City Ready To Usher In Big Centennial Year

Educators Now Face A Problem

Members of the Plymouth Community Board of Education are pondering a most puzzling problem.

Just how far can they go in equipping the new high school with modern equipment and the space necessary for the latest trends in education?

They were given to ponder by the Planning Committee which has been studying plans and making surveys of top schools in the state since last October.

In making the report the Committee suggested such modern things as--

1. A two story gymnasium with adjoining locker rooms and folding bleachers that could be moved to provide more class space or meeting rooms.
2. An 1100 seat auditorium with 800 seats on the main floor and 300 more on a balcony.
3. Seven language rooms equipped with working head sets for radio.
4. A retailing laboratory for the teaching of general business and all phases of small business.

5. Vocational lab for such courses as refrigeration, use of hydraulic equipment, etc.
6. Graphic arts lab, for art work, printing, etc.
7. Science lab that would include green house and growing areas for botany and agriculture and a four-year course in biology.
8. Social study lab.
9. Mathematic lab complete with computers.

These were the main suggestions for the school that is to be designed for the handling of 1800 students in its 15,000 square foot area.

Other items stressed were the size of the classrooms for average classes and a major library that is to be stressed as a learning center.

It was reported that the projected cost would not be known until the Board members had made a decision on the various suggestions and the architect had an opportunity to put the complete plan on paper.

Gerald Fischer, Chairman of the Board, announced that the decision may be reached at the next meeting on Saturday, March 11. It is hoped that the entire plan can be set up in order that a vote on a bond issue can be held in May.

While there was no protesting of any of the suggestions Don Tripp, Chairman of the Citizens Study Committee, let it be known that his group would want the answer to only one question--Why?

He explained this by stating that the citizens would want to know why these facilities were suggested and why they would be needed.

Prep Math Prize Won By DeMott

John DeMott, a junior at Plymouth High, is among the select group of high school students throughout the state who have been invited to attend the Awards Banquet at Michigan State University on Saturday, March 11.

The students will be honored for outstanding performances in the 10th Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition.

More than 26,000 students from 600 Michigan High Schools participated. Those invited to the banquet are the top 97 winners.

LOOKING DOWN MAIN STREET OF LONG AGO: On this day, celebrating the actual Centennial of the incorporation of the City of Plymouth, it is interesting to turn back the pages and look at Main Street of long ago. Can you pick out the various shops and streets? You'll find it interesting trying.

State Senate Centennial Resolution

Senator George Kuhn (R) offered the following concurrent resolution:

A concurrent resolution on the Centennial of the City of Plymouth, Michigan.

Whereas, By Act No. 296 of the Nineteenth Legislature of the State of Michigan, the Village of Plymouth was incorporated, March 5, 1867; and

Whereas, From an area of virgin wilderness, the community has grown to a flourishing city of about 10,500 population, now burgeoning in an industrial evolution; and

Whereas, The first settlers arrived in 1825, having purchased land for $1.25 an acre from the United States government through its Land Office, issuing patents from Detroit; and

Whereas, Plymouth derives its name from the early Pilgrims, migrating from New England and who created the Village Green as was their English ancestors' custom. Plymouth still cherishes that heritage and is one of the only two Michigan sites continuously preserved as the center of the town's activities; and

Whereas, Another landmark, preserved on the official seal of the City of Plymouth, is the old log cabin which was originally a logging place, furnishing settlers their homestead building materials; and

Whereas, Located midway between Ann Arbor and Detroit on the major travel routes then emerging through the midwestern area, Plymouth became one of the first railroad stopover points, a crossroads for those pioneer families using the newly completed Erie Canal route; and

Whereas, Michigan's founding fathers of sturdy pioneer stock carved her wildernesses into a great network of thriving communities; their descendants even to this day developed her to become one of the acknowledged vanguard States of the Union, whose environment of natural and human resources provide a rich treasury in a favored Nation; now therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate (the House of Representatives concurring), That by these presents, tribute is accorded the City of Plymouth, observing its Centennial of March 5, 1867 origin, with pride in her heritage preserved through the faith and vision of her inhabitants and with praise for the spirit of Plymouth's citizens as progressive elements of Michigan society; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this tribute be presented to the Mayor of the City of Plymouth and to other community leaders and organizations, as official expression of the esteem of The Michigan Legislature, speaking for its members and for the People of the State of Michigan.

Race Against Time

Township Trustees Study Budget

The Plymouth Township Trustees have started a race against time.

They are striving to complete the annual budget by March 25--just in time to have it as a birthday gift at the one hundred and fortieth anniversary that evening in Trustee Ralph Garber's barn.

This plan of action was mapped at the regular meeting last Tuesday evening and Supervisor McEwen expressed confidence that it could be done. Meetings are scheduled each Thursday until the budget is completed. Among the other things accomplished at the meeting was a decision to take $20,000 from the contingency fund and purchase certificates earmarked for the building fund.

The Trustees had only one bid for the construction of the DPW Building and decided to wait until other contractors could be heard from. It was pointed out that the Township had not advertised for bids, but simply invited the contractors to submit them.

The Don Garrow Construction Co. also was given an extension of time until July 1 to finish its work on several sewer projects.

The Trustees also turned down a request from John Ashton that a definite stand be taken on the proposed route of M-14. It was the consensus of the Trustees that the State Highway Commission had not presented its final proposal--and that no definite action could be taken until a final route was offered.

Prayer, Concert Start It

The longest and most colorful birthday celebration in the glamorous history of the Plymouth Community will open this Sunday.

It will be the one hundredth anniversary of the incorporation of the city and the observance of the occasion promises to be something that will long be remembered.

The birthday celebration will open on a solemn note this Sunday morning when there will be special services in all of the churches. Then, in the afternoon the Plymouth Symphony sponsors a special concert in the high school auditorium. This is scheduled for 4 o'clock and many of the numbers will be done especially for the birthday observance.

From then until the Christmas holidays there will be all sorts of activities--all in connection with the centennial.

Every club, society, civic organization and fraternal group in the area will have some special event during the year.

While the celebration will be marked each day, there are several weeks which will stand apart from the others.

The first of these will be the annual Michigan Week in May, which this year, will take on added significance because of the centennial. This week, as usual, will be broken up into special days.

Then, over the Fourth of July period the celebration will hit one of its peaks with a week-long event.

In keeping with tradition there will be the usual parade, but it will be more important this year than ever before.

First, the Lord Mayor of Plymouth, England, has been invited to be a guest of the city. And with him, the mayors of 15 other cities bearing the name of Plymouth have been invited.

And while nothing official can yet be announced, an invitation is being extended to Vice-President Hubert Humphrey to be the guest speaker at a special July Fourth celebration.

Aside from the actual July Fourth events, the annual Industrial show, which this year is to be known as the Home Products Show will be held throughout the week at the Plymouth High School gymnasium.

The next big week will be in September for the annual Fall Festival during which all of the service clubs participate and which, annually, draws hundreds of visitors to the area.

The last big event--and what should be one of the most colorful--will be over the Thanksgiving period. This will open with a big turkey sale at Kellogg Park for three weeks prior to the "Turkey Day" feasts.

Few folks realize it but the area between Plymouth and South Lyon is one of the greatest turkey centers in the country. So, what is expected to become an annual event.

The First 100 Years

Today the City of Plymouth celebrates the centennial of its incorporation and it should be a joyous occasion.

Few cities in this section of our land have reached this milestone. And, as we gather in a silent prayer of thanksgiving today to usher in the big year, it might be well to look back across the pages of history and review once again the rich heritage of the community.

Started by a few hardy souls who ventured west and settled here in 1825, the layout of the community followed the pattern of the homelands by having a village green. It is something of which we can still be proud.

Much like today, when the area was incorporated on March 5, 1867, the echoes of war--the Civil War--were reverberating through the land and we still were mourning the assassination of a president--Abraham Lincoln, who was shot fatally on April 14, 1965. Today, the tragedy of President Kennedy's death still is fresh in our minds.

Down through the years Plymouth has survived three wars, panics and depressions and has glories in the peaks of success that helped to make our nation the leader of the world.

Since that day of incorporation, Plymouth has seen the development of the railroads, the coming of the automobile and airplane as the modern means of travel.

Plymouth has seen the conquering of space and has prospered in the development of our communications media such as radio and television.

Plymouth has played a part in the transition from the old wilderness days to the role of a modern city.

And with this transition it has retained just enough of the past to make it a most interesting community.

So, Happy Birthday.

And may it have many more.

Wheel Trueing Case Answers Question

Land Values In Area Almost Triple In Last Decade

One of the most popular questions around the Plymouth Community in recent months has been "How much has property increased in value in the past ten years?"

The question went unanswered, officially, until last Monday night when the City Commission and the Wheel Trueing Corporation settled their long dispute.

In making the settlement over the disputed property on Plymouth Road it was agreed that the price of the land--for which Wheel Trueing paid $3,500 per acre six years ago should be listed at $10,000.

So, in less than a decade property values have increased almost three times the original price.

After more than six years of negotiating the difference between the City and Wheel Trueing was settled with a most interesting arrangement.

It included the sale of 4.76 acres of the land on Plymouth Road for $27,125 in cash and the turning back to the city of three acres of ground with an estimated value of $30,000--or $10,000 an acre.

It was back in 1959 that Wheel Trueing approached the City about the availability of land in the then new Industrial Park. Corporation officials told the City Commission they were interested in moving their facilities from Detroit to a newer and better location in Plymouth.

After lengthy discussion, the Corporation agreed to the purchase of 11.76 acres for $41,125. Then in August, 1964, the City Commission arranged to buy back four acres for $14,000, making the net price to Wheel Trueing of $27,125 for 7.76 acres or $3,500 per acre.

The City made no charge for improvements although there was a verbal agreement that Wheel Trueing would pay for such improvements when it had the new building ready for use.

This was the report of the committee working with Wheel Trueing people in 1964.

Wheel Trueing indicated it would start construction of the new plant within a short time and actually erected the shell of the building.

Then, according to City Commission reports, the corporation had a change in management after the death of one of the top officials and a change in heart--the newcomers didn't want to move to Plymouth and to the Commission they wanted to sell the property with the shell.

Once again negotiations were snagged by the sudden change in thinking and the City Commission turned the matter over to Harold Fischer, director of the Plymouth Community Planning Commission, for negotiations.

Schoolcraft Dedicates Lois Waterman Center

An honor that is bestowed upon few women will be paid to Miss Lois Waterman, Dean Emeritus, of Schoolcraft College, when the student center named for her will be dedicated on Sunday, March 12 at 3 p.m.

All of the time honored ceremonies for such occasions will be carried out with Dr. Ralph Banfield, Ann Arbor, Executive Secretary of the Mid-West Community College Leadership Program delivering the dedicatory address.

The ceremony will include the unveiling of an oil portrait of Miss Waterman, who served as the first Dean of Student Affairs at the college. She has remained active on campus as a special consultant in the college's self-study toward accreditation by the North Central Assn. of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Miss Waterman is now Dean Emeritus of the college.

Invited guests include presidents of community colleges, state officials, legislators, members of boards of education, superintendents and high school principals of public school districts within the college district, mayors and township supervisors, and trustees of the Schoolcraft College Foundation.

A reception honoring Dean Waterman will follow the ceremony in the lower level of the Center. The public is invited to the reception.

The dedication ceremony will open with a dedicatory statement by Dr. Bradner, who will unveil the portrait of Dean Waterman. Symbolic presentation of the building will be made by a representative of the project architect, Eberle M. Smith Associates. Acceptances will be made by Harold Fischer, chairman of the board of trustees, by Dr. Bradner, and by Richard Snyder, president of the Student Senate.

Musical interludes will be provided by the Schoolcraft College Choir under the direction of Wayne Dunlap.

The Center, built at a cost of more than $750,000, was opened for student use in September, 1966.

Dhan Waterman joined the Schoolcraft staff in May, 1962. She came here from Delta College. Previously she had been associated with Dr. Bradner at Bay City Junior College where she served as Dean of Women and Presidential Assistant.

She directed the planning and did much of the leg work in establishing close working relationships between the young Schoolcraft College and senior colleges in Michigan, including her own alma mater, the University of Michigan.

It was largely through her efforts in coordinating the programs offered at Schoolcraft with entrance requirements of the four-year colleges that led to the early accreditation of Schoolcraft by the Michigan Commission on Accreditation. This step meant that Schoolcraft graduates could transfer their college credits to any Michigan college without loss of credit.

Three PHS Students Get Top Ranking

The newest honor list from Michigan State University shows that three graduates of Plymouth High compiled straight A (4.0) grade point averages during the past semester.

The trio, two freshmen and one sophomore, include: Carol Zalma, a sophomore, and Judith King and Ralph Heid of the freshman class.

What's In A Name?

Michigan Loaded With Odd Ones

The 1967 Official Michigan Highway Map will show 1,627 cities, villages and places such as parks, lakes and rivers but more than 2,100 other spots will be left off because of a lack of space.

The official State Highway Commission log of towns and places lists a total 3,748 locations. The names from the map and the log combine to offer many interesting contrasts as well as clues to their origin.

Nature lovers, for example, can find Wolf Creek, Yellow Dog Point, Cat Head Point, Duck Lake, Gull Lake, Eagle, Elk, Sleeping Bear Point, the Porcupine Mountain, Wildcat Mill and Wildfowl Bay.

A numbers game can be played with Uno, Two Rivers, Three Lakes, Four Towns, Five Points, Six Lakes, Seven Harbors, Eight Mile Corner, Nine Mile Point and Ten Mile Rd.

There's Holland, Sault Ste. Marie, Eau Claire, the Irish Hills, French Landing, Quakerstown, Ceylon and Poland along with a place called Moscow in Hillsdale County.

Dreamland, Paradise and Prosper might offer an alternative to Witch Lake, Devils Lake and Hell, but even Shakespeare would be at home in Verona with Romeo, Venice Station and Trent.

Caesar could find Brutus, Titus, Aurelius, Romulus, Bruno, and Rome Center. The Rubicon, Pompeii, Utica, Aetna and Tyre would also ring familiar to ancient history students.

In sharp contrast to the sonorous designations derived from history are names like Grape in Monroe County, Jam in Midland County and Jam Dam in Menominee County.

American history, of course, hasn't been slighted by Michigan name makers. There's a Washington, Lincoln, Sheridan, Grant, Jackson and Bunker Hill, and Michigan also has a Wellington, a Napoleon and, of course, a Waterloo.

The early settlers brought many of the names with them. They also continued to use Indian names that had been in existence. Others such as Novi and Bad Axe came about for unusual reasons.

Novi, for example, was Station No. VI on the Old Plank Rd. from Detroit to Lansing.

Mayor Houk Is Assigned To Clawson

The City of Plymouth will exchange Mayors with Clawson during the Mayor's Exchange Day, one of the features of the annual Michigan Week celebration.

Drawings for the 14th annual Exchange of Monday, May 15, were made in Lansing with Lt. Governor William Milliken pulling the names out of the hat.

A total of 456 communities were paired for the exchange.

Michigan's Exchange of Mayors is the only event of its kind in the world. The purpose is to make the participating communities, large and small, better acquainted with one another and to build and demonstrate the neighborliness of Michigan towns.

Burroughs Plans Input Equipment

A new Burroughs information entry and visual display system to provide instant, two-way communication with a computer has been announced by Ray W. MacDonald, Burroughs Corporation President.

The Burroughs Input and Display System makes the processing power and memory of a computer available to offices and working areas located away from the computer by means of direct communication. Through the unique capabilities of the new Burroughs system, the operator can enter information directly into the computer, update or alter information stored in computer memory, call out information from the computer for projection on a display screen and modify computer programs.

Resembling the combination of a television picture tube and a typewriter keyboard, the Burroughs Input and Display System has a 9x12 inch screen and can display 25 lines of data. Up to 80 characters of information, or the maximum amount of data recorded in a slug's punched card, can be displayed on each line of the screen.

"Applications for the Burroughs Input and Display System are virtually unlimited. Display/keyboard units may be used for every existing phase of data recording, computations and information exchange in business and finance. Equally suited to a multitude of applications in other fields, the Input and Display System also can be used in medicine, research, engineering, law enforcement, education and government. Keypunching and verifying and other time-consuming data input processes can be substantially reduced in many applications with the new Burroughs system," said Mr. MacDonald.

Sentiment Switching Toward Daylight Time

Senate Minority Leader Raymond D. Dzendzel (D-Detroit) has reported that, "the tide of public opinion apparently has turned in favor of Daylight Savings Time" and urged the members of the House of Representatives to take careful soundings in their districts before voting to exempt Michigan.

Dzendzel said, "after stating my arguments for Daylight Savings Time on the Senate floor last week I received many calls of support for my position from constituents in my district. I think the points in favor of Daylight Savings Time are beginning to sink in and the people are starting to support it."

"If we fail to select Daylight Savings Time our state will be put on an entirely different time schedule from most other states for six months of the year. The resulting confusion in commerce, transportation and communication schedules, etc., would be unfavorable to Michigan. A good example is the television and radio industry where the national networks and Federal Regulating Agencies will all base their schedules on Daylight Savings Time while we would be an hour off."

"In fact," said Dzendzel, "nearly all phases of our lives that extend beyond the boundaries of Michigan would be based on Daylight Savings Time while we tuckrize alone out of step with most of the Nation."

More than 100,000,000 Americans have enjoyed Daylight Savings Time during six months of the year as a result of actions taken by State Legislatures in 1966, there were 19 states and the District of Columbia that observed Daylight Savings Time. These states included the major industrial, financial and commercial states of the Northeast, Midwest and Far West, in particular--Delaware, Illinois, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Washington, Wisconsin and California.

"I urge all citizens to take the time to make their views known on this important state issue."

Group Names Planning Head

The Michigan State Fair Authority has approved a contract with Toby David of Grosse Pointe Woods to be its planning coordinator--a new position created by the Michigan Department of Agriculture to facilitate development of the Detroit Fairgrounds for greater year-round use.

David, former radio and television star who was chairman of the Michigan State Fair Authority in 1963, will assume his duties March 1 at $18,000.

Whats' Ahead For Us In Next 100 Years

Now that the City of Plymouth is celebrating the centennial of its incorporation it might be well to pause in the joyousness of the occasion to take a look into the future.

What lies ahead in the next 100 years?

What sort of a community will Plymouth be like in another century?

Of times coming events cast their shadows before them. If that be the case, Plymouth is due to have a most exciting time.

Let's take a quick look around and note the signs of things to come.

First, there is a growing demand for industrial sites and the time may not be far away when the area that once was referred to as a quiet little community will be a bustling area devoted to both industry and research.

Secondly, the Plymouth Community lies in the direct path of what is planned to be a research center extending from Ann Arbor to Detroit. There are many signs of this growth right now. The big Parke-Davis and Bendix facilities now in the location are only a signal of things to come.

Next, there are the projected freeways, both east and west and north and south. In all the proposed plans, the Plymouth Community provides a major point for both business and industry. The community is destined to play a major role in the various crossroads and in these roles can easily become the center of great activity.

Not the least of assets in the present community is the parkway system. With such things as the Hines Parkway Drive, and the park area running for miles, it is not difficult to imagine the Plymouth area as one of the major centers for relaxation and fun.

And with the shorter work week in the not too distant future, there will be greater need for recreation facilities. This will be no problem. The area has them now.

Should plans proceed to their fruition and the projected skating rink become only a part of a structure modeled after the Olympia stadium in Detroit, the community not only would become a recreation center, but would be in line to host many conventions—and thus change the entire business complexion of the area.

In the foreseeable future, too, is the culmination of the "Magic Rectangle" that will provide a full circulation of traffic around the downtown business mall.

One doesn't have to be a dreamer to visualize what lies ahead.

Properly planned and built, the Plymouth Community could become second only to Detroit as a center of activity in Southeastern Michigan.

The tools for greatness are available—if we use them.

Some Things Prove Too Costly To Keep

It was interesting to note that Karl Starkweather, one of the most highly respected residents of the Plymouth Community, in his recent letter to the Mail pleaded for the elimination of the railroad crossings that slowly may be strangling the downtown business life of the community.

For more years than most folks care to remember, Mr. Starkweather has been watching Plymouth grow. He paid his respects to the railroads and the part they played in the early life of the area. But, like most people, he now is asking that something be done.

His request is only one of many. But coming from a man of his stature, the plea takes on more importance.

While all sorts of plans are being projected for the improvement of the area, nothing much is being done to eliminate or ease the problems at the rail crossings.

It has been said that it would cost more than a million dollars to provide an underpass or an overpass. And it was said that this is too costly in that the City of Plymouth would have to pay a full share.

Is it too costly to save the business life of the city? Is it too costly to preserve the downtown area—one of the few such areas left in the mushrooming growth of the nation?

"Let's wait," one of the city officials was heard to remark recently. "Let's wait and see if the Federal Government will step in and do it for us."

Such an attitude never will get the job done that needs to be done.

Somewhere in the Good Book it says that "The Lord Helps Those Who Help Themselves."

So, now the question becomes a simple one.

It isn't a case of "Can we do it?" It is a case of "Can we afford not to do it?"

Calling on his years of experience, Mr. Starkweather has hit the nail on the head.

The job should be done now. Let's not wait for anyone to do it for us.

Parking Authority - Is It Just A Start?

When the Plymouth City Commission approved the recommendation of the Central Business District group to establish a parking authority, it put into motion what could develop into a chain reaction that would change the complexion of the entire downtown area.

It is no secret that parking long has been a problem for the business men—and the shoppers—in the central business district. It was partly solved several years ago with the present parking lot just off Main Street. But this facility long since has proved inadequate.

Now the time has come to act—or take the consequences—and unless facilities are made available to meet demands of the modern age, the area is due for trouble.

One of the prime features of the modern shopping centers is the provision of adequate parking, plus the feature of a one-stop shopping tour.

The door now is being opened for much the same sort of service in the downtown area. No one is wild enough in his or her imagination to vision a surface parking area in the downtown area to match that of a major shopping center. But, that shouldn't stop the project.

In the heavily built areas nowadays it is customary to build up instead of out. That's what could be done in the downtown area of Plymouth.

Even in the present surface facility, parking ramps could be constructed that would double duty. They not only could provide adequate parking, but also provide areas for new shops, and add to the business community.

There was a time when such parking ramps didn't add to the beauty of any section. But times have changed and the engineers have come up with designs now that add to the appearance of any section.

One need look only to such areas as the General Motors Building in Detroit and the big, new facility at Wayne State University, or the major ramps in Ann Arbor.

These modern ramps add to, rather than detract from, a community and such a facility would find a welcome in the downtown Plymouth area.

Just as important as the appearance is the method of financing such a ramp. It could be done in several ways.

With a nominal charge for parking, and the revenue obtained from renting the shops, there possibly would be sufficient cash forthcoming to construct the ramp through the sale of revenue bonds.

Whatever the plan, it is good to know that the wheels have been put into motion—and something is being done.

The need for such a group as a parking authority has long been needed.

Let's hope it is not too late.

Facts You Should Know About Your Income Tax

In cooperation with the Department of Internal Revenue, The Mail is offering a series of articles dealing with income tax and all of its ramifications.

DIVIDEND INCOME

Dividends received from foreign and domestic corporations are taxable income and must be shown on the tax return. In some cases, dividends are paid in stock . . . these generally are not taxable at the time received.

Individuals who are members of investment clubs must report their proportionate share of dividends earned from the group's investments. You must also report the dividends on your stock which is held in the name of your broker.

You may exclude from income in 1966 the first $100 of qualified dividends. Qualified dividends are those from domestic (United States) corporations. When using the Form 1040, dividends must be listed in part II of page 2 of the return. Those who can use the form 1040A, enter the amount of dividends, after deducting the exclusion, as "Other Income."

The so-called "Dividends" on savings and loan and credit union accounts are actually interest which is freely taxable, regardless of amount, and must be included on your tax return.

Read the instructions for both the Form 1040 and the 1040A and most of your questions will be answered. If you still have a question, telephone your local Internal Revenue Service office for the answer.

INTEREST AND CARRYING CHARGES

You can deduct on Federal Income Tax returns certain interest payments including interest paid on bank loans, personal debts and home mortgages, if you elect to itemize your deductions.

A portion of so-called "Carrying Charges" paid on installment purchases of automobiles, television sets, and payments for educational services may also be deducted.

Where carrying charges are separately stated but the interest charge cannot be determined, the deduction is limited to an amount equal to six percent of the average unpaid monthly balance on the installment contract, or the portion of the total carrying charge allocable to the year, whichever is less.

Sometimes money is borrowed on a discount basis. That is, the interest is subtracted in advance and a note is signed for an amount larger than you receive. If you use the cash method, the interest may be deducted only as you make payments on the note. If you use the accrual method, you may deduct the interest as it accrues.

MEDICAL AND DENTAL EXPENSES

Special rules continue to apply to deductions for medical and dental expenses on Federal Income Tax returns.

Deductible expenses include amounts paid for diagnosis, prevention, cure, correction, or treatment of a physical or mental defect or illness.

Payments for doctor, dentist, nurse and hospital bills, payments for eyeglasses, artificial teeth, hearing aids, braces, X-ray examinations or treatments and premiums for hospital and medical insurance are deductible.

Medicine and drugs may be included as medical expense only to the extent that they exceed one percent (1%) of your income reported on Line 9, Page 1, of Form 1040. This 1% limitation, however, does not apply if either you or your spouse have reached the age of 65 before the close of the taxable year, or where the medicines and drugs are for the care of a dependent mother or father who has attained 65 years of age before the close of the taxable year.

Once you have listed and totaled the deductible items, you must reduce the total by three percent (3%) of your income reported on Line 9, Page 1, of Form 1040.

The 3% reduction, again, does not apply to medical expenses if either you or your spouse is 65 or over by the close of the taxable year, nor does it apply to medical expenses which you have paid for a parent who is 65 or over and qualifies as your dependent.

There is a maximum deduction for taxpayers claiming medical expenses. The maximum deduction is different depending on the type of return you file. The instruction booklet lists the maximum deductions allowable to all taxpayers.

Letters To Editor

To the Editor:

I am a married college student in New Ulm, Minnesota. Ever since I have been out here, I have received the Plymouth Mail to keep in touch with what's going on in my old home town.

I think the addition of the "Churches in Action" and "Guest Sermon of the week" column was a welcome service.

I especially enjoyed the guest sermon of your February 19, 1967 issue, that of Pastor Norman Berg of St. Peter's Lutheran Church. It truly was inspirational and timely concerning the society, and its attitudes, we are living in. "The racial prejudice of us in lily-white communities" especially seemed to hit home as it is such a perplexing problem to us all.

Thank you for these enlightening and interesting sermons.

Very truly yours,
John Taylor

A drive to raise at least $5,500 for the Plymouth, Northville and Livonia Junior Achievement program was opened last week when industrial leaders met at the Hotel Mayflower. Frank Henderson of Plymouth, is chairman of the fund drive.

Senior Girl Scout Troop 1 served coffee and cookies to warm up the volunteers who participated in last Thursday night's Mothers March on Polio.

Dr. and Mrs. A. E. VanOrnum were hosts over the weekend entertaining two students from India: Desh Kapur of Delhi and Tikam Wadhvani, who attend the University of Michigan.

The Stroller . . .

Dropped into the Plymouth Township Hall the other evening to take a good look at the modern version of a good, old poker game.

No, there was no gambling table. There wasn't a blue chip in sight — or any other color either.

But it was the closest thing to the good, old poker games we used to have in the home town fire hall years ago.

It was a meeting of the taxpayers with the representatives of the State Highway Commission to discuss the route of M-14, and The Stroller couldn't help feeling that the taxpayers were playing against a "pat" hand.

One after the other arose to put in his chip and each time the Highway Representative, standing at the chart, smiled and said, pleasantly, "your point is well taken, but we have put in a lot of study on the matter . . ."

It was for all the world like the poker game as one after the other showed his hand — and the fellow who made the original bet, stood there, smiling, knowing all the while that his route would be the one.

In the old poker games you'd call this "calling" — only in this case the hand seems to be "pat".

Sitting there, The Stroller recalled a meeting he attended way back in 1952. A member of the Livonia City Council at the time, he asked a member of the State Highway Commission, "When are you folks going to do something with Plymouth Road?"

He smiled and calmly answered, "Possibly never. It has too many curves and hills — and especially since you folks have another highway."

"Do you mean Schoolcraft," The Stroller countered, "That doesn't start anywhere and doesn't go any place."

"But it could," the Highway official said as he departed.

Mind you, that was 15 years ago. That's how long the State has been working on a route of the highway.

So, you can see the element of the old poker game. These state officials are just testing the patience of the residents. Sooner, or later, the residents give up in disgust, like the poker player, throwing in his hand.

And M-14 will go where the state has it planned.

Best News of the Day

Sidney Strong, one of Plymouth's venerable senior statesmen, returned home from the hospital last week — on his birthday.

He couldn't have received a finer gift. And The Stroller wishes him many more.

Reason for smile.

If you should meet Dr. Eric J. Bradner, President of Schoolcraft College, in your travels you'd find him wearing a broad smile — and for a good reason.

He recently has become a grandfather for the first time. His daughter Sue (wife of Dr. James Woodburne, of Ann Arbor) gave birth to a baby boy, who has been named Timothy Bradner Woodburne.

Each time The Stroller is caught in one of those traffic jams at the C & O railroad crossing, he can't help recalling a conversation he heard down in the Dutch Country.

A Pennsylvania Dutch mother was caught in a similar jam and she had her little son with her. He asked about the train and she answered:

"When the little red car (caboose) comes, then it ain't anymore."

Carl Pursell, who, among other things is President of the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce, is wearing a big smile these days . . . and for a good reason.

Over the past weekend he won a political battle when the group he helped foster was seated at the Republican convention in Cobo Hall.

Now, he would like to see some action in preserving the downtown area.

"The local merchants have spent several million dollars improving their places during the past few years," he'll tell you, "and it is about time the City now does something for them."

Thought For The Day

Some years ago while wading in the river of printer's ink at the Detroit Free Press, the good news arrived that the paper had been awarded the Pulitzer Prize.

In the midst of our enjoyment, the late Malcolm Binyag, then Editorial Director, had this notice posted on the bulletin board:

"To The Staff—
"You can't score any runs today on the hits you made yesterday."
That's good advice for anyone to follow.

Margarine In Bottles

Women Take Part In Food Program

With groceries taking a larger and larger bite out of the budget, several Plymouth women have become members of "pulse" groups, organized by Marjorie Gibbs, Consumer Marketing Agent of Michigan State University. The pulse groups are working to become better informed food buyers.

There are two workshops planned for the groups which also are open to the public. The first was held on March 2 in the auditorium of the Central Office Building, Ford Motor Company, Michigan Avenue and Southfield Roads. The second meeting will be on March 14, at 7:45 p.m. in the auditorium of the Grosse Pointe War Memorial, 32 Lakeshore Road in Grosse Pointe Farms.

The groups have indicated considerable interest in food advertising and merchandising. For this reason, "Adds Add Up" will be the subject discussed by several specialists in the field.

Kenward L. Atkin, associate professor, Advertising, Michigan State University; R. Gus Bublitz, merchandise manager, The Kroger Company; George A. Crandall, local sales manager, WJBK-TV; Harry E. Konkle, advertising sales manager, Detroit News; Clyde Riley, general sales manager, Hygrade Food Products Corporation.

Besides participating in the workshops the more than 200 members of the groups respond to food shopping questionnaires, provide consumer questions to be answered through the program, attend workshops, panels and tours, and do some product testing.

Mrs. Forrest Olsen, of Carol St., has been doing things through extension for 23 years. She has had a chance to test and give her opinion about products before they come on the market.

"We're statistics for people in the food business," she explains.

The tests show that age of the women make a difference. "We were asked to try two different kinds of applesauce, which tasted pretty much the same," she says.

"One had a coarse texture, and the other was like the kind you buy in the store. Women who were a little older preferred the coarser because that is the kind they were used to."

"We found out that the coarser was dehydrated, and will eventually be on the market in cans. There would be many times this would be handy to have on the shelf."

"Another product we tried, which I've heard has since come on the market, although I haven't seen it, is dried cherries. They tasted delicious, and the only question the processor wanted answered was how women wanted them packaged."

"The cherries looked like red raisins."

"They would taste good in cookies, cake mixes, sprinkled on cereal or just eaten by the handful."

Mrs. Olsen also has tested products which were vetted by the women. One of these was margarine in a bottle.

Another point Mrs. Olsen made is that grocery stores blame some of the cost of food on the amount of pilferage that goes on.

"They say a great deal goes on, and people even send their children to stores to pick up items," she adds.

Mrs. Alton Frederick, of Ann Arbor Trail, is a study group leader who has filled out surveys on such topics as milk and apple buying for the program.

"The idea was that it would be handy to take on a camping trip, or for children to use without making a mess. But it just didn't work. It had a waxy taste."

"All the people in the food business tell us that if women don't like a product, it shows up quickly in sales, and is taken off the market."

Others in Plymouth who are in the groups are Mrs. Gus Bublitz of Palmer St., Mrs. Alen Kulick of Joy Road, Mrs. Don Schmidt of Lilley Road, Mrs. George Kemptz of Hagerty Road, and Mrs. K. E. Van Antwerp of Gyde Road.

Speaking of Women

Margaret Murawski-Women's Editor

Please remember the deadline for the Women's Pages is Tuesday noon.

'Illya Darling' Is A Trip To Greece

By Margaret Murawski

"Illya Darling" at the Fisher until March 19, is an attempt to create a successful play from the successful movie "Never On Sunday." The results are mixed.

Melina Mercouri is perfect in the role of the happy street-walker. Her singing voice appeared far too weak, but midway during the performance, came the announcement that she was suffering with laryngitis. If she can ordinarily put across the songs she sings, what a difference that would make.

Orson Bean never misses a chance to be the completely out of place American tourist, yet he remains a sympathetic character.

The sets are a delight, but they are beset with technical problems.

The opening scene was evocative of everything that is pretty and summery. A group of musicians in a flower strung balcony played strange and enchanting instruments such as the bouzouki.

All of a sudden you were really in Greece, and the sense of being in a far away place was never lost during the evening. The Greek dances, music and sets all combined to give that feeling.

The first act was far too long and dragged at the end. Audiences are reasonably intelligent, and don't have to have an idea repeated until all the life is taken out of it.

Orson Bean explained his ideas about reforming Miss Mercouri—a symbol of decadent Greece—long after he should have gone on to another point.

The second act moves faster. The "Never On Sunday" theme, and a lively musical number when the fleet arrives in town are two of the best numbers from this act.

There certainly is a lot that is good in this play. And what is a pre-Broadway engagement, but a time to iron out the bugs? So, if some of the creaky plot manipulations could be eliminated, and if Miss Mercouri's voice is up to the songs, this will be a top show. If not, it's still a nice evening's entertainment.

Play Goes Into Rehearsal

The Plymouth Theatre Guild is deep in the rehearsal routine for their presentation of "The Desert Song."

The production, the Guild's greatest undertaking, boasts a cast of seventy. The musical extravaganza will be presented in the P&A Theatre, Plymouth's first legitimate theatre opened in the early 1900's.

The musical will be shown March 31, April 1, and 2 and the following weekend, April 7, 8, and 9.

Helen Farrand, the serious young girl at left, dressed up for her first grade picture, grew to be the retired teacher at right.

One Of A Series

How Plymouth Named Its Schools

Helen Farrand is a gentle, humorous woman who earned the honor of having a school named after her. The honor was given because of her many years of outstanding teaching.

She grew up on a farm on Ann Arbor Road. Her father was a poorly educated milkman, who urged his three daughters to get as much schooling as they could.

Today, two of the sisters, Helen and Bertha Tiffin, live at 252 Ann Arbor Trail. They both fulfilled their father's wish. But Miss Farrand had to work for 37 years to get her college degree.

She always wanted to be a teacher. "When I was about eight," she recalled, "I used to gather the younger kids in the neighborhood and teach them their Sunday School lessons."

After she graduated from high school she had to stay home for a year because of her own bad eyes, and her mother's poor health.

The following year she got her wish and became a teacher, after taking a six weeks course in Ypsilanti, and passing an exam.

Later, requirements became stricter, and she started the long struggle of part time work towards her college degree.

"My first teaching job was in Wallaceville, which is now part of Dearborn Heights," she said as she leaned back in her rocking chair and remembered.

"I made $8.75 a week and had to pay $5 to the school director for room and board.

"Now do you see why it took me so long to get my degree," she added with a smile. "I used to pick berries in the summer for extra money."

Although she started teaching in 1912, it wasn't until 1927 that she came to Plymouth. "During World War I women were needed to take men's jobs so I worked in a post office for awhile."

Miss Farrand got back into teaching at the insistence of the school director of what is now Westland.

Teaching was always a joy to Miss Farrand, who used to take her classes out to pick wildflowers after school.

"I think I served some of the first hot lunches around here," she said. "The girls would help, and we'd make stew. Of course, they would work like badgers to get out of class for awhile."

Street cars stopped running through Plymouth and Miss Farrand decided to look for a job closer to home. After one interview with the Plymouth school superintendent, she was hired.

She taught in Plymouth from 1927 until she retired in 1958. But it was never work to her.

"Teaching isn't a job," she said indignantly. "It's fun." Since her retirement she has found other ways to work with children, such as teaching Sunday school and 4-H groups.

In the past few years she has had many problems with her eyes.

"But you can't let something like that make a crab of you," she said.

She still enjoys children and tells a story of meeting a little boy at the store who said "Hi," and then stopped aghast because he realized he didn't know her. "I made a booboo," he said. Then he recognized her. "Your picture is at Farrand School," he said.

Glee Club To Appear In Northville

The University of Michigan Men's Glee Club, second oldest college glee club in America and winner of top international awards, will present a benefit concert at 8 p.m. Thursday, March 9, at Northville High School under sponsorship of the Northville Mothers' Club.

It is returning to Northville for the third time in five years under Mothers' Club sponsorship. Proceeds are used in projects to benefit the local schools.

Mrs. Donald Hannabarger, concert chairman, explains that Northville Mothers' Club has received a priority with the boys in the glee club, who vote upon which engagements to accept, because it feeds them so well.

The mothers discovered the way to a college man's heart definitely is with lots of pies and cakes--after big tossed salads, vegetables and turkey. Each of the 35 members of the club is responsible for a meat casserole that will serve a dozen, as well as for pies and cakes.

The choir is student managed under the direction of Philip A. Duey, chairman of the voice department of the U. of M. School of Music. This year's young manager reported that when Northville's invitation arrived, the boys who had been feasted before immediately recalled, "They fed us well--let's go!"

Tickets are available from club members, from Mrs. William Wiley, ticket chairman, 349-0255, or at the door. They are $1.50 for adults and $1 for students.

Engagement

Miss Deptula

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Deptula of Jackson, Mich., announce the engagement of their daughter, Anne Lorraine, to William Lloyd Redlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Redlin of Beechcrest Ct.

The bride-to-be, a 1966 graduate of the University of Michigan with a Bachelor of Arts degree, is an elementary teacher at the Thurston School in the Willow Run School system.

Her fiance, a 1965 graduate of the University of Michigan with a Bachelor of Science degree, is currently in his second year at the University of Michigan Medical School.

The couple are planning a May 20 wedding at the First Presbyterian Church in Jackson.

Pegge Parker At Town Hall

Pegge Parker
Female correspondent Pegge Parker comes to the P & A Theatre on March 16, to address the Town Hall Series. On a recent tour of the combat zones in Vietnam as special correspondent for the New York Daily News, Pegge Parker had many an illuminating look into the shadowy areas of war. She was on the famed flattop "Coral Sea" while it was engaged in a bombing operation, and she also had an opportunity to sample life in colorful Saigon. Other trips have taken her to the New India under Shastri and to the Pakistan of Ayub Khan, two areas with which she has long been familiar. How did it all start? Born in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, Pegge Parker began her newspaper career in the cigar-smoked city room of an anti-female Pennsylvania Dutch newspaper, writing a daily column of advice to teen-agers. Pretty soon she was on her way to Washington, D.C., where she not only became woman's page editor for the Times-Herald but also pursued a modeling and fashion career. She was a famed Camel cigarette girl in a wartime ad that appeared in nearly every magazine in the country. Soon she was reporting for America's Farthest North Daily Newspaper, the News Miner in Fairbanks, Alaska--and eager to see even more of the world. Earnings from magazine articles eventually paid her way after the war to China where she studied Russian and traveled extensively in the most forbidden area of Sinkiang; this is where the Chinese Communists later exploded two nuclear bombs. After American newsmen were barred from China, she was for a time a Vice Consul at the American Embassy in Pakistan. It was in Bombay, India, in 1952, that she married a handsome young newsman named John Hlavacek (pronounced "Lavachek"). It was here in "the land of elephants, camels and sacred cows" that she became the mother of five children and, with the late Prime Minister Nehru's sister, wrote a book-length biography of that revered statesman for The Ladies' Home Journal. The family left India in 1957, when her husband joined NBC to cover the rise of Castro and Communism in the Caribbean. The Hlavaceks soon took a beach house on the north shore of Jamaica, and it was here during a three-year residence that Pegge Parker became a Time-Life correspondent, her news assignments frequently taking her to Havana. In these years she gathered material in the "sun spas" of the rich and celebrated and filled Time's "People" pages with sharply observed vignettes of the Churchills and the Kennedys, LBJ and Lady Bird, Princess Margaret and Lord Snowdon. She also interviewed Batista only a few days after he fled Havana; later she was granted a rare visa to Red Cuba and covered that so-called "revolutionary paradise" for the New York Daily News. This last trip to Cuba was made just before the missile crisis in October, 1962, and her reports were heard on NBC's "Monitor."

In 1964 the Hlavaceks settled in Omaha, Nebraska, where her husband took up his new post with NBC's color affiliate station, KMTV, and began his own nightly news program plus a weekly half-hour interview with national figures and prominent visitors from abroad. Northville Town Hall ticket holders must make luncheon reservations by March 10. Send check with reservations to Northville Town Hall, Box 93, Northville. Luncheon tickets will be mailed if you include a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Refreshments To Be Served At Concert

In honor of Plymouth's birthday, refreshments will be served after the Plymouth Symphony concert, Sunday. The Sarah Circle of the Methodist Church will be serving coffee, punch and cookies in the high school auditorium, immediately after the 4 p.m. concert. Mrs. George Hunter, is chairman of the circle, and has planned refreshments for 400 people. The members of the Kenneth Jewell Chorale, who are soloists for the afternoon, will stay for the gathering. Kenneth Jewell is director of personnel at the Interlochen Arts Academy. He commutes to Detroit each week to rehearse and perform with the chorale. Girl Scout Troop 501 will be offering babysitting services for the last time this year on Sunday. The troop, under the leadership of Mrs. Daniel Fowler and Mrs. John Brady, has taken care of from 12 to 24 children during the concerts this year.

Spring Arrives Indoors At Benefit Fashion Show

At 10 a.m. Feb. 27 women started arriving at the Elks Club. They were getting ready for the Woman's Club benefit luncheon. Mrs. Richard Kropf, advisor, helped Mrs. Edwin Wingard and her committee set up for the guests. Mrs. Carvel Bentley and Mrs. R.R. Fluckey were a couple of early arrivals, who had to eat ahead of time so they could model. Soon the guests began pouring into the flower-filled dining room. Mrs. Charles Derr wore a springlike pale yellow outfit. Mrs. Max Brillhart's black dress was complemented by a soft green flowered hat. Mrs. Brillhart's voice is familiar to many sleepy substitute teachers. For several years it was her job to call and get them out of bed when they were needed. Mrs. Russell Isbister was at a table with Mrs. Leon Scharmen, Mrs. Joe Lee, and Mrs. Melvin Blunk. Mrs. James Jabara sat with friends, Mrs. Charles Feld, Mrs. James Knowles and Mrs. John Hopkins.

Longtime fans of the benefit, Mrs. William Kaiser, Mrs. George Smith, Miss Grace Stowe and Mrs. Leslie Daniel made up a table. Dorothy Kay came over to see the fashions from the store. She picked out one of her own outfits to wear, a cloud-grey dress with reversible coat. Both dress and coat were trimmed in black.

Carrots Give This Cake Its Flavor

The carrots Mrs. Craddock is grating give the cake a deep orange color.

A unique Carrot Cake is one of Mrs. Ronald Craddock's favorite recipes. The Craddocks and their two children have lived in their home on Nantucket for only eight months. They discovered New England Village subdivision one Sunday when they were out for a drive. They liked it so much they moved here from Taylor. Teachers and school board officials will be pleased to know that another reason they picked Plymouth was because of the schools. The Craddocks attend the Presbyterian Church and Mrs. Craddock has joined the New-comers Club.

Bake in three greased and floured eight inch cake pans at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes.
FROSTING
1 8 ounce package cream cheese
1 stick of margarine
1 box confectionary sugar
1 cup chopped pecans
2 teaspoons vanilla
Cream the butter and cheese. Add sugar, vanilla, and nuts, and mix well.
Mrs. Craddock says this is a very moist cake, and should be kept in the refrigerator.

Where Plymouth Lived

Hartsough Street Runs Back To Early Plymouth

The Hartsough family name has become interwoven with Plymouth history. Stores border their former farmland on Ann Arbor Road and Main St. Houses sit where Hartsoughs once tilled the land. A bank stands on the site of their farmhouse.

But the name isn't forgotten, because the city named one of the streets bordering the farm after the family.

The Hartsoughs came here in February of 1856. They originally were from the east, and lived in Redford Township before moving here.

Wells Hartsough and his wife, Thankful, bought the farm for $3600.

The 80-acre farm was originally purchased from the government in 1827 by George Dunn.

The land changed hands several times before the Hartsoughs bought it. One Michael Rutnour wrestled with the soil for 20 years and fought mauling bears and wolves, although he could only sign his name with an X.

The Hartsough family was a typical straitlaced New England family.

Their daughter, Harriet, was 21 years old and teaching school when they came to Plymouth. Mary Elizabeth was 18, married to Frank Hodge, and living in the house that still stands behind Colonial Cleaners.

The three youngest children Palmer, Ursula, and Sarah Amelia, lived at home.

Their father, Wells, was a tall lanky man, stern and taciturn, who had 80 acres to farm, debts, mortgages and promissory notes to meet.

Twice a day he conducted family devotions, reading the most harrowing portions of the Bible to his wife and three impressionable children.

It was said that the death of Sarah Amelia, a frail, sickly child, was hastened because she knelt on her bedroom floor night after night praying for the forgiveness of her sins. Thankful Hartsough is remembered only as a shadowy figure by her husband's side of the family.

Ursula Hartsough as a young girl.

When Palmer grew up he became a preacher, and traveled throughout the state holding revival meetings. He had a great interest in music, and there still are in existence old song books with his name inscribed.

After Wells Hartsough's death, the Farrand family moved into half of the farmhouse. Mr. Farrand helped work the farm. Two of the Farrand sisters, who now live on Ann Arbor Trail, recall growing up with the Hartsoughs.

"Harriet was stern, and we were afraid of her," recalls Miss Helen Farrand. "But Ursula just took us right into her life."

Ursula Hartsough at Union St. The other woman is a cousin of hers.

The house was divided in half, but there was a cubbyhole which opened on both sides. Ursula used to give us notes and pictures through the hole. We always were excited to hear her knock, and know some mail had come from the other side of the house."

Eventually the farm was sold. Harriet and Ursula, both spinsters, moved to Union St. with their widowed sister, Mary.

Harriet was elected the second president of the Ladies Literary Society, now the Woman's Club.

There are no descendants of the Hartsoughs still living in Plymouth. The farm is subdivided. But the street has made the family name a lasting part of Plymouth.

Veterans Get $8,912,000 On Insurance

More than 145,000 Michigan veterans of the two World Wars will receive $8,912,000 in insurance dividends during 1967, Robert M. Fitzgerald, Manager of the Veterans Administration Office in Detroit has announced.

Payments began January 1st and will continue throughout the year on the anniversary date of each veteran's policy.

One hundred and thirty-nine thousand World War Two veterans will get $6,468,000 on their National Service Life Insurance policies. The average will be about $46. The remaining $469,000 will go to 6,135 World War One holders of United States Government Life Insurance, averaging about $76 each.

Nationwide, 4,418,000 veterans have retained their GI insurance and will participate in the $211,000,000 dividend distribution. Actually, VA pointed out, the total dividend last year was almost $4 million more, reflecting 200,000 fewer participating veterans for 1967.

Western Plymouth news

Mrs. John Frank of Parklane Estates has just returned from a two-week visit with her sister, Mrs. James Linton, in Princeton, Kentucky. Mrs. Frank flew down and back with her two-year-old son James. During the visit, the sisters relaxed and did some sightseeing.

Mrs. Frank's description of the new Kentucky Lake and Kentucky Dam which is 25 miles from Princeton was most interesting. Three Kentucky towns were flooded to make the lake and the streets of the former towns go right into the water. There are a new lodge and motel at the lakeside, open all year for recreation. The girls also drove around the State Prison near the lake. The prison looks just like the old prisons seen on T.V.

Another couple from Parklane Estates just returned from a week's vacation to the Bahamas on Feb. 19, are Mr. and Mrs. James Chavis. They flew down with three other couples, and stayed in the Grand Bahama Hotel in West End, Grand Bahama. The foursome flew over to Nassau to spend a day sightseeing.

The time at Grand Bahama Island was spent in swimming, sunning, and fishing. Mrs. Chavis caught a barracuda on one of the fishing trips. She said this was a delightful place to spend a vacation.

The Richard Fritzes of Ann Arbor Trail are grateful to their neighbor, Mr. Thomas H. Roberts. He plowed out the Fritzes' parking lot and driveway in order that the annual party for the A.A.U.W. Drama group might be given there. The crew, cast and their spouses, numbering 30 people, attended the party after the successful showing of "The Princess and the Pea" given on Feb. 18 at the high school. A late pot-luck lunch was served.

Township Board Proceedings

REGULAR MEETING PLYMOUTH TOWNSHIP BOARD OF TRUSTEES FEBRUARY 14, 1967.

The Supervisor called the meeting to order at 8:00 P.M. All members were present. It was moved by Lauterbach, supported by Overholt that the minutes of the January 10, 1967 meeting be accepted as corrected. Carried unanimously. Moved by Overholt, supported by Lauterbach, that the minutes of the Special Meeting of February 6, 1967 be approved as submitted. Carried unanimously. Discussion of the current bills was held with regards to hydrant rental, planning consultant fee, C & O Railway Co. bill, plumbing inspectors fees and bill submitted by A. Bird Construction, Inc. Bills were approved as submitted (Grand Total $46,886.94) upon motion of Garber and supported by Norman. Carried unanimously.

Communications
Communication from Mr. McEwen was read regarding passage of the 1967 Budget being set for Saturday, March 25, 1967 in commemoration of the first Town Meeting on March 25, 1827. Mr. Garber stated that he would like to have the meeting in the barn located on his property which was the site for the founding of Plymouth Township 140 years ago, if the weather was permitting.

Disposition of Tabled and adjourned business

Mrs. Richardson read a communication from the Board of County Road Commissioners regarding the installation of flashing light signal at the crossing of Ridge Road with the track of the C & O Railway Co. Mrs. Richardson brought it to the attention of the Board that they are asking the Township to pay 25% of the cost ($2,611.38). Mr. McEwen stated that he did not know the installation was to be made. Mrs. Holmes added that the flasher at Joy Road did not involve any costs to the Township. Mr. Norman stated that the flasher was installed upon request of Mr. Smith from Plymouth Hills Trailer Court and the Wayne County Road Commission. Mr. McEwen recommended this item be tabled until the Board could determine previous action taken.

Storm sewer on Sheldon Road between Ann Arbor Road and Joy. Mr. Hamill was present and discussed the Revised Petition with the Board with regards to location, serviceable areas, and the portion of the drain in Canton Township. Mr. Hamill stated the Canton Township portion of the drain is dirt filled and in need of cleaning in order to provide for an adjacent outlet. It was moved by E. Holmes, supported by H. Richardson, that the installation of the storm sewer on Sheldon Road between Ann Arbor and Joy Roads be approved as amended. Carried unanimously. It was further stated that this was to be designated as Drain #2 and that two public hearings will be held regarding this storm sewer, the first for determination of necessity.

Captain C.L. Maas - Re: Instructor's Conference in Memphis, Tennessee.

A communication from Captain Maas requesting permission to attend this Conference was read. Mr. McEwen stated that, as of this date, there are two applications on file for the position of Public Service Director and that Captain Maas had temporarily been appointed head of the Fire Department in the absence of this position being filled. A directive from the Board was asked by Mr. McEwen as to his course of action regarding interviews. Mrs. Richardson questioned whether or not the applicants who had previously been considered had been contacted and given a chance to express their interest in the position. Mr. McEwen stated he had not done so. It was the consensus that an interview should be set for a Special Meeting on Tuesday, February 28, 1967 and that the previous applicants be contacted and given an opportunity to also be interviewed at this time.

Mrs. Richardson pointed out to the Board that Captain Maas was requesting approval of $130 for expenditures during the Conference and that Captain Maas intends to take his vacation at this time. It was further stated that he is requesting $100 in advance. Discussion was held relative to the present status of man power for the Fire Department and who would be in charge in Captain Maas's absence. It was stated that Ernie Honke is back from his leave and that Sgt. Knupp would be in charge. It was moved by Lauterbach, supported by Overholt that this Board advance Captain Maas $100.00 to attend the Instructors Conference in Memphis, Tennessee and the total amount not to exceed $130. Carried unanimously.

Report from E. Holmes and letter from City of Plymouth regarding purchase of water mains.

Mrs. Holmes read a communication from the City of Plymouth stating their Consulting Engineer, Johnson & Anderson, Inc., advised that it would not be ethical for Plymouth Township to hire them and to consult with them about the City's ability to dispose of certain water system customers. It was further stated that the City would have to hire Johnson & Anderson themselves and as discussed previously the Township could not legally assume the responsibility for financing this study. Considerable discussion followed concerning the next course of action. It was the consensus of opinion that this was another stall and Mr. McEwen stated that he would personally advise the residents of Plymouth Colony to start a legal suit against the City of Plymouth on the grounds that Township water is available to them as Township residents and that the high rate of water imposed by the City system is ridiculous. Mr. Overholt requested to know if the City has revised the purchase price for the water taps in question. Mrs. Holmes stated that they must have approval of the Michigan Mutual Finance Commission and to do this, they must have a financial engineering study to present to the Commission. It was moved by D. Lauterbach, supported by L. Norman to refer this item to the attorney for advice as to the next step of action for the Board of Trustees take. Mr. Garber stated that the attorney should look into the whole system of Township residents now purchasing City of Plymouth water and what the course of action would be in that aspect. Upon the motion of R. Garber, supported by G. Overholt, the above motion was amended to read as follows: That the attorney be authorized to obtain all water users in the Township apparently supplied by the City of Plymouth. Carried unanimously.

Report from Plymouth Hills on water inquiry.

Mrs. Holmes stated that she had sent a letter listing tap prices and front footage charges that would be incurred by the residents if at such time water was brought to Plymouth Hills and if the individual residents wanted to connect to the system. She further stated 39 letters were sent out, and results were as follows: 21 - Yes, 11 - No, 7 - No Answer. No action was required on this item due to the fact that it was already part of the project and the questionnaire was only to determine if this portion should be dropped.

New Business

Report from Planning Commission on action taken at January 18 meeting.

D. Lauterbach moved, supported by H. Richardson, that the Board accept the recommendation of the Planning Commission as submitted. Carried unanimously.

Resignation of Walter Abate on the Board of Review.

Mr. McEwen read a letter from Walter Abate requesting the Board accept his resignation from the Board of Review. He further stated that Mr. Abate will be in Florida for a considerable length of time and recommended that the Board reluctantly accept his resignation. Mr. McEwen stated that he would like to recommend Mr. Frank Millington to be appointed to the Board of Review in Mr. Abate's place as he has a good background and is available and willing. It was moved by Gene Overholt, supported by E. Holmes, that the Board accept the resignation of Walter Abate with reluctance and that a letter of regret be written thanking him for his services. Carried unanimously. It was moved by H. Richardson, supported by R. Garber, that we accept the Supervisor's recommendation and appoint Mr. Frank Millington to the Board of Review. Carried unanimously.

Supervisor McEwen's recommendation that Herbert Smith be appointed Plymouth Township Refrigeration Inspector commencing March 1, 1967.

Mr. McEwen stated he would like to recommend that Mr. Herbert Smith be appointed Township Refrigeration Inspector. He further stated that he felt Mr. Smith is very capable as shown by communications from his previous employers. Mr. Overholt questioned whether or not he would require an examination and it was stated that an examination would not be necessary if the Township would deem Mr. Smith capable. Discussion was also held relative to the other inspectors at some point in the future being placed on a salary basis rather than on the present fee basis. It was also stated that Mr. Smith would not receive any additional compensation and that the extra inspecting could be incorporated into his daily schedule without hindering his other duties. It was moved by H. Richardson, supported by E. Holmes, that the Board accept Mr. McEwen's recommendation and that Mr. Herbert Smith be appointed Township Refrigeration Inspector commencing March 1, 1967. Mr. Lauterbach questioned whether a fee schedule was established in the Refrigeration Code under which permits are to be issued and it was stated there were no provisions. Lauterbach moved, supported by Norman, that the compensation for Mr. Smith be covered by his regular salary and all fees be retained by the Township 100%. Carried unanimously. Supervisor McEwen then asked for a vote on the first action and this carried unanimously.

Herold F. Hamill
Mr. Hamill elaborated on the plans for sanitary sewer and water mains on General Drive. General discussion was held between the Board members with regards to this project. It was then moved by E. Holmes, supported by D. Lauterbach, that the Board approve the plans for sanitary sewer and water mains on the balance of General Drive, located in Gould's Industrial Park, between Joy Road and Postiff Drive. Carried unanimously.

Invitation from Hank Sinard, Flintkote Company to go to Ravenna, Ohio to look at the manufacture of cement asbestos pipe.

The Clerk read a telegram from Mr. Sinard inviting the Board to visit the Flintkote Company in Ravenna, Ohio, on Thursday, March 2, 1967. Mrs. Richardson requested anyone wishing to go to please contact her within the next few days so arrangements may be made with Mr. Sinard.

Harlan Hickerson
Mr. McEwen requested Mrs. Richardson to read a letter from Mr. Harlan Hickerson requesting the Board to consider Captain Carlos Maas for the position of Public Service Director. Mr. McEwen thanked Mr. Hickerson for his interest and stated he would discuss the matter with Mr. Maas and if Mr. Maas so desired; his name would be placed on the list of those to be interviewed.

Office of Economic Expansion - Michigan Department of Commerce, Michigan Industrial Development Revenue Bond Act. Mr. Harold Fischer was present and gave a brief history of the Michigan Industrial Development Revenue Bond Act. Mr. Fischer is requesting that the Township Board go on record as stating they would be willing to review any industry which might wish to apply under this Act. He further stated this would involve no cost to the Township as any expenditures are paid out of the bond issue. This act became effective in September of 1966, and allows various communities to compete for industrial development. It was moved by R. Garber, supported by D. Lauterbach that this item be tabled for further study and consideration. Carried unanimously.

Resolutions

Resolution between the Township of Plymouth and the Wayne County Road Commission to apply a dust palliative to the unpaved streets of the Township. Mr. McEwen stated that this is the usual resolution passed for the dust palliative applications. It was moved by E. Holmes, supported by L. Norman that the Resolution be approved as submitted. Carried unanimously.

Lake Pointe Homeowners Association

Mr. Lawrence Schendel, 42557 Hammill Lane stated he would like to raise a few questions and present the Board with two resolutions passed by the Lake Pointe Home Owners Association. The Supervisor asked the Clerk to read the two resolutions. They are as follows:

RESOLVED: The Lake Pointe Homeowner's Association is concerned with the method of determining assessments, and that the building and land assessment should be based on the same ratio.

RESOLVED: The Lake Pointe Homeowner's Association is interested in the Township acquiring park and recreational sites for the benefit of the citizens of the Township.

Mr. McEwen stated that he wanted everyone to understand that the Supervisor is the responsible party for assessing and obtaining reassessments. He further stated that land is being reassessed now and is being brought up to 25% figure will be left at their current status. Mr. McEwen further stated that he is in hopes of bringing land and building assessments up to approximately 35% next year.

Extensive discussion was held between the Board members and the Township residents. Mr. Gorman, from Lake Pointe, questioned whether or not there would be a fluctuation in taxes for the next couple of years while the reassessing is taking place. Mr. McEwen stated that would depend on millage increases. However, with the assessments being increased, the tax rate should decrease. Mrs. Holmes elaborated on the situation created by the state laws dealing with 50% of true cash value assessments and how it affected the tax rate and how it, in turn, affected the tax payer with regards to the reduction of industry taxes and an increase on the home owners taxes. She wanted to clarify the fact that there were not any more tax dollars being collected, but that they are being collected from a different source. Mr. Jim Irvine, Greenbriar, questioned whether the equalization factor would be affected by the reassessment and it was pointed out that it would be.

At this point, Mr. Breen arrived and asked whether the figures and appraisals which would be submitted by the County would be used, and if they were not - what standards would Mr. McEwen use to determine the proper figure. Mr. McEwen stated that they would be used if he did not feel they were out of line. However, he did not feel that he had adequate information at this time to determine what standards would be used in adjusting or determining the proper figures as he has not had the opportunity to see what the County's audit will determine. Continuous discussion was held concerning these particular points.

Questions were raised concerning the reassessment of buildings and it was asked by Mr. Breen if independent professional assessors could not be obtained to reassess buildings in time for the next tax year after Mr. McEwen pointed out that the County has said it would be physically impossible for them to reassess buildings for the next tax year. Mr. McEwen stated that he had not given the matter much thought. However, he had received literature concerning different companies that do assess for communities.

It was questioned by Mr. Breen as to why lands would be assessed at 25% this year and the following year, additional reassessment on land would have to take place. Mr. McEwen stated that the County had advised it being done in this manner. Mr. Stiglich stated that he felt vacant land should be assessed differently than land with buildings as vacant land is not as valuable as land that is utilized. He further stated that a large property owner should be allowed to fence off approximately an acre and have that assessed differently, as it is more valuable than the vacant portion. The discussion then turned to the Lake Pointe Association's second resolution regarding recreational sites and facilities. Mr. Breen stated that there is a complete absence of such facilities for pre-school children and feels that subdividers should furnish such facilities under the direction of the Township Board. Mr. F. Marshall of Lake Pointe stated that he has looked into the school facilities and found that they are sponsoring activities continually from now until April and feels this is a good example of the need for some recreational facilities. Discussion was held as to what could be done about this situation and it was discussed in regards to the additional millage to be on the ballot in April for a "Township Complex, Fire Stations and a Cultural and a recreational site". It was the consensus that something could possibly be worked out utilizing the areas around the fire station and could be better determined when money is available. No action was taken on these resolutions. However, they are to be held in abeyance. It was moved by D. Lauterbach, supported by L. Norman, that the meeting be adjourned. The meeting was adjourned at 11:05 P.M. Carried unanimously.

Winter Traveling

Michigan Nears Record

A record winter vacation travel season is in sight for Michigan's tourist industry, according to a mid-season survey by the Michigan Tourist Council.

In a report to the Council at its February 15-16 meeting here, William T. McGraw, director, said most of the ski resorts and chambers of commerce surveyed reported sizable gains in winter business.

"If the trend continues, we expect that the winter of 1966-67 will be a record season for the tourist industry," McGraw said.

A big season will help offset losses of last winter, the first in more than a decade that Michigan has experienced a downward trend in winter sports activity. The decline was attributed to below average snow conditions.

So far this winter, however, Michigan has received a generous amount of snow and cold weather, and resorts from Detroit to the tip of the western upper peninsula have been extremely busy catering to the ski crowd and other winter sports enthusiasts.

The Christmas-New Year holiday period, when many ski resorts either "make or break" for the season, was one of the best ever in Michigan.

The Cadillac Area Chamber of Commerce said that business this year is double that of a year ago, based on reports from ski areas and accommodations. Mid-week ski business has tripled and there is increased interest in such other activities as snowmobiling and snowshoeing.

In the Detroit Metropolitan area, the Mt. Maria and Mt. Holly ski areas have already skied more people than all of last season. Mt. Maria reports a 50 percent increase and Mt. Holly business is up 20 percent.

Ironically, the record snowfall of late January appears to be the only hitch in an otherwise bright season. The heavy snow belt across southern lower Michigan severely limited travel to and from northern ski areas.

The Pine Mountain ski resort at Iron Mountain reported a five to six percent decrease in business, largely because its skiers were snowbound in Chicago and Milwaukee.

The Houghton Lake Chamber of Commerce reported record crowds at Tip-Up-Town, but said overall business is down about 10 to 15 percent because of poor weather for traveling.

GM Employees Due To Receive BLS Benefits

Approximately 430,000 General Motors hourly-rate employees will continue to receive a cost-of-living allowance of 21 cents an hour during March, April and May.

GM wages are reviewed quarterly and adjusted in line with the Consumer Price Index of the U.S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The BLS index for January was 114.7, compared with 114.5 on the date of the last review.

More than 100,000 eligible salaried employees will continue to receive a cost-of-living allowance of $105, for the quarter beginning March 1.

The next review of the cost-of-living allowance will be in June, based on the April BLS Index.

Pedestrian Accidents Total 378

Every day someone in Michigan is sentenced to death...as the result of a pedestrian accident.

The Michigan State Police report that tentative statistics indicate some 378 pedestrian fatalities were recorded in 1966. This number exceeds the days on the calendar and, while the grim allotment did not actually follow one death every twenty-four hours, the total is uncompromisingly brutal.

The Michigan State Safety Commission expressed its concern recently with the appointment of a special subcommittee charged with the investigation, analysis and recommendation for improvement of the state's pedestrian accident experience.

A basic need recognized by the subcommittee is pedestrian safety education and motorist involvement in a program of mutual information.

What is the deadliest situation? When the car is going straight ahead and the pedestrian is crossing at other than an intersection. Of course, there are many others...such as the drinking pedestrian (a rising statistic), walking against traffic, crossing against signal, getting in or out of vehicles into traffic, stepping from between parked cars and playing in the roadway.

While pedestrian safety is a matter of year-round concern, the winter months present even more difficult conditions for drivers and people on foot. Common sense tips include bright or contrasting colors in pedestrian clothing, compliance with laws and rules of the road, special alertness in snow-narrowed roadways, and regard for the driver's problems too. For the person behind the wheel, constant attention to road, signals, speed and all walkers is essential. Poor vision due to high snow banks, sudden movements from roadside or driveways and slippery footing for walkers demands the most of an automobile driver. Be prepared to give the right-of-way...at all times.

Emergency conditions call for heads-up thinking, too. If you're the victim of a stalled car, a flat tire, or any other situation that forces you to stop at the roadside, don't make yourself a target for disaster. Get well off the road, be alert to oncoming traffic and if all else fails and you can't handle the situation, get away from the car and await help. Drivers must drive "ahead" for signs of trouble and stalled cars. Give the distressed vehicle a wide berth.

And remember, law enforcement alone is not the answer to our pedestrian accident problem. It is a supporting effort and should come as a final consequence. Help the authorities to help you and be concerned about the other fellow.

Our Men in Service

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Stampler, 9113 Brookline, Plymouth, have received information that their son Don, stationed at Pease Air Force Base, Portsmouth, N.H., recently has been promoted to Airman 2nd Class.

Don also was named airman of the quarter at the base, for which he received a trophy. In winning the award he was judged on appearance, knowledge of his job and career field, how he gets along with people and how he is rated by his supervisor.

Airman Stampler is a 1965 graduate of Plymouth High School. His wife is the former Sharon Levier of Livonia.

Private First Class James T. Ferguson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ferguson, 620 Peniman, Plymouth, Mich., completed a small arms repair course Jan. 10 at the Army Ordnance School, Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md. During his eight weeks of training, he received instruction in repairing pistols, rifles and other weapons.

Seaman Recruit Thomas D. Lock, 22, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Lock of 997 Junction, Plymouth, has been graduated from nine weeks of Navy basic training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship, as well as survival techniques, military drill and other subjects.

Wetter Now In Marketing

Charles A. Wetter, former liaison representative in Indiana, has been named a director of marketing on the home office staff of Alexander Hamilton Life Insurance Company of America.

Wetter has been with the company since its founding and previously served as regional director of the Flint office.

A veteran of 19 years in the life insurance business, Wetter will work at coordinating representatives and clients. He will be involved in conservation, testing, and implementation of special client services.

He is a personal million dollar producer and 1966 National Association of Life Companies Sales Achievement Award winner.

Guest Sermon At-One-Ment----

By The Rev. Donald Williams
(Pastor, First Baptist Church)

Frequently we clergy are accused of using a jargon that is about as intelligible to the layman as the jottings of a typical physician's prescription, or as readily understandable as is the fine print of a legal document on first reading.

Perhaps you feel this way about some of the terms used in connection with the Lenten Season. But they aren't some sacred, mystical, reserved-for-the-clergy terms. They are words expressing ideas with which we are familiar in daily living.

The other day, another harassed, looking-for-a-parking-spot driver and I exchanged hostilities in the city parking lot (this may be foreign to your experience but you certainly know somebody who has had a similar experience.)

Later, we found ourselves walking next to each other. I looked at him; he looked at me. Silence. We both felt sheepish, ashamed of our selfishness, alienated. Moving nearer I reached out my hand and confessed, "I was wrong. I'm sorry. Please forgive me." He immediately responded in kind. An At-One-ment was effected. You see, those are familiar words, "Confess", "Sorry", and "Forgive".

Two people once so much in love that they could not live apart who vowed their fidelity and pledged their love

"till do us part", now stand before a Friend of the Court filled with so much hostility toward each other that they want to separate.

The Friend of the Court explores the possibility of a reconciliation. If his efforts at reconciliation are successful, an At-One-Ment will be effected. Again, the familiar words, "hostility" and "reconciliation".

Every normal individual has affronted and personally offended the Lord God. Our forefathers called this "sin". This self-centeredness, the worship of the creature or things created instead of the Creator, results in the individual's alienation from God.

God in infinite love and mercy caused his Son to come into the world as a man, Jesus Christ. This Son of Man was put to death by His fellowmen on a cross. Through this death He effectively removed the hostility and resulting alienation between God and man.

Thus an At-One-Ment resulted. This is the basic doctrine of Christianity. It is primarily what the whole thing is all about. This is what Lent is designed to emphasize and recall. St. Paul puts it succinctly in his letter to the Romans:

"For if when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life. And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ by whom we have now received the atonement."

the Bible, and that serious problems can arise over these interpretations.

"People have inherited beliefs, and feel they are duty bound to defend them," he points out. "They go to the scriptures to justify anything they believe."

"We ought to go to the Bible to find out what to believe. It should be read and studied with an open mind."

Human relations are often debated on the grounds that the Bible doesn't consider the races equal.

"Slavery existed and wasn't condemned, but"—and again he thumbed through the Bible, "it seems to me, that the spirit of the New Testament would erase all barriers."

Mr. Henry feels that the greatest problem isn't interpreting the Bible, but in being willing to submit to its teachings.

"The most important things are the most easily understood," he said.

He believes that if everyone would use the scriptures as a basis for beliefs there wouldn't be much of a unity problem.

"Our approach is undenominational, rather than interdenominational," he added. "After all you can tie the tails of a dog and cat together and you have a union, but you don't have unity."

Minister Sees Some Flaws In Current Ecumenical Trends

Elbert Henry, minister of the Church of Christ on Sheldon Road, feels that the reason the ecumenical movement hasn't progressed very far, is that it has been approached with a denominational and selfish attitude.

"Everybody's talking about merging," he said in his wood paneled office, "but nobody is willing to approach it from a neutral standpoint."

The Church of Christ, started in the latter part of the 18th Century, was established to abolish denominationalism. It is neither Catholic, Protestant nor Jewish.

"However, we haven't participated in the recent ecumenicalism, because we feel the approach is wrong," said Mr. Henry.

"Today people are pushing towards union, rather than unity. They want to be combined, but still have their own ideas. Unity suggests oneness and harmony."

With each church having different ideas, Mr. Henry feels there is only one way to obtain one standard that can be followed by all.

"We feel that in any major area of morality the scriptures are complete and will solve the problems of most people," he said.

"The trend today is to get away from scriptures. People say they don't matter." Mr. Henry feels that many of the doctrinal problems that are hindering the road to unity could be eliminated by a closer adherence to the New Testament.

"Take the Virgin birth," he said, thumbing through his Bible. "We feel that the New Testament is quite clear on the subject. It was a miraculous beginning for a miraculous life."

"The only way anything will be accomplished in the way of unity is to have a solid foundation in the scriptures."

"Compromises are satisfying to humans, but not to God." Mr. Henry realizes that there are different interpretations of

St Peters Church Founded Before City

Eleven years to the day before the founding of the City of Plymouth, on March 5, 1856, at Peter Gayde's North Side Cooper Shop, a group of 12 Lutheran men founded St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran Church. The notice calling the meeting was signed by order of Squire George Starkweather, Justice of the Peace.

eran Church in the State of Michigan. Services were held in a building at the corner of Mill and Liberty. A second church, still being used as a church, was erected in 1883 at the end of Spring Street, just north of Starkweather School.

The present sanctuary was erected in 1955 at the site on which a Lutheran Day School had been built nine years earlier. The present church at the corner of Penniman and Evergreen is of colonial styling.

The congregation now numbers 640 communicant members and 940 baptized souls. The school is served by four teachers. Pastor Norman Berg has served the congregation since January of 1960.

The 11th anniversary of the founding of this congregation will be celebrated in the services this Sunday, March 5th, at 8:00 and 10:15 a.m. This coincides with the celebration of the Centennial of the City of Plymouth which is being inaugurated on this same day.

The group which founded St. Peter's had been served since 1833 by Pastor Fredric Schmid, the founder of the first Luth-

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING on Proposed Amendment to the ZONING ORDINANCE Charter Township of Canton Wayne County, Michigan

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to Act 184 of the Public Acts of Michigan for 1943 as amended, and pursuant to the Zoning Ordinance of the Charter Township of Canton, that the Planning Commission of the Charter Township of Canton will hold a public hearing on Tuesday, the 7th day of March, 1967 at 8:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, at the Water Board Building, 44508 Geddes Road, on the following proposed amendment to the Zoning Ordinance:

ARTICLE 3.32. Planned Projects. The Zoning Ordinance regulations relative to area, height, bulk and placement may be modified by the Planning Commission in their recommendations to the Township Board, in the case of a plan for a large-scale development which, in the judgment of the Planning Commission, provides adequate open space and improvements for the circulation, recreation, education, light, air and service needs of the tract when fully developed. The requirements of the area, height, bulk and placement regulations as they are usually applicable to individual buildings on individual lots of record, would in certain cases of large-scale developments have results affording less protection to the public health, safety and welfare than if a measure of flexibility were permitted. The permitting of these planned projects as special exceptions can, in certain cases, increase the desirability and convenience to the residents of the planned project without causing adverse effects on adjoining properties. In no case, however, may the density of the proposed development exceed that of the Zoning Ordinance requirements. Minimum site size for planned projects is five (5) acres.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the text of proposed amendment may be examined at the Canton Township Hall, 128 Canton Center Rd., and the Water Board Building, 44508 Geddes Rd., during business hours from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, on week days until the date of the public hearing.

OFFICIAL NOTICE OF SALE $5,500,000.00

PLYMOUTH COMMUNITY SCHOOL DISTRICT WAYNE AND WASHTENAW COUNTIES, MICHIGAN

School Building and Site Bonds

Sealed bids for the purchase of general obligation bonds to be issued by Plymouth Community School District, Wayne and Washtenaw Counties, Michigan, of the par value of Five Million Five Hundred Thousand Dollars ($5,500,000.00) will be received by the undersigned at the Board Room, Administration Building, 1024 South Mill Street, Plymouth, Michigan in said School District, until 8:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on the 15th day of March, 1967, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated February 1, 1967, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) each, will be numbered consecutively in direct order of maturity from one (1) to one thousand one hundred (1,100), both inclusive, will bear interest from their date at a rate of rates not exceeding five per cent (5%) per annum, expressed in multiples of 1/8 or 1/20 of 1% or any combination thereof, the difference between the highest and lowest rates bid shall not exceed 2%. Said interest will be payable on the first day of November, 1967, and semi-annually thereafter on the first day of May and November in each year. The interest rate on any one bond shall be at one rate only and represented by one interest coupon for each coupon period, and all bonds maturing in the same year must carry the same interest rate. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds shall be paid by the purchaser at time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially as follows:

- $275,000 on May 1 of the year 1969;
- $300,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1970 and 1971;
- $325,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1972 and 1973;
- $375,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1974 and 1975;
- $400,000 on May 1 of the year 1976;
- $425,000 on May 1 of the year 1977;
- $450,000 on May 1 of each of the years 1978 and 1979;
- $475,000 on May 1 of the year 1980;
- $500,000 on May 1 of the year 1981; and
- $525,000 on May 1 of the year 1982.

Both principal and interest will be payable at a bank or trust company to be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds, which paying agent qualifies as such under the Statutes of the State of Michigan or of the Federal Government.

Bonds of this issue maturing in the years 1969 to 1977, inclusive, are not subject to prior redemption.

The right is reserved of redeeming bonds maturing in the years 1978 to 1982, inclusive, at the option of the district in inverse numerical order, on any interest payment date on or after May 1, 1977, at par and accrued interest to the date fixed for redemption, plus a premium as follows:

- 2% on each bond called for redemption prior to May 1, 1980;
- 1% on each bond called for redemption on or after May 1, 1980, but prior to May 1, 1982.

Notice of redemption shall be given to the holders of bonds to be redeemed by publication of such notice not less than thirty (30) days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the State of Michigan, which carries, as part of its regular service, notices of sale of municipal bonds, and in case of registered bonds thirty (30) days notice shall be given by mail to the registered holder at the registered address. No further interest payable on bonds called for redemption shall accrue after the date fixed for redemption, whether presented for redemption or not, provided the School District has money available for such redemption with the paying agent.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of erecting, furnishing and equipping additional school facilities either as separate buildings or additions to existing buildings; acquiring additional land for site purposes; constructing and equipping playgrounds; and developing and improving sites.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from April 1, 1967 to their maturity and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the School District. Each bidder shall state in his bid the interest cost to the School District computed in the manner above specified. No proposal for the purchase of less than all the bonds or at a price less than 100% of their par value will be considered.

The bonds of this issue may be registerable as to principal only on books kept by the paying agent.

The bonds are to be issued pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 12, Part II, Act 269, Public Acts of Michigan, 1955, and the School District is authorized and required by law to levy upon all taxable property therein such ad valorem taxes as may be necessary to pay these bonds and the interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount.

A certified or cashier's check in an amount of $110,000.00, drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the School District, must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail. Payment for said bonds shall be made in Federal Reserve Funds.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified approving opinion of Miller, Canfield, Padlock & Stone, Attorneys, 2500 Detroit Bank & Trust Building, Detroit, Michigan, a copy of which opinion will be printed on the reverse side of each bond, and the original of which will be furnished without expense to the purchaser of the bonds at the delivery thereof. The School District shall furnish bonds ready for execution at its expense. Bonds will be delivered without expense to the purchaser at a place to be designated by the purchaser.

The right is reserved to reject any and all bids. Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds".

ALL DRESSED UP AND READY TO GO: Attired in their new jackets, these members of the Plymouth High School orchestra are looking forward to a grand time over the rest of the school year. In the group are: Helen Gottschalk, cello; Jeff DesCamp, trombone; and Bob Leach (rear) bass. The Orchestra is rated one of the best in the state high schools.

BY ARTEE

STUMBLING AFTER A THEFT: Down on all fours is Ron Lowe, star of the Plymouth High School team, who had just "stolen" the ball from Redford Union. He finally retrieved it, but his efforts were of no avail as the Rocks lost again.

Who will be the head football coach at Plymouth High next fall?

At this moment your guess would be just as good as mine since the school administration committee, which includes Principal Carvel Bentley, Asst. Supt. William Harding and Athletic Director John Sandmann, has been devoting Saturday mornings to interviews of the more than 20 candidates.

We could say the selection committee is looking at a member of the present staff but it would promptly be denied.

We could say that an assistant coach from one of the Livonia High Schools rates high at the moment. That would probably be denied, too.

We could point out that a successful head coach at a nearby community, who has since moved into an administration post, is receiving more than a little attention. It would be refuted.

We could say that a former Plymouth High star athlete who currently is a successful football coach in an adjoining state is being given consideration.

All would probably be denied by any of the three selectors. But at this time we would all be willing to make a small wager that the new head coach will be one from the group mentioned above.

It will be interesting to see what the final recommendation to the School Board and the Administration will be. The committee is looking for someone with the same personality, maturity, depth and coaching ability of Mike Hoben who retired three years ago to become assistant principal at Plymouth High.

It may be able to find such an individual but coaches of the Hoben caliber aren't found in assistantships--they are established mentors who have shown they have the ability to handle high school athletes--coaches who have proven their ability by their performances over the years.

Amateur Boxers Set Record Card

A program of 30 bouts, pitting Golden Gloves champions and runners-up from outstate cities against the Detroit Golden Gloves champions and runners-up for Michigan A.A.U. titles on March 20 is the biggest amateur fight card ever offered in Cobo Arena.

It could be that among the candidates is a younger coach who has proven himself and has all the qualities Plymouth is seeking. We hope the selection committee finds such a man and recommends him for the job.

Athletic Director Sandmann has promised the new coach will be picked before the end of March. Perhaps it will be sort of an Easter gift for the coach and for the Plymouth High student body.

There isn't any question that spring is in the air even though the snow-covered streets, fields and sidewalks are to the contrary.

Coaches of spring sports already are calling their squads together. The golf professionals are on hand for the opening of the courses, which normally take place on March 1--but not this year.

From the Detroit Race Course where Wolverine Harness Raceway opens the harness racing season on Saturday, Mar. 25, comes sounds of workers starting the task of getting the stable area ready for the arrival of pacers and trotters in mid-March.

Wolverine will have its earliest opening in history. It will be interesting to see how successful the track management is in getting the racing strip in shape.

The pounding of horses hooves on the surface always helps beat it in shape. But with winter still with us and snow piled deep in every corner, it will probably be some time before horses will be able to test the track.

Plans are underway for the third annual area high school baseball tournament sponsored by the Observer Newspaper Group, the Livonia Department of Parks and Recreation and the Livonia Optimist Club.

As of today 14 teams have entered, making it the second largest high school tournament in the state. Plymouth High was one of the first to announce its intention of participating, just as it has in each of the past two years. The Rocks were in semifinals a year ago.

Those indicating they will compete are: Plymouth, Livonia

Bentley, Stevenson and Franklin; Clarenceville; Garden City West and East; Farmington Lady of Sorrows; Redford St. Agatha; Wayne Memorial and John Glenn; Redford Union and Thurston; and Northville.

Tournament Director John Dufour has hopes that the two Farmington teams will enter and make it a 16-team tourney. If not, then invitations will be extended to two other schools just outside the Observer circulation area.

The games will be played on Henry Ford Memorial Field in Livonia, mostly under the lights on weekends.

Tiger Tales

Mickey Stanley enters 1967 with 92 consecutive errorless games to his credit in the outfield...His only major league error was made Sept. 20, 1965, when he dropped a fly ball.

The Tigers wrote five club records in 1966 and tied another...Larry Sherry was responsible for two marks, with 55 games on the mound and 39 finished...Denny McLain's 42 home run pitches are a distinction he'd rather forget and the Tigers feel the same way about their 19 strikeouts in nine innings and 21 in 10 against the Indians last Sept. 18.

Bill Freehan's .996 fielding average tied his club record of the previous season but the Tiger catcher is proudest of reducing his passed balls from 26 in 1965 to three in 1966.

The Tigers, who led the major leagues with six grand slam homers last season, had back-to-back four-baggers on five occasions...Their foes turned the trick six times, including three by the Orioles and two by the Indians.

Al Kaline hit 18 of his 29 home runs at Tiger Stadium in 1966 but was pressed by Norm Cash, with 17 out of 32, for the local leadership...Tom Tresh of the Yankees was high man among visiting players with five...Frank Robinson of the Orioles tagged the Tigers for 11 homers during the year but only three were at Tiger Stadium.

Denny McLain's 42 home run pitches last year were evenly divided - 21 at home, 21 on the road.

Right To Bitter End

Slump Grips Rocks Through Home Finale

The slump that marked Plymouth High basketballers in the final four games of the season continued through the home finale against Redford Union and found the cold, ineffective Rocks falling by a 52-49 count.

It wasn't that RU was better than the Rocks, far from it. It was just that Redford Union was the better of two cold-shooting clubs from the foul line. Plymouth made 11 of 22 character tosses--RU hit on 18 of 28 and therein is the tale of the victory.

The defeat left the Rocks with a season record of six victories and eight losses. This is quite a bit better than that of a year ago but far short of the hopes of Coach Dick Bearup. The personable Plymouth mentor had visions of a winning season and appeared headed for it when the Rocks showed marked improvement at the start of the second semester. They rolled to three straight victories and looked better than any PHS team in several years. Then just as quickly as they hit the hot streak, they started to slump and never did shed it.

And when a slumping team runs into erratic officiating such as that which marked the entire contest, something has to give and this time it was Plymouth.

Sparked by the scoring of Lee Bjerke, perhaps the best sharpshooter in the Suburban Six League, RU rolled to a 15-10 lead at the end of the first period.

The Panthers built a 23-18 edge midway through the second quarter when Gary Corrigan, Mike Kubik and Nate Luibrand crashed through with eight straight points for a Plymouth lead of 26-23.

Bill Fahey was fouled by Norris and made the first of two free throws and Bill Miertras tapped in the rebound as the whistle sounded for a 26-26 tie at halftime.

Coming back after the rest period, Plymouth moved in front quickly when Mike Kubik hit twice from the field and Mike Stakias added another for a 32-26 edge.

The Rocks were still ahead, 39-37, with two minutes remaining in the quarter when Lee Bjerke took command. He hit from the edge of the foul circle to knot the score at 39-39.

He made one of two free throws when fouled by Norris and then tipped in a rebound with 15 seconds showing on the clock to give RU a 41-39 margin at the end of three periods.

Kubik tied the score with a shot from the side. Again RU moved ahead on a basket by Tom Kimble and a pair of fouls by D. Bjerke.

John Ellison battled in a rebound, Stakias made one of two charity tosses and Kubik hit from the corner to tie the game again at 46-46 with four minutes to play.

Again L. Bjerke showed why he's the top scorer in the league. He flipped in a one-hander from the side to put RU in front 48-46 at 4:18. He dribbled in to make it 50-46 at 3:26.

Kubik made one of two charity throws to reduce the margin to 50-47 with 1:55 remaining and then Stakias tipped in a rebound for a 50-49 score with 34 seconds showing on the clock.

Fred Lawrence clinched the victory for the visitors with a two pointer from out of a mad scramble under the hoop and the Rocks couldn't get a shot off in the remaining seven seconds.

Again it was Kubik who led the Rocks with 22 points on eight field goals and six fouls with Ellison adding 12 as the second high scorer.

L. Bjerke tallied 11 of RU's 18 fielders and four from the foul line for 26 or exactly half of his team's points. Bill Fahey had 12 but none of the others had more than one field goal.

Rocks Beaten and Drop From State Tournament

Bewildered and unable to cope with a tight zone defense, Plymouth High ended its basketball season on a sad note Wednesday, bowing out of the Michigan High School Championship tournament with a one-sided 75-54 defeat at the hands of Farmington High.

It was probably the most inept performance of the second semester for the Rocks, who had a midseason surge when they won four of five games and then dropped into a dismal slump that lasted through the opening round of the state tourney.

For one quarter, it appeared as if Plymouth would down Farmington for the second time. PHS did turn the trick in January and on the Farmington court.

With Nate Luibrand, Ron Lowe and Mike Kubik hitting from the field, the Rocks built up a 7-2 lead midway through the opening stanza. The Falcons quickly tied it at 7-all, trailed 9-7 and then bounded ahead when Greg Dorow scored five quick points. That gave Farmington a 15-9 margin and it never trailed again.

ANOTHER STUDY IN FUTILITY: When the Rocks made their appearance in the state high school basketball tournament they found that conditions hadn't changed from the regular season. Their efforts were futile. Here is Greg Corrigan making a futile shot as Mike Thompson breaks up the play.

Plymouth did come within three points of tying the count in the second period when it hit four consecutive two-pointers for a 25-22 score.

The Falcons answered that with 10 straight points to build a 13-point lead -- the Rocks never threatened from that time, leaving the court at halftime with a 37-24 deficit.

The rest didn't do Plymouth a bit of good. Farmington started the third period with a spree that increased the lead to 45-24. The Falcons led 56-37 going into the final quarter.

Coach Jack Quiggle kept his varsity in action for two minutes of the fourth period and then took mercy as he saw a 62-37 score posted on the board.

Then with the game out of reach, the pressure off and realizing that the season was over to all intents and purposes, the Rocks took advantage of the opening against the second stringers to hit for 11 consecutive points and whittle the deficit to 15 points at 68-53.

Even then Farmington answered with three field goals and a foul in the closing minute for the final score of 75-54.

Mike Kubik continued his high scoring to pace the Rocks with 15 followed by Mike Stakias and Nate Luibrand with 12 each.

Tom Wirts was the top gunner for the Falcons with 14 while Dorow and Mike Ames were next in line with 13 each.

THEY'LL SPEAK: These two U. of M. coaches, Richard Honig (top) and George Pomey will talk to the juniors at their annual banquet.

Mike Kubik is Awarded Place On All Suburban Six Second Team

Mike Kubik, high scoring junior and one of the big reasons Coach Dick Bearup is looking forward to the 1967-8 basketball season with a great deal of optimism, was the lone member of the Plymouth High cage squad to win recognition on the first and second all-star teams of the Suburban Six League.

Kubik, who sparked the Rocks with his spectacular scoring in the closing weeks of an in-and-out season, was named a guard on the second team.

Three other PHS starters won honorable mention on the teams and squad selected by coaches and athletic directors at the end of the season.

The trio includes: Seniors John Davis and Nate Luibrand and Junior Mike Stakias.

Lee Bjerke, the Redford Union star who shattered all league scoring records during his three years on the varsity and bettered the existing marks for a single season during the past campaign, was the lone unanimous choice on the first team.

Bjerke tallied 1,022 points in his three years, adding a league record high of 510 during the past season.

He is joined on the first team by two members of the Championship Bentley quintet, one each from Belleville and Allen Park.

His fellow members include: Guard Mike McCauley, Bentley, 5'11" senior; Center Ken Bollen, Bentley, 6'6" junior; Forwards Lou Taylor, Belleville, 6'3" senior, and James Fanto, Allen Park, 6'3" senior.

Kubik has some excellent company on the second team. Trenton, Bentley, Allen Park and Plymouth players are listed.

The team includes: Forwards Bob Eldridge, Trenton, 6'2" senior, and Greg Macy, Bentley, 6'4" senior; Center Ricco Reghetti, Trenton, 6'3" senior; Guards Kubik, and Bill Harvey, Allen Park, 5'11" senior.

Others from the area receiving honorable mention were: Dale Bjerke and Tom Kimble, of Redford Union; Greg Coleman, Ed Ryan and Charley Grimm of Bentley.

Junior Cage Teams Set for Big Banquet

The Plymouth Community Junior Basketball League will wind up season activities Saturday, March 11, in the championship program at Plymouth High and then stage the traditional season-ending banquet on Monday, March 13 at the Plymouth Elks Club.

That was announced by Vice President John Van Wagoner, who told of the four-game championship card and of plans for the banquet.

The championship program includes four games between the first and second half winners. The schedule:

9 a.m. Class B (eight to 10 year olds, 10:30 a.m. - Class AA (13 to 15 year-olds), Noon - Class A (10 to 12 year olds) 1:30 p.m. - Class B and A coaches vs. Class AA coaches.

Winners of both the A and AA Leagues will participate in the Inter-City Recreation tournament during the week of March 14-18. The top four Class A teams are playing comparable teams from the South Redford Junior Basketball League.

George Pomey, a member of the great Michigan basketball team of three years ago, and Richard Honig, both from the U-M basketball coaching staff, will be the principal speakers at the annual banquet.

The dinner will be held at the Elks Club and will be limited to players, volunteer referees, coaches and others from the community who have aided the Leagues throughout the season.

Arrangements are in charge of a committee including: John Roose, Tom Lewis, Howard Shryer, Howard Oldford and Ed Nelson.

Trophies will be presented to members of the championship and runnersup teams.

An equal opportunity employer

A SECURE CAREER

We currently serve over one million homemakers from Maine to California. This spring we plan to expand our PLYMOUTH and LIVONIA OPERATIONS. We will need 1-2 married men between 23-45 to manage these retail food and general merchandise operations. Our operators are currently earning better than $8,000 with plenty of room to grow.

These men will receive:

- Blue Cross-Blue Shield Major Medical
- Profit sharing retirement program
- Guaranteed salary plus excellent bonus plan
- Opportunity to enter sales management with one of nation's leading retailers.
- SECURITY

Thin Ice ?

Is that what you feel like you're on with bills, bills, bills and income tax time approaching?

Don't fret.

A solution may be as near as your telephone.

Pick it up and call The Plymouth Mail for an easy action want ad that will sell unwanted furniture, used appliances and tools — anything you may have stored away and forgotten about.

You've probably got instant money in your attic, garage or basement.

And all it takes is an easy action message into more than 10,500 local homes to convert it into negotiable cash. Remember, Plymouth Mail want ads are often better than...
