City Commission race.

Could it be that when you work on a volunteer basis on such things as Community drives, beautification programs, or some such projects, you have a goal in sight with reasonable chances of reaching it, while in public office the work is never finished?

What do you think?

There's Excitement All Around in 1967

Now that the holiday celebration is but a memory and the decorations have been tucked away for another year we can settle down to what should be a most exciting time for the next 12 months.

This is especially true in the Plymouth Community where the centennial will be celebrated—possibly from early Spring to late Fall—and these are always exciting times.

But the Plymouth Community will not be the only area furnishing real excitement and it will be well to keep our eyes and ears open for the drama that will be unfolded in Washington and Lansing.

This is the year that we have a new Congress and a new Legislature and by the very cast of characters an exciting time is assured.

In the hallowed halls of Congress the Republicans gained enough strength in the last election to make their presence felt and serve notice that they will not be a "rubber-stamp" group such as the eighty-ninth Congress. This should help to make things exciting.

And, in Lansing, Governor Romney will have a Republican Senate and an evenly divided House of Representatives. This can't miss being exciting as it will serve as the spring board from which the Governor is expected to leap into the national political scene as the 1968 Republican candidate for President.

Added to these sure-fire events is the threat of a tax increase in both Washington and Lansing and it will be most exciting to see how these ticklish situations are handled.

Dramatic Rose Bowl Finish Teaches Lesson

There is an old axiom in football that when a coach has poor material and little chance of a winning season he is developing character.

But with a team that suffered two defeats and was humiliated by Notre Dame, 51 to 0, John McKay, coach of the Southern California Trojans, showed that you can teach character and the winning spirit in the closing minutes of the Rose Bowl game while thousands — yes millions — watched on television. A tie with Purdue would have been a great moral victory for the Trojans — but they would have none of it. They played to win — and in losing, gained the respect of the nation's sports fans.

Their gallant effort will be remembered long after the score is forgotten.

... and a partridge in a pear tree.

Low Bids & High Bids—Which Is The Right Bid?

Should the city always take the low bid on equipment purchases?

Should it follow the recommendations of department heads when they recommend a bid other than the low one?

Or should bids even be let when different manufacturers offer greatly different features?

City Commissioners never quite agreed on the answers to these questions Tuesday night as they argued the merits of recommendations made by DPW Superintendent Ken Vogras on a dump truck box.

Although the Commission finally accepted Vogras's recommendation for a $1255 Gallon box by a 4-3 split vote, a strong dissent came from Commissioner James McKeon. Agreeing with the majority that "we shouldn't take the low bid just because it is low," McKeon went on to say that the reasons for taking a higher bid must be clear and explicit.

"We should listen to department heads," he said, "but the arguments should be better substantiated than these are. Until they are, I'll go with the low bid."

Disagreement came from Commissioner George Hudson, who said that "Quite often we determine things by the seat of our pants without making an elaborate investigation. Less important items require less investigation, and I consider this rather unimportant."

"I see no reason why we shouldn't go with the department's recommendation."

Commissioner James Jabara argued for taking the DPW recommendation, saying that the city should purchase what the DPW wanted and that it was necessary to buy the box that has the desired features.

Although Jabara voted to accept the DPW recommendation, his position was close to that of George Lawton, who asked if such an item should be let out for bids at all.

"Either there's an error in the specifications," he said, "or in letting it out for bids at all." He suggested that either all bids be rejected and the item relet or that the box be purchased directly.

He asked City Attorney

Thomas Healy if direct purchase on an item over $1,000 would be legal, and Healy advised against it.

Vogras received his sharpest attacks from Commissioner Arch Vallier, who said that the reasons given "are no reasons for not accepting the low bid. With all due respect to Ken Vogras, he is not an engineer."

Vogras had said the box made by the low bidder put too much pressure on the hydraulic cylinder, and Vallier questioned whether this could be known without an engineering study.

Voting to accept Vogras's recommendation were Hudson, Jabara, Robert Smith and Mayor James Houk. Voting against were McKeon, Vallier, and Lawton.

Tuesday night was the second time Vogras had brought his recommendations to the Commission. The first time he had been instructed to return with more information.

He changed his recommendation after the first meeting from a Hell Dump Box to the Gallon Model-400 U, which was finally accepted.

McKeon said he was disturbed when he read Vogras's report after having read the first. No mention was made, he pointed out, of the removable cylinder head which had been a deciding factor in the original choice.

Vogras said he had understood from the first meeting that the Commission was not interested in the cylinder head as a feature.

Local Men Aid Police

Two Plymouth citizens helped the Plymouth police department arrest a wanted man here last week.

Richard Schwartz, owner of the Pure Oil service station at Starkweather and Main, and an employee, Jimmy Dale, telephoned police when a man wanted by Dearborn police tried to cash a check at the station.

Earlier the Plymouth police had distributed to all service stations a notice that John W. Mansfield of 20474 Williamsburg, Dearborn Heights, was wanted on a warrant for larceny by conversion.

There's Humane Side to Vietnam War

There is a humane side to the war in Vietnam that has just come to light in the transfer of the United States Coast Guard as an agency of the Treasury Department to the newly created Department of Transportation.

This humane side is one of the most colorful chapters in the history of the Coast Guard that dates back to 1790 when the little revenue fleet was sponsored by Alexander Hamilton, first Secretary of the Treasury.

During the past holiday season each of the nine 82-footers based at Phu Quoc adopted one of the many small islands dotting the Gulf of Thailand for carrying out missions of good will and mercy to the needy natives.

On one of their free days between "Market Time" patrols lasting five days, the cutters with their crews visit remote villages armed with soap, merthiolate, gauze, school supplies and other useful items to which the natives do not have access.

Thus armed, they also offer first aid to injured along the line and the entire "free" day is spent in these humanitarian deeds.

On sea they also answer many calls of distress and they are never at a loss for knowing how to bring relief. And, far away from the scene of battle, they carry out scientific missions, such as working with Salinity Temperature Depth Sensors, on an oceanic survey. And their findings are rushed to an analog computer to a recorder in the ship's laboratory.

All these things helped to comprise the history of the fleet as it was conceived more than 150 years ago.

And it is part of the tradition—the humane side of war—that will be carried over to the new chapter that will be written as an agency of the new Transportation Department.

The switch in agencies, however, never can take away from the Coast Guard the many fine deeds of valor and good-will that made it—and the United States—respected around the globe.

Tim Richard Named Enterprise Editor

Philip H. Power, publisher of the Observer Newspaper Group, Wednesday announced the appointment of Tim Richard as editor of the Farmington Enterprise.

The Enterprise is one of eight newspapers published by the Observer Group, which includes the Plymouth Mail and Observers in Livonia, Plymouth, Farmington, Redford Township, Garden City and Westland.

Richard, 31, is the former business editor of the Kalamazoo Gazette, where he also covered governmental affairs and politics from 1962-66.

He has won six prizes in the annual statewide news-writing contests sponsored by the Michigan Press Editorial Association. He has also won a regional award for his writing from the American Political Science Association.

Richard grew up in northwest Detroit and graduated from Redford High School. He earned a bachelor's degree in economics and a master's degree in business administration from the University of Michigan.

From his graduation in 1959 until 1962, he was a reporter and then assistant news editor for the St. Joseph (Mich.) Herald-Press.

Richard and his wife, Nancy, will move to this area soon.

Commenting on Richard's appointment Power said, "Men of Tim Richard's caliber are rare. He is a thoughtful, able and imaginative reporter. He is an excellent writer. He grew up in the suburban Detroit area.

"His experience and high ability reflect the continuing commitment to excellence and progress that is shared by all of us at the Observer Newspaper Group."

New Books In Library

"The Birds Fall Down," a suspense novel by Rebecca West, concerns a fateful meeting between an exiled Russian count and a young revolutionist at the beginning of the 20th century. Excellent character portrayal and portrait of a bygone social era.

"The Territorial Imperative" by Robert Ardrey, follows "African Genesis" and like the previous work is an inquiry into the animal origins of man's instincts, especially the instinctive attachments to a given economic area or territory. Advances in biological science have forced the author to modify and re-evaluate some of his previous theories.

"Three Flags at the Straits; The Forts of Mackinac" by Walter Havighurst, traces the story of the Mackinac forts through the domination by France, England, and the United States in a book of true adventure and exploration.

"Five Smooth Stones", a novel by Ann Fairbairn, is the story of a Negro, David Champlin, who gains respect as a lawyer and is offered an important government position but rejects it to return to the South and fight for human rights.

"Plantation Boy" by Jose-Lindo Rego, consists of three autobiographical novels about a boy's growth to manhood in Brazil. Regarded as a national classic, this book casts light on some of Brazil's complex problems.

"A Mortal Flower", the second part of Han Suyin's autobiography, recounts this Eurasian's experiences as a student in China and Europe against the background of China's history from 1923-1938. Her sketches of Chiang Kai-shek, Mao Tse-tung, and others with whom she came in contact.

Good Old Days...

50 Years Ago

The Christmas exercise at Cooper school house was well attended. The children did their parts well, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Maude Hough.

On display in the Plymouth United Savings Bank is an architect's drawing of a soldiers' monument which is to be donated to Plymouth through the public spiritedness and generosity of a former Plymouth man, Harry Bradner of Lansing.

At the regular meeting of the village council Tuesday evening, the council agreed to accept the memorial and provide a suitable place for its location in Kellogg Park, as requested by the donor.

The monument is of white granite and stands 15 feet and six inches high. The figure of a woman, standing in an alcove, and representing peace, surmounts the memorial. On the front of the base are inscribed the following words: "In Memoriam. A tribute to Those Sons of Plymouth who offered Their Lives in the War of the States, 1861-1865."

The unveiling of the monument is planned for next July.

Interesting Houses

Part of Lake Pointe Stands on Sly Farm

The three McCulloch children, Danny, Dorothy and Chris lean over the old stairway.

In a half-forgotten cemetery in the northeast corner of town lie the remains of Plymouth's earliest settlers. The cemetery is at Pearl and York Sts. No one has been buried there since about 1900.

Few visitors come to the small graveyard. The city has locked the gate, and the only way to gain admittance is to get the key from city hall.

Many of the old gravestones are gone. They have been replaced by flat markers, which are less picturesque, but make lawn care easier.

Silas Sly, who was born in New Hampshire in 1799, and his wife, Charlotte, are both buried there. Two of Silas's six children built houses which are still standing in Plymouth.

Silas and Charlotte left the rocky New England land after their marriage in 1826.

They stopped briefly in New York state, where their oldest son, Hial was born.

But the west lured them on. They arrived here around 1828, and homesteaded on 6 Mile Rd. near Beck.

Their second son, Nathan, was born here in 1828.

When Hial and Nathan grew up they both started their own farms in Plymouth Township.

This week we will take a look at Hial's house, and next week at Nathan's.

Hial's house at 41767 Schoolcraft has stood for over 100 years, but will be torn down in a few years because of the new expressway.

Most of Hial's 200 acre farm is now Lake Pointe Village.

Hial was 31 when he married Adelaide Bishop in 1858. His bride was almost ten years younger than he.

By 1862 Hial had built the house on Schoolcraft for her. It was a large and impressive house for a young couple.

Exactly when Hial built the house isn't known. However, his first child, Sarah Adelaide, was born in Livonia in 1860. His second child, Lucian, was born in Plymouth in 1862.

Since babies were born at home in those days, it would be logical to think the house was built by 1862. This also coincides with what members of the Sly family remember hearing from Hial's children. Hial and Adelaide weren't destined to live comfortably in their big house for their lifetimes.

They were still there in 1869 when their fifth and last child was born.

But a few years after that the family left for Kansas. What prompted the Sly's to move out to the new state?

Was the land here proving unproductive? Or was it a spirit of adventure that made Hial take his family to that once-bloody state.

Certainly, two of his sons proved to be adventurous in later years. One became a preacher of the fire and brimstone school, and died in South America. Another grew rich dealing in real estate in northern California.

The slaughter and destruction that had run through Kansas during the days of John Brown was no longer there by the time the Slys arrived.

But the land was far from settled. The Slys still found traces of buffaloes in their new home.

It couldn't have seemed the most hospitable place to them. Shortly after they got there, their 11-year-old son died. Five years later, in 1886, Hial himself died.

His widow and two daughters came back to Michigan. They settled in Ypsilanti and ran a boarding house for the girls going to Ypsilanti Normal School (now Eastern Michigan University).

Meanwhile the house where Adelaide Sly lived as a young wife had been sold several times. A family named Bradford bought it, and then some people named Peck.

In 1897 William Melow bought the farm and he and his family lived in the house for many years.

By 1937 the house was empty and boarded up. The Wang Livingstons bought the house and lived there for over 20 years. They tried to restore the house along its historic lines.

Livingston installed an ornate wooden staircase that came from an old house that was torn down in Ann Arbor.

He put old paneling up in their dining room, which might have once been the master bedroom.

Large as the house is, Mrs. Livingston has heard that there was once another large wing at the back of the house.

Since 1962 the Daniel McCullochs have been living there. They have worked to make the place glisten and shine.

A stylized gold wallpaper enhances the wooden staircase. The large living room is painted a soft gold. Red and white candy striped wallpaper is used in an upstairs bedroom. Fluffy curtains are at her daughter's bedroom window.

Specialty of the house
Chicken Dish Plays
Different Roles

Browsing in an antique shop, Mrs. Emerson found this old high chair, which she refinished for her daughter, Amy.

Mrs. Robert Emerson of Palmer St. has a recipe for chicken hash that is good for either lunch or brunch. She also includes a recipe for an extra thick fudge sauce that can be used with ice cream as a dessert for lunch.

The Emersons and their three children will be moving into a new house in Woodbrooke this spring.

Mrs. Emerson has gone back to school off and on throughout her married life. Two years ago she got a teacher's certificate in secondary education, and she has done quite a bit of work in remedial reading.

CHICKEN ALMOND HASH
2 cups medium white sauce
1 cup diced cooked chicken
1/2 cup sauteed mushrooms
1/2 cup silvered toasted almonds

Mix and heat ingredients in a skillet. Serve on rounds of oven-buttered-and toasted bread spread with a thin layer of deviled or Virginia ham. For a brunch menu Mrs. Emerson uses the chicken hash with fresh fruit pieces, blueberry muffins, coffee and a fruit juice and rum punch.

For lunch she uses hard rolls and a tossed salad with the hash. She tops this off with ice cream and her favorite fudge sauce.

"It's the only recipe I've ever found where the sauce is really thick," says Mrs. Emerson.

FUDGE SAUCE
1/2 cup butter
2-1/4 cup confectioners sugar
2/3 cup evaporated milk
6 squares bitter chocolate
Mix butter and sugar in top of a double boiler. Add evaporated milk and chocolate and cook over hot water for 30 minutes. Do not stir while cooking.

Remove from heat and beat. You may store in refrigerator and reheat as necessary. Add cream, not water, if you want a thinner sauce.

Engagement

Miss Bolander

At Christmas dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Bolander announced the engagement of their daughter, Sandra Ileen.

Her fiancé is Jeffrey Bowers, son of the Warren Bowers of Livonia. He attended Schoolcraft College and Oakland University. He is now in the armed forces at Fort Knox.

Miss Bolander works at the Plymouth State Home. No wedding date has been set.

Miss Merritt

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Merritt of Napier Rd. announced the engagement of their daughter, Nancy, to John Hoyt Gibson, Jr. at a Christmas dinner.

John is the son of John Gibson of Northville.

Miss Merritt graduated from Plymouth High School in 1966. Her fiancé graduated from Northville High School and attended Schoolcraft College.

He is with Consumers Power Co., and she works for Detroit Mutual Insurance Co. No wedding date has been set.

Party Sausage Snacks

For holiday sweet-sour sausage snacks, drain 2 cans (5 ounces each) Vienna Sausages, reserving broth. Cut sausages in half. Combine sausage broth, 1 cup apricot jam or preserves, 1/4 cup pickle relish, 2 tablespoons RealLemon bottled lemon juice, 4 teaspoons dry mustard, and 2 teaspoons ginger. Heat and stir until blended; add sausages and heat through. Serve hot.

The Livingstons added the balcony above the front porch.

Real French dressing is never pink or creamy. Here are authentic French instructions: two to three parts olive, peanut or vegetable oil, one part wine or herb vinegar, a suspicion of Dijon mustard, freshly ground pepper and salt to taste. That's all there is to authentic French dressing. The French will insist that olive, walnut and peanut oils imported from France are exceptionally fine.

Needy Figures Get Aid

Now is the time to get back into shape after all the holiday partying. Dieting and exercising are two popular projects for the winter doldrums. And the only way to get successful results with either one is — work.

Will Diet Pills Help?

Diet pills sound like the perfect answer to the old will power school of dieting. Are they? According to Dr. Lee Feldkamp, City Health Officer, pills which aid dieting are of little benefit. They do not burn off any food. Surprisingly enough they don't actually suppress the appetite.

They are a stimulant, which generally elevates the mood, and in some cases tends to cause nervousness. "Although sometimes a physician will prescribe the pills as a temporary means," says Dr. Feldkamp, "the most important thing in losing weight, is regulating caloric intake." In other words, eating less.

According to Dr. Feldkamp, people who lose weight while taking the pills, do so not so much because of the pills, but because of their devotion to a weight reduction diet. People who are extremely depressed could actually gain weight taking the pills. "While a pill may help one adhere to a diet, people who just depend on a pill will gain weight after they stop taking it," stresses the doctor.

According to him there are two main parts to every diet. The first is following good weight reduction menus; and the second is learning to eat properly so you can keep the weight off, once you have lost it. Dr. Feldkamp also criticizes fad diets.

"The well-known Mayo diet has no actual relation to the Mayo Clinic," he says. So, it looks as if there is no easy way out. Check with your doctor, as Dr. Feldkamp recommends, and he will provide you with a low calorie diet that won't taste too bad.

Sure, you can do this, after a few lessons given by Mrs. Luce, who does a shoulder stand here.

Strictly social

The holiday season wound up last weekend with a swarm of parties. It's getting to be a tradition to have a neighborhood open house at the Hugh Jarvis on New Year's Eve. They had one in 1965, and it was so successful, that they repeated it in 1966.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sincock had a big open house on Dec. 30, and then went down to the Round Table Club on the 31st with the Gordon Tallmans, who are building a house on Beacon Hill.

The Robert Probecks and the Norman Fitzpatrick's both had house parties on New Year's Eve. The Jay Windisches, Albert Grissons, William Drudges and several other couples went into the Detroit Yacht Club for their New Year's Eve fling.

Mr. and Mrs. George Spaniel had an open house on Dec. 30. The Ralph Lorenzes were at the Round Table Club on Saturday night with the A. D. Johannsons and John Anhtus. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Prussing were there with the John Conns.

The Rusling Cutlers were at the Elks' Club for New Year's Eve. Their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kennitz had a group at their new house, on Joy Rd., for the evening.

The Guy Stephens had a few couples over to see the New Year in. Toasting 1967 by the Stephens' fire were the Jack Fleckensteins, John Murphys, and Richard Kropfs.

Friday night Mr. and Mrs. Bob Taylor invited 40 friends to a party in honor of the Ray Cusatos, who used to live in Plymouth, now live in Rochester, N. Y. While visiting here they stayed with Mr. and Mrs. Don Pankow.

Out in Lake Pointe, the Richard Lurains had a get together at their house on Friday night. The Bill Hodsons took a group of their friends to Meadowbrook Country Club for a New Year's Eve party. Some of those who went were the Jack Kellys, George Nelsons, Bruce Wales and Harold Georges.

People who weren't too tired after New Year's Eve had lots of fun on Sunday and Monday. The Lawrence Schendels took in the Red Wing hockey game on Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hothem had a few friends in to watch the game on Monday.

Plymouth was represented at Governor Romney's inauguration on Monday. The James McCarthys were there. So were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Powell, who brought their children along.

The Roy Jacobsens went up to Lansing early Monday for the special Mormon church services. Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Smith went up later in the day.

These jars show the different effects you can get with stained glass. The one on the far right has liquid solder. The one that is second from the right has the steel framing the "globs".

Work With Stained Glass

Mrs. Gerald Stevens of Pinetree has been doing some exciting work with stained glass jars and vases. Supplies will cost around $3.50, but will last for more than one vase.

Mrs. Stevens likes to use old vases, or dime store brassy snifters, or apothecary jars.

First, wash the glass in hot, soapy water. Next apply the glass globs. Yes, "globs" are what they are called. They're available in round shapes in craft shops.

Be sure the ones you buy are flat on one side. Mrs. Stevens has her own molds and casts shapes which aren't available in the stores. But to add variety to your shapes you can use old transparent jewelry.

Glue the flat side of the globs onto the glass in whatever pattern you wish. They must be glued on with either Dow Corning Glass and Ceramic adhesive or General Electric Silicon adhesive. These glues are sold in hardware stores.

You don't have to wait before you begin the next step, but do be careful not to knock any of the globs off. As a matter of fact, everything you use is so fast drying that a vase can be completed in a few hours.

If the background is to be all one color, paint the glass with glass stain next. Clean the glass with alcohol and cotton before applying the stain.

Be sure to use a large size, good quality artist's brush when putting on the stain. Glass stain is available in craft shops or large department stores, and has instructions with it. When using it, put white paper toweling inside the jar, or it will be hard to see how evenly you are applying the stain.

Apply what Mrs. Stevens calls the "squiggle" next. If you want the glass to be stained several different colors, the squiggle goes on before the glass stain. Afterwards, the different colored stains are painted between the framework of the squiggles.

The brand name for the squiggle is Magic Craft Steel. It comes in several different colors. Mrs. Stevens prefers using black, and then antiquing it to give a naturally antique effect.

This steel can be used wherever you want. It can be wound over and around the globs, or pushed in the background between the globs.

Simply squeeze it out of the tube. Stop every three or four inches and pat it to make sure it has adhered to the glass.

Liquid solder can be used instead of the steel to give the squiggle effect. This will dry silver, and be flatter than the steel. It is also thinner, so you have to be careful that it doesn't run.

If you use the steel, the next step is to antique it. This is done with "Rub 'N' Buff," a metallic wax, available in local paint stores. Use either silver or gold color. Squeeze about one-fourth inch from the tube and then add one drop of turpentine.

The wax shouldn't be too thin, because you don't want to completely cover the black. It is the mixture of black and color that gives the mellowed effect desired.

If any of the Rub 'N' Buff gets on the stained glass or globs, dampen a Q-Tip in turpentine and wipe it off. Clean the brushes, used for the stain, in nail polish remover or lacquer thinner.

After the stained glasses are finished, put small candles inside them. The glow will enhance the beauty of the glass.

Sweets On A Diet? Yes

New low calorie fruit cocktail turns grapefruit into a festive first course or dessert by making this attractive "fruit basket".

The firm texture and fresh flavor of low calorie fruit cocktail is especially good with the tart grapefruit sections. And, good news for calorie watchers, this extra special dessert is 112 calories — an excellent substitute for a 350 calorie wedge of cake or pie. Or, if you're really being strict, 1/2 cup fruit cocktail is less than 40 calories.

Spiced Fruit Cup
2 grapefruit
1 1/2 cups drained Low Calorie Fruit Cocktail (No. 303 or 1 lb. can)
Nutmeg

Cut grapefruit in half and remove meat and membrane.

Those who felt changes complained about not enough time for the family or housework or friends.

What makes women want to take on the extra responsibilities of school? Most said they decided because of encouragement from friends and family, or just plain "personal determination."

Most of the women chose their courses with care, using them as steps toward a particular goal. That goal, for those working towards a degree, was generally in the fields of teaching, nursing and business.

Combine the grapefruit sections with the fruit cocktail. Spoon the fruit mixture into the grapefruit rinds and sprinkle with nutmeg. Chill before serving. Makes 2 servings, 112 calories per serving.

AAUW Shows China Film

A public showing of the film "China" by Felix Greene is being sponsored by the American Association of University Women at Plymouth Junior High West on Thursday, January 19, at 7:45 P.M.

Taken in China in 1965, the one hour color movie records day-to-day life in the People's Republic.

To defray costs of presenting the film, a donation of 50 cents is being asked. Coffee will be served after the showing by Mrs. Hugh Jarvis and Mrs. Howard Raaflaub.

EPISCOPALIANS SWING

On Jan. 8 at 8 p.m., there will be a Folk Mass celebrated at St. John's Episcopal Church. The music will be sung by the young people of the parish. The Folk Mass, entitled "Rejoice!" was written by Herbert G. Draesell, Jr., and was first performed in April of 1965 at the Eucharistic Congress held in New York City.

It is written in folk idiom and accompanied by guitar. "Rejoice!" was composed to be an effective vehicle for worshipping God in the world of the twentieth century. The public is cordially invited. St. John's Episcopal Church is on 574 South Sheldon Road in Plymouth.

METHODISTS SLATE STUDY

The First Methodist Church in Plymouth invites the public to attend its annual Commission on Missions study — this year: "Affluence and Poverty: Dilemma for Christians," starting at 5:30 p.m. on Jan. 8.

The program will open each week with a family supper from 5:30 - 6:15 p.m., for the price of $1.00 per family. Reservations should be made with Mrs. Charles Cash, 453-5260, or Mrs. Walter Gempferline at 453-3317, by the previous Thursday of each week.

The programs will be over at 7:30 p.m.

CHICKEN SURPRISE (Serves 4)

- 4 chicken breasts (about 1 lb.)
- 1 large ripe tomato
- 1 package seasoned coating mix for chicken
- 4 strips bacon

Remove skin and bones from chicken breasts. Cut tomato in 4 slices. Coat with seasoned coating mix as directed on package, reserving any remaining mix. Arrange chicken in single layer in ungreased shallow baking pan. Bake at 400 degrees for 30 minutes. Coat tomato slices with remaining seasoned coating mix; place in baking pan with chicken and bacon strips. Bake 10 minutes longer at 400 degrees, or until chicken is tender. To serve, top each tomato slice with a chicken breast; then top each with a strip of crisp bacon.

What Will Exercising Do?

Mrs. Harry Luce, who teaches body conditioning classes for the Adult Education Department, has had some physical fitness problems of her own.

"I had twins a year ago, and had to get back into shape," she says. All three classes that she teaches can help improve your figure.

Yoga is good for those underweight or overweight. It stretches the muscles and helps you become limber. Calisthenics (slim and trim) builds up muscles and helps you lose weight in spots.

"The women lose inches rather than pounds," says Mrs. Luce. Swimming is probably the most fun, and helps develop all-around physical fitness.

Yoga is also good for general well being. Mrs. Luce compares it to the isometric exercises. "You get yourself into body positions that put tension on the muscles and internal organs. Then you relax," she says. This tension and relaxation helps control the body. Eventually you should learn to relax. Habits which come from nervous tension should go away. It can be an aid in giving up smoking.

"You can learn to have such control over your body," says Mrs. Luce, "that tension habits can't sneak in."

Most of us don't know how to relax. Yoga will teach relaxation. Body muscles are tensed so much by Yoga positions, that they just have to relax.

Swimming, and slim and trim, require more energy than yoga. "You must be willing to put up with the slight discomfort from using sluggish muscles," she warns.

The more you work at any of these things, the more benefit you will gain. But Mrs. Luce feels that even a little exercise is beneficial.

Life of Adult Coeds Shown In Schoolcraft Survey

More women are picking up their books and heading back to school. Some are working towards a degree.

Others are brushing up on a particular skill. Mrs. John Moehle recently conducted a study at Schoolcraft College to find out what makes a woman go back to college, and what she expects out of it.

The 117 women in the survey ranged in age from under 21 to over 30. Twenty-two had not been to school for 10 or more years.

The largest number (90) were taking under eight hours. About half didn't work outside of their homes. Of those who worked, most were secretaries.

Mrs. Moehle, herself, is a fulltime student working on her doctor's degree in education at Wayne State University.

"I'm having a wonderful time," she says, "although it has meant a completely new way of living. I think this is the thing most women aren't prepared for."

"It has meant almost complete social isolation. I have eliminated everything other than the care of my husband and children.

"It takes a tremendous amount of organization. You have to have a family that is as excited about it as you are."

In her study, Mrs. Moehle cites authorities who say that more women, particularly in the 35 to 45 age group are going to work. Today's best jobs require skills that usually can be learned through formal training.

The Schoolcraft survey revealed that most women return to school to fill emotional or economic needs. "Future security" was a frequent answer.

"Being prepared to do something when my family is grown and I'm alone," was another answer.

Personal enrichment was the goal of 44 of the 117 women. Both single and married women felt that it was more difficult to return to school, then to enter college right out of high school.

Learning to study again was rated most difficult thing about college by 54 women. Conflicts between home duties and study was second in the difficulty rating.

However, while 59 reported changes in their way of living, 40 said they were able to fit school into their lives without disrupting the family schedule.

Those who felt changes complained about not enough time for the family or housework or friends.

What makes women want to take on the extra responsibilities of school? Most said they decided because of encouragement from friends and family, or just plain "personal determination."

Most of the women chose their courses with care, using them as steps toward a particular goal. That goal, for those working towards a degree, was generally in the fields of teaching, nursing and business.

Help Your Young Children To Develop Socially

If you wonder if your young child will ever become a friendly, sociable person, remember that children aren't born with social knowhow. Margaret Jacobson of Michigan State University gives tips on helping children develop social skills.

A chance to practice and improve these skills is important. This means your children must have the opportunity to associate with others their age. This is one of the values of having brothers and sisters.

Dr. Jacobson gives these suggestions: Natural competition for your time is common among brothers and sisters. But you can ease the situation by giving your affection freely to each child. If a child knows that he will get his share of affection, he will be less likely to be resentful when your affection is given to a brother or sister.

When your child is cross it helps to let him know that you know how he feels. If he knows he can talk out his feelings with you without being scolded it may help, Dr. Jacobson notes.

An important part of social development is learning respect for other's belongings. You can help instill this in your children by providing each of them with something that is theirs alone. This can be their own drawers, shelves, or clothes, but it is respected by everyone else, including you. Asking permission to use other's belongings is a way of teaching respect for things.

Remember also that no matter how much brothers or sisters enjoy each other they may become irritable from having been together too long. If at all possible, separate them briefly, even if it means arranging separate play activities in different rooms. Make this suggestion something the children will like -- and not punishment, Dr. Jacobson warns.

IMPORTED DATES FOR COOKING

It's well known among homemakers that different apples, oranges and potatoes should be selected for different cooking purposes. But did you know that there is also an important difference between imported and domestic dates? You'll find that both types are wonderful for eating right as they come from the package. However, when dates are to be used in cooked or baked dishes, you would be wise to select imported dates, advises the Bordo Products Company. Imported dates are more richly flavored than domestic dates, and therefore, imported dates retain the date flavor far better under the heat of cooking. Imported dates retain their form and texture best, also.

Fire Authorities Warn of Dolls

City and township fire authorities are warning area residents to bring in any of the highly flammable dolls sold in this area recently.

(SEE PICTURE, PAGE B-1) Only two dolls have been reported in the city-township area, although a number of stores from Detroit to Ann Arbor have sold the Polish-made dolls which sell for about a dollar.

of the prime movers in the re-organization of the Plymouth Jaycees in the late '50s and early '60s, was the first to receive the DSA award in 1960. He was followed by City Commissioner George Lawton, City Commissioner James Jabara, Harvey Ziel and Smith in that order.

Among outstanding winners of the U.S. Ten Outstanding Young Men awards have been such names as: the late President John F. Kennedy, Richard Nixon, Dr. Tom Dooley and Leonard Bernstein.

The local competition is open to young men in all fields of endeavor who may be nominated by an individual, organization, association or institution.

The rules as set up by the national organization, which govern all local contests are:

1- The award will be conferred for achievements, leadership and service to the community during the calendar year of 1966. The award is for direct, outstanding service and has no relation to Junior Chamber of Commerce membership. The Nominee need not be a member of the Jaycees.

2- Only young men 35 years of age or younger are eligible. If the nominee reaches his 36th birthday before Dec. 31, or the year for which the award is given, he becomes eligible if the activities for which he is judged were performed when he was 35.

3- All nominations must be received by the Jaycees DSA Committee prior to midnight, Jan. 12. Address nominations to Plymouth Jaycees, Box 279, Plymouth.

4- The Judging Committee will be composed of citizens of the community.

Butler Named

Patrick Butler, head librarian at Schoolcraft College and former librarian at Plymouth High School, was named to the City Planning Commission Monday night.

Mayor James Houk appointed Butler to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ronald Coosaia. Butler's term will expire Nov. 7, 1969.

None of the dolls have been found in Plymouth stores, according to Plymouth fire chief George Schoenneman.

The dolls are about 12 inches long and have a face made from a nitrocellulose compound which ignites with a flash when exposed to direct heat, such as a match, a burning cigarette or even a hot surface.

Inside the dolls is a stuffing of sawdust filler that creates a large fire with extreme heat when ignited.

The first doll brought to local authorities came from Mrs. Maurice Breen, who notified William Burr, Plymouth Township director of public safety. Burr contacted the Detroit store where the doll had been purchased, and the store said the dolls had been taken off the market.

Burr notified Schoenneman, who found that his granddaughter, Susie, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Schoenneman, had one of the dolls. This doll had been purchased in Colorado by George Schoenneman's mother.

The same dolls were sold in Ann Arbor as long as two years ago by a Polish performing group which appeared there.

If anyone is doubtful about a doll, Schoenneman said, he may bring it to either fire department and have it identified.

People may also return the dolls to the stores where purchased, he said. Most stores who had sold the dolls have said they would refund the purchase price.

Although earlier reports said the dolls had not been sold at J.L. Hudson's in Detroit, the store said it had sold the dolls and would refund money paid for them, Burr said.

Obituaries

Mrs. Rebecca Frost Services for Mrs. Frost, 72, of 261 E. Spring, Plymouth, were conducted in Benton Harbor, Mich., after arrangements were handled by the Schrader Funeral Home. Burial was in Crystal Spring Cemetery in Benton Harbor.

Mrs. Frost, who had resided in Plymouth since 1962, died Dec. 29 at Ann Arbor Hospital in Ann Arbor of a heart attack. She was a member of the Pentecostal Church of Detroit.

Surviving are: a daughter, Mrs. Lucille Warfield of Plymouth; one son, Marvin Frost of Benton Harbor; one sister, Mrs. Minnie Hill of Flint; two brothers, Alec and J. O. Watts of Flint; five grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

News of Men in Service

CAMP PENDELTON, Calif. - Marine Private First Class John A. Adams Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Adams Sr., of 655 Jener, has completed four weeks of individual combat training at this Marine Corps Base.

During his more than 200 hours of training, he learned about weapons and combat techniques from combat veteran instructors. They taught him how to conduct combat patrols, detect and remove mines and booby traps and use the standard Marine Corps infantry weapons.

USS BROWNSON - Seaman John P. Beauchamp Jr., USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Beauchamp of 334 Blunk St., is a crewmember aboard the destroyer USS Brownson, with the Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific supporting operations in Southeast Asia.

The Brownson is attached to Destroyer Squadron-20, homeported at Newport, R.I. His squadron left Newport early in October, passed through the Panama Canal and visited Pearl Harbor before joining the Seventh Fleet in November.

GREAT LAKES, ILL. Fireman Apprentice Michael C. Wagner, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred N. Wagner of 1361 Ridgewood, Plymouth, is attending the basic Engineeman School at the Service School Command, Naval Training Center here.

The three-month course covers the operation, maintenance and overhaul of diesel engines, gas turbines and other machinery used on the ships of the fleets of the U.S. Navy.

PHU BAI, VIETNAM. Marine Private First Class Jeffrey H. Griswold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Griswold of 1314 Beech St., Plymouth, is in the Khe Sanh area of Vietnam as a member of H & S Company, First Battalion, Third Marine Regiment, Third Marine Division.

Members of his company participate in both day and night patrols, ambushes and extended search and destroy operations against the enemy.

USS ENTERPRISE - Interior Communications Electrician Second Class David E. Zimmer, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray J. Zimmer of 560 Jener is one of more than 3,000 crewmen helping to celebrate the 5th birthday of this nuclear-powered aircraft carrier, the world's largest warship, during a port visit to Hawaii.

OMAHA, Neb. - Merrill W. Hulse, whose mother is Mrs. Lillian M. Ryan of 14325 Chrisland Ave., San Jose, Calif., has been promoted to lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Air Force.

Colonel Hulse is chief of the force status branch at Offutt AFB, Neb. He is a member of the Strategic Air Command, America's long-range nuclear bomber and missile force.

The colonel served in Japan during the Korean War. A graduate of Army and Navy Academy, Carlsbad, Calif., he received his commission in 1950 upon completion of the Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps program at San Jose (Calif.) State College, where he earned his A.B. degree. Colonel Hulse is a member of Lambda Chi Alpha.

His wife, Jean, is the daughter of Mrs. Marguerite Hetherington of 633 Brainard, Detroit. Mrs. Hulse's father, Clifton Hetherington, resides at 1450 W. Ann Arbor Road, Plymouth, Mich.

FT. GORDON, GA. - Private Walter A. Chaption Jr., 19, son of Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Cherry Hill Road, Plymouth, completed a 12-week communication center specialist course at the Army Southeastern Signal School, Ft. Gordon, Ga., Dec. 2.

He was trained to operate teletype sets and other communications equipment.

JA Firms Receive Charters

Five Junior Achievement companies officially came into existence in Plymouth when they received their official charters at presentation ceremonies at the JA Center, 585 W. Ann Arbor Trail.

The new companies are sponsored by the National Bank of Detroit, Evans Products Co., Whitman and Barnes, Consumers Power, and Western Electric.

Charters were presented by Robert Barbour, assistant vice-president, NBD;

C. L. Boring, general manager, Whitman and Barnes; Sam Hudson, director of advertising and public relations, Evans; and Robert Hyman, method and accounting manager, Western Electric.

The charters correspond to the incorporation papers of a large company. Each JA company must file for application through Junior Achievement headquarters. The charter itself is a legal type document carrying the JA seal and the signatures of officers of Junior Achievement, Inc.

These miniature companies continue to function and prosper until the end of the school year much the way their cousins do in big business. In May, the companies are voluntarily liquidated, and the shareholders are sent a report of company standing.

According to Area Supervisor Daniel White, a total of 12 JA companies will be chartered within the next few weeks.

Junior Achievement is a non-profit educational organization for teenagers that serves as a necessary supplement for their regular school work and provides a "learn-by-doing" laboratory for their economic education.

The local JA companies are made up of students from Plymouth, Northville, and Livonia Bentley and Franklin High Schools.

Western Plymouth news

Marion Probeck - 453-4572 Mr. and Mrs. Leo Schultz of Plymouth Hills held a New Year's Eve party for 30 friends. A midnight buffet supper was served. Flying here from Milwaukee, Wis., for the weekend were Mr. Schultz's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jess Blunt.

On Dec. 17, the Schultzes entertained eight couples from the Kiwanis Club with a dinner party.

A Christmas Day dinner for 12 was given by Mr. and Mrs. Theron Palmer of Beck Road. Present were the Palmer's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Markham, and their children Laurie and Dawn; two sisters, Lillian Burnside and Alice Crockett from Clinton, Mich.; also friends of long standing, the Lawrence Carrolls of Clinton, and the Verne Oliviers from Highland Park.

A holiday open house was given Dec. 26 by Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Fortney of Woodlore.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller have had her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Davies from Baltimore, Md., as house guests during the holidays. Overnight guests at the Millers last week were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Schultz from Amherst, O. The Schultz family is moving to Plymouth in January.

Mr. and Mrs. Neal Fenkell and daughter, Ann, of Woodlore returned Dec. 28 from a trip to Virginia. The Fenkells flew to Washington, D.C. and then drove to Virginia Beach, Va. to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John Rogowski, for Christmas. From there they went on to Williamsburg.

On Dec. 28, the Warren Bradburns held a cocktail party in their new home in Woodbrook Subdivision. Around 20 friends attended. Hors d'oeuvres were served during the evening followed by a late buffet supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tobin, recently settled in their new home in Woodbrook, gave an impromptu party the evening of Dec. 27 for all the new people in the subdivision. There are seven families now living there.

The Roy Fishers of Woodlore held an office party in their home Dec. 28. It was a Christmas party for the people at Fisher, Wingard and Fortney Agency in Plymouth. There were 14 present.

Dr. and Mrs. Wendell Hough and boys Bob, Jim, and David of Woodlore have returned from a three week vacation in the West and South. The Houghs flew to San Francisco and spent three days there, then drove to Los Angeles for six days.

While in L.A. the family visited Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm and Universal Studios where they ate in the dining room next to Robert Wagner and Suzanne Pletchette.

They toured Beverly Hills, the Farmer's Market and saw an NBC television show in Burbank, Calif. From there they drove to Tijuana, Mexico.

The vacationing family then flew to New Orleans for a few days and from there drove to St. Petersburg, Fla. where they joined neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Kromer and their girls. Both families spent a day swimming and sunning. On to Fort Meyer, Fla. to spend Christmas with relatives, back to Tampa and then home.

Arriving home the Houghs rested a few days before holding a New Year's Eve party. Present were 16 from the staff at Wayne State University.

A New Year's Eve progressive dinner was held by six couples in Plymouth Hills. The group met first at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Peterson for cocktails and hors d'oeuvres and from there to the home of the Thomas Fairs for the soup course. The salad was served by Mr. and Mrs. Luvish followed by the main course prepared by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith. Dessert was eaten at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Stephenson. The rest of the evening was spent at the home of the Ernest Martins.

Nearly 100 residents of Woodlore Subdivision attended the All-Subdivision holiday party on Dec. 29 given at the home of the William Redlins.

The party was planned by four couples; the John Van Wagons, Henry Wassmans, Charles Millers and William Redlins. The evening was topped with a complete buffet dinner after midnight. It was an excellent chance for everyone to meet and to know all the residents of Woodlore.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kordick of Woodlore gave a New Year's Eve party for friends from the Ford Motor Company where Mr. Kordick works. There were 24 present and a late buffet was served. Mrs. Kordick claims to have swept a bushel of confetti the next day.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tallant of Woodbrook entertained out-of-town guests during the holidays. They were Mrs. Bessie Bowers, an aunt, and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Davis who are cousins. Tallants' guests came from Frankton, Ind.

On Jan. 2, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Koch of Glenview Subdivision entertained a small group in their new home.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sawusch, their two daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Martin and their two sons spent Christmas week in Gaylord.

The two families stayed at the Pinnacles, a new ski lodge which opened just a few years ago.

During the week the Bud Goulds of Beacon Hill joined them for dinner. The Goulds were staying at Hidden Valley Ski Lodge during the week.

The families of Woodlore sadly miss "Grandpa" Gannon who passed away recently. Mr. Gannon was the father of Mr. Tom Gannon on Stonecrest Drive. Mr. Gannon was like the Pied Piper for when he would start for a walk, he would be joined by many little children. He always had a smile and a wave for everyone.

Here visiting the Jack Miners of Woodlore during the holidays are Mr. Miner's cousin and family. They are Mr. and Mrs. William Cardwell and boys, Michael and Jamie, from Mitchell, Ontario. The Miners had visited the Cardwell family during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Captain and Mrs. Robert Ward and children, Cynthia, 16 and Robert Jr., 15 of Woodlore spent the weekend of December 9 in Los Vegas. During the Christmas holidays their other children were home. They are Nikki Jean, a freshman at Northern Michigan and Steve, a junior at Central.

adequate in size nor of the proper color. He suggested larger signs with green background and white lettering instead of vice versa.

Commissioner James McKeon pointed out that he felt the signs should be retained because he noted a freer flow of traffic. He went on record as favoring permanent no left turn signs.

Commissioner George Hudson added a bit of confusion to the proceedings when he made a motion that the signs be removed. He received support but the action was voted down, 5-2, with Hudson and Vallier casting the only affirmative votes.

After an hour of this kind of discussion, Commissioner James Jabara moved that the Commission follow the recommendation of the City Manager. It passed and the signs now become permanent until the street is widened. That could be next fall or it could be longer — the Commission hasn't approved a street improvement program thus far.

Charter Township of Canton Board Proceedings

A regular meeting of the board of the Charter Township of Canton, County of Wayne, State of Michigan was held on December 13, 1966 at 8:00 p.m.

Meeting called to order by Supervisor Dingledey. Members present: Dingledey, Flodin, Truesdell, Schultz, Palmer, Hix and Holleyoak.

Notice of Application for Homestead Exemptions
City of Plymouth, Michigan

FOR: SENIOR CITIZENS
DISABLED VETERANS OR THEIR UNREMARKED WIDOWS
SERVICEMEN ON ACTIVE DUTY
BLIND PERSONS

Applications for any of the above exemptions will be received at the Office of the City Assessor, 201 S. Main Street, until February 10, 1967.

Each applicant must present proof of ownership of the homestead.

Senior Citizens: Must show proof of age of 65 years old or over; must have been a resident of Michigan for at least 5 out of the last 10 years and at least 6 months out of each 12 month period of the same 5 years prior to filing; annual income of applicant, including spouse and/or joint owners of the property, must not exceed $5,000; all property owned by the applicant should not exceed a state equalized value of $10,000, which would be approximately $20,000 market value.

Disabled Veterans or Their Unremarked Widows: Veteran must have lived in Michigan at least six months prior to entering service or was a resident of Michigan for at least 5 years prior to filing (5 years prior to veteran's death if widow is applying); annual income must not exceed $7,500 with the exception of those who are receiving compensation for a service connected disability; all property owned in Michigan should not exceed a state equalized value of $10,000, which would be approximately $20,000 market value.

When filing a claim, each person must present a copy of discharge papers, an uncashed VA compensation check or letter of adjudication and/or a death certificate if applicable (widow of veteran).

Blind Persons: Must show proof of visual disability in compliance with the State Law—a current letter from the physician will be acceptable.

An application for Homestead Exemption must be filed each year by those persons who are eligible. Each claim filed is simply an application and must be approved by the State of Michigan in May of each year. These application forms can be obtained from the City Assessor's Office. If there are any questions concerning the application, contact Kenneth E. Way, City Assessor, by calling 453-1234, Ext. 43.

Seven Madonna Alumnae Honored On National List

Seven Madonna College alumnae have been chosen for inclusion in the 1966 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America publication.

They are: Miss Valerie Gudek of Detroit, Miss Christina Kary of Midland, Mrs. David Pachota of Livonia, Mrs. Frank Scheuer of Grosse Ile, Mrs. Thomas Stalneck of Taylor, Mrs. Donald Westover of Bay City and Mrs. Peter Wajkowski of Saginaw.

The alumnae were recommended for the honor by the college and selected by the Board of Advisory Editors of the publication.

Outstanding Young Women of America is an annual biographical compilation of 6,000 outstanding young women between the ages of 21 and 35. These young women have distinguished themselves in civic and professional activities.

Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, who throughout the country submit nominations for the book each year. A different group of outstanding young women is included each year.

Guidelines for selection include unselfish service to others, charitable activities, community service, professional excellence, business advancement, and civic and professional recognition.

Bus Sought For Hospital In Northville

The Hawthorn-Northville Chapter of the Michigan Disturbed Children is conducting a drive to provide a sixteen passenger bus for the children at Northville State Hospital.

The "Bus Drive" committee is requesting the donation of trading stamps from individuals or group organizations.

"We are hopeful that people might pledge the trading stamps acquired during the holiday shopping as a Christmas present for the children at Northville Hospital," Mrs. Rose Crews, committee chairman, said. "The bus will provide a means of taking the children on recreational and educational trips."

Trading stamps of any type (S & H preferred) may be sent to "Disturbed Children", Box 90, Lathrup Village, Michigan. Interested individuals or organizations wishing to participate in the drive may contact Mrs. Crews at EL 6-8620 or TR 2-4318.

Rock Cagers Meet Another Contender

The holidays are over, classes have resumed and the time of reckoning is coming for the Plymouth High basketball and swimming teams.

After three straight league games away from home, the basketballers entertain the strong Trenton High quintet Friday in a pair of games involving the junior varsity at 7 p.m. and the varsity at 8 o'clock.

The natators, under the direction of Coach Jim Gretzinger, have their work cut out on the same day with an afternoon engagement with powerful Fordson High in the Dearborn pool.

For the cagers, the meeting with Trenton will give local fans a chance to see one of the top favorites for the suburban Six League championship in action.

Most certainly the Trenton team isn't as strong as the football club that rolled over nine straight opponents without trouble. But there will be at least one familiar face in the lineup in the person of Bob Eldridge, the star quarterback, who is one of the standout scorers.

Eldridge is a carry over from the 1966 team that tied Bentley for the league crown.

For Coach Dick Bearup's proteges, it will be one of the stiffest assignments thus far. The bespectacled Rock mentor has said since the start of the season that his club will make some of the championship contenders wish they had never heard of Plymouth.

Although the Rocks haven't had much luck thus far in league play, this could be the contest in which they'll reach the peak form that Bearup is looking for.

Bearup has seen his team hit hot streaks in several games, especially in the Stevenson contest where the Rocks outscored their foes, 20-1, in the second period and went on to an easy victory.

"It could be that we'll hit another of those streaks against Trenton," said Bearup. "This club does have great potentiality but does lack height and experience necessary for a contender. However, we can become a spoiler at any time and this could be it."

Wayne Tid-Bits

Wayne State University senior forward Marty Letzmann is off to the hottest scoring start in the school's history with a 28.7 average after six games.

Wayne State University's epee team won all 18 of its matches in season-opening dual meet wins over Case Tech and Western Reserve in fencing.

Marty Letzmann, Wayne State University's high-scoring basketball forward, was born in Germany and came to this country in 1951.

Wayne State University's single-game basketball scoring record is 50 point by George Duncan vs. Western Reserve on Jan. 9, 1960.

Bob Hurley, Wayne State University's wrestling coach, wrestled collegiately at the University of Michigan.

Wayne State University assistant basketball coach Gonars Vitolins led the Tartars in foul shooting as a junior in 1958-59.

Frank Gompert, Wayne State University's first-year basketball coach, played in the East-West Shrine All-Star Game, representing his alma mater, Colorado, in 1953.

Wayne State University will host the First Motor City Invitational Intercollegiate Swimming Championships on March 17-18, 1967.

The 16-1 won-lost record in fencing posted by Wayne State University's 1965-66 team, was the winningest in the school's history.

Wayne State sophomores, football end Len Boehm, and wrestler Paul Garber, were the first recipients of the Scholar-Athlete Awards announced in December.

Old Sport's Musings

By Artee

Being a rabid football fan for more years than we care to admit, we wonder if the time will ever come again when television will have as many outstanding games during a three-day period as during the past weekend.

It probably will be another two weeks before our eyes get back to normal but we don't regret one minute of the hours spent in front of the TV screens on Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

And for the real thrills, we'll have to cast our votes for the Green Bay Packer-Dallas, Purdue-Southern California and the Alabama-Nebraska games as the best.

As for a No. 1 rating for 'Bama,' all we can suggest is that it's about time for Coach Bear Bryant and his associates to start coming up with a schedule that will gain the same recognition for them as for Michigan State and Notre Dame.

It isn't too difficult for a team in the south to go through an undefeated season. There are generally three or four top teams in the whole southland and seldom do they meet during the regular season.

Such can't be said of Notre Dame and Michigan State. Year in and year out, the Spartans and the Irish meet the best in midwest, east and far west. Then they also wind up playing each other. Such isn't true of the south.

Why fuss about ratings anyway? It's just another means of giving the most rabid followers of the various teams something to talk about over a beer or two during the winter months.

It would be a safe bet that hardly anyone could recall who ranked No. 1 or No. 2 in 1966 if asked three years from now.

Some time ago a suggestion was made here that it would be a fine gesture by some organization in the city to sponsor a banquet for the Plymouth High football team and invite Head Coach Bill Elias, of the Navy, to be the principal speaker. Bill has two nephews on the PHS varsity—Tom and Jim Elias.

We would guess that the suggestion hasn't been taken up by anyone since we haven't heard anything more.

However, there is an added incentive for such an affair now--the recent resignation of Coach John McFall as football and swimming coach, effective at the end of the first semester. That's only two weeks away.

McFall was in the process of rebuilding Plymouth High's football fortunes during the past two years. The 1966 team had a 2-5 record but there was times when it showed signs of greatness and Jolly John had visions of a much better than average team come another fall. Of course all of that will be turned over to the new head coach, whoever it may be, for the 1967 campaign. John didn't resign because he had losing teams. He resigned to take over the operation of a motel in Petoskey.

But getting back to the original thought, there still is time to arrange a suitable farewell for McFall. And again what's wrong with inviting the Navy coach to spend a few hours in the community where his mother, several brothers and a good many nephews and nieces reside?

STRIDING IN BIG BOOTS!

"Making Electricity With The Atom And Getting Natural Gas From Under The Sea," reads like a chapter from the legendary tale of the giant lumberjack, Paul Bunyan. His superhuman feats, however, can't compare with the prodigious steps taken by Consumers Power Company in its continuous efforts to assure ample electricity and natural gas for Michigan's lower peninsula... now and in the future.

Consumers Power Company built Michigan's Big Rock Point Nuclear Plant on its own initiative, entirely at its own expense. It was the world's first high-power density boiling water reactor for generating commercial electricity. Operating at capacity, Big Rock Point is capable of supplying enough electricity to meet all the residential and farm needs of an average city of 100,000 persons.

And, to increase its supply of natural gas for Michigan's growing demands, Consumers Power gets huge amounts of natural gas from offshore wells beneath the Gulf of Mexico... wells as deep as 11,000 feet below the water and more than 5 miles out to sea!

Thus Consumers Power, takes giant steps to help keep Michigan great!

GM Expenditures in Area Boosted

Total Up $1,000,000

General Motors' expenditures for employe payrolls and local purchases at the Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants in Livonia totaled more than $938.9 million during 1966, a $1 million increase over last year.

The year-end statement was released jointly today by Harrison T. Price, manager of the Chevrolet plant and Paul D. Pender, Fisher Body plant manager.

Employment during the year averaged nearly 6,600, equal to last year's work force at the two plants.

Employees at the two Livonia GM installations contributed more than $171,000 to the 1966 United Funds in communities where they reside, representing an $11,000 increase over 1965. In addition, employes invested $1.6 million in U.S. Savings Bonds through payroll deduction.

During 1966, GM awarded approximately $135,000 to employes for ideas submitted in the GM Suggestion Plan. Three Chevrolet Livonia employes received the Plan's top award of $6,000.

A major expansion program at the Chevrolet plant was completed during 1966, adding nearly 800,000 sq. ft. of floor area. The new facilities include increased space for manufacturing, processing and marshalling of finished parts, and powerhouse equipment.

The Chevrolet plant produces chassis coil and leaf springs and bumpers for Chevrolet passenger cars as well as springs and suspension components for the division's truck models. The Fisher body plant manufactures interior trim components, including seat cushions, door trim pads, and other trim components for General Motors cars.

Jaycees Plan Treat For Lovers of Fishing

Throwing back trout big as your arm and catching them big as your leg may sound like the proverbial fish yarn, but comes now to town with pictorial proof.

The latest Wally Taber Safari Show will be held in Plymouth High School Tuesday, January 10 at 8 P.M. under auspices of the Plymouth Jaycees. Appearing in person to narrate the program as well as lend credence to the big-fish stories will be Cecil Rhode, veteran Alaskan homesteader, guide and renowned wildlife photographer.

"If any doubting Thomases remain after seeing the program," Fred Martin, program chairman for the sponsoring club said, "it will be only because they need glasses and hearing aids. Rhode shows trout that scarcely fit into the boats."

The program of living-color, personally narrated adventure film will make believers of the most skeptical, Martin said. Nor is Rhode trying to keep his fishing hole a top secret. To anyone who will listen, he will give implicit directions. The place is Great Bear Lake, in Canada, fourth largest body of inland water on the continent, larger than either Lake Erie or Lake Ontario and almost as large as the two combined.

"The lake is located in Northwest Territory of Canada, directly astraddle the Arctic Circle," Rhode advised. "And those are the most uneducated trout that ever existed. Because of the remoteness of the lake, it probably never will be over-fished."

Rhode's largest trout was a mere 62 pounds, but he tells of one taken by an Indian in a net that weighed in at 102 pounds!

In addition to unbelievable fishing, the new Wally Taber Safari Show turns the spotlight on Alaskan hunting as well as Alaskan-style family campouts where trapping crabs, digging clams, netting whimpies and skin-diving for gold in all the vogue.

Consumers Declares 10 per cent Dividend

The Board of Directors of Consumers Power Company has declared a ten percent common stock dividend, subject to regulatory approvals, payable April 3, 1967, to shareholders of record March 3, 1967.

At the same time, the Board declared a quarterly dividend of 47-1/2 cents a share on the Company's presently outstanding common stock, payable February 20, 1967, to holders of record January 13, 1967. Also declared was a dividend of $1.12-1/2 per share on the Company's $4.50 preferred stock, $1.13 per share on the $4.52 preferred stock, and $1.04 per share on the $4.16 preferred stock, payable April 1, 1967, to stockholders of record March 2, 1967.

A. H. Aymond, Chairman of the Board, said the ten percent common stock dividend would have the two-fold effect of permanently dedicating to the Company's capital structure sums that had been reinvested in the business in the form of retained earnings, and at the same time provide additional return to shareholders as future dividends are paid on their increased investment in the Company.

It is the present expectation of the Board of Directors to continue the present 47-1/2 cents quarterly dividend on the increased number of common shares, subject to future earnings and other relevant considerations.

Fractional shares will not be issued, but stockholders will have the option of buying or selling fractional interests to round out their holdings to full shares, with such decisions to be made between April 3 and April 21, 1967.

There presently are 20,567,560 shares of common stock outstanding. The Company previously declared a five percent stock dividend in December, 1955.

2 Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all our relatives, friends and neighbors who were so kind and thoughtful in our recent bereavement. Special thanks to the Rev. EMU Has New Tour

Checkpoint Charlie in Berlin, the Roman Forum, the Valley of the Fallen, Versailles, the medieval walled city of Rothenburg - visits to these places will take the teaching of history out of the text book world and make it live for students on the European history tour scheduled by Eastern Michigan University this summer.

The "clinical approach to history" is being conducted for the eighth consecutive year by Dr. Reinhard Wittke, associate professor of history at EMU. An unusual feature of the Valley of the Fallen, where more than a million victims of the Spanish Civil War are buried, is the enormous cathedral carved underground from solid rock. On the same excursion from Madrid to Escorial, the group will visit the Pantheon of the Spanish Hapsburgs.

As the tour moves from Spain across southern France and into southern Italy, Donald Briggs, assistant professor of history at EMU, will be giving daily lectures on contemporary French and Italian history.

Special problems in both Berlin and Munich will be discussed by Wittke, who holds a PhD in history with emphasis on medieval and modern German history. Additional lecturers will present talks in East Berlin, Munich, Vienna, and at the University of Tuebingen. Also there, a University reception and discussion groups with German students are scheduled.

Although the trip has an intensified program of study, there is time allowed for relaxation in such varied places as Palma on the island of Majorca, Nice on the French Riviera, and Zermatt in Switzerland.

Cultural events are not overlooked and included in the total cost of the trip there are tickets for operas at the Baths of Caracalla in Rome and in Munich, an opera in Vienna, and concerts in Salzburg and Berlin.

The influence of the topography of Europe on its history is visually demonstrated as the group moves from southern Europe, through the mountains of the central portion to the great plains of the north.

The tour price of $1,429 includes round trip jet fare leaving Detroit June 19, all accommodations, most meals, and all scheduled sightseeing.

Hoffmeyer To Graduate

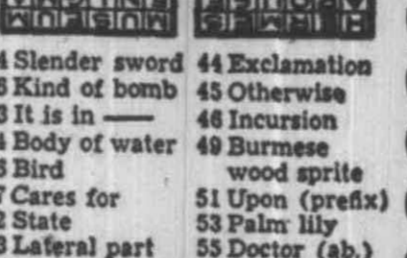

The degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Education is scheduled to be conferred upon Mr. William A. Hoffmeyer of the Plymouth at Salem College, Salem, West Virginia, this month. Hoffmeyer is the son of Marvin Hoffmeyer of 5732 Town Road, Plymouth and is a 1955 graduate of Southeastern High School, Detroit.

He is a member of Alpha Phi Omega fraternity.

Michigan Autos Often Unsafe

LANSING -- Apparently a good many motorists will do well to start the new year with a resolution to treat their automobiles to some needed and important safety repairs.

This is the conclusion of officials of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, currently conducting vehicle inspections with the cooperation of police and sheriff's departments throughout the state. The inspections are part of a Safety Enforcement Emphasis Program aimed at helping motorists avoid accidents.

Of more than 30,000 vehicle inspections reported during the first few weeks of the program, more than 2 out of 3 vehicles checked needed repairs on one or more of the major safety equipment items, according to an initial survey of records submitted for analysis.

Defective lights head the list of improperly maintained items -- closely followed by unsafe tires, exhaust systems and broken or obscured windshields and windows.

Patrol officers of cooperating departments making the checks discovered headlights that were burned out or badly aligned. Drivers also tended to neglect or were not aware of burned out tail lights, brake lights, license plate lights, parking lights and turn indicators.

Tire neglect assumes serious proportions when the driver rides on bald tires or upon tires with little tread; and the way the tires are worn often indicates to the inspecting officer that tires need balancing or that the wheel alignment should be checked.

Smoke from beneath the car or a noisy muffler is a tip-off that lethal gases may be seeping into the car. Cracked and discolored windshields or window glass -- or areas obscured by unauthorized stickers or dangling objects -- mean the driver can't see the roadway as he should.

Spokesmen for the chief's association point out that, while these neglected items are dangerous even under the best weather conditions, they are extremely hazardous in winter when visibility is often limited, windows are closed and road surfaces are slippery.

Other items included in the vehicle inspections, and which are equally important to the safety of the driver and his passengers, are: steering, brakes, horn, mirrors and the vehicle's visibility equipment defrosters, windshield wipers and washers.

Cooperating enforcement agencies include the Michigan State Police and sheriff's and local police departments. Cars of violators which are stopped get a checkup on the major safety items, the proper operation and maintenance of which are required by Michigan law.

Initial returns indicate that 9 out of 10 of the cars inspected were first stopped because the driver committed an unsafe driving violation rather than for an apparent vehicle defect spotted by the officer in advance.

It is expected that several hundred thousand vehicles will be inspected during the program, which is scheduled to run through February 11. Necessary program materials have been provided through a grant from Traffic Safety For Michigan, Inc. The statewide compilation and summarization of inspection reports is being made by the Highway Traffic Safety Center, a unit of Michigan State University's Continuing Education Service.

Officials of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police view this summary of initial returns - while not complete - as a serious indication that drivers are neglecting the condition of far too many vehicles traveling Michigan's streets and highways. They hope the program will serve as a warning to drivers to check not only the condition of their vehicles but their own driving behavior as well.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Zoning Board of Appeals

CITY OF PLYMOUTH, MICHIGAN

At a meeting of the Zoning Board of Appeals to be held in the City Hall on Tuesday, January 10, 1967 at 7:30 p.m., E.S.T., a public hearing will be held to consider:

Appeal Case No. 66-165 of Paul Boatin requesting permission to erect a one-story, three-family apartment building upon property containing approximately 8,700 square feet of land area, said property identified as Lot 404, Assessor's Plymouth Plat No. 14, to be known as 157 N. Mill Street, located on the west side of N. Mill Street between Amelia Avenue and Rose Streets, Plymouth, Michigan.

Section 6.03 of Ordinance No. 182, Zoning Ordinance of the City of Plymouth, requires 3,000 square feet of land area per family unit, or a total of 9,000 square feet for a three-family unit.

All interested parties will be given an ample opportunity to participate in the hearing, and at the close of the hearing, all comments and suggestions of those citizens participating will be considered by the Appeal Board on Zoning prior to making its decision.

See Little Relief For Tight Money

Farmers are faced with a tight money situation, and "prospects are poor for much improvement in the near future," according to a Michigan State University agricultural economist.

In a report in "Michigan Farm Economics," Dr. John R. Brake said, "Interest rates will continue high - probably 7 to 7 1/2 per cent on short terms and real estate credit. In addition, down payment requirements will be larger than last year."

Brake noted that tight money is a result of a series of events which probably began with the decision to increase the U.S. commitment in Viet Nam.

"Government spending was increased without being offset by increased taxes (government income)," he said. "Supplies of goods and services did not keep pace with the high level of wages and salaries."

"Optimistic businessmen wanted to expand their businesses. Consumers were in a buying mood."

"Knowing that all such conditions lead to increased prices as consumers and producers bid for goods and services, the Federal Reserve Board of Governors late in the fall of 1965 initiated action to stabilize prices. They raised maximum interest rates that banks could pay on some forms of long term

Questions & Answers

What causes eggs and liquid to seep out in mixtures such as meat loaves, meatballs, and patties? Can this be prevented?

Too high heat could be the culprit, or excessive liquid in the recipe. The leakage can be arrested by adding more soft bread crumbs to the mixture and cutting down slightly on the liquid ingredient.
