Drug policies target action

By Ariene Funke
staff writer

School officials are cautiously optimistic about the effectiveness of a new drug intervention program.

Last May, the Plymouth-Canton school board adopted a policy setting forth specific steps when a high school student is discovered buying, selling or using drugs. A similar plan for the middle schools was adopted in July.

"I feel encouraged," said Nic Cooper, who also coordinated the development of the drug policy. "We have enhanced awareness."

But, Cooper cautioned, "there is still a lot that has to be evaluated." Plans are in progress to expand the scope of the program.

IN THE PAST, there was no district-wide policy, and cases were handled individually in the schools. The lack of a consistent plan and record of a student's drug use led to a "conspiracy of silence," according to Cooper.

The new policy, which has evolved over the past couple years, spells out specific remedies. These include suspension, discussions with student and parents, drug intervention and education seminars and, in some cases, police involvement.

Expulsion takes place on the third offense.

"This is meant to bring to the forefront those people whose drug use is out of control and give them help," Cooper said. "The drugs of choice are alcohol and marijuana. The drug of choice makes little difference — the phenomenon is the same."

TEACHERS AND administrators at the high-school and middle-school levels have attended workshops to learn how to recognize and deal with students who become chemically dependent.

According to Cooper, symptoms may include persistent truancy or behavior problems, worsening grades, drastic attitude change and changes in appearance and circle of friends.

The new peer group provides acceptance for the chemical dependency. "That is one piece of the puzzle that is critical," Cooper said. "Kids don't make other kids do things — kids choose to do things."

During November and December, a total of 23 middle-school students and their parents took part in the drug intervention program, Cooper said. At the high school level, the figure was 20-30 students.

The Plymouth-Canton school board has expelled six students this school year for dealing drugs.

Trustee E.J. McClendon, who sits on the drug policy committee, said the new policy "has certainly been a small part in the mosaic of efforts dedicated to curbing substance abuse."

MORE STUDENTS are being caught at the middle-school level — grades 5-7 — a period when intervention is crucial, according to Cooper.

"I attribute that (increase) to weeding it out — not increased drug use," Cooper said. "We're seeing (behavior) we didn't see before. The middle-school age is crucial, because attitudes about one's self, and relationships with others, are being formed."

Intervention is a "cooperative venture," according to Cooper. Administrators at the high-school level have a choice of involving the parents on the first offense. Sometimes a talk with the student will stop a casual drug user.

For middle-school students, parents are called in immediately. Family members must attend together a 3½-hour film on the dangers of chemical dependency.

Serious users may have to go away for a 6-10 week treatment at a center in Minnesota or Toledo, according to Cooper. There — removed from friends, family and other pressures — "recovery is the only issue," he said.

AN ESTIMATED 15-20 students have been referred for such treatment in the past 1½ years, Cooper said.

"With chemically dependent youth, we're spinning our wheels until we get them away," Cooper said. "With adolescents, we're dealing with a critical time in their development. We're talking about rebuilding their lifestyle, and that's scary."

Once the student returns home, he or she needs follow-up treatment and a support group, Cooper said. Plans are in the works to develop an abstinence support group for high school students returning home from treatment, and to help students who are having trouble with drug use.

A committee of teachers is investigating the possibility of expanding the intervention program to the elementary schools. And Cooper hopes to gain the support of community groups in fighting drug use.

Ice carvings going, going, gone

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

Here's an unusual gift idea for those hard-to-buy-for people: an ice carving from the Plymouth Ice Sculpture Spectacular. Just imagine the surprise of receiving a 150-pound ice mouse for your front yard?

Starting today, bids for the smaller ice carvings around the downtown Plymouth area will be received at the Plymouth Gathering on Penniman Avenue.

The ice carving sale is being coordinated by the American Legion Passage-Gayde Post, and all proceeds will go toward the Citizen of the Year scholarship fund and the Special Olympics.

"There will be numbers placed under the statues to identify them, along with the minimum bid which will vary between $1 and $2," said Bill Nicholas, sale coordinator.

Potential buyers are being asked to submit their bids, including statute number and phone number, in a box at the Gathering by 6 p.m. Thursday. Successful bidders will be notified by phone on Friday.

Legion sells sculptures; city totals festival bills

Buyers must provide their own means of removal and transportation for the statues, Nicholas said. Pick up time will be from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday at The Gathering.

City Manager Henry Graper said the carvings are being donated to the American Legion since that group developed the auction idea.

BESIDES THE tremendous attendance at the ice festival last weekend, Graper said the event was a financial success.

The bills for the event totaled some $16,000 while contributions from sponsors and patrons totaled some $17,500, he said.

Included in the bills for the event were the costs of the bunting and wood used for stands, DPW overtime, and the costs for the community service officers time.

The event will not be charged for the regular hours the DPW worked or for police and firefighters time, Graper said.

"We don't charge any festival for the DPW time. The police and fire personnel are on duty anyway, and it didn't require any additional police time," Graper said.

The cement blocks used to prop up carvings are being sold at cost to the contractor building the Dunning-Hough library addition.

Included in the contributions to the festival were $5,000 donations from the Chrysler Corp., and the Plymouth Chamber of Commerce. Other local businesses made a combined donation of $5,000 and the E.F. Hutton Co. donated $2,000.

"We still have more money from local patrons coming in," Graper said.

"If we have any extra money next year we will look at the prize structure for the carving competition," he said. Event organizers believe that including cash prizes with the vacations and scholarships awarded to winners will increase interest in the competition — possibly attracting chefs from larger out-of-state hotels.

"NEXT YEAR we're going to have three different competitions — one for local chefs, one for out-of-town chefs, and one for students."

"We also are looking at doing 'theme' streets, with carvings from a certain theme lining the sidewalks," Graper said.

"To do this, the Midwest Ice Company will offer custom carvings for shops to buy to place outside."

And, learning from this year's festival, Graper said Midwest will place carvings on the stands during the night to avoid the confusion experienced this year.

"Also, we are going to have carving demonstrations in the park when the actual competition isn't going on," he said.

Graper said the city will be looking for additional corporate sponsors for next year's festival.

Dr. Crosby: America's schools are mediocre

By Margaret Neubacher
special writer

Our schools are suffering from a rising tide of mediocrity, Dr. Emeral Crosby told a crowd of about 100 parents, teachers and a few students in the Central Middle School gym last week.

Selected as one of 18 persons to serve on the National Commission on Excellence in Education, Crosby spoke for two hours about the experience.

"The day a woman called my office to say the U.S. secretary of education would like to speak with me, I said, 'Sure, thinking my friends were playing a joke on me,'" said Crosby, principal of Detroit's Northern High School. "The first thing I knew I was talking to the secretary, telling him I'd be honored to serve on his commission."

Created in August 1981 by Secretary of Education T.H. Bell, the national commission was directed to examine the quality of education in the United States and report to the nation within 18 months.

THEIR REPORT, titled "A Nation at Risk," was presented to President Reagan last week. Because its strategy to reform schools are so critical of public schools, the report has created a national controversy.

— Dr. Emeral Crosby

"No way did I feel at the start that I'd be critical of education, despite the fact that I've spent 35 years in the Detroit public schools and have much to be critical about," said Crosby, who earned master's and doctoral degrees at Wayne State University.

"People read our 30-page final report and were hurt or angry. Imagine how I felt after reading 10,000 pages of reports and hearing 100 hours of discussion on education in our country." Was the commission's fault was mediocrity. Their report said "... the educational foundations of our society are presently being eroded by a rising tide of mediocrity that threatens our very future as a nation and a people."

Commission members, among them a Nobel laureate, university presidents, business leaders, a former governor and educators, criss-crossed the country to gather information.

"WE LOOKED at education in business, industry, vocational schools, pre-schools to universities, both public and private," said Crosby, who was "honored to finally make it to Plymouth." Crosby's delivery was reminiscent of the Rev. Jesse Jackson's. "In this day and age of computers, Schwarts Cybek, Times Beach, Silicon Valley, space shuttles and organ transplants, our high schools require only one year of science; some don't require it at all."

"In 23 of the 35 largest cities, minorities are now the majorities. Yet, in a Los Angeles school where the majority of students were Hispanic, we found that not one of the staff understood their language."

"Fifty percent of the children starting school today will likely be part of a single-parent family by the time they graduate from high school."

CROSBY EMPHASIZED that we are falling behind other advanced countries in educational standards and achievement.

"The national absentee rate for our students is 10 days per year, in urban areas it runs as high as 20 to 25 days," he said. "In Japan the average is less than one day a year."

"In Western Europe and Japan students attend school 220 and 240 days a year, our students attend 180 days."

"We found textbooks to be too easy. A basic first-grade reader teaches an average of one new word a day, for children who experts tell us have been learning an average of 1,000 new words a year."

"Many of you are not having children," Crosby continued, "but many people are, many who are not capable of raising them, so we must all pitch in to help. It is a problem for all of us. I'd rather pay $3,000 for a reading program than the $23,000 it costs to incarcerate someone who is not paying taxes or contributing to society."

CROSBY TOLD a moving story about a relay race he witnessed at Northern, in which one boy dropped the baton just before handing it to the last and fastest runner.

"The boy never picked up the baton," said Crosby, "and the fastest runner never had a chance to compete."

"We have dropped the baton on the most talented students this country has ever produced."

"We can't expect mediocrity, we must demand and expect excellence."

Experimenting in medieval arts

Students select the plaques they'll use to make brass rubbings.

Students at the Centennial Educational Park dabbled in medieval art-work Thursday when professional artisans visited a humanities class.

A grant from the Plymouth Community Arts Council obtained by librarian Marian West enabled boys and girls to try their hands at brass rubbings, tapestry needlework, calligraphy and stained glass work.

Dann Beggs of the Lincoln Park Public Schools taught students tapestry needlework; Mack Porter, a practicing Novi artisan, offered stained-glass consulting, CEP staffer Cindi Burnstein demonstrated calligraphy, and West did brass rubbings.

"It was terrific, we just had a ball. It was interesting," said West, who'd been worried male students wouldn't take to needlework.

"I NEED not have feared it at all, the young men were very interested in it. And Beggs is an excellent teacher," she said.

Artisans brought examples for display of each craft, "so we weren't operating in a vacuum and could see what the product was going to be," added West.

Impressions, an art store in Detroit's Renaissance Center, rented 22 plates to the high school and provided a slide show on art history, technique, unusual pictures and artifacts.

The session offered students an opportunity to gain the experience built into the humanities curriculum.

"They were able to come into the classroom and take away with them a piece of whatever it was they worked on," said West.

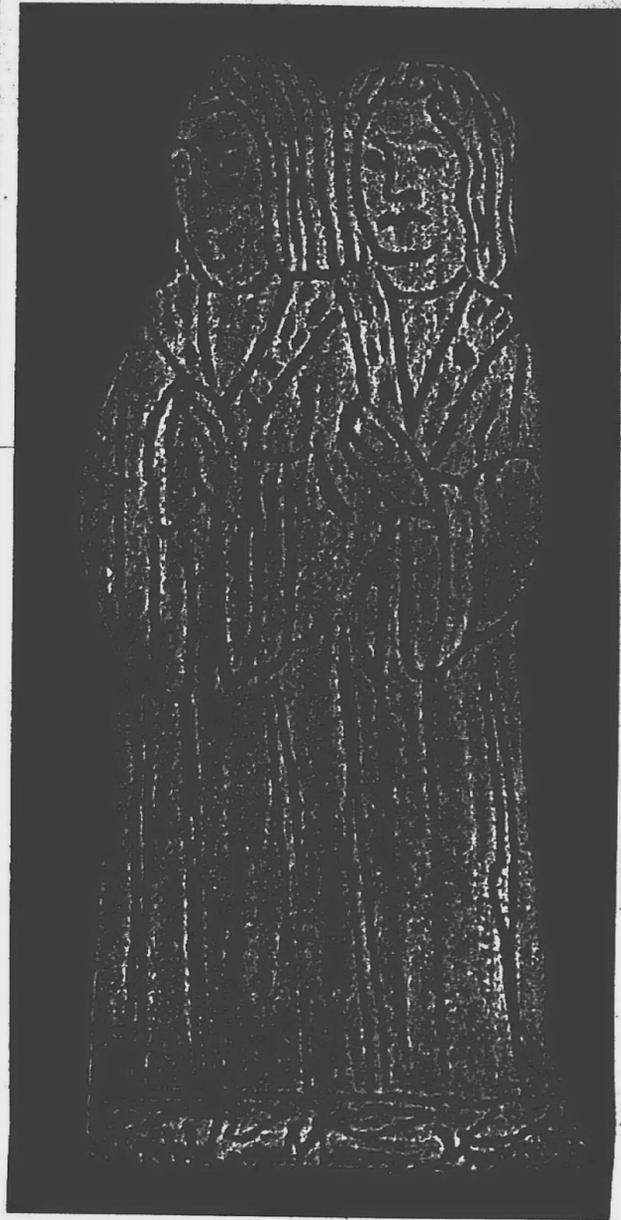

"They were delightful to work with."

Mack Porter (left), a stained glass expert, advises Lisa Maggio on the next step in her project.

Humanities students had the opportunity to view professionally done brass rubbings, and to produce their own.

Veterinary practice includes modern technology

Earlier days are recalled in the Plymouth-Canton area

past and present
Sam Hudson

(Part 2)

Before joining Dr. Wesley Lickfeldt in Plymouth in 1955, Dr. Clifford McClumpha worked with a veterinarian in Owosso. He remembers going with him on a call to the sumptuous Dodge stables at Meadowbrook.

"The horses in those stables had better quarters than most people have in their homes," he recalls. "A number of hackney ponies were kept in the stables for coach and show-ring purposes. Our job was to nick their tails." Nicking, or cutting tendons at the root of the horse's tail, causes the animal to carry it higher for show purposes.

McClumpha's practice at the Parkway Veterinary Clinic included livestock until about 1970. He recalls two hair-raising events of his life among the large animals. One involved a heifer that he lassoed prior to treatment. The heifer bolted and McClumpha's feet caught in the rope. He fell to the ground and the cow began to drag him around. Other heifers in the pen began leaping over him until he was freed.

The other incident concerned a powerful Holstein bull that he was dehorning. (Farmers have bulls dehorned when they are two or three years old to quieten their fiery tempers. Big clippers are used to snip off the horns.) In this instance, the dehorning took place in a manger in which there was very little room to maneuver. When McClumpha snipped off the first horn, the bull let out a bellow, backed up, unspooled his fetters and charged. McClumpha had barely room to jump aside as the animal's massive head crashed into a beam.

McCLUMPHA SAYS there are now about five veterinarians in the Plymouth area, and about six in Canton.

He and Dr. Richard Kirchgatter at the Parkway Veterinary Clinic work primarily with dogs and cats. Cats increase in an area when apartments become popular.

As time goes by, McClumpha and Kirchgatter see fewer working dogs and hunting dogs and more of the pet variety. And except for guard dogs, the breeds they are seeing are smaller than in the past. Guard dogs, they say, are no special problem to handle.

Dr. Kirchgatter joined McClumpha in the clinic in 1968. He has his office on Lilley Road in Canton, while McClumpha has his on Wilcox Road in Plymouth. Born on a farm near St. Ansgar, Iowa, Kirchgatter got his veterinary degree from Iowa State University. That's where he met Elaine Broadbent of Rochester, N.Y. They were married in 1963 and have three daughters.

Both McClumpha and Kirchgatter have been active in the Plymouth Rotary Club. McClumpha was the club's president in 1968-69, Kirchgatter in 1980-81. Both have served on the board of directors of the Plymouth Rotary Foundation. Both have chaired Rotary's annual chicken barbecue ("hardest work I ever did," says McClumpha).

Kirchgatter has been president of the Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medicine Association and president of the Plymouth Symphony. He now is chairman of the planning commission in Canton.

THE CLINIC'S practice extends beyond Plymouth to the other communities that Dr. Lickfeldt travelled when he made his rounds in the 1940s.

Although McClumpha and Kirchgatter primarily treat domestic pets, they have been asked to administer to such exotics as coatimundi, fox, raccoon and a chameleon.

Both McClumpha and Kirchgatter say that treatment of pets is more complex than in the past. People tend to have their pets treated more frequently and expect more service. There is a broader spectrum of medicines and equipment used in veterinary practice than was the case 35 years ago.

Kirchgatter says they keep up to date through seminars, membership in professional societies, reading professional journals and following the work of universities. He says the veterinary profession has learned much from human practitioners and that veterinary medicine has made contributions which have helped humans.

Kirchgatter notes that one of the indispensable parts of the modern automobile was invented by a veterinarian. Dr. John B. Dunlop, a Scot, who had a large and successful veterinary practice in Belfast, Ireland, pioneered the pneumatic rubber tire, in 1857, when he constructed a set for his little boy's bicycle.

Asked to predict the future of veterinary medicine, both McClumpha and Kirchgatter say that, in addition to continued improvements in medicines and equipment, they foresee the introduction of regional animal hospitals where veterinarians will take their patients for surgery as is now done with their human counterparts.

Finances in sports continue to amaze

Football & baseball salaries once negotiated differently

Where are we going financially in 1984?

This question is being asked in all quarters now that the baseball owners are lining up their squads for spring training and attempting to get their new contracts signed.

If anyone really concerned looks at the sports pages of the daily prints these days he can't help asking the question "where are we going?"

Most every day you'll read that the owners — not only baseball but football, too — are offering millions of dollars just to get the player into camp.

The latest one to cause some eyebrow lifting is the Tigers turn down of Enos Cabel, last year's first baseman. At the close of the season he elected to go on the free agent list. And all he asked for was $400,000 a year with a guarantee of five years and no trades.

Imagine that — $400,000 a year for six-months work. That would be $2 million when his contract expires.

You can guess what the Tigers did. They just decided to let him go look for work in other places.

There you will see that the Pittsburgh team in the United States Football League offered Mike Rozier, this year's Heisman Trophy winner, $1 million a year for the next three years. And the player has taken it under advisement.

Take the case of Billy Simms, the speedy running back of the Detroit

the stroller
W.W. Edgar

Lions. He is suing his former agent to get relief from a contract in order that he can accept the Lions offer of $400,000 a year for the next five years, plus a bonus of $1 million just for signing.

Is it any wonder that folks who read the papers now are asking, "Where are we going?"

Today's action is a far cry from the days when the Tigers had to force Al Kaline to take $100,000 for his final year as an active player. He turned down that sum for several years, but finally yielded.

"When you get around to it," he would say to the Tiger boss, "fill in the numbers and send it to me."

It was the same with Hank Greenberg. He never would sign for more than one year. His argument was that he was being paid this year for what he did last year. He didn't want a long contract for fear he might have a slump near its end and thus lose the raises he should have received each year.

His plan always worked.

One wonders just what these fellows would do now — with players asking a cool million for each season.

No wonder folks ask, "Where are we going?"

Korean dreamed of American life

By W.W. Edgar
Staff Writer

When Sung E. Moon was going to school in Korea he studied about the United States and at that early age developed a yearning for the day when he could cross the oceans and settle in America. That day came 11 years ago when he came over with his wife and his two brothers-in-law.

"The chance to come to Plymouth and settle in business came a few months ago when he purchased Tail Cleaners on Northville Road, just across the bridge from the Rouge.

STANDING BEHIND the counter the other afternoon he revealed his thoughts as a school boy and then as a soldier in the Korean Army and how he finally got to Plymouth and settled in business.

"When I studied about the United States I took a liking to the people and often wished that I could make the trip over here.

"The chance came and when I got here I liked the place all the more. The people were so nice and the country is so beautiful that I am glad I had the chance to settle down in business here."

BEFORE HE made the trip across the oceans he served three years in the Korean Army, two in regular service and one in government work.

Once out of the Army he thought of the United States and his dream was realized when he joined with his brothers-in-law to cross the ocean.

That was 11 years ago, when he was 29 years old. In their travels around the country they passed through Plymouth, he said, a few years ago.

"When I saw the place I liked it and wanted to be here."

Soon came class when he went to dry cleaning school in Detroit and then purchased a dry cleaning business in Ypsilanti in 1973.

"All the time I went to dry cleaning school I found the area was a nice place for my wife and two children. That came the chance to come to Plymouth."

He learned that the long-established Tail dry cleaning plant was available and he purchased it from John Holan of Ann Arbor who had obtained it from Cliff Tait when he retired.

Moon and his two brothers-in-law now run the plant that has been a landmark in Plymouth for years. And the dream he had as a young school boy in Korea has come true.

CHRONIC TRAUMA

It is not unusual for a patient to come to our office with severe back pain. When we ask them what caused the problem they say, "I don't know. All I did was bend over to tie my shoe. I couldn't get up." It is easy for a patient to understand how a sudden twisting injury or a fall can cause pain but what is perplexing is how such a minor movement can result in such severe pain.

What they don't realize is that mild persistent injury to the back may have a cumulative effect. It can cause chronic trauma to the spine. Chronic trauma is sitting slumped in a chair in a position which produces continual strain on your lower back. It is continually bending and lifting with your knees straight, even if the object you're lifting is only a feather. It is driving a car long distances with your back in a poor position.

Chronic trauma is any recurring strain put on your back, however mild the strain may be. It occurs many times during each day, day after day. The cumulative effects of chronic trauma eventually reaches a point at which your back is no longer capable of withstanding it. That is the point when pain occurs and the more severe the pain is, the more likely is the severity of the trauma-induced disorder.

This is where the domino theory really comes into play. Most people seek just temporary relief of their problem and then return back to their normal schedule of exertion.

These factors create a situation which gradually leads to the return of backache, perhaps starting at night after a long tension-filled day or in the morning after a long period of inactivity. Discomfort will gradually increase or spread throughout your entire back or your arms and legs. Chronic trauma can leave you in worse condition than sudden trauma. Chiropractors are the specialists in proper spinal realignment and can teach you proper rehabilitation and work habits. Dones Pills and muscle relaxants only prolong the problem. Don't wait until chronic trauma causes degeneration and debilitation. If you have any symptom of recurring back pain get your spine checked chiropractically today.

Lunchtime Treats to Pack or Snack

Children greet the new school year with high anticipation and boundless energy. Half-way through, they may be running out of steam. Help them regain some of that energy and enthusiasm with these delicious lunchbox treats and after-school pick-me-ups.

And tuck a few away for mom and dad. You don't have to be in school to need and enjoy nutritious noontime goodies or a mid-afternoon break. Trouble is, these treats are so good, they may not last past your morning coffee break!

Potassium-rich bananas are the flavor and texture secret of the recipes that follow. They add an extra measure of nutrition to traditional chocolate chip cookies. Combined with wheat germ, raisins and nuts, they're a power-packed cookie, good anytime of day. Nutty Banana Jam Muffins are a joy at breakfast or fresh out of your lunchbox. For an afterschool pepper-upper, frozen pops and shakes really hit the spot. Make homework easier to bear with nutritious Peanut Butter Banana Pops or Frosty Yogurt Shake, made with frozen extra-ripe bananas. This is a great way to use up extra-ripe bananas. Just peel and wrap tightly in foil or plastic and use as needed. For those times when a light snack is enough, we've included a recipe for frozen pops made with fresh pineapple.

As always, this school year has brought new beginnings, new friendships and new experiences to treasure always. And it's not too late to begin some new traditions around your house with the between-meal snacks and lunchbox treats below. You'll feel so good about preparing them for your family — they're healthful and so sinfully good.

New and easy banana snacks: Frosty Yogurt Shakes (lemon and strawberry), Banana Chocolate Chip Cookies, Nutty Banana Jam Muffins and a jar full of cookies featured below.

| 1-1/4 cups sugar                    | 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg           |
| 3/4 cup butter, softened            | 1/4 teaspoon salt                    |
| 1 egg                               | 1 small, ripe Banana, peeled, mashed |
| 2-3/4 cups all-purpose flour        | 3 tablespoons raspberry jam          |

Have ready 18 muffin pan cups with cupcake liners. Slice extra-ripe bananas into blender. Whir until puréed (1 cup). Combine 1/2 cup walnuts with 1/4 cup sugar. Beat remaining 1/2 cup nuts with remaining 1 cup sugar and butter until light and fluffy. Beat in puréed banana and egg. Combine dry ingredients. Beat into banana mixture until well mixed. Combine mashed banana with raspberry jam. For each muffin, spoon about 1 tablespoon dough into walnut-sugar mixture to coat. Drop into lined muffin cups. Spoon about 1 teaspoon jam mixture into center. Drop 1 more tablespoon dough in walnut mixture and coat well. Drop over jam mixture. Bake in 400° F oven 15 to 20 minutes. Serve warm or cool. Makes 18 muffins.

'America's Best'

You don't have to be a skier to use this cookbook

The excitement of Olympic fever finally peaks this month with the approach of the 1984 winter games, which begin on Feb. 7 and conclude on the 21st.

It is considered a time when national spirit runs high. A healthy competitiveness comes out in all of us, and with it a unique opportunity to take pride in one's country or place of origin.

It is with this sense of pride that a group of people got together in Denver to raise money for the United States Olympic Ski Team.

Project chairwoman and idea originator Patty Mack saw firsthand just how much the ski team needed more financial assistance than could be provided by private donations.

Mack's husband Robert is an orthopedic surgeon who, along with about 40 other doctors, travel with the ski team on a rotating, voluntary, basis. It was after working with the men and women of the ski team that she thought of putting together a national community cookbook.

Mack got together with Jaydee Boat (editor-in-chief) and Regina Biederman (managing editor) and a cast of thousands from across the country to put together "America's Best: A National Community Cookbook to Benefit the U.S. Ski Team" (Workman Publishing) by Patricia Mack.

The profits from this book will go toward not only our present Olympians, but more importantly, to the future ones.

After sending out press releases to newspapers across the country asking for recipes representing all 50 states, from skiers or just people interested in supporting a good cause, the response was enormous.

Over 4,000 recipes in all were sent in on behalf of the ski team, which were tested and narrowed down to the 400 which appear in the book.

The testing was another story altogether.

The recipes were tested at three different altitudes, sea level, 5,000 feet and 9,000 feet (who else but skiers would think of that!).

According to Mack, the idea of different altitudes was used so that people would not think that this was just a cookbook for skiers. The appeal of this book is meant to be general. And, although a number of testers for the book were skiers, she attributes this to the fact that skiers just love to eat.

The recipes were tested by 250 volunteers broken down into groups, each with a leader. The testing was done over an eight-month period of time, and each recipe was tested twice.

There are even ski trail markers on the recipes indicating their degree of difficulty. A recipe with a circle means a simple recipe; the square, a more difficult recipe, and the diamond, a recipe for the expert cook.

There are diverse recipes representing sections of the country and many different categories. Included in the categories are the more traditional divisions such as soups, meats and desserts as well as the less common: brunch specialties, picnic fare and homemade pasta.

This cookbook contains a little bit of everything, including fascinating little tidbits on the history of the men's and women's past Olympic ski teams in the margins of the recipes.

The recipes are written in an easy-to-follow manner, and go with ease from simple-and-healthy to gourmet.

In honor of the Olympics being held in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, where lamb is the national dish, the following recipe for lamb stew reproduced from the book, seems most appropriate.

LAMB STEW
Serves 8
2 1/2 to 3 pounds lamb breast, cut into 2-inch pieces

2-3 tbsp vegetable oil
1 tbsp granulated sugar
2 tbsp all-purpose flour
Salt and freshly ground pepper to taste
4-5 cups Beef Stock (see below)
3 tomatoes, peeled, seeded and chopped
1 tbsp tomato paste
1 clove garlic, crushed
Bouquet garni (6 parsley sprigs, 1 bay leaf, 1 stalk celery and 6 whole peppercorns, tied in cheesecloth)
1/4 tsp dried rosemary
1 cup 2-inch green beans
16 small new potatoes, peeled
16 small white onions, peeled
3-4 small turnips, peeled and cut into 2-inch pieces
8 carrots, peeled and cut into 2-inch pieces
1 1/2 cup frozen peas
Garnish: Chopped fresh parsley

Preheat the oven to 450°.

Pat the meat dry with paper toweling. Heat the oil in a large, heavy, ovenproof skillet over medium-high heat. Add the meat in batches and brown on all sides. Do not crowd the meat while browning. Remove the meat, as it is browned, to a large Dutch oven. When the meat is browned, return it all to the skillet and sprinkle it with sugar. Place the skillet over high heat and stir constantly until the sugar caramelizes, about 2 minutes. Remove the skillet from the heat. Sprinkle the meat with the flour and bake, uncovered, in the preheated oven until the flour is brown, about 5 minutes. Remove from the oven and reduce the oven heat to 350°.

Return the meat to the Dutch oven. Season with salt and pepper and add enough beef stock to cover. Add the tomatoes, tomato paste, garlic, bouquet garni and rosemary. Bring to a simmer over medium-high heat stirring frequently. Cook the meat in the 350° oven, covered, for 1 hour, stirring occasionally. Add the beans, potatoes, onions, turnips and carrots and cook for 30 minutes, or until the vegetables are tender. Add the peas and cook for 10 minutes more. Adjust the seasoning with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with parsley and serve.

BEEF STOCK
4-5 pounds beef shank, rib bones, or beef soup bones
2 large carrots, cut into large pieces
2 large onions, cut into large pieces
1/2 to 1 tsp dried thyme
1 large bay leaf
6-8 sprigs fresh parsley
6-8 peppercorns, crushed

Preheat oven to 450°.

Place the meat and vegetables in a large, shallow roasting pan, and cook for 30-35 minutes, turning, occasionally, until well browned.

Remove the bones and vegetables to a large soup kettle. Discard the fat in the roasting pan. Scrape the browned pieces from the pan into the kettle.

Add the seasonings to the soup kettle, along with enough cold water to cover. Bring the water to a boil, then reduce the heat. Skim and discard the scum that rises to the surface.

Simmer, uncovered, for 4 to 5 hours, adding water if necessary to keep the bones and vegetables covered.

Strain the stock through a large sieve into a bowl. Discard the solids. Return the strained stock to a large saucepan and cook, uncovered, over high heat, until reduced by one third. Refrigerate until cold.

Remove and discard hardened fat from the surface.

The stock may be refrigerated for 2-3 days or frozen. Reheat to boiling before using.

Simply delicious stuffed cabbage

I had been looking for a simple recipe to stuff cabbage that wouldn't take most of the day to prepare. It had been a futile search until I spotted a blurb in one newspaper's Cook's Corner.

I enjoy reading food sections from papers around the country because it gives me an idea what's happening in cooking circles from coast to coast.

"I used to make cabbage rolls using tomatoes and tomato paste and gingersnaps and a hundred other ingredients — a big bother, believe me," Rose wrote. "But this recipe surpasses all I've ever made, and I've been making cabbage rolls for the 57 years I've been married."

Rose was right, but I had to make several minor adjustments.

First, I didn't need two pounds of ground beef, so I stored a half-pound of filling in the refrigerator for a future meal. Secondly, while my wife enjoyed the cabbage rolls, she suggested a little salt and pepper would enhance the dish.

Anita proved right when she combined the leftover filling with two hamburger patties that didn't make the grill from a previous lunch.

"What should I fix?" she asked. "Why not some meatballs," I suggested.

"With a simple sauce," she said. Anita steamed eight meatballs and created a sauce from the drippings, a little flour and some Worcestershire sauce. She threw in two cut-up potatoes, and I must admit the results were tasty.

We enjoyed the leftover cabbage rolls at another sitting.

I'll take four meals for the price of two any week.

CABBAGE ROLLS

1 head cabbage
1 bottle (14 oz.) Heinz hot ketchup
1 1/2 lbs. lean ground beef
Salt and black pepper to taste
2 eggs
1 onion, diced
1 cup uncooked rice

Steam cabbage, let cool, cut out core and remove leaves. Empty ketchup in large pot, fill bottle with water and add to pot, stirring. Mix well meat, salt, pepper, eggs, onion and rice. Place small amount of meat mixture on each cabbage leaf, roll up and place seam side up in layers in pot. Cover and cook on lowest heat setting 4 to 5 hours. Yields 16 to 18 cabbage rolls.

Pork can be surprising

Do you consider pork a food high in saturated fat? You may be surprised to learn that as little as one-third of the fat in pork is saturated.

A three-ounce serving of cooked, lean pork contains only 77 milligrams of cholesterol, reports the National Live Stock and Meat Board. This compares to 88 mg. of cholesterol in a serving of turkey (dark meat), 82 mg. in a serving of herring, 76 mg. in a serving of chicken (roasted skin off) and 74 mg. in a serving of chicken (fried skin on).

Versatile pasta is fine anytime

Endless meal possibilities start with pasta. The varieties stretch far beyond well-known spaghetti. Tortellini, for example, is a small, round pasta filled with meat or cheese.

Try tortellini in Honeyed Fruit and Pasta Salad. This versatile dish can be served as a luncheon main dish for guests or as a salad with broiled chicken or fish for dinner.

Tortellini is available at many supermarket deli counters and at Italian specialty food stores. Medium macaroni shells can be substituted for tortellini. The macaroni is like tortellini without the filling.

HONEYED FRUIT AND PASTA SALAD

8 oz. tortellini, uncooked*
2 cup broccoli flowerets
2 cup (8 oz.) cubed 1/2 inch cheddar cheese
1/4 cup honey
1 1/2 oz. can pineapple chunks, drained
11 oz. can mandarin oranges, drained
1/2 tsp. celery seed

Cook tortellini according to package directions. Rinse in cold water, drain well. In large bowl stir together tortellini and remaining ingredients. Chill 3-hour yield: 8 (1 cup) servings.

*2 cups cooked medium macaroni shells can be substituted for tortellini.

the view

Ellie Graham

ED MEADE and his "Good Evening Friends" had a visitor Thursday night. Pete Keifer, road manager for the Fred Waring Pennsylvanians, stopped in at Ed's house on Ann Street when the vocal group was rehearsing. Pete was in the area doing workshop promotions for the Pennsylvanians.

He is managing director of the Fred Waring summer workshops at Penn State University and he and Ed are old friends. Ed has attended the summer workshops for years and has served as a counselor there. The Meades used to rent a cottage in the Poconos each summer and Ed spent his vacation at the workshops. He teaches vocal music at Cabrini High School in Allen Park.

"Good Evening Friends" is a popular local singing group with about 25 members ages 18 and up. Recent singing engagements have taken them to St. Patrick's Church and the Kundig Center in Detroit where they entertained senior citizens. Ed says they are great audiences. The chorus did some religious numbers, some vocal jazz and ballads. And they do a Hoagy Carmichael medley that their audiences love.

BEVERLY McANINCH of Plymouth will appear on WKBD, TV-50, Tuesday, Jan. 31. She and Bette Lawrence will explain why more women and minorities are voting now.

THE COLD WEATHER and the lasting snowfall have made it a great winter for the birdwatchers and the bird feeders. The story about Bill and Evelyn Edgar's bird feeding activities prompted a letter from Marie Ptak, who lives on San Jose in Redford Township. Marie wrote:

"I feel I could be called a 'scavenger' bird feeder. I have two feeders and am up before 8 every morning plus Saturdays and Sundays just so my birds won't have to wait for me. Believe it or not, even in the dark some sit in the tree where the feeders are hung and chirp when they see me coming.

"As for the scavenger part, my birds eat everything that is put out. My dinner plates are scraped. Green beans, corn, fat from ham, chops or any other meat plus the drippings. I pop them popcorn every night and cover it with peanut butter. They love it. Raisins, puffed wheat and rice (29 cents a bag at Farmer Jack's) and would you believe, leftover fish (Long John Silver's).

"My bluejays always get their peanuts with the shells. Of course, so far this winter I have also put out 80 pounds of mixed seed. I don't pick my birds with special seed. One and all are welcome. They must enjoy it because my feeders are empty by early afternoon.

"How many people know that birds need water and do not drink snow? My ladyfriend told me to put out a pan or two of tepid water. They love it. When frozen, replace.

"The squirrels are not forgotten. They also have a spot for nuts, cookies, crackers, etc."

She signed her letter, "Just another bird lover."

THELMA SCHULTZ wrote a wonderful letter to the editor before Christmas about the squirrels, birds and two raccoons who are daily visitors to a big old tree in her front yard. Viola Pedersen recently wrote a note of appreciation:

"It isn't often I have occasion to write your newspaper, but sometimes something comes up that 'bugs' you until you do it. And this was one of those cases.

"Back on Dec. 15 a lovely letter was sent to your editor by a Thelma Schultz of Plymouth. I do not know her really, but it exemplified such a wonderful, inspirational spirit, I had to bring it to someone's attention and to compliment Mrs. Schultz on the good humor and philisophic attitude she displayed. What a wonderful example she set.

"And I wished to thank your editor, too, for selecting her letter for printing. Perhaps it will encourage Mrs. Schultz to write again and give a 'lift' to other senior citizens."

In part, Mrs. Schultz wrote in her December letter: "Oh, if only more people, especially the elderly and the aloners, could grasp the joy of giving that I obtain each and every day. I withdraw into my house, my dog and I sit, quietly enjoying our

'Bad Seed is spooky

Plymouth Theatre Guild will present "Bad Seed," a drama about an 8-year-old child, as its first performance in 1984.

Opening night will be 8 p.m. Friday, Jan. 27, in the auditorium of Central Middle School. It also will be presented Saturday, Jan. 28, and the following weekend, Feb. 3 and 4. Admission at the door is $4 for adults and $3 for senior citizens and students under 18.

"Bad Seed" concerns the effects of environment as compared to heredity on the personality of Rhoda Penmark, played by Melanie Farrow, 9, of Plymouth. The young actress is a student at Bird Elementary School and interested in gymnastics, reading and collecting stickers. Patty McCormick starred in both the stage and movie versions of the play by Maxwell Anderson.

Cynthia Szczesny is Rhoda's mother, Christine Penmark. She lives in Detroit and has appeared with the Players Guild of Dearborn. She works for Kelly Services Inc., and when she's not on stage she enjoys dancing, films, shows and collecting music boxes.

JACK FARROW returns to the stage after an absence of 20 years as Mr. Daigle. The show is a special treat for him because he appears on stage with his daughter, Melanie, in the lead role.

Clemie Cyburt returns to the PTG stage as the drunken Mrs. Daigle. Cyburt, a life member of the guild, directs, produces, and works backstage as well as on stage. A resident of Westland, she works at Great Shape Spa in Plymouth. She is vice president of the guild this season.

Gerard L'Heureux of Canton Township is Leroy the janitor, who has a fiery relationship with Rhoda. L'Heureux plans to attend Eastern Michigan University in the fall and major in theatre.

EFFIE KUISEL is Miss Fern, the schoolteacher. Kuisel, a charter member of the guild is a longtime Plymouth resident. She has served as a member of the Plymouth Theatre Guild Board of Governors for many years.

Peter Couse of Northville is appearing in his second PTG production. He plays Reginald Tasker, a self-made criminologist. A graduate of Michigan State University, he recently directed, wrote and designed the set for "Three Penny Happiness" at MSU.

Chuck Miller of Canton portrays Richard Bravo, an ex-criminologist turned writer. Miller is an active member of the guild and serves on the board of governors.

Sue Haukkala of Ypsilanti plays the nosy landlady, Monica Breedlove, who sees herself as an amateur psychiatrist. Haukkala is an industrial engineer with general Motors Hydro-matic Division. She enjoys aerobics, traveling and the theatre.

Robert Myrtle of Plymouth is Colonel Kenneth Penmark in his second appearance with the PTG. When not on stage, Myrtle skis, plays hockey and SCUBA dives.

Gary Burton of Garden City is Emory

Wages. This is his first appearance for PTG. He has appeared in shows for the Spotlight Players and Schoolcraft College.

"BAD SEED" is directed by Patricia Bray-LaFramboise, a longtime Northville resident and longtime member of PTG. She has been involved in all aspects of theatre, acting and directing. She is on the guild's board of directors.

Lisa Risko, assistant director, also has the role of messenger in the show. Her theatrical talents range from backstage to onstage. Her other interests are painting and skiing.

Patti O'Rourke and Ann Shaffer are co-producers of play and Joe Marsh is ticket chairman.

Central Middle School is on Main Street at Church and free parking is available behind the school.

For ticket information, call Marsh, 348-1136, or O'Rourke, 326-2497, after 3:30 p.m.

Murder is the topic as Rhoda listens to the discussion by the criminologist (Peter Couse), her mother, and the mystery writer (Chuck Miller).

It's time to order Girl Scout cookies

Girl Scouts, Cadettes and Brownies in Plymouth and Canton will be taking orders for cookies until Friday, Feb. 10. The annual sale of Girl Scout cookies is the scouts' major fund-raiser.

Jean Wood of Canton Township is chairing the 1984 cookie sale for the Huron Valley Girl Scout Council.

"The proceeds from the sale will be used to benefit Girl Scouts individually and through troop and council programs. These funds maintain three council campos, provide staff services, girl and adult training events and much more," said Wood.

The scouts will offer seven varieties of cookies: pecan chocolate chip, shortbread, thin mint, peanut butter patties, caramel delites, peanut butter sandwiches and the new almond fudge cremes. The cookies are made by FFV-Interbake of Battle Creek. They are made with 100 percent vegetable shortening and no preservatives.

THE PRICE of the cookies is $1.75 per package. Each Girl Scout enrolled in the fund-raising project is encouraged to sell 66 packages. Last year they averaged 91.25 packages with the top salesgirl selling 1,011 packages. The council's goal for this year's sale is 700,000 packages.

If they achieve this goal, $525,000 will go to the council and $175,000 directly to the troops. Each box of cookies sold provides $1 to Girl Scouting.

Cookie chairwomen for the Canton area are Marcia Porterfield for the 19 troops in the Hulsing and Miller school areas, and Ruby Monk for the 24 troops in the Eriksson and Field areas. Chairwomen in the Plymouth area are: Pat Macklewics for the 18 troops in Bird, Smith, Starkweather and Our Lady of Good Counsel schools; Doris Prosyk for the 19 troops in Allen, Fiigel and Gallimore schools; and Shirley Auchincloss for 18 troops in Farrand, Isbister, Tanger school areas as well as all the Cadette and senior troops.

Cookies will be delivered delivered between Feb. 27 and March 10.

Brownie Kelly Currier (left) of Troop 208, Cadette Elizabeth Tkacz of Troop 367, and Junior Girl Scout Kathy Currier of Troop 216 are among the area Girl Scouts who will be taking orders for cookies.

Baumgartners wed 50 years

Olive and Walter Baumgartner of North Territorial Road, Plymouth, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Jan. 15 at a family party. Olive Bowers and Walter Baumgartner were married in Plymouth in 1934. She has lived in Plymouth all her life. Her husband was born in Redford and moved to Plymouth in 1920.

Fiftieth wedding anniversaries are something of a tradition in their families. Walter's parents, Peter and Clara Baumgartner, marked theirs in 1954. Olive is the third generation to be wed 50 years. Her grandparents, Ida and George Shoebridge of Salem, in 1931, and her parents, Frank and Carrie Bowers, in 1958, celebrated golden wedding anniversaries.

THE BAUMGARTNERS have seven children: Virginia of Plymouth, Robert of Irish Hills, Marge of Plymouth, Richard of Plymouth, Jean of Livonia, Frank of Whitmore Lake, and Linda of Livonia. There are 23 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Daughter Virginia Gibson hosted the anniversary party, arranged by the family, at her Plymouth home. The guests of honor, complete with corsage and boutonniere, were toasted with special 50th anniversary glasses. Forty members of the family — all their nieces and nephews were there — enjoyed the buffet dinner and the anniversary cake. Among the gifts, was something Olive Baumgartner had wanted for a long time, a schoolhouse clock.

Before his retirement, Mr. Baumgartner was employed at the Ford Transmission plant in Livonia.

DOES GOUT NEED TREATMENT?

You may think it odd that a doctor would suggest not treating gout. I don't mean that a physician should ignore a patient with an acute attack of this painful and incapacitating arthritis. But what about the times between attacks when the individual has no pain?

In the past, the attitude has been that medicine was necessary to prevent another episode. However, the new view questions the need for prescribing medicine, and the attention is now on possible prevention of an occurrence of arthritis that may happen 12-18 months from now.

The insurance is for the physician and patient to seek and if another attack occurs soon, then the need for daily medicine is evident. Otherwise, the patient should be instructed on how to deal with a future occurrence, with no medicine in the interim.

The purpose of this new approach is to give the best outcome of the minimum amount of medicine necessary for their continued health.

CHOOSING AN ACCOUNTANT

Who'll prepare your tax return this year? It's time to start choosing a professional, and to undertake the planning that may help you shelter some of your income from taxes.

If your income is fairly straightforward and deductible expenses minimal, you might satisfactorily use a short-form return and do it yourself or with the help of a tax preparer. But with more income, and more deductions, as the return becomes more complicated, you're going to want a tax professional.

Why? Because it's worth the difference to put your tax return in the hands of someone with the knowledge to find every likely loophole, and the experience to know which are acceptable. And as you reach the higher brackets, you'll get the advice you need on sheltering some income from taxes.

Some free help is available from the IRS. Revenue employees will answer your questions (but the tax court has challenged some of their answers) and prepare the simplest returns. There are also independent and chain tax preparers who pop up at tax season. Their workers may not be experienced enough to catch all legal deductions.

A certified public accountant can handle most complex returns and are familiar with shelters and investing. His or her tax know-how can save you more than the fee.

How do you choose a professional? Recommendations from satisfied clientele are one way, as are referrals from lawyers. Once a relationship is entered, the client will find his accountant helpful in making financial decisions all year round.

INCOME TAX

We're a local organization. Even though we served more than 3,000 clients last year we haven't forgotten that every client is an individual and that each individual deserves the best service we can provide.

When we sign a tax return that we've prepared, we're proud of having done the best possible job for you. When you see our signature on your tax return you can be sure that:

1. The counselor who prepared your return was competent and thoroughly experienced in tax matters.
2. You have received the maximum legal deductions and the minimum legal tax.
3. Your tax return has received all the time and attention that was necessary to do a proper job.
4. Your tax return has been double-checked for both accuracy and tax saving possibilities.
5. Your return has been handled in a confidential manner.

Call us for a free tax estimator and for schedule. Our fees are often less than the high advertised tax firms.

Call us. We understand small business, personal and corporate tax returns. Computerized bookkeeping and payroll tax planning systems.

Leininger honored by veterinary group

Mary Beth Leininger, a Plymouth veterinarian, was honored at a dinner meeting of the Southeastern Michigan Veterinary Medical Association (SEMVA). She has been elected second vice president of the Michigan Veterinary Medical Association and will hold the office of president in 1987. She is the first woman elected to the executive council of the state association in its 102-year history. Leininger, who owns the Plymouth Veterinary Hospital Inc. with her husband, Dr. Steven R. Leininger, received the award for outstanding contributions to the SEMVA in 1982. She was president of the group in 1980 and has headed its public information committee since 1975. She was responsible for the 260-member group becoming the first local veterinary association in the nation to commit itself to a major news media program encouraging proper and humane pet care. She was technical advisor and production assistant for the television series "All About Animals," which was on WTVS-Channel 56 for three years. She has written countless newspaper articles about pet care and animal health matters, and wrote a question-answer column, "All About Animals," that appeared in the Observer newspapers. She has made guest appearances on many radio and television interview programs and is producer for "Pets 'n' Animals," a magazine-format television series due for release on cable networks in 1984. Because of her experience in veterinary public information, Leininger has been nominated to the newly formed council on public relations of the American Medical Association. Elections for this council will be at the annual AVMA meeting in July in New Orleans.

toast and coffee, and watch the busy scene just outside my window.

"I do wish this letter to be sort of a Christmas Spirit of Giving message to let others know what happiness and joy can be found in serving God's hungry birds, squirrels and raccoons. I don't smoke, drink or gamble, so I religiously set aside, all spring, summer and fall, pennies nickels and occasionally a dime or two in special containers so when snow time arrives, I have the money to squander(?) on God's creatures. Then as snug as a bug inside my wee home, I watch them. Sometimes a fight o'er the biggest piece of bread or suet. Sometimes, I dare to think, as they gaze toward the window, that they are thanking me.

"All I can say to those who are weary of TV show, radio, etc. try feeding then observing the feast. I warn you all, please don't miss a day, because they depend on you once you start a schedule. They need us."

Special ski race set for Maybury

A special ski event for experienced and new racers will be held Saturday, Jan. 28, at Maybury State Park.

The event will begin at 9 a.m. at the park located on 8 Mile, about five miles west of I-275, in Northville.

Participants will have a choice of entering either a 3 km (1.7 mile) or a 10 km (6.2 miles) race. The course will run through the wooded terrain of Maybury Park.

All participants will be awarded a medal and be eligible for prizes.

The race is being sponsored by the SOLAR Club (School for Outdoor Leadership, Adventure and Recreation), an outdoor organization with heavy emphasis on cross-country skiing. Sportventure shop in Westchester Square mall in Plymouth, the cross-country ski rental at Maybury, and the University of Michigan's Family Practice Center at Chelsea, a medical care facility.

"Ski racing is an excellent way to get out and exercise in the winter," says Peggy Alford, administrative associate of the Department of Family Practice. "The sponsors believe that too often people dismiss the idea of entering a race because they believe racing is a sport for only a few physically trained elite.

"NOT TRUE. Citizen's cross country ski races are to skiers what fun runs are to runners. The intent of this event is to debunk that myth by encouraging new skiers to participate in the 3 km event. For those beyond the entry level, a 10 km race will be held simultaneously.

"Participation in a ski race can be a very personal experience," adds Alford. "One does not necessarily have to compete with other racers. It can be an opportunity to simply ski at one's own pace on a perfectly groomed course. Skiing on a freshly track-set, groomed course is one of the major reasons for participating in a race."

The entrance to Maybury State Park is about one-half mile west of Beck Road. Pre-registration is requested and the fee is $6. Late registration will be available the day of the race at $8. For specifics call Alford at 764-8010 during regular business hours or Sportventure at 459-0820 weekends after 5 p.m.

Police officer was courteous

To the editor:
I recently was involved in an automobile accident. As a result I came in contact with a policeman for the first time.

Being in an accident is not, by any means, an enjoyable experience. But thanks to Plymouth Police Officer Wayne Carroll, my experience was not as traumatic as it could have been. Officer Carroll was professional, courteous and understanding.

I feel that Officer Carroll should be recognized as being an asset to the Plymouth Police Department. If only everyone in need of a policeman's services could be aided by an individual like Officer Carroll.

Charles Martin Smith is a naive young biologist who is flown in to the Arctic, where he establishes a base camp and studies wolves in their habitat, in "Never Cry Wolf," from Walt Disney Pictures.

the movies
Dan Greenberg

Cinematography takes adventure out of ordinary

"Never Cry Wolf," based on Canadian author Farley Mowat's best-seller, is beautifully photographed. The storyline, however, is pretty dippy and Director Carroll Ballard ("The Black Stallion") might better have given us a credible hero with some knowledge of Arctic survival techniques.

Biologist Tyler (Charles Martin Smith) is sent to the Arctic by an unnamed government agency's "Project Lupis" to study wolves who are attacking and destroying caribou herds. Stereotypically tough, hard-drinking bush-pilot Rosie, played with great gusto by Brian Dennehy, dumps Tyler and his supplies in the middle of a frozen lake.

As far as film realism goes, we're in trouble right here. Long ago "Nanook of the North" taught us that the Arctic afternoon priority is finding shelter. Not so our friend Tyler.

He sits around ruminating about isolation and what he's supposed to be doing up there. Finally he checks the supplies furnished by the unnamed government agency. He's stuck with lots of canned asparagus and a shortwave radio picking up Russian music.

ACTUALLY THIS unnamed government agency sent along extensive supplies, miraculously more than Rosie's plane could carry. Later on we see Tyler with a typewriter, elaborate binoculars, lots of books and much scientific gear including beakers and graduated cylinders (they make great beer mugs).

His only sensible supply was 24 cases of beer — his idea, not the government's. Maybe he wasn't so dumb after all. Tyler, a one-man litter epidemic, bumbles along, scattering supplies everywhere he goes.

The film generally lacks a coherent sense of place. The locales are never clearly related to one another. Most of Tyler's gear is stored in a base-camp hut. Sometimes he lives in a tent near the den of two white wolves (George and Angelique) to whom he becomes attached emotionally. We never saw him set up base camp and his tent seemed to move around unannounced.

Tyler never would have trekked the Arctic at all if he hadn't found shelter the first day. After Rosie the pilot left, Tyler is saved from his own stupidity and lack of preparation by an Eskimo hunter-hero type, Ootek (Zachary Littimangnaq), who appears on and off throughout the film with his adopted son, Mike (Samson Jorah).

At least they had enough sense to come in out of the cold. Ootek's philosophy, lore and survival techniques save Tyler's body and soul as he comes to grips with nature, man's encroachment, and his own immaturity.

THE FILM PROVIDES some interesting voice-over narration by Tyler. Gradually he understands the power of nature in face of civilization's threat. Even Tyler eventually learns to live with man's insignificance. Mike and Ootek show him the way.

The cinematography is well worth the price of admission, as are the extended wildlife sequences. Hiro Narita, director of photography, provides ample and gorgeous Arctic panoramas. Vast expanses of snow are intermittently punctuated with forest patches and rock outcroppings as Rosie's plane ferries Tyler to his remote location.

The storms, the animals and the natural growth of the brief Arctic summer are pleasurable to view.

Man's insignificance and animal resilience are photographically strong. Several scenes set Tyler as a tiny creature against the vast and snowy Arctic expanse. The animals are clearly photographed in close view, cavorting and surviving, fatalistically serene as they were meant to be.

Although very well done, the photography tends to over use the extreme closeup. One such shot of an awakening eye is probably sufficient. Tyler's experiment with a mice diet is effectively shot in closeup as the living compatriots of his lunch peek out accusingly.

All told, "Never Cry Wolf" is lovely to look at but confusing to follow. If you don't expect a realistic storyline, you'll probably enjoy this Arctic animal story.

A thriller! Chiefs win '84 mat war

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

The largest crowd ever to witness a dual wrestling meet at Plymouth Canton saw an absolute thriller Thursday night.

And they saw the home team prevail. Canton and Plymouth Salem dueled right down to the final match before the Chiefs escaped with a 30-27 victory.

Actually, the final score was 31-27, but the Chiefs were penalized a point at the meet's conclusion for piling onto the mat in a premature victory celebration.

But, who could blame them. It was their moment of triumph. It was the moment they conquered their historically unconquerable neighbors.

"TODAY IS a very bright moment in the Chiefs' wrestling history," Canton coach Dan Chrenko said. "We put it all on the line, and we came out on top. That's what it's all about. This was a great win for us."

The Rocks, a team made up primarily of underclassmen, were not expected to win this backyard showdown. But, they came awfully close.

"I'm very disappointed we didn't win the meet because I really thought we were going to," Salem coach Ron Krueger said. "Everyone said we were the underdogs, that we didn't have a chance against them. I didn't believe that for one minute."

"My feelings were, we had a real good chance of winning the meet, and if we wrestled again, I'd still feel we had a chance to win."

Salem was ahead of Canton, 27-25, going into the final match — the heavyweights.

It's a funny thing about wrestling: The meets, really, are won and lost in the earlier matches. But, in a close meet, it always comes down to the heavyweights. They are always there when the meet's on the line.

THUS, THERE was Canton's Jim Malson and Salem's Marc Cygan, meeting in the middle of the mat, with the crowd standing and yelling, the meet on the line.

Three minutes into the match, Malson pinned Cygan to give the Chiefs the victory. It was the third time Malson has pulled out a meet for the Chiefs.

"That's why Jimmy gets the big bucks," joked Chrenko. "He is really developing into a good, good heavyweight."

Malson's pin gave Canton the victory, but he would have never had the chance had it not been for Ernie Krumm.

Salem had raced ahead of the Chiefs 24-19 after Eric Retting's pin of Canton's Wein Yeung in 4:28 at 167 pounds. Krumm and Jamie Wochuk were up next at 187. This was a match Krueger believed his team would take.

"I thought we were in good shape heading down the home stretch," Krueger said.

But, Krumm, who was behind in points, rolled Wochuk over and pinned him at 4:28.

"That doesn't happen, we win the meet," Krueger said. "There were a couple of situations where we lost the meet, really. I'm not going to single out any one."

SCOTT TASKER wrestled Salem's Bruce Zak to a tie at 157 in a pivotal match. Zak, in two previous matches with Tasker, had pinned him and beat him 17-1. This time, Tasker wrestled him to a 4-4 standoff, and each team got two points.

"We stayed in a position to win the match, even though we had some slip ups," Chrenko said. "We didn't do it the way we wanted to, but we didn't give up."

Canton raced to a 11-0 lead after getting decisions in the first three matches. Jeff Condit (100), Heath Smith (107) and Todd Gattoni (114), were all winners.

Then Salem bounced back. Rick Vershove beat Tim Birely at 121, 7-1. But, that was a moral victory for the Chiefs. Vershove was expected to pin Birely, but the young Chief held him off.

At 128, Salem senior Steve Grytza, making his first appearance since an injury, pinned John Allmand in 3:00.

THEN JOHN Jeannotte, who was wrestling despite an injury, defeated Canton's Jim Parks, 17-2 — Salem suddenly was ahead 14-11.

Tim Collins got the lead back for Canton in the 140 match, outpointing Bill Morely 9-0. Collins is now 26-2 on the year.

"You know, they say wrestling is an individual sport. But our kids are really developing the definition of the word 'team'," Chrenko said.

Rock netters trip Falcons

It was a busy week for the Plymouth Salem volleyball team.

They placed second in the Bishop Foley tournament a week ago Saturday, lost to Livonia Stevenson Monday and beat a tough Farmington team Wednesday.

The long week may have taken its toll on the Rocks, because their performance against the Falcons, was none too impressive despite the victory, 16-14, 13-15, 15-9.

"Neither team played well," said Rock coach Jeanne Martin. "We played for about an hour and 45 minutes. Noone seemed to want to take it to the other. It was pretty bad."

In the third game, the Rocks finally got things going offensively.

"We always play good defense and serve consistently. But, the kids know if they are going to win they are going to have to do it offensively," Martin said.

Martin said nobody performed exceptionally well against Farmington, but she praised the efforts of Kelly Bemiss, Shelly Staszal, Sarah Wallman and Lisa Madis in the Foley tournament.

The Rocks are 2-2 in dual matches this year. They will host Northville tonight.

PLYMOUTH CANTON continues to play well and lose.

They played host to Livonia Churchill Wednesday, and the Chargers escaped with a 16-14, 16-11 victory.

The Chargers are now 4-1, while the Chiefs are 0-4. But, Canton coach Peggy Moore is not about to give up.

"Everybody did a good job. The first game we could have won. We were ahead 14-11 then we got excited and lost our composure," she said.

The difference in the match was Churchill's stronger hitters. They kept the Chiefs on the defensive most of the match.

Cindy Fisher and Jennifer Gorecki played strong floor games for the Chiefs, while Kris Ingersole and Laura Darby were strong at the net.

Things won't get easier for the Chiefs. They travel to Livonia tonight to play Stevenson.

DAN DEAN/staff photographer

The frustration of the Plymouth Canton volleyball team is expressed perfectly by Jennifer Gorecki. The Chiefs have lost four straight matches to begin the season. The most recent loss was to Livonia Churchill Wednesday night. Coach Peggy Moore hopes things will turn around soon.

Chiefs get back on winning track

Graceful Linda Beale was superb Wednesday against Northville. The Canton gymnast won three of the four events in the Chiefs' victory.

It was a meet of firsts for the Plymouth Canton gymnastics team. It was the first time the Chiefs placed 10 performers, it was the first time the team has earned a regional qualifying score and it was their first victory of the season.

All that had Canton coach John Cunningham smiling Wednesday as his team defeated Northville 115.35-100.75.

"This is the best overall team I've had," said Cunningham, who has had some awfully good teams in his career. "Once we get past the jitters, we'll look real good."

Linda Beale may have already over-

gymnastics

come the jitters. She won three of the four events and placed second in the other.

BEALE SCORED an 8.0 to win the uneven parallel bars. Her 7.35 captured the balance beam and her 8.4 won the floor exercise.

She placed second on the vault with an 8.3. Chief teammate Annette Bryce won the event with an 8.3.

Beale won all-around honors amassing 31.95 points.

Bryce took second in the bars (7.45), second in the floor exercise (8.0) and fourth in the beam (6.55).

The Rocks were solid in the vault and floor exercise, capturing five of the top six places. Besides Bryce and Beale, Canton placed Helen Zahn (7.2), freshman Joanne Dobry (6.9) and Maureen Brophy (6.85), four, five and six, in the vault.

In the floor exercise, Lisa Lovich (7.6), Cheryl Battaglia (7.0), and Cindy Wyant (6.8), placed four-five-six behind Beale and Bryce.

Also scoring for the Rocks were: Lovich (fifth) in the beam, freshman Megan McGow (third) and Ann Marie Capris (sixth) in the bars.

"Getting the first of the four regional qualifying scores is real pleasing," Cunningham said. Teams need to score 115 or more points four times to qualify for the state regional tournament March 10.

The Rocks (1-1) travel to Walled Lake Western tonight, then to Wayne Memorial on Wednesday.

Briggs leads Ocelots in overtime

Schoolcraft College has lost some tough men's basketball games in the last couple of weeks. Last Wednesday the Ocelots won one.

Schoolcraft scoring sensation Carlos Briggs hit three of four free throws in the final 10 seconds of overtime to ice a 78-77 triumph at Flint Delta. The Ocelots are now 8-10 overall and 1-3 in the Eastern Conference.

Schoolcraft trailed by two with a minute left in regulation when guard

Doug Gates rebounded a missed Delta shot and drove down the court. Gates rifled a pass to Pat Martin, who was fouled with 54 seconds left. Martin hit both free throws to knot it at 69.

Delta's James Lacey had a chance to win it in regulation, but he missed two free throws with 10 seconds left after Schoolcraft called two consecutive time outs.

BRIGGS TOOK charge in overtime, scoring five points. James Orr had the other four Ocelot points in the extra period.

"Carlos came to play," Schoolcraft coach Rocky Watkins said of Briggs' performance, which included 35 points and six assists.

The game was tied at 75 with 20 seconds remaining when Schoolcraft's Vince Merriweather missed the first free throw in a one-and-one situation. Briggs rebounded and was fouled with 10 seconds to go. He hit one of two, then stole the inbound pass and was fouled again. He clinched the victory by hitting both foul shots with three seconds left, giving the Ocelots a 78-75 lead.

Orr contributed great defense (nine steals) to the win as well as 18 points on nine for 13 shooting. Merriweather had eight points, seven rebounds and six assists. Tony Ford topped Delta with 27 points.

Chiefs rule mat wars, edge Rocks

"They are really pulling together. They see Johnny Allmand get stuck and instead of saying, 'Oh my, that wasn't supposed to happen' and getting down, they just go out there and say, 'OK, now I've got to come through.'"

The crowd was fantastic. And both teams responded with thrilling matches.

"The crowd was just great," Chrenko said. "I know it got the kids fired up. They were really excited. It was a great battle. The people really got their money's worth."

Said Krueger: "I think a lot of the people were there to see what happened happen. I think there a lot of people who wanted to see us lose. But, there were a lot of people there that wanted to see us win, too."

The win puts the Chiefs at 6-0 in Western Lakes meets, 6-2 overall. Salem is now 3-1 overall and in the league.

"There's no excuses, no alibis," Krueger said. "They beat us. They did a good job. But, the league meet is still coming — and so are we."

Chiefs derailed by hot Western

If you live by the bomb, sometimes you are going to die by the bomb.

So it went for the Plymouth Canton basketball team Friday night, as the Chiefs fell to a charged up, hot-shooting Walled Lake Western team, 71-60.

"We ran into a buzz saw tonight," said Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner. "We ran into a very, very inspired team. They played well, and shot extremely well. We couldn't get the fast-break going because they just didn't miss many shots."

Torrid outside shooting has been the Chiefs' trademark this season, but on this night in Walled Lake, the Chiefs could hit just 23 of 69 shots. Canton had been shooting better than 50 percent from the floor.

"We played with intensity and we played smart," said Van Wagoner. "They were just a better team than us tonight. We are a better team, they were just better than we were tonight."

Western led 33-30 at the half and extended the lead to seven points, 49-42 after three. Western pulled away late in the game, outscoring the Chiefs 22-18 in the final eight minutes.

Mark Bennett led the Chiefs with 15 points. Gary Thomas and Jim Schlicker scored 13. Mike Jennings helped out with 12.

Western's Rob Wendland led all scorers with 17 points. Kyle Chura added 12.

Van Wagoner took the loss in stride. "I think this will help our team. We had a real bad week and still got a split. I think we will improve because of it. I'm not down at all," he said.

The Chiefs are now 5-2 in Western Lakes play, 7-3 overall. Western is 4-3, 6-4 overall.

PLYMOUTH CHRISTIAN 60, LUTHERAN NW 44: Ah, that's more like it. The Eagles finally broke a long losing spell with a convincing triumph over Farmington Lutheran Northwest.

"It was a game we should have really won. What scared me was, it was exam week and traditionally we don't do well during exam week," said Plymouth Christian coach Butch DeRenzo.

But, the Eagles got 20 points from Pat McCarthy, 19 points and 14 rebounds from Rob Cannon and 12 points from Rod Windle to rout Northwestern.

Plymouth's man-to-man defense created 27 turnovers, which resulted in 27 points for the Eagles. Plymouth is now 3-7 on the season.

PLYMOUTH SALEM 67, WL CENTRAL 38: The Rocks routed the Vikings in front of the home folks for their ninth straight win.

It was just a five-point spread at the half, but the Rocks came out firing in the second half to blow Central away.

Erich Hartnett established a new school single-game assist record. He dished out 13 assists, eclipsing Rich Hewlett's 1977-78 record of 12. Hartnett also scored 11 points.

Rick Berberet led the Rocks with 17 points. Jeff Arnold made six of eight shots for 13 points.

The Rocks scored 25 points in the final quarter.

Rock swimmers sink Falcons

Plymouth Salem's swim team handed Farmington its first loss of the season Thursday, dunking the Falcons 96-76 to stay in contention for the Western Lakes Activities Association title.

Farmington (5-1) lost for the first time despite taking firsts in seven of the 11 events.

"It was a tough meet," Salem coach Chuck Olson said. "They took quite a few firsts that made it kind of tense. We swam well as a team. They had some people out and just weren't deep enough."

Salem, which raised its league record to 3-0 (5-1 overall), showed its depth by taking enough seconds and thirds to offset Farmington's first place finishers.

Bob Bowling took top honors in the 50-yard freestyle (23.0) and was followed closely by teammate Scott Anderson (23.1).

Anderson also took a second in the 100-freestyle (50.2) behind teammate Erik Kleinsmith, who was victorious in 49.9.

Bowling, Kleinsmith and Anderson combined with Greg Wolf to win the 400 freestyle relay in a season's best time of 3:24.4.

Salem also finished second in the event with a team comprised of Rich Hornby, Bill Matthews, Chuck Eudy and Jim Burns.

The Rocks' other individual winner was Wolf, who was clocked in 5:11.2 in capturing the 500-freestyle. Teammate Jon Cain took second (5:26.3).

The Falcons were led by double winner Alec Campbell, who took firsts in the 200-freestyle (1:50.0) and 100-butterfly (54.8).

Other individual winners for Farmington were: Mike Wolford, 200-individual medley (2:14.9); Andy Burns, diving (179.25 points); Jay Weaver, 100 backstroke (1:01.3) and Eric Davis, 100-breaststroke (1:07.0).

Weaver, Davis, Wolford, Campbell teamed with Fred Courville to win the 200 medley relay in 1:45.5.

Salem also swam past Trenton Tuesday, behind double winners Kleinsmith and Anderson.

STEVENSON 105, CANTON 67: Double winners Greg Deska and Jeff Albert paced the Spartans' easy win over Plymouth Canton Thursday.

Deska was victorious in the 200-individual medley (2:12.6) and 100-butterfly (59.2), while Albert captured both the 200- (1:56.7) and 500- (5:16.2) freestyles.

Both also had a hand in Stevenson's first place 400-freestyle relay effort, combining with Dennis Word and Lewis Ministrelli to win in 6:37.0.

Other individual Spartan winners were Kurt Hein, who won the 50-freestyle in 23.1 and Word, who took first place in the 100-freestyle (58.8).

Stevenson improved its dual meet record to 5-1 with the victory. The Chiefs fell to 2-4.
