District: no free land use

John Hoben, Plymouth-Canton school district superintendent, isn't wild about Canton Township's desire to use, for free, two parcels of school-owned property in the township.

In fact, "Jim wants to get something for nothing" is how Hoben described Canton Township Supervisor James Poole's recent request that the district let the township use the two pieces of property until the district sells it or needs it. Poole's looking for a "freebie," said Hoben.

Hoben proposed, instead, that the township buy one or both parcels from the school district.

In a Feb. 2 letter, Poole said the township had its eyes on approximately 15 acres behind township hall near Proctor and Canton Center Road, and another large parcel of land near Canton Center-Hanford that now is leased to a farmer for a cornfield.

The township, Poole promised, would use the acreage for "recreational facilities," but would not build any permanent structures on the two properties.

"WE WOULD like to use the two parcels for as long as you own it and have no use for it," Poole wrote.

"We prefer to do it free because it would seem silly for the taxpayers to pay rent on property they already own. However, if your rules or laws are such that you have to lease it, then I would recommend we lease it for a dollar a year. It seems to me the simple basics would be, Canton Township can use the school property until you sell it or need it."

Hoben admitted the district had little use now for the Proctor property, which it bought 10 years ago for $88,000 as a possible site for a school.

Hoben said he saw no problems with the township temporarily using the Proctor land for parking or for a carnival.

"For a temporary special use — fine. But no property should be deeded over on a long-term basis," he said.

HOBEN SAID it would be difficult to let the township use the Canton Center-Hanford property because the land is now leased to a farmer to grow corn.

"We have an obligation to that farmer, who gives us money," he said. Negotiations on the township's usage of the two properties have been underway for about two years. The school district originally backed the usage, Hoben said, if the township would reciprocate by putting in sidewalks near Gallimore Elementary in Canton.

"If they did that, we would have been amenable to letting the township use some of our vacant property," Hoben said. "But they never came up with a reciprocal agreement. In the meantime, we offered to sell them property. We came up with a list of four sites we would be willing to get rid of. We made gestures. They never delivered. I don't think Jim likes our answers."

The ultimate decision, Hoben said, would be up to the school board.

That's some drill!

Construction crews are active in Central Parking Lot as deep holes are drilled for the pilings to support the second deck, and possible expansion to a third deck if needed in the future. The city is decking Central Lot in conjunction with the medical center being built on the Harvey Street side by Huron Arbor Corp.

Program needs host families

By Diane Gale
staff writer

Members of the Canton Rotary Club have a simple solution for world peace.

"The whole purpose of the Rotary student-exchange program is that through our youth going to other countries and seeing how other people live, we possibly can put an end to war," said Dominic Cirino, who heads the chapter's exchange program.

Cirino admits the philosophy is a grand scheme, but says the effort is worthwhile. The Canton Rotary is looking for host families to sponsor a 16-year-old Swedish student, Mattias Pettersson, who will be arriving in August.

The blond, blue-eyed athlete enjoys gymnastics and soccer. Pettersson, who has taken eight years of English classes, says someday he would like to teach gym.

The future of the local program hinges on whether or not members will be able to locate families to host the young Swede.

"If we don't get anyone to host the Swedish boy, then we won't be able to send anyone out to another country," Cirino said.

To sponsor Swedish boy

Rotary Clubs in countries around the world sponsor American students, and send their youth to sponsoring chapters in the United States.

The young ambassadors, ages 16 to 19, live for one year with a family from Europe, South Africa, Australia, Japan, Tanzania, India and "just about any place in the world where there isn't any conflict going on right now, or where there's a potential for a war," Cirino said.

"POSSIBLY THESE people will be our future leaders," Cirino said. "Through the program they have an opportunity to exchange ideas with other people their age in another country."

Members of the Canton Rotary like to place each visiting student with four families for three-month periods each.

"We all live differently, and living with four families the student will get a better idea of what the country is like," Cirino said.

It's not necessary to be a member of the Rotary to host a student. The host families aren't compensated by the Rotary, but the student receives spending money from the club.

However, Cirino says $50 a month can be deducted from income tax for hosting a student. The club even provides the family with the needed tax forms.

"We look for a family that does things together, and not so much a family that eats at five different times," he said. "We don't want the (host) family to treat them (visiting students) like guests, we want them to be treated like family."

Cirino speaks with experience when he lauds the benefits of the program. He and his wife recently sponsored a Brazilian youngster, Luis daSilva.

When daSilva lived with the Canton Township family he was treated like the Cirino's 13-year-old son and 4-year-old daughter. He was expected to help himself to anything in the refrigerator,

Drunk-driving arrests crowd court dockets

Editor's note: This is the latest in a series of stories on the drinking driver.

By M.B. Dillon Ward
staff writer

It used to be that 10 drunk driving cases per day were heard in 35th District Court. Now that new, tougher drunk driving laws are in effect, the number has tripled to about 30 a day, according to 35th District Judge Dunbar Davis.

"I think that right after the law was passed, partly due to the publicity it got, the law had a real strong deterrent effect. There were not nearly as many drunk driving cases for the first month or six weeks as before," said Judge Davis. "People were frightened, and didn't drive as much after drinking." Since then, arrests have climbed, he said.

"In the last month we've seen a great increase, due to the task force where police from different communities are assigned to patrol areas with high incidences of drunk driving," added Davis.

NEARLY A year ago, drunk driving penalties were stiffened. Key provisions include:

- on-site breath tests for drunk drivers;
- establishment of a "per se" crime (when a driver's blood alcohol concentration is .10 or higher, it is proof in itself that a crime has been committed);
- penalty for refusal to take the breath test is now punishable by a 180-day license suspension, plus six points;
- a new $25 fee for license reinstatement;
- convicted offenders must undergo, and pay for, screening for alcohol treatment before sentencing;
- drunk drivers guilty of causing fatalities may be imprisoned for up to 15 years.

Judges in Wayne County generally are fining the first offender (where no serious injury is involved) $250-$400. Five to 12 days of community service work are imposed, at a cost to the offender of $15 per day to cover probation department supervision costs. Drunk drivers also must pay for alcohol treatment ordered by the court.

CANTON ATTORNEY Ronald D'Avanzo — a general practitioner who, with his partner Thomas Meconi, tries many drunk driving cases in 35th District Court — says "without question, there's a substantial increase in the number of (drunk driving) tickets coming through."

For second offenders, he adds, the new law is having a deterring affect.

After people go through the court system and pay $300-$400 in fines, costs and fees, they think a lot before they drive again drunk, D'Avanzo said.

"That's quite costly for the average person. And until you've lost that privilege to drive, you don't realize how much you take it for granted," he said.

While in recent months some judges and attorneys have been targeted as too lenient by Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) representatives who monitor courtrooms, 35th District Judges Davis and James Garber are receiving high marks.

Judge Dunbar Davis

"I've been very very pleased with the work I've seen Judge Garber do in sentencing drunk drivers," said Ralph Shufeldt of MADD, who's visited 35th District Court monthly for about a year.

"I have found he is both a fair judge and a humane judge, trying to take into consideration individuals and driving records. He's not a person to just jump on one particular point within a trial and stick to that."

While D'Avanzo notes it sometimes takes longer for drunk drivers to be sentenced in 35th District than in other courts, there's good reason, he says.

"It's my feeling that there's a very outstanding probation department in 35th District Court. (While sentencing takes some time,) it's because there's a very high volume of cases, and secondly, they do a very thorough job to get their pre-sentence reports."

"Both Judge Davis and Garber want full, detailed reports," said D'Avanzo. "It takes longer for that to be accomplished, but the judges are getting a better assessment as to whether an individual has a drinking problem."

FOR THOSE who appear to be social drinkers, attendance at the local court's alcohol awareness program is required, said Judge Davis. (Drunk drivers are charged $25 per session.)

If there's a more serious drunk driving problem, the person may go to a nearby hospital for in-patient treatment as a condition of their probation, added Judge Davis.

Where a drinking driver is neither a social drinker nor sick enough to require in-patient treatment, out-patient alcohol treatment at local hospitals or attendance at Alcoholics Anonymous is mandated as part of probation, he said.

D'Avanzo says the court is on the right track with its alcohol rehabilitation program.

"I've seen some cases where people have straightened themselves out, and others have become repeat offenders. It's not a perfect science — we're still dealing with human behavior and physiological and physical dependencies that go along with it."

"But for a person who may have a drinking problem, 90 days in jail isn't going to do anything to enhance his awareness of drunk driving. I believe that where there's at least an attempt for people to acknowledge a problem, it's a step in the right direction," said D'Avanzo, whose firm often refers alcoholic clients to area hospitals, and inpatients to the Hegira substance abuse program at Wayne County General Hospital.

THE ADVENT of the new drunk driving law brought predictions of more jury trials, and a business boon for attorneys.

The first hasn't occurred, say Davis and D'Avanzo.

The new drunk driving law has boosted business for attorneys.

"Any time you increase the number of cases, the more grist there is for the lawyers' mills. There has been some increase, yes," said Judge Davis.

"But many people are getting the message that if they're going to plead guilty, then having an attorney doesn't help one iota. They represent themselves. We're seeing a lot of that."

Students to be trained for health screening

Students at Steppingstone School will be trained this week to perform health-screening tests for adults.

When finished, the students will be trained to screen height and weight, blood pressure, anemia and visual acuity.

The screening will be offered free at the Health/Science Fair, open to the public, from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Friday. The school is at 45801 Ann Arbor Road west of Sheldon in Plymouth.

Health-care professionals also will be at the health fair to offer blood-chemistry analysis for only $8, a service which usually averages more than $50.

The students will be trained by Cecelia L. Childs, project director of the National Health Screening Council for Volunteer Organizations Inc. (NHSCVO).

Adults in the community are welcome to take advantage of the health-screening services offered.

Duff K. Schad is the teacher-director for the Science Fair. Also involved is Kiyu A. Morse, school director, and teachers Marcia Spontelli and Marda Benson.

The Science Fair will feature student science projects, student science demonstrations, math games and manipulatives on display. Included will be buoyancy experiments, starch test, nutrition, rabbit-breeding program, diaramas, terrariums and art projects related to astronomy, dinosaurs, mammals, robots, eras, geology, biology and physiology.

Steppingstone, a center for the potentially gifted, offers individualized instruction for grades 1-8 in language arts, mathematics, sciences, social studies, music, visual arts, performing arts, physical education and foreign language.

Some steps to take to get edge on tornadoes

(Second in a series)

No one can stop or prevent a tornado. But there are precautions you can take to safeguard lives and property.

A family's survival in a tornado may depend on taking some basic steps in preparedness now — before the storm warnings are issued.

The following steps are recommended by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and the Charter Township of Plymouth Office

TORNADO SHELTERS can save lives.

To protect your family, a shelter area should be selected in advance, and each family member told where it is and how to get to it quickly.

Hold a tornado drill periodically, so all know what to do should a tornado strike. The drills also may show you the need for storing some items in or near the shelter area, such as a battery-powered light and radio and extra batteries.

Other items for your shelter may include a first-aid kit, any special medication, a supply of bottled water and food which does not require cooking. A survival kit for the home should be designed for use during and after any severe weather, such as a tornado or winter storm. You could find yourself isolated and your home without power. Proper preparations could allow you to survive for a few days without outside assistance.

Some basic rules apply wherever you are when a tornado strikes. First — don't panic. Knowing simple safety rules, and taking action, can save your life.

IF AT HOME, the best shelter from a tornado is the basement. Go to the northern or eastern corner of the basement avoiding windows and doors, or get beneath a sturdy piece of furniture like a table or workbench. Try to stay near an outside wall.

In a home without a basement, take cover near the center of the house in a closet or bathroom, or get under sturdy furniture until the storm passes. If possible, protect your body with a heavy blanket or sleeping bag.

Avoiding windows is one of the most important safety tips to remember. Most tornado injuries and deaths are caused by flying debris, and shattered glass can be deadly. Another safety shelter is beneath the basement stairway. Stairways are structurally sound and provide excellent protection against falling debris. Avoid rock or brick walls and chimneys. Instead of blowing over in high winds, they tend to collapse straight down.

MOBILE HOMES are extremely unsafe during tornadoes. If you live in a mobile home, your family should have an evacuation plan and a designated shelter in a substantial building. Never take shelter in your mobile home. Tornado winds have incredible power and can lift and carry a mobile home for a long distance. If there is no suitable shelter nearby, you still are safer lying in a ravine, ditch or culvert than remaining in your mobile home.

CAT-scan equipment reduces brain surgery

By Maurie Walker
staff writer

THE FEAR of exploratory surgery and numerous X-rays may be a thing of the past, thanks to new equipment at Garden City Osteopathic Hospital.

The equipment, called a CAT-scan for short, costs $1.2 million, but the hospital says it will substantially reduce the need for brain operations.

The equipment is formally known as Computerized Axial Tomography or C.A.T.

A hospital spokesman said the machine is a painless tool that when combined with an advanced X-ray scanning process and a powerful mini-computer lets doctors study virtually any portion of the human anatomy with unprecedented detail and accuracy.

And all that is done without surgery. It actually seems to see inside the body for the doctor, sending computerized information not normally visible with regular X-ray equipment, concerning bones, organs, tissues and tumors.

It gives the doctor an in-depth evaluation of trauma-related injuries, especially of the head.

This scanning process can be used to take sensitive images that could not be obtained from standard X-ray machines.

Without this machine, when doctors want to study air passages in the brain, the patient often has to undergo long, painful procedure. Air is injected into the spinal canal and then an X-ray is taken of the patient's brain.

With the CAT scanner, the same results can be achieved without painful injections, Dr. Donald L. Zinko, head of the hospital's radiology department, said.

"What is nice about this machine is that it eliminates some operations. Instead of cutting into a patient, we can take pictures to see if there is anything wrong," he said.

IN THE PAST, when a patient developed an abscess after surgery, doctors either waited until the patient improved and then performed exploratory surgery to check the abscess, or had to operate immediately.

This was a risky procedure because the patient had not recovered from the first operation.

Dr. Zinko said that with the CAT scanner all that is needed is to localize the area with the scanner and then place catheters in to treat it.

The scanner is a large, white metallic machine on which a patient lies on a raised table. The table is mounted on a track and slowly moves the patient into a hole at the center of the scanner unit.

As the patient lies there, the circular scanner revolves, taking thousands of electric X-ray imprints of the patient's body from every angle.

"We can actually, by X-ray pictures, 'slice' up the body so that we can study at a close angle, the portion of the body that needs to be examined," the doctor said.

"We have about 15 patients a day assigned to the scanner," Zinko said. "In addition it is often used on emergency cases."

Requests to use the scanner are recommended through a patient's doctor.

Most insurance firms cover the cost, Zinko said.

The scanner is operated by a crew of three specially trained technicians and provides services Monday through Friday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. and from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays. In the event of emergencies, the staff is on standby.

Checking a brain scan on the computer of a patient inside the scanner, are William Schwartz, a C.A.T. technologist, and Dr. Donald Zinko, head of the hospital radiology department.

strates how the CAT-scanner works. The patient is eased inside the gantry where X-ray pictures are taken of the patient.

Wednesday travelogue to feature California

A special look at California will be featured at Wednesday's travelogue series sponsored by the Plymouth Kiwanis Foundation.

The Kiwanis Travelogue will begin at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School on Joy Road just west of Canton Center Road.

The travel series is a joint venture of the Plymouth Kiwanis Club and the Kiwanis Club of Colonial Plymouth. Proceeds are designated for the Kiwanis Foundation, which is used for community service projects.

STAN MIDGLEY will narrate Wednesday night's film feature entitled "My California."

The look at California begins with scenes at the Chinese Theatre, Hollywood Boulevard, and the "Walk of Fame."

Other early scenes include brush fires in the dry season, snow in the mountains of Los Angeles County, the latest Pasadena Rose Bowl Parade, peach and cherry orchards in springtime bloom, deer, hummingbirds and raccoons on the doorsteps of Los Angeles.

Midgley shows viewers sanderlings running on the beaches, and the same beaches after the famous "oil spill." He then shows the Santa Barbara beaches the way they look today and mission San Juan Capistrano — beautiful but no longer attractive to the swallows.

The film clips then unveil Death Valley, the sand dunes, 4,000-year-old trees (the world's oldest), Palm Springs, snow on the desert, skiing on six feet of snow in Los Angeles County in April, and the smog and freeways of L.A.

Midgley takes viewers trout fishing in the nation's second oldest national forest and on thrill rides in the amusement parks. After a visit to Disneyland, viewers are taken to San Diego Wild Animal Park, San Diego Zoo, Sea World and La Jolla.

THE SECOND HALF of the film begins in Yosemite Valley after a January snow to show the rush of water in springtime and bears just out of hibernation.

Then it's on California Route One to San Simeon, and on to Monterey to see the Fisherman's Pier and Cannery Row of Steinbeck fame the way it looks today.

Midgley, through film, takes spectators on a 75 m.p.h. ride on BART and then on a 9 m.p.h. ride on the cable cars. Then sights such as the Golden Gate, the Redwoods, Fern Canyon and walnut orchards in the Sacramento Valley.

After seeing the effects of volcanoes, a train ride is taken aboard the California Zephyr to view seldom-photographed falls and to visit Lake Tahoe. Then a trip on steam engines to see Sutter's Fort and Sutter's Mill and the Mother Lode of the gold-mining era, and then some fishing and back-packing in the High Sierra.

And finally a visit to Sequoia National Park, named after the Indian who developed a written language for the Cherokee tribe.

Cheap boards aid accident victims

If you weighed 250 pounds and your spine was injured in a car accident, would you want to be transported to a hospital on a piece of fibreboard?

The folks at Packaging Corp. of America, 936 Sheldon, give a resounding yes to that question. And, armed with their cheap, strong, disposable spine boards, made here in Plymouth, they are out to revolutionize rescue operations across the country.

Instead of carrying the injured on backboards made of wood, ambulance services and firefighters can transport them on boards made out of six-ply corrugated fibreboard. And the boards cost less than $20 each.

One of the company's first stops recently was to the Plymouth Fire Department where they donated five of their "radical" boards to the city.

"They're nice because you can put someone on 'em. board that you suspect has a spine injury and the hospital can X-ray right; through it, there are no metal strips or hinges," said fire department Capt. Donald Belaki.

Rescue workers sometimes have problems getting a spine board back if the patient is transferred to another hospital. With the cheaper, disposable fibreboards, Belaki said, ambulance drivers can keep the patient strapped to the board and simply tack the $20 cost onto the person's ambulance bill.

Plymouth's fire department has been using rescue boards homemade out of plywood. Because the city recently turned over its emergency medical operations to a private service, the newly donated boards will be used mainly during major disasters where firefighters are called for rescue operations.

City hall veteran retires

By W.W. Edgar
staff writer

With a record of 16 years employment at the switchboard in Plymouth City Hall, Beulah Hanchett is going to retire on April 1, and for a very good reason.

"This is not an April Fool's Day trick. I have a much better reason than that," she said the other afternoon when revealing her plans.

"Down in Nevada I have two grandchildren that I am anxious to see and I would be an unfaithful grandmother if I didn't see them when they were young."

LOOKING BACK over the past 16 years she recalled that she has served three city clerks and enjoyed working for each of them.

When she took the position in 1968, the late Gene Slider was the clerk. After him came Paul Brumfield and then Gordon Limburg.

"I enjoyed the work here," she said, "This is a fine group to work for but, after all, when a person hears the grandchildren calling it is time to go."

Mrs. Hanchett, born in South Dakota, attended school there but didn't go on to college or a university.

"Instead," she said, "I took up special courses in my spare time and most of the studies had to do with business. And I managed to get along all right."

In the spring of 1947 she was married and that changed her life completely. Her husband was employed by General Motors Corporation and was assigned to the proving grounds in Milford. That brought her into Michigan and close to Plymouth where they finally resided.

"It was the largest place around here without going into the city of Detroit, so we settled in Plymouth and have been here ever since."

As she spoke she hesitated at times to talk about the grandchildren. She has one son who is the father of two children and now lives in Nevada.

"You know, grandchildren have a right to know their grandmother when they are youngsters. And, as their grandmother, I have the right to cuddle them when they are toddlers.

"It is much too late when you wait until they are grown to show your devotion to them. I want to be with them now and I want them to remember me when I was the grandmother who played with them in their early childhood. That's why I am so anxious to get to Nevada now — while they are young."

Spoken like a real grandmother. Mrs. Hanchett confides that she will always remember her days in City Hall. But she hears those grandchildren calling and she is answering.

YOU ARE INVITED TO AN IMPORTANT FREE SEMINAR.

You may think of an Individual Retirement Account (IRA) primarily as an excellent way to obtain a $2,000 deduction on your income tax every year.

Almost everyone with earned income now has that opportunity. But it is also much more than that. It's an opportunity to add substantially to your retirement funds.

What you may not know — and will discover at this special seminar — is that some IRAs do more for your money than others.

You'll learn how some lock you in to one type of investment. How others limit you to a fixed rate of return. While a Merrill Lynch IRA opens up virtually the entire range of investment opportunities to your money during the important accumulation years.

The reason, of course, is to give it more chances to grow faster. You'll learn how you can choose from over 50 different investments. How you can switch from one to another any time your goals change or new opportunities arise. And why you, like more than 750,000 Merrill Lynch IRA customers, who have invested over five billion dollars to date, can have confidence in our world financial leadership and IRA experience.

Before you make a decision as important as a retirement investment, you should know all your choices. We'll explain them to you. The seminar is free, but reservations are essential. To make yours, please call or mail the coupon today.

PATRICIA E. PENNINGTON

Funeral services for Mrs. Pennington, 56, of Walled Lake were held recently in Lambert-Locniskar & Vermeulen Funeral Home with burial at Holy Sepulchre Cemetery. Officiating was the Rev. Timothy Hogan.

Mrs. Pennington, who died March 15 in Farmington Hills, was an ophthalmologist's assistant. She was a member of the Ladies Auxiliary VFW Post 4957 of Brighton. Survivors include: husband, Charles; son, Daniel Louiselle of Dearborn; daughter, Kathryn Ramon of Northville; brother, William Stridiron of Plymouth; and four grandchildren.

Local industry helps clean up

Metal finishers and others in the painting and plating businesses will benefit from input from a Plymouth firm at an industrywide conference to help them comply with U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) clean water standards.

A well-designed treatment system actually can minimize fresh water requirements, paint and chemical expenses, energy and labor costs, waste water disposal programs, sewer fees and sludge hauling costs, says Ziegler.

The new standards take effect beginning in April.

Roland G. Ziegler of Durr Industries, 40600 Plymouth Road, Plymouth, will talk on "Waste Water Treatment for Electrocoating Systems" at the Electrocoat '84 conference in Cincinnati April 24-25.

Ziegler is a senior member of the Association of Finishing Processes of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers (SME). He is sales manager of the international department of Durr Industries Inc. of Plymouth, a leading manufacturer of industrial systems.

The conference is being sponsored by Products Finishing, a leading magazine of the finishing industry.

Ziegler will present a variety of legal and technical information, along with recommendations for effective treatment of electrocoat wastewater, at the seminar.

Thanks for concert help

To the editor:
On behalf of the Plymouth Symphony League I extend a hearty thank you to all those who worked and helped make our young people's concert on Sunday, March 18, a real success.

The publicity provided by your fine staff was the best ever and the generosity and continued support of the Plymouth-Canton businesses and community created a wonderful afternoon for all who attended.

Delivery made on eyeglasses

To the editor:
Brownie Troop 326 of Allen School would like to thank the people of Plymouth, Northville and Canton for their generous support of our New Eyes for the Needy Service project.

We collected 2,318 pairs of eyeglasses plus assorted jewelry which already have been shipped to New Eyes for the Needy Inc. in Short Hills, N.J. We thank all of you who took the time to donate eyeglasses at the various drop-off areas.

The project could not have been a success without the support of the media. We thank Elinor Graham, Sandy Preblich and photographer Bill Bresler of the Plymouth and Canton Observers, Cheryl Eberwein of the Crier and Nancy Ross of the Detroit Free Press.

WE THANK Andrew Melin of Plymouth-Canton's own radio station, WSDP, who interviewed and broadcast our plea for eyeglasses. A big thank you to Suzanne Skubick of Omnicon Cablevision who arranged for an in-home interview with the Brownies, which was telecast through cable television with our plea for more eyeglasses. She also has made a video tape of this for our entry into Colgate's Help Young America Campaign, a nationwide contest to judge community service projects.

We also are grateful to the community businesses who allowed their work day to be interrupted to receive contributions — Bob Jeannotte, Pearle Vision Center in Canton and Mayflower Optical Shoppe. A big hug to our troop sponsor, Bob Jeannotte, who paid the UPS charges to ship the 300 pounds of eyeglasses to New Jersey.

WE ALSO would like to thank Canton Township Supervisor James Poole, Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, Plymouth Mayor David Pugh and Northville Township Supervisor John MacDonald for the recognition they gave the Brownie Troop in the form of proclamations and for proclaiming Colgate Help Young America weeks in their communities.

And, last but not least, all the Girl Scout troops throughout these communities who helped us with additional contributions.

Again, our thanks to all for your generosity. There will be many throughout the world who will gain vision through your contributions.

RHEUMATOLOGISTS AND ORTHOPEDISTS
A Rheumatologist is a physician specializing in the diagnosis and treatment of conditions of the bones, joints, and muscles. An Orthopedist is a surgeon trained in operations involving the bones and joints.
In most instances if you have joint pain, first you will see a Rheumatologist or your own physician. Most likely he will treat your joint problem with a combination of rest, heat, exercise and medication. If medical therapy is not successful, then it is likely you will be referred to an orthopedist for his evaluation for joint surgery.
Usually surgery is not tried as initial therapy because an operation on the joints, like all surgery, carries a personal risk. Furthermore, if the surgery is not successful, it is possible that you could be worse off after the operation than before it was undertaken.
In the fight against arthritis, the Rheumatologist and Orthopedist work together. Each specialist can carry responsibility for your care up to a point, and then must turn to the fellow specialist for assistance.

How to turn Medicare into Supercare for only $39.38 per month.

Your Medicare coverage is incomplete without GHP's Super Senior-Care!

Under Medicare A & B, many of your medical costs are covered. But did you know that Medicare does not cover routine physical examinations, prescription drugs, routine immunizations and injections, eye exams and hearing tests, among many other things? And when you add up all the deductibles, the 20% co-payments and the additional fees your doctor might be charging, you are paying a lot of money for your medical care!

With Group Health Plan's Super Senior-Care, you don't have to worry about all the fine print and extra charges. Your GHP membership will entitle you to unlimited hospital days, unlimited skilled nursing facility days and unlimited physician services including physical exams with no co-payments or deductibles. You will also be covered for prescription drugs (with only a $3 co-payment), eye examinations, hearing tests, immunizations and injections, and emergency treatment anywhere in the world.

An end to paperwork.
Get out from under the mountain of paperwork! You don't have to save your receipts or fill out hard-to-understand forms to get reimbursed for payments you've already made. Once you've qualified for Medicare A & B and you've enrolled in Group Health Plan, all you have to do is visit one of our conveniently located Health Centers and you'll receive all the medical attention you need in an easy-to-understand, complete program.

Three Health Centers to serve you.
The Group Health Plan team of physicians, nurses, technicians and other health care professionals works together at three conveniently located Health Centers. Each modern facility is well-equipped with treatment and examination rooms, a pharmacy, optical department, laboratory and x-ray facilities, and health education and counseling services. You are free to choose your own personal physician from among the members of the GHP staff.

With GHP's Super Senior-Care, you get all Medicare benefits plus the following additional benefits:
• Prescription drug coverage (with $3.00 co-payment at GHP Pharmacies) • Unlimited hospital days • Unlimited skilled nursing facility days • Complete physician services (office visits, physical exams, etc.) • Eye and hearing examinations, allergy testing, laboratory services • No receipts to maintain or Medicare claim forms to complete • Emphasis on prevention, early diagnosis and prompt treatment • A complete program that's easy to understand and to use.
You must receive all your services from GHP except for emergency or urgent services, otherwise neither GHP nor Medicare will pay.

Compare the difference!

Benefit	COVERAGE
	GHP's Super Senior-Care	Medicare A & B alone
Hospitalization	Unlimited days	First 60 days minus $356 deductible, next 30 days minus $89 per day, next 60 days minus $178 per day
Skilled Nursing Facility	Unlimited days	First 20 days covered, 21st through 100th day minus $44.50 per day, additional days not covered
Private Duty Nursing	Complete coverage when medically necessary	Not covered
Office Visits	Complete coverage	80% of approved charges after paying deductible
Prescription Drugs	Unlimited — $3 co-payment	Not covered
Eye and Hearing Examinations	Complete coverage	Not covered

NOTE: Inpatient and outpatient mental health services are limited, and there is a $5 co-payment for each outpatient mental health visit.

Plymouth had blackout ordinance during WW II

(Part 2)
Plymouth's sixth manager was C.H. Elliott, who had been city manager at Pontiac. He was here ten years, serving under five mayors.

During his tenure the city closed a section of Church Street in front of the high school to provide greater safety for children. To make this possible, it built the boulevard in front of the Presbyterian Church after exchanging property with the church trustees following the church fire of 1936.

Garbage collection was instituted on July 1, 1937. The Wayne County Road Commission proposed a railroad-grade separation at Blanche Street, but the city took no action. A referendum held during the 1939-40 year showed that residents did favor a grade separation by 3 to 1, but most wanted it on Main Street.

During the 1941-42 year, the city passed an ordinance requiring all milk sold within the city to be pasteurized. After the Dec. 7, 1941, attack on Pearl Harbor, the city adopted a blackout ordinance, "similar to Detroit's."

In the following year, as a war economy, the commission approved Elliott's recommendation that rubbish be picked up at the curb rather than at the rear of homes. Like temporary taxes, the war measure was never repealed.

During the same period, the trolley rails were removed from Main Street to salvage the metal for the war effort.

Chlorination came to Plymouth in the 1940s when a unit for that purpose was installed at the booster station. I don't know the exact date, and some of my other information for the years 1944 through 1951 is incomplete, because no one seems to have a collection of city annual reports covering that period.

Plymouth had its first woman mayor

past and present

Sam Hudson

when Elliott was city manager. Her name was Ruth Huston Whipple. She held the office from 1940 to 1942, and continued on the City Commission until 1949. Elliott, who got along well with her, left Plymouth in May 1946 to become city manager at Jackson, then at Kalamazoo.

HAROLD CHEEK, who became the community's seventh manager in June 1946, did not see eye-to-eye with Mrs. Whipple on a number of matters. A Navy man, who had been city manager at Big Stone Gap, Va., he is said to have been very efficient. But his style annoyed some citizens leading to a demand that the City Commission fire him. When it refused, the entire commission, except Ruth Whipple, was recalled.

Cheek was terminated when the new commission took over. The story of the recall is told in detail in chapter eight of my book on the history of Plymouth.

The eighth manager was Albert E. Glassford, who took over from Cheek in June 1949. Glassford, who had worked for Cheek, was to serve as city manager for 18 years, a record. During his administration, a new charter was adopted, a $600,000 sanitary sewer was completed and Main Street was widened, causing some sorrow as many of its beautiful trees gave way to progress.

After losing 36 elm trees in the mid-1950s, the city set up a spraying program to combat Dutch-elm disease. The Dunning-Hough Library was completed in 1957-58, the police and fire departments were combined to form a Public Safety Department and the city bought the empty Christian Science Church near city hall in preparation for a new municipal building.

In 1962, the city received approval from the federal government for the Mill Street Urban Renewal project designed to eliminate urban blight. In 1963, a municipal building authority was created to build a new city hall.

The building was under construction when Al Glassford left to become city manager of Albion in 1964. That was the year the Senior Citizen's Housing Project, which resulted in the building of Tonquish Creek Manor, was approved by the City Commission.

As a postscript to Glassford's long tenure as city manager, it is necessary to note that during the 1964-65 year, while he was manager and Russell Daane was mayor, the commission set up a "Plymouth Community Study Committee." Its purpose was to report on the subject of boundary expansion.

Daane, Glassford and several of the commissioners saw the city's tight boundaries as an economic noose. There response was attempted annexation of all or parts of Plymouth Township. Many of the residents of the township, and all of its officials, were prepared to go to great lengths (including bogus efforts to establish the township as a separate city) to see that this did not happen.

The city was thwarted in all its annexation efforts but one. It did manage to annex the Cassady property at the corner of Sheldon and North Territorial roads. The Western Electric plant is built on part of that acquisition.

The bad feelings generated between the two governmental bodies lasted for a number of years. During recent years a spirit of harmony, or at least of cooperation, has developed between officials on both sides.

A letter to Mother Nature

Comment on your tricks

The most common safety tip given to avoid injury from tornadoes is to seek shelter.

But finding shelter is not always an easy task if you are away from home.

What should you do if you are outside or in a public building when a twister strikes?

The following suggestions are made by the Federal Emergency Management Agency, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration and by the Charter Township of Plymouth Office of Emergency Preparedness.

IF YOU ARE in an office building, shopping mall or other public building, move to a pre-designated public shelter. Stay inside the building — don't run to your car.

You generally are safer inside a substantial structure than you are in the open. If a pre-designated shelter cannot be found immediately, move to a central area on a lower floor.

Stay away from windows and large open areas with wide, unsupported roofs that could easily collapse.

Try to find a small room like a closet, restroom or storeroom or get close to heavy shelving or counters. Stairwells also make good shelters if they are windowless and in the interior of the building.

In school, stay calm and follow the directions of school officials.

PEOPLE MAY KNOW how to protect themselves from a tornado while inside but many become confused or panic if a tornado strikes while they are outside or driving in a car.

Should a tornado strike while you are outside, try to find shelter immediately in the nearest substantial building. If no buildings are close, take cover by the stroller

lying flat in a ditch or depression.

Protect your head with your hands and arms.

Never try to drive away from the storm.

If you are in your car and cannot find shelter in a building, leave the car and lie flat in a ditch or depression with your arms over your head. Don't take shelter under your car.

DIA has slide show for kids

The Detroit Institute of Arts is offering eight free slide presentations this year to fourth, fifth and sixth graders in the metropolitan area.

Co-ordinated by The Art to the Schools Committee of the DIA, trained volunteers bring slides of DIA art objects into the classroom and lead a discussion of them with the students.

Interested teachers can call the DIA to arrange a presentation.

The volunteers undergo a year-long training program given by Michael Farrell, art history professor, and various curators from the DIA education department.

"Portraits and People" has been added to the presentations which include an introduction to the museum, arts of Asia, Native Americans and Africans, and the 20th Century.

Vacations good for soul, businessman says

By W.W. Edger
staff writer

While the unseasonable rain was beating a tattoo on the roof of his insurance building, Russell Hoisington sat at his desk and told of plans to leave for Hawaii and said he couldn't wait to get started.

Reminded that he had just returned from a vacation in which he visited Florida and Mexico, he countered with: "I am a firm believer that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, and I am going to travel as much as possible."

Looking out of the window at the downpour he said he would like to travel around the world. At least he would like to see as much of it as possible and he has seen quite a bit already.

DURING THE WAR he served in the U.S. Navy and saw much of Europe.

"I have been in Tokyo, Paris, Vienna, London and Zurich and that takes in the greater part of Europe. Along with these travels I have seen the greater part of the United States and I want to see more of it."

Since he came to Plymouth eight years ago and took over Chuck Finlan's insurance business, Hoisington has made it a practice to take a vacation, or two, every year. And he says he will continue that program as long as he is able.

Born in Detroit in 1927, he went to school in Milford and then to Alma College. Graduating with a degree in business administration, he went to work for the Citizen's Insurance Co. in the home office in Howell in 1951.

He remained there for 25 years with the exception of one year that he spent in the home office in Hartford, Conn. It was after this that he came to Plymouth. He was bitten by the travel bug during his two-year stint with the Navy while on leave from the insurance company, and he set upon the idea of travelling to see the world. He had seen much of the South Pacific and that only increased his desire to see more and more.

"I am a firm believer that travel broadens a fellow," he said, "and I am going to do as much of it as possible. That's why I am so anxious to get to Hawaii."

WHICH CITY did he like the best he was asked.

"San Francisco," he answered without a moment's hesitation.

"Why?"

"Well," he said, "it is a city that's got everything. The mountains are close by, the real city life, the fisherman's wharf, the finest hotels, and eating places, the historic cable cars, and all the rest. I just fell in love with it."

"And San Francisco is where I got my boat when I went into the Navy. So, I have a fond link with the city because of it."

There are other cities that pleased him. Among them were Zurich, Switzerland. He also thinks Paris is a fine city with lots of attractions, and he has kind words for London and the royal family. But you mention San Francisco and immediately he tells you about Lombard Street, the crookedest street in the world with 17 turns in a city block.

But now he's off to Hawaii and will soon have another area to list as among the places he has been while practicing his theory that all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy.

Entrees from the Sea

Halibut Stew with Dumplings

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 1 cup sliced carrots  | 1/4 teaspoon salt                             |
| 1/2 cup chopped onion                                       | 1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed                  |
| 1/2 cup sliced celery                                       | 1-1/2 pounds Alaska halibut, thawed if frozen |
| 2 tablespoons vegetable oil                                 | 1 cup frozen green peas                       |
| 2 tablespoons Bisquick baking mix                           | 1/4 cup chopped green pepper                  |
| 1-1/2 cups water  | 1 cup Bisquick baking mix                     |
| 1/2 cup dry white wine                                      | 1/3 cup milk                                  |
| 1/2 teaspoon instant chicken or vegetable bouillon granules | 2 tablespoons snipped parsley                 |

Saute carrots, onion and celery in oil in 10-inch skillet until onion is tender. Mix in 2 tablespoons baking mix thoroughly. Stir in water, wine, bouillon (dry), salt and dill weed. Heat to simmering; simmer uncovered 15 minutes. Cut halibut into 1-1/2-inch pieces. Stir halibut, peas and green pepper into vegetable mixture. Mix 1 cup baking mix, milk and parsley until soft dough forms. Heat halibut mixture to boiling over medium heat. Drop dough by 6 spoonfuls onto boiling halibut mixture; reduce heat. Simmer uncovered 10 minutes; cover and simmer 10 minutes longer. 4 to 6 servings.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Use thinly sliced carrots and celery.

Salmon-Dill Puffs

- |                                   |                                       |
|-----------------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 1/2 cup water                     | 1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed, crushed |
| 3 tablespoons margarine or butter | 3 eggs                                |
| 3/4 cup Bisquick baking mix       | Salmon-Dill Filling (below)           |

Heat oven to 400°. Heat water and margarine to boiling in 1-1/2-quart saucepan. Add baking mix and dill weed, all at once. Stir vigorously over low heat until mixture forms a ball, about 1-1/2 minutes. Remove from heat; beat in eggs, one at a time, until smooth. Drop 6 mounds of dough at least 3 inches apart onto aluminum foil-covered cookie sheet. Bake until puffed and dark golden brown, 25 to 30 minutes. Cool 5 minutes; carefully remove from cookie sheet. Cut off tops of puffs with serrated knife.

Prepare Salmon-Dill Filling. Spoon into bottoms of puffs; replace tops. 6 servings.

Salmon-Dill Filling

- |                              |  |
|------------------------------|--|
| 1 can (15-1/2 ounces) salmon | 1/8 to 1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed, crushed |
| Milk                         | 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese (4 ounces)       |
| 1/4 cup margarine or butter  | 1 teaspoon lemon juice                       |
| 1/4 cup Bisquick baking mix  | 2 medium tomatoes, chopped (about 2 cups)    |
| 1 teaspoon dried mustard     |  |
| 1/4 teaspoon pepper          |  |

Drain and chunk salmon, reserving liquid. Add enough milk to salmon liquid to measure 2 cups; reserve. Heat margarine in 2-quart saucepan over low heat until melted. Stir in baking mix, mustard, pepper and dill weed. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until smooth and bubbly. Remove from heat; stir in milk mixture. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute; reduce heat. Stir in cheese, lemon juice, tomatoes and salmon; heat through.

High Altitude Directions (over 3500 feet): Not recommended for use.

Alaska Crab Pizza

- |   |   |
|---|---|
| 1 pound Alaska Snow crab clusters, thawed, if frozen, OR        | 1/3 cup very hot water                      |
| 1 package (6 ounces) frozen crabmeat, thawed and drained        | 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms                    |
| 1/2 teaspoon each dried oregano and dried basil leaves, crushed | 1/2 small onion, thinly sliced              |
| 1/8 teaspoon garlic salt  | 1 cup shredded mozzarella cheese (4 ounces) |
| 1 can (8 ounces) tomato sauce                                   | 1 medium tomato, thinly sliced              |
| 1-1/2 cups Bisquick baking mix                                  | 1/2 medium green pepper, thinly sliced      |

Place oven rack in lowest position of oven. Heat oven to 450°. Remove crabmeat from shell; cut into bite-size pieces. Mix oregano, basil, garlic salt and tomato sauce; reserve. Mix baking mix and hot water; beat vigorously 20 strokes. Turn dough onto surface well floured with baking mix. Knead until smooth and no longer sticky, about 60 times. Pat dough into 13-inch circle on greased cookie sheet. Pinch edge of dough to form 1/2-inch rim. Spread tomato sauce mixture evenly over dough. Top with mushrooms, onion, crabmeat and cheese. Bake 12 minutes; top with tomato and green pepper. Bake 2 to 3 minutes longer. 6 servings.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Increase baking mix to 2 cups and use 1/2 cup boiling water. Do not knead dough.

Impossible Deviled Crab Pie

- |  |                                      |
|--|--------------------------------------|
| 1 pound Alaska Snow crab clusters, thawed, if frozen, OR | 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese       |
| 1 package (6 ounces) frozen crabmeat, thawed and drained | 1-1/4 cups milk                      |
| 1/2 cup chopped onion                                    | 1-1/2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce |
| 1/2 cup chopped celery                                   | 3 eggs                               |
| 1/2 cup shredded carrots                                 | 1 cup Bisquick baking mix            |
|  | 1/4 teaspoon pepper                  |

Heat oven to 350°. Grease pie plate, 10x1-1/2 inches. Remove crabmeat from shell. Layer crabmeat, onion, celery, carrots and cheese in plate. Beat remaining ingredients until smooth, about 15 seconds in blender on high or 1 minute with electric mixer on high. Pour into plate. Bake until knife inserted in center comes out clean, 40 to 45 minutes. Cool 5 minutes. 6 servings.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): No adjustments are necessary.

Salmon-Spinach Bake

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 2 cups Bisquick baking mix  | 2 teaspoons diced pimiento   |
| 1/2 cup cold water  | 1 teaspoon lemon juice   |
| 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel  | 1 cup thinly sliced mushrooms (about 4 ounces) OR 1 can (4 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained |
| 1 package (10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, thawed and well drained | 1 can (15-1/2 ounces) salmon, drained and flaked   |
| 1 package (8 ounces) cream cheese, softened                           |  |
| 1 teaspoon poultry seasoning  |  |

Heat oven to 400°. Lightly grease square pan, 9x9x2 inches. Mix baking mix, water and lemon peel with fork until soft dough forms. Turn dough onto cloth-covered board lightly floured with baking mix. Knead 5 times. Divide dough into halves. Roll 1 half into 9-inch square; place in pan. Mix remaining ingredients; spread over dough in pan. Roll remaining half dough into 9-inch square; place over mixture in pan. Press lightly onto filling and sides of pan. Bake until golden brown, 25 to 30 minutes. 9 servings.

High Altitude Directions (3500 to 6500 feet): Heat oven to 450°. Dough may be stiff. Bake about 25 minutes.

Need some good fish recipes? Turn to Mexico for variety, taste

Mexico, with its two long coastlines, boasts a wealth of seafood and a variety of delicious ways to prepare it. Some of the more exceptional dishes have long been popular in the border states, where they have evolved to fit the cooking styles of busy Americans.

In San Antonio, where Mexican food is considered the most authentic north of the border, the preparation of Mexican fish favorites is simplified while the recipe's original appeal is consciously preserved. Easy-to-find ingredients replace the exotic, and authentic flavors are maintained by the addition of a lively table sauce, used as an ingredient and a topping. Providing the desired amount of "heat" and a special blend of garden-fresh flavors, PACE Picante Sauce has been an essential ingredient in Southwestern cooking for over 30 years. Available in three "degrees" — mild, medium and hot — it provides the authentic Mexican flavor that has made San Antonio-style cooking legendary.

While fish has gained in popularity because of its healthful light and lean image, in some parts of the country it is paradoxically presented with high-fat butter or cream sauce. In San Antonio, favorite fish dishes are served with light Mexican-style sauces flavored with picante sauce, which complements without overpowering delicate fish, and is free of fat and cholesterol.

This squash needs help

The pear-shaped squash called chayote (chy-OH-tay) is so delicately flavored that it borders on the bland. The pulp, which resembles honeydew, is best when combined with other vegetables, the way many Mexicans enjoy it.

The chayotes I purchased were shipped from Costa Rica. They were light green, smooth skinned, ribbed and on the small side. The seeds are edible, the peel isn't.

I was disappointed with the soup. So the second time around I added sliced celery and carrots, diced potato and some rice during warming. It was a pleasant improvement.

CHAYOTE SOUP

- 2 chayotes, quartered
- 1 tsp. sugar
- 2 quarts chicken broth
- 1 cup shredded cooked chicken
- 1 small onion, thinly sliced
- Salt and black pepper to taste

In large pot, cover chayotes with water, add sugar, bring to boil, reduce heat to medium low and simmer 10 minutes. Drain, peel, cut in 1-inch chunks, return to pot with broth, chicken, onion and seasonings, stir, bring to boil, reduce heat to medium and simmer uncovered 5 minutes. Serves 8.

CHAYOTES RELLENOS

- 2 chayotes, halved lengthwise
- 1 garlic clove
- 1/4 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. butter
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 2 small tomatoes, peeled, chopped and drained
- 3 tsp. chopped parsley
- 1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

In large saucepan, cover chayotes with water, bring to boil, reduce heat to medium low, put on lid and simmer 30 to 35 minutes. Drain, let cool, scoop out pulp, reserving shells, dice and set aside. Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Mash garlic with salt to make paste. Melt butter in large skillet. Add garlic paste and onion, cook on medium low until onion is limp, stir in tomatoes, chayote pulp, 1 tablespoon parsley and simmer 15 minutes, until some liquid evaporates. Scoop mixture with slotted spoon into chayote shells, sprinkle on cheese and top with remaining parsley. Bake about 20 minutes so cheese melts. Serves 4.

Communications scholarship offered

Detroit Chapter of Women in Communications Inc. will offer a $2,000 scholarship to a student enrolled in a communications program at a Michigan college or university.

The applicant must be a Michigan resident, a junior, senior or graduate student and be recommended by a faculty member. The scholarship is not awarded solely on financial need, although the applicant's financial status will be considered.

Deadline is May 1, 1984. Application forms are available through college communications programs or by writing WICI Scholarship Program, c/o Beverly Nepsy, Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan, 600 Lafayette East 1909, Detroit 48226 (225-8119).

HEALTH & FITNESS is coming Thursday, April 5

GET READY FOR IT.

Red snapper is Mexico's most plentiful and popular fish, and when prepared Veracruz style with a well-flavored tomato sauce, it is one of the country's most famous dishes. Easy Red Snapper Veracruz is a Texas interpretation of this colorful dish which makes impressive company fare. Ready to serve in about 30 minutes, the low-calorie sauce features lime juice (a seasoning staple in Veracruz), fresh tomato, olives capers and picante sauce. No red snapper available this week? Substitute fresh or frozen cod or haddock fillets for an equally delicious dining experience.

Even on the busiest weeknight there's time to prepare Pescado Al San Antonio, sure to become a family favorite. Finely crushed packaged tortilla chips form a tasty, crunchy crust as the cook's choice of fish fillets bakes briefly. For greatest time savings, crush the chips in a food processor or blender. While the fish is baking, an easy sauce of stewed tomatoes and picante sauce heats on top of the range to become a flavorful Mexican-style topping which belies its ease of preparation.

For additional authentic Mexican Recipes Pace Foods Inc. has created a colorful primer of all-time favorites available free. To receive your copy, simply send your name, address and zip code to: Free Mexican Food Recipe Offer, c/o Food Editor, Observer and Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia, Mich. 48150. Quantity requests from schools, clubs and other organizations will be honored.

EASY RED SNAPPER VERACRUZ

- 2 lbs. red snapper fillets
- 2 to 4 tsp. lime juice
- Salt and pepper
- 1 medium onion, thinly sliced
- 2 large cloves garlic, minced
- 1/4 cup olive oil
- 4 cups chopped fresh tomatoes

- or 4 cups canned tomatoes, chopped and drained
- 1/2 cup PACE Picante Sauce
- 12 pimiento-stuffed green olives, cut in half
- 2 tsp. capers, drained
- 1 bay leaf

Brush fish with lime juice; season with salt and pepper. Place in large skillet and set aside. Cook onion and garlic in oil and large saucepan until onion is tender but not browned. Add remaining ingredients except fish. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Pour sauce over fish. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 8 to 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with fork. Remove fish from skillet and arrange on platter; keep warm. Return skillet to medium-high heat; cook, stirring constantly, until sauce is thickened, 8 to 10 minutes. Serve sauce with fish. Makes 6 servings.

Variation: Substitute fresh or frozen cod or halibut fillets for red snapper.

PESCADO AL SAN ANTONIO

- 1 egg, beaten
- 2 tsp. milk
- 1 lb. fish fillets
- 1 1/2 cups finely crushed tortilla or corn chips
- 1 16-oz. can stewed tomatoes
- 1/2 cup PACE Picante Sauce

Preheat oven to 450 degrees. Combine egg and milk; mix well. Dip fish into egg mixture; coat well with tortilla chips. Place in well-greased shallow baking pan. Bake 8 to 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with fork. While fish bakes, drain tomatoes, reserving juice. Coarsely chop tomatoes. Combine tomatoes, juice and Picante Sauce in small saucepan; simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Serve sauce with fish. Makes 4 servings.

Ellie Graham

THOMAS PETROFF, a sophomore at Kalamazoo College, is leaving for Madrid, Spain where he will attend the University of Madrid for one semester. His studies will be in Spanish. Tom graduated from Plymouth Salem High School in 1981.
He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Petroff of Plymouth.

SANDRA BOAK of Charnwood Drive, Plymouth Township, was winner of the Toastmasters International Area Six Speech Contest at Warren Valley Country Club. She will advance to the District B contest April 14 in Plymouth.
Her winning speech, entitled "Risking," dealt with the concept that the only way to grow emotionally, financially and socially is by taking the risks which often accompany those goals. Sandy is president of the Birmingham Toastmasters club and a teacher at Novi High School.

CONGRATULATIONS are in order for Joyce Tomlinson and George Kallos who were married in Greece earlier this month. Joyce flew to Greece from Plymouth and George from Kuwait, where he is principal-headmaster of a private boys' school.

PAT SULLIVAN of Plymouth and Rita Ashman of Canton Township are new members of the Midwest Harmony chapter of Sweet Adelines. They practice at 7:30 p.m. Wednesdays in the community room of Kirk of Our Savior Church in Westland. They are preparing for the Region 2 chorus competition in the Kitchener-Waterloo area in Ontario.

THE ROBINS are back, and they probably wish they weren't. Richard and Mary Lou Alwood of Harvey Street, Plymouth saw a fat redbreast on their front lawn.
Out in Canton Township, Verna George has seen not only robins but, and I quote, "the first pesky fly" of the season.

GWEN FROSTIC fans will want to circle May 23 on their calendars. The Sunshine Garden Club will host an evening with Gwen Frostic at Pioneer Middle School. It will be open to the public.
Reservations are unnecessary. A donation of $2 will be accepted at the door.

The artist, author and founder of Presscraft Papers, is coming down from Benzonia for the evening. Her topic will be "Creativity." You'll be hearing more about this later on.

RESERVED SEATS for "No, No, Nanette," the all-school musical, are available by calling Gloria Logan, 451-6243. The drama department at the Centennial Education Park initiated the reserved-seat policy last year, and an appreciative audience encouraged the players to do it again.

The spring musical will be presented Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 6-7 in the auditorium of Plymouth Salem High School. Curtain time will be 8 p.m. for all three performances.
Once you see these drama students in action, you realize why they were selected to represent United States high schools at the international drama festival in Austria last June.

PLYMOUTH FAMILY Y Travelers are taking off for 18 days in Europe this summer. They will leave July 23 and return Aug. 9. Traveling by jet, Hovercraft and bus, they will visit England, Italy, Austria, Liechtenstein, Switzerland, Germany, Holland, Belgium and France.

Openings still are available, either single or double occupancy. Call the Y, 453-2904, for information. Rome, Florence, Venice, Vienna, Salzburg, Innsbruck, Oberammergau, Lucerne, a Rhine River cruise, Cologne, Amsterdam and Paris — sounds like a dream trip.
The Family Y has moved to 246 Union Street. They are planning an open house 3-7 p.m. Friday, March 30 to show off the new quarters. Next step, hopefully, will be a building of their own, large enough to house all their activities.

Salads, style show salute to spring

Phyllis Zugrovich (left), Debbie Single and Carol Scruggs prepare a flowery arbor for the models in the fashion show.

United Methodist Women members will be concocting their now famous array of meat, vegetable and fruit salads. These will accompany the hot turkey salad, rolls and beverage at their annual salad luncheon and fashion show planned for Wednesday. Guests will gather at 12:15 p.m. in Fellowship Hall of First United Methodist Church, North Territorial Road west of Sheldon for the bountiful salad buffet.

After the luncheon, women of the congregation will model the latest spring fashions from the Fashion Bug in Novi. Their hairstyles will be through the courtesy of The Styling Nook and Penny Joy will do their makeup.

Carol Scruggs, Phyllis Zugrovich, Marilyn Carl and Debby Single are planning the benefit. Proceeds will go to the community. Last year's spring luncheon and fashion show paid for a counselor for the summer program at Canton Commons. A generous donation also went to the Salvation Army in Plymouth.

Tickets and baby-sitting reservations can be made by calling the church office, 453-5280. Admission is $5, and the baby-sitting charge is $1.50 per family.

Elks' Americanism party is salute to Miss Liberty

The costly renovation of New York's Statue of Liberty is a little bit further along, thanks to the efforts of Plymouth Elks Lodge No. 1780.

A crowd of nearly 300 members and guests attended its "Americanism Party" and contributed $2,500 to the patriotic cause. And there's more to come, pledged the Elks, who continue to accept donations for the deteriorating Miss Liberty.

Elks lodges throughout the United States are undertaking similar fund-raisers to help pay for Miss Liberty's renovation, planned in celebration of her 100th birthday in 1986.

The 225-ton statue was completed in May 1884 and formally presented to the U.S. Minister Levi P. Morton in Paris July 4, 1884. She was formally dedicated Oct. 28, 1886 by President Grover Cleveland.

Congressman Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) headlined the Elks' party as guest speaker. He was on hand for the dedication of the Elks' Americanism Wall, which was unveiled at the Americanism Party. The wall is graced by historical documents, the American flag and photographs of governmental figures. Pursell presented a framed replica of the U.S. seal to add to the wall.
The Plymouth Elks are the first of many lodges to dedicate an American Wall.

Elks Esquire Robert McAllister and his Americanism committee sponsored the event at the Plymouth Elks Lodge on Ann Arbor Road. The lodge has 700 members from Plymouth, Canton, Livonia and Redford.

Congressman Carl Pursell presented the Great Seal of United States to John M. O'Connor, exalted ruler, and Bob McAllister, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Plymouth Elks.

New Morning plans 8th spring auction

For the past seven years, parents of New Morning School students have organized a spring auction as a fundraiser for the private school in Plymouth Township. The non-profit school's only benefit has become a social Sunday-afternoon event featuring good food and bargains for the bidders.

This year's auction is planned for Sunday, April 1 with doors opening at 12:30 p.m. at the Holiday Inn West, Livonia. Guests will have a half hour to look over the merchandise and write in their bids on silent-auction items. Lunch featuring turkey divan will be served at 1 p.m., and the main auction will begin after lunch. A cash bar will be available 12:30-4:30 p.m.

Handmade items and some antiques usually are donated to the auction by families and friends of the school. The majority of the donations come from merchants in the area.

SERVICES AND merchandise has been contributed by: Dick Scott Dodge, the Mole Hole, Holly by Golly's, Specialty Pet Shop, Handcrafters Unlimited, Stride Rite Boots, Little Book Center, Jimmy's Joyn, The Video Place, Fishaw & Sons, Beautiful People Hair Forum, Tadmore's, Baker's Rack, Omnicom, Cutting Quarters and Haney's Stereo.

Also Dian's Quilt Shop, Ed's Sport Shop, H&B Gallery, Bev Stringham's Color Analysis, Beyer's Drugs, Plymouth Lumber and Hardware, Garfield Auto Parts, Kinney's Shoes, Arthur Freacher's, Olga Cella Restaurant, Mel's Golden Razor, Needle's Friend, Mr. Goodcut, Lou LaRiche Chevrolet, Armbruster Bootery and Keeth Heating and Cooling.

Also Walter's Appliance, Lawson's, Wicker Shop, Static Shop, New Gal in Town, Frame Works, Sherwin Williams, Salon International, Lorraine's Jolls and Parkway Veterinarian.

Admission to the luncheon and auction is $7.25. For information or reservations, call New Morning School, 420-3331. The Holiday Inn is on Six Mile east of I-275.

Depth charge: Area spikers deadly

By C.J. Rieak
staff writer

TALK ABOUT DEPTH. This season's edition of the All-Observer volleyball team is so deep the third team could probably beat the second team — maybe even the top selections.

That's no knock against the first or second teammeters. But it is a tribute to the overall quality of play throughout the area this past season.

As team performance goes, Livonia Stevenson reigned supreme, coming up just one game shy of a Class A state championship. The Spartans lost a three-game heartbreaker to Flint Kearsley in the state finals.

Stevenson finished with a sparkling 33-5 match record, including tournament victories at Detroit Henry Ford, Dearborn Edsel Ford and Schoolcraft College.

Three Spartans were selected by local coaches to the nine-person first team. Redford Bishop Borgess landed two, with North Farmington, Livonia Franklin, Farmington and Farmington Hills Mercy putting one each on the team.

So here it is: the 1984 All-Observer volleyball team.

FIRST TEAM

Linda Loeffler, Stevenson, senior: Loeffler was the Spartans' team leader — not just this season, but for the past three. A 94 percent server and 84 percent setter in Western Lakes Activities Association (WLAA) play, Loeffler was the team MVP, was All-WLAA, made the All-Tournament team at Schoolcraft and is an All-State nominee.

"Her ability to set the 5-1 offense was the key for our successful season," said Stevenson coach Lee Cagle. "Her sets were always predictable; very soft and consistent. She will be extremely hard to replace."

Tami Scurto, Stevenson, senior: Scurto excelled as a hitter. And as a server. And on defense and as a leader. In short, Scurto provided that quality every winning team needs — versatility.

Scurto's WLAA spiking average was 80 percent. Her setting was 83 percent and her serving was a sparkling 93 percent. She was All-WLAA, All-Schoolcraft and an All-State nominee.

Lisa Bokovoy, Stevenson, junior: Bokovoy's strong hitting ability was the center of the Spartan offense and defense. Her list of accolades reads the same as her two All-Observer teammates: All-WLAA, All-Schoolcraft, an All-State nominee.

Bokovoy connected on 87 percent of her spikes, 81 percent of her serves and 89 percent of her sets.

"Our front lines on offense and defense were built around her outstanding ability," said Cagle. "She'll lead us next year."

Nancy Rzepka Borgess

Amy Austin N. Farmington

Nancy Rzepka, Bishop Borgess, senior: All-around seems the best way to describe this 11-letter winner (basketball and softball, as well as volleyball). At 5-foot-11, she led Borgess with an 87 percent spiking average, including 40 percent for kills.

A 4.0 student and team co-captain, Rzepka helped lead Borgess to a 34-16 record while earning All-Catholic League and Division honors.

"She is," summed up Borgess coach Jerry Abraham, "a top-notch young lady and a very dedicated team player."

Katy Smythe, Bishop Borgess, senior: While Rzepka finished the plays, Smythe started them. Abraham called Smythe "the finest setter in the Catholic League", but that wasn't her only quality. She was also a team leader and very durable, playing every point of every game this season.

An All-Catholic League performer who carries a 3.3 grade point, the 5-6 setter and co-captain led Borgess to an 85-22 record over the past two seasons. She plans to continue playing in college.

Amy Austin, North Farmington, senior: Austin didn't do a little bit of everything for the Raiders. She did a lot of everything, setting 14 school records in her career.

She was an outstanding server (91 percent) and equally superb on defense (90 percent serve reception). She connected on 87 percent of her spikes and collected 163 kills. Her school career records include digs (382), tips (245), blocks (217), spikes (1,089) and ace spikes (419).

"Amy is the total player in volleyball," said coach Sandy Lubieniecki. "She combines her superior front row skills — blocks, spikes, tips — with aggressive back row play."

"Amy never quits, whether it's her effort to improve her skills or playing out a point in a game."

Carolyn Smith, Livonia Franklin, junior: Smith will be hard-pressed to improve on her performances of the past two seasons.

After all, she's been All-Northwest Suburban League as both a sophomore and junior. This season she collected 189 kills and 58 serving aces, but her talents were refined in all parts of the game.

Jill Waterman, Farmington, senior: A powerful left-handed hitter despite her 5-7 stature, Waterman, a four-year varsity player, was also an outstanding server (92 percent) and passer (82 percent).

Waterman led Farmington in kills and service aces and had a 90 percent hitting average. The team captain earned All-WLAA honors this season and has an offer from Oakland University to play next year.

Laurie Huston, Mercy, senior: Like many of the All-Observer choices, Huston excelled in all phases of the game. But her statistics were particularly impressive, surpassing 90 percent in serving (93), spiking (97) and blocking (92). She had a 55 percent kill average and 48 percent average in serving aces.

The team's MVP, Huston possesses a 24-inch vertical jump that helped her as Mercy's top spiker. She was All-Central Division in the Catholic League.

Wrestling coach Chrenko resigns

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

The man who introduced wrestling to Plymouth Canton High School in 1973 and built one of the most successful programs in the area has resigned.

Dan Chrenko compiled a 66-58-4 record in 11 years (63-39-4 in the last nine years), won two Western Six League titles and one Western Lakes Western Division title. But he announced his resignation at his team's banquet Wednesday night.

"I feel at this point in my life a decision had to be made," the popular coach said. "Do I want to be a father or a coach?"

"I feel that my role as a father is far more important than my role as a coach. I just can't do both."

Chrenko and his wife Alice have twin daughters 18½ months old. A third child is expected in May.

"IT IS very difficult to admit that I can't do everything. It hurts. But, I just can't be a wrestling coach and keep my house going the way it should at the same time."

Chrenko emphasized that his decision was solely a personal one.

"Nothing happened this year as to the team's success or disappointments that figured in this decision. It was purely personal. It is just time that I face a different challenge."

The team's successes were numerous. If anything, they made Chrenko's decision to resign that much tougher.

"I WAS really tied to this group of kids (this past season's seniors). I can't say enough about them. They came up as freshman and really caught hold of what we were trying to accomplish."

The four-year high school wrestlers compiled a 38-11-1 record. They won league championships as freshman and sophomores, and a division championship this past season as seniors.

They never lost a dual meet at home. Canton wrestling teams have won every home dual meet since 1979.

"You can say what you want about Canton wrestling. But this crew did exactly what we set as a goal. When a team steps into our gym, they know that have got to beat us, and it won't be easy. These young men accomplished that, and that's something not many teams can say."

DESPITE CHRENKO'S fine record, his goals when he began the Canton wrestling program had nothing to do with wins and losses. He set two goals. One was to promote wrestling in the Plymouth-Canton community.

A Rock slide?

Youthful Salem faces stiff challenge in '84

By Chris McCosky
staff writer

INEXPERIENCED. THE label lays on the Plymouth Salem baseball team like a price tag. Last year's Rock team finished 19-9, and won district and regional championships before falling in the state semifinals to West Bloomfield.

So much has changed since then. Longtime coach Brian Gilles has resigned, and only three starters remain from last year's squad.

Still, new coach John Gravlin, an assistant to Plymouth Canton coach Fred Crissey for the past six years, has plenty of reason for optimism.

One of the returning starters is imposing 6-foot-6 right-handed-hurler Rick Berberet. The others are All-Area center-fielder Mike Sindrich and third-baseman Tom Moore. Those, plus several others who saw some action last year, give Gravlin a nice nucleus to build from.

"WE ARE going to be a very offensive-oriented team," the rookie coach said. "We have an awful lot of speed — more than any team I've seen in this area in a while. I think that we have the capability to score a lot of runs."

The Rocks may need a lot of runs. Gravlin lists a questionable defense as one of the team's weaknesses and the pitching staff, for the most part, is untested.

baseball

"We have one proven pitcher in Rick (Berberet)," he said. "But, even Rick had just a so-so year last year. He came on real strong at the end after a slow start. We hope he's going to keep coming on."

Others who will be sharing the pitching duties include senior Ken Harmon, who is back after a two-year hiatus, Mike McKinney, Chris Mowers and Dan Knapp.

Assistant coach Scott Dawson, a former Canton and University of Michigan ace hurler, has the task of trying to mold the pitching staff into form.

"We are just so young," said Gravlin. "It's not easy to replace everything on defense. We will be going with a lot of young players. Plus, the coach is young. We have a lot of maturing to do as a team."

GRAVLIN HAS not made any definite decisions on his starting nine. Certainly, Moore at third and Sindrich in center are likely starters. But, after that, no jobs have been won.

Senior Scott Anderson, who saw duty in the outfield last year, is battling a sophomore and two juniors for the catching chores. Steve Dawson (Scott's brother) and juniors Jim Rorabacher and Pat Walsh are in the running.

Junior Dom DeBello, a third baseman/shortstop last year, is getting a long look at first base. He is battling senior Mowers.

Juniors Chris Belhart and Jim Hobbs are vying for second base, while Moore and junior Darryl Brees are dueling at third.

Shortstop is completely up for grabs. Harmon, DeBello and sophomore Paul Makara are in the running.

In the outfield, Gravlin is trying to pick three from this talented list: seniors Sindrich and Darrin Blue, juniors Jim Lynch, Jason Scott, McKinney and Tim Robinson.

Replacing a coach as popular and successful as Gilles is not an easy task.

Gravlin, however, said the transition has been smooth.

"WE GOT OFF on the right foot because the team is so young," he said. "A lot of the players are off last year's junior varsity, and they saw just as much of me as they did Gilles. Plus, we got the chance to spend some time together during preseason conditioning. We've got to know each other, and they know what I expect."

"I've been getting 100-percent effort from the players every night. I can't ask for anything more than that. The players are all talking about how good they think we are going to be, and I like that. They are a good, hard-working group."

Gravlin said he expects the Western Lakes to offer a number of contending teams this season. Among them, he said, were Canton, Walled Lake Western, Farmington, Farmington Harrison, Northville and, of course, the Rocks.

"I tend to be optimistic," he said. "I look at problems as challenges. I am looking forward to this season more than I have looked forward to anything in my life. I think we will be in all of our games, I think there will be lots of excitement. I think you can look forward to seeing a good brand of baseball coming out of Plymouth-Canton."

Injury sidelines Craig Payne

By Brad Emons
staff writer

A rib injury will keep Livonia super-heavyweight boxer Craig Payne out of action until the Olympic trials, scheduled for June in Fort Worth, Texas.

Payne was slated to meet three-time Olympic champ Teofilo Stevenson of Cuba as part of the 1984 Budweiser World Championships' Challenge in Los Angeles, but the match has to be scratched.

Last September, Payne became the first American to defeat a Cuban champ since Duane Bobick in 1971. Payne won by decision to claim the 1983 North American title.

"We're laying low, and I just don't want to really

boxing

take a chance," said Payne's coach, Paul Soucy. "We want him to be ready for the trials."

Payne suffered the injury while sparring recently with Detroit's Jeff Thomas at the Livonia Boxing Club.

"X-RAYS have been taken, but the doctors are unable to determine the extent of the injury because of swelling," said Soucy, in an official statement to the U.S. Amateur Boxing Federation. "It was really a freak blow — Craig's sparring partner caught him on the ropes, and the punch got through."

Last month, Payne lost a 2-1 decision to Lennox Lewis in the USA-Canada Amateur Boxing Dual in Edmonton, Alberta. Canada won seven of 12 matches.

"Not to make excuses, but Craig had a virus and was taking antibiotics," Soucy explained. "He had no real strength and hadn't trained two weeks prior to the bout."

"He just lost too much weight, but he went anyway. He's doing a lot of running now, and he's in good spirits."

Soucy has tried to make Payne cut weight after losing decisively to Tyrell Biggs of Philadelphia in the U.S. Amateur Championships last November.

"CRAIG IS down to about 220 now," Soucy said. "but we want him to be around 210 for the Olympic Trials."

After beating Stevenson last year, Payne's world ranking shot up to No. 2, but the National Golden Gloves champ has faltered since then.

Four of Payne's teammates, meanwhile, reached the semifinal round of the Detroit area Golden Gloves Tournament.

Representing Livonia in the Open Class are Coleman Reed (156 pounds) and Mike Dardini (125). A pair of 156-pound Livonians, Craig Wilson and Sanjay Batra, are still alive in the Junior and Senior Novice divisions, respectively.

Soucy said he may also send three Livonia fighters to the Diamond Gloves tournament, which completed its semifinal round last weekend at Cobo Arena (the finals are this weekend).

AMONG THE participants will be 156-pound Steve Darnell, who lost a close decision in a Golden Gloves preliminary round; Dardini and Mark Humphrey.

"Steve lost a close fight at the Gloves," said Soucy. "He had points taken away by the referee — they said he had his head down — and it cost him the fight."

Farmington Racquet Club hosts Easter tournament

The Farmington Tennis Club's Junior Easter open tennis tournament, sanctioned by the United States Tennis Association, is scheduled for April 27-28.

The tournament is divided into age groups for boys and girls ages 10, 12, 14, 16 and 18.

The entry fee is $20, and the entry deadline is Wednesday April 18.

THE TOURNAMENT will be limited to 64 players. The players will be selected, based upon past records, by the tournament committee. The draw will be held Friday, April 20.

Matches will consist of best two out of three sets, with a 12-point tie breaker at six-all.

All participants must be USTA members and show proof of membership.

Neil Longhurst is the tournament director and Joel Rogus the tournament referee.

For registration information, contact the Farmington Tennis Club at 476-3246. The club is at 22777 Farmington Road, Farmington.

Basketball junkies' sojourn to NCAAs

The Battle for Seattle started last weekend in such places as Charlotte, Lincoln, Pullman, East Rutherford and Milwaukee.

After getting my first taste of the NCAA basketball last year in Louisville (as in Kentucky), I didn't want to be left out anymore.

There's nothing like being there. That's why I jumped at the chance at seeing the Midwest Regional last weekend in Milwaukee at the invite of Plymouth's toastmaster general, John Van Wagoner.

It was tough for me to miss Bentley and my old coach Tom Niemi play for the regional basketball final Friday night. And I know I missed a good Saturday when Livonia Stevenson fought valiantly for the Class A volleyball title before losing to Flint Kearsley.

But I'm a basketball junkie and there's nothing around it. I already had my tickets for Milwaukee, and I had a place to stay only blocks away from the MECCA, the site of the Midwest Regional.

NOT ONLY are the games entertaining, but the fanfare which surrounds the NCAA basketball tournament is something to behold.

That's why I want to go every year from here on out. I have to broaden my basketball horizons and get away from the stale tales of western Wayne County hoop.

I discovered that the Morehead State Eagles of Kentucky had won 18 of their last 20 games and had a 6-foot-11 center who could shoot.

But that wasn't enough to defeat Denny Crum and the Louisville Cardinals. They had a guy strumming a song about the team on his guitar in the hotel lobby.

Tickets for this week's Kentucky-Louisville game are going for $110 apiece as offered to me in the hotel lobby.

Not to be upstaged were the Tulsa Golden Hurricane and their flamboyant dresser, coach Nolan Richardson, who donned a brown polka shirt and the most expensive boots in Milwaukee. And I could have sworn George Gervin was out there playing, but the guy's name was Ross — and he was no Betsy.

THEN THERE was Huck's Thundering Herd from Marshall. Appropriately, they donned green the day before St. Paddy's. Unfortunately, luck wasn't on their side.

Not to be outdone was Villanova, the smallest school of the six in Milwaukee (enrollment 6,200). It had a coach who would fit right in with the Catholic Central cheering section. Portly Rollie Massimino never sat down.

In fact, he almost went through the roof when Illinois came to town.

I learned that the Illini have no affection for the University of Michigan (because of football) and they would just as soon secede from the Big 10.

Chief Illini, working up a victory dance, scattered the Cats about as if they were strays.

It was also comforting to know that the NCAA is another organization that hires poor officials.

There he was in all his splendor before national TV. It was grandstander Jim Bain (of the Big 10) and his two equally and elderly bald partners failing to keep up with the 10 thoroughbreds Louisville and Tulsa put on the floor.

Brad Emons

"HAND-CHECKING is illegal in any conference," said one of the officials from the Marshall-Villanova game, who I confronted in an establishment called Major Goolsby's, located across the street from the MECCA. "We get $350 a game for the NCAA, all expenses paid. I can make $105 for a high school game in Houston. We get a percentage of the gate."

But this slender fellow from old country obviously had been spending too much time at the bar. It was hard for me to believe that hand-checking was illegal. All six teams should have been thrown in the clink for that offense.

On the off day, some of our NCAA entourage experimented with their own defenses at the lavish downtown YMCA gym. Some guys obviously weren't the same guys I remember playing against in high school. Some, in fact, should have quit while they were ahead.

SOME of the has-beens got to meet Milwaukee Bucks guard Kevin Grevey, who was working back into shape after being sidelined the past few weeks with a strained knee. Grevey and his younger brother, Norm, a prospect from Ohio, took part in the pick-up games.

In between watching other games on ESPN, and viewing the Wisconsin and be complete without a few disabled vehicles.

INSTEAD of stalling out on the south side of Chicago, my vehicle coughed and choked into Michigan City, Ind., late Sunday night. Of course, I was carrying no credit card and some loose change. Have you ever ordered two cheeseburgers with nothing to drink?

A bug in the transmission kept us in Delray Brooks' hometown for almost a day.

Brooks, a 6-foot-4 guard, plays for Michigan City Rogers High School and is considered, by many, the best player in the country.

"We were undefeated and No. 1 all year, but Warsaw beat us Saturday in the semistate," said a gas station attendant, shaking his head. "Delray shoots 88 percent from the line, and I think he made 6 of 18, or something like that. Just a terrible game. They should have beaten Warsaw."

We learned that Brooks is going to Indiana along with 6-9 Steve Sloan of McLeansboro, the Illinois Class A champs who finished with a 35-0 record.

"Bobby Knight just might take Delray on the Olympic team," said a car salesman at Jim Vins Chevrolet. "He did it with Isaiah."

My NCAA teammates told me I'm no longer a rookie and that I have the experience to endure any tournament situation (even when I'm broke).

That's why I'm already prepared for next season. It's in my veins. How does Dayton and South Bend sound next season?

FALL HOCKEY

The Plymouth-Canton Hockey Association is having its fall hockey season registration from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, March 31, at the Plymouth Cultural Center.

Those who register on that date can save $15 on the registration fee. Interested participants are urged to bring a birth certificate and a check payable to the PCHA for $25.

Players registering after March 31 will pay $40. All registration fees are non-refundable.

NEW SOCCER TEAM

A new men's soccer team is forming for players 19 years of age and over in the Plymouth-Canton communities. The team, the American Eagles, will compete in both the Great Lakes Soccer League and the Michigan Soccer League.

Interested players should contact coach Charlie Vella at 455-6364.

TRIATHLONING

The Total Runner Store will be conducting a free clinic on Triathloning, the triple fitness sport, at 9 a.m. Saturday, March 31 at the Total Runner Store at 212 East Washington in Ann Arbor.

The clinic will feature Charlie Blanchard, a two-time division winner and three-time top Michigan finisher in the Hawaiian Ironman Triathlon.

Blanchard will give hints on how to train for a triathlon as well as tips on bicycling, cross-training, equipments, and workout programs.

No reservation is required. For more information, call 769-5016.

A matter of priorities leads Canton coach to resign job

"In 1973, no one knew what wrestling was. Everyone thought it was like 'Big-Time Wrestling' they saw on television."

It didn't take long for Chrenko to get the community wrapped up in the sport.

"I have been blessed with an abundance of good families in the Plymouth-Canton community to work with. And it's on that principal that we've built our program.

"We are like a family. We have our disagreements and our fights, but we hold together through it all."

CHRENKO'S SECOND goal was to teach his young men that lessons learned through wrestling would be valuable throughout their lives.

"Wrestling is a life-long experience. Wrestling allows room for compassion and for growth.

"It's very difficult to be the best. Sometimes you can give it your best and work as hard as you can and still come up short. There's a certain sense of honesty unique to the sport.

"It's difficult to learn the lessons wrestling can teach, but they can be very useful."

The future of the Canton wrestling program is bright, Chrenko said. Thirteen wrestlers with varsity experience are returning next year.

"I'M REAL excited about next year. You know, I've always felt it's the kids that make the program, and there is a good group of wrestlers coming back. I think the program will go on strong.

"They will have to find a coach who can do some teaching. Obviously, I haven't taught them everything they need to know. But, whoever takes over will have a nice, strong base. And the coach won't have any problems with attitudes."

A top candidate to replace Chrenko will be his assistant, Dave Mineau. Mineau resigned as assistant wrestling coach one week before Chrenko's resignation.

MANY HAVE asked Chrenko how he could give up his program after building it from scratch and seeing it mature into an area power? His answer is simple and straightforward: It is a matter of priorities.

"It's time for me to be a dad. It takes a lot of time to be a father and it takes a lot of time to be a coach. One would have to give.

"My role as a father can't give — and I couldn't demand what I expect out of my kids if I only gave them 80 percent. I couldn't coach that way."

The man has his priorities in the right order.

Kleinsmith lifts state stars

Three All-Area swimmers helped a team of Michigan senior all-stars defeat an Indiana all-star team 95-31 in a dual meet exhibition at Eastern Michigan University March 17.

Alec Campbell, a senior at Farmington High School, won the 200-yard individual medley with a 2:00.6. He was second in the 100 butterfly (53.0).

Erik Kleinsmith, a Plymouth Salem senior, took sixth in both the 200 freestyle (1:51.0) and the 100 free (49.9).

Both Kleinsmith and Campbell competed on Michigan's second place 400 freestyle relay team (4:17.7).

Livonia Stevenson senior Kurt Hein took a fifth place in the 100 butterfly with a 55.9. He also competed on Michigan's second place 200-medley relay team (no time available).

Christopher Lambert plays Tarzan, who is raised from a babe by the apes, in "Greystoke: The Legend of Tarzan, Lord of the Apes."

Tarzan, the long-lost Earl of Greystoke, is shown through the family estate by his grandfather, portrayed by Ralph Richardson.

Tarzan story retold in spellbinding way

"Greystoke: The Legend of Tarzan, Lord of the Apes" (opening Friday at metropolitan-area theaters) is a superior two-hour, 10-minute exhibition of the motion-picture craft.

The film is well-acted, finely directed, attractively designed and beautifully photographed. It is also, in the very best sense of the phrase, "terribly British."

Whatever negatives one might express about the British Empire, it did have spirit and a sense of manifest destiny. A personal and national sense enabled it to achieve great power and extensive accomplishments.

The strength of British character and the character of 19th-century Europe permeate this film, dedicated to Sir Ralph Richardson whose last film role was as Lord Greystoke, grandfather of Tarzan.

LORD GREYSTOKE'S son, Lord Jack Clayton (Paul Geoffrey), and daughter-in-law, Lady Alice Clayton (Cheryl Campbell), leave on an expedition to Africa. Shipwrecked, they survive for a while in the jungle. When they die, Baby Tarzan is adopted and raised by Kala, Primate Mother (Ailsa Berk).

The story proceeds as expected, based on the Edgar Rice Burroughs novel. Years later an expedition is wiped out by natives, leaving only a Belgian Captain, Philippe D'Arnot (Ian Holm) surviving. The now fully grown Tarzan (Christopher Lambert) aids him.

In turn, Captain D'Arnot teaches Tarzan to speak, ultimately civilizing this jungle creature and returning him to his family, where grandfather, Lord Greystoke, and his ward, Jane Porter (Andie MacDowell), are enthralled and enamored of this ape fellow, doncha know? But we know all that, so why go see this new version? To find out whether Tarzan chooses his jungle or castle home?

No. We go to see such films of twice-told tales when they are well retold, which is certainly the case here.

WHETHER ON location in Cameroon, West Africa or Victorian England (Floors Castle, Blenheim Palace, Hatfield House, the Natural History Museum), the film is a great pleasure visually.

England's great sense of tradition, which permeates the movie, has preserved many old castles. With the fine costuming, make-up and set design, this produces a meticulously detailed, richly visual film.

John Alcott's photography in the Cameroons is lushly presented on the wide screen, with sufficient landmarks so that the audience has a sense of place. When Tarzan runs off at the end to join his primate friends, we recognize his home visually.

Those primate friends are extremely realistic, and the credits for primate consultants and special primate effects are well-earned.

The cast represents the finest elements of the British theatrical establishment. Sir Ralph Richardson draws a fine portrait of the British lord in his castle. That portrait includes his foolishness, his vanity and his humanity. He is a well-rounded human being. Andie MacDowell is a lovely, accomplished actress, also in that best British tradition.

Christopher Lambert projects the tension of jungle and civilization at odds within one personality.

BESIDES THESE riches, the film makes some interesting comments about Great Britain and the 19th century's sense of progress. Tarzan, it is argued, should not return to the jungle even though he is most comfortable there. His resurrection as a civilized individual represents a victory for progress and exemplifies the superiority of British civilization. Manifest destiny at its worst.

The movie also deals with the issue of violence. To the film's credit — most notably director Hugh Hudson and writers P.H. Vazak and Michael Austin — the message about the similarities between jungle violence and "civilized" violence are muted and subtle. But quite clearly the film notes there are predators everywhere, the civilized ones often with less reason to prey than their jungle cousins.

OPEN HOUSE

FOR EXPERIENCED DATA PROCESSING PROFESSIONALS MICHCON CORPORATE HEADQUARTERS in the Guardian Building, 500 Griswold, Detroit, Michigan SATURDAY, MARCH 31 - 9:00 AM TO 3:00 PM

MAKE THE RIGHT CONNECTION Join the Men and Women of MichCon

Michigan Consolidated Gas Company (MichCon) has been in the energy business with its predecessors (starting with Detroit Gas Light Company) since 1951 when the lighting of Detroit's first gas-fired street lights at city hall drew 20,000 spectators.

Inevitably, the demand and the application for natural gas grew. So did MichCon - to an intrastate pipeline, storage and gas distribution company that serves over one million customers in Michigan. As the largest natural gas distributor in Michigan, we're providing our customers with a dependable supply of energy for today and conservation expertise to extend that supply into the future.

At MichCon, we know that it's teamwork that keeps the energy flowing - and the key to effective teamwork is communication. Information Systems is a vital communication link at MichCon. That's why we give high priority to finding and keeping the most capable and imaginative DATA PROCESSING PROFESSIONALS who can fulfill our commitment to the development of major new information systems.

With the support of state-of-the-art hardware & software, and a fine atmosphere for exceptional individual performance, MichCon is the right connection... for your career growth, for your security, for your job-satisfaction.

We invite you to explore the rewards and opportunities in a career with MichCon by attending our OPEN HOUSE if you are a self-starter, results-oriented, experienced DATA PROCESSING PROFESSIONAL who can fill one of the following positions.
