

Lord Mayor Of Plymouth, England, Invited

Centennial Will Host Plymouth Mayors From All Sections Of Country

At least 15 men answering to the introduction, "Mayor of Plymouth" are expected to be in the community this summer.

No, this doesn't mean that there will be several turn-overs in city government even though there is apt to be a new Mayor after the next election.

It simply means that the Plymouth Centennial Committee is inviting the chief officer of every city in the country known as Plymouth. And there are 14 of them — the most famous of which is Plymouth, Massachusetts.

To get the 15th, the Committee is extending its collective hands across the sea to invite the Hon. L. D. Pascho, Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England — the little community in the British Isles from whence the original Pilgrims came.

The information that the Plymouth Community is celebrating its centennial during the summer already has been conveyed to the Lord Mayor and he has been alerted that he is to be a guest at the height of the celebration.

Philip H. Power, owner and publisher of the Plymouth Mail and the Observer Newspaper group, will extend the official invitation, in behalf of the Centennial Committee, during a trip to England next month.

And our present Mayor, James Houk, also expects to call on the Lord Mayor during a trip to the Isles in May and urge him to make the trip.

Present plans call for the Lord Mayor to arrive in New York and proceed to Plymouth, Mass., to meet his counterpart, and then accompany him here for the Centennial.

Meanwhile invitations are going forth to the Mayor of every city named Plymouth in the United States in the hope that all of them will accept.

A further study is being made to include Canada. If there is a Plymouth in Canada, the mayor or chief officer of that community also will be invited.

The Mayors of Plymouth are expected to be here for Thanksgiving Day — and it promises to be a Thanksgiving Day, the like of which Plymouth never has seen.

So, this summer, if you are introduced to several Mayors of Plymouth, don't become confused. They'll be our guests and the hope is that there'll be 15 of them.

Here's Schedule Of Top Events For Centennial

The Plymouth Community will be one of the most active in the country this year as it celebrates the one hundredth anniversary of its incorporation, starting on Sunday, March 5 —

This is the actual birthday and it will be marked by special services in all of the community's churches in the morning and a special concert sponsored by the Plymouth Symphony in the high school auditorium in the afternoon.

Highway Officials Give Scant Hope for Change in M-14 Route

CBD Gets Parking Go Ahead

The first step along the path that will lead to the preservation of the downtown area and the installation of a full loop traffic flow has been taken by the City Commission.

After listening to reports from the Central Business District Implementation committee, the Commission accepted the recommendation to establish a Parking Authority. In taking the action, the Commission asked the CBD group work with the City Attorney in preparing the proper ordinance.

With the establishment of this Parking Authority, the way will be opened for the erection of a parking facility and also establish new parking areas in the community.

It long has been felt that the downtown area needed additional parking and this is the first official step in that direction.

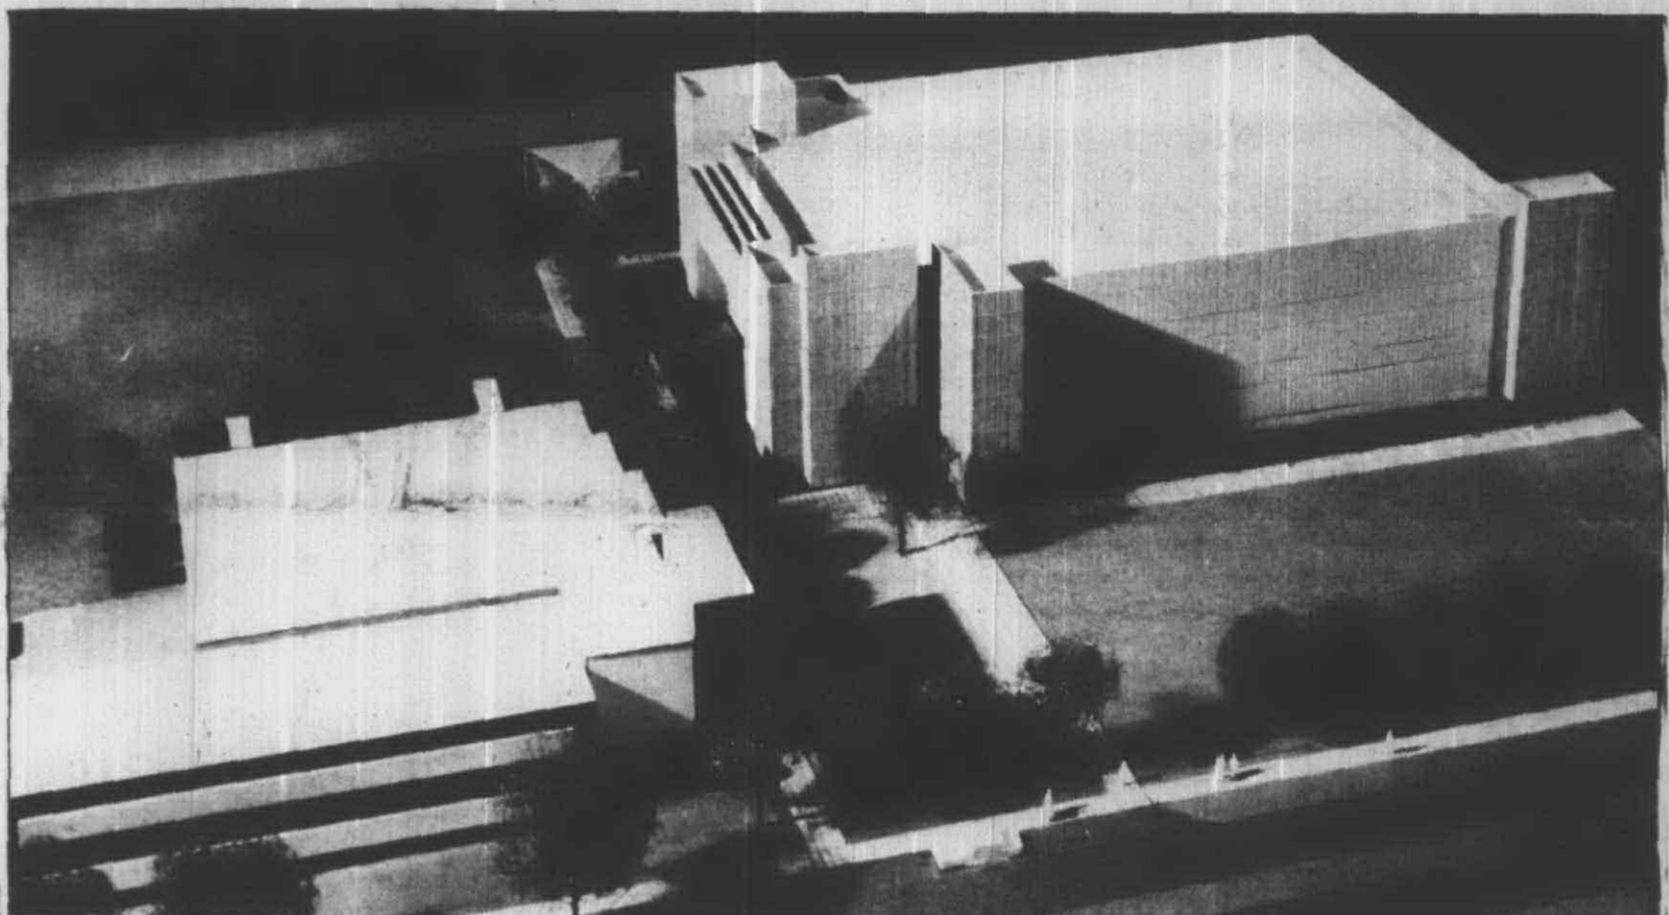

After accepting the parking recommendation, the Commission also moved that the merchants proceed with a project of covered sidewalks, and report back not later than April 1, any changes that may be needed in the ordinance.

The Beautification Committee also was asked to work with the Recreation Committee and the Planning Commission and report back directly to the City Fathers.

The Commission also agreed on a plan to work with the Committee on a plan to finance the various recommendations.

Naturalist Will Speak At Farrand

The Farrand PTA will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday, February 28, at 7:30 o'clock and will listen to Dr. Norbert Anderson's talk on "Can You Teach a Child to Love."

Bell Opens Big Industrial Boom

When Michigan Bell broke ground for its new multi-million dollar facility on Ann Arbor Road last Wednesday it signaled the start of the 1967 industrial explosion in the area that is certain to surpass anything in the past.

Before the year ends the tax base for the community will include:

1. The Spartans Stores warehouse will be in operation.
2. The Metropolitan Imprinters will be opening an operation here.
3. RCA is planning a huge expansion on the Plymouth Road site.
4. There is also a possibility that the Gaylord Company will expand. This will depend, so it is said, upon the employment level of the Big Three auto manufacturers.

Aside from these four additions to the community, there is a possibility that four other concerns will locate in the area.

"I am not at liberty to use their names at the moment," Harold Fischer, Director of the Area Planning Commission, explained, "but chances look extremely fine for all four of them."

With the Ford Motor Company's new plant, opening several weeks ago, and the Bell Company breaking ground for what will be referred to as "The building that opened the Centennial year," the complexion of the entire area will change before the year is ended. "The Michigan Bell facility, not only will mark a multi-million dollar investment, but it will house the very latest equipment that is to be valued at more than $4 million.

The building, which will be the latest in modern construction, will house many exchanges and will be what John Kamego, General Manager of the Plymouth Branch, calls "bomb proof."

It is to be built of the very latest in concrete with what the trade calls "blast resistant" material. It will measure 214 by 68 feet. A basement also is included in the plan.

According to Kamego a large amount of switching equipment

Prayer and Concert Usher In Centennial

The Plymouth Community Centennial--spoken about and dreamed about for months--becomes a reality next Sunday.

With solemn service in each of the city's churches, the big birthday celebration will get under way. Later, in the afternoon, the Plymouth Symphony will sponsor a special concert, starting at 4 o'clock, in the High School Auditorium.

From then on, scarcely a week will go by that there will not be some event to commemorate the incorporation of the area 100 years ago.

It was on March 5, 1867 that the Plymouth Community

Residents Protest By Petition

Although representatives of the State Highway Department didn't say it in so many words, they practically told a group of more than 900 homeowners Wednesday night in an open meeting at the Plymouth Township Hall there would be little change in their proposed route for the extension of M-14 freeway across the western side of the township.

Prior to the start of the meeting, Supervisor John McEwen made it clear that Plymouth Township doesn't have the right of veto of any route the Highway Department selects.

During the course of the evening, John Ashton, prominent area attorney who resides on Ridgewood Drive, presented petitions bearing the names of more than 150 property owners, to the highway department representatives protesting the proposed route.

The key to the highway department feeling on the matter was stated by M. Tarik Altaman, head of the route location division, who said "We feel our route is the best. We have had our staff working on this for years and this is the one that the department believes is most economical since it doesn't touch any area that would involve tremendous costs in condemnation actions."

During the discussion, Irving Rozlan, member of the Township Planning Commission and chairman of the subcommittee named to study the freeway route and its impact on the Township, declared that the voters of the community had approved a 701 planning program.

Senior Citizens Get Another Tax Break

The Internal Revenue Service has advised senior citizens that the $3.00 a month payments beginning July 1, 1966, for supplementary medical insurance under "Medicare" are deductible as medical expenses on their 1966 Federal income tax returns.

While the "Medicare" bill, and several IRS publications, including "Your Federal Income Tax" indicate that these payments are deductible beginning January 1, 1967, the IRS has said that the 1966 payments also qualify as deductible medical expenses on 1966 income tax returns.

However, IRS said the $3.00 monthly payments are not to be confused with hospital insurance tax which is included as part of the regular social security tax and withheld from 1966 wages. This tax is not deductible by employees on their income tax returns.

Medical expenses, including the $3.00 monthly supplementary medical insurance for taxpayers 65 and over, are deductible without regard to the 3 percent limitation which applies to taxpayers under 65 years of age.

State Commission Approves Bonds

The Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has approved $5.5 million of school building and site bonds for the Plymouth Community School District, according to an announcement Thursday by Attorney General Frank Kelley, who also is Commission Chairman.

Voters approved the bond issue in a special election on Oct. 3 and the school board will open bids for the issue in a special meeting on Wednesday, March 15.

for routing incoming and outgoing long distance calls will be housed in the building.

Aside from the automatic equipment there will be 132 switchboard positions occupied by operators for the special handling of long distance calls.

The entire facility is to cost $12 million and is one of the largest erected by Michigan Bell in recent years.

When the building is completed and functioning it is planned to have 500 to 600 persons employed.

Construction plans call for the completion of the building in little more than a year. And when it is finally in operation it will represent an investment of close to $18 million.

$90,000 Aid For Students

Atty. General Kelley in making the approval announcement said: "The proceeds of the bond issue will be used to erect, furnish and equip additional school facilities either as separate buildings or additions to existing buildings; acquire additional land for site purposes; construct and equip playgrounds; and develop and improve sites."

"These bonds were authorized by the electors of the school district on Oct. 3, 1966, are unlimited tax bonds and will run until 1982. The school district is authorized to levy whatever taxes are necessary to pay principal and interest."

"These bonds are also qualified by the Superintendent of Public Instruction and School Bond Loan Program."

Other members of the commission are: Allison Green, state treasurer; and Ira Polley, Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"Openings are still available for qualified applicants in the Michigan Business Schools Association's annual State-wide scholarship competition," stated T. J. Miller, president of the Association.

Member colleges, located in Michigan cities, make available 150 scholarships valued at $90,000 annually, to high school graduates seeking careers in the field of business. Candidates will be judged on the basis of scholastic ability, business aptitude, recommendation of their school, and need.

Students from Detroit and its surrounding communities will be judged by a panel meeting in Detroit on Saturday, April 15. Applicants from other parts of the State will be judged in Lansing on Saturday, April 22. Serving on each of these selection committees will be outstanding educators, public officials, and industry representatives.

Competition is open to public and parochial high school seniors who wish to pursue a business career after graduation. Deadline for filing of completed application forms is April 1, 1967. Further information may be obtained from MBSA, 306 Penobscot Building, Detroit, Michigan 48226, or from high school guidance counselors.

Commonwealth Pays Dividend

The Board of Directors of Bank of the Commonwealth declared a regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents per share for the first quarter of 1967, it has been announced by George W. Miller, president.

The dividend is payable April 1, 1967 to shareholders or record March 17, 1967.

partment route doesn't fit into those plans," said Rozian, "we believe the planning consultant and the planning commission drew up a plan for the future growth of the Township that should be followed. We spent more than two years on the study. It was accepted by the voters and we feel the highway department should do everything possible to follow it."

The proposed route follows Schoolcraft Road, crosses a portion of Phoenix Lake, the northerly tip of the C&O yards, goes west along Shearer Drive, then south below the Ford Motor plant, down Ridgewood Drive, goes north of N. Territorial with a large cloverleaf at Beck Road and then follows a line south and west to cross Napier Road into Washtenaw County.

Ataman countered "We tried to follow the 701 program but the plans do not allow much for changes and for the diversion of routes."

Rozian, who earlier proposed two alternate northerly routes, presented drawings of two additional suggestions. All involved taking a portion of the St. John's Seminary property, Ford land or crossing facilities of Consumers Power located north of the Ford plant.

A spokesman for Ford Motor indicated the company would oppose taking any land north of the present plant since there is an expansion program on the boards that includes construction of Plant No. 2 there.

A spokesman for Consumers Power told of the corporation's multi-million dollar complex in the Sheldon Road area.

The project includes three gas wells in the Northville gas field, a major pipe line, expensive gas pressure equipment at the Sheldon Road station and four well sites which could involve an expenditure of $750,000 when the company starts drilling activities.

"However," he said, "there is much more at stake since the Northville storage area has been developed to a point where many millions of dollars would be involved. The wells in the area were drilled at the best locations and replacement might not be in as favorable spots."

Ataman told the audience that the highway department didn't have enough time to study the new alternate routes suggested by Rozian inasmuch as they only heard of them in a meeting the previous night.

"As near as I can see from a preliminary examination," he stated, "there isn't any savings and all of the alternates will hurt St. John's and Ford. We will never find a perfect scheme for a freeway but we do try to find one that minimizes damage. We believe our proposal does exactly that."

Ashton asked if the highway department had a legal opinion that it could or could not take a portion of the land at the Seminary.

Joseph Molnar, one of the four representatives present, said the department had a legal opinion that St. John's was an educational institution and that all possible steps should be taken to avoid it.

"Then," answered Ashton, "St. John's property could legally be condemned. On that basis we (Township property owners) believe that the route should go to the north and avoid the tremendous havoc caused by the present highway department route."

Molnar indicated that on the basis of economics, which the department must be aware of since it is acting in the best interest of the state's taxpayers, the highway department route is more favorable.

Morton Scholnick, who owns considerable property in the Shearer Drive area east of Sheldon Road, told of his plans for an industrial park on the land.

"We have been working on such a project for several years," he stated, "it wasn't until the advent of the Ford Motor Co. plant, which brought water and sewers to the section, that we were able to go on with our plans."

"If the three groups can get together," he said, "and work out a suitable compromise, I believe the state highway department could see fit to try one of the northerly alternatives."

Back of the entire meeting was the original statement that the Township has no veto power and Ataman's observation that the highway department had devoted years of study to the freeway and the route was the best in the minds of their engineers.

Robert E. Jones, of 522 Leicester Road, Plymouth, has been appointed regional chairman for nine north-central states for the 1967 PMC Colleges' annual alumni fund. The announcement was made by George B. Shaw, Jr. '27, fund chairman.

A graduate of the class of 1950, Jones is a controller with Ford's General Parts Division, Rawsonville, Michigan. He is treasurer for Ford at PMC Colleges, Lehigh and the University of Tennessee.

Centennial Set To Open

was incorporated as a village. And ever since it has been a quiet, peaceful community, nestled in the area between the University of Michigan and the City of Detroit.

For a time there seemed to be some confusion over the actual centennial date. There were some who believed that the birthday of the area was in 1825. The records proved, however, that 1825 was the year the first settlers arrived. There is a plaque on the front of the Mayflower Hotel to commemorate that event.

There also were some who thought the centennial was celebrated in 1924. But Sidney Strong, the City Manager at the time, who now is confined to the hospital as a result of a heart attack, set the record straight on that when he offered evidence that the 1924 event was to celebrate the paving of Plymouth Road.

So, with all doubt cleared about the date, the birthday will now be celebrated in a manner that should long be remembered.

While there will be special events each month, there are four weeks of vast importance.

The first of these is the annual Michigan Week celebration, starting May 20. Following this will be a mammoth July Fourth Celebration with parades, concerts, town meetings, and the like.

The next big week will be the annual Fall Festival, September 7-10. And the last big week end will be the Thanksgiving period when the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, is expected to lead the delegation of Plymouth Mayors (14 of them) here for a Thanksgiving Day, modeled as closely as possible, to the original celebrated at Plymouth, Mass., more than 300 years ago.

Time Has Arrived For Study Of Entire Area

Within the past fortnight all manner of plans have been brought forth for the improvement and development of the Plymouth Community.

The Central Business District group revealed a plan for the creation of full circulating loop traffic and the development of an "inner city" business area.

The Trustees in the Township went on record for the creation of a Township complex of governmental offices at a cost of one mill to the taxpayer.

At the same time the Area Planning Commission has been working on a program of development for the entire area — including Canton Township.

With all of these plans in the making there is almost certain to be considerable confusion and misunderstanding, with the result that each of them will suffer.

It is no secret that there is a certain amount of pride in both the city and township and neither likes to give in to the other. Each wants to go its own way.

But, from all appearances, the time has come when it would be in the public interest to have a good, hard look at the entire situation.

This is not meant as a scheme to bring about the consolidation of the City and Township. Rather, it is meant to take an intelligent look at conditions and attempt to arrive at some logical answers.

There is no denying that there is a great future for the community — provided it is properly planned.

That's the reason an unbiased study should be made now — before it is too late.

Such a study should be made with but one thought in mind — what is best for the area.

In what direction does its future lie?

True, the City of Plymouth is only two square miles, but it is the core of what could be a great community. However, it is limited in its desire to develop. In reality, it has no place to go but up.

On the other hand, the Township has plenty of room — and plenty of desire to prepare for the future.

And now, some of this area development is flooding over into Canton Township.

What is to be done about that? How can the three areas best prepare for the future?

Answers to such questions as these could be provided by a good, soul searching study.

Remember — the future belongs to those who plan for it.

Confusing Paths Lead To Taxpayers Pocket

The late Will Rogers, one of the nation's leading humorists and philosophers of his time, used to say, "I only know what I read in the newspapers."

If he were living today he would be like most people in Plymouth who find it most difficult to understand some of the goings-on in high places.

For instance, Governor George Romney, in his recent budget message, stated in no uncertain terms that he would not sign any appropriation bill until he was certain there was money available for the proposal.

He gave the impression that he was making a gallant attempt to save money by cutting government spending to the bone.

But, at the same time, he asked for a tax reform that would raise taxes on virtually all levels.

At the same time President Johnson has asked for an increase in the national debt limitation, with the hope that the nation could spend more money on the various programs he has instituted — a long with the war effort in Vietnam.

With this request for an increase in the debt limitation comes a raise in taxes, too.

This raise, according to the powers that be, is to fight off inflation.

Maybe so. But what does all this mean to the man in the street?

It means simply that two diversified approaches will have the same effect — the man in the street is going to be asked to foot the bills again.

Governor Romney gives the impression that he is trying to save — but his budget is way above what it was a year ago. As a result he is asking more money to pay the bills. This is being done under the campaign for tax reform.

And tax reform — to the man in the street — is nothing more than another raise in taxes.

The national approach is much bolder.

Here, the federal government is showing cold disregard for the old lesson of economics which states that you should never spend more than you make.

When the debt limitation was voted some years ago, it was done with the idea to curb spending. It hasn't done the job.

The limitation is now being scoffed at and Congress is almost certain to raise it.

That means only one thing — more and more spending with higher and higher interest falling due each year on the debt.

To meet these costs the man in the street will have to dig deeper.

So, we now have two approaches with the same result — John Q. Public is being hit again.

When will it stop?

Some Men Can Make Success Of Failure

One of the most amazing things in life is the fact that some men go through this vale of tears making a success of failure.

While most of these failures are found in what referred to most kindly as "the boxing game," it is true that there are some men in every walk of life who have stacked their failures until they suddenly found they had succeeded.

In the boxing game they are known as "club fighters," gardened young men who put up a good fight, but never go much higher than the neighborhood boxing clubs.

The latest example of men making success of failures occurred last week at the State Democratic convention in Grand Rapids.

When the two-day session was ended two men who had been left in the shambles of defeat in last fall's elections, were in the top rolls.

After the ballots were counted in the primary, likeable Jerome P. Cavanagh, Detroit's ambitious mayor, was left far behind former governor G. Mennen Williams, in the race for the U.S. Senate nomination.

And a few months later Zolton Ferency, the man whose name President Johnson couldn't pronounce, was almost lost in the rubble of ballots as Governor George Romney won his third term and started on the road that may lead to the White House.

Out of these defeats one could hardly expect to see a rosy path ahead. But time changes all things. And now, the two men who tasted such bitter defeat, are on top of the heap of the Democratic Party.

Strange, isn't it. But one must never forget that Abraham Lincoln was defeated for public office 18 times before he was elected President.

Facts You Should Know About Your Income Tax

In cooperation with the Department of Internal Revenue, The Mail is offering a series of articles dealing with income tax and all of its ramifications.

SICK PAY

You may be entitled to exclude a portion of your income which was paid to you while absent from work because of illness or injury.

If the employer pays your wages, or it is an insured plan (the premiums of which are paid by the employer), you may exclude a certain portion or possibly all of the money received.

If the sick pay you receive is over 75% of your regular weekly wage, in order for the exclusion to apply, you must be absent from work for more than 30 days, and the exclusion (up to a weekly rate of $100) will apply only for the time after those 30 days.

A different rule applies if the sick pay you receive does not exceed 75% of your regular weekly wage. In this case, you would be allowed to exclude such payments to the extent of $75.00 a week for the first 30 days and a maximum of $100 thereafter. However, you would not be allowed to exclude such payments for the first 7 days if you are absent because of sickness or injury, unless you are hospitalized for at least one day during your absence.

Amounts received as a disability pension will qualify for the sick pay exclusion if the taxpayer becomes permanently disabled due to sickness or injury before he reaches retirement age; and all, or part of the cost of the pension was contributed by his employer.

To claim this exclusion, you must use the Form 1040 and attach the necessary schedules. Form 2440 is the "Statement To Support Exclusion of Sick Pay". It may be obtained at your local Internal Revenue Service office.

RENTAL INCOME AND EXPENSES

You must report as income any amounts received as rental payments during the year.

Expenses claimed against the rental income received must also be shown on the return. These include ordinary and necessary travel and transportation expenses attributable to the property, repairs and maintenance, interest, taxes, insurance, commissions for the collection of rent, advertising, janitor and maid service, water, fuel, and depreciation.

The cost of buildings, furniture, equipment, and other property used for rental purposes with a useful life of more than one year may not be deducted in the year of purchase. However, a reasonable amount for the wear and tear of the property may be deducted each year as depreciation. No depreciation may be claimed on land.

Documents 5050 and 5060, which furnish more detailed information on this subject, may be obtained by dropping a postcard to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service, Detroit, Michigan 48226.

Karl Starkweather Tells Area Problems

This is the final installment of a letter written by Karl Starkweather, one of the most respected elderly residents of Plymouth, dealing with the city's problems — past and present. — Ed. Note.

Lately, in Plymouth, there have been many blockages of street traffic by railroad freight trains. Thousands of dollars in fines have lately been levied against, and paid, by the railroad for overtime blocking of Plymouth street crossings. The situation becomes more tense in Plymouth because here we have two large railroad yards, trains being made up in each yard, and two lines of main trackage — a north and south line and an east and west line. And there is a junction of the two. Sometimes one train has to wait for another. In the end, the situation being what it is, street crossing blockages will likely continue.

But the railroads, nowhere, have any criminal intent. Nowhere do they wilfully obstruct grade crossings. Neither do the crews who operate the trains. All train crews, however, are not expert chess players. And the railroads, all of them, are doing everything they can to promote efficiency of operation. They are striving hard to keep up with the times. It was the railroads who built the country in the first place and we'd be in a pretty mess if we didn't have them now.

Railroads have problems the same as other concerns and the same as individuals. Many roads have gone into receivership. Grade crossing blockages will continue. It's in the cards. But the people too have a case.

Personally, I'm a friend of the railroads. But I'm a friend of the people too. I am one of the people. While I'm now on the so-called retired list and, as such, have no urgent time schedules to meet, I still don't wish to be held up at railroad crossings any more than anyone else. Also, should my home catch fire, or an ambulance be needed, I wouldn't wish the responses held up at a railroad crossing. So — who's going to give?

Karl Starkweather

The Stroller . . .

Waiting for the second cup of coffee at lunch the other day the question of automobile safety was offered for discussion.

It came about when the Stroller asked: "Has all the hullabaloo over auto safety in the hallowed halls of Congress made an impact on the general car-buying public?"

"Does today's prospective customer concern himself with the safety features of a car in dickering for a deal?"

This train of questioning resulted from watching some of the drivers along Main Street showing utter disregard for traffic rules.

Watching a driver go through a "red" light and in the next minute seeing another pulling out from a curb without looking for on-coming traffic caused one to ask himself, "how could such drivers be interested in safety features being built in today's cars?"

No sooner had the question been asked at lunch than Jack Selle, who has had more than a little experience with potential customers, answered —

"Today's customer is no different than he ever was. He takes the safety features of a car for granted. He contents himself with the thought that the e companies are building the best cars they can — and he is interested in only two things — styling and price."

That seemed to settle the question — at least for the time being.

"You'll find, too," Jack continued, "that there is such a thing as customer loyalty. They get started with one make of car and stick with it. These customers are interested only in the new styles. They don't discuss safety features . . . just styling and price."

Later that afternoon the Stroller met Don Hasting, our newest dealer in Plymouth, on the thoroughfare and the same questions were put to him.

"Have the discussions in the public print regarding auto safety had an impact on the potential purchaser of a new car?"

"Not a bit," Don answered, "and I think it's about time that someone called attention to this fact."

"I can imagine some congressional committee trying to design a car," he continued with a skeptical nod.

"All auto manufacturers who are worth their salt always have built cars as safe as they could — and I guess they'll continue to do that regardless of what the committees in Congress think."

It's most amazing what a simple question, asked at a luncheon table, can lead to when you're looking for answers.

Walking down Penniman Avenue, these days, one can't help wondering what is ever going to be done with the building on the north side, just above Main St. It has been vacant for several years and now is only a catch all for debris flying along the street.

It is a poor image for the downtown business section — but the ugly sight seems to go unheeded.

Couldn't help feeling that the Plymouth Community and the entire suburban area lost a good friend in the untimely death of Recorder's Court Judge Ed Connor.

During his many years as a member of the Common Council in Detroit, and as a member of the County Board of Supervisors, he was an advocate of good government. He envisioned the day when there would be some sort of county rule much on the order of Dade County in Florida. This is the area that embraces Miami.

The proposed Congress of Governments that includes all of southeastern Michigan is much on the order of what Connor envisioned for years.

Ironically, he was called before the dream was realized.

Among the interesting things you learn — just strollin' — is how some of our successful men got their start in the business world.

You'd never guess how Ralph Lorenz, the major domno of the Mayflower Hotel, got his start.

Even he has to smile now when he speaks of it. "I got my start checking hats and coats at the old Penniman-Allen dance hall," he'll confide.

"These dances used to attract 300 to 400 people. At 10 cents a piece for checking, it amounted to quite a bit of change in those days."

"I did the checking for years — and fought to keep the concession. That 30 bucks always looked good."

Thought for the day: One of the best slogans the Stroller ever encountered on the athletic battlefields was this one: "A winner never quits and a quitter never wins."

It might be well to keep in mind when things get tough.

Interesting Houses

Big Farmhouse Is Filled With Children Again

The small front porch shows the style of architecture popular when the house was first built. The wide sweeping veranda was added around 1900.

The old house at 7041 Canton Center Rd., known for years as an antique dealer's shop, has become the comfortable home of the William Carams, who moved here from Garden City.

The Carams still have people who knock at their door, asking for "That old pine table I saw here..."

Mrs. Meyer, the previous owner, had the house filled with antiques, and made her living selling them.

"When we moved in, the garage was so full of stuff that you couldn't get into it," says Mrs. Caram.

"We knew that there had been a couple of auctions, and figured nothing valuable was left. We piled everything in the driveway, and had a junk dealer take it away."

Since they moved in last fall the Carams have been working on the house. They have plastered and paneled walls. They dug behind walls to insulate the house and found 12 by 12 beams which are supporting the building.

"We think the house must have been built in sections," says Mrs. Caram.

The old wood shed and smoke house which used to stand in back of the house have been attached by a breezeway.

The first parts of the house were built at least 100 years ago. The name of the original owner has faded from the memory of the people who live nearby.

Sometime in the latter part of the 19th century, William Travis and his wife, Martha, bought the house. They added the big porch that runs across the front.

The Travesis bought the house and 160 acres of farmland from the original owner who homesteaded the land.

They owned 80 acres on either side of Canton Center Rd. Russell Travis, William's grandson, remembers visiting his grandparents in the big farmhouse during the early part of the century.

"There was a front parlor, which was only used for funerals," reminisced Travis, who lives across from the farmhouse.

"There was no heat in the parlor. It was filled with black horsehair furniture that pricked when you sat on it. That was good furniture in those days, too.

"There was a player piano in there, also."

However, the piano couldn't have been used much, because most of the family living was done in the kitchen, where there was a cheery stove to keep it warm in the winter.

There were two or three stoves in other rooms to heat the house.

Russell Travis remembers driving over in a horse and buggy from his parents' farm about a mile away. His father and uncles used to help each other out with farm work.

There were three big barns, belonging to the William Travis farm, on the east side of Canton Center Rd.

When Russell was a little boy, they caught fire during an electrical storm. Unfortunately, this was before Canton Township or Plymouth had a fire department. So all of the barns burned to the ground.

After William Travis and his wife died, the farm was divided among their seven children, who had grown up on the place.

"There is nothing left of the farm now," says their grandson Russell.

His aunt owned the house until around 1950. Since then it has had several owners.

Now the Carams have bought it, and once again it is filled with growing children. The Carams have five of their own children and two foster children.

They like the big old house, but find remodeling has been a lot of work.

They have also had bats flying around outdoors. But they are turning the house into a warm, cheerful place to live.

Cooking Contest Held For Working Women

Edison's annual "Queen of the Kitchen" contest is now in full swing. Deadline for entries is midnight, February 28.

The contest is held in cooperation with the Detroit Central Business District Association's "Salute to Women Who Work Week", which begins March 12.

The contest is open to any girl or woman living in South-eastern Michigan and employed full-time outside the home. Contestants are to submit a recipe for a one-dish meal that can be cooked in an hour or less. The ten most interesting and promising recipes will be chosen by Contest Judges.

All finalists must be able to participate in a Cook-off Thursday morning, March 16, in Edison's Electric Living Kitchens in Detroit.

Recipes are to be sent to Detroit Edison, Electric Living Division, 2000 Second Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226. Each entry must include name, address, telephone number and place of employment. No entry blank or purchase is required.

Mrs. Jones opens a few cans, and presto, her casserole is ready to put into the oven.

- 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup undiluted 1/4 cup water 1 can chunk-style tuna 1/4 pound cashew nuts 1 cup finely diced celery 1/4 cup minced onions 2 tbs. diced green pepper

Start heating oven to 325 degrees. Set aside 1/2 cup of chow-mein noodles. Mix remaining ingredients and put them into a casserole dish. Sprinkle 1/2 cup noodles over the top.

Bake for 40 minutes. This will serve five.

This is good for bridge lunches, and as a last minute supper dish.

Instead of tuna fish, a cup and a half of cooked chicken or pork may be used.

The food was pretty special at the Robert Petersens last Saturday night. The Petersens hosted their gourmet group, which includes the Thomas Powsells, Frank Briggs, and Hugh Jarvis. Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Schendel arrived, bringing marinated artichoke hearts, which were served with the main dish, beef fondue.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A PRINCESS—FIRST TAKE ONE PEAS... More than 1500 children filled into the high school auditorium for the four performances of "The Princess and the Pea", last Saturday.

The kids laughed at the antics of Mrs. David Van Hine in her fluffy dog costume.

Mrs. Wendell Smith played Lady Snippy wearing bright red and white striped stockings, and a blue, pink and yellow ruffled dress. She appeared in various wigs in an attempt to disguise herself and convince the queen that she was a princess. But, needless-to-say, whenever she got into the bed with the uncomfortable pea, she fell sound asleep.

Star comedienne, Mrs. Thomas Devereaux, appeared as Countess Snooty. Mrs. Devereaux has been in the AAUW plays ever since they began, seven years ago. As Countess Snooty, she even had a turned up putty nose, which was appreciated by all the children, except her son Tommy.

He threatened to knock it off. "I want you to be my mom, not Countess Snooty," he said.

After the play the children had a chance to get autographs. Scott Slomka and Paul Herb, two second graders from Our Lady of Good Counsel, both had their programs filled with signatures.

hey), and all the other actresses were signing autographs after every performance.

Many AAUW members helped put the play together.

It was produced by Mrs. Richard Fritz and directed by Mrs. Jack Maas.

Ushers were AAUW members. Mrs. LaVerne Jones has been ushering for seven years.

"I love to watch the kids," is the reason she gives for working year after year.

"These plays are an attempt to bring good, live drama to children," said Mrs. Richard Fritz, explaining why the women are willing to work for six weeks preparing the play.

The Fritzes, by-the-way, entertained the actresses and committee chairmen at a cast party on Saturday night.

Besides the Saturday performances, the group gave performances for the children at Our Lady of Providence, Wayne County Training School, and Plymouth State Home and Training School.

Both this Saturday and next, the group is going "on tour" with performances in Birmingham and Ann Arbor.

Kids To Try Skills At Antique Show

Animated penny banks, antique doll house furnished with four rooms of antique furniture, old-fashioned cookies and candies--these will be among the unusual items featured at a "Look and Do Antique Show for Children," to be held April 29-30.

This unique fund-raising show to be held at the Joy Road Studio, 48234 Joy, Plymouth, is being sponsored by the Sarah Ann Cochrane Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. Proceeds will be given to the Scholarship Fund for Michigan Indians.

Members are currently seeking donations of items to be used in the show, which has been described as a "miniature Greenfield Village, with the added attraction of being able to touch and do, as well as view."

Articles such as a wheel-driven lathe, treadle sewing machine and cobbler's bench are needed and anyone wishing to donate appropriate items are urged to contact Mrs. Marion Sober at 453-9180.

Committee chairmen of the various "rooms" and what they will contain are as follows:

Toy Shop, featuring animated penny banks--Mrs. Felix Heisel, 694 Evergreen; Kitchen, featuring old fashioned cookies and cakes and candy to tempt your pocketbook--Mrs. Virginia Bate, 841 W. Main, Northville; Doll House with four furnished rooms of antique furniture--Mrs. Kurnal Babbitt, 306 S. Rogers, Northville.

Carpenter's Shop, where visitors will be able to work lathes, use planers and pound-out splints--Mrs. Harry Geitgey, 3995 Berry; Cobbler's Shop, where boys will be able to learn how to "saddlestitch, and hammer a sole of a shoe" and view a collection of old children's shoes--Mrs. Robert Willoughby, 14061 Ridgewood; Sewing Room, where girls will be able to cross stitch on a sampler, book a rug, braid a rug, quilt and weave on a form--Mrs. Charles Garlett, Church St., and Mrs. Margaret Mastick of Millford.

Tickets, priced at 25 cents for children and 50 cents for adults, will be handled by Mrs. Norman Saunders, 12176 Amherst.

The sofa Mrs. Bird is sitting on is over 100 years old, and one of her most treasured possessions. It is still covered in the original red velvet material.

First Of A Series How Plymouth Named Its Schools

In 1950 Plymouth needed a new grade school, and the school board decided to start a policy of naming the grade schools in honor of outstanding teachers.

The first teacher to receive the honor was Nellie Bird, a principal who was due to retire in 1950.

Mrs. Bird had been a principal for 27 years. Part of that time, she was the principal of both Starkweather and Central School. During the last few years of her teaching career she was just principal of Central Grade School. The Central school has now been entirely taken over by the high school.

"I shed tears when I got the phone call saying the board had voted unanimously to name the new school after me," said Mrs. Bird in her home at 217 Ann St. "It was the last thing I ever dreamed of."

The school board felt it was a fitting reward for a woman who had spent most of her life teaching.

"I always wanted to teach," said the tall grey-haired woman, who was born Nellie Smith on a farm in Salem Township.

"Here, let me show you something I am really proud of--" and she brought out her master's degree from the University of Michigan, and an engraved invitation to join Pi Lambda Theta honorary teacher's sorority.

"I worked for 20 summers to get my master's degree," she said.

Mrs. Bird began her teaching career when she was still in her teens.

She graduated from high school in Ypsilanti and took a brief teacher's course in Ann Arbor. Then she started to teach at Frain's Lake.

"I had to take a county exam to get a permit to teach," she recalled.

She taught kindergarten and the lower five grades for several years.

Then she was away from teaching for a few years. She married and had two girls.

In 1917 she and her family moved into Plymouth and occupied the pleasant house on Ann St., where she still lives.

She immediately started subbing at the high school. Before she knew it she was back teaching full time again. She was made a principal in 1923.

"Once in school, you just can't get away from it," she said. Even now that she has retired, she still has done a little tutoring in her favorite subject, math.

Mystery Solved

Several weeks ago in a feature on an old house the Plymouth Mail ran a picture of a group of people standing in front of what is now Cadillac Drapery. The house used to be owned by Edwin Schrader's family. However, no one in the family could identify the people in the picture.

Mrs. Frank Burrows of Sheldon Road, now has come forward to identify the people. Mrs. Burrows used to take music lessons at the house about 1900, before the Schraders moved there.

At that time the house was owned by a Mrs. Durfee. There were several branches of the Durfee family living in Plymouth.

Mrs. Burrows feels that the picture was taken in the 1870's. Mrs. Durfee and some of her relatives are on the front lawn. With her are her father, Dexter Briggs, and her neice and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Will Armstrong.

The Armstrongs lived with Mrs. Durfee, and it was Mrs. Armstrong who gave the piano lessons.

Broker Gives Financial Tips

Woodward Warrick, a Plymouth stockbroker who teaches a course on the stock market for the adult education department, feels that women should become more knowledgeable about financial affairs.

"I have always wanted to teach a course in money management for women," he says.

"They should not only know about investing, but about handling other matters, such as insurance proceeds."

Warrick has several suggestions to help women.

"First of all discuss the family's goals with your husband," he says.

"All your insurance papers should be kept up to date. Sometimes people forget to add children when they are born."

"You should make an inventory of household belongings, in case of a fire."

"This and other valuable papers should be kept in a safety deposit box."

Warrick also pointed out that each field has its own experts. "You don't go to a stockbroker for advice on insurance," he says.

As far as stocks are concerned, he says that investors should have one of three main goals.

"People can invest for security, growth or income. To get any one of these you have to sacrifice some of the other two."

He cautions women to deal with a reliable broker.

"Don't get pressured into investing in anything you're not sure about," he says.

He recommends the motto of the New York Stock Exchange, which is "Investigate, before you invest."

Business Women Take Their Bosses To Dinner

At the annual BPW bosses' night, the bosses ate while the women paid. They treated the men who sign their pay checks to dinner and a speech by Paul Reinke, director of marketing for the American Community Mutual Insurance Company. The event took place on Feb. 20.

Sit here, Joe Rucker seems to be telling his wife. The woman in between is Mrs. William Rucker.

Margaret Dunning takes a minute to look at the program before the dinner.

"You did a nice job," hostess Grace Formaz tells chairman Jessie Sutton at right.

'Resolved To Go To Jerusalem'

By Rev. Herbert C. Brubaker
(Pastor, First Methodist Church)

What purpose do you have in life? Do you have the courage

Rev. Herbert Brubaker

TEXT: "He steadfastly set his face to go to Jerusalem." Luke 9:51

The writer of the third Gospel tells us that Jesus was in Perea on the east side of the Jordan when he "resolved to go to Jerusalem."

Here we get a picture of the Nazarene leaving the quiet, rural scenes to face the hostile opposition of a big city. This was a challenge to take true religion where it would "turn the world upside down." Jesus knew it would cost him something to be obedient to his Father's will but nothing could deter him.

"a little child shall lead them"

How can a child learn to find his place in the world, and make it a better place to live? We would answer, by having the great treasures of the Bible opened up to him, and learning its lessons of love and spiritual power. That's what goes on every Sunday at the Christian Science Sunday School.

Just as their pride added to the injury of body and spirit which Christ had to suffer, so sinful pride in our hearts adds to the burden of our suffering Savior.

MARCH 15: THE REDEEMED and the damned, two kinds of people stood beneath the cross of Christ. Two kinds of people still stand beneath Christ's cross, those who accept Him as Lord and Savior from sin and those who reject Him and all He did for.

Better Ways Are Being Sought To Solve Conflicts

Father Robert Shank of St. John's Episcopal Church feels that one of the major problems of our technological age is finding a way to end wars.

"Weapons have become so effective they are no longer useful," he says.

"When you can destroy a whole city with a couple of bombs, we must look for something else.

Fr. Robert Shank

"For moral and practical reasons there must be something else.

"We owe it to our young people not to have a global conflict every 20 years or so. We owe it to those who have given their lives to bring war to an end," says the young priest.

"Because of the frailty of man, war may not be avoidable. But most people want to be peace loving, if they just knew how.

eral other places throughout the country.

"People who work at these centers are sociologists, economists and political scientists," points out Father Shank.

"They aren't just a bunch of idealists, but people who know what is going on."

A second way Father Shank feels we can find peace is to have federal funds spent on peace.

good work because he runs into difficulty. It may require something of us to be true to the highest we know, but this is the way we grow, and it is God's hope for the Kingdom.

Jesus cared for people. This ought to be our central Christian concern. The temptation of our hurried, selfish living is to overlook the feelings, the suffering and the aspirations of others. Persons engaged in good causes often use people for selfish advantages. Something wholesome goes out of human relations when we do not try to put ourselves in the place of another.

of Detroit, about the concept of a just or unjust war, Father Gracie received a lot of publicity recently on his stand on Vietnam.

"For me, personally," says Father Shank, "the concept of a just war is fraught with too many unknowns."

He doesn't feel that there are many young people who are avoiding service in Vietnam.

"I imagine 200 is a high number of boys who have left this country to go to Canada to avoid the draft. Leaving the country and giving up citizenship is quite a price to pay."

of priority in the coming Kingdom but our Lord said "Let him who would be greatest among you be your servant." He made the teaching live when he washed the disciples' feet on the night of his betrayal.

Christ "set his face toward Jerusalem" and endured faithfully in his purpose. We are likely to pass all this over because of his divine nature, but the same moral order is at work in our lives. There can be no great character without an habitual vision of greatness. We will never organize the loose ends of life to any high service until we make God's will our own.

We can begin with a few high purposes which are within our reach. Each one can resolve with God's help to become more Christlike. The most precious thing you have to give to the world is your own best life. You can begin today by reading the Scriptures and Christian literature. You can have association with Christian friends. You can worship and serve in the Christian community.

Second, most of us can make it our purpose to have a Christian family. Our civilization can go the way of the limbo if we fail here. A happy, wholesome family continues to radiate hope and idealism wherever its influence is known. Will a better generation carry on God's purposes when we lay down our tools?

Finally, each one can give himself to leaving a better world than he found when he came here. Jesus taught us to pray "Thy Kingdom come, thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven." This should encourage us to swing our weight in the social structure for justice, peace, understanding and brotherhood under the Fatherhood of God.

Township Board Proceedings

Approval of extension of Rocco Ferrara Contract to cover culvert across Consumers Power Company Roadway.

A communication from the Rocco Ferrara and Company Inc. was read by the Clerk with their proposal for constructing a culvert and embankment on the Consumers Power Company property. The total amount of the proposal was $6430.00. Mr. Hamill recommended that the Township accept the proposal as given. It was moved by D. Lauterbach, supported by E. Holmes, that we accept the Engineer's recommendation related to the extension of the Rocco Ferrara Contract to cover the culvert across the Consumers Power Company Roadway and the proposal be approved as submitted in the amount of $6430.00. Carried unanimously.

Resolutions
Resolution to waive the 4% penalty on the 1966 Property Taxes

The following Resolution was presented by Treasurer, Elizabeth Holmes:

BE IT RESOLVED that the Plymouth Township Board waive the 4% penalty on the 1966 property taxes both real and personal from February 15, 1967 through February 28, 1967 inclusive.

A motion by R. Garber, supported by L. Norman, was made to adopt the resolution as presented by E. Holmes. Carried unanimously.

Personal Property Tax Statement - Hilltop Golf Club

An error had been made in the Personal Property Tax Statement of the Hilltop Golf Club in that their total valuation of $2890.00 was recorded and spread as $28,090.00. The error was no fault of the Hilltop Golf Club; therefore, it was recommended that they pay on their accepted declaration of $214.85 and the balance of $1,873.35 be paid from the Township "Excess of Roll." It was moved by D. Lauterbach, supported by L. Norman, that the Township pay the $1,873.35 from the "Excess of Roll." Carried unanimously.

At this time there were some additional items to be brought before the Board, namely, (1) Weissman Contract, (2) Final payment on W-214 Contract, (3) Proposition for additional millage on forthcoming election. All members being present, a motion was made by E. Holmes, supported by Gene Overholt, to place three additional items on the agenda. Carried unanimously.

A bill was presented by E. Holmes from the Weissman Contracting Corporation for labor, material and equipment for lowering a 12" water line at Five Mile and Sheldon Road. Engineer, H. Hamill elaborated on this work and said that approximately 800 feet of line was taken up and lowered; one hydrant was removed and another one relocated. He recommended payment of the bill. It was moved by R. Garber, supported by D. Lauterbach, that the amount of $4254.81 be paid to Weissman Contracting Corporation from the Water Operation and Maintenance Account. Carried unanimously.

The second additional item to come before the Board Members was the fifth and final payment on Water Project W-214 to Moscone Excavating Corporation. Mr. Hamill pointed out that the project had been completed and upon receipt of a release from the Maintenance Division of Wayne County Road Commission that the project be given final acceptance and payment made in accordance with Estimate of Payment No. 5 (Final) and Change Order No. 4. It was moved by L. Norman, supported by E. Holmes, that the Moscone Excavating Corporation be paid in the amount of $23,027.36. Carried unanimously.

The third item to come before the Board was a report from the Land Acquisition Committee. They presented a proposition that they suggested placing on the ballot for the April 4, 1967 Special Election. It being as follows:

Do you approve the adding to the tax roll, of not to exceed one (1) mill per year for five (5) years, 1967 through 1971 inclusive, for acquiring and improving sites for a Township Complex, Fire Stations and a cultural and recreational center?

Yes
 No

After lengthy discussion, a motion by L. Norman, supported by R. Garber and E. Holmes, was made to place the proposition on the ballot at the Special Election, to be held on April 4, 1967. A roll call vote was taken:

AYES: Louis Norman, Ralph Garber, Elizabeth Holmes, Dick Lauterbach, Gene Overholt, Helen Richardson.

NAYS: None.

Motion carried unanimously.

At this time, a short discussion was had on sidewalks, police protection, sewer, water and drain projects. The decision was made to discuss this more thoroughly at the March meeting.

A schedule on our Annual Debt Requirements as of December 31, 1966 was presented by E. Holmes and given to the Board Members for study.

Dick Lauterbach moved, supported by Ralph Garber to adjourn. The meeting adjourned at 11:00 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,
Helen Richardson, Clerk
John D. McEwen, Supervisor Approved,

Western Plymouth news

Moving into the 49th new home to be built in Woodlore Subdivision are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Miller and two daughters, Kris-ten B and Kimberly 5. The move took place on Feb. 10 and they live on Beechcrest Court. Mr. Miller is Manager, Administrative Budget and Personnel, in the Automotive Assembly Division of Ford Motor Co.

The Millers are settling in Plymouth after returning from a three year stay in Melbourne, Australia. On their way to Australia the family traveled by way of the Pacific Ocean, stopping in Hawaii. On the way back they came by way of Asia and Europe, therefore seeing quite a bit of the world.

Mrs. Miller reports that in Australia children started kindergarten at the age of three and a half, and had a full day of school at four and a half years. Also that Australia, although about the same size as the United States, is very sparsely populated.

On Saturday evening Feb. 11, the Owen McKennys entertained 20 of their Woodlore neighbors. The evening started with cocktails and was followed by a buffet dinner.

New Books In Library

"The Interrupted Journey," two lost hours aboard a flying saucer by John G. Fuller. Parts of this appeared in Look magazine.

"The Wedding Bargain" by Agnes Sligh Turbull is the story of the marriage of a self-made millionaire and his secretary, secretly in love with him for many years. A murder trial provides the turning point of the novel.

"The Women at Pine Creek" by Allis McKay is a novel set in the new State of Washington at the turn of the century. Two sisters take up a claim left by their father--one determined to make a success of the venture and the other determined to leave.

"Colossus" by Dennis Jones is a new science fiction novel about the American inventor of a super computer who learns that Russia has built one too.

"Tree and Leaf" by John Tolkien, author of The Lord of the Rings, discusses the fairy tale as a form of literature and the way in which it differs from other types of fantasy.

"One Passion, Two Loves" by Lynn Gray Poole presents the biographies of Heinrich and Sophia Schliemann, discoverers of Troy. Schliemann was convinced at an early age that Homer had written of a real city and not a legendary one, but had to spend many years amassing a large private fortune before he could realize his dream of excavating the city.

"Collected Stories of Jack Schaefer," author of Shane, trace the story of the frontier from its lawless beginnings to the present day.

Cheboyan Farmer Aids U Of M Scientists Pinpoint States Last Ice Advance

Scientists are grateful for sharp-eyed citizens like farmer Ed Ginop, of Cheboyan. Ginop is credited by University of Michigan researchers with turning up the material which has allowed them to pinpoint for the first time the date of the state's last glacial ice advance.

Ginop, whose farm is just off Munro Lake on the Cheboyan-Levering Road, began to dig a farm pond in the summer of 1965.

When he reached a depth of 10 to 12 feet, the Cheboyan farmer came across some buried plant material.

Most people would have shrugged and thrown it aside, especially when in the midst of a big digging project. Ginop did not. He was curious about the unusual material and deposited some of it on his back porch.

Later he contacted University of Michigan scientists, whose Biological Station at Douglas Lake is not far away.

Robert Zahner, U-M professor in the School of Natural Resources, was in the area on some other business and paid Ginop a visit.

He discovered that the find was a compressed layer of moss which had been buried under silt, then covered by glacial till—a mixture of clay, sand, gravel, and stones laid down by an advancing ice sheet.

Prof. Zahner, in cooperation with U-M geologist William Farrand and botanist William Benninghoff, obtained additional samples of the moss, which were carbon-dated and found to be about 12,650 years old, plus or minus 600 years.

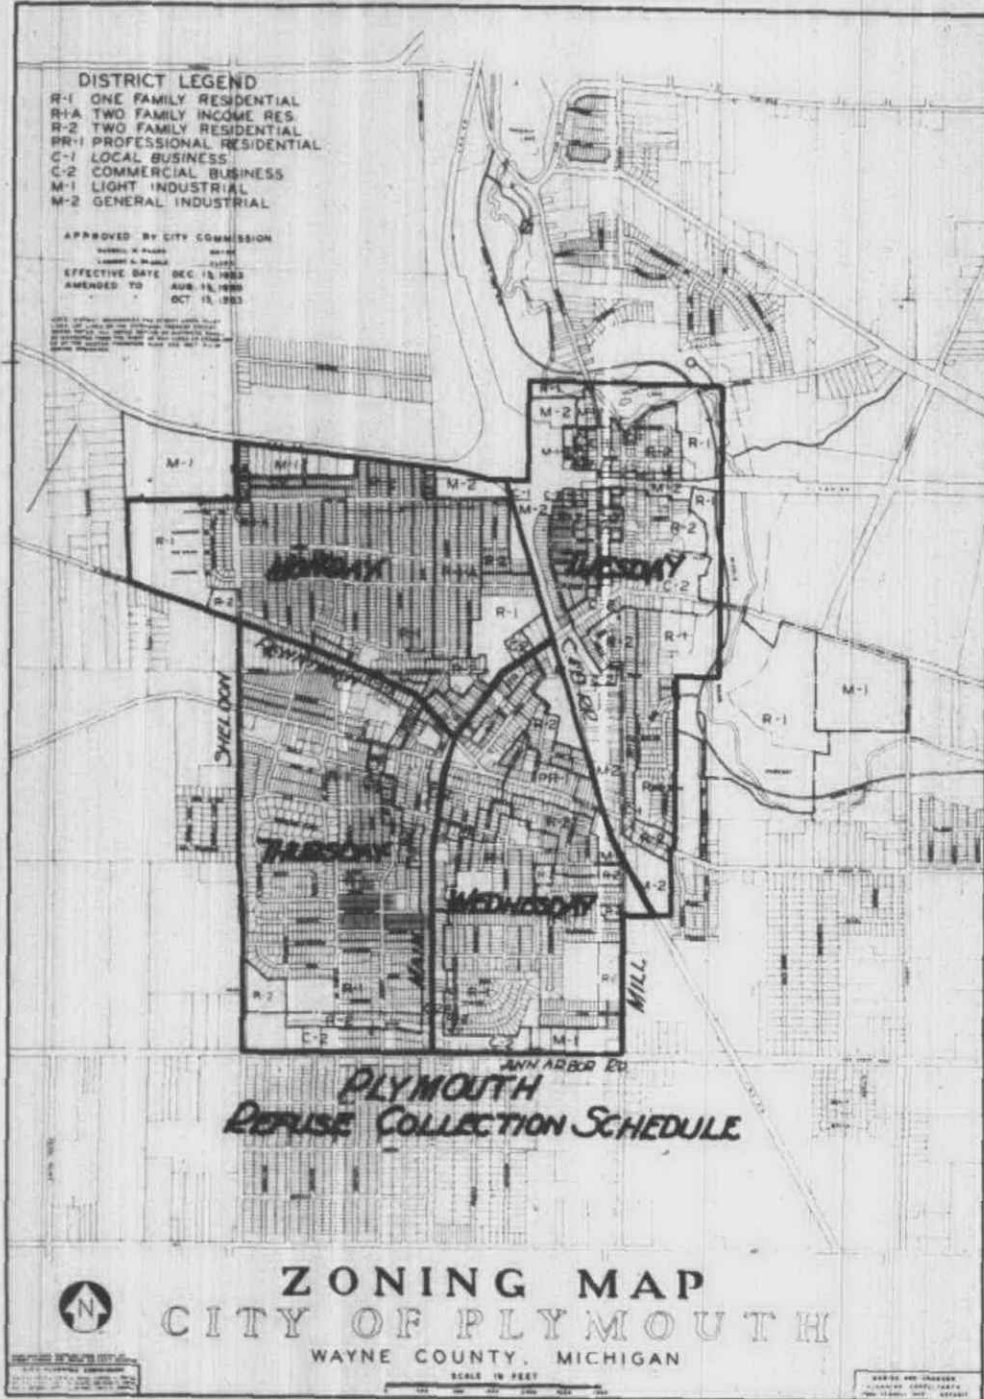

"This date ties in with other figures we have for the most recent continental ice advance over the Great Lakes region," Zahner said. "But while there had been a comparable date for the last ice advance in Wisconsin due to a buried forest at Two Creeks, this is the first time we have been able to date the advance of the last ice sheet in lower Michigan."

The Michigan scientists are seeking a grant to continue their study of the fossil moss, which looks to the layman's eye like a layer of old felt half an inch thick.

Imbedded in that layer are pollens which tell the U-M scientists what plant life existed in the area 12,000 years ago and give other indications of the climate and geological conditions of that time.

The U-M scientists theorize on the basis of pollen deposits that the moss probably grew in an open, nearly treeless area. The moss bed was then buried by silt which may have been deposited by waters impounded by the advancing ice. Later the ice deposited the thick layer of glacial till. Ground water from nearby Munro Lake helped preserve the buried moss in relatively good condition.

"This is a most important date to come our way in the work to tie down the period of the ice age in Michigan," Zahner points out, adding: "We were lucky to have in Ed Ginop an intelligent man who was curious enough to save what he had found so we could benefit from it."

NEW ROUTE FOR REFUSE PICK-UP — Starting on Monday, March 6, the new routes for refuse pick-up will go into effect. This map shows the various portions of the route and the public is asked to guide itself accordingly.

The John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland University is currently coming to grips with George Bernard Shaw. The troupe is in rehearsal for Shaw's comedy, "You Never Can Tell" which will be the first production to be directed by Meadow Brook's Associate Director Robin Ray.

World-famous flamenco guitarist Carlos Montoya will be in concert at the University of Detroit Town and Gown Series at 8:30 p.m., Friday, March 3, in the Memorial Building.

Returning for the third time, the flying fingers of the beloved artist will again create his special compositions based on the Spanish gypsy tradition.

Although he never plays an arrangement without adding something new, making him an exciting performer to hear, he has had many of his works published in an effort to capture at least some part of this wonderfully rich art form that heretofore had never been written down.

The ballet, first produced by the Ballet Russe in London in 1919, features music by Rossini. It is the gay story of activities within a toy shop

World Changes Is Theme For Conclave

"The University and World Change" will be the theme of the Michigan University Christian Movement's first conference, to be held on the Eastern Michigan University campus March 3-5.

Eqbal Ahmad, professor at Cornell University and a native of Pakistan, will be the keynote speaker. The banquet speaker will be Msgr. Clement Kern of Holy Trinity Parish in Detroit. Eleven workshop sessions will be held during the weekend.

The University Christian Movement was formed in September, 1966, by a merger of the National Student Christian Federation, the National Newman Student Federation, the Campus Commission of the Orthodox Church, and others.

After informal discussions last fall, a Michigan conference was organized in January. Represented were the American Baptist, Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian, Roman Catholic and United Churches.

Greek Theater Crisis

Wanted-Nine Angels

Nine more angels in ten days! That's the ambitious goal of the Ypsilanti Greek Theatre. The alternative is to close the unique, award-winning theatre that drew more critical acclaim in its first season last summer than any theatrical effort outside of New York City in the last decade.

The theatre set out in search of ten angels. The first $50,000 has already been pledged by an area executive, conditional on the new season being launched.

The theatre has appealed to foundations, individuals, corporations and government in search of the $500,000 required to meet debts and guarantee a second season. In spite of considerable grass roots support, wide editorial endorsement, expressions of interest on the part of both business and labor and the unusual phenomenon of other non-profit theatres holding benefit performances to help produce the funds necessary to save the young theatre, the basic requirements have not materialized.

Distinguished support from around the world has failed, as yet, to rally financial sources to the theatre's cause. Governor Romney declared a Ypsilanti Greek Theatre week in Michigan. Mayor Cavanagh did the same in Detroit. Princess Irene of Greece visited with Greek Theatre officials and offered words of encouragement.

Faced with a March 1 deadline for second season preparations, the theatre has launched a "Crisis Drive".

Red Cross Sends Voices To Soldiers

The Northwest service office of Red Cross has begun its Easter Voices from Home record cutting daily and will continue through Saturday, March 18.

Records will be cut on Tuesday and Friday evenings from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m. as well as Saturday, March 11 and March 18 from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. During the final week, March 13 to March 18 the office will be open for recording nightly.

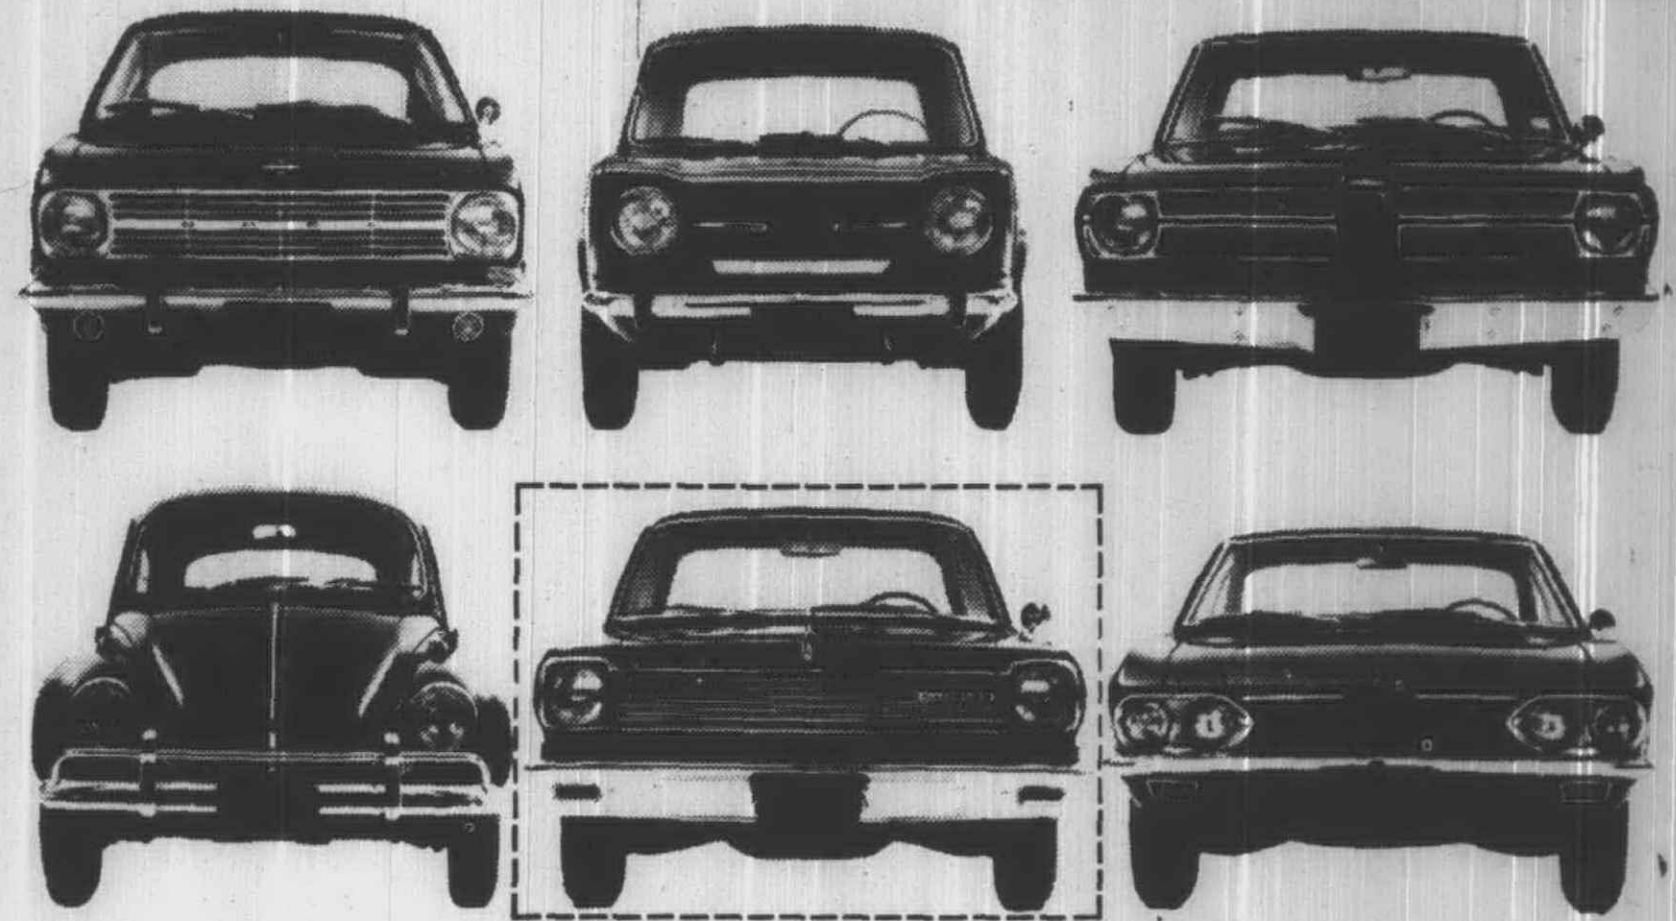

For an appointment to record, phone Red Cross, 422-2737. The office is located at 31228 Five Mile Rd. at Merriman, in Livonia.

Plymouth Boy Joins Harding Grid Squad

Bill Flippen, sophomore from Plymouth, Mich., was among 52 players reporting for annual spring football practice at Harding College.

Under Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference rules 20 days are allowed each spring. Because of the limitation for spring drills, Coach John Prock plans to work his squad every day except Sunday, weather permitting. All work will culminate in the annual Alumni game, February 25.

Flippen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Evan Flippen, 305 Farmer St., Plymouth.

Now, from American Motors, the car that wasn't there.

This may well be the most important news to come out of Detroit this year.

A major gap has developed in today's automobile market—a gap that no American-built car is filling. Because this gap exists, over 1,000,000 car buyers a year have not been able to get the car they wanted: a car for the American motorist at a list price competitive to foreign imports.

Today, American Motors' new management and nearly 2,500 American Motors/Rambler Dealers are filling that gap.

As of today, we are limiting future changes in our Rambler American line to essential changes that will further enhance the safety and reliability of these cars.

This will save us millions of dollars—and we and our dealers are passing the savings along to you now. This means that the Rambler American 220 two-door sedan that yesterday listed at $2,073 now lists at $1,839. It means that today, your American Motors/Rambler Dealer has put new price stickers on all nine Rambler American models.

For years, Rambler American has been the best value in an American automobile. Today, priced competitive to imported cars, it is the best automobile value in the world.

This week on television, we promised you exciting news from American Motors.

This is only the beginning.

Employment Data Sought

A selected sample of households in this area will be asked questions about their employment during 1966 as part of the Current Population Survey conducted by the U.S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census, according to Herbert A. Yerkey, Director of the Bureau's regional office in Detroit.

The 1966 employment survey will supplement questions on employment and unemployment asked each month by Bureau enumerators for the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

The annual survey questions will be aimed at finding out the number of weeks worked during the year, the amount of time lost because of unemployment and other reasons, and the principal job held during the year by each person in sample households.

All information given to Census interviewers will be kept confidential.

Census interviewers who will interview householders in this area are: Margaret Schneider, Sara Green, Lula Horner, Creola Rodwell, Evelyn Beeler, Shirley Walleman, Jessie Pickett, Betty Ruth Dizik, Carolyn Iofgren, Marjorie Taylor, Elaine P. May, Kathleen Adams, and Mae Offner.

Ross Berry Heads GM Public Relations

General Motors has announced that Ross L. Berry, local Pontiac dealer for the past 27 years, has been reappointed to serve as GM Community Relations Chairman for the Plymouth area.

Ross Berry

In this community service role, he can make available to schools and community groups a variety of interesting and educational materials in the form of motion pictures, booklets and presentations from General Motors.

Well known locally for active interest in the Old Newsboys Mr. Berry also will be in a position to cooperate with club groups, schools, or any other local organizations in the development of programs.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

The Michigan Division of the American Association of University Women is firmly in support of tax reform for the State of Michigan. As long ago as the annual meeting in April, 1963, we accepted the principle of supporting measures to provide a more flexible, equitable, and adequate tax structure for our State. The committee immediately appointed brought to the next annual meeting a recommendation including the following items which were adopted by our Division for state-wide support. We have urged their adoption since that time and some progress has been made.

In supporting a flexible, equitable, and adequate tax structure, we urged the passage of statutes incorporating the following items:

1. Scientific and uniform assessment practices in the levying of the real and personal property taxes on individuals and businesses alike. (This was mandated by the new State Constitution.)
2. Consideration to retirees and low income families with reference to property taxes. (The legislature last year passed a homestead exemption act for senior citizens.)
3. Relief to individual taxpayers by exempting food not for consumption on the premises from sales tax.
4. The repeal of the Michigan Business Activities Tax and consideration of lowering the rate of the Corporation Franchise Act.

5. The adoption of a state tax on personal and corporate income.

When we recommended deletion of sources of income for equity, we also recommended additional sources of income for adequacy.

We feel that for taxes to be equitable they should fall fairly on all individuals and businesses and reflect to some extent the ability to pay.

The current Michigan tax structure depends to a large degree upon direct consumer taxes - such as the sales tax on food. Thus the families with lower income pay a larger proportion of their income in consumer taxes than do families with higher income. This is the reason for our position on the sales tax on food.

The Michigan Business Activities Tax and the Corporation Franchise Taxes, both cost taxes, represent inequities in our present tax structure for they represent a fixed cost regardless of profitability in the first case and penalize invested capital in the latter. The heavy tax burden on new and marginal businesses deter new industries from locating in Michigan for they are high in relation to business taxes levied in competing industrial states.

Our studies have all indicated that a state tax on personal and corporate incomes is the only tax that would provide adequate revenue. It also would produce revenue based on the growth potential of the economy in a far more flexible manner than most of our current taxes.

We have ridden the crest of an expanding economy in Michigan in the past ten years but the population increase (3rd largest in the United States) has increased tremendously the cost of state services. We must face seriously the task of supporting them adequately or pay later the higher cost of inadequate education and poor care of the mentally disturbed and delinquent youth. Paying for necessary services now in the fields of education, mental health, and public welfare will be far cheaper than to continue to fail to face up to our obligations and responsibilities.

Very truly yours,

Esther Hulsing, Legislative Chairman, Plymouth Michigan Branch, AAUW

More Cash Is Sought By Disciples

Congregations of the Disciples of Christ have been asked to increase their annual response during the "Week of Compassion" appeal for overseas relief to $800,000 this year.

Special emphasis is being placed upon assistance to the needy in the new African nations, refugees in war torn Vietnam and famine stricken regions in India. Offerings will be taken throughout the nation during February 19-26, it was announced by Dr. Spencer Austin, chairman for the "Week of Compassion" appeal this year.

Madonna Hosts Mission Bazaar

Madonna College will hold its thirteenth annual Mission Bazaar today, Sunday, Feb. 26, from 2 to 5 p.m. in the Student Center, off Schoolcraft and Levan roads.

Sponsored jointly by the Felician Sisters and the Sodality, the bazaar will feature various kinds of booths: cosmetics, nickel pitch, blue ribbon, flowers, stuffed animals and blankets. Door prizes will also be given.

Jewish Group Gives Books To Madonna

The Jewish Chataqua Society, an organization established to promote a better understanding of Judaism, recently presented Madonna College with a book grant. Valued at about $500, the grant consists of 30 volumes which will be placed on the library shelves in the near future.

The books aim to acquaint students with various aspects of Jewish life, culture and religion.

Among these books are included "Giants of Justice" by Vorspan, a portrayal of 14 dynamic American Jews and their influence on democratic society, "The Flowering of Modern Hebrew Literature" by Ribawolow, a literary criticism with selections from 10 foremost figures who influenced Israeli culture, and "Israel Today" by Essrig and Segal, a description of present-day life in Israel.

In conjunction with JCS activities, Rabbi Morton M. Kanter of Temple Beth El in Detroit, lectured at Madonna College on "Contemporary Judaism."

A series of films on different aspects of Jewish life will also be provided by the Society and shown on campus in the near future.

Kubik Plays Hero Role For Rocks'

After blowing a four point lead with 31 seconds remaining, Plymouth High pulled a victory out of the blue Tuesday on the home floor when Mike Kubik split the cords from the edge of the foul circle just as the final buzzer sounded. The shot, which was ruled good by the official timer and the two referees, gave the Rocks a 60-58 triumph over Allen Park.

For the small crowd in the stands, it was one of the most thrilling finishes of the season. It depended on which side of the stands you were seated whether you liked the final outcome or not.

For Allen Park, it was a bitter disappointment after a brilliant comeback. For Plymouth, it was a satisfying victory even though the Rocks were anything but impressive most of the evening.

For Kubik, who was brilliant at times and less than ordinary at other moments, it was his biggest thrill of the year. Mike had seen his team waste a four point lead, 58-54, in the final 25 seconds.

Then with the score knotted at 58-all and the clock showing six seconds to play, Plymouth took the ball out of bounds under the Allen Park basket.

Four seconds went by before the ball was whipped to Kubik at midcourt. He took one dribble and then fired, with the buzzer sounding just as the ball arched in the air--there was a pause as the amazed crowd saw the ball slip through the cords. Then pandemonium reigned as the Plymouth rooters suddenly came alive with the realization of a victory.

There was only sadness on the opposite side where a dazed Allen Park crowd sat in stunned realization that a victory had been so close and yet was so far out of reach.

The game was a see-saw struggle from the start with first one team, then the other forging ahead.

It was Kubik's fielder in the closing minute of the opening frame that gave the Rocks a 11-10 edge. Plymouth built up a nine point margin at 21-12 midway through the second frame when the Parkers came storming back to knot the count at 2-all with a minute and a half remaining in the half.

The visitors tallied five points in the 90 seconds and walked off the floor at the intermission with a 27-22 edge.

Plymouth came back after the rest period and moved ahead, 31-30 at the six minute mark.

Jim Fanto, the rangy Parker center, hit twice from the side to send the visitors ahead, 36-35. Plymouth tallied eight straight points for a 43-46 lead only to have Dan Mazglad and Fanto hit from the court to make it 43-40 going into the final eight minutes.

The final period made up for the lack of excitement during the first three stanzas.

Johnny Ellison, Mike Stakias, Nate Luibrand and Kubik sent the Rocks ahead, 51-44. But Fanto, Frank Dovel, and Pat Harvey countered with seven points for a 51-all tie.

Kubik started a solo rally that accounted for all of Plymouth's points in the remaining three and a half minutes and finally brought the victory.

He hit from the side for a 53-51 edge. He counted again with a rebound to open up a three point lead with 52 seconds remaining.

Harvey grabbed his own rebound and converted to reduce the lead to a single point. Kubik was fouled while shooting and hit twice from the charity strip for a 58-54 lead.

Harvey hit from the foul circle and Dan Mazglad forced the Rocks into a miscue on an out-of-bounds, grabbed the ball and tied the game at 58-all with six seconds on the clock. That set the stage for Kubik's heroics and a victory for Plymouth.

As expected, Kubik topped the Rocks in scoring with 21 points followed by Johnny Ellison and Luibrand with 12 each.

Fanto, who had all the moves of a top star, accounted for half of his team's points on 10 fielders and four free throws for 24.

KUBIK MOBBED . . . It has been a long time since the Plymouth High School fans have had an opportunity to carry one of the Rocks off the floor to celebrate a victory. But it happened last week when the Rocks beat Allen Park in the last second, on Kubik's basket. Here Kubik is shown on the shoulders of his admirers leaving the floor.

Trenton Has Easy Time Gaining One Sided Edge Over Plymouth

"Better they had stayed at home" was the way Plymouth High rooters put it after watching the Rocks have one of those nights in which nothing was right. As a result, they suffered their second defeat of the season at the hands of Trenton, 57-33.

It didn't make any difference what Coach Dick Bearup tried. Nothing helped. He switched players, changed defenses three or four times, used numerous types of offense and finally decided it wasn't to be.

Sparked by the fact that their parents were on hand to view the final home game, Trenton was the seventh loss against five victories for Plymouth and practically ruined chances of winding up the season with a winning record.

There isn't a question in the minds of those who have been following the fortunes of the Rocks but that this was the flattest performance of the entire year.

Neither team was impressive in the second half but the Rocks showed little improvement--it just wasn't their night.

Trenton's second stringers entered the action late in the third quarter and played up to the final minute and a half when Coach Dick Blanz gave all seniors a chance to perform for the hometown folks.

Ricco Righetti was the big gunner for Trenton with 18 points followed by John Hutchinson with 15.

Luibrand had 10 to top Plymouth followed by Kubik with eight. None of the others could hit with the exception of sophomore Gary Corrigan who had two field goals and a free throw for five points and did an excellent job on rebounding.

Keep your balance and you'll never pay to write another check.

The National Bank of Detroit announces the mini-balance checking account.

Now, you can have an NBD checking account completely free of service charges. All you have to do is keep a $200 minimum balance. You can write all the checks you want, and we won't charge you a cent.

Or, if you maintain an average of $500 during the monthly statement period, you still won't have a service charge, even if you drop below the minimum balance once in a while.

You can open a mini-balance checking account at any of our ninety NBD offices.

Schoolcraft Goes Merrily On - Bowing To Two More Rivals

The Schoolcraft College basketball team moved two notches closer to what may become a national record during the past week.

The Haggerty Road forces played two games--and lost both. And to prove their versatility, they lost both at home and on the road.

Pitted against Henry Ford Community College at the Northville Community Center, they played their usual type game and wound up losing, 91 to 77.

Then, moving on to Grand Rapids for a game with Grand Rapids Junior College, they ran smack into a 119 to 84 defeat.

With these two defeats the Schoolcraft lads now have gone through the regular season without a victory. Not since the tournament that opened the pre-season campaign have they won a game.

Local sports history does not reveal the case of any basketball team in the area going through an entire season without a victory.

Against Henry Ford, it was the same old story. Schoolcraft started fast, held its own for the first half and then faded out of the picture. The Ford team had expected an easy victory, but had to "freeze" and play a strong defense to gain the edge.

In Grand Rapids it was another story. The home team was just too much for Schoolcraft and ran away with the game. Schoolcraft displayed its best balance of the season--but it was to no avail.

There were some bright spots in the double defeat, however. Four members of the team scored in double figures against Henry Ford with Northville's Lance Hahn, showing the way with 21 points.

Steve Moore, playing another of his great games, topped the scorers in Grand Rapids with 26 points.

Old Sport's Musings

BY ARTEE

After a spectacular victory over Allen Park that came with the ball in the air when the final buzzer sounded, Plymouth High's basketballers will take to the tournament trails next week where a defeat ends the season.

One can say that the Rocks came a long way this year when contrasting the present club with that which started the campaign in December.

Never was a basketball team any flatter and never did any Plymouth team look so bad. It wasn't that Trenton was so good, it was just that the Rocks were that cold.

But even Coach Dick Bearup probably would be the first to contest talk of improvement in the team after the dismal performance at Trenton a week ago.

They couldn't shoot; the passing was atrocious; the ball handling was worse if one could believe it and it didn't make any difference whether Bearup tried new players, all were the same.

It brought back memories of the late 30's in Ohio when we attended the finals of the district tournament in Akron. The winner was to represent the district in the 16-team finals in Columbus. The district finalists represented the best of a field of more than 100.

But the district championship was anything but a contest--the one team was in the same frame of mind as the Rocks against Trenton and the final score was 30-1.

Granted that it was in the days before the free-scoring basketball, but it does prove a point that even the best can have an off-night.

To complete the Ohio story--the team came back the next year and was in the championship game in Columbus.

The Rocks compete in the Farmington district this year for the first time.

Perhaps it's an omen of good luck. Plymouth drew the lone first round bye and meets the winner of Monday's game between Milford and Farmington in the second round Wednesday night at 8:30 p.m.

The winner advances to Friday's championship and qualifies for the regional tests at Franklin the following week.

Off their performances in the second semester, we believe the Rocks could go far in tournament play. Of course, it all depends on whether they hit another cold spell. If so, then they'll make a quick exit; if not, then Plymouth fans will be following their team for another week or two. We'd like to go to Lansing but we know this team isn't that good.

Perhaps in another year Plymouth will soar to its greatest heights in years since there is great potential on the present varsity and some excellent prospects on the junior varsity.

And with basketball rapidly fading out for another year, Plymouth High athletes immediately will turn their attention to spring sports.

The hard court uniforms will hardly be packed in mothballs before indoor practices will begin for baseball, track, tennis and golf.

Inasmuch as a Plymouth team won the state's class "D" Recreation Association championship last summer, perhaps baseball fans will have an opportunity to cheer for a Suburban Six winner. It could be the first step in the expected resurgence of Plymouth High athletic fortunes.

CHECK III

Check III offers Detroit Bank & Trust personal checking account customers three important advantages:

I. Free Checking. Write as many checks as you wish, make as many deposits as you wish, there's no charge in any statement-month in which you maintain a balance of at least $300. If your balance falls below this minimum, monthly charges are modest and easy to figure out... just 10¢ a check plus 75¢ for your statement.

II. Free Individualized Checkbooks. All Check III customers are entitled to free "his and her" checkbook covers, with names imprinted in gold. And when you open your new Check III account, your first fifty imprinted checks are also free.

III. Bancardcheck. This exclusive new "universal" check service offers you $500 worth of guaranteed funds and special loan privileges. It is available to all Check III customers who apply and qualify for this extra prestige service.

Check III, the prestige checking account that's free, is the most useful and versatile checking account ever offered by Detroit Bank & Trust in its more than 117 years of service. Visit any of our 73 convenient offices for details.

If you thought Pontiac was coming out with just another sports car, you don't know Pontiac!

Pontiac announces not one, two, three or four, but five magnificent new Firebirds for every kind of driving.

Now you can choose from five new Firebirds with the same advanced Pontiac styling, but with five entirely different driving personalities. And they all come with supple expanded vinyl interiors, wood grain styled dash, exclusive space-saver collapsible spare, bucket seats and wide-oval tires.

Firebird 400. Coiled under those dual scoops is a 400 cubic inch V-8 that shrugs off 325 hp. It's connected to a floor-mounted heavy-duty three-speed. On special suspension with redline wide-oval tires. This could be called the ultimate in grand touring. After this, there isn't any more.

Firebird HO. HO stands for High Output. As a split second behind the wheel will attest to. The Firebird HO boasts a 285-hp V-8 with a four-barrel carburetor, dual exhausts and sport striping. Standard stick is a column-mounted three-speed. Naturally, all Firebird options are available.

Firebird 326. Is there room for a family in a sports car? There is now. The excitement of a sports car with the practicality of a 326 cubic inch V-8 that delivers 250 hp on regular gas. Standard transmission is an all-synchro three-speed, but you can order an automatic.

Firebird Sprint. Now you don't have to go to Europe for a sophisticated road machine. This is the 215-hp version of our eager Overhead Cam Six. It's mounted on special suspension that practically welds it to the road. (Any road!) With a floor-mounted all-synchro 3-speed.

Firebird. This is our economy Firebird—with the same exciting options and interiors as the more exotic ones. It's Overhead Cam Six squeezes 165 hp from regular for inexpensive fun driving. See them all at your Pontiac dealer's.

The Magnificent Five are here!

SAVE 20% ON DRAPERY CLEANING DURING FEBRUARY

SLIP COVERS, BLANKETS and QUILTS INCLUDED

During the month of February, Tait's are offering a 20% discount on household cleaning — draperies, slip covers, and blankets.

In March and April, our plant operates at its highest level of volume. A large percentage of the volume is household. If you will send now, in our slower period, we will bill you at regular price less 20% discount.

We'll benefit by levelling our peak volume into the slower months — you'll get a substantial savings — plus the benefit of having your order handled with extra care since we have more than adequate time now.

At Tait's, your draperies are always carefully measured, gently cleaned by the Sanitone process, and returned to their original measurements. All draperies receive decorator folding for perfect hanging.

Back Seat The expression "take a back seat" started in England, where those members of Parliament who belong to the majority party get the front seats and those in the minority are left with the back seats.

Thousands Find Loopholes

Driver Improvement Program Needs Help

One of the major reasons for Michigan's soaring traffic accidents and automobile insurance cost is a driver improvement program which is as badly in need of improvement as the drivers it is intended to improve.

Four serious flaws in the point system for problem drivers er correction and control through license re-examination, and in related law enforcement, are making the persons, property and pocketbooks of the state's responsible citizens targets for many thousands of dangerous and lawless drivers.

To demonstrate what is happening, and why, the Michigan insurance industry has analyzed the records of 1,000 drivers who were at fault for recent accidents. This is what it shows:

The point system is being evaded easily by probably upwards of 200,000 drivers--primarily because of lax traffic law enforcement. Functioning of the system is so straitjacketed that it cannot touch many thousands more who are a serious menace to themselves and everyone else.

Those who repeatedly fail to respond to correction, or why openly defy control, are free to continue to drive as they please, because the program uses no teeth.

And both those with serious drinking problems and those who plead economic hardship when they lose their licenses for bad records largely find their way back to the road with relative ease.

These conditions long have been well known to those who deal with the traffic safety problem, but no solutions to them have been found during eight years of accident and cost increase.

The sample used to spotlight this situation was taken among drivers who could be expected to be largely representative of the most serious problem types in the more than 1 out of 10 Michigan motorists who either are uninsured or are substandard insurance risks.

Of 1,000 whose records could be obtained, 378 had been subject to driver improvement action, most of them repeatedly, and they still were violating traffic laws and causing accidents. Another 268 had serious records, but fewer violation points than the law requires for corrective action. And the sample was expanded by the finding of 162 whose records were not available because they were driving without licenses.

The unlicensed group are one of two examples of the evasion of the point system. A driver's license number is the key to the state's central file of his accidents and traffic law violations. If he has no license, nothing goes on his record. And with no record, he avoids any possibility of driver improvement action.

It has been estimated that upwards of 100,000 enjoy this immunity. Why they do so shown by the sample. The only action indicated against any of the 162 was issuance of a summons for failure to have a license. Such tickets commonly are disposed of by payment of a small fine, and many of them simply are ignored.

A second form of evasion was demonstrated by 160 drivers who had 342 instances of failure to answer traffic law summons. Points go on a driver's record only for traffic law convictions. When a summons is not followed up by the policing agency, which frequently is the case, the points are avoided.

Most of those in the sample were using this dodge to avoid license re-examination after they had several points, or to duck repeat action after they had been in for hearing. A year ago, 260,000 failures to answer summons were recorded in the state. The pattern in the sample indicates that this means some 100,000 drivers thus avoided the point system.

The weakness of the point system's rigid 12 points in 2 years standard for corrective or control action is reflected in the records of the 268 drivers who were not subject to the program.

Over an average period of three years, they had 470 accidents, an average of 1.8 each, involving 972 cars, an average of 3.6 per driver, and 346 injuries, an average of 1.3. And these figures are less than actual because many of the drivers are from Detroit, which until recently did not report accidents to the central file.

The 378 drivers who had been subject to action reveal the lack of control for those on whom the system has no effect. They had 808 accidents, an average of 2.1 each, involving 1,675 vehicles, an average of 4.4 per driver, injury to 604 persons, an average of 1.6, and 7 deaths.

These drivers had 3,127 traffic law convictions, an average of 8.3 each. They had been subject to 694 driver improvement actions, an average of 1.8 each. These included warnings to 206, with 11 repeats; instructions to 122, with 10 repeats; license restriction for 58, with 12 repeats; license suspension for 123, with 50 repeats; license revocation for 60, with 33 repeats; and license cancellation for 6.

The extent to which the law is failing to solve the problem of drivers who consistently drink too much is indicated by the presence in the sample of 56 with previous drunk driving convictions, 13 of whom were repeaters, and many of whom again were charged with drinking in their most recent accidents.

The dilemma of whether to try to keep a dangerous driver off the road for his own and others' safety or to let him drive to avoid economic hardship for his family is reflected in 35 drivers whose suspended or revoked licenses had been restored by license appeal boards or courts -- 6 of them more than once.

Last year, about half of those whose licenses were removed were going to appeal boards, and 54 percent were getting their licenses back. About a fifth of those denied by the boards were going to circuit court, and 74 percent of these were successful.

Bank Tells How To Stop Cash Losses

More than 25 neighborhood businessmen were guests of the National Bank of Detroit on Thursday, February 23, participating in a Loss Prevention Clinic designed to help prevent the loss of funds in the owner or manager's place of business.

Terry West, Manager of NBD's new North Territorial-Sheldon Office said the purpose of the Clinic was "to do everything we can to help the businessman in our service area to prevent cash losses--either through errors in handling cash or through fraudulent check passers or counterfeiters."

"What we are really trying to do is present an educational 'short course' to help the businessman protect himself against these kinds of losses. Many businessmen in our neighborhood have asked for help on these problems and we feel we can make a valuable contribution with this program," West said.

Participating in the Clinic presentation were West, Melvin B. Walters, Assistant Cashier at the NBD-Plymouth Office, and Acting Chief of Police Roger Vanderveen.

The program included three presentations on "How To Handle Cash," "How To Detect Fraudulent Checks," and "How To Spot Counterfeit Money." Visual aids and samples of fraudulent and counterfeit funds were used in the presentation. Businessmen attending the Clinic were presented with a 22-page Businessmen's Loss Prevention Guide and other material furnished by government fiscal agencies.

Sen Dzendzel Puts Papers In Archives

Senator Raymond D. Dzendzel, Detroit, state senate majority leader the past two years who has served in the Legislature since 1954, has donated many of his personal papers of historical significance to the state archives of the historical division of the Michigan Department of State.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said he was happy to receive Dzendzel's papers, adding that other members of the Legislature were also planning to donate material

Tips from the STOP & SHOP CHEF Questions & Answers

Does the fat content of fish have anything to do with the way the fish should be cooked?

Yes. Lean fish (the white-fleshed varieties) are usually better suited to poaching, steaming, sauteing and frying. The fat fish (those with dark flesh) are generally better cooked by broiling or baking.
