City Attorney Becomes Center Of Verbal Storm

City Attorney Thomas Healy has become the center of a heated controversy. It all started very innocently when he asked for permission to withdraw from the civil suit in which Rev. Peter Schweitzer petitioned the Circuit Court to ask the legality of a charter provision that denied him the privilege of becoming a candidate for the City Commission in the coming election. The charter provides that a candidate must be a taxpayer property owner to be eligible to seek office. And it was on this premise that City Clerk Eugene Slider refused the nomination petitions.

Thomas Healy, Jr.

With the institution of the civil suit the City Attorney asked that he be permitted to withdraw from the case on the grounds that, as a member of the Election Commission, he was a defendant in the suit. This request was granted by the City Commission. Later, it was learned that the City Attorney had voiced the opinion that he thought Rev. Schweitzer, associate minister of the First Methodist Church, had a good case. This started the fireworks.

Group Plans Rouge River Clean-Up

A local plan to clean up the Middle Rouge River has been approved by a Water Resources Commission regional sanitation engineer. Wayne Denniston, along with George Brusco, district Conservation Officer, okayed WRAPP, Water Resources Anti-Pollution Program, designed to clean up the stream that runs through Hines Park. The approval came at a meeting in Northville last week at the Presbyterian Church. The group plans to meet again in mid-March.

Headed by Jerry Hazlett, 263 Farmer, Plymouth, the project began last year when Jaycees and Boy Scouts covered two miles of the Rouge and pulled out enough junk to fill a dump truck. Working upstream to avoid muddying the water, the volunteers found everything from beer cans to camp stoves to an ice box in the stream bed. "This year, much more volunteer help is needed," Hazlett said after getting the go-ahead on his plans. "We also will need some money to help finance the project." Those interested in helping may contact Hazlett at either 453-4256, or 455-0250.

Signs of Spring

Is spring almost here? Mrs. Walter Allen of 14100 Beck Road reports sighting two cardinals and a meadow lark. "I saw the cardinals on Feb. 11," she says. "I was walking along Blanche St., and they were in a tree across the road." The meadow lark was found earlier. "We spotted it on the front yard of the George Henshaw home on Feb. 6," says Mrs. Allen. "It had a broken wing." The bird was picked up by nine-year-old Roy Henshaw, who is still caring for it.

McEwen, Residents Battle

Land and buildings in Plymouth Township will be assessed at the same rate two years from now, but this next year land will be assessed at only 25 per cent of its true value. This was the announcement Supervisor John McEwen gave to township homeowners at the Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday. Specific land assessments would not be known, McEwen said, until he met with the assessors from the county who are now conducting an audit of all land in the township. McEwen had expected to meet with the assessor last Thursday morning. "But what standard for setting the assessments are you going to use as the township assessor?" asked Maurice Breen, president of the Lake Pointe Homeowners Association, which has led a protest against the low assessment of land as compared with buildings. "I can't tell what the standard will be until I see the audit," McEwen answered to the repeated questions from homeowners. "Will you have a standard, one homeowner asked, 'or will you decide each case separately?'" "I will decide each one on its merits," McEwen said. When asked if he would use true cash value as a standard, McEwen asked, "What is true cash value?" "You can determine this by comparables," Breen said, "by looking at comparable land used in a comparable way."

OFFICIALLY OPENING EASTER SEAL CAMPAIGN: A sure sign of Spring is the annual Easter Seal Campaign and it got off to a flying start during the past week with a proclamation from the City Commission and a donation from Mayor James Houk. The Mayor is shown here making the presentation to Eber Readman, of Burroughs, who is chairman of the campaign.

"But even the sales price," McEwen said, "which some people say is the true value, may be completely wrong. I'll have to look at the figures the assessors give me, and then make a decision." The discussion between McEwen and the homeowners had started with a resolution that land and buildings be assessed at the same rate. The resolution was presented to the township board by the Lake Pointe group. Buildings in Plymouth Township are now assessed at an average of 33.33 per cent of true cash value, while land is assessed at 10.72 per cent. State law now requires that all assessments be made at 50 per cent. The Bureau of Taxation, McEwen said, has approved his plan to increase the rate of assessment gradually over a period of several years. Land assessments would be raised to 25 per cent this next year and land and buildings brought up to the same level--about 35 per cent--the next year. In succeeding years, the supervisor said, he would move the entire tax rate structure up toward 50 per cent. One of the reasons that the adjustment of tax rates would take so long, McEwen said, is that the Bureau of Taxation

Ford Plans Rapid Rise In Plymouth Employment

Although the new Ford Heating and Air Conditioning plant on Sheldon Road has been in operation only a week, officials already are planning a greatly expanded payroll within the next few months. These plans came as a complete surprise last Monday evening when Plant Manager Robert Winder, after accepting the official welcome of the Plymouth business community, made the official announcement. Smiling broadly in the knowledge that he was revealing pleasing news, he announced the following steps in employment increases: Feb. 6, 343; March 6, 504; March 27, 641; April 17, 832; May 15, 891; June 5, 980; June 19, 1,151. Announcement of these figures proved the confidence the Ford Company has placed in the future of the Plymouth community. And the added payroll was pleasant news, too, to the 150 business men who attended the "Welcome Party" at the meeting house, which was sponsored by the Area Planning Commission. The new plant is built on 168 acres and while Winder didn't mention any plans for future plant expansion he gave a hint of what to expect when he smilingly remarked, "The Ford Motor Company didn't buy 168 acres in Plymouth Township to mow as a lawn." Winder confided that the plant was entirely finished, but that a promise made at the ground breaking last Fall had to be kept, and two operating lines were moved over from Ypsilanti to get the production started. "This number will be increased to about 14 to 16 lines not later than June," he said, "and we'll get our employee expansion going as quickly as we can."

The Welcome Dinner was a complete reversal of the usual

Chairman Ralph Lorenz, of the Parking Committee, indicated his group felt strongly that the proposed Authority should be established by ordinance and that his group would make recommendations as to the powers and duties. City Commissioner Arch Vallier, who attended along with Mayor James Houk and Commissioners George Hudson, James Jabara and James McKeon, posed the question of what the merchants wanted from an Authority. "Do the merchants want paid parking or do they want free parking in the city parking lots?" queried Vallier. The information wasn't immediately available but Chamber of Commerce President Carl Pursell promised to have the answers within another week or so to be used as a guiding point for the recommendations of the Parking Committee in setting up powers and duties of the Authority. Chairman Wallace Loucks, of the Store Front Committee, read the recommendation of his group that a covered walk be constructed for Penniman Ave., Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail and that store front changes should be controlled to the degree that changes are compatible for the overall design. The finance committee, which made recommendations for financing each of the proposals, suggested that a special assessment was the most desirable means of financing the covered sidewalk since it is difficult to show a benefit to the city at large. "We feel financing by individual contributions is too uncertain," the recommendation reads, "if Federal funds can be obtained, they should be; but then the entire cover should be built at once, so every store can benefit from such funds." The report of the Traffic Circulation committee, presented by Thomas O'Hara, asks "That a full loop concept, as proposed by the planning consultants be implemented as part of the city's street improvement program, as soon as economically possible." The loop plan calls for a two-way loop around the Central Business District with turns available at Ann Arbor Trail, Wing Street and Church Street and with Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail as the principal arteries. Financing of the traffic loop would be turned over to the City Commission in the recommendation of the Finance Committee. "It is our thought that the FORD DIDN'T BUY 168 ACRES TO CUT LAWN: This was the terse remark made by Bob Winder, superintendent of the new Ford Heating and Air-Conditioning plant, as he was welcomed to the Plymouth Community last Monday night. He also brought some other good news with him.

Parking Authority Also Recommended

Recommendations for a Municipal Parking Authority, a full-loop traffic circulation concept and a covered walk along Penniman Ave., Main Street and Ann Arbor Trail in the Central Business District were made in the final six-month report of the Central Business District Implementation Committee Wednesday in the City Commission Chambers. In addition, the committee recommended that the report of the Beautification and Open Spaces group be accepted and that the group be appointed a special sub-committee of the City Commission to take its final recommendations directly to the City Fathers.

Perhaps the most important recommendation was that of the Parking Committee for the establishment of a Parking Authority by a city ordinance which would give it the powers necessary to function properly. The recommendation that "the City of Plymouth establish a Parking Authority with the power to raise funds, establish and operate parking facilities in the City" received a unanimous vote.

In a second recommendation, the committee asked that "the Authority establish a business licensing procedure that would provide for assessing a parking fee on all existing businesses, such fee to be based on the number of employees and the amount of private employee and customer parking provided by the business."

City Commissioner Arch Vallier, who attended along with Mayor James Houk and Commissioners George Hudson, James Jabara and James McKeon, posed the question of what the merchants wanted from an Authority. "Do the merchants want paid parking or do they want free parking in the city parking lots?" queried Vallier. The information wasn't immediately available but Chamber of Commerce President Carl Pursell promised to have the answers within another week or so to be used as a guiding point for the recommendations of the Parking Committee in setting up powers and duties of the Authority.

PHS Music Department In Concert

The Plymouth High music department, including the band, orchestra and choir, will present its annual mid-winter concert on Saturday, Feb. 25 at 8 p.m. in the school gymnasium. Featured will be selected solos and ensembles which won honors in the district solo and ensemble festival in Ypsilanti a week ago. In addition, the orchestra hopes to appear in the new blazer uniforms provided by the Board of Education and Plymouth Symphony Board.

Directing the joint concert will be choir and orchestra director Fred Nelson, junior high orchestra supervisor Michael Endres and band director James Griffith. The concert provides the band, orchestra and choir with an opportunity to present publicly the musical selections to be given at the district band, orchestra and choir festivals slated in early March. The orchestra will open the program with the following selections: Symphony No. 24 in B Flat Major by Mozart, Pezzo Ostinato from the "Charterhouse Suite" by Williams, Rondo Movement No. 3 from the Piano Concerto in D Major by Haydn, with James Warren

St. Mary Hospital Keeps Pace New Emergency Care Is Planned

With the ever increasing desire to provide the best possible medical care the administration at St. Mary, of Livonia Hospital has instituted a bold, new policy in the Emergency Room. "Under this new plan," Sister Mary Columbine, Administrator of the hospital explained, "we will have a staff physician on duty in the emergency room every hour of the day and night. This is not exactly a new plan, as it has been in operation with considerable success at Pontiac General Hospital," she continued, "but it is the best system we found after an exhaustive study." Sister Columbine revealed that some time ago a committee had been appointed to make a study of the emergency room and the care that was required. And it was after the facts uncovered in the survey became known that the new plan was decided upon. According to the report of this committee emergency room care, once looked upon as the treatment of cuts and bruises and the victims of accidents, had taken on a much more important part in the hospital. It was found that folks were making much more use of the emergency facilities than ever before and for such things as the demand for the services of private physicians when their own doctor could not be reached. Demands like this, and many others soon taxed the emergency facilities beyond their designed limits and something had to be done. It was then, according to Sister Columbine, that the bold, new move was instituted. "The committee report was given to the staff physicians," she said, "and they, voluntarily, helped work out the program. These physicians, each of whom has a private practice, volunteered to work in shifts around the clock. This means that there will be a staff physician on duty any time service is demanded in the emergency room. At the moment," she went on, "we have 30 members of the staff on the list." One of the most interesting features of the new plan is that the emergency room facilities have been turned over to these volunteers and they

Who Hires the Engineer?

Purchase of City's Water Mains Bogs Down--Again

Disagreement over who should hire an engineering study has created another tie-up in Plymouth Township's repeated efforts to buy water mains from the City of Plymouth.

After the Township Board heard a letter from City Manager Richard Blodgett Tuesday night, Township Supervisor John McEwen labeled the letter as "another stall."

"We thought we were making progress but we're backsliding again," Trustee Gene Overholt said.

"What can the Board do?" McEwen asked.

Blodgett's letter said that the city's engineering consultants, Johnson and Anderson, felt that it would be unethical for them to be retained by the township in a study to see if the city could afford to give up about 140 residential water customers who live in the township.

Besides residences, the city provides water for several industries in the township, including the Burroughs Corp. plant. These water customers are a major source of revenue for the city.

While the trustees were contemplating suit against the city,

Blodgett said that "if they want the study badly enough, then they'll do it."

"I strongly suspect the study would come out in favor of releasing these residential customers. But if they don't want to pay, why should we do the study?"

The township has been negotiating with the city for more than a year, trying to agree on terms for the sale of certain city-owned water mains to the township.

Before it could sell any of the mains, the city has said, it must get permission from the Municipal Finance Commission, which must be convinced that the sale is not such a "substantial" part of the city water system that it would impair the city's ability to pay off its bonded indebtedness.

A study of the effects of such a sale of mains would cost about $150, according to city officials. The city said it would conduct such a study if the township would pay for it.

The township agreed to pay but asked that the city's engineers report to the township, rather than just to the city. But to be hired by the township, Johnson and Anderson said, would be unethical.

On hearing Blodgett's reply, Township Treasurer Elizabeth Holmes suggested that the township bring suit to get the mains. The entire city water system in the township, not just the residential system, just does not have the manpower to audit all property in one year.

"But aren't there other means of reassessment than the Bureau of Taxation?" Breen asked. "Couldn't the township hire private appraisers to evaluate the property?"

Such a plan would be possible, McEwen said.

In response to a question from Breen, McEwen said that the valuations turned in to him by the county would be made public. "They will be available here at the Township Hall," he said.

"But just because the assessors give me a certain value, doesn't mean that I will accept it."

Only one speaker from the homeowners supported the assessor's proposal for assessing land at 25 per cent, Martin Stiglich, 14905 Beck Road, said that since much of the land in the western part of the township had not changed hands for years, "it really does not have any value."

Stiglich said that land assessments should be compared with those in Washtenaw County rather than those in Wayne County, because Washtenaw has more of the rural land similar to that in the Plymouth area.

The Lake Pointe homeowners also presented a resolution that the township acquire land for recreation areas. "We're mostly interested in play areas for small children--tot lots, mainly," Breen said.

Trustee Ralph Garber said that money was the main problem in acquiring such sites, but that a proposal would be on the ballot for one mill to be levied for the purchase of land for a township center, fire station and a site for recreation purposes.

Both Breen and Trustee Dick Lauterbach pointed out, however, that the proposal would not cover small play areas, since only "a site" was mentioned.

Garber suggested that the play area could legally be part of the land acquired for a fire station.

Scott was appointed by Fischer to attend the biennial elections with Mrs. Ray Hulce as alternate.

City Commission investigate the costs of the proposed loop and if financially feasible, develop a formula to finance it through the following sources," was the recommendation, "by assessments on property owners abutting the loop; a special assessment district; and financing by the general public."

"We believe the City Commission should look into the special assessment district and study it carefully," said Harold Guenther, a member of the committee.

The recommendations of the Beautification and Open Spaces Committee were five-fold and involve an estimated cost of $200,000. The finance group told the gathering the proposals should be financed by private memorial funds, federal funds where available and other funds, such as from special service club projects.

The Beautification committee report, made by C.L. Porter, recommended:

1. That the basic design for beautification of Kellogg Park, as presented by consultants Johnson, Johnson and Ray of Ann Arbor five years ago, be accepted with the following additions: an impressive fountain in classical style on the Main Street side of the park; consideration of a permanent music shell; statutory and historical markers; retention of the point of the park triangle opposite Main Street as an integral part of the park; and financing by a joint community effort.

2. That a street and sidewalk planting program be adopted and include: a formal painting design for main avenues and streets and Kellogg Park, including permanent tub planting to be recommended later for residential areas; an efficient plan for replacement of trees lost to natural causes and construction; and a review of the open spaces in the city in the context of the plan.

3. That an official flowering tree be designated for the City and placed throughout Plymouth by the city and residents. The Flowering Crab was recommended.
4. That all four city parking lots be beautified including use of: landscaping and tree planting, use of dumpsters for trash and consideration of enclosures for unsightly views.

5. That further consideration of a mall in the CBD be delayed until after completion of the proposed loop. Penning Avenue is not recommended for a mall because businesses on the streets are non-shopping in character. It is not felt a mall would attract enough new businesses in the Penning area.

The steering group of the sub-committees, appointed six months ago by Mayor James Houk and the City Commission to make the studies and recommendations, included: City Manager Richard Blodgett, who served as moderator of the report meetings; City Clerk Eugene Sluder and Pursell.

Planners To Study Industrial Project

The Plymouth Township Planning Commission accepted for study Wednesday night, plans for an industrial subdivision which lies directly across the tentative route for the M-14 expressway through the township.

"We don't want to throw blocks directly in front of the highway department," Commissioner Maurice Breen said, "but it would be useful to show them what is being considered."

The subdivision, which would be known as the Wolverine Park Industrial Subdivision, is planned for an area north of Shear Drive and west of Sheldon Road.

Carl Rosman, Detroit realtor who presented the application for landowner Morton L. Scholnick, said he believed "we can fight this rerouting of the highway. If the route is allowed to go through, an extremely valuable piece of industrial property will be destroyed."

Both the planning commission and the Township Board have objected to the highway department's route and have urged the adoption of a more northerly route. Such a route would scarcely damage the Scholnick property, while the present route would cover it with the main freeway and a cloverleaf.

Scholnick said he was on record with the highway department as opposing the present route. Commission members invited Scholnick to attend a meeting between the highway department and interested landowners to be held Wednesday at the Township Hall.

In other business the commission: Listed for a public hearing at the regular April meeting an application for Elmer J. and Mary Carless for the rezoning from residential to professional offices an area at the southwest corner of Five Mile and Haggerty Roads.

Struck from the agenda a request from Pure Oil Co. for the rezoning of a five-acre parcel at the southeast corner of Five Mile and Haggerty because no formal application had been made. Pure had wanted to construct a service station on the site.

Referred to its planning consultant an application from William Jacobs for commercial zoning on the south side of Ann Arbor Road, east of Haggerty. Jacobs is planning a small community shopping center there.

Tabled for further information an application from American Telephone and Telegraph Co. for a microwave tower on the northeast corner of Powell and Napier Roads.

Denied an application by John Curmi for commercial zoning on the south side of Ann Arbor Trail, between Haggerty and Southworth Streets for an Auto Quickie Wash.

Attendance figures for the initial production of the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland University have just been announced by David Bishop, General Manager.

The thirty-one performances of "The Caucasian Chalk Circle" drew 13,781 theatregoers or 72.3% of capacity. "We are just delighted with the community support and audience reaction," said Bishop. "Seventy-two percent capacity is really overwhelming. That's a good deal better than many shows in New York, and they are working on the star system whereas we are not."

On Tuesday evening, February 21, the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre, will give a benefit performance of "Love's Labour's Lost" for the Ypsilanti Creek Theatre.

Theater, Music and Art

Scripts are now being accepted for Wayne State University's 1967 Playwriting Contest, according to Dr. Vincent Wall, associate professor of English and contest committee chairman.

The contest is sponsored annually by the Department of English and the University Theatre.

A donation of $300 has been accepted from the Greater Detroit Motion Picture Council for awards in three categories--full length play, one act play and children's play.

The University Center for Adult Education (Wayne State University-The University of Michigan - Eastern Michigan University) will present the first in a series of three concerts by the Stanley Quartet at 4:15 p.m., Sunday, Feb. 19, in the Engineering Society of Detroit Auditorium, Rackham Educational Memorial.

The romance between a witch and a woman-hating pessimist is implicitly implied in Christopher Fry's "The Lady's Not for Burning" which will be presented beginning March 3 by the University of Detroit Theatre.

The comedy, written in blank verse, reflects the playwright's mastery of sportive wit and polished irony. His play is often compared to that of Shakespeare.

The U. of D. production will be presented at 8:30 p.m. the weekends of March 3, 10, and 17 in the Library Theatre on the McNichols Road campus.

The Ramsey Lewis Trio will appear in a jazz concert at Oakland University on Saturday, February 25. Scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., the concert will be held in the University's Sports and Recreation Building.

The famed jazz pianist, whose recent recordings such as "The In Crowd" have sold into the millions, has made a number of television appearances, and has toured the country, including concerts in the Carnegie Hall and the Lincoln Center.

Thanks to burial under arid desert conditions which preserved them for more than 1700 years, the Detroit Institute of Arts will exhibit "Mummy Portraits from Roman Egypt" beginning March 22.

This is the first such exhibition ever organized in the United States, and it will be seen only in Detroit.

Frederick J. Cummings, Curator of European Art at the Detroit Institute of Arts since October, 1964, has been appointed Assistant Director, it is announced by Director Willis F. Woods.

Assisting in overall management of the Institute, Dr. Cummings will coordinate functions of the curatorial staff, development of publications, conservation and other scholarly programs.

The final portion of the program will be presented by the band and includes: Mass from "La Fiesta Mexicana" by Reelo, From Every Horizon by Dello Jolo, Festive Overture by Shostakovich, and Nobles of the Mystic Shrine by Sousa.

Two outstanding features of the wind instrument presentation will be the 17-piece French Horn ensemble. It contains all of the French Horn players in the Plymouth School District and will be under the direction of Louis Stout, professor of French Horn at the University of Michigan.

have assumed the responsibility. In other words, St. Mary will furnish the accommodations, building and equipment--and the doctors will furnish the services.

Another novel feature is the fact that persons using the emergency room facilities will receive two bills--one for use of the hospital and another for the services of the physicians.

"This new plan," Sister Columbine pointed out, "is the most modern idea to come along in hospital care in some time and St. Mary is most happy to keep pace with the modern trend."

She also pointed out the increased demands placed on the emergency room since the hospital was opened in 1959.

Designed to care for 7,000 patients at its inception, the emergency room handled 8,237 during the first year of operation and this number increased annually, with the population explosion, until it reached an all-time high of 22,596 in 1966.

Even with the addition constructed in 1965, the facilities have been taxed. Until the new plan went into effect the emergency care patients always were treated by a resident physician. At times, this brought criticism as people wanted staff physician care.

Skating Rink Could Be Start of Something Big

Several years ago Steve Allen, the famed radio and TV personality, wrote a song entitled, "This May Be the Start of Something Big" and it became popular almost overnight.

While few folks may remember the words, the title well could be the slogan for the Centennial Committee now that it has selected an ice skating rink as the permanent memorial to the one hundredth birthday anniversary of the incorporation.

The plans for the ice skating rink, as adopted, call for an expenditure of $170,000 for the outdoor facility. True, this seems like a great deal of money for such a memorial. But, what has been overlooked is the fact that "This could be the start of something big."

If properly handled, and with proper interest of the citizens of the area, this could be only the down payment on what eventually would be a building on the order of Detroit's Olympia.

With such a facility the Plymouth Community would be the envy of the entire northwest area. For, in a building of this type, such things as Ice Follies could be presented, and industrial exhibits, and other events to help make it a convention hall.

The big, final building, would come as the fourth step in the program and would cost, according to the latest presentation, approximately $660,000. But it would be worth every cent of it.

There are some who have voiced objection to the concentration on an ice skating rink and would have preferred a museum or a youth center. But, in the end, the rink could do more lasting good for the entire community.

First, it would provide a facility for the entire family to enjoy during the winter months. And, if wanted, it could even be available in the summer months.

It would provide an opportunity for the entire family to enjoy a much needed recreation and another opportunity for "togetherness."

Such things as Skating clubs would be organized and there is nothing nicer to look at than fancy skating to beautiful waltz music.

And more important, with such a facility, built to its conclusion, would be revenue producing and, in time, could be self-sustaining.

So, the proposed ice skating rink "could be the start of something big."

Facts You Should Know About Your Income Tax

In cooperation with the Department of Internal Revenue, The Mail is offering a series of articles dealing with income tax and all of its ramifications.

These articles have been prepared by Internal Revenue Department experts and can be taken as the last word. Ed. Note . . .

NON-TAXABLE INCOME

Certain types of income which you received are specifically excluded from tax by law. If the item is specifically excluded, it need not be shown on the tax return. In other cases, only a portion of the income is non-taxable; such as pensions, dividends, or sick pay. Income of this type must be shown on the return and the amount excludable subtracted from it.

Social Security payments are not taxable. If a person has only that type of income, he need not file a tax return. The same applies to Government payments and benefits to veterans and their families. This, however, does not include non-disability retirement pay. Unemployment compensation payments are not taxable, but any "Sub-Pay" received is taxable income. Your employer or union can tell you how much was received if you did not keep a record.

Whether you use the Form 1040, or the card Form 1040A, be sure to read the instructions. The instructions give more details regarding taxable and non-taxable income as well as where it should appear on the returns.

If you still have a problem, telephone your local Internal Revenue Service office for the answer.

TRAVEL EXPENSES

Employees may deduct travel and transportation expenses from their gross income, if not reimbursed, even though they use the standard deduction on Form 1040.

Travel expenses are defined as the cost of meals and lodgings while away from home overnight on business.

Transportation expenses are defined as the cost of vehicular travel. This deduction does not require that you be away from home overnight. If you are an employee and are required to use your car in your work, you may deduct a portion of the cost of its operation. Such expenses include the cost of gasoline, oil, repairs and depreciation.

Other business expenses, such as entertainment, professional and union dues, cost of tools, etc., can only be claimed if you itemize your deductions. These items are claimed under the heading of "other deductions" on page 2 of the return.

The instruction booklet to form 1040 gives a detailed explanation as to how expense accounts should be handled. Read the instruction book, and if you have a question, telephone your local Internal Revenue Service office.

Karl Starkweather Tells Area Problems

This is the third installment of a letter written by Karl Starkweather, one of the most respected elderly residents of Plymouth, dealing with the city's problems — past and present. — Ed. Note.

On the face of it, the argument sounded plausible enough. But that was not the end of the story. And what went on behind the scene may never be known. Anyway, who wanted to stop progress? I didn't. And closing this portion of the street was not progress. In fact, it was just the opposite of progress.

What the Commission did on this particular occasion, and under the prevailing circumstances, was, actually, a disservice to the community they were supposed to serve.

This word is not necessarily to impugn the motives nor the good intentions of this old give-away Commission. Their motives may have been good but, if they were good, their minds were too small for the job at hand. If their intentions were good, then they could see no further ahead than the ends of their noses. And, as I can now recall, there were no particularly long noses among them.

At this particular Commission meeting I tried to remind its members that, while it was always easy to give property away, it was usually damned hard to get it back again, and even though there might be good reason for wanting it back.

And the getting of it back, even though it might be conceivably possible, might take a long time, would be costly and could be full of complications. But the need for wanting it back would lately seem to be becoming more and more apparent. A railroad grade separation in Plymouth is now needed and it is needed badly.

More than ever before there seems to be continuing blockage of the Main street passage by railroad freight trains. And a freight train of 50 cars and upwards of today is a longer train than a train with a like number of cars a quarter of a century ago. Right here in Plymouth the Evans Products Company are turning out railroad box cars every day and they are longer and heavier cars than the standard box car of a few years ago.

No, we can't stop progress, and that's why we see so many long freight trains passing over their right-of-ways today. The economy of the country being on its upward swing as never before, there will be no cessation of freight train passings. Also, there is sometimes congestion in the railroad yards and it takes time to unscramble the mess.

From Paul Chandler's column "The Mail Attitude":

What is the responsibility of a newspaper to "expose"? A Livonia reader has written to suggest that our paper become "more vigorous" as a critic of local affairs. And another nameless reader who replied to the Mail's poll on local problems stated that a "more crusading" newspaper was needed in the community.

This is all good counsel, in general. We are keenly aware of the responsibility of a newspaper to hold a bright light on what happens in local government. To the best of our ability, we are watching all the time, and we are, and shall, report everything we see, without fear.

The Stroller . . .

"Bob" Winder, manager of the new Ford Heater and Air-Conditioning plant on Sheldon Road who was formally introduced to the Plymouth business community at a dinner this week, is the kind of fellow Plymouth will like.

He can enjoy a good joke at his own expense. And these types are few and far between.

His welcome dinner at the Meeting House was ended and as the guests wended their way toward the exits, he stood at the head of the stairs 'just visitin'.

It wasn't long until his humor came to the fore as he related an incident in his career that, to him, will always be a good joke.

Admittedly, an ardent hunter, he had accepted the invitation of a friend in Manchester, Michigan, to join him on a Sunday morning pheasant hunt.

"We met, as planned," Bob smiled, "and soon were on the hunting grounds. I seldom have seen anything like it. Pheasants came up out of the brush from all angles. And as fast as they came we fired."

Here, he started to chuckle a bit as he recalled the incident.

"The sound of our shots, naturally, were heard for quite a distance. And soon we heard sounds, too. They were the sounds of a police siren."

"What are you fellows doing here?" the officer asked, "and before we could answer he shouted, 'don't you know this is a private preserve? Now get the --- out of here.'"

"And we went," the new Ford plant manager chuckled.

"It was a hunting trip I won't forget." Yes, you'll like Bob Winder.

Ed Schening, the boss man at Burroughs, always is a dignified looking gent at civic affairs. But, unknown to him, he was the subject of an odd discussion the other evening at the Meeting House.

He had just finished extending the community's welcome to the new Ford plant manager, when someone asked, "Don't you think Ed looks a lot like former President Warren G. Harding? He has a lot of his mannerisms."

The question went unanswered as no one at the table remembered President Harding.

There are days like that — when you're in quest of a feature story.

You always can depend on "Doc" Salan, the roly-poly gent who always enjoys a good laugh, to be different.

When all the others at the luncheon table the other day were complaining about the snow, he interrupted by saying, "You know, I got to enjoy watching the birds. That's a lot of fun, just keeping track of the many species."

"Imagine me," he chuckled, "being a bird watcher. But the snow did it."

Speaking of doctors, the Stroller attended a meeting at which Dr. Barber presided.

"We've got to think big," the good doctor explained.

That went over big with the Stroller. For he recalled one of the teachings of his childhood. Back in our home town we had a wise, old teacher — wise, possibly, because she was what we called, "an old maid."

One of the things she drummed into us was this: "You'll never leave your footprints in the sands of time — walking in a parade."

Not bad, eh? That will be our thought for the day.

The insult supreme:

Had a chance to visit with Willis Hall, he of the booming voice who always makes his presence felt at the Board of Supervisors meetings, and got the insult supreme.

"When are you fellows out there (meaning the Plymouth Community) going to wake up and keep pace with the times?"

"If you don't, you'll really be 'The Doughnut City' — big around the edges with nothing in the middle."

The remark wasn't original — but it hit home.

The laugh of the day:

Dick Blodgett, Plymouth City manager, called across the table, "Want a good story?"

He didn't wait for an answer.

"That $7,000 deficit in snow removal you mentioned last week, has melted faster than the snow."

"We became confused in the figures and gave them to you from the wrong column. The deficit is only $3,000."

Well, well, well. Now, the record is set straight.

Daylight Savings Plan Revives Old Argument

If one can interpret the sounds emanating from our state capital, the legislators soon will be locked in a stubborn debate over Daylight Savings Time.

This was bound to happen when the U.S. Congress passed a bill to place the entire country on the time saving plan, but granted each state the right to object.

Immediately State Senator Basil Brown (D) introduced a bill to have Michigan remain on Eastern Standard time and it is this bill that opened the firing.

Until a final decision is made one will hear all sorts of arguments as the legislators discuss the whys and wherefores of trying to add more daylight to the average citizen's day.

It isn't difficult to list the many reasons why adoption of daylight savings time would be a benefit to the Plymouth Community. First, there would be an added hour to enjoy the outdoors. For those who love gardening and work through the day, the additional hour would provide the time necessary to engage in the hobby.

To those who enjoy golf, the added hour would mean that a man working in the shops or in the office all day would be able to get in a round after dinner.

The extra hour would provide time for all sorts of relaxing — and provide the surcease from toil that is so vitally necessary to one's health.

Opposition to such things always has been puzzling. If you listen to these sounds from Lansing you soon will be hearing that the farmers are opposed . . . that it makes it too difficult on the cattle, and that the dew is off the ground by the time the farmer gets to work.

These arguments always have seemed to be far fetched. Through the years the farmers always have claimed their day was "from sun up to sun down." They left the impression that they never watched the clock.

And what about the cattle? If any of these farmers owned cattle — or just one cow — that could tell time, he could travel the nation's theaters, and TV screens, and harvest dollars in far greater numbers than he ever could gather on his farm.

So, because it appears that the good outweighs the bad, let's have daylight savings time from April until September.

If City Charter Is Bad It Should Be Changed

When City Attorney Thomas Healy, who normally would represent the City in all legal action, withdrew from the present civil case in which Rev. Peter Schweitzer is challenging the City Charter, he, apparently, touched off an explosion, the sounds of which reverberate into high places.

Rev. Schweitzer instituted his suit when he was disqualified as a candidate for the City Commission on the grounds that he was not a tax paying owner of property within the city limits. It was pointed out that this was a condition called for in the City Charter.

At the same time, a group of citizens joined in the court action, claiming that the Charter provision denied them the right to elect a man of their own choosing for the Commission.

In the midst of this court fire, City Attorney Healy withdrew from the case — and the City Commission passed a resolution confirming his action — on the theory that he was a member of the Election Commission and, therefore, a defendant in the suit.

Now, the question arises regarding the status of the City Attorney. He has let it be known that he feels Rev. Schweitzer is right in some of his arguments against the Charter. So, there are those who feel that some disciplinary action should be taken against the Attorney for stating his mind and withdrawing from the suit.

On the other hand, there are many who firmly believe that the City Attorney, paid by the tax payers, to defend, has every right to inform them why he is not carrying out his assigned duties in this particular case.

This could evolve in a long, nasty argument. It is hoped that such will not be the case.

It might be better if the City Commission reviewed the Charter. If the charter provision in this case is a bad provision let's get rid of it. If it isn't, then let every one live up to it with decorum.

This could be a case where the law — and not the man — should be changed.

A caravan left Plymouth on a recent Friday, and headed for the hills--the hills of Caberfae. The only ones in the group who had skied before were the James Rothems and the Joseph McCanns. They talked the Richard Brooks, Richard Rhineharts and William Kleckners into giving the sport a try.

The Howard Oldfords also were in the group (he brought along his skidoos).

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Suman, former neighbors of the McCanns, came up from their new home in Mansfield, Ohio for the weekend trip.

Try A Shrimp Salad

Mrs. Wingard can put the salad in the refrigerator and not have to worry about it while she gets the rest of the meal ready.

Mrs. Edwin Wingard recommends a shrimp salad that can be used as a side dish at a big meal, or as the main course at a luncheon.

"It makes a hit with men," she says.

Mrs. Wingard is busy right now as chairman of the Woman's Club benefit luncheon on Feb. 27.

SHRIMP SALAD
1 package lime jello
1 cup hot water
1/2 cup cold water

1/2 cup salad dressing
Dissolve jello in hot water. Add cold water, salad dressing and a little salt and pepper. Chill this mixture. When it has jelled, whip it with a beater.

1/2 cup shredded cabbage
1/2 cup shredded carrots
1/4 cup diced cucumber
1 tablespoon chopped onion
2 cups shrimp

Pour in mold and chill. This will serve eight.

Good Buys at the Grocers

PORK: This week retailers are generally steady to lower but with fewer specials in evidence, Spareribs, bacon and skinless franks are most in the news with a little emphasis being placed on butt roasts, loin chops and smoked ham.

FISH: Smelt is the only fresh item available in any volume. Cod filets are being featured. Whitefish from the Canadian lakes - ice caught and frozen - are moderately priced and many frozen packs are in ample supply. Shrimp is scarce.

POULTRY: Fryer prices have moved up temporarily. EGGS AND DAIRY: Egg prices are now about steady to a week ago - with some indications of strength. There is still an 8-10¢ difference between large and medium of the same grade, making both sizes a good value, depending upon use. Cottage cheese, cheese slices and the dairy orange juice are most frequently seen in the dairy ads this week, though all kinds of oleomargarine are also being suggested.

The church was decorated with white mums, snapdragons, daisies and English ivy for the afternoon wedding.

Escorted down the aisle on the arm of her father, the bride wore a beau de seaugown with pearl alencon lace at the sabrina neckline, and down each side of the long skirt.

Her headpiece was also trimmed with pearl embroidery. She carried a bouquet of cymbidium orchids, white roses, and English ivy, with a removable orchid corsage.

The attendants wore white and the satin gowns with Watteau double back panels. Their headpieces were white bows attached to short veils. They carried sprays of red roses, white carnations and mums.

Let Spring Come Into Your House

Mrs. Barkley shows how a few free-form felt flowers can become an attractive bouquet.

Mrs. Harvey Barkley, of Greenbrook Lane, has appeared on the Carol Duval show with some of her crafts. She has some suggestions for springlike wall hangings.

The first one is made of linen and is perfect for a little girl's bedroom.

Use a piece of linen 12 inches wide and 30 inches long. Mrs. Barkley used natural colored linen. However, any color that blends with the room can be used.

Hem the linen on all sides. Then make an extra wide hem at the top and bottom, leaving them open at the sides, so a dowel can slide through each one.

Make a tree out of burlap. Glue this to the linen. Tie white yarn around the branches, to make the ropes for the swings. Then glue the tree onto the linen.

Mrs. Barkley glued tiny paper flowers here and there on the linen. The leaves and lillies of the valley at the bottom of the tree are plastic. These are all available at the dime store.

A few little butterflies are scattered among the flowers. Mrs. Barkley glued burlap swing seats on the linen.

She bought two little dolls at the dime store and pinned them to the linen with a safety pin fastened to the back of the hanging.

This wall hanging was made for Mrs. Barkley's daughter, Susan.

The yarn swing ropes are looped over the dolls' arms, and glued to the swing seat.

Mrs. Barkley bought curtain rod ends at a drapery shop, and stained them with maple stain.

Dowel rods are slipped through the large hems at the top and bottom and the curtain rod ends attached to them.

Now you have a couple of swingers ready for your wall.

The second project is a simple but attractive one. Felt flowers glued on burlap bring spring into the house a few weeks early.

Glue the burlap to canvas board, or any heavy backing that isn't too thick.

Cut a wicker basket in half and glue it to the burlap. Then cut tiny flowers and leaves out of felt scraps, and glue them on the burlap. The flowers should be arranged so they look like a bouquet in the basket.

Now put it in a frame and you are finished.

Woman's Club Names Fashion Show Models

Models have been chosen for the Woman's Club benefit luncheon and fashion show on February 27.

Mrs. Bruce Richard will do the moderating.

Mrs. Ralph Fluckey, Mrs. Robert Spayth, Mrs. Carvel Bentley, Mrs. Craig Bowby, and Mrs. John Leet will be the models.

Mrs. Edwin Wingard, chairman of the event, reports there is a possibility that the luncheon may be limited to 200. So she advises making early reservations.

Tickets are $2.75. Call Mrs. William Baumgartner at 453-5116 for reservations.

Open House Held For Partridges

Mr. and Mrs. Melburn Partridge will be guests of honor at an open house on their 60th wedding anniversary, February 26.

The Partridges lived in Plymouth for almost 50 years before moving to Tecumseh.

The open house will be held in the Baptist Youth House in Tecumseh from 2 to 5 in the afternoon and all of their friends from Plymouth are invited.

"They'd be so glad to see any of their old friends who could get there," said their daughter-in-law, Mrs. Austin Partridge. "But we don't want any gifts."

The Partridges have three sons, and many grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

One son, Casey Partridge still lives in Plymouth.

Plymouth Turns Out to Hear Vincent Price at Northville Town Hall

Mrs. Vincent Sullivan (left) and Mrs. John Pulker have some questions for Mr. Price at the luncheon at the Mayflower Meeting House.

Mrs. Richard Nelson, Mrs. William King and Mrs. Frank Briggs are all set to buy a painting after hearing the lecture.

It was impossible to find an empty seat at the P and A Theatre in Northville when Vincent Price spoke at the Town Hall Series on Feb. 9.

"Art is everything," said Price, the actor and art lecturer. "We need esthetic experiences in this age of automation."

His tall figure was silhouetted against the blank movie screen, as he made his plea for greater art appreciation.

"I can't paint, myself," he said, "so I made a decision early in life to be the best art audience I could."

He had words of praise for Americans interest in art.

"You never see a Frenchman in the Louvre. Most of the people there are tourists," he pointed out.

Beneath his professional poise, Price seemed to be a man casually talking about a subject he loved.

"People who study art appreciation are enriched for life," he said.

He also put in a good word for modern art.

"Modern art is not accepted by the general public," he said. "Art has been freed from restrictions because of the camera."

"Abstract art is condemned, but aren't the finest words in our language like truth, beauty, honor, and love all abstract nouns?"

"One man's idea of all these things is different from another."

Therefore they are expressed and appreciated differently in art.

"You have to make an effort to appreciate art. You have to go and look at art."

"Become involved with it," he told his audience.

In spite of a sardonic reference to Detroit as a motor center, he pointed out that our art institute has paintings from every period in history.

Price told the audience about a water color painting he discovered in Albion, Mich. He was charmed by the painting and asked about the artist.

He learned that she lived in the small town of Concord,

Mich., and arranged for a showing of her paintings in California.

However, she is almost unknown around Detroit.

At this point in the story, he leaned on the lecturn and smiled at the audience.

"I'm not going to tell you her name," he said. "You are going to have to find it out for yourselves."

And he didn't even offer any clues as to how it might be done.

Red Skelton is an accomplished painter, according to Price.

Skelton paints mostly clowns. Clown make-up is an art in itself, says Price.

He told of creating an original clown make-up when he appeared on Skelton's TV show.

"No clown ever copies another's make-up," said Price. "Each clown's make-up is an original creation."

Price claims that men are becoming more interested in art, because it is a good investment.

"Men have found out that the two best investments are oils and oil paintings," he said.

"Since Picasso has become a millionaire, it is acceptable for youngsters to want to become artists."

"Bring art into your homes," Price told the audience. "Put a few dollars down on a painting that you like."

"Buy an old master, if you can afford it," he said. "Or buy the work of an unknown young artist."

"Your life is richer, if you are an audience for art."

After the lecture, the women came over to the Meeting House in Plymouth for lunch and a question and answer period.

Mrs. Sterling Eaton, her daughter, Cynthia, Mrs. Arnold Johanson and Mrs. Margaret Hough were together at one table. The Eatons have been going to the Town Hall since it began six years ago.

Mrs. John Jacobs, Mrs. Robert Weideman and Mrs. Eric Childs have gone together to all three of this year's lectures.

Mrs. Thomas Notebaert was there with Mrs. Leslie Cavell and Mrs. Robert Stewart.

Mmes. Aldred Barkley, Donald Urquhart, E.O. Baldwin, Jr., Edwin Meredith and Henry Breneman made up another group.

Old friends, Mrs. Edwin Meredith and Mrs. Henry Breneman were at the luncheon together.

Mrs. Leslie Cavell and Mrs. Tom Notebaert are about to try the liqueur flavored grapefruit.

Play Based On Popular Movie

Melina Mercouri is the star of "Illya Darling," the new musical based on "Never on Sunday," which begins a four-week engagement at the Fisher Theatre on Tuesday, Feb. 21.

The first of her six films with Jules Dassin, "He Who Must Die," won laurels from the world's press, but was not a commercial success.

So they decided to do next a gentle, low-budget, improvised picture with a small crew and small means. It was her first comedy, the title - "Never on Sunday," and won Melina the Cannes Film Festival Award and an Oscar nomination. In all, the picture received five Academy Award nominations and Manos Hadjidakis landed an Award for the best song.

Nostalgic memories run rife among members of the company assembled for the musical. Melina, of course, is recreating her original role of the happy tart of Piraeus in the show, and her husband, Jules Dassin, is repeating his directorial assignment.

And Manos Hadjidakis, who has written the score for the musical, with lyrics by Joe Darion, is the same unpronounceable Greek composer who was responsible for the Academy Award winning song, "Never on Sunday."

Orson Bean, who is co-starred with Melina, is familiar to TV audiences because of his regular appearances on "To Tell the Truth" and his frequent guest shots on the Merv Griffin Show, among others.

Jesus Christ Is Cursed Sinner

By Rev. Norman W. Berg
(Pastor, St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church)

TEXT: "He hath made Him (Christ) to be sin for us, Who knew no sin, that we might be made the righteousness of God in Him."

Rev. Norman Berg

"Jesus Christ is a cursed sinner!"

This is the startling and yet true statement of St. Paul. With all true Christians we, indeed, believe that Jesus is the Holy Son of the Father, true God, and also the innocent Son of Mary, true man.

And yet by the grace and wisdom of God He is completely guilty as He approaches the Cross of Calvary. As Luther pointed out, "Isaiah says, 'God laid on Him the iniquity of us all.' God is not joking in the words of the prophet. He is speaking seriously and out of great love, namely, that this Lamb of God should bear the iniquity of us all."

This is God's great plan: His Son becomes true man that the guilt of all mankind might be laid on Him and Him alone. The denial of Peter, the adultery and murder of David, the work-righteousness of the young Luther, the materialism and pornography of our day, the spite and pettiness of many family circles, the racial prejudice of us in lily-white communities, the selfishness of us all, these and all sins of all time descend on Him! The Cross becomes the timeless preachment that Christ was cursed of God for our sin and was therefore completely separated from God, which is our deserved punishment for sin.

On the Cross, in Christ, the battle for the souls of all men occurs. Sin, the cruel tyrant, rushes in on Christ to damn, but encounters in Him the eternal invincible righteousness of the Son of God.

Death, the conqueror of all, strikes the sin-laden Christ, but is wiped out by the very Source of Life, God's Son, who rises victorious on Easter morn.

The Curse, the just wrath of God against sin, clashes with the mercy of God in Christ, and is cancelled by the sacrifice of His life, a complete Ransom for us all.

Sin is not merely pushed aside, death is not avoided, the curse does not go unpaid for. All - sin, death, and curse - is placed on Christ and He bears it successfully for us all.

Here is the solution offered for the sin of each of us as individuals. Jesus, God's Son, permitted all sin to be laid Churches in... every temptation to transfer sin, death, and the curse from ourselves to Christ; and on the other hand to transfer righteousness, life and blessing from Christ to us through faith! Here is what we need in any age or generation, for sin is the common disease of all in all time, a disease which ends in Hell, unless it is replaced, with the holiness of God Himself. This is offered you through faith in Jesus!

Protestant Churches Planning Drive To Raise $18 Million

Protestant churches across the country are planning to raise nearly $18 million and a half million dollars through their 18th annual One Great Hour of Sharing appeal for funds to support their programs of aid to the needy overseas.

A goal of $18,420,000 was announced by James MacCracken, executive director of the Church World Service, which sponsors the appeal on behalf of participating Protestant and Eastern Orthodox denominations. Observed annually on the fourth Sunday of Lent, One Great Hour of Sharing will be marked by more than 94,000 individual congregations throughout the nation on March 5.

"The church must be present after massive catastrophes and disasters; must feed the starving; must be concerned with the refugee; and must stand with the man alone who is striving to improve his ability to care for himself and his family," Mr. MacCracken said.

But the church in addition "must be alert to a new technology which makes possible assistance that was impossible a decade ago," he said. He included in this category nutrition, family planning, public health and housing construction.

"A penny a day can keep a child alive anywhere in the world where Church World Service works," said Mr. MacCracken.

"We now have the technology and the means of transportation to provide all the vitamins and proteins a human being needs for this sum. But we don't have enough pennies. Three dollars will keep a child alive for a year. But we don't have enough dollars.

One of the most puzzling aspects of the Christian Science Church, to others, is its attitude towards medicine.

Nat W. Hopkins, a former Reader and present Chairman of the Board of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Plymouth, feels that spiritual understanding will cure illness.

"Of course, I don't condemn others who don't feel this way," he points out.

"There has been a gradual growth in my dependence on spiritual understanding over the years. It is much greater, now, than when I first came into the church," he said, leaning back in the chair in the basement office of his home on Lakeside Drive.

While many aspects of the church's stand on medicine will never be accepted by those outside the religion, the whole

Christian Scientist Explains Medical Beliefs

N. W. Hopkins

Jesus, and consider that Christ is the spiritual idea of God, manifested by Jesus.

Thus miracles are possible to anybody who achieves the same understanding that Jesus had.

"This isn't something that is possible to achieve right away, but it sure gives you something to work for," said Hopkins with a smile.

Christian Scientists don't accept the germ theory. They also believe that God doesn't see or recognize evil. He doesn't heal sickness.

"The more we can refuse to recognize evil, the better we are attuned to God," he said. When a Christian Scientist overcomes an illness, he feels that he has overcome a human failing and become more God-like.

Christian Scientists feel that human feelings, such as hatred, jealousy, and revenge are the root of illness. If these feelings are driven out, the result of the feelings, sickness, also will be driven out.

Christian Scientists can have the help of a practitioner during times of illness. "The work of the practitioner is to give prayerful counsel that will overcome the false beliefs causing trouble," explained Hopkins.

"There have been many cases of criminal prosecution brought against Christian Scientists over the years.

"For every practitioner failure there are ten thousand doctor failures."

There are Christian Scientists who do go to doctors. "We don't condemn them," said Hopkins. "It may be a case of individual spiritual understanding not being sufficient for the case."

Under the laws of Michigan and most other states, Christian Scientists may be exempted, upon request, from physical exams and shots.

In Michigan, a parent may submit an exemption card to the schools and obtain the child's exemption from such requirements.

Weather Man Finally Gets Drift At EMU

For years Eastern Michigan University students held a Sno-Carnival, but the weatherman wasn't getting the drift. Competitions such as toboggan races and ice sculpturing were buried in mud and hidden by fog.

So this year students changed the event's name to the Winter Carnival, and sure enough the jinx has been broken - as you may have noticed. This year's Carnival will be held through February 24 with enough snow - unless there's a heat wave - to make Nanook of the North feel right at home. The theme will be, "Happiness is..."

Competition has already begun, with 40 students registered for the traditional beard-growing contest. Although officials had decreed that only men were eligible for the contest, four co-eds advocating equal rights are among the 40 entrants. Oddsmakers, however, are listing them as dark horses.

Peter Harris, son of Dr. and Mrs. Scott Harris of Clare Blvd., left the United States for Vietnam on Feb. 29. Peter is a deep sea diver doing welding and demolition work with the 523 Engineering Group. Port Construction. After taking his basic training at Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri in June and July, he was sent to Fort Belvoir near Washington, D.C. and also to Fort Eustis near Williamsburg for his special training. He is one of a very small group trained for this kind of work.

Three western Plymouth women, Mrs. James Knowles, Mrs. Richard Fritz and Mrs. Conrad Krankel are busy many nights rehearsing for the coming A.A.U.W. play given for children.

The play, entitled "The Process and the Pea," is being held at the high school on Feb. 18 with several showings during the day. After the Plymouth performance the entire group will go on tour to Birmingham on Mar. 4 and Ann Arbor on Mar. 11.

A baby shower was held on Feb. 2 by Mrs. Seymour Luvisch in her home on Amberst Court for Mrs. John J. Orendorf Jr. Friends attended from Wayne, Farmington, Livonia and Plymouth. Games were played and punch was served during the evening followed by a late lunch.

Mrs. Orendorf's husband, John, is with the Air Force and has been stationed in Turkey since Nov. 30, 1966.

Mr. and Mrs. James Chavis of Clare Blvd., in Parklane Estates, returned home on Feb. 4 from a week's vacation of combined business and pleasure in Montreal, Quebec. The occasion was the Railroad Suppliers Annual dinner which is sponsored by the Canadian railroads. While there Mrs. Chavis was taken on a tour of Montreal which was given for the women attending. They saw the site for the 1967 Exposition which will open in April and is located on two islands. Mrs. Chavis reported that the meals were of supreme cuisine and that there is more snow in our area than in Montreal.

Mrs. Jack Cantrell who lives on the corner of North Territorial and McClellum Roads held a luncheon baby shower in her home recently for Mrs. Linwood Dethloff of McClellum Road. Mrs. Cantrell was assisted by Mrs. Walter Scott of Plymouth Hills, Mrs. James McHugh from Northville and Mrs. Paul Boyer from Farmington. More than 20 women from our area attended. Bingo was played and the prizes given were for a baby; therefore all the prizes were given to Mrs. Dethloff along with many other lovely and useful gifts.

Consumers Power Plans Big Expansion

Consumers Power Company will invest $3,200,000 in the western Wayne County area as part of its 1967 program to expand and improve electric and natural gas service, James P. Thomas, West Wayne division manager said.

The division, headquartered in Livonia, expects to add 3,700 new gas customers in 1967. Plans include the construction of an addition to the Livonia service center, Mr. Thomas said.

The division serves 67,000 customers in an area encompassing 260 square miles of western Wayne County, including the communities of Farmington, Livonia, Wayne, Northville, Novi and Plymouth.

The projects in the division are part of the company's 1967 expansion and improvement program of $136,000,000.

Mr. Thomas said the major project in the division will be the continued expansion of the gas distribution system, with the installation of over 61 miles of new gas pipelines.

The addition to the Livonia service center will add 14,200 square feet for general purposes and 6,700 square feet for storeroom use. The building was erected in 1960 but growth of the gas business and addition of more employees necessitates the addition, Mr. Thomas said.

A gas regulator station will be built this year at Newburg and 7-Mile Road in Livonia to augment the gas supply to the Farmington area.

Consumers Power Company provides gas service to 735,000 customers and electric service to 979,000 customers in a combined service area which includes all but one of the 68 counties in Michigan's Lower Peninsula.

Natural gas customers receive gas supplies by way of an interconnected network of pipelines from southwestern United States and from underground storage fields in various locations in Michigan.

To keep abreast of the growth of its gas operations, Consumers Power is continuing a development program in St. Clair and Macomb counties. Included are additions to the Ray gas compressor station and expansion of underground storage facilities.

Prof Studies Crime, Law Enforcement

An Eastern Michigan University professor of sociology has won a $16,175 grant to study crime and law enforcement in Ypsilanti.

Dr. Edward Green of the Department of History and Social Sciences, whose specialty is criminology, received word of the award Friday from the Walter E. Meyer Research Institute of Law, a private foundation based in New York City. Green said the study is titled, "Crime and Law Enforcement as Expressions of Community Organization in a Small Industrial Community."

Preliminary work of the study has already begun, he said, adding that, "the Ypsilanti Police Department and Chief Ray H. Walton have been most helpful in making their records available."

MOTHER, DAUGHTER, and granddaughter all have birthdays on the same day, and this year they celebrated them together in Plymouth. Mrs. Ray Shores, right, returned from Terre Haute, Indiana for a Jan. 27 visit with her daughter, Mrs. Wayne Stapleton, center, of 481 Irvin and her granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Thompson of 798 Irvin.

Area Democrats Elect Officers

Democrats from Plymouth and Northville unanimously returned Robert Dwyer, branch manager for the Secretary of State, as chairman of the Second District Wayne County party organization at their local convention.

Dwyer has held the post since 1965.

Mrs. Joan Voytas of Plymouth was chosen first vice-chairman, and Orville Tungate, Plymouth Township, and Joseph Florilli, Northville Township, were elected second and third vice-chairmen.

Continuing as secretary is Mrs. Donald R. Bidwell, who had been serving the unexpired term of Katherine Mulligan.

William Kinnaid, Northville, president of the Livonia Federation of Teachers, was chosen treasurer, and Richard Wernette, former Plymouth mayor, was chosen parliamentarian.

Other executive board members elected were Ralph Byars, Irv Rozian, John Murawski, James Larkin, Doug Johnson, Trent Meek, Dorothy Guido, Edith Shepard, Alice Woodruff, Leo Speer and the Rev. David Strang.

The meeting centered around local problems. Rozian, a member of the Plymouth Township Planning Commission, led a discussion on the possibilities of reform in property assessments and on the utilization of community authorities.

Number one priority, officials said, would be the organization of local Democratic Clubs in Plymouth, Plymouth Township, and Northville Township.

Because of the improved Democratic showing at elections in the past two years, the local delegation to the state convention has been increased from five to six, the group was informed.

Osteopaths Acquire Site For Buildings

The trustees of the Michigan College of Osteopathic Medicine will shortly submit a preliminary development proposal to the State Board of Education, according to William H. Coleman, vice president for planning and development of the college. The college has acquired a building site near Pontiac and has done some initial planning with the aid of both private funds and a state appropriation voted in 1966 by the Legislature.

"The osteopathic profession in Michigan fully recognizes the need for expansion in training facilities for all the healing professions. The trustees ask only that as existing medical schools are enlarged and as the planning of new ones is authorized by the State Board of Education, the osteopathic profession be permitted to carry its full share of the training responsibility, just as it already does in patient care, where one-third of the people of Michigan rely on an osteopathic physician for their basic health needs," Coleman stated.

Fire Damages Local Home In Township

A fire which started in the closet of the children's room may have caused as much as $2,500 damage to the Charles McQueen home at 45170 Joy Road, according to Plymouth Township fire officials.

The fire, reported at 11:42 a.m. Tuesday, created so much heat that it melted the plastic thermostat cover in the next room. Firemen said the cause was unknown.

From the closet, the fire spread to the ceiling and curtains in the room, descended to a toy chest and through the rest of the room.

Mrs. McQueen and the children were at home at the time of the fire.

Highway Deer Kill Reaches New High

Final figures of the Conservation Department show that 1966 was another "smashing" year for Michigan motorists and deer as the state's known toll of highway-killed whitetails climbed to 6,219.

That figure, up nearly 170 animals over the previous high set in 1965, establishes a record in deer road losses for the seventh year running.

As in recent years, the most serious collision course was in southern Michigan where at least 3,436 animals met death on the highways.

That total, about 200 higher than in 1965, tops the combined highway deer kill for Michigan's other two regions covering the northern two-thirds of the state. Disturbing to conservation officials is the fact that deer-car accidents in southern Michigan have more than doubled in four years.

They predict the problem in that region will continue to get worse unless hunting regulations are liberalized. Game men point out that more animals need to be harvested in certain trouble spots to tone down the threat of these accidents which has grown like Topsy in the wake of the region's deer explosion and sharply increasing traffic.

At present, the Conservation Department's authority to permit antlerless deer shooting in southern Michigan is limited to reducing crop damage. Highway deer kill does not figure in the setting of the region's antlerless deer season.

Percentage-wise, last year's big jump in highway deer kill took place in the northern half of Lower Michigan where vehicles claimed 1,611 whitetails. This toll was 69 percent higher than the 1965 figure of 1,073.

In the Upper Peninsula, 972 deer were reported killed by motorists, 101 less than the year before.

Last year's district-by-district count on known highway deer losses reads as follows:

- Baraga, 137; Crystal Falls, 266; Escanaba, 279; Newberry, 290; Gaylord, 418; Cadillac, 292; Mio, 582; Gladwin, 519; Grand Rapids, 561; Rose Lake, 900; Imlay City, 220; Plainwell, 671; Jackson, 1,002; and Pontiac Lake, 82.

Whiz Kids May Take Math Study

A seven-week summer program will be offered June 19-August 4 at Oakland University to broaden the horizons of mathematics for a select group of outstanding high school students.

The youths will be introduced to new concepts of math and to the use of computers. One of the objectives of the program is to interest students in mathematics as a career.

Thirty-five students, who must be high school seniors on September 1, will be selected on the basis of their high school recommendations, scores on College Board mathematics tests and scores on the Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition. The entire cost of tuition, books and fees will be paid by the National Science Foundation, which is sponsoring the program. The students, however, will have to commute from off-campus to the classes and to provide for their own transportation and lunches.

Application forms may be obtained by writing to Professor John W. Dettman, Director, NSF Summer Program in Mathematics, Oakland University, Rochester, Michigan 48063. Completed applications should be returned before April 1.

Senator Hart Speaks

Says Taxes Should Do Double Job

The University of Michigan periodically sends out interviewers to take the temperature of the American consumer, keeping a sort of fever chart of his rising and falling expectations for personal prosperity. The latest survey shows that the buying public's spirits have been on the decline for nine months, consumers apparently seeing nothing cheery about high prices and high interest rates. There has been a leveling off lately but only -- the surveyors report -- because the consumer "is becoming accustomed to bad news."

GOP Chairman Calls For Hard Hitting Tax Reform Campaign

Wayne County GOP Chairman Henry Sladek has called for a hard hitting campaign backing immediate tax reform for Michigan. "All thinking citizens, whether partisan or not," he said, "should study the issues immediately and write to their state legislators in Lansing, Michigan's antiquated tax structure can no longer be tolerated, and we've got to insure that equitable legislation goes through this session."

"There are three choices, it seems to me," he went on. "We can cut back and send Michigan straight back into decline from which Governor Romney rescued us in 1963; we can stand still, which is actually to regress since costs and population growth are soaring and existing taxes will no longer cover existing services, let alone mounting needs in education, police protection, public welfare and others; or we can move forward in providing vital programs and services, while at the same time keeping a balanced budget."

An Eight Minute Miracle

Rocks Can't Stand Prosperity And Lose Again

Bentley Shows Power To Gain Easy Victory

THINGS LOOKED GOOD HERE: During the first eight minutes of the game against Bentley the Rocks looked good and one of the reasons was the work of Mike Kubik. He is shown here out-maneuvering the Bentley defense and heading toward the basket.

For eight minutes Plymouth High's basketballers were on their way to the greatest upset of the season and their most important victory in several years. Then class and experience took over and Livonia Bentley rolled to its 13th victory in 15 starts before a near capacity gathering in the Plymouth gym, 75-56.

But followers of the Rocks -- and they were the largest number of the season--had a chance to cheer their loudest in the first period.

Sparked by the brilliance of Nate Luibrand and Mike Kubik, the Rocks fought the visitors tooth and nail for seven and a half minutes and then Kubik dropped in two quick baskets in the final 30 seconds to give Plymouth a 17-13 lead.

Luibrand had three fielders and Kubik five field goals in the period along with a free throw by Gary Corrigan to account for all of the scoring. The teams traded baskets for a 19-15 score before Bentley added four points in a half minute to tie the game at 19-all at the 6:45 point. Mike McCauley's short shot and charity toss put Bentley in front, 22-19. Luibrand hit from outside and then converted twice on free throws when fouled while shooting for a 23-22 margin.

The score was knotted again at 24-all before Bentley tallied 11 straight points over a period of two and a half minutes to pull away, 35-24. Johnny Ellison split the cords from the corner in the final 10 seconds to make it 35-26 at the intermission.

Bentley widened the gap to 40-26 in the first two minutes of the third quarter and Plymouth never threatened from that time.

Coach Dick Bearup tried several combinations in an effort to check the Bentley scoring and also to get some additional points but it was hopeless. Bentley showed the class and finesse that has made it the 1967 Suburban Six champion and one of the strongest quintets in the area.

Luibrand continued his spectacular spree but it was a case of one man scoring machine that found giant Ken Bollin leading the scoring with 17 points followed by Greg Macy with 15. Mike McCauley and Larry Grimm with 10 each and Ed Ryan 8.

Bollin and Macy did an excellent job of checking Mike Stakias, the Rocks' high scoring center who was halted with two free throws.

Coach George Fefles inserted his second stringers in the final five minutes and Plymouth did outscore the visitors 18-16 but not enough to whittle the deficit appreciably.

Bentley presented a well-balanced scoring machine that found giant Ken Bollin leading the scoring with 17 points followed by Greg Macy with 15. Mike McCauley and Larry Grimm with 10 each and Ed Ryan 8.

Bollin and Macy did an excellent job of checking Mike Stakias, the Rocks' high scoring center who was halted with two free throws.

UP AND IN FOR TWO: After breaking away from the defense Mike Kubik makes it look easy. He is shown here scoring one of his six baskets. But the Rocks couldn't keep up the pace and went down to defeat again.

Jayvee Do It Again

Pulling away from a 27-all deadlock at halftime, Plymouth High's junior varsity registered its most important victory of the season when it whipped Bentley, 56-47.

It was the eighth victory against three setbacks for the Rocks' junior edition, stamping the club as one of the best in recent history. But, what was more important to the players, it was the second loss in 13 starts for the visitors and enabled Plymouth to gain sweet revenge for a defeat earlier in the year at Bentley.

The teams walked off the court at the intermission with the score deadlocked after a see-saw first half that found the lead changing hands constantly.

Plymouth Coach Pat Montagano apparently pointed out a few things that would work against the Bentley reserves during the rest period. His team didn't waste any time in piling up a lead that held to the final whistle.

Bentley took a 29-27 lead on the tipoff with a clever play that found a player wide open under the basket. That seemed to be the spark the Rocks needed for they went on to tally seven straight points for a 34-29 edge and never trailed from that point.

Latham dropped in two free throws to knot the score. Gulleckson and Wasalasko counted from the foul line to make it 31-29. Latham tapped in a rebound and then Gulleckson added another foul for the five point lead.

Jimmy Matthews has a down payment ready for a summer cottage.

He put all of it into an NBD 90 day time certificate.

Jimmy made a smart move. By investing $1000 or more in a 90 day time certificate, he'll earn five percent annual interest. And get these options. Either he or the bank can redeem his certificate at the end of each 90 days. Or if it's renewed automatically, he can let his interest grow and earn five percent on top of five percent.

If you've got $1000 that you're saving for something special, consider 90 day time certificates. Start taking a little more interest in your savings, without tying them up.

We'd ask you to compare it... but with what?

Comparing a Cadillac has always been a problem, for the car has long been clearly in a class of its own. In 1967, the challenge is even greater... because Cadillac has never before asserted its leadership so convincingly.

Start with beauty. Cast about for a luxury car contender that can list such styling advancements as Cadillac's dramatic new roof line, its forward sweeping front design and its graceful and flowing side contours. Then consider that there are eleven exciting examples of this kind of Cadillac beauty... as well as the totally new Eldorado, the world's finest personal car!

Consider also the incomparable newness of Cadillac's beautiful interiors and their unexcelled safety and convenience! There are passenger-guard door locks, a hazard warning system, a dual circuit braking system, latches that hold folding front seats securely in place and dozens of other safety features.

And, of course, there's performance. There's nothing else smoother than Cadillac's V-8 power; nothing else easier than Cadillac's improved variable ratio power steering; nothing else surer or steadier on the highway.

Visit your authorized dealer and measure Cadillac against your own motoring requirements. It's the only valid comparison test for the Standard of the World.

He Scores 35 Points

Steve Moore, Schoolcraft College freshman and former captain of the Farmington High School basketball team, played his heart out last Friday in a losing cause.

Steve turned in a performance to remember. He scored 35 points and pulled down 28 rebounds in the Ocelots' 105-85 loss to Northwestern Michigan.

Lack of balance hurt Schoolcraft as they again failed to measure up in the rebound department and their shooting percentage fell off. Moore did receive some scoring help from Jon Felmet who tossed in 20 points. However, around the boards Steve was something of a one man gang.

The 26% Schoolcraft shooting average was the teams poorest showing in recent weeks. The team also suffered from an unusual amount of costly backcourt turnovers.

Coach Bob Leggat commented, "We picked a poor day to play a ragged game. This was one team that did not overpower us with size. I am afraid our fellows were too anxious and it affected their play. There is no question that Northwestern put together a better team effort."

One bright spot, however, has been the steady play of Moore and Felmet over the past three weeks. They are the only survivors of Leggat's original 12 man squad. Recent serious injuries to starters Jeff Stevens and Plymouth's Don Cranford have reduced the squad to eight able bodied men. In the last two games Moore and Felmet have combined for 58 and 55 points against Concordia and Northwestern.

SCHOOLCRAFT'S ONE MAN GANG AT WORK: Steve Moore, former Farmington High School star, is carving a great name for himself at Schoolcraft, even though he is battling in a lost cause. The team has not won a game during this semester. He is shown here battling against Alpena several weeks ago. Last week against Northwestern he counted 35 points.

One Day Record

GM Bowlers Set Entry Mark

More than 1,300 bowlers participated in the second annual General Motors Men's Club Bowling Tournament February 11, Ron Urben of Fisher Body-Fleetwood and tournament chairman, announced today.

"This event broke last year's record as the largest single day ABC sanctioned tournament ever held in Metropolitan Detroit," said Urben.

A total of $4,000 in prizes was won during the five-man team tournament at Cloverlanes Bowling Alley in Livonia.

Taking first place team honors were five bowlers from Technical Center Styling captained by Matthew Battani (523 series). They received an impressive team trophy, five individual trophies and total prize money of $800. Other team members were Bernard Wybrecht (548); Peter Wozena (536); George Banchiu (629); and Joseph Evans (575). Winning team total pinfall was 3,063 (including 252 handicap).

Stanley Lachowicz of Fisher Body Plant 23 bowled high single game for the tourney, a 258.

"The 1967 tournament attracted 264 teams compared to 206 last year," said Urben, "and everyone had a great time."

The current Plymouth High basketball team may not be the winningest outfit in the school's history but it certainly is one of the most colorful. Even in losing the Rocks have been able to make things interesting to the opposition and to the crowd to the final whistle.

Followers of the fortunes of PHS basketballers will have two opportunities to see their favorites in action this week, the final two games of the regular season. Then Coach Dick Bearup leads his clubs into the state tournament action, going against teams in the Farmington area this year for the first time.

Plymouth faces Allen Park Tuesday at home in a rescheduling of the game that was postponed by the heavy snows of a month ago--the white stuff is still with us.

Then the Rocks entertain Redford Union Friday in the season finale and perhaps a replay of the thrilling overtime fray earlier at RU. The Rocks won that one.

Redford Union will bring the area's most outstanding player to the attention of local fans in the person of Lee Bjerke, the high scoring senior forward who will bow out of Suburban Six League competition in this game.

Bjerke is the best high school player we have seen this year. He has a soft, deceptive shot, is hard to guard and keeps his team in the thick of the game

State Gives Detroit Area Road Crew

Assignment of a highway survey crew in Detroit has been announced by the State Highway Commission.

The survey crew is gathering data that will be used by the Highway Department's Design Division to develop engineering plans for the modernization of the intersection of M-102 (Eight Mile Rd.) with I-96 Business Spur (Grand River Ave.).

Carle Lisee of Marine City is Survey Party Chief. Survey work is expected to be completed next month and bids on the project are scheduled to be taken in June.

with his individual efforts. It will be remembered that Bjerke missed a free throw in the final three seconds that would have given RU a victory in the earlier meeting and then fouled out with a minute and a half to play in the overtime. You can bet your boots he'll be gunning for revenge in this one. He had 32 points in the first game and has been averaging close to that for the season. Friday's game should be one of the best of the entire campaign if the Rocks continue their smooth play of the second semester.

Perhaps, fans may see Bjerke held down to the lowest scoring of the entire year this time. Coach Bearup hasn't said so but there is a strong possibility that he'll give the assignment to Sophomore Gary Corrigan who just became eligible for competition at the start of the second semester.

Corrigan lacks experience but he has shown enough in his appearances to date to indicate that he'll probably be one of Plymouth's best in the next two seasons.

If you're interested in seeing a basketball game that could be the best of the year--then drop in at the Plymouth High court Friday night. It should be a corker.

The rebuttal vote for members of Baseball's Hall of Fame reached this desk a few days ago with a note that all should vote for no more than five of the top vote-getters in the recent annual poll.

Inasmuch as we have been a member of the Association for years and have seen most of the players under consideration play, we cast our vote for Joe Medwick, Arky Vaughn, Red Ruffing, Lou Boudreau and Roy Campanella.

The final vote will be out in another week or so and we'll see how we fared in the recount.

Inasmuch as teams from the Plymouth Junior Basketball League have performed at half-time during the Detroit Piston home games, we thought it might be apropos to make it known that Sunday is "T" Shirt Day at Cobo Hall.

The Pistons will meet Baltimore in an afternoon fray at 2 p.m. and each youngster, 10 and under, who purchases a reserved seat ticket will receive a free "T" shirt.

And for those who are interested, the game will bring back several standout Piston performers of past years who were traded off to the Bullets in recent years.

Ford Again Gains World In Car-Truck Sales Leadership

Ford Motor Company has gained worldwide combined car-truck sales leadership in the market outside the United States and Canada for the second consecutive year, Robert Stevenson, executive vice president, reported today.

Mr. Stevenson, who heads the company's overseas automotive and tractor operations, said combined Ford car and truck sales in free-world markets outside North America in 1966 totaled 1,209,000 -- "more than were sold by any other world auto manufacturer."

The 984,000 passenger cars and 225,000 trucks sold last year include units built by Ford overseas subsidiaries and exports by Ford U.S. and Ford of Canada. Comparable 1965 figures were 1,068,000 cars and 191,000 trucks for a total of 1,259,000.

"Our passenger car sales outside North America have nearly tripled since 1956 when they totaled only 329,000," Mr. Stevenson noted. "Ford truck sales outside North America set a record in 1966, and they were almost twice as high as in 1956."

Final market-by-market statistics still are incomplete but final figures are expected to show that Ford Motor Company and its subsidiaries last year achieved more than 20 per cent of the passenger car market in the United Kingdom, Norway, Ireland, Turkey, Mexico, Venezuela, Puerto Rico, South Africa, the Congo and Kenya. The Ford market share is expected to exceed 15 per cent in Germany, Finland, Denmark, Portugal, Peru, Belgium, Luxembourg, Nigeria, Ghana, Australia and New Zealand.

Ford's share of truck markets exceeded 15 per cent in 14 countries.

During 1966, the company increased its share of passenger car sales in the Australian market to 18.8 per cent, up 1.7 percentage points from 1965. Car sales volume in Latin America, which registered a significant gain in 1965, also increased in 1966. In each of Ford's largest overseas markets -- the United Kingdom and
