School strike's entering its third week today

By M.B. Dillon Ward and Emory Daniels staff writers

Hopes brightened for a tentative agreement between the Plymouth-Canton school board and its teachers as negotiators returned to the bargaining table yesterday.

State mediator Ed Phillips was to be "immediately available" should his services be needed.

Announcement of yesterday's negotiations came at a school board press conference Friday amidst growing public pressure to end the labor dispute. Concerned parents were circulating petitions and organizing an effort to drop hundreds of children off at board offices this week "for administrators to educate."

In the event of a tentative agreement, school officials said it would be at least a day before school reopened.

Twenty-four hours hopefully would be adequate for contracts to be ratified by union members, parents and students to be notified and schools to be readied.

Teachers, teacher aides, transportation and food service workers, secretaries and custodians walked off the job Sept. 30 after contract and wage reopener talks broke off. Security and crossing guards recently reached agreement with the board on a contract.

IN A major development Thursday, a temporary restraining order prohibiting the Michigan Employment Relations Commission (MERC), teachers and the district from engaging in fact-finding through Oct. 26 was set aside.

The order was granted recently at the request of district chief negotiator Thomas Schwarze, an attorney, by Ingham County Circuit Judge Robert Bell. The Ingham court handles the bulk of state-related cases.

Michigan Education Association attorney Harvey Wax was scheduled to appear before Judge Bell last Thursday to petition to have the order set aside.

"At the last minute, the board, Michigan Attorney General's office and MERC entered into a stipulated agreement that dissolved the restraining order," Wax said.

A corresponding court order was filed in Ingham County Circuit Court and approved by Judge Bell, clearing the way for MERC to reconsider appointing a fact-finder as requested by Plymouth-Canton teachers.

At a meeting Friday morning, however, a three-member commission of MERC said appointment of a fact-finder "would be premature and that the parties should continue to bargain without a fact-finder in efforts to reach an agreement by Monday," Schwarze said.

The meeting was significant from the board's perspective, because "we had a chance to address MERC. We were never allowed to address the commission prior to that," Schwarze said.

The commissioners did not address petitions for fact-finding submitted by the five support personnel unions. The matter was placed on MERC's Oct. 25 agenda.

Under fact-finding, an impartial third party (MERC fact-finder) proposes a non-binding solution after appraising the positions of both sides.

Schwarze refused to disclose details about what the district was prepared to offer, saying only that he "is optimistic" a quick settlement can be reached.

"We have an impartial state mediator who's requested us to meet separately. He'll be available to be immediately here," said Schwarze at the press conference.

THOUGH BOTH sides desired a two-year agreement, "in bargaining we're going to consider anything. We need two years of labor peace," Schwarze said.

The board "is prepared in depth with necessary figures and calculations. The board will present information about what kind of community we have, and the cost of education within the community," Richard Egli, community relations director for the district, said.

The Cost of Living Adjustment, long demanded by the teachers' union, "is not an issue" anymore, Schwarze said.

Still pending is a threatened lawsuit for financial damages against teachers and teacher aides for violating the no-strike clauses of their contracts. The groups have negotiated wage reopeners in their two-year contracts, effective through the current school year. Striking employees claim alleged unfair labor practices by the board render the strike legal.

Charles "Trav" Griffin, chief negotiator for support personnel unions, was expected to be on hand yesterday should agreement be reached with the teachers.

The board also was "prepared to stay and perhaps settle with other groups."

High school seniors walked the picket lines Friday morning in the rain urging an end to the strike so they can graduate this June without delay.

Reward offered for tips in Holbrook arsons

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Plymouth police and firefighters are continuing an investigation of eight separate fires deliberately lit early Wednesday morning in a one-block residential section of the city.

The fires, in the Holbrook and Union Street neighborhood, involved parked cars or trucks and caused an estimated $40,600 in damages, including damage to two garages.

All but one of the vehicles were left unlocked in the driveway, garage or street. The glove box contents were emptied onto the floor and then set on fire.

Police and firefighters are without suspects at this time, and have no explanation for why the fires were set.

The fact that three of the fire victims were teachers from the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools "appears at this time to be coincidental," said Fire Chief Roy Hall.

"The whole area is saturated with teachers. If the guy would have lit 16 more fires, he would have got three more teachers," Hall said.

Arson investigators have determined that an accelerant was used on at least several of the vehicles. A gas can was found on one of the sites.

The investigators have reason to believe the fires were lit by the same person or persons. And, due to the nature of the incident, a $2,000 reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible.

Residents with information are asked to call the Plymouth Fire Department at 453-1234, ext. 41.

"No matter how trivial a person might think the information may be, they should call. What's trivial to them might help us put this thing together," said Capt. Tom Lenaghan.

AT THIS POINT, investigators believe the first fire was lit at 340 E. Union. Subsequent fires were set at: 111 S. Holbrook, 102 N. Holbrook, 130 N. Holbrook, 202 N. Holbrook, 262 N. Holbrook, and 276 N. Holbrook.

The largest loss was suffered at 262 N. Holbrook, where a 1983 Ford Thunderbird and an entire garage were consumed by the flames.

Another two cars were completely burned, while the remaining vehicles sustained burn damage to the interiors. A garage at 276 N. Holbrook received slight burn damage.

The early morning episode has left the neighborhood in a state of fear, according to fire officials and residents.

"Our neighborhood has become very frightened," said Timothy Ford, a victim and former Plymouth Police Chief.

"People are locking things they have never locked before. People are going to bed later than they usually do," Ford said.

"There is talk about starting a neighborhood patrol. There is definitely fear down here," he said.

Firefighters also realized the fear brought into the neighborhood.

"People over there are really concerned about this. To them it's more than just a few car fires," Hall said.

"We wouldn't have been surprised if it would have happened again the next night," he said.

Likewise, Capt. Al Matthews said the incident simply shows residents and firefighters how vulnerable society is to fires.

"We've got a bug running around and we don't know what he's going to do," Matthews said.

"When your dog gets you up, or if something strange is going on outside, get up and call the police," Hall said.

FIREFIGHTERS RECEIVED the first call to the neighborhood at 4:34 a.m. Wednesday. While responding to that call, 174 N. Holbrook, the firefighters stopped at a car fire inside a garage at 262 N. Holbrook, Hall said.

Within five minutes the department received calls or had discovered all eight fires. The township fire department was called in for assistance under the mutual aid pact.

Some 27 firefighters, including two from the township, had the fires extinguished within 20 minutes, according to Lenaghan.

Fire officials believe the last fire, at 276 N. Holbrook, was being lit as they responded to the neighborhood.

Crime special telecast Thursday

By Gary M. Cates staff writer

Residents can watch their TV Thursday night and learn how to protect it against theft, as well as other belongings and property.

A two-hour crime prevention program, sponsored by Plymouth Township, will be shown on cable channel 16 starting at 7 p.m.

The Thursday night cable cast will be the kickoff for a 14-part series promoting Neighborhood Watch and Citizens' Band Patrols — awareness programs which help residents protect themselves against crime.

The series was made possible through the combined efforts of the Detroit Police Department, Schoolcraft College, and Omnicon Cablevision.

One hour of the program will be a live cablecast from Plymouth Township Hall; where police officers, Neighborhood Watch volunteers, members of the Plymouth Area Citizens Teams (PACT), and homeowners discuss two videotaped introductions to the crime prevention programs.

This kickoff showing is possibly the

A battle to install a 70-foot flagpole on Ann Arbor Road has raised a controversy over how high the stars and stripes can fly in Plymouth Township.

The owner of Jerry's Bicycle Shop at 1449 W. Ann Arbor Road, Jerry Loiselle, plans to seek a circuit court injunction which would allow him to install the "high rise" flagpole.

Since the 70-foot pole exceeds the allowed height of 35 feet, Loiselle needs approval from the township Board of Appeals.

That board earlier denied Loiselle's request, claiming the flagpole would be a permanent structure due to the 7-foot concrete base.

Loiselle's attorney, John Vos IV, plans to file suit against the township tomorrow.

"We are filing in the Wayne County Circuit Court for a mandatory injunction ordering the township to approve construction of the flagpole," Vos said.

He believes a flagpole, regardless of height, is not a permanent structure and points to the state construction code which states a flagpole is not a "building or structure."

The appeals board asked for a legal opinion on its interpretation of the word "structure" as a friendly gesture after denying the approval, Supervisor Maurice Breen said.

"The only board that has jurisdiction to grant variance from the township ordinance (establishing the 35-foot limit) is the Board of Appeals," Breen said.

"The Board of Appeals said no and asked for an opinion as a courtesy," he said.

Because it has been several weeks since the opinion was requested, Loiselle has retained Vos to get the matter moving.

Vos said the state construction code takes precedent over the township ordinance, and thus Loiselle approval. He also said there are other 70-foot poles in the township.

Because of that, Vos advised Loiselle to go ahead and install the pole before receiving the court injunction.

"Although I've been advised to go ahead and install the pole, I think we'll be holding off until the court makes a decision," Loiselle said last week.

"If we want to be an example to our youth, we can't go around breaking the law," he said.

LOISELLE WANTS THE 70-foot pole to fly a 36-foot by 20-foot flag.

"I saw a 70-foot pole in Florida. I was driving by with the windows down and I stopped. I heard the beautiful noise a flag can make in the wind," he said.

Band championship here on Saturday

The state championship competition for high school marching bands will be held this Saturday at the Plymouth Centennial Educational Park (CEP).

Some 28 marching bands will be competing Saturday afternoon and evening at the CEP athletic field on Canton Center Road just south of the parking lot of Plymouth Canton High.

This is the second year in a row that Plymouth-Canton has hosted the Michigan Competing Band Directors Association's high school championship competition.

The afternoon competition will begin at 11 a.m. and the evening competition will begin at 5:30 p.m.

The advance ticket price is $3.50 per person with tickets purchased on Saturday selling for $4 each. The afternoon and evening shows each require a separate ticket.

ADVANCE TICKETS may be purchased at the Sideways shop on Forest Avenue in Plymouth, at Hammell's music store on N. Main, Plymouth, and at Mary's Mix-N-Match florist on Joy Road in Canton Township. Anyone needing a large quantity of advance tickets may phone 459-1352.

For those who never attended a band competition, the shows include stirring music, sharp marching and maneuvering, colorful auxiliary rifle and flag lines, and uniforms of all types.

The Plymouth CEP Marching Band will be competing in the evening portion. In all some 3,000 band members will be on the field Saturday.

Other participants include Flushing, Bishop Foley, Westland John Glenn, Southfield, Bridgeport, Lakeview, Durand, the Scarlet Brigade from Windsor, Andover, Dondero, Flint Powers, Montrose, West Bloomfield, Clarkston, Utica Eisenhower, Ithaca, St. Charles, Flint Bentley, Bad Axe, Tawas, Oxford, Petosky, Trenton, Flint Southwestern, Linden, Clio, and Wyoming Park.

In recognition of the event, the Canton Township Board of Trustees has declared Oct. 16-22 to be High School Band Week.

Canton Supervisor James Poole, who attended last year's state competition in Canton, commented: "If you watch their maneuvers, marching and salutes, and don't get warm, you're not paying attention."

A Seminole pulls his cypress dugout through the cypress swamp.

Travelogue series visits cypress land

A visit to the cypress swamps of Florida will be featured at Wednesday night's travel adventure series held in Plymouth Salem High School.

Sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation, the travelogue will begin at 8 p.m. in the auditorium of Salem High on Joy just west of Canton Center Road. Admission is $3.50.

The "Hidden Worlds of Florida" is the topic for the presentation to be given by Richard Kern.

In 1969 a group of conservationists, including Kern, purchased 400 acres of cypress swamp surrounding a mile of central Florida's Fisheating Creek.

This film describes the remote sanctuary and records in brilliant color the cycle of seasons as it influences wild creatures living out their existence in the deep and misty swamp.

In the preserve the owners observe the behavior of alligators, otters, snakes, hawks, and owls. The swamp also is studied at night and in the dripping rain. A close-up look uncovers the secret lives of spiders, wasps, and dragonflies.

The cypress national fresh water preserve is some 900 square miles in all and lies adjacent to the Everglades.

Kern was raised in Leonia, N.J., and graduated from Colgate University in 1966 with a major in biology. After college he served in the U.S. Navy, spending part of his tour as officer-in-charge of a patrol boat in the Mekong Delta.

During his college years Kern began contributing wildlife photographs to various publications including National Geographic and ended up with a career as a wildlife filmmaker.

The travelogue series is a joint effort of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth. The next series on Spain will feature Frank Carney on Wednesday, Nov. 9.

Strike only way to show intent

To the editor:
As a member of the working class in Plymouth, it never ceases to amaze and yet appall me at how those of us who don't work for a living can be judge and jury in such matters as in the teachers strike.

As much as a teachers strike is illegal, don't they realize that this is possibly the only way to show the board that the teachers mean business in stating what is wanted and needed by the teachers.

To say we are "being held hostage" is utterly ridiculous. To say "the teachers are not the dedicated professionals we thought they were," just goes to show you that you never thought they were "dedicated professionals" in the first place, as to turn against them at a time when they need the support of the community.

I empathize with the children of this community who are suffering as far as their schooling goes. I empathize with the seniors who in this their last year are having to forstall their senior year. I do empathize with the parents, and understand their reasoning for feeling that the teachers are going about this the wrong way. But more than these, I must empathize more with the teachers, cafeteria, maintenance, transportation, secretaries, and aides, who are getting only negative response to something they feel so strong about.

While attending elementary, junior high, and senior high school, I was never disappointed in the quality of teaching I was receiving. Therefore, I feel, contrary to what is being printed in the papers, the teachers and all others deserve what support is being given to each other with less hassle and flak from the community.

From a working mother of one, and no relation to any members of the unions on strike.

Reader's letter has him livid

To the editor:
Sharon Kozob's recent letter to the editor has me back at my desk, pen in hand, and heart pumping double speed. I quote Mrs. Kozob: "I urge you (Dr. John Hoben) to forget all this legal 'mumble-jumble' and get to the issue at hand — the people of this community — and end this strike." The "Mumble jumble" she refers to is the very essence of the problem. The employees of this school district are lawbreakers and the teachers have violated a lawful and binding contract. Clear the rhetoric away and this is what it's all about... the strike is illegal! It matters not that the board may or may not be acting responsibly as it pertains to negotiations of contracts, what matters is a law has been violated and a contract broken.

The voters of this school district will call the Board members to task at the next election if they feel they have acted irresponsibly. The coalition, meanwhile, is holding the education and summer vacation of the children of this community hostage illegally — that is what matters!

The strike must end before the board negotiates. Anyone who negotiates with someone holding a hostage and gives in, knows full well they will be back again for more ill-gotten gains. Maybe the law is wrong, maybe it should be changed; but does anyone out there want outlaws to legislate and administer our laws? Not me. No self-respecting law enforcement agency wants to negotiate with a lawbreaker; sometimes they are forced to do it to stall for time.

The coalition, the board, and the residents of this school district should dust off the case history of the Crestwood School District and do some serious reading!

Jim Kronberg,
Canton

Public salaries are not so bad

To the editor:
This letter is directed to the teachers of this school district. I speak as a parent and a fellow teacher with ten years experience in a private school outside of this district.

I have lived in Plymouth since 1955 and attended Plymouth schools from second grade through high school. I say this so you know I am not one of the "enemy." The purpose of this letter is not to place blame, although I think there is enough to go around. I just want to make certain points.

First: I always have thought that teaching carries great responsibilities. One of them is that we set, by our words and actions, examples for our students. What kind of example are you setting by breaking the law? You are setting a very bad example, if only for the reason that what you are doing is illegal. It makes no difference even if you think what you are doing is right. It is illegal. You signed the contract knowing full well what was in it. You have no right to be selective in which laws you will obey.

Second: With a master's degree and ten years experience, my salary is little more than what a beginning teacher makes in Plymouth now. As a result, I have very little sympathy for you when you claim you are not making enough money. If your pocketbook is your major concern, maybe you should look to another occupation. Like most of you I have a family to support. I pay the same taxes you do and pay the same price for my groceries as you do. Maybe some of you would like to teach for a year on my salary. I'll trade my salary for yours anytime, then we will see how serious you really are about teaching. Compared with us in private schools, you don't know how well you have it.

Third: I am all for teachers making all the money they can. God knows, the good ones deserve it. But it is exactly because of stunts like this, along with other things, that many parents are fed up with public schools and are sending their children to private schools where they don't have to put up with such nonsense.

I don't make nearly the amount of money that you do and never will, but at least my students are in class and I am teaching, which is more than I can say for your unfortunate students, or for you.

A group of middle school teachers

Hope settlement will be speedy

To the editor:
As a parent and taxpayer in the Plymouth-Canton school district I would like to comment on the school employees strike.

A strike is the last resort an employee has to make a point. I am sure the teachers and other school employees would rather be working than walking picket lines. The teachers in Plymouth-Canton became teachers to help children become well-rounded educated adults and were not motivated by financial success. Due to the increase in the cost of living it is hard for anyone in teaching to survive without taking a second job or have a second income from a spouse.

I recently moved into this community because of the excellent schools. Teachers and school employees who are not happy with their work conditions will not be performing to the best of their abilities. I hope the school board realizes this, and tries to reach a speedy settlement so our children can begin to receive the education they deserve.

Message to 6-9 grade parents

To the editor:
As a group of concerned middle school teachers, we would like to talk to you about a move on the board of education's part which will be totally against your children's educational needs. They have attached to any money settlement a change in the middle school day, without regard for the needs of children in that age category. They are not knowledgeable, let alone experts, in child development. Their move goes against all studies regarding the needs of children of this age.

According to recent studies released by the Carnegie Institute report and the West Bloomfield Spinal Column, "A Nation at Risk," Oct. 8-11, the six hour middle school day is contrary to all aspects of a quality education. An eleven to fourteen year old child cannot be expected to maintain a learning posture during a class which has a college length of 55 minutes each day. The child at this age needs many opportunities to explore through elective classes. The middle school child is often totally unaware of his interests or capabilities due to lack of experience because of his young age. Our present eight period middle school day does provide such opportunities for experience, exposure, and exploration. It also addresses itself to the less capable students by providing many elective courses which often times are their only success. Below is a depiction of a typical student day model for grades 7, 8, and 9 which shows our present student opportunities, then what would happen to these opportunities if we are forced by the board of education into a six hour day with a staggered teacher planning period and finally, a six period day with one of the six periods being a common planning period for teachers thus reducing the children to only five classes per day.

Public lost its chance to learn

To the editor:
A forum slated for tonight to inform the public about the 13-day-old strike... has been canceled... The forum will not be rescheduled." (Plymouth Observer, Thursday, October 13, 1983)

I have just finished reading this article three times and I still have no clear understanding as to why this happened. I am not criticizing your journalism, I am talking about the evasive rhetoric spoken by Dr. Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction, and Richard Egli, district community relations director.

First we are told League President Betty Whiteley made arrangements with Homes and Egli on Friday to schedule the forum which was to be held this evening. On Monday, both Homes and Egli backed out. Homes subsequently made himself unavailable for comment and denied having made a commitment. Egli supported him by declaring, "Dr. Homes specifically said they'd have to check up on the facility being available." Later, Egli claimed, "When Deanna (Huff) talked to me, I thought she had already gotten approval (from the board members to host the forum)." I do not follow this logic, nor do I understand what kind of logic underlies an expression of concern for "maintaining a focus on the issues... accompanied by a refusal to cooperate with an organization which has maintained an outstanding reputation for doing just that — focusing on issues; and whose stated intent was to... inform the general public and provide a general service."

All of this makes me uncomfortable. It reminds me of some episodes in "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" where Mark Twain shows how the people along the Mississippi are duped by two unscrupulous con artists. Contrary to general story lines, Twain does not portray the town people as the good guys preyed on by the two villains and their evil doings. In fact, Twain's major attack is on the victims, who because they are ignorant and refuse to pay attention to the facts, remain gullible and allow themselves to be duped. In the end, Twain leaves no doubt, the people deserved what they got.

I am not suggesting that Homes and Egli are con artists, nor am I suggesting that the people in Plymouth are gullible. I am, however, suggesting that people deserve to be clearly informed on an issue as vital as their children's education; and when something as potentially informative as this forum has been canceled, as Twain warns, we may well deserve what we get, no access to facts.

Without access to facts, I am wondering what will happen next and to what extreme. If the issues aren't soon resolved... so that children and teachers can return to the classroom... which Egli says is the board's concern, what might we lose?

Our five children are products of the Plymouth-Canton school system, and typical of every student on the field, they tossed their hats in the air after graduation ceremonies and proclaimed they were happy they made it. Today, however, they are reaping the benefits. This is evident not only in what they have chosen to do, but in how they are accomplishing it. I am convinced that a major part of their abilities and much of their confidence stems from the experiences they had as they progressed through 12 years of education in this community.

In the first place, they had an unusually wide curriculum to choose from. Secondly, two were fortunate enough to be able to take seven and eight of these curriculum offerings in one semester when the district was on modular, both obtained scholarships. Finally, they were encouraged and challenged by a number of fine teachers along the way.

I work in this district and every day when school is in session, I see administrators, teachers, counselors, secretaries, aides, custodians, and cafeteria people working together and possessing the necessary combined experience to assure every student the opportunity my children had. If, through lack of information, we ignore this competence and allow this board to continue refusing public access to the facts, we will indeed continue to deserve what we get.

Seeman answers Telford

To the editor:
Just a brief response to Dr. John Telford's letter of Oct. 5 regarding class size. During the month of August, C.E.P. Perspective reporter Mark Kleabir investigated class size at C.E.P. The teachers interviewed all expressed a problem with class size: "It is outrageous," "If you are to have over 30 in a physics class... it changes the way in which that class is taught," "It is very hard to communicate... when you have a class of 39," and "It is inexcusable to have classes which exceed 25."

ONE C.E.P. PRINCIPAL said, "... overall we are in good shape." Students expressed both positive and negative responses: "I didn't notice a problem," and "The classes are just too big."

Below is a chart compiling reporter Kleabir's random sampling of C.E.P.'s classes. Some important points can be seen in this evidence. First, the teachers see the "suggested sizes" set by the administration continue to climb each year. One can see that with five classes student loads from 160 to 175 students per day have been deemed acceptable. We disagree. More importantly, perhaps, are the figures in the "Actual (low/high)" column.

WHAT IS OCCURING is what is commonly referred to as the difference between theory and practice: because of scheduling problems and because the student teacher ratio is set very high we get classes that are an absolute liability to excellence; it is possible under these circumstances to exceed the level of 200 per day that Dr. Telford faced when he was teaching.

Our contention, of course, is that we live and work in a district that does not have to do this to its teachers and students. If it could be shown to us that there was a "financial necessity" for deteriorating working conditions (i.e. class sizes) and declining wages we'd be back in the classroom.

David Seemann,

The courses in the chart below were chosen randomly in order to get an objective overview of class enrollment at CEP. However, it should be noted that these figures are for the beginning of the 1983-84 school year and do not illustrate the figures for students who may have been added to, or dropped from, the courses listed below. LaRiche to sell Japanese autos first of its kind since it combines videotape with live cable coverage, according to Township Police Chief Carl Berry.

The videotapes, produced by the Detroit police and Schoolcraft College, are a new concept in training residents for crime prevention, he said.

"The Detroit Police are experts in the Neighborhood Watch field. They have successfully put together Neighborhood Watch programs which have earned national recognition."

THE TOWNSHIP HAS invited representatives from the various homeowners associations to take part in the live discussions of the tapes.

Berry encourages other homeowners to watch the program, with the anticipation Neighborhood Watch groups will be formed. Currently Plymouth Township has 6 such groups, with the potential for 31.

"We want people to recognize that we do have crime and we want people to be aware of it and we need their help," he said.

Since Jan. 1 some 184 homes in the Plymouth community have been burglarized, according to Berry.

Another 57 businesses have been broken into, while 81 vehicles have been vandalized or stolen — 11 in the month of September.

"This series will educate people in what to report, so that we can better prevent crime around their homes. It's what you can do for your own neighborhood," he said.

Although participation in the live discussion Thursday night is by invitation only, a limited amount of seats still are available to the general public, he said.

Anyone interested in sitting in on the discussion should call the township supervisor's office at 453-2871.

Showings of the subsequent series parts will be announced in the future.

believer in the old adage "If you can't beat them, join them."

With that in mind he is enlarging his show room and taking on the latest of the Japanese cars — the Subaru — considered one of the better of the imported cars.

To provide for the new line he is having an addition of 2,000 square feet added to the west side of the present showroom.

"I have thought about this for a long time," he said, "and I was fortunate enough to get one of the better agencies. After all, I am in the transportation business and I want to give my customers the best of two worlds."

He said that the addition of the Japanese cars provided him with a grand opportunity to make some money and make up for the deep slump the auto business has had for several years.

ACCORDING TO LaRiche's latest figures the imported cars have taken over 27 per cent of the American market and would be greater than that if the limit hadn't been placed on them.

LaRiche is no stranger to the Subaru. His two oldest sons have a dealership in Findley, Ohio, and are doing quite well.

Hearing scheduled on worker's comp appointment appeal

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Republican state senators are loaded for bear, and the bruin in this case is Clifford Allo, designated by Gov. James J. Blanchard to head the Workers Compensation Appeals Board.

The hunt will start at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the State Capitol. That's when Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, majority leader and chairman of the Senate Administration Committee, opens the hearing on Allo's confirmation.

"The governor continues to talk in glowing terms of how he wants to improve the business climate in Michigan and of how important it is for business, labor and government to work together," said Sen. Doug Cruce, R-Troy, noting that Democrat Blanchard "denies his close ties to the labor movement."

The case against Allo, an attorney and Birmingham resident, is that during the Legislature's 1981 reform of the workers comp system, Allo was "a vociferous opponent of these reforms who fought long and hard to prevent their passage." He then was in the employ of the United Auto Workers union.

Cruce, Sen. R. Robert Geak of Northville and other Republicans have asked Blanchard to withdraw Allo's nomination, threatening to vote against his confirmation.

WHETHER THEY will have the chance is problematical.

The deadline for taking the confirmation to a vote is only one session day away from the hearing, according to one GOP staff member. Republicans fear Faust may be able to delay the matter so that confirmation is automatic.

Procedures for a confirmation hearing are "long and involved," according to Faust.

"The committee, mostly through my personal work, submits a set of written questions to the appointee. The appointee is then given a time period in which to respond; generally this is two weeks.

"The written responses are then reviewed — again, usually by me — and from the responses, additional questions are asked at the public hearing. This allows the Senate to have a permanent record of a public policy maker's views on important matters.

"Later, these responses can be checked against actual practices, if a senator finds this necessary.

"Additionally, I would like to point out there is a total of six appointments. While the major emphasis has been on (Allo) as chairman, several senators have asked the other appointees also be considered at a public hearing," said Faust.

Besides Faust, the committee includes Sens. John Kelly of Detroit and Gary Corbin of Clio, both Democrats, Senate Republican Leader John Engler of Mt. Pleasant and Connie Binsfeld, R-Maple City.

Main Street was paved with wood here in 1852

The repaving of Main Street this week brings to mind another paving project that took place in Plymouth 131 years ago. It was in 1852, the year Harriet Beecher Stowe published Uncle Tom's Cabin.

In that year, the Plymouth Plank Road Company announced completion of a survey of the route of a wooden road from the western terminus of its plank road in the township of Plymouth. Shortly thereafter, the firm began to construct a branch from the main route to the "village of Plymouth Corners."

An abstract, in the possession of Harold Guenther, indicates that the portion of Main to be planked extended from what was called "Starkweather's corner" to the "stone boundary at the angle of roads in the village of Plymouth Corners, embracing a strip of land four rods in width." An 1860 map indicates that the planked section ran from Church to Mill where it connected with the main plank road which ran to Detroit.

THE PLYMOUTH PLANK Road Company had been incorporated in 1850 under an 1848 law governing charters to private companies to build and operate wooden roads.

The law stipulated that the planks had to be at least 16 feet wide, eight feet of which had to be of three-inch planks. The planks were nailed to heavy stringers, or sometimes laid directly on the ground.

past and present

Sam Hudson

The man who owned principal interest in the local company was Asa H. Otis. Other members of the board of directors were George Lothrop, Noah Benedict, and John B. Reed. Private corporations, awarded charters to build the roads, established toll gates where fees were collected. The gatekeeper in Plymouth, J.J. Covert, collected fees from farmers headed to the Detroit market.

The toll was on N. Main at the corner of Mill Street. The fee was one cent per mile for a one-horse and two cents for a two-horse vehicle. There was no charge for the return trip, made on a dirt road adjacent to the planked section.

The plank road from Plymouth to Grand River was built prior to 1852.

The abstract refers to the construction on N. Main as a branch route from the firm's "main route." The company indicated that it also had finished surveying for an extension of the plank road from Plymouth to Northville.

Waterford declined to the few houses which still exist east of the road to Northville.

THE LAW GOVERNING the construction of wooden roads specified oak planks.

But Charlie Bennett wrote that the surface of the Plymouth Plank Road as far as Grand River was made of soft pine logs. (At Grand River, the road merged with a two-lane plank road going into Detroit.)

The planks began to deteriorate and farmers complained about paying the fee. Warping made the road uneven. Rotted wood was dangerous for the horses. The bad condition of plank roads in Michigan prompted Mark Twain to write about a stage ride he took between Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo. The trip would have been enjoyable, Twain wrote, "had not some unconscionable scoundrel now and then dropped a plank across the road."

As a result of farmers' complaints, Plymouth voted to eliminate Gate 4, at the corner of Main and Mill, on July 10, 1872. Gates 2 and 3 were closed three years later. Gate 3 stood one mile east of a place called "Rough and Ready" corners.

Karl Starkweather told me that, in 1875, a farmer named Hiram Peck, backed by friends and neighbors, ran the gate without paying, as a test case. Peck was arrested and tried in Detroit. He won the case and no action was taken against him. That was the end of gates 2 and 3.

Starkweather said remnants of the plank road still existed near the Detroit end as late as 1901.

Bring back toll road DAR rock

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

Now that the intersection of Main and Mill streets has been brought up to modern standards it is time to bring back the old stone that marked the Plymouth Plank Road that was created between 1850-52.

This stone was presented to the city by the Daughters of the American Revolution and dedicated on April 29, 1941. It is one of the top historical markers in the city.

Some years ago when Main and Mill were widened the historic bit of rock was considered to be in the way and was removed . . . but where?

At that time Harold Guenther, a former mayor and one of the city's leading citizens, suggested that the stone be placed on the lot back of the Historical Museum. In his proposal, he referred to the thought that a cemetery should be provided for unwanted stones in their present locations.

The permission was given. But the stone never was placed behind the old City Hall bell that is one of the city's major tokens of the past.

MEANWHILE GUENTHER had the stone removed, through the good offices of Mike Allen, the monument dealer in Northville, for safekeeping until the plans for its rededication were completed.

That's the last that has been heard of it. Supposedly, it was kept in safekeeping until such time as the busy intersection was brought up to date.

That time has come.

And nothing would be more appropriate before the snow flies to to bring the stone back and give it a final resting place in the cemetery for unwanted stones. Such a cemetery would be the only one in the country, and Guenther has made it known that a new tablet explaining the moves has been made.

All that is necessary is to have the help of a few interested citizens — or the city — to bring it back where residents and visitors could see it as a monument to the days when the plank road was the best means of travel to Detroit.

The monument was historic in that it marked the start of the plank road that was chartered on March 5, 1850 and was the site of Toll Gate 4.

GUENTHER HAS an agreement with the Sarah Ann Cochrane chapter of the DAR for the relocation.

On the day of the original placement of the stone, Mrs. Sidney Strong, wife of the city manager, delivered the history of the Plank Road and the reason for the placement of the stone.

The old yellowed pages of the Plymouth Mail tell the story of her remarks. She said:

"It's a far cry from the days of the Plank Road and the toll gate which we have marked on the wide level paved roads with intersections which we have today. But nobody would want to go back to the days of travel by horses and stages or horse and buggy. However, it would be very interesting to go back in imagination and take a ride from Grand River Avenue in Detroit to Plymouth over the old Plank Road.

"This road, you may remember, followed the present Chicago Boulevard as far as Greenfield Road to the present Plymouth Road.

"It is difficult for us to imagine that section of Wayne County without the mushrooming growth of small homes which has taken the place of the beautiful well-tilled farms of that day.

"An old 1860 map shows the farms of the Shattuck family, the Durfees, Riders, Armstrongs, McKinney, Fisher, Kenyons, Otis and even John Strong."

AT HER conclusion the marker was accepted on behalf of the city by Mayor Ruth Huston Whipple, with appropriate remarks.

Reader has not had hike

To the editor:

To the striking school employees & school board — economic realities of 1983.

Because of hard economic times, the company I work for has not give a raise in three years (not unusual in Michigan). In May, all salaried employees had a 10 percent salary cut.

So, if the school board has enough money to give a raise that will not raise taxes and leaves enough in the budget for increased costs for next year, then, I say, offer what is affordable.

If an increase in taxes would be necessary to satisfy the striking school employees, I say it's time they look elsewhere for employment. I can't afford it.

Teacher tells of frustration

To the editor:

As expected, and perhaps justified, the public again focuses a critical eye on "teacher defiance" of the law and all the other myriad sins of commission and omission regularly regurgitated in a strike situation. So be it. We still live in a reasonably free country. And doubtless a few new charges will emerge to be added to the perennial indictment. Substantiation of such accusations, of course, has not been, and will not be a critical issue. On the other hand, there are some observations or concerns of professional educators which never see print and yet are symbols of the frustration and/or disillusionment that ultimately influences effectiveness or performance in the classroom. Many teachers, for example, question the judgment, and perhaps the motivation, of an administrative policy that embraces steadily increasing size while at one and the same time the public is issued a student to professional staff ratio of approximately 23 to 1, plus or minus. The reality of the situation is a district wide average class size of 30 plus in the great majority of normal or standard kinds of classes, with many in excess of that number. At best an administrative smokescreen and certainly a deceptive and evasive approach to take with an electorate which is constantly beset with confusing statistics. Suffice it to say, of course, that it also tends to greatly distort the public's perception of that particular facet of our daily working conditions.

Teachers tend to be disenchanted with administrative "vision" that solicits "valuable teacher input" in regard to items such as curriculum revision, for example, in order to lend credence to, or gain support for, an administrative decision in the matter which had already made made prior to the deliberations. Of course, an occurrence such as that must surely be speculative, or an idle rumor, since it boggles one's mind to think that this administration, or any other, could possibly be so devious.

On occasion, discipline referrals concerning incidents not witnessed by a third party culminate in administrative discrediting of the teacher's "memory" or "recall" of the specifics of the case. In such instances, the teacher's veracity and integrity are impugned, not to mention any personal or professional embarrassment suffered. I submit that just one such incident is one too many and categorically unconscionable.

Teachers have difficulty demonstrating respect for administrators who see their roles as primarily authoritarian rather than supportive. To the extent that building principals cannot or will not see their primary responsibility as one of "helping teachers teach," including enhancement of learning environment and the provision of basic tools, and that all else is subordinate to that, they might better be counseled to accept another less critical assignment... whether via Peter principle or no.

Teachers are generally skeptical or discouraged by the current thrust of teacher evaluation methodology which would in the long run contribute to loss of autonomy in the classroom and tend to stifle teacher creativity, initiative, and individuality in attempting to meet individual needs. Large numbers of teachers remained unconvinced that standardized testing is a panacea for ineffective or sub-standard teaching. I fervently hope parents want something more than "teaching the test!"

All segments of the educational community, parents, teachers, administrators, board members alike, share the responsibility for the system's deficiencies, just as we share, and take pride in, its successes or accomplishments. Each members of these groups cannot in good conscience evade the challenge to be part of the solution, regardless of how large or small the role played. One can "opt out" or "cop out," but in so doing you contribute to maintenance of the status quo and impede the improvement process. Since the human condition is one of imperfection, the two time-tested tools of conciliation and tolerance are surely invaluable here. In the current crisis, the public perception of teachers is often one of aggression and militancy. In this stressful period, teachers may characterize school board members as paternalistic and patronizing, to site two printable adjectives. Obviously, the descriptions of both parties are distorted in abnormal situations and do justice to neither.

Those who really know education feel very strongly about, and speak in virtually one voice, when they make the following observations: The salvation of public education surely lies in the hands of every teacher in every classroom in the country. And any dictum imposed from on high that ties the hands of teachers or which erodes that teacher's positive concept of selfworth will surely hasten the demise of public education as we have come to know it. What are you, the reader, willing to do to help?

Detroit delays sewer advance

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

A sign off from the city of Detroit is the only thing standing in the way of a $3.8 million cash advance to Plymouth Township to design the so-called "Son of Supersewer" project.

The project is an outgrowth of the downsizing of Supersewer and would provide additional sewer capacity to western Wayne County communities dropped from the original Supersewer plans.

The Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) already has given preliminary approval for the money and stands ready to send it if Plymouth Township secures the needed sign offs.

Township Supervisor Maurice Breen said last week he has received two of the three sign offs — from Wayne and Oakland counties — and only needs Detroit to sign.

Despite Detroit's delay, Breen has heard rumors the DNR may send the money without the third signature.

THOSE RUMORS may be true, since the DNR last week started soliciting local support for a related project.

The "Son of Supersewer" project calls for building a $110 million sewer interceptor parallel to the existing Rouge Valley interceptors, which run to the Detroit sewage treatment plant.

Reportedly the Rouge Valley interceptors suffer a serious pollution problem caused by leaks and overcapacity, and aggravated during rainfalls. The DNR reportedly has started encouraging Rouge Valley interceptor communities to consider correcting the pollution problems at the same time the new interceptors are built.

Theoretically the cost for both projects could be decreased if both are done at the same time.

The DNR and Wayne County Department of Public Works sent letters to the Rouge Valley communities last week informing them of the situation.

"By acting immediately, it is possible to construct the $30 million project required to relieve the overloaded Rouge Valley interceptors at a cost to local communities as low as $5 million," the Wayne County letter said.

THE CATCH to the whole issue is that everything — plans, resolutions, and financing — must be in place by next October to secure 75 percent federal funding for the projects.

However, if the work is in place by then, it is very likely the federal funds would be awarded since the DNR announced last week it would place the combined project at a top priority.

The "Son of Supersewer" project supposedly is ranked as the state's number five priority, with the downsized Supersewer project being number one.

Breen said he is now waiting for the city of Detroit or the DNR to make the next move.

RULES OF THE ROAD FOR PATIENTS WITH ARTHRITIS
 Today's column will deal with ways that those of you with arthritis or back pain can make your driving more tolerable.
 First, use a seat belt. Without them an accident to your car could well result in a serious joint or whiplash injury. You can ill afford such further injury to your skeletal system.
 Make use of mechanical aids available to help open car doors and to aid you in getting into or out of a car. If you need information on such devices feel free to call my office staff.
 For comfortable sitting, bench seats are preferable to bucket seats. Bench seats are more firm and allow you to sit higher from the floor of the car.
 When undertaking a trip of 300-600 miles or more, pace yourself not to travel more than 8 hours per day and plan to stop every hour. Stretching for even a few moments will forestall a later surge of prolonged back and joint stiffness later.
 If you are a frequent long distance driver, consider a C.B. radio. It can keep you abreast of local conditions and, in case of emergencies, will allow you to summon help quickly.

Say Yes!

The best is in your own backyard

By Catherine Trainor
staff writer

Consider the potato. There are those who would say a potato is a potato. Others buy different potatoes for different purposes. For instance, there are those who think the only baking potato is an Idaho — they buy nothing else for that purpose.

But Michigan potato growers and frugal cooks know that the Michigan potato is just as good for baking as that import. Besides the Michigan potato is much more interesting. Idahos all look alike. Michigan potatoes come in all sizes and shapes.

You can buy a 20-pound bag and you've got potatoes for every occasion on hand. The small ones which are hard to peel without skinning your fingers in the process are great for boiling. Eaten with skins on, mashed with your fork and slathered with butter and sour cream, they are just as good as baked and a lot faster.

THE MEDIUM to large potatoes, easily peeled (odd shapes and dents add interest to the peeling process), are fine mashed, au gratin or scalloped. You can save the big ones for baking. Or, if you've run out of big ones just bake twice as many smaller ones.

PUMPKIN PIE

One 9-inch unbaked pie shell

Filling:

- 2 cups (1 pound can) pumpkin
- ¾ cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 2 tsp cinnamon
- ¾ tsp salt
- ¾ tsp ginger
- ½ tsp nutmeg
- ¼ tsp mace
- ¼ tsp cloves
- 4 eggs, slightly beaten
- 1¼ cups light cream or half and half
- Whipped cream, if desired

Preheat oven to 400°. Combine pumpkin and brown sugar in a large mixing bowl. Beat until well blended. Stir in spices, blend thoroughly. Add eggs; gradually stir in cream. Pour into pie shell and bake 45 to 50 minutes, or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Cool on wire rack to room temperature. Serve garnished with whipped cream.

HOT BUTTERED CIDER

- 2 quarts sweet apple cider
- 3 sticks cinnamon
- 1 tsp whole cloves
- 1 tsp whole allspice
- 1 tsp chopped candied ginger
- Butter balls
- Sticks of cinnamon

Bring cider, 3 sticks cinnamon, cloves, allspice and ginger to a boil in sauce pan, simmer uncovered 10 minutes. Strain before serving. Garnish each serving with a butter ball and a stick of cinnamon.

Yield: 8 cups.

What this paean to the potato is leading up to is that you don't have to go out of state to find wholesome, quality products. A lot of people already know that and would happily buy Michigan produce if it were labeled as such. Michigan potatoes usually come in bags which say Michigan potatoes. Sometimes eggs are clearly labeled as being from Michigan and occasionally produce in season will be tagged as from Michigan.

But what about meat, dairy products and canned fruits and vegetables?

In response to a Michigan Department of Agriculture study which found that 51 percent of consumers in the state had difficulty identifying Michigan products and more than 75 percent of those would buy home-grown given a chance, a campaign has been launched to promote agriculture — Michigan's second largest industry.

Heading up the nationwide campaign is Michigan's first lady Paula Blanchard. She will promote a "Say Yes to the Best from Michigan Farms" campaign which includes a logo designed to help Michigan consumers identify home-grown produce.

CALLING THE effort "truly a 'win-win' situation," Mrs. Blanchard said the symbol is only the "focal point" of a program which will allow shoppers to support this local industry.

SPICED PLUM BREAD

- 1 egg
- ½ cup honey
- ¾ cup sugar
- 1 tsp baking soda
- 1 lb. can Michigan kpurple plums, drained, pitted, cut into pieces*
- 2 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 cup walnuts, chopped
- ¼ tsp cloves, ground
- ¼ tsp cinnamon, ground

In a mixing bowl, cream egg with sugar, honey and vanilla. Add flour, soda and spices. Mxi until blended. Stir in plum pieces and nuts. DO NOT overmix. Grease and flour one 9-inch-by-5-inch loaf pan. Pour batter into prepared pan. Bake in preheated 350° oven 50-60 minutes or until done. If top becomes too brown, cover loosely with foil to prevent overbrowning. Remove from loaf pan and allow to cool on baking rack.

*Note: Plums can be cut easily with kitchen shears.

"There can be no losers when consumers, producers, workers and the economy of the entire state all benefit from simply saying 'yes' to Michigan's wide array of agricultural products," she said.

The "Say Yes to the Best from Michigan Farms" program was developed by the Michigan Department of Commerce, Michigan Department of Agriculture and 10 commodity groups.

According to the Department of Agriculture, Michigan leads the nation in the production of six crops: blueberries, cucumbers for pickling, Eastern Soft White Winter Wheat, navy beans, Plantation Christmas Trees and red tart cherries. The state ranks fifth or higher in the production of 26 other crops or products.

As a result, Michigan is second only to California for the production of the most and widest variety of agricultural products, the total value of which contributes more than $15.5 billion to the state's economy.

Food retailers are urged to promote the logo in their stores and may obtain information about it and how to use it by calling the state's products hot line at 1-800-MI-PRODS.

So here's a sampling of recipes in which you can use only Michigan products. If you're interested in using Michigan products and your food store isn't using the logo yet, urge the manager to do so.

BLUE CHEESE APPLE PIE

Blue cheese pastry:

- 1 cup all-purpose flour
- ¼ tsp salt
- ¼ cup (½ stick) butter
- ½ cup crumbled Blue cheese
- 3 to 4 tbsp water

Filling:

- 6 cups peeled sliced Golden Delicious apples
- ½ cup EACH: raisins, sugar
- ½ cup water
- 2 tsp EACH: cornstarch, water

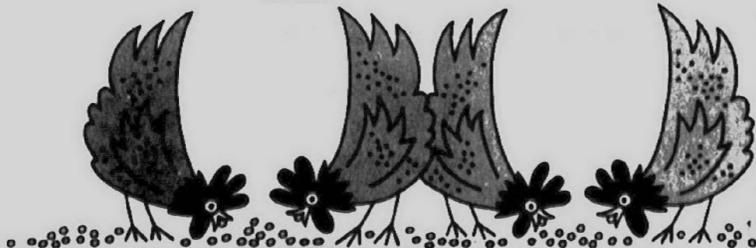

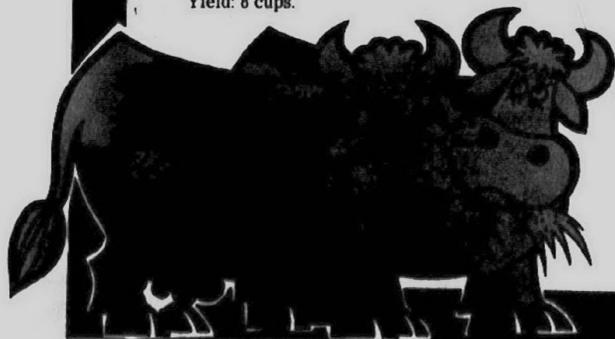

Topping:

- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- 2 tsp EACH: fresh lemon juice, sugar
- ¼ tsp cinnamon

For pastry, combine flour and salt. Cut in butter and Blue cheese until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Blend in water, one tablespoon at a time, until dough just holds together. Wrap in waxed paper and chill 1 hour for ease in handling. Preheat oven to 425°. Roll dough on lightly floured surface to form a 13-inch circle. Fit pastry into a 9-inch pie plate; fold edges to form a standing rim, flute. Prick inside of crust with a fork. Bake 12 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool on wire rack.

Meanwhile, for filling, combine apples, raisins, sugar and ½ cup water in a 3-quart saucepan. Bring to boil; reduce heat and simmer until apples are tender. Combine cornstarch and 2 tablespoons water until smooth. Stir into hot mixture. Boil and stir 2 minutes. Spoon filling into baked pie shell.

For topping, gently combine all ingredients. Spoon over top of pie. Return to oven and bake 4 to 5 minutes, or until topping is just set. Serve warm or cold.

In German, it's sauerbraten

Sweet-sour pork is a real fall treat

To salute the arrival of fall, gather family and friends to enjoy the fabulous foods of a Porkfest celebration. This table festival pays tribute to the season's harvest with a bountiful spread of foods produced from the land.

Sweet-sour, that unique blend of contrasting flavors that tantalizes the palate so delightfully, is found in a variety of cuisines around the world. Surely among the masters of combining the sweet with the sour in just the right proportion are the Germans. Their most famous tribute to sweet and sour is sauerbraten or sour roast.

While sauerbraten is traditionally made with a beef roast, its spicy wine and vinegar marinade also works flavor magic on pork. By giving sauerbraten treatment to a boneless pork shoulder roast, you'll find you are giving a meal an intriguing flavor boost and also helping to ease a strained food budget.

The boneless shoulder blade Boston roast called for in this recipe is one of the most economically priced pork roasts available. The blade bone has been removed to facilitate carving, and it is tied with string or placed inside a netting.

PORK SAUERBRATEN

4 to 6-pound boneless pork shoulder blade Boston roast
 ¼ cup red wine
 ¼ cup cider vinegar
 ¼ cup water
 1 large onion, sliced
 2 tbsp brown sugar
 1 ½ tsp salt
 6 peppercorns, crushed
 6 whole cloves
 ¼ tsp ground allspice
 1 bay leaf
 2 tbsp cooking fat
 ¼ cup crushed gingersnaps

Combine wine, vinegar, water, onion, brown sugar, salt, peppercorns, cloves, allspice and bay leaf in saucepan. Bring to boil and cook 10 minutes. Cool. Place meat in bowl or plastic bag, add marinade, turning pork to coat, and cover or tie securely. Marinate in refrigerator 18 to 24 hours, turning several times. Remove pork from marinade to absorb paper and pat dry; brown in cooking fat in Dutch oven or large frying-pan. Pour off drippings. Add reserved marinade to meat, cover tightly and cook slowly 2 ½ to 3 ½ hours or until pork is well done. Remove pork to warm platter. Reserve 2 cups cooking liquid, return to pan; bring to a boil. Gradually add gingersnaps and cook, stirring to thicken. Serve gravy with pork.

Germans particularly enjoy sauerbraten with dumplings for they are so tasty with the spicy gravy. Buttered Brussels sprouts or steamed cabbage wedges will go nicely with the menu as will applesauce spiced with cinnamon. For a dessert that's as special as the meal, serve cherry cobbler.

A boneless pork roast is robustly flavored with a sweet-sour marinade that's thickened with gingersnaps for a delicious gravy.

Stuff pita bread at home with this delicious salad

"Eat a pita."
 "A what?" asks the balding man with white hair.
 "Eat a pita."
 "Pardon!" says the attractive woman with long hair.

The television commercial by one of the top fast-burger chains paints Joe and Jane Public as Mr. and Ms. Stupid when it comes to pita bread.

In a follow-up commercial, where the singing is slightly off key, they come around to the company's way of thinking — and selling — but I suspect many people have been one step ahead all the time.

I've been stuffing pita with an assortment of salads and cold cuts for years.

A classic ancient Middle Eastern yeast bread, pita is flat and round. As the bread bakes, a natural pocket forms in the center.

Credit the Greek gyro — the sandwich filled with a mixture of lamb and beef, covered with a sour cream-yogurt sauce, some cucumber and a little feta cheese — with sparking pita's growing popularity.

My favorite stuffed pita contains Mediterranean salad with dressing. "Eat a pita" at home and pocket the savings.

2 cups shredded iceberg lettuce
 1 small red onion, thinly sliced and separated in rings
 ½ cup canned pitted ripe olives, sliced
 ¼ cucumber, pared and thinly sliced
 6 radishes, sliced

In large container with lid, combine artichoke hearts, tuna, lettuce, onion, olives, cucumber and radishes. Cover and refrigerate until ready to use.

THE DRESSING

Marinade from jarred artichoke hearts
 2 tbsp. lemon juice
 ¼ tsp. dried basil leaves
 ¼ tsp. dried oregano leaves

Combine all ingredients in small container, cover and let stand at room temperature. Shake before using.

SALAD IN A POCKET

Salt and black pepper
 4 pitas

Pour dressing over salad and mix well. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Cut breads in half and evenly spoon salad into pockets. Yields 8 servings.

THE SALAD

1 jar (6 oz.) marinated artichoke hearts
 1 can (6 ½ oz.) tuna, drained and broken in pieces

Twenty-one years later, Sean Connery (with toupee) plays James Bond again in "Never Say Never Again."

the movies
Louise Snider

Sean Connery's back, portraying very best Bond

According to Norman Mailer, "Tough guys don't dance." He hasn't seen James Bond. Bond dances a stylish tango as easily as he disarms a hulking thug in "Never Say Never Again" (PG).

Yes, British Secret Service Agent 007 can whirl across a dance floor and still do all the tough-guy things. He disposes of arch-villains, seduces beautiful women, fights off man-eating sharks, rescues damsels in distress and, as a matter of course, saves the world from tyranny.

What's more, he does it with class. And there is no classier James Bond than Sean Connery, who originated the role 21 years ago in "Dr. No." He returns in fine fettle. Toupee or not, Connery still exudes an irresistible combination of urbane manners, muscular physique, quick wit and sexy nonchalance.

The script for Connery's return as Bond was written by Lorenzo Semple and directed by Irvin Kershner. Although the plot is a simple variant of "Thunderball," its wry humor and self-mockery especially suit Connery.

IN THE BEGINNING, for example, Bond/Connery is reminded that he's aging, that he's been out of action for some time, that he's slowing down. Bond is sent to a health spa to be restored through a regimen of exercise, nutrition and herbal enemas.

The movie dwells here only long enough to demonstrate that Bond hasn't become a wimp. He still beds down the nurses, and punches out bullies even when they have an iron jaw and a concrete belly.

The scene then shifts to handsome locales in the Bahamas and the Riviera as M (Edward Fox), Bond's superior, reactivates Bond's 00 status and sends him into the field.

His mission is to discover the whereabouts of two nuclear-armed cruise missiles which SPECTRE (Special Executive for Counterintelligence, Terrorism, Revenge and Extortion) has stolen from NATO. It's a mission not lacking in sex, danger, action, adventure and gimmickry.

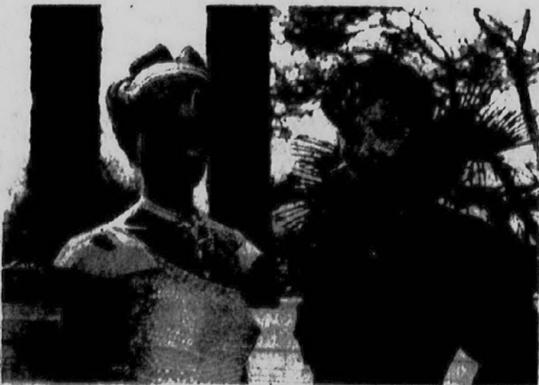

The casting is very strong, very effective. Max Von Sydow is Ernst Stavro Blofeld, the head of SPECTRE. Klaus Maria Brandauer (the Austrian actor seen in "Mephisto") is Blofeld's demented and deadly deputy, Largo.

KIM BASINGER is Largo's flashdancing mistress, Domino, and Barbara Carrera is Largo's evil cohort, Fatima Blush.

Carrera emerges as a real show-stopper and scene-stealer. Outrageously costumed in furs and leathers, boots and bikinis, Fatima is by far the most flamboyant character in the film.

Her wild delight in evil radiates from every move she makes. It's vividly captured in one scene just by the way she rushes down a flight of stairs, her hair and clothes flying behind her.

However, even Fatima can't ruffle Bond's debonair manner or supreme self-confidence. Nor can attempts on his life, high-speed chases or hairbreadth escapes. They are all part of the game which Connery, as Bond, plays so well. And as the song in a previous Bond movie concluded, "Nobody does it better."

Kim Basinger (left) is Domino and Barbara Carrera is Fatima Blush, women in the Bond mode.

Top chef at 22

Keith Famie knows his fois gras and mousse

By Tom Henderson
staff writer

Keith Famie, the head chef at Raphael's, the highly regarded French restaurant in the Sheraton Oaks Hotel in Novi, had them oohing and aahing at Schoolcraft College recently.

The standing-room-only crowd of about 100 culinary arts students oohed when he told them his age, 23, which made him younger than some of them. And it aahed when he showed slides of his delectable creations during a fast-paced two-hour guest lecture on French cuisine.

Who wouldn't ooh and aah? In slide after slide were such delicacies as rabbit and pheasant pate, periwinkle and poached salmon, poached pears in red wine, black truffles, duck liver mousse, scallop mousse, lobster mousse and fois gras.

The fois gras (pronounced fwa-gra), made from the swollen liver of forced-fed fowl, is imported, at merely $45 a pound wholesale. The truffles, mushrooms rooted out of the ground by pigs or trained dogs is a steal at $120 a pound wholesale, thanks to Famie's connections in France. The periwinkle might look like escargot to the uninitiated, but the former is a sea snail and the latter a land snail, a crucial distinction.

Why is Famie explaining all these things? How, at the tender age of 23, without a minute of college education or cooking school experience, has Famie come to lecture a wide-eyed, awed gathering of culinary students? How did a kid out of Farmington High School, whose idea of a good kitchen job not so long ago was washing dishes in a Chinese restaurant, get to the point where he is saying cockily: "I want to have the first five-star restaurant ever in the state of Michigan and I want to be the youngest five-star chef ever?" "A little b.s. and a little luck," he explains.

ACTUALLY, FAMIE'S meteoric rise in the world of cuisine was a matter of a lot of guts and a lot of talent.

He started in the business at 15 as a dishwasher at the Great Wall in Farmington. From there he moved on to a dishwashing job at a Holiday Inn and an egg-slinging tour at a Burger House.

The first break came when he was 16 and wrote a letter to Duglass Grezch, the flamboyant chef known as Duglass Duglass, one-time TV star and then chef at the Great Dane. Duglass took the eager kid under his wing and began his tutelage.

"At 19," says Famie, "I flew into Brussels (Belgium). I didn't know anyone, nor did I know the language. But I wanted to learn European cooking."

A sympathetic American got him work in her husband's kitchen at the Hyatt Regency in Brussels, where "I was at the extreme bottom" chopping vegetables and washing lettuce."

When it was discovered he was working in Brussels illegally, the chef at the Regency found him a job at the Hotel Loews in Monte Carlo, where he cut more vegetables, washed more lettuce, and kept his eyes and ears open.

From there came the trip up the ladder, through a variety of elegant restaurants in Europe and New York City, from vegetables, to sauces, to main courses, to, a little more than a year ago, the head job at Raphael's.

FAMIE'S LECTURE is witty and interesting, the perfect mix of instruction and anecdote. His love of cooking and his energy are obvious. The students, in white jackets and with their paper chef hats on the tables in front of them, sit enchanted.

(Five former Schoolcraft culinary students work for Famie at Raphael's — Glen Garipey, Nancy Branham, Chuck McDaniel, Tom O'Callaghan and Mark Kitchen.)

Famie describes for his audience his days of abuse at the hands of the masters, where a slightly inadequate pastry might be hurled to the floor, where he was expected to be in the restaurant at 7 a.m. and wouldn't get out till midnight, where credit was rare and criticism frequent. It is obvious Famie wouldn't have missed it for the world, though he advises these kids to get their schooling in school.

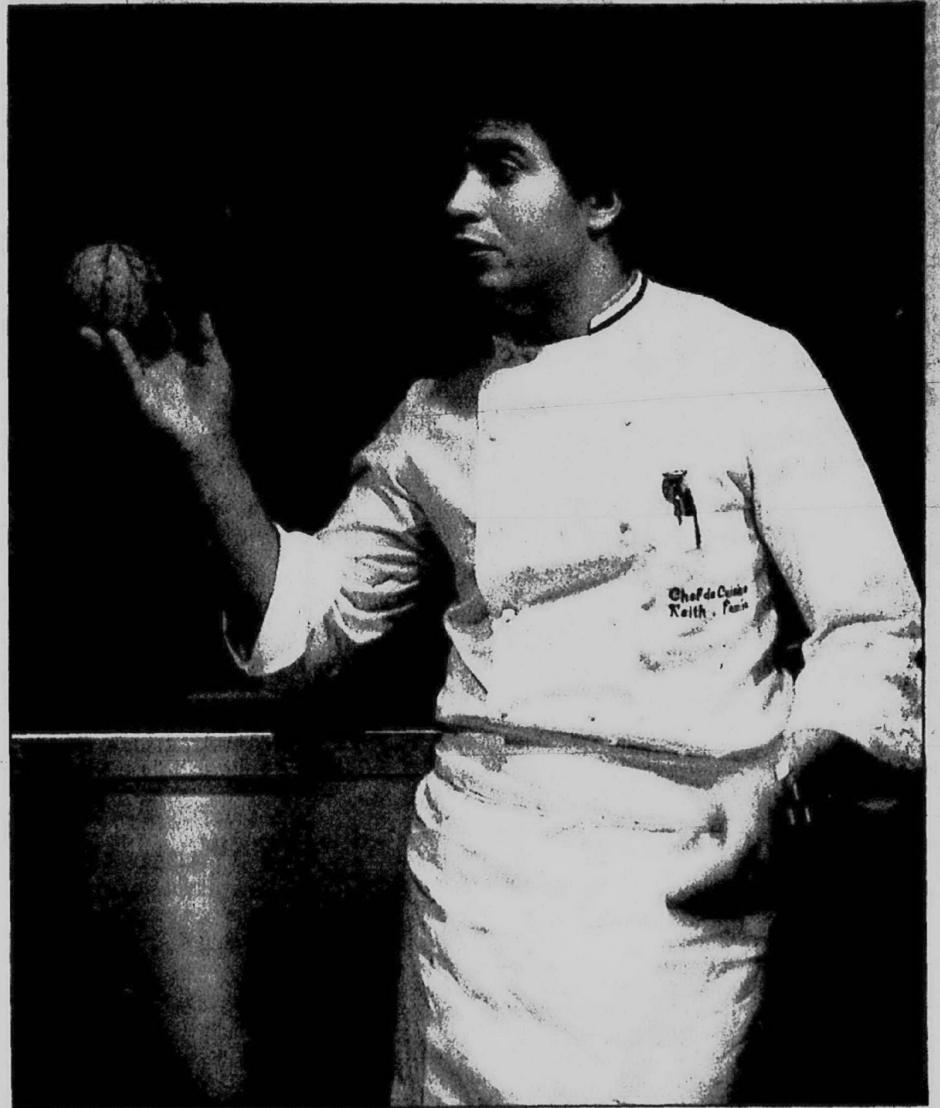

Though already a successful chef, Famie is still learning. "I just returned from Switzerland and a 12-day tour of Europe," he said. "I ate at five of the 16 three-star restaurants in Europe." (In Europe, the rating system goes as high as three stars, the equivalent of five in the U.S.) "The chefs at those restaurants are so very, very well known. And yet the red-carpet was rolled out for me. They were impressed to see someone young and eager, who doesn't know the language, knocking on their door and asking about their cooking."

The best meal there cost him $156, and that was for dinner. The cheapest? A couple of bucks at a McDonald's.

McDonald's? For a fan of haute cuisine?

"Usually, after work, I'll go out to a Denny's or a Burger King," laughs Famie. "Or I'll go home and make a peanut butter and jelly sandwich."

A rose by any other name is still a rose, and, after all, an American kid, even after he's been to Paris, is still an American.

On the fingers of chef Keith Famie sits a cavillon melon which he imports from France.

LIVONIA - UTICA

Ex-teacher desires to be top world class bowler

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

IN FAR OFF Caracas, Venezuela, Mary Mohacsi, a former Livonia teacher and all-star bowler, is approaching the high point in her brilliant bowling career.

The seven-time Detroit Bowling queen and mother of three children is a member of the United States team that will compete in the world championships later in the month.

It will be her second appearance in the world class event, but this time she will be a different bowler than she was four years ago when she won a gold medal in the team event, a silver medal in the all-events and a bronze medal in doubles.

THIS TIME, SHE'S set her sights on a gold medal in the singles division.

"From the day my mother took me with her to the Parkside Bowling establishment on Detroit's east side," she said, during her final practice at Merri-Bowl Lanes last week, "I had an ambition to bowl in a world tournament.

"I was only 10 years old at the time, but, somehow or other, the thought of bowling in a world event got to me and it became my life's ambition.

"Mind you, I didn't yearn to be a champion. I just wanted to bowl in a world affair. So this time it will be much different, I am setting my sights on the gold medal in singles. That would mean that I had reached the crowning point of my career — being a world champion.

"And I am 'up' for it," she said. After watching her mother bowl in those bygone years, Mohacsi took to the game and as a school child bowled with her mother in the women's leagues when the league moved to the Deaby Recreation on Detroit's east side.

Following high school, she studied at Wayne State and naturally joined the bowling team. There she showed great promise and when she graduated she immediately joined three leagues.

THE NEXT step was the all-stars and she bowled first with Eddie Coy's Sports Queen team, and later with the strong Pepsi Cola quintet.

Now, as one of the veterans of the all-star leagues, she is bowling with the Luxury Lanes team and says it is averaging 955 and is the best team she has ever been on.

Neither her mother nor her father will be here to follow her progress in the world tournament. They died during the past year.

Her husband Ted and son Mark will be with her on the trip to South America, while daughters Sandy and Cindi remain home.

As she reached what she now calls the high point of her career, she credits the late Clarence Hoffman, who pioneered bowling in the area with the building of Livonia Lanes in 1941, with her success.

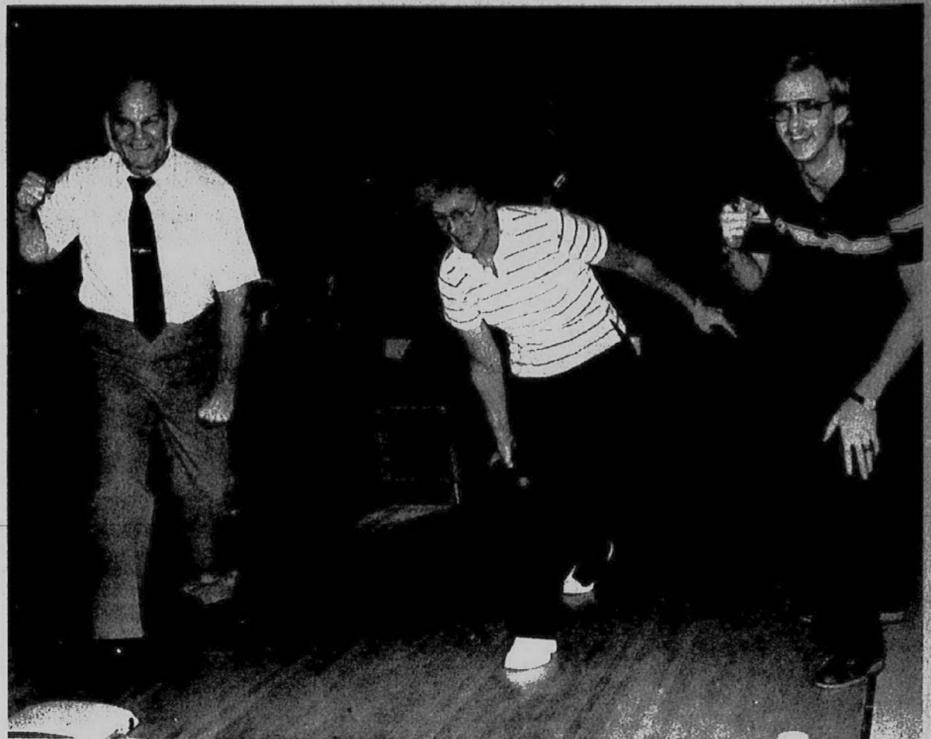

"When I married 25 years ago and moved to to Livonia, I joined the teaching program in the schools. I naturally bowled at the only establishment in the area.

"It was there that I met Mr. Hoffman, who was teaching his two children, daughter Lois and son, Paul. So I joined them and immediately my game improved.

THROUGH THE years following Hoffman's teaching, she has won the role of Detroit's Bowling queen seven times to equal the record set by Elvira Toepfer, and has been inducted into the Detroit Bowling Hall of Fame.

If she is successful in her bid for the singles championship, she will have reached a higher point in the bowling world than any other Detroit area bowler.

"I'll be in there pitching," she vowed as her practice ended. "And all I can do is hope that the pins fall in sufficient numbers to earn me that gold medal."

Desiring to be a world champion women's singles bowler, Mary Mohacsi (center) is cheered on by her husband Ted (left) and son Mark (right).

Going over the scores are the Mohacsis, (from left) Ted, Mary and Mark. Mary will compete to be the world's best woman bowler this month.

Rocks on a roll

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

Like a mountain avalanche, the Rocks are on a roll.

Plymouth Salem transformed four Livonia Bentley turnovers into touchdowns and went on to rout the Bulldogs, 35-7, before a late-arriving, and somewhat sparse home crowd.

The pattern of the game was set in Bentley's first possession. The Bulldogs sent two handoffs into the line both good for 8-yard gains. On the third play, quarterback Steve Gregor threw the ball right into the hands of Salem's Jeff Arnold who returned it 35 yards for Rock's first score.

"We just destroyed ourselves offensively," said Bentley coach Steve Naumcheff. "We were our own worst enemies out there. But, give (Salem coach Tom) Moshimer's kids credit, they played one heck of a football game."

MOSHIMER'S TEAM was a unit of walking wounded. Ken Harmon (knee), David Bunch (ankle), and Steve Huber (leg), were all on the sidelines, on crutches, prior to the game. They were soon joined by Randy Blaylock, who injured his ankle in the first half.

"We just have no depth at all," Moshimer said. But, his team overcame those injuries and played inspired football.

The Rocks rolled up 290 yards in total offense, 271 on the ground. The Rocks were led by quarterback Mark Tindall who rushed for 94 yards and completed two passes for 19 yards. Fullback Scott Jurek pounded out 88 yards in 19 carries.

Bentley was limited to 178 yards total offense, 136 yards came via the run. The Bulldogs made six turnovers. "We got a lot of breaks," said Moshimer. "But, I'll tell you something, a lot of those breaks were the result of our good defense, and we jumped on every one of them and put the ball in the end zone."

AFTER ARNOLD'S interception, the teams traded possessions. On the final play of the first quarter, Chris Raymond punted the ball to the Bulldogs. The punt bounced on the ground and hit off a Bentley player. Chris Hynes, recently back into the Salem lineup after an injury, alertly pounced on the ball at the Bentley 13-yard line.

Five plays later, all handoffs to Jurek, the big power back scored from the 1. After Mark Dixon kicked his second point after of the night, Salem led 14-0.

After Bentley's next drive was stopped, the Rocks went 82 yards in six plays and scored on Jurek's 7-yard run. Tindall was the key to drive as he hit end Craig Morton on a 17-yard pass, then ran the left side for 32 yards and the right side for 10 in three successive plays.

The half ended with Salem up 20-0.

Bentley changed quarterbacks in the second half.

"I just wanted to shake up the chemistry a little bit," Naumcheff said of the switch. He added that the switch was not a permanent one.

Junior Pat Schneider got the call and immediately began to move the team. He completed his first two passes, and Bentley suddenly found itself on the Salem 25-yard line.

Then the same bad luck that befell the Bulldogs in the first half, struck again. Bentley back Erik Tower fumbled the ball and Salem's Mike Killingbeck recovered.

SALEM BEGAN another march downfield. On a fourth-and-2 play, with Salem in punt formation, Jurek scooped up a bad snap and rambled around left end for 18 yards and a first down. It was that kind of night for the Rocks.

Ten plays later, Tindall hit Mike Galliers for a 2-yard score and Jurek ran in the two-point conversion — Salem led 28-0.

Bentley came right back to score its only TD of the game — a brilliant 32-yard run by Gary Sutherland. Sutherland must like playing on the Plymouth-Canton field. In Bentley's first game of the year, at Canton, he gained more than 100 yards.

Chad Darke added the point after for Bentley.

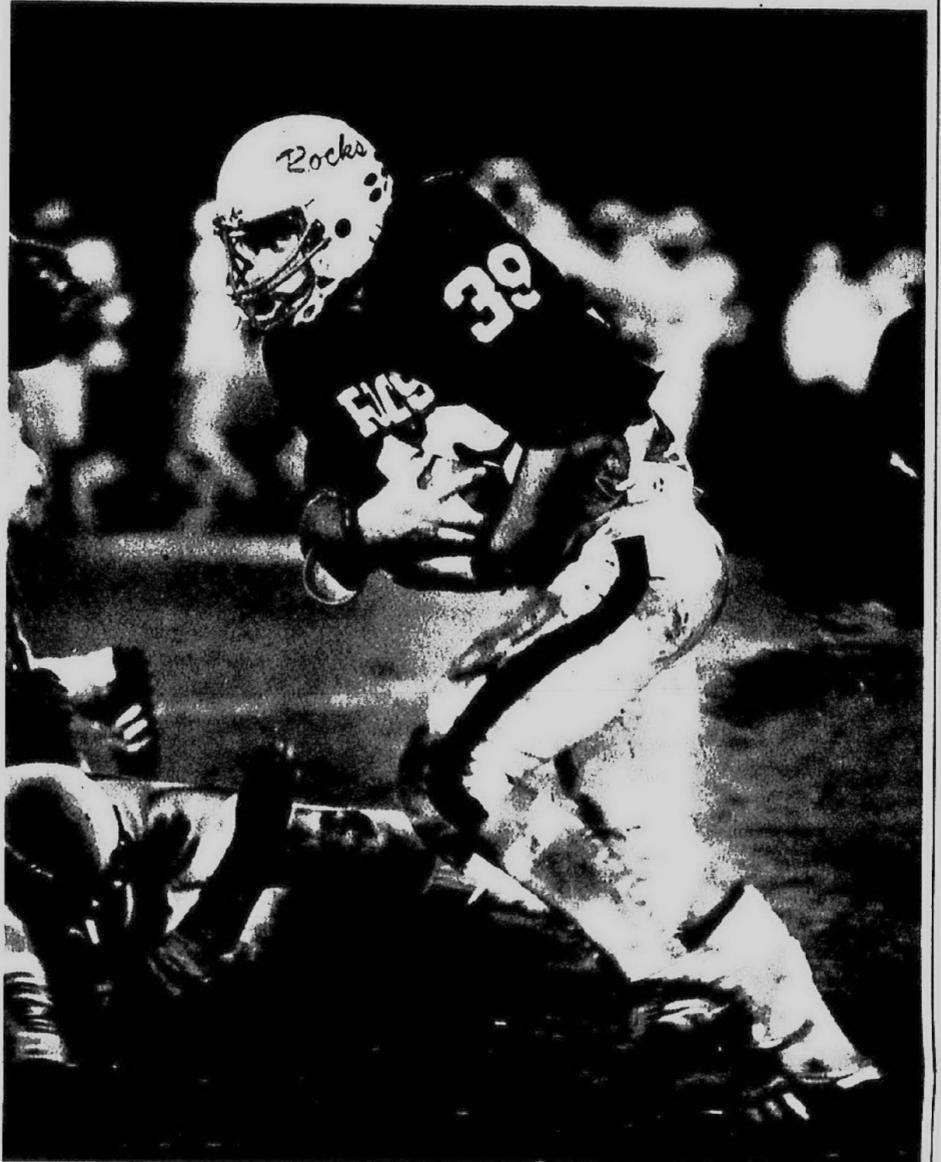

ON BENTLEY'S next possession, Schneider was intercepted by Morton at the Bulldog 30. Morton raced into the end zone with Salem's final TD. After Dixon's kick, it was 35-7.

Schneider threw two more interceptions before it was over — one was picked off by Steve Sobditch and the other by John Nichols.

After the game, Moshimer huddled his team together at the 50-yard line. His team was chanting, "We want Central," referring to next week's showdown for the Lakes Division title.

"Hey," Moshimer yelled to his team. "Central is damn tough."

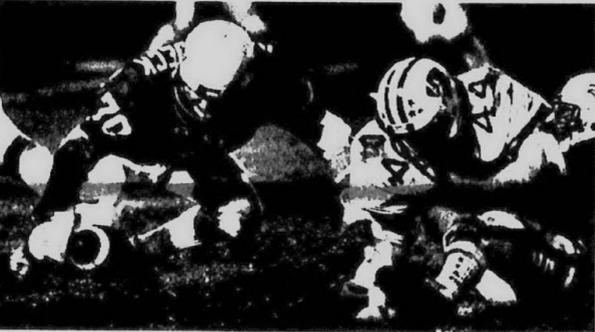

The Rocks grew silent and Moshimer scanned their faces. Then he said: "But, we're tougher."

Rocks, Shamrocks fall out of state tournament

By Paul King
special writer

It was a rough week of soccer for Redford Catholic Central.

It started Thursday at Bell Creek Park as CC and Warren DeLaSalle battled to a 2-2 tie for the second time this season in a Central Division game played at Bell Creek Park.

The tie, however, kept the Shamrocks out of the Catholic League playoffs.

DeLaSalle and Harper Woods Notre Dame qualified with 8-0-2 and 7-2-1 records, respectively. CC, meanwhile, finished at 6-1-3. The Shamrocks and ND each finished with 15 points, but CC failed to reach the playoffs because of one less victory.

Joe Huck tallied both DeLaSalle goals, coming at 31 and 33 minutes of the first half.

Steve DeMattos scored CC's first goal. Andy Rama got the second, his 27th of the season on a 45-yard free kick, tying Joe Moreau's school record.

On Friday, CC was blasted by defending Class B champ Hamtramck, 7-1, behind Kanto Lulaj's five goals, giving him 45 for the season and 201 for his career.

CC, now 9-3-3 overall, scored 16:51 into the second half — Craig Thiel from Jim Kowalski.

NOTRE DAME 2, SALEM 1: The Rocks were ousted from state tourney play in double sudden death overtime, Friday at home.

George Blaz was the hero, scoring at the 99-minute mark.

Harper Woods Notre Dame, now 12-2-1, trailed 1-0 until three minutes to go in regulation play.

Salem standout Bob Bowling scored the first goal, 20 minutes into the second half on a 25-yard free kick.

The Rocks, 9-4-1 overall, outshot Notre Dame 16-8 and missed three penalty shots as goalie Gino Soave kept them off the board.

STEVENSON 4, SALEM 0: The Spartans defending Class A champs, put a lock on the Lakes Division crown Thursday at Plymouth Salem as four different players scored.

Stevenson, now 12-2-1 overall, won it without its two top scorers — John Gelmis and Eric Pence — both out with injuries.

But Chris Wiegel, Dave Barnas, Jim Carney and Chris Gembis each scored once for the winners. Gembis and Jim Kimble also had two assists each.

Goalie Terry Harshfield, who was required to make only four saves, notched his seventh shutout of the season.

CHURCHILL 9, HARRISON 0: The Chargers, last year's 'A' runner-ups, got three goals each Thursday from Phil Lussier and Ken Vadella to raise their overall season record to 8-3-3.

John Neff added two goals for the winners, while goalies Sam Matovski and Mike Helner combined for the shutout.

Harrison, meanwhile, dropped to 2-7-2.

NORTHVILLE 7, FRANKLIN 0: Dave Yarmuth and Joe Arwady scored two goals each Wednesday to lift Northville.

The Mustangs, who beat Franklin earlier in the week, 3-0, are now 10-3-3 overall.

Franklin dropped to 3-9-0 overall.

GARDEN CITY 5, BISHOP GALLAGHER 2: The Cougars raised their overall record to 12-1 with the pre-regional win Friday at Grosse Pointe North.

Paul Pummill scored three times to raise his season total to 37.

Bill Trombley and Bill Hyde added one goal and one assist each. GC outshot the Lancers 18-12.

BENTLEY 8, EDSSEL FORD 0: Dennis Patchett scored in each half Friday night to lead the Bulldogs (8-2-4) to an easy home field win.

Other Bentley goal scorers included Bill Rowan, Jeff McLeod, Tony Pulice, Abe Yaffai, Brad Mahalak and Rich Gregor.

Torin Gniewek added three assists and goalie Jeff Wilkinson, who played 60 minutes, preserved the shutout.

Bentley outshot the Thunderbirds, 33-2.

FARMINGTON 8, CLARKSTON 0: The Falcons (6-6-2) advanced with the Class A pre-regional win Wednesday behind senior Mario Said's two goals and one assist.

Greg Molcon scored twice for winless Clarkston to make it 2-2 in the first half, but the Falcons came roaring back as Chris Hackman, John Gregory, Ken Robstock, Doug Prince, Jim Misaros and Dave Fravenheim rounded out the scoring.

The Falcons, who outshot the hosts 30-11, also got outstanding play from Chris Nichols.

BETHESDA 4, PLY. CHRISTIAN 0: The Eagles fell to 2-8 Friday as John Domb's two goals proved to be the difference.

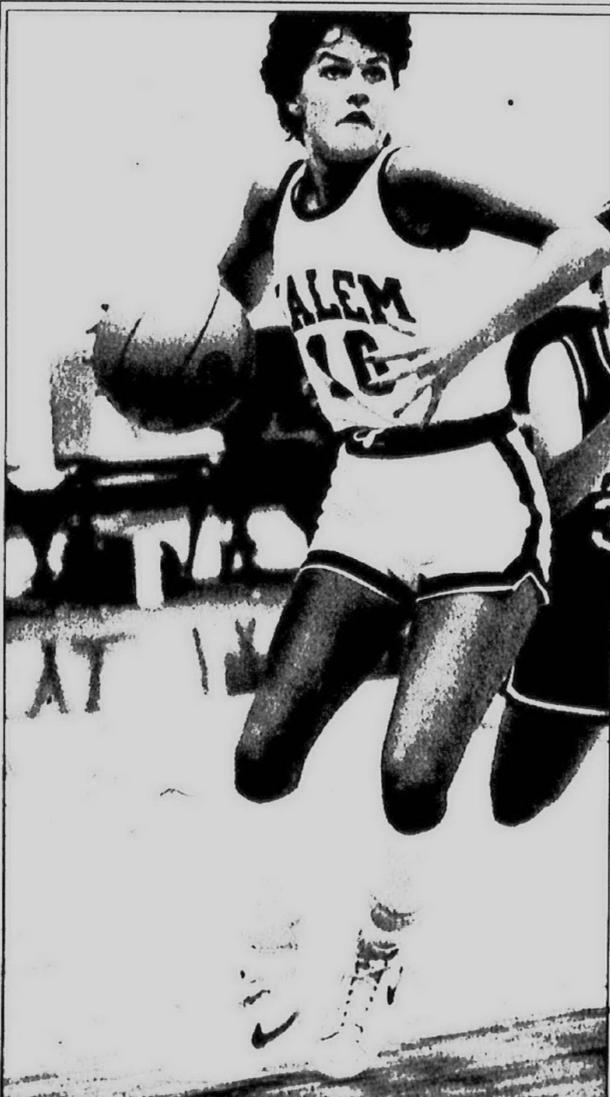

Greg Smith, a defensive player, was outstanding in defeat.

On Thursday, Christian took an 8-0 drubbing from host Ann Arbor Green Hills as John Ramirez scored three times.

Freshman goalie Todd Gentry, who made 10 saves, and senior left-halfback Lloyd Work stood out in defeat.

DeLaSALLE 3, BISHOP BORGESS 0: The Pilots clinched first place in the Central Division Wednesday behind Jamie Lorain's two goals and goalie Tom Jones' eighth shutout.

Borgess, meanwhile, dropped to 0-9-2.

Pam McBride has been carrying the hot hand for the Salem girls basketball team. Her 25 points subdued an unrelenting Stevenson attack Thursday night.

McBride nets 25 in Salem hoop win

Pam McBride came to the rescue Thursday, scoring 25 points to lift Plymouth Salem to a hard-fought 36-33 girls' basketball triumph over visiting Livonia Stevenson.

The senior forward made one free throw with two seconds remaining to provide the final margin of victory after hitting five key free throws down the stretch.

Salem led by as many as 10 points in the final quarter, but Stevenson rallied within two, but failed to convert the equalizer.

"The first quarter was very even," said Salem coach Fred Thomann, whose team trailed 9-8. "In the second quarter we got out on them (11-5) because we played good defensively and had good shot selection."

Only three other Salem players scored — Dawn Johnson, six; Fran Whittaker, four; and Michelle Dawson, one.

Lisa Bokovoy, a 5-foot-10 junior point guard, led Stevenson with 11 points.

"It's a great game for us because they're so much bigger at every position," Thomann said. "I'm just delighted with the way we played."

Salem is 9-3 overall, while Stevenson slipped to 7-4.

CLARENCEVILLE 39, KINGSWOOD 26: The Trojans gained their second victory of the year Thursday behind sophomore center Kelly Watson's 14 points and junior Darlene Glaser's 12 points.

Brenda Montgomery scored 10 to lead Kingswood (2-5).

Clarenceville's JV squad won for the first time in two years, 37-25.

Salem's B.J. Bing shows her stuff in the 100-yard butterfly. Against Wayne, Bing swam a 1:09.0 to take first place.

Salem swimmers raise record with 2 wins

Two victories by the Plymouth Salem swim team last week pulled their season record up to the .500 mark, 4-4.

On Tuesday, the Rocks dunked Wayne Memorial, 101-71, as Kristal Taylor and Laura Shaffer were double-event winners.

Taylor won the 200-yard individual medley (2:35.6) and the 100-freestyle (1:2.2), while Shaffer won both the 50-free (26.9) and the 100-backstroke (1:11.3).

Both Salem relay teams were victorious: the 200-medley relay team of Shaffer, Cindy Elliott, B.J. Bing, and Taylor swam a 2:06.7, while the 400-free relay team of Bing, Erin Boughton, Cheryl Truskowski, and Shellie Mullen swam a 4:13.0.

Elliott won the 100-breaststroke in 1:17.7, and Bing won the 100-butterfly in 1:09.0.

Salem swept two events clean from Wayne, with Shannon Murphy and Elliott finishing second and third behind Bing in the 100-fly, and Boughton and Mullen taking second and third behind Taylor in the 100-free. Cory Silver, in diving, and Renee Rudin, in the 500-free, earned key third place points for the Rocks.

LIVONIA CHURCHILL gave the Rocks a harder time on Thursday, but Salem prevailed, 96-78.

Shaffer, again, won the 200-IM with a time of 2:25.8. Taylor also got a first for Salem, swimming a 1:00.2 in the 100-free. Rudin swam a 6:09.8 which earned her a first in the 500-free.

The last Salem first was earned by the 400-free relay team of Shaffer, Bing, Taylor and Boughton. They swam a 4:02.4.

Salem next swims Tuesday at home against Walled Lake Central.

Chiefs lose to W.L. Western in OT

The sixth loss of the year may have been the toughest for Plymouth Canton Chiefs to swallow.

They lost an overtime thriller to Walled Lake Western, 14-7, last Friday night.

With 14 seconds left in the first half, Western quarterback Mickey Folsom ran a quarterback sneak for 60 yards and the first touchdown of the day.

Folsom went on to rush for more than 100 yards against the Chiefs and pass for 70 more.

football

CANTON CAME back in the third quarter, completing a long drive with a 2-yard TD pass from sophomore quarterback Tony Aiken to David Knapp. Gary Kaske added the point after and the game was tied.

It was a long night for Aiken. He completed four of 12 passes for 54 yards and was intercepted twice. The Canton offense managed just 188 total yards to Western's 312. Neither team could score in the final quarter.

Western, however, scored on its first play of the overtime period. Folsom hit Quint Scannell on a 10-yard pass.

Canton had the ball but for one play in the overtime. Aiken, running the option, was hit and fumbled the ball. Western recovered and the game ended, 14-7.

Rock harriers win 2

As Ernie Harwell would say, "It was two for the price of one."

The Plymouth Salem boys' and girls' cross country teams defeated Walled Lake Central twice in the cold and rain last Thursday.

The girls extended their dual meet record to 7-1, with a 20-35 victory. Sara Van Govdaw captured first place for Central with a time of 20:50, but the next five spots were taken by the Rocks.

Shelly Simons (20:53) was second, Trish Donnelly (21:42) third, Heidi Dupret (21:51) fourth, Michelle Donnelly (22:27) fifth, and Amy Miyazaki (23:08) sixth.

THE ROCK BOYS' team upped its record to 6-2 with a 24-32 win. Like the girls, the boys also surrendered the first-place spot to Central. Salem's Scott Steiner was just one second behind first-place Don Chapin with a 16:59.

Eagle rally falls just short

Plymouth Christian's girls' cagers staged a late rally Friday against Southfield Christian, but the comeback fell just short, and the Eagles bowed 33-25.

The victory left Southfield Christian unbeaten in league play with a 6-0 mark. The Eagles record dropped to 3-3 in the conference and 5-5 overall. The teams will play each other again on Tuesday.
