Likely refusal on Y location

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

The Plymouth Community Family YMCA's search for a construction site apparently will continue if the Plymouth Township Board accepts the recommendations of the township planner.

Partly due to land use limitations, the planner has recommended the township retain ownership of the triangular parcel between Ann Arbor Trail, Powell and Beck roads.

The YMCA's site selection committee approached the township about the property in December for construction of a full-service Y facility.

Based on studies commissioned by the Y, committee chairman Albert Calille earlier said construction of a 35,000 square-foot facility was feasible. The selection committee has been in search of a site since last year.

Earlier efforts to obtain sites in Canton had proven unsuccessful. The Plymouth Township site probably will fall by the wayside if the planner's recommendation is followed.

The township planner, James Anulewicz of Norman L. Dietrich Associates, was asked to review the Y's plans after a discussion of the property at a Dec. 13 meeting. Anulewicz's recommendation will be presented to the board tomorrow night.

"We would recommend that the township retain ownership of the triangular parcel for the following reasons," Anulewicz says in a four-page report of his study.

"The area available is not adequate to meet the space needs of the YMCA building and parking program without producing a development which would be far more intense than what is proposed for the area.

"In order to insure sufficient protection for abutting residential areas, the community has dictated that any development of this property should include substantial amounts of open space and landscape areas," he wrote.

"Development of the subject property for a YMCA facility would preclude any future expansion of the township golf course."

ORIGINALLY, THE TOWNSHIP discussed building a two-story township hall on the property. Those plans, however, have given way to the idea of expanding the municipal Hilltop Glenn golf course parking and/or clubhouse facilities.

A major concern to building on the triangular property are road rights-of-way and speculation about a realignment of Powell Road's approach to Ann Arbor Trail.

A 1977 realignment plan for Powell Road, introduced by the Wayne County Road Commission, would result in cutting the parcel into two smaller triangular parcels.

"The newly created parcels would not meet the overall land area needs of the YMCA program," according to Anulewicz.

Reportedly, the Y is interested in municipally owned parcels, hoping for donation of the property. However, Calille told Supervisor Maurice Breen in December the Y was prepared to buy the property.

"I don't want to turn off the board by saying we're looking for a donation. We're prepared to purchase the property; however we wouldn't turn down a donation," Calille said.

Earlier the YMCA was looking for sites in Canton Township but has been unable to make any deals in that community.

The township board will decide what to do at tomorrow's regular meeting beginning at 7:30 p.m. in Township Hall, the corner of Mill and Ann Arbor Road.

Valentine Day special cake's work of love

Robert Coffey and Dale Cassady want customers to feel loved at their newly opened Donut Gallery on Michigan Avenue west of I-275 in Canton.

They've furnished the shop — a one-time diner built in 1938 — with cushioned stools, a television and several newspaper stands. Coffee refills are free.

The entrepreneurs are all heart when it comes to holidays. It was a labor of love transforming 25 pounds of yeast-raised dough, strawberry and buttercream frosting into a family sized valentine. Coffey, 28, of Farmington, spent five pre-dawn hours at it.

Both Coffey and Livonia's Cassady find operating their 24-hour "growing franchise of one" leaves little time to relax — holidays or no holidays.

"We work 20-hour days, and sleep for six hours on our day off. And then we dream doughnuts," said Coffey, who worked "at more than 50 different doughnut shops" before opening his own.

"Dale was taking a nap on the couch in the office a while back when his buddy stopped by to visit. He woke Dale up and Dale, mistaking his friend for an employee, told him to 'get out there and start baking,'" laughed Coffey.

Both harbor affection for their new-found occupations. Dale, a former bar owner, says "it's a nice change." Coffey doesn't regret forsaking his job as a golf cart mechanic. "I keep sneaking back into the doughnut business. It must mean something," he says.

The partners raised $30,000 and launched their venture last November. Business has been slow, "but it's picking up," they say.

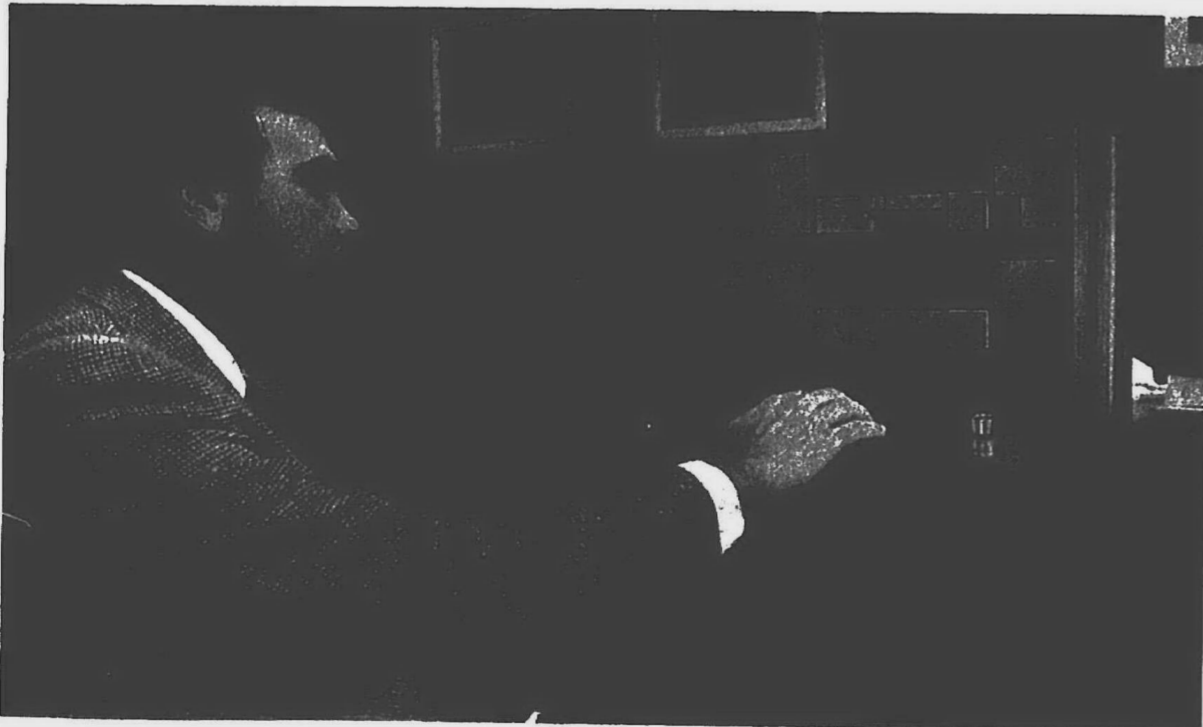

"People like the homey atmosphere we're trying to create," said Coffey. "We're trying to get away from the factory, get-them-in, get-them-out setting. Our place is mellow and laid back. Bring the kids!"

Joe Sullivan shows how to set up his "talking computer" to handle a volume of telephone calls

Businessman develops worker who talks, but won't talk back

By Gary M. Cates
staff writer

For less than $5,000, Plymouth businessman Joe Sullivan can sell you a worker that won't ask for raises, does what it's told to do, and will out-work most humans.

This amazing worker, called the Prospector I, is a computerized automatic phone dialer that carries on two-way conversations.

Applications of Prospector I, according to Sullivan, are limitless. He sells the machines throughout Michigan from his Wing Street office as part of the Rummel and Associates marketing network.

The walnut-cased device is built in Dayton, Ohio, by the Prospect Computer Corp., and marketed nationally by Rummel and Associates.

The Prospector I and similar machines quickly are becoming, the wave of the future for businesses involved in telemarketing. Other uses are being found by governments and large groups.

Through the use of two tape decks and a computerized dialing system, the Prospector I can make up to 1,000 calls a day — playing a pre-recorded message and taping responses.

Phone numbers can be punched into the machine, or it can start from a given number and work upwards. The automatic caller will redial numbers which were busy or unanswered.

"Fifty years ago you had the Fuller Brush man going door-to-door. Nowadays nobody's home. This is the advantage of our machine: It remembers all the busy and not home numbers and goes back to them four separate times during the day," Sullivan said.

Businesses, such as insurance companies which rely on phone contacts to sell their services, can benefit from such technology, he said.

"Doing phone surveys is a terrible job. People hang up on you — they are rude to you. It's a time-consuming job and is terribly boring.

"This can do the job of three people, and it won't change the message and doesn't tire out," he said.

Instead of using personnel to make endless calls, Sullivan said those people can follow up on interested contacts made by Prospector I.

"Wouldn't you rather talk to people who are interested in hearing what you have to say?"

BESIDES IT'S telemarketing capabilities, an automatic dialing machine offers help to school districts, churches, and department stores.

Sears, Roebuck and Co. uses an automatic dialer to notify catalogue customers when their order has arrived.

Politicians have used such machines for canvassing voters, while churches use them for contacting their members with timely information.

Some school districts have bought the machines for checking on absent students.

Program for handicapped needs help

By Arlene Funke
staff writer

A newly created recreation program for mentally and physically impaired children and adults is looking for participants and helpers.

Canton Township and the city of Plymouth are financing the service, called Western Wayne County Therapeutic Recreation. It began in November, said Mike Gouin, recreation superintendent for Canton.

Some of the activities have included bowling at SuperBowl Lanes in Canton and open gym time at the Salvation Army in Plymouth. Also planned are parties and ice skating.

A Boy Scout troop for physically disabled is being organized at the Bailey Recreation Center in Westland in conjunction with the Tri City Recreation program of Wayne, Westland and Garden City.

GOUIN WAS unable to provide specific figures on how many are taking part. Efforts are being made to increase participation through mailings to schools, group homes and other organizations serving the handicapped.

"The majority are from group homes," Gouin said. "The program is for anybody with a mental or physical handicap of any type. We want to hear from people — we want to offer (programs) they need," he added.

Newly hired, part-time director Diane Rossiter will work 20-24 hours a week on the service. Rossiter, a speech therapist, ran a summer recreation program in Redford Township for mentally and physically impaired people for eight years, Gouin said.

Rossiter replaces Jeff Jones, who

Sponsors and financial backers are Canton and the city of Plymouth.

Plymouth Township's board of trustees in December approved a financial commitment of $1,200 to become a "patron" of the program, Gouin said.

That donation would free Plymouth Township of any liability, yet allow Plymouth Township residents to participate in the recreation events without paying an extra fee, Gouin said.

THE MAXIMUM budget for 1984 is $12,500, Gouin said. The percentages of all expenses are based on each community's percentage of the total population.

Canton, with its 48,000 population, will carry the major budget load. Physically and mentally impaired residents of other communities may participate for a small extra fee, according to Gouin. Efforts are being made to gain financial participation from neighboring communities such as Northville, Northville Township and Van Buren.

"Serving several communities gives us a larger service area," Gouin said. "Northville and Northville Township are trying to identify participants in their area. They aren't in a position to participate financially."

Service clubs, businesses and individuals are helping out by supplying funds or volunteers, Gouin said. More is needed. The Civitans Club, which aids the mentally impaired, has pledged a "considerable amount," he added.

Anyone who wants to find out more about the new recreation program may call the Canton Township recreation department at 397-1000.

Power won't run for House

Citing personal and family reasons, University of Michigan regent Sarah Goddard Power announced this week she won't seek the Democratic nomination for U.S. Representative in the 2nd Congressional District.

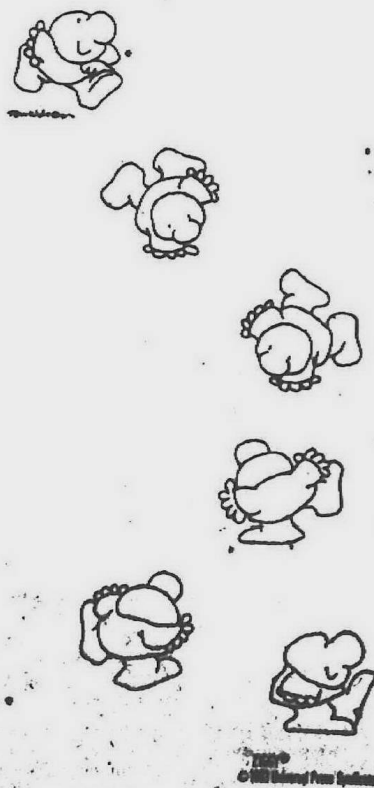

The announcement came about a week after she revealed she was commissioning a poll to test the waters against four-term incumbent Carl Pursell, R-Plymouth.

"As a regent of the University of Michigan, I hold a position of public trust," she said. "There are major initiatives taking place at U-M at this time. I wish to continue my participation in those activities."

"I have decided that those challenges, along with my family responsibilities, are my main priorities at this time. I want to stress that my decision is based on personal considerations rather than political ones."

Mrs. Power is serving her second term on the U-M board. She and her husband Philip, owner of Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, have an 22-month-old son.

Tomorrow's clerks today

TAKING A LOOK into tomorrow's office, one sees many changes taking place. There will be a closeness between the office employee and electronic equipment.

Office workers will make a greater contribution to the organization they work for and gain personal satisfaction when doing so.

Word processing, the most used form of office automation, will increase production volume by several hundred percent.

In years to come, most office workers will find their jobs involved with one or more electronic devices.

That's what the future work world may look like, and the vocational education program of Plymouth-Canton Community Schools is geared up to prepare students for that world.

The link between future jobs and learning goals of today was made by Harold Gaertner, director of vocational Education, while noting the observance this week of Michigan Vocational Education Week, Feb. 12-18.

STUDENTS AT Plymouth-Canton Community Schools taking the clerical laboratory require a prerequisite of Typing II, a beginning office training course designed to cover activities for the clerical student.

After completion of a basic review and machine rotations, each student chooses a career goal and concentrates on gaining additional skills. These areas include typing improvement, filing, communication skills, human relations, grooming, duplication, and general office procedures.

"The clerical lab provides an excellent opportunity for students to gain necessary skills, develop maturing, poise, and become employable," said instructor Chris Matson.

Vocational technician Lisa Huth works in both areas with students who need extra help to upgrade skills. She is a resource person as well as a counselor when personal problems arise.

Secretarial/Word Processing Lab is an advanced office training course designed to prepare students for entry level secretarial employment. Students are given the opportunity to use word processing equipment, understand its concepts and investigate its application and opportunities for employment in the modern office.

Emphasis is placed on advanced typing, interview techniques, and a variety of office tasks. Upon completion of this course, graduates will be able to go directly into an office with a good job without further training if desired.

SOME STUDENTS gain employment in the community through the cooperative training program while they still are in school.

Often the student is offered fulltime employment after graduation in these same offices because of the effective productive training they have received. Joan Savage, instructor, would like to see more students take advantage of the opportunities in the office vocational programs to acquire skills needed in our high tech and computer age.

Word processing, communication, and organizational skills are invaluable tools to have vocationally as well as for personal use.

Other courses offered by Plymouth-Canton Community Schools, which are vocational-oriented and which frequently lead to employment, include:

Vocational design, clerical, secretarial, senior word processing lab, sales person, store management, health assistant, dental assistant, health occupation, cosmetology, advanced machine shop, auto mechanics, auto body repair, construction technology, welding, architectural graphics, commercial foods, and child care.

Local authors publish book for job seekers

Fred DeRoche, vice president of Odiorne International Inc. of Plymouth, announced today the publication of a 240-page book for involuntarily terminated employees.

Entitled Now It's Your Turn: A Guide for the Outplaced Employee, the book is co-authored by two Odiorne associates, DeRoche and Mary McDougall, and is being published by Prentice-Hall Inc., Englewood Cliffs, N.J.

"The recent recession has made outplacement a new process by which employers can separate the people they must let go, whether it be caused by the need for a leaner workforce, a merger, or an acquisition," said DeRoche.

"Outplacement has been around for nearly 20 years but usually was only provided for executives. Structured outplacement assistance for all workers is a new development in human resources management and will last long after the memory of the past recession is forgotten."

The book, explained DeRoche, grew out of McDougall's and his career and from their outplacement counseling experience in plant closings. "There wasn't anything available on the market in 1980 to help outplaced individuals cope with their unemployment and to assist them in their job search."

"All the self-help manuals were geared toward those who voluntarily chose to seek a new position," added

DeRoche. "Losing your job coupled with a tight or non-existent job market makes the emotional dynamics considerably difficult."

"The unemployed job seekers often do not know what to do next. Now It's Your Turn places the responsibility on the reader by engaging him/her with abundant exercises with a practical and realistic focus."

THE BOOK IS written in a personal, conversational and counseling style, said McDougall.

The text covers in detail all major career and lifestyle options which job hunters often do not consider, such as relocation, early retirement, dual career couples, changing careers, and marketing of self after a thorough assessment of one's values, skills and goals.

"The book considers the emotional and traumatic aspect of termination on employees and their families," added McDougall.

Readers follow a step-by-step rational approach for setting goals and determining schedules to insure successful re-employment, said DeRoche. "The last chapter carries the outplaced employee beyond acquiring a new job by emphasizing the importance of succeeding in the new position, such matters as getting promotions, "managing the boss and resolving conflicts."

The book can be used individually, or as a text in group training programs sponsored by companies, for continuing education programs or social agencies, or in counseling programs. A 91-page instructors/counselor's manual is available which provides program designs and additional instructional/counseling materials.

The book is available in paperback at $8.95 or cloth-bound at $15.95 at local bookstores or directly from the ordering department of Prentice-Hall Inc., Englewood Cliffs, N.J. 07632 (phone 201-767-4520).

Auto dealer sees changes

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

As the national economy rises, the automobile industry is going to get bigger and better, but in a much different fashion than it was before the world's unrest. This time, it will not be dominated by American-built cars.

That, at least, is the opinion of Jack Selle, the former Buick dealer on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth who retired five years ago.

Sitting at the luncheon table the other day, he said he has enjoyed his retirement and has had a chance to look at the industry from a different point of view.

"I honestly think that the foreign-built cars are going to be the most popular. There are signs of that now as one foreign car after another is coming to this area."

He bases his opinion on the recent poll of the Society of Automotive Engineers, who have placed all foreign cars in the Top Ten.

"According to the engineers," Selle said, "they have taken a good look at the components and the building of the cars and have the foreign cars way above the American models.

"There was a time when the American car was the tops — or most popular — but then came the recession and the world turned away from what were termed 'gas guzzlers,' and we were treated to all sorts of small cars."

THAT TREND is changing now, and the American people are going for the large cars again, but not in as great a number as before.

Then in an after-thought he said he has no plans to get back into the whirl of things.

"I'd never go back as a dealer, but I might some day join with a partner in holding a franchise. But the day-to-day struggle is out. I am enjoying myself just as things are now."

Since his retirement, when he sold the Buick agency to Dick Scott, Selle has divided his time between Plymouth and Harbor Springs. He owns a yacht and enjoys his time on the craft up there doing the summer.

He did give a hint that he would like to return to a big game hunting expedition to Africa if things ever quieted down over there.

HIS APPETITE was whetted for such an expedition when he recently received a promotional letter, telling of the large herds of wild animals.

He has been an avid hunter and over the years has been fortunate enough to bag enough wild game to fill his trophy room on Beacon Hill.

For the time being, though, he is satisfied to read the Wall Street Journal in the mornings and then visit around the area for the remainder of the day.

He hasn't found retirement boring as he admits he is enjoying every day — just eagerly awaiting to see the great change he feels is sure to come in the automobile industry.

Presbyterians met when Plymouth was wilderness

(Part 3)

After the death of his first wife, James Purdy, one of the founders of the First Presbyterian Church of Plymouth, married a widow, Matilda Blauvelt. They had three children.

Purdy was active in civic affairs as well as in church work. A school trustee in 1828, he was one of Plymouth Township's Poor Directors in 1830. He was supervisor of the township in 1831 and a tax assessor in 1837.

At the time his brother Robert wrote the memoir in 1853, James Purdy still was living on his farm in Plymouth. He died at age 84 in 1864 and is buried in Riverside Cemetery.

One of Purdy's sons, Jim, was living in the farmhouse on Sheldon Road at the turn of the century when Norma Cassady was a young girl. She remembers that he had a large collection of Indian relics and stuffed birds and animals.

When he died, his daughter, Nettie Purdy Moore, sold the farm and moved the collection to a house on Starkweather where she established a museum. When she closed the museum, she sold the collection. Her egg and nest collection was bought by the University of Michigan. Many of the Indian relics went to a New York State museum. She died in the late 1920s.

PAUSE HERE TO consider what Plymouth was like in 1833 when Ira Bronson, James Purdy and their families and friends took time out from laboring in the fields to lay the foundation of what has become a church of more than 1,100 members with a church school enrollment of 170.

In 1833 Plymouth Township, then four times its present size, included Northville and the area called "South Plymouth" which split off the following year to form Canton Township.

past and present

Sam Hudson

What later became the village of Plymouth was a tiny frontier community whose nucleus was the area now called Kellogg Park. Michigan still was a territory. Its first governor, 23-year-old Stevens T. Mason, did not take office until 1835.

The first post office here was called Plymouth Corners. Its first postmaster, Gideon P. Benton, carried the mail in his hat or tied in a handkerchief. Eight four-horse stages of the Detroit to Ann Arbor, stage coach route passed through Plymouth daily.

The few Potawatomi Indians who traversed the area on their way toward Detroit were generally friendly. The settlers had less to fear from them than from the wolves which killed sheep and the bears which like pork.

John S. Tibbitts, a church member whose father settled on North Territorial Road in 1825, wrote that the area was then abundant in bear, wolf, lynx, deer, wildcat, fox, raccoon, badger, porcupine, woodchuck, rabbit, mink, weasel and fisher. There also were plenty of eagles, hawks, owls, cranes, partridges, ducks, wild geese, ravens, turkeys, turkey-buzzards, and a variety of smaller birds.

Tibbitts said the settlers used turkey and deer to augment their food supply. They used traps and deadfalls to catch bears and wolves that destroyed domestic animals.

THERE WAS A sawmill built by Luther Lincoln in 1825 on the Middle Rouge River east of the village. He added a grist mill in 1827.

There was a hand-powered mill for grinding corn built by A. B. Markham in 1826. There was a small store opened in 1827 a half mile south of the village. There were a few log school houses, the first having been built about 1830 on Shattuck Hill on Plymouth Road, opposite the entrance to what now is Riverside Cemetery.

As late as 1835, five years after the Presbyterians organized, Plymouth still had only five stores: a wild-cat bank, three taverns, a drug store and the Presbyterian Church. The Methodists had organized as early as 1826, and the Baptists in 1830, but in 1835 their meetings still were being held at Cooper's Corners, west of the village.

By way of contrast, in 1833 when residents of New York City had the opportunity, if so inclined, to attend the opera or the theater, residents of Plymouth were preoccupied with the business of making a living in what still was little more than a wilderness.

When not farming, the Michigan pioneer and his family were out hunting game, catching fish, finding wild-bee honey, picking wild fruits, and trying to stay healthy. The marshes and swamps that existed in Michigan before the land was drained were ideal breeding grounds for malaria carrying mosquitoes.

Snow brings picnic memories

There's an old saying that you can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy.

The truth of the statement comes to mind every winter when the Stroller is stricken with an attack of homesickness.

Every year, as soon as the snow starts to fly in our little town in the Pennsylvania Dutch Country, the churches in town got together and worked out a program of suppers. These went on all winter and all the churches joined in to make them a success.

For instance, as soon as winter comes and the first snow falls, the Presbyterians sponsored an oyster supper in the basement of the church. And they were some dinners! One could get oysters in any style one's heart desired.

Then as the cold weather progressed the German Lutherans sponsored the sauerkraut dinner. And you never saw sauerkraut and pork as those Lutherans served. The suppers were sell-outs every year.

ANOTHER POPULAR evening was the fasnacht (doughnut) supper they served. One could eat doughnuts until his stomach could hold no more. These Reformed people outsmarted the others because they had the day officially named "Donought Day" and they sold doughnuts from door to door. Their donought operation was the best paying of all of the winter events.

Another popular evening came with the roast beef dinner sponsored by the Episcopalians. They had the largest hall and also boasted some good chefs. As a result one could get beef in any style one wanted. That's the way it went throughout the winter months. In fact it spread over into summer when the Irish Catholics asked if they could join and sponsor an ice cream social in their playground.

This request was granted. And over the years the ice cream festival became a carnival and was one of the major events of the summer in our little town.

The big fun came when the Slavish Catholics entered the circle. They put on a dinner that included most everything. They didn't specialize but they guaranteed that you wouldn't leave hungry.

OUT OF THIS round of suppers came another great event. That was a union Sunday School picnic and it was agreed that this event would always be held out of town. In other words it was summertime and a bit of travelling was considered part of the treat. The favorite place was Bellewood, a little park right across the state line in New Jersey. One had to travel by train. But on picnic day it became so popular that the volunteer fire companies and the police department made certain that enough able-bodied men remained at home in case of need.

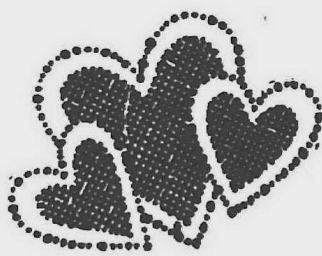

This picnic park in New Jersey had a series of regular cook stoves and it was fun to watch the Pennsylvania Dutch women prepare the picnic meal that was served late in the afternoon.

It was there that the Stroller's mother introduced the other ladies to "red beet" eggs and deviled clams.

YOU ARE INVITED TO AN IMPORTANT FREE SEMINAR.

You may think of an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) primarily as an excellent way to obtain a $2,000 deduction on your income tax every year.

Almost everyone with earned income now has that opportunity. But it is also much more than that. It's an opportunity to add substantially to your retirement funds.

What you may not know — and will discover at this special seminar — is that some IRAs do more for your money than others.

You'll learn how some lock you in to one type of investment. How others limit you to a fixed rate of return. While a Merrill Lynch IRA opens up virtually the entire range of investment opportunities to your money during the important accumulation years.

The reason, of course, is to give it more chances to grow faster. You'll learn how you can choose from over 50 different investments. How you can switch from one to another any time your goals change or new opportunities arise. And why you, like more than 750,000 Merrill Lynch IRA customers, who have invested over five billion dollars to date, can have confidence in our world financial leadership and IRA experience.

Before you make a decision as important as a retirement investment, you should know all your choices. We'll explain them to you. The seminar is free, but reservations are essential. To make yours, please call or mail the coupon today.

WHEN HAND PAIN IS NOT ARTHRITIS

It is reasonable to assume that when your hand hurts, you probably have arthritis. However, there is an instance when the source of your pain is not from the bones, muscles or joints of your hand; the origin could be the median nerve that supplies the palm of your hand. When this nerve is compressed or irritated, your hand feels numb, particularly in the thumb, second and third fingers; at times the pain may move to the elbow and shoulder. Characteristically, the discomfort is most troublesome at night. You may be awakened by a numbness and you have to shake your hand vigorously in order to get rid of the feeling that your hand is asleep.

Treatment for median nerve compression usually is successful and is easily achieved. Therefore if you have a hand problem, it is in your best interest to obtain a physician's evaluation before concluding "arthritis" is something you have to live with.

FOR EXCITING EASY MEALS... COOK ONCE TO DINE TWICE

Modern American cooking has evolved from traditional haute to contemporary chic. Described by some food authorities as "U.S. Continental," this new cooking style combines foods of diverse cultures with ease of preparation and the flair of new ingredients to produce fresh dining excitement.

Part of this "new style" reflects today's lifestyles and interests — more elaborate cooking for weekends and when entertaining, with easy meals planned for hectic weekdays. One secret for streamlining mid-week cooking is by preparing double the poultry or meat and rice required for a party meal. A second day's menu, different in taste and appearance and equally impressive, can then be ready to eat in minutes.

The first step is to choose versatile, complementary food items for your special meal. Succulent Long Island Duckling and fluffy rice, for example, have a natural affinity for one another. Both can be used in a variety of cuisines and recipes, from the basic to gourmet.

Always a favorite restaurant selection, flavorful Long Island Duckling is becoming increasingly popular at home as well. Its affordability, availability and easy of preparation are just a few reasons for the choice. When entertaining, brush the duckling with a bourbon glaze during the last half hour of roasting for simple elegance. Since it cooks virtually unattended until shortly before serving, an additional duckling in the oven is no added work. Wrapped, once roasted, then refrigerated or frozen, the extra cooked duckling tastes as fresh in its encore appearance as did the first day.

To avoid dividing time between the kitchen and guest, prepare all the rice for Bacon Rice and Romaine Stir-Fry ahead of time. A portion of this rice will be removed and refrigerated or frozen for a dividend meal. For added convenience, the remaining ingredients in this non-Oriental stir-fry can also be chopped, sliced and measured in advance.

A few minutes before dinner is served, begin heating the wok. An attractive electric wok makes it possible to cook the rice accompaniment with flair and showmanship at the dinner table. The constant temperature and concentrated heat at the bottom of the wok cook food quickly, heightening the flavor of each ingredient and retaining the food's natural appetizing colors. In no time at all, with little last-minute effort, dinner is complete, as is most of a second meal.

Primavera Duckling and Red Pepper Rice, Duckling Risotto, or any other recipe with "planned over" duckling and rice, is quickly prepared in the wok. Stir-frying is a fast and easy way to prepare all kinds of foods, both leftover and from scratch.

Try the convenient cook-once-to-dine-twice method and you'll wonder how you ever prepared an evening meal without it.

Bourbon Glazed Duckling and Bacon Rice & Romaine Stir-Fry combine in an elegant guest meal with enough "planned over" rice and duckling for a second dividend supper. The rice accompaniment and encore meals can be dramatically prepared in the electric wok at the table to the delight of family and guests. The wok also keeps the food warm during the meal.

BOURBON GLAZED DUCKLING

3 Long Island Ducklings, thawed and quartered

Salt

3/4 cup bourbon
3/4 cup packed light brown sugar
3/4 teaspoon grated lemon peel

Preheat oven to 325°F. Wash duckling quarters; dry with paper toweling. Sprinkle both sides with salt. Arrange skin side up on racks in shallow roasting pans. Prick skin all over with sharp fork or knife. Roast at 325°F. for 1-1/2 hours. Combine bourbon, brown sugar and lemon peel, stirring until sugar dissolves. Brush eight of the duckling quarters generously with glaze, leaving remaining duckling quarters unglazed. Continue roasting, brushing two or three times with glaze, until drumstick meat is fork tender, about 30 minutes. Wrap well and refrigerate or freeze unglazed duckling quarters for Primavera Duckling & Red Pepper Rice or Duckling Risotto. Serve glazed duckling with Bacon Rice & Romaine Stir-Fry. Makes 6 servings.

BACON RICE & ROMAINE STIR-FRY

Dry white wine
3 cans (13 3/4 or 14 1/2 ounces each) chicken broth
3 cups Rice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

1-1/2 teaspoons salt
6 to 7 slices bacon, diced
1/2 pound mushrooms, sliced
3/4 cup chopped onion
3 cups shredded romaine lettuce

Add enough wine to chicken broth to make 6 cups liquid. Bring to a boil in large saucepan. Stir in rice, butter and salt. Cover lightly and simmer 20 minutes. Remove from heat. Let stand covered until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Remove half of the rice (about 5 1/2 cups); cover and refrigerate for Primavera Duckling & Red Pepper Rice or Duckling Risotto. Preheat West Bend Electric Wok to medium-high (375°F.); about 3 minutes. Add bacon. Cook and stir until crisp, about 5 minutes. Remove and set aside. Pour off all but about 1 to 2 tablespoons drippings. Add mushrooms and onion to wok. Cook and stir over medium heat (325°F. to 350°F.) 2 to 3 minutes. Add remaining rice and romaine. Cook and stir 2 to 3 minutes or until hot. Stir bacon into rice. Serve at once with Bourbon Glazed Duckling. Makes 6 servings.

PRIMAVERA DUCKLING & RED PEPPER RICE

4 roasted Long Island Duckling quarters
5-1/2 cups reserved cooked Rice
2 medium red or green peppers, cut into 1-1/2 x 1-4-inch strips
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
6 medium carrots, cut into
1-1 2 x 1-4 x 1-4-inch strips
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tablespoons chopped fresh basil or
1-1/2 teaspoons dried basil
2 to 2-1/2 teaspoons grated fresh ginger or
1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 to 3/4 teaspoon ground ginger
1 teaspoon salt
1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
3 small zucchini, cut into
1-1/2 x 1/4 x 1/4-inch strips
1/3 cup heavy cream

Remove duckling meat from bones. Cut meat into thin strips; set aside. In large saucepan, combine rice and red pepper. Add 2 to 3 tablespoons water. Cover and cook over low heat, stirring occasionally, until rice is hot and pepper is crisp-tender. Heat oil in West Bend Electric Wok over medium-high heat (375°F.), about 3 minutes. Add carrots, garlic, basil, ginger, salt and cayenne pepper. Cook and stir 2 to 3 minutes. Add zucchini. Continue to cook and stir until vegetables are crisp-tender, 2 to 3 minutes. Add duckling and heat through. Stir in cream. Serve duckling and vegetable mixture over red pepper rice. Makes 6 servings.

DUCKLING RISOTTO

4 roasted Long Island Duckling quarters
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
3/4 pound fresh Brussels sprouts,* sliced lengthwise 1/4-inch thick
2 cloves garlic, minced
5-1/2 cups reserved cooked Rice
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
3 to 4 green onions with tops, thinly sliced
1 jar (4 ounces) whole pimientos, drained and cut into thin strips
1/2 cup freshly grated Parmesan cheese

Remove duckling meat from bones. Cut up meat; set aside. Heat oil in West Bend Electric Wok over medium heat (350°F.), about 3 minutes. Add Brussels sprouts. Cook and stir until sprouts are crisp-tender, 5 to 7 minutes. Add garlic and continue to cook and stir 1 minute. Add duckling, rice, pepper and nutmeg. Cook and stir until heated through, about 4 minutes. Stir in green onions, pimientos and 1/2 cup Parmesan cheese. Serve immediately. Sprinkle with additional Parmesan cheese, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

*1 package (10 ounces) frozen Brussels sprouts, thawed and drained, may be substituted.

Canned soup is fine for sauce in a hurry

My wife is on a fresh vegetable kick. It started about the time we purchased waterless cookware. But you don't need special pots to enjoy fresh vegetables.

You can steam vegetables. You can also cook them in a little salted water.

More important, as far as I'm concerned, is what goes on them after they're cooked because I'm not a vegetable nut. That's where canned soups come in handy.

First, let me assure you that when it comes to eating, I prefer freshly made soup. But when a quickie sauce is needed, canned soup is unbeatable.

I guess I've used condensed cream of mushroom soup the most. It can be doctored to compliment meat or vegetables. You can saute some fresh mushrooms and add them to the soup with a little wine. It's a tasty sauce indeed.

Creamed soups provide the basis for many sauces. I especially like cream of celery because it can go on a variety of vegetables.

Chicken and beef broths provide the backbone of many wine sauces. Cheese soup takes the grating out of preparation.

If you have some favorite sauces made from canned soups worth sharing, let's hear from you.

THERE'S A MOVEMENT afoot in this newspaper to cut down on the use of acronyms or initials of organizations in headlines. The word will come down.

The old faithfuls like UAW, UN, and so on are acceptable. But ACE is a no-no. And it would be so much easier to write a head using ACE than spelling out Plymouth Community Chorus. Chorus members would know what the story was about, but the majority of readers would not. Centennial Educational Park is another long one that tempts the use of the shorter CEP. You can't squeeze Plymouth Centennial Educational Park into a headline and the use of just the word "park" would be confusing. There are a lot of parks in the Plymouth-Canton community. Here are the abbreviated forms — initials, acronyms, what have you — for a couple of dozen organizations in which local residents are involved. How many of these do you recognize?

If you would like to score yourself, 20 or more would be fantastic; 18 or more, superior; and 14 or more, just peachy. Less than that and you're proving a point. If you are a member of five or more of these, you won't have time to do the quiz.

Do you know the full names of: 1) AARP; 2) AAUW; 3) BPW; 4) BS; 5) CAP; 6) GS; 7) K-C; 8) LWV; 9) NOW; 10) PCAAT; 11) PCAC; 12) PCHS; 13) PTSO; 14) PSO; 15) PSHS; 16) PTG; 17) PWP; 18) ROMP; 19) SPIN; 20) SC; 21) STEP; 22) TAG; 23) UMW; 24) VFW? See answers at the bottom of the page.

A BELATED HAPPY birthday wish to Austin Whipple, who marked his 91st birthday last Friday, Feb. 10.

Austin is one of the youngest nonagenarians around. He did give up bowling this past year, said he couldn't see where the ball was going. He mows his lawn and shovels snow. He even keeps his neighbor's walks clear of snow.

Charles and Irene Romaces, next door, claim he is the greatest neighbor. He cleared their walks all winter. Charles and Austin used to work together on their hedge-trimming and other yard work. Now Charles is physically unable to do it so Austin, at 91, carries on.

Many happy returns to a fine gentleman.

WORD IS COMING in about the high school drama students who graduated in June. Their training at the Centennial Educational Park is standing them in good stead as college freshmen.

From Kalamazoo College comes news of Mary Cleveland. The college is presenting the musical comedy, "The Threepenny Opera," as its winter production and Mary has a role in the play.

It will be presented Thursday through Saturday, Feb. 16-18 and 19-21, in Balch Playhouse. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. and admission is $4.

CARL PETERS had high score at Thursday's party bridge games at the Plymouth Cultural Center. Lee Begwin came in second. There were seven tables in play. Play starts shortly after noon and they welcome new players.

ANSWERS: 1) American Association of Retired Persons; 2) American Association of University Women; 3) Business and Professional Women; 4) Boy Scouts; 5) Daughters of the American Revolution; 6) Girl Scouts; 7) Knights of Columbus; 8) League of Women Voters; 9) National Organization for Women; 10) Plymouth-Canton Association for the Academically Talented; 11) Plymouth Community Arts Council; 12) Plymouth Canton High School; 13) Parent-Teacher-Student Organization; 14) Plymouth Symphony Orchestra; 15) Plymouth Salem High School; 16) Plymouth Theatre Guild; 17) Parents Without Partners; 18) Recovery of Male Potency; 19) Single Parent Instructional Network; 20) Schoolcraft College; 21) Systematic Training for Effective Parenting; 22) Talented and Gifted; 23) United Methodist Women; 24) Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The cast of "Cinderella," all members of the Plymouth branch American Association of University Women, try out their costumes at a dress rehearsal of the children's play which opens Friday in Plymouth Salem High School Auditorium. Director Kathy Harenda is in the foreground.

Cinderella is coming Friday

Cinderella is coming to town this weekend with not just two, but three, nasty stepsisters. With names like Ugletta, Gruesue and Frump, they have to be a mean trio.

It's time for the annual children's play produced by the members of the Plymouth branch of the American Association of University Women. "Cinderella" will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Friday; 10 a.m., 1 p.m. and 3 p.m. Saturday; and 1 and 3 p.m. Sunday in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School, Joy Road west of Canton Center. To ensure seating, tickets at $1.25 each may be purchased in advance at the Rainbow Shop, Ann Arbor Trail at Forest, Plymouth.

The AAUW play gives many youngsters their first exposure to legitimate theater. The cast makes its young audience feel a part of the story unfolding on stage. They are encouraged to boo the villains and respond to the heroine's up-and-down adventures.

ALL WORK on the play is done by AAUW members with some help from their families. They are responsible for set design, construction, make-up, tickets, publicity, programs, costumes, props, directing and acting.

Kathy Harenda of Livonia is director of "Cinderella." The play is an adaptation of the two previous presentations. Shirley McKeon directed and wrote the script for "Cinderella" in 1965. There were four performances and admission was 35 cents.

The play was selected again for presentation in 1976. Lorna Badendek directed the seven performances — one benefit, four at the high school, and two in Northville. They used basically the same script and admission was up to 60 cents.

Changes this year add humor to the play. There is a broom that changes into a footman, and three stepsisters instead of two. There will be one benefit and seven regular performances.

THE AAUW presented its first children's play in 1960. The club's Drama Group had written and performed skits for branch meetings. Pam Wisniewski, chairman of the group, approached the board with the idea of producing a children's play to bring live drama to area young people.

The membership endorsed the idea, but there was some hesitation about advancing $25 for production costs. Their treasury was small and there was some doubt about selling $25 worth of tickets. But they gave them the money and the show was on. Wisniewski wrote, directed and produced "Snow White and Rose Red" for a cast of six. They made scenery from corrugated cartons and chicken wire, transforming Central High School's multi-purpose room into a little theater.

They were going to educate children, show them the difference between theater and movie shows. Admission was by pre-sold tickets. Programs and ushers were links to live drama. Admission of 35 cents, slightly higher than the "show" price, was another reality of theater.

MEMBERS PRINTED 400 tickets and sold them from their homes. The demand was so great, they printed more tickets and added a third performance.

More than 935 attended the first play. The group's profit was $185. The venture was an unqualified success and the branch was in show business.

Over the past 24 years, the branch has taken its shows "on the road," performed benefits, increased attendance to more than 5,000, and profits to more than $3,500 for one production. Price of admission has responded to inflation, going from 35 cents, to 40 cents, to 50 cents, to 70 cents, to $1, to $1.25.

More than 50,000 people have attended the AAUW children's plays.

As sets became more sophisticated and more difficult to transport for out-of-town performances, the decision was made to stay in the high school auditorium. All performances of "Cinderella" will be at Plymouth Salem High School this year.

Bev Brooks, getting into her role of Stepmother Gruesue, models a hat offered by Kathy Harenda, director.

VFW plans special party for hospitalized veterans

The nation will salute its hospitalized veterans the week of Feb. 14. The special week gives everyone the opportunity to express their appreciation to the thousands of hospitalized veterans by personally visiting some of them and participating in the week's activities. Members of the local Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 6696 and auxiliary regularly visit the Ann Arbor Veterans Administration Hospital. The Mayflower-L. Gamble Post members have coffee hour, bingo or other events to entertain the patients. The post and auxiliary are planning a special bingo party at the VA hospital at 2 p.m. Monday, Feb. 20. One of their most faithful volunteers is post member Merwin Brace. Since August 1982, Brace has driven more than 9,500 miles to and from the VA hospital in Ann Arbor. He works in the hospital library and plays the organ at many of the programs arranged by various volunteer groups. THE THEME of the National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans is "Nothing hurts like being forgotten - Nothing helps like being remembered." For those whose "world" has narrowed to their VA hospitals, despite the excellent care they receive, it's sometimes hard for them to escape the feeling that the hospital staffs are the only ones who care.

Individuals, clubs and service organizations are urged by the VFW to join the National Salute. To participate during Hospitalized Veterans Week or on a continuing basis, call a Veterans Administration medical facility near you and ask how you can help.

Thousands of volunteers across the country contribute millions of hours of their time every year. Actor Harry Morgan of the "M*A*S*H" series is honorary chairman of the 1984 National Salute to Hospitalized Veterans. He said, "They are proud Americans. When you take time to remember them, you, too, will be proud."

Merwin Brace, Plymouth Township resident, works in the VA hospital library and plays the organ for patient parties.

Signs of spring: camper show, turkeys

By Lem Meese
outdoors writer

Spring anyone?
The annual Detroit Camper and Travel Trailer Show, featuring more than 700 recreational vehicles and accessories will be at the W. Eight Mile Armory through next weekend.
It's one-stop comparison shopping if you're thinking about camping trailers, hitchhikes, pickup trucks andcamps, awnings, suspension systems, heaters, campgrounds or insurance.
General admission is $3. Children 6-12 and senior citizens pay $2. Located on Eight Mile east of Northland Shopping Center, the armory has ample parking for $2.

If the 17th annual show is a big success, it may be a sign of economic recovery.
Nevertheless, a friend living on a disability pension offered this advice a couple years back: "I went the last day and found an out-of-state manufacturer who didn't want to haul his stock all the way home. He gave me a pretty good discount on a 'cap.'"
Hours are 2-10 through Friday, noon-10 Saturday and noon-6 Sunday.

WILD TURKEYS are coming to Oakland County.
The state Department of Natural Resources wildlife division says it will release 20 gobblers in northwestern Oakland. Others will go to the Waterloo Recreation Area in Washtenaw and Jackson counties and the Rose Lake Wildlife Research Area near Lansing.

outdoors

They're being bought during the winter from Iowa, Pennsylvania and Missouri.
Wild turkeys were abundant in Michigan from Saginaw Bay to Muskegon until 1875. Farming destroyed their habitat. Michigan began importing them in 1964, stocking them in the Allegan State Game Area.

DNR says it will use only birds trapped from wild flocks, which are transplanted much more successfully than semi-domestic, pen-reared game farm birds.

THERE STILL are northern pike — nice ones — in Newburgh Lake, we're glad to report.
Bonnie Coleman called to tell us her boyfriend, David Montgomery of Garden City, hauled in a 29½-inch, 7 lb. pike from the popular cove near Hines Drive west of Newburgh Lake. The lunger took a six-inch live shiner min-now.

A couple of other pike have been taken at Newburgh, they report, affirming our own observation that Newburgh is an overlooked resource.
DNR reports nice-size panfish coming out of Newburgh, but Belleville Lake has been poor of late.
On Oakland County lakes, 'gills are running smaller these days, and the better ones are hitting just before dark.

LAKE ERIE Metropark is coming along.
A food service building is under construction to serve the wave action pool that will open this year. J.S. Vig Construction Co. has the $762,000 contract for the building, according to John C. Hertel, Wayne County representative on the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority board.

Lake Erie Metropark is at the mouth of the Huron River. The 1,572-acre project is open to the public. It has picnicking, shorefishing and marina facilities.

OAKLAND UNIVERSITY now owns the Howard and Ruth Shelley adventure series of color wildlife color motion picture features.

The collection contains 19 features of 45 minutes each, eight 15-18 minute wildlife reports and 40 or so 3-5 minute outdoor world vignettes. Many were featured on the Mort Neff "Michigan Outdoors" and George Pierrot "World Adventure Series" television programs.
They will be made available for showings to children and adults in school auditoriums across Michigan.
The acquisition was made by possible by a grant from Alice Gustafson of Lake Angelus. The films have been appraised as having a replacement value of nearly $500,000, an OU spokesman said.

A General Motors employee, Shelley first picked up a camera at the age of 43. One of his favorite techniques was to use a camera mounted on a rifle stock. The Pontiac resident was one of the founders of the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

NOTICE OF SETTLEMENT OF CLASS ACTION AGAINST CITY OF PLYMOUTH ("PLYMOUTH")

I. INTRODUCTION

The Oakland County Circuit Court ("Court") has ordered that this notice be given to members of the class of plaintiffs who have paid Plymouth the 1% collection fee described below. This class of plaintiffs is sometimes referred to in this notice as the Plymouth plaintiffs.

II. HISTORY OF THE LITIGATION

Plaintiffs filed a class action suit against Plymouth and certain other cities on the 28th day of April, 1977 for the purpose of invalidating the 1% fee which these municipalities charged in order to collect real and personal property taxes. In due course, the Court entered a partial summary judgment invalidating the 1% collection fee as unconstitutional.

The Court then certified the case as a true class action and defined the class of Plymouth plaintiffs as:

The owners of real or personal property who have paid Plymouth, in addition to the taxes on the real and personal property, a 1% collection fee pursuant to Michigan Compiled Laws ("MCL") 211.44 at any time commencing 28th day of April, 1971.

Then the Michigan Legislature amended MCL 211.44 so as to authorize municipalities to impose a 1% property tax administration fee ("administration fee") in place of the 1% collection fee authorized by the prior statute. Plymouth therefore ceased collection of the 1% collection fee and proceeded to adopt, impose, and collect the administration fee.

Thereupon, Plymouth and the Plymouth plaintiffs arrived at a settlement and entered into a Settlement Agreement. The settlement requires Plymouth to cease and desist from its collection of the 1% administration fee from the Plymouth plaintiffs and to pay the sum of $22,147.00 as the total settlement amount as defined in the Settlement Agreement.

III. PURPOSE OF THE NOTICE

The purpose of this notice is to advise you of the foregoing and to inform you that there will be a hearing to approve the settlement before the Honorable Alice Gilbert, Circuit Judge, in her courtroom located at 1200 North Telegraph Road, Pontiac, Michigan, on the 7th day of March, 1984 at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

At this time the Court expresses no opinion on the merits of the settlement, and you should not construe this notice as any indication as to the outcome of the hearing.

If you desire to participate in the hearing, either personally or by an attorney whom you select, you or your attorney should notify the Court on or before the 29th day of February, 1984 ("cut-off date") by mailing the attached election form to Judge Gilbert, postmarked on or before the last mentioned date. If you or your attorney do not notify the Court of your desire to participate in the hearing, it will be presumed that you will be satisfied with the Court's determination regarding the settlement based on the matters presented at the hearing. In either event, the decision of the Court with respect to the settlement will bind all Plymouth plaintiffs except those who choose to be omitted from the litigation. If you desire to be omitted from the litigation, you may do so by:

1. Indicating in the attached election form that you desire to be omitted from the litigation, and
2. Mailing the attached election form to the Court postmarked on or before the cut-off date.

Even if you request omission from the litigation, Plymouth will cease its collection of the 1% administration fee if the settlement is approved.

This notice is given pursuant to the Michigan General Court Rules.

The attorneys for the Plymouth plaintiffs are as follows:

S. Lawrence Stein, P.C.
Suite 2990
3000 Town Center
Southfield, Michigan 48075
and
Katz, Victor and Yolles, P.C.
Suite 400
24700 Northwestern Highway
Southfield, Michigan 48075

If you have any questions concerning this matter, you should direct it prior to the hearing to:

HONORABLE ALICE L. GILBERT
CIRCUIT COURT JUDGE
1200 N. TELEGRAPH ROAD
PONTIAC, MICHIGAN

If you desire to complete and return the attached election form, you must mail it to Judge Gilbert at the address indicated above so that it is postmarked no later than the 29th day of February, 1984.

Bawdy humor marks comedy

The Actors Alliance Theatre Company production of "Why Hanna's Skirt Won't Stay Down" by Tom Egan continues through March 4 at Lycee International, 30800 Evergreen, Southfield. Performances are at 8:30 p.m. Fridays-Saturdays and 6:30 p.m. Sundays. For ticket information call 642-1326.

"Why Hanna's Skirt Won't Stay Down," a bizarre play billed as "unabashed trash," crosses the line from risqué into flat-out raunchiness. It's both funny and pathetically sad, and though billed as a comedy, the ending to this innovative play is far from jolly.

The setting is Coney Island, back a few years, and the Actors Alliance Theatre Company cleverly sets the scene even before the audience enters the theater.

There's hurdy-gurdy music, hot dogs and popcorn for sale in the lobby. Then Charles Greenia, the barker for the funhouse, lures the audience into the theater-in-the-round with nonstop prattle about wonders and wonders to be seen inside.

Ticket stubs litter the floor, and gaudy lights flicker inside the funhouse where we meet three steazy characters and hear about a dozen more.

THERE'S HANNA, a woman trapped in a holding pattern of repeated mistakes. Years ago, she hooked up with the wrong man, had a kid, lost the man, farmed the kid out for adoption and started the fiasco all over again with a new wrong man. Eileen Elliott is an engaging Hanna.

She's good to look at and makes us feel sympathy for the stupidity in Hanna's life. The Hanna role seems created for a Bette Midler type. In fact, the play's author, Tom Egan, writes comedy routines for Bette Midler.

Elliott doesn't have the voluptuous, earthy toughness of a Midler. She plays an almost gentle Hanna, a victim who hides behind tough talk. Her portrayal works, but the uninvited ghost of Bette Midler hangs about to make us wonder how Bette would have done the part.

Rodney Moeller plays Arizona, a narcissist who preens in front of the mirrors at the fun house. He's a man on the make, a no-good drifter who willingly takes advantage of women because they ask him to.

First in his long list of women was the stuffy librarian back home who took him behind the stacks in the religion section. In his skimpy beach-boy costume, Moeller's boyish blond masculinity is winning, and he does fine things with the part of Arizona.

THE PLAY IS a lively, raunchy, funny freak show, a sad commentary on the riffraff of the world. Lonely and sometimes nasty little human beings parade before us like weirdos on the midway.

The freakiest character by far is Hanna's sister, Sophie, the bald Avon lady. Casting John Puchalski as Sophie was a brilliant decision by director Annette Madias. This dour hulk in yellow chiffon and platinum curls is a bonafide sideshow attraction.

Puchalski is low key and wonderfully absurd as the blimp of a lady with scarlet fingernails and a voracious appetite for young boys.

As usual with Actors Alliance productions, every detail is cleverly integrated to support the mood. The music backup is sometimes inspired, as when the theme from "Chariots of Fire" plays for the false muscle man, Arizona, who aspires to nothing and never will.

HANDEL'S "MESSIAH" backs the ponderous entrance of the thoroughly unspiritual Sophie. The funhouse set uses a trapeze, a tilted runway and a swing to vary the levels of the zany action.

The play is well crafted, though hardly traditional. Instead of working toward a climax, it deliberately goes around in circles, repeating stories and speeches, just as the characters go round in circles, stuck in stupid patterns that they're bound to repeat. It's a fun house with no exit.

We laugh at the ribald humor and miss the pathos until later. We look at the characters in the play the way we look at ourselves in the wavy fun house mirror. We can laugh uproariously at the freakish distortions because we know, of course, that people aren't really like that at all, do they?

It is customary to begin articles on sauvignon blanc by calling it the "poor man's chardonnay." But, increasingly, that is becoming less true.

While it is not yet possible to pay the $20 a bottle charged for some of the latter, it is now not unusual to find them at less than the cost of a sauvignon blanc. Indeed, for now, sauvignons seem to have stabilized in the $8-12 range, none cheaper, few more.

The pleasant news is that there is no single wine in California that has improved as dramatically over the last few years. The issues that have come out since 1979 are uniformly good and some of the 1981 and 1982 releases are excellent.

The tastes of sauvignon blanc cover a narrow range on the evaluative spectrum: Most are clean, crisp and have a hint of complexity to them. Some have a vegetal taste (called "grassy"), and some, especially when blended with semillon (as is done in Bordeaux), can be opulently soft.

ONLY RARELY is European oak used to ferment or age these wines, that being saved for chardonnay and cabernet. It is possible to allow the grapes to overripen in the field, of course, producing a musty, soft wine of less character. But these grapes seem to resist this and this is not found commonly.

A tasting of 10 recent issues illustrates the excellent quality available to us today. Indeed, another 10 or more could as well have been selected for evaluation.

The group's rating of those selected showed very little range between best and poorest, and all 45 participants commented on the uniform excellence of the lot. The difference reflects more preferences in style than wine quality. Only the last showed signs of being a bit off in its nose and aftertaste, but this is probably attributable to its presently being in a "dumb" stage.

Here are the results on a scale of 1-to-9 for those of you who would like to sample this wine, based on Detroit-area taste preferences. Most are currently available.

In the five years this column has run, I have received some strange letters of commentary on occasion. But the most recent is the strangest of all.

Faithful readers will recall a recent review, very favorable, of the new Duxoup winery in Sonoma. That review was duly forwarded to the Cutters, owners of Duxoup. It was mentioned that some instrumental agents in making the winery a success were the owners' five cats. Some of their duties (vineyard patrol, hostmanship and others) were even specified.

However, not noted was that the cats receive the mail, sort and evaluate it. And reply when appropriate! This time they were ready to reconsider their contracts and file grievances, all because I had not named them. The reference to "the five cats" set badly and, considering their contribution, so it should. To rectify, they are Pinceau, Bas Blanc, Baba Yaga, Shechan and Gochan.

There, now you cats are famous in Michigan, too.

'Star 80'

Sleazy character steals the show

Human beings seem to enjoy forbidden pleasures. Of course if they're not available, peeking in on others is always fun. Playboy magazine, a slick, well-packaged view of other people living without restraint, has capitalized on this element of human nature. Additionally, it provides a lot of material for sexual fantasies.

"Star 80" also fits that description. It is a slick, well-packaged film about the Playboy world at its glitzy best and sordid worst.

Although unofficially billed as the "Dorothy Stratten Story," "Star 80" is a character study of a small-time pimp, Paul Snider (Eric Roberts). "Sleaze 80" might have been a better title except the film is so well done that we almost lose sight of the fact that it is about a creep.

Snider is a cheap hustler who discovers and merchandises a sweet but sexy young thing, Dorothy Stratten (Mariel Hemingway), whom he found working in a Vancouver, British Columbia, fast-food outlet.

SNIDER MANAGES her career to the pinnacle of success, Playboy "Playmate of the Year" which, in turn, leads to film offers.

All that info, and more, is presented via docudrama-style interviews with Dorothy's mother (Carroll Baker), a photographer (Keith Hefner), a private detective (Josh Mostel), Dorothy herself, and others. Apparently the film follows quite carefully the unfortunate details of the real Stratten's brief career and grisly demise, except perhaps for the implication that she had considerable acting potential.

Bob Fosse ("Sweet Charity," "Cabaret," "Lenny" and "All That Jazz") wrote and directed "Star 80" with the same intensity that characterized his earlier films, but his usual high-powered pace falters from time-to-time, leaving the audience bored and slightly confused. It never was clear why a couple of hoods were hanging Paul out the window of a high-rise.

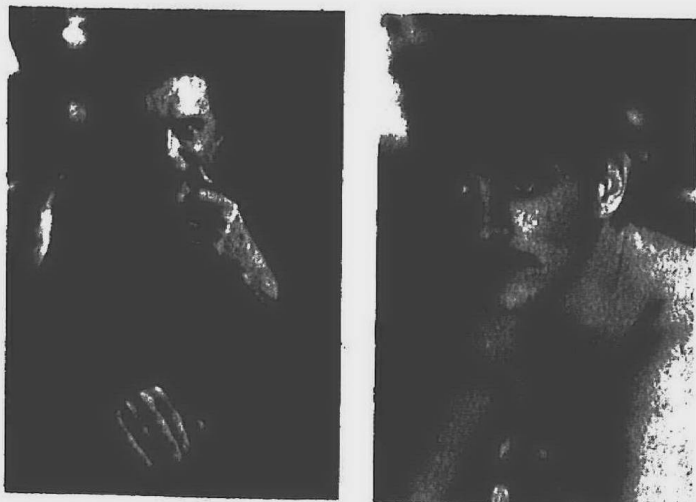

Gradually, the film emerges less as a portrait of Stratten and her Playmate career and more as a picture of husband Snider, a truly second-rate, small-time hustler. Roberts' intensity of movement, pronunciation and acting style effectively portray this sad, crummy little character.

Hemingway's depiction of the tragic Stratten is excellent. Her ability to transcend femininity from the shy, insecure, innocent waitress to the pretentious, sophisticated Playmate-on-tour is compelling.

Hemingway's acting, her slick showgirl make-up and high-fashion clothes complete the picture that world-renowned cinematographer Sven Nykvist has photographed so well.

HEMINGWAY EVEN had her bosom done for this role, the silicone implants qualifying her for Playmate status. It is not clear whether those implants are considered costuming or make-up.

With such devotion to art, how can the film fail? I suspect that this well-done sleaze will be a box-office winner. But it is sad to see such film craft and expertise used to portray untalented, unworthy hustlers.

Cliff Robertson (left) is Playboy empire's Hugh Hefner. Eric Roberts is Paul Snider, the small-time hustler who dominates the life and death of Dorothy Stratten.

Rock swimmers prep for Spartans

Greg Wolff gets a quick start en route to his first place finish in the 500-yard freestyle during Salem's win against Northville Thursday night.

Plymouth Salem and Livonia Stevenson, the best two swim teams in the Western Lakes Athletic Association, are on a collision course.

The teams, undefeated in league dual meets, will compete for the Lakes Division title at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Salem pool.

Salem tuned up for the showdown with a pair of victories last week.

On Tuesday, the Rocks nipped a talented Brighton team 88-84. On Thursday, Salem took Northville 97-75.

The wins improved the Rocks' record to 10-1 overall, 7-0 in the league. Before facing Stevenson, they travel to Walled Lake Western Tuesday.

Some swift coaching maneuvering by Salem's Chuck Olson helped the Rocks nip Brighton. Salem needed to finish at least first and third in the final event, the 400-yard freestyle relay, to win the meet. To get it, he inserted speedy Erik Kleinsmith into the second relay team.

The first team — Bob Bowling, Greg Wolff, Jon Cain and Tony Atwell — came through with the first place swimming a 3:34.7. And sure enough, Salem's second relay team — Kleinsmith, Rich Hornby, Chuck Eudy, and Jamie Dunn — pulled in third with a 3:38.7 to give the Rocks the win.

"We had to go one-three in the last race," Olson said. "We wanted to go for the win, not the tie."

Things were a little easier for Salem on Thursday.

Again, it was Kleinsmith who led the way for the Rocks winning two events and anchoring the winning 400-free relay. Kleinsmith took the 200-freestyle in 1:49.6 and the 100 in 49.3. He and teammates Bill Mathews, Wolff, and Cain combined on a 3:32.3 to win the freestyle relay.

Don Harwood, Dave Workman, Scott Anderson, and Rob Bowling combined to win the 200-medley relay in 1:45.8.

Bowling won the 50-freestyle in 22.8. Wolff took the 500-freestyle in 5:12.3. Workman won the 100-breaststroke in 1:06.3. Anderson took two seconds for Salem, 2:12.6 in the 200-individual medley and 59.3 in the 100-butterfly.

Diver Bob Longridge, who took first against Brighton with 186.7 points, took a third against Northville with 179.3 points.

"It was a good performance," Olson said. "Everybody was down close to their best times. There weren't many bests, though."

Olson is hoping the "best" times will be logged Thursday night.

IN OTHER ACTION, Plymouth Canton won only two events against No. 5-ranked Farmington Thursday, losing 113-59.

Farmington (8-3 overall, 3-2 in the league) got double victories from Eric Davis and Alec Campbell.

"This has been a good season for us," said Farmington coach Greg Phill. "And I still think we have a chance to win the league meet. But, so does Salem and Stevenson. I've got 10 kids who can score, possibly 13, in the league meet. We'll need some help from other teams."

Canton (4-5 in the league, 4-7 overall) got a victory in diving, thanks to Andrew Flower and his 211.2 points. Dean Roberts won the 100-yard backstroke 1:03.8.

Canton hosts Northville Thursday.

Chiefs close in on crown

By Brad Emone
staff writer

Plymouth Canton is one game away from clinching the Western Division side of the Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) basketball title.

The Chiefs came up with the right plays down the stretch Friday night to stop gritty Livonia Bentley, 61-59.

Bentley certainly didn't play like a 5-9 team. In fact, the Bulldogs led 51-46 on Sal Demilio's shot with 5:38 left in the final quarter.

But Canton coach Dave Van Wagoner called a timely timeout moments later to get his team regrouped. From that point, his Chiefs outscored Bentley 15-8 and made only one turnover in the final four minutes of play for the win.

Mike Jennings' rebound basket with 2:54 to play gave Canton a 54-54 tie. He also sealed the verdict with a pair of free throws with nine seconds remaining.

"We wanted to step up the defensive pressure a get more movement on offense," explained Van Wagoner. "We needed to get a good shot.

basketball

"And we played tremendous defense the last three to four minutes and that was the difference in the game I thought."

"WE MADE two critical choices and we had a turnover and an airball," said Bentley coach Tom Niemi. "We seem to be so close. We've improved tremendously. We've been in so many close games, but you wonder when the ball is going to drop. It was a tremendous effort by the kids."

One of the keys for Canton was the play of Elijah Rogers. The 6-foot-2 senior had the task of trying to stop Bentley's 6-8 center Phil Graczyk, who was just coming off a 37-point, 26-rebound performance against Stevenson.

The two played virtually to a stand-off, both scoring 12 points.

"In the beginning (the first quarter) we were totally fronting Graczyk and then helping inside," Van Wagoner said. "The kid (Graczyk) is good and he posted up real strong, but Elijah did the job. He played one heck of a defensive game and hit two free throws (with 1:07 to play) that were key for us."

CANTON used a balanced scoring attack. Gary Thomas netted 13 points, Rogers had 12, Mark Bennett and Jim Schlicker each tallied 10, Jennings finished with nine and Kevin Hawkins scored seven.

Senior forward Marv Rons, who was out with the flu in Tuesday's 80-66 triple overtime loss to Stevenson, came off the bench to score 14 points. He helped propel a Bentley second-half surge along with Demilio, who contributed eight points.

Guard John White, whose outside shooting sparked Bentley to a 17-11 first quarter lead, paced all scorers with 15.

"At halftime we had a discussion about our roles," said Niemi, whose team was trailing at intermission 33-25. "I thought our man defense in the second half did an excellent job. And Steve Carli did an excellent job of stopping Bennett from penetrating. I thought we shut that down."

"We had opportunities, but our inexperience showed at the crucial times."

BENNETT, Canton's creator at the point-guard slot, sparked the Chiefs to a 21-8 outburst in the second quarter.

But Bentley appeared to neutralize him in the second half.

"Mark did a great job penetrating most of the game," Van Wagoner said. "Then Bentley started cutting him off offensively."

That's when the other Chiefs rose to the occasion with the Canton coach calling it a "total team victory."

"If we can win the next two of two to go 13-4, that would be a heck of a record going into the (league) playoffs."

Linda Beale won all four events for Canton Wednesday night.

Beale's for real

When Linda Beale is on her game, she's unbeatable.

The Farmington gymnastics team found that out last Wednesday night as the Beale-led Plymouth Canton Chiefs dazzled the Falcons 117.5-104.7.

Beale won all four events, scoring 8.0 or better in each. She earned an 8.4 on vault, 8.0 on uneven parallel bars, 8.25 on balance beam and an 8.75 on the floor exercise.

Katie MacIntosh was the only Falcon to place in the top three. She took seconds on the vault (8.0), beam (7.55) and floor exercise (8.35), and third on the bars (7.2).

Canton (5-2) has been a model of consistency this season, usually scoring between 115 and 118.

The Chiefs got some good performances from Annette Bryce. Bryce took second on the bars (7.7) and thirds on the vault (7.8) and floor (8.05). Lisa Lovich chipped in with a third on the beam (7.4).

Farmington is 3-7 on the season. Canton will host Walled Lake Central Wednesday night.

PLYMOUTH SALEM got a pleasant surprise Wednesday en route to its record-setting 123.65-118 victory over Westland John Glenn. The 123.65 team score is the highest in the team's history. It was the Rocks' fourth state regional meet qualifying score. The Rocks also set a record for the highest individual event point totals, amassing 31.80 in both the balance beam and the floor exercise.

But it was Jackie Huff who provided the surprise for the Rocks. Huff was tops in the all-around point totals with 31.10, her highest mark this season.

Huff took second in the floor exercise with an 8.4. She took fourths in vault (7.85), uneven parallel bars (7.05) and beam (7.8).

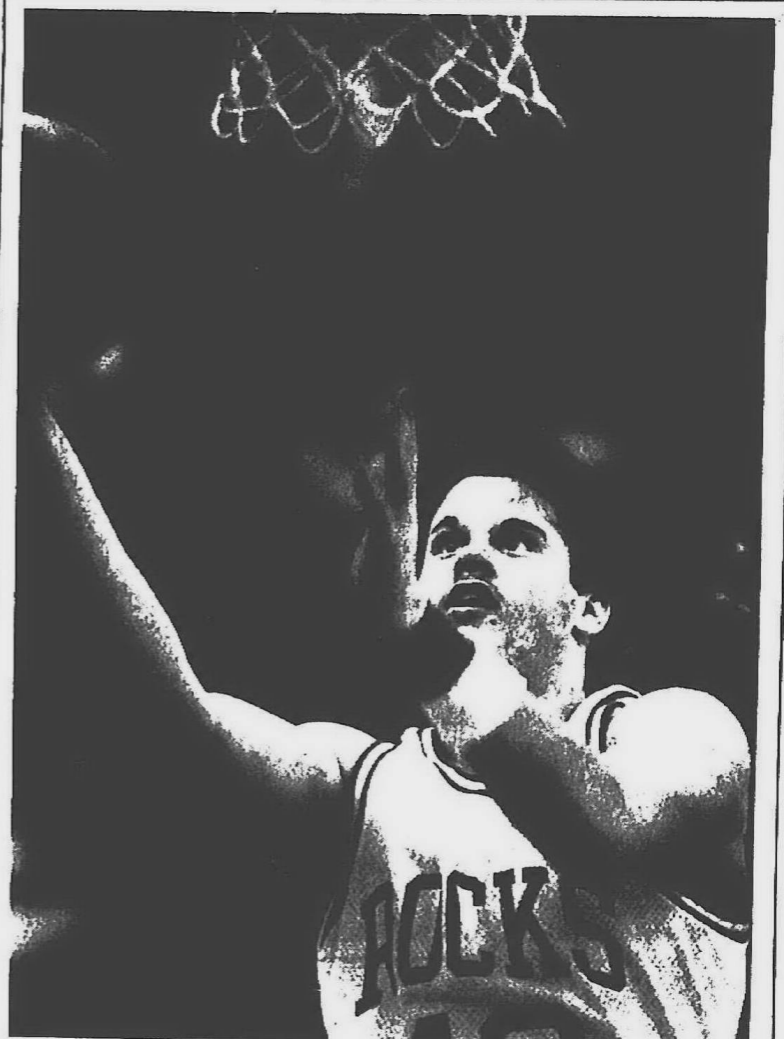

Sophomore Beth Rafail was second all-around for the Rocks with 30.90 points — for most gymnasts that's an outstanding score, for Rafail, it's an off night.

Still, she won the vault (8.4) and the floor (8.75).

Sarah Michalik took a serious fall during her bars routine, but picked herself up and won the beam with an 8.4, qualifying her for the state regional meet.

Debbie Bahna came through with an 8.0 to win the bars for Salem. Suzanne Gibbons also contributed to the win with a second on the beam (8.15) and third on the bars (7.6).

The Rocks, 6-1 and ranked No. 3 in Observerland, host Walled Lake Western tonight.

Rick Berberet scored 12 points for Salem Friday night.

Rocks take charge out of the Chargers

The eliminator. That's the role Plymouth Salem has been playing in the Western Lakes Athletic Association division races in recent weeks.

Salem sent Livonia Stevenson packing a week ago Friday night and did the same to Livonia Churchill last Friday night in a 67-44 romp.

The Rocks outscored the Chargers in every quarter to raise their league record 10-1. They are 13-2 overall and ranked No. 1 in Observerland.

"THE DEFENSE was the key tonight," Salem coach Fred Thomann said. "We shut down their three big players."

The Rock's held Craig Hunter to two points, Steve Juodawlkis to eight and John Grzybek 10. Salem, on the other hand, had three players in double figures.

Jeff Arnoll led the charge, scoring 16 points and adding six assists. Rick Berberet had 12 points to go with his nine rebounds and Erich Hartnett chipped in 12 points, seven boards and six assists.

"Churchill came in with a hard zone," Thomann said. "But we got our perimeter game going. We had nice, balanced scoring."

Salem has a two game edge on Walled Lake Central in the Lakes Division with two league games remaining. Salem will travel to Central Friday night.

With the Rocks winning, Churchill is all but eliminated from the Western Division race. Plymouth Canton has a two game edge over Churchill and Northville.

The WLAA playoffs begin Friday, Feb. 24.

Salem grapplers take Lakes crown

Some rebuilding season. Plymouth Salem wrestling coach Ron Krueger had called 1994 a season of rebuilding but his young team has brought home a division title.

The Rocks won the Lakes Division title in the Western Lakes Athletic Association last Tuesday night with a convincing 30-24 victory against Walled Lake Central.

Both teams had been tied for the top spot in the division with 6-2 records.

"We've really been coming on," said Krueger. "We've always given their teams a lot of trouble. We could've scored more."

THE DAMERON brothers got the Rocks off and running with early wins. Freshman Denis Dameron took a 13-9 decision from Dave Zehnder at 98 pounds. Sophomore David Dameron planned Keith Kirk in 6:00 at 112.

At 126, Kirk Rantz pinned Andy Bernerovell in 3:49 and Salem began to take control.

At 132, John Jeannotte decided on Pat Puritt, 14-2. Andy Ward whipped Curt Calhoun, 16-4, at 148.

Salem lost at 165 and 187, then put the meet away with two clutch pins.

Jamie Wochuk stuck Dave Swilley in 2:43 at 185. Brian Johnson wasted no time on Jeff Bertari. He set him down in just 44 seconds.

Heavyweight Marc Cygan closed out the meet with a 3-3 tie with Greg Pryjowski.

"We've wrestled very well the last three meets," said a happy Krueger.

Salem finishes 7-3 in the league, losing to Plymouth Canton and Walled Lake Western. They are 7-4 overall. Not a bad "rebuilding" season.

Todd Gattoni of Canton (seated) and David Dameron of Salem have met many times this season. The two were likely to meet again over the weekend in the Western Lakes league wrestling meet. Details of the meet will be in Thursday's Plymouth Observer.

Chiefs tie Western, settle for 2nd place

Vince Lombardi once said a tie is like kissing your sister. To the Plymouth Canton wrestling team, a tie last Wednesday was the kiss of death.

The Chiefs' 30-30 tie with Walled Lake Western cost them the Western Division title in the Western Lakes Athletic Association.

The tie went to Western, 3-0-1 in the division and 8-0-1 in the conference. Canton was also 3-0-1 in the division, but its 7-1-1 conference record (a loss to Farmington) kept it behind the Warriors.

"You have to give Western a lot of credit," said Canton coach Dan Chrenko. "They knew what they had to do, and they came in here and did it. We had everything in our favor. We had them at our place, we had the early lead, but we didn't put it away."

THE MEET was typical of Canton's dual-meet performances all season long. The Chiefs win the lightweight matches, win two middleweight matches and close out with a victory at heavyweight. The matches in the middle have been struggles. It was the same at the Warrior meet.

Jeff Condit decided Western's Kevin Fust 8-5 at 98 pounds to start the meet. Heath Smith followed at 105 with a pin against Matt Logsdon in 4:21. At 112, Todd Gattoni made it three straight for Canton with a 6-2 decision against Chris Craft.

The score at that point was 12-0 Canton. The lead didn't last very long.

Western won the next three matches, two via pins, and took a 15-12 lead.

Tim Collins stopped the Western streak by sticking Paul Colone in 3:11 at 138. Then Larry Janiga decided Rod Schuh, 3-0, at 145, and Canton led again, 21-15.

That lead, too, was short-lived. Western took three straight matches, again two on pins, to take a 30-21 lead with two matches left.

BUT CANTON had a surprise up its sleeve. Mike Graczyk, a transfer from Bishop Borgese, made his debut as a Chief and beat a talented Warrior Bill Blair. Graczyk had a 13-9 lead and was on the verge of a pin when Blair defaulted because of pulled rib. Canton needed a pin or a decision by eight or more points at heavyweight to win the meet.

Western's Chris Thompson did a good job of staying away from Jim Malson. Malson won the decision 2-0 — good enough only for a tie.

The Chiefs (7-3-1 overall), along with Western and Plymouth Salem, were the favored teams going into Saturday's Western Lakes conference meet. Details of the meet will be in Thursday's Observer.

Ocelots take tumble

Macomb Community College, the Eastern Conference basketball leader, handed visiting Schoolcraft CC a 99-75 defeat Wednesday night.

Schoolcraft's Carlos Briggs, the nation's leading NCJA scorer, was held to 24 points. He was 10 of 21 from the field. James Orr contributed 18 points in defeat, while Livonia Bentley grad Eric Sink, a 6-foot-7 sophomore, added nine points and 15 rebounds.

Schoolcraft dropped to 2-7 in conference action and 10-14 overall. Macomb is 8-1 in the conference.

Schoolcraft's women's team, meanwhile, suffered its first conference defeat last week at the hands of Oakland CC, 77-60. The loss broke Schoolcraft's eight-game winning streak.

The Lady Ocelots are 6-1 in conference play, 12-6 overall.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE
RELATIVE TO THE JOINT NORTH HURON VALLEY ROUGE VALLEY WASTEWATER CONTROL PROJECT

The Wayne County Department of Public Works announces a Public Hearing relative to the adoption of a joint North Huron Valley-Rouge Valley Wastewater Control Project. The joint Project came about as the result of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources' decision to separate the North Huron Valley communities from the Rouge Valley Wastewater Control System ("Super Sewer") and a concurrent need on the part of the Rouge Valley communities for additional interceptor capacity. This joint Project proposes extension and expansion of the existing Rouge Valley Interceptor System with treatment of flows at the Detroit Wastewater Treatment Plant for the following communities:

NOTICE OF CLASS ACTION AND SETTLEMENT

I Introduction and History

On August 16, 1983, a suit was filed in the Oakland County Circuit Court ("Court") against several cities and their Treasurers, including the City of Plymouth and its Treasurer ("Plymouth defendants").

The persons who filed the suit against Plymouth defendants are the owners of real or personal property in the City of Plymouth ("named plaintiffs") and their names and addresses are as follows:

Lawrence Schechter and Vivian Schechter, his wife
Ralph Levin and Estelle Levin, his wife, d/b/a Parkway Arms Apartments
25588 Shiawassee, Suite 882, Southfield, Michigan 48034

The named plaintiffs instituted the suit as a class action proceeding on their own behalf and on behalf of the other owners of real or personal property in the City of Plymouth ("Plymouth plaintiffs" or "Plymouth class").

The suit challenged the validity of the 1% property administration fee which the Plymouth defendants have collected from the Plymouth plaintiffs since January 1, 1983 pursuant to Michigan Compiled Laws ("MCL") 211.44 as amended.

In due course, the Plymouth plaintiffs and the Plymouth defendants arrived at a settlement and entered into a Settlement Agreement. The settlement requires the Plymouth defendants to cease and desist their collection of the 1% property administration fee but permits their retention of the 1% property administration fees which they previously collected. In implementation of the settlement, the Court certified the case as a class action and defined the Plymouth class as follows:

"The owners of real or personal property in the City of Plymouth who have paid or hereafter pay to the Plymouth defendants, in addition to the taxes on the real and personal property, a 1% property administration fee pursuant to the provisions of MCL 211.44 as amended commencing January 1, 1983."

II Purpose of the Notice

The settlement is subject to the Court's approval after a hearing has been held. The hearing to approve the settlement will take place before the Honorable Alice L. Gilbert, Circuit Judge, in her Courtroom located at 1200 North Telegraph Road, Pontiac, Michigan, on the 7th day of March, 1984 at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

The Court has directed that this notice be published. Its form and content have been approved by the Court. The Court, however, expresses no opinion on the merits of this settlement and therefore Plymouth class members should not construe this notice as any indication as to the outcome of the hearing.

This notice applies to all persons who fall within the definition of the Plymouth class set forth above. The purpose of this notice is to advise the Plymouth class members of their rights in this matter and of the steps that they should take in order to protect their interests.

III Rights of Plymouth Class Members

If any Plymouth class member desires to participate in the hearing, either personally or by an attorney whom he or she selects, such class member or attorney must so notify the Court on or before the 29th day of February, 1984 ("cut-off date") by mailing the attached election form to Judge Gilbert, postmarked on or before the last-mentioned date.

Absent such notification, the Court will presume that the Plymouth class member will be satisfied with representation by the attorneys for the Plymouth class and with the Court's determination regarding settlement based on the matters presented at the time of the hearing.

In either event, the Court's decision regarding settlement will bind all members of the Plymouth class except those who have affirmatively elected to be omitted from the litigation. In order to be omitted from the litigation, a Plymouth class member must do the following:

1. Indicate in the attached election form that he or she desires to be omitted from the litigation, and
2. Mail the attached election form to the Court postmarked on or before the cut-off date.

In any event, Plymouth will cease collection of the 1% property administration fee if the settlement is approved by the Court irrespective of whether a Plymouth class member elects to be omitted from the litigation.

This notice is being given pursuant to the Michigan General Court Rules.

Major surgery needed for Lady Liberty

Anatomy of a statue

Structural damage and physical condition of the Statue of Liberty has been under investigation by engineers and architectural experts since 1981.

E. Blaine Cliver, chief of historic preservation — North Atlantic Region — for the National Park Service, said "major renovation work on the statue's iron framework and copper skin is needed now to preserve the monument and to avoid serious future problems. Safety isn't a critical issue at present, but it could be in the future."

The preservation work may require closing the statue to visitors periodically over a period of about a year. Tourists will be able to tour other areas of Liberty Island during stages of the renovation, and Park Service officials expect large numbers of visitors as the work begins.

THE STATUE'S major supporting structure is of iron rather than steel. Some bars of the main interior framework have changed shape through fatigue after a century of continuous stress. But more serious is the deterioration of the flat iron bars, known as the armature that form a web-like support of the statue's copper skin. These bars closely follow the interior curvature of the softer, thin copper and give it rigidity and structural support.

As much as half the original thickness of some of the more than 2,000 bars comprising the armature have corroded in this way. Extensive rusting has caused rivets to be pulled through the skin where the iron bar is held to the skin by a copper saddle.

WHEN THE statue was originally presented, an asphalt-soaked buffer material prevented the two metals from contact and allowed the iron bar to slide in the copper saddle, but the material soon worked away.

The armature bars weigh about 35,000 pounds and consist of approximately 10,000 linear feet in different shapes roughly four feet long and about two inches wide. Cliver said it will probably be necessary to remove each section and then replace the corroded sections with a newly forged piece and then to coat the old bars with an isolating material that can stand abrasion. Another alternative is to replace all of the iron armature with stainless steel if an effective isolating material cannot be found. This work will be done at Liberty Island.

OF THE OUTER skin of the statue, the most troubled section is the torch. Removal of the torch and surrounding structure for major restoration is under consideration. It has been closed to visitors since 1916 when the Black Tom munitions plant explosion in New Jersey caused about 100 rivets to pop out of the statue's torch-holding right arm. Although the rivets were soon replaced, the problem of congestion involved in narrow access by ladder into the torch caused the permanent closing of the area. Because of the congestion problem, no plans are foreseen for reopening the torch area to visitors.

Natural corrosion of the originally reddish copper forms a protective patina of copper sulphate. This gives the statue its familiar bluish-green color. There has been considerable concern, Cliver said, over the effect of pollutants, including acid rain, causing metal loss by making the protective patina more soluble. These effects, added to weathering, will serve to reduce the skin thickness. Preliminary inspection has shown this 100-year degradation to be less than expected — less than 10 percent.

OTHER POSSIBLE CHANGES include installing an elevator to the shoulder level of the statue or adding a staircase. Tourists presently climb a 171-step spiral staircase leading to a viewing area at the crown. The existing elevator ascends only to the top of the stone pedestal.

All restoration work is scheduled for completion for the statue's 1986 centennial.

Where funds are targeted

The Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Centennial Commission is seeking $230 million in donations to provide funding for renovations and permanent maintenance of both sites. Funds donated by the general public will be applied to the preservation of the statue and Ellis Island and not to administrative, fund-raising or other expenses, according to the commission.

The breakdown of funds sought is:

- $167 million for preservation ($39 million for the statue, $128 million for Ellis)
- $20 million endowment for permanent maintenance of the two sites.
- $28 million for educational programs and celebrations.
- $15 million for administrative and fund-raising activities.

Contributions for the renovations may be sent to:
Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Foundation Inc.
P.O. Box 1986
New York, NY 10018.

FOR MILLIONS of immigrants fleeing hunger, turmoil and oppression in the Old World, the Statue of Liberty was their first glimpse, after a long journey, of a New World that promised freedom, hope and opportunity.

Now nearing her 100th anniversary (1986), Liberty poised on her lofty pedestal at the entrance to New York harbor has experienced the ravages of time and the elements. Her gigantic iron framework is corroded, and structural problems require extensive renovation. The 200,000 pounds of hand-hammered copper sheathing that cover her iron framework are in serious disrepair.

The American people are being called upon to help raise money to restore her and nearby Ellis Island where immigrants were processed until 1954. A total of $230 million is being sought, equal to about $1 from every American.

On May 18, President Reagan announced the formation of the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Centennial Commission with Chrysler's Lee Iacocca named as its chairman.

The commission's goals, in addition to raising the money for the restoration of the statue and Ellis Island, are to advise the National Park Service and Department of Interior in establishing a lasting memorial to the immigrants who built America; to plan and implement centennial commemoration events and to develop plans for the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island national monument after the centennial celebrations.

OF ALL THE SYMBOLS of U.S. freedom and independence, the Statue of Liberty undoubtedly ranks second only to the American flag throughout the world. Although known universally as the Statue of Liberty, the official name of this national monument is Statue of Liberty Enlightening the World. The 151-foot-tall statue was presented to the United States in 1884 as a gift from France.

The idea of a monument to Franco-American friendship was the brainchild of Edouard Rene LeFevre de Laboulaye, a distinguished French legal scholar and historian. It was designed and executed by Frederic Auguste Bartholdi. In Bartholdi's mind, the torch of the statue was the light of liberty nurtured in the New World streaming back to light the way for the Old.

After a visit to the United States, Bartholdi finished in 1875 a four-foot plaster model of the Statue of Liberty. Laboulaye organized the Franco-American Union and fund-raising was begun. But it took six years to raise the $400,000 to pay for the cost of construction.

Bartholdi's model went through a number of changes before the 151-foot Statue of Liberty was constructed from a new nine-foot model.

The engineering problem was formidable. Bartholdi called upon engineer Alexandre Gustave Eiffel for calculations and structural advice. Already well recognized, Eiffel was later to gain added fame for the tower he would erect on the banks of the Seine.

EIFFEL DESIGNED an interior framework of iron to which the exterior copper sheets would be fastened. Originally, the surface of the statue was to be constructed from bronze, but this was abandoned because of the weight of the metal.

Instead, the exterior of the statue was fashioned from pure copper sheets about an eighth of an inch thick. The hundreds of separate copper squares that had been hammered into shape by skilled craftsmen were hung on the iron framework Eiffel had designed.

Hundreds of Parisians came each Sunday to the yards to watch the statue take shape. Early in 1884, the head of the statue rose above the rooftops of Paris, ready for her trip to the New World. On July 4, 1884, with great ceremony, the completed statue was handed over to the United States by the people of France.

IN DECEMBER 1884, the statue, which had been dismantled and packed in 49 mammoth wooden crates, along with her iron framework in 36 others, began her trip to America. Special trucks hauled the 500,000 pounds of metal and wood to the Gare Saint-Lazare from which a train of 70 cars carried it to Rouen. From there the following May, the Statue of Liberty sailed aboard the warship Isere to the United States.

The site for the Statue of Liberty was Bedloe's Island, a 12-acre tract lying 2,950 yards southwest of the tip of Manhattan. The island had been owned in the 17th century by a Walloon named Isaac Bedloe and was known as Bedloe's Island until 1956 when President Eisenhower approved a congressional resolution changing it to Liberty Island.

While the French were appealing to the people for contributions to build the monument to Franco-American friendship, Americans were being asked to provide a pedestal upon which the statue would rest. But funds were slow in coming until 1883 when Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World newspaper, picked up the gauntlet.

In an editorial on May 14, 1883, the World attacked New York's millionaires who spent fortunes on their own luxuries, yet stood around haggling over the pittance necessary to provide the statue's pedestal.

The World started its own drive. The response was overwhelming. Schoolchildren played a major part in contributions and in enthusiasm for the effort. In two months the drive surpassed its goal. A total of $270,000 had been raised, with more than $100,000 from the newspaper campaign alone.

ON OCT. 28, 1886, President Grover Cleveland presided over the colorful ceremonies at the statue that now towers above New York harbor on a pedestal 89 feet high, which in turn rested on a 65-foot, 11-point, star-shaped base that had been part of an abandoned fort.

The fort, built between 1806 and 1811 to defend New York against naval attack, had become Fort Wood and served as an artillery garrison, ordnance depot, recruiting center and quarantine station. The fort fell into disrepair over the years and was abandoned in 1877, paving the way for the erection of the statue on the site.

The Statue of Liberty, originally conceived as a monument to Franco-American friendship, ultimately became a symbol of hope and freedom to the immigrants arriving in increasing numbers in the New World. Immigration was increasing at a steady rate through the 19th century.

It was not until after the turn of the century that the Statue of Liberty became closely identified with the great flow of immigrants who landed on nearby Ellis Island. In 1903, a bronze plaque carrying a sonnet, "The New Colossus," composed in 1883 by Emma Lazarus, was affixed to the statue. It strengthened the tie between the statue and immigration in the following final lines by the young poet:

*Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free.
The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these the homeless, tempest-tost to me.
I lift my lamp beside the golden door!"*

Immigrants were originally processed through Castle Garden on the tip of Manhattan, but public outrage over the scandalously inadequate facilities it provided forced its closing in 1890.

FOLLOWING THE closing of Castle Garden, Ellis Island, a site near Bedloe's Island became the official East Coast entry point to America in 1892 when the government assumed responsibility for immigrant processing. In the ensuing years, until 1954 when it was closed, Ellis Island was host to about 70 percent of the 24 million immigrants entering the United States.

In 1965, Ellis Island was declared a historic shrine and added to the Statue of Liberty National Monument in recognition of its role as the nation's foremost immigration gateway. The Statue of Liberty had been declared a national monument in 1924 and placed under the jurisdiction of the War Department until 1933, when it came under the supervision of the National Park Service of the Department of the Interior.

Tall Ships featured in centennial celebration

Major events and celebrations are being developed to commemorate the 100th birthday of the Statue of Liberty, starting this year and continuing through 1986.

- Proposals include:
- A nationally televised ceremony and events on July 4 when officials will commemorate the centennial of the gift of the Statue of Liberty by the people of France.
  - In spring 1985, international stars will launch a summerlong international festival of cultural and entertainment events.
  - From May through September 1985, countries of the world are invited to join in an international Salute to Liberty, with each participating nation having its own day at the Statue of Liberty.
  - At the beginning of 1986, entertainers will join in a gala themed to all 50 states. This will launch the finale of the campaign, the centennial year of the dedication of the Statue of Liberty.

• Throughout the summer of 1986, there will be 100 days of celebrations and events for all 50 states in tribute to the nation's cultural and ethnic background.

• On July 4, 1986, the Statue of Liberty restoration will be celebrated as the focal point of Liberty Centennial Week. More sailing vessels, including the Tall Ships, than participated in Operation Sail during the nation's Bicentennial in 1976 will sail into New York harbor. July 4th parades across the country, entertainment and the world's largest fireworks display will highlight the day.

• On Oct. 28, 1986, the centennial of the unveiling and dedication of the Statue of Liberty will be celebrated by a rededication ceremony on Liberty Island followed by special entertainment and tributes.

Construction of the Statue of Liberty in Bartholdi's workshop in Paris during 1882 and 1883 was done with the guidance of wood and plaster mockups, which in turn were built from smaller scale models. The sculptor (second from right) and a visitor and several assistants are shown with a section of the statue's left arm. Copper sheets were hammered to the shape for the plaster forms and finally riveted together to form the 151-foot tall statue now standing in Upper New York Bay.
